NOT MUCH SNOW IN TEXAS, SO:

Santa To Bring A Pony Sleigh

It doesn't snow much in Texas, but Santa Claus and his helpers have hit upon a way to get around that so he can have a pre-Christmas visit with all the kiddies.

More than likely it was really Mrs. Santa Claus who planted the idea, but anyhow Santa is going to be here Tuesday and Wednesday with just about the biggest sleigh you ever saw.

And instead of reindeer, who don't do so well off a frosty covering, he will have six of the finest little Shetland ponies his helpers could find.

Santa Claus will maintain a depot at the courthouse square, where youngsters will gather for their rides in the king-sized sleigh.

This sleigh is so big that about 60 children can be taken for a ride on it at the same time.

In addition to the children who are brought there by their parents, a shuttle service will operate from elementary schools to the Santa depot so that youngsters in the lower grades won't miss a chance to see Santa and to ride in his sleigh.

Santa will operate his sleigh ride schedules between the hours of 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. for the two-day period. He managed to schedule Big Spring as one of his stops, thanks to the arrangements made by by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce retail committee.

New Zealand Socialists Out

Islands Go Back To Free Enterprise

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP)—New Zealand is switching back to free enterprise government after three years under Socialist rule.

A general election Saturday restored the conservative-minded National party to power. The Laborites of Prime Minister Walter Nash, who squeezed out a narrow victory in 1957, were ousted.

The Nationals took 45 of the 80 seats in New Zealand's single-house Parliament. The Laborites, who held 41 seats in the old Parliament, dropped to 35, according to unofficial returns.

Nash, 78, conceded to Keith J. Holyoake, 56, a farmer who heads the National party and is in line to take over the prime ministry.

"We will build a nation in the South Pacific," Holyoake said in a broadcast to New Zealand's 2.4 million people.

Two small parties—Social Credit and the Communists—repeated their 1957 performance by getting not a single seat.

Absentee ballots could change one or two seats at most, still leaving the National party in command.

New Zealand is a British Commonwealth nation composed of two large islands and a group of smaller ones. New Zealand belongs to the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and is linked with Australia and the United States under a 1952 defense alliance the ANZUS treaty.

Foreign policy had almost no bearing in the election campaigns of the two major parties. Both pledged continued close bonds with the Commonwealth, the United Nations, SEATO and ANZUS. The big stress by each party was on slightly reduced taxes.

But the National party promised, in addition, an end to compulsory union membership. It promised cheaper housing loans and general reliance on personal incentive, free interprise and private ownership.

New Zealand had 14 years of socialism under the Labor party from 1935 to 1949. The National party ruled for the next eight years, up to the last general election in 1957.

LONDON (AP)—Britain's noise abatement law goes into effect Sunday. Police will be listening for garbage can rattlers, cyclists whose motors go bang, and people who like their radio music loud. All could be fined.

ON VISIT HERE

Heavy Schedule Ahead For Mahon

A heavy schedule of talks and visits is ahead for Rep. George Mahon, when he visits Big Spring Wednesday.

The congressman from the 19th District will spend the day here, calling on friends and appearing before several groups. It will be his first extended visit to Big Spring since the last full session of Congress.

Rep. Mahon is to address an assembly of high school students at 9:45 a.m. Wednesday, and will arrange a question-and-answer period for the young people.

At noon, he is to be featured speaker at the Lions Club luncheon. Lions have extended an invitation for the public to attend the affair, to be in the Settles ballroom, and a large crowd is anticipated.

The congressman is to address pilot training class 61-D during graduation exercises in the Webb AFB chapel at 7:30. There are 53 officers in the class.

As chairman of the House subcommittee on military appropriations, Mahon occupies one of the key positions in the nation in maintaining military strength.

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

The United Fund is now at the point where its success or failure is largely in the hands of those who have not given, or who cut their gifts to the fund drastically under previous years. If those who haven't been contacted would volunteer gifts, if those who declined to give because business hadn't been quite so good, if those who decided to let somebody else carry most of their load would have a change of heart, the United Fund can succeed and meet its commitments to 12 agencies which look to it for their life blood.

With the passage of Thanksgiving, the Christmas season has suddenly burst upon us. Downtown traffic suddenly picked up; street decorations were put in place; Santa and his Texas-size sleigh were booked for a Tuesday and and Wednesday visit here; firemen sounded their appeal for used toys to repair; and the Salvation Army is launching its plea for funds to supply Christmas baskets. Maybe it's the same story with new hope, but it's wonderful to be alive and part of it.

Cosden Country Club had the formal opening of its greatly expanded facilities Saturday evening. This facility, first and last, represents an outlay well in excess of a quarter of a million dollars. In this, and in the recently completed Big Spring Country Club, Big Spring has two of about as nice facilities as you will find anywhere in the region.

Word was received here last week of the death of E. C. Dodd, first president of Howard County Junior College. Mr. Dodd was an indefatigable worker in organizing the college back in 1946 and worked a miracle in getting the school going a year sooner than anyone imagined possible. His enthusiasm and vision also led to the foundation a permanent plant and assured the college of a real future.

Trend Toward Early Yule Shopping Noted

first hint of the old urge to get at that Christmas shopping made itself evident to a degree Friday and Saturday.

Friday saw the streets jammed with exceptionally heavy traffic. Shoppers were on hand in sufficient numbers to provide downtown merchants with what most called a "fair" day. Many of the people on the street were obviously on hand for a look rather than for an actual purchase, however.

They studied shop windows which have already begun to take on the air of Christmas; they scanned the stocks in stores and made the rounds of the downtown area.

Some did buy.

Saturday the same story was repeated. Traffic was heavy on the streets. There were even more pedestrians than on Friday. The temperature, pushing close to 80, did not seem to deter the walkers. Friday, police had to curtail right turns on certain busy street intersections in order to keep traffic moving at a more even flow.

Shopping was not booming but it was fairly steady. The parade of window lookers continued.

Merchants are pleased at the early indication of Christmas interest. They point out that stocks this year are most complete. They have completed all of the preliminary arrangements for handling the inevitable December rush. They have high hopes that the indication of enthusiasm shown Friday may build up into a true "shop early" attitude. This, of course, they would like to see.

Merchants were conning the weather maps. The unseasonable warm weather which has held on for the past few weeks has been no help to stirring the public into a shopping mood. And it certainly doesn't harmonize with the idea of Christmas.

Merchants believe that a little brisker temperatures would be highly helpful. They recall that November at this same date last year was definitely on the winter side.

Now that the crops are nearly all harvested, rural customers will be freed of responsibilities which may have kept them at home. Chillier days and the realization that Christmas is a lot closer than most folk realize will stir up the old buying urge to fever heat, businessmen believe.

And by the way—there are only 24 more shopping days until Christmas.

IL Contests In New Look For Future

AUSTIN (AP) — Interscholastic League contests will have a new look from now on.

Recent action by the legislative council of the league dropped four statewide contests, added four others, and made changes in other contests.

The council also approved, on an experimental basis, an invitational state final solo contest in instrumental and vocal music. The contest will be conducted here in June by the University of Texas Fine Arts Department.

4 DISCARDED

The four contests discarded were junior declamation, senior declamation, original oration and poetry reading. They will be replaced beginning in the 1961-62 year with prose reading, poetry interpretation and persuasive speaking.

Declamation has been one of the league contests since 1910.

The fourth contest added was the science contest which will be included in the 1961 spring meet competitions.

The council voted to limit boys' basketball teams to two matched games per week including conference, non-conference and play-off games. There presently is no such limiting rule for boys, although girls' teams have been limited to two games a week for years.

Another rule change prohibits invitational boys' and girls' basketball tournaments on Mondays Tuesdays and Wednesdays, except during a school holiday season.

Both basketball rule changes are effective next year.

REDEFINED

The council redefined the term "credit" in determining eligibility to take part in the contests, both scholastic and athletic. The present rule requires a student to earn three one-half credits each semester to retain eligibility.

"Under the present definition of a credit, it is entirely possible for a student to remain eligible without having passed a single academic course such as English, math or science," said the announcement from the league.

The new definition, effective next year, says a student must satisfactorily pass regular full time study courses approved by the Texas Education Agency and excluding physical education and competitive athletics. So-called local credits given for participation in school or club activities may not be counted.

Laos Ruler Says Foreign Elements 'Interfering'

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Prince Souvanna Phouma, Laos' neutralist premier, charged Saturday that foreigners are interfering in his attempts to restore political peace.

Souvanna did not mention any names in a speech before a cheering rally of 2,000. But he often has accused the United States of supporting the right-wing rebel regime of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan and has suggested that Washington back him exclusively in Laos.

However, Souvanna has made no formal demands for an end to U.S. help for Phoumi, an anti-Communist strong man in previous Laotian regimes.

Phong Phongsavan, former president of the National Assembly and organizer of the rally, made a speech to the crowd calling on the premier to do so. Souvanna ignored the request.

"I have only one desire," said Souvanna, "to bring peace to all our people. But foreign interference, which certain people have taken advantage of for their own ends, has created a very dangerous situation.

"I hope and pray that we can get together and that the wishes of our people will prevail. But if we are thwarted, we will fight. And if we do, we will win."

Souvanna said that if his government does not work out a truce among the country's political factions and therefore collapses, open war will break out between Phoumi's pro - Western forces and the Communist - led Pathet Lao rebels, who have been waging civil war on their own for six years.

50-Year Term In Lamesa Slaying

LAMESA—Juan Sustaita, 20, Lamesa, has been assessed 50 years in the state prison for murder with malice.

Sustaita was charged with the July 3 shooting of Guadelupe Caudillo at the Fiesta Drive In theater.

The jury deliberated 42 minutes before returning their verdict, short of the 99 years or life sentence requested by District Attorney George Hansard.

The fatal shooting climaxed an argument in the theater here.

NATO Lawmakers Request Voice On Missile Controls

PARIS (AP) — Leading lawmakers from Atlantic pact countries agreed Saturday that the governments of the 15 NATO nations should have a voice in the use of the alliance's missile strength. But they declined to take steps toward making NATO a nuclear power on its own.

About 200 members of parliaments of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization members ended their annual conference with a unanimous resolution for the NATO Council, which meets here next month. It urged the council to develop "political authority" over aircraft, missiles, Polaris submarines and other methods of delivering a nuclear bomb to an enemy target.

The specific type of authority was not spelled out, but from previous discussion it would mean some kind of control of an Allied political body rather than U.S. military commanders.

U.S. CUSTODY

U.S. officers, acting under orders from the President, have custody of the nuclear warheads that pack the punch of the U.S. missiles and bombers in Western Europe. But the actual use of the weapons —operating launching sites or air bases, for example— is shared between the United States and the countries where they are stationed.

The NATO parliamentarians had been asked to consider a new idea—putting missiles and even their nuclear warheads under the collective control of the alliance. That would make NATO a world nuclear power on its own.

The parliamentarians — Whose recommendations are purely advisory—refused to go that far. They want to see NATO in control of the missiles but sidestepped a decision on the warheads, which would remain under U.S. control.

FIRE BRIGADE

They also called for creation of a strongly armed and highly mobile NATO "fire brigade" that could use conventional or nuclear weapons to repel any attack on NATO territory, which stretches from Alaska across North America and Europe to eastern Turkey.

The parliamentarians acted after hearing hints from Paul-Henri Spaak, NATO secretary-general, that the next U.S. administration may make what Spaak described as a very important proposal on the subject of nuclear armament.

Just back from a visit to Washington, where he conferred with top American officials and with spokesmen for President - elect John F. Kennedy, Spaak conceded that for the moment nothing has been definitely decided by the Americans.

ONLY USE

The final resolution mentioned only the use of nuclear weapons and not their custody. Thus it represented an apparent compromise between the proponents of making NATO an atomic power and others who feel that putting nuclear arms in NATO's hands would unduly complicate a vital command problem in which decisions to retaliate must be taken within minutes.

Putting nuclear arms under NATO control would give all 15 members an equal voice in their use. This may help convince the smaller nations, and especially West Germany, that they do not need their own atomic bomb to stand on an equal footing with the United States.

West Germany is prohibited by treaty from manufacturing nuclear weapons. There is a strong feeling in some quarters against allowing the Germans even to use them because of bitter memories of German aggression in two World Wars.

TO CONTINUE

Spaak said the Eisenhower administration had started the examination of the problem of NATO armament, and he implied that the Kennedy administration will continue this study.

"There are one or two solutions which are extremely audacious—for example, giving the alliance as such its own nuclear force," Spaak said.

"I am for it. . .If we create a single atomic force for all our countries, it will be a sign of new cohesion within the alliance which will have immediate psychological and political advantages."

American delegates joined in supporting the final resolution.

Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, two Democrats whose support could have been construed as committing the Kennedy administration, were absent. Both left for London Friday, possibly to avoid the votes.

The parliamentarians also called for more liberal trade policies among NATO members; the removal of unnecessary restrictions, quotas and similar commercial carriers; and a more coordinated armament program among members of the alliance.

State May Get Rain

By The Associated Press

A Canadian cold front howled down toward Texas Saturday as the whole state basked in spring-like weather.

The norther, which was packing zero weather in the Dakotas, was due in the Panhandle by Sunday afternoon.

Meanwhile, soft southern breezes were funneling great masses of moisture from the Gulf into Texas skies. The collision of the norther with the warm, wet air was expected to cause considerable rain in Texas.

Temperatures were pretty even around the state Saturday afternoon. Dalhart in the upper Panhandle, for instance, had 76 degrees and Brownsville on the Mexican border had 76.

El Paso had clear skies but the rest of Texas was cloudy or partly cloudy. A few showers fell in the south at Corpus Christi, Brownsville, Austin and Laredo.

Houston Bandit Suspect Caught

HOUSTON (AP)—Jack Tadlock, sought since Friday for the robbery of a Weingarten's store here, was arrested early Saturday in a New Orleans hotel.

He had been traced from here to Lake Charles to New Orleans by police Capt. W. W. Stephenson.

Tadlock, registered at the hotel, was in bed when New Orleans officers, acting on a tip by Stephenson, smashed in the door and arrested him.

Stephenson said New Orleans police told him Tadlock had a pistol under his pillow. In a canvas bag in the room police found $12,953.

Stephenson said he had recovered $800 that Tadlock had wired to his wife here.

Tadlock was assistant manager of the Weingarten's store.

U.S. To Show CD Equipment

BASTROP, Tex. (AP)—The government will display a $5 million stockpile of emergency supplies and equipment here in commemoration of national Civil Defense Day.

The public has been invited to visit the depot stockpile between 10 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 4, and on Wednesday, Dec. 7. It is located seven miles north of Bastrop on State 95, between Bastrop and Elgin.

A 200 - bed emergency hospital, radiological monitoring instruments, water purification equipment, first aid supplies and engineering equipment are among the items to be shown.

Wanda Boatler, Freddy White Win 4-H Achievement Awards

Freddy Cad White and Wanda Boatler are Howard County's Gold Star 4-H Club members for 1960.

They were announced for the highest honor the county 4-H organization can pay a member at the close of Saturday's Achievement Day activities at the Howard County Fair Grounds.

Their selection came as a complete surprise to both of the youngsters. The selection was made some days ago but the names of the two selected had been a closely guarded secret—so effectively guarded that neither Freddy nor Wanda had the slightest inkling they had been chosen.

The Gold Star presentation was made by Ralph White, Howard County Commissioner. He also presented some 30 or 40 other awards to boys and girls of the organization who have made outstanding contributions to the 4-H program this year.

White, who won the Gold Star for boys, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. White, Big Spring. He is 16 years old and a sophomore in Big Spring High School. His membership in the 4-H Club dates back seven years.

Freddy is president of the Howard County 4-H Club, an office to which he was elevated from vice president in 1959. He is a member of the board of directors of the 4-H Club Rodeo Association.

In 1959, Freddy showed the grand champion steer of the Howard County Livestock Show. His 4-H Club demonstrations have included both beef and dairy cattle. He is a member of the Howard County 4-H livestock judging team and has been on the team for the past two years.

He received the dairy animal award for 1957; the agricultural award in 1958 and the beef cattle award in 1960.

He is regarded by 4-H Club leaders as one of the county's outstanding young men and is at the forefront in all 4-H activities.

Miss Boatler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Boatler, has been a member of the 4-H for half of her 18 years. She long has been recognized as one of the county's leading 4-H Club members but had never received the conveted Gold Star until this year. Perhaps this was largely because Wanda was not content to devote her interests and talents to the activities largely delegated to

Rome Protests Priest's Ouster

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican has officially protested to Haiti for the expulsion of Archbishop Francois Poirier, the Caribbean island's highest Roman Catholic prelate.

The Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano, indicated that those responsible for the expulsion may have incurred excommunication with consequent loss of rights to the sacraments.

Expelled Priest Remains Silent

PARIS (AP) — Catholic Archbishop Francois Poirier, expelled from Haiti two days ago, returned to his native France today saying, "The situation in Haiti is too delicate for me to talk."

He repeated his firm denial of the charge by Haitian officials that he gave $7,000 to a Communist-inspired campaign in an attempt to overthrow President Francois Duvalier.

Plan Ahead For Social Security

The day when he retires from the job and collects his final pay check or pay envelope can be a time of misgiving for an aging worker. He is faced with the need for maintaining a regular income for himself and his household and social security retirement benefits may be the only source of that income.

How long will he have to wait until he receives his first monthly benefit check? The answer to that question is: how long did he wait to file his claim?

One of the goals of the Social Security Administration is to start the payment of benefits as soon as possible. "To that end," says H. P. Thomas, manager of the Odessa Social Security office, "We must have the cooperation of the worker who is about to retire. Don't wait until 'that day'," he says. "Come to the social security office ahead of time and tell us when you are to retire. Also give us your date of birth and social security number." As an alternative, he suggest that persons who work for a firm that maintains a personnel office inform that office of their retirement plans. They can then furnish the social security office with the needed information.

The social security ofice should have this information about thirty days before the worker's retirement date. It will then immediately obtain a statement of the earnings credited to his social security account, from the record-keeping office in Baltimore. With this information before the worker's retirement date, less time will be needed to complete his application when he goes to the social scurity office shortly before or after he retires. As a result, his first monthly benefit check will reach him sooner.

Thomas says that a person applying for social security benefits usually has two questions: What should I bring with me? and is an appointment necessary: Generally speaking the applicant should bring some proof of age, last year's withholding statement, and a record of the current year's earnings.

AIRMAN MUCHOW

Airman Rewarded For Designing Shoulder Patch

Civilians and airmen in the 3560th Transportation Squadron are now wearing a new shoulder patch designed by Airman 2.C. Bobby Muchow. The insignia depicts wrench, jack and package, symbolizing the overall mission of the transportation squadron, commanded by Maj. Michael A. "Cappy" Cappiello.

The package represents activities in the traffic management. The shoulder patch was adopted after three months of competition for a suitable design. Two winners were named in the contest.

T.Sgt. James H. Schafer's entry was ruld too expensive, costing $1.10 per patch, against 70 cents for the simpler design by Airman Muchow. Cash prizes were awarded with Airman Muchow being paid $5 from the squadron's unit fund and Sgt. Schafer received his $5 from Maj. Cappiello.

Airman Muchow joined the Air Force in August, 1957 and came to Webb after completing basic training at Lackland AFB. He is a clerk typist in the squadron orderly room.

Fined For Ripping Off Cop's Pants

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Because her car ripped off the seat of a policeman's pants, Gloria Pereira, 33, must serve five days in jail and she must buy him a new pair of pants.

Policeman Edward Neville, 35, says he was standing by a car giving a motorist directions last Aug. 30 when Mrs. Pereira's sports car whizzed by and its door caught the seat of his trousers.

A jury convicted her Nov. 1 of drunken and hit-and-run driving. Friday a judge decreed her punishment, including a $250 fine.

Howard County's Cotton Estimate Increased Again

Howard County gins have already processed 30,139 bales of 1960 cotton and the Texas Employment Commission has upped its estimated crop from 30,620 bales to 35,800. It had long been anticipated that the 30,620 estimate made at the outset of the picking season was too low and other agencies have been repeatedly predicting a crop in excess of 35,000 bales.

TEC estimated that Howard County has 84 per cent of its crop ginned.

Martin County on the other hand, where the TEC had guessed its crop at 72,575 bales will probably fall short of that total by a considerable margin. Through Friday, Martin County gins had processed 52,296 bales.

ALSO SHORT

Glasscock County, too, with an estimated 94 per cent of its crop harvested, will not reach the 10,205 bale total estimated for it by TEC. The estimate has been lowered to 9,300 bales. Glasscock gins have baled 8,909.

Dawson County has ginned 145,695 bales. Its crop is 91 per cent completed. Estimate for the county is 160,000.

Borden County, with a 13,000 bale estimated crop, has ginned 11,940 and Gaines County, with a crop expected to hit 75,000 bales, has ginned 61,000.

Fisher County's estimate has been increased from 40,000 to 45,000 bales. The TEC office in Sweetwater said that 38,715 bales have already been ginned and enough cotton is on the gin yards now to account for 40,000 bales. TEC said 139 strippers are working in the fields of the county.

Scurry County has 22,207 bales of an estimated 25,000 total ginned. One hundred and 10 strippers are working in that county.

Mitchell County, with 30,000 bales estimated as its crop, has 25,697 bales ginned. Fifty strippers are employed in the county.

Nolan's crop has been upped 2,000 bales from 18,000 to 20,000. The increase on the estimate came when a check showed 18,685 bales have already been ginned and at least 600 more bales waiting in the yards. Ninety-three strippers are in Nolan County fields.

The Road To Unity

Where there is division because certain ones honestly believe the others are wrong, the only path to unity is through free and open discussion. This was the path the early Christians took when division threatened. See Acts 15.

Tom Tarbet, preaching member (Church of Christ, West Highway 80).

If all groups were ready to either (1) justify their teaching and practice by the Bible, or (2) make the necessary changes, then unity would soon be worked out.

The Bible road to unity is the only road the religious world as a whole seems unwilling to try. They seem anxious to devise big schemes for union; but have a sad lack of interest in the New Testament plan for unity.

Here at the Church of Christ, we uphold the Bible plan for unity. We are compelled to do so, or else change our name!

Welcome to the services today. Sermons: "The Three Crosses" (10:30 a.m.), and "The Ten Commandments" (7:30 p.m.). Adv.

Priest, Girl Are Located

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A nationwide search for a Wisconsin hospital chaplain and a girl he is accused of abducting ended Friday in a shabby, two-room motel cabin in Phoenix.

The Rev. Lawrence Dudink, 47, a Roman Catholic priest with a history of mental illness, and Rosalie Anne O'Connell, 17, were picked up after an FBI agent spotted the chaplain's car.

Authorities said the two, missing since Nov. 8, had been in Phoenix for about two weeks. The girl, a high school junior from Gilbert, Minn., refused to discuss her disappearance.

Father Dudink, chaplain of St. Mary's Hospital in Superior, is charged with kidnaping the girl "by deceit." She had been undergoing treatment for a nervous disorder at the hospital.

Edward Boyle, FBI agent, said the couple apparently stayed close to the small, out-of-the-way motel. He said the chaplain told him he was low on money and planned to seek employment.

"The priest cashed a check in Flagstaff on the 15th," Boyle said, "and that put him in Arizona. We had been spot-checking motels in Phoenix for several days."

Father Dudink was arraigned before a U. S. commissioner on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution and jailed in lieu of $5,000 bond. The girl was placed in the custody of juvenile authorities.

Juvenile Released Pending Jury Study

LAMESA (SC) — The juvenile detained here in connection with one of three murders, to which Alfred Gonzales, Lamesa, has confessed, has been released to the custody of his parents.

County authorities decided to officially arraign the youth after Feb. 8, 1961, when he becomes 17 years of age and legally an adult. His case then will be probed by a Dawson County grand jury.

Rudy Gonzales, accomplice of Alfred, has been unable to post $5,000 on a murder charge here and the principal in the case was denied bond in justice court.

Big Spring In World Service

From left, Joey Cardenas, Elisa Cardenas, Steve Burnett and Yolanda Terrazas are preparing to distribute YMCA World Service pamplets. This program is dedicated to the development of Christian leadership in native peoples of foreign countries. It is supported through contributions from each local YMCA unit in the United States and Canada.

YMCA Sponsors World Service Work

Volunteers and contributions to the YMCA World Service program are being sought this month.

This activity of the YMCA spreads educational and Christian guidance to other countries. It makes possible schools in foreign countries; promotes rural work through teaching the people how to raise better crops and livestock. It teaches health and education, and many countries would not have Olympic teams today if the Y had not started physical education programs many years ago.

The World Service program also serves to translate Christian literature and leadership training books into other languages. It promotes camps and camping, and in some countries its outdoor activities program is the only one available to young people.

Daily, in 76 countries, people are being instructed in Christian leadership by trained Y secretaries. These men volunteer their services in foreign countries which, in turn, pay the salaries of the local Y workers. As soon as native secretaries can be trained, they assume leadership. In this instance, the Y is self - propagating and should spread itself from city to city in countries as leadership is developed.

World Service is not a welfare agency. In the few instances where it works with refugees, the food and clothing are usually provided by the United Nations or some other relief agency.

James M. Hardy, local YMCA general secretary, announces that contributions are now being accepted at the YMCA office. He, or any member of the local World Service committee, which includes Mrs. Lee Rogers, Dr. R. B. G. Cowper, S. M. Smith or Arnold Marshall, will accept the donation.

Building Boom Is Seen For Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — The Bureau of Business Research predicted a homebuilding boom in 1961 that may top the current year's figures by as much as 10 per cent.

"For the largest gains watch the fringe areas of Houston, Dallas, and Fort Worth," advised Charles Bettinger III, a statistician for the University of Texas agency.

Bettinger also forecast continued increases in nonresidential building, particularly in the Houston, El Paso, and the Beaumont-Port Arthur-Orange area.

The report showed total October construction was up 15 per cent. The January-October total remained 6 per cent below the same period in 1959, primarily because of slack business in nonmetropolitan areas.

Bettinger said that despite residential construction totals about one-fifth below 1959 the future is optimistic.

"A home building recession? Someone has definitely forgotten to tell builders in Wichita Falls, Port Arthur, Garland and Irving," he said. "New home construction in these areas has arrogantly refused to go along with the state trend and has shown substantial increases over last year."

He said Wichita Falls leads this group with an increase of 114 per cent over the first 10 months of 1959.

"Completely contrary to the previous state building movements to costlier housing, this city (Wichita Falls) has found the market at lower levels," Bettinger said. "This held true for three out of the four cities which maintained increases over last year. In direct opposition, cities with sizable drops in home construction almost invariably illustrated the trend to costlier per unit construction.

"Here is a clear-cut example of how overpricing, costlier financing and poor building economics can directly affect the industry all over the state."

He said the outlook for nonresidential building indicates increases in school construction, office building and industrial buildings in the Houston area in 1961.

He picked El Paso for "outstanding gains" in nonresidential building next year and said chemical industry growth will be foremost in the Gulf Coast area, particularly with building plans for $300 million in the Beaumont-Port Arthur-Orange area.

Weather, Oil Blamed For Business Drop

AUSTIN (AP)—The Bureau of Business Research blamed bad weather and oil production Saturday for a slight drop in Texas retail sales this year.

The University of Texas agency, however, predicted a record holiday trade.

October retail sales in Texas were virtually unchanged from September while national sales registered a gain of 2 per cent. Total October sales were estimated at $1,193,900,000.

"In the October-to-October comparison, Texas retail sales registered a 7 per cent drop while national sales rose one per cent," the bureau said. "Bad weather had its influence on Texas retail sales and the continued curtailed oil production had its effect on retail sales in the oil-producing centers of the state. The 10-month period of 1960 trailed the 1950 period by 2 per cent. The outlook now is for record holiday trade."

The sales volume in Texas department and apparel stores rose 5 per cent from September but was short of October 1959, by 11 per cent.

Of the 36 cities reporting, 25 registered sales gains from September, ranging from one per cent in Corsicana, Fort Worth and Sherman to 38 per cent in Corpus Christi and Denton. Galveston, Tyler and Waco reported sales volume for the 10 months of 1960 about the same as 1959. Brownwood, Denison, McAllen, Paris and Wichita Falls reported sales above 1959.

Apparent Suicide Pact In 2 Deaths

HOUSTON (AP) — The Harris County medical examiner said Jack Sullivan and Eileen Ann Reid, both of Houston, died of an overdose of barbituates. Dr. Joseph Jachimczyk said Friday Sullivan, 30, and Miss Reid, 25, apparently agreed to a suicide pact.

Their decomposed bodies were found in a small house here Nov. 14. Both were free on bond on narcotics charges.

No Catting Around For This Tomcat

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP) — Herman, 14 pounds of restless tomcat, was under court order today to stop courting the Siamese next door.

"Guess I'll have to keep the poor boy locked up," said Mrs. Russell H. Bowler after Superior Court Judge Ralph E. Hoyt issued a temporary injunction Friday.

The Siamese owners, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cook, want the injunction made permanent along with an award of $4,000 in damages.

For the present, yellow-striped Herman is certain not to be a trespasser. He is in a pet hospital, the victim of a mysterious mauling.

Cadillac

Grandest way in the world to get there!

It has been remarked that the most delightful distance between departure and arrival is a journey in a Cadillac car.

And if this has been recognized in years past, it will be more apparent in 1961.

For in all the things that make a motor car a pleasure to ride in—the current Cadillac is clearly in a class of its own making.

It's a pleasure just to sit in a new Cadillac!

First of all, there is the wonderful roominess of the car's interior. Space reaches out in every direction—above, in front, and to the sides.

Here, in motordom's most generously proportioned passenger area, you can really take your comfort and your ease in abundance.

Then there is its great luxury. The seat cushions are soft and gentle . . . and a wonderworld of personal conveniences is in attendance.

And what a treat the interior compartment is to the eye. Choice fabrics and leathers . . . exquisite patterns and textures . . . color and chrome—all blend into a vision of perfect beauty.

And in motion on the highway, these interior delights seem doubly pleasurable.

The car is incredibly smooth and level of ride . . . and it is so quiet in operation that it is actually possible to whisper and be heard!

Have you as yet made a journey in a 1961 Cadillac? If you haven't, you should do so soon.

It's one trip that every motorist owes to himself!

DEAR ABBY

IT'S NEWS

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are beside ourselves. Our 21-year-old son has been going with a girl. We did NOT disapprove of her, but when they asked permission to announce their engagement, we told them we wanted them to wait awhile as the girl is only 18, and our son is presently in the Army. To our amazement, in last Sunday's paper there appeared a picture of this girl. Her parents had "announced" her engagement to our son. We know her parents casually, but have never discussed marriage between our children. "A Christmas wedding" is planned, according to the paper. What should we do?

PARENTS OF THE BOY

DEAR PARENTS: Get in touch with your son. If he, too, is "amazed," you'd better get together with the girl and her parents and straighten the matter out. If the announcement was no surprise to your son, call the girl's parents and become better acquainted soon, or it will be rough sledding come Christmas.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: To your remarks about the boss taking his secretary to lunch, I say "Bravo!"

I have had the same secretary for 35 years. I have always called her "Miss Jones" and she has always called me "Mr. Smith." I have never asked her out to lunch or anywhere else. And I'm sure she never felt slighted. From what I've seen in my life, this is the only way to run a sucessful business and keep a happy home.

"HAVE BOTH"

DEAR ABBY: Next month I am going to the hospital to have my second baby. My younger sister offered to stay at my house and take care of my little girl, who is 3. My sister is 20, single, and is taking a week's leave of absence from her secretarial job to do me this favor.

I am ashamed to admit this, but I have been having terrible nightmares lately about a possible love affair between my husband and my sister while I am gone. I trust my husband and also my sister, but my husband is very good looking, my sister is pretty and I am very plain. How can I change these arrangements without making insulting accusations?

WORRIED AND UPSET

DEAR WORRIED: Line up a housekeeper, thank your sister and tell her you've changed your plans. Offer no excuses, but for goodness sakes, don't tell her (or your husband) the reason for the change. Even though there is probably no basis for your nightmares, your peace of mind is what counts right now.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a girl for four months steadily. I didn't really goof off on my studies because of her, but I flunked geometry. My father says it was her fault and won't let me see her until next term. How can I make my father understand that this girl had nothing to do with it? I have argued until I am blue in the face. BLUE BOY

DEAR BLUE: Hit the books, son, and try another angle.

Lyndon's New Office Staff To Be Smaller Than He Had

By TEX EASLEY
AP Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The office staff that Lyndon B. Johnson will inherit as the new vice president will be much smaller than that which served him as a Texas senator and Senate Democratic leader.

A check of an official Senate payroll published earlier this year listed only 16 employes under Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The list also showed Johnson had some 70 staff employes directly under his supervision. These included more than a score in his role as senator, as many more as the head of the Majority (Democratic) Policy Committee, and 15 on the Preparedness Committee of which he is chairman.

While those employes outside Johnson's senatorial office deal primarily with Democratic party or Preparedness Committee matters, Jeonson is so very much involved in all these operations that it is often impossible to draw a line cutting off activities which actually serve him as an individual senator.

Johnson's right hand man, Walter W. Jenkins of Wichita Falls, well aware a reduction in force is inevitable, recently called a staff meeting to tell the many employes under Johnson that every effort would be made to find jobs for all of them. A number of those on the policy and other staffs, aside from those in Johnson's senatorial office, are Texans and in jobs paying $8,000 to $16,000 annually.

A veteran among senatorial secretaries is one of those affected. He is Arthur Perry, formerly of Austin, who came to work here first with the late Sen. Morris Sheppard of Texas. As a lawyer, he worked for a few years in a federal agency, then came back to the Capitol to work for former Sen. Tom Connally of Texas and finally for Johnson. Now eligible to retire, Perry and his wife are vacationing in Europe.

While Johnson will have to get along with a much reduced staff, it still will be much larger that the one John Nance Garner, also of Texas, had as vice president.

When this reporter first came to Washington in 1937, one of the first persons he met was Vice President Garner and his wife. She headed up what, today would be called a skeleton staff.

Former Mayor Will Support Bonds; Phone Misuse Rapped

To the Editor:

I am going to vote for the county road bond issue on Dec. 3, 1960.

Any community that goes forward must have an adequate water supply, industry and a first class transportation system.

In 1950 Big Spring had 17,286 population; in 1960 it had 30,890, a 78.6 per cent increase in 10 years. Howard County had 26,722 in 1950 and 39,775 in 1960, or up 48.8 per cent. Contrast this to 129 counties which lost population. Most communities have average natural resources to build with, but the ones which go forward are the ones that look ahead for people.

I think it was in 1936 that Mr. E. V. Spence, then our city manager, called a meeting of taxpayers in the city auditorium and asked support for funds to impound two small lakes (Moss and Powell Creek). There was considerable opposition to the bond issue, and I recall that Mr. Spence told the audience if they wouldn't vote this issue, he would never ask them to vote another. Had this issue failed and the lakes had not been built, then we would today have a population of about 6,000 people at the most.

In 1945 when I went in as a city commissioner I told you water was the No. 1 problem. After years of research and conferences, we built Lake Thomas, and had we not, our population would not be more than 12,000 today. Some said we could not finance the 12 million dollar deal and voted against it; Midland withdrew because of the price tag.

I have served Big Spring as city commissioner and as mayor for 14 years until 1959, and I was privileged to be in many conferences with state highway officials in Big Spring and Austin. I have always found them helpful and considerate.

Big Spring has one of the best traffic systems in Texas and we want to complete the dead-ends and straighten out some kinks to lessen traffic hazards. We cannot do this ourselves, but the State Highway Department has agreed to do this for our city and county if we buy the right of way, which is a legal requirement. We are asked to vote a $150,000 bond issue that will only raise our county tax rate 4 cents. The county valuation is only 20 per cent of the actual tax value, so you see that a $10,000 home would be taxed only on the basis of $2,000, or 80 cents a year for the bonds.

The money from this issue will buy roadway for U.S. 87 north from Big Spring; FM 700 north from U.S. 80 to the Snyder highway, U.S. 87 eastward to Luther. The state is willing and ready to build all these roads now; and there will be some funds left in the issue to help widen FM 700 west to U.S. 80. If we do not vote this bond issue, the state's hands will be tied and this money will be allocated to other places that are ready to go ahead. Failure to vote the bonds will not only do us a great harm now, but more so in the future.

The best things in life are not free, but I consider this a rare bargain and an opportunity in a lifetime for some of us. It will take two-thirds majority to carry this bond issue. Think it over.

To the Editor:

What about this "Grapevine" on our telephone every Saturday and Sunday and holidays?

I tried to call an elderly friend to ask how she was feeling, and I could not reach her for the Grapevine. I heard someone plead with these teen-agers to get off the phone for she had an emergency call to make. It made me ashamed when they did not respond to her plea.

I have four children and when they reach the teen-age, I'll wear them out if they ever attempt to have anything to do with the Grapevine, or anything similar to it.

I am pleading with parents of these teen-agers to please make their children get off the Grapevine and do something worth while. If they are Christians they could be concerned about lost friends, if not about their own lost souls.

Honestly, Mothers and Dads, now!

MRS. JAMES R. PIPER
2202 Runnels

(The Grapevine, to which Mrs. Piper refers, is a trick by which it is possible to talk between the busy signals on the phone. This is because the system's busy signal, a superimposed sound, operates on a common ground. Contrary to a popularly-held belief, the Grapevine does not tie up phones wholesale but only the line of the party who is on the Grapevine. If he or she happens to be on a party line, this party line obviously is tied up. Most complaints have come from those on party lines. Phone officials agree that it can be annoying and that parents are the ones who can stop it.—Ed.)

GARDEN TALK

Moonflowers May Grow In Washington, Too

Mrs. Wayne Glenn writes asking if moonflowers can be grown in Washington. She wants to send seeds to relatives there.

I would say that they could be grown there. I don't know how successful they would be, but probably they would do well. These plants are striking when the white blossoms open up about dusk on a summer evening, in West Texas, they are a decorative plant. In other parts of the country, they become a weed and often get to be a problem.

Washington has at least three quite different climates and this plant should do differently under those varying conditions.

The coastal areas of Washington have a climate much like England and Ireland. Yet I saw "Indian blankets" (gallardia) nearly shoulder high in Ireland and England. I saw bear grass, one of our yuccas (little soap bush) growing at the London Airport, and blooming, too. I even saw several types of cacti native to West Texas in private gardens there, and they were doing well. If this could happen to these plants I am sure the moonflowers would find a way to adapt themselves to Washington also. By the same token, we can grow—with some pampering—plants native to other areas.

I was surprised to find redwood trees growing in Hereford, England. The redwoods seem well adapted to the British Isles and they are called Wellingtons, but the scientific name is still Sequoya, like our California redwoods. Perhaps this tree would do well here, too. My wife has asked me more than once to try a few in our yard or at the college campus. Do any readers know of any growing here now?

Lamesa Council To Seek Revenue To Meet Judgment

LAMESA (SC)—In an effort to find some method of paying off a $32,225 judgment against the city, the Lamesa city council last week authorized City Manager Carroll Taylor to study water, sewer and garbage collection rates for possible increases. A report is due Dec. 5.

A Pioneer Natural Gas Co. petition for a 10 per cent rate increase was also approved after studying an accountant's report that the request was in order. Two new police cars were also purchased at the meeting.

Mayor Bowers Purcell has indicated he will not sign a $32,224 note at a Lamesa bank until the council provides some method of repaying it.

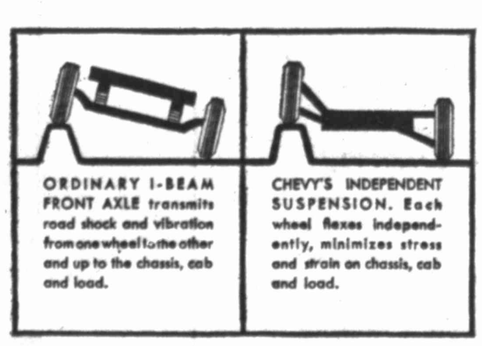
The judgment arose from a truck accident more than two years ago in which a city employe was killed. The original suit was for $30,400, but interest mounted the cost.

Spence To Attend Water Conference

E. V. Spence, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, leaves today for Austin and a two-day conference with state water resources panels.

Spence is a member of the coordinating group which will be in touch with several of the major subgroups which will make recommendations about about various phases of the Texas water problem.

HERE! THE TRUCKS THAT RIDE SMOOTHER, WORK HARDER, LAST LONGER!



Just a year ago, Chevy came up with independent front suspension and has already put some 300,000 Chevrolet trucks with it out on jobs.

The ride that results from Chevy's suspension design is making life a lot easier for drivers. (Just ask them.) It's taking better care of loads, the fragile kind that cost somebody money if they are bounced around. Chevy's ride also enables truck owners to revise their buying habits and work their trucks longer before they trade. This follows naturally. The trucks take less of a beating. There's less stress on sheet metal. Less abuse to tires. Less pounding that wears out parts before their time. The upshot of it is, you either save money or earn more of it or both. And you couldn't ask a truck to do more than that. See your dealer.

It Changed Her Life

Mrs. A. A. Burkhart demonstrates the electric cart in which she travels about Big Spring. Her son, Andy, awaits his turn while a younger brother, Tony, enjoys a free ride. Several hundred dollars were needed to purchase the cart but maintainence cost is relatively low. A special charger makes battery replacement necessary only about once a year.

Catalog Ad Changed Mrs. Burkhart's Life

By JO BRIGHT

In 1958, when Mrs. A. A. Burkhart, 903 Abrams, looked at page 1012 of the Sears, Roebuck & Company catalog, it completely changed her life. In the left-hand corner was a picture of the Lectracar.

Mrs. Burkhart, the former Cecola Burmeister of Ellsworth, Kan., was stricken with a sudden, feverish illness when she was 6. Doctors first diagnosed her case as "summer flu," but within five days she was paralyzed from the waist down and "polio" became a new word she was to learn and live with the rest of her life.

At that time, the March of Dimes, with its financial aid, had not been organized so such an illness could bankrupt the average family. Her father made the first braces his daughter ever wore. Using bicycle parts, he later designed a machine to provide exercise which also enabled her to move about the house.

But movement became easier with the new car.

MOTORIZED CHAIR

The Lectracar is a motorized wheel chair. In size, it measures 52 by 29 inches or about as long as a small kitchen table and narrow enough to pass through the average doorway. Its total weight is 368 pounds. The descriptive catalog copy states, "Let electric power do your pushing. Get around easier outdoors and in style." That's just what Mrs. Burkhart does.

Top speed for the car is about five miles per hour. It runs approximately 20 miles without recharging two 12-volt batteries. Its construction is of tubular steel with plastic upholstery. The vehicle is available with either hand or foot speed control and brake.

Its half horse-power motor will carry over a 300 pound load and a small back seat enables Mrs. Burkhart's sons, Andy, 9, and Tony, 7, to take turns accompanying their mother on shopping trips.

INDEPENDENT

"Every invalid dreams of being more independent," says Mrs. Burkhart. "They want to move around and work as much as possible." At one time, she was employed by a pottery manufacturing company in Ellsworth, where several girls took turns wheeling her to the plant. The job ended when transportation did—as the friends gradually married and moved away.

With the car, Mrs. Burkhart wouldn't have to worry about losing her job for that reason today.

However, she must still plan a trip to town as carefully as the average person organizes a cross-country journey. Hilly country, high curbs and stores with narrow aisles create problems. She prefers to shop in spacious supermarkets where there is less risk of running into merchandise stacked in the aisles.

STUDY CURBS

In a down-town area, she must study the paving plan and remember where there is a slanting curb to drive onto the sidewalk.

"Big Spring has so many high curbs. There are several stores I want to visit—if I can figure out a route," she says.

Polio has not kept Mrs. Burkhart from leading a comparatively normal life as a housewife and mother. The Burkharts were married in 1950. Their first son, Andy, was born with a resistant club foot and it has been in a cast most of his life. The foot has been straightened four times with all toes being broken and reset. Each time it has grown crooked again. His parents are hoping the last operation will prove successful.

"It's hardly noticeable now," says his mother. "Andy must wear special shoes but it doesn't bother him. They are expensive but the County Health Unit helped us with a pair this year."

Andy has played Little League baseball and won a golf trophy last summer when he attended the Texas Lion's Camp for Crippled Children in Kerrville. He manages to keep up with Tony who is the live-wire of the family.

AT VA HOSPITAL

Burkhart, nicknamed "Tiny", is presently employed in food service at the VA Hospital. When they came to Big Spring he was doing construction work at Webb AFB. When that job was completed, he was without regular work for almost a year.

"That's when I became the neighborhood baby-sitter," smiles Mrs. Burkhart. "When we lost our car and got behind on the bills, I found out how wonderful neighbors can be. One, in particular, often brought us vegetables from their farm and hired the boys to do small jobs, paying them twice what it was worth."

Mrs. Burkhart has kept a lovely sense of humor and an undying faith in good tomorrows.

Volunteers To Aid Yule For Patients

DALLAS — Visions of a Christmas stocking big enough to reach from Wichita Falls to Harlingen is costing Mrs. Frank O. Hamilton of Dallas some sleep.

Mrs. Hamilton is chairman of the Volunteer Services Council, dedicated to making life better for almost 26,000 patients and students in 18 state operated hospitals and special schools. It's their Christmas stocking she worries about.

"It's like thinking of Christmas for the entire town of Orange or Pampa, Sherman or Denton," she said.

Mrs. Hamilton was a volunteer in the state hospitals when at most a small paper sack of hard candy, nuts and a bit of fruit marked Christmas for the patients as different from any other day.

"We've come a long way toward giving Christmas back to them," the chairman said, "because Texans do care about their fellow Texans. Still Christmas gifts, treats and parties for 26,000 is pretty staggering to contemplate. But it's worse to contemplate disappointing a single one of them — and such a little gift can mean so much to a lonely, otherwise forgotten person."

In recent years, Mrs. Hamilton said, there has been at least one gift for each patient and in most instances it has been possible to add small items such as combs, bobby pins, cigarettes. Volunteers and hospital personnel wrap and tag the gifts, filling special patient "wishes" where possible.

"Generous, warm hearted people — sometimes acting as a group, sometimes as individuals—have made this possible," she said. "We hope and believe they will remember again this year. It does not matter which institution receives the contributions. They span the state from Tyler to Big Spring and Christmas looms large at each one."

Gifts such as may be found under any modest family tree are equally welcomed in the hospitals, she suggested. Toiletries, underwear, slippers, sweaters, scarves, tobacco and hose are typically sought after items.

* * *

Numerous Big Spring organizations are joining in the traditional Christmas party for Big Spring State Hospital patients. Currently gifts are being wrapped by volunteer groups, and clubs will sponsor programs on various wards prior to Christmas. There will be a gift for every patient.

In addition, volunteers from Midland, Stanton and Odessa are joining in the preparation for what has come to be the biggest Christmas party in the area. Arrangements are being directed by the Christmas party Committee of the local volunteer council.

Congratulations

PARIS (AP) — Singer Eddie Fisher and his present wife, Elizabeth Taylor, sent their best wishes today to his newly rewed former wife, Debbie Reynolds. She was married in Beverly Hills to shoe magnate Harry Karl.

Suicide Ruled

LUBBOCK (AP) — Justice of Peace George McClesky ruled suicide in the shooting death Friday of Luis Perez Abreau, 63, Mexican consul here for 13 months. An assistant found the consul's body slumped over his desk. A pistol was in his hand.

Brandt Admits Birth Rumor

HANNOVER, Germany (AP)—West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt openly acknowledged Friday that he was born out of wedlock in denouncing what he called a "dirty" whispering campaign against him.

Brandt is the Social Democratic party's candidate for chancellor of West Germany to oppose Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in next year's election.

Brandt mentioned his illegitimate birth and exile in Norway during the Nazi era as factors in the "dirty broth which is being brewed." He brought the issue into the open in a speech before wildly cheering Socialist delegates who chose him to lead the party against Adenauer's Christian Democrats.

Some Germans reproach Brandt for taking Norwegian citizenship during the war and note that he returned to Berlin after the war as a member of a Norwegian military mission.

Brandt commented: "I am proud of my apprenticeship and journeyman years in the Scandinavian North. They brought me experiences which I could hardly foresee when I had to leave my homeland at the age of 19. From these years I brought back not only treasured friendships but also insights into how one can transform a state strictly run on laws into a true home of the people."

Brandt, who was born Herbert Karl Frahm and took the name Willy Brandt in Norway, further said: "It is true that only in the last 28 years have I been named Willy Brandt. I have made no secret of it. As journalist and writer I had made my own name in all these years and did not want to run away from it."

Kitchen Destroyed By Fire

Fire of undetermined origin caused heavy damage to the R. R. Lewellen residence at 623 McEwen. The fire was discovered at 10 p.m. Saturday. The Lewellens were in Midland at the time. Fire Marshal A. D. Meador said that the kitchen was destroyed and the remainder of the house severely smoke-damaged

Farm Labor Influx Good For Business

BROWNFIELD (AP — The Brownfield News points out that the influx of Mexican braceros to pick cotton in this area is a two-way business deal.

Both the braceros and business houses make money.

The newspaper says that with the arrival of the braceros to help harvest the area's largest cotton crop, cash registers of Brownfield business concerns have jingled to the tune of $135,000 a week from bracero business alone.

Manager Elvon DeVaney of the Terry County Farm Association, which processes laborers to farmers in this area, estimated 9,000 Mexican nationals have been given employment in this season.

The News says that, on the average, the braceros make about $35 a week, or $210 during their six-week contracts.

DeVaney estimates that about $15 a week is spent in Brownfield stores. He says most of it goes for groceries, but the Mexicans also buy clothing, suiteases, sewing machines, radios and hundreds of other items.

Many of the Mexican nationals who come here for the cotton season are farmers. Others are barbers, carpenters, blacksmiths, and bus drivers. Many were out of work in Mexico.

The News says the chief drawback to braceros in this area is the weather. The first cold weather usually finds the farm association office swamped with requests for transportation back to Mexico.

Hunters Aid Hospital Fete

Eight hunters have given deer to the Big Spring State Hospital venison barbecue sponsored by the Texas A&M Club.

Aggie officials were heartened by the response to appeals for donations of venison and pointed out that virtually all that has been given so far has come from outside the Aggie ranks. Most of the club members plan to go hunting around the first of the month.

The barbecue has been set for 5:30 p.m. Dec. 15 and there will be a brief program prior to the big meal. Winston Wrinkle is arranging for the program, said James Tidwell, Aggie president.

A meal with all the trimmings for a barbecue will be prepared along with the barbecued venison.

Any other hunter who will give a deer to the cause is asked to leave the buck carcass at the Big Spring Locker Company with instructions to add it to the Aggie barbecue supply.

Among those contributing meat so far are R. C. Thomas, Fred Thomas, C. D. Wade, Hayes Stripling Sr., Gil Jones Jr., H. W. Smith, Otis Grafa Sr. and Dr. P. W. Malone.

Zephyr Man Wins Sweetwater Show

SWEETWATER, Tex. (AP) — The grand champion bull of the Sweetwater Area Hereford show was shown Saturday by W. F. Whiteley of Zephyr. The bull was sold to Roy Largent of Merkel for $600.

Reserve champion bull was shown by Heston McBride of Bianket. It was purchased by Dub Harvey of Sweetwater for $510.

Champion heifer was shown by McBride and was bought by State Rep. Renal Rosson of Snyder for $610.

Cannibal Ritual Returns To Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—The ancient ritual of eating your enemy is making a secret comeback in the Congo backwoods.

Unrest sweeping the country and the fact Belgian punitive measures no longer are to be feared contribute to the revival of cannibal witchcraft.

The Belgian administration and Christian missionaries never quite stamped out the belief among the isolated and primitive tribes that eating your enemy will strengthen you.

Among some Baluba clans in Kasai and north Katanga, in the remote border regions of Oriental Province and in the swamps of the middle Congo, human flesh is again eaten in secret tribal ritual —not as a delicacy or for nourishment, but for the magic properties of a dead enemy's limbs and organs.

The heart brings courage, the brain intelligence, and the legs speed, according to the witch doctors. They hold that the more dreaded and hated the enemy, the more powerful the magic.

But never is a man sacrificed in cold blood simply to be eaten, as in the cartoonists' "missionary stew." The magic of the warrior tribesmen requires a body slain in combat or in vengeance.

U.N. officials are convinced that one of the eight Irish soldiers killed in a recent Baluba ambush in northern Katanga was eaten in a cannibal ritual.

His body disappeared from where he had died under a hail of arrows. It never has been recovered. Experts in tribal customs believe he was selected from the eight victims as most suited for their rites.

Two Tunisians killed earlier in tribal fighting in southern Kasai are known to have been partly consumed in similar ceremonies.

The pilot of a single-seater Belgian observation plane shot down by Congolese mutineers near Inkisi in July never was found. A Congolese blandly told searchers: "The people were so enraged they ate him."

All those familiar with the more primitive Congo tribes report a conspiracy of silence concerning the cannibal rites. Even in the cities Africans become silent and hard of hearing when the matter is raised.

Manhunt On For Kidnaper

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A nationwide manhunt was on Saturday for a convicted murderer after the cash payment of $200,000 for the release of a kidnaped wealthy San Diego sportsman.

The hunted man is believed to have more than half of the ransom cash in his possession.

The victim, Anthony Alessio, 41, is back with his family, unharmed after his ordeal.

The Alessio family, one of the wealthiest in San Diego, operates the Caliente Racetrack at Tijuana, Mexico, just south of here, and the Hotel Del Coronado.

Three persons have been arrested for the kidnaping but a fourth, Frank Marrone, 31, is still at large and is believed to have $122,500 of the Alessio money.

Marrone's neighbors at an apartment house said he once told them: "I'm going to make a lot of money some day. And I'm going to make it at Caliente Racetrack."

The FBI said it understood Marrone, a former bartender, was tried at Anchorage, Alaska, in 1958 and convicted of second-degree murder in the killing of another bartender. The FBI said their information is that he is at liberty in that case on $30,000 bond pending an appeal.

Alessio was kidnaped from his luxurious San Diego home Tuesday afternoon, but word of the crime was kept secret until Friday night as FBI agents and police worked on the case.

Alessio returned from the racetrack and was kidnaped as he stepped out of his white Cadillac. He was driven to a vacant residence and then to a motel.

Alessio's wife, Virginia, received a call demanding $650,000 for her husband's release and warning her that he would be killed instantly if authorities were notified.

This was the first in a series of phone calls and communications. The Alessio family, which includes Alessio's six brothers, finally talked the kidnapers into accepting $200,000 for the abductel man's release.

Following instructions, a brother, John Alessio, placed the money in bills of $100 and less in a duffel bag and drove to a parking lot in Hollywood Wednesday night. He left the bag in the uniocked car and walked away. A man removed the bag and disappeared in heavy traffic that was connected with a Santa Claus parade in Hollywood that night.

Ninety minutes later Alessio was found by FBI agents in the San Diego motel, still handcuffed and blindfolded, but unharmed. The family had received a call telling them where Alessio could be found.

Shortly after Alessio was freed three persons were arrested in Los Angeles in the case. They are Robert James Gorman, 29, an escapee from the Men's Prison at Chino, Calif., where he was serving five years to life for robbery; his wife, Ruby Elaine, 30, and Selma Clark Marrone, 25, of Los Angeles. With their arrest FBI agents recovered $77,500 of the ransom money.

Mrs. Marrone is the wife of the man still being sought.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy did some work on the shaping of his official family Saturday as well as visiting his personal family.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen Kennedy had made several long-distance phone calls to discuss appointments to his Cabinet. But, Salinger added, in no case did he talk to the men he has under consideration. Instead he sought advisers' ideas on his prospective appointees.

Body Of Angelo Youth Is Found

SAN ANGELO (AP)—The body of a 16-year-old San Angelo boy who disappeared last Sunday was pulled from North Concho Lake Saturday by three members of the San Angelo Emergency Corps.

The youth, Jimmy Allen Clevenger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burine Clavenger, was last seen near the lake with his home-made boat made of two car hoods welded together.

2 Boys Slightly Hurt In Collision

Two young Tarzan boys were slightly injured Saturday night when the pickup in which they were riding with their father, Max Thomas Everts, was in collision with another car, driven by Donald Murphy, 223-A Langley.

Jeffry Don Everts had an inch and a half cut on the back of his head and Tommy Everts a bruised mouth. Both were given first aid at the Howard County Foundation Hospital.

Ex-Con Wounded In Cafe Shooting

Andrew Garcia, 22, who was released from the state pententiary just two days ago, was shot and seriously wounded at 5:07 p.m. Saturday. He is in Cowper Hospital & Clinic where his condition is described as being serious but not critical. He was shot one time in the left side, the bullet ranging downward from the base of the ribs.

Tomas Carreno, 24, who lives on a rural route out of Coahoma, is in the city jail. He will be charged with assault with intent to kill. He was arrested at 7:20 p.m. Saturday one mile north and five miles east on the Luther highway by Capt. W. E. Eubanks and Deputy Sheriff Sonny Buzbee.

The shooting occurred in the El Rancho Cafe at 305 NW 4th. Nalley-Pickle ambulance removed the wounded man to the hospital.

City police said that Garcia and a companion had just entered the El Rancho and were seated at a table. The companion was called to the bar.

At that instant witnesses reported Carreno walked in the door. He fired one shot at Garcia.

Eubanks said that when Carreno was arrested on the Luther road, he was in a car with four other Latin-Americans. They were en route to Big Spring, they told the two officers, and Carreno planned to surrender. The arresting officers said Carreno had the gun in his hand, when he stepped out of the car. He told the officers he fired only one shot because the gun jammed. Buzbee said that the clip of unfired cartridges had been pinched at the top and that the cartridges would not release.

Officers were taking statements from the score or more patrons who were in the El Rancho at the time of the shooting. Buzbee said that Carreno works on the Henry Mote farm.

Carreno was arrested in 1958 for a similar offense.

Police reported that Carreno told them Garcia had once shot at him (Carreno).

Civic Theatre Rehearsals Set

Rehearsals will be held at 3:30 p.m. today for several one-act plays designed for the Christmas season.

The plays are to be presented before schools and civic groups by the Civic Theatre. The rehearsals will be held in the Prairie Playhouse.

Four one-act plays are on the agenda, and three of them were authored by Big Spring citizens.

"Sam Geebe's Christmas Angel," a comedy, was penned by Bill Sandefur, formerly of Webb AFB, and has been presented before local audiences on several previous occasions. Newer plays, not yet staged, include "The Trial of Smokehouse Pete," a poem-drama with comical overtones written by Art Clonts. The third play is a futuristic drama, "We Do Not Belong Here," by Bob Smith.

The fourth play, "Unto Bethlehem," is the only one not written by local persons.

Rehearsals will continue throughout the week, and Thursday, a workshop program will be presented at the playhouse.

Compact Cars Have A Bad Day

Saturday was a bad day for compact cars.

Three accidents checked out by police Saturday afternoon involved light-weight autos.

At 17th and Johnson, Marlene E. Euler, 1601 Owens, in a Renault, was involved in a collision with Barbara Christine Lyle, Cosden Petroleum Corp., driving a Morris Minor.

At 4th and Benton, Isaac Jones, 1908 Johnson, in a Volkswagen was in a collision with George Harold, Brock, Seymour. Brock was in a Chevrolet.

Later in the evening, Delfino Padrone Molina, Coahoma, in a Corvair, was in a collision with Guadalupe Sisneros, 709 NW 9th.

Louisiana Legislature To Resume Race Battle

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—The Louisiana Legislature, seeking ways to wreck school integration, returns Sunday with some members trying to block the state's 10 electoral votes for John F. Kennedy.

With the possibility of Illinois' 27 votes becoming a bit uncertain, any switch in Louisiana's 10 electoral votes won by Kennedy could play a key national role.

But Louisiana's 10 electors, who will cast their vote here Dec. 19, insisted they are firmly behind the president-elect and any attempt to cripple them would be met with a court battle.

Gov. James H. (Jimmie) Davis, who formed a coalition with top segregationists and Shelby M. Jackson, the politically powerful state superintendent of education, to combat the school integration of four Negro girls in two New Orleans schools, remained silent on the elector showdown.

City Judge Edmund Reggie, of Crowley, an elector and a Davis supporter, said Saturday, "I have not heard anything from Gov. Davis on this, nor have I heard that he has discussed the matter with other electors.

"Frankly," Reggie added, "I believe Gov. Davis will abide by the vote of the majority of the people Nov. 8 and not interfere with the electors."

Kennedy carried Louisiana, with its heavy Roman Catholic population in southern Louisiana, by 176,000 votes over Richard M. Nixon. A states rights slate of unpledged electors ran third.

The elector question was touched off when State Sen. Howard Jones, St. Joseph, with nine cosponsors in the 39-member Senate said he would introduce a resolution requesting the 10 electors not to vote for anyone who doesn't take a stand on the question of states' regulating their own schools. None of the sponsors first revealed on the proposal are Davis administration leaders.

There have been private mutterings of a stronger move to oust the electors from office, unless they agree to change their status to unpledged. Legislators said talk on that question was a hot rumor before they went home last Wednesday.

Earlier, Kennedy told a Louisiana delegation it would be inappropriate for him to comment, as the legislature had asked, on federal courts restraining the Legislature.

Backers of unpledged electors hoped to put together a Southern bloc. There are eight unpledged electors in Mississippi, six in Alabama.

Should Illinois change, Nixon could have 250 votes, or 19 shy of election. And should the Louisiana Legislature succeed in throwing the state's 10 electoral votes into the unpledged category, that would add 10 free electors to the 14 in Mississippi and Alabama for a total of 24.

But there is no evidence of strong support in the Legislature. One veteran senator, who would not be quoted by name, said that Jones' Senate concurrent resolution "wouldn't go." And several southern Louisiana representatives branded any attempt to tamper with the electors foolish and ridiculous.

girls. Wanda has been a staunch and tough competitor in the boy's division, particularly in beef cattle and sheep. The judges this year felt that she was long overdue as a Gold Star winner and she was the unanimous choice for the honor.

In the nine years she has been active in 4-H, she has devoted much time to demonstrations in beef cattle and sheep. She won the beef cattle showmanship awards at Abilene and Odessa in 1958 and received the meat animal award in her own county in 1957 and the achievement award in 1958.

She was presented the leadership award in 1959. A senior in Big Spring High School, Wanda is a five-year member of the board of directors of the Howard County 4-H Club Rodeo Association and a past secretary of the county 4-H organization. She was also junior lead in 1959 and 1960.

Special citizenship awards were presented to three 4-H Club members. These awards are in recognition of the contributions the recipients have made in good citizenship activities. Receiving citizenship awards were John Phillips, Sharon Harrison and Lawrence Long.

The ceremonies were in the fair grounds barn where demonstrations in steer and sheep showmanship had been in progress Saturday morning. A sizeable throng of club members and their parents attended the exercises. Jimmy Taylor, county agent, and his assistant Lovell Kuykendall, instructed the boys and girls in the way steers and lambs should be readied for show competition. A contest in judging steers was held.

A free barbecue dinner was served to all club members and their parents at noon.

ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS

Special awards were made to: Gary McNew, showed Champion Southdown lamb at Abilene Fat Stock Show; Rodney Brooks, showed Reserve Champion steer at Abilene Stock show; Lucy Thornton, showed Champion steer at county show; and Orveta Fryar, showed Champion Southdown lamb at county show.

State Cases Set Dec. 5

Next jury period slated for the 118th District Court will open on Dec. 5, Ralph Caton, judge, said Saturday.

A criminal docket is set for that date.

Headlining the list of cases will be the five indictments pending against V. A. Gomez, alleging theft and embezzlement. In the event that something prevents these cases from coming to trial, other criminal cases are to be set down.

Gil Jones, district attorney, has said that the state will press for the trial of the Gomez cases. However, Gomez, a few weeks ago, changed attorneys and there is a report the new lawyer, whose home is in San Antonio, will not be in the state on the date the cases are set.

Gomez was indicted first in 1957 for participating in the theft of plumbing supplies and fixtures from the Saunders Co. He fled the country remaining a fugitive until this year. Soon after his return to Howard County, Jones called a special session of the grand jury and four additional indictments were returned against the defendant. These, too, all involve the theft of merchandise from the Saunders Co.

Traffic Deaths Increase Sharply

Traffic	294
Fires	38
Miscellaneous	74
Total	406

By The Associated Press

Traffic deaths increased sharply Saturday as the long Thanksgiving weekend moved into its final and most dangerous hours—the period when homebound holiday travelers and short-trip drivers fill the highways.

The death rate slackened Friday when many persons went back to work after a one-day holiday. But it then climbed steadily when motorists swelled post-Thanksgiving traffic.

The total for traffic deaths since the count began at 6 p.m. Wednesday was 294. Fires claimed 38 lives and 74 persons died in miscellaneous accidents for a total of 406.

Generally pleasant weather lured many to highways across the country. But the absence of severe cold early in the holiday—always a factor in fire fatalities—helped hold down the toll to some extent in that category.

The National Safety Council did not estimate the number who might die in traffic during the current weekend. However, it said that 407 persons would normally be killed on the highways during a four-day weekend at this time of year.

The council says travel on Thanksgiving is not as heavy as on other major holidays.

An Associated Press nonholiday weekend count two weeks ago showed 433 traffic deaths, 69 fire deaths and 144 in other accidents for a total of 646.

Thanksgiving weekend a year ago claimed 445 lives in traffic, 70 in fires and 135 in miscellaneous accidents for a total of 650.

The violent death toll in Texas for the Thanksgiving holiday period soared to 36 Saturday night with traffic, as usual, leading the carnage.

The Associated Press began the death tabulations at 6 p.m. Wednesday and continued them until Midnight Sunday.

Little Dana Cawthen, 3, died Saturday when he darted in front of an automobile at Odessa driven by Mrs. Roy Long. Police said Mrs. Long was not at fault. She was treated for shock.

Jettie Lou Harrist, 21, died in Fort Worth Saturday night when she fell from a moving car. She was a cousin of Curtis Lee Jones, Arkansas ex-convict who is under charges of raping her recently. She fell from a car driven by Joseph Verner, her companion when both were kidnaped by Jones on Oct. 27.

Nathan Reinhardt, 23, of Rankin died in McCamey of injuries suffered when a car flipped over on a curve two miles east of Rankin.

William Pollard, 53, of Midland was killed Saturday when his car hit a highway post on a curve 20 miles west of Menard. He was en route to southwest Texas for a hunting trip.

Kennedy Family Reported Well

WASHINGTON (AP) — All four members of the John F. Kennedy family were doing very well Saturday—by direct testimony and authoritative report.

The father and president - elect visited his wife and new son at Georgetown University Hospital and then told newsmen all is well with them and him.

Dr. John W. Walsh, who delivered John F. Kennedy Jr. by Caesarean section early Friday, sent word through Kennedy's press secretary that the mother, Jacqueline, 31, "is recovering rapidly—more rapidly than from her first child." Caroline, 3, also was a Caesarean baby.

As for Caroline, press secretary Pierre Salinger said she has accepted warmly the news of her little brother's arrival and regards him as a special sort of gift marking her third birthday Sunday.

The Kennedy son, 6 pounds, 3 ounces at birth, remained in an incubator Saturday and was reported taking and retaining his first nourishment—sips of sweetened water. A couple of days' incubator care for slightly premature, Caesarean infants is routine.

Up to midday Mrs. Kennedy had not seen her son but will peep at him through the incubator window —as her husband has done—whenever her strength permits a wheelchair trip from her room.

Kennedy was accompanied to the hospital Saturday morning by Dr. Janet Travell, a New York City specialist who has treated Kennedy's back, hurt in his youth and re-injured in World War II. This stirred speculation that the president-elect might be having a recurrence of his old trouble.

But Salinger told reporters this is not the case. He said Dr. Travell is an old friend of the family and made the trip to Washington only to see the baby.

The traditional question of whom the baby looks like remained unanswered after Kennedy's 15-minute morning visit. Asked about it, he told reporters, "I'll let you know" — presumably when he makes up his own mind.

Information from hospital sources has been limited to the word that the baby has dark hair and is a handsome little fellow. The public will have to wait to make its own judgment because pictures will not be allowed for another week or 10 days.

Congratulations For Dad

Night nursing supervisor Mrs. J. F. Robinson congratulates President-elect John F. Kennedy on his arrival at Georgetown University Hospital, Washington, to see his new son, John F. Kennedy Jr. The baby was born just about the time Kennedy was landing at Palm Beach, Fla., to resume his vacation after spending Thanksgiving Day with his wife and daughter, Caroline, in Washington. Kennedy engaged another plane and returned at once.

MRS. MALVINA WOOD
Operates Polaroid ID camera

New Machines Speed Up Webb Output Of ID Cards

Operations of the 3560th Air Police Squadron's pass and registration section have been "streamlined" with the recent installation of two modern machines that can kick out identification cards in less than 10 minutes.

According to one of the section workers, Mrs. Malvina J. Wood, an ID card can get the "rush job" label when the situation calls for it.

The machines a Fairchild Polaroid ID camera and plastic laminating machine, has reduced to one day the former waiting period of four to seven days.

The job of issuing new and replacement ID cards had been time-consuming. Photos were taken in the section, and at the end of the day sent to the Base Photo Lab for printing. There they stayed for as much as three days —depending on the workload. Laminating took five minutes for each card.

The new camera produces a finished photo in one minute and the card and photograph is sealed by the laminating machine in five seconds. Normally, 24-hour service can be expected from the section.

S.Sgt. Verlin L. Schrader and Mrs. Wood operate the pass and registration section.

New Generation

NEW YORK (AP)—Caroline Worth, a third generation show business performer, is making her New York debut in the Alec Wilder musical "Kittiwake Island" at the Martinique theater.

Miss Worth, 22, is a daughter of Comedian Colee Worth and Dancer Marcia Ray, niece of Musical Performer Billie Worth, and the granddaughter of Otto Worth, owner-manager of minstrel shows.

W. Texas Harvest Gains Momentum

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Harvesting gained momentum in West Texas last week. In the eastern half of Texas and especially in south central and upper coastal counties, heavy rains stopped all outdoor activities, Director John Hutchison of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reported.

Only small areas needed moisture. Generally, moisture was favorable except in the areas where rainfall has been excessive and has halted cotton stalk destruction and planting of flax and other crops.

In the South Plains where excellent crops are being harvested, reaping of about 65,000 acres of irrigated soybeans has been completed with yields averaging about 30 bushels an acre. About 70 per cent of the dryland cotton was harvested with yields ranging from a half to a bale per acre. Stripper harvesting was going full-blast and gins were operating around the clock. Leaf rust on wheat was widespread. More livestock is needed to graze the wheat fields.

In the Panhandle, moisture generally was adequate. The grain sorghum harvest was 80 to 90 per cent complete. Cattle were in good condition and small grain fields were furnishing grazing.

Moisture was needed in three Rolling Plains (Vernon) counties for grains. Farmers are busy harvesting cotton and finishing grain seeding.

In far West Texas, moisture is generally adequate. From 70 to 80 per cent of the cotton and sorghum is harvested. Livestock are in good condition. Range vegetation is curing well for winter grazing.

Hot Evidence

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—Evidence he was trying to destroy by fire led police to a thief charged with taking two women's purses from a car.

The smell of burning plastic billfolds in the vicinity of a bridge prompted Rookie Patrolman Richard Donnelli to look under the bridge and came up with the alleged thief.

Study Shows Texas Taxes In Fast Rate Of Growth

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Manufacturers Association said Saturday its study of taxes and spending in Texas shows state expenditures here are increasing faster than in 20 other industrial states.

The report was published along with the statement the TMA board has adopted a resolution endorsing a general sales tax.

Difficulty

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—There's a problem horse at Hawthornden State Hospital.

For years, a mental patient who gave his orders in Polish drove the horse around the grounds to pick up trash. Recently the patient was transferred. Now, officials say, they can't find anyone the horse can understand.

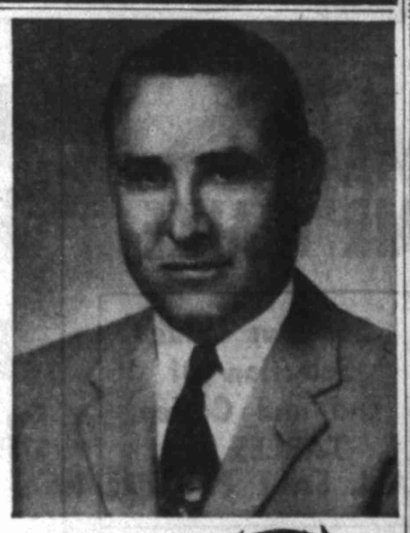
MEET THE 'seniors' OF THE COSDEN FAMILY . . .



ELWOOD CARLILE

This is the 20th in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valuable services of these employees who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the company.

15

Elwood Carlile is a second-generation Cosden employee. His fifteen years with the Corporation almost meet the halfway point in the 31-year career of his father, A. L. Carlile. Add to their tenure that of two other Carlile sons, Robert Lee and Billy Wayne, and the total comes to an impressive 69 years of service to Cosden.

Big Spring has been Elwood Carlile's home since four years after his birth in Roscoe. He left to join the Navy in September, 1942; when he was discharged three years later it was as Carpenter's Mate 2/c. He had spent most of the time aboard a cargo vessel that made ports in Australia, Panama, Central America and New Guinea.

He had been home scarcely two weeks before he was on the job, October 29, at Cosden's refinery as a yardman. Assignments came as relief gauger, rackman, and in the asphalt plant as a pumper's helper and a loader. His classification today as an asphalt pumper, blender and loader originally was applied to him in 1950.

When the family are not home at 610 Ridglea Drive, they are usually at Lake J. B. Thomas, where Carlile owns a cabin jointly with his father. The family includes 13-year-old Jo Elaine, an eighth grader, and Robert Wayne, 10, a fifth grade student. Mrs. Carlile, who was Jo Allen before her marriage July 10, 1945, is secretary to the principal at Runnels Junior High. She shares her husband's and the children's enthusiasm for fishing. Boating and skiing are recreational dividends for them all.

Editor Avers Congress Could End Secrecy In Government

NEW YORK (AP)—A Florida newspaper editor, who heads Sigma Delta Chi's freedom of information committee, said Saturday that Congress could — "by simple strokes of the pen"—eliminate most secrecy in federal government agencies virtually overnight.

The statement came in an annual report prepared by V. M. Newton Jr., managing editor of The Tampa Tribune and president of Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalistic fraternity. Newton also serves as chairman of the fraternity's Freedom of Information Committee.

Sigma Delta Chi's annual convention opens here next Wednesday.

Newton said there probably is more secrecy now among federal agencies than when he took over as committee chairman eight years ago.

DEEP SECRETS

"Congress, by simple strokes of the pen, could withhold all appropriations from those agencies, bureaus, commissions, etc., that persist in doing the people's business in deep - dark secret," he added.

Newton cited three reasons why Congress is hesitant to take action against secrecy in federal bureaus and agencies:

1. "The worship of the political party at the expense of the rights of the people.

2. "A hesitancy to collide head-on with the president, who is the head man of the bureaucracy.

3. "A preference for the political privilege that is available in its own little packages of secret government."

Newton's 43-page printed report reviews progress toward the goal of freedom of information at federal and state levels of government, in the court rooms—and in Latin American countries.

LOCKED DOORS

Most federal government meetings are locked-door affairs, Newton said, and the government's decisions are given to the people only after secret deliberations.

Newton said Congress is the key to the problem of government secrecy.

He added: "We call upon each and every newsman in our land, as well as upon the American people, to keep a constant pressure upon the individual congressman to remind him that American government is the servant of the American people; that man's freedom always has been extinguished in secret government; and that only an informed public opinion can preserve the processes of free government."

OPTIMISM

Newton specifically cited secrecy surrounding the president's budget each year and said "at no time do the American people get a clear look - see at the expenditure of their federal tax funds to ascertain whether or not they are being spent wisely, wasted or stolen."

Newton's report said there is more reason for optimism in the fight for freedom of information in state, county and city governments.

"The Sigma Delta Chi drive for freedom of information legislation in the various states is now earning rich dividends in government information for the American people," he said.

He said far fewer complaints have been made during 1960 about closed records and closed meetings on the lower levels of government.

During this year also, three states — Wisconsin, Nevada and New Jersey — adopted the Sigma law, bringing the number of states with such legislation to 25.

The fight for open - meetings legislation was lost, however, in 1960 in Arizona, Mississippi and New York, he reported.

DRAWS PRAISE

The action by Congress in temporarily abandoning the equal time requirement—an action that made the Kennedy-Nixon television and radio debates possible during the presidential campaign —drew praise from Newton.

On this point, the report said: "It became evident that if these programs brought general approbation, broadcasters would make an effort in 1961 to repeal Section 315 of the Communications Act entirely. Thier argument would be their proven ability to hand political broadcasting on their own responsibility, without detailed legal directions."

On the other hand, the report said, little progress was made in 1960 in the effort by broadcasters and photographers to report courtroom proceedings with camera and microphone.

WHAT'S HIDDEN?

"Your committee cannot refrain from asking the American Bar Association what does the American lawyer have to hide and to be ashamed of when he bars, by his own private regulations, pictures of the proceedings of free American justice in the free American courtroom for the benefit of the free American people?" Newton asked.

In Latin America, the report said, "no dictator ever has been more ruthless than Fidel Castro (of Cuba) in the throttling of a nation's free and independent press and in taking over all avenues of communication."

Child Rescued

A rescue worker holds two-year-old Todd Duncan by arm as he and the child are hauled from a rescue tunnel dug to extract the child from an eight-foot construction hole at a motel in Gilroy, Calif. The boy was trapped more than three hours.

District Scout Meet Thursday

John Ben Sheppard, Odessa attorney and former Texas attorney general, will be the speaker Thursday evening when the Lone Star Boy Scout district has its annual meeting.

The dinner affair is set for 7 p.m. at the Cosden Country Club.

Sheppard's address will be a highlight of the meeting which will include the installation of district officers. Several officials from the Buffalo Trail Council, of which the Lone Star District is a part, are expected.

Tickets ($1.50 per plate) are being handled by Joe Jackson at Cosden, or they may be obtained through institutional representatives of the various Cub, Scout and Explorer units.

The annual dinner is for adult Scouters and unit leaders are honored guests.

State Ready To Award Two County Road Jobs

Joe Smoot, assistant district highway engineer, told Ed Carpenter, county judge, Friday that the state is ready to let contracts for both the Hartwells road, west of town, and FM 846, north of Big Spring, as soon as final right of way on the latter is obtained.

Smoot said that the state would like to award the two jobs at the same time—a better price usually being obtained where more mileage of road can be simultaneously built.

The Hartwells road, which would connect US 80 and the Andrews highway is ready for construction.

The county has obtained all easements and moved back all fences and utility lines.

Some right of way on FM 846 still remains to be completed. Carpenter believes that it will be in the hands of the commissioners in a relatively short time. The commissioners have been pressing the state to proceed with the Hartwells job which has been ready for some months.

Club To See Film

The program for the Big Spring Rotary Club Tuesday will be the showing of a film entitled "Reaching for the Stars". The film will be introduced by Bob Travis, district commercial manager for the Texas Electric Service Co.

To Red Meeting

HAVANA (AP)—Led by Vilma Espin, wife of armed forces chief Raul Castro, the wives of Cuba's education minister, secret police chief and acting National Bank president left Saturday for Prague and a conference of the Communist-dominated International Democratic Federation of Women.

Fugitive Youth Returned To Jail

A 13-year old boy who vanished last week after he had been given permission to visit his mother prior to being sent to Boy's Ranch at San Angelo, is back in the county jail. He was arrested in Midland and turned over to A. E. Long, county juvenile officer.

Another jevenile fugitive, Manuel Pineda, ordered returned to Gatesville for his third hitch at that institution, was still being sought Saturday. Pineda, after being ordered to the school by the juvenile court, fled from Long's custody early last week.

The younger boy, returned from Midland, has made a two-page statement of various thefts and acts of vandalism which he admits perpetrating, Long said.

Long said that Pineda had been spotted Saturday morning but evaded capture when officers closed in on a residence where he was hiding.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SECTION B — BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1960 — SECTION B

Duke Is Named To Play Hogs

DALLAS (AP)—Duke University Saturday was named to the Cotton Bowl football classic Jan. 2. Host team will be Arkansas, champion of the Southwest Conference.

The announcement was made by Felix R. McKnight, chairman of the Cotton Bowl Selection Committee.

McKnight said Duke accepted. Duke possesses a won-lost record of 7-2, with one game to play—against UCLA Dec. 2.

Arkansas, with an 8-2 record and the Southwest title, has finished the regular season.

Duke is champion of the Atlantic Coast Conference. It defeated South Carolina, Maryland, North Carolina State, Clemson, Georgia Tech, Navy, and Wake Forest. It lost to Michigan and North Carolina.

Duke can expect to take home a cash prize in the neighborhood of $175,000.

Financial rewards are not as great for the host team, Arkansas. The Southwest Conference school will receive about $65,000 and expenses. Most of the remainder is divided between the eight conference schools, including Arkansas, which will add about $15,000.

The Cotton Bowl seats 75,504 and is virtually filled each classic.

Arkansas played in the New Year's game in 1947, tieing Louisiana State 0-0, and in 1955, beating Georgia Tech 14-6.

Arkansas won the Southwest Conference title and thus automatically became host team for the Cotton Bowl.

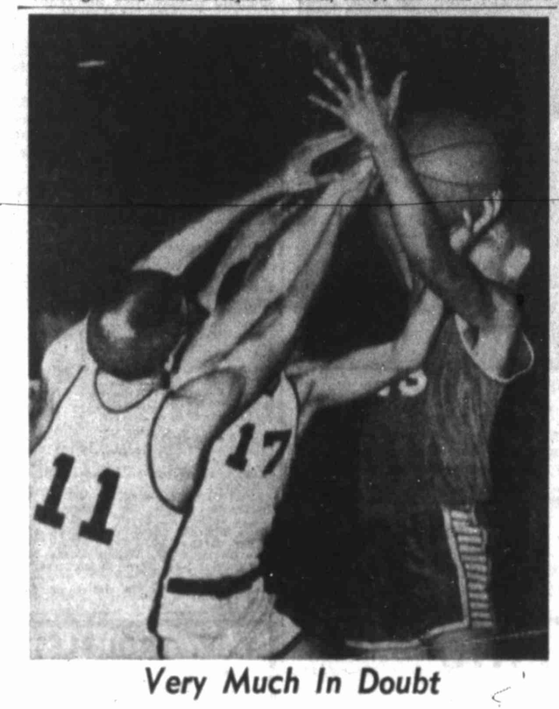
The Porkers' season record includes losses to Baylor and Mississippi and victories over Oklahoma State, Tulsa, Texas Christian, Texas, Texas A&M, Rice, Southern Methodist and Texas Tech.

Duke never has played in the Cotton Bowl New Year's classic.

The victory of Duke over Navy was by a 19-10 margin.

Cotton Bowl selection committee members were at the Navy-Army game, aiming at a possible selection of either Navy or Army for the event.

Others who were considered were Tennessee, Florida, Georgia Tech, and Georgia.



Very Much In Doubt

Rip Patterson (11) and Bob Andrews (17), both of Big Spring, try desperately to wrestle the ball from Rod Dunlap (15) of San Angelo Lake View in the above picture. Dunlap has his vision blocked by Andrews' hand. Big Spring won the game played here Friday night, 47-31.

Rice Gets Bid Despite Loss

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Statistics of the Baylor-Rice game:

	Baylor	Rice
First downs	17	15
Rushing yardage	145	169
Passing yardage	179	57
Passes	12-16	5-11
Passes intercepted by	0	0
Punts	3-43.0	6-40.0
Fumbles lost	2	1
Yards penalized	23	30

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Bobby Ply led Baylor along a 75-yard drive with minutes to go today to beat Rice 12-7 and hand the Southwest Conference championship to Arkansas.

But the defeat did not keep Rice out of the Sugar Bowl—it was extended an invitation immediately after the game by the Sugar Bowl selection committee and took the bid.

Rice will play Mississippi, the Southeastern Conference champion, in the bowl game, Jan. 2.

Rice had scored with 5:39 left as sophomore Randy Kerbow led a wild 80-yard parade and Max Webb kicked the extra point that gave the Owls a 7-6 lead.

Then Ply stepped in, and with help from Ronnie Stanley and Ronnie Bull, shoved Baylor to victory as 30,000 fans screamed.

There was only 2:23 left as Baylor made its touchdown. Ply passed for 38 yards in the winning drive.

The touchdown that sent Baylor fans into hysterics was on a nine-yard pass from Ply to Ronnie Goodwin. Bull tried to run over the conversion but failed.

Rice could have tied Arkansas for the championship had it won but the defeat dropped the Owls into a tie for second place with Baylor and Texas, all a game behind Rice.

Baylor already was in the Gator Bowl. Sugar Bowl officials were in the stands to watch Rice.

Baylor scored in the second period on a recovered fumble in the last half. Kerbow passed for 27 yards and ran for 14 in sending Rice along the way on its touchdown drive.

The Rice touchdown was made by Billy Cox with a one-yard smash. Buck McLeod, huge Baylor tackle, recovered Jim Evans' fumble that bounded into the end zone for the Bear touchdown. Larry Corley missed the try for extra point.

Twice in the first half Baylor halted Rice a yard away from its goal line. Rice returned the compliment early in the third period. Then Baylor rolled to the Rice three and Corley tried a field goal but it was blocked by Lonnie Caddell.

Baylor wound up with an 8-2 record, the first time since 1956. Only Arkansas, whom Baylor beat 28-14 in the regular season, had an 8-2 record other than Baylor. Rice finished with 7-3.

It was a game of possession, with Rice holding the ball 63 times and Baylor 58, but Baylor had a wide edge in the statistics.

The Bears ran for 145 yards and passed for 179 for a total offense of 324 yards. Rice had 169 on the ground and 57 passing for 226.

The winning touchdown was launched from the Baylor 75 and Stanley, the regular Baylor quarterback, got it moving with a 21-yard shot. Then Ply took over and engineered the thing the rest of the way with his passing plus a 13-yard run by Bull, the great Bear halfback who did just about everything today.

It was Bull who fumbled in the first period to give Rice the ball on the Bear six when Johnny Burrell, who played a great game for the Owls, jarred Ronnie loose from the ball. Sonny Davis, the raging Baylor end, stopped Webb for no gain on the Bear one.

Baylor surged 51 yards for its first touchdown with Stanley passing for 25 yards, a 12-yard throw to Bull putting the ball on the Rice 12. Evans ran to the two but the ball squirted out of his hands and across the goal line where McLeod fell on it.

In the Rice touchdown Kerbow gained 27 yards passing and 14 running, his nine-yard toss to Webb putting the ball on the two. Baylor was penalized to its one for offside, then Cox circled right end for the touchdown.

Bull was the game's leading ground-gainer with 51 yards. Kerbow topped Rice with 50. Ply passed for 81 yards and Stanley 77 while Kerbow had 57 yards in the air.

Bobby Lane, leader of the great Baylor defense, also was the game's leader in pass-receiving. He snared four for 73 yards.

Rice has a 4-1 record in bowl games, the lone loss being to Navy, 20-7, in the 1958 Cotton Bowl. Rice won the 1938 Cotton Bowl over Colorado 28-14, the 1947 Orange Bowl over Tennessee 8-0, the 1950 Cotton Bowl over North Carolina 27-13 and the 1954 Cotton Bowl over Alabama 28-6.

The Rice season record: 13, Georgia Tech 16; 10, Tulane 7; 10, Florida 0; 47, Southern Methodist 0; 7, Texas 0; 30, Texas Tech 6; 0, Arkansas 3; 21, Texas A&M 14; 23, Texas Christian 0; 7, Baylor 12.

Ysleta Upsets Permian, 31-21

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Armando Dominguez returned the opening kickoff 92 yards for a touchdown Saturday and Ysleta went on to defeat Odessa Permian 31-21 in a Class AAAA bi-district football game.

Ysleta scored another first-period touchdown with Dan Turner going in from the two. Permian came back in the second quarter to take a brief 15-14 lead. Gary Crain scored from the 4 and minutes later took a pass from Gene Ross that covered 60 yards for a touchdown.

Turner got Ysleta back in the lead with a two-yard scoring run in the second stanza. A 55-yard scoring pass from Andy Telles to Mike Sutherlin and a 29-yard field goal by Sutherlin rounded out Ysleta's victory. Sutherlin also kicked four extra points.

Permian picked up its final touchdown in the fourth quarter, scoring on a 55-yard pass from Frank Sloan to Richard Keller.

Clemson Racks Up Furman

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP)—Clemson burst loose with a four-touchdown final quarter Saturday to crush Furman 42-14 in an inter-conference traditional football game between neighbors.

Clemson's first three units shared in the scoring after undermanned Furman collapsed late in the game.

Lon Armstrong, Clemson placekicker, set a season record for Atlantic Coast Conference players of 24 points after touchdown with six for six as the 1958-59 champions finished their season with a 6-4 record.

Coach Frank Howard's Tigers found they had to stay on the ground as Furman rushed Clemson passers. Fullback Ron Scudato opened the scoring early in the second period with a two-yard plunge. Furman fullback Tom Campbell raced 29 yards to score in the third period. After that it was all Clemson. Campbell scored the other Furman touchdown on a 27-yard pass play with quarterback Billy Canty.

Alabama, Steers In Houston Tilt

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Alabama squeezed past Auburn 3-0 Saturday on Tommy Brooker's 22-yard field goal and an ironclad defense. Alabama then promptly accepted an invitation to play in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

The Tide, closing out with an 8-1-1 record, will meet Texas, with a 7-3 mark, in the bowl at Houston, Tex., Dec. 17.

Despite the close score, this 25th game in across state rivalry dating back to 1892 belonged to Alabama all the way.

The Crimson Tide used a livelier-than-usual offense and a stiffer than-usual defense to bottle up Auburn's tough Tigers almost from beginning to end.

The running of Mike Fracchia, Leon Fuller, Pat Trammell and Billy Richardson, and the passing of Bobby Skelton led Alabama deep into Auburn territory three times in the first half alone.

Skelton's passing and Fracchia's running led the tide to the Auburn six in the second quarter. Then Brooker, booting from the 12, got Alabama's three-pointer.

Tar Heels Rip Virginia 11 By 35-8 Tab

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — North Carolina's Tar Heels, sleeping football giants who awoke too late, shattered desperate Virginia 35-8 Saturday with a savage running attack and the timely passing of quarterback Ray Farris.

It was the 27th consecutive defeat for Virginia's Cavaliers, just one short of the major college record set by Kansas State. And never from the opening minutes of action did the Cavaliers stand the slimmest kind of chance against a Tar Heel team still riding high after last week's conquest of arch-enemy Duke.

With the versatile Farris getting off a key 32-yard pass to end Tom Cabe that carried to the Virginia 2, North Carolina stormed 58 yards for a touchdown the second time it had possession. Fullback Bob Elliott scored the first of his two touchdowns from two yards out, then kicked the extra point that put Carolina ahead for keeps.

Elliott, all told, tallied 17 points for the victorious Tar Heels on the pair of touchdowns and five placekicks. In addition, his vicious running helped spark a whole fleet of speedy, hard-running Tar Heel backs who collaborated in tearing Virginia's feeble defense to shreds.

The victory ended the season for North Carolina, which finished with a 3-7 record, considered quite a disappointment. The triumphs came over Notre Dame, Duke and Virginia.

Farris, on a one-yard plunge; Elliott, on a five-yard slant over tackle; quarterback Ward Marslender, on a one-yard plunge, and halfback Jim Addison, also on a short plunge, had touchdowns for the Tar Heels after the initial drive.

Irish End Long Losing Streak

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Notre Dame's long search for victory ended in the rain and mud of Memorial Coliseum Saturday as a hard-running sophomore quarterback, Daryle Lamonica, led the Irish to a 17-0 shutout over the Trojans of Southern California.

A turnout of 29,297 sat through intermittent downpours to watch this 32nd clash between the rivals and see the Irish finally break an unprecedented losing streak of eight straight games.

Middies Take Miami Bid Following Win

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Navy built a 17-point lead on the running of fabulous Joe Bellino and the passing of Hal Spooner and then fought off a second-half Army surge for a 17-12 victory that sent the Middies into the Orange Bowl football game against Missouri Jan. 2.

Acceptance of the Orange Bowl invitation was announced immediately after the game. It will be the Middies' fourth bowl appearance and third in six years.

A crowd of 98,616 at Philadelphia Stadium roared throughout the second half as Army fought back with two touchdowns by Al Rushatz and favored Navy struggled valiantly to hold its edge.

In the final tense moments it was Bellino, Navy's great halfback, who intercepted a pass by Tom Blanda on the goal line and ran it back 45 yards away from danger with only 12 seconds to play.

Bellino dashed over from the four behind the second team Navy line for the first score of the game at 12:23 of the first period. After Greg Mather kicked a 27-yard field goal midway in the second period, Navy hit again with Hal Spooner throwing a 12-yard scoring pass to end Jim Luper.

Completely overshadowed in that first half, Army stormed back in the second half as it went to the air on Blanda's passes and crunched out yardage along the ground with fullback Rushatz leading the way.

Still smarting from the 48-12 beating of last year, Army scored in the third on Rushatz' plunge from the one and again in the final period on another 1-yard burst by the hard-hitting fullback.

Trailing 17-12 with five minutes to go, Army crashed through and Bellino fumbled. Rushatz recovered the ball on the Navy 17.

Dick Eckert, the sophomore quarterback who alternated with Blanda in the second half comeback, drove Army to a first down on the Navy six.

Then came the play that broke Army's drive. Eckert was trapped and attempted to pitch out to Glen Adams but the ball got away with both teams chasing it out of bounds on the Navy 20. Army retained possession but a 4-yard run by Blanda and two Blanda passes that missed forced them to give up the ball.

Following a Navy kick, Army had one more shot but Bellino's interception snuffed out the Cadets' last hope and saved the day for Navy.

Sooners Salvage Win Over OSU

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma's Sooners atoned somewhat for their worst football season under coach Bud Wilkinson by beating traditional rival Oklahoma State 17-6 Saturday.

The 55th renewal of the colorful intrastate feud wound up in a fist swinging exhibition by the players with only a few minutes to play. After the final whistle the pep squads got in a few blows of their own.

Peace was finally restored by patient police and school officials after 15 minutes.

Oklahoma scored its first touchdown in a 67-yard drive in 10 plays. Second string quarterback Bob Cornell, playing his final game, provided the key play with a 27-yard run.

Jimmy Carpenter, No. 1 quarterback, connected on a 13-yard pass to halfback Bill Meacham. This carried to the five-yard line and Melvin Sandersfeld swept in for the touchdown.

The Sooners didn't let Oklahoma State past the Oklahoma 42-yard line in the opening half.

It took 16 plays to cover 76 yards for the second Oklahoma score, with Cornell blasting through a wide hole for three yards.

Oklahoma State finally got going late in the third quarter and scored its touchdown early in the final period. The Cowboys went 80 yards in 16 plays and fullback Jim Dillard dived over from the one.

The Sooners retaliated late in the final period, using a pass interception by tackle Tom Cox to get good field position. This final effort was stopped on the 11-yard line and fullback Ronnie Hartline came in to kick a 24-yard field goal.

Coyotes Slam Borger, 28-6

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Wichita Falls' top-ranked Coyotes crushed Borger 28-6 Saturday to gain a Class AAAA quarterfinal playoff berth against Ysleta at a date and site to be selected.

Wichita Falls hit for 21 points in the first half and then coasted the remainder of the game.

Mike Kelly led the Coyote attack by passing for two touchdowns and Larry Shields, 200-pound fullback, scored two touchdowns.

Shields climaxed a 19-yard drive in the first quarter with a two-yard blast off tackle. Joe Watkins converted all four points.

Borger fumbled five times and Wichita Falls used these mistakes to set up most of their touchdowns.

Shields scored again in the second period to cap a 72-yard drive. The third touchdown came as Kelly passed to Don Denham for 28 yards and a score.

The final Wichita Falls score came in the third quarter on a 25-yard pass from Kelly to Herby Carr.

Haas, Pott Hold Lead In Mobile

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Freddie Haas and Johnny Pott stumbled in with one-under-par 71s Saturday but extended their lead to two strokes in the third round of the $15,000 Mobile Open golf tournament.

The round also was marked by a triple bogey 7 by Arnold Palmer, the year's leading money-winner at $71,716, who wound up with a two-over-par 74 and dropped four strokes off the pace.

Haas, New Orleans, now stands at 66-68-71—205, and Pott, Shreveport, La., at 68-66-71—205.

Two strokes back were Jon Gustin, Gladwyne, Pa., opening day leader with Haas, with 66-69-72—207, and Dave Hill, Denver, Colo., at 68-70-69—207.

Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., followed at 69-70-69—208. Another stroke back were Palmer, of Ligonier, Pa., at 68-67-74—209 and George Bayer, Pasadena, Calif., 71-70-68—209.

Philadelphia Gets Toughest Near End

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sometimes statistics lie. Sometimes they are meaningless. But there is one statistic more than any other that tells why the Philadelphia Eagles are leading the Eastern Conference of the National Football League.

The Philadelphia team has scored 92 points in the last period of eight games it has played, an average of 11½ for each fourth quarter. Why?

Apparently because the Eagles' quick, sure pass receivers—Tommy McDonald, Bobby Walston and Pete Retzlaff—wear down the defenders and make them easy prey for Norm Van Brocklin's late-game passing.

That's what happened last Sunday when the Eagles, behind 10-0, controlled the ball practically the entire last half and scored 10 points in the final quarter to upset the Giants at New York 17-10.

And that's one reason why the Eagles are 6-point home favorites to beat the Giants (5-2-1) again Sunday and run the Philadelphia winning streak to seven after a season-opening loss to the Cleveland Browns.

If the Eagles' 92 last-period points don't seem impressive, consider that the Baltimore Colts, highest scoring team in the league through eight games, have scored only 59 in the final period out of a 238 total. Philadelphia's total is 211.

The Colts (6-2) hold the same position in the Western Conference as the Eagles do in the East—a game and a half lead with four to play. After a week off, Baltimore is home Sunday to the San Francisco 49ers (4-4), and the Colts are 15-point favorites.

If the Eagles can take the Giants they need only one more to clinch a tie for the title. Baltimore is also in good shape with only second-division opponent left on the schedule. Unless both conference leaders flop, the Dec. 26 NFL title game seems likely to be at Philadelphia where the Colts would shoot for an unprecedented third straight playoff championship.

The Green Bay Packers (5-4), who had the Western lead a few weeks back, lost their second straight, 23-10 to the Detroit Lions on Thanksgiving Day and now the Bears are the chief threat to the Colts.

Chicago (4-3-1) is favored by 22 over the visiting Dallas Texans (0-9) Sunday. The Browns (5-3) must whip the Cardinals (5-4) at St. Louis to remain in contention in the East. Cleveland is favored by a touchdown.

The East's bottom teams, Pittsburgh (3-5-1) and Washington (1-5-2), round out the schedule with the Steelers favored by 10 over the Redskins who held them to a 27-27 tie at Washington last month. Los Angeles is idle.

Moore To Fight Turman Monday

DALLAS (AP)—Archie Moore, whose age is in question but whose ability to fight never has been, meets young Buddy Turman, the Tyler, Tex. heavyweight, in a 10-round feature bout here Monday night.

The fight was drummed up several months ago when Moore appeared on a card here in which he knocked out George Abinet. Turman challenged and Moore accepted.

Archie plans to weigh in at about 192 while Turman will be at 187.

The aging Moore recently was stripped of his world's lightheavyweight championship because of his failure to defend. So now he is recognized as champion only in states not affiliated with the National Boxing Association.

Moore said he had missed only two days of training since returning from Italy where he lost to Guilio Rinaldi.

"Turman is the kind of fighter you have to be in condition for," said Moore. "He's a good puncher. We were going to fight once in California but he wanted the champion's share of the purse."

Hunting Deaths Surge In State

AUSTIN (AP)—A sudden surge in hunting fatalities has lifted the unofficial state total to 16 since Sept. 1, the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas (SCOT) said Saturday.

In addition three other hunters died of heart attacks and four drowned in two accidents where their cars plunged from roadways into water.

Hunting fatalities include two men mistaken for deer, two killed climbing fences, two stepped in line of fire of another's gun, one killed while pulling a loaded gun from a car, one killed while climbing to a deer blind, one killed by a stray bullet, and one killed when a companion stumbled and a gun discharged. A total of nine died of self inflicted wounds.

Angelo Is Upset By Kileen Five

KILLEEN — Killeen upset San Angelo's Bobcats, 62-51, in a basketball exhibition here Friday night.

The Bobcats, who now have a 1-1 won - lost record, were 20 points behing at half time.

Frank Drones led San Angelo in scoring with 17 points.

Jockey Is Hurt

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Solomone, 18-year-old jockey from Chicago, suffered a dislocated shoulder in a spill in the first race at Aqueduct Friday and will be unable to ride for a month.

Bay City Win Skein Ended

By The Associated Press

Heralded powers Bay City, Taylor, Crowell and Thrall were on the sidelines while Port Arthur, Corpus Christi Miller, Jacksonville, Bellville, Stinnett and George West rolled on in the high school playoffs Friday.

The opening round in Classes AAAA and AAA and the second round in Classes AA and A rode the shock of some glittering upsets Friday night were left in the entire state.

AAAA's big upset was Fort Worth Paschal's 13-12 victory over hitherto unbeaten, untied a n d highly ranked Dallas Samuell. Bruce Alford Jr., son of a former Texas Christian great, supplied the difference. His extra point kicked with only 2:09 left in the game knocked down Samuell.

Houston Bellaire beat Houston Milby 18-7, Port Arthur whipped Galena Park (conquerer of mighty Baytown) 14-7. Miller took out Waco 27-7 and San Antonio Jefferson crushed San Antonio Burbank 38-0.

Class AAA saw unbeaten, untied Bay City fall before twice-lower LaMarque 13-6 and Jacksonville, the No. 1 team of the division, had to fight for its life against an inspired Corsicana. Jacksonville managed victory by a single penetration in a 7-7 tie with Robbie Robbins furnishing it with a 25-yard run. Bay City had a 22-game winning streak snapped.

Brownwood beat Snyder 29-20 and Port Lavaca whipped Pharr-San Juan-Alamo, another unbeaten, untied team, 22-8. Already in the quarter-finals were undefeated Monahans and Greenville.

Class AA found Taylor, the No. 2 team in the state, tumbling before unbeaten, untied Gatesville 15-14, with Joe Carothers kicking a field goal as time ran out. Olney, the No. 1 outfit, swamped Lancaster 50-0, Gilmer upset Daingerfield 30-8, mighty Bellville rolled Liberty under 54-28, Sweeny licked Hallettsville 18-6 and Devine skunked Sinton 27-0.

Denver City, another highly favored Class AA team, also is in the quarter-finals. It got there Thursday with a 58-0 strapping of Olton.

Class A decided all its quarter-final spots and next week they play like this: Stinnett vs. Plains at Lubbock Friday, Albany vs. Mt. Vernon, White Oak vs. Clifton and Crosby vs. George West.

Crowell and Thrall were noted victims in the second round Friday night. Crowell took the count 12-8 before Albany and Thrall lost to Clifton 12-0. Both had been undefeated and untied.

White Oak slapped Shelbyville 22-0, Crosby lashed Waller 28-3 and George West beat Rio Hondo 36-0 in other Friday night games.

Stinnett, Plains and Mt. Vernon already had gained the quarter-finals.

Brownwood Wins Over Bengals

BROWNWOOD — Brownwood won its first bi - district football championship in history by belting Snyder, 29-20, in a thriller played here Friday afternoon.

The Lions thus earned the right to oppose Monahans, winner over Levelland.

The game was one - sided until the final quarter, when Snyder began to move.

John Cadenhead, halfback, scored two touchdowns for Brownwood while quarterback Ben Elledge counted once and fullback A. D. Carnes added another.

End Lawrence Elkins accounted for the other Brownwood points on a field goal and two extra points.

Fullback Billy Andrews went into the end zones twice for Snyder while little Spencer Dyer tallied the other TD. Quarterback Eddie Phy scored the two extra points.

Snyder scored its final touchdown with 36 seconds left in the game. A crowd of 6,000 watched the proceedings.

Brownwood won the right to serve as host against Monahans. The two teams meet here at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Brownwood made 218 yards rushing and 106 passing to 186 rushing and 118 passing for Snyder. First downs favored Brownwood, 19-15.

Seven Quints In SWC Play During Week

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — There were some furrowed foreheads around the Houston Oiler camp a couple of weeks ago. The Oilers were 6-3 for the American Football League season, Boston was closing fast and quarterback George Blanda was out with an ankle injury.

Enter rookie Jacky Lee. In his first performance a week ago he threw touchdown passes of 78, 92 and 73 yards in the mud and goo against Denver in a 20-10 victory.

And Friday night this tall, calm young man, 22, riddled the Boston Patriots' defense with his passes and mixed his plays beautifully in a 24-10 decision that all but wrapped up the Eastern Division title for the Oilers.

Houston now has a three-game lead with only three games remaining. They can't do worse than tie for the title. Boston and New York are tied for second at 5-6.

"Things weren't going too well at first," Lee said after the game. "They were rushing well, and their defense was set for me very well. But then we began to get things sorted out and we worked much better."

He sorted things out well enough to complete 21 of 38 passes for 331 yards for one touchdown. And he set up two others with passes and directed a 74-yard drive that ended in a field goal.

But even with that performance, Boston stayed close and trailed 14-10 going into the final period. But Blanda hobbled in to kick a 16-yard field goal and a few minutes later Lee hit Bill Groman with a 40-yard pass that carried to the 4. Two plays later Doug Cline jammed across.

"They got the breaks and we didn't," disgruntled Boston coach Lou Saban said, apparently referring to a Boston touchdown—a third quarter go-ahead score—that was called back on a penalty. "They made the great catches and we dropped some."

The game, played before a capacity house of 27,123, was the only action in the league. Sunday Oakland (5-5) and Los Angeles (6-4) battle for the Western Division lead in Los Angeles and Buffalo (4-6) is at Denver (4-6).

Charger Player Is Found Dead

LOS ANGELES (AP) — End Ralph Anderson of the Los Angeles Chargers was found dead today in his mother's apartment.

It was presumed he died of a diabetic attack. He had suffered from the disease for years.

Anderson, a graduate of Los Angeles State College, was the leading pass catcher of the local American Football League team.

He missed a game in New York Nov. 4 because of a diabetic attack. He fell into a coma in his hotel room the morning of the game.

Anderson, a 6-foot-2, 225-pounder, was 25 years old.

Hamline To Meet Raiders Thursday

LUBBOCK—Hamline University, opening Texas Tech's basketball schedule here Thursday night, is one of four champions or co-champions to meet the Red Raiders in the Coliseum this season.

Besides Hamline, Minnesota Collegiate Conference titlist, Coach Polk Robison's Raiders engage University of Kansas, Big Eight co-champ, four nights later, Dec. 5; the Phillips 66ers, National Industrial Basketball League winners, Jan. 28; and University of Texas, Southwest Conference champion, March 2.

In addition, the top independent of the Rocky Mountain area, U. S. Air Force Academy, plays here twice, meeting Texas Tech Dec. 29 and Texas A&M Dec. 30 in the Holiday Doubleheaders.

Three conference runners-up come here—Eastern Kentucky State of the Ohio Valley Conference, another participant in the Doubleheaders; Texas A&M, and Southern Methodist.

Besides Tech's regular Southwest Conference schedule and the schools mentioned earlier, the Raiders will also be hosts to a pair of Southeastern Conference teams, Louisiana State Dec. 16 and Vanderbilt Dec. 19.

Non-conference road games are with Florida, another SEC team, Dec. 10, Loyola of the South, an independent, Dec. 12, and Oklahoma of the Big Eight, Dec. 22.

To play one of Tech's stronger schedules, Robison can call on only three returning lettermen—5-10 Del Ray Mounts of Perryton, 6-4 Roger Hennig of Mathis, and 6-3 Mac Percival of Vernon—all juniors. Mounts last season led the Southwest Conference in conference scoring, and the other two were also starters.

Replacements for the graduated Gene Arrington of Amarillo and James Wiley of Lubbock, Tech's top rebounders, will come from five freshman numeral winners, a junior college transfer, and a pair of squadmen.

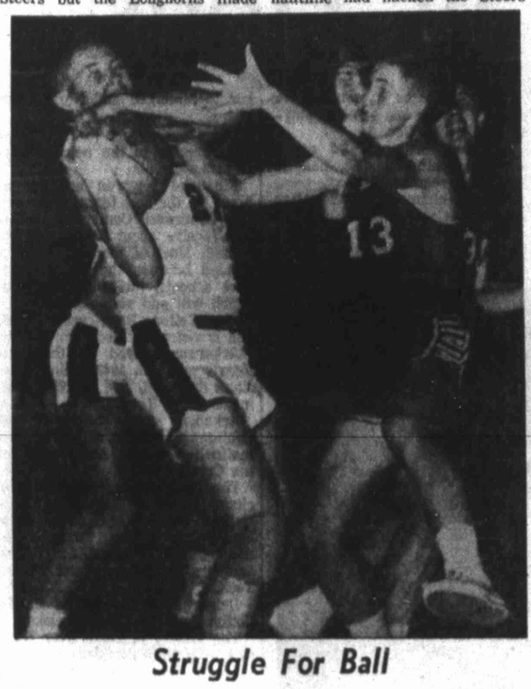
Sophomores are 6-5 Tom Clark of Roswell, N.M., leading Picador scorer; 6-5 Milton Mickey of Lockney, 6-4 Bobby Gindorf of Pampa, 6-5 Gilbert Varnell of Sewanee Tenn., and 6-5 Tom Patty of Carisbad, N.M. John Lemmons, 5-10 guard from Happy, a Frank Phillips Junior College graduate is also a candidate, along with 6-9 Harold Hudgens of Ballinger, ineligible last year after playing in 1958, and 6-7 Don Perkins of Irving, squadman last season.

Steers Lick Chiefs, 47-31, In Opener

The Big Spring Steers went out in front early and stayed there in posting a 47-31 basketball victory over the San Angelo Lake View Chiefs here Friday night.

Lake View took many more shots than did the inexperienced Steers but the Longhorns made theirs count. No member of the local team hit in double figures, however.

The Longhorns built up a 16-2 lead with 4½ minutes to go in the second quarter. The Chiefs began to close the gap after that and by halftime had hacked the Steers' advantage to 20-12.



Struggle For Ball

Jimmy Haynes (21) of Big Spring scraps successfully for the ball in the above picture, snapped during the Steer-San Angelo Lake View basketball game. No. 13 is Gene MacKowski of the Chiefs. Big Spring won the tassle, 47-31.

It began to appear doubtful that the Bovines could hold on in the final round but they began to carry the scrap to the enemy again and won going away.

Fine defensive play by such boys as Rip Patterson and Bob Andrews and the rebounding ability of Jimmy Haynes and Ronnie Hamby helped put Big Spring safely in the winner's column.

Hamby led the local team in scoring with nine points while Gene MacKowski paced the Chiefs with 12. Bob Meek collected nine for the Chiefs while Dick Ebling tossed in eight for Big Spring.

Lake View could make only seven buckets from the field but connected 17 times from the free throw line.

The Big Spring reserves set a splendid example for the regulars by bopping the Lake View B team, 54-36, in the opener.

The game was close for a half but the Dogies were in complete charge after the intermission.

Three boys wearing Big Spring uniforms — Don White, Mike Nelson and George Ryan — each had 13 points while Dan Tomlinson counted 17 for the losers.

Oilers All But Wrap Up Title

By The Associated Press

Echoes of the football season still will be heard when the Southwest Conference opens its basketball campaign this week.

Seven of the eight teams will be in action with the eighth, Baylor, waiting until next week.

Texas A&M, one of the favored teams, opens Thursday night against Trinity University at San Antonio, Texas Tech another highly rated outfit, takes on Hamline at Lubbock and Rice, which is in the process of rebuilding sagging fortunes, gets going with Lamar Tech at Beaumont.

Friday night Southern Methodist opens with Oklahoma City University at Oklahoma City while Texas Christian hosts Austin College.

Arkansas, another of the favorites, tackles Missouri at Columbia, Mo., Saturday night while Texas, the defending champion and a strong bet to repeat, takes on Howard Payne at Austin.

Rice plays Trinity at Houston and Texas A&M battles Kansas State at Manhattan, Kans., in a most important intersectional game.

The key to the conference championship may be a lad who towers 6 feet 1 inch in height. He is Lewis Qualls, the giant Texas A&M sophomore who needs to come through if the Aggies are to realize their ambitions. Coach Bobby Rogers says the question is whether he has enough speed.

Otherwise the Aggies are pretty well set, the Carroll Broussard and Pat and Don Stanley furnishing expert veteran material.

Texas has seven lettermen and plenty of height, such as Wayne Clark, 6-11, and Al Almanza, 6-8.

Arkansas comes up with a veteran team but lacks the height of the other top contenders.

Texas Tech has Del Ray Mounts back and gets the services of 6-foot-10 Harold Hudgens, who was ineligible last season.

Texas Christian is expected to be greatly improved but Baylor has only one starter, Richard Tinsley, and three other lettermen back. Rice has five lettermen returning but has a long way to go. It had one of its worst seasons in history last winter.

Boydstun Posts Gra-Y Victory

Boydstun and Lakeview won their leagues in the YMCA rag football play Saturday and will meet for the city championship next Saturday at 10 a.m. just east of the YMCA.

The following week, Dec. 10, the all-star game will be played at the old Steer Stadium, and there will be a 50 and 25-cent admission charge for this event.

Boydstun turned back Airport 44-34 in a free scoring affair, Mike Schaffer scored 20 points for Boydstun, Gary Rogers 18 and Lonnie Clanton 6. Top scoring honors, however went to Mike Pederson with 22 for Airport, along with 12 for Donnie Wiggins.

Lakeview defeated Parkhill 28-6. Richard Cauley got Parkhill's lone tally, while Roosevelt Brown scored 18 points for the visitors, Claude Tucker Jr. 6, and Kenneth Haynes added four extra points.

Hawks Launch Season In Meet

Buddy Travis' HCJC Jayhawks, who experienced their most successful season in history last year, launch what they hope will be another great campaign in the first annual Odessa Tournament next weekend.

The Hawks are one of eight teams entered in the meet, which gets under way Thursday and continues through Saturday.

Travis lost his wheel horses off last year's team but has some fine talent returning and, in addition, has picked up some outstanding freshmen.

Returning are such sophomores as Ronald Weaks, 6-3, Stamford; Kenneth Clearman, 5-10, Amarillo; Charles Knotts, 6-5, Kennedale; Bill (Red) Edwards, 6-4, Joshua; and Preston Hollis, 5-9, Big Spring.

Outstanding freshmen on the squad include Larry McElyea, 6-2, of Abilene, who is threatening to break into the starting lineup; Nelson Gilbreath, 6-8, Sand Springs; Jerry Tillman, 6-1, San Jom, N.M.; Elvis Spradling, 6-5, Girard; Clark Jennings, 6-4, Tulia; Allen Wilson, 6-4, Lubbock Monterey; Charles Stockton, 6-3, Texaco, N.M.; and August Joe Luedecke 5-10, Lubbock Monterey.

Weaks came on fast toward the end of last season and was a part-time regular.

Knotts is one of the most improved players in camp, an aggressive boy who will team with Edwards to try and control the boards for the Hawks.

Clearman is the play - maker of the group and Travis is counting on him to help regulate play in the back courts. Hollis will be an invaluable hand at spelling the regulars.

Howard County opposes Lubbock Christian in a first round game at 9 p.m. Thursday in the Odessa Tournament.

Other first round pairings send NMMI against Odessa, South Plains against Clarendon and Frank Phillips against San Angelo.

The Hawks play their home opener against Cisco JC the night of Monday, Dec. 5. They visit San Angelo the following night and then go to the San Antonio Tournament Dec. 9-10.

The schedule:

Going No Place Fast

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

The Coahoma Bulldogs, who won with more consistency than was expected the past football season, will return a good line but will be shy of experienced backs in 1961 . . . Gone will be such boys as Dwayne Richters, Gorman Finley, Royce Aberegg, Aubrey Darden and Dock Reeves . . . A B-teamer who was ineligible this year because he had moved in from McGargle, Frank Firenza, will probably see a lot of action at quarterback for the Bulldogs . . . Jimmy Bihl, a star back for San Angelo Lee Junior High School the past season, will lose his final season of eligibility in high school . . . He had to lay out of school a year due to illness . . . Wayland College's freshmen recently drubbed Clarendon Junior College, 76-54, on the basketball court . . . John Alexander of Clarendon hit for 19 points . . . Junior Arterburn, the Texas Tech coaching aide, was among the press box visitors here during the Plains-Merkel playoff game . . . Odessa High, Odessa Permian and Midland High all broke in with basketball victories last week . . . Odessa High, led by Dubby Malaise, defeated Lubbock Monterey, 58-46; Odessa Permian flogged Tom S. Lubbock, 64-52; while Midland kayoed Odessa Ector, 80-41 . . . Charles Dishman of the Midland team will probably be 2-AAAA's outstanding player this season . . . Johnny (Double No-Hit) Vander Meer will probably be affiliated with the Houston entry in the National (baseball) League when it starts operations . . . The University of Houston is supposed to field a world beater in football next fall . . . Big Spring's Danny Birdwell will be a senior there then . . . They say that the Minnesota guard, Tom Brown, does a front-flip when he runs into the fieldhouse following a Gopher football workout . . . Now 23 years of age, Brown is a Navy veteran.

FINLEY

Abilene Has Five Starters Back

Mention here that coach Johnny Frankie of Rice University had turned down an invitation for his Owl cagers to play at Evansville, Indiana, College brought back some memories for Delnor Poss, the local high school mentor . . . Poss accompanied the HSU Cowboys to Evansville during his playing days and said the Hoosiers were scorpions in their own field house. . . . HSU led for a half but Evansville won the game. . . When Notre Dame played Miami in football at Miami recently, 500 FBI men were eyeing all proceedings from the stands. . . They were attending a convention in the Florida city . . . Abilene's Eagles have five starters back from this year's football team... They are end Phil Brown, tackle Tommy Boyd, guard Gary Williams, center Richard Putnam and fullback Jack Middlebrooks. . . .Other Eagles who will be eligible again in 1961 include quarterback Don Leveridge, end David Barrera, fullback Cotton Ellis, guard Jim Berrier, tackle Tom Baumgardner and end Larry Rodger. . . Roman Gabriel, North Carolina State's ace quarterback the past season, is a Filipino. . Miami ,Texas, which ended Gail's extended eight-man football winning streak in the playoffs last week, is the home town of Leon Kinney of Big Spring. . . Spec Gammon, the Odessa scribe, says football in that city got stronger, rather than weaker, when the high schools were divided. . . In most other cities in the state, it had the opposite effect. . . The S. Angelo Cats took a physical beating in their Abilene game . . . Minnesota and Missouri, who have been battling it out for the No. 1 spot in the collegiate football ratings in recent weeks, play each other next Sept. 30. . . Missouri is making plans to increase the seating capacity of its stadium to around 45,000.

Suggs To Get Trial With Giants

Bobby Suggs, who played shortstop as a high school baseball player here, will get a chance to fit into the farm setup of the San Francisco Giants somewhere next season as a pitcher. . . Bobby, who also played high school football here and who is now a bricklayer by trade, developed as a hurler for the Big Spring Tigers and wound up with a 7-3 won-lost record the past season. . . Present plans call for him to go to camp in Arizona as early as Feb. 12. . . Right now, his best pitch is a fast ball. . . Midland will probably name its football coach for its new high school as early as next month. . . Eight of McMurry College's 17 basketball players this season hail from outside the state and one from outside the nation. . Big Spring's Charley Johnson, who will probably close out his collegiate football career for New Mexico State in the Sun Bowl game, has already been drafted by the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League. . . Ted Battles, the Midland writer, says movies of the Midland-Odessa High football game cast doubt that Odessa's James Weaver ever scored against the Bulldogs. . . Odessa won the game, 7-6, to knock Midland out of the running for the District 2-AAAA crown. . . Furthermore, Battles adds, it appeared that Paul James of the Bulldogs went over on the two-point try that would have given Midland an 8-7 victory. . . The heaviest brother combination playing college basketball today are Bob (Bevo) and Bill Nordmann of St. Louis University. . . . Bevo weighs 290 while Bill tips in at 230. . . Should two or more teams emerge as winners in the District 2-AAAA baseball and basketball races, they will be declared co-champions and each will receive a championship trophy. . . Bob Pettit, the pro basketball star, has gone back to shooting free throws with one hand. . . He says he plans eventually to fire them with both hands, however.

Crusaders Lick Eagles, 16-12

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — Holy Cross' young Crusaders swept to two first half touchdowns, stood off a third period Boston College drive and beat the arch-rival Eagles 16-12 Saturday.

Pat McCarthy, a 19-year-old sophomore quarterback, ran for one Holy Cross touchdown, passed for another and accounted for the winning two-point conversions in a sparkling show.

Boston College had its big period in the third. Trailing 16-6 at the half, the Eagles came back with a 65-yard drive for a touchdown, almost all of it on the ground.

The Eagles used up 11 plays in the march, most of them short gainers by fullback Frank Robotti. Robotti slammed over from the 2, but the run for the two point conversion failed and Boston College had had its last look in.

The Eagles didn't get another first down the rest of the warm, sunny afternoon. Holy Cross controlled the ball the rest of the way and made the lead stand up.

Deacons Lose To Gamecocks

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — The University of South Carolina surprised Wake Forest with a powerful running game Saturday and spoiled the Deacons' finale by winning the Atlantic Coast Conference football game 41-20.

The bright spot for Wake Forest was quarterback Norman Snead who passed for two touchdowns and broke his ACC total offense record. Snead completed 15 of 33 passes for 273 yards and got 17 yards rushing to run his season's total yardage to 1,655, bettering his old record of 1,365 yards. The Gamecocks had only a one-point 15-14 margin when the second half opened.

Senior quarterback Buddy Bennett, a substitute during his three seasons of play, set up the clinching touchdown in the third quarter with a 24-yard sprint to the Wake Forest 25-yard line. Bennett and halfback Melvin Harris bulled the ball to the 1 on a series of plays and fullback Dick Day pushed it over for the score. Dean Findley, who kicked three extra points, converted.

South Carolina smashed over for three more touchdowns in the final quarter. They came on a 36-yard sprint over right guard by Day, a one-yard plunge by halfback Jack Morris and a 38-yard end sweep by quarterback Tommy Pilcher.

The Deacons scored with a 1:15 left in the game when Snead hit end Bobby Allen with a pass from the 16 to the 4, from where Allen dived across the goal.

Pilcher's touchdown, the final one in the game, came with 39 seconds left and was made possible by a key block thrown at the 5 by tackle Joel Goodrich.

Wake Forest opened the scoring on a 38-yard pass play from Snead to halfback Jack Tesh who caught the ball on the South Carolina 30 and scampered the rest of the way unmolested.

South Carolina surged back a few minutes later and scored on a three-yard plunge by fullback Carl Huggins. The Gamecocks' other first half touchdown came in the second quarter on a three - yard pass from quarterback Dave Sowell to end Jack Pitt.

Knuckleduster Is Gold Cup Winner

NEWBURY, England (AP) — Knuckleduster, a racehorse who trains on two bottles of beer a day, scored a 15-length victory in the Hennessy Gold Cup Handicap Steeplechase Saturday.

His trainer, Derek Ancil, rode the horse to his fourth straight victory of the season. Then he told of Knuckleduster's drinking habits.

"He's a shy feeder," Ancil said. "But I found he has a definite liking for beer. Since I stepped him up to two bottles a day he has made splendid progress.

Lakeview Rockets To Play Monday

Lakeview of Big Spring opens its basketball season at home Monday, with the first of three games scheduled to get under way at 6:30 p.m.

The boys' B team and the girls will see action, along with the boys' A squad.

All five of the starters are back on the boys' A squad. They are Eddie Lee Wright, 6-3, Johnny B. Wright, 6-3½, Roland Williams, 5-9, Luther Brown, 5-8, and Daniel Brown, 6-2.

Acie Clark is coach of the Rockets.

Mrs. N. L. Graham coaches the girls. She will probably start a team composed of Mavis Newton, Bobbie Frazier and Pearlie Mae Green at forwards and Myrtle Wrightsil, Mary Helen Green and Faye Scott at guards.

Purple Chugs Past Ponies

By ROBERT E. FORD

DALLAS (AP) — Harry Moreland's brilliant running snapped Texas Christian out of a flat performance today and gave the Horned Frogs a 13-0 triumph over luckless Southern Methodist.

TCU thus ended the season with a .500 record—4 won, 4 lost and 2 tied.

Never since the Methodists first fielded a team in 1915 have they had a worse season. They won none, lost 9 and tied 1. In 1916, the previous worst year, they lost 8 and tied 2.

Moreland, 170-pound senior played his last college game, broke over his right tackle and then cut to his right, eluding would-be tacklers on all sides and ran 52 yards in the second quarter to the Mustangs 15.

It was the longest run from scrimmage this season by a TCU player.

Three plays later, Sonny Gibbs plowed over from the 2 for the first touchdown and that was enough to win. R.E. Dodson kicked the extra point.

Moreland's 12-yard run was the longest leading to TCU's second touchdown. The drive carried 74 yards in 14 yards with Moreland going over right guard for the touchdown from the 1-yard stripe.

Dodson's conversion kick attempt failed after this score—the first time this season he has not kicked the extra point in 12 attempts. He has attempted 41 kick conversions in three years and missed only 3 times—all in games against Southern Methodist.

Texas Christian gained 263 yards on the ground to 94 for Southern Methodist. The Ponies, unable to manhandle the TCU line, passed 18 times, completed 9 and gained 149 in the air. The Horned Frogs gained 82 by aerials.

SMU repeatedly came within inches of scoring in the final quarter. Once it appeared Gene Sherman had gone over, but the officials said he hadn't, amid loud objections from the crowd of 29,000. Four times the Ponies tried within the one-yard line, and finally lost the ball on downs.

Moreland carried the ball 6 times for 77 yards, an average of better than 10 yards a carry, and easily outdistanced all the other backs of both teams.

The first quarter was indecisive with neither team making a major threat. Nearest thing to a score came when Buddy Nichols missed a 47-yard field goal for the Mustangs.

Texas Christian broke the game open in the second quarter after one of its field goal attempts by R.E. Dodson for 49 yards was no good.

Moreland, on his long second quarter run, appeared headed for a touchdown, but fleet Frank Jackson caught him on the SMU 15.

Gibbs and Dodson carried the ball to the 2, and Gibbs, behind one of TCU's famed quarterback power plays, drove over.

TCU threatened again when guard Ray Pinion blocked a Glynn Gregory punt and carried it to the Pony 7. Gibbs lost 3, then tried to pass, but Mike Rice intercepted in the end zone.

Dodson tried a field goal in the fading seconds of the first half for 36 yards and again failed.

Bellaire Booked In Port Arthur

LIBERTY (AP) — Port Arthur and Houston Bellaire will play their AAAA schoolboy football quarterfinal game at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Port Arthur.

Officials of the schools set the date and site here Saturday. Port Arthur had the choice of sites in that the last time the teams met in a playoff the game was played in Houston.

Port Arthur defeated Galena Park and Bellaire defeated Houston Milby in bidistrict games Friday night.

Cleburne Yellow Jackets Win Over Huntsville 11

CLEBURNE (AP)—Cleburne's Yellowjackets, co-defending state AAA champions, defeated the Huntsville Hornets in a bi-district game today 26-7 before 6,000 football fans.

Cleburne, by virtue of the victory, will meet the LaMarque Tigers at Cleburne at a date to be selected.

The first score of the game came in the second period when all - state quarterback Timmy Doerr climaxed a 27-yard drive by plunging over from the 2-yard line to score. Cleburne led at the half 12-0.

Midway in the third period halfback Nat Davis of Huntsville broke into the clear and ran 77 yards for his team's only TD. Bill Britt kicked the extra point giving Huntsville its final score.

Three minutes later Cleburne's Doerr passed 22 yards on fourth down to end Stephen Lee for another touchdown.

Cleburne dominated the game from then on, making its final touchdown with four minutes left in the game. They moved 30 yards in seven plays with John Ed King going over from the 1 to make the score 25-7. Goad kicked the extra point and Cleburne won 26-7.

Tennessee Vols Ambush Vandy

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Tailback Glenn Glass spearheaded Tennessee's powerpacked single wing offense to a 35-0 victory over Vanderbilt Saturday in a Southeastern Conference football game.

The victory gave the Vols a 6-2-2 mark and left Vanderbilt without a Southeastern Conference win for the first time in history. The Commodores ended the season with a 3-7 mark.

Vanderbilt threatened once in the opening period but a stubborn Tennessee defense took over on downs at the eight and staved off every other Commodore threat.

It was Glass, a junior reserve, who ground out the important yards in Tennessee's first touchdown in the second period, with fullback Jack Nichols smacking over the final yard. Cotton Letner converted his first of three placements.

The Vols lost little time after intermission before they began adding to their lead. Glass scored the first one on a 5-yard run to climax an 80-yard drive.

Colorado Upset By Air Force

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Halfback Mike Quinlan's 92-yard punt return for a touchdown launched the Air Force Academy to a 16-6 victory Saturday over Colorado, a two-touchdown favorite.

Quinlan, Falcon game captain, took his touchdown trip in the third quarter to break open the scoring. The Airmen followed with another touchdown and a 29-yard field goal by Mike Rawlins before Colorado got its touchdown in the last 2 minutes.

A spectacular catch on the 1 by end Gary Henson of a 39-yard throw by quarterback Gale Weidner paved the way for the Colorado score. Fullback Chuck Weiss plunged over on the next play.

Quinlan was the star in the Falcons' second touchdown drive. He shot through guard on a 56-yard jaunt that carried to Colorado's 36. Nine plays later he vaulted over a pile of players to score from a yard out.

White Flight Tops At Base

In the realm of sports, White Flight prevailed, as Webb AFB's Cadet Corps held their first Field Day recently. It was a brief respite from the classroom and rigors of flying training for the students.

The Field Day was to decide sports supremacy between White and Buzzard flights. The Buzzards lost.

Everybody took part, save the Student OD. Looking on were Col. Glenn A. Stell, Pilot Training Group Commander; and Maj. Ernest G. Baumann, Commandant of Cadets.

Scheduled games were all meaningful. The Dizzy Izzy event was enough to condition an astronaut for a flight to the Moon; egg throwing fostered good humor; flicker ball exemplified coordination and teamwork; the tug-of-war brought out the utmost in tenacity; flat races manifested individuality; and volleyball called for all-around abilities.

The Buzzards racked up a few points by taking White Flight, 20-11, in flicker ball and winning the third 100-yard dash. The rest was straight victories for White Flight as it won the volley ball game, 21-19; took two out of three 100-yard dashes; and first place in Dizzy Izzy, egg throwing and tug-of-war.

Johnny Rebs Win Over Miss. State

UNIVERSITY, Miss. (AP) — Quarterback Jake Gibbs passed for two touchdowns and scored a third Saturday to lead third-ranked Mississippi to a 35-9 victory over Mississippi State and give the undefeated Rebels their second straight Sugar Bowl invitation and the Southeastern Conference title.

Rice will meet Mississippi in the Jan. 2 game at New Orleans.

Gibbs, hitting on eight straight passes in the opening half, brought the Rebel offense to life after a sluggish start and the outcome was never in doubt.

The victory, ninth in 10 games for the Rebels, clinched their fourth SEC championship. Mississippi's only blemish was 6-6 tie with Louisiana State.

Cougars Are Upset, 26-16

HOUSTON (AP) — Quarterback Jerry Keeling passed the University of Tulsa to a 26-16 victory over the University of Houston in a non-conference football game Saturday.

Keeling passed for touchdowns of 12, 7, and 4 yards as the Golden Hurricane ended the season with a 5-5 record and left Houston with a 7-4 mark.

Two of Keeling's passes for 12 and seven yards—found Bill Gary in the end zone. The third scoring pass went four yards to Bob Cunningham. Fullback Bo Bolinger scored Tulsa's other touchdown on a one yard plunge.

Halfback Billy Richardson scored Houston's first touchdown in the first quarter when he intercepted a Keeling pass and returned it 45 yards. Quarterback Don Sessions scored the other touchdown for Houston when he plunged over from the one to end a 76 yard drive on 13 plays. Eddie Mitchamore kicked both extra points for Houston.

Tulsa dominated the game, mostly through Keeling's passes and a strong defense. The lanky quarterback passed five times for 54 yards during the Hurricane's first touchdown drive of 59 yards.

Keeling passed to Joe Cheap three times for 47 yards on another drive that moved 67 yards to a touchdown. Keeling accounted for 61 of those yards with his passes.

The Tulsa defense hampered Houston's passing attack and the Cougars could not do much better on the ground.

Tulsa gave Houston a safety in the fourth quarter.

With Tulsa leading 26-14, the Hurricane faced fourth down with eight yards to go from its own four. Keeling intentionally grounded the ball in the end zone.

Houston took the resulting kickoff and moved to the Tulsa three before losing the ball on downs one play before the final gun.

Georgia Tech Is Trounced

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—A pass interception by Bill McKenny and a point after touchdown by Dur-Pennington enabled Georgia to squeeze out a 7-6 comeback football victory over Georgia Tech Saturday.

Tech scored in the second quarter of the jarring Southeastern Conference fracas, but Georgia guard Pay Dye stormed through to block the conversion effort by Tommy Wells. This proved to be Tech's death blow and resulted in a fourth consecutive loss to Georgia.

Wells missed two field goal attempts, one in the second quarter from the 22 and another from the Georgia 20 with less than five minutes to play.

Georgia scored on a plunge by fullback Bill Godfrey for three yards.

Senior quarterback Marvin Tibbetts guided Tech to its touchdown, a 55-yard drive in the second quarter. He scored it from the one after dashing 11 yards to set it up.

This was Tech's third one-point loss of the season and gave the Yellow Jackets a 5-5 record. Georgia finished with a 6-4 record.

Kilmer Standout In Bruins' Win

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Tailback Bill Kilmer, a single wing wizard, dazzled Utah with his change of pace running and directed the UCLA Bruins to a 16-9 intersectional victory Saturday.

The 187-pound senior from Azusa, Calif., ran for one touchdown, passed for another, and set up a field goal.

The Utes, however, kept in the game until the end on the running and passing of quarterback Terry Nofsinger and halfbacks Gordy Lee and Stan Uyeshiro.

The victory was UCLA's sixth against two losses and a tie this season. Utah finished 7-3.

Kilmer directed the Bruins to their first score in 12 plays, after UCLA received the kickoff. Kilmer picked up 50 yards in the drive that carried to the Utah 9. There, on fourth down, Ivory Jones booted a 19-yard field goal.

Cosden Has New Operation Division

Cosden Petroleum Corp. has reorganized its refining division and changed the name to the Refining & Chemical Division.

Dan M. Krausse, senior vice president in charge of the division, has announced the creation of a new chemical department and a reorganization of the refining department. Both were formerly components of the refining division.

Since its advent into the petrochemical field in 1952, Cosden has steadily added to its chemical products. Although the corporation will continue chiefly as producers of crude oil and custom refiners of fuels, increased emphasis on chemicals and plastics now results in the establishment of a separate chemical department.

The department is fully integrated with functional responsibility for manufacturing, marketing and product development. The consolidation will permit more effective control for realization of maximum profits, Krausse explained.

In the refining department, vice presidents R. W. Thompson, D. L. Orme and R. M. Johnson continue in charge of pipelines and supplies, transportation and petroleum marketing, respectively. First line executives also include George Grimes, general superintendent of the refining department; E. B. McCormick, chief engineer; Carol E. Belton, director of development; and C. W. Shouse, manager of the coordination and technical department.

The Chemical Department will be headed by Paul D. Meek, who has been with Cosden since November, 1955. Meek's administration will include chemical sales, chemical research and control and the various chemical producing units under Supt. Wayne A. Vaughn. Replacing Vaughn as process superintendent at Big Spring refinery will be O. O. Craig.

As superintendent in the new chemical department, Vaughn will oversee eight manufacturing units. Associated with him will be four unit foremen. George Harvell is continuing as foreman of the rexformer, unifiner and BTX. Tom Yeats is assigned the paraxylene and polybutene units, Howard W. Nall the polystyrene plant, and L. D. Gilbert the styrene monomer and newly installed alkar unit. In addition, Henry F. Merrell Jr., Charles D. Herring Jr. and Richard Grimes will act as shift foremen in the chemical department. This department will remain integrated with Big Spring refinery under E. W. Richardson, refinery superintendent, and continue to utilize central maintenance, safety, personnel and warehousing facilities.

W. M. Preston, who joined Cosden in September, has been appointed manager of polystyrene sales. Working with him as technical service manager is Lester L. Beauvais. Kenneth W. Perry and Arch Ratliff will handle aromatics and solvents sales. Tom Ivey is now office manager in chemical and plastics sales.

Rene Brown, chemical engineer, will head up chemical research and control, which includes the pilot plant and the services of a group of chemists in the chemical laboratory under the management of Birt Allison, resident chemist. Quality control will be the responsibility of Carl Riherd, with Nick Malarchik controlling polystyrene quality. The Big Spring refinery laboratory will remain under T. A. Harris's supervision.

Refining of gasolines and production of distillates, residual oils, asphalts and liquefied petroleum gases will continue to be the responsibility of the refining department, under George Grimes, general superintendent. In that department, Krausse announced the promotion of Logan Baker as products superintendent. His former post as foreman of the pumping and treating department will be taken by Joe Gunning. Key personnel in refining will remain as follows: Knox Chadd, chief chemist; Jack Y. Smith, director of industrial relations; E. W. Richardson and C. F. Wakefield, Big Spring and Col-Tex Refinery superintendents; and Ottis L. Bradford, products pipeline and terminal supervisor.

The new coordination and technical department will include all functions formerly performed by the coordination and economics department and the technical department. Jerry Jenkins will be chief process engineer in charge of all technical service work, process development and design. Lloyd Skaggs heads a group engaged in the application of electronic computers to problems involving engineering calculations and operations research. Cosden will install an IBM 1620 computer system at the Big Spring refinery early in 1961.

PAUL D. MEEK

Meek To Direct Cosden's Growing Chemical Activity

Paul D. Meek, who heads Cosden Petroleum Corporation's new chemical department, joined Cosden on Nov. 1, 1955, as process engineer. He later became head of the process design group and, in September of 1957, was appointed manager of the technical department.

He attended Arlington State University and Edinburg Junior College, and graduated from the University of Texas in January of 1953 with a BS degree in chemical engineering. Before affiliating with Cosden, he was for three years in the technical service department of Humble Oil & Refining Co. at Baytown.

Meek, a native of McAllen, is a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers and the Automotive Research Committee of the American Petroleum Institute. He is active in the American Business Club in Big Spring.

With his wife and their three children, Paula, Kathy and Carol Ann, Meek resides at 703 Tulane.

Stiffest Competition For Oil Is From By-Products

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — Domestic crude oil is receiving rather stiff competition from some of its own by-products.

Natural gas liquids are claiming an increasing share of the domestic petroleum products market.

Such liquids, in effect, are produced coincidental with oil and gas.

They are, for the most part, gaseous while in the ground but change to liquids when processed at oil refineries and natural gas plants. They range from natural gasoline to such liquified petroleum gases as butane and propane.

Natural gas liquids in 1931 supplied less than 2 per cent of total domestic demand for petroleum products. The 1960 share will be close to 10 per cent.

The 10 per cent still is comparatively small. But the domestic crude producer, faced with a world surplus of oil, is beginning to show concern.

Louis W. Cabot Heads Company

Louis W. Cabot has been elected president of Cabot Corporation of Boston, Mass., succeeding his father, Thomas D. Cabot, who becomes chairman of the board of directors.

The company, which has one of its plants at Big Spring, also named William S. Edgerly as treasurer, and McGeorge Bundy, William L. Loving and John M. Bradley as directors. Loving, until about a year ago, was assigned to the Southwest region with headquarters in Pampa and was a vice president and general manager of the carbon black department. Ralph Bradley and Henry L. Shattuck have become directors emeritus.

LOUIS W. CABOT

Cabot is now the largest producer of carbon black in the world. The company was founded in 1882 by Godfrey L. Cabot, who now is honorary chairman. In addition to the international black business, the company owns oil and gas developments. Its machinery division is an important producer of portable well drilling and servicing equipment and of oil field pumping units. Cabot also is a producer of liquefied petroleum gases, natural gasoline, pine tars, charcoal and charcoal briquets. It mines and processes Wallastonite, a non-metallic mineral used in ceramids, paints, plastics, etc., and manufactures Cab-O-Sil, a fine silica used in paper, greases, etc. Its chemical products are being expanded steadily.

Louis Cabot came with the company at the end of World War II with a bachelors degree in engineering science and a masters in business administration, both from Harvard. After working in various capacities in the southwestern division, he helped organize the company's first overseas venture, spending three years in England. In 1951 he returned to the home office as assistant to the executive vice president and helped organize Cabot Carbon of Canada Ltd. Two years later he was elected vice president and treasurer of the parent company, from whence he was elevated to the presidency. Louis Cabot also played a key role in organizing Texas Butadiene & Chemical Corporation, and he is a director in numerous business, financial, educational and charitable organizations.

Discovery Pair Indicated In Far West Texas

Two indicated discoveries in far West Texas were reported Saturday. One was a gas-oil strike in Terrell County and other a shallow oil find in Reeves County.

Texas Crude and Superior Oil No. 1-22 Allison is the indicated Terrell discovery in the Strawn. Drilling with air at 10,246, the venture started flowing gas and oil. After one hour, the opening was pinched from 7-in. to 4 in., and gas still flowed at the daily rate of 1,320,000 cubic feet per day, and oil at the reate of 4 to 7 barrels per hour.

Operator then deepened the test to 10,267 and took a drillstem test from 10,245-267. Gas surfaced in 15 minutes but there was no gauge. Oil flowed in 1 hour and 20 minutes and was turned to the pits for an hour and then into the tanks for 7 hours, making 136 barrels of 44-gravity fluid. Operator was coming out with the tool Saturday.

This explorer was supposed to test the Fusselman at 11,700. It is 10 miles south of Sheffield, about 10 miles north of the Brown Bassett field. The exact location is 1,980 from the south and east lines of section 22-B2, CCSD&RGNG survey.

In Reeves County, 17 miles southeast of Pecos, Texas Crude No. 1-20 Curry took a drillstem test in the Castile cone from 2,735-2,815 with the tool open five hours. Gas surfaced in 20 minutes, oil in 30 minutes. In four hours it flowed 152 barrels of 26-gravity oil. Operator reversed out 20 barrels of oil. Flowing pressure was 1,400-1,250 and the 30-minute shutin pressure was 1,600. This test is four miles southeast of production in the Worsham-Delaware field and is 450 feet from the south and west lines of section 2-7, H&GN.

Deep Stonewall Test Announced

Sojourners Drilling Co. of Abilene No. 1 C. B. Long will be a 6,200-foot Ellenburger wildcat in Stonewall County. The location is 2,120 from the north and 1,149 from the east lines of section, BBBD&C, abstract 333. The location is three-fourths of a mile north of the Kiowa Peak field.

Carmack Retires From T&P Post

By PRINCE RICKER

With a twinkle in his eye and a smile on his lips, H. G. Carmack rides the T&P Railroad rails for the last time Monday. The veteran conductor retires after 34 years on the road and as he puts it, "I want to walk off the job, not be carried off."

The new world opening up to him will not include the clatter of railroad wheels but rather, the whirring of his power woodworking tools. Through the years he has turned his spare time into a useful hobby, making things out of wood.

Carmack was born in Indiana but moved to California when a child. When he became old enough to pick up a hammer, he entered his father's trade to become a carpenter. However, this work did not contain his yen for travel so he began to examine the vast South Plains which were beginning to yield vast quanities of black gold. His wife and children remaining in California, Carmack journeyed to Big Spring in 1926.

Jobs were scarce. He worked his way from state to state, often hitching a ride on boxcars. Finally, arriving in Big Spring, with no money, Carmack chanced upon a kind resident who loaned him five dollars for a night's lodging. He then got a job on the T&P, where he has been ever since; with the exception of a few months spent in service during World War I.

He and his wife reside at 307 N. W. 8th.

Skin Graft Was In Vain

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Plucky Peggy Roller died Friday, 32 hours after the operation doctors hoped would help the 4-year-old girl survive critical burns.

Doctors at the Army's Brooke General Hospital agreed that the child's determination kept her alive nine days after an unexplained fire sent her screaming from her home, her dark hair ablaze. More than half of her body was burned.

Peggy's father, Maj. Harry Roller of El Paso, Tex., stood by her bed as her life ebbed away, then walked into the hall and said simply, "It's a rough world."

Three veteran sergeants, who each donated 128 square inches of skin applied to the burned areas on the girl's body in a two-hour Thanksgiving morning operation, were silent when told of her death.

Sgt. 1.C. Earl D. Bieler, father of two children, finally spoke: "Well, we tried." M.Sgt. William M. Goodloe, father of three, and Sgt. 1.C. Harold S. Orff, father of five, nodded.

Goodloe, 45, of Earlington, Ky., Bieler, 26, of Machias, Maine, and Orff, 37, of Milo, Maine, volunteered for the operations because, Goodloe said, "sometime it might happen to one of us."

The sergeants will be hospitalized about two weeks, after which they will be given month-long convalescent leaves.

Market Makes Fair Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite uncertainty about the economy, the stock market made a pretty fair advance this week.

The Thanksgiving Day market recess cut the number of trading days down to four and was an additional depressant. Many traders squared away their commitments on Wednesday and went off for a long weekend.

Although expectations were for a very dull session on Friday, the market finally perked up after a couple of hours of hesitation and posted the best daily advance in more than two weeks.

Bond Absentees' Vote Ends Tuesday

Only six absentee votes have been cast in the Howard County bond election set for Dec. 3.

Deadline for voting absentee for this election expires at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

The voters are to decide Saturday if the county shall issue $150,000 in bonds to finance the purchase of right of way needed to insure four state highway building programs, three of them docketed for 1961-62.

All 16 of the county's voting precincts will be operating on election day. All electors who are qualified taxpayers (those who have rendered property for taxes) are eligible to vote.

In order for the bond issue to be approved, two - thirds of all the votes cast must in favor of the proposal.

The Howard County Commissioners Court initiated the plan for a county bond issue because funds from other sources at its command would be inadequate to pay for the land the state will need for its road jobs.

Right of way for state road projects must be obtained by the county. Among jobs which the state proposes for Howard County for 1961-62 is the construction of U.S. 87 north from the city limits to the Martin County line as a 4-lane road. The county had acquired right of way from Fairview north to the county line. The task now is to get 100 feet of land on the west side of the road from Fairview to the Big Spring city limits.

Other jobs the state plans for the county will be the building of FM 846, in the north-central part of the county, and extension of the eastern (and eventually the western) ends of FM 700 adjacent to Big Spring.

TB Seal Poster Contest Deadline Is Wednesday

Deadline for junior high and high school pupils to enter the Christmas Seal poster contest falls on Wednesday.

The Howard County Tuberculosis Association has posted prices of $15, $10 and $5 for the top three winners in each division. Entries will be displayed as a promotion for the annual appeal to buy Christmas seals.

More than 7,000 envelopes containing seals have been mailed to residents in Big Spring and Howard County. Most of the activities of the Howard County TB Association depend upon receipts from the annual seal sale.

The campaign will get a boost this evening on the Ed Sullivan show when Sullivan makes his plea for the Friendship Tree. This is a project in which people are asked to enclose a Christmas greeting card which may be relayed by Sullivan and his aides to children's hospitals throughout the country. These cards will be given to hospitalized children on Christmas Day.

As always, Sullivan will put seals on his letters and is asking all who mail in cards for children to also include the traditional TB Christmas seal.

Of the 11 hospitalized TB patients from Howard County, one is an 11 - year - old girl.

Area Water Meet Here

Big Spring will be the site for an important one - day conference on West Texas water resources.

Date for the event, sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce water resources committee, has been set for Jan. 19. The meeting will be held at the Settles Hotel. Half a dozen vital aspects of water supply, quality and conservation of the conservation, quality and supply of water will be discussed by outstanding speakers during the day.

Sales Down

DALLAS (AP)—Sales of reporting Texas department stores were down 15 per cent the week ended Nov. 19 compared with a similar period of 1959. The Dallas Federal Bank reported El Paso sales slumped 27 per cent, Fort Worth 14, Dallas and San Antonio 13, and Houston 11.

McClendon Heads Baptist Training

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Dan McClendon, minister of education at the First Baptist Church of Corpus Christi, is the new president of the Texas Baptist Training Union. He succeeds Lamoin Champ, minister of education of the First Baptist Church of Tyler.

McClendon was elected at the closing session of the union's convention Friday night.

The union will hold its 1962 meeting in Midland. No meeting will be held in 1961 because of a Southern Baptist Convention leadership clinic to be held in Dallas.

Olson Of Lamesa Heads Trinity Corps

LAMESA (SC)—David E. Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Olson, Lamesa, has been named as the commanding officer of Trinity University's Corps of Cadets.

His new position elevated him to the rank of cadet colonel and placed him in command of two battle groups of two companies each totalling 266.

Olson, a chemistry major, previously received the Distinguished Military Student Award and the Military Achievement Award while at the school. He also is active in the Blue Key, national honor fraternity, is vice president of the student education association, and is a past president of the student affiliate of the American Chemical Society.

Stabbed To Death

A Pat on the Back

FOR GEORGE McALISTER

They may not think so now, but when George Allen McAlister Jr. resigns his position on the Howard County Junior College faculty at mid-term—it may turn out to be the greatest thing that's happened to math students since the slide rule.

It was a hard decision to make but McAlister is giving up teaching for private business. His company, Gamco, will be producing mathematical teaching aids which he has designed himself. He has developed a new concept in teaching math—a "math lab" where each student uses a special desk with built-in- devices as aids to instruction. The first desk of this kind will be exhibited in December at the National Math Council meeting in Tempe, Arizona.

After graduating from high school in his hometown of Commerce, Texas, George attended East Texas State until December, 1942, when he enlisted in the U.S. Marine Corps. Serving in the Pacific campaign, he finished the war as a first lieutenant. McAlister stayed in the reserves and is presently a major; attending weekly meetings of his unit in Midland.

After the war, he returned to East Texas State, receiving a BS in math in 1947. With a teaching fellowship, he earned an MS degree in math in 1948 and accepted a position with HCJC in that same year.

The Korean conflict saw him recalled to Marine Corps duty as Commandant of the Marine Corps Representative to 3rd Army Headquarters. His return to HCJC was in August of 1952.

McAlister is proud of the track which he and college boys built when he was coach from '54 to '56. They did most of the work from surveying to pouring concrete and cinders. Evidently, it was a good track—he saw his boys win the state championship in 1956, and served as director of the first big ABC relay in Big Spring. George's construction knowledge has also enabled him to do much of the work on his split-level home on Cindy Lane.

Until the dorms were built, he served as Dean of Men and is currently Math Department Chairman and Director of Student Affairs. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce education committee, a past ABC president and has often helped with the YMCA, United Fund and other civic drives.

Mrs. McAlister is the former Lavonia Shipp of Dallas. Their four children are Mike, 14, Kyle, 11, Clint, 8 and Cindy, 4. The McAlisters attend the First Methodist Church where George taught the college Sunday School Class for several years.

We always have time for you!

We Always Have Time To Serve You.

What To Give For Christmas - -

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE A HOBBY HORSE for a boy's second Christmas, and from the delighted expression on the face of 13-months-old Craig Starr, it is just the answer to the gift question facing his mother, Mrs. Travis Starr, on what old Santa should bring. The toy departments are where the spirit of Santa Claus really dwells these days, and toys are in profusion in Big Spring stores.

A GIFT OF SHIRTS IS ONE NO MAN would turn down. The problem for Mrs. Gerald Sanderson, 1203 College, is whether the pattern is too bright or not bright enough. Local shoppers are finding the solution to their problems by coming into the stores early.

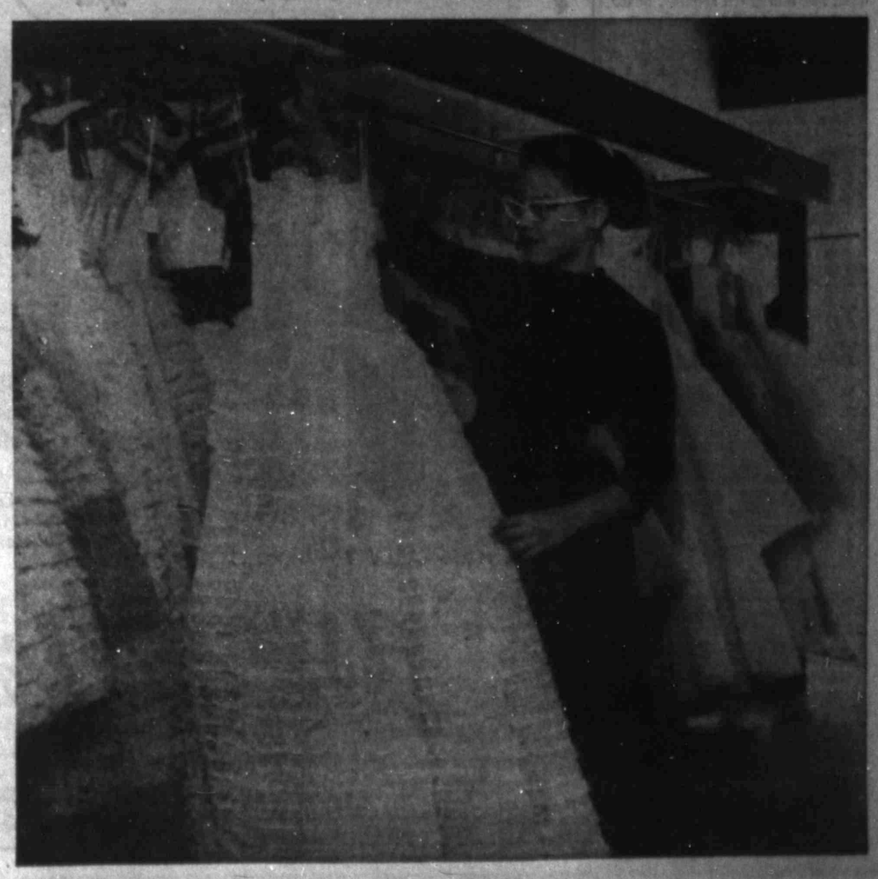
MUSIC FOR THE CHRISTMAS SEASON is much prettier and much more impressive when recordings are played on a stereophonic set. Here Dell McComb, a Big Springer who teaches school in Abilene and who was at home over the weekend, listens to the fine tones from a hi-fi and dreams of having such a gift for Christmas—along with an ample supply of records.



HOLIDAY AFFAIRS ARE MORE FESTIVE when the young ladies are gowned in formals. In picture at right, Judy Caddell, 1701 Aylford, dreams of the big dance and a gay dress as she looks through the rows of gorgeous gowns offered in the local stores for holiday giving and wearing.

THE EARL BLAIN FAMILY

Local Newcomer Is Really An Old Timer

Although Mrs. Earl Blain is among local newcomers, she is really an old timer. Mrs. Blain who moved here recently with her family, was born in Big Spring and attended school here until her freshman year in high school when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Boatler, moved to Sterling City.

The Blains have two children, four-year-old Jan and six-weeks-old Greg.

Mrs. Blain may be remembered here by her friends as Jean Boatler. She has a twin sister, June, who also attended schools here. Her husband is a native of Sterling City. The couple graduated from high school there and were married following their graduation. He was a member of the football, basketball and track teams of the school.

Blain was employed by the Highway Patrol in the Drivers License Division, for two and a half years. He has worked with the division in San Angelo and El Paso. At the present time he is employed as manager of the local Cities Service Oil Company.

Before coming to Big Spring the Blains had made their home in San Angelo for one year.

Hobbies of the family include fishing, cards, water skiing and swimming. Mrs. Blain especially enjoys cooking and sewing. The family attends the Presbyterian Church.

The Blains are residing at 1806 Young.

Prepare Own Holiday Wax

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

With a little practice you can wax eloquent as a candlemaker. The result? Candles for giving, candles for the burning.

Prepared waxes on the market make candlemaking simple, but you can also mix your own combination of paraffin and bees wax or stereic wax.

Melt the wax in a double boiler. To achieve colors desired, add oil paints or wax crayons a little at a time. White, red and green are the popular Christmas candles, but in recent years the trend is to pastels.

Soak wick four hours in water, salt and borax, dip it in wax, and then hang up to dry. This insures longer burning qualities.

WICKED CANDLES

Milk cartons are popular molds for square candles. These require about 1¾ lbs of wax, but must be supported with masking tape or other material wound around the center of the carton so that it will not give when the wax is poured.

Leave enough wick so that it can be trimmed to the proper length after the candle has hardened in the refrigerator or other cold spot.

If glasses or other containers are used, wipe them with vegetable oil before pouring the wax. This gives them an attractive sheen.

INITIALLY YOURS

Candles may be left in glass molds, however. Lovely Yuletide effects may be achieved by putting designs on the glass. Use glitter dust, red and green sequins, beads, to make a pretty wreath on a brandy snifter or other glass. Initials, Christmas greetings or other Yuletide symbols also serve to personalize gifts. There are special glues for this purpose.

Tree shapes in candles maybe obtained by using Pilsner style glasses. Trim these with tiny ornaments, the kind that come on a string, after the candle is removed from its glass mold.

Hollow out candles near their base to make room in the niche for a tiny figure of the Infant Jesus for a candle that will be cherished by the recipients.

SNOW JOBS

Use pins to attach pearls, beads, sequins, cranberries, gumdrops or other tiny decorations to homemade candles. If these seen too long, make them shorter by clipping them to the desired length.

Snowy effects are pretty but wax snow is messy for amateurs. Still, if you'd like to try your hand at it, beat the wax after it has begun to harden. Coat it gently over the candle you wish to decorate. Popular snow candles are tinted pale pink or green for delicate effects.

A beautiful gift candle is a round one covered with silver or gold dust. Use a deep bowl to get as rounded an effect as possible. When hard, remove from bowl and cover it completely with silver sprinkles, layer over layer. It'll take about four pounds of wax, but it will last through many yuletides.

Tomato Towers Touch Of Beauty

Tomato Towers made a pretty, nutritious and good serving idea for snacks and light meals.

TOMATO TOWERS

8 ounces creamed cottage cheese (small or large curd)
Minced scallion or chives
Salt and pepper
4 large tomatoes
4 stuffed green olives
Salad greens
French dressing

Mix cheese with scallion and salt and pepper to taste. Remove stem ends from tomatoes and cut a thin slice from tops and bottoms.

Cut each tomato into 3 crosswise slices keeping in separate piles; spread one side of each slice with cheese mixture, fitting each tomato together again. Wipe off any cheese from tomato skin.

Garnish cheese on top with sliced olives. Serve on salad greens with French dressing. Makes 4 servings.

Group To See Furs

A Fur Fashion Show will be the feature of the program following the Officer's Wives Club luncheon Dec. 1 when the Wing Headquarters Wives will be hostesses.

Commentator for the show will be Mrs. John Groves.

Chairman of the affair is Mrs. August Taute and other hostesses include Mrs. Leland Younkin, Mrs. Robert Thomas, Mrs. Greg Smith and Mrs. Sam Cottrell.

The Christmas holiday theme will be set up to accommodate foursomes. If club members invite civilian guests and the party exceeds four, the member is asked to call Mrs. Taute at AM 3-3828 or Mrs. Younkin, AM 4-7931, and tables will be reserved to accommodate the party.

Luncheon reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Gerald L. Jagrowski at AM 4-5450, or Mrs. Robert Nelson at AM 3-3735, not later than noon Tuesday, Nov. 29.

Door prizes will be drawn from Santa's stocking.

Seasoned Chops Make Dinner Treat

Here is a great idea for preparing chops. The whole family will like them and they are so easy to fix. Try shish-kebab style lamb chops.

SEASONED CHOPS

4 shoulder lamb chops
1 clove garlic
Pepper to taste
Salt

Round-bone or blade-bone chops should be cut ¾-inch thick; slash fat around edge in several places on each chop to prevent curling.

Grate onion coarsely and mix with crushed garlic and pepper; spread on both sides of chops.

Cover tightly and refrigerate at least 4 hours or overnight. Broil to desired doneness. Sprinkle with salt. Makes 4 servings.

Baptists At Forsan Tell Of Services

FORSAN — For the past week the young people of the Forsan Baptist Church have led in the revival activities. Danny Wash served as youth pastor; Helen Jo Holladay and Barbara Bushong as publicity directors; Jackie Whetsel as prayer chairman, and Tommy Gilmore as visitation chairman.

Evangelist for the meeting was Dave Fillpot, a graduate of Hardin Simmons University and a student at Southwestern Baptist Theologi- The music leader, Jakie Shirley, is a Baylor University graduate and minister of music at the First Baptist Church in Waxahachie.

* * *

Family Night at Forsan Baptist Church is observed each fourth Monday of the month. This is a time when the entire church family is urged to come together for a meal and fellowship. The time for this meeting is 6:30 p.m. Monday.

* * *

Foreign missions will be the major emphasis for the WMS in the month of December. Nov. 28 through Dec. 4 is the Foreign Missions Week of Prayer. On Nov. 30, the WMS will have a special missions program. Joel Fergeson, missionary on leave from Nigeria, is to be guest speaker on Dec. 11. During December the Lottie Moon Christmas offering will be taken for foreign missions.

Fools For Fashion!!

By JOE MOREFIELD

Isn't science wonderful, constantly figuring out ways for the little ladies to obtain their youthfulness. We all know as we grow older, and we do grow older, that our cells start a period of decomposing. Science has brought about a new face lift. A plastic face lift, mind you. The plastic is painted on the face. When it is dry, it is peeled off taking the dead cells with it. In demonstrating it, I haven't found one little lady that didn't want it. It's a drama in itself to watch the startling changes. And ladies, the men might joke about it, but, they are the next to try it. Adv.

MRS. JOHN WESLEY GASKINS

Greene Studio

Cecilia Mason Is Bride Of John Wesley Gaskin

Phillips Memorial Baptist Church was the scene Saturday evening for the double ring ritual which united in marriage Cecilia Charlyene Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mason, 1013 Bluebird, and John Wesley Gaskin, Rt. 2, Big Spring.

The Rev. Edward Welsh of Odessa read the vows as the couple stood before an altar decorated with baskets of white chrysanthemums accented with fern. Candlebra held white cathedral tapers.

Mrs. Vaughn Martin, pianist, accompanied Larry Stevenson as he sang, "Whither Thou Goest," "Melody Of Love," and "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress designed and made by her sister, Mrs. Larry Stevenson. The scooped neck bodice was of Chantilly lace over satin coming to a point at the waist. The floor length skirt of bridal tulle over satin formed a chapel train. Long sleeves tapered into points over the hands.

Carrying out the traditional bridal custom the bride wore her grandmother's wedding band, a new dress, an ankle chain borrowed from Phyllis Palmer and a blue garter. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and feathered carnations.

Mrs. Stevenson attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a dress of lavender cotton satin, fashioned with a bateau neckline and full puff sleeves. She carried a nosegay of lavender pom-pon chrysanthemums.

BRIDESMAIDS

Bridesmaids were Judy Greenwalt, Phyllis Palmer and Sandy Miller of Odessa. They wore dresses of pink, mint green and pale yellow styled the same as that of the honor attendant. Their nosegays were colored pom-pon chrysanthemums to match their dresses.

Daryl Gaskins served as his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Truman Mason, brother of the bride, Robert Webb and Johnny Kennemur.

Guests were seated by Roy Eugene and Larry Napper both cousins of the bride.

Rebekah Mason, sister of the bride, was flower girl, and wore a dress of lavender polished cotton fashioned the same as the honor attendant. She wore a wristlet of white carnations accented with silver.

Anthony Stevenson, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Altar tapers were lighted by Sherry Napper and Susan Powell. They wore dresses of light blue fashioned the same as the other female attendants.

For a wedding trip to Carlsbad, N.M., the new Mrs. Gaskin wore a suit of black and white paisley print wool with a matching white cardigan. Her accessories were of black. Upon their return the couple will make their home in the South Haven Addition, Sterling City Route, Big Spring.

The bride is attending Bette B. School of Beauty.

The bridegroom attended Big Spring High School and Forsan Schools. He is presently employed by the Coca Cola Bottling Company.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church.

The bride's table was covered with a cloth of white. Appointments were of crystal. Centering the table was a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with a miniature bridal couple and roses.

Shirley McCary presided at the guest register.

Members of the houseparty were Mrs. D. W. Powell and Mrs. A. L. Cooper.

Out of town guests included relatives from Odessa and Lamesa and Bette B. Miller and Joe Morefield of Odessa.

Two Forsan Girls Attend Convention

FORSAN (SC) — Janette Strickland and Verna Draper are in Austin to attend the State Youth Convention of the Church of God.

Visiting in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Strickland, were Mr. and Mrs. Randel Stanton of Pecos and Mrs. Jerry Beesinger and daughter of Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wash, Mrs. O. W. Fletcher and Sherry and Mrs. Jimmy Porter were called to Lamesa at the death of Mrs. Wash's uncle, Sam Archer, who was killed in a gin accident.

Hunters for this weekend in Mason County are Mr.and Mrs. Burl Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thieme and Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Porter.

Pete McElrath and Jesse L. Overton were deer hunting in Junction County.

Murl Bailey of College Station and Johnny King of Sul Ross in Alpine were at home for the Thanksgiving holidays.

1 tbsp dark rum.

Stir sugar, coffee and boiling water together until coffee dissolves. Stir in milk, then rum. Chill.

Helen Claire Gray Honoree At Coffee

Prenuptial affairs for Helen Claire Gray, bride-elect of Elliott Taylor of Lubbock, began Saturday morning when four hostesses entertained with a coffee at the E. H. Hatch home on Washington Blvd.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Hatch, Mrs. Y. C. Gray, mother of the honoree, and Miss Gray.

Other hostesses were Mrs. Monroe Johnson, Mrs. Harold Hatch and Mrs. W. B. Hardy.

The refreshment table was covered with a red linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of red and white carnations that developed the theme chosen by Miss Gray.

Mrs. R. L. Gray of Snyder presided at the silver coffee service and was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Max West also of Snyder, and Mrs. Borden Gray of Gail.

Miss Gray wore a wool knit dress of light cocoa shade with matching slippers.

The wedding will be an event of Dec. 28 in the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church.

Family Dinner Of Winkeye Meat Loaf

WINKEYE MEAT LOAF

1 egg
½ cup milk
1 tbsp. finely grated onion pulp and juice
1 tsp. salt
Pepper to taste
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
½ tsp. prepared mustard
1 cup soft bread crumbs (crusts removed)
1 lb. ground beef chuck
4 hard-cooked eggs

Beat the 1 egg lightly; mix with milk, onion, salt, pepper, Worcestershire, mustard and bread crumbs; allow to stand about 5 minutes.

Mix in beef. Pack half of meat mixture into loaf-size baking dish (about 8 by 4 by 3 inches); arrange the 4 hard-cooked eggs lengthwise over meat in zigzag fashion; pack in remaining meat mixture.

Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 50 to 60 minutes. Allow to stand for about 5 minutes. Turn out and slice. Makes 6 servings.

ABWA Postpones Charm Classes

The charm school, scheduled for Monday and Tuesday at Howard County Junior College, has been postponed to Dec. 12 and 13, it was announced Saturday by Mrs. C. W. Mahoney.

This is due to the illness of the instructor, Alice Bell, who was to conduct the classes for women and girls of this area.

Sponsors of the classes are members of the Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association.

Madeline Billingsley, Charles Mickelson Wed

MRS. CHARLES O. MICKELSON

Madeline Billingsley became the bride of Charles O. Mickelson Saturday evening in a double ring ceremony performed in the Ackerly Church of Christ.

Parents of the bridal couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Billingsley of Ackerly and Mr. and Mrs. Otis Mickelson of Clifton.

Roy Phemester, former pastor of the Ackerly church, read the vows as the pair stood before an arch decorated with greenery and white satin bows. Tapers in graduated candelabra formed a background. On each side of the arch stood cathedral baskets of white gladioli and greenery. The aisle pews, marked with single candles, were decorated with greenery and white ribbon.

Music was furnished by the 14th and Main Church of Christ Choir of Big Spring. They sang "Oh Promise Me," and "Be With Us Lord."

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length dress of white silk bombazine, designed with a deep yoke of re-embroidered Alencon lace, extnding over the shoulder, complementing the long tapering sleeves. Soft folds formed an Empire line, accenting the fitted princess style bodice that fell into a voluminous skirt. A back peplum, highlighted by flat bows, held the sweep of a chapel train.

Miss Billingsley carried a white orchid surrounded by white carnations.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Robert Lampe of Big Spring attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a dress of burnt orange velveteen featuring a square neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her hat was of matching net trimmed with seed pearls. She wore burnt orange satin shoes and carried a nosegay of orange and gold spider chrysanthemums.

Bridesmaids were Ruth Burton of Sweetwater and Rosa Lee Hammack of Big Spring. They wore identical dresses of gold velveteen and accessories were the same as that of the honor attendant.

Don Pallett of San Saba was best man. Ushers were Robert Lampe of Big Spring and Larry Billingsley, Leon Toombs and Edward Billingsley of Ackerly.

Flower girls were Diane and Janie Billingsley. They wore dresses of burnt orange velveteen styled similar to those of the other attendants.

Richard White, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Altar tapers were lighted by Barbara Burchett and LaVelle Nix of Big Spring. They were dressed in dresses identical to those of the bridesmaids.

For a wedding trip to points in East Texas, the bride chose a suit of brown tweed with brown and orange accessories and wore a white orchid corsage.

Upon their return the couple will reside at 535 Hillside Drive, Big Spring.

The bride is a 1955 graduate of Ackerly High School and attended Abilene Christian College for two years. She is presently employed at Webb Air Force Base.

The bridegroom is a 1954 graduate of Clifton High School and a 1958 graduate of Texas A&M College. He is presently employed with the Soil Conservation Service.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the church hall following the ceremony.

Forming the receiving line were the bridal couple, their parents and attendants.

The bride's table was covered with a cloth of white organdy over burnt orange and was decorated with attendant's bouquets. An all white four-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple.

Gloria Dawn Springfield of Ackerly was in charge of the guest register.

Members of the house party were Marcia Bee Rhey and Mrs. James Lee Billingsley both of Ackerly.

Out of town guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Otis Mickelson, Mary Ann Mickelson, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Meeks all of Clifton and Mr. and Mrs. Don B. Pallett of San Saba.

Looking For An Unusual Dessert?

American blue cheese is for food lovers who prefer mellow, yet piquantly flavored cheeses. It has all the zesty flavor one could want, yet is creamy and moist in texture.

Where it really stars, perhaps, is in salad dressings and cocktail dips, though it is delicious as a dessert cheese too. If you have never served it in this manner, try the following combination following a hearty dinner.

On individual dessert plates, arrange a generous portion of American blue cheese which has softened to room temperature. Flank the cheese with unpared apple slices and pear wedges.

Cold Sandwiches

Crumble American blue cheese on cold sliced turkey or chicken sandwiches for a taste treat.

Finnish Fashions For New First Lady

AP Newsfeatures Writer

When the next First Lady moves into the White House in January, likely as not she'll take along some Finnish dresses with primitive lines and thundering color.

Mrs. John Kennedy bought nine not long ago in a small Finnish specialty shop in Cambridge, Mass., the only place in the country handling marimekko fashions.

By the time she's comfortably settled in her new Pennsylvania Avenue residence, the dresses should be available in New York shops.

They'll probably never replace her high fashion clothes for public appearances and entertaining. But for relaxing about the presidential mansion, the simple, uncluttered—sometimes tentlike—dresses can't be beat.

Up until now, Finland has been chiefly known to Americans for paying its World War I debt (600 million dollars) and for driving back the Russians (in 1918, 1939, 1943.) But its fashion may become something to reckon with.

Marimekko clothes are the inspiration of Armi and Viljo Ratia, a husband-and-wife whose 10-year-old firm in Helsinki, Marimekko Oy, makes textiles as well as clothes.

Finnish fashions differ from U. S. styles on two counts:

COLOR—They're brilliantly bold, in combinations seldom seen here: red, pink and orange; blue, purple and orange; brown, purple and blue.

SILHOUETTE — They're pared down to the simplest form, completely unadorned, so that the amazing colors come through. Primitive, honest, pure and gutsy are words most often used in description.

Some of the dresses are free-form and straight-line. Others flare a little, looking like paper doll dresses. There are also housecoats, beachwear, children's dresses with matching bloomers. Many dresses have their own high-crowned hats and tote bags.

Fabric is mostly heavy canvas-like cotton in silk-screened patterns of irregular dots, stripes, checkerboards, Mondrian-like designs.

The original Marimekko dress (mekko is the Finnish word for girl's dress) was a loose-fitting coat, meant for women to wear while caring for children, doing housework or working in the garden.

Chief designer is Vuokko Eskolin-Nurmesniemi, who also is an international prizewinning designer in glasswork and silver.

Mrs. Ratia, a woman of charm and forceful expression, visited New York the other day and her views of women and fashion are not to be passed over lightly.

Versatile Mrs. Ratia, who says she has "other products than ready - to - wear always dropping from head," admits she doesn't really like fashion. And that's the point of her dresses:

"Marimekko fashions have something to give the modern, independent, intellectual woman—an unpretentious way of dressing to forget dresses, because she has other interests of children, home, books, music, career. Yet the colors thunder out of inspired pots and jars to give modern woman a new personality too."

Tempting Menus Planned For Pupils In Local Schools

Here are the appetizing luncheon menus which are to be offered in the cafeterias of the local schools during the coming week:

MONDAY: Hamburger steak with gravy, whipped potatoes, buttered peas, fruit salad, hot rolls, milk.

TUESDAY: Tamale pie, carrots, green asparagus salad, whole wheat bread, chocolate malted cake, milk.

WEDNESDAY: Scalloped beef and potatoes, cole slaw with green pepper, rolls, cherry cobbler, milk.

THURSDAY: Barbecued ham, pinto beans, spinach, cornbread, honey apple pie, milk.

FRIDAY: Tuna salad, deviled eggs, tomato wedges, whole wheat rolls, marshmallow rice pudding, milk.

Parboil Peppers

It's a good idea to parboil green peppers before stuffing and baking them.

Betrothed

J. C. Bearden announces the betrothal of his daughter, Janice, to Raymond Walton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Foch Walton of Gail. The wedding will be an event of Dec. 21 at the Ackerly Methodist Church.

What's Your Spelling? Blue Or Bleu Cheese?

If you spell blue cheese, bleu, it's not too good. Bleu, of course, is the French spelling for blue. If you want to use the French spelling, you should write 'bleu fromage,' which is 'blue cheese' in French.

Although blue-veined cheese is made in France, the bulk of that type of cheese consumed in the United States is produced by American cheese makers. The main difference between American blue and Roquefort cheese made in France is in the kind of milk. American blue cheese is made from cow's milk; Roquefort from ewe's (sheep's) milk.

The primary achievement in American production methods, however, has been a quality control program which assures uniformity in flavor and texture. Rigid milk grading programs, daily sterilization of stainless steel equipment, and regular inspection by both state and federal governments gives the consumer of American blue cheese a sanitary product that has a real "he-man" flavor.

Profoundly respected as a dessert and buffet cheese, American blue cheese enhances appetite appeal at the close of a meal by its very appearance. Blue cheese probably is used most often in salad dressings, or as a garnish for a salad. Often it is used as an ingredient in main dishes.

The delicately mottled white cheese provides a subtly sharp salt and pepper flavor. This semi-soft cheese, crumbly in texture, is ideal when served on crackers or fruit. Actually, it is one of the most versatile types of cheese available on the market today.

White Blue Cheese

Creamy white, semi-soft American blue cheese provides a subtly sharp salt-and-pepper flavor.

Robeson Flame Edge
with WAVY FLUTED Edges

You never sliced it so good! Ripe tomatoes, hot bread, overdone roasts are no problem to slice as thin as you want with a Robeson Flame Edge Knife. That's because:
One side of the cutting edge is tungsten carbide, the hardest metal known, detonated onto steel at 10 times the speed of sound, at a temperature of 6000 degrees. As the edge of steel wears away, more and more of the Flame Edge is exposed—more and more of the tungsten carbide's microscopic teeth are bared to keep the knife razor sharp.
Handles are brown ShurWood with contoured grip, impervious to heat and acids. Knives individually packaged.
UNCONDITIONALLY GUARANTEED BY FAMOUS ROBESON CUTLERY!

HOLIDAY STAR

Party Dress Will Add To Festivity

"Sheer Fantasy" best describes Victor Stiebel's enchanting party dress, destined to highlight the glittering array of evenings starred on your holiday calendar.

Sheer fabric shapes a yoke that gracefully curves the neckline, dips ever so lightly over the shoulders, then points up the flattering cut of the bodice.

The skirt is all dancing detail springing from the belted waistline, with wide center box pleats flanked by smaller pleats. A wide double hemfold, also sheer, dramatically sweeps the skirt's edge.

Make the dress now in moire, faille or peau de soie with organza or triple sheer for contrast; plain or printed cottons, rayons, silks or shantung are your warm weather fabrics.

From this size chart select the one size best for you. Our measurements are comparable to ready-to-wear sizes.

SIZES	7	9	11	13	15
Bust	32½	33½	34½	36	37½"
Waist	22½	23½	24½	26	27½"
Hips	33½	34½	35½	37	38½"
Length (x)	15⅝	16	16¼	16⅛	16⅜"

(x)—from nape of neck to waist.

Size 13 requires 2¾ yards of 45 inch material for dress. 1½ yards of 39 inch material for contrast.

To order Pattern No. Y-3120, state size, send $1.00. For first class mail, add 10 cents.

For air mail handling add 25 cents. New Book No. 18 now available at $1.00 each.

If paid by check, add 5 cents for handling.

Evening Program For WMS

A special feature of the Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions at the First Baptist Church Monday evening will be a talk by Mrs. O. J. Johnson of Midland who will tell of the mission field in Nigeria, Africa.

The talk, which will be illustrated with pictures taken of the missions, will begin at 7:30 p.m. and is sponsored by the WMU as part of the Week of Prayer activities.

Mrs. Johnson, a sister of Mrs. Robert Stripling, was in Nigeria with her husband who is an employe of an oil company. She had close contact with the missionaries and took interest in their work.

The WMU is inviting all women of the city to join with them in this open program.

Lamesa Clubs Join Battle Against MD

LAMESA (SC)—Lamesa's March for Muscular Dystrophy netted $1,530 during a one-day wheelbarrow push and house-to-house canvass by civic club workers.

The home canvass netted $604 and volunteer firemen picked up $901 in their wheelbarrow push from two main highways to City Hall. Other miscellaneous contributions accounted for the remainder.

Participating were the '48 Delphians, Evening Lionesses, Lamesa DeMolays and the Dawson County Oil Information Committee.

Has Secret Of Youth

Friends tell Claudette Colbert that during her long career her appearance has remained remarkably the same. In an exclusive interview, she tells Lydia Lane her secret for staying young. Miss Colbert's latest film is "Parrish" for Warner Bros.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Gives Tips To Those Who Cling To Youth

By LYDIA LANE

NEW YORK—(Miss Lane will be spending the next few weeks in New York, and she will be interviewing stage, motion picture and television personalities while there.)

Claudette Colbert has a beautiful home in Beverly Hills, Calif., and a chic apartment in New York. So whether she's making a film or doing a play, she is under her own roof. I was able to catch her between fittings for her new play, "Julia, Jake and Joe," which soon goes into rehearsal but won't open on Broadway until the end of the year.

"I have a compliment for you," I told her, as we sipped a pre-luncheon apertif. "Delmar Davis (who directed her latest picture, "Parrish") said it's unbelieveable that you look the same as you did 20 years ago."

Miss Colbert smiled and replied, "One likes to hear that."

"What's the secret?"

"Discipline and looking ahead," she revealed. "If some of the kids today would think about the future and not take their youth for granted, they would have fewer problems later on.

"I am fortunate that I don't care particularly for sweets. I don't feel well when I eat rich foods, and it is not painful for me to go without potatoes, so my figure has remained the same.

"I think it's unhealthful to have your weight go up and down and to punish your body with fad diets. I must confess I'm a bit bored with conversations about dieting. What one needs is less talk and more action."

I know that Claudette loves tennis and swimming and so I asked her what she does for exercise in New York.

"I walk a lot in comfortable shoes, and I'm a great believer in massage," she added. "But when I'm rehearsing a play, my hours are so irregular that I never know when I'm coming home so I have a good substitute in a whirl-pool type bath.

"I have one here and on the coast," she went on, "for relaxation and it is sensational. I have a rubber pillow that I attach to my tub with suction cups. I lie there and let the water therapy release accumulated tensions. When you use the whirler full force, it's great for toning muscles.

"The body needs rest just as much as it needs protein, vitamins and minerals. You can't expect your body to hold up, if you don't listen to fatigue signals. If you can learn to stop at just the right time, you avoid a state of exhaustion."

"Then you mean that the secret of staying young lies in three words, proper food, exercise and rest."

"Your attitude counts, too," she explained. "You have to have a zest for living. The worst thing you can do is to dwell on your birthdays. Age means nothing to me. I find that maturity has a special attractiveness. I think these women who cling to the youthful image are stupid."

Claudette was wearing a smartly-styled suit. "Your style has been rather indestructible," I said, complimenting her beautiful taste.

"I am fortunate in knowing what is right for me. But I believe that you can educate your taste. There are certain fashion fundamentals which never fail. You have to feel right in a dress or it won't do anything for you. Learn to appreciate simplicity. It is something quite different from a plain dress. Only the talented designers can create a simple gown.

"If you don't trust your own judgement, ask a man. He may not know fabrics or the latest style, but he will be able to tell you whether it is becoming or not.

"A girl can go far on that bandbox look, as men appreciate cleanliness. I am rabid on the subject. There are certain dresses that should be worn only once, and if you are not prepared to send them to the laundry or the cleaners every time you wear them, eliminate them from your wardrobe."

"You spoke of discipline playing an important part in prolonging productivity," I remarked. "You don't seem to have to exert discipline over anything."

"Oh yes, I do," she smiled. "I used to smoke three packs of cigarettes a day. It wasn't easy to give them up. But I found that being out of doors helped, and trying not to think about it worked, too. But it was worth the discipline for I feel better and food has more taste."

STAYING YOUNG

There are many factors involved in staying young and they are all covered in Leaflet M-40, "How to Stay Young." If you don't have a copy of this important leaflet you're missing an opportunity to learn how to preserve your youth. Leaflet M-40 will be on its way to you when you send 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring Herald.

Olives Pep Up Mild Cheese Dish

When a cheese dish is on the menu instead of meat, accompany it with fruity nut-flavored olives to brighten the serving plates and add additional satisfying qualities to a meal.

Serve the tiny Spanish green stuffed olives that have most distinctive flavor. With cheese souffle you might serve onion stuffed olives.

With Welsh rabbit you may prefer the salty anchovy stuffed olives. With cheese omelet serve pimiento stuffed olives.

Pretty Garnish

Buy one green pepper, one sweet red pepper. Cut off tops and remove seeds and white membranes. Slice into thin rings and crisp in ice water. Drain and dry before using.

Whipping Cream

Don't add sugar and flavoring to cream you are whipping until after the cream begins to thicken. Count on using 2 to 3 tablespoons of sugar and 1 teaspoon of vanilla for 1 cup of cream to be whipped.

Postnuptial Parties Honor Mrs. Marsalis

Complimentary affairs for Mrs. Clifford Denton Marsalis, the former Judy Carson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Arch Carson, were held over the weekend with friends entertaining with informal and formal affairs.

Mrs. Jack Woodall and her daughter, Mrs. Jimmie Simmons of Waco, and Mrs. Ted O. Groebl and Mozelle Natalie Groebl were hostesses Saturday afternoon at the Woodall home for a tea for Mrs. Marsalis.

In the receiving line were the honoree, Mrs. Carson, Mrs. Noel D. Marsalis, mother of the bridegroom, the hostesses and Mrs. Laurence Moore, grandmother of the bride.

Carolyn Marsalis, the sister of the bridegroom, registered the guests.

Members of the houseparty included five aunts of the bride, Mrs. Joe Kreklow, Mrs. Jene Moore and Mrs. Henry Moore, all of Eldorado; Mrs. Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo, and Mrs. William Carson of Sweetwater. Also serving were Mrs. Roscoe Cowper, Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, Mrs. Joe Pond, Mrs. B. L. Le Fever, Mrs. Ed Swift, Mrs. Pete Harmonson, Mrs. E. B. McCormick and Mrs. E. N. Rea.

The tea table was decorated with shades of yellow, chosen colors of the bride. An ecru imported lace cloth covered the table and the centerpiece was of large yellow chrysanthemums flanked with yellow candles. In the living room the flowers were bronze mums and bitter sweet candles. Large chrysanthemums floated in the indoor flower pool. Pots of the yellow flowers were used in the garden room.

Joe Kreklow played piano selections during the calling hours.

The hostess gift to the couple was a silver heart bon-bon dish engraved with Judy and Denny, August 10, 1960.

BRUNCH

An all white theme was used in the decor for the brunch Saturday in the home of Mrs. K. H. McGibbon.

Hostesses with Mrs. McGibbon for the affair were Mrs. Joe Pond and Prissy, Mrs. Sam Anderson and Lyn, Mrs. Roscoe Cowper and Jane, and Kay McGibbon.

The bride's table was laid with white linen and centered with a pedestal arrangement of white spider chrysanthemums. Place cards on the bride's table were imported ceramic flowers. Seated at the special table were the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Arch Carson; Mrs. Denton Marsalis, mother of the bridegroom and his sister, Carolyn; Mrs. Laurence Moore of Eldorado, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Jimmie Simmons of Waco.

Other out of town guests were Mrs. Joe Kreklow and Mrs. Jene Moore of Eldorado and Mrs. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo.

Other guests were seated at foursome tables laid in white, with miniature white chrysanthemums in the center.

The hostesses presented a gift to the honoree.

FRIDAY BRUNCH

A 'skinny pants' brunch was the entertainment Friday morning in the Truman Jones home when Mrs. Jones was joined by Mrs. Pete Harmonson and Mrs. Ed Swift.

Twenty friends of Mrs. Marsalis' gathered for the informal affair and were served from a table topped with mosaic tile. The centerpiece was fashioned from fresh fruits and vegetables. Brass and copper serving pieces were used along with turquoise and green pottery.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SECTION D — BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1960 — SECTION D

They Can Use More

City firemen are busy at the annual chore of repairing used toys for Christmas distribution to underprivileged youngsters—a part of the "Christmas Cheer" operation. Here are Robert Mullens and Jim Brown with some of the items that are being put in tiptop shape. They need more toys, however, and the appeal is made again: If you have usable and repairable playthings that your children have outgrown or discarded, won't you pass them along? Just deliver to your nearest Cosden service station or the nearest city fire station. Some child will be made happy on Christmas if you'll help.

New System Would Rule Out Need For Antennas

By JACK RADER

Television without antennas may come to Big Spring within two years.

A cable television system which could afford Big Spring viewers pictures from at least six stations is being proposed by the Seminole Cable TV company.

Don Mansell, manager of the company, was granted a franchise here by the city commission and will begin promoting his system within the next three months.

"I can promise to bring five stations, in addition to the Big Spring station," Mansell told the commission this week. Included in the promoter's claim are Sweetwater, San Angelo, Odessa, Midland and possibly two Lubbock stations.

LOCAL PROGRAMS

Although the Sweetwater and Big Spring stations have similar network programming, Mansell said local program from all the cities named could be seen here with the cable system.

Some Big Springers can now receive pictures from all, or a portion of the stations Mansell listed, but all the stations do not come in clear all of the time, he said.

There will be no wavy picture with the cable, he said. "There is a minimum of interference with the cable and a good, clear picture results."

Besides excellent reception at all times of the Odessa, Midland and Sweetwater stations, Mansell pointed out that NBC reception from San Angelo would be an added attraction to viewers here.

ADDITION

The channel cited as possibilities from Lubbock would be in addition to the one already beaming programs to Big Spring, Mansell said.

Under the terms of the franchise, which entails no direct fee, the city will receive two per cent of the company's gross revenue. The franchise was granted for 25 years but is not exclusive, leaving the door open for another similar operation.

A tall tower, which Mansell said will probably be erected outside the city limits, picks up the signals beamed from the distant stations and relays these signals through cables into the individual receivers (television sets).

Amplifiers at the tower strengthen the signal before it is relayed, Mansell said.

MONTHLY BILLS

"This is our business, so of course we have to make a profit," Mansell said. "Customers are charged and billed monthly, like a utility."

Mansell said that the charge varies from city to city, depending on the cost of constructing the system. "In no case will the monthly charge be more than $7.50. And it will probably be less," he said.

"It is hard to set a definite figure this early," Mansell said, "because so much depends on costs to build the cable network."

"We thought we might work out a separate rate for permanent residents of perhaps as low as $4.50, with a tie-on fee. Then, we wouldn't charge transient residents for tying onto the cable, but hike the monthly rate to perhaps $7.50."

NOT DEFINITE

The sliding scale is not definite, Mansell said. "It was just an idea we kicked around," he told the commission.

The company has installed the cable in its headquarters city of Seminole and in Denver City.

"In Denver City and Seminole there is a monthly charge of $6, and in Seminole $14 is charged the customer for tying on," Mansell said.

Before any system is installed here, a lot of groundwork must take place, and it is unlikely that the cable could be constructed in less than a year. "Eighteen months would be a good minimum time limit," Mansell said.

The company must acquire easements for installing the cables where necessary. Mansell said he hopes to use telephone poles where possible.

$400,000 COST

A lot of selling will be involved in the preliminary work, too. "The system may cost as much as $400,000 to build," Mansell said. "Big Spring residents will have to be receptive to the idea to make the investment worthwhile."

Special Dinner Is Set Tuesday

Big Spring business men and Webb Air Force Base officers will mingle for acquaintance and fellowship Tuesday evening.

A special reception and dinner affair has been arranged through auspices of the Chamber of Commerce Base-Community Council, and is planned as one of a regular series of "get-togethers" simply to widen acquaintances between civilian and military people.

The event will be at the Cosden Country Club, beginning at 6:30.

Each of some 75 local businessmen has invited an officer as his special guest for the evening. Attendance thus will run around 150. There will be no formal program.

Woman To Seek Psychiatric Help In Dallas

COLORADO CITY—A Big Spring woman, who this week entered a plea of guilty to a charge of theft, is to seek psychiatric treatment in Dallas, officials here reported.

Mrs. Lillie Faye (Candy) Andrews entered the plea in county court on a complaint that she had taken $31 belonging to Mrs. M. C. Bynum, 1424 Elm. She was fined $31 and $27.50 by County Judge Elmer Martin. The husband, R. L. Andrews, told the court that his wife was mentally ill and needed help. Judge Martin requested a confidential report from the doctors.

Mrs. Bynum testified that when she returned to her home a car was parked in front of the house and a light was on inside the house. She saw a woman leave by the back door and accosted her before the woman could get back to her car.

"We asked her what she was doing inside the house," Mrs. Bynum said, "but she denied being in the house and said she was looking for the residence of another couple." Mrs. Bynum said that she checked and $31 was missing from her purse, and it was returned to her while she called the police.

Mystery Anchor

STURGEON BAY, Wis. (AP)—Skindivers have recovered a 1,500 pound anchor found embedded in the sand of Lake Michigan off Baileys Harbor.

The anchor bore the name H. Duncan Poole. Salvagers have been unable to find any record of a ship with that name.

53 To Graduate In Class 61-D At Webb AFB

Graduation exercises for Pilot Training Class 61-D will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m., in the base chapel at Webb AFB.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Rep. George Mahon, congressional representative from the 19th Congressional District of Texas.

The 53 officers in the graduating class receiving their wings include:

First Lts. Alfred W. Adcox, James R. Alley, Guy E. Pulliam, Lewis R. Williams, Gordon W. Schiefelbein, Robert M. Wilshire, Richard H. Pabst, Benjamin, A. Firth, Gerald A. Dollard, Kenneth A. Kirkpatrick, Thomas E. Hubeli, Donald W. Mills, Frederick P. Curtis, and William H. Jackson;

Juvenal (65-140 A.D.) said:

"A SOUND MIND IN A SOUND BODY IS TO BE PRAYED FOR"

In ancient days a sound body was truly a blessing for then known medicines gave very little help. Plagues would overnight decimate or wipe out cities. Any surgical operation was a death-defying ordeal.

Physicians can now prescribe effective medicines for which monarchs would have given their kingdoms in grateful payment. Yet these new drugs, many of which cost millions to research and perfect, are a few cents per treatment. They not only save lives, but by lessening sickness-time and requiring fewer visits from physicians, actually save you money.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

A Devotional For Today

Make a joyful noise unto God, all ye lands. (Psalms 66:1.)

PRAYER: Our Father, we seek the strength that comes from Thee only. We would have the spirit of Christ so that we may live faithfully and courageously for Thee. Give us cheerful hearts no matter what our trials. Help us to labor in this spirit of the Master, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Big Bargain – Now And In The Future

The danger about the bond election Saturday, when voters will be asked to pass upon $150,000 for right of way purchases, is that not enough people will take it seriously.

Even in a county the size of Howard, $150,000 is serious business. But even more important is the implication of what these funds will unloose.

There is conservatively two and a quarter million dollars riding on the outcome of this election.

WE DO NOT SAY that this money will be irrevocably lost to Howard County if it does not provide the needed right of way for road projects already funded by the Texas Highway Department.

We do say, however, that our county might be a long time in realizing these improvements if we do not ask now, and that if we have to wait too long, we may lose the strategic advantage which would keep these on a high priority basis.

Consider that the Highway Department has right at a million dollars ($968,000) set up for conversion of U.S. 87 north into a four-lane divided highway. Consider further that it has recently set up $753,000 under the 1961-62 program for construction of a four-lane overpass on Gregg Street over the Texas & Pacific tracks. The road improvements are clearly dependent upon securing the necessary roadway; the overpass is predicated upon the urgency created by the four-lane highway. Here you have a million and three-quarters dollars already authorized depending upon acquiring right of way.

IN NORTH CENTRAL Howard County approximately $100,000 has been earmarked by the State Highway Department for construction of a final link in FM 846 which will provide an east-west bisector through the northern half of Howard County. This is contingent upon the county furnishing roadway.

The state has set up $352,000 for an extension of FM-700 from IS 20 northward to State 350 (Snyder Highway). Again, this 3.9-mile project awaits the furnishing of roadway by the county.

Howard County has been acquiring right of way out of current operations for many years, but this has created a drain that has all but halted the county's own exemplary lateral road construction program. The county has no more funds for major roadway purchases, hence it must ask for bonds. The availability of the bond money for right of way purchase will relieve the road department of a major strain and open the way for the county to tackle several lateral road building projects now stymied. Hence, we have a stake in our own road building program as well as in the state program.

THERE IS ONE OTHER extremely important reason for approving these bonds now, aside from the funds that they will make available for work here. It is simply this:

Highways are, and will continue to be for a long, long time, the main arteries for today's transportation. They are much more vital to communities today than railroads were 50 years ago. The counties which, by their cooperation with the State Highway Department, get the major peg points established now will be the counties in a favorable position for years to come.

Around The Rim

When You're In Trouble, Talk Tough

This is the season of blessing-counting, and I am all for this. But there are—let's face it—days when you just can't make a dollar.

I have just been ensnared in one of the more woeful experiences that befall mankind in this hectic age. To put the confession in simpler terms, I was caught the other day in one of those highway radar traps.

THIS IS FUNNY only when it happens to the other fellow. It's not only un-funny, it leaves one all shook up. But after the confrontation with the highway patrolman is over, there come to mind those witticisms which one would like to hurl at the minion of the law—if one had the intestinal fortitude.

I hope the Department of Public Safety won't get me wrong. Their patrolmen are the very essence of courtesy. This is what makes the thing all the worse.

YOU'RE CRUISING along, see, on one of those freeways, the engine purring and all the windows up so there's no wind resistance, and that 60-mile limit under such circumstances becomes an absurdity. All of a sudden, just over the hill, there's that DPS car off in the ditch, with wires running to it, and assorted other paraphernalia. There's an uncontrolled instinct that pulls your foot off the gas treadle, and another that prompts you to cuss yourself for not having seen the little black box that was cleverly camouflaged, back down the road apiece.

BY THAT TIME, you sight another police car, and the fellow in the uniform motioning to you to pull over.

Now comes the conversation. You roll down the window, and he sticks his head in, takes off his hat and says with all the grace in the world, "I'm Sam Spade (not his real name, of course) of the Department of Public Safety. We're here working for highway safety."

WHAT I DIDN'T SAY: "I don't care what your name is, big boy, and I know you're out here to snag law-abiding motorists. I ought to report you for trying to hide this whole setup behind that underpass support. Who do you think you are, anyway?"

What I said: "Yes sir."

He said: "May I see your driver's license?"

What I didn't say: "You got a warrant for that sort of thing, Buster? I have rights, too, you know. You got no cause to start pushing me around. I'm pretty well known in my home town."

What I said: "Yes sir."

HE SAID: "ARE you on some sort of emergency?"

What I didn't say: "Heck yes. Guys like you wouldn't understand that a wheel like me is always on important business. Matter of fact, I ought to turn you in for delaying me. Get your little recitation over with and I'll be on my way."

What I said: "No sir. Sorry, I was just going a little faster than I realized."

He said: "I'm going to have to give you a ticket. I will give you convenient time to appear before the justice of the peace in the county seat. You have every right to plead your case before him."

WHAT I DIDN'T SAY: "Oh, a ticket, eh? So you're going to get tough, eh? All right, Son, you write that out, and you'll be sorry. I'll fight it all the way to the Supreme Court, and we'll see how that makes you look."

What I said: "Yes sir."

He said: "Please help us make the highways safe by driving within the limits."

What I didn't say: "Aw, go jump in the lake."

What I said: "Yes sir."

Points Of Prestige In Our Favor

WASHINGTON — Three important events seem to have just given America a significant rise in percentage points on the imaginary barometer that supposedly measures American prestige in the world.

First, a satellite today is circling the earth which supplies more scientific information and weather data than the Soviets have ever managed to get from outer space. Besides, it takes pictures of the earth and could conceivably be the forerunner of the "spy in the sky" that will make the U-2's seem unimportant in retrospect.

SECOND, the Japanese people, in an election that recorded some 40,000,000 votes, affirmed by a decisive majority the policy of the Tokyo government which had recently approved the new treaty with the United States. All the commentators from the Japanese capital speak of the election as a vote of approval of the policies of the United States and as indicating support for the viewpoint expressed by President Eisenhower. Notwithstanding the riots which were instigated a few months ago in Tokyo by the Communists and which caused such embarrassment that the government had to withdraw its invitation to Mr. Eisenhower to visit Japan—an incident which was blamed on the President during our own presidential campaign—it turns out now that the Washington administration was right all along.

THIRD, the United Nations, by a vote of 53 to 24, affirmed the position taken by the United States and the Western governments in giving a seat to President Kasavubu as the authorized representative of the Congo government. The 24 negative votes included all the Communist states and some of their "neutralist" stooges. There were 19 abstentions, which means that certain governments felt it politic not to offend either the West or the East.

Now the 53-to-24 vote is not unlike that which occurred in the United Nations several weeks ago, only to be seized upon by Senator Kennedy and other campaign speakers as evidence that the United States was slipping. The truth is that America still is able to get a majority to maintain the prestige of the United Nations as an instrument of world peace.

EVERYBODY in government here realizes that the Congo presents one of the most tangled problems that has ever faced the United Nations, and there is an inclination to be tolerant and patient as the factional strife in Leopoldville continues. The U. N. had to recognize some government, and it chose that of President Kasavubu because he was legally elected and also gives promise of trying to get some semblance of order. Behind the scenes, the Communists have been engineering the mischievous acts of Patrice Lumumba. Disorders have occurred in the Congo, and even U. N. personnel have been attacked, but there was no way out of the dilemma for the U. N. except to recognize a government and hold it accountable.

NOT EVERYTHING, of course, that is happening on the international scene is favorable. The U. S. Secretary of the Treasury, Robert Anderson, has been trying to get the government of West Germany to bear much of the expense of the American army stationed there. Naturally, the Bonn government, in the first of a series of conferences on this subject, could not appear to be ready to hand out millions of dollars to cover military expenses of Allied armies without encouraging others, among them the British, to ask for similar payments. It isn't going to be an easy problem to resolve. After many years of footing the bill for the protection of West Germany, the United States finds itself caught in an unfavorable balance of payments which in turn affects the price of gold in world markets.

SECRETARY ANDERSON is one of the ablest secretaries of the Treasury the United States has ever had. It would be a ten-strike if Senator Kennedy could prevail upon him to stay on a year or two while a new under secretary is trained to take over. Mr. Anderson is from Texas and has been a Democrat most of his life. He is a close friend of Vice President-Elect Lyndon Johnson and of House Speaker Rayburn. In a quiet way, he has maintained satisfactory relations between the Republican administration and the Democratic-controlled House and Senate.

The problem of stopping the outflow of gold is one of the most serious of all the international tasks that confront the new administration, and on its handling may, indeed, depend the future of American prestige abroad, especially in the financial and monetary field.

New Citizen

HONOLULU (AP)—Niihau, the privately owned Hawaiian island 17 miles south of Kauai Island, has produced its first alien to qualify for U. S. citizenship.

Ishimatsu Shintani, 78, will become a citizen on Nov. 30. He is one of the 240 inhabitants of the little-known island.

Ishimatsu moved to Niihau from Kauai 25 years ago. He is married to a Hawaiian woman and they have eight children.

A naturalization examiner said Shintani passed all his tests and should have no trouble attaining citizenship.

Taxing Decision

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (AP)—Home is where a man's bedroom is.

That's the official word from the Wisconsin Department of Taxation.

The line dividing the town of Linn and the city of Lake Geneva passes throught the home of Curtis McKay. Both communities claimed they were due the local refund on state taxes paid by McKay.

The department agreed with the city, noting that McKay's bedroom was in Lake Geneva. As a result, the city received a check for $10,008, representing income tax returns for three years.

Sick Costs Rise

GEARHART, Ore. (AP)—You can look for the cost of hospitalization to go up in the years ahead, says the director of the National Hospital Association.

Dr. Edwin L. Crosby told an Oregon hospital group convention that for the past five years hospital costs have gone up 5 per cent a year. This just reflects general trends and is likely to continue, he said.

Dr. Crosby said that in the past decade the cost of educating a child in school has gone up 200 per cent while cost of caring for a patient in a hospital has gone up 100 per cent.

We Need A Boom For Jaded Appetites

What this country needs is a new boom to sweep the shelves clean.

It would assist President-elect John F. Kennedy over the forthcoming winter bumps in unemployment (see chart). As many as 6,000,000 may be out of work come January-February. The new administration will be pressed: "Do something!"

Since the end of the war, we've had intermittent booms. First came the boom in appliances of all sorts—to make up for the refrigerator, washing machine, and vacuum cleaner drought during World War II.

THEN CAME TV booms, housing booms, and automobile booms. Sometimes they came separately, sometimes together, but each time they imparted a lift to enthusiasm and business.

Off-and-on defense spending — rhythmically cadenced to Kremlin cold war switches—also helped booms. And, all the while, state and local governments provided a steady uptow as outlays increased on schools, hospitals, roads, sewage systems, etc. Happy consequence;; successive booms moderated recessions and implemented economic recoveries.

Wanted immediately: Another boom for jaded appetites.

Householders just aren't excited. They feel no compulsion to buy. Cars and appliances are plentiful. Motor boats, swimming pools, and places in the woods and at the seashore are still popular, but the volume doesn't measure up to a boom in housing or TV sets or autos. Nor is any big demand obvious.

THE DRAB FACT of current economic life is that production has got ahead of consumption. Expectations of manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers have exceeded what you and I will buy. That's the major difference between business oomph and business oof.

In October a year ago, total inventories of manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers amounted to $88,800,000,000; today, they amount to $93,200,000,000. That's a rise of $4,400,000,000. Not really a staggering amount.

Yet, if you look at how business men have shifted from inventory accumulation to decumulation, you can see why unemployment has risen and could rise further.

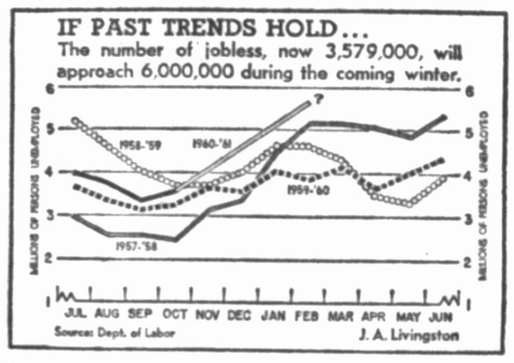
TAKE ONE month—December, 1959: Inventories increased by a billion dollars, or at an annual rate of $12,000,000,000. That was when business men were stocking up against a renewal of the steel strike.

But, late this summer, inventories went the other way. Stocks were cut by $100,000,000 a month, or at a $1,200,000,000-a-year rate. Thus, a violent reversal took place. An inventory expansion at a $12,000,000,000 annual rate became an inventory contraction at a rate of a billion dollars. In less than 12 months, $13,000,000,000 of internal buying by business men whooshed out of the economic system. In a $500,000,000,000 economy, that's almost 3 per cent.

THAT'S NOT easy to take. It hits workers, particular workers. As steel inventories were reduced, steel production fell, and workers were laid off. Even now, in automobiles, production is being curtailed, because inventories are high. Ditto in appliances.

Yet the layoffs in automobile, steel, and appliance production centers have not caused a general economic malaise. The recession to date has been extremely mild. Employment has held up fairly well. Retail sales, though not at their best, are only 2 per cent below their high for the year. Personal income continues to edge up slowly.

PROSPERITY, after 15 years, is jaded. Each recovery from recession has fallen short of its predecessor. Here you can see the number of months of each advance and the accompanying percentage increase in gross national product (adjusted for price changes):



Recovery	No. of Months	Per cent Rise
1949-53	48	29
1954-57	39	19
1958-60	27	14

That's why a new boom is needed—to sweep inventories clean, to lift demand, and start a new cycle of economic exuberance. Perhaps it will come from consumers, themselves — in demand for compact cars, in demand for new houses, or something only a gleam in some marketing man's mind.

PERHAPS SOMETHING entirely fresh will stir desire and open checkbooks — something just getting off some manufacturer's drawing board. The money's around. The appetite isn't.

Perhaps the economic spur will come from the new administration—in bold new plans.

Perhaps it will come from time, itself, as consumers eat into inventories. Once the inventory trend is reversed—from decumulation to accumulation—production and employment will get a lift.

But a boom, in something big, something everybody wants, would be quicker. Any ideas?

Savings Save Day

SOLANA BEACH, Calif. (AP) —A woman seeking funds for a plane ticket to her mother's funeral back East recalled a savings account that her mother had opened jointly in their names.

She withdrew the entire amount —$251.59. Her plane ticket came to $251.79.

How To Introduce Solid Foods To A Baby

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My first baby is four months and weighs about 14 pounds. She seems to be a happy little girl and I want to keep her that way.

"My doctor told me to start her on solid foods at three months. He said to give her as much as she wants, but most of the time she doesn't want anything but her bottle. Every feeding is a battle and I end up giving her the bottle before she takes any solids.

"After she has had her formula, she isn't interested in solids. I know she should have the solids first, but how do I explain that to her?

"I realize that every baby is different, but could you give me some basic idea of how much strained fruit, vegetables, meat, egg yolk and cereal a baby this age should have regularly? I'm afraid of over-feeding or under-feeding her.

"My doctor isn't much help. He keeps telling me to 'give her as much as she wants.' Also he keeps telling me I am taking my job as a mother too seriously. Perhaps I am, but with a little concrete advice maybe I can relax somewhat.—Mrs. G.F."

All right, New Mother, it's concrete advice you shall have.

The first rule of introducing solid foods to a baby is NOT to make a battle of it. Mealtime for anybody should be pleasant, and that's especially true for babies who are just learning what the world is about.

Second rule: Make the transition gradual. Mix the solid food (that is, the strained baby food) with a bit of milk to make it thinner, if necessary, so it's a gradual change for baby from milk to slightly thicker "milk," to straight baby food.

Sometimes it helps to keep the bottle well out of sight until a spoonful or so of the baby food has been eaten. (But don't make an issue of it. Your goal isn't to force your child to eat solid food at any given feeding; your goal is to help her make the easy and natural transition to solider foods.)

And third, don't sell Nature short! When your doctor says to let baby "eat what she wants," that's exactly what he means. Because babies, not having had their accurate little appetites distorted by a lot of adult foolishness, will tend to eat what they need—neither more nor less.

Don't, I adjure you, worry about "over-feeding" her, because in this case she isn't eating any solid foods—so you say!

And as to "under-feeding," let's not worry about that, either. If she is getting too little food, one of these days she'll be hungry enough at feeding time to take aboard a helping of the solid (strained) baby food—and like it.

Don't insist on a "basic" schedule of how much of this, that, and the other you "should" feed her. Put first things first. First find an easy-going, calm way of getting her used to such foods. After that, Nature will guide things very well.

I hate to say this, Mrs. G.F., but you ARE taking the job of mothering a little too seriously. Take it easy.

* * *

"Dear Dr. Molner: What, in your opinion, would cause the muscles in the back of the leg from the knee to the ankle to ache?

—Mrs. H.J.A."

Faulty arches; high heels; no heels; hardened arteries; varicose veins; simple fatigue. Any, or any combination of them.

* * *

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is it possible for a weekly bath or shower to have any effect on a person with poor circulation?—E.M.C."

If you mean, "Can a weekly scrub be harmful?" the answer is no. Warm baths, in fact, are helpful, but excessive heat should be avoided.

A Place To Go When In Trouble

Some weeks ago in this column I said I would be pleased to hear from readers who would like to share experiences of answered prayer. A large number of men and women have responded to that invitation. The experiences related are of great variety. A few of them I propose to publish here for the benefit of other readers. I begin with the story of a woman in South Carolina. She had a really hard time of it, but God saw her through.

"Over 10 years ago," this lady writes, "my husband ran off with a 16-year-old girl, leaving me with four children and expecting another one in five more months. I moved into a little two-room shack, paying $20 a month rent and living on $17 dollars a week which my husband had to give me.

"I HAD TO START housekeeping with second - hand iron bedsteads and poor kitchen equipment. I already had a washing machine, but not in running condition. No pillows for my bed. Had to use an oil lamp because I couldn't afford electricity. Naturally I worried a lot about all the things I needed.

"But then one day I remembered the Lord of His word in Matthew 6:33 . . ."

How often the great experiences of a life time begin in just this way! "But then one day . . ." One day you suddenly remember something you have been taught. One day you take your eyes from your difficulties for a moment, you lift them up and become receptive to God's guidance and help.

This forsaken, distressed young mother remembered the great saying recorded in Matthew 6:33: "But seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." Now what would that mean, to seek God's kingdom? How would a person go about it? Certainly it would mean trying to live by the values held up to us in our religious teachings. It would begin with right attitudes. Accepting without bitterness whatever God ordains for us—that would be part of it. Non-resentment toward persons who have hurt us would surely be another part. And another—the will to be undismayed when things look black, trusting in God's providence.

"I PRAYED ABOUT this on Tuesday," the lady's letter continues, "and I knew God heard my prayer." She then assumed that God would somehow cause her husband to give her more than the usual $17 the following Saturday. But her prayer was answered in a different and speedier fashion:

"That very evening a man came to my home saying that if I would agree to sell the lot my husband had paid a few dollars on, I could have half the money. I agreed and got just enough money to buy two pillows, have my washing machine fixed and have the electricity turned on. God answered that prayer even before I expected Him to."

AND THEN, SKIPPING all the detail of 10 tremendous years, she concludes with these words: "So—today my children are at the ages of almost 16, 15, 13, 11 and 10. I am the leader of the Women's Missionary Band and also am Sunday school teacher. I am buying a four-room house with complete bath and nice furniture. I had a physical check-up last week and was in good health. I thank God, for He did it all. You may use my letter if you want to."

Such is the testimony of a woman for whom God fulfilled the promise that if she put His kingdom first, ways of meeting her material and human needs would be added unto her. The big thing in time of trouble is to remember God and His righteousness.

Mexico Not Concerned With Our Affairs

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

(For Marquis Childs—on vacation.)

MEXICO CITY—The green and red and white tricolor of the Republic of Mexico flies with extraordinary tranquility here in the metropolis and in all the dusty, ancient little pueblos. This country celebrates with an inner peace and sense of safety not known to us above the Rio Grande the 50th anniversary of its modern revolution—that led by Francisco Madero against the old world military dictatorship of Porfirio Dias.

THIS IS A GOOD place in which to spend a few days in the incomparable hospitality of the Mexicans, whose persistent kindness is the last vestige of the Mexico one remembers from, say, 10 years ago.

Industrialization has arrived here, and with it many of the heavy things and gadgets which at home are so useful to us materially but which so weigh down our will to take it easy sometimes and to rest in the shade of the trees. There is in Mexico no more manana, no more of the old wonderful casualness which would put off to the day after tomorrow what really should have been done yesterday at the latest.

BUT IT IS A good place to stay a while, not only because kindness still lives here if manana does not. This is a striking vantage point from which to view in rather remote perspective the urgencies we have been having at home, in the presidential campaign and now in the hiatus between the Eisenhower administration and the new Kennedy administration.

We face a time of ever-growing preoccupation with foreign affairs, including Latin-American affairs, with Castro Cuba in mind. They face here what President Adolfo Lopez Mateos calls the year of the homeland—the year of the country. In a word, the Mexicans are looking inward at their expanding economy and their wide and perhaps slightly extreme welfare program. We are looking outward in anxiety at a great world where menace seems to lie in ambush in every continent and on every sea.

NO CASUAL TRIPPER, such as this correspondent, should say he was sure on the point, on a mere few days' observation. But this casual tripper would make a small bet that the Mexicans officially and unofficially are not really desperately concerned about Castro's Cuba or the United States, either.

There is sympathy here with our attitude toward the smallest Latin dictator, Castro, ever to raise so large a concern in Washington. For Mexico, though commonly described as a left-wing country, has actually an increasing, rather than a decreasing, respect for capitalism. The political slogans sound pretty pinkish, but the Chamber of Commerce is an infinitely bigger thing than all Marxian theory.

THE MEXICANS, save for a tiny and narrow minority, do not speak even faintly in the accents of the Kremlin. This is so because Mexico is having what we had after the Civil War a century ago, an enormous rise in the propertied middle class.

The old Mexican grandees are dying out and so are the frightfully huddled masses. The new dominant class is not high and not low but rather middling. These fellows, who have so recently come to a vastly better life materially, want no part of Castro. But they also are not exactly anxious to take any hand in any all-out United States effort to halt that singularly unpleasant lackey of imperialist communism.

They want to be left alone and perhaps we ought to understand, if not condone. There was a very long time when in the face of rampant totalitarianism we, too, only wanted to be left alone.

Activities Slow At HCJC

By KAY LOVELAND

This column seems to be a little short on news this week due partly to the fact that it was a short school week—3 days—and partly to the fact that your roving reporter didn't do much roving.

The Harvest Dance held at the SUB on Nov. 19 was blessed with fair attendance. The "floor show" staged by the College Players provided a few laughs with Doug Davis reading the story of "Goldilocks and the Three Cool Bears," Teddy Groebl doing an imitation of Shelley Berman and Doug, Brenda Austine, Ronnie Bingham and Nancy Easley satirizing a Mike Hammer mystery. I hear that later on a school combo of Teddy Groebl on piano, Gordon Myrick on steel guitar and Leon Byrd on drums moved the band out and provided a little music of their own.

Jayhawkers can still order photographs from annual staff members or from Mr. Clements, annual sponsor.

Karen Baldwin, Jean Creighton, Judi Shields and Gloria Coker reported a "great trip!" to A & M last weekend. The four girls left on Sunday and returned Tuesday night. Accompanied by Mr. Clements, they attended the annual journalism meet at the college.

Phi Theta Kappa members are still selling cherry pecan cakes in cans for $1 per cake. Each member has to sell 14 cakes, so help 'em out. The money will help finance a delegation to the national convention in Sheridan, Wyoming, next April.

Don't forget the western dance in the SUB Friday night, sponsored by the Rodeo Club.

Another geology field trip by raft up one of the many canyons in Big Bend has been postponed. The second trip was originally set for Dec. 10.

Well, the holiday is over, but don't fret, guys and gals, only 17 more days of classes until Christmas vacation.

Queen Nominees

Runnels Harvest Queen candidates chosen last week were Sarah Smith, 7th grade; Lynda McDonald, 9th grade and Glenda Heffington, 8th grade.

Harvest Queen Candidates Chosen

By JUDY ENGLE

Elections were held this week for Harvest Queen nominees. Elected to represent the seventh grade was Sarah Smith; eighth grade, Glenda Heffington; and ninth grade, Lynda McDonald. One of these girls will be crowned at the Harvest Dance on Dec. 2.

The ninth grade class will be in charge of the marriage booth, the cakewalk and the Tunnel of Love at the Carnival. Eighth graders have the dart booth, the beatnik booth and the ring the toe booth, and the seventh grade will have the divorce booth, the ducking booth and the fortune telling booth. The Future Homemakers will conduct the food booth, where hot dogs, caramel apples, cupcakes, Cokes, coffee and hot chocolate will be served.

The carnival will begin at 6:30 p.m. and will end at 8:30. Afterwards, the dance will be held in the Runnels gym from 8:30 to 11 p.m. The carnival will be open to the public, but students must have their activity cards for admittance to the dance.

The Thanksgiving Assembly was held Wednesday. Eugene Pennington, president of the student body, gave the welcome. Jan Anderson worded the invocation. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Doris Gambill, sang several songs as the speech class, with Mildred Lucas conducting, told the Thanksgiving story between verses and songs. The Rev. DeWitt Seago, pastor of First Methodist Church, delivered a short sermon and the Rev. P. D. O'Brien of the First Baptist Church gave the benediction. Decorations for the assembly were made by Patsy Tunnell, reading teacher.

Petitions for favorites, best-all-around, most beautiful and most handsome have begun circulating. All petitions are to be in by Dec. 2 and the elections will be held Dec. 5.

The Thanksgiving edition of the Round-Up went on sale Wednesday.

School was turned out Wednesday at 2:45 p.m. for the holidays. Hope everyone had a happy Thanksgiving!

Talent Show Is Success

By NANCY HEDLESTON

The talent show, given by the physical education department on Wednesday afternoon, under the direction of Mrs. Jane Dotson, was greatly enjoyed by the entire student body and their guests. Especially good was the tumbling team which climaxed its act by building a pyramid. Funny skits and other entertaining acts were given. The final act was a tribute to Thanksgiving expressed in the reading of a poem and a song by the choral group.

The homemaking classes prepared a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family last week. Each girl was asked to bring canned food. The girls are bringing Christmas cards for the patients at the state hospital. The sewing classes have also made curtains for the hospital.

Beginning this week there will be a devotional each morning over the PA system. It will be given during the homeroom period.

Since school was dismissed on Wednesday many of our students have gone out of town for the holidays. Among them were Jane McElrath, Lois Tarbox, Kay Oakes, Kenny Chrane, Bill Worley and Lanny Proctor.

The first basketball game, which will be Monday, will be with Lee of San Angelo. We hope everyone will attend and back our team.

Steers Open Basketball Season On November 25

By LYN CLAWSON

Friday night in Steer gymnasium the Steer basketball team officially opened its 1960-61 season against Lake View of San Angelo. This is the beginning of an exciting season at BSHS. The team plays again next Friday night against Sweetwater here, and I hope that more will turn out at that game to back the Steers.

Last Tuesday night about 50 members of the Shorthand Club gathered in the school cafeteria for a banquet. Members of the club furnished the food for the affair. Sponsor of this group is Mrs. Don Green.

To the kids who are home from college, I would like to say, "Welcome home!"

The BSHS Student Council has been discussing the possibility of having a homecoming every other year, it has now been three years since we had one. It is a lot of hard work for the student council to undertake, if it is not going to be a success. The council wants to hold homecoming when most of the ex-students can attend. If you are a BSHS ex, write a card or letter to the student council and let us know whether you would rather have it in the summer or fall.

Quite a few clubs are selling things right now. The band's annual fruit cake sale is still underway. The cakes come in two, three and five pound sizes and sell for $3.70, $5.20 and $8.25. These may be bought from any band member. Chi-Rho Tri-Hi-Y girls are selling mixed nuts for a dollar a can.

Last Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the student council conducted its annual Thanksgiving Needy Drive. Wednesday morning council members delivered boxes of food to 20 needy families in Big Spring. To each box of canned goods the council added a chicken and a loaf of bread.

Last week BSHS students saw two assemblies. On Tuesday they were entertained in a Fisher Body Guild assembly and on Wednesday they attended the Thanksgiving assembly at which the Rev. Hungerford from St. Mary's Episcopal Church spoke. The mixed choir and the girls' choir performed at the Thanksgiving assembly. This was the first time this year that the choirs had sung before the student body, and everyone agreed that they did a beautiful job.

Next Wednesday BSHS students will be honored to hear Rep. George Mahon speak in an assembly. Following this assembly the Future Teachers of America officers will be installed in a ceremony at which Floyd Parsons, superintendent of schools, will officiate. Those who will be installed are: James Farris, president; Emmett Kent Morgan, vice president Kay Crownover, secretary; Danny McCrary, treasurer. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Oates sponsor this group.

Congratulations are in order to the winners of the DE Talent Show which was held Tuesday night. They were the Deltas, Dean Terrazzas and Karen Utley.

The new band uniforms have finally arrived. For those of you who want to see them and see a fine performance at the same time, the band is going to present its marching routine in Memorial Stadium next Tuesday night. The Goliad and Runnels band will march at the same time.

EXES' ADVICE ASKED ON DATE FOR HOMECOMING

Ex-students of Big Spring High School are asked to express their desire about the approximate time for the 1961 homecoming.

The student council wants to begin planning now to make the event a big one, and it also wants suggestions as to the best date. Some might want it in the spring, others might prefer it in the autumn. They might want it on the day of a football game, the Saturday after a football game, or on a holiday weekend. Whatever your feelings, please drop a card to the Student Council, Big Spring High School, and suggest a time.

DARIN ADVISES

Don't Make It A Duet Until You've Soloed

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Singer Bobby Darin, with a quarter million dollars in earnings last year to back him up, passes out some advice to success-minded teenagers.

First, don't get married.

"This applies until you decide you can't make it career-wise, or until you have made it," says the 23-year-old rock 'n' roll graduate.

Darin has nothing against girls, since he's engaged to actress Sandra Dee. It's just that one must be willing to give up social life until he succeeds.

"Before he has to take a job," Darin says, "the youngster should live it up—swing. But once he's doing what is right for him—and this is the big thing—he's got to start sacrificing."

A fellow is through when he starts thinking about going to a movie or a ball game instead of spending the same money on breathing lessons or an anthology of plays, Darin says. "He might as well get married."

Other necessities for success he cites are an understanding mother and the ability to avoid discouragement.

"As a 3-year-old I spent most of my time making the family laugh," he says. "I was uninhibited. My mother encouraged me, but she also told me there were millions of kids who wanted what I wanted and that the going would be tough."

Guidance of this sort is indispensable, Darin says, and he adds some advice for parents of aspiring entertainers:

BOBBY DARIN
. . . Singer with advice to teens.

"Let the child be a child. Once you make him feel shy, he will be shy. An entertainer must be an extrovert, because as soon as he stops and thinks 'Did I make a fool of myself?' he's lost. If he's only semi-sure of himself, the audience feels it, and it only half likes him."

A Contortionist?

No, he's really not; he's just Jerry Lee Lewis, rock 'n' roll star, giving a performance at the City Auditorium last Friday night.

Sam Burns Feels DE, ICT Programs Helpful

"I feel any young person would be ready for adult life 3 to 5 years before the average by taking a program of the DE or ICT type. One cannot learn the ways of the business world too soon in life," so Sam Burns, owner of Sam's Slack & Shirt Shop, 202 E. 3rd, summed up the benefits of the two high school job training programs.

Mr. Burns was a member of the DE program for two years when Seth Parsons was coordinator at the local high school. He began his business training at Lee Hanson's Men's Wear store where he washed windows, swept the store out and helped keep merchandise in stock.

Mr. Burns was employed by his high school employer for some 10 years, while attending high school and Howard County Junior College.

"I needed an occupation as well as a place to make a living, so I took the program," he says.

"The program helped me by enabling me to get my apprenticeship in while going to school. When I finished school and got a job, I had no apprenticeship to do then and I went to work as a finished product," he says.

Mr. Burns estimates that the top salary in the men's clothing business is between $12,000 and $15,000 per year in large operations, but that the only limit on earnings is actually a man's ability. He feels that his college training was beneficial and that it hastened his advancement in salary and position.

"The DE program helped me to start training earlier and consequently I have a much better knowledge of the business," he states.

Daddy Date Night Set At Coahoma

By PHYLLIS ANDERSON

Girls, have you got your date for Daddy Date Night, Dec. 1, sponsored by the FHA? If not, be sure to ask your dads for dates to the annual affair. At the banquet girls who have been members of the organization for two or more years are presented with an FHA pen.

The Coahoma basketball team—A girls and boys and B boys—played host to Garden City last week. The boys teams won while the girls met bad luck.

The FHA and FFA Hayride was delayed because of six weeks exams being given last week. It is now set for this Monday.

Another delayed event is the open-house which was to be held on Nov. 20. New date set is Dec. 4. The high school band has been working on concert music to be played at the big event.

School was turned out Wednesday at 2:45 for the Thanksgiving holidays. Hope everyone enjoyed the short vacation.

Girls Take Second In HCJC Tournament

By MARSHA BRISTOW

This week has been in one way a sad one. Seven of our students have been involved in wrecks. All of them are lucky to have excaped injury except for Steve and Tommy Flowers and Royce Reynolds. We hope these boys are doing just fine, and that they will be back in school real soon! The others that were involved in wrecks were Judy Polson, Judy Doshier, Caryl Petree, Ruby Doshier, and David Poe.

Our girls' basketball team did very well in the HCJC Tournament last weekend. They won the second place after defeating Flower Grove by a score of 63-37, Klondike by a score of 69-53, Forsan by a score of 53-40. The only loss handed the girls was by the Sands team. They played Sands twice for the championship and lost. However we are proud of our team in its first attempt of the season. Francis Graves was high point girl for the team in the tournament. Three of our girls made the all-tournament team. This team is chosen by the coaches and referees of the tournament. The girls making it were Janice Glaze (guard), Francis Graves (forward), and Elida Reyna (forward). Congratulations, girls.

The boys' basketball team has also done well in the first game of the season. They played the Roscoe Plowboys and defeated them both in the "A" and "B" games. The "A" team won by a score of 37-28, and high scorers were Thadd Koonce and Redgy Church. The "B" team won by a score of 21-12 and high point man was Ronnie McReynolds.

The FFA Chapter awarded Brenda George, Chapter Sweetheart, a white nylon jacket this week. "Brenda George 1960-61, FFA" is written on it. Each year the chapter awards its sweetheart a jacket which is bought with the annual dues.

The FHA Chapter had its bimonthly meeting this week. At the meeting it was decided to send the Christmas cards collected at the tea to the Kerrville State Hospital in Kerrville, Texas. Approximately 300 cards were collected. Also at the meeting certificates were awarded to the girls who sold $25 worth of magazines during our annual magazine sale. Those girls receiving the certificates were Kay Bryan, Brenda Bryant, Judy Cain, Mary Glaspie, Lilly Massey.

There's More Than One Way To Catch That Boy!

By BESSIE LITTLE

DEAR BESSIE: I have an awful problem. I love this boy so much I can't eat or sleep very well. I miss him so much. I broke up with Dick because of another girl. She was telling me things I know now weren't true. It's been over five months since I've gone with him, and the problem is that he's going with another girl. I don't think he likes her very well because he's still asking everybody about me and told my girl friend that he was hurt when we broke up. Please help me! Don't tell me to give him up because I've tried that. I only know I need him. LINDA T.

DEAR LINDA: Since you don't want to be told to "forget him" you might try phoning Dick and asking him how he's feeling, what's new and the like. It will mean swallowing your pride, but if he is so important to you—call him, but keep it light. Another thought—ask one of your girl friends to suggest to Dick that you make it a foursome. There are many ways to tackle your problem, but the absolute best is to date other boys, plural and period.

* * *

DEAR BESSIE: My mother is the old-fashioned kind who cooks fattening foods like spaghetti, potatoes swimming in butter and such. I'm much too heavy and it embarrasses me. I know I could have a good figure if I lost at least 20 pounds, but she won't cook simple foods. How can I convince her that I must lose weight? YOLANDA M.

DEAR YOLANDA: I'd argue the point with your mother. It's a lean horse for a long race. Simple foods are nourishing and certainly healthier. Cut down on your portions-you don't have to finish everything on your plate. There's one way to convince your mother that you mean business about losing weight: don't eat the fattening food that she sets before you.

* * *

DEAR BESSIE: I am going steady with a boy I love very much. He never calls or comes up when he says he will. I've been stood up many times by him. Sometimes he doesn't call for days at a time. At the last dance, the most popular boy around kept asking me to dance. My steady, who was only there for the last 20 minutes of the dance, didn't even bat an eyelash. He just acted as if he didn't care. This other boy asked if I was going with anyone and I lied because it really doesn't seem as if we are going together. He asked me for a date next weekend and I accepted. This would really mean the end of me and my steady. I can't bear to lose him and see other girls being with him. Yet I really want to go to the drive-in with Bill. Should I go and enjoy myself and really try to forget my steady? If I go, should I let the other boy kiss me? I've known him for quite a long time. He is a very nice and handsome boy. What do you think? ENID, G.

DEAR ENID: Did you say you are going steady? If you are, your roving Romeo isn't aware of it. Forget him-but fast! Why hold on to a boy who has shown by his actions that he is not interested. You didn't lie to Bill when you told him you aren't going steady for, in all truth, you aren't. As to whether you should kiss Bill, let me tell you there are kisses and kisses. The kind of kiss you and Bill should exchange is a friendly goodnight one. Don't squander your kisses and emotions; that's cheapening.

Importance Of Teens Is Asserted

By BOYD STEVENS

As a member of the Under Twenty set you and those in your age group are today assuming an importance in the national market place far beyond that ever known for young people in the United States. At almost every turn there are efforts being made to influence you favorably toward products, companies and ideas.

What is the major reason for this surge of attention? Why, all of a sudden, are American companies devoting so much attention to communicating with you? The biggest single reason is that you and your classmates and friends are increasing in numbers at a rate unparalleled in the history of our country.

Statistics tell part of the story. The population of the United States, according to current estimates, will increase by about 25 per cent in the next ten years. However, the number of teen-agers in this same period will actually increase by almost 75 per cent! And, there is another important statistic that has manufacutrers looking in new directions — the age group from 25 to 40 will actually decrease by almost five per cent in the next ten years. So, you can see that the explosion in population will hit heaviest in the younger age groups.

The reason for this decrease in the 25 to 40 age groups is due to the very low birth rate during the depression 30's when there were less children born. The crop of youngsters born in that decade is now in about the 40 age group.

Statistics also tell us that by 1975 almost one - half the population of the United States will be 25 or under. Think of what this means in terms of school and college facilities alone. A hint. If you are college bound you will have to work even harder to compete for that seat in the university of your choice. The harsh facts are that in our present college level system, there just will not be room enough to handle the large numbers of applicants in this ever - increasing segment of our population.

Here are some highlights of the interesting things being done to reach you. One of the major automobile manufacturers is publishing a magazine of its own which is sent to teen - agers when they obtain a driver's license. The magazine is devoted to interests in automobiles, safe driving, places to go and things to do. The service factor in the publication is heavy and the circulation is well over a million copies each issue.

Perhaps a real sign of the times, though, is a story of a bank in New Jersey. Sons and daughters of their depositors are encouraged to open their own checking accounts at the bank — without charge!

SAL MINEO

Israel Has Great Influence On Sal

By JOHN LARSEN

"I never dreamed that I could be so moved by the magnificence of a people, a country," Sal Mineo said, and his expressive brown eyes had a thoughtful far-away look. "I want to go back to Israel some day, soon," he continued. "I think I left part of my heart there. I would have worked in 'Exodus' for nothing, just for the experience of living among people who give truth and meaning to the greatness of character. 'Exodus' is a turning point in my career," Sal said. "The cast, the story, the authentic setting, are all memorable." Sal wasn't plugging United Artists' film, "Exodus" from Leon Uris' best-selling book; he was plugging something more vital—human beings.

We wanted to know about the young people in Israel, the Under Twenty Set. Were they anything like American teen-agers? What did they do for fun? Did they go in for the "steady dating" bit? What kind of music did they like?

Sal Mineo smiled. "That's exactly what the young people I met asked about American teen-agers. They asked all sorts of questions about our schools, dating customs, musical tastes and the like. They're intelligent, curious, inquisitive; they are concerned with the rest of the world. So far as their dating customs are concerned, they don't differ too much from American teen-agers, with the possible exception of having a more casual approach to dates.

"Girls of sixteen do not brood if they do not have a date on a Saturday night. They don't panic and feel insecure if they aren't booked up in their free time. Fact is, the youth of Israel do not have much free time; They have helped make their country what it is today—strong, fearless. They are serious about their schooling because they know that their country needs highly skilled and developed minds," Sal told us.

Sal Mineo, the kid from the Bronx, looked and sounded like a man of the world. He has come a long way since he had to battle the neighborhood bullies because they taunted him for being a "sissy actor." They soon found out there was nothing sissy about Sal. And he didn't need his big brothers to do battle for him when the gang learned that he had an important role in the original Broadway show, "The King and I".

Sal had a busy childhood, what with his schooling, his dancing lessons and working in the theatre. "How my mother and father felt about my career was more important to me," Sal said. "They encouraged me, helped and inspired me. It's no secret that we're a close-knit family. Maybe it sounds square, but we worked together, prayed together and played together. I could always go to my parents with my problems. I still do," he said.

Sal is articulate, knowledgeable. "My one big regret is that I didn't go on to college. I had every intention of going, but my career kept interfering. However, I feel that you're never too old to learn. One of these days I'm going to surprise everybody and enroll. In the meantime, I study on my own. I do a lot of reading, traveling and try to keep my mind sharpened up at all times."

MIKE McCASLAND WINS ALBUM; SYLVIA GILBERT GETS BONUS

By CHRIS RILEY

"I don't know about other girls," Jane Wilson said, "but I can speak for myself. I dress for boys. When a boy compliments me on my dress, I know that I have captured his interest and attention. When my date doesn't notice what I wear, I sit up and take notice. Maybe I'm not well-dressed or am wearing something that isn't becoming."

"I dress for boys in order to attract them, and once I have this assurance I concentrate on being the kind of date he likes. I can forget how I look from that point on and think only of being an amusing companion."

Jane Wilson, at 18, has learned the first lesson in winning a boy. She knowns, as do countless other girls, that boys do not date girls who dress daringly. They may whistle at the girl and try to date her, but only because they think, "well, you know," Jane hesitated to give voice to her thoughts.

For what boys think of girls who wear dresses that are too low cut and too tight, we talked to a number of boys from 17 to 19. They all agreed: Girls who dress to attract attention make a tragic mistake. They do attract, but they are immediately stamped as girls with questionable taste and morals. "Of course I date this kind of girl for kicks," Tom Enders admitted. "But she's not the girl I introduce to my friends or my family. Nor is she the girl I will eventually steady date. She's got one thing on her mind and that is to be as popular as possible. Well, she's popular, all right, but it's not the lasting kind of popularity," Tom said.

Girls have learned that boys like their dates to dress casually; they also have learned that boys love certain colors and keep this in mind when they shop. Despite the fact that it is often sound that girls dress for girls, the girls we interviewed—from 14 to 19—proved this a fallacy. "I'd be a fool to dress for a girl," Ellen Allen said. "I'm always pleased when my girl friend likes my clothes, but I'm more pleased when my date is proud of my appearance. One thing I know a boy likes is that a girl dresses her age; he feels uncomfortable when she wears clothes that are more suited to an older woman, "Ellen told us.

Most boys resent girls who wear run-down loafers, sloppy socks and too-tight jeans. They believe a girl should look her most attractive even on picnics, games and other outdoor activities. And girls who care what boys think about their clothes say "amen" to this male reaction.

"It's nice to be complimented on your cooking," Ruby Belson said, "but it is even nicer—and certainly more exciting—when a boy compliments you on your appearance," she smiled.

Runnels 7th Tri-Hi-Y Has Meeting

At their regular meeting Monday members of the Runnels 7th grade Tri - Hi - Y heard a talk on "The Meaning of Thanksgiving," delivered by the Rev. Jack Stricklan of the East Fourth Street Baptist Church.

The group also decided to hold a semi - formal dance on Dec. 22. Cynthia Ritenour gave the devotional for the meeting.

Mrs. Patterson Speaks To Chi Rho

"Every girl should prepare for the responsibiltity of adulthood by studying shorthand and learning to type," said Mrs. Camille Patterson as she spoke to the regular Monday meeting of the Chi Rho Tri - Hi - Y.

Mrs. Patterson told of her experiences in the secretarial field and the advantages and disadvantages of the profession. She said it is wise today for girls to think of the time when they may be forced to get out and support their families. "Typing and shorthand are lifesavers in times such as these."

After Mrs. Patterson spoke, Mrs. Jane Thomas, sponsor of the group, reminded the girls of the nut sale the club is sponsoring to earn money for World Service. Saturday is designated as SSS Day, Super Salesmanship for Service Day, for the members who will canvass the Big Spring area from door to door.

Teen-Agers Name People That They Admire Most

By HOWARD NORTH

In a recent survey conducted among teen-agers throughout the country regarding the people they respect most, the unanimity of their answers was astounding.

Although a number of local personages were mentioned, and a few listed the inevitable Alfred E. Neuman of MAD Magazine fame as their most revered person, the majority of young people voted repeatedly for the same people. Time and again the same names showed up, indicating that there are about nine people in the United States who rate tops in the opinions of the country's younger generation.

At the top of the list, as he should be, was President Eisenhower. Most admired quality was his strength and courage, followed by qualities too numerous to mention, among them his honesty, dignity, sense of fair play, and his deep reverence for God and religion.

But Mr. Eisenhower, although heading the list, was not the only political figure to earn the admiration of the young people. Both of this year's presidential candidates, Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Nixon, were greatly respected for their youth and vitality and for the dedication they both feel for their country.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, too, is highly regarded in youthful circles. Says one awed young lady from Pottstown, Pa., "I can't understand how she keeps going. She's so old, yet she does so much. I don't think I could keep up with her." Most teen-agers agree, respecting Mrs. Roosevelt's courage and stamina, as well as her wide interests and efforts on behalf of UNICEF.

Not only people involved in world affairs drew the admiration of the teens. Unassuming Dr. Albert Schweitzer, philosopher and humanitarian, who has done so much good in the far corners of Africa, is rated high by America's youth. Among the qualities most admired in Dr. Schweitzer are his lifelong dedication to medicine and its practice among the underprivileged, his kindness and his quiet wisdom.

We jump to the world of entertainment for more of the teen-agers' idols, and here again we find that the stars who share the same common denominator of vitality, selflessness and dedication, are the ones who rate highest in the eyes of their fans. Heading the list are Loretta Young, and Pat Boone. Both of these entertainers are admired for the unwavering perfection they attempt to instill into everything they do, as well as for their warm and friendly personalities.

When we tried to pin-point why Miss Young and Mr. Boone were such favorites with the Under Twenty Set, all the answers were surprisingly similar; their deep religion, their faith in God, their magnificient contributions to the church of their faith. "It is because Pat is so religious," Jenny Baker of Poughkeepsie, New York, said, "that I admire him so much. He has inspired young people to attend church. I am happy for having discovered the comfort and, yes, even the glory of faith and prayer," Jenny said with feeling.

"Loretta Young is devoted to her church and contributes her time and energy to many charitable causes. It is not only her beauty we admire, but what she stands for and her inspiration to young people," Brett Daws of Omaha, Nebraska, said.

On the sports front teen-agers who know baseball picked Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals as their favorite. Stan, while not leading the leagues in home runs is considered the best all-around player in baseball today. He is one of the few living candidates for the Baseball Hall of Fame, where such giants as Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig are honored. Most admired element of Stan Musial, aside from his unquestioned ability on the diamond, is his sense of sportsmanship and fair play. His credo: to play the game is great, to win the game is greater, but to love the game is the greatest of all." "And that," said a Dallas, Texas lad, "is what makes him so great."

These, then, are some of young America's heroes. These are the people in the public limelight whom the young people admire most and wish to emulate.

'Poetry In Motion' Takes Number 1 Spot

By JEANNE HARRISON

"Poetry in Motion," was really in motion last week. Johnny Tillotson's hit record moved from third into the number one spot in the top 10 record race. It replaced the Drifters' "Save the Last Dance for Me" which slid to fourth place. Brenda Lee's smash record, "I Want to Be Wanted" remained closely in second place. Here's rundown of the top 10:

1. "Poetry In Motion," Johnny Tillotson
2. "I Want to Be Wanted," Brenda Lee
3. "You Talk Too Much," Joe Jones
4. "Save the Last Dance for Me," Drifters
5. "Georgia on My Mind," Ray Charles
6. "Last Date," Floyd Cramer
7. "New Orleans," U.S. Bonds
8. "North to Alaska," Johnny Horton
9. "Let's Go, Let's Go, Let's Go," Hank Ballard
10. "A Thousand Stars," Kathy Young

Among the new releases is another oldie dusted off and given a new beat. Tommy Edwards records, "As You Desire Me" in an arrangement with chorus and orchestra that promises some good listening. To a rock 'n roll background, Tommy sings in his rich, full voice. The flip is "Suzie Wong" from the musical.

The plight of a young couple looking for a place to be alone makes for a song, "The World Is Getting Smaller" recorded by Mark Dinning. It's a ballad providing a pleasing earful and is backed by a lost love blues number, "She Cried On My Shoulder."

With the holidays on their way, there's an appropriate release of a recording of "The Christ Theme" from the new motion picture version of Ben Hur. The record is beautifully performed by the Vatican Choir. The reverse side is an equally welcome musical treat, "Love Theme," from the same picture, played by the Symphony Orchestra of Rome.

Pampered Star Gets Her Lumps

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Joanne Dru, long accustomed to the pampered life of a movie star, is getting her lumps in a television series.

"Even in movie Westerns," says the beauteous actress, "I always had it soft. Doubles do all the tough work for you."

This season she's starred in "Guestward Ho" in which she plays a New York model who goes west with her city-bred husband to operate a dude ranch.

Much of her acting is done while cooking on a wood stove for which she has to chop the wood; sweeping with a straw broom; milking cows with her own pretty hands; cleaning the chimney; mending fences; scrubbing barns and painting walls.

Joanne, once a Copa girl in New York City, says she likes the job anyway.

"Where else do you get paid so well for doing chores?"

Doris' Hysteria Was For Real

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In "Midnight Lace," Doris Day does a hysteria scene that is Academy Award calibre—and it was unintentional.

Producer Marty Melcher, also Miss Day's husband, discloses that the actress worked herself into such a frenzy that she scared herself.

"I can't go on. I can't go on like this," she screamed. Melcher said she was speaking her mind—not the words in the script.

It Just Isn't Done, Y'Know

LONDON (AP)—Anthony Watts was 90 miles from home on a wet and windy night when his 24-year-old automobile coughed and spluttered to a halt.

Angrily he grabbed a hammer from the tool kit and broke the car into bits. On a piece of battered bodywork he scribbled a farewell note: "Take it easy—but take it."

Police found the wreckage the next morning alongside a Hertfordshire highway. They traced the owner through the license plates.

Watts was hailed into court at Solihull Thursday for violating the 1958 litter act and fined 5 pounds ($14).

Elvis Coming Back After Army Hitch

Today is the day when Elvis Presley comes marching back to his fans as the star of his first picture in two years, "G. I. Blues," at the Ritz Theatre. The Hal Wallis Technicolor musical romance, released by Paramount, marks Elvis' return to cinematic life following his period of service in the Army.

PRESLEY & PROWSE
Highlife in Germany

"G. I. Blues" constitutes a re-enlistment in the U. S. Army for Presley in that the story concerns a G. I. in peacetime Germany in the same outfit in which the singing star served abroad, the Third Armored (Spearhead) Division. In the actual unit Presley held the rank of sergeant. For his movie role, he has been "demoted" to specialist. To give his fans an idea of how it was for their idol in the service, Producer Wallis started shooting the film while Elvis was still on duty. His necessary anonymity was respected, however, by not including him in camera range while comprehensive background footage of the Division in garrison and on maneuvers was obtained.

The resultant movie is said to be as accurate a depiction of Elvis' real Army life as is possible in this freely-fictionized version. One obvious deviation, of course, is that in the movie all of the "maneuvers" involve girls. There is one girl in particular who is Elvis' target in the romantic comedy of service men in pursuit. She is his co-star, Juliet Prowse, a tall, shapely redhead who is also a spectacular modern dancer. "G. I. Blues" presents the talented Miss Prowse in her second major screen role, her first as a leading lady. Her most recent accomplishment was as the premiere danseuse in the film version of Cole Porter's "Can-Can."

Ten new tunes are introduced in the film by Elvis. They include a title tune, "Tonight Is So Right for Love," "Frankfurt Special," "Wooden Heart," "Pocketful of Rainbows," "Didja Ever?' "What's She Really Like?" "Shoppin' Around," "Big Boots" and "Doin' the Best I Can."

Grownup

Darla Hood, ex-Queen of the Our Gang comedies, plays her first grownup screen role in "The Bat," C. J. Tevlin's Liberty Pictures production for Allied Artists, which is now at the Sahara Theatre. The film stars Vincent Price and Agnes Moorehead.

Vera Miles Is A Busy Woman

Vera Miles has certainly been busy. In one year she has starred in five motion pictures, "A Touch of Larceny," "Beyond This Place," "The F.B.I. Story," "Five Branded Women," and "Psycho". And during the filming time of the aforementioned pictures, which kept her away from Hollywood on location for a total of 9 months, she somehow found time to star in six top television shows.

Hitchcock Girl In 'Psycho' Film

For the first time in 10 years Alfred Hitchcock and his family were re-united professionally on the set of "Psycho". The occasion was his daughter Pat's first scene in the film. It was her first film role for her famous father since she appeared in "Strangers on a Train."

Discussing his daughter's appearance in "Psycho," Hitchcock said: "After 10 years I thought it was time I gave her a job."

Kings Go Forth

"Kings Go Forth" was filmed in part on location in what has been called "The most beautiful spot in the whole world"—France's fabulous Cote D'Azur. A story of love on the Riviera during World War II, "Kings Go Forth" co-stars Frank Sinatra, Tony Curtis and Natalie Wood.

Never Can Tell About Screen Tests

When George Hamilton was called to test for his role in "All the Fine Young Cannibals," he was determined to be correctly dressed for the part.

Since his characterization was that of a wealthy, and fastidiously attired young man, he made a flying trip to his tailor and placed a rush order for a $200 suit. Next day, Hamilton received his test instructions from the studio casting department.

"Report to Stage 25," read the order. "Wear pajamas."

50-Star Flag

The nation's largest 50-star flag, measuring 21-by-42 feet, makes a full-color Hollywood debut in Hal Wallis' "G.I." Blues".

Made wholly of silk and so large that it can never be unfurled from a pole, the flag is approximately the size of a standard badminton court. In "G.I. Blues," it backdrops the entire stage of an Air Force hangar setting in which Elvis performs at the head of an entertainment troupe.

Musician Built Band Out Of Wreck

By MARSHALL COMERER

DALLAS (AP)—On a sunny morning this fall a young man with a puckish twinkle in his eye and a bounce in his step walked across the campus of the St. Mark's School of Texas.

"Yea! Mr. Jarcho!" rang out a yell from exuberant, khaki-clad boys who crowded the windows of their fourth grade room and waved excitedly.

Their teacher quickly herded them back to their books. Students and teachers in nearby classrooms craned their necks to see what had shattered the academic calm.

"Who's out there—President Eisenhower?" asked one teacher.

The spontaneous outburst by the fourth graders was for their band teacher, David Jarcho.

In less than four years he has built the boys prep school's band into one of the best school bands in the Southwest. This year 134 boys, one-third of the St. Mark's enrollment, are in the band program.

Once the butt of derisive jokes, the band is now as popular an activity as football. More than 700 persons attended its pops concert last spring. Thousands have heard it at football games, on television and in Christmas concerts at hospitals and homes for the aged.

When Jarcho came to St. Mark's in 1957 such achievements were only a dream—the dream of a competent musician and a dedicated teacher whose work day is usually 14 hours.

The 12 musicians, 6 school-owned instruments, no music library and the rehearsal building he found at St. Mark's would have discouraged a less determined man.

The rehearsal building was a flimsy, plywood building 29 feet square. Almost half of it was partitioned off for storage space. Students dubbed it "the chicken shack." It was an oven in warm weather and an ice box in the winter. The roof leaked. In the rainy season a small lake isolated the building.

St. Mark's told its boys in grades 3 through 12 they could choose band, choir or music appreciation to fill the music requirement. Each member of the music department made a talk to the students.

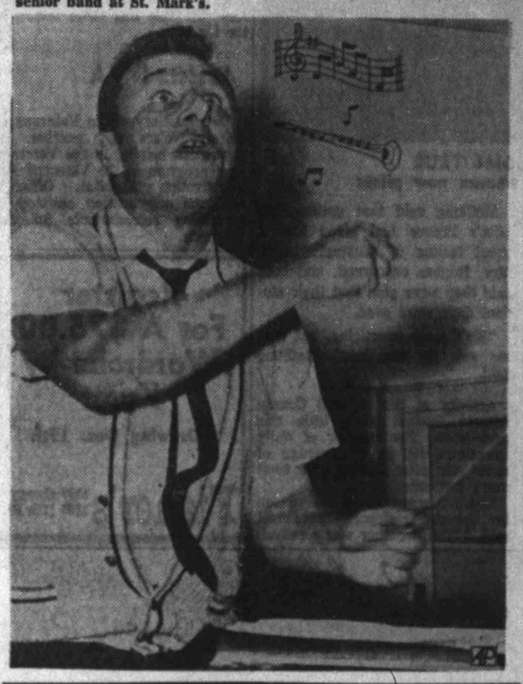
"I don't remember what I said," Jarcho recalls, "except that I promised we would have the finest band in the Southwest."

Boys began taking up the horns in which they had lost interest. For the Christmas concern the band had 28 members and for the spring concert 36.

The band now has 94 members.

Band Director Gives All

David L. Jarcho, band director at St. Mark's School of Texas in Dallas, gives his all (below) as he directs one of the school's three bands. In less than four years Jarcho has built the band program from a near nothing to a first-class band program. Above is the senior band at St. Mark's.



Stamps In The News

Echo I, the world's first communications satellite, will be depicted on a new U.S. stamp Dec. 15 in Washington, D.C. The satellite was placed in orbit around the earth by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration on Aug. 12, 1960.

In announcing plans for this new stamp, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield stated;

"Because this represents an initial and potentially a most significant and historic advancement in world communications for peace, the Post Office Department is commemorating the achievement with a commemorative stamp."

He further commented that the Post Office Department's long range interest in this and other improved means of communication is grounded in the belief that our postal system might ultimately employ this new technology to improve and extend our ability to communicate with others throughout the world.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations of the 4-cent Echo I stamp may send self-addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Washington 13, D.C. The outside envelope to the Postmaster should be clearly marked "First Day Covers 4-Cent Echo 1."

Star In Acapulco For Honeymoon

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —Joan Caulfield and her dentist will honeymoon in Acapulco, Mexico, the actress said after her marriage to Dr. Robert H. Peterson.

The Thanksgiving Day ceremony was performed by Municipal Court Judge Joseph Marchetti at the home of Hugo Grimaldi, movie-director neighbor of the blonde star. The late John Barrymore once occupied the house.

Wedding guests included actress Lana Turner and the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Caulfield, and her sister, Betty Vietor.

Also present were Miss Caulfield's son, C. Kevin Ross, 1, by her former marriage to director Frank Ross, and Peterson's children, Robert, 9, and Debra, 5, by his former wife, Jean, of San Marino, Calif. Miss Caulfield and Peterson are each 38.

Screen Mystery Grew Out Of Rinehart Play

The world has changed radically, momentous history has been written and significant social and scientific advances have taken place since the night of August 23, 1920, when "The Bat," a play in three acts by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood, opened at New York's Morosco Theatre.

Since then "The Bat" has been seen by millions all over the world. The play has been translated and performed in seven languages, and it has amassed a total gross of $9,000,000. It is still being staged, it was the progenitor of numerous other mystery and horror plays and similar suspense dramas.

Now Hollywood's version of it is on the screen at the Sahara Theatre. It was produced by C. J. Tevlin for Allied Artists and stars two of moviedom's most distinguished actors, Vincent Price and Agnes Moorehead. The supporting cast includes Lenita Lane, Gavin Gordon and John Sutton.

Crane Wilbur, who was a Broadway star, stage director and successful playwright during the Twenties, wrote the modernized version. He also is directing the picture.

Aware of today's vast audience for horror films, Tevlin and Wilbur have added a new dimension to the venerable theatrical property by injecting a touch of horror, in the shape of real bats, into it. This addition accentuates the menace confronting two middle-aged women in a creepy, three-story mansion with a million dollars in embezzled cash hidden in it and the Bat, a maniacal killer, lurking about.

Tevlin cast the talented Misses Moorehead and Lane in the roles of the two middle-aged characters, created in the original stage performance by May Vokes and Effie Ellsler.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Student Pilots Set Two Records Getting Licenses

By JACK RADER

Two Big Spring pilots achieved a "first" this week when they got their private licenses.

Ted McClung became the first one-armed pilot licensed from Big Spring Aircraft Inc. and Mrs. Frank Hughes became the first woman to receive a license from the same company.

Both were students of Howard Loyd. Mrs. Hughes, who had been a student "14 months and two days" flew to Lubbock Friday morning for her check flight. McClung, a student for about 18 months, took his check flight in Midland Monday.

SCARED

"I was scared to death all week before I went over," Mrs. Hughes said, "but after I got there and started the test I didn't have time to be scared."

"You don't have time to do much but fly," said McClung, who had to take a medical check flight. "The FAA (Federal Aviation Agency) man puts you through one maneuver right after another."

McClung got his license in spite of himself, so to speak, overcoming his handicap of having only one arm. When asked if it seemed hard to fly with one arm, McClung said, "I don't really know. There are some things that it seems would be real easy if I had two arms, though. I've never flown any other way, so I couldn't say how hard it is." McClung lost his arm in a car accident 13 years ago.

EAGER TO LEARN

Loyd said that McClung was certainly an exceptional student in respect to his handicap. "He was eager and determined to learn everything possible," Loyd said.

"It was probably as hard on me as it was on him, though," Loyd said. "I had to learn to fly with one - hand before I could teach him." Loyd said he managed to simulate having one arm by flying with one hand in his pocket or by holding his belt.

Mrs. Hughes was a good student, too, Loyd said. "She was eager to learn."

"I had a minor handicap," Mrs. Hughes said. "It was my heighth.

DREAMS COME TRUE
One-armed flier, woman now pilots

I'm only five feet, two, and I had a lot of trouble at first reaching the rudder pedals and seeing the runway on landings. I use a cushion, though, and have learned more about flying and it's not such a handicap now," she said.

Mrs. Hughes is one-up on her husband who also flies. "He is a good pilot and could get his license now if he would take the time," she said.

WONDERFUL

Mrs. Hughes said she hoped that more women would take up flying in Big Spring. "It's so wonderful," she said. "A whole new world opens up to you when you get up in the air."

McClung said that getting his pilot's license had given him a great feeling of accomplishment. Mrs. Hughes concurred, and both said they were glad that their student days were over.

"We'll keep practicing, but now we can fly for fun," McClung said.

Activity at the Howard County Airport slacked off a little this past week. The number of daily operations fell to an average of about 35, after hitting the 60-65 mark last week.

There seemed to be no reason for the drop, airport personnel said. Flying weather was plentiful, so it was attributed to an unexplainable cycle.

LOCAL PILOTS

The bulk of the flying at the county airport this week has been by local pilots, with only a smattering of out-of-town fliers counted.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Calvin, from Kansas, flew into Big Spring Wednesday, and Walter Dickerson, Big Spring, now a student in Houston, flew through on his way to Tatum, N. M.

City pilots who made out-of-town trips included David Sims, to El Paso and Lubbock; Clyde McMahon, to Galveston; Leroy Tidwell and J. R. Hensley, Dallas; Howard Loyd, El Paso Dick Standifer, Midland, Lubbock; Cotton Henderson, Monahans.

Other pilots flying this past week included Bert Andries, Clayton Bettle, Dr. M. W. Talbot, Jimmy D. Jones Jr., Pete Fuglaar, Bill McClendon, Bill Edwards, Winston Harper, Frank Hughes, O. D. Landrum and Delmar Bradshaw.

One new student is listed at the airport this week, Betty Ray Clifton, who now has three lesson in the log book.

Assisted VA

The auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars was another organization helping in the Veterans Day program at the Veterans Administration Hospital. Officials said the organization assisted in furnishing refreshments for the program.

Christmas Rush Is Every Day At Post Office

Christmas is still a month away for most folk but at the Big Spring Post Office, Christmas will be every day from now on through Dec. 25.

The preliminary rush of Christmas mailing has already begun and it will gain in momentum steadily from now on.

E. C. Boatler, postmaster, sounded an urgent plea to all patrons to abide by the "early mailing" program for the Christmas season.

"Early mailing of Christmas cards and gifts," he said, "is the biggest single factor in making certain all Christmas mail will be delivered by Dec. 25. Post Office facilities have been expanded, extra help will be available, and everything is geared up to handle a record Christmas mail in Big Spring this year."

The entire Christmas mailing period is a big battle against time.

Boatler advises:

"Don't take chances on mailing poorly wrapped packages. Use sturdy corrugated mailing cartons, plenty of heavy wrapping paper and strong cord. Cartons containing several gift packages should be well stuffed with tissue or old newspapers to cushion the contents.

"If you have articles of unusual size or bulk, it is better to check with the post office before attempting to mail them. The limits on size and weight of packages vary depending from where you mail your packages."

He especially emphasized that all Christmas mail which must go a long distance should be in the post office before Dec. 10. Cards and gifts for local delivery should be mailed immediately after that date.

Hitchhiker Has A Head

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Lt. B. J. Gibson of the Oklahoma highway patrol reports that while patrolling U. S. Highway 66 east of Clinton he spied a man trudging down the road with a big gasoline can.

"Did you run out of gas," asked Gibson as he pulled alongside to offer his help.

"Nope," came the reply.

Well, why the gas can, asked Lt. Gibson?

"I'm hitchhiking," the unidentified man replied, "and I hoped I'd fool some driver into giving me a lift this way."
