Bombers Lash 10 Jap Bases

Buka Is Heavily Damaged; All Allied Planes Return

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Tuesday, April 6.—Allied warplanes bombed ten Japanese strongholds Monday, including a three hour harassing raid on Buka, General MacArthur reported today.

The far-flung attacks followed a three-day assault on enemy ship concentrations at Kavieng, New Ireland, during which 12 Japanese vessels, including seven warships of the cruiser or destroyer type, were sunk or damaged.

"Our medium bombers executed an extended night harassing raid on the airdrome and adjacent town areas," the communique said in describing the raid on Buka, an island at the northern tip of the Solomon archipelago.

Aircraft Burning

"For three and one-half hours our planes cruised over the target, dropping fragmentation and demolition bombs on the dispersal bays and runway and in Chinatown and Kakil.

"There appeared to be burning aircraft.

"Searchlight and anti-aircraft fire of all calibers were encountered.

"All our planes returned."

In Dutch New Guinea, medium units bombed the enemy-occupied village of Timika. Fires were started.

Cargo Ship Bombed

Heavy bombers located a 4,000-ton enemy cargo ship in Sekar Bay. Close misses were scored with 500-pound bombs but damage to the ship was not determined.

Heavy units of the air arm also bomber and strafed a small enemy surface craft off Zungen Point, New Britain.

Other points hit by the bombers included Ubili village and Cape Gloucester in New Britain; the Japanese base at Madang, New Guinea, where the airdrome and building area were bombed; the airdrome at Finschhafen, New Guinea; the airdrome at Salamaua; and villages in the Saidor area.

DeGaulle-Giraud Parley Delayed

Eisenhower Asks For Postponement

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 5.—A widely-heralded North African conference of Gen. Charles DeGaulle and Gen. Henri Giraud to discuss union of all French elements was postponed indefinitely today at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's request, and one experienced observer said immediately that "the majority of the French there are going to be extremely disappointed."

The American commander's reasons for asking DeGaulle to delay his imminent visit here regarded here as presumably military, and some interpreted the request as part of a master plan for an eventual agreement timed to come between the Tunisian clean-up and invasion of Europe.

Might Upset Plans

Foreign diplomatic sources said the course apparently stemmed from fears that a DeGaulle-Giraud agrement now might upset present North African arrangements.

Just back from North Africa, an experienced observer of ngutral nationality indicated tonight that his observations tally with these beliefs.

He reported that "what almost amounted to a public demonstration in the streets" of North Africa by DeGaullists followed announcement that DeGaulle had accepted Giraud's invitation.

This demonstration and action of the French opposed to DeGaulle, this source said, apparently convinced American and British authorities that DeGaulle's presence might precipitate a political melee in North Africa, hampering military operations and causing confusion among French troops in action on the Tunisian front.

Giraud Aides Involved

They pointed out that Pierre Boisson, Gen. Auguste Nogues and others whose dismissal might be DeGaulle's price of agreement, still are occupying places in Giraud's machinery of administra-

Hershey Doubts Early Draft Of Older Men

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, expressed doubt today that the Army will soon call for the general drafting of men 38 or over and asserted he was unable to say precisely when it might become necessary to induct fathers.

So many factors are involved, he told a press conference, that it is impossible to say definitely that drafting of fathers will begin July 1 or any other date. He previously had told a congressional committee that induction of fathers might start about July 1.

Factors contributing to the uncertainty, he said, include the extent of calls for men by the armed service, the percentage of physical rejections and the number of men deferred as essential individuals in essential work.

"I can't tell how fast public sentiment is going to drive 18 and 19-year-old men out of the factories," he added.

As to men 38 or over, he said he believed the Army must have had "good reasons" for halting the induction of this class last December.

Great Britain Goes On Double Summer Time

LONDON, April 5 (U.P.) —Great Britain today went on double summer time until Aug. 15 to take advantage of the early sunrise.

The change shortens the blackout by an hour.

The new time puts Great Britain six hours ahead of Eastern war time in the United States.

War Declaration Asked In Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia, April 5. (AP)—Bolivia's national defense council asked President Enrique Penaranda today to decree a state of war with the Axis powers, timing the announcement of the step with the arrival of U. S. Vice-President Henry A. Wallace from Arequipa, Peru, on his good-neighbor tour.

The Bolivian foreign minister said Penaranda was expected to sign the decree very soon, but that ceremonies occasioned by Wallace's visit probably would delay a cabinet meeting until tomorrow or Wednesday. After Penaranda signs, the decree must be approved by Congress.

Brazil Actively At War

Bolivia broke relations with the Axis after the meeting of Pan-American foreign ministers last year at Rio De Janeiro, and if the step is approved would become the second South American nation to go actively to war. Brazil is a warrior partner of the United Nations, but is not at war with Japan.

The defense council urged the war decree because of Bolivia's "emergency duties toward American solidarity, and the necessity of activating its means of production while attending to the organization of its transportation and national defense systems."

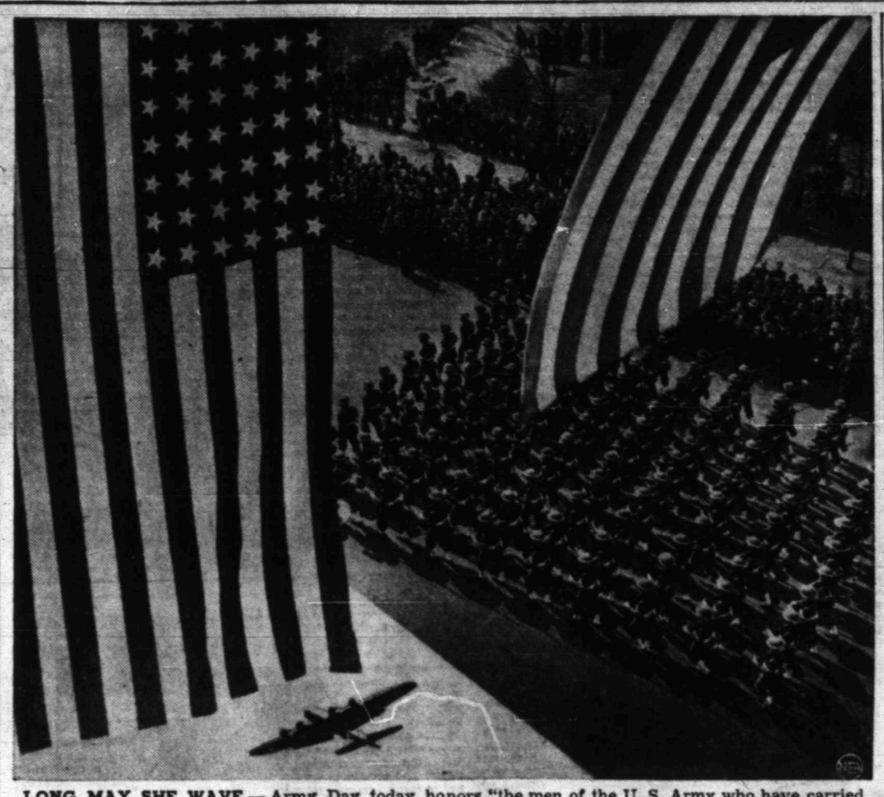

Wallace was given an enthusiastic reception by cheering thousands of citizens, and the day was made a holiday with flag-draped buildings, and with troops lining the route of his parade from the airfield to the embassy.

Nazis Say American Woman Dies In Raid

LONDON, April 5. (AP) — The German radio broadcast tonight a DNB dispatch that Mrs. Otis Mygatt, identified as a wealthy American citizens, was killed yesterday in the Flying Fortress raid near Paris.

It said Mrs. Mygatt founded an American soldiers' home during the last war and had been awarded a gold medal of the French academy.

The broadcast was recorded by the Associated Press.

LONG MAY SHE WAVE—Army Day today honors "the men of the U. S. Army who have carried the flag of the United States and the ideals which it represents to every part of the earth, and who with their brothers-in-arms from the nations united with us are offering their lives for the future of America and the world." Thus spoke President Roosevelt in proclaiming the day. Here, with the glorious flag under which they fight, are a Flying Fortress on a mission in Tunisia, and a column of American troops on the march.

Anniversary Sees America's Sons On Victory Road Again

Program Set At School Tonight

Tributes Planned For Fighting Men

WITH the massed bands of Lubbock's two Army Air Force schools furnishing the musical background and high Army and civilian officials paying tribute to the fighting men in service, a colorful Army Day program will be presented at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the Senior High School auditorium.

The public is invited to attend the program which will be broadcast over Station KFYO beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

Sponsored By Legion

This program, sponsored by the Allen Bros. post of the American Legion, will mark the only observance of Army Day for Lubbock. The annual celebration has been streamlined this year because of the press of war work.

Highlighting the program will be talks, music and other features designed to pay tribute to the fighting men "over there" and those training in this country. The South Plains Army Flying School and Lubbock Army Flying School bands will furnish the music. Texas Technological college, also will participate in the program as speakers include Col. Norman B. Olsen, commanding officer at SPAFS, Lieut. Col. Marvin B. Durrette, commanding the West Texas Recruiting and Induc-

OPA Issues Warning Over Bankhead Bill

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP) — The Office of Price Administration said tonight passage of the Bankhead bill over President Roosevelt's veto would boost the retail cost of food 6.7 per cent and add $1,500,000,000 to consumers' annual food budget.

In the house, meanwhile, Rep. Gore (DTenn) said Congress, if it overrides the veto, will be "flirting with an economic crackup on the home front which might bring about defeat on the world battle-fronts."

The Senate is due to consider the veto tomorrow. The bill would raise ceiling prices on certain farm commodities by requiring that government subsidy payments to farmers be ignored in the calculation of parity prices.

Bill Beard Gets Two Nazi Stukas

AT A UNITED STATES FIGHTER BASE IN TUNISIA, April 4. (Delayed) (AP)—Striking savagely just as Stukas were unloading explosives on American positions in the El guetar area, a single squadron of American-piloted Spitfires shot down 13 Junkers 87's late Saturday, almost certainly destroyed several more and damaged others in spectacular dog fighting.

(Dispatches from Allied headquarters in North Africa Sunday credited the Spitfires with positive destruction of 14 of the dive-bombers.)

Lieut. Col. Graham West of Portland, Ore., commander of the Spitfire group, said:

"It was just the kind of a thing everyone of our fliers dreamed about but never believed would come—a chance to really tear into a bunch of Stukas and give them the works."

Just to prove they were able to tackle the German fighters as well as the more vulnerable dive-bombers, pilots of the same group today shot down two Messerschmitt 109's and damaged two others in a brief encounter.

Capt. Nomran McDonald of Framingham, Mass., bagged three of the Stuka victims, set fire to another before exhausting his cannon shells, then finished a big afternoon by chasing and hitting a Messreschmitt with machine gun fire.

Three others, including Staff Sgt. James E. Butler of Grass Valley, Calif., and Lieut. William Beard of Route 6, Lubbock, Tex.—each shot down two Stukas.

A Messerschmitt was damaged by Lieut. Donald Markley of Englewood, Calif., whose record already included one Junker and one Messerschmitt destroyed.

Merchants' Receipts For Day Go In Bonds

DESMOINES, April 5. (AP)—Des Moines merchants will use all their receipts of April 13 for the purchase of war bonds to speed the second war loan drive to success.

The day's business will be stimulated by a huge advertising campaign in the Des Moines Tribune the preceding day when all the copy will be devoted to war bond sales. The newspaper will invest its receipts from the advertising campaign in war bonds.

Blasted Hopes Get New Life

Nation Dedicates Its Full Efforts

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 5 — Twenty-six years ago tomorrow, at 1:11 p. m., April 6, 1917, President Woodrow Wilson wrote his name on the resolution declaring a state of war with Germany —and the first American march to the Rhine began.

Today none can doubt that a second march into Germany is in the making by the United Nations fellowship.

Hope Surged High

Less than two years after that American war declaration in 1917 imperial Germany collapsed in defeat. Hope surged high in many lands, not excepting Germany, that the war to end wars had been won.

"The hope of the world is that when the war is over arrangements will have been made compromising many of the questions which have hitherto seemed to require the arming of nations," Mr. Wilson said in approving the companion-piece to the 1917 war declaration designed to call 10,000,000 Americans to the colors for the struggle.

Events of the decades that followed blasted that hope utterly. They made a mockery of peace dreams and produced a greater, more terrible war to mark this American war anniversary.

Millions more in many lands have died and will die to stem the

Kaiser Promises New Giant Of Sky Lanes

PORTLAND, Ore., April 5. (AP)—Henry J. Kaiser, the shipbuilder and industrialist, promised tonight to build a cargo plane able to fly 17,000 miles without stopping.

In an address to Columbia Empire Industries, Inc., a regional booster organization, Kaiser said of the proposed plane:

"I intend to build now, while the war is still raging, a large metal plane. We have been studying facilities here in the Pacific northwest where it can be built most efficiently. It is designed on radically new principles, giving economies of production and operation."

"Loaded with only fuel, it will be able to fly 17,000 miles without stopping.

"Loaded with fuel and bombs, it can bring to Tokyo the havoc and destruction that were visited on Pearl Harbor.

"Loaded with fuel and food, it can bring a new era of commerce and trade to every nation in the world.

"It will be an airplane of the future. I want to build it for the future, but I want to start building it now for war. It can be built—now!"

War Grows More Serious With Each Day—

Drug Stores Give Up Lunch Counters, Revert To Drugs

NEW YORK, April 5. (AP)—Civilians, learning each day that the war means doing without, may have to forego that good old American custom — a quick bite at the corner drugstore.

Shortage of help coupled with food and meat rationing were reasons advanced by proprietors of drugstores scattered throughout Manhattan for closing of lunch counters and soda fountains. A number of other drugstore managers reported that they were contemplating shutting down food departments.

Marty H. Sasmor president of the New York Pharmaceutical association, said: "The drugstore soda fountain is going to be as scarce as the cigar-store Indian. In the Bronx, I'd say that less than 10 per cent of the neighborhood stores now have soda fountains."

Drugstores in Greenwich village and in the upper west side were among those which have closed fountains and increased their stocks of hospital and drug supplies.

British Again Pound At Rommel's Heels

Fortresses Make Shambles Of Naples Harbor, Airport

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Tuesday, April 6.—Axis radio reports indicated early today that artillery units of the British Eighth Army had renewed the attack on Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces in Tunisia.

The Paris radio, in a broadcast recorded here by Reuters, said that armored formations of the Eighth Army were approaching Axis defenses across the northern end of the Gabes gap and that Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomerys' artillery had begun firing on German-Italian positions.

The Berlin radio said in a broadcast recorded by the Associated Press that Eighth Army artillery had started "test shots" for finding the range to the advanced strongholds of the German-Italian defense zone north of Gabes.

The German broadcast also announced that General Montgomery had drawn his tank formations farther up to the front, "indicating that a British attack against Rommel's positions will now not be very long in coming."

BELIEVED OUT AGAIN

LONDON, April 5 (AP)—Radio stations in Munich, Stuttgart, Koenigsburg, Lausanne and Burgomunster, Switzerland, went off the air late tonight, indicating Allied bombers were over the continent again.

The air ministry announced tonight that during the afternoon British Venturas of the bomber command, escorted by fighters, attacked docks and shipping at Brest. One enemy fighter was knocked down, but three British bombers and one fighter were reported missing.

combustion of nearby Vesuvius and left the harbor littered with 24 crippled vessels and the main airport in a rubble of wrecked planes.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's communique today told of this greatest destruction yet heaped on Naples, the Tunisian supply key. The assault overshadowed all the land fighting in Tunisia where the second American Army corps Lieut.-Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., won a number of commanding hills near the Gabes-Gafsa road and pressed on to the east for an eventual junction with the strengthening British Eighth Army.

Sick Man Lost, Help Is Sought

Two Hale Center brothers Monday asked assistance of airmen flying about on any segment of the Lubbock to Plainview route.

Their brother, about 45, "whose mind did not develop after he had meningitis when a kid," apparently is lost somewhere along that route.

"He has been missing since 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon and possibly has not had anything to eat or drink since then; he may be lying in some field or pasture between Lubbock and Plainview."

Asked To Search Fields

Farmers and stockmen living between the two towns were asked to search their fields and pastures, and let Lubbock or Plainview police know if any trace of the mentally ill man is found.

At first it was believed the man sought might have attempted to find his way back to Archer county, his former home, "but telephone calls tell us he hasn't shown up there. We doubt if he would know how to get there, anyway."

"If everybody who flies in this section will keep a lookout for anyone lying in a field we might find him that way. He wore a khaki shirt and blue overalls when he left home. He has a long face and prominent ears and parts his slightly-graying hair far over on the left side. He talks with a decided stutter."

Price Tops Set On Fresh Meat

Must Be Lowered If Points Reduced

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP) — OPA tightened its controls over meat today by setting retail cents-per-pound ceiling prices, effective April 15, for beef, veal, lamb and mutton, and forbidding stores to reduce point values of any rationed meats and fats without also cutting prices.

The two actions are designed, officials said, to eliminate confusion arising from store-by-store variations in ceilings, help stamp out black markets in meat, and guard against abuse of the privilege stores have of reducing point values in order to sell perishable rationed items.

Mean Lower Prices

They predicted the new ceilings will mean "in most cases less than the prices which consumers have been paying recently."

Heretofore, ceilings on beef, veal, lamb and mutton for each store have been the highest prices it charged in March, 1942. Today's order divides the country into 12 may be charged only by stores regions and fixes uniform ceilings in each except that small independent stores are allowed to charge one to three cents a pound more for various cuts than the bigger outlets. The higher prices which did no more than $250,000 worth of business last year.

This price differential is intended to preserve the historical price relationship between smaller stores and the larger ones able to hold down unit costs by volume sales.

Similar, dollar-and-cents prices for pork were established April 1, and the regional zones outlined in today's order are the same as for pork except that the mid-western 4 and 4-A zones are combined.

The order on "point sales" directs that any retailer reducing point values must reduce the price at least 25 per cent under the established ceiling. If point values are cut more than 25 per cent, a corresponding percentage reduc-

Postal Overtime Pay Approved By House

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP) — The House passed today 234 to 107 legislation to extend until June 30, 1945 wartime overtime pay schedles for approximately 1,500,000 federal employes and to raise from 10 to 15 per cent the increases on the first $2,900 of pay for persons working on other than an hourly basis.

The measure now goes to the Senate. Unless enacted, temporary pay adjustments would expire this month.

Cost of the overtime pay to the government is estimated at approximately $560,000,000 annually.

Persons on an hourly basis would not be affected by the extra 5 per cent increase granted persons on a salary basis.

Under the measure, salaries of $5,000 and above are not affected and no person could be raised above $5,000 by the percentage increase formula.

The legislation does not affect postal employes in the field.

Millions Reported Dying From Hunger

Chinese Famine Said Worst Disaster Since War Started

CHUNGKING, April 5. (AP) — A famine in Homan province has become the greatest natural disaster befalling the Chinese since the Sino-Japanese war began almost six years ago, an official government statement declared today.

It said the government had received three different estimates of the number of persons affected: 3,000,000, 5,000,000, and 7,000,000, and that 5,000,000 estimate "seems to be most reasonable."

The government began relief measures in October when it reduced the land tax in kind from 322,000 to 186,200 tons of rice, and also up to April had made 210,000,000 Chinese dollars available for relief.

The neighboring provinces, except Anhwei, have no large food surpluses to export, but plans to transport large quantities from Anhwei were frustrated by the Japanese who carried the war there last winter.

Reds Advance In Caucasus Sector

New Nazi Efforts At Donets Halted

LONDON, Tuesday, April 6. (AP)—Russian forces driving against the Nazi base at Novorossisk have captured several populated places in two days of hand-to-hand fighting in the Caucasus, and in the Izyum area of the Donets valley have turned back new enemy attempts to cross the river, Moscow announced today.

The midnight communique, recorded here by the Soviet monitor, said also that the Russians consolidated their positions in the ring around Smolensk and one unit broke through the enemy lines south of Bely and wiped out the occupants of several blockhouses with grenades.

Flanking Plan Fails

The bulletin said that during the morning hours German tanks and infantry operated in two directions in attempts to outflank Russian units south of Izyum, where the Germans have been trying for several days to push across the Donets, apparently in a drive aimed at the important center of Voroshilovgrad.

The Soviet forces, however, were reported to have repulsed both attacks, disabling four tanks and annihiliating about a company of infantry.

The Germans over the week end made what apparently was a major attempt to raid Russia's second city of Leningrad, but the communique said only isolated planes managed to penetrate the city and drop bombs after air battles in which 42 German bombers were destroyed. The Russians acknowledged loss of seven of their planes.

Trenches Captured

In one sector of the narrowing German bridgehead in the north Caucasus, a Russian unit broke into a fortified Nazi zone in a swampy district and captured two lines of trencher.

A German infantry regiment counterattacked, but was repulsed with heavy losses, Moscow said, including hundreds of dead and wounded left on the battlefield and four guns, 23 machineguns

Americans Lash Airplane Works

LONDON, April 5. (AP)—Living up to Major Gen. Ira C. Eaker's recent promise to match the RAF blow-for-blow in a withering aerial attack on Hitler's industrial Europe, a huge force of American Flying Fortresses and Liberators pounded the Erla airplane repair works near Antwerp in Belgium today to follow up a heavy British assault on Kiel, Germany, last night.

Today's attack by the high-flying, precision-bombing American ships was declared to have been carried out with "good results." A DNB dispatch broadcast by the Berlin radio said the raiders scored direct hits "on blocks of houses, which caused fires and destruction and severe losses among the civil population" of Antwerps.

In Great Force

The American's first attack in the area of Belgium's second largest city was carried out by what observers on the English coast at Folkestone described as the greatest single force they had ever seen crossing the channel. The big four-motored planes were escorted all the way to the target and back to the coast of England by an array of Spitfire fighters.

Fighter opposition was described as "heavy." Four bombers and one escorting fighter were missing, while two German planes were

"Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment."—By the Apostle Paul, in First Corinthians, Chapter 1, Verse 10.

Heavy Raids Said Only A Foretaste

By GLENN BABB
Associated Press War Analyst

The roaring processions of British and American heavy bombers across the English channel over the week-end must have caused the Germans to wonder if that time predicted last summer by Air Marshal Harris were not already here: "Soon we shall be coming over every night and every day, rain, blow or snow, we and the Americans." Certainly for three days and nights it has been that kind of performance. Here is the schedule:

GLENN BABB

Friday night the RAF attacked the U-boat lairs at Lorient and St. Nazaire; Saturday the RAF was over Brest and Abbeville; Saturday night the RAF made a "heavy and concentrated" raid on Essen, home of the Krupp works; Sunday 133 American Flying Fortresses "heavily and accurately" bombed the Renault plant near Paris; Sunday night the RAF attacked in "great strength" the U-boat base and shipyards at Kiel; Monday United States Liberators and Flying Fortresses attacked German industrial targets at Antwerp in daylight with "good bombing results."

Whole Continent Vulnerable

This was the score against only the western bastions of Hitler's Europe. The time has come when hardly any part of the new dark continent can be considered immune to the scourging of the Allied bombers. Fleets of American four-motored bombers comparable to those which cross the English channel are now in position to blast the southern shores, as Naples and Cagliari have learned in recent days. Both have suffered blows of such destructiveness as to greatly decrease their value in Axis preparations for the coming finale in Tunisia, either as supply ports or bases for a possible "Dunkerque fleet."

The bombing campaign is one of three closely interlinked phases of the United Nations' program, the others being the war on the U-boats and preparation for the coming invasion or invasions of the continent. The bombers are playing an important role in the submarine campaign, carrying the battle of the Atlantic clear to the factories that produce U-boat parts and to the shipyards that assemble them as well as to their lairs on the Atlantic coast. At the same time they are doing the preliminary work of the invasion program, softening up both western and southern Europe for the blows to come.

Only A Foretaste

We have the word of the best Allied authorities that this is only a foretaste of what is to come. And yet the results already must have meant considerable crippling of Hitler's war machine. Great areas of a dozen of Germany's greatest industrial cities have been laid in ruins. Havoc has been done to transportation, one of the weak links in the German war effort. Experts say it takes eight or nine months for such destruction to make itself felt in the actual arrival of war materials on the fronts, and the Reich has been under heavy although still intermittent raids for nearly a year now. It is more than 10 months since that first 1,000-plane raid on Cologne.

The United States air force in Britain is not yet of the size necessary for attacks of that scale and its bomb loads still are measured in hundreds of tons instead of the thousands which the RAF's Lancasters and Stirlings deliver in their night forays. But the American contribution to the bombing war already is an important one and there is every indication that the coming weeks will see it grow tremendously.

Ensign R. K. Harlan, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Harlan of route 1, Petersburg, has successfully completed a course for commission in the United States Naval reserve, Columbia university, N. Y. He previously served in the Navy for two years as an enlisted man and has seen active service in the Pacific. He has been visiting his parents and a brother, Tom Harlan, and Mrs. Harlan, 1623 Sixth street, en route to the West Coast to report for duty.

Announcement was made Monday of birth of a 8-pound 3-ounce son to Capt. and Mrs. J. W. Jackson of Pampa on April 2. The infant was named Jan Clinton. Mrs. Jackson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Easton Wolffarth of 2410 Thirteenth street, and Capt. Jackson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jackson of Acuff.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ferguson of 1702 Avenue D are parents of a son born at 7:17 o'clock Monday morning in West Texas hospital. The infant weighed 6 pounds 15 ounces. The father is a driver for the Lubbock Bus company.

A son weighing 9 pounds 8 ounces was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Frost of 2406 Tenth street at 6:50 o'clock Sunday morning in West Texas hospital. Frost is stationed at Lubbock Army Flying school.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Lanham of 2416 Avenue J at 5:30 o'clock Monday morning in Lubbock General hospital. The baby weighed 6 pounds 15 ounces.

Col. Thomas L. Gilbert, formerly commander of Lubbock Army Flying school and now attached to the chief of the Army Air Forces staff, left Monday after a brief return visit to Lubbock. He and Mrs. Gilbert arrived during the week-end from Washington. Mrs. Gilbert will remain in Lubbock for the present. Colonel Gilbert is making a series of inspection trips to air bases over the nation.

Local groups with strong memberships are needed to deal with war and post-war problems, H. C. Pender, head of the government department at Texas Technological college, told Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday in urging that members should strengthen themselves in respect to handling local, state and national situations in the betterment of democracy. The luncheon marked the opening of a drive for revival of interest and membership by the local Jayces. Frank Baker is chairman of the campaign.

Last rites for L. W. Tarkenton, 61, of 2306 Eighth street were conducted Monday morning in Rix Funeral home chapel, with Dr. C. E. Hereford, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating. Burial was in Lubbock cemetery. Mr. Tarkenton died unexpectedly Saturday afternoon.

WAAC recruits enlisted during the week-end at West Texas Army Recruiting and Induction center were two Lubbock women, Mrs. Altha Jo McKinney of 1212 Tenth street, and Mrs. Maude Pollard of 1919 Texas avenue, and from Lamesa Miss Blanche Louise Daniel. Mrs. McKinney's husband is serving overseas in the armed forces. Mrs. Pollard has two brothers in the Army.

A daughter weighing 6 pounds 15 ounces was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charlie T. Agnew of Lubbock route 3 at 7:03 o'clock Sunday night in St. Mary's hospital. Agnew is a farmer.

Aviation Cadet and Mrs. E. E. Crow of north Avenue H are parents of a daughter weighing 6 pounds 6 ounces, born at 5:30 o'clock Sunday morning in St. Mary's hospital. Crow is in the Army, stationed at San Angelo.

Two Negroes On Grand Jury Here

A grand jury of the 99th judicial district court—composed in part of negroes—is not expected to complete its investigation before Wednesday, at least, it unofficially was reported around the courthouse Monday afternoon.

Tom Ferris Garcia and John Williams were the negroes who qualified when the grand jury was selected Monday morning.

Williams explained to the court inability to "read very well," but was considered qualified. He, wearing a Red Cross button in a coat lapel, and Garcia, neatly attired in a dark pin-striped suit, occupied chairs beside the grand jury box.

Cites Constitution

Alex McDonald, appointed jury foreman, was informed by the court, Judge Alton B. Chapman of the 110th district, he could make "whatever arrangement deemed convenient in the grand jury room."

To the grand jury, otherwise composed of J. O. Ford, L. A. Harral, Ted Barnett, M. B. Hilburn, B. B. Barron, J. W. Keeling, W. M. Edwards, Charles R. Bacon and A. R. Shipp, Judge Chapman prefaced remarks leading to his charge:

"Gentlemen, this term of court brings a different situation. For the first time, a Lubbock county grand jury includes members of the negro race. Interpretation, tracing back the Fourteenth amendment of the constitution, so provides—and we must abide by law in conduct of our courts. Several indictments charging negro defendants were quashed in the last term of this court because that law, which allows of no racial discrimination, had not been followed. Numerous judges in the South, as a matter of fact, have not followed it—hoping that no attorney would raise the motion to quash indictments because it had not been followed.

Opinions Reversed

"But in the last four or five years the United States Supreme court has been reversing opinions of the state appeals courts in cases of convictions where the defendant was a negro who had been tried after no member of his race had sat either in the grand jury or on a petit jury.

"I have been using negroes on my grand juries the last three or four years, and the practice has worked satisfactorily."

To the negro grand jurors, Judge Chapman said:

"You have a distinct honor. You have been selected as the first members of your race here for this high responsibility. You can render a service to your entire race. You can help make your section of Lubbock a cleaner place for living. You perhaps know the problems there better than any white person in Lubbock county."

Charge "Broken Down"

The court, who was ordered to conduct the Lubbock county term through assignment of the district administrative judicial council, minutely and clearly "broke down" elements of his charge so that there could be no failure to understand, explaining indictments should not be voted through malice; yet should not be withheld through fear or favor or gain—the standard charge.

He charged that "true presentment" should be made of everything that might be considered illegal — even to misdemeanor cases, should the county attorney so require.

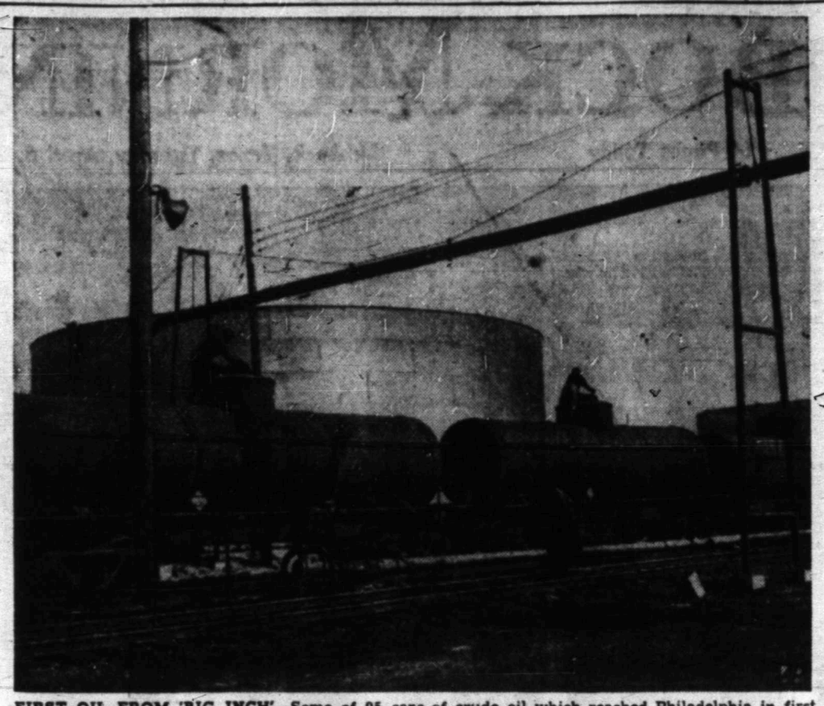

Judge Chapman informed the grand jury that the "five or six indictments quashed because no negroes had been on the last grand jury have been refiled and it will be your duty to investigate them."

(One such indictment, naming Oscar Beachem, was quashed by the 72nd district court, presided over by Judge Daniel A. Blair, and was refiled this morning. Bond of $5,000 was set by J. T. Inmon, justice of peace. Beachem had been tried, sentenced to 99 years in the penitentiary for armed robbery, but his case had been remanded by the state court of criminal appeals on a technicality.)

Bailiffs Chosen

L. D. Pendleton was chosen by lot as door bailif,, and riding bailiffs will be Parum Posey and Grady Harrist, deputies sheriff, T. E. May, constable, and Charlie Yates, Slaton contable.

An assignment was expected from the administrative judicial council sending Judge C. D. Russell of the 64th judicial district to Lubbock to assist Judge Chapman at various times of the 12-weeks 99th term, court officials said. Judge Chapman has a term of court in his district that would make it impossible to be here part of the Lubbock county term.

Mirror Credited With Saving Fliers Lost 10 Months In Jungle

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, April 5. (U.P.)—Three American fliers and an Australian rifleman credited a little mirrored piece of glass today with getting them out of the unmapped New Guinea Jap-infested jungles in which they cheated death every day for 10 months.

The Americans, Second Lt. Eugene D. Wallace, Los Angeles; Second Lt. Marvin C. Hughes, Baird, Tex.; and Pfc. Dalee Bordner, Chillicothe, O., said they still would be in the wilderness if a navigator in a Consolidated Liberator bomber hadn't caught the flash of their mirror.

Their Marauder bomber crashed after a heavy bombardment of Japheld Rabaul airdromes. It had been hit by ack-ack. Two of the eight crew members, the tail gunner and flight engineer, died in the crash, the photographer died later from injuries, and the chief pilot and bombardier were taken prisoners.

Met Australian

Later they met the Australian, Pvt. John Leslie Stokie, stranded in the jungle when Rabaul fell in February of 1942.

Stokie introduced them to such delicacies as toads, grubs, rats, reptiles and bugs and induced friendly natives to help take care of them when they faced starvation.

Second Lt. Hamilton Chisholm, Minneapolis, navigator in the Consolidated bomber, caught the flash of the mirror. He relayed the information to the pilot, Capt. Everett Wood, Trinidad, Colo., and the ship swooped down to 500 feet to see the men on the beach.

Flashed Mirror

"I had the biggest mirror I could find in the village and flashed it toward the plane," Bordner said. "By the grace of God somebody saw it and the plane turned back. Wallace and I got into a canoe and paddled out feverishly as the bomber came toward us. We watched its machineguns which we figured would open up on us any minute if the crew thought it was a trap."

The bomber crew made photographs of the men and at the base they were examined under stereoscopes.

The Americans rounded up lap-laps (native skirts) off every available tribesman including the chief and arranged them on the beach in the form of a message to the bomber crew when it returned. Convinced by then that they were Americans, the rescue was accomplished by secret means.

Texas Tech Briefs

A new engineering, science, and management war training course in industrial safety engineering, under sponsorship of Tech department of engineering, is to be started at Breckenridge Thursday, with E. A. Cain, divisional manager of the Commercial Publicity Service company, as instructor, it was announced Monday by O. A. St. Clair, head of the department of industrial engineering.

J. D. Strickland, assistant professor of animal husbandry, is to judge Jerseys at the Swisher County Dairy show to be held in Tulia Saturday, according to W. L. Stangel, head of the animal husbandry department.

Raymond Dawson, assistant director of the Bureau of Engineering Research at the University of Texas, was on the campus Monday calibrating the 200,000 pound universal testing machine, according to J. H. Murdough, head of the department of civil engineering.

Texas Tech has been asked to compile an academic record and scholarship report on all men students who are in the Marine Corps Enlisted reserve, Dr. Harry L. Kent, liaison officer and administrative assistent to President Clifford B. Jones, said Monday.

Ray C. Mowery, professor of animal husbandry, is to be one of the judges at the Slaton Livestock show Saturday, it was announced by Stangel.

Kenneth Dowell, assistant supervisor of the Army Signal corps pre-radar course at Tech, announced Monday that a new group of 40 pre-radar students are expected to arrive in Lubbock early next week to begin study April 15. Names of new instructors and more definite plans will be announced later, Dowell said.

Soldiers Warned On Giving Up Insurance

Asserting that bad advice regarding coverage offered by commercial life insurance policies has been given by uninformed persons, Col. Ralpr E. Holmes of Lubbock Army Flying school has urged men of his command to have their policies checked by competent insurance men before deciding to discontinue them.

"Most policies purchased before the U. S. entered the war do give full coverage," said Col. Holmes, adding that policies which are discontinued cannot be replaced, since most companies insert war and travel clauses in policies currently issued.

Lewis Is Nominated For Pardons Board

AUSTIN, April 5. (U.P.)—Presiding Judge Frank Hawkins of the state court of criminal appeals this afternoon nominated Abner L. Lewis to be member of the state board of pardons and paroles.

Lewis, former member of the House of Representatives from Houston, and a former resident of Harlingen, Texas, is head of the securities division of the secretary of state's office.

Ex-Hoover Aide Discusses Food

Causes for the present food dilemma were listed Monday by Dr. Harry J. Eustace as lend lease aid to other countries, the fact that men in the armed forces consume more food than they would in civilian life, and the increase in purchasing power of the lower brackets which has resulted from higher wages of wartime industry.

Dr. Eustace, who is vice president of farm marketing relations of the United States and was assistant food administrater to Herbert C. Hoover immediately following World War I, spoke to Prof. M. B. Harrison's class in agricultural marketing at Texas Technological college and to her agricultural students who wished to her his lecture.

Dr. Eustace, whose home is in San Francisco, was accompanied to Lubbock by Luther Sharp, director of farm marketing relations in Texas.

The ex-assistant food administrator made a number of predictions as to agricultural economic conditions following the present conflict. He prophesied that following this war, the United States would be faced with the same problem of over-production that confronted the nation after the first World War.

Soon after the war is over, he said, lend-lease aid to foreign countries will cease, leaving heavy production for home consumption.

He predicted that a surplus will be further created by decreased consumption of men now in the armed forces when they return to civilian life.

The purchasing power of the lower wage-earning group will be restored to normal, thus reducing the amount of goods which they consume.

Greater Production

Men returning to civilian life from the armed forces, and workers in war industries, will be freed, and the nation's manpower for domestic production will be increased, creating a greater production of food, Dr. Eustace concluded.

He pointed out to the group of students that the need was never greater than it is now for educated young men to take measures to off-set the problem of food production and consumption, suggesting that the problem of overproduction after the war may be partially solved by creation of a more efficient means of production, transportation and distribution to areas where less food is produced.

Rommel Threat To Invasion Strategy

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press War Analyst

Marshal Erwin Rommel's delaying action in Tunisia raises a question mark around the possibility of an Allied invasion of southern Europe this year.

Rommel has to be eliminated first; that is a prime requisite. Once he is out of the way, the Allies will have the air fields of northern Tunisia and the ports of Bizerte and Tunis to clear the Mediterranean shipping route past Sicily and protect a sea-born Allied offensive.

Forces About 200,000

How long Rommel will hold out, military men refuse to predict. Elmer Davis, head of OWI, expressed a personal opinion in Washington last week that Rommel could be disposed of in time for an invasion this year, but added that reporters should consult military men for "actualities."

Rommel's strength generally is placed at around 200,000 men and a formidable array of planes, tanks and artillery. Despite Allied air and naval superiority, he is getting reinforcements of men and tanks almost daily. The Germans are using huge transport planes said to be capable of carrying 250 men each. On the surface, they have shallow draft ferries, capable of carrying several hundred men or tanks and artillery, which are extremely difficult to torpedo.

"Holdout" Indicated

Rommel's course indicates he intends to hold out in the northeastern corner of Tunisia until the last, without attempting any "Dunkirk." Against Allied control of the sea and air and German lack of shipping, such a feat would be almost impossible. It is a different matter to dribble 500 to 1,000 troops a day into Tunisia across the Sicilian strait, and another to attempt mass evacuation of 200,000 men and their equipment.

If Rommel can hold out to July or August, Hitler would have had three to four months to strengthen his defenses in southern Europe from France to the Balkans.

Sardinia, Sicily Strengthened

Hitler, using forced labor in large quantities, is making strongholds of Sardinia and Sicily, defense outposts of Italy, which also is being heavily fortified. It would be a military necessity to occupy Sardinia and Sicily before attempting a landing on Italy. It would be suicidal to leave these strong air and submarine bases athwart Allied communication lines. Hitler might contrive to make the reduction of either island almost as difficult as Tunisia.

The same holds true of the Balkan theater, where the Axis has made Crete one of the strongest points in the Mediterranean. It is backed by similar fortification of the islands of Scarpanto and Rhodes to the east, closing the entrance to the Aegean. These three islands would have to be knocked out, unless at some time in the future Turkey comes into the war and an overland attempt by way of Bulgaria and Thrace becomes possible.

Amazing results in building STURDY BODIES!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach

2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

YOUNG people, especially those of grammar and high school age, are prone to be deficient in stomach digestive juices and red-blood.

A growing-person who is operating on a 65 to 70% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped.

In such cases Nature needs extra help. Organic troubles or focal infection, if they exist, must be corrected. Tissue foods must be digested and rich, red-blood must be present to build sturdy bodies.

SSS Tonic is especially designed to build-up blood strength when deficient . . . and to promote those stomach juices which digest the food so the body can make proper use of it in tissue building and repair.

These two important results enable the body to make use of the food as Nature intended. Thus you may gain a keen appetite . . . firm flesh . . . body energy . . . mental alertness!

Slaton Show Is To Be Saturday

SLATON, April 5. (Special)—Fat cattle, swine, and lambs from every part of Lubbock county will be shown here Saturday, April 10.

Over $300 in prize money is being offered 4-H club and FFA chapter boys. The Lubbock Kiwanis club has posted three $25 was bonds as first prizes each for the best calf, pig and lamb. Slaton business firms also have contributed heavily, and the chamber of commerce is to distribute the prize money, with the help of vocational agriculture teachers, the Kiwanis club in Lubbock, and others. W. C. O'Mara, president of the club, will award the three war bonds.

Mowery To Judge

Ray Mowery, associate professor in animal husbandry at Texas Technological college, will do the judging. Briggs Robertson, manager of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce, largely responsible for arrangements up to now is in a Lubbock hospital for a tonsilectomy, but expects to return home by Thursday.

"This is the annual Lubbock County Calf, Hog, and Lamb show," Robertson said, "and admission will be free and everybody in the county is invited." Formerly, the exhibition has been held in Lubbock. This year, due to war conditions, the affair was dispensed with by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, and later taken up by the Slaton civic body. Lubbock is giving its support to the enterprise, along with Slaton business firms and civic leaders.

A. C. Strickland, vocational agriculture teachers in Slaton high school, will assist in managing the show Saturday. Judging will begin in the afternoon. The show lot will be on vacant ground east of the town square.

Amherst Man Wins Flying Cross Medal

Staff Sgt. David C. Vaughter of Amherst was in the group of commissioned and non-commissioned officers of the Army Air forces stationed in the New Guinea area awarded Flying Cross medals for participation in 50 or more operational flights, the War department announced in a United Press story from Washington Monday.

The flights supported ground troops by transporting and dropping supplies, carrying troops and evacuating wounded personnel. Many were made at low altitudes in mountainous country, under bad weather conditions and in danger of enemy interception, it was announced.

Active Executive To Address Knife, Fork

Carl Taylor, an active business man himself, will discuss questions uppermost in the minds of most business executives concerning fundamentals of long range prosperity in an address to Lubbock Knife and Fork club Friday night in Hilton hotel.

A successful executive who carved his career in depression years, Taylor is executive vice president of the Wisconsin League of Building and Loan associations, chairman of the executive committee of the Northern bank at Milwaukee, executive officer of the Golden Guernsey Dairy cooperative that sells $3,000,000 worth of milk and cheese each year, operator of two profit-making farms and a director of Modern Mutual Building and Loan association.

He, reputed to rate among the six finest business speakers in the country, was drafted by the War department to become a special staff member of its morale division and for months has been speaking to service men in American Army camps. He was a featured speaker at Kiwanis International convention in Minneapolis and has addressed dozens of national conventions and hundreds of other gatherings of business and professional men.

Born in an Oklahoma sod hut, he worked his way through three colleges and became a University of Wisconsin instructor in public speaking, resigning to enter business.

County Schools Get 157,760 Lbs. Scrap

Reports received by Roy Boyd, county school superintendent, indicate that scrap metal collections totaled 157,760 pounds in the drive which has been in progress the past two weeks.

Reports were received from all rural schools in the county except Roosevelt, the county superintendent said. This final report probably will be made today, he said.

Boyd announced that representatives of all the schools are scheduled to meet in his office this afternoon at 5 o'clock for distribution of $130 in prize checks. Each participating schools is to receive $15. An additional $10 will be awarded to the school with the highest average of scrap per student enrolled.

The prize money was provided by the county drive committee, of which Carden L. Green of Lubbock is chairman. In addition, the schools are to receive proceeds from the sale of the scrap.

Quantities reported by the individual schools were: Idalou and Becton, 60,000 pounds; New Deal, 50,000; Estacado, 18,760; Cooper, 14,000; Shallowater, 8,000; Frenship, 4,000; and Posey, 3,000.

WTCC Head Predicts Passage Of State's Fiscal Control Bill

ABILENE, April 5. (Special)—Early passage by the Texas lower house of H. B. No. 7, the state fiscal control bill, was predicted today by M. C. Ulmer, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

"We are immensely buoyed that this constructive piece of legislation has won the unanimous approval of the state affairs committee," the WTCC chief officer said. "Due to forthright support given by West Texas business men and local chambers of commerce, who are urging their representatives at Austin to support the measure, we believe it will soon go through the house with little opposition. Then, we believe, senate passage will follow. We are also receiving strong support from agencies and associations throughout the state."

The bill, by Rep. Joe Humphrey of Abilene, embodies the WTCC's two-year program and campaign for better control of state expenditures and management. It provides for complete financial reporting, planning and budget making through one state agency instead of 100 agencies and funds at present. Under it, all unexpended appropriations would lapse and revert to the state treasury. It would grant new duties and powers to a budget director and chief accountant, and would give the legislature more complete information on which to make appropriations.

BEER REPORTS DENIED

Sure - I'll Go - I'll wear this Spare Pair of Glasses!

Be Prepared... Provide Yourself with a SPARE PAIR of GLASSES

If you should suddenly break your glasses, would you be put "out of action" until they were repaired? If you must wear glasses to do your work properly, drive a car safely, enjoy the movies, then you should have a second pair—an auxiliary pair for emergency use.

In addition to becoming indispensable as a spare, your second pair of glasses can serve other purposes. If your present glasses are formal in style, for example, you can select a second pair of more casual design—for sports wear, out of door use, or motoring. If you now have a zylonite frame, it would be smart to select the fashionable rimless with pink gold mounting as a second pair. Call in today and let us show you the remarkable variety of comfortable, attractive styles we can offer you in modern spectacleware.

The Woman's Angle

DEAR MARGARET:

Something lately reminded me of a lecture by John Kendrick Banks which I heard him give in Albany, N. Y., in 1918 (if memory serve me aright).

He had spoken enthusiastically about the unfailing good nature of our AEF boys; to illustrate he told two incidents of the time when he had been in France for Red Cross service.

When he arrived at his post of duty, he found that he was 10 miles from where one of his sons was stationed. He was so eager to see the boy that he walked the whole 10 miles. When he met the youngster, the boy, intrigued by his father's uniform, stepped back for a good view and called out, "Well, Dad. Are you a major-general or a chauffeur?"

Another time he was standing by the road in a very Napoleonic attitude, posing for a photograph. A body of American soldiers marched by. "Keep your eyes on the birdie!" one of them shouted, much to the delight of his comrades in arms.

Sincerely,
Elizabeth Howard West.

DEAR MISS WEST: Thanks for your letter and these delightful incidents. As little as we know of the Army, it has been our observance that the "major generals" are more easily approached and have a keener sense of humor than those in the lower brackets. Write us again sometime, won't you?

DEAR MISS TURNER:

I read in the April 1 paper what Chief of Police Reeder said about dogs running loose. It seems that dogs with tags on can do as much harm in a yard as a cur dog, and most of the ones that romp and scratch in my yard are tagged. If I had a dog I cared enough about to pay a tax on I would think enough of it to keep it up. If I had one that I didn't care for I would give it to some little boy living in the country or dispose of it some way in respect for my neighbor. Water and labor are too high to waste on worthless dogs.

Yours for more and better gardens and fewer dogs.
A Daily Reader,
Mrs. W.

SINCEwe plunged feet first into wearable rationing with shoe Stamp No. 17, the question is: What next—and what will it be like? Official statements say we are NOT due for clothes rationing for some time to come. A leading New York City department store has even publicly wagered $5,000 it will not be in 1943. For what it will be like and IF it does arrive, however, a reasonable way to get a preview is to take a look at what England's experience has been since May 1941.

Conjure up in your mind what is commonly called "a complete outfit." That is—from skin out—girdle, panty, bra, dress, coat and hat. The sort of thing you now buy, excluding the coat, five or six or perhaps more times a year and consider absolutely essential AT LEAST once a season. If you were an Englishwoman that would be your allotment for an entire year, with a nightie, two hankies, three pairs of stockings and a ball of yarn thrown in. Your husband would fare no better. His stamps would provide him with a modicum of covering about on a parsimonious par with yours.

HOW do they manage? Probably never before in the history of the kingdom have clothes turned up in so many different guises and for such long periods of time. When a man's shirt collar wears out, his wife cuts off the shirt-tails and whips up a new collar. When that wears out and the seams begin to go, she cut up the whole thing and turns out a jaunty pair of shorts. Not a square inch of fabric is wasted and miracles of making-over, remodeling, ripping and sewing plus super-careful washing, pressing and drycleaning keep the British neatly and even nicely clothed.

If YOU had to part with a precious number of ration points every time you bought a dress, what would your clothes philosophy be? There have always been two schools of thought on the subject of clothes. One shouted for QUALITY unceasingly. The other insisted variety was the thing. It didn't matter if inexpensive clothes didn't last, they insisted, because you could always afford to buy more.

BUT today quality wins hands down because, even if organized rationing NEVER comes, other scarcities provide certain limitations of their own. When and if we DO find ourselves rationed, furthermore, will quality be the only solution. The practice of buy-it-today—and-throw-it-away-tomorrow is impossible under the point system.

So now is the time to get in a quality frame of mind. When you buy, invest your money in the best fabrics you can afford. And remember, they should not only be durable but WEARABLE. Suppose red DOES do something for you. Suppose the draped hip does give you a lilting line. Are you willing to wear the same red draped hips this year, next year and the year after? Right now discretion is the better part of color! And of design. Stick to beautiful, unobstrusive neutrals and everything you own will always "go" with everything else. That's the FIRST rule of stretching a wardrobe.

The second important rule is intelligent care. That means good drycleaning. When you make the plunge into buying better, more conservative clothes, plunge the rest of the way and vow to insist on quality drycleaning. Treating a really fine dress or suit to bargain cleaning is incongruous, inconsistent — and expensive! It's definitely costly in the end, too.

Three-Day Meeting Of Northwest Texas Methodist Conference WSCS Opens Monday

A three-day meeting of the annual Northwest Texas Methodist conference, Woman's Society of Christian Service at the First Methodist church, got underway at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, with 124 delegates and 81 visitors registered.

Mrs. C. A. Bickley of Abilene, president of the organization, presided at an executive committee meeting which began at 12:30 o'clock. Following an organ prelude, the conference hymn, "Be Still My Soul," was sung, followed by a prayer by the Rev. Alsie H. Carlton.

The roll was called by Mrs. W. T. Butler, recording secretary of the conference, and delegates and visitors were seated in designated places.

Committees were appointed as follows: committee to approve the minutes, Mesdames J. H. Sharp, J. R. Moore, and B. M. Bruckner; committee on resolutions, Mesdames U. D. Crosby, Frances Bruchett, and James Jones; committee on courtesy, Mesdames L. D. Terrell, Jim Wilson, and Harry Hall.

Mrs. B. L. Cogdill presided for the worship service, and introduced Miss Julia Reid of San Antonio, who was the principal speaker for the meeting, her subject being, "Like Unto Christ."

A service of remembrance was conducted by Mrs. J. F. Ford, and as names were read, secretaries of the various districts lighted tapers in remembrance of those who have died.

After the singing of "Eternal Life" by all those attending, the meeting closed with a prayer, and section sessions were held for one hour.

Blood Donors To Be Typed At Clinic

Typing blood of donors for Lubbock's "walking blood bank" will begin tonight at West Texas hospital clinic and volunteers are asked to call between 8 and 10 o'clock in the reception room at the old entrance of the hospital. Men's blood is especially desired, it was explained. Women's blood will be accepted however, and will be used for children's and babies' transfusions.

Dow Smallin will be the technician in charge, assisted by Mrs. Mark Scott. City Federation will provide the receptionists who will be Mesdames J. S. Johnson, Roscoe Wilson, J. C. Allensworth and Jack Morris.

Donors' blood will be typed Thursday night at the same hours at the Lubbock General hospital, and the technicians are Mesdames Evelyn Zachary and Mattie Lea and Miss Billie Whorton. Volunteers are asked to call at the west door of the clinic.

No transfusions will be made on the nights that the files are taken. The purpose is to obtain information on types of blood of those who will be willing to give their blood in case of emergencies, disasters or for charity.

The "walking blood bank" was proposed by Altrusa and Lubbock Business and Professional Woman's clubs and supported by other women's clubs of Lubbock.

MEETING POSTPONED

The meeting of the Rebekah class of the First Baptist church, which was originally scheduled for Tuesday, has been indefinitely postponed.

Lubbock Girl Plays In University Orchestra

AUSTIN, April 5.—There may be a war going on, but that doesn't mean there isn't plenty of music left on the University of Texas campus—with the girls tooting the horns and beating the drums!

In recent years, there have been several orchestras on the campus, composed of men students who made college expenses by playing at campus dances and theatrical performances. But calls to the army and navy have pretty well depleted the "reserve" of musicians.

The girls are out to ready the situation with an all-girl orchestra, to be sponsored by the Womens' Independent Campus organization. Finding drums and a drummer proved a bottleneck at first, but Edna Gribble, fine arts student from Wellington, furnished the answer to that problem.

Other members of the co-ed orchestra include Jean Holt, arts and sciences student from Lubbock, playing the violin.

Inquiry Opened In Meat Sales

An investigation to determine whether meat is being sold at low point values in violation of rationing orders is being made in the Lubbock OPA district, following orders for such an investigation from Regional Administrator Max McCullough to state and district offices.

"We do not know of any violations up to the present time," said Howard R. Gholson, district manager. He said investigations were underway throughout the district.

Violations Reported

OPA regulations permit butchers to reduce point values in cases of emergency when threat of spoilage is imminent. McCullough announced in Dallas Saturday that reports had been received of violations and he was ordering a region-wide investigation. The provision can be revoked for specific retailers where the privilege is abused, he said in a statement for the press.

"A butcher who lowers point values must be prepared to justify his action before his OPA ration board, and he must follow several OPA regulations dealing with conditions of the sale and reports of meat disposed of under this plan," the announcement continued. "The retailer must display a sign listing the items that he is offering at lower point value, citing the point value of each item, and setting forth the fact that he is offering the meat at less than regular point value in order to prevent spoilage. The butcher or retailer also must make a written report within 24 hours to his OPA board giving the amount of meat offered at lower point value and setting forth the reasons why this action was taken. Within four days he must make another written report giving the amount of meat that he has sold at the lower point values."

Air Offensive Is To Soften Germans

By HARRISON SALISBURY
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 5. — Experts who have studied the Nazi war economy and the needs of the German Wehrmacht believed today that 60 days and 60 nights of continuous bombing on a scale not much heavier than this weekend's would knock Germany out of the war and leave her a comparatively soft touch for an Allied invasion from the west.

The estimate did not come entirely from the bombardment enthusiasts who have never quite given up the theory that a nation can be beaten by air power alone provided a sufficient concentration of high explosives can be achieved.

Supported By Study

The theory was backed up by economic and manufacturing technical experts who have analyzed whole chains of Nazi production systems on which the Germans depend for their war materials.

Their calculations have been supported by the closest study of the results of the Nazi blitz on Britain which provided a living laboratory to find out what weight bombs actually are needed to knock out factory assembly systems and to wreck equally vital factors — transportation of parts and raw materials to the plants and facilities which enable workers to keep up production, such as living necessities, street cars, trains and utilities.

Production Slowed Down

Data compiled by these experts actually determines points at which Anglo-American bomber assaults are directed. For example, the experts spot a particular Nazi factory which produces a simple gadget needed in the assembly of planes, trucks or tanks.

With these data, the high command orders the plant bombed. If the attack is successful the production at possibly 50 war plants is slowed down or tied up until the plant can be repaired or a new production source found.

Can't Meet Demands

Experts figure that an all-out blitz of between 20 and 30 major Nazi industrial centers, plus straight daylight pin-pointing of approximately the same number of key targets, would keep the Nazi industrial system from meeting the minimum demands of the Nazi fighting machine.

Experts scale the Nazi target cities according to size and type of industry. Such points as Lubeek and Rostock can be knocked out for months—even years—by a single 1,000-ton raid.

Essen, which is close to the top of the list of strategic targets, might require five to six times as much and Berlin possibly 10 times.

Actually, it was pointed out, mass bombing effects tend to spread out concentrically. Thus if the RAF is able to drop 1,000 tons on Essen one night, another thousand on Kiel the next, and a thousand on Hamburg the next, they might be able to multiple Nazi difficulties of keeping up production not three times but perhaps nine times.

tion district, Lieut. Col. Howard T. Kenzie, director of flying training at LAFS, George S. Berry, chairman of the state legislative committee for the American Legion, and H. C. Pender, head of the government department at Texas Technological college.

Various Training Phases

Subjects of those appearing on the program were not announced last night, but will deal with the various phases of training in this nation and how the men and women of America are playing their vital roles in speeding the day of inevitable victory.

A large crowd is expected for this event, the first such program in which both Army Air Force school bands have taken part since last Armistice Day.

The LAFS band is under the direction of Warrant Officer George P. Attridge, and the SPAFS band is in charge of Warrant Officer Harry Dunham.

LOWER REGISTRATIONS SEEN

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP)—Automobile registrations for 1943 probably will be 10 per cent lower than for 1942, highway department officials estimated today. Although reports from the state's 254 counties are fragmentary an overall reduction is indicated.

lost hills. Patton's command still was about 40 miles from the British Eighth Army, which was deployed against Axis positions along the wadi El Akarit 20 miles north of Gabes.

Dispatches from the southern front disclosed that American infantry consolidated newly-won positions in Birmrabott pass, east of El Guetar, today. Artillery units knocked out 15 German trucks and destroyed half a dozen guns being towed by the vehicles. There was no activity at Faid, and at Foundouk the situation was reported unchanged.

(A French communique said there was patrol and artillery action west of Pichon in central Tunisia. The Algiers radio said the British First Army in the north had advanced without serious opposition to a locality east of Cape Serrat, 35 miles west of Bizerte. The German radio said fresh American reserves had been rolled up to the Maknassy front "indicating new attacks will be attempted soon." Berlin said other U. S. concentrations were observed in the nearby Pichon and Faid Pass sectors.)

German Infantry Shelled

The British First Army in the north shelled German infantry and motor transport columns sharply in the Dedjez-El-Bab sector, 35 miles southwest of Tunis. Patrols of Moroccan Guomiers and Britons were active farther north in the sector between Sedpeane and Mateur, the key to Bizerte 18 miles farther on to the northeast.

The Naples raid was four times as heavy as any of the five previous attacks by Liberator bombers and for the first time the Americans used French African bases instead of the western desert.

Of the 24 ships hit in the harbor, three were liners and three were submarines. Numerous smaller craft were hit as well as a floating dry dock.

The Capodichino airdrome at Naples was pockmarked with a saturated bomb pattern, and returning pilots reported at least 21 of the 97 grounded aircraft were struck. The whole raid lasted but 15 minutes and all the Fortresses returned to their bases.

Drug Store Lunches

went unmourned among the druggists, who said they preferred dispensing drugs and compounding prescriptions to smearing olive and nut spreads on toast and concocting hot fudge sundaes.

Irving Aaronson, owner of a Greenwich Village pharmacy, said "closing of the lunch counter is a distinct improvement and I am looking forward to being an old-fashioned druggist again."

There were no gaping spaces in his pharmacy. He pointed with pride to gleaming new show cases housing hospital supplies and cosmetics.

A west side pharmacist who commented, "this eat-at-a-counter-on-the-run business makes for indigestion. Frankly, I'm glad to be out of the food business and don't expect to see a loss after a few weeks of selling just drugs."

The statement was an obvious answer to much higher estimates of the number of persons affected by the famine, and to charges that the authorities in various ways had failed to take adequate measures to alleviate the situation.

Texas Flier Praised For His Flying Skill

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA, April 5. (U.P.)—Flying companions of Lieut. Robert C. Herbert of Nacogdoches, Tex., paid tribute to his skill as a pilot today after he twice helped bring the crew home alive.

On each occasion Herbert brought his plane back badly riddled and set it down for a perfect belly landing because the wheels were gone. The first flight was on Jan. 22 and the second on March 22.

The ship, a Martin Marauder, was more than a match for its German adversaries and on the last trip out, Turret Gunner Staff Sgt. Herman S. Pacheco, Jr., shot down a Focke-wulf and a Messerschmitt.

That was the time Herbert waded through seven heavily firing enemy planes and came out with a broken oil tank, both engines hit and disabled, a blown hydraulic system and armor plating ripped away.

Herbert, a former University of Texas business administration student, has carried out 11 bombing missions since arriving in North Africa. Herbert's wife, Mrs. Ann Seale Herbert lives in Bryan, Tex., but his parents Mr. and Mrs. Duke H. Herbert, live in Nacogdoches.

War Anniversary

Axis juggernaut of conquest and revive shattered dreams of world peace. Against Hitlerized Germany and her Italian and Japanese and lesser Axis mates, the sons and the sons' sons of Pershing's. AEF crusaders of 1917-1918 are fighting on battle fronts that girdle the globe, shoulder to shoulder with United Nations comrades, to vindicate anew the faith for which their fathers took up arms. The distant thunder of their guns and bombs more fittingly salutes this grim war anniversary than could any spoken or written word.

Behind it comes the rumbling crescendo of a nation dedicating every resource and enegy to assuring its valiant fighting sons ultimate and complete victory. They are as grim portents of events to come as was the Wilson signature of the war resolution a quarter century ago.

Since it is the usual practice to reduce prices when items must be sold quickly to avoid spoilage, OPA said, the regulation should work no hardship on retailers who, in good faith, avail themselves of the point-lowering privilege.

Death Takes Pioneer Cattleman-Banker

TEMPLE, April 5. (AP) — Ralph H. Harris of San Angelo, a pioneer cattleman and banker of West Texas, died in a Temple hospital at 11:30 a. m. today after a lingering illness. He was 75 years of age.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at the family residence in San Angelo.

Survivors include the widow; two daughters, Mrs. A. C. Scott, jr., of Temple and Mrs. Harry A. Weaver of Houston; a son, Lieut. Ralph Harris, jr., of Camp Hood, and seven grandchildren.

KIDNEY TROUBLE

The function of the kidneys is to filter uric acids, urates, and poisons from the blood stream. Many times this filtering process does not work to the extent of clearing the blood of poisons and a toxic blood stream follows with rheumatism, neuritis and other aches and pains. On the other hand if this process is to lax red blood cells find their way out through the kidneys which we term hemituria. When a kidney fails to function it is called a dead kidney. All functions and actions are controlled by the nerves. A chiropractor recognizes this fact and kidney trouble is easily handled when the cause is adjusted.

Aviation Cadet Stewart A. Hatch, who has been made a Cadet Flight Lieutenant at the Lubbock Army Flying school, is the son of Senator Carl A. Hatch of Clovis, New Mexico, author of the Hatch "Clean Politics Bill." Slated to graduate this month, when he will receive his wings and commission, Cadet Hatch attended Washington and Lee University where he was a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity. Prior to starting flight training he was a newspaper reporter on the Vernon Daily Record and the Houston Chronicle.

Lubbock Association of Life Underwriters Monday in a monthly luncheon in Hilton hotel named a nominating committee of Chas. Whitacre, Sam Henry, E. J. Ford, Gradie W. Bownds and O. P. Harlan in connection with a May election of officers and directors; appointed J. E. Yates chairman of a committee to make reservations for Lubbock men at the June 10-11 state association convention in Fort Worth, and discussed selling under current conditions.

Bishop Ivan L. Holt of the Methodist church, who was to have addressed a meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service in the First Methodist church last night, failed to reach Lubbock. The Rev. H. I. Robinson served as the speaker of the occasion. The bishop's failure to appear was attributed to confusion of engagements. The meeting was part of the current three-day conference of the Northwest Texas Methodist conference of the woman's society.

Bill To Become Law Without Signature

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP) — A bill restricting the financial activities of labor unions and otherwise regulating them will become law in Texas this year.

Governor Coke R. Stevenson today made this possible by filing with the secretary of state without his signature the highly controversial Manford-Bridgers bill.

The governor announced his decision following a conference with railroad brotherhood, A. F of L. and C. I. O. spokesmen who had urged him to veto the bill.

It becomes law 90 days after adjournment of the general session of the legislature. An adjournment date has not been set.

The governor declined to expand his announcement, declaring he would make known his views tomorrow. In the two-hour conference were Joe T. Steadham of the brotherhoods, Harry W. Acremann of the state federation of labor and Rocky Davis of the C. I. O.

Motorists Warned No Relief Yet In Sight

WASHINGTON, April 5. (U.P.)—Motorists who hope that the worst of the restrictions on driving is over got a jolt from two directions today.

Rubber Director William M. Jeffers informed Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown that automobile travel "must be limited as far as possible to essential driving to avoid serious trouble before synthetic rubber can supplant the rubber we now have."

Petroleum administration officials held out little hope that gasoline restrictions would be eased on the East coast, even by next winter.

Tenant Farmer Parents To Be Guests When Fort Sill Pays Tribute To Their Hero-Son

FORT SILL, Okla., April 5. (U.P.) — One of the nation's military honors will be conferred next Sunday upon the tenant farmer parents of an Oklahoma soldier killed in New Guinea.

By direction of President Roosevelt, the Distinguished Service Cross was awarded posthumously to Pvt. Howard M. Eastwood, 22, of near Wynnewood, by Gen. Douglas MacArthur for "extraordinary heroism in action" near Buna, New Guinea on Nov. 26, 1942.

The soldier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eastwood, accompanied by a daughter and two sons, will be guests at Fort Sill Saturday night and will receive the DSC, together with the Purple Heart, at a review at 10 a. m. Sunday.

The 170th infantry battalion, commanded by Lt. Col. Adrian L. Hoebeke, will pass in review in honor of the soldier's family. Col. Kenneth S. Perkins, post commander, will present the two medals to the parents.

The citation conferring the DSC on Eastwood stated that "while acting as a scout far in advance of his squad, he sighted eight to 10 of the enemy about 100 yards in front of him.

"He notified the squad leader and then, without waiting for assistance and with complete disregard for his own safety, courageously stood upright in the tall grass, although he knew enemy snipers were nearby, and fired on the enemy group with his submachine gun.

"Private Eastwood was twice wounded by enemy snipers during this action and later died as a result of these wounds."

The Eastwoods have two other sons, John and Tom, in the Army.

Texan Would Siphon Off Excess Incomes

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones believes "we will have inflation, in spite of the world," unless a substantial part of $43,000,000,000 in excess purchasing power is siphoned off. He also fears the nation's small businesses are facing a dark future.

Jones, head of the federal loan agency, told the House Appropriations committee during hearings on the commerce department supply bill reported today that best estimates of the national income this year are $119,000,000,000.

At current prices for the things we can buy, there would be an excess of some $43,000,000,000, which is the inflationary item in our whole economy, he testified.

Japanese Threats On Yunnan Are Lessened

CHUNGKING, April 5. (AP) — Japanese threats against Chinese strongholds in the southern province of Yunnan, near the border separating Burma and Indo-China, have been abated by mopping up operations in the area, the Chinese high command said in a communique today.

In the maritime province of Chekiang, a force of 1,000 Japanese struck southward from Sinchang, 200 miles south of Shanghan, but retreated after suffering casualties to half the force, another column operating out of Sinchang was reported to have suffered 100 casualties.

Pampa Soldier And His Daughter Killed

PAMPA, April 5. (AP)—Master Sergeant Earl Ezzell, 25, sergeant major of a hospital detachment at the Pampa Army Air field and his 7-month-old daughter, Susan Ann, were injured fatally yesterday when the soldier's automobile crashed through a bridge and plunged down an embankment four miles southeast of Borger.

Ezzell's mother, Mrs. Emma L. Ezzell, resides in San Antonio. His wife was at home here at the time of the crash.

Ban On Chain Store Tire Sales Sought

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP) — A Senate small business subcommittee recommended today that legislation be introduced at once to place all retail distribution of tires in the hands of independent dealers.

"The destructive pricing policies of the major corporations destroy the independents' profits margins," said the group in a report by Senator Wherry R-Neb).

No one, it contended, would be injured by this legislation—a revised version of a bill sponsored late in the last session by the full committee.

The legislation now suggested would permit mail order houses to continue selling tires by mail but not through their branch stores and would exempt farm cooperatives.

EXPORT BAN LIFTED

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—The Office of Price Administration said today that restrictions on the export of processed foods have been lifted. The announcement was made following reports form Hawaii and other territories indicating that continental packers and wholesalers are hesitant about filling orders for export.

Wives And Landladies Must Have Over Ration Books, OPA Declares

DALLAS, April 5. (U.P.)—Wives and landladies who abscond with ration books can be made to hand them over, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

The OPA suggested that ration books may be lost by wives going home to mother and taking the husbands' books along, or by landladies refusing to give back the books when boarders move to a new location.

In either event, said the OPA, "keep calm."

All that is necessary in such an emergency is to notify the OPA ration board. The board will then call a hearing on the matter, the OPA said "at which the wife or landlady will be required to appear with the book."

tion, which General Eisenhower may regard as beneficial to the present phase of the campaign.

On the other hand, as the Fighting French headquarters emphasized in the announcement of the delay, unity under the Lorraine cross of the Fighting French is widely regarded as a pre-invasion essential to insure the fullest support of the French and the carefully built underground organizations pledged to DeGaulle.

The announcement gave no indication of how long the postponement of DeGaulle's visit might be deemed desirable by Eisenhower.

Petersburg Woman Is Claimed By Death

Mrs. B. W. Diggs of Petersburg died in the West Texas hospital shortly before midnight last night. The body was removed to the Rix Funeral Home, but members of the family were not immediately available and no announcement of funeral arrangements had been made.

Mrs. Diggs had been under treatment in the hospital for several days. Cause of her death was not announced.

Hurley Has Narrow Escape From Death

NATAL, Brazil, March 12. (AP)—(Delayed)—Brigadier General Patrick Hurley, former secretary of war and now a special representative of President Roosevelt, had one of the closest calls of his life this week in a plane mishap en route from the United States to Africa.

The huge transport on which he and nearly a score of others were passengers developed motor trouble and barely made it back to Natal from a point well out at sea.

Further Advances In Texas Farm Prices Reported In March

AUSTIN, April 5. (U.P.)—Further advances were recorded in average prices received by Texas farmers for most farm products, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported today. Principal exceptions were the prices of eggs and wholesale milk, which were down slightly from last month.

However, the seasonal decline in price of these items has been noticeably less this year than usual, the report said. Moderate to relatively sharp increases were noted for the various grain prices, with grain sorghum leading the advance.

Average prices received by Texas farmers for beef cattle were the highest for 33 years of record. Hog prices showed only a slight increase from last month but were bringing the highest prices since 1919.

On the western front Soviet fliers were reported to have raided a railway station in the enemy rear, putting the station out of commission and demolishing the tracks.

"The raid proved so unexpected that German anti-aircraft gunners opened haphazard fire after the fliers had dropped their bombs and left the objective," the communique said.

RENAULT DAMAGES WORSE THAN FROM BRITISH RAID

LONDON, April 5. (AP)—AVichy radio broadcast recorded by the Associated Press said tonight that damage caused yesterday when American Flying Fortresses bombed the Renault, motor works on the outskirts of Paris was greater than that caused by the British raid on the same target March 3, 1942.

After last year's attack on the Seine river plant, the air ministry said the RAF scored 500 direct hits, inflicted damage estimated at 400,000,000 francs and put the tank factory out of production for months.

Twenty-Nine Tech Hopefuls Out For First Spring Drill

Morgan Puts Squad Through Physical, Mental Workouts

By CHOC HUTCHESON
Avalanche Sports Writer

Texas Tech spring football went on a "war production" basis yesterday— its opening day— as Coach Dell Morgan put 29 Red Raider grid candidates through a two-shift workout.

Following a brisk two-hour "limbering up" drill at Tech stadium in the afternoon, the big man with the soft voice and his crew "knocked off" about an hour for supper before engaging in a 40-minute skull session designed to familiarize newcomers with Tech's intricate "T" formation and its operation.

Of the 29 boys reporting to Morgan and Assistant Coach Polk Robinson for the afternoon shift, only nine were holdovers from last year's varsity squad. Seven others were members of the 1942 freshman team, while the rest of the candidates were making their opening gridiron appearance at Tech.

Three Miss Workout

Three of the 1942 Raiders who missed yesterday's practice, however, are expected to join the squad for today's drill. They are Quarterback L. A. Storrs, End Harold Crossen and Tackle Buck Gillenwater.

Morgan devoted more than half the afternoon session to calisthenics, running exercises and signal drills. Because of a dearth of quarterbacks caused by Ken Robbins' graduation, Jess Ballew's loss to the services and Storrs' failure to report, the Raider coach used two linemen — End Roy "Red" Williams and Guard Russell Birdwell—at the blocking back posts.

Also on the afternoon's docket was a brief pass defense experiment featuring one possible 1943 secondary.

Today's workout, Morgan said, will take up where yesterday's left off. The Techsans are to continue their spring drills through May 4.

Nine Ends Listed

Those reporting yesterday, listed by positions and with home towns, were:

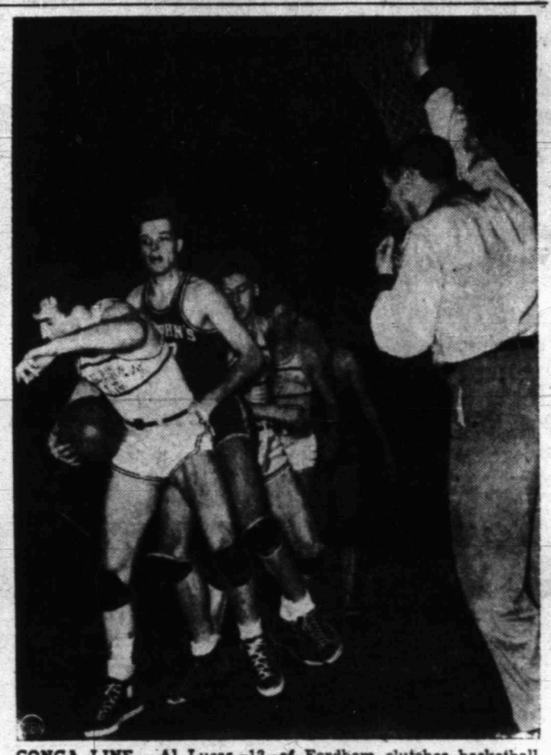

Ends—Roy Williams, Abernathy; Ralph Geddie, Van; William Banks, Vernon; J. E. Branton, Leland, Miss.; Charles Read, Jr., Newman; Silas Duffey, Meadow; Delmer Wood, Olney; Dick Tadlock, Amarillo; Gerald Crossen, Dallas.

Tackles—Clyde Hall, Bonham; Charlie Thompson, Crowell; J. W. Smith, Jr., Jayton.

Guards— James Reed, Crosbyton; Gus Gallagher, Breckenridge; Russell Birdwell, Bossier City, La.; J. D. Milner, Lubbock; J. B. Gipson, Morton.

Centers—Billy Hale, Amarillo; Garland Head, Clovis; Rollie Nabors, Lubbock; Phillip Wynn, Wellington.

Backs — Walt Schlinkman, Dumas; Dick Standefer, Muleshoe; J. R. Callahan, Wink; Deverelle Lewis, Brownfield; Doug McCurry, Lubbock; Ralph Earhart, Pampa; Buster Melton, Merkel; Joe Rushing, Floydada.

CONGA LINE — Al Lucas, 12, of Fordham clutches basketball while leading what appears to be a conga line—one,two, three, kick—as St. John's of Brooklyn turns back the Rams, 69-43, in a recent National Invitational tourney game at Madison Square Garden. Referee Pat Kennedy is about to call a halt—or is it a change of step?

American League Has Only Twelve Umpires

CHICAGO, April 5. (AP) — The poor umpire, who works two to four hours a day seven days a week unless it rains or the teams have a day off, will be doubly on his guard against injuries or sickness in the American league this season, for there will be only 10 arbiters in uniform instead of the 12 who took the field last year.

The league is relatively free of military draft worries in this department, however, for only one umpire, Ernest Stewart, is under the 38-year-old mark and he has two children.

Through non-draft causes the league has lost three of last year's starters. Harry Geisel and John Quinn have resigned and Steve Basil is on the voluntarily retired list. The only war casualty is Art Passarella, who goes into the Army April 19.

With the duties of Umpire-in-Chief Thomas H. Connolly falling into the administrative line only, holdovers from the 1942 opening-day staff are William A. McGowan, William Summers, Calvin Hubbard, William T. Grieve, Edwin A. Rommel, Joseph Rue, George Pipgras and Stewart.

High tide at new and full moon is called spring tide; that at the first and third quarter, neap tide.

Tebbetts Organizing All-Star Army Baseball Nine At Waco

WACO, April 5. (AP)—Waco was in professional baseball five times before giving it up and now a ball club that could go in most any kind of company has been dumped into its lap—all free, too.

Lt. George R. Tebbetts — "Birdie" to baseball fans—is responsible for it. The former Detroti catcher entered the Army Air forces and immediately was assigned to recruiting.

Naturally he went after ball players and the guy did a job big league scouts would be proud of.

Has Sid Hudson

Tebbetts, who earned his bars at the air forces officer candidate school in Miami, Fla., is back at the Waco Army Flying school in the physical training office.

The team Birdie is readying for the opening game April 18 against a semi-pro outfit has such fellows as Sid Hudson and Bruce Campbell of Washington; Walter (Hoot) Evers, who might have been with Detroit this season had he not joined the Army (he was a star with Beaumont in 1942); Nick Popovich, property of the White Sox; Jake Berger, Buffalo; Mike Popovich, Detroit, and Lou Batterson, formerly of the ankees.

Waco was in the Texas league three times and twice took a fling at Class D, but this Army club may be the best it ever has had.

Pro Football League Session Opens Today

CHICAGO, April 5. (AP) — The National Football league requested delegates to its spring meeting to park their long faces outside the door tonight as they checked in for the three-day parley which opens tomorrow.

Commissioner Elmer Layden said the sessions would be conducted on the "we can and will play football" theme unless investigations should prove conclusively the pro league can't weather the demands of selective service on player personnel.

"It's not going to be easy, I know," Layden said. "Our easy source of playing material—college football ranks—is gone for the duration. We're going to have to work to get players and prepare our teams for the schedule."

Veteran Moundsman To End 20-Year Career

HOUSTON, April 5. (AP)—After 20 years in professional baseball, Pitcher John Berly has decided to call it quits.

Only three seasons ago, the veteran curve baller, who came up off the Houston sandlots in 1923, set an International league record by pitching in 63 games for Toronto and Rochester.

Property of the Milwaukee club, Berly has asked either to be placed on the voluntary retired list or to be given his outright release.

In his career, he has seen service with 14 clubs in eight leagues. He pitched for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1924 and 1928, the New York Giants in 1931 and the Philadelphia Nationals in 1932 and 1933. In the International league, he twirled for Rochester, Baltimore and Toronto; in the Texas for Houston and Dallas; in the American association, for Indianapolis and Milwaukee; in the Western league for Wichita; in the Western Association for Fort Smith, and in the South Atlantic league for Spartansburg, S. C.

For several years, Berly has been a salesman in a clothing store here. He will make that job a year around one.

Cubs To Depend On Six Rookies

FRENCH LICK, Ind., April 5. (AP)—Every now and then a baseball club comes up with a player who is potentially a star—but never lives up to his capabilities.

The Cubs have one in Outfielder Charley Gilbert.

He's the son of Larry Gilbert, who was a crack major league player years ago before he became one of the best managers in the Southern association.

Charley grew up in a baseball atmosphere. As a boy he could watch the professional players and pick up pointers. And there was no better teacher and coach than his dad.

Went To Dodgers

The major league clubs were after Charley while he was in his teens and he finally was sold to Brooklyn for a fat price. The Dodgers tried him a while and then shipped him to the Cubs in the deal for Billy Herman. He was in 74 games last year, hiting only .184.

Yet manager Jimmy Wilson of the Chicagoans is strong for the youngster.

"He's fast on the bases and in the outfield, has a good baseball head, can throw well and should be a good hitter if he shakes off his nervousness," Wilson contends.

Platt Goes Up

Gilbert is one of the Cubs' six outfielders, but until he loosens up and starts hitting, Lou Novikoff, Bill Nicholson and Peanut Lowery probably will be the starting trio. Mizell (Whitey) Platt who hit .395 to lead the 3-1 league, are the others.

The Cubs, trying to mould themselves into a pennant threat, rest their hopes largely on the performances of six rookies:

1. Pitcher Kewpie Barrett, 34-year-old Pacific Coast leaguer, who won 27 games for Seattle last year while posting an ERA of 1.72.

2. Pitcher Ray Prim, another 34-year-oldster from the coast. A lefty, Prim won 21 games for Los Angeles.

Becker At First

3. First Baseman Heinz (Dutch) Becker from Milwaukee, who was the second best hitter in the American association last year with a .340 mark. He's a line drive swatter.

4. Pitcher Bob McCall, Nashville, was an outfielder for three seasons before he began hurling as a southpaw last year.

5. Infielder Eddie Stanky from Milwaukee, who won the American association batting title with .342. He was that loop's most valuable player.

6. Pitcher Jonas Berry, who won 18 games for Tulsa of the now-defunct Texas league.

Four Good Pitchers

Wilson thinks it'll be Becker or Phil Cavaretta at first, with Stan Hack at third and Stu Martin at second. Clyde McCullough is slated for most of the catching.

The Cubs' first four pitchers are about as good a foursome as any club can boast, right-handers Paul Derringer, obtained from the Reds, Claude Passeau, Lon Warneke and Bill Lee. Then there are Les Gleming, Hiram Bithorn and Jake Mooty.

As to his team's chances in the pennant scramble, Wilson is optimistic.

"The Cards, Dodgers and Giants are all weaker, and we're stronger," he explains.

Sore Legs Bother Bill Cummings In Hurdles

HOUSTON, April. 5. (AP)—Bill Cummins, Rice institute's all-American hurdler, is bothered by sore legs.

"His legs seem to have lost their spring," Coach Bill Wallace said today. "He has been working too hard what with a prolonged basketball schedule and then jumping immediately into track. I am going to let him take it easy all this week, and hope the rest will help him for Saturday's triangular meet at Baton Rouge with Texas and LSU."

Cummins was third Saturday in the Texas Relays in his specialty, the high hurdles, an event which he won in the 1942 National AAU meet. Ralph Tate of Oklahoma A. and M. won the event in 14.3 seconds with Douglas Jacques of Texas placing second. Cummins was timed in 14.5.

AGGIE ACE—Favored to better the Southwest conference high jump mark before the end of the current track season is Pete "Flash" Watkins, towering Texas A & M star. Watkins took his specialty in the Border Olympics and tied for first place in the Texas Relays last weekend.

Spring Training Notes

MUNCIE, Ind., April 5 (AP) — Mayor John C. Hampton of Muncie was almost swept off his feet today when the Pirates put on a sham riot just before the finish of a five inning camp game, in which the rookies beat the regulars 2 to 1.

The players pretended to flare up when Hampton, acting as chief umpire, called out Johnny Barrett on strikes. They dashed to the astonished mayor, seized him and almost had the breath hugged out of him before he caught on to the fun.

YANKS DOWN SOLDIERS

FT. HANCOCK, N. J., April 5 (AP) — With Jim Turner, Lefty Russo and Ernie Bonham combining to pitch six-hit ball, the New York Yankees whipped the Ft. Hancock nine 7 to 2 for their second victory in three exhibition baseball games.

Johnny Lindell, the Yanks' batting star in their first two games against Newark, failed to get a hit off four soldier hurlers.

BOSOX BLANK ORIOLES

BALTIMORE, April 5 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox of the American league took the first of a three game series from the Baltimore International league club today by a score of 8 to 0, the Orioles' second consecutive exhibition shutout.

The Sox gathered 14 hits off Roland Van Slate and Elmer Burkhart, while Chase, Terry and Brown held the locals to four singles. The Sox saved their biggest wallop for the ninth—five hits, five runs.

The British Royal Observatory was established at Greenwich in 1675.

Cullenbine Now 'Riding Anchor'

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 5. (AP)—Those gusty trade winds have quit blowing, tempararily at least, the direction of Roy Cullenbine, who now is riding anchor in the Cleveland Indians' outfield after cruising through 10 different clubs in as many seasons.

"I've changed uniforms as regularly as I've shaved," laughed the 28-year-old vagabond, "and I've been in more deals than a pawnshop broker. Just as soon stand still for a while."

Cullenbine was with three clubs last year. He played 38 games with the St. Louis Browns and batted .193; then he went to Washington, where he clipped .286 in 64. The New York Yankees pounced on him next in a move to strengthen their outfield for the coming world series. He swatted .364 in 21 contests for them and starred in the series as a replacement for Tom Henrich.

Farm Team Product

Last winter he went to Cleveland with Catcher Buddy Rosar in exchange for Oscar Grimes and Roy Weatherly.

With veteran Jeff Heath still an absentee and Fabian Gaffke suddenly announcing his retirement, the Indians have only three outfielders: Rookie Hank Edwards, of Baltimore, who has been reclassified 3-A, Oris Hockett and Cullenbine.

Cullenbine came up through the Detroit Tigers farm system, playing in successive seasons for Shreveport, La., Springfield, Ohio, Beaumont, and Toledo. He jointed the parent club in 1938, became a free agent under Commissioner K. M. Landis' ruling in 1939 and signed with the Brooklyn Dodgers the following winter for $25,000. He was traded by the Dodgers to the Browns early in the season and stayed there through 1941 to enjoy his best year with a .317. He is the only switch hitter on the Cleveland roster, and holds a five year major league batting average of .274.

Masonic Home Boys Open Spring Practice

FORT WORTH, April 5. (AP)—The "Mighty "Mites" returned to the gridiron today and Texans were happy about the whole thing.

"The "mighty Mites" are Masonic Home's colorful footballers.

Several months ago it was announced the Home would not be a gridiron entry in the schoolboy race next fall. A big drop in enrollment and boys considered too small for football were reasons for the decision.

But the fans and the boys themselves flooded officials at the Home with requests that they reconsidered. They did and today spring training started with 35 of the 40 boys now enrolled in the high school division of the home out of the team.

Charles Romine is the coach. He takes the place vacated by H. N. (Rusty) Russell, who went to Highland Park (Dallas last fall.

Whirly Heads Entry List For Dixie 'Cap

BALTIMORE, April 5. (AP) — Whirlaway, greatest money winner of all time, headed a field of 32 topnotchers announced today for the $20,000 Dixie Handicap May 1, one of the high spots of Pimlico's spring "street car meeting."

Factory inspection became a responsibility of the British government in 1833.

Cards' Billy Southworth Not Worried About Manpower

CAIRO, Ill., April 5. (AP) — Although most major league teams are still experimenting with their lineups, the St. Louis Cardinals are in such excellent shape for manpower that it's possible already to predict their likely batting order.

Barring the unexpected—or the draft — indications are that the world champions will open the National league season with a team made up almost entirely of last year's players. No other club in either circuit can boast of a similar outlook.

Here's the way, it appears, that the Cards will go to bat against the Cincinnati Reds April 21:

Jimmy Brown, 2B; Johnny Hopp, 1B; Stan Musial, lf; Walker Cooper, c; George Kurowski, 3b; Buster Adams, cf; Martin Marion, ss; Harry Walker, rf; Mort Cooper, p.

This is virtually the lineup used by Manager Billy Southworth in his intrasquad games, and there's only one name in the list new to the Cardinals—Adams, the speedy outfielder who batted .309 for Sacramento. He's a long-ball hitter of the type Southworth likes in the sixth slot of his batting order.

CAT GETS THE REWARD

SECAUCUS, N. J., April 5. (U.P.) — Restauranteur Max Bucher made good today on his offer of five hamburgers for the return of his pet cat. Someone brought the cat back, skinny and hungry, nearly a week after Bucher offered the reward but did not claim the hamburgers, so Bucher gave them to the cat.

The CHIROPRACTOR-and You

No. 11 of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of Chiropractic.

CASE HISTORY No. 274. A girl of 17 who came to a Chiropractor suffering from severe headaches which she attributed to her eyes. She had worn glasses for five years, changing to a stronger type of lens every six months. However, analysis revealed that the headaches were caused by nerve pressure at the base of the skull. A series of spinal adjustments released the nerves from pressure and the headaches promptly ceased. Further, eyesight so improved that within a short time she was able to discard her glasses and has not worn them since.

CASE HISTORY No. 742. A severe case of asthma resulting from the drainage of mucous from diseased sinuses which had affected the bronchial tubes. This middle-aged man had tried every available means of relief without success. Brought to a Chiropractor "doubting that anything could be done," he was restored to normal health within a few weeks. The cause of his condition was simply nerve pressure between the brain and the sinuses. When this pressure was removed by spinal adjustment the abnormality quickly cleared up.

CASE HISTORY No. 17. A typical case of gastritis. The patient complained of headaches, pain in the stomach, a feeling of fullness and distress, heartburn, and was given to vomiting after food. This condition had existed for seven months, during two of which the patient had been unable to work. Analysis showed a displacement of a segment of the spine which had interfered with the nerve supply to the walls of the stomach. This interference was removed and immediately the patient began to show improvement. In a short time the stomach had normalized itself.

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC? Chiropractic is based on the fact that the brain is the human power house. It creates vital energy Without brain energy no organ or part of the body can function. Brain energy is transmitted over the body's network of nerves. These nerves radiate from the spine, and it is in the spine that the nerves can be "pinched" by vertebrae, and the flow of energy over them impeded or cut off. When, in this way, the connection is broken between brain and one or more parts of the body, disease is the inevitable spinal adjustments, the Chiropractor is able to locate and release impinged nerves and restore an uninterrupted flow of brain energy to the part affected. Health follows naturally.

Progress In Cotton Research

RESULTS apparently are beginning to justify the wisdom of the creation some two years ago of the statewide Cotton Research committee to seek new and increased uses for cotton.

Several developments have been reported during recent weeks and months at Texas Technological college, which is one of the research centers. Work also has continued steadily in other centers and it is to be presumed that the experts there have been getting results, too.

Very few people possess the expert knowledge on which to base opinions as to the practical value of the various developments reported. They must assume, from general experience, that most of those reported may have little practical commercial value.

At the same time, it is not necessary to be a cotton expert to recognize certain unquestionable facts. One is that all of the potentialities of cotton, and its products have not been discovered. Probably few of them have been found. Another is that this nation— particularly the South— can produce a great deal more cotton than the quantities which create a serious surplus even in these days of acute shortages of so many things. Still another is that new and increased uses for the product will not be found as quickly, if at all, unless a systematic, persisting search is made for them by those qualifyied to carry on such work. Another is that, to be most effective, it must be made possible for experts to carry on such research to the exclusion of other matters. It is not a job to be left to chance discoveries by those who can give only spare time to such work.

Furthermore, there is no logic in the supposition that all of the reported discoveries and advances are entirely without value. The law of averages is the guarantee that some, at least, will be worth something.

Finally, there is the fact that almost any discovery or development of practical commercial value that creates new or added uses for cotton will justify many times over, the $250,000 that was allotted for the work of the statewide research committee.

Something very small will pay huge dividends on the investment. Something really large—and this is more than a possibility—would add fantastic sums to the income and the wealth of the South, the nation and the world. It might solve the cotton surplus problem which has been the South's sorest affliction for many, many years.

At the time the allocation of the research money was first suggested, Avalanche-Journal Newspapers joined in remarking that such an investment could prove the most profitable ever made for the State of Texas. Progress obviously is being made in that direction.

Safeguards Are Demanded

NATUALLY there is uncertainty as to whether there may be truth in the assertion by John L. Lewis, the nation's No. 1 labor manipulator, that the military is making preparations for the emergency that would arise should a threatened strike occur in the Appalachian coal mining regions.

But if the military is not making preparations for such a contingency, then it is guilty of criminal negligence. The strike is threatened. Precautions are demanded by the fact that Lewis-engineered strikes always are accompanied by violence and usually by bloodshed. Life and property will demand protection if this strike materializes.

Certainly the military should be ready to step in, instantly, if this threat to national security is carried out. The nation must be protected from enemies of the Lewis kind as well as from the Nazis and the Japs who are aided by such outbursts of domestic rebellion.

We do not wish to be unduly pessimistic over the possibility of increasing shortages of foods during the war, but just the same we believe it is entirely possible that two years from now it will be news when a man bites a hot dog.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

THE PUZZLE OF ALI KHASIM

Ali Khasim of Kairouan, Tunisia, suffered an attack of total amnesia after being hit with a rock. He lost the memory of his existence and among other things could not recall a word of the Koran which he had known by heart. Instead, he was able to recite the Kalevala, an epic Finnish poem of great length and recite it in the orgiinal Finnish.

The explanation of his miracle is, that Ali was originally a Finn who suffered an attack of amnesia once before and assumed a second personality. The second blow restored to him part of his original memory. 1912.

Problem of the Wire Cage

By John Dickson Carr

Chapter 26

"Ed—sit down, Superintendent," invited Hugh, moving over.

Events had moved so fast that he had not time to readjust himself to a new, and very much more ominous, aspect of Hadley. Hadley glanced at Hugh. He glanced at Brenda, who was hastily stuffing the photograph into her handbag.

"Ah?" murmured Hadley.

"The fact is, Superintendent," said Hugh, "the fact is——"

"Yes?"

"I'm telling you this because now—at long last—we can help you. We've found out something. We're on to the real truth?"

"Is that so, now?"

"As I hope to live and breathe," urged Brenda. "If you'll only listen to us, Mr. Hadley, you'll have the real murderer under lock and key before the day's over. Chandler knows. Chandler's got a photograph of the real murderer."

"You've made a slight mistake, haven't you?" asked Hadley, turning round to look at her for the first time. "He's got a photograph of you."

"No, no, this is another photograph. Chandler was there and saw the whole thing. He practically told us so himself."

"I'll bet he did."

(Crack!)

Even Hadley stirred at the vicious whip-noise across the theater. Tex Lannigan's white hat was in evidence again. The Flying Mephistos, going through their round routine, moved in a quick, scarlet Catherine-wheel.

(Crack!)

"Hugh, that's got to be stopped," said Brenda, getting to her feet. "Don't you see? Chandler! That poor man's as nervous as a cat. If the whip keeps going while he's on the trapeze, heaven only knows what will happen. He might fall."

"I hope not," said the superintendent comfortably. "I want him to be in good shape when he goes along with me."

Hugh interposed.

"Hold on! You're not going to put Chandler under arrest?"

"He is under arrest, even if he doesn't know it." Hadley contemplated the stage. "Have a good time, my bucko," he added with satisfaction. "You had a good deal of fun taking Fell and me over the jumps this morning. We'll see how you like a bit of your own treatment tonight."

(Crack!)

"But you can't do that, Superintendent! He isn't guilty, and he knows who is. I'm sure hes got a photograph of the murderer. Besides, it'll be no good arresting him anyway if you can't show how he did the murder."

"Oh, I think we know that," said Hadley.

To ancient storm-music from the William Tell Overture, pitched in a louder key than was necessary, two of the Flying Mephistos were doing a series of back-flaps.

"Then how did he do it?"

Hadley spoke almost absently, his eyes on the acrobats. "He walked on the net."

"He couldn't have walked on top of the net," insisted Hugh. "That's impossible. The net was to weak to support anybody; and, in any case, Chandler doesn't do wire-walking.'

(Crack!)

"He walked on the net," repeated Hadley. "Not in the way you mean. Now, when you began to play tennis yesterday afternoon, what was the height of the net?"

"The usual height."

"Yes. But what happened after the rain had been hammering on it for three quarters of an hour? It sagged, didn't it?"

"It sagged a good deal, yes, but——"

"You also tell me there was a lot of wind blowing, both before the storm and during it? Yes." Hadley nodded. Given both those two circumstances, what would happen?"

It was Brenda who spoke out clearly here. "They're going up to those trapezes. Look at Chandler! He nearly missed his grip on that silver ladder when he started. If you're not going to stop our friend Clarence, I am. Let me pass."

(Crack!)

The full music swept through the theater as Brenda started to push her way past Hugh's knees.

"Brenda, sit down. Those people are old hands. They know their business. Superintendent, I still don't see what you're getting at."

As Brenda pushed past into the aisle, Madge Sturgess also got to her feet. She moved up the aisle towards the dark rear of the auditorium. She and Brenda passed each other.

"Brenda! Here!"

"Sit down, Mr. Rowland," said Hadley impatiently. "If she thinks she can stop that fool with the whip, let her go. So you still don't see what I'm getting at?"

"A tennis-net," said Hadley, "is heavy. And, if it sagged as much as all that, about three or four inches of it would be lying on the ground. Including the weighted cloth border of the underside, the border being over an inch wide? Yes(AP) You agree? If the weather is blowing the net does more than drag on the ground. It flaps back and forth. Consequently, if the sand surface of the court is soft enough during a thunderstorm, the flattened net leaves marks. It leaves a trail of its own clear across the court. You look at that trail; and you never think twice about it because it looks so natural.

"But a man could walk on the border that lay flat on the court, and leave no footprints of his own. More than that—he could jump or spring on it. Starting with a long spring from the side of the court (such as Chandler could manage easily), he would land on the nearest edge of the net. Two more springs, and he's at the middle. He makes no marks, because the trail has already been made for him. That's how our acrobatic friend did his acrobatics; and it's going to hang him."

(Crack!)

"Does Dr. Fell agree with you?"

"That's of no consequence. Fell never agrees with anybody but himself. Chandler is the murderer because he had motive, opportunity, temperament, and method; and because he's the only person who could be guilty."

(Crack!)

Hugh heard that final, vicious lash dimly, because the orchestra was banging with exaggerated loudness to drown out the whip. But he heard it just as he looked behind him — and saw Brenda standing in the middle aisle, staring, with Tex Lannigan's coiled whip in her hands.

Since his eyes were away from the stage, Hugh did not see it begin to happen. But he saw the rest of it.

Chandler had returned his partner to her trapeze-bar; where she caught and, magnificently, held his weight while he gained impetus to swing back. They were on the trapezes facing the audience, and Chandler's was nearest. He swung and spun, his hands out, towards his own trapeze-bar and towards the auditorium. They saw his face, pale and glistening, with a stupid look under the overhead lamps.

Then it seemed to happen in slow motion. The arch of his body had a slow, easy curve. The extended tips of his fingers passed several inches beneath the trapeze-bar; they sagged at the elbows, but did not fall until he began to fall himself. It was as though, a red attacker, he were leaping out at the audience. He missed the orchestra pit, struck head down across the aisle-seat of the first row of stalls with a rattling thud, crumpled up across it like a piece of burnt paper, and rolled over on his back in the aisle.

He was dead, of course, when they picked him up. Since he was wearing red tights and had red hair, it was a minute or two before anyone noticed the three bullet-holes in his corpse: two through the body, and one through the crown of the head.

Ban On Liquor Output To Hold

WASHINGTON, April 5. (U.P.)—If you were entertaining any illusions that the War Production board was going to ease up and let distillers replenish dwindling whiskey supplies, you may as well forget the whole thing.

The WPB officially set at rest today the recurrent rumors that supplies of industrial alcohol were adequate and that liquor manufacturers soon might be operating again at their peacetime pursuits. Contrary to the reports, the WPB said there is plenty of storage space for more industrial alcohol, and that more is needed.

Industrial alcohol in storage at present totals approximately 90,000,000 gallons. Storage space is available for an additional 25,000,000 gallons, the WPB said.

The WPB decision was made despite reports that the stocks of distilled spirits are getting low. Many states which control liquor sales already have started rationing programs.

The WPB also took official note that a shortage of beer exisits in some parts of the country, particularly in California. That came to light during a meeting here last week of the brewers' industry committee and WPB officials.

To conserve beer for the armed forces and to assure equitable distribution, the committee reported that brewers are finding it necessary to ration beer to their customers. The cuts range from 15 to 25 per cent of 1942 deliveries.

There have been reports that the government would undertake nationwide liquor rationing.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE need for greater air and naval strength in the Southwestern Pacific to resist a prospective Japanese descent on Australia figured prominently in the discussions of the recent council of war here. Every representative from that area impressed on the High Command the fact that repulse of a massed enemy offensive cannot be assured with our existing forces.

The Australians and Chinese are partially responsible for the submission of these demands to Washington. Prime Minister John Curtin and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek realize that their countries have been saved again and again by aerial rather than sea or ground units. Lt. Gen. George Kenney, who participated in the strategic round-up as MacArthur's flight officer, is almost as popular at Canberra as his superior. Indeed, there are suggestions that Kenney be placed in charge of all United Nations hosts if the hero of Bataan is to be shifted elsewhere, as reported.

The Chinese leader inspired the move under which independent control of the sky fighters around Chungking was vested in Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault. The American veteran's operations had frequently been curtailed when he was subordinate to Lt. Gen. Joseph Stilwell and Maj. Gen. Clayton Bissell. Madame Chiang attributes Tokyo's failure to crush her people's spirit to Chennault's "Flying Tigers."

VENTURES: Champions of a more powerful concentration against the Japanese presented several intriguing post-mortems on major engagements in their sphere. In their attempt to obtain reinforcements of men, ships and planes, they made some comments which may have been novel even to Washington bigwigs of the Army and Navy.

Only the greatest streak of luck, they pointed out, enabled us to blunt the force of the two most dangerous thrusts which the foe has delivered since the earliest days of the Far Eastern struggle. Kenney's triumph over the threatening 22 ship convoy in the Bismarck sea was chiefly due to the fact that the clouds parted at a particular moment and permitted our air scouts to spot the armada below. Had it not been for this providential intervention, the preliminary sally against Australia and the other strongholds might have succeeded.

Vice Admiral William Halsey's defeat of Tokyo's fleet was also one of those eyelash victories. He took a precarious chance when he decided to run the gauntlet of Tojo's warships and try to split their line. Our men waged a brave and resourceful battle; but fortune and darkness also fought on our side.

Had these heroic ventures misfired, Britain and the United States would have suffered disasters equal to those at Singapore and Pearl Harbor. Hirohito needs a psychological victory right now. And there is no reason to believe that we shall continue to enjoy the "breaks," according to top commanders from that sector.

POLITICOS: Resourceful Senator John A Danaher has come forward with a constructive idea for taking the Federal bench out of partisanship control, if possible. It is so simple that elder statesmen wonder why they never thought of it.

The Senate Judiciary committee voted not long ago to create a new judgeship in the Seventh circuit, which includes Indiana, most of Illinois and part of Wisconsin. The Connecticut Republican proposed, and the committee accepted his amendment, that authority to name an extra jurist should expire if the President does not act within six months.

Inside explanation is that imposing a time limit tends to prevent the plum from becoming a dish for the politicos. It will also prevent Senator Scott W. Lucas of Illinois, an administration wheelhorse who may be licked next year, from lame-ducking it to a lifetime job.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Loman

NOW that United States armed forces are firmly planted on African soil, Washington and private capitalists are taking renewed interest in the economic development of the Dark Continent, especially the Belgian Congo. Already various strategic goods have been shipped to us from the jungles, but until recently most commercial affairs were handled through London. An American official trade commission is being organized to study the possibilities of the region as a source of raw material in case of a long war and for expansion in the postbellum era.

Belgian authorities here urged a big American corporation to set up additional rubber plantations. The present production of elastic is only 7,000 tons annually but opportunities for cultivation are almost endless. However, Wall Street was not inclined to risk its money in view of the strides which synthetic latex is likely to make before the end of hostilities.

It is not generally known that United States businessmen earned tremendous fortunes opening diamond mines in that area about 40 years ago. The firm was paying 60 per cent dividends. Today, industrial brilliants, widely used in victory factories, account for four-fifths of the mineral wealth of the colony. Eleven million carats, or 80 per cent of the world's output by weight, came from there in 1940, dug chiefly by the famous "Forminiere" trust.

OPPORTUNITIES: Brussels, prior to the German invasion, did not encourage outsiders to share in the development of the natural resources of its equatorial territory. At the time we were enlarging commercial relations with Central and South America in the early days of the century, the Belgians feared that we were showing signs of imperialism. Now that the Congo has lost half of its imports and three-quarters of its markets, the Belgian government-in-exile and its New York representatives are eager for Uncle Sam's federal and private aid.

In fact some of them recall that states south of the Rio Grande often defaulted on their obligations whereas Belgian investments always have been noted for stability.

At the start of the conflict we sought copper, tin, palm oil, cobalt, copal and other commodities. In return colonial officials requested machinery to replace worn-out equipment and trade goods for the natives. But some of our bright young men in Washington were so ignorant of African geography that they balked at sending old clothing and small hardware articles because they said the exports might fall into German hands, although the nearest Nazi was in Egypt with a desert and Montgomery between him and the central jungle.

Only 30,000 whites live among more than 11,000,000 negroes in a land of great potential wealth. Farsighted economists believe that the section offers wonderful opportunities for United States colored troops, now stationed in West Africa and the Gold Coast, who would settle there and help run private business enterprises.

FOOTWEAR: New York is having a run on evening slippers, dress sandals and footwear with spike heels and open toes, caused mainly by a rumor that the government is about to decree a utility style and that all fancy modes will be out for the duration. Tanners explain that Washington eventually may order a Victory model but even if it does many novelties will be available for months because manufacturers have large stocks on hand.

However variety in footwear will be increasingly limited because plants no longer make certain items like white calfskins, two-toned numbers, those with extra leather trimmings, and other specialties. Colors are restricted to black, white, town brown and Army russet. Thousands of pairs of play creations failed to move when they were rationed. Now that restrictions on them have been lifted they are being purchased as substitutes for regular shoes.

Side Glances --- By Galbraith

"Hello, Judge! I notice you riding that horse to court nearly every day now—doesn't the bench get a little hard along toward evening?"

Here And There In Texas

By WILLIAM E. KEYS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, April 5. — As a gag Rep. Howard Hartzog of Port Lavaca posed as a member of a committee sitting for a hearing.

"Mr. Chairman," Hartzog spoke up.

"Sorry, Mr. Hartzog, you're not a member of the committee," the chairman said.

Hartzog smiled at his little joke, walked away and commented to a friend: "There's the only committee chairman in the House who knows all the members of his committee."

In less than a minute a committeeman arose to address a colleague.

"Now, mister," he began . . . and broke into a wide grin.

"Say," he said, "what is your name, anyway."

It's Nothing Unusual

It really isn't unusual for one member of the House not to know all of the 149 other members. Some confusion of names results from inability of one member to keep scores of names within his memory.

Speaker Daniel once addressed a member of the San Antonio delegation as "Mr. Bexar of Bell," instead of "Mr. Bell of Bexar."

Around the corridors they still tell about the time several years ago when as a gag a bunch ganged up on Rep. Pat Dwyer of San Antonio and introduced Dwyer's desk mate to Dwyer as one of his constituents. The impersonator was Cecil Baker. Hat brim turned down to conceal much of his face, Baker was introduced to Dwyer in the House reception room and carried on a long conversation with him concerning a state job he wanted before Dwyer realized he was the victim of a joke.

GUEST speakers before joint meetings of House and Senate have been moderately numerous this session but the scope of this activity is limited when compared to that of past sessions.

The tone of such entertainment is more serious too. Whereas Phil Spitalney's all-girl band, glee clubs from state supported schools, the late Will Rogers and other humorists were common bill of fare in the past years, wartime finds Jim Farley, Congressman Hatton W. Sumners, Fulton Lewis, jr., and others of their stripe predominating.

Laughs Crop Out

Deadly serious as it was, a House committee hearing on a bill restricting the powers of river authorities created some laughs.

John McCall, general counsel of the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation district presented an argument that money from power developments of authorities help finance their flood control projects.

"It's something like the Tennessee preacher who ran a moonshine still," he explained.

"Hauled into court on a bootlegging charge the preacher explained to the judge: "My real job is preaching. The bootlegging pays the expenses."

Sidney Samuels, of Fort Worth, general counsel for the Tarrant County Water Improvement District No. 1 made a comparison too.

Why penalize one authority for the evils which may have been committed by another, he wanted to know.

"That is like a man saying he will not get married because his neighbor abuses his wife."

TWO Texas women, graduates of war industry training schools, are fighting the Axis for good reason.

Mrs. Marguerite M. Johnson of Port Arthur holds down a marine electrician's job at an Orange ship yard.

Seventy-five per cent of her pay check goes into war bonds. That's only one reason for her switch from domestic to industrial life.

Her husband, Walter Johnson, an engineer, went down on a tanker which was torpedoed in the North Atlantic.

"It's the only way I can help even the score with the Axis," she explains.

Mrs. Constance Hughes of Waco learned aircraft riveting.

Mother of a 12-months-old son, she says:

"The happiest day in my life will come when I help build a plane my husband flies over Germany."

Her husband, Maj. A. V. Hughes, piloted one of the first American planes that bombed Nazi-held territory in Europe.

The Waco and Orange War Industry Training schools, like many others in Texas, are sponsored by the State Department of Education.

New Kind Of Open House

Out at the Fort Worth home of the R. H. Schweers, it's "open house" this week—and the family has no choice in the matter.

It's all because of a flower, and, according to Mrs. Schweer, the odor it throws off is "something out of this world."

It is the Hydrosme Rivieri, commonly known as the Sacred Lily of India or, and more appropriately, as the Carrion Lilly.

The flower came to Fort

BUYING ORDERS HEAVY

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—Rail and industrial stocks hit peaks for one to six years in today's market as buyers unleashed the heaviest buying orders in 18 months.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks today rose .6 of a point to 49.6; highest since May 9, 1940. The 18-rail composite touched its best level since October, 1937, with a jump of 1.1 points to 26.2. The market was one of the broadest in some time, 967 individual issues being traded. Of these 703 were up, 131 down and 133 unchanged. Transfers totalled 2,647,920 shares, largest since Dec. 29, 1941. They compared with 1,659,140 last Friday.

Radio Corp. was the liveliest performer of the day, jumping 1¼ to 10½, partly in further reflection of the company's plan to redeem its outstanding "B" stock.

Well in front were Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Northern Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Rolling Mill, Chrysler, Public Service of N. J., Western Union, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Oliver Farm, Anaconda, Alaska Juneau, Du Pont, Atlantic Gulf and West Indies, Pepsi-Cola, Distillers Corp. and American Airlines.

Railway bonds of secondary rating tilted upward in the loans department.

Ahead in the curb were Electric Bond and Share, Creole Petroleum, American Gas, Lake Shore, Midvale, Pittsburgh Plate Glass and Pioneer Gold. The aggregate here was 475,695 shares versus 345,310 in the preceding full session.

Reports On Travel Priorities Denied

"Rumors now circulating that Office of Defense transportation will apply priorities to civilian bus and train travel are entirely false," said Richard E. Wood, Lubbock district ODT manager.

He said passenger transportation is under severe strain, and persons who have no real need to travel should stay off trains and buses, so the carriers may be able to accommodate essential travel, but no compulsory restrictions are planned, nor will they be until and unless voluntary cooperation should break down, Wood said.

Record Number Of Livestock Marketed In Texas In 1942

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP)—Record numbers of cattle, calves, sheep and hogs were marketed by Texas farmers during 1942, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported today, as the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research disclosed that shipments of livestock increased during February.

Total interstate shipments of Texas livestock last month were 6,334 carloads compared with 4,339 in February, 1942. Intrastate shipments, excluding Fort Worth, totaled 1,852 carloads compared with 476.

During 1942 farmers and ranchers marked 2,680,000 head of cattle and calves, an increase of 29 per cent. The previous record was 2,563,000 marketed in 1939.

Sheep marketed from Texas during 1942 were 3,210,000 head compared with 2,281,000 a year earlier, an increase of 41 per cent.

Hog marketings were 956,000 head compared with, 76,000 an increase of 26 per cent over the previous year.

Food Consumption In Army Camps Reduced

WASHINGTON, April 5. (U.P.)—The Army Quartermaster corps today reported to the Senate war investigation committee that "corrective measures" already have produced a 10 per cent reduction in consumption of food in Army camps.

Brig. Gen. James L. Frink, deputy chief of the quartermaster corps, and Brig. Gen. Carl A. Hardigge, chief of subsistence, testified in a closed session on the Army's efforts to eliminate food wastage. Chairman Harry S. Truman (D-Mo) said the inquiry would be expanded in public hearings within the next week or 10 days.

Frink said the principal method in cutting down on food wastage is to prepare meals on the basis of the number of men actually answering mess call instead of cooking for the entire post personnel. For example, he said, the rations for a given day would be reduced in proportion to the number of men on leave or away on missions.

He predicted the conservation measures would decrease consumption another 5 per cent.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, April 5 (AP)—Little interest was shown in grains today, traders preferring to remain on the sidelines until more definite information is available about the possibility of passing the Bankhead bill over the president's veto. The Senate is scheduled to take up the measure tomorrow.

Wheat showed comparative firmness, particularly the May future, but rye and oats dragged. A sharp decline in the visible corn supply was reported for last week, the total falling 3,492,000 bushels to 38,885,000 bushels. A year ago the supply amounted to 56,142,000 bushels.

Wheat closed ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, May $1.45⅝, July $1.45⅛-⅜, corn was unchanged at ceilings, May $1.01, oats finished ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher and rye lost ¼-½.

Many Places Unfilled In U.S. Navy Ratings

Americans skilled in one or more of a large number of civilian trades who have been "thinking about" enlisting with the U. S. Navy construction battalions are advised to make application as soon as possible because of the likelihood of closing of many of the more choice ratings without advance notice, it was announced here Monday by Lt.-Com. L. H. Ridout, Jr., officer in charge of the North and West Texas Navy recruiting district.

Commander Ridout was in Lubbock Sunday and Monday to inspect the Lubbock recruiting and semi-main station, and commented that he was well pleased with the development of this comparitively new Navy post and with the progress in Navy enlistments made by the station here.

Under a new plan, Comdr. Rideout explained, the Navy "Seabees" can take all qualified men between the ages of 17 and 50. Men 18 to 37, inclusive, may enlist in the Seabees after being interviewed at their local Navy recruiting station and receiving a letter of release from their draft boards.

Applications for enlistment in the Navy are now being accepted for negro youths 17 years of age, who soon will be faced with induction orders. Young men in this bracket who can qualify physically, show birth certificates and parents' consent are invited to make application.

Negro Soldiers Are Cause Of Trouble In Dallas Trolley Again

DALLAS, April 5 (AP)—Four negro soldiers from Hensley field were held by military police today following a gang fight aboard a street car during which the motorman and an unidentified special officer were kicked off the car.

Two squads of police quelled the disturbance, which occurred at a downtown street intersection. Three police officers, H. C. Holder, William Biggio and J. W. Hill suffered minor bruises when they waded into the fighters.

Capt. Charles Heaton, provost marshal of the Dallas military police unit, questioned the four negroes, who suffered cuts and bruises. The four were dragged from the street car and forced into an M. P. patrol vehicle.

Chief of Police J. M. Welch said his reports showed that as the four were taken off the car, about 25 other negro soldiers in the car rose to their feet, shouting "We'll get you, you ---- -- -."

The disturbance was the second of the week here, and the same motorman, W. R. Henson, was involved in both. In the first instance several youths robbed him of $20 and beat Earl Massey, a white youth who came to Henson's asssitance.

Capt. Heaton said he would recommend to Hensley field authorities disciplinary action for the negroes under arrest. He said he expected no recurrences but that if there were the necessary deterrents would be used, however drastic.

Worth as a result of Schweer's hobby of collecting odd plants and flowers. The lily was imported from French Indo-China and sent to the Schweers seven years ago by a friend.

The plant is known as the Carrion Lily because of the strange, offensive odor it gives off when it is in bloom.

It's blooming now and Mrs. Schweer, who has had plenty of opportunity to sniff, says it smells "like a dead animal."

Until the flower stops blooming, it's "open house" at the Schweers.

Higher Quotas For WAACS Announced

DALLAS, April 5. (AP)—A concerted three-month recruiting drive to enroll 10,000 WAAC's from the five Southwestren states in the Eighth Service command was announced today by Lt. Col. John L. Clem, jr., of the command's recruiting and induction branch.

It will be part of the nationwide effort to bring the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps to its full authorized strength of 150,000 by June 30.

Colonel Clem said the command's quota of 10,000 WAAC recruits for April, May and June was 2,000 higher than the quota for the previous three months.

By districts, he listed these new quotas:

Oklahoma, 1,173; Arkansas, 1,374; Louisiana, 1,533; New Mexico, 447; North Texas (district office at Dallas), 1,879; South Texas (Houston), 1,053; West Texas (Lubbock), 726; South Central Texas (San Antonio), 1,215.

George P. Livermore, Lubbock, is preparing to plug and abandon as a failure his No. 1 G. C. Thomas east of Ropesville, it was reported Monday. The well was drilled to 5,516 feet in soft dolomite, 16 feet beyond the original contract depth.

L. M. Glasco's (Lubbock No. 14-C Mallet Land and Cattle company in the Hockley sector of the Slaughter field flowed 604.44 barrels of 32-gravity oil daily after acidizing in pay lime from 4,897 to 4,940 feet, total dpth, with 12,000 gallons. The gas-oil ratio was 617-1.

Also in Hockley, Tevis F. Morrow's No. 20 Mallet flowed 468.92 barrels of 32-gravity oil daily with a gas-oil ratio of 518-1, after acidizing with 12,000 gallons in the pay zone from 4,901 to 4,943 feet, total depth.

Southern Yoakum

On the southern Yoakum county side of the Wasson field, the Devonian Oil company's No. 2 Ruth Bennett flowed 673.44 barrels of 32-gravity oil per day upon completion at 5,270 feet. It was acidized with 11,000 gallons in pay lime topped at 5,157, and had a gas-oil ratio of 819-1.

The Humble Oil and Refining company's No. 1 Tannehill Brothers Inc., et al., is fishing for a rock bit cone, bottomed at 5,635 feet in lime. The well is in southwestern Yoakum four miles west of Wasson production.

On the northwestern Gaines county side of the Wasson pool, the Bay Petroleum corporation's No. 1 Humble Wasson was treated with 4,000 gallons in pay from 4,915 to 4,960 feet, total depth, and flowed 420 barrels daily, 35-gravity oil and a gas-oil ratio of 718-1.

The Standolind Oil and Gas company's No. 15 American Warehouse company is drilling at 4,871 feet in lime.

Invasion Fever Of Nazis Increasing

(By The United Press)

LONDON, April 5—Invasion fever increased in Europe today as the Axis moved three imprisoned French premiers and two other French leaders to Germany to forestall their rescue by the Allies and tightened their hold on the Balkans.

A Swedish dispatch said British planes dropped leaflets on occupied Holland promising an invasion in May and Greek War Minister Byron Karapanyiotis in Cairo told a regiment of his countrymen that "it will not be many months till an invasion of Greece takes place."

Patriots Warned

In England, Home Secretary Herbert Morrison declared that Axis forces in Europe would be "sandwiched between British and Americans in the west and Russians in the east" after the defeat of the Italo-German armies in Tunisia.

At the same time, the British and Algiers radios broadcast warnings to French patriots to beware of unsubstantiated rumors of Allied landings on the continent. The broadcasts said the Germans were spreading such rumors and might even stage fake landings themselves in order to trick the patriots into revealing themselves.

"You'll be told about the beginning of Allied operations on the continent at the very moment such operations begin," the spokesman said.

Rommel Said In Italy

Developments within Europe pointing toward increasing Axis concern over the impending Allied invasion or invasions included:

1. Germany moved former French premiers Edouard Daladier, Leon Blum and Paul Reynaud, former Allied Generalissimo Maurice Gamelin and former French Interior Minister Georges Mandel from French prisons to Germany because of information that "the British and American governments intended to lay hold of some French personalities . . . in order to use them for formation of a counter-government and thus create chaos and disquiet in France."

2. Radio Moscow reported that Marshal Erwin Rommel has arrived at headquarters of the newly-formed Axis southern defense zone in a southern Italian town. Rommel will be chief of ground forces for the defense of Italy and the Mediterranean coast of France, Field Marshal Alvert Kesselring, former commander of German air forces on the middle-Russian front, will be chief of Axis air forces, and Admiral Canaris chief of naval forces.

Seek End To Friction

3. The Nazi Paris radio said the visits of King Boris of Bulgaria with Adolf Hitler and Hungarian Foreign Minister Johann von Kallay with Premier Benito Mussolini are designed to eliminate all motives of friction so that the Balkans "no longer will be an ideal door for an invasion of the continent."

The official German news agency DNB, in broadcasting an announcement of the removal of the five French leaders, said the transfer was for "military reasons" only and would not result in any aggravation of the treatment of those concerned.

French chief of government Pierre Laval protested the removal, DNB said, and the German government promised that the five will be placed "again at the disposal of the French government as soon as circumstances permit."

Fire Department Has 'Double-Barrel Mishap' On Week-End Runs

The fire department had a "double-barrel mishap" over the week-end.

Chief W. E. Twitty—who in his approximately 30 years as department head had suffered only one physical injury, stepping off a six-foot level into a basement when blinded by smoke a dozen years ago—lost the tip of one finger.

And—causing more uproar—the "Sow's Ear," an old purse that had been riding to fires in hose wagon 7 the last several years, was lost.

The chief lost the last joint of one finger when it was caught in a car door that was slammed to prevent its being caught when the car shoved out of Central station.

"It was just one of those things," the chief said.

But the loss of the purse was something else again.

"It had a history, that old purse," the chief said.

"The boys found it when fighting a fire several years ago—maybe eight years ago—and were impressed by its novelty. It was one of those old-fashioned snap-top purses that had to be rolled up by the person who carried it back about the days of the other World war.

"'Nothing in it; shell out,' Mose Hood, driver of hose wagon 7 told the boys at the times 'This is luck.'

"From that time until Sunday, when it was lost, every person who happened to be on wagon 7 had to chip in when a fire made it necessary for enough hose to be unloaded from the wagon to uncover the purse. It always rode under the hose—on the wagon's bed.

"It got so full once the boys had to empty it, and it was getting pretty bulky again.

"If anybody finds it, please tell 'em it isn't a leather cotton sack. The boys would like to get it back."

The chief said a garage burned at a tourist camp at Thirty-fourth street and Avenue H and that a car caught fire "downtown," for the week-end's only runs.

Shoe Inventory Forms Available At Banks

Shoe inventory forms to be filled out by shoe dealers are available in banks this week, OPA officials said Monday.

Regulations require that shoe retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers take an inventory of rationed shoes as of close of business Saturday. Completed copies of the shoe inventory and sales record and signature card and shoe ration stamps or certificates collected for retail sales since Feb. 7 are to be taken to banks by merchants when they open shoe ration bank accounts, beginning Monday and through Feb. 24.

Ration banking instruction sheets for the shoe trade are being distributed along with the inventory forms.

Data On Meat In Lockers Given

Question raised here Monday as to whether livestock may be slaughtered and the meat placed in frozen food lockers without violation of government regulations was answered by federal authorities who said the restriction still rests principally in slaughtering.

There is nothing to prohibit a person from slaughtering an animal which he owns and using the meat for his own family. However, if he employs someone for the particular job of killing the animal, slaughtering restrictions apply, and if he plans to sell any of the meat a permit from the department of agriculture is necessary.

Should Set Stamps Aside

The person storing meat in lockers is not required to surrender point stamps from war ration book two. The government, however, has asked that families using stored meat set aside point stamps equal in value to the stamps they would surrender if purchasing the meat.

In the event a locker plant operator cures meat, makes sausage or otherwise processes meat, he is to deliver ration coupons to the owner "to the extent of unprocessed meat delivered to the locker plant" and the owner is to return the coupons as he withdraws meat from the locker.

Farmer's Position Given

The following information has been published by the OPA on the farmer's position in the rationing of meats and fats:

"The farmer's position in the rationing of meats and fats is unique. In all cases he is a consumer, but he may also be a slaughterer, a processor or a butter maker.

"Farmers who slaughter livestock for personal consumption subsequent to the start of rationing will be requested to retain and not spend stamps equivalent to the point value of the meat consumed.

Must Secure Permit

"Should farmers wish to slaughter and sell or deliver meat, they will be required to secure a permit from the department of agriculture, like any other slaughterer-vendor. They will be required to collect points for the meat sold and must make a monthly report of their sales to their local ration board. Buyers from 'farm slaughterers' may surrender red stamps not yet declared valid for general use.

"Farmers who make butter or lard will not be required to secure a permit from the department of agriculture." However, they will be required to collect points for the sale of any butter.

The bulletin continued by stating they would be required to collect points for sale of butter or lard and turn points in to the county board with a monthly report and that, as in case of meats, farmers supplying their own butter and lard were requested to set aside stamps from the family's ration books.

Lubbock County Has Total Of 58,486 War Ration Books Issued

A total of 58,476 war ration books had been issued in Lubbock county to Monday, it was announced at the county war price and rationing office. Since the three-day registration period was conducted by teachers in February, the rationing offices here and in Slaton have registered 1,195 persons.

Of the latter figure, Slaton registered 46. Since April 1, there have been 38 registered in Lubbock, evidencing that the work is almost entirely finished.

The board also announced replacements issued during March to the number of 23, representing lost or burned books. Offsetting this, however, are 45 books turned in by those who have gone into the armed forces, including men and women.

School Bus Operators Causing Delay In New Certificates Issuing

Failure of school authorities to return applications to the ODT for revised certificates of war necessity is causing delay in issuing the new certificates, R. E. Wood, Lubbock district manager of ODT, said.

Wood said supplemental gasoline allowances, where necessary, may be had by school bus operators while applications are pending for the revised certificates which should have been procured before April 1.

The ODT has emphasized that revised certificates will permit no more mileage than is absolutely necessary for school bus routes, after the routes have been reorganized in line with school bus conservation already established by ODT on last Nov. 16.

"These policies are the most effective," Wood said, "for maintaining normal school attendance figures through the present period of tire and bus shortages."

Appeal forms should be obtained from the district ODT office, the forms completed and then presented to the school superintendents, who will note their recommendations and return them to the ODT. The district ODT office then will process the new certificates and forward to the superintendents.

Cast Announced For Tech Show

Hugh English, general director for the 1943 Varsity show of Texas Technological college, to be presented in the high school auditorium April 28 and 29, has announced the cast for the show.

The theme of the show, based on an original script by Charles Wiley, Mert Starnes and Robert Dorough, involves problems students would encounter if the Nazis had control of the college.

Actors, singers, and dancers were chosen by English and the other directors who are Lehmer Graham, speech director; Betty Rhea Caldwell, dance director; Wiley, music director, ond Hugh Rowland, art director, from those who tried out for parts March 21 and 28.

Brunette Harper has the principle singing part, and Miss Caldwell has the leading dancing part.

The speaking cast is composed of Graham, James Venable, Mary Lou Godbehere, Jane Pegues, Louis Beale, Chauncey Trout, Dick Miller, O P, Harlan, Tommy Thomas, Mary Jo Ryan, Arnold Mathias, Leonard Jensen, Sarah Cooke, Kenneth Bishop and Victor Hooper.

Those in the choruses are R. L. Williams, Bobby Harvey, John Feeser, Jose De Leon, George Acton, Bill Thurmon, Harvey Hicks, Kay Pinkston, Betty Davis, Phyllis McReynolds, Bobbe White, Pat Rawlings, Jerry Blundell, Marian Rendall, Sue Grimes, Marjorie Street, Marjorie Hall, Jerry Shaw, Maryjo Turner, Bernice Cocanougher, Collen Allen, Dana Faye Ware, Betty Herring, Betty McCoy, Margaret Jennings, Mary Wells, Helen Mixon, Frances Ford, Nell deLong, Earlene Dowell, Bettie Jo Wolfe, Evelyn Cooper, Glennis Waltz, La Vern Allen, Marilyn Snider, Jo Hal Woffard, Marguerite Nobles, Bobby Boulton, Francine Young, and Frances Crowther.

"These selections were made by the entire staff of directors on an impartial basis. It may be necessary, however, to make minor changes or additions at a later date," English said.

The entire show cast had its first rehearsal Sunday afternoon.

VICTORY TAX LOW

The Treasury Department expects to collect $2,000,000,000 a year from the Victory Tax, which is just half of what the 40,000,000 residents of France must pay per year for the upkeep of the Nazi army of occupation.

Probe Casts Doubt On Aid From Curfew Law

Judging from experiences with curfew regulations in Waco and Austin, the curfew law may not prove especially helpful, according to three Lubbock officials who were in Austin and Waco to observe the effects of the regulation during the past week end.

The officials are City Manager Marlin R. Smith, jr., Police Chief Don Reeder and City-County Juvenile Councillor John W. Wilson, who visited the two cities at the request of the city commission.

The commission is studying a citizen's committee recommendation that curfew regulations be adopted here which would require boys and girls under a fixed age to be off the streets by a certain time each night.

They discovered, they reported, that while the regulations seem to be accomplishing their purpose in Waco, they were abandoned after a trial in Austin. However, it was considered problematical how the experiences in those two cities might bear upon the situation in Lubbock because the problems differ greatly.

A detailed report is scheduled to be made by the three officials at the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission Thursday afternoon.
