Ethiopia Appeals To United States In Italian Dispute

Country Asks Fulfilment Of Kellogg Pact

Conquest Of African Empire Charged From Addis Ababa As Prime Interest Of Italy In Controversy

Nation Is Fearful

Independence Threatened And Embargo On Arms Shipment Prevents Proper Readiness Of Country To Fight

(By The Associated Press)

ADDIS ABABA, July 4—Ethiopia chose America's Independence day today to ask the United States to find some way to make Italy observe her obligations under the Kellogg pact, by which she renounced war as an instrument of national policy.

A five-page note delivered to William Perry George, United States charge d'affaires here, outlined the development of the Italo-Ethiopian

SITUATION DELICATE

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP) — Faced with one of the most delicate international questions in the Italo-Ethiopian crisis, Roosevelt administration officials tonight pondered but kept silent upon the plea of Haile Selassie I, emperor of Ethiopia, for aid in the Italo-Ethiopian rift.

The psychologically-timed, Independence-day appeal for this country to invoke the Kellogg-Briand pact to outlaw war concededly held potentialities for involving the United States in a touchy situation.

controversy and reasserted Ethiopia's contention that Italy has warlike intentions aimed at the conquest of the African empire.

Independence At Stake

The massing of men and munitions in Italy's African colonies, the note contended, indicates that Ethiopia's independence is threatened.

Emperor Haile Selassie's oft-expressed determination to defend the political independence of his territory by all legal means without slackening efforts toward peaceful settlement of issues involved was reiterated in the communication.

Pacific Settlement Accepted

Under the Kellogg-Briand pact, properly called "the general pact of the renunciation of war," the United States, Germany, Belgium, France, Great Britain and her dominions, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Poland and Czechoslovakia renounced war as an instrument of national policy and agreed that disputes among them should be settled by pacific means. It was signed at Paris August 27, 1928.

Delivery of the note to the American representative came shortly after the emperor, in a statement to

Administration Is Confident Of Win

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP) — Administration confidence that its utilities bill will be written finally in a senate-house conference was voiced today as the capitol planned a double-headed investigation of lobbying for and against holding company abolition.

"I expect the bill to go to conference," said Senator Robinson, the floor leader.

But others forecast a close vote. Senator Dieterich (D-Ill) held out hope the house amendments eliminating the mandatory "death sentence" for "unnecessary" holding units would be accepted by the senate. It was Dieterich's motion to substitute regulation for abolition which lost by a single vote in the senate.

All Dieterich needs is a switch of one vote, but since the single-ballot administration victory of 45 to 44 two weeks ago, "death sentence" forces have gained a cohort in Senator Holt (D-W Va).

Engineering Society Hits Nullification Regulations

LOS ANGELES, July 4. (AP)—The American Society of Civil Engineers adopted today a resolution condemning the regulations "which nullify in a large measure the principles enunciated in President Roosevelt's five billion dollar work relief program."

The resolution said the rules would result in the cessation or grave reduction of the permanent work undertaken in the past three years by the war department, department of the interior, bureau of public roads, bureau of reclamation, engineer corps of the navy, other federal departments and by states and municipalities.

Kidnaping Trial Of Woman Starts

Quick Disposal Of Case Against Mrs. Waley Indicated; Several Charges Are Faced

(By The Associated Press)

TACOMA, Wash., July 4.—Under circumstances indicating a swift disposal of the case, Mrs. Margaret Thulin Waley, 19, goes to trial tomorrow on charges growing out of the $200,000 George Weyerhaeuser kidnaping.

The young woman who thrice attempted to plead guilty and go to prison as did her husband, Harmon Waley, is charged with violating the federal "Lindbergh law," conspiracy to kidnap and with mailing a ransom letter to the wealthy parents of the 9-year old timber heir.

The government's case against her remained an official secret tonight, because United States Attorney J. Charles Dennis kept his witness list under cover.

John F. Dore, court-appointed defense attorney, indicated Mrs. Waley and her husband would be his witness.

Federal Judge E. E. Cushman, who will preside, ruled that as soon as the jury is chosen the trial will be recessed until next Tuesday, when testimony will start.

Judge Cushman blocked Mrs. Waley's attempts to plead guilty after Dore's associate, Stephen J. O'Brien, declared in court that federal "G men" had been overzealous in their efforts to send her to prison.

Federal agents said both the Waleys had "confessed" after their arrest in Salt Lake City June 8 and 9, but the defense insisted Mrs. Waley had no part in the actual kidnaping.

William Mahan, ex-convict named by the Waleys as the "brains" of the abduction gang, has been hunted since June 9 when he narrowly escaped capture by police at Butte, Mont.

Advocates Of Third Party's Need Assemble

First Jockeying For Political Positions Results As Drum Beats Liberal Discontent At Chicago Parley

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 4. — "Third Party" week in the preliminary maneuvering for 1936 position opened today with arrival of first delegates to two-day conference of "liberal" leaders here.

The echoes of their oratory will scarcely be stilled before another and distinct beating of political drums to rally elements dissatisfied with Republican and Democratic policies opens at Omaha Monday.

Between the two sideline political observers expected some data to aid them in determining whether demand for a third party movement in '36 was a political whisper or a resounding shout.

Called by five representatives in congress, the Chicago group's conference beginning tomorrow with Rep. Thomas R. Amlie, Wisconsin progressive, as one of its leaders, planned "to canvass the possibilities of allied action by various groups committed to a third party."

Neither Senator Huey Long nor Rev. Charles E. Coughlin of the frequently mentioned possible lead-

Enforcement Of Law Urged To Attorneys By Governor

HOUSTON, July 4. — Gov. James V. Allred, who has used state rangers to close gambling houses and saloons, repeated in an address here tonight to the Texas Bar association that he considered it the constitutional duty of the chief executive to "cause the laws to be enforced."

"Crime already has cost too much in Texas," Allred said.

"Our self-respect, our need for preservation, demand, in the immortal words of James Stephen Hogg, that 'The law should be enforced.' This can only be done when public sentiment is aroused and when people in local communities will themselves enforce the law, when they will demand it of local officers. After all, the state government is powerless to finally uphold the laws in any community unless the better element of our citizenship will back it up," he said.

Cully Cobb Defends Taxes On Agricultural Products

MARTIN, Tenn., July 4 (AP)—Cully A. Cobb, chief of the Agricultural Adjustment administration's cotton division, today defended the AAA processing taxes as "the farmers' tariff."

In a prepared address before West Tennessee county agricultural agents, Cobb asserted tariff protection "benefits industry at the expense of agriculture."

"Tariffs on agricultural products," Cobb said, "afford practically no protection to most of the major products of agriculture. The world price fixes the domestic price of our staple export crops. As long as the United States chooses to maintain a high protective tariff, the farmer should obtain the equivalent of a protective tariff on his products. The processing tax guarantees that equivalent."

Soviets May Enact Strict Laws Regulating Divorces

MOSCOW, July 4 (AP)—A government inspired effort to put a stop to the abuse of the easy Soviet divorce laws was revealed today following publication of figures showing an increase of divorces which now may be obtained by simply registering the desire of either party.

The number of divorces granted in Moscow in May was more than 44 per cent of the number of marriages contracted and for the first five months of 1935 was more than 38 to every 100 marriages compared to 37 in a similar period of 1934.

In a number of instances, the official newspaper Izvestia asserted, marriage was a matter of temporary convenience. One case was reported where a man chose a wife merely that he might obtain lodging in a house where single men were not admitted.

Hapsburg Wealth Returned By Austrian State Council

VIENNA, July 4. (AP) — Redistribution of Austria's wealth to "right the wrongs done the Hapsburg family" when revolution toppled the dynasty in 1918 was approved formally by the council of state today.

Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg's cabinet already had accepted the bill returning to the ancient family most of the castles, forests, and farms confiscated by republican Austria in 1919.

The law, regarded as another long step toward restoring the monarchy in Austria, has yet to pass the federal diet, which meets July 9, and receive the president's signature. It is expected to be on the statute books by July 10, however.

Repentance of the expropriation of the vast properties was the keynote of oratory preceding the council of state's vote.

Committee Assures President No Time Will Be Wasted On Reporting Wealth Tax Plan And Guffey Coal Bill

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 4.—Definite plans to override Republican delay tactics and enact President Roosevelt's wealth tax program and the Guffey coal bill before congress adjourns were shaped today at a White House conference.

Coincident with word that Mr. Roosevelt expects to leave the tax-drafting to congress, the chief executive received assurances from Democratic members that the house ways and means committee would give prompt action both to the revenue measure and to the Guffey bill to set up a "little NRA" for the coal industry.

Hastings' Defeat Seen

The agreement reached was believed to spell an overwhelming defeat for Senator Hastings' (R-Del) drive for a special tax session of congress in the fall.

Immediately after the White House conference meeting which lasted more than two hours, Chairman Doughton (D-NC) issued the formal call for opening tax bill hearings before the ways and means committee Monday, with treasury experts to be called as the first witnesses.

Emphasizing that no bill would be before the committee, Doughton

Perfect Plans For Dry Rally

Ministers Association Backs Union Meeting Here Sunday Night; Bishop Boaz, Texas Drys Head, To Speak

Plans are being perfected here for a city-wide rally of prohibitionists, set for Sunday night, Dr. W. M. Pearce, presiding elder of the Lubbock district of the Methodist conference, announced yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Hiram A. Boaz of Ft. Worth, a bishop of the Southern Methodist church and chairman of The Texas Drys, will be chief speaker at the rally, which will be held at First Baptist church beginning at 8:15 p. m. Sunday. The Texas Drys is a temporary coalition of all prohibition organizations of Texas and has been formed to fight repeal of the Dean law, state prohibition statute, which comes to a vote on August 24.

Pastors Support Rally

The rally has the support of the Lubbock Ministers association, Doctor Pearce said, and churches represented in the association will either have no Sunday night meetings, or will dismiss services in time for the city-wide rally.

Bishop Boaz will fill the pulpit at First Methodist church here in the regular Sunday morning services.

Balloon Snatches Man Into Air; He Falls To His Death

ST. CLAIR SHORES, Mich., July 4. (AP)—Fred Cardoni, 30, of Detroit, mingling with a holiday crowd at Jefferson beach, was snatched 2,000 feet into the air by the guide rope of a stunt balloon late today, and then dropped to his death after releasing his hold.

William T. Henderson, Toledo balloonist, whose ascension and parchute drop was to climax a gala day at the beach resort, jumped after Cardoni and landed safely with his parachute.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 4. (AP) — Harry Hentschel, Oklahoma City aviator, was injured late today when his small airplane crashed in a field near the municipal airport from which he had taken off a short time before.

Finishing Touches Applied By Kingfish On Punitive Laws Directed At Walmsley And President Roosevelt

(By The Associated Press)

BATON ROUGE, La., July 4.—Punitive legislation aimed at President Roosevelt and Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley, of New Orleans, has been prepared by Senator Huey P. Long for enactment by his obedient Louisiana state legislature called into special session tonight.

The measures, nearly all of which strike either at the president or the mayor, were given their finishing touches by the senator during the day. He flew to Louisiana from Washington last night to prepare a counter attack against the federal and city administrations, which he charged combined to embarrass him over pay to city employes.

Some Not Paid

At present all city employes, except the Long-controlled policemen and firemen, are being paid by federal emergency relief administration funds while the police and fire departments hold empty pay checks. Mayor Walmsley, No. 1 foe of Long, has refused to attempt to pay policemen and firemen on the grounds that since they were controlled by the state they should be paid by the state.

For months Long and Walmsley have been fighting over control of the city government of New Orleans and Long believed he had Walmsley on the ropes when the city could not meet the payrolls and the garbage collectors went on strike. But Walmsley obtained FERA funds for employes under his jurisdiction

Two hours later Union county officers captured Clyde Gully near Bernice, La., with the body of the slain woman in his automobile.

Gulley was returned to the county jail here. No formal charge has been filed.

Oratory Hits At Foundation Of New Deal

Varied Political Concepts In Utterances Of Hoover, Byrd, Others; Talmadge Rakes FDR's "Experiments"

President Is Busy

While Hue And Cry Of Holiday Celebration Goes On Chief Quietly Holds Conference, Attends Correspondence

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 4.—Pleas for the protection of individual liberties and the rights of the states today dominated Fourth of July oratory, lending a strong political tinge to the holiday celebration.

So worded were the addresses of several headliner speakers of both parties that in some observers read indirect thrusts at the New Deal. Others were loaded with loudly-spoken specific denunciation of President Roosevelt's activities. Still others carried his praise.

Hoover Makes Speech

Leading one wing of the parade, former President Herbert Hoover asserted that "wherever in the world individual liberty has been maintained" the people have been better fed, clothed and housed, happier and more self-respecting.

From the South came a call for safeguarding state rights, with Governor Talmadge of Georgia, outspoken New Deal critic, demanding abandonment of the Roosevelt program "as the only road to recovery."

Byrd Praises FDR

Also from within the Democratic party, Senator Byrd of Virginia, headlining the capital's own celebration at the foot of the Washington monument, stressed President Washington's views on individual freedom and praised him as "for his day a conservative in thought and judgment."

The holiday found President Roosevelt working quietly in the executive mansion, with a congressional conference on taxes the major item of his program. Later, he worked away upon his ever accumulating correspondence.

Labor Legislation Voted In Texas Told By Allred

GOOSE CREEK, July 4 (AP)—Governor James V. Allred today told oil field workers attending a picnic near here that more legislation sponsored by organized labor was enacted by the recent legislature than during any previous administration.

The governor said "government and business alike" had learned that "the well-being of Texas, as well as the nation, depends upon the spending power, fair wage, the honest return to labor for services rendered.

"The whole trend for the future is that government shall help secure the essential requirements for happiness to those who are willing to work," he said.

Long Suggested As Leader At Third Party Conclave

OMAHA, Neb., July 4. (AP)—Roy M. Harrop, Council Bluffs, Ia., attorney, and guiding hand in the third party convention scheduled to open here Monday, today said he had been notified by a Kentucky delegate that United States Senator Huey Long would be proposed for president at the convention.

"I have been notified by the delegate that Senator Long's name will be advanced. I understand it will be proposed that Senator Long be drafted for President," Harrop said.

Fireworks, Once Bane Of Holiday, Claims But One

Death Comes In Many Guises: Motoring Is Principal Cause Of Accidents; Four Automobile Racers Die; Wreck Of Train Claims Three More; Plane Passenger Dies

(By The Associated Press)

THE NATION gave up 91 lives Thursday as it celebrated its 159th Independence day, a preliminary survey disclosed.

Only one death directly traceable to fireworks—widely outlawed in the wage of recent "sane Fourth" campaigns—was included in the tabulation. A youth was killed in Chicago by an exploding "cannon cracker."

Motoring mishaps caused 27 deaths; drownings 16, and other accidents 11.

Hundreds of children, men and women were burned or maimed by carelessly handled fireworks, and at Evansville, Ind., a small boy died Wednesday of burns received in a fire started by a firecracker.

Three automobile racers were killed in Pennsylvania; another died in Georgia, a passenger crashed to his death in a plane at Belmont, Ill; a Utah train wreck cost three lives and two persons died from heat in Minnesota as the nation celebrated.

In California autoing accidents caused seven deaths. Some 20c holiday passengers were shaken up and more than a dozen slightly injured in New York when a ferry rammed her pier.

Independence Day Celebration For South Plains Centers At Slaton, Where 15,000 In Holiday Assemblage

Without reported, mishap, the South Plains observed July Fourth yesterday.

The amusement center of the region was Slaton, where A. J. Payne, chamber of commerce secretary, estimated more than 15,000 persons attended a first annual Mardi Gras program.

A donkey ball game, an annual "money" hunt at the City pool, a dance at the Auditorium, and motion picture shows were principal crowd-gathering attractions here. The day was warm, partly cloudy, with the temperature ranging upward to 93 degrees at the state experiment sub-station.

Favorable Comparison

Despite Slaton's extensive celebration, Mercy hospital there reported it had received no accident victim at 8:30 o'clock last night. Neither Lubbock sanitarium nor West Texas hospital here reported accident patients. There were no ambulance calls and no fire alarms.

The Fourth largely was passed without law violation. Police arrested a 22-year-old Lubbock man for drunkenness at 9:50 o'clock last night. His was the first drunkenness case reported either by police or the sheriff's department.

Last year at least 7 persons, suffering minor injuries as a result of automobile mishaps, received hospital treatment July Fourth. No mishaps were reported in the observance in 1933 and 1932, but there was a swimming fatality in 1931.

Pageant Ends Observance

The Slaton observance was concluded last night with an historical pageant.

A parade, one and a half miles long, opened the program yesterday morning. Fourteen prizes for floats and individual entries were awarded. They were:

Grand prize for floats, Wednesday club; club and community float, Civic and Culture club; business float, The Slatonite, newspaper; comic entry, Briggs Robertson, jr.; club float, Morgan and Union tied for first place.

Ocean Of Fire Needed For Stopping Aliens, Says Dies

BELTON, July 4. (AP)—Congressman Martin Dies of Orange told an estimated 20,000 persons, here for an Independence day celebration, that he deplored "the use of America as a dumping ground for the populations of other nations."

He said, in explaining his proposed plan for deportation of approximately 3,500,000 aliens, that he was echoing the sentiments of George Washington when he said he wished that an ocean of fire separated America from Europe.

FEW DIE IN TEXAS

(By The Associated Press)

Unusually safe and sane celebration of the nation's independence anniversary in Texas was indicated by reports showing only four holiday fatalities, three from automobile accidents and one from drowning.

D. C. Ellis, 36, truck driver, was killed in an automobile collision at Fort Worth.

Miss Ruth Wright, 20, of Paris, was killed when an automobile in which she was a passenger hit a bridge near Royse City.

L. D. Titus, 50, Texas company engineer, met death in a collision near Orange.

Roy Watson, 14, drowned in the Bosque river at McLennan's crossing near Waco.

Relatively few serious injuries were shown by early reports.

jured in Maryland when the team of horses he was driving bolted.

A gasoline explosion claimed one life in Iowa. In New York, Dominick Iacovone, 17, was killed by a bullet which police at first believed was fired by an exuberant celebrator. Later, however, they said the boy's brother, Vito, 20, confessed firing the shot accidentally as he examined an outmoded pistol.

Confessed Slayer Of Girl Is Ready To Pay "Debt To Society," He Says

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 4—Evincing readiness to go to Detroit and pay "a debt to society," Merton Ward Goodrich, 27-year-old trap-drummer, formally waived extradition to Michigan today and will be returned tomorrow to face an indictment for the psychopatic trunk murder of 11-year-old Lillian Gallaher.

A like waiver of extradition was made by Goodrich's crippled wife, Florence, held by New York police on a homicide charge of "acting in concert" and wanted as a material witness in the Gallaher killing last September 20.

His gaunt, lined face showing the effects of a sleepless night, Goodrich was subjected to renewed questioning by New York and Detroit authorities after he and his wife appeared for formal extradition proceedings at the home of General Sessions Judge Morris Koenig.

Detectives John Kaiser said Goodrich added a "hammer angle" to his previous confession, in which he was quoted as admitting he lured the Gallaher

Biblical Courtship Conducted Over Cables Affiances Couple Across Sea

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, July 4. — All Miss Frances Elliott needed to cable to Rev. David Thomas Wright, at Port Elizabeth, South Africa, was "Ruth 1:16," and the young minister knew she was saying she would marry him, for Ruth 1:16 reads:

"And Ruth said, 'Intreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee, for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people and thy God my God.'"

And his return cable exulted, simply, "Ruth 1:17" and it reads:

"Where thou diest, I will die, and there will I be buried, the Lord do so to me and more also, if ought but death part thee and me."

They met, the 30-year-old pastor of the Walmer road Baptist church in Port Elizabeth and the daughter of two missionaries while both were students at the Moody Bible institute in Chicago.

Early this spring the actual wedding arrangements began to be discussed after Tommy had cabled Frances, "Genesis 12:11."

The Woman's Angle

THE man or woman who invents a sure-cure for hay fever will not only make a cool million but will be a savior to hundreds of sufferers who make themselves and their associates miserable by their sniffling and snorting and terrific blowings.

As one who only suffers from slight colds if we go swimming in late October, we are at a loss as to an understanding of the malady but how we sympathize with you!

FROM ONE TO ANOTHER

IN a drug store Thursday we overheard a customer asking a clerk if he "thod quidine wood do hay febey any good?" His answer was "I doad doe." There were two fellows being caught in the grasp of a malady that hangs on like the old man of the sea. His hold is loosened only after frost has killed the last tumble weed and rag weed.

Can you think of a more pitiful sight than two hayfever addicts conversing with each other between blows while tears stream down their faces? One woman can hardly open her eyes before mid-morning; a man cannot bare to shave his lip because he has blown his nose until it is raw.

Penalty of the disease includes loss of sleep, of weight, of appetite and eventually of temper.

ON BEING BEAUTIFUL

"MY advice to a girl seeking a beauty formula is to go berserk and throw all of her patent face rejuvenators out of the window," says Mary Ellis, songster and actress. "You can't reform an ugly face by covering up defects with commercial preparations," she adds.

What's to be done? One way, says Miss Ellis, is to "make faces at yourself in the mirror (that will be easy for some of us) and another is to sing every morning. (Yes, but think of the neighbors!)

Vocalizing flexes the muscles of the mouth and the tissues of the cheeks."

Come to think about it, there isn't anything uglier than seeing a woman mess up her face with fatty toilet preparations. The American Indians used to make up with the idea of frightening their enemies and in the long run perhaps that's what the ladies do it for.

ORIGIN OF FOODS

THE origin of the foods we eat is a fascinating story. Here is one group: Parsley was first used as a decoration by Hercules, as a mark of honor after vanishing the lion. "Professional Consciousness" Urge Of Barrister

Forty Tech Students Sign To Make Trip To Big Caves

Forty Texas Technological college students late yesterday had signed for a trip to Carlsbad, N. M., where they will be guests of the government in a tour through the caverns Saturday morning.

T. C. Root, assistant professor of economics and business administration, who will direct the trip, said he expected nearly as many other students to register today. Some students will go in private automobiles, others by bus. The group will leave at 1 o'clock this afternoon, returning Saturday night.

Farm Labor Cuts Relief Burdens

Rolls of the county relief administration are considerably lighter now than they were a month ago, owing to temporary farm work being procured by many men on the rolls.

Clients who get as much as their budget, from their temporary employment, are dropped temporarily from the rolls, W. E. Inmon, county relief administrator, explained.

Men who obtain permanent places are automatically dropped.

Non-Political Note Sounded

Amarillo Speaker Addresses State Bar Association On Necessity For Breaking Of Lethargy, Indifference

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, July 4.—H. C. Pipkin of Amarillo pleaded for "professional consciousness" as he delivered the president's annual address today to the Texas Bar association.

"My appeal to the rank and file of the bar association," Pipkin said, "is that we shall, under the goad of professional consciousness, break the bonds of lethargy and indifference, and that with renewed inspiration and determination we shall set ourselves to the serious task of building up a great professional organization. The time has passed that nondescript lawyers, without professional pride or affiliation, can place before us barriers that we cannot break down and override in our forward progress."

Divorcement Is Asked

He reiterated his support of the movement to remove the judiciary from politics.

"It is the general consensus," he said, "that all judges should have certain fundamental qualifications and characteristics — moral background, general education, legal education, broad experience from active practice at the bar, the judicial temperament, and sufficient age to insure sound reasoning and mature judgment. A majority of votes, alone, in a political contest, cannot supply these fundamental qualifications."

Organization Worthwhile

After pointing out that the association was beginning its 54th annual convention, Pipkin said that "the very fact that the organization has survived for more than half a century is the most convincing argument that it has been worthwhile, that it is justifying its existence and that its greatest work and usefulness lie yet ahead.

"We have steadily progressed from an organization of Fourth of July orators and annual dinners to a militant organization with a definite program, with sustained activities and challenging objectives," he said.

HAS DEMOCRATIC ATTITUDE

BRUSSELS, July 4. (AP) — Archduke Otto of Hapsburg took cognizance today of negotiations for a restoration of his dynasty to the Austrian throne, asserting:

"I won't return to Austria without the full approval of all parties concerned."

Black Widow Spider Has Centipede Hanging Groggily On Webby Ropes

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 4. (AP)—The black widow spider is a mighty fighter.

Tossed into a cage for mortal combat with a centipede and a tarantula today, the widow sat quietly at the top of the container while the centipede made for the tarantula and quickly killed it.

Then the widow made for the centipede and with deft movements spun a web about him. The many-legged conqueror of the tarantula fought and struggled but the widow's web held him.

There the combat stood, late today, the centipede still alive and kicking, the black widow standing by, apparently waiting for the centipede to weaken.

But On The Other Hand—

WACO, July 4. (AP)—Mrs. H. C. Cooke of Waco, vouches for the fact that the highly publicized black widow spider can't take it.

Monday Mrs. Cooke caught one of the spiders in her home and quickly thrust it inside a glass jar.

Yesterday she caught a stinging scorpion and placed it in the same jar.

A fight to the finish encounter started and four minutes later the scorpion had vanquished the spider.

ITINERANT SOUGHT

SAPULPA, Okla., July 4 (AP)—Officers today concentrated their efforts on finding an itinerant scissors grinder as they hunted for Donna Mae Kitterman, 14, who has been missing since Monday.

American Legion members abandoned an all night hunt today after searching swampy land around a brick pit near the home of the missing girl. Edwards said that dragging two pit ponds at the plant would be deferred and all efforts centered on attempting to locate the scissors grinder.

Dr. Townsend Divulges Plan To Elect Independent Ticket

KANSAS CITY, July 4. (AP)—Dr. F. E. Townsend of pension plan fame disclosed plans here last night to split both major political parties in 1936 and elect a president and vice-president of opposite political faiths.

Townsend, Long Beach physician who evolved the revolving old-age pension plan, said he was not ready to divulge names of the two "liberal senators" his group has selected to the candidates for president and vice-president.

"For a while we thought we could support President Roosevelt," Dr. Townsend said, "but we have given up hope in him."

Stoll Case Is Great Enigma

T. H. Robinson, Jr., Still At Large While Kidnapers Far More Experienced Have Been Lodged In Jail

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP) — A crime at once almost incredibly clumsy and extraordinarily hard to "break" confronts the justice department in its long, silent search for T. H. Robinson, Jr., the accused kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll of Louisville, Ky.

While "snatchers" of far more apparent cunning, and longer and more formidable criminal records, have been caught, Robinson, 20 months afterward, still is at large—a shadowy figure around whom many questions are posed.

First is how he managed to drop so completely from sight for long months.

Again, little of the ransom money of almost $50,000 presumably in Robinson's possession is known definitely to have turned up since October, 1934. Thus, the speculation is that he has attempted to pass none and, if that is true, by what means is he living, particularly since an attempt at regular work for any length of time in any locality would be fraught with danger for him in a country where his likeness has been broadcast so widely?

No Lieutenants To Talk

The very nature of the kidnaping on October 10, 1934, with its crudity of execution and apparent lack of preparation, may have been an aid to the suspect, some officials speculate, in avoiding arrest so long. He apparently had none of the elaborate plans and no gang to aid in the actual abduction, so often found in such cases. And sometimes lieutenants speed the "break" by talking, and detailed plans lead to the man at the top.

The Stoll case is considered the government agents' greatest present enigma.

Meanwhile, a complete silence as to its every phase is maintained by the department of justice. Speculations cropping up now and then that Robinson may be dead find no answer from J. Edgar Hoover, head of the "G-Men." Aides explain this is his unvarying policy in all unsolved cases, but the department evidently believes Robinson is alive, for the hunt is going forward unabated.

Only $520 Has Appeared

So far as the public knows only $520 of the $50,000 paid for Mrs. Stoll's ransom has appeared. Again, this is unofficial, the justice department having no comment, except that it does concede, without naming any specific figure, that the great bulk of the money never has come to light. Early in April, the department said some has turned up "from time to time" but did not amplify that statement.

Thus, the search goes on for one of the strangest suspects the kidnaping wave has produced, a man who spent a 30-day period for observation, in an insane asylum; an eccentric with a penchant for dressing in women's clothing; a fugitive who has been reported seen from one end of the country to the other. Prosecutors thought they had the perfect case—but the central figure has vanished.

Double Duty Given Bees In Experiment Which Seeks To Hike Plant Fertilization

WIDE HOLLOW, Ore., July 4 (AP) Increasing the work quota of a honey bee for the benefit of the orchardist is the objective of a pollinization experiment at the B. A. Bannister farm near here.

Twelve girls were employed to gather pollen by rubbing the anthers or pollen sacks of early apple blossoms against a screen. It was then dried, ground fine and placed, a teaspoonful at a time, in traps attached to 16 bee hives so the industrious insects would have to walk through it as they started out on their day's work.

The fine powder sticks to their feet and as they fly about from blossom to blossom they fertilize the blooms.

Scottish Co-Eds Restrained From Breaking Custom

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, July 4 (AP)—Women students in this ancient university town are up in arms.

The trouble, femininely enough, is hats. Or rather the mortarboards they have to wear for hats.

In recent years there had been a slackening in the wearing of the stiff and none too attractive "boards," and perky little bonnets in the latest mode had begun to appear.

Now university authorities have served strict notice that the mortarboards must be worn at all times. Moreover, the coeds' habit of bending the brims in an attempt to transform the mortars into snappy, fashionable shapes, also is "verboten."

"Offenders" the edict adds, will be punished.

Bouncer Of Aliens For 30 Years Retires; Never Lost Prisoner, Disliked Force

DENVER, July 4 (AP)—One of Uncle Sam's best "bouncers" has shooed his last alien across the international boundary.

Credit with having escorted probably more aliens out of the country than any other federal officer, Brown McDonald, 66, has retired from duty because of the loss of vision of his right eye.

In 30 years McDonald placed more than 3,000 aliens of nearly every nationality on ships outward bound or watched them step across into Mexico or Canada.

No prisoner ever escaped from him and he rarely had to use force.

Tech Athletes Ride Burros To 11 To 5 Victory

The farm and ranch hands who play football for Texas Tech yesterday reached back to the day of old Beck and Judy, drew upon their native intelligence and experience and outrode the local American Business club team to win a donkey baseball game here yesterday, 11 to 5.

The queer game, an awful parody on the national pastime, resolved itself into a man versus brute battle rather than a player versus player contest. The stubborn burros, owned by a traveling syndicate, trained to do anything but run bases and chase fly balls, with batters and fielders aboard them, cavorted capriciously at times, balked and lay down at other critical moments, provided considerable fun for a holiday crowd of about 200 persons who sat in parked automobiles around the College Avenue park.

The goofy goings-on continued for six innings, after which there were many bruised shoulders and other anatomical points. As for the donkeys, the longer they worked, the wilder they became, and toward the last it was a brave wrangler indeed who could stay on the hurricane decks of the mountain gazelles.

Discovery Wins Arlington Purse

CHICAGO, July 4. (AP) — Thirty-eight thousand sweltering race fans today discovered why the flying hoofs of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Discovery are no longer running second to any horse.

The four-year-old son of Display-Ariadne, holder of two world's records, captured the $12,725 stars and stripes at Arlington Park today in runaway fashion. He won in a gallop, beating Chief Cherokee by six lengths, with Riskulus, entry of Norman Church of Los Angeles, third, a length and a half back. Evergold, owned by the Nash brothers of Chicago was fourth in the field of eight.

Discovery did not have to break any records to win today. He ran the mile and a furlong in 1:50 4-5, over a good track, a second and a fifth off the track record. The Vanderbilt colt went to the post a 1 to 3 favorite and paid $2.60 to win, $3.00 to place and $2.60 to show. Chief Cherokee, a 45 to 1 shot paid $18.00 to place and $8.00 to show. Riskulus paid $3.60 to show.

Temple Runner Swipes Sprint Show In AAAU

Eulace Peacock Outruns Ralph Metcalf And Jesse Owens In National Amateur Track And Field Meet

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer

LINCOLN, Neb., July 4. (AP)—Eulace Peacock, a 20-year old negro sophomore from Temple university, fired off a staggering assortment of fireworks this Independence day to bedim Ralph Metcalfe's title as "fastest human," and smash the spectacular drive to all time track and field honors of Jesse Owens in the senior championships of the Amateur Athletic union.

Although ranked as one of the country's better sprinters and broad jumpers, Peacock, nevertheless was regarded as an outsider against Metcalfe and Owens today.

Takes Broad Jump

But he almost created a case of mass hysterics by first beating Metcalfe in the classic 100 meters in the world record time of 10.2 seconds, and coming back to wrench from Owens the great Ohio State university negro's broad jump title. Peacock made the prize leap of his career on his last trial. Owens eked out only a third in the 100, and second in the jumps.

The 100 meters, from all angles, was about as dramatic as anything this championship of championship meets has produced in years. Metcalfe and Owens, the men picked to fight it out for "fastest human" honors, qualfied easily. So did Peacock, but still little attention was directed his way. So high was interest in the 100 meters among the 15,000 spectators, that almost no attention was directed to the final of the 3,000 meters walk, which came just before the dash.

Sprinters Are Jittery

The tension was increased as the field in the final, even more jittery than the spectators, broke four times as starter Johnny McHugh tried to get them away. McHugh finally walked over and talked to the finalists, then tried again. This time they got away in perfect order.

At the 65 meter mark, Metcalfe and Owens still appeared to be the real contenders. Metcalfe, the big, powerhouse type of sprinter, forged into a slight lead. The flowing, easy running Owens was at his shoulder. Peacock was about a meter back. They blazed to within 35 meters of home in that order, in adjoining lanes.

Then Peacock turned on the gas. With a terrific rush that came so suddenly that the very surprise of it carried Metcalfe and Owens with him for a few paces, Peacock shot in the lead. He never stopped pumping and broke through the frail cotton string at the finish with about a foot advantage over Metcalfe.

Owens Is Third

Owens was third, inches back, and George Anderson of the University of California and the Olympic club, was fourth, less than two yards back of Owens.

Owens still had another chance to salvage some of the glory. Tired from his long, spectacular campaign in college meets, he withdrew from the 200 meters to concentrate on his first love, the broad jump.

A jump of 26 feet 2 1-4 inches on his next to last attempt apparently had given the Ohio State sophomore his coveted triumph. But, along came Peacock again.

On his last trial, Peacock galloped down the cinder runway with all his speed. His step was a trifle off, and he had to reach for the take off board. He just made it; lunged off into space and landed 26 feet, 3 inches away. Owens still had one more trial and gave everything he had left to make the most of it. He was not as fast as usual down the runway and the result was a leap of a shade beyond 26 feet—not good enough to keep the title he won at Milwaukee last year.

Cunningham Wins

Peacock's superb display completely overshadowed fine performances by such old favorites as Glenn Cunningham, world record holder in the mile runs and hero of sensational struggles with Bill Bonthron and Jack Lovelock, Joe McCluskey, the sturdy distance star from Fordham and the N. Y. A. C. and Percy Beard of the New York A. C. who equalled his own world record for the 110 meter high hurdles.

Cunningham, without Bonthron around to push or beat him, raced away to an easy triumph in the 1500 meters in the excellent time of 3 minutes, 52.1 seconds. The former Kansas university star turned on steam before the race was half done, increased his lead with every ground eating stride, and finished with a margin of 30 yards over another of his old rivals, Gene Venke of Pennsylvania, running today for the New York A. C. The time, good as it was did not compare with Bonthron's 3:48.8, a world mark set when the former Princeton star defeated Cunningham at Milwaukee last year.

New York university's varsity tennis team has won all its dual meet matches for the last two seasons.

America's Helens Claim Spotlight At Wimbledon

Jacobs And Moody Meet In Finals Of Net Joust

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 4. (AP)—America's tennis playing Helens put on a private celebration of the Fourth of July for the benefit of Wimbledon's center court galleries today, drove their way into the final round of the all-England championships and paved the way for a renewal of one of the bitterest rivalries in the game.

Thus Helen Jacobs, American title-holder for three years, and Helen Wills Moody, unchallenged queen of the courts until a back injury forced her into temporary retirement in 1933, will meet Saturday in the fourth all-American women's final in Wimbledon history. It will be their first clash since Mrs. Moody was forced to default to the younger star in the third set of the American championship finals of 1933.

Moody Beats Australian

Mrs. Moody climaxed her surprising comeback campaign by dusting off demure Joan Hartigan of Australia, 6-3, 6-3, to reach the finals for the seventh time. A few minutes before, Miss Jacobs, a finalist here three times previously, beat the daylights out of the angular German girl, Hilda Krahwinkel Sperling, 6-3, 6-0.

Apparently relishing the prospect of another go at one another, both Americans bore down with almost savage intensity and lifted their games to such heights their opponents might just as well have been using fly-swatters.

Betting odds tonight on the men's final tomorrow were 3 to 2 that Fred Perry of England, the defending title-holder, would conquer Gottfried Von Cramm of Germany.

Contributing to an American sweep during the day, the Wilmer Allison-John Van Ryn and Gene Mako-Donald Budge doubles combinations reached the semi-finals. Allison and Van Ryn, who probably will represent America in the Davis Cup matches, defeated Max Bertram and Walter Musgrove of South Africa, 6-1, 10-8, 6-0 while Budge and Mako were disposing of Sidney Wood of New York and Enrique Maier of Spain, 6-3, 6-4, 7-9, 3-6, 6-3.

Allison and Van Ryn will play the clever British team of C. R. D. Tuckey and George Patrick Hughes in the next round while Budge and Mako are seeking to get past Jack Crawford and Adrian Quist of Australia.

Rufus King Is Eliminated In Western Junior Tourney

COLORADO SPRINGS, July 3 (AP) — Elimination of Rufus King of Wichita Falls, par shattering medalist, by Claude Wright of Denver, runnerup in the recent Colorado amateur tournament, highlighted the initial round of the third annual Western Junior open golf tournament here today.

Wright shot par golf in beating King, 3 and 2. The Texan who qualified with 139 for 36 holes, five under par, was five down at nine holes but rallied on the inward nine.

Harry Todd of Dallas, the defending champion, advanced to the quarter finals by eliminating Ralph Vranesic of Denver, 3 and 2.

Batters say Bucky Walters, Phillies' third baseman converted into a pitcher, gets much of his effectiveness by scowling into the eyes of the batter just before letting fly.

Corbett Loses To Brouillard

Former Champ Of Welters And Middleweights Pounds Out 10-Round Decision Victory Over Californian

KEZAR STADIUM, San Francisco, July 4. (AP)—Lou Brouillard of Worcester, Mass., pounded his way to a conclusive 10-round decision here today over Young Corbett III of Fresno, Calif., before a holiday crowd of about 8,000.

The Massachusetts boy, former welterweight and middleweight champion, gave Corbett, one time king of the welters, a terrific body beating, and won without difficulty. He had the freshman in distress several times in the closing rounds with his two fisted attack to the midsection.

The Associated Press score sheet gave Brouillard seven of the rounds with two for Corbett and one even.

There were no knockdowns. Corbett weighed 155 pounds and Brouillard 157.

"Honey" Mellody, 138, Boston, scored a technical knock out over Carl Butler, 133, Santa Rosa, Calif., in the second of a six round preliminary. Butler had a bad ankle and was outclassed.

Ramsel, Coffey Tie For Medal In Abilene Go

Joe Bihl, Clint Bussey And Ed Doherty Of Lubbock In Championship Flight; 160 Players Register

(By The Associated Press)

ABILENE, July 4.—Two Fort Worth boys, Lee Ramsel and Billy Bob Coffey, divided medal honors today in the Abilene Country club's ninth invitation golf tournament.

Playing in the same threesome, Coffey and Ramsel scored 69's, two under par, a new qualifying record for the Abilene meet. They were only a stroke in front of Gordon Young, Dallas star. In fourth place and leading the home guard came Carnes Wilson, Abilene city champion, with a 72.

The largest field entered in a Texas meet this year set another record for the tournament. One hundred sixty players registered, but there were thirty-two withdrawals to leave three flights of 32 each and two flights of sixteen.

Fort Worth added to its laurels by capturing team honors. With the 69's by Coffey and Ramsel were a 73 by Derald Lehman and an 83 by M. L. (Happ) Massingill, who withdrew from match play because of an injured hand.

Swat-Fest For 78's

So fast was the qualifying pace that only two of the six 78's recorded were included in the championship division. Scores ranged upward to 106. Twenty-eight towns and cities were represented, twenty-seven of them in Texas. The only out-of-state entrant was Buck Bailey, line coach of Washington State college, Pullman, Wash., who carded a 77.

Ramsel went out in 33 strokes, three under par, and was four under when he had a birdie on the thirteenth, bogeys for the next two holes left him two under where he stayed until the finish. Out in 35, Coffey scored birdies on the tenth and thirteenth to go three under, but he slipped with a five on the par four sixteenth.

Ramsel barely missed a long putt on the 18th for a 68.

Hoover Plans Broad Course

"G-Men's University" To Be Opened For The First Time This Summer; Training Is To Be Elaborate

By E. B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON, July 4 (AP)—The "G-Men's university" — training school for the nation's most famous investigators—will be opened for the first time this summer to representative officers of metropolitan and state police forces.

This scientific college of crime detection of the department of justice will offer a full course, by order of Attorney General Cummings, further to coordinate law enforcement agencies to provide opportunity for swapping ideas gained in hard experience between the unsung local "cop" and the government's ace detectives.

For the first time, officers other than special agents in the federal bureau of investigation will receive the elaborate training under Director J. Edgar Hoover that has built up the scientific, college-trained federal force.

12 Weeks Of Training

Here in the massive stone justice building, selected officers will learn all that science and experience can offer men who compete with dangerous gangsters and criminals. If the course follows that used for novice agents, the officers will receive 12 weeks of training in the classrooms and laboratories.

They will learn to take fingerprints from beer bottles, letters, window edges and auto steering wheels, using vari-colored powders to bring these out. The "signatures of criminals" will be photographed with special cameras, or "lifted" with adhesive tape.

Fake murders and kidnapings will be staged. "Oscar," the dummy, will be found prostrate on the floor. Nearby may be a gun, note, blood stain, scrap of paper or similar clue. After the students have investigated the "crime" and prepared their solutions, the instructors will hold a post mortem on the evidence.

Getting The Evidence

"We teach our men to get all the evidence that will stand in courts," Hoover says. The bureau's record of 94 per cent convictions in difficult cases tried testifies to the skillful training.

Learning to manipulate all the high powered weapons needed to cope with hoodlums, the students visit the g-men's pistol gallery in the basement of the justice building and the rifle range of the Quantico marine post a few miles away.

Not all of the training is spectacular. There must be hours of digging study on evidence in embezzlements, frauds, perjury, false claims and other complex fields of law enforcement.

Auditory Tests

While the students are studying, a loud crash may occur in the next room. Half a minute later a second crash may follow; and in a minute a third. By this time the federal instructor will relieve the tension by announcing that the noise is an auditory test, and will ask a detailed report.

Such tests are important, Hoover explains, because they teach careful observance and questioning of witnesses.

Another field is that of the crime laboratories. There students learn that the watermark on a paper, the handwriting, the typewriting, a small piece of fiber or measurements at the scene of the crime, may be the only key to its solution.

Hoover welcomes the new move as coordinating federal and local efforts to combat crime.

Aircraft Construction In England Aiding Toolmakers

LONDON, July 4 (AP)—Companies supplying machine tools to aircraft building concerns have received a fillip from the British government's expansion program.

Demand for their products—drilling and milling machines and capstan and turret lathes — has increased so rapidly that extension of premises has been necessary and in some cases new factories planned.

Long established aero engine manufacturers have been active for some months and are now anticipating increased orders following the latest announcement of the British government of an expansion in the country's air force.

Woman Finds Bull Fighting Offers A Lot Of Thrills And She Quits Stage

When Soledad Miralles, the Spanish dancer, left the stage recently to take up bull fighting as a vocation, she found her dancing ability helped her in caping the bull.

MADRID, July 4 (AP)—The profession of bullfighting is by law closed to women in Spain but an increasing number of the fair sex is taking advantage of the fact that violations are winked at.

The latest recruit to the ranks of feminine cape and sword artists is the well known Spanish dancer, Soledad Miralles.

"I happened to be attending a fiesta at a bull ranch in Alicante province and a number of the guests including several women were amusing themselves caping young bulls," Miss Miralles, a flashing Andalusian type, said in explaining her new vocation.

"They invited me to try it and although the idea didn't appeal to me at all, I went into the bull pen just to show I was as game as the rest."

"I guess I was pretty awkward that first time, but I succeeded in conquering my fear and the game of mastering these splendid fighting beasts so fascinated me I determined to take it up seriously.

"I got myself an outfit, studied the theory of caping and killing, and then went through a complete faena and killed the bull—not very gracefully but not so bad for a beginner.

"Since then I have learned much and my ability at dancing has helped me a great deal. The grace embodied in dancing is much like that displayed by great bullfighters."

There are more than a dozen women engaged in bullfighting as a profession in Spain today.

Boy Scouts Will Attempt To Beat Record Of Pony Express

NEW YORK, July 4 (AP) — Once again the Pony Express route from St. Joseph, Mo., to Sacramento will resound to the pound of ponies' hoofs when Boy Scouts retrace the old trail during their silver jamboree in August.

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the Pony Express is being observed this summer with a series of celebrations along the route, arranged by the Oregon Trail Memorial association. This group has issued a diamond jubilee medal to raise funds for permanent markers of the route.

The pony riders galloped through with the mail in 10 days back in the 1860's. The Scouts will cover the ride faster, following this itinerary: Sacramento, Carson City, Nev., Salt Lake, Casper, Wyo., Scottsbluff, North Platte, Fort Kearney and Fairbury, Neb., Marysville and Seneca, Kan., St. Joseph.

Stone-Like Slabs Indicate Ancients Knew Their Cement

CHALLIS, Ida., July 4 (AP)—Stone-like slabs which seemed to indicate prehistoric peoples possessed the knowledge of making cement were found under several feet of volcanic ash in an earthmound near here.

The materials, piled in a systematic manner similar to that used by modern lumber yards were uncovered by B. S. Brown and a party searching for rock crystals.

The individual slabs resembled sawn lumber even to the grainine of the boards and were of an unusual composition.

Guarding Lubbock's Health

DOUBTLESS the average reader no more than briefly noted, in The Morning Avalanche the other day, that a full time laboratory technician had begun her duties in the City of Lubbock's department of health.

True, the news announcement was not sensational. It carried no sweeping headlines.

But time will show, we strongly suspect, that it was the most important story of the day upon which it was published.

Addition of the technician indicates that the city administration realizes that as Lubbock grows and becomes more congested, the more problems of public health will arise.

It further indicates that those in the City hall realize that the department of health must keep step with the needs and, further, that they realize the veritable jewel Lubbock possesses in Dr. J. W. Rollo, the department's energetic and capable head.

The Morning Avalanche has watched, with pleasure, Doctor Rollo's work as the years have gone by.

We have noted, with satisfaction, how he has done a Trojan's task—especially in recent years when the economic depression has made his work heavier and heavier, day and night.

And at the same time we have wondered why he chooses to continue the work when, no doubt, he could multiply his present income were he to turn entirely to private practice.

One of the hardest offices for any city to capably fill is that of health officer and Lubbock is fortunate in having secured in that place the man who now holds it.

We are glad the administration feels that way, too, and we hope Doctor Rollo will see fit to serve on and on for many, many years to come.

"The high price of meat doesn't constitute a major worry of the poor man, who has got used to a diet of corn bread and turnip greens," John A. Price says in the County-Wide News of Littlefield.

BUSINESS METHODS

It is revealed that many of the looms in use in the Japanese textile industry, which has begun to alarm the domestic mills, come from the idle factories of New England. Japanese competition in this line is scarcely visible in the American market as yet, but already a cry issues from New England for more protection. The dismay in the cry is not the less righteous because the weapons used by the alien in his bid for our trade were provided in part by the local competitor.

It is an old story in industrial history, and belongs with the one about French troops being cut down with weapons forged at Le Creusot. Or it corresponds to taking an opponent at poker, and then lending him $5 of your own money to bet against you.

J. B. Priestley, in his "English Journey," also cites the sale of Lancashire looms to Japanese mills. Evidently the industry in its older strongholds is not averse to trading with what, for purposes of tariff protection, it regards as a foe. It may be short-sightedness or sheer sportsmanship, but it would seem to stop it from whining if the rival proves handier than it is with the weapons it has provided.

Huey is at his fighting best in the open. After all, one can't take the 1st Louisiana infantry along into a washroom.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

Jesus answered and said unto them, Though I bear record of myself, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I go; but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I go.

Ye judge after the flesh; I judge no man.

And yet if I judge, my judgment is true: for I am not alone, but I and the Father that sent me.

It is also written in your law, that the testimony of two men is true.

I am one that bears witness of myself, and the Father that sent me beareth witness of me.—St. John, 8: 14-18.

Summer Sweethearts

By Mabel McElliott © 1935, NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KATHARINE STRYKHURST, beautiful, 20, becomes acquainted with MICHAEL HEATHEROE, riding teacher, and acknowledges an unwilling attraction toward him. She is worried over the progress of an affair between ZOE PARKER, her best friend, and GIBBS LARKIN, of whom Zoe's parents disapprove.

Katharine and DR. JOHN KAYE, friend of the Strykhurst family, take Zoe to a night club where she sees Gibbs with a notorious woman. Zoe threatens to kill herself.

That same night Michael is inveigled into taking SALLY MOON, local coquette, to the same place. Sally, arriving home late, informs her father that she and Michael are engaged.

Zoe drinks poison. Doctor Kaye sets to work to save her life.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX

Dr. Kaye spoke slowly, as one who is deadly weary. "We pulled through," he said. "She's going to get well."

Katharine crumpled against the window frame. Her creamy silk evening frock was wrinkled. Her eyes had great hollows under them. "Oh, John, thank God! You did it—we owe it all to you."

He shrugged his shoulders. "It was the least I could do."

"You mean because you took us to the club and she saw Gibbs there? Why, that was fate—"

"Not exactly," said John Kaye, rather dryly. "You see I happened to know he was one of the habitues . . . I hear gossip around town."

"It's taught me something," Katharine said, on a long, shuddering breath of exhaustion. "It's taught me never to interfere with human destiny. That, after all, is God's business . . ."

"If only we could all learn that lesson so early," said the man wryly. "Come along now. Time for you to get some sleep. Zoe is resting quietly."

"Does her mother know?"

"I sent the nurse to tell her five minutes ago."

"Then I must have been asleep," marveled Katharine. "And I thought I'd never sleep again till I was sure. What weak creatures we humans are, John! You must have thought so when you came out of that room a moment ago and saw me dozing."

"I thought . . ." he paused and smiled that peculiarly winning smile of his. "Never mind what I thought."

Katharine went home again, tiptoeing through the quiet house, through the dew-soaked garden. The morning seemed new-minted for her especial pleasure. It was a fresh gift. Never before had she realized how divinely sweet a morning could be.

Zoe's convalescence was slow. No one but John Kaye and Katharine knew what really had happened that terrible night. Some columnist from the city printed an item to the effect that "Gibbs Larkin took it on the chin from a certain prominent medico at the Blue Sky Club." Katharine, reading it, trembled. But there were no further repercussions from the incident. Gibbs evidently had not been seriously hurt and, wherever he was, he had the sense to keep out of Zoe's path now.

Later Katharine read his name in the sailing lists. Bound for Plymouth and Havre. She wondered if Cissy Malotte, the blues singer, were on board the boat also.

The day came when Zoe was allowed to walk in the garden. She seemed thinner, more thoughtful than before. Her close brush with death had sobered her, changed her from the laughing, rather frivolous girl she had been into a quieter woman. Katharine was conscious of being drawn to her as to a younger sister.

For the moment thoughts of Michael Heatheroe were pushed into the background of Katharine's mind. She saw him almost daily. Sometimes he rode at her side; sometimes not. But their relationship was now on a firmer basis. Katharine no longer felt it necessary to be stiff and offhand with him. Every day she saw about him some quality that she liked and admired more.

"Who says men and women cannot be friends?" she demanded of Dr. Kaye one rainy Sunday. Bertine and her father were at the country club for tea. Katharine was exquisite in soft country tweeds, her fair hair curled about her face in a nimbus of ringlets.

"I don't know. Who does?" John Kaye returned lazily. Ellen had kindled a fire in the library grate, for the afternoon was cool as well as damp—a curious day for August—and Katharine sat on a low hassock, poking idly at the embers with one of the fire tools.

"Oh, I don't know, Everybody!" Katharine offered vaguely, smiling to herself. The man watched her with interest, balancing a teacup in one hand, the other occupied with a cigaret.

"Generalizations are always stupid," the doctor said idly.

"I love this," Katharine went on, with animation, including the fire and the tea tray in the wave of her hand. "It's pleasant to be shut in like this, with rain pounding against the windows and beating at the door." She smiled a secret smile, thinking of the day she and Michael Heatheroe had been sheltered in the wayside cabin. Michael had been angry at her that day. Why? Some day, perhaps, she would know. He had never spoken to her in that way since.

"Pleasant, indeed. You never can get this feeling in a city apartment," mused Dr. Kaye. "You have to have the noise of tree branches bending in the wind and the sweep of water pounding on rocks and maybe the lighthouse bell tolling occasionally to give you a taste of real drama, in the storm. Katharine," he digressed suddenly, putting his cup down, "you've been happier of late, haven't you? Or do I imagine it? Somehow you and Bertine seem to be hitting it off better than you did."

"Oh, yes. Bertine is all right." Katharine said politely. It wouldn't do to tell John that the reason she was able to bear her stepmother's irritating ways, her trick of whining and "fussing" at everything was because she had found a new outlet for her energies and affections. The Merser house was open to her now whenever Bertine made home unbearable. Violet Merser was her confidante . . . and Katharine loved the children, too, as she hadn't dared to love anyone for years. But if Bertine knew how often she sought out the little white house in the hills behind Innicock, she would be sure to interfere.

How grand it would be, Katharine thought, if Michael Heatheroe were to come walking in that door this very instant. She would say, "Tea, Michael?"

She would say, "I'm sorry, but do you take sugar and cream? I don't seem to remember . . ."

But she could never ask Michael Heatheroe to her home. Her stepmother would never allow it. Bertine, for all her smiles and apparent amiability, ruled the Strykhurst menage with a rod of iron. Her portly husband did exactly as she wished, in fact. He would thought, said Katharine rather contemptuously to herself, exactly what his wife told him to think.

Michael Heatheroe did not "belong."

"Who is he?" Bertine would say, with a life of the eyebrow. "Where did he come from and who are his people?"

"Well, some day Katharine would have a place of her own. She could ask her own friends there, as often as she liked. No one would dare to criticize then; or, if they did, she would not listen.

"Wool-gathering, Princess Kitsy?"

She smiled at the lean, ascetic-looking man across the hearth.

"I guess so. You used to call me that when you first came here, John. 'Princess Kitsy.' You were a very grand young man and I was in pigtails."

"A funny child you were, too," said John Kaye. "Just like a prickly pear. I tried so hard to make you smile."

"Was I that bad?" cried the girl. "Well, you were afraid of people. Shy—no, it wasn't exactly shyness. Distrust, I'm afraid. Poor little girl!"

Her throat tightened, her voice thickened as she said. "Don't, Doctor John. You'll have me bursting into tears."

"Well, you've changed a lot, anyhow," said the man. "You're not afraid of anyone any more. That's the stuff, Katharine. Look life in the face and tell 'em all to go to hell."

"Good advice," said Katharine, smiling.

Lights flashed up in the overhead fixture and Bertine Strykhurst bustled in.

"What are you two doing, mooning here in the dark? You ought to get into your things and take a brisk walk," cried Bertine. "Katharine doesn't take enough exercise. That's why she droops around so, half-alive."

Angry words sprang to the girl's lips and were suppressed. Dr. Kaye looked at her warningly.

"I played three sets of tennis in the broiling sun yesterday," Katharine said, keeping her tone good-humored with an effort. "And I rode horseback in the morning. Doesn't that count?"

Bertine gave her own superior little laugh.

"Oh, I guess we know why all the young ladies in town have taken to riding of late. I guess we could tell a thing or two about that."

Katharine clenched her hands. With an effort she controlled her voice. "Really!"

Bertine turned to Dr. Kaye as if for understanding and sympathy. "You wouldn't believe how silly the girls are nowadays about the first decent-looking male creature in breeches. Why, I heard today that Sally Moon is going to marry the fellow."

"Marry whom?" the doctor asked.

"Why, that young man who runs the riding place," cried Bertine, in triumph. "That chap who calls himself Heatheroe."

John Kaye, glancing at Katharine, was shocked by the drawn look on her face.

"Why, there's something here," he said to himself, in surprise. "This means something to her."

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

ORGANIZED labor has put over the Wagner Disputes bill and it may win its battle for the Guffey Coal bill. But it will triumph by sheer weight of political pressure rather than astute maneuvering at the capital.

Its legislative representatives were caught napping on the A. F. of L.'s most important measure—the Wagner bill. President Green complained continuously because Rules Chairman O'Connor of New York would not report out the measure for House consideration. Mr. O'Connor explained that he did not have enough votes in committee and that a premature test would kill the bill for this session. Mr. Green then flashed his inside score sheet showing a majority of the committee for the bill.

With Mr. Green on an extension line, Chairman O'Connor telephoned four men the AFL president counted as "favorable." All four informed the New Yorker that they wouldn't vote for the bill under any circumstances. They had been kidding the labor leader and he believed them.

SKELETONS: Senatorial attacks don't worry the Nye Munitions committee so much as persistent protests from foreign diplomats. Several ambassadors have worn out a path to the White House since the investigators started to scrutinize the 1914-1917 records of New York's better banks.

The anti-war sleuths seek evidence to prove or refute the repeated accusation that our financiers' fear for their loans to the Allies forced the United States into the conflict. As one Senator puts it, "Our army and navy and marines bailed out the banks." The committee's nine examiners have not reported their findings but they are "enthusiastic" over their preliminary haul.

The nations expressing fear that developments might prove embarrassing are Great Britain and France.

CONSIDERATE: Secretary Hull's conflicting duties and desires place him in a peculiar predicament. As a man of peace, he sympathizes with the committee's efforts to thwart the makers of war and remove the causes. But he must also get along peacefully and comfortably with foreign governments for certain immediate ends.

The Senators appreciate his difficulty and have worked out a scheme to lighten it. They have agreed not to make public their banking discoveries until Mr. Hull has seen them first. They have also refrained from any examination of the reports, withholding their curiosity until all the material has been collected and sorted. If there are any "leaks," they don't want to be blamed.

This agreement is not so reassuring to foreign diplomats as it sounds. The committee permits Mr. Hull a first squint at the papers, but it has not agreed to suppress them even if he should request it. There may be some sensational disclosures before long.

HOOVER: Republican leaders are making no move to ask Herbert Hoover to deal himself out as a prospective nominee for 1936. They have discussed the matter with some of the ex-President's intimates but they think it would be fatal right now.

Mr. Hoover is still popular with many people who think he was a victim of misfortune. Private checks and the reaction of motion picture audiences convince sundry leaders of that. To encourage the titular chieftain publicly would be an admission that the party does not approve his fundamental philosophy. And many members of Congress voted for his program for four years. Republicans with a smattering of political acumen caution against any slight to the man at Palo Alto.

Mr. Hoover's enemies in the party want to ignore him. But even they don't care to affront him or his friends. The only ex-President is a problem to friends and foes.

REGIME: President Roosevelt has informed friends that the slogan of reform will be heard less frequently when Congress quits. Not because he has lost interest, but he expects that most of his major measures for the kind of reconstruction he wants will be in effect.

He will revise his experiments when necessary. He will press several investigations which have a strong reform purpose. He will drive ahead under the momentum of the program which he has framed since he entered the White House. But the day-by-day operation of these new processes is expected to prove less disturbing to business and industry than the excitement of their formulation.

Two interlocking considerations lie behind this idea. Comparative quiet will aid the forces of recovery. And recovery will boost the Democratic fortunes in 1936—if they need boosting then.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE Federation of Labor has its Wagner-Connery law—but that doesn't mean smooth sailing in labor relations from now on. Far from it. At least fifty important corporations—several of them in the steel industry—are ready to take the law into the courts the minute their workers try to use it to promote unionization. Moreover, New York big timers are confident it will be upset on constitutional grounds. The industrialist prophecy that the law will breed capital-labor strife is likely to come true—but largely because the industrialists themselves will refuse to accept it as binding.

Astute New Yorkers express the belief that the President expects the law to be nullified by the Supreme court—and is counting on that to further his plans for broadening federal control of business. Organized labor is already predisposed in favor of a constitutional amendment to that end and would certainly be much more militant about it if its "Magna Charta" were ruled invalid.

The President and the top men of the Federation may not love each other any more than they did a few months ago—but signs are multiplying that they'll have to team up in '36 whether they want to or no.

SAVE: One of the signs that both the White House and Bill Green would do well to heed is Louis Waldman's demand for a Labor party led by the American Federation. He has spotlighted a movement that has been making quiet underground progress for some time—and the reason for the spotlighting was because the sponsors of the idea believe the moment for action is approaching.

Mr. Waldman is New York State chairman for the Socialist party. He belongs to the right wing of the party and shares the view of many other members that to get anywhere politically it will be necessary to negotiate new alliances and scrap the Socialist label. Organized labor offers the most promising political tie-up. His reference to Federation leadership of the new party was intended to reassure dubious Federationists that they won't have to play second fiddle to the Socialists in such a movement.

Bill Green and his immediate lieutenants still believe in keeping the Federation independent of politics. But their grip on their followers is none too strong and insiders say that more of the younger element feels otherwise than you might suspect. Green must keep producing substantial achievements to hold his throne—and he cannot do so without FDR's help. Conversely, Mr. Roosevelt's chances for renomination and reelection would be much poorer if organized labor went off on a political tangent of its own—so he needs to bolster Green's efforts to save his job and his policies.

COMEBACK: Insiders rate the growth of residential construction—very rapid since February—the most encouraging symptom of genuine recovery they have seen yet. If it continues the long-awaited comeback of heavy industry is bound to follow.

TARZAN AND THE LION MAN, No. 71

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

As the terrified Eyad wheeled his horse to flee, he looked back and saw the fiendish slaughter of his Arab comrades by the ferocious gorilla band. And he saw a big bull gorilla seize Naomi Madison, lift her up roughly and start up the slope of the canyon. . . .

. . . Late that day, Tom Orman and Bill West, pursuing their vain search for Rhonda and Naomi, came upon Eyad, resting from his flight. They approached carefully, for they recognized him as one of the girl's kidnapers. But Eyad heard them. Swiftly he seized his musket.

But Orman had him covered, and forced the Arab to drop his gun. "Where are Miss Madison and Miss Terry?" Orman demanded. Eyad knew no English, but he recognized the names. In excited pantomime he began to describe what he knew of the fate of Rhonda and Naomi.

"I don't know exactly what he's trying to say," West observed; "but I gather something terrible has happened to the girls. I wonder where it was." "I'll make him guide us to it," Orman answered grimly. "We'll start tomorrow. We'll soon know what it's all about!"

Trade Volume Slowly Climbs

Thirty Thousand Workers In Wall Street Are Breathing Easier As Activity Takes On Added Weight

BY THOMAS E. FLANAGAN
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, July 4—Wall street's some 30,000 workers in stock exchange houses are breathing a little easier.

After a long period of lean days marked by mergers, Scotch weeks, pay cuts and dismissals, there are signs that trading activity is slowly taking on a little weight.

The New York Stock exchange report of monthly sales showed that June had seen 22,336,000 shares change hands, compared with 14,404,000 shares in February, the low for the year, and 12,635,000 shares in September, 1934, the post-1929 bottom.

Hopes Stirring

Although Wall Street is still a long way from the all-time monthly high of 141,668,000 shares of October, 1929, and the 16,410,000 shares on "Black Thursday" alone of that month, hopes are stirring once more that the gradual expansion in stock trading, which got under way in February, will continue.

While brokers may not have liked the behavior of share prices from 1929 to 1932, it was not until after the boomlet of the summer of 1933 that volume of trading started to dry up rapidly.

Drouth Is Relieved

This drouth, however, was relieved by an expansion of business which brought 56,829,000 shares in February, a high for 1934; but the months that followed saw trading grow thinner and thinner.

As board-room sitters slowly drifted away and stock prices edged back and forth, small fractions at a time, brokerage firms tightened their belts. Cuts which had already been made were slashed deeper, "Scotch" weeks fell more frequently, while idle margin clerks and bookkeepers were regretfully dismissed.

Lubbock Throngs To Links, Picnic Grounds

Literally thousands of Lubbock people answered the beckonings of city parks, playgrounds and golf courses throughout the day. Buffalo Springs, 12 miles southeast, likewise proved a popular spot for swimmers and picnickers.

Most popular of Lubbock's parks was that in the northeast part of the city, to which throngs began arriving before noon. Tumble 'N pool was greatly patronized and on the greensward it appeared possible to jump from picnic group to picnic group. Shannon county park, too, was well patronized.

Many local golfing fans were out of the city in various spots where tournaments were in sway—attending either as players or spectators. Despite that fact, both the Country club and Meadowbrook links did "a good Sunday business" throughout the holiday.

STATEHOUSE FIRE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 4. (AP)—Fire broke out in the Illinois state house this morning on the fourth floor above the house of representatives. The fire department, called out at full strength, started pouring water into the scene of the blaze as smoke poured out from the south wing of the building.

Although arson is a capital offense in North Carolina, the state has never executed any one for that crime.

Rep. Amlie said the rally's sessions would be closed but that its highlights would be given to the public.

said, nevertheless, that a report being prepared by the Hill sub-committee would be completed in time to form a basis for the hearings.

Want "Full Information"

Saying that "we want to get full information before framing a tax bill," Doughton estimated hearings would last from "ten days to two weeks." He said the committee might hold night sessions on the Guffey coal bill if another subcommittee reports next week.

"Just a guess, adjournment will come between August 15 and September 1, under this program," Doughton said.

He added that it was planned to rush the Guffey coal bill through before August 1, when soft coal mine wage and hour agreements expire and another strike threat may arise.

Superintendent Noah Wiggins said he believed there was no danger of an escape. No visitors were allowed today and an intensive search for the blades was underway.

Men Dissatisfied

Dissatisfaction of parole applicants after the state board in session this week granted only 49 of 161 applications was believed responsible for the missing saws.

Higgins said no paroled inmates would be released from the reformatory until the blades are found.

Battle Not Confirmed

A rumored battle between Italian and Ethiopian frontier forces, in which casualties were reported to have been heavy, remained without confirmation.

Authorities here said Ethiopia was having trouble getting munitions from European exporters, Belgium assertedly having embargoed 7,500,000 cartridges after 2,500,000 of an order for 10,000,000 had been shipped.

The great Skoda works of Czechoslovakia also refused to deliver artillery after accepting orders from Addis Ababa, it was said, while French manufacturers likewise were deaf to appeals from this country.

Beauty Contest Winner Is Fort Worth Resident

She is Miss Lubbock, but Fort Worth is her home.

Miss Norma Bradshaw, former Lubbock High school student, is visiting Mrs. E. C. Simmons, 612 Avenue K and other friends here. She was selected Miss Lubbock in a first round beach show and beauty pageant Wednesday evening in Palace theater.

Second and third winners were Miss Polly Parrott and Miss Irene McCoy, respectively.

Had Lived Here

The small blond first-place winner has been given a number of parties recently by Sub-Deb club of high school girls of which she is a former member. She is a daughter of Mrs. A. A. Bradshaw. Miss Bradshaw was a junior student in Lubbock High school the first part of last year, in a Fort Worth school the latter part.

The three girls are to represent Lubbock in a semi-final contest here August 2-3, in which a winner will be selected to compete in Roswell, N. M.

Hal B. Grady, manager of the Palace theater, said he did not know the winner did not live here. Mr. Grady presided for the program.

Extradition Said Waived By Moreau

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 4. (AP)—Superintendent of Police A. A. Carroll announced today that Robert J. Moreau, 58, arrested in connection with a double slaying in Texas 19 years ago, had decided to waive extradition.

Carroll said Sheriff Ike Allred, of Van Zandt county, Tex., who came here to arrest Moreau, probably would start back to Texas with his prisoner tomorrow. The trip will be made by automobile.

Moreau's decision reversed the announcement of his attorney, Jay Linsey, late yesterday that Moreau would fight removal.

Moreau served part of a five to 99-year sentence for the slaying of Mrs. H. F. Goodnight, was pardoned, and subsequently reindicted. Mrs. Goodnight and her husband were found slain in their home at Wills Point, Tex. Moreau said he did not know he was wanted until his arrest yesterday.

Sans Shoes, Alfalfa Bill Sits In Restful Contemplation On His Farm

BROKEN BOW, Okla., July 4. (AP)—William Henry (Alfalfa Bill) Murray's joints were a bit achy today—from sleeping on the floor since Monday because the beds have not yet arrived from the old Tishomingo homestead—but the former governor of Oklahoma swelled nevertheless with pride as he "settled" in his new rural retreat from the higher-geared avenues of living.

In his own back to the land movement, Murray has become a "peasant farmer." He has donned blue denim overalls and retired to a little farm on clear, quiet Yashau creek behind the hills, where he can take off his shoes, sit on the porch and contemplate the goodness of life on 80 acres.

He has a cow, two hogs, a coop of black Ancona chickens, four horses and a mule, but "no tractors for me, they won't pay on a small farm." There are two wells, and a spring. The farm is a mile and a half west of here.

Only part of the household furniture has been moved into the house. The remainder stood in the yard as the 64 year old, walrus-mustached exponent of the constitution and simple living sat with stockinged feet on the center of the floor of his front porch.

"It will be restful here," he drawled in his deep bass. "Away from public life and publicity. I don't intend to engage in any business, and at this time I don't intend to enter any race for any office next fall."

Glancing out across the land, "I'm going to put 15 acres in cultivation for food and feed, and have about three acres of orchard and garden.

"I'll do little of the farming myself, just supervise mostly. I'll have a negro—his wife will help Mrs. Murray with the housework—and other laborers will be hired as they are needed."

Scientists Will Look Into Death Of Tons Of Fish

CORPUS CHRISTI, July 4. (AP)—Clyde T. Reed, instructor in charge of the A. and I. college marine biology laboratory at La Quinta, said he hoped to ascertain today the cause of the death of millions of fish along the shores of Padre island.

Reed and Bob Farley, deputy game, fish and oyster commissioner, had reached the conclusion that the fish were killed probably by a rift on the ocean floor or a slight volcanic disturbance which opened a sulphur dioxide gas pocket.

Farley estimated that approximately 10,000,000 pounds of fish were destroyed along a 40-mile strip between Corpus Christi pass and Big Shell banks. He said such a situation was unknown in the records of the gulf coast.

The theory that gas caused the death of the fish was strengthened when fishermen and visitors to the beaches reported that choking gas waves were evident. They said they were seized with deep, racking coughing attacks that continued increasingly.

July Fourth Sees Vesuvius Active

NAPLES, July 4. (AP)—Old Mount Vesuvius displayed exceptional volcanic efforts today for residents of Naples and Fourth of July visitors to resorts around the famous Blue bay.

Scientists at the national observatory on the mountain, however, asserted that the volcano was merely giving vent to eruptions now considered periodic.

The new eruptions were believed to result from the opening of a new fissure within the volcano's cone by the great blast early yesterday that startled the countryside.

Scientists said it would take many years for the lava from such an eruption to brim over the lips of the crater, as it once did to engulf the ancient civilization of Pompeii.

girl to his rooms in Detroit for the purpose of assaulting her, but then killed her after she fell in attempted flight and stuffed her body in a trunk.

"He told us he saw the girl in the street selling punch board chances," Kaiser said, "and he asked her to come to his apartment for some books. He said he tried to attack her, but she ran screaming.

"Then he said he caught her and pulled her onto the divan, but she fought and he hit her with a hammer."

While detectives here worked on Goodrich's story, Detroit authorities were advised that a request had been made by police of Kansas City, Kansas, to question him concerning his whereabouts in April, 1933, when 6-year-old Nadine Vogel Love disappeared on the way home from school. Her body was found April 30 in a woods near Bonner Springs.

Head Of College Rides Freight To Present Request

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP) — A hitch-hiking college president from New Mexico sought federal aid here today to repair his school so it could be more useful.

B. Clarence Evans, head of Montezuma college, five miles from Las Vegas, arrived in the nation's capital on a freight train and immediately arranged to work for room and board while he remains here indefinitely. He gained the support of Senator Hatch (D-NM) in locating government officials who might give him a hearing and awaited estimates of repairs from Las Vegas contractors.

"We were practically broke out there," Evans said, "and since I had to get here somehow I just decided to work my way. Some of my friends gave me a little money before I started and I ate off that on the way. I will work for my room and board here. How will I get back home? That remains to be seen."

After 13 years' teaching experience in New Mexico, Evans assumed presidency at Montezuma two years and kept the school operating in 1933 by permitting students to pay their tuition in agricultural or other products.

Glass Schoolhouse To Be Constructed

HIBBING, Minn., July 4 (AP)—A glass schoolhouse is going to be Minnesota's contribution to the long lineage coming down from the "little red schoolhouse."

Built that way to capitalize to the fullest on sunshine, the glass schoolhouse has been authorized for Hibbing, once known as the "richest village in the world," because of nearby iron mines.

Costing $33,000 the ultra-modern building will be constructed of glass, vacuum blocks and selected brick with the translucent glass comprising about 70 per cent of the exterior.

Within the glass building to accommodate a kindergarten and the first three elementary grades, pupils will study from desks so placed as to be adequately illuminated without danger of glare.

The building, officials say, will be the fourth of its kind in the United States. Two are located in New York and one in San Francisco. Construction here will start in a few weeks.

Only Four Public Projects Started

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—Despite the hundreds of millions of dollars put aside for work relief projects, officials disclosed today that only four of the new ones approved actually have been started.

Only a few hundred men they added so far have been given work.

At the same time, however, they said a great amount of detail was necessary in rounding plans into final shape for starting work and that President Roosevelt had said he did not expect the program to reach its peak until mid-Nomember.

Has Facetious Explanation

Senator Long claims that this was playing politics with federal relief funds and one of his bills prepared for the legislature would make this a jail offense.

In facetious tone, Long said:

"We are not going to do anything rash. We are just going to back up the president. He issued a statement awhile back saying he didn't want federal funds for relief and other purposes politicalized. We are going to help see that they are not."

Fairbanks Not To Stay Idle

Return To Pictures Discussed By Famous Actor, On Coast For United Artist Meeting; Still Has Gypsy Feet

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 4. (AP)—Douglas Fairbanks, globe-trotting film actor, may appear in motion pictures again.

"I have been on the screen about 20 years," he said after his arrival here by airplane last night from Vancouver, B. C. "I feel the public has seen enough of me, but even at that I am not sure about taking up acting again. I may or may not. You never can tell about me."

"Gosh, no," replied Doug to a question as to whether he planned to give up Hollywood as his permanent residence. "I've got ranches and things here. But I have to keep on the move. I have Gypsy feet, you know."

To Attend Meeting

Fairbanks said he planned to remain here for the annual sales convention and board meeting of United Artists corporation, of which he is a part owner, along with Mary Pickford, his former wife.

It was Fairbanks' first return to Hollywood since Miss Pickford divorced him some months ago. Prior to that time he had gone to England where he was named correspondent in the divorce suit of Lord Ashley against his former showgirl wife, Lady Sylvia Ashley.

Lady Ashley, who accompanied Fairbanks and friends on an extended yacht cruise, remained in Vancouver for a week's salmon fishing.

Critics Speak

with house leaders, the American Liberty league denounced his program as "a transparent political gesture," and as "unquestionably a surrender to the forces of radicalism preaching unsound doctrines impossible of accomplishment."

Hoover spoke first at a luncheon meeting in Grass Valley, Calif. With a few introductory remarks he swung directly into discussion of individual liberty. He made no mention of President Roosevelt or the New Deal, but many contended his meaning, in the light of his past assertions was none-the-less plain.

Talmadge Fires Salvo

Talmadge, who has waged a bitter feud with the White House, termed states rights "the bulwark of protection for the people of Georgia" and "all of the other states of the union."

He asserted the "experimental legislation" of President Roosevelt had been a failure, had retarded progress and should best be abandoned. The agricultural program and processing taxes, he said had "bled the people white."

Byrd Draws Analogy

Senator Byrd upheld the father of the country as a protector of individual liberties. Turning to present problems he said no one could deny the great difficulty of finding a solution for them.

From the South, too, came a defense of the president. Senator Russell (D-Ga), described the chief executive as "a man who did not and will not yield to demagogues." Talk that Mr. Roosevelt is assuming the powers of a dictatorship he denounced as "utter folly."

California Police Hold Man Suspected In Kidnaping Case

FAIRFIELD, Calif., July 4. (AP)—On suspicion that he might be William Mahan, convict widely sought as the "brains" of the George Weyerhaeuser kidnaping, a man giving the name of Otto Urbach, 36, of Livingston, Mont., was brought to the sheriff's office here today.

His finger prints were checked with those of the fugitive. They were not identical. He had a car with Montana license plates.

The sheriff's deputy, who asked that his name not be used, said the man was released, but department of justice agents refused to confirm this.

Brief Senate Meeting Ends With Recess Until Monday

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—With only five members on the floor, the senate today met and recessed until Monday almost before Vice President Garner could get seated on the rostrum.

The session was one of the shortest on record—one minute.

About 100 spectators were in the gallery, but all they witnessed was an authorization for the vice president to sign during the recess, an appropriation bill providing funds to keep congress going next year.

Patman Lays Blame For Bonus Failure On Legionnaires

Investigation Will Be Asked, He Hints; "Sell-Out" Charged

Sworn Testimony Will Support Influence Purchasing Charge, Texas Representative Avers; $74,000 Figures

(By The Associated Press)

BRISTOL, Va., July 4.—Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex) heaped blame today for the defeat of his bill for full payment of veterans adjusted service certificates upon the heads of National Commander Frank N. Belgrano and Legislative Representative John Thomas Taylor of the American Legion.

"They rendered lip service for the veterans and some effective head work and foot work for big bankers and big interests in this country," Patman said of Belgrano and Taylor in a Fourth of July address here before legionnaires from posts in southwest Virginia and East Tennessee.

Investigation Seen

Asserting to the press before the address that he probably would introduce a resolution for such an investigation shortly, Patman in his address said the next legion "convention should go on record asking for a congressional investigation of Wall Street's connection with important, influential office holders in the American Legion and former leaders of the American Legion."

He said there was "sworn testimony" that $74,000 was carried to the Chicago convention "and was used to buy the influence of certain leaders in the American Legion to get a so-called 'anti-inflation' resolution through the Chicago convention, having for its purpose protection of Wall Street's interests."

Not All Are Guilty

He said all of the American Legion leaders were not guilty, and "those who are not guilty will be exonerated by this investigation and those who are guilty will be exposed."

"If this testimony is true," said the Texan, "certain leaders of the American Legion have deliberately and wilfully sold out to Wall Street interests and have become disloyal to the American Legion."

Asserting that his bill was the only one that complied with the Miami convention resolution, Patman emphasized the provision against creating "new or additional debt."

The congressman said his bill failed at this section of congress by only nine votes out of 531, and that if Belgrano and Taylor "had cooperated the bill would now be a law."

Tremendous Sale Gly-Cas Enables Public To Profit

Advanced Medicine Is Offered Sufferers at the Price of Ordinary Remedies; Thousands of Boxes Sold Throughout This Section; Read What Another Local Resident Says

It is true, many thousands of boxes of Gly-Gas are being sold throughout this section and the tremendous sale Gly-Gas has enjoyed has enabled its manufacturer to offer to the general suffering public through the Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, this new advanced medicines at the price of the ordinary medicines of today, within the reach of everyone.

MRS. W. C. PRICE

Mrs. W. C. Price, respected local lady who resides at Wolfforth, Texas (just southwest of here) recently made the following remarkable statement, lauding the action of this new medical discovery:

"I had endured seven years of suffering before I learned of Gly-Cas," said Mrs. Price. "Gas would press against my heart after every meal I ate and attacks of indigestion were so severe that I dreaded for meal time to come—knowing the suffering I would have afterwards. My kidneys were disorered too and my system filled with poisons until rheumatism had an awful hold on me. Pains were constantly in my arms, shoulders and limbs until at times I was miserable from head to foot. Naturally this continual suffering had wrecked my entire system, worn-out completely and so nervous I could not sleep. The least noise would upset me terribly. It was so discouraging as everything failed in my case and I did not know where to turn next when I was finally persuaded to give Gly-Gas a trial—and it was DIFFERENT."

"I was actually surprised to see the quick results this new remedy gave me," continued Mrs. Price, "but it was so different from any medicine I had ever taken before. My stomach and kidneys are now regular, can eat my meals without any gas, bloating or indigestion like I had for years before. That dreadful rheumatism has been driven from my system, every ache and pain has gone and that soreness and stiffness has disappeared. It is wonderful to be able to eat and sleep so well as I do today, even my nerves have been quieted until I can enjoy life as others. My former pep and energy has been restored and I am a new person in so many ways. Gly-Gas is one medicine that does what it claims to do and should not be confused with the ordinary medicines of today for it gives results."

The Gly-Gas Man is daily meeting crowds of local people at Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway where he is introducting and explaining the action of this valuable new remedy.

Gly-Cas $1.00 per box — 6 boxes $5.00. Add 2c postage for each box ordered. Send money orders made payable Mark Halsey Drug Store. Don't send cash. Checks not accepted. No C. O. D. Mail Orders.—ADV.

Inventions Slow Mental Pursuits Of Housekeepers

LONDON, July 4 (AP)—Too many labor-saving inventions are stirring women with a longing for the simplicity of the stone age—take it from Capt. G. Drury Coleman, secretary of the British Institute of Patentees.

"They are," says the captain, "getting bored with having nothing to do. They are thoroughly tired of these many inventions designed to save them from lifting a finger."

"Consequently women are definitely slowing down in putting their brains to inventive pursuits," says Captain Coleman. "They have dropped 25 per cent in the past year."

Men, in the contrary, are going stronger than ever, with a total of 37,409 patent applications during the past year compared to 36,734 in 1934.

Orthodox Mohammedans are loath to construct a building or weave a rug that has straight lines or flawless symmetry. They believe that only Allah is perfect, and that to construct a perfect building or rug is sacrilegious.

Pioneer Rendezvous Marked By Denver With Bronze Plate

DENVER, July 4 (AP)—Denver has remembered its most popular pioneer meeting place. A bronze plate riveted to the Blake street bridge across Cherry creek in the lower downtown district now marks the site of the old Elephant corral.

The corral, a combination of pioneer camp ground, fort, and parking space for saddle horses and teams, was opened in 1859 by A. J. Williams and Charles Blake, after whom the street was named.

Alabama claims a short railroad built between Florence and Decatur in 1832 was the first west of the Alleghenies.
