VOLUME 4

J. L. LEA WILL HEAD MERCHANTS ASSO.

J. M. BLAND RETIRED FROM THE PRESIDENCY OF ASSOCIATION LAST NIGHT.

A SPLENDID BANQUET

Annual Spread and Meeting Was a Splendid Success—An Excellent Program.

J. L. Lea, the grocer, was elected president of the Retail Merchants' Association, at the annual meeting and banquet, which was held at the city hall Friday night. Mr. Lea was elected to fill the unexpired term of J. M. Bland who last night retired from the presidency of the association because of the fact that he is no longer engaged in the mercantile business. After Mr. Lea's name was offered for the presidency, a motion that the nomination be closed was adopted and Mr. Lea's election was made unanimous. He was elected not only for Mr. Bland's unexpired term but also for the ensuing term.

Following the business session of the association which was held in the hall on the second floor of the city hall, the members repaired to the Chamber of Commerce room on the first floor where the banquet of the Civic League had spread a dainty banquet.

The business session was called to order by retiring President J. M. Bland. The first business of the session was the reading of Secretary Thomas' annual report. This report showed the association to be in a most flourishing condition with a membership of over fifty and more than $200 in the treasury. Mr. Thomas announced that a credit rating book giving the rating of every credit customer in the city was now in the hands of the printer and would be distributed within the next week or ten days.

Secretary Thomas' report was followed by the annual address of the President. In part Mr. Bland said: "The year 1910 ought to be a great year for us, for as you know, we are to be honored by conducting the state convention in June; and we ought to draw enough enthusiasm from that event to last us a long time. The entertainment of the convention will be a great opportunity for us to advertise our city and the character of our merchants and people. Let us all resolve to do our very best in that effort. Do not depend upon any one to do your part, but get right in and help to make it the greatest state convention ever held, and by so doing sustain the reputation which Wichita Falls already has all over the state. We have made flattering promises for the convention; let's do even better than we have promised."

"At the beginning of the organization a great many people looked upon it with an eye of suspicion, some thinking that we were combining to regulate and raise prices, others perhaps thinking that we were conspiring against the interests of our customers, but this suspicion has gradually vanished, until now you rarely hear any such insinuations. One of the very first things this organization decided not to do was that of discussing prices. No attempt whatever has been made to regulate prices on any commodity."

"How to get interested in the work of the Association" was the subject of a short talk by R. D. Kennedy. "Put something in it—your money and your own personal efforts" was the advice given by Mr. Kennedy. He said that one of the best ways to stimulate interest was to attend every meeting of the association and to be punctual in attendance. He read a resolution from the American League Association protesting against the rural parcels post. This protest set forth that if a rural parcels post was established the big mail order houses would lose their business and the small retailers who would sell orders from rural patrons for goods from the catalogues that would be sent by freight or express to the town in which the goods would be delivered by usual carriers to the buyers."

R. J. Bean suggested that there was "a bigger in the woodpile" somewhere and intimated a belief that the agitation against the rural parcels post was being conducted by the mail order houses themselves. As the subject promised prolonged discussion the chairman referred the matter to the board of directors for further discussion and deliberation.

Judge R. E. Huff who was present was called upon and briefly addressed the merchants relative to efforts to increasing the area of their trade territory. He advised the merchants to thoroughly post themselves on the prices asked for goods in other towns and cities. "Be honorable and fair in all your dealings and don't encourage any one of your members who may engage in sharp practices. Let ever man receive a legitimate profit but form no combinations as to prices. Get a fair profit and the prices will take care of himself," he said. "Call attention to the fact higher prices are paid for butter, eggs and other products that the farmer has to sell are paid here than in other towns and cities. Urge better and shorter roads and if you know a customer hasn't paid another merchant don't get stuck yourself. Think of the city you pay, said Mr. Huff. In closing he said that there had been marked improvements in mercantile establishments of Wichita Falls in the past two years. J. M. Blankenship attorney for the association talked on some points of law and urged the merchants to put their accounts into judgments as the best method of collecting bad debts.

In an address on the purpose of the organization B. J. Bean said that one of the greatest things was the promotion of friendly relations. He declared that the credit bureau of the association was the best in Texas. He said that the rating given customers should be absolutely fair and impartial. "Don't rate your customer at all if there is anything personal in it," he advised. Mr. Bean predicted that the time was near at hand when a merchant coming from one city to another would be given a credit clearance card similar to a railroad clearance card.

Mr. Bean's address concluded the business session and the members repaired to the Chamber of Commerce where the ladies of the Civic League had spread a banquet that was one of the best ever served in Wichita Falls. At each plate was a hand painted menu, the sketches being appropriate for the occasion.

The menu was as follows:
Oyster Cocktail
Hearts of Celery
Saratoga Flakes
Roast Turkey
Cranberry Sauce
Potatoes, au Gratin
Salad, a la Civic League
Sherbert
Cheese
Coffee

It was served by Mesdames Thatcher, Richolt, Kemp, Adickes, Duke Murray, Brown, Beavers, Gaffney, Roberts, Collier, Kell and Miss Pauline Richolt.

Mr. Bland acted as toast master. "The Relationship of Manufacturers, Jobbers and Retailers" was discussed by Wiley Blair. Mr. Blair described the channels through which products are conveyed from the manufacturer to the consumer, giving special attention to the part of the jobber and retailer. He said he didn't believe any jobber had any right to sell to any man a dollar's worth of goods which should be bought from the retailer. On the other hand, he said, he believed the retailer should not buy from the manufacturer but through the regular legitimate trade channels.

Hon. Britain in speaking on the subject "How Merchants can contribute toward the making of a town or city" said that the merchant who doesn't see ahead a bigger and better store was a misfit. "We ought to make this the most attractive trading place in this country," he said. "A merchant ought always to be ahead of the town."

Frank Kell said that the Wichita Falls merchants were the cleanest set of merchants he knew anything about. He said that they were in much the same attitude toward customers from the outside that a cowboy once was. The cowboy was in New York and was dining with some of his city friends. One ordered raw beefsteak, another ordered his little razor, a third ordered his razor still. When the cowboy was asked for his order he said "Just drive the steer around. I'll get mine as he goes by."

Secretary F. H. Day gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "How to Secure Home Patronage."

Wiley Blair announced an offer of the Blair Hughes Co. to banquet the members and visitors of the state association at the annual meeting here next June. The offer was unanimously accepted. Upon a motion President Lea was instructed to appoint a committee of three to name committees for the meeting of the State association.

DEMOCRATS PREPARE FOR TARIFF REVISION

WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE WILL BE AT WORK ALL SUMMER AND FALL.

WILL EMPLOY EXPERTS

Needed Data to Be Compiled and Plans Carefully Laid for Systematic Work Next Session.

Washington, Jan. 21.—All spring, part of the summer and much of the fall of this year will be spent by the majority members of the next Ways and Means Committee in Washington. The fourteen Democrats will be busy framing a tariff bill upon which to make the National campaign in 1912. Their work was cut out for them last night, when the Democratic caucus in the most harmonious manner on record elected them all by acclamation with Representative Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama as their head. The first meeting of the majority members of the new committee was called for next Friday. At this meeting recommendations will be made by the various members of the committee from which the Democratic membership of the next Rules Committee will be formed.

Henry May Head List.
Representative Robert L. Henry of Texas is expected to head this list and other strongly backed for membership are Stanley of Kentucky, Gram of Illinois, Hardwick of Georgia, and Fitzgerald of New York and the Rules Committee will be the first named by the Ways and Means Committee next tariff, will be empowered to name all standing committees of the House. It is then planned for the majority members of the Rules Committee to get together several times during the year and frame a set of tentative rules for submission to a Democratic caucus to be held one week before the beginning of the next session.

When it has named the Rules Committee next Friday or at a subsequent meeting, the Ways and Means Committee will begin to lay plans for writing the new tariff. It will first secure the services of a number of experts preferably Democratic in party affiliation. These will be paid out of Democratic National Committee funds and when control of the House is gained their services will be appropriated for.

Just how the tariff will be revised was a matter of discussion today, but it was generally understood that the single schedule plan would be retained. Underwood Outlines Program.
"No action regarding the tariff will be taken at Friday's meeting of the committee," said Representative Underwood. "The members of the committee are all busy with other things at this time and it will not be necessary to get down to work on the tariff bill until after adjournment on March 4. Then we will put our clerks and statisticians to work and begin framing a bill which we expect to have ready to introduce on the first day of next session. We do not anticipate the necessity of holding hearings. The reports of the hearings that were held eighteen months ago are at our disposal, and we can gather ample information from these."

"If, however, any interests demand a hearing and it should seem necessary that they be heard, our doors are open. We do not wish to exclude anybody from a fair hearing. Our aim is to go through every schedule in the bill so that we may have either revision by schedule or general revision. As I understand it, every member of the committee is in favor of schedule by schedule revision. As to the schedule which will be taken up first I can make no prediction. There are fourteen of us on the committee and we probably will not know until we have gone along with the work some time. It will be most important to take up first. Our bill when prepared will be in such shape that whatever schedule Congress desires to give immediate consideration to will be accessible."

OKLAHOMA MAY BUILD RAILROAD

JOINT LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE AT PRESENT CONSIDERING THE IDEA

PLAN IS FOR 425 MILES

Bond Issue of Probably Ten Millions Would Be Necessary to Build the Line.

By Associated Press.
Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 21.—The state of Oklahoma will go into the railroad business if the public service corporation committee of the legislature put through their plans. They want to establish a railroad 425 miles in length to cost $10,000,000 and run from the southeast corner of the state to the northwest, opening up new agricultural, coal and timber lands.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Jan. 21.—Joint Committee on Public Service Corporations of the Legislature is considering the idea submitted by the people a proposition for a State railroad which would cross the state from the Colorado line on the northwest to the Texas line near Hugo, an approximate distance of 425 miles. The project would be owned and operated by the State and the construction, costing about $20,000 per mile, the promoters think a State bond issue of approximately $10,000,000 would be necessary. Action is proposed under Section 33 of bill of rights which permits the State to employ in any business except agriculture.

Active in presenting the idea are members of the State Federation of Labor and of the Farmers' Union, who point out that it would place in the State's hands a cudgel in driving freight rates down. At the northwest end of the line, the State of Colorado, which is spoken of as being heavily ridden by high freight rates and alleged railroad monopolies. On the south, the promoters expect the State of Texas to either build to Gulf Idewater, or afford the Oklahoma corporation a satisfactory traffic agreement from Red River south. It is recalled that Gov. O. B. Colquitt while a member of the Texas Railroad Commission, addressed the Oklahoma constitutional convention and endorsed the idea of the late James S. Hogg of Texas for a publicly owned railroad through that State as a means for controlling the freight rates that could not be through orders of the commission. Supporting the local movement are members of the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce, believing that this city could be the center of a great business district. It is figured to also have connecting lines with those sections of the State not possessing railroads, or railroad completion. An idea of this kind was a feature in the campaign platform of William H. Murray in his race for Governor last summer.

Several members of the Legislature are preparing bills on the subject. Mr. Voshurg, of Woodward county, whose section is in need of transportation lines, he says, will offer one. He believes it will be necessary to create a board of public utilities, and that the bond issue, instead of applying to the State at large, might be confined to the districts benefited. It is figured to also have connecting lines with those sections of the State not possessing railroads, or railroad completion. An idea of this kind was a feature in the campaign platform of William H. Murray in his race for Governor last summer.

RUNAWAY GIRLS RIDE ON FREIGHT TRAIN

CARRIE AND MARY MAUCH GO AS FAR AS VERNON IN A BOX CAR.

ARE PUT OFF THE TRAIN

Will Be Brought Back to Wichita Falls, Wedding Bells May Ring on Their Return.

Carrie and Mary Mauch, the two young German girls who have been missing from the city for several days, were brought back to this city in the morning by Constable Tom Pickett. According to a report that has reached here the girls rode to Vernon in a box car and were put off there in care of the officers by the train crew. This was early in the week and it was only when their father, a German farmer living near Holdaway, discovered their absence from the city, where they had been employed as domestics in private families and instituted a search for them that they were located.

One of the girls is 16 and the other 18 years of age. They had lived all their lives on a farm and had little experience with railroads, and how they ever mastered enough courage to ride in a box car is something that mystifies the local officers.

It is said that the cause for the girls leaving town was a desire to escape moving to another place with their father.

There is a romance in connection with one of the girls and it is expected there will be a marriage upon her return here tomorrow. In fact, Chief of Police Quinn has been commissioned to secure a marriage license by a young man who desires to take her as his bride.

EUGENE V. DEBS ON SOCIALIST FAITH

DELIVERS ENTERTAINING LECTURE AT WICHITA THEATRE LAST EVENING

LARGE AUDIENCE PRESENT

Speaker is a Pleading Talker and He Provoked Liberal Applause at Times.

Eugene V. Debs, the great apostle of socialism and expounder of the teachings of that organization, lectured at the Wichita Theatre last evening to a good sized audience, composed largely, however, of people residing outside of the city.

His lecture was listened to attentively and was frequently applauded as he made the telling points in the course of his argument. He is a man of pleasing personality, an orator of unusual ability, and whether or not one agrees with his idea of government, it must be admitted that he is a great man and is a man who is possessed of that force calculated to lead great weight to his remarks.

The speaker last night discussed in an impassioned way the principles of socialism, reviewing the history of the country to emphasize his views, and occasionally taking a rap at the two old parties, much to the delight of those present who subscribe to the socialist idea of government. In referring to the old parties Mr. Debs said: "The democratic party don't appeal to you to think, but to vote, while we appeal to you to think and then vote. George A. Gould said that the republican party and joined the democrats. The republican party has gotten so notoriously corrupt that he had to change over to the democratic party and run that while. At the same time Bourke Cockran was deserting the democratic party and going to the republicans for like reasons. The democratic party of New York was now trying to make Sheehan a member of the United States Senate, the man of whom Grover Cleveland once said: 'He is the most corrupt politician in the country.'"

"Among the many expressions of the speaker in discussing the different phases of his subject were the following characteristic utterances: "We socialists want a system where by the rich must work for what they get and by which the workman will get that for which he works."

"Socialism means the common ownership of things in common use; the individual ownership of those things for individual use."

"The fine will come when people will be able to get aboard a train and ride as freely as they now walk."

"If the logic of socialism does not reach your brain, the hand of the capitalist will reach your pocket and then you will wake up."

"There is not a fully developed capitalist in the country but that is opposed to competition. They organize for their position, not for the love they have for one another."

"There is less real morality in the four hundred of New York than in any people of the same number in the world."

"There will never be a race of free men until we have free mothers. But they say politics will degrade her. Then there is something wrong with your politics."

"Anybody can be nobody, but it takes a man to be somebody."

The speaker's lecture was sandwiched throughout with humorous sentences that interested and amused his audience and added spice to his lecture.

Industrial Development of Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma

Development of West Is Very Encouraging

With the characteristic progress that has made west Texas in general, and Wichita Falls in particular, so noted, the development of this section continues in a very satisfactory way and many encouraging reports come to us from all over northwest Texas and southwest Oklahoma, and this, in the face of a business depression that has almost paralyzed the commercial life of many communities in other sections of the country. New railroads are being promoted, factories are being erected, substantial buildings constructed and a general activity predominates in the business life of the territory adjacent to Wichita Falls. This fact is very forcibly demonstrated in the report of progress contained in the various items to be found on this page which of course do not begin to tell the full story of the commercial development in the territory covered.

In one article will be found an account of street paving in Abilene. Another the organization of a large brick plant at Memphis, while there is contained an account of progress toward the construction of a federal building at Amarillo. Vernon reports having raised the necessary funds for another railroad and Jernyn has prospects of securing another line. From Seymour comes the news of the rebuilding and improving of the telephone system at that place, while from Childress and Henrietta there are reports of the immediate commencement of those points with an adequate water supply. These and other evidences of progress are contained in this page, which will be found interesting to those who take a pride in the development of this country.

CHILDRESS PLANNING PURE WATER SUPPLY

Thought That an Inexhaustible Supply Can Be Had Between the Pease Rivers.

Childress, Texas, Jan. 21.—Childrens had many propositions to secure water supply but each time they have failed to materialize, generally on account of an insufficient supply of the aqua pura.

The latest proposition now and on the part of this county. The land is underlaid with a fine supply of pure water and it is thought almost inexhaustible. The water is found in a sand and gravel strata at a depth of ten feet and the supply is to be found at any place on this tract of land.

The water is about sixteen miles northwest of Childress and probably four miles west of a south course from the city. This will increase the elevation and perhaps may place the wells at about the same elevation as Childress.

Martin Coyne, passenger engineer on the north end, has ordered machinery for a broom factory and will be in operation about the first of next month.

Mr. Coyne is not new to the business as he has served the trade many years ago and knows how to make good brooms. The factory will be located in the rear of his brick building on Second street.

The capacity of the plant at first will only be large enough to take care of the local demand but Mr. Coyne stated to the index reporter that he would enlarge the factory as rapidly as the trade justified.

He bought several bales of brush Monday and Tuesday, buying fifty bales the latter day at $70 per ton. The brush was raised in Childress county.

PACKING COMPANY PLANS TO OPEN

Important Action Taken at Amarillo With Reference to the Matter.

Amarillo, Jan. 21.—An adjourned meeting of the Stockholders of the Panhandle Packing Company is called to meet in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce Monday at 7:30 p. m. The object of the meeting is to hear the report of the committee chosen at last Tuesday's meeting to devise means to raise the amount of the indebtedness. As it is a matter that affects the entire city all citizens are invited and urged to be present and express their views.

Yesterday the committee, after having been together for several hours, announced that they had decided upon a plan of raising the money that would be a burden on anybody. The building was built at a cost of $200,000 and has all modern equipment. An early opening of the plant would be a great thing in developing Amarillo, which is destined to rival Fort Worth as a packing center.

HENRIETTA HAS PLAN FOR WATER SUPPLY

Dam Will Be Constructed to Impound a Three Hundred Acre Reservoir.

Henrietta, Jan. 21.—Henrietta is in a fair way now to get that long desired water supply. For some time Secretary Skinner of the Board of Trade, has been laboring to interest a local capitalist in the water problem, and now he has the question in such shape that the party will probably submit a proposition to the city council some time next week. Mr. Skinner has acted as a go-between for the party and the council, and the proposition, while not in fact submitted, yet the council has the details of it reported by Mr. Skinner and has given its promise of favorable consideration.

The independent is not at liberty to give the name of the local capitalist interested in the deal, yet he is a man who will carry the enterprise to a successful finish when he takes it up. Other parties not yet disclosed, even to Secretary Skinner, are interested with him, and it is because he wanted to consult them that the proposition is not ready for submission.

Briefly stated, the parties will agree to build a dam that will impound a body of water covering approximately 30 acres of land at a cost for the entire outlay of $25,000 provided the council will contract to buy its entire water supply from them at a price of ten cents per 1000 gallons delivered in its city's reservoir at the pumping station.

It is said the quantity of water needed, or rather that is used when there is a supply on hand, will pay a reasonable return on the investment that will be required to purchase the land and build the dam. With a supply of water that will be sufficient for all domestic purposes will be largely increased and a water supply such as a large reservoir will afford will be a real inducement to establishments that use large quantities of water to locate here.

FEDERAL BUILDING SITE DETERMINED

Congressman Stephens Wires That Taylor and Stephens is Chosen.

Amarillo, Jan. 21.—Definite advice as to the location of the Federal building was given in telegrams from Congressman John H. Stephens to J. M. Donaldson of this city yesterday afternoon. The building is to be located on the three lots diagonally across from the Weather Bureau, back of the Grand Opera House.

When J. C. Plant was here a month ago looking over locations, two principal sites were offered for his consideration. The Taylor street property was offered at $10,000. Another location was offered at $2,000. He is leaving for Washington Mr. Plant was met at the train with a proposition on the first parties bidding in their property at $1. The syndicate which bid it is said to have paid $23,000 for it.

Although the location is settled, actual construction of the building is not determined. By a unanimous vote of the Senate, all public buildings included in the omnibus bill, which includes the Amarillo building, were held up indefinitely. Then too, it may take several months for the architect to draw the plans.

FEDERAL BUILDING WILL BE GREATLY BEAUTIFIED

W. D. Girard Appointed Custodian By N. V. Perry, Attorney of Treasury Department.

Abilene, Jan. 21.—N. V. Perry, Assistant Supervising Architect of the Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., who spent Friday and Saturday in Abilene, left over the Texas and Pacific yesterday evening for San Angelo, by way of Sweetwater, to superintend the construction of a Federal building now in course of erection. The Angelo building is of the same class as the Abilene building.

To Beautify Grounds. Mr. Perry stated that many improvements would be made on the Abilene building and grounds in the way of remodeling the walks, repainting the interior, laying out grass, resetting trees and providing more adequate lighting facilities.

Girard Appointed Custodian. Mr. Perry appointed W. D. Girard, United States Commissioner here, as custodian of the building and grounds. Mr. Girard, who is an enthusiastic grower of trees and flowers, promises to make all the needed improvements. He has already entered on his duties.

The development of this section of the state in general and of Wichita Falls in particular, is, as it has been for a number of years, a matter of great concern to our people, in so much that a greater degree of interest has been manifested along this line on the part of the citizenship of this city than could be found in any other community in the state. It is as a result of this consideration that Wichita Falls has attained the proud distinction it occupies in the commercial world and it is by virtue of such an unusual degree of civic pride that our development has astonished an admiring world.

To this development, both as affecting the city and the territory of Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma, the Times has contributed its best efforts in a general way, and shall continue to do so with all the energy available, and with a faithfulness commensurate with the pride we have in the progress of this section of the state. As a means of concentrating at least a part of this energy, aside from the development news that shall appear from day to day, the paper will on each Saturday contain a page or more of industrial news, properly classified for the convenience of the reader, and in which the improvements of this portion of the two states will be exploited that the public may have a better knowledge of the progress being made from time to time. We expect to make this a special feature of the Saturday issue, believing that it will be alike interesting to our home people and profitable in advertising this section abroad.

In this connection the Times invites communications of reasonable length from the commercial organizations, or others interested, throughout this section, advising us of the development of the respective communities.

JERMYN MAY GET THE ORAN CUT OFF

A Bonus of Fifteen Thousand Is Asked and It Will Most Likely Be Raised.

Jernyn, Jan. 21.—Colonel R. B. Williams, formerly superintendent of construction of the U. T. & W. Railway, which was established early in the year, is now in the city last Saturday and gave a very flattering prospect of Jernyn securing the Oran cut-off, which has been promoting from Jackboro, if he wants it. He says the money has already been secured for the construction of the road and he is ready to begin work at once. The line from Jackboro was surveyed to Oran last fall, and many thought at the time that it was a U. T. & W. project, but recent developments reveal the fact that this company has nothing to do with the project. In fact, G. T. & W. officials tell us that they do not intend to sever from their original intention of extending the road from Jackboro into Dallas and Fort Worth, and with a modification of the U. T. & W. bill, they will, in all probability, begin during the spring on the extension in early spring. This is conclusive evidence that the cut-off is a distinct and separate concern from this road. In fact, Colonel Williams says, it is an independent road backed by northern capital, who are really anxious to begin work.

The benefits to be derived from this road are incalculable, and will give Jernyn as well as other points on the U. T. & W. much more access to the Gulf and to the mercantile centers of the state. At present the freight rate from Dallas to Jernyn, for instance, takes a two-line rate, and the people of this section have to pay the excess made necessary through the independence of the Rock Island. If the cut-off is built through Jernyn it will probably be operated by the U. T. & W. in which event the one rate would ensue on all points on the U. T. & W. as it is a well known fact that a reciprocal arrangement could be made with this road, which would redound to the benefit of both companies. Besides, giving Jernyn an outlet north and south and east and west.

If the road is built from this point the terminals will be located here which will add several thousand dollars to our already handsome monthly payroll. It would mean more business, more homes, more people and a consequent permanency of the beautiful city which we have started to build. It would stimulate confidence in the town as no other enterprise can possibly do and would be a long stride towards the ten thousand mark which our people expect to attain before the first day in January, 1914. If we would secure this road now in the time to get busy, there should be no parleying, no dickering, no "we can't," but a uniform pull, one pull and a long one, and the road is ours. We must get it, should be the slogan of the day.

Colonel Williams' proposition is a very liberal one and a fair one. He proposes to build the line from here to Oran and have trains running within twelve months from the time he begins work, and all he asks is $15,000 cash and a right of way through Jack county which can easily be secured if the proper efforts are forth-coming. There can be no doubt but what the land owners along the proposed route would gladly donate the right of way and the $15,000 could be raised by raising the money in our people could get together in a meeting. And right here the writer wants to impress upon all who have the best interests of the town and this vicinity at heart to meet with the Ten Thousand Club next Tuesday night, as the matter will likely be taken up with that body for final disposition. With the money up and the bonds raised work would begin at once from this point and Jernyn would be the first to feel the benefits derived from the road. Colonel Williams says that he does not expect (because) to be paid until the road is in operation, which is proof enough that the proposition to build the line is a bona fide one and the man behind the project means business.

National Chess Tournament. New York, Jan. 21.—Thirteen of the foremost chess experts of America, among them Frank J. Marshall, J. R. Capablanca, J. W. Showalter and other players of world wide reputation, are entered in the National Chess Tournament, which will begin in this city tomorrow. The opening rounds will be played at the Cape Boulevard, Rice Chess Club and the Brooklyn Chess Club.

FLOYD COUNTY HAS GRATIFYING RECORD

Floydada, Tex., Jan. 21.—The year 1910 passed into history with a very creditable record so far as Floydada is concerned. Several things have contributed to make it a very prosperous year for us. The first of these was railroad connection to and from market, which was established early in the year. This not only gave better shipping facilities for the immediate country but makes it the logical shipping point for all the country north, east and south, to a distance of thirty miles or more. As fortune would have it, the country within this radius produced, perhaps the best crops on an average of all the Panhandle country. Not that there hasn't been better crops in certain things in other years. There have been years when this country grew better Indian corn, better maize and better kafir. But in these the year 1910 produced an abundance for all local needs and some to spare.

In order for a country to be prosperous the balance in trade must be in its favor, that is, there must be more money coming in from its exports than is going out for its imports. Floydada from the cotton record was on the right side of the balance sheet. Distant inquiry has made a fairly complete list of the principal exports for the year. These shipments were as follows:

Cotton, about	2,800 bales
Grain, about	30 cars
Cattle, about	300 head
Horses and mules	20 cars
Hogs	5 cars

These items figured at a very conservative estimate amount in value to a half million dollars, and there is more yet to come. From reliable information we have received we doubt that Floydada will ship 1,500 more bales of cotton, as well as several cars of some or all of the other items.

As a tribute to our prosperity the per capita of Texas, enters the new year with much gratitude for the blessings of the past and many sweet assurances of a multitude of good things for the future.

HASKELL TELEPHONE COMPANY IMPROVING

Seymour, Texas, Jan. 21.—The Haskell Telephone Co. is determined that there shall be nothing left undone that will advance the telephone service in this town. The Haskell Telephone Co. is determined that there shall be nothing left undone that will advance the telephone service in this town.

The wire rose mentioned before as hastening the pace together, is also the purpose of hanging the lead cable on. At short intervals there are little hangers that fasten the cable to the pole. The old wires will now be taken down, except a few that run to outlying places and the long distance wires. They do not go in the cable on account of the trouble with lightning. When there is trouble now with the telephone ring No. 0, and the matter will be attended to.

The method of connecting up the new system is very interesting. There are 15 pairs of distributing cans, located at different points in the cable. All wires converge to these cans, which they connect with the cable. The cable contains 100 pairs of small copper wires. The phone wires are connected with these copper wires. At the exchange there is what they call a distributing rack. On one side of the rack the wires come down from the switchboard and on the other they come up from the four cables. Wires from the switchboard connect with corresponding numbers on the distributing rack. A telephone is fastened to a pair of wires and the patron calls. When the answer it can be found where the wire is in and connect with small wires, the wires from the cable with the wire of the corresponding number on the other side of the distributing rack.

VERNON ANTICIPATES ANOTHER RAILROAD

Local Subscription to Stock Has Been Placed in the Hands of the Committee.

Vernon, Texas, Jan. 21.—Dr. J. E. Dodson, chairman of the railroad committee of the Board of Trade, is in receipt of a letter from Maj. Geo. W. Angle, chief engineer of the Central Construction Company, who is in New York making arrangements for the financing of the project and placing contracts for material, wherein the major states that the road will, without a doubt, be built, arrangements having been made with French capitalists for the necessary money to carry on the work.

This week Col. F. P. Reid of Moore, president of the Construction Company, was notified that the balance due on the local subscription to the stock of that concern has been placed in the hands of the local committee, and was at his disposal.

Below appears a report from ginners all over Wilbarger county, showing the number of bales ginned by each, the grand total being 29,417. These figures make good the Record's prediction earlier in the season that the yield of the county would reach 24,000 bales. The figures below do not include cotton grown in this county and ginned in adjoining counties.

MEMPHIS ORGANIZES A BRICK COMPANY

Has a Capital Stock of $50,000 Fully Paid in—Charter Has Been Granted.

Memphis, Texas, Jan. 21.—For some time the organization of a company has been contemplated for the purpose of making brick here in Memphis. Several substantial citizens got behind the project, and on January 5, J. W. Greenwood went down to Austin to procure a charter for the company. On the 10th of January the charter was granted to the Memphis Pressed Brick Co. with a capital stock of $50,000 fully paid up with the names of J. S. Cobb, J. W. Greenwood and J. M. Massey as organizers.

The company has bought twenty-seven acres of ground west of Memphis Cotton Oil Mill from J. C. Wilson and J. C. Montgomery. The average depth of the clay over this tract of land is about eight feet. It has been assayed and found to be of finest quality. Expert estimation of amount of brick which can be made from this tract of land is based upon the number of acres which can be made from an area of one acre one foot deep, which is 7,500,000, so if the clay is 8 feet deep, eight times the above figures show that 48,000,000 brick will be made from one acre, and twenty-seven times the forty-eight million will show 1,342,000,000 brick can be made from the twenty-seven acres.

The company is delaying buying machinery until they get a report on the sample of clay which they are having made into various clay products. Then they will buy machinery of the best type in view of making any additions that may be found necessary to work this clay.

They are just in receipt of some samples made in Chicago from this clay, which is a very fine brick of a rare, rich green color, seldom found anywhere. The quality of the brick being of very fine type and the color extremely admirable, will make this brick salable anywhere in any city. Of course they will make several colors of brick, but this beautifully colored brick will be used for facing and finishing brick. There are several brick buildings here in Memphis now waiting to be built as soon as the plant is in operation, which they expect to begin.

The Electra Oil Field One of Great Promise

STEAM ROLLER GRADING NORTH FIRST STREET

Looks Curb and Gutter Works Moved Over to Pine—Streets Too Wet For Rolling.

Abilene, Jan. 21.—Workmen of the Texas Bitulithic Company had at "knocking off" hour Saturday afternoon completed the job of laying concrete between and under the street railway tracks and had laid brick on either side of the rails from North Third street to the alley between North Third and Second streets.

The Locke gang of curb workers, twenty three strong, moved over to Pine street and Saturday were laying the concrete, between North First and North Third streets. Gutters will be laid on the West side beginning Wednesday and the gang will commence similar operations on the South side of the Texas and Pacific tracks Monday week.

Streets Too Damp. Supt. Lackie of the Texas Bitulithic Company sent his big steam rollers to North First Street Saturday, while from Cypress to Pine is ready for rolling. Mr. Lackie found North Second and Cypress streets still too damp to permit rolling, so will take up the work on North First. Grading on North Second and Cypress has been completed. The work of laying the rock foundation on North First will commence Monday morning, and in another week's time the bitulithic will have been laid. The rollers will then be sent to the east side of Pine street while North Second and Cypress streets are drying out.

The process of street paving, as outlined by Supt. Lackie, is very interesting. After the streets have been graded and rolled a six inch spread of rock will be laid. Approximately one half gallon of liquid asphalt to the square yard will be poured over the rock, sufficient to bind the bitulithic to the foundation. This will be thoroughly rolled until it can stand the roller without waves. Then two and one-half inches of bitulithic comes, one half for compression. It is mixed at the plant and brought to the streets in wagons at a temperature of from 250 to 325 degrees Fahrenheit. After the bitulithic is thoroughly rolled a water-proof, or "flush coat" is spread on the street to fill all voids left open. This makes the pavement water proof. The last step in the work is the rolling in of a thin layer of hot one quarter inch stone chips, which affords a footing for horses. When completed the paving has a grayish color, similar to the gutters of cement sidewalks, and looks very much like asphalt.

People Don't Play Square. "We have suffered much inconvenience from people in vehicles driving over the streets we have rolled," said Supt. Lackie, "in several instances our barriers have been torn down. I am willing to do the right thing and open the streets to traffic as soon as possible, but many people refuse to regard the barriers and persist in undoing the work we have done. This only delays matters and causes us unequal expense."

More Work on Tracks. City Engineer Leonard states that workmen will commence taking up the street railway tracks on Chestnut street in less than three weeks. The contract for the removal of tracks on the Texas and Pacific right of way has not been let, but the work will be done and that segment paved before the bitulithic workers depart for other fields.

JACKSBORO-ORAN ROAD TO BE BUILT

Mineral Wells, Jan. 21.—At last Mineral Wells has an opportunity to secure what she has long desired—that is another railroad.

For a long time we have realized our needs in this direction and now that the chance of securing it is knocking at our door we should not let the opportunity slip. Col. Williams of Scranton, Pa., has all the financial arrangements made to build the Oran-Jacksboro cut-off and it is now up to us to raise a bonus of $35,000. We must, and will raise it and when we do the road will be built. A strong committee will start on the work of raising the $35,000 Monday morning and the work should be made easy by every citizen subscribing liberally. The amount should be raised without delay and when it is work of construction will begin. The building of this nine-mile mile gap from Oran to Jacksboro will give us a connection at Jacksboro with the Rock Island and the Gulf, Texas and Western Ry., and in turn through passenger service to the Northwest, placing us on a through line with many sub-connections. It will place a large territory right at our door from which to draw visitors to this city, and it is a rapidly growing territory too. And more than this, if we build to Jacksboro it also means a life to the East and more territory for us.

Electra, Texas, Jan. 21.—Comparatively few people are aware that Wichita county is not only one of the richest agricultural counties in Northwest Texas, but the richest in minerals also as she has at Electra, twenty-seven miles west on the Fort Worth and Denver railroad one of the richest oil fields in Texas; this oil field was discovered about ten years ago by W. T. Waggoner a rich stockman of that town while drilling deep water wells, he having struck oil in four different wells in the immediate vicinity of Electra which was sufficient to apportion the water for stock purposes, but afterwards proved to be of great financial benefit to him as will be seen by following the history of the oil developments at Electra.

The winter of 1903 when W. T. Waggoner leased several thousand acres of his ranch adjoining Electra on the South to Montgomery & Cole of Fort Worth who contracted with McGee, Green & Ellinger to drill an oil well to the depth of 1500 feet, this was the first real developments for oil made in Electra, the showing made in the Montgomery & Cole well impressed Mr. Waggoner & Ellinger to drill a well for him near his White Face ranch house about one and a half miles southwest of the town of Electra, the present site of the great oil developments now being made by the Producers and Texas Company; this well when brought in at the 1200 foot strata made such an excellent showing that representatives of the Texas Co. who were on the ground made a favorable report and the head men of the Texas Co. were seen on the ground and negotiating for a lease on the Waggoner ranch which they succeeded in securing by paying $25,000 cash and $75,000 on or before Jan. 1, 1911. Mr. Waggoner has received a later payment making him a net of $100,000 for his lease and a reservation of one-eighth of all the oil and gas produced on said lease.

After the Texas Co. secured the valuable lease from Mr. Waggoner they went to work immediately to develop the newly acquired lease and within a few weeks new derricks were springing up and material moving in the direction of the new oil field and since that time there has never been a fall in the operations, thousands of loads of pipe and machinery have been received at Electra and put to work in the development of oil.

The first deep well to be brought in was drilled in August 4, by the Producers Co., on the Bywaters lease; when the 1800 foot sand was encountered the oil gushed ten feet above the casing and caused much activity in the oil field. Since the discovery of deep oil the shallow wells being put down to the 1800 foot sand. Waggoner No. 5 which was drilled in Jan. 4th afforded many of the Electra citizens their first opportunity to witness an oil gusher, the oil was gushed 60 feet in the derrick and afforded a spectacle long to be remembered. Much new work is being done in the way of constructing pipe lines, tanks, etc., and at the present time the payroll of the Producers Co. is about $10,000 per month and the Clayco Oil Co. about $2500 per month.

The biggest outlay has been made by the Texas and Producers Co. They have secured some very valuable leases in the Electra territory and are on record of paying as high as $51.00 per acre bonus per year for a lease, giving one-eighth royalty.

The quantity of the oil found in the Electra field is 42 and the most valuable refining oil found in the South, thus the big refining companies are very eager to get production in the new field and are sparing neither time or money to arrange to take care of the production.

The best posted oil men predict that the Electra field will be the most extensive oil field in the South, while it may not develop the great gusher strata it is thought that the light grade of oil means a smaller production but an inexhaustible supply.

Wichita Falls and Wichita county will be a noted oil center in a few years as every great oil field naturally requires a distributing point and the oil will fall to Wichita Falls to take care of the refined products of the Electra field, Oran is Wichita County.

Electra, Texas, Jan. 21.—The man who places his money in real estate in Electra and builds houses for the purpose of renting is investing his money in something that is reliable and something that means a greater profit than almost any other investment he could make. An interview with a man who is in a position to know about the matter revealed that comfortable houses, boxed, weather-boarded and papered and with galvanized clisters, could be built for about $150 per room and a nice residence lot can be bought for from $50 to $75, making an outlay of cost of a three-room house amount to $500. This class of houses is renting at the present time for $5 per room or $15 per house per month. That would mean $180 per year or something over 35 per cent on the money invested, and taking into consideration the fact that at the present time there are not enough houses to anything like supply the demand and that the oil men to their force, that the new foundry and machine shops are sure to bring more families here and that others are continually moving to Electra houses of this description will rent for prices are continually adding more even more than at the present time.

Texas raised this year 8,800,000 acres of corn; gathered 181,280,000 bushels making an average 20.6 bushels per acre and in 1909 we raised 8,150,000 acres of corn, which yielded 122,250,000 bushels, making an average yield of 15 bushels per acre. We have an increase of 650,000 acres; an increase in total yield of 59,030,000 bushels; an increase in yield per acre of 5.6 bushels. Our corn crop sold for $114,206,000. In value of our corn crop we stand fourth of all states in the Union. We raised this year 2.3 acres per capita making 50 bushels of corn per capita.

We have not only increased our acreage, but are learning how to cultivate our soil. A dollar spent in increasing the efficiency of our agricultural departments will return a hundred fold to the prosperity of the state. To our Boys Corn Clubs is largely due credit for this increase in yield; we need more corn clubs; more commercial clubs; farmers institutes; demonstration and experimental farms.

The loss of rural leaders by emigration to the city has been one of the most serious retrogressive factors in our whole civilization. In his recent report, Dr. Knapp of the Farmers Cooperative Demonstration work of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, declares that the problem has been solved by the giving of assistance to the farmer by the state and national departments of agriculture. These young men leave the farm because they are repelled by the hardships, excessive toil and meagre gains on the farm, and are allured by a seemingly greater opportunity to acquire wealth, influence and position in the city. The demonstration work undertaken to create in the schoolboy a love of the farm and a new hope by showing the wonderful possibilities of the soil when properly managed and the ease with which wealth and distinction are achieved in rural life when science and art joins hands.

The Texas Industrial Congress has offered many large prizes to farmers for 1911, among these being several prizes to the boys, being distributed in the following manner: A first prize of $1,000 in gold, a second prize of $750, a fourth prize of $250 and ten prizes of $100 each, for the largest yield of merchantable corn on two acres of land, and for the largest yield of middling cotton on two acres of land the four acres to be on the same farm and under the same management, the crop to be raised without irrigation by boys not over 20 years of age on the first day of January, 1911. Notify the Texas Industrial Congress at Dallas, at the earliest date possible and positively not later than April 1, 1911, that you are a contestant. State whether you will try for the two-acre or the four-acre prize, or both.

FREDERICK, OKLAHOMA LIVE LITTLE TOWN

Frederick Milling Company Putting in A Flouring Mill-Strike Coal Vein.

Frederick, Okla., Jan. 21.—Messrs. Trammel and Connelly, composing the Frederick Milling company have moved the building in which they have been operating a corn mill from the location which they have been occupying between Fifth and Sixth streets, to a site which they have leased from the Wichita Falls and Northwestern railway company, near the company's tracks, as a preliminary step to the installation of a flouring mill. The machinery for the flouring mill was ordered several weeks ago and is expected soon. The company expects to be able to take care of the local wheat crop and the new industry doubtless will be available addition to Frederick's manufacturing institutions.

While digging a well on his farm, J. W. McKinney, a farmer, living 18 miles northeast of Frederick, found a small vein of coal five feet below the surface. The coal possesses good burning qualities. While the vein is too small to be worked, it is a good indication of the existence of coal in the community where it was found.

Up to yesterday morning, the four gins in Frederick had ginned 7055 bales this season. The season has lasted several months longer than first expected and the yield has been much larger than it was last year. Some cotton will be close to 7,300 bales ginned ably will be close to 7,300 bales ginned ing out more coal mines in the state. He also said that the quality of the coal being mined there is of a superior quality, and that northern capitalists have become interested in the Jermyn product and stand ready to invest heavily. The town is growing rapidly, and Mr. Ringhoffer is of the opinion that Jermyn has brighter prospects for a great future than any mining town he has ever known.—Graham Leader.

Why Quansah Wanted a Desk.

When Quansah Parker built his house near Cache, some men around Fort Worth helped him furnish it. They were rather puzzled when he told them that the first article of furniture he wanted was a roller top desk. "What can you do with a roller top desk, Quansah? you can't write," they said. "Oh, I want 'em," said Quansah. "You see I open desk, and sit down in my chair, an' light seegar, an' I hol' newspaper up in front o' me, like this—sabe? Then white man come in, an' he knock at door, an' he say: 'Quansah, I wan' talk t'you a minute. An' I turn round in my chair an' put lot o' smoke in his face, an' say, 'go way, I've busy today.'" be ready to do not later than March 1. This brick plant will take its place among the foremost enterprises of the state. The company expects to have one representative in every town in the Panhandle and New Mexico. They expect to employ all home labor as near as is possible.

They want all the stock to be taken up by Memphis citizens. All the other several manufacturing plants are owned by Memphis people exclusively and why not this one.

They have several applications from parties at El Paso, Amarillo, Plainview, Gainesville, Fort Worth and several other towns wanting to take stock in the company.

PETROLIA FIELD IS REPORTED ACTIVE

Continued activity is reported from the Petrolia oil and gas field at this time, and new improvements are being made by the various companies operating the most extensive being that of the Producers Company.

Four new derricks are in process of construction by the Producers Company and it is said that others will be going up as soon as the material can be placed on the ground.

Several wells are going down, two of which have reached a depth of 1200 feet and will likely be brought in within a short time. Others have a depth of 700 feet, while some are only just being started.

There are now about 250 producing oil wells in the Petrolia field and several gasers, making it one of the most important fields in the country.

Gentlemen:
"I am a reader of the Weekly and I notice they give you a great deal of criticism on late.

"When they first began to criticize you I became somewhat interested and began to wonder what your Grape Nuts breakfast food was like, and as my curiosity got the best of me, I bought a package and I liked it so well have used several packages. And to my surprise I find I am gaining in weight and feeling fine.

"Since using Grape-Nuts I have talked with several people about them and they all think as I do, that they are the best breakfast food on the market today.

"So in this case a knock is a boost with those who use Grape-Nuts."

great ceremony has been greeted with much satisfaction among the titled ladies. It is recalled that King Edward, prior to his coronation, gave orders that peeresses had better wear neatly inconspicuous gilt circlets, instead of their coronets. But the peeresses knew their hereditary privileges and protested vigorously. As a consequence King Edward, who was nothing if not a gallant gentleman, punctiliously considered of feminine feelings, gave way with truly royal grace and permitted the ladies to wear their proper and hereditary coronets.

Among those who will assume the impressive gold headdresses on that most impressive occasion in Westminster Abbey next June will be all those pretty American women who have wedded English, Irish or Scotch titles. It is the law, however, that no titled woman ranking below a baroness has a right to a coronet, and this, in consequence, will limit the number of velvet capped Americans at the Abbey ceremonies.

Only three Americans, for instance, can wear the famous coronets with the eight gold strawberry leaves, denoting the highest rank of the British nobility. These will be their graces of Marlborough, Manchester and Rutland, and each of these ladies, who before their marriages were Miss Consuelo Vanderbilt, of New York, Miss Helena Zimmerman of Cincinnati, and Miss May Goelet of New York, will find the proper golden headdresses ready for her as other duchesses of Marlborough, Manchester and Rutland.

LET US HAVE A FREE DISCUSSION OF THE PROPOSED CITY CHARTER.

As plainly indicated in yesterday's Times the draft of a new city charter being prepared by City Attorney Householder is only suggestive in its purpose and is more to get the matter before the public for discussion and deliberation than anything else. Mr. Householder himself, the city council nor the Chamber of Commerce would presume to draft a charter and seek its adoption before laying the matter before the people and asking for suggestions as to changes, omissions, or additions.

It is for the purpose of bringing the matter before the whole people that The Times from time to time will publish parts of the proposed charter as drafted, as they are completed by Mr. Householder.

The Times opens its columns for a discussion of the different sections of the charter and invites and urges correspondence from its readers.

It is reported that two young girls the oldest of whom is about 18 and the younger under 16 left the city recently in company with two men of maturer years. The girls were deserted in a neighboring city, according to the report. We believe this should be thoroughly investigated and feel certain that if the facts are as above reported, our county officers will not stop at expense of money or effort to apprehend the men and to give them the punishment that their offense deserves.

MISS DOROTHY HOUARA, WITH "DAN CUPID"—WICHITA THEATRE WEDNESDAY JANUARY 25th.

AT THE THEATERS

The following program will be rendered at the Colonial Theatre tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock by the Wichita Band, B. P. Boyer, director:
The Templar March F. Beilstein
Idea of Beauty Waltzes Dalbey
American Beauties Intermezzo
F. J. St. Clair
The Jungle Intermezzo J. W. Lerman
On Parade W. J. Potts
Juno Overture L. P. Laurendeau
The Enterprise March H. Moon

At the Colonial.
"The Original Professor Bumps," by Collison and Elliott at the Colonial, is one of the most laughable sketches ever seen here. Singing, dancing and comedy acrobatic sketches by the artists are only a part of the good things on the program at the Colonial. Ferguson is a violinist of extraordinary merit and his performance is a musical treat. Mr. Taylor will repeat his song hit "Put Your Arm Around Me, Honey" again tonight.

Opera House

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 25.

At 36 Administering Dope.
The inimitable German comedienne, Miss Myra Jefferson, and the vest pocket comedian, Major Knot Much, presenting the merry musical hilarious sufficiency, "Dan Cupid," a singy song play with mesmerizing melodies and tantalizing tunes. 18 1-2 people—mostly girls. Prices, 25c to $1.00.

At the Gem.
The Gem Theatre will be opened at 6.15 o'clock tonight for the accommodation of those patrons who wish to see St. Elmo at the Wichita Theatre. The attendance at the Gem last night broke all records for this popular amusement place. The pictures were excellent and the singing of Mr. Gilman again delighted all. "Examinations at School" will be shown again tonight. There will be other new pictures, guaranteed to please.

At the Ruby.
The man who advertised The Sidonias, now playing at the Ruby Theatre, as a "Laugh Factory" didn't misstate the facts. Their performance is a large laugh from start to finish and the doctors are prescribing for aching sides and jaws for those who witnessed last night's performance by these premier fun-makers. One of the best take-offs was the representation of Dr. Cook, the polar explorer. The Sidonias, in their line, however, did not excel L. on and Virginia in their singing, dancing and impersonations. The whole program was an excellent one.

DIXON STARS IN THE SINS OF THE FATHER

Accorded An Enthusiastic Reception
At Houston Performance
Last Night.

Special to The Times.
Houston, Texas, Jan. 21.—Thomas Dixon, as an actor portraying the leading role to his latest play, "The Sins of the Father," received an enthusiastic greeting at the Prince theatre last night, where his company played to one of the largest houses in the history of Houston theatrical circles. Theatre-goers, who have known this versatile genius as clergyman, lecturer, politician, playwright and author declared tonight that his talents shown just as brilliantly from a historical point of view as in any of his other professions. The immense audience also placed a hearty stamp of approval on "The Sins of the Father" at the end of every act were numerous curtain calls. Mr. Dixon made a short speech and among other things he said:
"There is no moral sentiment that approves or even tolerates the mixture of the white and colored races anywhere in the South from the James to the Rio Grande. The play, the Clansman, was the greatest force since the days of the war between the states to render impossible the assimilation of the races. In the "Sins of the Father," I show how that assimilation is threatened in the home and how the Caucasian race was forever against the evil tendency in spite of the sins of individual white men. In this play I have spoken in behalf of the true women of the South who have been patient sufferers under a great wrong and I have sounded a clarion call to every white man and woman to be true to the South's best traditions and save American civilization."

Mr. Dixon will appear in "The Sins of the Father" at the Wichita Theatre on February 22.

L. C. SMITH & BROS. Typewriters

ALL THE WRITING ALWAYS IN SIGHT

(The biggest order ever placed by any firm or corporation for typewriters for their own use) because their own mechanical experts, sitting as a jury, said it was unquestionably the best.
They examined all competing makes, tested them under every condition of stress and strain, and voted unanimously in favor of the L. C. Smith & Bros. The DuPonts thus rendered you an invaluable service. Lacking mechanical experts of your own you can safely rely upon the decision of these five engineers, at the height of their calling, who were willing to stake their professional reputation on the L. C. Smith & Bros. Typewriter. Many large concerns have already been guided by this expert opinion and have standardized, as the DuPonts did, with the typewriter that stood the test. There could be no test more thorough, or more unbiased decisions.

TEN DAYS MORE ...OF BARGAIN OFFERING...

Many people have already availed themselves of this rare opportunity of saving money, which has now existed since Tuesday morning, January 10th.

We now again arouse your thoughts of economy to this--your last 10 days of money saving moment. We can't go to each of you personally and explain in detail the great saving we are offering to the trading public, but when we say one-half the former price on Men's and Boys' Suits, Women Tailored Suits, and One-Piece Dresses, one-third off former price of Ladies, Misses and Children's Long Coats and Wraps of all kinds, one-fourth off on Ladies Skirts, it means something worth the while of the wise, economical buyer, which trade it has always been our pleasure to control, largely on account of our regular and constant under-priced values.

S. C. Webb of Denver is visiting his friends Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Richolt.

Miss Ruby Scarborough of Fort Worth, will visit her cousin, Miss Bonnie Skinner, next week.

Mrs. R. G. Fitzpatrick, 1304 Austin left Sunday for a visit to friends in San Antonio.

Miss Margaret Lysaght, who has been the guest of friends in the city left Wednesday for her home in Fort Worth.

Miss Katherine Elliott of Wellinton, Kansas, is expected tonight to visit her friends, Mr. and Mrs. Oda Pickle of Floral Heights.

Miss Kate Patterson of Henrietta will arrive Saturday to visit her brother's family, on Tenth street.

Mrs. E. H. Garsling is quite sick at her home, 708 Travis.

J. T. Montgomery is home from a short trip to Vernon.

Mr. H. B. Patterson, of the popular firm of Anderson & Patterson, will leave Sunday for a ten day's stay in New Orleans.

Kleber White and wife of Dallas are expected Monday for a two weeks' visit with his father's family, 1510 Tenth street.

Mrs. A. D. Anderson left Thursday morning for Dallas where she is spending a few days.

Mrs. R. E. Huff was hostess to the Musicians' Club Thursday afternoon in open session. Eleven members responded to roll call. A short business meeting preceded the program. Fifteen applications for membership in the club were read and accepted.

The following interesting program was then given:

Roll-Call—Noted Polish composers,
Paper—"Poland School of Music"—
Mrs. Mark Walker.
Homeward, Maldea's Wish, Chopin—
Mrs. Wade Walker.

Musical Forms Illustrated—
Nocturne, Valse, Chopin—Mrs. J. L.
McKee.
Solo—Selected—Mrs. Fred Barton.
Minuet, Paderewski—Mrs. J. T.
Roberts. Mrs. Wade Walker.

Miss Della Stone, the daughter of the home, gave two beautiful vocal numbers. This completed the program and the hostess invited the guests into the dining room. The spacious room was beautifully decorated with a profusion of carnations, the color scheme of pink being cleverly carried out. The center of the table was ornamented with a basket of roses and carnations, and the place favors were carnations with hand-painted conceits of musical design.

An elaborate six-course luncheon was served. Seated with the hostess were: Mesdames J. T. Roberts, J. L.
McKee, H. B. Patterson, Mark Walker,
J. P. Boone, Fred Baron, E. E. Sanders,
Wade Walker, Misses Brooks, Butts and Gorsline. At a late hour the club adjourned with many expressions of thanks to the gracious hostess for the pleasurable afternoon.

Senior League Entertained.
The Senior Epworth League of the M. E. Church, South, was delightfully entertained last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Langford, 301
Burnett avenue. The most interesting feature of the program was a contest in the military art in which the young men were provided with needle, thread and tissue paper to make hats for the young ladies. Messrs. McConnell and Frank Smith took the honors.
Each young lady was then asked to write a description of her partner and he in turn was to draw her picture.
Music and other contests occupied the rest of the evening and at a late hour
the hostess assisted by Mrs. C. M.
Bishop, served ice cream and cake.

Those who enjoyed Mrs. Langford's hospitality were: Misses Hazel and Helma Brightwell, Phoebe Bishop,
Esther Chisline, Lela Smith, Ruth
Downing, Hazel Jones, Iva Bullard,
Bonnie Hardy, Maude and Paralee
Ragsdale, Eva Benson, Della Gage, Ollie Hendricks, and Edith Slaven and Messrs. C. E. Durland, Peters, Mc-Connell, Frank and Carl Smith, Gustave P. Walker, Jack McDowell, Caries Ambrone Yeager, Charles Crossell,
Ann Reeves, Chambers, Floyd Billingsly
and Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Bishop.

Bridge Club.
Mrs. D. P. Woodward entertained three tables at Bridge at her cozy home, 1107 Burnett street, Friday afternoon. The guests were: Mesdames Thorburn, Blair, Bruce Smith, Bulware, Scott, Dr. Walker, Marcus, Thompson, Miller, Allen and the Misses Coons. Mrs. Mark Walker assisted the hostess in serving choice refreshments at the conclusion of the game.

The guests were seated around the dining table which was a thing of beauty. In the center a rustic basket filled with carnations and trailing am-lax enhanced the charm of the club centerpiece and dainties and all conspired to make the occasion one long to be remembered.

Dinner Party.
Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Huff entertained a few friends Saturday evening with a course dinner. Decorations of scarlet carnations, chrysanthemums and suitable place cards, all added charm to the beautiful table appointments.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Mc-Gregor, Mr. and Mrs. Woodward, Dr. and Mrs. Burnside, Dr. and Mrs. Duval, Mrs. T. W. Roberts and Dr. Felder. After a fairly sumptuous repast the guests engaged in the social game of "500" and thus ended a most enjoyable evening.

Section A, of the Presbyterian Aid Society met with Mrs. Carrigan Thursday afternoon and planned an old-fashioned social, with other interesting features, to take place Thursday evening,
January 28th, at the residence of A.
H. Carrigan, 1100 Austin street. It is needless to say that a cordial welcome is always accorded the fortunate visitor in this hospitable home. Section A has taken over the social life of the church and their dictum on this occasion is—you must enjoy yourself.

The Baptist Woman's Alliance met in regular monthly business meeting Monday, the 16th. An interesting meeting is reported with about 50 ladies in attendance. Next Monday is the Bible Study, led by the pastor and each member is urged to be present to begin this study which will continue during the year.

The Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, South, was entertained by Mrs. Bishop at the parsonage Monday afternoon. A very interesting paper on "Superstitions of Catholics" was read by Mrs. Toland.
In conclusion salad, wafers and coffee were served and a general good time enjoyed.

Teachers' Meeting.—A somewhat novel feature is that of the Baptist Sunday school teachers. They hold a six o'clock meeting in the church for the study of the lesson and to discuss matters pertaining to the school, and then serve lunch—so that busy people can get all the benefit without losing time.

Mrs. J. A. Thornton will entertain the Home Mission Society of the M.
E. Church, South, Monday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, January 23rd, at her residence, 705 Travis. The hostess will be assisted by Mesdames Colburn, Harrington, Knight and Mat Noble.

Circle 1, of the H. M. S. of the M.
E. Church, South, will serve oyster chow and coffee at the Colonial Theatre Saturday afternoon from 5:30 to 8 o'clock. Also will have homemade pies and cakes on sale.

Circle 3 of the M. E. Church, South, held an informal tea-pouring at Mrs.
P. C. Maricle's, 901 Austin street on Tuesday afternoon. Considering the weather conditions it was a financial as well as social success.

The Baptist Alliance will meet at their church Monday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock to engage in Bible study, led by the pastor, Rev. J. P. Boone.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hurst most delightfully entertained the conductors, their wives and friends last Thursday evening at their home, 502 Lee street, the features of amusements being cards, dominoes, music and a few selections of choice readings. The hostess assisted by Mesdames Pave-Stewart and Lewis, very daintily served a delicious luncheon.

Those enjoying themselves at this hospitable home were: Mesdames Langford, Stearns, Yates, Weidman,
Smith, Ash, Page, McCoy, Lewis,
Stewart, Parker, Carter, Corkhill,
Buckner, Pardean, Messrs. Parker,
Carter, Yates, Langford, Stearns,
Buckner, Messrs. Stearns, Shnauff, Cree, Thompson, Weidman, Scott,
Smith, and Little Ruth Yates.

A GUEST.
Philathea Glass was entertained
Monday evening from eight to ten o'clock at the home of Mrs. Toland.
The feature of the occasion was a contest, spelling match of Bible names.
The penalty for the first one missing was that they recite an original poem.
The lot fell to Miss Lena Gardner who arose to the occasion and acquitted herself in a very creditable manner to the delight of all present. Those participating in the contest were: Messrs. Bishop, Hassel and Helen Brightwell, Emma Norwood, Francis
Williams, Maud and Paralee Ragsdale, Eva Benson, Lena Gardner, Lillian Redding, Iva Bullard, Esther Gorsline, Vivian Mathis, Lela Smith, Hazel
Jones, Ruth Downing and Ollie Henricks. Special musical numbers were furnished by Esther Gorsline and Vivian Mathis. Mrs. Collier assisted the hostess in caring for her guests and after delicious refreshments, all departed for their homes, thinking it was good to be alive.

Surprise Dinner.
At her elegant new home on Tenth street, Mrs. Joyce gave a four-course birthday dinner Wednesday evening in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Rountree. Pot plants ornamented the dining room and the ever popular birch-day cake with its colored candles graced the center of the table. A delightful time was had by all fortunate enough to be included, among the guests.

The Whist Club met with Mrs. Coats 808 Eighth street this week, and the following members were present:
Mesdames Woods, Weeks, Myles, Little, Hines, Dr. Mike Walker, Maer, Sherman, Seruggs, Smith and May.
Mrs. Dr. Jones, Gates and McGregor were substitute. Mrs. Hines was fortunate enough to carry off the souvenir, a beautiful olive spoon, and she will be the next hostess.

The Wichita Falls Auxiliary of the C. W. B. M. met with Mrs. T. C.
Thatcher, 1210 Ninth street, Tuesday afternoon, with good attendance. They had a very interesting study of the needs of the different Mission stations.
They also discussed quite a few plans for the year's work. After the program they were regaled with delicious refreshments by the hostess.

Beautiful Dinner.
Misses Dolis White, Maude Carnes,
Ellie Vaughan, Edna Black and Messrs.
Marvin Smith, Lamar and Ernest Fain and Mr. Hagler were the favored guests at a six o'clock dinner Friday, given by Mrs. Joyce at her handsome home on Tenth street. Five courses, including the delectable of these favored few and the decorations of ferns, carnations and chrysanthemums added fresh charm to the occasion.

The Unity Club held its regular Friday afternoon meeting at the home of Mrs. J. A. Kemp. The lesson "The Early Egyptian Temples" was led by Mrs. Kemp. After a very interesting discussion Mrs. Maer gave an instructive talk on the "Recent Discoveries of Hieroglyphics in the Isle of Crete."
The club was then treated to some choice numbers of music on the Yellow which was much appreciated and enjoyed by all. Meeting next week at Mrs. Hunt's.

Mrs. T. H. Wilson entertained at six o'clock dinner Monday evening in honor of Mrs. McMartry, who left Wednesday for Salt Lake City, where she expects to make her future home.
Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard, the Misses Haynes, Mrs. Rita Smith and Miss Anna Sneed besides the honoree were the guests.

On Wednesday the New Century Club met with Mrs. Smyre. Quite an interesting program on Southern California was rendered which ended our travels through California, from there we go into old Mexico. Hostess served a dainty refreshment. Our next meeting will be with Mrs. Kohl.
—REPORTER.

D. A. R. Want to Organize.
There is some local agitation about organizing a D. A. R. chapter in this place. Those eligible could do well to inquire into the matter. There are said to be about 20 eligible for membership in Wichita Falls and only twelve are necessary to perfect an organization.

Anniversary Dinner.
Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Blair attended a beautifully appointed six o'clock anniversary dinner in Weatherford last Saturday evening. Mrs. Blair then visited friends in Fort Worth until Thursday afternoon when she returned home.

The Stephen A. Austin Mothers' and Teachers' Club of which Mrs. R. A.
Thompson is president will meet Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the library room.

At a six-o'clock dinner Friday Mrs.
O. T. Bacon had as her guests Rev.
R. R. Hamlin and wife, and Dr. Coons and daughters.

The Flora Club, Mrs. G. L. Moore president, will meet January 24, at 3 o'clock with Miss Nellie Ward, 1909
Scott avenue.

The "500" Club has its regular meeting with Mrs. A. Zundelwitz Thursday, January 26th.

RAILROAD WRECK

TURNED HIS LIFE

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 21.—There was a time when Charles Scott was a fireman on one of the Santa Fe's fast passenger trains between Topeka and Mauch Chunk, Mo. It was not so long ago. In those days when his engine neared Topeka, returning from a day's trip, he would toot the whistle three times to let his family know that he was home again. The whistle usually brought two or three little children to the door, and later, when he father had finished turning his engine over to the hostlers and was ready to go home, his children would run down the street and meet their father a block away from home.

Mamma is waiting for supper, the oldest son says. And the smallest of the little ones was boosted to her father's shoulder and the other children each held one of their father's big hands. So it went for four years.
Then something happened—Charles
Scott was in a wreck near Quenova, Kan., and he was injured, and later forced to give up railroad work.

Six years ago he moved to Kansas City and began work for the asphalt department of the Metropolitan Street Railway company. It was too severe work for a man who had been disabled in a wreck, so he found something else to do.

What could a wrecked man do?
He obtained work yesterday morning at 1213 McDev street at $1.50 a day in razing an old brick building. All night long he worked in the chilly building tearing out the plaster and lath. At noon he went to get a drink of whiskey. An hour later he was taken to the Walnut Street Station—a drunken man.

There is something about the tolls in a police station that makes a man reflect on his past life.

"If I had my life to live over I don't see how I could change it much except— and behind the bars a man 45 years old was weeping daily.
I can't understand why a man's family has to suffer for his hard luck. It doesn't seem right, does it?"

There was no answer.

"I have a wife, as good a wife as any man ever had, and six children, too. I want you fellows to understand that I never abused my wife in my life. When I make money to get something to eat then my family eats.
And when I am hungry, they go hungry, too. I couldn't do any better, could I?"

"I want to tell you fellows something. Out at 2525 Broadway my wife and children won't eat tonight because I am locked up and can't buy anything. I won't eat anything, either, isn't that fair?"

"It's awful hard to get along these days. Tell me how a man can get along and pay $12 a month rent and buy coal and send his family of six children to school when he gets only $1.50 a day? That is just $9 a week.
I never have been in jail before."
"Stand back until I put those men in the cell," commanded the taller, as he pushed two rough men into the cell.

Charles Scott said no more.

A Hint to the Wise

THE TIMES.

Wichita Falls, Texas.
"Please send me a sample copy of the Times. I am thinking of moving to Wichita Falls and would like to see the paper."
E. W. FOUNTAIN,
Hoquiam,
Washington.

Box 254
Every mail brings The Times letters like the foregoing. We grant such requests very cheerfully as we realize that every request may bring a new citizen to Wichita Falls.

We venture the assertion that there are hundreds of citizens now living in Wichita Falls, who were brought to the city by reading The Times.

Requests for copies of the paper have come from nearly every State in the Union. The paper has even been mailed to Mexico, Panama, Canada, England, South Africa, France and numerous other countries.

We can't claim that every paper will bring a new citizen to Wichita Falls, but every man who requests a sample copy is already interested.

If you have a real estate or a business opportunity to offer the foregoing will no doubt be of interest to you.

A Prediction About Oysters

We predict that in two years from now, tub oysters will be a thing of the past.

Sealship Oysters are today what other oysters must be two years from now.

They are shipped in air-tight, germ-proof containers. The ice goes outside of the containers.
No ice and not a drop of water ever touches the oysters.

The containers are sealed at the seaside and remain sealed until they reach us.

Every mile of the journey from the shore to us they are under careful supervision.

Sealship Oysters are all solid meats. No railroad ice "liquors" as in common oysters shipped in open wooden tubs.

Our list of appreciative customers of Sealship Oysters is growing every day. If you want to know the flavor of the real sea oysters—order
Sealship next time. 1c each or 30c per pint.

News Forecast for the Coming Week

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—The outlook is for a busy and interesting week in Congress, and the legislative sessions in several of the States also will lay claim to a large share of public attention. In several of the States the efforts to elect United States senators will be continued, while in others the senators now holding office will be re-elected without opposition. Senator La Follette of Wisconsin and Senator Culberson of Texas are among those slated for re-election.

In Colorado the legislature will choose a successor to the late Senator Hughes. Mayor Speer of Denver, former Governor Alva Adams and Gerald Hughes, son of the late Senator, are among those prominently mentioned for the senatorship.

A meeting of the Prohibition National Committee will be held in Chicago Tuesday to consider the general prospects of the party and to discuss preliminary plans for a presidential campaign for next year.

The habeas corpus proceedings to prevent the extradition of Porter Charlton to Italy to stand trial for the murder of his wife, Mary Scott Castle Charlton, will again come up for hearing Monday in the United States Court at Trenton. The Department of State has honored the request of the Italian government for Charlton's extradition, but the turning over of the young man to the Italian authorities was blocked by the prisoner's refusal to apply for the writ of habeas corpus.

The week will be marked by the consecration of three new bishops, two of the Episcopal church and one of the Roman Catholic church. The Rev. Louis Childs Sanford will be consecrated in San Francisco Wednesday as head of the new Episcopal diocese in the San Joaquin valley. In St. Paul the same day will take place the consecration of the Rev. Theodore Payne Thurston as missionary bishop of the Episcopal of the Episcopal district of Eastern Oklahoma. The Catholic priest to be elevated to the bishopric is the Rev. Father Edward D. Kelley, whose consecration as auxiliary bishop of Detroit is scheduled to take place Thursday in Ann Arbor.

Other interesting events of the week will include the celebration of the birthday anniversary of the German Emperor, the twenty-fifth annual meeting of the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers in Winnipeg, the annual convention of the Association of American Advertisers in Chicago, the meeting of the National Merchant Marine Congress in Washington, and the opening of the regular session of the Provincial Legislature of Ontario.

FACTS ABOUT THE BIG TOURNAMENT.

Place—St. Louis Coliseum.
Duration—January 21 to Feb. 6.
Total Entries—Nearly 5,500.
Individuals entered—2,500.
Total prize money—$25,000.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 20.—An army of ten-pin knights is on its way here to compete in the eleventh annual national championship tournament of the American Bowling Congress, which will open here tomorrow for a three-weeks' run, during which over 2,000 individuals from cities throughout the United States and Canada will compete. Final touches were put to the drives today, and little remains to be done to start the big annual grind, which this year shows a prize list exceeding $25,000, the largest amount of money ever hung up in any line of sport for general competition.

The entry list this year includes clubs from every section of the continent, and practically every championship team, both five and doubles, of the last several big bowling tournaments. Also several individual champions of recent years will roll with teams, besides trying for individual honors again.

Twelve 411 bowlers entered, ten more than the previous A. B. C. record, made at Detroit last year. Of course the local clubs are far in excess of those from any other city. St. Louis having 144 five-men teams entered. Chicago is next in line, the aggregate from that city totaling nearly 50 teams. Among them are the Cosmos, which won the five-men team championship at Detroit last year. Cincinnati, Milwaukee, Louisville, Cleveland, and Columbus, in the order named, come next in the number of entries.

Other cities well represented include Indianapolis, Dayton, Kansas City, Peoria, Toledo, St. Paul, Youngstown, Topeka, Sioux City, Des Moines, Omaha, Wheeling, Grand Rapids, Oshkosh, Terre Haute, Quincy, Nashville, Buffalo, Belleville, Rock Island, Minneapolis, Racine, Green Bay, Syracuse, Rochester, Vancouver, Fort Wayne and Washington, Pa.

Vancouver, B. C., is the farthest point to be represented. Other teams from a distance are those from Denver, New York and Washington, D. C.

Among the places represented for the first time are Nashville, Lexington, Wichita, Springfield, Ill., and Juneau, Wis.

Officials who have seen the new drives, which have been installed in the Coliseum, where the big meet is to be held, declare they are the best ever laid for a bowling tournament. Sixteen alleys abreast are awaiting the onslaught of the bowlers. The arrangements with regard to the seating of the spectators, the score-boards and other details likewise are receiving much attention.

One of the innovations to be tried at the tournament is the plan of having the individual bowlers roll in pairs in the same manner as the doubles. This change is expected to result in the saving of more than an hour each day in running off the individual events and will make the work much easier on the bowlers.

Among the delegates already arrived in the city there is little discussion concerning the politics of the organization. At the annual convention of the A. B. C. to be held the first of the coming week, there is expected to be no contest over the election of officers, such as has served to enliven some of the previous meetings, so that the chief fight will come over the selection of the next tournament city. At the present time Chicago appears to be in the lead for the 1912 tournament, though St. Paul, Washington and several other cities are receiving mention.

Some radical changes in the rules and regulations of the organization will be proposed at the convention. One that is sure to provoke some spirited discussion is the plan to change the membership of the A. B. C. from club to individual holding. Another proposal that will be considered and acted upon is that providing for an increase in the salary of the national secretary from $3,000 to $4,000 a year.

Are You a Woman?
Baltimore, Md.—Miss M. H. Iron at 1419 East Madison Street, writes: "For several years I suffered on and on from several female troubles, until finally I was taken down and could do nothing. Two pains I experienced, I shall never forget. I lost weight. I was only skin and bones. I believe I would have been in my grave, if I had not tried Cardui. I shall praise it as long as I live." Many women, like Mrs. Iron, are weak and discouraged, on account of some painful ailment. Are you one of these sufferers? Cardui will help you. Try it today. Any druggist

THIS IS MY 52nd BIRTHDAY.

Hon. Jules Allard

Hon. Jules Allard, Minister of Lands and Forests in the government of Quebec, was born in St. Francois in France, January 21, 1859, and was educated at Nicolet College. After leaving college he studied law and was called to the bar in 1883. After filling various public offices in his native town, including the mayoralty, he was elected to the Quebec legislature in 1893, and was re-elected in the general elections of 1899 and 1904. In 1905 he was called to the legislative council, and was made minister of colonization and public works. The following year he was appointed minister of agriculture and stock raising, and occupied his present position of minister of lands and forests.

Woman Past Help.

Chandler, Okla.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Elna Flowers says: "I hardly know how to thank you for the good that Cardui has done me. Before I tried Cardui, I thought I was past help, but after taking it, I was relieved at once, and gained at least 20 pounds. Everybody says I look so much better. I am still improving greatly." Many women are completely worn out and discouraged, on account of womanly weakness. Are you? Have you not tried Cardui? It only needs a few doses to convince you that Cardui is just what you need. Try it today—it will cure your pains.

Profit by a Wichita Falls citizen's experience.

C. C. Willard, 1925 Eighth street, Wichita Falls, Texas, says: "My kidneys troubled me for almost a year and I was subject to attacks of lumbago. Sometimes I had to quit work and I really believe that my trouble was caused by overlifting. The contents of one box of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got from the Wichita Drug House, rid me of the trouble and, up to this time, I have had no recurrence of it." (Statement given June 19, 1908.)

Confirmed Proof.

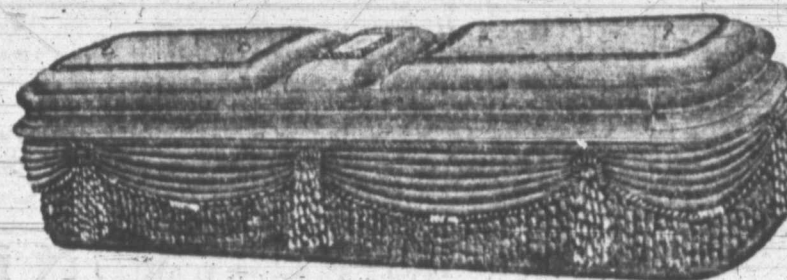

On December 9, 1910, Mr. Willard was interviewed and he said: "I fully confirm the testimonial I gave in 1908, telling of my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills. I now have no trouble from my back or kidneys and I never tire of making the fact known that Doan's Kidney Pills brought about this cure."

PRISONER LEAD SELF CONTROL

OPPORTUNITY WAS AVAILABLE FOR WALKING OUT OF COURT A FREE MAN.

HITCH IN PROCEEDINGS

The Matter Was Corrected and Keyes Was Again in Custody of the Law.

Jesse Keyes probably exercised greater self-control this afternoon than ever before in his life when he resisted an impulse to walk out of the court room to freedom that must have looked good to him after several weeks imprisonment awaiting trial on a charge of selling liquor without a license and with a possible heavy fine and jail sentence staring him in the face.

Keyes had been brought out for trial and Judge Edgar Scurry, who was retained to defend him, filed a motion to quash the charge against him on the ground that it was indefinite.

After examining the authorities quoted Judge Felder sustained the motion. In the meantime County Attorney Boone had discovered the error in the complaint and was writing a new one, but had not finished when Judge Felder sustained the motion to quash. Keyes was at liberty when the motion was sustained and only remained in the court room upon the advice of his attorney, who told him that it was advisable to do so.

The new complaint drawn by the county attorney held good and Keyes was arraigned and his trial began.

This morning a jury in the county court found Will Geter, a negro, guilty of selling whiskey without a license and he was given a ten days' jail sentence and $500 fine, and for the next 365 days Geter will help build better roads for the county.

Geter several Sundays ago sold a thirty white man a half pint of whiskey near the new Union Station. Deputy Sheriff Yearh had been "sneaking" him and immediately arrested him.

L. F. Labme, a tailor, was run over by a horse and badly bruised at the corner of Seventh street and Indiana avenue last night. He says the horseman did not check his animal to learn how badly he was hurt.

SOMETHING DOING AT IOWA PARK

Strike Is Made in Well On the Lochridge Farm Near that Place.

Iowa Park, Tex., Jan. 21.—On last Thursday night word came out that there was "something doing" at the oil well two miles northeast of town on the L. N. Lochridge farm. And true it is. Something has surely been struck out there—and as fellows who haven't any stock in it are now wishing we did have.

Work was stopped at the well for a few days, waiting for new material, which was to arrive the first of the week. They are expecting a gusher of oil and before going deeper it was thought best to have all necessary material here for capping, should the expectation prove true, and from good authority, we learned that all indications lead us to think so. It is well understood oil has been found in paying quantities, but are expecting greater things by going deeper.

The salt water has gushed from the well to the top of the derrick, forced out by gas, it is claimed.

Information has been received at the Park to the effect that a well will be drilled on the Buchanan farm northwest of this place, within the next four or five days. The new company was organized at Dallas last week, and will be known as the Buchanan Oil and Gas Company, Incorporated.

The contract has been let for drilling this well to a driller who is well known in this part of Texas. The machinery and all casing has been purchased of a Dallas firm and same will be shipped to Iowa Park in time for the new company to begin drilling at the above mentioned time.

Men who are interested in oil and gas claim that this field northwest of town will be found one of the best in the state of Texas, as it lies just between the two big fields lately developed, that of Petrolia and Electra.

Mrs. J. L. McConkey left this afternoon for Seymour, in response to a telegram announcing the sudden death of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Harvey.

UNCLE SAM'S NEW WAY OF HANDLING OUR MONEY

The New Basement Entrance for the Money Motor at the Treasury Building

They have been simply playing hob of late with all the old-time ways of doing things at the United States Treasury, meaning, of course, the Treasury building at Washington, which is Uncle Sam's principal "strong box" and the fountain head of that steady stream of new-made money which makes the mare go in all parts of our country. The executive earthquake that has been turning things topsy-turvy in the most important branch of Uncle Sam's business establishment on the banks of the Potomac set in motion after President Taft entered the White House and there came to bat in consequence, a new secretary of the Treasury, an official fresh from Chicago, where, you know, they do business just a little more strenuously than anywhere else in the country.

The inspiration for the rattling of old bones and the general rejuvenation at the Treasury was given as that policy of economy which has been the slogan of the Taft administration. As a very first move, the new secretary discarded the old workroom that had served the needs of former secretaries of the Treasury and had a fine new office fitted up in another part of the building and a special new elevator sent in for his special use. That was a funny sort of economy, to be sure, at least it appeared so to the clerks who later lost their positions or had their salaries reduced on the plea of a need of economy. But anyway, the secretary got his new working quarters, and with that part of his house in order he forthwith set to work on the "snake up" that has made the inner workings of the Treasury almost unrecognizable to the man who was familiar with the methods in vogue there a few years ago.

Macroeconomic end of this revolution is not yet known. Indeed, most innovations are just now a matter of current news. Last year the mechanical experts of the Treasury spurred on by the cry for economy inventing wonderful new machines that all but revolutionized the manufacture of money, which is one of the chief activities of the Treasury Department. These new-fangled money makers were complicated machines—that is, each did the work that had formerly required several different pieces of apparatus. Consequently many old machines were displaced and there was no need for services of dozens of men and women who had formerly operated these now superfluous pieces of equipment. The net result was that the operating force at the Treasury Department was reduced to the tune of something like 200 persons, and there was brought about a saving of many thousands of dollars.

Now in this good year, 1911, the powers that be are going to tackle the other half of their huge house-cleaning contract. They are revising the methods of handling new-made money from the time it leaves the currency factory until it reaches the "ultimate consumer," and improving the system for storing the nation's surplus wealth, and in explaining this latter is a new horn of the dilemma for, thanks to the emergency currency act, Uncle Sam must now keep in reserve at all times about $500,000,000 of legal tender in excess of what he ever had laid by for a rainy day at any time in the past. This present undertaking may not result in such sweeping economies as did the new wrinkles in money making last year but it is fully as interesting and will be even more significant, perhaps, in its results. A particularly up-to-date angle of the new status of affairs has been found in the introduction of a gigantic automobile to perform every day the most responsible job of draying known to the world. All currency, embracing banknotes, gold and silver certificates, etc., produced by the United States government is printed at the money manufactory connected with the Treasury—a printer known as the United States Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Now, this old print shop is not located in the Treasury, but its 4,000 employees occupy a building of their own some half a mile away. Hence, it becomes necessary to transfer the paper money, as fast as it is printed, to the Treasury Department Building proper, where the legal tender is stored away in huge reserve vaults to be drawn upon as needed to replenish the circulating medium.

From time out of mind we have almost always this transfer of money had been made by means of a big wagon, looking very much like an overgrown "black mare." This somber van, as drawn by three powerful white horses as it rumbled back and forth on its short route, was an unflinching object of interest to the tourists who are all the while journeying to Washington from all parts of the country, and the guides who pilot strangers about the city could always astonish their charges when they related the amazing totals of the wealth the old wagon had held in its history—whole trainloads of money, almost as much, indeed, as exists in the whole world today. But this portable landmark of Uncle Sam's "financial district" has had to give way before the march of progress in the Treasury. In its stead there has lately been placed in service a new money motor or currency car, specially designed and constructed for the government. Ultimately there will be two of these horseless vehicles, and they are going to work wonders in time and labor saving. The new money motor is capable of carrying half again as much money as the horse-drawn vehicle, and is capable of much more expeditious in the delivery of bulky loads than the old vehicle do double service, and not only deliver the fresh output of money, but also the nation's postage stamps. You know, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing turns out our postage stamps

no, not exactly. To the casual observer it looked like full-fledged money in every sense of the word, but for all that, the printers at the Bureau had virtually completed the "greenbacks" and the "yellowbacks," it wasn't, in intrinsic value, so much as half made money, because it lacked the significant little seal of blue or red that conferred upon each bill of paper the dignity of legal tender. Until a few months ago this seal was not impressed on each bill until it reached the Treasury Building and consequently the officials never worried much lest anybody should try to steal currency that, in its uncompleted state, would not pass muster with any banker or keen-eyed business man. Now, however, thanks to the economical new combination machines which have been referred to above, the "sealing" of the currency is done in conjunction with the other operations of manufacture at the Bureau. Hence it is almost pure wealth that is wheeled along the streets of Washington these days, and the officials have devised an elaborate new system of safeguards for the money in transit.

Foremost of these safeguards is the new automobile itself, which has a body of steel and wood strong enough to resist almost anything save a dynamite explosion and which likewise has the speed to run away from robbers, if necessary something which the old wagon was lacking. Moreover, the motor car is surrounded, whenever there is money aboard, by a force of picked guards such as the special police, all former non-commissioned officers of the United States Army, and expert revolver shots, are in uniform and each is armed with the latest approved type of magazine gun. Two of the guards ride with the chauffeur on the front seat of the car while three or four occupy positions on a seat across the back of the car, and a mounted officer accompanies the automobile, acting as a sort of scout and holding up street traffic along the route of the "joy ride." The new money car will carry as much as $5,000,000 on a single trip, and inasmuch as the three faithful horses, Tom, Ned and Lee, which were lately retired on a pension, had hauled during the past 11 years a total of $14,000,000,000, it can be surmised what a transportation record will be to the credit of the new currency car a few years hence. As far back as the oldest inhabitant can remember this loading and unloading of Uncle Sam's most valuable property has been carried on at what is known as the east front of the Treasury. This has meant that the handling of the boxes, bags and cases in which the money is transported has taken place on Pennsylvania avenue, in full view of the passing throng. Pretty risky, maybe you think, when it is taken into consideration that each wheeled trucking case that is rolled out of the vehicle from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing contains 412,000 notes and bills, which means $412,000. If the currency be of the $1 denomination, or $412,000, if the contents be $10 bills. Well, evidently the officials concluded that it was tempting fate, as well as wasting time, to unload thus in the public eye, and accordingly they are constructing a new basement entrance to the Treasury over on the opposite side of the building, next to the White House, and here the loading and unloading of money will be carried on in a sheltered courtyard, but with sharpshooters watching as they do now from concealed vantage points to see to it that no suspicious characters take an undue interest in the proceeding.

Once inside the Treasury a large proportion of all the new-made money now delivered there goes to a new vault that has lately been completed far underground below the massive granite building. Uncle Sam's newest and largest money chest cost the government more than $34,000, and is one of the finest vaults in the world. If not the finest, it is 34 feet in length, about 20 feet wide, and 16 feet high and its interior has 15,000 steel pigeonholes each made just large enough to accommodate a package containing 1,000 bank notes. The walls of this subterranean safe are of the heaviest steel and the monster door has locks with four combinations, but the main safeguard for the buried wealth lies in an electric protective system that cost $2,000, and which enmeshes the entire vault in a closed network of electric wires—more than 17 miles of wire in all. The slightest interference with any wire at any point will sound alarms and the system is tested every 15 minutes day and night to see that it is in perfect working order.

HENRY EXALL DELIVERS AN INTERESTING ADDRESS

President Texas Industrial Congress Discusses That Organization

Special to The Times.—Colonel Henry Exall, president of the Texas Industrial Congress, today addressed the annual meeting of the Texas Corn Growers Association and the Texas Swine Breeders Association at this place. His address was as follows:

Mr. Chairman, Gentlemen of the Texas Corn Growers Association and Swine Breeders Association of Texas: It gives me special pleasure to discuss industrial question with gentlemen who are so actively engaged in growing better corn and raising better hogs, two of the most essential elements in the prosperity of the state. We want to join you and have you join us in the same great thing, to think for the permanent prosperity and happiness of the people. To this end, the Texas Industrial Congress of 1911 to the farmers of the state, to the corn growers, to the best crops of corn and cotton raised in Texas, with out irrigation, in the year 1911.

First prize of $500 in gold for the largest yield of cotton on ten acres of land, second prize, $250; third, $100; fourth, $50; fifth, $25.

and ten prizes of $100 each for the next ten best results. These prizes are open to women and boy farmers as well as to the men of the state.

The congress also offers a special prize of $500 for boys and girls not more than 20 years of age on the first of January, 1911. The first prize of $100 in gold for the best yield of merchantable corn on two acres of land and best yield of middling cotton on two acres of land; second prize, $75; third, $50; fourth, $25, and ten prizes of $100 each for the next ten best results. The four acres of land to be on one farm and under one management and the crops to be grown without irrigation, in the state of Texas, in the year 1911.

There are positively no entrance fees or charges of any kind to the contestants for these prizes. The congress simply desires to help the farmers to help themselves by inducing more careful preparation of the soil, before planting and better seed selection, intelligent fertilization and constant cultivation from the time the crops are up until mature.

We only ask contestants to notify the congress at the earliest date possible, and positively not later than April first, when all entries close, stating that they will contest for the twenty-acre prize, the four-acre prize, or for both, giving their postoffice address and the location of their land, so that an inspector can find it. The congress believes by intelligent efforts, such as mentioned above, that the net profits of the crops raised in the state can be doubled within the next few years. It offers these prizes with the hope that small plots of ground will be scientifically cultivated in every nook and corner of the state this year, thereby offering ocular demonstration of the fact that it is infinitely more profitable to cultivate a small tract of land properly than a large one by our present agricultural methods.

One of the greatest troubles with the farmers of this state, as well as those in the majority of other states of the union, has been that they attempt to cultivate too much land. Another troublesome fact is that we have been to a great extent a race of land speculators in contradistinction to a race of permanent home builders. Land has been so cheap, so easy to obtain, apparently so boundless in quantity and eternal in fertility that we have failed to realize how vital it is to the life of the nation and the prosperity of its people that we should conserve its fertility and treasure it as a thousand fold our greatest material asset.

A question of the gravest interest to the state is our farm lease system. Landlords should be willing to give longer and more liberal leases with better houses and more comforts and conveniences for their tenants. As a compensation for these betterments, tenants should take more interest in the cultivation of the soil and the protection of the property that gives them, even for a few years, a comfortable place to live. If there are two classes can be made to feel that their interests are identical and that the prosperity of each is indissolubly connected with and controlled by the prosperity of the other, a great step in advance will have been made. A large number of tenant farmers have been deterred from purchasing homes because they had learned to believe that it was necessary for them to have a hundred or more acres of land and as they were not able to buy so large a tract, they did not purchase at all. If it can be demonstrated beyond the shadow of a doubt that twenty or forty acres properly cultivated will support a family of eight or ten people, return fertilizers enough to the land to keep it in good heart, and lay by a little something for rainy day besides, we may be able to gradually transform that great multitude of moving tenants into permanent and prosperous home and happiness builders. It has been said that three moves are equal to a fire—in fact, it is impossible to estimate the terrible waste in property, time, human energy and hope that is caused by the necessity of changing locations from year to year.

If it is possible to convince the tenant farmers on a small amount of land that they can now buy cheaply and on almost any terms they can afford to offer, and that they can really make a living on this small home, we are confident that thousands of them will become small land owners and that the methods of their lives and tendencies will be permanently changed for the better. They will then feel that those dependent upon them will literally reap the fruits of the trees that they plant and all the benefits that come from the protection of the property; its increased fertility and a thousand and one other things, to which all the members of the family can contribute that will help to make the home, lowly though it be, really and truly a happy home and make life worth living. The children from such homes will make prosperous, happy and useful citizens in a constantly increasing ratio in all the generations that are to come.

The congress most earnestly requests the commissioners' courts and the business men's associations in the various counties of the state to offer premiums in such amounts as they can afford to give for identically the same crops and under exactly the same conditions as named by the congress for the contestants in their respective counties, to the end that a farmer may win a state prize, or a county prize, or a state prize, may win a county prize. The congress also most earnestly requests commercial bodies and commissioners' courts to keep in touch with the contestants in their counties. All county officers, merchants, bankers, in fact, all good citizens, are earnestly requested to cooperate with the congress in inducing the farmers everywhere to immediately prepare their land and contest for prizes.

The population of the United States has grown in the last fifty years, by leaps and bounds. In 1860, we had thirty millions of people, almost all of them east of the Mississippi River. That vast country known as the northwest was a cattle range with free grass from Montana to the Rio Grande. It looked as though there were not people enough in the universe to occupy the vast areas of open land in this country. The population today is over ninety millions and the great northwest is almost as thickly settled as Indiana and Ohio were before the war.

The increasing multitudes are heading this way and nothing under the sun but a pestilence could stop them. The line of march is two thousand miles long. I hear the echo of their footsteps; I see them on horseback; in covered wagons; in immigrant cars; in passenger cars with the rolls coming in every day.

At the same ratio of increase as in the past fifty years, we will have in this union almost 250,000,000 of people in 1960. The time is, therefore, here when it is useless to longer expend our energies in a farther attempt to increase our population, as the world has been passed along the line and the multitude is in motion.

It behooves us now rather to improve the conditions of those who are with us already and to set an example that will help to make the thousands who are to come useful and happy citizens.

The country has been so rich and prosperous, the soil in anything like fair seasons has produced so bountifully that the people in their enthusiasm have grown to believe that these great black acres, our most vital and valuable asset, are inexhaustible. The fertilizing elements of the land have been likened unto a bank account. If you continue to draw the money out, putting nothing back, it will soon be irretrievably gone, it matters not what the original deposit. It is difficult to make us miss the water until the well runs dry. (But the past two years should be convincing!)

Josh Billings was a great philosopher as well as a humorist. Probably the most pertinent thing he ever said, and it is applicable to every condition in life, was: "The time to be the keepest is when you have a hand full of trump." The people of this country hold the fullest hand of any people on the face of God's green earth.

War in Haiti.

By Associated Press. Port-Au-Prince, Haiti, Jan. 20.—War with Santo Domingo appears inevitable. The Dominican troops have occupied Grand Gosier on the Haitian southern frontier and are marching on Saltrou, Haiti.

Suffragette After Churchill.

By Associated Press. London, Jan. 20.—A banner suggesting that Winston Churchill, the home secretary, be imprisoned, was carried into Downing street today by a young suffragette. She used the banner as a lance, trying to knock off Churchill's hat. The police drove her away.

MINERS THREATEN TO QUIT FEDERATION

By Associated Press. Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 20.—The United Mine Workers of America adopted a resolution today withdrawing from the American Federation of Labor if the latter does not admit the Western Federation of Miners to membership without restrictions. The resolution was almost unanimously adopted.

The convention voted to find a new credentials committee headquarters, because a negro was requested to ride in a freight elevator at the headquarters at the hotel.

WORTH HORSE SHOW

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 21.—Some real style is going to be put on at the opening of the annual horse show in Fort Worth in March. The programme calls for a race of four-in-hands from the Country club to the Coliseum, where the show is to be held, and the distance is approximately five miles. Five coaches are to enter and the winner will be man of color. Such a race will be new in the south-west and will create no end of comment.

The prize list that has been arranged is the most attractive ever prepared for a show in this section of the country.

President S. H. Burnett, Vice President Marion Sanson, Treasurer J. L. Price and Manager and Secretary Warren V. Galbreath have worked diligently upon the list and it will be pleasing to the horsemen. The conditions that are to be imposed will not be as exacting as some of those in the past, and will be more liberal in every way. All of the officers of the association have been prominently identified with the cattle and horse raising business in Texas for years, and know the value of the people who are to be the patrons of the horse show.

Texas horsemen will be given greater opportunities than ever before to show to advantage their native bred horses. Special classes for Texas animals have been arranged.

Some of the cities that are to be represented in the show are by good entries are McKinney, Denton, Marlin, Cleburne, Gainesville, Weatherford, San Angelo and Collins. All of the larger cities of Texas will be in strong for the prizes and ribbons.

In preparing for the coming show, Manager Galbreath has listed eight of ten brand new classes that are to be seen for the first time in Texas. Some of these have delighted patrons at the Olympic and the national. Included in the new list are classes in military jumping, monkey drills, symposiums, umbrella races and pony tandem classes for children.

Several foreign bred horses are to be shown and two of the number have not been stabled in America a year yet. While abroad last summer Miss Long, a Kansas City exhibitor, added to her stable two beauties, and both will be exhibited here in March. One was among the prize winners at the Olympic horse show.

Classes for single roadsters and saddle horses this year will be more numerous, for the entry list is growing so large that it is either a case of extending the number of classes or over-crowding the show while putting the animals through their paces.

Armour & Co.'s six-in-hand team of Percheron draft horses, Adolph Busch's six-in-hand mule team, and the Busch ox team are to be shown.

The show will last from March 12 through the evening of March 13.

Optimism Extraordinary.

Everybody's Magazine.

Senator George Chamberlain of Oregon was once asked to define what he considered optimism.

"Well," said the senator, "an Oregon editor, Ed Eckley, was with a crowd en route to Wallawa Lake, in my state. From the railroad up to the lake is a stiff climb of perhaps two miles. After a quarter of an hour of going Eckley hailed a man coming down. 'How far is it to the lake?' he asked.

"About a mile and a half" was the reply.

"Another fifteen minutes of climbing brought him to a second pedestrian going in the opposite direction. Eckley again asked the distance.

"M-m—'bout a mile and a half," said the native.

"A third man was met a few minutes later. 'How far?' queried Eckley, who was now decidedly tired. 'Mile and a half,' replied the stranger. Eckley sat down on a rock dependently, but optimism got the upper hand.

"Thank the Lord," exclaimed the editor, "we are holding our own!"

Irish Farms Feed England.

Chicago Journal.

Facts cited in a recent report of the department of agriculture and technical instruction of Ireland make a significant showing of the increasing material importance of that country to the British empire.

It appears that Ireland is rapidly becoming the granary of the United Kingdom.

During 1909 Ireland shipped more cattle to the mainland than all other countries combined.

During the same period Irish farmers sold their customers in England $17,642,602 worth of butter and $13,255,964 worth of eggs. Poultry to the value of $4,171,825 and hedges and hams to the aggregate of $16,870,730, went to swell the trade account of the Irish with their British neighbors.

When England discovers that her people must depend on Ireland for the bread they eat, the grievances of the mainland will acquire more than political importance.

Philadelphia Record.

It was a terrifying experience that W. E. Patterson of Nesquehock had Monday near Unityville, when a monster owl attacked him, badly lacerating his face and hands.

The bird fell, and Patterson, thinking to catch it alive, ran toward it. As the bird saw him coming it darted toward him with feathers ruffled and claws as thick as a man's fingers that grasped him savagely. Patterson shot again and knocked the owl down, but again he jumped up and attacked him.

Patterson managed to get away, and, running back, managed to reload his double-barrelled shotgun and shot again. Each time the bird was knocked over, but each time it came back as savagely as before. He took refuge behind a tree to reload his gun, and the fifth time he shot it through the eye, killing it. The owl measured five feet from tip to tip.

To Consecrate Michigan Prelate.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 20.—Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, Archbishop of Ireland of St. Paul, Bishop Maes of Cloghlin, Bishop Richter of this city and others of the most distinguished members of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in America will participate in the elaborate and impressive ceremonies in Ann Arbor next week attending the consecration of the Rev. Father Edward D. Kelley as bishop of Detroit.

Cardinal Gibbons will officiate and Archbishop Ireland will preach the consecration sermon. The ceremony will be the first of its kind that has taken place in Michigan in more than a quarter of a century.

Government Clerks Want Pensions.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—Several hundred delegates representing nearly all parts of the country were on hand today at the opening of the annual convention of the United States Civil Service Retirement Association. The convention will last two days. A leading feature of the program will be an address by Representative Joseph A. Goulden of New York, author of a bill which provides for straight pensions for civil service employees.

Bench Show Opens at Oshkosh.

Oshkosh, Wis., Jan. 20.—Prize-winning dogs of many varieties were displayed here today at the opening of the fifth annual show of the Fox River Kennel Club. The exhibition will continue until the end of the week.

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 20.—Arbor Day was generally observed throughout the State of Mississippi today by special exercises in all the public schools.

State Press of the Galveston-Dallas News makes this sage observation: "Death brings all to a common level, and death is inevitable." We have heard that before.—Bryan Eagle.

WONDERFUL REMEDY

That's What is Said of Stomach Prescription Guaranteed by March-man's Drug Store.

Stephen Wolfe of Lansing, Michigan, writes:

For over three years I suffered much pain and annoyance from stomach disease. I had no help from my digestive organs apparently, and my food would stay in my stomach and ferment, causing gas, there was also a dizzy headache. I doctored and used every remedy that I heard of, but it remained for M-I-O-N-A to cure me entirely. Before I had used three boxes, my appetite and digestive organs became all right. It is a wonderful remedy.

M-I-O-N-A stomach tablets are small and easy to swallow. They stop the most painful stomach distress in five minutes. They drive out sourness and gas and make the stomach clean and sweet.

They are sold by C. F. Marchman under a positive guarantee to cure any case of indigestion, or money back.

They put vigor and vitality into people run down by indigestion. Sold by C. F. Marchman and leading drug stores everywhere at 50 cents a large box.

Wanted a Place

Two days after Governor Dix, of New York, had taken his place a stranger walked in on him with—
"Governor, I voted for you."
"Thanks."
"And my two sons voted for you."
"Thanks, twice more."
"And my old woman voted for you."
"Indeed?"
"And I think I ought to have an office of some kind."
"Sorry, that all the offices are filled."
"But, Governor, you can make one of you will."
"Let me hear about it."
"Well, there was a lot of corruption in the last legislature, wasn't there?"
"I believe so."
"And a committee appointed by that body is still uncovering things."
"Yes, that's so but what has this to do with creating a new office for you?"
"Why, Governor, I want to be the committee to investigate the investigating committee, and then if you feel like it you can appoint my sons to investigate me!"
"It is said the Governor is seriously thinking of it and, further, of appointing the old woman to investigate the boys."

He Was Humorous

You see, said the dry goods drummer struck with a jar, and I just leaned up out of a job. It came about through my being humorous. I don't claim to be funny and a writer of jokes, but when I see anything funny I have to ha! ha! ha!"
"And did you see anything funny?" was asked.
"Oh! two or three weeks ago, you see, I had my salary raised on the first of the year, and I was feeling cozy. I was more humorous than usual. I went up the street one day giggling at everything I saw. By and by a man in front of my store an-hey spot and went down. So—say—

Not A Hero

He was a passenger on a street car and the other passengers couldn't help but wonder what sort of an accident he had met with that he had his hands wrapped up in bandages. Finally one man could stand it no longer, and he leaned forward and asked:
"Get your hands burned in some way?"
"Yes, sir."
"Fire in your house?"
"Oh, no—it was in a church."
"Ah! decorations took fire, did they?"
"That's it, sir. The decorations left over from Christmas. Dry as a bone, you know, and the church crowded."
"I see—I see."
A panic would have been the death of a hero. And you saw the fire catch—
"Oh, no, I saw it first."
"And you called the blaring decorations down and saved a conflagration and loss of life? Don't tell me you didn't for I spotted you as a hero the moment you started the car. Of course, your hands were badly blistered?"
"Yes, but I am not posing as a hero. In fact, I did not assist to put out the fire."
"You didn't?"
"No sir, I walked right out doors."
"But—your thumbs—your blistered thumbs?"
"Oh, I got them the next morning. Wife and I had a little dispute at breakfast and she threw the coffee-pot at me. I caught it, but the contents—"

Way-side Wisdom

A bare-faced lie always lives to be bald-headed.

Even a blind man can see the silver lining to somebody else's cloud.

There are some kinds of wrinkles that are the best of all beauty-spots.

Every woman knows that it is the pin that is mightier than the sword.

A married man could enjoy hearing the birds sing, if he could forget that they too have bills.

It is a fact that a stolen umbrella will keep you just as dry as one honestly acquired.

It is wonderful how many women a girl sees in her mirror when she looks into it all by herself.

The average woman's idea of a company dinner is to keep the neck of the chicken for herself.

It is no comfort to look before you leap, when you can only get out of the frying pan into the fire.

You could enjoy seeing a pretty girl smoke a cigarette if it didn't make you wonder how she felt when she did it first.

Greater Than The Tariff

There had been a great deal of talk in the village about the high tariff, and a day or two after New Year's Day a public meeting was called to pass resolutions of indignation. About thirty men had gathered, and Deacon Hosean Jones had been elected chairman, when a small boy tiptoed in and whispered in his ear.
"Gentlemen," said the Deacon to the assemblage, "this gathering will have to adjourn."
"But we want to discuss the tariff," was shouted.
"We will have to meet some other time."
"But we want to hear the revolution read!"
