Doctor recruitment tops hospital meeting

The Board of Directors of the Mitchell County Hospital District met in called session at 6 p.m. on Thursday, January 10. The main focus of the meeting was physician recruitment for Mitchell County.

Dan Griffiths and Jim Bullard, executives with Methodist Hospital, Lubbock, spoke at the meeting and discussed the recruitment efforts which have been made thus far.

Recruitment efforts have, until this point, been done with contingency search firms. Contingency search firms charge fees only if they are successful in their attempts to match communities with physicians who subsequently move to those communities.

Griffiths and Bullard informed the board at Thursday night's meeting that Methodist Hospital, Lubbock, is prepared to shoulder the costs of physician recruitment for Mitchell County.

They said that there were plans to hire the firm of Jackson and Coker, a retained search firm, which has offices in Denver and Atlanta.

Retained search firms, which are paid advance retainers by communities specifically for the purpose of locating physicians for those communities, are perceived by some to be more aggressive in their efforts.

Mitchell County Hospital is affiliated with Methodist Hospital, Lubbock, through the latter's Regional Services Division.

Playhouse banquet set

The General Membership Playhouse Awards Banquet will be held on Friday, January 18, at 7 p.m. in the C.C. Thompson Room of City National Bank.

Those attending are asked to bring a Mexican covered dish, as the banquet will have a fiesta theme.

Officers will be elected at the banquet, and there will be awards and entertainment.

The public is invited to attend.

Students adopt servicemen

A group of students from Westbrook High School, as a gesture of patriotic support, have adopted two servicemen in Saudi Arabia.

The students have written personal letters, taken pictures, baked cookies, made candy, and collected local newspapers to be sent overseas.

They plan to send similar packages on a regular basis to Scott Jacob, an ex-student from Westbrook, and Tom Henry, a relative of a Westbrook faculty member.

The main goal in adopting these servicemen is to convey the message that Americans appreciate the sacrifice and commitment of these young men in service to our country.

Students participating in this project are members of the Westbrook Drama Club and of the Future Homemakers of America.

This building is headquarters for some of the busiest, hardest-working people in Mitchell County.

Highway "knights" keep 240 miles of road clear

The Mitchell County branch of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation is responsible for maintaining a safe, economical means of transportation for people who travel the highways of Mitchell County.

That means keeping the roads in the best condition possible twenty-four hours a day, and that involves a lot more than you might think.

The job is vital to the economy of Mitchell County, too, considering the fact that there are no waterways, minimal railroad service, and no regularly scheduled commercial airline flights.

According to Maintenance Supervisor Gaylord Price, the 17 state employees who comprise the Mitchell County department are responsible for 240 miles of road, including interstates, U.S. Highways, and FM roads which run through Mitchell County.

Inside Colorado City the department is responsible for Hickory Street, 2nd Street, and Highway 163, and inside Westbrook and Loraine they are responsible for Loops 316 and 377, also known as old Highway 80.

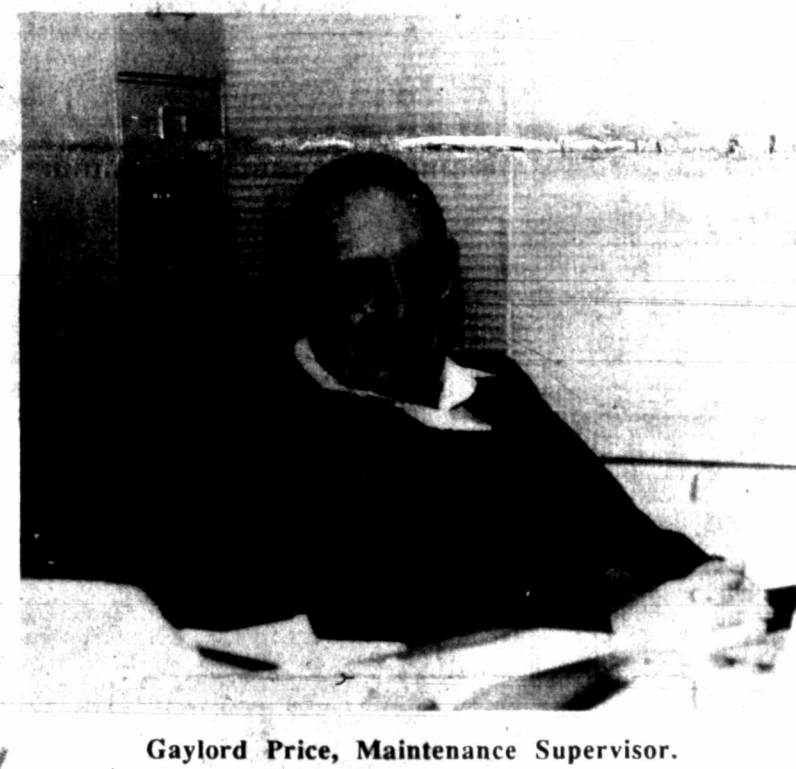

When roads need clearing, however, the department is careful to treat, in addition to roads within the described area of responsibility, those roads in front of all fire stations and ambulance stations, as well as in front of the Loraine Senior Citizen Center.

The department has regular business hours - 7:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, but Price says that each and every member is actually always on 24-hour call.

In inclement weather, of course, when everyone else can go home and shut the door, the highway department workers are out with their gravel and salt spreaders, or their snow removers, making the roads safe.

In fact, according to Price, it is not unusual for some of the workers to work 72 hour shifts to keep roads clear during severe winter weather, sometimes for as long as two weeks at a time, during which time the offices also remain open 24 hours a day.

Consultant to complete survey for committee

The Mitchell County Economic Development Committee met on Friday morning, January 11, at MacMichael's Restaurant.

Discussion concerned, among other topics, the work being done at this time by Gary Smith of Abilene, who is a consultant for the committee.

Smith is gathering data from Mitchell County school districts, city and county officials, officials of outlying communities, and other organizations, to be placed in a facts file for presentation to Private Database Systems, Inc.

Private Database Systems, Inc., is a firm which matches businesses seeking new locations, with communities which meet the criteria those businesses have stipulated as desirable.

Recently the firm was instrumental in matching a General Mills food processing firm with the city of Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Smith's facts file, members learned, should be ready by the beginning of February, 1991.

At the next meeting of the committee, Donna Starr, a county probation officer, will be asked to speak concerning recent developments in the possibility of locating a drug and alcohol rehabilitation center in Mitchell County.

The Mitchell County Economic Development Committee meets regularly at 7 a.m. on the first and third Fridays of every month. The recent meeting was rescheduled

Computer code secured

A potentially expensive service call, from the computer consultant firm which handles the software for the City's computer system, was averted on Thursday night in an emergency meeting of the City Council.

Interim City Manager Gledna Garrett and her office staff had encountered a problem gaining access to a necessary file in the software, and called the meeting to advise the Council of the problem, as well as of the expense involved in rectifying it, should the consultant firm be required to travel to Colorado City.

Council members and advisors were able to obtain certain entry codes which had been utilized in the past, prior to a recent update in the system.

Those entry codes were determined to be sufficient to allow at least limited access to the file, and may well have solved the problem completely, according to Ms. Garrett.

HIGHWAY

The department keeps approximately 500 pounds of salt on hand at all times, and uses nearly 4,000 pounds per year, along with nearly 400 cubic yards of gravel, in the salt and gravel mixture which is used to clear the roads.

Also in inclement weather, and even in beautiful weather, the workers are frequently called to scenes of accidents. While the road is blocked by the accident, they set up the flares, lights, and barricades, and direct traffic.

Spills of such things as produce, oil, and chemicals must be cleaned up by the party responsible, unless that party has left the scene and cannot be identified. In that case the department is responsible for the cleanup.

The department barricades the spill area to prevent public contact with possibly dangerous solutions, and notifies the Texas Water Commission to test the spilled substance.

It is the responsibility of the TWC, then, to identify the spilled substance and to advise the highway department of the best way to clean it.

Even when the party responsible for the spill is available to perform the cleaning operations, the highway department still must remain at the site, maintaining barricades, until the area is determined to be safe for traffic.

Later there may be guardrails to replace, broken glass to remove, even damage to the actual roadway to repair. The highway department is responsible for those things, too.

Regular, daily work for the department includes such things as ridding the roadways of litter, dead animals, and of hazardous or unsightly vegetation, such as fallen trees.

The department also plants trees and seeds along the sides of the roads, and is responsible for all the mowing which has to be done there as well.

"Adopt-a-highway programs by private citizens help us tremendously in this area, and in litter control," Price said. "And they are greatly appreciated."

Department members paint all of those stripes you see on the roads; ~~they care for, and are responsible for signs along the~~ highways, too. In fact, the signs outside city limits which tell the populations of those cities are updated, at the request of the cities, by the highway department.

When citizens want to call to check on hazardous road conditions around the state, the highway department is usually the place they call.

A computer printout is fed into each highway department branch office at least twice every day, more frequently if updates are required. These advise not only of road conditions and road and bridge closures, but also of weather forecasts, accidents, permits and restrictions for such things as movement of wide loads. In short, anything a traveller might need to know, the highway department can tell him.

The information comes in from each of the 25 districts into which the state of Texas is divided. Mitchell County belongs to District 8, which covers 13 counties and has its headquarters in Abilene.

The staff of the Mitchell County branch consists of Price; Office Manager Lena L. Marcom; Assistant Maintenance Supervisor Steven J. Graham; and the following roadway maintenance technicians: Ronnie C. Bell; Sherry H. Chaney; Steven W. Edwards; Benigno N. Godina; William E. Haltom; George M. Lee Jr.; James B. Magill Jr.; Emilio Martinez; Arturo R. Melendez; Raymond C. Molina; Jimmy G. Redwine; Humberto C. Ruiz; Alfonso B. Vasquez; and Michael A. Webb.

Each of the staff members wears more than one hat, Price said. For example, Ms. Marcom is responsible for utilities inspection, he explained. All of the utility lines which are installed over or under any areas of department responsibility must be installed to department specifications.

The roadway maintenance technicians are all trained to operate heavy equipment, as well as to make the necessary repairs and maintenance on that equipment.

The department maintains paving equipment, graders, air hammers, gravel and salt spreaders, street sweepers, snow removers, loaders, bulldozers, cherry pickers, dump trucks, mower tractors, welders, and more.

The technicians operate all of those items, and they are skilled in bookkeeping, inventory, computer use, and all clerical duties.

The primary source of income for the State Highway Department is the state tax we pay at the gas pump, along with some federal gasoline tax and some motor vehicle tax funds.

Now that we know how well that money is being spent, at least in the case of these special knights of the highways, we shouldn't mind paying it at all anymore.

Petty, Rhodes united January 5th

Mrs. Michael Andrew Rhodes, nee Brenna Petty

Brenna Fay Petty of Waco and Michael Andrew Rhodes of College Station were married on Saturday, January 5, 1991, at 2 p.m. at Crestview Church of Christ in Waco. Bert Mercer of South Waco Church of Christ officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Don and Orine Fay Feaster Petty of Waco, both natives of Colorado City.

The groom is the son of Andy and Margaret Rhodes of Irving.

The church was decorated with white votive candelabra and grapeleaf ivy. A large wreath with pearls and ribbons in green and white surrounded a white satin heart. White satin bows with pearls marked the families' pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, carried a bouquet of cascading white roses and pearls. She wore a v-necked, princess-style gown of white satin with delicate lace bodice and puffed sleeves. The gown featured a large satin bow in the back, and a long, lace-trimmed train.

Sharon Lynn Westlake, the bride's former roommate at Texas A&M University, was maid of honor. She, and the bridesmaids, wore Lancaster green, princess style, tea-length dresses with v-neck and puffed sleeves. Each carried a single peach magnolia blossom with peach ribbons and pearls.

Flower girl Lacy Sanders, age 5, was dressed in a Lancaster green dress similar to those worn by the bridesmaids and maid of honor. She wore white lace hose, and scattered green and peach potpourri in the aisle.

Derek Kirchner was best man at the wedding, and Reggie Rueffer and David Sawyer were groomsmen, as were Brent Petty and Blake Petty, brothers of the bride.

Ushers were Russell Hill, cousin of the bride, and Ben Toole, cousin of the groom.

Andy Justice, a friend of the couple, sang the John Denver song, "For You," while the couple lit the unity candle.

Other songs were sung by an acappella choir under the direction of R.C. Swaim.

The wedding party exited the chapel while the chorus sang "The Lord Bless You and Keep You."

The reception following the service was held in the church fellowship area. The bride's table featured a white satin cloth with green napkins and crystal appointments. There were mints and punch. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with tiny peach flowers.

The groom's table featured a green cloth with peach napkins and brass appointments. There were mixed nuts, coffee, and almond tea.

The groom's cake was a double-ring poppy seed cake with orange glaze.

Members of the house party included Holly Hill, Wendy Minnick, and Randi Brown, cousins of the bride; and Jill Buckner, Stephanie Talley, and Shannon Gamble, friends of the couple.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Orin Feaster of Colorado City; Mr. and Mrs. Royce Feaster and Mr. and Mrs. Scott Feaster all of Luikin; Mrs. Myrna Hill and Russell and Holly, of Franklin; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Brown and Randy, of Bowie; and Mrs. Wendy Minnick of Bedford.

Leaving for the honeymoon trip to Cancun, Mexico, the bride wore a black dress with white polka-dot accents.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Orin (Fanny Fay) Feaster of Colorado City, and of Mr. and Mrs. L.E. (Lowell and Jerry) Petty, formerly of Colorado City.

Letters to the editor

Dear Mr. Plagens:

I read in a recent article in the Record that the Colorado City consulting engineer has discovered ground and water contamination at the old Col Tex refinery site, the former highway maintenance barn and the water well at City Hall.

The lead levels are so high at one site that the engineer has recommended incineration of the soils as a hazardous waste. While it is no consolation to the City, these events are being repeated all over the United States. This generation is being asked to remediate the mistakes of the previous generation.

One of the purposes of our facility at Iatan Flats is to help in these clean-up efforts. The problem is the result of uncontrolled and unregulated waste disposal contaminating the soil and water in our country. The solution is the safe disposal of both present and past wastes in an engineered facility operating under the current stringent USEPA and TWC regulations. The problem is waste; the solution is environmentally safe waste disposal.

This situation will present a test of character for those who have opposed the Iatan Flats project on environmental grounds. This is pollution, very real, very serious and it is here now. Will these opponents now seize the high ground and lend their support to an expeditious site clean-up even if it means increases in taxes? Will petitions be circulated and rallies held in support of cleaning up the toxic waste?

We have proposed to the Texas

Legislature's Joint Task Force on Waste Management Policy that the Texas Water Commission agree that any fees they collect from the operation of our facility first be used to remediate any environmental problems in Mitchell County, before going into the TWC general funds. Mitchell County residents should take the opportunity to voice their support for this proposal.

Very truly yours,
James T. Cronin

Dear Editor:

Congratulations Excell Sophomores! Your decision to investigate the hazardous waste controversy in Mitchell County was a good one because we are talking about your future.

I hope the experience will continue to motivate you to question and investigate when you become our policy makers.

Sincerely,
Peggy Maddox

Dear Editor:

I would like to congratulate Christy Easley, Jaime Rivera, and Shawne Ortiz on their Environmental Project reaching the regional semi-finals of the Seiko Youth Challenge. They have represented Colorado High School and Colorado City very positively.

Their hard work and determination to collect facts and objective information has shown that the youth of our county do care about the problems of our county because it will be their future most affected. Their conclusion that a recycling center would be the best solution to the city's landfill problem shows that we might need to change our habits and set a positive example to other areas facing the same problems.

It is the responsibility of the adult citizens to take the initiative and work toward a better environment for our children.

Again - Congratulations and Best of - Luck in your future endeavors.

Sincerely,
Maureen Morris

Letter to the Editor:

The recent elected new county judge took office January 1.

What happened to the secretary who previously worked in the county judge office?

Was the job advertised so that all who are eligible could apply?

Does the secretary in this office work only for the county judge or does she also work for the commissioners' court?

Were the commissioners consulted about firing the secretary and hiring a new one?

Thank you for a few answers.
Yours Truly,
J. W. Kemp

Cancer detection unit scheduled for Jan. 28

The Mobile Breast Cancer Detection Unit of Odessa, Texas, which services Colorado City, Texas today received the certification of the American College of Radiology Mammography Accreditation Program.

Mammography is an x-ray examination of the breast, which the American Cancer Society and other medical experts see as the best means for the early detection of breast cancer.

The program is voluntary and is designed to insure that women receive optimum quality mammographic examinations. The process is done through a peer review evaluation of the facility's staff qualifications, equipment, quality control and quality assurance programs, image quality, and breast dose. The accreditation must be renewed every three years.

Breast cancer will strike one in 10 American women. The American Cancer Society predicts that about 41,000 women will die of breast cancer this year.

The American Cancer Society recommends that women do monthly breast self-exams and have regular physical breast exams by a doctor. It further recommends mammography on the following schedule:

A baseline mammogram (for reference) between age 35 and 39.

A mammogram every one or two years between age 40 and 49.

An annual mammogram from age 50.

The Breast Cancer Detection Unit will be in Colorado City, Texas on Monday, January 28th. You may call 728-3431, Ext. 222, for an appointment.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheets were here this past week to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Petty and Jenny.

IS DECENCY DEAD?

I find the Record's handling of Brenda Hammond's filing for unemployment to be loathesome, contemptible, despicable, etc.

Why not headline everyone who applies for unemployment?

Why did the City fight her unemployment benefits and deny that she was harrassed?

Why does the Record and the City Council try to ruin Brenda Hammond's reputation?

Is it because she knows where too many "bodies" are buried?

Thank You,
Tommy Aycock

PS: Wasn't the 1990 actions of the Commissioners Court enough to last many "life times"?

POUND PUPPY - Pancho, a five-month-old male chihuahua mix, is available for adoption from the city pound, located at Mitchell County Veterinary Clinic, Highway 208 South. For more information about him or other pets available for adoption, call 728-8055.

Tejas Cattlewomen meet

The Tejas Cattlewomen, local chapter of Texas Cattlewomen, met Tuesday, January 8, at the home of Lajuana Solomon.

Thank-you letters were received for the Christmas gifts which had been sent by the members; committee chairmen for 1991 projects were reviewed; and Lucille Sterling discussed plans for the upcoming Ag-Day, scheduled for February 21 in Snyder.

Sue Guelker, Beef Cook-Off chairman, encouraged anyone interested to attend the Cook-Off in Kerrville, at the Y.O. Hilton, April 25 through 27.

Maureen Morris read a letter she had received from Rick Perry, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, expressing his concerns about hazardous waste incinerators and how incinerating toxic waste will affect Texas agriculture.

Elizabeth Horwood, president of Texas Cattlewomen, gave a presentation on the activities that the state organization has planned for this year, and also discussed materials which are available from the Texas Beef Industry Council for local chapters to use in promoting beef.

Lajuana Solomon prepared the 1990 winning Texas Beef Cook-Off recipe, Chunky Mexican Beef Soup, for lunch. She served it with a fresh tossed salad, tortillas, and cornbread with a chesecake sampler for dessert.

Tejas Cattlewomen would like to invite anyone interested in that organization to call Maureen Morris, at 728-5425, for more information.

Here is a copy of the recipe for the main course of the Tejas Cattlewomen's meeting:

Chunky Mexican Beef Soup

2 pounds of chuck roast trimmed and cut in 1-inch chunks;
6 tablespoons of olive oil;

Wolves open district

The Colorado City Wolves opened up District 7-AAA basketball play in Reagan County on Tuesday, January 8. Although competing well, the Wolves dropped their first district game while the Lady Wolves have suffered two losses.

The Varsity Wolves began play with the cold hand as the Pack could only muster 17 first half points in the 58-55 loss.

Only trailing by nine at the midway mark, the Wolves put together tremendous third and fourth quarter scoring efforts scoring 38 points to the Owls' 32.

Of course grieved at his team's loss, Coach Chuck Claxton was well pleased with the second half, but commented on the overall performance of the game, "We must shoot better from the field and from the free throw line."

Those scoring for the Wolves were Kevin Green 13, Robbie Smith 12, Mark Monroe 8, George Ramsey 7, Scott Galey 5, Jeremy Strain 4, Brandon Raschke and Mark Smith 3.

The Lady Wolves, who also were defeated by the Owls, played pretty well against an extremely stiff competitor.

During the second quarter, the Lady Wolves almost did not miss a shot scoring 28 point, but due to a strong first period showing by Reagan County, the Pack was still down by 7 going into the half, 37-30.

Having the hot hand in the second period, the Lady Wolves were looking to have another, but instead, the young ladies shot blanks and fell behind 58-40 at the end of three. By games end, the Lady Owls had a commanding lead to win by a score of 73-55.

Just in case you don't recognize the above, it is usually intended to indicate words which would otherwise be unprintable.

It designates a sentiment expressed frequently, if silently, by Yours Truly as I attempt to make the sometimes painful transition from the spoken word to the printed word.

In radio, where I worked for the past several years, if an announcer makes a mistake, he, or she, simply says, "Excuse me, I meant to say..." or words to that effect, and the damage, if there might have been any, is averted or repaired on the spot.

In the newspaper business, if an editor makes a mistake, it is there for everyone to see, forever, and ever. And since the editor cannot be seated at thousands of kitchen tables at the moment the mistake is read to say, "Oh, excuse me, what I meant to say..." or words to that effect, she must simply suffer that cold knife of despair and self loathing which goes with knowing that a seeming eternity of time will pass before she can repair the damage.

And in her mind, the phrase "@#%&*!" repeats over, and over, or, if she is alone, it is given voice. And her cat dashes behind the drapes.

In the few weeks I have been working here at the Record I have already had several occasions to make use of that phrase.

There was the time I did a story on the great cotton season Mitchell County had just had due to the rain, and I misspelled the word "bale" each and every time I used it.

There was the time I referred to Colleen Palmer as "Ms. Hammond," and the time I quoted Duff Chesney as having said he returned to Colorado City in 1986, when he had actually told me it was 1988.

And then, of course, there was the case of the ribbon cutting picture. I had been forewarned about an earlier occasion on which ground breaking ceremonies had been recorded for posterity with a camera which had no film. "Don't let anything like that happen to you," I had been told. "You will never live it down."

Now, as everyone knows, there are subterranean gremlins who live beneath newspaper offices. Those creatures, on nights when they are bored and have nothing to do, frequently come up into the warmer, brighter offices above their domains and create random havoc.

They misspell names and transpose words in stories. They rip taped boundary lines from maps which are ready to go to the printer. They underexpose negatives which are waiting, in cameras, to be developed.

Of course, they got to my ribbon-cutting negative.

After trying frantically myself to print the picture, I finally sent it to a professional photographic company whose specialty is fixing hopeless negatives.

The company's representative called me in a couple of days and said something about not having had such a good laugh in years. He thanked me for sending the negative, laughed a little more, and hung up.

I didn't have much hope after that telephone conversation that his firm could salvage the ribbon-cutting picture. When it comes back, though, if it still isn't good enough to print, I will take it back into the darkroom and keep working on it myself. One of these days, you will see that picture in the Record.

I guess the point I wish to make is that I will make a mistake now and then, no matter how hard I try not to do so, but that I always will do everything in my power to correct it, even if it takes a while.

So far, all of you have been patient and understanding about any mistakes I may have made, and I appreciate that more than I can say.

If you spot an error in the Record, I hope you will bring it to my attention, and if it requires a clarification, I will print a clarification.

From now on, however, the headline you will see when I have to print that clarification is this: @#%&*!

Somehow it seems more appropriate.
