Amin Calls Britons Too

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Ugandan President Idi Amin is apparently summoning Britons as well as Americans to a meeting with him Wednesday at Entebbe airport, reports reaching Nairobi said today.

British diplomats in both Kampala, the Ugandan capital, and Nairobi said they were checking reports that members of the 200-strong British community were ordered to be there together with the 240 Americans.

Britain severed relations with Amin's regime in August 1976, but two British diplomats still handle British interests out of the French embassy in Kampala.

Amin earlier moved his projected meeting with the Americans from a conference hall to Entebbe airport, delayed it from today until Wednesday and warned the United States not to emulate its Israeli allies with an attempted commando rescue.

Sudan May Join Summit

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — Sudan is expected to join Egypt and Syria in their two-month-old unified political command at a summit conference of the three nations' chiefs of state now being held in Khartoum.

President Anwar Sadat, arriving Sunday for the three-day meeting with Presidents Hafez Assad of Syria and Jaafar Numaira of Sudan, said their meeting would result in historic decisions beneficial to the whole Arab world.

Egyptian officials said political unification may lead to a federation of the three countries.

Drug Deaths Lower

CHICAGO (AP) — Deaths resulting from drug therapy among acutely ill hospitalized patients occur far less frequently than previous studies have indicated, say two Massachusetts researchers.

They found that 24 of the 26,462 patients in their study, or 0.9 per 1,000, were considered to have died as a result of one drug or a combination of drugs. In a previous study of 6,200 patients in Boston they found the rate was four per 1,000.

The findings, presented in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, are based on study done in seven countries between 1971 and 1976.

The researchers, Jane Porter and Dr. Hershel Jick of the Boston Collaborative Drug Surveillance Program at Boston University's medical center in Waltham, said the earlier study was done in a chronic disease hospital and therefore was biased.

That study included a disporportionate number of patients with cancer, alcoholic liver disease and other serious chronic illnesses, they said.

Indian Drive Canceled

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's officials are quietly abandoning her government's high pressure sterilization drive because it has become an explosive issue in the parliamentary election campaign.

A compulsory sterilization bill in Maharashtra state has been shelved.

The New Delhi administration and the Haryana state government have cancelled elaborate systems of incentives and tough penalties aimed at convincing couples to limit their families to two or three children.

"All the states are now withdrawing their incentives and penalties," said a spokesman for the Ministry of Health and Family Planning.

Water Turns Off Town

CINCINNATI (AP) — The second spill of carbon tetracholoride into the Ohio River system in a week has turned off many Cincinnati-area residents to tap water - to the extent that some people won't bathe in it.

Restaurants claim diners are substituting coffee and tea for water with meals, while grocery stores report an increase of sales in soft drinks.

Some supermarkets reported a weekend run on bottled water.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Dave Wenger, an IGA store manager in Ft. Thomas, Ky. "One man ordered enough water to fill a bathtub. He said he refuses to take a bath in tap water."

Ida Returning Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Ida Hays, born with her eyes separated twice the normal distance, is returning home again to La Grande, Ore., after another ordeal of remarkable surgery.

Last May, Ida had her eye sockets moved more than an inch closer together. She returned to New York University Hospital Jan. 28 expecting only "touch up" surgery to fix a drooopy eyelid and a "bump" on her nose.

Instead, surgeons decided her right eye had to be moved closer to her nose. They thought this would cure the headaches and eye pains she'd been suffering because her eyes didn't focus properly.

Panel Favors State Takeover Of School Fund

AUSTIN, Tex (AP) — A House subcommittee leaned toward phasing in a complete state takeover of the Foundation School Program today as it began work on molding six different bills into a single school finance proposal.

Chairman Tom Massey, D-San Angelo, said his goal was to send a bill to the full House Public Education Committee in three weeks, setting up a vote in the House perhaps before April 1.

The committee decided to use Gov. Dolph Briscoe's bill HB750 as its vehicle but leaned in its opening discussion toward the approach taken by a coalition of seven school administrator's organization.

The plan would reduce the local share of the Foundation School Program from $508 million a year to $396 million with the state picking up the cost of subsequent improvements in the program.

Other approaches would tie the local fund assignment either to a percentage of the total cost of the foundation program or to a fixed tax rate - so many cents per $100 of taxable property.

Rep. Ruben Torres, D-Brownsville, said there obviously isn't enough money available to have the state assume the full local fund assignment over the next two years—an estimated $1.04 billion.

But, he said, it could be phased in over a two to four-year period.

"I agree ... I like the idea of a set figure on local fund assignment so that every time we beef the foundation program up it doesn't fall on the folks back home in higher property taxes," said Massey.

Torres also proposed a "progressive" local fund assignment where poor districts would pay less in terms of mandatory tax rate than rich ones. He said his studies showed a range of one or two cents per $100 valuation in the poorest to 22 cents in the richest.

In a straw vote, committee members indicted they favored a limit on local property taxes, at least at present levels.

Several members indicated the disequalizing effect of reducing local fund assignments could be offset by increasing aid to poor districts.

The full education committee begins hearings Tuesday on another facet of school finance, higher retirement benefits for school teachers.

Speaker Bill Clayton said he expected little of importance to come up in the House this week.

Fair Assn. Board Meeting Tonight

Directors of the Scurry County Fair Association have scheduled a meeting tonight to elect officers for the year.

The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in the community room at West Texas State Bank.

H.W. Cargile, president of the fair association, said that notices had gone out to all directors and that a good attendance is being sought to launch plans for the 1977 fair.

The three-day exposion is held each September at the Scurry County Coliseum and Livestock-Agriculture complex.

In addition to Cargile, the present officers of the Scurry County Fair Association are Max von Roeder, first vice president; Morris Ashley, second vice president; Mrs. Roy Hanson, secretary, and Wilson Bright, treasurer.

Dr. Helms Dies After Fire Here

Dr. C.E. Helms, 76, who was hospitalized early Saturday for treatment of burns suffered in a fire at his residence, died at 2:20 a.m. Sunday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Helms, a retired chiropractor, suffered first, second and third degree burns, mostly about the chest and shoulders, in the fire which broke out in his bedroom while he was asleep.

Funeral service has been set for 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Bell-Seale Chapel, with Sam Kitching, minister of East Side Church of Christ officiating. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Dr. Helms had been a resident of Snyder since 1935, moving here from Lamesa.

He is survived by his wife, three sisters, Mrs. Elsie Mosely and Mrs. Alta Rose, both of Roswell, N.M., and Mrs. Sarah Morresett of Madisonville, three brothers, C.L. and Raymond Helms, both of Madisonville, and Jack Helms of Roswell, N.M.

Illness Fatal To Girl, 14

Linda Terrazes, 14, died at 11:05 p.m. Sunday at the family home at 906 28th Street following a long illness.

She was a native of Loraine.

Funeral rites have been set for 4 p.m. Tuesday at Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church with Dr. Thomas Jordan officiating. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Maria Terrazes, four sisters, Mrs. Maria Rodriguez of Lubbock, Mrs. Kathy Luera of Colorado city, Mrs. Patsy Escobedo and Mrs. Rosa Rodriquez, both of Snyder, three brothers, Leon, Manuel and Robert Terrazes, all of Snyder.

Elkins Rites Pending Here

Funeral arrangements were pending this morning at Bell-Seale Funeral Home for Mrs. A.C. Elkins, 302 34th Street, who died late Sunday in Northwest Memorial Hospital in Houston.

Mrs. Elkins, member of a pioneer Scurry County family, was married on Feb. 7, 1904, at Dermott to A.C. Elkins. He preceded her in death last Aug. 31.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Oma Ruth Bailey of Houston; a son, Herman Elkins of Snyder; five grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Freeze Nips Early Blossoms

Early fruit blossoms were nipped by hard freezes here Saturday and Sunday nights as wintry weather came back following a warm spell of some two weeks' duration.

The official thermometer at the city water plant dipped to a low of 22 degrees last night and it remained at that reading at 7 a.m. This followed a low of 24 degrees Sunday morning.

Apricot trees appeared to suffer the most, since many of them had started to bloom several days ago, and some were virtually in full bloom when the new spell of winter weather arrived.

Other types of fruit trees also were on the verge of blooming, but in most cases the buds had not opened the past weekend.

The cold front which ripped through the area Friday evening brought a small amount of moisture in the form of mist and snow, but it only accounted for .05 inch in the official gauge.

Official forecasts promised sunny and warming weather today in all sections of the state.

Extended forecasts looked ahead to showers starting the middle or latter part of the week in most sections.

Trains Collide Near Barcelona

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Two commuter trains collided near Barcelona today, killing more than 20 persons, the Catalan rail company said.

There were unconfirmed reports of an explosion and fire.

CAUGHT BY THE COLD—Apricot trees in the Snyder area apparently were coaxed out again too early by warm weather early last week and blooms such as this were caught by hard freezes both Saturday and Sunday nights. A number of apricot trees were almost in full bloom when temperatures sank to a low of 22 degrees.

Scurry Rancher Is Found Dead

Alvin Koonsman, 73, prominent Scurry County Rancher, was found dead this morning, apparently the accidental victim of a gunshot wound as he picked up a rifle from the seat of his pickup truck.

Justice of the Peace Bobby Goodwin, who was called to investigate in his capacity as a coroner, said he had made a preliminary ruling of accidental death.

Peace officers were called to the scene at about 7:30 a.m. Mr. Koonsman was found in his pickup truck at his ranch house some 20 miles northeast of Snyder. Goodwin said a .22 caliber rifle was in the seat and two spent shells were found. However, Goodwin said x-rays revealed only one bullet wound to the head.

Goodwin said it appeared that Mr. Koonsman had been out in the pickup late yesterday and had left the rifle in the seat of the vehicle and that it discharged accidentally when he picked it up this morning.

The body was taken to Bell-Seale Funeral Home where funeral arrangements were pending.

Among immediate survivors of Mr. Koonsman are his wife, and a son, John Billy Koonsman.

Gonzales Rites Are Pending

Funeral arrangements were still pending this morning at Bell-Seale Funeral Home for Mrs. Betty Marie Gonzales, who was fatally injured in a one-vehicle traffic mishap early Saturday about 9.3 miles southeast of Snyder on U.S. Highway 84.

Mrs. Gonzales, her husband, son, daughter-in-law and another passenger were in a pickup truck with a camper bed which went out of control and overturned. Her husband, Pilar Gonzales, and a passenger, Anita DeLeon, were treated for injuries and released at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. They had been serving as missionaries in Guatemala for Jehovah's Witnesses.

US Trade Deficit Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's trade balance fell into its deepest monthly deficit ever in January as the severe winter weather slowed movement of domestic goods and closed many plants, the government said today.

The Commerce Department said imports of goods outpaced exports by $1.67 billion in January, up from $610 million in December and the biggest deficit since November's $1.03 billion deficit. Imports exceeded exports by $5.87 billion for all of last year.

Exports plunged 7.0 per cent in January, a sharp reversal of the 8.6 per cent increase in December. Imports, meanwhile, grew by 2.3 per cent in January compared to a 3.7 advance in December.

The trade figures are the latest in a lengthening string of government statistics delineating the impact of the harsh winter weather on the economy. An estimated 1.25 million or more people were out of work at the peak of the weather problems due to frigid temperatures.

no simple method

Investigation by the House Ways and Means Committee has uncovered a number of bugs in President Carter's plans to send $50 checks to payers of income taxes and Social Security beneficiaries. When the plan was first announced it appeared to be an excellent way to pump new money into the economy, with the ultimate aim of creating jobs.

As a candidate last year Mr. Carter was enthusiastic about the idea. In view of the closeness of the Presidential race it is not unreasonable to assume that it attracted enough support to insure his election.

The program was advertised as a $11.4 billion package of concern for victims of a Republican depression. To uncritical minds, this seemd like a small amount to pay for expected benefits. However, making suggestions and implementing them are two different matters.

For example, it has been learned that considerable duplication exists in a listing that includes both payers of income taxes and recipients of Social Security payments. Individuals in both categories were included in the recommendations which now have Congressional approval. It was found that names of 19 million persons might receive two checks, or a total of $100, elimination of overlapping became necessary.

The House Committee also named $30,000 earned income as the cutoff figure. Those above that amount will get nothing. Reduced payments will be made to persons with income between $25,000 and $30,000. These changes produced savings estimated at $2 billion in the cost of the program.

But the committee decided that payments should go to individuals whose names do not appear in files of Social Security or Internal Revenue records. These are people who never earned enough to qualify for Social Security or pay a tax on income. They are the unidentified poor. Nobody knows precisely how many people are in this category out of our 215 million population. But the guess is that their inclusion in the list of beneficiaries of the President's plan would offset the $2 billion saved from other changes.

This experience is applying what appeared to be an uncomplicated method of distributing cash that doesn't represent production of goods and services once more demonstrates why crash programs often cost more and accomplish less than expected.

growing older

by harold blumenfeld

One of the greatest traumas of retirement, particularly when it is mandatory, is getting by on a reduced income. Retirement usually means a sharp drop in finances and, of necessity, a change in life style. This is particularly true if one has to live on Social Security alone, or even with a small additional pension or interest on investments.

Problems of how to get extra income to keep up with rising costs of living may be answered in a new excellent book "Profits at Your Doorstep" by Judith Weber and Karol White (Hawthorn books, $7.95), which is a complete guide for setting up a full or part-time business in one's home. Although the book is not primarily aimed at the older person, it contains much detailed information to help a retiree get started in a new business venture.

The book is written for anyone who wants to be his or her own boss. It covers everything about running a home-based enterprise, including aptitude tests which should reveal whether or not the reader's personality is suitable for a home business.

It deals with developing and expanding the business, handling the special tax requirements set up for persons working out of their homes and much other pertinent information. Included is a series of case histories of men and women who have launched successful careers either on a full or part-time basis. There are lists of addresses of companies and organizations where additional information on starting one's business can be obtained.

One thing is certain, say the authors, it is not necessary to give up everything else in order to start a home career. Turning a hobby into a successful business not only expands the family's income but, in many cases, it has led to full-time occupations. And there are limitless possibilities for profit at home: turning a love of cooking into a catering firm or cooking or baking school, making and selling craft products, photography, teaching music or languages, restoring furniture and antiques or old autos, free-lance writing and market research. The possibilities are endless.

Some might say, "I'm not artsy-craftsy or I'm not creative or handy." The book tells you not to despair. There are salaried or commissioned jobs which can be performed at home by using your head, and not your hands. One homebody does clerical work at home and provides an answering service for an acting school for which she is paid a monthly salary.

Someone else works for a large New York marketing research firm doing surveys and receives a regular paycheck. Someone else is doing a thriving commission business selling the latest fashions from her home.

As I look about among my own friends and acquaintances, I can cite many instances where ingenuity and a little spare time paid off. The daughter of one of my newspapermen friends began to make babies' bibs out of attractive towels. She took the samples to one of the largest New York department stores and they grabbed up all she could produce. A friend teaches foreign languages, a nephew takes pictures at social functions, some do free-lance photography. You might have other skills lying dormant that could be turned into dollars.

I am not suggesting that the financial returns will make overnight tycoons out of my readers. But the book might just give you some ideas as to how you might help meet the ever-increasing cost of living and enjoy live by being productive.

optimism is emerging

NEW YORK (AP) — The return to more normal weather patterns through much of the area that was devastated by cold or drought is going to permit shortly a more precise measurement of the economy's strength.

Like watching the snow melt and finding that, yes, the ground is still there, economists are waiting for the weather's impact to work its way through the statistics so they can measure how solid is the economic base.

Hesitancy, confusion and doubt marked almost all economic assessments made during the past two months, mainly because analysts have been unable to separate the weather's impact from underlying currents.

A vast array of statistical measures have been affected by the cold, heavy snows and droughts, including Gross National Product, productivity, industrial productions, car sales, housing starts, retail sales, prices.

While the numbers experts are generally confident they have a rough measure of the impact, they cannot say for certain that basic economic changes, entirely apart from weather, might be developing.

Perhaps the most commonly held view is that the economy actually is developing new strength following last fall's pause. Reviewing figures, analysts now realize an economic re-expansion began somewhere back before Christmas.

Judging from the statistical measures that have been coming in lately, however, you might never guess that things were improving.

More bad numbers are expected for a while as the statistical indices for February and then for the first quarter are released. In fact, some numbers, such as for industrial production in February, might be worse.

Still, as the thaw reduces snow piles and ice jams, and as rain falls on parched areas to the west, an easily detectable optimism is working its way into forecasts.

in washington

martha angle and robert walters

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Five years ago this week President Richard M. Nixon made his historic journey to the People's Republic of China, marking the first time an American president had ever visited that nation.

Nixon, never known to shrink from hyperbole, proclaimed on that occasion: "What we do here can change the world... This is the hour. This is the day of for our two peoples to rise to new heights of greatness from which we can build a new and better world."

There were, indeed, high hopes that Nixon's bold and unprecedented venture would mark the beginning of a new era in Sino-U.S. relations -- and nowhere were those expections higher than in the area of international commerce.

Corporate executives in this country, visions dancing in their heads of the opening of previously untapped and vast new markets, made plans to sell the Chinese everything from cosmetics to steel mills.

"Both sides view bilateral trade as another area from which mutual benefit can be derived," said the landmark Shanghai Communique issued by the two governments on Feb. 27, 1972. "They agree to facilitate the progressive development of trade between their two countries."

But precisely a half-decade later, nothing of the sort has happened. In fact, previously unpublished figures show that in 1976 the value of all United States exports to China plummented for the second consecutive year, to the lowest level since the signing of the Shanghai Communique.

(The value of United States imports from China has grown each year since 1972, but the annual increases have been quite modest and the rate of growth has slipped significantly in each year.)

Some figures: The value of all United States exports to China was $63.5 million in 1972. There was a dramatic surge to $740.2 million in 1973, and another increase to $819.1 million in 1974. But the figure sank to $303.6 million in 1975, then dropped sharply again to $135.4 million n 1976.

What happened? Experts in the field cite the disruptive effects of the deaths, last year of both Prime Minister Chou En-lai and Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung, the fierce leadership struggle which followed Mao's death and the trio of devastating earthquakes which rocked China.

"They also have been quite blunt about the establishment of diplomatic relations," says Nicholas H. Ludlow of the National Council for U.S.-China Relations, an organization of American corporations anxious to do business with the Chinese. "They have made it clear that without full recognition, trade will grow only modestly but with it, trade will expand quite rapidly," adds Ludlow.

Less publicized is the fact that many firms have been disillusioned by the confrontation with what one sources calls "an enormous, unpredictable Chinese bureaucracy," which is notably uninterested in conforming to Western business practices.

One heretofore closely guarded secret among the manufacturers of agriculture chemicals is that the Chinese have subjected to laboratory analyses the pesticides and herbicides they purchased several years ago, in an apparent effort to duplicate those products without regard for patent rights.

Domestic politics in this country have also played a major role in the temporary collapse of the Sino-U.S. trade dream. Nixon, of course, was forced to abandon his China initiative when confronted by the Watergate scandal.

His successor, President Gerald R. Ford, took a perfunctory trip to China, but made little progress because of a lack of both an interest in the subject and the respect of the Chinese.

But if President Carter can divert some of his attention from the Middle East, southern Africa and other international "hot spots," the promise of the early 1970s could be his fulfill.

family stronger

The American family is beset from all sides.

Rising divorce rates, more abortions and fewer children, more women leaving the home to work, declining parental authority and the anchorless sexual mores of our time, the "depersonalizing" effects of modern urban living -- these and other phenomena are putting severe strains on the family as an institution and suggest to some that it may be in its last days.

Yet the family may be a stronger and more resilient force than we think. At least, Wellesley College sociologist Mary Jo Bane makes a good case that it is in a new book, the fruit of a research study sponsored by the Carnegie Corporation.

For one thing, she finds that the historical evidence does not support the view that the family's demise is imminent. Indeed, the happy family of days past, as we usually picture it, never really existed.

We never had extended families with helpful grandparents and maiden aunts. The nuclear family -- just parents and children -- has always been the norm. According to the nation's first census in 1790, the average household had 5.8 people, too small to fit the definition of extended family.

The idea that our communities were more stable in the old days is another illusion, she writes. For example, in Boston between 1840 and 1850 and between 1850 and 1860, only 34 per cent of the population lived there for an entire decade.

Neither did earlier families inhabit warm, small communities. In 1880, 57 per cent of Americans lived on farms or in large cities, environments often called socially isolating. In 1970, two-thirds of us lived in small towns and suburbs, where relationships may be more easily established.

Death rates in the past were almost as high as divorce rates today. The proportion of children affected by what sociologists call "parental disruption" has actually gone down over the last century.

A divorce rate reaching close to 40 per cent of marriages is cause for concern. But because remarriages are running practically neck and neck with divorces, it is not marriage itself but the specific marital partner that is rejected, says Bane. Despite the high rate of family breakups, more children today are living with at least one parent than ever before.

The working mother is another new phenomenon we sometimes view with alarm. Less than 15 per cent of mothers held paying jobs in 1940, but today some 45 per cent do. Yet studies have shown that the difference in the amount of time working and nonworking mothers spend with their children is "surprisingly small."

Rather than threatening the family, many of the recent changes in family life have been positive, or can be positive, Bane argues.

Can't parents with fewer children do better by them? she asks. Can't marriages that endure voluntarily and not because divorce is socially unacceptable or economically infeasible be more satisfying?

Her own answer to these and other questions concerning the future of the American family is summed up in the title of her book: "Here to Stay."

FOR YOUNG PARENTS

Group Offers Answers Most Books Left Out

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — If your baby cries during romantic interludes, or your husband can't adjust to fatherhood, or your mother-in-law says your breast-fed child is probably starving, relax. You're not alone.

There's a non-profit group in Washington that helps parents with questions that most books don't answer. It's called PACE - Parents After Childbirth Education. Its goal is to offer new parents support and accurate information about caring for their babies.

There are similar groups in Baltimore, Cleveland, Boston and New York.

The eight-week, $35 course offers advice on how to be an effective parent even if you and your spouse both work, your relatives live miles away, your best friends don't have kids and you can't afford to discuss your baby problems with a professional counselor. Most groups continue to meet informally even after the initial course ends.

"The group functions as an extended family," said Betsy Zinner, 38, mother of three, a psychotherapist and head of the Washington group. "It's not a therapy group. It's a workshop, a support system where mothers can feel secure and ask personal questions."

Several mornings a week, a group of new mothers gathers at Mrs. Zinner's home with their babies. They discuss such topics as feeding and learning needs of babies, physical changes in the mother, father's postpartum feelings, changing marital and sexual relationships and how mothers can find time for themselves.

"A child can bring a crisis into your life because you have new roles," Mrs. Zinner told one group recently. "There are a whole new set of expectations. There's a lot of stress in marriages in the early months of a baby's life."

The mothers air personal problems they rarely discuss outside the group. One, a nurse before her baby arrived, said she hates depending on her husband for money. "I can't get used to it," she said.

Another said her husband was interested and helpful during pregnancy, butnow is reluctant to help out.

"Before the baby was born, we decided we'd each take equal care of him," she said.

"But it doesn't work that way. I realize he doesn't have that much time. But men's lives always seem to be more important. I decide the little things."

"I find it hard to start thinking about birth control again," said one mother. "It took me so long to get pregnant and now I think, my God, what if I get pregnant again Sex isn't as spontaneous for us."

Another said she and her husband can laugh when sex is interrupted by the baby's cries, because "it's better to laugh than get mad."

Along with advice, Mrs. Zinner gave the mothers a list of movie theatres that allow babies. It was greeted with cries of delight.

"One thing that I like about the group is that I can wallow in baby talk," said Janet Chap, playing with her six-month-old daughter. "When I'm with other adults, I have to worry about discussing what's in the newspaper. It's so much better to come here for advice."

Got a balky bureau drawer? Fix it now while it probably is a minor job. Continue to tug at it every time it is opened or closed and soon you'll have a major project.

The first step is to determine what is causing the problem. Are the runners or drawer edges rough or warped? Are the runners or drawer joints loose? Is the bottom of the drawer pulling away from the frame? Is the drawer over-filled? Does it come out partway, then refuse to go any farther until you lift up the front slightly?

If an inspection shows that the runners are tightly in place and the drawer is solid, try rubbing paraffin or some other lubricant along the sliding parts. Sometimes this is sufficient to correct the trouble.

If not, sand the drawer edges and slides. Do this a little at a time and keep testing, since you do not want to remove any more wood than is necessary.

Once the drawer goes in and out smoothly, cover the sliding parts with a coat of shellac, diluted 50 per cent with denatured alcohol. This will prevent moisture from entering the wood, which was probably the cause of the balkines in the first place.

If that initial inspection shows that the runners, drawer bottom or drawer joints are loose, tighten them, using wood glue rather than nails or screws. Work very care fully, especially on the drawer, since some of its parts are thin and easily damaged.

When the drawer front has to be lifted slightly to open the drawer all the way, place a couple of thumb tacks in the runner at the front end. This will help to keep the drawer front up while it slides.

A too-filled drawer usually opens partway, then gets stuck because it hits something in the drawer. Use a rule or some other tool to prod inside the drawer and dislodge the offending object. Don't be a bull in a china shop. Prod gently so that you do not damage any of the drawer's contents.

When the drawer will not open even a little, a knife blade or very thin tool must be inserted in the slot and worked around very carefully. In some types of construction, even this may not be necessary, as the drawer's contents can be reached by removing the drawer below or above it.

When everything else fails, there is no alternative but to take off the back of the bureau. Don't allow this prospect to scare you. It's a lot easier than it sounds. The bureau back usually is a thinner material than the rest of the bureau and is held in place only with small screws or nails.

Girl Scouts are celebrating their 65th anniversary on March 12, 1977. It all began when Juliette Low who had helped Sir Robert Baden-Powell and his wife, Lady Baden-Powell with the beginnings of Girl Scouting in England, returned to her home in Savannah, Georgia, bringing with her the new program for girls of the United States. The first troop was formed on March 12, 1912 with eighteen girls.

Girl Scout Week this year will be observed March 6-12. Traditionally there are seven Service Days, each emphasizing a particular activity:

Girl Scout Day is on Sunday, renewing the Promise: "On my honor I will try to serve God - my country and mankind, and to live by the Girl Scout Law." Homemaking Day is Monday; Citizenship Day is Tuesday; Health and Safety Day is Wednesday; International Friendship Day is Thursday; Arts Day is Friday; and Out-of-Doors Day is Saturday.

In honor of the 50th anniversary of the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund Girl Scouts this year will put special emphasis on International Friendship Day of the Girl Scout Week. Juliette Low felt that the worldwide family circle of friendship with girls is important to young people who want a world of friends. In observance of this Golden Anniversary, an opportunity has been provided for all Girl Scout members to know about the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund that each troop might contribute to the World Association of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides by giving to the fund.

Girl Scouts give to the JLWF Fund ANYTIME, at troop meetings or special occassions such as Juliette Low's Oct. 31 Birthday, Thinking Day, Feb. 22, or Girl Scout Week., International Friendship Day.

Contributions are made by girls who give a penny donation for "each year of age", "each centimeter around their waist", "each button on their clothing", each "kilogram of weight" or by any other system.

Girls know WHY they give: to share friendships with "sisters" in other cultures; to help support the four world centers where Guides and Scouts can get to know each other; to help Scouts in other lands who need trainers and equipment; and to help girls who travel across national borders.

A 1977 goal for the West Texas Girl Scout Council is to have each troop contribute to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund. One hundred percent troop participation will make our Council eligible to apply for the special Juliette Low 50th Anniversary Recognition medal in commemoration of Council efforts to extend opportunities for international understanding to their membership. The Franklin Mint is casting the bronze medals showing Juliette Low's head on the obverse side and the World Friendship logo on the reverse.

Ira PTA Elects Officers

The Ira PTA met recently with the main topic being the election of officers for 1977-78. They are Mrs. Billy Calley, president; Mrs. Donnie Dunn, vice-president; Mrs. Charles Bearden, secretary; Mrs. Leon Huddleston, treasurer.

After the opening prayer by Supt. Ronald Plumlee, a Teacher's Appreciation Day committee was appointed consisting of Mrs. Leon Huddleston, chairperson, Mrs. Jimmy Wilson and Mrs. Bill Murphy.

The PTA Life Membership committee was elected as follows: Mrs. J.L. Byars, chairman, Mrs. Billy Calley and Mrs. Bud House. The life membership will be presented Thursday, Mar. 24 at 7 p.m. The one act play will be given and an open house will follow.

Mrs. Sue Parham, High School English teacher, introduced the program. Four students entering U.I.L. competition at Westbrook in April gave the program. Keith Clements read a poem entitled "From An Arm Chair," Joe Hall gave an informative speech on "Gun Control," and Fred Kesner presented a persuasive speech on "Capital Punishment." Also, Kevin Huddleston read a poem "The Highway Man."

The room count was won by the first grade. There were 2 officers and 16 members present.

Opening lead — 2 ♠

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "South's four-club opening bid is not recommended as a steady diet. We would far prefer a pass or a mere three-club bid. After a three-club opening, North would have bid three notrump and made at least four. After the four-club bid, North tried Blackwood and wisely refrained from bidding a slam after South showed zero aces."

Jim: "A diamond lead would have led to a one-trick set. East would take two diamonds as a starter and the defense would still be sure to get a heart trick. As it was, the spade lead gave South a chance to make an unusual but very successful play at trick one."

Oswald: "Your tip should tell our readers what South did. He simply played a low spade from dummy. East had to win the trick and now the hand could not be defeated."

Jim: "Actually, South came home with six odd when East returned a spade. He discarded a heart on that spade return, drew trumps while leaving a high trump in dummy, played king, ace and another heart which he ruffed; returned to dummy with a high trump, and discarded both diamonds on the last two hearts."

Ask the Jacobys

A New York reader wants to know the procedure to get the American Contract Bridge League to approve a new bidding system for tournament use.

If the system is new and complicated, the best answer is to forget about the whole thing. If it is generally similar to standard methods, he should write the ACBL and ask approval for the whole thing or for some specific bids.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Dusters Take On Clarendon Today

"Right now, they're probably stronger than we are," declared Coach Sid Simpson of the Western Texas College Dusters. He was talking about Clarendon, the Dusters' foe at 5 p.m. today in the first round of the Region V National Junior College Athletic Association playoff tournament. The tourney will be held in the Hunt P.E. Center on the McMurry campus in Abilene. It will continue through Wednesday.

Other first round pairings pit Weatherford against Howard College at 7 p.m. tonight, and Grayson against McLennan at 9 p.m. tonight.

The Dusters won the Western Junior College Athletic Conference crown with a 7-1 conference mark and a 17-9 season record. Clarendon was third in the conference with a 4-4 mark. However, the Dusters have been hampered lately by injuries. South Plains, which finished as a runnerup to WTC, is top seeded in the tournament and drew a first round bye.

The Dusters beat Clarendon by one point in Clarendon and by 10 points here in the conference race. Coach Simpson said he would start Janice Verden, 6-1 sophomore from Wheeler, at post again tonight, although she is hampered by a badly swollen ankle. Other starters for the Dusters will be Rosemary Scott, 5-8 sophomore from Slaton, and Temi Baker, 5-8 sophomore from Knox City, at guard; and, Cindy Luttrull, 5-10 freshman from Laverne, Okla., and Pam Tatum, 5-8½ freshman from Happy, or Barbara Denman, 5-9 sophomore from Hobbs, at forward.

"I'm taking Pam to see the doctor this morning, and if he gives her clearance she'll start tonight; otherwise, Barbara Denman will be in her place," said Simpson.

The Clarendon team is led by 6-0 Mickey Henderson, who plays post, and Carole Vincent, a 5-7 guard, who scored 21 points against the Dusters in their last contest. Other starters for Clarendon are Tina Rhodes, 5-10 forward, Lenora Oatman, 5-11 forward, and Micki Styles, 5-9 guard.

The Dusters have a few girls who could see action in addition to the starters. They are Cathy Minton, Debbie McIvor, Marketa Sissom and Jamie Branch.

Baseball Team To Seminole

The Snyder High School baseball team's practice game Saturday at Big Spring was cancelled due to inclement weather. However, the Tigers open the regular season at 4 p.m. Tuesday at Seminole.

The Tigers will be at Odessa at 4 p.m. Friday, then they host Odessa Ector at 1 p.m. Saturday in a doubleheader in Moffett Field. Meanwhile, the junior varsity will host Big Spring at 4 p.m. Tuesday, then entertain Abilene High at 4 p.m. Thursday.

The Tiger varsity is potentially a strong team. Seven starters return from last year's team. Pitching depth is the biggest problem.

Coach Albert Lewis said probable starters for the game against Seminole tomorrow, according to batting order, are Dray Sikes 2b, Alvin Ollison cf, Bobby Doe ss, Tracey Witherspoon c, Mitch Mackey lf, Mike LaPointe DH, Anthony Lewis 1b, Scott Crenwelge rf, and Randy Tate 3b. Ricky Beard will draw the pitching assignment. Beard was 7-8 last season, and he had a 2.45 earned run average.

Probable starters for the junior varsity contest here tomorrow, according to batting order, are David Atwood 2b, Jerry Hammond 1b, Sid Everton 3b, Scott Neves c, Walter Banks rf, Bobby Degrate p, George Jennings ss, Jamie Lopez lf, and Ray Wheelus cf.

Albert Lewis is coach of the varsity team, and Ralph Harvey will coach the junior varsity.

Westerners Win Here; Take Over First Place

The Western Texas College golf team won the conference tournament at Snyder Country Club Saturday with a 309 and took over the lead in the conference race by 1½ points with three tournaments remaining.

Midland College was runnerup with 311. Scores of other teams: Odessa College 314, Howard 319, New Mexico 328, Clarendon 334, Amarillo 336, Frank Phillips 337. New Mexico Military withdrew after nine holes, saying the weather was to bad for play.

The tournament was postponed two hours because of snow. The temperature was 37 degrees with winds from the Northeast at 30 miles per hour, causing a low chill factor.

Point standings through six conference tournaments: Western Texas College 471, New Mexico JC 45, Odessa 39, Midland 35½, Howard 32, Amarillo 28, Clarendon 17, NMMI 13½, and Frank Phillips 10.

Individual WTC scores: Freshman Ronald Koerth 38-37-75. Sophomore Donnie Loerwald 42-35-77. Freshman Tommy Taylor 41-37-78. Freshman Miller Scott 44-35-79, and Freshman Chris Brown 44-38-81.

Guy Strandemo from Odessa College was medalist with a score of 74, and WTC golfer Ronald Koerth was runnerup medalist with a 75.

WTC nailed New Mexico JC by 1½ points going into the tournament, but since the Westerners placed first and New Mexico 5th, the Westerners moved into first place.

Scores were high in the tourney because of poor weather conditions. Only 13 golfers out of 45 players broke 80, and no player shot even par.

WTC Golfer Donnie Loerwald moved from fourth place in the conference to second place with a total of 442 strokes or 73.7 average, trailing conference leader Gary Varnadore from Odessa College by one shot. WTC Golfer Chris Brown remains in sixth place with 448 strokes or 74.6 average and WTC Golfer Miller Scott is 10th with a 75.6 average.

Coach Bob O'Day said that he was pleased with the second place finish at Big Spring and first place finish at Snyder.

"We trailed New Mexico Junior College by 2½ points going into the spring conference schedule, and now lead them by 2½ points. We played well considering poor weather at both places. WTC made a comeback on the back nine at Snyder. We made the turn at 25 over par and probably were in 6th or 7th place. On the back nine, we shot 4 over par to win the tournament by two strokes. Miller Scott and Donnie Loerwald shot even par on the final nine holes with Tommy Taylor and Ronald Koerth shooting two over par."

Girls' Basketball Is Highly Emotional Game

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Tina Reich's hip was sore but her heart was breaking as she lay sobbing on the floor in Crawford's losing semifinal game to May at the girls' high school basketball tournament.

She was crying in frustration over a foul that had been called on her after she collided with a May player.

Moments before, teammate Celeste Hoehn had been sent to the bench with five fouls, and she, too, cried.

Girls' basketball is an emotional sport.

It is also a sport in which a defender often shrieks at the player she is guarding — sometimes even calling her by name — to make her miss a shot.

On another occasin, 5-foot-6 Debbie Hart of May got 5-10 Bonnie Buchanan's attention in a sideline huddle by pulling on one of her braids.

There is an apparent movement to switch girls' high school basketball — which held its 27th annual tournament over the weekend — from a six to five-player full-court game. Until that is done, however, each team has three shooters or "forwards" and three guards, who do not shoot.

Guards defend against the forwards of the opposing team, and the game, basically, is played half-court.

Thinlies Are Third With 85

FT. STOCKTON—Snyder High School's track team placed third at the Comanche Relays here Saturday, scoring 85 points. Fort Stockton won the Meet with 101 points, and Odessa Ector was runnerup with 90 points. Scores of other teams: Monahans 73, San Angelo Lake View 49½, Andrews and Pecos 31, Seminole 16½, and Sweetwater 14.

Brad Browning won the high jump for Snyder by clearing 6-2. Randy Courtney was runnerup in the same event by clearing 6-0.

Tim Falls won the high hurdles in 14.9 seconds, and Jerry Terry placed fourth with a 15.7 clocking.

Joe Garza was runnerup in the 880 yard run with a time of 2:07.5.

Doyle Browning was third in the broad jump with a distance of 21-0¼.

Ricky Fritz was third in the 440 yard dash with a time of 53.6 seconds.

The sprint relay foursome comprised of Clay Peterson, Doyle Browning, Ronnie Hines and Ronnie Collins placed third with a 44.8 clocking in the prelims and a 45.2 in the finals.

The mile relay foursome of Johnny Velasquez, Tom Luera, Joe Garza and Ricky Fritz placed third with a 3:34.7 clocking in the prelims and a 3:38.4 in the finals.

Ricky Rice was fourth in the pole vault by clearing 11-6.

Clay Peterson was fifth in the 100 yard dash with a time of 10.2 seconds. Ronnie Collins placed fifth in the 220 yard dash with a 23.8 clocking.

Steve Fisher was sixth in the mile run with a time of 5:01.7.

The Tigers will be entered in the Mustang Relays at Andrews Saturday. Other teams in the tourney are Ft. Stockton, Andrews, Kermit, Seminole, and Lamesa.

Gymnastic Team Is Second

ODESSA — The Snyder High School gymnastic team placed second in a triangular meet at Odessa Permian Saturday. Permian won the meet with 93.35 points, Snyder had 69.35 points, and Abilene High had 55.90 points.

There were several outstanding individual performances. Laura Cameron placed third in all-around, and Pam Blankenship was fourth.

Terri McCarty and Rita Black tied for fifth in balance beam, and Terri placed fourth in vaulting. Laura Cameron was second on uneven bars, and Pam Blankenship was fifth in floor exercise.

Coach Doug Fitzjarrell said he was proud of the performance of the Snyder team. They can qualify for state if they place second in the region, and it looks like they're getting stronger every week.

Sports Briefs

COMMERCE, Tex. (AP) — St. Mary's takes its balanced attack to Commerce Tuesday night to play East Texas for a berth in the NAIA basketball tournament in Kansas City next month.

St. Mary's bested Howard Payne 76-59 in San Antonio and East Texas toppled Texas Lutheran 64-54 in Commerce Saturday night in the NAIA Dist. IV semifinals.

Larry McGhee and Nate Granger combined for 52 points for East Texas against TLC, while St. Mary's had no player with more than 12 points in the Rattlers' victory over Howard Payne.

Net Team Is In Angelo Tourney

Playing some of the best tennis teams in the state, Snyder won 10 and lost 14 matches in the San Angelo Invitational Tennis Tournament held Friday and Saturday, Feb. 25-26. Margaret Womack advanced the furthest, losing in the semi-finals of the girls' singles division. Snyder suffered one defeat, usually unheard of in tennis tournaments, when the girls' doubles team composed of Donna McGee and Kim Harlin, were defaulted. Donna and Kim were given permission by the tournament director to leave the courts for lunch since their next opponents, players from San Angelo Central, were eating. Returning to the courts, they were told they lost by default to the San Angelo players. An official protest was made by Snyder Coach Bill Boles, but the decision was upheld by the tournament director.

Girls' Singles: Margaret Womack upset the number three seed, Beth Nichols, Lubbock McKenzie, 6-2, 6-2; Connie Weber defeated Linda Corder, Odessa Permian, 6-3, 6-3; Womack defeated Julie Stoltz, Midland High, 6-0, 6-3; Weber lost to the number one seed in a well-played match, Cheryl Rosen, Lubbock Monterrey, 2-6, 7-6, 3-6; Womack defeated Wilson, Odessa Permian, 6-1, 2-6, 6-4; Womack defeated Sherry Armstrong, Midland High, 7-6, 6-1, and lost in the semi-final round of play to number two seed, Laura Klar, San Angonio Churchill, 6-3, 6-3.

Raiders, Cougars, A&M, Baylor Win In Tourney

By WILLIAM BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

The four winners in the first round of the Southwest Conference postseason basketball tournament have the common goal of meeting Arkansas next Saturday night in the Houston Summit.

But no one seems to be mentioning the sixth-ranked Razorbacks. Players and coaches are either following the old adage about "taking them one at a time" or they are trying not to think about how they can beat a team that won 16 games without a loss in conference games.

Houston, the favorite to survive the elimination rounds and meet Arkansas, rode Otis Birdsong's 36 points to a 111-67 swamping Saturday night of Texas Christian, which lost its 21st straight game. Other first round games saw Texas Tech mash Rice 93-74, Texas A&M outtough Southern Methodist 89-79 and upstart Baylor beat Texas 72-70.

Thursday pairings include Houston against A&M and Texas Tech versus Baylor. The Thursday winners at the Summit meet Friday and that survivor takes on a rested Arkansas Saturday night.

Rather than talk about Arkansas, Texas A&M senior Steve Jones, who scored 24 points against SMU to go along with Wally Swanson's 26, reserved his praise for Houston.

"If we're going all the way, we might as well play the best first," he said.

Texas Tech took a 12-point lead at intermission over Rice despite hitting 35 per cent in the first half. Then the Red Raiders shot at a 61 per cent clip in the second half to blow the eighth-place Owls away behind Mike Russell's 20 points.

Tech Coach Gerald Myers might have been tempted to talk about the possibility of meeting Houston or Arkansas later in the tournament since Baylor, his next opponent, is only 11-15 for the season. But Myers won't fall in that trap.

"Baylor is playing well," he said. "They seem better prepared than they were earlier in the year."

Baylor won only five of 16 conference games but has played well of late under new Coach Jim Haller.

Nicklaus Wins 61st PGA Title

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — "I sort of steamrolled ahead," was the way Jack Nicklaus explained his 61st PGA tournament title, in the $250,000 Jackie Gleason-Inverrary Classic.

The game's 37-year-old master fell one shot behind playing partner Gary Player on the eighth hole Sunday, then out-shot Player by seven shots on the next nine holes and finished five shots ahead of the South African to claim $50,000.

"I really don't think I'm a great frontrunner," said Nicklaus, who entered the day a shot ahead of Gil Morgan and two up on Player.

"Once I got one shot behind with consecutive bogeys on Nos. 7 and 8, I just made up my mind and played more aggressive. I played better being behind at that point," said Nicklaus, who had a closing two-under 70.

Where Nicklaus really won the tournament was on the 532-yard 15th hole. He got an eagle three with a 30-foot putt to move four shots ahead and said, "I figured I could just walk home from there.

"I played the hole with two eagles, a birdie and one lousy par," said Nicklaus, who finished at 13-under 275 for 72 holes at Inverrary Golf and Country Club.

The five strokes he picked up on 15 was the margin of victory over Player, who ended at eight under 280 to claim $28,500.

Nicklaus credits rotund comedian Gleason with his success on 15: he had two eagles and two birdies on the hole last year when he won the Tournament Players Championship here by three strokes.

He said Gleason reminded him before the TCP that his downfall in four previous events had been failure to score well on 15. Nicklaus said he had approached the hole with added determination ever since.

Nicklaus, now tied with Ben Hogan for second on the all-time victory list behind Sam Snead's 84 triumphs, will skip this week's Florida Citrus Open at Orlando but play the next three tournaments to prepare for the April 7-10 Masters.

He is the first established veteran to win this year. Previous winners on the West Coast were Bruce Lietske twice, Tom Watson twice, Jerry Pate and Tom Purtzer.

"It seems to be a solid pattern every year," said Nicklaus, who played in only two previous tournaments and made $4,600. "The young guys come out in January ready to play."

Gil Morgan, Jim Simons and Fuzzy Zoeller each earned $13,250 for third place. Morgan, a shot behind Nicklaus entering the round, had a four-over-76 to finish at six-under 282, while Simons closed with a 70 and Zoeller at 73.

Miffed At Dad's Abridged Funeral

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My Irish wife isn't speaking to me. Here's what happened: Her father, who lived to a ripe old age, was buried last week. I was a pallbearer. It was pouring down rain when we got to the cemetery, and we were all ankle-deep in mud.

There was some kind of mixup on the hole they had dug, so after half the services were said at the wrong hole, we were advised of the mistake, and the funeral party had to walk a very long way to the right hole. What a mess! All the pallbearers took turns slipping and falling in the mud as we carried the casket, and the priest fell twice.

I held an umbrella over the priest's head as he started the prayers again, and I leaned over and whispered, "Father, let's have the short version."

My wife heard me and claims I was very disrespectful to her father. Also she thinks that because of me the priest left out a lot, and her father didn't have a proper funeral. How can I get my wife to start talking to me?

SORRY IN BOSTON

DEAR SORRY: Send her some flowers. They're the best bloomin' silence-breaker known to man.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have a bet on, and we need you to settle it. Are you divorced, or aren't you? I say you are, and my wife says you aren't.

The loser has agreed to send $25 to a charity of your choice. Thank you.

MAC

DEAR MAC: You lose. I am NOT divorced, and God willing, come July I'll be married to the same wonderful man for 39 years. (P.S. Send your contribution to your local animal shelter.)

DEAR ABBY: CAROLINA CONTROVERSY says she is constantly being complimented on her clothes, which she makes herself, but her husband tells her she's foolish for telling people her clothes are "homemade."

How ridiculous! The well dressed man of today who can afford to have his clothes custom-tailored isn't ashamed to tell people that HIS suits are handmade. In fact he's proud of it. So why shouldn't a woman be proud to say that HER clothes are "handmade"?

MY TWO CENTS

DEAR MY: She SHOULD be. But "homemade" and "handmade" have an entirely different ring on the cash register, that is. It's funny how most people want their clothes to look expensive, but don't like to spend a lot for them.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Lily Back For Broadway Debut

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten years ago, Lily Tomlin was wearily waiting tables at a Howard Johnson's restaurant in midtown Manhattan. Now she's back in the city for her Broadway debut in a one-woman show, "Appearing Nitely."

According to the zany lady of television's "Laugh-In" fame, there'll be very little glitter.

She says it will feature just Lily and her "pieces."

Those slice-of-life characterizations of Bobbi Jeanine, the cocktail organist, 5-year-old Edith Ann in a rocking chair and Ernestine the telephone operator — whose troubles and dreams many Americans readily identify with.

Dressed was "Mrs. Judith Beasley," a "dedicated" Red Cross volunteer, she planned to serve coffee and doughnuts today to New Yorkers waiting in line to buy tickets to her show.

Governors Have Friend In Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's top political aide assured the nation's governors today that they have "a friend in the White House" as they seek a bigger role in shaping the programs of the federal government.

"We've been on the receiving end," Hamilton Jordan said after conferring with Democratic governors. "The President has been a governor. He knows their problems."

Jordan said the President wants help from the governors too. He said they can provide a significant boost to administration efforts to reorganize the executive branch of the government and, in the process, reshape programs that shape the states.

"We intend to assert ourselves in constructive ways while participating in the formulation of national policy that affect our states and cities," said Florida Gov. Reubin Askew, chairman of the National Governors Conference.

"On energy policy, welfare and Medicaid reform and other areas of concern, our views must be considered for any national policies on these and other issues to have any validity in our home states," Askew said at the opening session of a two-day Washington conference that was expected to draw 48 of the 50 state governors.

'Humanitarian' Shipment OK'd

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The U.S. State Department has authorized a "humanitarian" shipment of $12,000 worth of anti-malaria medicines to Cambodia, the Bank of America's Indochina Spotlight news letter reported today.

The one-ton shipment is being handled by the American Friendship Service Committee, the news letter said.

Late last year the State Department relaxed the embargo on American trade with the Communist countries of Indochina to permit the shipment of $450,000 worth of DDT to Cambodia.

Few Take Cold Plunge

OLCOTT, N.Y. (AP) — The air temperature was a record high of 57 degrees but the water of Lake Ontario had an icy edge for the Ninth Annual Polar Bear Club swim.

Of the more than 5,000 persons who showed up for the event in this Niagara County community, only about 150 persons took the plunge.

Mike Rann, the outing's sponsor, said the tradition began with a dare from a patron at his bar.

Rann said he doesn't like to do anything alone, so he took along five others the first year.

This year Niagara County Civil Defense officials warned the swimmers to watch out for chunks of ice swept to shore by waves.

The water was 33 degrees.

Most of the swimmers stripped down to bathing suits and each had a special reason for braving the chilled waters.

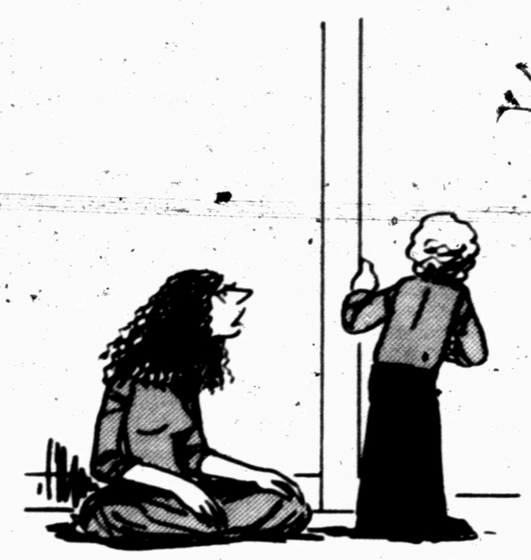

Firemen Called

Snyder firemen were dispatched shortly after 3 a.m. Sunday to the Mobil Truck Stop to extinguish a fire that had begun in a cookstove.

The fire, the only one of the weekend, was reportedly contained to the stove.

Body Provides Another Mystery

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Discovery of the nude body of a young woman, apparently strangled and then sliced in half, at a West Fort Worth dump provided investigators still another mystery today.

The unidentified victim, estimated between 17 and 21 years old, was the fifth woman found brutally murdered here during the month of February in the past decade. All the slayings remain unsolved.

These details were reported in a copyrighted news story by the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Two White Settlement men hunting auto parts discovered the latest victim inside a 30-inch square box about 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

The Tarrant County medical examiner, Dr. Feliks Gwodz, said the woman had been dead no longer than 24 hours and apparently was strangled before her body was severed.

"Whoever did it has to be nuts," county medical investigator R.O. Medford said.

Clifford Fowler, 23, and Dale Sustaire, 22, told White Settlement police they drove to the dump grounds in Sustaire's foreign car.

After finding the hinged box, sealed with new nails, they took the trunk lid from the car, loaded the heavy crate inside and drove to Sustaire's home, Fort Worth Patrolman G.R. Shaw said.

The men said they drove away with the box because they thought it might contain auto parts. They left the crate outside the house while one got a screwdriver and hammer to pry it open.

"A hand came up when they raised the lid," Medford said.

The men summoned police. Officers raised the box lid again, revealing the body of a slim woman with long, dark blonde hair. There were light bruises on the right side of the neck.

Investigators said the two sections of the body had been arranged carefully, and there was little blood inside the box, which was lined at the bottom with tinfoil.

"It looks like the box was built for that purpose," said White Settlement policeman L.W. Terry.

The body was taken to All Saints Morgue and X-rays of the teeth were taken in an effort to establish identity.

Detectives searching the dump ground found several feet of blood-stained nylon cord tangled in a rope.

"She apparently was killed somewhere else and stuffed in the box," an investigator said. "This is similar to the June Ward slaying. Both were naked and both possibly strangled."

Hot Wine Is Cold Remedy

CHICAGO (AP) — Paul Kovi, restauranteur and wine authority, says that wine has long been thought to have medicinal value.

Kovi, writing in Sphere magazine, recalls his grandfather's remedy for the common cold, which he called "The Cure of the Two Hats."

Whenever he felt a cold coming on, he took to his bed, covering himself with warm quilts but leaving one foot stuck out. That foot was covered with a hat. Then he'd call for some boiled wine. Kovi's grandfather said the wine should not only be hot, but spicy, flavored with orange peel, cinnamon stick, cloves and a few peppercorns.

Three Insurance Groups Endorse 'Flexible Rating'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Three major insurance associations have endorsed a "flexible rating" bill that would do away with Texas' system of uniform car and property insurance rates set by the State Insurance Board.

A hearing is set on the bill HB1091 Tuesday night in the House Chamber.

Endorsing the measure in a statement today were the American Insurance Association, National Association of Independent Insurers and American Mutual Insurance Alliance.

The State Insurance Board has opposed such legislation for years, contending it would cause Texans to pay more for their insurance.

Flexible rating - or competitive rating as it has been known in the past - would let each company set its own rates, subject to a veto by the insurance board if they are excessive or too low.

Russell Perry, president of Republic Insurance Co. of Dallas, said the bill retains "all the consumer protections and safeguards of the present system."

"Excessive or discriminatory rates would still be forbidden under the proposed rating law, but the safeguards would be applied on a case-by-case basis, freeing the efficient, well-managed customers with product specialization, innovation and dispersion of rates - in a word, competition at its best," Perry said.

The 1973 legislature granted the companies a measure of price competition by allowing them to reduce rates if they could convince the insurance board this would not impair their solvency.

Companies have sought major across-the-board rate increases the past two years, with the board granting considerably less than they requested.

Perry said the present system gives companies "no incentive to operate efficiently, because our present system rewards mediocrity."

Basin's Rig Count Drops

The Permian Basin area drilling rig count dropped from 304 to 301 the past week, according to Reed Drilling Equipment's weekly survey.

Although it dropped four units from the count two weeks ago, Pecos County continuing to top all areas in drilling activity with 27 rigs making hole. Eddy and Lea Counties, N.M., were in second and third places, respectively, with 26 and 24 rigs.

Scurry County had three rigs running, the same number as the previous week.

Other area counties with the latest count and the previous week, in order, included: Borden 3 and 3; Dawson 5 and 7; Fisher 4 and 5; Garza 6 and 5; Howard 6 and 5; Kent 1 and 1; Mitchell 5 and 6; Nolan 2 and 2; Stonewall 8 and 6.

Two Mishaps, Theft Logged

Two traffic accidents and a theft were reported to city policemen over the weekend.

Saturday, at 5:33 p.m., two cars collided at the intersection of 25th St. and Ave. R. Involved in the mishap were a 1972 Ford driven by Houston Faulkner and a 1972 Buick driven by Tammy Ashworth. A wrecker was needed to remove the Faulkner vehicle from the scene. Minor to moderate damages were reported to each of the cars.

Sometime Saturday night or early Sunday morning, a car struck the mail box belonging to Mrs. George Heintz at 708 19th St. and left the scene. Damage to the mailbox was estimated to be $50.

A.O. Snelgrove told officers that a $30 pair of overalls was taken from the rear of his 607 29th St. home. The theft was reported to officers Sunday night.

Trial Due To Resume

The trial of John Brent Tarlton is scheduled to resume Tuesday morning in county court.

Tarlton, 50, is accused of driving while intoxicated. He was arrested for the alleged offense Nov. 29, 1976 in the 2700 block of Ave. E by city police officers.

Tarlton's jury trial began Friday morning and testimony continued until late Friday evening when the trial was recessed.

One of the reasons for the delay, it was reported, is to enable a defense witness to appear.

The former kingdom of Serbian is part of present day Yugoslavia.

OTP Agency Not Expected To Survive Aides Review

By James Gerstenzang
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just as Jimmy Carter promised during his election campaign, top aides are looking at the government agencies attached to the White House to determine which can be eliminated.

According to one White House aide, if an agency doesn't deal with the President daily, its chances of surviving the Carter review are dimmed.

One of the agencies is the 44-staff members, tucked away in a high-rise office two blocks from the White House, say that only recently have they had frequent contact with the President's office.

Richard Nixon established the agency. Its original director, Clay Whitehead, placed it in the spotlight by attacking network news organizations for dispensing "elitist gossip" and "ideological plugola."

Recently, however, it has been quietly considering such topics as electronic communications policies, expansion of television broadcasting, home computers and the electronic transfer of funds by banks.

"All of the futuristic discussions of what tomorrow's household is going to be like come out of this office," said Ronald Eisenberg, a staff member there.

Two years ago then-President Gerald Ford considered transferring the office's duties to the Commerce Department of making it an independent agency.

But he decided to leave it alone.

Eisenberg and White House workers say no decision has been made on the agency's future role. But they indicated the once-controversial office may be one of Carter's efficiency and economy drive victims.

Althought administration figures insist they don't know what will happen to the agency, a clue may be found in an agenda for the administration's first six months, prepared just after the election. It notes the agency's initial use by Nixon.

It said: "Special emphasis should be attached to the announcement of the closing of the Office of Telecommunications Policy, both as a means of eliminating waste in the White House and, equally important, as a means of expressing the Carter administration's commitment to a free and vigorous media, unintimidated by government pressure."

Airline Traffic To Double By 1988

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline passenger traffic will double by 1988 according to a recent report by the Federal Aviation Administration.

The number of domestic passengers is expected to reach 393.2 million persons, up from 195.1 million in 1976. International passengers will jump from 16.7 million to 35.3 million.

ASU's Symphonic Band Coming Here

The 69-member Angelo State University Symphonic Band comes to Snyder Thursday, bringing a variety of popular and traditional music.

The band will perform at 8 p.m. at Snyder High School. It is currently on a three-day concert tour of several West Texas communities as part of the annual spring tour. In addition to Snyder, the band is scheduled to perform in Colorado City, Sweetwater, Big Spring, Pampa, Borger and Panhandle.

According to Harris Brinson, band director, the concerts will offer a varied program included as selections which will be played on the tour are "Symphonic Jubilee," by Joseph Willcox Jenkins; "Caccia and Chorale," by Clifton Williams; "Prerogatives for Band," by Leland Forsblad; "Irish Tune from County Derry," by Percy Aldridge Grainger; "Selections from The Wiz," by Charles Smalls and Bob Lowden; "Concertino, Op. 107," by Cecil Chaminade; "Brassmen's Holiday," by Mario Armengol and Sammy Nestico; "Trombone Country," by James Christensen; "Drums of America," by John Warrington and George Frock; "Rolling Thunder March," by Henry Fillmore, and "The Black Horse Troop," by John Philip Sousa edited by Frederick Fennell.

Donna Pemberton, a 1973 Snyder High School graduate, will be playing with the band on its tour. Ms. Pemberton is a senior music major at ASU.

The French Broad is a river in North Carolina. It rises in Transylvania County near the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains.

Dr. Lamb

Curious about tipped uterus

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I got married recently and my husband and I agreed to wait before starting a family. I went to my doctor for birth control pills. He gave me a Pap test, but while doing it he casually said I have a tipped womb. I bombarded him with questions as to my chances of getting pregnant and if I do conceive will I be able to carry my child for nine months. He said it was nothing and not to worry about it. He gave me a prescription for the pills. I told him I would not take them because he was so vague in responding to my questions.

I told my husband about my doctor's visit and my fears about not being able to get pregnant. the doctor would not have given them to me. I love my husband and would like to think that he and the doctor are correct, but I'm worried and not satisfied with either. I consulted a gynecologist and she was even vaguer than my regular doctor.

What I want to know from you is, with a tipped womb, considering my health to be excellent, will I get pregnant? I am not taking the pills and I haven't gotten pregnant. I haven't told my husband because I do want to have his children and I have it planted in my mind that it will take me years to conceive and if I take the pills it will take even longer. Am I wrong? Or will I have to have my womb straight before I can conceive?

DEAR READER — By the time you get my reply you may have already found out that you can get pregnant. Won't your husband be surprised!

I suspect your doctors have been reluctant to promise you that you will get pregnant because 15 per cent of couples do not have children — that is, having nothing to do with a "tipped womb."

A tipped womb simply refers to the fact that the uterus is not positioned so that its dome (blind end) is pointed above or toward the pubic bone. In the adult female the uterus is like a pear with the blossom end pointed toward the wall of the abdomen and the stem end or cervix directed downward, opening at the top or near the blind end of the vaginal canal. When the uterus is tipped it is usually "retrodisplaced" meaning the uterus has fallen backward.

The point you need to know is that studies have been done to see if displacement of the uterus would affect fertility. While some "tipped wombs" were observed in infertile couples this was not the cause of the infertility. After all, since 15 per cent of couples are infertile it would be surprising if all of these women had perfect reproductive systems.

Even if displacement of the uterus changes the location of the cervix to some extent this will not prevent pregnancy. All that has to happen is for sperm to get to the opening, wherever it is, and they will migrate to the uterus. A normal pregnancy is then just as likely to occur as in a woman without a tipped uterus.

Those who want information on the menstrual cycle and menopause can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for The Health Letter number 5-12. Write to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Texan Wins Chili Cookoff

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A Texas man, with some Little Rock assistants and a venison base, has captured first place in the Central Arkansas Open Chili Cookoff.

Walter Thibodeau of Galveston now is eligible to compete at the Wick Fowler Memorial Internatinal Chili Championship Cookoff Oct. 8 at Terlinguas, Tex.

Sonny McKinney of Fayetteville headed the six-to 12-member team that took second place Saturday.

The third place winner was a team headed by Kenny Lacewell of Fordyce, assisted by Harvey Fletcher of San Antonio and David De Keyser of Dallas.

Well Fire Is Under Control

PERRY, Okla. (AP) — An oil well caught fire five miles northeast of here Sunday.

Authorities said the blast occurred about 6:30 a.m. as crews were changing shifts. The flames were reported under control when the fire department left the scene about 10:30 a.m.

Officials of the Bodard & Hale Drilling Co. of Shawnee were preparing to pull the mangled structure clear of the well to place a blowout prevention valve on the casing.

Perry Fire Chief Bill Hodge gave a "rough estimate" of damage as "in the neighborhood of $350,000."

ODESSA — To provide Texas with a continuing view of its changing profile, two Odessa College instructors and two Lubbock men have teamed to produce the first in a planned series of photographic studies documenting Texas county seats and their surrounding communities.

The initial volume, "Colorado City, Texas," published by Guynes Printing Company of El Paso, is now in distribution, and two of its producers, Bill Worrell, art instructor at Odessa College, and W.R. Murchison, assistant professor of journalism and photography at OC, personally autographed copies of their book Thursday at Book Haven, in Odessa.

Worrell and Murchison, with Jim Eppler, a Lubbock artist and musician, and Jay Johnson of Lubbock, now press agent for a state senator in Austin, worked for a year to produce the volume of photographs, which reflects varied aspects of Colorado City and its immediate areas.

NSF Project Set At H-SU

ABILENE — Hardin-Simmons University has received confirmation of a grant from the National Science Foundation to fund a mathematics project for high school students this summer.

The grant, announced by Dr. Elwin L. Skiles, H-SU president, and Dr. Charles Robinson, chairman of the Division of Science and the Department of Mathematics, is for $12,550. It is the sixth NSF grant for summer projects H-SU has received since 1970.

Dr. Robinson said this year's project will be conducted from June 5-July 15.

Enrollment will be limited to 25 students, all of whom must have completed their junior year in high school by June, 1977, and all recommended by their teachers as high ability mathematics students.

The program will be conducted by Dr. Robinson and Dr. Edwin Hewett of the H-SU mathematics faculty. Courses will be Foundations of Geometry, Linear Topology, and Mathematical Modeling.

The students will live in residence halls on campus during the project and will have use of all facilities, including recreation opportunities, during the six-week program.

24 Buses Up For Auction

A unique sale will take place at 11 a.m. Saturday at the Region 14 Education Service Center in Abilene.

Twenty-four school buses from 12 to 14 school systems in the Region 14 area will be auctioned off. So far as anyone can determine, this will be the first sale of this kind. Due to inflation in the cost of school buses and delays in getting delivery from manufacturers, a large crowd of bidders is expected.

The Region 14 Service Center is located at 3001 North 3rd in Abilene. Further information on the bus auction may be obtained by contacting Don Williams, assistant director.

More New Schools For Argentina

BUENOES AIRES (AP) — The Argentine Government has announced plans to build 38 new schools throughout the country at a cost of aproximately $1.6 million.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today, Lady Luck is on your side. Don't rely on her full time, though, since she's very fickle.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Unintentionally, you may do something to displease another today. Your wit and humor will quickly put you back in their good graces.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) To make money today you'll have to cast a little bread upon the waters, but it will generate the response you desire.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Friends will help you in your career today if you don't make a direct or blatant appeal. Use imagination and subtlety.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your compassion is quickly aroused today. You may go overboard to aid the needy. Who's counting when the cause is worthy?

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's to your credit to make an adjustment today if someone overpays you. They'll appreciate your honesty and you'll feel better for it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your first thought today is to look for the easy way. Once you smell a profit, however, you'll go after it full-tilt.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) An associate will envision opportunity where you see only limited possibilities. Fortunately, you'll be able to adjust and reap the benefits.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You can be a great help in advising another, provided you don't arouse false hopes. There's no need to do so. The potential is there.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be a good observer today. You'll see someone extricate herself from a difficult situation gracefully. You'll need the lesson later.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You can get others to do what you want them to do today without flattery. Be direct and they'll follow your lead.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It is not what you have that impresses others but what you are. Affectations are totally unnecessary today to win admirers.

PANEL FINDINGS ECHO THEORY

Nonprescription Products Only Ease Cold Symptoms

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Americans spend an estimated $700 millions a year on nonprescription or over the counter cold remedies.

In an effort to discover which medicines, if any, really work, the Food and Drug Administration set up a panel of nongovernment experts who studied the labels of cold, cough, allergy, bronchodilator and anti-asthmatic drug products.

Their findings echoed what many people had been saying for years: none of the nonprescription products will prevent, cure or even shorten the course of the common cold.

The panel did find that some of the products eased the symptoms of a cold. It expressed concern, however, that there are so few single-ingredient products on the market. Combination drugs are often not necessary, the panel said, because different symptoms strike at different times, and may not be good for some people because of individual reactions to various ingredients.

Similar concern over combination products has come from other sources. Joe Graedon, a pharmacologist and author of "The People's Pharmacy," a guide to various prescription and nonprescription drugs, says: "There is almost no medical justification for products which contain so many different compounds all rolled up into one and there is reason to believe that there could be a negative effect."

Graedon also claims that antihistamines commonly found in cold products should not be included. Antihistamines, he says, increase and thicken the mucus already in your lungs.

The FDA panel, noting that antihistamines are valuable for providing relief from hay fever symptoms, said there is "little valid evidence" that they are effective in treating the common cold. It suggested additional testing and recommended that antihistamine labels be required to state clearly that the products are designed only for temporary relief of runny nose, sneezing, itching of the nose or throat and itchy and watery eyes, but not for nasal symptoms such as stuffy noses.

The FDA is still considering the panel's recommendations and is studying comments received from the public and industry. A proposal based on the recommendations is expected later in the year.

The study group reviewed some 90 ingredients and placed each item in one of three categories.

Generally recognized as safe and effective and not mislabeled.

Not generally recognized as safe and effective or mislabeled. The government could order these products removed from the marketplace after the final FDA proposal is issued.

Available data insufficient to permit final classification.

The panel recommended that items in this category be allowed to stay on the market for a given length of time providing tests are conducted to answer the questions raised in the study.

Consumers who want to know which ingredients fall in each category can send for a free fact sheet, The Common Cold. Write to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 642E, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

Pianist Horowitz Cancels Concert

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pianist Vladimir Horowitz has canceled a scheduled concert with the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra because of bronchitis.

Norma Flynn, a spokeswoman for the orchestra, said Horowitz, 72, was recuperating at his Los Angeles hotel room.

She said the Russian-born artist was expected to be well enough to play on the concert's rescheduled date, March 20.

Chevron Is Now One Unit

SAN FRANCISCO — Standard Oil Company of California has announced it is proceeding with a major restructuring of its oil and gas operations in the United States. Effective Jan. 1, all of the company's domestic petroleum operating organizations are being consolidated into a single operating unit, Chevron U.S.A. Inc., headquartered in San Francisco. The streamlined national company replaces five regional domestic subsidiaries formerly based in San Francisco, Denver, New Orleans, Louisville and Perth Amboy.

Denver, formerly headquarters for Chevron Oil Company, Western Division, will now be the base of operations for Central Region - Exploration, Land and Production under Regional Vice President, James H Todd. This region includes 17 Rocky Mountain and Mid-Continent states.

Also named to management positions for the Central Region in Denver are Bruce N. Cheatham, General Manager of Exploration, E.C. "Woody" Woodroff, General Manager of Land, Peter A. Nikias, General Manager of Production and Claude W. Proctor, General Attorney.

A. Hiett Ward, formerly with Chevron in El Paso, has been named manager of the newly created Rocky Mountain Marketing Division, also headquartered in Denver. John T. Graff has been named as Division Operations Manager for the 11-state marketing area.

The reorganization will give the company a single identity for all oil and gas operations throughout the United States, and is geared to increase efficiency through a unified operation. Chevron U.S.A. Inc. will have 20,000 employes, assets of $6 billion, sales of $7 billion, gross production of crude oil and natural gas liquids of 420,000 barrels per day, and 12 refineries processing 1,454,000 barrels per day. It will market over 1 million barrels per day of refined product in 39 states through 16,000 retail outlets. Exploratory and capital expenditures for U.S. operations amounted to some $670 million in 1976.

Chevron is the largest oil industry employer in Scurry County and is operator of the huge SACROC secondary recovery unit with headquarters four miles west of Snyder. Nikias is a former SACROC Unit Manager and resided in Snyder.

Mule Betting Bill Introduced

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Last year a mule won the coast-to-coast Great American Horse Race. Now a group of muleteers from Bishop wants parimiutuel betting on mules.

Bishop, population 3,700 on the east side of the Sierras near the Nevada border, holds an annual Mule Day Celebration on the Memorial Day weekend.

Last year 40,000 spectators showed up, mostly to watch the parade in which 400 to 450 mules moved through town mostly frontwards — but sometimes backwards and sometimes sideways.

Bishop mule promoter Robert Tanner says, "Mule racing is pretty exciting in that it is a little unpredictable."

Assemblyman Larry Chimbole, D-Palmdale, was persuaded to introduce a bill in the state legislature last week that would allow experimental parimiutuel mule racing for five years, starting in 1978.

Mules are the offspring of male donkeys and female horses.

KNOW YOUR FOOD

What's Most Important in a Salad?

Variety, of course! It adds zest and taste excitement in a small or large salad whether as an accompaniment or as the main dish. There are so many wonderful salad makings to choose from — you'll have no difficulty in getting a variety. Always be sure to wash and crisp your salad greens. Listed here are some of the most popular salad makings:

Iceberg Lettuce: Heads should be fairly firm, sparkling crisp and fresh. Leaves can be torn into bite-size pieces or larger leaves can be used as a salad base.

Romaine Lettuce: Upright bunch with long, leaf-shaped leaves. Outer leaves are a dark green; inner leaves golden yellow.

Butter Lettuce: Medium large head with upright leaves that are broad and smooth. Adds special taste to tossed salads.

Bibb Lettuce: Short, closely clustered leaves in a small head. Sweet and tender, delicate, buttery flavor.

Red Leaf Lettuce: A variety of leaf lettuce distinguished by its tender, red-tinted leaves, particularly at the top.

Escarole: Slightly crumpled, deep green leaves; center leaves at base of head are a buttery yellow.

Endive: Outer leaves are green; center leaves are pale green to white. Leaves are always curly. Adds texture and taste to salads.

Note: The above column is reprinted in a two-sided leaflet that includes information on other salad items and how to make a delicious salad. Also includes two salad dressing recipes you'll enjoy. This leaflet is available at Safeway . . . come pick up your free copy. No purchase necessary.
