RIOT SQUAD KILLS BESIEGED DALLAS GUNMAN

Hoover Orders Government Drive On Racketeers Throughout United States

PRESIDENT HAS WARNING FOR 'MR. AL CAPONE'

Executive Points to Prosecution of Notorious Man's Brother

ALL AGENCIES READY

White House Order Comes After Conference With Cabinet Heads

By WILLIAM P. FLYTHE

WASHINGTON, April 29. (US)—President Hoover announced today that every agency of the government would be used in a drive against organized crime, rum and narcotic rings.

Federal authorities throughout the country have been instructed to take every action possible to combat the serious situation.

All federal and state authorities have been called upon to cooperate, it was made known.

Capone Cited

This extensive program, worked out between the president, the treasury and justice departments, follows the message to congress of yesterday in which the president asked for enactment of legislation to aid enforcement of the prohibition and other laws and for funds for the erection of adequate federal prisons.

The president cited "Mr. Al Capone," Chicago gang leader. He pointed out that while it had been impossible for the federal government to "reach" Capone, it had reached his brother through the income tax statutes.

Urges Legislation

The president deplored the fact that congress has failed to pass legislation which he recommended in his first message to that body and in his message of yesterday, but it was made plain that failing the passage of the necessary legislation, the existing statutes will be invoked everywhere possible.

The president made it plain that while the executive divisions of the government are proceeding against criminal rings, congestion in the federal courts is a situation which should be remedied. He pointed out that the administration does not oppose any method which congress may evolve, but stresses his view that if law is to be enforced the government must have relief by speedy trials. He declared that the government is at no time opposed to trial by jury, as suggested by his law enforcement commission, but feels that many of the minor cases could be expedited in this way.

Transfer Plan

The president explained that transfer of the prohibition activities to the department of justice would bring about closer cooperation between the government and the courts, as the department of justice would then be able more properly to direct prosecutions and invoke any law which is being violated.

It was made plain at the White House that the administration will coordinate every existing agency in the drive against crime and that the necessary orders have been issued to all government officials.

'Goat Gland' Specialist Faces Fraud Charge

TOPEKA, Kan., April 29. (AP)—Dr. J. R. Brinkley, Milford, Kan., "goat gland" specialist, today was ordered to appear for hearing here June 17 before the state board of medical examination and registration to show cause why his license to practice medicine should not be revoked. A complaint, alleging fraud and misrepresentation, was prepared by the attorney general's office yesterday.

POSTMASTER NAMED

WASHINGTON, April 29. (AP)—President Hoover today nominated James F. Rodgers to be postmaster at Harlingen, Texas.

Fighting Men Supplant Faltering Ohio Pen Warden

Tiring of Warden P. E. Thomas' policy of marking time in the crisis at Ohio penitentiary, Gov. Myers Y. Cooper turned the situation over to Col. Robert Haubrich, veteran of many battles in France, and his national guard troops. Within a few hours the military had full control of the prison. Above left are shown two machine gunners ready for action at the prison. At right is Warden Thomas and below a group of the prisoners as they milled about the prison yard, completely out of control until the soldiers rushed the grounds early Tuesday, shooting two convicts.

Iron-Jawed Army Colonel Takes Over Reins in Ohio Penitentiary

Militia Commander Given Full Power After Troops Spill Blood in Quelling Fresh Outbreak

By HARRY W. SHARPE

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 29. (UP)—The under-current of mutiny that has bubbled for more than a week in the Ohio state penitentiary, broke into a torrent of violence today as 1,300 prisoners in the White City cell blocks staged an open revolt.

Prison guards opened fire with shotguns and repeating rifles, seriously wounding two convicts. Martial law was declared and the prison turned over to Col. Robert Haubrich, commanding the state militia.

Militia in Control

By nightfall, 1,000 national guardsmen patrolled the ramparts and the prison's inner quadrangle. A machine gun company from Fort Hayes moved inside the walls and order was restored.

The convicts in the White City blocks, grumbling and recalcitrant since the Easter Monday fire, got out of their bunks this morning to see workmen engaged in erecting a barbed wire stockade in the prison yard—a stockade such as came into being in German prison camps during the world war.

Word circulated the stockade was to be used for corralling agitators. Messages were tapped from cell to cell on water pipes and word of the new disciplinary measure was shouted across the corridors.

Convicts Attack

Guards first became aware of the new revolt when a shower of bolts and nails greeted them. The convicts then attacked a partition which separates cell blocks from the prison guard room. The building was in a turmoil.

Then the guards opened fire.

JURY RETURNS 19 TRUE BILLS

Ed Hedgcoth Charged With Slaying Youth

The grand jury for the April term of the 30th district court returned 19 indictments Tuesday with its final report to Judge Allan D. Montgomery, nine of which were either already under arrest or were taken in custody by members of the sheriff's department before Tuesday night.

One of the indictments charged Ed Hedgcoth with murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of R. D. Burnett, 18, during a dance near Iowa Park recently. Hedgcoth has been held in the county jail here without bond awaiting the action of the grand jury in his case.

Frequent Sessions Urged

In its report to Judge Montgomery the jury recommended that a grand jury be convened in Wichita county at least once every 30 days, in view of the fact that regular sessions of the juries are held only four times each year and on numerous occasions it becomes necessary, in order to speed up justice, to call a special session of a grand jury in one of the other two courts in the county.

"There are periods during the course of a year," the report read,

Hoover Plans Another Week-End Fishing Trip

WASHINGTON, April 29. (INS)—President Hoover plans another fishing trip to his camp at Rapidan this week-end, it was announced today. The president will leave the capitol Friday and return Sunday evening.

40,000 BASS GO IN POND HERE

Diversion, Wichita Waters Roiled by Wind

Forty thousand baby bass, the first consignment of fry for the new rearing pond at Lake Wichita, were freed in the waters of the pond Tuesday under the direction of members of the Izaak Walton league and supervisors of the state fish hatchery at Diversion lake.

The small bass will be allowed to grow to fingerling size before being released in the waters of Lake Wichita, and probably will reach the legal limit for catching within two years. The bass fry, contained in 10 cans, were brought here from the Diversion hatchery under the direction of D. C. Harper, game warden and assistant at the hatchery.

Hope for Calm

The Lake Wichita rearing pond was recently completed by the Izaak Walton league, and will be used to provide stock for Lake Wichita in order to maintain the supply of that popular resort. While anglers Tuesday visioned the prospects of fine bass fishing two years hence, the outlook for the opening day here Thursday was not so bright as was the case Monday. Rains Monday and Monday night had clouded the water to a small extent, but the high winds had whipped the lake to such a height that apparently waters will still be unsettled Thursday. The wind at Diversion had also muddied the water there considerably. Mr. Harper said, but calm weather for the next 24 hours will do much to restore good fishing conditions to both lakes. Lake Kemp, the largest of the three Wichita area lakes,

J. H. Marriott to Be Buried Here After Services in Electra Today

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, April 28.—Funeral services for J. H. Marriott, 73, a leader in the business and oil development of the Electra district since 1904, will be held here at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. The Rev. Father William Bender of the Catholic church will officiate. Burial will be in the Sacred Heart cemetery at Wichita Falls.

Mr. Marriott died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. O. Turner, at 11:30 Monday night. For more than a quarter of a century he has been actively identified with the development of the Electra section. From an early hotel venture here, his business and oil interests were widely developed and he became one of the most extensive owners of farm and oil lands in the county.

The Marriott lease, northeast of Electra, was one of the first and most productive areas developed. The pioneer maintained his interest in the farming development of the county for many years, and has been one of the most significant figures in the growth of the community.

Fifteen years ago he retired from active business. Since the death of Mrs. Marriott four years ago, in 1926, he has made his home with Mrs. Turner.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. J. C. Spurgeon and Mrs. J. M. Dempsey of Dallas and Mrs. Turner of this city; two sons, E. W. Marriott of Wichita Falls and J. H. Marriott Jr. of Electra;

STATE SUES TRACTION FIRM FOR GAS TAX

$33,000 Asked for Alleged Shipments Made From Other States

SUIT TO TEST LAW

Only One Tank Bought Outside Texas, Manager Of Company Says

Special to The Record News

AUSTIN, Texas, April 29.—Test of the right of the Wichita Falls Traction company to buy gasoline or substitutes in tank carloads outside the state and ship it in for use in its service without payment of the four-cent gasoline tax was begun by Attorney General Robert Lee Bobbitt in a suit filed Tuesday before District Judge J. D. Moore here. The suit asks appointment of a receiver and recovery of $33,300 in taxes and penalties.

GAS BOUGHT HERE OFFICIAL DECLARES

Gasoline for use in the busses operated here by the Wichita Falls Traction company is purchased from local refineries and not brought from outside the state, according to the statement Tuesday of L. L. Albritton, general manager of the traction company here.

Test of Law

When questioned about the suit filed Tuesday in Austin, news of which was contained in a special dispatch from The Record News correspondent in that city, Mr. Albritton said he was not familiar with the details of the case but that he believed not more than one tank of gasoline had been brought here from outside the state in order to test the right of the company to buy imported gasoline without payment of the four-cent state tax.

William N. Bonner, Wichita Falls attorney, is representing the traction company in the case, Mr. Albritton said. Mr. Bonner, who expected to return here Wednesday, could not be reached Tuesday night for a statement.

$104 Per Tank Saved

According to figures compiled by officials here several months ago when the question of importing gasoline for use by the municipality arose, the saving effected through purchase of gasoline outside the state, exclusive of evaporation and other losses, would amount to approximately one and three-tenths cents per gallon. By these figures, it was pointed out, about $104 would be saved on each tank of 8,000 gallons capacity.

A suit testing the right to buy gasoline outside the state without payment of the four-cent tax was launched recently by the city of Fort Worth, where one tank carload was imported as a test. The case is now pending in court. Attorneys at that time interpreted the law as giving the right to purchase gasoline from other states so long as the gasoline was bought in wholesale quantities and used solely by the purchaser without being retailed, officials here said.

The traction company here was sold more than two years ago to a large corporation and is held in connection with the Texas-Louisiana Power company and other large public utility interests in the Southwest.

Kunkel-Doheny Suit May Reach Compromise

LOS ANGELES, Calif., April 29. (INS)—Frank H. Kunkel's $30,000,000 suit against Edward L. Doheny, oil magnate, in connection with the Elk Hills naval oil reserve case, may be settled out of court, it was reported today around the federal building when Federal Judge Cosgrave granted a 30-day continuance.

Frank Hogan, attorney for Doheny, informed the court that both sides had stipulated for a continuance.

Newton D. Baker Ill At Cleveland Home

Embree Brothers Denied Bond After Wounded Girl Describes Road Assault

DUNCAN, Okla., April 29. (UP)—Two brothers, E. S. and A. Y. Hembree, were bound over to trial in district court on charges of assault and robbery today at the conclusion of their preliminary hearing before County Judge J. Scott. The brothers were denied bond.

They had been identified by Leona Bosley, Loco school teacher, as the men who attacked her and her escort, Chad Thurman, Nocona, Texas, March 9. She suffered a breakdown on the stand. She said she had been wounded by a bullet fired by one of the assaulters who intended it for Thurman.

Girl Names Men

Miss Bosley has been recovering at her home at Gainesville, Texas, the past six weeks.

Miss Bosley first picked the two men out of a crowd of 15 prisoners and later pointed the Hembree boys out in the courtroom.

Miss Bosley recounted events on the night when she and her companion were kidnaped near Loco and taken into a pasture where she was attacked and Thurman robbed. She testified that E. S. Hembree, the elder of the two Indians, attempted to shoot Thurman also.

The young teacher was in a critical condition in a Gainesville hospital for several days after the attack.

Spectators Searched

Spectators in the courtroom were searched for weapons by order of Judge Scott.

Miss Bosley, the only prosecution witness used besides Dr. J. L. Patterson of Duncan, was so weak she was unable to remain on the stand for long and a 15-minute recess was ordered to allow her to rest before completing her account of the attack.

She said she and Thurman were sitting in the automobile talking when they were first accosted by the elder Hembree. They had been to Healdton, she said, and on the return trip had stopped there.

Couple Kidnaped

After being accosted the couple drove several miles down the road, while the Hembrees followed in their car. When the pursuers forced Thurman to stop his car to avoid being crowded off the road, the couple was kidnaped and forced to accompany the two men on a lonely side road a distance of about one mile, Miss Bosley testified.

There the abductors levelled a gun on Thurman, ordering him to attack her, the teacher related, and when he refused they shot at him, the bullet striking her in the chest.

Partially paralyzed from the injuries she received on the night of the alleged attack, Miss Bosley was visibly nervous on the stand and trembled as she identified the two brothers.

No testiony was introduced by the defense.

Slain Oklahoman To Be Buried Today

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., April 29.—While state and county officers pressed their investigation of circumstances surrounding his death, the body of John L. Dossett, veteran United States marshal and Oklahoma peace officer, was sent to Kaw City, Okla., for burial Tuesday. Dossett was found dead in his bed, with a bullet wound through the head, early Monday morning. He will be buried in the family burial plot at Uncas.

A coroner's jury Monday afternoon held that Dossett had met death at the hands of an unknown assailant. A .32 calibre pistol was found lying on the bed beside him and powder burns marked the wound. The slain man had been a peace officer in Oklahoma since territorial days.

He had been asked to join the defense staff by Chief Raymond Jimerson, president of the Senca Indian nation.

COOL WEATHER FOLLOWS RAINS

Temperatures Held Down to Normal Level

Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma blossomed under a return to normal spring weather Tuesday, with temperatures sent down to normal April standards by the widespread saving rains and grain farmers absorbed in the planting of row crops delayed by the long drouth.

Showers continued to fall over parts of the section Tuesday, the rain here reaching a total of one and a quarter inches for the past two days. April, which had threatened to be the dryest month of the year, with a rainfall of only .05 of a ninch, belatedly lived up to its traditions as the month drew to its close, transforming crop prospects throughout the district.

The general rains which struck the section Sunday night and Monday were repeated in sections of Oklahoma Tuesday and a widespread cloudiness gave promise of continued downpours.

LOWER VALLEY SECTION DRENCHED

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, April 29 (AP)—Torrential rains that flooded a large area of San Patricio county yesterday moved further southward today and drenched the lower Rio Grande valley.

The rain was accompanied by wind, and at McAllen, where a storm last week did considerable damage, further loss was reported. In other valley cities, however, the moisture will be beneficial.

The damage at McAllen was estimated at $25,000. A brick building, weakened by the recent hailstorm collapsed. A number of garages were overturned and numerous trees uprooted. The rain poured into the school house through windows broken by the hail and classes were dismissed.

In San Patricio flood waters receded slowly today. The greatest damage was around Sinton, where streets were reported under water. St. Paul and Papalote for a time also was waterbound. Highway traffic in that section was at a standstill and trains were running late.

The rain began after noon Monday and after more than seven inches had fallen in some sections there was a lull in the storm shortly before nightfall. The rain started again, however, and the total fall around Sinton was estimated at more than 14 inches.

Texas to Need New State Asylum in 1931

AUSTIN, April 29. (UP)—Erection of a new state asylum in West Texas will be necessary by the end of 1931 because the capacities of the present three institutions will be filled, Gov. Dan Moody said today.

Two thousand inmates is the capacity for the economical and effective operations of the three asylums, now operated at San Antonio, Terrell and Austin, the governor said, while those being treated now approaches that number. The new asylum will be needed by the end of next year, he predicted.

GAS BOMBS AND MACHINE GUNS DECIDE BATTLE

Heavily Armed Officers in Half Hour Exchange Of Bullets

SPECTATOR IS SHOT

Patrolman Is First Victim Of Drink Crazed Man's Barrage

DALLAS, April 29. (UP)—After he had wounded John Techas, 33, while watching a baseball game here, B. G. Perdichi, about 35, was killed by police tonight when he barricaded himself in the upper rooms of his home.

The seige lasted 30 minutes. W. R. Greenlee, a patrolman, was wounded in the left arm when he stormed the door of the house, along with 25 policemen, armed with riot guns and tear gas bombs.

Perdichi was wounded four times. Techas was shot through the mouth and is in a serious condition. Witnesses said Perdichi, evidently without cause, drew his gun and fired at the man as they were watching a baseball game. After that he ran into his home and opened a steady stream of fire at the invading officers.

A large quantity of liquor was found in the home, police said. Perdichi had no police record.

Relief Party Rescues Chinese Bandit Victims

NANKING, April 29. (US)—A relief party sent to the city of Kingsuchen, looted and burned by bandits two days ago, is returning tonight with several hundred persons, mostly children, rescued from the 1,000 held as hostages by the bandits.

Advices from Sungkiang report a second bandit outrage at Sseching, in southern Kiangsu province, where outlaws slew officials and looted the town, partly destroying it. They retreated after a 12-hour battle with federal troops.

Slain Bandit Linked With Daring Robbery

DALLAS, April 29. (UP)—O. M. Houston, Nashville, Tenn., bandit who was killed here Sunday night when he attempted to rob a suburban theater, today was identified as the man who staged a daring holdup of 15 customers in a grocery store April 12. A young woman, apparently waiting in a motor car to aid Houston in his escape, still denies any connection with the crime. She first gave her name as Nell Houston but later said she was Ruth Martin, 23, of Clarksville, Tenn.

Baggage Master Admits Robbing U. S. Mail Sacks

WACO, Texas, April 29. (AP)—Having pleaded guilty to charges of theft of United States mail, John K. Jamison, night baggage master of the Santa Fe at Temple, Texas, was free on bond of $1,500 today, and held to the November grand jury.

Officers charged he opened mail sacks, kept the contents and burned the sacks at his home.

Finding of Mutilated Body Brings Inquiry

SEATTLE, April 29 (AP)—The finding of the mutilated body of Mrs. Elizabeth Audrey Lindsay, 60, buried in the garden of her former home here, today resulted in an intensified search for her husband, Frank, 46-year-old, who disappeared several weeks ago in company with his adopted daughter, Pearl, 12 years old.

POOR COMPLEXION?

Nurses Now Tell How New Healing Cream Refines Skin Texture

OVER a million women now use this new healing toilet cream to clear up complexions and to refine and beautify the texture of their skin. Of this vast number thousands are nurses whose training and experience have taught them to choose wisely the toilet cream for their skin.

Noxzema Skin Cream is a dainty, snow-white, delicately medicated cream unlike anything you have ever used before. For not only does it possess wonderful healing properties equal to the most effective skin remedy—but it combines with these the refining, beautifying elements of the finest toilet cream made.

It is not sticky or greasy. It vanishes quickly and cannot stain. A 30-day treatment brings surprising new beauty to your skin.

Nurses everywhere praise Noxzema. Recent letters from nurses tell why they use it. "It clears my complexion as nothing else does." "The best thing ever for reducing large pores, and soothing and healing rough, chapped face and hands." "It is my only toilet cream now—it softens and whitens my skin." "A wonderful non-drying powder base." Noxzema cream is on sale at all drug and department stores.

Husky Son of Tennessee Bishop Denied Bail in Slaying of Old Man

NEW YORK, April 29. (UP)—James Matthew Maxon Jr., son of the bishop coadjutor of the Methodist Episcopal diocese of Tennessee, was ordered held without bail for grand jury action today, after four fellow lodgers had testified in homicide court about an alcoholic debauch in which the young Columbia college student is accused of inflicting injuries that proved fatal to a 73-year-old man.

The husky young son of the bishop sat stolidly as he heard one roomer, Edward Tully, testify he had looked through a window of the rooming house basement kitchen on the morning of April 18 and had seen Maxon knock down David Paynter, 73, with a chair and then kick him several times.

Dr. Charles Norris, chief medical examiner, previously had testified Paynter died of shock and hemorrhage as the result of such a beating.

Other witnesses told how Maxon, apparently in drunken fury, had attacked them. Miss Rose Hickey, proprietor of the rooming house, testified Maxon had "tried to break my arm" and then "chased me into the street."

Martin W. Littleton, internationally known attorney who is representing Maxon, offered no defense, saying he was unprepared. He moved for a manslaughter plea but this was denied by Magistrate Corrigan.

Bishop Maxon, sad-eyed and seeming not yet to comprehend the law's entanglements, sat quietly in court throughout the brief hearing.

Rector's Acquittal Brings Resignation

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 29. (AP)—The Rt. Rev. H. P. Almon Abbott, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Lexington, tendered his resignation today to the standing committee and council of the diocese here. The bishop said that he was resigning because the verdict in the recent trial of the Rev. Julius A. Velasco, was a "reflection upon my integrity."

Bishop Abbott had brought Mr. Velasco to trial on charges that he had violated a promise to resign his orders if he married a Catholic. The young Dayton, Ky., rector was exonerated of all charges save that of using defamatory langauge to the bishop.

MILITIA STOPS PRISON RIOTS

Convicts Subdued After Blood Is Spilled

shooting into the end of the cell block. Most of the shots went over the prisoners' heads but two inmates, George Tonoff, Toledo, convicted burglar, and Jewell Joffa, also of Toledo, were struck. Tonoff's condition at the city hospital was critical. Several other prisoners were nicked by buckshot but their wounds required only first aid treatment.

Doomed Men Freed

The convicts succeeded in knocking the locks off the cell doors in death row and seven prisoners, all under sentence of death, were liberated. They were taken in custody immediately after the rioting died down, however.

By prearrangement with Warden Preston E. Thomas, Colonel Haubrich took charge. When the shooting had ceased Haubrich entered the White City blocks.

Cries of "butchers!" and "shoot us all down while you're at it!" greeted him. He told the prisoners there would be no more shooting; that he was in charge of the prison.

"We'll play ball with you!" shouted a convict.

Colonel Haubrich then ordered all prison guards outside the walls and placed his soldiers in their places. This arrangement seemed to please the convicts and they became docile to the extreme as they marched to the mess hall for lunch.

Colonel Haubrich continued in active charge of the prison tonight.

Grand Jury Files Report

"when no grand jury is in session for as long as two to three months. This, of course, causes cases to cumulate and oftimes works hardships upon some who have been acused and are held in jail in default of bond. Incidents have been called to our attention where some defendants have been compelled to remain in jail as long as two months only waiting to be indicted so they can enter their plea of guilty and start paying society the debt they owe."

The report pointed out the convening of a grand jury in the 30th district court would be impossible for at least two months out of every three. "If the official family of our county could in some manner bring about this revision governing the convening of grand juries, it would be of untold benefit to law enforcement generally," the report stated.

Officers Commended

The report concluded with a commendation of "the increased spirit of cooperation between the law enforcement bodies of this county and the different cities of the county" and was signed by G. D. Anderson, foreman.

A total of 177 witnesses were examined, 56 true bills were returned and 17 no bills given during the six days in which the grand jury was in session, according to the report.

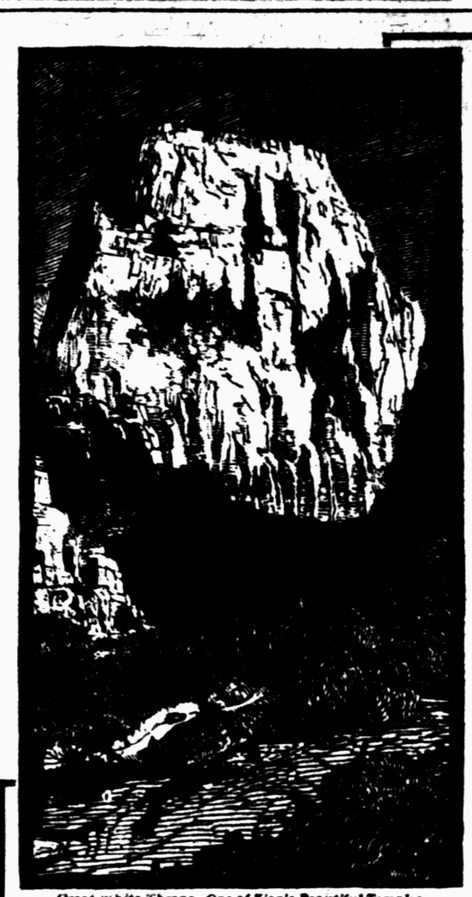

Other indictments returned named the following persons, with the charges against them: W. R. Patterson, wife desertion and child desertion, two charges; E. G. Burge, child desertion, released on $750 bond; Barney Stout, theft of chickens and burglary, two charges; Guy Lane, theft over $50; Barkley Thomas, burglary; W. S. Kelly, forgery; H. C. Gracy, theft and receiving and concealing stolen property; and Frank Walton, forgery. Defendants named in other indictments were not under arrest Tuesday night, according to Sam B. Spence, district attorney, and Sheriff W. G. Bralley.

Owners, New Buyers, Prospects
call it Value of Values

The greatest appeal of the New Essex Challenger is dollar-for-dollar value. That is the opinion of owners, new buyers and prospects everywhere.

What Men Say:

"I bought Essex because it stands out in its field with distinctive value, appearance and performance."

"I want a car to be proud of—and Essex is it. In masterful get-away, hill-climbing and road-ability it surpasses everything. And its appearance and economy are as fine as money can buy."

What Women Say:

"My car must be as much a matter of pride as my clothes or my home. Essex satisfies that requirement in every way. For me there is no other choice."

"Just as proud of my new Essex as of the $3,000 car I also bought. It is easy to drive, and in performance and comfort equals any car I ever owned."

You are invited to drive the New Essex Challenger. You will learn why everyone proclaims it the greatest dollar-for-dollar value.

COWMEN PLAN YEARLY MEET

Stamford to Stage Frist Reunion in June

Special to The Record News

STAMFORD, Texas, April 29.—Organization of the Texas Cowboy Reunion, Inc., of Stamford has been perfected for the purpose of staging in this city each year a round-up of the pioneer cattlemen of the state.

Outstanding among the attractions that will be offered during the affair will be a rodeo program in which the best talent among the cowboys of the Southwest will participate. Numerous other features will be included in the first presentation of the reunion which will be held this year on June 26, 27 and 28, and the directors say they will give a program of general interest.

W. G. Swenson of the Swenson Land and Cattle company, will be president and general manager of the organization. Other officers already selected include A. C. Cooper, proprietor of the Stamford Inn, vice president; R. R. Robertson, vice president of the First National bank of Stamford, treasurer, and J. C. Watson, secretary of the Stamford Chamber of Commerce, will serve in the same capacity with the reunion.

All ranchmen and cowboys in Texas will be invited to take part in the program and special attention will be given to the pioneer stockmen of West Texas. Assurances have already been received from several of the larger ranch operations in the western part of the state that large groups will come from each of them for the program.

Census Shows Slight Decrease for Olustee

Special to The Record News

ALTUS, Okla., April 29.—A decrease of 14 in the population of Olustee during the past 10 years is shown by the census enumeration which has just been completed. There were 665 persons listed in the town in 1920 while at the close of the census report this month, there were 651.

Martha reported 327 citizens this year, while the district office has no record of the report 10 years ago.

Checks for the city of Altus have not been counted but will be announced soon, district officials advised.

Wide Young County Acreage Terraced

Special to The Record News

GRAHAM, Texas, April 29.—A total of 1,010 acres of Young county farm land has been terraced with the county equipment since March 1. This work was supervised by County Agent W. C. Hale, using the 60-horse power crawler type tractor and 12-foot grader furnished by the county commissioners. This machinery was placed at Mr. Hale's disposal in February and a schedule for its use in the various communities of the county was worked out in order to accommodate as many farmers as possible.

The schedule was started in precinct 1 the route moving from there through precinct 4, 3 and 2 in turn. Farms were terraced in five or six communities.

The largest single tract of land terraced during the schedule was 300 acres on Dr. H. E. Griffin's farm. It took 140 hours to terrace this tract, on which one terrace was two miles long. No more terracing will be done now until after the grain is harvested, but Mr. Hale expects to launch another campaign the latter part of July or early in August.

O. O. OWENS MAY WIN CLEMENCY

Remissioin of Contempt Sentence Expected

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 29. (UP)—O. O. Owens will not be required to complete the one-year sentence given him on a charge of contempt of the state supreme court, it was reliably stated at the capitol today.

Authorities close to Gov. W. J. Holloway said the governor will pardon the Tulsa legislator and wealthy oil operator, if the supreme court declines to modify the sentence.

Holloway has declined to indicate what action he will take but it was known the governor has discussed the case with many of his close political advisers.

The United Press learned that Democratic leaders have advised the governor that it would wreck the Democratic party if Owens is returned to jail. They pointed out that the governor was the chief beneficiary of the legislative investigation started by Owens.

One leader said: "It would be political suicide for Holloway to ride into office on Owen's shoulders and then send him to jail."

Holloway, then lieutenant governor, was promoted to the governor's office when the legislative investigation instigated by Owens resulted in the impeachment and removal of Gov. Henry S. Johnston.

E. P. Hill, state pardon and parole officer, like Holloway, also refuses to discuss the Owens case. It was understood, however, that both the governor and Hill have been quietly feeling out sentiment as to pardoning Owens.

Friends of Owens said the Tulsa man would refuse any clemency other than unconditional pardon or remission of sentence.

The contempt sentence is one of the phases of the long Riverside Oil company litigation.

ENJOYMENT OF FOOD IS HELPFUL IN PROMOTING HEALTH

Most Foods Can Be Made More Pleasing to the Appetite by Using Sugar as a Flavor

When meals please the taste, the flow of digestive juices is promoted with the result that digestion is materially aided.

Pleasing the appetite, however, does not necessarily depend upon serving out-of-season or expensive foods. As a matter of fact, the familiar foods which should be eaten for their vitamins, minerals and roughage, can be made most taste-appealing by the use of one of the most inexpensive foods that comes into the home — sugar.

For example, many vegetables, canned or fresh, are more delicious if seasoned with a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt. Vegetable and fruit salads have a new appeal when served with a French dressing to which sugar has been added to the oil, lemon juice and salt. And if sugar is sprinkled on the breakfast cereal its flavor is pleasantly developed.

Balanced meals which are eaten with relish show their effect on the entire system. Not only will body vigor be assured, but, according to dental authorities, there will be improvement in the teeth and gums. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

Mrs. Harrison Honoree At Pretty Forum Luncheon

Spring's most beautiful flowers seemed to bloom for the special decoration of the Woman's Forum clubhouse Tuesday at luncheon, when members of the forum, Coterie club and Baptist church and other friends, gathered to pay special honor to Mrs. Hubert Harrison, who will leave Wichita Falls to join Mr. Harrison in Longview as soon as school is over. Larkspur and roses made the tables lovely and back of the graceful palms adorning the stage, baskets of gladioli and other spring flowers added color to the setting.

After the luncheon at which about 90 guests were present, Mrs. Ben G. Oneal acted as toastmistress. First on the program was a group of duets sung by Mrs. P. M. Cordell and Wm. E. Young, with Mrs. F. R. Collard at the piano.

A toast to the honoree was given first by Mrs. Charles Harr, superintendent of the primary department of the First Baptist Sunday school. After the toast given in the form of an original poem, she presented Mrs. Harrison with a handsome vase filled with spring flowers in behalf of officers and teachers of the department.

Mrs. J. C. Mytinger, president of the Coterie club, paid beautiful tribute to the honoree and presented her with an autograph album in which the club members had inscribed their names.

Mrs. G. D. Anderson's toast was in the form of a tribute to a friend.

Mrs. C. P. Burton's toast was in behalf of the Forum members and that body presented Mrs. Harrison with an oil painting done in Weeks park.

Mrs. Harrison responded with a short talk expressing the love she and her family felt for Wichita Falls and showed a gracious appreciation for the honor paid her by the group of friends.

Mrs. G. D. Anderson was general chairman of arrangements and was assisted by Mesdames L. H. Cullum, J. C. A. Guest and J. T. Montgomery.

Mesdames O. W. Harvey, E. B. Lehrack, J. Truman Stevens and Ann Barker were hostesses and served the delightful luncheon.

Among those who registered were the honoree, Mrs. Hubert Harrison, Mesdames Hubert Barr, Fred Barron, Bert Bean, C. P. Burton, C. W. Boller, with two guests; Mesdames J. W. Chatham, C. H. Clark, F. R. Collard with two guests; Mesdames Thomas A. Clement, P. M. Cordell, Wm. E. Young, Davis, Charles Daniel, J. G. Dixon, S. Y. Ferguson, Gutzler, C. R. Hartsook, S. Y. Ferguson, C. H. PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

The importance of the census has been impressed on the minds of the school children, as was shown Sunday when a reporter called a residence to find how many attended a certain Sunday school that morning. The little girl who answered, turned excitedly from the phone: "Mama," she cried, "Oh mama, here's the census man."

◆ ◆ ◆

One of the exclusive study clubs of the city was entertained the other day with a luncheon. In the midst of the dainty meal, a messenger boy arrived with a great florist's book—full of onions! They were sent by a thoughtful husband, who knew his wife didn't eat onions in public. But they were served with other appetizers and all but two of the members and guests took onions.

◆ ◆ ◆

When you go into a shoeshop to have your shoes polished, you see Dutch wooden shoes in several sizes. Anyone wishing to have shoes mended while he waits puts his feet in the wooden shoes and rests there. And one cannot help wondering about the many and different kinds of feet that have waited in the wooden shoes. If they could tell tales of their wearer's lives, a history of American life might be written.

◆ ◆ ◆

At home on Brook avenue, the eyes of all passers are caught by the two beds of phlox running from the street up each side of the walk to the dorstep. Such a mass of varied color is worth going far to see.

◆ ◆ ◆

Nature always has something for our silences. We have only to sit at her feet and learn.

◆ ◆ ◆

Her delicacy of colors—her charm of changefulness—all her shifting lovelinesses—are kept for our moments of self forgetfulness.

◆ ◆ ◆

We have gone far in a real education when we learn to yield ourselves completely to nature's charm.

◆ ◆ ◆

We know women who cannot pass a lovely tree without "seeing" it and others who might pass it every day summer or winter and never know it was there. And those who "see" have so much more pleasure.

◆ ◆ ◆

Speaking of beauty of nature makes us think of quite another thing. In the morning and evening bridge to be given at the Woman's Forum clubhouse, women who do and who don't really care for nature are going to have an opportunity to play for beautiful prizes. We have seen some of them and any prize that is to be given is worth in cash value more than the price of a table in the games.

◆ ◆ ◆

We enjoy bridge—as we love nature's charm. Of course we prefer knowing our players; but the bridge at the Forum is too enticing for women to turn it down—if the play. Not the "rigor of the game," that old Mrs. Battle loved—but the beauty of the gifts—which both men and women will enjoy, make it worth while.

Business Women Plan Brilliant Cabaret Dinner

The end of the week horizon is brightened with the news of a cabaret dinner to be given at the Wichita club Saturday night at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the Business and Professional Women's club.

With a colorful setting of balloons, confetti and all the Mardi gras appointments, the dinner will be in courses during which an interesting program will be given and between which Frank Bird's orchestra will furnish music for dancing. Colored lights will be used to add to the brilliant effect and during one of the dances, the ballons will be released from the ceiling and fall among the dancers.

Gaily dressed cigaret girls will make the rounds during dinner courses and every feature of the modern cabaret will be stressed.

The program will include a number of clever impersonations. Jerry Moffatt will appear as Al Jolson, Jack Pitman as Fanny Brice and John McCormack will be presented in song by W. L. Underwood. Clyde Straus Jr., will give a surprise stunt. Phoebe Jane Filgo will do a tap dance. Loneta Smith and Katherine Keller will give songs accompanied with their ukes. Mary Louise Yeargin and Anna Faye Williams of the Cato school will give a duet dance, and Woody Benner will give a "shuffle dance."

Hostesses in general are Misses Glenna Miller, Lena Derzaph and Rose Tickell. Misses Erma Schnelle and Margaret Gilmore will be at Renfro No. 1 Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday to take reservations and tables may be reserved for parties of from two to eight persons. It is requested that reservations be made early.

MAKE THIS MODEL AT HOME
Pattern 1884
By ANNE ADAMS

Doesn't it look like a bolero? It is just the clever cutting and trimming of this cunning little frock that gives the new bolero effect. The first flared skirt is a detail borrowed from the grown-up mode.

Design 1884 is lovely fashioned of printed pique, percale, gingham, dimity, batiste, shantung, etc. The contrasting binding may be purchased ready made, and is easy and quick to use. Tiny buttons trim the bodice.

This pattern may be ordered only in sizes 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 4 requires 2¼ yards of 36-inch material and 3¼ yards binding.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, style number and size wanted.

Our pattern book of new spring and summer styles is fifteen cents, but only ten cents when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Record News Pattern Department, 243 West 17th street, New York City.

Choral Club Annual Concert Proves Wonderful Success

The splendid work done by members of the Woman's Choral club Monday evening under the direction of Mrs. Wayne J. Holmes, the talented leader, drew such rapt attention from the audience that in spite of the inclement weather, the performance was a decided success.

The series of numbers so well suited to their type of work was presented with an ease and unification more noted than in any previous performance. Music of many different types was given in perfect rhythm.

Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis, soprano, gave a Verdi aria in a voice that showed wonderful range and with perfect diction and graceful stage presence. She was accompanied by Mrs. W. L. Olmstead, who is accompanist for the Choral club.

Stanley Raub, violinist, who was also an assisting artist, demonstrated his wonderful technique with supreme artistry in his "Gypsy Airs," and with the double stop harmony of his encore. He was accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr.

Nervous Pains Yield To Capudine

To those who suffer from nervousness and pain, such as headache, neuralgia, periodic pains and pains in the back and sides, Capudine offers quick and delightful relief. Being liquid, it acts almost instantly—much quicker than tablets and powders. Capudine relieves pain by soothing the nerves—not by deadening them. Contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach, therefore, is the ideal remedy.

For over 30 years millions have found grateful relief by using Capudine. You, too, will find it a joy and comfort when your nerves are unstrung or when you suffer from pain. At drug stores in 30c and 60c sizes.—Adv.

Prize Winner

"Mary Jo was troubled with constipation," says Mrs. T. D. McGinnis, 1028 Drexel Ave., San Antonio. "She was sallow and billous; didn't have any appetite; couldn't digest her food.

"California Fig Syrup has changed all that. It regulated her bowels quickly; improved her appetite and digestion. She has improved right along until friends say she's a regular prize-winner for health." Mothers by thousands praise California Fig Syrup. Physicians approve it. Its rich, fruity flavor appeals to children; its pure vegetable goodness is safe for any child. The prompt relief it brings from headachy, constipated chilldays; because it helps tone and strengthen bowels and stomach. Gone bad breath, coated tongue, biliousness warn of constipation with your child and [illegible] look for the name marks the genuine. 50 years.—Adv.

Health Means Clear Skin

"For nine years I was troubled with acne. I tried everything I could think of and everything people told me but it didn't do any good. Last winter a nurse where I was working told me to take Lydia E. Why hospitals approve this sanitary protection

IN choosing sanitary protection follow the guidance of hospitals. 85% of our leading hospitals now use the same material of which Kotex is made ... Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding.

This is a cellulose substance which, for sanitary purposes, performs the same function as the softest of cotton, with five times the absorbency.

There are so many refinements of comfort in Kotex: It deodorizes perfectly, completely, in a way that makes one dainty all the time. It is fashioned to fit snugly and securely under the closest fitting gown; it stays soft longer; it is easily disposable.

Kotex Company, Chicago, Ill.

KOTEX IS SOFT ...

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, fleecy softness that lasts for hours.
2—In hospitals—Kotex is the identical material used by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.
3—Deodorizes ... safely, thoroughly, by a special process.
4—Disposable, instantly, completely.

WESTERN UNION HONORS BOYS

District Officials Speak at Messengers' Dinner

Seventeen messenger boys for the Western Union here were honored Tuesday night at a banquet at the Kemp hotel when a group of officials from the main offices of the company in Texas and Oklahoma and a number of Wichita Falls speakers were present to commend the boys for the excellent record they have established here. The banquet was the third of its kind to be given here in honor of the boys' splendid work.

J. H. Allison spoke on "The Thirteen Points of Success." R. E. Shepherd, president of the Boy Scout council here, gave a talk on "Reminiscences." Officials of the Western Union who were on the program were: B. D. Barnett, general manager of the Gulf division at Dallas; H. C. Robertson, district superintendent at Oklahoma City; E. E. Townsley, division assistant on terminal handlings at Dallas, and R. H. Weesner, district manager of terminal handlings at Oklahoma City. Local officials were Charles Pogenpohl, manager of the company here; W. V. Taylor, chief delivery clerk, and A. H. Fisher, night manager.

Mr. Barnett of Dallas pointed out the Western Union carried more Boy Scout and Hi-Y memberships than any other organization. No boy in Wichita Falls has lost any time on account of accidents in the last 18 months, he said. He closed his talk with the admonition to the boys, "If you see a better job, take it!"

Mr. Robertson of Oklahoma City expressed his appreciation for the boy's splendid work in the past six months. Mr. Townsley of Dallas gave a talk on "The Responsibility of a Messenger Boy." Mr. Weesner of Oklahoma City "big brother of the district," urged the boys to protect women and children, play safe and be on the alert. "Go where you're looking and look where you're going," he said. Mr. Pogenpohl, local manager, thanked the messengers for their excellent work.

Speakers among the boys were Raymond Allen, William Carter and Ward Parker. The banquet ended with the Western Union yell.

Other boys present included Earl Prince, Carl Prince, T. J. Allen, William Bindel, Winifred Wells, Jack Clark, Cleston Yeatts, George Lewis, Albert Hoetzel, Elder Key, Jack Nelson, Tommy Norwood, Hoyt Smith and Smithy Yeatts.

Industrial Mart, Opening Here May 10, to Show Wichita Products

Selection of the name "Industrial Mart of Wichita Falls" for the manufacturers and jobbers exhibit now being organized by the Junior chamber of commerce for display in the old Martin Printing company building, 911 Eighth street, and of May 10 as the date for its formal opening, featured a meeting of chamber of commerce members held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in the new display rooms.

Called by the industrial committee of the Junior chamber of commerce, with Shadie F. Hale as chairman, the meeting Tuesday laid plans for the construction of booths in which various firms will maintain their exhibits. L. H. Estes, chairman; Joe Richker and George Gutzman were named as a committee to work with Herbert C. Voelcker in completing details of this phase of the enterprise.

Announcement of the program to be followed in connection with the formal opening on May 10 will be made within the next few days, it was said.

Up to Tuesday noon, 38 business concerns had signed up for space in the Industrial Mart. Efforts will be made, according to those in charge, to so arrange the varied display as to offer visitors and buyers from other cities a comprehensive and adequate view of the city's products through a visit to the mart.

The bi-weekly membership luncheon of the Junior chamber of commerce will be held in the Industrial Mart building Friday at noon, it was announced.

13 Prizes Posted

Fishing calendars and other omens portend excellent sport for the opening days of the season, provided the wind does not play havoc with the prognostications of the experts. Opening day anglers will compete for 13 prizes posted by The Record News and Daily Times and sporting goods dealers of the city for the largest bass and crappie caught on opening day. Seven of the prizes will go to the bass fisherman, while six will go to the crappie fisherman. The angler who brings in the largest bass will have first choice of the prize list, while the one who brings in the second largest will have second choice, and so no until all prizes have been awarded. Each angler may enter one bass and one crappie, but may not enter two bass or two crappie. All entries must be weighed in on special scales in the office of The Times Publishing company before 6 o'clock on May 2.

The complete list of prizes follows:

No. 1000 South Bend reel for the bass, given by the Noble-Little Hardware company; an Air-Fed Minnow bucket, large size, for the crappie, given by the Bailey-Moline Hardware company and a 14-inch waterproof tackle box for the bass by the same company; $5 in cash for the bass and $5 in cash for the crappie, given by the Record News and Daily Times; $5 in fishing merchandise for the bass, given by Montgomery Ward and company; $5 in fishing merchandise for the crappie by Sears-Roebuck and company; a 24-pound test Wexford Shakespeare silk casting line, by the Wichita Hardware company for the bass and a 4 to 4½-foot (winner's choice) steel casting rod for the crappie, by the same company; any three artificial baits (winner's choice) value not to exceed $5, by the Monroe Street Hardware company, for the bass; five dozen minnows for the crappie by the Lone Star Minnow hatchery; and a certificate for a fishing picture, by the S. & S. Studio, for both the bass and the crappie which place first.

Jewel Copeland to Be Returned Here for Trial

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 29. (AP)—Governor Holloway today honored a Texas requisition to return Jewel Copeland, held at Fort Sill to Wichita county, Texas, to face a charge of theft of more than $50.

Jewel Copeland was indicted by the April grand jury here on a charge of stealing oil field pipe from the Magnolia company at Burkburnett, according to a statement from Mike Anglin, assistant district attorney. A complaint charging car theft has been pending against him for more than a year, Mr. Anglin said. Copeland was recently arrested at Fort Sill, Okla.

P.-T. A. OUTFITS 164 CHILDREN

Exchange Provides Clothes For Students

A total of 51 children of school age were outfitted Tuesday with complete changes of clothing by the Thrift P.-T. A. clothing exchange, bringing the total number of children outfitted during the two weeks of the exchange to 164. The children are provided with every necessary article of apparel.

The clothes are obtained through a note from the principal of the school attended by the child in which the needs of each child are designated. The clothing in the exchange is provided by the P.-T. A. members from the various schools and placed in racks so that a child from one school will not obtain clothes from that same school.

The exchange is being conducted each Tuesday in the basement of the Memorial auditorium. The committee in charge Tuesday was composed of Mesdames R. P. Willis, A. H. Bedinghaus, A. J. Newby and W. O. Beeman.

AMARILLO LINE WINS APPROVAL

Santa Fe to Build to Las Animas, Colo.

WASHINGTON, April 29. (AP)—Opening a new rail route between Amarillo, Texas, and Las Animas, Colo., by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway to provide a shorter outlet to Texas points and gulf ports was approved today by the Interstate Commerce commission.

The commission's sanction was contingent, however, upon the segment of the line to be constructed by Dodge City and Cimarron Valley railway being routed through the town of Springfield instead of Pritchett, as proposed by the carrier.

The new route, opposed by the Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf railway on the grounds that its lines in the area would be impaired, involves construction of 330 miles of new track, including 220 miles of main line between Amarillo and Las Animas and a 110-mile branch from Felt, Okla., to Colmor, N. M.

Action upon another branch between Spearman and a connection with the new route at Dumas, was held in abeyance to permit negotiations between the Santa Fe and the Rock Island for track rights between Morse and a connection with the new line at Amarillo.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Stop a minute and think about this fact. You can ask our information bureau any question of fact and get the answer back in a personal letter. It is a great educational idea introduced into the lives of the most intelligent people in the world—American newspaper readers. It is a part of that best purpose of a newspaper—service. There is no charge except two cents in coin or stamps for return postage. Get the habit of asking questions. Address your letter to the Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Are there plants which devour insects?—O. B.

A.—There are a great many varieties of insectivorous plants which grow almost all over the world. The first group of these plants is known as the pitcher plants which have the blossom in the form of a pitcher which acts as a death trap for flies and other insects. The insects are attracted by a fragrance or some other lure, enter the mouth of the pitcher, and crawl down towards the bottom, being forced onward by small spikes downward pointing from the sides of the pitcher's throat. The poor insect is thus given no chance to escape and when it reaches the bottom it is caught in the sticky mass of fluid there and its body juices absorbed by the plant. Two other types of insectivorous plants are the Venus's-flytrap genus and the Dionaea which grows only in the low coast regions of North Carolina. This little plant is probably the most famous stem variety of the insect-eating plants. A third type is a Sundew Drosera which is common to Australia. This is also a large genus containing a great variety of species.

Q.—How can I make indelible some autographs that are written in pencil?—N. T.

A.—The bureau of standards suggests spraying with the fixative used by artists for preventing the smudging of crayon and charcoal drawings. The fixative is a weak solution of bleached shellac in alcohol. The color is so pale, and the film of shellac left on the paper is so thin that it can not be noticed. Be careful not to close the book or turn the pages before the alcohol evaporates and the shellac loses its tackiness. Artists' supply houses sell a cheap tin sprayer, but an old atomizer for spraying the throat can be used. The solution should be well rinsed out of the tubes with alcohol if you wish to use the atomizer again.

Q.—Where is the building which is a memorial to women of the world war?—O. M. G.

A.—The memorial building in Washington, D. C., which commemorates the services and sacrifices of women in the world war adjoins the Red cross memorial to the women of the civil war. The new structure is a handsome marble building.

Q.—Did Mrs. Fiske appear in New York in The Rivals about five years ago?—W. O'B.

A.—Mrs. Fiske appeared in the 150th anniversary tour of The Rivals five years ago, but the engagements did not include New York. It is now planned to give a revival of the Sheridan comedy this spring with Mrs. Fiske supported by a number of prominent players. This will open in New York.

Q.—When does water have its smallest volume and maximum density?—L. B.

A.—This condition prevails when the temperature is 39.2 degrees F., (4 degrees C.) Water expands when its temperature is raised above 39.2 degrees F., and also when lowered below.

Q.—Where is Miquelon?—H. P. S.

A.—It is an island south of Newfoundland. It is divided into two parts, Grande Miquelon and Little Miquelon. The island belongs to France.

Q.—When were travelers' checks first introduced?—S. A. M.

A.—Travelers' checks were first placed on sale in 1890, but were sold only to the value of about $9,000 that year.

Q.—What was the original name of Isle of Wight County, Virginia?—W. C.

A.—It first bore the Indian name of Warrosquoyacke.

Rewards and Penalties

THIS business of handing out rewards and penalties seems, sometimes, to be just a bit too complicated for us benighted mortals to deal with properly.

Some of the things that happened in the Ohio penitentiary fire make a good case in point.

There was, for instance, the guard who had the only key to cells in the top tier of the burning cell block.

He refused to unlock the cells until it was too late. If he had let the prisoners out promptly, when the alarm of fire first reached him, scores of lives would have been saved.

Our tendency is to blame him severely. But consider his position a minute.

There he was, responsible for some scores of convicts. Prison riots in various parts of the country have been numerous lately. His cell block begins to fill with smoke and the convicts demand that they be released. What is he to do?

For all he knows, there may be much smoke and little fire—a smudge, set by the prisoners to force him to open their cells. It must have seemed to him that there was at least an even chance that the whole business was just a cleverly devised attempt at a wholesale jail delivery.

If his suspicion had been correct, and he had opened the doors, would he not have come in for severe condemnation?

It isn't quite as easy to pass judgment on that man as it looks on the surface. He was put in a tough position. He made a mistake—but how many of us would have done better, in his place?

Then there is a certain notorious bank robber, a prisoner in that penitentiary, who shone as a hero on the night of the fire. At great risk to himself, he went to the burning cell block and carried out seven convicts. He saved seven lives, in other words, because he was brave enough not to care about his own.

This man has served enough time so that he is technically eligible for a parole. And one's first impulse, on reading of what he did, is to say that he should be given one, at once, as a reward for his daring.

Surely, if a man can earn his right to freedom this man has done so. But there is another side of it. He is an old offender—the kind of man we call a "hardened criminal." If he were freed, the chances are that some bank would be held up within a month. He deserves his freedom, perhaps; but can the state, in simple justice, give it to him?

And there you are. Deciding what is justice for our fellow mortals is a pretty complicated job. Sitting in judgment isn't as easy as it looks.

"You're Telling Us, Professor?"

AMERICAN girls should acquire greater proficiency in the art of home making as a means of decreasing the divorce rate, says Prof. Frederick G. Bonser of Columbia university. He charges that less than one-fourth of the girls graduating from our high schools have any knowledge of home economics.

One of the first requisites to the successful adoption of Professor Bonser's recommendations is the existence of a desire in the minds of these girl students to master home economics above all other subjects. Even the oft-sounded challenge to sociological patriotism will fail to convince a large number of such girls that their highest ambition is to make excellent biscuits, improvise new salads, or turn out more perfect ruffles and French seams.

In fact, it would appear that one of the chief obstacles to be met by Professor Bonser's prescription for divorce reduction is the persistence of these young ladies in choosing their own vocations and pursuing them, if possible, so successfully that some one else may be paid to cook and sew. Along with other male prerogatives assumed in recent years by young women is the privilege of diversifying their various employment, rather than being consigned one and all to two vocations—housekeeping or school teaching.

John Brown of Arkansas, head of a nationally famous vocational training school, eloquently espoused in several speeches here last spring the exaltation of home-building as the highest and most important calling for American girls today. The greatest social good really might issue from such a transformation. But for its accomplishment, we first must concern ourselves with means of persuading these girls to seek the blessing.

A Distinguished Record

YOU might just keep your eye on Mr. Clarence O. Sherill, who has resigned his position as city manager of Cincinnati to become vice president of the Kroger Grocery and Baking company.

A former army officer, Mr. Sherill was made city manager in 1926 when Cincinnati voters threw out the Republican ring that had ruled them for so long. During the succeeding four years Sherill proceeded to give Cincinnati the best administration it ever had. He cut down city expenses, wiped out corrupt politics and ran the city government in the interest of the voters and not the bosses.

All in all, it is a fine record that he made. He's a man to watch. Any one who can do what he did is the sort of man who ought not to be allowed to stay in private life permanently. Sooner or later he ought to be drafted for some other public position.

Why Not Copy Florida?

FLORIDA authorities are trying to padlock Al Capone's winter home at Palm Island, and the stunt suggests to us a certain vagrant thought—

To-wit: what a shame that Chicago is not in Florida.

For, you see, if Capone's winter home is a nuisance, under the meaning of the prohibition act, and can be padlocked—how about the various breweries, bars and distilleries in Chicago that are directed by this astute gangster? Wouldn't it be just barely possible that an alert, honest, energetic government could find some way of applying the same treatment to them?

Chicago, without hurting herself, might try taking a leaf from Florida's book.

Memento

"You will forget me soon," you softly said,
There will be other girls to fill your days;
I will be but a ghost, serenely dead,
And you will follow newer, sweeter ways.

"You will forget me when another maid
Thrills to the words you whispered once for me;
Love is a hoax—a tinseled masquerade—
I may be wrong, my lad, but wait and see."

I will forget you? Why should I forget
Nights you made poignant with your witchery?
I played and lost but I have no regret,
Only a warm and rapturous ecstasy;

I will go down the years with you in mind—
Clear-eyed and laughing, dear, and strangely kind.

The boys who return from the Hollywood sector vow that the chin-ema magnates still make the funniest remarks with their dialects no matter how vigorous the denials.

The latest testimonial concerns Herr Ziegfeld, who recently arrived out there to confer with the impresario about the movie version of Ziegfeld's show, "Whoopee."

"The first thing you have to worry about," said Ziggie, "is that you must find 300 Indians."

"That should be the least of my worries," replied the dialectician, "ve kin get all de Indians ve vant from de Reservoir."

Anything for a Laugh

Frisco says of Paul Whiteman's new picture that they were first planning to call it "Where Is My Wandering Boy," but when Whiteman put on two more chins they decided to title it "The Lost Zeppelin."

By Way of Reports

The local ticket speculators make their boners, even as you and I. When the Jed Harris production of Chekhov's "Uncle Vanya," polished off its rough edges in New Haven recently, the ticket brokers went there to look it over. They decided it was a lovely drama and that its star, Miss Lillian Gish, was delightful, but they refused to "make a buy," on the ground that the play was not "commercial."

"Uncle Vanya" not only drew rave notices from all the critics in New York, but this week will earn $20,000 without the help of the ticket agencies.

There's no fool, you know, like a wiseguy.

Oop!

The very terribly Mr. David Berger, postcards: "A Broadway columnist is a guy who thinks he has to stay up all night."

Imagine

Bolly Rose, the hit song writer and husband of Fanny Brice, had a quarrel with his wife that will most likely blow over by the time this is being read. The tiff was for this unbelievable reason: Rose, it appears, does all the business for Miss Brice. He arranged for her to play six days at the Mastbaum theater in Philadelphia during the week of May 23. Rose got his wife $7,500 for the week, which is 5½ times more than the president of the United States gets a week unless, of course, he steals.

The reason Miss Brice is not talking to her husband is that the engagement calls for four shows a day.

The Broadway Way

He's one of the younger and less rum-soaked newspaper cherubs who drifted in from the Middle West three or four years ago, with an engaging grin, a rollicking sense of humor and facile fingers on a typewriter keyboard as his chief stock in trade. In some manner, most of the Broadway show crowd got to know and like him. Then, about six months ago, he disappeared from his usual haunts.

Only the other night he reappeared sadder but wiser. It seems he'd met the "right" girl, pretty but unpretentious, a home-girl with no thoughts of fame, furs and Fraschinis, and apparently devoted to him. He gladly strung along, only to get the proverbial knife in the back.

"It doesn't pay to let 'em know you love 'em," he confided, ruefully. "Play 'em all for pals and you avoid trouble. Broadway's got the right idea. Never be serious!"

Imagine his embarrassment an hour later when two of his little pals exchanged scratches and handfuls of blondined hair as they went to the mat outside the Apollo stage door to straighten out a mix-up in dates he had innocently maneuvered.

And They Hang Pictures!

The other day Dwight Wiman, the producer, desperately tried to get Ina Claire on the long distance telephone. He called her Hollywood home and after two disconnections finally got her maid.

"Can you tell me what time she'll be in?" asked Wiman.

"I don't know, she didn't leave word."

"It is very important that I get her. Have you any idea where she is?"

"Yes sir," was the indifferent reply, "she's at the Algonquin hotel in New York on 44th St."

Which is a stone's throw from Wiman's office!

CARESSE ⚜ A Complete Novel By RUTH TAYLOR

SYNOPSIS

Caresse O'Neill, daughter of the owner of Shady Lawn Inn in the village of Riverton, is jilted by her sweetheart, Ted Branard, son of the town's wealthy banker, on the day of the wedding. Caresse insists on continuing the party which had been arranged in her honor, and telephones Billy, a New York friend, to come down and bring two other friends as escorts for Miriam Nowell and Bess Parker, her best friends. They later go to a nearby roadhouse.

A few weeks later Caresse and friends are riding on a lonely road when the car gives out of gas near the old Morton place, which they believe abandoned. They go to the house, find a lighted lamp and a grand piano, and start dancing. Suddenly the door opens and the owner, Lee Deering, enters, to confront them.

Caresse's friends slip out of the house while she tries to explain their presence to Deering, and Caresse accepts his invitation to muffins and coffee before she returns home.

CHAPTER IV

It came about quite naturally for Lee Deering to come to be a regular visitor to Shady Lawn inn. First, of course, because Caresse was the first person in Riverton he had known.

He had not cared to know anyone when he had first come to the place on the hill, for he had been frankly and irksomely "fed up" with too many acquaintances. So many, in fact, that he had reached the conclusion he could not possibly do the work he wanted to do if he remained in the city. Life there was just one hurrah after another, chiefly at the instigation of friends who would not leave him alone.

His popularity, he did not realize, because he was essentially modest, but anyone could have told him it was the reward of the fame he had already acquired. Young as he was he had learned of the pitfalls of one who is enough in the limelight to be lionized.

Like other earnest men and women who have something more to do than taste the froth, he had not liked it. There had seemed to be no avoiding it, though. So he had picked up bag and baggage, or piano and music scores, and hied himself into the wilds. Or at least as much wilds as could be found on the lonely hillside outside the village of Riverton.

There had been another reason, too, but—Lee Deering always frowned when he thought of that reason for his isolation, and put it from his mind. As much as he was able to put it.

Naturally gregarious, his hermit life had already begun to pall when Caresse and her friends had dropped in on him so unceremoniously. He had been only too glad to accept her invitation. One visit had called for another. They were visits not too far apart—close enough that they did not escape the eagle eye of some neighbors, Miss Elvira Lewis in particular.

"It's queer goings on," she confided, at a meeting of the Ladies' Guild one afternoon.

She had her opportunity, for Caresse's mother was not present. She had been kept home from her only social activity to see to the needs of a party who had arranged for a dinner at the inn.

Miss Lewis went on: "If it isn't one man with that C'resse O'Neill, it's another. Now it's that Deering man, that strange fellow from up the hill to the Morton place. He's to the inn night and day, it seems like. And who he is nobody knows! Seems as if Sheilah O'Neill might have some gumption. But, no, she lets C'resse run wild with every Tom, Dick and Harry—"

"He's quite a musician, they was sayin'," remarked Mrs. Carrington, Bert's mother, as she bit off a thread and reached for a spool for another filling for her needle. "Right nice, too, my Bert was tellin' me. He's a sort of piano player, or somethin'."

"Like as not plays in some o' them night clubs," sniffed Miss Elvira, "and is takin' a lay-off. Goodness knows, from what they say, they need it once in a while. He's right white in the face, and they do say them clubs gives folks consumption, or—"

"Musician! Humph! Ever hear tell of a musician bein' any good? Look at that organist over to Harding's Mills. 'Loped right off with a vestryman's wife, and ran away—"

If Lee Deering had not gained the approval of Miss Lewis and a few others, perhaps, he was quite unconscious of it. Nor would he have cared.

He had gained the approval of Mrs. O'Neill. Right from the start, the mother of Caresse had taken the lonely man to her heart. It would have pleased her if he had been her constant guest.

"Can't see how you ever make a living, Mrs. O'Neill, if you're as generous with everybody," he laughed. "This is three times in a week I've had dinner down here. Now you're tempting me with a he-man dish—corn beef and cabbage tomorrow night. Say, I'll compromise. I'll come every night if you'll take me on as a steady boarder."

With Lee Deering as a dinner guest every night, Caresse one night made the astonishing discovery that Teddy, who had already begun to recede, had gone far into the background of her scheme of things. Instead, she found she was waiting eagerly each night for the composer to put in his appearance.

Once more she began to take an interest in her fripperies and her personal appearance, a matter that had come to be more or less routine since she had had no Teddy to "pretty" herself for. Then there were the nightly rides in Deering's small car.

She had not come to the point of confessing to herself that she was in love with Lee Deering. His own attitude would have made that impossible. Once he told her:

"I don't think I shall ever marry. Such work as mine and the temperament that goes with it—"

"To say nothing of the temper," put in Caresse. "Have you got one? I hadn't noticed it."

"—make marriage rather out of the question," finished Lee. Then he said: "Temper! You don't know the half of it. Some day I'll show you."

But Caresse only laughed, and said: "Show me! I should think, with your artistic temperament, you could give an interesting exhibition."

She came home from a ride with Lee one night to find Miriam waiting. Miriam was all excited. She could hardly wait till she got Caresse alone in her room upstairs.

"C'resse!" she burst out, her words falling over each other in their eagerness to come out, after so long repressing them. "What do you think? He's back!"

"Who's back?" asked Caresse.

For the moment she did not get Miriam's meaning, her mind drifting back to something Lee had said.

"Ted Branard's back—that's who!"

Caresse sat down abruptly.

"Oh!" she said, and she felt her heart jump not at all pleasantly. "Well, what's that to me?"

"You'd think it was something to you if you could hear what he has to say. He's spouting all around about how he's though better of it, and he's come back to marry you."

"Oh, he has, has he?" sniffed Caresse. "Wonder he wouldn't say something to me about it. I'll certainly have something to say to him!"

"You going to see him, C'resse?"

For a long minute Caresse did not speak. She was thinking. Her first idea was that she would refuse to see the man who had humiliated her. Of course, she could do that. But would she?

Her heart felt smothery at the idea of seeing Ted again, of his being back in Riverton at all. Somehow she had thought she might never see him again. But Riverton was so small. She knew it would be impossible for them to be in the same town and not meet. She had thought of that during the time he had been gone. She had not then considered how she would treat him when she did see him again.

"I don't see how I can help seeing him, do you?" she said at last. "If I don't go about town with a bandage over my eyes." Her lip curled.

"But what I mean, if he comes here?"

"I don't think he will," said Caresse, slowly.

"Much you know about that young man, scoffed Miriam. Then she challenged: "Bet you he will!"

Which was at least one good bet Miriam could have made.

For a long time after Miriam had gone home, Caresse sat by the window, looking up at the stars and taking stock of herself, wondering just what she would do if Ted came back to her, wondering what were her real feeling toward him. That queer little hurt in her heart when she thought of him! His laughing, careless ways; the glint of his brown eyes; his endearing, "C'resse, sweetheart" in the soft purr he knew how to put in his coaxing voice!

The sharp pain in her heart told her something, not altogether welcome. She still loved Ted. Or she was afraid she did. It made her the more afraid to see him. Suppose—suppose she was in love with him still!

Caresse got up and began to pull off her clothes with quick, jerky movements.

"I won't be in love with him!" she declared, between clenched teeth, defiantly. "I won't—that's all! But maybe I can't help myself. Caresse, my dear, you'd better call on your Irish. Don't forget your pride, miss. It may be according to the Bible to turn the other cheek, but it sure isn't according to Erin to let the same man give you the go-by twice running and get away with it."

She got into bed quickly and snuggled under the covers. Her mind was in a turmoil. She wished she could get rid of that stab of pain all through her when she thought of Ted.

"A good night's sleep's what you need, Caresse," she yawned. "Let your subconscious work a little. It will tell you what to do. Don't keep on being in love with Ted Branard. That's out. But if you a.e, for the love of Mike, don't broadcast it."

But when she slept, and the subconscious on which she depended had a chance to work, it was not of Ted she dreamed at all. It was of Lee Deering.

She was a little sorry when she awoke. Then she laughed at the absurdity of it. She was not in love with Lee Deering.

She did not shrink from meeting Teddy Branard when the time came.

Mother's face was flushed with indignation when she came up to Caresse's room after supper the next night.

"Of all things, Caresse!" she exploded. "What do you think? That Ted Branard's downstairs. The nerve of some people! In he comes as brash as if nothing had happened, and asks for you. I told him I didn't know. Want I should send him away?"

Caresse shrugged.

"What's the use? He'd only come back. You ought to know Ted. He never takes things as seriously as anybody else. He probably thinks he hasn't done anything so very wrong at all. He's likely thought himself into that state of mind while he was away."

"I hope you'll tell him different."

"Leave it to me! I'll tell him—lots of things!"

For a time it seemed that Caresse wasn't going to have a chance to say much of anything. Ted was too full of what he had to say—of his trip and of his cleverness in wangling the car from his father.

"Gee, it was great, C'resse!" he enthused. "You should have been along. Buffalo, Detroit, and then on up to Montreal. Gee, there's a burg to throw a party in. I was—"

"Perhaps I should have been along," observed Caresse, drily. "There are those who seem to have thought that way. Myself, for one."

Teddy did not mind her. He chattered on.

"The new bus sung along like a darb!" he declared. "Some bus! Guess that wasn't putting it over on the governor, what? Wouldn't give it to me till I told him I wouldn't marry you. What I meant was I wouldn't marry you that day. There are other days, you know. Clever, what?"

Caresse could hardly believe her ears. So Teddy thought the whole thing was just something "clever" he had put over on "the governor"! How could he be so childish? But as she watched him she knew it was that very irresponsibility of his that had been his chief charm for her. It appealed to the maternal in her. It was a charm for her yet, for that matter. She had no intention, though, of letting him know it.

"Want to come along for a little ride?" asked Teddy. "Try her out?"

Caresse caught her breath. The sheer nerve of the boy! It angered her, but it made her laugh. Her first impulse was indignantly to decline to go with him. Then a thought came to her, and her eyes narrowed. She did not want to forgive Teddy Branard, did not want him to think she would, but—but—

She visioned, and her eyes glowed with triumph as she did, the amazement of the people of Riverton when they should see her riding beside Teddy in the new car that it was common knowledge he owned simply because he had jilted Caresse O'Neill. There would be a thrill in that.

"I don't know, Ted," she said, slowly. "I am not sure I want to be seen with you. I can't just seem to get the same viewpoint you have about being left waiting at the church."

"Well, I can't drive it if I get under the seat, can I? What's the matter with being seen with me? Oh, come on, C'resse! Don't be dumb."

"I'll ride out to the Red Glen with you," said Caresse, with sudden determination.

Teddy screwed up his face and scratched an ear.

"Now, I was thinking some of going down Long Fields way," he objected. "Nice stretch of road down there, and few traffic cops. I can let her out, and you can see—"

"And nobody can see me," said Caresse, drily. "I'm on to you, Ted Branard. Talk about me not wanting to be seen with you. Why, you're afraid somebody who knows your father'll see you with me. I'll go to the Red Glen."

"Aw, C'resse, have a heart! Can y'imagine what the governor'd say if he heard I was—"

"I'm not particular about going," said Caresse, with a toss of her black head. Ted did not see her eyes narrow.

"Oh, come on!"

She shook her head.

"The Red Glen, or no go."

"Oh, all right. You win. The Red Glen. Get your bonnet! And may blessings fall on your head. They won't on mine."

Caresse wondered, as she rode along beside Ted in the new car that had been the price of her pride, and saw the astonished glances of her neighbors, whether if, after all, it was worth it. She was afraid to be alone with Ted. She was afraid of the resurrection of her love for him—the love she had found so hard to put from her.

It was balm, though, to flaunt her power over him in the face of all Riverton. She knew what they would say. Ted Branard had come back to her. Her hold over him was stronger than his father's will. In a way, that salved her wounded feelings.

As though nothing had happened between them, she talked gaily to the boy as they bowled toward the Red Glen. At the roadhouse she was the gayest of the gay as they danced. It brightened her eyes and gave her a feeling of exultation to have Ted so obviously at her feet.

Ted seemed to be trying, with all that was in him, to make up for what he had persuaded himself was a slight dereliction on his part. She knew he did not take seriously his failure to marry her. He could never take that or anything else seriously.

But she was not ready to forgive him. She felt she never could. It was simply a sop to her pride to show all who looked that her power over the heir to the Branard millions was as strong as it had ever been.

She danced; she sang; she smiled. But always, in the back of her head, there was one thought that was uncomfortable. She could not put from her the thought of Lee Deering. What would he think, if he knew all the facts of the case, and could see her now, with the man who had jilted her? What would he think of her pride?

Tillman County Youth Experiments With Beans

FREDERICK, Okla., April 29.—Seven different kinds of soy beans have been planted by Clarence Hoover, Manitou 4-H club member, assisted by Louis H. Beaty, county agent, and Luther Wagnon, secretary of Chamber of Commerce, in a variety test to be conducted this season. Beaty believes soy beans ought to prove a profitable crop here as they have in other places, including Northeast Oklahoma, where 30 bushels of seed an acre has been produced. Seed sells for from $2.00 to $3.00 a bushel and the remainder of the plant is splendid dairy feed, he says.

HUSTON DENIES 'SQUEAL' RUMOR

G. O. P. Chairman Won't Bare Party Secrets

WASHINGTON, April 29. (INS)—Published reports that Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee, had threatened to reveal some of the "inside history" of the last presidential campaign if he is forced out of the party chairmanship, were emphatically denied by him today.

Huston has been under fire for the revelations of his Muscle Shoals lobby activities, and his market speculations.

His statement today said:

"Recent publication to the effect that I am aware of and have threatened to expose conduct on the part of the Republican party leaders, or organizations, leading either to the nomination or election of President Hoover which were in the slightest degree reprehensible or violative of any law are wholly without foundation.

"The implied knowledge or approval of any such acts is a gross injustice to the president, to the Republican party and to me, and it is only because of the far-reaching importance of such insinuations that I feel called upon emphatically to repudiate them."

Graham Little Theater To Give 'Adam and Eva'

Special to The Record News

GRAHAM, Texas, April 29.—The first play to be produced by the Graham Little Theater at the Graham Memorial auditorium, is set for the date of May 6, the title of the play being "Adam and Eva," a three-act comedy. Rehearsals are now in progress, and the cast selected for the play includes Charles P. Hutchison, Dr. Wm. J. Gruby, Mrs. Malcolm Williams, S. Boyd Street, A. E. Morris, Miss Zell Baynes, Mrs. Donald Johnson, Donald Johnson, D. H. Bolin and Mrs. Ira Woods.

Gigantic Aircraft Merger Brewing

KANSAS CITY, April 29. (INS)—A merger of from six to eight leading commercial aircraft and aeronautical motor manufacturers in a gigantic $7,500,000 company with the American Eagle Aircraft corporation of Kansas City, as the nucleus, will probably be announced this week, it was learned today from E. E. Porterfield Jr., president of the American Eagle company.

Conferences between the officials of aviation companies contemplating to merge have been in session for several days.

The companies represented in the conferences are: Lincoln Aircraft corporation, Lincoln, Neb.; Szekeley Airplane and Motor company, Holland, Mich., and the Light Machine and Foundry company, Pottstown, Pa.

R. O. Bone, president of the Golden Eagle Aircraft corporation, Columbus, Ohio, will arrive here tomorrow and will take part in the discussion of merger plans.

WHOLESALE MARRIAGE

FEZ, Morocco, March 29. (UP)—The greatest wedding feast in the world, climaxing the marriage of 10,000 African negroes to 10,000 negresses, occurred 240 years ago today, and, with feasting and beating of tom-toms, the million descendants in North Africa of that gigantic mass marriage are celebrating today.

'Her Friends Marvel at the Change,' Says Husband

Feels Like a New Person. "My Wife Certainly Looks and Feels Like a New Person. She Has Taken Two Bottles of Argotane."

It is not what the manufacturers claim for it, but the statements from the multiplied thousands, who have been benefited by it, that has made Argotane the world-over famous medicine today. T. K. Campbell, of 606 Alabama street, Amarillo, Texas, made the following remarkable statement in regard to his wife's case, said:

"My wife suffered from a severe case of indigestion, nervousness and a general run-down condition. She did not have any appetite and always looked puny. Every time she ate anything it would hurt her, and she kept getting worse all the time. She was weak and fagged out all the time, and was hardly able to do her work. She was going fast downhill, and one day we read about Argotane and she began taking it.

"We are both, indeed, thankful for what Argotane has done for my wife. She eats anything she wants now, and has a large appetite. Her complexion was always sallow but you can talk about the 'school girl complexion' now, for she has it. Her looks are much better and has come color in her face. She rests and sleeps well at night, and all of her friends marvel at the wonderful change in her in so short a time."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Wichita Falls at the Allison Drug store, 716 Indiana avenue.—Adv.

Traveling Companions of Two Slain Capitalists Under Murder Charges

MUSKOGEE, Okla., April 29. (AP)—Two traveling companions of George and David Smith, Connecticut capitalists, today had been charged with the murder of the Easterners, found shot to death in a hotel room here Saturday night.

P. G. Seeley and John L. Wike, companions of the Smiths, who were brothers, formally were charged with the murders late yesterday. They were not placed in jail, however, but were under guard in their hotel room.

At a loss for a motive for the slayings, officers said the four men registered at the hotel here Saturday, Wike and Seeley occupying a room adjoining that in which the Smith brothers were killed.

Wife of Accused Sheriff Testifies

HOUSTON, April 29. (AP)—The wife of Sheriff H. Wyatt Collins of Fort Bend county was the first defense witness this afternoon in the trial of the officer and three negresses on liquor charges.

Mrs. Collins declared that intermittently over a period of 11½ years Carrie Norwood, one the defendants and alleged operator of the speakeasy the government claimed the sheriff owned, had been a family servant, and that from Nov. 12 through Nov. 28 the Norwood woman was her night nurse during an illness. Government witnesses had testified the negress was at the house they classified as a saloon and was operating it during that period.

Memphis Church To Hold Revival Meeting

The campaign will be one of the most intensive ever put on in the city.

Beam Made Treasurer Of Huge Grain Company

CHICAGO, April 29. (INS)—Appointment of Walter L. Beam as treasurer of the Farmers' National Grain corporation was announced today by C. E. Huff, president of the corporation. He assumed his new duties at once.

Beam served as controller of the $500,000,000 U. S. Grain corporation throughout its war time and later existence. Its affairs were terminated with a substantial profit.

Club Women Are Paralyzed After Imbibing Punch

WICHITA, Kan., April 29. (AP)—"Jake" paralysis, unexplained malady which has severely affected hundreds of persons who drank jamaica ginger here, today claimed nine more victims, members of a women's bridge club in the fashionable College Hill residential section.

The women were reported by health authorities to have admitted drinking a small amount of punch which had been "spiked" with alcohol. No jamaica ginger was used, it was said.

Three of the women were declared paralyzed and in a helpless condition. Three others were unable to use their legs and were confined to their beds. The other victims were walking with the aid of crutches.

TEXAS MAY GET FEDERAL JAIL

El Paso Selected for New Prison Site

WASHINGTON, April 29. (AP)—Attorney General Mitchel announced today that the department of justice's prison building program would place the penitentiary for the Northeast section of the country in the vicinity of Erie, Pa., either in New York or Pennsylvania.

The attorney general said that one of the contemplated federal jails would be at El Paso, Texas, where there are some 400 federal prisoners in county or state institutions.

TULSA, Okla., April 29. (AP)—Frank Goldsborough, youthful New York transcontinental flier, landed at the municipal airport here today from Springfield, Mo., at 2:45 p. m., and buffetted by a stiff south wind, which at one time during the afternoon registered 61 miles per hour, placed his ship in the hangar and prepared to spend the night here.

NEW LIVESTOCK MODELS URGED

Cattle Industry Out of Tune, Mohler Says

CEDAR SPRINGS, Iowa, April 29. (US)—The livestock industry, not as progressive as it should be, must adopt 1930 models of livestock and 1930 methods of management.

Dr. John R. Mohler, chief of the bureau of animal industry, so declared before the central states tuberculosis conference here tonight.

The industry "needs to make intimate acquaintance with and apply the industrial theory of obsolescence," he said.

"In this dynamic era an industry may seem to be moving forward, whereas it is actually losing ground in relation to competitive fields of endeavor which are progressing still more rapidly," he said.

"This condition is especially true when the element of mass production is involved."

As an illustration of mass production, Dr. Kohler said, "you can attend an automobile show and later purchase almost anywhere an exact duplicate of the car you want, and as many as you may need—or can pay for. In the case of livestock this is not true. Animals are not so nearly alike, though specimens of uniformly high quality can be produced, and are being produced to a very creditable extent. The average quality, however, is still far below the ideal. From a study of available data I consider that more than 50 per cent of our domestic breeding stock is obsolete from the standpoint of most efficient production. I am confident that the estimate is conservative."

The speaker distinguished three types of obsolete animals; those that continually fail to repay the cost of maintenance; scrubs and grade sires and inferior types of pure-bred sires; and animals affected with communicable diseases. He said there are millions of such animals.

AUSTRIAN RELATIONS

PARIS, April 29. (AP)—Chancellor Schober of Austria, who is in Paris as a guest of the French government, said today that the American tariff would have little effect upon Austro-American commercial relations, which constantly are increasing and expanding.

Graham C.-C. Votes Budget Increase

Special to The Record News

GRAHAM, Texas, April 29.—At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Graham Chamber of Commerce it was unanimously decided to increase the organization's budget to $8,060.00, in order to expand their program and thereby better care for the needs of Graham. The increase represents about $1,000, the budget last year having been approximately $7,000.

It was the opinion at the meeting that Graham needs a stabilization of prices on real estate and a thorough confidence in the town on the part of the citizenship.

A membership drive will be put on early in May for membership or for a possible increase in financial support. A committee of 60 members was appointed to assist in checking the census enumeration of Graham so as to secure an accurate count of local residents. This committee will work for five days following the official closing of the census enumerators. Each man will have more than a block to check over.

Branch Banking Urged For Rural Communities

WASHINGTON, April 29. (INS) Extension of branch banking as a cure for the banking ills of rural communities was advocated before the house banking committee today by John K. Ottley, president of the First National associates of Atlanta, Ga.

Although head of an important group banking system, Ottley declared that branch banking is preferable. A combination of branch and group banking would serve some communities, he said.

The state of Georgia, he said, has state-wide branch banking and the people are satisfied.

TWO CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH

Six Escape in Apartment House Blaze

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 29. (UP)—Two small girls burned to death and half a dozen other persons were forced to leap into fire nets when flames destroyed a five-story apartment building today.

The children, Lorraine Cariberg, 8, and her sister, Loretta, 6, became separated from their parents in the dense smoke which filled the apartment house.

The two girls were found lying on the fourth floor of the building their arms about each other.

Detached Oklahoma Residents to Meet

Special to The Record News

HOLLIS, Okla., April 29.—There will be an organization meeting of the residents of the strip detached from Oklahoma by recent supreme court decision in Hollis on May 5.

Governor Holloway, Attorney General J. Berry King, Hon. J. C. Nance, speaker of the house, and other members of the legislative committee on the boundary question will be present and deliver addresses on ways and means of protecting the interests of property owners in the strip.

The west tier of counties of Oklahoma are all affected and representatives and senators of these are being notified of the meeting by the local chamber of commerce and an attendance of about 400 is expected.

The validation of titles and possible and prolonged litigation are of vital concern to all parties having any interest in the strip and they propose to leave no stone unturned in protecting their rights as citizens and land owners.

CONOCO IS NOT THE ONLY OIL THAT IS DE-WAXED, BUT IT IS THE ONE AND ONLY LUBRICANT THAT CAN BE GERM-PROCESSED!

SIX months ago Conoco announced that it was ready with a new motor oil. On that day, the entire facilities of Conoco were placed behind this product.

Every advantage known to other oils was incorporated in this new lubricant. Paraffin base .... de-waxed .... zero fluidity .... high flash and fire .... full-body ...., and then to cap it all, the Germ Process, possessed by no other oil! The exclusive Germ Process, by adding an oily-essence lacking in all other oils, gives to this oil an entirely new characteristic — "Penetrative Lubricity"—the faculty of penetrating and combining with metal surfaces.

CONOCO

Every hope for performance and protection in motor oil .... everything you have known that an oil should be .... is definitely present in this fastest-selling oil in oil history. Anything else we could say would be anti-climax. We do ask that you verify our pledge, accept our challenge, at the next Conoco Red Triangle you see. Will you?

Strains and Injured Muscles

Strains and sprains are terms often used for the same condition but strictly speaking a sprain refers to a wrenching of a joint and a strain to over-exercising or straining a muscle. Symptoms differ slightly in that the pain of a strain is usually far removed from the joint and is in the muscular tissues, while with a sprain the pain is in or around the joint.

While a strain greatly resembles a sprain and the parts may become swollen and painful, it is the muscle itself which is injured. Some of the muscular fibres may even have been torn apart. The large muscles of the shoulders and lower back are most often injured by lifting heavy weights or from a sudden twist. The leg muscles may be strained in athletics.

A strained back will greatly resemble lumbago and sometime rheumatic toxins steal into the injured muscles and cause true lumbago. In these cases a special treatment is required similar to that outlined in my article on lumbago. If you have not saved this article which appeared a short time ago, I will be glad to send it to you.

A frequent place for a strain is the region of the sacrum and the ilium. It is usually accompanied by a slight misplacement of the bones of that region, and this can best be corrected by osteopathic and chiropractic treatments.

The treatments for sprains and strains is not the same. In strains, where the muscle has been affected it is better to use hot applications and gentle massage to promote the circulation. Where the deep muscular tissues are involved the electrical treatments with diathermy give best relief, since the heat can penetrate the tissues better than with any other method. If you can not obtain this electrical treatment, use hot water bottles or an electric heater directed toward the sore spot.

In the sacroiliac strain, hot stitz baths often give great relief and I would also advise a cleansing diet regime to help in bringing a more rapid absorption of the inflammation. Where the back is involved I do not advise exercise until after the inflammation has subsided. Sometimes it is a good plan for the osteopathic or chiropractic doctor who treats the back to strap it with adhesive tape after the treatment so as to prevent excessive movement.

The neck is often affected with strains and may become quite painful, as every movement of the head causes more soreness. Hot applications and manipulative treatments should also be used in this trouble. I have prepared a number of articles on similar subjects to those mentioned in this article and I will be pleased to send them to you if you will send me a two-cent stamp for every article you desire. This is to help pay for the cost of mailing and preparation.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Too Much Static

Question—C. T. S.: "I would like your opinion about two things that affect me. One is static electricity (?). I don't know that it hurts me in any way. I have never been robust and strong, and I am affected more when I feel tired or ailing. In handling woolen goods in the dark it sparkles, and after rubbing my hands on a piece of paper I tore it in two and a ripple of light ran just ahead of the tear-like when a boat cuts the water. When a friend placed her hand on my back she remarked that she felt a slight shock. We were standing in a wet marshy place at the time. Are many people affected this way, and does it come from 'temperament,' 'nerves' or what? And is it a condition which drains on the health, rather than promotes strength?"

Answer—What you felt is probably static electricity which is often generated by your shoes as you walk across the carpet. This will also occur from rubbing silk, woolen or other electro-positive substances. Some people are very sensitive to electricity and notice it in even small amounts and this is probably your condition, although static electricity may be produced by anyone under the right conditions.

Swallowing Stones

Questions—W. W. C. writes: "I once heard a doctor say at a lecture that the swallowing of stones cured catarrh and many other ills. I have never seen this statement in any other doctor's writings. Would pit of dates, oranges, grapefruit, etc., be harmful to swallow?"

Answer—The doctor probably meant that swallowing the seeds and skins of fruit would be helpful in that they promote better bowel elimination. This, of course, would have an effect in helping in the cure of many disorders caused by constipation.

SPUDDERS WIN HOME RUN DUEL TO DEFEAT SHIPPERS, 10 TO 8

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

The howl raised in certain parts of the state, notably Dallas, in regard to the Texas league banning radio broadcasting of baseball games, seems to be penetrating, if only faintly, to the ear drums of a small coterie of Wichitans, and indeed we hear there is a petition being circulated here asking that ball games once again be hurled through the ether. The petition here, it may be added, has attracted little notice.

There is no doubt but what the situation is becoming acute, and there have been heard within the last few days rumors that a league meeting is to be called soon to discuss the matter. For the information of the reader, however, it may be said that the rumors anent the league meeting came from Dallas, the one point in the state where the radio situation seems to be taken real seriously. There the problem has become serious not because the public is swooning over the loss of their etherized ball games so much as because the problem has been greatly accentuated by politicians and their ways. Had Mayor J. Waddy Tate and his blue shirt tactics not interferred, doubtless Jackie Atz would not be complaining today that the populace of Dallas is responding less and less to the lures of the diamond.

The peculiar thing is that the politicians and other rabid complainants take the attitude that the radio stations are becoming martyrs. They take the position that the radio stations feel they cannot discharge a sworn obligation to the public since they cannot daily issue bulletins on the baseball games.

All of which is, of course, tosh. The radio stations never did feel they were bound to satisfy the palpitating public with results of baseball games or any other kinds of games. And unless some business concern paid dear cash to have the baseball games broadcast under their auspices, they were never broadcast. If anything, the old time broadcasting of games was more or less of a joke, especially when some announcer would pause in the middle of a thrilling play to remind his impatient listeners that the account of how Bettencourt hit a home run over the left field wall was being "brought to you" through the courtesy of the Wah Wah Waddling company, manufacturers of world's best wah wah's and waddles.

Though they were jokes, the public could wade through the talkie ads to get the game, however. But now that the games have been taken away, the public somehow forgets that the radio station was not the one bringing them the games, but the aforementioned Wah Wah Waddling company.

In short, it was a matter of business with the radio stations, and they had a right to make as much money out of the racket as anybody. But indisputable evidence arose that whereas the radio stations were making money, the baseball clubs were on the losing end of the deal, and hence the league ruling. It was a business proposition with the baseball clubs as well as with the radio stations. The one had to protect itself against the other, even as any other business enterprise must watch out for its individual interests. And there was no question of "public service" involved whatever, except the service the radio station was required to give its advertiser.

There is another rumor afloat that may be of interest to certain radio stations in the state who are louder than others in this matter of martyrdom to the public. The rumor, in fact, that should the Texas league be forced to resume the broadcasting of games, there will be an express rule forbidding the radio stations from "selling" the game to an advertiser. In other words, if the league permits the games to be broadcast, the station doing it would not be allowed to charge an advertiser for the service, but would be required to furnish the news free of charge.

If this arrangement is worked out, it will be interesting to note just how many radio stations will give this service free of charge, when the time required to broadcast a ball game, usually about two hours, could be sold to a Waddling or some other company for the prevailing rate of something like $60 per hour. It will be found, no doubt, that only the larger radio stations who can afford to dispense a little good will will broadcast the games, while the smaller stations, on which the public is more dependent for baseball results than the larger, will refuse to waste their valuable time on something for which they get nothing.

Dallas, we repeat, is the only spot in the state where the ruling has excepted passionate protests, and these protests, we repeat, probably were fanned into a blistering flame not in the first place by the radio public, but politicians who inflamed that public with ideas that they were being mistreated. His Hon. Mr. Tate even went so far as to threaten to erect a broadcasting tower near the Steers' ball park. His honor and his blue shirt created quite a stir by this. The blue shirt crowd got excited and started signing petitions right and left. The blue shirt was the instigator, not the loss of the radioed games.

It is a tribute to Wichita Falls that this city has shown business intelligence enough to realize that a baseball club cannot operate without the loyalty of fans willing to pay their share of the upkeep. Baseball players, we must remember, are healthy and robust fellows, and they have to eat. Carl Williams is one of the league's best managers, but he relishes steaks, even as you and I. It takes money to buy food and Carl and his boys are willing to work for their suppers. But they would not work their ears down every day if they had to walk hungrily through the streets at night while the radio station proprietor sat at ease in the cafe eating steaks the ball players had paid for with the sweat of their brows.

Five Beaumont Hurlers Get Bombardment

By FRED D. THOMPSON

The Spudders made their eight hits off five Beaumont pitchers count for 10 runs Tuesday while the Exporters, though allowed 13 hits, couldn't wedge enough runners around the circuit, and the outcome of one of the most blistering slugging matches played this year was a Spudder victory. The final score was 10 to 8, and the victory evened the Spudders' series with the Shippers.

Extra base hits were prominent. Eckhardt started a home run orgy in the second by lifting one over the left field palings with Mullen on, and the Spudders took the cue, returning in the third to score four runs off two four-base swats. Burns got the first with the paths empty, and then after Bettencourt and Euller had been walked, Bradbury came forth with a circuit drive, scoring his mates and himself.

Score Tied Early

The first inning saw the teams tied, three all. Lester White started for the Spudders, allowing Stapleton, first up, to stroll. Mullen struck out and Stapleton stole second. Eckhardt was safe at first when Euller made a bad throw to Burns. Wade singled to right, scoring Stapleton and sending Eckhardt to third. Easterling popped to Levey. Holley singled to left, scoring Eckhardt and Wade. Schuble singled to right, advancing Holley to second. Steinecke forced Schuble at second, Euller to Storti, to close the inning.

Martin, starter for Beaumont, walked himself out of the box at the very start. Levey and Storti strolled. Fitzgerald struck out. Kloza walked, filling the bases. Burns doubled to left, scoring Levey and Storti and sending Kloza to third. Del Baker then sent Christian in. He started off by walking Bettencourt and the sacks were packed again. Euller forced Bettencourt at second, Kloza scoring and Burns taking third. Bradbury strolled, Euller taking second. White lined out to short, closing the period.

Hillin Takes Mound

Eckhardt's homer in the second followed, the Shippers going into the lead as the Spudders were held scoreless. The Shippers, in turn, were held scoreless in the third despite an early hitting spree that forced White from the box, and the Spudders came up to take the leadership with Burns' and Bradbury's wallops. Ash Hillin, who relieved White to finally win the game in great fashion, bowed to Stapleton's double in the fourth which started the Shippers off toward scoring again. Eckhardt drove Stapleton in with a single to center.

Hillin allowed this to happen only twice more, however, the Exporters crowding in two runs in an eighth inning rally. The Spudders, meanwhile, had pushed over a run in the fourth, fifth and sixth. Fitzgerald doubled to center in the fourth, and after Kloza and Burns had struck out, and Bettencourt had taken his third stroll of the day, scampered home on Euller's single to left. They walked Bradbury, and then Hillin grounded out, second to first.

Levey strolled to start the fifth. He went to second on Storti's sacrifice bunt, stole third, and came home when Fitzgerald, who had walked, was forced at second by Kloza. Burns struck out, closing the inning.

Spider Scores Again

Levey scored the 10th run, his third of the day, in the seventh. He beat out a bunt to reach first and scampered to third when the pitcher threw wild to Stapleton. Storti grounded out, pitcher to first. Fitzgerald doubled to center, scoring Levey. Kloza grounded to short, and Fitzgerald was tagged out, Schuble to Mullen to Holley. Burns grounded to Stapleton for the third out.

Martin, Christian, Englishman, Mallett and Green saw duty in quick succession on the mound for the Exporters, Englishman being the only one to last over two innings.

Meet Buffs Today

The Spudders open a three-game series with the Houston Buffs today. The game is called for 4 o'clock.

Sports Wallop Indians, 4 to 2 As Buffaloes Ride Over Steers

SHREVEPORT, La., April 26. (AP)—Oscar Tuero, spitball hurler, turned in his third brilliant pitching performance of the season Tuesday to beat the San Antonio Indians, 4 to 2. He did not allow a run until the eighth and only one of the tallies off him was earned. Whelan hit a homer, triple and single in four times at bat and Huarte's double that cleared the bases in the sixth was the winning blow. Score:

Athletics Pound Red Sox for 9 to 5 Lead

BOSTON, April 29. (AP)—Mickey Cochrane and Al Simmons led the assault on three Red Sox pitchers here today as the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Sox 9 to 5. Simmons drove in four runs and made four hits and Cochrane joined him in his hit total.

The champions pounded Charley Ruffing from the mound and treated George Smith in a similar manner. Horace Lisenbee finished the game. Score:

Mrs. F. C. Rochon Loses in First Round of Play

By GAYLE TALBOT, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

TEXARKANA, Ark., April 29.—Batting along with the same steady brand of golf that marked her drive to the championship last year, Mrs. F. E. Pharr of Texarkana, swamped Mrs. F. C. Rochon, Wichita Falls star, 6 and 3, in the first round of the 14th annual Texas Women's Golf association tourney today.

In the second round tomorrow Mrs. Pharr will square off with Mrs. C. O. Collins, Fort Worth, who eliminated Mrs. J. N. Garrity of Corsicana, 4 and 3.

Numerous upsets marked the opening bouts, such favorites as Mrs. Sam Hopkins, Texarkana; Mrs. J. A. Burborrow, Houston; Mrs. A. M. Rhodes, Dallas, and Miss Emily Wadley, Texarkana, the tournament medalist, falling by the wayside.

Anna B. Thompson, a 16-year-old lass from Fort Worth, won the day's most spectacular victory when she nosed out Mrs. Durborrow, who carries the lowest handicap of any woman in the state, 1 up in 19 holes.

The jinx that seems to follow a medalist overtook Emily Wadley of Texarkana in the poening round when she lost to Hilda Urbantke, brilliant Austin municipal links player, 4 and 2.

Phillies Run Amuck In Eighth to Beat Boston

PHILADELPHIA, April 29. (AP)—An eight-run flareup by the Phillies in the eighth inning broke up a scoreless hurling duel between Bob Smith and Ray Benge here this afternoon and gave the Shotten men an 8 to 2 triumph over the Braves.

Six hits, two bases on balls, two sacrifice hits and an error by Maguire accounted for the eight tallies. Score:

May You Always Get Your 3-A-Day Keep Energy Up and Blues Away"

Drink, eat and be merry! You do all three when you drink-a-bite-to-eat at 10, 2 and 4 o'clock. Thousands have learned this happy, healthful habit. It's becoming a national toast. There's pleasure in it; plenty. But you profit by it, too. It puts quick, new life in your blood. It freshens you up; puts a new edge on brain and muscle and fills you full of fight. But there's nothing artificial about it . . . nothing dangerous or bad. Not a thing in it can harm you. It's energy, "pure D," in pre-digested form.

Try it out for a week; this food habit at 10, 2 and 4. You'll be amazed how it grows on you . . . and how you thrive on it. There's a scientific reason back of it. It isn't a mere fancy or fad. Dieticians and doctors advise mid-meal sweets to keep a full head of energy on tap. Dr. Pepper gives you sugar in just the right amount; plus healthful fruit juice for flavor; and sparkling water for bulk. Get your three a day; keep energy up and troubles away. It means health and happiness, Sure Enough!

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 29. (AP)—Declines from a slight early advance under selling promoted by reports of rains in the Southwest, were followed by rallies on a renewal of near month covering in cotton today. May contracts after selling off from 16.04 to 15.90 closed at 16.08 or 6 points net higher with the general market closing firm, net 6 points higher to 3 points lower. Both old crop positions were 6 points higher, while later months ranged from 3 points higher to 3 points lower.

The opening was steady at a decline of 4 points to an advance of 5 points. After the early demand had been supplied, prices eased off under increased offerings which were encouraged by the detailed weather reports showing general rains in Texas and Oklahoma. The closing quotation for May was 8 points below July but 137 points above new October.

Liverpool was fairly steady. Cables here said there had been fair trade calling and covering in the near months there, although late deliveries had been sold on the Texas rain news.

Exports today 9,745 making 6,247,220 so far this season. Port receipts 8,143. U. S. port stocks 1,662,519.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 29. (AP)—Cotton trading today was mainly influenced by rains in the Western belt which proved fairly general in Texas and Oklahoma and relieved the drought in that section. Selling of new crop positions followed news of rains and the discount of October under July broadened to over 100 points. Some covering developed near the end and July contracts rallied from 15.53 to 15.83, and closed 15.81, or 6 points net higher. The general market closed steady net 6 points up to 1 down.

Liverpool cables were favorable but the market here opened slightly easier, initial transactions showing no change to declines of 5 points. The market continued to ease after the start owing to the circulation of additional May notices in New York and on the Western rains. May traded off to 15.58, July to 15.67 and October 14.67, or 8 to 9 points net down.

Trade buying and covering developed on the decline, however, and the market rallied to 8 to 12 points from the lows. The detailed weather report indicated extensive rains in the West and this led to renewed selling particularly of new crop positions. A flood of offerings were encountered and before they were absorbed October dropped to 14.57, or 17 points below the highs while old crop months lost 11 to 16 points.

There was a final rally in late trading on covering and some buying said to be based on talk of too much rain in the West. July made a new high at 15.83, or 20 points over the low. Final prices were at or near the top.

Receipts 8,120; for week 25,520; for year 8,179,535; last year, 9,180,569. Exports 9,745, for week 16,977, for year 6,101,241; last year 7,056,416. Stocks 1,683,302; last year 1,435,064. Stock on shipboard at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 73,660; last year, 86,718. Spot sales 2,008; last year 6,512.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, April 29. (AP)—Cotton rallied after a moderate break and closed a trifle higher. Opening prices were from 3 points up to 5 points down, while cables opened from 4 American points better than due to 2 points lower. The market eased slightly during the morning on reports of rains in Texas and Oklahoma. The close was steady and a top for the day of 4 points net lower to 5 points net higher. World consumption of American cotton for March is estimated by Garside at 1,074,000 bales against 1,291,000 last year and 1,300,000 the year before.

Heavy Short Covering Halts Slump As Stocks Recover After New Lows

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, April 29. (US)—Further heavy selling of stocks today brought about new lows in many issues but a heavy short covering movement late in the session closed the leading industrials more than a point higher than Monday's close. Railroad stocks, however, continue under steady pressure which forced the average price of the best-grade rails to a new low on the present setback, in some instances close to the bottom prices of last year's panic and it at least one conspicuous instance to the lowest price in several years. Southern railway, in which a particularly obnoxious preferred stock provision accentuates nervousness over its dividend, broke through its panic low. Selling persisted throughout the first four hours of the session and not until the last hour did heavy short covering and renewed buying of favorite issues finaly stem the offerings. The oil stocks contributed substantially to the improved sentiment by advancing in the face of general market uncertainty.

As the session progressed and selling developed additional weakness throughout the list it was evident that buying of the oil stocks was coming from important quarters, partially at least intended for influence on the remainder of the market. Under leadership of Standard of New Jersey, practically all of the Oils enjoyed brisk recoveries to within fractions of their record highs. Considerable short covering of Steel common also developed in the late trading on more optimistic estimates of the showing for the quarter. The official statement was fully up to expectations and stress was placed on the steady improvement in earnings month by month, with March showing largest earnings.

Opening prices were influenced by heavy short covering induced by the sharp break on Monday. Public participation on both sides of the market was comparatively light in the initial transactions and only slightly increased during the day. It was obvious that some of the biggest professional bear operators were covering on the declining prices. Westinghouse Electric in particular reflected such buying as did also Union Carbide. The latter had been under pressure of professional selling as well as some liquidation since its quarterly report was issued. The buying of the stock of late, however, is understood to have been of good character. Specialties were hard hit again, Vanadium breaking almost 10 points before recovering while Worthington Pump broke even worse but strong buying closed the stock up two points net on the day. Raiders of this stock have had only moderate success, the big positions in Worthington still being intact in anticipation of continued favorable developments affecting the company.

Continued weakness of the Railroad department of the list has undoubtedly been one of the most disappointing factors in the general situation. The exceedingly poor earnings statements being issued by the biggest systems in many instances are far worse than had been anticipated so that considerable belated liquidation has been taking place although of late light investment demand has been apperent for some of the highest grade Rails. The Utilities yielded in price with the general list, but a few recent favorities were well taken, particularly Electric Power & Light. Foster-Wheeler displayed remarkable resistance to selling pressure and closed over a point higher as demand continued from Public Utility interests.

Fox Film was taken throughout the day and according to its sponsors the stock continues to be very strongly bought. Other motion picture stocks closed lower on the day. Copper stocks continued to be sold in anticipation of a further reduction in price of the metal. The close was decidedly irregular but with a distinctly better tone to many leading stocks which in the earlier trading gave signs of further severe setbacks in store.

Wheat and corn sold off over a cent a bushel, while cotton improved somewhat. Foreign exchange rates were practically unchanged. Money remained at 4 per cent.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, April 29. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Livestock trade around the 11-market circuit was featured by a substantial upturn on fed lambs. Several points reported advances of 25@50c. Spring lambs unevenly steady to 25c higher. California springers at St. Joseph realized $11.50. Fed wooled lambs in Chicago made $10.25. The supply approximated 52,700, a decrease of 28,500 from last Tuesday and 10,000 less than the corresponding day a year ago.

Hogs generally steady to 10c higher. The day's top of $10.25 was paid at Chicago. Total offerings around 82,300 against 88,835 a week ago and 103,077 the same day last year.

Aggregate receipts of cattle, estimated at 37,800, showed a slight increase over a week ago but were 7,000 short of a year ago. Fed steers and yearlings continued weak to 25c lower and 50@75c lower than last week. Chicago scored $13.90 on heavy steers but at most centers the bulk of fed steers ranged downward from $12.25. The slump in killing cattle has had a depressing influence on the stocker and feeder trade.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, April 29. (AP)—Quality was lacking in the cattle supply here today and trading rather slow.

Rail hogs about 10 cents higher. Rail top $9.60.

Hardly enough sheep on hand to test values. Few sales about steady.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, April 28. (AP)—Good demand continued for all grains on the cash market with the exception of barley which was dull. Wheat, corn and oats sold a little lower today but sorghums were strong under the light offerings.

Mills bid $1.13@1.14 for ordinary No. 1 hard wheat delivered Texas common points.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed corn 95@96c; No. 2 white 97@98c; No. 2 yellow 97½@98½c.

Oats—No. 2 red oats 55½@56½c.

Barley—No. 2 barley nominal.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per hundred pounds $1.85@1.90; No. 2 kaffir $1.50@1.61.

Cane Seed—Bulk country run red top, per 100 pounds, according to type, origin and clean-out, $4.25@4.50.

Dealers also quoted as follows: delivered Texas group one, points, No. 2 mixed corn 92@93c; No. 2 white 94@95c; No. 2 yellow 94½@95½c; No. 3 white oats 51½@52½c; add one cent for delivery to Texas group one points.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 29. (AP)—Wheat prices went downgrade today owing largely to rains over recent drought sections, with southwest Kansas receiving the best moisture supply in five months. The wheat market was also bearishly affected by continued heavy letting go of May delivery holdings, with latest official figures showing that the rate of contraction of the open interest here in the May delivery is about 10,000,000 bushels for a single day. Government sponsored agencies, however, were credited with buying enough May wheat today to keep liquidation from resulting in a demoralized market.

Closing quotations on wheat were nervous at almost the day's bottom level 1⅜@1⅝c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅝@1½c down, oats ⅝@2c off, and provisions showing 2@30c advance.

Corn and oats reflected the downward course of the wheat market. Dwindling of buying support for the corn market especially became very apparent when wheat turned decidedly downgrade.

Provisions were responsive to hog market upturns.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—May $1.01, $1.04¾; July $1.03½@1.03¾, $1.06¾@1.06⅞; Sept. $1.07½@1.07⅜, $1.10⅜@1.10½; Dec. $1.11¾, 1.15¼. Corn—May 79¼c, 81¼c; July 81⅛, 93⅛@83⅝c; Sept. 83⅛@83¼c, 84⅞@84⅞c; Dec. 77c, 78⅝c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, April 29. (US)—While the wheat trade generally appeared to consider the arrival of generous moisture over the belt as discounted, buyers could find little in the news with which to support a further advance. It was thought there was still a large short interest, but export news and pending deliveries seemed to remove apprehension from the selling side.

Coarse grains continued to move in accordance with the trend in wheat, and with nothing changed in their own news there was little to stimulate market activity.

Broomhall's foreign crop summary indicated generally favorable conditions for the growing crops throughout the world. There are some complaints of backward seeding in Russia. In Argentina two days of rain have improved the seed bed and in Australia plowing is making good progress.

The ocean freight market is reported as very quiet with few bookings being made.

Broomhall said: "Small Southern hemisphere shipments are steadying influences in the world trade and they are likely to continue small, which should divert more buying to America. The very small world's shipments must cause further reductions in our stocks, but some authorities are of the opinion that they are indicative of the poor demand and confirmed the presence of comparatively liberal European native stocks."

EGG PRICES SLICED AGAIN

Cases Drop to $5, and Loose Sales to 15c Dozen

Further reductions in prices offered for fresh eggs were announced Tuesday by the Armour creameries management as a result of over-production which "threatens stagnation of the market," it was said.

Following a 25-cent cut announced Monday, another 50 cents was lopped off the quotation Tuesday for 30-dozen cases, to make the present offer $5.00. Loose fresh eggs dropped to 15 cents per dozen.

Buyers will pay 15 cents for fresh eggs in Kansas beginning Wednesday morning, it was said, a territory whose egg production usually brings from two to three cents per dozen more than that of Texas. The weakened market, according to the statements made, is attributable to reduced consumption of eggs, resulting in a tremendous stock being held in storage. Buyers are crowded for storage space in many places, it was said.

Daily deliveries of 1930 broilers are increasing steadily, it was reported, with birds of this class bringing from 22 to 25 cents per pound.

Market Demand to Guide Texas Oil Proration Rules After June 19

Special to The Record News

AUSTIN, April 29.—"Market demand" likely will become the basis of oil proration in Texas after June 19, as a substitute for present proration blanket orders of the railroad commission and of at least one voluntary field-wide proration agreement.

The railroad commission abandoned the plan of putting a proration order over Panhandle fields, deciding that the new pipe line law, providing for rateable taking and common purchase of oil will obviate its need.

The commission will hold a hearing at Fort Worth next Saturday on the proposed continuation of the 150,000-barrel daily proration rate for the Winkler county field. This may be the last separate proration order before the pipe line law puts the entire situation under a new and pioneering form of administration. The Winkler field's proration now is approximately at its potential, according to unofficial reports, so that if the order were lifted the production perhaps would not be increased.

Pecos Order Expires

The present 110,000 proration order for the Yates Pecos pool will expire May 17.

The Howard-Glasscock field is under a 37,500-barrel proration blanket.

The Darst creek field of Guadalupe county is under a voluntary proration agreement by which only 10,000 to 15,000 of its 200,000 daily potential is produced.

The Van field of Van Zandt county is under a unified operation arrangement by which practical proration is in effect there.

Market demand proration is expected to become the control factor under the pipe line law because the law requires the rateable purchase of oil from all producers. It prohibits discrimination against different producers, and against different fields in the same sections, operated under comparable conditions. Difficulties of finding a "common denominator" for different fields are said to be great.

Hearing was held by the state commission on the proposed Panhandle proration; but the case was held in abeyance until the pipe line law is tested out. If this law fails to cover the needs, then such an order can still be considered.

Maximum Recovery

The theory of present proration is said to be to assure the ultimate recovery of more oil from a field than through unrestricted production. It has nothing to do with market conditions or "economic waste," under theory of the railroad commission's orders.

The state commission will still have nothing to do with market demand under the pipe line law, but the control of production is expected to be placed in the hands of the buying agencies that are directly concerned with the question. The function of the state then will be to prevent discrimination as against one producer in a field, or against one field in favor of another.

Oil Rate Reductions Upheld by Examiner

WASHINGTON, April 29. (AP)—The contentions of North Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota interests for lower rates on gasoline and other petroleum products, from Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri would be upheld by the Interstate Commerce commission under recommendations presented today by one of its examiners.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, April 29. (AP)—Cotton goods markets were slightly firmer with trade quiet. Burlaps are firm here. Little news is coming to the trade concerning conditions in India although a revival of reports that mills will go on short time July 1 was noted. Raw silk was dull. Wool grades are in moderate request.

Women on Trial In 'Wrong Man' Murder

SCOTTSBORO, Ala., April 29. (UP)—Two young women were on trial here today charged with the murder of the "wrong man."

The defendants, Mrs. Byrtle Berry Graham, 20, and Miss Newby Motes, 19, have admitted the slaying of Harry Cunningham, 21, but pleaded not guilty by virtue of a tragic error in identity. They had supposed Cunningham was the man who slapped Mrs. Graham's face, but now they are sure he was not.

Cunningham was stabbed to death when he refused to obey Miss Motes' orders to leave a drug store and face Mrs. Graham who was waiting outside, apparently ready to tell the youth what she thought of him.

Flying Duchess Forced Down at Dragoman Pass

LONDON, April 29. (AP)—The exchange telegraph today published a report that the Duchess of Bedford, who left Sofia this morning on the last stage of her flight to South Africa and return, was forced to land at Gragoman Pass about 30 miles from Sofia. A broken oil pump was given as the reason.

New York Standard To Raise Gasoline Prices

NEW YORK, April 29. (INS)—Standard Oil company of New York today announced that it will advance gasoline prices one cent per gallon. The new retail price including tax, will be 18 1-2 cents a gallon.

All business was suspended a day recently at Mullinsville, Kan., while residents improved the cemetery.

Waurika Goodwill Program Complete

Special to The Record News

WAURIKA, Okla., April 29.—With only one more presentation of their good will program planned, the Rotary club of Waurika will conclude this annual feature this week.

The program, which is in the form of a negro minstrel, is put on by club members assisted by a quartet of local business men each year. Various communities are visited during a period of several months.

Communities which have been visited this year are Claypool, Irving, Wray's Chapel, Addington, Sugden, Hastings, Atlee, E. B. Ranch school, Mountain Home, Madden Grove and Pecan Grove. The trip to Oscar on Monday night was postponed on account of the rain.

The program has been presented before a full house in almost every case.

CENSUS COUNT READY SOON

City Total Slowly Climbs Above 1920 Figure

The census report for Wichita Falls and surrounding towns probably will be completed this week, according to a statement made Tuesday by T. L. Ball, district supervisor. Present indications point toward a slight increase over the 1920 enumeration.

Some of the smaller towns will probably show an increase over the last census, but some are likely to fall beneath the last count, he said.

A few more days will be allotted to the enumerators in most of the towns to allow rechecking of the lists to insure a correct total count. A few are being added to the Wichita Falls count every day. The cooperation given by the residents here together with the aid extended by the chamber of commerce will make the enumeration complete at the final compilation of the numbers, Mr. Ball said he believed.

The census has already been completed in Jacksboro, Henrietta, Bellevue, Holliday, Shamrock, Wheeler and Canadian in this area.

Ad Club Hears Talk On Children's Health

Facts about child mortality and efforts now being made to reduce it were discussed before members of the Ad club Tuesday noon at the Kemp hotel by Miss Pearl Rorabough, local Red Cross nutritionist.

Of the 12,000,000 children of preschool age in this country now, Miss Rorabaugh said, 80 per cent of them came into the world in apparently perfect physical condition, but only one in 80 will retain that score in physical examination upon reaching school age.

Cooperation between parents and the community was urged by the speaker as one of the requisites for decreasing child-mortality.

In connection with the announcement of the opening of the manufacturers and jobbers exhibit here on May 10, P. B. Roberts conducted an oral questionnaire on Wichita Falls products.

Dr. Castner to Attend Mental Hygiene Meet

Dr. C. W. Castner, superintendent of the state hospital, is leaving Friday for Washington, D. C., where he will attend the first international congress on mental hygiene. The sessions will start Sunday afternoon, May 4, and continue throughout the week, ending Saturday, May 10. Dr. Castner said delegates will be present from every state in the union, from every province in Canada and from 36 foreign countries. Dr. Castner will leave Washington Friday, May 9, before the congress ends its sessions, in order to be in Wichita Falls by Sunday, May 11, the date for the formal opening of the new buildings recently erected on the grounds here.

MAJESTIC: William Powell in "The Benson Murder Case" (S. S. Van Dine) with Eugene Pallette, E. H. Calvert, May Beatty. "Down With Husbands," comedy. Sound news.

STRAND: "Sons of the Gods," with Dick Barthelmess and Constance Bennett. A so-so story dignified by capable acting. "Silly Symphony," autumn number. Sound news.

STATE: Closing performance of "The Vagabond Lover," with Rudy Vallee. Pretty name, isn't it? All-talking comedy. Sound news.

GEM: Ricardo Cortez and Nora Lane in "The Haunted Ship" (London). "Home-Brewed Youth," comedy.

Marking the closing day (Wednesday) of the State's "Vagabond Lover," with Rudy Vallee—sometimes confused with "Sleepy Valley"—credit should be given for the interest taken locally in this boy. His appearance in this picture has given opportunity for more prolonged observation of his case than is afforded by his radio programs. Moved by distinctly humanitarian motives, almost a dozen ladies of perspicacity have sat well down front at various times during the past three days in the hope of arriving at some helpful diagnosis of Rudy's strange malady. One suggestion which contains elements of promise, is that the adenoids and tonsils be removed. Defection in these organs, it appears, often has been found guilty of causing retarded development. Another kindly soul recommends about three generous shots of adrenaline. The most comprehensive and direct proposal, however, comes a third communicant, who would slip the required pinch of arsenic into Rudy's 4 o'clock tea.

◇ ◇ ◇

Those muses to whom was accredited in days of yore the spirit of artistic creation may be sulking in comparative inactivity since the innovation of screen drama. But be they still extant and dabbling even half-heartedly in modern theatrical entertainment, those which spook about in the shadows of the State theater will come out of their four-days' hiding Wednesday night. Rudy moves out, and Charles Ruggles, comedian extraordinary, moves in with "Road House Nights." That title, of course does not imply all of those shining virtues recently extolled by Mr. Hays as comprising the producer's book of faith. But as usual, the title has not too much to do with the content of the picture. With Helen Morgan to provide her own special naivets for her songs, Charles Ruggles to make you laugh, and Fred Kohler for the character role which his name assures, "Road House Nights" will do much to dispel the protending gloom of Rudy.

◇ ◇ ◇

As would be expected and desired, Mr. William Powell brings his all-star line up of Pallette, Calvert, etc., with him to the Majestic Wednesday in the Van Dine story, "Benson Murder Case." Reviewers of which forget all adjectives save "suave" for a one-word picture of Powell.

Wednesday Last Day For Tax Renditions

W. Ralph Hyer, city tax collector and assessor, Tuesday issued a last warning to Wichitans who have not yet made a rendition of their city property. Renditions will close promptly at 5 o'clock Wednesday, he announced. An immediate check will be made and property not assessed will be placed on the unknown list. This deprives the owner of any right to question his assessment and the right to appear before the board of equalization, Mr. Hyer pointed out.

JURY AWARDS WOMAN $2,750

Verdict Returned in Suit For Damages

Damages amounting to $2,750 were awarded Tuesday afternoon by a jury in the 89th district court to Mrs. Clara Trammel at the close of the trial of her suit for $25,000 damages against Mike Levine on a claim growing out of injuries alleged to have been sustained by Mrs. Trammel following Levine's demand for rent on a house occupied by her family.

The morning session of the court was marked by one humorous episode in which a 78-year-old woman emerged victorious in a short verbal battle with an attorney for the plaintiff. The aged woman had been called as a witness for Levine and while on the stand contradicted certain of the evidence introduced by the plaintiffs. Attorneys for Mrs. Trammel interrupted several times while the gray-haired woman was attempting to give her version of the case, stopping her as she reached important points in her story. At last she lost patience.

"If you'll just shut up," she said abruptly, glaring at the attorney, "I'll tell you what I know."

The attorney subsided, obeying her command as a light titter ran through the astonished courtroom. The aged woman's testimony was soon completed.

Odd Fellows Observe Anniversary Tonight

All branches of the local Odd Fellows lodge will unite in celebrating the 111th anniversary of Odd Fellowship of America in a specially prepared program to be given at the hall Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Reading, Miss Georgia Brinlee.
Harmonica and whistling duet, Bill Savage and J. C. Horton.
Drill, Rebekah degree staff.
Rebekah's closing prayer, Mrs. Ivy Lofton, chaplain.

An Ironton, Mo., couple, Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Forshee, recently announced their marriage after keeping it secret seven years.

MISS MANAGER

George Fairtrace Greets New Daughter Tuesday Morning

Wichita Falls was larger by at least one citizen Tuesday and City Manager George D. Fairtrace was slapping backs and handing out cigars. Little Miss Fairtrace, dark-eyed and very tiny, made her appearance at the General hospital at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning.

When asked if she was pretty, Mr. Fairtrace said, "Well, she may not be very good looking right now but she sure has good strong lungs." The little lady weighed 6¾ pounds.

Funeral Rites Here For John D. Stephens

John D. Stephens, 49, 1632 Pearl street, who died in a hospital at Buffalo, N. Y., Tuesday morning, will be buried here, with funeral arrangements tentatively set for Friday. Mr. Stephens was a Spanish-American war veteran, and building superintendent of the Grennan bakeries. He died after undergoing an operation in Buffalo.

He is survived by his wife here and a brother, Herbert Stephens of California. He was a member of the Highland Heights Christian church and the Elks lodge.

POISON TAKES WOMAN'S LIFE

Mrs. Ollie Johnson Dies at Hospital Here

The body of Mrs. Ollie Johnson, of near Seymour, who died of carbolic acid poisoning at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, is being held at Alberts Funeral home pending the arrival of relatives to make funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Johnson was taken from a room of a house on Jefferson street by a Dalton-Powell emergency ambulance to the General hospital where she died a few minutes later.

According to a report from the police department, the woman had rented the room Monday, but officers were unable to find where she lived prior to that time. She has been in Wichita Falls for the past two months it was learned. No inquest was held.

She is survived by her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Betts.
