15 U. S. Ships Lost In Okinawa Battle

Five Destroyers Included; Over 100 Jap Ships, 2,569 Planes Sent Down

(By The Associated Press)

GUAM, Saturday, April 21.—Fleet headquarters announced today the loss of 15 naval craft between March 18 and April 18 in the battle of Okinawa and associated operations, and said during the same period 100 enemy ships, besides many small craft, were sunk and 2,569 enemy aircraft destroyed.

Against furious enemy opposition, Yank amphibious forces continuing their all-out push against strong Japanese lines on southern Okinawa, ground out gains of 1,000 to 1,400 yards yesterday. The assault was started Thursday, breaking a 13-day deadlock on that front.

Covers 32-Day Period

The fleet communique said the 15 ships constituted all those of the American Navy to be sunk in the Okinawa and related operations within the 32-day period. It made no mention of damaged ships but previously announced that "several" units of the fleet had been hit.

Strong Japanese resistance continued on Ie island, west of Okinawa, but the Yanks there continued to gain.

The American ship losses included five destroyers, the Halligan, Bush, Colhoun, the M. L. Abele and the Pringle; two minecraft, one destroyer-transport, one gunboat, four landing craft and two amunition ships, the Hobbs Victory and the Logan Victory.

Japanese losses listed included the 45,000-ton super-battleship Yamato, two light cruisers, five destroyers, five destroyer escorts and numerous cargo ships and small craft.

As was the case Thursday, smashing artillery fire from Navy, Marine and Army heavy guns, and carrier planes flying cover, supported the Okinawa ground operations Friday.

Of the U. S. destroyers listed as sunk, the Halligan, Bush and Pringle were of the new 2,100-ton class. The Halligan was built in the Boston Navy yard, the Bush in the Bethlehem Steel yard, San Francisco, and the Pringle in the Charleston Navy yard. They cost about $11,000,000 each and were believed to have a top speed of 38 knots. Their normal complement was about 250 men each.

The minecraft lost were the Emmons and the Skylark. The destroyer-transport was the Dickerson. The landing craft all were identified by number.

Job About Done In Philippines

By FRED HAMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Saturday, April 21.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur today announced conquest of the central Philippines has been completed with extermination of all but a few remnants of the Japanese garrison on Cebu.

He said the Cebu victory, in which 5,000 enemy bodies were counted on the field Thursday, gave his forces control of 33,000 square miles of the central and southern Philippines, liberated 6,400,000 civilians and reduced Japanese strongpoints in the entire Philippines to two — Davao on Mindanao and Baguio, the summer capital on Luzon. Doughboys are approaching both of these, which have been weakened by aerial bombardment.

Collaborationists Escape

MacArthur also announced that three Filipino collaborationist leaders had escaped to Formosa in a Japanese plane. He named them as Jose P. Laurel, "head of this disloyal group," and Beniguo Aquino and Osias (given name unavailable) "two of its most active members."

Three members of the cabinet and a number of other prominent members of the Filipino collaborationist government were captured near Baguio. Their names were not given.

Heavy and medium bombers ranging from the Netherlands East Indies to the China coast sank or damaged 13 freighters, three coastal vessels, three barges and a transport plane. They also attacked ground installations on Formosa and the East Indies.

Caught By Surprise

The action on Cebu was enveloping movement which caught the enemy by surprise.

"Japanese losses were very heavy, 5,000 dead being left on the field while remnants scattered into the hills, to be hunted down by our guerrilla forces," MacArthur said.

He pointed out that:

"Our forces now control the entire Visayan group, comprising an area of more than 33,000 square miles and liberating a population of more than 6,400,000.

"In adidtion to the main islands of Leyte, Samar, Mindoro, Panay, Palawan, Cebu, Negros, Bohol and Masbate, Japanese garrisons on a score of lesser islands, including Bantayan, Biliran, Burias, Guimaras, Homonhon, Lubang, Poro, Marinduque, Qiduijor, Tablas, Tibao and the Sibuyan group have been eliminated.

"This sweeps clear the center of the Philippines and leaves the only remaining enemy organized resistance in Mindanao on the south and upper Luzon on the north.

"From the Visayas will come many of the foodstuffs and raw materials for rehabilitation and reconstruction of the Philippines and for prosecution of the war against Japan itself, including hemp, copra, metals, lumber and cement.

"They already provide important air, land and naval bases for attacks against vital areas in Netherlands East Indies and southeastern Asia and for our increasingly tight blockade of enemy shipping lanes down the coast of China, Indo-China, Thailand and Malaya.

"Our losses in this campaign were extraordinarily light, due largely to the enemy's continued inability to diagnose our point of attack and to understand our local tactics of combat.

"His ground forces throughout the Philippine campaign in numerical strength have equaled and in some cases exceeded our own. Yet he has seemed bewildered and confused and, although one of the most tenacious of fighters, has permitted himself to be constantly surprised, divided and destroyed in detail without being able to inflict more than a minor fraction of compensating losses."

On Mindanao, last Japanese stronghold in the southern Philippines, the northern Yank column pushed 15 miles northeast of Malabang, its beachhead of three days before, and reached the shores of Lake Lanao.

The center column advanced eastward 16 miles to Manuangan —along the mountain highway toward Davao, which however still is 36 miles distant on the eastern shore.

The southern column repulsed an enemy counterattack north off Cotabato, captured Wednesday, and pushed up the Mindanao river, largest in the Philippines, from its newly established base at Lomopog.

Bombers and strafing fighters supported all Mindanao ground operations.

New Meat Subsidy Plan Draws Fire

WASHINGTON, April 20 (AP)—Senate food investigators heard today that a "more flexible" meat subsidy and pricing program designed to keep packer profits up to peacetime levels, is in preparation.

Officials of the Office of Price administration, the War Food administration and the Defense Supplies corporation, which actually administers subsidies, acknowledged that new plans were in the making, but said details were yet to be worked out. For one thing, the program has yet to be submitted to William H. Davis, director of economic stabilization, who must approve any subsidy increase.

Price Increase Asked

Meanwhile House committeemen conducting a separate inquiry into food shortages heard a rancher's demand for three cents a pound more to the producer on high grade beef.

Richard M. Kleberg, former congressman and manager of the huge King ranch in the Texas, said that increase would in large degree stifle the black market.

"You can't blame people for dealing with the black market when they can get a good beefsteak there, while the meat they buy at legal markets tastes like kangaroo meat," Klebreg said.

Must Be Passed On

The Texas rancher said the increase would have to be passed on in higher prices to the housewife, a position at variance with the reported OPA plan.

Congressmen heard that the new program might be put into effect this week-end, but administrative agencies were less optimistic.

The senators learned about it in a letter from Wilbur La Roe, general counsel for the National Independent Meat Packers association, which Chairman Thomas (D-Okla) of the agriculture committee put into the group's record. Associates of La Roe said the lawyer himself was without full details.

Kleberg said it is "perfectly obvious" that cattlemen "can't put weight on cattle only to be faced by ceiling prices which force them to lose from $13 to $29 per head."

Telling the committee there is a big excess horse population in the country, Kleberg suggested that horse meat be used for lend-lease to ease pressure on the American beef supply.

Saying there are European countries where lend-lease is going and where horse meat is considered a delicacy," Kleberg added:

"But I don't suppose it will be done, because it is a practical idea."

Crash Victims Are Announced

MIDLAND, April 20 (AP)—Midland Army Air field tonight announced the names of 11 officers and 14 enlisted men killed today in the crash of an Army transport plane three miles southeast of Sweetwater.

The victims, including ten officers returned from overseas combat, included:

Twin-Engined Transport

The plane, a C27 twin-engined transport, took off from Midland Army Air field, its base, at 6:05 a. m. (CWT) bound for Paterson, N. J. It traveled approximately 100 miles. Watches of the victims were stopped at 6:40 a. m.

Burned wreckage of the craft was scattered over a square mile area.

Bob Cooper and C. L. Rogers, Sweetwater taxi drivers, reported they saw the plane on fire in the air. The ship drove a huge hole in the earth amidst dense mesquite growth on a ranch near Sweetwater.

Capt. Edwin Schmacher, Avenger field medical officer, one of the first to arrive at the scene said: "Bodies were all over the place. It was terrible."

Deputy Fire Chief Ray Stevenson of the Avenger field fire department said the victims "didn't have a change."

Nazis' Last Pocket Battleship Wrecked

LONDON, April 20. (AP)—Germany's last pocket battleship, the 10,000-ton Luetzow, formerly the Deutschland, is now lying in shallow water out of action at Swinemuende on the Baltic coast, the air ministry announced tonight.

The Luetzow, the fourth of Germany's seven capital ships knocked out of action by the RAF, was attacked by Lancasters April 16.

An authoritative report said the 26,000-ton battleship Gneisenau and the 10,000-ton heavy cruiser Seydlitz were believed to have been seized by the Russians.

Revision In World Peace Plans Seen

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 20. —Senator Connally (D-Tex) told the Senate today that the Dumbarton Oaks plan for world organization probably will be liberalized at San Francisco to provide for more flexibility in future years.

Connally, chairman of the foreign relations committee and delegate to San Francisco, was given a rousing ovation after a leave-taking speech in which he declared that the American delegation is in harmony and the United States "has a lofty duty to perform in leading the peoples of the earth away from the concepts of rule by the sword."

Vandenberg's Views

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), also taking leave as another member of the American delegation, said he was going "with a sense of deepest dedication to supreme cause."

He asked the senators not to expect a chart for the millennium to come out of San Francisco, but asserted:

"I have faith that we may perfect this charter of peace and justice so that reasonable men of good will shall find in it so much good, so much emancipation for human hopes, that all lesser doubts and disagreements may be resolved in its facor."

Vandenberg endorsed what he called the "sturdy statement" by his Texas colleague, in which Connally said the American delegates hold no "slavish devotion" to the precise Dumbarton Oaks formula although they are committed to its principles.

Won't Reach Perfection

"We shall not be able to bring back an instrument embodying perfection," Connally said. "There is no instrument extant that does not have somewhere in it things to which this citizen, that citizen, or the other citizen, or this country or the other country may object.

"We cannot, of course, write every line, every phrase, and every section of the document which will there be subscribed to; but there will be amending clauses in the instrument, probably more liberal than those in the Dumbarton Oaks agreements, through which we can, over the years, build up an instrumentality of great usefulness to the people of the United States."

Plains Pioneers Reminisce Here As Guests Of Museum Association

Reminiscences by pioneers who came to the South Plains between 1901 and 1909 were woven into an almost-complete history of early developments of this territory at the 15th annual meeting of the West Texas Museum association held on the Texas Tech campus Friday.

Many old-settlers assembled in the Tech Museum Friday afternoon for a round table discussion of "Early Transportation and Communication on the Plains," directed by Owen W. McWhorter, Lubbock attorney. M. G. Abernathy, who came to Lubbock in 1901, reviewed the history of the Santa Fe railway and the early efforts of this company in establishing a route through Lubbock.

First mail service, automobiles, airplanes, telephone lines and days of the hack were recalled by other pioneers including J. J. Dillard of Lubbock, R. F. Bayless of Lubbock, Tom Carter of Plainview, Bob Crump of Shallowater and Mrs. Cotta Caraway Ross of Lubbock.

More than 200 pioneers and their guests met in the Aggie Grove Friday evening for a chuck wagon supper and later attended a lecture given in the museum by Dr. L. F. Sheffy of Canyon, executive secretary of the Panhandle-Plians Historical society. "Colonization of the White Deer lands" was discussed by Dr. Sheffy.

Pioneers who came to the South Plains before 1901 were honored at the 1944 meeting. Every pioneer is invited to attend the 16th annual meeting which will be held the latter part of April, 1946, Dr. W. C. Holden, curator of the museum announced.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., April 20. (AP) — A lighted cigaret was extracted from a mailbox just above a pile of undamaged letters today minutes after an excited woman had phoned the postoffice to report she absent-mindedly had "mailed" the smoke and thrown her letter into the street.

Today's War Casualties

Today's Toll: (Official Casualty releases):

Wounded:

Pfc. Jesus Gaitan, brother of Mrs. Maria Cardenas, Star Route 2, Lamesa, wounded in action in European area.

Cpl. Silas P. Shaw, son of Mrs. May Shaw, Anton, wounded in action in European area.

Prisoner:

S/Sgt. Albert W. Myers, son of Mrs. Hattie M. Myers, Plainview, prisoner of the Germans.

MAYNARD NOW PRISONER

Pfc. Charles A. Maynard, who was reported missing in action since Dec. 20, is now a prisoner of war in Germany, according to a letter he wrote to his wife, Mrs. Elise Maynard, from Stalag 4-B. The letter was dated Jan. 17 and in it he said that he was "doing all right" but that he had lost a lot of weight. He had been overseas with the First Army since September after training at Ft. Sill, Okla., and Camp Robinson, Ark. Prior to entering the service he was employed at Wilson and Co., Inc., here. His wife and three children, Charles Ancil, jr., Loretta and Wayne, live on Route 5. Three sisters live in Lubbock.

Battered Reich Is Shaken By Peace Demonstrations

Flaming Berlin And Defense Arc Lashed From Air

LONDON, April 20—Royal Air force bombers raided flaming Berlin tonight, following up daylight attacks by Flying Fortresses on the defense arc of the doomed capital and savage machine-gunning of its barricaded downtown district by hundreds of roof-skimming Russian Stormoviks.

Instead of the usual announcement that Berlin had been hit by Mosquito bombers, the Air Ministry said the city was attacked tonight by aircraft of the bomber command, indicating that heavy bombers as well as Mosquitos had made the mission.

Key Outposts Pounded

During the day more than 600 Fortresses slammed 1,600 tons of bombs on seven key outposts in the defense perimeter attack, which was in direct support of American and Russian armies engulfing the capital.

Nearly 1,000 fighter bombers of the U. S. Ninth Air force combed a 300-mile area from Ludwigslust, 85 miles northwest of Berlin, to Pilsen, 182 south. With a loss of seven planes, they attacked 11 rail yards, and ten airfields, destroying 71 parked aircraft and shooting down five more in combat. They also shot up 1,087 locomotives and railroad cars.

A fuel depot at Annaburg, 50 miles south of the capital, and railway yards near Nuernberg were attacked by 280 medium bombers without loss.

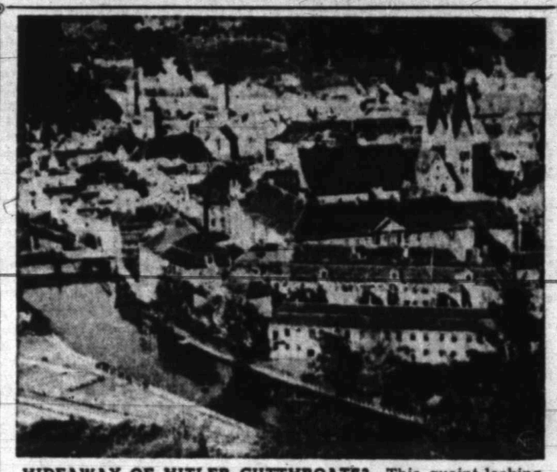

Reds Join In Raids

All told, the fighter bombers flew 1,285 sorties.

Swarms of Stormoviks — the Russians' heavily armored, cannon firing fighters, joined in the Berlin raid.

Coordinated with the aerial bombardment was incessant shelling of the city by massed Soviet artillery. The German radio went off the air after describing the scene as 'murderous.' Electric current failed and many of Berlin's sirens had to be operated by hand.

Out of the fleet of 800 which attacked Berlin and more than 200 Liberators which raided the Munich and Prague areas a single American bomber failed to return. Upwards of 800 Mustangs and Thunderbolts shot down seven ME-109s without loss to themselves.

HIDEAWAY OF HITLER CUTTHROATS?—This quaint-looking town of Eichstatt, nestling high in the Bavarian Alps not far from Hitler's aerie at Berchtesgaden, is reported to be the new center of German government activities, following flight of Nazi bigwigs from Berlin.

Reds Breach Inner Defense At Berlin

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 20—Moscow revealed tonight that Russian tanks had broken 38 miles across Berlin's southern escape corridor within 18 miles of Dresden and 58 miles of American troops while the Germans said the Red Army had breached Berlin's inner defense ring and was only seven miles from the blazing German capital.

The Russians were at the "very gates" of Berlin, one German report said, and a Wilhelmstrasse spokesman declared the yard-by-yard Russian advance "in a hell of fire, steel and blood" was deciding the war. Peace riots were reported in the capital.

Wave On Wave Of Armor

Moscow's communique said that Russian forces, advancing on Berlin and Dresden on a 100-mile front, had seized eight major strongholds while wave after wave of Russian armor lapped at a dozen other fortified towns and villages within Berlin's shattered defense ring east of the city.

Before the capital's eastern approaches, the German defenders of the American and British-bombed city still were fighting after 150 hours without sleep.

The Germans said that masses of Russian tanks, infantry and big guns still were pournig into the battle, possibly the greatest in history, claimed that 1,300 Red Army tanks had been destroyed, and disclosed that the Red Army was 29 miles beyond the Oder river after five days of fighting.

Called An Inferno

"The decision of the war is being fought in an inferno of flames, searchlights and the most hellish noise ever heard," said a statement issued in the Wilhelmstrasse. Ahead of the attacking Russians 600 U. S. Flying Fortresses pounded key junctions in the Berlin area.

Moscow announced that Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Army had captured the strongholds of Bad Freienwalde and Wriezen, 23 and 24 miles northeast of Berlin, and had driven ten miles beyond the Oder, capturing the road junction of Seelow, 26 miles east of the city.

While Lebus on the Oder, five miles north of embattled Frankfurt, also fell, the Germans said the Russians were bursting toward Berlin's suburbs on a 32-mile arc and had reached the town of Hangeisberg and the area of Strausberg—seven and 10 miles east and northeast of the capital—after breaching the city's perimeter defenses.

Werneuchen, 16 miles southwest of captured Bad Frienwaldo, is only 15 miles from the center of Berlin and an advance to this area meant that the Russians had outflanked the city's eastern limits. Hangelsberg on the east is 23 miles from mid-city.

South of Berlin, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainin Army scored a massive breakthrough from the Neisse river at Muskau, in a double drive aimed at a junction with American forces and encircling Berlin.

From Muskau, the Russians burst westward 15 miles and seized Spremberg on Berlin's own river Spree. At the same time, other spearheads surged across the Spree and captured Hoyrswerda, 31 miles northeast of Dresden.

The Germans said the Russians had driven another 15 miles west, shoving a wedge into Senftenberg, only 54 miles from the American First Army on the Mulde river at Wurzen, east of Leipzig.

In their closest official approach to the Americans, Konev's troops raced 38 miles west from Rothenburg on the Oder, through Niesky and Klitten, and reached Kamentz, 18 miles northeast of Dresden.

Fifth Breaks Out Into Po Valley

ROME, April 20. (AP)—American Fifth Army troops broke out into the Po valley northwest of Bologna late today after a spectacular seven-mile advance and fought into the outskirts of Casalecchio, three miles southwest of the big industrial city and communications center.

A spearhead of one of the two divisions which burst out of the Apennine mountains on the fifth day of the all-out Allied offensive in Italy cut the main Bologna-Modena highway — No. 9—at a point about nine miles northwest of Bologna.

Main Escape Route

This was one of the main escape routes for German forces which have put up a tenacious defense before Bologna for the past six months.

With American tanks and tank-destroyers streaming out onto the rolling Po plain tonight there was a surge of optimism among Allied commanders that the German armies in northern Italy might soon be destroyed or driven beyond the Alps.

British Eighth Army troops, rolling on with the momentum of their plunge through the Argenta gap, advanced another three miles near the Italian east coast and captured Portomaggiore, 12 miles southeast of the Po valley industrial center of Ferrara.

Other Columns Gain

Other Fifth Army forces pushing up the west coast gained considerable ground on both sides of Highway 1 and were reported within eight miles of the naval base of La Spezia.

Allied tactical warplanes continued their close support of advancing troops while heavy Fortresses and Liberators smashed at highway bridges over the Adice river, a possible line for the Nazis north of the Po river. Ferrara, now threatened by the British, is only a few thousand yards from the Po.

Storm Area Death Toll Mounts To 11

ST. LOUIS, April 20. (AP)—Death toll from recent floods and tornadoes in the Arkansis-Texas disaster area stood at 11 today, with 47 injured and one person missing. Robert Edson, disaster relief director for the midwestern area of the American Red Cross, reported.

Edson's report showed that 279,170 acres were inundated.

Allies Smashing Toward Hitler's Retreat In Alps

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, April 20. — Gen. Eisenhower declared tonight that German armies of the west were "tottering on the threshold of defeat and giant peace demonstrations were reported in Berlin and Munich as three Allied armies struck 23 miles south toward Hitler's last stand in the Alps.

The Nazi party city of Nuernberg fell on Hitler's 56th and blackest birthday, the French were 30 miles from Lake Constance—western bulwark of Hitler's alpine retreat — and Gen. Omar N. Bradley's 12th Army group headquarters reported American lines were 45 miles from the Russians.

Appeal To Slave Labor

From supreme headquarters went a sensational broadcast to Russian and Polish slave laborers in the Reich to stay where they were for "in a few days the gap between the armies of liberation from the west and from the east will be closed."

A battle dispatch declared the Germans no longer manned a cohesive Western front, that the enemy was broken into pockets for the victory assault and the last stand in the north also was under attack.

The British Second Army battled a mile from the suburbs of Germany's second city and greatest port of Hamburg, and sheared it off from Bremen with a 20-mile outflanking sweep against the latter river port.

Reports Of Peace Pleas

The report of peace demonstrations came from the Allied-controlled Luxembourg radio, which said without confirmation elsewhere that Red flags waved in the ruined capital of the Reich.

Eisenhower's statement that the Germans were at the brink of defeat in the west came in an order of the day in which he called the great Allied victory in the Ruhr a fitting prelude to the final drive to crush what is left of the German Army, once the terror of all Europe.

The Germans said the U. S. Ninth Army, steadily bolstering its five-mile deep Elbe river bridgehead 52 miles southwest of Berlin, was about to join the Russians in the grand assault on the flaming capital.

But for the Germans, the most imminent peril was in the south, where Allied western forces already were closer to Munich and the last German defense positions in the south than were the Russians hammering up west of Vienna.

The French First Army, driving 23 miles south beyond last reported positions, reached Rottweil, 65 miles from the Austrian frontier and 120 miles from the northern border of Italy. Here they were closest to Lake Constance, near whose shores Nazi Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels reportedly has taken refuge. They also were but 14 miles from the headwaters of the Danube.

The U. S. Seventh Army smashed all-organized resistance in the Nazi shrine city of Nuernberg on Hitler's 56th birthday.

Join French Assault

Without waiting for the city of 431,000 to fall, armored columns of the Seventh joined the French in the encirclement of the big communications city of Stuttgart.

American and French lines last were but 28 miles apart after a 12-mile gain south by the Seventh Army and a five-mile eastern push by the French.

An armored battle was roaring 21 miles southeast of Nuernberg at Neumarkt, where the Germans were putting up their first stern resistance on the approaches of the mountain redoubt 10 miles from Munich.

On the eastern flank of the southward push, the U. S. Third Army was a mile or more [illegible] Czechoslovakia and in a 1[illegible] armored dash captured G[illegible]wohr, 58 miles west of Pils[illegible].

The Third Army also at[illegible] the outskirts of Chemnitz, [illegible] munications city 33 miles from the Germans' Russian front base of Dresden.

A steel wedge was being driven between the Bavarian redoubt and the Czech munitions cities of Pilsen and Prague, the last reliance for weapons of war for the Germans. Railways leading out of the two cities to the redoubt were loaded with weapons and were under heavy aerial attack.

Perhaps You Should Be Immune From Neighbor's Window, Anyway—

But If You're Annoyed By Static 'Hotfoot', Here Are Some Suggestions By Tech's Engineering Prof. Helwig

By RANDALL ABERNETHY
Avalanche Staff Writer

THE subject of this piece is Professor W. F. Helwig and static electricity — or, you don't have to look into a neighbor's window to get shocked.

Professor Helwig is a member of the engineering department at Texas Tech and an expert on what he quaintly calls "the electrostatic bug."

The professor is an expert, above all, on how to crawl into an automobile and avoid lighting up like a mazda lamp.

"We South Plainsmen all know that the cool, dry days of winter and early spring are particularly favorable to static formations and accumulations of electric charges which are simply itching to crackle into some unsuspecting victim's finger, elbow or other convenient projections of the anatomy," Helwig recounted.

"Motorists are quite susceptible to this type of annoyance due to the peculiar circumstances which find the driver frictionally charged within an enclosed metal body," he said. "All electric charges consistently tend to reside on the exterior of the metal shell. Consequently, when the driver reaches for the ignition lock, door handle or other metallic parts of the car, he is neatly nipped by the charge which pops across the air space as soon as the space is narrow enough, and instantly spreads over the surface of the car body."

To avoid this uncomfortable sensation, Helwig counsels that as you enter the car, first place your hand on some unpainted metal object inside the car, such as the nickel or chrome parts on the dash, or the inside door lever. Keep your hand there until you stop sliding across the seat.

"During this time any charges accumulated by yourself will be immediately transferred to the car body and your hand may then be removed with no spark," he explained. "When leaving the car grasp the door handle (Mr. Helwig neglected to mention whether he meant the inside or outside handle; this you'll have to figure out for yourself) and keep your hand there until you have left the car."

When atmospheric conditions are right, it is not uncommon for electric charges to build up in the human body, Helwig said. For instance, the friction between the sole of your shoe and a carpet can store up a charge. A person can preclude this state, Helwig said, by wearing a chain which drags along the ground as the big fuel trucks do. He was quick to add that is not practical—nor stylish.

The Woman's Angle

DEAR:———

Army officials who met with city representatives Wednesday gave some encouragement that a portion of South Plains Army Air field may be returned to the city, so that Lubbock can negotiate with airlines which hope to open service through here.

They indicated that Lubbock will not be given authority grant landing rights, but that the Army will grant the landing rights and that only two hangars, the manager's residence and a small area of ground will be returned to the city.

The air field is leased to the government for $1 a year, and before any of it can be returned it will have to be acted upon at SPAAF, at Oklahoma City, at Wright field, Dayton, Ohio, and in Washington.

Capt. Elisha (Bobby) Robertson was killed in India April 9, the War department notified his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Robertson, Tuesday. He was a test pilot. His wife and infant son, Fred, are other survivors. Capt. Robertson was born and reared in Lubbock.

1st. Lt. Truman L. Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Stephens of near Lubbock, veteran pilot in a troop carrier group of the 13th AAF, flew the first American plane into Clark field since its seizure by the Japanese in 1942. His C-47 was part of a fighter-escort formation for the first flight into the newly captured field, 40 miles north of Manila, and other planes landed before the battle for the famous American-built airfield had ended.

Navy Lt. Frank Jackson, husband of the former Dorothy Kelly of Lubbock, bailed out near Okinawa recently but was rescued within a short time by a destroyer. He had just got a Zero at 24,000 feet and was rammed and had to jump.

1st. Lt. C .I. (Chubby) Cobb who served 11 months in the Pacific, recently was awarded the DFC at Cherry Point, N. C., for heroism and extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial fighting in the Solomons.

Senior High school students are urging that something be done about traffic hazards near the building. They suggest construction of pedestrian underpasses on traffic-laden Nineteenth street. Their suggestions were prompted after Ann Franklin, a high school girl, was painfully injured crossing the street in front of the building.

About 30 students wrote letters to The Plainsman, Avalanche-Journal columnist, seeking to enlist his help in presenting the matter to the attention of city officials. Supt. Matthews and Principal Honey do not believe that underpasses would solve the problem since they say the students would not make use of them. Their idea is to have an officer on duty to see that safety measures are observed.

The West Texas museum on the campus of Texas Tech college is the new home for an exact reproduction of the Cyrus Hall McCormick reaper, first built and operated on the McCormick farm near Steele's tavern, Va., in July 1831. It was secured from the International Harvester company for the museum by Dr. A. W. Young, head of the department of plant industry.

CHANCELLOR NAMED

ST. LOUIS, April 20. (AP)—Dr. Arthur H. Compton, noted University of Chicago physicist and winner of the Nobel prize for physics in 1927, has been chosen chancellor of Washington university, acting Chancellor Harry B. Wallace announced today. He succeeds George Reeves Throop who retired because of illness.

Simmons Chosen At High School

Ray Simmons was elected 1945-46 president of the student body by students of Lubbock High school at an election by secret ballot Thursday afternoon. He will succeed Milton Butler as president and will preside over the Student Council next year.

Bill Carter was elected vice president and will succeed Harold (Stony) Wall, and Lila Mae McNabb was named secretary to succeed Jane Lawson.

Five amendments to the constitution of the Student Council were voted upon and passed almost unanimously, school authorities announced. Two of the amendments were of particular interest. No. 1—Students must be in school at least 15 weeks of the preceding semester to be eligible for student council membership. No. 2—Students must have at least an average grade of C to become members of the council.

Simmons Is Junior

Simmons, a junior student, is a member of the Student Council, business manager for the yearbook, Westerner World, for next year, a member of the Hi-Y, and a member of the junior play cast.

Carter is president of the Sophomore class, a member of the Cowhand football team and an honor roll student twice this year. As vice-president of the Student Body, he will act as chairman of the Safety committee.

Miss McNabb is bookkeeper for the Westerner World and will serve in the same capacity next year.

Runners-up were Stony Wall for president, Mary Frances Payne for secretary and Jim Johnson for vice president. Wall was vice-president of the Student Body this year, a member of the Westerner football team, Student Council and band member; Miss Payne is secretary of the Junior class, active member of the Girl Reserves and a candidate for president of the club, and National Honor student; Johnson is an active Boy Scout and Hi-Y member.

Blanks Available To Apply For Sugar

There is no shortage of canning sugar application forms in the Lubbock OPA district as has been the case in other sections of Texas, a check with district food rationing officials revealed here Friday.

There are plenty of the forms on hand at the district office, the local War Price and Rationing board and the two fire stations, authorities said.

Canning sugar applications are being accepted by Lubbock firemen at either of the two fire stations. The fireboys also issue application blanks.

Since the fire department has consented to handle applications to relieve congestion at the local board, it is requested that you do not call for or return applications to the stations any time except in the afternoons.

Approximately 150 applications have been received by the board since filing opened Monday.

No sugar coupons will be mailed out for another three or four weeks, George H. Wilson, chief clerk of the board, said. All coupons will be sent through the mail and you are not to call for them at the board.

Applicants are also reminded that all questions on the application forms must be answered, otherwise they will be returned for completion.

Lt. Clifford Vars Safe In England

Second Lt. Clifford J. Vars, missing in action since March 18 from his A-29 base in France, is now safe, according to information received from him by his wife, Mrs. Laura Elizabeth Vars, of 2008 Twenty-third.

The letter that told of his safety came from a hospital in England where he was taken after his return to allied forces, but no details were given as to his injuries. He had been in the European theater since October.

Lt. Vars, whose parents live in Tulia, is a former Texas Tech student. His wife and baby daughter, Beverly Jean, make their home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. McCasland.

Westerners Look Good In Workout

The Lubbock Westerners football squad showed promise Friday afternoon, but there were still a lot of kinks to be ironed out, as the squad staged the first intra-squad game condition scrimmage of the spring football camp.

Coaches Dixie White and George Philbrick paired up the squad, and turned them loose. The result was a one-sided victory for the Blacks and John Lanham turned on the steam, and paired with the running and passing of Jack Vaughn, rolled to a 33 to 6 victory over the Whites.

Lanham got away twice for touchdown gallops of about 50 yards, and romped 20 yards for another. The other two members of the backfield for the blacks were Don Austin and Loyd Stevenson, the latter turning in a great performance of blocking to clear the holes for Lanham and Vaughn to romp through.

Lennan Stroud made the touchdown for the White, scoring on a 15-yard romp with the ball. John Paul Jones, Bruce LeMaire and Bobby Booker were other backfield men for the Whites.

Gene James, a newcomer in the line for the Whites, was standing out in the forward wall, while O. C. Foster, big tackle, lived up to all expectation at his position and played some great football in the forward wall of the Blacks.

Another injury struck in the camp of the Westerners, but is not expected to prove serious. Wayne Cobb injured his head during a blocking workout before the scrimmage session started, and will be confined to his bed for about three days.

Second Openers Hard Hit By Bad Weather

NEW YORK, April 20. (AP) — Baseball's once-postponed dedication to late President Franklin D. Roosevelt highlighted series of "second" openers today that pulled 84,731 fans through the gates for seven games.

Sam Rayburn, speaker of the House, and Under-Secretary of War Robert Patterson participated in brief Washington ceremonies followed by a minute of silent prayer.

Although chilly winds held down attendance, just as cloudy skies and showers cut Tuesday's first day business, the first 15 openings produced a total of 186,324 customers. The World Champion St. Louis Cardinals were traveling today and will pry off the lid at Sportsman's Park tomorrow against Cincinnati.

Regional Track Takes Spotlight

(By The Associated Press)

Seven of eight regional meets to qualify athletes for the state meet at Austin May 3 and 4 will be held in Texas High school track and field and tennis this week-end.

Region No. 1 at Canyon had to postpone its meet to Monday and Tuesday because of rain, but meets

PERMIT RECEIVED

Official permission was received Friday from Roy Bedichek, head of the Interscholastic League at Austin, for the postponement of the Region One meet at Canyon. It was announced by Boone McClure, director general of the meet. At the same time, McClure revealed that another heavy rain at Canyon Thursday night and Friday morning clinched the need for postponement, and leaves a damper over even the new dates.

at Abilene, Dallas, Kilgore, Houston, San Marcos, Kingsville and El Paso will be held Saturday as scheduled.

Most of the record-breaking is due at the San Marcos meet where the two San Antonio schools — Thomas Jefferson and Brackenridge — compete. August Erfurth of Brackenridge is expected to shave his 120-yard high hurdles mark of 14.6, an event he already has made in 14.1 this season; the Jefferson mile relay team has bettered the record of 3:30.3 and Tom Watt of Brackenridge threatens his own mark of 22:7 in the low hurdles. A couple of other records should be wiped out with George Rodgers of San Antonio Tech due to smash the high jump standard of 6 feet 1-8 inch and Desmond Kidd of Austin expected to better the 440-yard dash mark of 51 seconds.

Several records also are in danger in the Dallas regional meet. The 440-yard relay mark of 44.7 is likely to fall. Paschal (Fort Worth) last week made this event in 44.8. Claude Allen of Midlothian did the high hurdles in 14.8, which is two-tenths of a second under the regional record.

Former Gloves Champ Plans To Turn Pro

SAN ANTONIO, April 20. (AP)—Tom Attra, long a top figure in Golden Gloves boxing in Texas and the nation, has quit amateur ranks and plans to turn professional within the next two weeks, says the San Antonio Express.

The paper said it was informed Attra would fight in San Antonio for Promoter Frankie Edwards the first week in May and for the same promoter at Galveston a week later.

Attra, a light-heavyweight, was National Golden Gloves champion several years ago.

The Express said it was Tom's ambition to fight a few professional bouts while at his peak, then after the war open a gym in San Antonio or Austin. His current pro adviser will be Fritzie Zivic, who is in the Army as boxing coach at Camp Normoyle here.

Giants Keep On Winning Trail

NEW YORK, April 20. (AP)—Phil Weintraub, veteran first baseman, clouted two home runs, each with a mate on base, as the New York Giants defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 10 to 6, before 12,640 fans today. The New Yorkers opened their home schedule with their fourth victory of the young season.

Harry Feldman, the winning pitcher, was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh with the Dodgers only one run behind but Ace Adams protected the home club's lead.

Starter Tom Seats was yanked in the third with the bases loaded and none out and Ernie Lombardi greeted reliefer Clyde King with a two-run single, boosting his season runs batted in total to 13 and giving the Giants a lead they never yielded.

Feldman helped his own cause with a home run in the sixth after Mike Sandlock touched him for a round tripper in the second and Ed Stanky did the same in the sixth. Weintraub's damaging clouts came in the first and eighth, the finale off rookie Ray Hathaway.

Boys Club Fighters Stage Rugged Show

The Lubbock Boys club fighters staged the first of four elimination fight cards to point toward naming the club champions Friday night with a fast seven fight card that produced plenty of rugged battling from the ring.

The second card will be held next Friday night with the second card expected to bring in a fresh crop of battlers for the program.

The results of the fights last night found Jimmy Kemp winning over John Terry in the 75 pound class; Dennis Adkins won over David Allen in the 78 pound class; Don Stewart won over Keith Newman in the 85 pound class; Roy Alley won over Jerry Kalana and Troy Edwards won over James Lackey in a pair of 105 pound battles, while the other bout was a victory for Weldon Summers over Bobby Leach in the 125 pound class.

Roosevelt Honored In Late Opener As Yanks Win Again

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 20. (AP)—The nation's capital paid its respect to the late President Roosevelt today in the Washington baseball opening as New York's Yankees defeated the Senators, 6 to 3.

A hushed throng of 24,494 stood as Under-Secretary of War Patterson; Will Harridge, American League president; Walter Johnson, one-time Washington pitching great; and Owner Clark Griffith of the Senators lead the march to the flag pole for brief ceremonies, followed by a minute of silent prayer in memory of the man who frequently befriended baseball.

Sam Rayburn, speaker of the house, stood in front of the presidential box and threw out the first ball, caught by Santiago Ullrich, rookie Washington pitcher from Cuba.

Under heavily-overcast skies, the game began as a pitchers' battle between Floyd Bevens of the Yankees and Mickey Haefner, little Washington southpaw, but neither was around at the finish.

Yankee bats began speaking with authority in a three-run assault in the fourth inning, and they made it 5-0 in the fifth before Bevens grew wild. With the score standing 5-3, Yankees, in the sixth Al Gettel, freshman from Norfolk of the Piedmont League, came in for the Yankees and blanked Washington the rest of the way.

Qualifying For Golf Meet Opens

Qualifying scores for the high-low golf tournament at the Lubbock Country club took a fast pick-up Friday afternoon as club members turned in 43 cards to date, with two more days remaining for shooting the first round scores.

Amos Howard set the early pace with a blistering 70 which will stand as the target for others to shoot at during the next two days. His closest rival was Ted Tipps, who came in with a 78.

The pairings for the playoff will be based on the top and bottom score of the bracket, the second high and next to low and so on down the line.

This is the first of four major tournaments planned for the club this season. The early qualifying scores turned in to date are:

Amos Howard 70, Ted Tipps 78, Dr. W. A. Shaal 79, Chick Garland 80, H. M. Chick 80, Henry Eidson 81, P. H. Pope 81, O. A. Terry 82, John Kattman 82, Wright Kerr 82, C. N. Woods 83, H. J. Patterson 83, Tom LeMond 85, Olen Stewart 86, Ray Dickey 86, C. H. Young 86.

Powell McWhirter 87, Al Townsend 87, J. A. Raley 87, Floyd Bowen 88, C. C. Caldwell 88, C. F. Anderson 88, J. B. McClendon 89, Dutch Wigington 89, M. B. Hilburn 90, Cliff Widener 90, H. H. Holmes 90, H. L. McLarty 91, M. A. Cooper 91, Dr. M. F. Swart 91.

Jake Warnick 92, N. R. Carter 93, W. G. Alderson 94, E. R. Howell 94, Cpl. Paul C. Dean 95, Jack Markham 96, E. H. Armstrong 98, Sam Campbell 98, Jerry LeMond 98, J. M. Welborn 100, B. E. Adair 101, A. A. Marchant 101 and Walter Granberry 104.

Horned Frogs Capture Victory Over Aggies

FORT WORTH, April 20. (AP)—TCU's Horned Frogs won their first Southwest Conference baseball game in three starts here today over Texas A. and M., 7-1. The two clubs meet in the last game of their series here tomorrow afternoon.

The Frogs jumped on the pitching of Charlie Smith for seven hits and seven runs in the first three innings to ice away the game. Hubert Walters of the Frogs allowed the Aggies nine safeties but spaced them out and coasted in for the victory.

Region Five Tennis Tourney Postponed

HOUSTON, April 20 (AP)—Because of rain, the Region Five tennis tournament was postponed here today until Monday. First round matches are carded Monday afternoon, semi-finals Tuesday morning and finals Tuesday afternoon. Winners will qualify for the state tournament at Austin May 3. Region Athletic Director Harry Fouke announced no change in plans for the track meet here Saturday in which preliminaries will begin at 9 a. m. and finals at 2:30.

Another Rice Star Is Killed In Action

HOUSTON, April 20. (AP) — Lieut. Bert Sellman, former basketball and football star at Rice Institute, was killed in action on Luzon on March 24, his wife was notified by the War department today.

The infantry lieutenant was the second ex-Rice athletic reported killed in action in the past two days. Lieut. Billy Heard, son of Houston police chief Percy Heard, was listed yesterday as killed on Okinawa.

Lieut. Sellman sparked the first undefeated Rice basketball champions in 1940. He starred on the Rice gridiron in 1939.

Ready For The Pacific!

Transfer Of Materials Arranged

NOW THAT Army officials have announced that some fighting personnel already is being transferred from the European theater of war to that of the Pacific, it is interesting to note that plans for moving our principal strength and effort from the Old World to the Orient have been considerably changed since they were first announced.

Originally, it was said that only personnel could be moved from Europe to the Far Pacific. Equipment was to have been left on the scene, later to be sold to the best advantage. But now this plan has been abandoned and at least 70 per cent of the fighting equipment in Europe will be moved for use against Japan if it is needed.

First combat troops to see service in the Pacific following defeat of Hitler will have new equipment, fresh from the United States. Only in this manner can they get into action quickly. Time will be required to gather and sort the huge array of armament in Europe.

Anticipating the transfer, the job of rehabilitating equipment has been under way for many weeks, and with unusual success. It is reported that 80 per cent of big guns have been found to be serviceable, while recovery is not so large in smaller weapons. Little food will be transferred.

Radio and the hundreds of delicate precision instruments used for fire control and bombing must be waterproofed before being taken into the humidity of the Pacific. Rate of deterioration is high, and corrosion and fungi do almost as much damage as the enemy.

An unusual feature of plans for outfitting troops in the Pacific is that many captured German weapons will be included. It is poetic justice that Axis weapons will be used to destroy the last remnants of the Axis.

Fun—Plus Information

PUBLIC schools in the city of Detroit have revived the spelling bee. Hundreds of students of all ages are taking part in elimination contests. Starting with the various schools, winners go to district meets, and finally those who survive the preliminaries will merge into a grand finale. The contests are proving as interesting to the public as they were in the days of reading, writing and arithmetic.

Reports of the early contests reveal that many pupils stumbled on simple words. None seemed to have trouble with the vowel combination of "ei" and "ie" which trips so many oldsters. One girl went out on "stopped," after staying in for hours. A boy who appeared to be a sure winner in his school spelled reindeer with an "A." Another missed out on "factory," still another on "reproach."

At another school a seventh-grader went down on "explanatory." And eighth grade girl carried off the honors at her school on "unconscious." Another school champion was victorious on "victorious." The word "judicial" stumped everybody in one class except a 12-year-old girl.

This revival of an old-fashioned school activity is providing great fun for students and patrons alike, in Detroit.

It would do the same in Texas—and in Lubbock, and hand-in-hand with the fun would go valuable information.

The Trend In Air Warfare

TWO PRINCIPLES in air warfare have been established of which fighting men the world over have taken cognizance, convinced that in the future the warring nation which ignores them will pay the penalty.

The first principle is that fighting planes are employed most effectively "in strength." The second is that plane formations must not be inflexible.

Under the first principle it has been found that the airplane pilot is no lone knight errant battling single-handed. He is a collective contender for triumph and the more planes are in the battle on his side, the better for him and for his companions.

At the same time the measure of independence inherent in the operation of a fighting plane must be preserved. As a fleet is decimated in warfare, and there is a shortage of trained group leaders, the tendency is to tie a large number of planes to one leader. If he is lost, the planes he led are much more subject to annihilation if the formation is rigidly inflexible.

At least that is the expert testimony we get from a man who played an important role in the training many of the more than 7,000 pilots contributed to the U. S. Army Air Forces by Lubbock Army Air Field.

Many a man has worried himself into an early grave because his physician told him the worst thing he could do is to worry about his condition.

The One Minute Sermon

Hearken unto me, my people; and give ear unto me, O my nation: for a law shall proceed from me, and I will make my judgment to rest for a light of the people.

My righteousness is near; my salvation is gone forth, and mine arms shall judge the people; the isles shall wait upon me, and on mine arm shall they trust.—Isaiah 51:4-5.

THE UNREAL WORLD

THE piano arrived! Frederic's heaven was complete. He improvised, he played, he composed. Waltzes, preludes, nocturnes, came from his pen, one after another, in tumbling profusion. "Ah," he would say, "wait until they hear this one!" Then he would begin to talk with enthusiasm of his forthcoming concerts. He would forget himself and remind George of what she had hoped he had forgot: of his purpose in coming to France.

"Will you still harp on it!"

He was apologetic. "George, I'm sorry."

She was not convinced. "Frederic, I try so hard to make you see the pattern of your life—then you talk to me of concerts—"

"—Yes, George. I will forget them."

"All that I've been building up," she said, "falls down."

"—And you have to pick me up again?" he said meekly.

"I'm serious, Frederic; and I want you to be serious."

"—I sit at your feet, Madame."

"Then, Monsieur, you will not talk of concerts. There will be no concerts. Do we understand that?"

"—Of course, Madame."

"Now or ever!"

"—George, don't scream."

"You will create great music—"

"For you, George."

"For the world!"

"—And who is my world, George?"

They were gay, they were serious, they were light of heart. They had each other and they had shut out the world—the other world — they created their own.

"—As beautiful and as unreal," she said, "as our island home. The other world must always be shut out, Frederic. You will not play for mobs. Your genius is creating music for lesser men to play. Write it, Frederic. We shall enjoy it, just the two of us—then we shall send it on to Paris, and—"

"—And then, Madame?"

"Oh, Frederic, you are impossible!"

* * *

JOZEF ELSNER haunted the salesrooms of Pleyel et Cie for news of Frederic and whenever new Chopin scores arrived from Majorca "for immediate publication," he would be the first to go through them. He would frequently sit himself down to one of Pleyel's best pianos — without a word of admonition from Monsieur Pleyel — and play one or more of the Chopin compositions.

He was at the piano now, in a despondent mood, and the piece he was playing — a Chopin nocturne—did nothing to life his despondency.

"Bravo!" cried Henri Dupont as Jozef Elsner finished the nocturne.

Monsieur Pleyel said: "That's what I call saleable—as well as beautiful."

Jozef Elsner peered over his spectacles.

"What do you say, Jozef?"

"—Humph."

"Elsner, where's your ear?" He picked up a sheaf of Chopin scores. "Magnificent! Every one! A waltz—Mazurka — Nocturne—another nocturne — Waltz Brilliante —" He deposited them on the piano. "Go through them, Elsner! Go through them—"

"Is this all he sent? He sent nothing else?"

"Is this all he sent? He sent nothing else?"

Monsieur Pleyel looked at Henri Dupont and Henri Dupont looked at Monsieur Pleyel.

"—I was thinking, Louis, of a particular work. Oh, this music is all right. No! More than that. It is charming. Frederic knows what he is doing. Don't misunderstand me, Louis. But this other piece that I am always looking for—it is a bigger work—a very important piece—the Polonaise."

Monsieur Pleyel wet his lips. Henri Dupont rubbed his nose.

"I don't know about the Polonaise," Monsieur Pleyel said. "It may be in the next bundle. Who knows? I'll look forward to it. But these are in hand! Elsner, these will sell!"

Jozef Elsner said: "I have no doubt."

"Go through them. Convince yourself—"

Jozef Elsner shook his head. He got up from the piano. "Louis, you are arranging for Frederic's concerts?"

"Concerts! And what concerts! Let him write works like these and there won't be concert halls big enough!"

"You think he won't return, Louis?"

Louis Pleyel blustered and Henri Dupont's mouth fell open. Louis Pleyel said: "I think no such thing. Elsner, why do you accuse me?"

Jozef Elsner twisted his head. "He wrote you he wasn't returning? Eh? He told you that, didn't he, Louis?"

Jozef Elsner reached for his hat.

"—He did tell you?"

"—Yes, of course. That's how I know. He tells me everything There's nothing he doesn't tell me. I am his teacher. Why wouldn't he tell me?"

Jozef Elsner twisted his head again. "And now, Louis — I can tell you something. He will return. Yes. I don't think. I know. You will see, Louis; you will see."

He clamped his hat on his head. "Good day, Messieurs; good day."

* * *

WHEN there was no news from Frederic, Jozef Elsner made news up out of his own head. It was important that he do it. He must never fail to post his accustomed letter to Papa and Mamma Chopin.

"—The music he sends back will make him quite famous. There is no doubt about that. His concerts, too, will be very successful. For these reasons, my dear friends, I have urged him to stay in Majorca as long as possible—"

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

AFTER quite a few years of living and looking at life I still believe in the inherent goodness of human beings.

But here are three items, all published in the same paper on the same day, which make me wonder whether, perhaps, I am not looking at life through rose-colored glasses.

No. 1: A Brooklyn physician, who invented an improved bandage and obtained war contracts to manufacture it in quantity for the Army, Navy and Coast Guard, is arrested for diverting 3,000,000 yards of priority cloth to the black market, where it was used to make curtains, handkerchiefs and other commercial merchandise. The physician is alleged to have reaped an illegal profit of $500,000.

BRANDEIS

No. 2: A disabled war veteran in Memphis, Tenn., has filed a suit for divorce on the ground that his battle wounds had caused his wife to desert him, because his wounds constituted "a burden which she did not care to assume." The veteran lost his right lung and suffered severe wounds in the chest, back and abdomen during the invasion of France.

No. 3: A New York horse dealer is held in $500 bail for selling a diseased horse to a medically discharged service man, who had paid him $320 for it.

* * *

There you have it. Three cases in one day—and Heaven knows how many more that are not reported in the newspapers.

I know what you are going to say: These are exceptions.

Fortunately they are. Yet while these cases are particularly flagrant there are hundreds where cruelty and selfishness may not be so pronounced, but they are there just the same.

I don't know whether you remember the last war. I do.

I remember the parades and the shouting and the hysterics and the speeches and the fanfares and the promises.

And I also remember the thousands of returned soldiers wearily going from place to place looking for jobs—for any kind of jobs.

I remember the apple-selling on Fifth Avenue and the breadlines in Columbus Square.

I remember the foreclosures and the broken homes and the broken promises.

I remember how the heroes of yesterday became the burdens of today.

* * *

THERE is still time to see to it that we won't have a repetition of the contemptible post-war era of the last catastrophe.

But the signs already point in the wrong direction.

Already we talk entirely too much of new automobiles and new radios and new homes and a new world of more comfort and more ease and more prosperity and more gadgets.

But what are we doing about broken bones and broken minds and broken hearts?

Yes, the boys will be coming back home soon.

But what are we doing to make them come back to the kind of a world for which they are giving those bones and those minds and those hearts?

What are we doing to make the things we write to them come true?

We are having waste-paper drives and waste-metal drives and waste-fat drives.

I hope it won't be necessary to have a drive for wasted humans!

Truman's Background

New Chief Tolerant, Efficient

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

REPUBLICAN and Democratic colleagues of President Truman on the Senate committee he created and headed testify to his thorough knowledge of the operation of the government establishment in Washington. Next to the late President Roosevelt and James F. Byrnes, he was, they believe, the best informed man on this vast subject.

The new Chief Executive knows the good and bad points, from his dealings with departmental heads and their key bureau men. Through personal experience he learned which men were doing an efficient job and which were bungling. He also discovered which cabinet members held in contempt the legislative branch and did not feel compelled to cooperate.

Mr. Truman has shown that he does not harbor petty grudges, and the offenders will not be disciplined because of their obstreperous behavior toward him. But he may inaugurate many changes because of his detailed information on their individual performances in their present posts. In short, he has efficiency rating data of a unique sort.

TUCKER

The Truman committee never made the charge openly, but its chairman reached the conclusion that the State department had shown scant regard for American interests in some of its foreign deals. Whether Mr. Truman retains Ed Stettinius or not, he will undoubtedly insist on a tightening-up in this sector.

State, the investigators found, frequently negotiated leases for properties in South America and elsewhere without having the remotest idea of the boundary lines of the areas we took over. As a result, the Army, Navy and Air Forces have erected millions of dollars' worth of buildings on land over which we have no legal control. Several minor squabbles with foreign contries have resulted from these blunders.

Attorney General Francis Biddle bucked "Chairman" Truman time and again, refusing to forward the documents essential to the senatorial inquiry. The AG assumed what some committee members regarded as a "typically bureaucratic attitude." With the political courage which marked his conducting of the investigation, Mr. Truman slapped a subpoena on the D of J and forced it to disgorge the papers.

High Army officials, especially Undersecretary Bob Patterson and Gen. Brehon Somervell, defied the Trumanites on several occasions. They questioned the legislators' condemnation of the Canol and Alcan projects, and continued to spend money on them long after they had been denounced as wasteful and unnecessary. The military men took the position that the "Army can do no wrong."

For awhile President Truman will be too occupied with foreign problems to put to profit these pre-White House lessons. But his friends look for a large-scale housecleaning and a mighty exodus from Washington as soon as he can tackle domestic troubles.

* * *

TOLERANCE: Minority racial groups have shown tremendous interest in the new President's views on their problems. Their representatives here have scraped his record to discover whether he will follow in the footsteps of their greatest American benefactor—FDR.

Although Mr. Truman is not the crusading type, he is one of the most broadminded men in American public life today. A seemingly unimportant incident that occurred early last fall revealed his utter freedom from any kind of bigotry. While congratulating Senator Wagner of New York on his renomination, the future Chief Executive inquired as to the identity of Wagner's opponent.

The latter replied, "A young fellow named Curran. The Republicans up my way don't usually nominate a Catholic, but I guess they thought he would take votes from me. However, I have no worries on that score."

"Of course not," commented the Missourian. "I am a Thirty-Second Degree Mason, but the Catholics have always voted for me out my way. The American people are too grown-up to let such petty considerations influence them."

As further evidence of Mr. Truman's attitude, he supported the Fair Employment Practices bill and the move to outlaw the poll tax. Indeed, the spirit of toleration prevails within his own family. He is a Baptist, while Mrs. Truman is an Episcopalian.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

WE SHALL probably not have to tighten our belts as much as the alarmists predicted a few weeks ago, according to national food authorities in New York.

Early Spring is always the low point in stocks. The political controversy over disappearing meat fans fears of famine. Knowledge that hungry Europe is looking to us for aid also worries housewives.

There is no cause for panic," asserts Paul S. Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America. "The civilian population will eat about five per cent more food than in prewar years. But the collapse of military resistance in Germany will not result in any immediate easing of shortages in this country."

LEMAN

Meat, fats, oil, canned goods, fresh fruits and sugar will continue tight. Our diet will be less varied but not less nourishing. Unfortunately, we shall lack what we most enjoy —juicy steaks, rich golden butter, sweets — hence the family is likely to think things worse than they are.

Poor crop weather and extraordinary relief demands could upset calculations. But in general the trade experts are reassuring.

* * *

CHICKEN: We ran over our allotment of sugar last year; that means a small reduction in 1945. A dry spell in Cuba diminished reserves. Soft drink manufacturers, confectioners and industrial users will be worse off than housekeepers. Heavy snows caused a very poor yield of maple syrup and sugar.

Uncle Sam asks farmers to raise extra poultry to offset scarcities in beef, pork and lamb ,and as an encouragement will lift price ceilings on July 1. Otherwise military requirements — double those of last year — will cut the civilian supply.

Latest reports show that the marketing of chicken meat is behind 1944, especially in the Midwest. But in dearths, such as the present one, many fowl do not pass through ordinary trade channels.

Ultraviolet rays used in hatcheries stimulate greater output. These beams have characteristics of sunlight, decreasing mortality by around 60 per cent and effecting larger growth.

More turkeys should be available. Farmers say they hope to boost current estimates. The Department of Agriculture is making experiments in raising a small breed weighing from one-half to three-quarters of a typical Thanksgiving bird. If enough of these can be produced, they will appeal to families which refrain from buying giant turkeys lest they dine on it cold, as hash, croquettes and soup for a week.

Although eggs may be fewer, federal procurement has eased off. The public will probably get an extra dozen per person to add to the record 1944 consumption figure—349.

"Cat Bites Woman When Monkey Pulls Her Tail."—Headline. The person who wrote that headline should be told that a pronoun should be so placed in a sentence that there will be no doubt as to its antecedent.

A naturalist says a centipede has only 42 legs. We think it was pretty lowdown of nature to short change an innocent centipede.

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — The United States has another opportunity to exert its leadership for international co-operation and to reverse the course which after the First World war promoted nationalism and nationalistic rivalries that contributed to the Second World war.

STOKES

This is in the matter of tariff reduction.

The State department, with the backing of President Truman, now is pushing before the House Ways and means committee an expanded reciprocal tariff reduction program embodied in a bill by Rep. "Muley" Doughton (D., N. C.), committee chairman.

The subject of tariff reduction seems to frighten the average American as too complicated and confusing. But it is simple when you get down to the fundamentals. Tariff reductions make it possible for us to trade more easily with other nations, make for more jobs in industry and open more outlets for our farm produce.

It's bread - and - meat - and - job business. It should be watched in Congress, for there are those who would mess up this program, if possible.

* * *

Part of Peace Plan

The pending bill continues the reciprocal trade program inaugurated by former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, whereby representatives of our State department meet with representatives of other governments and agree to reduce tariffs. But it goes farther.

Under existing law, tariffs can be cut only 50 per cent below rates in the Smoot-Hawley Tariff act of 1930. The pending bill permits a cut of another 50 per cent, that is a total cut of 75 per cent below the Smoot-Hawley rates.

This tariff reduction program is an important part of the general international co-operation program which includes the creation of an international political organization to keep the peace, and the proposed International Bank and Stabilization fund to help finance world recovery which was submitted to Congress some weeks ago. They go hand in hand.

* * *

IT is timely to recall the course of events that followed the last war. In his final message to Congress vetoing the emergency Fordney Tariff act, President Wilson warned that the raising of tariff barriers would lead to disaster, because the only way that Europe could pay her debts and finance her reconstruction was to be able to trade with us so she would have the wherewithal.

But his warning was not heeded. Congress passed the bill over his veto. In 1922 it passed the so-called Fordney-McCumber act boosting rates all along the line. The crime was fully consummated by passage of the Hawley-Smoot act during the Hoover administration.

* * *

One Hope For Future

Secretary Hull tried to reverse the world trend toward nationalism and open up trade with his reciprocal trade program in 1934, but it was too late. That program, however, did accomplish some tariff reductions and stood as a symbol of what might be done.

It holds the only real hope for the future.

Unless the United States takes the lead, we may go into another such era of selfish and short-sighted nationalism, it was asserted by Assistant Secretary of State Will Clayton. He gave the Ways and Means committee some solid reasons, both for continuation of the program and for further leeway to reduce rates.

* * *

HE showed that our exports have increased considerably to those countries with which we have reciprocal trade agreements that lowered tariff rates, while they increased much less with those with which we do not have such agreements.

He pointed out that we have fully exhausted tariff reduction—that is, the 50 per cent under present law—as regards 42 per cent of our total dutiable imports from all countries on the basis of 1939 values. Unless the span for reduction is increased, there could be no further reduction on this trade

This is particularly important with respect to our two biggest customers, the United Kingdom and Canada. In the case of the former, present tariff reduction possibilities have been exhausted on 90 per cent of dutiable imports from that country in 1939, and 92 per cent in the case of Canada.

Eagle Pass Field Being Inactivated

EAGLE PASS, April 20 (U.P.)—Temporary inactivation of Eagle Pass Army Air field will be completed by about May 15, the War department has notified Col. John H. Bundy, commanding officer at the field.

The 25th and last class of cadets were graduated at the field last Sunday, making a total of 6,161 student officers and aviation cadets trained at the field in its two and one half years of existence. The field has served as an advanced and then a basic flying school.

A minimum number of personnel will remain here to keep the field on inactive status under jurisdiction of the Central Flying Training command, at Randolph field.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

War Dads Start Local Chapter

Steps toward organization of a Lubbock county chapter of American War Dads were taken at a meeting Friday night in the 99th district courtroom.

Speaking in the interests of the proposed organization were J. H. Conway of Tulsa, national vice president, and Horace Griggs, president of the Amarillo chapter.

Fourteen fathers of boys or girls in the armed forces signed membership cards.

Meet Again April 30

Organization probably will be completed in a meeting at the same place Monday night, April 30.

J. A. Raley, jr., was named temporary president and Gilmer G. Aycock temporary secretary.

Raley informed the gathering that more than 10,000 county boys and girls are serving or have served in the armed services.

Objectives of the War Dads are to assist returning service men and women in getting emloyment, helping them to adjust themselves into civilian life and to aid them in any other way possible. Founded in Kansas City in 1942, chapters of War Dads have been organized all over the nation, in Old Mexico and Hawaii.

Those Eligible

Eligible for membership are fathers of service men or women, guardians of service men or women and fathers-in-law of service men or women. Fathers interested in the projected chapter may obtain information by calling Aycock's residence, dial 7035, or contracting Raley. Dues are $3 a year.

Membership cards were signed by Robert H. Lowrey, Grady West, James W. Jackson, F. V. Hinson, Jimmie Cunningham, J. F. Peterson, Charles P. Carlock, Hugh Dryer, G. P. Kuykendall, Charles E. Wedt, J. A. Raley, jr., Ben S. Smith, Gilmer G. Aycock, and N. F. Nelson.

Brief Bits Of Local News

The Office of Price administration has filed a civil suit in the office of Mrs. Olive Fluke, deputy district clerk for the Lubbock division of the northern federal district of Texas, against William A. Wilbanks, Lubbock real estate man, seeking damages in the amount of three times the amount overcharged tenants as well as an injunction restraining future violations of rent regulations. The complaint alleged that Wilbanks demanded and received rents over and above the maximum ceiling price in the amount of $95; that he accepted a bonus of $10 for rental of an apartment; that change of tenancy forms were not filed with the area rent office, and that the tenants were not required to sign the landlord's copy of registration statement.

Mrs. Olive Fluke, deputy district clerk for the Lubbock division of the northern federal district of Texas, announced Friday that a civil suit had been filed in her office under workmen's compensation for 401 weeks compensation or $8,020 by Harmon Johnson of Lubbock against the New Amsterdam Casualty company for injuries sustained from a bull wheel falling on him.

Donald Kleinschmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kleinschmidt, 2324 Broadway, underwent surgery Friday morning in Lubbock General hospital.

Visiting his parents near Ropesville this week was 1st Lt. Gene Bond, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bond. He is an instructor of glider pilots at Laurinburg field, Maxton, N. C.

An Aggie Muster will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in Hilton hotel. All South Plains former students of Texas A. and M. college are urged to attend.

Pfc. J. B. Stephenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stephenson of 1505 Ave. V, who was reported missing in action since January 20, is now back with allied forces, his parents were officially informed Friday. He was taken prisoner by the Germans on the date he was missing, and was liberated by allied troops April 2.

J. H. Hankins, Lubbock county landowner, gravely ill at his home, 2403 Broadway, was reported steadily weaker late Friday night. He is a former member of the city commission.

A gun, bike locks, lights and other property were taken in the burglary Thursday night of Pangburn's Supply company, at 1613 Ave. H, police said.

Walter T. (Buck) Fulcher, 30, was charged with assault with a prohibitive weapon, metal "knucks," in a complaint filed Friday in the court of C. E. Lynn, justice of peace. The complainant was C. T. Leach. Fulcher was arrested Thursday night only a few hours after he posted bond of $1,000 on a charge of theft by fraud over $50. Thus Fulcher is under two felony charges. He had not been arraigned on the latest charge, officers said.

Willie Wilson, 20-year-old Mexican, posted bond of $5,000 Friday afternoon on a charge of murder in connection with the death Sunday of Mercey Romero, 19, at 12th Ave. K, according to Chief Deputy Sheriff Raymond Land.

An army lieutenant was arrested Friday by prowl car officer Gilbert Newton after an automobile chase from a honky-tonk on the Plainview highway to the vicinity of the courthouse. Newton found him in possession of four quarts of whisky. The officer was turned over to Frank Mitchell, liquor board officer, for questioning.

F. A. Stephenson and Harold (Schoolboy) Long, Lubbock negroes, were taking the side roads en route to Lubbock from Amarillo Friday, but a liquor board officer, Frank Mitchell of Lubbock, showed up anyway. Counting what they probably paid for a heavy load of beer, whisky and rum, Mitchell estimated their loss at around $600. Stephenson was fined $100 and costs and Long $150 and costs in Swisher county court. Mitchell, accompanied by J. P. Middleton, acting constable here, made the arrests east of Happy in that county. The negroes had 22 cases of beer, two cases of whisky and a case of rum.

B-29s Batter Kyushu Area

GUAM, Saturday, April 21. (AP)—A very large force of Superfortresses, estimated at between 200 and 300, visually bombed nine Kyushu airfields this morning in their third bombing strike in five days to neutralize bases from which the Japanese have been attacking American forces at Okinawa.

The Superforts unloaded demolition bombs from medium altitude in a strike lasting an hour and a half.

The last B-29 strikes directly supporting the Okinawa operations in an effort to check Nipponese air attacks were made April 17 and 18.

Apparently they have achieved neutralization, because no strong Japanese raids have been made on Okinawa since April 16.

Dividing into nine separate task forces today, the Superforts pounded fields ranging the length and breadth of Kyushu, from Kanoya in the south—only 325 miles north of Okinawa — to Usa in the north.

The 21st bomber command reported opposition apparently was negligible.

Number Of Cancer Deaths Increases

AUSTIN, April 20 (AP)—Cancer has caused 49,264 deaths in Texas during the past 10 years, the state department of public health reported today in urging education and tightening of control measures as a means of lowering the mortality rate.

The department's figures reveal that deaths from cancer have been mounting steadily in Texas since 1935 when 4,163 were reported. There were 5,626 in 1944.

Teachers To Discuss GI Bill Of Rights

Educational phases of the GI Bill of Rights will be discussed followed by a business meeting and election of officers and delegates at a meeting of the house of delegates of the West Texas Teachers association of district 4 of State Teachers association in the Lubbock High school auditorium at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

R. W. Matthews, vice president of the West Texas Teachers association and acting president since the resignation of Bonnie K. Dysart, announced today that delegates from 22 counties are expected to attend today's meeting.

A nominating committee will meet at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the auditorium for the purpose of nominating officers, 19 delegates to the state meeting in September and members for two state executive committees. Nominations may also be made from the floor at the business meeting following the program in the afternoon.

Funeral Set Today For D. G. Zachary

Funeral services for D. G. Zachary, 64, Lubbock resident for 21 years who died Friday morning at his home, 1615 Twenty-second, will be conducted this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Sanders chapel with Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, officiating.

Zachary suffered a cerebral hemorrhage in 1942 and was stricken again last Sunday.

Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

Survivors are his wife; three daughters, Mrs. C. V. Binnicker of Lubbock, Mrs. T. H. McElroy of Brownfield, Mrs. E. W. Foreman of Harlingen; seven sons, Frank A. and Clark of Lubbock, Truman A. of Plainview, Bobby of Houston, Ted, seaman second class stationed at San Diego, Calif.; Rogstad, motor machinist mate 3/c of the Coast Guard stationed in New York, D. G., jr., who is civilian flight instructor at Uvalde; three brothers, B. S. Day of Sacramento, Calif., Edgar Day of Muleshoe; E. S. Zachary of Ft. Worth, three sisters, Mrs. John Phifer of McAdoo, Mrs. B. Middleton of Hamlin, Mrs. Dean Hudgens of Wichita Falls; 17 grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be S. L. Newcomb, H. N. Webb, W. O. Worley, Gordon Gross, Vernon King and M. B. Bray.

Potato And Onion Ceilings Unchanged

The Lubbock district Office of Price administration announced Friday that producer ceiling prices that will be established for certified and war approved seed potatoes and for onion sets grown in 1945 will be the same as those now in effect for the 1944 crop.

Producers ceiling prices for certified and war approved seed potatoes are established on a dollar-and-cent per hundred pounds, sacked, F.O.B. the farm basis, and according to the date of delivery, OPA said.

Producers ceiling prices for onion sets are established on a dollar-and-cent per pound, bulk basis and according to the date of delivery at a country shipping point.

The same delivery periods and the same price differentials will be used for the 1945 crops as were used in marketing the 1944 crops of certified and war approved seed potatoes and onion sets, OPA explained.

Advance notice of the proposed producer ceiling prices is given to comply with the provisions of the Emergency Price Control act of 1942 as amended.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP)—The cotton futures market moved lower today on commission house profit taking and hedging which met indifferent mill buying and scattered selling. Final prices were at or near the lows for the day to show losses of 5 to 35 cents a bale.

The reaction was ascribed partly to technical reasons following the establishment of new seasonal highs. Some unsettlement was also created by the War Food administration announcement that all 1943 loan cotton unredeemed by August 1 would be placed in a pool to be sold for the account of producers. Some traders felt it would bring heavier offerings in the market since producers can net a profit at current prices for such loan cotton.

Futures closed 5 to 35 cents a bale lower.

Ration Instruction School Held Here

Approximately 112 war price and ration board clerks and members of gasoline and food panels representing 22 surrounding counties attended a school of instruction on the rationing program here Friday conducted by the Lubbock District Office of Price administration.

R. C. Wooldridge, district gasoline rationing officer, conducted a meeting on new gasoline regulations which was attended by gasoline board members and clerks. The meeting was held at the court house.

The food meeting was conducted by Miss Opal Wood, district food rationing officer, in the lecture room of the West Texas Gas company. Food clerks and board members attended.

ABC Holds Boys Club Membership Drive

Members of the American Business club launched a drive for sustaining membership in the Lubbock Boys club at their luncheon Friday in Hilton hotel.

It was pointed out by J. E. Maisen, drive chairman, that it takes about $750 each month to run the club, paying salaries of full time employes, purchasing needed athletic equipment and supplies. He said that money is needed each month to meet obligations and the finance committee of the Boys club decided to stage the drive.

The ABC membership was divided into two groups and membership cards were given each member. These cards were in the form a draft authorizations so that the treasurer of the Boys club may draw on sustaining members' accounts each month.

Captains of each of the two groups are Clarence (Dutch) Wiginton and Varnie Rushing.

Among guests at the luncheon was J. D. King of Oklahoma City. President Jimmie Wilson presided.
