Faubus Cites Constitution In Segregation Argument

"This Is Where I'll Learn To Spell?"

Little Frankie Carter, 7, who will enter the second grade at the William McKinley elementary school in Tulsa, Okla., in September, seems puzzled by the spelling on the front of the school. Somehow the lettering came out "William McKinley."

Conroe Jury Told Of Beer, Free Poll Taxes In Election

CONROE, Tex. (AP)—A court of inquiry probing alleged election irregularities in Montgomery County has heard testimony some persons had received paid poll taxes and beer for voting in the July 26th Democratic primary. A second session was called today.

Witnesses testified yesterday they voted in the county although they did not reside there and others said they voted more than once in the same election.

Most of the testimony at yesterday's session dealt with activities of Montgomery County citizens during and prior to the July 26th primary. The court of inquiry, conducted by members of the attorney general's staff, is authorized to take evidence and present the written record to the county grand jury. Ballot boxes were impounded earlier.

An employe of the Department of Public Welfare, John Sanders, testified that several residents thought the amount of their welfare checks were controlled by county politicians. He said some had been told if they didn't "vote right" their welfare checks would be cut. Sanders said he told them this wasn't true.

Several witnesses, many of them illiterate Negroes, referred to T. M. Bailey, Negro employed by T. J. Peel, Montgomery County Precinct 4 commissioner.

Bailey admitted under questioning that Peel paid him to take persons to the polls to vote.

Others testifying included:

1. Mathew Hatchett, 42, Negro, who said he received his poll tax from E. A. Kelley, a white man who owns a store at Montgomery, Tex. Hatchett said he didn't know who paid the poll tax.

2. John Gibbs, 39, a white man, said he voted absentee in the primary and Saturday's runoff election but was in the county on both days. He said Peel brought him to Conroe to vote and gave him two cases of beer, adding: "I never paid for my poll tax receipt. It was given to me."

3. James Steward, 21, Negro, testified he voted this year on an exemption Peel procured for him. He continued: "I was standing on a corner of downtown Conroe, and Mr. Peel told me to come with him to get my exemption. Mr. Peel had all the information in a little black book and he gave it to them (the county clerk) to get the exemption.

4. Jim Manning, 47, Negro, told of voting absentee twice and said George Post, an employe of Peel, "signed me up." Manning said a Negro named T. M. Bailey brought the ballots to him and said "I don't know who I voted for."

5. Pap Washington, a Negro, admitted signing a statement saying that "Pete Martin, Montgomery County citizen, offered Washington $15 to vote for James Price, a candidate who opposed Peel for re-election." Washington said Peel asked him to sign the statement, said he didn't know what was in it and denied Martin ever offered him anything to vote for anybody.

6. Conrad Meridan, a white man, testified he had lived in the county only two months but Peel urged him to tell officials he had lived there six months. Meridian said he decided not to do so and didn't vote.

Earlier witnesses said they voted absentee but lived outside Montgomery County. Three said they lived in Conroe but voted in another county precinct. Another witness said her father voted absentee in the county but had not been out of Houston for four years.

Mrs. Marie Cartwright, a white woman, testified she voted in Precinct 4 but lived in Precinct 2.

Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor of Houston said her father, Thomas Evans Sr., 86, hadn't left her home for four years. Aides of the attorney general said Evans was listed as an absentee voter in Montgomery County.

Mrs. Heckler Dies Of Gunshot Wound

Mrs. Hazel Marie Heckler, 36, wife of Leon Heckler, 900 Lancaster, died in the Cowper Hospital at 8:45 p.m. Monday of gunshot wounds.

City Police Detective Leo Hull, who investigated the tragedy, said that Mrs. Heckler was found on a bed at her home by her 5-year-old son at 3:45 p.m. She had been shot one time in the right temple with a .22 calibre revolver. The gun was clutched in her right hand and was beside her head, he said. Mrs. Heckler was taken to the hospital where she died at 8:30 p.m. Hull said there was no note or other information in the bedroom.

He said that Mrs. Heckler had returned home from town a short time earlier. She had gone to the bedroom. The other children were in the living room watching television. A maid, employed at the house, was in the bathroom.

The maid told officers she heard a sound which she said appeared to be a shot. She did not investigate until a few minutes later when the young boy ran to her to tell her that "mama is hurt."

Heckler was working and was notified. He and his wife formerly operated the L&M Cafe.

The body was removed to the River Funeral Home where funeral arrangements are pending. Efforts were being made to contact her relatives who live in Louisiana.

Mrs. Heckler was born June 24, 1922 in Lafayette, La. Her maiden name was Helen Louise Boudreaux, and she was one of 14 children in her family. She and Heckler were married July 22, 1953 in Aztec, N. M.

Mrs. Heckler was a member of the St. Paul Lutheran Church.

Survivors include her 13 brothers and sisters in Louisiana, her husband, Leon Heckler, 900 Lancaster, three sons, Richard Allen, Melvin Ray and David Lynn and one daughter, LaDonna Jean.

Paris Cracks Down On Terror Gangs

PARIS (AP)—Security officials promised stern measures today against Algerian terrorists who attacked oil depots and other installations across France to back up demands for independence of their North African homeland.

French soldiers were posted around a number of key points. A previously planned special brigade was inaugurated to coordinate the campaign against terrorism.

Officials at the Ministry of Interior declined to reveal any other plans to meet possible repetitions of the bombings, burnings and shootings which occurred before dawn yesterday.

Four police and at least five terrorists were killed. The attacks followed the pattern of rebel strikes in the almost four-year-old civil war across the Mediterranean in Algeria.

Authorities blamed the wave of terrorism on the group that dominates rebel activity in Algeria, the National Liberation Front (FLN). It has a strong underground among the 400,000 Algerians who have left their impoverished countryside to work in France.

Premier De Gaule will visit Algeria later this week on his tour seeking votes for a new constitution that would keep Algeria as part of France. Thue attacks obviously were timed to draw attention to rebel opposition to the constitution. The FLN is urging Algerians to boycott the referendum.

Six coastal oil depots were set afire by the terrorists and three small fires were started in the Paris area. Police broke up an attempt to put the torch to an ammunition factory near Paris.

One of the fires, at the big Mourepiane oil tank farm two miles north of Marseille, blazed all day, and last night the heat apparently caused a full tank to explode. Fire department officials said 17 firemen were injured, three seriously. Early reports that 26 firemen were killed were incorrect.

A company of 150 soldiers was moved into a nearby refinery at Marseille. Troops also were posted at a refinery near Saint Nazaire, an oil tank farm near Antibes, the port in Lyon, a dam near Lyon, and possibly other points around France.

Maurice Papon, Paris police chief, said the rebels failed in their main goal in the capital, to capture armories. Three of the policemen were killed in a machine-gun attack on a police garage.

Fighting continued in Algeria, where 25 persons were reported killed yesterday. A grenade thrown at a trolley bus in Algiers wounded 17 persons.

Bennett Rites Set Wednesday

Final rites will be conducted at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning for Dr. M. H. Bennett, physician and civic leader in Big Spring for more than three decades. Dr. Bennett died of a heart attack at his home, 1610 Main Street, Monday morning.

The service will be at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, with the Rev. William D. Boyd officiating. Burial will be in the City Cemetery beside the grave of Mrs. Bennett, who died just six months ago. River Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers will be Ike Robb, John Hodges, R. W. Whipkey, Champ Rainwater, E. L. Powell, Elmo Wasson, Obie Bristow, Jess Wilbanks, Tom Roden and Dr. B. Broadrick. The family has requested that all friends be considered as honorary pallbearers.

Friends who make a gift to the Heart Fund as a memorial to Dr. Bennett may send checks care of Dr. P. D. O'Brien. Gifts to St. Mary's Memorial Fund may be sent to the church.

The Big Spring Clinic, with which Dr. Bennett had been associated since its inception nearly 30 years ago, will be closed all day Wednesday.

Requiem Holy Communion was conducted Tuesday morning by the Rev. Mr. Boyd.

In addition to the Big Spring Clinic, of which Dr. Bennett was a founder and staff member, the Medical Arts Hospital will remain closed all of Wednesday morning. Both the Malone & Hogan and the Cowper hospitals will operate on skeleton staffs during the morning so members may attend the services.

Fatally Shot

WACO (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Sorter, 44, was found fatally shot at her home today. Her husband said she had been ill for some time.

Teamsters Official Termed 'Cop-Hater'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A St. Louis police detective today described Teamster Vice President Harold Gibbons as a cop-hating associate of underworld characters whose labor activities have been filled with violence.

"Practically every strike he has been involved in has had occasions of violence and destruction of property," Detective Capt. Thomas L. Moran told the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

Moran said Gibbons tells St. Louis Teamsters to regard police as strikebreakers on the side of management.

Moran testified that Gibbons "seems to have more than a talking acquaintance with some of the leading underworld figures."

He specifically mentioned John Vitale, reputed head of the Italian crime syndicate in St. Louis, and Joe Costello, who has been described as the leading fence or dealer in stolen property in St. Louis.

Moran, head of the St. Louis police bomb and arson squad, testified as the committee turned to Gibbons in its continuing probe of the Teamsters and their president, James R. Hoffa.

Before Moran testified, the committee charged that the officials of Teamsters Local 688 literally sold the local secretly to Gibbons.

But Lawrence J. Camie, the local's former president, insisted that $36,000 he received for stepping out as president when Gibbons took over in 1949 was severance pay. No sale was involved, he swore.

"I didn't sell that union and I couldn't sell it if I wanted to," Camie said.

He acknowledged that the escrow agreement under which he drew $36,000 in three $12,000 annual installments made no mention of severance pay.

Camie testified he and other local officers and directors were offered a choice of remaining on the job after Gibbons took over, or quitting and collecting severance pay equal to the salaries they would have drawn for the remaining three years of their terms.

The committee's chairman, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), produced figures subpoenaed from the union which showed, he said, that the cost of getting the officers out was $78,410. The local, he said, didn't even have enough money in its treasury to pay Camie's $36,000 share. McClellan said the rest was borrowed.

Control of Local 688 was the springboard from which Gibbons took off on a rise to power in the union. He now is executive vice president of the International Teamsters Union—No. 1 lieutenant to President James R. Hoffa—and boss of St. Louis area Teamsters affairs.

Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel, said in advance of the hearing that this phase of the committee's inquiry would center on what he called goon squad violence, misuse of funds and abuse of power in St. Louis area Teamster affairs.

$50 Million Budget Is Approved For State Hospitals

AUSTIN (AP)—The Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools approved yesterday a 50 million dollar budget request for its mental hospitals for 1960-61.

The budgets, tentatively approved earlier, must gain final approval from the Legislature.

The board also approved the master plan for the proposed 2,000-bed home at Denton for mentally retarded children. It directed architects Harper and Kent of Dallas to start detailed plans.

* * *

Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital, said that the budget for the hospital here will be considered along with all others of the state at a special Sept. 17 meeting. This will be a joint meeting between the state legislative board, the executive budget committee and the agency budget representatives.

The figures accepted at the Sept. 17 meeting will be he ones presented to the Legislature. The state board for hospitals and special schools will hold its next meeting Sept. 15 at the Mexia State Hospital.

Passenger Hurt As Airliner Lands

CUT BANK, Mont. (AP) — A Trans World Airlines Super-Constellation with 61 persons aboard was forced down by a burning engine last night at this northern Montana town.

One man, Wilfred Price of San Francisco, was injured when he jumped from the plane as it rolled to a stop.

The four-engine plane set a grass fire, but firemen controlled the blaze. The rest of the passengers and crew apparently escaped injury.

The plane was en route from London to Los Angeles. Officials said a propeller went out of control over Cut Bank and the engine caught fire.

Capt. Earl W. Fleet of Kansas City, the pilot, brought the plane in to a smooth landing.

The rest of the passengers spent the night in Cut Bank, waiting for another plane.

7 Beauties Vie Tonight For Queen's Title

Seven lovelies from as many counties will vie this evening for the title of queen of District No. 6 of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation.

Program for the final selection of a young lady to represent the district in the state contest will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the Howard County Junior College. Ed Cumby, Bronte, Farm Bureau district field representative, will be master of ceremonies, and there will be a round of entertainment furnished by participating counties.

Contestants are Sarah Pratt, Mitchell County; Frances Barber, Howard County, Alice Stewart, Martin County; LaVada Whitaker, Dawson County; Johnie Houston, Midland County; Jane Mears, Menard County; and Billie King, Gaines County. Betty Guthrie of Big Spring will serve as organist for the contest portions of the program.

Following a rehearsal at the college at 4 p.m., there will be a dinner honoring the county representatives and Miss Guthrie at the Wagon Wheel at 6 p.m. After the selection of the district queen, there will be a reception in the college little auditorium with the wives of the county presidents as hosts. Refreshments will be served.

Each of the participating counties has been invited to bring some item of entertainment, and Dawson County will present its entry in the bureau's statewide talent search. To participate in this section, the contestant must be between ages of 18 and 28. Judges for the beauty contest are all from counties which do not have contestants in the finals.

Body Of Missing Pilot Discovered

BRYAN (AP)—The body of Paul Green Pearrow, 25, of San Antonio was found today in the wreckage of his light plane close to nearby Wheelock.

The flier vanished early Sunday on a flight from Shreveport to Austin. The body was taken to nearby Franklin.

Search planes for two days had been looking for the plane. The first clue came yesterday when a farmer reported hearing an explosion about the time Pearrow vanished. A short time later wreckage was sighted in the brushy country near Wheelock.

Pearrow vanished early Sunday after radioing the Bryan Air Port that his fuel was running low and lightning was putting his compass out of commission.

Greek Bombing

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Right-wing Greek Cypriots bombed a busload of their leftwing trade union compatriots today, killing a 13-year-old girl and a 32-year-old woman.

SURE SIGN OF SCHOOL

One of the surer signs of school opening was cropping up in the county clerk's office Tuesday.

Pauline Petty, clerk, said that her office had filled requests for 55 copies of birth certificates Monday. Approximately the same number of applications were being filled today. Schools make birth certificates a requirement for entrance.

Wheatheart

Carolyn Cooper, 17, of Plainview is the new Wheatheart of the nation. She was crowned at the annual contest held in Perryton and was selected over 17 other High Plains contestants.

Airmen Get Yule Celebration Early

NORTH KINGSTON, R. I. (AP) —Thirty airmen from Quonset Point Naval Air Station were guests last night at a Christmas party—with tree, gifts and eggnog.

The affair was given in a local restaurant by civilian friends of Air Development Squadron 6, which leaves Saturday for the Antarctic.

City Completes Its Letters

Appearance notices concerning change in valuations of property will be mailed to city property owners this week, well ahead of the time limit required.

The board of equalization will start its meetings at the court house Sept. 8, and a 10-day period is required between time the appearance notices are dispatched and the time of the meetings.

The city tax department today is concluding work on the some 8,000 notices being sent. Notices for those to appear before the board on the first days of the session may go into the mail today.

The city has set up a schedule of having those whose last names begin with letters A through D to appear on Sept. 8, those in the E-I group on Sept. 9, J-Mc on the 10th, N-S on the 11th, and T-Z on the 12th.

All notices have been completed except for those asked to appear on Sept. 11 and 12, and these will be completed by Wednesday noon, said C. E. Johnson Jr., city tax collector-assessor.

The large amount of notices is due to the changes in valuations suggested by Pritchard & Abbott, a valuation firm, which conducted a tax revaluation survey for the City of Big Spring, Howard County, and the Big Spring School District this summer.

Says U.S. Can't Force Integration

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov Orval Faubus today told the Arkansas State Legislature that the federal government can never constitutionally enforce integration in public schools. He asked the power to close Arkansas schools against any such mandate.

In a speech urging the special session of the Legislature not to surrender on the issue, Faubus declared:

"There is no clear-cut federal statute regarding the integration of the schools. If there were, it would be unconstitutional, for the authority to control public education has never been delegated by the states to the federal government."

Arkansas' legislators gathered amid back-slapping for the historic special session. But the reunion air of the sweltering chamber was more solemn than light. Spectators jammed the galleries for the opening of the great states' rights debate.

In urging no surrender, Faubus said:

"This battle for states' rights and constitutional government is not of our choosing," he said. "The issue has been forced upon us and we must either defend our rights against those who would usurp them or else surrender."

ASKS CLOSURE BILL

Faubus asked for a bill that would empower him to close the state's public schools—specifically in the current case, Central High School—against forced integration.

Faubus has said the measure is necessary to avoid a repetition of the rioting that occurred outside Central High a year ago when Negroes first were admitted to its classrooms.

The proposed bill provides for a school district election within 30 days of closing a school to decide whether to keep it closed or to integrate.

Faubus' address came 48 hours in advance of a special U.S. Supreme Court session. The high court is expected to decide whether to grant Central High a breathing spell in integration, or direct immediate reentry of negro students to its classrooms.

The School Board Monday night postponed the reopening of Central to its 2,000 students from Sept. 2 to Sept. 8 to allow a little easing of the time pressure on both the Legislature and the Supreme Court.

Faubus in his legislative message asked a further postponement to Sept. 15.

School Supt. Virgil Blossom announced that three more Negroes had applied for admission to white schools. Seven who attended Central High School last year under federal troop protection are expected to apply tomorrow.

QUALITY NEIGHBORHOOD

One Negro girl, 14, sought admission to Hall High School, a swank new institution in a neighborhood of predominantly better quality residences occupied by whites.

The key measure prepared for the lawmakers by Gov. Orval Faubus would present him the power to close any school should the federal government seek to integrate it by court order or physical force.

The school would remain closed until voters balloted—within 30 days—on whether to integrate or keep its doors shut.

A third measure would permit a student of a closed school to carry his state aid allotment with him to another district.

The U. S. Supreme Court on Thursday will hold an emergency session to deal with Little Rock's riot-marked school racial problems.

Army troops, fully armed, integrated Central High School with nine Negro students last fall after federal courts ordered integration. The soldiers arrived one day after white demonstrators, some hysterical, fought police until the nine Negroes were spirited away from the building.

A flood of segregation bills may develop from legislators who have their own ideas on how to keep schools segregated.

POLITICAL STRENGTH

But it was fully apparent that the governor possesses political strength to obtain anything he wants the way he wants it from the Legislature.

Most legislators take the position that Faubus' landslide renomination in the summer's Democratic party primary is a mandate to follow his leadership in this overwhelmingly one-party state.

Faubus said he called the emergency session to block any last-minute pro-integration ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Under current lower court rulings, the city's schools are under no orders to integrate when the fall term opens. The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People appealed to the high court to override the lower bench rulings which give the school board a breather.

The Supreme Court meeting Thursday — only the fifth such emergency session in 40 years — has widespread implication.

It is expected to provide the first specific ruling by this court on integration methods and timing since it ruled May 17, 1954, that racial segregation in public schools is unconstitutional. A year later it ordered desegregation to proceed "with all deliberate speed."

NO TIME, METHOD

But never has the court pinpointed a time and method for desegregation of a school.

City school board attorneys today declared ". . .the school board . . .will be unable to operate Central High School on an integrated basis under conditions as they now exist in Little Rock."

The attorneys' statement was in a brief to be filed with the Supreme Court answering one part of the NAACP's petition for immediate integration.

The response cited legal precedent and previous arguments and asserted that "in this situation, if the petitioners' (Negro students') application is denied, then, regardless of result upon final disposition of the case, their high school education will not be interrupted and in fact they will be spared the predictable mental torment and physical danger that would accompany attendance at Central High School in September."

The attorneys further said that "perhaps the matter of greatest importance will be the irreparable harm done to the education of 2,000 students at Central High School and more than 21,000 students throughout the Little Rock School District."

The response was to the NAACP's plea to vacate a 30-day stay of integration granted by the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Ft. Worth Wins Industrial Award

HOUSTON (AP) — The Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce has been judged as having sponsored the state's most outstanding April observance of Texas Industrial Week.

Other first place awards from the Texas Manufacturers Assn. went to Abilene, New Braunfels, and El Campo. Certificates of merit went to Denison, Wills Point Mineral Wells, Brenham and Taylor.

Fort Worth, in addition to winning the Grand Award, also took first place for cities with over 75,000 residents. Abilene won for cities of 25,000 to 75,000.

Bronze plaques will be presented to the Fort Worth, Abilene, New Braunfels and El Campo chambers.

News Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will hold a news conference Wednesday morning.

Tax Agencies Battle Deadline To Get Out Valuation Notices

Wednesday is technically the deadline for the county clerk to dispatch notices to the 13,000 property owners in Howard County regarding the County Equalization Board meetings Sept. 8-12.

Actually, not half of the notices will be in the mail by that date.

Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, is charged with the responsibility of mailing the notices. The broadside notification is made necessary as result of the county-wide revaluation survey.

Mrs. Viola Robinson, county assessor-collector, and her deputies have been busy for several weeks with the first phase of the revision made necesary by this survey. Mrs. Robinson pointed out that each piece of property reported by the tax engineers (Pritchard & Abbott) has to go through eight steps before it can be turned over to the clerk's office and the property owner notified. Since changes in values were made in nearly 100 per cent of all cases, the eight step posting program applies to all property.

She said that her staff is still posting revised figures on outlying additions to the city and that nearly all of the rural property is yet to be handled.

It appeared Tuesday it would be physically impossible for the county clerk to have all 13,000 notices in the mail by Wednesday evening. Some 3,000 notices were mailed Monday and perhaps as many more will go into the mail today.

J. O. Hagood, tax assessor-collector for the Big Spring Independent School District, said his staff was working as fast as humany possible to get out some 11,000 notices. Like the city, these will go out on an alphabetical order so that 10 days notice will be provided if at all possible.

Hagood emphasized that if a property owner receives a notice from one agency it is pretty good evidence that one is due from others. Tax staffs of the three agencies will be present with their information cards and one hearing may suffice.

Daily Average Oil Production Rises

TULSA (AP) — Daily average crude production rose 22,125 barrels to 6,855,550 the week ended Aug. 23, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Most of the net increase was attributable to an advance of 18,700 barrels in Oklahoma to 573,400.

The Journal estimated 1958 production at 1,526,146,450 barrels compared to 1,724,778,939 a year ago.

Louisiana rose 4,650 barrels to 847,725, and Arkansas went up 275 to 74,800.

Colorado fell 700 barrels to 131,800.

Production was unchanged in Texas, 2,689,100 barrels, and New Mexico, 277,400.

2 Experts Get Top Posts At General Motors

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—A finance expert and an authority on production and engineering have been named to direct the destinies of the world's biggest industrial corporation.

General Motors directors yesterday elected Frederic G. Donner, 56, board chairman and chief executive officer, and John F. Gordon, 58, as president and chief operating officer.

Their election, effective Sept. 1, followed the retirement of Board Chairman Albert Bradley and President Harlow H. Curtice, both of whom have passed GM's normal retirement age of 65. In effect, Curtice's job as president and chief executive officer is being divided between Donner and Gordon.

Donner has been with General Motors since 1926; Gordon joined the corporation in 1923. Donner's work has been almost entirely in finance, Gordon's in engineering and production.

In the selection of the two new top executives, industry circles see an indication of the competitive battle GM anticipates in the post-recession period. It has been said in automotive circles that whenever a new president is named by General Motors an individual with precisely the talents needed at the time has been chosen.

Industry analysts say the battle ahead in which GM will seek to hold its dominating role in automotive production and sales will involve major problems in finance and engineering.

It was under Curtice's driving energy and his philosophy that General Motors "always must lead" that the far-flung corporation in 1955 became the first and only industrial enterprise to pile up more than a billion dollars in net profits for a single year.

General Motors did not duplicate the billion-dollar profit in 1956 or 1957, but held its leadership in the industry with nearly 51 per cent of over-all sales in 1956 and 48.66 in 1957. In the first half of the current year it had increased its sales to almost 49 per cent.

Generally it came through the recession that hit the car industry about a year ago in better shape than its major competitors.

Summer Soldiers At Ft. Polk

These three Big Springers are calling Ft. Polk, La., home for two weeks while taking summer training. Left to right, they are Lt. Robert Wheeler, Sgt. Kenneth Jones, and Cpl. Doyle Ford. They are members of the 350th Engineer Detachment (Utility) from Big Spring which is commanded by 1st Lt. Charles Hutchins of Westbrook. The three are working in the Post Engineer machine shop at Ft. Polk.

Ike Expected To Sign Security Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) —Administration sources said today President Eisenhower is expected to sign the bill increasing Social Security benefits by about 7 per cent.

Eisenhower may, however, strongly criticize provisions increasing the federal grant contribution to public assistance programs run by the states.

Persons in position to know said both the President and Secretary of Welfare Flemming have strong feelings against increasing the federal share in supporting such programs benefiting the aged, dependent children, the blind and totally disabled.

But these sources said it has been decided the merits of the legislation outweigh the demerits.

Though they did not mention it, this is an election year and praetical politics is a likely factor.

The principle demerit is described as the 198-million-dollar annual increase in the federal share of funds Congress voted for the federal-state public assistance program.

Points regarded as favorable include these:

1. Increased Social Security insurance benefits — establishing a new monthly minimum of $33 instead of $30 and a new maximum of $416 instead of $108.50 for eligible retired workers; also making possible a $127 maximum in the more distant future.

2. Strengthening the financing of the system by increasing the tax rate from 2¼ per cent to 2½ per cent on both employer and employe, enlarging the taxable base from $4,200 to $4,800 of a worker's annual earnings, and shortening the timetable for future tax increases.

3. Relating part of the federal share for public assistance to the financial ability of a state.

4. Simplifying administrative procedures for both the insurance and public assistance programs.

Maybe It's A Job For The ASPCA

NEW YORK (AP)—A fishy situation in a Bronx neighborhood has caused its residents to wonder, with bated breath, what next?

First it was a 300-pound, nine-foot shark. Slit down the belly, jaw and teeth removed, it was found lying on the pavement in the Bronx.

The Sanitation Department hauled the shark away.

The air had begun to clear when the Bronxites sensed something further amiss.

Hanging from a nearby lampost, 30 feet above the sidewalk, an eight-foot porpoise was found Monday night.

Once again, the Sanitation Department went to the rescue.

Fatally Stabbed

DALLAS (AP)—Dorothy Parker, 19, was fatally stabbed last night. A man, 27, told police the victim lunged at him with a knife, missed him and the blade plunged into her own leg. Doctors said the weapon severed an artery and the victim apparently bled to death in minutes.

Anglican Bishops OK Birth Control

LONDON (AP) — Bishops of the Anglican Church have endorsed birth control as a "right and important factor in Christian family life."

The leaders of the 40-million-member church took their revolutionary stand at the recent Lambeth Conference in London. Ninety American Episcopalian bishops were among the 300 attending the conference, whose decisions were announced today.

The decisions of the conference, held every 10 years, are intended to guide the churches of the worldwide Anglican communion but are not binding.

"It is utterly wrong," said the conference report endorsing birth control, "to urge that, unless children are specifically desired, sexual intercourse is of the nature of sin. It is also wrong to say that such intercourse ought not to be engaged in except with the willing intention to procreate children."

The report said the questions of how many children to have and at what intervals had to be decided by the parents, "in prayerful consideration of their resources, the society in which they live and the problems they face."

But the report cautioned that "couples who postpone having children until certain financial goals are reached, or certain possessions gained, need to be vigilant lest they are putting their own comfort ahead of their duty."

The report was drafted by a committee headed by the Episcopal bishop of Olympia, Wash., Dr. Stephen Bayne. The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, who presided at the conference's closed sessions, said it was the first time the Anglican communion had considered family planning by scientific means.

The bishops failed to agree unanimously on the moral problem of nuclear weapons. Dr. Fisher said a clear majority favored nations retaining such weapons until an international agreement could be reached to abolish them. But he said a substantial minority favored unilateral abolition of nuclear arms even before an agreement and felt their use was not morally justified in any circumstances.

420 Persons May Die Over Holiday

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council estimates 420 persons may be killed in traffic accidents during the long Labor Day weekend.

That is 70 deaths more than might be expected to occur during a non-holiday period this time of the year.

The council says the toll could be cut if every driver would reduce normal speed by at least 10 m.p.h., concentrate on a safe rather than quick arrival and not drive after drinking.

The holiday driving period extends from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Monday.

Yes, We Can Imagine, Too

DETROIT (AP)—Obie Carter, 50, a laid off auto worker, has drawn his first unemployment compensation check—a big one.

As father of three children he was due top benefits of $49 a week. But his check was for $9,998.99.

"I knew there was some mistake," said Carter, "but you can't imagine how much I hoped it was real."

The Employment Commission took the check back.

Just One Shock After Another

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A light plane pilot on a Sunday flight over the downtown section made an unpleasant discovery — the plane was out of gas.

Gliding for a dead stick landing on the dry Los Angeles River Bed, Robert Thorne had another rude shock—he didn't have enough altitude to clear the 75-foot high bridge.

So he flew under, and made a dandy landing and after refueling, he and passenger Ed Sobata took off for a nearby airport.

Scientist Dies

WOODS HOLE, Mass. (AP) — Dr. G. H. A. Clowes, 80, a noted scientist who was instrumental in the development of insulin and prominent in cancer research, died Monday. He served as director of research for Eli Lilly & Co., pharmaceutical manufacturisg firm from 1918 until he retired in 1945. He was born in England.

Trace Trinity Survey

Brig. Gen. William Whipple, right, and R. C. Baird, chief of the engineering section of the Southwestern Division of the Corps of Engineers, trace out plans in Dallas for a survey of the Trinity River. Funds for the survey to determine whether navigation on the Trinity River is economically feasible have been voted by Congress and the study should be completed by December 1960.

Red China Is Cracking Down On Moslems

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist China, which claims to support Moslem nationalism abroad, is cracking down on some 10 million Moslems at home.

Reports reaching Hong Kong tell of isolated uprisings by Chinese Moslems against the atheist regime. They speak of party purges, forced collectivization and criticism of Moslem nationalism in China.

Communist press reports said local Moselm leaders and priests last July incited more than 1,000 Hui tribesmen, one of the largest Moslem minority groups in China, to revolt. The tribesmen reportedly killed a Communist official in east China's Shantung province. The reports said the revolt was "resolutely crushed."

Nationalist sources said a full-scale revolt has broken out in Sinkiang province and that more than 10,000 well-armed Moslem Uighur tribesmen are fighting the Reds.

Ma Ching Nien, vice governor of northwest China's Kansu province, recently lashed out at Chinese Moslem provincial cadres in the Kansu daily newspaper. These groups, he said, take Communist China's "constitutional guarantee of religious freedom literally and allow people to preach as they please, build mosques everywhere and urge agriculture cooperatives to contribute to the upkeep of mosques."

Such behavior, Ma declared, "amounts in effect to the illegal practice of placing religion above the state."

Alaskans Ballot On Statehood Issue

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Alaskans decide today whether the northern territory is to be the 49th state.

The votes were being cast throughout the 586,400-square-mile territory in precincts with such names as Metlakatla and Chilkat, Pelican, Fox, Chicken and Eagle, Badger Road, Lincoln Park, North Pole and Turnagain by the Sea.

When all the votes are counted — and some of them won't be tabulated for a week — Alaskans are expected to have approved admission into the Union by a margin of at least 2-1.

Under terms of the admission act signed in July by President Eisenhower, such a vote will mean that a 49th star will be added to the nation's flag next year.

A presidential proclamation creating the newest and largest state — and the first to be admitted since New Mexico and Arizona entered the Union in 1912 — probably will be issued in late December or early January.

In anticipation of approval of the three statehood referendums, Alaskans also were voting today in a primary election to nominate candidates for the first state offices.

Republican and Democratic candidates for Alaska's first two seats in the U.S. Senate were assured nomination without opposition in the primary.

The two Democratic senatorial hopefuls who have no party contest in the primary are Alaska's long-time nonvoting delegate to Congress, E. L. (Bob) Bartlett of Juneau, and Earnest Gruening of Juneau, former Alaska governor who served 13 years as appointed territorial chief executive.

In a Nov. 25 general election, if statehood is approved, Gruening will oppose Republican Mike Stepovich of Fairbanks, the last appointed governor Alaska. R. E. Robertson of Juneau, a lawyer, is unopposed for the GOP nomination to face Bartlett in November.

There are also Democratic primary contests for one congressional seat, for the governorship and for secretary of state. Republicans have only one candidate for each of the three posts, and they are assured nomination.

The first of the three propositions in the special referendum balloting is the key to statehood. On that ballot, Alaskans marked an "X" to indicate yes or no to the question, "Shall Alaska immediately be admitted into the Union as a state?"

If a majority says "Yes," it appears the other two propositions will be approved by a similar margin. One of the other calls for acceptance of the territorial boundaries as the boundaries of the new state. The last one accepts for the new state 103,350,000 acres of public land, and reserves to the President the right to make military land withdrawals in periods of national emergency.

Statehood opposition has been based on the feeling that the thinly settled territory cannot support a state government. A federal survey estimated governmental costs to Alaska under statehood would increase by $1,350,000 a year.

House Fly Not Hurt By Germs

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Reporter

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — The house fly, bred in flight, has the peculiar ability to shed the disease-causing germs it lived with at birth, a University of Illinois researcher said today.

For this reason, the importance of disease carrying by flies born in refuse and other dangerous bacteria havens is probably slight, the researchers reported.

Dr. Bernard Greenberg, Illinois zoologist, traced the numbers of bacteria present in the house fly at various stages of its growth.

His report was presented at the American Institute of Biological Sciences meeting at Indiana University.

Flies lay eggs in such places as garbage, manure and sewage. The magots which soon hatch carry tens of millions of bacteria in their systems, Dr. Greenberg said.

But by the time the larva has formed its hard outer case, it has rid itself of about 90 per cent of this bacterial load.

When the fly finally emerges, it carried with it about 1,000 bacteria—five hundred on its surface and a similar number internally.

While the fly undoubtedly spreads some of these bacteria, it is not as serious a carrier as was earlier believed, Dr. Greenberg said.

Youthful Rocket Was Designed For 'Psychological Research'

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP)—You can come out now, earth people. That rocket from outer space came from a teen-ager's basement.

The thing turned up on Ruel H. Barrus' lawn last weekend —still smoking. It was a rocket-shaped aluminum cylinder 10 inches long and 3 across. Its crumpled nose was buried deep in the dirt, and its burned outer shell suggested the kind of heat a rocket might encounter on hitting the earth's atmosphere.

The find caused a stir in this east Idaho community, where flying saucer reports have turned up lately. The press played it big.

It was the publicity that flushed the worried engineers of the prank. Roy Bennell, 14, and Paul Napper, 15, decided to go to the cops before the cops came to them.

In a statement written out yesterday before police let them go, the boys explained: "This . . .was primarily a psychological experiment, to see what would happen if the reported flying saucers had actually fired a reconnaissance missile."

Paul and Roy, who dabble in amateur rocketry, chemistry and radio, said soberly they tried to make the device look as if it was propelled by an ion motor — "something yhich has not been developed on earth yet."

They burned the shell with acid and acetylene torch, to give it that air-fired look. They put a spring and glass vial inside, crumpled the nose, spooned in some yellow phosphorus to make it smoke, then dug a hole and planted it.

"All in all, the experiment was a success," they said. "The Police Department analyzed the remains quite thoroughly and had the construction of the rocket partially right."

Chimp Survives Hard Air Blast

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A chimpanzee has survived a wind blast tougher than any jet pilot faces in an emergency ejection.

That word came Sunday night from Col. John B. Stapp, chief of the aeromedical laboratory at Wright Air Development Center near here.

Stapp said the test took place at Holloman Air Force Base, N.M., early this month.

A special pressurized suit of dacron sailcloth, which enabled the chimp to survive, may help pilots escape safely from ultra high-speed aircraft, Stapp said.

Three other chimps which took the test died because their suits blew apart, he added.

The Holloman spokesman said all the animals were anesthetized before the tests.

Stapp, who said he thinks humans could survive the same test, told of the fourth chimp surviving a wind blast of 4,000 pounds per square inch at speeds of 1,400 m.p.h.

Pilots ejecting from the fastest jet in use would experience a wind blast of about 3,500 pounds per square inch, he said.

8 Persons Killed In Headon Crash

HARRISONVILLE, Mo. (AP)—Two cars collided on a curve in U. S. Highway 71 bypass yesterday, killing eight persons.

Two others were injured in the collision 4½ miles north of here.

Dead are: Andrew Boyd Jones, 34, Sun Valley, Calif.; his wife Letha, about 30; their children, Susie, 5, and Larry Gene, 9; Earl R. Jones, 52, Nevada, Mo., brother of Andrew Jones; Rickie Galloway, 5, Nevada, Mo.; Maurice Jones, 43, Kansas City, Mo.; and Norman Wayne Jones, 35, Huntington Park, Calif.

Mrs. Myrtle Allen Galloway, 25, Nevada, mother of Rickie and daughter of Earl Jones, and Leo Charles Jones, 14, son of Earl, were injured.

Maurice and Norman Jones, who were brothers, were in a southbound car. They were not related to the eight in the other auto.

Cause of the wreck wasn't known.

A Bible Thought For Today

If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the Spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified. (1 Peter 4:14)

Pleasant Time Of The Year

Our hemisphere received a good many intimations of an end to summer and the approach of autumn within the last two or three weeks.

And to us to whom fall is the grandest time of the year, the prospect is pleasing.

The rains of the past weeek over this area were, where adequate, miraculous. They added to the stagesetting for the advent of fall, and gave our farmers and ranchers high hopes for the immediate future.

In spite of the drudgery of cotton picking autumn has the most winning ways of all the four seasons.

The woods and the fields begin to turn, presaging that grand climax of the year—the laying on by the Master Painter of every color in the rainbow on vegetation, trees, scrub and hillside.

Spring is the time of sluggishness and the disinclination to do anything but loll around and daydream—at least for small boys. Summer is disagreeable and adds up to hard work in the fields. Winter is the time of sniffles, goosepimples and shoes that pinch too much.

But fall, the time of harvest, is the time of color, of sweet-sleeping nights, of invigorating air and voracious appetite for substantial food morning, noon and night.

It is a time for a pleasant calm instead of blustery winds. It is a time of rising ambitions, and a time for tackling all those things we've put off during the lazy summer.

Queens Die Proudly – But Die

She was born in 1936 and her price tab read $19 million. Last week, 22 years later, all the 834-foot length of her, all her twenty thousand tons of fighting might, was sold for $561,133 and no odd cents to a professional wrecking company.

She was, of course, the aircraft carrier Enterprise—the beloved "Big E" of Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey whose flagship she was. The ailing old admiral tried with might and main to preserve her for posterity by raising the million dollars necessary to put her in shape for berthing as a national shrine, but the current generation is more interested in guided missiles and supersonic bombers—and, in truth, properly so—than in obsolete types of carriers, so the rescue effort failed.

The "Big E's" rose as a mechanical heroine was as genuine as they get.

She knocked 911 enemy planes out of the Pacific skies, sank 71 ships and damaged 192 others, and in general played havoc with the Jap in the air, on the water and among shore installations.

Other craft, including a number of carriers large, medium sized and small, also made contributions to victory in heroic proportions, but the Big E epitomized them all as the mistress of the fleet.

The battleships are gone, and the carrier as it was known in WW II is on the way out. The Queen is dead. Long live the Queen! The new monarch will be the nuclear-powered submarine, capable of pulling within range of enemy shore installations, even remote ones, and giving them the works with guided missiles, launched either while surfaced or from the depths of the sea.

The Village Smithy Stands – No More

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow must have known a different breed of blacksmiths than the ones I recall from my youth.

His blacksmith (as every school child knows only too dern well) was a "mighty man." He was possessed of "large and sinewy hands" and "the muscles of his arms were strong as iron bands."

The blacksmith I encountered all seem to me to me to have been scrawny little characters, lean and hungry looking, colored deeply by the soot and smoke from their forges. They all seem to have been possesed of a droopy, melancholic moustache and generally needed a haircut and a shave. They wore leather aprons which were split up the middle (very handy when you were shoeing a horse) over a pair of overalls and an undershirt which was about as grimy as a garment could possibly be.

Usually their jaw was stuffed with a "chaw" of tobacco of such dimensions as to give their heads a lopsided appearance.

Longfellow's smithy was a rather romantic thing under its spreading chestnut tree—or that's what he says.

The blacksmith shops were usually ramshackle shanties, built of one-by-twelves stood up longways and the cracks between the boards were never covered. The building usually had a wide door in the front and sometimes a similar door at the rear. The forge was at the rear and the blacksmith coal which was used seemed to have been a special blend of tar, brimstone and other commodities possessed of a particular talent for giving off a lot of smelly smoke.

The bellows in the shops I used to visit didn't "roar" as did Mr. L's. They may have wheezed a bit where leaks had developed but you couldn't call it a roar.

Blacksmith shops I knew and the one Mr. Longfellow sings about did have one common likeness. They were exciting places to the kids of the neighborhood. We liked to hang around the shop and were not often seriously deterred by the gruff and very often profane advice from the dingy proprietor.

There was a strange fascination for youngsters in watching a red hot piece of metal being hammered into some useful shape. The blows of the sledge and the flying sparks bouncing off the floor provided a vivid scene. The flashing particles were brilliant against the smoked and ill-lighted interior of the shop. The sharp clang of the hammer against the metal was a familiar and somehow comforting sound.

No, my blacksmiths and the one Mr. Longfellow immortalized were not alike, but were an inevitable part of the town scene in those days. Now they are nearly extinct.

Huge shops with their whirring machines and their electric arcs have replaced them. The blacksmith shops for the most part have long since closed their slanting doors. The buildings have fallen in and the only mark left may be a few scattered rusting pieces of old iron; a battered horsehoe. Sometimes an anvil still stands awry to mark the spot.

Progress has driven them out. Unfortunately progress has not provided any replacement quite as picturesque and human.

Miracle Of Rockefeller's Candidacy

NEW YORK — The muckrakers of an era long gone had as their favorite target John D. Rockefeller and the Standard Oil Company which was invariably portrayed as a sinister monopoly suppressing the aspirations and hopes of ordinary men. As Rockefeller put together one of the greatest of American fortunes he became the symbol of what the radicals and agrarians of another day delighted in calling "the malefactors of great wealth."

That old John D's grandson, Nelson Rockefeller, should today be the Republican candidate for governor of New York — and, what is more, a liberal candidate who has a chance to win the support of left of center and minority groups—is one of the political miracles of our time. Merely as an heir to a fortune, Nelson Rockefeller would not today be running for one of the most important offices in the country. But he is also the inheritor of a tradition that has seen that fortune expand in the avenues of philanthropy and public service.

In his first try in politics at the age of 53 Rockefeller has cinched the nomination for governor. With a earnest determination that his grandfather would have admired, Nelson traveled most of New York's 62 counties seeking the support of the politicians who pick the candidate in this state without a primary. And with the help of some able advisers he pulled it off.

In the record of this remarkable family there is a great deal of the history of our times. Thanks to a complete change in emphasis on the responsibility for great wealth, aided and abetted by some of the most skilled public relations experts in the business, the image of old John D., as a malefactor of monopoly and privilege, has been transmuted into the image of Nelson as the warm-hearted, friendly American eager to put himself and his money to the best possible use for the good of the community.

He has already demonstrated that in the small towns of upstate New York as well as in the crowded streets of Harlem and the Bronx his friendly earnestness gets over. While he has been able to draw on the best professional advice he would not have a chance, as other very rich men have demonstrated before him, if it were not for the image he projects of a goodhearted man interested in the welfare of all. This is partly the result of a stern, almost puritanical upbringing, with his father, John D. Jr., insisting that he should never have more spending money nor more opportunities than the boys who were his friends in preparatory school and in Dartmouth College.

In the contest he will enter immediately after Labor Day the issue of great wealth would, quite regardless of his personality, be nullified by the fact that Governor Averell Harriman has at least as much money. They were both listed in the Fortune Magazine poll in the $100,000,000 class.

Harriman, too, thinks of himself as a Fair Dealer, although many liberals in the state complain that in his four years as governor in Albany he has grown more conservative. As an amateur turned pro, his critics say, he has tried to be more professional than the pros.

Each candidate has special advantages. The influence of the Rockefeller family in this metropolis would be hard to exaggerate. Not alone in industry, finance, advertising, and real estate but in art and philanthropy it is all pervasive.

Governor Harriman is rated as an average-to-good executive. But quite apart from the official record during his four years in office he has traveled all over the state attending county fairs and fish fries wherever the voters were gathered together.

The New York laws covering campaign expeditures are no obstacle to what the professionals, who spend the money, hope will become a "share the wealth" campaign. The candidate himself can spend no more than $40,000. But there is nothing to stop his relatives, friends and admirers from spending as much as they care to.

Both candidates are gentlemen. Each says that he wants to avoid a campaign of personal invective and attack. But each one adds that if the other starts it then he will be ready to follow through. In this golden sweepstakes anything can happen as a Harriman and a Rockefeller are set for the starter's gun.

At The Heart Of The Problem

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mob violence and the meaning of "all deliberate speed" are at the heart of the problem facing the Supreme Court in its special session Thursday.

What the court does will affect the integration situation at public schools throughout the South although it will actually be dealing only with events involving Little Rock's Central High School.

The court didn't say how it should be done when on May 17, 1954, it ordered an end to racial segregation in public schools. It clarified itself somewhat later — in 1955 — when it said integration must be carried out with "all deliberate speed."

It didn't say exactly what that meant. It left the task of interpreting "all deliberate speed" to the various federal district judges who were best able to know the problems and attitudes on integration in their districts.

It wasn't until 1957 that Federal Dist. Judge Ronald Davies ruled integration at Little Rock's Central High had to start in September of that year. This was after the school superintendent thought integration could be carried out peacefully.

But mob violence followed. Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus frustrated Davies' order by using National Guardsmen to keep Negroes out of Central High. And President Eisenhower used federal troops to back up Davies' order by seeing to it Negroes got into Central High. A year of tension and incidents followed.

At the end of the last school term the Little Rock school board went to another federal judge, Harry J. Lemley, and asked him to set aside Davies' order. Lemley agreed. He ordered integration at Central High delayed 2½ years.

Thus what seemed "all deliberate speed" to one federal judge seemed, in the light of events which followed, too fast to another judge. This meant mob action, if violent enough, could be expected to nullify an order to integrate.

The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People asked the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis to throw out Lemley's ruling. The circuit court did.

It did more. In strong language it said that to grant Lemley's kind of delay — as a result of mob violence — was to let a mob frustrate the will of the courts. The school board was ordered to continue integration at Central High.

But the board asked the Circuit Court to delay its order — by issuing a stay — until the board could appeal to the Supreme Court to overrule the Circuit Court and uphold Lemley.

The Circuit Court issued the stay, giving the board 30 days to appeal to the Supreme Court. But this stay meant Negroes could not start the new Central High term, then set to begin Sept. 2 but now postponed to Sept. 8.

Then the NAACP went directly to the Supreme Court to ask it to set aside the Circuit Court's stay order and thus let go into effect the Circuit Court's ruling that integration must be continued.

The Supreme Court can, without comment, throw out the stay order or let it stand. This would let the school board appeal to the nine justices later to uphold Lemley's 2½-year delay by overruling the Circuit Court's order to continue integration.

But the high court could, in effect, Thursday hear the full merits of the case—thus rendering a later appeal by the school board unnecessary — and take a full stand now for or against the Circuit ruling.

Yet, if the Supreme Court lets the Circuit Court's stay order continue in effect it will be agreeing to keep Negroes out of Central High when this year's school term starts.

If this happens, the Little Rock mob can rightfully claim that by its violence it forced the federal courts to back up. It's hard to see the Supreme Court letting itself get into that position.

A Man Of Many Faces

NEW YORK (AP) — "I don't believe in drifting," said Dick Powell, "and my only wish is that I'd been born smarter.

"Looking back on my career, ti seems like I was always fighting to get out of one thing and into another. I was always restless, and I still am."

A man with a deceptively easy-going air, Powell, now a kind of strolling Ft. Knox, has had a number of careers in his rise from saxophone player to top status as a movie and TV producer-director.

Bu even in his lean days Powell had a sturdy independence.

He recalled that 30 years ago, as a young unknown theater emcee, he turned down a chance to play opposite a promising actress. The actress was Janet Gaynor. The picture was "Seventh Heaven," and it made a star of Charles Farrell, who took the role Powell rejected.

"But I still think I was right," said Dick. "I wasn't quite ready for it."

Powell later fought and won the right to play tough guy roles after he starred in 35 musicals in 13 years, the memory of which still depresses him.

The slender tenor from Mountain View, Ark., is busier than ever. He will help supervise the filming of 150 television shows and he still has four full-length pictures to produce and direct under a contract with 20th Century-Fox.

What has been his biggest problem in adapting to his new career as a producer? Powell grinned wryly at his wife, actress June Allyson.

"It's trying to sell an actor on the idea that a proposed role is just right for him. I don't know why that's so difficult for me. After all, I was sold the same way dozens and dozens of times when I was an actor," he replied.

"I'm not exactly the promoting type of producer. I hate to put pressure on people, but sometimes you have to.

"But there's no greater satisfaction than taking a story and turning it into a completed picture. It's far more satisfying than just acting."

"People think Richard's a lot tougher and more practical than he really is," said June, who knows shorthand and says she acts as his secretary when they're traveling. "Underneath, he's a softie."

They relax with their children on a 50-acre ranch that lies within the city limits of Los Angeles. Dick still likes to play his saxophone, but most of his singing now is confined to bathroom arias.

One Version Of Rural Artistry

COLUMBUS, Ind. (AP) —A farmer near here finally agreed to let Mrs. William Menke paint his barn—but he has reservations about it.

The 26-year-old housewife and amateur artist said she'll paint the barn with "an abstract, whimsical farm scene" and the owner isn't quite sure just what she means.

Clean Pets

BURLINGTON, Ont. (AP)—Some people in this town near Hamilton say they prefer skunks to cats as pets because they are "excellent mousers as well as clean pets." The skunks, of course, are deodorized.

Beginning Young

ALAMOGORDO, N. M. (AP)—Local police aren't very anxious for a 13-year-old here to grow up. The youngster swiped a motor scooter after a professional change of plates and fled. When arrested he was packing a loaded .22 caliber six-shooter.

Friend For Life

SARNIA, Ont. (AP) — Michael Skelton, 9, made a friend for life when he rescued a deserted baby robin. Fed with eye-dropper and tweezers, the bird won't leave the Skelton's yard. His favorite perch is on Michael's shoulder.

Bad Month

ZIONSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — Young Bill Paton is considering just staying in bed all next May. In May 1956 he came down with the measles, in May 1957 he broke a bone in his foot while wrestling, and this May he suffered a fractured leg while playing basketball.

A Full Dinner For Just One Dollar

Well, sir, I rejoice with the rest of the nation that the H. C. of L. (living, in this context) has declined one-tenth of one per cent. At least, it so declined—statistically — all over the nation in July, with the single exception of Little Old New York, where it remained steady.

I first heard the glad tidings over the radio, which failed to note the exception in New York City. Thus began a frantic, six-hour search through the family budget for that extra, added 22 cents that should have showed up on the credit side. The evening papers arrived just in time to save the balance of my mind if not my budget.

Although a New Yorker living in New York could detect no clues of the above sharp decline in living costs and although the boost from 50 to 70 per cent in margin requirements on the stock market and the one-quarter per cent boost in the discount rate in the San Francisco Federal Reserve District carried no message for me—still and all, I had seen a sign and portent.

I have only myself to blame that I did not get a beat on this good news, which I picked up in the vicinity of Bretton Woods, N. H. The very fact that Bretton Woods has lent its name to monetary conferences that established the World Bank should have made me realize that I was on the trail of something big, big, BIG!

Probably it was just too big for me to comprehend. It was at Twin Mountains, N. H., on the edge of the Bretton Woods district, that I encountered, for the first time in more than 20 years, a table d'hote dinner, from soup to coffee, for one dollar, the tenth part of an X-note.

I interpreted this, alas, as a freak of the bill-of-fare rather than a financial trend. My only excuse is that I was too close to the table to see the trees.

To meet a dollar dinner, after so many years, in the small, clean dining room of a small, clean hotel was, in my own defense, a deeply emotional experience, especially in view of the fact that it was edible. Fortunately, in my pack-rat way, I saved the menu.

For $1, the customer had his choice of pea soup or fruit juice. Then, as a main course, he had his druthers either of (1) baked meat loaf with mushroom sauce, mashed potatoes, a fresh vegetable and a salad, or (2) spaghetti with meat balls (and really sizable meat balls, too) with salad and fresh vegetable. Then he had his pick of tea or coffee and of homemade pie, cake, or ice cream.

Many persons believe that to order meat loaf in a strange restaurant is to live as dangerously as to order hash. But I figured, how much indigestion can you get for a dollar? Anyway, I ordered the meat loaf and it was all meat and delicious, even if the mushroom sauce seemed shy of mushrooms.

(A woman, identified as the proprietress of the establishment was eating the spaghetti and meat balls at the next table. It looked awfully good and nourishing.)

The coffee was black and strong and the apple pie excellent. All in all, a splendid meal for a Roosevelt, a Truman or an Eisenhower dollar. And it might well have been The Good Old Days, except that the waitress wore a nylon uniform.

Why, if this trend continues, it may even bring back the nickel!

Atom Interest On Upsurge

NEW YORK (AP)—With American nuclear submarines making headlines on both sides of the Atlantic, industry is stepping up its interest in the atom on the home front.

Some commercial nuclear power plants already are in operation and others are being built.

And nuclear research reactors are operating at various points from one side of the nation to the other. Still more are being installed.

An operating nuclear research reactor built by Atomics International, a division of North American Aviation, is being set up in Geneva for the second International Conference on Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy, opening next week.

Six 10-watt nuclear research reactors are being built by that company at Canoga Park, Calif., for use by educational institutions and industrial research laboratories.

Curtiss-Wright has a general purpose nuclear installation at its research development center at Quehanna, Pa., offering laboratory and radiation services for industry.

It is building a reactor at Watertown, Mass., for the U. S. Army to test an atomic food irradiator. The aim is to process foods so that they may be kept fresh under field conditions for the military forces.

North American built a research reactor for Armour Research Foundation of Chicago. And American Machine and Foundry supplied one for Batelle Memorial Institute of Columbus, Ohio.

General Electric is negotiating with Washington State College at Pullman, Wash., for a research reactor.

In the field of atomic power plants, Westinghouse Electric will complete one in 1960 at Rowe, Mass., for the Yankee Atomic Electric Co., using experience gained in the plant in operation at Shippingport, Pa. It has under way a study with the Carolinas Virginia Nuclear Power Associates to find the type of reactor best suited to the group's needs.

North American Aviation will complete in 1961 nuclear power plants at Piqua, Ohio, and Hallam, Neb. And it has a research and development program under way on an advanced epithermal thorium reactor for the Southwest Atomic Energy Associates, representing 15 electric utility companies in Arkansas, Kansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas.

General Electric expects to have a 180,000-kilowatt nuclear power plant ready in two years for Commonwealth Edison near Chicago. It will build a nuclear steam supply system at Eureka, Calif., for Pacific Gas & Electric. The utility will also use power generated at GE's Vallecitos nuclear laboratory in California, which will be completed this fall.

Expense has been the chief deterrent to rapid growth of the civilian use of the atom. Conventional power utilities see the day far off when nuclear power will be competitive. But starts are multiplying.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

It would be a mistake to take former Secretary of Defense Wilson and retired Gen. James M. Gavin at their own estimates of each other. In each case their opinions are obviously mere hearsay evidence.

Charlie Wilson is not the most persistently ignorant man ever to ride herd over the Pentagon, as the general more than implies. Nor may General Gavin be dismissed as just another overly inflated Army officer, as the motor magnate urges us.

Brushing aside the exchange of insults, the public can get down to the net of the argument between them. This is made possible by publication in part in Life magazine of the general's memoirs, "War and Peace in the Space Age."

Our country, as the general writes, is in mortal danger. It always has been. It always will be, even if its defense policies tracked the general's ideas down to his last jot and title.

It is clear now that the Soviets outran us in the race to perfect rockets and missiles. But the blame does not lie in civilian officials charged with administering the defense system as set up by Congress. The fault lies, rather, in the maze of laws, rules, regulations and interservice rivalries which have passed for such a system.

22-Ton Statue

ROSEMERE, Que. (AP) — A bronze statue of Christ, weighing 22 tons, has been erected on the main tower of the provincial house of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart here. The 22-foot statue was cast by a foundry in St. Croix, Que.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Just a year ago a citizen of the little town of Clinton, Tenn., approving the conviction by a local jury of 16 members of a racist mob, commented to a reporter:

Folks around here are dead set against integration, but they believe in law and order.

Here, in epigram, is the South's deep problem and one great reason for faith that the South will work it out.

Seven church-associated organizations, including the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America, have just published in pamphlet form 46 quotations from pertinently recent editorial pages of southern and border state newspapers. The reasoned attitude of several of the major papers is already familiar. We have selected a few quotes from some of the lesser-known published right where opposition to public school desegregation is presumably most passive:

What many citizens of the non-South do not realize is that all over this broad region decent and good men, respectful of the rights of all mankind, are earnestly seeking to work out the problem without permitting the extremists to resort to violence.—Macon News, Macon, Ga.

The opposition to integration does not, as some characters would like to believe, give anyone or any group a license to destroy or terrorize—Moultrie Observer, Moultrie, Ga.

Only the lunatic, venom-spouting fringe in Alabama condones the burning of crosses.—Lee County Bulletin, Auburn, Ala.

We can solve our problem without vulgarity and violence. Our national esteem is at stake here at home and abroad.—Anniston Star, Anniston, Ala.

Mob rule has no place in our country. —The State, Columbia, S. C.

There can be no condoning of violence as a means of thwarting the Supreme Court's ruling. — Delta Democrat-Times, Delta, Miss.

Under the reign of law and order and of reason this nation can work out a new pattern of accommodation between the races, tolerable and ultimately satisfactory to both.

FEMININE TREND

RENAISSANCE LOOK

Men Applaud As Paris Rediscovers Female Form

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

The new Paris fashions for fall prove once and for all that men have the final word as to what women wear.

Masculine howls heard 'round the world have effected the swift demise of the gunnysack dress, and this season women can look like women once more without the fear of looking old-hat.

French designers, quick to scent global revolt, go back to feminine curves, flattering drapery and even ackowledge a few normal waistlines this fall. Late day and evening dresses have frivolous full skirts and revealing tops when short, soft, figure-flattering, slender lines when long.

A group of newcomers in the Paris haute couture adds the fillip of youth to the new collections and provides enough variety of silhouette to please every woman and her husband.

The danger of a return of the flat-chested, rolled-stockinged era of the 1920s seems averted by fast cloak-and-scissors work on the part of the Paris couture, egged on by angry men on both sides of the Atlantic.

When the new French fashions are toned down and adapted by American manufacturers, it's safe to predict that women will covet and men will admire the new fall clothes.

The Feminine Trend is illustrated here in the coat designed by Pierre Cardin, sensation of the Paris fall collections. This is a flattering coat in light blue wool, with cartridge pleating to accent the bosom, and dramatic ruff collar.

Of the Renaissance Look is this dress of brown wool tweed with arched shoulder line and panel. Designed by Yves Saint-Laurent, successor to the late Christian Dior, the model shows the lengthened hemline and lifted belt.

HD CLUBS

The Home Demonstration Clubs will meet at 1 p.m. Friday at the First Presbyterian Church, Fellowship Hall, for a covered dish luncheon. Delegates to the state meeting in Austin will present highlights of that event.

Alathean Class Has Weiner Roast At Park

An outdoor party for the Alathean Class, First Baptist Church, took the form of a weiner roast, Monday evening.

Eight members and the teacher, Mrs. Clyde Angel, gathered informally at the City Park for the fete.

Guests were Mrs. Angel's mother and niece, Mrs. G. W. Tate and Jennie Tate of Lubbock.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

Today was a big day for all the little 6-year-old boys and girls. . . they got registered in public school for the first time. I would venture to say that in most homes there was a hustle and bustle to get the vaccination certificate located and of course there is always the last minute scramble for the birth certificate or an affidavit saying the child was born on or before Sept. 1, 1952.

* * *

MRS. DAKIN WILLIAMS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Croft, is here visiting her parents. The Williamses are stationed at Scott Field near Bellville, Ill. She will be here until Sept. 6.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. BILLY R. WATSON are expected to return this weekend from Louisville, Ky., where they have visited her parents. They will be accompanied home by their children, David and Debra, who have spent the past month with their grandparents.

* * *

Back from a week's vacation in Ruidoso, White Sands and Juarez, are MR. AND MRS. PAUL SOLDAN, Kathleen, Paul Jr., and Christine. In El Paso they visited briefly with a friend, Mrs. Anna Ruhrup, who is a former resident of Big Spring and was spending some time in El Paso with a daughter. Mrs. Ruhrup makes her home in Neenah, Wis., with another daughter.

* * *

The past weekend was a big one for MRS. MINNIF ALLSMAN, who was in Brussels, Belgium, for the World's Fair. She was fortunate enough to make connections with a nephew and his wife who are stationed in Weisbaden, Germany, just for this weekend when they, too, were to be in Brussels.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. A. A. PORTER spent the weekend in Lubbock with their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Porter, and a most importunate weekend it was. Tommy received his master of science degree from Texas Tech. His sister, Lynn, who is employed by Shell Oil Co. in Roswell, came over for the occasion.

* * *

MR. AND MRS. JOHN FREEMAN, Edith and Johnny, left today for Cloudcroft where they will stay until Friday.

In Sulphur Springs, Okla., for vacation are MR. AND MRS. H. V. CROCKER and their children. They expect to return here Sept. 1.

* * *

Mrs. Don Page and her two children have returned to their home in Borger after visiting her parents, MR. AND MRS. GERALD DUNCAN.

The Duncans plan to leave Friday for Marion, Ind., where they will be guests of his aunts. They plan to be away for three weeks.

* * *

When MR. AND MRS. BEN ERWIN and their children were in Portland, Ore., recently they met some new members of the family. Her brother and his wife have adopted two children and this was the Erwins' first meeting with them. En route to Oregon the family stopped in Greeley, Colo., to see her parents and spent some time at their cabin in Estes Park.

School Budget Up For Public Hearing Today

Public hearing on a proposed $1,983,540 budget for the Big Spring Independent School District will be held at 7:30 p.m. today at the administrative offices.

School board members will also deal with other matters following the hearing.

The $60,000 disparity between gross income estimated at $1,920,000 and the disbursement totals, will come out of a current $109,000 balance. The proposed budget envisions $890,000 (up by $218,00) from local taxes, $950,000 (up by $218,000) from the local taxes, $950,000 (up by $60,000) from the state, and $80,000 (up $19,000) from the federal government.

Major items of cost are instruction $1,319,277 (up $148,531), operation $142,700 (up $23,700), plant maintenance $60,500 (up $15,000), administration and business expense $100,000 (up $16,000), athletics $73,500 (up $21,500). Health service and fixed charges will be up by about $13,000.

Debt service will call for $182,688, or $36,674 more than the current year.

Most of the increases result from activiation of Goliad Junior High. This will add $78,000 in teacher salaries, $15,000 in athletic equipment and supplies, $9,000 in fixed charges (insurance) alone, not to mention more operation, maintenance and equipment expense. Anticipated increase in high school enrollment is adding $49,000 in teacher salaries there. While the budget anticipates sharp increase in the number of faculty members, it does not provide increased rate of pay for teachers.

Negro Youth Group Pushes Drive In Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—With encouragement from their national director, members of a Negro youth group planned to step up their efforts to obtain service at a downtown luncheonette today.

Integration efforts also began to pop up in other sections of Oklahoma. Negroes said they would seek food service in Chickasha and NAACP attorneys filed two suits in Muskogee.

Eighty-five Negro children and five adults maintained an all-day vigil in the luncheonette of John Brown's Department Store yesterday, seeking service alongside whites.

For the third straight day, management refused them.

One elderly white man bought 10 dishes of ice cream and offered it to the young Negroes. They refused it, saying, "We'd better not."

The man declined to give his name. He said he feared "mob action."

The national director of the NAACP's Youth and College Division released a statement from New York in which he said, "We are proud of the young people of Oklahoma City."

The director, Herbert L. Wright, said, "There is nothing more humiliating or embarrassing for Negroes than to be refused service at a lunch counter . . . where whites are served."

At Chickasha, restaurant owner David Ferguson said he received a letter from the president of the Chickasha NAACP Youth Council saying 20 members would enter his establishment this week.

He said he didn't intend to serve them.

At Muskogee, two suits were filed in U.S. District Court by NAACP attorneys in behalf of children of Eram and Liberty school districts.

One suit alleged an agreement between the Eram and Morris districts affecting transfer of students. It charged a student graduated from Eram Elementary School had been denied transfer to Morris High.

The second suit alleged the principal of the Anderson Elementary School is using his influence on parents of Negro children to prevent their children from leaving the Anderson school to attend others.

Satellite Disappearance Is Still A Cosmic Mystery

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The disappearance of Explorer V still was an apparent mystery today. The Army forged ahead with plans for two more satellite launchings.

The Army still had no official comment on the cause of the latest failure two days after a powerful Jupiter-C rocket roared skyward on what appeared to be a perfect launching.

One spokesman said it may take several more days before complete telemetry reports on the flight are analyzed and the answer found. The military usually withholds these announcements.

In the only activity Monday, a Snark intercontinental guided missile blasted into the night on the start of a 6,000-mile journey across the Atlantic. The trip toward target took about 10 hours. The results of the test were not announced.

The 69-foot Snark, was fired by crewmen of the 556th Guided Missile Squadron of the Strategic Air Command.

The 556th probably will be assigned as the first Snark operational unit which is expected to be set up soon at Presque Isle, Maine.

Explorer V was equipped to probe the far reaches of a severe radiation field now being investigated by Explorer IV as it whirls through space.

Scientists need more detailed information about the radiation belt so they can protect the first space travelers against the bombardment of the rays.

Scientists already have learned that the rays double in intensity every 60 miles, but the cause, extent and type of radiation still is not known.

The radiation belt starts about 600 miles in space. Where it ends is not known.

Texas Mice Live 37 Days In Sealed 'Space' Capsule

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Two dwarf mice from Texas lived for 37 days in an imitation space chamber on oxygen produced by green algae, it was reported today.

The mice are still alive and well, but the method of providing their oxygen isn't practical—at least at present—for any space project involving man, the report said.

The mice were provided with everything they needed to exist in their space capsule—food, water and oxygen.

Their "space ship" was a small, tightly sealed chamber in a University of Texas laboratory, closely watched by Dr. Jack Myers and his assistant, research scientist Ruth Doney.

If man does get into space, he'll need at least 600 quarts of oxygen a day to survive, Dr. Myers said. But the very weight of the oxygen provision in tanks for several days flight would be prohibitive.

Perhaps sometime in the future the use of green algae to recycle the oxygen supply might be practical. The algae consume carbon dioxide and turn out oxygen. The researchers constructed an algae chamber for the mice but it would take an awful lot of the green water plants to supply enough oxygen for man.

Dr. Myers' report was prepared for presentation to the American Institute of Biological Sciences, meeting on the Indiana University campus.

Bascom Giles Serving Term Day By Day, 'Doing Best'

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Former State Land Commissioner Bascom Giles says he is serving his term in the state penitentiary day by day "and doing my best."

Giles, at one time one of Texas' most highly regarded public officials, would not comment on the announcement that he would be released on Dec. 6.

He was sentenced to six years in prison for bribery in connection with the veterans land scandals while he was land commissioner.

"I am doing my time day by day and doing my very best," was all he would say for publication in an interview yesterday.

Chairman Jack Ross of the Pardons Board said Friday Giles' release had been advanced because of blood donations. Prisoners are not allowed to donate more than one pint of blood each year unless there are emergency calls. But Giles donated a pint of blood in January and another pint in June when a nearby tuberculosis hospital put out an emergency call. It was his fourth such donation since he was imprisoned.

Giles also is a prison trusty. He works as a bookkeeper in a warehouse outside the prison walls and receives credit on his sentence for that work.

As a result of the various credits, his release date now has been advanced to Dec. 6, 1958, when he will have served two years, 11 months of his sentence.

Tre pardons board twice has refused to grant him a parole.

Grand Jury May Report Today

Howard County grand jury, convened on Monday, pushed ahead with its work today and is expected to make its final report to the court sometime late this afternoon.

Twenty complaints, including two charges of murder with malice, were on the jury agenda for its current session. Officers who are assisting the grand jury, said the panel was well down the list and should complete investigation of the cases early Tuesday afternoon.

It will take sometime to draw up the indictments and vote on the complaints, the officials explained.

First case investigated by the grand jury was the murder of Clayton Stewart, 87-year-old Forsan rancher. Ralph Gilbert, 21, ranch-hand, is charged with the crime and has been held in the county jail here since June 17.

Burglaries Reported

An irregular pattern of burglaries occurred here Monday night, with everything from food to power tools being taken.

Two expensive power wrenches were taken from the Garland Sanders building at 600 E. 2nd during the night in addition to a tool box filled with equipment. Burglars used a side door to gain entrance.

At the First Methodist Church, burglars helped themselves to food in the church kitchen in addition to taking some money. The kitchen was well littered with food particles left by the burglars, police officers said.

Also taken from the church was about $6.50 in change. The building was open, but a glass was broken out of an office door to get to the money.

On the North Side, the Jumbo Cafe No. 2, at 305 NW 4th, was burglarized, and a dozen cans each of beer and soft drinks were taken. Police officers said the burglars entered through a window over the grill.

The Cosden Service Station at Eleventh and State was the fourth place burglarized. There, burglars got 25 pennies after they entered from an east window. The cigarette machine appeared to have been bothered, but not burglarized.

Chinese Reds Push Attacks On Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Communists bombarded Quemoy in furious bursts for the fourth straight day today, again increasing the volume of shells poured into the little Chinese Nationalist outpost island.

The bombardment which some officials feared was a prelude to invasion of the Nationalist offshore islands, began with about 80,000 shells over the weekend but subsided Monday to some 2,900 shots. Today the Reds stepped up the tempo again.

In three rounds of shelling from the nearby mainland beginning shortly after midnight, the Communists hit Quemoy and the nearby Tan Islets about 930 times, the Nationalist Defense Ministry said. Then in 2 hours and 40 minutes of early afternoon some 5,500 shells crashed down on the heavily fortified islands.

With the U. S. 7th Fleet already on the alert, a landing force of 1,600 men from the 3rd Marine Division was ordered to sail from Singapore. The destination of the four attack transports and four accompanying ships was not disclosed, but it was assumed they were moving closer to Formosa.

The 7th Fleet is pledged to protect Formosa but not necessarily Quemoy or the offshore islands. Officials in Washington said close watch was being kept on the setup in the Communist attack.

Maj. Gen. Thomas F. Moorman, commander of the U. S. 13th Air Force based in the Philippines, visited Formosa for talks with top Nationalist and U. S. military assistance officers.

Nationalist authorities were paying increasing attention to the possibility that the Communists would try to seize Tungting Island, 17 miles south of Quemoy. The Defense Ministry said two Red attempts Sunday to land troops on the tiny, rocky island were repulsed by Nationalist warships. Officials suspected, however, that the Communists might not have given up.

Tungting is used by the Nationalists to keep tab on ships trying to sneak out of Amoy, the Communist port opposite Quemoy, so Nationalist warships can be alerted to intercept them. Its capture would help the Reds evade Nationalist blockades. The island is believed fairly well fortified and garrisoned by the Nationalists.

Auditorium Work Chief Item For Commission Meet

Improvements to the city auditorium will be one of the principal items of business to face the City Commission when it meets tonight for its regular bi-weekly meeting.

The commission will meet in the council chamber of the city hall at 5:15 p.m.

A report will be given on progress of the auditorium repainting job which is now under way. Also, the city manager, H. W. Whitney, plans to report to the commissioners on prices he has received on draperies.

He is still accepting prices on commission doesn't plan to let the sale contract at this time.

Whitney also plans to ask the commission about other improvements to the building including purchase of some spotlights and changes to the central electrical control panel on the stage.

In other matters, the commission may purchase a car for the police department and a new pickup for the water department.

Citizens have asked that the block of W. 9th between Bell and Lancaster be opened for traffic, and the commission will consider this request. Also the city has received a request that an alley be closed.

Thugs Pull Crime Spree

DALLAS (AP) — Thugs in a black sedan held up a drive-in, shot a youth riding a motorcycle and fired pistol shots into a car last night.

Robbed at pistol point in a drive-in was Kay Lynn, 15, woman attendant. She said two burly men in their early 20's entered while she was alone in the cafe, and was forced to hand over about $25. They escaped in a dark sedan.

Minutes later David Hoag, 16, was wounded in the left arm by one of three pistol slugs which whistled over his motorcycle.

Hoag told police four or five young men in a black sedan drove up beside his motorcycle, growled something he could not understand, and fired three times with a pistol.

A motorist, Kalman Stampf, 20, escaped injury when four men in a black sedan pulled up beside him in traffic and fired several shots.

Bullets shattered window glass and punctured a rear fender of his car.

Bar Postpones Court Lens Action

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The American Bar Assn. has postponed action on a proposed rephrasing of Judicial Canon, 35 which bans courtroom photography, television and broadcasting.

The action was taken by the association's delegates yesterday on a postponement recommendation from the board of governors.

North Borden Wildcat Flows Oil And Gas From Two Zones

A Borden County wildcat flowed oil from one zone and gas from another on drillstem tests Monday and another test was due in one of the zones, the Strawn, today.

The wildcat is Hudson & Hudson No. 1 Clayton & Johnson about 10 miles north of Gail. On a test in the Strawn, it produced oil at an estimated rate of flow of 20 barrels per hour cut 20 per cent water, and then from the Mississippian, it flowed 5,500 feet of gas, and some oil-cut mud.

In Dawson, The Texas Seaboard No. 1 Nowell wildcat encountered salt water in the Spraberry on a test and is now drilling ahead. It is 10 miles southeast of Lamesa.

Borden

Moncrief No. 1 Miller, C NE SW, 32-30-6n, T&P Survey, prepared to resume testing in the Ellenburger after moving off rotary. The exploration is seven miles northeast of Gail.

Cheyenne No. 1 Clayton-Johnson flowed oil this morning at a rate of 15 barrels per hour through an unreported choke after operator perforated the Fusselman from 9,716-36 feet. The indicated strike is C SW NE, 40-32-4n, T&P Survey, and 10 miles north of Vealmoor.

Pierce, Davis & Stillwagon, a wildcat eight miles southeast of Gail, made hole in lime and shale at 8,392 feet. It is C NE NE, 135-25, H&TC Survey.

Operator prepared to resume tests in the Pennsylvanian at the Shell No. 1 Miller wildcat 12 miles northeast of Gail, C SW NW, 527-97, H&TC Survey.

Twelve miles southwest of Gail, Lone Star No. 1 Porter deepened at 9,267 feet in lime. It is C NE SE, 9-32-4n, T&P Survey.

Operator prepared to run a straddle packer drillstem test in the Strawn today at the Hudson & Hudson No. 1 Clayton & Johnson after finding oil in that zone and oil in the Mississippian Monday on tests.

The Strawn test was from 8,417-31 feet with tool open two hours. Gas surfaced in 10 minutes, mud in 48, and oil in 50. For the remainder of the test, it produced at a 20-barrel-an-hour rate cut 20 per cent water. The Mississippian test was from 8,518-43 feet, with tool open one hour. Recovery was 5,500 feet of gas and 95 feet of oil-cut mud.

The wildcat is 10 miles north of Gail and a mile southwest of the Dunigan field discovery well. Drillsite is 915 from north and 330 from east lines, 30-30-6n, T&P Survey.

Dawson

Texas Seaboard No. 1 Nowell was drilling ahead today after recovering 270 feet of gas-cut mud and 2,130 feet of salt water on a three-hour drillstem test in the Spraberry from 6,730-930 feet. Drillsite is C SW NE, 35-34-5n, T&P Survey.

Garza

American Liberty No. 7 McCrary, in the Northwest Justiceburg field, pumped 76 barrels of oil and 40 per cent water on 24-hour final test. It is 660 from north and 1,980 from west lines, 130-5, H&GN Survey. Total depth is 2,530, and top of the pay zine is 2,432. Perforations are from 2,473-88.

Howard

Tidewater No. 1 Mrs. Noel Lester, in the Oceanic (Pennsylvanian) field about 19 miles northwest of Big Spring, drilled in lime and shale at 3,362 feet. It is a 9,000-foot project C SW SW, 27-33-3n, T&P Survey, and a mile west of production in the field.

Amerada No. 1 Blanche Lester, a wildcat eight miles southwest of Big Spring, made hole at 7,568 feet in shale. The 10,500-foot venture is C NE SW, 41-33-1s, T&P Survey, and a mile south of the shallow Moore field.

Fleming, Fleming & Kimbell staked the No. 3 Southland Royalty Co. venture in the Snyder field about 6½ miles south of Coahoma. Drillsite is 990 from north and 2,310 from east lines, 26-30-1s, T&P Survey, and it will drill to 3,200 feet.

Martin

Humble No. 1 McKaskle, C NE NE, 12-35-1n, T&P Survey, was bottomed at 7,117 feet in shale and trying today to regain lost circulation. It is a Devonian wildcat about 15 miles west of Big Spring.

C. City Votes On Urban Renewal

COLORADO CITY — Voters were recording a decision here Tuesday on whether Colorado City will enter into the urban renewal program for community development and improvement.

If the issue carries, the city commission will proceed with additional planning for the possibility of setting up an Urban Renewal project here. The matter has been under study by the commission for several months and at a recent public hearing, prior to calling the election, no one appeared in opposition.

No decisions as to what may be attempted can be made unless and until voters approve the city entering into the program, explained Mayor Crawford Trevor. Before final action is taken the proposed improvements or developments will be aired in public hearing. Under urban renewal, the federal government advances $2 for each $1 by the local agency (city) toward the net cost. Long term FHA loans, up to 40 years in some cases, are available for some individuals desiring to make residential or business improvements within the renewal area. Some more than 117 Texas cities, including Stanton, are in some stage of the urban renewal program.

MARKETS

WALL STREET

NEW YORK (AP) — Drugs made some gains in an uneven stock market early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to about a point.

The tendency was slightly higher.

Drugs were spurred by some favorable Wall Street reports lately. Motors shaded off as the labor situation in Detroit continued uncertain. Steels, rails, nonferrous metals, chemicals and oils were mixed.

Some small gains appeared among electronics and aircrafts.

Merck rose more than a point, and Pfizer was a one-point gainer.

General Motors eased in the wake of news of its top executive changes.

U. S. Steel was about unchanged. The steels paused following the good advance of Monday.

Radio Corp., and Douglas Aircraft added fractions.

Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio and Santa Fe were small gainers in the rail group.

U. S. government bonds drifted lower.

Corpus Delegate Will Seek Mrs. Randolph's Removal

HOUSTON (AP) —A Corpus Christi delegate to the Sept. 9 state Democratic convention said today he plans to offer a resolution seeking the removal of Mrs. R. D. Randolph of Houston as Texas national committeewoman.

Ted Anderson, a former member of the State Democratic Executive Committee said the resolution charges that Mrs. Randolph "has defected in the course of her duties to such an extent that she has led a splinter group (Democrats of Texas) in opposition to the Democratic party in an attempt to destroy that party, rendering herself useless to the party she purports to represent."

Mrs. Randolph said she believes the resolution will not pass.

"He can bring it up but I doubt it will be passed," she said. "I can only be removed by the national committee. Mr. Anderson's charges of disloyalty are interesting — because I have always supported the nominees of the Democratic party at every level."

Mrs. Randolph said she has never voted for a Republican.

"I even had to pull the (voting machine) lever on Gov. (Allan) Shivers a couple of times," she said. "I don't know Mr. Anderson but I suspect he has voted Republican at one time or another."

Mrs. Randolph is chairman of the DOT, which claims it represents the national party line more clearly in Texas than the regular organization headed by Gov. Price Daniel.

Anderson said the removal of Wright Morrow, Houston attorney, as national committeeman furnishes a precedent for his resolution.

Anderson said Mrs. Randolph's activities have been diametrically opposed to the party's activities.

"She has been leading a minority movement that is trying to get control of the Democratic party," he said.

He said he believes a majority of the state committee will favor Mrs. Randolph's removal.

Teacher Backs Federal System

MILWAUKEE (AP)—An official of the American Federation of Teachers today suggested that the federal government provide schools where states do not have integrated schools.

Selma M. Borchardt, the AFT's Washington representative, made the suggestion in a speech prepared for the federation convention.

She suggested that "we call upon the President of the United States to establish schools on federal property and call upon the proper authority to conduct such schools until the state provides for free public schools to be open for all entitled to attend."

"The 1954 unanimous decision of the United States Supreme Court, holding that segregation in the public schools of our country is unconstitutional, is being defiantly ignored," she said.

"We as teachers are deeply concerned over this issue. First, we are alarmed over the widespread acceptance of organized civil disobedience—subversion of government, in fact.

"We also are disturbed by the moral and social significance of a movement which would deny the protection of our country's laws to citizens because of race or color."

Yarborough, Wife On Way To Texas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. and Mrs. Ralph Yarborough were en route to Texas today by auto. They left Washington yesterday.

Yarborough will speak Friday at the Texas Electrical Co-Op state convention in Lubbock.

The same afternoon he will speak at the Plains Cotton Council meeting in Lubbock and plans to attend the asnual reunion in Roaring Springs, Tex., of the Motley-Dickens County Old Settlers Assn.

Faculty Begins Workshop, Pre-Registration Underway

Teachers are administrators, told the first general faculty and staff-wide meeting Tuesday morning. This was the kick off for workshops which will continue through Friday.

In the final analysis it is the teacher who must administer the educational processes, he declared. Parsons listed 20 attributes of leadership, understanding and protection which go into making a good administrator.

"If you have 15 of these you are a good administrator," he said. "If you have 20, you had better tune your harp and trim your wings. If you have less than 10 you'd better apply for coaching where your hide will have to be tough anyway."

Less than half a dozen teachers and staff members were absent from the session at Howard County Junior College auditorium. Greetings were brought from the professional organizations, and from Clyde Angel, school board president, and Bill Quimby, Chamber of Commerce manager.

In a brief business session, teachers voted to be 100 per cent in membership in National Education Association, Texas State Teachers Association and Classroom Teachers Association. They authorized the business office to deduct for the memberships, one half in October and one half in November.

Registration began at 1 p.m. Tuesday for all first graders and other elementary school children entering the local system for the first time. Both Runnels and Goliad Junior High schools registered and issued schedules to seventh graders at 1 p.m. today, and will follow suit for eight graders at the same time Wednesday and ninth graders on Thursday afternoon. Goliad students are registering at the HCJC student union building.

Republican Claims Demos Blocked Labor Measures

CHICAGO (AP)—Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa) told members of the Republican National Committee today that Democratic leaders in Congress blocked all labor legislation this year to please union bigwigs.

"Walter Reuther, David McDonald and other bigwigs in the labor hierarchy did not want restrictions imposed on their reckless activities," Simpson said, "so they simply passed the word down to those who serve them in the Senate and the House."

Simpson, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, echoed a keynote sounded earlier by GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn for this fall's campaigns.

Alcorn said before the two-day meeting of the party's 147-member National Committee that the failure of Congress to pass any measure to curb labor racketeering "is a dramatic demonstration of the need for a Republican Congress."

The National Committee laid plans for intensive campaign efforts on behalf of party candidates for Congress during September and October.

The GOP National Finance Committee met concurrently to discuss fund-raising.

A site committee to select the 1960 national convention city will be chosen tomorrow. No steps toward selection of a convention city are expected to be taken immediately.

Alcorn said that he and Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler have conferred on the possibility that conventions of both parties be held in the same city.

Virginia's Last Stand Shifts To U.S. Courtroom

HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP) — Virginia's last-ditch legal maneuvering to avoid mixing of the races in public schools shifted today to a federal courtroom in this Shenandoah Valley town.

Attorneys for the Charlottesville school board planned to ask Judge John Paul to declare valid a new school district created under the board's local pupil assignment plan. All 30 Negro applicants to the city's white schools, which open next Tuesday, live in the new district.

Two developments darkened segregationist hopes of legally averting racial integration without having to resort to the state's declared policy of closing integrated schools.

The State Pupil Placement Board denied the applications of all Negroes seeking entry to White schools in Arlington and Newport News.

At Norfolk, Federal Dist. Judge Walter E. Hoffman instructed the city school board to re-examine 151 applications from Negro pupils which it turned down last week.

LITTLE HOPE

There appeared little hope of resolving any part of the conflict here in the light of Judge Paul's earlier statement that the new Charlottesville school district appeared to be a case of gerrymandering and that he would be inclined to ignore it if and when he made pupil assignments.

In a ruling Aug. 11 Paul said Negro applicants should comply with the city's pupil assignment plan but if this plan proved discriminatory he might take over the assignments himself.

While Judge Hoffman has said he would not take over assignments in Norfok, he made it plain yesterday what he considered improper grounds for denying Negro applicants. He ordered the school board to re-examine the 151 applications and report back to his court Friday.

Hoffman particularly stressed 16 applications which he said were turned down solely because of the racial factor.

He advised the board that should they assign one or more Negroes to white schools and feel the need of relief from a recent Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals injunction enjoining the board from carrying out its local pupil placement plan, it could ask him for such relief.

PATHS OPENED

The action of the State Pupil Placement Board in denying all Negro applicants to Arlington and Newport News schools appeared to pave the way for a new round of legal maneuvering in both areas.

Attorneys for the Newport News school board contend Judge Hoffman's original desegregation order no longer applies to Greater Newport News since the July 1 merger of that city with neighboring Warwick. Attorneys for 8 Negro applicants to white schools say it does.

School board members in Arlington just across the Potomac River from the nation's capital, have expressed uncertainty whether the 1957 desegregation order of Federal Judge Albert Bryan naming seven Negro children still applies to the 1958 session. Bryan will probably be asked to clarify this point upon his return from a European trip next week.

Bryan held last year that Negro applicants did not have to comply with the state pupil placement law. This law was amended by the State Legislature, however, and Arlington school board members took the position this summer that Bryan's ruling was no longer valid.

Castro Aide Held For Gun Running

JEFFERSON, Tex. (AP) — Antonio del Conde, a frustrated gun-runner who says he's with Cuban Rebel Fidel Castro "all the way," sat in a county jail today facing new illegal arms charges.

Del Conde, 32, a New York-born Mexican national, was arrested Sunday night near a weapons cache 10 miles northeast of Gilmer, Tex.

He told his captors he was one of 34 Cuban sympathizers seized March 27 in the Gulf of Mexico off Brownsville, Tex., in a boat carrying $20.000 in contraband arms.

Just what the federal government will do with Del Conde was not clear. He is under a two-year suspended sentence for conspiring to violate the National Firearms Act. U.S. authorities could cancel his probation or file new charges or both.

Upshur County Sheriff Hub Owens and his deputies arrested Del Conde Sunday and turned him over to federal authorities yesterday. Two agents of the U.S. Alcohol Tax Division took him from Gilmer to Jefferson last night and he was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Dixie Johnson on charges of moving weapons not registered with the U.S. secretary of the Treasury. He was held in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Del Conde told officers and a newsman he bought the guns in St. Louis and was delivering them to an unnamed confederate in Houston, Tex.

In the mistaken belief he had been spotted by the Highway Patrol, he dumped the guns near Gilmer. A resident of the area spotted him unloading the weapons and told officers. Del Conde was arrested as he returned to the area.

Officers picked up a quantity of automatic and heavy caliber weapons, plus ammunition.

The man said he was the "master mind" of the Brownsville gun-running attempt. He said he met Castro in 1954 while both were in Mexico.

Del Conde said he is a Mexico City engineering graduate and owns a share of a sporting goods store there.

Fights For House

Mrs. Cleola Headley, 28, formerly of Kansas City, Mo., and her son, Eddie Gene, 5, are shown in front of the four-room house in Houston, which her husband bought for her from part of his proceeds of a burglary of the First State Bank of Arma, Kan. She plans to fight the bank's suit for title to the $4,000 property.

U.S. Seeks Easing Of Iraq Envoy Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is pressing Iraq's revolutionary government to ease restrictions on American diplomats in Baghdad.

Iraq's attitude on this will be viewed as a clue to the sincerity of its pledge to seek friendly relations with the United States.

Diplomatic officials who reported this said reopening of the U.S. information office shut down since the revolt exploded six weeks ago, is one of the steps the new regime has been asked to take.

The State Department also is urging Iraq to end half a dozen other annoying restrictions hampering the work of diplomats both in the U. S. Embassy and in American consulates.

These restrictions, officials said are not viewed as a deliberate campaign of harassment at this time. Rather, they are looked on as being the result of confusion and overzealous supervision evident since the July 14 change in government.

To back up its pledge of friendship, the Iraq government is being asked to:

1. Restore normal phone service for the U. S. Embassy. At present the embassy is reported to have only two lines whereas it formerly had 10.

2. Allow coded diplomatic messages to be sent between the American Embassy and U. S. consulates at Basra and Kirkuk.

3. Permit full access by American military advisers to their office, which has been closed since the revolt.

This 85-man mission helped train the Iraq army in the use of American weapons before the revolt. At present U. S. officers are allowed access to their headquarters only if escorted by an Iraqi officer.

4. Stop delaying diplomatic pouches sent to and from the United States.

5. Make certain Iraq soldiers guarding the embassy allow full, quick access to it by U. S. diplomats as well as Iraqi nationals employed by it.

At one point, some employes were stopped and searched on entering and leaving but this practice evidently has tapered off.

6. Return a jeep belonging to two American Marines who were arrested while watching an oil fire in Baghdad. The men were freed after three days but their vehicle is still being held.

The State Department also is unhappy about some bitter anti-American propaganda broadcast by Radio Baghdad. The official Iraq government station has given considerable attention to charges that the United States plotted to stir up revolt in neighboring Syria.

Raise For State Faculties Called Teacher Shortage Cure

AUSTIN (AP)—More money for the faculties of the 18 tax-supported colleges and universities would help cure the teacher shortage on all levels, the Texas Commission on Higher Education said today.

Dr. Ralph Green, commission executive director, said teachers' salaries was a main topic at the recent Southern Regional Education Board at Charleston, S.C.

"Speaker after speaker said our No. 1 problem is to get teacher's salaries up to where they ought to be," Green said. "Here in Texas, I certainly would subscribe to that. Libraries also have been neglected in Texas' higher education institutions, but the matter of teachers' salaries is critical."

More attractive salaries for the faculties of the state teachers colleges, "where producing public school teachers ia a major function", would help them keep present instructors and enlarge their staffs, Green said. This, he added, would tend to ease the critical shortage of instructors in the public schools.

His commests came as the commission released 1960 budget requests from the state-supported colleges and universities. They seek $68,721,957, a 39.4 per cent increase over the Legislature's appropriations for 1959.

Making up a great part of the $15,169,535 increase is $3,947,814 more for teachers. Green said the institutions showed they expect to spend $27,051,512 for teaching salaries next year.

Green said 49.8 per cent of the overall increase was brought about by the institutions following commission developed and approved formulas to make out their budgets. The formulas are aimed at bringing up to adequate standards the institution's teaching salaries, administration, libraries, building maintenance and custodial services.

In teaching salaries, Stephen F. Austin State College at Nacogdoches said it needed 39.3 per cent more money than the $572,003 it will pay instructors next year. It was the greatest percentage increase for salaries shown by any of the schools.

Other high percentage increases for teaching salaries included Arlington State at Arlington, 34 per cent; Texas Woman's University at Denton, 30.9 per cent; West Texas State at Canyon, 29.4; East Texas State at Commerce 29.2; Prairie View A&M 25.1.

The commission now is studying the budget requests. It will make recommendations to the Legislature later.

Here are the 1960 budget requests made by the schools with the per cent increase over 1959 legislative appropriations:

The University of Texas $18,398,062, up 21.7 per cent; Texas Western $2,064,385, up 25.4; Texas A&M $8,593,246, up 47; Arlington State $2,455,340, up 72; Tarleton $1,031,665, up 47; Prairie View A&M $2,838,932, up 63; Texas Tech $7,154,198, up 42; North Texas $4,603,188, up 44; Lamar Tech $2,707,799, up 36.9; Texas A&I $2,220,080, up 45; Texas Woman's University $2,125,010, up 33; Texas Southern $2,422,016, up 53.8; East Texas $2,383,014, up 41.4; Sam Houston $2,768,186, up 62; Southwest Texas $1,951,884, up 33.3; West Texas $2,039,376, up 49.4; Stephen F. Austin $1,960,900, up 49.8; Sul Ross $1,004,676, up 43.3.

NAACP Holds Freedom Prayer

DALLAS (AP)—Texas members of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People will join, Sept. 1-7, in a week of "prayer for freedom."

Texas NAACP leaders called yesterday on members over the state to join in the prayers.

"No child in these United States should have to undergo the outrageous circumstances that the Negro children in Little Rock have experienced or are faced with at the beginning of their school term," they declared.

The statement was issued in the name of the Rev. Emerson Marcee, president of the Texas Conference of Branches of the NAACP, and the Rev. S. Y. Nixon, director of the conference religious department.

"Responsible and upright citizens may not go to Little Rock to aid and comfort these fellow citizens in person . . .

"As God-fearing people we can pray to God...for their safety and for the removal of the presence of evil, wickedness in high places and the poisons of prejudice and un-Americanism which endangers the existence of real freedom for everyone in our nation."

Mediation Set

DALLAS (AP)—Federal Mediator T. F. Morrow will meet tomorrow with company and union representatives in an effort to settle the Continental Bus System strike. About 500 Texas-based drivers and other workers represented by the Amalgamated Assn. of Motor Coach Employes have been idle in the contract dispute involving pay rates that began July 1.

Another Texas Fable Is Born

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — Bill Moore, 55, of Irving, Tex., has a lot of money, pardner, but not as much as he took to Racine.

Bill, who flashed thousand-dollar bills around like they were peso notes, lost a big chunk of his wad here after he was arrested Saturday for leaving the scene of two accidents.

First, Bill backed smack into a porch post (26) at a motel. Then he drove down the road a piece and—shucks!!—hit a light pole at another motel.

The motel operators were getting plumb tired of ole Bill. He was lodged in the local pokey overnight and turned loose Sunday after leaving a $1,000 bill to cover his $200 bail.

Sheriff Tom Crow said neither he nor the jailers could change the bill, not then. Crow said Bill agreed to pay for the damages at the motels, totaling $170.

Well, sir, Bill didn't show when his case was called in municipal court yesterday. So he forfeited the $200 bail. But he finally came around, all right, paid off everybody and picked up his change—$630.

Seems somebody found some change while Bill was gone.

Red Morale Low In Revolt Crushing

HOF, Germany (AP)—Morale of Soviet troops who quelled the Hungarian uprising in 1956 was extremely low, a Soviet army veteran told newsmen here.

"Alcohol was the only thing which gave us some comfort," Gerhard Lepa, 25, an ex-private, said.

Lepa, of German extraction, arrived here with his mother and sister last week after the Soviets handed them an exit visa.

Nip In Air As Texas Warms Again

By The Associated Press

There was just a nip to the air Tuesday morning as Texas started warming after an early norther pushed through the state.

Skies were mostly clear with only scattered clouds in South and North Central Texas.

Dawn temperatures ranged from 57 degrees at Dalhart to 78 at Beeville.

Thundershowers boomed in the upper Red River Valley Monday night and strong winds with gusts of up to 75 miles an hour lashed Childress in Northwest Texas briefly. Dust at Childress cut visibility to half a mile.

Rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 6:30 p.m. Monday included Alpine .01 of an inch, Brownsville .29, Corpus Christi 1.33, El Paso .63, Galveston .07, Laredo .20, Kingsville 1.38 and a trace at Amarillo.

Orioles Have Shot At Runnerup Spot

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

A week ago it figured that the Baltimore Orioles might have a shot at the first division in the American League standings. Now the Birds might even roost in second place.

The Orioles under Manager Paul Richards have won 13 of their last 19 games.

They wrestled Detroit for a share of fourth place by taking two of three from the Tigers. Then they beat Chicago 6-5 last night for a sweep of the two-game set with the second-place White Sox.

That left the Birds within three games of third place Boston and just four games shy of the White Sox while padding their edge over Detroit to a full game. Washington defeated Cleveland 5-4 in the only other AL game scheduled yesterday.

The Orioles won the hard way last night, blowing a 5-1 lead before cracking a 5-all tie on Al Pilarcik's pinch single in the sixth inning. They had built the early bulge in three innings against Sox starter Ray Moore on four walks and but four hits, including a two-run single by Brooks Robinson.

Rookie Milt Pappas (8-7) was the winner in relief later losing four in a row, but it was the mop up relief of George Zuverink, ex-Indian Hoyt Wilhelm and Billy Loes—who combined for a two-hit shutout over the last three innings that put it away.

It was the fourth defeat in five games for the White Sox since they put together a seven-game winning string. Bob Shaw (5-3) lost this one, his first defeat in five decisions since going to Chicago in a June 15 trade with Detroit.

The Indians were dropped despite the power-hitting of Rocky Colavito, who drove in all four runs with a double and his 31st homer. Clint Courtney, driving in two runs with his sixth homer and a sacrifice fly as the Senators overhauled a 4-0 Cleveland lead, counted the clincher in the eighth on a wild pitch by reliever Ray Narleski. Don Mossi (7-7) was the loser in relief, Truman Clevenger (8-8) the winner in relief of Vito Valentinetti.

The first place New York Yankees, their lead back to 12½ games, begin a two-game series tonight against Kansas City that ends their last home stand against the western clubs. Bob Turley goes after his 19th victory for the champs.

HS LIBRARY

QBC In Session At 7:30 Tonight

All members of the Big Spring Quarterback Club and those who would like to join have an invitation to attend tonight's session, to be held in the High School Library at 8 o'clock.

Plans for the 1958 Steer football season, and the part the booster organization will play in it, will be mapped out.

The 1958-59 membership drive will be kicked off and plans for the upcoming barbecue honoring the high school gridders and their coaches will be mapped out.

Memberships are seliing for $1 each this year, compared to $5 for last year.

C. A. Tonn and Squeaky Thompson, co-captains of the club, said they felt the increased membership and manifested enthusiasm would more than make up for the reduction in the cost of the membership cards.

Ducats for the Sept. 5 barbecue, priced at $1 each, will be placed in the hands of members this week. The club is hopeful of selling 1,500 of them and is ordering increased rations, for that reason.

The barbecue will be held at the City Park, starting at about 7:30 p.m., a week from Friday night.

The board of directors of the QBC has been rounded out, Tonn has announced.

Serving this year will be Tom and Garner McAdams, Joe Connally, Jim Carver, Buell Everett, Jim Lewis, Earl Wilson, Jack Johnson, Mrs. Shelby Read, R. E. McKinney, Bill Quimby and Mrs. Dick Simpson.

Connally also serves as secretary of the organization.

Haney Is Not Miracle Man But Give Him His Dues

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Fred Haney is not amiracle man. He does not claim to be. He thinks he is a good manager although he refuses to take credit for Milwaukee's success this year and last.

By the same token, the 60-year-old Californian didn't accept the charges made against him after the Braves' fadeout in 1956. . . That he was managing "scared," that his strategy was self-defeating, nervous, by-the-book, that he bunted the Braves into second place.

"I'd like to think I'm a miracle man," Haney said, "but let's face it. I've had little to do with our being in first place. The players have done it themselves."

Miracle man or not, Haney has his Braves playing good, hustling ball and in first place. It is true the Braves were expected to breeze to their second straight pennant, but nobody expected the Braves to encounter as many injuries as they have.

Second baseman Red Schoendienst has missed half the season. Outfielders Wes Covington and Billy Bruton, have been in and out of the line-up. Pitcher Bob Buhl is completely out of action. Other lesser lights have been forced out of the line-up.

Yet the Braves managed to stay in contention all the way.

It was the hitting, pitching and fielding of the players that won the games but it was Haney who did the manipulating.

He made alterations everywhere in the line-up. He used infielders in the outfield and inexperienced youngsters in the infield. He made unusually good use of the bunt, the stolen base and the squeeze play.

So Haney must be partly responsible for the Braves' success just as he may have been partly responsible for their failure in '56.

"I believe the big difference is confidence," he said. "I have confidence in them and they have confidence in me."

Pep Fights Again

8-Man Football May Be A Much Slicker Game

By BOBBY HORTON

Eight-man football, the replacement for six-man play for at least a dozen small schools in Class B districts surrounding Big Spring, appears to have polished away many of the rusty spots of the half-dozen player football.

The small-scale production of standard football will be presented on turfs at Forsan, Knott, Christoval, Sterling City, Water Valley, Garden City, Dawson, Loop, Klondike, Gail, Ackerly, and Mertzon, and in 51 other districts across Texas this autumn.

There's practically no change in the eleven and eight-man rule books. Football octads will clash on an 80 x 40 yard field, however, the same used in six-man games. And it's feasible that the reason for that was because of the number of six-man fields already in use. There were 153 schools playing the six man game last season.

Outside of the field size and player allotment changes, the small school coaches may go by the standard rule book. Octadic football features the use of a quarterback, two ends and tackles, a halfback and fullback—missing are two guards and a halfback. The clear pass rule, where at least one handoff or lateral must be made in order to advance the line of scrimmage, is out. Also as opposed in six-man, only five men are eligible pass receivers. Anyone could catch in the sextets. Ten yards is the meld for eight-man; 15 was for its older grid offshoot.

The increase in players is to allow more boys to compete in school programs. At the same time, less opportunity is left for speed emphasis. The bigger fellow who was sidelined in six-man games will be seeing a lot of action in at a tackle or center slot this year. Size will rate at least as highly as speed.

Officials need not fear forgetting rule variations because there will be such a simple few. This will cut down on the confusion among coaches and fans, too. The Interscholastic League reported last year that is was difficult to find six-man football officials, and this was a reason for allowing schools to change games.

Forsan coach James Blake, who keeps abreast with the under-sized game's changes, said that 77 schools will be competing in six-man this year, and 53 districts have voted to try the new game. More than likely there would have been more, he stated, had not misinterpretation led many to think a unanimous district vote was required.

Blake, who has lined up on the toughest eight-man schedules in the state for his Buffs, predicts that the scoring will be vastly affected. No more 70-50 offensive melees. The 20-13 game will be more prevalent, he says, and size will count more. With four more players on the 80 x 40 yard field, defenses are going to be considerably tighter.

The Buffs have a ten game, all eight-man team schedule for this season including two regional six-man champions from last year, Union of Brownfield and Gail (Regional, is as far as Class B clubs advance). He's been to coaching schools at Abilene and Houston—though neither went into the meat of eight-man tactics—and has picked up tips on eight-man from Bill Johnson, coach of one of the teams in the single experimental eight-man district last season, Kyle.

The district, 22-B, was allowed to try the eight-man game. Near Houston, it included Kyle, Hutto, Liberty Hill, Nordheim, Pflugerville, Prarie Lea, and Smiley.

Like the near-unanimous field of coaches who have never seen an eight-man game, Blake will work toward an offense in his own way. He plans to set up a multiple offense based around the winged-and straight-T formations.

Fans may notice several appreciable points about eight-man games this fall. Teamwork and organization will count more than was so in six-man. The fast and furious sextet competition was too much just that, not enough play-togetherness.

More strategy on the field will be seen. The scoring in six-man, with its 100-points plus offensives, seemed much too simple in procedure to build any suspense. Touchdowns lost value. Watching a six-player team perform gave an observer the feeling he was viewing a basketball game with no bucket to shoot at.

Solid blocking will count more; coaches will see mistakes of the inside linemen easily. There should be less exchange of the ball, fewer fumbles. Backfield movements will have to be sure and deliberate.

The true climax of football, driving toward a goal in successive and strategic maneuvers was, to a large extent, eradicated with the all-outness of six-man. Eight-man football will, in all probability, tighten the game to a more dramatic pitch.

HOUSTON DRIVES HARD FOR MAJOR FRANCHISE

HOUSTON (SC)—Big-shouldered Houston is driving hard to make the major league grade in 1959 if possible, or by 1960 for sure.

Through seven years of planning and organizing, Metropolitan Houston has developed a county-wide campaign and a 5-point program which its leaders fully expect will hit the target some time within the next 16 months.

One of the biggest steps forward in the campaign came July 26 when the voters of Harris County passed by a margin of more than 3 to 1 a $20,000,000 revenue bond issue to finance construction of a new multi-purpose stadium and indoor coliseum. The actual vote was: For 81,403, Against 24,395. It was one of the largest margins any bond issue ever carried in Harris County history.

Metropolitan Houston, which includes all Harris County, has a population of 1,195,000 as of January, 1958 and is the largest city in the United States not now in the major leagues. Forecasts of Houston's growth predict a population of 2,308,000 by 1975.

The motivating force behind Houston's major league bid is the Houston Sports Assn., composed of 35 men from various walks of life. Plans and operations of the association are handled through a 7-member executive committee composed of the following:

Craig F. Cullinan Jr., chairman, young oil heir; K. S. Adams Jr., president of Ada Oil Co.; Searcy Bracewell, attorney and retiring state senator from Harris County; George S. Bruce Jr., insurance executive; Henry David, former president of Milwhite Mud Sales Co.; Jack Josey, president of Josey Oil Co.; and R. E. Smith, independent oil producer.

Cullinan, 33, is a grandson of J. S. Cullinan, a pioneer of the oil industry in Texas and one of the founders of The Texas Co., and son of the late Craig F. Cullinan, president of American Republics Corp., an independent producing oil company. He graduated in 1949 from Yale University where he lettered in golf.

George Kirksey, former major league sports writer in New York and Chicago and a lifetime member of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America, is executive secretary of the Houston Sports Assn. and directs the day-to-day operations of Houston's major league campaign.

Houston's over-all plans call for development of the world's finest sports center and exhibition park on some 400 to 500 acres of land with parking for 20,000 cars. Two separate buildings are planned—a modern stadium for major league baseball and football and an air-conditioned coliseum as a new home for the Fat Stock Show and Rodeo and other indoor events.

Although preliminary engineering studies have just been started on building plans, the first phase of the stadium would probably provide seating for about 42,000 and the indoor coliseum about 20,000 permanent seats which could be increased to about 25,000 for fights.

The plans are to use the two structures for varied events such as professional football, college football, post-season football games, industrial exhibitions, home shows, flower shows, hobby shows, oil expositions, horse shows, conventions, musical festivals, youth activities, Broadway shows.

Preliminary allocation of the $20,000,000 revenue bond issue shows this disposition:

Stadium	$6,000,000
Coliseum	6,000,000
Paved Parking	3,000,000
Land	1,000,000
Exposition & livestock facilities	2,000,000
Utilities & other	2,000,000
Total	$20,000,000

Members of the Board of Park Commissioners, appointed by the Harris County Commissioners Court, are: William A. Kirkland, chairman of the board, First City National Bank, chairman; Herbert Allen, president of Cameron Iron Works; Eddie Dyer, insurance man and manager of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, 1946; E. B. Mansfield, engineer, Pasadena; Corbin J. Robertson, Quintana Petroleum Corp. and chairman of the athletic committee, University of Houston; Archer Romero, real estate man and chairman of the board, Houston Fat Stock Show; and Wilton A. Roper, vice president, Citizens National Bank & Trust Co., Baytown.

Senate Bill No. 23 gives the Park Commissioners legal authority to issue revenue bonds to acquire land, build a stadium, coliseum and other buildings. They also are empowered to make leases, contracts and agreements for the use of the facilities.

NINE OTHER TEAMS

Big Spring Joins Travelers' Loop

Big Spring has been admitted to the exclusive membership of the West Texas Travelers Bowling league, which concentrates its action once a month at one of the member cities.

Plainview was also admitted at a conclave held at Clover Bowl held here last Sunday, increasing the membership to 10 teams. San Angelo has two teams active, as does Lubbock. Abilene, Midland, Odessa and Hobbs, N. M., are other members.

Any local bowler will have a chance to win a place on the Big Spring team. Each team will be made up of five members and positions will be determined by keglers posting the highest average in an estimated 20 lines.

League competition will start the third Sunday in September. It will endure on that appointed day for nine months thereafter. Big Spring will play host to the other teams next April, or the next to last round of competition.

Bob Gressett of Lubbock serves as president of the league. Other officers are Lofty Hall, secretary; Dale Vannoy, Lubbock, treasurer; and Marcus Welch, San Angelo, vice president. Hall is in the process of moving from San Angelo to Abilene.

The West Texas Travelers' league was re-organized three years ago and the past year functioned with eight members.

Last year's champion was Gifford Hill of Lubbock. Cadenhead Service Gas, also of Lubbock, finished second; McIntire's of San Angelo was third and VFW of Abilene fourth.

OWC Loop Parley Set Wednesday

Players who intend to take part in OWC Bowling league competition this fall and winter are invited to gather at the Webb AFB bowling center at 9 a.m. Wednesday to discuss future plans.

Games will be bowled for averages in order that teams can be formed for the 1958-59 season.

League officials state that it is very important for all who intend to bowl be on hand. Those who cannot report at that hour should contact Eva Malott by dialing 4-8456.

Team bowling will start Friday, Sept. 5, at 9:15 a.m.

B Football Team To Take Physicals

Members of the Big Spring High School B football team have been asked to report to the dressing room at the old football field at 6 p.m. Wednesday to undergo physical examinations.

Any new boy who plans to play football here this fall can be included in the group.

Braves Scalp Giants, Build Cushion In NL

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

So the Milwaukee Braves can't beat the also-ran Los Angeles Dodgers. It may be annoying, but it's not crucial. Not when the champs can run off seven in a row against the San Francisco Giants, the club they have to beat.

Twice in the last four weeks, the Dodgers have belitted the Braves and left 'em looking as though they could be had. Instead, they've spanked the second-place Giants and romped off with eight-game leads in the National League pennant chase.

Just last week they dropped four of five to the fourth-place Dodgers, but then whipped the Giants in the opener of a "showdown" five-game series at San Francisco 8-5 in 10 innings Sunday. Last night they did it again, rapping the Giants 6-1 behind Warren Spahn, who shrugged off a sore throat and won his 17th of the year — first on the West Coast.

The Dodgers retained fourth, coming from behind for a 4-2 victory over Cincinnati, and St.Louis whipped Pittsburgh 7-1 in the only other NL games scheduled.

The Braves, who have won only 7 of 20 from the Dodgers, now stand 13-5 over the Giants. Spahn, backed up by a five-run second inning, tossed a five-hitter. He had a one-hit shutout until the fifth while matching Pittsburgh's Bob Friend as the NL's top winner.

The Giants scored on Willie Mays' infield single after a single by Daryl Spencer and two walks had loaded the bases.

The Braves sent nine men to the plate in the big second against loser Mike McCormick (9-7) and reliever Gordon Jones. Hank Aaron, Felix Mantilla, Andy Pafko, Red Schoendienst and Ed Mathews singled and Joe Adcock doubled in the spurt, while the Giants chipped in an error.

Wally Moon had three of the Cardinals' nine hits off loser Ron Kline (12-12) and R. G. Smith, one a two-on homer that capped a four-run third. Larry Jackson (11-10) was the winner. He gave up eight hits, losing his shutout bid on Hank Foiles' double, a sacrifice and Bob Clemente's single in the third that tied it 1-all.

Southpaw Johnny Podres gave up a two-run homer to Pete Whisenant in the first inning, then blanked the Reds on seven hits for a 12-10 record. Harvey Haddix (7-7) lost it. Carl Furillo drove in the first two Dodger runs with a pair of singles and scored the lead run on Don Zimmer's single in the third.

Thanks From Jim Bill Little

I want to express my heartfelt thanks to each one that voted for me and to each one that worked for me in my unsuccessful race for Commissioner from Precinct No. 4.

I also want to congratulate Mr. Davidson on his decisive victory.

Martin County's cotton crop estimate of 51,000 bales has some supporters but also some doubters. One who doesn't think it will reach this total is Earl Douglas, manager of the Farmer's Co-Op Society Gin.

Douglas doesn't doubt the dryland estimate as much as he does the irrigated cotton, which was estimated to make a bale and a half to the acre on 20,000 acres. He says the average has never been this high before, but of course, he hopes it will be this time.

Some observers say this is the best irrigated cotton Martin County ever had, and a few fields have been pegged at three bales to the acre. Gene Clements, farming just north of Stanton, thinks some of his cotton will make this much, assuming there is no hail or prolonged period of wet weather.

* * *

Joe Froman, who farms west of the Brown Store, said he got three inches of rain last week. Rains were generally good in that area but became lighter a few miles to the south.

Buster Haggard, farming a few miles north of the Bob Lawson Store on the Andrews Highway, also received three inches of rain; however at the store it amounted to only one and two-tenths.

F. J. Nuckols of Cisco is a dog peddler and has Big Spring as one of the regular stopping places on his route. His one-ton truck has 16 small compartments where he keeps puppies for sale.

Nuckols raises only small dogs. He says big dogs eat too much for the prices they bring. Also most big dogs are sold to farmers and ranchers, he said, and they are accustomed to raising their own dogs and won't pay a high price.

The popularity of breeds change every few years. The Pekingese were the most popular for 30 to 35 years, then the Cocker took over as No. 1 pooch. Then about 1955 he was ousted by the beagle which is most in demand now.

The white Pekingese are very good sellers, but they are scarce. Nuckols says it takes from four to six generations of careful breeding to get the beautiful light color, and even then part of the litter may be darker.

Nuckols keeps only registered dogs. He peddles to towns within a 150 mile radius of Cisco. When on the road, he sleeps in the truck.

"People will steal a dog almost as quick as they'll steal money," he said. "Not long ago in Big Spring someone got away with a puppy in broad daylight, and not 10 feet away from me."

Mon McKaskle may get water and oil both on his farm in the Valley View community. The oil company drilled a water well on his place in order to have water for drilling purposes. They found water at eight feet, then it rose to within four feet of the surface, and there seems to be an ocean of it.

The well is located in a feeder draw just east of the Sulphur Draw. McKaskle says the water tastes good, and might be suitable for irrigation. The Sulphur Draw water is always near the surface, but it contains too much sodium for either drinking or irrigation.

* * *

Some cotton in the Valley View community has a bad case of rust, said J. L. Reynolds who farms near the Andrews Highway. He said it usually appeared every year and was severe enough to reduce the yield.

Reynolds says cotton in his area will probably average about a third of a bale to the acre.

* * *

Two Border Patrolmen, in discussing the wetback problem, say it became more serious after farmers started using braceros. This is caused by the publicity given the cotton-growing areas.

One patrolman said the braceros would send word back home about the amount of work and dinero being paid, so others who can't get a contract to come, just cross the river and come on, anyway.

The law is quite lax on wetbacks. All it can do is take them back to the border and tell them to go home.

* * *

Most of the arrests made by the law officer in a small town are for drunken driving, particularly if the town is on a main highway.

Sheriff W. O. Green of Sterling City says pulling in drunk drivers is a regular weekly chore. And contrary to public opinion, the average drunk behind the steering wheel is not a 'teen-ager but a man over 40 years of age.

"They're the real wine-heads," he said, "and it maks no difference whether they're in a wet or dry territory. They'll drink bay rum or anything."

Some get so drunk they can't remember where they are. Once he arrested a man from Stanton who had left the house to get a loaf of bread. Somehow he missed the grocery store and ended up in Sterling City so drunk he had to be helped from the car. When he awoke in jail the next morning, he was still worrying about that loaf of bread.

Green says some people killed on the highway have been drinking, when this fact never shows up in the newspapers. Unless they are very drunk, the liquor angle is not mentioned. This saves embarrassment to the families.

My Thanks To You

I wish it were possible to see everyone in Precinct No. 4 and express personal appreciation for the honor of being named Democratic nominee as county commissioner.

I am humbled by this honor, and to every citizen — as well as to those who worked for and supported me so untiringly — I pledge to do my very best to be the kind of a commissioner you expect. Again my most sincere and humble thanks.

L. J. Davidson

Community Asks Building Help

LAMESA—Several members of the Welch Community Improvement Assn. met Monday with members of the Dawson County Commissioners Court to seek the county's aid in building a community building at Welch.

The group explained they would be able to raise a considerable portion of the amount needed by subscription in the community, but that the county's aid would be needed to complete the project. They said they had visited the Loop Community Building in Gaines County and had found that the county had assisted in building there. The court told the group they would investigate the use of county funds for the project and would then consider it.

The court accepted on low bid of $7,850 plus a trade in the bid of Texas Machinery Co. of Amarillo for a new motor grader for Precinct No. 2.

Discussion of the discontinuance of several voting boxes again brought no change. Seventeen boxes remain in the county. One box in Precinct No. 3 will be moved, however.

Lamesans Ballot On C-C Directors

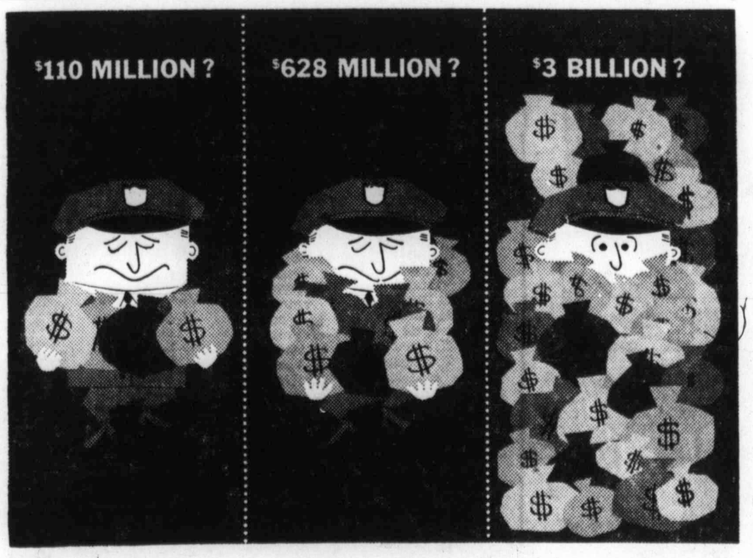

LAMESA—Members of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce are voting for four new directors as they receive ballots mailed out Monday. The top 10 in the recent primary include Don Nutt, Howard Garner, Carroll Tune, J. B. Leavelle, Dr. Jack Alexander, C. T. Beckham, Jake Lippard, Jack Broyles, C. V. Ball and J. B. Claiborne. The membership will name the four from this list, the Lamesa city council will then name four to represent the Board of City Development. The Chamber and BCD operates as one body for all practical purposes.

3 Youths Held In Rape Of Girl, 16

How much was invested in newspaper advertising in 1957?

ONE OF A SERIES

ANSWER: AN ALL TIME HIGH OF $3,325,000,000! Advertisers spent a total of ten billion dollars in all forms of media in 1957. One-third of the total went into newspaper advertising! A stronger, more convincing testimonial to the effectiveness of the newspaper medium would be hard to find. Advertisers reap results from newspapers — that's why the bulk of advertising dollars is spent in newspapers year after year! Are you using newspapers for all their worth?

DEAR ABBY

YOU'LL BE SORRY!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am over 21 and have been going with a good-looking divorced man for seven months. He told me he was in love with me and we talked of marriage. I went to his apartment to help him hang pictures and while I was there he got two phone calls. He got nervous and started making up so many lies (he told one not to come over because he was having a gin game, and he told the other one she got him out of a shower and he'd call her right back.) When I asked who called he lied again and said they were men but I could hear their voices and they were women. If he lied to them and then lied to me, do you think I should quit seeing him? OVER 21

DEAR OVER: Break off with this phony while the echoes of his lies are still clear. His kind should stay single and make many girls happy rather than get married and make one miserable.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago my husband moved his bed out of our bedroom and he hasn't moved it back yet. He said it was nothing against me, but I keep waiting for him to move his bed back and he doesn't do it. We are still young people in our fifties and I don't see any reason for him to act like this. What should I do? IGNORED

DEAR IGNORED: Two years is long enough. Move YOUR bed into his room.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We live in a nice community where everybody owns their own home. When these people moved in across the street I called on her and welcomed her into the neighborhood before I knew what kind of people they were. She borrows and never returns. Her phone was disconnected because of non-payment and she has given our number to everybody she knows which keeps me running between my house and hers all day long and half the night to call her to the phone. I have hinted and tried to be tactful but it does no good. How can I put a stop to this?

NOT NEIGHBORLY

DEAR NOT: You'll never faze a vulture with a fly swatter. Ask your nervy neighbor to please tell her friends to quit calling her on your telephone. If this fails, when a call comes for her, tell the party that you are sorry but you are too busy to get her.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Going to work every morning there is a man who rides the same bus I do. He is nice looking and I would like to get to know him. I think I should add he gives me the eye so I know he's interested in meeting me. Should I drop my purse or something or just start in a conversation about the weather? Or is it his place to say something to me

DEAR AVAILABLE: Don't drop anything as obvious as a purse. A word about the weather or the traffic ought to break the ice. If he is also "available" he will welcome your small talk and introduce himself.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO SEARCHING FOR HAPPINESS: My fathed used to say, "To make a man happy—add not to his possessions, subtract from his desires."

Hydrogen Power Device Described

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—A new kind of device which holds possibilities for controlling the blast of the hydrogen bomb and making its energy available for peaceful uses was described here today.

The idea of the device was put forth by a Greek scientist who scooped the world's nuclear scientists a few years ago on a means of greatly increasing the power of atom-smashing machines.

In a paper before the American Physical Society, Dr. Nicholas C. Christofilos said the device is being built at the University of California's H-bomb research laboratory at Livermore, Calif.

The device is called the Astron. Its builders have hopes that it will demonstrate how they can duplicate and use in their laboratories the 100-million-degree heat of the stars. This extreme heat is necessary to start the fusion reaction.

Dr. Christofilos, now a physicist at Livermore, said the device now being built would not produce enough heat to cause fusion but would establish whether the idea is workable. If it proves itself, fusion power should be attainable in a few years, he added.

Like some other experimental devices, this one utilizes the effects of magnetism to confine atoms to be fused. Ordinary materials cannot be used as containers because they cannot stand the stellar heat. But this new idea is much more complicated than the ones previously reported.

In the Christofilos plan a primary magnetic field in a cylinder is used to speed great numbers of electrons along prescribed corkscrew-like paths. When the electrons reach speeds corresponding to energies of three million volts they act something like a very strong electrical current. This current travels through the tube and forms a secondary and still more powerful magnetic field which supposedly can squeeze the confined atoms together tightly enough to produce the enormous heat of fusion.

It was a plan for concentrating the magnetic fields of cyclotrons that brought fame to Dr. Christofilos more than five years ago. He submitted his plans for this to scientists at the radiation laboratory at Berkely but they were not convinced of its merit.

Later, American scientists hit upon a way of concentrating the magnetic field of the cyclotron only to discover that they were doing substantially the same thing that Christofilos had proposed.

In the meantime, Dr. Christofilos came to America and went to work for the Atomic Energy Commission in its laboratory at Brookhaven, N. Y.

Subsequently he went to the Livermore laboratory, which has concentrated its efforts on research in fusion.

Clerk Holds Quiz Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Teddy Nadler, a former U.S. civil service clerk, is the new all-time high winner on TV quiz shows.

Nadler Sunday night zoomed past the previous record holder, Robert Strom, 11-year-old science whiz, to $252,000. The boy had won $242,500.

Nadler's answer to an $8,000 question on CBS-TV's The $64,000 Challenge pushed him past young Strom to winnings of an even quarter of a million dollars.

Nadler, 49, then went on to make it $252,000 before time ran out. He will return to the program next Sunday.

The $8,000 question was in the ancient history category. Defeated by Nadler was Mrs Dolores Brown, a New York City housewife.

Nadler comes from St. Louis.

The newly crowned champion TV quiz contestant added $2,000 by defeating David H. Engel, a landscape artist with a master's degree in international relations. They vied in a series about geography.

Woman Driver Nearly Bags Cop

BRADLEY BEACH, N.J. (AP) —Police Sgt. Vincent Napoli jumped and landed on the hood of a car he thought was going to hit him.

He bounced to the roof. The car stopped a short distance away. As soon as the injured policeman was taken down, the woman driver sped off, police said.

Two hours later police arrested Virginia Wolley, 36, and charged her with reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

They asked her why she drove away. "Nobody asked me to stay," police quoted her as saying.

Bruce Gets English Cure, Even To Bowler, Umbrella

By BRUCE FRAZIER

LONDON—I lost my bloody head and went out and bought myself a bowler (derby) and black umbrella. I don't have the nerve to use them here, but perhaps I'll spring them on the home folk.

We are pretty well used to shillings and pence, and to eating lunch at one o'clock, getting meals without anything to drink and everything at room temperature.

We love the beautiful farms and countryside and have been impressed by historic spots. But really and truly the people themselves are the most interesting of all. An English farm couple even joined our four for a day.

London has been the most interesting city of our tour so far. At first we got the regular tourist rush through Westminister Abby, Tower of London, St. Paul's, etc. You can soon get enough of old churches with graves of the great. So we broke up into small groups and took out to see things which interested us most—like the London planetarium, British Museum, Madam Toussarde waxworks, plays, ballet, shops, and even a bit of night life.

I really had a thrill in the museums I visited. I got to see the Rosetta Stone, the Magna Charta, the geologic collection (best in the world), remnants of the Piltdown skeleton. Here packed inside was a summation of man's knowledge on many subjects, and on the outside was the bustle of a busy city. One could feel the thread of God's creation weaving its way through ages past and linking us with and the outside.

One other thing we will never forget is the evidence of war damage. On every hand here in London are the scars—some never to be healed—left by a madman's thirst for power. Our bus driver, told how guns started booming at 5 p.m. and kept up all night long every night while bombers streamed in. Once a bomb hit the bus ahead of his and killed 18, and yet he drove on past it and kept driving all through the war. You have to admire such people and such a brave city. These people still have courage in an unbounded measure.

Miss Wool Entrants Begin Social Whirl

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Thirteen girls who are after the title of Miss Wool started a round of social activities today with a visit to the R. O. Sheffield Ranch near here.

A dinner will follow with bachelor officers from Webb AFB, Big Spring, who will escort the girls during the pageant.

They were fitted yesterday for the wool wardrobes they will wear, received instructions governing their participation and were photographed.

The contestants will appear publicly for the first time in a Wool Parade tomorrow.

Miss Wool will be crowned Friday night.

Station Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new FM radio station for Amarillo was asked yesterday of the Communications Commission by Plains Radio Broadcasting Co. Plains now operates AM Station KGNC at Amarillo and wants to operate the proposed FM station on 93.1 megacycles, Channel 226.

Nautilus Crew Enjoys Holiday On The Town

NEW YORK (AP)—Proud officers and crew of the atomic submarine Nautilus enjoyed a holiday on the town today with their families and friends.

At the Brooklyn Navy Yard, a fourth of the ship's complement of 12 officers and 97 men maintained a watch on the craft which crossed under the North Pole icecap to history.

The blue-black sub is berthed for dockside view by the public today and Wednesday. She cannot be boarded.

New York's three-day welcome will continue Wednesday with the honor the city traditionally extends to conquering heroes—a ticker tape parade.

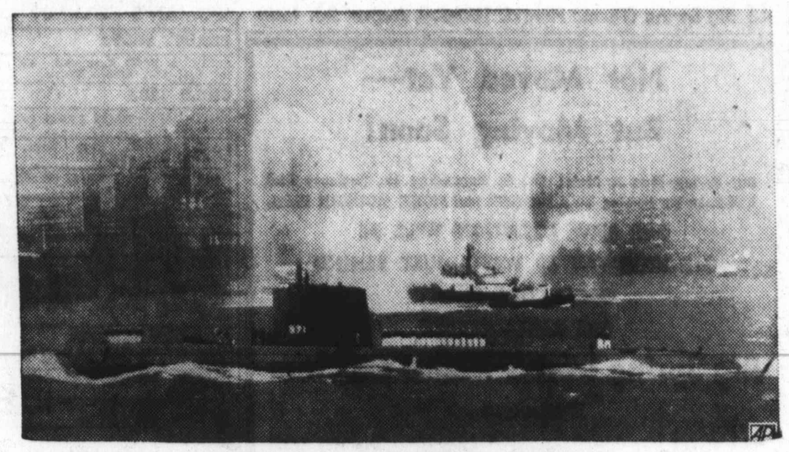

Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, expert on nuclear ship propulsion and "father" of the Nautilus, will ride up lower Broadway with the sub's crew. In the lead car will be the Nautilus' skipper, Cmdr. William R. Anderson.

The Nautilus will leave Thursday for her home base at New London, Conn.

Teacher And Stork Both Make Good

Don Stevens, new member of the Big Spring school faculty, asked off Monday from a workshop session.

"I'll be there Tuesday for sure," he said. He was too, and with the brand new title of father. He and Mrs. Stevens have a son, Don Bradley, born at 1:30 p.m. Monday at Cowper Hospital. The infant weighed an even eight pounds. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Walker Bailey, 608 Edwards Blvd., and Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Stevens, Welman.

Welcome To New York

Fireboats spray water as a welcome to the U.S. Navy's submarine Nautilus as she moves past the lower Manhattan skyline on her arrival in New York after a record crossing of the Atlantic.

Hurricane Drifts Toward Northwest

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Daisy drifted slowly toward the northwest today, 220 miles off Melbourne, Fla. It appeared to follow a pattern that would bring none of its crushing winds to the U.S. mainland.

Reconnaissance aircraft reported today that Daisy was moving toward the northwest at about 5 m.p.h.

If Daisy is pushed into a more northeasterly direction, a spokesman for the Weather Bureau said, it would find itself chased out to sea by strong southwesterly winds blowing at all levels across the United States.

This, at present, is what the Weather Bureau thinks will happen.

'Sweeper' Satellites Might Clear Out Deadly Radiation

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands (AP)—"Sweeper" satellites could houseclean away the dangerous band of radioactivity high above the earth, a space scientist suggested today.

This radiation is the mystery halo discovered by Explorer satellites and Sputniks. It apparently could be deadly to humans.

But the sweepers could clear a channel so humans could safely zoom off on space trips, Dr. S. Fred Singer of the University of Maryland told the International Astronautical Federation, meeting here this week.

Or space ships might escape it by taking off over the poles, where there are apparently natural holes in the belt, he continued. As another idea, space ships might be equipped with magnetic screens to fend off the radiation. All these schemes would avoid tremendously heavy lead shielding.

The radiation band, he continued, probably stretches 40,000 miles above the earth before it dwindles away.

The radiation band might even extend all the way to the moon, Dr. Fred Whipple Smithsonian Institution astronomer, told a reporter.

Singer said the radiation appears thinner at higher latitudes and nonexistent at the poles. He theorizes it is made of protons—positively charged atomic particles—trapped in the earth's magnetic field.

The space sweepers could be satellites, about 30 feet in diameter, circling the earth above the equator, and soaking up the protons faster than they are being formed.

Moisture For Crop Year On Plus Side

The United States Experiment Station in Big Spring continued to show an increase in moisture for the crop year through July.

The 1.49 inches measured in that month brought the total to 17.88 inches since Sept. 1, 1957, which was the beginning of the current crop year. This was about 9 per cent above the average for this period.

Other points in the state generally showed wider increases. Among them were Ysleta 11.41 for 186 per cent increase; Lubbock 22.68, up 41 per cent; Spur 22.62, up 25 per cent, Montague 28.07, up 19 per cent; Denton 34.10 up 13 per cent; Temple 43.10, up 36 per cent; Beeville 30.22, up 10 per cent; College Station 49.50, up 37 per cent; Beaumont 40.94, down 16 per cent.

Demo Panel Okays Unofficial Totals

The Howard County Democratic Executive Committee canvassed the votes cast in last Saturday's run-off primary election Tuesday morning.

Frank Hardesty, chairman, said no discrepancies were found—that the vote totals were correct as previously announced. He will file the official report on the election with the state today.

He said the following totals will be certified to the state election board:

Supreme Court Justice—Robert W. Hamilton 1,897; J. Edwin Smith 246.

County Commissioner, Precinct No. 2—Ralph White 669; Sam McComb 391.

County Commissioner, Precinct No. 4—L. J. Davidson 600; J. W. (Jim Bill) Little 350.

Former Resident Dies In Lubbock

Mrs. Sadie M. Throop, 65, widow of Johnson J. Throop, died last week at her home at 2304 3rd St. in Lubbock. She had been in ill health for several months.

Mrs. Throop resided in Big Spring for many years and was a teacher in the Big Spring schools. She also taught in the elementary schools of Lubbock, where she had lived for the past 12 years. She was a graduate of McMurry College.

Survivors include three sisters, Mrs. G. D. Hair, LaPorte, Mrs. Beatrice Letcher, Las Cruces, N. M., and Mrs. Theo H. Collins, Vernon. Burial was in the City of Lubbock Cemetery.

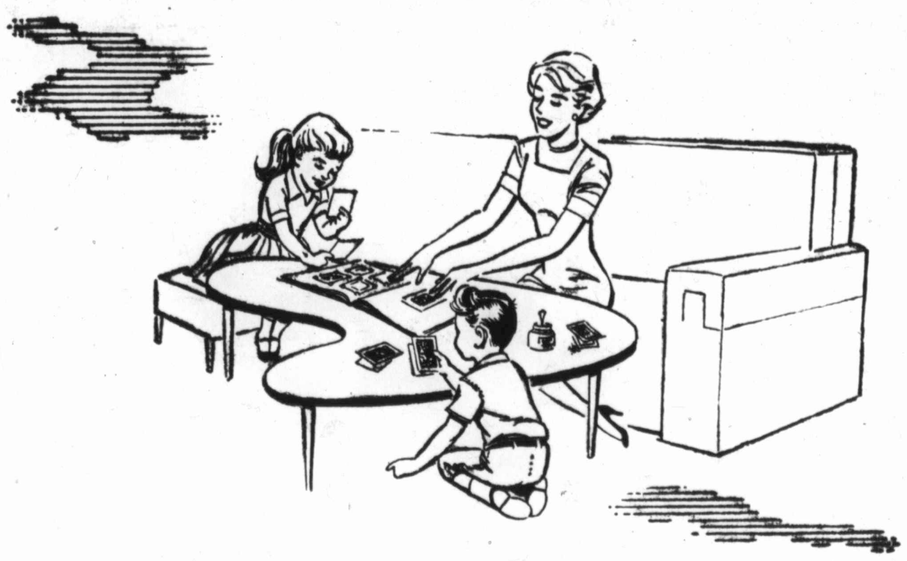

House Kills Rail Pension Hike Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate-passed bill calling for a 10 per cent raise in retirement benefit to railroad workers was killed by the House last week.

Objections raised in the House blocked either acceptance by the House of the Senate bill or sending it to conference in an effort to reach a compromise of Senate-House differences.

The railroad retirement provision came to the House as a rider to a bill revising the longshoremen's compensation act. That measure would have given longshoremen more liberal compensation injury rights. It died with the retirement bill.

MEN IN SERVICE

Frank Powell ,son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Powell, 900 Mountain Park, is scheduled to complete recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at San Diego, Calif., this week.

Powell had instruction in all basic military subjects and infantry weapons while in the 11-week course.

• • •

Primitivo Navarrete Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Primitivo Navarrete, 506 NW 4th, left here recently for eight weeks of basic military training at Ft. Carson, Colo. He was enlisted by M. Sgt. Robert Martin, local Army recruiter.

Navarrete enlisted under the Army "Reserved for You" program, and after completing his basic training, he will receive technical training in petroleum products analysis.

• • •

Also leaving here recently to begin Army training was Wesley Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Robinson of Lamesa. Robinson enlisted in the Army unassigned, and he was also recruited by Sgt. Martin. He is also going to Ft. Carson for his basic training.

Texan Plans Flight Record

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP)—An around-the-world flight and a new assault on the light-plane distance record will be made by George Williams, 34.

Williams, who flew for the Navy in World War II and Korea, plans to fly the same plane which William Wyatt used in an abortive attempt to fly non-stop from Galveston to Rome about a year ago.

Wyatt was forced down in the Atlantic off Spain. He was rescued but died of natural causes early this year.

The plane, now completely rebuilt, is a four-place, 180-horsepower affair. It has extra gas tanks in place of three seats and also has wing tanks to get a total fuel capacity of 329 gallons.

Williams hopes to set a new distance record by flying non-stop from Tokyo to Mexico City, a distance of 7,030 miles. The record, set earlier this month by airlines pilot Marion Bolling, is 6,979 miles. Bolling flew from Manila to Pendleton, Ore.

Williams, a native of Knox, Ind., who has been living in Mexico City, was to fly today to St. Paul, Minn., and thence to Chicago and Washington before arriving in New York Saturday.

He plans to leave New York Monday and take seven or eight days for his 'round-the-world flight. His planned route will take him to Newfoundland, Ireland, France, Rome, Aden, Singapore, Tokyo, Mexico City and back to New York.

Criminal Case Docket Fixed

Judge Charlie Sullivan has scheduled a week of criminal jury trials for Sept. 8-12. The date is tentative and will be dependent on the action of the grand jury now in session and the decision of persons indicted, he explained.

He said he had consulted with Gil Jones, district attorney, and that it was believed the date would be satisfactory.

The number of indictments returned and whether the bulk of the defendants elect to plead guilty rather than to ask for jury trials will be a deciding factor. It is generally the history in this county that the majority of persons indicted choose to plead guilty rather than go to trial.

Kite Dislodges Panties 'Banner'

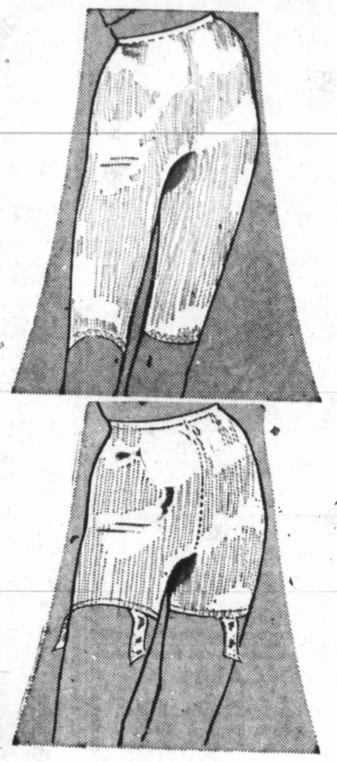

STARKVILLE, Miss. (AP)—A kite was used at Mississippi State University to dislodge a pair of blue panties from a campus flagpole.

Aerodynamicist J. J. Cornish III told of the stunt in a paper released by the school Monday. The feminine panties had been hoisted to the top of the drill field staff and the halyard cut so they couldn't be hauled down.

Cornish said a fish hook was attached to a kite string, the kite was maneuvered into the position, and the panties were hooked and drawn down.

The title of the paper: "A modern application for an ancient aerodynamic tool."
