Reagan committed to tax overhaul

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan has called the entire Senate to the White House to declare his commitment to a radical tax overhaul plan and join sponsors of the legislation in trying to head off amendments aimed at preserving selected tax breaks.

The breakfast meeting today follows initial Senate debate Wednesday on the proposal that would sweep away an array of tax breaks — such as the deductability of contributions to individual retirement accounts — to make way for cutting the 50 percent top individual tax rate to 27 percent and the 46 percent maximum corporate rate to 33 percent.

The Senate, moving on to other matters, has interrupted action on the tax bill until next week.

White House aides said more than 70 of the Senate's 100 members accepted Reagan's invitation to the lobbying session that was to include a pitch on the president's "sweater strategy" — the need to pass the bill without amendments.

The sweater strategy is that if the Senate pulls a single thread out of the tax bill, the entire measure may unravel.

Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., said Wednesday after the Senate spent about seven hours discussing the bill, "There's a lot of momentum out there for this bill."

Dole and other backers of the bill believe the adoption of any major amendment could upset the delicate political balance that is holding the complicated measure together.

During the meandering Senate discussion Wednesday there were repeated expressions of praise and support for the plan produced by the Senate Finance Committee.

But legislators seeking to retain the deduction for IRA contributions and make other changes in the bill served notice that they planned to fight for their positions.

Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., the Finance Committee chairman, said he still has no idea how many amendments will be offered.

"It will depend what happens to the first two or three major amendments that are offered," Packwood said. "If they get defeated I think you'll see a lot of amendments disappear."

Any amendments which are adopted might require raising the rates to pay for the change.

Tourney reunites friends

With 55 teams expected locally for the Girl's Little Dribbler National Tournament, some reunions between Snyder residents and out-of-town friends were naturally expected.

But Donald and Sharyon Bond say they never thought they would be reunited with friends from their hometown of Pitkin, La. — a community "about the size of Hermleigh," Mrs. Bond said.

In addition, Carolyn Cook, the coach for the Pitkin team competing in the local tournament, is a second cousin to Donald Bond.

Snyder's selection as the tournament site is a first, but Pitkin is a perennial participant in the event, having won the national tourney in the Continential (small city) Division twice for girls age 11-12.

Tuesday, "four carloads" of team members, family and coaches arrived in Snyder from Pitkin. All were to be guests for a lunch planned Thursday at the Bond's residence.

The local couple moved from Louisiana to Snyder nine years ago.

The area around Pitkin is also represented in the event including two other teams from East Beaugread, La.

The Bonds are also former friends and neighbors of this group.

The tournament, underway at gymnasiums at the coliseum, high school and college, began Wednesday and will continue here through Saturday.

In all, some 96 games will be played in three divisions and three leagues.

TECAT 'percent' reported

Snyder ISD teachers and administrators scored a 98.5 percent passing rate during the TECAT exam administered here in March, according to figures released Wednesday by Texas Education Agency officials.

Their counterparts in both the Hermleigh and Ira school districts scored 100 percent passing marks.

The names of individuals failing the test will not be released by either TEA or Snyder ISD.

Regarding the local district, the maximum number of persons who could have taken the test in March was 279. Using this figure, a 1.5 percent failure rate would indicate a maximum of four persons failed the test.

Thursday morning, Superintendent Bob Hawes noted, "We have no figures on how many people actually took it (the test) here, so that figure could as easily be one or two."

Hawes said they have received no official word that any Snyder educator failed the test. They noted the percentage of those failing here has not been reported to the local district as yet either.

The only individuals taking the test in March were certified teachers and administrators currently employed by the school district.

Educators statewide took the the Texas Examination of Current Administrators and Teachers last March 10.

The overall passing rate was 96.7 percent for the 202,084 educators who took the exam.

The TEA report showed that 436 of the state's 1,073 districts had 100 percent passing rates. Most others were in the 90-99 percent range. About 45 recorded passing rates below 90 percent.

A passing grade of 75 was required for the basic reading and writing skills test for educators to keep their state certificates.

The TECAT percentages recorded by school districts adjacent to Scurry County include:

—Borden County: Borden County ISD, 100 percent.

—Howard County: Big Spring ISD, 96.5 percent; Coahoma ISD, 100 percent; Forsan ISD, 100 percent.

—Nolan County: Sweetwater ISD, 98.5 percent; Roscoe ISD, 100 percent; Blackwell ISD, 100

Another inch falls during night here

Another 1.05 inches of rain fell in Snyder Wednesday night, part of a storm which dumped 2 inches on the watershed which serves Lake J.B. Thomas.

Points further south from Snyder suffered flooding problems with the Wednesday night rain, but the city has not experienced any high water problems to date.

Regarding the rainfall in the lake, the area west of Gail in Borden County received some 2 inches. Officials with the Colorado River Municipal Water District expected it to produce a rise in the lake level from ½ to 1 ft.

The Colorado River channel into the lake was said flowing Thursday morning. The increase would place the lake level in excess of 2,219 ft. above sea level — near where it stayed most of last summer.

The flooding at points south reportedly closed the Colorado City Highway (State Hwy. 208) briefly Wednesday night in northern Mitchell County.

Also in the area, Highway 90 west of Lake Abilene was closed because of high water from Elm Creek. The weather service said some houses at Camp Booth Oaks south of Sweetwater were evacuated because of high water also.

The rain storm here was accompanied by lightning and thunder. A telephone pole located adjacent to 32nd St. and College Ave. was reportedly struck by lightning.

Jobless estimates unchanged locally

Unemployent figures for Scurry County — which climbed to 8.7 percent during March — remained essentially unchanged during April, according to figures released by the Texas Employment Commission.

Numbers profiling the labor force — comprised of the number of persons employed and the number actively seeking employment — also remained relatively unchanged.

The number of persons said seeking jobs was listed at 917 in April, down slightly from a 923 figure reported the previous month.

Regarding the number of persons working in jobs, the recent figure has it 9,625 compared to 9,673 during March.

The unemployment percentage quoted at the first of both months figures to an 8.7 percent estimate.

In late January, the downward spiral in oil prices began which is credited with sending local unemployment figures upward.

The number of individuals said unemployed as of April is some 300 persons higher than the figure quoted in January.

In addition to Scurry County, figures were released for the five other counties served through the Sweetwater-based regional TEC office. Unemployment estimates

In addition to baseball, a favorite pastime of summer is visiting Grandma's house.

Just about the time school lets out, parents send send their children off to spend a few weeks with the grandparents, and in Snyder you can already see that the visits are underway.

One local woman was in charge of her grandson, Drew. He was hungry and it was time for lunch. So Drew said, "Yet's have yunch."

Grandma didn't think his speech was what it ought to be, and so she said she didn't understand him. His Ls were coming out as Ys and he could do better.

His voice was a little stronger when he repeated it. "I said, yet's have yunch."

"I still don't understand you," she said.

Drew, shaking his head and looking at the floor as he wondered what to do about her hearing problem, decided he had to get his point across.

He sat down in a chair, put his face close to his grandma and said, "Now, grandma, read my yips."

Q. — Are any local telephone workers on strike due to the AT&T strike?

A. — Snyder does have two AT&T repairmen stationed here, and the indication is both are on strike. The local Southwestern Bell telephone office is not affected by the strike.

In Brief

Saudi arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican and Democratic leaders said today they think the Senate will sustain President Reagan's veto of a resolution blocking the sale of missiles to Saudi Arabia, but both sides predicted a close vote.

The Senate was scheduled to vote today, ending a month of intense lobbying by opponents and supporters of the $265 million deal.

Pleads guilty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal prosecutors who obtained a guilty plea from former Navy intelligence analyst Jonathan Jay Pollard on charges of spying for Israel say they will press forward with their investigation of an Israeli spy ring that operated in the United States.

No remorse

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Death row inmate Rudy Ramos Esquivel says he has no remorse for the 1978 shooting death of a Houston undercover police officer and is ready to face his own execution.

"If it happens it happens," Esquivel said Wednesday. "I knew it was going to happen when I saw that the judge was Anglo and that the whole place was full of policemen," he said referring to his 1978 trial.

Esquivel, 50, is scheduled to die by injection at dawn Monday for the June 8, 1978, shooting death of narcotics officer Timothy Hearn during a drug raid in a southeast Houston parking lot.

Rural break-in

A residential burglary of a mobile home in southern Scurry County was reported to the sheriff's office Tuesday evening.

Investigators say someone apparently entered the Mike Wallace residence on County Road 426 — just off State Hwy. 208 — sometime Tuesday afternoon.

Listed as taken from the mobile home were a VCR, microwave oven, a six-inch screen television set and a portable stereo.

AT&T weathers current strike

NEW YORK (AP) — A strike by 155,000 American Telephone & Telegraph Co. employees probably can last up to a month before the company's phone network experiences major problems, an AT&T executive says.

The world's largest telephone network is so computerized that "this strike is not going to affect us dramatically in the short run," said Frank Blount, executive vice president in charge of the network for AT&T Communications.

But he added Wednesday, "If this thing went on for a month, I think it's too long. I'm hoping it's very short."

After an hour meeting Wednesday in Washington, negotiators for AT&T and the Communication Workers of America reported little progress in ending the nation's largest strike in three years.

Managers at AT&T have been scheduled to work 12 hours a day, six days a week to fill in. The company also has hired 3,000 temporary workers as operators.

AT&T said the delay in answering calls for assistance was reduced Wednesday to 25 seconds, from 30 seconds on Tuesday and nearly a minute on Monday, the first business day of the strike. It normally takes about two seconds.

Blount said the first big problem for the network from an extended strike would be long delays in installation of private lines, which are used by businesses for such things as computer data transmission and videoconferences.

In addition to the phone network, the 5-day-old strike also is affecting the manufacturing, sales and maintenance of phone equipment to residences, businesses and local phone companies.

NASA personnel shakeup continues

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The retirement of William R. Lucas as director of the NASA facility that supervises shuttle rockets continues the shakeup of top NASA officials, and agency leaders predict more changes after the Challenger commission reports on Monday.

Lucas, 64, announced Wednesday he will retire July 3 as director of the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala. He has headed Marshall since 1974 and had served three years as deputy director.

Since the Challenger explosion Jan. 28 that killed seven astronauts, NASA has gained a new administrator, director of the shuttle program, director at the Johnson Space Center in Houston, and has summoned the former manager of the Apollo moon program to conduct an internal review of its management structure.

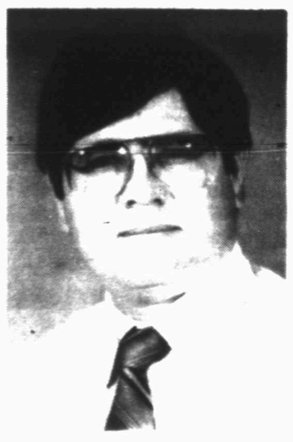

The presidential commission on Monday will blame the accident on defects in one of the two solid-fuel booster rockets that were propelling Challenger.

Husband's Career Moves Shake Up Family's Life

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My situation is not uncommon. My husband works for a large national company that moves employees regularly. The last move was exceptionally difficult, and I don't want to move again for seven years, when our youngest child will graduate from high school.

I'm so tired of my children feeling like they don't belong. So often, as soon as they make some really good friends, we have to move.

My husband says if we have to move, we will. If I try to discuss it, we get into an argument, which always ends with, "I'm only doing it for you and the kids."

Ambitious men are rarely home on moving day, or when the kids get sick, or the cat gets lost.

Abby, must men accept every transfer they are offered?

TIRED

DEAR TIRED: No. Some have been known to pass up promotions rather than move their families. And in two-paycheck households, some men move because their wives' jobs require it.

Not all children react badly to moving. Some have grown with the challenge of making new friends — witness "Army brats." Every family must decide what is best for all the members and then make the decision accordingly.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I was on birth control pills from 1970 to 1977, then we moved to another state and a different doctor prescribed them for me from 1978 until 1986. Neither one mentioned any interaction with antibiotics.

Medicine is in pretty bad shape if vital information such as what you pointed out is transmitted to the public by an advice columnist in the newspaper instead of by the medical community.

SALLY W.
IN LEXINGTON, KY.

DEAR SALLY: I was absolutely flabbergasted at the number of letters I received from women thanking me for that information. And if an editor wants to put this letter on the front page, it's all right with me.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you concerning a dispute between my mother and me. First of all, I am 17 years old and have a good-paying job. I have a Camaro, which I'm paying for myself. I also pay my own insurance, which is $600 a year.

Here's the problem: I have wanted a four-wheel drive truck for a long time, but my mom says trucks are for guys, and I am a girl. I don't agree with my mom at all. I think as long as I am paying for my own car, I should be able to drive whatever I want. Do you agree with me or my mom? I hope you print this, Abby. It may not get me a truck, but it will settle the argument.

WANTS A FOUR-WHEEL DRIVE

DEAR WANTS: If you are sufficiently mature to buy a car and support it, you should be able to drive a car of your choice. Four-wheel drives are not for guys only.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: You're not going to believe this, but here goes: My dentist has halitosis. He's a fine dentist and a nice guy, but how can I tell him?

CHICKEN

DEAR CHICKEN: In plain English. But tell him with kindness, compassion and concern — and quickly.

Lobbying costs top $49 million in '85

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of lobbying Congress reached $49 million in 1985, with the emotional issue of gun control and the continuing struggle over textile imports accounting for some of the biggest spending.

The price of persuasion last year was 16.6 percent higher than the $42 million the cadre of Capitol Hill lobbyists reported spending in 1984 and some 13 percent higher than the $43.3 million reported for 1983.

The $49 million amounted to an average $91,625 for each member of Congress and easily exceeded the $32.66 million U.S. taxpayers put up to pay the salaries of the 535 senators and representatives.

While the spending is rising, so is the number of lobbyists registered with the House clerk and Senate secretary. Their ranks have swollen to nearly 8,000, up from about 6,000 at the start of 1985.

Seven organizations — three more than in 1984 — reported spending $1 million or more last year to influence legislation, according to the reports lobbyists must file with Congress.

In general, the clerks' reports show the lobbying groups spend most of their money on staff salaries, office operations and direct mail campaigns designed to flood Congress with letters and phone calls from constituents.

The biggest spender in 1985 at $2,003,601 was the Fabric Fiber and Apparel Coalition for Trade, a group of U.S. clothing manufacturers trying to limit imports of foreign-made apparel.

The coalition's outlay was only slightly below the $2,087,586 spent in 1984 by the Natural Gas Supply Association.

STOCK STUDY

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A new study has found that the liquidity of stocks — the ease with which they can be bought or sold — is a major determinant of the returns they yield.

The study was made by Yakov Amihud of New York University and Haim Mendelson of the University of Rochester.

Mendelson says that low liquidity stocks yield, on average, a significantly higher return than stocks with high liquidity. He says the liquidity factor seems to be no less important than the risk factor in determining returns.

B & PW install officers

Business and Professional Women's Club concluded its study of "150 Years of Texas" at its installation dinner May 27 at Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Charles Anderson, author of two books about Scurry County and the club's guest speaker, spoke of Jane Long, "Mother of Texas" and the "Betsy Ross of Texas." He commented that these two women influenced the environment just as this club had a part in community development. Anderson installed the newly elected officers and led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Fay McCollum, hostess, decorated the tables in red, white and blue miniature cowboys. Centerpieces were Texas flags and flowers. Small maps of Texas were used as place cards.

Nellie Smith led the club collect.

Travel by numbers on highways

SKOKIE, Ill. (AP) — Believe it or not, there's a method to the way roads are numbered in the United States and motorists can get a rough idea of their location by noting the highway numbers on a map.

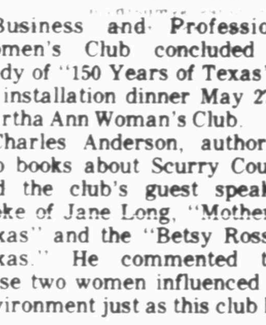

The numbers indicate both the direction in which a highway runs and its location, according to Rand McNally's Road Atlas.

U.S. highways with even numbers run east and west, with lowest numbers in the North. For instance, U.S. 2 parallels the Canadian border, while U.S. 84 runs across the south and southwest. Odd-numbered U.S. highways run north and south with the lowest numbers in the East.

Interstate highways follow a similar pattern with even numbers indicating a highway that runs east to west with the lowest numbers in the South. And, correspondingly, odd-numbered interstate highways run north and south with the lowest numbers in the West.

LAFF-A-DAY

"I'm home early, dear... my credit card melted!"

DENNIS THE MENACE

"...AND NO TWO FLAKES ARE ALIKE."

Farm subsidy agency runs out of money

WASHINGTON (AP) — In what has become almost a routine financial crisis, the government agency that finances farm subsidies and crop loans has run out of money, shutting off checks to thousands of farmers.

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service put out the word Wednesday to its county offices around the country not to write any more checks to farmers until the Commodity Credit Corp.'s fund is replenished by Congress.

That meant a halt to as much as $100 million a day in checks for the government's subsidized dairy herd slaughter program, advances on income subsidies for major crops, storage payments and loans for winter wheat now being harvested in the South.

The shutoff "might not be so difficult if it doesn't last too long" because this is not the CCC's heaviest demand season, said Ray Waggoner, an ASCS spokesman.

"But I just think of it as though I were a farmer waiting for a check," he added. "Some people need checks to make payments for many different things. Farmers owe a lot of money. The more days it is, the more it hurts an individual farmer."

Winter wheat loan demand is not expected to pick up significantly until later in the month, officials said. But dairy programs would be impacted by the funds cutoff, along with a few farmers who had not yet received their advance subsidies.

Jim Mattox...

Dead cat is found at home

AUSTIN (AP) — Attorney General Jim Mattox is convinced the dead cat on his doorstep was part of a harassment campaign mounted by supporters of an unlicensed church home.

"This situation is of growing concern to me because these people are a radical group of individuals who are following a bizarre, hypocritical view of Christianity that unfortunately includes the idea of violence," Mattox said Wednesday.

Callers identifying themselves as supporters of The Rev. W.N. Otwell have been telephoning Mattox at home throughout the night for about a week. Mattox said the callers complain about his efforts to close the unlicensed boys home at Otwell's Community Baptist Church in Forest Hill, near Fort Worth.

The home is under a judge's order to get a state license or close. Otwell has been notified that the state will auction the facilities to cover the $100-a-day fines, which now total more than $100,000.

At a recent Austin rally, Otwell told his backers that Mattox should be harassed for his efforts to get the church home in compliance with the state licensing law.

Mattox said he found the dead cat and three live kittens on the porch of his home Tuesday evening. About 25 Otwell supporters were picketing the house.

Earlier this week, a late night caller hinted that Mattox would soon find something on his doorstep, the attorney general said.

"They said I would come home and find some kids left off on my doorstep to try to deal with," Mattox said.

Otwell has confirmed that some of his supporters have been calling Mattox at home. But he said Wednesday he did not know anything about the cats.

"I have no earthly idea. I have tried from the very beginning to conduct myself in a Christian manner. I do not encourage people to do things in an unChristian manner," he said.

Mattox said he has arranged special security for himself because Otwell has "asked God to rain down fire and terror on us."

"It makes me concerned that the instrument of God they are talking about may be a human with a match in his hand," said Mattox, whose offices here and in Fort Worth were damaged by fire March 5.

Mattox said the cat incident was the latest in a recent "assortment of unusual circumstances."

Snyder wins one, loses two...

Cage action abounds as tournaments begin

Mitzi Bandi scored a late field goal and Jennifer York added a free throw with 27 seconds left as Brownfield held off a comeback attempt by Snyder to win Wednesday's late-evening National Senior League game at the Girl's Little Dribbler National Tournaments here, 23-19.

Snyder had trailed 19-8 at one time but scored seven straight points to pull within striking range. Housden's short jumper with 2:30 to play made it a 20-19 game, but those were the final points Snyder would score.

The home town effort came up with only one victory in three tries Wednesday. Snyder's Junior League squad nailed Levelland 27-17. The score was only 5-4 at halftime, but Snyder scored 14 unanswered points in the third to take a 19-7 advantage.

Levelland Major League squad returned the licking later in the evening. The visitors broke open an 11-9 halftime game to whip the locals 32-9.

In Continental Junior League action, Southwest Louisiana defeated Plains, 26-13; while in American Junior League play Dalhart tagged Cenla, La., 36-10; and Denver City nipped Quitman, 27-26.

In American Senior League action, Dalhart got 10 points from Chris McClesky to club Levelland, 34-19; New Baden scored 11 fourth-quarter points to ease past North Zulch, 27-24; and Cenla, La., had a 12-point effort from Lynn McDaniel to stop Twin Counties, 29-22.

In National Senior League play, Amarillo overcame a 14-point effort from Erika Bryan to stop Hobbs, N.M., 42-29. Amarillo was led by Nicole Jackson's 10 points.

American Major League action saw Cenla, La., pop Seminole 29-26; Twin Counties trip up Quitman, 24-20; and Fairfield defeat Dalhart, 34-24.

In the National Junior League, Southwest Amarillo burned Brownfield 51-7; Amarillo Shooters ran past Friendswood, 44-10; Levelland A canned Katy 38-12; and H.E.B. trimmed Brownfield, 26-21.

H.E.B., Hurst-Euless-Bedford, also won its National Major League game, defeating Brownfield 42-12. In other games from the league, Katy lashed Levelland 24-14; Amarillo fried Friendswood 41-8; and Southwest Amarillo defeated Brownfield Red 32-24.

Olajuwon still believes Rockets can take Celtics

HOUSTON (AP) - Akeem Olajuwon was known in college by the nickname "The Dream." He still has one.

"We can win on Thursday and then we can go over there (to Boston) and make a miracle happen," Olajuwon, the 7-foot center for the Houston Rockets, said. "It will take a miracle but we can do it."

The Boston Celtics, who lead the series 3-1 after Tuesday night's 106-103 victory, can clinch their 16th National Basketball Association title tonight with a victory over the Rockets. If Houston should win Game 5, the best-of-seven series would return to the Boston Garden where the Celtics have won 40 consecutive games.

The Rockets continue to say they haven't played their best game and Houston Coach Bill Fitch is suggesting there couldn't be a better time for it than tonight.

"There's a guy here in this building who doesn't speak English who understands how important the next game is," Fitch said trying to emphasize how obvious his team's precarious position is.

However, the Rockets still have a dream.

"They are saying they are one game away from winning the championship and we are saying we are one game away from returning the series to Boston," Houston guard Robert Reid said.

Reid, one of two Rockets who played against the Celtics in the 1981 NBA title series - when Fitch coached the Celtics - is determined to force the Celtics to win it in Boston.

"I remember that sad feeling we had when they won the championship on our court in 1981," Reid said. "It was sad to see them get the trophy on our court and then to hear them through the dressing room walls shouting 'We're No. 1.'

"The fans of Houston deserve better than that. If they're going to win it, we want to see they have to do it in Boston."

Fitch has tried all the psychological ploys he can muster, including showing off his 1981 championship ring.

The Celtics had to rally from a 3-1 deficit to eliminate Philadelphia in the Eastern Conference finals in 1981 to earn the right to face the Rockets in the finals.

Fitch didn't allow the point to go unnoticed on his current team.

"Yeah, I mentioned the ring, just so they would know that it's not impossible to come back," Fitch said.

The Celtics are trying to avoid thinking past the Game 5, but it's difficult. They say publicly the series isn't over. But the champagne has been ordered.

Becker upset

Usually a place where patience is the virtue most rewarded, the slow red clay of Roland Garros will get a taste of power tennis in the men's semifinals.

The four men remaining in the tournament have been known to go to the net, and that change of pace was underscored in Wednesday's last two quarterfinal matches.

Henri Leconte, the No. 8 seed from France, and unseeded Mikael Pernfors, a Swede who won two NCAA championships on hardcourts while at the University of Georgia, each scored serve-and-volley victories.

Leconte beat unseeded Andrei Chesnokov of the Soviet Union, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3, and Pernfors upset No. 3 Boris Becker of West Germany, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-0.

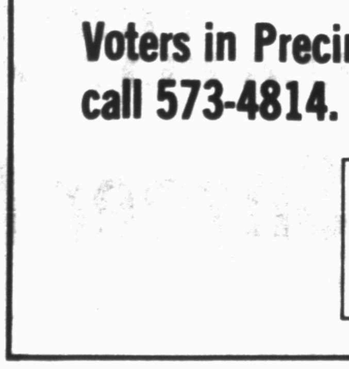

Pernfors said he was helped by Becker's mistakes - including

Tigers and Pecos to battle in 'expected' playoff series

MIDLAND – It probably could have been expected, that Snyder and Pecos would meet again this season in the state playoffs.

Regular playoff rivals when they were both in different districts years ago, they matched equal records in District 2-4A this season to serve as co-champions.

Today's game here, set for 4 p.m. at Angel Field, is the first contest in a best-of-three series that sends its eventual champion to the Class 4A State Baseball Tournament in Austin. Game Two will begin at 1 p.m. Saturday, also here, but at Midland Lee Field instead of Angel Field. Game Three, if necessary, will start at approximately 3:30 p.m. on Saturday.

The teams are expected to go with their "ace" pitchers. Snyder will open on the mound as home team with Jimmy Velasquez, 11-4 for the season. Pecos will counter with Javier Solis, 9-3. Both righthanders pitched three-hitters their last times out.

Ponchito Bafidis, catcher, is expected to lead off for the Eagles. He'll be followed by first baseman Lupe Gabaldon, right fielder Larry Avila, center fielder Lance Windham and short stop Oscar Mariscal. Solis will bat next, followed by third baseman Tony Urquidi, left fielder David Vejil and second baseman Israel Natividad.

Snyder also leads off with its catcher, Ricky Hunter. The rest of the Tiger batting order, by position, follows with third baseman Justin Webb, short stop Brad Holcomb, Velasquez, designated hitter Kenneth Pickering, first baseman Steve Parker, second baseman Chris Fryar, center fielder Mike McWilliams and left fielder Dennis Martinez. Michael Long will play right field.

Ironically, both teams' last loss came by hand of the other. Snyder's last loss was back on April 25 in Pecos. Snyder has since won seven straight games and has won 15 of its last 16 outings.

Snyder defeated Dunbar twice in a best two-of-three series for its bi-district title, then won a region crown by spanking Crowley 5-2 last Saturday.

Pecos' last loss was a 3-2 defeat in 9 innings by Snyder in the district playoff. Ironically, it was also at Angel Field.

The Eagles went on to defeat Dumas twice and Weatherford once, 6-1 this past Monday, to reach the quarterfinals.

Antitrust trial...

Spence denies league applied any pressure

NEW YORK (AP) - Jim Spence, the former senior vice-president of ABC Sports, continued to deny he was ever pressured by the NFL to abort the network's contract with the USFL or to keep the young league off television in the fall.

The former second-in-command to Roone Arledge at ABC underwent an often hostile grilling Wednesday by USFL attorney Harvey Myerson. At one point, the questioning became so heated that Myerson literally snatched a document from Spence's hand.

Spence will be followed as a witness by Neal Pilson, the president of CBS Sports, as Myerson continues to hone in on the NFL's relationships with the networks.

Television is the central issue in the $1.5 billion antitrust suit - one of the USFL's primary demands is that the NFL be ordered off at least one of the three major networks. The 4-year-old league, which had a contract with ABC for spring football, has so far been unable to get a network contract for its switch from spring to fall.

During Wednesday's session, Spence repeatedly responded "No," to a series of questions implying that the USFL's problems with the network stemmed from NFL pressure.

A typical exchange came when Myerson asked Spence: "After the contract with the USFL was signed, did you have a conversation with Mr. Arledge about putting the USFL on in the fall?"

"Yes," Spence replied.

"Didn't Mr. Arledge tell you that if ABC entered into a fall contract with the USFL, the NFL would have a negative reaction?" Myerson asked.

"No," Spence said. "From the beginning we never had any intention of putting the USFL on in the fall."

Spence did admit that as a courtesy, he informed Val Pinchbeck, the NFL's Director of Broadcasting, when ABC first contemplated signing with the USFL in the spring of 1982. And he said he later spoke to Pinchbeck when the USFL was contemplating moving to the fall.

But he said the only negative reaction he got was that "Val Pinchbeck told me that some of the NFL owners were less than enamored of it."

Next Spence will be qustioned by NFL lawyer Frank Rothman.

Rookies meet the challenge as Rangers claim 5-2 victory

CHICAGO (AP) - Texas Manager Bobby Valentine likes to joke that the Rangers are keeping one of their rookie players "hot" by putting logs on the fire.

And Chicago's nearly silent bats could well be substituted for the firewood, according to White Sox Manager Tony LaRussa whose squad lost a 5-2 decision to the Rangers Wednesday night.

Rookies Pete Incaviglia and Ruben Sierra hit home runs while rookie Bobby Witt combined with Mickey Mahler on a five-hitter against the punchless Sox.

"Incaviglia is burning up the league, and we keep putting logs on the fire," said Valentine, whose Rangers led the American League West by one-half game over the California Angels.

"The good thing about our club is that nobody expected us to be in first place which is good, but nobody told our kids that they were bad and they believe in themselves," Valentine said.

In his last 31 games, Incaviglia is batting .339 and has raised his average from .127 to 266.

Incaviglia's two-run homer in the third, his 10th of the season, helped pin the loss on Tom Seaver, who had come off the disabled list earlier in the day. Seaver, 2-3, who had sidelined since May 17 with a stiff right shoulder, gave up three runs on seven hits in 4 1-3 innings.

"All I'm trying to do is help the club, and while I've got a lot to learn, it's been a great feeling to know your club is on top in the Western Division."

LaRussa said he was bothered most that "we got nobody on base in the last three innings."

"We couldn't even get the tying or leading run out of the on-deck circle," LaRussa said.

It was the sixth straight loss to the Rangers in a week for the White Sox, who have won only two of their last 13 games overall. In those 13 outings, they are hitting just .187 and have been outscored, 55-31.

Witt, 3-4, gave up four hits and walked six in five innings. Mahler allowed one hit in earning his third save of the season.

Sierra hit a solo homer in the second, his second. Oddibe McDowell hit his seventh homer in the ninth inning.

Chicago came back to take a 2-1 lead in its half of the second after Witt walked leadoff batter Jerry Hairston. Hairston was wild pitched to second, and two outs later, scored on Joel Skinner's double. Julio Cruz singled home Skinner.

Texas took a 4-2 lead with a run against reliever Gene Nelson in the sixth on Gary Ward's leadoff double, an infield out and Orlando Mercado's groundout to short.

"I got what I wanted," Pernfors said. "I wanted him to play bad. ... Everything I hit seemed to go into the court."

Pernfors will face Leconte and top-seeded Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia takes on American Johan Kriek, No. 13, in the semifinals on Friday.

The women were to play their semifinals today and the lineup was a bit more conventional.

Top-seeded Martina Navratilova, overpowering no matter what the surface, was to face No. 6 Helena Sukova, from the clay courts of Czechoslovakia, and second-seeded Chris Evert Lloyd was to meet another Czechoslovak, fifth-seeded Hana Mandlikova.

The women's championshp will be decided Saturday, the men's on Sunday.

The results Wednesday kept alive both the French hopes of winning the national championship and a streak of Swedish success in Paris.

Before this year no Frenchman had made the semifinals since 1983 and only five had been there over the past 22 years.

Leconte came in behind his serves and volleyed for quick points. On a center court used to meetings of four hours or more, Leconte's victory took just 1 hour, 48 minutes.

Private business ready for launch

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Accidents may have grounded the space fleets of NASA, the Air Force and the European Space Agency, but a private rocket company headed by former astronaut Donald K. Slayton is ready to put satellites into orbit.

"All that we need are customers who have money," said Slayton, one of America's original seven astronauts. He retired from NASA in 1982 to become president of Space Services Inc., the nation's first privately financed satellite launching company.

With all the major space systems in the West grounded, Space Services is the only enterprise ready to sell commercial satellite launch services.

NASA's space shuttle program was halted after Challenger blew up Jan. 28. Subsequent failures of the Titan and Delta expendable rockets shut down the entire U.S. government launch systems. And Friday, a failure of the French Ariane rocket forced postponement of European commercial launches.

Space Services, based in Houston, successfully sent a suborbital test rocket aloft in 1982, and has since engineered a family of rockets designed to launch small, unmanned satellites. It has negotiated for use of six potential launch sites, including the government's space centers, and has manufacturers ready to build the rocket engines and other needed hardware.

But, said Slayton, there are no customers with firm launch dates.

"The problem in the whole space world today is that there has not yet been a big breakthrough in anything that is purely commercial, other than telecommunications," he said.

But David Hannah, chairman and founder of Space Services, said he is even more optimistic about launching small satellites now than when he started the firm in 1981.

"The larger satellites are harder to finance now because the insurance rates have gone up so high," said Hannah. "There's lots that can be done with smaller, less risky satellites."

Slayton once expected Space Services to tap into the oil business with satellites that could sweep the Earth with powerful sensors and detect formations that might hold oil and gas. Space pictures have been used successfully by some geologists.

"There was a time when it looked like that would be a heck of a good business," said Slayton. "With the right combination of sensors, you could sell individual oil companies their own system."

However, "With the price of oil being what it is today, there's nobody out there spending exploration money," said Slayton.

Space Services has a tentative agreement with Celestis Group Inc. a Melbourne, Fla., funeral home chain, to put cremated human remains into space. Company President Jim Kuhl said some services have been sold but declined to say how many. He said Celestis would not be ready for a launch before 1988.

Kuhl said Celestis will use a process that reduces the remains of a 200-pound man to about one ounce of ash, small enough to be placed into a tube about the size of a lipstick. He said an orbiting mausoleum would contain up to 10,330 of the tubes.

Space Services plans to put the space tomb into a 2,200-mile orbit at a cost of about $15 million, with each client paying $3,900.

"It would stay up there for about 63 million years," said Kuhl. "I don't know anything on Earth that would last that long."

Slayton and Kuhl predicted there could be up 10 such launches a year.

The Space Services rocket, called Conestoga II, uses solid-fuel rockets in each of its four stages. The motors, manufactured by Morton Thikol, have a long history of dependability.

Conestoga is not powerful enough to orbit the large communications satellites typical of the Ariane and space shuttle payloads.

"We were never competitive with the shuttle," he said.

Bankruptcies are double '85 total

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — Permian Basin bankruptcies are being filed at almost double last year's rate and only about a third as many businesses are being created this year due to the oil price slide.

U.S. District Court records show 214 bankruptcies had been filed through May 29 this year, compared with 128 for the same period in 1985.

And the increase seems to be gathering momentum, U.S. District Court Clerk Larry Bick said.

"Since March, there's been a significant, steady increase," he said.

April's 44 cases were the most ever filed in one month — until May 22 when May reached 45 bankruptcy cases filed, records show.

Through the first three months of this year, 66 people had filed new applications with the state Comptroller of Public Accounts for tax numbers to start new businesses in Odessa, Chamber of Commerce records show.

Through the first quarter of 1985, 180 applications for tax numbers were received, according to chamber records.

Lily Tercero, the chamber's business information specialist, said new businesses include a television repair shop, pastry shop, carpet care center, auto parts store and cleaners.

"Most of them are service oriented," she said.

And Jill Berg, the chamber's assistant vice president for economic development, said there is no way of knowing how many businesses are closing their doors. Not all businesses close under bankruptcy, she explained.

In a series on the area's oil woes, the Odessa American reported that many of the jobs being lost in Odessa are the higher-paying ones, according to state statistics.

Through April, Texas Employment Commission records show Odessa had lost a net of 3,400 jobs, said George Williams, TEC labor market analyst.

The more severe employment losses were in those jobs directly related to oil and gas exploration and production, with 1,500 fewer jobs in April than in January, Williams said. Construction jobs were down 400, manufacturing 300, and retail and wholesale trade 300, he said. Other jobs were lost in smaller categories, such as self-employment, he said.

Through April, about 6,800 people filed first-time claims for unemployment benefits in Odessa, Williams said.

Facial hair and hormones

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — If hormone shots were taken at an early age, would they help stop the development of excess facial hair in elderly women?

DEAR READER — No. Excess facial hair tends to develop in older women because increasing levels of female hormone permit hair growth to occur. All women manufacture small quantities of male hormone in their bodies. Before menopause, this hormone is counterbalanced by large amounts of female hormone. After menopause, however, the ratio of the two hormones is altered, so the effects of male hormone become more noticeable. Hormone therapy after menopause might help, but premenopausal treatment will be ineffective.

DEAR DR. GOTT — After a complete hysterectomy, does a woman need hormones? Some of my friends' doctors say no, but mine says yes.

DEAR READER — The term "complete" hysterectomy usually means that the ovaries have been removed along with the uterus. However, this is not always the case; some gynecologists will take out one ovary and leave the other. Therefore, both your doctor and your friends' doctors actually may be in agreement.

Ordinarily, a premenopausal woman who has had a complete hysterectomy (ovaries and all) will require hormone replacement. Postmenopausal women usually don't need this replacement after surgery.

If, at any age, a woman has a hysterectomy for cancer of the reproductive tract, she is not a candidate for hormone replacement because the hormones may augment the growth of remaining tumor cells.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am 67 and my husband can't perform sexually any more. However, I've still got a desire for sex and wonder if the Premarin cream I use vaginally has something to do with this.

DEAR READER — Your continuing desire for sex is normal and not related to the hormone cream you are using. Men and women may continue to experience sex urges well into their 80s. Of course, the problem for some men is in the performance area. Premarin cream may prevent the dryness and tissue thinning that occurs in postmenopausal women.

Many couples who share your predicament have found that non-intercourse methods of sexual expression are quite satisfactory.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My 34-year-old daughter has been diagnosed as having narcolepsy. What is the treatment and prognosis for someone with this disease?

DEAR READER — Narcolepsy, a hereditary disorder characterized by inapporopriate drowsiness and sleep attacks, is now thought to be due to an increased excitability of the rapid eye-movement generator in the brain — in everyday English, one of the brain's sleep centers.

Although the condition is chronic and can be vocationally disabling, treatment with amphetamine medication or antidepressants is usually effective. In addition, self-help support groups can be valuable resources for narcolepsy patients. The prognosis is good.

What is HYPOGLYCEMIA and how is it treated? You can find out in Dr. Gott's new Health Report on the subject. Send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to ask for the Health Report on HYPOGLYCEMIA.

More illegal aliens arrested

TEMPLE, Texas (AP) — Tips from American workers apparently disgruntled over the scarcity of jobs helped bring hundreds of arrests of suspected illegal aliens in Central Texas this week, but some residents say the INS victory will be shortlived.

"I bet you 90 percent of the illegal aliens will be back by Saturday," said the Rev. Frank Alvarado of Waco, where many of the Tuesday and Wednesday arrests took place.

About 400 suspected illegal aliens were taken into custody in two days of U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service activity in Waco, Temple, Belton, Cameron and other area cities, officials said.

"We've been receiving a great deal of information (on aliens' whereabouts) from local American workers displaced by illegal aliens," said Mario Ortiz, public affairs officer for the INS regional office in Dallas.

But Alvarado countered that the INS is defeating its own purpose by not giving those arrested time to contact their spouses and children so their family will not be split.

Astro-Graph

By Bernice Bede Osol

June 6, 1986

In the year ahead, operations you initiate independently will have excellent chances for success. You might not be as lucky when you saddle yourself with partners.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Even though it may be difficult, make an effort to understand your mate's point of view in a matter where you've taken an opposing position. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your industriousness will count for little today if you're not methodical regarding your work. Plan each procedure in advance.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Have fun and enjoy yourself today, but try not to stay out too late or overindulge. You can still have a good time if you're disciplined.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Try to avoid competitive involvements today where the odds are stacked against you going in. Don't handicap yourself with a mismatch.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Usually you're a rather optimistic person, but today you could get so hung up on the negative aspects of situations that you'll fail to see the advantages.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) To get proper mileage from the funds you have at your disposal today, you'll have to count each penny you spend. Be a bit tight-fisted.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's best not to take it upon yourself today to make decisions for your mate without first getting his or her approval. Talk everything over.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Get your most difficult tasks out of the way as early as possible today. Your staying power has limitations, and your resolve could quickly fade.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll be in a gregarious mood today, but if someone you're not fond of is at an event you attend, you could withdraw.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Relatives or in-laws mustn't be permitted to interfere in your family affairs today. Their input could cause problems that should never arise.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't discuss a project you are enthusiastic about with an associate who has limited vision. His or her negative thoughts will dampen your ardor.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) This is not a good time to assume new, long-range financial obligations if you still have old ones hanging over your head. Clear up past debts first.
