Cox and Cook Join Forces.
S. E. J. Cox, for several years a spectacular figure in the oil business at Houston, apparently has joined forces with Dr. Frederick A. Cook of North pole fame in the oil business here.

Cox formerly was head of the General Oil Co., the Cox Realization Co., and the S. E. J. Cox Co. of Houston, said to have had a combined capitalization of $40,000,000. The courts removed him from connection with these concerns.

Recently Cox was prosecuted in federal court at Houston on charges of using the mails to defraud, but he was acquitted.

In a seven page letter to 16,000 stockholders of the three concerns he previously headed, he tells of his intention to "come back."

He declares blackmailers caused his financial disaster at Houston. Cox tells that he was placed in a reform school in his youth, and that his enemies at Houston, learning of this, used it as a club over him. The business of his companies suffered as a result, he says.

He declares he intends to repay all who invested in his concerns. He adds that the Petroleum Producers' Assn., of which Dr. Cook is president, will "make an attractive offer" to stockholders in the Cox companies in a short time.

Cox has been busy in the Cook offices in the F. & M. building for some time.

The Petroleum Producers Assn. is a merger of scores of syndicates of various kinds.

Real Estate Deals.
The T. H. Johnson Land Company report the following real estate deals the past week:

W. J. Butts purchased of J. S. McDowell of Lamesa a one hundred and sixty acre farm, located fourteen miles northeast of Big Spring. This was an all cash consideration.

J. M. Barker of Comanche this week purchased 320 acres, 18 miles northwest of Big Spring from J. C. Cox. This is an especially fine agricultural tract and Mr. Barker will move his family here and make a crop on this farm in 1923.

Mrs. Wiggins of Alabama bought a house and two lots in the Tension Addition from T. J. Butts; paying all cash for same. Mrs. Wiggins has recently moved here from Alabama to make this her permanent home.

T. N. Rutherford purchased a house and lot on Jack street this week from J. S. Hurd.

No Absentee Voting.
Absentee voting as provided under the Texas law applies to primaries and not to general elections and therefore no provision will be made for absentees to cast a ballot in the November 7th election.

Had the law applied to general elections the ballots would have been printed immediately regardless of the fact that final decision has not been reached in court as to whether Earle B. Mayfield's name shall not appear as the Democratic nominee.

The printing of the ballots will be delayed as long as possible in order that the court's decision may be complied with in case the court renders such decision by November 1st.

Art Exhibit For Our Schools.
The Elson Educational Art Exhibition has been on display at the Presbyterian Church this week; beginning Wednesday and continuing on thru Saturday. Large crowds have been viewing the beautiful pictures; reproductions of masterpieces of architecture, sculpture and painting.

A small admission is charged and the proceeds will be used to purchase pictures for our schools.

KENT-TAMSIIT

WEDDING

Agricultural Exhibit From West Texas Wins 990 Points Out of 1000 at Cotton Palace at Waco

On Tuesday evening at 6:30 at the home of the bride the marriage of Miss Lillian Alice Tamsitt and Mr. Aubrey Lynn Kent took place. The bride having been born and reared in Big Spring, her wedding was of unusual interest to a large circle of friends. The numerous pre-nuptial courtesies extended testified to her popularity among the young and old. The guests were met and welcomed at the door by Mesdames Barrick and Brooks. They were invited into the south room to get a glimpse of the numerous beautiful gifts and to register in the Bride's Book, presided over by Misses Agnes Currie and Helen Carr. Thence across the hall to await the bridal ceremony. As the hour approached Mrs. Wm. Robinson of Toyah, aunt of the bride, rendered most beautifully a piano number "The Two Larks" by Mischelzky. At its close Miss Mabel Ricker's beautiful voice was heard in the wedding song, "Because," accompanied by Mrs. Robinson. Then as Mr. Dawes, who had furnished the wedding music for the parents of the bride, played Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bridal procession entered. First came the Rev. Mr. Etison of the Episcopal Church, then the groom with the best man, Mr. Guy Tamsitt, next the maid of honor, Miss Ruth Cardwell, cousin of the bride. She was gown in a muffin-colored satin canteen crepe, with large plumed hat and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. The dainty little flower girl, Miss Fanny Sue Read, gown in pink georgette and carrying a basket of roses, scattered their petals in the path of the bride, who entered on the arm of her father. Her gown was of heavy white satin, with pearl and crystal beading, long court train, and tulle veil falling the length of her train, and arranged cap fashion over the hair and caught with orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a string of pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of roses, carnations and tuba roses. The ceremony took place just in front of the large window in the living room, where an improvised altar of white with green vines draping it, had been arranged. A large wedding bell of white with green decoration hung just above the bride couple. The solemn ring service was impressively said by the Rev. Mr. Etison. After the couple were pronounced man and wife the ringing notes of the wedding march pealed forth again as a recessional. After congratulations the wedding cake was brought in. This was a most artistic creation and was made by Mrs. Homer Markham and was a gift to the bride from her. It was cut amid much merriment and the usual symbols fell to the lucky ones. Misses Ruth Johnson and Helen Hayden served punch from a vine embowered bowl. The bride's favors to the young ladies assisting her were small sterling silver pencils, and to Miss Ricker and Mrs. Robinson, enameled crescent brooches. The bridegroom was at one time a Big Spring boy and the marriage is the culmination of a childhood romance. He was a member of the Marine Service during the war, serving on the battleship Texas, and winning medals of merit and other marks of distinction. He is now connected with one of the big oil companies in Louisiana, where the couple will make their home near Shreveport.

The bride's going-away gown was of midnight blue porette twill, with turquoise blue crepe de chine blouse and small velvet hat of midnight blue and silver, with gloves and shoes to match.

The parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Kent of Homer, La., and his brother, Mr. Leo Kent, of Denton, were present.

A rather unique feature of this wedding was the presence of four grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Can Powell and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Tamsitt. The couple were escorted to the train by a host of friends and left amid showers of good wishes as thick as the showers of rice that fell.

Peddy to Speak Here Nov. 4th.
George E. B. Peddy, candidate for the United States Senate, will speak in Big Spring in the interest of his candidacy at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, November 4th.

Everyone in the county is extended a cordial invitation to hear his address on this occasion.

J. A. Rix of Lubbock is expected to arrive today for a few days' visit.

Homesteaders Due For West Texas

West Texas is due to come into her own, and that very shortly. The fine record this section is making the present year is attracting attention from all sections of the state, and there is going to be a rush of homesteaders to secure land while it can be purchased at a reasonable price and on easy terms.

Many farmers in East and Central Texas are becoming tired of raising cotton to feed the boll weevils and have their eyes turned westward where the boll weevil does not thrive. Do you wonder that they are headed for West Texas where they can farm large acreages with less trouble and with a better prospect of making a profit year after year; where land can be purchased at what appears to those who have been used to $100 to $200 an acre land as a most ridiculously low price and then, too, they and their families can hope to enjoy good health.

They are not far wrong when they consider land in West Texas being offered at ridiculously low prices since numerous instances can be cited where farmers in Howard County have sold for their land with one season's crop. This is not an uncommon occurrence during favorable years—yet there are those who have done this the past year, which has been anything but an extra favorable year since we had no general rain since June.

Another factor that is playing a part in the bringing of a big development era to West Texas is the subdividing of large ranches into 160-acre farms. These are being sold to practical farmers on easy terms, and speculators are being discouraged. Ranchmen held on to their vast ranches until now, but they at last realize that the country is too valuable as an agricultural section to be further denied recognition.

Never in the history of this section were so many inquiries being received relative to farming land in our county and we can expect many prospective farmers paying Howard County a visit in the coming months.

Big Get-together Meeting

The regular monthly get-together meeting of the union folks of Howard County was held at the W. O. W. Hall Wednesday night and was a rousing good meeting from every standpoint. A number of ladies were present and took part in the program. Jno. Clarke presided as chairman.

Some fine and encouraging talks were made by J. M. Cramer and J. A. Coffman of Coahoma, Mr. Hill of Leon, M. F. Barnett of Fort Worth, general chairman of the B. of L. F. & E., E. G. Towler and others.

The members of the railway shop crafts out on strike were pledged the loyal support of the Farm Labor Union and other union men and encouraging reports on the outlook for winning the strike were received. The men on strike were urged to keep up the heroic fight, as victory is in sight; as it will only require a south or two more for the die-hard railroads to be up against it so hard they will be forced to surrender.

It was unanimously decided to organize a Trades Council at the next regular get-together meeting. This meeting will be held Wednesday night, November 22nd and every union organization is urged to have delegates to take part in the formation of the Trades Council.

Football Game This Afternoon

The Big Spring High School football team will meet the Lamesa team at the ball park in this city at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The B. S. H. S. played the first game of the season with the Lamesa team, the score being 6 to 0. The Lamesa folks believe their team has improved considerably since that time and are coming to Big Spring with the expectation of winning a victory.

The Big Spring team has lost but 2 games and are anxious to make up for these defeats by winning every game that is yet to be played.

Big Spring folks should turn out in force this afternoon and encourage the home team. The interest manifested by homefolks gives the players the needed "pep" to win games.

Come and bring a friend or two.

Buyers Dairy Cattle and Equipment

Denton recently purchased of Forrest Mott, fifteen head of dairy cows, and all his dairy equipment, including cream separators, clarifier, etc., and will engage in the dairy business in Big Spring. Mr. Denton has leased the Allison place in the Jones Valley addition and will bring his other dairy cattle from his farm east of town to add to the herd purchased from Mr. Mott.

WEST TEXAS

WINS AGAIN

Wedding at Home of Bride's Parents October 24th Attended by Many Friends

West Texas won easily hands-down in the intersectional agricultural exhibit contest at the Texas Cotton Palace at Waco, according to a telegram received Thursday from B. M. Whiteaker, exhibit manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, who arranged the All-West Texas Exhibit. Out of a possible score of 1000 the West Texas exhibit received recognition on 990 points, making it shy only 10 points of being perfect. Mr. Whiteaker advised the general offices here that his exhibit carried the full score card requirements.

In addition to the sweepstakes the West Texas exhibit also received 33 blue and 33 red ribbons on individual products. A total of $1100 in cash was the award on this magnificent display, said by agricultural connoisseurs to have been the most complete and elaborate ever assembled in the Southwest. Profuse praise for the design and perfect arrangement of the articles of the exhibit to bring out beauty, symmetry and attractiveness of the general exhibit came from every corner. B. M. Whiteaker, exhibit manager, for the second time within a year proved nicely his competency to arrange agricultural exhibits to the very best advantage in drawing prizes. At the Fort Worth exposition in the Spring his exhibit drew first prize. The exhibit was said to have been the best ever arranged in Texas. But judging from reports received here regarding the Waco exhibit the Fort Worth exposition exhibit lacked much in being its equal.

This is the third consecutive year that the All-West Texas agricultural exhibit has taken the big money at the Texas Cotton Palace. The exhibit was a culling of the best from county exhibits of West Texas at the Dallas Fair. It will be remembered that nine West Texas counties were leaders this year. The other sections of the state had not even a look in either at Dallas or Waco this year, despite the fact that this summer was one of the driest West Texas has had for many years, with the possible exception of 1918.

Boys and Sells 640 Acres

M. Mihalopoulos purchased a six hundred and forty acre tract of land, located sixteen miles northwest of Big Spring about three weeks ago and sold this entire tract this week to I. A. Goodman and S. M. Willey of this county.

This land is good agricultural land and has one set of improvements thereon. The new owners expect to place two hundred acres in cultivation next year, and with a favorable season; and cotton selling at present prices, it is possible for them to pay for the entire section of land from one year's crop.

Bonds-Dozier

At the Methodist parsonage in this city at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, October 23rd, Rev. Ben Hardy performed the ceremony which united in marriage Newell Bonds of Plainview and Miss Eva May Dozier of Garden City.

Mr. and Mrs. Bonds will make their home near Lockney.

We join many friends in extending to these worthy young people, best wishes for a full measure of happiness and prosperity.

To Build Fine Country Home

John A. Davis is getting ready for the erection of a modern home on his farm eight miles north of Big Spring. This week he started the excavation for the foundation and is having gravel hauled and it will be but a short time until the residence will be under construction. The residence will contain five rooms and a sleeping porch.

Reduction in Price of Fords

According to a statement just issued by Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor Co., Detroit, a general reduction of $50.00 a car has been made in the prices of Ford Model T cars and the Ford 1 ton truck, effective October 17th.

"The revision in prices," said Mr. Ford, "is the result of the increased volume of business which our company has enjoyed during the present year, and also to the fact that we now own and operate many of our own sources of raw material, which enables us to continue increasing the quality of our product and at the same time keep the price so low that Ford cars are in reach of everybody."

"Our production for 1922 is already in excess of a million, which has been an important factor in bringing down costs. Our present daily output is averaging better than 5,000 cars and trucks, which means a complete Ford car or truck every 5 1-2 seconds of each eight hour working day. It is in anticipation of this continued demand that price adjustments are again being made in order to keep in effect the policy of selling Ford products at the lowest price consistent with quality."

"Quality, as usual," said Mr. Ford, "will continue to be a prime consideration in the building of Ford cars. As our business has increased we have constantly increased our equipment and manufacturing facilities, so that this price reduction merely reflects the progressive methods which come as a result of increased volume."

"This reduction, which is the sixth since March, 1920, brings the price of the Ford touring car from $575, the price in effect early in 1920, to the present extremely low level of $298, which is nearly 50 per cent less. Corresponding reductions have been made on all other types."

The new prices by types follows: Touring, $298, Roadster $269, Chassis $235, Coupe $530, Sedan $535, Truck $380.

Honors for Graduates of B. S. H. S.

At a meeting of the Junior class of the Johns Hopkins University, at Homewood, October 12, James I. Bonner, formerly of Big Spring, Texas, High School, was elected president of the class by an overwhelming majority. H. Tex Barton, also a member of the B. S. H. S., was chosen to represent the class as sergeant-at-arms.

Hailing from the University of Texas only one year ago, Bonner has made wonderful progress in undergraduate activities as well as scholastically at the institution. He has achieved the honor of being a half-back on the "All Maryland" football eleven, and being chosen as a delegate to the Hopkins Athletic Association. This year he is playing a brilliant game of football at the position of quarterback.

The two Texans who are making worthy strides at the Johns Hopkins University allot a great deal of the success that they have gained in College to the efforts of their former high school; citing in particular one former superintendent, M. H. Brasher. Special dispatch from member of staff of the Baltimore American, Baltimore, Md.

Big Spring Needs Many Things

Big Spring needs so many things that we must select the most needed and advance along the line until we complete our budget completing the most essential needs as we go forward.

Among these might be cited, a sewer system, paved streets and more sidewalks, a bonded warehouse for cotton and other agricultural products, a large auditorium for all kinds of community gatherings, a Federal building, swimming pool, band, etc.

If some of the many oil tests now being drilled should strike the big oil pool which geologists believe to be somewhere in this section the securing of most of the things needed could be accomplished readily, but in the meantime we should map out a plan and work to it just as though we had no expectation of being put on the map by a big oil development.

Meat and Vegetable Combinations Canned by Club Girls

In order to use materials which grow in their own vicinity, club women and girls in the South have been encouraged to develop unusual packs of meat and vegetable or fish and vegetable combinations, in which they can incorporate home grown garden products according to standard recipes available from the United States Department of Agriculture. Particular attention has been given to the development of dishes characteristic of certain districts or States and popular locally, which would at the same time permit the use of surplus meats and vegetables. By using recipes calling for veal or in which veal could take the place of other meats, surplus dairy calves, too expensive to feed, could be profitably disposed of. The same has been the case with cull chickens and surplus garden vegetables. Some of the canned "one piece meals" taught to the club girls by extension agents are "Dixie Burgoo," originating in Kentucky; "Pine Bark Fish Stew," from South Carolina; "Brunswick Stew" coming from Virginia; chicken, crab and shrimp "gumbos" of Louisiana, also "shrimp jambalaya," and several combinations of vegetables with chicken, used in Oklahoma. They are put up wherever the necessary ingredients can be obtained locally. In many cases the club girls must maintain gardens to grow the vegetables they expect to can.

The home demonstration club of Pinellas County, Fla. recently reported that in one day's "canning bee" the club members had prepared 12 different fish products, not one of which competed with the ordinary cannery output. A South Carolina woman reported that during 9 months following the first meat canning demonstration in her district she had put up 1,000 cans of meat and vegetable combinations, and had orders for 1,000 more.

Railroad Men Fine, But Need Curb, Says Hooper

Organized railway workers are "fine bodies of Americans," but they need curbing, according to Ben Hooper, chairman of the Railroad Labor Board. It should take the form of "teeth" in the transportation act to enable the board to enforce its decisions, he argues. "I believe," said the chairman in an interview, "that power should be granted to enforce the decisions of the board. There are thoughtless and inconsiderate men in the fold of organized labor who will declare that in saying this I am an enemy of labor, that I want to deprive it of its rights. This is not a correct view."

Car Supply "Awful" Admits Ry. Head

Hope of shippers for improved service from the Louisville & Nashville Railroad was knocked galley west by F. G. Evans, assistant superintendent, when he informed them that the road is flat on its back as a result of the shopmen's strike.

Evans has sent a circular letter to all agents and local freight conductors saying:

"It is hardly necessary to tell you just what shape we are in on all classes of freight equipment and that every sort of pressure is being brought to bear by shippers to increase their car supply.

"While we dislike very much to admit it, you will simply have to tell shippers that our car supply is in awful shape, and that we are requesting shippers to order only cars which can be loaded in one day.

"If all shippers will do this we will be in better position to distribute the equipment. We seem to be in worse shape for flat cars and mill gondolas than any other equipment, and such cars should not be ordered when commodity can be loaded in box cars."

The Louisville & Nashville is one of the "die hard" roads resisting a settlement of the shopmen's strike. Its failure to deliver coal was given by Henry Ford as the principal reason for the recent shut down of his manufacturing plants.

There is no getting around the fact that the Farmers Union is due much credit for forcing the price of cotton seed to forty dollars per ton. We must not forget that the better the price our farmers secure for the products they raise the better it is for every citizen in our country. Good prices for farm products and good wages insure prosperity for all.

Methodist Notes

The Circle of the W. M. Auxiliary held an unusually attractive affair at the "Y" Monday afternoon in honor of our well beloved Supt. of Juniors, Mrs. J. R. Hughes. It is with the deepest regret we see one of our staunchest leaders take her leave, even for a year, and we do not for one moment let any thought obtrude itself that it might be longer than that. A splendid program was carried out, the finest number being a solo by Mrs. Yates, after which Mrs. Hughes was the recipient of a "Silver Shower" the lining of the cloud of sorrow her absence will cause. Mrs. Shive and her group of assistants served a delicious course of refreshments, and, after many wishes of happiness and prosperity to Mrs. Hughes, the guests departed.

Next Monday at three the Bible drill at the church. Read the first four minor prophets and be prepared. Mrs. Morris is back and will have a report for our Mission Study.

The special for last Sunday was postponed to this. At 10:30 the assembly hour of the Sunday school, we will have the Parables of Luke 15. Miss Ricker singing "The Prodigal Son."

Monday Bro. Hardy leaves for Annual Conference at Quannah. Every one who has not done so is urged to send in their conference money or centenary. Give Bro. Hardy a big crowd for his last Sunday of the year.

U. S. Highway Program

We are engaged now in a great scheme of highway construction. The federal-aid highway system alone contemplates work for the next 15 or 20 years. When completed, that system will measure 180,000 miles of improved highways, stretching into every section of the United States.

The States themselves have great road building programs. They probably will construct another 180,000 miles during the same period.

The combined cost of the two systems will approach $8,000,000,000.—George C. Diehl.

What Nationality is This Woman?

Edward Everett Hale's famous story, "The Man Without a Country," is being played in real life by many "Women without a country."

Legislators interested in immigration and naturalization laws are puzzled as to the best methods to unravel a snarl produced by a conflict between United States and British naturalization laws. In Great Britain an English woman who marries an American loses her British nationality.

According to a new United States law, an American woman who marries a foreigner retains her citizenship in this country. The law further provides that foreign women who marry American citizens, do not by that act become citizens of this country.

The results has been confusion; a British woman marrying an American, by the laws of her country, is no longer British, and by the law of this country is not American. Much embarrassment is being caused by questions of passports, since each office, American and British, sends the British wife of an American citizen to the other's office for papers.

Why They Dodge Jury Service

"I don't want to serve on any jury!" is a common statement is accepted as a part of our national life. No one wants to serve on a jury save the devil who, as a "professional juryman," is satisfied with the two or three dollars a day that "vocation" pays him.

They say the public part of the judiciary system, and the public should be as interested in the jury as is the judge and the law. But did anyone ever hear of a judge to reform the outworn, out-of-date, cumbersome, and illogical procedure which distinguishes the court from all other institutions in the country which makes a religion of efficiency?

Men, business men, don't want to serve on a jury because they feel they waste their time. They know the work they will there do in a week could be done in a week if the jury was properly organized; they want the leisurely procedure of a jury, which opens at ten, lunches at two, and closes at four in the afternoon, with their own busy contrast the laborious, red-taped method of their own court practice with their own methods . . . and beg to be excused.

The jury system is the guarantee of justice in this country; but it works injustice when it destroys time, efficiency because of a hide-bound slavery to ancient legal tradition, which comes from an age when a man was of little worth, and efficiency was not yet coined.

G. O. P. Punishes Free Thinker

Word has gone out to "the boys" that Congressman Oscar E. Keller, Minnesota Republican, who impeached Attorney General Daugherty on the floor of the house last month, must not come back to congress.

Keller's act of defiance to the administration, his own party and Floor Leader Frank W. Mondell has brought down upon him the wrath of Governor Preuss of Minnesota and the entire G. O. P. machine.

Rather than have Keller back in the house in the next session Preuss will support Keller's opponent, Paul S. Doty, a St. Paul Democrat.

Preuss instructed the state organization to "withdraw its support from Keller, remove Keller's picture from all Republican literature, and take an active part in opposing his campaign."

"His disgraceful performance in investigating impeachment proceedings against Attorney General Daugherty, at the instigation of the lawless element which wants to prevent the attorney general of the United States from doing his duty as a public official, is such that I cannot support him," says the governor in a political broadside.

Keller is sitting tight. He has the support of the Farmer-Labor group and believes enough progressive Republicans in his district are with him to put him over.

CROUP HAS NO TERRORS FOR THE HOME EQUIPPED WITH PEN-SILAR CROUP REMEDY.....CUNNINGHAM & PHILIPS.

The value of farm products in Howard County this year will be in the neighborhood of two million dollars, and naturally all lines of business will enjoy a season of prosperity as a result of the prosperity of the agricultural interests.

J. A. Bass of Muskogee, Okla., former secretary of our Y. M. C. A., was greeting old time friends here last Saturday.

Farm Exhibits Prove of Value to W. T.

Skepticism over the benefits that accrue from exhibiting agricultural products from West Texas at fairs in distant states has been struck a death blow, says the publicity department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The products of West Texas are not identical with those of many other sections of the country. Hence when their attributes, uses, and value are enumerated to agape-visitors they immediately want to get in possession of seed and to learn more of the promised land. Dr. O. H. Loyd, in charge of the extensive exhibit which is now making fairs in the Middle West, recently sent to the headquarters office the names of many persons interested in various products grown to profusion and perfection in West Texas. Some of them wanted to purchase seed in large quantities. Thereby seed houses of West Texas were supplied business through this channel. Hundreds of attendants at the West Texas booth affixed their names to a register as interested in West Texas and desiring more information. Many pocketed literature supplied by West Texas towns. Others satisfied themselves from the exhibitor, the location of the country which suited their wishes best and secured from the exhibitor the name of the Chamber of Commerce that will give them the information they seek.

The head offices recently have received letters from several states expressing intention of coming to West Texas this fall or winter and inquiring "the best town or country." True some of those anxious inquiries confess themselves to be poor, but honest and thrifty, desiring to get "another start in life." Farmers seem to be in the ascendancy in inquiries, but capitalists and others frequently write for statistics and detailed information.

The placement of a number of families is now in process of fulfillment.—Texas Commercial News.

Price War to Force Decline on Autos.

Washington — Washington has inside information that before spring automobiles will be so cheap that almost any adult outside of the poor-house can afford the "first cost" of one. The latest surface indication of a "price war" between Henry Ford and his competitors was the $50 reduction on all Ford models the other day.

This brings the five-passenger touring Ford down to $298 f. o. b. Detroit—a record low.

Edsel B. Ford, at Detroit, has given as the "official" reason for the price cut the fact that 1922 production has established a new high mark and that the Ford company now "owns and operates many of our sources of raw material."

But Washington has learned that some of the largest and most powerful financial interests in the country determined some time ago to lend every possible aid and comfort to Ford's competitors in the low-priced car field. These financial interests have never had anything in common with Ford. He has been his own banker, and without the assistance of the New York masters of finance, he has built up a fortune said to be second to none in the world.

Ford's strongest competitor promises to be W. C. Durant, formerly president of General Motors, who is now marketing the "Star" car that has been listed at the same price of Fords.

It is announced unofficially that the "Star" will meet Ford's latest price cut.

Durant is straining every resource at his command to increase production of Star cars to the point where he can be a real factor against Ford's proposed production of 6000 cars and trucks a day after April 1, next.

If Ford representatives here know what they are talking about, his game will be to anticipate, rather than meet, cuts in the price of his rival.

"What will it cost?" asked the sick man, faintly.

Ranger to Have Gin

They'd have laughed three years ago if Ranger was seeking a gin for a new industry. In fact in "them" days Ranger needed no gin, though a year or two previously Ranger had gins. Now Ranger is abandoning oil and going back to primitive day occupation—farming. After the oil boom it finds itself sans gin. The Retail Merchants Association is going to locate one there. Farmers who planted cotton about Ranger this year were in some cases compelled to haul their seed cotton 20 miles to a ginney.—Texas Commercial News.

Rangers Take Full Control of Marshall

The entire town of Marshall was by proclamation of Governor Neff placed under the open port law Monday, with Captain Roy Nichols in command of an adequate force of rangers.

This action was taken by the governor in response to urgent appeals from the citizens of Marshall, who reported the strike situation was acute as a result of the recent kidnapping of a woman and her child while on the street opposite the City Hall of Marshall.

For some time past that part of Marshall covering the properties of the railroad has been under the open port law, with a small force of rangers in charge. Additional rangers are to be sent there for vigorous enforcement of the open port law thruout the town.

Severe Indigestion

"I had very severe attacks of indigestion," writes Mr. M. H. Wade, a farmer, of R. F. D. 1, Weir, Miss. "I would suffer for months at a time. All I dared eat was a little bread and butter... consequently I suffered from weakness. I would try to eat, then the terrible suffering in my stomach! I took medicines, but did not get any better. The druggist recommended and I decided to try it, for, as I say, I had tried others for two or more years without any improvement in my health. I soon found the Black-Draught was acting on my liver and easing the terrible pain.

"In two or three weeks, I found I could go back to eating. I only weighed 123. Now I weigh 147—eat anything I want to, and by taking Black-Draught I do not suffer."

Some Americans Abroad

While it may be true that a prophet is not without honor save in his own country it is also true that many Americans are not without patriotism save when they are out of their own country.

Recently the manager of an important hotel in New York gave us a striking example.

Talking to the Paris hotel men he told them in effect that they should learn more of the gentle art of luring Americans. Their prices were ridiculously low.

If Americans could get the best food and service for a normal price in the great hotels of the French capital how could they be expected to put up with the extortionate prices they have been trained to pay in New York?

The message to France was as plain as the message to Garcia—if you don't rob the American traveler you are missing a bet and crabbing the game.

Perhaps this friendly tip was to repay in part the great debt the New York hotels owe to the French. Were it not for the French language, Heaven knows what would happen to the New York hotel industry.

In one great American hostelry for example a dab of cold left-over mashed potatoes is put into a pat-a-cake form, warmed over in a frying pan, and when browned it becomes "pomme de terre Marquiseite," price 85 cents. The poor fish of a guest pays the piper without a whimper and then tips the waiter fifty cents for serving it with coffee at 35 cents a cup.

Evidently, whether it be through taxation, the juggling of a tariff schedule in the interest of some select set of industrial robbers or what not the American must pay through the nose for whatever he gets.

A Blank Ballot Experiment

Texas faces, it seems probable, an interesting experiment—the selection of a United States senator by means of a blank ballot.

Federal court at New Orleans has refused to hear the suit in behalf of George E. B. Peddy, by which it was sought to force the placing of his name on the ballot.

Forecasters from Corsicana are that the suit to restrain the certification of Earle B. Mayfield's name will be successful—either a verdict against him or a hung jury.

The supreme court has yet to pass on the Mayfield case, and he still has time to win, but the prediction of the average man is that Mayfield's name, like Peddy's, will be left off the Nov. 7th ticket.

How will these two men fare at the hands of voters who must write in the name of their choice instead of merely affixing a mark?

How many votes will Charles A. Culberson get in such a circumstance? How many voters will fail to enter anyone's name?

If the predictions of a blank ballot come true, it's going to be a unique election—and one that will give a new insight into the Texas electorate's mind.—Fort Worth Press.

"Good Ship Earth"

"The Good Ship Earth," to borrow the splendid title of one of Herbert Quick's fine stories, goes steadily on her way feeding a hungry world.

When, for example, Europe has a bad wheat crop, as in this year for example, India and North America come thru with extra good yields, so the average remains just about the same, season after season.

The latest bulletins on the world's food supply indicate a shortage of 245,000,000 bushels in the wheat importing countries and an excess of 213,000,000 bushels in the wheat exporting countries. And the same of rye, potatoes, barley and all lesser bread stuffs. There you have it.

Nature is a wise, as well as bountiful, mother. She seems to withhold from one country only that she may specially bless another. But, of course, her real purpose—which has run thru all the ages—is to make her children mingle with, and know one another, and out of their physical need come to hate each other less.—Fort Worth Press.

Wake up! Get up! And come see what your society is doing. If it is dragging did you ever stop to think that you could help to get it on the move again. In our lesson last Sunday evening we discussed the different ways in which a person might do reverence to his Maker. Several ways were named among them, song, prayer, time, money and effort. If you can't sing you can surely lift your voice to God in prayer. If you can't give of your money, surely your time is not so occupied with other things that you can't give at least one hour once a week to the service of your Lord and Maker.

Some day the Lord will tell you as you have repeatedly said to Him, "Oh, I haven't time for you now, sometime when I have nothing else to do I will do what you want me to. Or if you can't wait get someone else." Have you ever stopped to realize that, no matter how high or how mental the task which you are asked to do, no one else can do the work you are supposed to do. You have a place in this big old world and no one can fill that place but you. I am reminded of Browning's "The Boy and the Angel." The boy was a shoemaker and morning, evening, noon and night he praised God in song. In some way the boy became discontented because he could not praise God from as great a place as the Pope at Rome did. Time passed and he became Pope. There was no one to take his place however, and God missed his daily praise. The Angel Gabriel came to take his place, but even he could not fill it. At last Gabriel went to him and told him that his place was back at the shoemakers bench. The boy had grown somewhat tired of all this splendor and he went back willingly to his old job and praised God every day.

Can't we do as much? Just because your little task seems so small in your sight don't think that God won't miss it if you stop doing it. He knows and cares for us all. We have a place for you in our Endeavor society that no one but you can fill. Won't you come next Sunday and fill that place? The sooner you do, the better you will feel. The idle are never really happy. Come get to work and recover your happiness. We need you. Won't you come? Remember we meet every Sunday evening at 8:15 o'clock at the Christian Church. Visitors are always welcome. An Endeavor.

Why Not Take a Chance

For a community to grow and prosper there must be a cooperative effort made thru some central organization such as a community welfare organization, chamber of commerce or whatever name you may wish to call it. It is only thru such a plan that there can be put forth a united effort to benefit the entire community. There is every reason why all citizens who wish to aid in the development of the Big Spring section should be lined up with the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, since its purpose is to work for the up-building of this section. The annual dues have been made very low, only two dollars per year; and the man who pays this small amount has an equal voice in the organization with those who pay two hundred dollars or more per year. The more live members we have the more can we accomplish, since new members advance new ideas which can be followed out with profit to our entire county.

We would like to see one thousand citizens enrolled as members of our Chamber of Commerce during the coming year. The two dollar membership fee would not bankrupt anyone; and with such a number joining together to boost for the growth and prosperity of our county there is not a doubt but that something worth while could be accomplished.

We can all afford to make the gamble

Davis Favors Abolition of Labor Board

Secretary of Labor Davis, in a speech recently advocated the abolition of the Ry. Labor Board, which he referred to as "a quasi-governmental, partisan institution" and the reorganization to established bureaus of his own department of such of the board's mediation and conciliation functions as might be desirable for the federal government to continue in the transportation field.

The labor secretary said the railroad board had "demonstrated that it is incapable of fulfilling the high hopes of those who proposed and supported it as a means of industrial peace on the railroads."

He added that another system of settling railroad labor disputes should be adopted to leave employers and employees "to thresh out their differences, free from the hope or the fear that meddling quasi-officials would interfere to cast their little influence in the balance in favor of one side or the other."

Davis cited experiences during the rail strike last summer, and cases pending before the board at present as a reason for attacking its functioning. The board, he declared, was "still struggling with issues raised in the shopcrafts strike though more than ninety out of 212 railroads on their own initiative have reached satisfactory agreements with their employees."

Retention of the board as an arbitration agency, Mr. Davis continued, served to increase the number of disputes and generally to delay their settlement.

The substitute plan in which labor department conciliation would be offered where desired in railroad disputes, the secretary said, "would make a step forward to taking the government out of the railroad business" and would assist decentralization of railroad labor troubles, and thus decrease danger of national strikes.

Cooperative Marketing of Livestock

Cooperative marketing of livestock has been tested at the St. Louis stock yards with gratifying results. The co-operators had to go into the Federal courts to establish their rights, but since the courts have defined their place in the markets, they have, according to all reports, made money for themselves.

A move has now been launched by livestock producers to market cooperatively at the Fort Worth stock yards. To do this a Cooperative Sales Agency will be organized under the laws of Texas without capital stock, to be known as the Cattle Raisers' and Producers' Company. This company will be financed by sale of memberships.

The establishment of a Sales Company at the stock yards is the first step in a plan for the general improvement of the livestock industry in the Southwest. No expense will be incurred other than sales or purchase cost and profits will all go to the members doing the shipping. An attempt will be made to prevent glut and to otherwise stabilize the marketing of livestock.

Producers the country over the gradually being drawn into cooperative organizations. It may take a number of years to refine the process of pooling products, but eventually producers will perfect their organizations and become important factors in the conduct of the world's business.—Farm & Ranch.

Breaking Up The Big Ranches

Big land owners of West Texas are beginning to prepare for the inevitable. Many are offering their large tracts for sale to farmers. Thus great ranches in the plains country where the soil is rich are being broken up into farms and producing a hundred fold more value.

Corn, wheat and cotton grow on great expanses where cattle used to roam. The acre that used to produce enough wild grass to provide one-fifth enough food for a steer now grows half a bale of cotton worth $50.

These big ranchmen are showing their sound sense in another way. There seems a general disposition not to sell to speculators who will merely hold the land for an enhancement in value without effort on their part. The requirement is made that a certain amount of improvements must be placed on the land before a deed is given. Encouragement is given to farmers who want homes and who can and will farm.

Passing of the big ranch with all its picturesque features and its flavor of the old west is not an occasion for regret. The owners themselves are not sorry. They are doing very well in selling for farm land what they acquired, perhaps many years ago, as grazing land. It was very cheap land. The changing of the old order brings its compensations.

More farms, more inhabitants to the square mile, more towns, and schools, street cars and interurban lines; great highways teeming with automobiles and motor trucks. That is what West Texas is coming to. It is just beginning to enter upon the really important stages of its development.

Every year the cultivated area reaches out farther. Take cotton, for instance. It moves steadily northward. It has been tried out this year 50 to 75 miles north of any place in West Texas where it has been grown in past years, and has been found successful.

Every year other crops, about a score in all, are being grown on land broken by the plow for the first time. Where there are farms there must be roads and there must be towns. West Texas is on its way to be other Kansas.—El Paso Herald.

Brotherhoods Are Forcing Action On Violations of Laws
For several weeks the representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen have been exerting every possible influence on the national administration to bring about a proper enforcement of the federal safety appliance and locomotive inspection laws.
Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Engineers, and David S. Robertson, president of the Firemen, called the attention of President Harding and the members of the Interstate Commerce Commission to the fact that many roads were using defective equipment, thus jeopardizing the lives of employees and passengers.
The legislative representatives and the attorneys of the two brotherhoods have also devoted a great deal of attention to the matter and have submitted a veritable mountain of evidence to the President, the Interstate Commerce Commission, and the Attorney General.
The Interstate Commerce Commission took definite action on the complaints on October 9, when the following resolution was adopted:
"Voted, That the bureau of inquiry be asked to render all possible assistance to the chief of the bureau of locomotive inspection in order that he may comply with the law with respect to calling to the attention of the proper district attorneys all violations of the law, under their jurisdiction, AND THAT THE COMMISSION ADVISE
THE ATTORNEY GENERAL OF THE
UNITED STATES THAT THE COM-MISSION STANDS READY TO AID HIM, IF HE DESIRES, in the selection of flagrant cases in the matter of prosecution, and that copies of reports by the chief of the bureau to the United States attorneys be furnished the Department of Labor."

If the foregoing resolution is carried out in good faith, and the district attorneys and the Attorney General handle the cases submitted by the commission as vigorously as the circumstances justify, those railroads which have been violating the law will be compelled to desist or suffer serious consequences.

The attorneys for the two brother-hoods were in Washington last week and waited on President Harding and Attorney General Daugherty. While they were not in position to discuss what took place at these conferences, it is understood that both the President and the Attorney General gave assurances that the laws would be enforced.

H. E. Willis, national legislative representative of the B. of L. E. and Arthur J. Lovell, national legislative representative of the B. of L. F. & E., are both in Washington and devoting practically all of their time to the matter of forcing defective equipment out of service. They, too, have received assurances that the national administration will act, and they hope for definite results in the near future.

Honoring Miss Lillian Tamsitt
A charming party complimentary to Miss Lillian Tamsitt was given at the home of Mrs. T. S. Currie on Wednesday afternoon, October 18th. The Senior young ladies class of the Presbyterian S. S. of which Miss Tamsitt is a faithful member, had been invited, and were graciously received by the hostess assisted by Miss Lena Richardson. A dainty Bride-book was in evidence and each guest gladly wrote in it, good wishes for the bride to be.
Shortly after this pleasant task was finished Miss Lillian arrived and the book was presented to her. Then a picturesque Gypsy fortune teller appeared and led the bride-elect to the double doors which had been kept carefully closed up to this time. These were thrown open wide and disclosed a room lighted only by candles—a table surrounded by a huge golden pumpkin, black and gold streamers from the chandelier to each corner, on either side a tall white ghost bearing a lighted candle, grinning pumpkin faces and weird black cats ornamented walls and windows. The gypsy conducted the honoree to the table where her fortune awaited her. It was found that this wonderful pumpkin had a lid and on being opened, gifts lovely and useful were revealed.
Refreshments in keeping with the season were served, individual pumpkin pies with whipped cream, hot chocolate, cookies, and candies. This delightful function came to a close all too soon and good-byes were said with regret.

Peddy Loses in Ballot Case

Texas State officials won the fight in special Federal Court at New Orleans, La., to keep the name of George E. B. Peddy from the November election ballot as the Republican nominee for United States Senator.

The three judges gave out a ruling that it was without jurisdiction and could not grant the mandamus injunction compelling Secretary of the State Staples to publish Peddy's name on the ballot.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

("Recollections of Abraham Lincoln"—Lamon)

"I am not a Know-Nothing, that is certain . . . When the Know-Nothings get in control it will read: 'All men are created equal, except negroes, foreigners, and Catholics.' When it comes to this, I should prefer emigrating to some country where they make no pretense of loving liberty: where despotism can be taken pure, and without the base alloy of hypocrisy."

EX-PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON

(Before the Manhattan Club, N. Y., Nov. 4, 1915.)

"It does not become America that within her borders, where every man is free to follow the dictates of his conscience and worship God as he pleases, men should raise the cry of church against church. To do this is to strike at the very spirit and heart of America."

EX-PRESIDENT THEODORE ROOSEVELT

(New York Herald, Oct. 13, 1915)

"Any political movement directed against any body of our fellow citizens because of their religious creed is a grave offense against American principles and American institutions."

EX-PRESIDENT WILLIAM H. TAFT

(December 20, 1914)

"There is nothing so despicable as a secret society that is based upon religious prejudice and that will attempt in any way to defeat a man because of his religious beliefs. Such a society is like a cockroach—it thrives in the dark. So does those who combine for such an end and work in secret and in the dark."

W. J. BRYAN

(The Commoner, August, 1915)

"Those who have come into intimate acquaintance with representative Catholics did not need to be informed that they do not concede the church authorities the right to direct their course in political matters, but many protestants lacking this knowledge which comes with personal acquaintance, have been misled."

Keep White and Blue in Our Flag

Our country with a generosity unmatched in history opened her doors to all peoples.

It is known to our Department of State that some European countries have used us, as England once used Australia—a dumping ground for misfits. Some of these undesirables responded to the better opportunity and righted themselves. Others have filled our jails and given our courts much work.

The spawn of generations of oppression, they have only suspicion of and destruction for any established order. Their passion is to destroy. They hoist the red flag of anarchy in place of the banner we venerate and that welcomed them. They early seek the franchise. With a gulleless generosity we give it to them.

The Reds and the Radicals and the Bolshevik-minded had one of their typical conventions in Central Europe this summer. But they were not content to stop with Central Europe. There is an organized system of propaganda and promulgation.

An American tourist met one of the American student delegates to this convention on an Austrian railway train. The boy boasted of the quota of REDS he was trying to bring to America in September to enter a great American college. He was one of many chosen to bring the flaming embers of Europe's discontent to inoculate no less than two hundred American colleges.

There are some things more precious than precious stones. As precious a thing as blesses the world today is our American ideal of democracy. Imperfect as is our demonstration of it, the ideal is flawless. It is not for us to leave that ideal ungarded by the roadside for any malignant to malign or injure.

When we find anarchists and experimentalists using our institution of culture to spread their ungrateful doctrine it is time for us to act.

Receptive and trustees, visitors and overseers, professors and college presidents should be mindful of the work that is going on silently and surreptitiously in our college halls to undermine the foundations that uphold our flagstaff.

OCTOBER 27

Section 5, Matthew 5:27-32

TRADITION SUPERSEDED BY CHRIST'S LAW.

27 Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not commit adultery:

28 But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.

29 And if thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

30 And if thy right hand offend thee, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

31 It hath been said, Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him give her a writing of divorcement:

32 But I say unto you, That whosoever shall put away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, causeth her to commit adultery: and whosoever shall marry her that is divorced committeth adultery.

THE HOUSE OF SATISFACTION
BIG SPRING LUBBOCK

In Honor of Miss Lillian Tamsitt

On last Thursday afternoon at four o'clock as the showers came down on mother earth, on the inside of the cozy little home of Mrs. R. C. Strain was a different kind of shower—in honor to Miss Lillian Tamsitt, a bride-elect.

The guests were greeted by Mrs. Strain in her gracious manner, then ushered to the living room where they were each given two sheets of crepe paper and five pins out of which to concoct a bonnet to be worn all evening—there was much merriment in watching the making of the bonnets. Each girl wearing a different colored bonnet, all the colors of the rainbow being used. Miss Lena Richardson won the prize—having made the most becoming bonnet in the shortest time.

The next form of entertaining was a floral contest—it was quite interesting as the girls declared there were many flowers they had never heard of—and again Miss Richardson was the winner.

The guests were then asked to write in a wish book for the bride—and many happy wishes were written for her—as she is very much loved by all who know her.

The bride was then brought forth to see a lovely rainbow represented by seven girls; each girl telling in verse just what part each hue played in the rainbow. The bride was then asked "What do you find at the end of the rainbow?" and immediately she said—a pot of gold, which we asked her to find—when the pot of gold was opened what should she find but lovely bits of china teacups. A little story was told about the giving of china, and its meaning, which bestows much love and faithfulness.

Sandwiches, ten and cake were then served. Those present were Misses Lillian Tamsitt, Andree Walker, Ruth Johnson, Helen Hayden, Helen Carr, Agnes Currie, Ethel Porter, Mesdames J. O. Tamsitt, E. Herring, Floyd Dodson, John Seymour of El Paso, cousin of the bride.

The bride wore a very becoming black lace gown.

Mrs. Strain was assisted by Miss Mabel Ricker in entertaining.

If most of us would swear off kicking and criticizing—until we jumped in and proved that we could accomplish the tasks others are doing—in many instances without thought of reward—we could get much more done and everything would be far more pleasant. Daily Paper at Lubbock

One cannot help but admire the "get-up-and-get" spirit that is evident on every side in Lubbock. The Lubbock folks are boosters for their town and section, first, last and all the time, and for any city to forge ahead it is necessary that a large portion of the citizenship boost instead of knock.

Lubbock has made a great advancement in the past few years and is sure to make a much greater growth within the coming years if her citizenship are willing to put forth the effort.

A daily paper is one of the essentials and in response to a demand on the part of the citizenship the Avalanche Publishing Company have agreed to begin the publication of a live daily paper. The editor of the Avalanche makes the following comment regarding same:

We have met with almost a universal approval of the movement to start a daily paper in Lubbock. A few have knocked the proposition and threw cold water on the blazing fire of enthusiasm that the whole Avalanche force is entering into the work with. We know as well as anybody that there is a great deal of difference in the operation of a weekly, semi-weekly and a daily, but we have allowed for all of this and with the promise of the people of Lubbock behind us, to support the deal we feel confident of success. We know Lubbock people better than anybody else in the newspaper business, and while some of our exchanges are rather inclined to discourage us, we believe we know Lubbock well enough to be safe in launching an enterprise of this kind. We know of no other town in the United States we would undertake it in or trust to put over such a proposition, but we have confidence in Lubbock and the South Plains.

The Forgotten Man

Wealth comes only from production, and all that the wrangling grabbers, loafers and robbers get to deal with comes from somebody's toil and sacrifice. Who, then, is he who provides it all? Go and find him, and you will have once more before you the Forgotten Man. You will find him hard at work because he has a great many to support. Nature has done a great deal for him in giving him a fertile soil and an excellent climate, and he wonders why it is that, after all, his scale of comfort is no moderate. He has to get out of the soil enough to pay all his taxes, and that means the cost of all the jobs and the fund for all the plunder. The Forgotten Man is delving away in patient industry, supporting his family, paying his taxes, casting his vote, supporting the church and school, reading his newspaper and cheering for the politicians of his admiration, but he is the only one for whom there is no provision in the great scramble and the big divide. Such is the Forgotten Man. He works, he votes, generally he prays—but he always pays—yes, above all, he pays.—William G. Sumner.

Labor Has Borne The Blunt

Justice Clarke makes the significant statement that organized labor has had to bear the brunt of the fight in behalf of all productive labor.

The plain facts are that the tenacity of organized labor and its fight for maintaining fair wages the past two years have been the only things to prevent the country going into an era of low prices that would have kept farmers in bondage the rest of their days.

Moneyed interests made the raid, under the term deflation, beginning a little over two years ago, farmers were powerless to help themselves and they bore the brunt of the loss. Controlling credits and compelling selling when there was no market, not only brought the farmer to the verge, if not into actual bankruptcy, but all business related in any way to farming suffered in direct proportion to its relation to agriculture.

Labor alone stood out and refused to be deflated. Result, wages stayed up and the interests of the country saw that deflation must stop and inflation must begin for the business of the country to go ahead. The farmer suffered all along the line and still suffers by reason of low prices for his products, compared to wages for labor and products and transportation the farmer won't buy. Had the ranks of labor like those of agriculture, broken before the onslaught of the financial interests, hopeless, indeed, would have been the position of the farmer.

Good wages means good markets for farm products, good prices mean that the farmer can get out of debt and on his financial feet again. He probably will have to cut production to only what markets will consume at fairly well paying prices.

The past two years for the farmer have been hard enough. But for the fight that labor made, and a successful one where the farmer failed, the farmer would have little hope for the future. Now, however, it is more promising.—Southland Farmer.

Baptist Missionary Society

The Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church held its regular monthly social meeting in the home of Mrs. F. F. Gary Monday October 23rd.

Mrs. McNew was leader for the afternoon. The subject was "W. M. U. Plans for 1922-23."

Scripture lesson was read by Miss Cromwell. Interesting articles on the work were read by Mesdames Menger, Henley and Piner. Mrs. Beckett's talk on "A Few Facts," was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Strother delighted all with a beautiful piano solo.

As a fitting close to the program Bro. Strother gave an instructive talk on "The Difference Between the Tithes and the Thank Offering."

At the close of the program, Mrs. Gary assisted by her two charming daughters served delicious refreshments.

Converting Ranch into Farms

A. M. Frazier of Hillsboro is here this week to assist his father J. T. Frazier close deals for the sale of a portion of his ranch just southwest of this city.

Mr. Frazier placed three sections, 1920 acres, on the market. These were subdivided into 160 acre and 320 acre tracts and practically the entire offering has already been sold.

It is significant that the purchasers were Howard County folks, those who have resided here and made a success of farming. They are aware of the intrinsic worth of good agricultural land and are not afraid to invest their money in same.

No better proof that Howard County land is a good buy is needed, and folks back east need not be afraid to buy our land when homefolks show such faith.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Football

The Jayhawks and a crowd of boosters went to San Angelo last Saturday. The score at the end of the game was 16 to 6 in favor of San Angelo. Of course we were disappointed, but we think that we can play a much better game when San Angelo comes here.

Big Spring will play Lamesa here Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. We urge everyone to attend and help us boost the team. Lamesa basket ball team will play our girls Friday, also.

Pep Squad Notes

The Pep Squad girls will sell tags Saturday. We urge you to buy tags as proceeds go to the Athletic Association. The Pep Squad girls are having a Halloween entertainment at the home of Elzie Jeanette Barnett, Saturday night of this week. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. The admission is 50c per couple and the proceeds go to the athletic association.

Basketball Notes

The girls are practicing every day and they are to have a game Friday afternoon with Lamesa. The reason for the delay in getting games is that all of the other teams are afraid to play our girls because they know of their wonderful playing.

Lyceum

The first number of the Lyceum was rendered at the Methodist Church Saturday October 21st. Miss Randle, the entertainer of the evening, was indeed a wonderful reader. Owing to the weather conditions there was not as large a crowd who attended the Lyceum as was expected.

An Art Exhibit will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at the Presbyterian Church from 2 o'clock until 6 o'clock p. m. The students are especially interested in this exhibit as the proceeds will be used to purchase different pictures for the rooms.

This will be helpful to everyone, so buy your ticket, price 10c and attend the exhibit.

Mr. Flaniken received a card from Woffard Hardy last week in which he stated that he liked Vanderbilt University and that he was still standing back of old B. S. H.'s.

Home Management Notes

The Home Management class, having studied the source of water and how it was supplied to the different towns, decided to investigate the Big Spring water and find out all about it. The class left Thursday afternoon at 3:40 and went in cars to the water works. Mr. Fahrenkamp showed them about the place and explained the machinery. Among the interesting things was a large 35 horsepower, vertical centrifugal Layne and Bowler pump with a capacity of 300 gallons per minute. This puts the water into the reservoir directly from the well. Another interesting thing noted was the digging of another well. This well is to be dug 250 or 300 feet deep. When it reaches 240 feet it will be cased in. They investigated the reservoir and found that if the pumps were stopped the reservoir could hold enough water for the town for ten days.

After making the tour of inspection the class enjoyed a "weenie" roast and returned home having enjoyed the outing very much.

Luncheon for Bridal Party

On Tuesday at one o'clock Miss Mabel Ricker was hostess to a lovely buffet luncheon honoring the Kent-Tam bridal party.

The bride's colors being pink and white, the table was in pink overalls with white flit cloth, cut glass and silver. On one corner of the table was placed a basket of pink and white rose buds and fern. In the center of the table on a reflector stood a miniature bride and groom under an altar; fern and roses were banked around the reflector; two pink tapers burned in silver holders.

Mrs. R. C. Strain, a life long friend of the groom's family, presided at the tea table, the same effect of pink and white was carried out in decorating the tea table.

The bride wore a very lovely tricot dress heavily embroidered—with a big black hat. The menu consisted of, fruit salad, chicken sandwiches, heart sandwiches, potato chips, cream of pineapple ice, small square of food cake, lead in pink, olives, almonds, tea and coffee.

Miss Ricker was assisted by her mother in her most gracious way. After the luncheon the bride and groom presented each member of the bridal party with a lovely little gift. Those present were: Misses Lillian Tamsitt, Ruth Cardwell of Toyah, Fannie Sue Read, Mrs. Grace Cardwell of Toyah, Messrs Aubrey Kent of Alexandria, La., Leo Kent of Denton, Guy Tamsitt, Rev. Eason, W. R. Dawes, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Tamsitt, W. R. Kent of Homer, La., Will Robinson of Toyah.

Silk-Shirt Fiction Given Knockout

The hypothetical silk shirt which employers' propaganda worked overtime as evidence of the extravagance of workers during the war and since has been compelled to fade out of the picture to make room for a flood of statistics compiled by the United States bureau of labor statistics.

A report just published gives a detailed study of the cost of living of 12,094 families of working men during the fall of 1918 and the winter of 1919. These families were taken from all parts of the country, as representatives of prevailing groupings.

From these voluminous inquiries has been taken the cost and quantity of clothing purchased by the average working man's family in one year.

Out of the entire 12,099 families studied only 432, or 3.6 per cent, possessed silk shirts.

The investments of the extravagant few, if such purchases were considered extravagant, increased the average budget for the entire group only 21 cents, the price of a single soda during war times.

The study reveals that the average husband expended $71.38 for clothing during an entire year. That is at the rate of $6 per month, or less than the cost of a silk shirt during the war.

The average wife was compelled to exercise even greater economy. Her annual clothing budget was $63.55, or $5.30 a month.

Household Shower

Mrs. E. L. Barrick and daughter Mrs. Richardson entertained the Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church on Tuesday afternoon, October 17th with a household shower for Miss Lillian Tamsitt.

Upon entering the guests were requested to register their name and gift and the use to make of it. When Miss Tamsitt arrived Mrs. J. I. McDowell appeared bearing a large box covered with pond lilies and poppies, emblems of Lillian's birth month, August, and in her sweet and impressive way gave a beautiful story of Lillian's life to the present day and told her of the love all bore to her, then as evidence presented her with the box which contained many beautiful gifts, emblems of the love and esteem in which she is held.

Next in order was a flower contest which kept all busy for a while. After which delicious refreshments of salad, sandwiches and tea and olives were served. Misses Helen Carr and Agnes Currie assisted the hostesses.

Home and School Club Notes

The Home and School Club met at Central school Friday, October 20, with Mrs. Koberg, the president, presiding in her usual gracious manner.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather, the attendance was fair and a very good meeting held.

Mrs. Yates favored the club with a beautiful solo, which was highly appreciated.

A splendid talk by Mrs. Stripling on the "Law of Cooperation," was the first of a series of talks to be given during the next few months. She explained explicitly how effective were the results of cooperation in every phase of school work. In our churches, in the government of the people, in the "World War," in all civic organizations, in fact, in everything that is worth while, she pointed out how cooperation is the leading factor for success. Her talk was very interesting throughout and we regret that every member could not be present to hear it.

Reports from the various committees were heard. It was moved that the room in each school building, having the most mothers present, receive seventy-five cents in cash.

I am sure that those who had the pleasure of hearing Miss Randle in her delightful entertainment last Saturday evening at the Methodist Church will be very sorry to know that on account of receiving such poor response in disposing of the season tickets, and on account of our town taking so little interest in the Lyceum course, that the club is forced to ask the "Dixie Lyceum Bureau" to release it from the remainder of the contract, which was to have been three additional numbers. It is indeed a reflection on our town in general, when we turn down high-class entertainment and encourage other things that are not worth while.

The committee for the teachers' reception of which Mrs. Lees is chairman, announces that the "Home and School members and faculty" will welcome, not only all patrons of the schools, but everyone who desires to know our teachers better, and who is interested in the welfare of the schools, in a social get-together meeting, to be given at the High school Friday afternoon, November 3rd at four o'clock. Let all friends and patrons be there to help make this a pleasant afternoon. Fathers, you will be expected, too, so arrange to come, if only for a short while.

Mr. Flaniken made a short talk about the Art Exhibit, which is given for the benefit of the schools. The proceeds will be used to purchase pictures for the school rooms. Good pictures have a potent and lasting influence on a school room, and no room should be without them. The club always enjoys a talk from the Superintendent. His topics are always of vital interest, and we are so glad to know that he is ever a booster for the things our children need.

The contest for the largest number of mothers present resulted as follows: Central, Mrs. Agnel's room; South ward, Miss Jordan's room; Grammar grades, Miss Guion Pool's room; High school Seniors.

Our next meeting will be held Nov. 17th. If you are a patron and not a member come join and help the club carry on the good work. Reporter.

Thursday Rook Club

The members of the Rook Club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. H. Baggett and an especially delightful time was enjoyed.

The spacious home was artistically decorated in autumn leaves and persimmons, intermingled with Halloween decorations.

The hostess met the guests, attractively attired in Halloween cap and accessories.

A delicious two course luncheon was served to the twenty seven guests.

In the interesting games Mesdames Gallemore and Menger tied for visitors' high score; Mrs. Menger winning in the cut. Mesdames Ray Woodford and W. R. Purser tied for club high score; Mrs. Woodford winning in the cut.

Out of town guests were, Mrs. Pruitt of Marshall, and Mrs. M. Fry of Missouri, sister of the hostess.

Mayfield Jurors No Nearer Agreement

Corsicana, Oct. 26.—The jury before which the suit seeking to keep the name of Earle B. Mayfield off the ballot as democratic United States senatorial candidate had not reached an agreement at 2:45 o'clock Tuesday.

The jury informally sent word to Judge Scarbrough at 2:30 o'clock that it had been unable to agree and asked that it be dismissed. The court refused to act on the request at that time.

A request was made of Judge Scarbrough that the copy of the letter which Mike McNamara said he wrote to Mr. Mayfield enclosing $200 the reply of Mr. Mayfield, and the registered receipt on which appeared Mr. Mayfield's name, signed by I. Dillard, be given the jury. They were turned over to the jury. The foreman of the jury asked the court if it would be proper to say how the jury stood, but was told no. The court asked the foreman, if agreement had been reached on any of the twenty one questions submitted and after a slight hesitation the foreman replied in the negative. The jury then retired for further deliberation.

The McNamara letter asked for by the jury was dated June 3 and the letter from Mr. Mayfield, as well as the registered letter receipt were dated June 4.

It was said at the court house that if the jury disagrees the temporary restraining order which kept the secretary of state from certifying the name of Mr. Mayfield as a candidate would remain in force until the appeal concerning it now pending in the state supreme court is decided. If the jury should find in Mr. Mayfield's favor, it was said, the temporary restraining order would be dissolved automatically.

Alleged Service Evader Is Held

Benjamin Storey about thirty years old, resident of Fisher County, was arrested at Sweetwater late Friday night upon a charge of evasion of the draft in 1917. He has been sought since 1917 when it is alleged that he fled to avoid service in the United States army after the declaration of war with Germany. He has been sought by Fisher County officers since his disappearance.

Storey was recognized at the Orient station by M. A. Musgrove, former city policeman, and the local police force tipped off to his presence. He was taken from the train, which was bound for San Angelo, and while on the way out of the yards, broke away from Musgrove and his companion. A two hundred yard footrace ensued before the fugitive was overhauled.

Storey was placed in jail here and the Fisher County officials notified of his detention. Sheriff Lambert came to Sweetwater Friday night and carried Storey back to Roby.

Storey has lived the life of a wanderer during the last five years, especially from 1917 to 1920, according to his statements. Much of the time has been spent in the west and he visited Sweetwater in 1920, according to his story to police.

Inspect Smoke and Furnace Pipes

The need of unusually careful attention to heating apparatus generally, because of the abnormal fuel conditions, has been pointed out by Mr. McNew, local agent of the Hartford Fire Insurance Company.

"Where stovepipes, furnace pipes, smoke vents and flues are of metal they frequently rust, come apart or deteriorate during the summer," says Mr. McNew. "When fires are started up in the fall, or they are put to a severe test during the first very cold weather, a blaze is likely to result. Now that fire prevention and safety first have become national slogans, the importance of careful supervision of heating apparatus and flues should be recognized by every good citizen, and a thorough inspection should always precede the first use of heating apparatus."

"Millions of householders will be compelled to use soft coal who have heretofore used hard coal, and the change will necessarily introduce many serious fire hazards, unless great care is taken to see that flues and smoke-pipes are kept clear and that proper safeguards are provided for the other dangers which will develop."

"Fires due to faulty furnace pipes and smoke pipes have been unusually numerous this season, especially where there was dampness. Where the surface was already corroded by the heat and fumes, the dampness soon rusted the metal so that a pipe which looked all right on the outside would collapse with the slightest strain. The danger of such pipes in basements, often near wooden partitions and ceilings, is evident, but only an inspection would reveal the interior weakness."

"These warnings should be especially emphatic as to dwellings, for basement fires are apt to get under dangerous headway before they are discovered, and when they occur at night, life as well as property is endangered. Special attention should also be paid to furnace pipes and smoke vents in churches and schools, because of the large numbers of people whose lives are at risk. School boards and church trustees, working on the theory of personal responsibility for preventable fires, should pay special attention to these danger points, and if necessary, the metal smoke pipes leading from the furnace to the chimney should be replaced each year to insure safety. An ounce of fire prevention is worth a pound of fire extinguishment."

It Takes Money to Build Towns

With the heading, "A city that has low taxes usually hasn't much else," the Wichita Falls Times mentions the fact that the combined tax rate which Wichitans will be compelled to pay this year will be almost $5 on the $100. It isn't, as the Times suggests, a pleasant fact to contemplate, but there is a lot of truth, of sound reasoning in the way of city building in its additional statement, that applies to other towns than Wichita Falls. "But perhaps you emit a groan of anguish," it says, "ask yourself if you would be willing, as a Wichita Falls property owner, to do without the streets, parks, sewerage, schools, highways and water supply that account for about two-thirds of your tax bill?" Wichita Falls is a standing object lesson in the way of rapid growth, due largely to the efforts of its citizens and their willingness to foot the bill for those things which accelerate that growth. The tax rate in 1917 was $2.78; in 1918, $2.73; in 1919, $3.13; in 1920, $3.37; in 1921, $4.03; in 1922, $4.85. The fact that it went from the town class to the city class from 1910 to 1920 is fairly conclusive answer to the erroneous statement, rather frequently heard, that high city taxes deter new citizens from coming. One wonders if there is any reason for pride on the part of a city in a low tax rate, and if there isn't a mountain of truth in the Wichita papers' heading over its presentation of the case—"a city that has low taxes usually hasn't much else."—Denton Record-Chronicle.

Santa Fe Seeks Peace With Old Shop Employees

Topeka, Kan.—The Santa Fe railroad Saturday opened its gates to striking shopmen.

Idle workers are "free to come back at any time they desire, providing there are vacancies and they have not been guilty of conduct that would make them undesirable employees," W. B. Storey, president of the Santa Fe, announced.

The labor policy of the road also was announced by Storey when he said "employees must always be treated with consideration."

"It should not take the presence of unionism to make us realize this," he said. "The feeling that he has no way of making his grievance known except thru the union is responsible for many a good man adhering to them."

"The Santa Fe will always live up to its contractual agreements and will insist that the organizations with which it has agreements do the same."

Making it clear that the road does not intend to give up to the unions, Storey said "the Santa Fe will fight to the limit of its means if it is compelled to do so."

Regarding seniority, Storey said rights of men who took the places of strikers and the old men who refused to go out on strike would be protected. —Fort Worth Press.

Half of Rail Strikers Back on Jobs

Washington—There is still a nationwide strike of railway shopmen. Out of 400,000 skilled workers who went on strike July 1, 200,000 are still holding out.

Says Bert M. Jewell, president of the shop crafts: "We are nearer victory now than at any time since our strike began."

"Approximately 100 railroads have accepted the terms of the Baltimore agreement and have put 200,000 men back on their old jobs."

"Each week sees other railroad executives signing up with us. Among the latest are the Chicago & Great Western, the Gulf Coast lines and the Chicago & Alton."

"Until an honorable basis of settlement is forthcoming from the roads still holding out, the strike will continue."

"The striking shopmen will not be coerced or bribed into returning to work. They are standing firm and putting up one of the most remarkable exhibitions of labor solidarity ever seen in this country."

The 200,000 men who are back at work for roads that have signed up are now paying two days' wages a

The "Daugherty injunction," according to Jewell is cutting little or no figure.

"The injunction," he said, "may listen good to those who favor government by injunction but it does not repair locomotives or cars."

"Neither does it reduce the fast-mounting expenses of those railroads which persist in keeping the men locked out of their jobs—an expense that must eventually be paid by the whole people."

Analyses of Samples of Well Cuttings.

In conformity with the purpose of keeping the public fully informed regarding the progress of discoveries in search for potash in western Texas the Director of the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, has issued a statement of the results of the examination of samples of cuttings from two wells recently drilled there—the McDowell well No. 4, in Glascock County, and the Texon Oil and Land Company's Santa Rita well, in Reagan County. The samples represent cuttings reaching depths of 2,550 and 4,426 feet, respectively, in the two wells, but no samples representing a gap of 680 feet between 1,010 and 1,695 feet have been received from the McDowell well. There is also a gap of 2,265 feet between the 1,683 and 3,888 foot levels in the Santa Rita well from which no samples have been received. The samples that contained as much as 1 1/2 per cent of potash (K₂O) are listed in the following table:

Samples of cuttings from wells in Glascock and Reagan counties, Texas, containing 1 1/2 per cent or more of K₂O.

McDowell Well No. 4, Glascock Co.: 1015-1920 feet, soluble salts 65.70; K₂O in sample 2.45; K₂O in soluble salts 2.86; 1035-1050 feet, Soluble salts 75.40; K₂O in sample 7.50; K₂O in soluble salts 9.95; 1050-1060 feet, Soluble salts 61.30; K₂O in sample 1.81; K₂O in soluble salts 2.93; 1100-1110 feet, soluble salts 87.50; K₂O in sample 1.74; K₂O in soluble salts 1.99; 1110-1125 feet, soluble salts 81.40; K₂O in sample 1.68; K₂O in soluble salts 2.08; 1140-1150 feet, soluble salts 80.80; K₂O in sample 3.00; K₂O in soluble salts 3.71; 1180-1195 feet, soluble salts 97.40; K₂O in sample 2.04; K₂O in soluble salts 2.10; 1205-1220 feet, soluble salts 97.80; K₂O in sample 1.59; K₂O in soluble salts 1.63; 1265-1275 feet, soluble salts 91.10; K₂O in sample 2.04; K₂O in soluble salts 2.90.

Santa Rita Well, Reagan County: 1150-1165 feet, soluble salts 61.70; K₂O in sample 2.46; K₂O in soluble salts 3.98; 1175-1182 feet, soluble salts 62.60; K₂O in sample 5.63; K₂O in soluble salts 8.99; 1255-1265 feet, soluble salts 70.10; K₂O in sample 5.65; K₂O in soluble salts 7.43; 1265-1275 feet, soluble salts 82.30; K₂O in sample 2.50; K₂O in soluble salts 3.04; 1275-1283 feet, soluble salts 78.40; K₂O in sample 6.38; K₂O in soluble salts 8.15; 1283-1293 feet, soluble salts 84.20; K₂O in sample 7.88; K₂O in soluble salts 9.38; 1293-1300 feet, soluble salts 47.70; K₂O in sample 4.00; K₂O in soluble salts 8.45; 1310-1316 feet, soluble salts 92.10; K₂O in sample 2.05; K₂O in soluble salts 2.23; 1316-1325 feet, soluble salts 76.90; K₂O in sample 8.29; K₂O in soluble salts 10.78; 1402-1410 feet, soluble salts 93.70; K₂O in sample 1.84; K₂O in soluble salts 1.95; 1545-1554 feet, soluble salts 92.90; K₂O in sample 1.89; K₂O in soluble salts 2.00; 1623-1630 feet, soluble salts 79.50; K₂O in sample 1.48; K₂O in soluble salts 1.96.

Besides the nine samples from McDowell well containing 1 1/2 per cent of K₂O there were six samples containing more than 1 per cent but less than 1 1/2 per cent. Nine other samples contained between 0.5 per cent and 1 per cent.

Among the samples from the Santa Rita well not listed above are five that contain between 1 and 1.5 per cent of K₂O. Eighteen other samples, distributed at intervals from the 1,192 to the 1,083 foot levels, contained between 1 and 1.5 per cent of K₂O.

The samples thus analyzed, like those described in earlier announcements, were taken by standard tools from wells drilled primarily for oil. So many of the conditions attending the sampling are unknown that it is impossible to state whether the potash-bearing zones are a few feet or only a few inches thick. In the Santa Rita well, for example, the original sample taken from the baller after the drill had cut the beds from 1,316 to 1,325 feet showed 8.29 per cent of potash, equivalent to 10.78 per cent of the soluble salts, yet it can not be safely inferred that there is a 9-foot bed of potash salts of the stated richness at that horizon. Continuous sampling with core drills will be necessary before accurate data can be obtained.

Core drilling in the region is contemplated in the near future by several companies. The Farmers Oil Company, of Lancaster, Penn., is now making a core test near Odessa, in Ector County. At last reports the well was down 900 feet but not deep enough to encounter the salt zones. The samples obtained will be analyzed in the laboratory of the United States Geological Survey.

In recent newspaper accounts the Geological Survey has been accused of maintaining an air of secrecy with regard to potash developments in Texas and of withholding information from the public. The Survey, however, is obligated to protect information it receives confidentially. Further, although it is genuinely optimistic about the probable discovery in Texas of potash of commercial quality and quantity, it must exercise due caution lest its published statements be made the basis of unscrupulous stock promotion.

C. of C. is Propelling Force to Keep City Growing

Seventeen of the twenty two counties that had agricultural exhibits at the Texas State Fair are in the Panhandle and West Texas.

That means that only five counties from other sections of the state are represented. These are Harrison, Hill, Ellis, Johnson, and Collin. Fifteen of the exhibits came from the Panhandle and the Plains.

Whatever else this indicates, it certainly shows the enterprise of the Panhandle and the Plains people. They are developing a great section and they are willing to make the effort necessary to show the world what can be produced in this section. They are inviting new population. They want other people to come and help them produce more of these products. And they are going to get them. They are laying the foundation of a new civilization out where there is plenty of room to expand and develop. Such is an editorial expression of the Star-Telegram, carried in its columns, Sunday, October 8th.

A man must love his community to work for it. A man must sense his responsibility as a leader in civic affairs as well as his own narrow routine; no matter how busy or successful that life may be. What a few men do benefit the community. Others must pull harder because some men rest on their oars. Some men refuse to give anything to the community which makes their success possible, being content to "Let George do it."

The Childress Chamber of Commerce, through its secretary J. W. Debenport, assisted by county agent Luther T. Hunter, sent a creditable exhibit to the Dallas State Fair this year. This exhibit was assembled in the face of great difficulty, due to indifference upon the part of some coupled with inertia upon the part of our local "cold-footed" brethren, who believe the logical thing to do in present instances of financial depression is to pull in their sails, crawl in a half dugout until the threatening clouds have passed. In short, they are content to "Let George do it."

Such lack of progressiveness will never build a city. Such lack of co-operation will never settle up our fertile thousands of uncultivated acres in Childress County. Such indifference will never increase the population of the city of Childress. Childress and Childress County's advancement, commercially, and otherwise, alone allow you to advance yourself financially and otherwise. Get behind this organization, lend your financial assistance and cooperation to the limit of your individual capacity. A bountiful supply of palatable water will soon be running through our city water mains, our generation-old drawback has been overcome. Childress County is now upon the threshold of a new era of opportunities. Get behind our local Chamber of Commerce, let the public-spirited citizens express themselves collectively on these questions of city and county welfare, and through this organization make their collective desires effective.—Childress Index.
