Will Rogers, "Prince of Entertainers and Entertainer to the Prince" will appear in Lubbock for a special entertainment program on November 4 on the stage of the Lubbock high school auditorium instead of in the stock judging pavilion of the Tech College, as previously announced.

The change is due to better seating and heating conditions of the high school building and better location in case of bad weather. The high school auditorium will not seat as many people as will the stock judging pavilion, however which means that a spirited sale will probably exhaust the supply of tickets within a few days after they are placed at the people's disposal.

Mr. Rogers, who is one of the world's leading vaudeville and theatrical artists, is being brought to Lubbock under the auspices of the Avalanche-Journal. Reserve seats will be placed on sale in the near future at Bowen's Drug Store and the Hotel Drug Store.

She doubts 'em

"I signed these bills in the face of the opinion of many good lawyers, who expressed doubt as to their sufficiency as validation acts to meet the objections the United States Supreme Court raised in the Archer county road district case," Governor Ferguson stated. "But looking at the legislation in the broadest aspect, I decided that in the interest of the good faith and credit of the state, all doubts should be waived in favor of the legislation and that it was my duty as governor to sign the validation bills, leaving the courts to determine the legal questions involved."

GOVERNOR'S DAUGHTER GOT BUSINESS FROM ROAD BONDS

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 13.—The spotlight of the investigation of public departments today played on Jas. E. Ferguson, former governor and husband of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, and on advertisement of road contractors carried in his weekly paper, The Ferguson Forum.

C. E. Hoff, of the San Antonio firm of Colcazier and Hoff, said his company agreed to pay $1,000 for advertising in the Forum "to avoid the ill will of Jim Ferguson, and get even break on highway contracts 'to be long'."

W. A. Boyett of Bryan stated he had paid $1,500 for advertising, believing that "Jim would feel more friendly than if I had refused to buy space," and that he appreciated Ferguson's helping to get him a $4,000 maintenance contract.

The belief that he would place himself in the good graces of Governor Ferguson and Jim Ferguson was a factor in his agreeing to pay $500 for advertising, C. M. Kelly of San Antonio said.

Wouldn't Make Him Mad

"I didn't think it would make him mad," said Holland Page, Lubbock contractor, when asked if he did not feel his buying of $1,200 worth of space would create the good will of Jim Ferguson.

Page testified that before he left the highway department office, after being awarded the bond maintenance contract for Gaudalupe and Gonzalez counties, he was approached by Joe Fura, advertising solicitor for the Forum and agreed to buy $1,200 worth of space, paying $600 down and the rest within 30 days.

He said Mr. Ferguson was with the committee when the contract was awarded, "but didn't say anything." Fura, who calls New York City his home, solicited Hoff, Boyett and Page, they said.

Talks to Mrs. Nalle

Immediately after his conference with Fura and within 30 minutes of being awarded the contract, Page said he went to the Governor's mansion where he made arrangements with Mrs. George Nalle, daughter of Governor Ferguson, to buy a $25,000 surety bond through the American Surety Co. He said the bond costs $450 and the bond was drawn in the farmer's downtown office.

Mr. T. Rainey, a farmer who lives near Lockhart, and "is an old friend of the Ferguson's," told Mrs. Nalle that the bond business, and asked him to let her handle his business, Page said.

Representative Piy of Gonzalez, a member of the committee, told Page he understood his maintenance of Gaudalupe county highways had been set in factory but that he could not say as much for Gonzalez county. Page said he had been given every cooperation by Gaudalupe citizens, but that many Gonzalez county citizens had thrown in his way every obstacle.

Bozett Testifies

Bozett testified he had known Ferguson since 1915, and that when he learned county maintenance contracts were to be let he came to Austin and in the Governor's office asked Ferguson's aid in getting contracts. He said this was promised him, and that state Senator R. H. Bowers of Caldwell also agreed to help.

In May, 1925, Bozett said he was awarded contracts at $7,000 for maintaining highways in Brazos, Watson and Madison counties. The three commissioners, chairman Frank Latham, Joe Burkett, John Bickett, Sr. and Ferguson were present at the awarding.

Within fifteen days after being awarded the maintenance contracts, he was approached by Fura, Bozett said.

In "This Freedom" one of the first of the "husband or career" novels, Rosalie's kids go to the devil, and the author infers it is all Rosalie's fault.

This is not a pretty quote which I dug forth from a current magazine article on the subject of alimony, but read it anyway, if you can: "cancer and the alimony leech are one and the same thing. The divorce is like the operation for cancer in that it relieves the man of the woman, but the financial obligations remain, like the roots of the cancer, until they drain the vital forces and the victim is destroyed."

Queer thing that modern woman can prattle about the equality of the sexes, and in the next breath publicly admit that she is inferiorly expedient for meeting life and making a living when she accepts alimony to the tune of the millions of dollars with which it is paid in America!

Coat flowers, vases, lilies, pansies, nasturtiums, made of fur are Fashion's latest offering. While it is sure that a rose made of soft beige squirrel is mighty chic five dollars seems a lot to pay for so trite a sartorial adornment!

A young man of the east took his best girl to the theatre. The girl lived in the suburbs. The theater was in New York. The girl's parents were very strict about who and why and where. The young man promised to have her home at such and such a time. Came the thunderstorm. Cars tied up. No telephone wires. Utterly impossible to get his sweetie home.

And now this much criticized modern youth rose to the crisis. He took his girl to the Y. W. C. A., demanded a receipt from the matron in charge in exchange for the girl, and mailed it special delivery to her parents.

The Woman's Day

Take it all back! No, not "all" but some of it! Not long ago I sold some nasty things in this column about a new novel called "Portia Marries." Well, I still insist that much of it is silly, stilted, written, but I do hand it this on a silver platter. It is almost the only modern novel I know which permits a woman to have that much-touted "career," a home, a husband,

TELLS ABOUT PECANS

San Saba Puts Out Paper Devoted To Interests of Culture of Texas Product

SAN SABA, Tex., Oct. 19.—No. 4 of Volume 5, of the "Pioneer Pecan Press" has just been issued from the office of Editor Mrs. A. Cowan of San Saba. The Pioneer Pecan Press is the only magazine in the world devoted exclusively to pecan culture and questions related to the pecan industry.

The October issue just from the press, contains 24 pages of reading and advertising matter about the native Texas nuts. Outstanding in the issue is a discussion of Texas pecans and financial independence, by A. W. Woodruff, pecan expert of Commerce, in which San Saba is located. The chief feature article of the magazine is a story on E. E. Risien of San Saba, the "Work of a Gaily Pecan Breeder," and the "Hurbank of Pecan-land."

Twenty-one pages are devoted exclusively to the discussion of various phases of the pecan subject. Comment is made in the editorial section of the Pioneer Pecan Press on the efforts of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to secure a re-valuation of lands now used for pecan growing or lands on which pecans can be grown. The Hills County District of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, in which San Saba is located, is rapidly becoming recognized for its adaptability to pecan industry. In belief that that section may develop the industry as a real asset, West Texas officials of the regional organization are attempting to have additional valuations given to lands where pecan orchards exist or may be cultivated, and the Pioneer Pecan Press favorably mentions this action in its editorial division.

SOCK AND BUSKIN PRESENTS "A LEAP YEAR LEAP"

Before 20 new members of the Sock and Buskin club, one of the best productions ever staged by the organization, was presented last night under the direction of Miss Ruth Pirtle and Miss Mable Jane Witt.

The plot of the play was centered around the love affair of a very artistic young lady and a very businesslike young man. The contrast furnished many comical situations which were well acted. Both characters were played with dramatic ability and their parts showed the results of stage technique and presence teachings. Miss Verma Wilson and Horace Grady Moore composed the cast and received a large ovation from the club.

A little number of plays will be staged by the club throughout the year and possibly one or two long plays will be presented to the public.

BAND PREPARING FOR FORT WORTH TRIP

With less than two weeks until the trip to Fort Worth, every organization of the Tech is working to be ready for a grand display at the first appearance of the Tech downstate. The Tech band is one of the organizations which is preparing for the trip and practices are being held overtime in order to present one of the best programs ever heard over a radio there. During the past several days, the unit has been out on the drill field, preparing marches for the parade through the downtown district on the morning of the arrival of the delegation there.

The Tech pep squad is also going through daily drills for the formation of the "T" on the field at T. C. U.

SENIORS ARE CALLED FOR MEETING TODAY

President E. M. Barnett of the senior class has issued a call for a meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock in room 211 of the administration building. He urges that every member be present as important matters will be taken up. The committees on the rings, sweaters, colors, entertainment and other matters will make their reports this afternoon.

EAST TEXAS CLUB ORGANIZED

The boys from the piney woods of East-Texas met Monday night and perfected an organization of all the students living in towns from Marshall north to Galveston on the south. Great enthusiasm was shown at the meeting and a spirited contest featured the election of the officers. Paul C. McWilliams of Lufkin, was elected president; Julie Love, Marshall, vice-president; Brock Brandon, Marshall, secretary; treasurer and Red McQueen, Athens, sergeant at arms.

Over thirty members are included in the organization and a very active year is being planned by the officers. Social events will figure in the plans and a part will be taken in all intramural competition. The club will also contribute for a page in the annual and it is the purpose of the organization to make a permanent unit in the list of organizations of the Tech.

COLORADO CLUB ORGANIZED

Tech students who reside in Colorado City, Texas, met the latter part of last week and organized a club to be known as the Colorado club. The club contains twelve members, the majority of which are taking active part in the activities of the school. J. T. Gist was elected president of the club and will endeavor to keep the good work of the club going. Last year he was the only member of the Tech student body from Colorado City and now he has eleven others with him. It is the purpose of the club to build up a greater Tech spirit here as well as at home.

Clubs of this nature are constructive to the school and a number of them are being organized. The list now includes Amarillo, Vernon, East Texas and Colorado. It is likely that a New Mexico, Oklahoma and South Texas club will be organized.

JUNIORS TO MEET THURSDAY

President Winfield Nicklaus, of the Juniors, issued a call for the Juniors, issued a call yesterday for a meeting of the class to be held Thursday night at 7:30 in room 202 of the administration building. The Juniors are planning for the lead in all the activities of the school and will endeavor to build up a strong class organization for the coming year, their graduation time. The meeting Thursday night will include matters pertaining to rings, colors, and social events.

MASONIC TEMPLE AT ABILENE IS COMPLETED

ABILENE, Tex., Oct. 19.—The new Masonic Temple, largest and most pretentious in West Texas, has been completed. The Kiker-Kight Undertaking company has already moved into one of the quarters on the lower floor. It will be probably ten days before the Masonic lodge will move in, it was said by J. T. Hudson, secretary. The building is situated on North Second street, just west of the new $125,000 municipal building now under construction.

ABILENE COTTON IS SLOWING DOWN

RAIN RETARDS PICKING OF THE STAPLE IN TAYLOR COUNTY

Special to The Avalanche
ABILENE, Tex., Oct. 19.—The rainy period of last week has slowed cotton receipts appreciably, according to Public Welfare, R. L. Young. Total receipts at the yards since the season began are 5,300 bales, or about 300 bales more than at the corresponding time last year. The price is around 12 1/2 cents. Picking is proceeding and this movement has not been detected on the part of the farmers to abandon their cotton crop, it was asserted by farm interests here. The rain was particularly heavy in northern Jones county, where considerable cotton was damaged, according to reports received here. The State Free Employment Bureau here continues to receive a brisk demand for pickers, indicating that there is no general movement to abandon the cotton crop in that section.

Texas South Plains

50,000 Acres in Gaines, Terry and Yoakum Counties for Sale

Priced $11 to $20 per Acre

SMALL TRACTS — LOW PRICES — EASY TERMS

South of the Panhandle of Texas, and occupying the plateau between the valleys of the Pecos and the Red Rivers, is a region known as the South Plains. The Mexicans called it the llano estacado (staked plains), from the stakes by which they marked the trails. It is a broad, nearly level prairie, celebrated by stockmen of a generation or two ago as the "short grass county" the best grass land between the two Oceans. It is traversed by the Panhandle & Santa Fe Railway, a division of the Santa Fe running from Amarillo to Coleman. Extensions have been built from Slaton, in Lubbock County, to Lamesa, in Dawson County, and into the heart of the South Plains from Lubbock to Brownfield in Terry County, to Seagraves, in Gaines County, and from Lubbock to the New Mexico line. This gives this rich stock and farming region, and coming fruit and dairy country, good outlets north to Kansas City, east to Fort Worth, and south to Galveston.

LIKENED TO SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Speaking of the whole plateau, the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture says it is "probably more favored as regards uniformity of weather conditions than any portion of the United States, except possibly the immediate coast of southern California and the Florida peninsula." The same authority adds:

"Great extremes of temperature are uncommon, the air is dry and aseptic under nearly all conditions, and the altitude is such as to give the best tonic effect to the human system. There is an abundance of sunshine, but the heat of summer and the cold of winter are both modified by the uniform dryness of the atmosphere."

A HEALTHFUL CLIMATE—DRY INVIGORATING

The average rainfall for the past five years at the Lubbock Station was 22.48 inches. A 23-year average at Amarillo shows a record of 21.9 inches; a 28-year record at Mt. Blanco, Crosby County, shows 21 inches; and a 21-year record at Plainview, Hale County, 20.9 inches. From Brownfield, Terry County, a 3-year record (including two wet and one dry years) shows 23.6 inches, and similar conditions for Gaines County.

RAINFALL and UNDERGROUND WATER SHED

The experiment station established a few years ago at Lubbock by the United States Department of Agriculture, furnishes the following information which may be relied upon as strictly accurate:—"The Plains country is fortunate in having a delightful and healthful climate. The air is dry and invigorating. The winters are usually open, permitting of farm operations throughout the winter months.

The altitude of the Plains is about 3,200 feet. In summer the nights are cool and pleasant. The temperatures are not extreme in either winter or summer, not often registering zero in winter or above 100 degrees in summer. The average date of the last killing frost in spring is April 8th, and the average date of the first killing frost in the fall is Nov. 1. This gives a long growing season and permits of a comparatively wide range for the planting period."

M. R. E. Karper, director of the Lubbock Station, says: "From a study of the rainfall for a period of years, it is noticed that 75 per cent of the yearly total falls within the six months of the crop growing season, April to November, inclusive. This seasonal distribution of rainfall has a very vital connection with the plant growth and is a distinct advantage. In the entire Great Plains area moisture is the limiting factor in crop production, but by following good farming practices in the preparation of the seed bed, and cultivation of crops adapted to this section, there is no reason why complete crop failures should occur. The sandy loam character of the soil makes it more receptive of rainfall than some tighter or heavier soils, and it is also more retentive of moisture."

Subterranean water is abundant and unfauling at about 100 feet. Wells in the South Plains country never go dry and the water contains very little mineral. An analysis of the Seagraves water shows to be very pure.

LANDS FOR SALE TRIBUTARY TO NEWLY COMPLETED SANTA FE RAILROAD IN HOCKLEY AND COCHRAN COUNTIES — SERVED BY THE TOWNS OF SAYER, WHITEFACE, LEHMAN AND BLEDSOE

Here will be found lands comparable only to the more highly developed counties of the South Plains, such as Lubbock, Crosby and Hale. In Hockley and Cochran Counties the percentage of lands subject to cultivation is greater than those of any counties in the Southwest.

Colonization is more rapid and development quicker in these counties. Opportunities are boundless here. All crops grown on the South Plains are adapted to growing on these lands. Crops are there to show for the fertility of the soil. If you would buy a farm home in a preferred section of a great growing agricultural empire you should investigate the proposition we can offer you in these two counties.

not care. The stop blocks are the best solution of the traffic problems that we have had, but still the careless and unconcerned driver is liable at most any time to cause a serious wreck. The citizenship should render every assistance to the traffic officers by observing the rules closely and avoiding every possible accident. PAYING TO BORROW

Again it looks as if France will ratify the American debt agreement. In spite of his own dislike of the Berenger plan and the dislike of French taxpayers to paying anything at all, Premier Poincare has swung around to approval of the plan and is said to be swinging his parliamentary majority with him. So it is rather expected that Parliament will soon vote the thing through. This, however, is no sudden passion for debt payment or love for America. The reason given for the French premier's about-face is quite simple. France wants a big American loan, and knows she can't get it without ratifying the debt pact. So she will agree to pay in order to get more money. Incidentally there is an expectation in France that, although the United States refuses to modify her debt terms now, it will soften them considerably later on, if France acquiesces and signs on the dotted line. That may be. Terms may be modified and nullified to all-out war debtors, sooner or later. Nobody can tell. It depends on circumstances. But there is less and less talk of "collecting every dollar" and more and more feeling that this country will be lucky to get anything back. Also a feeling that, after all, there are "intangible factors" to be reckoned in international bookkeeping. But it is a curious thing, this coupling of debt settlements with new loans. Nearly all of the debtors are doing it. There is a difference in the loans, to be sure. The old ones are government loans and the new ones are private loans. But the money comes out of America just the same. And the question naturally occurs to a good many Americans whether there is really any advantage to this country in lending a debtor five dollars more for every dollar he pays back.

FAMOUS FOOLS

Contemporary judgements are seldom safe judgements. The public has often called men fools while they lived whom history has adjudged great after they were dead.

"If you see a man with an India rubber coat on, India rubber shoes and India rubber cap, and in his pocket an India rubber purse with not a cent in it, that is Goodyear," said the neighbors contemptuously of the man who struggled and starved to relieve years in his search for a process by which rubber could be vulcanized. John Fitch, the first man to build a steam boat, suffered more from the ridicule of his neighbors than from mechanical difficulties encountered. When the Constitutional convention in Philadelphia adjourned to witness his trip, George Washington was so little interested that he took advantage of the recess and accepted a dinner engagement instead. The first telephone was exhibited at the Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia in 1876 by Alexander Graham Bell but the strange instrument attracted little attention and the public call it a silly playing thing upon which a grown man had wasted good energy. Samuel F. B. Morse was called a fool for thinking he could stretch a wire between two cities and send messages across it by electrical power. But a new cable across the Atlantic Ocean was opened for traffic a few days ago which has a capacity of twenty-five hundred letters per minute. Elijah P. Lovejoy was shot down in Alton, Illinois, in 1837 for his anti-slavery agitation and in 1897 the same city erected a magnificent monument to his memory which is the show place of the town today. The people of Illinois thought Stephen A. Douglas was their great man and that Abraham Lincoln was a second rate lawyer, but Douglas is remembered in 1926 chiefly because of the fact that he debated with Mr. Lincoln. Susan B. Anthony's name was a joke throughout the nation thirty years ago because she advocated the right of women to vote on an equality with men, and twenty-five years later a constitutional amendment was in force establishing that right. Today the justice of the amendment is never questioned. The fool of today may be the wise man of tomorrow. Contemporary opinion must be held subject to change without notice. The men of Lubbock were called foolish when they said that this would be one of the great agricultural and diversified farming sections of the Southwest. They are considered more foolish when they thought that land in this country would never be worth the price of a pair of boots, and when the fellow separated from a perfectly good pair of spur racks for two sections of Lubbock County land there was no further evidence that this man was a fool. This thought is just another addition to the list of famous fools, and still as time goes on and on. The men who contend for things now, and believe that such and such things will come to pass—fools today will be famous in days to come.

CAN WE STOP THE KILLING

The killing of 13,250 persons, and the injury of 350,000 others in eight months ought to emphasize in your mind the danger of reckless automobile driving. These are the figures of the American Road Builders' Association.

Why does the American public take as a matter of course the death of so many persons? Why are we unmoved by the yearly suffering of more than a half million citizens? Why do we not ask ourselves whether this is necessary to our present life? It is time for all citizens of Lubbock to seriously consider a method of curbing these terrible accidents. Scarcely a day passes but some one is injured in an automobile accident right in our own county. What do we do?

Many suggestions have been made. The stringent examination of all applicants and the issuance of a driving license only to those found fit. This is good, certainly. Another, the strict investigation of every automobile accident, and the suspension of the license of the careless party at once. A more stringent law as to reckless driving with real punishment, might help. At any rate, something should be done.

In this discussion we do not raise the point of money damage, although in the usual automobile accident, the party injured has practically no redress for this property or personal injury. While the financial loss is serious it does not rank on equal footing with the loss of human life.

Many accidents are caused by people being careless. It is not always the fast driver that causes accidents, but the folks who do not watch where they are driving. The fellow that is not looking ahead or watching for cars on intersections. One can stand and watch the cars at the intersections of most any of the prominent streets and see how many people pass the stop blocks. Some without thinking. Some never notice them, and others do

SO THINK WE

We think getting by in life is just another name of getting left.

We think now from the looks of things there will be no more pennants to win for about a year.

We think the best way to enforce a law is to obey it, and the best way to get it repealed is to enforce it.

We think it is remarkable how so many people can successfully dodge work.

We think the best way to take care of your health is to do so while we yet have it. Its too late after it is gone.

We think Lubbock needs at least five hundred street lights.

We think if some of the old-time laws that were reffered in the minds of the people of this city in Sunday's issue were in effect today, there might be some good results shown from it.

We think most people are agreed on the remedy for the low price of cotton, but who is going to make the beginning.

We think the South Plains should arrange for a receiving station for all of the cotton on the South Plains. Be authorized to pay as much as fifty dollars on the bale and ship some to the warehouse in the market centers and store it till the market is ready for it.

We think that if three people would obey the laws there would not be so much talk of enforcement of laws.

We think that Alexander the Great has some back—but this time as a baseball pitcher.

We think if the country is going to operate on an equal rights basis, the wives should take out more insurance in favor of their husband and pay the premiums.

We think we saw a real phenomenon the other day. It was an automobile driver who had just emerged from a wreck and he said he was all to blame for it, and he would not only fix his own car, but would replace the other fellow's car and pay the hospital bills of the injured. He must also have been a millionaire.

We think that nearly all of the corncribers are "wet". Most of them have watered stock, to say the least of it.

We think more bond concerts might make Lubbock more lively. We have two or three good bands, but we have very little public music.

We think next year there should be more wheat and corn planted, and more cows and sows and hens raised.

We think fifty dollars is not too much to put into a bale of good cotton anytime and that much put into all of the bales of cotton in Lubbock county would mean a lot of money, and by holding this cotton till the market wants it, rather than to force it upon the market, will get twenty or twenty-five cents per pound.

strongly favoring the renewing of the contract for the Home Demonstration Agent in this county. The commissioners will take this matter up again at a future session.

It is reported that contracts have all been signed for putting in the gas line from the Amarillo field through Lubbock to Slusher, the extreme southern terminus of the line, and work will go forward in a hurry.

It is reported that Lubbock county is to have thirty-five miles of additional rural delivery service. That will be the means of helping the postoffice to better take care of the situation.

It is reported that with the pleasant sunshine that has been beaming down on the South Plains the past few days, the cotton will open nicely, and picking will be good.

It is reported that Lubbock is the poorest lighted city of its size in Texas. Without much trouble this could in all probability be verified.

It is reported that town's motto does not amount to much, but just try to steal one, and see what will happen.

SOUTH PLAINS PRESS

NO WORRY:
Terry County Herald: "There is at least one farmer in the Brownfield section that is not lying awake nights worrying about the low price of cotton, for he does not own a penny to any man, and whatever he gets out of his cotton is clear to the good. In an interview with one of our business men, this farmer, whose name we are not privileged to divulge, said that the poultry and eggs, cream, vegetables and fruits had supplied the family in groceries he did not produce on the farm, as well as clothing and other necessities. He has a farm yard full of good chickens, some good cows and plenty of meat hogs and a good brood sow. In other words, this farmer is 'settin' Jake' and the cotton money, though little, is all his own. This farmer's advice to other farmers, 'will be to be capable of giving advice, for them to quit hiring all their work done and do some of it themselves. He just asked the question, 'what would happen if you business men hired all your work done and just got out and run around over the country? And they should raise something else besides cotton on the farm.'"

Diversification of products and intensification of cultivation will mean thousands of dollars to the people of the country in years to come. Most of the farmers we believe try to cultivate too much land, and do not make it produce what it really should produce. This country has proven itself as a fine diversified farming section of the state, and there is no use for farmers to adhere to the old practice of planting everything in cotton. It will not work in this country any better than in other sections, and the farmer that has enough dogs for his own and several to sell each year, and has enough cows to furnish the family with all the milk and butter and cream that they need throughout the year and a large profit of cream to sell every day, a bunch of hogs that will produce enough eggs for the family to have all they want and fried chicken for all of the family, and a wagon or so to sell everytime you go to town, will be away in the lead of the cotton farmer at the end of the year, with all debts paid and money in the bank after taxes has been deducted.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that the grand jury is in session, and that there are a few of the familiar faces of the town conspicuous by their absence for a few days.

The Philippines—a Vital Story!

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Writer

The general idea in the United States when the Philippines were acquired from Spain was that this country now possessed a few little islands somewhere in the Pacific ocean that were of strategic military value and little else. The islands were supposed to be sparsely populated by a little brown, peace-loving, Christian people. That's what America thought. Here's what it found when it started out to govern the islands:

There were 7,341 islands, with a total area of 113,526 square miles—greater area than that comprised in the states of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware, and 27,000 square miles larger than Great Britain.

There were, approximately, 11,000,000 persons in the archipelago. These were divided into seven distinct racial classifications, with seven distinct languages, which, in turn, were divided into eighty-seven different dialects.

Illiteracy and Superstition
The island of Luzon, along with the city of Manila, held the most advanced of the tribes, the Tagalogs. There were about two million of them. Ten per cent had some education and wore European clothes. Ninety per cent were illiterate, extremely superstitious, impractical, unimaginative, unresourceful. Most of the educated 10 per cent were "mestizo," mixture of Malayan and Spanish and Chinese blood.

North of the Tagalogs were the Negritos, who have been pushed about and slaughtered by the other tribes for centuries. A Negroite more than five feet tall is a giant. By necessity, they had no permanent home, but ran wild in the forests, their wardrobe consisting of a g-string. They could not read or write, or even talk with anyone outside their tribe.

Northeast of the Tagalogs were the Bukidnons. They, too, were savages, but not of such a low order as the tiny negroes. They had their own language and couldn't talk to Tagalogs or anyone else. They ate their meat raw, howled at the moon and warred enthusiastically with themselves and everybody else.

North of them were the Pampinians, about a million, who are about as intelligent, although less educated, as the Tagalogs. Also scattered around this vicinity are Ilocanos, the Pangasinans, the Cebuans and the Zamboangians and the Igorotes. There were about a half million in each tribe. Each tribe had its own language.

Head Hunters
The Igorotes go out with wicker baskets and come back—if they are lucky—with the baskets full of enemies' heads.

Yet, despite their national pastime of head-hunting, the Igorotes have everyone else in the islands beaten for thrift and industry. They have the most remarkable system in the world of terracing rice fields, learned from the Japanese, and they have a greater per capita wealth than the United States!

On the islands to the south of Luzon are the Visayans, the Moros and the wild men, the Vissayans are much like the Tagalogs, although more illiterate and much more numerous. The Moros are the gentlemen who are responsible for some army units of 48 without revolver instead of a '32. They find their bodies so tightly that a bullet in one place doesn't keep the other parts from functioning until actual death comes.

For centuries back the Moros have been Mohammedans and are taught that if they kill a Christian they get a higher place in heaven. Now, however, they are fairly successful in progressing rapidly, and profess great approval of American rule. But they never have lost any of their hatred for the natives to the north, and they promise the spilling of much blood if the Manila government ever tries to boss them.

The wild men of the southern islands are still plain wild. Naturally, they understand no Moro or Tagalog or any other of the 87 languages.

Our New Children
All these were the people that the United States found it had adopted. Rival dates carved each other with knife and campfire, unrestrained by civilization. Piracy was national vocation of the Moros.

Sanitary conditions were unspokeable. In the city of Manila, the death rate among children under one year of age was 91 per cent. Smallpox, beri-beri, malarial plague, tuberculosis and every other pestilential disease flourished.

There was no common understanding, every tribe was an enemy of every other tribe. The small element that did boast any sort of culture was of the half-breed "mestizo" stock. The natives professed Christianity, but worshiped everything from human jaw-bones to frogs.

Yet, in the last quarter of a century, in this chaos has gone down before the scientific methods of civilization.

A novelist describes a young husband "relating his wife in his arms" and he probably caught her in his pockets later on.

CLARENDON EXPECTS GREEN JERSIED GRID WARRIORS TO BATTLE TO VICTORY OVER TEXAS TECH MATADORS SATURDAY

CLARENDON, Oct. 19.—The Clarendon College football team will meet the Matador football eleven in Lubbock Saturday. The game promises to be one of the big lifts of the season's schedule for the Clarendon outfit and much interest is being taken in the approaching struggle. Several hundred fans expect to make the journey to the home of the Matadors, Saturday and a great account is expected of Barton's men.

Fans who watched Clarendon down McMurry College 20 to 6 in the game last Friday pinning their faith to the green-jersied men for another victory this week-end, by defeating McMurry in a flashy style the eleven becomes at once a real contender for Saturday's honors.

The fighting spirit of the Bulldogs is rapidly rounding into mid-season spirit and this fact together that the playing form has been greatly improved since the initial game adds much hope to the football aspirations of the local crowd.

The coaches will take a squad of 35 players to Lubbock. This number will insure plenty of reserve material and should greatly enhance the chances for a victory over Freeland's outfit.

The probable line-up in Saturday's game for the Bulldogs follows:

Right End—Stocking.
Right Tackle—Darnell.
Right Guard—Miller.
Quarterback—Corbin (captain).

JACK SHARKEY CHALLENGES GENE

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Jack Sharkey, another "Boston strong boy" who defeated Harry Wills, placed himself on record with the New York state athletic commission today as a challenger to Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight boxing champion. The commission received the challenge and information and placed it on file where it will receive consideration. Sharkey was the first to file a formal challenge with the commission.

While Sharkey was attempting to qualify for further ring activity, his victim was told that he can not box in New York for thirty days even if he wants to. Wills was suspended for that period for fouling Sharkey, this being a routine consequence of his disqualification under the rules of the commission.

The commission indicated that challenges may be submitted and field to be taken up in order should the situation seem to warrant action.

Gene Tunney, the champion, has announced that he stands ready to box any contender named by Tex Rickard, when the promoter "says the word."

SIXTY-THREE COLLEGES DESIGNATE GAMES PROCEEDS OF WHICH WILL GO TO FUND TO BUILD WALTER CAMP MEMORIAL

NORTHWESTERN TO PLAY NOTRE DAME SATURDAY

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Notre Dame, the outstanding mid-western football team unrepresented in the western conference, derives much pleasure each autumn from standing on their heads a few of the conference teams.

Not since 1921 has Rockne's annual invasion of the conference found the South Bendians on the little end of a score and that was when Iowa conference champion, beat Notre Dame, 19 to 7.

With these facts in mind, Northwestern, which even in its pinkest gridiron days has been a tartar for the Rockne eleven, is preparing this week for Saturday's Notre Dame game, by all odds the hardest tilt on the Wildcat schedule.

Last year the South Bendians were pressed to win 33 to 10.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Sixty-three college contests in all sections of the country have been designated as "Walter Camp" games as part of the nationwide gridiron tribute this season to the memory of the "father of football." The list, made public here by Edward K. Hall, chairman of the football rules committee and long associated with Camp in the government of the game, is expected to be substantially increased, as other colleges complete their memorial plans.

The designation of "Walter Camp" games is part of the program sponsored by the National College Athletic Association to honor Camp's memory. The association is sharing with Yale the raising of $200,000 to build a memorial to Camp in the form of a monumental gateway to the Yale athletic fields at New Haven.

Strolling Down Sport Lane With James R. Dow

From all reports, "pro football" is nothing new—sport critics of the past have dug up history that dates back to 1870, which shows that organized football was had in Ohio at that time.

Southwestern conference contest is growing warmer and will likely come to a boil when the Texas Aggies clash with the Mustangs at Dallas Saturday. The winner of this clash will be considered leading conference contender as Mr. Dow has already set coter S. M. U., A. & M., and T. C. U. down as the probable conference champs.

Of course the fans of the Matadors are well certain that the Texas Tech eleven will have no trouble in putting away a victory on the Clarendon Bulldogs—but remember the heated rivalry set up a knockout of a fight with the Matadors here last season. There is nothing certain in this football—they have as many on the field as the Tech.

Amorillo "pros" won their first game with Claude last Sunday 7 to 6. Professionalism on the gridiron is very close to fans of the Panhandle and West Texas. Lubbock former University and high school players have been considering the "pro" route lately, but nothing has developed for a certainty.

Today the lower part of the South Plains II conference championship will likely be decided in Latona. The League's conference meet with the Mustangs. For the past few years the Tigers have ruled supreme on the gridiron; but Latona has a strong eleven and is a conference contender.

Friday will show the members of the Westerners, Von Tusslein and Franks, how their club stands as the champs of the Class A conference of the South Plains. The Westerners meet with the Plainview Bulldogs in Plainview.

Ancient feud and rivalry will be displayed in the contest of Plainview Friday when the Bulldogs and Westerners battle.

"Duckie" Allen, who has been coach of the Plainview Bulldogs for some few years, has always produced a fighting eleven. Allen is a smart high school coach and has seen the Bulldogs thru several championship games.

The Bulldogs of the Plainview high school have a well experienced eleven with the services of nine old letter men. Allen has coached his bunch the fighting style and quickly yanks any of the gridsters who are not fighting.

Captain Maxwell of the Plainview Bulldogs is one of the best broken field runners in the Panhandle. He is a triple threat man—punter, punter and a consistent ground gainer.

The Matadors are considered as one of the strongest defense clubs in the state. However on the other hand their offense is weak. Offense has to have their development, while defense comes to a club rapidly.

Bo McMillan's Geneva college club who pummeled for 400 yards in their game with Cornell last Saturday—pretty fair yardage called for Cornell, don't you think?

The NUT CRACKER by Joe Williams

The main difference between the new coaching system at Harvard and the old one is that the team now loses with greater speed and effect than ever before.

McMillan seems to be able to beat those Canadian eleven merely by leaving a forwarding address, a card of regrets and an old yellow letter.

This looks like an off year for Ricker and the Notre Dame team.

On two different occasions in the opening game one of the halfbacks was stepped on in his tracks after running on 65 yards.

Don't Tamper With State Boxing Laws

DETROIT, Oct. 19.—Any attempt to tamper with or improve the laws governing boxing in several states might result in the repeal of some of the laws that now permit the national boxing association to attend the annual convention which closed today.

Commissioners generally expressed themselves as opposing movements seeking new or amended legislation.

There was general satisfaction among commissioners with the growth during the past year of the national association, which has added the states of Rhode Island, New Jersey and Illinois. This leaves out side the association only New York, Pennsylvania and California of the principal "fight" states.

Allen W. Barber, a Cincinnati, Ohio, attorney, was elected president of the association succeeding Lathrop Cogwell, of Baltimore, Md., who was elected treasurer-secretary. The next convention will be held in October, 1927, in Toledo, Ohio.

MARIE IS GUEST AT WHITE HOUSE

QUEEN LOOKS OVER POINTS OF HISTORICAL INTEREST—SEES "WISHING ROSE"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Queen of Rumania tonight exchanged the privilege of being the guest of the nation for that of being the personal guest of its chief executive and his first lady.

Forty-one hours after her triumphant voyage to New York, the gateway to America, and 22 hours after her arrival in the nation's capital, Rumania's queen was formally received by the President and Mrs. Coolidge.

The reception at 4 o'clock in the famous Blue Room, that has witnessed a century of presidential receptions, was to return a call of the President and Mrs. Coolidge at the Rumanian legation shortly afterwards, and the queen's entertainment at a state dinner at the White House tonight, discharged the traditional amenities of nations.

These functions came as a climax to a day in which Queen Marie delved deep into American history, visiting as preliminary to the White House call, Washington's home at Mt. Vernon, the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington National Cemetery, and the Lincoln Memorial.

At White House

The reception ceremony at the White House was brief and formal. Two official cars bearing the seal of the United States, called at the legation which is for the moment a royal residence. Under escort of J. Butler Wright, personal representative of the President, and Radu T. Djuvara, Rumanian charge, the queen and Prince Nicholas and Princess Ileana, were taken swiftly to the White House where government officials were in line waiting for the visitors as they passed in to the grounds.

Secretary Kellogg had joined the President and Mrs. Coolidge in the Blue Room as is customary on such occasions. Mr. Wright announced the Queen. A moment later she presented herself to the chief executive and his lady and the formality that surrounds the meeting of heads of states was completed.

Less than ten minutes had passed before the royal party was back in the motor cars on its way to the legation to welcome the President and Mrs. Coolidge on their immediate return call.

Sight Seeing

The Queen, Princess Ileana, Prince Nicholas and other members of the royal party left the legation at 9:30 A.M. morning for their sight-seeing tour. Mr. Wright acted as guide to her majesty, who rode in a black and olive touring car with the top down, which led the procession of more than a dozen machines. The bright sun brought an exclamation of pleasure from the royal tourists as the cars got under way.

The queen wore a full length molton coat with a huge bunch of parmaviolets pinned to the shawl collar. Under her coat she wore amuse-colored wool crepe dress of straight, simple lines, and a toque of crushed velvet to match. The inevitable three ropes of pearls, pearl ear rings, beige stockings and kid slippers completed her costume.

To Soldier Tomb

The visit to the tomb of the unknown soldier was marked by a simple ceremony of tribute, when the queen, pausing for a moment of silent prayer with head bowed, laid on the grave over looking the Potomac and the distant capitol a wreath of roses in the tri-color of Rumania.

She placed the wreath on the grave a second time at the request of photographers and then turned to exclaim in admiration as she gazed at the marble circle on the memorial amphitheatre on the terrace of which the tomb of the unknown soldier is set.

"Isn't it beautiful," she said to Mr. Wright.

"Really a magnificent thing—and what a situation."

She chatted with Brigadier General Rokenbach, commanding officer of the District of Washington in charge of the committee at Arlington.

"All my life I have been used to soldiers," she said.

The queen was accorded the presidential salute of 21 guns as her car entered the Ft. Meyer military reservation approaching the tomb and it roared out again as the procession sped away from Arlington.

At Mount Vernon

No military honors, but a tribute to another sort, awaited her at Mount Vernon. Seven old ladies, vice regents of the seven state branches of the Mount Vernon Ladies Association, brought to her the greetings of Maryland, Florida, Texas, Rhode Island, Delaware, Pennsylvania, and the District of Columbia. The queen shook hands with each and presented the prince and princess.

Mrs. T. S. Maxie, of Texas, dean of the association, which cares for historical treasures at Washington's home, and Colonel Harrison Dodge, director of the mansion, led the queen thru the quaintly furnished old rooms. She was lavishing her admiration.

"The furniture is charming," "Isn't it delicious?" and "I love the old four-posters," she exclaimed as she was shown LaFayette's room, the river room and the downstairs reception rooms of the ancestral home of the first president.

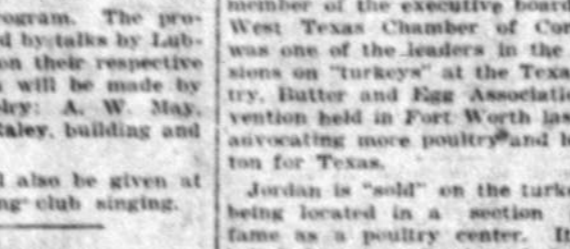

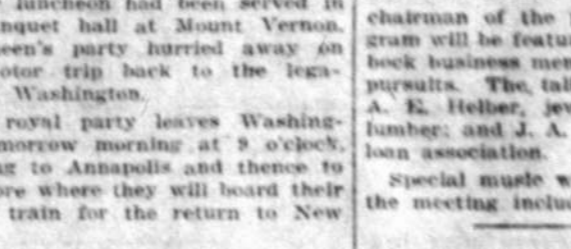

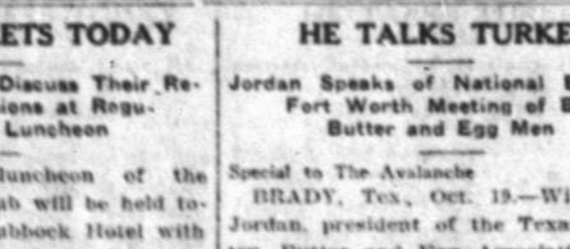

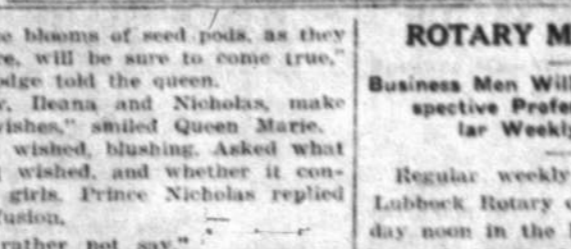

She was shown about the grounds and into the tomb of Washington where she laid a wreath similar to that left at Arlington and she was told of Washington's plans for his tomb, the earlier one which still remains above the present more elaborate structure. The queen admired the planning of the grounds and the view of the tranquil river, saying:

"Everything here seems to speak of General Washington's love for God. It is a beautiful thing to have the love of God."

The Princess Ileana and Prince Nicholas held for a moment the center of the stage, when, in the rose garden, they were shown the "wishing rose" bush.

"Any sentimental wish made on one of these blooms of seed pods, as they now are, will be sure to come true," Col. Dodge told the queen.

"Now, Ileana and Nicholas, make your wishes," smiled Queen Marie. They wished, blushing. Asked what he had wished, and whether it concerned girls, Prince Nicholas replied in confusion.

"I'd rather not say."

After luncheon had been served in the banquet hall at Mount Vernon, the queen's party hurried away on the motor trip back to the legation in Washington.

The royal party leaves Washington tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, stopping to Annapolis and thence to Baltimore where they will board their special train for the return to New York.

Jordan is "sold" on the turkey idea, being located in a section gaining fame as a poultry center. It is his belief that the salvation of the Texas farmer lies in diversification, and that the success of this diversification lies in a poultry program.

The convention over which Jordan presided in Fort Worth was told that Thanksgiving turkeys would be plentiful, of good quality, and no higher than those of last year.

PREPARING FOR TEXAS CENTENNIAL

TEXANS URGED TO GET READY NOW FOR HUNDRETH ANNIVERSARY

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 19.—In a letter from T. W. Gregory, of Houston, to Prof. J. P. Pearce, president of the Texas Museum Association, the former attorney general of the United States points out that if Texas is to fittingly celebrate the centennial of her independence in 1936, some effort must be made immediately to gather and preserve materials which will form a part of the exhibit. The impetus such endeavor would receive through the immediate establishment of a state museum, Mr. Gregory explains in his letter which reads:

"I am heartily in accord with the plan of your association for founding and maintaining a Texas State Museum and one large service which it can and should be made to render, which I have not yet seen mentioned in public print.

"In or about the year 1936 Texas must celebrate her centennial birthday. This can not be done in any other way fittingly as by holding a great exposition, in which the geography and natural resources of Texas—its flora, fauna, minerals, etc., shall be brought together and displayed together with concrete illustrations of her achievements in all lines of human endeavor.

"Ten years will be a short time for accumulating specimens of all the beasts, birds, reptiles, plants and minerals of Texas and cataloging and describing them so as to give them their meaning and importance when put before the public in a great public exposition. The same applies to articles that illustrate the frontier life and early history of the state and the early Indian life of Texas. Competent men should be sent among the remnants of the Texas Indians in Oklahoma and Mexico, the Comanches, Kiowas, Tonkawas, Apaches and others, to get any possible specimens of their weapons, clothing, etc., which may yet be had. It is already too late for any adequate and representative collection of such things to be gotten together but longer delay will be fatal to any prospect of ever doing so.

"The archeological materials of the state will bear some waiting. They are fairly safe in the soil except from the ravages of vandals and vandals who dig into mounds, burial places and other places and spoil such places for the scientist, but to gather and catalog such things so as to make them illustrate the early Indian life, in even a fair way, will require time and this would have to be going on continuously from now until the exposition comes in 1936.

"Permanent museums are nearly always associated with great expositions. The Field Museum at Chicago, the Chicago World's Fair, and the De Young Memorial Museum is an outcome of the California mid-winter exposition.

"The national and intelligent thing for Texas to do at present, with ten years ahead in which to organize and plan, is to found the Museum at once and let a trained staff of scientists get busy and do all they can with the natural history of the state before the exposition comes on. With abundance of money, the exposition authorities can buy and gather materials illustrating the arts and industries of the present time, but collections in the natural history and archeology of Texas can not be bought. They do not exist and must be created.

LIFE SANDERS TO BROWNFIELD CHURCH

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 19.—As was announced last week, Rev. Mr. Life Sanders, of Lubbock, preached for the local Church of Christ Sunday morning and night. There was one confession and baptism Sunday night. Sunday afternoon the officers of the church met with Elder Sanders at the church and employed him to work for the church. He will be able to give only three Sundays to the church until after the first of the year, as he has promised the Church at Tahoka one Sunday until then. After that he will give the Church here his full time. He and his excellent lady will move down about November 1st and will occupy the preacher's home just south of the church.

In point of time he has been on the South Plains, Elder Sanders is probably the oldest preacher in this section and those who have known him longest are his best friends. We believe Brownfield is fortunate in securing his services, and that he will be a decided asset to the moral, religious and school life of the town.

WOULD USE MOVIES TO EDUCATE TEXAS CHILDREN

Special to The Avantache

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 19.—"Motion pictures for school and community use" is the title of the booklet issued by the visual instruction bureau of the University of Texas, according to Mrs. Charles Joe Moore, chief of the bureau. Numerous civic and educational organizations throughout the state are realizing the value of visual aids and are being supplied with motion pictures, stereographs, slides, etc., by this bureau. This booklet is issued in order to show the public the importance of visual education.

The significance of visual instruction is readily seen by the summary of results from 4,656 separate judgments by 81 psychologists and experienced inspectors. These results show that a child's relation to learning 40 per cent of the primary sense experiences are visual, 25 per cent are auditory, 17 per cent are tactile, 15 per cent are miscellaneous and 3 per cent are taste and smell.

Every one knows that words cannot be converted into mental images as easily as pictures can be, and it is by converting the printed page into mental pictures that learning by reading is accomplished, Mrs. Moore said.

The subjects treated by the material are distributed by this bureau cover a wide range. Films on different phases of agriculture, issued from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, are distributed by this bureau. Films may be secured dealing with any subject, from history and economics to the making of a modern newspaper and an explanation of the processes of match-making and the uses of electricity. Novels and historical chronicles are among the films for distribution.

Roy Wingard received the contract for construction and some of the material is already on the ground. These buildings will be modern in every detail, and will be rushed to completion, and when finished, will add greatly to the appearance of that part of our growing little city.

"HAVE A CAMEL" IS MUSIC TO YOUR EARS

Camel is totally different from any other smoke. . . . It is more than a cigarette. . . . A lighted Camel is smoking enjoyment realized—the closest thing to the perfection of taste this old earth ever knew.

Camel's popularity has no equal. Camel demand exceeds any other cigarette preference ever known. To say "Camel" is to ask for the world's most popular cigarette. And to light a Camel is to taste the best.

For there's a solid reason back of the fame and the enjoyment of Camels. Quality. Camels are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos money can buy . . . blended for matchless taste and fragrance.

If you would know how mild and mellow a smoke can really be, just treat yourself to a pack of Camels. Once you know what these words mean, they're music . . . "Have a Camel!"

$1,000 BUYS TITLE TO HOME

Most houses are bought partly with borrowed money. A cash payment is made and the balance is covered by the money you ordinarily pay out as rent.

Do not wait until you have accumulated the full purchase price of a house. Rarely is real estate paid for 100 per cent cash. Do not postpone ownership of a home for such a reason. A mortgage is the customary financial resort of the good business man.

Attractive homes may be purchased for a cash payment as small as $1,000 or less. Investigate the possibilities. Read the Real Estate columns of The Avalanche-Journal. Buy now, when prices are unusually attractive.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—An early decline in the cotton market today was followed by rallies, but after selling up from 12.50 to 13.00, or 20 points net higher, January eased off to 12.76 in late trading and closed at 12.78. The final tone was barely steady at net declines of 5 to 9 points.

The opening was steady at Whang, ed prices to a decline of 3 points, active months showing net losses of 4 to 8 points in early trading under liquidation and southern selling, while there also was some local selling inspired by reports of good weather in the belt and relatively easier Liverpool cable.

The southern offerings were comparatively light, however, and after declining to 12.65 for December and 12.84 for March, the market turned upward on covering and trade buying.

Reports that a tropical storm of considerable intensity was heading toward the gulf, probably led to some mid-day buying and prices gradually worked up to 12.99 for December and 13.29 for March, net advances of 17 to 22 points on active positions. At these figures offerings increased some what and the market was rather unsettled in late trading, December breaking to 12.67 and March 13.00, or 2 to 11 points net lower.

Considerable Wall Street selling was reported on the late decline as it influenced by weakness in the stock market, and while southern offerings continued light, the market seemed to lack much support after the mid-day covering movement had run its course.

The first private mid-month crop report was issued, estimating the condition at 63.3 compared with 61.3 reported at the end of September. This improvement in condition was considered in line with the talk of an increased crop promise, but there were no figures on the yield indicated by the condition.

Business considerably less active today than of any time previously since the last government crop report was issued. Traders appeared to be waiting for a line on the next bureau report, or for further developments in the southern spot situation.

Reports today 12.67, making 1.95, 442 so far this season. For receipts 124,485, United States port stocks 1,582,985.

GRAIN OPINIONS

Chicago Tribune says: Wheat traders are disposed to look for higher prices unless Liverpool comes weak and lower. The market took a great deal of long wheat on the hedge from local traders who have been fighting an advance. The wheat comes from commission houses who were credited with selling for the eastern interests who have taken the bulk of offerings of late on every break. Trade expectations are that they will continue this method of trading. Corn traders had it that around one million bushels of Dec. were put in the pit yesterday as a hedge against cash purchases and the cereal market, one elevator house buying most of the cash grain and selling the Dec. A local professional who was an active buyer of May—the bear side were not impressed with the buying of Dec. when May was selling at 50 over Dec., believing that the carrying charge was too much.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 19 (AP)—Although there was less activity in the cotton market today than of late, the price trend was generally upward. However, there was still a disposition among some professional traders to sell, but the dominating influence was the tropical disturbance in the Caribbean Sea, which traders feared might eventually reach the Gulf Coast and damage open cotton. There was some buying on the belief that the market was over sold.

Although cables were considerably lower than day, the market ignored the course of Liverpool and opened steady, eased off 20 to 25 points in the early trading. Prices then rallied on storm fears and good spot news. By the middle of the afternoon quotations had advanced 20 to 21 points above Monday's close. There was a reactionary tendency in the late afternoon and prices rapidly declined, losing all the day's gains and reaching levels 25 to 40 points below the high. There was a rally of five or six points at the close and last prices showed net losses of 3 to 15 points.

With Liverpool 8 penny points lower than due the market here nevertheless opened unchanged to 5 points down. Prices eased off in the initial trading, December declining to 12.78, January to 12.75 and March to 12.91 or 2 to 3 points below the previous close. The market then advanced on the storm news and continued on the upgrade until about mid-afternoon, when December trade was tight at 13.02, January 13.08 and March 13.24. These figures were the high points of the day.

Prices reacted in the late afternoon, weakness in stocks and some hedge selling turning the course downward. There were also expectations of a generally favorable weekly weather report tomorrow. Prices slumped rapidly, losing all the day's gains and more, December receding to 12.85, January to 12.75 and March to 12.95, or 25 to 29 points from the day's high. A rally of 5 to 6 points was recorded at the end. Exports totaled 17,929 bales.

BOSTON WOOL

BOSTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—While yet there is no sign of acute shortage of territory lines of wool, there is talk on the market that choicest lots are being pretty well picked over. This is true, particularly of the medium grade and some offerings of half blood wools. But strictly combing has been drab and supply is sufficient to meet current requirements. The French combing type has a fairly good selection.

Gangway! Grandma's Coming

Maybe those jokes you hear about grandmother being more peppy than her flapper granddaughter are right. Anyhow, these two grandmothers, Mrs. W. D. Hudson (left) and Mrs. R. J. Elliott, have just finished a motor trip from Seattle to Atlantic City and back, alone and unaided, even fixing their own tires along the way. They're sisters and Seattle is their home.

NEW DIVISION OF EXPERIMENT STA. ADDED THIS YEAR

STUDIES OF PROBLEMS OF THE RURAL HOME TO BE SET UNDER WAY

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Oct. 19.—Studies of the problems of the rural home are being set under way at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station under the immediate charge of Dr. Jessie Whitacre who has arrived at the college and entered upon her work as chief of the Division of Rural Home Research. The work of Doctor Whitacre's division will have to do with problems of far-reaching importance to the homes of Texas and will include such studies as diet and health and habits which have been long recognized as having a bearing upon human efficiency, but have, as yet, been only slightly studied. The scientific method is to be applied to these problems and each will be dealt with for most part in the order of its relative importance.

Only such specific work will be undertaken at first as may be suggested by the more pressing problems which may be found to exist in the State, states Doctor Whitacre and we shall immediately address ourselves to the specific projects which may promise the most usable results. For instance, the Home Economics world would like to know the influence that diet has upon the general physical well-being of a person, and to mention parts within the whole, we wish to know what relation it may bear to freedom from infection and to the condition of the teeth. We know what effect nutrition has on teeth in the case of rats, Doctor McCollum of Johns Hopkins having aptly expressed his thinking by saying that "it is only after we have determined whether the rat will have good or bad teeth, we wish to find if this is the case with human beings, though of course, we have a much longer life-span with which to deal in the case of the human and the hereditary factors must be taken into account. Does diet have a far-reaching effect on human teeth? We anticipate studying this and many similar questions.

"We hope to assemble and improve the best teachings for the development of health habits in children. These include problems in food, rest, cleanliness and exercise. When Johannes regains milk or eggs, it may be that scientists can find a way to correct his habits to the end that he may reach those wholesome foods. The effect of temperature, consistency, color and flavor on the appetite of children is well deserving of scientific study.

"Our work will naturally be directed towards women's problems in the same where women perform such a large share of their economic function of directing consumption. We hope to discover facts, test theories and supply hypotheses to the end of bettering home conditions which make for a greater fulfillment and enrichment of some life as has so aptly been stated by Doctor Abbott. It is possible to fill and enrich on the basis of scientific findings. The material and physical things are inseparable. It is not mean or selfish to talk about proper food, clothing and daily habits of living because these things are so obviously necessary to our state of health and our outlook on life.

Commenting upon the new work in Rural Home Research, Acting Director A. H. Conner said: "We are fortunate in finding a leader with such unusually valuable training for the duties she is entering upon. Doctor Whitacre received her Ph. D. degree in the University of Chicago in June of this year, majoring in nutrition. Prior to her University course she was with the Agricultural College of Utah for five years, 1915-1922, as head of the Department of Foods and Nutrition. During the last two of these years, she was Dean of the School of Home Economics. Prior to her work in the Utah College, Doctor Whitacre was engaged in Home Improvement work from 1912 to 1915 with the Extension Service of the State of Ohio after having received her B. S. degree at the Ohio State University in 1912. Equipped with farm life experience from childhood, Doctor Whitacre had the best high school training and four years teaching experience in the country schools in the State of Ohio before beginning her college career.

PHYSICAL TRAINING CLASS ORGANIZED BY KILLIN

A physical training class for the busy business men, that calls fellowship from their breakfast almost as early as the well known "first call" and revivifies of army games, has been organized here under H. E. Killin, of the physical training department of the Tech College. The classes are held between 7 and 8 o'clock each morning with a good number already signed up. It is the plan to ultimately bring the organization into a club of from 50 to 60 members that will take the place of the regular Y. M. C. A. gymnasium which is lacking here.

It's Gonna Be a Cold, Cold Winter, Scientists Chuckle Gleeefully

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Writer
NEW YORK, Oct. 19—Take a tip from the astute weakfish, the maternal hen and the provident yak—have your heaves within reach. The north wind will blow with unprecedented velocity. Boreas will just naturally chill the warmest body. Never was such a winter as this next winter is going to be.

The fishermen down the Jersey coast realized it first. The bluefish weren't biting, and that always is suspicious. Then the water was colder than usual all summer, and for a month just the ground swell has been very heavy.

As Any Weakfish Knows
What made it sure was the weakfish and frostfish. They arrived abnormally early at the fishing grounds, and have been coming quite close in the shallower water along shore. There's no question about the bitter winter after that. But there are still other signs, such as the heavy feathers and early arrival of the seagulls, the premature departure of the fishhawks and the setting moss bunners. Captain Sydney F. Elmer and the other mariners at Seabright have talked over this weather question thoroughly, although as yet they have done nothing about it.

Usually, if all the prognostications concerning any given winter are collected beforehand and placed end to end, they will lie and lie and lie. This fall, however, they agree.

And the Eggshells!
Ainslee Jordan, from his farm in Maine, gives his moral and professional support to the fishermen. Eggshells are Precaster Jordan's reliance. They are just as infallible for him as are the stars for an astrologer. Eggshells this fall are thick. Already they are as heavy as one would expect in December, and every evening when he collects the eggs he finds them heavier. It is nature's way of protecting the hatching chicks. Jordan explains, and they'll need lots of protection this winter.

Just to check up on the rural predictions, a questionnaire next was conducted at the Bronx Park Zoo. Did the animals there believe a cold winter was ahead? They did.

The furry ones, such as lions, bears, tigers, lynxes, and buffaloes, are devoting all their energy to the urgent business of becoming more furry. The yaks carry the heaviest coats they have hoisted in years. The hibernating crew have laid on extra layers and rolls of fat. Reindeer and snow rabbits are jubilant.

Pool! Pool! Says Science
There are a few dissenters, of course the foolish ones who never get out of the rain. Some of the birds have insisted on moulting late, so frost may catch them without any of nature's red flannels. They'll be sorry.

As an afterthought, resort was had to the weather bureau. Did nature really know what she was talking about?

HERE'S ONE MAN WHO'S SURE
SUE SAYS SUE SAYS
GONNA BE A WINTER WINTER-TIM LA-LA!

YA CAN'T FOOL THE FARMER FOLK—THEY KNOW
"Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and somewhat cooler," droned the voice of science. "As for next winter, I have no idea. Certainly not. No one can predict the weather that far ahead."

TO IMPROVE BROWNSVILLE

Bond Issue Will Be Used for Lights, Water, Highways, and Other Work

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 19.—The commissioners court of Brownsville is to start plans immediately for the carrying out of a general municipal program, made possible by the passage here Saturday of a $500,000 bond issue by a vote of about 350 to 50.

The vote was slightly different on the three provisions included in the election, $300,000 for roads, $100,000 for lights and water and $100,000 for sewerage, but ran about 7 to 1 with 400 votes cast.

The issue will make possible the spending of close to a million and a half dollars in civic improvements, as the $300,000 for street work is to be supplemented by $200,000 from the property owners on streets that are paved.

$40,000 FOR CHEMISTRY SUPPLIES FOR LONGHORNS

Special to The Avalanche
AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 19.—It takes $40,000 worth of supplies to fill the desks once of the 1,296 chemistry students in the University of Texas, according to a statement made by W. B. Duncan, in charge of buying all supplies for the chemistry department of the institution.

In enumerating the cost of breakers to be placed on the desks once the cost was found to be $1,350. It takes $300 worth of filter paper to go around once and it costs $2,500 just to place locks on all the desks.

For one year 500 dozen towels are required for the students' use. To fit the desks once 10,000 test tubes are needed. Mercuric and positive for the desks for one time cost $750, evaporating dishes $1000, and burettes $1000.

Orders for chemical supplies usually amount to $20,000 or $25,000. The cost of the largest order ever bought by the department here was $45,000.

Chemicals which are most expensive cost from $4 to $4 a pound. Mr. Duncan said. It requires $15,000 worth of acids and ammonia to last a year.
