Nixon Predicts 'Deal' On Tidelands

Permian Basin OIL & GAS LOG

James C. Watson, Oil Editor

Discovery In Howard Now On Potential

This new field opener flowed 189.75 barrels of 20.5 gravity oil and no water in 12 hours through a one-half inch tubing choke, from pay at 2,893-2,908 feet.

That zone had been treated with 500 gallons of acid prior to the gauge.

Operator was to continue flowing the wildcat for another 12 hours and was to then report the gauge made during the full 24 hours as the potential test.

The well will then be put on regular production.

Near Canyon Pool

It bottomed at 7,769 feet in the lower Strawn. After getting the water it plugged back and set 5 1/2-inch casing at 2,898 feet. (corrected)

Water Test

The pipe was perforated at 2,860-80 feet. That zone swabbed only salt water with no shows of oil or gas. Those perforations were squeezed off with cement and operator then drilled out the bottom of the pipe at 2,898 feet and drilled ten feet deeper to 2,908 feet.

The pipe was then perforated at 2,893-98 feet, and the open hole section was also perforated from 2,898 feet to 2,908 feet to shatter the cement which had been on that section.

The 500 gallon acid treatment then followed.

Flows To Tanks

After the load and residue had been swabbed and flowed out the well was turned to tanks at 7:22 p.m., Wednesday. In the 12 hours which ended at 7:22 a.m., Thursday, the wildcat flowed 189.75 barrels of 20.5 gravity oil through a one-half inch tubing choke. It made no water.

Operator was to continue flowing until 7:22 p.m., Thursday and then report the production during the 24-hour period as the official potential test gauge.

The well will then be put on regular production.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 4, block 25, H&TC survey. It is two and one-quarter miles east of the town of Vincent.

Conoco Wildcat To Be Drilled In C-E King Sector

Continental Oil Company No. 2 Mary C. Ross is to be drilled as a 6,400-foot wildcat in Central-East King County, 13 miles west of Knox City.

Wildcat Scheduled To 6,500 Feet In North Pecos

Big West Drilling Company and John Mitchell of Midland No. 1-104 Richard Levy is to be drilled as 6,500-foot wildcat in the Sant Rosa Gas field area of North Pecos County which produces from 9,793 feet.

Operator will try to complete the project in some formation above 6,500 feet.

Ellenburger Fails In Midland Tester; Now To Plug Back

Union Oil Company of California was preparing to plug back from 12,650 feet to 9,450 feet for tests of the Wolfcamp in No. 1 Terry Elkins, wildcat two and one-half miles east of the City of Midland.

Drilled to 12,650 feet in the Ellenburger, the project developed salt water in that formation on a drillstem test from 12,571 to 12,650 feet. Tool was open three hours. Recovery was 2,000-foot water blanket and 450 feet of mud and slightly gas-cut salt water.

Operator will test the Wolfcamp

JayCees Join City's All-Out War On Flies

No date has been set for the all-out effort but more detailed plans will be laid next Tuesday at 4 p.m. when a steering committee, composed of representatives from other civic clubs, meets at City Hall.

Named as co-chairmen of the clean-up campaign were Ken Durham and Ray Howard.

Meanwhile the city strengthened its fly-fighting forces by adding four new power sprayers to the three it already was operating.

In addition, one fogging machine was rented, to supplement the one now in operation.

"We are sparing no effort or expense," said City Manager W. H. Oswalt, "in combatting the threat of flies and attendant diseases.

"In the last three days, we have spent some $10,000 on equipment in an effort to do everything we can."

The spray machines were attacking every possible fly-breeding source while the fogging machines continued to spread disinfectant throughout the city's alleys with their thousands of garbage cans.

The city's new sewage-disposal plant was placed in operation for the first time Wednesday afternoon in an effort to ease the burden on the main outfall sewage line.

Sewage Problem

Henry E. Nunn, city sewage and water engineer, said the use of the new plant, through which approximately half of the city's sewage is being diverted, already had improved the situation at the Magnolia Tank Farm, where overflowing raw sewage has formed a pond of several acres.

But the sewage continued to bubble above the surface of the ground in the Terrell Street area, where puddles have formed between Illinois and Mississippi.

And there's not much that can be done about that situation until a new south side interceptor line is completed, probably within two weeks.

Oswalt said the street had been scraped even, however, to eliminate the chug holes where the sewage stood in pools.

In addition, the area is being sprayed regularly with chemicals to lessen the odor and kill flies.

Two Technicians Get Burns As Explosion, Fire Rip Laboratory

HOUSTON—(AP)—Two technicians were burned badly Thursday in an explosion and fire in the testing laboratory of the Eastern States Petroleum Company's No. 2 plant.

Burned were Marvin Sharpe, 21, and J. C. Lee, 24.

L. C. Nobles, 32, a third man in the laboratory, was not burned. He said he was running a one-cylinder motor used for making octane content tests and the other two men were making specific gravity and distillation analyses.

"I started for the door to get a drink of water," Nobles said, "and I remember there was an explosion. I saw fire everywhere and it seemed the whole building was falling in on me. The next thing I remember was when I woke up outside and in a few seconds someone was telling me to get in an ambulance."

No cause of the explosion was determined immediately.

Children Hurt When Movie Ceiling Falls

AUSTIN —(AP)—Approximately six children were injured Thursday when the mid-section of a downtown theater ceiling collapsed.

One adult was injured and six children were taken to the hospital, but it was not yet known how seriously they were hurt.

Louis Novy, of the Queen Theater where about 100 customers had gathered for a thriller movie, said that "everybody is out" shortly after 12:30 p.m.

Witnesses said several children ran screeming from the theater, crying, "The roof fell in."

Glasscock County Drilling Accident Kills Rig Worker

Norman Roderick Gibbs, 47, roughneck, was killed instantly Wednesday night when he became entangled in the "tom line" on a rig in Glasscock County.

The accident occurred about 9 p.m. on a lease 42 miles southeast of Midland. Gibbs was employed by Blount Drilling Company. He had moved to Garden City only three days ago from Big Lake. Gibbs was a native of Minekah, Okla.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Alta Gibbs of Garden City; a son, Lloyd B. Gibbs, serving in the U. S. Army, and a daughter, Mrs. Norma McLain, state of Washington.

Girl's Mutilated Body Found Lying In Oklahoma Creek Bed

YUKON, OKLA. —(AP)—The nude, decapitated body of a girl, believed by police to be a brunette, 13 or 14 years old, was found lying in a dry creek bed west of here Wednesday with the letters R-A-T carved crudely into her chest.

An immediate search was launched for the savage killer, but no clues were uncovered. Claude Seymour, State Crime Bureau agent, said Oklahoma police are searching for a blood-stained vehicle which could lead to the murderer.

"Someone's car must be stained badly with blood from carrying this body to the creek bed," Seymour said. "When we find the car we might find the killer."

He also said there was an outside chance someone would identify "Brunette X" and give them their first clue in the baffling case.

"People have been looking at the body, give a relieved sigh, and say, 'It's not our girl,'" said Seymour.

Original plans for an autopsy were stymied when officers discovered Oklahoma University Hospital's two pathologists were out of town.

A physician who examined the body said he was unable to determine if sex was the motive.

The letters R-A-T were carved crudely into the chest of "Brunette X" with a pocket knife, Seymour said. Both hands were cut off; one foot was partly severed. Canadian County Sheriff Tiny Royse estimated she had been dead 24 hours when found.

J. P. Brooks of Yukon said he saw the body from his car as he drove along a county road. He went to a nearby farm house and called police.

Dishwater Skies Promise Continuation Of Showers

Thundershowers danced over the Midland vicinity Thursday morning and CAA observers at Terminal expected the light rain to continue into Thursday night.

Winds up to 25 miles an hour are predicted. But no dust is expected.

The CAA staff looked for general cloudy conditions to dissipate by 8 p.m. Thursday.

Midland had its rainbow late Wednesday but no rain. Showers fell to the east but dark clouds failed to drop any moisture on the city.

Elsewhere over the state, the Associated Press reported overnight, scattered rain along the Gulf Coast and in far East Texas. Palacios has 1.54 inches, Texarkana .65 inch, Lufkin .23, Galveston .10 and Beaumont .07.

Clear skies let a blistering, burning sun shine down mercilessly. Mineral Wells, Corsicana and Presidio reported 105-degree highs Wednesday.

The torrid 104-degree temperature at Wichita Falls, however, dropped 22 degrees in an hour when a rain shower struck.

As the drouth was off to a new, running start, there was little hope Thursday of any real relief.

Witnesses Report Missing Texan Seen In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS —(AP)— A Eunice, La., man said Thursday he saw Paul A. Harbaugh, Jr., missing son of a wealthy Texas rancher, Tuesday at a Eunice garage.

Three other persons said they saw Harbaugh in New Orleans Monday.

Officials at Keesler Air Force Base in Mississippi said Harbaugh has been absent without official leave since April 30. He last was seen by friends in New Orleans May 10.

But Wednesday, four persons told Paul A. Harbaugh, Sr., a rancher from Perryton, Texas, that they had seen the 21-year-old youth in the last three days.

The elder Harbaugh said, "I've been confident all the while that he's all right. It stands to reason that I would have heard by now if anything had happened to him.

"If we can get over the idea that he's not in serious trouble, he may just walk into this hotel room. I'm going to keep searching as long as I seem to be doing any good."

The father said R. C. Harris of Eunice reported seeing his son in a garage there having repairs made on a car. Harris told the elder Harbaugh that his son was with a younger boy and he thought they headed toward New Orleans.

C. T. Campbell, an unemloyed musician who knew the missing young man in Biloxi, Miss., told the elder Harbaugh that he saw his son walking down Bourbon Street Monday and yelled to him, but he did not stop.

Tommy Tompkins, manager of a New Orleans store, told the father he saw Harbaugh in his store Monday and the young man said he was working for an oil construction company in Baton Rouge.

J. G. Guelda of New Orleans told the elder Harbaugh he was fishing Monday on a seawall in Lake Pontchartrain and the young man spent a large part of the time with him.

Californian Found Shot To Death On Ranch In Martin

STANTON—Ralph C. Cramer, 56, of Long Beach, Calif., died late Wednesday of gunshot wounds in the head at a ranchhouse 15 miles north of Stanton. A discharged rifle was found near the body.

Martin County officials Thursday morning pressed their investigation. Official verdict was expected Thursday afternoon.

Cramer had arrived Sunday for a visit with his sister, Mrs. Harry Lester, and family of Big Spring. The Lesters own the ranch where the shooting occurred.

Cramer had been staying at the ranch. His body was found in the ranchhouse occupied by the Lesters on periodical visits to the ranch. Regular personnel discovered Cramer's body on returning to the ranch headquarters.

Cramer reportedly had been in ill health. A brother and the sister survive.

To Back Stevenson

DANVILLE, ILL. —(AP)— Senator Paul H. Douglas, one of seven Illinois delegates at the Democratic convention who did not vote for the nomination of Gov. Adlai Stevenson Thursday said the governor will have his "full support."

Says Shivers, Stevenson To 'Swap Hosses'

DALLAS—(AP)—Senator Richard Nixon, Republican vice presidential candidate, predicted here Thursday that the Democratic presidential candidate will make what he called a "deal" with Governor Shivers on the Tidelands issue.

Governor Shivers Wednesday said he would not support any candidate for the presidency "who believes in federal ownership of the Tidelands." He said he had asked Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson for an interview to determine Stevenson's views.

Nixon said Thursday, "If the Texas vote depends upon the Tidelands issue, I predict that the Democrats will make a 'deal' on the Tidelands.

"We (the Republicans) have a 'no deal'- candidate and General Eisenhower, long before his nomination, came out for state ownership of the Tidelands. That is a plank in our platform.

"The voter should trust the man who took a stand on an issue before his nomination rather than one who makes a 'deal' after he receives the nomination."

Senator Nixon predicted General Eisenhower will carry some Southern states, notably Texas, North Carolina and Virginia.

"Don't construe this to mean that I am excluding other Southern states, but these are the notable ones," he said.

"The chances of the Republican Party 'cracking the Solid South' are the best since 1928. There has been some talk among Democrats that the nomination of Senator John Sparkman of Alabama will heal the breach in the Democratic Party. They fail to realize that the only man who could have held the South solidly in the Democratic column was Senator Richard Russell of Georgia. Senator Sparkman is known as a Truman man and what we want to do is to prevent another four years of Trumanism."

Freak Mishap Kills Coach, Third Victim

WACO — (AP) — A high school coach and former football star, Robert Dennis Paulk, 27, died Thursday, third victim of flaming gasoline resulting from a freak traffic accident.

Earlier, his father, Jason I. Paulk, and a friend, Kenneth Brown, 15, died of burns suffered in the July 22 accident.

Paulk was assistant coach at Martin High School and a Summer athletic director in Marlin. He was a star guard and tackle on Waco High School football teams in 1942 and 1943, a naval aviation gunner and radio man in the Guam and Iwo Jima operations in World War II, and a graduate of Baylor University.

The accident occurred while the three were pouring gasoline from a can into the tank of a stalled truck. A spark from the collision ignited the fuel, the can exploded and the three were showered with burning gasoline.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Friday.

Construction Will Start Monday On Masonic Temple

Contract for the erection of Midland's new Masonic Temple was to be signed Thursday afternoon, and actual construction will be started Monday, Hank Avery, architect, announced late Wednesday following a meeting of the lodge's building committee.

The two-story building will be erected by Houston Hill, Midland contractor, whose general construction bid totaled $190,473. Contract negotiations have been underway the last week.

Charlene won the title over 32 boys.

Tobin Cancels Visit To City

Maurice J. Tobin, U. S. Secretary of Labor, Thursday advised the West Texas Chamber of Commerce he will be unable to visit Midland, Pecos and El Paso next week as previously announced.

The secretary was to have arrived here by plane next Wednesday to spend the night before filling speaking engagements in Pecos and El Paso August 7 and 8. It was announced that previous engagements in New Jersey prevented Tobin's coming to West Texas at this time.

Two other Labor Department officials, Michael J. Galvin, undersecretary, and W. S. Tyson, solicitor, will attend Mexican labor conferences scheduled in Sonora, August 2; Haskell, August 4; Littlefield, August 5; Lamesa, August 6; Pecos, August 7, and El Paso, August 8. The conferences are sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and other regional organizations.

Galvin and Tyson and West Texas Chamber officials are expected to spend next Wednesday night in Midland.

Detroit Man Is Millionth Draftee Since Korean War

DETROIT —(AP)— A typical 23-year-old—neither delighted nor grieved and leaving a sweetheart behind—Thursday became the millionth draftee since the beginning of the Korean War.

He is Arthur Weinfeld, and for a year he has been expecting this day—induction day.

With a resigned, "I might as well get it over with," Weinfeld volunteered for induction after his graduation from Wayne University in 1951. Detroit Draft Board No. 97 took up its option Thursday.

No. 1,000,000 is the son of Joseph Weinfeld, a tool inspector on war production work at the Hudson Motor Car Company. Waiting with the father for Art's return will be his mother, Vera, 49; his sister, Elsie, 15, and his sweetheart, Rita Beitner, 20.

At nearby Fort Wayne, Weinfeld went through what 999,999 others have since outbreak of the Korean War, what 2,810,296 did in World War I, and what 10,110,194 did in World War II.

Incidentally, Art found he had a second distinction. He was the 52,000th Michigander inducted since Korean hostilities began.

Negro Woman Foils Attempt To Hold Up Bank At Richland

CORSICANA —(AP)— An attempt by a negro to rob the First National Bank of Richland, 11 miles south of here, was foiled by a negro woman customer Thursday.

The negro, about 35, fled after the woman customer, Mattie Jones, ran screaming from the bank to give the alarm.

The robbery attempt was made at 10 a.m.

A Department of Public Safety official at Austin said road blocks were being thrown up around the Richland-Fairfield area.

He said the suspect last was seen heading south on Highway 75 towards Fairfield. The man was described as about 35, weighing 130 pounds, wearing a straw hat, khaki pants and khaki jacket. He was driving a light grey 1950 or '51 Chevrolet.

The robber approached the assistant cashier, Mrs. Dorothy Coker, saying he wanted to borrow some money.

Mrs. Coker referred him to Richards.

Richards took the man to the directors room, where the man again said he wanted to borrow some money.

He then took from his pocket a bag. Then he pulled a pistol and ordered Richards to put some money in the bag.

"I mean business — you put money in that bag," Richards quoted the negro as saying.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Jones entered the bank to cash a check. While she was at the window, Mrs. Coker broke and ran toward a back door, but the robber stopped her.

Mrs. Jones, realizing what was going on, then ran screaming from the bank. This frightened the robber and he bolted after her.

He attempted to stop the fleeing customer, then decided to give up the chase and fled toward Fairfield in a grey Chevrolet. Officers said it had a brown top.

Water Source Gains More For Farmer Than 11 Oilers

OLD GLORY, TEXAS —(AP)— There's a farmer near here who makes more money selling water than he makes from the 11 oil wells on his farm.

Moreover, Carl Hunt's water from just one spring-fed tank. The water is sorely needed by the oil companies not only for their drilling operations on his own farm but also in other parts of Stonewall County.

Hunt has been selling water to oil companies since June, 1950, which is just about a month before the first producing oil well was discovered in this West Texas field.

Oil companies furnish their own pumps and two-inch lines for taking water from the tank to their drilling rigs. Money paid for the water is clear profit.

Hunt isn't saying just how much money he's made selling water—except that his "water profits" alone have paid for his farm.

Hunt's cattle also drink from the spring-fed tank. At one time water was pumped from the tank to the city lake which supplies Aspermont, the county seat, when Aspermont's supply fell critically low.

Finally, Hunt has stocked the tank with channel cat, bass and crappies. When he has time, he goes fishing.

Arnall Says Every American To Feel Cost Of Steel Hike

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall predicts the new steel price boost will cost the average American family about $100 a year in higher prices.

Arnall said in a television interview that the $5.20 a ton price boost he signed reluctantly would touch off a new round of inflation.

He made it clear the steel increase was not his own choice, but was ordered by acting Defense Mobilizer John R. Steelman. Arnall said it was "a very, very bitter pill for me."

Earlier price control officials had said the cost of living, already at a record high, is almost certain to climb even higher because of "inevitable increases" in some major industries.

A top official said the higher steel ceilings probably will force the government to drop its hold-the-line price policy and center efforts on keeping apparently inevitable increases as small as possible.

He said it was hoped "some semblance of stabilization can be salvaged."

Officials were reluctant to discuss the new policies being considered, but they said the situation may call for a complete revision of stabilization standards.

Decision By Truman

This decision, however, probably will await President Truman's return to Washington August 5. Any drastic changes probably will have to get his approval, an official said.

Some of Arnall's close associates said the former Georgia governor may decide to quit as price chief in the wake of the steel price hike, because he considers some of his main weapons for controlling prices

Arnall and his aides fought bitterly to hold the steel price hike to $2.84 a ton permitted under the law and the existing price standards. Arnall has said that anything above that figure would break the price line.

OPS now is confronted with the demand of the aluminum industry for a price boost ranging from 10 to 12 1/2 per cent. A high official said Thursday he doesn't see how aluminum can be denied an increase in the face of the steel decision.

Walter A. Schulze, Phillips Research Scientist, Dies

BARTLESVILLE, OKLA. — Funeral services will be held Friday in Bartlesville for Walter A. Schulze, 52, a member of the Research Planning Board of Phillips Petroleum Company, who died here Wednesday afternoon, following a short illness.

Schulze, a widely-known scientist, especially in the oil industry, joined Phillips in 1929, and shortly thereafter became chief chemist for the company. From 1945 to 1950 he was assistant director of the chemicals division in the research and development department.

He was born in Steelville, Ill., and after attending elementary schools in Carlsbad, Texas, he graduated from the University of Texas, in 1925, and later took graduate work there and at the University of California.

He is survived by the widow; a brother, Raymond E. Schulze, of Amarillo; two sisters, Mrs. O. L. Jewett, of Chandler, Okla., and Mrs. A. D. Wimbley, of Vernon; the mother, Mrs. Katherine Schulze, of Bartlesville, and several nieces and nephews.

No Parallel Found In Sniping Cases

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— Ballistics tests show two guns were used in Tuesday's series of so-called "phantom sniper" shootings.

Sheriff's officers said Wednesday markings on the .22 bullet taken from the hip of Mrs. Vona Lauman, 24, San Gabriel, did not correspond with those on bullets found in the homes of two other women earlier that day.

Sheriff's Sgt. Ray Hopkinson said he believed the shooting of Mrs. Lauman while she was mowing her yard was "definitely intentional." However, investigators indicated the other two shots into homes on the same day may have been stray bullets from hunters.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE
Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.
Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Mr. and Mrs. David Leland Howard

Mr., Mrs. David Leland Howard Establish Residence In Midland

Mr. and Mrs. David Leland Howard are at home in Midland following their recent marriage in the North Side Church of Christ.

The bride is the former Jane Ann Curd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pleas Curd, 1308 South Terrell Street. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr and Mrs. I. J. Howard of Midland.

Carolyn Ann Curd, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a dress of pink satin and net. Bridesmaids were Alese Hillman, Midland; Phila Hines, Midland; Diane Harris, Lubbock, cousin of the bride, and Donna Howard, Midland, sister of the bridegroom. They wore pastel-colored dresses of satin and net.

Hobert Howard, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man. Royce and Bobby Howard, brothers of the bridegroom, were ushers and Gregory Fuqua was the ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Curd chose a navy sheer dress with white accessories.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the social room of the church. Mr. and Mrs. Curd and Mr. and Mrs. Howard assisted the couple in receiving the guests.

Mrs. Howard is a graduate of Midland High School. She has been employed here by the Texas Company. The bridegroom, also a Midland High School graduate, is employed by the Standard Oil Company.

Day Campers To Get Refund

Girl Scouts, wishing a partial refund on their Day Camp fees, are asked to be at the Little House between 2 and 5 p.m. August 20.

The request was made by Mrs. W. C. Madison, Day Camp chairman. The camp was called off earlier this week because of the number of flies in the area.

Any money which is not reclaimed, Mrs. Madison said, will be used to further the Scouting cause in Midland.

MIDLAND VACATIONERS

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Corser will leave Friday for a vacation trip to Dallas and Cherryvale, Kansas.

Council Chooses Date For Annual Flower Show

October 28 has been selected as the date for the annual Fall flower show to be sponsored by the Midland Council of Garden Clubs.

The choice was made Tuesday at a meeting in the home of Mrs. J. A. Koegler. Mrs. M. S. Dickerson will be chairman of the event which is to be held in the Midland Officers Club.

The Council also discussed plans to sponsor a program by Dorothy Biddle October 1. The program will be in two sessions, with "Decorating with Fruits and Vegetables" for the morning topic and "Holiday Decorations" for the afternoon topic. Tickets will be sold for the event.

Those attending were Mrs. C. K. Lowe, Mrs. R. L. Spencer, Mrs. Ed Shakely, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Butler Hurley, Mrs. W. L. Hull, Mrs. H. E. Rothrock and Mrs. R. M. Nugent.

MARRIAGE HAS UPHILL CLIMB

TRENTO, ITALY—(AP)—It looked like a real bright idea, something different, to get married way up in the Alps. So mountain climbers Franco Tinazzi and Bruna Tonolini, several days ago, hiked to a shelter 8,000 feet up for their nuptials.

They took along five other climbers as witnesses. The ceremony went off okay, but a sudden snowstorm marooned the whole party in the hut.

Injury Invites Painful Bursitis; Complete Rest Is Important

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written For NEA Service

The number of people who inquire concerning bursitis raises the question as to whether this painful disorder is increasing in frequency.

Perhaps no one can answer this question, but certainly a great number of people are suffering with it and are eager for information about it, particularly for any information which will lead to bringing them relief.

First, what is bursitis, and how does it differ from arthritis? Both are questions which many people want answered.

Bursitis is inflammation of the lining of those small pockets or spaces which lie near the joints, and there are many of them. Arthritis, on the other hand, is an inflammation of the lining of the joints' tissues.

One form of bursitis is fairly frequent—near the elbow, it commonly goes under the name of "tennis elbow." This appears to be the result of a sort of injury to the bursa from overuse.

"Housemaid's knee" is another form of bursitis. The bursa involved lies just back of the knee-cap and also is usually the result of injury or overuse. And as the name implies, it is comparatively common among those who must be on their knees a good portion of the time.

There are bursas in other places —all of which have perfectly proper scientific names and any of them can become inflamed.

As in the two forms mentioned, the most common cause of bursitis is injury—either by repeated small injuries or from one big one.

It is not unusual for bursitis to start suddenly with a good deal of pain and discomforts, as any one who has had it can testify. Frequently the bursa contains fluid, the area around it is tender, and motion around it produces a good deal of pain. Sometimes calcium is deposited in the bursa.

Bursitis often is easier to avoid than to cure. However, what to do for it once it has started is a real problem. When acutely inflamed, rest is particularly important and in order to make this as complete as necessary, a cast, splint or bandage often is used. Heat sometimes relieves some of the pain and tenderness.

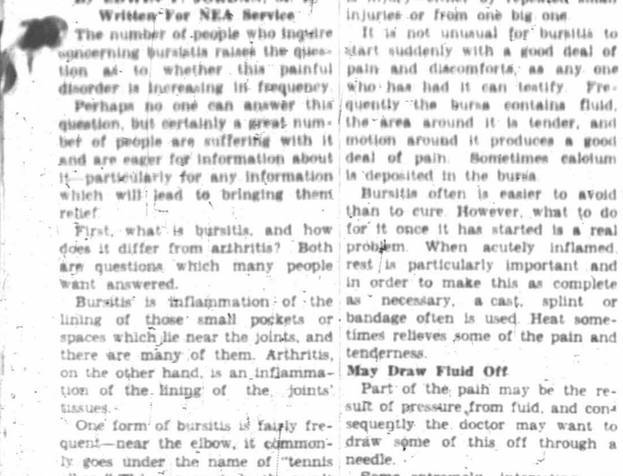

May Draw Fluid Off

Part of the pain may be the result of pressure from fluid, and consequently the doctor may want to draw some of this off through a needle.

Some extremely interesting results by spraying the skin with ethyl chloride have been reported by a New York physician, and there are other treatments which may be worth trying.

The acute phase of the bursitis subsides eventually but too often it turns into a chronic condition. This is distressing because a chronic bursitis is highly resistant to treatment. Deep X-ray helps some; injection into the bursa of various fluids may help others.

In resistant cases it even may be necessary to operate and remove most of the inflamed lining.

More Bad News For Britian

Poor and weakened England is in a bad way again. And it looks as if more bad news is yet to come.

After only nine months in power, Winston Churchill's Tory government already is knee-deep in trouble. Many observers on the scene believe that if a general election were held now, the Churchill government would lose. In fact, the latest poll puts the Socialists out ahead in popular support by 8.5 per cent.

The problems are many and varied. Some were inherited from the Socialist government. Others the Conservatives have brought upon themselves.

Britain's trade balance, vital to her very existence, is running more and more against her. Her dollar and gold reserves dropped markedly and might have dropped more except for support by America.

• • •

The Conservatives had great plans for bringing food prices down. But food prices have gone up. The much-heralded plan for denationalization of certain important industries has, to all intents and purposes, failed to materialize.

The Germans and the Japanese are cutting into British export markets.

To top it all, the popularity of Churchill himself appears to be suffering. Even members of his own party have been critical recently of the way the 77-year-old prime minister is handling things. They have suggested he either get out or at least share leadership of the government with younger men.

Against this melancholy background, Prime Minister Churchill has summoned the House of Commons for debate on "grave and far-reaching matters." Just what those matters will be is not definitely known. But a good guess would be some means of giving British exports a shot in the arm.

Whatever the outcome of the Commons debate, it will be of dollars-and-cents interest to this country. America for some time has been helping take up the slack in the sagging British economy. The chances are that we shall have to continue to do so in one form or another.

The question is how much slack do we have to take up and for how long a time? The results of the coming debate in Commons should provide at least part of the answer.

"I Quit!"

● The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: U. S. - Argentine relations approaching impasse; Senate to probe Kansas tax collector's operations; Former Truman attorney must explain hoarded cash.

WASHINGTON — Shortly before Evita Peron died, U. S. relations with Argentina had reached such an all-time low that eventual withdrawal of the American ambassador was under consideration. The low point occurred July 10, with the bombing of the Abraham Lincoln Library in Buenos Aires, an official U. S. Library operated by the State Department's cultural division.

The American public, engrossed in political conventions, knew almost nothing about this incident. And the Argentine police appeared to know and care even less. Although the explosion injured two U. S. employes and did $15,000 worth of damage, the Argentine government merely shrugged its shoulders over the official protest of Charge D' Affaires Lester Mallory. In fact, the Argentine Ministry of Foreign Affairs did not even answer his protest for a matter of three days.

Even in Moscow, American officials get more courteous treatment than the rude haughtiness handed out to U. S. diplomats in Argentina. Nor does the Moscow press go any further than the Argentine press in labeling Americans as "Wall Street imperialists," "Yangui Barbarians," and "warmongers."

Through all this, the State Department has continued to smile, a little stiffly it's true, and to maintain that the Peron regime was trying merely to divert domestic attention away from the sad plight of Argentine economy by taking it out on the U. S. A.

However, with the bombing of the Abraham Lincoln Library and the arrival of new U. S. Ambassador Albert F. Nufer, a stiffer policy is being adopted.

Three months will be given the new ambassador to work out a more reasonable Argentine attitude toward the U. S. A. If he does not succeed, it is more than likely that he will be recalled together.

Note—The death of Evita Peron may change the Argentine situation radically. With the end of her tremendous hold over labor and with the Argentine economic situation worse than ever before, there is almost certain to be a clash between labor and the military.

Kansas City Tax Collector

Senator John Williams of Delaware, the man who keeps the Internal Revenue Bureau continually on the buzz saw, is going to probe further into the interesting fact that Harold A. Lockhart, the collector of International Revenue from President Truman's home town and former attorney for the President, suddenly turned up with $39,400 in cahs.

Lockhart carried his large bundle of cash in 5, 10, 20, 50, and 100-dollar bills down to the Federal Reserve Bank in Kansas City on Nov. 8 [illegible] just a few days before he had to fill out a Treasury questionnaire regarding his assets and income.

He explained to John Phillips, Jr., vice president of the bank, that he had been keeping the money in a safe-deposit box for some years and further explained to Senator Williams on Jan. 13, 1952, that he had accumulated the cash over a period of 35 years because he had suffered a loss in a bank failure and had not trusted banks since.

Vice President Phillips of the Federal Reserve Bank reported that Lockhart's money "had the appearance of having been packaged for some time, and some national bank-notes were notched which have not been issuable for circulation since 1935."

Quizzed By Senator

Senator Williams, who looked into the matter, found that the only bank failure in which Lockhart was involved occurred in 1931, about 15 years after he claimed he had started to accumulate a cash hoard. Furthermore, the failure occurred to the bank in which Lockhart claimed to have had a safe-deposit box, which would have meant that he could have had to transfer his funds to another bank when the first bank closed.

However, Lockhart, when questioned by Senator Williams, could not remember changing safe-deposit boxes. The senator also asked him why none of the bills he turned in were large-size currency. At the time the government changed the size of the bills he would have had to turn in his currency, yet Lockhart could not remember doing so. Nor could he remember changing gold certificates when the government called them in.

Later it was disclosed that Lockhart had an active bank account all during the time he claimed he was afraid to make bank deposits. Finally, Lockhart was chairman of a three-state war-bond drive in 1942, during which he was asking other people to convert cash into government bonds.

Only on Nov. 9, 1951, just before he was called upon to fill out a government questionnaire on his assets and his income did he bring in $39,400 in cash and convert it into $24,400 in Series G bonds and $15,000 in Series E bonds.

The Internal Revenue Bureau has been asked for an explanation of the matter, but has made no reply. Lockhart formerly was President Truman's attorney when the latter was Jackson County judge, and was the first caller upon the President this week when he arrived in Kansas City from Chicago.

The Democratic leaders who put Adlai Stevenson across at Chicago had a genuinely difficult time getting him to stand still. They continually had to keep convincing him that he was being drafted.

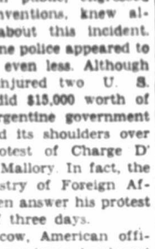

After Stevenson made the opening speech at the convention, he drove off in a car with Chicago boss Jake Arvey, who, noting the ovation given Stevenson, remarked, "You still think it's a phony draft?"

"I guess it's the real thing," Stevenson replied. "I guess I'm hooked."

That night he came back to the convention, however, and sat among the Illinois delegates where he saw various professional politicians working to push the Stevenson draft, among them ex-Senator Francis Myers of Pennsylvania, who had been appointed Stevenson's floor manager. Whereupon the governor told Barney Hodes, law partner of Jake Arvey, that he was going to issue a statement taking himself out of the race. Hodes immediately called Myers off the convention floor and warned him to desist or his candidate would issue a statement. Myers promised.

However, other Pennsylvanian delegates say that both Myers and Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh used the most powerful pressure tactics on the delegates all during the convention to whip them into line for Stevenson.

NEIGHBORS AID POLIO VICTIM

Neighbors and friends of Sharon Kay Eads, two, a polio victim of Midland, have initiated a fund to help defray the expenses of combatting the disease which has paralyzed her legs.

Sharon Kay is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Eads, whose trailer home is at 1610 South Big Spring Street. Eads is an oil field worker and his wife is a former city bus driver. They have one other child, Jimmy, eight.

Mrs. Joe Howell, owner of the trailer park, is handling the fund for Sharon Kay in that neighborhood. Leaders of the Bellview Baptist Church, where the Eads are members, also are coming to the young polio victim's assistance.

Sharon Kay is undergoing treatment at Hendricks Memorial Hospital in Abilene.

What sort of defense should you adopt when you have your trumps against declarer? If you ask the hundreds of experts now gathered in Cincinnati to take part in the annual national championships, practically all of them would reply that your best bet is to lead a long suit in order to make declarer ruff.

In today's hand, played in last year's championship, West was misguided enough to pick the wrong defense. What's more, he also made the mistake of doubling an unbeatable contract. The combination of the two mistakes gave declarer a top score.

If West had opened the king of hearts, he could have held declarer to four spades. This would have been no great bargain for East and West, inasmuch as West had doubled the game contract. Nevertheless, this was the best defense, and would at least have prevented declarer from making the overtrick.

When the hand was actually played West opened his singleton diamond, a poor choice. South won in his own hand with the ace of diamonds and led a low trump towards dummy. West ducked, hoping his partner had a high trump, but dummy won with the jack.

Declarer now took two more rounds of trumps with the ace and king, after which he returned to the diamonds. West could ruff with the queen of spades whenever he liked, but the only other trick he could make was the ace of clubs.

CARD Sense

Q—With neither side vulnerable, the bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1 Spade	2 Clubs	Double	?

You, South, hold: Spades 10-9-3-2, Hearts K-4, Diamonds K-Q-9-8, Clubs Q-10-4. What do you do?

A—Redouble. Something peculiar is going on, for it is almost impossible for each of the three other players to have the strength represented by his bidding up to this point. If one of the opponents is stepping out of line, your redouble will reassure your partner. It is quite possible that you can turn the tables by doubling the enemy when they try to get out of the trap.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the some as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades 7-3, Hearts J-10-8-2, Diamonds Q-J-9-8-7-6, Clubs 5. What do you do?

There's Touch Of Old Guard In Liberal Nixon's Record

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The great surprise in the Republican National Convention continues to be the selection of young Senator Richard M. Nixon of California as vice presidential candidate. He was General Eisenhower's personal choice. But behind that are a number of circumstances requiring fuller explanation.

Senator Nixon was a California delegate and cast his vote for Gov. Earl Warren as the state's favorite-son candidate for the presidency. But throughout the pre-convention maneuvering, Senator Nixon was Eisenhower's contact man with the Californians and was influential in trying to get pledges for Eisenhower votes to be cast after the delegation should be released by Governor Warren.

Senator Nixon's interest in the Eisenhower movement stemmed from a poll of Californian Republicans he conducted earlier in the year. To a mailing list numbering more than 10,000, Senator Nixon sent queries on preferences for presidential candidates. The replies came back overwhelmingly in favor of General Eisenhower, with Senator Taft a poor second and Governor Warren third. That is what supposedly converted Senator Nixon to General Eisenhower—and vice versa.

The publicly announced reasons for Senator Nixon's selection as vice presidential candidate were first, his possible appeal to youth, and second, his calculated appeal to the voters at large as a cleaned-up foe of communism.

Foreign Policy

As a bright and starry-eyed young progressive Republican, however, a careful examination of Senator Nixon's voting record in Congress reveals his qualifications as a knight in General Eisenhower's new crusade against the Old Guard.

On foreign affairs, since he got into the Senate two years ago, Nixon has voted pretty consistently in support of the Eisenhower point of view. In 1951 he voted against cuts of economic aid to Europe. He also voted against cuts in military aid. He was for the bill on final passage.

This year he voted five times against cuts in the Mutual Security program and was for the bill on final passage. He voted to add $22,000,000 to Voice of America funds. He voted to limit U. S. troops in Europe to four divisions. But he voted for universal military training and against limitations on the draft. He voted against cuts in U. S. defense and Air Force appropriations.

Previously, as a congressman in the lower House, he had voted against aid to Korea and voted for cutting arms aid to Europe. He was absent and unrecorded on the original Point Four bill to give aid to underdeveloped countries. He voted for all the "crippling" amendments to the reciprocal trade agreements program, but he voted for the bill on final passage.

Domestic Issues

On farm legislation he has voted consistently for cuts in the soil conservation program. He has voted to cut Rural Electrification loan and Administration funds. He was against raising school lunch programs. He sponsored an amendment to cut Department of Agriculture information programs.

On labor legislation, he voted for the Taft-Hartley law, voted for use of this law in the steel strike and voted for abolition of the Wage Stabilization Board. He voted for the Knowland amendment allowing unemployment compensation funds to be used against strikers.

On Social Security he voted to make public the names on relief rolls. In the House he voted against expansion of Social Security. He was for increasing grants to the states for child health this year.

He was against the slum clearance act of 1949 and against financial aid for housing cooperatives the next year. He was against increasing defense public housing programs this year. He has voted consistently to curb and limit rent control authority.

On six votes to close tax loopholes, he voted against four and was absent on two.

He voted for almost all amendments to cut Department of Interior funds for power and reclamation projects, but voted for the bill on final passage. But he voted against cuts in Bureau of Land Management funds, which would have affected California.

Q & A

Q—Do the tides ever move with the sun?

• • •

Q—What is an outstanding feature of Lake Nicaragua?

• • •

Q—Under what name did Jonathan Swift publish "Gulliver's Travels"?

A—Lemuel Gulliver. The book was written to make fun of men in high offices whom Swift disliked.

• • •

Q—Did Rachmaninoff ever become an American citizen?

A—Yes, in 1943, the year of his death.

• • •

Q—What two men, father and son, are responsible for preserving much of our American folk music?

A—John and Alan Lomax have traveled all over the United States with portable recording machines. They recorded over 10,000 of these songs sung by native singers in all sections of the country.

Summer Dream

By Irene Ernhart

Copyright 1952 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Laurie French, wonders why she really came to Indiana to spend the summer. She is engaged to marry a man in New York in October, yet she doesn't miss her fiance, she enjoys the company of her father, and a young school teacher named Steve Wyang.

• • •

IV

THE swimming hole was a deep pool half a mile downstream, where gravel had been taken out at one time. Steve had fixed up a rude diving board, weighed down at one end with sandbags. He'd hung a rope from a tree limb over the water.

The three of them were having a hilarious time. Steve was a powerful swimmer and Laurie's father was as agile as an urchin. Laurie herself put on a pretty good performance at the diving board. She felt Steve's eyes following her with admiration as she dived from the board with practiced ease.

"Whew," he said once, "you should have an audience, being able to dive like that. Where did you learn all that fancy stuff?"

"We have a pool at the place in Connecticut, and in New York we swim at the club."

"Oh." Steve's face was grim as he turned away from her and plunged into the water.

She was to come to know that look of grimness, or antagonism or whatever it was. She saw it on the faces of some of the customers who came into her father's hardware store when she first began to help out a little there.

"You don't need to come down to the store, even if we are short of help," her father protested. "Your mother would have a fit."

"But I want to," Laurie said stubbornly. Even though she knew that her mother would be horrified and Fletcher might disapprove, she found a queer sort of gratification in it. She wore an old pair of jeans and a white shirt and she got all dirty and disheveled sacking up nails and climbing up and down ladders hunting for hinges and things, but it pleased her no end when after a while people got over their antagonism toward her apparently and began to refer to her as "Louie French's girl."

It pleased her also to see the affection and respect with which people in Ridgeville regarded her father. How different her life would have been, she thought wistfully, if she had been allowed to grow up here with her father, or better still if her mother had never gotten the divorce.

Fletcher phoned in July, long distance from New York. He was going to London for the government and then to Rome. He wondered if she wasn't fed up with the "sticks" by now and ready to come home, marry him and go abroad with him.

"Of course not, Fletcher. I haven't had my visit out yet."

"Darling, I don't understand what the attraction is out there!" Fletcher's usually calm voice was edged slightly with anger. "According to Emmy your father is nothing but an old bore."

"Emmy doesn't know him!"

"I'm beginning to think I don't know you," Fletcher said. His tone was definitely one of anger now.

"Please Fletcher, don't be angry."

There was a long pause and then Fletcher said, "I'm sorry to be impatient, Laurie, but I miss you. Nothing's any fun without you."

After the conversation was over, Laurie thought about that one sentence. Fletcher missed her to the point of bitterness. And the appalling thing was, she didn't miss him at all.

• • •

SHE still was searching for the answer to the question as to why her feelings for Fletcher had undergone some sort of a change the night Steve took her to the Saturday night dance in Ridgeville. She found out a lot of things about Steve that night that she hadn't known before, and one or two about herself.

Her father raised his eyebrows when he heard she was going to the dance with Steve. "And what's he going to do about Evelyn?"

"Evelyn?"

"Hasn't Steve ever mentioned Evelyn Crane to you? Why they've been practically inseparable since she came to teach here a year ago. Steve sort of took her and her little boy under his wing. She's a widow and the boy isn't too strong."

So that explained Steve's occasional evenings in town and once in a while an afternoon, Laurie thought.

She decided to wear a little white tulle evening dress to the dance. It was pretty formal, but no one would notice because it was so simply made; deceptively simple in fact, but it brought out the incredible smoothness of Laurie's shoulders.

• • •

SHE sensed by the way Steve's eyes flickered when she came down the stairs that the dress was right. She was sure of it when she saw the envious glances that came her way when they reached the dance. There was one girl especially, a tall blonde who seemed unable to tear her eyes away from either Laurie or the dress. She kept staring, and after a while Steve took Laurie over and introduced her. It was Evelyn Crane.

"So you're Laurie," the girl said. "Steve told me a lot about you." There was no friendliness in her smile. "You've been monopolizing him this summer. Steve's other friends have hardly seen him at all."

"I'm sorry," Laurie said. An interested little group had gathered to eavesdrop around the three of them and Laurie didn't go on.

"You must bring Laurie to the carnival at the school next week, Steve." Evelyn Crane turned back to Laurie still forcing a smile. "Steve's putting on a magic act for the kids. My boy Johnny is just crazy about him."

Permian Basin Oil And Gas Log—

above plugged back total depth of 9,450 feet. The first Wolfcamp lime was topped at 9,300 feet. The Wolfcamp was not tested when it was drilled through.

Pennsylvanian Will Be Tested In NW Howard Venture

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Modesta G. Simpson, Northwest Howard County wildcat, 23 miles northwest of Big Spring and five and one-half miles west of the Vealmoor (Pennsylvanian reef) field, is bottomed at 8,987 feet in the Pennsylvanian lime reef and is taking a drillstem test.

This prospector topped the reef section at 8,905 feet. Elevation is 2,783 feet. No shows of oil or gas have been reported for the section of the reef so far penetrated.

On the top of the reef zone at 8,905 feet it is 190 feet low to the same marker in Sunray Oil Corporation No. 1 Lester, a deep dry hole one and one-half miles to the east.

No Shows Yet

Stanolind No. 1 Simpson has not yet logged any shows of petroleum which could be developed into a producing oil or gas well.

Location of this wildcat is 660 feet from south and west lines of the northwest quarter of section 21, block 33, T-3-N, T&P survey.

The prospector was started out to dig to 10,000 feet—or a test of the Ellenburger at a lesser depth.

Ramsland Finishes Clear Fork Oil Well In SW Scurry Field

Russell J. Ramsland of Midland and Associates have completed their No. 2-C Eiland as a pumping producer from the Clear Fork-Permian lime in the Diamond M multipay field of Southwest Scurry County.

The new producer is 13 miles southwest of Snyder and 330 feet from north and west lines of the southeast quarter of section 178, block 97, H&TC survey.

On completion test it pumped 22.04 barrels of 29.5-gravity oil, plus 39 per cent water in 24 hours. It showed a gas-oil ratio of 173-1. The pay section had been treated with a total of 10,000 gallons of acid.

Top of the pay is at 3,120 feet. The 5 1/2-inch oil string is cemented at 3,125 feet. Total depth is 3,285 feet.

Stanolind To Quit C-E Howard Tester In Dry Ellenburger

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1-A Snyder, Central-East Howard County wildcat is being plugged and abandoned as a failure.

Total depth is at 9,191 feet in barren Ellenburger. That formation made salt water and it did not develop any shows of oil or gas.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 20, block 30, T-1-S, T&P survey. It is four miles southeast of Coahoma and one and one-half miles northwest of the shallow Snyder field.

SE Andrews Test Drilling Ahead In Devonian After Core

Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation No. 1-23 Fasken, slated 14,000-foot Ellenburger wildcat in the shallow Midland Farms field of Southeast Andrews County was preparing to drill ahead from 11,250 feet in gray and white crystalline Devonian lime.

The prospector had cored at 11,225-250 feet. Recovery was 13 feet of the gray and white lime with no shows of oil, gas or water.

The core hole was to be reamed out to bottom and the project was to then resume drilling.

Devonian Topped

Top of the Devonian is at 10,920 feet. Elevation is 3,050 feet.

This prospector has logged some slight shows of oil and gas in several streaks in the lower Permian. It has not found any appreciable signs of making an oil well yet.

Location is 500 feet from north and east lines of the southeast quarter of section 24, block 42, T-1-N, G&MMB&A survey. It is 15 miles southeast of the town of Andrews.

SW Tom Green Gets Locations For Deep Tester

George W. Strake of Houston will drill No. 1-C Mrs. Lillian Seelig son Winterbotham as an 8,000-foot wildcat in Southwest Tom Green County.

Drillsite has been staked 660 feet from south and west lines of section 22, block 21, H&TC survey and on a 1,920-acre lease. It is two miles east and one mile south of Strake No. 1 Winterbotham in Southeast Irion County, opener and lone producer in the Dove Spring (Canyon) field.

Gray Sand Opener In East Runnels Flows 65 BOPD

Gilchrist Drilling Company No. 1 Donnie Mae Bomar has been completed as a flowing discovery from the Gray sand in East Runnels County.

It finaled for a daily potential of 65.25 barrels of 42-gravity oil, plus 25 per cent water, with gas-oil ratio of 1,450-1.

It is 2,310 feet from north and 1,650 feet from east lines of GH&H survey No. 49 and four miles southwest of Talpa.

Production was through a one-half-inch choke and from perforations at 3,408-10 feet. Pay was topped at 3,405 feet, elevation 1,810 feet. Operator fractured pay with 900 gallons.

Cherry Wildcat In Central Stonewall Finaled As Opener

A. W. & Blair Cherry No. 1 C. H. Mengel, project in Central Stonewall County, has been completed as a flowing discovery from a Canyon sand.

Bottomed at 4,423 feet, it topped the pay at 4,397 feet. On potential test it flowed 120 barrels of oil through a one-quarter-inch tubing choke, gravity 39.8. Gas-oil ratio was 480-1 and tubing pressure was 125 pounds. Production was through perforations at 4,398-4,408 feet.

Location is 330 feet from north and east lines of block G, B. F. Hodges survey and five and one-half miles southeast of Aspermont.

Honolulu, Signal Schedule Outpost To Hockley Pool

Honolulu Oil Corporation and Signal Oil & Gas Company spotted location for a one-half mile southwest stepout to production in the Ropes (Pennsylvanian) field of Southeast Hockley County.

It will be drilled as No. 7 J. E. Armes, 694 feet from north and west lines of labor 25, league 5, Wilbarger County School Land survey.

It is six miles south of Smyer and is to start by August 4.

Smith Field In Dawson Is Given 8,000-Foot Test

The Chicago Corporation No. 1-A L. L. Huddleston is to be drilled as an 8,000-foot Spraberry project in the Smith (Spraberry) field area of Central-North Dawson County.

Drillsite has been staked 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 1, block H, EL&RR survey and seven miles west of O' Donnell.

Operations are to start at once.

Oil, Salt Water Developed in DST At Sterling Test

Operator was running electric log surveys and awaiting orders at Austral Oil Exploration Company, Inc., No. 1 Ellwood Estate, wildcat in Central-North Sterling County.

A drillstem test was taken in the Ellenburger at 8,152-63 feet. With tool open two hours, gas surfaced in 13 minutes and oil in one hour and 34 minutes. It headed for 26 minutes through a 3/4-inch choke. No gauge ar estimate was made on the amount of oil during that period.

Choke was changed to 1/4-inch and the well flowed 10 minutes at the estimated rate of five barrels hourly.

Recovery was 145 feet of oil and gas-cut drilling mud and 1,600 feet of salt water.

C-S Kent Opener Is Completed For 287 Barrels Daily

Chapman & McFarlin Producing Company has completed No. 1 D. M. Cogdell, Jr., as a discovery from the Fuller sand in Central-South Kent County.

It was finaled for a 24-hour potential of 287 barrels of 38.6-gravity oil through a, one-half-inch tubing choke and from perforations at 4,538-4,588 feet. Gas-oil ration was 404-1. It is two and one-half miles east of the closest other production from the Fuller sand.

Cochran Wildcat To Set Pipe And Test

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1-C D. C. Reed, South-Central Cochran County wildcat, is preparing to cement casing on bottom at 12,664 feet in granite for tests of the Ellenburger, Montoya and Devonian through perforations.

First section to be tested will be the Ellenburger. The Devonian showed oil from 11,874 to 11,913 feet, while the Montoya showed gas at the surface and yielded 12,600 feet of oil, 2,000-foot water blanket and 70 feet of mud cut salt water on a drillstem test at 12,393-12,441 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 19, Harrison & Brown survey and four and one-half miles northeast of the Landon field. It is 18 miles southwest of Whiteface.

C-W Crane Wildcat Coring Ellenburger

Gulf Oil Corporation is coring below 8,091 feet in Ellenburger lime on its No. 11-E Estes, deep wildcat on the west side of the West Sand Hills (Holt) field in Central-West Crane County.

Operator took a two and one-half hour drillstem test from 8,045 feet to 8,070 feet. Recovery was 130 feet of gas cut mud, having a rainbow show of oil and 80 feet of salty sulphur water.

This wildcat is six miles west of the nearest Tubb production in the Sand Hills field and it is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 4, block B-28, psl survey. That makes it 10 miles northeast of Grandfalls.

Shallow Wildcat To Start At Once In Reagan Area

Brooks & Turner and G. H. Blankenship have staked location for No. 1 Sugg, a 2,200-foot wildcat in Northeast Reagan County.

It is to be drilled 562 feet from north and 787 feet from west lines of section 41, block A, TC survey and on a 40-acre lease.

Lowe Wildcat In NE Schleicher Fails On DST

Ralph Lowe of Midland No. 1 Reynolds, wildcat in Northeast Schleicher County, was being drilled below 2,615 feet in lime and shale after failing to find production on a drillstem test in an unidentified formation.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 57, block 1, GH&SA survey and 18 miles northeast of Eldorado.

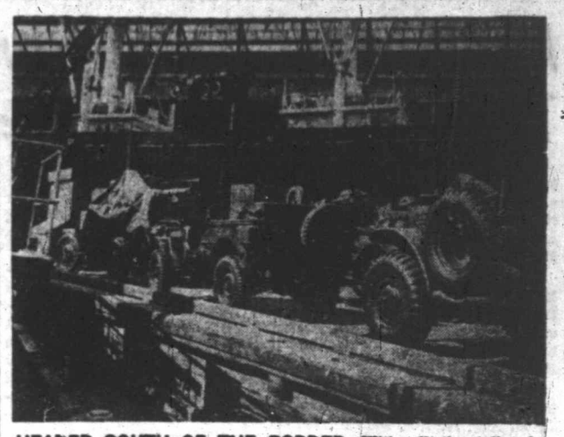

SE Runnels Tester Dry And Abandoned

Blackwell Oil & Gas Company No. 1-A Spreen, wildcat in Southeast Runnels County, has been plugged and abandoned at 3,754 feet in Caddo lime.

McCarthy, Sued For Million, To Strike Back Fifteen-Fold

HOUSTON —(AP)— Oil man Glenn McCarthy Thursday prepared to file a counter suit for more than $15,000,000 in answer to a creditor's suit filed Wednesday asking close to $1,000,000.

McCarthy said the suit, filed in United States District Court here by Dresser Industries, Inc., of Dallas, came as a complete surprise when he flew here from New York Wednesday night.

The petition alleges McCarthy is in default on 12 promissory notes, signed Aug. 19, 1949, each for $69,690.75. The petition further stated that the first of these was due Oct. 2, 1950, and that the others were due on subsequent months up to and including Sept. 1, 1951.

The notes were to cover the construction of the petro-chemical plant at Winnie for the McCarthy Chemical Company, the oilman said.

"I've been pushed far enough," McCarthy told a Chronicle reporter Thursday. "In my long career here I have never filed a law suit, but I believe the time has come for me to lash out and do something. As you know I don't make a practice of filing law suits, but I'm not going to sit idly by and let this thing go.

Says Plant Won't Work

McCarthy said there are three chemical plants in the Winnie operation—two built by other companies and the petro-chemical plant constructed by the Dresser Firm.

"The one installed by the Dresser outfit is the only one that has not operated properly — and it never has," he said. "From the very first it would operate maybe eight, 10 or 20 hours and then break down again. It was to have been built to operate on a continuous basis, but it never has.

"The company has been notified of this but nothing was done to correct the situation.

"The breakdowns were so numerous that we finally shut down that operation and I was willing to take the loss. But if they want to go to court, that's exactly where we'll go."

Commenting on an Associated Press dispatch which said Premier Aly Maher's reform cabinet in Egypt had changed an Egyptian law to permit foreigners to own 51 per cent of new Egyptian corporations, McCarthy said he'll wait a while to determine just what he will do.

In December of last year, McCarthy flew to Egypt to try to interest the Egyptian government in changing its laws so that the 51 per cent ownership could be made, the Chronicle said Thursday. If it was done, he said he intended to start an extensive drilling operation aggregating some $10,000,000 in Egypt.

"The only way my new company will go into a foreign operation is to get government underwriting of the project, which I understand can be done if the foreign country concerned will sign an agreement that the properties will not be expropriated," McCarthy said.

Asked if he would "push" this project, he said: "I believe I have enough to keep me busy for a while." Then added: "I believe I'll let them seek me out."

Convict Welcomes Shift From Texas To Federal Prison

HOUSTON —(AP)— A three-year respite from time in a Texas prison —although to be spent in a federal penitentiary—was welcomed Wednesday by a convict here.

Gene Gerald Theodoru, 23, was sentenced by Federal Judge Allen B. Hannay for driving a stolen car across state lines.

Asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed, Theodoru answered, "I'd like to get some federal time, your honor. There's some pretty rough treatment on the state farm."

Theodoru, who escaped Ramsey Prison Farm, May 13, still will have to complete a 12-year burglary sentence he was serving when he fled.

One of the three men who escaped with Theodoru, Robtrs A. Chick, 27, is still a fugitive.

Objectors To Learn Non-Military Duties

GRAND LEDGE, MICH.—(AP)—A two-week military training course for young men who do not believe in fighting will open here next Wednesday.

Attending will be 300 draft-age men from 48 states. Instead of learning how to fire guns they will acquire training to qualify for assignments to the Army Medical Corps.

The training program has been set up by the Seventh-Day Adventist Church. It is conducted with Army approval and assistance.

Eisenhower Plans Pow-Wow With Indians In New Mexico

DENVER —(AP)— Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, will attend the thirtieth annual inter-tribal Indian ceremonial at Gallup, N. M., August 10.

The general will fly from Denver to Gallup the day of the ceremony and return here by plane that night.

He will be met at Gallup Airport by Gov. E. L. Mechem of New Mexico, and a delegation of officers of the Indian tribes taking part in the colorful affair.

After lunch at the El Rancho Hotel, Eisenhower will go to the ceremonial stadium on the outskirts of Gallup to watch the pageant put on by 37 Indian tribes, mostly from the Southwest.

The general then will make a brief speech greeting the tribes, and—on the political side—probably will put in a plug for election of Republican senators and House members this Fall in the New Mexico and Arizona contests.

As the Republican standard bearer, Eisenhower has said he wants as much emphasis put on capturing control of Congress from the Democrats as on his own campaign for the White House.

Eisenhower held a long conference Wednesday with Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, who managed the general's successful campaign for the presidential nomination.

On Eisenhower's schedule Thursday were conferences with Gov. Val Peterson of Nebraska, Paul G. Hoffman, chairman of an advisory group to the national Citizens for Eisenhower Committee; and Jack Porter, GOP national committeeman from Texas.

BABY IGNORES TRAFFIC LIGHT

FORT WAYNE, IND.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hanson were nine blocks from Lutheran Hospital Wednesday when things happened.

"I just got through an intersection when the baby came," Hanson, a brick mason, said. "I picked the baby up and held her on one arm as I drove to the hospital. She was crying like mad by the time we got there. I sure don't want to go through that again."

A doctor finished the delivery job at the hospital entrance. Mother and seven-pound daughter, Jamie Daleen, her first born, were doing all right Thursday.

Oklahoma Governor Hails Shivers' Win

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)— Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas was congratulated on his primary election victory Wednesday by Gov. Johnston Murray of Oklahoma.

In a telegram to Shivers, Murray said:

"Your tremendous majority is proof that our Oklahoma's delegation was right in our fight to seat your faction at the Democratic convention. Please accept the congratulations of all my people for your grand victory and thanks for your steadfast and resolute courage in fighting those things that spell doom to freedom. We are with you."

Stanton Man Hurt In Oilfield Mishap

Clyde A. Carney, Stanton, was admitted Wednesday to Midland Memorial Hospital suffering from a head injury received in an oilfield accident.

Attaches said he was unconscious for five minutes following the accident, suffering from a deep head laceration.

The accident occurred when a catline slipped and a drawpipe struck Carney in the head, attaches said.

Father Robs Bank Of $2,000; Nabbed Within Few Hours

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)—Federal bank robbery charges were filed at Oklahoma City Wednesday night against Glenn Whitt, a 42-year-old Sapulpa man suspected of robbing the First Nationall Bank of Luther, Okla., Wednesday afternoon.

Whitt was identified by bank employes as the gunman who walked into the bank and out $2,000 richer.

He was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Paul Showalter and held in Oklahoma County Jail in lieu of $50,000 bond. He made no plea at the arraignment.

State Trooper Loyd Francisco and Bristow Police Chief H. T. Gay said Whitt confessed when a sack of money labeled "Bank of Luther" was found in his automobile. He was captured at a roadblock five miles west of Sapulpa at the intersection of U. S. Highway 66 and State Highway 67.

"I don't know what I was thinking about," sobbed Whitt as he was led handcuffed back to the bank. "I don't care for myself but I have a wonderful family. What will my two daughters think?"

He said he had girls 11 and 20 years old.

Whitt said he became desperate for money to save his business.

State Department Promotes Rubottom

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Roy Richard Rubottom, Jr., of Brownwood, Texas, Wednesday was named director of the Office of Middle American Affairs in the State Department Bureau of Inter-American Affairs.

Rubottom, former vice president of the State National Bank of Corsicana, had been deputy director of the office.

He joined the foreign service in 1947 and served in posts in Latin America and the State Department.

Reserve Bank Turns Spotlight On Angelo

DALLAS—(AP)—The Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas turns its spotlight on San Angelo.

In its 16-page monthly business review for release Friday, the Federal Reserve Bank devotes the first eight pages to stories and charts about San Angelo, an important wool, oil and banking center of Southwest Texas.

In the eyes of the Federal Reserve Bank, this is San Angelo:

"The atmosphere of San Angelo is distinctly western. Ten-gallon hats and cowboy boots are common sight. The streets are broad and buildings tend to be low. San Angelo has many new structures, reflecting the rapid growth of the past decade. Fine stores are particularly noticeable."

"San Angelo has had one of the fastest rates of growth of any of the larger cities since 1940," the Federal Reserve Bank noted.

Drouth Disaster Labels May Mark Four More States

By The Associated Press

The great drouth of 1952—felt months ago in Texas—was reported spreading over large areas of the South and Midwest Thursday.

Federal officials in Washington prepared to enlarge "disaster areas" to help hard-pressed farmers get needed financing. Large parts of Mississippi and Kentucky were expected to de designated disaster areas Thursday or Friday.

Tennessee was so designated Tuesday night. Previously all of Texas had been classed as disaster area. All or large parts of Georgia and Alabama expect the classification soon.

Drouth conditions, meanwhile, are being reported in New Mexico, the Carolinas, Louisiana and Massachusetts.

Lawyers Shift Date In Benton-McCarthy Libel-Slander Suit

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A skirmish between counsel for Senators Benton (D-Conn) and McCarthy (R-Wis) in a two-million-dollar libel-slander suit was reset Thursday for new grounds and a new date.

An announced agreement between the lawyers shifted a scheduled pretrial deposition hearing from Washington to Wheeling, W. Va., and switched the date from Friday to August 23. The date still is subject to further change, the lawyers added.

McCarthy is suing Benton in the U. S. District Court here, accusing the Connecticut senator of defaming him with baseless charges of perjury, fraud and deceit.

Deposition hearings are steps preliminary to trial, date of which has not yet been fixed.

Swedes Sentence Six Reds For Selling Defense Data

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN —(AP)— Six Swedish Communists were convicted of selling vital defense secrets to Russia Thursday and two were sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor. A seventh was acquitted.

Fritiof Enbom, 33-year-old confessed mastermind of the Soviet spy ring, and his chief accomplice, Jugo Gjersvold, both drew life terms at hard labor. The ringleader's younger brother, Martin Enbom, drew a seven-year sentence.

Others convicted and sentenced were:

Arthur Karlsson, 42, a Communist member of the town council of Halmsted in South Sweden. Karlsson, who arranged the elder Enbom's contact with Soviet embassy officials, received one year and eight months' imprisonment.

Fingal Larsson, 40, a railway worker, whom the government accused of sending regular reports to Enbom on railway security measures. He drew five years at hard labor.

Lilian Ceder, 31, Fritiof Enbom's girl friend, whom police charged operated a shortwave transmitter Enbom received from the Russians. She was given eight months but the court ruled the three months she has spent in custody since her arrest would count in this period.

The seventh accused member of the ring, acquitted for lack of proof, was Tage Wickstrom, 37, a clerk in the Army Fortification Construction Bureau.

The Enbom brothers and Gjersvold confessed. The elder Enbom, an editor and agitator, said he had collected military and industrial information for the Russians for six years, turning it over to Soviet embassy officials in return for cash.

He admitted giving the Soviets data on Sweden's strongest modern fortress, near Boden, 75 miles from the Finnish border. Other information collected included maps of secret military roads, forts and field fortifications, locations of transformer stations, ammunition and fuel dumps, and up-to-date lists of armaments and military equipment.

The Swedish foreign office sent a sharp protest last month to Russia charging that officials of the Soviet embassy in Stockholm had worked with Swedish citizens in Spying against this country. The note bluntly told the Soviets to stop espionage activities in Sweden. Russia rejected the note declaring that its embassy here had no connection with the Swedish spy ring. She added that the charges were inventions aimed at deteriorating friendly relations between Russia and Sweden.

The protest coincided with another sharp exchange of notes in which Sweden accused Russian jet fighters of shootin down two unarmed Swedish planes within a period of two weeks over international waters of the Baltic. Russia rejected that protest as well, adding a warning that any foreign plane caught straying over Soviet territory would be driven off—by gunfire if necessary.

If Voodoo Will Not Work, An Automatic Pistol Will

HOUSTON—(AP)—Voodoo charms that Mary White, 29, used to hold her husband's love failed, but his .380 automatic didn't.

The woman died of seven bullet wounds Wednesday while the husband, Junious White, 29, was jailed on a charge of murder.

The woman was shot down as she ran to a house next door to call police.

White surrendered to police after the shooting and told them his wife had practiced voodoo to make him love only her. He said she wore a knotted silk string around her waist, put a a can of lye under his bed and carried garlic in her purse.

Wednesday morning, he said, she threatened to put poison in his food. "So I went and got my .380 automatic," he said, "and when she ran out of the house I shot her."

HOW RIVAL ARMIES WILL STACK UP—When—and if—the six-power European Defense Community pact is ratified, the way will be cleared for a West German army, wearing uniforms of the UN's European force. It will make up the largest armed group facing Russia on the East. Opposed to it will be the highly organized "People's Army" of Eastern Germany, led by East German Security Minister Wilhelm Zaisser and taking orders from the Kremlin. How the two armies stack up in their respective potentialities is illustrated on Newschart above. The West German forces will carry heavy American arms and be organized on the U. S. model. They will be part of the six-nation European force to which France, Italy, Germany, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg will contribute. The Communist-sponsored East German force, with its individual blue uniform, is trained by Russians and led by former Nazi officers. Members attend classes in Communist doctrine two hours a day. A weak point in its morale and recruiting is the fact that young East Germans have only a grim choice—join the "People's Police" or dig in the uranium mines.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When Fleur Cowles returned home from South America recently she taught me a new kind of canasta that seems to have everybody in an uproar down there. The name of the game is "Cut-throat Canasta" and it's the perfect answer to the problem of giving three players a game that will be as interesting as the four-handed variety.

Each player gets thirteen cards, the regular number for a three-hand game. When drawing from the stock pile, each player takes two cards at a time instead of only one. Since only one card is discarded, everybody's hand gets bigger all the time.

Now we come to the most important feature of the game. When you begin a hand, you have no partner; each player is out for himself, and you-know-who can take the hindmost. But as soon as a player takes the discard pile the other two players become partners against him.

The effect is much more far-reaching than it seems to be. Most hands go to the end of the stockpile because it's usually quite difficult to meld out. During that time, two partners helping each other enthusiastically can usually run up a score of about a thousand points. Naturally, you can't take on two opponents if they are going to score a thousand points when you are going to score only a few hundred. So you don't try to take the first discard pile unless you are in position to score at least a thousand points by the time the hand comes to an end.

In practice, you take the pile when you can meld a natural canasta or two mixed canastas then and there. You're not tempted by a single mixed canasta, and you pay no attention to mere possibilities.

The discard pile doesn't tempt anybody until it's fairly juicy. By the time the pile contains about fifteen or twenty cards everybody is yearning for it, and probably everybody is discarding safely in the hope of getting it eventually.

Eventually somebody grabs it and proceeds to meld a bushelful. If that player is lucky (or skillful) enough to meld out right away, he catches the two opponents (who are automatically partners) before they can even get started. Fortunately, that is a very rare occurrence.

Army Denies Convicted General's Diary Contained Statements Quoted By Soviets

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Army says Maj. Gen. Robert W. Grow didn't write in his behind-the-Iron-Curtain diary all the statements Soviet propagandists said he did and that the Reds distorted many notes he actually jotted down.

The Army, in a surprise move Wednesday, said the Russians published portions of the general's personal journal in such a fashion that it appeared he pictures the United States as a potential aggressor when he really was referring to the Soviets.

As an example, the Army released excerpts from Grow's diary in which he said repeatedly he believed Russia felt that 1951 was the ripe time for war in Europe. The Reds, the Army said, twisted this to indicate America wanted to wage war in 1951.

"War! As soon as possible! Now!"

"We must learn that in this war it is fair to hit below the belt."

"We must understand that this was is total war and is fought with all weapons."

This unexpected twist in the year-old story of the diary Grow kept while military attache to Russia came one day after a court martial of eight top-ranking generals convicted him of keeping information improperly and of not safeguarding it. He was sentenced to a formal reprimand and suspension from command for six months — both deterrments to further promotion.

The Army said it hadn't made the disclosure earlier because publication of any portion of the diary text might have prejudiced the findings of the court martial.

Most of the general's journal will remain "top secret," the Army spo' esman said. He explained military authorities doubted whether the Soviet agent who stole the diary from Grow's room in Frankfurt, Germany, last year and returned it had time to copy all the pages.

Purported photographic copies of excerpts from the diary appeared in a bood, "On the Path to War," published in the Russian zone of Germany.

Egypt's Ex-King Declares Reported Wealth Big Myth

ISLE OF CAPRI—(AP)—Egypt's ex-King Farouk declared Thursday, "I am no longer a rich man." He denied he had sneaked out a fortune when he was ousted from Egypt and declared he had none tucked away in foreign banks.

Nevertheless, he added: "By the standards of the very poor, I am still to be envied."

Addressing more than 100 newsmen and photographers in the first public statement since he was toppled from his ancient Nile throne in a military revolt last Saturday, Farouk said he had made no plans about where to live out his life.

"Anyone who says I am going to the United States, England, Switzerland or Southern France, knows more than I do," he declared. For the time being, he told reporters, he intends to stay on this romantic isle off Southern Italy.

Runoff Looms In One Of Louisiana's Congress Contests

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—Dr. George S. Long, brother of former Gov. Earl Long, led a three-man bid Thursday for the two runoff berths in Louisiana's eighth Congressional district race.

Louisiana Democrats renominated five U. S. representatives who had opposition but one of them may encounter a contest over results.

In the third congressional district, Dudley J. LeBlanc's campaign manager declared "We definitely will contest the results" that gave the nomination to Rep. Edwin Willis.

Seeking his third term, Willis, with 252 of 253 precincts reported, led the veteran French Cajun country political leader 23,746 to 22,832.

The other four incumbents who won handily were Reps. F. Edward Herbert and Hale Boggs, both of New Orleans; Overton Brooks of Shreveport and Otta Passman of Monroe.

Rep. James Morrise not Hammond, in the Sixth District, was the only unopposed incumbent.

Future Farm Aid To Hinge On Conservation Measures

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The government's aid-to-farmers program next year will emphasize long-term conservative practices, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said Thursday.

Brannan called it a "farm-by-farm, first-things-first" approach.

He said the Agriculture Department will make every effort to see that assistance given under the '53 Agriculture Conservation Program (ACP) is directed to soil and water conservation practices that farmers on their own likely would not carry out to the extent needed.

"Emphasis again will be put on shifting away from those practices that—thanks to the success of previous programs—now are becoming established as standard operations on well-run farms, so that the funds and assistance may be used to carry out conservation measures that are over and above what farmers might be expected to carry out on their own resources and on their own initiative," Brannan said.

He added that farmers who cooperate in the 1953 ACP will be offered assistance only on those practices that will help them meet current farm production goals and at the same time help them keep their land in condition to meet the larger demands that a larger population will put on them in the years ahead.

Under the ACP, financed by a 250-million-dollar appropriation, financial assistance is given to farmers who carry out approved conservation practices on their farms.

The program in recent years has been under some criticism because payments were made for practices which normally would be carried out on a well managed farm.

BIG BANG for the Bored Car Owner

Have you ever driven a Buick SPECIAL?

Do you know how it feels to touch off the most powerful engine you'll find in any car of its pounds and price?

Do you know that it almost steers itself—holds its course like an airliner on the beam—even comes back on course after taking a turn?

Do you know that there's silken magic in its Dynaflow Drive*?

Do you know how many miles it can get from a gallon of gas?

Do you know that it has a Million Dollar Ride?

Mister, if you haven't found out such things, you're missing a lot of fun every mile you drive.

You're missing the fun—and comfort—of riding on four big, soft, easy-acting coil springs.

And it's nobody's fault but yours because—at the prices we're asking for this beauty—you can afford a Buick if you can afford any new car.

Drillers Bop Tribe 6-3; Jacome Loser

ARTESIA —(AP)— The Artesia Drillers exploded for four runs in the sixth inning to come from behind and take a 6-3 win over the Midland Indians here Wednesday night.

Pete Pichan's two-run double was the big blow in the frame. Also figuring in on the scoring was a leadoff double by Paul Halter, a pair of walks, a hit batsman, a fielder's choice and an Indian error.

The error came about when Jim Ackers tried a steal of home, didn't make it in time but jarred Catcher Frank Barbour loose from the ball to be safe with the final run of the big inning.

Bob Pressley, the second of three Artesia pitchers, took the win. Rooster Mills came on in the ninth to squelch a rising Midland rally to preserve the win for Pressley.

Midland Starter Eddie Jacome suffered the loss.

Midland opened the scoring in the first inning with two tallies. Earl Bossenberry led off with a walk and scored on Manny Temes' double. Temes came home on a single off the bat of Julio de la Torre.

The Indians moved out in front, 3-1, in the third when they scored a lone run. Singles by Temes and Pat O'Keefe and a walk to De la Torre loaded the bases. Temes raced home when a passed ball got through Driller Catcher Rudy Briner.

The game rocked along until the sixth, when Artesia moved in four big runs to take the win. They added another in the seventh for insurance.

The two teams will meet here Thursday night in the second of the two-game set.

Oilers Pounce On Dusters For Fourth Straight, 8-2

ODESSA —(AP)— A merchants' night crowd of over 4,000 fans jammed Oiler Park here Wednesday night as the Odessa Oilers took their fourth straight contest, 8-2, at the expense of the Vernon Dusters.

Lanky Fred Parker went the distance on the mound for the Oilers in gaining his fourth victory against only one defeat. The Oiler moundsman, however, had plenty of hitting support as his mates climbed on two Vernon hurlers for 14 safeties.

Two of the Oiler hits were consecutive home runs by Raul Dieppa and Manager Bob Martin in the second inning. Both came off the servings of Duster Starter Steve Lagomarsino, who had to have relief from Al Richardson in the fourth inning.

Odessa plated three runs in the first inning on five straight hits as Lagomarsino got off to a bad start. The two homers came in the second and then in the third, the league leaders counted two more on a pair of bingles, one a triple by Curt Schmidt.

Vernon tallied one run in the fourth and on a pair of hits and another in the sixth when Art Neal drilled a triple into deep right center to score the walking George Hayes.

Bill Cearley, former Roswell outfielder of this season, got back into an Oiler uniform after being gone two years and was able to get a pair of hits, including a double, in four tries.

The two teams end the two game series Thursday night, with Evello Ortega slated to pitch for the Oilers in quest of his 18th win of the campaign.

The score:

Broncs Slip By Braves For 6-5 Win

BIG SPRING —(AP)— Witty Quintana raced home on a ground ball hit to first base by Buddy Grimes to give Big Spring a 6-5, 10-inning decision over the Sweetwater Braves here Wednesday night.

The Broncs spotted the Braves four runs and finally pulled abreast in the seventh on a misplay.

Errors on the part of both teams marred the game. A miscue set up the winning run for the Steeds in the extra inning.

The winning hurler was Bert Estrada, who came on to spell Bertie Baez in the third and hurled fine ball the remainder of the way. He struck out 10 in his stint.

The Braves hopped out in front in the first inning when the Bronc defense fell part. The visitors combined two errors with hits by Warren Sliter and Ernie Cortez for a brace of runs.

Sweetwater added two more in the third on blows by Sliter, Chino Bernal and Kenny Hughes, coupled with another Big Spring boot.

The Braves wound up their scoring in the fifth when Bernal, who had walked, eventually came in on a safety by Hughes.

The Broncs had 15 runners stranded and never could get rolling until the sixth, when they plated three runs and got rid of Dean Higgins, who had been wild throughout.

Quintana had reached first in the tenth with a walk and advanced to second when Grajeda threw erratically to second, after accepting Pat Stasey's ground ball. From there, he moved to third on another wild toss to second by Grajeda.

The score:

Ralat's Five-Hitter Gives Roswell 3-0 Win Over San Angelo

ROSWELL —(AP)— Milton Ralat side-armed San Angelo into submission with a five-hit performance here Wednesday night as the Roswell Rockets shut out the Colts, 3-0, in the first of a two-game series.

The little moundsman kept the Colts' five bingles well scattered, no more than one in an inning, and was in control in the clutch to cut off San Angelo threats that didn't materialize.

Other San Angelo threats to the shutout came in the third and final inning when the colts left two men on each time. They left a total of nine stranded on the bases.

The score:

Amarillo, Borger Move Into Deadlock For Fourth Place

By The Associated Press

Amarillo and Borger moved their deadlocked fight from fifth to fourth in the West Texas-New Mexico League when both took victories and Lamesa faltered.

It was Borger who stopped Lamesa, 8-7, and the tied pair moved one percentage point ahead of the Lobos.

Amarillo bopped Lubbock, 12-2.

Dub Akins homered in the eighth to break a 4-all tie and give Abilene a 5-4 victory over Clovis, the league leader.

186 Golfers Start Play In Greatest Show On Earth

CHICAGO —(AP)— Golf's greatest show on earth, George S. May's $120,000 Tam O'Shanter marathon, opened Thursday with 186 pros, amateurs and women teeing off in the $300,000 All-American tourney.

The All-American, a three-in-one medal play event over 72 holes, actually is just a gay overture before the curtain lifts on Tam's $90,000 "World Championship of Golf" starting next Thursday.

Although 129 American and foreign pros are swinging for the All-American top prize of $3,420, they'll be swinging even harder for the $25,000 first, $12,000 second and $5,000 third "World" prizes.

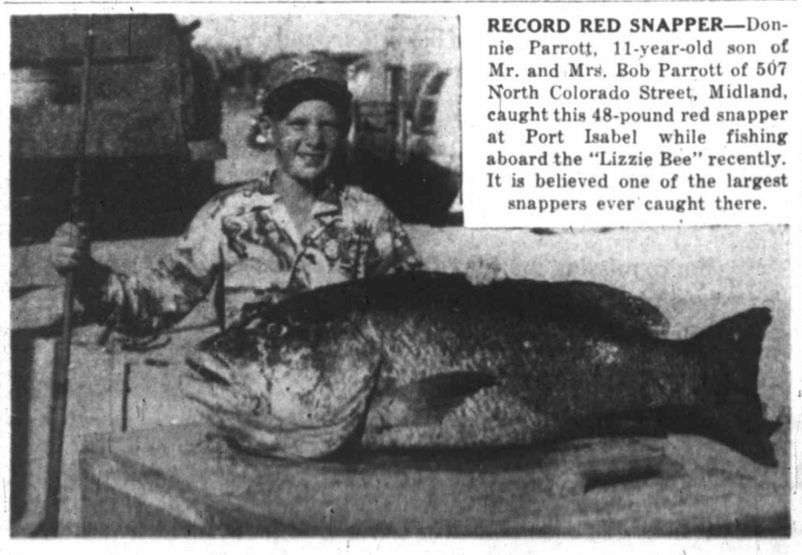

In the All-American amateur division are 29 contenders, headed by Defending Champion Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, while 28 gals, among them 11 pros, will shoot for the All-American women's open crown vacated by ailing Babe Zaharias. The winning feminine pro collects $1,000.

Promoter May has rounded up a field he deems complete without the presence of Ben Hogan and the British Open champ, Bobby Locke.

May, in effect, told Hogan and Locke to stay away when they asked for appearance money in the All-American. But it's possible, when the lads start paralaying pars and birdies for the big "World" dough, Locke and Hogan may be in the thick of the fray.

Cary Middlecoff, 1952's leading money-winner with $13,506, is defending All-American champion. He won last year with 274, topping Tam's par by 14 strokes.

The Memphis dentist will find the competition thick and heavy from such contenders as U. S. Open Champion Julius Boros, PGA titlist Jim Turnesa, Masters winner Sammy Snead, and Western Open king Lloyd Mangrum, twice an All-American winner.

RECORD RED SNAPPER—Donnie Parrott, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Parrott of 507 North Colorado Street, Midland, caught this 48-pound red snapper at Port Isabel while fishing aboard the "Lizzie Bee" recently. It is believed one of the largest snappers ever caught there.

ALL FOR NOTHING—Bobby Thomson of the New York Giants slid home for nought against the St. Louis Cards in this bit of action at the Polo Grounds. It was no score and no out because an attempted bunt by Sal Yvars (7) went foul. The Cardinal catcher is Del Rice, and the disinterested umpire is Jocko Conlon. Bobby had to go back to third. (NEA)

Ocee Indians Scalp Sports For Eighth Win In 10 Contests

By The Associated Press

The Oklahoma City Indians, murderous at bat but massacred on the mound, have found their happiest hunting grounds right in their own back yard. They scalped their eighth foe in 10 games Wednesday night during the present Texas League stand.

The second best hitting club in the loop, the Indians have bounced up and down the standings from top to bottom, despite boasting only one top pitching record, Vern Kennedy's 7-2. After winning, 3-1, over Shreveport Wednesday night, the Braves now claim the best loop record over the last 10 games and hold fourth place only three games from first.

The top three clubs lost: Front-runner Dallas, 4-3, to San Antonio in 10 innings, Fort Worth, 1-0, to Houston, and Shreveport to the Indians.

Twin-Bill Closes Regular Softball Season Thursday

In the last regularly scheduled games in the JayCee Softball League before the playoffs, the Independents will meet Rendezvous Thursday night in the opening game of a twin bill, with Continental slated to oppose Shell in the nightcap. The games will be played at Wadley Park, starting at 7:45 p.m.

In the opening contest, Rendezvous must salt away its game with the Independents in order to tie Phillips for fourth place in the league standings. However, they are not expected to experience any difficulty with the cellar-dwelling Independent nine.

Toeing the rubber for Rendezvous in the initial contest will be Jack Smith (6-5), while Dave Collins (0-4) will be his mound opponent. If Rendezvous wins, it will play a one-game, "sudden death," playoff battle with Phillips at 7:45 p.m. Saturday to determine the fourth-place winner.

In the second contest Thursday night, Durwood Patton will toil on the hill for Shell with Bo Wise (1-8) scheduled to work for Continental.

Results of Wednesday night's twin bill saw Phillips trounce the Independents, 14-5, in the lid-lifter to cinch at least a tie for fourth place. In the nightcap, league-leading Standard of Texas smothered runner-up Western Plastic, 7-2, behind the six-hit hurling of unbeaten Milt Montgomery.

In chopping down the Western Plastic crew, Montgomery notched his eleventh consecutive win of the season against no defeats. Lefty Martin worked on the hill for Western Plastic and was charged with the loss.

After scoring two runs in the first inning, Standard never was headed and cinched the game in the third stanza with a four-run outburst, adding a lone marker in the sixth.

Western Plastic's only two runs came in the sixth inning.

Pacing Western Plastic hitters was Rook Hoskins with two singles in three trips to the plate. Sherrod led the loop leaders at the plate with two hits in three times at bat. Bernard Selle smacked a home run for Standard in the third inning with one man aboard.

With Thursday night's game slated to end regular season play in the league, the teams were to rest over the weekend for the championship playoffs which are to start next week.

Opening up the playoffs for the City Softball League championship will be the first and fourth-place teams in the best two out of three games. The second championship series will see the second and third-place winners competing against each other.

The winners of these two series will play a three-out-of-five series for the city title.

Awards and trophies will be presented to the winning teams after the final game of the playoffs.

SKIPPERS PICK ALL-STAR NINE

JayCee Softball League managers are in the process of selecting an all-star team from the eight squads in the League.

The squad will be comprised of eight players and three hurlers. The Managers also will vote on the player who they consider the most valuable in the League.

Names of players who make the all-star nine, as well as the most valuable player, probably will be announced Monday night.

REGISTERS ACE ON BLIND HOLE

GROSSINGER, N. Y.—(NEA)—Alan Skurnik did something no other golfer has been able to do here in 24 years.

The Newton, Mass., shot-maker sunk a hole-in-one on the blind 304-yard twelfth hole of the Grossinger club course.

Skurnik could not see the par four hole from the tee because of a hill hazard.

Girls Softball Team To Contest Andrews

The Harry Rhodes girls softball team of Midland will play the Piggly Wiggly Grocery Store team at Andrews at 8 p.m. Thursday, Claude Wilson, new team manager, announced Thursday.

Yanks Lose Again; Dodgers Trim Bucs

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Robin Roberts is proving his right to the title—best pitcher in the National League.

While Philadelphia leads the rest of the nation in going wild over little Bobby Shantz of the A's, Roberts quietly piles up wins for the Phillies.

Shantz probably will beat him to the 20-win post for he goes after No. 19 Thursday in Detroit, but Roberts won't be far behind. He leads the National with 16 wins after Wednesday night's 7-3 success against Cincinnati.

The Phils continued their surge in the National with a sixth straight over the Reds on a wild, six-inning rally in the eighth. Willie Jones' three-run homer featured the attack. Willie also hit a homer in the seventh.

Brooklyn snapped its five-game losing string, shading Pittsburgh, 4-3, in the tenth on Carl Furillo's first hit in 16 times at bat. The victory added a half-game to the Dodger lead, now measuring four and one-half games, after the runnerup Giants split a twi-night doubleheader with Chicago. The Giants won the opener, 10-6, taking advantage of three Cub errors to score four in the eighth, but Hank Sauer's twenty-fifth homer helped Johnny Klippstein take the second, 6-2.

Spahn Cools Cardinals

Warren Spahn cooled off the sizzling St. Louis Cards as Rookie Ed Mathews hit a two-run homer off Joe Presko for a 2-1 Boston triumph. Stan Musial's fourteenth homer was one of the Cards' seven hits.

The New York Yankees lost, 7-0, to Chicago but their American league lead remained at three games because Cleveland also fell before Boston, 5-4. The Red Sox's triumph over Bobby Feller left them in third place, only three and one-half games off the pace.

Washington ended a four-game losing streak, whipping St. Louis, 6-2, on Bob Porterfield's five-hitter, to pull within five and one-half games of the Yanks. Allie Clark's two doubles drove in all the runs for the Philadelphia in a 4-3 squeaker with Detroit.

Monte Irvin To Play Again Friday Night

NEW YORK—(AP)—Monte Irvin, pronounced fit for return to duty, will get his first starting chance of the 1952 season Friday night when the New York Giants engage the Pitsburgh Pirates.

In making the announcement, Manager Leo Durocher said he was yielding to Irvin's plea to "get back in there" right away.

"What are you going to do with a guy like that?" asked Durocher.

"Since I let him pinch-hit last Sunday and he came through with a hit, he's been after me to let him play every day. Any other guy would have been out for a full year with what he had, and maybe forever. But here it is, only three months later, and he's raring to go.

Injured April

"What can I do? I've got to let him play. So he goes Friday."

It was on April 2 that Irvin suffered a multiple fracture of his right ankle while sliding into third base in an exhibition game in Denver. At the time they despaired of Monte ever playing again. At best, they said, he might be able to resume his playing career next season.

"I heal fast," said the undismayed Irvin as he lay in a hospital cot with his encased right leg supported by pulleys. "I got good bones. I'll be ready to play by August 1."

Even Irvin didn't realize then what a crystal gazer he was to turn out to be. For that is the exact date Monte is slated to make his first start.

What prompted Irvin to ask for a starting chance was the announcement made by Dr. Harrison L. McLaughlin of Medical Center following an examination of the injured leg.

"The broken bones have knit perfectly," the doctor announced. "And in all respects Irvin has made a highly satisfactory recovery."

TROPHY DUE ON AUGUST 16

That opening day attendance trophy which the Midland Indians won way back at the start of the season will be officially presented the Midland club here August 16, according to Horace Busby, business manager for the Midland Indians.

The presentation will be made by Hal Sayles, president of the Longhorn League.

The Tribe will play the Odessa Oilers August 16.

Kermit Man Beaten In Pike's Peak Play

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO. —(AP)—Monte Sanders of North Texas State College shot a hole-in-one in the opening round of match play Wednesday in the fifth annual Pike's Peak Golf Tournament.

The ace of the 150-yard sixteenth hole squared Sanders match with Skid Pirtle of the University of Denver. Sanders won the next two holes to take the match.

In other matches, Don Addington of Dallas defeated Jack LeBlond of Wichita, Kan., 4 and 3, A. L. Little of Childress lost, 4 and 3, to Dr. Tom Messinger of Colorado Springs. Defending Champion Jimmie Phelps of Colorado Springs beat Mal Douglas of Pampa, 5 and 3.

Paul Ransom of Colorado Springs defeated Jerrell McLaughlin of Electra, Texas, 6 and 5. Bud Abbott, Borger, defeated Top Davis, Kermit, 2 and 1. Bob DeWitt, Colorado Springs, defeated Jack Parr, Electra, 6 and 5.

Jim Walker Shows Way In Swatting

With a phenomenal .530 batting average, Jim Walker of the Western Plastic Softball team here continues to lead the JayCee Softball League in batting.

However, with the season nearing its end, Walker must come to bat four more times officially in order to become eligible for the league's batting trophy. A player must come to bat 38 times officially in order to qualify.

Trailing Walker in the loop's averages is Bernard Selle of Standard of Texas. Selle is hitting .490. He has been up 53 times and has collected 26 hits.

Topping the loop's hurlers with a clean slate is Milt Montgomery of Standard of Texas. Montgomery has swept to 10 victories while losing none.

In the runner-up spot is Lefty Martin of Western Plastic who has a 7-1 record on the mound.

Other individual league leaders as of July 26 include:

Most runs, Bernard Selle, Standard of Texas, 34; most hits, Robert Evans, Standard of Texas, 24; HR—Selle, Standard of Texas, six; 2B—Rabbit Spears, Phillips, five; 2B—Selle, Standard of Texas, eight; total bases, Selle, 54, and pitchers with the most strikeouts, Milt Montgomery, Standard of Texas, 54.

JayCees To Meet Black Indians In Thursday Contest

A return clash will be played between the Midland JayCee semi-pro baseball team and the Midland Black Indians at 8:15 p.m. Thursday at Indian Park.

In an earlier close affair, the JayCees edged the Black Indians, 11-8.

Both teams will be star-studden with ex-pros and fans should see some excellent diamond action, JayCee officials said.

Tommy Phillips, quarterback for the Carver High School football team, will be behind the plate for the Black Indians, with John Hall on the mound.

Bob Moser or Al Allison will catch for the JayCees, with Emil Ogden or Leon Hays on the mound.

Legion Nines Here Set Game Saturday

In concluding the American Legion season here, the league-leading Westerners will team up with the cellar-dwelling Eagles Saturday night at Indian Park to play a combination of the second-place Hornets and the third-place Brooks Store nine.

The Legion nines elected to stage such a game instead of the regular playoffs to conclude their season.

The game will start at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Queen Juliana has authorized the Netherlands Baseball League to use the prefix "Royal," thereby giving regal recognition to the sport.

Little Leaguers Here To Launch District Tourney

Starting next week, two Midland Little League teams will swing into action in District Three playoffs, along with teams from Odessa, McCamey and Crane, to determine who will represent the district in the regional playoffs in Midland August 13-15.

Competing in the Region Seven, Section Four tourney at Midland will be winners in each of the seven districts.

The district in which the two Midland squads are entered is comprised of two teams from Midland, two from Odessa, one from McCamey and one from Crane.

In the opening game of District Three play, the Midland North Little Leaguers will play the Odessa American Leaguers in Odessa; the Odessa National Leaguers will play Crane in the second tilt of the playoffs in Odessa, and the Midland South Little Leaguers will play Crane in the final game in Midland.

To determine the final winner in district three, the winner of game number one will play the winner of game number two and the winner of the latter contest will play the winner of game number three for the title.

The District Three winner will play in the regional tournament at Midland, along with winners from Districts One through Seven.

District Two—Two San Angelo leagues and Del Rio.

District Three—Two Odessa, two Midland, McCamey and Crane.

District Five—Clovis, Portales, Tucumcari and Plainview.

District Six—Two Santa Fe leagues, two Las Vegas, Farmington and Grants.

District Seven—Four El Paso leagues and Fabens.

Regional winners will enter competition at Longview August 20-21, while the winners there will compete in the Little League World Series at Williamsport, Pa., August 26-30.

Merry Berri Upsets West Coast Queen

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— The old and esteemed Women's Western Amateur Golf Tournament enters the quarter-final stage Thursday, and the heroine of the affair still was a 18-year-old from West Virginia, Berri Long.

The field of eight still listed golfers of wider fame and past achievement, notably Polly Riley of Texas, Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, Pat Lesser of Seattle and Mary Lena Faulk of Georgia.

But merry Berri retained the fancy of the gallery at the Los Angeles Country Club. It started when she dethroned Defending Champion Marjorie Lindsay two days ago, and it reached the sensation stage Wednesday when she defeated favored Mrs. Lyle Bowman of Richmond, Calif., the former Carol (Babe) Preese of Portland, Ore.

Riley Marches On

Mrs. Kack Damerel, Glendale, Calif., defeated Mrs. Keith Pattengill, Los Angeles, 2 and 1.

Pirate Farm Hand

PITTSBURGH — (NEA) — Cal Hogue, who beat the Phillies, 2-1, on four hits in his bow with the Pirates, was in the chain five years.

Mashburn Initiated By Colorado Group

Jack I. Mashburn, counselor and dean of students at Midland High School, has been initiated as a member of the Alpha Mu Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, professional education fraternity at Colorado State College of Education at Greeley, Colo.

Mashburn is attending the college's Summer session, where he received both the bachelor of arts and masters of arts degrees.

Pony Leaguers Leave For Austin Tourney

A group of happy Pony League All-Stars piled into cars here Thursday for a trip to Austin and the State Pony League All-Star tournament.

The Midlanders, composed of boys aged 13 and 14, gained the right to enter the state playoffs by dusting off an Odessa all-star team in a three-game series.

And they did it in convincing fashion, walloping the Odessans, 8 to 1, in the first game behind the hurling of tall Jim Owens, then coping the second tilt, 19 to 6.

The Austin, they will meet the winner of a Kilgore-San Antonio game at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Their hopes in the state tourney will ride with the right-arm slants of outgrown Jim Owens, a six-foot, one and one-half inch-youngster who whips the ball across the plate with gusto.

The youngsters were to make the trip in a Midland American Legion bus but arrangements fell through at the last minute and they had to rely on cars.

The Pony Leaguers were accompanied by their managers, Bill Nutto and Boyd Crain president of the Pony League, Ray Protzman.

More Olympic Records Fall

Boxing Bouts Farce, Says U. S. Scribe

But, brother, whatever we've seen in the Garden can't hold a candle to some of the goings-on in this amateur clout carnival. This show is supposedly put on to determine the world's best amateur boxers. If you've had that idea, you're wrong.

They've got a yard-long string of don'ts to follow. And they follow it right into the Gulf of Finland. The United States has seven men in the quarter-finals of the tourney, the same number as Russia. The pugs of the two countries might get their eagerly awaited swings at each other—maybe. It's up to the refs.

Follow The Book

They follow the book and add some refinements of their own. They can toss a fighter out just like that and they do. The book says you can't hold, you can't wrestle and throw in a clinch, you can't hit with an open glove, the inside of the glove, the wrist or the side of the hand; you can't duck below the waits of an opponent; you must not offer a completely passive defense by means of double-cover, etc., etc., etc.

The holding ban is a lulu.

We've seen fighters knocked dazed to the floor several times. Every time they would get up they would try to grab hold of thir opponents to get a chance to recover. The moment they do that the ref steps in, points a finger at the stricken boxer, who can't see or hear him in the first place, and warns him to cut it out.

Wednesday night, Vasila Tita, a Romanian with a deep gash over his right eye and on the verge of losing because of it, swooned to the canvas, clutching his stomach after he had been belted on the chin by Nelso de Paula Andrade of Brazil.

Several minutes later, the befuddled Brazilian learned he had been disqualified for butting the Balkan "Phainting Phil Scott" in the stomach. The night before another Latin American lost a decision after flooring his man and hitting him too hard and often, it seems.

TEXAN STRICKEN AT OLYMPICS

Dr. Harry McPhee, the U. S. team physician, said the ulcer developed bleeding and he ordered Littlefield to the hospital.

The doctor said he felt sure an operation would not be necessary and that Littlefield would be able to return home in four or five days.

The Texas coach was scheduled to accompany an American track team to Germany. The doctor said Littlefield now will have to abandon that project.

Saxton Decisions Honeybear Akins; To Meet Castellani

CHICAGO —(AP)— Johnny Saxton, a muscular, power-punching 23-year-old negro from New York, will risk his undefeated record against Rocky Castellani, a classy middleweight, on September 3.

The match was in the International Boxing Club's bag even before Saxton entered the Chicago Stadium ring Wednesday night and pounded out a unanimous decision over Virgil (Honeybear) Akins of St. Louis.

It was his thirty-second straight triumph and Akins' first loss after four impressive knockout wins this year.

Saxton, outweighing the No. 3 lightweight contender 147 to 138, used the nine-pound pull to wear Akins down starting with the sixth round. Up to that point, the St. Louis slugger with the vicious right smash gave the nifty New Yorker trouble.

U. S. Woman Catches Record Size Fish

This is the largest fish ever caught by a woman and the eighth largest ever taken on rod and line.

Mrs. Fay Crowder boated a 698-pound swordfish, Mrs. S. K. Farrington, Jr., a 659-pounder, breaking her own then high mark of 630, which had stood for just two days under 11 years.

At these fabulous fishing grounds off the west coast of South America, the record goes up and up.

SPORTS NOTES from the BENCH JOCKEY

By BOB ADAMS

With the month of July about to become history and the season of Autumn a scant six weeks away now according to weathermen, the season of football is approaching fast.

The approach of another gridiron campaign also is reflected in the correspondence which now is coming across our sports desk.

Just recently we received a brochure from Texas Tech with vital statistics on the Red Raiders for the coming season.

And even more recently we have received a brochure on the Lubbock High School Westerners football team for the coming year.

In thumbing through the mimeographed pamphlet on the Westerners, which was compiled by Earl Scudday of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, our eye pounced upon an interesting item concerning the Midland Bulldogs.

It was this: A survey among five of the head coaches in the 1-AAAA conference, felt that the battle this Fall would be between Odessa, Amarillo, Lubbock and Midland.

District winners in 3-AAA last Fall, the Bulldogs will step into mighty tough competition in the 1-AAAA bracket, the most rugged loop in Texas high school football.

The measure of respect which rival coaches already have accorded newcomer Midland reminds us of a comment which Tugboat made when he was in Midland recently.

Turning back the clock to his first year with Midland, a losing one incidentally, Tugboat said, "When I first arrived here, the rival teams didn't think anything about beating Midland. After the game, they would trot off the field as though it were nothing to trim the Bulldogs."

"But my second year, even though they often beat Midland, they would jump up and down and slap each other on the back like they had really accomplished something," said the personable Midland mentor.

Now Tugboat was too modest to say it but Bench Jockey will insert his own remarks about Tug's third year here.

In his third year here, quite frequently the opposing teams watched the Bulldogs jump up and down and slap each other's backs.

* * * * *

In naming who he thought would finish at the top of the heap in the powerful 1-AAAA district, Tugboat named Lubbock to finish first, Odessa second and Amarillo third. Nope he didn't say where he thought the Bulldogs would finish but his wry smile of confidence indicated to us at least that they didn't intend to be the doormat for the other teams in their initial year in the big conference.

Tug said he and Line Coach Audrey Gill have been taking plenty of time to map football stragedy while supervising their boys' camp in Colorado.

* * * * *

Jones and Gill will attend the Texas High School Coaching School in Fort Worth on August 4-8. Stan Coker, all-state tackle with the Bulldogs last year, will play in the North-South All-Star Game which will be a climax of the school.

Army Grid Hopes Bright This Year

WEST POINT, N. Y.—(AP)—Army football fortunes should be looking up this Fall. Twenty-two lettermen will be back from the cribbing scandal-rocked squad that won only two of nine games last Fall.

If Army can gain four or five victories next Autumn the Cadets could very well be a powerhouse come 1953 for 15 of the returning "A" winners are juniors.

Outstanding player on the squad is Freddie Meyers, the finest all-around athlete at the U. S. Military Academy. A sophomore (yearling) from Enid, Okla., Meyers played first base for the baseball team, was a basketball guard and a T quarterback as a plebe.

During Spring practice this year he was shifted to left halfback by Coach Earl Blaik, because of his speed. He sustained a broken leg in the final scrimmage session last Spring but is expected to be in top shape by the time the season opens on September 27 against South Carolina.

Pete Vann, another yearling, is being counted on to call the signals. He saw only limited service behind Meyers and Dick Doyle at quarter last Fall and did not earn a letter. He's a six-footer from Hamburg, N. Y.

Blaik expects to round out his offensive backfield with Tommy Bell at right half and John Wing at fullback. Bell, a Bronx 188-pounder, led the team in ground gaining with 326 yards. Wing, from Dayton, Ky., is only five feet eight inches but he knows his way around a gridiron.

Two linemen who stand out above the rest of the squad are Leroy Lunn, a guard from Spring Valley, Ill., and Bob Guiders, a tackle from Westbury, N. Y. Lunn's brother Bob played guard for the 1948 and 1949 Army squads. Guiders missed Spring drills due to a knee operation but did a fine job last season.

Plebes will not be eligible for the team this season.

Four changes have been made in the schedule, South Carolina, Pittsburgh, Virginia Military Institute and Georgia Tech replace Villanova, Northwestern, Dartmouth and The Citadel.

The schedule:

September 27—South Carolina.

November 1—V.M.I.; 8—Georgia Tech at Atlanta; 15—Pennsylvania at Philadelphia; 29—Navy at Philadelphia.

Why Did Pro Boxer Davy Go To College?

EAST LANSING, MICH.—(NEA)—Chuck Davey's status as the only master's degree holder ever to reach the top ranks of professional boxing is becoming a fascinating point to more and more people.

"What did that guy study, anyway" is a question frequently asked.

Davey entered Michigan State in 1942 as an engineering student. Drafted into military service in '43, Detroit's southpaw welterweight returned to East Lansing in '47 as a physical education major.

Davey was better than a B student through most undergraduate and all graduate work.

Yank Water Wins Close Gap On Reds

HELSINKI — (AP) — An American woman and a Japanese man set new Olympic swimming records Thursday, as the swimmers continued the practice of smashing a record in almost every event.

After Japan's Shiro Hashizume had wrecked the old Olympic mark for the men's 1,500-meter freestyle swim with a time of 18 minutes, 34 seconds, Evelyn Kawamoto of Hawaii won her heat in the women's 400-meter freestyle in 5:16.6 for another new Olympic record.

Thre other men also bettered the old record for the 1,500 of 19:13.4, set in 1932 by another Japanese star, K. Kitamura, but none could come close to Hashizume's time.

Miss Kawamoto broke the women's record of 5:17.8 set by Ann Curtis of the United States in 1948.

Brazilian Second Best

Second-fastest heat winner in the 1,500 was Brazil's Tetsuo Okamoto in 19:05.6. Jimmy McLane of New Haven, Conn., the defending champion, won his heat in 19:09.3. France's Jean Boiteux, winner of the 400-meter freestyle title in record time Wednesday, was timed in 19:12.3.

The eight best times will qualify for the finals.

Carylyn Green of Fort Lauderdale, handicapped by the loss of her swim cap at the start, placed second in another heat of the women's 400 in 5:23.8 while Deliana Meulenkamp of Mill Valley, Calif., was fourth in another.

Still another Olympic record fell in cycling—the first of the games in that sport. Australia's Russell Mockridge won the gold medal in the 1,000-meter time trials in 1:11.1.

Russia Still Leads

Going into the day's program Russia had 523 1/2 points, the United States 463. Twenty-eight finals, including 10 in boxing, remain before this gigantic sports carnival closes Sunday night.

Basketball opened its final two round robin series—one to determine the first four places between the United States, Argentina, Russia and Uruguay, and the other to determine the last four between France, Brazil, Bulgaria and Chile. The windup games will be played Saturday.

Wednesday the United States picked up 14 points in the women's springboard diving when Mrs. Pat McCormick, a 22-year-old Long Beach, Calif., housewife, finished first and Mrs. Zoe Ann Jensen of Oakland, Calif., third. Jean Boiteux of France won the men's 400-meter free style with Ford Konno of Honolulu second as the first seven men bettered the Olympic record. The winning time was 4:30.7.

The Hungarians won the team sabre competition in fencing to nobody's surprise since they haven't been beaten in the Olympics since 1828, but the U. S. jolted the experts by finishing fourth.

Ball Players Used To Think Of The Hours; Now Stars Belongs To People

By JOHN McCALLUM

NEW YORK—(NEA)—There was a time when all a major league ball player had to do was play baseball a couple of hours in the afternoon.

It was Tim Hurst who said of umpiring, "You can't beat the hours."

Things are much more complicated today, as any star will testify.

Night ball keeps him up half the night a good deal of the time, and frequently it's back to the park by noon for an afternoon session the next day.

The athlete is forced to eat at all hours.

And now a luminary's off-field activities can be as exacting as his performance on the field. Like a politician, he now truly belongs to the people.

Harold Henry Reese is a good example. Pee Wee Reese, along with his Brooklyn teammates, signs an average of a dozen balls daily for promotions and various give-aways. This totals more than 2,000 balls alone throughout the campaign. It doesn't include the many autographs signed in books, on folding matchboxes and just plain slips of paper.

Between batting and fielding practice at Ebbets Field one day, Shortstop Reese jogged from the dugout to the right field fence to make a television appearance. Next he was called to pose for a magazine picture series. Then there was an award involving an organization for the blind. He had to turn down a bid to speak on a field microphone in order to catch the team's clubhouse meeting before the game.

After the game, panting, perspiring and still in uniform, he had to hustle before TV cameras beneath the stands to participate in a telephone quiz program.

Reese conducts his own Saturday evening radio program sponsored by a wax company, in which he answers scores of small fry fan letters. There are personal appearances before church, fraternal and social groups, visits with hospital patients—veterans and youngsters.

Reese and his wife, Dorothy, were asked by the front office to appear at a woman fans' clinic in a Flatbush department store. A couple of hundred were expected, but more than 1,000 turned up. For more than an hour, Reese and other Dodgers stood on an auditorium platform and answered the barrage of questions.

"I went along to give the player's wife point of view," laughs Mrs. Reese, "but every girl in the place wanted to talk to Pee Wee."

Though nine-year-old daughter, Barbara, sometimes would rather watch Howdy Doody on television than her daddy at Ebbets Field, they have a whale of a time playing cards, doing odd jobs such as polishing the car and talking Mrs. Reese into an occasional drive into the country.

But the chances are that when Reese returns from the ride there'll be a couple more personal appearance dates awaiting him.

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—(AP)—The man who finds himself in a very tough spot now is Jersey Joe Walcott, and you are certain to witness a good deal of squirming and twisting before the graying old geezer from Camden finally signs to defend his heavyweight title against Rocky Marciano.

Joe is in much the same position as another veteran, Jim Braddock, was after he won the crown from Max Baer back in 1935 and looked up to see a killing young puncher named Joe Louis heading his way. Jim was able to cash in only on a single three-round exhibition—chicken feed—before they tossed him in with the dark destroyer.

As it came out later, however, Braddock didn't do too badly. There was a highly secret and leak-proof covenant which provided that the outgoing champ—it was pretty definite that Jim fitted the description—would receive 10 per cent of the new champ's ring earnings. That came to such a comfortable sum in the ensuing years that Braddock never has had to go back to stevedoring.

Walcott was at the ringside the other night, looking quite contemplative, when Marciano exploded that left hook on Harry Matthews' jaw, and it seems safe to suggest that he and his manager, Felix Bocchicchio, since must have given the future a lot of earnest thought. Up to now, the veteran negro fighter has made relatively little out of the title. He's going to have to be guaranteed a real payday, somehow, by somebody, before he samples Rocky's depth charges.

Bocchicchio already has drawn one yelp of anguish by insisting that his tiger must receive 45 per cent of the net for a September fight.

"He's crazy," wailed Al Weill, who admits to being matchmaker for the International Boxing Club but bleeds at the suggestion that Rocky is his personal property. "He ain't going to get any 45 per cent. Why don't he ask for 100 per cent and be done with it."

It is customary for the promoters to split 60 per cent of the net between the main eventers, with the champion getting the heavier end. It is doubtful that the IBC would go over this figure, so it may be seen that Felix's demand is not a modest one.

Another slight problem concerns the fact that Walcott's pilot, a Philadelphian, has no license to operate in New York State and was not, at latest report, in line to receive one. He has said that Jersey Joe never will fight here again until he, Felix, is eligible to represent him.

This circumstance will lend emphasis to Felix's threats in coming weeks to let Walcott fight somebody or other at widely scattered points over the nation and leave Marciano sitting on his large hands. The IBC, for its part, has no wish to promote a Walcott-Marciano bout anywhere except in one of the Gotham ball parks.

Eventually, of course, something will give and the fight will be held and it will draw somewhere close to a million dollars. But when you see old Joe climb through those ropes you will be looking at a man who has no more financial worries.

Shivers Queries Stevenson On Texas Tidelands Problem

AUSTIN —(AP)— The Governor of Texas wants to know if the Governor of Illinois favors state or federal ownership of the tidelands.

If Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois believes in state ownership, Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas says he would be inclined to support Stevenson as the Democratic nominee for the presidency.

Shivers told reporters Wednesday he has asked Stevenson for an interview to clear up the matter. Meanwhile, Shivers still was not ready to say whether or not he would support Stevenson as the Democratic nominee.

Shivers also said he had "no intention" of backing Dwight Eisenhower, the Republican nominee. He once more indicated he might "go fishing" in November if Stevenson's views on state ownership of Tidelands are unsatisfactory. But he also noted that Eisenhower favors state ownership, and so does the GOP platform.

It was Shivers' first press conference since returning from the Democratic National Convention at Chicago. He headed a Texas delegation that voted all the way for Senator Richard Russell as the Democratic nominees, and never jumped on the Stevenson bandwagon.

Without saying he would back the national convention's nomiees, Shivers had some reserved praise for them. He said he felt the combination of Stevenson and Senator John Sparkman was a good one, generally speaking. He qualified this by his questions on Stevenson's tidelands views.

"I am hopeful his views would be such that Texas could have confidence in what he might do if new Tidelands legislation is passed by the next Congress," Shivers said.

The U. S. Supreme Court held against Texas' claim to the submerged offshore lands. Congress passed a bill restoring the Tidelands to Texas, but President Truman vetoed it. Congress adjourned before it could decide whether or not to override the veto.

Still Not Decided

All that Shivers had to say boiled down to this: "He still isn't ready to say he will, or will not, support the national Democratic Party's presidential and vice presidential ticket.

He said he thought Saturday's county conventions should pass resolutions demanding that candidates for local, state and federal office make clear how they stand on the Tidelands ownership.

The governor also said he did not think the state Democratic convention should attempt to bind the presidential electors to vote for the national party's nominees until Stevenson has expressed himself on the question. They he said it was a legal question, but he didn't think a resolution would be necessary, under Texas law. The names of candidates, and not the electors, appear on the Texas ballot.

Primary Idea Fading

Shivers indicated he is not so much in favor of a Presidential primary now as he once was.

"If there had been a Presidential primary in Texas in March or April, Kefauver might have been selected and I think that would have been a mistake," Shivers said.

Shivers said that Kefauver tried and failed to win the support of the Texas delegation, and that Kefauver then worked to prevent the seating of the same Texas group whose support he had sought.

Shivers said he liked the middle-of-the-road trend he believed was evidenced by the convention and said several times he would like to support the ticket.

Polio Reaches Peak For Year With Texas In Leading Role

WASHINGTON —(AP)— New cases of infantile paralysis—1,666—last week hit a peak for this year.

The U. S. Public Health Service reported the total for the "disease year," which began March 30, was 7,080 as compared with 7,267 for the similar 1949 period and 4,340 last year.

Last week's total was 274, or 20 per cent, over the 1,392 for the previous week, which had been this year's peak. But, at this time in 1949 the weekly score was running about 1,900. It ranged from 3,100 to 3,400 weekly in August. August is usually the peak month, a health service official told a reporter.

A year ago in the corresponding week there were 989 cases, and that was also the five-year average 1947-51.

Householders May Ease Pressure On City Sewer Lines

Midland householders can help east the pressure on the city's sewer lines in several ways.

They can curtail use of water for laundry and empty the water onto the ground instead of the sewer line.

They can hold use of water for other household purposes to a bare minimum.

They can replace an indoor tub bath for their children with an outside shower, using the garden hose, so the water will soak into the ground instead of flowing into the sewer line.

Summer Mummers Present Program At Rotary Meet

Two numbers from the Summer Mummers' production, "The Drunkard," were presented as a special entertainment feature at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club Thursday noon at the Midland Country Club.

The performers, introduced by Bill Pomeroy, were Beverly Beal, Art Cole and Enid Little. They were accompanied at the piano by Tom Beal.

Postmaster Noel G. Oates was introduced as a new member of the club by Addison Wadley.

Philippines To Cut Petroleum Imports

MANILA —(AP)— The Philippines will cut oil imports 15 per cent this year and government and private transportation officials have agreed to curtail fuel consumption sharply.

Miguel Cuaderno, governor of the Central Bank, informed a recent meeting of government and transportation officials that allocations for oil imports were being cut to 54 million dollars this year from 63 million dollars last year to conserve dollar reserves.

Midlanders Praise Stand By Shivers

AUSTIN — Jim McHorgue and Lloyd Innerarity of Midland, officers in the Keep the Tidelands Association, expressed elation here Thursday over Governor Shivers' stand on the tidelands issue.

They said that Shivers' statement that he would not support any candidate for President "who believes in federal ownership of our tidelands" agrees with the viewpoint of "all patriotic Texans."

Still Not Decided

All that Shivers had to say boiled down to this: "He still isn't ready to say he will, or will not, support the national Democratic Party's presidential and vice presidential ticket.

He said he thought Saturday's county conventions should pass resolutions demanding that candidates for local, state and federal office make clear how they stand on the Tidelands ownership.

Airmen Tell Details Of Vast Bomber Raid On Red Plant

SEOUL, KOREA—(AP)—U. S. B-29's leveled a huge Communist aluminum plant near the Manchurian border early Thursday in the biggest overnight raid of the Korean war.

The 63 unescorted bombers braved Red anti-aircraft fire and fighter opposition which American pilots described as "the heaviest in months." But all returned safety to their bases in Japan and Korea.

The 12 1/2 acre factory of the Oriental Light Metals Company, 10 miles southeast of Sinuiju, went up in smoke and flame after the B-29s hurled 630 tons of bombs on it and an adjacent troop buildup area.

Pilots reported flak from the Manchurian as well as the Korean side of the border, about four miles from the metals plant. It was the northernmost penetration of the year by B-29s.

Airmen 2c Julius W. Meintel, Wheeling, W. Va., was credited unofficially with shooting down a propeller-driven night fighter which rose to defend the sprawling target. The gunner's pilot, Lt. Richard G. Crane, Galveston, Texas said the Red plane "blew up level with my wing."

A bombardier, Capt. Ralph R. Searle, Houston, Texas, said "it was like high noon all of a sudden," when "eight searchlights locked on us at the start of the bomb run and kept with us for the longest five minutes I've ever spent."

Tail Gunner Lloyd Martin of Normangee, Texas, was a crew member in one of the Superforts. Martin said, "we got about 24 searchlights on us and some flak."

An Air Force statement called the raid a calculated effort to force the hand of stalling Communist truce negotiators.

The target was saturated with 500-pound bombs, some of which will not explode for hours or even days. The plant area had been showered with leaflets for almost two months, warning non-combatants to stay away because it would be bombed.

Lie-Detector Tests Given Suspects In Midland Rape Case

Three men were being given lie-detector tests Thursday in Austin as police pushed their investigating of the rape last Sunday of a nine-year-old Midland girl.

The three, arrested within the last two days, have denied any knowledge of the attack and agreed to undergo the lie-detector tests in the laboratory of the State Department of Public safety.

They were taken to Austin Wednesday afternoon by Detective Lt. Dick Hemingway, who said all three had records of sex offenses.

Warning Sounded On Phone Surveys

Police cautioned Midland residents Thursday against giving out information about their homes and business to persons conducting telephone "surveys."

Lt. Jack Tranum said police had received numerous reports of persons being surveyed by persons who hung up the telephone when asked for their names.

"We have checked the Chamber of Commerce," said Tranum, "and they know nothing of any such survey being authorized.

"We don't know what their purpose is but, if it is for legitimate purposes, they should be willing to give their names."

Flying Windmills Complete Ocean Hop

PRESTWICK, SCOTLAND—(AP)—Two U. S. Army Sikorskys, the first helicopters to fly the Atlantic, arrived here Thursday after the 3,300 mile "hop-along" flight from Westover, Mass.

The experimental flight was launched by the Military Transport Service to test the feasibility of delivering helicopters to Europe by air.

The planes started from Westover Air Force Base two weeks ago on a six-stop, 4,000 mile flight to Weisbaden, Germany.

MacArthur Accepts Post As Chairman Of Remington Rand

NEW YORK—(AP)—General of the Army Douglas MacArthur Thursday accepted the chairmanship of Remington Rand, Inc., manufacturers of business machines and electronics equipment.

His acceptance was announced by James H. Rand, president, who said the post had been offered MacArthur almost three years ago.

The company made no mention of the general's salary as chairman, but it was previously reported unofficially he had been offered $100,000 a year.

A company spokesman indicated the general will retain his Army rank, on an unassigned basis. His status will be similar to that of General of the Army Dwight Eisenhower when Eisenhower was president of Columbia University.

Worker Released As Rape Suspect

A 30-year-old oil field worker, held for questioning in connection with a reported rape attempt, was freed Wednesday afternoon.

His 25-year-old "victim" decided she didn't want to try to send him to the penitentiary, after all.

All she wanted, she told County Attorney Reagan Legg, was to recover the $4 it cost her to hire a cab to bring her back home from a ride in the country early Tuesday morning.

It was that ride which got the oil field worker in trouble.

Legg said the man met the woman, and her girl friend, at a beer tavern shortly after midnight Tuesday.

They danced awhile and he gallantly offered to drive them home. Enroute, the man told Legg, they stopped and bought a pint of whisky at the girls' request and then drove out the Andrews Highway, parking several miles out.

As the romance blossomed, Legg said he was told, the woman demanded that the courtship be placed on a commercial basis and the oil field worker refused.

There followed a short tussle, after which the two women left the man's automobile and started down the highway on foot.

They refused and kept walking until they reached a telephone and summoned a taxicab.

One of the women finally reported the "attempted rape" to police and gave them the license number of the automobile.

The automobile was found and towed to the city pound and the man was arrested when he reported his automobile had been stolen.

The county attorney said he had not learned whether the man refunded the $4 for cab fare.

Police Search For Teenage Quartet In Michigan Forests

SAULT STE. MARIE, MICH —(AP)—Four teenagers—two girls and two boys—were sought Thursday along heavily wooded borders of the Marquette National Forest and the Mackinac State Forest in Michigan's rugged Upper Peninsula.

They vanished at 2 p.m. Wednesday. An overnight search of state troopers and volunteers failed to find any trace of them for miles around.

The vacationing quartet disappeared on a hike, which they announced to their families they were taking at the end of a picnic lunch on the Black Creek trail, 45 miles southwest of Sault Ste. Marie.

Missing are Dorothy Klingler, 14, daughter of Chester Klinger of Hinsdale, Ill; Shirley Kasur, 13, of Chicago, and Frank Grasscott, 17, and Edward Kenyon, 14, both of Dearborn, Mich.

State police called a plane into the search Thursday and sent fresh troopers in to relieve those who hunted in vain through the night.

Believers Hold Big Majority As 'Disc' Controversy Rages

"The objects flattened out like discs at treetop level," reported Hilton Kaderli, 2610 West Storey Street, "For three or four minutes, they appeared as balls of fire."

Kaderli said the spherical objects took off at a 35-degree angle, spinning in a northeastward direction. They became brighter and elongated as they spun themselves out, Kaderli reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Kaderli called in neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McMahon, 2608 West Storey Street, and Mrs. Paul J. Cline, to watch the phenomenon. They watched the discs travel in and out of thin clouds before fading behind heavier formations.

Kaderli said the "balls of fire" resembled plane vapor as they diminished except they were "hotter and more elongated." He estimated the "balls" remained in position three or four minutes before spinning away.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. —(AP)— An Albuquerque newspaperman saw at least 10 flying doo-dads "going like a bat out of hell" Wednesday night, about three hours after another was reported sighted over Tucumcari, near the Texas line.

Doyle Kline, Albuquerque Tribune deskman, said he sighted the objects from his front porch at 9:30 p.m.

"Whatever they were," Kline wrote Thursday, "they made a 'flying saucer' believer out of me. They resembled nothing I had ever seen before."

About 6 p.m., Nella Beth Rothstein and Mrs. E. V. Harris saw an object over Tucumcari. Mrs. Harris said it was a "blue ball."

Mrs. Rothstein said it was a spherical object, which climbed into the sky and disappeared in the north.

This is the first time in the current reports of luminous objects over Southwestern skies that a cluster of the gadgets has been reported. Kline said they came from the southeast, in no particular formation.

HOT SPRINGS, ARK. — (AP) — The Hot Springs Sentinel-Record said six residents of this resort city reported they saw a "flying saucer" here Wednesday night.

The newspaper said the six persons telephoned its office within two minutes about 9 p.m. to report the fiery object. Two of them, G. Clark and Don Rigsbee, gave identical descriptions of the object, the Sentinel-Record said.

Clark, a hotel clerk, said he was sitting in his car at a drive-in cafe when he saw a "white ball of fire with a red tail" pass high over the city. Clark said the "saucer" was flying north.

The newspaper said the other three persons who said they saw the object refused to give their names.

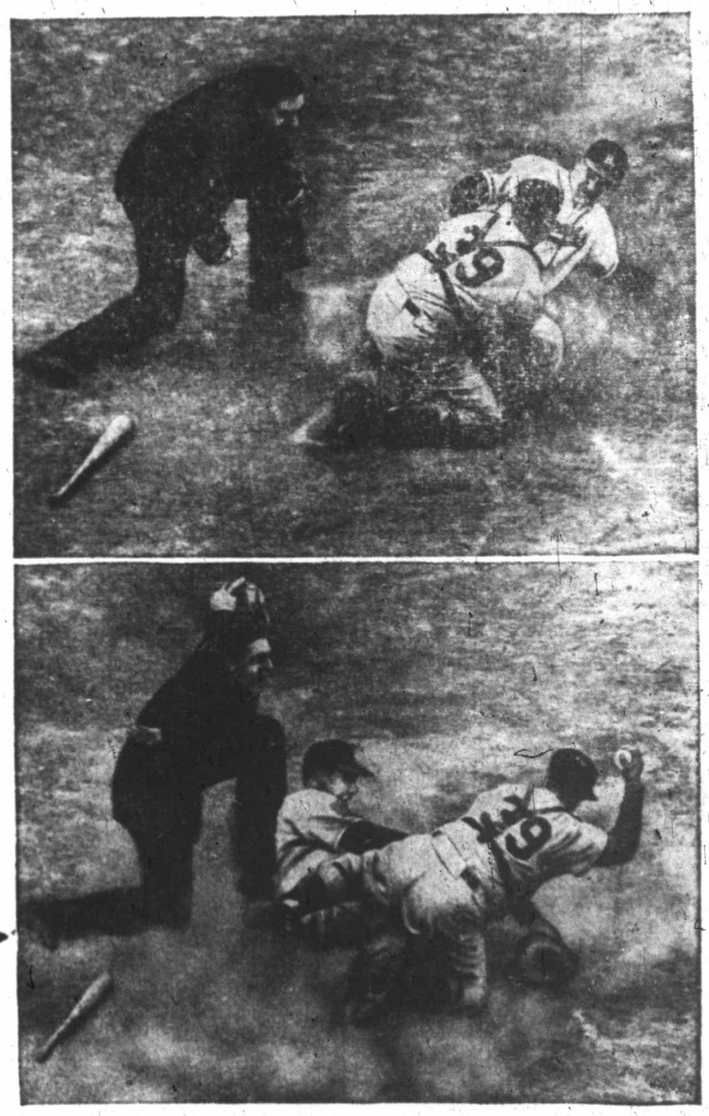

THEY'RE FROM MARS, HE SAYS

DALLAS—(AP)—The president of the Texas Astronomical Society, E. M. Brewer, said Thursday he believed the flying saucers "may be some sort of space ships from another planet."

But, the Dallas man added, "if there is life on some other planet, and if it is that far advanced scientifically, then surely they're far enough advanced to have learned to live peaceably."

You always want

a second look

How many times a day do you take a second look at something? If you have a chance—you do it every time something new comes along.

When your team wins, by skill or weird luck, it isn't enough to see it pictured—to hear it told—just once. You take a second look . . . in your newspaper. It's the only sports medium that gives you a chance to gloat and mastermind to your heart's content.

Whenever a politician, or a labor leader, or an act of God changes the traffic light for your business, you take a second look . . . at your newspaper. It's the only news medium that gives you a chance for quick complete re-evaluation.

When you want a house, or refrigerator, or television set, you look in your newspaper . . . at A's ad, then B's and C's, then back to A's. You take a second look. And your newspaper is the only advertising medium that gives you a chance to shop and compare, and see what's for sale here and now.

Just as you read the paper now, your customers and prospects read the paper too—at the time they choose, for as long as they choose—for the advertising as well as for news or for fun.

• When your selling is backed by newspaper advertising, your story has a chance to reach almost everybody. Not just comedy fans, or mystery fans, or sports fans . . . but everybody.

That's why advertisers today invest far more of their money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising.

Only the newspaper is first with the most news . . . first with the most people . . . first with the most advertisers!

UN Asks Accounting On 45 More Prisoners

MUNSAN, KOREA — (AP) — The United Nations Command Thursday added 45 names to the list of UN personnel it says were captured by the Reds and asked for an accounting.

The names were not made public. They were given to the Reds at a 351minute staff officers' session at Panmunjom.

The group of 45 brings to 1,926 the number of persons for whom the UN has asked an accounting since original prisoner of war lists were exchanged.

No equipment to buy! No work to do!! Do away with old fashioned method of replacing worn pistons, rings and valves by just dropping "MOTALOY" tabs in fuel tank of cars, trucks, motorcycles, tractors, diesels, or any internal combustion engine. "MOTALOY" does the rest! It builds up worn rings, valves, pistons, etc., through the plating process which will last for 200,000 miles. (Guaranteed non-injurious to finest engines.) First results noted after 50 miles.

PRINCETON MEANS THAT IT'S BETTER, and if you have been seeking a home with a spacious master bedroom, this one is a must-see. It has an adjoining dressing room and luxurious bath, 2 more bedrooms and central bath (both with ceramic tile), gorgeous kitchen with pantry, and attached garage. Central heating, ducted for air-conditioning, lots of wonderful closets, and approximately 1,750 square feet of living space. In addition to the many other outstanding features, there is a high tile fence surrounding the attractively lawned yard. OWNER BEING TRANSFERRED. Asking $27,500.

THIS HOME REMINDS US of a 6-year-old boy who has just washed his face. It has been completely redecorated so that it sparkles and shines. 2 bedrooms, 6x14 insulated utility room (immediately off the kitchen), new 2-car detached garage, large closets. Nice lawn in front and rear, water softener, paved street. ONLY $8,500.

SLIGHTLY SUBURBAN, yet delightfully close in. Located just off Andrews Highway where the homes stretch over large lots is this West Texas brick rambler. 3 spacious bedrooms, 2 ceramic tile baths, huge living room, and a separate dining room with French doors leading out to the completely fenced yard (in tile brick). Central heating and air-conditioning, generous water well, connections for dishwasher and Bendix, 2-car completely finished garage. Offered at $28,850.

FINANCIAL MODESTY is an American characteristic — and here is a home for the modest-income group. 2 nice sized bedrooms, 20 foot living room, comfortable kitchen, utility porch with washer connection, entrance hall and guest closet, large planter box, landscaped, paved street, and this home has recently been redecorated. Assume GI loan and pay only $57 per month. Full price: $8,900.

LIKE SOMETHING REALLY NICE in the way of a 2-bedroom home? Call us immediately to see this one which is located in TOWN NORTH. You will like the floor plan, the tile bath, and the attached garage which so inexpensively converts into a den. Priced at $9,975.15. (Tell you what I'll do—I'll knock off the 15 cents.)

2412 WEST STOREY STREET . . . but don't take our word for it. Drive by it, look through the windows, hurry to a telephone, and call 2-1693. You'll be glad you did. (It's a 3 and 2.)

THE INTERIOR IS MODERN and the exterior is conventionally West Texas influence. 3 bedrooms, 1 tile bath with colored features, large living room and dining room, and PICTURE-BOOK kitchen with bay window. Advance-trend plastered walls, lovely carpeting throughout, central heating, attached 2-carport, large open rear porch that can be used as your outside living room. But there is more—to be seen. $17,900.

NEAR FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH where you would PREFER to live, and only 3 blocks from the high school, we have a most attractive 3-bedroom home. The ideal floor plan, so designed as to be adapted as a 2-bedroom and den. Lovely living room with large offsetting dining room, convenient kitchen with ceramic tile drain and large pantry, rear utility porch used as summer breakfast room, large closets, washer connection. Detached brick garage with storage, disappearing stairway into floored and insulated attic, beautiful lawns in front and rear, Cyclone fenced yard. Owner leaving for Europe. Sensationally low priced at only $13,500.

INCOME WITHOUT WORKING is accomplishable in real estate investments. If you have the capital, we have the opportunities. Ask us about the 14 apartments that we have which the owner is sacrificing. It's really a tremendous deal. (P.S. I'm a real estate man. If I had the money, I'd buy it. I cannot give this a greater recommendation.)

ONE WAY TO FINANCIAL SECURITY is by the purchase of a home which saves you the huge monthly rents. For ONLY $1,500 down, you could own this gem of a home located only nine blocks north of town. 2-bedroom Johns-Manville asbestos siding home (never needing painting), lovely living room, and colorful kitchen. Three years old. Lawn, small trees, and paved street. Full price is a low $6,900.

MAGNIFICENCE AND RELAXATION—These two objects, so difficult to attain in a world cluttered with commerce and confusion, are offered with constancy in this white chipped brick home. Set far back from the wide, paved street, on a green carpet-like lawn, it is a beautiful sight, indeed. Three bedrooms, cool living room and dining room, 2 ceramic tile baths. It has loads of wonderfully large closets and storage rooms, and 2 carports. Central heating, attic ventilation, Disposall unit, softly carpeted, and washer connection. High tile fence offers private outdoor living and dining, trees, and expensive landscaping. ONLY $26,500. Please, by appointment only.

AND IT'S COMPLETELY FURNISHED with new, modern furniture. The home is almost brand new, and never been scratched. Two bedrooms, large living room, and delightful kitchen. It has 2 panel ray units for your distributed heating, and an air conditioner for your Summer comfort. You can move in immediately if you like (just give owner time to get his tooth brush.) Located in TOWN WEST. FULL PRICE IS $7,999.

8 MINUTES FROM DOWN TOWN, in a highly restricted area, owner regretfully must dispose of his home. The homes are wide spaced, and this lot is 128x171, and is completely privatized by tile fence in front and rear. Three large bedrooms, gracious living room, full dining room, and front and rear porches. Huge 2-car garage, water well, central heating and cooling. You'll love the beautiful pecan floors. We have pictures of this home in our office. Going "HOME" to this one will really mean something. $22,500.

OWNING YOUR HOME in Midland is much more than merely owning a piece of Texas real estate. It is an accomplishment, a pride, a financial saving, and a wise investment. And a compact home is a good start. Just for size, try this new, 2 bedroom, asbestos siding home, located west of town. Attached carport and storage room. Close to everything. $6,900.

DRIVE BY 312 EAST MAPLE if you prefer your home slightly modernistic. Two bedrooms, attached carport and storage room, large living room and compact kitchen and dining area. Central LENNOX heating, draperies and curtains, large bookcases. And the monthly payments on this GI financed home are only $61. It is 2 years old—long enough to prove its construction.

LET US SHOW YOU that it is possible to purchase a home which is located close in—on Ohio, and at a reasonable down payment. Two big bedrooms (one is 15 feet and the other is 18 feet in length), 16x21 living room, airy kitchen with separate breakfast room, breezeway, and attached garage. Large rear patio, lawns in front and rear, completely fenced. This home is located on a large corner lot and both streets are paved and paid for. But there are other features that you must see. $11,750

LOVELY TO LOOK AT . . . and wonderful to own. If you prefer master craftsmanship in construction, this 3-bedroom, Burgandy-blend brick home should be given all priority. Expandable living room, dining area, and a dream kitchen (tile wainscoating, lots of cabinets). The 2-car attached garage is completely finished and easily converts into a huge den. Central heating, ducted for air-conditioning, luxuriously carpeted throughout in sand tones, washer connection, and large corner lot. It's on West Louisiana. ONLY $14,500.

Four Die In Wake Of Polio Rampage; More Hospitalized

By The Associated Press

The Dallas deaths brought polio fatalities there to eight for July a record for the month.

Wednesday's deaths included:

Bobby Vaclavik, eight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vaclavik, Route 4, Austin.

Mrs. Callie Watson, 27, wife of the Rev. Joe Watson, pastor of the Pleasant Mound Baptist Church near Dallas' eastern outskirts.

Dallas, Houston Hit

The last three victims named died in Dallas. The Vaclavik boy was the third polio fatality in Austin and Travis County this year. Five new cases, one from Austin and four from Central Texas points, were reported in Austin's Brackenridge Hospital Wednesday.

Polio continued to hit Houston hard with 16 new cases reported, including five from Houston proper, Wednesday. There were six Harris County cases and five non-county cases.

Harris County also had the most new cases during last week—51. The total surged to 306 Houston cases for the year Wednesday with 11 deaths. There have been 193 Harris County cases and seven deaths and 173 non-county cases brought to Houston for treatment, with eight deaths. That makes a total of 672 cases treated in Houston during the year.

Free Chest X-Ray Service Scheduled For Midland County

Free X-day service will be made available to Midland residents next week by the Midland County Tuberculosis Association and the State Department of Health in an evaluation program at the courthouse.

The chest films also will be used to determine abnormalities of the heart, lymph structures and the lungs in general.

The Midland Diagnostic Cancer Clinic, cooperating agency in the program, points out that heavy smoking apparently has contributed to an increase of cancer of the lung and urges every person over 40 to take the opportunity of submitting for a free chest film.

The clinic said that cancer of the lung is silent for many months and diagnosis of the detrimental disease at an early stage can be made only by chest films. It added that cure can be hoped for only if the diagnosis is made before the disease has had a chance to develop.

Only five per cent of lung cancer patients are alive five years after the disease has been diagnosed and the cancer tissue removed, the agency said.

Actor's Son Freed In Bad Check Case

SANTA ANA, CALIF., —(AP)— Edward G. Robinson, Jr., 19, son of the actor, was acquitted Wednesday of bad check charges by a jury.

He was accused of writing a worthless check for $119.48 for tires but testified he stopped payment because he thought he was overcharged. He later made restitution.

Robinson, Sr., told the superior court jury he was unhappy over his son's February marriage to actress Frances Chisholm, "but not enough to cut off his credit."

Civil Service Unit Suspends Colorado Penitentiary Boss

DENVER—(AP)—A two-year suspension from his job as warden of Colorado's penitentiary was handed Roy Best, president of the National Wardens' Association, by the state Civil Service Commission Wednesday.

The merit board recently tried the warden on 11 counts filed at the direction of Gov. Dan Thornton, a Republican. One was dropped during the trial.

Best, who was acquitted in two court cases during the last year and a half, said he will appeal the "ridiculous decision" to the state courts.

"After all," he added, "the commission found me guilty on the same flimsy evidence on which the duly constituted courts of law found me innocent."

He hinted he may reenter active politics while under suspension. Best was Democratic nominee for governor in 1944.

The unanimous decision of the three-man Civil Service Commission did not specify the counts upon which the warden was convicted. Board President William R. Welsh, Jr., told newsmen, however, that charges of selling prison-made goods on the open market, farming out convict labor and mistreating prisoners had a negligible part in the ruling.

Police Hold Suspect In Presidio Murder

PRESIDIO —(AP)— Mexican police held a 22-year-old man Thursday for questioning in the murder of J. H. Kalmore, Presidio merchant whose bludgeoned body was found last Friday in the basement of his store.

Police Chief Ramon Estrella of Ojinaga, Mexico, said four Mexican youths held earlier had been released after it was determined they were not involved in the murder.

Texas officers continued their investigation of the murder of the 58-year-old Kalmore, who was robbed of about $1,200 before he was tied in a chair and beaten.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. —(AP)— Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic party's presidential candidate, believes that "foolish promises" of substantial federal tax cuts can be "very misleading."

Stevenson told a news conference that everybody wants a reduction in taxes but it must be obtained at the earliest opportunity "consistent with our needs."

He was asked by the newsmen concerning Dwight D. Eisenhower's remarks recently about reducing federal taxes, and replied:

"I would hope that neither candidate or party would offer hopes that are forlorn and at the same time be demanding a defense establishment to accomplish our common objective."

Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, had envisioned a 40 billion dollar yearly federal spending cut, but he did not specify any date for the goal.

Stevenson said he regarded foreign policy as the "most important consideration" of the coming political campaign. He added that he supposes his views and those of Eisenhower on this subject will turn out to be similar.

He said he no longer is a reluctant candidate for president and is "quite content with the Chicago Democratic convention and its results."

Asked if he could make a "give-em-hell campaign," the governor replied "I don't believe I'm gifted with talents of that kind. But I'll give it everything I can."

He parried a question whether he'd keep Secretary of State Acheson if he was elected president by saying "I haven't the faintest idea about the Cabinet and I won't say anything until after the election."

He said he felt the Taft-Hartley law needed substantial revision, but saw no necessity for its repeal.

On national health legislation, Stevenson said he doesn't see "eye to eye" with Oscar Ewing, federal securial agency administrator.

Regarding FEPC, Stevenson reiterated he felt this is a state responsibility and that the federal government should step in only after a state fails to meet it.

'Bama Heat Wave Takes Sixth Victim

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.— (AP) —A sixth death from the record heat wave was recorded in Alabama Thursday.

Two other persons were treated for heat prostrations here Tuesday, when the thermometer climbed to a high of 106.

The other five heat deaths occurred in June.

High readings of 100 or more were forecast Thursday over North Alabama for the thirteenth straight day. No break was indicated in the months-long dry spell. Only scattered thundershowers were forecast.

'Gremlins' Delay Arrival Of Liner

NEW YORK —(AP)— The new French liner Flandre was towed into port Wednesday to end her maiden voyage after mechanical gremlins delayed the ship's scheduled arrival 21 hours.

The 594-foot, 20,500-ton vessel—largest built in France since the end of World War II—left Le Havre July 23. Two days later her fuel line clogged.

New Chesapeake Bay Span Opens For Use

SANDY POINT, MD. —(AP)— Traffic rolled over the Chesapeake Bay Wednesday on Maryland's new 45-million-dollar bridge as a fleet of pudgy ferry boats sulked in their docks unused, unwanted and by all save the sentimental-unmissed.

Louis J. O'Donnel, general manager of Maryland toll bridges, said between 2,300 and 2,500 vehicles sped across the newly dedicated span in its first six hours of use late Tuesday.

Continental Air Lines Income Hits $88,940 For Six Months Time

DENVER, COLO. — In spite of heavy increases in operating expenses, Continental Air Lines' net income for the first six months of 1952 amounted to $88,940, equivalent to 22 cents per share on 400,000 shares as compared with $189,728 for the first half of 1951, equivalent to 61 cents per share on 309,631 shares, it has been announced by Robert F. Six, president, in a report to stockholders for the second quarter and for the six month ended June 30, 1952.

For the 1952 six months period total operating revenues amounted to $4,900,252, a 35.72 per cent increase over the $3,610,568 total operating revenues of the same period of 1951.

Total operating expenses for the 1952 six months period amounted to $4,661,280, a 47.51 per cent increase over the total operating expenses for the same period of 1951 when they amounted to $3,159,991.

The increases in both operating revenues and operating expenses reflect Continental's substantially expanded operations resulting from the new Houston-San Antonio-El Paso-West Coast Douglas DC-6 interchange route which Continental operates jointly with American Air Lines.

Texans Are Named For Cancer Studies

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Thirty-four grants totalling $562,351 for training in cancer diagnosis and treatment were announced Wednesday by the Public Health Service.

Included among the awards were: Dr. Andrew B. Small, Southwestern Medical School of the University of Texas, $25,000; and Dr. Paul Brindley, University of Texas medical branch at Galveston, $24,937.

Oklahoma Professor Challenges Dismissal As Red Sympathizer

NORMAN, OKLA. —(AP)— Prof. Richard Blanc, dismissed Wednesday by the University of Oklahoma board of regents for alleged Communist sympathies, said he believes his dismissal was "not warranted by the record."

Blanc said he is sending the report of the regents to the national office of the American Association of University Professors "which concerns itself with academic freedom.

In dismissing Blanc, who was a member of the faculty for six years, the regents report quoted him as saying he considered himself a one-time member of the Communist Party.

"2. Direct participation in the publication of a Communist newspaper, by contributing articles, checking copy, and otherwise physically assisting in the publication of the newspaper."

Young Republicans Shaping Plans To Expand In County

Considerable enthusiasm was shown by the more than 40 persons attending a meeting of the Young Republican Club of Midland this week in the Midland County Courthouse.

Precinct captains were named as follows: One, Robert Gaines; five, Ray Brack; Six, W. C. Liedtke, Jr., and Seven, Harry A. Miller, Jr.

Plans were discussed to work closely with the regular county Republican organization for the election of the GOP national ticket in November.

Vice Chairman Bill Adam presided at the session, in which a brief history of the club was given, an informal discussion held of activities and purposes, and a brief talk by County Chairman Richard Hughston.

Next club session will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, August 13, in the commissioners' courtroom on the second floor of the Midland County Courthouse. Delegates and alternates to the state convention at San Antonio August 24-25 will be named.

Anyone interested in joining the club should contact their precinct chairman.

Thanks a Million

To my many friends, for their vote and support on behalf of my candidacy for County Commissioner Precinct No. 1, during the Democratic Primary Election.

U. S. Constitution Puzzles Experts Seeking Amendment

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Seventeen states have asked that a national convention be called to amend the Constitution—but no one knows how to go about it.

Legal experts for the House Judiciary Committee report after intensive research, that nobody knows how to put on a constitutional convention, and urged Congress to consider legislation clearing up the question.

All 21 amendments have been adopted under constitutional procedure. They were proposed by Congress and ratified by three fourths of the states.

The Constitution also provides that Congress must call an amending convention upon petition of two thirds of the state legislatures — 32 at present.

Method Never Used

This method never has been used. But now several states have proposed it in petitions for an amendment that would restrict Congress' taxing authority to 25 per cent of incomes, except during a national emergency.

Records show that Congress has received 32 petitions from 27 states on the tax problem. In addition, Texas and Louisiana have passed resolutions but have not forwarded them to Congress.

Six states later cancelled their petitions by other resolutions—Alabama, Arkansas, Illinois, Kentucky, Rhode Island and Wisconsin. The experts said the law is silent, but they thought states should be allowed to change their minds.

Maryland's petition was approved only by the House of Delegates. The experts expressed belief both houses should agree on a petition before this constitutes action by a legislature within the meaning of the Constitution.

Does Veto Apply?

The governors of Montana and Pennsylvania vetoed tax petitions passed by their legislatures. The Constitution was no help, so the experts suggested that the petitions should be considered valid anyway, on the basis of available precedent.

Consequently, they reported that 20 states appeared to have valid petitions on file. These are Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Mississippi, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, Pennsylvania, Utah, Virginia, Wyoming, Nevada, Montana and Massachusetts.

Of these, the last three petitioned Congress to propose the constitutional amendment itself. That leaves 17 states asking for a constitutional convention, the experts said.

Experts said the constitutional clause is worded so generally that it does not say how a convention should be called, who should be delegates, what subjects it should consider or how long it should remain in session.

The report contained a sample bill intended to iron out these and numerous other questions and proposed that it be considered at the next congressional session.

MELON PATCH SURE IS BIG

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Uncle Sam's watermelon patch requires about 600 square miles, and the Census Bureau says a goodly part of it is in Texas.

The bureau reports that the 100 leading water melon producing counties are scattered throughout 16 states with 33 of them in Texas.

New Texas Election Code, Close Contest Bring Up Headaches

FORT WORTH —(AP)— A conflict in provisions of the new state election code has placed the state's 254 county Democratic chairmen in a dilemma.

One provision of the code requires that absentee voting for the second primary August 23 start 20 days prior to the election.

Another requires that the State Democratic Executive Committee meet August 11 to canvass the first primary votes and certify candidates for places on the runoff election ballot.

The county chairmen's problem is how to order ballots printed in time for absentee voting when they will not know whose names to put on the ballot until 10 days after the absentee balloting is supposed to start.

In that race, Martin Dies may or may not have a majority, but John Lee Smith has announced that he will not participate in a runoff.

The state committee will have to decide whether to declare Dies the nominee or to place Smith on the ballot with Dies despite his withdrawal or to put the third man in the race, Phil Hamburger, on the ballot with Dies.

Another quirk in the code is the provision that absentee balloting start 20 days prior to each primary which are required to be held on Saturday. Twenty days prior to each primary would invariably fall on a Sunday.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has planned a healthful low income diet which includes only 39 pounds of meat annually per person.

Oil Movement Drops In Suez Canal Area

SUEZ—(AP)—Northbound oil shipments through the Suez Canal in 1951 fell off 10 per cent.

Last year 42,873,000 tons of oil passed through the vital waterway. In 1950 the total was 47,325,000 tons.

This drop was largely caused by the new trans-Arabian pipelines which moved 14 million tons nearly a thousand miles across the desert from Saudi-Arabi to Sidon on the Mediterranean.

LARGEST MINE

The largest open pit iron mine in the world is located at Hibbin, Minn. The mine is 350 feet deep, two and one-half miles long, and has an area estimated at 1,070 acres.

Alcoholic drinks made from honey were common in ancient times.

Nipponese Oppose New U. S. Airport

TOKYO—(AP)—The U. S. Air Force is going to use an air base near Nara and the citizens of that ancient city of temples don't like it.

The newspaper Asahi says the citizens fear for the safety of this cradle of Japanese art and culture should war come again to Japan.

Horyuji Temple, one of the most treasured of Japanese national relics, is five miles from the proposed base. Both Nara and Kyoto, another city, were spared by U. S. bombers during the war.

Big Fast Limousines Make Long Taxi Trips In Russia

Big fast Zis limousines and touring cars, each carrying up to seven passengers, make daily runs from Moscow to such cities as Vladimir, Gorky, Minsk, Yaroslavl, Kharkhov and other points.

The longest of all of the scheduled routes, and probably the longest taxi run in the world, is to Simferopol and Yalta in the Crimea.

The distance from Moscow to Simferopol is about 900 miles. Zis taxis cover it in about two days. The fare for one adult is 352.50 rubles which is the equivalent of $93.12 at the official rate of exchange. Many Russians are willing to pay the price for the relative speed and comfort of the journey.

The 450-mile journey to Kharkhov on the same route takes less than a day and the cost is 202.50 rubles, the equivalent of $50.62.

The taxis traveling to Kharkhov and Simferopol make use of a new highway put into operation in the last several years. Running from Moscow to the Crimea, it is intended particularly to handle the travel by auto of vacationers on the way to southern resorts in and around the Crimea.

An inhabitant of Vladimir who wishes to come to Moscow for the day finds the Zis taxis the most speedy and convenient method of transport. During the day one leaves every few hours on the three-hour trip to the center of the capital. The charge, higher than for a bus or by train, is justified by the greater speed and convenience. An official with business can take an early taxi, be in town at the beginning of the work day and leave for home late in the afternoon.

Ship Names Honor Company Employes

NEW YORK — (AP) — Instead of naming vessels after top company officials, one marine company operating in Louisiana is naming them after loyal workers, it has been reported here.

So far 26 employes, ranging from drill crewman to chief engineer, have been so honored by making the "floating honor roll." Most of the workers have been with the company at least 30 years.

Youth Center Chatter

By JOYCE HOWELL

Good afternoon, readers; how are you today? Not as hot as we are, we hope. Yes, it is Thursday again and Thursday is Youth Center Chatter time, so here we are.

First of all, here is a reminder about the Saturday night Center dance. As we told you last week, this will be a special dance honoring L. C., our candy-bartender. Everyone is to bring a small gift or a small contribution to Myrt for the purchase of a gift for L. C. We really do want to see everyone there and we want this dance to be a huge success.

All boys who are interested in the Junior Olympics and are between the ages of 13 and 17, should talk to Myrt. The tryouts for the finals will be held August 4 and 5 in Odessa. The finals in these track and field events will be held in Houston about August 16.

Did you notice the small brown booths which were in the Center Monday night? These were used for the voting which took place at the Center last Saturday. The Center was closed on that day because of the election.

Carolyn Downing, the former Carolyn Cook now is in Midland for the rest of the Summer. Caolyn is the proud mother of a new baby girl who was born June 21. Roy, Carolyn's husband, will enter Officers Candidate School soon.

Back From Vacations

Many Midland teeners now are returning from their vacations. Jane Colly and Margie Neill recently returned from a trip to Yuma, Arizona and San Diego, California. Penny Jones now is home after visiting in Colorado, and Margie Jean Miller has returned from California. Dona Ingham returned for a brief 24 hour period last Monday. She was at the Ingham's ranch in Colorado. While there she attended the dog races and had a wonderful time. Last Tuesday she again left Midland. Las Vegas, Nevada, El Paso, and Arizona are the places she is visiting this time.

M. A. Rose and Keys Curry also have returned home. These two boys worked as counselors for the first semester of Summer camp at the Hidden Valley Camp in Colorado. Pete English and Larry Friday now are there for the second semester. Paxton Howard and Bill Erskine have sent their greetings to all the Youth Center members. The boys are visiting in California.

We really do like to hear from all the Center members who are on vacation—and picture posteards look very nice on the bulletin board. If you are planning on taking a trip out of town, do send a postcard to Myrt at the Center.

Welcome, Newcomers!

Now is the time for us to introduce the newcomers and visitors to the Center. Last week we told you about a newcomer to Midland, Nonie Platt. This week we met an out-of-city guest of Nonie's. Cherry Wagner is visiting in Midland for about a week. She is from Nonie's old "stomping ground," Amarillo. Cherry will be a freshman in high school this Fall. We also met Jessie Williams from Stanton and Peggy Jones of Monahans, Stanton, Crane, Lubbock, and Midland, who were visiting at the Center last Monday night. We always are glad to have visitors.

Another newcomer to Midland—although he isn't actually a newcomer, is Frank Loop. Frank is Carol Loop's older brother. He graduated from high school in Lamesa and this last year he attended Texas A&M College.

And now for a little news of the things that have been happening around the Center. There now is an even larger and more complex jig-saw puzzle on the card table at the Center. We won't attempt to name all the teeners we have seen trying to help out by adding or subtracting pieces, but we feel it is safe to say that almost everyone who comes in the Center has at least stopped near the puzzle table to offer advice to those who were working on the thing.

'Spoon' Is Favorite

The game of spoon still is a favorite. Betty Sivalls, Penny Jones, Retta Hazlip, Margie Neill, Jean Miller, and Jane Colly should be experts by this time. The pool tables and ping-pong tables still are in use, despite the hot weather. Although there may be a few quiet minutes around the Center, we are willing to wager the juke box constantly is being played.

The teeners who really love to dance usually manage to clear a spot around the juke box by the middle of the evenings and by nine o'clock, it is not uncommon to see three or four couples dancing. Last Friday night there were so many dancing that by 9:30 an impromptu dance was being held.

This is all the news for this week, but before we leave you, here is a reminder to all the boys who played baseball on the American Legion teams to turn in their uniforms to their managers for inventory.

Don't forget the dance at the Center Saturday night—we hope to see all of you there.

Tell Son Of His Own Mistakes And Make His Wife A Friend

There's one way you can be. Next time you visit in her home, instead of concentrating on finding out what kind of a wife she is making your son, reverse the order. Study your son, as though he were a stranger, to see what kind of a husband he is making the girl he married.

If you do this you may get a few rude shocks. Especially if you notice that he is doing some of the very things his own father has always done, and which in his father you always resented.

You may come out of this critical observation of that son of yours with a whole list of things you know he is doing wrong.

If you do, then you've an opportunity to be a real friend to your daughter-in-law.

Write that husband of hers a "Dear Son" letter and lay it on the line.

Have Your Say

Tell him what a fine girl he has married and how much in love you know they are.

Then tell him that as his mother and as a woman you want to tell him a few things about women and what it takes to make them feel appreciated, needed and secure.

If you have come to the conclusion that his wife is putting up with a lot, tell him so.

As a mother you can get by with this. If his wife tries to tell him she'll probably do more harm than good. Her mother certainly can't tell him — and stay on speaking terms.

So you go ahead and have your say. After all, any mistakes he is making really are your fault. If he isn't considerate of his wife in the small ways that matter to a woman, it probably is because his mother never stressed the importance of those small things.

Minister Acquires Hatpin Collection

EDGEWOOD, R. I. — (AP) — Three years ago, the Rev. Earl E. Story, D. D., didn't own a single hatpin; now he has more than 700.

Story, minister of the Methodist Tabernacle here, was told by a former parishioner to throw away four hatpins she donated for a sale at his former Newport church if nobody wanted them. There were no takers and from that time on, Story was a hatpin collector.

The ladies of the church donated 21 more hatpins. He displayed 25 in a hobby show and suddenly found his collection boosted to more than 100.

He's getting some rare pins now. One has a perfume box within its head. There's a His-Hers combination of matching hatpin and stickpin. Some are eye-catchers with heads bobbing on springs. One is capped with a button from the Continental Army. Some are gem-studded.

If you have trouble threading a needle, rub an end of the thread over a piece of soap and twist it between your fingers. The stiffened thread end will then slide easily through the needle eye.

Wage-Price Boost In Steel Not To Up Living Costs Now

NEW YORK —(AP)— The wage-price boost in steel—if it follows past patterns—will in time fan out through industries. And a new twist to the inflationary spiral will be under way.

But many feel today that the ultimate boost to the general cost of living will be delayed this time, and also toned down.

They reason that the loss of buying power felt by almost two million workers who were made idle at one time or another during the strike will act as a brake on inflation. In other words, a lot of people will be out of the market for goods for a while yet, because they are short of cash.

They also believe that this loss of buying power will continue for some time. Many factories may have to shut down later this Summer or Fall as the steel shortage catches up with them and their own inventories of steel disappears.

More Pay Hikes Seen

The government is going to take more steel for defense and the steel mills will be slow in refilling the supply pipelines emptied during the long strike.

The inflationary pressure will be there, nevertheless. The wage boost the steelworkers are getting will be an incentive to other unions to ask for more. Many union contracts can be reopened for wage negotiations in the next few months.

The steel price boost will not scare away many steel customers. The steel mills feel confident they can sell all they can make well into 1953.

Their customers have used up their inventories and are eager to buy. Also retail trade is picking up, and manufacturers see a better chance of selling more goods if they can make them.

Price Cutting Common

Some question, however, whether the manufacturers can pass on to the customers in higher prices the greater cost of steel and such other materials as may also go up in price.

Slow moving merchandise has piled up in warehouses, and price cutting has been more common than price hikes. Some not that many manufacturers haven't rushed to insist on the higher retail prices being restored on their brand goods, as they could have when the president signed the fair trade bill.

But others think that price hikes on many goods are inevitable. They note that factory inventories of finished goods have been falling during the strike, and that some recently depressed industries are now in fine shape again as far as inventories go. Some see a sellers' market returning before the year's out.

Prices Due To Rise

Those who argue that inflation —although perhaps a mild one—is certain also contend that manufacturers' costs are likely to go up again.

It's still a buyer's market, however, in many things. The effects of the strike haven't shown up yet in retail stores. Customers see plenty of everything they want around.

It will only be later this year that any shortages could appear—and then only if civilian goods makers have to close down later for lack of steel or other materials.

Here's Your Answer To Those Puzzles About Flying Saucers

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK —(AP)— It must be Tom Swift.

Yes, who else could it be but fun-loving Tom Swift, flying those flying saucers around?

You remember Tom, the all-American boy inventor. He took up where Thomas Edison left off. The Horatio Alger heroes were scheming opportunities, the Rober Boys were juvenile hoboes, and Frank Merriwell was a tramp athlete compared to Tom Swift, the dedicated youthful scientist.

A generation ago he was the fictional hero of every nearsighted lad whose scrawny frame compelled him to believe in the power of brain over brawn. How they loved to read about Tom Swift and his motorcycle, Tom Swift and his glider, Tom Swift and his submarine, Tom Swift and his flying machine, Tom Swift and his pogo stick.

Well, sometime after the end of World War I, as best I can recall, his fans lost interest in Tom and his fantastic contraptions and began reading Ernest Hemingway and Faith Baldwin. They had learned about love, and found it more fascinating than anything Tom Swift ever had invented.

Heartbroken, Tom dropped from sight. What happened to him? It is my belief that all these years he secretly has been perfectig flying saucers, hoping with this crowning scientific achievement to win his old fans back.

Naturally, he will turn his invention over to the American government, as he did with all his earlier inventions. Right now, he's just having a little fun with the thing.

Some one of these days a tall, elderly man, not unhandsome despite his greying temples, will stride into Air Force headquarters in the Pentagon, lay a bundle of blueprints on the desk and say:

"Here are the plans for my flying saucers. I give them to you as a patriotic service."

"And who are you?" will ask the chairborne eagle.

"Just Tom Swift," will come the firm but modest reply.

I hate to think what will happen then. Three Air Force cops will hit him from three sides and cart him off to a psychopathic ward, as the fine old inventor yells, "I am, too, Tom Swift! I am! I am! I am!"

This will eliminate one of the two major problems facing the Air Force today. One of these problems is its inability to catch a flying saucer its pilots can see but don't believe in. The other is the problem in Korea: Its inability to put up a plane that will enable its pilots to close in on a Russian MIG-15 they can see and believe in—but can't catch.

The reason I believe that the flying saucers are a Tom Swift invention is that I can't understand the Air Force's attitude toward them.

It has checked some 2,000 reported sightings of "flying saucers" in the last year—25 per cent by military pilots—and says 1,800 of them can be explained as optical illusions, caused by weather conditions. Some 400 cases are still left unexplained, but the Air Force says it sees in them no pattern inimical to the United States.

What puzzles me is why, with all the thousands of American airmen in the sky in World War II, no flying saucers were reported before 1947. Were optical illusions and weather changes invented in 1947?

Nope, I still believe there is something besides illusion to it all. If it isn't Tom Swift, then some other inventor is fooling around up there—maybe Jules Verne.

There is one other possible explanation. I heard one small girl tell it to another.

"Of course, there aren't any flying saucers," she said, "They're just like Santa Claus and the Easter Bunny—it's your father and mother all the time."

Table-Top Stove Is Picnic Boon

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

When vacation days drag for the youngsters, and hot weather indoor cooking drags for mother, there's nothing like a warm outdoor meal in woods or roadside park or on the beach.

However, mothers don't relish building open fires, nor cooking over them. Furthermore, in many places they couldn't build fires if they wanted to, because of safety regulations.

These table-top stoves are the civilian cousin of the Coleman pocket stoves almost every GI used in the war. They make their own gas from liquid fuel, light instantly and can be regulated just like the burner of a gas range.

Small enough to tuck away in a spare corner of the car trunk, they burn four to five hours with one filling of fuel. They boil a pint of water in little more than two minutes.

Casseroles may be started in the oven at home and then heated up at the picnic spot, or entirely cooked outdoors. Glass casseroles must be heatproof, however.

Surprise Dad for the Fourth of July by whisking him away for an outdoor hot dinner—he'll like the change and you won't miss your hot kitchen.

Here's a tuna fish and noodle dish everyone in the family will like. It's easy to fix for that outdoor meal:

Tuna Fish and Noodles With Mushroom Cream Sauce
(5 Servings)

One tablespoon chopped onion, 1 teaspoon butter or margarine, 1 can cream of mushroom soup, 1/3 to 1/2 cup milk, one 7-ounce can tuna fish, 2 cups cooked noodles, 3/4 cup crushed potato chips.

Cook onion in butter until soft; stir cream of mushroom soup, milk and onion together. Break tuna into chunks; mix lightly with soup mixture and noodles. Place in greased 1 1/2-quart casserole. Top with potato chips. Pease and olives may be added, if desired.

For home use, bake at 350 degrees F. (moderate oven) for 20-30 minutes. For picnics, either bake at home and heat up at picnic, or cook on table-top burner.

Chris Simons, 62, Cattle Buyer, Dies

CALVERT —(AP)— C. S. (Chris) Simons, 62-year-old cattle buyer, died at his home near here Wednesday.

Born in McLeannan County, Simons began tarding in cattle when he was a youth. He would drive a wagon around the countryside, purchase baby calves from farmers and dairymen and sell them at cattle markets in Waco.

Simons had a record of attending a cattle sale at different towns in Central Texas every day of every week for the last 30 years. He was one of the most colorful men in the business. He and a son, Kelly Simons, operated a ranch near Calvert.

Plastic furniture upholstery now comes with dull, rich surfaces that really resemble textiles, but they're still completely washable with a soapy cloth.

United States Looks To Australia, South Africa For Uranium Sources

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Precious uranium ore for America's ever-expanding atomic program soon will be coming from two new foreign sources—South Africa and Australia—the United States has revealed in a report also disclosing substantial progress in developing improved atomic weapons during the past six months.

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) in its twelfth semi-annual report to Congress further disclosed that additional uranium may come from new sources in Canada—long an American supplier — and that new sources within the United States itself are almost ready for initial production.

Increased Tempo Seen

Implying a vastly increased tempo for its entire atomic enterprise, the AEC revealed that its plants for producing atomic fissionable materials for explosives and other uses had at times been pushed even beyond their designed operating capacity — even as new ones are being built and still others are in prospect under the recently approved three and a half billion dollar expansion program.

As for the new foreign sources of raw uranium, the AEC said the first of several plants being constructed in South Africa to recover uranium from gold ores of the famous old "Rand" gold field is almost ready to start production.

It will be the first pay-off from a three-nation agreement—made in December 1950—whereby the United States and Britain will purchase from South Africa the by-product uranium, potential quantities of which have been described by the AEC as "relatively large because of the great quantities of gold ore mined."

Australia Source Large

Concerning the Australian source the AEC said only that an agreement was reached with Australia to supply uranium to the United States.

It was the first mention of such an agreement by the AEC, although Australia disclosed in March that she had accepted an American offer to purchase uranium from the "Radium Hill" field of South Australia.

More recently, Australian officials were reported trying to interest the United States in developing Australia's so-called "rum jungle" uranium field—believed by Australian experts to be potentially one of the richest and most easily worked fields in the world.

Progress Reported

The AEC's report to Congress also listed:

1. Progress in the development of atomic propulsion for aircraft—with certain phases of design and development work having gained momentum in the past half year.

2. Continuance of a project to build a second type of atomic engine for possible use in a submarine—even as work progresses on building a hull for a submarine which will house an atomic power plant of a different type.

3. Research accomplishments offering hope for the development of a powerful medicine with which to treat people severely exposed to atomic radiation.

4. Significant advances towards developing improved atomic reactors—or "furnaces" — which might be used some day for producing useful atomic power and for other purposes.

5. Increased production of raw uranium ore from existing domestic sources—even as "new sources, both foreign and domestic are almost ready for initial production."

Mum On Weapons

But it made two separate references to the fact that it couldn't say much publicly along these lines, thereby prompting speculation that the weapons developments are really hot stuff.

"Although, for reasons of security, it is impossible here to specify the record of accomplishments in weapons developments," the AEC said, "It may be stated that substantial progress was made . . .

"A large part of the total national effort in the atomic energy field continued to be directed to the military aspects of atomic energy.

"Production of atomic weapons proceeded steadily. Research in a variety of subjects continued to yield new developments applicable to weapons: work continued on the application of these improvements to the design of specific weapon models to meet the various needs of the armed forces. Construction of several new facilities for weapons work progressed satisfactorily."

Texas Lamb Output Falls 10 Per Cent

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Agriculture Department reports that the 1952 lamb crop was two per cent larger than in 1951.

In the 13 Western sheep states (11 Western states plus South Dakota and Texas) this year's lamb crop is about two per cent smaller than in 1951, but in other states it is about 10 per cent above last year. Texas, the leading sheep state, has a 10 per cent smaller lamb crop than a year ago.

Valley In Line For Better Air Service

DALLAS —(AP)— A route pattern change will bring better airline service to the Rio Grande Valley, Trans-Texas Airways announced Wednesday.

A Civil Aeronautics Board-approved route change will give Trans-Texas passengers a non-stop flight from Corpus Christi to Harlingen, thence to Miller Municipal Airport at McAllen. Miller Field serves the Mission-McAllen-Edinburg area.

The new service will utilize Starliners, or 21-passenger DC-3's.

West Texas Counties Gain 18 New Wildcat Locations

The District 8 office of the Railroad Commission of Texas, in Midland, reported 34 applications requesting permission to drill in counties under its jurisdiction last week.

Majority of the applications were for wildcat locations. That type of operation accounted for 18 of the requests.

Gaines and Ector Counties led all others in new sites with four each. Three wildcats were staked in Gaines, and one in Ector.

Lobster Is Tasty Summer Dish

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Canned rock lobster is good hot weather fare and is also easy on the budget. It comes in large meaty pieces.

Personally, we think it is improved by a little extra seasoning, such as red pepper, lemon juice or aromatic bitters.

Rock Lobster Cakes
(4-5 servings)

Two cans South African rock lobster, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, 2 eggs, 3 to 4 tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon aromatic bitters.

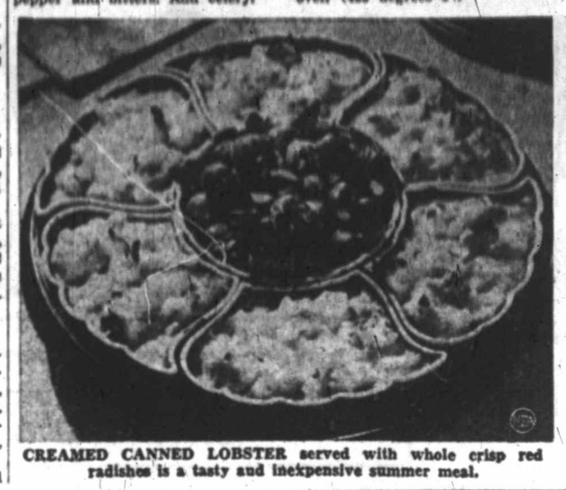

Combine flaked rock lobster meat with bread crumbs, egg, mayonnaise, mustard and bitters. Form into 12 small cakes. Dip in flour and saute on both sides in butter or margarine.

Creamed Rock Lobster Angostura
(5-6 servings)

Two cans South African rock lobster, 5 tablespoons buter or margarine, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 1/2 cups milk, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 teaspoon aromatic bitters, 1/2 cup diced celery.

Melt butter or margarine. Add onion and cook 2 minutes over very low heat until slightly tender but not yellow. Stir in flour until well blended. Add milk gradually, while stirring over low heat. Add salt, pepper and bitters. Add celery.

Remove rock lobster meat from can, break meat up into small pieces and add. Mix well and place in individual shallow ovenproof dishes. Brown lightly in moderately hot oven (425 degrees F.)

Stevenson Proves Faithful To Church

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.—(AP)—A regular Sunday worshiper, Gov. Adlai Stevenson usually attends Unitarian or Presbyterian Churches.

On special occasions, such as Christmas Eve, he has gone to services at an Episcopal pro-cathedral in Springfield.

The Democratic presidential nominee regards himself as a member of the Unitarian Church of Bloomington, Ill., the old family home.

In Springfield, there is no Unitarian Church and when he is in town Stevenson generally attends services at the First Presbyterian Church.

Stevenson's attendance at a Presbyterian Church in cities where there is no Unitarian Church probably has some foundation in the religion of his parents.

"My father was a Democrat and a Presbyterian and my mother a Republican and Unitarian," he has said. "I ended up in his party and her church."

If Stevenson is elected in November, he will be the fifth Unitarian to occupy the White House. John Adams, John Quincy Adams, Millard Fillmore and William Howard Taft were members of the Unitarian Church. Thomas Jefferson and Abraham Lincoln both expressed preferences for the Unitarian Church but were not members.

A cold glass of Borden's Buttermilk is just the thing on a sizzling day. You'll love its fresh churn flavor. Every sip is so chilly-good it seems to pull the temperature down. And, its alkalizing effect helps undo the wearying damage of fatigue acids. Try it. There's nothing like good old Borden's churn flavored buttermilk on a hot day.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By AL McCLANE
Fishing Editor

When the third annual Bimini Tuna Tournament was wrapped up this year, the man who walked off with the package was our good friend George Bass.

Uncle Lou Marron tapped a 569-pounder which was the biggest horse mackerel snaffled in this six-day marathon—but Bass totaled 4590 points, or the equivalent of 11 giant bluefin, six of them taken in one day.

This came as no surprise to your reporter, because we fairly predicted the outcome of this bluefin derby in Field & Stream last March. Bass is one of the hottest rods in the history of big-game angling.

When I wrote about Phyllis and George Bass last Spring, they held 12 world records. They now hold 16. Which just goes to prove that luck plays a very small part in fishing. As a matter of fact, the talented Bass is writing a book on how to catch salt-water fish—including one chapter on how to break world records.

Of course he expects to have the name Bass after every fish on the IGFA chart before you see his book, but the truth is that Gallopin' George has a system, and he's willing to tell all.

He knows the where, why, and how of ocean fish, and his knowledge of boats and tackle is phenomenal. Most of these record fish were caught on lighter gear than the average man uses for black bass in fresh water. His most recent record was a 103 1-2-pound white marlin on 12-pound-test line!

On the distaff side we have things like a 92-pound tarpon taken on 12-pound line, and a 518-pound tuna taken on 45-pound-test line—mere exercise for the most modest gal who ever flipped a star drag.

With all the hoopala about world records, George is a brass-tacks conservationist, a subject of increasing importance in our marine fisheries. The old hat about the ocean being inexhaustible is full of holes.

This is especially true of pelagic (wandering) fish like the tuna, striped bass and sailfish. Many game and food fish which we've taken for granted are on the way out unless the sportsman makes his pitch to Uncle Whiskers on such choice bits of legislation as the Federal Tidelands decisions.

George Bass has been a prime mover in big-game release programs. This made him as welcome as the seven-year itch in some angling resorts, where fish were usually hung on a dock for publicity purposes.

George knew there was only one way to bathe the unwashed, so he did everything from holding a one-man tuna fishing contest in Bimini last year, taking 26 and releasing 22 giant bluefin, to breaking all the records he could find. Somebody had to listen.

This year every contestant got 450 bonus points for each fish released and was penalized for each tuna he killed that weighed less than 450 pounds. This put a premium on the angler's judgement, and kept the boys busy clipping their fish loose.

Bass has won the first round, and if he doesn't come a cropper while bulldogging his way through big-game society, perhaps gentlemen anglers will raise their caps in well deserved tribute.

Air Punch May Spark Major 'Break' in Truce

Allied strategists believe the UN's stepped-up air war in Korea may prove a major factor in ending the Reds' year-long stalling in truce talks. Map at right shows where the enemy has suffered damaging blows recently from fleets of Allied planes. Until June 23, when 500 UN planes kayoed five power plants, the Allies had spared Red hydroelectric plants from air assaults in an effort to show the Chinese no invasion of their territory was threatened. Serving further notice that the Allies will play rough until Communist truce negotiators quit their stubborn stand on the long-deadlocked prisoner exchange issue were the recent statement by Gen. J. Lawton Collins and the mass Thunderjet flight described in layout below.

Blind Texan Rides Bicycle, Earns Doctorate In Music

His confident stride, his iron-gray crew-cut, his booming voice—these add to picture of physical competence. He's sometimes seen riding a bicycle.

More often, he's seen on the campus of Abilene Christian College here. For Burford is professor of music. He's been on the ACC faculty since 1932 and has headed the music department since 1937.

That his loss of sight hasn't obscured his goal was evident early in June. Burford received his doctor of education degree June 5 from Teachers College, Columbia University, New York City. Thus he joined the rare circle of blind persons who have gained their doctorates.

Burford also is the founder and conductor of the ACC A Cappella Chorus which has performed in scores of cities in the five-state area.

He also teaches voice, piano and theory. He himself is an accomplished pianist and singer.

Devoted To Music

He is one of the song directors of the College Church of Christ, and weekly he rattles the piano keyboard for the Abilene Lions Club, of which he is a member. He can fill fellow Lions' requests from Chopin on down to "Little Liza Jane."

He is devoted to his work in music. Almost any hour of the day you might find him in his studio office pecking away on his latest model Braille typewriter while preparing lesson plans.

Typewriting, whether the machine he built according to Hoyle or Braille, is another field in which Burford excels. He even typed the first draft of his 115-page doctor's dissertation, entitled "The Blind in Music Education of the Sighted." Recently he compiled 86 hymns for transcription into Braille for distribution to the blind by the 14th and Vine Church of Christ, Abilene.

Although born on a farm south of Abilene, Burford moved into the city with his parents at school age. He embarked on his musical career when he was eight and by the time he reached 12 he was certain music would become his life's work. He was graduated from ACC in 1925 with his B. A. degree and received his M. A. in 1937 from Teachers College, Columbia.

Brother, Sister Blind

Leonard and his brother, Jack, and sister, Mable, were all afflicted from birth with an eye condition, retinitis pigmentosa, which is believed to be hereditary; however, neither of their parents had the condition, nor could it be traced in their families. Leonard's vision was always the poorest of the three. He became totally blind when he was 28.

Mrs. Lillian Frances Burford, mother of the three, became a widow in 1931. She was Burford's first music teacher. He also estimates that she did 90 per cent of his high school and college reading. Mrs. Burford received a huge ovation when he was granted an honorable degree in 1925 in reconditioning of her work with Leonard.

As for his hobbies, Burford explains: "I ride an old-fashioned tandem bicycle built for two. Usually I can get a student to do the guiding and I do the pedaling."

He dabbles in woodwork, but is careful to avoid machine tools. He couldn't do it without his carpenter's mitre saw, which, he says, will enable "anyone to cut straightly, eyes or no eyes." Most of his energy in this line is devoted to making air conditioners.

Burford's sidekick is Ronald, his seeing-eye dog. Once in New York Ronald bore the brunt of his master's huge frame when Leonard slipped and fell. A sprained leg his for the dog was the only casualty.

Being blind has helped Leonard learn to love all people. "My faith in the human race has been increased since I lost my sight 18 years ago, he exclaims. "I honestly believe that a thief running on the street would stop to help me across, so kind is the human heart."

Nebraska Leaderless While GOP Convenes

Gov. Val Peterson attended the convention. Lt. Gov. Charles Warner was there as a delegate. Next in the chain of command would be the speaker of the legislature. But the speaker, Ed Hoyt, had resigned.

That would make the chairman of the legislature's judicial committee the acting-governor. But the committee chairman, Senator Jack McKnight, also had resigned.

Beyond that, the law doesn't say.

For a quick sauce for asparagus add a little lemon juice and tarragon vinegar to commercially prepared mayonnaise; heat the mayonnaise over hot water stirring constantly.

U. S. To Strengthen Pacts With 'Down Under' Nations

HONOLULU —(AP)— Putting military muscle into the Australia-New Zeland-United States Defense Pact is the big aim of the Anzus Conference opening here Monday.

A permanent Anzus Defense Council is expected to be organized. Its job would be to weigh available forces against potential emergencies.

There is evidence also the United States delegation, headed by Secretary of State Dean Acheson, say lay some ground work for an eventual single Pacific organization to include Japan, the Philippines and other Pacific countries.

The United States has separate pacts also with the Philippines and Japan.

Air Vice Marshal F. R. W. Scherger, Australia's joint service staff representative in Washington, also will attend with Sir Percy Spender, Australian ambassador to the United States.

W. T. Gentry of the New Zeland army will attend with Foreign Minister Webb.

The State Department has not announced the American military representatives. Adm. Arthur W. Radford, Pacific Fleet commander, is the conference host.

The United States' separate defense agreements with Japan, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand link awkwardly with the United States as the common partner.

A Senate foreign relations committee said "the implication is that the treaty with Australia and New Zeland and the other security treaties are but the first step in the creation of a more effective security system for the Pacific."

It seems logical Acheson will be working on a long range goal.

★ Daddy Ringtail ★

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And Plain As Day

Said Mugwump Monkey, the monkey boy: "Daddy Ringtail, please tell me again why the elephant has a long trunk instead of a nose like I have."

Daddy Ringtail told him again. Daddy Ringtail told how once in the long ago, all elephants had no trunks at all. Instead they each had a nose like a little button. And then one day an elephant sniffed at some cheese in a mousetrap. "Snap!" went the trap, and the elephant's button nose was caught fast so he couldn't get away. What oh what should he do? Well, he pulled and he pulled and he backed away and he pulled some more until his nose came loose at last. "Pop!" Ah me, because now the nose was stretched real long to be a trunk like an elephant's trunk ever since. "And that," said Daddy Ringtail, "is why the elephant has a trunk."

"Oh now, Daddy Ringtail," said Mugwump, "I think you are teasing. Why does the elephant really have a trunk?"

Daddy Ringtail told him. Daddy Ringtail explained that an elephant has a trunk for the same reason that a camel has a hump. And why does a camel have a hump? Well, Mugwump would have to find a camel and ask her, and so Mugwump hurried away to do it, and he did. He found a camel-people and said: "Mrs. Camel, will you please tell me why you have a hump?"

"Humph!" said the camel with never a smile. "I have a hump for the same reason that a tiger has his stripes."

"And why, Mrs. Camel, does a tiger have his stripes?"

"Humph!" said the camel again. "You will have to find a tiger and ask him." And so Mugwump hurried away to do it, and he did.

"Mr. Tiger, why do you have stripes?" asked Mugwump. But Mugwump had made a mistake. This tiger was not a friendly tiger-people. This was a dangerous tiger with dangerous tiger stripes and he began to chase after Mugwump to catch him. Yes, and the tiger's dangerous mother with dangerous tiger stripes began to help with the chasing, and Mugwump saw plain as day just why a tiger has his stripes. He has them to be like his mother, and the camel has a hump to be like her mother, and the elephant has his trunk to be like his mother. Happy day!

TOOTH-PICKING TROUBLES BEATEN

This Corn On Cob Won't Stick In Eater's Teeth

MADISON, WIS. —(AP)— Coming soon is corn on the cob that won't stick in your teeth.

The big tooth-picking troublemakers are glumes—the hard, leathery envelopes that partly encase each kernel of corn. In typical corn the glumes surround the lower half of each kernel. Nibbling off row of kernels, you also get glumes that may stick in your teeth or cut sensitive gums.

The glumes do another disservice. They usually prevent your biting out the whole kernel, especially the bottom of it containing the embryo that is richest in vitamins and proteins.

Glumes are gremlins for corn canners, too. They constrict the base of the kernel, reducing kernel size and preventing deep cutting. Loose glumes have to be washed away.

The answer to the glume problem is glumeless corn being developed by Walton C. Galinat, graduate student working with Dr. Robert H. Andrew, assistant professor of agronomy at the University of Wisconsin. Galinat is continuing work started at the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station.

He started with a corn which had no glumes at all, and cross-bred it with other forms of corn to get corn which had short glumes on the tassel and no glumes on the ear. The corn with these characteristics was able to reproduce itself.

Breeding glumeless corn is harder than it sounds, for there are glumes on the tassel of corn, too. The tassel glumes protect the immature corn pollen. Without glumes, the sun's heat burns out the young pollen and so prevents normal pollen development.

Galinat now has a corn with short glumes on the kernels, but large-enough glumes on the tassel. He is adding the glumeless characteristic to standard sweet corn hybrids to produce glumeless corn which is more productive and nutritious than the present long-glumed types.

It may take a few more years, he says, before this corn is available for more dinner and post-dinner pleasure.

McMahon's Death Accents Already Hot Senate Battle

By EDWIN HA'AKINSON

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Most politicians are agreed the unexpected death of Senator Brien McMahon (D-Conn) will make even tighter the already touch-and-go battle between Democrats and Republicans for control of the Senate this Fall.

McMahon's death Monday reduced the wobbly Senate Democratic majority to three and boosted to 35 the number of seats at stake in the November elections.

As matters now stand, there are 46 Republican senators, 49 Democrats and one vacancy in the 96 Senate seats.

Of the 35 seats to be filled this Fall, 15 now are held by Democrats and 20 by Republicans. The majority of the present senators still are serving out their six-year terms and are not up for reelection.

Republicans, to regain Senate control in 1953, must elect at least 23 senators this Fall to gain a bare majority of 49. They probably need 25 or 26 to have effective control, because some Republican senators often vote with Democrats.

Democrats need only 14 winners in Senate contests to retain a bare majority. Many of the Senate contests are in Southern or border states where Democrats normally win.

Republican enthusiasts for Dwight D. Eisenhower, GOP presidential nominee, are counting on his vote-getting ability at the head of the ticket to produce majorities in both the House and Senate.

Because both vice presidential nominees are senators, Republican Richard Nixon of California and Democrat John Sparkman of Alabama, the winning ticket automatically will lose a Senate seat temporarily.

However, governors of their states are of the same party as the nominees, and are expected to appoint successors from the same party, keeping the balance unchanged.

Iced Coffee Cited As Perfect Answer To Summer Heat

Rain-making and air-conditioning form the modern scientist's belated denial of Mark Twain's claims that everybody talks about the weather but nobody ever does anything about it. Since most women are not interested in making rain and many don't have air-conditioning, they settle for a kind of pseudo weather control — meaning mealtime and snacktime foods and beverages that bring both pleasure and comfort.

Many women who serve iced coffee as the perfect answer to rampaging Summer temperatures overlook the fact that here is a drink so adaptable to change, that countless interesting and tasty variations are possible with it.

It even can be prepared as a liquid dessert!

Coffe Ice Cream Soda

One of the best of these is known as the coffee ice cream soda—easy to make, cheaper than most desserts, and bound to win the hearty approval of family and guests. Served with sweet crackers, it makes a wonderful party snack, too.

For four servings, combine one and a half cups of strong iced coffee, a half cup of light cream and a half cup of sugar syrup Mix well divide among four tall glasses, and add a scoop of coffee ice cream to each glass. Fill the glasses with cold sparkling water and serve with pride.

For a pert touch: plant a gaily colored drinking straw in each frosty glass—but don't forget the iced coffee spoons. They'll be needed for the final diggings.

They Couldn't Raze It . . .

. . . So They Blazed It—

The white frame house, at New Haven, Conn., seen above, was erected before the American Revolution. In those days, when men built, they built to stay. Owned by the city, it was scheduled for destruction as it was in the way of a new road. But the building was so strongly constructed that it was extremely difficult to tear down. So the city decided to burn it down, at little or no cost, while at the same time giving the fire department some practice in handling fires. In upper picture, Fire Chief Paul P. Heins, center, left, and Deputy Chief Dan Collins, direct the "arson" preparations. Below, firemen stand by as the house goes up in flames.

Pioneer To Mark Seventh Anniversary Of Service

Friday will mark the seventh anniversary of the inauguration of service by Pioneer Air Lines, Gen. Robert J. Smith, company president, has announced.

In celebration of the occasion, Pioneer will present each passenger on that day with a special birthday cake. At the same time, the company's personnel will hold their annual picnic and dance in Dallas.

Pioneer first began operations on Aug. 1, 1945, on a 683-mile route from Houston to Amarillo via Austin, San Angelo, Abilene and Lubbock with three nine-passenger Lockheed airplanes.

In August and September, 1946, with the same route, Pioneer changed from the small nine-passenger planes to the 24-passenger DC-3 plane.

In February, 1947, service was inaugurated from Houston to Dallas via Texas A&M College-College Station-Bryan, Temple and Waco and from Dallas to Midland-Odessa via Fort Worth, Mineral Wells, Abilene, Sweetwater and Big Spring.

The present Pioneer system of 21 cities in Texas and New Mexico over 1,972 route miles was completed on May 1, 1948, with an extension from Lubbock to Albuquerque via Clovis, Tucumcari, Las Vegas and Santa Fe.

Starting on June 2 and ending on June 30 of this year, Pioneer again changed airplenes. This time, the change was made from the 24-passenger, 160-mile per hour DC-3 to the 36-passenger, 270-mile per hour Pacemaster, which presently provides all service on the Pioneer system.

In its first full year of operations, 1946, Pioneer transported 20,687 passengers while in 1951, 161,856 passengers were flown on the company's system. During the seven years, Pioneer has safely transported more than 677,000 passengers on scheduled operations without fatal accident or injury.

Trio Of Veterans Cruise South Seas

WILMINGTON, CALIF.— (AP) — Three young Navy veterans sailed off recently in their 43-foot schooner, Camarada, bent on following in the wake of the Kon Tiki, a raft full of scientists which drifted from Chile to the South Seas.

The trio, Frank Thatcher, 26, Pat Swift, 26, and Miles Wyatt, 27, explained they would work their way down the coast, stopping at La Paz and Acapulco, Mexico, then at Panama and South American ports.

"We plan to be gone 18 to 24 months," said Thatcher, "depending on how long the money holds out." After they reach Valparaiso, Chile, they will turn west toward the Marquesas and Tahiti.

Douglas Proves Loyal Friend

WASHINGTON—(AP)—One of the most touching events of the Democratic convention occurred when Senator Douglas of Illinois led Senator Kefauver up the platform steps to announce he was abandoning any hope of winning the presidential nomination.

Although he's the senator from Illinois where Adlai Stevenson is governor, Douglas supported Kefauver, who had campaigned for the nomination, and not Stevenson, who hadn't lifted a finger to get it.

Any one who knows Douglas knows he is a man of intense feeling. He volunteered in the Marines in World War II when he was in his late forties and therefore was draft-proof.

He went through the same training that the youngest recruit was called upon to endure. He fought in the Pacific and at Okinawa, and suffered wounds that left one hand practically useless.

He had stuck to Kefauver through all the trying early days of the convention. He had no ambition for the presidency himself. He had flatly rejected any suggestion that he be a candidate.

When the delegates returned from a talk with Averell Harriman they had the announcement that he was withdrawing and was throwing his support to Stevenson, which meant Stevenson would get the big New York vote.

Immediately afterwards Governor Dever of Massachusetts, who had the solid bloc of delegate votes from his state although having no real chance for the nomination, came out for Stevenson.

That was the end of the road for Kefauver who had campaigned for months, going from coast to coast, shaking countless thousands of hands, making speeches without end.

He had lost to Stevenson who hadn't said one word in his own behalf and had actually said he didn't want the nomination at all.

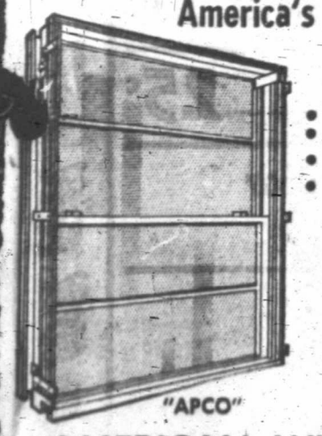

Kefauver heard the news about Harriman and Dever in his hotel room. He sent for Douglas who had a room a few doors away. Kefauver decided to go directly to the convention and announce his withdrawal.

To get up on the platform the two men had to climb the small stairway off to one side. Only the newsmen close to the stairway could see what was happening on the stairway.

The loyal Douglas, suffering for his friend in this moment of his great defeat, was leading Kefauver up the stairway as he might have led a wounded man. He held him by the hand.

As they sat on the platform, waiting for a chance for Kefauver to make his public surrender, it was hard to tell which of them looked more unhappy, Kefauver or Douglas.
