ng Lady Assaulted.

ction about Hico was in a of excitement Wednesday a brutal assault which mitted upon the sixteen daughter of J. W. Moore, a siding a mile east of that girl was in a cotton field was attacked by a white subjected to most inhuman treatment. She lost consciousness from her injuries and remained in this condition for several hours.

Her continued absence alarmed her family and upon search being instituted she was found in the field still unconscious. Being conveyed to her home she regained consciousness and was able to give a fair description of her assailant. He was a white man.

Doctor Hubbert attended the victim of the assault and found that she was terribly injured, but she will recover.

The sheriff of Hamilton has joined in the search for the culprit and officers are scouring the country for the brute.

At last accounts excitement runs high and if the fellow is caught a lynching will probably follow.

Depot Safe Cracked by Burglars.

The safe in the Texas Cental depot at Carbon was blown open Tuesday night between midnight and 5 o'clock Wednesday morning and $99.67 in cash taken. The United States mail which remains over night was not molested. Blood hounds will be put on the trail. No clew to the guilty parties.

Fired With Matches.

A dwelling owned by Walker Hardy at Morgan and occupied by J. D. Whaley, was set on fire Wednesday by some children who were playing with matches. The wind was very high and the fire burned so rapidly that before Mrs. Whaley, who was out of the house, could get in, her infant child was seriously if not fatally burned. Two chairs and some carpet were all that was saved.

Same Over Here.

Every town has its knockers, who stand around ready to fight everything and everybody who stands for progress. These people never do anything to build up the town from which they make their living, and they delight in doing what they can to tear down every man who stands for anything worth mentioning. Hico hasn't a great many of these, but there are a few old warts of that class still alive. They have made a mistake by locating in a town most of whose people are active and energetic and it hurts them to see things being done. They are too lazy to move to more congenial environments, for every part of their anatomy has grown rusty from disuse except their jaw bones, which they work incessantly like a cow chewing its cud.—Hico News.

Are After Dowie.

Involuntary bankruptcy proceedings have been started in Chicago against John Alexander Dowie, individually. The claim involves $7,000. The petition alleges that on March 3rd, Dowie transferred property valued at $1,200 to Margaret H. Field and that on January 10th other property was transferred to J. H. Schmitz, thus showing preference to the latter creditors which is alleged to be in violation of the bankruptcy laws. Dowie's liabilities are actually unknown. His assets are said to be about $2,500,000. The court set the matter for hearing Wednesday morning last.

ANOTHER SHOCK

Frisco Slightly Disturbed Again But Conditions Are Improved and Relief is at Hand.

An Assocated Press special from San Francisco dated Wednesday evening says: At 3:15 that afternoon a shock of earthquake was felt. It lasted nearly a minute and caused considerable alarm, but no one was injured. A number of walls of burned buildings which were standing Tuesday in a weak condition were thrown down and frail buildings were considerably shaken up, but the damage was slight.

The shock was also felt in Oakland and Berkeley, but in these places it was very slight and of brief duration.

Order Prevails in Frisco.

Latest reports from San Francisco and other points involved in the terrible earthquake of last week indicate a more hopeful view of the situation and that the first wild estimates of the loss of life and property were greatly exaggerated, though it is even yet difficult to estimate the loss and probably both the loss of life and property will never be fully known. It is very likely that scores if not hundreds of people were covered up and incinerated in the buildings destroyed by fire and others buried in basements and underground tunnels. The loss of life is now conservatively estimated at about one thousand and the property loss at from $200,000,000 to $300,000,000.

The terrible effect of the earthquake was hardly realized by the frantic inhabitants before fires broke out that destroyed three-fourths of the great city and effected a greater property loss of more than that done by the earthquake.

Relief trains laden with provisions, clothing, tents etc. were rushed from every section of the country to San Francisco and millions of dollars in cash has been forwarded from the towns and cities all over the United States and from foreign countries as well, but this did not prevent the terrible suffering for immediate food, drink and shelter that the people as cheerfully and manfully as possible underwent before succor could reach them and a semblance of order be restored. It is reported they stood the calamity nobly and the rich and poor shared alike what little sustenance and shelter there was to be had and assisted in the work of caring for the dead and injured, opening streets, fighting fire and the thousand things clamoring for their immediate strength.

Fifty-eight bodies are said to have been recovered from the debris at Santa Rosa, where practically all the business houses were destroyed but many residences were left standing and it is believed there are nearly a hundred more dead in the ruins.

San Francisco people have already taken heart again and the resolution is apparent and expressed to ressurrect the city on a more magnificent scale than ever. One business concern is said to already have plans under way for the construction of a seventeen story building that will exceed in grandeur, anything before erected in San Francisco.

The reports that Los Angeles was also destroyed was early proven not to be true and that city has been lending a decidedly helping hand in the work of relief.

Many stores have again opened in old quarters, temporary quarters have been arranged for others, the water mains are fast being repaired, the street railways are now ready for operation in many parts of the city, the old Chinatown, which was in the heart of the city, is to be removed to a less conspicuous section, many of the dead have been cremated to prevent pestilence and others are being given temporary burial in trenches in the parks, the sick and injured are having the best of medical and surgical attention, those who are destitute are being provisioned regularly, martial law has been declared off and a general hopeful situation is coming out of the terrible chaos that existed.

Summary of California News.

Forty bodies were taken from a single building at San Francisco.

Employment bureaus are finding work for the earthquake refugees.

A grand total of nearly $10,000,000 has been raised for San Francisco.

Automobiles played a prominent part in the distribution of supplies.

Fifty-eight bodies have been recovered and identified at Santa Rosa.

Conflicts are occurring between the civil and military authorities and the police asked the withdrawal of the National Guard.

Two and a half million dollars was received in San Francisco Thursday.

One hundred and fifty cars of supplies passed Chicago for San Francisco.

Telegraph Hill has been swept bare, but the district about it still stands.

Jefferson square is filled with tents, in which hundreds of people were sheltered.

Secretary Shaw is arranging to facilitate the money transfers to San Francisco.

Only one life was lost at Fort Bragg, Cal., but all the buildings were destroyed.

The house of representatives in congress voted an additional $1,000,000 for San Francisco.

A young man was shot down in the streets of San Francisco for refusing to obey a soldier.

A woman who lost valuable property in the earthquake divided her cash with the relief fund.

The friends of strangers in San Francisco are assured that few visitors lost their lives in the disaster.

There is hope revived and everyone accepts the statement of an immediate rebuilding without question.

John Temple Graves has withdrawn from the race for United States senate against Senator Bacon of Georgia.

The problem of sanitation is the most pressing one at this time and General Funston is attempting to solve it with the soldiers. The people are being advised to leave.

The wreck of Chinatown is believed to cover the bodies of many of those who habitually lived in the tunnels with which the district was honeycombed, but the truth will never be known.

Most of the dead have been buried, some of them in the open street without any attempt at identification. The number will never be definitely known, but it already exceeds seven hundred.

Twenty-five Italians were killed by the collapse of the vegetable market and the fact has just been discovered. Many bodies have been taken from small structures, which were at first overlooked.

From all over the country relief is being hurried to the stricken. The east is contributing millions in money, the west other millions in money and provisions and other necessities.

The water problem has been partially solved, the food supplies are being rushed in and there is no longer danger of hunger. The whole of California—even the stricken towns—is doing all possible for the relief of the people of San Francisco.

Causes of Earthquakes.

Although earthquake phenomena have been under man's observation in all ages—the record of over seven thousand of these, in which thirteen million of the human race are estimated to have perished, being preserved—it is only of late years that they have received exact scientific investigation. The theory that the earth has a liquid interior surrounded by a thin crust of solid material, and that movements in the former propagate earthquakes in the latter is not so widely accepted now as formerly. That earthquakes are vibratory concussions, propagated through the solid crust of the earth like waves of sound in the atmosphere is generally conceded. The initial shock, however may be, and probably is, produced in a variety of ways. A great landslip has been known to produce a slight tremor in the surrounding country, and the sudden collapse of great subterranean caverns are sufficient to produce a similar result.

There are those who hold to the theory that such subterranean caverns are produced by volcanic disturbances such as was recently reported from Mount Vesuvius, and that there is a relation between Vesuvius and the earthquake at San Francisco. Caverns of this nature are also produced by other causes, any one of which may have been responsible for the terrible visitation of the Pacific slope.

If the interior of the earth be not a liquid mass, there are at least reservoirs of molten matter beneath its surface as is shown by the outflow of lava from the craters of active volcanoes; and that water from the surface may reach those lakes of fire and be there converted into a steam, under those conditions the sudden generation of steam in the bowels of the earth would naturally be disruptive, and it is a favorite theory of seismologists at the present day that steam under those conditions plays an important part in the genesis of earthquakes. There are other reasons, however, for believing that the phenomena of earthquakes and volcanoes are intimately acquainted with each other.

Divine Healer Scared.

Pope Schraeder, claiming to be the head of the "Divine Catholic church" and known throughout the west as a "divine healer," reached El Paso Tuesday afternoon fleeing from San Francisco. He said he feared his entire family was lost and that not half the horrors of the disaster have been reported.

Reached Crater of Vesuvius.

A Tuesday's dispatch from Naples, Italy, says: Professor Matteucci, director of the Royal observatory, today succeeded in reaching the crater of Vesuvius. He describes the spectacle as of great grandeur. The cone, which before the eruption rose six thousand feet above sea level, has diminished about eight hundred feet. Work is being vigorously pushed to re-establish the funicular railway to the observatory, located far up the mountain side.

Appeals Court Refuses New Hearing.

The motion for rehearing in the case of Jake McKinney, sentenced to the penitentiary for life by the district court in Haskel county and later affirmed by the court of criminal appeals, was overruled by the same court in session at Austin Wednesday. The murder case of Wallace Gregory from Erath county was presented to the court on briefs and oral arguments and decision of the court may be looked for within the next few weeks.

Street Railway for Brownwood.

The city council at Brownwood has at last granted the franchise for a street railway in that city, though the document as granted is considerably changed from the terms of the one originally asked for. The promoters agree to give a $2,000 bond that work will begin on the line within six months and that it will be completed within eighteen months and they are given sixty days in which to reject or accept the franchise. The charter provides for a franchise tax, payable to the city in the sum of $50 per year for the first five years, $100 a year for the next five years and after that one per cent of the gross receipts.

Reform Begins at Home.

We knew a newspaper man once who started out to reform the world; finally he trimmed the undertaking down to his own nation. After vainly struggling with the nation for some time, he concluded his own state was a large enough field. So he gave the state a few forceful lessons, but the state failed to digest it and it soured on its stomach. Realizing that "charity begins at home," he fixed his energies on the county, and eventually gave that up, concluding that his own town would engage his entire attention as an object of reform. Something turned up that started him to thinking, and he thought long and seriously. The result was he yanked off his coat, rolled up his sleeves and decided to reform himself—he's still hard at it.—Eye Witness.

The cars had lost their buffers in a wreck and when they met the ends fitted closely. The young man's head was caught between these ends and completely crushed.

The seismic disturbance in California, which has resulted in the destruction of San Francisco, calls to mind the fact that Pilot Knob, a low mountain situated just south of Austin, is an extinct volcano. Man Shoots at Supposed Thief.

A man by the name of Forbian, who lives in North Brownwood, had an exciting experience with a supposed thief last night, says the Daily Bulletin of Monday. Mr. Forbian has had some trouble with his mules getting out for a week or two past and complained to Sheriff Denman that he was pretty sure they were taken out, inasmuch as they had been returned when he had offered a reward. Acting upon the sheriff's advice he lay in wait for the thief last night. After he had been waiting a while a man came to his lot gate and began to remove the wires he had put on to make sure that his team could not get out. The man worked like a trojan to open the gate and gave vent to his feelings in words anything but complimentary to the owner of the team, who was close by with a double-barrel shotgun ready to fire when the thief had gone far enough to warrant it.

When the thief had almost succeeded in getting the gate open Forbian fired, shooting low. He evidently hit the man, for he fell and yelled manfully. He fired a second shot but it went wild and the thief, who had managed to get up by this time was off at a break neck speed. Sheriff Denman has been unable to locate the wounded man and it is not likely that any one except his immediate family and perhaps the physician who picked out the shot will ever known who the would-be-thief is.

Convicted in Federal Court.

The cases against J. G. Lowden, president and O. W. Steffens, vice-president of the defunct American National bank at Abilene, in the federal court there, were concluded Saturday, the trial lasting nearly two weeks. The jury returned a verdict at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, finding the defendant Lowden guilty on sixteen counts and the defendant Steffens guilty on six counts of the indictment for using the funds of the bank in cotton speculations. Motions for new trials were made and overruled and the court sentenced the defendants to five years' confinement each in the penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga. Ninety days were given the defendants in which to perfect their appeal and the court directed that they be kept at Abilene pending the perfection of their appeal.

Was Given Carbolic Acid.

Mrs. Marion Ford had a close call for her life last night when through mistake she was given a dose of carbolic acid instead of the medicine left for her by the physician. The unfortunate accident occurred about 1 o'clock, when Mrs. Ford's mother got up to prepare a dose of medicine and accidentally got hold of a bottle containing carbolic acid. She poured the acid out into a glass and diluted it with water and handed it to Mrs. Ford, who drank about half the glass contained before she recognized the error that had been made. When she realized the situation she screamed and Mr. Ford, who was in the adjoining room, ran in to see what was the matter. He telephoned for two physicians, who succeeded after two hours of hard work in restoring Mrs. Ford to consciousness. Her tongue and lips were badly swollen and she suffered for quite a while but at this time is considered entirely out of danger.—Brownwood Bulletin, April 21.

During the past ten days there have been three immigrant parties there numbering about 175 people, all of whom were destined for the fruit districts of California. They were a more prosperous looking lot of immigrants than usually are seen and many of them are coming for the purpose of investing in lands. Others expect to find employment in gathering fruit. It is stated that there are others to follow, but how many is not known.

For Thin, Poor Blood

You can trust a medicine tested 60 years! Sixty years of experience, think of that! Experience with Ayer's Sarsaparilla; the original Sarsaparilla; the strongest Sarsaparilla; the Sarsaparilla the doctors endorse for thin blood, weak nerves, general debility.

But even this grand old medicine cannot do its best work if the liver is inactive and the bowels constipated. For the best possible results, you should take laxative doses of Ayer's Pills while taking the Sarsaparilla. The liver will quickly respond, and so will the bowels.

Fighting blood is pure, rich, vigorous blood. Pure blood is the foundation for an active mind, strong body and bold heart. Not only is it necessary in a trial of physical strength, but equally so in the mighty struggle for worldly wealth. The victim of impure blood is generally half sick, lacks spirit and energy, and is unable to stand the strain of the contest—besides he is in constant danger of contracting some life-threatening disease. To have pure blood, the kidneys, liver, stomach and bowels must be free from obstructions, and strong in the performance of their functions. This desirable condition can be secured and maintained through the use of Prickly Ash Bitters, the "World-Celebrated" system cleanser and blood purifier. A short course with this great remedy vitalizes the blood and puts the system in good condition, invigorates the body, promotes good appetite, restful sleep and cheerful spirits.

Mr. Clark was raised on the farm by a father who was a practical farmer and though he has arrived at the age of twenty-four years he today resides in the community in which he was born and where his father, C. G. Clark, has resided from the age of two years, when his parents came to Erath from Hood county, and who on their way and for many years after settling here, were forced to keep the trusty carbine close at hand and ever ready to raise it for the protection of the family and neighbors against the hostile red men. Young Mr. Clark is a married man and has been teaching the Winn's Point school for three years past, the very school at which he learned his first lessons, when a barefoot boy. He attended Tarleton college three years and has taken the senior work in the Denton normal and feels that he is entirely qualified for the position which he seeks. He is of one of the best families in the county and besides being qualified, is also most deserving.

The election to decide whether or not the office of county superintendent of public instruction shall be created, will occur throughout the county tomorrow. Likewise another to decide whether a special road tax will be levied. The latter question is more important to the people, though it has had less attention in the way of discussion. If the money to be derived from the proposed tax and the other cash coming into the road fund is to be used for the betterment of the roads the tax measure ought to pass, but if it is to be transferred to other funds and used for other purposes, as the road fund has been used, it ought to be voted down by a decisive majority. The practice of collecting money for one purpose and diverting it to another use is neither right in the spirit of the law nor justice to the people who pay the tax. County commissioners have this matter in hand and before the primary election occurs it might be well to find out where they individually stand on this question.

Last Saturday morning a mass meeting of citizens was held at the city hall in Dublin to take action toward sending some relief to the people who suffered in the terrible earthquake in California last week. Utterback and S. H. Prim was appointed to solicit further subscriptions during the day. The work resulted in a contribution of $332, which amount was wired the same afternoon to the Red Cross society in New York.

Mrs. Tucker, living on Vine street with the family of Mr. Cadenhead, has gone to Merkel to see about the disappearance of her husband, says the Taylor County News of last Friday. Mrs. Tucker is positive he has not run off and fears he has been murdered and robbed. She is almost prostrated by the sad occurrence.

Obituary.

Mrs. Mary Capell, wife of T. C. Capell, died in Edna Hill, Texas, at the residence of her son, L. H. Capell at 10:10 Friday, April 13th, 1906.

Mrs. Capell, the daughter of Jones and Francis Barbee, was born in Haywood county, Tennessee, Jan. 24th, 1838. She moved with her parents to White county, Ark., where she was married to T.C. Capell in 1857. Eleven children were born to them, ten of whom, five girls and five boys, with the husband, survive her.

Mrs. Capell and her husband removed from Arkansas to Texas in 1857 and located near Wilson, in Comanche county, where she lived until 1872, when they moved to Erath county and located six miles south of Dublin, which was her home at the time of her death.

Mrs. Capell professed faith in the Lord Jesus Christ and united with the M. E. Church South, of which church she remained a consistent member until her death.

She had been in bad health for some time before her death, yet she bore her affliction with that Christian fortitude which characterizes a faithful follower of the Lamb.

She was a faithful friend, affectionate wife and devoted mother. The community suffers a great loss in her death. But cheer up children, husband, friends, for we know our loss is her gain! Her influence will continue to live through the future years and its measure can never be known until in that day the Lord makes up his jewels.—A Friend.

Simple Way to Cure Catarrh by Hyomei Without Stomach Dosing.

It is the height of folly to dose the stomach with internal medicines to cure nasal catarrh. It cannot be cured except the catarrhal germs that are present in the nose, throat and lungs have first been killed.

Direct local treatment by breathing Hyomei through the pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, is absolutely necessary to kill the catarrhal germs and prevent their growth and formation.

The soothing air of Hyomei heals the smarting and raw membrane of the air passages in the nose, throat and lungs, kills off the catarrhal germs and rids the system of the last traces of catarrh.

The complete Hyomei outfit consists of a hard rubber inhaler which can be carried in the purse or vest pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei, costs only $1.00, while extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents, thus making it the most economical treatment for the cure of catarrh, as well as the most reliable.

Overton Drug Co. positively guarantee a cure when Hyomei is used in accordance with the simple directions on the package, or they will refund the money. This certainly shows their faith and belief in the virtues of Hyomei.

J. T. Foote, representing the Texas Nursery Co., last Monday sold to Dr. Milling of Cisco a bill of over three thousand apple trees which the doctor will put out in some of the sandy land near Cisco. A Big Well.

The waterworks people are sinking a well at their plant which in point of size takes the roller mill in these "diggin's." The well is five feet in diameter and is now about forty feet deep, and will be sunk to a depth of eighty to one hundred feet or until a plentiful supply of water is found, and then dug out to a greater diameter.

It is estimated this one well will supply the town with all the water it needs and it looks as if it would meet the requirements.—Gorman Progress.

Editor Jenks is Looking About.

Editor Jenks of the Stephenville Tribune spent last Sunday in Gorman. He seemed to have very decided and interesting business, but as he left on the early train Monday morning, the Progress did not get to interview him as to the success of the business in hand and local parties who are in a position to give out the most reliable information are saying the least.—Gorman Progress.

Condemns Cotton Exchange.

The following resolutions were adopted at the county union in session at Oakdale, April 4th and 5th, and ordered that they be printed in our county papers:

Whereas, it is a well known fact that there has been in Stephenville during the past cotton season an organization known as a Cotton Exchange. Said exchange we believe is detrimental to the best interests of the farmers of Erath county, and especially the Farmers Union; therefore Resolved first, That we as the Farmers Union of Erath county, condemn the action of said exchange and take this method of putting our union on record as condemning said exchange as nothing less than a bad form of gambling. Presented by J. O. A. Clark.—T. Matt Robinson, County Secretary.

It is the desire of President Roosevelt that the work of the Red Cross in allevitaing the distrees in San Francisco shall be done wholy without regard to the person and just as much for Chinese as for any others. In a letter to Secretary Taft he made this point plain.

An investigation by the national government into the relations between the railroads of the United States and the Standard Oil Company, an inquiry that it is said will be thorough and exhaustive and one that is expected to have far-reaching effects, was begun at Cleveland.

The United States supreme court has handed down a very important divorce ruling which recites that no court can grant a valid divorce unless the defendant is personally within the jurisdiction of the court, or unless the offense for which the divorce was granted was committed within the jurisdiction of the court.

Wonders never cease in this age of invention. A San Francisco man has invented a repeater which makes it possible to telephone from San Francisco to New York. What the so-called "repeater" has done for the telegraph, this invention, it is claimed, will do for the telephone. The combining of the echo in nature with the sounding-board of the violin furnished the clue to the discovery.

A pet white rat viciously attacked the two year old baby of Mrs. Frank Casey at Roswell, N. M. The baby had been placed on the bed when its screams brought the mother and grandmother. The rat had about succeeded in gnawing out one eye and had lacerated the face. Before they could release its hold it seized the baby's tongue that was protruding and it was pierced through. The infant's face turned black, but physicians say there is no danger of death, barring blood poison.

The Editor and His Work.

In referring to the country press in an article "Texas Newspapers and the men who make them" in Hollands Magazine for May, Walter B. Whitman says:

"But it is among the small local papers—the so-called 'country press'—that the hardest workers and the hardest worked people in the newspaper business are everywhere found. They give freely of their time, energy and space to the upbuilding of their own communities, more often than otherwise without any hope of any direct financial returns. They labor untiringly week after week, month after month, and year after year, encouraging the timid, upholding the weak, giving faith to the strong, looking always to the upbuilding of new enterprises, to the progress and advancement of their towns and counties.

"In the daily field a man may become a distinguished editor without ever sticking a line of type or knowing whether the rollers on the presses are made of molasses or cast iron—each man on a big daily becomes a specialist in his own line and concerns himself not with the affairs of other departments. Not so with the head of a country paper who is most frequently publisher, editor, reporter, advertising solicitor and business manager combined. In a pinch he must know how to lend a hand at the case, must be able to operate a G. Wash. press or coax a gasoline engine out of a spell of the sulks. He must keep in touch with public affairs and at a moments notice be ready to referee a dog fight, preside at a political convention or lead a prayer meeting. Incidentally he must keep the printers supplied with copy, look after the piano contest and collect his advertising bills. 'Pro Bono Publico' with an axe to grind and 'fair play' who wants to hit the other fellow over the head without making his own name public, the editor must send away satisfied. The man who drops in with half a column of free advertising to 'help fill up the paper' he must meet with a smile, and to the committee from the Ladies Aid he must explain—if he can—why two tickets to the church social do not pay for the insertion of fourteen reading notices scattered among pure reading matter.

"Above all he must have faith—faith in his town, in his people, in himself. Without it all else is vain. In red clay hills he must see mountains of mineral wealth, and in his sight alkali plains must sparkle with limpid streams of living water. A dreamer? Perhaps. But he hustles while he dreams.

"Texas owes much to the zeal, the tireless energy and the public spirit of her big-hearted, loyal editors of her county papers—the foot soldiers in her great army of improvement."

To School Trustees of Erath County.

Gorky and His Mistress.

Maxim Gorky, the Russian writer and revolutionist, has arrived in the United States. He is accompanied by an actress, Mme. Andreieva, his mistress, and who is also a noted revolutionist. The fact that Gorky has a family, his coming with a female companion, has changed the big reception prepared for him into a tidal wave of coldness and disgust. He and his companion have been evicted from hotels in New York and Chicago. The Russian reform movement among Russian sypathizers, has not been helped by this escapade of one if its so-called leaders and defenders.

Texas Central Extension.

We have been informed that the grade for the extension of the Texas Central railroad from Stamford to White Flat in Fisher county, some forty-two miles distant, is almost completed to Hamlin, and that steel is expected to arrive at once for laying the track.

R. L. Penick informed us Monday that his firm had sold the company eighty-four miles of wire fencing for right-of-way, which means a string of fence on both sides forty-two miles in length.—Anson Reporter.

And He Took up a Good Collection.

Just before the collection was taken up one Sunday morning a negro preacher announced that he was sorry to state that a certain brother had not locked the door of his chicken house the night before, and as a result he had found that most of his fowls were gone. "I don't want to be pussonal, bredr'n," he added, "but I hab my s'spicions as to who stole dem chickens. I also hab reason fo' b'lievin' dat if I am right in does s'spicions that pusson won't put any money in de plate which will now be passed aroun.'"

The result was a fine collection; not a single member of the congregation feigned sleep. After it was counted the old parson came forward.

"Now bredr'n," he said "I don't want your dinners to be spoilt by wonderin' where dat brudder lives who doan lock his chickens at night. Dat brudder doan exist, mah friends. He was a parabl' gotten up fo' de purpose of finance."—Exchange.

Good Roads Easy Problem.

John Higginbotham, the enterprising proprietor of the Dublin nursery and a citizen who always takes a lively interest in anything pertaining to the welfare of his community in particular and this section in general, was in Dublin Tuesday and expressed himself as greatly regretting the unfavorable outlook for the county superintendency question at the polls throughout Erath county. He believes that the schools of the county could be greatly improved under supervision of a capable superintendent and feels secure in the belief that the salary attached to such an office in this county would attract talent sufficient to obtain the desired results. He is opposed to the road tax proposition, however, from the standpoint that the entire system is wrong and the adoption of the tax would simply open up further opportunity for the abuse that has by usage come to be looked upon as entirely proper in the transferring of road funds to other purposes than that for which they are collected or set aside. He suggested the idea in this connection that it was within the province of each community in the county to easily secure and maintain good roads if the individuals in the community will get together in a concerted movement to that end. Mr. Higginbotham said he did not believe there was a community in the county that poor in good citizenship that it did not possess at least from six to a dozen or more citizens who were public spirited enough to furnish a wagon and team for from eight to twelve days each during the idle season of July and August for the purpose of building the roads in their own community. In this manner with little or no outlay of money and comparatively little outlay of time that would ordinarily be devoted to anything else, a system of roads could be built up in one season throughout the county that would not only give us a reputation throughout the state, but give us a present and permanent pleasure and profit and, as in no other way could equally be done, enhance the value of farm property.

Mr. Higginbotham said that he would be more than willing to do his share in this respect in his community and that doubtless there were plenty more like him who only await a getting together on such a proposition. Why not the farmers in every locality talk the matter up along this line, hold community school house meetings and decide to act and then carry out the program? The people of the various towns of the county would certainly be willing to do their part in a general movement of this kind, or in fact would co-operate with any single community in touch with them. With such a movement better roads could be had in one year than would be provided by any system of taxation in a good many times the same period.

Geronimo Nearing the End.

Decrepit old Geronimo, chief and most noted warrior of the once famous and ferocious Apache tribe, of whom it has been said killed more white people than any other living Indian, is critically ill at his home on the Fort Sill military reservation in Oklahoma and those of his tribe who have observed the signs and mystic ceremonies for many years declare that he can last but a few days.

He is constitutionally failing and has been so for a year. For the past few months he has grown weaker and his sight is dimmer, but with the vivacity of youth and with untold grit he has succeeded in keeping his condition from his people until recently.

A few days ago he went to the woods and cut a walking stick. In an hour the news had spread throughout the tribe that the warrior was leaning upon a stick for support. The members of the tribe gathered around him and he revealed his real condition. When a biographer called upon him Geronimo said: "I am praying to the white men's God, who has made me a man fit for heaven, to spare my life a few years longer; to spare it until I am freed from custody and can see my people in free homes. God knows my heart is good, but I am telling Him my people need me here more than I am needed in a better world."

For several days the old chief has been telling his people adieu when they call upon him. He is seventy-six years of age and is living with his eighth wife, whom he married on last Christmas day.

Some Interesting History.

Col. W. M. Grubb has in his possession some very interesting documents which bear the date of 1832. They are the baptismal and marriage certificates of his wife's father and mother. Both are written in the English and Spanish language.

Parties familiar with early Texas history will remember that at that time this great state was a possession of Mexico and that people who desired to marry had to await the permission of the Mexican government and the coming of a priest. It was customary, however, for two people

B. M. Reed, general manager for the Dublin and Hico branches of the wholesale firm of Rotan Grocer Co., yesterday stated to a Progress representative that he was highly pleased with the companys' business at this point. The Rotan Co., it will be remembered, recently bought the Cooper Grocer Co. branch at this point and some days ago invoice was completed and the stock transferred and the business is now being carried on from the old stand of the Cooper Co. The new concern is receiving stock to supply their quarters in the building formerly occupied by Higginbotham's hardware and carriage departments and when this is accomplished the stock will be reduced in the Cooper old stand. Mr. R. M. Lyles, late of Waco, is cashier and house salesman for the Rotan Co.

The Dublin citizen who did his duty this good year toward paying his poll tax by the lawfully prescribed time will not have complaint for not getting the worth of his money. First, we had the regular city election on the first Tuesday in April; next the special election for tax collector on April 17th, tomorrow we shall have a chance to say whether the office of county school superintendent will be created and also whether a special county road tax will be levied; May 5th the election will occur for trustees for the Dublin Independent School district; July 28th will be primary election day and then in November comes the general election. It is possible also that a prohibition election may be ordered in the meantime.

Prof. John C. Bennett of Bluff Dale spent last Wednesday in Dublin and spent some hours with the Progress. Prof. Bennett has for some time taught the public schools at Bluff Dale, but has decided to break away from school work and engage in something that will occupy his time for a longer period of the year than is offered in that profession. He has for a year or thereabouts been representing the Progress at Bluff Dale as agent and correspondent and has not only greatly increased the list and adjusted the accounts of the paper at that place, but has also sent us excellent weekly news letters from that locality. His trip to Dublin was incidental to a business visit to Hico.

The children of the Grammar department in Miss Saye's room at the school building hugely enjoyed a picnic at the home of Mrs. R. W. Higginbotham last Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 8 o'clock. The children took lunches from their respective homes and these were spread under the shade of a beautiful grove just back of the Higginbotham home. Various sports were introduced for the pleasure of the children, all of whom enjoyed the outing in the greatest degree and are even more than ever in love with their teacher, whose kindness and thoughtfulness is constantly smoothing for them the oftimes monotonous hours of school work.

Lack Hennessee of the Green's Creek country died very suddenly at his home in that community last Tuesday morning. He was taken ill last Thursday but was not considered dangerously sick until Monday evening and death followed the next morning. Deceased was a brother to Mrs. John Maxwell of this place, was about forty-eight years of age and came to Erath county from McMinnville, Tenn., last fall. He leaves a wife and a family of seven or eight children whose ages range from about six to twenty years. Burial took place at Green's creek cemetery at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Rev. E. L. Compere left yesterday morning to attend the Fifth Sunday meeting of the Erath county Baptist association at Mitchell's creek, near Pizarro in the north part of the county. The meeting began yesterday evening and will continue over Sunday and hence Rev. Compere will not fill his pulpit at the Baptist church in this city next Sunday morning and night. On the following Sunday, the first Sunday in May, Rev. Compere will preach a sermon on "Church Discipline."

"Grandma" Wyly of Bluff Dale came in Tuesday evening to spend a week or more with J. F. Edmonds and family. "Grandma" Wyly formerly resided at Duffau and was for many years a noted character there, where her husband died some twelve months ago and at which place they settled about the time of the Mexican war from 1846 to 1848. "Grandma" Wyly has raised a number of orphan boys, and one of these was J. F. Edmonds, to whom she is a grand aunt.

Mrs. Edith Steinbrook of Iowa, who conducted the singing service in connection with the recent revival meeting at the First Christian church, left yesterday morning for Mineral Wells to assume her duties as helper for the pastor of the church at that point. Mrs. Steinbrook has been spending a few days pleasant visit with friends here since the meeting closed.

Ultimately.

Don't you think there ain't no heaven
'Cause ye haven't been there yit—
Don't ye think ye ain't no talent
'Cause ye haven't made no hit;
Don't ye think that Rockefeller
Kin avoid the the rush an' rout
Of a close investigation
By his plan o' hidin' out;
He may board his yacht an' sailing
Dare the ragin' main an' squall
As the pirates did before him,
But they'll ketch him after all.

Hadley may inquire o' Rodgers
For the things he'd like to know,
An' ol' Rodgers may make answer
In a far-off tone an' low,
In a manner hesitating,
"Let me see now—no—an' yet—
Well, the fact is, I can't answer,
Seems to me that I forget."
But wait till the "old boy" lays him
By the heels, you'll hear him squall;
It may be a long time comin',
But they'll ketch him after all.

Ways o' graft are full o' blossoms,
And are full o' songs o' birds;
And are full of automobeeles,
Country homes, an' blooded herds,
An' are full o' yachts an' horses,
An o' chorus girls an' fun;
When the grafter points to somethin'
All the world gets on the run,
For to go an' fetch it to him,
An' all men jump to his call;
And the devil's patient 'cause he Knows he'll git him after all.

Comanche has a school enrollment of 883 pupils, and the city council contemplates erecting a new school building to accomodate the overcrowded condition of the old building. Quite a number of Dublin people have received the invitations to the commencement exercises of the De Leon High school. One of the graduates in music is Miss Gladys Parks, who formerly resided in Dublin and was a pupil of Miss McKee.

Dublin is exceedingly fortunate in having a good orchestra and has every reason to be proud of it. The band concerts which were given several seasons ago were so thoroughly enjoyed, that we only hope the orchestra will favor us in the same way.

Tuesday evening being society evening at the skating rink, there was music by the Dublin orchestra. Quite a large crowd was in attendance. The manager has secured the orchestra to play on Tuesday and Friday evenings, which will make the rink a very popular place of amusement.

Saturday afternoon the junior and senior class of the Dublin High School will go to De Leon to attend the commencement exercises of the De Leon High School. The following compose the senior class: Will Shillingburg, Trowbridge Daniel, Grover Pair, Misses Isla Cathey, Allie Reid, Annie Belle McDonald, Emily O'Brien, Vici Humphreys. Junior class: Harry Lee Spencer James Frazier, James Newton, Misses Virgie Waldo, Grace Reynolds Cleora Price, Ollie Moore, Alice Higginbotham, Lucile Hall, La Faye Dyer, Emma Hamilton, Lizzie Dobkins, Corrinne Bennett.

Thanks from Thursday Club.

We hereby tender our sincere thanks to every one who so generously contributed to our tree fund.

Our school yard is now set with hardy trees which have been carefully planted and if they live and grow the children of our school will at no distant day bless the names of those who so thoughtfully provided for their comfort.

All indebtedness has been paid and we have a small sum now in the bank toward watering and caring for the trees during the hot, dry summer months.

The lyceum course from which we expected to obtain money to put a drinking fountain in the school yard was financially a failure, the club having thirty-five cents left after the expenses were paid and would not have cleared expenses had not Mr. Daley deducted more than half his bill for printing.

However, we intend to have that fountain in place by the beginning of another school year. Thanking you again.—Thursday Club.

M. S. Karmany, Manager.

President Roosevelt is being severely criticized from one end of the country to the other because of his action in notifying foreign countries that the United States was able to relieve the distress of the people of San Francisco.

J. A. Arnold, who is the present constable in the Dublin precinct by appointment of the commissioners court, announces in this issue for election to that office, subject to the primaries of July 28th. Mr. Arnold has served in this capacity only a few months, but during that time he has in a marked degree demonstrated his ability as a peace officer and given general satisfaction.

Cleasie Cheek, a fifteen year old boy, arrived in Dublin last Tuesday evening over the Fricso from his former home at Gainesville, Ga. The little fellow was to have been met here Tuesday morning by his brother, Lon Cheek of near Lowell, but he missed train connections at Ft. Worth and did not arrive here until Tuesday evening and there was no one to meet him. He went out to the home of his brother Wednesday and will reside there.

Girl Ran Away From Home.

Miss Ruth Wood, the fourteen year old daughter of T. J. Wood of Brady, ran away from home Tuesday afternoon and went to Brownwood. She was missed from home before the train reached Brownwood and a telephone message was sent Newt Benham to meet the train and take the girl in charge. He met the train and had no trouble in locating the girl, who when told that she must go home with him offered no objection. Wednesday morning Mr. Benham accompanied her back to Brady. The girl gave as her reason for leaving home that some of the folks made her mad and she determined to run away. She said she had enjoyed the trip and was not sorry that she left. Mr. Wood is one of Brady's leading merchants and Mr. Benham is a son-in-law of his.

Struck by a Train.

At 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon a freight train at Ballinger collided with a buggy in which were seated Rev. and Mrs. I. N. Lewis, a aged couple living near that city, and both were painfully injured. There were three freight trains switching in the yards at the time and Mr. Lewis was watching two of them so closely that he did not see the other one that ran into his buggy.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were thrown out and the buggy demolished. Mr. Lewis suffered a dislocation of the shoulder and a fracture of one or two bones, while his wife had both ankles sprained and was badly bruised.

STEPHENVILLE.

From the Tribune.

April 20th.—Miss Florence Henderson, a granddaughter of Col. Frank Henderson of this city, teaches school at Sylvan. Soon after she opened her school Monday she became suddenly sick and fell to the floor. A physician was summoned, and she was removed from the school room. She is said to be in a serious condition.

Out at the poor farm a great log chain is stretched through the building. At night the prisoners are chained to this main chain with a smaller chain which is attached to their ankles. A few nights ago they chopped the big log chain in two, slipped off the smaller ankle chains and left for parts unknown. They are still wearing their ankle chains. The notorious John Bruce escaped about two weeks ago.

H. G. White, Dave Hicks and Alex Moon were in Stephenville Tuesday gathering the necessary data to incorporate Huckabay for free school purposes. When everything is ready the district will incorporate and this will put Huckabay in the forefront as a progressive place, for it is the only way for a populous community to have a real good school. Other sections of Erath county will follow the lead of Huckabay, Morgan Mill and other places.

Earl Pate, a child about seven years old, came very near being drowned at the old park ground on the Bosque last Saturday. The children were having a picnic and were enjoying themselves in various ways. Earl and others were swinging on a rope which hangs to a tree near the bank of a deep pool on the Bosque. While swinging out over the water Earl lost his balance and fell in the pool. Mrs. Cook, who was in charge of the party, was horrified, as there was no one present who could swim, and it was almost certain that the boy would drown. Mrs. Bingham King heroically plunged in and finally secured the youngster, and Mrs. Cook jumped in and rendered assistance, which safely landed the boy, and also Mrs. King, by pulling them to the shore. The lives of the ladies were in great danger, but the boy was saved in a half drowned condition.

At Clairette Sunday evening at 7:30, George Perry and George Dupree got into a dispute over some trivial matter. Harsh words followed until the two boys were right on the verge of war. The persuasions of peace makers were of little avail, and even a suggestion to refer the matter under dispute to a peace convention was spurned with scorn. When each reached a point where he believed there was not room enough in the world for both of them they went to fighting and George Dupree was stabbed in the lower left side of the bowels with a knife in the hands of George Perry. While the wound is of a serious character it is not believed that he will die. Perry was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Will Fulkerson and lodged in jail until the character of Dupree's wounds are fully established. It is learned that the two boys quarreled over some matter that happened on a former occasion. The difficulty happened on the public road and the boys are not over sixteen years old.

From the Empire.

April 20th.—M. L. Jackson has been employed by some of the people of Bluff Dale to survey out the lines of the independent school district, with a view to contesting the recent school bond election.

Deputy Sheriff Fulkerson took out a search warrant Wednesday and searched the premises of Wesley Frazier near Cedar Point. Some stolen goods were found and Frazier was placed in jail.

Will McLaughlin has gone to Dublin to work for awhile in the wholesale grocery house of Rotan Co. His family remains in Stephenville, for the present at least, and he still retains his interest in the store of Patton Bros. & Co.

When stepping from a buggy Wednesday evening near the home of her brother, S. A. Jackson, Mrs. F. M. Doyle fell and pretty badly injured one of her hips. She is still at Mr. Jackson's and will be confined to her bed for quite a while.

Wednesday evening, Vivian, the five year old daughter of A. J. Crane, fell from an upstairs window, a distance of ten or twelve feet. She was rendered unconscious by the shock for some time, but rapidly recovered and was able to be at play again the next day.

Dr. J. Duff Brown left Wednesday evening for Llano in response to the news announcing that his sister was very sick and not expected to live. His mother died at Llano only two weeks ago. Dr. Brown will return to Stephenville as early as possible.

A BUSY WOMAN

Can do the Work of Three or Four if Well Fed.

An energetic young woman living just outside of New York writes:

"I am at present doing all the housework of a dairy farm, caring for two children, a vegetable and flower garden, a large number of fowls, besides managing an extensive exchange business through the mails and pursuing my regular avocation as a writer for several newspapers and magazines (designing fancy work for the latter) and all the energy and ability to do this I owe to Grape-Nuts food.

"It was not always so, and a year ago when the shock of my nursing baby's death utterly prostrated me and deranged my stomach and nerves so that I could not assimilate as much as a mouthful of solid food, and was in even worse condition mentally, he would have been a rash prophet who would have predicted that it ever would be so.

"Prior to this great grief I had suffered for years with impaired digestion, insomnia, agonizing cramps in the stomach, pain in the side, constipation, and other bowel derangements, all these were familiar to my daily life. Medicines gave me no relief—nothing did, until a few months ago, at a friend's suggestion, I began to use Grape-Nuts food, and subsequently gave up coffee entirely and adopted Postum Food Coffee at all my meals.

"Today I am free from all the troubles I have enumerated. My digestion is simply perfect, I assimilate my food without the least distress, enjoy sweet, restful sleep, and have a bouyant feeling of pleasure in my varied duties. In fact, I am a new woman, entirely made over, and I repeat, I owe it all to Grape-Nuts and Postum Coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in packages.

Grip Quickly Knocked Out.

"Some weeks ago during the severe winter weather both my wife and myself contracted severe colds which soon developed into the worst kind of la grippe with all its miserable symptoms," says Mr. J. S. Egleston of Maple Landing, Iowa. "Knees and joints aching, muscles sore, head stopped up, eyes and nose running, with alternate spells of chills and fever, We began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, aiding the same with a double dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and by its liberal use soon completely knocked out the grip." Russell, has just arrived there from the Philippine Islands; Gordon Barmore and mother live there, Gordon being an employe in a printing office. So far no word has been received from any of them and it is not known whether they have escaped.

Davis Mason was going home and discovered the fire. He gave the alarm and awoke the family, which were sound asleep. The fire started in the kitchen and the flames had such headway that the fire company could not save the building. Mr. Coleman lost nearly all of his household goods with no insurance.

RULE, HASKELL COUNTY.

From the Review.

April 20th.—Our merchants bought seventy bales of cotton on the streets of this city last Saturday.

It has been estimated that nearly one thousand people were on the streets of Rule last Saturday.

C. H. Goodwin and Dr. H. C. Weaver, two prominent citizens of Purves, Erath county, spent several days in Rule this week on a prospecting trip.

ST. GEORGE.

Too Late for Last Week.

April 19th.—A good shower fell this morning. Farm work is progressing nicely. Some are plowing corn and others planting cotton.

There will be a considerable increase in acreage of cotton in this community this year owing to the fact that there has been a great deal of new land put in. However, there is an increase in the acreage of corn and other feed crops and the increase of cotton acreage will be more in the nature of a surplus crop than usual.

Miss Lula Gilbreath is training her pupils preparatory to the closing of the school on the 27th inst., at which time Judge Thompson and others have promised to be present and deliver addresses. Miss Gilbreath has given general satisfaction as teacher and taught one of the most successful sessions that St. George has ever had.

Miss Fannie Smith has been very sick for several days with tonsilitis, but is improving.

On the 28h inst. we are to vote on the county superintendent and the fifteen cent road and bridge tax. Now as to the former, there doesn't seem to be very many demanding a superintendent except the teachers. The people generally are opposed to it and it seems to be an admission on the part of the teachers that they are not capable of teaching and conducting a school without a boss. And again we fail to see where the profit could possibly equal the expense of such an office. To say the least, the proposition contains a large element of doubt and we think we should give the people the benefit of the doubt and vote against the superintendent. Now as to the road tax we are strictly in favor of it because we believe in good roads and better roads and if there is anything our people ought to be ashamed of it is the public roads of the county in their present condition, and we see that the number of hands and time allowed to work the road is not sufficient and needs to be and must be supplemented by a tax from some other source, if we ever hope to have any better public highways, and I don't know of any more just or equitable way of raising the revenue than by taxation. So let us vote for the proposition.

A Heavy Load to Carry.

Along with dyspepsia comes nervousness and general ill-health. Why? Because a disordered stomach does not permit the food to be properly digested, and its products assimilated by the system. The blood is charged with poisons which come from this disordered digestion, and in turn the nerves are not fed on good, red blood, and we see symptoms of nervousness, sleeplessness and general breakdown. It is not head work, nor over physical exertion that does it, but poor stomach work. With poor, thin blood the body is not protected against the attack of germs of grip, bronchitis and consumption. Fortify the body at once with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—a rare combination of native medicinal roots without a particle of alcohol or dangerous habit-forming drugs.

A little book of extracts, from prominent medical authorities extolling every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will be mailed free to any address on request by postal card or letter. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Many years of active practice convinced Dr. Pierce of the value of many native roots as medicinal agents and he went to great expense, both in time and in money, to perfect his own peculiar processes for rendering them both efficient and safe for tonic, alterative and rebuilding agents.

The enormous popularity of "Golden Medical Discovery" is due both to its scientific compounding and to the actual medicinal value of its ingredients. The publication of the names of the ingredients on the wrapper of every bottle sold, gives full assurance of its non-alcoholic character and removes all objection to the use of an unknown or secret remedy. It is not a patent medicine nor a secret one either. This fact puts it in a class all by itself, bearing as it does upon every bottle wrapper The Badge of Honesty, in the full list of its ingredients.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures, weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver and biliousness, ulceration of stomach and bowles and all catarrhal affections no matter what parts or organs may be affected with it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original little liver pills, first put up 40 years ago. They regulate and invigorate, stomach, liver and bowels. Much imitated but never equaled. Sugar-coated and easy to take as candy. One to three a dose.

Long Distance Preaching.

The Methodist church at Terrell has established an innovation that for its novelty surpasses anything in the state yet heard of, says a recent dispatch from that place. This innovation consists of an arrangement whereby all in the city having telephones can be in communication with the the church during the hours of service. The arrangement consists of a large telephone transmitter which is placed in the pulpit and connected in the usual way.

Rev. Barton, the pastor, was moved to adopt this departure by a desire to give all those who are invalids or for any reason unable to attend the service, an opportunity to hear the singing and the sermon at their own homes with but slight inconvenience to themselves.

Five bills will be pushed forward by the members of the Texas legislative board of the railroads, the Farmers Union and the Federation of Labor at the next session of the legislature. The bills are for the regulation of mining industry; the maintenance of a labor bureau at Austin; providing that railroads shall equip all locomotives with electric headlights; providing that railroads shall maintain full crews on all trains and providing the employees of corporations shall not be required to sign papers waiving liability in case of accident.

SHELBY.

Regular Correspondence.

April 23rd.—We have had fine rains in this section.

Mrs. L. V. McCleskey is on the sick list.

Mrs. Fred Dougharty is sick at the home of her father-in-law.

R. A. Hicks, who has been sick for several days, is reported improving.

The railroad excitement is over and all business is back to a normal condition.

Alvin Neve is making preparations to put up a windmill and have water pumped to the house.

George Dougharty was in Dublin last Saturday looking after his interests as a candidate for sheriff.

Sam Knight has been doing some fencing of late and the roadway throughout the north side of the Knight farm is now closed up.

W. J. Bearden is contemplating a trip to Oregon this summer. His son and daughter and their people, who went there in the early spring, are well pleased.

There has never been better prospects for a large apple crop than there is now. The trees are full of small fruit. The writer has trees that were put out a year ago last fall that are blooming.

The Shelby school will close next Friday with speaking, recitations, band music and dinner on the ground. We understand the Lingleville string band will furnish the music. The school has been quite a success under the management of Miss Julia Cox.

Prof. Jennings of Huckabay spoke at Shelby last Saturday night. Mr. Jennings made a fine speech and entertained all who heard him. He is a candidate for representative and we believe he would make a good one. He has given general satisfaction as a school teacher at Huckabay and has all the good points of character that go to make a gentleman in every sense of the word and a representative that we would be proud of.

is no worse than the terrible case of piles that afflicted me ten years. Then I was advised to apply Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and less than a box permanently cured me, writes L. S. Napier of Rugles, Ky. Heals all wounds, burns and sores like magic. 25c at Overton Drug Co.

Prominent Minister Commits Suicide.

A late dispatch from Hillsboro says that it became known that Rev. B. F. Badgett, a prominent local preacher of Hill county, had committed suicide in the county jail at Hillsboro during the night before, where he had been placed for insanity. His mind became slightly affected about fifteen days before, but was not considered dangerous until a day or two before his death. Wednesday the sheriff's office received a 'phone message from Covington in Hill county, stating that he was violently insane and that his neighbors were afraid to start with him to Hillsboro. Sheriff Satterfield left at once for that place and found the unfortunate man very violent, but succeeded in getting him to Hillsboro and placed him in the insane department of the county jail. Next morning when the jailer went to the room in which Rev. Badgett had been placed he found him dead and his body cold. He had taken the blanket and fastened it to the bars above his head and tied it around his neck, thus producing death by strangulation.

Rev. Badgett was pastor of the Whitney circuit of the Methodist church about twenty years ago but about two weeks ago moved to Covington.

DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases are too Dangerous for Dublin People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remdey, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in Dublin.

W. L. Wood, farmer, living a mile and a half west of Dublin, Texas, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at the Overton Drug Co's store some six months ago, did me more good than any other medicine I ever used. I have no hesitation in recommending them to anyone in need of a remedy for the kidneys and back. For more than two year I suffered from heavy bearing down pains across the loins and in the region of the kidneys. They were particularly severe if I brought any strain on the muscles of the back from lifting. The use of Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me entirely of the backache and corrected the action of the kidney secretions which had been more or less irregular at times."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

PEDDLES SHRIMPS IN AUTO.

Hobby of Young Millionaire In San Rafael, Cal.

Frank H. Johnson, a wealthy young man of San Rafael, Cal., has purchased twelve acres of land within the corporate limits of that city and proposes to try chicken raising upon a scientific and up to date plan, says a dispatch from San Rafael. He believes that the climate of that city is favorable to his project. All his fowls will be of high pedigree and will be handled by competent chicken men. Toothsome capons will be a specialty, and eggs stamped with the hour and date of laying will be another.

Johnson has another hobby, and that is peddling fresh shrimps within a couple of hours after they have been caught. The other day the business men of San Rafael were surprised when Johnson stepped out of his automobile with a quantity of warm shrimps, quoting them at 6 cents a pound delivered.

The merchants were at first inclined to take it as a joke, but he showed them that he had 600 pounds of freshly cooked shrimps in his steam wagon. He easily disposed of them and announced his intention to furnish shrimps every Tuesday and Thursday. Generally the shrimps sold in San Rafael are twenty-four hours old and rapidly lose their delicacy. Johnson will drive his automobile to Point San Pedro and get the shrimps as soon as they are caught and then hasten San Rafaelward with them.

Young Johnson recently married a Miss Selby of San Francisco. His holdings were appraised at $980,000 several years ago and have greatly increased in value since then.

WOULD REIMBURSE RAILROAD

Converted Tramp Wishes to Pay For Stolen Rides.

Being converted, as he says, a tramp in Denver writes to C. C. Clark, general agent of the passenger department of the Big Four railroad, that he wishes to pay for rides he stole on the bumpers of freight cars, says an Indianapolis dispatch to the Kansas City Star. He asks Mr. Clark to advise him concerning the best rates that can be given him. His letter is as follows:

> I rode on freight trains from Indianapolis to St. Louis three times, St. Louis to Indianapolis three times, Marion to Indianapolis three times, Indianapolis to Marion three times, Alexander to Tipton one time, Urbana to Indianapolis two times, Indianapolis to Urbana two times, Danville to Indianapolis two times, Danville to Veedersburg two times. I am converted now and want to make things right as soon as I can. Give me best rates.

Mr. Clark says he will have to ask the writer to pay regular passenger rates. He is making out an itemized statement to be sent to the repentant one.

BRIDGE AFTER BREAKFAST.

Fad at Washington For Card Parties to Meet About 9:30.

Bridge after breakfast is the most popular Lenten diversion that Washington society has found to indulge in, says a special dispatch to the New York Globe.

There has never been a time when there were in Washington so many bridge clubs, big and little. It is quite the fad for the players to congregate at 9:30, with breakfast hardly over, and to play until luncheon time. Sometimes the game is resumed after luncheon.

So insatiate has become the demand for this form of enjoyment that some of the clubs gather daily and play the morning game every forenoon except Sunday. Afternoon games are the only ones played by some of the clubs, but they are less popular than the after breakfast games.

Locomotive Building In Japan.

In the locomotive shops at Kobe, Japan, several locomotives have been built recently, says the Railway and Engineering Review. The designs follow American construction. The plant was built largely as an experiment, but, while its output embraces good examples of construction, the demand for locomotives is too great for its ability to supply the needs of the country.

A Little Farther On.

Just a little farther on waits a wondrous April dawn,
When the boughs will break in blossoms as a flag is lifted up,
When the grass will rise and run with the laughter of the sun
And the sky will seem to pour us wine from out a magic cup.
And we'll sing because of knowing all the songs the wind is blowing,
And the earth will be the gladder for the dreary days agone.
Then we'll catch the murmured words in the singing of the birds,
When the earth has rolled to springtime—just a little farther on.

For the good old earth it knows where the robin and the rose
Wait to set our hearts to leaping for the beauty of the day,
And it knows the necromance of the violets that dance
To the music of the brooklet that once more is loosed in play.
Ho, the blossom petals drifting in the breeze forever shifting
And the forests flaming greener for their battle with the snows!
Then we'll catch the melodies of the waking honey bees,
For the good old earth is rolling to the robin and the rose.

Shut your eyes, and you may dream of the dandelion's gleam
Where the careless hand of springtime has been spilling all its gold,
While the meadow overnight flings aside the wintry blight,
And its carpet smooth as velvet is by fairy hands unrolled.
Then we'll know the tang and tingle of the blossom scents that mingle,
And we'll taste the joys of living in the wondrous April dawn,
For we're swinging to the wiles of the singing and the smiles,
To the blessedness of springtime—just a little farther on.

Supposed Dead Appear.

A late newspaper dispatch from St. Petersburg, Russia, says, Among the Russian prisoners arriving from Japan there are many who had been reported dead by the general staff and whose wives and relatives had been so informed. The unexpected reappearance of these men is causing all sorts of strange family complications, as many wives under the impression that they were dead, have remarried. In the province of Perm a returning soldier found his wife already the mother of a child by a new husband. He took the matter to the village for settlement. The first husband offered to acquiesce to the new conjugal arrangement if he received $25, but the second husband was unable to pay the money and it was finally arranged that the wife should return to her first husband. However, as the second marriage was considered legal and as official documents were at hand to prove the apparent death of the living husband, it was decided that the child born while the first husband was away must legally be registered as belonging to the second husband and that it must be cared for by him.

Characteristic Incidents In Life of Noted Leader of Women.

SAMPLE OF HER STRICT DISCIPLINE

How the Eminent Woman Suffragist Impressed That Fact Upon Some Unruly Schoolboys—Her Heroic Cure With Cold Water—Most Dramatic Event In Her Life—An Impressive Tribute From Women.

Upon her graduation the late Miss Susan B. Anthony, the eminent woman suffrage leader, became a schoolteacher. She wished to do something in the world, and in those days teaching was about the only profession open to a woman, says the New York Sun. She found no difficulty in getting employment, but the pay was much smaller than men got for similar work, and then came her first argument in favor of woman's rights.

"If I teach as well as a man why should I not receive the salary of a man?" she asked a district school commissioner. The question cost her her job, but she got another one and continued to think about woman's rights.

Miss Anthony was by nature retiring, but she was a strict disciplinarian and was fond of telling how she impressed that fact upon one of her classes. It was in 1839 when she was in charge of a school in Pennsylvania. The schoolboys had heard that a Quakeress who was only nineteen years old was coming to teach them, and they prepared to give her a warm reception. As a class they had a bad reputation, and Miss Anthony knew it. When she appeared some of her pupils fell in through the windows, and others turned handsprings over the desks. The young teacher waited until the room became moderately quiet; then she called the most boisterous boy to the platform and in a most subdued manner told him to remove his coat. Then with a birch rod she gave an example of discipline that brought about immediate and lasting order.

If there was ever any fad in therapeutics to which Miss Anthony gave attention it was the water cure, says the Woman's Home Companion. She had the highest regard for the virtues of cold water as a remedial measure. Many years ago, when she was lecturing in Plattsburg, N. Y., she happened to get her feet frostbitten. She put them under a faucet in the kitchen to thaw out, which was successfully accomplished, but the next morning she awoke with a frightful pain in her back. She could scarcely get out of bed, but she insisted on keeping her lecture engagement that night. The next day, although she had to be carried to the sleigh, she drove seventeen miles with her knees doubled up to her chin and lectured that night.

Rising at 4 the next morning, she rode ten miles by stage and then went by train to Watertown. At that city she engaged a room at a hotel and took her case in hand. She instituted measures that, to say the least, may be called strenuous. She called for several buckets of ice water, which she had a maid pour deliberately over her back. Then she wrapped herself up in hot blankets and went to bed. The next morning she awoke a well woman.

The most dramatic event in Miss Anthony's life occurred in 1872, when she was arrested and tried for voting in Rochester at the presidential election, says the New York Tribune. As soon as the date and place of her trial were set Miss Anthony made a thorough canvass of the county in order to ascertain if all the jurors were instructed in a citizen's rights. The trial being later postponed for three weeks in another county, she canvassed that county and held public meetings. When the case came to trial the judge, pronouncing it to be a matter of law, not fact, took it out of the hands of the jury and fined Miss Anthony $100 and costs.

"Resistance to tyranny is obedience to God, and I shall never pay a penny of this unjust claim," she said to the judge. And she never did.

Miss Anthony's only regret in connection with the whole occurrence, it is said, was that on the advice of her counsel she gave bonds in order to avoid imprisonment, an act which prevented her taking her case to the supreme court.

A tribute to the memory of the dead leader, Susan B. Anthony, more eloquent than words was that by the 150 women recently assembled at the Hotel Astor in New York at the twentieth birthday luncheon of the Society For Political Study, says the New York World.

At the request of Mrs. John H. Judge, the president, they arose and bowed their heads in silent prayer. It was an impressive sight. Not a movement, not the rustle of a gown disturbed the stillness. It was the spontaneous offering of respect to a great woman.

LEADER OF AN INSURANCE WAR

Railroad President and Financier to Whom Hundreds of Thousands Are Intrusting Their Interests in the Movement to Reform the Mutual Life is a Great Lover of Outdoors. An Instance of His Adaptability.

"A man who looks like pictures of the ancient vikings, with great reddish mustache and huge frame, candid blue eyes, big hands and feet, firm chin and strong mouth and slightly stooping in his gait, as though doubtful about displaying all of his six feet and three or four inches of height. A man of self confidence, without conceit or affectation, thoroughly businesslike and generally busy, but uniformly kindly and courteous to high and low."

Thus an acquaintance described Stuyvesant Fish, whose name has become known to hundreds of thousands within the last few days as that of the leader of the first independent movement to reform one of the large insurance companies from the inside, says a correspondent of the New York Post.

Although president of a railroad and with a reputation in American financial circles for twenty years or more, Mr. Fish was an inconspicuous person last month in comparison with what he is now. By withdrawing from the Mutual Life's self investigating committee because of its failure to investigate according to his ideas and later by resigning his position as trustee and consenting to head a policy holders' campaign against the powerfully entrenched administration of the company he has grown to be, for the time at least, the most talked of American. Not only at home are his doings heralded daily. In England, France and Germany the Mutual Life's policy holders are organizing for his support. Whether he wins or loses he is to be the central figure in a contest of direct interest to more than 600,000 men and women holding contracts with the Mutual Life and of interest indirectly to millions of others whose lives are insured elsewhere.

They say that when Stuyvesant Fish starts to do anything he is sure to do it well, whether it be in railroading or in some new line. There is a story about him that illustrates his adaptability, and, though the undertaking in this instance was a trifling one, it furnished an index to his character.

Not many years ago, through no fault of his own, he was taxed with the duty of administering an estate a little distance north of New York. In the course of time certain personal properties had to be sold, and included among them were the contents of an old blacksmith shop on the estate. After causing the sale to be advertised Mr. Fish journeyed to the scene on the appointed day. A crowd of farmers from the vicinity had gathered around the building.

"Where's the auctioneer?" some one asked.

"Here I am," responded the railroad president.

Jumping on a wagon he proceeded to sell tools, scrap iron, bellows and a couple of dilapidated vehicles. As he explained afterward, the profits to be realized did not justify hiring a regular auctioneer. He was acting as a trustee, and he wanted to get all he could for those in whose behalf he was managing the estate. Incidentally it may be mentioned that he was such an eloquent auctioneer that he got top prices for everything, and to this day the buyers are recalling his silver tongued "Going, going, gone!"

The office of the president of the Illinois Central railroad is at 135 Broadway, New York, and Mr. Fish, like the heads of most other western systems, spends most of his time in New York. Usually he arrives downtown from his city house at 25 East Seventy-eighth street or his country place at Garrison-on-the-Hudson before 10 o'clock in the morning. He is apt to be in the office until late in the afternoon, even on Saturdays, and sometimes he is still there after other men of the Wall street district have finished their dinners.

"Everybody works hard here," says his clerks, with tones of pride, as if to imply that they wouldn't, if they could, be caught doing fewer hours of labor than their chief. All of them regard Mr. Fish as little less than superhuman, and their admiration is only equaled by their liking for him. That he believes in good wages has something to do with it, but the main thing is that he is fair, approachable and appreciative.

"That's right, Dick," he will say to one of them by way of commendation for a job well done, or, "Will you do this for me, John?"

To him they are friends as well as employees. He leaves off the "Mr." and uses their first names, and they are ready to work for him or with him as fast or as long as he needs them.

The characteristic that strikes the visitor to Mr. Fish's office is his unfailing sense of humor. One cannot be with him ten minutes without tapping his store of anecdotes, and all of them are good ones. He does not fling them at you gratuitously, but manages to make them illustrate a point or strengthen an argument. They seem to "come to him" as spontaneously as the merest commonplaces of conversation.
