Cars Used By Suspects May Be Attached

THE procedural artillery of the federal government let go with a bang Wednesday when a new salient was opened in the war against bootlegging here and in the 23-county district of which Lubbock is headquarters.

This two-fold development was announced:

1. Federal warrants were issued for seven persons named in six complaints charging each did on some specific date "carry on the business of a retail liquor dealer without having paid the prescribed special tax."

2. Federal agents will seek to confiscate six automobiles, two of them 1949 Buicks which have been driven only a few hundred miles, and put them to government use.

Three Are Arrested

Three of those named in the warrants had been arrested by C. E. Luce, deputy U. S. marshal, by Wednesday night.

Harry Hodges, 34, and Vernon "Junior" McKaskle, 25, both of Lubbock, and Olen Ogle, 23, of Crosbyton, had waived hearing before Mrs. Olive Fluke, U. S. commissioner who set appearance bond of $500 for each defendant.

Luce said he expected that the other warrants could be executed today.

W. G. Poplin, deputy supervisor of the Texas Liquor Control board, and his inspectors seized five of the cars and turned them over to the government men for disposition. The government took over the other. The state also provides a procedure for confiscation of cars involved illegally in transportation of alcoholics, but recognizes the rights of "third parties."

Third Party "Out"

So, as another club for the campaign his organization is making to follow public mandate and cripple bootlegging in the section, Poplin informed the federals what allegedly was happening, and they stepped in. Federal authorities do not recognize third party rights.

The distinction is explained thus: Suppose a bootlegger is caught using his car in delivering alcoholics he has sold.

An investigator of the Alcohol Tax unit enters the case and confiscates the car. He files a case report against the car. The owner can come into court and defend his rights, but no third party such as a finance company that holds a lien against the machine has a Chinaman's chance. The finance company loses every cent it has "in the car" when the government confiscates the machine.

Finance Firms Warned

In state court it is different. The lienholder has to be paid.

Truman Told Tax Bill Has Little Chance

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 11—President Truman was told today by his chief tax spokesman in Congress that there is little likelihood a bill increasing taxes will be passed at this session.

Rep. Doughton (D-NC), chairman of the tax-originating ways and means committee, declared after a White House call, however, that government spending must be curtailed to avoid tax increases eventually.

Doughton's statement gave momentum to the economy drive on Capitol Hill, but the Senate handed it a jolt by rejecting a proposal to trim five percent from the $3,113,068,503 Treasury-Post-office appropriation bill.

Slash Proposals Rejected

The bill was passed by the Senate and sent to a conference committee of the two houses for adjustment of differences between House and Senate versions. The upper chamber added $30,250,600 to the House total.

A motion by Sen. Bridges (R-NH) to send the bill back to the appropriations committee for a five percent cut was defeated 44 to 38.

Earlier, the chamber defeated 45 to 37 an amendment by Bridges to cut appropriations for the two agencies five percent. The amendment, due to a parliamentary situation, would have required a two-thirds majority for adoption.

Economy Drive On

Doughton, on leaving the White House, made emphatic his personal desire for the most rigid economy "consistent with the interests of efficient government."

In the Senate, Republicans and southern Democrats whipped ahead with their drive to trim substantial sums from the appropriations bills which are being sent over from the House.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) told the Senate that Congress is in the "embarrassing and illogical position" of preparing to approve appropriations in excess of the total taxes that the government will collect in 1950.

He said the only way to hold

Price Insurance Urged On Crops

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP) — A proposed government "price insurance" program on major crops was described today by Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of the House Committee on Agriculture.

He said he and Rep. Poage (D-Tex) were preparing it as a substitute for both the administration's "production payment" farm program proposal and the "flexible price support" plan enacted by Congress last year.

The new plan—if approved by Congress—would guarantee starting next year 100 percent of parity price supports for farmers who bought the insurance and co-operated in production controls.

Plan Is Explained

Reds Open Offensive Against New Key City

(By The Associated Press)

Crack Chinese Communist troops from Manchuria were reported Wednesday to have opened an offensive against Hankow.

Reliable reports to Canton said the troops had driven to Hwangpei, 22 miles north of that big government base in central China.

(Reports yesterday said the Nationalists have moved many troops out of Hankow, withdrawing them southward to Nanchang.)

Another fast moving Communist column had reached Kinki, 240 air miles to the southeast.

The Communist radio boasted that Red troops were advancing into the heart of South China at a rate of 26 miles a day.

Court Rejects Ross' Appeal

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 11—Dr. Lloyd I. Ross, 43-year-old San Antonio surgeon who shot four members of one family, must die in the electric chair, the Court of Criminal Appeals ruled today.

The court, for a second time, turned thumbs down on the physician's appeal. The first rejection was last Nov. 3. Today's action refused a motion for a rehearing.

At the county jail in Wharton, the news was brought to Dr. Ross—a bearded, shuffling man in faded blue pajamas.

Sheriff T. W. (Buckshot) Lane gave him the bad tidings straight from the shoulder:

"The court at Austin has turned you down. They said 'no' to your appeal. The pardons board and the governor are your last chance."

Poison Attempts Charged

Ross sighed softly, but there was no expression on his matted face and his eyes remained sullen.

"I guess it doesn't pay to tell the truth anymore," he said.

"By the way, sheriff," he added matter-of-factly, "some of these trusties have been trying to poison me. I've already given up drinking coffee, and last Saturday night I dreamed all night that I'd better not drink my milk Sunday. So on Sunday, I poured my milk over my hand. Sure enough, it had powder in it."

The sheriff smilingly said later he is absolutely certain no one is trying to poison Dr. Ross.

Ross has been a prisoner at Wharton since Jan. 9, 1949.

Plans To Distribute Negroes Throughout Air Force Outlined

The aim, the announcement said, was to assure equality of treatment and opportunity for all persons, regardless of race, religion or national origin.

Project Officer Speaks At 'Town Meeting'

Major Expansion Of LAFB Is Indicated

By H. L. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

THE "logical possibility" that Lubbock Air Force Base eventually might rival in size and importance the Air Force's famous "West Point of the Air"—Randolph field, near San Antonio—was suggested to nearly 100 civic and business leaders here Wednesday afternoon.

The possibility was mentioned by Lt. Col. N. F. Stradleigh, project officer of the reactivating LAFB, in an impromptu talk before a "town meeting" sponsored by the chamber of commerce in the main ballroom of the Hilton hotel.

The meeting was called, according to Spencer A. Wells, chairman of the chamber's LAFB committee, to explain what has been done and what still remains to be done to get the wartime base back into operation—which is expected to be not later than the middle of or late autumn.

Work Progressing

The meat in the account of the meeting was that everything seems to be progressing splendidly toward the reactivation of the base, but that a great deal of work requiring the assistance of a great many civic minded citizens still remains to be done.

Most of the matters discussed already had been widely publicized and were familiar in some detail to those who attended the meeting.

The newest thoughts and ideas dealing with the general LAFB project were presented by Colonel Stradleigh, the last of several speakers on the program. Colonel Stradleigh arrived in Lubbock last week from Goodfellow field, San Angelo, to assume duties of project officer.

Lubbock Is Praised

"I have been in the Air Force since 1924," he remarked. "Never have I seen people get behind any project like the people here have gotten behind LAFB."

Then mentioning several personal courtesies he has received since reporting for duty, he added: "I'm not accustomed to being treated like that; I never saw anything like it."

He emphasized repeatedly that he has no authority as yet to make commitments, enter into contracts or to hire anyone. He pointed out that a "permanent installation" such as LAFB, means, in Air Force terminology an "indefinite period." He stressed that he could express no more than a per-

Rent Decontrol Opposition Hit

AUSTIN, May 11. (AP) — Rep. Carlton Moore today charged that an Air Force general was forced by Washington officials to express opposition to a bill by which the Texas legislature would decontrol rents throughout the state.

Later the general denied Moore's charge. He called it "unheard of."

Earlier today Gov. Beauford Jester's office released a letter from Maj. Gen. Robert W. Burns, deputy commanding general of the Headquarters Air Training command, Barksdale field, La., urging Texas to go slow on rent decontrol legislation.

Gen. Burns asked Gov. Jester and the legislature to remember that decontrol would "most seriously affect the welfare" of many Air Force families in Texas. He asked that the legislature leave the question of rents up to the various communities.

New Disputes Rise To Mar Blockade End

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager, INS

BERLIN, May 12 (Thursday)—Rail and motor traffic started moving to Berlin for the first time in nearly 11 months today when the Russians lifted their blockade but two new American-Soviet disputes cropped up in less than three hours.

One posed a serious threat to the Western Powers' freedom to ship goods to and from Berlin.

The other revolved around Soviet insistence that Soviet zone locomotives and crews pull Western trains from the British zone border to Berlin. This brought an immediate on-the-spot protest from the U. S. rail thansport officials.

Restrictions Announced

Some observers thought it appeared the Russians were trying to slip over a fast one on goods shipments to and from Berlin.

The Soviet news agency ADN announced certain restrictions would be applied to freight traffic into and out of Berlin and the Western zones.

The announcement added that all freight traffic dispatched by the West would require the approval of the Soviet military administration or the Soviet-sponsored Economic commission.

A U. S. military government spokesman in Berlin let it be known at once that the Western Powers would reject any such demands.

He pointed out that similar demands marked the start of the Soviet blockade of Berlin, which the Russians finally lifted along with the end of the West's counter-blockade of Eastern Germany at one minute after midnight.

It was regarded that the Soviets may only be trying to ascertain the West's reaction to the announced moves and may disavow the

Ford Forced To Close Plants

DETROIT, May 11 (AP)—Ford Motor Co. closed four more big plants today as negotiators failed for the second day to settle the strike of its 65,000 workers.

Assembly operations were shut down in St. Louis, Dallas, Kansas City and Norfolk, Va. after the walkout went into its seventh full day at noon.

Peace talks were recessed until 10 a. m. (EST) tomorrow.

"Our peace offensive is not going along as well as we had hoped it would," said Vice President John S. Bugas, "but we are plugging along."

Bugas heads company negotiators in talks resumed yesterday at the request of President Walter Reuther of the CIO United Auto Workers.

The UAW's charge of a production speed-up on an assembly line at Ford's Big Rouge plant led to a walkout of 62,000 workers last Thursday.

Allied Airlift Planes Roar Overhead As Reds Yield On 327-Day Blockade

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Thursday, May 12.—The 327-day Soviet blockade of Berlin ended today with Western Power trains and motor cars pouring passengers and food into Berlin.

The airlift still operated full tilt as ground traffic barriers went down all along the 1,000-mile cold war front in Germany.

A slow moving special train from the West severed the last ground blockade link at 5:08 a.m. (9:08 p.m. Wednesday CST) when it reached the city limits after a 100-mile run from Helmstedt.

The first automobiles crossed the Soviet zone into Berlin at 1:46 a.m. Berlin time (5:46 p.m. CST Wednesday), ending Berlin's isolation from the West by road.

Dependence Ended

Nine minutes later the Russians in Marienborn, 10 miles inside the Soviet zone, cleared the first train and waved it on to Berlin.

Thus ended the dependence of 2,000,000 West Berliners on British and American planes for food and fuel. But the airlift was going ahead at full schedule, and pilots said their instructions were to keep right on for at least 30 days.

By then it appeared likely the Western Powers will know whether Russia is going to seek full agreement on the future of Germany or is likely to clamp down again the blockade she imposed June 26, 1948.

All along the border Soviet soldiers and guards were greeting British, Americans and West Germans.

German Spectators Cheer

Sped by the cheers of hundreds of German spectators a British military train pulled into the Soviet zone at Helmstedt toward Berlin at 1:26 a. m. (5:26 p. m. CST, Wednesday).

It was pulled by a Soviet zone locomotive as the result of a British-American agreement to last minute Soviet demands.

The first test of the actual lifting of the blockade was at Marienborn, 10 miles inside the Soviet

Reds Hold Key To Conference

By GEORGE DURNO

WASHINGTON, May 11. —Secretary of State Acheson declared today that an agreement with Russia on a unified Germany is completely dependent on Soviet willingness to guarantee a fundamental bill of rights to the German population.

Acheson made it clear at a news conference that the outcome of the Big Four meeting of foreign ministers, opening in Paris May 23, depends on Russia's attitude. He said:

"Whether a solution (of the German problem) can be reached in Paris depends, of course, upon the willingness of the Russians to make or consider proposals which will not retard in any way whatsoever the great progress which has been made by the western powers. . ."

Praises Airlift Crews

Their efforts, he explained, have been directed toward bringing "as much of Germany as possible into a condition where it can become a peaceful and constructive member of the community of free nations of Europe."

The secretary called on Americans to salute the Berlin airlift pilots and ground crews, and said their "superb performance" was responsible for lifting the blockade of the German capital.

The U.S., Great Britain and France are going ahead with their plans for setting up a separate West German government, with Bonn as its capital.

Freedom Sought

Acheson said the Western Powers will agree to the inclusion of Russian-occupied East Germany in a unified German state only if an independent judiciary operating under the rule of habeas corpus and right of trial by jury, re-

Eisler Believed To Have Escaped U.S.

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The Justice department said tonight it is investigating reports that Gerhardt Eisler, who has been described as one of the top alien Communists in this country, has left the United States.

The department announced that a stowaway on a ship due to arrive in Southampton, England, later this week has been reported identified as Eisler.

Eisler, 53, faces two possible jail sentences in this country, and has an appeal from one of them pending in the Supreme court.

Scotland Yard has been alerted and has been asked to hold the stowaway, the department said.

Israel Becomes 59th Member Of UN; Arabs Stage Walkout

NEW YORK, May 11. (AP)—Israel was admitted to the United Nations tonight as the 59th member. The Arab bloc walked out of the General Assembly in bitter protest but a few hours later ended their brief boycott of the UN.

The vote admitting Israel was 37 to 12. Nine countries abstained. None of the 58 members was absent.

Egypt, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Yemen and Lebanon walked out promptly.

Later, single delegates of Egypt and Yemen returned to a night meeting of the Assembly, taking their seats shortly after 8 p.m. CST. This indicated the other Arab nations would resume their seats at later sessions.

The theft occurred at a local cafe where Black had gone to eat, police reports showed.

Padlock Is Broken

Nothing was believed taken in a burglary of Mac's grocery, at 211 North Adams. A padlock was broken from the store's rear door.

Capt. of Detectives Pat Davidson said a 20-year-old negro who had been questioned in connection with theft from a tire company and from an automobile here had been released without charge.

A 19-year-old, 225 pound youth was held by police Wednesday night on an informal complaint that he had molested a 11-year-old girl on a city bus. A formal charge may be filed today, police said.

Mrs. Jim Cummings, of 2623 Ruby, reported theft of a $30 bike from her residence—the second time within a week the vehicle has been stolen. It was recovered after the first theft was reported to police Friday.

Teague Reports Voters Favor Strong Federal Farm Program

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 11—Constituents of Rep. Teague (D-Tex) have advised him they favor a government farm program, repeal of federal oleomargarine taxes and strong national defense.

Teague announced today the results of a survey he made by sending 40,000 questionnaires to poll tax payers. He said he received nearly 5,000 replies.

Eight counties in his district, all of which are involved in the poll, are: Brazos, Ellis, Freestone, Hill, Leon, Limestone, Navarro and Robertson.

The answers showed, Teague said, a big majority against outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor act, although there was about an even division on the question of amending it.

Only 12 per cent favored federal ownership of the disputed oil-rich tidelands.

On the question of universal military training, 59 per cent said they favored such a compulsory defense measure.

The replies showed that 56 per cent thought that national defense and foreign aid programs offered the best chance to preserve world peace, even though their cost comprises one-half the national budget.

On President Truman's civil rights proposals, 31 per cent said they favored a federal anti-poll tax law, with 60 per cent opposing. The remaining 9 per cent expressed no views on that question.

Only 12 per cent favored a Fair Employment Practices commission and 63 per cent opposed.

Health Program Opposed

Many of those answering made a distinction between government aid to programs for health and mind. Only 27 per cent said they favored federal dental and medical services, while 57 per cent were in favor of government aid to schools.

A large number of those supporting government aid to schools made side comments that they did not want any government control or interference with the state educational program.

Those being interviewed were asked what kind of tax boost they would favor if additional revenue was needed to support the government-aid programs they endorsed.

Only about half those replying answered this question. Eleven per cent said they were in favor of increased personal income taxes, 35 per cent were opposed; 33 per cent favored increased corporation taxes, 17 were opposed; 38 favored reimposition of excess profits taxes, 13 per cent were opposed.

The question regarding a government farm program was broken down into three parts.

On crop insurance, 77 per cent expressed support, 16 per cent were opposed and 7 per cent had no opinion. On price supports, 77 per cent favored, 15 per cent opposed and 8 per cent had no opinion. The soil conservation had 84 per cent support, with 10 per cent opposed and 6 per cent giving no views.

Sixty-one per cent said they were against outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor law, 19 per cent favored outright repeal and 20 per cent had no comment. On the other hand, 39 per cent said they favored amendments, 28 per cent were against amending it, and 59 per cent had no comment.

On the question whether "you favor a law to require a worker to be a union member in order to retain his job," only 7 per cent replied "yes" while 80 per cent replied "no" and 13 per cent had no comment.

Funeral Services Set Today In Houston For Noted Scenic Artist

HOUSTON, May 11. (U.P.)—Final rites will be held tomorrow for Herbert Barnard, 68-year-old well-known scenic artist and designer.

Barnard died suddenly last night at the home of a son here.

He came to Texas from Chicago in 1911, and since had been associated with the major festivals and parades in the Southwest, including the Battle of Flowers in San Antonio, the Tulsa Oil exposition, and the Mardi Gras celebration in Galveston.

He exhibited many paintings of the Texas state flower, the Bluebonnet, and designed and decorated floats for numerous parades throughout the state.

Barnard lived in San Antonio until 1947, when he moved here.

Private funeral services will be held at 4 p.m. tomorrow, cremation following.

Out-Of-State Grain Trucks Now Can Buy Special License

AUSTIN, May 11 (AP) — A 60-day license was authorized yesterday by the highway department for out-of-state vehicles engaged in marketing wheat and other grains in Texas

The temporary license to be issued only to non residents of Texas, will cost one-sixth of the annual fee, E. J. Amey, motor vehicle division director said.

The licenses will cover trucks, truck-tractors, trailers and semi-trailers, Amey said. They should be obtained at the office of the county tax assessor-collector of the first county in which the vehicle is to be operated.

The department's action conforms with the provisions of Senate bill 75, passed recently by the legislature.

Airline Petition Denied By CAB

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics board announced today that it has rejected the application of American airlines for temporary suspensions of service to Abilene, Tex., for safety reasons.

Actually, the line stopped the Abilene service on April 1, when Convairs were substituted for DC-3's on the route.

American contended Abilene's municipal airport No. 2, which local authorities assigned for its use, could not safely handle the big Convairs.

Port Claimed Safe

The board said, however, that the Civil Aeronautics administration considered municipal No. 2 at Abilene to be safe for Convair operations subject to certain limitations, and that American's petition was, therefore, being denied.

The CAB order was issued yesterday and then withdrew for corrections. It was re-issued today.

While the order in effect directs resumption of service to Abilene, no specific date for resumption was set, and it was indicated that the airline would move for reconsideration.

Airline officials said there was no immediate plan for resuming the Abilene stops, and that the company still held its original view regarding the safety factor.

American airlines also has pending before the board a petition for authority to discontinue its service at both Abilene and Big Spring, Texas, so long as those two points are also served by Pioneer Air lines, a feeder service.

This petition is based on the contention that one air line can meet the needs of the two communities.

Jamaica had 13 aircraft registered at the start of this year, but only four of them were in shape for use and some have already been scrapped.

Presbyterians Put Off Moving Plans

Last week's rains and flood have forced postponement of plans for Westminster Presbyterian church to move into its new building at Thirty-third and Tyler Ave., Rev. David L. Zacharias, pastor, has announced.

The congregation, which has been meeting in the Plaza theater in Green Acres shopping center since its organization in February, 1948, had planned to occupy the new church structure next Sunday. However, rains made it impossible to complete walks and other features, and flood waters left mud and debris in the building. No serious damage was done, Rev. Zacharias said.

Westminster services will be held in conjunction with those of the Forest Heights Methodist church in the Plaza theater until such time as the new building is ready for occupancy, it was announced. The Methodist group, which has recently organized with Rev. Burgin Watkins as pastor, had completed plans for using the theater until its new building in Southwest Lubbock is completed.

Sunday the Methodists will join Presbyterian classes in Sunday school and the two congregations will unite in a church service at which Rev. Watkins will preach.

BAR OWNERS TO MARK 'A DAY'

Alcoholism Education Group To Launch Fund Drive In New York

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 11. — More whiskey is consumed in New York City than in any town in the world. And so it seems appropriate that the city has been chosen by the National Committee for Education on Alcoholism as the locale for the country's first A-day.

The A-day, which happens on May 20, stands for alcohol. Local bars on A-day will display collection cups. Tipplers that day and night will be asked to drop the price of a beer or of a jolt of redeye in the can, to help defray the cost of some of the most remarkable research now being undertaken in this country.

Treated As Disease

The NCEA, which is a division of the Yale university plan on alcoholism and has the endorsement of Alcoholics Anonymous, that superbly selfless organization, operates on the premise that alcoholism is a disease. It believes that it is as preposterous to jail a chronic drunkard as it would be to incarcerate a sufferer from cancer, heart trouble or polio.

It is neither wet nor dry, though it gets encouragement from both sides of that question. The wets, especially the distributors, reasonably believe that any organization working in the interest of moderation is of long-term value. The drys see the work of the NCEA as an important weapon in their campaign against that old devil spiritus frumenti. Both are right.

Large Contribution Expected

About 65,000,000 Americans drink either regularly or on festive occasions. Of this total, 3,000,000 drink excessively and it is from this groggy group that the true lushes are drafted. Currently there are 750,000 chronic alcoholics in America.

"You can drink—help the alcoholic who can't" will be the A-day slogan and though it may be an overly generous salutation to some of the imbibers who are able to focus on the words, it is expected to raise $100,000 for NCEA during the day. If even half that much is attracted, the collection boxes will be placed in the bars of other U.S. cities.

Statistics Compiled

The NCEA has compiled some pretty arresting statistics on what is plainly a problem that has not been thought out very clearly heretofore. It has discovered for instance, that 94 per cent of all drinkers know when to stop and the other six per cent, who stoke up until they get the wobble-tongued stumbles need more than the 17 clinics and research centers now in operation in America.

Five out of six alkies are men, and 85 per cent of these are between 30 and 55—normally a man's peak earning span. Contrary to general belief, most alcoholics are not in the lower social and economic strata. More than 12,000 Americans die every year from chronic alcoholism and hundreds of thousands of others lose their jobs, neglect their families, clutter up divorce courts or hospital and relief rolls.

Cost To Public Is Heavy

Two-thirds of the county jail population is made of of stews and from 80 to 90 per cent of the population in municipal and private shelters, missions and the like are similarly afflicted. Taxpayers are nicked about $750,000,000 a year and house and support drunkards.

One of the more trenchant assertions of NCEA is that liquor is not the direct cause of alcoholism. It is but a symptom of the disease. Aside from considerable psychiatric factors, the disease can be induced by vitamin deficiencies and adrenal gland defects.

The University of Texas has made some notable strides in the dietary end of excessive drinking in recent months, one learns from The Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Prof. Roger J. Williams and Drs. L. Joe Berry and Ernest Beertecher, jr., see hope for the souse whose dietary deficiencies are corrected.

NCEA Clinics Planned

By staging its A-day the NCEA hopes, in addition to raising the needed money, to bring home to New Yorkers that alcoholism is a disease. It will establish clinics for out-patients of meagre means and look further into the efficacy of various cures, including the newly produced Scandinavian pill treatment that is said to be potent enough to have caused the late W. C. Fields to switch all the way to cherry smash.

May 20 will be my first A-day since Bikini. It should be a success, even in non-television gin-mills.

Many Valuable Prizes Assured In Palo Duro Canyon 'Gold Rush'

CANYON, May 11. (Special)—Over $10,000 in prizes have been pledged to date to the Palo Duro Canyon Boosters club in connection with their summer-long treasure hunt which will start May 28 when Governor Beauford Jester cuts a ribbon to the entrance of the canyon.

The prizes will go to finders of lucky goldine coins. Ten thousand coins will be dropped from an airplane into the canyon during the opening ceremony. All coins ending in the number "seven"—a thousand coins—will be prize winners and each coin is a potential prize winner of supplemental grand prizes.

Top prizes include two all-expense paid eight-day vacations to Havana, Cuba via Braniff airways; 102 season passes to Amarillo Gold Sox home games in 1949; a diamond ring valued at $250 donated by Albert Meyer of the Mission Jewelry company; and two registered quarterhorses donated by Glenn L. Casey. One horse is 2-year-old "Casey's Beauty" who won third prize at the 1947 Tri-State Quarterhorse show. The other one-year-old filly is "Casey's Billy Red Fox," sired by "J. Billy Thomas," world's champion palomino stock horse for two consecutive years.

The Palo Duro "gold rush" is being held by the Boosters club to solicit membership and appropriate funds and gifts to advertise the Palo Duro canyon as a major tourist attraction throughout the country. Every person in this region is eligible. Members will pay $1 for membership cards.

GORILLA MEETS LADY—Phil, right, a male gorilla in the St. Louis Zoo, attempts to greet his new mate, with a hug as she is placed in his cage for the first time, but meets with no encouragement. Lady, 9 years old and 275 pounds, came from New York's Central Park.

New Jet Fighter Is Okayed By Air Force

MUROC, Calif., May 11. (INS)—The Air Force's newest jet-powered high altitude 1000-miles-per-hour fighter-interceptor plane, the XF-91, was pronounced satisfactory today by observers who witnessed its first test flight.

The XF-91 was flown for 40 minutes at the Air Force's Muroc dry lake base Monday by test pilot Carl Hellinger.

The cryptic Air Force anouncement released at the field made no mention of the plane's speed, altitude or performance.

The plane is equipped with rocket motors which can zoom the 45-foot length plane from the ground to a 50,000-foot altitude in no time at all. The rocket motors were not used on Monday.

Republic Aviation Corp., builder of the experimental plane, said that it is capable of a 5,000 pounds of thrust. It has a five-wheel landing gear and has a wingspread of 30 feet.

The XF-91 engine is identical with the F-86, the North American fighter plane which holds the official world's speed record of more than 670 MPH.

Service Pay Hike Bill Boosts Sponsoring Solon's Popularity

WASHINGTON, May 11. (Special)—Rep. Paul J. Kilday, San Antonio, chairman of the House Armed Services sub-committee, which on Friday is expected to bring forth the pay raise bill for the armed services, says he has noticed his personal stock has gone up considerably whenever he attends a function where there are men from the armed services.

"I'm the most popular man today with the services," says Kilday jovially. "Even the wives of Army and Navy officers inquire about my health. They all want to see me be contented."

Kilday had one neighbor, a captain in the Navy, who had mowed his grass daily without ever observing the congressman until the other day. When Kilday arrived home, the Navy captain waved jovially, "Hi, there." An admiral came across the room at a cocktail party to wish Kilday well. At recent official functions attended by the congressman at Annapolis and the Marine base at Quantico, he was sought out for special attentions.

Seriously, though, Kilday says the service families have needed raises for a long time. He believes this bill will provide for them adequately.

Jersey City Records Guarded By Police

JERSEY CITY, N. J., May 11. (U.P.)—City records of Boss Frank Hague's administration were guarded by police and a group of citizen volunteers today after Hague's 36-year rule of the city was broken in a landslide of votes for a "freedom" fusion ticket.

John V. Kenny, 56, former Hague supporter and head of the victorious fusion ticket, said he would not take office until a thorough accounting had been made.

Winners Are Cautious

His attorney, Harold Kreiger, said he would go to superior court and ask that the records be officially impounded.

"We won't touch a thing," Kenny said, "until we can show we can't be accused of all the mismanagement we have charged against the Hague administration."

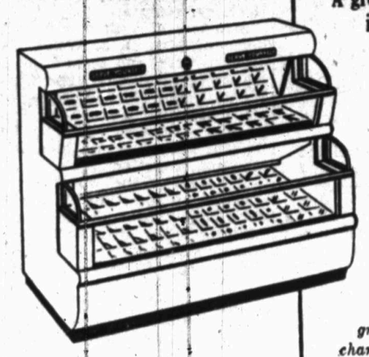

Kenny, who will be chosen mayor by his "freedom" city commission, was elected by 81,117 votes to 59,231 for Mayor Frank Hague Eggers, nephew of Hague who headed the machine ticket.

Thousands of Jersey City residents danced and paraded in the streets until the early hours this morning celebrating the end of "Hague rule." The crowd hung a new sign on city hall reading: "under new management."

The Woman's Angle
By Ellen Miller

A delightful bit of philosophy has been voiced by Henri Charpentier, French chef who is recognized as originator of crepes suzette.

Now 68 years old, the chef who once served Queen Victoria and other royalty, is currently serving his cullinary creations in his one-table restaurant, located in a simple white and yellow cottage in California.

"My place will grow," Charpentier predicts, "and if it doesn't, there is always room in this world for a little jewel."

SKIRT THE SUBJECT

Some people are too tall and thin to wear narrow, straight skirts. And some people are too short to wear the full, flaring one. These facts rarely cause anybody to worry, because every woman can find a skirt to suit her own figure. And until recently, we had never seen a skirt silhouette that wouldn't look perfectly fine on somebody.

But what in the world are we going to do with those recent Paris imports that feature straight skirts, decked with flying panels to give an appearance of fullness? Hmmm?

DO RE MI

MADAME Amparo Iturbi, charming pianist who appeared as guest artist with the Lubbock symphony orchestra last week, says that the French people have less interest in seeing a musician simply because she is well known than any other nationality.

A celebrated movie or opera star will find a good number of people in the audience in most countries who attend concerts simply to be able to say they have seen, or heard, the star. But in France, the people are interested only in the music, with very little regard for who is playing, she declared.

CHOP THE CHOP

When buying a loin pork roast, ask your butcher to crack it—separating the vertebrae with a cleaver. This makes carving easy and also permits you to slice off several chops to cook at some other time, if this is desirable.

SUMMER FRAGRANCE

Intensity of fragrance is not the only difference in colognes and perfumes—they were meant to be worn in different places. Cologne was created to be sloshed on parts of the body to be covered with clothes. Perfume, however, should not be covered. It goes best on ear lobes, at the throat or wrists, on hat brims, or perhaps, on a belt.

Kappa Gamma Group Initiates Two Monday

Mrs. Eugene Nail and Mrs. William Sasser were initiated into Kappa Gamma sorority in services in Rix chapel Monday night. Initiation services were preceded by a dinner in Cactus Inn.

Fifteen To Appear In Voice Recital

Elton Plowman, who teaches voice in the Texas Tech applied music department, will present 15 students in a voice recital at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Seaman hall.

Each student will sing solos. The recital is open to the public.

AUTOS WON'T FLOAT

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.)—J. William Pennington's motorboat was launched, but his car sank. Pennington backed his car and a trailer carrying a motorboat close to the river's sloping bank. When he got out to unload the craft, the whole works slid into the stream. The boat floated and the car sank.

During the past year, the clubs have studied and demonstrated work based on a "Better Homes and Comfortable Living" theme. Members have landscaped yards, planted gardens, canned, baked, decorated rooms, planned family recreation, studied health, made clothing and made decorative articles for the home.

Members of the Girls 4-H clubs of the county had decorated cakes on display.

Following a covered dish luncheon, various persons presented program parts and clubwomen modeled their project dresses. Musical numbers were given by Jerry Malone, Sue Franklin and Joann Crawford, senior students of Seminole High school.

Among the exhibits were directions and materials for making aluminum trays and dress forms.

Tall snowy tapers will burn in silver candelabra, and gifts will be presented on a silver tray to the honoree by Mrs. Fentress. A tiny rosebud will be inserted in each of the guest's place cards, and a corsage of talisman roses will mark the honoree's place.

Jack O. Stone, personnel and public relations director of Furr's Super Markets in Lubbock, is among the principal speakers at the Twelfth Annual convention of the Super Market institute being held at Hotel Stevens in Chicago this week.

An estimated 5,000 retailers from all parts of the United States, Canada and Mexico were expected to attend the meeting for a discussion of techniques of mass marketing, designed to cut the consumer's food bill.

All nurses of Lubbock, both students and graduates, will be honored at a Florence Nightingale service to be held tonight at 8 o'clock at St. Paul's Episcopal church. The nurses are to be in uniform. Directing the service will be members of St. Mary's guild of the Episcopal Woman's auxiliary.

Mrs. Robert H. Bean is leader of the guild, which is sponsoring the event for the second time on Florence Nightingale's birthday.

Special music will be presented by the church choir, and Rev. Claude Canterbury, rector of St. Paul's church will speak. Following the service, an informal reception will be held in the churchyard.

Lovers of pioneer music and the old time round and square dances have been invited to attend the Second Annual Texas Square Dance festival to be held in the Sunken Garden Theater, San Antonio, today through Saturday, under the sponsorship of the Alamo Heights Lions club.

The association's purpose is to support a benevolent, charitable undertaking; to preserve and teach the traditional American square dance "Texas Style"; to spread information regarding such dances, to encourage local groups to form for such a purpose and to hold an annual Texas Square Dance festival.

Along these lines, the organization declares that all lovers of folk music and dancing are automatically members of the Association.

At the festival no judging is being held and no prizes are being awarded. "Proper dress" (not costume) is the full cotton calico for "fair partners" and western shirts, frontier pants and boots for the men.

Folk music of all nations is being included at the annual festivities.

Ko Shari Club Members See Taos Indian Dances

Don Antonio Lujan and five Indian boys of Taos Pueblo, N. M., danced Wednesday night for approximately 100 members, pledges and patronesses of Ko Shari club of Texas Technological college at the W. G. McMillan home on the Levelland road. Club patronesses were hostesses at a 6 o'clock picnic preceding the Indian program.

The Indians arrived in Lubbock Tuesday night and are guests of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Holden at 3105 Twentieth. The trip has been made to Lubbock as a result of a promise made by Don Antonio to the Ko Shari girls when members of the club met him in 1948 at the studio of Mr. and Mrs. John Young-Hunter in New Mexico.

War Dance Shown

The Indians presented a war dance in brilliant costumes. This group has been presented recently in Dallas and in Tucson, Ariz. One of the party, Trinidad Archuleta, won first place at Indian Tribal dances held in Clinton, Okla., last year. Another one of the dancers, Alfred Lujan, is well known for his painting in Indian life. One of his paintings hangs in the Art Museum in Santa Fe.

Also in the party are Lupe Sandoval and Alfred Lujan, who sang for the club, and George Archuleta and Joe Suazo.

In Council Of Elders

Don Antonio, husband of Mable Dodge Lujan, socialite and writer, has held special courses in the Museum of Natural History in New York and has been presented in the Court of St. James in London. He is a respected member of the Council of Elders at Taos Pueblo.

The guests were taken to the inauguration of President D. M. Wiggins Tuesday night and on a tour of Tech farms this morning. The Indians, who are farmers themselves, are very interested in livestock and farm operations on the South Plains. Two of the group are veterans of World War II.

Mrs. Anne Liese Lohner, famed Swiss Alpinist, is head of the Swiss team of five now in India to climb Kanchenjunja, 28,146 foot peak in the Himalayas, second in height only to Mt. Everest.

RECOGNIZED — Barbara Hazlewood, 3218 Twentieth, above, has been recognized as the Tech student who made the highest grades of any woman freshman during the 1947-48 school year. The recognition was made by Tech Forum at a luncheon given Saturday at Hotel Lubbock by Tech Association of Women Students.

LARGE GRAIN SURPLUS LOOMS

Need For Marketing Quotas On Wheat Forecast By Farm Leader

WASHINGTON, May 11 (U.P.) — Alan B. Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, said today he sees no way for farmers to avoid marketing quotas for wheat next year.

That marketing quotas may be imposed next year was indicated in yesterday's wheat crop report. The Department of Agriculture forecast a harvest of 1,021,000,000 bushels of winter wheat, a near record breaker.

Farm Leader Questioned

If the forecast is borne out, a wheat "surplus" of more than 150,000,000 bushels appeared in prospect for next summer. The law requires that farmers accept marketing quotas and acreage controls in order to qualify for full price support benefits when surpluses reach a certain point.

Kline made his statement to a House Agriculture subcommittee which is considering the administration's long-range farm program.

The subcommittee fired questions again and again at Kline on the reasons why he supports the flexible system of price supports —based on supply—laid down in the Aiken law, scheduled to become effective next Jan. 1. It is designed to cut down surplus crops and encourage production of non-surplus ones.

Definite Stand Avoided

Kline refused to commit himself on the administration's proposal to try out a direct payment plan in order to hold up hog prices. He said merely that direct farmer subsidies are not "a desirable method" of price supports.

Kline said that if consumption of livestock and livestock products jumped five percent the country's grain surpluses would be taken care of.

Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Tex) asked him how he could reconcile such a low percentage with his previous contention that the Brannan plan looking toward the same goal would cost many billions of dollars.

Explanation Given

"Everything depends on what happens to the other 95 percent of the crop," Kline said.

He said the weakest feature of the plan suggested by Agriculture Secretary Charles F. Brannan is that the top 30 percent of farm income, which constitutes the total net income, is dependent "on a government check."

"I doubt if any group would want to tie their whole operation to the whims of Congress," he said.

Judging by the Agriculture department's latest forecast there may be a 150 000,000 bushel margin between this year's total wheat production and the amount consumed or exported before the 1950 crop is harvested.

Garza County Youth Wins 4-H Club Camp Trip To Washington

COLLEGE STATION, May 11. (Special)—Another Garza county 4-H boy, Carter Gene White of the Garnolia community, has been selected as a winner of one of the four coveted National 4-H Club Camp trips according to Floyd Lynch, state 4-H club leader of Texas A. and M. college.

Last fall Alvin Davis was named the National 4-H Leadership Award winner.

White, 17, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. White, a senior in Post High school and has started his tenth year of 4-H work. In 1948, White was awarded an Anderson-Clayton scholarship for $200 and in 1947 was a delegate to National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. He has been president of his local 4-H club four times, president of the county organization three times, is a junior leader, and at this time is president of the district boys 4-H organization. He is active in school affairs and was recently named as the "school favorite." He has won district awards in rifle shooting and grass judging in addition to numerous county awards including leadership and the Gold Star.

Leaders Are Credited

White has completed demonstrations with swine, dairy cattle, beef calves, poultry, horses, cotton, grain sorghums and beef cattle. He has 70 ribbons to prove his ability as a showman. Much of his income has gone back into his demonstrations and for high school expenses. He believes in producing the best of everything.

White gives his local 4-H leaders, Geo. Sampson and Alvin Davis, along with his parents, credit for much of his success. His present County Agent is L. C. Herron and he pretty well sums up the reasons for Carter's success. Herron says, "Carter is outstanding not only in his 4-H work but in his school and community interests. He goes out of his way to help younger 4-H members with their work and is never too busy to take on added responsibilities, he is a

Japan's Premier Makes Plea For Leniency By Former Enemies

TOKYO, May 11. (INS)—Premier Shigeru Yoshida asked the victims of Japanese wartime aggression today to adopt a more lenient attitude toward postwar Japan.

He pleaded before the Tokyo correspondent's club that Japan be permitted to "make an honest living through fair competition in a peaceful world."

The premier said that the Japanese "do not want to be indefinitely a pauper nation" depending on aid from the United States.

The trip to Washington, D. C., and National 4-H Camp will be made in June. The other delegates are: Harry Lee Schneider, Guadalupe county; Beverly Runnels, Brazoria county and La Ruth Stephens, Dallas county. The delegation will be accompanied by two extension service staff members from College Station. The four will represent the 110,000 4-H club members in Texas.

Bryan Group, REA Officials Reach 'Understanding' On Loan

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—Rep. Teague (D-Tex) said today the chances for Bryan, Tex., getting a loan of approximately $780,000 from the Rural Electrification administration are good.

Teague told a reporter that conferences between REA officials and a delegation from Bryan resulted in "an understanding of differences" that have technically held up granting of a loan.

The city wants the loan to extend its rural electric lines.

Here for the conferences were Mayor Roland Dansby, Judge F. Law Henderson, Commissioners Clifton Carter and George Adams, all of Bryan; and Price Daniel, state attorney general.

Venezuela's first privately-owned shipyard, in Puerto Cabello, soon will operate.

HST Asked To Endorse Veterans' 'Co-Operative Housing' Proposal

By SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche-Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 11—President Truman has been asked to give his endorsement to co-operative housing—a plan which originated with a group of Beaumont veterans—as a means of solving the nation's housing problems, Rep. Wright Patman, Texarkana, said today.

Perry Brown, Beaumont, national commander of the American Legion, and Bob Poston, Beaumont, associate director of the Legion's legislative commission, called on the President at the White House. They were accompanied by Bertram Giesecke, Austin, chairman of the Legion's housing commission, Rep. Patman, who introduced the co-operative housing bill in the House and Sen. Estes KeFauver, Tenn., author of the Senate bill.

Resource 'Pooling' Permitted

The Patman bill would permit five or more veterans or non-veterans to pool their resources in borrowing money from private enterprise, the loans later to be insured by the Federal Housing administration, to build houses, singly or as apartments.

The money would be repaid at 4 percent interest. The government would lose no money, Patman said.

"This simply means that homeowners could get the advantage of wholesale instead of retail prices," he said. "It would be the quickest way I know of to provide housing. I believe it would really get the job done."

Patman added that this would mean to housing what Rural Electrification administration loans meant to rural co-operatives throughout the country.

The Legion has endorsed the plan. It will be Poston's job to help get it passed in the Congress.

Patman said today that as soon as the administration's housing bill has been disposed of he hopes to get action on his bill. There is no conflict. The Patman bill is before the House Banking and Currency committee where hearings are expected to be held.

While the President could not commit himself nor be quoted by those visiting him, it is known that he is in favor of it. The President has tried for five years unsuccessfully to get more housing for the nation and is known to be enthusiastic about a plan which it is believed will expedite building.

Brown has long been interested in housing, being a builder, himself. He was highly impressed with the way a group of Beaumont veterans pooled resources and skills to build homes. He backed them. The plan was so successful, Brown conceived of submitting it to the nation.

No Clues Found In Robbery At Baytown

BAYTOWN, May 11. (AP)—City police and Harris county sheriff's deputies had only scant clues today in the $3500 robbery and ransacking last night of offices of Sam Stassi, local beverage distributor.

Intent on concealment, the thieves used a drill or sharp-bitted instrument to batter through from the underside of a 6-inch concrete floor in the building.

Heavy pieces of pipe and crowbars were used to wreck the newly-decorated office, Police Chief A. G. McKee said, and the crowbars apparently enabled the robbers to force open a concrete vault.

There was no evidence of dynamiting, McKee added.

Missing when Stassi opened the building today was a steel cash box that held the money.

It was the second twinge of hard luck for Stassi within four days.

Last Sunday his new Cadillac car, being ferried across the channel at Morgan's point, was rammed by another barge and crushed beyond repair. He and his wife narrowly escaped serious injury.

Trial Of Bus Driver Involved In Ben Hogan Crash Is Postponed

VAN HORN, May 11 (AP)—The trial of Alvin H. Logan in connection with the auto-bus crash in which golfer Ben Hogan was injured was postponed today for the second time. The new trial date, set today, is May 19.

Logan, driver of the Greyhound bus involved in the crash with Hogan's car, was charged with aggravated assault with a motor vehicle. Hogan has not been able to return to the game.

Logan also was driver of the Greyhound bus which overturned on a slippery curve during a rainstorm near Loraine, last week, killing one passenger and injuring 31.

Scanty Swimming Suits Make Vaccination Scars Hard To Hide

LOS ANGELES, May 11 (AP)—Swim suits are getting so scanty that doctors are hard pressed to put vaccinations where they won't show.

"In another 10 years there probably will be no concealed areas available," Dr. Milo Brooks told the California Medical association convention yesterday.

"Luckily, the scars are small with modern techniques," he said.

Noted Area Farmer To Speak In Abilene

ABILENE, May 11. (Special)—F. O. Masten, of Wellington and Sudan, whose farming operations rank among the largest in the country, will be the featured speaker at the annual banquet of the Aggie club of Abilene Christian college, Thursday, May 12, at the Drake hotel beginning at 8 p.m.

Masten, who is co-chairman of the A.C.C. development fund, cultivates 16,000 acres of Panhandle farming land. He owns a 24,000 acre Panhandle ranch upon which oil has been discovered. His holdings are mostly in Cochran, Lamb and Collingsworth counties.

Heads National Group

He was declared Master Farmer of Texas in 1948, and was for two years president of Master Farmers of Texas. Upon being designated as National Master Farmer, he was named president of the organization composed of men who had earned that honor.

Masten farmed a small tract near Wellington until after 1926 when he won first place in a state wide "more cotton on fewer acres" contest conducted by the Dallas Morning News. By 1949 he was operating 8,000 acres. He has become nationally known for his pioneering in the use of power equipment.

He invented a guide with which tractors may be operated without drivers. This was featured in a national picture magazine several years ago which used a picture of more than a dozen tractors plowing side by side without drivers.

"Get out," screamed a hoarse voice as a burglar was climbing in a window of a house in Southampton, England, and the burglar got — whereupon the owner of the voice, a 90-year-old parrot, went back to sleep.

Blue Sox Trim Hubbers, 4-1

Rodriguez Hurls Three-Hit Game

The amazing Abilene Blue Sox tucked consecutive victory No. 12 under their belts last night to hand the Lubbock Hubbers their fourth straight setback 4-1 and to advance within half a game of first place in the West Texas-New Mexico League.

The sizzling Blue Sox did little wrong and continued to do it with enough emphasis to come from behind and win. They also did it behind the fine three-hit hurling of little Jerry Rodriguez, Cuban righthander.

Rodrigues Cool Hurler

The diminutive Rodriguez was as cool as the weather, giving the Hubbers two hits and a walk in the first inning and then letting them eat out of his hand for the remainder of the game.

Rodriguez walked the first man to face him, Buddy McCallum, and he stole second. Al Duarte bounced out, second to first to move McCallum to third and he scored on Jim Prince's line double to left. Chick Fowler singled Prince to third and Nelson Davis lofted to leftfield to end the inning.

In the second, Joe Wisniewski was hit and stole second, but died there.

That was the closest the Hubbers got until the sixth, when Duarte was safe on an error. He was erased on the first of two double plays the Sox turned in. Davis singled with one out in the eighth and Mike Dooley lined into a twin killing that cut off the last threat the Hubbers made.

Rodriguez gave up only the one base on balls to McCallum and struckout two men, Wisniewski and Bill Grafton, twice. The Hubbers went down in order in the final seven innings and only 29 batters faced Rodriguez officially.

Greer Scores Winning Run

Abilene picked up a run in the fourth inning when, after George Sturdivant had grounded out, Bobby Fernandez singled to center. He went to second on a passed ball, taking advantage of a lapse by Dooley. Joe Wessing grounded out, pitcher to first, but Jorge Lopez singled to left to score Fernandez.

The winning run scored in the sixth when Manager Stubby Greer led off with a single to center. Sturdivant grounded out moving Greer, who had thieved second, to third. And Greer scored on Wessing's fly to the outfield.

Grafton pitched good ball for eight innings, but weakened in the ninth, when four singles were good for two runs.

Senators Drop Tigers, 11 To 1 For Ninth Straight Victory

Chicago White Sox Lace Boston, 12-8

DETROIT, May 11 (AP)—The Washington Senators won their ninth straight victory as they pummeled four Detroit Tiger pitchers for an 11-1 decision today. First baseman Ed Robinson led the Senators with a homer and two singles.

The Senators jumped all over Detroit starting pitcher Stubby Overmire for five runs in the first inning. They continued their 14-hit attack against his three successors.

Paul Calvert and Dick Welteroth gave the Tigers only three hits, two of them coming in the sixth inning when Detroit scored its lone run.

Big Ed Robinson led the Senators' batting attack. He hit a three-run homer in the first inning and added two singles.

Overmire gave way to Marlin Stuart.

Stuart held the Senators scoreless from the third through the sixth inning when he was lifted for a pinchhitter.

Lou Kretlow took over the Detroit pitching duties in the seventh and gave up four runs in that inning.

Cancer Cause Of Breadon's Death

ST. LOUIS, May 11. (INS)—The body of Sam Breadon, for 27 years the far-seeking and beloved owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, was cremated in a private rite today, and the ashes will be scattered on the Mississippi River where it rolls past the city he loved.

Some time next week the sorrowing widow of the 72-year-old baseball man who died of cancer last night will scatter the ashes on the "Father of Waters" as Breadon himself had asked in his will.

The public will not know when it happens, for Sam's will stated further that all final rites should be carried out in complete privacy.

Meanwhile, the Cardinal offices were closed today, even though Breadon had not been formally connected with the club since he sold his original $200 investment for more than $3,000,000 to former postmaster general Robert Hannegan late in 1947.

His last broken words upon the sale of the club were:

"I'll always be a Cardinal."

And earlier this year, when he watched the Cards in spring training at St. Petersburg, Fla., Breadon found himself talking about "our" chances and what "we" were going to do in the 1949 pennant race.

Amarillo Gold Sox Best Clovis, 10-5

CLOVIS, May 11. (AP) — The Clovis Pioneers dropped their ninth consecutive game here tonight, bowing to the Amarillo Gold Sox 10-5.

The Amarillo team broke up a tight pitcher's duel between Luke Hamilton and the Pioneers' Mel Kramer by pushing two runs across in the sixth and then sewing up the decision with a cluster of four in the top of the seventh.

For five frames, the two teams battled on even terms, Kramer holding a slight edge over Hamilton, but the Gold Sox tapped the Pioneer pitcher for three hits.

Sports Curb Dallas, 8-6

DALLAS, May 11 (AP)—Shreveport bested Dallas 8-6 tonight, staving off a desperate Eagle rally in the final innings.

A crowd of 7,590 watched Warren Hacker, Shreveport right-hander, pitch one-hit ball for seven and a third innings. He was touched for three straight doubles and a single for two runs in the eighth, then was shelled from the mound by two successive doubles in the ninth.

Hank Wyse, who relieved him, had trouble finding the plate—hitting one and walking two—and gave way to Gerald Fahr, who managed to put out the fire.

FORT WORTH, May 11 (AP)—Carl Erskine's five hit pitching and a 14-hit Fort Worth attack gave the Cats a 7-3 victory over Beaumont in the series final here tonight.

It was the deciding tilt of a five game set.

Preston Ward clouted a home run for Fort Worth and Bill Rodgers parked another for the Exporters. The bases were empty both times.

The Exporters notched their first hit off Erskine in the fifth. It was Rodgers' homer to the roof of the right field pavilion.

Houston scored once in the third inning of their Texas league contest here, but the Oilers racked up three runs in the same frame. WILDCAT TEAM IS FAVORED

Border Conference Track, Field Meet Scheduled At Albuquerque

Arizona university will have the track team to beat at Albuquerque, N.M., this weekend when all members of the Border Conference send track teams to that city for the annual meet.

Coach Maxey McKnight of Texas Tech, who is taking a squad of 18 men, flatly predicted that the Wildcats were the ranking threat, with Arizona State of Tempe the second choice. As for the Red Raiders, McKnight has high hopes of giving the leaders "a run for their money."

Tech hopes pretty much will be pinned to Ed Clepper, outstanding all-round trackster. Clepper is being counted on for firsts in the high and low hurdles, high jump and broad jump. There is a strong possibility that he will emerge high point man for the meet.

Pinnell In Hurdles

Charley Pinnell is another potential high point scorer for Tech. Pinnell is entered in the hurdles, high jump and pole vault, an event he only recently entered.

Costin Bufkin is being counted on for points in the quarter mile, along with Ben Wilson, former Lubbock High school star, who is a strong possibility to place well in the half mile.

Charley Reynolds, former dash kingpin of the Raiders and the conference, has been hampered both by weight and by injuries this spring. But his cudgels are being taken up by Seth Murphey of Levelland and James "Mooq" Mullins, both of whom have good chances in the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Other possible point winners include Ben Wilson in the 440-yard dash, Jim Elliott in the javelin and the mile relay team. Henry Briscoe in the javelin, Ted Peabody, Dingy Davis and Ike Stuver in the weights, Claude Freeman and Edgar Hawkins in the distance races and Herman Bailey in the dashes are other possible point scorers.

Also making the trip by special bus, scheduled to leave today at 8 a.m., is the Tech golf team composed of Zac and Bud Henderson, James Cook and John Trout. The golf team is given a fair chance

Dusette Wins Main Mat Go

Plenty of action was seen last night in the three wrestling events at Sled Allen's arena, and in the final event George Dusette made good his statement that he could defeat Alex Kasaboski by winning two falls of the main event.

After a very rough and tumble first fall Dusette caught his Russian opponent with a very punishing full nelson after 15 minutes of wrestling.

But Kasaboski came back in the second and stopped Dusette with a leg bend. The final fall and the match went to Dusette in five minutes with another full nelson.

Balk Estes hurt his leg in the second fall of his match with Rod Fenton and was unable to continue the bout in which Fenton was declared the winner.

After taking the first fall in 13 minutes with an alligator clutch after a tough fight, Estes lost the match in the second. Both grapplers were knocked out of the ring in the second setto, and Estes' injury came as he was coming back into the ring, getting his leg caught in the ropes. Fenton won the fall in 12 minutes, and took the match as a result of the injury.

The preliminary match between Jack Pappenheim and Arturo Ruiz set the stage for the two matches following. Pappenheim won the one fall bout in 14 minutes with an inside stepover toehold.

Vic Weber was the third man in the ring for the matches.

Pampa Downs Lamesa, 6-2

PAMPA, May 11 (AP) — The Pampa Oilers snapped a nine game losing streak here tonight at the expense of the Lamesa Loboes. The final score was 6-2. Th game was a beautiful pitchers' duel for seven innings between lefty Bill Jones of Lamesa and Charley Bodine of Pampa. But the Oilers broke up the game in the eighth inning on one hit, a home run by Homer Matney with two men on base.

Bodine was in trouble several times during the night, but always managed to wriggle out without anyone scoring, despite four fielding miscues behind him.

Manager Jay Haney led the Lamesa hitters, with two hits, one a long double. Ken Peacock also hit a home run for the Oilers.

Lamesa drew first blood in the sixth inning on one hit. Calo opened with a double, Buckel hit a slow roller toward third which Bobine pounced on and then threw Bodine pounced on and then threw past the third baseman for an Buckel going to second where he died when Bodine fanned Coats and Hank Mellilo and forced Jones to hit an easy grounder to the infield.

Howie Fox Hurls Reds To 4-2 Triumph Over New York Giants

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds behind the six-hit pitching of righthander Howard Fox, defeated the New York Giants 4-2 today, to snap the National league leaders' winning streak at seven straight.

The light-hitting Reds whacked three Giant flingers for 10 hits and shelled starter Montia Kennedy off the mound in the sixth inning to mark the first time a Giant pitcher has been knocked out of the box in their last 11 games.

The tall sinkerball pitcher not only pitched, but batted the Giants into submission. Robbed of a hit in the second inning when shortstop Billy Rigney made a scintillating sprawling stop of his sharp bouncer over second base, Fox helped himself to two singles in three official times at bat.

The victory pulled the Reds up to an even .500 with 10 wins against as many losses for the season.

Broyles Top Netter

Jake Broyles of Lamesa tops the tennis players going to the conference competition. Arizona is rated as the top team, but the Raiders are given a strong chance of dethroning them. Broyles potentially is strong enough to win the singles title, while other point winners could be Glen Ivy, Carl Schmidt and David Hester, who will round out the net squad.

At the conference executive meeting, several important matters are expected to be discussed. Slight conference rule changes will be proposed, along with a suggestion that Dr. Emil Larson of Arizona, commissioner, appoint basketball officials.

Coaches are expected to recommend limitation on bowl games by conference members and that teams playing in bowls allot part of the proceeds to the conference.

Dr. J. William Davis of Tech, chairman of the Tech athletic council, is in line to be named president of the faculty group.

Techsans attending the conference meeting will include Dr. Davis, Athletic Director Morley Jennings, Football Coach Dell Morgan, Basketball Coach Polk Robison, Dean W L. Stangel, and Clark Schooley, sports publicity director.

Cooper Drops Frenship Nine

COOPER, May 11 (Special) — Cooper High school's baseball team won its fifth game in eight starts this season with a 7 to 2 victory over Frenship High school here this afternoon.

Buddy Ward allowed the visitors only four hits in hurling his team to victory, while the Pirates garnered 13 safeties off the hurling of Ray Gillette.

Cooper scored twice in the first inning, then wrapped up victory in the third on one run. Bobby Dodd walked and stole second. Bobby Joe Henderson singled him to third and when Bobby Vincent walked, the bases were loaded. Weldon Howell promptly drove in the winning run with a single between short and third.

The Pirates finished their season with five victories and three defeats. B. H. Baldwin coached the club.

Six Teams Will Be Named At Boys Club

Two leagues for the boys enrolled at the Boys club baseball school will be held this year, and selection of the teams will begin at the meeting at 4 p.m. today at Boys club.

Six teams will be formed from among the 9-year-old entries, and the boys 10-11 will also have a league of six teams. Previously only one six-team league was to be formed, but 328 boys registered for the school which began Monday, and this would have eliminated approximately 200 of them.

The job of selecting teams today will be a big problem because of the large number of boys, but both leagues will probably begin play Monday, May 16, at the Boys club diamond.

For the remainder of the school year two games will be played at Boys club after school, but in the summer three games will be played each day.

Two Strikeouts Halt Owl Threat

Longhorns Trounce Rice Team, 9 To 4

HOUSTON, May 11. (AP)—Murray Wall won his second game in two days as the Texas Longhorns moved within one game of the Southwest Conference baseball championship today by defeating Rice Institute, 9 to 4.

Wall, winner yesterday in Austin against Texas Christian, entered the game with the score tied at 4-4 and stopped a Rice threat with two straight strikeouts. He permitted only one Owl to reach base the last two innings.

It was Texas' twenty-seventh consecutive victory over Rice and the seventh time in four years for the Longhorns to defeat the Rice starting pitcher, Bill Bishop.

Have 11-2 Record

The victory gives Texas a record of 11 victories and two refeats. A split for the Longhorns in a two game series this weekend with Texas A&M would give the Longhorns the championship. A&M also has two games remaining with Rice.

A five run rally by the Longhorns broke the 4-4 tie in the eighth inning today.

Wall who relieved sophomore Jim Ehrler on the mound after one out in the Rice half of the seventh, started the rally with a walk off Bishop.

Jack Webb beat out an infield hit and Wall scored on the third error of the day by Vernon Glass, the Rice shortstop.

Singles by Jim Shamblin, Ed Kneuper, Bob Brock, and Ed Kana produced four more runs before Tom Hopkins relieved Bishop and stopped the rally.

Berlin Blockade Finally Ended

zone, where it had to pass a Soviet check of its papers.

It took only 29 minutes to reach the checkpoint and get the Soviet okay. The train consisted of 12 coaches and carried mostly newspapermen and officials.

The train pulled into Berlin ahead of schedule at 5:08 a. m. (9:08 p. m. CST Wednesday), thus snapping the last land link in the blockade of Berlin. The trip through the Soviet zone from Helmstedt was made in three hours and 42 minutes.

The first automobile reaching Berlin was driven by a newspaperman who said "nothing happened all the way. We came right through."

Other cars followed in quick succession. They had left Helmstedt, 100 miles west on the British-Soviet zonal border, six minutes after the agreed time to lift the blockade.

Autos Begin Race

In Berlin, promptly on the dot a minute past midnight (4:01 p. m. CST Wednesday), about 75 automobiles began the race down the highway from that city to the west.

Five minutes later the first cars moved out of Helmstedt toward Berlin and Soviet checkpoints. They reached Berlin one hour and 40 minutes later, ending the highway blockade.

It was understood that Gen. Lucius D. Clay and Sir Brian Robertson, American and British military governors, had given orders to accede to a last-minute demand that Soviet zone locomotives be used to pull trains in the Russian zone.

Sir Robert Inglis, British-American transport chief, said at Helmstedt that the Russians made the demand at the last minute but the first train at least "will go o Berlin."

He suggested the demand might not represent high level Soviet policy and "everything should come out in the wash" later today.

Used Before Blockade

Here it was pointed out various Berlin-bound trains used Soviet zone locomotives — before the blockade—until the Russians claimed they were short of locomotives.

Hundreds of spectators surged forward impetuously across the Soviet line and cheered as the cavalcade rolled into gear. The scene was illuminated by a bright moon and floodlights. Photographers' bulbs flashed.

The first civilian car was that of an American, Anthony Geber, Chicago, economic analyst for the U. S. military government. He was accompanied by Louis Mark, New York City, also a military government employe.

All the cars passed the Soviet checkpoint without difficulty.

Airlift Roars On

A crowd of about 500 also cheered at the Berlin end as the first car, that of a Danish newspaper correspondent, Gert Hammerby, moved out toward the west.

Overhead, planes of the airlift roared every few minutes. Pilots said the airlift had been ordered to go ahead full tilt for at least 30 days. This was to amass a stockpile in case political negotiations at Paris among the Four Powers should not go well.

Jubilation reigned here and in West Germany.

Thankful for deliverance from the hardships of a 327-day siege, West Berliners watched German police and squads of women workers demolish the road blocks which have marked Russian lines in this phase of the cold war.

Arrange To Restore Trade

Trains, trucks and motor cars lined up both here and in Helmstedt. The atmosphere was like the Oklahoma land rush combined with a county fair.

Coincident with the lifting of the Soviet restrictions, on West Berlin and its 2,000,000 people, the United States, Britain and France arranged to restore trade with the Soviet zone of Germany. This counter-blockade established a month after Russia blockaded western sectors of Berlin, kept goods from flowing between the Western zones and Soviet territory. The Soviet zone economy had suffered most.

It was Russia's most decisive diplomatic setback in Europe since the end of the war. In the United States view, however, the lifting of the blockade is only the end of one battle in the cold war and the beginning of a new campaign.

When the Russians imposed their blockade Wilhelm Pieck, German Communist leader and Soviet mouthpiece, thundered:

"Quiet will never return to Berlin until the Western Allies leave."

The Western Allies are still in Berlin, thanks to American and British fliers who smashed Soviet hopes with the airlift.

Barricades Torn Down

The Russians have agreed to restore to West Berlin the electric power they cut off 10 months ago.

They agreed to restore mail service with West Germany.

Texas Boy With Tack In Lung Undergoes X-Ray Examination

PHILADELPHIA, May 11. (AP)—They took x-ray pictures of Bobby Sanders today to locate a tack lodged in his lung.

The seven-year-old Crowell, Texas, boy is here at Temple university hospital. A hospital spokesman said an operation may be performed tomorrow to remove the tack.

Bobby swallowed an upholstering tack Sunday and was taken to Wichita Falls, Texas, where efforts to remove it failed. Doctors advised his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Sanders, to bring Bobby to Dr. C. L. Jackson at the hospital here.

'Town Meeting' Held

sonal opinion as to how long the base might be in operation and as to the size and importance it may attain.

Large Base Indicated

"But I will say the indications are that it will be permanent and that there appears every logical possibility that it may become comparable in size and importance to such facilities as Randolph field."

It is his further unofficial expectation, he said, that improvements of the base are likely to involve "large scale construction" in the not-too-distant future.

While authorization is lacking now to let contracts, grant consessions and employ personnel, Colonel Stradleigh continued, he is accepting names of those interested in various of these possibilities.

Those wanting to get their names on the lists in which they are interested, he suggested, can do so by calling at his office at the base between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. on week days or by contacting him at the chamber of commerce in the city hall between 1 and 5 p.m. His telephone number at the base is 9144; the chamber's number is 4666.

To Give Information

As a personal schedule, he related, he attempts to spend the forenoons at the base and the afternoons at the chamber of commerce. His dutie, however, keep him out of his offices much of the time.

But he continued, he will attempt to supply any information desired in connection with the reactivation. If names are listed, he added, information of interest to them will be supplied as it is received.

Wells, in opening the meeting, pointed out that the reactivation of the field will mean a payroll of approximately 3,000 persons.

Requirements Reviewed

"The latest available records show that only 176 factories in the United States have more than 2,500 persons on their payroll," he commented, by way of illustrating the importance of the reactivation of the field as a business asset to Lubbock.

He reviewed the conditions Lubbock must meet—and which the city has guaranteed to meet—in order to secure the reactivation. These are: The removal of GI families who now reside on the base by Aug. 1; the restoration of the buildings they now occupy to use suitable for air base purposes; the provision of housing for LAFB personnel; the paving of Fourth street between the city and base; the obtaining of Abernathy air field as an auxiliary field; adequate bus service between the base and the city; and the availability of Lubbock Municipal airport as an auxiliary field.

Housing Needed

The most immediate problem was declared to be that of housing.

In this connection, Wells, Chamber President Homer D. Grant and Manager A. B. Davis emphasized that the organization has made no commitments or contracts to provide the needed housing. There is no "preferred list," they said.

The field is wide open, they declared, to those who might assist in providing the needed dwelling places. In meeting this condition, building material dealers, real estate men, loan men and others will be necessary.

"We need a great deal of additional manpower to comply with the condition Lubbock must meet in order to get the base," Wells declared. "One of the primary purposes of this meeting is to begin recruiting that manpower."

Dwellings Specified

The dwelling places required, as listed at the meeting, fall into three specific categories, including:

About 350 residences or apartments suitable for officers and their families (and practically all have families) at rentals of $80 to $100 a month.

About 100 places for the non-commissioned personnel at top rentals of $40 a month.

And about 200 dwelling units of various kinds within the means of GI's, practically all enrolled in Texas Tech, whose total income is only $120 a month.

GI Needs Cited

Speaking for the GI's, Frank Junell, assistant to President D. M. Wiggins, of Tech, emphasized they are not "seeking something for nothing."

"But they must have places to live within their means; either that, or Lubbock and Tech will lose 200 o more young men, many with families, who are splendid students and citizens," Junell remarked.

Progress reports were made on other conditions to the reactivation of the base.

Jess Levens, speaking for Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches, said bus service of the type required will be supplied at present fares—15 cents one way and 25 cents roundtrip.

Earl B. Collins, past president of the chamber, said the Fourth street paving requirement will be met, although many details still are to be worked out. Hopes are to obtain federal and state help toward the cost.

Chamber Manager Davis said no difficulty is anticipated in working out an arrangement satisfactory to the city, the Air Force and the Civil Aeronautics authority which will make Municipal airport available as an auxiliary field without interference with the civilian operations of the field.

Mayor W. H. Rodgers reiterated assurance of the city's cooperation in behalf of LAFB.

L. E. Davis said the requirements as to the restoration of buildings on the post, now occupied by GI's and their families, will be met, although details still are to be worked out.

W. R. McDuffie said he anticipated no great difficulty in obtaining the use of the Abernathy airport as an auxiliary field.

Others who spoke briefly were Dr. Wiggins and Chas. A. Guy, editor of The Avalanche-Journal. Each said the personnel of the field will be of a quality which will be an asset to the community in many ways—to the churches, educationally and culturally, in the civic sense—other than the business sense.

Those attending the meeting were invited to sign cards indicating their willingness to contribute personal service to the community efforts in behalf of the reactivation. Practically all present signed them.

Tech Beauties Named

La Ventana. The eight top girls selected were featured with two full pages of pictures, one closeup pose and one full length shot.

The 1949 La Ventana contains 500 pages which is larger than any other annual that has ever been published at Tech. The five sections, administration, classes, features, organizations, and sports, are supplimented with many beautiful Kodachrome color pictures.

New Type Cover

The cover of the annual is finished in a new process called lamination, which produces a slick glossy finish. A color picture of the Administration building at the college is on the cover. Williams said this was the first time color had been used since 1942 for a La Ventana. The book cover is of black leatherette with the name in red lettering.

Another new feature of the year book is the departmental and student appendix which is found in the back of the volume. A poll was taken earlier in the year to determine what students desired in their annual and it was found that most of them preferred a good appendix in order that things could be easily found.

Robert Norman, senior arts and science student from Mineral Wells, has also added to the quality of the annual with his highly amusing sketches and cartoons on college life.

The 1949 La Ventana has been dedicated to Amon G. Carter, publisher of The Fort Worth Star-Telegram. The dedication reads, "To a man who is mainly responsible for the initial move to create Texas Technological college and who later became a member of its first board of directors and who is vitally interested in the development of Tech, giving generously of his time and money to further its growth."

The first section of the annual contains pictures of the major buildings on the campus. Also featured are the various campus organizations including social, honorary and departmental clubs.

Included in the sports section is an aerial view of Jones Stadium with individual pictures of the starting 1948 Red Raider football team superimposed in their positions. Another sidelight of the sports section is a cartoon which appeared in The Star-Telegram following the Southwest conference's refusal to admit Tech as a member. It shows seven little men standing on the body of a fallen football player who are all burning ballots and "swearing never to tell."

Jack Thompson, business manager of the yearbook, said 4600 copies had been ordered and it appeared that it would "really be a sellout." Last year the La Ventana's did not arrive in time for students to get them before the semester ended.

The Southwestern Engraving company of Dallas was the engraver for this year's annual, The Economy Advertising company of Iowa City, Iowa printed it and Koen's studio of Lubbock was the photographer.

The staff of the 1949 La Ventana included: Bob Williams, editor, Lubbock; Jack Thompson, business manager, Lubbock; June Thompson, copy reader, Lubbock; Jayne Thompson associate editor, Vernon; Fred Gibson, photographer, Dallas; Bob Roper, assistant photographer Dallas; Margie Bullen, art editor, Lubbock; sports writers Keith Anderson, Brownfield and Jerry Hall, Stanton; Anita Oliver, senior editor, Lamesa; Mary Anne Kelley, Colorado City; Don Duncan, Coleman and Paula Fix, Lubbock. Prof. R. A. Mills was faculty sponsor.

The Cooley plan would work something like this

Present acreage allotment or marketing quota laws would control production of major crops, to keep farm supplies pegged to demand.

Farmers would pay an insurance premium for which the government would guarantee full parity price support on their crops. Farmers not paying for the insurance would get no support whatever.

When a crop brought a market price above parity, the government would keep premium money paid by farmers.

NEWS BRIEFS

Water was pumped from under the foundation or from the basement or floor furnace of about 100 homes by West Texas Gas Co., following Friday night's downpour. Three pumps were operated. Several persons told gas company personnel they had arranged with persons operating pumps to have water taken from under their houses, thinking they were arranging for free services of the gas company, and that charges had been made. A gas company spokesman reminded Wednesday night that the gas company provided the pumps as a public service and charged no fees and the charges apparently were made by someone operating pumps other than gas company personnel.

A movie shown on behalf of Lubbock Boys' club featured Wednesday's luncheon meeting of the Exchange club. The first section of the two part film showed the benefits derived from boys clubs, and the latter part showed acts which will appear in the local Boys' club rodeo here next month. Leland Payne, member of the American Business club, which sponsors the rodeo, made a brief talk at the luncheon, urging support of the project by Exchange club members. One new member John Scoggin, was introduced.

The fire department answered an alarm about 4:30 p. m. Wednesday at the 707 Ave. D residence of Mrs. Thelma Stephens. Electric wiring had shorted and burned a section of the wire, firemen said. No damage was done to the residence itself.

Mrs. Wanda Scott, 22, and her infant son, Randy, 7 months, Sundown residents who were injured Friday when tornadoes struck that community, last night were much improved in condition at Phillips-Dupre hospital of Levelland, a hospital attendant reported. Both have regained consciousness and no longer require administration of oxygen, it was said. Mrs. Scott's husband and four-year-old son were killed in the storm.

Court Rejects Appeal

Rena Ross, was with the sheriff when Lane told Ross the news.

Ohio-born, Harvard - educated Ross, once a dapper, assured man, was convicted of murdering Mrs. Willard York on a Comal county country road May 25, 1947.

At the same time, he shot to death three other members of the family: The husband, Willard York; a son, John, 9; and Mrs. Mary York, York's 67-year-old mother. A 13-year-old daughter, Ann York, was shot in the hip, but escaped to a farm house. She became the state's star witness.

Court Gives Opinion

The defense sought to show during the trial at La Grange that Dr. Ross had "cracked up" after he lost his savings, about $150,000, which he had entrusted to York, a friend, for investment. But on Oct. 23, 1948, a jury convicted the Harvard honor-graduate of murdering Mrs. York.

The York's were driving to church when Ross stopped their car and started firing his rifle. He later surrendered to police.

"There is no question but that the facts as a whole presented a very strong defense of insanity," the appeal court's opinion by Judge Harry N. Graves said today, adding:

"Mere mental deficiency or derangement, though it may constitute a form of insanity known to and recognized by medical science, does not excuse one for crime.

Sister Is Stunned

"The insanity that excuses for crime is that known as 'the right and wrong test.' That is, the capacity of the accused to distinguish right from wrong in respect to the act charged as a crime at the time of its commission and the probable consequences of his act.

"Insanity that excuses for crime is a fact question which must of necessity be determined by the jury under proper instructions from the court."

A motion for rehearing is customarily the last resort in state courts.

Informed of the news, Miss Rena Ross, 55-year-old sister of the surgeon, burst into tears.

"I am stunned," said Miss Ross, who has moved to Wharton to be near her brother. "I am overcome."

"Miss Ross has been very loyal to him—never misses seeing him on visiting days — Tuesday and Friday," Sheriff Lane said. "His wife comes down to see him, too from San Antonio. She visits about every two weeks."

Legal Battle Over Claim To Fields' Estate Continued

LOS ANGELES, May 11. (INS)—Superior Judge William R. McKay today studied two photographs taken of W. C. Fields in 1911 when he was 31 to determine if William Rexford Morris Fields is the late film comedian's "love child."

The photographs were produced as evidence in the legal tug-of-war over the comedian's estate in which eight litigants are fighting for a share in the fortune.

In another development, the attorney of Carlotta Monti, described as a "close friend" of the comedian, challenged legality of Fields' marriage in San Francisco in 1900 to the widow who is seeking a widow's share of the fortune.

Miss Monti also filed formal claimed to a bed and other personal property listed among Fields' effects. The Spanish beauty stated:

"That bed is mine. I bought it especially for comfort. It's an oversized bed. I merely loaned it to Fields for his added comfort when he went to the sanitarium. He died in it. Now I want it back."

Professor A. P. Elkin, anthropologist of Sydney University, with an expert on native dialects and a recording machine, will visit Arnheim Land in Northern Australia, this June, to record Aboriginal dialects, chants and ancient rituals.

Pilot Convicted In Illegal Export Case

BROWNSVILLE, May 11 (AP) — James G. Hurst, former U.S. Air Force pilot, was convicted today of illegally exporting an A-20 attack bomber to help Nicaraguan rebels.

Federal Judge Allen B. Hannay found Hurst guilty and said he would pass sentence tomorrow morning. The flier waived jury trial.

Hurst, former Miami resident now a pilot for a Columbian air line, testified he took the bomber from Los Angeles to Guatemala City early last year to aid the revolutionary forces of Gen. Emiliano Chamorro. The 77-year-old Conservative party leader has organized 16 unsuccessful attempts to unseat Dictator-General Anastasio (Tacho) Somosa of Nicaragua.

Withdrew From Plot

The stocky, composed pilot testified, however, that after flying the plane to Guatemala City, he withdrew from the plot cooked up by enemies of Somosa. Hurst said he made a full report to U. S. officials. He admitted he had attended the plotters' meetings.

Hurst was charged with illegally exporting the Douglas-made plane through the Rio Grande Valley International airport here on Jan. 1, 1948. The indictment charged that he and Carl F. Marquard, now believed to be in a California hospital, exported the plane to Guatemala without a license from the secretary of state as required by U. S. neutrality regulations.

thing," Moore angrily told a reporter when asked for comment on Gen. Burns letter.

Moore is author of the rent decontrol bill.

"It's high time the people of Texas and the nation stop long enough to analyze the actions of any official in Washington who commands Army and Navy officials to influence legislation in this state or any other state, because that's exactly how Hitler and Stalin rose to power."

"I'm not only amazed but I'm alarmed whenever the executive department issues orders and commands to Army or other military officers to come down to the legislature of Texas to intimidate and try to force their edicts down the throats of the people," he added.

Housing Problem Cited

Burns, in his statement, declared:

"The most real factor that faces us day by day is the lack of adequate housing and personnel. The absolutely inadequate housing for which our men are paying terrific prices is a large factor in why we lose our trained personnel.

Moore also jumped Bill McCraw, state American Legion commander, on his participation in the fight over the decontrol bill. McCraw issued a statement Monday demanding that a public hearing be held before further action is taken on the measure, which has been passed on second reading in the House.

"I'm getting fed up with uninformed people like McCraw in Dallas saying what the veterans are for," Moore said vehemently. "Veterans from all over Texas, have volunteered to appear before legislative committees endorsing decontrol of rent in Texas."

$15 Million In Bonds For Texas Schools May Go On Sale June 23

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP) — Bonds totaling $15,000,000 for two Texas institutions probably will be marketed June 23, Dudley K. Woodward, jr., chairman of the University of Texas Board of Regents, said yesterday.

Proceeds of a $10,000,000 issue would go to the University of Texas and of a $5,000,000 loan to Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college.

An amendment to the Texas constitution authorized the two bond issues and such an additional issue of bonds as would be supported by a special five-cent tax, proceeds of which would go to 14 other educational institutions in the state. Size of the third issue have been estimated at a minimum of $15 000 000.

Woodward came to New York to attend to preliminary details in connection with the Texas University and A. & M. loans, which are to be sold by competitive bidding.

Abilene Prepares To Observe 702 Days Without Traffic Death

ABILENE, May 11. (AP)—Abilene began preparing today for a big Friday 13th celebration. On that day, if there isn't a slip, the city will count 702 days of no traffic deaths for a national record.

At 4:30 p.m. a 100-unit parade will move through the streets. At 7:30 p.m. there will be a fireworks display at the Blue Sox stadium. There will be square dancing, and a band concert.

At midnight tonight Abilene will have passed 700 deathless days with no deaths in city traffic. That's one day away from the Schenectady, N. Y., record of 701 days for cities in Abilene's population class.

Col. Homer Garrison, of the Texas Department of Public Safety, and George Clark, a member of President Truman's safety committee, will be guests at the Friday celebration.

Polly Riley, Betty Mackinnon Advance In State Golf Tourney

FORT WORTH, May 11. (AP)—Form prevailed Wednesday in the Texas Women's Golf Association state tournament at River Crest country club here as most of the favorites advanced without too much difficulty.

Polly Riley and Betty Mackinnon, generally expected to reach the finals, moved into the quarter finals with a minimum of effort.

Miss Mackinnon of Mount Pleasant, routed Mrs. Lee Christopher of San Antonio 4-3, and Miss Riley stopped Mrs. Nelson Dunn, Dallas 7-5.

Neighbors Plant Crop During Tahoka Farmer's Illness

(Special To The Avalanche)

TAHOKA, May 11 — The spirit of good neighborliness reigned 12 miles west of here today when neighbors of John Jackson gathered to put in his crop.

Mr. Jackson, 60 years of age and ill is unable to do his own planting, so his friends did it for him.

Twenty tractors were at work, with almost double that many neighbors. Mr. Jackson, who is a pioneer Lynn county resident, has been on the farm for the past six or eight years.

The entire neighborhood group brought food into the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Newt Barham and a community lunch was set up there. Mrs. Barham, who is Mr. Jackson's sister, said her brother farms about 500 acres.

New Disputes Rise

ADN in the face of firm resistance.

The Russians also refused to open the border at Hof, in Bavaria, until hours past the official time set for the lifting of the Berlin blockade and Western counter-blockade. They sent back several trucks enroute to Berlin from Herrnburg in the British zone. The trucks were traveling on the highway from Hamburg.

But for the most part the schedule was adhered to with few incidents.

The dispute over the first train dispatched to Berlin came when the Russians insisted that a Soviet zone locomotive and a Soviet zone crew had to pull it to Berlin across the Russian zone from Helmstedt, at the edge of the British zone. The train involved was dispatched by the British military government.

Protest Fails

A U. S. Army railway transport officer at Helmstedt told International News Service:

"The Russians said the train could not go through without their locomotive and crew so we let them have their way.

"They also said no trains will go through without a Soviet locomotive. We protested on the spot but it didn't do any good. If any protests are to be made they will have to be made at a higher level."

The first cars from the West were greeted by cheering German frauleins who carried flowers.

Close behind, trucks and other vehicles raced toward the city with drivers eager to receive promised bonuses from Berlin manufacturers long afflicted by shortages.

Spending Cut Urged

spending down to income is to slash money bills five percent.

Ferguson (R-Mich), one of the authors of the amendment, said he and other economy proponents will "use every parliamentary device possible" to try to cut appropriations.

Doughton said he called at the White House because the President wanted to know how his committee was getting along, particularly on social security legislation.

Administration leaders decided several months ago to put social security legislation ahead of a tax increase. And in response, the ways and means committee has been working on an expanded social security program for months.

Lid Clamped On News

It has completed hearings and has clamped a tight secrecy ban on news as to what it is doing in closed sessions toward writing a bill. Indications are that Doughton gave the President a report on what has been withheld from the public thus far.

Despite the secrecy, committee members have told reporters that the group will reject the President's proposals for federal home relief and disability compensation and approve in part the request for expansion of coverage under the old age pension plan.

Doughton said that in reviewing the committee's legislative program, he discussed tax legislation with the President "in a general way."

He declared that no action whatever is likely until social security legislation is out of the way, and that this will take several weeks. Whether a tax bill will come to the floor after that, he intimated, is highly uncertain.

Three Witnesses Are Heard In Murder Trial Of Doctor

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, May 11. (AP)—Three of the last persons to see Byron C. Hattman alive, testified today at the murder trial of Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, jr., of St. Louis.

They were Kenneth L. Ebershoff and Arthur L. Luebs, business acquaintances, and Paul Stockberger, operator of a parking garage across from the Roosevelt hotel where Hattman was stabbed to death last December 14.

Stockberger testified for the prosecution that Hattman, 29, a St. Louis electrical engineer, took his car to the garage between 5 and 6 p.m.

The state charges that when Hattman reached his room, Dr. Rutledge had lain in wait since 2 p.m.; that he jumped on Hattman, stabbed him to death and fled with all the money in Hattman's wallet.

Break-Up Of GOP Party Meet Denied

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—Reports of an abrupt break-up of a Republican parley on finances were met with a denial today by GOP Chairman Hugh Scott that any hard feelings were involved.

Other persons in a position to know said a three-member party finance committee walked out of headquarters here last week in a huff after Scott had kept them cooling their heels more than an hour before seeing them.

The committee members were James Kemper, Republican national treasurer, Harold Talbott, national finance chairman and Thomas Coleman, Wisconsin state finance director.

The group already has written a report cutting the party's $900,000 budget for the year at least 15 percent. Kemper may call finance members together in Chicago Friday for action on the budget cuts.

Scott said there is nothing to the story of a disagreement between him and the committee members. He said there was only a "slight delay" in seeing the members, occasioned by the visit of Gov. Frank Carlson of Kansas to the GOP chairman's office.

Boy 'Doesn't Know' If He Killed Girl

ROANOKE, Va., May 11. (INS)—Lee (Buddy) Scott, choir boy and athlete accused of the Roanoke church-kitchen slaying of pretty Dana Marie Weaver, was revealed today to have told his father that he "didn't know" whether he killed the girl.

Garrett Scott, Roanoke business man, said that his son told him shortly after being taken into custody:

"I don't know what happened. I went over to the church Sunday night but I don't know if I hit her or not. I don't even know whether I saw her."

Young Scott, who like the murder victim is 16, was arrested in his classroom at Jefferson High school yesterday after he jokingly told friends he was the slayer of the delicately beautiful blonde schoolgirl.

Detectives said when classmates "kidded" Scott about deep scratches on his face and told him police were looking for a "scratched-up" suspect in the Weaver murder, he replied:

"Yeah, I killed her. Why don't you turn me in to the police?"

An informant reported this to police headquarters by telephone and the lad, a member of the high school wrestling team, an Eagle scout and a brilliant student, was arrested.

The secretary is leaving by plane May 20 for Paris to attend the foreign ministers' conference.

He said "we are where we are" because of the performance of the "operation vittles" pilots and crews.

German Problem Remains

He declared that these men, together with their British and French colleagues, "have for 10 months around the clock been carrying on a task which required great morale, great discipline and superb courage."

The American pilots and crews he said, have lived up to the best "traditions of our armed services." He added:

"While we are delighted that their efforts have brought the end of the blockade we must not regard that fact alone as having solved the German problem.

"It has contributed greatly toward our being in a position where perhaps after a long period of time we can move forward to a solution.

Germans Congratulated

"The lifting of the blockade puts us again in the situation in which we were before the blockade was imposed. It was an arbitrary and in our view illegal measure.

"It has failed because they (the Russians) have indicated it was unsuccessful and because (of the effect of western counter-measures)."

As further evidence of the West's determination to proceed with establishment of a West German government, he formally congratulated the parliamentary council at Bonn for their work in agreeing on a draft constitution.

This creation of a provisional West German government will provide a strong trump card in their impending meetings with the Russians.

'TALENT SHOW'

Constable To Raid Mock Gaming Den

BANDERA, May 11. (AP)—A lush gambling joint will be raided and smashed here by La Porte Constable Dale Richardson Friday.

The officer, who has been making a name for himself with raids in Houston, telephoned today he was coming here, armed with his trusty baseball bat, and the wreckage will be terrific.

But it will all be a part of the Bandera stampede—a rodeo and cowboy show scheduled Friday and Saturday.

Its sponsors will build a replica of an old-fashioned gambling house for Richardson to wreck—along with the appropriate comments, he said.

Jack Broderick of Medina indicated the idea originated with "some Houstonians." But he insisted the Stompede's sponsors only sat back and waited until Richardson offered today to engage in his favorite pastime—without its usual aftermath of pro and con argument.

The constable, who is being investigated by the Harris county grand jury at Houston, will "wreck the joint" about 3 or 4 p. m. Friday, with a possible repeat performance Saturday.

Federal Officials

known to newsmen, are getting tired of chasing Cadillacs and Chryslers and other heavy high-powered automobiles in small cars the officers have to use.

The bootlegger can't operate such cars without help from the finance companies in most instances, so the board members decided they would "try killing two birds with one stone."

"The best advice to finance companies is to be doubly certain that they are not making loans to a bootlegger," it succinctly was announced "They may lose more money from time to time."

Automobile Seized

Federal authorities said in pointing up what can be done that U. S District Judge Atwell the other day in Abilene sent a bootlegger to Leavenworth for 15 months for carrying on a business as retail liquor dealer without having paid the prescribed special tax and, in addition, seized his powerful new automobile.

At Wichita Falls recently a La Salle that had been driven only 700 miles and which actually never had had even a pint of liquor in it was confiscated, they said. What happened was this, as brought out in court: The car allegedly had "piloted" another car that was transporting illicit liquor.

Other cars confiscated, according to Thomas W. Noe, Amarillo investigator of the ATU, and Poplin were: A 1941 Chrysler, a 1941 Ford, a 1947 Chrysler, and a 1947 Chevrolet.

One Is Sentenced

The complaints were sworn to by William A. Deen, ATU agent.

McKaskle indicated he wanted to waive indictment. Hodges' bond was returnable instanter.

Hodges and G. Fore, 30, also of Lubbock, were placed under $750 bond Wednesday in county court on liquor law violation charges that they had sold alcoholics. Hodges also is under seven similar charges in that jurisdiction, Fore under five others, County Attorney Waggoner Carr said.

They pleaded innocent in each of the cases.

Herman Hudgeons, 24, Lubbock business man, pleaded guilty of liquor law violation and was fined $350 and court costs, Carr said.

House Okays Plan For Federal Storage Of Farm Commodities

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The House today passed legislation authorizing the government to provide storage bins for farm commodities.

In debate before the vote, a 1948 election issue was fought again. Just as in last fall's campaign, Democrats and Republicans blamed each other for failing to see to it that there were enough storage facilities for grain.

The Senate has passed a bill similar to the one the House approved. Minor differences now will have to be adjusted.

The House measure empowers the Commodity Credit corporation to acquire storage facilities for crops on which it makes loans to support farm prices. Before the CCC could provide storage, it would have to decide there was a scarcity of privately-owned storage.

ACTRESS GETS BONDS

HOLLYWOOD, May 11 (INS)—Actress Olga San Juan today picked up $16,000 worth of government bonds held by the court for her from film earnings until she reached legal age. The actress recently celebrated her 22nd birthday.

Chas A. Guy Is Selected As State's Outstanding Editor

(By The United Press)

LAREDO, May 11 — Chas. A. Guy, editor of the Lubbock Avalanche - Journal, was chosen today as the outstanding editor in Texas by a committee headed by Mayor Hugh S. Cluck and invited to attend the Streets of Laredo's Founding Fiesta May 15-16 as an honor guest.

The committee which selected Guy was composed of representatives of the Laredo Times, South Texas Citizen and Chamber of Commerce. It made its selection after a state-wide survey of Texas.

Guy was informed of his selection in a long distance telephone call this morning by Mayor Cluck and accepted the invitation to attend the founding fiesta. He and Mrs. Guy will arrive in Laredo Saturday afternoon.

"We think we have expressed the sentiment of the entire Texas newspaper profession in selecting Chas. A. Guy as our state's outstanding editor and publisher, Mayor Cluck stated. "We feel he is the type of man the Founding Fathers of Laredo would have selected to operate their town's newspaper when Laredo was first founded 194 years ago."

EDITOR VERY PLEASED AT LAREDO HONOR

Guy said here Wednesday that he was "flabbergasted, but, of course, very pleased" over his selection and that he and Mrs. Guy were "very happy to accept the kind invitation of the people of Laredo."

They will fly to the border city early Saturday and return to Lubbock by plane late Monday to permit the Lubbock editor to fill a previously accepted speaking engagement Monday night.

The Avalanche-Journal editor said that while he realizes the honor bestowed by Laredo is undeserved and more properly should have gone to any one of many other Texas editors, he "appreciates more than I can say the designation bestowed by Mayor Cluck and his fellow citizens."

PROFITABLE FARM IS SEEN

Lubbock Residents Turn To New Profession With Chinchillas

The Johnie Turpens of 1519 Thirty-second have two new additions to the family, and most interesting newcomers they are.

They are two chinchillas, among the world's most prized fur-bearing animals. Speaking figuratively, the Turpens are all wrapped up in chinchillas.

The new additions will soon be having little additions of their own, and the Turpens hope they will be well on the way to having a chinchilla farm in a neat masonry building behind their home.

These are costly little animals and not to be confused with Chinchilla rabbits, from which imitation chinchilla coats are made.

Many Pelts Required

The unbelievably fine fur which these rodents wear is highly sought after for its beauty and lightness. A square yard of chinchilla fur weighs virtually the same as a square yard of silk.

A full-length fur coat would require 350 pelts and might cost $30,000 or more. A jacket of 100 pelts averages $10,000.

Although the chinchilla is a native of the Andes mountains in South America, it was imported to this country about 1920 and growers in the United States and Canada have been successful in raising them commercially.

The Turpens, who first moved here in 1928 and then went to the West Coast to work in a Portland, Ore., shipyard from 1941 to 1947, became fascinated by the chinchilla industry during their residence in the West.

Climate Here Ideal

When they returned to Lubbock they made plans for chinchilla raising here which they are just now carrying out. The first two animals arrived by air express from the West Coast this week and eight others are to arrive later.

Mr. and Mrs. Turpen are going to represent a large distributor of chinchillas, Allied Distributors, Inc., and they plan to sell the animals commercially also.

"The climate here is ideal for raising chinchillas, and the food bill is $2.50 per year," Turpen said.

The first investment is the rub—it costs from $800 to $2,500 to buy a pair of animals. But the first litter of two will give the raiser a mighty good chance to get his money back.

"They are clean and no trouble at all," Turpen commegts.

The little pearl-gray animals appear to be intelligent, with big bright eyes and a long tail. They are very active and race about their individual cages when they are not hiding in a "doghouse."

They live and bear for as long as 12 years, but the average life is about seven years.

Mrs. Turpen takes womanly interest in them as she proudly strokes the delicate fur. "There are 80 hairs to each tuft of fur," she explains.

Chinchilla furs, she says, are widely used to decorate satin gowns. The color changes somewhat as the tufts are stroked in different directions. Chinchilla fur moves in any direction — you can't stroke it "the wrong way." It is almost never dyed since its natural color is so beautiful.

Born With Eyes Open

Furriers estimate they will purchase from eight to fifteen million pelts a year when they become available. At present it is estimated there are only 50,000 animals in the United States and Canada, the two largest commercial chinchilla producing countries in the world.

"We tattoo each animal on the ear for identification," Mrs. Turpen says. "The adult animals weigh 22 ounces, the female is somewhat larger than the male, and the new babies, which are born fully furred and with eyes open, only weigh an ounce and a half to two ounces at birth. They nurse 45 to 60 days."

The animals can't stand temperatures above 89 or 90 degrees, so their cages should be air conditoned.

As for diet, it goes something like this. They drink water out of a glass tube, eat four raisins a a week, a slice of apple or two a week, a little greenery such as alfalfa, and "chinchilla chips," a special cereal made of wheat, oats and corn and fortified with vitamins. All that costs about $2.50 a year, per animal.

Strangely enough, the Turpens haven't chosen pet names for their animals.

"We just call them M-39 and M-22, their birth registration numbers," she said.

And does she plan to have a genuine chinchilla coat one of these days?

"No, I just want to raise them for other people," she smiles.

Fight Against Philippines Rebels Carried Into Manila

MANILA, May 11. (INS) — The Philippine government campaign against Hukbalahap rebels swung into Manila itself today while other forces continued the main drive in the central Luzon jungles.

A group of insurgents was reported to have infiltrated into the Philippine capital to go into hiding.

At the same time a force of 1,000 constabularymen launched an attack on the largest Huk encampment in Nueva Ecija province, the center of the fighting in the Luzon wilds. Casualties were said to be high in the fierce battling.

The all-out drive against the Huks was ordered after Mrs. Aurora Quezon, widow of the Philippines' first president, was slain by Huks in a highway ambush.

House Approves Third Major Money Bill

$50 Million Set For Departments

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 11 — The House finished its third major money bill tonight, passing the $50 million departmental appropriation, 124-8.

For two days economy forces had sought to cut the bill. It came out in the end with about $1,102,344 cut from the original figure.

The biggest hunks came by knocking out all appropriations for two commissions—the State Aeronautics commission and the State Veterans Affairs commission—and cutting out maintenance funds in the Health department.

Health Bureau Affected

Maintenance funds for the health department were reduced by $622,000 for the next two-year period. The cut was approved in adoption of an amendment by Rep. Leslie King of Vernon.

The appropriations was boosted $10,000 for the two-year period when the House adopted an amendment requiring all state cars to be put into a state car pool. The Department of Public Safety and branch offices would be exempted. Members said the pool should cut out some of this "joy-riding" in state automobiles.

Agency Abolished

The House shaved off $449,728 when it knocked out all appropriations for the State Veterans Affairs commission, thus abolishing that agency. Vote on the amendment was 63-61.

The legislators also eliminated one stenographer from the National Armory board, nicking off $2,100 a year. But they added $25,000 a year for the secretary of state to print proposed constitutional amendments. This was explained as a necessary appropriation.

Rep. Sid Gregory of Gatesville offered the amendment to cut out funds for the Veterans Affairs commission.

"It's just a big, fat pork barrel," he charged. "Everything it does already is being done by private agencies."

Solon Defends VAC

Rep. Abraham Kazen, jr., of Laredo, disagreed, saying that the VAC dispenses with red tape and gets the job done in the shortest time possible in settling claims for veterans.

Yesterday the House gouged $64,000 out of the bill when it eliminated funds for the State Aeronautics commission.

Earlier today the House got a controversial measure off its hands, sending the oil unitization bill on to the governor.

The Senate passed one House bill, tabled another and then quit for the day. The House scheduled an afternoon session.

The unitization bill, already approved by the Senate, passed the Growing Markets, Plentiful Materials Draw Plants

South Develops Industrially

WASHINGTON, May 11. (AP) — Growing markets, plentiful raw materials, and labor supply — in that order—are rapidly developing the South into "one of the nation's leading manufacturing regions," the National Planning association reported today.

"Cheap labor" is not, as widely believed, a significant factor in the postwar movement of industry into southern states, said a report of the association's 56-member committee of the South.

"The supply of labor, low labor turnover and low absenteeism, and satsifactory labor attitudes were more important to the companies studied than the South's allegedly cheap labor," the report declared.

Discussions Analyzed

The committee analyzed the discussions of 88 large corporations which have located new industries in 13 southern states since the war's end.

E. W. Palmer, president of the Kingsport Press, Inc., Kingsport, Tenn., is chairman of the committee. The director of research is Calvin B. Hoover, Duke university economist.

Forty-five percent of the companies reported that closeness to good consumer and industrial markets was the major factor in their decision; 30 percent named available materials; 25 percent were influenced by labor supply.

Transportation costs, a climate which permits cheaper construction, the presence of local capital to help expansion, and favorable tax rates were among secondary considerations, the analysis showed.

The National Planning association is a non-government, non-profit organization which attempts to develop economic and social programs by bringing together leaders of industry, labor, agriculture, government and the professions. The present 32-page booklet, "New Industry Comes to the South" will be followed by other committee studies of the South's economy and in June by a book, "Why Industry Moves South."

Texas Leads Expansion

Industrial expansion in the South since the war has exceeded even the wartime growth led by the steel, aluminum, aircraft, shipbuilding and other "munitions" industries, the committee said. In 1946 Texas, Georgia, Tennessee and Virginia were among the five leading states in industrial construction contracts of $1,000,000 or more.

For purposes of its study, the committee listed those four and ten other states as "the South"—Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, South Carolina and Oklahoma.

Although the South represents only 19 percent of the national income and 27 percent of the population, its growing demand for consumer goods has been buoyed by rising purchasing power. The gain in income payments was 187 percent from 1940 to 1947, while the whole country was gaining 150 percent, the study revealed.

The survey indicated that companies running plants in both North and South pay roughly the same wage rates in cites of equivalent size.

With respect to negroes, the report states:

"It is clear that they are doing less skilled work and rarely on the same jobs as white workers."

Grain sorghum will feed a new corn products refining plant at Corpus Christi. Cheap natural gas has attracted many industries, including the federal government's tin smelter at Texas City, Texas.

RANKIN DENOUNCES MEASURE

House Group Okays Pensions For Unemployed Veterans Over 65

By BARNEY LIVINGSTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Pensions of $72 a month for the low-income, unemployable veteran over 65 were approved today by a sharply divided House Veterans committee.

Chairman Rankin (D-Miss), who sought unsuccessfully in March to get pensions of $90 a month for all aged veterans, angrily denounced restrictions in the new bill as a "blow" to many ex-servicemen.

But Rep. Teague (D-Tex), a wounded and much-decorated World War II veteran said the employability qualification was the only reasonable approach.

Restrictive Clause Okayed

The new proposal for the most part simply liberalizes and writes into a general pension law already existing discretionary regulations of the Veterans administration.

Committee estimates put at around $10,000,000,000 the increased benefits which would be added to current government outlays for all forms of veterans benefits during the next 50 years.

The committee approved, by a reported 14-8 division, a restriction offered by Rep. Teague denying pensions to veterans able to work more than half their normal time. This proviso follows present VA regulations.

Although the bill originally omitted the unemployability limitation, the committee voted to include it at the last minute when cost figures indicated its omission would add another $20,000,000,000 to the total.

To be eligible for a pension under the bill, a veteran must have an income of less than $1,000 if single or $2,500 if he has dependents. The bill liberalizes present VA figures by increasing from $1000 to $1200 the income limit for unmarried veterans.

Pensions of $72 a month would go to any veteran at age 65 who met the employability and income qualifications.

Helpless veterans requiring an attendant would get $100 a month.

REPORT IS DENIED

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 11. (INS)—H. E. Anderson, master mechanic with the Santa Fe railroad, today denied rumors that the Santa Fe's shops and roundhouse at Las Vegas were to be closed. Anderson said, "There may be a slight reduction in personnel," but declared that "the shops and roundhouse definitely will continue in operation at Las Vegas."

Test Slated On Snyder Wildcat

Prospects of another Canyon-Pennsylvanian strike in the Snyder area have been developed at Hiawatha Oil & Gas company No. 1 L. M. Wilson, southwest Scurry county wildcat, between the Canyon production of the Diamond M and Sharon Ridge-Canyon fields.

The prospector cut a core from 6,750 feet to 6,761½ feet, recovering seven and one-half feet of lime with good fluorescence and odor and six inches of black shale.

A drillstem test then was taken to the bottom of the core hole with packer at 6,746 feet and with the tool open one hour and 20 minutes. A good blow of air reached the top immediately, followed by gas in five minutes.

No Water

Recovery was 180 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud and 6,200 feet of clean oil. There was no water.

On last report, operator was reaming to bottom, preparing to run a Schlumberger survey and set pipe for production tests.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 183, block 97, H&TC survey, about 12 miles southwest of Snyder.

Pacific Western Oil Corporation was conditioning mud preparatory to drillstem testing in the Devonian with its No. 1 Oil Development, wildcat between the Seminole and Russell fields in northwest Gaines county.

Total depth was 11,535 feet. A drillstem test was attempted on that bottom, but packer slipped and stuck. Packer has been recovered and re-set.

Oil, Gas Signs Found

Location is 600 fet from south and east lines of section 315 block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

Slight signs of oil and gas were developed at The Ohio Oil Company No. 1 Emery, northwest Kent county wildcat, 15 miles southwest of Spur, and 1,980 feet from north and 819 feet from east lines of section 39, block 2, H&GN survey.

The shows came in a one-hour drillstem test of a lime formation at 6,170-80 feet There was a strong blow of air at the surface for 27 minutes, and a light surge of air for the next 15 minutes, and it then died.

Recovery was 210 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud. No signs of water were reported. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was zero. Shutin bottom hole pressure, after 15 minutes was 2,525 pounds. The venture is to make more hole.

It is understood that horizon now being penetrated is likely in

MODERN FACILITIES DENIED

Taos Indians Continue To Follow Old Ways, Visitors Here Report

By OPAL DIXON
Avalanche Staff Writer

"THEY would be short of the water."

That terse statement by Don Antonio Lujan, Indian from Taos reservation at Taos, N.M., who visited in Lubbock Wednesday, summed up the reason the Indians continue to go down to the Taos river for water for drinking, for laundry and for bathing instead of piping water into their homes.

The Indian women continue to wash clothes in the river, at a point where the supply used for drinking water will not be poluted.

Would Hit Supply

They have not risked the modern convenience of piping water into their homes, because increased use of water might endanger their precious water supply, which is a spring of life to them since it must be depended upon to irrigate the crops which provide food to eat and sometimes extra products to sell.

A young Indian veteran who returned from World War II with a desire for the modern convenience of piped water caused a ripple in the complacent custom of going to the river for water when publicity was given to his request. The council refused the request, however, and the Indians still have no water and no electricity in their homes.

"We don't care about having water. We have been living there many years without it," Lujan said.

Can It Afford Power

As for electricity, maybe the young people would like to have it, "but they can't. They are poor. They can't afford it," he said.

Lujan visited in Lubbock with a group of Indians that danced Wednesday night at Ko Shari club program at the W. G. McMillan home on Levelland road. Other members of the group were Alfred Lujan, George Archuleta, Lupe Sandoval, Trinidad Archuleta and Joe Suazo.

The Indians visited in the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Holden, 3105 Twentieth, before going to the event at the McMillan home.

Lujan has spent winters in New York and during his stays there has taught in the Museum of Natural History.

He is the husband of Mabel Dodge Lujan, widely known writer. They were married in 1918.

Request Is Turned Down

Lujan and other Indians with him courteously answered questions, but Lujan reminded,

"We are not council men. We can just tell you what we know."

Discussions Fail To Clarify Atlantic Pact Defense Setup

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Discussion in the Senate Foreign Relations committee designed to clarify the type of European defense under the Atlantic pact serves, instead to further befog it.

It is obvious, as Senator Vandenberg said, that there will be no "Maginot" type defense, no vast Allied army dug in along the iron curtain, no American mobilization in Europe.

Likewise, James P. Warburg, former New York banker and an expert in international affairs, is right in saying that Europe expects the U. S. to meet any attack at its source and seek to prevent the occupation of western Europe.

Warburg says a policy committing the United States to "avenge and liberate" is one thing, and that an attempt to prevent invasion is another thing which he does not favor.

Yet he also says it is "folly" to believe the French, Belgians and Dutch would fight a delaying action for the benefit of the U. S. and Britain if they knew in advance that their countries would be occupied. And that seems as much as saying that, without American help in stopping an attack at the source, the pact is no good.

The Atlantic pact commits the United States and the other signatories to aid each other by war or measures short of war, and in such theatre, no less. The type of defense to be planned is not a part of the pact, but of the corollary rearmament program.

It should also be remembered that the pact is designed less to prepare for war than to prevent war by presenting a united front of the western nations which it would be folly for anyone to attack.

This makes the type of defense of minor importance as compared with the idea that defense certainly will be made.

Profitable Manufacture Of Gas From Coal Reported Uncertain

WASHINGTON, May 11 (Special)—Rep. Lindley Beckworth said here today that there still remains a question of whether gasoline can be manufactured from coal profitably on a commercial scale.

He is a member of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee which has just returned from an inspection of the synthetic fuel plant at Louisiana, Mo., as guests of Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug.

Beckworth cited the fact that foreign talent had been brought in to assist the United States in the pilot plant but also paid tribute to American know-how in concocting ingenious devices themselves to add to the industry.

Now, he said, between two and three hundred barrels is being produced daily. A plant big enough to produce 10,000 barrels is needed for profitable commercial use.

American Spice Trade Group Holds Convention In Chicago

CHICAGO, May 11 (INS)—The boys are really peppering it up this week in Chicago — at the 43rd annual American Spice Trade association's convention—and it's enough to make your eyes water.

Seems that those tantalizing flavors you've been tasting for years aren't real. Charles F. Mayer, convention chairman, revealed that you taste only sweet and sour. Pepper, sage, thyme, marjoram, savory, mace and celery seed? Nothing but odors.

To prove it, Mayer said, hold your nose while chewing Peppermint gum. You won't taste a thing.

Dutchmen 'Taken' By Indians In First U.S. Real Estate Swindle

By LEO TURNER
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, May 11 — The Indians who sold Manhattan to the Dutch for $24 put over a fast one.

They didn't even own it. They were Canarsie Indians from Brooklyn.

The gold-covered founders book of the new 85-piece Brooklyn Symphony orchestra tried to absolve the Brooklyn Indians today for their part in the deal. The surviving redskins resented being [illegible]

In fact, there is a move afoot a[illegible]ooklyn's red men to obsc[illegible] Columbus Day as a day of national mourning.

Indians Give Story

Here's the story of the purchase of Manhattan island the way the Indians tell it:

It seems that in 1613 a party of Dutchmen under Capt. Adrian Block were about to sail for home with a cargo of valuable furs bought from the Indians.

Howsoever, the good ship Tiger caught fire and sank.

(The Canarsies built fires by rubbing two sticks together.)

The Dutchmen swam ashore and spent the winter on what is now the tip of Manhattan island.

Canarsies Get Wampum

(The Miami Indians' Chamber of Commerce was rather inactive that winter.)

Come spring, and Peter Minuit set out with 60 guilders ($24) and put over a big real estate deal with the Indians in a village called Werpos.

Now, records show that a village named Werpos stood at the present site of Baltic and Hoyt streets in Brooklyn (where it is pronounced "Hert street" as in "Moitle got hoit on Hert street.")

They were Canarsie Indians.

The Manhattan Indians, who were a branch of the Canarsies, moved up the river to Nyack. There is no record of them paying a single piece of wampum for that area.

'WHISTLE STOP' FEUD CONTINUES

Electra Residents To Turn Out To Welcome Fast Train Friday

ELECTRA, May 11 (AP)—It looks as if everybody in Electra is going to turn out to meet the Fort Worth and Denver railroad's Zephyr Friday.

It will look like a typically Texas welcome. Ladies will pass out doughnuts and coffee — and even flowers—to all passengers.

Two bands will be on hand. The fire department will turn out, in uniform. Also in uniform will be local VFW and Legion post members. There'll be two public address systems.

Not Friendly Move

It may look friendly, but it isn't. Electra is resorting to the court of last appeal—public opinion.

The Fort Worth and Denver, says Mayor T. Leo Moore, wants to make Electra a "whistle stop."

The railroad claims there isn't enough business here to warrant regular stops. The Texas Railroad commission first cancelled its plans to make Electra and several other small towns "conditional stops." But earlier this week the commission reversed itself. It gave FW&D the go ahead on its "whistle stop" plans.

Quickly the Electra city council passed a "four barreled" ordinance (the town of Chillicothe, Tex., liked the way the ordinance reads, and passed it too. And Mayor Joe Jones of Clarendon said his city would join Electra in its battle. Chillicothe and Clarendon are both on the "whistle stop" list.)

Among other things, the ordinance requires the trains to slow down to 15 miles per hour within city limits, employment of flag men at every crossing, limit obstruction of crossings by trains to five-minute periods, and provide for regular inspection of train toilets by the city health officer.

Fort Worth and Denver officers tussled with Electra last year over similar issues—and dropped their "whistle stop" plans in the face of a similar Electra four-barreled ordinance.

This time the railroad isn't talking. But before the Railroad commission swung over to their side, the railroad did make some pained statements. It said the days of fast trains are gone if every little town can make them stop.

How is Electra going to make the train stop Friday? Well, Mayor Moore has arranged for a passenger to climb aboard when it leaves Fort Worth. The train has to stop when it has a passenger destined for Electra.

Today Mayor Moore issued a proclamation. Friday will be "whistle stop memorial day" in Electra. He wants all citizens to turn out to greet the Zephyr.

Mayor Jones and two Clarendon Chamber of Commerce officials, W. S. Whaley and Lee Bell, today presented a brief to a representative of the State Railroad commission. In it they gave their reasons why Clarendon objects to the commission ruling making it a "whistle stop."

Funeral Services Are Slated Today For Resident Of Spade

SPADE, May 11. (Special)—Funeral services for Mrs. Maggie Bell Branner, 73, will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday in a Spade church.

The definite site had not been announced, Bryan McDonald & Son Funeral home said, however it will be either in the Methodist or Baptist church here.

Burial will be in Littlefield cemetery under the direction of McDonald.

Mrs. Branner died at 10 a.m. today in her home near here, after a lengthy illness. She had been a resident of this area for the last 22 years.

Survivors include three sisters, Mrs. A. W. Shropshire of Houston, Mrs. Ben Gann of Anton and Miss George Branner of Spade; and two brothers, Ben and C. D. Branner, both of Spade.

DEAD END STUFF

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.) — Mrs. H. C. Briffin sees a lot of freak accidents because she lives at the end of a dead end street. One of the oddest came when a passenger car which had swerved into a ditch was hauled out by a wrecker and then had to tow the wrecker back to town when it broke down.

Texas Court Upholds Two Death Sentences

AUSTIN, May 11 (U.P.) — The Court of Criminal Appeals today upheld two death penalties, one for murder and the other for rape.

The appellant court denied a new trial for General Kerzee, a 57-year-old Dallas negro, who was found guilty of murdering Gladys Scott, a 38-year-old Dallas negro woman, on June 11, 1948.

Kerzee had appealed for a new trial because one of the jurors on his case had taken ill during a noon meal and was tended by a physician. He contended that the juror talked with an outside person during the trial.

Lower Court Upheld

However, the lower court was upheld and the appellant court judges stated:

"We are of the opinion that the facts and circumstances proved by the state, together with his confession, is ample evidence to sustain his conviction."

A death penalty was also upheld on the case of William Wilson, jr., a Houston negro, found guilty of raping a married woman.

Wilson contended he was illegally held and that a confession taken during that time was inadmissible as evidence.

However, the appellant court held that "there is no evidence that he was mistreated during the time he was being questioned. All of the evidence is to the contrary. . ."

"In view of all the evidence," the court said, "no reasonable mind could doubt the guilt of appellant."

BLOWN TO SAFETY

HARRINGTON, Me. (U.P.) — Young Carleton Frye blew a party of eight fishermen to safety when they became lost in a fog. When searching boats could find no trace of the fishing party, Frye took his trumpet and began blowing. The lost fishermen heard the trumpet and followed its sound to safety on the shore.

Colorado Woman Is Slain As Father, Son Battle Prowler

TRINIDAD, Colo., May 11. (INS) A 50-year-old woman died today in Mt. San Rafael hospital in Trinidad shortly after she had been wounded by a bullet from the gun of a prowler who attempted to set fire to her home at Jansen, three miles west of Trinidad.

The woman, Mrs. Domenic Maucione, was watching from a window while her husband and her son, Mike, engaged in a gun battle with the intruder.

Maucione told Sheriff Felix Garcia that he and his son heard the prowler early this morning, took their guns, and went after him.

Mrs. Maucione, kneeling at a window to watch, was struck by a bullet from a revolver.

Father and son went to her aid, and the prowler fled toward the highway.

A can of kerosene was found at an outside corner of the house. Maucione said the attempt at arson was the second in recent days.

5 doctors prove this plan breaks the laxative habit

If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop!

Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three per cent of the cases tested did it. So can you.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead: Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then—nothing!

Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Pills "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers.

Further—Carter's Pills contain no habit-forming drugs.

Break the laxative habit . . . with Carter's Pills . . . and be regular naturally.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears — how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Mrs. M. C. Britton, 306 W. Wildwood, San Antonio, Texas, writes us as follows: "I am a faithful user of Barcentrate. I had dieted for weeks without your product and needed so badly to lose 10 pounds, so I started using Barcentrate and my worry was over for I lost the 10 pounds in 10 days. I now weigh 136 pounds.

"I eat most anything I want and hold my same weight."

OPPOSITION TO POLICY GAINS

Acheson Reaffirms U.S. Intent To Hold Up Recognition Of Spain

WASHINGTON, May 11 (U.P.) — Secretary of State Dean Acheson indicated today that the United States will not grant full diplomatic recognition to Spain until she is accepted as a full partner by the free nations of Europe.

Acheson told a news conference that the Franco government does not recognize the basic freedoms essential to any member of the free nations of the world.

He made the statement in the midst of growing congressional demands that the United States exchange ambassadors with Spain.

Connally Blasts Policy

Latest to join in that demand are the two top foreign policy leaders in Congress — Chairman Tom Connally, (D-Tex) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee and Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Mich., ranking Republican member of the committee.

Connally, in an open break with the administration on U. S. policy toward Spain, said yesterday he could "see no reason" why this government should not give Spain full diplomatic recognition.

Vandenberg echoed that view today, saying there is "no reason why we should not have an ambassador to Spain" since we have one in Moscow.

The United States has not had an ambassador in Madrid since 1946, but it does maintain diplomatic relations through a charge d'affaires.

Closer Ties Opposed

Acheson told his news conference that the sending of an ambassador to Madrid would be of no importance except as a symbol.

He said the United States would abstain from voting on a United Nations resolution to restore full diplomatic relations with Spain because the issue is largely a western European family matter. Britain and France have been outspokenly opposed to closer ties with the Franco government.

Acheson said Franco Spain does not recognize the rights of habeas corpus, trial by jury, religious freedom and political association. He said these fundamental basic rights of the individual, which make the difference between free Europe and the iron curtain countries, do not exist in Spain.

Therefore, Acheson said, there cannot be a working relationship between free Europe and Spain while this situation exists. He said that if we resumed full relations without obtaining guarantees of such civil rights, it would be taken as an indication that we do not care about these rights.

Some diplomatic quarters suggested that Connally's blast may have been motivated in part by his concern for the economic welfare of his home state of Texas. Spanish cotton spindles are idle while Texas has a raw cotton surplus.

Texans Tour Spain

Five Texas congressmen who toured Spain last summer came back with a proposal that the Franco government be lent $200,000,000 to buy cotton.

The State department recently granted Spain permission to approach the Export-Import bank for a loan. However, department officials said that all previous U.S. objections to such a loan still exist and there is little chance it will be granted.

These officials said the objections are economic and not political. To get a U.S loan, they said, Franco would have to eliminate certain economic controls which make Spain "a poor risk." There has been no indication to date that Franco has taken steps to meet U.S. objections.

National government expenses now absorb 40 percent of Britain's national income, against 19 per cent thus spent in the United States.

Air Force Announces Successful Test Of New Jet-Rocket Plane

WASHINGTON, May 11. (U.P.)— The Air Force has announced a successful first test flight of its XF-91, a jet and rocket plane designed primarily as an interceptor of bombers and missiles. The plane is believed capable of travelling as fast as sound.

Built by Republic Aviation Corp., Farmingdale, L. I., it stayed aloft 40 minutes Monday at Muroc Air Force base, Calif. The Air Force kept secret the speed, altitude and rate of climb achieved.

OLD SOLDIER STEPS OUT—Sergeant Major George Murphy, of the Irish Guards, 82, tells a dancing partner, Doreen Smith, 21, of his campaigns at Old Time Ball in London.

Eisenhower Meets With Chiefs Of Staff

WASHINGTON, May 11. (U.P.)— Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower returned here today feeling "fine," and immediately conferred with the joint chiefs of staff.

General "Ike" flew here in the old presidential plane, "The Sacred Cow," from Augusta, Ga., where he has been recuperating from a stomach ailment for the past month.

He was tanned and appeared in tiptop shape, in sharp contrast to his weak and wan appearance when he left here March 28. He spent two weeks first at the winter-White House at the Key West, Naval station, at President Truman's personal request. He went to Augusta April 12.

"My doctor came down and examined me last night and said I was better than I have been in years," Eisenhower told reporters.

The former Army chief of staff plans to spend three days here winding up details connected with his temporary job as head of the joint chiefs of staff. Then he will return to New York and the presidency of Columbia university.

He said as he left Augusta that he would spend most of his time from now on at Columbia, but that he would be on call by Defense Secretary Louis Johnson and would go to Washington one day a week if needed.

PUBLIC HEARING SET ON BILLS

Dallas-Fort Worth Civil Service Rivalry Reaches Floor Of House

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, May 11 — Dallas and Fort Worth rivalry came to the floor of the House today in an hour-long tug-of-war over the Civil Service system for policemen and firemen.

They can't say they didn't try —either side. But when they got through the two Civil Service bills were right where they were to begin with—in the Committee on Municipal and Private Corporations.

Public Hearing Set

When it was all over, Rep. John Crosthwait of Dallas, chairman of the Committee on Municipal and Private Corporations, took the floor on personal privileges to say:

"There's been a lot of things said today that weren't true. I give notice right now that my committee is going to hold a public hearing on these bills next Tuesday at 8 p.m. but I'm gonna turn this bill over to the Willis brothers and Casey."

The brothers, Rep. Doyle Willis of Fort Worth and Rep. Phil Willis of Kaufman, had tried to get the bills sent to a more favorable committee. Casey is Rep. Bob Casey of Houston, who stayed out of the fight on the floor today.

Rep. Sam Hanna of Dallas beat everybody to the punch this morning. Right after the morning prayer was over he moved to send the bill to the Labor committee.

Dallas Opposes Bill

"This is really a union bill," Hanna said. "It sets wages. Dallas turned the Civil Service for its policemen and firemen down three to one."

"Well, Fort Worth voted five to one for the Civil Service." Doyle Willis maintained. "Just because Dallas didn't want it is no sign that Fort Worth doesn't either."

The House split almost evenly between the two cities. The last vote, which left the bill in the original committee, was 65-62.

House, 75-54, over objections long and strong.

Foes Blast Measure

Under it, operations in an oil field would be permitted to enter into voluntary agreements for cooperative development of the field.

Opponents argued that this violated the state's anti-trust laws and would hurt the little man.

"I've heard the call of the little man," declared Rep. Tom Cheatham of Cuero. "I've heard the call and I haven't turned a deaf ear like some of the big, fat, sleek, lecherous oil companies. The big companies are not after conservation; they are after regulation of production."

"Anything co-operative in nature has to be an exception to anti-trust laws," replied Rep. Bill Richards of Lockhart. "We believe the courts will hold this unitization a 'reasonable' exception. And I want to emphasize that it can be done for only two reasons—secondary recovery of oil and conservation of gas."

Tax Plan Tabled

Richards sponsored the amended version of the bill which was approved and which he said was a compromise among most of the oil factions concerned.

The Senate tabled a bill by Rep. Bill Jameson of El Paso which would allow cigarette distributors to use a tax meter machine instead of applying tax stamps to each package. Senator James Taylor of Kerens argued that such machines would make tax stamps easier to counterfeit.

Approved by the Senate was a measure to allow counties of 75,000 to 150,000 population to raise the salaries of precinct officers to a maximum of 25 per cent above salary levels in 1935. The bill had been passed by the House but must go back there for consideration of amendments.

Veterans Bill Ready

Ready for House action was a bill exempting Texas veterans who are law school graduates from taking the state bar exams. The House committee on military and veterans' affairs approved the measure last night.

from the Army did so after he had sought to dig a well, but found the water contaminated. The well was located near a sewer line to a day school. The veteran then asked permission to pipe water into his home from the pipe leading to the day school.

Some of the young men of the reservation sided with him. A U.S. government agent from Albuquerque, N.M., went to Taos on request of those wanting permission to pipe water.

What happened?

"They still don't have it,," said Lujan.

In the summer during dry weather, the Indians and the Mexicans divide the water for irrigation. From Friday to about 4 a.m., Mondays, the Mexicans may use it for irrigation. The remainder of the time, the Indians use it for irrigation.

That plan has been followed many years. Lujan does not know how many, but knows the agreement was in effect when he was a child.

Regarding the wish of the young veteran to pipe water, he said, "If one person start it, then they all want it."

GONE NATIVE

Boy's Pet Alligator Lost During Rains

Add to local flood losses: One alligator.

Al, a four-year-old alligator belonging to Bill Davidson, 13, of 2502 Ave. P, apparently was back in his element Saturday morning, after Friday night's high rains had filled the back yard of the Davidson home. So much in his element, in fact, that he hasn't returned since.

Young Davidson, a student in O. L. Slaton Junior High school, saw his pet in the deep waters Saturday morning, but was unable to catch him. And the Louisiana-bred reptile, even though the bayou-like waters have receded, has not been seen since.

Al is approximately one-foot long and (we presume) brown in color. He was purchased by Davidson from a Louisiana reptile farm about a month ago.

If anyone in these parts sees a stray alligator, he can be reasonably sure it's Al, and Davidson would appreciate any information leading to the recovery of his pet.

the Pennsylvanian.

A spread to the San Andres-Permian production of the West Seminole field in west-central Gaines county has been developed at Cities Service Oil company No. 1 Northrup, 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 35, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

A drillstem test in the San Andres at 5,042-5,140 feet made gas in five minutes and flowed oil to tanks for two hours. First hour was gauged for 33 barrels of oil and second hour for 35 barrels.

Operator has set packer at 5,101 feet and was drillstem testing again on same total depth. The well was flowing to pits on last report. It is due to set pipe and complete.

The Atlantic Refining company has plugged and abandoned its No. 1-D-11 University, outpost to the Martin field of southwest Andrews county, on a total depth of 9,110 feet. No shows sufficient for commercial production were encountered.

The dry hole is in section 2, block 11, University survey.

Snake Found Beneath Pavement Of Henderson Business Street

HENDERSON, May 11. (AP)—A rival for Old Rip, the Eastland horned frog that was found in a courthouse corner stone, is a six-foot king snake discovered beneath the pavement of a business street here.

An unidentified passerby pried at a peculiar looking object sticking through a crack in the pavement. When he pulled up a piece of pavement and saw the snake, he departed hurriedly.

Mayor L. H. Reed said he had no idea how long the snake had been there, tightly wedged between the pavement and the concrete base of the busy thoroughfare.

POSSIBILITY OF RECALL FOR SOLONS IN FALL SEEN

Administration Forces Make Plans To Seek Okay On Major Legislation On Schedule In Few Weeks

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 11 — The Truman administration's program began to shape up today toward congressional passage of seven major measures by summer, with possible recall of the lawmakers next fall.

Although democratic leaders wouldn't fix any schedule, there was mounting evidence they hope to ratify the North Atlantic security alliance and write into law six top-flight bills before August 1.

The six measures reported ready for preferential treatment include two passed already by the House.

One restores the original reciprocal trade agreements program without the restrictive amendments tacked on by the GOP-80th Congress. Another gives the President, subject to congressional veto, power to reshuffle government agencies.

Senate-approved bills for a long-range housing program and for $300,000,000 annual federal aid to education are on the House docket.

The administration has made it plain it hopes to obtain approval, before Congress quits this summer, of a substitute for the Taft-Hartley labor law and a measure raising the minimum wage level to 75 cents an hour.

Sandwiched in between would be 14 regular money bills for operation of government departments. Usually subject to little more than routine action, these measures have bumped up against an economy drive which is showing a bit more persistence than these things usually do.

With time growing shorter, administration leaders may have to pass up any final action on such Truman proposals those to broaden social security and to set up a new farm benefit program.

Summer Recess Talked

Also left out of present calculations is the proposal for a $1,450,000,000 foreign arms program.

Proposals of lesser importance, like the House-approved oleo tax repealer, also may be caught in the time squeeze.

Because of the slowness with which the Senate has been acting, som administration supporters hae been talking about a summer recess, with Congress reconvening in October to take up where it left off.

Admission prices will be 15 cents and 35 cents.

Old Dance Hall In Houston Is Destroyed By Raging Fire

HOUSTON, May 11. (U.P.)—A roaring three-alarm fire early today destroyed the "End O' Main" dance hall, one of the city's better-known entertainment spots for 30 years.

The barn-like structure, tinder-dry, was a charred hulk in less than 30 minutes, despite quick work by 18 pieces of fire-fighting equipment and dozens of city firemen and volunteer workers.

Cause of the blaze, discovered at 4 a. m., was not known. Co-owner H. D. Johnston estimated the loss at $30,000.

The sprawling frame building was located just off South Main street, one block east of the Shamrock hotel.

T-Sgt. Douglas E. Stokes Ends Training Course At Guam Base

GUAM, May 11 (Special)—T/Sgt. Douglas E. Stokes, of Lubbock, recently completed a personnel management course under the training section of Marianas Air Materiel area, Harmon Air Force base on Guam.

Major General A. C. Kincaid, commanding the 20th Air Force, was commencement speaker.

Stokes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Stokes, of 302 N. College, Lubbock. His wife, Yvonne, and daughter Linda, reside at 1908 Ave. K, Lubbock.

All-Powerful Nation Able To Maintain Order Would End World Confusion, Educator Says

"The principal reason there is so much confusion in the world today is the lack of a nation powerful enough to maintain order," Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president of Texas Tech, told the Rotary club Wednesday.

"At the present time two nations are vying for that position, the United States and Russia," he said. "Because of this it becomes the responsibility of every American citizen to be 'world-minded'."

Dr. Jones pointed out that we often find ourselves so involved in the middle of the problems today that we cannot see them with the proper perspective. "It's like the old adage, 'you can't see the forest for the trees'," he said.

World Without Order

As he continued Dr. Jones pointed out that throughout history only two great world powers have ever been true keepers of world order. They were Rome and England, he said.

"When Rome fell into decay and ceased to be a guiding force in the world we passed into an era which historians have labeled 'the dark ages.' From 500 B. C. until England defeated the Spanish Armada in 1588, the world was without order," Dr. Jones said.

"This order again ceased to exist at the start of World War II. That is the condition in which we find ourselves today," the speaker added.

"If we are to be the nation that will lead the way out we must establish and maintain high moral principles. We must turn from the demand for more material comforts; sacrifice a little and seek some of the spiritual benefits," Dr. Jones concluded.

Irving Jones Presides

Irving Jones presided over the meeting and the speaker was presented by program chairman Charles A. Guy.

Visiting Rotarians included; Jim Smith, Midland; Walter Craig, Amarillo; Carl Cone, Dallas; Bob Lewis, Midland; Bill Deardorf, Plainview; L. A. Wicks, sr., Ralls; Marvin Simms, Dalhart; Ernest Joiner, Ralls; Rud Swan, Abilene; Herschel Nix, Ft. Worth; Sam Hastings, Van Horn; Houston Smith, Marfa; D. J. Bolch, Lamesa; David McAteer, Spur; Harry Lindsay, Columbus, Indiana; and Fred Schmidt, Stamford, Conn. Schmidt was given a small gift for having come from the greatest distance to maintain his attendance.

Two prominent Mexican business men, Miguel Zaragoza and Carlos Alvarez, were guests from Juarez.

AUSTIN, May 9 (AP)—A $20,000 judgment awarded the state last week against Servel Inc. for violation of Texas' anti-trust laws was paid in full today. Attorney General Price Daniel's office said the $20,000 cashier's check was delivered this morning.

WASTE OF TIME:

Why Hear Wallace?

HENRY A. WALLACE, the deadest of American political ducks, still squawks whenever he can in behalf of his adored Russia. His latest outburst was in opposition to ratification of the North Atlantic treaty during a hearing before the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

Just why congressional committees waste time listening to Wallace defies understanding. The sanctimonious pretense it is because the members want to hear all sides of a question won't hold water.

If committees had time to hear all persons wishing to appear at hearings, the doors should not be closed to Wallace. But the theoretical practice is to listen only to those witnesses who seem likely to throw some additional light on the matter under consideration.

In some way, Wallace usually manages to crash the gates of hearings in which he—and Communist Russia— are interested. He always dishes out the same old baloney. Yet he usually gets the call when practically any other witness, regardless of whom he might be, could contribute more to the deliberations than Henry. Another witness might, at least, say something different —which Wallace hasn't done for years.

The Wallace outbursts probably do no harm. Most Americans ignore them. They are indifferent to anything he may think or say except, perhaps, for the occasional feeling of bored irritation that any congressional committee would allow itself to be used by Henry in his attempts to keep himself and his theories in the public eye.

Not So Serious

THE approval by the State Senate Finance committee of appropriations which, if passed by the legislature, would create a deficit of $54,300,000 probably sounds more ominous than actually is the case.

The committee's action meant merely that the Senate as a whole will be given opportunity to decide what it wants to do about individual appropriation proposals. Most, if not all, the committee members who voted to submit the appropriations bill doubtless will oppose some, or many, of the items when the Senate showdown comes. House and gubernatorial approval also will be necessary before any appropriations actually are made.

The probability borders upon certainty that the measure will be slashed a great deal before it finally is passed. Some of the leading slashers probably will be the committee members who have referred to their colleagues the final decision on items they personally oppose.

The bill finally enacted, in short, will be the work of the entire Legislature, and not of one small committee group. Considering the powers committees often use and abuse in the U.S. Congress, the Texas Senate's method looks mighty good.

And this is one guess that when the Legislature finishes with the appropriations bill, it won't propose a huge deficit. We do not believe the members will allow the splendid record of their present session thus far to be marred by any such action as that.

Involuntary Absenteeism

Island Of Escape

By HUGH LAWRENCE NELSON
Disributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: Four lonely women, selected through a matrimonial club, are guests of Henry Gough Harding, eccentric master of Speare Island, who seeks to create a "New Eden" and new way of life. Four fresh graves on the island terrorize Agnes Firth, one of the women, till it is explained that these are graves of workmen killed by accident. Then Bea Cosgrove and Harding find four fish, staked by crosses on the beach. Bea continues exploring the island and remembers that she must not think of herself as Bea Cosgrove Martin, a wife, but as an unmarried school teacher. She is not here to become Mrs. Harding, but as "an avenger." She has an automatic pistol hidden in the house. Harding does not suspect her, in fact he trusts her and is about to make a revelation concerning the island.)

VIII

BEA felt Harding's stare, knew he was far from as drunk as he pretended. "You might like to see my 'History of Speare Island'."

"Anything you want to show me." She knew she had put the proper unconcern in her voice when he laughed.

"With your training," he said, "you might even work up to assistant historian. Sit at the desk here." He took the leather-bound notebook from a locked drawer and put it down before her, opened to the first page. It was hand written, in neat copperplate script. She read aloud:

"In the year of our Lord, 1567, H. M. S. Lightningbolt, commanded by Sir Rodney Fowlks Speare was blown by a storm into waters unknown to the captain or any of his crew. Land was sighted, yet since dark was at hand, Sir Rodney gave orders for the ship to be hove to until morning.

"By light of day the land was found to be a small island. The currents in the only visible landing place were strong and treacherous, and only a great need for fresh water prompted Sir Rodney to make an attempt to land.

"Three boats loaded with casks, made the effort and two of them succeeded in reaching the beach on the east side of the island. The third was not so successful. It capsized near the entrance of the cove and the crew was seen no more.

"Of the two crews who landed, one made their way up the steep cliffs to a natural spring of sweet water and began immediately the labor of filling the casks.

"The second crew progressed inland, but returned most quickly bringing with them a story of the horror they had heard and seen. They had found a cave, a cave with an arched opening in which was a pile of yellow, gleaming gold—'

"GOLD? Where's the gold? What goes on here?" Lilly Warren demanded from the doorway. Behind her were Agnes and Mabel Jones.

"I'm reading aloud," Bea said.

"Reading?" Lilly said scornfully. "Reading! Well think of that. Come on girls Let's have a drink."

Harding had paid no attention to the interruption so Bea went on.

"But when one of the sailors braver than the rest, approached the pile of precious metal and snatched up a small piece, from the depth of the cave was heard the panting and gasping of the monster guardian of the treasure."

"The terror of the men was so great they would not leave the tiny beach again, and in fact only a small part of the water casks were filled.

"Lured by the piece of gold the sailor had clutched even in his flight Sir Rodney had himself rowed ashore and, since no one would accompany him, went alone to investigate. He did not return. For two days the Lightningbolt lay offshore, until driven before a violent storm.

"Reaching England eventually, the tiny island was given the name of the man it had killed, Speare Island. And the sailors themselves spoke often of the place of the Monster and the Cave of the Gasps—"

Harding interrupted. "How do you like it?" he asked with pretended indifference.

"It—it's very interesting," Bea said carefully.

"I found the cave you mentioned," she added.

"I wondered if you had. I was going to show it to you on our way back up. There really isn't any mystery about it. The cave drops deeply at one end. There is a huge rock, balanced, caught between immovable masses that form a perfect natural hinge. The action of tides in the underground opening to the sea makes the rock swing back and forth, It makes the sound."

"What makes the smell?"

"The smell? There's no smell but the sea."

"It—it really smelt to me like the lair of a wild animal."

Harding chuckled. "Your imagination Or it's possible a sheep might have wandered inside and fallen. That rock moves its top end enough to crush out a life. Now, I'd better fix drinks for the others. Read on if you like."

WHEN she was alone she skimmed quickly through the pages. She read carefully the part which told of Harding's acquisition of the island, his first landing with gangs of men and loads of materials to begin construction work. One paragraph dated only a few months previously called for special attention.

The first accident today. A premature blast caught four workmen, carried them with a mass of rubble down the slope and left them at the cliff foot half in and half out of the water. All quite dead. Stupid fools. How was I to know they did not understand when I told them to get out and set off the blast?

A few pages later she found the entry:

This day I have chosen from the applicants four who might prove worthy to share the life on Speare Island with me. Astonishingly few applied, which I cannot understand. But in a few short

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

Two years ago I pledged myself never to write about religion again.

When ever I did, in came a flood of letters, each one of them provoking an argument, many of them abusive.

To argue about religion is folly.

Religion, as my friend Bishop Ready of Columbus, once told me, when he and I were discussing religion, is faith, not logic.

BRANDEIS

So I refuse to argue about religion.

"Religion is faith," as the Bishop said, and faith may well run contrary to mind.

Faith often compels us to accept tenets that the mind would dismiss as illogical.

Today I shall break my resolution and talk about religion once more.

I have received a great number of letters from men and women who seem to be upset by the recent happenings in two different churches.

"How can a minister go into a civil court to fight the decision of his Bishop?" I am asked.

"How can a priest drag a fight between himself and his superiors out into the public?" many others want to know.

The general opinion of my correspondents seems to be that dirty laundry should not be washed in public.

It is deplorable that these things have happened.

It is doubly deplorable because the ugliness of the disputes seems to have shaken the faith of many deeply religious people.

They are trebly deplorable because religion, which should be synonymous with faith, is the one great factor that has softened the materialism of our age and is the strongest bulwark against Communism.

What is religion? What is faith?

It is not dogma. It is not organization. It is not only belonging to one church or another.

Religion is a way of life.

I have said it time and again, and I repeat it here:

Unless your religion is an integral part of you, you have no religion.

You may worship in the most beautiful church building on Sunday, yet be an atheist.

You may attend the most humble service in a tiny little village chapel or pray at home, yet be deeply religious.

Sunday is merely the day on which you are supposed to strike the balance of the other six days of the week.

It is the day on which you give your accounting to God.

Psalms and prayers must be lived and felt, not just chanted and mumbled.

Christ did not die just so that you may show off your pretty clothes on Easter day.

If Faith is within you; if it is part of you just as much as your body is part of you, then no fights, no disputes over method or dogma, can destroy it.

Or, as Alexander Pope said,

"For modes of faith let graceless zealots fight,

He can't be wrong whose life is in the right."

Brannan Under Fire

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Not since the exciting Harry Hopkins-Harold Ickes days of the early New Deal has any Cabinet member been subjected to such a severe attack as that now directed against Charles F. Brannan of Denver, President Truman's surprise selection as Secretary of Agriculture when "Clint" Anderson shifted to the Senate.

It may be that his Republican opponents recognize in the non-agricultural Denver lawyer the figure whose bountiful farm program, if enacted, may keep the Democrats in power for another decade.

TUCKER

It may be that they are sincerely opposed to his two-price system, under which the taxpayers would get lower retail prices while shelling out money to subsidize the farmers. Whatever the reason, Mr. Brannan is now under savage fire.

BOMBARDMENT: But the bombardment differs from the barrages that used to be shot at Messrs. Hopkins and Ickes. They had their Democratic defenders, even the "old curmudgeon."

But so far not a Democrat has arisen in Senate or House to answer the critics of President Truman's Secretary of Agriculture. They act like lawyers who offer a "nolo contendere" plea.

Republican bitterness probably derives from the fact that it was Mr. Brannan, or his smarter aides, who sold Mr. Truman the idea of charging that a Republican Congress had short-changed the farmers by depriving them of storage capacity for their wheat, thus forcing them to sell at distress prices.

EXPLODED: Had it not been for the skillful use of this issue, Mr. Truman might have been defeated. The indictment has since been exploded, but it still figures in the Congressional lambasting of Mr. Brannan.

Democratic opponents regard him as a smarter Henry Wallace. Both the storage shortage strategy and his proposed two-price farm program were devised by a special and small committee of key men in Agriculture who are holdovers from the Wallace regime.

The farm scheme has been kicking around the department and Congressional committee rooms for two years, but nobody in authority gave it serious consideration until Mr. Brannan discerned its political usefulness.

TALKS: Another explanation for the anti-Brannan offensive is the growing belief on Capitol Hill that he has no real understanding of agricultural, financial and economic problems, and that he thinks solely of the politicians' interest rather than the farmers' welfare. This may be unfair to the balding, soft-voiced Denver legalite, but he has asked for the indictment.

He talks too much and too cockily. For instance, when Senator Williams of Delaware recently charged that the Commodity Credit corporation was a big money loser through its operations in supporting farm prices, Mr. Brannan denied it hotly. He boasted of a current surplus, and forecast that CCC would wind up with a profit.

LOSS: But Budget Director Frank Pace, Jr., informed Senator Williams that the food-buying agency's net loss from its organization in 1933 through 1948 had been $2,146,930,367. After deducting CCC's payments to the Treasury from the amount it has received in the form of Congressional appropriations, the actual deficit now stands at about $4,000,000,000.

CCC may eventually recoup some of that money, although the present downward trend of farm commodity prices threatens its solvency. But Mr. Brannan, instead of admitting that some losses were contemplated when the rescue agency was set up during the depression, tried to prove that it was as solvent as the House of Morgan.

RYE: A "rye" bloc of Senators recently returned to Capitol Hill with the definite impression that Secretary Brannan lacked the grasp of complex domestic, foreign and economic problems required of a man who asks authority to install a new and novel system of production and payment controls on the farms and at the corner food stores.

Although the market price for this product has dropped to slightly over a dollar, whereas the government support figure is about $1.47, Secretary Brannan has declared that a shortage exists. So, he permitted the domestic import and sale of Canadian rye, which became mixed with its American counterpart when it was dumped into the elevators.

WHO? The Army asked CCC to buy American rye for use in Germany and Austria. Paul Hoffman's ECA also wanted some for shipment abroad, especially in view of the price decline and its high caloric content.

But Mr. Brannan refused on the ground that he could not export this rye because of the Canadian admixture. As a result, both the Army and ECA are buying in the Argentine and Canada. The effect has been to depress the domestic price, and to boost the amount which taxpayers must contribute for farmers' subsidies.

But when the "rye" Senators—Humphreys and Thye of Minnesota, Langer and Young of North Dakota, McCarthy of Wisconsin—demanded relief for their constituents, Secretary Brannan admitted that he could offer no explanation for his policies.

So, the question on Capitol Hill is: Who is the Secretary of Agriculture these days?

"As a novel experiment, try telling the exact truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth for a day," suggests a psychologist. No, thanks. We bruise easily.

Things are so interrelated and confused these days that any person can easily find something or somebody else to blame for any sort of predicament he may find himself in.

Atomic bombs are being made increasingly more powerful and less expensive. Man will soon be able, it seems, to destroy the world without bankrupting it.

Since nobody worries about the kind of troubles the other fellow has, why don't we all exchange troubles?

After one listens to the disc jockey trying so desperately to be funny and cute, almost any sort of recording sounds good.

In a New York hospital recently a surgeon scooped a patient by broadcasting an appendectomy.

You are often displeased with what you do, aren't you? Then why expect another person invariably to please you in what he does?

It is far better to work in order to keep from thinking than it is to think in order to avoid working.

If you don't look facts in the face, you'll get a rear view of them after they have run over you.

Believe It Or Not -- By Robert Ripley

CHARGES ARE IRRESPONSIBLE

'Labor Boss' Unfairly Criticized

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — In connection with labor legislation in Congress there's lots of loose and irresponsible, and often angry, talk about "labor bosses" who are caricatured as ogres or evil spirits who somehow or other are trying to "dictate" to Congress and government.

Long years of covering government and politics and civic affairs, whether in city or state or here in Washington or both, gives the newspaper reporter a good insight into both labor leaders and business and financial leaders. In such experience one learns that the "labor boss," if one wants to call him that, stacks up over-all very well alongside those in business and finance who sit at the top of our corporate economy and across the table in bargaining, some of whom are pretty big "bosses," themselves. Often the edge is distinctly in favor of the labor leader when it comes to sincerity of purpose for the general public welfare. There are some few in both groups who get overly conscious of their power, as in any human society.

STOKES

But, as for "dictation" of Congress by labor, that is the most absurd myth of our times to anyone who lives here daily with Congress and has seen the impregnable barricade raised here in the last ten years against measures for the interest of millions of people, including "labor."

Now that there seems finally a chance to penetrate that barricade, only if a little bit here and there, to get through a few much-needed bills—housing, education, health, increased minimum wage, modification of the harsh Taft-Hartley law—those who are working earnestly at this, as they have been for years, suddenly become evil "labor bosses."

It's very queer tactics, though understandable, to anyone who knows the facts about national politics and forces operating in it.

To get at the real problem involved, it is necessary to go back of the "labor bosses" to the millions of individuals who work daily in the greatest industrial machine the world ever has seen. They may be set apart as some sinister element called "labor," but they are just people, good Americans, who live in your neighborhood, work hard to make ends meet and put their children through school and pay their doctor bills, and who help to make all your comforts and conveniences as well as necessities.

The basic economic fact of today is that these millions must be kept at their jobs and at good wages if the democratic capitalism that we have struggled so to build up is to operate successfully, for that depends upon putting enough into the pockets of our people constantly to buy what they produce.

Upon that, too, depends the maintenance of our place in the world at large, and the spread of our sort of system to the world at large. It all goes back to that man and woman in the mill, shop or forge.

Twenty years ago our system broke down temporarily because we failed to recognize that basic fact in our still new industrial economy. Out of our awakening, among other things, came the organization of labor to protect itself, so it could live, and out of that came leaders to represent working men and women and handle their problems, just as the same sort of leaders arose in business and industry.

It is a humanitarian thing to provide for our people. But that doesn't have to be considered at all. It is a hard-boiled necessity of economics, just plain good business. Big "bosses" on the industrial management side, some of whom complain so about the "labor bosses," should be thankful that labor organization has come along, as a great many of them are. It has done much for them, as for all of us. They are doing nicely. We owe them much, too, for their skill and "know-how." But they can't keep it going themselves. Some of them seem to think so.

That appears to be the attitude, too, of some in one of our great political parties, the Republican party, judging from what goes on in Congress. If that attitude persists, if the objective in labor legislation continues to be to "punish" something called "labor" and some legendary Frankenstein "labor bosses," it can be forecast that the Republican party never will win another election and will pass away.

That would be the tragedy of our times. For we need two healthy political parties to check on one another. That was the way our great political democracy has been built up, and that is the only way it can survive.

Ex-Yugoslav Official Says Red Diplomats Influence U.S. Slavs

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—A former Yugoslav official told senators today that Communists in this country under diplomatic immunity are "spreading defeatism and demoralization" among Slav Americans.

The testimony came from Gogdan Raditsa, former Yugoslav information officer who at one time was attached to the Yugoslav embassy here. He later broke with the government of Marshal Tito and entered this country as a displaced person.

Raditsa was a witness before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee.

Secret Hearing Set

After getting Raditsa's testimony, the committee arranged to question a mystery witness behind locked doors later in the day.

Aides said his name could not be disclosed even to the senators who are members of the subcommittee.

One of the aides told reporters the mystery witness "is in danger of his life" and cannot be named because of his connections abroad."

Raditsa testified that Dr. J. Vilfan, whom he described as the Yugoslav delegate to the United Nations, "is now developing a secret police network from his luxurious apartment house on Fifth avenue in New York City." The witness did not elaborate on that in his prepared statement.

The witness said most American Slavs have sided with Moscow in the Soviet split with Marshal Tito.

Raditsa's testimony followed up a statement from a former Communist party member that Moscow has been planning a war with the United States for 20 years.

Paul Crouch, the former member, now a mechanical department employe of The Miami Daily News, says further that 25,000 Reds in the United States would help Russia with sabotage if war came.

Crouch spent 17 years in the party. His statement that the Kremlin has been planning for war for two decades appears in a series of newspaper articles on his inside activities in the party.

The articles have been added to the evidence the House Un-American Activities committee has been getting from Couch.

Phone Rate Hike To Affect Over 40 New Mexico Communities

SANTA FE, N. M., May 11. (INS) More than 40 New Mexico municipalities will be affected by rate increases of up to 100 percent asked by the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company.

The new rate schedule was filed today with the State Corporation commission. It will go into effect June 10 unless the Corporation commission is able to show that the increases are not justified.

Commission Chairman Dan Sedillo said a hearing date has not been set.

Rate increases were made necessary by the "present seriously depressd earnings, of the company," according to E. C. Phillips, New Mexico-Texas manager.

He said the new schedules would boost company revenue for New Mexico about $61,000 a month.

MARKET IN COMEBACK

NEW YORK, May 11. (AP)—A flurry of demand for steel shares stiffened the price structure in the stock market today.

Gains of fractions to around a point were liberally distributed at the final bell although most issues closed under the best.

A slight increase in volume accompanied the expansion in demand. Sales amounted to 790,000 shares compared with 720,000 Tuesday.

U. S. Steel regained ⅛ point of yesterday's decline of ⅛ and closed at 71. Up around ½ point or less than Bethlehem Steel at 91 3/4, Republic at 21, Youngstown Sheet 64¾, Jones and Laughlin 26⅝, and Wheeling 40¼. National slipped a trifle to 75⅛.

Non-ferrous metal stocks found the going too tough. Anaconda, Kennecott and American Smelting all sold at new 1949 lows during the day but closed up a bit from the bottom. Anaconda ended ¼ off at 27½, Kennecott unchanged at 43, and Smelting down ⅜ at 43¾.

The continued stoppage of Ford production by a strike was accompanied by a brisk advance in Chrysler and Studebaker. Graham-Paige, however, dropped ¼ to 1⅝, a new low for the year, while Packard maintained at 3⅞ and General Motors at 58. Chrysler was ⅛ ahead at 53½ and Studebaker ⅝ at 19⅝.

Richfield Oil improved for a while but ended ⅛ lower at 36⅛ following word that directors had voted the regular dividend. Evidently there had been some anticipation of an increase or extra.

American Telephone finished ¾ lower at 141⅛, after touching a new low since 1943 during the day.

Also lower were Westinghouse Electric, Southern Pacific, Gulf Oil, and United Air Lines.

Higher were U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Lockheed, Consolidated Natural Gas, Dow Chemical, U. S. Gypsum (a higher dividend was announced after the close), American Woolen, and American Airlines.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained at 82.1, with the industrial component up slightly and the rail and utility groups unchanged.

Of the 967 individual issues which traded, 418 advanced and 360 declined.

Up in the curb were New Mexico and Arizona Land, Pantepec Oil, Pittsburgh Metallurgical, United Gas, Barium Steel and Cities Service, United Light, American Maracaibo, and Michigan Sugar slipped. Sales of 230,000 shares compared with 210,000 yesterday.

Corporate bonds tended lower. U. S. governments gained 1/32 to 4/32 of a point in over-the-counter dealings.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, May 11 (AP) — Wheat advanced today, the May contract going up more than a cent at times to its best price since the market broke on April 28. Smaller gains were made by new crop contracts.

The advance in wheat was more than matched by a sharp upturn in rye, which ran up for gains of about 5 cents at times. Buying was based on an Agriculture department forecast for a crop of 21,552,000 bushels, down from both last year and the ten year average.

Wheat closed ⅛ lower to ½ higher, May $2.23¾-2.24, corn was ⅛ lower to 6 higher, May $1.34-1.34½, oats were unchanged to 6 higher, May 66⅞-67.

New Auto Sales Boom Continues

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

DETROIT, May 11.—New car sales are continuing to boom.

Production also was moving upward until an accumulation of labor troubles cut into output. However, there is no likelihood the sales boom will end within the next couple of months as has been predicted in some quarters.

In many respects what's happening in the automobile industry right now is almost normal for the first time since 1941. But for the exaggerated viewpoint created by more than three years of shortages, the industry could be described as back on a pre-war basis.

This far this year more than 1,000,000 passenger cars have been built. Accurate figures on sales are not available but estimates put them at more than 1,300,000. Both production and sales are well ahead of last year.

The difference between output and retail sales suggests a sizable field stock. There is a substantial field stock—cars in transit, in storage or unsold in dealers' possession. But this, too, is a normal situation.

The heavier accumulations, of course, are among the medium priced models of some of the so-called "independent" companies. These are manufacturers outside the "big three" group of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

There have been some pessimistic expressions regarding the auto industry's outlook for the latter months of 1949. For the most part, however, they come from sources only indirectly connected with the industry. The sales chiefs of all the car companies are confident this year's total new car sales will top those of last year.

Most of them are equally confident the present boom will carry through August. And, they add, the tapering off expected in the latter months of the year will not be of more than normal proportions.

Island Of Escape

weeks now the new era of life on Speare Island will begin—

Bea looked up again, saw Harding watching her from the door way. "How much of this is true? I mean of the old history of the island?"

"You're discerning," Harding said. "I was right to trust you to read. I am making history here. What ih written is the way I want it to be. So it is true. The past and the present, I control and make them both."

"And the future?"

"That too I shall control," Harding said firmly.

Mabel Jones called, "There's something at the door."

"Impossible," Harding snapped. "It's the wind."
