Deadlock Still Keeps Atomic Bill From Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)— A paralyzing marathon debate kept the Eisenhower administration's atomic bill deadlocked in the Senate today, with GOP leaders trying desperately to force a break.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican floor leader, filed a petition to invoke cloture—the parliamentary term for a time limit muzzle on a nonstop debate—shortly after midnight.

But the four-times-round-the-clock session passed its 48-hour mark—interrupted by only a single 25 minute recess—without much sign the break was even in sight.

Under the rules, a vote on cloture is impossible before Sunday morning, and Knowland said he does not look for it to come to a ballot before Monday.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn), a leader of the opposition to the bill, predicted in the debate that Knowland's move would fail. And he taunted GOP leaders over the licking they suffered late yesterday when an amendment by Sen. Johnson (D-Colo) was adopted.

The Johnson amendment would authorize government construction of atomic plants to produce commercial electric power. GOP leaders said the administration did not want to put the government in the atomic power business.

Gore gibed that Knowland had carried the petition for cloture around in his pocket all day yesterday, threatening to file it, and he added:

"He said he couldn't get a vote. Well, we gave you a vote and we beat you on the amendment and we'll beat you on the cloture petition.

"It's an idle threat."

The senators themselves were weary and drawn. One of the shorthand reporters who takes down the debate for the Congressional Record collapsed at 8 a.m. He was Gregory MacPherson, 55, who had just come on duty after a short rest. MacPherson was taken to a hospital.

This is the 10th day of debate, with the Republican leaders bitterly accusing principal Democratic opponents of a filibuster attempt to "sabotage" both the bill and other important items on the administration's legislative program in these closing weeks of the 1954 Congress session.

The marathon session which began at 10 a.m. Wednesday morning broke off briefly during the wee hours. But 25 minutes later the orators were at it again, with no end yet in sight.

On the other side of the Capitol, House leaders gave up waiting on the Senate and scheduled a session of their own today on the omnibus measure which would revamp the basic 1946 atomic energy law. Debate in that body could be as bitter as the Senate's, but not as drawn out, for House Debate-limiting rules are strict.

The Senate effort to curb discussion came shortly after midnight when Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, filed a petition to invoke cloture. The petition was signed by 38 senators, all Republicans.

Knowland conceded the move was a last resort. Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) accused the Californian of coming armed with "atomic political bombs" and said "he's going to drop one too many." Humphrey, an opponent of many features of the bill, said progress was being made, yet "now we have the final weapon used against us."

Reef Project In Southeast Borden Slated

James G. Brown and associates of Midland and Chicago have announced plans to drill a 7,350-foot reef project in Southeast Borden County.

The exploration is to be the No. 1 Bacon, located 660 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 49-25-H&TC. That is about nine miles northwest of Vincent and one-half mile north of Stephens No. 1 Bacon, a recently completed reef discovery.

The Brown project is to start operations at once.

MORE PAY

Seaboard Oil No. 1 L. B. Vaughn, prospective discovery from the Pennsylvanian reef in Southeast Dawson County, has logged more pay and may also have found the water table in the Pennsylvanian.

The new pay was uncovered on a two-hour drillstem test from 8,139-192 feet. Gas surfaced in five minutes with no gauge or estimate on the gas volume. Recovery when the drillpipe was pulled was 4,977 feet of pipeline oil and 273 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut drilling mud. There were no signs of formation water.

Most of the oil recovered was unloaded from the drillpipe by heads while the tester was being pulled. Flowing pressure ranged from 250-950 pounds. Shutin bottomhole pressure after 15 minutes was 1,825 pounds.

A core was cut from 8,192-208 feet. Recovery was 15 feet of reef lime with scattered porosity, fracture and oil shows. The bottom five feet had a slight trace of possible bleeding water. Operator is to run a drillstem test from 8,192-208 feet as soon as the core hole is reamed out.

The No. 1 Vaughn is 10 miles southeast of Lamesa and 660 feet from north and 1,919 feet from east lines of section 39-34-5n-T&P. It is one and one-quarter miles east and slightly north of the three producers in the West Spraberry Pennsylvanian field. There are two dry holes in the reef between the producers and the No. 1 Vaughn, but neither dry hole is on a direct line between the producers and the new well. Observers think the No. 1 Vaughn will be the opener of a new field. It has recovered considerable amounts of free oil in drillstem tests at 8,050-090 feet and 8,090-142 feet.

BORDEN COUNTY

Hanley No. 1-A Beal, two and one-quarter miles southwest of the Pancho Mag field of South Borden County, is continuing to pump. It has reported a 24-hour gauge of 79.21 barrels of oil with 33 barrels of water on an initial test. The production is from perforations at 7,723-739 feet which have been acidized with 3,500 gallons.

The No. 1-A Beal is in section 24-31-4tn-T&P, 14 miles south of Gail.

In West Borden County, Phillips Petroleum No. 1 Quartz is drilling in lime and shale be[illegible] feet.

Gulf Oil No. 1-E Higginbotham is drilling in lime and shale below 7,277 feet. Hanley No. 1 - B Beal

TIME OUT

SCURRY COUNTY SET FOR VOTING

Three voting places for tomorrow's election not specifically known before have been definitely designated, according to Harold Bennett, chairman of the Democratic Party's county executive committee.

Box 1, northeast Snyder, previously announced to be held merely at the courthouse will be held in the sheriff's office in the courthouse basement.

Box 6, Union community previously announced for one of the two Union churches, will be held in the residence of the election judge, W. E. Bentley. The residence is behind the Jackson service station.

Box 20, southeast Snyder, will be in the cafeteria of the junior high school. It was previously announced merely as the junior high school. All other polling places remain as previously designated and published in yesterday's issue of the Daily News and that of July 16.

In addition to the polling tomorrow, citizens may participate in precinct conventions. Each voting precinct will hold a convention at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Although for some precincts, the places for the conventions are the same as for voting, others are different and should not be confused.

Voting precinct 1 will hold its convention in the district courtroom, and 18 will hold its convention in the county courtroom, while voting for these will be in the sheriff's office and at the city hall, respectively. Box 17 will hold its convention at the voting place, the junior high school cafeteria.

Polls open at 8 o'clock in the morning and close at 7 p.m.

Bennett predicted voting would neither be heavy nor light. With only about 5,000 qualified voters in the county this year, compared to more than 8,000 two years ago, voting will definitely be lighter.

But in view of 304 applications this time for absentee balloting, compared to 386 in the first primary of 1952, interest seems high this year, compared to the number of qualified voters.

Bennett said he would not be surprised if the total number of votes cast reached 4,500. He said he expected the total to be at least 4,000.

Cold Front Is Due To Bring Area Relief

By The Associated Press

A big cold front, moving slowly through the South Plains at dawn Friday promised to end the blistering heat wave that has harried Texans for nearly three weeks.

Back of the front, temperatures were cooler and thundershowers dotted the sun-baked area. The front extended from New Mexico areas to south of Lubbock and Childress and into Oklahoma.

Behind the thundershower-laden front temperatures were as low as 62, the state's lowest, at Dalhart. Ahead, at Wichita Falls, the highest temperature was 84.

Dallas, with 18 days of straight 100-plus temperatures behind, was threatened with the 19th day of deadly heat if the front didn't travel fast. At 4:30 a.m., Dallas' thermometers stood at 83 degrees.

Clouds covered most of the Panhandle area back of the front and west of the Pecos River Valley. There was some early-morning cloudiness in the San Antonio-Austin area. The rest of the state was clear.

High temperatures Thursday ranged from a low maximum of 89 at Corpus Christi to Seymour's scorching 108. Presidio had 106, Fort Worth, Childress and Mineral Wells sweated through 104 degrees, and Dallas and Wichita Falls had 103.

Other Thursday readings included: Abilene and Cotulla 101; Waco, Laredo, Texarkana, Lufkin, College Station and Tyler 100; Austin, Amarillo and Del Rio 99.

Eight persons have died in the heat wave Texans hoped the cool front would moderate. Four have died at Fort Worth, three at Dallas and one at Denton. Dallas had another heat victim, a 97-year-old man in a critical condition in a hospital.

Pentagon Is Prodded Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Investigations subcommittee prodded the Pentagon again today to tell why one of its aides, Thomas W. Lavenia, was denied security clearance.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), who appointed Lavenia as office manager and assistant counsel to the subcommittee, has invited both the Defense and Justice Departments to send spokesmen to a closed door subcommittee meeting for questioning.

Lavenia has said he was cleared to handle secret documents in 1952 while in another government job.

Meanwhile, Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) announced he will give the Senate a limited "bill of particulars" in a speech on July 30 or 31 to support his resolution of censure aimed at McCarthy.

He told reporters he plans to give the Senate "just a sampling" of his accusations that McCarthy [illegible] the subcommittee's chairman has been guilty of unbecoming conduct, and he added:

"To give every item in a bill of particulars would take until Christmas."

British Plane Ditched At Sea

HONG KONG (AP)—A British Skymaster airliner, with 17 persons aboard and one of its four engines afire, ditched in the South China Sea near Communist-held Hianan Island today.

A U.S. Navy PBY flying boat quickly rescued eight survivors and recovered one body.

Airline officials in Singapore said three other persons were picked up by a British Sunderland, but they had not reached here hours later.

Eyewitnesses said they saw three survivors picked up by a small boat—presumably a Communist craft.

The PBY landed here and the survivors were taken to hospitals.

Three of the six Americans aboard the Skymaster were among the eight rescued.

They were identified as Mrs. L. L. Parish and her daughter Valerie, of Iowa Park, Tex., and P. S. Thatcher of Stonington, Conn. Mrs. Parish suffered a broken back and the other two were treated for cuts and shock.

Five members of the Parish family were aboard the plane. Capt. Parish and two other children still are missing. Singapore airline officials listed their home town as Los Angeles, Calif.

Find Shortage In Duval Fund

ALICE (AP)—A $51,559 shortage has turned up in the road and bridge fund of Duval County, and the checks aren't available to explain it.

A citizens' committee investigating the county finances reported to the Duval County grand jury and acting judge A. S. Broadfoot that 37 checks were missing from the county records of February, 1951, ranging in amount from $155 to $200.

Explosive Farm Bill Pushed Back On Calendar Of Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The politically explosive farm bill, pushed back on the Senate docket again under disputed circumstances, may be the final major business for the adjournment-bound Congress.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said today he has no intention of trying to get Senate action on the farm measure until "next midweek, probably Wednesday." Aiken, chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee, added in an interview:

"All I want to make certain is that if there is no farm legislation at this session that I'm not going to take the rap fot it."

Aiken smiled away a blistering statement issued last night by Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas which branded as "simply . . . not true" Aiken's assertion that Democrats forced a delay in Senate action on the farm bill.

Aiken called reporters to his office early yesterday and told them the Democratic leadership had served notice on him not to bring up the farm bill until next Tuesday or later.

Aiken said this might prevent any farm legislation because of plans to end the session next Saturday. Whether Congress will meet that target for adjournment is questionable.

Late in the day, Johnson fired back with a statement that Aiken had engaged in "distortions and inaccuracies." Referring to the all-night session the night before, Johnson said it was "the kind of misunderstanding that can arise when senators are too tired and weary to think clearly."

If prospects for a farm bill are "dimming," as Aiken said, Johnson said this resulted from "the artificially imposed deadline of July 31st for congressional adjournment . . . imposed by the Republican leadership itself."

Johnson added that the "Democrats are ready to consider farm legislation at any reasonable time."

Johnson said "it is no secret" that Secretary of Agriculture Benson "would be perfectly happy" if a flexible price support program, enacted in 1948-49 but never put into operation, became law through inaction of Congress this session. It will take effect if no new law is enacted.

Aiken's committee, by an 8-7 vote, rejected President Eisenhower's proposal for a flexible price support program and instead urged a one-year extension of rigid supports on five basic crops that have operated since World War II.

Aiken is seeking to overturn this decision by his committee and enact a flexible price system similar to one already voted by the House.

Both Sides See Victory At End Of Hot Campaign

Court Won't Act On Demo Delegate Plan

AUSTIN (AP)—The Supreme Court today threw out a suit asking it to tell Democrats how to figure convention strength, and friends of Gov. Allan Shivers immediately called it a victory for him.

Chairman George W. Sandlin of the State Democratic Executive Committee notified county chairmen that all the votes cast for Shivers in 1952 should be used in figuring convention strength.

That was the original position of the state committee, dominated by friends of the governor who want to control precinct, county and state conventions this year.

The Supreme Court in effect refused to dip into the party question, although it dismissed a suit brought to force counting all of the votes, and said the suit should not have been brought in the first place.

It thus refused to tell the Democratic party one way or another what to do, and left interpretation of the law up to party officials or conventions. The court held that a Beaumont precinct chairman who brought the suit originally could show "no special injury" as he would have to if he wanted to bring suit.

Sandlin said he had notified all county chairmen that they must abide by the decision "whatever it might be."

In the Beaumont dispute, lawyers had urged the court to say whether all the votes cast for Shivers should be counted in figuring convention power, or merely the Democratic votes.

By not saying either way, and completely wiping the lawsuit off the books, the court actually checked the matter back to the party and that is what friends of the governor said they wanted.

Allan Shivers was elected governor in 1952 after being nominated by both parties. It was the first time in history that had happened. Attorneys for both sides in the test case had predicted that "utter confusion" would prevail if the court did not interpret the law under this new set of circumstances.

Today's action was on an appeal from lower court decisions refusing to grant an order forcing the Jefferson County Democratic executive committee to count the GOP votes cast for Shivers in 1952, along with the Democratic votes.

"Such parties can not operate if the courts entertain the suit of every member who concludes that is in disagreement with its decisions," Justice Smith wrote.

Youths' Terms Are Suspended

Two 17-year-old youths were given two - year suspended sentences in district court yesterday afternoon after pleading guilty to felony indictments before Judge Sterling Williams, according to Renal B. Rosson, district attorney.

Joe Dell Matthews, six times charged with misdemeanor and felony offenses and five times convicted, pleaded guilty yesterday to a grand jury indictment of burglarizing the office of Caperton Bros., a new and used car establishment from which a safe containing $100 was stolen May 20.

The case was called before the court yesterday for the second time this week. When called Tuesday morning, Matthews told the court he felt the grand jury was responsible to some extent for his commission of the offense. He said if the jury had indicted him on a previous charge of passing forged checks, he would not have committed the burglary.

He admitted to the court Tuesday, however, that he told the grand jury when it no-billed him of the forgery count April 6 that a no-bill would deter him but that an indictment would likely lead him into further offenses.

Matthews served three concurrent 30-day sentences in the county jail here this year on three county court charges of theft of gasoline. He pleaded guilty to the charges June 14.

At the time he was arrested on the burglary charges, he was serving a county court sentence at Sweetwater for swindling by worthless check.

The other man sentenced yesterday was Marvin Vernon Hall, whose parents reside in Sweetwater. He pleaded guilty Tuesday to an indictment of theft of an automobile. Sentence was withheld at that time.

Judge Williams withheld the sentence to take the case under advisement in view of a previous conviction of car theft when Hall was a juvenile. He had no previous felony conviction, however.

Governor's Race Gets Top Billing

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Texas' bitter governor's race—the main show in the primary election extravaganza—closed Friday with predictions of victory ringing from both leading candidates, Gov. Allan Shivers and Ralph Yarborough.

Candidates for other offices, almost totally eclipsed by the tough-talking Shivers-Yarborough battle, had trouble being heard.

Shivers, seeking a third term as governor, spoke over a statewide radio hookup Friday morning from Dallas, flew to Austin for conferences, then to Victoria for an afternoon speech and on to Woodville, his home, to wait for Saturday's returns.

Yarborough, making his third bid for high state office, talked with campaign workers Friday morning in Dallas, went to Denton for a 4 p.m. rally, and planned more speeches in Dallas Friday night.

Yarborough said he would vote in Austin Saturday. Shivers cast an absentee ballot several days ago. "Wonder who I voted for for Governor?" Shivers quipped.

In his early-morning address from Dallas, Shivers in his prepared text told his radio audience, "You want to be sure, absolutely sure, that the man you elect to be your governor will be willing and able to put Texas first.

"The traditions and principles of our Texas heritage are under attack," the governor said. "Within the next two years, Texans are going to have to stand together and fight together—as we have never done before—to keep our public schools out from under the thumb of Washington control.

"We are going to have to fight to preserve the right to conserve and control our treasure of natural resources. We are going to have to stand together to keep our rivers and lakes and all our Texas water resources in Texas hands."

In predicting his victory Shivers said:

"You and I, the people of Texas and Allan Shivers, have won this governor's race by a big majority—the same way we won the tidelands—by fighting for it against great odds."

But Yarborough disagreed.

"We are winning this campaign," Yarborough said. "In Athens, Kilgore, Center, Carthage, Nacogdoches, and Lufkin, you told me how we are sweeping East Texas, and how the good people of East Texas resent the big money slurs of the big machine candidate. . . East Texas will be for Ralph Yarborough by two to one.

"The groundswell for Yarborough for governor is snowballing into a landslide for democracy on Saturday."

Yarborough, on a 30-minute panel show, said if he were elected he would recommend a constitutional amendment against third terms.

On the network show with him were Harry Blanding, editor of the Temple Daily Telegram; Clyde Johnson of the Corsicana Daily Sun; Lyman Jones, the Austin American-Statesman; and Penn Jones, editor of the Midlothian Mirror. Harry O'Connor, Radio Station KTXN, Austin, was moderator.

Blanding asked Yarborough why the candidate has been called the "Democratic" entry in the governor's race. Yarborough answered that he has been "loyal to my party and loyal in my support of its nominees."

Asked by Blanding his estimate of the status of Democrats who voted for Republican Dwight Eisenhower in 1952, Yarborough said there was a difference in independent voters switching party support and a governor's switch.

"It's the right of the independent voter as a private citizen to vote for any party," he said. "But the governor in Texas is the pitcher on the Democratic team. If he throws the game, he lets the whole team down."

Both candidates touched on charges of mud-slinging.

Shivers said Yarborough hurt himself by conducting a "vicious, mud-slinging campaign."

Yarborough said, "When I announced for governor, my chief opponent said it would be a bare-knuckled campaign. That's the only campaign promise he has kept. He has poured buckets of mud on me."

Both Shivers and Yarborough denied they had done any mud-slinging in the expensive campaign.

In sworn statements filed with the secretary of state, Shivers reported spending $97,567 and receiving contributions of $63,807. Yarborough showed $100,668 spent and $62,985 in contributions. Yarborough also said he had borrowed $10,000. Their reports, covering only what the candidates have spent in their own behalf, included expenditures and contributions through Wednesday.

Shivers replied to a charge by Yarborough that the governor helped put over a "phony" natural gas pipeline tax bill.

Shivers said the original tax, declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, was sponsored by George Nokes and Jim Sewell. Shivers said Nokes and Sewell were Yarborough campaign managers.

"If it's phony, his people are the phonies in it," Shivers said.

SUNDAY NEWS TO HAVE A COMPLETE PRIMARY WRAP-UP

The big races come down to the wire tomorrow, and Snyder area citizens will find all of the election results in the Sunday issue of the Daily News.

The Daily News staff will be on the job until the "wee small hours" rounding up all of the latest figures on local races, as well as the white-hot governor's race and other state races.

Saturday night, the Daily News and radio station KSNY will be cooperating to keep the Snyder area public informed with up-to-the-minute figures on the primary. The Daily News telephone lines probably will be tied up most of the evening as staff members gather the figures.

However, KSNY will be announcing the figures as they are accumulated.

Then, the Sunday Daily News will have the wrap-up, complete with figures, interesting sidelights and everything else that makes the big Texas Democratic Primary story of 1954.

City Has Seventh Day With 100-Plus Mark

Snyder had its seventh day of 100 - plus temperature yesterday with a high reading of 103 degrees. It was the seventeenth day for the mercury to reach or pass 100 degrees within the last 30 days, and several other days in the period were only one degree short of the 100 mark.

A low of 72 degrees was recorded overnight, according to Mrs. D. P. Strayhorn, weather observer, with a reading of 80 degrees at 7:30 a.m.

Trial Of Youth Opens In Roby

A motion for suspended sentence has been entered by defense attorneys for Floyd Gilbreth, 17-year-old Snyder youth being tried today on a charge of burglary in district court in Roby. The youth has spent nine months in the Roby jail without trial.

Fred Auforth, Snyder attorney, and one of Gilbreth's defense lawyers, said that the prosecution completed its case this morning, and the defense put one witness on the stand before the noon recess.

Auforth and Clay Coggins, Roby attorney, are defending Gilbreth. District Attorney Tom Todd of Abilene is prosecuting.

Gilbreth was one of four youths charged in Fisher County last November with burglary of the C & C Drug Store in Rotan.

The other three later broke out of the Fisher County jail and assaulted Fisher County sheriff W. L. (Bogue) Wilkins during their escape. They were later arrested near Sweetwater in Nolan County.

Attorneys for Gilbreth said that he had been unable to make bond during the time he has been in jail.

His father, R. L. Gilbreth, died Jan. 6.

A special session of 104th District Court was called for today by Owen Thomas, district judge, to hear Gilbreth's case.

Auforth said the trial is expected to continue most of this afternoon.

Viet Nam Cease Fire Order Will Go Into Effect Tuesday

SAIGON, Indochina (AP) — The French high command announced tonight the Indochina cease-fire will go into effect in North Viet Nam at 7 a.m. Tuesday, July 27 (7 p.m. EST Monday, July 26), and in other Vietnamese areas soon afterward.

Sealed orders setting the hour for silencing of the guns in the North had already gone to the French headquarters in Hanoi, and presumably to the Communist-led Vietminh troops of Ho Chi Minh in and around the Red River Delta.

The high command said all offensive action by French Union and Vietnamese army forces has been ordered halted throughout Indochina. They are to fight only defensive actions, and air operations have been reduced to bombardments in support of French posts the Vietminh are still attacking.

The Vietminh struck heavily before dawn today at a French Union post in Vietri, 40 miles northwest of Hanoi, and harassed a score of other garrisons in the Red River Delta, but a French briefing officer said all the defenses held.

Red guerrillas tore up and carted off 120 yards of rails on the Hanoi-Haiphong supply line eight miles east of Hanoi and blew a locomotive off the tracks 10 miles farther east with planted explosive charges.

There was rebel action, too, against the French-Vietnamese post of Cheo Reo on the plateau of Central Viet Nam. Gen. Paul Ely, the French commander in chief, warned the three Vietminh battalions on the offensive there that "I will unleash massive air support" unless their assaults are halted.

The air force showered thousands of leaflets over the Vietminh positions with this warning today. The air force had cut its operations sharply. Only 11 bombing missions were flown by the French in the 24 hours ending at dawn, and all were in support of French Union posts fighting off attacks.

Vietnamese government buildings in Saigon flew flags at half staff to mourn the loss to the Communists of the northern half of the country after 7½ years of fighting and 2½ months of arguing at the Geneva conference.

Phenix City Is Put Under Martial Law

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP) — Residents of a city long hardened to violence stood by stunned today as stern-faced National Guardsmen enforced law under an unprecedented order issued by Gov. Gordon Persons.

The armed civilian-soldiers, hurried into the city by truckloads, relieved Phenix City law enforcement officials of their weapons as well as their duties yesterday when qualified martial law was proclaimed.

The stormy community of shady night clubs and gambling dens across the Chattahoochee River from Columbus, Ga., and sprawling Ft. Benning erupted five weeks ago when incoming Atty. Gen. A. L. Patterson was slain in an alley below his law office.

Gov. Persons said he was invoking martial law to "surpress the state of lawlessness, intimidation, tumult and fear which reigns" in Russell County. He added that Phenix City officers have either been "unable or unwilling" to control tangled affairs here.

City and county law officers as well as private citizens were ordered to turn in all firearms and other weapons to the military command headed by Adjt. Gen. Walter J. Hanna.

Crowds of townspeople ringed the courthouse and police station during Thursday afternoon's steady drizzle as word spread around that the old order was changing.

But as night came the once teeming streets were almost deserted. Before midnight, guardsmen hauled in five persons on charges of being drunk—a fair average when rowdy Phenix City was the playground of Ft. Benning, the world's largest infantry training center.

Twenty-seven firearms of various types were collected from the 25-man police force, eight of them from Police Chief Pal Daniel. He surrendered seven revolvers and a machine gun.

State authorities said more than 100 National Guardsmen and about 25 state patrolmen are enforcing the governor's edict, but they would not give the exact number.

Gov. Persons said he hoped the action would hold down fear of reprisals by witnesses called before an emergency grand jury impaneled Wednesday to investigate the Patterson slaying and other wrongdoings brought to light by the intensive search for the slayer.

Russell County's judicial setup has already been revised. Circuit Solicitor Arch Ferrell has been relieved of all official duties and Circuit Judge J. B. Hicks was replaced for the grand jury probe with Circuit Judge Walter B. Jones of Montgomery, president of the Alabama Bar Assn.

The governor promised to keep martial law in the strife-torn town indefinitely—if necessary, even for the rest of his administration, which ends next January.

Living Costs Up Slightly

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today that rising grocery prices forced the cost of living up one-tenth of one per cent in June.

The increase was small but it was the second rise in as many months and edged the index kept by the Bureau of Labor Statistics close to the peak set last October.

BLS announced the June index was 115.1—meaning the cost of living was 115.1 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

The record set last October was 115.4. The June level is ⅓ of 1 per cent higher than a year ago and 13.1 per cent above the June 1950 start of the Korean war.

Food prices rose four-tenths of one per cent in June, mainly because of higher prices for fresh fruits, some vegetables and coffee. Egg, milk and meat prices remained stable, as did most other consumer items.

Food prices have increased for three straight months, rising a total of 1.5 per cent.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, said he looked for "continued strength" in prices for the next few months, adding it is possible the living cost index will reach or exceed slightly last October's peak.

One feature of the government's June price report showed that rents failed to increase in June for the first month since the end of World War II.

Small rent advances were reported in some large cities, but there were also scattered rent reductions in smaller cities.

Filing Mix-Up Brings Dismissal Of Charge

The provision of the federal constitution that a person cannot be placed twice in jeopardy for the same offense, and also a misunderstanding between two officers, resulted today in dismissal of a county court charge.

Yesterday afternoon, the sheriff, Homer Whisnand, filed a complaint in county court accusing Frank Burton Cooper, 58, Clairemont highway, of driving while intoxicated.

Meanwhile, a deputy sheriff, Bill Love, who said he did not actually see Cooper drive the car he was arrested in, filed a complaint in justice court, alleging intoxication in an automobile.

Neither knew the other filed a charge.

Cooper pleaded guilty to the justice court charge and paid a fine of $38, including cost.

Wayland Holt, county attorney, said he would move for dismissal of the county court charge.

Drouth Feed Program Due

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department announced today there will be an emergency feed program this year to help farmers and ranchers in drouth - stricken areas to maintain foundation livestock herds.

The program is expected to follow the general lines of last-year's operation when government-owned stocks, principally corn and wheat, were made at reduced prices. The program last year cost the government about 75 million dollars.

The department said the program will operate only in counties which have been officially designated as drouth areas.

So far 78 counties in four states —23 in Texas, 23 in Colorado, 24 in New Mexico and eight in Wyoming—have been so designated.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson said he is sending two department officials to the areas to speed assistance to farmers and stockmen who need feed to maintain basic herds.

Frank Pollard of the Farmers Home Administration will arrive in Denver Sunday to meet next week in Colorado and Wyoming with the agency's county committees, which will determine eligibility of applicants for whatever type of feed programs are developed. Robert Ragins will go to Dallas Sunday to hold similiar meetings in Texas and New Mexico next week.

The department also is prepared to join the four drouth - designated states in a federal-state cooperative hay distribution program as was in effect last year. Under this, the state acquires and distributes the hay. Federal funds are available to pay half the transportation cost up to $10 a ton.

Officers Seek Slayer's Trail

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., (AP)—Police tried today to pick up the trail of 32-year-old Hale Lively in St. Louis, convinced he is the "Jack O'Shea" in whose hotel room 23-year-old Dorothy Poore was found dead.

East St. Louis Ill., police advised Indianapolis detectives that Lively checked out of a hotel there Thursday morning and was last seen hitch-hiking toward St. Louis. Lively is a native of Beaumont, Tex.

Police Capt. Robert P. Rielly said the description of Lively fits "O'Shea" in every respect.

The man who gave the name of O'Shea was the last occupant of the room at the Claypool Hotel in which the body of Miss Poore, a high school graduate from Clinton, Ind., was found Sunday.

An East St. Louis painting and roofing contractor who had employed Lively told police the man "became excited apparently after he read a copy of the Indianapolis Star." He collected $20 back pay and left.

Lively was wearing a yellow sports shirt and light blue trousers and was bareheaded. Reilly warned that he is armed and "is believed to be extremely dangerous."

The descriptions given by hotel employes also matched.

Lively formerly worked for the Star Laundry & Dry Cleaners in Indianapolis. A vice president of the firm, Morris J. Riskin said, "The guy was crazy about women. He would whistle and yell at them as he walked down the street."

Capt. Reilly said Beaumont police described lively as a "bad character," but said he had never been charged with sex offenses.

WOMEN

Mrs. Elroy Miller and daughter Linda, who recently returned from Camp Boothe Oaks, Sweetwater, work together in Girl Scouting. Here they are dressing a doll in the Girl Scout Mariner uniform that Linda made in a troop project. (Lee Watson photograph)

SOCIETY SCRIBBLINGS

Busy Housewife Has Busy Hobby—Girl Scouting

By JANE GILMORE

Since Mrs. ELROY MILLER moved to Snyder four years ago, Girl Scouting has been her pet activity.

Mrs. Miller and Snyder girls have learned about Scouting together. When she came to Snyder, she had never worked with Girl Scouts. At the same time, there was only one troop in Snyder and interested adults were attempting to arouse an interest in the work.

Mrs. Miller responded, and she took over a troop without any training in Girl Scout leadership although she had worked with Camp Fire Girls when she lived in Fort Worth.

Now, with three full years of training and a lot of hard work behind her, Mrs. Miller is still bubbling over with enthusiasm about Girl Scout work, and there are 22 busy troops in Snyder.

SENIOR COUNSELOR

She has returned this week from Camp Boothe Oaks at Sweetwater, one of the district projects which she has helped bring to completion through leadership here.

For the first time, Mrs. Miller said, the 13-county district to which Snyder belongs has an established camp where Scouts can spend a week or more and participate in outdoor activities.

She served as a senior counselor at the camp for two weeks and saw the results of the money-raising campaigns which had exacted so much hard work from Girl Scouts and leaders in the district.

It was well worth it, she believes. Tired and sunbrowned from hiking, swimming and camping in the West Texas sun, both Mrs. Miller and daughter Linda, 11, are full of talk about camp life.

Girl Scouting is a mother-daughter affair with the Millers. Linda is in her mother's troop and six-year-old Susan learns Girl Scout activities right along with her sister.

The Boothe Oaks session was not Mrs. Miller's first experience with camping this summer. Earlier, she directed the day camp held on the Newton Ranch north of town.

During the fall and winter, being president of the Girl Scout Council and at the same time leader of a troop means Scout work takes a big portion of her time.

But from somewhere she also finds time to teach a Sunday school class and take an active part in the Atheneum Study Club.

The neat white house at 2225 Sunset doesn't get neglected in the midst of all this activity. This spring Mrs. Miller painted her living room walls and ceiling a warm pink and she has painted her sewing machine, where she also finds time to work on clothes for herself and the girls, to match the green dining room walls.

For two weeks now Mrs. Miller is going to turn her back on the whole thing. She and her husband and two daughters were leaving Thursday for a mountain vacation at Lake City, Colo.

• • •

From the New Mexico mountains comes word that Mrs. ROBERT F. WASSON is attending the Cloudcroft Art Colony. Mrs. Wasson recently took up painting as a hobby. She painted a mural for Cogdell Memorial Hospital and decorated the walls of the pediatrics ward.

• • •

Mrs. Grover Scott's back yard at 2334 Sunset Avenue was the setting for a picnic recently honoring several guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. U. McDANIEL, 2803 Avenue E.

There were four generations there. Mrs. C. E. McFarland of Jackson, Miss., Mrs. McDaniel's mother, was the oldest at eighty-four. The youngest, five months old, was Sharon McDaniel, granddaughter of Mrs. McDaniel.

Other visitors of the McDaniels who attended the picnic were an aunt, Mrs. W. H. McNeill, Jackson, Miss.; their daughters with their families, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Webb, Barber, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilsford, San Diego, Calif.

Local guests were Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Swan, Mr. and Mrs. Sam McDaniel and children, Susan, Fannie and Sharon, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Scott, Tony Scott and Jerry, Ed and Sandy McDaniel.

TRY BROILED TURKEY
. . . It's Good

Helps For Homemakers

Send your questions to "Helps for Homemakers," Snyder Daily News, or call 3-5486.

Broiling Turkey is a kitchen technique that deserves to have wider acceptance. Cookbooks published early in the century feature it often in menus. Three of these late - Victorian ways of serving broiled turkey are particularly appealing: with broiled bacon and water cress, grilled sweet potatoes or thin slices of lightly broiled Virginia ham.

If you want to try broiling turkey, get yourself one of the young broiler-fryer turkeys now available here. You can use the four to five pound (ready-to-cook weight) turkeys with great success, and they are meaty enough to give generous servings.

To prepare the bird for the broiling pan, have it quartered and the neck, wing tips, keel bone and spinal bone removed. Clean in cold water and dry. Before broiling, rub the quartered turkey with a generous amount of olive oil and dust it with paprika. Season with salt and freshly ground pepper after broiling.

Use the bottom part of the broiling pan without the rack, or some other shallow pan, and place the turkey skin side down on it. The top of the turkey should be 7 to 9 inches from the heat, and the heat or pan should be adjusted so that the turkey begins to brown lightly in about 10 minutes. Brush the bird, using a pastry brush, with the fat and drippings in the pan, or add more olive oil if needed. Turn the bird once in a while, according to the way it is coloring, until it is cooked through and the skin is crispy-brown. This takes about an hour usually but a longer time may be necessary.

You may use butter, margarine, or some oher fat for the turkey, and you may also season with salt and pepper before broiling.

A simple menu for a delicious meal — broiled turkey, corn-on-the-cob, a summer salad and melon.

Use all-purpose or pastry flour when you are making pie dough. You'll find that all lard or hydrogenated fat makes a more tender pastry than all butter or margarine; but part lard or hydrogenated fat and part butter or margarine may be used for tender pastry, too.

Adventure Story Authors Think Of John Wayne First

By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—One hundred and ten times a day the phones ring in the Wayne-Fellows office and 50 of these calls, on the average, are from writers or agents with stories they think will make John Wayne movies.

Bob Fellows, who is Wayne's partner, talks to every one of the 50 and at least listens. But, being cautious, he doesn't buy many stories. The few he and Wayne have bought and filmed have been, with two exceptions, remarkably successful.

"Writers with adventure stories think of the star with the ageless face first, just as song pluggers always start with Crosby or Cole or Fisher.

"We don't have any rules for picking stories," says Fellows, who was an unsuccessful actor in the '20s before he became DeMille's chair boy. (A chair boy sees to it that the director's chair is strategically placed. Fellows advanced rapidly, but not because he knew where to put the chair.) "You use your accumulated experience. Something told Wayne and me that 'Island in the Sky' was right. The same goes for 'Hondo' and 'The High and the Mighty.' The last two will make an awful lot of money."

Two that were equally good, were "Plunder in the Sun" and "Big Jim McClain," but they came out in black and white on small screens when most other movies were acquiring color and the new wide-screen look. The company will break even at least on those two.

When Fellows hears of an idea he believes will be good, he outlines it to his partner, who apparently listens more than he reads. "But if Wayne says 'no soap,' I don't argue with him. He knows too well.

"The stories about GIs helping Korean children have been numerous and full of heart. I told Wayne about the idea and he said, 'Let's get a story.' So we are having Taylor Caldwell write it for us.

"The former Marine colonel, Andrew Gear, who wrote 'Sea Chase,' told us about an incident in Korea, so he's now writing 'Give Away Hill' for us."

Wayne may star in both Korean stories, but not necessarily.'

To pan summer squash, heat a small amount of butter or margarine in a large skillet. Add the squash cut into thin crosswise slices; cover and cook until tender and lightly browned on one side. Turn the vegetable pieces and brown lightly on the other side. Be careful not to scorch. Season with salt and pepper and serve at once.

Frying scallops to serve with French-fried potatoes, tartar sauce and cole slaw? If the scallops are large, cut each one in half. Roll the scallops in a mixture of beaten egg and a little milk, then in fine dry hard crumbs before frying golden-brown in deep fat.

When you are planning to serve steamed hard-shell clams, it is a good idea to allow at least two dozen clams per person.

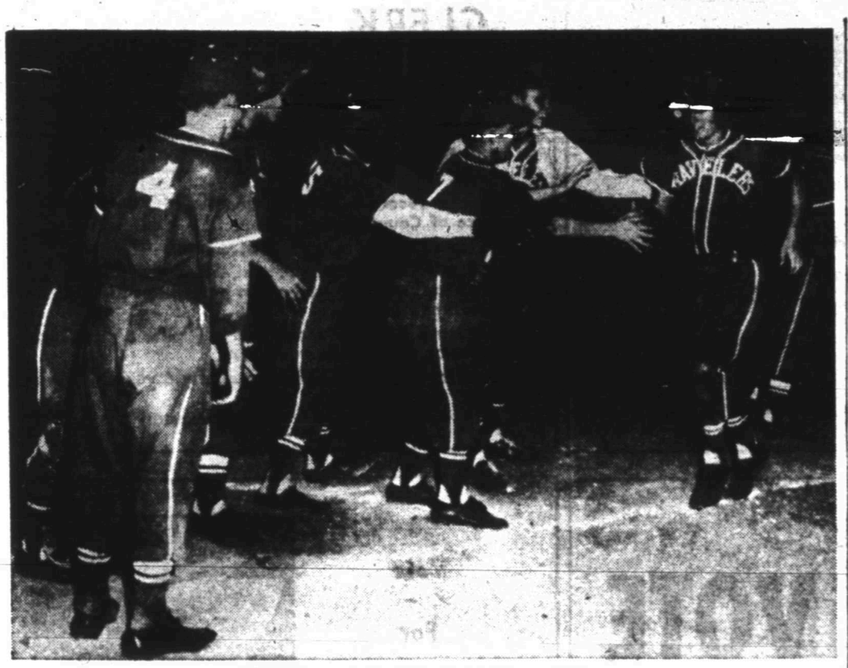
Midland Takes First Of Pony Series, Shuts Out Snyder 10-0



HOME RUN IN PONY GAME

Teammates congratulate first baseman Charles Danley of the Midland Pony League all-stars as he crosses the plate on a fifth inning home run in last night's game. Danley's team beat Snyder 10-0 in the first of a two-out-of-three district title series. (Lee Watson photograph)

Second Game Set For 8:15 Tonight

Midland is one game ahead in the Pony League district playoffs being held here after blanking Snyder 10-0 last night.

The all-star game was the first of a two-out-of-three series. The second will be held at 8:15 o'clock tonight, and the third, if needed, at that time tomorrow night. Play is being held on the Pony field at Fowle Memorial Park.

Somewhere between 3,500 and 4,000 persons last night watched Midland's well-rounded team outplay Snyder. Don Kidwell pitched the win for the Midland stars, going throughout the game. Kidwell, who had already pitched four shutout games this season, struck out eight Snyder batters in the game. He gave up only three hits and walked only one. He had been winner in his team's 8-0 shutout over Crane and 9-8 defeat of Big Spring last week.

Fielding behind Kidwell was almost perfect. The Midland team committed three errors, but each one meant only one base for Snyder. Through the game, Snyder got two runners to third base and two more to second. The first Snyderite who got to third was Earl Burleson, who made first on a pitcher's error after being first to bat in the game. He was put out after reaching third when he was caught not touching the base. The other was Bud Morgan, who singled in the first, stole second, and went to third while Neil Boyd was flying out. He was still parked on third while Kidwell fanned out the next two batters.

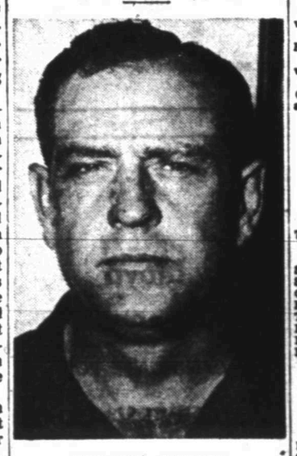
Ronnie Baker, who had been winner of Snyder's 17-0 shutout over Sweetwater and 7-1 win over Lubbock, was loser last night. Baker pitched three and two-thirds innings. He struck out six but allowed four hits and, in the fourth, began walking batters. He walked three and was relieved by James Patterson. In the first inning Baker fanned the first two batters, and the third was put out on his way to first. Midland began hitting in the second, when Gary Samford doubled, followed by singles by Charles Danley and Billy Brown. Samford and Danley both made home while Snyder was trying to get the second out.

The bases were loaded in the fourth when Patterson took the mound. Freddie Hedges got to first on fielder's choice, and the Snyder try to put the first runner out at home was too late, and Midland had another run. That left the bases still loaded. Sammy Rosson then hit the ball into the infield, and the throw to first baseman Jimmy Allen was missed by Allen. That paid off in three more runs for Midland.

Patterson then began to strike out the Midland teamsters. During his time in the game, pitching two and one-third innings, he struck out five. Midland got only two hits off him, while none were walked except one Patterson hit with a pitched ball. One of the hits, however, was a home run by Danley, hit in the fifth with none on bases. Midland got two runs in the sixth, one scored when a pitcher's balk was called.

The three Snyder hits were all singles by Morgan, Roe Lashaway, and Baker. Lashaway, when he got his hit, put the ball between Kidwell's legs. Morgan followed him in the batting order and hit to second baseman Freddie Hedges, who tagged Lashaway on the way to second and threw to first baseman Danley to put Morgan out for a double play.

If Midland were to win tonight's game, it would take the district championship in two games. If Snyder should win, the series would be forced into a third game tomorrow night. The winner of this tourney will play the winner of another district west of here which covers New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle.



WALTER RANKIN
. . . former Snyderite

Midland Man Was In High School Here

The assistant manager of the Midland Pony League all-stars is renewing acquaintances here this week after more than 20 years away from Snyder.

He is Walter Rankin, who lived here when he entered high school in 1934. He and Forrest Beavers, president of the local Pony League, were two of the freshman "ragknots" on the football team of coach Red Hill.

After that year, Rankin moved to Colorado City, where he finished high school. He went on to Texas Tech to play three years as a halfback and fullback for the Red Raiders, being chosen twice as an all-conference back and once to the Little All-American team.

Rankin then played seven years of professional football for the Chicago Cardinals. During that time his home was in Fort Worth, where he had an automobile business. He played in all but about two of the Cards' games during the seven years. One year he played throughout all the 12 games but one, in which he played 58 minutes. He was a member of the 1947 pro world champion team.

When he quit professional football, he moved to Midland and opened an auto rental business, which he still operates.

St. Thomas Takes American Legion Win

HOUSTON (AP)—St. Thomas defeated the Mid-County Junior Legionnaires 6-3 yesterday to take the American Legion division 6 title.

The Houston team now awaits the winners of the Killeen-Bryan series for the Area 3 playoff next week.

Yesterday's victory was the second straight of a scheduled two-out-of-three series for St. Thomas. They won the first game 10-3.

Indians Move Into Little League Lead

The last game of the Little League's regular play comes up at 6 o'clock tonight when the Quarterback Giants, fifth place team, take on the American Legion Yankees, who are now in second place.

The Yankees are in second place because the Holder Indians, who had been tied with the Yanks for first, downed the Lions Cubs 7-4 last night. The Yanks, if they win tonight's game, will force a playoff between them and the Indians for first place of this half of the schedule. If they were to win such a playoff, they would be champions of the league, because they were first place in the first half. If they lost a playoff, they would have to go into another playoff with the Indians, since the schedule for this year provides that winners of each half will meet to determine the league champ.

The Rotary Cardinals also kept up their late season pace last night by downing the Kiwanis Braves 9-6. The Cards are holding third place.

The Indians took a one-run lead in the first inning of their game when Ronnie Jones doubled to bring in one runner. In the fourth, the Cubs edged ahead 2-1 when Gene Witherspoon got a double with two on base. The next inning put the Indians ahead 5-2, however. They scored the four runs on a walk, a home run by Tommy Minton, two singles, a fielder's choice, and a double by Charles Gladson. The Cubs got two more runs in the sixth on singles, and the Indians got two also on doubles by Bill Dubose and Minton.

Winning hurler was Ronnie Jones, who took the mound at the beginning of the fourth inning. He allowed six hits, walked none, and struck out two. Tim Roberts, who pitched the first three frames, fanned five, walked none, and gave up no hits. Loser was Gene Witherspoon, who went five innings to give up five hits, strike out seven, and walk three. His relief was Devane Jones, who allowed two hits, walked two, and fanned one.

The Cards moved from behind to down the Braves last night. The Braves took a two-run lead on three walks and two errors in the first, but the Cards came back with three runs in the second, scored on a walk, fielder's choice, and three singles. They got one more in the third when Keith Moffett and Foy Dennis both doubled. The Braves got ahead 6-4 in the bottom of that inning on three walks, three fielder's choices, an error, and a single.

The Cards came up with one more run in the fourth when Mike Moffett doubled in a runner followed by four runs in the sixth. Those were scored on Moffett's triple, five singles, and two walks. Phillip Johnson got a double for the Braves in the seven, but none were on base.

Johnson was losing hurler in the game, allowing 13 hits, fanning four, and walking three. Winner was Mike Moffett, who went the whole game to allow four hits, strike out eight, and walk six.

The city baseball league will start is playoffs for the league championship either tomorrow night or Monday night, according to C. G. Fisher, league president.

Fisher said the time for starting the playoffs depends on when the Snyder - Midland Pony League series will be finished here. If it ends tonight, the city league will start tomorrow night.

Magnolia, which was second place, and Sun, third, will play on the next night. Game time will be 8:15 o'clock each night.

Big Catfish Caught At Lake Thomas

Fishing is getting better all the time at Lake J. B. Thomas.

Large catfish have been caught out of the lake, and one of the largest yellow cat was a 15 pounder pulled in yesterday by Ross Woodson of Lamesa.

Woodson caught the fish on the north side and toward the west end of the lake near Lem Grissom's boat dock. Ben Weathers, who was in Woodson's party, said the group of about 25 persons in a fish fry had fish left over after eating. Some two and one-half to three-pound channel cat and several two-pound bass were caught, Weathers said.

West Downs East 15-2

By The Associated Press

Somebody forgot to tell the East team that the Longhorn League All-Star game was supposed to be a power-hitting display.

The West heard about it, though, and opened up with an 18-hit barrage good for a 15-2 triumph in the annual clash at Carlsbad Thursday night.

As expected, Roswell's Joe Bauman led the assault on five East pitchers. The giant-sized Rocket first baseman pounded three hits, including a solo home run in the seventh that wound up the victors' scoring.

Bud Hull got the East's only extra-base hit and the game's only other home run when he lost one in the second. The East's other score came on three singles in the seventh.

Mantle Is Causing Rise Of New York

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

One of the prime reasons for the recent rise of the New York Yankees is the blossoming of Mickey Charles Mantle into a big time big leaguer.

The 22-year-old switch hitting center fielder apparently has arrived, although some fans who regard Yankee miracles as commonplace feel he took a long time coming.

Amid reams of ballyhoo the Yanks tried to jump Mantle from the Class C Western Association into Joe DiMaggio's job in 1951.

It didn't quite come off. Mantle had to go down to Kansas City for seasoning. He came back in 1952 for what would have been a sensational season for any normal rookie. He hit 23 home runs and finished with a .311 average.

But it wasn't enough for the fans who were still dreaming of DiMag. Mickey fell off to .295 last season and when he came up with an old knee injury during the winter the Yanks were really worried.

An operation put him out of commission through much of spring training and he wasn't ready when the season started. But he's really rolling now.

His average of .323 is second high on the club. He leads the league in home runs with 20 and tops the Yankees in runs scored, triples, hits, runs batted in, total bases and bases on balls. He also has struck out the most, not too unusual for a distance hitter. In the field he ranks with the best.

Mantle was the batting star in the first game of yesterday's double triumph by the Yanks over the Chicago White Sox. He drove in the tying run with a right-handed single in the eighth inning and the winning run with a left-handed home run into left field in the 10th. The score was 4-3. The Yanks coasted home in the second 11-1.

Cleveland also won twice, 6-3 and 5-2 over Boston, and kept its half game first place lead.

Clippers In Habit, Beat Tyler Again

By The Associated Press

Corpus Christi's Clippers, the hit-happy squad of the Big State League, seem to have found a cousin in the Tyler Tigers.

The Clippers beat Tyler 6-2 Thursday night for their 11th victory in 12 meetings with the Tigers. Tyler fell another full game behind league-leading Waco and Corpus Christi picked up a full game on the second-place Tigers.

Waco, which treats everyone in the circuit as cousins, won its 11th straight by downing Harlingen 9-0. It moved the Tigers 13½ games into the lead.

Other scores were Galveston's 8-5 victory over Austin and Bryan's 8-4 triumph over Temple.

Ben Bonine set Tyler down with eight hits—two of them homers by Bob Cullins and Troy Mitchell—to get the decision for Corpus Christi. Lon Goldstein homered for Corpus Christi.

Jim Greengrass, Cincinnati Redlegs' outfielder, played third base and pitched in the minor leagues.

Birdie Tebbetts, manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, is a licensed insurance agent and broker.

South Wins WT-NM Game

AMARILLO (AP)—A brisk wind took some of the glitter out of the stars in Amarillo's Gold Sox field last night as the South beat the North 11-6 in the annual West Texas-New Mexico League All-Star game.

The erratic wind, estimated at over 40 miles an hour early in the game as a thunderstorm hovered just outside the city, kept the fielders hopping to judge fly balls and stymied the efforts of the hitters to control their blows.

There was no doubt of the outcome after the South scored eight big runs in a wild second inning to take a 10-1 lead. The rally was at the expense of George Socha of Albuquerque, who started the game after having pitched 8 2-3 innings against Lubbock the previous night.

But nevertheless from that point on it was a good contest as the North fought to overcome the Southern lead and stretch its string of all-star victories to three straight. The North won the 1952 game at Clovis and the 1953 clash at Lubbock. The South now holds an 8-4 edge in the 12 all-star tilts on the books.

Credited with the victory was Cecil Davis of Plainview, who started and went the first three innings, leaving with a 10-1 lead.

The North rallied for three runs in the fourth and two more in the sixth, while the South completed its scoring with a single tally in the seventh.

The hitting stars of the contest were Doug Lewis for the South and Eddie Locke of Amarillo for the North. Lewis hammered a triple, two doubles and a single in five trips to the plate. Locke had a double and two singles in four efforts.

Commerce Boy Wins In Junior Tourney

BEAUMONT (AP)—John Heath of Commerce swept two straight set victories in the singles of the Texas State junior development tennis championships here yesterday.

He was playing in the 13-year-old and under division and teamed with Eddie Chapin of Commerce to win the doubles title in similar fashion.

In the girls division, Arleen Lopez, Beaumont, took the singles title and combined with Linda Barrilleuax, Beaumont, to win the doubles championship.

Before taking the job at Michigan State, Forddy Anderson was basketball coach at Great Lakes, Drake and Bradley.

Stengel Says Still Three Teams Racing

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel sends his New York Yankees after the American League lead tonight in the first of three games with Cleveland but he's still convinced it's a three-team race for the pennant.

The Indians own a half game edge over the Yankees and have played the world champions on an almost even basis so far this season, winning 5 of the 11 games. The Yanks never have been in the lead.

The Yanks deflated the pennant hopes of the Chicago White Sox at least temporarily yesterday by winning a doubleheader 4-3 in 10 innings and 11-1. This dumped the third place Sox 6½ games behind Cleveland.

But in discussing the way the Yanks and Indians have traded decisions Stengel outlined the road back for Chicago.

"If it keeps up like this," he said, "those fellers can come back by beating the other fellers (meaning the second division teams.)

The veteran Yankee manager didn't have much to say about his immediate problems with the Indians except to pick Eddie Lopat as his starter for tonight.

Big Chief Allie Reynolds will be in the bull pen, just as he was yesterday. He wasn't needed against Chicago and if he escapes work again tonight he'll be the starter tomorrow. If he works Stengel hopes it will be brief enough to bring him back as a starter Sunday. Whitey Ford will open whichever game Reynolds doesn't.

Al Lopez, the Cleveland manager, told Boston writers "even though we had to use (Bobby) Feller and (Bob) Lemon I think our pitching is set for the Yankee series starting with Early Wynn."

He's picked rookie Don Mossi for the second game.

Mike Garcia will get the call Sunday.

Secretaries Best Bargain At Altar

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—If I were a bachelor yearning for the matrimonial yoke, I do believe I'd head for Manhattan this weekend.

Some 2,000 business secretaries are here for their annual convention, and I don't know where else in America at the moment a man could go if he is searching for the right girl to love, honor and disobey the rest of his life.

For the business office today is the best of all training grounds for wifehood. Any girl who can run an office efficiently can operate a home at half-throttle.

As I see it, a good secretary has about all the advantages even the most cautious bachelor looks for in a wife, to wit:

1. She can sew on a button.
2. She has learned to keep her trap closed about confidential matters.
3. She knows when to get a man a cup of coffee, and when he prefers aspirin.
4. If she isn't a beauty, she at least knows how to put her best foot forward. She is neat, orderly and well-dressed.
5. She knows how to arrange flowers.
6. She has learned to take dictation from a boss, and therefore a husband can at least hope she will pay some attention to what he says—if only through force of habit.
7. She has the ability to budget money and get the most out of a small income.
8. She can fill out your income tax, and write diplomatic letters of refusal to all the relatives who try to borrow money from you.
9. Any girl who can change a typewriter ribbon successfully probably can learn in a few months to fix your television set, too. The repair bills she saves will in time pay for the cost of the wedding and her subsequent upkeep.

Every year the American girl secretary is getting brainier, better looking and more of a matrimonial bargain.

Jerry Wald, space consultant for the Art Metal Construction Co., office equipment manufacturers, is my authority here. His job is to measure offices for secretaries (and secretaries for offices), and after a national survey of the field he came up with this observation:

"The average secretary today can accomplish more work in two hours than one in the Gibson girl generation could in an entire day. Physically, she is smaller in size, and in the office occupies one third the amount of space given her sister of 20 years ago."

A thrifty bachelor can see the obvious advantages here: If he marries one of the new pony-model secretaries she will eat less food and fit in a smaller apartment than say a buxom lady weightlifter or the center on an all-girl basketball team.

And, of course, if he wants to keep his bride on the job while he himself stays home and pursues his hobbies, he won't overlook the fact that secretaries have pretty good take-home pay, although of course they don't get what they deserve.

"Executive secretaries have an average salary ranging from $50 a week in Alabama," says Wald, "to $82 in Tulsa. They average $75 in Los Angeles and $72 in New York."

All of which boils down to the following sensible tip to any sensible bachelor:

"Don't let your boss marry his secretary. She's too good for him. Beat him to the punch. Marry her yourself."

Polio Is Spreading In Nebraska Town

BROKEN BOW, Neb. (AP)—A new confirmed case of polio on each of the last two days here brought new worries today to parents here and raised the year's total to 12, with one death.

In addition to the confirmed case reported yesterday, there was a suspected case being watched by doctors who, since the start of the week, have inoculated approximately 1,500 adults and children with gamma globulin.

The new confirmed case was that of Margaret Miller, 11, who was taken to a Grand Island Hospital.

Knowland's Senate Timetable Is Being Booted Out Window

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate, proud of its rule which lets a member talk till he's speechless, is working the rule overtime. It has been talking steadily, all day and all night, around the clock, since Wednesday morning on atomic energy. It probably will still be talking on this next week.

Sen. Knowland of California, Senate Republican leader, made up his mind he'd get action on the administration's bill to make some major changes in the atomic energy law if he had to keep the 96 senators, including himself, in steady session to the point of exhaustion.

His challenge was taken up by a number of Democrats and Sen. Morse, Oregon Independent, who don't like the changes and probably wanted to show him they couldn't be pushed. They've done most of the talking. And they've had plenty of excuses for talking.

The atomic energy act, passed in 1946, is the basic law on the development and control of atomic power for both military and peaceful uses. That act contains 21 sections. The bill now before the Senate would make changes in all 21 sections.

And while one senator might be willing to buy one change, but not another, and since the Democrats as a group don't like the bill as a whole, they're having a field day arguing against the bill, piece by piece.

Although Knowland is determined he'll keep the Senate in session until the bill is settled, one way or the other, and he hopes it will be settled in favor of the administration, he's up a bit of a tree. He had hoped the Senate could wind up its year's work by the end of July. In fact, he had planned on it.

His schedule is getting booted out the window. And that isn't all. The House was to begin debate on the same bill on its side of the Capitol today. Since there is a limit on debate in the House, that chamber should make up its mind, for or against, pretty fast.

But if it passes the bill and the Senate doesn't, there won't be any changes in the 1946 law. If House and Senate both pass, and changes voted into the bill in both chambers are not identical, then they'll have to set up a joint committee to iron out the differences.

And when that's done, if it can be done, the compromise bill lands back in both Houses for final approval and there may be more rumpus.

The atomic energy act of 1946 was passed only shortly after Congress and the people had discovered they had a strange, new and startling possession that could work for the good of mankind in medicine and power and for his destruction with the bomb. The United States, at the time, had a monopoly of atomic weapons.

The law was built around that monopoly: To guard the secrets of the bomb and atomic energy. Even friendly nations, under the law, could not be let in on those secrets. And the government was given a monopoly on developing atomic power.

In the eight years since 1946 there have been great changes: Russia developed the bomb on its own. Some of the Allied developed atomic energy. There were scientific and technical advances. So the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy—made up of House and Senate Democrats and Republicans—finally produced the bill now before the Senate to make changes in the 1946 law. Here are some of the major ones:

1. Let the President share information, now secret, with Allied nations on nuclear weapons and their use in future defense or possible wars.
2. Let the President disclose peaceful atomic information. This would include the Russians. The President suggested international sharing of peaceful atomic information last year.
3. Loosen up on the present tight security regulations on atomic information so industry and public and private businesses and agencies can do research and get into expected commercial development.
4. Designate the chairman of the five-man Atomic Energy Commission—now Lewis Strauss—as its "official spokesman."
5. Let the AEC issue licenses and patents in the field of nuclear facilities and developments.

The Democrats have been particularly banging away at Nos. 3, 4 and 5. They've expressed suspicion that a few big private concerns could get a monopoly hold in a field which has cost the government billions of dollars to develop so far.

Customer Literally 'Drops In' For Gas

DALLAS (AP)—A customer really dropped in on a Dallas filling station yesterday.

Woody Taylor was startled to see a small plane swoop over his station several times, then land on the roadway. The pilot taxied up to the station and asked for five gallons of gasoline, said he was running low after a crop dusting job. He asked directions to an airport and flew away.

World's Scientists Join Cancer Fight

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—Scientists from 54 nations on both sides of the Iron Curtain launched a new joint assault today against cancer, which kills someone in the world every 10 seconds.

The nations include Russia, the United States, Britain, Korea, Poland, Brazil, Chile, Greece, Hungary—in fact almost any country you can name.

Nearly 1,000 physicians, chemists, physicists, biologists and other scientists are conferring here and exchanging their latest knowledge to mobilize better answers to the death and suffering from cancer.

Their meeting ground is the Sixth International Cancer Congress, which opened today in this booming Brazilian metropolis. The congress last met in Paris in 1950.

In the next week the delegates will listen to some 500 reports dealing with treatment, detection, new scientific research and public education concerning cancer.

They also will meet informally, seeking from or telling to other men and women scientists the findings which might supply keys to the answers they and the people of their nations want.

The cancer congress was formally opened this morning by Dr. Antonio Prudente, the congress president and head of the Brazilian Cancer Institute.

About three million persons over the world fall victim to cancer annually, he said in his opening address.

Dr. Prudente said new promises from research in various fields offer great hope, and each new fact learned is potentially useful in solving the riddle.

"I feel sure," he said, "this congress, which brings together men of all races, religions and political creeds, shall fight for the same ideal"—the ultimate triumph over cancer.

Prior to the opening session, Dr. George T. Pack, of New York's Memorial Hospital, told yesterday of a bold new operation to cure cancer of the liver. In some cases he said, the whole right lobe of the liver—75 to 80 per cent of the organ—had been removed by new surgical techniques. After such operations, Dr. Pack said, the left lobe regenerates and expands until the liver becomes nearly its original size.

Six of these operations have been performed in the past two years, he said. The first patient to undergo the new surgery is living and well today.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY FOR TRINITY METHODIST

One of the largest crowds ever to attend the Trinity Methodist Church was on hand Sunday when the congregation celebrated its first anniversary. Special recognition was given to people who have united with the Trinity Church during its first year. The Church, which was sponsored by the First Methodist Church of Snyder, has received over 200 people into its membership during the past year. Since organization, the church has organized a closely graded Sunday School, MYC, a Woman's Society of Christian Service, and soon the Methodist Men will be organized. The Rev. B. W. Lewis is pastor, while Dale Clemmer is Sunday School superintendent, Ford Kenner is chairman of the official board, and J. P. Billingsly is chairman of the board of trustees.

First Service Scheduled In New Building

Sunday worship services will be held for the first time in the new building of the Calvary Baptist Church on West Thirty-fifth Street.

The Rev. A. V. Henderson of San Angelo, pastor of the Baptist Temple, will be the guest speaker for services Sunday, and will also speak at a revival meeting which will continue through the week. Services will be held at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. daily during the revival. Mr. Henderson is to speak at 8:30 a.m. Sunday on the Word of Life broadcast sponsored by the church.

The Calvary Baptist building is expected to be completed within about six weeks, the Rev. T. Gerald Cates, pastor, said yesterday. Air conditioning was being installed yesterday. Completion has been held up because of the delayed delivery of materials for the finishing work. The formal opening and dedication of the church will be planned when the completion date can be determined, Mr. Cates said.

The church has been meeting in the West Elementary School while its new building was under construction. A new Baptist congregation being organized is to begin meeting in the school.

Service Guild Has Meeting

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the Methodist Church had a covered-dish supper on the lawn of the Littlepage home at 3607 Avenue U Monday night.

After recreation, a short business session was directed by Mrs. J. O. Littlepage. Plans were made to meet July twenty-sixth at one-thirty o'clock in Fellowship Hall to work on the yearbook.

It was voted to send two delegates to Cedar Canyon Camp Saturday and Sunday, July twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth.

There were eleven members and one guest, Mrs. Lenol Hester, present.

Business Meeting Set

A general business meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church has been scheduled at 10 a.m. Monday. The business session will be followed by a covered dish luncheon.

Seven Attend State Session

Seven representatives of Snyder's First Christian Church are attending the State Convention of the Christian Youth Fellowship at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Ronald Vaughn, district youth worker, and Herb Portis and Fred Williams, district youth officers, are among those at the meeting. They went to Fort Worth from Camp Christian at Lake Brownwood where they had attended the State Christian Youth Fellowship Planning Conference.

Bag Of Pennies Used To Finance Wedding

BISBEE, Ariz. (AP) — For four years Joseph S. Santi saved his pennies.

"This," he told Lydia Mae Lawson, holding a cloth bag crammed with coins, "will pay for our marriage license and the judge's fee."

The couple yesterday handed the 1,500 pennies to Superior Court Judge Frank Thomas.

He kept 200 for the license, married Joseph and Lydia and handed back the rest as a wedding present.

Come And Bring An Unsaved Friend

T. Gerald Cates, Pastor

What do you see, Sonny? A plane, streaking across the sky? A pony, galloping into the sunset? A sailboat, gliding across the lake? If I were to look into those glasses, I might see other things. For you are viewing the world with the eyes of youth . . . while mine is the sight of age.

I, too, can marvel at the speed of a plane, the grace of a pony, the beauty of a sailboat. But in all of them, I sense a force much greater than that of the man who pilots the plane, saddles the pony, or rigs the sail.

You are learning about that force when you go to Church each Sunday, and understanding it will be one of the greatest assets in your life. It will teach you to keep things in their proper perspective so that, when you get to be my age, though your sight may be dimmer you will see so much . . . so very much . . . more.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

VIETNAMESE STUDENTS PROTEST

Vietnamese students carry signs as they picket the White House in Washington, protesting partition of their country prior to the deadline for signing an Indochina cease fire order in Geneva. The signs read "Partition A Crime" and "Partition Means Treason." The small group of students, who said they are studying at American colleges, said they planned to continue their picketing.

Overseers Think Korean Aid Is Accomplishing Objective

By ROBERT EUNSON

SEOUL (AP) — Despite Korean criticism, the Americans responsible for overseeing aid to Korea in the last year say the taxpayer at home can take pride in the job his dollars have done.

The fighting halted a year ago next Tuesday. Since then United States and United Nations aid have cost 700 million dollars. Plans are to spend a billion more for civilian aid during the next three or four years and at least 250 million dollars a year for military aid so long as there is a threat of war in the Far East.

The Korean aid program hardly got under way before leaders in the Korean government began complaining because these millions weren't an outright gift. They wanted the money with no strings attached. Uncle Sam insisted on having a say in how the funds would be spent.

Here are a few samples of what has been done:

In the past 12 months, 175 freighters, each carrying 10,000 tons of food, clothing and other supplies, docked at Korean ports.

Doctors and nurses operating 96 hospitals and 569 dispensaries under the supervision of the Army's Korea Civil Assistance Command have been treating an average of 850,000 out-patients per month.

These dispensaries have inoculated practically the whole Korean population, and contagious disease has just about been eliminated.

American bombs and shells as well as Communist explosives knocked out about three fourths of the factories in South Korea, as well as crippling the electric and steam generated power systems to run them. Since the dismal days of 1950-1951 the average monthly power output has increased from 10-15 million kilowatt hours to 70 million. Contracts were signed last month to spend 30 million dollars for three large steam plants which will double this output by 1956.

Milk cow and swine totals have nearly doubled since 1950. Grain production has increased six and seven times. Transportation and communications are being restored as rapidly as possible.

There are five integrated programs through which aid money for Korea is being channeled:

FOA — Foreign Operations Administration. This is the general aid program headed in Washington by Harold Stassen. It was slow getting started because of dissatisfaction from Korean government leaders. Since the war stopped it has spent 178 million.

KCAC — Korea Civil Assistance Command. This is the U.S. Army's relief agency to care for civilians in war areas. In the past year it has expended 134 million in Korean relief.

UNKRA — United Nations Korea Reconstruction Agency. It has spent 45 million in the last 12 months.

AFAK—Armed Forces Assistance to Korea is the 8th Army's own private relief agency. It has spent 15 million on projects since the war ended.

Military assistance—An outright gift in uniforms, equipments and supplies to the Korean army. In the past year it amounted to 350 million.

C. Tyler Wood came to Korea last August to head FOA and coordinate the other programs. He had authority to spend 50 millions immediately. Meanwhile, the Eisenhower administration was getting a billion dollars earmarked for Korea relief, to be spread over three to five years.

Much of the aid program is invisible because it is still in the planning stage.

"Achievements are evident," says Wood. "You can walk down the streets and see there is no sign of starvation. Neither is their any lack of clothing. There have been no epidemics. Inflation has been retarded by pumping in an adequate supply of consumer goods and raw materials."

U.S. Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs says:

"Eventually we may be able to put Korea on her feet economically, but for the rest of our lives we probably will have to help Korea support her army. Remember, however, that this is a country which hates communism and wants to halt its spread in Asia. We should consider ourselves fortunate in having such a friend with the manpower to form a 20-division army. Think how much it would cost to support that many American divisions in Korea."

Korean critics of the aid program agree there is a surplus of rice and barley this year because of the import of fertilizer; farmers are being resettled everywhere and most of the schools in South Korea have reopened.

But they still want to see factories built and operated by Korean workers.

"To sum up the whole unfortunate situation U.S. aid administration to date has been more of a bureaucratic expansionism, marked by organization and reorganization, ad infinitum, than a determined honest intelligent effort to achieve the economic rehabilitation of Korea."

Koreans Intent On Rebuilding Country

(Editors' Note—President Syngman Rhee of Korea is arriving in Washington Monday to talk over his problems with President Eisenhower. In two articles earlier this week, The Associated Press has depicted the American aid program for Korea and the criticism it has run into. In this concluding article, an AP correspondent at Seoul depicts the Korea of today.)

By MURRAY FROMSON

SEOUL (AP)—The grim reminders of war are still here—bomb gutted streets, ruined buildings and the maimed and orphaned, but there's a new atmosphere in Seoul. And all over South Korea.

Reconstruction may not be going as fast as the government wants it to, but a government's discontent is not always shown by the people.

With some assurance that they won't have to pack up and flee south tomorrow, the Koreans have buckled down to rebuild their homes and shops.

In contrast to last July 27, when the fighting stopped, the man in the street appears happier, better fed and better clothed today. Certainly, he's better off than any time since the Communists pushed across the 38th Parallel four years ago.

There are almost no big factories to indicate rapid recovery, though a number are in the works. But there are rows upon rows of small stands from which Korean merchants peddle their wares to the city shopper.

And there are plenty of shoppers. Seoul is bulging with people. Ever since the 8th Army relaxed its restriction on the return of civilians to Seoul, the people have been streaming back by the thousands. Police estimate Seoul's population now to be about 1,600,000—some 400 thousand more than its prewar population—and going up everyday.

[illegible] Mwnad everyday.

Men and women have taken to wearing Western clothes. The attraction for Western clothes by the women caused one U. S. soldier to remark that a U. S. mail order catalog is probably Korea's all-time best seller.

Public transportation has increased. Old streetcars contributed by St. Louis and Atlanta are always taxed to capacity.

The Seoul curfew horn still sounds at 10 p.m., but a few Korean men and women manage to go dancing and dining beforehand at one of several night clubs which have opened in the last year.

Industrially, Korean factories are starting to produce, although their output is negligible. Lack of power has been a big hindrance, but that situation is gradually being remedied. The Korean farmer is having one of the best crops in many years.

American economists here are learning, like their military predecessors, that there were few opportunities for the Koreans to develop leadership under the 40-year Japanese rule. With Foreign Operations Administration funds, the republic is hiring highly skilled foreign technicians and firms to handle the reconstruction job.

It will be a job to find enough technically-skilled Koreans to run the country's future industry.

There is also the problem of the ROK (Republic of Korea) Army. When President Syngman Rhee learned of plans to gradually withdraw U. S. troops from Korea, he sought American support for a buildup of his own army. The U.S. contribution toward maintenance of the present 20-division force is estimated at about 300 million dollars annually. Rhee has asked for nearly 20 additional divisions.

But Gen. James A. Van Fleet said recently he did not think the ROKs could maintain more than their present 20 divisions in combat conditions. The manpower is available, however.

The key question is this: is South Korea destined to be a permanent economic ward of the United States? There is no ready answer today, but C. Tyler Wood, head of the Foreign Operations Administration here, says a steady growth in the value of Korea's gross national production will end the need for extensive aid.

Strike Idles Chrysler Plant

DETROIT (AP)—All of Chrysler's Detroit automobile production was at a standstill today in the fifth day of a strike now idling 44,850 workers.

Assembly lines went down completely yesterday with the layoff of 8,850 machinists, motor builders and maintenance employes in mounting idleness from Monday's strike of 10,700 Dodge main plant employes.

Only an approximate 21,000 hourly employes, including defense workers, were still on the job.

All the affected employes are members of the CIO United Auto Workers. The Dodge main strikers walked out in protest of what they called a speed-up. Management denied there was a speed-up.

The only assembly plants left in operation were those in Evansville, Ind., and Los Angeles. These two turn out about 20 per cent of Chrysler's normal production of Chrysler, Dodge, DeSoto and Plymouth cars.

The Dodge main strike lacks the approval of the UAW international union. At the same time the international has taken no action on a demand by the company that the strike be declared unauthorized and a contract violation.

A company spokesman said the strike may interfere with 1955 model changeover plans. Before the Dodge main strike began, the company announced plans to close down in August for model changeovers.

Fund Raising Plan Okayed

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—"Complete agreement" on future fund raising is announced by the Flint Red Feather Fund and the Genesee County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The accord, announced yesterday, follows upon the recent heated dispute over the allocation of relief moneys in the disastrous June 1953 Flint tornado.

E. Roland Harriman, chairman of the National Red Cross, charged at that time that Flint erred in not returning part of the Red Cross' relief contribution of $600,000 after a local tornado relief fund of $920,000 had been built up. From Flint then came demands for apologies.

The Red Cross chapter and the Red Feather Fund said both would continue with basic policies and the Red Cross would continue to participate as a beneficiary in the Red Feather drives.

W. Osmund Kelly, Red Feather president, and Charles Black, chairman of the county Red Cross, said in a joint statement the two agencies have "reached complete agreement on fund raising policies."

Their statement made no reference to the earlier dispute.

Rubirosa Is Seeking A Permit To Work

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Porfirio Rubirosa, wealthy Dominican Republic playboy-diplomat, wants a work permit.

The 46-year-old husband of heiress Barbara Hutton applied yesterday to the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

He said he wants to play a gambling saloon keeper in a western movie. It will star his present heart interest, Zsa Zsa Gabor.

Rubirosa entered the United States at New York last June 29 on a visitor's visa for vacation purposes. His application was taken under consideration.

Prepares For Holdup, Walks Right Into One

KANSAS CITY (AP)—When a drug store employe got a telephone call to make a liquor delivery, he recalled that in the past such orders had resulted in holdups.

So Howard Goldenberg of the Highland Pharmacy decided to make a preliminary investigation before delivering the liquor. He left his billfold in the store, picked up a .38 pistol and drove to the address given by the caller.

As he got out of the car, two men met him, relieved him of his keys, cigaret lighter, watch—and the pistol.

Tot Takes Family Car On Destructive Tour

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police say Jack Todora, 4, freed the family car from a curb yesterday and steered it downhill through three intersections. Reaching 50 miles an hour, it struck Donald Boudinot's auto, turned it over, killed Boudinot's collie dog, and finally hit James Matthews' house, officers said.

Damage to the car: more than $1,000. To Jack: a cut lip and three loose teeth.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Kathleen Hughes, 25, and film producer Stanley Rubin, 36, obtain a marriage license yesterday and said they will wed Sunday.

Business Affected By Drouth And Heat

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Drouth and heat over wide areas of the nation are unsettling part of the economic outlook.

Family budgets may be affected. Already some food prices are rising. Others may fall because of the drouth's effects. Damage to the cotton crop could work its way in time to higher prices of sheets and shirts and dresses.

Severe crop damage if the drouth is prolonged could cut the total that the government will be paying out in price supports.

And farm incomes are already affected in many sections.

Drouth and heat damage to the corn and soybean crops have sent prices higher on the Commodity exchange. But this is small comfort to the farmer who sees his money crop shrivelling away—or to the merchant and manufacturer who cater to farm customers.

Rising prices of corn and other feeds may speed up the rush of hogs to the market, already under way as the large pig crop of last spring starts to mature. Even before the drouth, government officials were predicting falling pork prices this fall.

If drouth and heat continue to sear pasturelands they may drive a lot of cattle to the stockyards, too. And the cattle population is higher this year.

The American Meat Institute predicts that the total meat supply this year will be 3 per cent higher than last year and set a new record for consumption. So the heat and drouth could mean lower meat prices, if a rush to market develops—but the quality of the meat would be less toothsome.

Butter production has been dropping because of the heat. Since the government has large surplus stocks, the housewife may see little change in butter prices. But dairy farmers will have less income.

At the same time, heat-damaged soybean and cotton crops may raise the price of cottonseed and soybean oils — ingredients that margarine makers use.

Heat has killed young chickens in some places—which may mean higher broiler prices in the fall. It has also cut egg production and set egg prices rising on the commodity markets.

In some sections of the nation this is the second year of drouth, making this year's onslaught all the more painful and in places threatening future productivity of the land.

There's always another side to the picture. And heat waves have been a boon to many dealers in air conditioners. Stocks which were piling up to the worry of dealers and manufacturers have begun to move quickly in areas worse hit by the heat, merchants report. Price-cutting had unsettled the market, and industry leaders were moaning about overproduction.

Soft drink bottlers and ice cream makers also report sales zooming.

She Lives On Wrong Side Of Cool Breeze

CHICAGO (AP)—There are two sides to a fan, and Mrs. Stella Wojciechowski, 61, says she lives on the wrong side of one.

Mrs. Wojciechowski complained in Police Court yesterday that an air conditioning fan in her next-door-neighbor's window blows hot air into her bedroom "so I'm warmer while he's cooler."

Judge Mason S. Sullivan issued a warrant charging the neighbor, M. A. Kupsik, with disorderly conduct.

Statement Is Issued By Local Candidate

Lloyd Devenport today issued his first statement for publication in connection with his race for County Commission Precinct No. 2.

Addressing voters of the precinct, he said, "I have tried to see each of you personally, but I know I have failed. I assure that I did not miss any of you intentionally, but there are some of you I just couldn't find. I have thoroughly enjoyed talking to each of you. To those that I haven't seen, I will appreciate it if you will consider this a personal solicitation of your support.

"Having lived in the county 28 years, I am interested in the affairs of the county. I feel that I am qualified and would like very much to be your commission. I thank you for every courtesy shown me. Certainly I want your vote—but however you vote, go to the polls Saturday and vote."

FBI Agent Lives Up To Letter Of Law

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Gov. Edwin Mechem, former FBI agent, lives up to the letter of the law.

He got a ticket for overparking.

He sent a note from his Santa Fe office with a $1 bill attached to the ticket. The note said:

"The attached was attached to my car for overstaying my leave. If the enclosed is not sufficient to pay the charge, please advise me or, if you want me to appear in person I will do so."

The judge said Mechem won't have to appear.

Here's a young man who's going places!

IN FACT, he is already on his way. He is already a successful young business man, operating a small business of his own which fits in nicely with his school work and also rewards him handsomely in profits for the small amount of time required.

Yes, he is an independent newspaperboy. He is proud and his parents are too, of the fact that he is able to earn money for his clothes and hobbies and has a growing bank account.

But much more important than the money he earns is the knowledge and training he is receiving for the future. He is getting basic training in the operation of a business—service to the customer, securing orders, making collections and saving his money. He is learning salesmanship, and how to meet and deal with all types of people.

Carrying a newspaper route is the most valuable training a boy can receive, as a supplement to school work.

Tomorrow's business leaders are carrying Daily News routes today!
