Warns Of 'Grave Results'...

PLO Warning Issued

By The Associated Press

A senior Israeli official today accused the Palestine Liberation Organization of stalling and lying about leaving west Beirut, and warned this could bring "grave results."

He did not elaborate, but the implication was that Israeli forces might storm the encircled PLO stronghold in the Lebanese capital. Israel showered west Beirut with leaflets Sunday and Monday saying time was short and urging residents to flee.

The latest warning came after the PLO was reported to have rejected Israeli demands to surrender arms and ride buses to Syria, proposing instead to keep personal weapons and leave by boat.

The Israel official, who insisted on anonymity, told reporters in Tel Aviv that Israel felt negotiations between the PLO and Lebanese officials were "not advancing as they should at this stage."

Israel had the impression, the official said, that the PLO "is not negotiating with their Lebanese counterparts in good faith. They are playing for time and lying about their intention to leave."

"We are not speaking of an unlimited time, and the behavior of the PLO can have very grave results," he said.

The official refused to discuss what "grave results" Israel was threatening. "Our aim is to get the PLO out of Beirut and Lebanon by diplomatic means and without bloodshed. If they refuse to leave, the Cabinet will have to consider what else to do," he said.

Meanwhile, the 10-nation European Common Market in Brussels today condemned Israel's 24-day-old invasion of Lebanon and urged both Israel and the PLO to leave Beirut, and Egypt sent an envoy to Paris as part of a new initiative aimed at resolving the crisis and bringing about an Israeli withdrawal.

U.S. special envoy Philip C. Habib, credited with arranging a cease-fire that went into its fifth day today, told reporters in Beirut that "efforts are still under way" to negotiate the PLO's withdrawal. He refused to elaborate.

Besieged PLO leaders opened secret negotiations Monday to arrange details of their proposed "honorable" retreat from Lebanon, where for 12 years they have based their campaign to reclaim a Palestinian homeland from Israeli-occupied territories.

Lebanese officials and newspapers said PLO chairman Yasser Arafat, meeting with caretaker Prime Minister Shafik Wazzan and other officials, had agreed in principle to abandon his west Beirut bunkers, where an estimated 8,000 guerrilla fighters are surrounded by Israeli forces and their Lebanese Christian allies.

But Lebanese sources said Arafat rejected Israel's offer to bus the guerrillas to Syria once they were disarmed by the Lebanese army.

Instead, they said, the guerrillas suggested sailing most of their forces out of Beirut in ships flying PLO flags to an unspecified country if Israeli forces withdraw from the city's edge.

An Israel radio broadcast said the PLO also was demanding that departing guerrillas be allowed to keep their personal guns, leave their non-military institutions in Lebanon intact and post small Palestinian units in the Lebanese army. The radio quoted an unidentified Israeli official as saying those demands were unacceptable.

Lebanese sources said other PLO demands included Lebanon's reaffirmation that the PLO is "the sole legitimate representative of the Palestinian people," and a promise that the 500,000 Palestinian civilian refugees living in Lebanon will not be expelled.

Despite the intensive secret negotiations, the guerrillas kept issuing statements defying the Israeli invaders and vowing to resist until death if the Israelis stormed their enclaves in the western half of the Lebanese capital.

Israel responded by maintaining its hammerlock on west Beirut and dumping thousands of leaflets urging the 600,000 residents to flee. The massive leafleting raised more fears the Jewish state would order an invasion if negotiations drag.

Lifting Large Package...

Mechanical Arm Given Workout

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Columbia's work-weary astronauts unlimbered the space shuttle's 50-foot mechanical arm for its stiffest workout today, lifting an instrument package the size of a desk "to sniff for contamination" inside the cargo bay.

The test, more of a weight-lifting demonstration than anything else, is intended to certify the robot limb for future satellite-hoisting assignments.

Arm maneuvers were the main item of business as Ken Mattingly and Henry Hartsfield began a third demanding day in space after imploring Mission Control not to bother troubleshooting "all the little problems."

The first little problem of the new day was with the hand-snare of the arm. Within minutes, Mission Control directed Hartsfield to a backup control and he began the tests.

The astronauts went to bed tired and Hartsfield suffered slight motion sickness on Monday. Today, Hartsfield's voice was booming at wakeup and strong as he began to move the arm, hinged in the cargo bay, through a series of precise exercises.

Standing at a remote station in the cockpit, Hartsfield unlatched the arm from its cradling device and maneuvered it into position to lift an 800-pound monitoring package in the rear of the cargo bay.

The initial difficulty was with the wire "fingers" that were to latch onto the package. At one point, Hartsfield said the "snares do not move; they seem to be fully closed."

The arm, too frail to support its own weight in Earth's gravity, was tested on Columbia's last two trips but not so extensively as today.

The multi-jointed celestial crane gingerly lifted the instrument-filled package and moved it about the bay to measure contaminants and gather data to assess the shuttle's impact on satellites and payloads in the cargo bay.

Later, the pilot was to wave the parcel about as Mattingly triggers steering jets to evaluate how the satellite-loaded arm will be affected by the firings.

The goal for Flight 4 is to certify Columbia as a commercial and military cargo carrier starting on its next trip, Nov. 11. But NASA officials said that flight might be delayed while officials try to correct the design of the shuttle's booster rockets. The rockets, which helped hurl the ship into space Sunday, sank in the Atlantic Ocean when their parachute systems failed.

Mattingly and Hartsfield told a flight surgeon Monday night they were tired and Hartsfield reported he had a slight headache and occasional queasiness.

Election To Fill Board Position Due

A special, emergency session of the Snyder School Board has been called for 11:45 a. m. Wednesday to call a special election to fill a vacancy on the board.

The election is due to be set for Aug. 14, which is the next date when such an election may be held under state law. Tomorrow's board meeting, which will be held in the board room of the school administration building, was called as an emergency session to allow plenty of time for prospective candidates to file.

There has been a vacancy on the board since the resignation of Roy McQueen last April.

Appointments Made By City

The Snyder City council last night made appointments to two city boards and approved the city's participation in the Senior Citizens Program for the fiscal year beginning Sept. 1.

Following action on the three-item agenda for the called meeting, the council went into executive session to discuss acquisition of property.

E. D. Walton and John Reed were named to the city board of adjustments. They will succeed Dr. Jack Nesbit and Vernon Young, whose terms expired.

Fred Costillo was appointed to the planning and zoning commission to fill a vacancy created when Don Osborn was elected to the city council.

Dr. Don Newbury, president of Western Texas College, presented a request for city participation in the amount of $22,000 for operation of the Senior Citizens Program for the coming fiscal year. WTC administers the program, which is funded jointly by the college, the city and the county. Previously, the program received some federal funds for its volunteer services unit, but the local sponsors have now assumed full responsibilty for maintaining the program in which some 1,100 senior citizens are active.

The college provides some $27,000, the city $22,000 and the county provides the building, utilities, janitorial service, etc., plus $3,000 per year for operation of the program.

Mayor Rod Waller presided over the meeting. Council members attending were Gale McPherson, Ed Thrift, John Wilson, David Holt and Don Osborn. Councilman Don Gressett was absent.

Tuesday update

Donovan Awaits Judgment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor Secretary Raymond J. Donovan, free of the threat of federal criminal prosecution, still awaits judgment in Congress and the White House on whether he can politically survive the unproven allegations linking him with the underworld.

Donovan flashed the thumbs-up sign for victory after special prosecutor Leon Silverman announced Monday there wasn't enough evidence to indict the Reagan administration Cabinet officer.

Despite Silverman's remark that there was "a disturbing number" of charges tying Donovan to mobsters, Donovan declared the "matter settled once and for all."

Administration officials and a key Senator reacted more cautiously, but were pleased with the special prosecutor's report.

New Label Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is allowing finely ground bits of bone to be included in hotdogs, bologna and similar products, but the word bone will not be included on the label.

Officials said new federal rules allowing the change would take effect today. Proposals for changing the rules have been under review since they were announced nearly a year ago.

A consumer advocate group called the new regulations "misleading" and threatened legal action to get them changed.

The salvaged meat has been approved for use since 1978. But the meat industry had complained about the original federal rules, which required clear labeling about "ground bone" and the product's general content.

The SDN Column

Roy Baze, who fortunately for Snyder, elected to return to his home town following his retirement as senior vice president of Exxon U. S. A., has bolstered the local Republican Party organization. Now serving as county chairman, he keeps abreast of party activities and is the contact for visiting Republican officials and-or their representatives who may stop off in Snyder. Last week, Elvin Carraway, director of Sen. John Tower's Lubbock office, visited briefly and Baze advised us in time for coverage in the SDN.

Subsequently, he called our attention to something that few people not directly involved in the political life of the community would have noticed. In lines under a picture, we referred to County Commissioner B. J. Bartels as "the only local Republican official."

It had been mentioned earlier that Carrway met with city and county officials. Isn't it possible that some of the city officials are Republicans? That was the question raised by Baze.

He has a point, of course. Bartels is indeed the only public official here elected while campaigning under the Republican label. However, city officials do not go through a party primary when they run for office. They are elected directly in general election, which so far has been conducted without reference to party affiliation by candidates.

The same is true of school boards, junior college district boards, etc. So, we may have more Republican officials among us than many people realize.

Of course this may raise the question, "Why do we have political parties?"

Well, they don't have them in Russia, which could be as good a reason as most Americans would want.

And another reason is that Americans thrive on competition. No matter what type of drive, or campaign you have going, if you get organized into "teams," more gets done in this country.

In our time as a representative of the press, we have met some of the nicest, most astute people in the political profession. And we have met some of the worst and most obnoxious. But politics, like all other endeavors, attracts all kinds.

But the main reason we have political parties (and we have mentioned this several times before) is that the system of government founded by the framers of our constitution cannot exist without them.

Ask Us

Q.—Wasn't there a Mr. McCullough who served as director of special education for Snyder Schools before Dr. Scannicchio came, and if so, what happened to him and the position and what is the difference between the past position and the one created recently by the school board, and why is there a need for one now?

A-Roger McCulley held that position, and continued to do so for a time after Dr. Thomas Scannicchio, present assistant superintendent for curriculum-instruction, came. McCulley resigned to go to another school system, and the special education supervision was shifted to Dr. Scannicchio. At that time, the department had about half the present number of personnel involved, having grown with addition of several state programs since that time, school officials report.

Common Market Summit...

Warns Against U.S. Policies

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The leaders of the European Common Market strongly criticized the United States today, saying its trade policies seriously endanger free world trade.

The 10 government chiefs, concluding a two-day meeting, also condemned the Israeli invasion of Lebanon and called for immediate, simultaneous withdrawal of Israeli and Palestinian armed forces from west Beirut. They also called for a "complete and prompt" Isreali pullout from Lebanon.

The issues of the Mideast and U.S. trade policies dominated the summit, bringing tough bargaining and repeated redrafting.

A harsh preliminary draft on U.S. policies was considerably softened after British intervention.

Disagrees With Verdict Criticism...

Hinckley Denies He 'Beat Rap'

WASHINGTON (AP) — John W. Hinckley Jr. denies that he "beat the rap" last week when a jury found him innocent by reason of insanity in the shooting of President Reagan, according to a published report.

In a copyright story in The Washington Post today, Hinckley said he believes he was insane when he shot Reagan and three others and emphatically denied that he 'beat the rap,' as one newspaper headline had said.

"I'm not walking out on the street. I'm in a hospital with bars on it...They act like I'm out free....It's not that way at all," Hinckley said.

Hinckley said he was shocked by the jury's verdict — that he was so sure he would be convicted that he had prepared a four-page speech to read in court the day he thought he would be sentenced, the Post reported.

"I respect them (the jurors) now a lot for just saying, 'To hell with what the public said, we think he's not guilty,' " Hinckley said during three telephone interviews Saturday and Sunday from St. Elizabeths Hospital for the mentally ill, where he is confined.

Post reporter Laura A. Kiernan obtained the interview because Hinckley called her at the newspaper from the hospital. Hinckley's chief defense lawyer, Vincent J. Fuller, said Monday that the calls were made without the knowledge of Hinckley's attorneys.

In what were his first comments to the news media since his arrest immediately after the shooting March 30, 1981, Hinckley also said he likes the hospital.

"I like it here so far. Nobody bothers me.... They call me Mr. Hinckley," he said. He said that when he arrived at the hospital last Tuesday people began asking for his autograph.

Hinckley was found innocent of the shootings by reason of insanity June 21. Doctors at St. Elizabeths must submit a report on his mental condition to the court by Aug. 2 and U.S. District Judge Barrington D. Parker has scheduled a hearing Aug. 9 to determine whether Hinckley is entitled to release from the hospital because he is no longer a danger to himself or others.

Asked if he thought he was ready to be released from the hospital, Hinckley, hesitated, then said: "That's a hard question.... "I certainly would not be a danger to myself and I don't honestly think I've been a danger to society....I certainly would not be a danger to the president, I'll say that for sure."

He said he thought there might be a problem with one person.

"I don't know if you've ever heard of her," he said, naming actress Jodie Foster. "I don't think there would be a problem. I don't think I would go stalking after her....If we were in the same room, there might be some problem," he said.

He said that he has in his hospital room a picture of her taken from a magazine.

Extensive psychiatric testimony during Hinckley's trial showed that Hinckley was obsessed with Miss Foster, pursuing her with telephone calls and love notes in the months before he wounded Reagan, presidential Press Secretary James S. Brady, U.S. Secret Service agent Timothy McCarthy and now retired D.C. police officer Thomas K. Delahanty outside the Washington Hilton Hotel.

The 27-year-old presidential assailant said he feels sorry for Brady, whose wound to the brain has left him permanently disabled.

"He's suffered and his life is not what it should be....I just want to say I'm very sorry about what I did. He was just at the wrong place at the wrong time...and I just wish, I just honestly wish I could go back before that shooting....and let him move two inches out of the way," Hinckley said.

The other men have recovered from their wounds. Hinckley told the Post he did not feel sorry for them and that he thought the shooting helped Reagan's popularity.

Hinckley read the Post reporter the first two paragraphs of the speech he said he was prepared to give upon his sentencing:

"From the start all I wanted was for someone to love me. I desperately wanted to be loved but I never could give appropriate love in return. I seem to have a need to hurt those people I love the most. This is true in relation to my family and Jodie Foster. I love them so much that I have this compulsion to destroy them.

"On March 30, 1981, I was asking to be loved. I was asking my family to take me back and I was asking Jodie Foster to hold me in her heart. My assassination attempt was an act of love. I'm sorry love has to be so painful."

Booster Problem Could Postpone Next Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — NASA says the space shuttle will not fly again until it finds and fixes the parachute malfunction that caused its reusable rocket boosters to sink — and that could mean a delay in Columbia's fifth mission this fall.

The 91-ton, 149-foot-long steel casings lie 3,500 feet down on the floor of the Atlantic Ocean, a $36 million loss. They were supposed to float when they hit the water following Sunday's launch.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Monday that early analysis indicated the problem was some failure in a parachute system designed to slow the rockets' descent into the ocean after they are jettisoned by the orbiter.

"This allowed the boosters to impact the water well in excess of their design capability, resulting in their sinking," the NASA statement said.

The "decelerator system" for each booster contains a pilot chute, a drogue chute and three main chutes, each 115 feet in diameter.

One major element of each booster, the forward frustum, or nose cone, and the drogue chute which lowers it to the water separately from the main portion, was recovered successfully as planned.

There was no indication just where the malfunction occurred.

by erma bombeck

At breakfast the other morning all I said was, "How come you don't know our college school song?"

My husband put down the paper and said, "What school song?"

"The one you never sing when we go back for reunions. I think it's disgusting that a man with three college degrees sits there and moves his lips like a chimpanzee."

"I get so few requests for it anymore," he said, going back to his paper.

"What's so hard about:

'Through mountains and through hillsides,

'Through meadows and through dell,

'In busy marts and hamlets,

'Where songs their stories tell'?"

He said, "The words aren't relevant. Who ever heard of meadows, dells, marts and hamlets?"

"Those are romantic words," I snapped. "Be honest, what do you think of when you think of meadows, dells, marts and hamlets?"

He thought a minute. "Jayne, Icatessen, Fed and Hamburger."

"You're pretty cute, aren't you?" I said. "Someone went to a lot of trouble to give you a class song that painted a musical picture of tranquility and you can't even relate to it. I suppose you'd like a few 'whoa, whoas,' and 'baby, baby, babys.'"

"Look, I don't like to sing. I don't even sing 'The Star-Spangled Banner' when it's played."

"And why not, Mr. American?"

"Every time I get to the rockets' red glare, I get a pain shooting down the inside of my left leg."

"And to think men have died for that flag and you complain about a little pain on the inside of your left leg. But then, what do you expect from a man who refuses to sing in church?"

"Beverly Sills couldn't sing those songs."

"Beverly Sills would certainly try!"

He put down the paper again. "Let me guess. You're in a rotten mood. You're picking arguments out of thin air. You have a dental appointment, right?"

"You got it."

"What about the dog?" he said tiredly.

"I kicked him already."

Of Early Films...

Projectionist Recalls Days

PARKERSBURG, W.Va. (AP) — For three score years, Elvin A. Earley worked quietly behind the scenes, bringing joy and delight to generations of West Virginians who never knew his name and never saw his face.

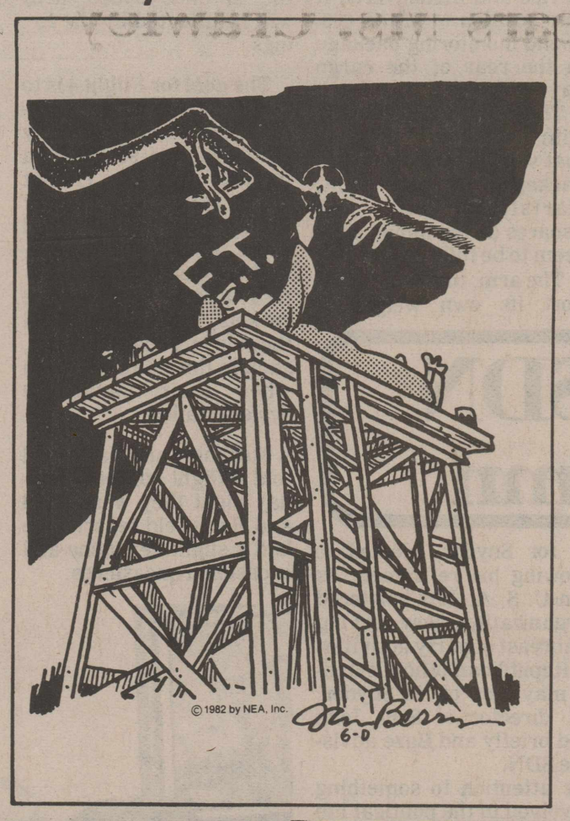

Earley ran movie projectors, starting with a nickelodeon in 1910 in Bellaire, Ohio, across the river from Wheeling.

"I was teaching school and didn't like it, see," Earley, now 94, recalls. "I went up to Bellaire and got work right away in a factory. I think the manager was interested in me and got me into the picture business."

Earley was charged with running the nickelodeon, cranking the silent film by hand while others peered into the contraption to watch the early film stars. Primitive electrical equipment provided the light.

"We took a barrel and filled it full of water and put salt on the bottom and ran the juice down there," he said. "You bring them together — two wires in the water — and you get a good light."

Find Fortune In Beer Can

PORT ARANSAS, Texas (AP) — Alona Gilbert feared she would never find the $10,000 in jewelry hidden in a fake beer can and mistakenly left on a Gulf Coast beach.

Two 10-year-old Dallas boys never dreamed abcut the treasure they would find stuffed in the beer can they so casually tossed into the surf.

J.J. Huff and Matt Franklin found the tiny safe Saturday as they frolicked on the beach.

The tossed it around and threw it into the surf over and over again and watched it float back to shore. They threw it in the air and then saw it hit the beach, break open and reveal the concealed riches — about $10,000 in jewelry and three $20 bills.

Mrs. Gilbert and her husband, Grover, thought the camouflaged safe was a defective beer can when the pop top broke off Friday night. She didn't know her husband had inadvertantly included it with the beer he took from the refrigerator — the place she thought a clever repository for her jewelry.

By the time she discovered the mistake at her Austin home Monday, she was convinced it was too late.

However, by then the boys had turned the treasure over to their parents, who, in turn, gave it to police, said detective Sgt. Charles Titus.

Mrs Gilbert called the Port Aransas police Monday, looking for the place where the city dump discarded beer cans.

She was willing, she told the police dispatcher, to search the whole stretch of beach for the beer-can safe.

"I wanted to go down there and pick through every beer can at the place," she said.

But Titus overheard her conversation with the dispatcher and got on the phone.

He didn't tell her, he said, that police already had the can because he wanted to make sure she could identify the jewelry.

She mentioned every piece but didn't mention the cash.

"You forgot about the three $20 bills," her told her. "She didn't catch on at first."

He then told her the jewelry was safe, thanks to J.J. and Matt, who were staying at the same condominium.

"I'm certainly going to reward them," said Mrs. Gilbert, but so far she has had less luck finding the boys than they did finding her jewels.

Snyder Police Arrest One Man

Snyder police officers arrested one 25 year old man on three separate charges early this morning.

Local detectives attempted to stop the man around 12:52 a.m. and he led them on a short chase which ended around 1:07 a.m. in the alley between Avenue U and Avenue V, just off 37th St. The man was taken to the city jail where he is facing charges for DWI, possession of marijuana in a quantity less than two ounces and fleeing from a peace officer.

One burglary, one theft and one criminal mischief report were also filed with the local police Monday.

Don Adams of the Adams Maytag Laundry reported the burglary of his business around 6:15 a.m. Monday. A burglar apparently broke into the laundry office and made off with an undetermined amount of coins sometime Sunday night or early Monday morning.

Bennie Berkshire of 2000 Avenue R told police about the theft of a lawnmower from his residence around 11:45 a.m. According to reports, the mower, valued at $60, was taken from the residence sometime between noon Friday and 7 a.m. yesterday.

Sandra Brace of 221 32nd St. filed a criminal mischief report with the local police around 8:45 a.m. Monday. According to the report, someone broke the windshield out of her 1979 Ford while it was parked at her residence sometime Sunday night.

Snyder police were also called to investigate one minor traffic accident Monday.

The mishap occurred around 12:20 p.m. at the intersection of 25th St. and Avenue H. Involved in the mishap were a 1981 Buick driven by John Franklin Moore of Graham, Texas and a 1980 GMC driven by Russell Leon Havner of 117 30th St. Moderate to major damages were reported to both vehicles in this mishap.

The Shelburnes Are The People To See For Remodeling Needs

D.D. Shelburne at T.E. Shelburne and Son says "If you've been considering remodeling come see us".

Almost everyone has some home improvement or remodeling job that they have been thinking about. But all too often that's as far as it gets because of hesitancy to tackle the job. That's where the Shelburne company comes in . They can help you plan what you want to do and then they can do it.

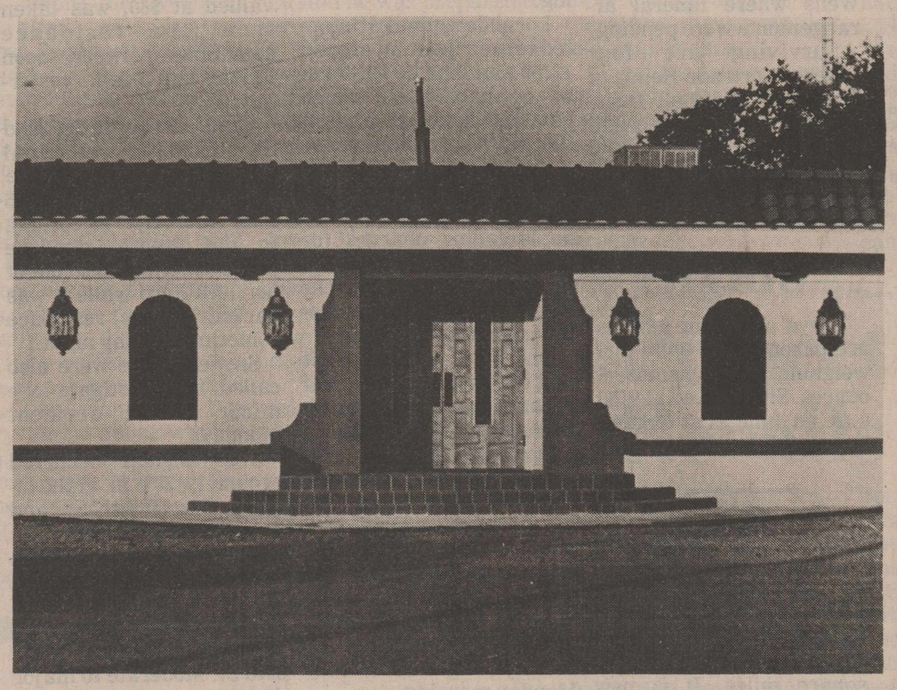

Often a remodeling project will be postponed or abandoned because the home or business owner thinks he will have to coordinate the work of several specialists. Not so with T.E. Shelburne. They can handle the whole job from start to finish.

The firm feels that each project is individual and different, so they strive to handle each job in a way that is right for it.

And, if your needs are larger, such as new construction, T.E. Shelburne and Sons can handle that too. The firm offers extra value in their Gulf States preengineered steel buildings. This value includes up-to-the-minute design, superior construction of steel components, fast delivery and prompt on-the-job erection service.

Industrial customers have chosen T.E.Shelburne and Son and Gulf States because the designs adapt easily to their particular requirements. The square footage cost and ability to alter interior space for changing needs make the building right for your institution.

Whatever your building or remodeling needs are, you can trust Shelburne to fill those needs. Give them a call at 573-6359 or go by 1611 24th Street and talk about it with them.

Snyder Bookstore Is Known For Carrying Unique Gift Ideas

Snyder Bookstore and Gift Shop, located on the West Side of the Square, has developed a reputation for having unique and delightful gift items.

One of the more unique items is the farmer's shadow boxes. These boxes trace the development of the John Deere and International Harvester tractors through the years and the boxes also contain cotton and grain seeds. They would make a perfect gift for that farmer in your family. Also see the Texas Footstool, which is a miniature cotton bale just the right size to put your feet up on.

Owner Donna Gray says that they are continually updating and enlarging their selection of Christian albums, cassettes and tapes. In addition to the recorded music, they carry music books for those who like to perform their own music.

The Smurf family takes up a good portion of the shop and Snyder Bookstore still has the largest selection of Smurf-related items around. One of the newest items is the Smurf Children's Books.

If jotting down notes is your thing, see the selection of hand-painted lucite boxes that hold scratch paper. They are really elegant.

Donna asked that we especially mention the Christian coloring books, coloring cloths, transfer kits, lacing kits and paint sets because they are always getting calls about them.

And finally, remember Snyder Bookstore and Gift Shop for books, books, books. It's a place you need to be familiar with.

U.S., Soviets Begin New Arms Control Talks

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — U.S. and Soviet officials begin a fresh attempt today to check the nuclear arms race by reducing the number of warheads that can span continents and oceans.

A senior U.S. official said the American goal in the new talks is to diminish both the number and destructive power of nuclear weapons. This goes beyond the objective President Reagan outlined in May — a reduction in the number of nuclear warheads carried by American and Soviet missiles.

The official said Monday that the Soviets have built up a 5-to-2 edge in missile payload.

In what Reagan called an "opportunity for real progress in our quest for peace," veteran American and Soviet negotiators have scheduled a meeting today at the Soviet diplomatic mission here to set ground rules for the long-awaited talks.

The two sides are to begin detailed presentations of their bargaining positions on Wednesday at the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency offices overlooking tranquil Lake Geneva.

Reagan has termed the negotiations START, for Strategic Arms Reduction Talks, and has made a two-phased offer.

First, under the American plan, the two nations would trim intercontinental ballistic warheads from about 7,500 to 5,000. The next phase would reduce each side's total missile destructive power to equal levels.

Soviet intercontinental missiles can launch a combined weight of 5 million kilograms, compared with less than 2 million for America's smaller rockets, according to the official, who asked not to be identified.

Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev has urged a freeze in nuclear weapons "as soon as the talks begin."

But Reagan has rejected the proposal, saying it would put the West at the mercy of Soviet superiority.

ABWA Hears Ms. Crawley

American Business Women's Association held their regular meeting June 24 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. Hostess, Jo Nell Kesner, used an Independence Day theme for decorations.

Mary Hall, president, conducted the business meeting. Kathryn Carwley, comsumer specialist for Lone Star Gas Co., gave an interesting program on how to make gifts and other items for all occasions from inexpensive materials. She then showed a film on cooking out on a gas grill and passed out recipes for the foods prepared on the film.

Jo Cotton, employe at Sears & Roebuck, was installed as a new member by Ms. Hall.

North and South bid all around Robin Hood's barn on their way to six no-trump. Not that it is a bad contract. There are 11 top tricks and a 3-3 break in diamonds or a drop of a doubleton queen-jack of spades will bring it home. Then there is a simple spade, diamond squeeze if one defender holds at least four cards in each of those suits.

None of these breaks are there and West got off to the best defense with his heart lead. However, Dr. John Fisher of Dallas brought home the slam by ducking the first heart, taking the heart continuation and then running off all his clubs.

As John explained afterwards there just was no defense. His three discards from dummy were two spades and a diamond, leaving dummy with three spades, two diamonds and one heart. East had to hold on to four diamonds. He also retained two spades. West was down to one heart, three spades and two diamonds.

Now John cashed his top diamonds. West had to discard on the third diamond. He chucked a spade so John threw dummy's last heart and scored three spade tricks for his slam.

East could have made matters a trifle tougher for John if he had discarded two spades and hung on to the 10 of hearts. But John would have held three spades in dummy and after the queen fell on his king John would finesse against West's jack for his 12th trick.

Retirees Use Talents In Arts & Crafts Center

HENDERSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — An arts and crafts center that's of, by and for the elderly is helping make this mountain town a prized spot for people contemplating retirement, local officials say.

Opportunity House, staffed and operated entirely by senior citizens, is the only retiree center of its kind in the country, according to director Lorraine Berry. Its 2,200 members, from every state and 13 foreign countries, support its work with their $8 annual dues. The nonprofit center receives no federal funds.

"At Opportunity House, the theory is that talent doesn't cease to exist just because a person retires," said Ms. Berry. "Retirees can and should be a vital part of the community where they live. It's a joy to be doing something interesting and helping others at the same time."

Hendersonville Chamber of Commerce officials and real-estate agents say Opportunity House, favorable weather and beautiful scenery help draw those seeking retirement homes to the North Carolina mountains.

The Chamber of Commerce sends an Opportunity House brochure in its promotional package to everyone who writes for information on the area. Real-estate salesmen use it to encourage retirees to choose Henderson County over other possible mountain towns.

"I remember when I came to Hendersonville to look it over, every real-estate man in town told me about Opportunity House," said Robert Davis, 80, a retired magazine editor who handles public relations for Opportunity House and teaches a pottery class. "It didn't exactly make my decision for me on where to live but it got my interest."

Opportunity House, founded in 1957 by a Methodist minister, came into being at a time when Hendersonville was gaining a reputation as a nice place to retire, Ms. Berry said.

The group's first project, painting a huge mural in the fellowship hall of First United Methodist Church, was such a success that it spawned dozens of other art projects and classes in all types of arts and crafts.

By 1961, the group's 100 members had outgrown the church meeting room, but Hendersonville artist Grace Etheridge's donation on an old two-story house on the edge of town quickly became Opportunity House headquarters.

The center now offers sewing, quilting, all types of painting, pottery and stained glass as well as tour packages throughout the world at discount prices.

Classes generally have about six students, with sessions broken into eight-week periods. Students pay $8 per period.

Many Medical Questions Are Unanswered In Manned Flights

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) - Your fluid levels drop, your legs shrink. Some of your muscles start wasting away. You may become irritable and jealous of those around you.

You're not sick, you're just in space.

Spaceflight does weird things to the human mind and body, and medical scientists don't really know why or exactly what to do about it.

Emotionally, space travelers "internalize" among themselves, but then take out their anger with the ground. They don't complain to each other about minor irritations. But they will grouse at Mission Control, spewing out their frustrations to the engineers who are safe back on Earth.

The best-known physical malady in space is motion sickness. Athletic test pilots who easily withstand the violent twisting and turning of jet flight often become pale, shaky and nauseated in orbit, but it usually ends after a day or so.

On Monday, pilot Henry Hartsfield reported that a queasy stomach and occasional headache bothered him during his first two days aboard Columbia. Doctors prescribed two aspirin, a motion sickness pill, and a good night's sleep.

The prognosis for Hartsfield's quick recovery was good, but specialists at the Johnson Space Center believe much research must be done on some more serious physical problems before voyages lasting many months or years are attempted. These include a decline in heart activity and a loss of calcium.

Jerry Homick, a doctor of psychology and a specialist in the effects of space flight, said the Russians have proven that voyages of 185 days are possible without serious harm.

"They've shown that with appropriate countermeasures, a healthy individual can tolerate six months in weightlessness," said Homick. But the cumulative effects of more than half a year in space, he said, remain a mystery.

Soviet officials, in a news conference last year, said they had no plans for flights longer than six months because experience showed that the efficiency of the cosmonauts declined. Exhaustion sets in, explained one cosmonaut, after about four months.

The exhaustion may stem from the slow deconditioning of the cardiovascular system. Once the human body arrives in weightlessness, the heart stops working as hard as it does in the gravity of Earth. The circulation system loses efficiency and hard physical work becomes more difficult.

In the three U.S. Skylab missions, which lasted up to 84 days, the astronauts exercised vigorously to maintain good heart conditioning. But Homick said even this countermeasure was not totally successful.

"Exercise slowed the deconditioning, but never stopped it completely," said Homick.

The danger is that the heart would become so weak that astronauts would not be able to withstand the stress of returning to the full gravity of Earth.

Another serious problem is the loss of calcium from bones. Homick said astronauts experienced this throughout Skylab and countermeasures that were tried never worked.

"There was no indication in the Skylab studies that the loss of calcium would level off and stop," said Homick. Eventually, he said, bones could become brittle and easily broken.

Solutions to both the heart deconditioning and calcium loss problems must be found before astronauts could attempt interplanetary travel. Voyages to Mars, for instance, could take three years, well beyond the known safe limit for space travel.

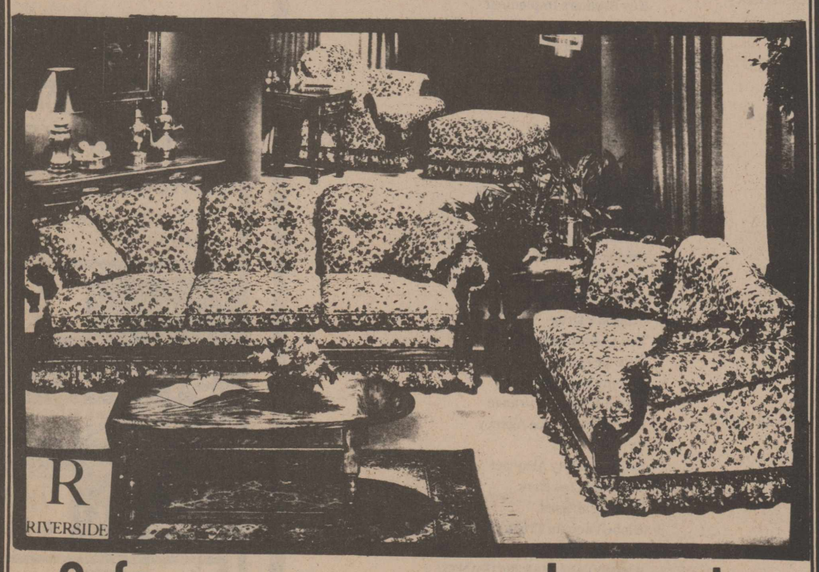

Questions must also be answered about the social "mix" of crews on long term voyages.

"Poor social interaction on long duration spaceflights could create all sorts of problems," said Homick.

For instance, he said, it could be dangerous on a crew of 10 or 12 to include too many people with strong, natural leadership impulses. This could lead to serious dissention with several persons battling for dominance.

On Handguns In San Francisco...

DA Won't Enforce Ban

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco has become the largest city in the nation to pass a ban on possession of handguns, but the district attorney says he won't enforce the law until it passes a court test.

Mayor Dianne Feinstein signed legislation Monday making it a misdemeanor to have a handgun in this city of 650,000 people, saying it would "help us make our streets and homes...safe for everyone."

But District Attorney Arlo Smith said he wouldn't file charges in connection with the law until there has been a "constitutional determination" of its validity by the courts.

Smith said he believed "the ordinance is preempted by state law and it is invalid."

The Board of Supervisors voted 6-4 on Monday in favor of the ban, which has a 90-day grace period before becoming law in order to give people time to dispose of their weapons.

Ms. Feinstein, who proposed the legislation in February, predicted Smith would enforce the law because "that's what he's elected to do. Or the district attorney will go out and tell the citizens of San Francisco next year when he runs that he's not prepared to enforce the law."

"If you're packing around a gun or you have one, you're going to be arrested for it," she said.

City officials, nevertheless, "obviously expect the legislation to be challenged in court," said Bill Strawn, the mayor's assistant press secretary.

The National Rifle Association, the major foe of the measure, plans to file suit seeking to overturn it, said Paul Stone, the group's national spokesman. He said the ban "will make criminals out of thousands of law-abiding citizens."

Police and security officers are exempted from the ban, as are members of gun clubs and certain small businesses who demonstrate a need for handguns.

Under the new law, the police chief will have the final authority to approve applications for handgun possession. Shotguns and rifles are excluded from the ban.

Ms. Feinstein, who bought a handgun in 1976 after receiving many death threats, said she will turn her own gun in.

"I've not carried that weapon for a number of years. I still have it, and I know that at least one gun will be turned in," she said.

She said the ban was needed to stop the "thousands upon thousands of firearms" in the city from "falling into the hands of criminals, juveniles and people who are mentally incompetent.

Canada Announces '83 Anti-Recession Budget

TORONTO (AP) — Canada is spending $3.2 billion to fight its severe recession, raising the money with higher income taxes and restrictions on government salaries.

Allan MacEachen, finance minister in Pierre Elliott Trudeau's Liberal government, unveiled a new federal budget Monday night in a nationally televised speech from the House of Commons in Ottawa, making major revisions in the budget announced last November for the 1982-83 fiscal year, which began April 1.

The recession-fighting funds will go to create jobs and subsidize loans for home buyers and small businessmen, MacEachen said.

Opposition parties denounced the new strategy as inadequate for what they called the country's acute problems, and labor leaders threatened to strike to protest the wage limits.

20 ways to help hold down your electric bill.

Energy Conservation Practices

Electricity is costing more this summer mainly because the fuel to make it is costing more. The following low- or no-cost home conservation practices can help you save energy and money.

- ❑ Do not use air conditioner unless absolutely necessary.
- ❑ Keep your thermostat set no lower than 80° in the summer. Use ceiling or oscillating fans to circulate the air.
- ❑ Check your air conditioner filters each month to see if they need cleaning or changing. And make sure that the outside unit is free of grass, leaves and trash.
- ❑ When leaving home, turn off air conditioning. If away for two days or more, turn off water heater.
- ❑ If you have a dishwasher, set water heater to 140°; otherwise, set temperature to 120° or lower.
- ❑ Use scrap insulation to plug air leaks in attic, around fireplace dampers and window air conditioners.
- ❑ Repair water leaks in pipes and faucets, and seal air duct leaks.
- ❑ Use drapes, blinds, shades, awnings or plants to block sunlight.
- ❑ Try to minimize traffic through outside doors.
- ❑ Economize in the kitchen. Plan meals so several dishes can be cooked in the oven at the same time.
- ❑ Save when you do laundry. Wash and dry only full loads of clothes.

Energy Conservation Measures

These home installations and modifications require an investment, but may return their cost to you in the form of savings on utility bills.

- ❑ Caulk and weatherstrip around doors and windows to reduce air leaks.
- ❑ Add insulation to ceilings, walls and floors.
- ❑ Insulate ducts, especially in the attic.
- ❑ Insulate hot water pipes in attic.
- ❑ Install insulation blankets on water heaters, especially in garage or basement.
- ❑ Investigate cost-effectiveness of storm doors and windows.
- ❑ Add solar-reflecting materials to doors and windows on east/west exposures.
- ❑ Install a clock thermostat to automatically set air conditioner and heating unit to desired temperature. Even when you're away from home, the clock thermostat can control your air conditioner for more economical operation.
- ❑ Investigate replacing your central air conditioner, especially if unit is more than five years old, with a new unit that has a Seasonal Energy Efficiency Rating (SEER) of at least 8.5.

Good, Bad News For Science Tests

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — There was a big hit and a big miss in major science experiments during the space shuttle's second day in orbit.

A machine that experts believe may revolutionize production of some types of medical compounds worked exactly as planned during a high-flow experiment. The device, called the Continuous Flow Electrophoresis System, produced several batches of compounds without an apparent flaw, officials said.

Astronauts Ken Mattingly and Henry Hartsfield again were unable to turn on an experiment package that is housed in a 2-foot-high canister in the cargo bay. The experiments are activated through a single control module, which has failed to work for two days, threatening disappointment for nine Utah college students who designed the project.

Hartsfield operated the electrophoresis system for more than six hours Monday and reported that a stream of raw biological material was processed smoothly.

The experiment uses electrical current to separate compounds, such as hormones or enzymes, from naturally occurring biological sources, such as urine. The process is used on Earth, but experts believe it will be several hundred times more efficient in the weightlessness of space.

James Rose, project manager for McDonnell Douglas, which cosponsors the test project, said he was "very, very pleased" with the test run.

"It ran for six hours and 51 minutes with high concentrations which can't be used on Earth. They were run and flowing nicely," said Rose.

McDonnell Douglas and its partner in the project, Ortho Pharmaceuticals, hope to prove that electrophoresis can be used in space to create superpure hormones or enzymes that are valuable in treating disease. The firms decline to reveal what compounds were tested Monday, but it's known that the growth hormone and a compound called urokinase were being considered. Urokinase is a powerful compound used to dissolve blood clots.

If the manufacturing process is successful, the two companies plan to orbit a factory satellite that would continuously make the medical compounds.

As for the cranky student experiment package, engineers prepared a 30-minute repair procedure which the astronauts will try today.

The experiment package is the first of what the space agency calls a Get Away Special. Such experiments are carried on the shuttle for private customers who pay about $10,000.

The space was donated to Utah State University and nine students worked two years to design and build experiments for the project. Their package, which once activated works automatically, includes tests of the effects of zero gravity on the growth of plants, shrimp and fruit flies, and on the flow of liquid metals and epoxy compounds.

Supreme Court Limits Help To Handicapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court is freeing the nation's 16,000 public school districts from having to provide potentially costly extra special help for handicapped children.

The court says America's 4 million handicapped children have no legal right to the kind of special help they need to achieve their full potential in public schools.

The court's 6-3 decision Monday came as it interpreted a 1975 federal law guaranteeing handicapped children a "free appropriate public education." The court said the law was intended to provide a level of assistance that would allow handicapped children to keep up with other students.

In other action, the nation's highest court:

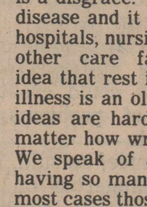

—Ruled that home owners with mortgages from federally chartered savings and loan associations have no right to pass on their low-interest loans to prospective home buyers.

The justices said a federal regulation allowing federally chartered thrift institutions to require immediate mortgage repayment when a house is sold supercedes conflicting state restrictions in about 18 states.

—Struck down as unconstitutional a bankruptcy law Congress enacted in 1978. But the justices gave the lawmakers until Oct. 4 to rewrite the law to give federal bankruptcy judges less sweeping powers. They said lawsuits filed in the meantime will not be affected.

—Refused to disturb rulings that television networks and stations almost never can be held legally responsible when violence portrayed in broadcasts is imitated in real life. HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb,M.D.

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Your column about the 16-year-old girl who was paralyzed and at bed rest a long time has been bothering me. You said that long-term bed rest could cause loss of calcium from bones and you even mentioned that in older people this could even make the softening of the bones common with aging worse.

Why then do hospitals put people at bed rest? And what about all our nursing homes that keep people in bed or provide very little activity? Will that cause them to deteriorate? Shouldn't they be out of bed? You read about the value of exercise in health all the time so why isn't it just as important in nursing homes and hospitals? What about people in bed for heart attacks or after surgery? The whole thing puzzles me.

DEAR READER — You are on the right track and it is a disgrace. We call it bed disease and it is rampant in hospitals, nursing homes and other care facilities. The idea that rest is good for an illness is an old one and old ideas are hard to shake no matter how wrong they are. We speak of a hospital as having so many beds and in most cases those beds should be used only for the regular hours of sleep.

Surgeons have recognized this problem for years and strive for early ambulation to avoid the general complication of bed rest and also to prevent blood clots that form in the legs of even healthy people at bed rest.

Heart specialists try to get their patients out of bed as their condition permits to avoid the degeneration of the circulatory ability. Bed rest leads to faintness when a person gets out of bed. It leads to loss of calcium from bones, may increase the risk of kidney stones, decreases the ability of the bone marrow to form red blood cells and causes the body to lose needed salt and water stores.

I think all those patients in nursing homes who can get up at all should be on their feet and moving part of every day. That also applies to older people at home. Inactivity is a serious problem. To give you more information I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-6, Effects of Inactivity, Including Bed Rest. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Could you suggest some ways to increase my resistance to spontaneous nose bleeds? Would vitamin C or any diet change help? Would salt water rinsing help toughen the membranes or should I use a topical lubricant such as vitamin E oil?

I'm 60 and live in Denver where the climate is very dry. My blood pressure is OK and I've quit smoking and I don't have to blow my nose. I wasn't bothered when we lived in San Diego near the ocean. Now I dread waking up with a nose bleed or when one starts while I'm reading. Last year I had to be packed and it took three weeks for the cure.

DEAR READER — You should have a careful examination by an ENT specialist because some nose bleeds are associated with a tendency of an artery in the back of the nose to crack, like a plastic pipe splits, and these can be very troublesome.

Other possible causes include excessive dryness and, sometimes, from nose picking. You may benefit from a moisturizer; I would recommend a solid such as Vaseline, which is far superior to oils for this purpose. Use it twice a day.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1982 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 70, and he's in a rest home and will never be able to come home because of an illness I can't handle. Sam (not his name) is attractive and well-read, but he gets confused now and then.

I don't drive, so a friend I'll call Emma drives me to see Sam two or three times a week. Emma often goes to visit Sam without me, which is fine because Sam appreciates the company.

Now the problem. Lately when I visit Sam with Emma, he pays more attention to her than he does to me. He never takes his eyes off her, and the last time we visited Sam, the hello and goodbye kisses between him and Emma were much warmer than you'd expect between casual friends. I laughingly told Emma on the way home that I thought Sam had a crush on her. She said, "Oh no, we're just good friends," but I noticed she turned beet-red.

Emma is my age, late 60s, and she's never been married. I enjoy her company and don't want to break up the friendship. Should I be jealous?

SAM'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Yes, but don't be foolish. If Sam and Emma find mutual pleasure in an innocent flirtation, what's the harm? I think both you and Sam are lucky to have Emma's friendship. Don't spoil it by overreacting. Keep a cool head and a warm heart. Emma's not about to steal Sam out of the rest home.

DEAR ABBY: Please, I need help quick. I've been going with this guy, Harold, for three years. He's sweet and understanding, and it was no surprise when he gave me an engagement ring for Christmas three years ago. (I was 20 then and he was 22.) We discussed marriage but didn't make any definite plans for the wedding because Harold kept saying we shouldn't rush into anything.

A few weeks ago Harold said he thinks we should live together first because he doesn't want to get married until he knows what married life is like.

I am dead set against living with him or any other man. He says I'm old-fashioned, that everybody is doing it. I call myself "respectable," and I refuse to go along with his suggestion. I tried to give him his ring back, but he wouldn't take it.

What I want to know is this: Am I old-fashioned, and is everybody doing it? Or is Harold right?

RESPECTABLE IN MINNESOTA

DEAR RESPECTABLE: You are not old-fashioned and everybody is not doing it! Hang in there, girl. If Harold doesn't want to marry you on your terms, somebody else will.

DEAR ABBY: I should have listened to you! So many times a woman will see her best friend's husband with another woman, and she asks you if she should tell her friend, and you always say, "No!"

Well, Abby, I saw my best friend's husband in a car with a girl. My friend was having some minor problems with her marriage at the time, but my big mouth blew the whole thing sky-high!

I wound up hurting her more than helping her, and I lost her as my friend. She has not spoken to me in over a year, and I miss her very much. I doubt if I will ever have a friend like her again. Please warn others to keep their mouths shut.

SHOULD HAVE LISTENED

DEAR SHOULD: Good people with the best of intentions often do more harm than bad people with evil intentions. And then, of course, there are the gossip-mongers, busybodies, self-appointed protectors of "morality" and any number of nasty-minded folks who have so little joy in their own lives that they take pleasure in relaying painful news to others. If I had to err in such a situation, I'd opt for erring on the side of silence.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas, effective July 27, 1982, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish a 13.4 percent increase in the company's intrastate revenues.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas. The Commission staff has contended in the past that all rates are subject to change as a result of Southwestern Bell's rate application.

Notice to El Paso Area Customers

Effective January 1, 1982, Southwestern Bell adopted the Mountain States tariffs in effect for El Paso County. Southwestern Bell proposes to merge the separate El Paso tariffs with its tariffs applicable to the rest of Texas. The resulting new rate schedule is on file with the PUC and the El Paso area municipalities served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection at our El Paso business office.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

The filing includes, but is not limited to, proposals to increase rates for interexchange private line and foreign exchange (FX) service. Changes in such rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies because such companies provide interexchange private line and foreign exchange service in accordance with rates specified in Southwestern Bell's tariffs. While Southwestern Bell has proposed no increase in long distance rates, any change in those rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies.

Aviso Público

Southwestern Bell, en conformidad a las reglas del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas, por la presente hace saber su intención de establecer un nuevo arancel para servicio de teléfono en Texas con vigencia a partir del 27 de julio, 1982, a menos que la Comisión haga otra determinación.

Se espera que el nuevo arancel que se ha solicitado rendirá un aumento de 13.4 por ciento en los ingresos intraestatales de la compañía.

Una copia completa del nuevo arancel se ha archivado en las oficinas del Public Utility Commission en Austin, Texas, al igual que en cada municipalidad afectada y servida por Southwestern Bell, y cada una de las oficinas de la compañía para negocios con el público en Texas tiene una copia para lectura pública. En el pasado, la Comisión ha sostenido que toda tarifa está sujeta a cambios que resulten de la manera en la cual Southwestern Bell aplique sus tarifas.

Aviso a Clientes en la Región de El Paso

Con vigencia a partir del 1o de enero de 1982, Southwestern Bell ha adoptado las tarifas de Mountain States efectivas en el condado de El Paso. Southwestern Bell propone unir las tarifas de El Paso con sus otras tarifas que se aplican al resto de Texas. El nuevo arancel que resulta de ésta union se ha archivado en la Comisión de Servicios Públicos (Public Utility Commission), al igual que en las municipalidades de la región de El Paso servidas por Southwestern Bell, y está disponible para inspección pública en nuestras oficinas de El Paso.

Aviso a los Clientes de Otras Compañías de Teléfono

El registro incluye, pero no se limita a, propuestas para aumentar las tarifas para servicio de línea privada entre centrales telefónicas (interexchange private line) y servicio de central telefónica extranjera (foreign exchange FX). Cambios en dichas tarifas de servicio tambien afectarían a clientes de otras compañías de teléfono porque dichas compañías proveen los servicios ya mencionados en conformidad a tarifas especificadas por Southwestern Bell. Aunque Southwestern Bell no ha propuesto un aumento en las tarifas para larga distancia, cualquier cambio en las mismas tambien afectaría a los clientes de otras compañías de teléfono.

Navratilova, King Cop Victories At Wimbledon

today's sports news

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) - Top-seeded Martina Navratilova and sentimental favorite Billie Jean King cruised to straight-set victories today, but fourth-seeded Andrea Jaeger was ambushed by Anne Smith and No.7 Pam Shriver was stunned by Barbara Potter in the All-England Tennis Championships at Wimbledon.

Navratilova overcame some strong early play to subdue 18-year-old Zina Garrison 6-3, 6-2, while King, playing in her 102nd singles match at the All-England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club, tripped sixth-seeded Wendy Turnbull of Australia.

Smith, the No.13 seed, upended Jaeger 6-4, 6-2, while the 10th-seeded Potter ousted Shriver with surprising ease, 6-2, 6-4.

Third-seeded Tracy Austin had little trouble ousting West Germany's Claudia Kohde 6-3, 6-3.

All five women advanced into the quarterfinals of the rain-disrupted tournament.

On the men's side, No.16 Steve Denton completed a match begun Monday by outlasting Schalk van der Merwe of South Africa 6-7, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4, 13-11.

The match was suspended at two sets each and 10-10 in the final set Monday because of darkness. The fifth set went to 24 games because Wimbledon, like the French Open, does not use the tiebreaker to decide the final set.

In the final game, van der Merwe was serving to save the match at 30-40 and hit what appeared to be an ace. But when the umpire announced deuce point, Denton refused to change courts, maintaining the service had skimmed the net and should be called a let.

Because the match was played on one of the outer courts and there was no net judge, the umpire yielded to Denton and ordered the point replayed.

Denton finished the match on the next point and, as an angry van der Merwe left the court, the American remained to play his next match against New Zealander Chris Lewis, which followed immediately.

Navratilova, heading towards an expected final match against defending champion Chris Evert Lloyd, nearly overlooked Garrison, last year's Wimbledon and U.S. Open junior girls champion and a surprise quarterfinalist at the French Open.

The young American broke service in the third game to take a 3-1 advantage. But Navratilova ripped off the next five games, including breaks in the sixth and eighth games, to capture the set.

NBA Draft Begins Today

NEW YORK (AP) - The Los Angeles Lakers will choose James Worthy of North Carolina with the first pick in the National Basketball Association draft, NBA chief scout Marty Blake predicts.

"I think it's a matter of personal preference," Blake said on the eve of today's draft, which started at noon EDT at Madison Square Garden's Felt Forum. "I really don't know, for example, if the roles were reversed and Utah had the first pick, if they would take Worthy, but I think for the particular needs of the Los Angeles Lakers, that Worthy fills the bill."

The Lakers didn't announce, as they did two years ago when they made Earvin "Magic" Johnson the first pick, whether they would select Worthy, DePaul's All-American Terry Cummings or Dominique Wilkins of Georgia. But it was a foregone conclusion that Los Angeles, San Diego and Utah would make those three juniors the first to be drafted.

All three teams say they would be happy with any of the three, but most observers have predicted a Worthy-Cummings-Wilkins selection order for the Lakers, Clippers and Jazz.

Blake, who does initial scouting reports for all 23 NBA teams, called Worthy, Cummings and Wilkins "three great superstars. I don't think you could go wrong taking any of them."

He said his prediction that the Lakers would take Worthy "doesn't mean that Terry Cummings or Dominique Wilkins may not in the future be classified as better all-around players than Worthy."

Although Blake called the senior class "a good crop, with as many as 20 big guards that could go in the first two rounds," the 1982 draft could be remembered as the "Year of the Underclassman."

Dallas, which picks fourth, traded its starting center of last year, Wayne Cooper, and a future draft choice to Portland Monday for guard Kelvin Ransey. This apparently opened the way for the Mavericks to take still another junior, Texas center LaSalle Thompson.

Dallas reportedly also was considering Bill Garnett, a 6-9 senior from Wyoming; and Trent Tucker, a 6-5 senior guard from Minnesota.

Two other juniors who probably will go in the first two rounds are guards Rob Williams of Houston and John Bagley of Boston College.

Wilson Adds All-State To List Of Credentials

John Wilson, District 2-4A's most valuable player this season, has been named to the Class 4A All-State Baseball Team.

Wilson did double duty during his senior year under a highly successful Coach Albert Lewis. As pitcher-third baseman, Wilson batted .514 in conference play and .373 in an undefeated district campaign.

The Tiger co-captain hurled a 6-0 mark in conference action and was 10-3 for the season with an ERA of 1.64. In 81 innings he gave up 67 hits, 38 runs, 19 earned runs, 30 walks and struck out 98 batters.

Wilson, who was also voted Tiger baseball's co-Most Valuable Player, has signed a scholarship with Howard County College in Big Spring.

He joins three other area players on the all-state team, including Hector Limon, Wayne Dotson and Rodney Wheeler, all of Lubbock Estacado.

Limon, a two-time all-state selection, played shortstop and batted over .500 for the Matadors. Wheeler had second-baseman duties, while Dotson, a junior, was a key pitcher.

With the aid of Wilson, Snyder won its sixth straight district baseball title in 1982, bringing Lewis' record to a formidable 130 wins, 63 losses and two ties. Lewis, six times District Coach of the Year, is 62-11 in conference play.

Ryan Hurls 196th Win As Astros Top Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) - Nolan Ryan says he never sets any "number goals," but the hard-throwing right-hander of the Houston Astros is putting together some impressive ones.

Ryan weathered a two-hour, seven-minute rain delay to go eight innings Monday night, fanning 10 batters and yielding only four hits as the Astros downed the Atlanta Braves 6-2.

It was the 139th time Ryan, 7-8, has fanned 10 or more batters in a game and also was his 196th career triumph. It lifted his career strikeout total to 3,353, third best in baseball history.

Ryan went through seven innings without giving up a walk, then tired in the eighth and issued three free passes to load the bases before fanning Bob Horner to end the threat.

The Astros jumped on Rick Mahler, 7-6, for two runs in the first and collected three more in the second with Jose Cruz accounting for an RBI in each inning with a sacrifice fly and a single.

Both Atlanta runs came on leadoff solo homers - by Biff Pocoroba in the third and Rufino Linares in the fifth. It was the second of the year for each.

After a heavy downpour lasted more than an hour, few expected the game to be played.

"I never thought we'd try to play it," said Ryan.

"I had 28 passes here, but I sent my family home," said Ray Knight, the Astros infielder. "I'm from Georgia and I know how it can rain here. I didn't think we'd play, especially after they couldn't get the tarp on."

Manager Bill Virdon of the Astros said Umpire Doug Harvey was about to call the game when the rain suddenly stopped.

"Harvey said he was going to make every effort to play it," Virdon said. "There was a time I figured they'd call it, but they (umpires) always try to get a game in."

Westhead Takes Job With Chicago Bulls

CHICAGO (AP) - Paul Westhead returned to coaching in the National Basketball Association quoting Carl Sandburg and Henry David Thoreau, neither of whom had much to say about a fast-break offense.

Westhead, who achieved a .691 winning percentage - 112-50 - with the Los Angeles Lakers before being dismissed early last season amid a dispute with one of his star players, Earvin "Magic" Johnson, was named Monday as coach of the Chicago Bulls.

Referring to his record with the Lakers, Westhead said, "What's done well is done well forever" - a Thoreau quotation.

Then, trying to define his objective with the Bulls, Westhead turned to Sandburg for inspiration.

"Chicago, as Carl Sandburg so aptly put it, is a city of broad shoulders. We would like to be a team with broad shoulders. Today is the start of building some strong shoulders for the Bulls."

Westhead could be shouldering a formidable task - trying to make a playoff contender of a club that finished fifth in the National Basketball Association's Central Division with a 34-48 record.

Bulls General Manager Rod Thorn isn't worried, though.

"We feel very fortunate to get a coach with Paul's credentials," said Thorn, referring to Westhead's NBA title with Los Angeles in 1980. "He's been a winner at every level. We look forward to a long and successful relationship."

Westhead, signed to a four-year contract, replaces Thorn, who filled in as interim coach last February after Jerry Sloan had been fired.
