Hospital to eye feasibility study

The Mitchell County Hospital District board of directors Tuesday night instructed Administrator Ray Mason to contact professionals about the possibility of doing a feasibility study on the future needs of the hospital.

The action was prompted when Mason asked the board for direction in the matter.

"We need to plan for our needs," said Mason. "We don't want to wait until time is at hand when we have to do something."

The board at an earlier meeting had discussed the possibility of remodeling the present facility and hired local draftsman Ron Goebel to draw up a set of plans detailing possible renovation ideas. The board members also discussed the possibility of building a new facility sometime in the future as opposed to remodeling the present structure.

Gus Armstrong voted against Marion Bassham's motion about talking with professionals about a possible feasibility study.

"I can't give the people a good reason for building a new hospital," said Armstrong, adding that "the timing is all wrong" because of the economy.

Mrs. Bassham, prior to making her motion, which was seconded by Virgil Stone and approved by all except Armstrong, said "I would sure like to see us get started on this."

"To get anything at all other than criticism from the public, we need information as to what is needed," said Jay Craddock. "We've got to be sold on this before we take it to the public."

Stone agreed, saying that a professional firm will be able to give the answers before the board decides on whatever direction it takes in the matter.

Mason earlier had told the board that a physician appears to scriously be considering opening

Rain fills furrows in cotton field as dark clouds loom

When it rains, it pours

A flash flood warning was issued for Mitchell County Monday as thunderstorms dumped several inches of rain on thirsty cotton fields and lawns throughout the area.

No flooding was reported but rain caused by tropical air from the Gulf of Mexico, combining with hot air from the Southwest, helped put an end to the dry spell with moisture that started falling Saturday.

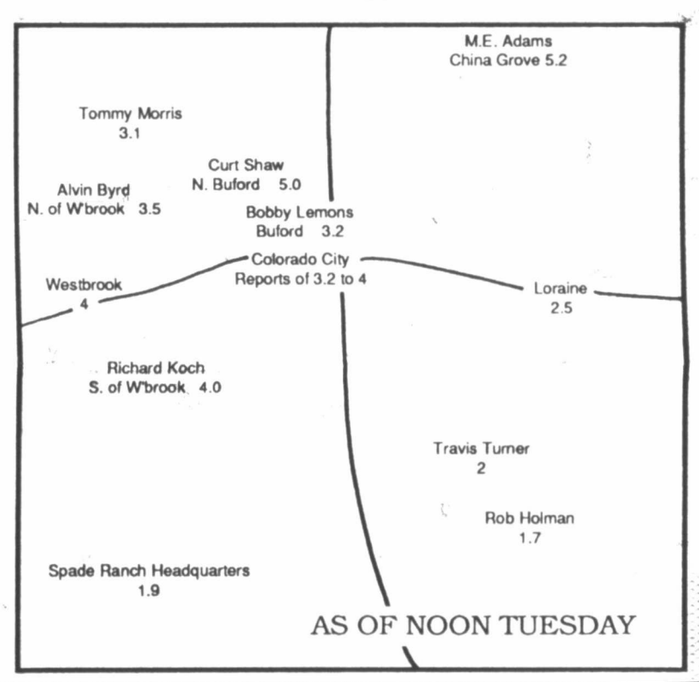

By Monday, reports of over 5 inches in some parts of the county had been received and forecasters were still calling for rain Tuesday and Wednesday.

Reports of rainfall ranging from 3¼ to 4.0 were received in Colorado City.

Emergency planning studied by committee

August Koenning, regional liaison officer with the Division of Emergency Management of the Texas Department of Public Safety, Midland, told members of the Mitchell County Civil Defense and Hazardous-Material committees that the county is supposed to by Oct. 1 have an updated, state-approved plan in the event of emergency.

Koenning explained that the 99th Congress enacted legislation to coordinate emergency planning in all 50 states. He showed a video, "Understanding Title III", and how it affects local entities.

"Congress wants the public to know more and how to react in an emergency situation," said Koenning. "Title III is aimed at getting government, industry and communities working together to protect citizens against potential accidents."

He said each community is required to have a coordinated emergency response plan. In addition, he said that industries or businesses handling hazardous materials are required to report what materials they have on site.

He said that governmental entities use the information supplied by the industries "to do some constructive emergency planning."

Koenning noted that Title III is a very complex law and suggested that the local committee send a representative to a training school offered free of charge.

"The federal law says that by Oct. 1, 1988, everyone will have a plan," he said, noting that probably not every county will meet the deadline. "Sixty percent of the Texas counties, including Mitchell County, do not have a plan."

He said that in Texas, local governing entities are urged to create one plan to fit whatever emergency might arise, from haz-

Lemonade, cookies to be served

Fourth of July visitors to Colorado City and Mitchell County are invited to tour the historic Heritage House on Chestnut Street and enjoy lemonade and cookies.

The refurbished 19th century home, the first brick house to be built in Colorado City, will be open from 2-5 p.m. Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

The house, a sesquicentennial gift to the city from Mrs. Marion Bassham has been furnished with turn-of-the-century items. Volunteers give tours of the house.

Visitors are also encouraged to view the memorial garden which was made possible through donations. Donations are still welcomed.

"Thanks to the people who have already donated and helped with our planting," said Mrs. Bassham, who also issued a special invitation to the Colorado High School graduates of 1968 who will be having a class reunion this weekend.

FROM THE SCRIPTURES— "So write this song and teach it to the people, teach them to repeat it, that this song may be a witness for me..." Deuteronomy 31:19.

Our National Anthem has been much maligned in recent years, with critics pointing out that few people know all the words for the first verse, much less the other three verses; and the fact that it is difficult to sing. America or "My Country 'tis of Thee" has been promoted as a replacement. The latter is a beautiful, well-known, easy-to-sing song, for sure, but nothing symbolizes the winning of our independence, and is at the very root of our history like "The Star-Spangled Banner".

Francis Scott Key is known to us as the author of the anthem, who penned the poem, September 13, 1814, in Chesapeake Bay during the War of Independence battle with the British fleet at Fort McHenry, near Baltimore.

Soon after the battle, the poem was published for a broadside by the Baltimore American entitled "Defense of Fort McHenry." The title "The Star-Spangled Banner" was first used in an advertisement for the poem appearing in the January 6, 1815 issue of the National Intelligencer."

The rhythmic pattern of the poem fit nicely with an English drinking song, "Anacreon in Heaven", with a melody that came from a piece composed during the 18th century by John Stafford Smith. Soon the poem with the tune was being sung and played throughout the land.

THE LONE WOLF SAYS, "Peace is an international truce when haggling and cheating replace fighting."

The song had gained stature and formal respect by the early 1900's when Mrs. Reuben Ross Holloway of the Maryland Daughters of 1812 persistently insisted that Congress give the song official status. Over the next couple of decades resolution after resolution died in Congress for one reason or another. Finally, in 1929 Congressman Howard Linthicum reintroduced his sixth Star-Spangled Banner Bill. It was passed by the House on April 21, 1930, by the Senate on March 3, 1931, and President Herbert Hoover signed it on the same day.

We may not know all the words, and have trouble hitting the high and low notes, but nothing stirs a patriotic feeling like "The Star-Spangled Banner."

DID YOU KNOW? The words for the National Anthem were inspired by the 36-feet by 29-feet flag made quickly by Mrs. Mary Young Pickersgill that flew over Fort McHenry. It can still be seen in the Museum of History of the Smithsonian Institution.

a practice in Colorado City.

Dr. Hassen Moosson, who also is a surgeon, is in his mid-40s and is currently practicing in Indiana. Moosson has already been to Colorado City once to look at the town and the hospital and to meet with the medical staff. He plans to bring his wife back for a visit in the near future, said Mason.

"Dr. Moosson came down, liked what he saw and feels like he wants to come to Colorado City," said Mason. "He (Moosson) is 100 percent positive about coming here."

Mason announced that Congressman Charles Stenholm and a representative from the office of Rural Health Care in Washington, D.C. will visit the hospital on the afternoon on July 22.

The board approved the lone bid of Four Seasons for 25 new windows for Valley Fair Lodge. The insulated, tinted windows will be installed for $7,189 and will replace worn windows. Wes Smith of Colorado City is Four Seasons representative for this area.

The board also approved the lone bid of Calloway's, Inc. of Abilene for new vinyl flooring for 11 patient rooms in the Bassham Wing for $6,397. The present floor covering has been in use since the wing was built several years ago.

The board commended nursing home administrator Marsha Rickard and her staff for the results of the state survey recently conducted. There were only three deficiencies cited in the facility and the surveyors wrote that "this facility remains one of the best" in this region. Other comments of the surveyors included "nursing care is good" and "facility is very clean as always".

Mrs. Rickard said the deficiencies were all minor and are in the process of being or have already been corrected.

The board approved the report of the Home Health Care Agency for the last quarter. It was noted that its director, Kris Riojas, has resigned and that Grace Rodriquez, a registered nurse who has worked with the program since its inception, will be interim director.

In other business, the board:

- approved the financial and statistical reports for the hospital and nursing home as presented;
- approved Dr. Samuel King, Lubbock cardiologist, for associate staff privileges;
- gave approval for Mason & Warner of Lubbock to continue the cost report preparation at an estimated cost of about $3,000;
- approved a policy change concerning quality assurance coordinator's authority, and;
- gave permission to advertise for bids for leasing a new phone system.

Containers that have deteriorated, or that have been damaged to the extent of having jagged or sharp edges capable of causing injury to garbage collectors or other persons whose duty it is to handle the containers, or to such an extent that the covers will not fit securely, will be condemned by the City of Colorado City, acting through its Department of Sanitation; and if such containers are not replaced after notice to the owner or user of their defective condition, they will be confiscated.

Sec. 10-4. Receptables. Each person, partnership, corporation, or other association of persons shall erect, install, and maintain, or cause to be erected, installed, and maintained, within said City of Colorado City, near the alley serving the premises for which such person, partnership, corporation, or other association of persons may be required under the provision of this article to provide and maintain receptacles for garbage. Such structure or platform may be constructed either of wood or metal. Where the owner has already constructed a platform for the purpose enumerated, he may have the Superintendent of Sanitation to determine whether or not such structure substantially and sufficiently complies with the requirements herein set out. The rack shall be constructed in such a manner as to prevent the cans from being turned over. (Ord. 1959, Rev. 1959, 1967, 1967,)

Wallace saying quits to Supreme Court

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN–In what Texas Republicans called a "gift from heaven," Supreme Court Justice Jim Wallace will give then another vacancy to fill by appointment when he resigns at summer's end.

Wallace, a Democrat, said he was quitting for financial reasons, explaining that he, like many other Texans, had real estate and other investments which need his attention.

Although his term runs through 1982, by resigning creates a vacancy that will be filled in general election on Nov. 8.

Gov. Bill Clements can now appoint his third judge to the high court, someone presumably to be on the November ballot with the slight edge of one month's incumbency.

In all voters will be choosing six justices this fall due to resignations of Chief Justice John Hill and Robert Campbell and now Wallace, all Democrats. The normal rotation is to elect three of the nine justices.

Bullock Leading Poll

Meanwhile, Comptroller Bob Bullock received his own "gift from Shipley." A recent poll by George Shipley, owner of an Austin public opinion and research firm, shows Bullock with a sizeable lead against any potential opponent in the race for lieutenant governor.

In a match-up with two state senators talking about running, the poll shows Bullock beating Hugh Parmer of Fort Worth by 55 percent to 11 percent and Chet Edwards of Duncanville by 57 percent to 13 percent.

Even Republican primary voters favored Bullock over former State Republican Party Chairman George Strake, the GOP nominee for lieutenant governor in 1982; Railroad Commissioner Kent Hance, who has talked about the post; and Rob Mosbacher Jr., a Houston oilman, who is considering a run.

With long and varied experience in state government, Bullock believes the time is right for him to help solve some of the state's problems. "I think Texas is at a crossroads," facing problems in education, prisons, tax structure and economic development.

Mauro Hires Top Lawyer

State Land Commissioner Garry Mauro last week hired a nationally known defense attorney after the FBI subpoenaed agency records as part of an investigation of dealings between Mauro's office and land developers.

Noted San Antonio attorney Gerald Goldstein said Mauro has "nothing to hide" and he is convinced political enemies are using federal investigators to smear him.

Annual Clanton family reunion held May 28-29

The fourth annual Clanton family reunion was held at the Colorado City State Park dining hall May 28-29. Serving as host families were the children and grandchildren of the late James C. and Mary E. Clanton - Mrs. Geralene Stallcup, John and Lucille Roemer, Clifton Clanton, Jay and Peggy Clanton, Murel and Irene Ringener and Bob and Dee Rogers. One son, Auldon Clanton, was hospitalized with a heart attack and unable to attend.

Traditionally, the reunion began with pot luck lunch Saturday and a hot dog supper Saturday night furnished by the host families. Following the evening meal, an auction was held featuring handmade articles brought by various family members. This has become a popular event of the reunion with both children and adults participating by either displaying their artistic talents or buying by outbidding for their favorite article. All proceeds from the auction go toward reunion expense.

Once again, breakfast was cooked and served by Jay Clanton on Sunday morning and the barbecue for the noon meal by Kenny Clanton of Lake Colorado City.

Special and honored guests for the occasion were Uncle Clyde Clanton, 93, and his wife, Aunt Eula, from Leslie, Ark. As a special request, the two of them sang two old time gospel hymns, He Washed My Eyes with Tears and Let Me Touch Him. Before singing, Uncle CLyde gave a short talk and said these songs were his testimony. He then led in prayer before the noon meal.

Also honored guests were Mrs. Ora Neaville, sister of the late Mr. Clanton, and Mrs. Madge Hendricks, sister of the late Mrs. Clanton. Two aunts, Mrs. Mable Jones and Mrs. Sally Blythe, missed their first from the past four reunions because of illness.

These registering were Jay and Peggy Clanton, Pete, Linda, Raeanna, Irena and Joan Clanton, Chelsea Burgess, Kenny and Patti black and family, all from Kerrville; Ronnie and Jean Rinehart and family, Mrs. Ora Neaville and Norma and E.E. Wallace from Snyder, Melba Rinehart and friend, Lyn and Amy Rinehart, Eurdist and Brenda Rinehart, all from Gail; Rose Ella Ball, Kenny, Sylvia, Zack and Elizabeth Clanton, from Colorado City; Bobbie Billings, Mark and Mary Billings and family, Wanda (Clanton) Gortner, Jennifer Ledbetter, Tonya Hamil, Mandi and Samantha Register, Jerry Don and Brenda Denton from Odessa; W.C. and Ruby Clanton, Dee and Leo Scarbrough, Carla Gressett, Johnny, Marianne and Chrissy Roemer, John J. Roemer III, Jimmy, Kandi, Jeremy, Jenean and Margie Clanton, Sandie and Leslie Fryar, Merel and Irene Ringenar, Savoy and Donna Kay, Clifton Clanton, Bob and Dee Rogers, Eugene and Carla Clanton, Geralene Stallcup, John and Lucille Roemer, Jimmy, Janice, Jacoby and Jarret Hopper, all from Big Spring.

Loraine News

Loraine Personals

...by Lois Phillips

Ham and Blondie Hamilton and two of their granddaughters have been on a vacation trip.

They went to Colorado where they rode the narrow gauge railroad train from Durango to Silverton. They also spent a day at Mesa Verde.

Another point of interest on this trip was the "Blue Hole" in Santa Rosa, NM. I am sure Grandpa and Grandma scored points with Cara and Charity on this trip, but I know one thing Ham and Blondie had more fun than the girls did. After all, taking the grandkids places sure is fun.

Steve and Marsha Key of Lubbock were in Loraine recently visiting her parents and in Colorado City with Steve's parents. Alisah Green went home with the Key's for a short visit. Dorothy went later in the week and picked up Alisha and Shawn. Bryan and Shawn are helping their Granddad Junior in the store this summer.

Cara Lane visited Mrs. Nannie Hallmark at the Loraine Nursing Center recently.

Sharon Green and daughter visited in Abilene recently with Sharon's cousin, Mrs. Gale Martin. Glenna Green enjoyed playing with her new baby cousin.

Bill and Faye Scarber visited recently with their daughter and family, Tommy, Sharon, Alisha and Glenna Green. The Scarbers live in Pecos where Bill is connected with Contel of Texas and Faye is with the hospital there.

Wanted to say congratulations to Danny Cain for the grades he made in school this year.

Danny, I didn't know you had it in you, of course I only knew about your when you were a carefree kid. Football, basketball and baseball and girls were more important then I guess.

My sister, Jean Haggerton and I were in Abilene Friday for a doctor's appointment. We picked up my daughter and her son Stacy for lunch, went to McDonald's of course.

We saw Lisa Mitchell and Mandy there. Mandy had on some new beads, bracelet and earrings. She was real proud of them. Enjoyed visiting with them since they are favorites of ours.

Lisa was in Abilene to check out the Loraine High School cheerleaders who had been there all week attending Hardin-Simmons University cheerleader school. Lisa is their sponsor.

Nell Doyle called to say her granddaughters of Arlington had spent two weeks with she and Jap. Reports are they had a "ball" so to speak, did exactly as the girls said and if the girls didn't want to do what grandparents had planned, then they did something else.

Nell, I think that might border on bribery, but who cares when entertaining grandkids. Shannon and Amanda Doyle left Loraine to go to Sweetwater to visit their other grandmother.

While talking to Nell I found out her grandson Jimmie Collier is attending school at Tarleton College in Stephenville. Jimmie is a graduate of Highland School.

The Doyle's other daughter still lives in Florida where her husband is in the service.

Mrs. Dennis Cranfil and her daughter visited Mrs. Nan Hallmark Sunday afternoon at the Loraine Nursing Center. Peggy Scarbrough of Silver spent the day with Miss Nanny on Sunday.

The Church of Christ, Methodist Church and the First Baptist all sang for the Loraine Nursing Center on Sunday afternoon.

* * *

T. J. Blair told me about a tomato that he had grown. It weighed one pound and several ounces. Ruth said it tasted real good when T. J. finally decided they could eat it.

Dorothy Green had minor surgery in Lubbock last week. She is doing fine.

Brad Thompson and his lady love were rafting at Garner State Park last week.

Donnie Cornutt's house was struck by lightning last week. Reports are that there was quite a bit of damage. We are sorry it happened.

Lisa Mitchell and her mother are going to market in Dallas this weekend for their flower shop in Sweetwater.

The David Smiths, Dennis Smith and Tad Richburg and friend visited in the home of Lester and Lela Richburg over the weekend and attended the Richburg reunion.

Those of you who know Junior Green are not going to believe this, but I'll tell you anyway. He and Dorothy will leave Saturday morning for Lake Buchanan to visit with two of his sisters.

They will spend the Fourth of July there then go on to El Campo to visit the older sister Blossom Lee Burstrom, her daughter and granddaughter.

Others going will be Patsy Affleck, her husband of Dallas, Eleanor and Jo and Joy all of Lake Buchanan. This will be a Green reunion as all the sisters and brothers will be present and probably some grandkids.

I am not sure when they will be home.

Richburg descendants have reunion

The descendants of the late John and Mollie Richburg met at the Loraine Senior Center for their annual reunion on June 25. One hundred fifteen were present at this gathering. This has been an annual affair since 1958.

The Richburg family came to Mitchell County in 1906, and some of the family has remained here since that time.

Fourteen of John and Mollie's sixteen children are still living, and all were present this year.

The daughters are: Eldie Bryant, Lillie Faulkenberry and Effie Wheeler of Loraine; Marie Adrian, Petersburg; Oma Herm, Ackerly; Nola Taylor, Sweetwater; Blanche Pendergrass, Temple City, Calif. and Ople Wilson, Chandler, Okla.

The sons are: Homer and Lester Richburg, Loraine; O. W. Richburg, Hermleigh; J. C. of Tuscola; Virgil of Sweetwater and "Judge" of Deming, N.M.

Also cousins, grandchildren and great-grandchildren came from many areas in Texas. Some came from California, Arizona, Oklahoma, Alaska and New York.

T.H. Draper children meet for reunion

The children of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Draper met in Wichita Falls for a family reunion.

Those attending were all eight children and their families.

They were Mr and Mrs. George Bryant of Colorado City; Rev. and Mrs. W. T. Dunn of Perry, Oklahoma; Thomas B. Draper of Fort Worth; Mrs. Tom Tanio of Seattle, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. John Draper of Paris and Mr. and Mrs. Don Draper of Paris; Rev. and Mrs. Bill Draper of Detroit, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hackfeld of Loraine.

Also an aunt and uncle of the Draper children attended. Mrs. Gaynell Barns of Weatherford and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ricketson of Paris also attended.

Forty-six attended the reunion.

Senior Center 'wedding' enjoyed

Following a potluck supper Tuesday night, June 21, friends, neighbors and family witnessed the moving and dramatic wedding of Tillie Sue Holman and Bubba Joe Mahon at the Loraine Senior Center.

They exchanged their vows of love and promise as Bro. Will Taylor gave them pearls of wisdom and food for thought throughout the ceremony.

The altar rails were decorated in red Christmas garland with plaid bows and streamers entertwining. Yellow field flowers and weeds of distinction graced the piano where Corena Taylor played and Luretta Wright sang the couple's favorite songs "Darktown Strutters Ball" and "Jingle Bells."

As the haunting music of "She'll be Coming 'Round the Mountain" began, Tillie Sue came down the aisle on her father's arm wearing an original Calvin Clean original.

Her gown was white satin, trimmed in seed pearls with a fitted bodice and the traditional train. She wore a garter belonging to her grandmother for something old and something blue and for something new she wore a strand of pearls given to her by her sister Eula.

The bridesmaids were dressed in blue, each carrying bouquets of Johnson grasses. Their gowns were designed by Bill Bless. All the ladies in the wedding party were dressed in the latest fashion of the day and stunning looking.

A reception followed the ceremony with punch and a flower decorated wedding cake from the bakery of V. Gagerina centering the bride's table.

The table was covered in an antique ecra covered Battenburk lace cloth that was a gift from Tillie Sue's great-grandmother, Mrs. Pearly Mae Hickock.

One hundred forty-nine guests registered with several coming from out of town and out of state.

After a short honeymoon at Champion Creek, the young couple plan to live in Loraine.

Methodist ladies continue study

The United Methodist Ladies met on Monday, June 22 for the last session of their book study on Health and Holiness.

It has been led by Brenda Martin.

This session was a study of AIDS, as yet no cure for this dreaded disease. No race or age or society is exempt from this disease.

Those attending were Syble Walker, Cecil Martin, Ruth Richburg, Eldie Bryant, Lola Faye Bennett and our leader Brenda Martin.

FOCUS

by LIBBI GARNETT
County Extension Agent

Some of you may be planning trips over the Fourth of July. If you plan to do any driving, please note these ideas to help your back be less tired when you reach your destination.

Whatever the cause of low back pain, part of its prevention and treatment is correcting bad posture, and good posture is not simply a matter of "standing tall". It means correct position of the body at all times - even when driving.

The key to correct posture in a car is the same as in all body posture positions; that is, keeping the lower back in a flat or slightly rounded position, never with a forward curve or swayback.

When driving, move the car seat close enough to the wheel so that your knees are bent, and either level with, or slightly higher than your hips. This helps assure that your lower back will be flat, not swayed. The seat should be adjusted so that your legs are not fully extended.

Sit back in the seat with your upper body over your hips. Keep your head and neck back over your shoulders in a straight line with your spine. If you are on a long trip, if you travel a lot, or if the car seat doesn't provide good back support, add a firm, flat pillow to support and protect the lower back.

On long trips be sure to stop every few hours so you can stand up and stretch.

It is also important to learn how to get in and out of a car properly. Sit facing the open door, then swivel your feet and body into position. Reverse the procedure when getting out of the car.

You can even use driving time for some easy, inconspicuous abdominal exercises that will help to prevent back pain. For instance, while waiting for a traffic light to change, pull in your abdominal muscles and flaten out your lower back. Hold this position for a count of five then slowly relax. Gradually increase the count as your abdominal muscles get stronger. And be sure not to hold your breath.

Have a safe and fun weekend.
God bless America.

RETIREE HONORED - Mitchell County Judge Bill Carter, right, presents a plaque of appreciation on behalf of the commissioners's court to Mae Dunn, who is retiring after nearly 25 years with the Farmers Home Administration. Looking on is Mrs. Dunn's husband, Glenn. The presentation took place during a reception held in her honor Monday at the G-Kell Building where the FHA office is located.

Mesquite enthusiasts set meeting

The annual meeting of Los Amigos del Mesquite will take place in Austin at the Driskill Hotel on 6th Street on September 22 through 24, 1988. Los Amigos del Mesquite is an international association of 300 plus woodworkers, wood turners, craftsmen, sculpturers, scientists, and business-persons who are interested in various aspects of the mesquite tree. Representative interests of members include the utilization of the wood for various fine wood products, managing mesquite rangelands, cooking wood production, and the use of mesquite as an ornamental in landscaping applications.

Activities at the annual meeting include a three hour special wood finishing shortcourse, technical sessions and discussions, and a craft show. The craft sale and show this year is in connection with the Old Pecan Street Arts and Crafts Festival having annual attendance of over 100,000.

Historically, the presence of mesquite on rangeland was considered detrimental. The cost of clearing mesquite land is high. Through utilization of the tree, the negative factors can be turned into a positive resource and asset. The annual meeting is a forum for which contacts between landowner and manufacturer can interact and share ideas.

Further information on the woodworking shortcourse, the technical sessions, or to participate in the mesquite fine woodworking show can be obtained from: Ken E. Rogers, P.O. Box 310, Lufkin, Texas, 75901.

Voter cards being sent to residents

WASHINGTON, D.C.--Every household in the 17th Congressional District will receive a voter registration card in the mail from Congressman Charles W. Stenholm.

The registration forms were mailed regardless of party or locale as a public service, the area representative said. "I feel very strongly about our greatest democratic privilege: the right to vote," Congressman Stenholm said. "As we near the observance of our Independence Day, I wanted to take this opportunity to remind all citizens about the responsibility we have in taking an active role in our government. I believe many citizens feel about this as I do and are already registered, but I wanted to make sure everyone in my district was included."

Two registration cards, which can be detached and mailed without postage, were mailed out recently. The cards must be filled out and sent to the county courthouse. If your household requires more registration applications, they can be obtained at the tax assessor's office in your county. Anyone who is already registered does not have to file again.

"Whether you are selecting a candidate to represent you in the Courthouse or the White House, your vote is your voice. It is a freedom that has been preserved for us by more than 1 million men and women, who gave their lives to secure our rights. Please register and vote," he said.

Drought effects mounting in state

COLLEGE STATION--Drought effects are mounting in Texas each day, and those effects are beginning to reach well beyond the farm gate.

The business sector, as well as cities and towns, are feeling the pinch of the drought, which is threatening the state's fragile economic turnaround, said Dr. Carl Anderson.

Anderson, an economist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension service, said some cities and towns in the state's drier areas have imposed water rationing programs. Officials elsewhere have asked residents to voluntarily cut water use and practice tight conservation measures.

The Texas crop, forage and livestock situation is deteriorating rapidly as summer begins, Anderson said.

"Ranchers in hardest hit south and southwestern counties are continuing to market or move their cattle in an effort to sustain some of their foundation herds. Large offerings of cattle are being consigned to local auction markets, creating depressed prices in a number of areas," Anderson said.

Maintenance feeding of livestock continues heavy in the driest areas, said Anderson, although hay supplies are low and new crop cuttings there are minimal. Some ranchers continue to burn prickly pear cactus to feed their cattle. Dryland sorghum yield potentials are declining fast and corn and other crops also are greatly stressed, Anderson said.

Although Texas counties were not among those in the 13 states where the U.S. Department of Agriculture opened Conservation Reserve Acreage (CRP) land to haying late last week, Texas officials in charge of drought documentation said this work is being rushed for federal review. Spearheading the move is Terry Harman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service state executive director, and ASCS state committee members.

When Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng opened CRP acreage to haying, the move was designed to provide hay for livestock in the most critical areas. Farmers in the designated counties can harvest hay on the CRP acres for 30 days if they give up a proportional part of the program payments and meet other specified conditions.

Lyng said determination of eligible counties will be made on a county-by-county basis

Chiropractic for Health
By Dr. Hondo Whitmire
Doctor of Chiropratic

BURSITIS

Between a tendon and bone lies a fluid-filled sac called a bursa. In this position, it acts, as a padding that allows the tendon to glide under the bone without becoming irritated or torn. For example, there is a bursa which lies between the shoulder tendons and the bone of the shoulder. Without the bursa, the tendon would rub directly over bone and slowly wear away. An irritated bursa can result when the bursa becomes too full of fluid. It causes pain as the bone moves and the tendon rides over the bursa. This condition is called "bursitis". In some cases, a painful scar forms within the bursa, causing pain on movement. Even though its causes are only partially known, bursitis can be effectively treated.

Chiropractic is a sensible and effective approach to many of the problems that ail us. Additionally, many discomforts, often times considered chronic, will respond favorably to such applications.

Cheerleaders bring home honors

Colorado High School cheerleaders were among approximately 300 participants in the 1988 Big Country Cheerleader Camp held on the campus of Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene June 20-24.

The five-day camp was conducted by Southwest Camps of Cisco, with Eris Ritchie as camp director. Instructional staff and program were supplied by the National Cheerleaders Association.

The cheerleaders were taught new cheers, stunts, chants, and spirit ideas from a seven-member NCA staff headed up by Davonne Hunt, a professional cheerleading instruction the NCA's national headquarters in Dallas.

The CHS cheerleaders received four superior ribbons and one excellent ribbon during the camp. In addition, they won the spirit stick twice, bringing it home to CHS for the second year in a row.

Individual honors went to Brittany Bridgford, who received a superior ribbon for her mascot evaluation and was awarded the mascot spirit stick for the most enthusiastic mascot at camp. Mendy Conner, a junior on the CHS squad, was nominated for All-American Cheerleader, a prestigious honor given to only nine of the more than 300 participants.

Members of the CHS squad are Conner, Debbie Gardner, Sheila Monroe (head cheerleader), Tammie Blair, Kendra Ritchey, JoAnn Ornelas and Bridgford as Sluefoot.

Fireworks safety is urged

Every year, the same story unfolds. A child setting off fireworks at the family's Fourth of July picnic is brought to the local hospital's emergency room for medical treatment. Numerous cases of hand or facial burns, eye injuries and even hearing loss will occur throughout Texas this summer as a result of unsupervised and careless handling of fireworks.

The most common case of injury is due to unsupervised children playing with fireworks.

Fireworks can cause burns to the fingers and hands, ignite clothing, and cause possible loss of fingertips. These cases usually occur because the handler has not released the firework before it exploded or the firework has misfired.

Children should not play with fireworks. "These are not toys," he says. "Even children with sparklers should be supervised. Toddlers will grab at the lit sparkler, which is hot enough to burn someone."

Eye injury is another area of medical concern when it comes to firework safety. According to the American Academy of Ophthalmologists, close to 4,000 people will suffer eye injuries, with 1,000 resulting in permanent vision loss, due to faulty firework handling.

Dr. Richard D. Cunningham, director of the Division of Ophthalomology at Scott and White in Temple and professor at Texas A&M University College of Medicine, points out that bottle rockets are responsible for more than half of these injuries.

"I cannot describe the tragic feeling when we have to remove eyes from children or adults and know the injury was preventable. Wearing protective goggles or glasses will prevent most eye injuries," Dr. Cunningham says.

Children and people who have been drinking alcoholic beverages should never be allowed to handle or ignite explosive fireworks.

If individuals plan to include fireworks in their festive Fourth celebration, they are urged to take the following precautions:

*Always wear safety goggles or glasses when setting off fireworks.

*Only adults should handle or ignite explosive fireworks.

*Adults should be present to supervise children during the use of the relatively safe fireworks such as sparklers.

*Do not put firecrackers in a bottle or tin can, or under a clay pot. When such objects shatter, the fragments are often propelled into the eye, causing serious eye injury.

*Know what you are buying in terms of firepower and the appropriate safety measures for igniting the firework.

*Do not use fireworks near dry grassy fields or shrubbery. Firework sparks and hot Texas summers are the right combination for the wrong event - fires.

Trade agreement announced

WASHINGTON--Japan has agreed to a milestone accord on trade that will eliminate quotas on imports of U.S. beef and citrus products over three years, U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm reports.

The trade agreement, which is expected to almost double Texas beef exports to a total of $230 million, was the product of months of pressure and tense negotiations that ensued when the old agreement expired on April 1.

Japanese trade officials had headed back to Tokyo earlier this year with ringing ears after hearing Gramm shred their arguments for barring Texas agricultural products.

Gramm, meeting with the Japanese ambassador and leading Japanese trade representatives, termed Japan's multi-layered barriers against Texas beef "a senseless and self-destructive policy."

To an often-used claim that the intestines of Japanese people are "too long to properly digest American beef, so the Japanese prefer fish," Gramm scoffed. "If beef cost $25 a pound in America, we'd be eating fish, too," he replied.

"The only reason that Japanese consumers don't buy more meat is that quotas and tariffs make it incredibly expensive. A shopper in Tokyo has to pay up to five times as much as a consumer in Houston for the identical cut of beef. And protectionism keeps other American products, such as citrus, scarce and costly," Gramm told the Japanese.

"In the end, these policies steal from average Japanese working people in order to benefit a few politically powerful special interests."

Japan remains a vast potential market for Texas farmers and ranchers. Annual beef consumption in Japan is only about ten pounds per person -- in the U.S., it's closer to 100 pounds -- but it is clear that the Japanese will buy more beef if it is allowed onto Japanese markets at world prices.
