JFK Goes To Wilderness

By JIM MONROE

BIG CEDAR, Okla. (AP)—President Kennedy is scheduled to arrive in the wilderness Sunday to dedicate a new road, talk with Oklahoma leaders, and maybe patch a political fence or two.

Kennedy will speak about 1:15 p.m. EST at ceremonies dedicating Oklahoma Highway 103 through the Ouachita National Forest.

The ceremonies will be held in this tiny community which can count only one house and one country store.

There are no restaurants or hotels, no telephones or even drinking fountains in Big Cedar. Closest facilities are about 20 miles away.

The 50,000 persons expected to show up for the President's speech were urged to bring a box lunch, a jug of water, and have themselves a picnic.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., and other prominent Oklahomans are convinced, however, that the hilly, heavily wooded area of eastern Oklahoma can be turned into another Canaan.

Kerr has long taken a lead in getting the rivers dammed and the roughest spots smoothed out so industries can be lured into the area.

Kerr smoothed out a pretty good sized chuck of it for himself, building a $350,000 mansion on the side of Winding Stair Mountain about six miles south of Poteau and 25 miles north of Big Cedar.

Kennedy will spend Sunday night in this 9-bedroom, 13-bathroom house that is headquarters for the senator's 55,000-acre black Angus cattle ranch.

Also serving as host will be Oklahoma's young Gov. J. Howard Edmondson, 35, who has been close to the Kennedy family.

A third host will be Rep. Carl Albert, the Democratic whip of the House whose district stretches over the Ouachita and Klamichi Mountains where the new road runs.

WHICH GRASS ROOTS?

Dallas Publisher Draws Rebuttal

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP) —A Brownwood newspaper executive disagreed Saturday with a prepared statement read to President Kennedy yesterday by E. M. (Ted) Dealey, publisher of the Dallas Morning News.

C. C. Woodson, president of Southwestern Dailies, Inc., following Dealey's statement to the President, said he told Kennedy, "Mr. President, that statement doesn't represent what Texas people feel at all."

Woodson said a number of other Texas newspaper executives at the luncheon in the White House opposed Publisher Dealey's statement.

Woodson said the President told Dealey that he could say what he wanted to at the table but that he, Kennedy, was President, and Dealey was not.

The Brownwood newspaper executive said that Dealey asked for a show of hands around the room of persons who thought he was out of line.

Woodson said one publisher said he counted more than 50 per cent of the hands going up but that Kennedy stopped this. Nineteen Texas newspaper executives were at the luncheon.

Woodson said that a check following the meeting showed that 100 per cent of the persons at the meeting disagreed with Dealey.

Woodson said that one publisher told Dealey at the luncheon that he did not feel that Dealey had ever been close to the grass roots and that the views expressed did not even reflect the thinking of Dealey's employes.

Woodson said the news columns of Dealey's paper are to blame for the indignation meetings in Dallas and what Woodson called the wave of black reaction that has recently been spreading over Texas.

In the course of this conversation, Woodson said, Kennedy mentioned to Dealey that he knew the war business and that he, personally, had much experience in the war and had lost a brother in the war. Woodson said Kennedy said he would not involve the United States in war until he had exhausted every opportunity for peace.

The robbery took place March 2. The jury deliberated almost five hours.

Officers said from $26,000 to $60,000 was taken from the players by three persons who used tear gas and sawed-off shotguns to take over the house.

Surrender Ruled Out By Rusk

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk Saturday ruled out "any surrender of the vital interests" of the Western powers or the West Berliners in an effort to come to terms with the Soviet Union on a peaceful Berlin settlement.

Rusk also rebuffed suggestions for creation of a buffer zone in central Europe, including Germany. He said the Communist bloc would seek to use any such neutralized area for its own "exploitation, exploration, penetration."

Rusk spoke in an interview recorded Tuesday by the Voice of America for broadcast Sunday and made public Saturday night by the State Department. Rusk made no mention of the current U.S.-Soviet dispute over the access of U.S. officials to Communist-ruled East Berlin.

But it was learned he is planning a new approach to Moscow early next week in an attempt to reach some agreement of this bitterly contested issue which had brought U.S. and Soviet military power into direct confrontation in the heart of Berlin.

U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, who conferred with Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in Moscow Friday, is expected to seek another appointment Monday or Tuesday. He will tell Gromyko the United States will never accept imposition of new border-crossing procedures which the Communists try to establish by force. But it is understood that he will indicate U.S. readiness to discuss the problem and try to work out a mutually satisfactory arrangement.

Officials here said the fact that U.S. and Soviet tanks faced each other across the East-West Berlin frontier without shooting is evidence that both sides want to avoid a conflict over Berlin and are capable of exercising restraint.

Krush Implies Soviets Will Ignore Appeal

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev has implied the Soviet Union will go ahead with the explosion of a 50-megaton nuclear bomb despite what he called the hysterical clamor of bourgeoise propaganda and the concern "of even fair-minded people."

In the face of world appeals to halt Soviet nuclear testing, Khrushchev declared before the Soviet party congress Friday that the Soviet Union "cannot refrain from carrying out those tests" because of what he called preparations for war by the Western Allies.

Khrushchev had said previously the 50-megaton nuclear bomb—equal to 50 milion tons of TNT—might be fired Monday or Tuesday.

The premier's statement came before the U.N. General Assembly voted 87-41 urging cancellation of the superbomb test.

The text of his speech was withheld from publication until Saturday night.

Khrushchev denounced as "strange logic" assertions that the Soviet nuclear tests with their accompanying fallout were crimes against humanity in view of U.S. atomic bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki in World War II.

He called this an act of "senseless brutality and without any military necessity" and said "some American politicians were and still are proud of this mass killing."

He said the Soviet decision to resume nuclear testing "was appreciated by all who cherish peace and refuse to shut their eyes to the dangerous intrigues of the enemies of peace."

"In adopting that decision," he said, "the Soviet government realized, of course, that the reasons which made it renew the tests would not be understood immediately by all. Indeed, today even fair-minded people express concern over the consequences of the nuclear explosions that are being carried out."

He said "imperialist propaganda" has been taking advantage of the humane sentiments of "certain fair-minded people abroad (who) have been unable to see their way clear in the complicated international situation."

Khrushchev Friday rejected appeals to halt the tests from various organizations in a number of neutralist and Western countries.

Colder Air Due Today

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A mass of cold air tumbled down toward Texas from the Rockies Saturday, bearing the promise of thundershowers.

Blustering winds sent dust flying in West Texas as the norther approached.

The whole state was windy and unseasonably warm.

The cooler air was due to hit the Panhandle at about midnight. The Weather Bureau said strong north winds, heavy snow and blowing dust were prevalent over a Central Rocky Mountain storm area. Stockmen and travellers were warned.

Galveston with .05 of an inch reported the only measurable rain in Texas before noon, although Austin had a light shower.

The dust flew at El Paso and occasional clouds of dust were sighted around Wink.

Most afternoon temperatures were in the high 70s, although some in South Texas ranged into the 80s.

Kennedy Losing Enthusiasm For Regime's Farm Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy shows signs of becoming disenchanted with his administration's farm policies, sources close to the White House said Saturday.

This feeling is ascribed to two factors. Disappointment that those policies have not brought a speedy reduction in troublesome farm surpluses, and the knowledge that continuing heavy subsidy costs jeopardize the drive to balance the budget.

Various sources familiar with the President's views on the matter emphasize, however, that there are no indications Kennedy is thinking of retreating from present policies at least not in the foreseeable future.

His administration seeks to strengthen the role of the government in agriculture—a direct break with efforts of the Eisenhower administration to get government out of farming. Present policies envision management of supplies of farm commodities with the goal of stabilizing prices at levels deemed to be fairer to producers and at the same time eliminating surpluses which are costly to the government.

The administration placed great store in a new feed grain program under which farmers are being paid an estimated $780 million to reduce plantings of corn and sorghum grain. The purpose was to reduce surpluses of those grains. But results are falling short of expectations.

The White House sources say doubts have been raised as to whether it ever will be possible to accomplish an adjustment in farm production needed to bring satisfactory farm prices and eliminate heavy government costs. Because of the technological revolution in agriculture, farmers are able to produce more and more with less and less land and other productive units. Technology thus helps thwart supply control measures.

Kennedy is reported likely to go along with the present policies for a time because: He does not know and has not had enough time to study the farm situation with the idea of determining to his satisfaction whether there are more effective policies; it would be politically unwise to shift now because such action would be seized upon as an admission of failure on the farm front.

Nevertheless, qualified sources said, these factors would not necessarily rule out a change if the President came up with what he thought was a better approach and it could be adopted without seeming to concede defeat in the past.

DANGER SPOT ELIMINATED—Cooperation between the county and city resulted in this new bridge at 13th and Avenue O. T. E. McCollum, Superintendent of Snyder Schools had requested that something be done about the dangerous situation there. Dozens of children attending the Northeast Elementary School had to go out into the road to cross the dip. Bill Kimzey, engineer for the City of Snyder, did the engineering on the project. Precinct 1 furnished all labor and materials with the material cost being less than $3500. Commissioner Marion Dabbs stands on the walkway portion of the nearly completed bridge.

Asks Bigger Contribution

LONDON (AP) — The United States has urged West Germany, Britain and France to meet the Soviet threat to Berlin with the biggest buildup of military power in Europe ever seen in time of peace.

Dependable sources, reporting this Saturday, said U. S. Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell Gilpatric outlined the buildup in a weeklong swing through West Europe.

The program already has brought the United States to semi-mobilization. The sources said the movement of 57,000 new U. S. troops to Europe is under way and an additional two to six divisions may follow around the first of the year.

These reinforcements for six U. S. divisions already in West Germany are designed to show the Soviet Union that the United States means to fight in defense of Berlin, if necessary.

An added although unspoken implication of the rundown Gilpatric gave to Defense Ministers Franz Josef Strauss of West Germany, Pierre Messmer of France and Harold Watkinson of Britain is that the three countries should contribute more to Allied power in Europe.

Gilpatric ended his talks evidently hopeful that:

1. West Germany will act swiftly to help fill the present $200 million gap between U. S. spending and earnings in Deutschmarks.

2. France soon will assign two extra divisions, withdrawn from Algeria, to the supreme Allied commander in Europe, Gen. Lauris Norstad.

3. Britain will strengthen its strategic military reserve and step up training of reservists. The present intention of ending conscription this year may be reviewed.

The pattern of Gilpatric's talks in Bonn, Paris and London suggested the performances of those countries do not yet match their capabilities.

Gilpatric proposed that German armed forces begin sharing cost of U. S. military facilities including base, supply, repair, spare part and other logistical depots. He noted this should be easy seeing American-German munitions are largely standardized and the result would be that the Germans by sharing costs would be helping close the dollar gap.

Gilpatric warily steered clear of any request for the restoration of American nuclear stockpiling facilities in France which President Charles de Gaulle, in effect, canceled. Those weapons have since been redeployed. Some U.S. air bases in France have been reactivated.

He sought to assure Watkinson the United States is not, as the British suspect, hogging most of Germany's big arms orders which Britain would like to share.

Watkinson in return pledged Britain to speed certain arrangements to bring its Rhine army up to full strength and to swell its permanent strategic reserve at home to two divisions instead of one. Gilpatric was left with the impression the British shortly will announce new steps in Parliament to insure the swift call-up and training of volunteer reservists.

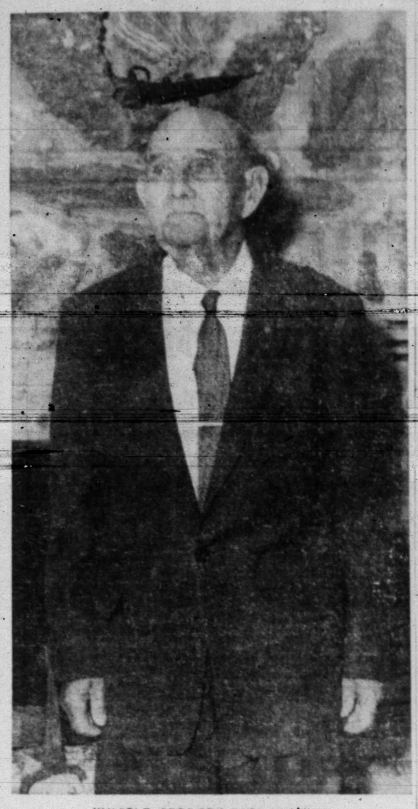

Gilpatric expounded the new view laid down by President Kennedy that the United States, by swelling its conventional forces, now has the chance to choose between all-out nuclear war and humiliating surrender.

Storm Heads Toward Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Hattie, lashing the western Caribbean with winds up to 125 miles per hour, headed northward Saturday toward Cuba.

The season's eighth tropical storm was termed "a dangerous hurricane" by the Miami U.S. Weather Bureau, which said in its latest advisory that Hattie was centered near latitude 14.6 north, longitude 81.5 west or 385 miles southwest of Kingston, Jamaica. That is about 860 miles south of Miami.

Hattie may cause floods in Jamaica within 24 hours, the advisory warned. Small craft in the northwestern Caribbean were cautioned to remain in port.

"UNCLE GEORGE" RICHARDSON
"... just believe I'll stay"

G. N. Richardson Turns 90 Monday

When Horace Greeley gave out with the advice to "Go West, young man," he might very well have had in mind the hardy breed of individual which is typified in George N. Richardson of 2107 Avenue O, one of the original settlers of Scurry County.

"Uncle George," an affectionate term that has come to be applied to Mr. Richardson, will become a full-fledged 90-year-old Monday, and will be feted with a birthday dinner to be held at the Dunn Community Center today. Hosting the celebration are his children—E. J. Richardson Sr. of Snyder; Mrs. C. A. Williams of Elk City, Okla.; Mrs. F. A. Cary of Pampa; and O. T. Richardson of Dunn.

All friends of the family are invited to call throughout the day and to take part in the celebration as planned at the community center.

Richardson was born a few years after the end of the Civil War, on Oct. 30, 1871, and at the tender age of 15 left the home of his parents near the present town of Granbury in order to seek his fortune in the more westerly reaches of the state. He got as far as Pecos, and hired out as a horse wrangler on a cattle drive to Amarillo.

After completing the drive he decided to return to his home county—Hood County—and on arrival found his parents and married brother, Will, taking his cue and preparing to head west themselves. The family pulled out by wagon train, undecided as to exactly where they would eventually settle, but took all their cattle and belongings with them into the frontier stretches.

After some three months they stopped in southern Scurry County in order to permit their cattle to graze, their campsite being on Big Sulphur Creek and the date being July 5, 1889.

The following day they learned that land could be filed on in the county, so the men took advantage of the opportunity and came in to the county seat so as to lay claim. The land on which Mr. Richardson filed is still owned by him and his family.

He was postmaster at Dunn for several years, during which time he also maintained a relay station for the freight wagon teams which operated between Colorado City, Lubbock, and other plains towns. The relay point was necessary, in that the railroad had not yet found its way to Snyder.

Although in retirement now, he farmed for the greater part of the 72 years that he has lived in this county.

Even though he was not too sure just where he would end up when he came to settle in Scurry County he says that he "thought he'd like it, and now that he's been here 72 years has decided he'll stay."

Rural Housing Plan Expanded

Families living in small rural communities and in rural areas, even though not engaged in farming may now be eligible for the housing loans made by the Farmers Home Administration, according to Joseph E. Box, the agency's county supervisor for Scurry and Kent Counties.

The Housing Act of 1961 broadened the eligibility requirements for rural housing loans. As a result owners of non-farm tracts in rural areas and in small rural communities of not more than 2,500, as well as farmers, may be eligible for this type of credit.

"This program is an important new tool in promoting the development of rural areas," Box said. "Rural housing loans will not only help families obtain better homes but will put more carpenters, plumbers, and electricians to work, and will increase the sales in lumber yards and building supply firms."

Housing loans are made for the construction, repair and remodeling of dwellings and essential farm buildings and to provide water for farmstead and household use.

In addition to major construction, funds are available to modernize homes—add bathrooms central heating, modern kitchens, and other home improvements, as well as to enlarge and remodel farm service buildings and put in related facilities such as paved feedlots, yard fences, and driveways.

Rural Housing loans may also be used for the construction of fallout and storm shelters.

The interest rate is 4 per cent per year on the unpaid balance of the loan. Loans may be scheduled for repayment over periods up to 33 years.

The proposed housing must be adequate to meet the family's needs yet modest in size and design.

To be eligible an applicant must own a farm or a housing site in a rural area; be without decent, safe and sanitary housing; be unable to obtain the needed credit from other sources, and be without sufficient resources to provide the necessary housing on his own account. He must also have or be able to obtain income to meet payments on existing debts, take care of his other expenses, and make the payments on the propose loan.

The local county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration will review building plans and inspect the housing construction as it progresses in order to make certain that the borrower obtains sound and acceptable construction.

The local county or area committee of the Farmers Home Administration determines the eligibility of applicants.

Farmers who need to enlarge or develop their farming operations in order to obtain enough income to pay for housing loans may obtain farm enlargement and development loans and farm management help from the Farmers Home Administration.

All loans are secured to the extent necessary to protect the Government's interest. Small improvement loans made in amounts less than $1,500 with repayments scheduled over periods up to 10 years may be secured by a promissory note. Other loans are secured by mortgages.

Under certain conditions building loans may be made to lessees of farms.

More than $400 million has been authorized for rural housing loans over the next four years.

The Housing Act of 1961 also authorizes the Farmers Home Administration to insure loans for housing and related facilities for domestic farm labor. These loans may be made to farm owners, associations of farmers, state and local government units and non-profit associations.

Funds for these insured loans are provided by private investors. The Farmers Home Administration will make and service the loans, and insure their repayment. The total volume of insured loans may not exceed $25 million in any one year.

Further information on rural housing loans may be obtained at the county office of the Farmers Home Administration in the Diamond M Building, Snyder, Texas.

Rescued Cubans Brought To Texas

BROWNSVILLE (AP)—Six Cubans, rescued after high winds and rough seas defeated their efforts to reach the United States in a sailboat—arrived Saturday aboard a Coast Guard cutter.

The 32-foot sailboat, towed by the cutter Kimball, disappeared and apparently sank Thursday night.

Dudley Underwood, Immigration inspector, who questioned the refugees, said the six told him they were fleeing Cuba because they were "dissatisfied with the Castro government." They said they left Cuba last Saturday.

Connally Is Given Support By Paper

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—The Caller-Times, in an editorial Sunday, will support Secretary of the Navy John Connally Jr. for governor.

The newspaper says Connally, a native South Texan, is "uniquely prepared" for the office.

Reports persistently have been circulating in political groups that Connally is considering running for governor in next year's elections. Connally has made no direct statement.

Negroes Charged In Maryland Incident

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five New York area Negroes denied service Friday night at a nearby diner on U.S. 40 were arrested, charged with trespass and released in $100 bond each pending a hearing Friday.

The group, consisting of four men and a woman, was motoring south to Washington to attend a human rights convention when they stopped at the restaurant. The owner read aloud Maryland's law governing trespass before 10 Baltimore county officers arrived.

The woman, identified as Evelyn C. Haynes, city editor of the New York Courier, a Negro newspaper, said she and her companions knew nothing of a U.S. 40 "Freedom Ride" scheduled by the Congress of Racial Equality Nov. 11.

Baker Jumps Into Race For Lt. Gov.

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Robert Baker of Houston jumped into the growing list of candidates Saturday for the 1962 lieutenant governor's race.

Baker, a Democrat, was the third man to enter the race officially.

Sen. Preston Smith of Lubbock, another Democrat, announced last week he would make his second try for the post. Smith ran third in a field of 12 in 1950 when former Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey began his 11-year stay in the office.

Republican O. W. Hayes of Temple was the first to enter the race, more than two months ago.

Hayes, vice president of the Continental Belton Co. at Belton, has been campaigning over the state on a platform of conservatism since his announcement.

Baker said he has started his campaigning with speeches in South Texas and many larger cities.

He said he would not label himself a liberal or conservative, but added "I think you could say I'm a bit to the right of center—a conservative, but with no reactionary biases."

Several others have indicated interest in the race.

Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris, the only man to force Ramsey into a runoff after Ramsey first won the post, said many of his friends are urging him to make the race.

"If it looks like I can . . . if it works out, I might run," he said. "Anyone in the Senate would like to be lieutenant governor."

Sen. Ralph Yarborough of Austin and Sen. Doug Tom of Gober has said he is anxious for the post.

Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro said he will run "if something doesn't come up."

He relates that his flight from New York City to Paris, France, took just six and a half hours by 700 mile-per-hour jet.

Scrivner is a 1957 graduate of Snyder High School, and attended the University of Texas as a psychology major.

Johnson To Introduce Connally At Banquet

AUSTIN (AP)—Vice President Lyndon Johnson will introduce Navy Secretary John Connally at the Nov. 10 homecoming banquet of the University of Texas Ex-Students Association.

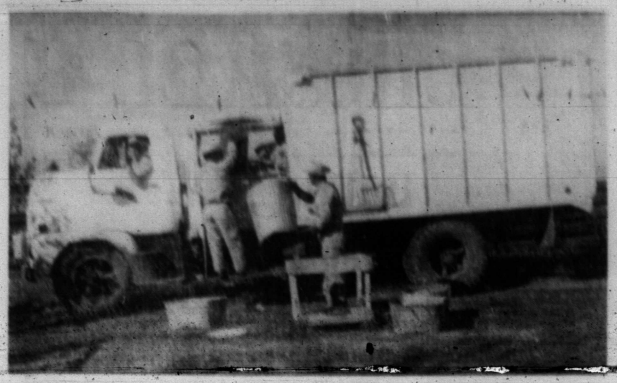

The announcement said Mrs. Connally, a former university sweetheart, also will attend.

Connally, a 1941 university law graduate and former student president, will speak.

TRASH TIME—A never-ending job is done by the City Sanitation Department in keeping Snyder free from litter. Pickups are made twice a week in residential sections. Pictured above is a 20 cubic yard packer truck at work.

Personnel turnover in the every day by this department, sanitation department is the low- which first became a city function est of any city department.

In 1954. Prior to that time trash

The year 1954 saw the purchase of two 12 yard capacity "packer" trucks. In 1955 a 20 yard packer was added making a total of three trucks. The next year the two 12s were traded in on 20 yard packers. These three trucks are those which now serve Snyder. In addition the city in 1960 went into the Dempster-Dumpster program of waste removal. Twenty-one units are placed in strategic places in the business areas of Snyder. They are removed and replaced as often as twice daily or as seldom at twice a week, depending on volume. The driver assigned to the Dempster Dumpsters doubles as the bulldozer driver at the city dump.

The city sanitation department also operates the self-powered street sweeper. This unit alone removes some 20 cubic yards of dirt a day, or a staggering total of 6000 cubic yards of trash a year from Snyder streets.

The city dump ground and sewage disposal plant occupy 219 acres south of town. That's the final resting place for the 864 tons worth of trash. Trash from the packer trucks and the Dumpsters containers is deposited in long pits, burned, and covered over by bulldozer. According to Roy Dunlap, city manager, space in the dump ground is more than adequate for the foreseeable future. An interesting fact is that almost as much trash is hauled to the dump ground by private vehicle as is hauled by the city trucks.

Christmastime is the worst time. Trees, wrappings, boxes, whose sole reason for existance is beauty, turn to mountains of trash when they have outlived their beautiful days. Trucks and crews work long hours to keep from being covered up completely at Christmastime.

Trash disposal is another city service that citizens are likely to take for granted. However a quick look at the amount of debris carried off in just one day will make one realize that without the organized battle against the trash the entire city would soon be buried in its own litter.

U Of T Most Desegregated In Dixie

AUSTIN (AP)—Since a Negro mailman went to court 18 years ago to protest racial segregation at the University of Texas, the school has become the South's most desegregated state university.

"It is my honest opinion that this is true," Dr. Joseph Smiley, president of the university, said.

A Negro, Gwen Jordan became the first of her race last week to be elected to the Student Assembly. In the same election, student voted 5,312 to 3,293 in favor of allowing Negroes to play on varsity athletic teams, although the vote does not bind [illegible]

Many of the school's 20,000 students assert the school has not integrated far enough or fast enough.

Virtually all of the 300 or so Negro students think more needs to be done toward giving them full access to all university facilities and activities, including housing.

The latest open instance of Negro resplement to present racial barriers was a sit-down demonstration last week, in which about 50 Negro students sat for an hour in the lounge of Kinsolving women's dormitory. The Daily Texan, student newspaper whose editorial policy favors desegregation, said Negroes are not allowed at all in the lounge area of women's dormitories, and white girls must keep their doors closed if Negro girls visit them in their rooms.

Many of those who took part were placed on disciplinary probation, the university administration said, not for being in the lounge, but for refusing to leave when a dormitory official asked them to.

Snyder Drugs Celebrates Anniversary

Growing and progressing with Snyder has been the rule for Snyder Drugs, now celebrating their sixteenth anniversary in Snyder.

From a modest beginning in 1945 when R. F. Patterson and John Pratt purchased the Stinson Drug No. 2 on the west side of the square, Snyder Drugs has grown into a modern departmentalized store which has won many honors.

Snyder Drugs was lauded in the "Texas Druggist" magazine as "a model for complete modernization." The store was featured in the National Association of Retail Druggists Journal and was grand prize in a store planning contest. Snyder Drugs was also selected as the "Store of the Month" by the "Southern Pharmaceutical Journal."

Patterson became sole owner in 1950. Snyder Drugs No. 2 was built [illegible] Shopping Center stores were consolidated in June 1960. This move was [illegible] convenience and save personnel alike as it made for better service and efficiency.

Three regular pharmacists man the prescription department. In addition to Patterson they are T. J. Lyle and Wesley D. Graham. Over 432,000 prescriptions have been compounded by this department.

Other employees of the store are Mrs. Velma Smith, Pat Nicks, W. K. Patterson, Mrs. Marie Kruse, Joe Johnson and Kay Hutchins.

Snyder Drugs is celebrating their sixteenth anniversary with a store-wide sale. Old timers in Snyder have come to anticipate the anniversary sales. Newcomers to Snyder will learn from this sale that the anniversary sales of Snyder Drugs are one of the real sales events of the year.

Some Safety Suggestions

Are you planning a safe and happy Halloween for your child?

Some suggestions for making Halloween a happy occasion have been advanced by officials of the Farmers Insurance Group Safety Foundation, according to S. G. Philp, agent here.

These suggestions have been offered:

1. Choose light colored costumes or decorations of reflective material so that the youngster can be seen by motorists after dark.

2. Adults should accompany children on streets. Too often in their excitement, the small fry dash in front of cars.

3. Be sure that the mask isn't obstructing the child's vision, causing him to step in front of a car.

4. Insist that the child carry a flashlight. They should be used in jack-o-lanterns, also, to avoid fire hazard.

5. All costumes should be fireproof. This also holds true for party decorations.

6. Each child's costume should be of proper fit and length so that movement will not be restricted, which could cause tripping and falling.

7. Take indoors such tempting objects as trash cans, and tie white strips of cloth on wires or ropes surrounding plants in the yard.

Soviets Due To Increase Crude Flow

HOUSTON (AP)—An oil economist said Saturday that Russia probably will boost its oil production to 4,000,000 barrels a day by 1965.

Russia became the world's second largest oil producer last year by boosting output to an estimated 2,900,000 barrels a day.

F. X. Jordan of Washington said Russia's trade with Free World countries is helping accomplish the petroleum expansion goals set in a Soviet seven-year plan that extends through 1965.

The economic analyst for the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPAA) said oil exports "constitute the largest item in Soviet trade with the Free World."

Jordan placed a report on Soviet oil in free world trade before IPAA's ways and means committee.

Jordan said Russia's oil exports to Free World markets rose from 66,000 barrels a day in 1953 to 415,000 last year. He estimated the 1961 average at 550,000 barrels a day and said the figure probably will jump to 900,000 in 1965.

He said Finland received 80 per cent of its petroleum from Russia, Sweden and Austria, 15 per cent; Greece 23 per cent, Italy 20 per cent, Norway 20 per cent, and Western Germany 9 per cent.

"The Soviets supply all of the demand in Cuba and Iceland and about one half in Yugoslavia and one third in Egypt," he said.

Soviet oil exports, Jordan said, is used to exert economic pressure on Free World markets and to establish political ties, particularly with countries which have no oil production.

Tigers Surprise Favored Ponies, 28-8

DON'T LOOK NOW, BUT . . .—Marty Stewart, who quarterbacks for the Sweetwater Mustangs, hikes out on a keeper while Tiger defender Bob Smith comes up on his blind side and prepares to give him a rude awakening. Team Effort Paves Way To Victory

BY JERRY JACKSON
News Sports Editor

Snyder's alert and opportunistic Tigers—powered by a vicious blocking and tackling forward wall, spotted the Sweetwater Mustangs a touchdown here Friday night, then came back to almost run the visitors out of the stadium in taking a 28-8 District [illegible]

The win kept alive Snyder's hopes for either outright possession or at least a tie for the district hunting, following a disappointing opening loss to Lake View last week. Lake View gained the loop's top spot by bouncing Colorado City in other action of the same evening, 31-8, giving the Chiefs a 2-0 mark and dropping their vanquished foes to 0-1.

Lamesa, which was idle, had won its only game against Sweetwater last week, and is the only undefeated team in district play in addition to the pace-setting Lake Viewers.

Snyder's surprisingly easy win over the slightly favored Ponies was by the largest margin in history as ever scored by the local eleven over their arch rivals, the spree of which began in 1925. The 20-point spread surpassed by one point the 26-7 win as marked up by the Bengals in 1929.

It was a complete and total team victory all the way for the Tigers, who were fired sky high for the annual battle, and they made the very most of it. So complete was their domination that they allowed the Mustangs only one first down during the entire first half, it being realized on a 34-yard scoring play. During the same two periods Snyder chalked up 13 first downs, practically all of which were gained by the ground route.

The black-clad Bengals, bucking a 30-mile-per-hour gale which was blowing in from the south goalposts, were unable to muster a tally during first quarter play, although they knocked on the door on their first series of plays after taking the opening kickoff. That drive carried inside the Sweetwater 10 before a fumbled pitchout from quarterback Tim Marcum to fullback Eddy Kirby squelched the trek.

Ponies Come Alive

Early in the second stanza the Mustangs exploded for their only touchdown of the game. An interception of a lazy Marcum-to-Mike aerial by Jimmy Hargraves on the Pony 41 set them up for the marker. Halfback Gene Kropp picked up five yards on the first play as run from there, then bolted through left guard on a 34-yard one as deep man Johnny Mitchell—the last Tiger having a shot at him—failed to bring him down on a diving tackle attempt on the 10-yard line.

Quarterback Marty Stewart went through the motions of holding the extra point placement for Buddy Aldredge—who appeared only briefly during the game—but wobbled it up and faked and snaked his way around right end for the dual bonus points, giving the Horses an 8-0 lead with 9:49 left in the second period.

The Tigers, who crammed all their scoring into the second and third quarters, took the kickoff and launched a 59-yard scoring drive that served to tie up the game.

After Jimmy Taylor took the short bounding kick back a couple of yards, halfback Bax Callaway traipsed over right tackle for 11 yards and a first down on the initial play. Then Morris charged through right guard for 16 additional and another first.

Short runs by Callaway, Kirby and Morris netted 11 yards and the third first down of the march, bringing the ball to rest on Sweetwater 27.

Marcum Carries Mail

Marcum took the snap from that point, cut through the right side of the line, met with some resistance and slanted back to the left, romping the required 21 yards to go over standing up at 2:55 of the second canto.

Kirby gathered in a pitchout from Marcum and skirted left end for the extra points to deadlock the contest at 8-8.

The Ponies were unsuccessful in their attempt to set their offensive gears into motion after taking the ensuing kickoff, and with third and 18 to go Stewart bobbled his precious pigskin package, with Tigers Bob Smith and Danny Colwell teaming up to make a joint diving leap on the bobble to give Snyder possession on Sweetwater's 22.

It took seven plays from there to gain Snyder its decisive go-ahead marker, the "big play" during the short drive being a five-yard pick-up over right guard by Morris on a fourth and two situation from the 14-yard line.

The touchdown was scored on a picture play, as Marcum flipped the oval over the middle of the line to end Leonard Matthews, who made a shoe-top grab of it near the goal, then lowered his shoulder and bulled his way over and into the end zone for the tally. The play covered six yards, and transpired with just 43 seconds showing to be left in the half.

Marcum tried to roll around right end for the conversion points but was hauled down a couple of yards short of the double stripe.

Prior to the half a fumble recovery of a Kropp bobble by Tiger tackle Larry McNair on the second running attempt put Snyder in good field position once again on the Mustang 34. Marcum dropped back, sucked the defense in, and tossed a pass to Callaway—who was wide open in the left flat at the time—and he carried all the way to the 20 for a first down on what proved to be the last play of the half.

Strike Swiftly

The Tigers tallied two lightning-quick touchdowns during the waning moments of the third quarter, both being scored within a minute and a half of play.

Sweetwater, its offense stymied on every turn by the hard-charging Tiger line, resorted to a punt late in the period, with fourth and 11-staring them in the face. The snap from center sailed over the fingertips of would-be booter Tinker Parsons, however, who raced back, scooped it up, and tried to run it out. Tiger ends Colwell and Tim Hardin had him sufficiently zeroed in, though, and sliced him down on the 14-yard line, from which point Snyder marched to its third six-pointer in a matter of five plays.

Morris gained eight of the required yards in transit on two blasts into the line, while Marcum kept for four more. The final two fell the lot of Marcum, who bolted into the end zone as 2:24 remained in the quarter.

Eddie Phy then kicked his first of two successful conversions to up the Tiger advantage to 21-8.

The Red Horses went airborne at that stage of the game, taking the kickoff and trying a pair of passes from their own 34, the second of which was neatly pilfered by Phy. He leaped high, brought it down on the Pony 45, tucked it under his wing and raced 18 yards before being upended on the 27.

Morris nailed the lid on the Pony coffin the first rattle out of the box, as he took the handoff slammed into left guard, then came churning out of the pileup which developed to go all the way for the touchdown at 1:05 of the third period.

Once again Phy's conversion kick into the teeth of the strong south wind was good, upping the score to its final reading of 28-8.

Lane Lowered

Midway through the fourth period Morris tackled safety man Royce Lane in the Sweetwater end zone after Lane had received a punt there and tried to run it out. In that Lane had never crossed the goal into the playing area, it was ruled as a touchback rather than a safety, though, with the ball being brought out to the 20.

Through the game the entire forward wall played its finest and most aggressive game of the year, opening up gaps for Bengal ball carriers on offense and holding the vaulted Mustangs runners to 85 yards on the ground and not a yard through the air on defense. They rushed the passer to some extent, that of six throwing attempts, none found the mark, with two of them being intercepted by the equally alert Tiger secondary men.

Snyder escaped from the game with no additional injuries over aboye the usual run of bruises.

The victory was practically the exact reverse of last year's decision, in which Sweetwater walked off with a 28-7 triumph.

In one of the most elaborate halftime displays as ever seen on the part on a non-college music department, the Snyder High School Black and Gold band—under the direction of Melvin Montgomery—teamed with both the Travis and Lamar Junior High bands in staging the halftime show. Bill Green is in charge of the Travis band, while Tim Dennis heads up the Lamar delegation.

Bulldogs Waltz Past McCaulley

McCAULLEY — The Ira Bulldogs threw up a tough defense and then broke the game wide open with 18 points in the third quarter to decision McCaulley, 26-6 here Friday night.

The victory was the sixth in eight starts for the Bulldogs, who still have two games to play.

After a scoreless first quarter, Donnie Dunn put Ira on the scoreboard with a 10-yard touchdown run. Dunn then kicked the first of three successful conversions to put the Bulldogs ahead 8-0 at halftime. Kicked conversions count two points in six-man football.

In the third quarter Dunn flipped a pass to Tommy Sterling which covered 12 yards and carried to another Ira touchdown.

Continuing an aerial attack, Dunn-to-Mike Sterling pass from 35 yards out added six more points to the Bulldog total.

Later in the third period Tommy Sterling tackled a McCaulley ball carrier in the McCaulley end zone for a safety.

McCaulley finally pushed over its lone touchdown in the fourth period.

The Bulldog defense was exceptionally tough throughout the contest.

Ira entertains Divide at Ira next Friday night. The Bulldogs will be seeking revenge in that one, Divide having copped a close 46-38 decision in an offensive battle between the two teams earlier in the season.

Hobbs Drops 31-6 Contest To Blackwell

HOBBS (Special)—Startled by a 20-point first quarter on the part of Blackwell's Hornets, the Hobbs Panthers never fully recuperated in dropping a District 5 six-man grid contest here Friday 31-6.

Halfback Richard Ratliff averted a whitewashing by ramming over the middle on a two-yard fourth quarter scoring play for the Panthers.

Ratliff's running mate—Rudy Casias—sparkled on offense for Hobbs, while center Red Neves and end Ruben Mijares showed up well on defense for the losers.

The loss was the seventh of the season for the Panthers, who are still searching for their first victory. They hit the road for Highland Friday in their next-to-last contest of the year.

Northwestern Downs Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Halfback Larry Benz tossed his only completed passes this season Saturday but both went for touchdowns to give Northwestern a come-from-behind 12-10 victory over eighth-ranked Notre Dame.

A 50-yard pass play from Benz to Bill Stinson provided Northwestern's first touchdown early in the second half. The payoff toss was a short 7-yard basketball heave to Albert Kimbrough midway in the final quarter.

The triumph was the third straight for Northwestern over Notre Dame in the renewed series.

Northwestern recorded its third victory against two losses. A crowd of 59,075 saw the Irish suffer their second successive defeat after winning in their first three games.

The first time the Irish gained possession they went for a touchdown with ease. Angelo Dahiero reeled off a 29-yard run to the 14 and Mike Lind rambled across the goal line on the next play.

Notre Dame got its last score when Joe Perkowski booted a 36-yard field goal which gave the Irish a 10-6 lead.

Late Rush Pushes SMU To Triumph

DALLAS (AP)—Sophomore Jerry Rhome ran and passed Southern Methodist 68 yards for a touchdown with 2:12 to go, then passed to Billy Gannon for the two-point conversion as Southern Methodist pulled out a storybook 8-7 victory over Texas Tech Saturday.

It was a shocking climax for the slender crowd of 17,000 in the Cotton Bowl as Tech dominated the first half like a blanket, driving four times almost to the SMU goal line, but having to score on an intercepted pass by David Rankin.

The Methodists came to life in the last half after having gotten no farther than their own 39-yard line in the first two periods. But they still appeared beaten with four minutes left as they took over on their 20-yard line when H. L. Daniels of Tech missed a field goal from the SMU 27.

Texas Tech had won two in a row as it came here to meet an SMU outfit that lost its first Southwest Conference game to Rice last week.

SMU stayed in the conference race with the triumph Saturday. Tech already had been eliminated with two defeats.

There was little hope left in the sparse crowd of SMU followers after Tech had so dominated the first half, rolling up 213 yards rushing and passing to only 35 for SMU and driving to the SMU nine, 14, 13 and four only to fail to score, mostly because of the breaks.

Then, with just 50 seconds left in the half, Harold Morgan of Southern Methodist tried a pass from his 20-yard line and Rankin grabbed it to speed 35 yards to a touchdown. Daniels, who had previously missed a field goal from the 11-yard line, booted the extra point.

In the third period SMU finally managed to get past midfield driving to the Tech 31 but being halted by a penalty for an ineligible receiver being downfield as Rhome passed to Tom Sherwin on the Tech 17.

A DAILY VIEW

by Rev. R. Charles Spivey

"Your love is like a morning cloud, like the dew that goes early away...I desire steadfast love and not sacrifices, the knowledge of God rather than burnt offerings." Hosea 6:4,6 (read chapter 6)

What a striking metaphor—"your love is like a morning cloud"—and we all know how a morning could will burn away before noon. Our love to God is like that. We get burned away by the heat of our desire, the passion of our pride, the fire of lust after vain things. And soon, oh too soon, God is left.

The Lord wants steadfast love—a love that will remain, and endure, and bear fruit for His kingdom. How does one arrive at this kind of love? Only when we come to know Jesus Christ and His great first love for us, can we begin to bear love that has any resemblance to steadfastness.

Aggies Gig Bears

By JOE BENHAM

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—John Erickson, a junior college transfer moved into the starting lineup only this week, slashed through the line for a touchdown and passed for another Saturday to lead Texas A&M past Baylor 23-0.

The Aggies, fighting for their life in the Southwest Conference football race, never let Baylor's fancy offense get started on the ground and slapped down pass after pass of the Bears' vaunted aerial attack, to the delight of a Dad's Day crowd of 29,000.

The triumph gave A&M a 5-1 mark in league games in the conference where two strikes is out. Baylor, taking its third conference loss in a row, was already out of the race but had been expected to give the Aggies more of a game.

Scouts from the Bluebonnet and Gator Bowls were on hand as A&M ran its season record to 3-2-1 and Baylor's mark sank to 2-3.

A&M scored in every quarter but the second, starting with a 29-yard field goal by Daryle Keelling with 3:36 left in the opening quarter.

Erickson, who moved to A&M after two years at Tarleton State—then a junior college—set up the first Aggie touchdown with an 8-yard pass to end Bob Talkington that ended with a crashing run through the line from the Baylor one-yard line.

Erickson's pass to Travis Reagan for the conversion was complete but Reagan had stepped out of the end zone.

Right end Bobby Huntington leaped high in the air to take a 5-yard pass from Erickson for another A&M score with 21 seconds left in the third period. Halfback Travis Linnstaedter passed to Reagan for the conversion.

Fullback Sam Rver, another reserve player moved into the starting lineup this week by Aggie Coach Jim Myers, burst through the middle from two yards out to give the Aggies their final touchdown with 2:12 left in the final quarter. Halfback George Hargett's toss to halfback Raymond Kubesch was incomplete on the conversion attempt.

Bobby Ply, the Bear quarterback who carried one of the fanest passing records in the conference into the game, left with little more than memory of that record. He completed but three of 20 attempts all day and connected on only one of 12 in the first half.

Baylor's bruising fullback Ronnie Bull, drove to the A&M 31 midway through the second quarter and to the Aggie 20 in the third period to give the Bears their deepest penetrations of A&M territory.

Vandy Victim Of Ole Miss

UNIVERSITY, Miss. (AP)—Potent Mississippi launched a massive attack Saturday and the second-ranked Rebels rolled to a 47-0 victory over outmanned Vanderbilt in a lackluster Southeastern Conference football game.

The Rebels, starting slower than at many times this season, showed little in punching across one touchdown in each of the first two periods, then picking up the tempo against the listing Vanderbilt team after intermission.

The scoring parade featured two touchdown by fullback Billy Ray Adams, a sophomore who got Wes Skipper, halfback A. J. Holloway and Ralph Smith and quarterback Doug Elgin and Jerry Lee Dunn.

Adams' 29-yard run in the first quarter was the longest scoring play and the score was all his. The 5-foot-10 senior pile-driver intercepted a pass by Vanderbilt's Hank Lossene and returned it 25 yards to the Vandy 36. Adams carried to the 28 on the first play and scored on the next.

Dept. Of 'Why Sportswriters Get Gray'

The face, she is crimson.

Seems that the big, bold, black headline in Friday's Tiger game advance blared out with "Annual Tilt Is 8 P.M." That tidbit was obviously in error, and our sincerest apologies are extended for having made the boo-boo. Reading of the "small type," however, brought to light that the game had a kickoff time of 7:30—as is each and every Tiger district game.

Which once again proves the old adage that one has to read the small print if he's going to get ahead.

It could go down as the most glaring "typographical error" in history, which would be a dubious distinction indeed.

Sorry, folks it shan't happen again.

Nope, that wasn't one of the Snyder-Sweetwater football gladiators who was toted from the field to the hospital at the end of the game Friday by Bolger Funeral Home ambulance.

Instead, it was an over-zealous Sweetwater cheerleader—Phyllis Teaff—who wrenched her back while leading a cheer late in the game.

She was treated at Cogdell Memorial Hospital and released shortly, seemingly none the worse for wear.

Snyder 'B' Nips Ponies

Defense held the upper hand here last night, as the Snyder JV gridder "B" team rang up its fourth victory of the season as compared to three losses by slipping past the Sweetwater Ponies by a score of 7-6.

Snyder hit paydirt initially during first quarter play, then held on for dear life throughout the remainder of the contest. A fumble recovery and a pass interception put the Tigers in position to score their only and deciding touchdown. Quarterback Jimmy Wilson pinpointed end Glen Banks with a 16 - yard pass into the right flat for the tally as 6:35 showed to be left in the first quarter.

Wilson then followed up by splitting the uprights with what proved to be the decisive point.

A 20 - yard touchdown aerial from Wilson to end Bonnie Anderson in the second quarter was nullified by penalty, so that at half-time Snyder clung to a 7-0 lead.

A Tiger bobble and Mustang recovery only two yards from the double stripe allowed the visitors their solitary tally. On the first play from that point, Ralph Hummell blasted his way through left guard for the six - pointer.

Following the tally, Andrews skirted end for what appeared to be the go - ahead points, but an offsides penalty quashed the attempt. On the second try for the points, Robin Tonkin was chopped down some five yards short of the mark.

North Texas Sidelined By Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — A spectacular 55-yard touchdown run by fullback Phil Goldner, who intercepted a North Texas State pass with only 15 seconds left in the game, sewed up a 21-9 University of Cincinnati victory Saturday.

It was the second pass interception that paid off for the Bearcats.

The Bearcats got their first touchdown late in the first half. Halfback Royce Starks returned a North Texas punt from the UC 39 to the Eagles' 26. On the next play, Starks caught an end zone pass from quarterback Larry Harp.

Cincinnati's try for an extra point failed and the Eagles seized the lead next period after going 75 yards in 8 plays.

Halfback Bobby Smith scored the touchdown from the 35 with 10:20 left in the quarter. Bobby Price kicked the extra point.

Forty seconds after the last period began, fullback John Grad plunged over the North Texas line to put UC ahead again. Quarterback Bruce Vogelgesang passed to Barry Hess for the two-point conversion.

North Texas picked up a two-point safety after a drive from their own 36 to the UC 3. The Eagles lost possession after four downs, but Cincinnati was forced to punt.

Cincinnati's Doug Rice intercepted Billy Ryan's pass on the two-yard line. With an Eagle hanging on to his leg, Rice struggled to the 5, where he attempted a lateral to Starks. The ball fell in the end zone and Sparks fell on it for a safety.

Goldner's final touchdown run after a pass interception on the UC 45 was made possible by key tackles by Hess and Ken Conatser. Hank Hartong kicked the extra point.

Iowa Felled By Purdue

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Muddy-loving Purdue held Iowa scoreless for the first time in nine seasons and splattered the No. 5 ranking college team 9-0 Saturday.

Happy as a pack of otters in the steady downpour, Purdue's agile young men grabbed three Iowa fumbles and intercepted two Hawkeye passes.

Purdue center Don Paltani snatched a Matt Szykowny pass at the Iowa 46, shortly after the opening kickoff, and sophomore quarterback Ron DiGravio carried over for a touchdown. DiGravio hit halfback Tom Bloom with a 19-yard pass and halfback Dave Miller with a short one in the important early drive, and a 15-yard Iowa penalty helped considerably.

Purdue had not intercepted a pass in four previous games.

The field, deteriorated into a muddy quagmire by the downpour, was Skip Ohl's 27-yard field goal late in the third quarter. It, too, was set up by an Iowa mistake—halfback Bernard Wyatt's fumble which Purdue guard Stan Szurek pushed into the mud at the Iowa 43.

Hadl, Jayhawks Rip Oklahoma St., 42-8

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Kansas quarterback John Hadl put on a superb show Saturday and the Jayhawks ripped Oklahoma State 42-8 in a Big Eight football game.

It was Kansas' most prolific offensive showing of the year and it came against a Cowboy team that has been extremely tough on defense.

Hadl did just about everything one man can do. He ran for one touchdown, passed for two more, uncorked a 94-yard quick kick into the end zone, set up another touchdown with the recovery of a fumble in the air and then threw a key block to spring Curtis McClinton on a touchdown run.

Harvard Triumphs

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Harvard ran up a three touchdown lead, then had to hold off a fourth quarter Dartmouth aerial bombardment for a 21-15 Ivy League football victory Saturday. Bill Taylor scored twice for the winners.

DISPLAYS PRIZE — Jack R. Sparks, 2404 Forty-first Street, shot this 130-pound antelope recently some 75 miles north of Douglas, Wyoming. It was the largest of the season as bagged off the 130-section ranch on which he was hunting.

Ohio State Wins, 30-21

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Ohio State, a precision-like football machine ranked sixth in the nation, withstood an aerial bombardment by Wisconsin's Ron Miller and ground out a 30-21 victory over the Badgers Saturday in a bruising Big Ten duel.

The Buckeyes put on a brilliant display of ball control in posting their fourth straight triumph since an opening 7-7 deadlock with Texas Christian.

Ohio State rolled to a 10-0 lead, then had to fight off the passing wizardry of Miller, who tossed for two touchdowns and scored once himself. But the Buckeyes' crunching overland attack proved too much for the upset-minded Badgers before a homecoming crowd of 58,411.

The Buckeyes, who had surrendered a mere 10 points in four previous outings, scored on a 63-yard march the first time they had the ball.

Ohio State gave the national television audience a lesson in ball control as it piled up 364 yards by rushing. The Buckeyes rolled up 24 first downs on the ground, tying the Big Ten record set by Michigan State against Indiana in 1957.

Minnesota Nudges Michigan, 23-20

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Judge Dickson blasted across from the one to score the winning touchdown with 1:24 to go Saturday to give Minnesota a come-from-behind 23-20 victory over Michigan.

The touchdown came seconds after a Minnesota drive had been halted on Michigan's 9-yard line and it appeared the Wolves would hand Minnesota its first Big Ten setback of the season.

Michigan's Bennie McRae then fumbled on the first play when smashed by safety Tom Teigen. Dickson pounced on the loose ball, then bulled over from the one on fourth down.

The victory left the Gophers with a 3-0 conference record and kept the venerable Little Brown Jug in Minneapolis.

Princeton Riding Top In Ivy League

PRNCETON, N.J. (AP) — Princeton took undisputed possession of first place in the Ivy League Saturday when the Tigers, led by Greg Riley, 175-pound junior tailback, beat Cornell's injury-riddled football team, 30-25.

Riley passed to Barry Schuman for one touchdown, took a 29-yard [illegible] for another, and ran 14 yards on a third drive, climaxed by Hugh MacMillen's 41-yard bust through the Cornell line.

Pitt Upsets Navy, 28-14

By MURRAY CHASS

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Quarterback Jim Traficant's two touchdown runs and a rock-bone defense earned Pitt a 28-14 upset football victory over Navy Saturday, halting the Panthers' four-game losing streak and the Midshipmen's four-game winning skein.

Traficant, who missed the first few games because of a leg injury, dashed eight yards up the middle for the first score in the first period and raced around right end for six yards late in the third period.

Pitt's defense didn't let Navy's attack get started until the waning minutes of the game when Panther reserves filled the line up. Navy then struck for two touchdowns in the last two minutes. Bob Hecht sneaked one yard for Navy's first score then tossed 10 yards to Craig Mather for another.

Pitt's final touchdown was a 17 yard pass from Bob Roeder to John Jenkins in the fourth quarter. Fred Cox made all four conversions for Pitt. Navy's Mather topped his perfect conversion record to 19 this year.

Fallout Near Great Lakes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The fall-out cloud from Russia's 30-50 megaton nuclear explosion was charted by Weather Bureau observers Saturday as moving eastward along the northern states toward the Great Lakes.

The invisible mass of radioactive debris is expected to take a couple of days to cross the United States from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

An estimated 200 miles wide, it passed over Washington, Oregon and northern California early Saturday and headed across the northern states toward southeastern Canada.

Robert List, a Weather Bureau fallout expert, estimated it was being carried by winds of about 80 m.p.h. Rain or snow along some parts of the cloud's path, List said, could wash some of its radioactive particles to earth.

"We would be surprised if we get any more debris from this than any other Russian explosion," he said however.

Jockey Willie Shoemaker has won six races in one day on six occasions.

'Horns Hook Owls

By GARTH JONES

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' stampeding Longhorns took undisputed control of the Southwest Conference Saturday night by making Rice No. 6 on their victory list in a 34-7 thriller.

The steers cut notches in Old Smokey, their victory cannon, in every quarter with a quintet of backs behind a lunging line.

Rice easily gave Texas its best test of the season, particularly in the first half, but the Owls could not match Coach Darrell Royal's score-grabbing pupils. Ray Poage, Mike Cotten and James Saxton continued their field partnership that has the Steers leading the nation in rushing. In the process, halfback Willie Ross and Jerry Cook showed there was no such thing as a second team.

Poage limped out of the stadium in the third quarter with a knee injury that may effect his All-American prospects. He had 13 carries for 66 yards when the [illegible] jury came.

Texas banged out 360 yards rushing to only 52 for the Owls. The Steers had another 86 passing to 59 for Rice.

The sell-out crowd of 62,310 got every cents worth of their $4 tickets. But for an apparent busted signal and an offside penalty Rice might have ended the half even or ahead of Texas. The signal mixup came on third down with 2 needed for a score and resulted in no gain. A fourth down pass was incomplete. Near the end of the second quarter Billy Cox lobbed a 40 yard pass to Johnny Burrell in the end zone but officials [illegible] handkerchiefs [illegible] red-faced Owl admitted being offside, and Rice had to punt a play later.

The interested spectators included three representatives of Houston's Blue Bonnet Bowl where Texas and Alabama played [illegible]

Texas students whooped it up on the field after the game and one group carried a big sign "Bevo for the Cotton Bowl." Bevo is the big Longhorn mascot steer.

Cardinals Tiptoe By Loraine, 16-14

LORAINE (Special) — In a game which saw both teams throw all their scoring eggs into a second quarter basket, the Hermleigh Cardinals succeeded in spoiling the Loraine Bulldog homecoming by dropping the host eleven, 16-14.

The victory, which was the fourth for the Redbirds as against three losses and one tie, preserved their status by keeping them tied with Bronte for second place in the District 6-B standings.

Hermleigh bunched both of its touchdowns together early in the second period. Halfback Terry Smith tallied the first one by plowing through left guard on a 12-yard scoring jaunt, then swept right end for the points to put his mates into an 8-0 lead.

A pilfered pass put the Cards in business once again at midfield, from which point they drove down to the Bulldog six, where with fourth down staring them in the face fullback Neil Beeks rose to the occasion to chug through right tackle for the touchdown. Smith rounded left end for what would eventually prove to be the winning points.

Undaunted, the Bulldogs took the kickoff and marched downfield to their ice - breaking tally, which was earned on a 30 - yard run around left end by halfback Lorenzo Marino. The important run for the conversion points was stymied, however.

Hesmleigh lost the ball by fumble on the first play following the subsequent kickoff, and Loraine took advantage of the golden opportunity by chasing over their second and final tally of the evening. It was Marino again, this time on a six - yard sweep around left end, after which Buster Jernigan picked up the points over right guard.

The Cards threatened seriously on two occasions during the second half, driving inside Loraine's 10-yard line each time, but before being stopped. The Bulldogs, far from idle through it all, threw a scare into the Cards as time ran out in the game, as they had possession of the ball on the Hermleigh nine when the game - ending gun sounded.

The statistics were as close as the score, as Hermleigh held the edge in first downs, 15-14, while the Bulldogs outrushed the winners, 268-253. Neither eleven succeeded in completing a pass during the course of the contest.

Buffs Trim Oklahoma

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Tenth-ranked Colorado recouped twice Saturday to put down a fighting but out-manned Oklahoma football team 22-14.

It was the undefeated Buffaloes, fifth consecutive victory of the season as they continued driving for their first Big Eight Conference title in 15 years of membership.

The defeat was Oklahoma's fifth straight this season and eclipsed the school's all-time losing streak of four straight set in 1931 and matched in 1960.

Fullback Loren Schweninger scored the winning touchdown early in the fourth quarter capping a 50-yard drive.

Halfback Bill Harris gave the Buffaloes good field position for the clincher by returning a kickoff after Oklahoma had gone ahead, 14 yards to the midfield stripe.

That gave Colorado a 16-14 lead and it proved to be enough.

But the Buffaloes took advantage of an Oklahoma bobble to add another tally midway through the fourth quarter.

Colorado	0	7	3	12	—22

Missouri Marches By Nebraska, 10-0

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Bill Tobin's field goal and Andy Russell's touchdown gave undefeated Missouri a hard-earned victory over Nebraska Saturday.

The Tigers' victory was their third in the Big Eight this season and was Missouri's fourth successive shutout against Nebraska.

The Tigers scored when Tobin placekicked from the 22 midway in the third period. That was the score until the Tigers struck on a 69-yard drive with Russell slashing over from the three. The score came early in the fourth period. Tobin converted and for the second time in three games the Tigers won on a 10-0 count. They beat Oklahoma State with the same formula—a Tobin field goal and a Russell touchdown two weeks ago.

Deacons In Victory

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—Quarterback Chuck Reiley completed only two of ten passes Saturday but both were for touchdowns to halfback Donnie Frederick as Wake Forest drove Virginia deeper into the Atlantic Coast Conference football cellar, 21-15.

QB Club To Meet Monday This Week

The weekly meeting of the Quarterback Club has been moved up one night due to Tuesday's being Halloween, announces president Joe Williamson.

The meeting will be held at the regular hour—7:30 p.m.—in the high school cafeteria, but on Monday evening instead of Tuesday.

A review of Snyder's smashing 28-8 victory over Sweetwater will be heard at that time, as will scouting reports on Fridays' Tiger opponent, the Colorado City Wolves. The Snyder-Sweetwater game film will also be shown as a highlight of the session, along with explanatory comments by Coach Horrace Bostick.

Indiana Bows To Spartans

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Top-ranked Michigan State sparkled with brilliant scoring plays in the second half for a 35-0 victory over Indiana Saturday.

The outcome was expected although a higher score had been predicted.

The Spartans looked unspirited in the first half except for a 59-yard scoring drive made the first time MSU got the ball.

Michigan State buckled down to business and delighted the homecoming crowd of 55,561 with four more efficient scores in the second half.

MSU powered 60 yards for one touchdown in four plays as Carl Charon scampered 48 yards for the score. George Saimes, The Associated Press back of the week last week, ran six yards for another.

Quarterback Pete Smith, back on the Indiana 49, hit end Lonnie Sanders with a pass on the 29 and he skipped into the end zone from there.

First-string fullback Roger Lopes shook off two tacklers and went seven yards for the final touchdown to cap a 51-yard march that took only seven plays.

End Art Brandstatter, a left-footed kicker, had a perfect average for the day as he booted five of five for the extra points.

USC Hangs On To Defeat Illinois

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Illinois made a long and exciting journey in a vain attempt to escape the football wilderness Saturday—but Southern California hung on to win 14-10.

Southern Cal's Trojans went into the game as two-touchdown favorites, but had to come from behind in the third quarter. Sophomore quarterback Pete Beathard took to the air in a 55-yard scoring drive to turn the trick.

The rangy thrower connected with Hal Bedsole for gains of 24 [illegible] yards to the Illini 2. Big Ben Wilson scored and the Trojans got the two-point conversion on a pass from Beathard to Lynn Gaskil.

Thanksgiving Observance Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy called upon all citizens Saturday to observe Thanksgiving Day Nov. 23 in a manner "not only to preserve our blessings, but also to extend them to the four corners of the earth."

"Let us by our example, as well as by our material aid, assist all peoples of all nations who are striving to achieve a better life in freedom," Kennedy said in his formal proclamation.

He urged all citizens to make this Thanksgiving not merely a holiday from their labors, but rather a day of contemplation, to be observed "with reverence and with prayer."

Just as the country's early pioneers faced perils, Kennedy said, "awesome perils again remain to be faced, but he added:

"Yet we have, as in the past, ample reason to be thankful for the abundance of our blessings.

[illegible] and for the imperishable spiritual gifts of love and hope. We give thanks, too, for our freedom as a nation; for the strength of our arms and the faith of our friends; for the beliefs and confidence we share; for our determination to stand firmly for what we believe to be right, and to resist mightily what we believe to be base; and for the heritage of liberty bequeathed by our ancestors which we are privileged to preserve for our children and our children's children."

Rampaging Gail '8' Rips Smyer

SMYER (Special) — In an uphill District 2 eight-man grid clash here Friday, Gail's Coyotes scored a come-from-behind 28-14 victory over the Smyer Bobcats.

The win kept Gail atop the district heap, and was the seventh triumph in a row for the Coyote clan following an opening defeat as handed them by Sterling City.

Gail took the opening kickoff and chopped their way downfield [illegible] first series of downs. Halfback Russell Hensley picked up the final three yards on a dive play.

Neither team could get anything going for the remainder of the half, so that at intermission the Coyotes left the field with a slim 6-0 lead.

The Bobcats came back snarling in the third period to score a pair of quick ones, however, the first on a 15-yard sweep by Alderson and the other on the strength of a 10-yard blast through the line by Brown. Brown also ran the conversion points to cap off the first scoring play, so that Smyer enjoyed a [illegible] lead.

Still in the third period, fullback Oscar Ovalle put Gail back in the scoring column with a 15-yard run around left end. Quarterback Mike Stephens then rifled to end Joel Dennis for the tieing points.

Stephens put his mates ahead to stay in the final quarter via a three-yard circling of end, then quarterback Bill Nunnally tossed [illegible] TD later in the quarter on a 15-yard flipt off tackle, after which the conversion attempt was stymied.

The Coyotes will host Pettit this Friday at 7:30 p.m. in another district contest, with the game being the highlight of the annual homecoming festivities of the Borden County school.

LSU Downs Gators, 23-0

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Dramatic touchdown bursts by Ray Wilkins and Dwight Robinson sparked nationally ranked Louisiana State to 23-0 football victory Saturday over Southeastern Conference rival Florida.

The triumph was the fifth in a row for LSU, unbeaten since a season opening loss to Rice and ranked seventh in the Associated Press national poll. Florida, taking its first SEC loss, has three victories, two defeats and a tie.

Halfback Wilkins capped an 88-yard scoring drive by racing 33 yards for a touchdown in the second period. Quarterback Robinson, a defensive specialist, intercepted a Florida pitchout minutes later and sprinted 25 yards for another.

The fast and furious LSU Tigers added more glitter to their rational reputation by covering 86 yards after intermission in only five plays for a third score on the bulls-eye passing of quarterback Lynn Amedee.

Amedee pitched 19 yards to end Danny Neumann for the touchdown to the dismay of a Florida homecoming crowd of 46,000.

A 33-yard field goal by halfback Wendell Harris completed the LSU runaway. Harris also kicked two conversions to run his season point total to 38.

HC Crushed By Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Led by Ernie Davis' two touchdowns, Syracuse crushed Holy Cross Saturday, 34-6.

The Syracuse line stymied a polished Holy Cross passing attack and opened holes for a platoon of Syracuse backs.

Davis scored first for the Orange, bolting 13 yards through the Holy Cross team to cap a 53-yard drive in 11 plays.

In the third period, Davis put on a one-man march of 51 yards. He took a punt on the Syracuse 49 and raced to the Holy Cross 25. He peeled off 24 yards before being knocked out of bounds on the one. On the next play, Davis bulled over for the score.

Holy Cross' only sustained march 80 yards on 7 plays, was powered by the passes of quarterback Pat McCarthy. McCarthy threw four times, the last a 46½ yard play to end Barry Tyne.

Columbia Surprised By Lehigh, 14-7

NEW YORK (AP)—A slashing ground attack led by Pat Clark and Boyd Taylor carried Lehigh to a 14-7 upset football victory over Columbia Saturday.

Clark raced 32 yards for a touchdown in the third period and Taylor plunged over from the one early in the fourth for the scores.

W. Virginia Edges Army

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Glenn Holton, a 19-year-old sophomore fullback from Barboursville, W. Va., led an aroused West Virginia team to a 7-3 upset victory over Army Saturday before 23,525 fans.

Holton charged through the Army line for hunks of yardage all through the afternoon and crashed through for a score from the Army 9 in the third period. Glenn Bennett added the extra point. A bad pass by Army center Mike Miller on fourth down with 17 yards to go on a punt situation set up the Mountaineers' score.

Army had opened up a 3-0 lead at 2:38 of the third period on a 40-yard field goal by Dick Heydt. The score had been made possible when Jim Moss fumbled Army's kickoff opening the half and Harry McMillan recovered for the Cadets on the West Virginia 31.

Phone Man To Demonstrate Project Echo

Plans to expand worldwide communications by bouncing telephone calls off satellites orbiting in outer space will be described Tuesday to members of the Down town Lions Club.

Glenn Scott, public information supervisor for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. will use miniature equipment to demonstrate Project Echo an experiment conducted by Bell Telephone Laboratories scientists who made coast-to-coast long distance calls by bouncing voice signals off a balloon satellite in orbit 1,000 miles above the earth.

Other techniques the Bell System has developed to improve and increase telephone transmission also will be demonstrated. Among these is a device that can transmit samples of many different telephone conversations over the same pair of wires at the time and then decode them back to normal voice conversations at their destinations.

Scott also will demonstrate how microwave systems work to beam long distance calls and television programs across the country via the airways.

His talk, "Voices Across Time and Space", is being brought here by W. R. Wright of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

BOUNCING PHONE CALLS—Glenn Scott, public information supervisor for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., will demonstrate how telephone calls are bounced off satellites in a program before the Downtown Lions Club here Tuesday. His talk will be titled "Voices Across Time and Spaces."

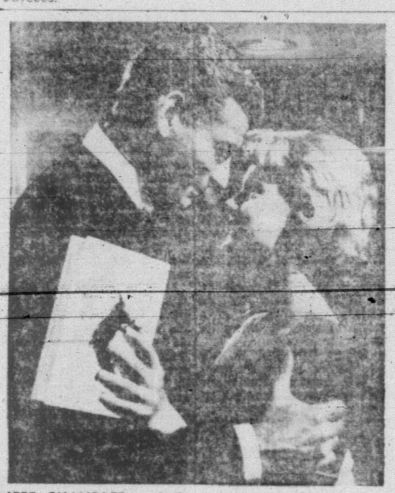

Postcard Writer Remains In Corps

WASHINGTON (AP)—A young woman whose post card touched off a furor about the Peace Corps in Nigeria, will stay with the corps—in Washington.

The announcement Friday that Margery Michelmore, 23, would be assigned here came shortly after it was disclosed that President Kennedy had written her a brief letter of encouragement.

Miss Michelmore of Foxboro, Mass., was among a group of Peace Corps teachers assigned to Nigeria. She wrote a post card describing living conditions in the African country as primitive and apparently dropped it. Nigerian students at Ibadan University came in possession of the card and promptly demanded ouster of all corps teachers.

Grain Mart Trend Slow

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures prices held to a generally slow downward trend last week on the Board of Trade.

The few rallies along the way were short lived and nearly all contracts ended with losses of major fractions or more which in most instances canceled out the gains of a week ago.

The selling was described mainly as profit cashing and liquidation. Little hedging activity was apparent and commercial buying most of the time was light. However, there was a good export demand for wheat early in the week which may have included a good volume of overseas business still awaiting final acceptance of offers.

At the end of the week, wheat was ½-⅝ cent a bushel lower than a week ago, December $2.07⅞-03, corn 1¼-2 cents lower, December $1.09⅞-¾; oats unchanged to 1¾ lower, December 67¼-⅜; rye ⅛ higher to 1¼ lower, December $1.42⅜-½; soybeans ¾-1⅛ lower, November $2.41⅛-42.

49th Slates First Review Wednesday

FT. POLK, La. (AP)—The 49th Armored Division holds Wednesday its first formal review since the troops left civilian pursuits two weeks ago.

And to test the sometimes spectacular communications of a crash-type division, a single voice will control the division which at one point will be spread across 10 miles of Louisiana hills.

The voice will be that of Maj. Gen. Harley West of Dallas, controlling 15,000 largely Texan troops.

The National Guard outfit reported for extended active duty OCT. 15 and streamed into Ft. Polk in force a week ago. Pentagon orders are that the atomic-capable division get itself in fighting shape within 12 more weeks.

The division itself is scheduled to have slightly more than 14,000 men. But Gen. West, chief of the 49th, eventually will control about 25,000 troops, including attached units and those assigned otherwise to Ft. Polk, which he also commands.

The Pentagon called up the division at the beginning of the Berlin crisis. At that time, the officers and men were considered one of the top six National Guard divisions.

Tax Blamed For Retail Sales Dip

AUSTIN (AP) — Retail sales dropped 7 per cent from August to September, mainly because of the sales tax going into effect, the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas said Saturday.

The September drop left total sales down 1 per cent from the first nine months of last year.

"There are increasing signs of a buying mood on the part of the consumer" and stated the outlook for the rest of 1961 is optimistic," the agency said.

Total sales for September were $915 million, bringing the nine-month period sales to $8,068,200,000. While the Texas decrease was 7 per cent from August, nationally, sales dropped less than 1 per cent.

Retail sales in August increased 11 per cent, which was the month before the sales tax went into effect. Miss Lambeth said the drop during September "was expected."

Further reductions in sales were brought about in the coastal region, the report said, because of Hurricane Carla. Many stores were closed after the storm because some stores suffered damage to buildings and merchandise which required replacement and repair.

The report said an unusual rise will be brought about as repairing and rebuilding of homes and businesses and replacement of furnishings and clothing progresses.

In the major cities, Fort Worth reported a drop of 16 per cent; Austin and San Antonio, 12 per cent; Houston, 8 per cent; Dallas, 6 per cent; and El Paso, 2 per cent.

City Council P-TA Plans Overall Safety Program

The City Council of Parent-Teachers Association has taken as its yearly project an overall safety program for Snyder and Scurry County.

Safety committee members are Chief of Police, Mr. Simon; Fire Marshall, Mr. Autry; Civil Defense, Mr. Dunlap; and Chairman, Mrs. John Hazle. The program will begin city - wide with each P-TA unit represented by its own safety chairman.

Mr. Autry would like a fire marshall and fire chief appointed in each school to help with the fire drills and keep a lookout for fire hazards. A boy either from one of the Junior High Schools or from High School will be selected to attend a Fireman's Convention at A&M in July to learn the duties of a fireman. His expenses to be paid by the local P-TA units.

The immediate traffic safety problem quoted by the Chief of Police is the motor scooter problem. Too many of the boys ride scooters without licenses. This is in violation of the state drivers license law. The Chief asked for the cooperation of all patents to help instill respect for the law in our youth.

The parents are liable for any damage or accident caused by the youth.

There are many fields to cover in the traffic safety program, with the help and cooperation of the people of Snyder the association hopes to improve our town and make it a safer place to live.

Mr. Dunlap said the civil defense for Snyder had changed in the last year and that he would be glad to inform the people of this area by having a workshop or a discussion group at anytime. We have among us instructors and teachers who are qualified to help in our civil defense program, according to Mrs. Hazle.

This committee is asking for the help and cooperation of the people of Snyder and the surrounding towns. We not only want to cover Snyder but Scurry County. This will take the support of all concerned.

If any person has a safety problem in which they need help they are asked to contact any of the safety committee members.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

The research and development lads keep coming up with more and more predictions on what the home of the future will be like. Some of their forecasts are a little way out, but no, more than past crystal - gazing efforts which sounded fanastic at the time but proved reasonably accurate.

One of the latest predictions is that the lady of the house will be able to place her husband's suit in the clothes closet at night and take it out, cleaned, pressed and ready to wear in the morning. Credit that one to Chris J. Wittig, the vice president in charge of he consumer products group of one of the country's largest corporations.

What else does he foresee? Such things as houses that never need repainting, grass that stops growing at a predetermined height, mats with air streams that remove dirt at the doorstep, dishes that will be cleaned on their storage shelves and radios no larger than match boxes. Actually, some of these things already have been tested, but Wittig is alking about them as routine conveniences of the future.

Another vice president — this one in charge of research and development at another large company — thinks the conveyor belt used by many commercial establishments will invade private homes before very long. The vice president, Marvin Kahn, puts it this way:

"Such a conveyor belt could be a big labor - saver in the home. Imagine a conveyor belt from the garage to the kitchen, tucked away in a niche in the wall. You drive in, unload groceries direcly onto the belt, and a flick of the switch later they're waiting for you in the kitchen. No more carrying heavy bundles up steps or across the lawn.

The system will work in reverse, too, in case you want to take out boxes of trash or suit cases or any other heavy bulky packages. This is only one of he ways belt conveyors will save time and work in the years ahead."

And for the complete house of the future, with certain reservations, there's the two - bedroom model that will sell for under $1,000. That's no typographical error; it's really $1,000. But before you knock somebody over in your rish to get further information, here's the story. This house will be made of paper honeycomb and corrugated fiberboard and will be mass produced for underdeveloped areas in Asia and Africa, with is manufacturers hoping that it also will catch on with the vacation house market in the United States.

No mechanical fastenings, nails or screws will be used in the construction of this house. The seams and joints of wall panels will be bonded and sealed with a special glass cloth which has a tensile strength o fa quarter ton per inch of width.

After the panels are up, the entire structure, inside and out, is sprayed wih a strong resin - mineral skin...And, say the manufacturer's engineers, the house will be water - tight, fireproof and never need painting.

Jus to prove the whole thing isn't a mirage, a model of the house will be erected and on display to the public on New York's Long Island during the winter of 1961-62.

BEEF VEEGETABLE soup is practically a meal in itself. Made the quick and easy way with beef flavored noodle soup mix, it has carrots, corn, celery and tomato added as an extra bonus.

Hearty Homestyle Soup Is Easy With Soup Mix

After an afternoon spent raking leaves or walking in the brisk autumn weather, there is nothing more satisfying than sitting down to a big bowl of piping hot, hearty soup. This delicious homestyle beef vegetable soup is almost a meal in itself.

The recipe takes advantage of the convenience of a packaged soup mix. Carrots, celery, corn, a diced tomato are all added to boiling water and simmered. Then you simply add two envelopes of beef flavor noodle soup mix and little hamburger meat balls. The soup is simmered for an additional ten minutes.

The beef flavored noodle soup mix provides a rich, meat - flavored base for the vegetables. The end result has all the old - fashioned, home - cooked flavor of those soups that used to take hours of patient preparation and cooking to make.

Homestyle Soup

6 cups water
2 cup diced potato
½ cup finely chopped celery
½ cup whole-kernel corn
1 tomato, diced
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
2 envelopes beef flavor noodle soup mix
¼ pound ground chuck, shaped into ½ inch balls

In a 2-quart pot, bring water to a boil. Add carrots, celery, corn, tomato and seasonings. Simmer, covered, 20 minutes. Stir in soup mix and meat balls. Cover and simmer 10 additional minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Dietary Fat, Heart Disease Relationship Still Disputed

The jury is still out on the relationship of fat in the diet to the occurrence of heart disease. Even the recently announced plan to survey 500,000 Americans to determine the role of diet in producing heart disease is not expected to produce authoritative findings for at least five years.

This massive program, to be sponsored by the National Heart Institute, will provide individual families with three different but complete food plans, with varying quantities of fat in the daily menu.

At the present time there is still quite a bit of discussion —and controversy — going on in scientific circles about the roles of fats, unsaturated and polyunsaturated, in the development of hardening of the arteries and the ensuing heart disease.

Although there are no sure answers today to the questions about the relationship of diet to heart disease, there remain a number of factors — which scientists do agree upon — which are known to be associated with the development of heart disease.

These factors include heredity, overweight, elevated cholesterol levels in the blood, high blood pressure, and exercise. Although we cannot control heredity, we can, with the help of the family physician, influence some of the factors which may play a role in preventing, or causing heart attacks.

The nutritional factors appear to be quite significant. Statistics indicate that the overweight person is a prime target for coronary-artery disease.

Thus, control of obesity through the reduction of total amount of food consumed is a prime goal of heart specialists. Another is a reduction in the total quantity of fat in the diet, with a qualitative change to increased consumption of foods containing polyunsaturated fats.

Control of the diet, quantitative and qualitative, should begin with children and continue through the adult years. According to Dr. Laurence W. Kinsell, Oakland, Calif., who spoke at the recent meeting of the American Geriatrics Society in New York, "The Time to treat atherosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) should begin in infancy, with the feeding of the nursing mother and - or preparation of the infant's formula."

Not only fats, but also vitamins may be implicated in heart disease. In a recently reported experiment in Japan, laboratory tests showed that a deficiency of vitamin B6 could be linked with an increase in coronary artery disease. A diet must include enough of the essential vitamins for maintenance of good health.

While scientists attempt to solve the problems concerning the specific role of fats and other nutrients in the diet, they have developed a number of recommended dietary approaches which represent a "prudent" or "good sense" approach to the prevention of future heart trouble. According to the late Dr. Norman Jolliffe of the Bureau of Nutrition, Department of Health, New York City, we should cut down on our intake of potentially harmful fats by substituting poultry, fish, sea food, veal and skim milk for beef, pork, lamb and whole milk and cream.

A low - fat, low calorie diet, developed by Dr. Frederick J. Stare, Harvard University School of Public Health, includes in the typical daily menu a total of 2600 calories, with 30 per cent coming from fats (lower than average) and a large quantity of unsaturated fatty acids (double normal).

Dr. Stare's diet For breakfast: Fruit and cereal, with skim milk on the cereal, one egg, two pieces of unbuttered toast and one cup of coffee with sugar.

For lunch: Soup, chicken sandwich, fruit and coffee, tea or skim milk.

For dinner: Meat, potatoes, vegetable, salad, pie and coffee. The meat portion should not exceed 3 oz. If a cocktail is consumed before dinner, the proper caloric deduction should be made from the menu.

The City Council of Homestead, Fla., recently termed the town "The City of Bicycles" because of community - wide interest in cycling.

Cafeteria Workers Hold Meet

The Snyder school cafeteria workers held their monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon at the West Elementary school cafeteria with Mrs. Nan Allen and her workers as hostesses.

Plans were discussed for the chili and bean supper to be held at the High School Cafeteria on November 16, from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Annie Rhodes and Geraldine Armstrong gave an interesting demonstration on sweet rolls and bread. Annie Rhodes baked some very delicious orange rolls, cinnamon rolls, and peanut butter rolls for her part of the demonstration. Geraldine Armstrong baked some dinner rolls and hamburger buns.

Floy Rhodes and Annie Rhodes received the lucky lady gifts.

Refreshments of sweet rolls, Cokes, Dro Peppers, and coffee were served.

Halloween Idea: Boiling Caldron As A Centerpiece

Looking for something different in the way of a Halloween decoration?

Here's an idea that's sure to excite the kiddies and your neighbors too. Get several pieces of dry ice, each about the size of an ice cube, and place them in a pot that suggests witchcraft. By half filling the pot with water, you can create a bubbling, boiling caldron that will make an ideal centerpiece or a front stoop decoration. Add more dry ice as it becomes necessary. A five-pound supply should last about three hours.

You can add further to the occasion with a wicked witch which you can either buy in a store or make yourself out of paper.

Of course, Halloween isn't complete without a pumpkin. An annual ritual calls for packing the youngsters in the car and taking them to the nearest produce stand where they can select their own pumpkin. After that, it will be up to you to scrape the pumpkin into a grotesque face. One slip of the knife can mean permanent damage to most surfaces. Not so if you do the carving job on a countertop of scratchproof tile.

STAIN INSURANCE

One of the areas most exposed to finger marks is the wall alongside your stairway. If the wall is papered or covered with other stainable material the marks may soon become difficult or impossible to remove. This problem will not arise if the wall is covered with a wash - proof and scrubbable plastic material such as genuine ceramic tile.

Woman's Culture Club Has Program On "Growth Of The United States" Tuesday

The Woman's Culture Club met Tuesday afternoon at Martha Ann Woman's Club with Mrs. W. E. Doak hostess to the 16 members.

The program for the afternoon was on "Growth of the United States, In Area and Population", presented by Mrs. Mabel Belsher, Mrs. L. O. Bynum and Mrs. Claude Tucker.

Mrs. Belsher said in part: "In the year of 1783 the 13 English colonies of this country gained their independence from England, and legally became the United States of America. However, on July the 4th, 1776, the congress of Philadelphia had adopted a Declaration of Independence and since then, July the 4th has been celebrated as the birthday of the United States.

"The first census taken in the states showed the population to be 86,796 square mils, 3,172,006 and the area consisted of "The United States grew rapidly in area, and also in population as the immigrants from the European countries came in great numbers. The first territory that the U. S. attained was the Louisiana Purchase which was bought from France for $15,000,000, thus doubling her original size. The next land gained was Florida which was purchased from Spain for $5,000,000. In 1845 Texas was annexed to the U. S., the first land to be acquired without buying it. This brought about war with Mexico, but after two years of utter defeat, Mexico agreed to sell her claim to the western land for $15,000,000 making the extent of the United States from ocean to ocean.

"By 1900 the population of the United States had grown to 75,995,575 and its area to 2,974,159 square miles. In 1950 the population was 151,132,000 and the area 2,974,726 square miles.

"The admitting of Alaska and Hawaii to the union brought the population of the U. S. to 179,452,000 and its area to 3,552,179 square miles. Including the armed forces the population by 1960 was 181,154,000.

"If our country is today the most prosperous nation of the earth, it is no small measure because our people, richer in tolerance than any other people of the world, have been able to welcome men, women and children of all races, and have been able to live together in peace."

Mrs. L. O. Bynum spoke on "Industry". She said:

"It was in the 17th century that England began to manufacture the things needed to improve their standard of living. The American colonies which stretched from Maine to Georgia along the Atlantic seaboard had no part in this except to supply the raw material needed. Early efforts to develop colonial manufactures were usually frowned upon by the British government because of the possibility of dangerous competition with its own industries.

"Colonial manufactures were of several kinds; there were the products made in the home for household use, such as textiles of cotton, wool, and linens, also leather that was home - dressed and tanned for shoes, pants and saddles, there was tallow for soap and for candles. Many of the farm tools were made at home. Such self - sufficient industry had no economic importance beyond the household and was the result of necessity rather than of deliberate choice.

"As the colonies began to grow there were greater needs so small groups began to unite their small capitals into companies and began the manufacture of things most needed. The only available power to run the machinery other than hand or animal power was that furnished by the fall of the rivers as they flowed to the sea.

"To furnish raw materials for the manufacture agriculture and mining had to be expanded. In order to move these finished as well as the raw products improvement in transportation was important.

"In the early 19th century manufacturing began to change. Workers were being gathered in larger mills and factories. Business men and lawyers had introduced some of the devices which added to the success and permancies of the early companies. In this way corporation finance, investment banking began to assist and strengthen industry.

"It was in 1859 that oil was discovered in Pennsylvania. This crude oil was called 'Rock oil'. Some of it had been used for medicine and some of the farmers used it to grease their wagon wheel. From expetiments it was found an illuminant could be made from it at small cost and other products such as naptha and parrafin could be made. Little did they realize what the discovery of oil was to mean to the nation.

"Progress was being made in transportation. This had been a great problem for the nation for this nation from its beginning. There were few railroad lines so every thing had to be carried by wagon over long and dangerous routes. Grants of land and gifts of money were made to the railroads to make it possible for them to build more and better railroads. Several of these large lines are still in operation today.

"It was early in 1903 that the Wright brothers flew the first plane. Little did anyone realize how important the airplane was to become nor what a big industry it was to become, being used, commercially and in defense of our country.

"It was in 1855 that a new method was invented to make steel. This invention made it possible to make steel in 30 minutes which previously it had taken 3 months. Today so many things are made of steel but it is so common that we take it for granted and little realize what it has meant to the advancement of industry.

"There are so many many things that have advanced so rapidly that we can hardly keep up with progress. There is electricity which was discovered by Benjimain Franklin. At the begining it was used mostly for light but today the power generated by electricity is used to turn giant machinery and in the homes it is a must.

"There is the rubber industry, lumbering, by products from oil and so many other industries that seems to have sprung up over night."

Mrs. Claude Tucker, speaking on transportation said in part: "Civilization can make but little headway so long as man is nothing better than beast of burden. It is possible that in pre - historic times he began to shift burden carrying to the backs of animals. Rafts and hollowed logs as early as B.C. may have helped in the matter. Rafts and basket - like contraptions woven of willow rushes were likely the first early type of water carriers before B. C. 5000.

"Man's earliest land vehicles was probably a sledge which he placed log rollers to ease the burden of his haul. Eventually man cut disks from a tree trunk and attached them to a log of somewhat smaller diameter, which served as a revolving axle.

"Man's next step was to construct a crude vehicle probably a cart which possessed a stationary tree trunk axle on which attached wheels could revolve.

"During the middle ages the art of vehicle construction deteriorated, moreover, roads were so poor that vehicle transportation was virtually impossible. Although some two wheel carts and four wheel wagons were occasionally employed for carrying agricultural and other products. During this time the 'litter' a carriage without wheels, originally developed in Biblical times, came in to use. These litters, with shafts, fore and aft, were borne by slaves or mounted on horses. Starting around 14,000 wheeled vehicles were introduced to the United States by European colonies.

"Although for many years due to inadequate roads and the concentration of settlements along the Eastern seaboard, there were little need for wheeled vehicles, mostly covered wagons and two wheel carts were used.

"By 1740 the manufacture of vehicles were in progress. Occasionally using spoked wheels. Pleasure vehicles were introduced in the period from the war in 1812 to the civil war, the famous one horse shay, then the buggy was produced and sold for as little as $50, then the surrey with the fringe on top.

"American vehicles rose swiftly in 1870, there were 11,944 establishments in the U. S. employing 68,294 persons. The continuous improvement of road and turnpikes introduced the motor vehicles later known as automobiles. From this stemmed our modern way of transportation of today."

The Gardeners Corner

A FLOWER CENTER in every city! That is the suggestion of L. E. Nichols, a Chillicothe, Mo., nurseryman.

The flower centers would be used to grow large quantities of flowers in their seasons, for distribution free to the sick, to shutins, churches, hospitals, nursing homes and even to jails.

As a starter, Nichols, a member of the American Peony Society, proposes to donate 14 acres of land in Chillicothe (under certain conditions of occupancy) for use during his lifetime. This area already has eight acres of peonies planted on it and thousands of narcissus, tulips, hyacinths, iris, day lillies and other flowers.

And speaking of the American Peony Society—it is polling its membership to determine the most popular peonies.

Garden clubs have many wonderful projects, often of benefit to their communities. We'd like to tell you about some from time to time, and to hear about unusual ones that we can pass along.

One of the most rewarding projects is to spark affection for gardens in the hearts of youngsters. If they love their own gardens, they will respect those of neighbors and strangers.

The Rochester, N.Y., Garden Club does just this. For six consecutive years it has sponsored a young people's show. One prize winner won with the first garden she ever planted.

The Rumson, N.J., Club worked on a different level this year. It has been beautifying the Haven Regional High School with shrubs—evergreens and other bushes. In November, dogwood and gingko trees are to be set out.

The Rumson club is financing the work with proceeds from a benefit tour of private swimming pools, and from a horticultural show. The group also has completed a planting project at the shelter of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals at Eatontown. Its next project will be an arrangement of planter boxes for the Oceanic Library in Rumson.

In Buffalo, New York state's second largest city, 4,400 new trees are being set out this year in the first stage of a three-year planting program. It is the city's first major tree-planting project in 20 years.

Twenty-one varieties, selected for for specific areas, are being planted.

Do not let wet leaves accumulate on your lawn. They may smother your grass. How to get rid of leaves is a problem to some city dwellers and suburbanites. There may be no place for a compost pile, which is a good depository for leaves, and carting them to a dump is often the only solution.

Don't burn leaves on asphalt paving because the heat may melt the pavement. And don't burn leaves beneath or close to trees. The heat may scorch the bark and damage or kill the tree.

Some things for gardeners to do in November:

Plant spring bulbs. Dig up the remaining gladioli bulbs before severe cold ruins them. Clean them after they are dry, destroying discarded growth that might carry disease to bulbs. Remove old tops from peonies, phlox and other plants. Use these on the compost pile or burn them. Lower climbing roses to the ground if they are in exposed places and cover them with soil and boughs. Dig up and store carrots in sand or leaves. Clean and grease your tools before putting them away for the winter.

The Fun Of Fixing Old Furniture Is Family Fun

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

FURNITURE REFINISHING is a fun project, especially when you've acquired some "fabulous buy," and see its beauty restored little by little.

A comfortable, well - ventilated area is helpful to the success of the refinishing project. A barn or garage is ideal, but a spot outdoors in cooler weather eliminates mess and hazards of inflammable materials.

Before you begin refinishing furniture, analyze it. Will it stand stress and strain when you have repaired it? This is especially true of chairs.

One can do a good upholstery job — strengthening springs, padding with cotton, burlapping. But leg and rung repair is another matter. A loose rung may be beyond repair by an amateur, having already been shaved by the previous owner, also an amateur, perhaps.

It is best to seek out a chair repairer at the start, and for a small amount expended, you could have a good chair. If the leg is broken, it will surely require the help of an experienced worker as a new leg may be required, and special refinishing problems may be encountered.

More luck can be anticipated in the repair of rockers, although problems occur with loose spindles as in the case of Boston rockers, but these are usually easier to handle than chair rungs.

Bureaus, desks, wash stands, dry sinks, end tables, tavern tables, offer greater rewards to the refinisher. Large flat areas give some indication that work is progressing, even though a little snag will occur here and there in coping with veneer or ornamentation.

The first step is to remove the old stain or paint with paint or varnish remover. When the old finish has loosened, it should be removed with a cloth and scraped gently with a tool designed for the purpose. An alcohol varnish cutter or paint solvent should be applied to clean the piece. Carving may be cleaned with complexion brushes, tooth brushes, pipe cleaners. Beer can openers are dandy for hard - to - get - at corners and moldings.

Steel wool is rubbed over the entire piece until you have reached the true surface of the wood. A coat of shellac is applied and when dry rubbed down with steel wool. Seven days and seven nights is the usual formula on shellac and steel wool, alternating between the two until you have a glossy steel - like surface. After the surface seems just right, dull the shine by applying a coat of linseed oil mixed with powdered rotstenstone.

Nicks and gouges should be repaired before beginning the project and any number of methods may be used. Scratches may be taken out by applying a wet blotter over the scratch, and a steam iron over that. A hole may be filled with a mixture of sawdust and glue. Some professionals make sawdust of the same kind of wood. Large gouges may be mended by inserting small slivers of wood taken from under sections of the furniture piece and carefully sized and inserted into gouges. When glue is dried, the area is sanded. There is a certain charm associated with the aged appearance of a gouged piece of furniture with which many purist refinishers are reluctant to part.

If you have the patience, you can have the joy of seeing your own acquisition unearthed before your eyes. A lovely small roll-type desk bought recently for $10 was refinished at home for $4.47. The walnut desk, 100 - years - old with all the advantages of modern requirements could bring a good price. But who would sell it — now!

Next time you get tired of the usual baked ham, yam and green peas combination, consider serving the ham with baked stuffed white potatoes and creamed snap beans and mushrooms.

Easy Shrimp Curry

1 pound medium - sized shrimp
2 cans (each 10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup
2 teaspoons curry powder
¼ cup undiluted evaporated milk

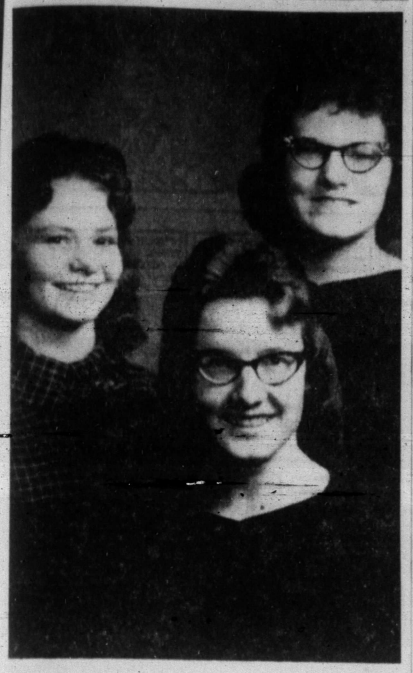

Wash shrimp in cold water; drain. Simmer shrimp in 1 cup water (without salt), covered, about 5 minutes. Drain, reserving ½ cup of the cooking water. Shell and devein shrimp; cut in half lengthwise so shrimp retain original shape. Turn soup into a saucepan; add the shrimp cooking water and curry powder; stir often over low heat until soup thaws. Don't worry if soup looks curdled. Add evaporated milk; heat lightly with a fork or whisk and bring to boiling to make smooth. Add cooked shrimp; reheat but do not boil so as not to toughen added shrimp. Serve with salted peas and chutney. Makes 4 servings.

LOCAL TRIO—These three young ladies have just had their first recording published. From left, Vondel Sumruld, tenor, Jackie Dean, soprano and Judith Gladson, alto.

Three Snyder Girls Have Recordings Released

"Through Gates Of Splendor" is the title of the new, long - playing record album by the Trion Trio, a local girls' group. Members of the trio are: Vondel Sumruld, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Sumruld, Jackie Dean, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Jack Dean and Judith Gladson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Gladson.

These girls are members of the Northside Baptist Church and have until very recently made all their appearances as the Northside Trio. Their sponsor and director is Mrs. Jack Dean, music director of the church. Accompanying them at the piano is Mrs. Willard Gladson and at the organ, Mrs. Nathan Mearse. The tape for the recording was made by Ben Hall, owner and manager of the High Fidelity House in Big Spring and the album appears under his label, Gaylo.

All three of the girls are graduates of Snyder High School and were active in school activities. Miss Dean graduated in 1961 and Misses Gladson and Sumruld in 1960. Both Miss Gladson and Miss Sumruld were members of the Snyder High School A Cappella Choir all during their high school years, and Miss Sumruld was twice chosen a member of the High School All - State Choir. Miss Dean was a three-year member of the SHS Girls Choir.

At present Miss Dean is a student at North Texas State University at Denton and Miss Gladson at Southwest Texas State College at San Marcos. Miss Sumruld attended Texas Tech College at Lubbock last year and is now employed in the Joe Sentell Insurance Agency.

During holidays and vacations they will be singing together at the Northside Baptist Church and on the weekly Sunday night broadcast which the church has on KSNY.

The trio had its beginning in June, 1960, in Fort Worth, when they sang together for the first time as a group at the National Meeting of the American Baptist Assn. in the Will Rogers auditorium. Since that time they have appeared on the program of every national meeting of the association except for the 1961 meeting at Miami, Fla., when Miss Gladson and Miss Dean appeared a number of times on the program as a duet. In addition, they have appeared for a number of years on the program at the National Youth encampment of the American Baptist Assn., and at various local, district, and state youth meetings. They were winners of the State Youth Fellowship Talent Contest at Henderson in July, 1960. This is their first recording.

The record album is a standard 33-1-3 long playing album, with twelve songs. It is for sale and is available from the Northside Baptist Church office, from the girls themselves, or from Mrs. Gladson or Mrs. Sumruld.

The trio were guests of the "Mr. Sunshine Hour" on KHEM in Big Spring on Sept. 9, and, since the recording has been released, have been featured on this same program from time to time. The record will also be featured on the local radio station.

Shop Now For Your Living Yule Tree, Say Experts

The earliest Christmas shoppers should be those who want to establish their own living Christmas tree this season. Another time to shop for the tree — and plant it — is now.

Usually, the desire to embellish the outdoor decor with a living, lighted tree during the Christmas festivities flourishes and wanes in mid - December unless promptly acted upon.

Spruces, firs and many of the pines possess the spire - like form generally preferred. But such trees become too large for many home lots. For rather small properties such landscape assets as the upright taxus, some of the junipers, as well as certain kinds of sheared hemlock or American holly will work out well.

Snaring the right greenery is only part of the job. The rest is in the planting — which means digging a very special kind of hole. This hole should be deep enough to accommodate the burlap - wrapped earth ball and wide enough to give a one - foot leeway around the ball. This will allow for adequate root development.

Heavy, clay or compacted subsoil will require even more precise ground work. Pits must be dug deeper and bottoms filled with layers of combined top - soil and peat moss. While filling the hole, let water trickle from the hose. Purpose is to wash in the soil and eliminate air pockets that may dry out the roots. Good drainage is the key to success and pits may require the use of drain tile.

To give the outdoors a happy glow ahead, plant your living Christmas tree now.

Sour Cream Egg Biscuits

2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
½ cup sour cream
2 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted)

Sift together the flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Beat eggs slightly; add sour cream and beat to combine; add to sifted ingredients with butter. Stir with a fork until blended; dough will be rather stiff. Drop heaping tablespoons of the dough, about 2 inches apart, onto a buttered cookie sheet; or drop dough into very small muffin pans (each well of 2-tablespoon capacity). Bake in a very hot (450 degrees) oven about 12 minutes, until lightly browned. Serve hot. Makes 24.

Panned Cabbage

1 medium - sized green cabbage (about 1½ pounds)
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon salt
White pepper to taste

Shred cabbage with a sharp knife, removing core, into about ¼ inch strands. There should be about 8 cups. Melt butter in a 12-inch skillet; add cabbage, turn over with long - handled fork to coat with butter. Add water and salt; cover. Cook as fast as possible without scorching, mixing a few times, for about 5 minutes. Add pepper to taste. Makes 6 servings.

Marshall Formby Guest Speaker For B&PW Club And Their Guests

Over 100 persons gathered at the Martha Ann Woman's Club Tuesday evening as members and guests of the Business and Professional Women's Club to hear Mr. Marshall Formby, Plainview lawyer, guest speaker.

The American Business Women were special guests.

Mr. Formby spoke on his "Trip to Russia", and said:

"From the period of 1760 to 1810, America produced many great leaders. We only had about one million persons in America, yet we produced such great leaders as Washington, Madison, Adams, Jefferson, Hamilton and Franklin.

"Those were challenging times, hard times, times when men had to fight for their lives and their very existence. Those early Americans had a great spirit; they had a strong will for freedom; they loved God and brought christianity to America; they believed in something. Those challenging times produced great men ... few great leaders come out of soft, easy times.

"Now the world is full of threats by Khrushchjev, threatening the world with big bombs, promising his own people a Utopia, but 20 years from now, his world will still be confused.

"We in America need to rededicate ourselves. We like our way of life, we must keep it. Communism is talked everywhere, we can't get away from it ... it is on the minds of people everywhere. For the first time in history, perhaps, free world is challenged by a strong foe, the greatest challenge ever faced by world in conflict, between freedom versus slavery.

"We live in a troubled world such as Cuban crisis, Berlin crisis, hatred everywhere, suspicion everywhere, 45 million homeless, and one - third of the world hungry.

"Russia has good scientists, but they have come from satellite countries, Poland, Czechslovakia and Eastern Germany. Russia has concentrated on the space phase, has directed all her efforts to space progress, put first sputnik in space — first man in space — first man around world, 17 times. They are ahead of us because it means so much to them. Nothing else at home matters.

"Russia is a brutal enemy and communism is a Godless enemy. One million lives don't mean a thing to communists. They want man's mind, man's body and man's soul. Communism is a form of religion ... but it offers no solace to man in time of trouble or need.

"Greece had great spirit, wherever the Greek stood, there stood the Greek nation, making Greece a great nation, although it was a small country with no great resources, but they had spirit. They brought democracy to the world, but only to a select few, not to everyone. Greece did much with very little, but other nations have done little with much. But, Greece people became greedy, lazy, morals were low, stopped taking risks liked security too much, like comfort too much and lost their freedom to an inferior people. It takes risks to maintain a democracy.

"Isreal a small country contributed more to freedom and democracy than any other country or people; they believed in God and featured love. From Isreal came Christ and grace.

"Democracy is a gift of the Christian faith. Greece had her form of democracy, but only for one class of her people. But, christianity has brought freedom and democracy to all people — all classes.

"The United States of America was founded by Christians... we have always had faith in God, have practiced and preached democracy, have kept the torch of freedom burning in our country, have helped keep it burning all over the world, when and where we could. We've always had the right spirit in America.

"Our forefathers, who founded this country, came in the right spirit ... They came seeking freedom, a way to worship God in their own beliefs. They did not come seeking gold and riches as those who settled in Mexico and most of Central and South America did. The Pioneers came westward, on into Texas and fought and overcame all the hardships — they came in the right spirit. We have led the poor, taken care of the sick and homeless and clothed those in need. We Americans have done these things at home and also in most every foreign country in the world. We are a kind - hearted people. We have had a forgiving spirit.

"No wonder then, that we in the U.S. are the leaders of the free world. That God has placed his hand on our shoulders to lead the free world. Russia and China are ruthless. Communists in China sell their own grain when millions of their people are starving. Ten million Chinese starving to death means nothing to China's communistic leaders, if it will help the cause of communism. With communists the individual is nothing, the state is everything.

"In the past, 28 great nations have fallen ... usually fall from within. Nations fall when people want too much security, get soft and lazy and mofals get low. If you just want security, the jail gives you security ... slow change toward socialism is dangerous.

"Communism is against human nature and worships no God, does not believe there is one ... does not satisfy man's soul ... his longings ... his cravings ... no peace ... no love ... does not solve man's problems. God is still on His throne. Tides of time working against communism.

"Our challenge is: To keep the proper spirit among our people? to tell the story of democracy; to keep our nation strong, both militarily and spiritually; keep the free enterprise system strong.

"Nearly 200 years ago, 56 men sat down to sign the Declaration of Independence. Those were trouble times and dark days. It took courage to sign a document which indicted a man's mother country, to sign a document that tore yourself away from your old country ... But these men did, for they loved freedom and they were getting tired of government by remote control.

"We need to re - dedicate ourselves today and to tell ourselves and our neighbors what those 56 said to each other. 'And for this the support of this Constitution, with a firm reliance on Divine providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor.' We can do no less today."

WILD-FUN FOR TAME MEN ... The Beowulf jacket, left, is made of long-hair Russian wolf while the jacket at right is a Green shag scatter rug turned poncho jacket.

Men Snug As Bugs In Rugs

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The male animal in your life will be fur bearing, if the prize - winning styles of a group of menswear designers meet with any success this winter.

Imagine Russian wolf in men's clothing, shag rugs on men's backs and mink on he - men's chests. Men's fashions haven't been so wild, woolly and hairy since the Roaring Twenties when the raccoon coat was a campus vogue.

In an annual menswear competition recently Bill Miller Esq. copped a special design award with a boat - necked, waist - length poncho jacket that laces shut. Unlaced, the jacket can be used as a scatter rug.

Another hairy chested version by the same designer is hip length, made from wolf pelts.

Beaver fur makes a wide collar and also lines a double breasted full length country great coat. Another bold plaid coat sports a black mink collar and hides a muskrat lining.

Not quite so long - haired camel's hair was designer Ernest Engel's choice for a parka to be worn over brown stretch ski pants. The front panel is orange and purple.

A three-piece ensemble, a skirt of beige silk worn with a collarless darker cardigan and a reversible ascot of both colors, won an award for Alfredo of New York.

Other innovations in usually conservative haber - dashery entered in the yearly design competition include sport shirts with mock lapels stitched on with braid.

Belts worn by Greek shepherds inspired ones made of woven fabric. Silk and velvet in shades of red were combined in 50 - 50 proportions to make handsome ties.

The styles will be produced by various national menswear manufacturing companies this year.

War Novel Grips With Illogical Logic

CATCH - 22. By Joseph Heller. It would have been quite a trick if Lewis Carroll had written a novel, illustrated by Hieronymous Bosch, about an American flying squadron in Italy.

It would have been quite a trick, and Heller has all but accomplished it now.

Carroll, it will be remembered, specialized in the illogical logic which confounded the rational adult world with an Alice whose adventures are unforgettable. And Bosch, of course, painted pictures of a particular kind of Hades inhabited by grotesques.

Heller's world too is a world of wartime grotesques, illuminated by an eerie and ghostly logic carried to its ultimate extreme.

His story is mainly about a bombardier named Yossarian, who had to continue flying missions because his commanding officer, a military idiot named Col. Cathcart, kept raising the number of missions required for ending a tour of combat duty.

Death and human greed are the essential elements of this surrealist nightmare, and although the farce is carried to the breaking point, anyone who has experienced the horrors of military logic will recognize in this story the essential madness of war.

Just to give you an idea, there is a mess officer who organized a black market operation which involved so many combat planes that he finally was entering into contracts with the enemy. And a surgeon, greedy for extra flight pay, who was listed crookedly as being aboard an airplane which figured in a bizarre death ride. In the incontrovertible military logic he was dead, so he was cut off the payroll and his wife collected his insurance. The Army, as thousands of veterans will tell you bitterly, was like that.

Yossarian is memorable as a hero because he managed to retain some slender rapport with human decency. This novel about him is different from practically everything. If you have no imagination you won't understand it. If you have, you will remember its strange pages for a long time. This is something special.

CAKE REVIVAL—A Canadian recipe of the Twenties produces this delightful and delicate cake with rich raisin filling.

Old - Time Cake Still Pleases

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

TUCKED AWAY in many memories — with nostalgic delight — are certain foods first tasted in childhood.

Southern recollections of Ambrosia introduced us to that simple but delectable combination of sliced oranges sprinkled with sugar and heaped with snowy mounds of freshly grated coconut.

It was Irma Rombauer in her great "Joy of Cooking," telling in her inimitable way about stirring the Tutti Frutti of her youth that sent us searching out a cylinder-shaped crock in which to make this divine concoction of fresh fruit and brandy.

When apple connoisseurs talk of russets, some of us pine. Was any apple ever sweeter, crisper, juicier and filled with more flavor than that small rough - skinned fruit?

The partisans of old - fashioned cakes can count us one of their number. Recently we dug out a recipe for the Marguerite Cake that when we were young, we swooned over because its filling was such a rich combination of penuche flavor and plump raisins. When recently we maide the cake and offered it to family and friends, again it was acclaimed.

This cake recipe came to my mother in the twenties from a little Canadian cookbook published in Elm Creek, Manitoba. We've never found its particular combination of ingredients duplicated in any other collection of recipes.

MARGUERITE CAKE

1¾ cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup firmly - packed light brown sugar
3 tablespoons dark molasses
¾ cup buttermilk
3 large egg whites (reserve yolks for filling)

Raisin Filling
Confectioners' sugar

Grease and line with waxed paper two 8 - inch round layer-cake pans; grease paper. Sift together the flour and soda. Cream butter and sugar; beat in molasses. Beat in just until smooth each time the flour (in 4 additions) alternately with buttermilk. Beat whites to stiff peaks; fold in. Turn into prepared pans. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven for 25 to 30 minutes, until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pans on wire racks for 10 minutes; turn out on racks; remove paper; turn layers right side up. When cold, put layers together with Raisin Filling. Sift confectioners' sugar over the top. Note: No salt is included in this recipe.

RAISIN FILLING

3 egg yolks (reserved from cake)
¼ cup milk
¼ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 cup raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained)
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 tablespoon vanilla

In a heavy saucepan beat egg yolks slightly; add milk; beat to combine. Add sugar, raisins and butter. Cook and stir constantly over medium - low heat until visibly thickened; mixture should look like thin white sauce. Stir in vanilla. Allow to stand until cold; the custard part of the filling should now be thick enough to mound slightly when dropped from a spoon as it is spread over cake.

Next time you make a three-egg - white meringue to top a pie you might like to flavor it with a teaspoon of lemon juice. Use six tablespoons of sugar, as usual, for the three egg whites.

Hallucinations Are Induced In Oklahoma U. Experiments

Science: dreams

EDITOR'S NOTE — What brings on hallucinations? Science doesn't know the complete answer, but in a remarkably simple experiment at the University of Oklahoma Medical Center researchers have found a quick way to produce hallucinations. They hope analysis of voluntary flights of fancy will shed some light on the dark recesses of the human mind.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Human volunteers are making their world disappear.

They float for hours in complete silence and darkness in a tank of warm water, cut off from almost all normal senses.

Utterly alone, they begin looking deeper into themselves.

Some find the experience upsetting. Others enjoy it.

Two-thirds begin to get hallucinations, seeing things and events which don't exist, within 15 minutes to three hours after they slip into the tank.

They may see a donkey in the dark room, or hear a dog barking, or see street scenes, people, sometimes in three dimensions, sometimes in color.

The hallucinations come in bursts and appear as things happening outside the person.

Logical thinking and concentration usually become difficult. Minds wander, vague memories stir, some persons see more deeply into their own personalities and are not always happy for doing so.

The floating in the dark, silent tank is one technique to explore the workings of the human mind, says Dr. Jay T. Shurley, psychiatrist directing the project at the University of Oklahoma Medical Center.

And it may also yield insights into hallucinations and loss of contact marking mental illness. Or illuminate some hazards facing spacemen isolated on long space journeys.

Similar experiments to cut off almost totally the flow of information by human senses have been conducted in the last eight years elsewhere.

Dr. Shurley's tank tries to take away as much as possible, including the sense of gravity. Volunteers wear fitted buoyant pads to simulate weightlessness. They cannot see or hear anything, or smell anything.

Dr. Shurley was one of his own first volunteers.

"You lose all sense of body boundary," he said. "After a time, you don't know where your skin ends, and the water begins, where the water ends and the rest of the universe begins.

"At first I was anxious and restless. I felt the need for something to happen. I wanted to itch, so I could scratch. I wanted to thrash around. I sought for any signs of residual light or sound.

"I could hear my own pulse and respiration. I could even hear my joints move, and the valves opening and closing in my heart.

"At first, I tried to think of something I had been doing, or was going to do. Then thoughts became more personal, and I began to daydream.

"Any faint stimuli became exaggerated. Touching a toe accidentally to the side of the tank started a train of images. I would begin to build a fantasy on that."

Then, he adds, came hallucinations. Not much at first, but then images in three-D, in color, with people, with motion.

Some people see a scene straight ahead of them, and it fills out as they turn their heads, a panorama as in an ordinary room.

For some of the 50 volunteers the hallucinations were frightening. Others were pleasurable. None could be predicted.

In three to six hours of isolation moods often swing from ebullience to anxiousness, by turns.

Only one person refused to try the experience again. Several have done it repeatedly, making a total of 100 tests to date. Repeating, most begin to enjoy the sensation, and feel refreshed afterward. Smokers generally lose the urge for a cigarette.

With repeated runs, frightening and threatening feelings from the utter solitude tend to disappear. Some men and women sleep briefly and have ordinary dreams.

A microphone hangs over the floater's head, so he can talk and tell what he feels, all recorded in an adjoining laboratory room where the physicians keep watch. The sound of a person's own voice doesn't necessarily destroy or interrupt his hallucination.

When volunteers emerge, Dr. Shurley and associates interview them, expanding the detail. Some remember the facts they had forgotten to report while they were happening.

Ship Channel Turning Point For Houston

By CHARLES GREEN

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — When Houston's city fathers dedicated the town's ship channel nearly 50 years ago, perhaps the most farsighted recognized that the muddy ribbon of water would one day make Houston one of the busiest ports in the United States.

Certainly no one guessed that the deep water channel from the Gulf of Mexico might lead not only to every port in the world, but even to some outside it.

Now the industrial complex which grew up along that 50-mile route to the gulf has been selected as a base for a $60 million space laboratory. The space craft the lab produces to carry man to the moon may start its journey floating down the Houston Ship Channel.

Accessibility to deep water was one of the important factors in the selection of Houston as site for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration lab.

The lab will have responsibility for design and construction of control compartments for future U. S. spacecraft. These control cabins will be welded to powerful booster rockets and fired into space from Cape Canaveral. Some will be too large for movement by road or rail and will go to Canaveral by barge. Thus a convenient route to open water was a prime requirement for the lab site. The boosters will be manufactured at New Orleans.

The multimillion-dollar space center—Rep. Albert Thomas of Houston calls the $60-million construction bill "only the down payment on what will eventually be here"—meshes neatly with Houston's modernday diversification. The city's early history was dominated by oil, but chemicals, heavy industry, light manufacturing, agriculture, insurance and dozens of other enterprises all helped nearly to double Houston's population and area between 1950 and 1960. The city is growing at a rate exceeded only by San Diego and Los Angeles.

Houston boasts of culture as well as money. The city has some big names in music and the arts. Sir John Barbirolli, former conductor of the Halle Orchestra in Manchester, England, is the new director of the Houston Symphony Orchestra. His predecessor was Leopold Stokowski. James J. Sweeny formerly was director of New York's Guggenheim Museum. Now he runs the Museum of Fine Arts here.

However deep its culture Houston still acts like a boom-town. Construction goes on continually. Ten buildings worth an estimated $100 million are going up right now.

NASA's lab will eventually add about 2,700 people to the nearly one million living in Houston and will pay them about $17 million a year. Many of the employes will be highly skilled technical workers or scientists.

Japanese Freighter Sinks In High Seas

KOBE, Japan (AP) — The 6,888-ton Japanese freighter Fukuyama Maru sank today in heavy seas churned up by Typhoon Billie 220 miles northeast of Saipan.

The American freighter Dolly Turman out of New Orleans took off her crew of 47 and transferred them to a U.S. destroyer which headed for Guam.

Weather In State Good For Harvest

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Favorable harvest weather continued the past week and other field operations were resumed in areas where moisture had caused delays.

John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said weather conditions enabled farmers to move well ahead of the harvest pace at this time last year.

Range and livestock conditions were generally good, but some sections need rain for ranges, wheat, other grains, legumes and pas. Planting of these crops has been delayed by a lack of moisture in some areas.

Surface moisture is short in the Panhandle and wheat needs rain. The grain sorghum harvest remains slow because of the high moisture content of the grain. Cattle and range conditions were generally good.

Sorghum and cotton harvests in the high producing South Plains area (Lubbock) picked up steam. From 75 to 85 per cent of the sorghum is in and 5 to 20 per cent of the cotton baled. Heavy use of defoliants is continuing. Yields and grades were good. Ranges are dry but grass is plentiful and livestock are in good condition. Some wheat was being irrigated.

Moisture is adequate in 17 counties for grains and short in five rolling Plains (Vernon) counties. About 85 per cent of the wheat was planted and the cotton harvest was 25 to 50 per cent complete. The pecan harvest has started in a few counties and the cutting of alfalfa started in Wilbarger County. Cattle were being moved to feed lots for grain grazing in a few counties.

In North Central Texas, planting of winter wheat and oats is complete. Harvesting of the irrigated fields of cotton remains to be harvested. Pastures and ranges provided good grazing. Oats season. Livestock are in good condition.

Moisture is beginning to get short in Northeast Texas. Cotton, peanuts, sorghum and corn harvests are nearing completion and all cover crop planting is continuing. Early planted small grains are up to good stand.

Full steam ahead describes the cotton and sorghum harvests in far West Texas. Livestock were in good condition but ranges west of the Pecos were dry. East of the river, ranges were on the average very good.

Moisture is adequate and the cotton harvest is in full swing with yields good in West Central Texas. Grain, pastures and livestock were in good condition but screwworms were still bad. Pecan yields are spotted because of insect and wind damage. Deer and turkey crops are good.

Moisture is adequate in Central Texas and the cotton harvest is nearing completion. Peanut prospects are good as the harvest quickens. Small grains made good progress, with some light grazing reported. The pecan crop is spotted. Range and livestock conditions are good. Screwworms are a problem in some counties.

Moisture is short in most East Texas cow pastures are average and livestock conditions are average to excellent. Screwworms are bad in some counties. Some range cattle are getting feed. Cotton yields have been low and the planting of winter pastures is continuing.

Good weather has permitted real crop harvest progress in the upper Gulf Coastal area. Some pastures are overstocked due to a concentration of cattle for holding purposes. Farmers are busy rending harvests, shredding stalks, bedding land and planting oats. The pecan quality is off and yields down due to hurricane damage. Vegetables, oats and pastures need rain but livestock and pastures generally are good except in the low coastal areas.

Rain Thursday in South Central Texas helped oat, flax and legume planting and revived native grasses. The late peanut harvest has poor to good yields. The pecan harvest is showing the heavy hurricane damage. Livestock marketing increased, and screwworms are still troublesome.

Ranges are supplying fair grazing but rains are badly needed before frost in deep South Texas. Cattle were beginning to lose weight. Vegetables were making good progress. The citrus harvest is continuing with some damage from stinkbugs.

Building At Record High

AUSTIN (AP)—Hurricane Carla didn't keep Texas builders from reeling a nine-month record in total values of building permits, a business survey for the Saturday estimated value of building authorized in Texas for the January-September 1961 period was $1,047,825,000, 5.5 per cent gain over 1960, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said.

The bureau said the "brightest segment in the third quarter has been the apparent recovery of the homebuilding industry." Residential, one-family dwelling permits in July-September rose 23 per cent over the third quarter in 1960.

Nonresidential construction slipped slightly in the past three months, especially in September, which went by without a single permit issued which exceeded $2 million.

THE HEART OF SNYDER—This is an aerial view of Snyder's main business district, with the courthouse square in the center. The city includes much more territory, of course, with a total of 6.89 square miles within its corporate boundaries. The population, according to the 1960 Federal Census, is 13,850, a gain from 12,010 in 1950. The city and surrounding area have developed steadily, and the growth in all areas of activity is reflected in this pictorial review. (Daily News Aerial Photo from plane flown by J. M. Kayser)

GROWTH IN CULTURE—Growth in cultural activities and facilities has marched abreast of business and population expansion in Snyder. Civic and service organizations represent a vital segment on the community scene. Above is a photograph of the stage in the main meeting room and auditorium at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. The woman's club building is a center of cultural and social activities in the community.

Furnishing An Important Ingredient For Progress

Midwest Electric Co-Op Office In Roby

The Story Of

MIDWEST ELECTRIC CO-OP

IS THE STORY OF

People And Progress

A nine county area is served by the Midwest Electric Co-Operative and over this area approximately 3,000 farm homes are serviced by the vast network of lines that carry electricity to this modern, progressive area.

Midwest Electric Co-Operative met the challenge of the oil boom and made power available to the complete oil operation in the areas of which it serves.

Established in 1938, The Midwest Electric Co-Operative has grown from a membership of 50 to 60 homes to 4400 members at the present time. There are over 2000 miles of line to furnish service to this vast area and 27 employees are actively employed to keep the service and equipment in tip top shape at all times.

SERVING THE AGRICULTURE INDUSTRY!

Another accomodation Paymaster offers to the farmers of this area is a burr storage whereby the farmer may have his burrs back to put back into the soil. These burrs increase cotton yield by adding organic matter to the soil, by making the soil loose to absorb and store more water and also making it easier to plow. Picture at left shows burrs being loaded.

The Fair Store, located on the Northeast corner of the square, has a complete selection of ready-to-wear, work clothes, sportswear, piece goods, shoes, etc., and caters to the entire family.

Founded In 1924 By R. N. Kayal

R. N. Kayal, owner of the store, has been in the dry goods business since 1924, having started in Lamesa, his headquarters. The unit in Snyder, managed by Morris Sanders, is one of ten Fair Department Store in the West Texas area, most of them in oil field communities.

Will Mold A "GOLDEN FUTURE"

For SNYDER

Scurry County is a good place to live. Our community has numerous advantages which all of us should recognize and appreciate. We should show our appreciation by formulating and executing a plan for progress capitalizing on our advantages and thereby making Scurry County an even better place in which to live.

Those of us who have been a part of Scurry County's past know that progress comes from hard work and determination. These same two ingredients are the essential elements in a greater future. If we let disappointment slow us down we will never become the living, prosperous, progressive community we can be.

We of the Diamond M Industries will continue to work for a better future for our home county and we urge each citizen of Scurry County to do likewise by exerting his best energies and talents in a determined effort to reach our common goal. Scurry County must make its own future — what will it be? It can be golden.

IRRIGATION—Although most of Scurry County farms depend upon the elements for water, irrigation wells have increased production of some. The cotton field above, which is being given a "drink" is an example of such projects.

HIGHWAY HUB — Major highways serving Snyder are represented on these markers at a city intersection where the top vehicular arteries converge. U. S. 84 carries north-south traffic, while U. S. 180 is the famous Carlsbad Caverns Route which is highly publicized as an east-west thoroughfare. State Highway 208 is another north-south artery, while State Highway 350 connects Snyder with the remainder of the big Permian Basin area to the Southwest.
