More Miners Are Rescued By 'Miracle'

SPRINGHILL, N. S. (AP) — A second miracle came to the shattered Cumberland Coal Mine Saturday. Seven more men were rescued 8½ days after a disastrous upheaval of earth entombed them.

Gaunt, hungry and thirsty, they emerged from their ordeal in astonishingly good condition, as had the 12 miners saved Thursday in the first miracle of the Cumberland.

One even came out joking. Said Maurice Ruddick, 46 and father of 12 when rescue crews reached him in his supposed tomb 13,000 feet from the mine entrance: "Give me a drink of water and I'll sing you a song."

He always sang as he worked and his comrades said he sang plenty during the long hours of darkness, keeping up their spirits.

Yet another, Douglas Jewkes, was jaunty as he was carried to an ambulance past the cheering crowds gathered at the mine head. He sat up, waved, and called out to a friend.

MILLION SPENT

Then, in a bed at the hospital he said: "I feel like a million dollars." Joshed Ruddick from a nearby bed: "So do I, but all of mine is spent."

The seven said they had left one dead in their pocket of refuge and they did not see how anyone else among the miners still missing could be alive. Rescuers agreed.

"But there could be another miracle," said Arnie Patterson, public relations chief of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corp.

A total of 100 now have been rescued of the 174 men in the mine when disaster struck Oct. 23—81 of them in the first 24 hours.

36 KNOWN DEAD

That raised the total known dead to 36. Rescue teams still dug through the rubble deep in the mine looking for the other 38 listed as missing. An indefinite number of them are known to be dead. Removal of bodies was suspended for several hours during concentration of all efforts to rescue the latest survivors.

The seven told the same story as the 12 except that they had hope revived three days ago when they heard the first, distant noises of the rescue crew. The 12 had given up hope last Monday.

With Ruddick and Jewkes were Herbert Pepperdine, 36, Garnet Clarke, 29, Currie Smith, 35, and Frank Hunter, 49.

"It's been a triple miracle," declared Victor Hunter, captain of the rescue crew, when he found his brother Frank among the six.

Another brother, Fred, was among the 12 saved Thursday. A third brother, Percy, was brought out the night of the disaster.

The men were found nearly a mile below ground, about 300 feet from where the other 12 were located. They also told of the sudden bump and the crash of rock and coal and the dust in the clogged tunnels.

Their meager supply of food and water was exhausted Monday. They ate coal and bark from the shattered mine timbers around them. Their miners' lamps went out after a few days.

As the senior among the six, Ruddick acted as their leader. He led them in songs. And they prayed. They were confident they would be saved.

Word that more survivors had been found spread—by word of mouth, neighbors knocking on windows and shouting.

Soon cars were speeding down streets of this mining town of 7,000 to the pithead. The reaction of many seemed to be one of disbelief. They sat around for the most part saying little and shaking their heads.

They found it hard to accept two miracles in three days.

Strangler, Intended Victim

Harvey M. Glatman, 30-year-old television repairman, who confessed strangling three models is handcuffed at Santa Ana, Calif., after Lorraine Vigil, 28, right, assisted in his capture. Police said that Glatman attempted to assault Miss Vigil but she grabbed the gun he was holding and held him at bay until police happened along. (See story Page 8-A). (AP Wirephoto).

All Signs Point To Solid Demo Victory

Ike Is Facing 3rd Congress Of Opposites

WASHINGTON (AP) — To The fading roar of political cannonading across the continent, Democrats apparently are on the march once more to a solid, precedent-making election victory.

Unless the signs are all wrong—and Republicans hopefully chant they are—Democrats will come out of Tuesday's balloting perhaps with more governors and almost certainly with substantially more strength in Congress. In place of present slender majorities, they could wind up with something like 3-2 margins in both Senate and House.

During the process, Democrats would be inscribing a new chapter in political history books: Dwight D. Eisenhower would become the first President for whom the American people ever have ordered up three congresses of the opposite political faith.

CALIFORNIA RIFT

Apparently the voters are unwilling to heed his cry that this will mean spendthrift, overpowering, frustrated, stymied government by left-wingers, radicals and "gloomdogglers."

Still, the Republicans are providing the two big highlights of an election completely lacking in stirring issues. A massive party split threatens to cost them Senate and governor seats in California. And a millionaire with something of the touch of a commoner seems likely to recapture the New York governorship for the GOP.

Those are the prospects, three days before the election, as indicated in an Associated Press survey covering every state. The results represent a consensus of political analysts and writers, editors and newsmen well grounded in politics, reliable professional politicians, and some polls and soundings of grass root sentiment.

CONGRESS TURNOVER

Putting it into numbers, Democrats have a chance of dumping Republicans from 8 to 12 Senate seats and netting 17 to 40 House seats or even more.

Republicans can be expected to upset a couple of Democratic governors. But Democrats may do better on balance in this phase of the game of musical chairs. If they can hold on in tight races in which they now appear to have shaky advantages, they could score net gains of one to three governorships.

The outcome, of course, is in the hands of an estimated 48 million voters who will be trudging to nearly 159,000 ballot boxes Tuesday. If their verdict is in keeping with the 11th hour readings of the political crystal balls, the shifts which evidently are in the making would mean that the coloring of Congress and statehouses would change like this:

Senate—Democrats would boost their present 49-47 edge to 57-39 or perhaps 61-35. Fifty will be a majority.

House—The Democratic margin of 235-200 would go up to 252-183, possibly 275-160, or perhaps even higher if there is a tremendous party sweep. A House majority will be 219.

GOVERNORSHIPS

Governors—Democrats now outnumber Republicans 29-19 now and may raise the advantage to 30-18 or on up to 32-16.

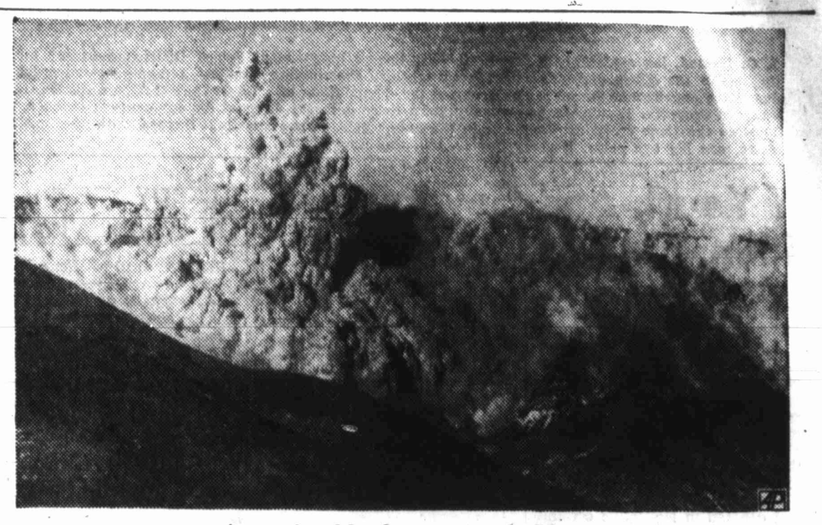

These calculations include results of the Maine election Sept. 8, in which Democrats kept the governorship and one House seat and captured a Senate and House seat from the GOP. The GOP salvaged only a single House seat.

The figures, except for those on what will constitute majorities in Congress, take no account of Alaska. It will elect a governor, a House member and two senators Nov. 25.

Democrats appear to be riding high in the saddle. This fits in with the pattern of half a century for elections in nonpresidential years. The party which holds the White House traditionally loses strength in House or Senate or both in these off-year elections.

This time, Republicans have 20 Senate seats at stake and the Democrats 13. Democrats already have taken one seat from the GOP in Maine, where Gov. Edmund S. Muskie defeated Republican Sen. Frederick G. Payne.

Democrats can be expected to keep their grip on all 13 now under their banner.

Youths' Brawl Ends In Fatal Stabbing

Violence, erupting at two widely separated points Friday night, marred Big Spring's Halloween.

Left in the wake of these incidents was one 17-year-old Latin American boy dead and two young Latin Americans hospitalized.

The two brawls originated at approximately the same hour but one occurred on the parking lot south of the Ritz theater and the other in the Top Hat Tavern on the the north side of town.

Dead of a knife stab in the heart is Larry Viera, 17, who died almost instantly as climax to a teenage gang quarrel on the parking lot downtown.

Held in the Howard County jail and charged with murder with malice is John Florez Sanchez, 16, of 624 NW 3rd. C. L. Rogers, police chief, said that Sanchez has made a detailed statement relative to the fight and has admitted stabbing Viera.

Gil Jones, district attorney, who talked to Sanchez at length, said the murder charge was to stand and that his office would check closely into the defendant's story that he is but 16 years old. At that age he is, under the law, a juvenile. However, according to the records as supplied by Sanchez, he will be 17 on May 6, 1959. Jones pointed out that it is possible for the authorities to hold a juvenile of Sanchez's age until he is 17 and then take him before the grand jury.

'CHARGE STANDS'

"Meantime," said Jones, "the charge stands as it is filed and my office will investigate carefully into the true age of the defendant."

Officers are still searching for the knife used in the fight. Sanchez, who fled from the scene of the altercation, told police that he put the knife in his jacket pocket. In the course of his flight—a run which took him down the alley to the north of the Ritz, across the courthouse lawn and down the alley east of the Crawford Hotel and on to his home—he lost the switch-blade.

Rogers said that the difficulty developed shortly before midnight. Viera and three companions and Sanchez with three of his friends met on the lot.

A quarrel arose. Exactly what this disagreement stemmed from is left vague in the statements the police took from those present.

It developed into a fight and Sanchez, according to his statement, drew his knife.

Viera was stabbed in the chest, the blade ranging downward and penetrating his heart. He died in seconds after the wound had been inflicted.

Police were called at 12:02 a.m.

FOUND AT HOME

They traced Sanchez and arrested him at his home. His three companions, Francisco Paredez, 17, Ismael Florez, 15 and Joe Florez, 19, also were picked up.

They were released Saturday morning after all had been interrogated.

Rogers said that there was no connection established between any of these and the actual slaying.

Jones related that Sanchez in his statement asserted that he had the only knife involved in the fight. He also insisted, the district attorney reported, that he "was only intending to scare" Viera when he made the slash at his opponent.

Viera's body was taken to the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. Walter Grice, justice of the peace, ruled death was due to a knife-wound in the heart.

Funeral services for Viera are to be at 2 p.m. Monday in the Mexican Baptist Church. Burial is to be in City Cemetery under direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

He was born in Big Spring on May 3, 1941.

Survivors include his parents, Mrs. and Mrs. Persiliano Viera; nine brothers, Moises, Melton, Joe, Persiliano Jr., Juan, Paul, George, Charles and Angel; and his paternal grandfather, Larry Viera of Los Angeles, Calif.

According to A. E. Long, county juvenile officer, Sanchez was sent to the state reformatory at Gatesville on Feb. 12, 1958. He was ordered to the school because of his part in a car burglary at the Ace of Clubs in which a number of guns were stolen.

RELEASED RECENTLY

The records showed that Sanchez had been released from Gatesville on Aug. 7, 1958.

* * *

Considerable confusion exists relative to the second stabbing of the evening. It occurred sometime prior to 11 p.m.

First word that police had of this trouble was a report that a wounded Mexican was on the sidewalk in front of the Medical Arts Hospital. This call came in at 11:03 p.m.

Police found Johnny Paras, 25, sprawled on the sidewalk bleeding profusely from a stab wound in the lower abdomen. They took him to Cowper Hospital and Clinic

(See STABBING, Pg. 8-A, Col. 8)

Traffic Violation Almost Saved Life Of Knifing Victim

If Larry Viera had told his correct age at 11:30 p.m. Friday, he would still be alive.

Kel Davis, highway patrol officer, spotted Viera and several companions in a car on the viaduct on Gregg. The car had no muffler and was travelling too fast. Davis gave chase and stopped the car on Fourth Street across from the courthouse.

He questioned the young driver and warned him of the violations. He asked the youth's age and he replied 16. The officer said that Viera was of slight build and did not look older than the 16 years he claimed.

After administering a lecture, the patrolman told the youth to go on home.

Instead, Viera and his companions went to the parking lot south of the Ritz Theater. Fifteen minutes later Viera was dead—stabbed to death in a brawl with another Latin American youth.

If he had said that he had been born on May 3, 1941, and was in reality 17 years old—he would have been held in the county jail for traffic violation.

Kremlin Tells Author To Go Get Award, Don't Come Back

MOSCOW (AP)—Boris Pasternak was told Saturday he is free to collect his $41,420 Nobel literature prize in the capitalist world—and to stay there if he wants to.

This was the sharp Kremlin reaction after a personal appeal by Pasternak to Premier Nikita Khrushchev to be allowed to stay in Russia. Pasternak told Khrushchev he may have made mistakes in writing the novel "Doctor Zhivago" and added: "To go beyond the frontier of my motherland is to me equal to death."

Pasternak, whose book criticizes the Russian Communist revolution, already has turned down the Nobel award and indicated he would not attend the award ceremonies in Stockholm Dec. 12.

Despite this, criticism of him and his novel has boiled into harsh demands for his expulsion from Russia as a traitor.

In reporting Pasternak's letter, the news agency Tass said in a preamble that no official obstacles block Pasternak from going to Stockholm.

"If Pasternak wishes to leave altogether...the official authorities will not hinder him in that respect in any way," Tass said. "He will be given the chance of departing beyond the frontiers of the U. S. S. R. and of experiencing personally all the 'delights of the capitalist paradise.'"

"BOUND TO RUSSIA"

Pasternak's letter was addressed to Khrushchev, the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party and the Soviet government. He referred to the demand of Soviet youth leader V. E. Semichastny last Wednesday, telling him to get out of Russia.

"This is impossible for me," said Pasternak. "I am bound to Russia by birth, life and work. I cannot imagine my fate apart from Russia and outside her.

"Whatever my mistakes and errors may have been, I could not have imagined that I would find myself in the center of a political campaign such as has been blown up around my name in the west.

"Having realized this, I informed the Swedish (Royal) Academy (which selects the Nobel winners) of my voluntary rejection of the Nobel prize. To go beyond the frontiers of my motherland is to me equal to death, and I am, therefore, asking that this extreme measure in respect to me should not be taken.

"With my hand on my heart, I have done something for Soviet literature and I may still be useful to it."

Pasternak originally accepted the Nobel award with gratitude and so notified the Swedish Academy by cable from his home in the artist-writer settlement of Peredelkino, southwest of Moscow. Then, with attack after attack heaped upon him in the Soviet press, he rejected the award.

Reds Send Sharp Warning To Iran

MOSCOW (AP)—The Kremlin's stern warning to Iran indicates Premier Nikita Khrushchev and his government are in a fighting mood and unwilling to make any compromise with the West.

Both the tone of the note handed the Iranian ambassador Saturday, and the cancellation of President Klementi Voroshilov's good will visit to Tehran are regarded in diplomatic circles as fresh examples of the current hard policy.

The Soviet Union accused Iran of preparing to sign a new military treaty with the United States "which directly endangers" Russia's southern frontier. The note added that the Soviets "cannot remain indifferent" to this development.

Under an old treaty with Iran signed after World War I the Soviet Union reserved the right to intervene in Iran if the Russians considered that their southern border was being endangered.

(In Washington, the State Department denied a new treaty was being negotiated with Iran. Iran, a member of the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact, has been getting military aid. Washington officials believe Moscow is showing concern over a recent visit by Defense Secretary Neil N. McElroy to Iran.

(A similar denial came from Tehran. Iranian Foreign Minister Ali Asghar Hekmat told Parliament Iran will never sign a military agreement with any foreign nation having aggressive aims against another power.)

Neutral diplomats in Moscow showed little optimism that relations between the Soviet Union and the West will improve any time soon. In fact, most thought things will get worse.

Keel Laid For Mammoth Sub

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—The keel of a nuclear-powered ballistic missile submarine was laid Saturday as the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard began the biggest project in its history.

The 5,600-ton submarine, which will cost an estimated 100 million dollars and take almost three years to build, was described by the Navy as "one of the most fearsome engines of war ever devised."

The mighty vessel will be able to hurl the Polaris intermediate-range ballistic missile 1,500 miles to a target.

The new submersible, which has not yet been named, will be one of the largest ever constructed.

Her displacement will approach twice that of the famed Nautilus, first sub to cross the North Pole, and the Navy said she'll "make the Nautilus look like a Model T."

Big Wind-Up Push Set For UF Drive

Standing more than $20,000 short of their goal, United Fund workers will make a giant, concerted effort to bring their campaign to a successful conclusion before this week is out.

Success of the last-stage effort will be determined Wednesday. If the work isn't finished by that time, a clean-up task force will swing into action.

Two report meetings are scheduled for all divisions. The first will be at 2 p.m. Monday and Lewis Price, general chairman, and other drive leaders are asking that every worker turn in his report, even if it is incomplete.

That will enable campaign officers to evaluate progress and set up machinery for winding up the drive, Price pointed out.

The second report meeting will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday and workers are asked to return all unworked prospect cards as well as reports on contacts that have been made. The unworked cards will be distributed to the clean-up crew which hopes to wind up the 1958 campaign by the end of the week.

Up to Saturday, UF gifts and pledges totalled $67,060 — some $22,800 short of the $89,900 goal. However, a number of other gifts have been collected by workers who have not turned in reports, drive leaders said. They hope Monday's report will show the campaign much nearer the goal.

The $89,900 will finance the operations of 10 UF agencies, all devoted to youth development, health and welfare, for another year.

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Tuesday brings a fair test of what sort of citizen you are. People who treasure their right to vote will cast a ballot on Tuesday, general election day. You can classify yourself by whether you take the trouble to do your duty.

Unseasonably wet weather for the autumn brought from one to two inches of slow rain over the area. It halted cotton ginning for practically all the week, but it also helped pastures immeasurably and practically clinched a small grain crop. The low temperature of 38 was getting close to a critical point for frost in the low places. Perhaps this will give us another week to two weeks of grace before a killing frost comes.

If Freddy Brown's fingers had been an inch longer, he might well have caught a pass in the last four seconds of play Friday night and helped Big Spring to a tie with Odessa. If our tackling had been stickier in the first half, we

Employment Total Climbs By 700,000 In October

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government announced Saturday that employment rose by 700,000 in October to 65,300,000.

The figures were given out by Secretary of Commerce Weeks to elaborate on President Eisenhower's disclosure in a Baltimore speech Friday night—that unemployment dropped 300,000 to 3,800,000.

Both reports covered the period from mid-September to Oct. 18.

Weeks said the decline in unemployment of 1½ million workers from July through Oct. 18 was "the greatest decline for these three months for any peacetime year since World War II."

However, the total number of workers employed was 700,000 less than in October last year when the figure was 66 million. The total unemployed was less then too, 2½ million.

The job figures issued each month by the government normally are not made public until about the 10th of the month. But with the election campaign drawing to an end, Eisenhower jumped the gun with his announcement Friday night of the drop in unemployment. He called it an example of Republican progress warranting election of a GOP Congress.

City Manager Applicant List Is Growing Longer

The City Commission took another step toward selection of a new city manager Friday without eliminating any applicants and another meeting late this week may bring the selection even closer.

Mayor G. W. Dabney said that although none of the 14 candidates had been eliminated, the commission did get a closer look at them and found four which it tentatively considered "the most favorable."

The mayor said that another meeting may be called for the end of this week to narrow the list to about six so these men could be called to Big Spring for personal interviews.

Dabney, Commissioner George Zachariah, and H. W. Whitney, the city manager who has resigned effective Nov. 12, will be in Houston this week for the annual convention of the League of Texas Municipalities. And Dabney said that they would have a chance to talk to most of the candidates there plus any others who might be interested.

These interviews and the applications will be used as a basis for narrowing the list of candidates.

Dabney said Saturday that about half of the applications received thus far are from men without actual managership experience; they are working in other city government jobs. And the mayor said the commission at the present was leaning toward men with managerial experience.

He said, however, that this did not mean that the men without this experience wouldn't get full consideration.

Dabney said that he expected to hear this week from more men interested in the position here. He has received two applications from men not in Texas, and he expects more after the newsletter from the International City Managers' Assn. is published with the notice in it about the vacancy here.

The commission is working to get a manager as soon as possible after Whitney's departure for Corpus Christi on Nov. 12. Clifton Bellamy, city engineer, has been named acting city manager until the job is permanent.

Big Task Finally Finished

J. O. Hagood, tax assessor-collector for the Big Spring Independent School District, Saturday mailed the last of the school district's 1958 tax statements. The mailing was just a month behind schedule, due to the equalization survey which required the compilation of entirely new tax records on 10,964 pieces of property. Taxpayers, who usually get a three per cent discount for payments in October, will be given the same credit for payments in November this year. Assisting Hagood with the mailing, above, are his two aides, Dorothy Taylor, left, and Ruby Payne.

Texas GOP's 2-Party Attempt Not Likely To Make Headway

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Staff Writer

Republicans attempt to make Texas a two-party state next Tuesday in the general election. Few, if any, believe they can more than dent the almost-solid Democratic front.

Most promising race from the GOP viewpoint is for the United States House from Dallas County. There, Bruce Alger, only Republican in the Texas congressional delegation, seeks re-election.

Alger is opposed by the popular Barefoot Sanders, a gangling, freckle-faced young man now in the Texas Legislature.

Only Republican making a statewide campaign of major proportions is Roy Whittenburg, seeking the U.S. Senate seat now held by Ralph Yarborough. But he faces staggering odds.

With most sections of the state lacking local races, many voters will find greatest interest in the nine constitutional amendment proposals.

Bob Johnson, head of the Texas Election Bureau which will collect the votes for newspapers and radio and television, estimates a total vote as high as a million.

Johnson credits active GOP campaigns for local candidates in such vote-heavy cities as Dallas and Houston for his high estimate. About 1,400,000 persons voted in the first Democratic primary in July.

Indicating the uphill fight Republicans face is their primary strength last July—a top of 10,959 for a statewide race. In this case it was Ed Mayer for governor.

Many more than 10,959 are expected to vote GOP Tuesday, however, since the Republicans faced little or no opposition in their primaries, and could have remained home.

The roughest apparent fight facing the Democrats is in the Dallas district for U.S. representative. There, ultra-conservative Alger and moderate-conservative Sanders have campaigned with all stops out. Observers aren't betting either way on who will win. Absentee balloting was active in the county.

Another active congressional race is in Houston, where Bob Casey faces T. E. Kennerly, a Republican. The highly popular Casey is given the edge by most observers.

Whittenburg, Amarillo, publisher, oilman, rancher and businessman, toured the state energetically campaigning against Yarborough, the incumbent senator and Democratic nominee.

Yarborough, although speaking frequently, has not campaigned actively. As election day neared, he flew to another state to stump for Democrats there.

Mayer, running against Price Daniel for governor, has campaigned only lightly and Daniel not at all.

The Election Bureau, in apparent belief that Democrats are not challenged in 10 major races, is not compiling vote totals on those contests.

It will collect totals on the races for governor, senator and three U.S. House races only.

The Constitution Party placed a widespread slate of candidates on the ballot but is not expected to be a factor in any race.

Also to be decided are 35 state Senate and House posts.

The amendment proposals:

1. Providing legislative sessions each year.
2. Permits elective officers of the county or precinct to participate in a retirement plan.
3. Permitting commissioners courts to fill a vacancy in the positions of county judge and justice of the peace.
4. Prevents 4-year officeholders from running for another office if more than a year of his term remains.
5. Allows cities to elect officers for four-year terms instead of the present two.
6. Sets up pensions for retired Texas Rangers and their widows.
7. Permits Legislature to appropriate money for advertising the state.
8. Provides hospital and emergency medical care for persons on the state assistance rolls, with the federal government putting up 62 per cent of the money.
9. Permits the Legislature to create hospital districts in Amarillo and the counties of Wichita and Jefferson counties.

County To Hear Grand Jury Plan

A recommendation that Howard County Commissioners Court allocate additional funds for increased salaries or for the employment of more law enforcement officers will probably be presented to the court when it convenes Monday morning.

The grand jury, in a report to Judge Charlie Sullivan, included a resolution in which Denver Dunn, former peace officer and foreman of the jury, was instructed to appear before the court and recommend that a strong effort be made to provide additional funds to increase salaries or employ additional peace officers for law enforcement in the county.

Scout Leaders Basic Training Course Set

A new basic training course for Boy Scout leaders has been announced by Ben F. Johnson, chairman of the Lone Star district training team.

The course will begin Nov. 13 at 7:30 p.m. at Howard County Junior College and the first session will deal with "What Boy Scouting Is." The second session Nov. 20 is on "Troop Operations," and the third session on Nov. 25 is on "Meetings and Activities." Johnson urged all adult leaders in troops to take the course, particularly if they have not yet had the basics session.

Five To Enter Penitentiary

Five prisoners are to be removed from the Howard County Jail to Huntsville state penitentiary Monday, Miller Harris, sheriff, said Saturday.

Deputy Jack Hackney and Bobby West, investigator, will take Ray B. Hood, three years for worthless checks; Levy Lee Edmonson, five years for forgery; Gordon Loveless, five years for forgery; O. F. Grothe, 10 years for robbery by assault, and Daniel F. Clevenger, three years for worthless check, to the state prison.

Meantime, Odessa officers are to come to Howard County Monday to take custody of William E. Shipley, sentenced to 10 years for robbery by assault. Ector County has two felony warrants against Shipley, it was said.

Shipley and Grothe, with Fred Markham, under six indictments, were involved in a foiled jailbreak attempt on Oct. 23.

Y Youth-And-Government Planning Conference Set

LUBBOCK — The 12th annual Hi-Y-Tri-Y Youth and government pre-legislative conference will be held at Texas Tech Saturday Dr. Cecil Johnson, Tech coordinator has announced.

An estimated 500 to 600 high school delegates from a West Texas area extending from Wichita Falls to El Paso will converge on the campus armed with legislative bills that they have prepared.

The bills will be read, discussed and debated in legislative committee meetings.

This pre-legislative conference is a joint responsibility of Texas Tech, the Lubbock YMCA and the Southwest Area Council of YMCA.

A nominee for youth governor will be named for the Youth in Government project in Austin in December. West Texas area has been allocated three permanent offices — sergeant-at-arms, calendar clerk of the house, and clerk of the senate.

(Big Spring Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs will have nominees for these posts, including Buddy Barnes, district president, as the nominee for governor.)

Yule Activities Reminders Mailed

Reminders that funds are needed for Big Spring's pre-Christmas activities were mailed this weekend to some 400 business operators.

So far, said Don Richardson, Christmas activities chairman, some $1,200 has been pledged to the fund. Budget for the program is $3,500.

Postman Pickets President

Enlarged Garden City Post Office Has Colorful History

By SANDRA CLEVELAND

GARDEN CITY — The Garden City's post office has been enlarged from 120 to 145 boxes and the post office space has been doubled in size and remodeled.

The post office is located in the Gill Drug Store, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Gill. Gill is also postmaster.

In 1943 when the Garden City postoffice became third class the total postal receipts were $1,983.89 and the total box rent was $78.25. This year the total receipts will exceed $4,000 and the boxes now rented will total $250.80.

The mail is delivered from Big Spring to Garden City by J. E. Kennedy of Big Spring. Kennedy also delivers mail on two star routes from Garden City, one to the St. Laurence community and and carted off to another community.

Since the first post office in 1891 was established, its location has shifted positions like a West Texas tumbleweed.

And to further complicate matters, the post office has been robbed once and according to the records, was once actually stolen and carted off toanother community.

The first post office to serve this part of the country was located in a mercantile store operated by a Mr. Gardener. From Mr. Gardener, the town got its first name—Gardener City. It was later shortened to Garden City by a postal inspector.

According to the records, a group of residents from New California, a community once located about three miles from Garden City, crept over in the black of night and actually swiped the post office.

When the mailman galloped in from Big Spring the next morning, he was directed to New California where he delivered the mail.

According to the records the post office was authorized on Jan. 6, 1896, to issue, but not to pay, money orders not to exceed five dollars in each amount.

The post office was moved to several different locations and in 1919 it was moved to its present place by Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Parker. Mrs. Parker was appointed postmistress at that time and served for 31 years until she retired in 1951. Mr. Parker served as assistant postmaster until his retirement Oct. 1 of this year. The Parker's daughter-in-law, Mrs. D. W. Parker, is now serving as assistant postmistress.

Parker remembers some of the men who served as postmaster in the past. They include Ed Nicholson, M. G. Scott, I. P. Barrett and J. W. Henderson.

Only time the post office has been robbed was in 1955 when burglars netted 87 cents. David Weir and James Crossnoe were charged in federal court with the theft and assessed prison sentences.

Headon Collision Takes Four Lives

HOUSTON (AP)—Three Negroes and a white man were killed Saturday in a headon collision in northeast Harris County.

Highway Patrolmen identified the Negroes as Jimmy Bowens, Paul Singleton, and Brozer Brooks, all of McNair, a Negro community north of Baytown.

Trickster Wanted Scotch On Rocks

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — It was beggars night here as the children celebrated Halloween, and a little girl about six years old, dressed as a gypsy, entered a restaurant and walked to the bar. "Trick or treat," she shouted at the bartender, and added, "Gimme a scotch on the rocks."

HCJC Choir Sings To ABC

Ira Schantz and the 16-member Howard County Junior College choir entertained members of the American Business Club with several numbers at the service club's regular Friday luncheon at the Settles Hotel.

Schantz said the singing group was three members short due to illness and, for that reason, might not be in full voice. Judging from the applause they received, their music did not suffer because of the absenteeism, however.

Seventeen members of the club volunteered to go to Snyder Saturday night to participate in "charter night" of a new ABClub there. The ceremony was to have taken place at the Village restaurant.

Workers of the local club have been meeting with prospective members of the Snyder club for the past several weeks, seeking to generate interest in such an organization.

Tom South drew special praise for the work he has put in on behalf of the proposed Snyder club.

New officers of the Snyder organization include Billy Joe Brown, president; Rex Robinson, vice president; and Herman Bond, secretary-treasurer.

The club voted to eat sandwiches at their regular meeting one day each month, thereby saving half their meal fee for that day. The money would go toward some club project not yet determined.

Guests present included Leo Hull, Vic Alexander and O. C. Lowe, the latter of Denton. Lowe is the father-in-law of Jim Lewis, a club member.

$5,000 Goal Is Set For Yule Seal Sale

Leaders of the Howard County Tuberculosis Assn. hope to get their organization back into the thick of the fight against tuberculosis this year and have set a goal of $5,000 for the annual Christmas Seal sales.

Contributions have been declining for the past four years, and last year only $2,900 was given through the purchase of Christmas Seals. Meanwhile, support of the anti-tuberculosis program was gaining throughout the remainder of the state.

Howard County has had 26 active cases of tuberculosis during the past year, while one death was attributed to the disease. The TB group believes there are probably as many undetected cases of the infection as there are known cases. An intensive campaign is being planned to seek out the hidden cases and provide treatment for the victims.

Eighty-two per cent of all funds raised in Howard County will remain here to help fight the disease on the local front. Bulk of this will be spent for X-ray examinations and drugs, with smaller outlays planned for tuberculosis patch tests in the schools and educational work.

Twelve per cent of contributions are forwarded to state level for educational programs while six per cent goes to finance research on the national level.

The Christmas Seal campaign will open Nov. 14 with the mailing of the traditional seals to some 8,000 Howard County families. Each envelope will contain three sheets of seals and a request for a $3 contribution, $1 for each sheet of the colorful seals.

Mrs. Fred Lurting is general chairman of the fund raising program, while Mrs. G. E. Peacock is to serve as mail chairman. Members of the local Medical Society Auxiliary are to meet in the Peacock home Nov. 10-12 to address the 8,000 envelopes and prepare the seals for mailing.

Mrs. Lurting pointed out Saturday that a $3 contribution will finance patch tests for 30 school children. It is planned to give at least 2,000 patch tests during the year.

In connection with the seal sales, plans are being made to push the sale of "TB bonds" this year. The bonds will be presented for gifts of $10 and above. Dr. V. E. Friedewald is chairman of the bond program.

C Of C Directors To Meet Monday

Chamber of Commerce directors are to hear a number of reports but will find little business to be transacted at their meeting at noon Monday.

Business-Education Day plans, progress on Christmas activities arrangements, and other current projects are to be the subject of reports, Bill Quimby, C-C manager, said Saturday.

Quimby said the group also may start discussion of plans for the annual membership banquet and meeting will be held at the Settles officer and director elections. The meeting will be held at the Settles Hotel.

DEAR ABBY

HE NEEDS ADVICE

By ABIGAL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem that is so terrible I don't know where to go with it, so please answer me in the paper. I have been married for nine weeks and I am still a "miss." My husband looks for excuses so he won't have to be a husband to me. I don't know what is the matter with him. When I try to show him some affection he starts to get red and his hands shake. He is a clean-cut, church-going man of 32 and I am 26, but I think he believes there is something wrong with married love. He would die before he went to our preacher with his problem but what am I going to do? STILL A MISS

DEAR STILL: If your husband refuses to see his clergyman (which would be my first suggestion) perhaps he will see a marriage counselor or a doctor. He has to be convinced that some of the ideas he has grown up with are wrong. He needs professional help and I urge you to insist that he go at once! Good luck.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I live in the city and I thought roosters were not allowed in the city. I am a sound sleeper and every morning about 5:00 this rooster across the street sounds off and wakes up my whole family. Can anything be done about this? DISTURBED

DEAR DISTURBED: There is not only a law stating where roosters can be kept, but also a law against disturbing the peace. Your neighbor is breaking both. Talk to a lawyer. A rooster will have to get up pretty early in the morning to fool a lawyer.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: What's wrong with me? I am a widow who wants to get married again. I've offered this man a completely furnished home, a steady income and a car of his own, and after three years he is still playing hard to get. LONESOME

DEAR LONESOME: SOME men would rather be kept guessing than "kept." You're too generous.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We were recently invited to a church wedding. The bride's father and mother were divorced and he had remarried, but that's another story. His first wife was present. His second wife was there with their 19-month-old baby. She made no attempt to silence the child when the father walked the bride down the aisle and the baby called "Da Da" and waved to him. This caused a big disturbance and you could see the minister's hair standing on end. During the ceremony she let the baby crawl to the father and he held her. After the wedding the bride was ignored as her father was busy accepting congratulations on the new baby. What is your opinion of a father who would behave this way? ONLOOKER

DEAR ONLOOKER: This father not only gave the bride away, but he gave himself away. He's got enough gall to be divided into three parts.

* * *

Lost Four Days After Crash, Man Recovers

AUSTIN (AP)—Mouton Crockett Jr., was recovering Saturday from a four-day ordeal in rugged West Texas ranch country following the crash of his light plane. He is the former University of Texas band director.

Crockett was weak but in good spirits. He survived for four days on a roll of mints and water salvaged from moisture that condensed on the wing of his plane.

His Piper Cub crashed Tuesday morning only 20 minutes after leaving Pecos Airport. He was not seriously injured and elected to stick with the ship.

"I figured I would be found sooner if I stuck close to the plane," he said.

From that point, he rationed himself on the only available food: Two mint w.fers a day. He had only one left when he was discovered by workers on an inspection trip of tanks on the Walker ranch at 1 p.m. Friday.

Crockett was flown to Austin Friday and admitted to a hospital for a thorough check.

Crockett said he prayed five or six hours a day during his ordeal in the cold, damp weather.

"If I said the Lord's Prayer once, I said it 50 times," he related.

City Officials Will Convene

HOUSTON (AP)—Problems involved in a changing concept of local government will be discussed here this week by the League of Texas Municipalitis.

Registration begins Sunday with business sessions by the league and nine affiliated organizations Monday and Tuesday.

Mayor A. P. Miller Jr., league president from Texarkana, and Steve Matthews, executive secretary from Austin, make their annual reports Monday.

Matthews said the league's convention is timely and will be keyed to such problems as money shortages and limited tax bases, more people and more demand for services.

"Texas, in a period of transition, is undergoing all the stresses and conflicts inherent in changing growth patterns," he said.

Area Cotton Harvest Due To Start Rolling Again Monday

The are's water-logged cotton harvest virtually bogged down last week, but Saturday's bright warm weather renewed prospects of busy gins.

The Texas Employment Commission reported 43,844 bales ginnel in Howard, Glasscock and Martin Counties, or about 39 per cent of the estimated yield.

The gain was about 8,000 bales for the week, but actually part of this had been ginned following the preceeding week's figure while weather was still good. Even though farmers might get back in the fields by Monday, the next total is apt to show less of an increase.

Figures from TEC showed 16,189 oales ginned in Howard County, or 41 per cent of the estimated 3,900 bale yield. Glasscock had 3,067 bales of an estimated 8,700 bale yield, or 35 per cent. Martin County had ginned 24,588 bales, or 38 per cent of its estimated yield of 64,100 bales.

In all three counties, the cotton is estimated to be 80 per cent open. The crop weathered a threat of freezing weather last week, and particularly Friday night when skies cleared.

The lastest Texas High Plains cotton quality report showed 85 per cent of the cotton harvested so far to be white. Of this amount 54.6 per cent was middling white and above. Light spots totalled 13.8 and 11.2 per cent was middling light spot and above. Average staple was 31 and 8-32nds. Some 60 per cent was more than an inch and only 2.5 per cent was below 15-16 inch. So far 96.9 per cent was above the tenderable micronaire limit of 3.5. The micronaire average was 4.3.

Rayburn Sees More Power For Democrats

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Sam Rayburn confidently predicted Saturday that the Democrats would control the House and Senate by larger margins after Tuesday's election.

"We'll control the Senate by six or eight votes, some says more," he asserted. "We have a margin of 33 in the house now. We should have 40 or 50 after Tuesday."

Rayburn was here to see the Texas-SMU football game and to receive a distinguished alumni award at the Texas Exes' dinner Saturday night. He attended the Texas Law School in 1907-08.

The speaker was optimistic about the Republican-Democratic atmosphere in the next Congress, despite current campaign bitterness in general election races.

"If the President does like he has in the past, 85 per cent of his recommendations to Congress will be expansions of laws that we (the Democrats) passed 20 years ago," he said.

When asked if he thought there would be any "bad blood" between the two parties, he replied.

"We don't hate Eisenhower enough to change our principles."

Rayburn, who came to Austin with his old friend, Byron Skelton, Democratic national committeeman from Texas, was asked if he wanted to comment on Texas politics.

"No sir," he replied, with a laugh. "I said all I'm going to say after the state convention."

Shortly after the San Antonio state convention Rayburn and Sen. Lyndon Johnson issued a joint statement criticizing Gov. Price Daniel for an alleged purge of two liberal Democrats from the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Killed In Mishap

JUNCTION, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Lillie Maye Lanham, 61, of near Ramona, Calif., was killed late Friday when her car overturned 10 miles east of here.

Aircraft Wage Talks Are Held

DALLAS (AP)—Temco Aircraft and its United Auto Workers locals at Garland, Grand Prairie, and Greenville headed for a week of concentrated mediation talks in efforts to avert a Nov. 9 strike threat.

A new vote by members of UAW Temco-Garland Local 1081 Friday night overwhelmingly rejected the company's contract offer, sources said.

The union served a 10-day strike notice Friday after months of negotiation talks were considered deadlocked.

Federal mediator Ted Morrow, who met with Temco managemept, said he would try to meet with union bargaining teams early Monday. He said he hopes to be able to hold joint sessions with the company and the union later in the day.

Wage demands are considered a major dispute issue.

Commission Delays Action On Leasing Highway Right-Of-Way

AUSTIN (AP) — The Highway Commission assured a large group of protesting oil men and land owners Saturday that it would take no hasty steps toward leasing Texas' highway rights of way for oil production.

"There will be no decision today," said Marshall Formby, chairman of the commission, at the end of an hour-long hearing on recent applications for the commission to lease right of way tracts in oil producing areas.

However, all three members of the commission let the large protesting delegation know they intended to protect the state's mineral rights under state-owned highway rights of way.

"It has long been the theory of Texans that when the minerals under a piece of land belong to the state that the taxpayers should get the revenue from these minerals," Formby said.

"It is felt that the commission owes a duty to the taxpayers of Texas to fully explore the possibility of getting whatever money we can from the minerals owned by the state."

Jack Vickrey of Dallas, attorney for Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn., presented the principal argument against the proposed leasing. He said he also spoke for the North Texas Oil and Gas Assn., Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Assn., and West Central Texas Oil and Gas Assn.

Protests also were presented by the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Assn., the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Assn., the Texas Good Roads Assn., and the Texas Farm Bureau Federation.

All protestants asked that the commission delay any action until the Legislature gets a chance to act on the question.

"I feel sure that a mandate is going to have to be given to some one at some time," said Highway Commissioner Herbert Petry. "However, I don't feel that we are on opposing sides. We are just trying to solve a problem."

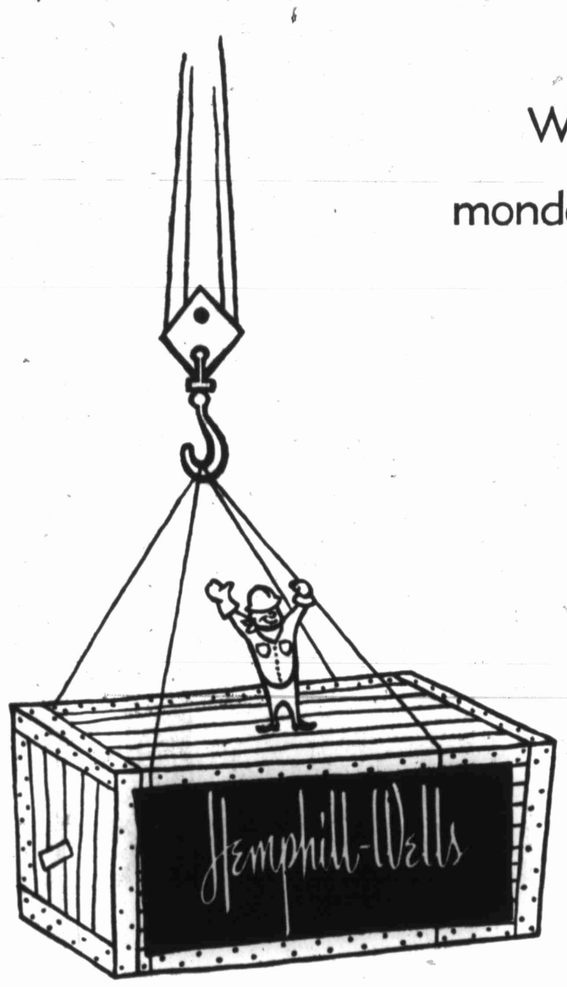

Vickrey said there was considerable question as to just how much minerals the state actually owns. He said that he doubted that the state law setting out provisions for leasing of state owned lands was applicable to highways.

"At any event, the serious problems which would be encountered if leasing is permitted to dictate to the commission that action be deferred until such time as the Legislature clearly and affirmatively expresses its intent that such rights of way be developed for oil and gas purposes," Vickrey added.

He said that rights of way were obtained from landowners at nominal prices which did not reflect property values based on minerals which might underlay them. He also said that the right of way strips were purchased originally without title examination and if leasing is attempted now "a tremendous amount of title litigation will ensue."

Formby said he wanted to make clear to the protestants that the commission had no intention of reverting to the previous practice of buying mineral rights when buying highway right of way. He also said the commission had no intention of allowing any actual drilling of oil or gas wells on right of way.

"There are many obstacles to overcome in finding the best solution to recover the oil which rightly belongs to the Texas tax payers," Formby said, adding in a personal statement that the answer might lie in "perhaps a unitization program or pooling or perhaps in some cases directional drilling."

ALL-FAITH CHAPEL FOR HOSPITAL PATIENTS

Chapel Dedication Friday At McKnight State Hospital

WILL WILSON

SANATORIUM — An All-Faith chapel, made possible through gifts from West Texans, will be dedicated November 7 with special services at McKnight State Tuberculosis Hospital near San Angelo.

The program is set for Friday afternoon at 4:30, and Will Wilson, attorney general of Texas, will be principal speaker, Marvin M. Miller of Big Spring will be master of ceremonies.

In recognition of the opening of the new chapel for patients at McKnight, the nine-member Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools will hold its regular monthly meeting here Friday.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. L. Manning, J. C. D., chancellor of the San Antonio Arch Diocese, will give the invocation and Dr. B. O. Wood, Minister Emeritus, First Presbyterian Church, San Angelo, will deliver the dedicatory address. The Rev. Boyce Evans, pastor, Bellview Baptist Church, Midland will pronounce the benediction.

An all-faith choir of voices from San Angelo first churches will furnish music. The choir will be accompanied by Millard Allen on the Chapel's electric organ.

The $70,000 chapel has been built entirely by volunteer contributions from private citizens in the 148 county area served by the hospital. Chapel Chairman M. D. Bryant of San Angelo said gifts ranging from 17 cents will be the largest proportional giving since it came from a patient and represented all he had, Bryant continued.

The state will maintain the chapel and guest ministers of all faiths will be invited on a rotating basis to hold Sunday afternoon chapel services. Part of the chapel project is a central sound system which provides a pillow speaker to each bed and brings religious services, entertainment and health talks directly to the bedside.

"We are anticipating a large crowd from every denomination and from every part of the state to attend the chapel dedication," Bryant said. The chapel will be open for inspection after the ceremonies.

Jack Alexander Is Elected District Scouting Chairman

Jack R. Alexander, long-time volunteer leader in Cubbing and Boy Scout work in Big Spring, has been elected chairman of the Lone Star district for 1959.

He will succeed Sam McComb, another veteran worker with Boy Scouts.

Other officers elected at an executive board meeting Friday were W. D. Caldwell, vice chairman; Chester Cathey and S. M. Smith, council representatives; and Carl Campbell, district commissioner.

Alexander will make the appointment of the other members of the district committee, who are actually the chairmen of the operating committees.

At the meeting Friday, plans for a big Cubbing round up Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in all the elementary schools was announced. All boys 8-9-10 years of age who want to be Cubs are urged to attend these meetings with their parents. Every effort will be made to place them in an active den, said Alexander.

Plans also are going forward for the annual Boy Scout exposition which will be held early in December.

Present strength of the 90th is slightly less than 6,000. The division has units in 42 Texas cities. It is commanded by Maj. Gen. Earl Rudder.

October Market Volume Is The Heaviest Since 1929

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market volume in October was the heaviest for that month since 1929. Prices hit a new record high by midmonth then churned slightly below that level.

An estimated 4½ billion dollars was added to the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the rise of $3.50 in The Associated Press average during the month.

Turnover soared to 96,087,094 shares from the September total of 71,971,820. In October 1929, when the big market crash was under way, trading reached 141,668,410 shares.

For any month of the year, the October volume was a 25-year record going back to the 120,271,243 shares traded in July 1933.

The rise in prices was less noteworthy, being less than half that of September when the popular averages finally topped the bull market high of April 1956 and crashed through to further gains.

The advance lost its steam Oct. 17 with the latest record of $199.10 attained in the AP average. Precautionary profit taking was the main factor in the six days of reaction which followed. Business and economic news remained encouraging.

The string of nine straight weekly market advances was broken a week ago. This week the advance resumed with the AP 60-stock average rising $1.10 to $198.70.

The October advance was achieved despite a clamp-down on credit for stock purchases represented by a boost in margins to 90 per cent from 70 per cent. The requirement of a 90 per cent down payment for stock purchases had no immediate effect on the rising market of early October. It continued to its Oct. 17 peak before going into a mild adjustment period.

Oct. 23 brought a boost in the discount rate to 2½ per cent from the 2 per cent rate initiated in August. This was a further reminder that money conditions were becoming tougher on borrowers. The latest rise, however, was more a recognition of existing commercial rates than an official move to tighten the screw further.

Among the corporates, investment quality issues and industrials were down sharply, utilities eased and rails were steady. Foreign dollar bonds advanced.

CAMPUS CHATTER

Student Life Normal Again After Six-Week Examinations

By BOBBY HORTON

HCJC students have, for the most part, recuperated from the onslaught of six-weeks exams, and campus life has returned to its lively pace. For instance, Saturday night a good crowd made the "paper" ride to Moss Creek for a marshmallow toasting and returned to the Student Union Building for a sock hop dance.

It happened to be a paper ride because the collegians preferred journeying along atop a trailer filled with shredded paper, rather than rounding up a load of hay.

Rudolph Brewster, English department, and Miss Arah Phillips, dean of women, chaperoned the group on the Moss Creek outing, and John Gentili, social sciences, Paul Vagt, librarian, and Miss Elibabeth Daniel, chairman of the English department, sat in at the sock hop.

* * *

Fred Short, chairman of the speech department who masterminds the HCJC student play productions, carried three of his prize pupils to the Southwest Theatre Conference in Amarillo this weekend. Jack Culpepper, Dianne Tidwell and Linda Nichols made the trip. Each has a hand in the first production of the year, "The Glass Menagerie", to be presented Nov. 15-17-18.

The college choir, directed by Ira Schantz, appeared before the American Business Club, Friday noon. Approximatey 45 ABClub members gave the seven choral presentations a big hand.

The sanme numbers will be given for members of the Lion Club Wednesday by the choir.

Three HCJC athletes, R. D. Ross, Lloyd Underwood and David Barr, accompanied by Dr. Marvin Baker, assistant to the president, and W. L. Walker, mathematics and business administration, have been in Austin this weekend for the University of Texas Cross Country races.

Ross, already an athlete of good standing, was expected to challenge his own record in the two-mile run (9:15) which he set in 1957. Barr and Underwood were also considered strong in the senior college division.

HCJC, incidentally, should be one of the strongest—if not the best—junior colleges track teams in the nation this season. The track ensemble last year finished third in the NJCAA nation-wide meet in Hutchinson, Kan., missing second place by less than a point.

Coach Red Lewis has some of the finest cinder talent at the local oval in years. Such boys as Fred Thompson, Ross, Peewee Garrett, Millard Bennett, Ray Clay, Clyde Dabbs, Sammy Kruse, Delbert Shirey, and a host of first year athletes will, in all probability, mold into one of HCJC's greatest teams.

* * *

B. E. Day—business education—is coming up Friday, and classes will be dismissed. Approximately 28 HCJC teachers will be visiting enterprises in the city, boning up on the recent and familiar problems which plague the business man.

The situation will be reversed in the early spring when business representatives tour the college.

THIS 'N THAT — A new shipment of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible has arrived in the book store. Dr. R. Gage Lloyd said his class in the study of the Old and New Testament would note this along with other versions.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, college president, will attend a dedication of the new South Plains College in Levelland this afternoon.

"Dr. Zhivago", a novel which won its Russian author a Nobel prize, has not been received by the library, said Librarian Paul Vagt. It will be stocked as soon as possible, he added.

Class Officers Are Announced At Goliad JH

By PAT ARMSTRONG

The Class Officers for this year were announced Monday. They are as follows: Ninth Grade: president; Red Scharzenbach, vice president; Pat Wiley, secretary; Sharon Starr, eighth grade: president; Neil Robinson, vice president; Bill Smith, secretary; Dixie Dement. Seventh Grade: president, Donnie Anderson; vice president, Kay Oaks; Secretary, Karen Hodnett. Everyone is very proud of our officers and we know they will do a good job in their office.

Thursday afternoon a pep rally was held in the gym. S. A. Walker, principal of Goliad, spoke in front of the student body for the first time. He gave a very interesting talk about school spirit, and setting the standards of our school, which was appreciated as shown by the uproarous applause of the students. The cheerleaders introduced a new yell entitled, "Yea Coach," which was given in honor of our coach, Dan Lewis.

Thursday afternoon a lot of students attended the game between our Ninth Grade Mavericks and Abilene. Jerry Tucker showed a fine play when he made a touchdown for Goliad. Abilene won, however, 12-6.

Friday afternoon the girls in fourth period Homemaking were honored by the visit of Mr. Walker, our principal, and Richard Bacon, ninth grade English teacher to their lab. The two were served waffles with melted butter and maple syrup, and milk; prepared by Winnie Greenlees, Betty McWhorter, Sharon Gary, and Pat Armstrong.

Rena Metcalf gave a Halloween party at her home Friday night. Everyone had lots of fun.

RUNNELS REPORT

Harvest Carnival, 'Color Day' Slated

By DIANE BAKER

Color Day is coming soon. On Nov. 13 everyone is supposed to wear something red, and white, our school colors. Let's all get into the spirit of this project.

The Student Council has divided the money made last year evenly between Runnels and Goliad. The money has not been divided sooner because the books had not been audited until now.

During next week, the Goliad Student Council will visit Runnels Student Council, and we are looking forward to the visit.

The Harvest Carnival featuring a carnival, dance and party is due to be held soon. The carnival will be open to the public and everyone is urged to come. The dance will follow the carnival and will be from 8:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. Any student from Runnels may come. Anyone from Goliad or from Senior High may come with a date from Runnels. Prices are 50 cents per couple, 75 cents stag. Activity cards must be presented at the door.

The party for those who don't dance will have the same admission charge, and there will be a round of special games and entertainment.

Talent shows also are due soon. The money made from them goes toward each grade's candidate. The candidate having the most funds raised will be queen of the carnival.

Oct. 26 through November 26 is Perfect School Attendance Month. "Every pupil in school every day," is the slogan.

Students will enjoy a holiday Friday, Nov. 7, when their teachers visit the business places of Big Spring. Sen. Lyndon Johnson will address the teachers at a luncheon meeting.

The pep rally Thursday was an enthusiastic one, but our Yearlings found themselves on the short end of the score. The ninth traders bowed to Lee of San Angelo by 22-0. Sweetwater teams won over the eighth graders 32-20 and the seventh graders lost 24-8.

The ninth grade Hi-Y members are planning a dance Nov. 20, which will follow by two days one scheduled by the nith graders. It will be a semi-formal affair and Goliad Tri-Hi-Y will be guests.

At Mrs. Barbara Krausse's home on Wednesday, a Tri-Hi-Y style show was held. Those modeling were Noma Jones, Virginia Morris, Diane Baker and Kathy Johnson. Refreshments were served.

At Joan Jordan's house last Friday night, lights were late and the radio could be heard—all part of a slumberless slumber party. Runnels girls attending were Linda Bell, Linda Grant, Kathy Johnson and Diane Baker.

Friday morning the Halloween edition of the Round Up came out. Our paper staff is doing a fine job.

Also on Friday, the Homemaking classes — fifth period—were shown interesting slides on Mexico by Mrs. Keith McMillin.

A junior high officers training school was held Saturday at the YWCA.

The faculty had a social meeting Thursday after school. A wedding gift was presented to Mrs. Letha Arnerson Green.

we always have time for you!

Homecoming Big Event Of The Week

By PAT ROGERS

With cold feet and the sniffles BSHS students buckled down to those nine-weeks tests last week. Even though it was cold, sweat dripped down the foreheads of many. The big question now is: "What will be on our report cards due next Wednesday?"

After a bitter week of reviewing, studying and taking tests, students are looking forward to their BE holiday and Homecoming. Sophomore, junior and senior classes are planning floats for the big parade.

The senior class is off to a good start for money-making. Yesterday they sponsored three cake sales, one at Hull and Phillips, Furrs and Piggly Wiggly. There were cakes all over the place.

"Who is our football queen, anyhow?" This was the question many students were puzzled with after the Abilene game. The answer is, "Judy Reagan." Because there wasn't enough time, the traditional formal crowning of the queen didn't take place. The three girls, Jo Ann Ebling, Judy Cauble, runners-up, and Judy Reagan, queen, rode around the field and that was all . . . and somehow the announcement on that got confused with homecoming.

Carl Pike, safety lecturer, thoroughly entertained BSHS and at the same time gave the student body a thorough lecture on traffic safety. He told morbid stories about the accidents he had seen, but he told them in such a way that the students could see the humorous side and at the same time realized their responsibility and the seriousness of the situation.

El Rodeo, yearbook, sales will end next Saturday. The books sell for $5 and you will be very disappointed if you don't have one at the end of the year.

Fan Barber, BSHS senior, will represent the District Farm Bureau in the State Farm Bureau beauty contest in Corpus Christi next weekend. BSHS is honored to have such a good looking girl as Fan and wishes her luck.

The Corral, school paper, staff had a hard time getting things put (or better known as "thrown") together for the fifth issue of the paper, which comes out a day early next Thursday. The Business-Education holiday threw things off schedule.

Pep Squad girls once again loaded the buses and journeyed to Odessa for the game. You don't realize how many pep squad members are gathering at the school until the four buses, fully packed, started down the street.

Even though the Steers suffered a hard blow from Abilene, school spirit held high and students rooted for the Steers once again to beat Odessa. Win or lose, students will always be behind the team.

"The seams are going to burst out if something isn't done to enlarge our building!" is a familiar statement heard around school. Next year 24 new rooms will be added and not too soon either. They will be a welcome relief to both teachers and students.

The Latin Club, sponsored by Mrs. Rita Weeg, elected its officers. They are Eddie Kinney, president; Malinda Crocker, vice president; Judy Reagan, secretary-treasurer; and Kay McGibbon, reporter.

Mary Oliphant has been accepted into the Quill and Scroll Society. To qualify, you must be in the upper one-third of your class, have done superior work in some phase of journalism, or school publications work, recommended by the supervisor, and approved by the executive of the society. Mary is associate editor of the Corral.

Everyone is urged to attend the homecoming activities which will take place next Friday and Saturday. Friday at 4:30 p.m. the big parade will begin; that night, the homecoming queen will be crowned at the football game. Saturday, class meetings will be held in senior high building; that night a party and dance will be held for Exe's as well as BSHS'ers.

Texas Building Activity Drops

DALLAS (AP)—Texas construction permits dipped to $70,424,390 during October but the state appeared headed toward another billion dollar year, the magazine Texas Contractor said Saturday.

The 10-months total for 1958 was placed at $915,140,836, the magazine reported.

Engineering awards accounted for $36,012,753 in the October total, non-residential awards $34,186,637, and residential awards $225,000.

This October figure was below the September total of $88,804,670 and the October 1957 total of $130,973,594.

May Revive U. N. Arms Commission

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —Some diplomats said Saturday they expected agreement here Monday to revive the U.N. Disarmament Commission, inactive for more than a year.

They forecast that the General Assembly's Political Committee that day would adopt an Indian-Yugoslav resolution to expand the 25-nation commission so that it would include all 81 U. N. members.

The Soviet Union has boycotted the 25-nation commission on grounds Communist and neutral countries are outnumbered by pro-Western countries or that body, but it has said repeatedly that it would take part in a "permanent" 81-nation commission.

Britain and the United States long opposed such an all-inclusive body with the argument that it would be too unwieldly to permit effective negotiations. But Western delegates said the two powers now were willing to go along with the idea provided there were proper safeguards against the commission's becoming a year-round propaganda forum.

The Indian-Yugoslav resolution as originally submitted Oct. 22 would have had the Assembly decide that the commission "shall be composed of all the members of the United Nations."

The two turned in a revised version Friday night saying it should serve only "for 1959 on an ad hoc (special) basis and as a committee of the General Assembly."

Under the original draft, the body would have been under the rules of the Disarmament Commission and any member could have got a meeting at any time.

Under the new version, it would be under the rules of the General Assembly and it would take the consent of a majority of the 81 members to get a meeting.

Western sources said Britain and the United States had induced the sponsors to make the change. They expected the two would vote for the new draft.

Howard County Gets $281,000 For FM Roads

Howard County is slated to get $281,000 of the $2,053,000 program of farm-to-market and secondary roads approved for District 8, Jake Roberts, district engineer in Abilene, has announced the formal approval of the program by the Texas Highway Commission and said that his district will receive 88 miles of road construction.

Howard County projects total 9.2 miles.

The two projects approved for this county are:

FM 700 from U. S. 87 south of Big Spring to U. S. 80 east of the city; 5.7 miles, $190,000.

Borden County: FM 669, Garza County line to Gail, 14.4 miles, $167,000.

Pope Talking With Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII appeared Saturday to be carefully sounding out his cardinals' opinions on world problems facing the Roman Catholic Church.

The new pontiff has been summoning the cardinals in small groups and talking with them one by one in an arduous schedule of audiences. Among those he saw Saturday were the two U. S. cardinals, Francis J .Spellman of New York and James Francis L. McIntyre of Los Angeles.

The Pope apparently is acquainting himself, area by area, with specific matters of importance to the church in an age of political turbulence.

There will be little rest for the new spiritual sovereign of the world's half billion Catholics until next week, after he is crowned in a coronation ceremony lasting four or five hours. The coronation is scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The former patriarch of Venice, who will be 77 this month, appeared, however, to be bearing up well under the severe strain of the past few weeks.

BEARING UP WELL

Since Pope Pius XII died in the early morning of Oct. 9, the cardinals have had a strenuous time.

They went into election conclave a week ago after going through the long and solemn ceremonies in connection with Pope Pius' death and funeral. Two of their number died in that period. One, Edward Cardinal Mooney of Detroit, collapsed and died only an hour before the conclave began.

Fears have been expressed for the health of a number of others among the cardinals — average age 73. They spent four days and nights behind ancient, chilly stone walls, shrouded by the secrecy of the papal election process.

The coronation Tuesday will be another strain—four or five hours of rites marked by medieval pageantry.

Bracero Confirms That Plans Often Don't Work Out

The best laid plans of mice and men, the poet warbles, gang aft agley.

Saturnino Garcia, a 25-year-old bracero, doubtless will confirm the sentiment even though he may not be familiar with the verses.

Saturnino has been employed on the W. T. Shockley farm near Knott. The time was approaching when he would return to his home in Mexico.

He dreamed of how his prestige would boom if he could go back to that village proud possessor of a gleaming outboard motor.

He also hankered for knives and forks as shiny and shapely as those he had become accustomed to using at the bunk house.

Senor Shockley had an outboard motor.

Somehow the motor disappeared and was dismantled into a pile of parts cached in a tow sack. There were some knives and forks mixed in.

The trouble was that Shockley missed his motor and the cutlery. Deputy Sheriff Jack Hackney came sleuthing around and spotted the sack in a pile of cottonseed.

Garcia was fined $5 and costs in justice court. He was still in jail Saturday noon.

Administration Of Tax Unit Shifted

Administratively, the Big Spring office of the Internal Revenue Service will be grouped with Midland as of Nov. 2.

A field audit group is to be established with headquarters in Midland, it was announced Saturday. Part of the territory formerly under Lubbock and Abilene groups will go to make up the Midland group.

Offices will be maintained at Big Spring and Odessa in the Midland area in addition to the Midland office. No change in personnel in the Big Spring office is involved.

Russell G. Bell will supervise the Midland group. He will have two internal revenue agents at Big Spring, five at Odessa and nine at Midland.

Girl Hurt Slightly In Traffic Mishap

Carolyn Benedum, 906 Nolan, was slightly injured in an accident Friday night, but her injuries didn't require hospitalization.

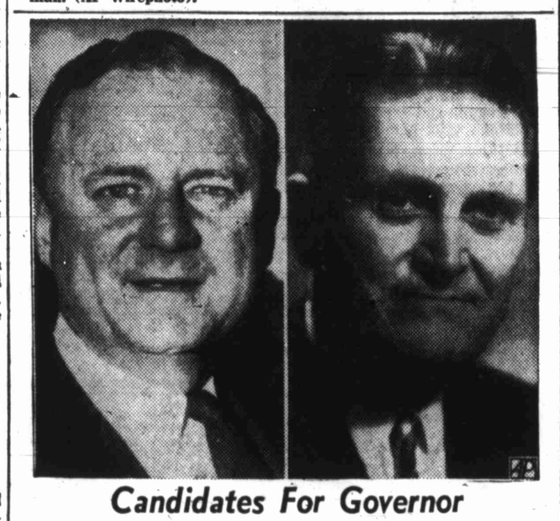

The girl was involved in an accident at 9th and Gregg with a car driven by Kelly Mize, 707 W. 5th. She was rushed to Malone & Hogan Hospital in a Nalley-Pickle ambulance, but she didn't require hospitalization.

The girl is the daughter of Ralph Benedum, 906 Nolan.

Whittenburg Confident He'll Down Yarborough

DALLAS (AP) — Roy Whittenburg, Republican candidate for the Senate, said Saturday he estimated he will receive 500,000 votes in the general election tuesday and his opponent will receive 350,000.

Whittenburg pointed to a statewide television campaign appeal by his opponent, Ralph Yarborough, scheduled for Monday night, as indicating that Yarborough may be worried about the outcome.

The GOP candidate from Amarillo said he predicts his own victory for two principal reasons:

"1. The Democrats never have had a nominee with so much determined opposition within and without their party and,

"2. I believe 80 per cent of the people of Texas feels as I do that states rights and self government are seriously threatened and believe in my remedy, which is election of future federal judges."

He repeated his earlier statement that the "the United States Supreme Court is using the Internal Revenue Service as its enforcement arm."

He said the IRS has "displayed a willingness to reward those it considers friendly and to punish those it considers unfriendly."

Whittenburg campaigned in Dallas today and will continue here tomorrow. He goes to Fort Worth Monday and will then go to Amarillo late Monday. The Republican will vote at Plemons, a community in Hutchinson County.

More Negroes Are Registered To Vote

ATLANTA (AP) — The number of southern Negro voters has remained constant since 1956 but the trend is upward and the long-range prospect is for Negro registration comparable with the whites, the Southern Regional Council reports.

There are an estimated 1,266,488 Negroes on voting rolls—25 per cent of the eligibles—in 11 Southern states, compared with 1,238,000 two years ago, the council said in a survey.

County's Discount On Taxes To Drop

Effective Monday, discount on current county taxes will be two per cent instead of three per cent as it has been since the tax rolls were approved late in October.

No accurate figure on total tax collections in the county for October are available. A mountain of payments by mail which arrived in the last few days has not been checked.

Jury Panel Called For Court Monday

Judge Charlie Sullivan has summoned 60 jurors to report to 118th District Court Monday at 10 a.m. for trial of civil cases docketed for the week.

Judge Sullivan said that it is uncertain how many cases will be ready for trial when he sounds the docket. He expects one or more of the numerous cases tentatively slated to go to trial.

Local Man Hurt As Car Overturns

STANTON (SC) — J. M. Reeder, 113 Wright Street, Big Spring, was injured when his car overturned twice after leaving U.S. 80 at the west city limits Saturday evening.

He was brought to the VA Hospital in Big Spring in an Arrington ambulance. Reeder's injuries were not thought to be serious.

Reeder was quoted by authorities as saying that he touched his brakes to stop and pick up a hitch hiker. His left front wheel locked, he said, and the car veered across the busy highway and struck the curbing on the south side. The car rolled over and struck a sandbed, which caused it to roll another time. Finally the car bounded over the T&P railroad tracks and came to rest on the south side.

Car Leaves Road, Injuries Reported

STANTON (SC) — An automobile catapulted from FM 1212 near Grady School Saturday evening and piled up in a cotton patch. Sheriff Dan Saunders investigated the mishap and said that the injured had been taken to a Lamesa hospital.

Other details were lacking, except that the car apparently had bounded through the air a considerable distance after leaving the road.

Warm Sunshine Follows Fall's Coldest Night

The coldest night of the current fall season produced one of the brightest, sunshiny days in all October.

The temperature dropped to a chilly 38 degrees on Friday night. This was the nearest to freezing the mercury has touched this autumn.

Cloudless skies—which had been the exception rather than the rule throughout October — prevailed Friday and youngsters on Halloween trick or treat rambles had ideal weather for their forays.

Saturday dawned as cloudless as the night had been and a bright blue sky greeted early risers. The sun thawed away the chill and in midafternoon the temperature was a balmy 64 degrees.

Cotton farmers gleefully greeted the retreat of the clouds and the almost constant dampness which has prevailed most of the month. Although many fields were still too soggy for much work, it is anticipated if the sun stays out the cotton harvest will go into full speed this week.

Panhandle Has A Hard Freeze

By The Associated Press

Texas warmed up under generally clear skies Saturday after the coldest night of the fall.

A hard freeze covered the Panhandle and extended into the upper South Plains. Dalhart had 23, Amarillo 28 and Lubbock 31. Freezing temperatures extended south into the hill country where Junction had 32. Marfa in far West Texas had heavy frost and 30 degrees.

The forecast for all Texas was for generally fair and warmer weather through Sunday and another chilly night Saturday.

Rains ceased, giving soggy areas a chance to dry out. The Rio Grande receded a little more from its flooding from below Falcon Dam to the Gulf.

Most afternoon temperatures were in the 60s except in deep South Texas where the mercury was in the low 70s.

The grand jury returned 27 indictments last week and adopted a report calling public boards to provide more money or men (or both) for increased law enforcement. Hardly had the ink dried on this report before we had a teenager fatal stabbing. The time has come to get double tough on this problem.

Just how much the hospital administration appreciates the services of volunteer workers at the Big Spring State Hospital was expressed by Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent, at the advisory council meeting Thursday. Not only are volunteer workers needed, he said, but they are welcomed and depended upon. The remarkable response here may lead to an open door policy at the hospital, Dr. Harrison indicated.

This is the critical week for the United Fund. On the latest report, gifts and pledges exceeded $67,000. This means that we have something little more than $20,000 to raise this week. The big givers have exceeded their quota and practically every one of these contacts is in. That means that success or failure is up to those of us with average income.

Debt service increased due to issuance of $4.6 million new bonds and also due to a $140,000 increase in amount of principal due.

The city has a committee to study the proposal of the county for a continuing reappraisal of tax rolls. There is just a touch of irony in the city's caution and the county's initiative. It was the city's insistence which kept alive re-valuation in the first place.

Rapist-Slayer Of Three Is Questioned In Other Deaths

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Harvey Glatman, 30, rapist-strangler of three young women, faces questioning in the unsolved throttling of three other Los Angeles-area women. But he says:

"I'm in as deep as I can get. There isn't anything worse can happen to me."

And of California's method of execution: "I guess they can only give me one shot of gas."

On Friday police brought the mousy, bat-eared television repairman to Los Angeles 40 miles from Santa Ana, near where he was arrested Monday night. A highway patrolman happened by on a motorcycle as Glatman struggled beside a car with his fourth intended victim, Miss Lorraine Vigil, 28, a model like two of his three victims.

Before dawn Friday Glatman led detectives to the skeletons of two of them—Mrs. Shirley Ann Bridgeford, 24, divorcee he dated through a lonely hearts club, and Miss Ruth Rita Mercado, 24, model and dancer.

The remains of both lay 26 miles apart in a remote, sandy area east of San Diego.

A body found in adjoining Riverside County last December is believed to be that of his third victim, Mrs. Judy Ann Dull, 19. Glatman told investigators he raped all three and strangled them with a 5-foot length of sash cord.

Police said Glatman will be questioned in the slayings of Marjorie Hipperson, 24, a nurse found strangled with a stocking in her Los Angeles apartment June 10, 1957, and Mrs. Ruth Goldsmith, 50, choked with a stocking in her apartment April 5 that year.

Lt. C. W. McGowan of the sheriff's homicide division said "we are by no means satisfied" Glatman is not the killer of Mrs. Jean Ellroy, 43, El Monte nurse strangled with cotton rope and a stocking in bushes bordering a school playground last July 15.

Shortly after denying knowing of this killing, Glatman confessed the others Thursday.

HCJC Dormitory Bid Date Scheduled

Howard County Junior College will open bids on Nov. 25 for two dormitories costing upwards of $600,000.

Moving with great rapidity, the architect-engineer and board last week gained final approval of plans from the regional Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency in Fort Worth.

A letting on that date would permit construction to get under way well in advance of the Christmas holiday disruptions. Bill French, member of the firm of Puckett & French, architect-engineer, said that such a timetable should mean both the men's and the women's dormitories will be ready for occupancy with the beginning of the fall semester.

All the work will be let under one general contract, in accordance with requirements of the agency which is lending the funds up to $600,000 over a 40-yard period. The loan will be repaid entirely out of revenues from the operation of the dormitories. Proposals will be opened at 2 p.m. on Nov. 25 at the college.

The women's dormitory will accommodate 52, while the men's dormitory will house 104.

In other actions taken at a called meeting Friday noon at the Settles Hotel, the board rejected previous bids on some specific furnishings. The purchase of a 12-foot conference table with 12 conference chairs, all to be used in the new Dora Roberts Student Union building, was authorized in the aggregate of $1,370. Similarly, purchase of three secretarial desks and chairs, also for offices in the new SUB was approved in the amount of $72.

The board also approved installation of 6-inch cast iron water main to serve the new SUB and women's dormitory. It will cost about $2,300. John Coffey, vice chairman, presided at the meeting.

Halloween Vandals Slash Tires, Break Out Windows

Big Spring's Halloween celebrations were on the malicious side, even excluding the fatal stabbing downtown.

The trouble ranged from breaking out windows of houses to slashing tires.

A car parked at 109 NE 3rd, owned by Jacinto Lopez of Webb AFB, had the windows broken and tires slashed, and the Co-Op Gin, 511 NE 2nd, told the police that 11 tires on trailers parked at the gin were cut during the night.

Mrs. M. L. Nanny, 106 N. Nolan, said that the windows in her 1953 Buick had been knocked out. Three windows in a vacant house at 806 N. Nolan were broken also.

Thieves took two hub caps from a car owned by Harvey Menteon, 1506 Virginia, and the fender skirts from a car owned by James Miller, Webb AFB, were taken. Menteon's car was at his residence, while Miller lost his accessories downtown.

Kenneth Luton, 1010 E. 15th, reported a bicycle stolen, also Friday night.

Specialists Name Odessan

Dr. Albert B. Finch, Odessa, was selected president of the West Texas Obstetrical and Gynecological Society in its annual meeting here Saturday.

Approximately a score of physicians in the speciality took part in the afternoon and evening sessions at Cosden Country Club. In addition to members, some doctors from the Webb AFB and VA Hospitals and one other local physician outside the ob-gyn field attended.

Dr. Stewart Fish, assistant professor of obstetrics and gynecology at Southwestern Medical College in Dallas, was the featured lecturer. He gave two talks, one on the use of harmones in obstetrics and gynecology and the other on carcinoma of the vulva.

Dr. Fred Lurting, Big Spring, presented a paper on surgical procedures in children and young adults from the gynecological and obstetrical point of view. A film, "Recent Concepts in Caesarean Section," was also projected.

Other officers named at the meeting were Dr. John Rode, Abilene, president elect; Dr. J. W. Parks, Midland, vice president; and Dr. William Smith, Lubbock, secretary - treasurer. A Dutch luncheon opened activities and following a reception at 6:30 p.m., there was a dinner and a dance. Wives were entertained by Mrs. George Peacock and Mrs. Fred Lurting during the afternoon.

Dulles' Views On Tidelands Are Disputed

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Five Southern states argued in a new joint U.S. Supreme Court brief Saturday that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' views were unnecessary in the offshore boundary dispute.

The brief, to be filed with the court Monday, said letters written by Dulles in the case were irrelevant because they are based on an erroneous assumption foreign policy controls the issue.

Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Texas and Florida jointly said "the court is not bound to accept the Secretary of State's interpretation of historical facts or the legal status resulting therefrom."

The joint brief was made public by Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion, a spokesman for the five states.

The U.S. Department of Justice originally invited Dulles to write two letters dealing with the offshore boundary dispute.

The states claim three leagues offshore in the oil-rich Gulf of Mexico, while the Federal Government recognizes only three miles.

Four Children Perish In Fire

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP)—A desperate mother failed early Saturday to pull one of her three children from the family's burning home and that child and three others burned to death.

Charles Pasley, 32, a dairy worker at Ardmore, told investigators when he awoke about 1:30 a.m. the entire house was ablaze. He said he managed to reach safety through a door, but that his wife had to leap from a window.

where surgery was performed to close two perforations in his small intestines. He had lost a quantity of blood and was very weak. Saturday, however, it was reported he was resting quiety.

Rogers said that Paras was close-mouthed about the matter and refused to say who had stabbed him or where it had occurred.

In the meantime, the Top Hat proprietor had called in that there had been a fight at the tavern and that he believed two men had been hurt.

Sometime later, Joe Ybarra, 25, went to Cowper Hospital for treatment of less serious slash wound on the abdomen. He told the officers that after he had been stabbed his father took him to the hospital where it was said his injury is not serious.

Rogers said that two knives, one slightly boodstained, were taken from the two men.

Plane Is Missing

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Cubana Airlines turbojet plane carrying 20 persons vanished Saturday night on a flight from Miami to Varadero Beach, Cuba.

Whether the four-engined plane suffered a flight mishap or was diverted into rebel territory was a topic of conjecture in Miami.

12-Year-Old Lad Is Shot To Death

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—A 12-year-old Boy Scout who telephoned his mother he would be a little late arriving home from school was found shot to death Saturday in a wooded ravine near his home.

The body of David Benson, only child of Robert and Avace Benson, was discovered at daybreak by a searching party of state troopers and fellow scouts with whom he had planned to go on a hike Saturday.

The seventh-grade pupil had been shot in the head and abdomen with .38-caliber slugs and his neck bore marks indicating he had been strangled with a rope or wire, police said.

The body was fully clothed and face down. His zipper bag containing his school books, pen and pencils was found in the ravine, 100 feet away.

Starfighter Helps Us Breathe Easier

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The F104 Starfighter—able to fly twice as fast as sound and to climb straight up at the same speed—is one of the deadliest weapons in the American arsenal.

It's armed with two Sidewinder missiles which sniff out and track down an enemy plane by following heat rays from the hostile plane's engine.

It is essentially an interceptor, designed, says the Air Force in its technical jargon, as an "air superiority fighter." It can fly higher almost 100,000 feet in a test and faster 1,404.19 miles per hour than any present bomber or operational fighter.

Even in level flight it could keep pace with the velocity of a shell fired from a 16-inch gun.

The F104 is, in itself, a missile — but carries a man who seems to go along to give the "missile" some advice.

Several Starfighters have been sent to a base on Formosa, to be ready for use against Communist jets if they attack.

It is estimated that an F104 could take off from the Formosan base, fly the 60 miles to Quemoy Island and arrive at a point 50,000 feet above the island in 12 minutes.

Although classified now as a fighter, officials of the Lockheed Aircraft Corp., its maker, say the F104 could be adapted to various other uses, including delivery of atomic bombs by mounting them externally. It also could be fitted for ground strafing attack.

A 15,000-pound thrust General Electric J79 jet engine powers the F104. To this is added, for speed bursts, the extra thrust of an after-burner, combustion induced in the tail pipe.

The Starfighter seems to have little visible means of support. Its wings are the tiniest of any American combat plane. Each wing extends out only 7 feet, 6 inches from the fuselage. This, with the help of terrific air speed, keeps the 54-foot-long airplane weighing several tons aloft. The leading edges of the wings are so sharp that covers are placed on them when ground crews handle the plane, to prevent cut hands.

The F104 may be the best fighter in the air now, but new designs and new requirements come rapidly. How long is the expected life span of the Starfighter? Its designers estimate from 7 to 10 years from inception to final production. That could mean a new design or substantial changes in the present design would come in the next three or four years.

Moscow Eggheads Worried Over Pasternak Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bitter, soul searching dispute is reported to be boiling among intellectual leaders in Moscow as a result of the Boris Pasternak affair.

Word to this effect is beginning to come through to Western capitals in the aftermath of Soviet persecution of the famous author.

Authorities here said the fragmentary information so far available leaves no doubt that university circles and some of Pasternak's colleagues in the writing profession have been badly shaken by the Communist leadership's attack on him.

The Pasternak case is regarded privately by official experts here as one of the worst blunders which the Soviet leadership has been guilty of in several years.

Although it lacks the scope and tragedy of Russia's handling of the Hungarian anti-Communist revolt two years ago, there is some tendency to compare the two. In this case it is intellectual rather than political freedom which is at issue.

The official U. S. position is strictly hands-off. Anything the U. S. government did officially would probably be worse than wasted effort. This is so because the Soviets would doubtless seize upon any pretext to try to support their major charge against Pasternak—that he is a creature of Western imperialism.

As of now, Washington authorities judge that the whole affair has done severe damage to Soviet prestige throughout the world in addition to angering a large section of the intellegientsia within Russia.

BSHS Exes Will Assemble Friday For Homecoming

Former students of Big Spring High School come back home Friday and Saturday.

Members of the student body are going all out to welcome the exes, and Coach Al Milch is hoping the football team will present the homecoming crowd with a conference victory over Midland.

A colorful starter is set for 4:30 p.m. Friday when the homecoming parade will be held. A number of school organizations, and others, have started work on floats for the occasion.

This event will terminate with a big pep rally on the courthouse square, setting the stage for the Big Spring-Midland football game in Memorial Stadium at 8 p.m.

Former students may register Saturday from 4 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. at the high school auditorium, and a brief program at 7:30 p.m. will start the evening's activities to rolling. James Bruce Frazier is chairman of this activity.

At 8 p.m. there will be class meetings (most of them will meet in groups of four classes) for a brief period of re-introduction and visiting, and at 8:30 p.m. in the cafeteria, there will be a general reception for all the exes. High school students are bringing cookies for the occasion and punch and coffee are being arranged.

Afterwards, there will be a talkfest and dance for the exes while the high school students are having their homecoming ball in the high school gymnasium.

Mrs. Lloyd Zack Gray, who has been heading up arrangements, said that committee chairmen apparently had everything well in hand. The high school student council, headed by James Howard Stephenson, has been exceptionally busy in planning for the affair. Former students registering for the homecoming will be asked to give $1 toward defraying expenses of the big get-together.

Since these come duty-free, the firm can pass on savings effected in cutting and polishing the stones in this country.

Farm Bureau Will Honor Ex-President

CORPUS CHRISTI — J. Walter Hammond of Tye, former president of the Texas Farm Bureau, will be honored at a special appreciation program here Nov. 9 at the farm organization's silver anniversary convention.

Hammond was leader of the state Farm Bureau from 1939 until last November. He was succeeded by J. H. West of Bishop, former secretary - treasurer and vice president of the farm organization. During Hammond's 19 years in office the membership grew from less than 5,000 to 72,681. During this period, the TFB has been credited with many notable achievements on behalf of agriculture.

At the appreciation program, the Texas Farm Bureau will present Hammond with its Distinguished Service Award, inaugurated only this year as a special honor for the former president. A gift, yet to be announced, purchased by contributions to the "J. Walter Hammond Appreciation Fund" will be given to him. A bust of Hammond, also purchased by the Fund contributions, will be unveiled during the appreciation program ceremonies.

The Appreciation Fund was started earlier this year by many of Hammond's friends over the state. John I. Bowling, Hale Center farmer and chairman of the state-wide Appreciation Fund Committee, will present the gift. B. J. Gist, Abilene, District 7 director, will preside at the unveiling of the bust. Loys D. Barbour, Iowa Park, District 3 director, will act as master of ceremonies for the event.

HISTORICAL INSIGHT

Other Books Are Helpful During Study Of Bible

By DON HENRY

Try reading a book about the Bible while studying the Bible.

This practice is recommended by Big Spring pastors.

Three local ministers reported that a commentary on the Bible is a good help in studying, but they don't go as far as one Bible professor.

Dr. Allen Wehrli, professor of Old Testament studies at Eden Theological Seminary at Webster Grove, Mo., has the philosophy that if you want to read the Bible intelligently, don't start with the Bible; start with a book about it.

Rev. Clyde Nichols, pastor of the First Christian Church, disagreed with Dr. Wehrli's suggestion about reading a commentary first, but he did think that studying a Bible help was good.

Rev. Nichols felt that there needed to be more reading about the Bible, to gain an insight to the history of the times, how the Bible was written, and when.

START IN CENTER

To start "from scratch" in studying the Bible, Rev. Nichols recommended starting with the book of Mark and the life of Christ rather than beginning with the first book, Genesis.

"Naturally, the center of the Bible is Christ, and our study should stem from this and branch outward."

He recommended "Abingdon's Bible Commentary," a one-volume book and also the "Interpreter's Bible." The latter is a 12-volume book which is also recommended by Dr. Jordan Grooms.

Dr. Grooms, pastor of the First Methodist Church, listed the "Interpreter's Bible" as one of his favorites and one which is written in a form anyone could understand.

He didn't fully agree with Dr. Wehrli's statement, either. He said that a commentary should be read along with the Bible but not before. All helps to studying the Bible are usually good, he said.

BACKGROUND

"A commentary helps a person to certain Scriptures which would be hard to understand otherwise."

The Rev. Jack Ware, St. Paul Presbyterian Church pastor, favors Haley's "Handbook to the Bible" and also "Your Bible and You" by Charles R. Erdman.

The Rev. Ware voiced the opinion of the other two preachers that studying a commentary along with the Bible was a good way to gain a better insight into the book.

Many books on the Bible are available in Big Spring should a person wish to study them. Both the Howard County Public Library and the library at HCJC have the "Interpreter's Bible" series. There are at least 12 books on the Bible at the county library in addition to several translations of the Bible.

At HCJC, Paul Vagt, librarian, reported about 20 volumes in addition to the 12-volume series. Also on hand there are translations, Bible dictionaries, a Bible atlas, and other books relating to Biblical times.

Cliburn, Evans To Be At Baylor 'Ideals' Meeting

WACO (AP)—The Baylor University conference on American Ideals Nov. 6-8 will center around Dr. Louis Hadley Evans, noted California and New York clergyman, and Van Cliburn, the Kilgore pianist.

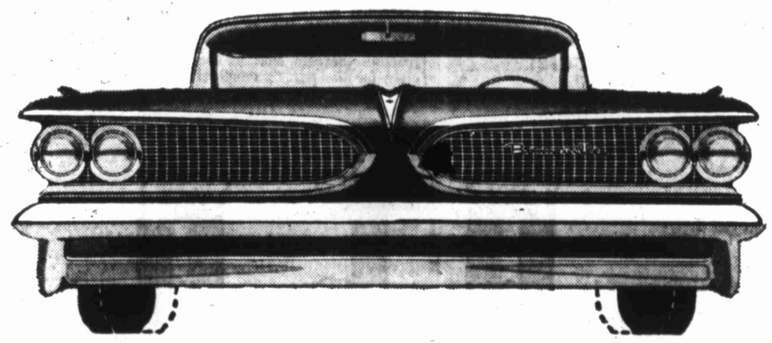

Both will receive honorary degrees.

Dr. Evans, a Presbyterian minister and author, twice has been chosen in nationwide news polls as one of America's 10 greatest Protestant pastors.

Cliburn is the youth who won the Tschaikowsky International Competition in Moscow last spring and has stirred musical circles since. He will be presented in a concert with the Baylor Symphony Orchestra Thursday night. He will play the Tschaikowsky concerto with which he won the Moscow award.

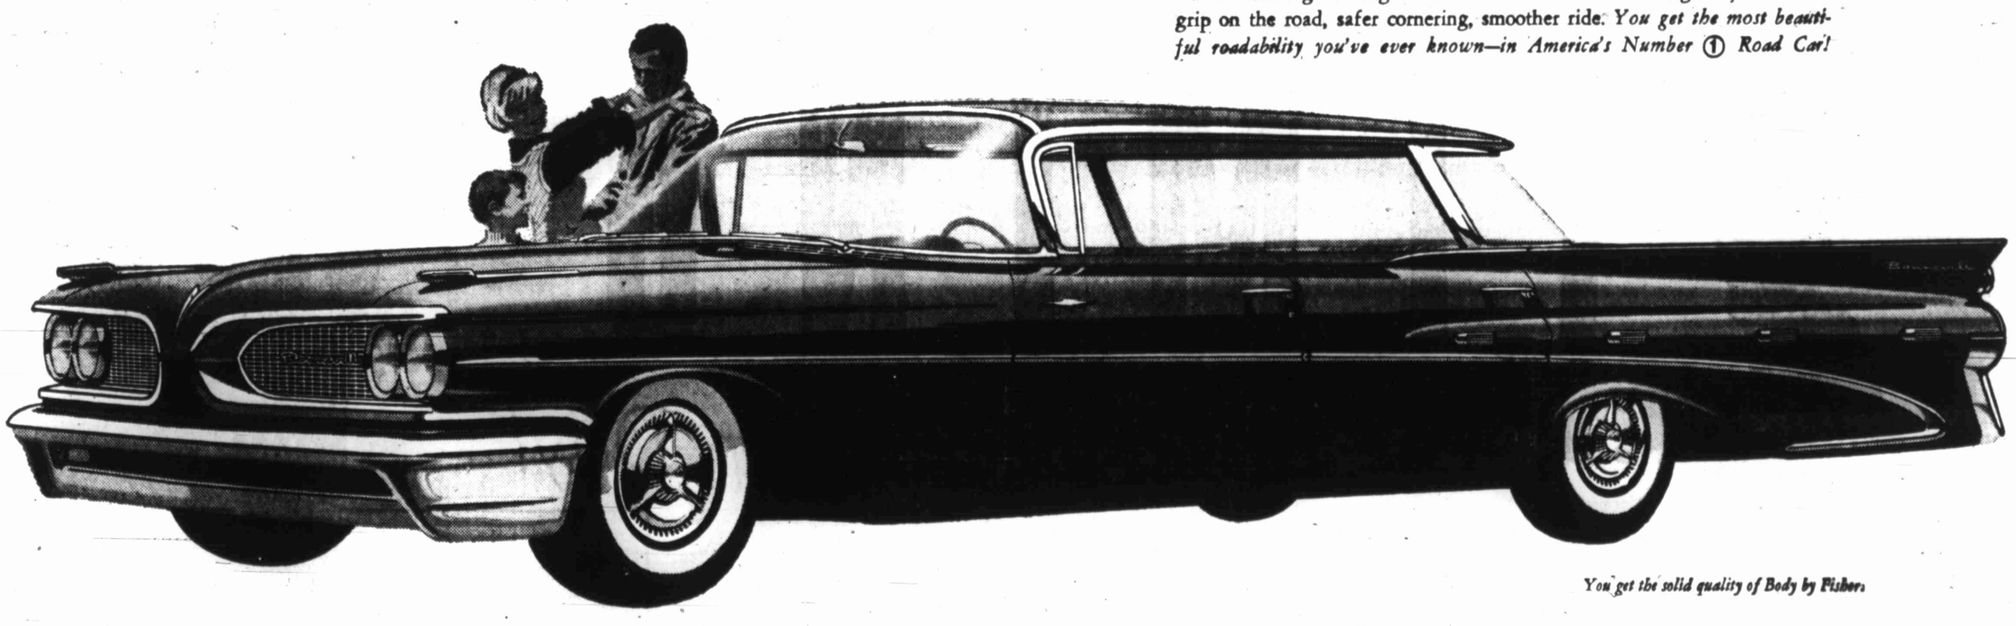

On the same program will be Miklow Bencze, who until the Hungarian revolution was the leading basso of the Budapest opera.

Bucks Are Plump, Sassy This Year

AUSTIN (AP) — Bucks will be plump and sassy when deer season opens Nov. 16, statewide reports indicated Saturday.

Cecil Reid, executive secretary of Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas, said reports reaching his headquarters "universally agree that this is the fall when those bucks will come plump and sassy."

"A mild winter and green pring got the herds past the fawning season in excellent condition," Reid said, "summer weather was favorable for an ideal growing season which produced superb fall feed conditions. And that simply adds up to good, fat venison on the hoof."

Major Aspect Of Election: Effect Of Vote On Conventions

AUSTIN (AP)—One of the major aspects of Tuesday's general election in Texas is not even hinted on the bulky ballot.

It is the fact that representation at 1960's vital county and state conventions hinges on the total vote cast for the candidate for governor by each political party.

Thus, Texas Democrats or Republicans who fail to vote in the general election will be cheating themselves generally as citizens and especially hurting their party or faction as the case may be.

This situation led Sen. Ralph Yarborough to urge Texas labor leaders to vote in the general election for his arch-enemy, Gov. Price Daniel, who is up for re-election on the Nov. 4 ballot as the Democratic nominee.

Under the Texas election law, the county convention of each political party is made up of delegates named in the precinct conventions at the ratio of one per each 25 votes (or major fraction thereof) cast in the precinct for the party's candidate for governor in the last preceding general election.

The county conventions in turn name their delegates to the state conventions at the rate of one per each 300 votes (or major fraction of 300) cast for the party's candidate for governor in the last preceding general election.

Both Yarborough and Daniel have Republican opponents in the general election. The GOP leaders are hoping to make as good a showing as possible for their candidates, Roy Whittenburg of Amarillo and Ed Mayer of San Angelo, respectively. The Republicans continue to hammer away at their hopes of making Texas a true two-party state. The Democrats, almost casually confident of victory, are urging a big partisan turn-out chiefly because of the long range effects on the next series of conventions—this time in a presidential election year.

In Democratic circles at least there will be another furious fight for convention control throughout 1960.

The first tests will come in the precinct and county conventions climaxed by the May state convention. In presidential election years, this is the party session which elects delegates to the national convention and names the presidential electors. It may develop into a favorite-son contest and most assuredly will see the liberals and conservatives walloping away at each other as usual.

Therefore both factions within the party in Texas have been busy in recent weeks trying to stir their voters into action Tuesday, urging them to snap out of the usual off-year general election lethargy.

LOOKS AT BOOKS

By Sam Blackburn

USING THE AMERICAN QUARTER HORSE by L. N. Sikes with Bob Gray. Saddlerock Corp. $7.50

Here's a book which will appeal to a lot of folk a great deal more than it does to this reviewer. In a sense, the liberally illustrated volume is a textbook for folk who go in for quarter horses. I only know enough about quarter horses only to recognize the number of men and women interested in this breed is tremendous.

It's an unusual book in the style in which it is written. I understand that most of it is the transcription of tape recordings by L. N. Sikes, long an expert in the field and recognized as one of the most qualified men on quarter horses in the Southwest. Bob Gray, a Houston Post writer, touched up the text and the two men together turned out the finished product.

There are scores of photographs by Sikes which I am quite sure would be of great interest to quarter horse owners and trainers. Unfortunately, they are just pictures of horses to me. Pretty enough, to be sure, but not as likely to hold my interest as they might hold yours.

In this book, you will find a complete history of the quarter horses, you can learn how to train one, and you can discover the best uses for the nation's most popular horse.

There is 160 pages and 13 chapters in the book. The style followed, quite readable and absorbing, is basically instructional.

How much does it cost to keep a quarter horse? Gray tells you and explains each item in the expense list. How do you pick the right sort of quarter horse? All the tips on what too look for are carefully listed.

What price will you have to pay? Well, you'll probably be surprised unless you are more familiar with the quarter horse situation than I am.

The book was officially released on Nov. 1. However the publishers, 811 Saddlerock Drive, Houston, 9, Texas, say that they will welcome mail orders. The price is $7.50 per copy postpaid.

World War I Vets Organize

COLORADO CITY—Veterans of the first World War organized the Mitchell County Barracks of Veterans of World War I Friday night at Colorado City with 17 charter members.

Keith Miles, local gasoline wholesaler, was elected Barracks commander. Miles has been active in both the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars in Colorado City.

Other officers are Leroy Gressett, senior vice commander; Dr. E. W. Brunner, junior vice commander; W. O. Jackson, quartermaster; Joe Smith, chaplain; C. M. Watson, judge advocate and W. C. Davis, Sam Thompson and Dave Womack, trustees.

Other members include Roy E. Warren, Bradley McQuerry, Roy F. Murry, Earl N. Burk, Roy C. Dozier, Lewis Elliott, John B. Pritchett, Howard Rogers, Acie Phillips.

Miles said that the charter will be held open until Jan. 1 for further members. The next meeting was set for Nov. 10 at the American Legion Hall.

The barracks was organized by Arthus G. Lundine, Beaumont, department chief of staff and Arthur S. Kahn, junior vice commander of Wichita Falls.

Suspect Tells Of Burglaries

Joseph A. Covette Jr., 18, Elm Courts, was formally charged with burglary of the R&H Hardware in a complaint lodged in the court of Walter Grice, justice of the peace Saturday.

The store was burglarized Oct. 25. A number of pistols, rifles and ammunition was stolen. Entrance was gained by forcing a rear window on the south side. The loot has not been recovered.

Covette also made a statement to Jack Hackney, deputy sheriff, admitting two burglaries of the office of Louis Jean Thompson, engineer, in the Wasson building. He made a third attempt to burglarize the same place but was foiled because the transom he had been using to gain entrance had been repaired and he could not open it, he said.

Hackney said that Covette told him he formerly worked for Thompson.

He took $28 on Oct. 16. On the next night, he re-entered the office, but got only a small amount of money, Hackney said the man related. The third attempt, on Oct. 24, was unsuccessful because the transom had been fastened securely in place.

Eyes On 1960

Buster Quist (above), who lettered two years as a starting end at the University of New Mexico, has quit football to concentrate on throwing the javelin. He hopes to land on the U.S. Olympic team in 1960. Quist's best throw has been 239.9 feet.

Meredith Leads SMU By Texas

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN (AP) — Pass master Don Meredith whistled a 35-yard scoring pass and rammed in the second touchdown himself to send SMU on to a 26-10 win over Texas here Saturday.

The second-half comeback triggered the Mustangs to their first Southwest Conference victory in two tries. Texas, two weeks ago the nation's No. 4 team, dropped its second straight league game and fell out of the running for the championship.

A 23-yard field goal by Bobby Lackey had sent the fiery Longhorns to a 10-0 lead before SMU got its first score.

SMU drove to the Texas 35 and on the spread, Meredith found right half Billy Polk on about the 20. Polk appeared to be stopped but rolled around a nest of Steer secondary men and scampered on in.

End Bob Bryant returned the kickoff 30 yards to the 48 and the Longhorns began another march. But with third and three on the 18, Lackey's pitchback to Bobby Gurwitz was short of its mark and Gurwitz fell on the ball at the 21. On a run or pass play Gurwitz slammed back to the 18 where SMU took over.

Two carries put the ball on the 30 and Meredith shot a pass to end Bub Jones at midfield. On the next play an interference penalty was called on the 18 after Texas almost intercepted. Quickly, the talented Meredith tossed a 20-yard lateral play to missile-man Glynn Gregory who streaked forward to the 3. Meredith rammed in for the score.

With less than three minutes to go, SMU scooted for two more scores. One came on a 35-yard interception of a Gurwitz pass and the last coming with about a minute left on a 75-yard punt return.

Tirey Wilemon, a left half workhorse from Waxahachie, intercepted the pass and Norman Marshall took a lateral from Dan Bowden on the 25 and churned 75 yards for the Mustangs' last tally.

Texas blasted for 245 yards on the ground but Meredith and SMU starting quarterback Billy Dunn passed for 214 yards. Meredith hit six of 12 tries for 112 yards and had one pass intercepted. Dunn had 7 of 14 for 102 yards. SMU made only 59 yards rushing but Texas got only 40 passing.

Big Mike Dowdle led the charge for Texas in the first half, bulling for 21 of the 47 yards in the Steers' only touchdown drive early in the opening quarter. Dowdle rammed in from the three.

Guard Tom Koenig, who missed most of the first half with an injured leg, was outstanding for SMU in the line, along with Christopher. Tackle Larry Stephens stood out for Texas' line.

Oklahoma Lowers Boom On Bisons

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) —Oklahoma let Colorado have the first touchdown and a moment of glory before belting the Buffaloes from the unbeaten ranks 23-7 in a Big Eight Conference football game Saturday.

Fullback Prentice Guatt's 48-yard touchdown trip and a 2-point conversion pulled Oklahoma ahead in the first quarter. The Sooners began pulling away with a 77-yard scoring march in the third quarter.

They sailed out of reach when end Russ Coyle blocked quarterback Boyd Dowler's fourth-down punt and recovered on Colorado's 8 to set up Oklahoma's third touchdown.

Colorado's only show reminiscent of its five straight victories this season came late in the first quarter. Eddie Dove returned a punt 38 yards to Oklahoma's 30. A 12-yard pass and a holding penalty moved the ball to Oklahoma's 3. Halfback Howard Cook carried it over on the second play.

The victory kept alive Oklahoma's 11-year reign of 68 games without a loss in the Big Eight and gave them a long leg on an expected trip to the Orange Bowl.

The biggest football crowd in Colorado history, 47,000, packed Folsom Field in perfect weather.

It was the worst defeat Colorado has suffered at home against Oklahoma.

After Colorado's first score, Oklahoma marched in six plays to Colorado's 48, where Gautt broke through tackle for a touchdown.

Oklahoma went in front 8-7 on a two-point conversion pass from quarterback Dave Baker to halfback Jim Carpenter.

Gautt's 11-yard run to Colorado's 15 highlighted Oklahoma's 77-yard march to its third-quarter touchdown.

Crimson Tide Tips Georgia

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Alabama scored very early and very late and stopped numerous Georgia threats in between Saturday for a 12-0 victory in a Southeastern Conference football game marred by a fight in the closing seconds.

Halfback Gary O'Steen turned right end for 14 and a touchdown to end a 3-play 37-yard march early in the first period. It had been set up by O'Steen's great quick kicking.

The invaders threatened repeatedly thereafter, with O'Steen and guard Wayne Sims the 'Bama heroes in stopping them short of the goal line.

With just three minutes left, end Norbie Ronsonett intercepted a pass from Britt and raced 38 to the Georgia 16. Quarterback Bobby Jackson lugged it to the 1 and then dived over to make it 12-0.

'Bama recovered an onside kick on the Georgia 40 just before the game's end to set off the free-for-all. Georgia's center Dave Lloyd and Bama tackles Dave Sington and Carl Valleto were pulled out by their coaches but there was no penalty. The contest ended two plays later on a more peaceful note.

Cotton Bowl Grid Stars To Be Chosen By Decades

DALLAS (AP) — A generation of Cotton Bowl football stars will earn permanent honors and a new set will be chosen for each decade.

Thus, L. D. Meyer of TCU, who scored all his team's points in the 16-6 victory over Marquette that started the New Year's Day football game in 1937, will finally get on an all-star Cotton Bowl team.

There had been wonder through the years why Meyer hadn't made the team in the first place but it couldn't be changed because a couple of more modern players had been given the wing posts.

Bobby Layne, who put on a fantastic passing exhibition for Texas in beating Missouri in 1946, got on the team for the first era but as a halfback. Layne either passed for or scored all Texas' points that day.

Dicky Moegle of Rice, who put on the greatest running show in bowl history—265 yards gained — as Rice beat Alabama in 1954, is on the team for the current decade. Moegle was the victim of the famed "tackle from the bench."

A committee of veteran sports observers, representing newspapers and wire services, this week voted a new plan for Cotton Bowl all-stars. A team was chosen for the 1937-49 period and another for the 1950 period.

The 1937-49 team is made up of these:

2-24 COTTON BOWL

Ends—L. D. Meyer, TCU 1937 and Holt Rast, Alabama 1942.

Tackles—Jim Kekeris, Missouri 1946, and Martin Ruby, Texas A&M 1942 and Randolph Field 1944.

Guards—Charles Henke, Texas A&M 1941, and Jack Freeman, Texas 1943.

Center—Ki Aldrich, TCU 1937.

Quarterback—Sammy Baugh, TCU 1937.

Halfbacks—Bobby Layne, Texas, 1946, and Glenn Dobbs, Randolph Field 1944.

Fullback—John Kimbrough, Texas A&M 1941.

The 1950-58 team:

Ends—James Williams, Rice 1950, and Horace Sherrod, Tennessee 1951.

Tackles—Dick Chapman, Rice 1954, and Norman Hamilton, TCU, 1957.

Guards—Harley Sewell, Texas 1953, and Tony Siremic, Navy 1958.

Center—Joe Watson, Rice 1950.

Quarterback—Tom Forrestal, Navy 1958.

Halfbacks—Dicky Moegle, Rice 1954, and Jim Brown, Syracuse, 1957.

Fullback—Andy Kozar, Tennessee 1951.

Old Mizzou Is 31-0 Winner

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Missouri demoralized Nebraska with an easy touchdown in the first three minutes and 10 seconds of play Saturday, then rolled to a 31-0 Big Eight football triumph before a Husker homecoming crowd of 35,000.

Nebraska fumbles set the Tigers up for two of their touchdown assaults, but they didn't need the help.

Speedy Missouri backs worried Nebraska defenders all day and the Huskers never were able to muster an effective offense of their own.

Missouri scored in every quarter in racking up a third straight loop victory without defeat. For the season, it was Missouri's fourth win in seven starts.

Nebraska holds a 2-5 record, 1-3 in the conference.

Missouri played without the injured Phil Snowden, the Big Eight's leading passer and punter. But Bob Haas pinchhit ably, passing for the first Missouri touchdown and generally managing the Tigers well.

Halfback Hank Kuhlmann provided the day's scoring spectacular. On the first running play of the fourth quarter, the 192-pound Kuhlmann got through the line, sped past Nebraska defenders and romped 86 yards to score.

Nebraska never got closer than 27 yards to pay dirt.

Beavers Get Inside Track

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Oregon State stole a pitchout and intercepted a pass to upset California 14-8 and take the lead in the Pacific Coast Conference Saturday.

Joe Kapp, California's standout quarterback, was the victim of each theft as Oregon State took the inside track in the race for a Rose Bowl invitation.

Kapp had guided California to a touchdown the first time California got the ball and was starting another drive when center Doug Bashor of Oregon State boldly stormed through the line and stole the ball as Kapp was trying a pitchout. Bashor lumbered 33 yards untouched to a touchdown.

Halfback Dainard Paulson ran in for the conversion and the score was tied 8-8.

Halfback John Horrillo set up Oregon State's winning touchdown by snagging a Kapp pass late in the third quarter. That gave State the ball on California's 33. Halfback Paul Lowe threw passes for 11 and 14 yards and then after State punched to the 8, he took off around end and scored without a hand being laid on him.

Hoosiers Bruise Past Minnesota

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Indiana's line held steady and the Hoosiers drove the length of a soggy field in the third quarter to beat Minnesota 6-0 Saturday.

It was the underrated Hoosiers' third football victory of the season but their first in Big Ten competition in two years. The loss was the Gophers' sixth straight of the season and their ninth in succession. Their last victory was over Indiana last year.

The Indiana secondary let Minnesota pass receivers get behind them for three long gains, but they also killed two Gopher touchdown threats with interceptions near the goal line.

Ted Smith scored the Indiana touchdown on a one-yard plunge after he and Vic Jones had lugged the ball all the way from Indiana's 12-yard line.

Footballer Died From Hurt Spleen

DUMAS, Tex. (AP)—An autopsy report Saturday said that Bobby Moore, Phillips High School football player, died of a ruptured spleen and shock.

The 17-year-old senior end collapsed in the opening minutes of the game with Dumas High School here last night. Efforts to revive him failed and he was pronounced dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital.

He was the fourth high school football player in Texas to die this year in a game or practice scrimmage.

Moore was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Moore of Fritch, Tex.

Arizona Lashes West Texas, 15-8

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Arizona turned West Texas State fumbles into a 15-8 Border Conference football victory Saturday.

A recovered fumble gave quarterback Ralph Hunsaker a chance to hit Billy Keasley in the end zone with a 12-yard pass in the fourth quarter.

West Texas took an 8-point lead when Rex Loftis went over tackle for 55 yards in the second quarter. Mac Kehoe passed to Bob Ratliff for the conversion.

Hunsaker scored on a one-foot sneak in the same period after a 37-yard pass to Gene Bubala. Larry Dumelie passed to Bubala for the conversion.

Aarizona had driven to the West Texas 6 after recovering a fumble in the final quarter. Loftis stopped the drive by recovering Billy Overall's fumble. Overall recovered on the 22 when Kehoe fumbled, laying the groundwork for Hunsaker's winning pass. Hunsaker kicked the extra point.

Ole Miss Loses

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Top-ranked Louisiana State used a mighty goal line stand and a Mississippi fumble for a 14-0 victory Saturday night that opened the door to a Sugar Bowl bid and the possible national championship.

Scrappy Deacons Defeated By Clemson Tigers, 14-12

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — Clemson remained on the crest of the Atlantic Coast conference with a 4-1 record Saturday downing a hustling Wake Forest football team 14-12.

A crowd of 26,000, gathered under threatening skies, saw Clemson stop an opening Wake Forest threat, then stay in command the rest of the game.

Quarterback Harvey White pointed Clemson toward its fifth victory in six starts by plunging from the 1 for a second quarter touchdown, then converting with a two-point pass to end Wyatt Cox. This first play of the second period capped an 80-yard drive.

Wake Forest halfback Bob Robinson drove over from the 2 for a score in the second period but a pass try for a two-point conversion was incomplete.

A short Wake Forest punt in the fourth period to the Clemson 28 sent the Tigers on their way for the clincher. Third string quarterback Johnny Goff scored on a 1-yard plunge.

Wake Forest went 88 yards after the kickoff for its second touchdown. Quarterback Norman Snead scored on a 5-yard run when he was unable to find a pass receiver.

Snead was shaken up on the play and quarterback Charlie Carpenter came in to try for the tying two points on a pass. But he couldn't find a receiver and his wild throw was incomplete.

Houston Cougars Shocked By Tulsa

HOUSTON (AP)—Tulsa's Golden Hurricane struck for two touchdowns the first nine minutes tonight to jolt the University of Houston 25-20 and hand the favored Cougars their first Missouri Valley Conference defeat in three years.

Led by quarterback Jerry Keeling, the Hurricane turned two fumble recoveries into a quick 13-0 lead and used a 87-yard third quarter scamper by halfback Joe Cheap to turn back a second-half Houston comeback.

G. Izo Paces Notre Dame To 40-20 Win Over Navy

BALTIMORE (AP) — Notre Dame left Navy floundering in the wake of three second period touchdowns on the passing of quarterback George Izo and cruised to a resounding 40-20 football victory Saturday.

Notre Dame's winning score was only a point shy of its 1948 record total in the 33 games with Navy. It equalled the most scored on Navy in nine years of coaching by Eddie Erdelatz, Maryland setting the mark in 1951 with a 40-21 victory.

Izo, 205 pound junior from Barberton, Ohio, retired in the third quarter with his Irish ahead 34-14. Coach Terry Brennan had given him the starting role Saturday after Notre Dame had lost two of its first five games.

Izo more than justified the change. Before leaving the game, he had thrown three touchdown passes and set up the fourth for a 27-6 halftime lead.

Two sophomore halfbacks, Joe Bellino of Navy and Bill Mack of Notre Dame, provided the long range thrills for the capacity crowd of 57,773 in Memorial Stadium.

Bellino, from Winchester, Mass., raced 82 yards for a touchdown after taking a handoff on a kickoff and caught a 46-yard pass for another.

Mack, who was sent to prep school by Navy, also scored twice, once on a 65-yard runback of a punt.

AGGIES ARE BOMBED BY ARKANSAS, 21-8

By WHITEY SAWYER

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Speedy Sophomore Joe Alberty sprinted 77 yards with a kickoff return to set up the winning touchdown and chipped in another himself in leading a host of fast Arkansas backs to a 21-8 upset of Texas A&M Saturday night.

It was the first victory of the season for the Razorbacks and made it two conference losses for the Aggies, which pretty well put them out of the championship picture.

Jim Mooty, Jim Monroe and Mike Cooney backed up the Arkansas attack to more than match the terrific passing display put on by Charley Milstead and Ed Dudley of A&M.

Arkansas jumped off to a 7-0 lead in the first period on an 8-yard run by Monroe. Wayne Harris, Arkansas center, set it up by recovering the fumble when A&M received the opening kickoff.

The Aggies struck back with Dudley passing and running and Luther Hall bucking the line. Dudley got the touchdown from the two. He passed to Ralph Smith for the two extra points and an Aggie lead.

But Arkansas came back in the third period with two touchdowns. Alberty set up the first with the opening kickoff return. Mooty got it on a 1-yard dive.

Mooty, Monroe and Alberty ripped off the yardage in great chunks for the next Arkansas TD. Alberty intercepted a Milstead pass on his own 10 to start the series. Monroe got 22 yards, Mooty 14, Alberty 22 and Don Horton 16 in the drive. Alberty scored from the one.

Milstead and Dudley, with John Tracey, Hall and Randy Sims receiving, whipped up some mighty passing drives, but each was stopped by the stubborn Razorbacks.

Alberty's zipping kickoff return was the longest in the conference this season. He took the ball on his own 5 and got to the Aggie 16 before Milstead, who had kicked off, pulled him down from behind.

The Aggie defense was hurt when Dick Gay tore a knee ligament in the first period and went out for the game.

A&M got to the Arkansas 12 in the first period, but Milstead was thrown for a loss and a field goal try from the 16 failed.

In the second period, Milstead guided an Aggie drive to the Arkansas 10, but the drive died on the Arkansas 12 after Billy Michael spilled Milstead for a loss.

Milstead got shaken up the next time the Aggies got the ball and Dudley, helped by a 15-yard penalty against the Razorbacks, guided the Cadets to their score. He hit Hall for 15 yards, hit Tracey for 20, and Hall bucked it to the two. Dudley took it over.

Mustang B Team Rips Shorthorns

Sweetwater's reserves swarmed all over the Big Spring High School B team in posting a 46-0 football victory here Saturday night. The Mustangs led at half time, 20-0.

In a previous meeting between the two clubs at Sweetwater, the Ponies won, 20-0.

Big Spring drove to the Ponies' ten a couple of times but couldn't get across. The visitors seemed deadliest on end sweeps.

Ronnie Clanton, Carey King and R. L. Lasater all showed to advantage for Big Spring.

Pitt Shocked By Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Chuck Zimmerman led a determined 80-yard march and scored with a minute and 26 seconds remaining Saturday to give Syracuse a 16-13 upset victory over mighty Pittsburgh.

The triumph raised the Orangemen high in the list of post-season bowl possibilities.

Pitt, the team which knocked Army from the nation's No. 1 position with a 14-14 tie last week, made a desperate attempt to wrest the game from the fire in the fading seconds.

The Panthers marched to the Syracuse 21, and then with eight seconds and one play on the clock, Bill Kaliden shot a pass over the goal line intended for Ron Delfine or Mike Ditka.

Dan Fogerty, second string Syracuse quarterback, leaped high in the air and snatched the pass—and with it secured victory — as the final gun sounded.

It was Kaliden, a whip-armed substitute for Pitt's famed Ivan "The Terrible" Toncic, who aroused the slumbering Panthers and sparked them to two second half touchdowns and a temporary 13-10 lead.

A bevy of fierce linemen and alert secondary defenders, who twice stopped Pitt at the tender edge of the Syracuse goal line, helped the Orangemen spurt to a 10-0 halftime lead before a crowd of 38,000.

Late Drive Pays Off For Academy

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Air Force's nifty quarterback Rich Mayo, unruffled by his team's 29-25 deficit, fired seven passes in a last minute, 7-yard touchdown drive Saturday to beat Oklahoma State 33-29.

Mayo, who hit an amazing 28 of 45 passes for 214 yards, pitched the winning pass with nine seconds left to end Bob Brickey to complete a 13-yard play.

It was a blow to State, which held a 29-18 edge in the fourth quarter, but couldn't handle Mayo's tosses. Mayo directed an 80-yard drive and passed 11 yards to Phil Lane over the goal halfway through the final period and George Pupich made the conversion to pull Air Force within striking distance at 29-25.

Wayne Fields (33), with ball, is shown getting tackled in the Big Spring-Odessa football game Friday night, but not before he h.. hacked out valuable yardage for the Steers. The great tailback was the game's leading ground gainer, with 117 yards. He scored all of Big Spring's points in a 22-14 District 2-AAAA loss. The boy nearest the camera is James Ingram, Odessa. No. 33 is Buddy New, Odessa.

ODESSA (SC)—But for a couple of first period blunders, the Big Spring Steers might have slipped by the Odessa Bronchos here Friday night.

As it was, Hayden Fry's Red Hosses capitalized on the Steers mistakes to go out in front early and win a 22-14 District 2-AAAA decision before an estimated 7,500 fans.

The score proved a paradox in that it contributed to Big Spring's reputation and chipped away at Odessa's standing as a conference power.

Big Spring now becomes the favorite to topple Midland next week (and thereby win its first 2-AAAA game in history) while Odessa will enter the Abilene game Friday as the decided (and apparently hopeless) underdog.

Wayne Fields, Big Spring's candidate for all-state honors, gave the Odessa onlookers quite an eyeful and had the Odessa coaches reaching for the aspirin kit.

The big senior scored all of Big Spring's points and wound up as the leading ground gainer of the night with a total of 117 yards. Wayne, of course, got tremendous help from such boys as Bill French (who set about to turn in his top performance since the Edison bout), Buddy Barnes, Benny McCrary, Bobby McAdams, Tommy Whatley and Chubby Moser, among others.

Odessa's big guns proved to be Belmont Westbrook, who gained 115 yards; James Bryant, who got better as the game progressed; Ronnie Daugherty and Ronnie Goodwin.

Fields fumbled on Big Spring's first series of downs on Odessa's 46 and Roger Miles recovered for the Bronchos to set the Hosses' first TD drive in motion.

The Odessans then counted in eight plays, with Westbrook traveling the last 17 yards right up the backbone of the gridiron. Daugherty then added the two points on the conversion run to make it 8-0.

There were 5:45 minutes to go in the first when Daugherty legged it across for the TD.

McCrary returned the next kickoff to his own 41 but fumbled when he fell and Gary Crain recovered for Odessa.

Aided by a five-yard penalty, the Hosses counted in five plays, Daugherty again bruising across, this time from the 10. There was 3:25 minutes still to go in the period and Buddy New made it 16-0 with a run.

At that stage, it appeared Big Spring was in for a miserable evening but the Steers had come to play.

They held their own in the second quarter and then had things pretty much their own way in the second half.

The Hosses advanced as far as Big Spring's 24 in the second period but Frank Williamson recovered a Broncho bobble to puncture the Odessans' hopes.

Big Spring started a drive that carried to the Odessa's 37 before an interception queered the attack.

Carroll Golden of the Cayuses fumbled a Big Spring punt midway in the third and Benny Edwards recovered for Big Spring on Odessa's 35. The glorious opportunity paid off for the Steers a short time later, when Fields barrelled over from the one, with 5:29 to go in the period. French tried running for the two points and failed to leave the score at 16-6.

Odessa scored again before the quarter was out, Daughtery, Goodwin and Westbrook alternating at hacking out precious yardage. The drive carried 68 yards and Daughtery dived over from the two to beat the period alarm. Only 48 seconds of play remained in the round. Moser recovered Goodwin's fumble on the try for point to leave the score at 22-8.

The Steers controlled the ball in the fourth period and finally cranked up for their final score with 3:11 minutes to play in the round.

Fields battered across from one yard away at the end of a 71-yard drive, then did a swan dive to get the two points on the conversion try.

Big Spring got the ball again with four seconds left on the clock when Barnes intercepted a pass thrown by Bryant and returned to the 13.

French passed near midfield to Freddie Brown. Brown was well defended but almost caught the ball by going back for it. It was a fitting climax to a well-played game.

Wolfpack Holds VPI To A Tie

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Virginia Tech, led by quarterback Billy Holsclaw, the nation's leading yardage gainer, was halted on the 2-yard line in the fourth period Saturday and was held to a 14-14 tie by a scrappy North Carolina State College eleven.

Holsclaw accounted for one Tech touchdown and set up the other with his sparkling passing. State halfback Ken Trowbridge and fullbacks Arnold Nelson and Don Hafer sparkplugged the Wolfpack in the inter-conference battle before a homecoming crowd of about 13,000.

VPI's Ken Byrd intercepted a State pass midway in the fourth period and carried it 43 yards to the Wolfpack 34-yard line. The Gobblers picked up two first downs on the ground, advancing to the State 12.

Halfbacks Alger Pugh and Johnny Watkins tried the line, but State held and the Virginians missed the first down by inches just shy of the 2-yard line.

State began its game-tying drive midway in the second period on the Tech 43 after a punt runback. Nelson and Trowbridge led the way with Nelson going over from the 1-yard line. Larry Dixon kicked his second extra point to cinch the tie.

Title - Hungry Iowa Slams Wolverines

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Iowa's title-hungry Hawkeyes ended long years of frustration and torment and took a giant stride toward a Big Ten crown and Rose Bowl bid Saturday by turning back Michigan, 37-14.

Halfback Willie Fleming scored twice on runs of 72 and 61 yards to seal Iowa's first victory over a Michigan team since 1924.

It was the biggest victory in Coach Forest Evashevski's career. Evy, Tom Harmon's old blocking back in Michigan's finest gridiron days, has brought six Iowa teams against his alma mater and this was his first triumph.

The Wolverines battled from a 14-0 deficit and tied the score early in the third period, but Iowa finally overpowered the Michigan defense with fleet backs and superior manpower.

The Hawkeyes are rated No. 2 in the nation and are undisputed Big Ten leaders with a 4-0 conference mark.

After his club had ripped the Iowa defense for scoring drives of 66 and 74 yards, quarterback Stan Noskin fumbled on his own three yard line early in the third period. That fired up Iowa and the Hawks went in for the go-ahead touchdown.

Perry Jeter raced three yards around end for Iowa's third touchdown and from then on it was all Iowa.

Twice Michigan drove into Iowa territory, but both times gave up the ball on downs, once at the Hawkeye six.

After stopping that threat, quarterback Randy Duncan sparked the Hawks on a 94-yard march for a fourth touchdown.

Inspired Michigan State Is Nudged By Wisconsin

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)— Wisconsin clung doggedly to an early lead and fought off an inspired Michigan State second half comeback for a 9-7 football victory here Saturday.

Wisconsin clearly dominated the first half, scoring on an 80-yard drive and a field goal for a 9-0 intermission advantage.

But Michigan State thrilled a homecoming crowd of 71,040 and a nationwide television audience with a third period revival on an 87-yard scoring march.

The Spartan second stringers put together the big push. Quarterback Mike Panitch, a former starter demoted to a reserve role, passed the last seven yards to Sammy Williams in the end zone. Williams kicked the point.

Dale Hackbart, a talented passing and plunging quarterback, moved Wisconsin on its scoring surge in the second period. A 36-yard pass completion to Dave Kocurek which carried to the one was the key play. Hackbart sneaked in from there.

John Hobbs kicked the Wisconsin field goal from the 18 later in the second period.

Michigan State's Dean Look gave TV viewers and old grad rooters the most spectacular play of the game when he returned a punt 80 yards for what looked like a score, also in the second quarter.

Look edged one sideline then reversed his field to skirt the other, but a clipping penalty at midfield nullified the play.

Snyder Nipped By Sweetwater

SWEETWATER (SC)— Snyder's Tigers pushed No. 1 ranked Sweetwater to the limit here Friday night before succumbing, 27-20, in a 3-AAA contest.

Sweetwater made a desperation effort with two minutes left in the game, with 19-20 decision hanging over the touted Mustangs. Quarterback John Bryant threw a fourth down pass to end Pat Fraley, who went into the air to haul it down for the winning points. James Parker ran across the conversion for the final score.

The Mustangs had hit the score column first in the initial period on Ardis Gaither's 13-yard run. Snyder's Richard Mahan bolted 15 yards into the end zone to tie it, but conversion failed and scoring ended 6-6 in that quarter.

Sweetwater had a 13-12 edge at halftime after Snyder missed the PAT following Dick Hayes' three-yard scoring plunge. The Hosses had taken a 13-6 bulge earlier on Eddie Scott's 34-yard sprint to the promised land.

The Mustangs spread their advantage to 19-12 in the third on Bryant's one yard sneak. Mickey McGrew ran 10 yards for a touchdown and added the points on a run to give Snyder their only lead of the game, 20-19. With two mintues left, Sweetwater made the fourth down payoff play.

Snyder had 19 first downs; Sweetwater, 17. The Mustangs outgained them 273-216 in yards rushing, however.

Kats Spring 24-20 Upset

GARDEN CITY (SC)—Garden City's Bearkats, coached by Marlin Dodds, fought to an important 24-20 victory here Friday night, and as a result now hold the District 4-B (eight-man) lead with a 3-0 standing.

A triumph over Forsan there next Friday will cinch the title for Garden City.

Mertzon gave the home club quite a battle before Garden City's Frank Murphy, who scored 18 points, put Dodds' outfit in command. The Hornets drove to 13 first downs, and held Garden City to nine.

Billy Fisher scored another touchdown for Garden City.

Big Red Romps

NEW YORK (AP) — Cornell broke loose in the second half and rapped Columbia 25-0 as expected Saturday as the Big Red remained unbeaten in Ivy League play. Quarterback Tom Skypeck passed for two touchdowns and his sub, Marcello Tino, plunged for the other pair.

Glenn, O'Daniel Pace Fem League

The Star League's Girdner Electric defeated Jo's Hair Styles, 3-1, Baron's Dress Shop singed Edwards Heights Pharmacy, 3-1, Harmonson Foreign Motors nipped River Funeral Home, 2½-1½, and Tate-Bristow-Parks postponed a match with Park-Inn last week.

River tallied the best game, an 816 which boosted that team to the next-best series, 2312. Harmonson had an 806 in its high series of 2314.

Frances Glenn, with 186, took the high individual game ribbon; Mary Martin scored a 175. Jo Ann O'Daniel's 481 stood for the best series, and Mary Martin followed with 477.

Next week it's Girdner vs. Harmonson, River vs. Jo's Hair Styles, Edwards Heights vs. T-B-P, and Baron's vs. Park-Inn.

Splits were converted by Helen Cipalline, 4-5, Mary Martin, 3-10, Marie Raughley, 5-10, Jo Palone, 5-8-10, and Beulah Johnson, 3-7.

Frogs Batter Bears, Tie Rice For Lead

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH (AP)—Hunter Enis passed for two touchdowns to climax drives ignited by substitute Harry Moreland and Don George threw for another Saturday as Texas Christian beat Baylor 22-0 and moved into a tie with Rice for the lead in the Southwest Conference football race.

Two TCU scores were set up by poor punts by Larry Hickman, Baylor's mighty fullback, and each pass by Enis was for 10 yards. The first shot was to Moreland, the little halfback promoted to the second team only this week, and the other was to end Jimmy Gilmore. George passed 31 yards to Lonnie Leatherman for the other score.

Baylor threatened four times but never could reach farther than the Texas Christian 14.

A crowd of 35,000 watched TCU eliminate Baylor from the conference race on Homecoming Day.

It was a head-knocking, bruising game with Baylor's ace passer, Buddy Humphrey, receiving a fractured rib just before the first half closed. He was out the remainder of the game.

Bob Starr stepped in for him and did some fancy passing but never could keep a drive going steadily.

Baylor got to the Texas Christian 36 and 22 in the first half while Texas Christian reached the Bear 11 and 34 before cashing in for a touchdown. Moreland gained 27 yards of 41 in the drive, taking the 10-yard scoring pass just inside the end zone. Enis passed to Marshall Harris for the 2-point conversion.

The other two TCU touchdowns came in the fourth period, the first on a 32-yard drive. Gilmore took the pass in the end zone and Jack Spikes kicked the extra point.

The final TCU score came with only 12 seconds left as Baylor surrendered the ball on its 31. R. E. Dodson kicked the point.

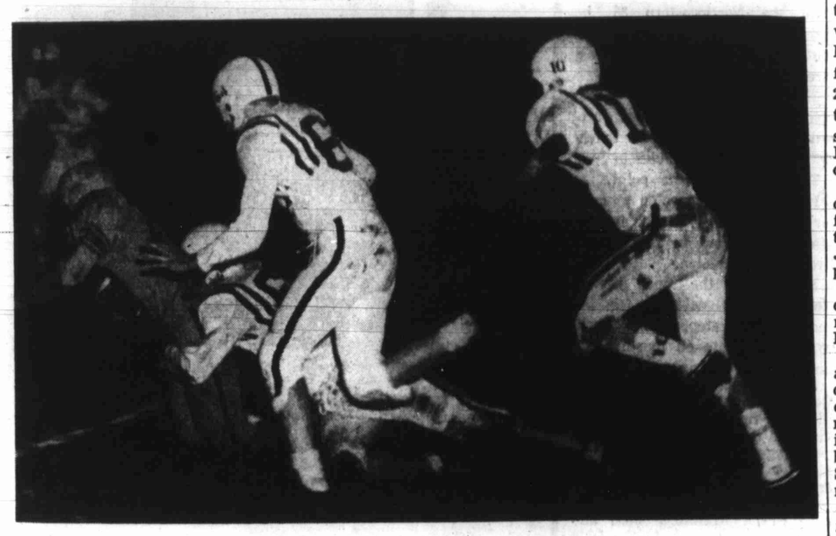

TCU held Hickman in fair check as the big Baylor fullback, the conference's leading ground-gainer, made only 57 yards in 11 carries and was second in ball-carrying in the game. That honor belonged to hard-running Jack Spikes of Texas Christian, who racked up 96 yards in 15 carries.

Texas Christian's ground attack gouged 208 yards out of the Baylor line while Baylor's made 126. Baylor, with Starr throwing for 94 yards, got 142 in the air to 79 for TCU. But Enis' throws were good in the clinch.

Hickman got Baylor into trouble when his punt carried only 16 yards to set up the first TCU touchdown.

The next time Hickman, kicking against a stiff wind, sent the ball out only 24 yards and it went to TCU on the Bear 32. Again Moreland got the drive moving, gaining 12 yards in two runs, but Spikes also was starting to run where it counted. He roared to a first down on the Baylor 10 and after Hickman had knocked down one pass and Austin Gonsoulin another, Enis found Gilmore in the end zone for the score.

The final TCU touchdown came after Baylor had made a foray that reached the TCU 17.

FORSAN (SC) — Quarterback George White sprinted a total of 132 yards in scoring all four Forsan touchdowns here Friday night as the Buffs remained in sight of the District 4-B (eight-man) title by downing Sterling City, 28-6.

Forsan has one blemish on its conference record, a loss dealt by Mertzon. Mertzon lost to Garden City, Friday night, which holds the league lead with a 3-0 standing. The Buffs meet Garden City for the first time next Friday night and could claim a tie for the crown by winning.

The rangy White took the opening kickoff on his 10, faked to a back on the left side of the field and deceptively bootlegged the pigskin 70 yards down the right sideline untouched to begin the rout. He then fed a handoff to Sammy Barnett into the end zone for the extra points and an 8-0 lead in the first period.

One play before halftime, White scored the second six-pointer, taking the snap from the single wing and entering the end zone corner from 22 yards out. Jerry Bardwell added the extra points by running.

To make his scoring at an even six points per quarter, White hit paydirt once in each of the last two periods. He rambled 37 yards over guard for the tally in the third, and later in the final canto stepped two yards over the same slot for the final score.

After White's runback of the opening kickoff, Forsan held the ball six times in the first half, but was able to salvage only 58 yards rushing. Sterling City was forced to punt four times, gave up a fumble, and gambled and lost on one fourth down situation. The Eagles gained only 22 yards rushing in the first two periods.

It was in the second quarter—the fifth time it held the ball—that Forsan mounted a drive. The Buffs picked up three first downs, moving to Sterling's 34 before they were stopped cold. The Eagles returned the punt with four minutes remaining in the half, and Forsan began a scoring march on its 27.

White pitched two strikes to Freddie Park for 39 yards of that drive, before he stepped back to take the snap from the single wing and race 22 yards to score. The Buffs moved 53 yards in six plays for the touchdown, which came only a few seconds before intermission.

At half the score was 16-0.

In the third, after Milton Bardwell—only recently returned to action following a collar bone injury—had plucked down an Eagle pass, Forsan used seven plays to score. White picked up a first down on the Sterling 36, and Dewey Howard, fullback, tried the line twice for five yards. Then White paused as Howard shot over guard on a fake handoff, and the quarterback followed in his steps, cutting to the sidelines for a 37-yard score.

The Eagles of Coach W. L. Young moved better in the last two periods, although they were limited by a tough Buff defense. Sterling made a stab to Forsan's 28 late in the third period when, with a fresh series of downs to their credit, they fumbled away a chance to score. Quarterback Robert Quintana, Nathan Morris and Lewis Patmicky drove hard but couldn't penetrate the line.

Linebacker Milton Bardwell, guard Stanley Willis, and center Johnny Bob Asbury had the defensive situation well in hand for Coach James Blake's men.

Beginning on Sterling's 39 after a punt, a Forsan scoring drive was helped along by a fourth down roughing-the-kicker infraction that gave the Buffs a new lease on the opposition's 21. Jerry Bardwell banged away at the line three times for 17 paces, and White went the last two yards to etch a 28-0 mark.

Robert Quintana, sparkplug for the Eagles, directed his team's only scoring drive in the waning moments. From their 37, the Eagles moved 43 yards in 10 plays to tally, Quintana's two pass completions to Tony Allen and Jodie Green stepped Sterling 10 and eight yards upfield, and two line thrusts later, Quintana ducked across the last three steps for six points. A running conversion failed, 28-6.

James Blake's charges will attempt to knock off first place Garden City next week at Forsan, and should they succeed, their 3-1 mark will be good for a share of the title. Forsan has also won over Water Valley.

FIELD GOAL HELPS

Engineers Nose Out Blue Devils

By REESE HART

DURHAM, N.C. (AP)—Georgia Tech turned a first period break into a touchdown and sophomore halfback Tommy Wells booted a 14-yard last quarter field goal to give the Yellow Jackets a 10-8 victory over Duke Saturday.

Wells' field goal came after he had missed on similar attempts from the Duke 14, 33, 34 and 9.

A crowd of 30,000 saw Tech go ahead in the closing seconds of the first period when soph Marvin Tibbetts plunged over from the 1 on fourth down. The touchdown was set up on the 7 when Duke half-back George Dutrow, back to punt on fourth down, fumbled but recovered on the 7. Wells kicked the extra point.

Duke, harrassed by fumbles in the first half, finally broke Tech's defensive shackles late in the fourth quarter. The Blue Devils swept 75 yards for a touchdown, with halfback Wray Carlton going over from the 2. Carlton passed to fullback Bob Cruikshank for two extra points.

Duke, which now has a 3-4 season record, opened up with a desperate passing attack in the closing seconds that carried to Tech's 32 before it was halted by a pass interception.

The Blue Devils managed to get into Tech territory only once in the first half, so fierce was the Jacket defense, and on this occasion Carlton fumbled on Tech's 32 after taking a pass from quarterback Bob Brodhe. J. Guard Buddy Pilgrim recovered for Tech.

In the third quarter Duke drove from its 20 to Tech's 36 before running out of steam.

R. J. Jaime's Bauer 11 Wins First City Title

Bauer, coached by R. J. Jaime, was held to a scoreless tie by College Heights here Saturday but managed to win its first City Elementary School football league championship in history.

Bauer drove to College Heights' 12-yard line in the second quarter but the half time gun caught it there. That was as close as either team got to the double stripes.

Bauer thus ended with a 5-0-2 won - lost - tied record. College Heights, unbeaten all season but tied three times, and Washington Place tied for second place.

Washington Goliad humbled Cedar Crest, 14-0; and Washington Place bombed Boydstun, 22-8, in other games.

Quarterback Donnie Hollar made both touchdowns and the extra point for Morris Molpus' Washington Goliad club. He traveled five yards for the first one in the opening period and 20 yards for the second in the fourth.

Wayne Lovell and Mike McAllister proved outstanding for the winners in that one while Eugene Bailey was an all-around star for Cedar Crest.

Johnny Hughes counted two touchdowns and two extra points for Carlos Humphrey's Washington Place club. Randy Watson got the other TD on a 15-yard run.

The score was tied at 8-8 at the half but the Colonials came on strong after the intermission.

Lewis Moss scored Boydstun's lone TD while Kent Brown made the two extra points. Roy Billings and Howard Bain were other outstanding performers for Boydstun.

For the Colonials, Mike Steward, Tommy Barrow and Cliff Stewart all played fine ball.

Airport powered past Park Hill, 20-12, as Dub McMeans scored all three touchdowns, the longest on a 35-yard run. Chester Hamby added the extra two points on a run.

Airport led at half time, 14-6.

Lamesa Upset By Lakeview Chiefs, 12 To 7

SAN ANGELO (SC) — Branded 3-AAA underdogs for the past two seasons, Lakeview's Chiefs rocked Lamesa, 12-7, here Friday night to give the Tors their second district loss. The game was Lakeview's first conference effort.

The first time they held the ball, the Chiefs made good. Billy Winans shot a 47-yard pass to Mickey Mixson, carrying to the two and quarterback Shorty McCall sneaked it across for the score. The conversion attempt was no good.

Shortly before the end of the first period, the Chiefs began another scoring move. William Keel recovered a fumble on the Lamesa 22 and Winans caught an 18-yard pass to move the pigskin to the two. McCall drove into the end zone from there for a 12-0 lead.

Lamesa was able to score in the third quarter, mainly because of a fine defensive play by Harry Westmoreland. Westmoreland broke through the line and blocked a punt on Lakeview's 11, and Larry Marshall toted 10 yards two plays later for the counter.

Lakeview had two touchdowns called back, while two pass interceptions and three fumbles plagued Lamesa.

Bulldogs Scare Rotan But Lose

ROTAN (SC) — Coahoma's battling Bulldogs waited too long to get started and came out on the short end of a 20-14 decision here Friday night that cinched the District 6-A championship for Rotan's Yellowhammers.

The Bulldogs were thrown into a 14-0 deficit at halftime, and by the time they had sacked two touchdowns in the last half, Rotan had sent Apalonio Garcia on an 8-yard run for the clincher.

In the first quarter, halfback Corky Taylor zipped 25 yards to climax a 55-yard scoring march for Rotan. Point conversion failed.

In the second period, a blocked Coahoma punt started another scoring maneuver for Rotan. Halfback Lloyd Hurst carried the burden of the two play drive on a 45-yard run. Bradley Brittain scored from the two.

Grabbing a Yellowhammer fumble on the 20, Coahoma fought back to tally. Butch Hodnett blasted across from the five, but the PAT try failed.

Rotan made its final TD for a 20-6 spread, but Coahoma was not down for the count. In the final period fullback Harold Aberegg raced 44 yards to the Hammer five-yard line, and two plays later Richard McCutchen scored from the two. Aberegg added the extra points.

Calvin Bird Leads Tabbies To Win Over Miss. State

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky turned loose high-flying Calvin Bird for three touchdown runs Saturday and made the most of Mississippi State mistakes to roll to a surprisingly easy 33-12 Southeastern Conference football victory.

The Wildcats made up for a lot of frustrations before a homecoming throng of 27,000 on a rainy afternoon and achieved their second SEC victory against four losses.

Four of Kentucky's touchdowns came as a result of State's fumbles or pass interceptions as the snake-bitten Maroons, one of the pre-season choices for the SEC flag, plunged to 11th in the race.

But before Kentucky pulled its chestnuts out of the fire, it had to combat a Mississippi State aerial game that clicked for two touchdowns and threatened on another occasion.

The play that broke the Maroons' back was a fake punt by Kentucky's Jerry Eisaman from his end zone. Instead, he flipped a screen pass to Bird and the fleet Corbin, Ky., sophomore sped to midfield and set in motion a third-quarter touchdown that put the game beyond State's reach.

Titans Are Tied

DETROIT (AP) — Marquette rolled 55 yards and scored in the last two minutes for a 14-14 tie with Detroit here Saturday.

Auburn Squeezes By Florida, 6 To 5

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Richard Wood, a stringbean third string quarterback, threw a touchdown pass in a hectic fourth quarter and Auburn extended its unbeaten string to 20 games with a 6-5 football victory over Florida Saturday.

Florida ran and passed with surprising ease against the nation's No. 1 defensive team but never could push over a touchdown.

The Gators got close enough for Billy Booker to kick a field goal late in the third quarter and they got a gift safety from Auburn late in the fourth quarter.

But the crowd of 37,000 was disappointed, for Auburn, defending national champion and the fourth ranking team nationally, was determined to conquer its Florida field jinx.

Auburn has won 19 and been tied once since its last defeat on Florida field in 1956.

Florida tried two other field goals that missed and lost its biggest chance with a fumble after a Mickey Ellenburg pass to Dave Hudson carried the Gators within three yards of Auburn's goal midway in the final period.

Auburn quarterback Lloyd Nix got a march in high gear late in the third quarter with a 13-yard pass to Mike Simmons at Florida 48.

Nix completed another to Leo Sexton at the 29. Then Wood threw to Sexton at the 10 and then to Joe Leichtnam, a sophomore substitute end, on the goal line.

Florida's line—ranked third in the nation on rushing defense compared to Auburn's first place —smashed the Tigers aside and broke up the extra-point attempt.

When a penalty set Auburn back to the one in the fourth quarter, Johnny Kern just took the ball from center and fell into the end zone for an automatic safety and two Florida points.

Florida	0	0	3	2—5

Purdue Boilermakers Rub Out Illini's Title Hopes

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue's Boilermakers practically rubbed out Illinois' Big Ten title chances Saturday 31-8, scoring two touchdowns on the ground and two by air. Illini fumbles set up three of them.

Purdue's Skip Ohl, a stubby sophomore guard, added to the Illini humiliation by kicking two field goals for a modern Big Ten record. He also converted an extra point.

But the Big Ten record book showed no player had kicked over one field goal in a single game since Big Ten record books were revised in 1939. Ohe kicked his from the 20 and 17.

Purdue's terrific line held Illinois to a net gain of 4 yards in the first half while the Boilermakers took advantage of Illinois errors for 153 yards and an 18-0 lead. End Dick Brooks and guard Ron Maltony gave Illinois backs a particularly bad time.

The Boilermakers, ranked No. 10 this week in The Associated Press poll, ran up their big halftime advantage with the help of two Illinois fumbles, an Illini holding mistake and an intentional grounding penalty against the losers' Bob Hickey on his 6.

Spiders Enmesh Citadel In Web

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Richmond's Spiders combined a host of new-fangled offenses with an old-fashioned rock-ribbed defense for a 20-0 Southern Conference football victory over the Citadel's Bulldogs here Saturday in their first home game of the season.

Halfbacks Bob Dunnington and Mickey Marinkov furnished the ground power and quarterback Jerry Landis the passing as the Spiders thrilled a home-coming crowd of 4,500 fans with touchdowns in each of the first three periods.

Cavaliers Routed

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Virginia Military's hit-and-run football opportunists staggered stumbling Virginia with four first-half touchdowns here Saturday and stayed undefeated in their last 17 games by routing the Cavaliers, 33-0, before a Foreman Field turnout of 15,000.

Second-string quarterback Jimmy O'Dell scored one VMI touchdown and passed 29 yards to reserve end Tom Kurkoski for another as the speedy Keydets all but ran the futile Cavaliers off the field in the first two periods.

Penn State Racks Up Furman Easily

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) —Penn State Saturday entertained 56 high school bands and the football team from Furman University. The State football team marched almost as far as the bandsmen in rolling up an easy 36-0 win.

The Nittany Lions, starting the second period on the Furman 42, moved to the first score in two minutes and 50 seconds. The home forces marched twice more for scores before the half ended. They added a single tally in the third period and another in the fourth before third string reserves took over.

DICK THORNTON STARS IN NORTHWESTERN WIN

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Sophomore Dick Thornton passed for Northwestern's longest aerial touchdown in history in the third period and then ran and tossed for two more scores in the fourth to wheel the Wildcats to a stunning 21-0 rout of Ohio State Saturday.

The loss was the Buckeyes' first in the Big Ten in two years and it marked the first time that Northwestern had beaten them since 1948.

The second largest crowd ever to gather in Dyche Stadium, 51,102, was on hand to cheer on the homecoming triumph which gave the conference Cinderella team a 5-1 season mark. The 'Cats didn't win a game last year.

A defensive struggle, in which neither side came within 18 yards of scoring, was broken open by Thornton in the last 90 seconds of the third period.

On the Northwestern 33, he passed to halfback Ron Burton on the Buckeye 35 and Burton streaked to the first TD.

The play, good for 67 yards, eclipsed the old Northwestern record of 66 on Don Burson's touchdown toss to Ed Tunnicliff in 1949.

Thornton booted the point.

In the fourth, Thornton plunged for one touchdown, passed for another and flipped an aerial for a two-point conversion.

Midway in the final period, Northwestern's defense, for the second time, stopped the Buckeyes' Bob White on fourth down and a yard to go.

Northwestern took over on the Buck 44. After two short gains, Thornton ripped around end for 32 yards to the Ohio State one. Then he plunged across, but his placekick for the extra point was wide and the Wildcats led 13-0.

With two minutes left, Thornton stole Frank Kremblas' pass and ran it back 29 yards to the Ohio State 21. The Wildcats moved it to the three from where Deadeye Dick rifled a touchdown toss to sophomore end Elbert Kimbrough. Thornton then passed to Burton for the extra two points.

Tarheels Defeat Volunteers, 21-7

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — North Carolina crushed Tennessee 21-7 Saturday with a beautiful blend of running and passing that projected the Tar Heels into the bowl picture.

The victory was the fifth straight for North Carolina and it went a long way toward avenging nine successive losses to the Volunteers. Carolina's record is now 5-2.

The loss was the second in a row for the hapless Vols, whose 2-4 mark gives them their worst mid-season standing since 1910.

Quarterback Jack Cummings engineered the Tar Heels to two touchdowns in the first quarter and one in the fourth. Those in the opening period came the first two times the Tar Heels got the ball, five minutes apart.

Don Klochak, a powerful 225-pound fullback who picked up 92 yards on 15 rushes, slanted off tackle 18 yards for the initial six-pointer. Klochak's run capped a 74-yard drive in 10 plays. Phil Blazer converted.

Cummings, who completed six passes for a total of 80 yards, connected on a 35-yarder to end Al Goldstein to put the Tar Heels in position for their second TD.

Halfback Emil DeCantis plunged over from the 2. The ball was fumbled on the try for extra point.

Tennessee capitalized on a break to score in the third quarter. Milam Wall fumbled and Carl Smith recovered on the Tar Heel 32.

Gene Etter, subbing for the injured Bill Majors at tailback, completed passes to ends Mike Lasorsa and Murray Armstrong to put the ball on the 6. Two line plays produced the touchdown with Smith diving over from the 1. Sammy Burklow converted.

Army Outclasses Colgate, 68 To 6

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP) — Coach Earl (Red) Blaik swept the Army bench clean Saturday in a 68-6 rout of outclassed Colgate. The Cadets' powerful first team, responsible for their No. 3 ranking in the nation, never saw action in the second half.

Jim Kennedy, a 160-pound reserve fullback, and halfback Bob Anderson each scored twice during the romp. Pete Dawkins, Steve Waldrop, Glen Adams, Gil Roesler, Russ Waters and Roger Zaliskas each had one in the 10-touchdown deluge.

It was the largest score by an Army team since the 81-0 thumping of Furman in the 1955 opener.

The Cadets smothered Colgate's ground game, holding the Red Raiders to 13 yards rushing. Army rolled to 522 yards, 279 by rushing and 243 by passing.

Obscure players who never have played in a varsity game broke into the lineup. In fact one man, guard James D. Miller, wasn't even on the program listing.

When Colgate finally scored on a 10-yard pass from Ray Harding to Al Jamison midway in the final period, the badly beaten club elected to go for the one-point conversion. Jim D'Eramo's placement was no good.

Kid Bassey Wins Non-Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Hogan "Kid" Bassey said Carmelo Costa was "very cute but he can't punch." Costa said Bassey, the world featherweight boxing king, was "a real champion and a very good puncher."

That told the story of Friday night's non-title match at Madison Square Garden where Bassey dropped Costa twice on the way to a unanimous decision in 10 rounds.

Wildcats Triumph

CHRISTOVAL (SC)—Water Valley bowled over winless Christoval, 38-8, here Friday night for its first win of the year.

The game was a District 4-B (eight-man) encounter.

Knott Is Belted By Flock, 28-20

KNOTT (SC) — Down-trodden Knott, winless this season, went all out against Ackerly but had to accept a 28-20 defeat at the hands of the Eagles here Friday night.

The win was Ackerly's second in four conference starts to date.

Penn Grabs Win

CAMBRIDGE, MASS. (AP) — Penn, a one touchdown underdog, scored in each of the first three periods and threw up a tight defense to defeat Harvard 19-6 Saturday at the Stadium. The Quakers completely outplayed Harvard in gaining their second victory in six games.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Writer Protests Decision And Proposal On Football

To The Editor:

I am writing in regards to the decision of our so-called head football coach to drop Sweetwater from our schedule.

Can we afford to lose $2,000 per game in order to play 4-A schools that are located so far from Big Spring that only a few people can come that far to see the game?

I think the records will show that we have lost money on this year's schedule. Then, after this blunder, the school board wants to make a still bigger blunder by dropping elementary football.

Must our teams of 1962 and up suffer by the mistakes of the present coaching staff and school board? In years to come, we want to be able to compete with 2-A schools, much less 4-A. By the time our boys are learning the game other schools will be three or four years ahead of them.

I have talked to dozens of people since last week and not one can I find that is for this.

If we are going to have football, let's compete on an even basis with other schools. I for one think we should keep Sweetwater and other schools closer to home (on our schedule).

Bobby White

(Editor's Note: No definite decision relative to dropping Sweetwater from the Big Spring football schedule has been made, although Coach Al Milch has expressed the possibility that the Mustangs will be replaced on the local schedule with another team.)

Browns Meet Giants In NFL Headliner

By The Associated Press

The high - scoring Cleveland Browns, who have averaged 35 points in winning their first five games, face the National Football League's toughest defensive unit Sunday when they meet the New York Giants at Cleveland.

The game is one of a full NFL schedule which finds Baltimore, unbeaten leader of the Western Division, host to the Green Bay Packers tied for last place in that division.

The defensively rugged New Yorker's—they have limited their opposition to 2.8 yards per rush and 15.4 points a game— face a formidable task in trying to stop Jimmy Brown. The Cleveland ace has gained 815 yards in 118 carries for a 6.9 average, and has registered 14 touchdowns.

The Baltimore-Green Bay contest will be second between the two teams. In the earlier meeting, at Milwaukee, the Colts won 24-17 after trailing 17-0. Last week Green Bay won its first game, defeating Philadelphia 38-35.

Los Angeles will be trying to stop a Chicago Bear jinx when the two teams meet at Los Angeles. Two weeks ago the Bears defeated the Rams, for the eighth straight time, 31-10.

San Francisco and Detroit will be meeting for the first time when they tangle at Kezar Stadium. They split in their two regular season games last season and the Lions won in the play-off for the conference title, 31-27.

The Chicago Cardinals and the Philadelphia Eagles also will be meeting for the first time this season. They split in their two games last season. The game is scheduled for Chicago.

Pittsburgh and Washington will be meeting in Pitt Stadium for their 39th encounter of a series which started in 1937 and finds the Redskins with a 25-12 edge, with one game tied. It will be their first meeting of the season.

Bobcats Romp On Bulldogs

MIDLAND (SC)—Junior James Collins scored three touchdowns, caught a two point conversion and ground out 110 yards rushing Friday night as San Angelo's devastating ground attack battered Midland here, 36-14.

San Angelo compiled 308 yards aground, pitched in 149 yards on 8 of 15 passes and racked up 22 first downs in the win. The Bulldogs, with 82 yards rushing and 76 through the air lanes, managed seven first downs.

The Bulldogs grabbed a 6-0 lead in the first period as quarterback Jerry Hanson connected a pass to Bill Hudson for 38 yards and the score. The attempted conversion kick was blocked.

In the second quarter Collins gave San Angelo a tie when he broke over left tackle for a 13-yard tally. A pass from Bobby Lowry to David Senter was good for the conversion, 8-6. Before halftime, a 59-yard drive was climaxed by Collins' drive off tackle from the seven yard line. Conversion was no good, 14-6.

In the third period Collins sprinted 59 yards for a TD, and David Alexander kicked the PAT for a 21-6 edge. Collins set up the next score with the return of a pass interception to the 2, where Lowry scored. Ford went 26 yards for the last six points.

Midland's final touchdown was a pass completion to Knox Nunnally for 25 yards.

Richie Petitbon And Tulane Win

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Richie Petitbon proved much too much for Texas Tech of the Southwest Conference Friday night and the Tulane Green Wave rode his passing arm to a 27-0 victory.

Petitbon tossed two scoring passes and connected on nine of 10 tries for 170 yards.

Texas Tech's only serious scoring threat died on the Tulane one. The Greenies immediately marched 99 yards for another touchdown.

Petitbon's scoring passes came in the second quarter. He hit Pete Abadie on a 23-yarder to cap a 60-yard scoring march. Then Petitbon looped a short pass to halfback Claude Mason. Mason outraced the Red Raider defenders to the goal line for a 60-yard scoring play.

Tulane Colon slashed through right tackle for the final 17 yards.

The final score followed the 99-yard march with Colon getting it from five yards out. Tulane kicked the extra point after all but its last touchdown, when the kick failed.

Tulane got 18 first downs to Tech's 10, gained 215 yards rushing to 78 and led in passing yardage 170-68.

"INSIDE STORY" ABOUT TIRE SAFETY

YOUR ORIGINAL-EQUIPMENT TIRES MAY NOT MEET THE REQUIREMENTS OF MODERN DRIVING

Some tires fail prematurely because of sustained high-speed driving;

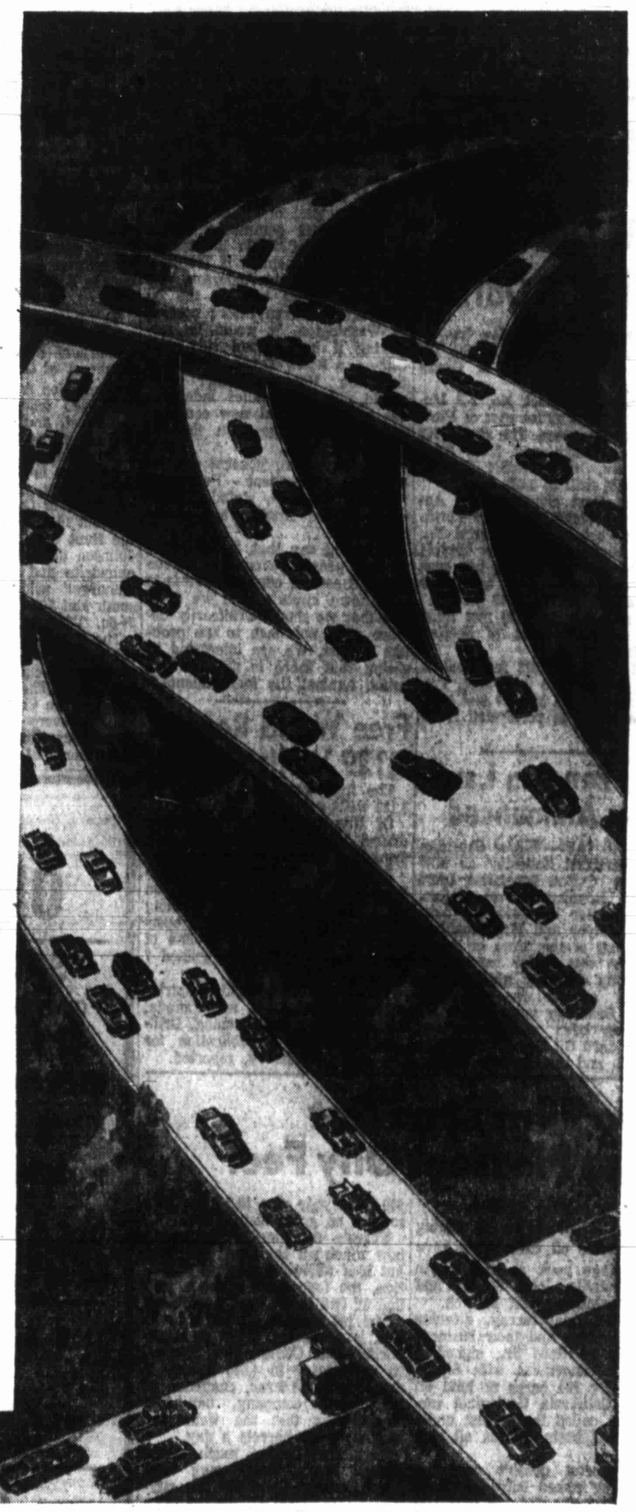

. . . others fail prematurely because of "jackrabbit" starts, high-speed stops. That's because new cars on new roads are creating new driving habits. Race-car speeds are not at all uncommon on the modern turnpike. Power steering and power brakes are wonderful; easy on the driver, but tough on tires. Yes, modern driving requirements are making demands on tires like never before—demands you should know about before you replace the tires now on your car.

Some tires fail because modern car-design tends to create an "overload" condition

Car manufacturers build cars as safely as they know how. Nevertheless statistics from the Tire Industry show that an alarming number of front tires on new-cars fail prematurely! This is partly due to the design-change that puts more of the car-weight on the front axle; partly due to "undersize" tires.

All tires are not equally safe; don't be lulled into a false sense of security!

New cars do not come equipped with tire manufacturers' finest tires. Tire Manufacturers refer to their finest as "premium quality" tires. (Wards "premium quality" tire is: "Nylon 64"). It is the tire that provides the extra measure of safety and service to those car owners that need and demand extra security.

Permian Basin Has Another Drilling Gain

Aided by big gains in Andrews, Crane, and Pecos counties, the Permian Basin last week registered its biggest total of active rotary drilling rigs of the year.

The count was 399 or 21 rigs more than have been reported on any previous survey in 1958.

Reed Roller Bit Co. counted the active rigs on Friday and found the 399 was 26 more than were in action on the previous count, Oct. 24. The high of the year, 378, was registered twice, on Oct. 14 and Feb. 14.

The Friday figure is the largest since 431 were reported on Dec. 24, the last count of 1957.

Crane County showed the biggest jump, adding 11 during the week to its previous tally of 17. Pecos added seven, bringing its count to 22, and Andrews' tally jumped from 50 to 57.

The Andrews count is also the largest of the Basin. Lea County, N. M., had 35 for the second highest total of the area. This count is up three from the previous week. Winkler with 29 showed a drop from the 33 of Oct. 24.

Howard County's total was cut from eight on the previous survey to five this time. Borden remained static with 10 rotaries turning, but Dawson dropped from six to two during the week.

The totals for the Permian Basin individually (with Oct. 24 aggregates in parenthesis) include Andrews 57 (50), Borden 10 (10), Cochran 5 (6), Coke 3 (2), Chaves 3 (4), Crane 28 (17), Crockett 2 (2), and Culberson 5 (3).

Also Dawson 2 (6), Dickens 2 (1), Ector 26 (32), Eddy 10 (9), Fisher 6 (6), Gaines 14 (14), Garza 11 (10), Glasscock 1 (0), Hockley 3 (3), Hidalgo 1 (1), HOWARD 5 (8), Kent 3 (2), Lamb 1 (1), Lea 35 (32), and Lubbock 2 (1).

Others covered by the survey include Lynn 4 (5), Martin 1 (2), Midland 14 (15), Mitchell 5 (4), Nolan 7 (4), Pecos 22 (15), Reagan 2 (1), Reeves 8 (8), Runnels 6 (6), San Miguel 1 (1), Scurry 7 (7), Schleicher 6 (4), and Sterling 1 (1).

Also Stonewall 5 (4), Sutton 2 (2), Tom Green 1 (1), Terry 2 (2), Terrell 5 (5), Upton 7 (5), Ward 10 (10), Winkler 29 (33), Yoakum 13 (11), and Permian Basin totals 399 (373).

WORLD'S DEEPEST HOLE NOW PAST THE 25,430-FOOT MARK

AUSTIN (AP) — An oil well has been drilled to a depth of 25,430 feet south of Fort Stockton, Addison Young, of Phillips Petroleum Co., reported here yesterday.

Young called it the "deepest hole in the world" but predicted its depth would be exceeded in a few years.

Young, of Midland, addressed the Conference on Geology of Texas.

He said the depth was hit 10 days ago in the Ellenburger formation, a principal Southwest oil-producing zone. He reported the well was in an area where the earth's crust is heavily folded and faulted but after drillers got through that zone they found geological formations in normal order.

MIXED FEELINGS

Compromise Import Plan Is Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Signs point to a mixed reception for the new Hoover-Mueller oil import formula.

Small importers and independents in the domestic industry appear cool to it. Support seems certain from most major companies with import quotas.

The proposal is the work of Herbert Hoover Jr., special advisor to the State Department, and Undersecretary of Commerce Frederick Mueller. It was drafted as a compromise between the present import quota system and changes suggested recently by Navy Capt. Matthew Carson Jr., administrator of the voluntary program for restriction of oil imports.

The Hoover-Mueller plan, which would have to be approved by the president's special cabinet committee on fuels, would set the import limitation for companies east of the Rocky Mountains at about 10 per cent of the total U. S. demand for oil. Established importing companies would get about 80 per cent of this allotment, on the basis of their past import records. New importers and established importing companies that are not satisfied with their quotas could fight for the remaining 20 per cent.

The Carson plan, which drew fire from some major importers, called for quotas on a self-executing automatic basis. They would be figured in relation to the quantity of oil run through a company's refineries. Under this proposal imports would have been raised from 713,000 barrels of crude daily to 751,000, plus 75,000 barrels of unfinished oil products, making a total of 826,300 barrels.

The cabinet committee is expected to meet within 10 days on problem. One member is Treasury —Secretary Robert Anderson, who to some extent was in the oil business in Texas before coming to Washington. It would be surprising if he did not side with Carson, a fellow Texan, in holding that the Hoover—Mueller plan would put the smaller independent companies and new concerns at a disadvantage with the old major importers.

Russell Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America, stated the position of the smaller and newer companies:

"I would say that the majority of our people favor the Carson plan. Of course, our objective is to hold down imports, and we don't feel that we should arbitrarily declare what approach to the problem is best. We are interested in seeing that there is no discrimination against the independents."

New Location Slated In Garza

Joe Bialack of Longview has located another venture in the OS Ranch (Glorieta) field of Garza County.

The site is Bialack No. 2-B McCrary about 12 miles east of Post, on an 80-acre lease. The site is 647 feet from north and 1,980 from west lines, 125-5, H&GN Survey, and it will drill to 2,850 feet.

In the East Huntley (San Andres) pool about 3½ miles northwest of Post, the Continental No. 10-1204 Blake produced 58 barrels of 38.8-degree oil and 33 per cent water on 24-hour final test after being acidized with 1,000 gallons.

The new well is 1,650 feet from south and east lines of Section 1204, I&GN Survey.

Total depth is 3,375 feet, but it is plugged back to 3,343 feet. Top of the pay section is 3,129 feet, and 4½-inch string is perforated from 3,132-294 feet.

New Pan-Am Land Prexy Announced

DALLAS (AP)—Wilbur Sherman was announced Saturday as new president of Pan American Land and Oil Royalty Co. of Dallas.

Sherman for 10 years has been with DeGolyer and MacNaughton, nearly half of this time in Brazil where he was senior representative of the company while it was technical advisor for petroleum for the Brazilian government.

He has been associated with the Standard Oil Co. of California, Amerada and the Superior Oil Co.

Free World Reports 3,129 Wells Going

The free world has a total of 3,129 wells going.

Of this total, 2,164 are being drilled in the United States and Canada, a gain of 3 for the week.

According to Hughes Tools Company in its report to the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors, there are 2,014 operations in the U. S., a decline of 4 for the week. Canada gained 7 and had 150 rigs going.

In the 76 free world countries other than the U. S. and Canada, there were 965 rigs running. Drilling Magazine, a publication for the drilling industry, reported.

Two Film Stars Get That Pleasant Oily Feel

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The signing of a lucratic oil deal today gave a backstage peek at how movie stars, notably John Wayne and Fred MacMurray, get so rich.

Wayne, MacMurray, director Frank Borzage and their business manager Bo Roos Sr., signed a leasing arrangement with Signal Oil Co. for 104 acres of land on what a California Geological survey once called the largest undeveloped oil basin in this oil rich state.

The quartet doesn't own the land. They risked only $15,000 in down payments for the acreage during the war years and grossed $1,300,000 in later sales. They kept oil rights, however.

Signal Oil, which confirmed the deal, will pay the four more than $30,000 a year plus 16 2-3 per cent royalty on gross distribution.

There's no way of estimating how much oil the land will yield but if it follows geological prediction, the four could make a million or two in the next five years.

The 104 acres is part of a basin that is producing. Over at neighboring 20th Century-Fox Studios, 15 wells bring in 4,500 barrels a day. Spyros Skouras, chairman of the movie company, has told stockholders that the wells are limited to 300 barrels a day.

They could pump much more, Skouras says. Neighboring Hillcrest Country Club and the city-owned Rancho Golf Course also have producing wells.

Ironically, some of Fox' oil money undoubtedly helped the studio recently pay Wayne a salary of two millions for three pictures.

Conservation Rules Being Re-Examined

NEW YORK—Shifting conditions and needs are causing many state agencies and industry groups to re-examine oil conservation policies with an eye to making changes, reports Petroleum Week, McGraw-Hill publication.

In Oklahoma, the State Corporation Commission is holding hearings on suggested amendments to its plan to overhaul its field rules. In Utah, the federal government's action ordering shutdown of an oil field has focused attention on a gas-flaring problem there.

In Texas, officials are waiting for U. S. Supreme Court action, which may hold the key to future gas regulatory policy in this state. The issue at stake in the court test is at what point state orders regulating natural gas production may come in conflict with federal authority to regulate gas supply and prices at the wellhead.

California's toughest immediate problem is the subsidence at Long Beach. Some land in that area has settled as much as 24 feet since 1941, and considerable damage has been caused to property along the coast.

In Louisiana, a move to adopt a new depth-bracket formula for allowables seemingly has lost momentum.

Within the industry, the recent formation of the Oil Industry Conservation Forum to promote sound conservation laws appears to be the starting point for a unified drive to bring about changes the industry feels are needed.

A growing number of producers feel that if the same amount of oil can be produced from fewer wells, it would help greatly in whittling down costs. Therefore, fresh efforts can be expected to get rules calling for wider spacing in new pools.

There will be moves to gain increased allowables for the deeper wells, to help offset the higher costs involved.

Guthrie Completes Wells In Mitchell

C. W. Guthrie announced completion data on two new wells in the Iatan East Howard field of Mitchell County this weekend.

The new producers are Guthrie Nos. 3 and 4 Schumacher.

The Guthrie No. 3 Schumacher yielded 88 barrels of 29-degree oil and three per cent water naturally on 24-hour potential test. The well is about four miles south of Iatan, 2,331 feet from south and 1,631 from east lines, 15-29-1s, T&P Survey.

The hole is bottomed at 2,550 feet, and production is reached at 2,528. The yield is from open hole.

Guthrie No. 4 Schumacher also produced naturally, making 72 barrels of oil and two cent water in 24 hours. Gravity of the oil is 28 degrees.

Operator drilled the well to 2,522 feet and set 5½-inch string at 2,499. Production is reached at 2,501. Location of the well is about four miles south of Iatan, 1,671 feet from south and 2,291 from east lines, 15-29-1s, T&P Survey.

Magnolia amended location of its No. 44 Mary Foster in the Iatan East Howard field slightly. The corrected site is 660 from south and 2,105 from west lines, 7-29-1s, T&P Survey, and about 3½ miles southwest of Iatan. The drilling depth is 2,900 feet.

In the Westbrook field, A. K. Turner No. 1 George Dawson drilled ahead below 2,123 feet in lime. The site is 330 feet from north and west lines, 35-28-1n, T&P Survey, and north of Westbrook about two miles.

Coke Test Gets Show

A wildcat venture in Coke County encountered oil in a Permian sand Friday on a drillstem test, but it was deepening today.

The project, Union Gas Co. of Dallas No. 1 J. R. Mims, tested an unidentified Permian sand from 4,405-54 feet with tool open two hours. Recovery included 90 feet of free oil, 880 feet of very heavily oil and gas-cut mud, (which was an estimated 80 per cent oil) and 240 feet of water with a slightly salty taste.

The venture is in the northwest part of the county, 10 miles southwest of Eden and in Section 9, Block W, T&P Survey.

Borden Well Taking Test

Operator was in the process of taking potential test at the Harper & Huffman No. 1 Hiawatha-Stoker well in Borden County Saturday at noon.

The project will be the second producer in the Rafter Cross (Ellenburger) field about five miles northeast of Gail.

Production from the Ellenburger has been from open hole below 8,439 feet, and the venture flowed 176 barrels of oil through a 12-64-inch choke in 24 hours last week.

Location is C NE NE, 2-30-5n, T&P Survey, and about five miles northeast of Gail.

About 10 miles northwest of Gail, the Hunt & Hunt No. 1 Clayton & Johnson deepened to 2,940 feet in anhydrite and shale. It is an Ellenburger wildcat 660 feet from south and 760 from west lines, 28-31-6n, T&P Survey.

The Texas No. 2-E Clayton project waited on cement to set intermediate 9⅝-inch casing at 3,018 feet today. The project is a south offset to the Cheyenne No. 1 Clayton, discovery well in the Cheyenne (Fusselman) field about 10 miles north of Vealmoor.

East Howard Test Ready To Complete

The Rankin & Wilson No. 2-B TXL well in the Snyder field of Howard County was ready to be completed at the end of the week.

The well is southeast of Coahoma about seven miles, 330 feet from north and 1,650 from west lines, 35-30-1s, T&P Survey. It was bottomed at 2,920 feet Saturday and operator was ready to take potential test.

In the same field, A. K. Turner No. 1 Louise O'Daniel waited on cement to set at 2,822 feet. The test is five miles south of Coahoma, 2,310 feet from north and 330 from east lines, 19-30-1s, T&P Survey.

Independents Take Cautious Attitude

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — Independent oil operators have adopted a wait and see policy toward the new 86th Congress.

Taxation, natural gas, and, possibly, imports have been signed out as the major oil issues for the 1959 session but the independents cautiously have avoided endorsement of specific proposals.

Members of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America (IPAA) were asked this week, however, to have ammunition ready to meet any eventuality.

IPAA's 29th annual meeting again directed its officers to seek an end of federal controls over wellhead prices of natural gas but endorsed no specific plan.

The independents were warned that another attack on the oil industry's 27½ per cent depletion tax allowance can be expected. They were asked to have factual information ready to meet such an attack.

IPAA officials said Congress already has given the administration ample authority to hold oil imports to reasonable levels. They frankly admitted, however, that IPAA would not hesitate to press for further congressional action should proposed revisions of the voluntary curtailment program prove to be inadequate.

Natural gas legislation proposals have figured prominently in IPAA conventions of recent years. But the gas committee report submitted at this week's Dallas meeting received unanimous approval without comment from the floor.

IPAA in the past has endorsed gas bills but the new report made no reference to the controversial Harris bill that died in the 85th Congress. Instead, the committee indicated that any new future approach possibly should be pegged on protection to the consumer instead of protection to the producer and pipeliner. The committee said it must be recognized that the ultimate consumer should be protected against the possibility of an unconscionable price at the final point of sale of natural gas.

IPAA again asked federal officials to broaden the imports curtailment program by broadening it to include all products. The imports committee said decisions and actions by the administration will be studied closely and warned that "we shall not falter until we have reached the basic objective of a healthy domestic petroleum industry, self-sufficient and free of dependency on foreign petroleum supplies. . ."

T-P Coal And Oil Issues Dividend

Directors of Texas Pacific Coal and Oil Company today voted a regular third quarter dividend of 25 cents per share payable December 5 to stockholders of record November 10.

Earnings for the third quarter almost doubled the previous quarter, being $1,813,407, equal to 47 cents per share. Earnings in the same quarter last year were $1,565,700.

Net for the nine months ending September 30, 1958 was $4,166,240, compared to $5,514,756 for the first three quarters of 1957.

Kirby Service Is A Contest Winner

Phillips Petroleum Company has announced that Kirby 66 Service Station of Big Spring, was one of 660 merchandise prize winners in recent Rhyme-A-Line Contest.

Kirby 66 Service Station won an electric fry pan and $50 cash when the prize-winning jingle line was submitted by one of his customers.

The contest was a $66,000 promotion for station good housekeeping and customer service which ran from June 16 to July 26. It had newspaper and other coverage over a 35-state marketing area.

Completions Put At 246 In Week

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission said Saturday 246 oil and 29 gas wells were completed during the past seven days in Texas.

It upped the year total to 10,371 oil and 1,822 gas wells compared to 13,260 and 1,662 last year. There were 100 dry holes.

Family Affair

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) — Henry C. Byford, Duncan, wasn't alone when he took his Scottish Rite degrees here. With him taking the degrees were five sons and a son-in-law.

JOE B. THURMAN

MEET THE 'seniors' OF THE COSDEN FAMILY . . .

This is the 22nd in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of those employes who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the Company.

If Joe B. Thurman had kept working for Cosden when he first began he would be celebrating his 25th year with the company rather than his 15th.

In 1933, Mr. Thurman was employed by a construction firm doing some remodeling at the refinery. After the job was completed he stayed on at Cosden working the extra board part-time. But the lure of farm life beckoned and he went back to the soil, not joining the Cosden organization again until July 14, 1943. He is a welder at the refinery.

Born July 31, 1909, on a farm in Hunt County near Sentry, Mr. Thurman obtained his education at the Peerless school.

With his family, he moved to Lubbock County in 1929 and four years later came to Howard County.

"I'm still just a farm boy at heart," Mr. Thurman commented as he remembered the years from 1934 until 1943, when he had a place near Ackerly.

It was at a revival at the First Baptist Church in Big Spring that he met Inez Head of Norton. The couple, married Sept. 14, 1935, has five children. They are Mrs. Peggy Henson of Lubbock, Carl Wayne of LaMesa, Calif., stationed with the Navy in San Diego, and Bobby, James and Marion, all of Big Spring.

"I love to work in the yard," Mr. Thurman said. "And for that reason we have bought a half acre north of town. We hope to move out on it in the near future."

In the meantime, the Thurmans, who are members of Phillips Memorial Baptist Church, make their home at 2101 Runnels.

Reservoirs For Odessa

The two terminal storage reservoirs of the Colorado River Municipal Water District in Odessa are shown in this aerial view taken during the recent Odessa Oil Show. In the upper left hand, one reservoir—which has been in use several years—has 80,000,000 gallons of water, its capacity. To the right, a twin storage, just completed, is being gradually filled. The two large reservoirs have been installed to forestall emergencies which might arise should there be a break on the main supply line to Odessa and also to take care of sudden surges in consumption at the western anchor of the CRMWD system. Both are earthen structures with asphalt blanket linings which are protected by a grout against wind damage. The ponds are 690x750 feet and are 36 feet deep in water.

Hurricane Threats Ended For Season

MIAMI (AP)—Chances of another tropical storm this year seem very remote, the Weather Bureau said Saturday as the hurricane season neared its end.

Officially, the season ends Nov. 15, but only four times in 72 years have full blown hurricanes affected the U. S. mainland after Oct. 31.

The last time was in 1925 when a hurricane crossed central Florida the night of Nov. 30.

Cold air has been in complete control of the eastern and southern United States, the Gulf of Mexico, the Bahamas and adjacent waters for some time, the Weather Bureau noted.

"The possibility of another tropical storm this year seems very remote," the annual report stated.

Looking back on the 1958 season, the bureau noted that 10 tropical storms, seven of hurricane strength, developed in Atlantic waters and said, "This season may be considered as approximately normal."

One storm, Helene, caused hurricane winds of major intensity on the North Carolina coast while the center remained a short distance off shore.

Damage in North Carolina was estimated at seven million dollars while South Carolina damage totaled about $300,000. No lives were lost.

Only one death in the United States was directly attributable to a tropical storm, the Weather Bureau said.

Outside the United States, hurricanes killed 7 in Cuba, 35 or more in Haiti, 3 in Puerto Rico and 2 in the Bahamas.

The 1958 season contrasted sharply with 1957 in one respect. This year, most activity was concentrated in the western Atlantic. In 1957, most storms boiled up out of the Gulf of Mexico.

Chevrolet Dealers Choose Tidwell As Area Representative

Leroy Tidwell, owner of Tidwell Chevrolet Co., has been chosen as a dealer representative in the Chevrolet Southwestern area.

The four representatives from the Oklahoma, Dallas, Houston and New Orleans zones will convene and name one as the region's representative on the nation dealer advisory committee. This group then will counsel at Detroit with Chevrolet top officials in company dealer policies and other matters.

Tidwell was chosen last week by dealers in the Dallas zone to be their representative.

Absentee Votes Total Only 68

Sixty-eight citizens of Howard County availed themselves of the privilege of absentee voting in the Nov. 4 general election, Pauline Petty, county clerk, said Saturday.

Mrs. Petty explained that the deadline for casting absentee ballots was 5 p.m. Friday. The number of votes polled by this method is extremely small for a general election. It is regarded by many observers as indicative of the lack of interest in the election on next Tuesday.

Mrs. Petty kept her office open Saturday for the convenience of precinct judges who might want to pick up their ballot boxes and election supplies.

Mrs. Petty said the bulk of the absentee ballots cast this time were by over-age voters of the county—persons past 65 years and in many cases physically unable to go to the polls on election day.

'DOCTOR ZHIVAGO'

Pasternak Book Wanted, But Not Available Here

The Nobel-prize winning novel by Russian author Boris Pasternak is now at the Howard County Public Library, but it can't be checked out.

The book, "Doctor Zhivago," is highly critical of Communist life, and as a result has been censured in Russia.

Mrs. Ben Hawkins, at the library, reported that index cards for the book have not arrived and the library can't release the volume.

Pasternak was to have received $41,420 as part of the Nobel prize, but he has declined the award.

So perturbed about the novel were the Soviets that they lost little time in "encouraging" author Pasternak—via radio messages in 10 languages from Moscow—to take up residence elsewhere.

Numerous requests have been put in at the Book Stall, operated by Marie McDonald, but her shipment of the novel hasn't arrived. She placed her order promptly when the book was receiving so much international attention, and expects it to arrive any day.

Very likely the reason people in the business were "caught with their books down" was that they received no circulars advertising the Russian novel. None had had any advance information when Pasternak's work hit the headlines as a Nobel winner.

Librarian Paul Vagt at Howard County Junior College was in that situation. Although he expects many calls for it, only one request has come the book. It's a foremost item on his next order blank.

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Services were held Friday for Robert D. (Bob) McCracken, 47, associate editor of the Caller-Times, who died late Wednesday. Burial was in Floresville.

Man Is 'Rescued' And Lands In Jail

Sheriff Miller Harris may have saved a man from possible death or serious injury shortly after noon Friday.

When the rescue was over, he marched his victim to the county jail and locked him up.

"I was standing on Third Street waiting for the lights to change," Miller said. "This fellow, so drunk he could barely stand, didn't wait for the lights. He started on across, weaving from side to side. Suddenly he plunged forward just in the path of a car."

Harris managed to grab him and yank him back. The rescued man was too inebriated to even give his address. His name was fished from papers. His age was not listed.

Art Exhibit Set Saturday

A gathering which will interest artists and all art lovers is scheduled for Saturday when the district meeting of the West Texas Art Association is held at Cosden Country Club. It will be the fifth meeting of the group.

Membership is open to all, artists, or those just interested in art; the fee is one dollar. This entitles attendance at the luncheon slated for 12:30 p.m. at the club. Reservations, which are priced at $1.75, must be made by Wednesday, with Mrs. Richard Patterson, AM 4-8356.

Entries to be shown must be original, and must be work done outside any art class. Selected from the paintings on exhibit will be those to be awarded the Texas Fine Arts Association Citation.

Pictures receiving this award will be included in an exhibition of about 25 paintings to be sent on a circuit of various towns in the organization.

Artists are expected Saturday from Snyder, Rotan, Brownwood, Midland, Baird, Ovalo, Paducah, Stanton, Ballinger, Kermit, San Angelo, Sweetwater, Abilene, Fort Stockton, Monahans and Big Spring.

One of the activities of the group will be the "swap corner". A member wishing to participate in the exchange may place a painting in the collection. Distribution will be made by the drawing of numbers, with the pictures bearing corresponding numbers.

Officers of the association are Dr. Norman Furlong, president; Dr. J. B. Smith of Abilene, vice president; Mrs. Patterson, secretary. Mrs. Ennis Cochran is a director.

On the local scene, Mrs. Jess Blair is general chairman of the arrangements for the session; she will also direct the setup for the swap corner. Mrs. Ira Raley is to be in charge of registering the entries. These must be at the club not later than 10 a.m. Saturday, it has been announced.

Registration of members and guests, to begin at 9 a.m., will be directed by Mrs. D. W. Conway; Mrs. William Rosser is publicity chairman, and Mrs. Patterson will receive dues and reservation fees.

Mrs. Furlong will head the hostess group, and decorations for the luncheon tables are being arranged under the supervision of Marjorie Havins.

Judging of the exhibition will be done by David Brownlow, Fort Worth artist. Born in Fort Worth, the artist was graduated from Arlington Heights High School.

He is self-taught, having painted since childhood, and is now an instructor in painting at the Fort Worth Art Museum. One-man shows have been presented at Beaumont Art Museum and in the Nye Galleries in Dallas, and he is represented in the museums of Fort Worth, Dallas, Beaumont and Worcester, Mass.

On display at the present time is a collection of his paintings, being exhibited at the Fort Worth Art Center.

A VARIETY OF IDEAS will be gained from the Swap Corner planned for the meeting of the Texas Art Association, slated for Saturday at Cosden Country Club. If an artist wishes to be included in the trading activity, a picture may be submitted; numbers drawn from the collection will distribute paintings among the participants. In picture above, Mrs. Jess Blair, at left, and Mrs. Ennis Cochran discuss some of their paintings which will probably be displayed at the district meeting—not necessarily to be "swapped". Mrs. Blair is general chairman for the session; Mrs. Cochran is a director of the association. (Photos by Keith McMillin).

IS THAT ABOUT RIGHT? asks Mrs. Richard Patterson, at right in picture at right, of Mrs. Ira Raley, the entry registrar for the West Texas Art Association, which will meet here Saturday. Entries for the display, to be hung at Cosden Country Club, must be registered by 10 a.m. Saturday, it was announced. Mrs. Patterson is in charge of collecting dues and accepting reservations for the luncheon, which must be made by Thursday. Price for the luncheon is $1.75; dues are one dollar, and memberships are open to everyone.

AN ARTIST AND HIS MODEL on a styrofoam base will grace the head table when members of the West Texas Art Association meet for luncheon Saturday at Cosden Country Club. Eggshells form the heads of the lanquid model, her happy-looking dog and the enthusiastic painter, to which Marjorie Havins, in picture at right, adds a few finishing touches. Quite interested in the arrangement at first, Gigi, the poodle, turned her attention to the photographer in preference to the work in hand. Other decorations for the tables will be formed from pyracantha berries and autumn leaves.

MAN-AT WORK could be the title of the picture above, but it wouldn't be correct, because painting is a hobby of Dr. Norman Furlong, president of the West Texas Art Association, which will hold its district meeting here Saturday. Adding a touch here and there to his copy of Boy With Squirrel, the doctor remarked that he feels no scruples about copying from the works of the old masters since he paints to relax. He has amassed quite a stock of originals, also, some of which hang in the family home at 1308 Pennsylvania. Mrs. Furlong will join her husband Saturday in welcoming the association, which will convene at Cosden Country Club.

GLISTENING SPOTS of sequins make like dabs of paint on the guest book that Mrs. D. W. Conway (photo at right) has prepared for registrations at the district meeting of the West Texas Art Association, which Las Artistas will host here Saturday. Club colors of red, yellow and blue sparkle on the book, fashioned in the shape of an artist's palette, and on the nametags, which are miniatures of the register. All sessions of the association will be held at Cosden Country Club, where registration will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Beauty A Handicap? It Can Be, Say Twins

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Beauty can be a handicap — and when it is shared by twins, it may mean double trouble.

That is the conclusion of two of the most famous American beauties of our times — Gloria Vanderbilt and Thelma Lady Furness, twin daughters of Harry Hays Morgan, an American career diplomat.

After having dazzled international society for more than a quarter of a century, the sisters, both widowed, now live quietly in a New York apartment and are partners in a perfume business.

"We're happy," says Lady Furness. "The tumult and the shouting are over. We haven't much money, but we don't need much."

The twins, as identical as in their debutante days, invited a few members of the press to luncheon the other day, celebrating the publication of their joint autobiography, "Double Exposure."

"Gloria wrote part of it and I wrote part," explained Lady Furness.

The twin biography is a candid and sometimes barbed recital of their tempestuous lives, which included royal romances and sensational tragedies.

Thelma discusses with objective candor her many romances, including her love for the Prince of Wales, for whom she broke up her marriage with Lord Furness, although they were never divorced. Her account of her many visits with the Prince at Fort Belvedere, yachting trips and African safaris in his company, reveal many heretofore unpublished anecdotes, including his first meeting with Wallis Simpson, the woman for whom he gave up his throne.

"No, I haven't seen much of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor in recent years," says Thelma "After she has read this book I doubt if Wallis would care to see me."

Right now the glamorous twins are about to set out on a tour of the country, appearing in a dozen cities to spur interest in both their perfume and their new book.

"We're business women now," says Gloria.

"Maybe we should have discovered earlier how much fun it is to work," says Thelma.

Coffee Ends Series Of Parties

An informal coffee, given by Mrs. Maurice Koger Friday morning in her home, brought to an end the series of parties for which she was hostess this week.

Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, Mrs. Koger and Mrs. Gil Jones joined in entertaining at bridge parties in the Koger home.

Halloween decorations were used for all the festivities. On the table Friday, a white linen cloth, fringed, served as a background for copper appointments. An arrangement of bronze chrysanthemums, placed off center, held wise little owls fashioned from pine cones.

Mrs. Koger greeted guests, assisted by her mother, Mrs. W. W. Inkman.

Mrs. R. P. Kountz and Mrs. Toots Mansfield presided at the coffee service, while others helping with the hospitality were Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Elmer Tarbox.

Local Artist's One-Man Show To Open Monday At Midland Club

An exhibition of some 30-odd paintings by Mrs. Richard L. (Terry) Patterson, HCJC art instructor, will be presented by the Midland Women's Club beginning Monday. The one-man show, the artist's second in Midland, will include works in oil, casein and pastel.

Portraits, landscapes, still life and objective abstractions—many of them award winners—will be on display at the club until Dec. 1. Included in the collection are "Gray Windy," which has been exhibited in Germany; "Honey" and "Fire Fighters," which won state laurels; and "Droopy," the portrait of a grand champion Hereford. It was "Droopy" which won for the artist her first widespread recognition.

A graduate of the local high school, Mrs. Patterson had her first formal art training in Howard Payne College as a design student. Her career actually stems, however, from a long convalescence following a serious illness. Advised by her physician to take up painting, she responded to the creative therapy. Subsequently she studied with Mrs. Addie Mae Miller, Arnold Leondar, Rene Mazza and Ramon Froman. More recent private instruction has come from M. Engel and Henry Gasser, New York City.

Mrs. Patterson holds a number of trophies, 11 citations from Texas Fine Arts Association and 63 ribbons awarded in local, state and national competition. She has had six one-man shows, and her paintings have been exhibited in Lubbock, Austin, Dallas and New York City; they have also toured in TFAA circuit shows.

The HCJC art instructor is regional director for TFAA and a member of its board of trustees; secretary for the West Texas Art Association; is affiliated with the South Plains Art Guild and the American Federation of Arts; and was founder of Las Artistas, group of local artists.

Halloween, Birthday Inspire Party

Overtones of Halloween were evident at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Tyler, Friday afternoon, when 10 school mates of their daughter, Susanne, gathered to celebrate her tenth birthday.

After playing games, the children were served birthday cake. Made in sheet form, it was decorated with haunted house in cardboard, with the icing tinted green to resemble a lawn. Cloth and napkins carried out the Halloween motif, and pumpkins further developed the theme.

Glass figurines were distributed to the guests as favors.

THE WOODIE THIEBAUD FAMILY

Newcomers Discover 'Passel' Of Friends

Sometimes moving to another town can be a real heartache. Not so in the case of the Woodie Thiebauds, who moved into the house at 426 Ryon in mid-October. They scouted around and found that they already had a nestegg of friends in Big Spring and, with their outgoing personalities they will add many more.

Thiebaud came to take over the managerial reins of the service department at Tidwell Chevrolet Co. He is experienced in the field, having most recently served the Chevrolet - Oldsmobile dealer in Vernon for five years.

It was something of a wrench selling their home in Vernon, Mrs. Thiebaud admits, but the couple has already begun searching for a home to buy here. When they find it, the distaff member will plunge into the gardening that she enjoys. That is, when she isn't occupied with their son, Steven, who is seven weeks old. When he gets a bit older he will have fun playing with Mandy, the black chihuahua.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Thiebaud were reared in Comanche County. They have been active in the First Baptist Church in Vernon, she as a Cradle Roll visitor and he as a class officer. These talents will be available to the local First Church when Steven adds a few more weeks.

Thiebaud is a member of the Masonic Lodge and the Scottish Rite. He is a huntsman, when he has the opportunity, and shares his fishing equipment with his wife.

The two girls came to Big Spring Friday afternoon on the train and were to be joined here by their parents today. Mrs. Reaves is a daughter of Mrs. Hall.

Dallasites Visit The Snodgrasses

KNOTT—Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Busch of Dallas are visiting their daughter and family, the Weldon Snodgrasses. Busch was the official candy maker at the State Fair this year.

Gerald Willborn is reported to be improving but remains hospitalized for treatment.

Martha Buttrell of Lubbock, district school lunch room supervisor, made her official visit to the school this week.

Kitchen Cherub

Brighten up the kitchen by simply embroidering these cute 'cherub' designs onto a set of towels. (A lovely shower gift!) No. 212 has hot-iron transfer for 7 designs; color chart.

'Dean' Welcomes 50,000 Students During The Year

AP Newsfeatures Writer

Marie McDonald entertains 50,000 college students a year.

She probably knows more about the current fads, dating customs and general behavior of the nation's campus crowd than any college dean.

If total registration is the yardstick, she runs the world's biggest college, right in the heart of New York City, a stone's throw or a tunnel walk from Grand Central Station.

Of course there are no classes at Mrs. McDonald's college, no faculty and no final exams. Her job is director of the department of college relations at the Hotel Biltmore. The campus she supervises is limited to the hotel, and the department she runs is responsible for comfort and welfare of the collegiate hordes who descend on the famous old hotel on weekends, holidays and vacations.

In her four years as college director, Mrs. McDonald has become a sort of mother confessor for the nation's students, although she is young, pert and attractive. She has representatives on campuses throughout the country. She herself travels widely, visiting colleges and prep schools.

She is responsible for reserving the required number of rooms for the college crowd, estimating their needs months in advance. But she's also a one-woman clearing house for the transfer of funds from parents to students, for delivering messages, giving shopping advice or travel directions, getting theater tickets and finding lost articles. Says she:

"Every once in a while I'm also the bureau of missing persons. A daughter will write her parents that she will be staying at the Biltmore, and then will fail to arrive. The parents sometimes get frantic, so we phone the girls' friends and usually find the missing daughter back on campus or staying with one of the friends."

Club Yearbooks Reflect Work Of Arrangers And Those Who Study

Club yearbooks have by now become a familiar sight to members of the various study groups as the season gets well under way. Many and varied are the themes and the courses of study arranged for the organizations.

Based on Beauty in Everyday Living, the study of the Spoudazio Fora will cover a wide range of topics from beauty in modern art, to music, to cooking as an art. The Christmas program will bring the beauty in religious celebrations to the attention of the club.

Another unit of the forum, the Junior Woman's Forum, has selected the local education system as their primary subject for the year. All phases of the school will be discussed, with both members and guest speakers presenting the programs.

Forming a background for culture is the yearbook of the Modern Woman's Forum, which will be based on Ideals, Our Greatest Strength. International affairs and and community interests will be brought to the attention of members through such programs as one which deals with hot spots of the world, traffic safety, and mental health.

Members will present the program outlined for the Woman's Forum, with guest speakers to be called upon at intervals; theme of the yearbook is Abundant Living Through Knowledge. Included in the knowledge to be gained in the year's study will be pointers on personal charm, mental health, trends in architecture and home furnishings and food innovations, beside a wider field of art, sculpture, music and literature.

MUSIC STUDY

Worlds Of Music will be explored by the Music Study Club, according to the theme of the yearbook. Music as an international link was the program for the first meeting of the club, to be followed by studies of music as therapy, the opera, the dance, with the electrical world also represented by a film strip and recordings of The Nutcracker Suite.

In gardening circles, books are gaily decorated in some cases. The Green Thumb Garden Club cover bears a tiny cutout of a hand, nails painted red, and wearing a ring and bracelet. The thumb is colored green. Members are given seasonal reminders at each meeting, the yearbook states, and the group will hold discussions on gardening helps, flower arranging and other subjects dear to the hearts of gardeners.

Flower arranging is the chief topic of the Planters Club, judging from the outline of study; the book is decorated with an arrangement in color, and members are assigned various floral demonstrations as well as discussions.

The Rosebud Garden Club symbol, a rosebud, designates the yearbook for this group, and the regular course of study will be enlarged with ideas on landscaping. An unusual feature of the book is the list of things-to-do in the garden given with each month's program.

Specimens of flowers or of pot plants are to be brought to each meeting of the Big Spring Garden Club, the yearbook reminds members, and arrangements will be brought for judging and constructive criticism. Various speakers, members or guests, will instruct the group on such procedures as roadside development for safety, civic beautification and preparation of dried materials.

FORSAN CLUB

Keep America Strong is the theme for the Forsan Study Club; it is to be developed along lines of keeping strength by federation, by understanding our place in the world, and by strengthening our home life. Taking part in community activities is listed by the yearbook committee as a way of assisting the nation, and there is a program arranged to stress the importance of a renewed faith in God.

Books, the city government and life in other lands are a few of the subjects to be contained in the Drama of Everyday Living as followed by the newest of the Hyperion units, the 1955 Hyperion Club. Assignment of four members to answer roll call on specified topics is a different note for the course.

Various countries of the world will be described and discussed for the members of the 1953 Hyperion Club, with accounts given of Russia, the Far East and Africa, and other countries by speakers who have visited the places.

The 1948 Hyperions will study foreign nations as well as some topics of national interest during their year of work. Christmas traditions and carols will highlight the meeting in December. Appropriate quotations introduce the outlines for the sessions.

Preparation for Social Competence is the theme of the 1946 Hyperion Club, and the group will develop it along the lines of theatre, painting, law enforcement and Texas, as well as some of the aspects of European countries.

CULTURAL STUDY

The 1930 Hyperion Club will learn from the study of other lands how the culture of today was developed. Certain countries and their literature or music will be presented in various ways. Members of the 1905 Hyperion Club will make a survey of the world's great religions.

The American Association of University Women will hear guest speakers for the most part as they follow the course of study laid out for them. Germany, inside the East Zone, will be described, as will Formosa; art appreciation in the Southwest is scheduled for a discussion, and members will hear ways of preventing mental illness with methods of rehabilitation. On the lighter side will be a program dealing with flower arranging and a book review with Christmas carols and the stories of their origins.

All is not study alone for the clubs, since each group has named certain projects for welfare and service to be followed throughout the year. This includes work at the state hospital, at the recreation center on the west side of town and other worthwhile activities.

Opera Singers' Weight Dwindles In 75 Years

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Where are the doughty divas of yesteryear?

This question must have occurred to the brilliant first-night audience which gathered recently to add luster to the diamond jubilee of New York's Metropolitan Opera, celebrating its 75th birthday in the musty but elegant old building where so many prima donnas first won fame.

The glamorous Renata Tebaldi singing the title role of "Tosca" in this season's opening performance is far different from the robust diva, Christine Nilsson, who opened the Met on Oct. 22, 1883, as Marguerite in "Faust." The Swedish singer was 40 years old when she sang the role of the young girl who bewitched Dr. Faustus, and was applauded by such renowned first-nighters as Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Mr. and Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Mills and other regulars in the Diamond Horseshoe. Nilsson was paid more than $1,000 a performance — not hay in those days before the birth of the income tax.

Nellie Melba, the Australian diva, made history at the Met with her debut as Lucia in 1893. All her gowns were made by Worth of Paris, including one of cloth of gold that cost $2,400. She had a half million dollars worth of diamonds which she always carried with her in a little green bag.

First of the young, slender prima donnas was Geraldine Farrar, who made her Met debut in 1906 and retired at the age of 40 in 1922. She went to Hollywood and married the handsome actor, Lou Tellegan. This year Farrar will celebrate her 76th birthday, probably with a quiet dinner at her white Colonial house in Ridgefield, Conn.

Tebaldi, who opened the current Met Season, wore a $100,000 collection of diamonds in the dramatic second act of "Tosca"—a tribute to the diamond anniversary of the historic old Met, which probably will be torn down when the opera moves to its new home in Lincoln Center, scheduled for completion in 1961.

Quick Jellying

You can quickly chill a gelatin mixture for a pie filling, before beaten egg whites or whipped cream are folded in, by putting it over ice and water; stir occasionally to keep jellying uniform. And watch the mixture so it doesn't get past the slight jellying stage you need.

Pineapple Base

Cut small fresh pineapples in half and remove the insides; be sure to leave the plumes on each half. Fill the pineapple shells with curried chicken and top with slivered or diced toasted almonds. Serve with steamed rice, crisp bacon and cubes of the fresh pineapple.

Hairdresser's Trip To Spice Up Hair Styling

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP News Features Beauty Editor

When the dean of hairdressers, Antoine of Paris, visits America, it is a large occasion.

The nationwide tour of the famous hair stylist should bring new life to hairdressing salons over America. Antoine, quick with the needle, got right to the root of America's current hairdressing woes: Women over 30, he says, should not emulate jeune fille types with flying hair and windblown cuts. Older women need more sophistication. "Windblown curls are cute on debutantes," he says, "but need to be controlled for women over 30."

The master hair sculptor, who created the feather cut, poodle hairdos, lacquered curls and other famous firsts showed a variety of coiffures, feather coifs, asymmetrical or puffed — "Fantasies" he calls his creations, ombre or duotone tinted.

These stylized hairdos included perennial favorites—curls at the crown, tapered locks to frame the ear lobes and exciting bangs, but they were arranged with care and skill.

"If a woman would achieve beauty, she can't be lazy," Antoine says. She may not get to be a great beauty without intelligence, a necessary requisite, but she can achieve simplicity and refinement, if she takes the trouble.

Antoine, a sculptor by hobby, who incorporates his fine art of harmony and balance in hair dressing, cutting, molding and draping the hair like clay is noted for some sensational hairdos. As one hairdresser relates:

"I saw him fashion the hair of a famous woman until it resembled a jockey cap. He trimmed, braided and lacquered, but the woman couldn't leave home for months because her hair was a hodge plodge of hair lengths."

He is capable of the simplest hairdos, however.

He dressed the hair of Sarah Bernhardt and Mata Hari, gave Garbo her I-want-to-be-alone long bob and Claudette Colbert her coquettish bangs.

Pancakes For Crowd

Pancake batter may be poured into a jelly-roll pan and baked in a hot (425 degrees) oven for 15 minutes or so until baked through and lightly browned on top. Cut into squares, remove with a pancake turner and serve hot to a crowd with melted butter and maple syrup.

Crisp Salad

Chef's trick: Dress thin strands of green cabbage (for slaw) with white wine vinegar, olive oil and seasonings. Add a couple of ice cubes when you mix the cabbage with the dressing, just before serving. Then remove ice cubes and sprinkle with minced parsley or paprika for a pretty topping.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Cleanliness Is First Requisite Of Glamor

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — When Dinah Shore first came to Hollywood, she was told bluntly that her voice was more beautiful than she was, and that she wouldn't photograph well. But this did not discourage her. She set out to become photogenic and she did. Her dark hair was lightened to make a more flattering frame for her face. Her figure was streamlined, and she took advantage of every glamour trick.

Dinah and her husband, George Montgomery, live in a beautiful modern home in Beverly Hills. I was invited for breakfast one day last week and when I arrived Dinah greeted me in colorful slacks and matching blouse.

"You look as pretty and fresh as the flowers in your garden," I told her.

Dinah smiled and replied, "I believe in looking my best at home. If a woman doesn't look attractive she doesn't act attractive and it affects everyone around her. It takes very little time to put on a nice mouth, brush your hair into place and put on something fresh and clean. You'll feel good in it, no matter how how old it is."

Pouring a cup of black coffee Dinah explained: "I like a substantial breakfast, but I eat early with the children. Mealtime is an important part of our family life. I don't believe in letting children eat whatever they want. I plan nutritional meals and they enjoy them."

"I have juice and sometimes berries with brown sugar, and half and half. Also I have boiled or scrambled eggs in a double boiler without butter, thinly sliced, whole grained, buttered toast, two strips of crisp bacon and black coffee."

"What you eat early in the day rarely puts on weight," Dinah explained. "I have no problems because I don't overeat. Lunch is light. I usually broil a hamburger in the kitchen in my dressing room or have a cottage cheese salad. And while we have three courses for dinner there are no rich desserts and very few starches."

The talk turned to glamour and Dinah declared that she belonged to the school of thought that there are no ugly women—only those who believe that beautiy is unattainable.

"You have done so much to make yourself glamorous," I said. "Would it be too much to ask you to go into detail as to what you've learned?"

"I'd enjoy that," Dinah said with enthusiasm. "You know how I feel about cleanliness. That is the basis of all glamour. I begin my day with a shower and end it with a hot bath. In the morning and at night I use a hormone cream after I wash my face. I use very little make-up when I'm not working to give my skin a rest.

"I'm a great one for trying new cosmetics and I've learned much through trial and error. My favorite make-up base is liquid. It takes just a thin film and leaves a natural effect. I have lots of shades because my skin looks different with different colors. For example with black I use a shade with more pink in it.

"Color is so important too in choosing eye make-up. I like a brown mascara in daytime and black at night, and I prefer the water-proof kind because it never chips," she expalined. "As for the rest of eye make-up I like a blue liner close to my lashes and soft brown pencil for my eyebrows.

"I never forget cleanliness," she concluded. "During the afternoon break at the studio I always clean my face, put on fresh make-up and return to work with a new feeling of freshness."

HAVE MAKE-UP KNOW HOW

For wearing make-up that is more flattering and achieving that natural look, it's first important to determine which of the seven basic face types you fit into. Each face type takes different make-up tricks to bring out your best points. Let Leaflet M-44, "Correct Use of Make-up," help you with the task. Special diagrams on the leaflet show where make-up and rouge should be applied. For your copy of this important leaflet, send only 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Work For Glamour

Dinah Shore believes that glamour is available for every girl who has a dream of beauty and is willing to work for it. Her TV show on NBC has one of the nation's largest followings.

Friday evening, the two will go to a dinner for the district board of directors. Guests of honor will be the presidents of the club throughout the district.

Following the dinner, a fine arts concert will feature the Howard County Junior College Choir, the Sul Ross choir, the Odessa Junior College and the Midland High School Choirs.

All members and the interested public have been invited to attend meetings of the convention, it was announced by Mrs. Max Ramsey of Andrews, president of the district.

Among the highlights of the convention will be the presentation of two harpists from Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson of Odessa, pianist and violinist, and the Andrews Chamber Music Group. Included in the orchestra are Mrs. Ann Carson, Mrs. Joyce Wilson, Mrs. Joyce Nix and Jack Lemon, accompanied by Miss Sandy Alcorn.

Honoring Mrs. Paul Moss of Odessa, national coordinator of departmental activities, National Federation of Music Clubs, will be a luncheon Saturday. At this time, a panel will discuss the theme of the convention, The Stress and Distress of Strings. Walter Mantani, director of the Odessa and Midland Symphony Orchestras, will be a member of the panel.

Educator Says Students Need Greater Challenge At Home Too

By CONNIE COURTEAU

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—American classrooms may be overcrowded, but the same doesn't hold true for youngsters' minds. They can take a bigger dose of knowledge than they do.

And giving what may be a basic answer to the hue and cry about what's wrong with American schools, a professional educator says: "We don't challenge children enough."

Where does the challenge start? With parents. And with interested communities that help, schools instead of just criticizing.

"We must give children a sense of responsibility and let them know the job they're doing—learning — is important."

These are the ideas of Mrs. Beulah Fontaine, dynamic teacher of 30 years experience who this year "retired" to three other jobs aimed at making teaching a real profession, "like medicine or law."

She is chairman of the National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards, and a member of the standards committee of the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education, which judges the caliber of teachers' colleges. She's also a consultant for the Kentucky Education Assn.

IMPROVEMENT NOTED

The National Education Assn. delegate assembly created the teacher education and standards commission in 1946 when the shortage of qualified teachers was much worse than it is now, Mrs. Fontaine says.

Then one of every six public school teachers was not qualified. In 1958 the group estimates the number has dropped to one in 14 while the total number of teachers has jumped by 500,000.

How can parents help make sure their children get all the education their minds will bear? Mostly by being interested, advises Mrs. Fontaine.

"Parents have got to respect education as being just as important to the youngster as is his later life. They can help give a child an inquiring mind. "We learn by doing things, experiencing things ourselves. When a child has worked through a problem himself, he gains confidence to go on to something harder."

And she adds: "My pupils have often said to me, 'Don't talk so much—give us time to learn!'"

Mrs. Fontaine readily admits that "certainly everything is not right with our schools." But she doesn't like a negative approach. "What we've got to do is improve on what we have . . . this is the system that has helped make our people free."

She would start with more money.

"We're not doing all we can at home," she maintains, and suggests a tax that would reach more people than the usual school-financing property levy. Her nationwide travels have convinced her that people will support an expanded—and more expensive—school program if they know what's going on.

She calls fears that federal funds in local schools would mean federal control "a lot of malarkey."

SMART DETAIL

Smooth Look Welcome After Faddish Styles

Clothes by David Goodstein always have a smooth look, deft detailing that gives them the sure stamp of style in the truest form.

This easy-to-make dress is a case in point with its step-in front opening and a shaped collar band that tops sunburst darts. Set low, this treatment seems to lengthen and slenderize the wearer's neck.

Top stitching outlines the band where it meets the bodice and also trims the open split cuffs on the sleeves.

The perfect day-in, day-out dress, it works up beautifully in thin wool, smooth or textured, any of the new miracle mixtures, surfaced silks and novelty cottons.

From this chart select the one size best for you:

Size	Bust	Waist	Hips	Nape of neck to Waist

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SEC. D BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1958 SEC. D

General Election Set For Tuesday

Tuesday is election day but you'd hardly know it from any interest the public is displaying.

There are no contested races on the local ticket. There is little or no interest in any of the state or district offices in which contests do exist. The only possible incentive to get the voters to the polls will be nine amendments suggested to be added to the already patchworked Texas Constitution.

Some observers hopefully believe that some of these proposed amendments may be sufficiently disturbing to arouse electors. Most observers see no such prospect.

All 16 of the county's voting places will be operating from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Precinct election judges are assembling their election machinery—picking up their ballot boxes and ballots at the office of the county clerk and making necessary arrangements for holding the election.

Three thousand ballots have been printed. Few claim that many will be needed.

No county office has an official opponent in the election.

In one race, it is reported, that an effort to gain support for a write-in candidate is under way. Louis Heflin, it is said, is waging a write-in campaign for the post of District Court Clerk—now held by Wade Choate. Choate was unopposed in the primaries for re-election.

Governor Price Daniel seeking re-election on the Democratic ticket has a Republican opponent, Edwin S. Mayer. Ben Ramsey, lieutenant governor, is opposed by a Constitution party entry, Philip Lee Eubank. The Constitution party is also running Muckleroy McDonnold against Will Wilson, Democratic attorney general.

Senator Ralph Yarborough has two opponents—Roy Whittenburg on the Republican ticket and Bard A. Logan on the Constitution ticket.

Jesse James, state treasurer is opposed by Constitution Candidate Bert Ellis. John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture, has Grover C. Carothers, Republican and H. V. Vogan, Constitution party, as competitors. Olin Culberson, railroad commissioner, faces Constitution Candidate Howard Bumbaugh. Robert S. Calvert, state comptroller, is pitted against R. Glenn Florance, Constitution party.

Robert W. Hamilton, Supreme Court justice, place 1, faces Republican John Q. Adams. Kenneth K. Woodley, judge of the Court of Criminal appeals is contesting with Ruben R. Lozeno, Constitution party.

There are no Independent candidates on the ballot.

The nine amendments, submitted by the last session of the Legislature call for a number of revolutionary changes in state governmental functions. No. 1 suggests annual session of the state Legislature. No. 2 proposes a plan by which counties can set up pension plans for elective, appointive employes of counties and precincts.

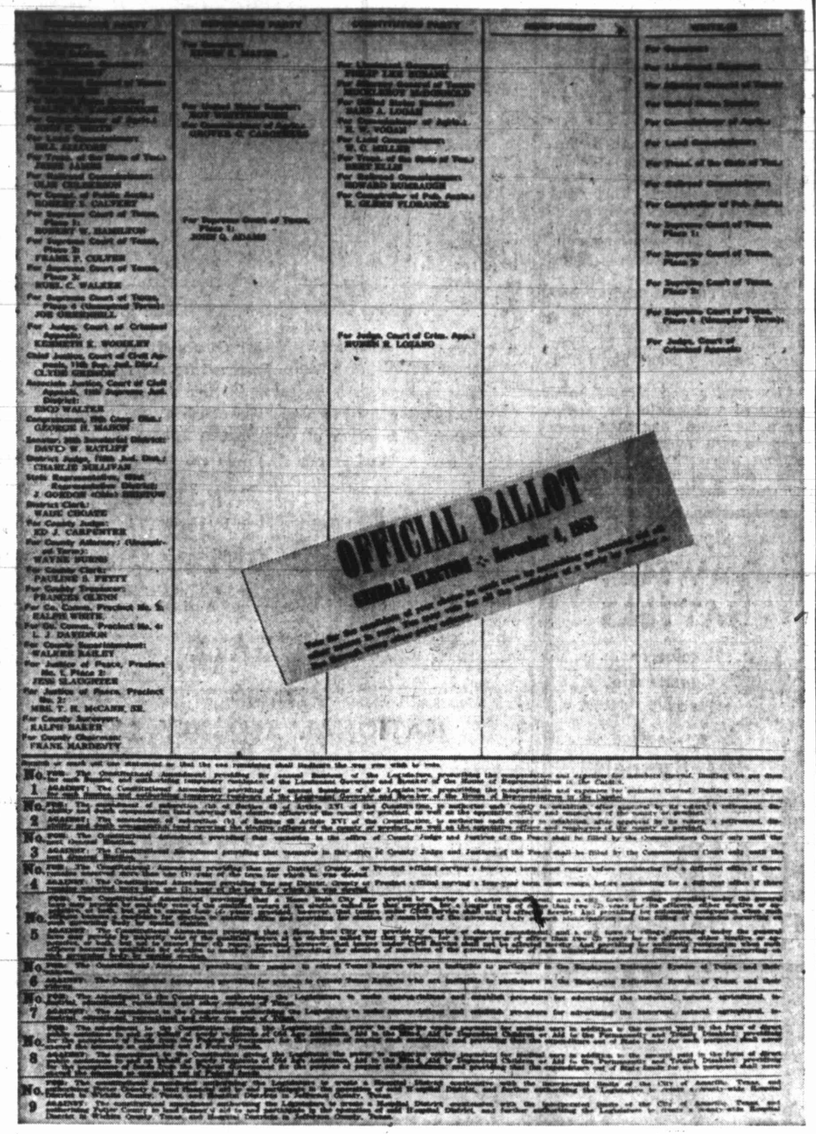

No. 3 deals with a method to empower the County Commissioners Courts to fill vacancies in the office of county judge and justices of the peace for intervals to the next general election. No. 4 suggests that any official serving a four-year term must resign that office before he can become a candidate for another office than the one he holds.

No. 5 establishes a method by which Home Rule Cities can provide for longer terms of office than 2 years for its elective and appointive officers.

No. 6 is a plan to provide pensions for retired Texas Rangers and for their widows. No. 7 would create a way for Texas to advertise its historical, educational, industrial, recreational and other resources. No. 8 sets up a method for the state to make vendor payments for hospital care for needy recipients of old age assistance, aid to the blind clients, aid to dependent children and aid to the totally and permanently disabled beneficiaries on the public welfare lists.

Last amendment, No. 9, deals with the creation of hospital districts in Amarillo, Wichita County and Jefferson County.

HERE'S REPRODUCTION OF TUESDAY'S BALLOT

Party Leaders Agree On Need For Strong Vote

Political party chiefs in Howard County agree on one thing—the importance of a strong vote in next Tuesday's general election.

"It'll be an opportunity for Howard County voters to contribute their bit toward the two-party system in Texas," said Paul Meek, the county's Republican chairman.

"The vote for governor next Tuesday will determine the county's strength at the state convention in 1960," Frank Hardesty, Democratic chairman, pointed out.

Both Meek and Hardesty are urging their party members to vote for their respective nominees.

"We haven't had a very vigorous campaign, mainly due to the shortage of Republicans here, but we hope to make a showing in the races for governor and the U. S. Senate," Meek said.

"It's important for all loyal Democrats to vote the straight party ticket," said Hardesty. He is urging party members to make a special effort to vote in the governor's race, where the tally will determine the county's vote in the next Democratic state convention. For every 300 votes cast for governor, the county will be entitled to one state convention delegate. Precinct strength at the county convention will be determined similarly, with one precinct delegate for each 25 votes cast for governor.

"Howard County's strength never has been what it should have been in the state convention because of our failure to vote," the Demo chairman said.

Both Meek and Hardesty are urging all citizens to inform themselves on the nine proposed constitutional amendments and vote according to their beliefs.

INTERNATIONAL CHOIR FEATURES COSTUMES, SONGS FROM MANY LANDS
Colorful Wayland Baptist College group will sing in church here Tuesday

IN VARIED CONCERT

Famed Choir To Sing Tuesday In E. Fourth Baptist Church

The nationally known International A Cappella Choir of Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, will appear at the East Fourth St. Baptist Church in Big Spring at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The group, directed by Donnie J. Adams, head of the music department at Wayland, will be returning from the State Baptist General Convention in San Antonio.

Performances will be given at San Angelo First Baptist Church and Brady First Baptist Church today. After leaving Big Spring the group will sing at Seminole High School, Seminole, and First Baptist Church in Brownfield Wednesday.

To carry out the international theme, on which the choir was founded, the group's programs are drawn from the music of many countries. To complete the international flavour each member of the singing group is dressed in the costume of a foreign land for part of the program. Many of the costumes have been brought to the choir by students from foreign countries, faculty who have visited foreign lands and missionaries who want their countries represented in the colorful array.

The choir has a varied repertoire of sacred, spiritual, secular and international songs. The international numbers were taught to the group by foreign students or learned while choir members were on tour in other countries. Among those to be sung are "Arirang," a Korean hymn brought by a Korean student at Wayland. "Adois Mariquita Linda" was taught to the choir, which has sung in Mexico, by Mexican students. "Dieus, Sveti Latvia," taught to the choir by Latvians, the first international students enrolled in Wayland, is another favorite of the group. Others in the international group are "Beloi Akatzii," Russian folk song, and "Justo es Senhor," Brazilian sacred song.

Among the sacred songs to be presented are "The Creation," "Let Thy Holy Presence," "Hail Our Redeemer," "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring," and "In Heavenly Love Abiding."

From the American Negro the choir has drawn two spirituals, "Heaven Bound Soldier" and "I Hear a Voice A-Prayin'."

Such popular numbers as "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor," "Oh What a Beautiful Mornin'," "Catch a Falling Star," and "Seventy-Six Trombones" round out the group's repertoire.

Also featured on the program are trumpet solos by George Amegin, Boyte, Calif., and vocal solos by Albert Bent, San Andres, Colombia, using songs of his native land. Honerhea Denton, Plainview, and Pat McCarty, Plainview, will be featured at the piano.

300 Expected For District Church Meet

Members from the 11 Christian Churches in District 5 will meet at the Big Spring First Christian Church from 2 to 4 p.m. today for their regular quarterly district convention.

Churches in District 5 are located in Sweetwater, Colorado City, Snyder, Big Spring, Midland, San Angelo, Lakeview, Mertzon, Big Lake and Eldorado.

A program of Fellowship will be featured with Dr. Noel L. Keith of Texas Christian University being the principal speaker. The title of his speech is "On Our Heritage."

More than 300 members from the District 5 Christian Churches are expected to attend.

A Smorgasbord buffet dinner will be served by the Christian Women's Fellowship of the Big Spring First Christian Church. Entertainment will be provided by the Jarvis College Youth in singing and playing and two choir numbers by the choir from the First Christian Church of San Angelo, under the direction of Tom Greer, will be offered.

Following a short business meeting, Dr. Keith will present his speech at 7 p.m. followed by benediction at 7:30.

At Harvest Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Statisticians figure that the crop of war babies of the 1940s will cause a building boom in the '60s.

Statisticians for Allied Chemical's Barrett Division say the army of more than 13,700,000 children will reach the home-buying stage between 1965 and 1970. During that period, builders will be completing more than 1½ million homes a year.

What A Draw

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tommy D. Frasier, chairman of the Tulsa County Democratic Committee, wasn't present when his ticket was drawn at a club event. But it probably was just as well.

The prize entitled him to attend the Republican Minute Men's dinner.

Mrs. Lyndon Johnson To Be With Senator Here Friday

Senator Lyndon Johnson, due in Big Spring Friday for a luncheon address and for a brief reception open to the public, will be accompanied here by Mrs. Johnson.

Members of the senator's staff advised this week that his wife will be with him on a West Texas tour that includes the Big Spring stop.

An informal visiting hour, honoring both Senator and Mrs. Johnson, is scheduled for 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. Friday, in Room 1 on the Settles Hotel mezzanine. Everyone is invited to greet the visitors, and County Democratic Chairman Frank Hardesty, directing the welcome for the couple, stressed that all women are urgently requested to attend and join in a welcome for Mrs. Johnson.

The Texas senior senator, also majority leader in the U. S. Senate, will be the principal speaker at a noon luncheon program at the High School cafeteria. This affair is to be for business men and all county teachers who will be participating in the Chamber of Commerce sponsored Business-Education Day.

Johnson, due to arrive here shortly before noon from Midland, will be escorted to the cafeteria by Hardesty, and will be introduced there by Supt. Floyd Parsons.

The senator and Mrs. Johnson afterward will go to the Settles for a brief rest, and then be on hand to visit informally with all persons who call during the 2:30-3:30 reception. They will depart by plane shortly after 3:30 p.m.

VETERINARIAN SAYS

Over-Eating May Cause Poisoning

By DR. AKIN SIMPSON

One of the livestock diseases which presents a paradox to livestock raisers is over-eating disease — more properly called enterotoxemia. The paradox comes because disease usually strikes weak animals, but enterotoxemia is more common among the stronger, more aggressive animals. The disease is one which is most common among lambs, although calves and probably pigs may be similarly affected.

Fall is the period, when lambs are moving from ranches to feedlots, when this disease is most often found. It also crops up sometimes in nursing lambs when their mothers are grazing on especially nutritious pasture.

Indigestion is usually thought of in connection with overeating. This disease is not caused by indigestion, but by an increased growth of certain toxin forming bacteria in the lamb's digestive tract. The food itself does not cause the poison. The bacteria are responsible for it.

The bacteria are in the digestive tract of the lamb, and under normal conditions, most of them are not harmful. In fact, digestion in all animals, but particularly in ruminant animals, is partly dependent on the activity of tiny organisms. When several kinds of bacteria are in proper balance, everything is all right. But when something upsets the balance — such as extra large quantities of feed in the stomach—the more harmful bacteria may gain the upper hand and the poisonous substances which they produce may increase in quantity until it causes trouble.

There is a good reason for enterotoxemia striking the more rugged animals, although it does seem unusual. This is a disease caused by a high intake of feed. The larger, stronger lambs may crowd the weaker, and undernourished ones away from the feed bunk, thus getting more than their share of rich feed.

If the farmer takes a few precautions in setting up his feeding program, he can save himself a lot of trouble and worry. The important thing is to remember that no lamb should have more grain than it needs. Make sure the feed bunk is exactly the right size to accommodate all the animals so that they can eat at the same time, thus increasing the chance of each getting its share. Place lambs of about equal size in separate groups.

The farmers needs to be constantly watching for signs of enterotoxemia because the disease strikes suddenly, and his first indication of trouble may be when he finds a lamb dead in the feedlot. Occasionally, symptoms such as listlessness and sluggishness are seen. The sick lamb may wander away from the flock, become dizzy, have convulsions and go into a coma and die.

This disease also occurs in suckling lambs when the ewes are on a good plane of nutrition. Sudden deaths are common. The fattest lambs in the flock are most often affected, but twins are rarely, if ever, involved.

It is important that a correct diagnosis be made so that management changes and treatment of the disease may be started promptly. If it is enterotoxemia, the veterinarian may be able to save the animal by using specific antitoxins or some other treatment.

Vaccine should be administered before lambs are put into the feedlot. Sometimes ewes are vaccinated in the fall and then given a booster injection in the spring about a month before lambing, and in that way, the mother passes some immunity to the lambs.

Airman Freed On Rape Charge

FORT WORTH (AP)—Airman Eric Bowman, 19, was acquitted Friday of a charge that he had criminally assaulted a beer-drinking barmaid and laundry worker.

The decision upheld Bowman's version of a midnight tryst at Inspiration Point on Lake Worth with the girl, 19, whom he met in a tavern.

Bowman said he picked up the girl after a round of beer drinking, drove to Inspiration Point and made love to her without protest.

The girl, a tall brunette who towers over the young airman, told the jury Bowman and a companion drove her to Lake Worth and raped her after beating her about the head.

She admitted, however, that she made love with Bowman on the way to Inspiration Point, and kissed him later on the way home.

A Bible Thought For Today

Wherefore, let them that suffer according to the will of God commit the keeping of their souls to him in well doing, as unto a faithful Creator. (1 Peter 4:19).

Amendments Affect Your Pocketbook

If you are inclined to regard the general election Tuesday as being for other states you had better think again.

The issue of Republican vs. Democratic officials may not be a critical one locally, but you, as a Texan, are being served up no less than nine proposals to change the Texas Constitution, about the longest such list that has been on a ballot in many years.

Every one of these amendments can affect you directly—in government policy and procedure, and certainly in your tax pocketbook. It would be well to take a close look at these amendment proposals, and then vote Tuesday according to your most conscientious views. Here's some discussion on the items, as they appear on the ballot:

PROPOSITION NO. 1—The one that has had the most publicity, proposes to set up annual sessions of the Legislature, put legislators on an annual salary of $7,500 per year, and permit the legislators to vote their own expenses of office, without ceiling. In our way of thinking the last part is the gimmick, and nobody knows just how high legislative costs could soar. Best estimates are that total expenses of the Legislature will run more than double the current outlay. There is no assurance that Texas will get anything better for the money. There is also some question as to constitutional validity of some parts of the amendment. The state could get into serious trouble with this proposition, and we believe it should be defeated.

PROPOSITION NO. 2—Would permit counties to set up a retirement and disability fund for employes, including elective officials. There currently is a statute that provides a retirement system for employes, and this is as it should be. Whether elected officials should be brought into this is highly questionable. They asked for office. Further, the proposition permits percentage of payment into the retirement fund and removes any annual limitation. This program would mean higher taxation for any county that adopted it. We feel this proposition should be voted down.

PROPOSITION NO. 3—Would require vacancies in the office of county judge and justices of the peace be filled by the Commissioners Court only until the next general election. This proposal should be accepted.

PROPOSITION NO. 4—Would provide that all county officials for whom four-year terms were authorized must resign from office prior to announcing for a different office when more than a year remains unserved of the term for which they were elected. This would appear to have merit, but you are reminded that it is aimed only at county officials. State and United States senators and other state officials elected for terms of more than two years are not affected. You can find discrimination in this, and our opinion is that this proposition should be rejected, and a similar provision be made to apply to all office holders alike.

PROPOSITION NO. 5—Would make it possible for home rule cities (those operating under a charter, as Big Spring) to amend their charter by referendum, permitting terms of office for four instead of two years. The state of Texas has found much to regret in its recent adoption of four-year terms for county officials. This was a mistake, and there is no point in broadening that mistake to include city governments. This amendment ought to be defeated.

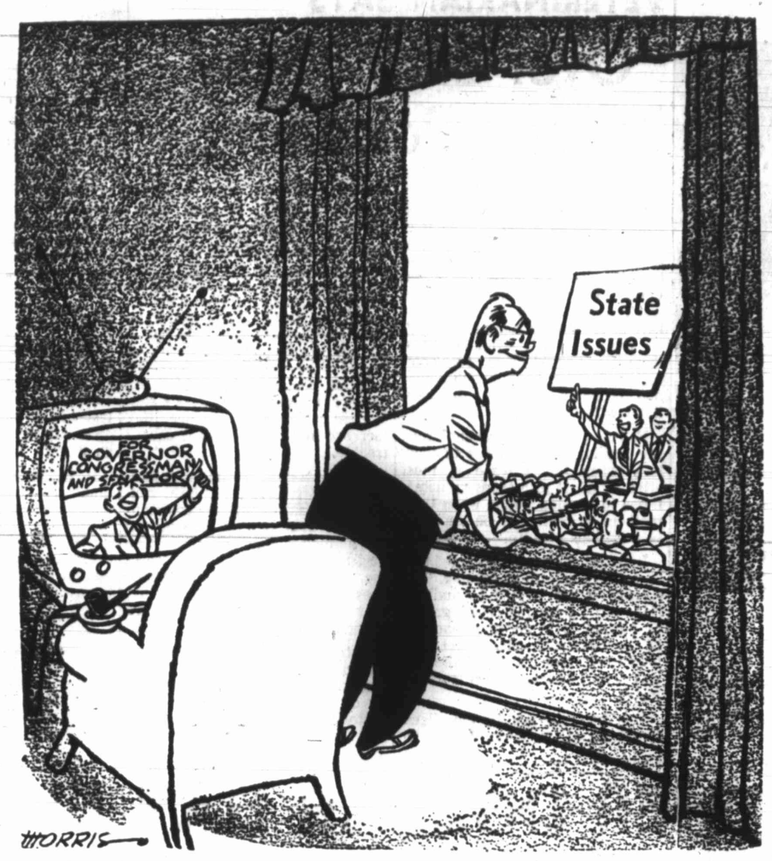

PROPOSITION NO. 6—Would provide a system of retirement pensions for Texas Rangers and their widows. This is purely a gratuitous gesture on the part of the state, as there is no provision for participation of Rangers themselves. There is no available information on how many would be affected, or who might be eligible later. The system also would favor Rangers over all the rest of the state employes. Texans might want to provide for their storied Rangers, but this is not what you could rate a good business proposition for the state.

PROPOSITION NO. 7—Would authorize the Legislature to appropriate money and establish procedure for state advertising in periodicals of national circulation. We have said that Texas could benefit greatly, in attracting more tourist and industry dollars, through a properly conceived and properly administered program such as this. It will cost some money, but it should bring profitable returns.

PROPOSITION NO. 8—Would provide for direct payments by the state for medical care of the needy. This has humanitarian aims behind it, but opponents are pointing out that it is a broad step toward "socialized medicine." The proposed payments would be in addition to the direct assistance given recipients (aged, blind, dependent children), and such payments would be made directly to the vendor for drugs, medical care, etc. It doubtless would require a new state agency, and calls for tremendous accounting procedures. The estimated additional expense is $21 million, with the federal government participating to the extent of one-half. We are inclined to agree with opponents of this proposal Texas first should tighten up its eligibility regulations on the welfare rolls and enact some sort of relatives' responsibility before adding to the state deficit.

PROPOSITION NO. 9—Would authorize creation of hospital districts in Amarillo, in Wichita County and in Jefferson County. This amendment is local in character, although sets precedent for establishing of such hospital districts. There is no major objection to it.

Amendments can be, and are complicated things; we have endeavored to outline the nine propositions as briefly as possible. Although the responsibility is formidable, Texans ought to express themselves for or against these important proposals on Tuesday.

Cleaning The Closet Is A Two-Way Deal?

There are these chores around the house, you understand, that just have to be done at stated intervals. At least that's the way the feminine element puts it. You other fellows may occupy a more dominant position in the home, and are able to dictate such goings-on, but—

Take the business of cleaning out the closets. There is some slight mention of this as early as the first of September, when there is an off-hand observation that fall will be here before we know it, and we ought to put the summer stuff away, get out the winter belongings, and in the process get rid of the accumulation of junk.

Any husband worth his salt can stand this off for a few weeks. But the campaign continues with increasing tempo and vigor. And no seige can last forever. There come such comments as "there is simply no room in this closet for the season's clothes, and I don't know where we are going to put them unless we move something out." Or, "it's a shame that these discarded clothes aren't sent to some poor people who really could use them."

Defenses can be thrown up to the effect that the summer stuff can just be pushed back a little farther, and sure, some of those things ought to be passed down, and we'll sure do it right away. All the while, there is a sneaking hope that the closet can be cleaned without you having to get involved.

In other words, the position can be taken that closet-cleaning ought to go with the cooking.

This may sound good in theory, but the day the spouse sets her mind to the job of accomplishing the seasonal task, this is the day that you had better be on hand, and join in.

Because the first thing thrown out to the discard pile will be the fishing boots. "What are you doing there, woman?" is your outraged question, and you get the answer that the cold-hoppers had been back in the corner for six years and obviously are unfit for human use. So, you have to exercise your one bit of command and order the boots back in the closet.

You had better exercise command, or else the next item thrown out will be your cozy old house shoes—rather bedraggled, but cozy. These have to be saved, regardless of ironic comment from the better half. Next, a suit, which may be a little tight through armholes, but definitely wearable. You protest the discard of that and get the answer: "Why do you hang on to that old thing. You haven't worn it in six years." The best reply you can give is, "You never know when there'll be a wedding or a funeral."

The work pants are proposed next. "Hey, I want to keep those to wear when I do some painting," might be your protest. And that would be a mistake, because the good mate will shout," "Hah! The moths will have carried these away before you get around to painting. Which reminds me, why don't you start working on those window screens this very day?"

Well, that's enough to scare the wits out of a fellow, and you are squeezed into saying, "We gotta clean out this closet first. You said so, yourself."

So some prized fishing boots, some cozy old houseshoes, a perfectly good wedding suit, and the very best work pants are sacrificed. But this cleans the closet? Did the mate throw any of HER stuff away? She did not! So who ended up with a little more room, and who ended up with a little less room? You're so right, fellows.

Faith In The Coming Boom Getting Stronger

Doomstering has not paid off in the postwar period. Anyone who has been pessimistic for very long has been a poor profit-maker and prophet. The brevity of the 1957-58 recession made that clear.

Ever since Japan surrendered in August, 1945, the American economy has zigzagged from one new high to another in jobs, wages, production, industrial expansion, and, unfortunately, prices. That "ole debbil," the high cost of living, keeps debbiling upward.

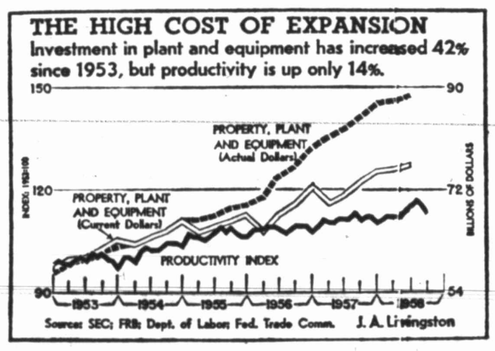

Wall Street has responded to this boom-to-boom sequence with enthusiasm. Stocks anticipated the end of the 1957-58 decline (which came in April) as early as December. And now the Standard & Poor's composite of 500 stocks has topped the 1956 and 1957 peaks by unmistakable margins. Wall Street seems to be saying we're heading for new highs in total output in short order.

The headline news lends cheerful support to this. Roger M. Blough, chairman of United States Steel Corp. told newspapermen that a "solid demand for steel" can be counted on through the first three months of 1959. Housing starts in September exceeded 1,200,000, suggesting that carpenters, plumbers, and cement mixers will be quite busy over the next six months.

The current production push of automobile companies to fill dealers' floors with 1959 models implies a Merry Christmas. Industrial activity will continue to expand. So will incomes. And an all-time high in Christmas sales is a reasonable prospect. This is in keeping with the current sentiment among business men and Wall Streeters.

The case for the coming boom is now well known. First, the momentum of recovery is strong, and likely to continue. Second, the government will run a large deficit. Many orders for defense work and construction are still to course through the nation's economic arteries.

Third, inventory liquidation, though still going on, is moderating. This stimulates sales. Fourth, programs of state and local governments to build roads, hospitals schools, etc., are far from finished. Fifth, inflation is a constant business titillant. Whatever you buy today will be worth more tomorrow.

The case is so well accepted that the mere suggestion of "whoa" brings charges of "pessimism, lack of faith in America, bearishness." Words of caution are disregarded. Why not?

The day after they're uttered the stock market climbs to a new high, thereby proving that the utterer is in an unutterable error! And so at the risk of seeming a Jeremiah, I can only suggest that the penalties of today's excesses are never exacted or noticed immediately. They appear three to six months later.

There are economic holdbacks. First, the Federal Reserve Board is still actively interested in curbing inflation. Second, corporations, as the result of postwar expansion, have 42 per cent more invested in plant and equipment than in 1953. Physical capacity has increased about 21 per cent. And productivity of workers has gone up 14 per cent (see chart).

We're manufacturing as much now as we were in 1953 with fewer men working fewer hours. This trend will continue and, perhaps accelerate. It means less overtime pay for workers. It means that corporations will be less tempted to increase present capacity. It is not a good augury for a rapid increase in plant and equipment outlays.

Third, this could be a disappointing automobile year. Ralph W. Pitman, a senior vice president of the Central-Penn National Bank, of Philadelphia, figures that the average instalment purchaser of a car has to tie up $80 a month now as against only $55 for the car bought in 1955—because of higher prices and higher insurance costs. He estimates that sales of domestic cars will be only about 10 per cent higher than in 1958, or about 4,700,000. This would leave plenty of job slack in and around Detroit.

Finally, U. S. exports continue to drop behind last year's totals—partly because of the slowing down in economic activity in Europe, but also—and this could be significant — because of rising prices here. American firms in South America, for example, find it hard to match bids with German and British firms. Inflation carries its own penalties.

Which is another way of saying that business can be good without being a constant super-colossal boom.

How To Acquire Self-Confidence

I have been reading through a new anthology edited by a good friend of mine, Ken Giniger. It is called "A Treasury of Golden Memories" and it's filled with hundreds of peoms, speeches and recitations many of us memorized and loved when we were youngsters.

But Ken's book reminded me of a horrible custom they had when I was a child back in Ohio. In those days when the minister or other company came around to call, everybody got dressed up and the children would be brought in and made to recite a poem or a prose selection. This probably happened in your childhood home as well as in mine, and "A Treasury of Golden Memories" will no doubt bring such occasions quite vividly back to you, too.

Well, at those moments, I tried never to be where they could find me. I was too bashful. Come to think of it, that's a word you don't hear much anymore. But when I was a boy it was in general use and they say of a child who hid when company came, or who refused to speak his piece, "He's bashful; that's all." They never understood bashful children too well and they just let them continue that way. Some never outgrew their bashfulness and as a result were plagued by inferiority feelings all their lives.

I've never made a study of the derivation of "bashful," but it certainly carries a connotation of shrinking, fearsomeness, abashed in the presence of life, and doubtful of one self. And, although the word is now apparently no longer in fashion, the bashful or shy condition in people remains. My mail and personal contacts remind me every day of its unhappy existence especially amoung young people.

Youngsters give the impression of being very self-assured, but in reality the majority of them have a hard time with this problem of lack of confidence. Many are very self-conscious. Some write and tell me how shy and unhappy they are because they are fat; others feel inferior because they are thin, or tall, or short.

One of the greatest philosophers once said, "Know thyself, for this is the beginning of wisdom." Now, I'd like to ask you a searching question. Do you really know yourself? Do you really know what you are—what is in you—what you can do? Have you ever become truly aware of your potentials? Have you actually found yourself? True and balanced self-assessment is one of the best techniques for gaining a real feeling of confidence. An excellent three-point technique is suggested in a book by David Seabury. It's very worthwhile trying.

First, take pencil and paper and make an honest analysis of yourself. On one sheet, list all the negative things: Weaknesses, failures, faults, doubts. On another, list all the factors that would make you most like what you want to be. Then put the first sheet away; keep the second sheet with you and read it a dozen times each day.

Second, pray daily that the Lord will give you strength and guidance to become what you want to be.

Third, go out and try to be what you want to be to the best of your ability and intelligence.

Do these things and in time you will acquire both confidence and a good measure of success.

Extremism In Goldwater's Campaign

TUCSON, Ariz.—The campaign against Walter Reuther centering around the so-called right-to-work issue is seen here in its most violent form.

The reason is Sen. Barry Goldwater who is crusading up and down Arizona in his own private plane rallying the forces of righteousness to repel the alien invader. He has used every conceivable tactic to influence opinion against what he pictures as a monstrous conspiracy by the "labor bosses" to take over America. Of a wealthy, department store-owning family, Goldwater has the lean, hard look of the crusader.

What makes all this so extraordinary, however, is that right-to-work is not an issue in this campaign at all. Arizona was one of the first of the 18 states with right-to-work laws or constitutional amendments to adopt the provision. It has been reaffirmed three times, and Goldwater's Democratic opponent, Gov. Ernest McFarland, says he recognizes it as the law of the state.

The United Auto Workers, the union which Reuther heads, has no locals in Arizona. While a great deal is made of it at campaign time, the right-to-work provision seems in this state to have made little difference in employer-employe relationships. New industries have been moving into the Tucson and Phoenix areas and they seem to follow the general pattern of union-management contracts.

Unfortunately for Goldwater and his crusade, the target of his violent attack is not tailored to his order. McFarland is an old-fashioned Democrat who in his three terms in the Senate, before Goldwater unseated him in 1952 by a margin of only 7,000 votes, followed the line of the cautious, conservative wing of his party. While he accepted $4,000 in his '54 campaign for governor from Jimmy Hoffa's Teamsters' Union there is little or no documentation for the charge that the "labor bosses" are pouring hundreds of thousands of dollars into this state.

What the right-to-work issue seems likely to show both here and in California is that it cannot be for the Republican party a winning issue. The "union vote" to one side—and like all bloc votes its size is greatly exaggerated—in any state with big industry, management is bound to be concerned with the effect of right-to-work on labor relations.

Thus far right-to-work has been established in the South and in the mountain states. Indiana is the only state adopting "voluntary unionism" in which there is heavy industry on an important scale. If those pushing its adoption—the National Association of Manufacturers, the Chamber of Commerce and many big industrialists — can triumph in California they will score their first real victory. Sen. William Knowland, who has staked his political future on the issue, seems certain to go down to defeat, in any event.

The bitterness of the Reuther-union bosses attack, as seen in its extreme form here, is deeply divisive. The mild-mannered McFarland, who has spent most of the campaign going to rodeos and frontier-day celebrations dressed in Western garb, is beginning to hit back. He has attacked Goldwater and the two Phoenix newspapers for a campaign of "fear and smear" against him.

Certainly those newspapers, both owned out of the state, have gone to extraordinary lengths to help insure the election of Goldwater and the Phoenix businessman, Paul Fannin, the Republican candidate for governor.

There are indications that the all-out attack and the partisanship of the newspapers in Phoenix, where 50 per cent of the vote is concentrated, have backfired. This has happened in the past in other states when it appears that the ordinary rules of fair play are not being observed.

As though to cap the intensity of the feeling he has stirred among his followers, Goldwater let it be known after his TV appearance that his mother had received a threat against his life. Unlike some others who exploit the "union bosses" issue he is credited even by those who disagree with him with believing passionately in the menace he describes with such fervor.

But it must seem to anyone trying to see it objectively that the extremism indulged in here can only promote a widening of the division between labor and management. A crusade to set one part of the country in violent hatred against another part is hardly a service to the nation.

Rita's Latest Brings Out A New Radiance

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

ST. GEORGE, Utah (AP)—Amid these rocky buttes you can find a new Rita Hayworth—relaxed, radiant and, although she is marking her 40th birthday, as beautiful as ever.

The reason for all this appears to be her fifth and apparently most successful marriage.

Rita was lunching with a plate of jello in the shade of her trailer dressing room here on the rocky Utah plain. Gary Cooper, Van Heflin, Richard Conte, Tab Hunter and other stalwarts were emoting before the camera. Rita, the lone actress in the cast of "They Came to Cordura," wasn't working but she was dressed in her Western costume.

William Goetz, who is spending 4½ million dollars on the film, came by to ask Rita if she would stand by for a couple of hours to see if she would be needed. Despite the blistering weather, she happily agreed.

Her conversation was easy, contrary to what it usually is on the Hollywood stages. It was noted that she was observing a birthday. Does she like birthdays?

"Sure, doesn't everyone?" she said in an un-actressike reply. She smiled as she reflected on her return to the outdoor epic.

"I got my start in Westerns," she recalled. "I was 14 or 15 at the time and I did about a dozen of them at Republic and other studios. I was with Tex Ritter, the Three Mesquiteers and other Western stars. Only I seldom got to meet the rest of the cast. I usually would come in for about three days' work on the pictures."

Rita commented that this is her first separation from husband James Hill. While she's here, he's scouting locations for a film he'll produce in Mexico. But they burn up the long-distance wires, and she left no doubt that their alliance is a happy one.

Their formula: golf and the quiet life.

Bible Words for Today

JOHN 9:1-7 — "And as Jesus passed by he saw a man which was blind from his birth...and said unto him, Go, wash in the pool of Siloam...He went his way therefore, and washed, and came seeing." (King James)

* * *

Most of us are from Missouri...you've got to show us before we believe anything. "Seeing is believing," we say, with smug complacency.

Many of us who preach and teach Christianity have accepted that approach. We resort to "proofs" of God's existence, "proofs" of the possibility of the miracles, "proofs" of Christ's resurrection. We rationalize the Biblical narratives and offer a "weak tea" kind of Christianity which appeals to few and challenges no one.

We put the cart before the horse. Contrary to modern axiom, seeing is not believing. Had the blind beggar at the gate withheld his faith until he saw, he would never have seen. No...understanding comes from faith...believing is seeing. It can be for you as it was for him if you will have it so.

Election Will Determine U.S. Trend

WASHINGTON — Next Tuesday's election of a new Congress is the most important in a half-century. On the outcome depends whether America, after a brief period of boom, will gradually head into a depression perhaps worse than anything experienced in the 1930's.

Confidence—the basic influence in business expansion and especially in the building of new plants—may be, temporarily at least, shattered when the election result is finally tabulated, if it turns out that a Democratic landslide in the North has taken place. Will there be a scramble to build plants quickly under present prices, for fear that runaway costs will follow in the next year or so as inflation picks up more and more momentum? Or will business adopt a "wait and see" attitude?

If the even-up battle between the Republican party and the Democratic party in the North in recent years shows this time a sharp decline of Republican strength and the rise to supremacy of the radical faction of the Democratic party, many businessmen will wonder what the long-range trend is going to be—higher and higher wages with higher and higher prices and then a crash as a buyers' strike ensues?

For the 13 years since World War II, the businessmen of the country have had faith in the effectiveness of the coalition of conservative Democrats of the South with the conservative Republicans from the North in preventing unsound legislation. In both parties in Congress the conservative representation will be diminished—if the advance surveys are borne out.

As the voters go to the polls this time and elect Democratic candidates for Congress, they have been told very little about the conservative versus radical problem and what it means to them as individuals in the future. Millions of voters with fixed pensions — in states like California—are apparently not aware of the dangers to them in the coming decline of the dollar's purchasing power when the radicals take command. Certainly very little has been told the voter about how the new bosses of the Democratic party in the North—the leaders of the labor unions who have put up most of the money for the Democrats in the present campaign—can be expected to dictate to the newly elected Democrats the course of economic legislation.

Businessmen who know the facts of life in politics are worried. They see a Congress dominated by labor-union influences. If, even after the revelations about racketeering in unions, the electorate still votes against the "right to work" principle and in favor of labor-union monopolies, there will be added discouragement throughout the business community.

This election may prove to be a milestone in the history of American politics. The die may be cast for more and more socialization of the economy.

One of the first things the radical Democrats may propose is higher corporation tax rates and increased levies on the middle and upper-income groups. Something like this will be urged as the way to overcome the big Treasury deficits. Certainly if profits in business go down and tax revenues from corporations decrease, there will be only one way to increase Treasury receipts—by higher individual income taxes. Even the lower-income groups may not escape some upward hike of taxes.

It all comes back to a sound economy. The real issue in the current campaign is between a sound conservatism and an irresponsible radicalism.

There are stories being published—in "The Wall Street Journal" of Wednesday, for instance—that the Eisenhower administration now regrets its course and has made a decided turnback to conservatism which will be pursued in preparation for 1960, irrespective of the outcome of next Tuesday's election.

It is not too soon for the Republican party to begin to mobilize and harmonize all its factions for the big battle of 1960. For the 1958 election results will show the effects of the internal struggle between conservatism and radicalism inside the Republican party. Sometimes a defeat provides the sinews for a subsequent victory.

CRITIQUE

Anne Frank Symbol Of Child's Triumph Over Nazi Brutality

Some 225 miles from Amsterdam is a small community called Belsen, near the larger city of Hannover. Perhaps, someday, the residents of Belsen may see fit to change their city's name.

If this happens, a brief diary left by a quietly brave young girl probably will have had a lot to do with it. The diary was the last written testament of a girl named Anne Frank. She shares a common grave with thirty thousand others—mostly nameless people on a heath near Belsen.

Her grave is upon the former site of a camp called Bergen-Belsen. This was one of several similar camps where a madman sent six million Jews and several million other non-Germans to their deaths from starvation, exposure, malnutrition and the gas chamber.

It is said that imprisonment in such a camp leads to extreme apathy, so that those who are still alive take no note of their brethren being marched to the ovens. But Anne Frank's soul did not wither. She wept when a crowd of Hungarian children, wide-eyed and innocent, were marched past her to be seen no more.

ANNE FRANK AT AGE OF 12
In captivity, her soul did not wither
(Photo from Life Magazine)

In her diary, Anne Frank gave no hint of what was to come, although some believe she had a premonition of her fate, and that was the reason she did not bother to take along her manuscripts, including her diary, on the long road from Amsterdam to Westerbork to Auschwitz and finally to Bergen-Belsen.

Anne today would have been 29 years of age, probably the sedate wife of Peter Van Daan, who would have been 34. She and Peter had shared their hiding place in Amsterdam for two years, and their love brought a ray of light into the first concentration camps to which they were sent.

Peter was taken away when the Germans fled before the avenging Russians at Auschwitz, and was never seen again.

Anne Frank is gone. Her spirit, however, remains to trouble the conscience of a still-troubled world. Her diary was first published as a book, now world-famous, and was later re-written in scripted form. As a play, "The Diary of Anne Frank" has left its German audiences in choked silence, and the play continues even now to play packed houses in that country. There are some observers who attribute this phenomenon to a "national act of penance."

The book and the play are emotionally received not only in Germany but in all parts of the free world. It is now being made into a motion picture, with a screenplay that closely follows the original story.

Anne Frank's diary ends rather abruptly. It was shortly after the last entry that the pitiless secret police had finally discovered the Frank family's hideaway, and marched them off to oblivion.

The play goes further in reconstructing the event of the capture that is not contained in the diary.

The diary and the play are mostly concerned with Anne's life in the "secret annex" which the Franks shared with the Van Daans and Mr. Dussel; the mouse-like silences when there were strangers in the house; the dare given them by their Christian protectors; the quarrels and friendships of the Jewish families cramped in their tiny garret; the falling food larders; the terrifying Allied air raids; their soaring hopes as the Allies broke across the Rhine; and of Anne's growing love for Peter Van Daan.

Actually, their capture was a relatively quite affair; in the play, a less subtle type of drama is employed, with screeching tires outside the house, heavy footfalls headed for the secret door guarded and hidden by a movable bookshelf, rifle butts pounding down the door.

Only one person of that group survived the ordeal of the concentration camps; that was Otto Frank, Anne's father. He was, perhaps, permitted by a kind Providence to survive to attest to the truth of Anne Frank's story—a story of an unconquerable, yet gentle, child.

This story will be told in Big Spring Dec. 3, when the Big Spring Concert Assn. sponsors the stage play, "The Diary of Anne Frank," starring Francis Lederer as Otto Frank and Pauline Hahn as the girl whose tenderness triumphed over Nazi brutality.

Mass Rehearsal For Yule Program

The first massed rehearsal for the upcoming Christmas music program has been set for Monday, Nov. 10.

The rehearsal will be held in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The program set for Sunday, Dec. 14, at 4 p. m. at the First Baptist Church, is still shaping up strong. A number of people have joined the choirs of the First Methodist and St. Paul's Presbyterian Churches which are handling the rehearsals. At the base, Chaplain Hall has been recruiting and working with interested military personnel.

Meanwhile, the orchestral parts have come in, and Doug Weihe, high school band director, is working hard with local musicians. The orchestra and chorus will be conducted Dec. 14 by James Gambino of Odessa, who will bring along his Odessa Symphonette to help beef up the local orchestra.

It's not too late for interested singers to contact Ira Schantz, choir leader at First Methodist, or Mrs. Jack Ware, St. Paul's choir director.

Panetta Expanding

NEW YORK (AP) — George Panetta, advertising copywriter and novelist, is a busy playwright now as the result of his initial stage venture.

Panetta's comedy, "Comic Strip," was hailed by critics as a major event of the off-Broadway theater season. The producer of "Comic Strip" is planning to present another Panetta script, "Poker Game," and a Broadway impressario has announced he will do "Viva Madison Avenue."

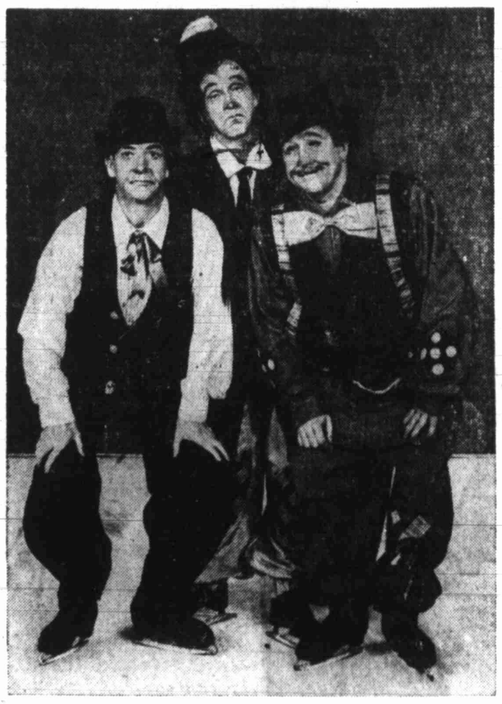

ESP Play Themes

NEW YORK (AP) — Two plays are being prepared for Broadway on the mystical theme of extrasensory perception.

The Three Bruises

Jim Rush, Monty Scott and Geoffe Stevens are ice comedians of international fame. The top comedy act in the ice world, the Bruises display their comedy nightly with the new 18th Edition of Ice Capades, starting Tuesday, Nov. 4 at the Ector County Coliseum, Odessa.

Ice Capades Features Act In Honor Of G. Gershwin

Commemorating the 20th Anniversary of the death of the great American composer, Ice Capades opening at Ector County Coliseum, Odessa, Nov. 4, is featuring an elaborate skating sequence as a salute to George Gershwin.

Fifteen of the noted songwriter's most familiar tunes are included in the production and four of the ice extravaganza's top blade artists take part in this one sequence.

Honoring Gershwin with their blade rhythms are Alan Konrad, Aja Zanova, twice world champion, Peter Voss, German Champion and Shirley Linde, along with the famous Ice Capets and Ice Cadets.

Choreography was set by Ron Fletcher and the music selected and scored by Jerry Mayhall.

"Salute to Gershwin" is only one segment of the current 18th Edition of the ice revue which producer John H. Harris designates as "Six Great Shows in One".

Other sequences will include an ice version of "Carmen", a vignette of Puccini's "Madame Butterfly", Walt Disney's "Fantasia" as adapted from the "Nutcracker Suite", "The Schuhplattlers" based on Bavarian folk revels, and the streamlined, precision skated "Jet-300 Minutes from Hollywood to Broadway".

Other stars will include the Bruises, a comedy trio, Willie Kall, Bewildered Ballerina, Big and Little Bill Henry, father and son team, Patti Cox, Curtin & Hittle, Swift & Demko and others.

Evening performances will be at 8:15 and matinees at 2:30. Tickets are available at Chamber of Commerce, Odessa or Midland, Texas.

Boon To Quartets

NEW YORK (AP)—The Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America has put a resounding okay on Broadway's hit show, "The Music Man."

The group's annual convention passed a resolution lauding Composer Meredith Willson and the cast for "preaching the gospel of the ringing chord in the highest concept of barbershopping."

Burrows At Work

NEW YORK (AP)—Abe Burrows, one of Broadway's best known laughsmiths and play doctors, is at work on the book for a musical version of Jane Austen's Victorian classic "Pride and Prejudice." He is also to direct the enterprise. The score is to be prepared by Robert Goldman and Glenn Paxton, White Way newcomers who have written several shows for the undergraduate Triangle Club at Princeton University.

CINEMA COMMENT

Bloody Western, Top Naval Film Lead Week's Playbill

MAN OF THE WEST, starring Gary Cooper and Julie London. Produced by Walter M. Mirisch. Directed by Anthony Mann. Wednesday through Saturday at the Ritz.

This is no ordinary horse opera. It is very definitely a raw, savage Western drama that involves killings, cruelty, barbarism and actual and attempted rape.

Gary Cooper takes his first cowboy role in five years, and the result is an adult Western that makes all other so-called adult Westerns look like a Roy Rogers epic.

Cooper, as a reformed gunman, hies off to Ft. Worth to hire a school teacher for his community. He picks up Julie London, and they start back. But they and a fellow passenger, card shark Arthur O'Connell, are held up by bandits and are left stranded.

They make it to the outlaws' cabin, where Cooper meets his kinsman, Lee J. Cobb, leader of the gang and of which Cooper was a former member.

Cooper claims Julie as "his woman" to protect her and unwillingly joins the gang, but after he has cut down all the villains, he and his woman are free to continue their journey.

Cooper, of course, is the good actor you'd expect him to be, but Cobb's unsympathetic portrayal is also to be praised. Miss London may not be the best actress around, but she puts up a good front. She also makes a good ending, singing the title song before the final fade-out.

To sum it up: A rousing and suspenseful horse opera, but keep the kiddies at home.

TORPEDO RUN, starring Glenn Ford and Ernest Borgnine. Produced by Edmund Grainger. Directed by Joseph Pevney. Screenplay by Richard Sale and William Haines, based on stories by Richard Sale Sunday through Tuesday at the Ritz.

It is well known that any movie starring both Glenn Ford and Ernest Borgnine is bound to be good. Even better, if the story is adequate.

And the story of "Torpedo Run" is more than just adequate — it would be dramatic and suspenseful viewing even without Ford and Borgnine.

Ford is seen as the sub skipper faced with a soul-tearing decision, Borgnine as his loyal lieutenant. The decision Ford must make involves the torpedoeing of the Japanese carrier Shinaru, flagship during the Pearl Harbor attack. Seems those nasty old Japs are covering the Shinaru with a transport bearing hundreds of American prisoners, including Ford's wife and baby daughter.

How Ford resolves his inner conflict, and the way in which Borgnine helps him, make for top entertainment.

Submarine warfare has been the subject of several late movies, and it would seem that the subject would be run aground. But "Torpedo Run" does not suffer by comparison.

* * *

Other viewing:

"White Witch Doctor." A classic among jungle epics. Bob Mitchum, with Susan Hayward's help, tries to bring civilization to the Dark Continent. An absorbing story and plenty of action.

"Duel in the Jungle." Another entertaining saga of the rain forest, in which the authentic background is more interesting than the story. It's worth seeing if only for the song ("The Night Was Made for Love") that pioneered a new trend in American music that came direct from the Zulu.

"China Doll." An unlikely name, but an action-filled and rather dramatic movie. Setting is China in World War II; Victor Mature is a Flying Tiger who makes his beautiful housekeeper (Li Li Hua) pregnant, but marries her. They both are killed, but their daughter is saved from a fate worse than death (namely, having to live in Red China) by immigration to the U. S.

"The Bounty Hunter." A Randolph Scott classic whose theme was stolen by a well-known TV series.

"Track of the Cat." Robert Mitchum is a tough hombre who mixes with a kittenish woman (Diana Lynn) and a mean old putty cat (king size) in an entertaining animal picture.

"Teacher's Pet." I'm prejudiced on this one; it gives an inside look at news rooms and journalism schools, and has a few kind words for psychiatrists. Clark Gable is the hard-boiled city editor and Doris Day is the journalism teacher who shows him a few ropes he didn't know existed. Great fun.

"The Robe" and "Demetrius and the Gladiators." This may be too much on the same program—Lloyd C. Douglas' touching and penetrating story of the man who won the toss for the Robe of Christ, followed by the story's sequel in which the former slave of the Robe's winner loses and rediscovers his soul.

"La Parisienne." The first film by Brigitte Bardot in which the story would have been amusing without her, and in which the "sex kitten" does not appear nude—well, not entirely nude. It's a bedroom farce in the traditional French manner.

"The Hunters." Robert Mitchum again. He's a jet ace in Korea this time. The aerial scenes are unforgettable, but the story sort of strips its rudder.

—BOB SMITH

IS COLLEGE FOR THE BIRDS?

Absolutely! For smart birds, that is. And in another ten years even they may have trouble getting into the college of their choice.

For in less than ten years college applications are expected to double. This means many able youngsters may be turned down simply for lack of room.

To make matters worse, preposterously low salaries are driving too many gifted teachers into other fields of work.

This is a serious situation. Something must be done about it before it is too late. Won't you help by contributing to the college of your choice now? The returns will be greater than you think.

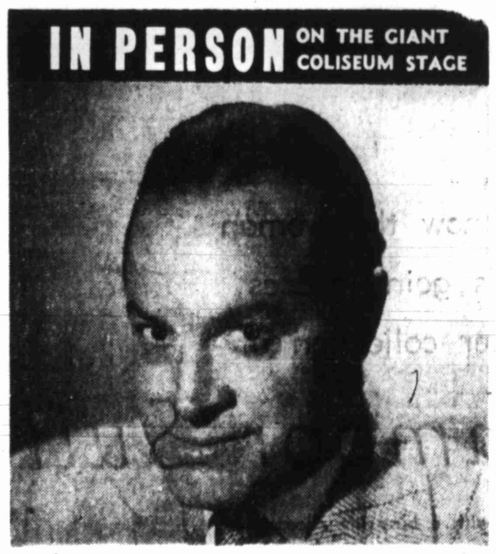

If you want to know more about what the college crisis means to you, write for a free booklet to: HIGHER EDUCATION, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36, New York.

Twenty-Three Business Firms Train Pupils In D-E Program

Thirty Big Spring High School students are participating in the Distributive Education program this semester.

Twenty-three business firms are serving as training stations, teaching all the way from one to as many as four students, said Frank Farrar, co-ordinator.

This is the largest number in the program in several years. Under the D-E operation, pupils spend the morning in school in regular academic and job-related studies. In the afternoons they learn by doing on the job.

Training stations and the pupils assigned to them include:

C. R. Anthony Company, Mary Ruth Barrington, Jeanette Culwell, Caroline Duckett, and Brenda Tinsley; Furr's, Inc., Jimmy Harris and Lloyd Lindsey; Montgomery Ward, Bobbie Brown and Etha Oliver; McCrory's Variety Store, Isabel Montez and Patricia Schneider.

J. C. Penney Co., Sandra Belew and Jo Ann Lane; District No. 8 of TBGC, Harriet Arnett; Gandy Creamery, Luther Bell; Zack's Ready-to-Wear, Janet Carpenter; Sears-Roebuck Co., Olga Deanda; F. W. Woolworth, Wynell Fortenberry; Snider's Gulf Service Station, Jerry Hinson; Lewis Variety Store, Joyce Jackson.

Gilbert's Shoe Store, Judy Reynolds; Zale's Jewelry, Andre Sledge; Anderson Music Co., Carol Wilson; Baron's Ready-to-Wear, Rosie Hinojos; Tate, Bristow and Parks, Glenda Mahoney; White's Stores, Inc., Betsy Pool; Big Spring Herald, Tommy Roger; Security State Bank, Bessie Smith; Hester's Supply, Cleta Sneed; Clay's No-D-Lay Cleaners, Linda Stuteville; Hemphill - Wells Co., James Whitefield.

Serving on the advisory committee for the program are Cuin Grigsby, Herman Bauer, C. M. Epps, Don Richardson and John Gregory.

DE Club Has Busy Slate

A busy schedule awaits the Distributive Education students through their DE Club this year.

Right now the club is shaping up a float for the Big Spring High School Homecoming Parade the afternoon of Nov. 6.

This weekend Frank Farrar, co-ordinator will be in Lubbock for a meeting of the co-ordinators of area No. 2 when David Thompson, state director, will be on hand.

The club has its regular meetings scheduled for the second and fourth Tuesday evenings of each month. In February, D-E Activity Day will be observed, and on Feb. 26-27-28 members will take part in the state meet to be held in Fort Worth.

One of the highlights of the year, the annual banquet, is tentatively slated for the last of February or the forepart of March.

TCU Construction Plans Approved

FORT WORTH (AP) — Texas Christian University trustees approved today a plan for the construction of five new buildings in as many years to care for a "stable" student body of 10,000.

President M. E. Sadler said the university must have a new classroom building, new administration building, an infirmary, an apartment building for graduate students and a field house.

Baptist Convention Will Open Sunday

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The Baptist General Convention of Texas opens here Sunday with 5,500 messengers (delegates) expected.

The messengers will be from 3,814 churches representing one and a half million Baptists in the state.

The opening session at 6:30 p.m. will feature the president's message by the Rev. E. Hermond Westmoreland of Houston.
