A couple of the State Constitutional Amendments which will be on the general election ballot Nov. 3 involve property values, and one of them would change an item that has endured since 1876, although it experienced several changes in less than 30 years prior to that time.

The amendments proposed this year should revive some interest in a new constitution and especially a new beginning on taxation.

Texas had a Constitution in 1945 when it started out as a state, of course, and then had another in 1861, another in 1866, still another in 1869 and finally the current one in 1876. We haven't had a new one this century.

One of the proposed amendments, No. 6, would increase the homestead exemption from $5,000 to $10,000. The first homestead exemption, provided in the Constitution of 1845, was limited to $2,000. It was finally raised to $5,000 in the Constitution of 1869. So, the present homestead exemption has been unchanged for 101 years.

Another proposed amendment, No. 3, would set up a uniform method of assessing ranch, farm and forest lands, based on the capability of the lands to support the raising of livestock, or to produce farm and forest crops, rather than on the value of such lands and the crops actually growing on them.

There are substantial discrepancies from county to county and even between various taxing agencies within a single county in the assessment of farm lands at present.

But here again, there may be a need for a new constitution instead of more patch work on the old one of 1876.

Nevertheless, tax assessors and boards of equalization probably would like to have a uniform, constitutional basis for assessing such properties.

Cambodian Troops Halt Enemy Drive

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

PHNOM PENH (AP) — Enemy troops attempted to cut in two a large Cambodian task force in the Taing Kauk area, but were driven back after 9½ hours of fighting that ended at dawn today, Cambodian military spokesmen said.

Government troops, on the firing line for more than a month, halted the enemy drive five yards from their defense perimeter at one point, they said.

The enemy opened with a heavy mortar barrage before launching the infantry attack 47 miles north of Phnom Penh, and during wave after wave of infantry assaults, poured out recoilless cannon fire in an attempt to knock out key Cambodian defense points.

Cambodian officers at the scene said four government soldiers were killed and 25 wounded in the fighting at Prakham. Just to the north, at Taing Kauk, Cambodian troops also were engaged, but by a much smaller enemy force.

Cambodian casualties there were about six wounded. Newsmen could see about 30 enemy dead outside the government defenses.

A Cambodian officer said nearly 200 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong died in the attempt to overrun the spearhead of the largest government task force of the war.

The battle ended with Cambodian air strikes that gave close support to the government troops.

Enemy troops have attacked Tonle Bet and Kompong Cham, 30 miles east of Taing Kauk, and Kompong Chhnang, 35 miles west, during the last two days. A government spokesman said the enemy now is able to cut off the task force from Kompong Cham, the regional headquarters responsible for supporting the offensive.

Apparently the attacks north of Phnom Penh are designed to force government commanders to divert some of the troops in the task force away from Taing Kauk, a spokesman said.

Although the spokesman had no details of today's fight, he said government losses in the offensive, during which segments of the task force have been under attack for almost two weeks, now stand at about 500 killed. The operation began Sept. 6.

Auto Talks Resume

DETROIT (AP) — Both sides reported fruitful discussions but no major developments as General Motors and the United Auto Workers resumed bargaining for the second day in a row today in efforts to end a 26-day-old strike.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock said after Friday's negotiating session that "the time was usefully employed, although no agreements, as such, were reached."

GM Vice President Earl Bramblett, the company's chief negotiator, said there was "very extensive discussion of differences" and there was "agreement on problems, but not the solutions."

Friday's talks were the first on economic issues since the strike began Sept. 14, idling 400,000 workers at GM plants in the United States and Canada.

Bramblett said top-level bargaining teams would continue through the weekend. But he said it was unlikely there would be any major developments.

Top demands slated for discussion today include a larger company contribution toward the supplemental unemployment benefit fund, which supports the guaranteed annual income won by autoworkers in the 1967 industry pacts.

Also on the agenda was the union's newly proposed company-paid family dental plan.

Explosion Rocks Queens Courthouse

NEW YORK (AP) — An explosion rocked a Queens courthouse causing extensive damage today minutes after a telephone caller warned that a bomb was about to go off and said: "This is Weatherman calling."

It was the fifth bombing in the country this week claimed by underground groups.

Police said the bomb blew out most of the windows in the building and caused heavy interior damage, knocking several heavy wooden doors off their hinges. No one was injured.

The bomb had been planted in a phone booth, police said.

The FBI joined the investigation."

President Nixon ordered the FBI Friday to find the persons responsible for three West Coast bombings Thursday. Those bombings and another one Monday in Chicago, all have been claimed by radical groups.

The West Coast bombings caused damage to a military armory in Santa Barbara, Calif., a courthouse in San Rafael, Calif., and a military ROTC building at the University of Washington in Seattle.

The Chicago bombing Monday blew up a statue of a policeman in Chicago's Haymarket Square.

Today at 1:10 a.m. an anonymous caller told a prison guard at Long Island City jail adjacent to the courthouse: "This is Weatherman calling. There is a bomb planted in the court building that will go off shortly. This is in retaliation for what happend during the week. Inform pig Murphy."

The new police commissioner of New York is Patrick V. Murphy.

Ten minutes after the call, the bomb went off while two policemen investigating the warning were standing cross the street from the locked door of the building. A custodian in the building and 17 prisoners in the adjacent jail escaped injury.

A later bomb alarm in Manhattan proved unfounded. A caller told police of an impending explosion at the Manhattan House of Detention for Men—the Tombs—but a search revealed no bomb, police said.

The President ordered the FBI into the three West Coast bombings after a group identifying itself as the "Weatherman Underground" claimed responsibility for an explosion that wrecked a courtroom and a rest room at the Marin County Civic Center in San Rafael.

A UNITED FUND AGENCY

Mental Health Service Of Area Is Improved

EDITORS NOTE: This is another in a series of articles on service agencies supported by the Scurry County United Fund. The articles have been written by Mrs. Bootsie Coleman, member of the United Fund Campaign Publicity Committee, which is headed by Mrs. Joe Pitts. Today's article deals with the Texas Mental Health Association.

Scurry County folks are indeed fortunate to have mental health facilities as close as Big Spring. According to the latest count, only 38 general hospitals in Texas will accept psychiatric patients for treatment — and only 24 of these have special psychiatric units.

In order to be truly effective, modern psychiatric care must begin at the community level. Psychiatric authorities agree that help near home is vital if we are to make any substantial progress in the fight against mental illness.

Our ancestors subscribed to antiquated concepts of hiding the insane in prison-like, wire-enclosed asylums of "snake pit" type accommodations, under the jurisdiction of the Texas State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools. In recent years, under enlightened management and dedicated guidance, these hospitals have become bright and shining inspirations in the fields of care, treatment, rehabilitation and understanding of the mentally ill. But each progressive improvement has been won against almost overwhelming obstacles — the basic physical structure and locations of the hospital plants, the inadequate financing doled out by sluggish legislatures, the cruel rejection by society of the mentally ill, and the critical shortage of competent professionals willing to work for the salaries allocated by the state.

Since Scurry County has no local Chapter, the United Fund contributes directly to the State Association. The sum contributed to Mental Health from the Scurry County United Fund is .83 per cent. The goal set for United Fund for the year 1971 is $42,442.44 — this is a mere sum of $352.27 to Mental Health!

The urgent need for early diagnosis, prompt and intensive treatment, and thorough follow-up care in rehabilitation is now clear to psychiatrists. As the

Soviets Deny US Charges

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Soviet Union has dismissed as "sheer fabrication" a U.S. charge that it is helping build and man missile sites on the Egyptian side of the Suez Canal cease-fire zone.

The rebuttal Friday came a few hours after U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers made the accusation in Washington, and charged Moscow with using "strident" cold war rhetoric.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said the "so-called violations blamed on the Soviet Union such as the appearance of ground-to-air missile sites manned by Soviet personnel in the Suez Canal area are a sheer fabrication."

It said there is an "anti-Soviet campaign of slander in the American press," instigated by Washington, "which says that the Soviet Union has allegedly violated some 'commitments' involved in the cease-fire in the Suez Canal area."

"There are not any grounds for accusing the Soviet Union of violating the terms of agreement," Tass said, "because, as it is known, the Soviet Union took no part in drafting any cease-fire terms and is not a party to any such agreements."

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda said in a dispatch from Cairo today that Egypt had put forth a "peaceful initiative" by agreeing to extend the cease-fire.

Egypt said last Tuesday that it was willing to extend the truce if there were indications of a serious effort by Israel to withdraw from occupied Arab territory.

Pravda made no mention of an Egyptian missile buildup, but said "the defense potential of the United Arab Republic has grown. Israeli planes can no longer raid the heartlands of Egypt. The entire Israeli policy of blackmail and threats has been frustrated. The support for the just cause of the Arabs by the Soviet Union and other socialist countries and by all progressive forces of the world is the most important factor."

The United States initiated the Mideast peace plan that produced a 90-day cease-fire beginning Aug. 7 between Israel, Jordan and Egypt. Indirect peace talks at the United Nations collapsed Sept. 6 when Israel walked out on grounds of an Egyptian missile buildup.

Rogers, backing up an Israeli assertion earlier in the day, told a news conference that America has conclusive evidence of Egyptian violations in the canal truce zone.

"We are convinced beyond a doubt," he added, "that Soviet personnel are there to assist in the construction and manning of those antiaircraft missile sites."

Rogers said the United States would present "evidence" of its charges to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko when the two meet at the U.N. General Assembly meeting in New York next week.

In Cairo, the semi-official Egyptian newspaper Al Ahram said today that Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad would call for sanctions against Israel at the General Assembly meeting on grounds of Israel's refusal to impelement the U.N. Security Council resolution of November 1967. The resolution called for Israeli withdrawal from territories occupied in the 1967 war, Arab acknowledgement of Israeli sovereignty and a just solution for Palestinian refugees.

Iran Jet Hijacked

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Three Iranians hijacked an Iranian jetliner to Baghdad today, shot and wounded the copilot and threatened to blow up the plane unless Iran freed 21 political prisoners. Foreign Minister Ardeshir Zhaedi announced the plane was released and flew back to Iran.

Baghdad radio, reporting the wounding of the copilot, announced that the three Iranians were arrested and were being questioned.

Baghdad radio said four women and three children were allowed to disembark but 45 persons had remained on board in the Iraqi capital. Officials in Tehran refused to confirm that the hijackers had demanded the release of political prisoners.

Zhaedi said only that the negotiations were carried out with Iraqi authorities and the plane landed at Abadan in southwest Iran, across the Shaat al Arab River from Iraq.

Agnew To Be In Lubbock

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew brings his help-a-candidate tour to Texas Monday with the state's Democrats claiming the Texas GOP is "treating him like some kind of dangerous, misguided missile."

"His reputation for calling 'em like he see 'em has the opposition, which he is supposed to be helping, scared to death," said Democrat Lloyd Bentsen, who opposes Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., in a hot campaign for the U.S. Senate.

Agnew is completing a southern and border state campaign swing, coming to Texas after a weekend rest in Palm Springs, Calif. He is scheduled for an airport rally in Lubbock Monday afternoon followed by a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner in Amarillo Monday night for Bush. The vice president will appear at a luncheon Tuesday in Dallas in support of Paul Eggers, Republican candidate for governor.

An original tentative appearance at Houston, for the Houston Oilers-Baltimore Colts professional football game Sunday, was canceled.

Bentsen claimed that "the Madison Avenue boys are trying to package and sell Mr. Bush in a slick, image-oriented campaign but they've always had a hard time packaging Mr. Agnew. He keeps breaking the string... They apparently are so afraid he might offend someone that they won't even let him go to Houston just to watch a football game," Bentsen said.

Gov. Preston Smith , Democrat, who opposes Eggers, complained that Texas has unusual traffic problems with "the heavy traffic created by out-of-state Republicans."

This is Agnews third trip to Texas this year.

Just the past week Secretary of Treasury David Kennedy and Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans made speeches in Texas, and campaigned briefly for Bush. On Oct. 16 Secretary of Interior Walter Hickel will be Bush's campaign companion. Actually Agnew's last trip to Texas was to see a Democrat—former President Lyndon B. Johnson. Agnew and Johnson huddled at the LBJ Ranch west of Austin while Agnew reported on his trip to Vietnam and Indochina.

Agnew's first trip was to Houston for a fund-raising dinner for GOP candidates.

The vice president's athletic prowess also will get a test in Texas with a private tennis game scheduled Monday afternoon in Amarillo, between the two political appearances. In the past Agnew has made sports page headlines when wayward tennis and golf shots hit his playing partners.

Others in the Amarillo tennis game will be Bush, Amarillo editor Tommy Thompson, and Jose Rael, Amarillo insurance man.

Agnew's advance aides said there would be no photographs of the tennis match.

Lobbyist Required To Register

ATLANTA Ga. (AP) — Mayor Sam Massell has registered as a lobbyist for the 1971 session of the Georgia General Assembly.

Massell paid $5 and signed his name in a big ledger in the secretary of state's office to get a lobbyist card and declared the special interest group he is working for is "the people of Atlanta."

A new state law requires lobbyist to register.

Let sister decide who she wants

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: We have a sister who is 62, attractive and still working. She owns her own home and a nice car. She has been widowed for a number of years and has always said she didn't care to marry again.

She recently met a man whom she recognized as someone she had known in her girlhood. He is 75, but looks and acts much younger. He doesn't drive, so sister gives him chauffeur service. We don't know if he is poor or just stingy as he has never given sister any kind of gift, and when he takes her out to "dine" it is always to a cafeteria. He is of another faith and is not in good standing with his church.

It appears to us that he is looking for someone to take care of him in his old age. What can we do to keep sister from marrying him and making a mess of her well organized life?

ANXIOUS SISTERS

DEAR SISTERS: There's just an outside chance that sister enjoys this gentleman's company, doesn't mind chauffeuring him around, and finds dining with him at the cafeteria a real treat. And she may even enjoy the prospects of "taking care of him" in his old age. A man who is 75 but "looks and acts much younger" sounds like pretty good company to me.

DEAR ABBY: My pet peeve is the boss in an office who calls his "girls" by their first name, but expects everyone to address him as "Mister."

I think it is simply a matter of mutual respect, and if he wants to be called "Mister," he should call the women "Miss" or "Mrs."

On the other hand, if he prefers a less formal atmosphere around the office, and calls the girls by their first names, he should also be called by his.

What do you think?

MRS. J.

DEAR MRS. J.: If I worked in an office and called my boss "Mister"—which I surmise about 99 per cent of the "girls" do—I wouldn't object to my boss calling me "Abby." But if he did, I would solve my problem faster by telling him about it than writing to Dear Abby.

DEAR ABBY: The other day while visiting at a friend's home for the first time, I found it necessary to take my 3-year-old daughter outside for some "correction." A few minutes later I had to discipline her again, using, as before, a thin paddle [it's actually a paint mixer] to spank her bottom.

My friend's husband, whom I had met only minutes before, came tearing after me, red in the face and trembling, demanding to know "what that baby did!" His tone was so loud and abusive that my child was frightened half to death, and I was dumbfounded.

I am not in the habit of explaining my actions to strangers, but I simply said she had disobeyed me, whereupon he accused me of "beating" her. I thought the poor man would expire on the spot he was so furious.

Naturally I didn't stay much longer after that. Abby, do you think he had a right to berate me before my own child and cause her to wonder if I had a right to discipline her in that manner? I was unaware of his attitude toward spanking a child. Should I have apologized to the man? I wasn't sorry I spanked my child as I try to be consistent in matters of discipline.

SHOOK

DEAR SHOOK: You owed this man no apologies. Perhaps he was "shook" that a child should be paddled with something other than a hand, but he was out of line for having made an unpleasant scene even more unpleasant.

DEAR ABBY: I was intrigued by the couple who were so disturbed over a widow who expected to be invited twice for each time she entertained. Apparently the issue was a mathematical one. Should one entertain on a one-for-one basis, or, in this case, on a two-for-one? It seems to be that when people reach the point of being bothered by the arithmetic of hospitality they should be directed to a certain passage of Scripture which says, "When you give a dinner or a banquet, do not invite your friends or your brothers or your kinsmen or rich neighbors, lest they also invite you in return, and you be repaid. But when you give a feast invite the poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind, and you will be blessed, because they cannot repay you." [Luke 14: 12-14].

St. Luke's Church: Hot Springs, Va.

Ideas Offered On Hijackings

NEW YORK (AP) — Want to prevent an airline hijacking? Try boxing gloves, bank references or lie detector tests.

These three ideas were among suggestions in letters received by Pan American World Airways and reported in a recent issue of the carrier's publication, The Clipper.

The letters offered some light ideas on an obviously serious subject.

Like having the stewardess put boxing gloves on every passenger. "Did you ever see a man wearing boxing gloves pull a gun?" asked one letter writer.

A lawyer proposed: "Make every passenger furnish a bank reference." Presumably, people who have bank accounts don't hijack planes.

Then there was the man who said every passenger should grasp the handles of a lie detector and answer the question, "Are you planning to hijack this airplane?"

Among other suggestions:

—Lock all the passengers' legs to their seats so they couldn't walk around. If someone had to leave this seat during a flight, the writer said, a security guard could accompany him.

—Strip passengers of their clothes and other personal possessions and give them robes or kimonos with no hiding place for weapons, "Today's anxious plane trip could become a relaxing pajama party," said the writer.

—Give passengers smocks to put on over their own clothes, preventing people from reaching their pockets. Design the smocks so passengers need help from a stewardess to get in or out of the garments.

—Let all the stewardesses wear big belts with revolvers and hunting knives. Sure to cut down on passes if not piracy.

voice of the people in mental illness, the voluntary citizens' health agency known as the Texas Association for Mental Health is crying out for the preservation of our human resources by the establishment of comprehensive community mental health treatment centers. Supported entirely by voluntary contributions, TAMH is vigorously expending its funds toward the education of the public to the need for better treatment facilities and better understanding of the mentally ill.

The need was clearly spelled out in the special mental health message to Congress by President Nixon in February, when he identified mental illness and retardation as America's most pressing and serious health problem. The American Medical Association subsequently endorsed the President's proposals for the construction of hundreds of localized mental health centers. Already okayed by the U. S. Senate, House approval of H. R. 3688 was needed to bring matching grants to the states for constructing and staffing of community based mental health centers. TAMH (through its parent, Nat'l Ment. Health & Ment. Retardation,) along with other interested organizations, was very instrumental in getting this bill passed. House Bill No. 3 restructured the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation so that emphasis was placed on community efforts to serve Mental Health and Mental Retardation. This affected Scurry County by providing the services of a psychiatrist weekly at the Scurry County Mental Health and Retardation Center, 911 Twenty-sixth Street, under the auspices of the Big Spring State Hospital.

Idealy, in order to meet mushrooming Texas requirements, help near home must include development of services for children, adults and senior citizens; psychiatric units in general hospitals; day and night hospitals for the "part time patient" able to carry on a portion of his normal life; nursing homes for the senile aged; employment placement and aftercare for the mentally restored; and vocational counselling for the recovered patient.

One of the most disburning and shocking problems in Texas concerns emotionally disturbed children. How many youngsters in our county could be helped by psychiatric care?

She is survived by a sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Starnes and a niece, Mrs. Elizabeth Odom, both of Snyder.

Eggers Stresses Law Enforcement

Paul Eggers, bringing his campaign for governor to the Scurry County Fair in Snyder Friday afternoon, discussed law enforcement, drugs, economy and student unrest.

"Law enforcement personnel in Texas must be brought up to professional status," said Eggers. Declaring that they need more pay, more fringe benefits, better training and more officers to do their work adequately.

He said there are 14.8 law enforcement personnel per 10,000 persons in Texas but that the national average is 18.5 officers per 10,000.

Oral confesssions should be made admissable evidence, Eggers said, noting that Texas is the only state in the nation that does not admit oral confessions as evidence.

Moreoever, Eggers added, judges should be able to give true life sentences and hardened criminals should be removed from society. Texas has the most lenient parole system in the United States, the candidate observed, adding that the court system must be reformed to eliminate the great backlog of pending cases. More work must be done in the area of rehabilitation since 96 per cent of criminals are repeaters, he said.

Touching on drugs, the University of Texas law school graduate advocated hard penalties for pushers. The law must define possession of a certain amount as being a "pusher," he said. Eggers was a member of the special presidential task force on narcotics, marijuana and dangerous drugs. He said a jail term for pushers is mandatory.

"The state must hold the line on taxes," Eggers stated, adding "People are tried of new taxes." He favors elimination of the joint house-senate budget commission since the last time it acted as added $97 million to the budget. Eggers would employ a 1-year budget during his first year in office, but he would eliminate pork barrel legislation. He believes Texas could be governed more economically.

Discussing student unrest, the Wichita Falls resident declared that schools should not close under the threat of violence, but rather those who cause violence should be treated as criminals and prosecuted.

"Those who are on campus to cause trouble rather than to learn should be kicked off," he said. However, the freedom of speech and right of protest would be protected.

In conclusion, Eggers said people must become involved in their government.

Prayer Day Is Proclaimed

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Lester Maddox has proclaimed Sunday as a day of prayer for the U.S. Supreme Court as it prepares to hear three cases involving school desegregation.

The high court will hear appeals from three Southern school districts—including Clarke County, Ga.—on Monday. Maddox proclaimed the preceding day as a day of prayer and certified Monday as a day of thought and concern.

The governor said prayers and thoughts should be directed so that Supreme Court justices can "render a decision which will emphasize a preservation of both quality education in our public schools and individual liberty."

Kidnapers Get Ransom

GENOA, Italy (AP) — The $320,000 ransom was handed over secretly to the kidnapers in a big bag of small denomination notes that weighed 110 pounds.

At midnight Friday the Italian radio broadcast a cryptic message in which the words "Il Svizzero"—the Swiss—were repeated three times.

That fulfilled the kidnapers' instructions. But Rosa Maggiolo Cadolla, the "golden widow" of Genoa, waited in mounting anxiety Saturday for the promised release of her 19-year-old son, Sergio.

He was spirited away last Tuesday from the door of the apartment of his mother, the richest women in Genoa. She inherited a building and construction business and a chain of 32 movie theaters from her husband, Fausto, former president of the Genoa and Savona soccer clubs.

Mrs. Cadolla's attorney, Luca Ciurlo, said the kidnapers made their demands in "about 30, brief, cryptic telephone calls."

"They wrote no letters," he added. "They only telephoned."

Mrs. Cadolla agreed from the very start to pay the ransom.

"I will pay anywhere, at any time," she said in a tearful television appeal to the kidnapers. "I only want my son back safe."

But more than 12 hours later, there had been no word from him.

Urban Project Plans Unveiled

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP)—Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. unveiled Saturday the master plan for its "East Side Story," a billion dollar development of 32 contiguous blocks east of and adjacent to the central business district.

"To my knowledge, the project is the largest urban [illegible] tion of its kind in the world," said George R. Brown, board chairman.

The [illegible]-acre tract Texas Eastern assembled under strict secrecy precautions ultimately would double the size of downtown Houston. The acquisition by the 23-year-old natural gas transmission firm was announced in April.

Most of the area currently is used as parking lots but there are numerous small commercial buildings, apartments and dwellings.

Phase one of the 15 to 20 year project is to begin next year with a nine-block development immediately east of Texas Eastern's Main Street headquarters building. The nine-block development is to include three high-rise office towers, several low-rise office buildings, a hotel, a motel, department stores, specialty shops, and garden apartments.

Later phases will carry the project eastward to the Eastex Freeway, 10 blocks east of Main Street, and include additional office towers, hotels, motels, entertainment and cultural facilities and garden apartments.

The master plan developed by architect-planners William L. Pereira Associates and Brown & Root Inc. calls for the entire area to have a four to five story parking substructure. Houston Center itself will be built on top of this substructure with the buildings, plazas, and garden areas being built over but without affecting the flow of traffic on existing streets. Its own high level, high capacity loop around the periphery will tie the project into existing streets and the freeway.

Gordon L. Jennings, vice president, said such a plan was devised in that it would otherwise require 200 blocks to handle on a single level basis the parking to be housed in the substructure.

The Houston Center site is [illegible] San Jacinto and Caroline Streets on the north by Rusk, [illegible] by Dallas and on the east by the Freeway.

Brown said Texas Eastern, owner of the wartime big and little inch pipelines, has diversified into oil and gas production and now supplies energy in various forms to [illegible] million people in 32 states. Texas Eastern is the only company delivering gas to both the east and west coasts.

"Along the way, Texas Eastern has met and mastered its share of challenges, but none, I believe, can equal the one that faces us today," said Baxter D. Goodrich, president.

McMullan Speaks To Art Guild

Mr William R. McMullan, Vocational Agricultural teacher in high school, spoke to the members of the Art Guild Tuesday, October 6, at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. The subject of Mr. McMullan's talk was The Importance of Chemicals. He gave some very interesting information on the use of modern chemicals and how they are aiding the farmers in animal and crop production. He told how much we all depend on chemicals and that they can be used safely if the manufacturer's instructions are closely followed.

Each club member responded to roll call by telling the name of a book she would like to read. The president, Mrs. Bill Teaff, conducted the business session, and Mrs. W. F. King closed the meeting with a devotional thought for today's world.

In Death's Row He Writes Good Mystery

A REASONABLE DOUBT. By Edgar Smith. Coward-McCann. $6.95.

Only the aficionados of true crime would find it compelling and perhaps compulsively necessary to examine Edgar Smith's novel as a fictional treatise of the real murder for which he was convicted.

To all others, "A Reasonable Doubt" surely may be greeted as a well-orchestrated crime mystery. It has a classic double-cross chicanery in high places and high drama in the court room.

Indeed, crime buffs may wonder whether Smith—now in his 13th year in the Death Row at the New Jersey State Penitentiary in Trenton—is Ron Kramer, the duped defendant, or Jerry Bender, the smooth and slick, too slick, operator. (To say more is to unravel the mystery.)

And Susan Jeffers? Is she the fictionalized version of 15-year-old Victoria Zielinski, for whose death Smith was sentenced to be executed June 4, 1957? In this novel, the characters Kramer and Bender both are with the victim the night she is killed. In his real life case, Smith admits being with the Zielinski girl before her death, but says another man was, too.

The jury in the sensational Bergen County trial decided that Smith murdered 15-year-old Victoria. It said Smith must pay with his own life. It is a penalty which still stands despite the 13 years in which Smith has succeeded in staying his execution.

Whether it was perhaps Smith's intention to implant new doubt about the substance of his own case is a matter only of conjecture. One day, he may answer it. But there is no doubt that "A Reasonable Doubt" is an exciting and illuminating work, commended to your attention.

Religious Move

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Indian flower sellers were blocking the pavement in suburban Rosebank, so the city father_ ordered them to move into newly built wood and brick stalls.

The Hindu vendors consulted their religious calendar and decided the hour was not auspicious for a move. So officials sighed and let them stay another week until the time of the full moon at the end of the month of Sraven and the beginning of the month of Bhadrapad.

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"First, don't have an inferiority complex. Sex appeal comes from within. And don't be aggressive. Be conscious of your figure—and take care of it—it's like being clean. And, if you're intelligent, why not show it? There's nothing frightening about intelligence."—Actress Jeanne Moreau, in an interview, with advice for American women.

"So many movies are expensive and repulsive. You can't tell me that seeing somebody nude is entertainment. They've taken all the romance out of life."—Minta Durfee Arbuckle, Charlie Chaplin's first leading lady, in an interview on her 81st birthday.

"When I saw a recent announcement of your agency (National Science Foundation) on some of your grants and contract awards for such things as the 'Morphogenesis of Higher Fungi' and 'Tropic Niches for Neritic Microcrustacea,' along with one on 'Polymeric Solids Under Pressure,' my reaction was that these undoubtedly serve a high scientific purpose—but, what about holes in pantyhose?"—Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., chairman of the House subcommittee on consumer affairs, seeking some answers to a constituent's question.

"I worry far more about them getting caught thinking. The computer file with photographs of people who demonstrate, who stand up for what they believe in is far more frightening to me."—Janey Hart, wife of Sen. Philip A. Hart of Michigan, in an interview, in reply to a question as to whether she worries about politicians' children getting caught smoking marijuana.

"To look at one's-self isn't all honey and roses: People have to feel pretty beat to go into analysis."—Lucy Freeman, who wrote "Fight Against Fears," about her experience with psychotherapy.

"If I were really pushy about this job, men might resent me. But I'm not and I think they respect me for trying."—Sandra McConnel, 19, working her way through college as a school bus driver.

"Women should get in there and work and quit fooling around with this women's liberation thing."—Joy H. Burham, chairman of the women bankers of the Georgia Bankers Association.

"The goddess has been very kind to us. I shall continue to try to find her if it is hunanly possible. With her continued gracious support, we shall succeed."—Iris Cornelia Love, an archeologist searching for the statue of Aphrodite, the goddess of love.

Auto Insurance: On Way Up And Up . . .

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

BOSTON (AP) — To paraphrase J.P. Morgan, who was more concerned with yachts and their upkeep, "If you have to ask the cost of the insurance, you can't afford the car."

But today the high cost of auto insurance is a true discomfort to many Americans who find themselves paying two or three times the cost of the family buggy each year for legal protection on the road.

The situation is even worse for the youth under 25 who faces a $700 annual insurance bill for his $200 car, or for the man over 65 who may not be able to get insurance at all, and hence can't legally drive.

Every day, some 10,000 Americans are hurt on American roads. Each year, more than 55,000 die. For protection, the four out of every five American families who own cars buy auto insurance.

It costs them some $17 billion a year, only slightly under what they pay for new cars.

Auto insurance itself is a tacit admission that driving is risky, even for the careful. But the form of auto insurance is a unique turnabout in protection. It is aimed not at protecting the driver who buys it. It is aimed at protecting the others he may hurt.

As the price gets higher with each newly mended fender, each mended human body, legislators and lawyers are looking for a new protective philosophy of the road. Now the federal government has undertaken the most comprehensive look at auto safety and insurance ever attempted. And now at least one state—Massachusetts—has taken legislative steps to overturn—at least in this complex area of modern mechanized mayhem—the old common law principle that the party at fault must pay the bills.

How have costs risen? In 20 years—from 1950 to 1970—the U.S. Consumer Price index for medical care rose by 114.4 per cent. For automobile repairs, the rise was 83.1 per cent. Average insurance rates rose 94.7 per cent. But that alone does not account for dissatisfaction with the present insurance system.

Consider this New York study:

Fifty-six cents out of every premium dollar goes to the insurance companies and their agents as the overhead of providing insurance.

Of the 44 cents remaining, eight cents often pays for costs the auto victim has already received from another source, for example, his health insurance.

Almost 22 cents of every premium dollar pays for what is called pain and suffering. Sometimes these damages are real and justified, paying for the intangible results of a scarred face, or mangled arm, or lost kin, or for the psychic effects of that moment of terror and the pain that followed.

But too often pain and suffering is the frosting to induce the claimant to settle out of court for something less than the whole cake a jury might give him.

In the end, only some 15 cents out of every insurance dollar goes to pay for the actual net economic loss of the victim, what he is really out of pocket.

In a Massachusetts study of small claims, investigators found that insurance companies had paid out $190,000. But of that amount, $160,000 was for pain and suffering and only $30,000 was for real expenses of the victims.

Still another study, cited in the Department of Transportation investigation of auto insurance, holds that $2.20 in premiums must be paid for every dollar that goes to compensate victims. The overhead, says the study, is eaten up by insurance companies and legal fees.

In Massachusetts, where insurance rates are reputedly the highest in the nation and claims among the highest, state legislators were disturbed with one common practice. Insurance companies set their rates against the amount of money they paid out, sensibly enough. But they did not figure the amount they made in interest by investing the insurance dollars.

That, the legislators said, tended to encourage delays in payment. It also raised other questions. Is the insurance dollar the insurance company's sole property? Or is part of it to be considered a sum held in trust to pay for the insurance buyer's future liabilities? And if so, should not the insurance buyer share in the investment income from that fund?

The Transportation Department study includes a volume on consumer attitudes toward the insurance system. Most—65 per cent—said they were satisfied with their current insurance. Some 22 per cent said they were not.

Those who were satisfied said generally that the insurance was protective. But those who were dissatisfied were quite specific, citing high costs, fear of cancellation and delays in payment of claims.

The survey group also was asked preferences for a "no-fault" system or the present "fault" system.

Forty-four per cent responded favoring damages from their own insurance company and forfeiting the right to "pain and suffering" damages, regardless of which party was to fault. Thirty-six per cent said they preferred the current system, and 20 per cent offered no clear opinion.

Compulsory auto insurance is far from a universal fact of life in the United States. The result, says the federal study, is that almost half of the victims of serious accidents receive no compensation either from the other driver's insurance or from the driver himself.

And a quarter of those who suffer some personal injury in an auto accident receive no compensation from any source.

Prof. Joseph W. Bishop Jr. of the Yale University legal department, writing on constitutional questions in the "no-fault" system, cited as an argument against the current system based on fault: "The high cost of liability insurance under the present system means that it is out of reach of many persons, which means that some poor people, especially inhabitants of the inner city, are deprived of a means of transportation which would open up to them new and better employment opportunities.

The present fault system is also blamed for overloading court calendar with cases in which judges and juries are asked to assign negligence for the moment of the accident. That moment is frequently two to four years old when it arrives finally in court.

All of those elements and arguments conspired to bring "no-fault" to a head in Massachusetts this year, aided and abetted by the fact that the governorship was up in November and both Democrats and the incumbent Republican wanted it.

The result was a modified "no-fault" plan.

Junior Editors Quiz on BUTTERFLIES

QUESTION: What is the difference between a butterfly and a moth?

ANSWER: Moths and butterflies both belong to the important order of insects, the Pepidoptera, and resemble each other in many ways. Both are caterpillars in the larva stage and their is not general rule for distinguishing the moth caterpillars from the butterfly ones. But the adult insects, except for one group, the skippers, are quite different when they spread their wings. The butterfly usually flies by day. When they rest, butterflies nearly always fold their wings, holding them up over the back, (B). Their bodies are thin; the thin antennae end in a knob, (A). Butterfly caterpillars make a hard shell, or chrysalis, in which they pass the resting stage before they emerge with wings, (C). By contrast, the moth is a creature of dusk and darkness. He rests with the wings flat down. He has a thick tubby body and has wide feathery antennae. Moth caterpillars spin a silken case or cocoon. In general, butterflies have brighter and more jewel-like colors than moths, which generally are colored soft brown to gray.

Sunday Supper

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

A spicy cake ring to serve with fruit.

Chef's Salad Rolls
Ginger Cake Beverage

GINGER CAKE

1¼ cups sifted flour
¾ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon cloves
1 cup quick-cooking oats
2-3rd cup molasses
½ cup boiling water
1-3rd cup butter or margarine
2-3rd cup sugar
2 eggs

On a sheet of wax paper sift together the flour, soda, salt and spices. Stir together the oats, molasses and boiling water; cover and let stand 20 minutes. In a large mixing bowl cream butter and sugar; beat in eggs. Add oats mixture, blending well. Add flour mixture; blend well. Turn into a well-greased and floured 5-cup ring mold. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool on wire rack for 5 minutes; unmold. Serve warm with a can (1 pound and 14 ounces) sliced peaches, warmed, and top with sweetened whipped cream. Makes 8 servings.

Library Notes

Every so often—but not often enough—the publishing world does the right thing and introduces the reading public to a huge, panoramic novel which is so well written, so engrossing, the reader actually hates to finish it. "Rich Man, Poor Man" is one of those all too rare novels.

It is by far the best work Shaw has published in a very long time—the last to approach this high level being his fine 1948 novel, "The Young Lions." The fiction following that and before this latest novel generally was very good stuff indeed but not of the quality that marked the two widely separate novels as major works.

In his latest book, as he did in "The Young Lions;" Shaw again uses the threads of many lives to weave a rich verbal tapestry of our times. "Rich Man, Poor Man" begins as World War II is drawing to a close and ends with the 1970s drawing near.

This span of time is reflected through the lives of three persons, Randolph and Thomas Jordache and their sister, Gretchen. The children of an immigrant German baker, their early lives are spent in near poverty and it is their success in escaping this condition that makes up the bulk of Shaw's story.

Rudolph uses his brains to make it, Thomas uses his fists, and Gretchen uses her body. Their struggles to escape provide the opportunity for the author both to describe our times and to comment upon them. And Shaw, while never obvious, has plenty to say on such diverse subjects as the Vietnam war, the movie industry, the young, etc.

It's all fascinating, and it's too bad it all ends after only 723 pages.

Twentieth Century Club Meets Oct. 6

The Twentieth Century Club met at the Martha Ann Woman's Club for a regular meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 6.

Mrs. Guy Stoker, president, presided. After a short business meeting, the program "Environment is Safety in Driving," was presented by Mrs. J. Nelson Dunn, leader. She gave statistics about traffic fatalities in Texas on recent week-ends and then introduced State Police Officer, Wendell Rehm, who showed a film and answered questions during a safety quiz. The film produced by the Bell Telephone System, was titled "Anatomy of An Accident." It showed how Bell System vehicle drivers are constantly briefed on defensive driving. The three C's of which are, concentration, courtesy and control. Their safety record is outstanding. The film also showed how just one moment's carelessness can cause tragedy. Are the chances we take to save a few minutes time worth the risk?

Mrs. Charles Tyler was hostess for the meeting.

GIVE THE VOTE TO THE TEN YEAR OLDS

Hi! I'm independent.

I have my own allowance and my own bike and my own baby sister. I pick my own clothes, too. I go to this very grown-up place and Mommy comes along to pay for things. Sometimes she tries to make me try on kid things, but I always talk her out of it. You ought to take your mother to my favorite place. Then you can be independent, too.

Dinner For Four

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

Tart green apple gives this curry a refreshing tang.

New Bengal Curry Rice
Mango Chutney Salted Peanuts
Salad Bowl Melba Toast
Pineapple Cream Cake

NEW BENGAL CURRY

3 tablespoons butter
1 large onion, chopped (1 cup)
1 medium tart green apple, pared and seeded and chopped (1 cup)
2 fat cloves garlic, crushed
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons curry powder
1 can (6 ounces) chopped broiled mushrooms
3 tablespoons instant flour
2 chicken bouillon cubes dissolved in 2 cups boiling water
2 tablespoons tomato paste
1-3d cup flaked coconut
3 cups cubed cooked lamb

In a medium saucepan in the hot butter mix together the onion, apple, garlic, cinnamon, paprika and curry; add the mushrooms and their liquid. Simmer until liquid has almost evaporated and mixture is like a thick paste—about 15 minutes. Gradually stir the bouillon into the flour; add to curry mixture with tomato paste and coconut. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add lamb and reheat. Serve over cooked rice accompanied by mango chutney and salted peanuts. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Adding sherry to drained purple plums results in great flavor. You can use the leftover plum syrup in a cold drink.

GOOD DEFENSE — Snyder's Tigers played a good defensive game Friday night in Sweetwater, causing Mustang backs to fumble six times. Here, an unidentified Bengal brings down Sweetwater's John Houston. Coming up to lend a hand are Gary Jones (74), Mike Line (66) and Billy Kay (60). Despite the defensive heroics, the Mustangs won 7-0 as the Tigers were unable to sustain a drive across the goal line. (Photo by Eddie Bane)

Fumbling Sweetwater Stops Snyder, 7-0

SWEETWATER - The big Red-clad Mustangs looked like Santa Claus. They fumbled the ball six times and gave Snyder's Tigers every opportunity to score here in Mustang bowl Friday night, but the Tigers spurned these free gifts as Sweetwater sacked up a 7-0 verdict in the first district contest for both teams.

The only score was a 2-yard touchdown by Jack Brown, Pony fullback, with 2:30 remaining in the third quarter. It capped a 45-yard drive. Garry Smith, who hurt the Bengals with his running last year, switched from linebacker to fullback in this drive and he added some valuable yardage along with fleet-footed John Houston, a halfback.

Snyder penetrated Sweetwater's 10-yard line once in the first quarter and twice in the second quarter without mustering a scoring punch. try as they might, the Tigers simply couldn't get into the end zone.

Their first good opportunity occurred early in the second frame when Billy Kay recovered a Pony bobble at the Sweetwater 25. A pass, Butch Buchanan to Glenn January, three runs by Stewart Sims and one carry by Buchanan advanced the line of scrimmage to the six, but a fourth down pass fell incomplete and the Mustangs took over.

Snyder threatened three times in the fourth quarter. After a punt, the Tigers drove from their 35 to the Sweetwater 35 on a pass from Buchanan to Bill Wilson, a sweep around right end by Buchanan, and a run by Sims. But Butch was thrown for a loss trying to pass again, and the Tigers punted out short to the 25.

Sweetwater ran one play then fumbled and the Black and Gold took over at the Pony 25. Glenn January recovered the ball. Sims gained 16 yards to the four in three carries, but two passes fell incomplete to halt the drive.

This time, Sweetwater fumbled at the 20. Gary Patterson pounced on the ball for the Bengals as another opportunity opened. On first down, Buchanan passed 10 yards to Bill Wilson at the 10. On first down again, Jackie Murray plunged to the seven to set up second and goal. But the Tigers drew a five yard penalty. Sims carried next, reaching the four-yard line. Buchanan failed to gain on an end run, then Sims took a pitch out and made it to the two before he was bounced down. Sweetwater had held again. Whether by air or overland the Bengals just could not cross the goal line.

Snyder muffed two other opportunities in the first quarter. Recovering a fumble at the Pony 37, they drove to the 21 before running out of steam. Larry Wall attempted a field goal, but the ball fell short and wide to the right.

The Tigers held and forced Sweetwater to punt. Taking over at their 45, they drove to the Sweetwater 31 before losing possession on an incomplete fourth down pass. Wall attempted another field goal, but the ball was wide of the target again.

There were other opportunities with the same result: no score. Buchanah completed an 11-yard aerial to January at the Snyder 47, then an interference call gave Snyder possession at the Sweetwater 32 in the second quarter, but incomplete passes halted the drive.

A short six yard punt gave Snyder possession late in the third quarter at the Mustang 35. A 4-yard penalty pushed the locals back to the 40. Then Buchanan lost a yard and Sims gained three. On fourth down, Snyder tried a pass, but it missed the target.

That's the story of the game: muffed opportunities by Snyder. Sweetwater had only two real scoring opportunities. They fumbled away the first, but they cashed in on the second one.

Total offense was about even. Snyder collected 123 yards rushing compared with 135 for Sweetwater. However, Snyder held the edge in passing yardage, connecting on 7 of 19 for 41 yards. Sweetwater completed only one of six for 19 yards.

Stewart Sims was the leading rusher, getting 90 yards on 25 carries. Garry Smith collected 48 yards for Sweetwater on 12 rushes.

Next week, the Tigers entertain Brownfield in Tiger Stadium.

Top Pilots Paths Cross

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sparky Anderson figured Earl Weaver wouldn't remember him from their minor league days.

Sure enough, the Baltimore manager couldn't recall them being in the same league for one season as the two pilots prepared their teams for the opening World Series baseball game today.

"We were both second basemen in the Western League in 1964," Reds pilot Anderson said of his rival. "I doubt if he remembers me."

Anderson played second for Pueblo while Weaver played the same position for Denver 16 years ago.

There are many parallels between the two. They both served long apprenticeships in the minors.

Timothy T Captures Race

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Timothy T., deprived of victory in the first heat when an accident ahead of him forced him to break stride, captured the next two heats decisively to win the $76,351 Kentucky Futurity.

The victory Friday gave Timothy T. the third leg of trotting's Triple Crown.

Driver John Simpson Jr. held the son of Triple Crown winner Aryes off the pace in both of the final heats and made his move at the turn for home. Timothy T. then sailed past the leaders, turning in good times — 1:59 4-5 for the second mile and 2:00 2-5 for the third.

Garrett Claypool's Paris Air, another 3-year-old son of Ayres, got the cictory in the first heat in 2:01 1-5 as well as over-all runner-up honors. He was third and second in the other two, with Joe O'Brien in the sulky.

Gil Hanover, with Billy Haughton driving, was third in the opening heat; fourth in the second and withdrawn in the third. Luther Hanover, driven by George Sholty, salvaged third in the finale after finishing 11th and eighth.

Gridiron Revelers Abound In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Oklahoma football fans, lured across the Red River by visions of Cotton Bowl victory, joined with University of Texas rooters Friday night to stir up a dust storm of merriment in downtown Dallas.

When the dust had settled, some 600 persons were in the Dallas pokey—"about 98 per cent drunk and disorderly," said a Dallas police lieutenant who added, "we've still got room for more."

At 3 a.m. Saturday police said they had arrested 299 persons and county officers had jailed 291 more.

"Most of the arrests were for drunkenness and liquor violations by minors," said Bob Shaw of the Dallas Police Department.

"They're all paying $25 fines and getting out of jail for the football game," said the lieutenant. "Most of them are under 25 years old. They manage to scare up the money somewhere."

"We're letting them out soon as they pay the fine and sober up," said one officer.

The traditional eve of celebration before the Texas-Oklahoma University game is greeted with mixed emotion. This year's revelry got off to a sluggish start but by 10 p.m. Friday there seemed to be no doubt that 1970 would not be an off year.

Police said there were few fights and auto accidents although as late as 3 a.m. dozens of cars with blaring horns continued to growl through the downtown section.

At the peak of the merrymaking, vast crowds of pedestrians strolled and staggered along the streets drinking and cheering for their favorite team.

Bars, lounges, beer joints, cafes and liquor stores reported standing room only crowds. Most liquor stores and several downtown cafes closed their doors rather than deal with the overflow crowds.

Downtown businessnen boarded their show windows.

A law enforcement army of police, sheriff's deputies and state police was on duty for crowd control. They barricaded streets to keep traffic flowing in more orderly fashion.

The river of people flowed mostly in and around the Baker and Adolphous Hotels in the heart of the city. A band tooted its music from a fourth floor Baker Hotel window while those imbibing on the siewalks sloshed their beverages on each other.

"We're having a hard time collecting for some of the food we've dished out," lamented one cafe cachier.

Shortly after the celebrants' numbers swelled to such large proportions, a new, sporty-looking car on Commerce Street burst into flame.

Its occupants remained inside the car while smoke and flame belched from beneath the hood and near the rear wheels. At last the blaze died. No one appeared to be injured.

One attractive miss, wearing a chic pants suit, and with a drink in her hand, stopped briefly on the sidewalk. She grinned coyly.

"Beat the hell out of Texas," she said.

Across town sirens cried, a bugle was playing the cavalry charge, cash registers sang.

Williams, Washington Obtain Denny McLain

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — Denny McLain, controversial pitcher, gun-carrier, water-thrower, was back in baseball's good graces today—and in Ted Williams' iron grasp.

The two-time Cy Young Award winner climbed back into baseball's official fold when he was reinstated Friday by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn after a satisfactory explanation of his gun-carrying episode and a psychiatric examination that determined he "is not ill."

He wound up in Williams' corral when a major eight-player trade between Washington and Detroit, contingent on McLain's clean bill of baseball and mental health, placed the 26-year-old right-hander in the grip of the tough Senators' manager.

Williams, who will now have to deal with baseball's most prominent bad boy, was not at the major press conference announcing the trade on the eve of the World Series opener. But Washington owner Bob Short left no doubt about his ability to keep McLain in line.

"Ted likes McLain and feels he can manage him," said Short. "There isn't anyone Ted can't handle—and that includes me."

The Tigers' price for McLain was the left side or Washington's infield—third baseman Aurelio Rodriguez and shortstop Ed Brinkman—plus pitchers Joe Coleman and Jim Hannan. Packaged off to Washington with McLain were third baseman Don Wert, infielder-outfielder Elliott Maddox and pitcher Norm McRae.

But the announcement of McLain's reinstatement not only dwarfed that trade but overshadowed events leading to Saturday's opening World Series game between the Baltimore Orioles and Cincinnati Reds.

And it contained several interesting revelations—the admission by McLain that he had carried a gun, that he had undertaken psychiatric examination—and that he still will be on probation when he goes to work for Williams.

In Tampa, McLain called the deal "a chance to start over. I enjoyed playing for Detroit. Now I'm going to play against them. I know Bob Short and, although I've only met Williams once, I've always admired him.

"McLain said he had purchased the gun for use by his wife at home when he was on road trips," said Kuhn. "Denny said he had taken the gun on the road trip on the pretense of showing it to a teammate.

"He admitted he carried it in his luggage and also admitted showing it in a restaurant. This is the kind of flamboyance that has characterized him in the past."

McLain's explanation for carrying the gun on a Detroit road trip Aug. 6-19 had been one of the missing parts in the puzzle that had existed since Sept. 9 when Kuhn suspended him for that indiscretion, and following a water-throwing incident in which he had doused two Dektroit writers. McLain earlier had been suspended for associating with gamblers.

McLain told his version of the gun incident to Kuhn Thursday at Newark, N.J., Airport after flying up from his Lakeland, Fla., home. That satisfied Kuhn about the key issue still hanging over McLain's head.

Kuhn also said that one of the conditions of McLain's instatement was that he undergo psychiatric tests—and that condition also had been fulfilled.

"For three days McLain underwent tests from three eminent psychiatrists," Kuhn revealed. "Afterwards, one of the psychiatrists wrote to me that 'I do not see any reason that McLain should undertake psychiatric tests. He is not ill. There is no need for such treatment.'"

At the same time, the psychiatrists also wrote that "McLain was subject to emotional stress from his various involvements."

Kuhn said Short had undertaken talks with Detroit ona McLain trade at the beginning of the season, had continued them at the All-Star game and had concluded the deal during the American League playoffs at Baltimore.

To get McLain, Short gave up two slick fielders in Rodriguez and Brinkman. Rodriguez, a 22-year-old right-handed batter, is considered one of the most promising young infielders in the American League and hit .249 with 19 home runs this past season.

Brinkman, 29, hit .262. Coleman, 23, had an 8-12 record with a .358 earned run average and Hannan, 30, was 9-11 with a 4.01 ERA.

Wert, 32, batted .218, and Maddox, 21, hit .248 in his rookie year. McRae, 23, was 6-11 in 44 games at Toledo and was 0-0 with a 3.19 ERA in 19 relief appearances with Detroit.

McLain posted only three victories against five losses with a 4.65 ERA. He appeared in only 14 games between suspensions and his entire playing season actually consisted of only 58 paying and playing days. The latest suspension was estimated by Kuhn as costing McLain $11,000 in salary.

UH Student Suspended

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Randall Chapman, a member of the student senate at the University of Houston, was suspended for an indefinite period Friday for allegedly leading the demonstration at UH this week against Gov. Preston Smith.

Smith was booed and heckled when he attempted to speak before about 1,500 persons at the school. He left without delivering his address.

Cougars Clip Cards

CHRISTOVAL — The host Cougars chewed the Hermleigh Cardinals 44-14 here Friday night in a non-district six-man football contest.

Randy Roemisch collected both of Hermleigh's touchdowns, going across from the one in the first period and running 40 yards in the last quarter.

Bud Kimzey added two bonus points following the first Cardinal score.

The man of the hour for Christoval was James Spencer. He scored on touchdown runs of 75, 2, 30, 5, and 10 yards.

Stephen Bell scored two touchdowns on runs of two yards each. Elmer Stone added two points after one of the touchdowns.

Falcons Could Beat Cowboys

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP)—The Atlanta Falcons could get their first victory in National Football League history over Dallas Sunday unless the Cowboy quarterbacking situation comes alive.

Cowboy coach Tom Landry has been yanking quarterbacks like a baseball manager in an attempt to get the once-feared Cowboy attack on the track.

Dallas nearly suffered its first shutout ever in the regular season in a 20-7 loss to St. Louis last week and the offense barely had enough steam to outlast Philadelphia and the New York Giants.

Landry, who went with Roger Staubach as the starting quarterback in the first three games, has now switched to Craig Morton.

Experience is the reason. Staubach is a two-year man and Morton has six years in the league.

Morton has had problems throwing since he suffered a shoulder separation last year against these same Falcons in a Cowboy victory.

"Craig is throwing the ball good again," Landry said. "He is now the definite starter. If we substitute for him that doesn't mean he won't start the next game. We need to get the offense moving and Craig's going to have his chance."

And Landry added "I think we will play very well this Sunday . . . I just have a feeling they will."

The Falcons are 2-1 like the Cowboys and are 0-3 against Dallas in their all-time series.

Atlanta coach Norm Van Brocklin doesn't have Landry's man-under problem. Van Brocklin's quarterback is redhot, hitting on 17 of 32 passes for 217 yards and three touchdowns last week in a 21-20 victory over San Francisco.

It was the third consecutive heart-stopper for Atlanta, causing Van Brocklin to comment: "It looks like it's going to be that kind of year."

Paint Creek Nips Hobbs

PAINT CREEK — Paint Creek nudged Hobbs 36-30 here Friday night with Mike Brazell scoring four touchdowns for the hosts.

Mike Hull passed seven yards to Robert Molano for Hobbs' first touchdown in the first quarter.

Still in the first quarter, John Ed Martinez and Jerry Gordon tackled a Paint Creek back in the end zone for a 2-point safety. Martinez also kicked for two two-point bonuses after each of the first two touchdowns.

The second touchdown resulted from a 75 yard run by Raul Aguilar in the second quarter. Aguilar also scored on a six yard romp in the third frame. Martinez took a pass from Aguiar and scored in the fourthquarter with the run and pass play covering 28 yards.

Lueders Pounds Bulldogs 46-20

LUEDERS — Host Lueders-Avoca pounded Ira 46-20 here Friday night in a non-district Six-Man football skirmish.

Billy Payne collected two of Ira's touchdowns, and he also scored a couple of two-point conversion kicks.

Gene Davis, however, was the outstanding back of the game, crossing the goal four times for Lueders.

Gail Flails Sterling City

STERLING CITY — The Gail Coyotes flailed Sterling City 50-20 in a District 3-B Eight-Man gridiron contest.

Charles Billeck scored five touchdowns for Gail. Gary Williams also scored a touchdown for the Coyotes, and Jimmy Hodge took a pass from Rick Hendley for another one.

Hendley was successful on two conversion attempts while Hodge and Billeck each collected bonus points once.

Prep Powers Come Through

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas schoolboy football was almost upset free Friday night as teams ranked in The Associated Press' poll came through as expected.

The only surprise in Class 4-A was seventh-ranked San Antonio Lee's 36-36 tie with Seguin. There were no shockers in Class 3-A and only eighth-ranked Tomball lost 20-18 to Friendswood in Class 2-A. Class A teams rolled on without upset.

Wichita Falls, top-ranked Class 4-A club, had a tough time in defeating tough Highland Park 21-7 which was ranked ninth in the poll. Second-ranked Odessa Permian clubbed Abilene 34-15, third-ranked Port Arthur Jefferson mashed Beaumont Forest Park 54-6, fourth-ranked Austin Reagan tripped Austin Johnston 28-8, and fifth-ranked LaMarque mangled Baytown Sterling 48-12. Sixth-ranked Killeen drilled Cleburne 19-0. Eighth-ranked Dallas South Oak Cliff won 40-7 Thursday night over Dallas Sunset. The 10th-ranked team, Beaumont Charlton-Pollard, was idle.

Ennis' mighty Lions, top-ranked Class 3-A team, roared past Fort Worth Castleberry 61-20, second-ranked Jasper nicked Bridge City 25-17, third-ranked Brownwood ripped Wichita Falls Hirschi 37-0, fourth-ranked Monahans handled Pecos 21-0, fifth-ranked Brenham blanked Huntsville 17-0, sixth-ranked Daingerfield whipped Gilmer 18-6, seventh-ranked Lamesa gouged Lubbock Dunbar 19-6 and eighth-ranked Jacksonville was idle. Ninth-ranked Dumas edged Phillips 21-20 while 10-th-ranked Fort Worth Brewer beat Everman 12-0.

In Class AA, top-rated Iowa Park outscored Stamford 66-22, second-ranked Refugio licked La Grange 49-0, third-ranked Eastland scalped Comanche 57-0, fourth-ranked Mart riddled Madisonville 28-0, fifth-ranked Floydada flogged Morton 54-0, sixth-ranked Kirbyville clobbered Kelley 61-0, seventh-rated Granbury demolished Midlothian 39-14, ninth-rated Dalhart clubbed Lamar, Colo., 41-12 and Giddings gunned down Smithville 33-6.

In Class A, No. 1 Poth lambasted Laredo Nixon 54-0, second-rated White Deer whittled Claude 26-0, third-rated Albany attacked Anson 22-0, fourth-rated White Oak wiped out Spring Hill 34-0, fifth-rated Seagraves sank Stanton 58-0, sixth-rated Three Rivers squeezed past Falls City 6-0, seventh-ranked Sonora slashed Rankin 40-20, eighth-ranked Barvers Hill shaved Warren 53-8 and ninth-ranked San Augustine beat Hemphill 36-14.

Lamesa Rips Dunbar

State-ranked Lamesa kept up its pace Friday night with a 19-6 victory over Lubbock Dunbar to lead District 3-AAA teams into conference action.

The Tors took a narrow, 7-6, lead in the first half and then really lowered the boom on the Panthers.

Elsewhere, the surprising Brownfield Cubs continued to roll, spoiling Lake View'a homecoming with a 30-7 conference victory. Estacado easily shut out Colorado City, 2-0, while Sweetwater had a happy homecoming, nipping Snyder, 7-0.

Lamesa takes its perfect record to Sweetwater this week for a Friday night battle, while Brownfield brings its unblemished mark into Tiger Stadium to meet the Snyder High team. Lake View will be at Colorado City to rund out the Friday night schedule. Dunbar will be the host team as it faces Estacado in an all-Lubbock engagement on Saturday.

Willie Davis Sees Big Salary Problems

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Davis, former all-star defensive end for the Green Bay Packers, predicts that individual salary disputes threaten to become a major problem for pro football and that a "can-you-top-this attitude" exists among some of the game's top stars.

"Unless some kind of guidelines are established that everyone accepts some cure-all, I wouldn't be surprised to see salary negotiations become a major problem every year," says Davis, who has left the Packers for a job as a color man for NBC-TV's pro football telecasts.

Noting the contract disputes that have revolved this season around such stars as Joe Kapp, Jim Nance and Bob Hayes, Davis points out that what all players want "is an equitable share or a fair share of revenues—and that's the whole hang-up because it's a subjective evaluation.

"But there is a certain type of can-you-top-this-attitude among some players. They've been told by the media how important they are and they go into negotiations thinking about how to justify that without being the highest paid guy."

"It's a pride and ego thing too. Some players play out their options, but only a certain amount of option play outs are realistic before it starts to rock the boat. The fans and players both suffer because of that so you can't allow it in the long run.

"If every year there are seven to 10 players sitting it out, it will quickly develop into a bad situation."

Kapp, the Minnesota Vikings' quarterback, is one star currently sitting it out after playing out his option and becoming a free agent. His reported asking price is $1.25 million on a five-year contract.

Davis points out that any player who adopts a can-you-top-this attitude is likely to be labeled selfish by his teammates at a certain point in negotiations and said if management were to accede to unrealistic demands it could create a morale factor on the team.

"The initial position on any team is that no one can hold it against a guy trying to get all he's worth," Davis said. "But then the pendulum swings. Eventually those who feel the player's input could contribute to the success of everybody see him as selfish.

"Players who are asking unusual amounts or asking to set precedents are unrealistic. A club has to look at the morale factor. Besides it must be a problem for the club to meet some demands if they're so rigid and will let a star sit out the season."

Davis couldn't put his finger on any precise solution to the dilemma but did say the starting point might be an opening of every club's books and an attempt to reach an average player payroll for a team within whose framework the 40 men on the roster would negotiate.

"Maybe the answer is in ascertaining what is an average that can be paid by most clubs, even though some may be taxed," said Davis. "Let's say it's a payroll of $800,000—then it's the club's responsibility to get all its players signed within that figure.

"But that way it would have to be an open proposition with the club's opening their books. Right now the clubs are private corporations and don't have to do that.

"But we need some guidelines."

Undefeated Teams Play

The NFL's three unbeaten teams—Los Angeles, Detroit and Denver—will play Sunday when there are 11 games scheduled, while Green Bay will play at San Diego Monday night in a nationally televised game starting at 9 p.m., EDT.

Sunday's schedule has San Francisco at Los Angeles, Detroit at Washington, Denver at Oakland, Baltimore at Houston, Boston at Kansas City, Buffalo at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati at Cleveland, Atlanta at Dallas, Minnesota at Chicago, New Orleans at St. Louis and Philadelphia at the New York Giants.

The Jets' Joe Namath, the league's leading passer, figures to be under greater pressure than usual with hard-running Matt Snell out for the season with a ruptured Achilles tendon suffered in the 34-31 upset loss to Buffalo last Sunday. Lee White will take over for Snell.

Miami, off to the best start in its history, will again count on the quarterbacking of Bob Griese and a defense that held Oakland without a touchdown until the final minute of the game.

San Francisco rides into Los Angeles on the arm of John Brodie. Brodie's passing was great in the 49ers two victories and it was good in last Sunday's 21-20 loss to Atlanta. Another top passing effort by Brodie could shove the 49ers into a first-place tie with the Rams in the Western Division of the National Conference.

Greg Landry will try to move the Detroit offense in place of Bill Munson, who has an injured knee, while the Lions' defense will have the task of stopping the passing of Washington's Sonny Jurgensen.

Quarterback Daryle Lamonica will try to get stumbling Oakland into the victory column against a Denver team fresh from an upset of Kansas City. Denver, off to its best start ever, has not allowed a touchdown by passing this season.

Rotan Hits Wylie 34-7

ABILENE — Rotan's Yellowhammers walloped Abilene Wylie 34-7 in a Class AA football tussle here Friday night.

Mickey Early went one yard in the second quarter for Rotan's first touchdown.

Walter Hargrove went 17 yards around end in the third period for the second touchdown, and he also kicked the extra point. Late in the third quarter,, Hargrove scored again on a one yard plunge.

Rotan scored a two point safety to get the fourth quarter to rolling. Then Steve Nowlin went 16 yards and Hank Day went 14 yards for touchdowns. Hargrove kicked point after the last score.

Wylie got its only touchdown on a 76 yard pass and run play from quarterback Dale Doby to Larry Brown. Bobby McMinn's extra point kick gave the hosts a 7-6 first half advantage, which quickly dissipated in the second half.

Ice Kings Set Record

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — For a while it seemed as though the Los Angeles Kings were picking right up where they left off last season. Then Ross Lonsberry and Bob Barry spokled everything for Vancouver's new Canucks.

The Kings, who spent the National Hockey League's 76-game 1969-70 season by setting a record with 52 defeats, could do no better than play one of the league's two new entries to a scoreless tie in the first period of Friday night's NHL opener.

That, plus a sufficient amount of roughhouse play, had Vancouver's 15,062 hopeful fans in an uproar.

Bill Vestal, petroleum consultant, will be the speaker for the National Security Management Course at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the West Texas State Bank community room.

The course is being conducted by the 4186th U.S. Army Reserve School from Lubbock, and the class coordinator is Col. W. J. Schiebel.

Vestal has been actively connected with the Canyon Reef fields in various engineering positions since 1952. He was district engineer for Lion Oil Company (Monsanto) at the Diamond M unit from 1952 to 1956. He was Sacroc Unit reservoir engineer from 1958 to 1968. Currently, he is an independent consulting petroleum engineer.

Vestal is a graduate of Ouachita Baptist College at Arkadelphia, Ark., and he also is a graduate of the niversity of Oklahoma. He served in the U. S. Army as a radio intelligence officer during World War II.

Officers Are Elected By SC District

Milam C. Fowler was re-elected Director of Zone 2 of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District last Monday night. Zone 2 is all the land in Scurry County west of Highway 84 and the Roundtop road and south to the Colorado River. Fowler, who farms 3½ miles northeast of Union, has been a district director for 10 years and has served as chairman of the board for several years.

The election was held at the Union Community Center and was attended by a large number of landowners and their wives. In addition to the election, Von Kleibrink, District Conservationist with the Snyder-SCS office, presented a movie on soil and water conservation.

A meeting of the Upper Colorado SWCD Board of Directors was held after the election. Officers for the coming year were selected. Walter C. Stirl was re-elected chairman of the board and Carl Williams was re-ejected secretary-treasurer. Von Kleibrink also submitted to the board a written report of the Snyder SCS Work Unit activities for the month of September. During the month, the Snyder SCS assisted four landowners and operators in becoming new cooperators with the district, two new conservation plans were developed, five conservation plans were brought up to date and revised, four applications for the Great Plains conservation program were received, 19,610 feet of standard terraces were applied, 64,653 feet of parallel terraces were applied, and eight farm ponds were constructed.

You . . . Under The Ocean Blue?

(Third of three parts: Careers in Oceanography)

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

If you're looking for a whale of a sail into an interesting career, oceanography may be the ship to 'ahoy'! A look at the numbers shows the most recent count of oceanographers and related technical personnel is 5,800. About 3 out of 4 oceanographers are engaged in research and development. Others teach in colleges and universities. A few are technical writers, consultants and administrators of activities other than research. Here's how oceanographers ...

WALK THE PLANKTON. Most work part of the time on ships during voyages lasting from a few days to several months. A few oceanographers work nearly all of the time aboard ship; others — such as ocean engineers — may plumb the depths in submersible diving equipment. On the other hand, some oceanographers never go to sea, but analyze data collected by other scientists or pursue mathematical or theoretical studies ashore.

About 80 percent of oceanographers are employed by the Federal government and colleges and universities. Major Federal hirers of oceanographers include the Naval Oceanographic Office, the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, and the Environmental Science Services Administration (ESSA). A growing number of oceanographers work in private industry for firms which design and develop instruments and vehicles for oceanographic research. A few work for fishery labs of State and local governments.

PURSER-STRINGS. Because working for ESSA substitutes for military service, so many clamor to be hired that the inexperienced bachelor's degree holder usually starts at the GS-5 level, $6,548. Those with some naval-ocean experience may start at GS-6, $7,294, or GS-7, $8,098. Nearly 70 percent of ESSA oceanographers earn between $11,905 - $25,538, about 12 percent earn between $22,885-35,505.

WAVE OF THE FUTURE? Authority Odom Fanning (author of "Opportunities in Oceanographic Careers," published by Vocational Guidance Manuals, 235 E. 45th St., New York, N.Y. 10017, $1.95 paperback edition) doubts that anyone can accurately measure the number of persons who will be employed in the marine world of the future. There are too many variables, such as national policy, the economy, and the pace of technical development.

However, assuming adequate national funding is provided reasonably soon, and that the private sector finds ever greater markets and profit opportunities in ocean endeavors, Fanning finds it reasonable to conclude that there may be a total of 100,000 oceanographers in the U.S. by 1980. The details of his projection, which is as good as any forecast I've seen, are contained in his book.

Further, although the oceanography program is underactive now, Fanning sees an encouraging sign in President Nixon's reorganization plan which he recently sent to the Congress. The plan would establish a National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Agency as recommended by the Stratton Commission (a Presidential study group), but would place the new agency within the U.S. Department of Commerce. "With this new agency, and the charge which the President has given it in his executive order, we have the first real encouragement of the past 5 years that our (oceanographic) goals can be met. I am highly optimistic about the future for oceanography," Fanning told me.

For my 1-page resource sheet containing addresses where you may write for more information on oceanography, send a stamped, self-addressed long white envelope, and 15 cents for materials and handling, to Joyce Lain at this newspaper. Write "Sea" on the corner of your outside envelope please.

"THE BOATNIKS" — One can expect almost anything to happen in Newport Harbor, the busiest small boat basin in the world, in this scene from Walt Disney Productions' riotous new comedy "The Boatniks," story of the trials and tribulations of the U.S. Coast Guard in dealing with the weekend yachtsman. The film, directed by Norman Tokar with second unit photography by Art Vitarelli, stars Robert Morse, Stefanie Powers and Phil Silvers and co-stars Normal Fell, Mickey Shaughnessy, Wally Cox and Don Ameche as Commander Taylor. In color by Technicolor, "The Boatniks" was produced by Ron Miller for Buena Vista release. Starts Sunday, Oct. 18 at the Tiger.

Volpe Orders Air Charter Industry Probe

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sweeping investigation of the air charter industry and the way it is supervised by the Federal Aviation Administration was ordered Friday by Secretary of Transportation John Volpe even as the FAA grounded more planes in the wake of the 30-death Wichita State disaster.

New developments continued to come to light a week after the Oct. 2 crash of a leased twin-engine plane in Colorado killed 13 Wichita football players and other persons accompanying them to a game.

Here were the highlights:

—Volpe, bypassing the FAA, ordered Adm. Willard J. Smith, assistant secretary of transportation for safety and consumer affairs, "to conduct this in-depth investigation and spare no effort, time or resources in determining the true condition of every chartered operation in the United States. He also will examine FAA regulations governing charter operations with a view toward correcting any deficiency which may be discovered."

—The FAA, reversing its previous statements, said it had indeed warned Golden Eagle Aviation Inc., whose crew flew the fatal flight, against operating large aircraft. but the official in Oklahoma City whom the FAA said issued the warning contradicted his Washington colleagues and said he hadn't contacted Golden Eagle for nearly a year.

—The FAA grounded two more Martin 404s which originally were in a lot of 14 aircraft along with the plane that crashed. On Thursday, it had grounded all planes known to be owned by Jack Richards Aviation Co., Inc., which had purchased the lot in 1968 and subsequently sold some of them..

One of the newly grounded planes, said FAA officials in Kentucky, was used last month to carry the Murray State University football team of Murray, Ky., to a game at Fairfield, Iowa.

A state official said the plane was provided by Louisville Air Taxi, Inc.

The FAA said it didn't yet know whether the Louisville firm had a sufficient passenger license to operate such a flight.

In the Wichita disaster, the university leased the plane from Richards and obtained the crew from Golden Eagle. The FAA called this a facade to avoid regulations governing passenger carriers and it revoked Golden Eagle's flight certifications for operating a plane too large for its authorization.

The other plane grounded Friday is owned by Aeroleasing Corp., a Michigan firm which bought it from Richards nearly two years ago. The plane carried Wichita State players to College Station, Tex., in September under an arrangement handled by Richards, who was minding the plane at the time. Aeroleasing said its plane passed an FAA-supervised annual maintenance inspection last spring.

Adm. Smith, who was confirmed for his job just this week and won't be sworn in until Monday, said the air charter probe will begin as soon as possible. He said it will be staffed by "a task force of people competent to examine this from various areas of the department."

An Associated Press sampling of colleges and universities across the country showed that most avoid charter flights with unscheduled airlines or dealings with firms such as those involved in the Wichita State crash.

The bulk of schools said they use commercial flights or charters arranged through large, scheduled airlines. But a few schools—Arkansas State University, Weber State of Utah and the University of Montana, for example—on occasion use charter flights of nonscheduled airlines.

If Department of Transportation probers check with Northern Arizona University, they'll hear of two unsettling experiences it had last year on nonscheduled charters:

In September, a Vance International charter DC7B with 87 aboard had an engine catch fire on takeoff from Flagstaff, Ariz. The pilot feathered both engines on that wing and landed safely. The team took off again the next morning in the same plane.

In November, another Vance charter had an engine go out en route to Fresno, Calif. It stopped in Las Vegas for repairs. Coach John Symank said, "After about nine hours of waiting for those 'minor repairs,' we took off again, did a 360-degree turn and landed. The No. 2 prop was still feathered." The team eventually got to Fresno the next day.

This year, Northern Arizona's only flight is on a charter from a scheduled airline.

McGovern Wants To Try Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, who made an unsuccessful try for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1968, is interested in another attempt.

McGovern said Friday he will await results of the Nov. 3 congressional elections before deciding whether to make another try for the White House in 1972. "I'm very interested in it, and a person with limited funds in a small political base like me can't wait until the last minute," McGovern said in an interview of the Capitol Cloakroom radio program.

Five Wells Drilled In Texas

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' wildcat oil well drilling was concentrated completely in South and Central Texas this past week, the Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

The commission said three wildcat oil wells were drilled in San Antonio No. 1 district and two in San Antonio No. 2 district, hiking the yearly total for the state to 269, or 18 fewer than at this time a year ago.

Seven wildcat gas wells were drilled during the past week, including four in the Corpus Christi district, two in San Antonio No. 1 district and one in San Antonio No. 2.

That raised the total for the year to 428, or 46 fewer wildcat gas wells than a year ago.

The commission said 50 oil wells and 38 gas wells were completed during the past week, raising the yearly totals to 3,979 oil wells—46 more than a year ago—and 1,483 gas wells, or 394 fewer than a year ago.

A total of 143 wells were plugged during the week, including 52 dry holes.

State Traffic Toll Lower

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas traffic accidents have killed 2,526 persons so far this year, compared with 2,593 at this time in 1969, the Department of Public Safety reported Saturday.

Fatal accidents this year total 2,094, compared with 2,118 for the same period last year.

Marcello's Term Is Reduced

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A federal judge here Friday reduced the two-year prison term of reputed New Orleans Mafia boss Carlos Marcello, 60, to six months and two years of probation.

Marcello was convicted here in 1968 of striking an FBI agent in 1966 at the New Orleans airport. At that time U.S. Dist. Judge John V. Singleton gave him the two year term, the maximum.

Earlier this year, Marcello asked for a new trial, saying he had evidence that FBI agents had set up the confrontation at the airport to entrap him.

Marcello has contended that he thought the agent was a newsman taking his picture.

African Queen Up For Sale

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — The original African Queen, ancient 30-foot boat made famous by actor Humphrey Bogart who towed it through leech-infested waters in a movie of the same name, is up for sale.

The dilapidated metal-hulled craft, brought from Africa in 1967 by its present owner, Frederick Reeve of Marinwood, now rests on blocks at a San Rafael boat yard,

Built in 1912, the boat was used for river runs in Africa for nearly half a century before film maker John Huston spotted it and used it in his film. The boat then returned to river runs until brought here.

Flower Talk

By
HERSHEL HINSHAW

THE ASTER,
STAR FLOWER

Someone has said that flowers should all be named by poets.

The Aster, the stately flower of such dignified beauty, is a native of China. Their name, however, is derived from the Greek word "astra" for star. The attractive flowers range in color from white to dark purple.

Because these flowers bloom at the time of the feast of Michaelmas, they are known in England as Michaelmas Daisies.

Whatever this flower is called, it is still beautiful. All our flowers are beautiful, and we arrange them especially for you—to fill your order.

Wholesale Prices Increase

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spurred by a 6 per cent hike in the cost of fuel and electric power, wholesale prices climbed one-half of one per cent last month, indicating more trouble for Nixon administration hopes of stopping the worst inflation in 20 years.

The increase was the third largest this year, exceeded by a jump of six-tenths of one per cent in July and eight-tenths in January. One effect is expected to be higher grocery prices.

The increase raised the government's Wholesale Price Index to 117.8, meaning wholesalers paid an average of $117.80 last month for goods which cost them $100 in the 1957-59 base period.

The index, one of several indicators of the nation's economy, was 3.7 per cent above the September 1969 figure but the rise during the month was below the 4.8 per cent annual increase that had prevailed early this year.

However, the increase during September more than exceeded the four-tenths of one per cent drop in August, the first decline in three years.

The report released Friday by the Bureau of Labor Statistics said a preliminary expectation of a four-tenths hike for September had been wiped out by higher-than-forecast prices for food and industrial raw materials.

When the index dropped in August and the cost of living rose by only two-tenths of one per cent, White House officials had indicated progress was being made in the battle against inflation.

But Friday's report said farm products rose 3.3 per cent in September, indicating higher prices for groceries in the near future.

The wholesale price of industrial raw materials jumped three-tenths of one per cent during the month. In addition to the cost of fuels, major increases included 3.3 per cent for pulp and paper products, 3.2 per cent for rubber and plastic, 2 per cent for chemicals and six-tenths of one per cent for textiles and clothing.

Declines were noted in prices of lumber and wood—2.3 per cent—and of hides, skins, leather and shoes, down seven-tenths of one per cent.

New Bell Is Heavier

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — When someone steals a Navy bell, there are bound to be repercussions.

Anyone intending to steal the new bell had better bring a derrick. It weighs 292 pounds.
