

$1,435

Red Cross Relief Fund Continues

A heavy outpouring of contributions over the weekend boosted the local Red Cross hurricane relief fund to $1,435, Mrs. Louise Allen, executive secretary, reported this morning.

A number of organizations, Sunday school classes and individuals had responded.

While this figure goes beyond the first quota assigned to the Howard-Glasscock Chapter, the American Red Cross has announced its needs will be far greater than first anticipated, due to the massive destruction wrought on the Mississippi Gulf Coast by Hurricane Camille.

The Red Cross, in addition to immediate relief, will be engaged in rehabilitation work (including loans and grants and restoration of homes and providing furniture) for months to come.

The local chapter said it is hopeful that more people will join in this good-neighbor program to help the storm victims. Checks should be made to American Red Cross and sent to the chapter at Box 1970, Big Spring. All the money goes directly to the storm relief program.

Salvation Army Needs Food, Cash

The Salvation Army post here has been getting a good response to its appeal for aid to the Hurricane Camille disaster area, Lt. Joseph Saint said here today.

"We have received plenty of clothing for the disaster area," he said, "but we still need clothing for local needs."

"Food donations have been behind," he said, "but weekend gifts have helped build up this supply and we are catching up fast."

"We are over half way toward meeting our monetary goal," the local commander explained. "We had a target of $1,500 and have collected more than $800."

"We appreciate the response of Big Spring residents," Lt. Saint said, "and hope others will help us reach our food and monetary goals, in the same manner we quickly filled the clothing needs."

Lightning Cuts Power

Lightning during the early morning storm caused a power failure at 9 a.m. today in the downtown section between Third and Fourth, Main and Runnels.

Don Womack, division manager for Texas Electric Service Co., said lightning apparently hit a conductor during the storm, causing it to burn partially through. When the line began being used this morning, the wires burned all the way through, causing the failure. The storm was also blamed for a transformer losing some of its oil.

The power failure disrupted traffic signals on Fourth Street at the Scurry, Main, Runnels and Johnson intersections.

Most of the service in the area had been restored by 11 a.m.

Two Men Rob Houston Bank

HOUSTON (AP) — Two men held up the East End State Bank in Houston today and escaped with an undetermined amount of money.

Bank employees said one man carried a Luger pistol in the mid-morning robbery.

Officers said the description of the two men fitted that of two gunmen who earlier Monday robbed a peanut company and shot to death a 50-year-old security guard.

Uses Her Car To Ram Cycle

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police said a woman used her car to ram the motorcycle on which her husband was giving a teenage girl a ride today, killing him and the couple's son in the car.

Officers arrested Bonnie Bradford, 26, for investigation of murder in the deaths of her husband, Charles, 27, and their son, Kyle, 3. The car went out of control after the crash, flipping over and fatally injuring the child. Police said Mrs. Bradford chased the cycle several blocks before the collision.

Legislators Get Plenty Of Advice

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislators waiting to vote on the controversial sales tax bill, including a levy on food, got plenty of advice today from voters.

Some of the advice was for the bill. A lot was against.

"I had to quit answering my phone," said one representative. "I couldn't get anything done in the office."

Despite the fact that the House tax debate was delayed until afternoon at the earliest a group of pickets appeared in the House gallery with signs against the tax bill. Some signs were the same that appeared in the Senate Saturday during the debate there. Sign carriers said they came to Austin at the request of Texas AFL-CIO officials to oppose the bill and were given the signs by state AFL-CIO workers.

Western Union workers said they received an average of about 25 or 30 telegrams an hour for delivery to the capitol.

Senators and representatives said almost all of the wires were against the tax bill and a number mentioned the AFL-CIO opposition.

One senator said he got five phone calls in two hours from Texas Farm Bureau members upset because the new bill would tax farm machinery.

In Dallas, a group of wives organized and sent telegrams to Austin saying there will be "a taxpayers revolt if a sales tax on groceries is approved."

"Get off the backs of the middle class people or you will see another Boston Tea Party," said the Dallas letter.

There was plenty of encouragement for the bill also.

Rep. J. D. Weldon of Port Arthur said Speaker Gus Mutscher "has the Texas Municipal League and a lot of mayors up here working on House members."

Many representatives reported calls or visits from city officials wanting the bill approved so cities will get more city sales tax revenue.

Legislators also said they received numerous calls from school teachers and state college presidents urging approval of the bill.

The Texas State Teachers Association successfully got a 10-hour teacher pay raise program approved in the regular session and promised then to support revenue plans to furnish money.

State college officials are generally pleased with current spending plans, which might be revised if another special session is necessary.

Tropic Storm Dream Fades

MIAMI (AP) — One of man's most ambitious dreams—to tame the tropic storm—remains a dream in the aftermath of two days of massive aerial assaults on Hurricane Debbie.

"We know that Debbie did not dissipate, that nothing really drastic happened to her," said Dr. R. Cecil Gentry, director of Operation Stormfury. "I am not prepared to say whether we made any changes in the intensity of the storm or not."

Stormfury, organized in 1962 on a theory that saturating the eye wall of a hurricane with silver iodide crystals would drain off some of its fury, put the idea to a big-scale test Aug. 18 and 20.

As Debbie howled across the Atlantic north of Puerto Rico, a fleet of Navy A6 bombers flew into the storm repeatedly both days, dropping huge amounts of crystals into the eye wall.

The crystals act as nuclei around which water forms and turns to snow or ice. Scientists hoped this would release some of the latent heat driving the engine of the hurricane.

But Debbie swirled onward, showing no effects from the barrage.

During the seedings, in which some 200 scientists and pilots participated, many changes occurred in the storm. But all were minor and could have occurred naturally.

SITTING IN THE STREET — Demonstrators sit in the street in downtown Pittsburgh today protesting the hiring policies of the construction industry. Some 1,000 persons marched through the city snarling the rush hour traffic.

Summer Drouth Ended By Rains

Rain barrels over the county echoed in varying depths the fall of precious rain last night.

Although officially Big Spring has had only .32 inch since Friday, there were reports of totals up to an inch and a half from residents in the southeast sections; and, 10 miles to the east, at Coahoma, two inches of rain fell Sunday night. Lake Thomas rose three inches, catching 800 acre-feet of water, about a five-day supply, thus ending the long summer drouth.

"But for the county as a whole, I'm afraid the amounts were a little light and a little late to help the cotton crops," said Alton Marwitz, agriculture agent for State National Bank. He added that rain never hurts and that if we have a late frost, it might do some good after all.

Vincent, south of Lake Thomas, reported .85 inch of rain Sunday night, no rain Saturday, and .25 inch Friday, scoring another point in the "get wet game" for the north-east section of the county.

In the northwestern part of the county, rain totaled an inch and a half since Friday at Luther. No rain was reported for Saturday, but an inch fell Friday and a half inch Sunday night.

Vealmoor also had no rain Saturday, but the gauge read .1 inch Friday and .6 Sunday night and this morning.

There was no rain in Knott Friday or Saturday, but Sunday night's total was a half inch. Fairview reported the same figures for the same times.

Little rain fell in the southwest part of the county. Elbow had sprinkles Friday and Saturday and .1 inch Sunday, while Lomax has only had light showers since .8 inch rain fell there Thursday night.

Forsan, to the south, reported just traces of rain Friday and Saturday with 4 inch Sunday night and Monday morning. Chalk registered a total of .8 for the weekend period from Friday afternoon to Monday morning.

Northern Ireland Generally Quiet

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops will continue their peacekeeping role in Northern Ireland for at least four months, military sources indicated today.

"There is no question of us departing," said Lt. Col. Charles Millman, commander of the troops in Londonderry. "I am on a four-month tour in Northern Ireland."

Millman met with the citizens' defense committee which controls Bogside, the barricaded Catholic area in Londonderry. He told the Bogsideers that the army would protect them if they decided to pull down their barricades.

Northern Ireland generally had a quiet weekend, with scattered fires but no casualties.

A Catholic-owned bar was burned down in Portadown, southwest of Belfast, and another was damaged by a gasoline bomb at Toomebridge, on the Belfast-Londonderry road.

A handkerchief factory at Lis-burn, the Belfast suburb where the British army has its headquarters, was badly damaged by fire.

In Belfast, a fire destroyed rooms at a student hostel near Queens University. Rory McShane, president of the students' union, said a group of men broke into the building and set the fire.

Protestant extremists kept up their protest against the army's decision that the Protestant B-Special police reservists must turn in their arms when not on duty. James King, chairman of the Armagh Ulster Protestant Volunteers, an unofficial defense force, said: "But for the work of the B-Specials in the past two weeks, anarchists and rebels would have run through the north."

In an attempt to counter Bernadette Devlin's visit to the United States, the governing Unionist party decided to send three members of Parliament to Canada and the United States.

FOREIGN MINISTERS GATHERING IN CAIRO

Arabs Urge Holy War Against Israel

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli Attorney General Meir Shamgar said today the Australian arrested after the fire in Jerusalem's Al Aksah mosque has confessed that he set the fire.

Shamgar was addressing the opening session of a special committee appointed to investigate the blaze which last Thursday burned out part of the mosque and touched off new anti-Israeli feeling in Arab nations.

CONFIRMATION — Press reports had quoted police sources as saying Michael Denis William Rohen, 28, a sheep shearer from Sydney, had confessed. But Shamgar's statement was the first official confirmation.

The committee is headed by an Israeli supreme court justice and includes two Israeli university professors, the Arab mayor of Nazareth and an Arab district judge from Nazareth.

Shamgar said that despite the arrest of the suspect, the committee could still busy itself looking into what happened immediately after the fire broke out.

This apparently was a reference to Arab claims that the Jerusalem fire brigade was late in arriving on the scene of the fire and the water supply was inadequate.

WORKING ON FARM — Shamgar said Rohen had not yet decided on a lawyer. If he does not want to hire one, the state will appoint his defense.

Rohen was working on an Israeli kibbutz—a cooperative farm—when he was arrested. He has been described as a withdrawn individual, devoted to the Bible, and belonging to a small Protestant sect called the Church of God.

While the Israeli committee met, Arab foreign ministers were gathering in Cairo as calls for a holy war against Israel mounted.

Brought together, 2d grad and eliminating 7th grad: Israeli police . . .

Brought together by the fire in the Al Aksah Mosque in Jerusalem, the ministers were expected to discuss Jordan's proposal for a summit meeting. And a summit meeting could result in the Arabs abandoning all efforts toward a peaceful settlement with Israel.

SUMMIT MEETING — Egypt, Lebanon and Saudi Arabia already have given their approval to a summit meeting. There were these other developments in the Middle East:

—Israeli jets struck at guerrilla bases in Jordan 19 miles north of Amman today after a mine killed two Israeli soldiers and wounded two near the Jordan River. Five Arab guerrillas were reported killed in a clash in the Golan Heights, and seven Israeli border police were reported wounded in an ambush near the Lebanese border. On the Suez Canal front, an Israeli soldier was killed and another wounded in day-long artillery and small arms exchanges Sunday.

Solons Find Food Tax Is Hot Potato

AUSTIN (AP) — Opposition to a bill that would tax food appeared to be growing today as the House barely voted against a briefer recess than supporters of the bill wanted.

Backers asked for a recess until 3 p.m. to give them more time to twist arms.

Opponents moved for only a 10-minute recess.

The vote was 72-70 against a 10-minute recess.

The House then voted 74-71 to recess until 3 p.m.

"It's up tight now. There's lots of contingencies," Speaker Gus Mutscher said when asked if the delay was needed to get votes.

Rep. Bob Thomas of Waco gave an example of the kind of pressure being exerted. "It has been brought to my attention that unless I vote for the food tax, James Connally Tech at Waco will not be given a $90,000 appropriation to repair the recent wind damage at the campus," he said.

Thomas said he would vote against the tax.

TEACHERS WORK — Mutscher said mayors, college presidents and teachers are working for the bill.

Gov. Preston Smith met with Mutscher in Mutscher's office, later saying they talked about "a San Antonio court bill for (Sen.) Red Berry."

A special program honoring Harry Bresler, a veteran employee of the state auditor's office, was scheduled in the House, to be followed by a recess until "3 or 4 p.m.," Mutscher said.

The $341 million tax bill—the first in Texas history to tax food—dances like a hot potato in the hands of House members who thought Senate liberals would kill it and get blamed for forcing a state financial crisis.

"THAT'S ABOUT IT"

"That's about it," Mutscher said Sunday when asked if it was true, as some House members say, that House rejection of the bill would not leave enough time to process another tax bill. Rejection of the bill would leave Texas without a state budget for the fiscal year starting one week from today.

The special legislative session ends at midnight Tuesday.

Gov. Preston Smith has said he would call a second special session Wednesday if the legislature fails to pass a tax bill.

Mutscher reportedly told Smith Saturday that he lacked a majority in the House for the bill but predicted he could get one.

One House veteran said Sunday: "This will be the hardest vote to cast in the 14 years I've been here."

72 AGAINST

And Rep. Billy Williamson, Tyler, said he took a poll and found 54 for the bill, 72 against and 24 undecided.

Senate backers of the compromise tax package broke through a 27½ hour filibuster at 12:33 a.m. Sunday after two senators who opposed the bill were missing from the floor on a crucial vote to limit debate.

Sens. Ronald Bridges, Corpus Christi, and Joe Christie, El

Paso, both of whom have higher education institutions at stake in a spending bill still under consideration, were absent at 9:53 p.m. Saturday when the debate-limiting vote was taken. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes talked with both men before the vote.

On previous attempts to stop debate, Bridges and Christie voted No. And they returned to vote against the bill after debate was limited to the man then holding the floor, Sen. Don Kennard, Fort Worth.

AFTER MIDNIGHT

Kennard made sure he kept the floor until after midnight—sitting down at 12:31 a.m.—to force supporters of the bill to pass it on a Sunday.

Sen. Jack Strong, Longview, paired with the absent Sen. V.E. "Red" Berry, San Antonio, on the filibuster vote. Sen. Jim Bates, Edinburg, paired with Berry on the tax bill vote. Both votes were 15-14. The votes would have killed either the motion or the bill.

The tax package raises $341 million for general revenue spending in 1970-71, but it also hits taxpayers' pocketbooks for $164 million more because city sales taxes will take an additional $71 million, and three-fourths of a $124 million boost in taxes on gasoline and other fuels, or $93 million, would be earmarked for highway construction.

That makes a total additional tax bite of $505 million for the biennium.

GAS INCREASE

The tax bill cuts the state sales tax from 3 per cent to 2.5 per cent, but the extension of the tax to food, alcoholic beverages and repair, maintenance and other services related to tangible personal property results in a net gain of $90.8 million.

Laundry and dry cleaning would be under the sales tax for the first time.

Other taxes in the package are:

—A natural gas tax increase from 7 to 8 per cent of the value of gas produced, $18.2 million.

—A corporation franchise tax boost, $83.9 million.

—A private club "services tax" of five cents per drink, $13 million.

—A 5-cent-a-pack cigarette tax increase, from 11 cents to 16 cents, $81.9 million.

VENDING MACHINES

—A $15 tax on vending machines other than gas meters, pay telephones, pay toilets, cigarette machines and stamp machines, $22.5 million.

A family of four with an annual income of $8,000 would pay $35 more a year in city and state sales taxes. If the income is $5,000, the increase is $31, and for poverty-level income of $3,000, it is $24. Well-to-do families with incomes of $50,000 would pay $84 more.

Pack-a-day smokers would pay $18.20 more a year. Motorists with cars averaging 14 miles a gallon and who travel 10,000 miles a year would pay $7.13 more.

and nine of them were identified as Jews.

—Police in Izmir, Turkey, announced that a Jordanian student was killed and another injured when a homemade time bomb they intended to place at the Israeli pavilion of the Izmir International Fair exploded accidentally late Saturday night.

Observers in Amman predicted that at the foreign ministers' meeting such Arab oil states as Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Libya and the Persian Gulf emirates would increase their financial support to Jordan and the Palestine resistance movement.

SACRED SHRINE

The new level of anti-Israeli feeling in the Arab world is the result of the fire last week in Al Aksah Mosque in Old Jerusalem, Islam's third most sacred shrine.

FORT CONCHO WEDDING — Army Spec. 4 Anthony Bir receives a wedding kiss from guest, Janet Fluth, while his bride, formerly Patricia Benton, looks on. The couple wearing traditional dress from old fort days, was married in the Fort Concho chapel. This wedding is possibly the first at the fort in the last century. The wedding was at 9 a.m. due to lack of air conditioning.

Mrs. Elra Phillips gave the devotion on faith. Plans were made to purchase five chairs for the church.

An announcement was made of the sub-district meeting, Sept. 11, to be held in the church. Meetings will be from 9 to 11 a.m., and a nursery will be provided.

Mrs. Vernon Kent served refreshments.

Use Nature's Theme in Home Decorating

Colors used in the largest quantity in nature are quiet and undemanding tones, while those used in smaller amounts are usually bold and vivid.

For a serene, pleasing decor look, employ this principle in home decorating. The National Cotton Council suggests you use off-white cotton homespun for curtains and slipcovers in a room with cream-colored walls.

For occasional chairs, use a plush textured fabric like velvet, in a print that features shades of mushroom and pale blue.

For strong accent colors, rely on bunches of fresh flowers around the room. Or hang one modern oil painting in vivid contrast color on the wall above the off-white sofa.

Local D&D Delegate To Attend Convention

Mrs. Leon Kinney, 801 W. 16th, will serve as local delegate to the 18th annual convention of the Association of Desk and Derrick Clubs of North America, Friday and Saturday in Calgary, Alberta, Canada.

Mrs. Kinney is a longtime member and was president of the Big Spring Desk and Derrick Club.

Over 600 representatives from 95 clubs, comprised of 5,200 members, who are women of the petroleum and allied industries throughout the United States and Canada, will attend.

Mrs. Julie Wheeler of Houston, association president, will preside during business sessions, and Miss Marguerite Flood of Calgary, will serve as chairman of the general arrangements committee. Miss Wilma McKenzie, also of Calgary, will assist her.

Mrs. Frances M. King of Long Beach, Calif., 1968 ADCC president, will deliver the keynote address Friday, and election of association officers will be held at the Saturday morning meeting. The Saturday banquet speaker will be John C. Jacobs, senior vice president of the Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation. His subject will be "The Fight Against the Petroleum Industry."

The purpose of Desk and Derrick is to promote among women of the petroleum and allied industries a clearer understanding of the industry they serve, resulting in an increase and enlargement of their scope of service.

Swim Party Held By Scale Steppers

HAPPY REUNION — Army Sgt. George C. Brown Jr., greets his wife, Joan, and 6-year-old daughter, Lisa, at airport in Seoul Monday. Mrs. Brown and Lisa flew to Korea on plane of South Korean President Park, who was returning from U.S. visit. Mrs. Brown got the ride when she wired President Park that she didn't have enough money for plane fare to come to Korea to be with her husband.

Methodists Map Campaign To Aid 12 Negro Colleges

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A $2 million fund raising campaign to aid 12 Negro colleges, two of them in Texas, was announced Sunday by the Board of Education of the United Methodist Church.

Bishop O. Eugene Slater of San Antonio, Tex., president of the board, said Feb. 8, 1970, has been designated "Race Relations Sunday," and the money is expected to be raised on that day through a joint effort by several boards and agencies of the Church.

Bishop Slater also announced appointment of a committee to study ways in which the Board of Education can contribute to finding a solution for race relations problems.

Named to the committee were the Rev. William M. James, pastor of Metropolitan Community United Methodist Church, New York; John T. King, president of Huston-Tillotson College, Austin, Tex.; Bishop James S. Thomas, Des Moines, Iowa, and the three general secretaries of the board—Dr. Henry M. Bullock, Dr. Howard M. Ham and Dr. Myron F. Wicke.

Colleges to be aided in the fund-raising campaign are Bennett, Greensboro, N.C.; Bethune-Cookman, Daytona Beach, Fla.; Claflin, Orangeburg, S.C.;

Clark, Atlanta; Dillard, New Orleans; Huston-Tillotson, Nashville; Morris Brown, Atlanta, Ga.; Philander Smith, Little Rock, Ark.; Wiley College, Marshall, Tex.

Dr. Wicke, who heads the board's Division of Higher Education, said the $2 million goal is part of a long-range effort to upgrade the predominantly black colleges which, he said, "constitute the church's No. 1 opportunity to provide constructive solutions to racial tensions and to educate black students to take their places in all areas of American society."

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Alaska is the most youthful of all states. Half of the entire population is less than 23.3 years of age.

IN NORTHWEST TEXAS Tornadoes, Hail, High Winds, Rain

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms were expected to continue through today in the Texas Panhandle where violent weather erupted Sunday night. A few tornadoes, hail, high winds and heavy rains accompanied the severe thunderstorms that lashed out at that sector.

At least five twisters were sighted and the Weather Bureau placed large portions of Northwest Texas under severe weather alerts. Tornadoes were seen near Dimmitt, Friona, Summerfield, Skellytown and Crosbyton, but there were no reports of them touching ground.

Golf-ball sized hail was reported near Amarillo where 1.66 inches of rain fell. Lubbock received 2.27 inches during the deluge.

Other rainfall from the 36 main weather stations included Brownsville 1.41 inches, Cotulla 1.25, Palacios 1.03, San Antonio 1.49, Austin .38, Big Spring .35 and Mineral Wells .65.

In Pampa winds of 60 miles an hour were reported. Power was knocked out in most of the Panhandle city and the police radio went silent.

To the south, San Antonio also received heavy rain measuring up to five inches in some areas. Several persons were trapped in their cars on the city's southeast side and firemen had to rescue them.

Two brothers, Robert Moore, 14, and Richard Moore, 11, were standing on a San Antonio sidewalk when lightning struck right beside them, splitting the pavement but not injuring them. Thunderstorms were still in progress over the Panhandle as today dawned and a few showers lingered over South Central Texas. Early morning temperatures dipped into the 60s in the Panhandle and were mostly in the 70s elsewhere.

Minor temperature changes were expected today from the relatively cool readings of Sunday. Cotulla's 102 degree reading was the hottest then, but Dalhart had only an 83 degree maximum. Long-range forecasts call for temperatures to drop as much as eight degrees below normal during the next few days.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms were forecast through today for all the state except extreme Northeast Texas.

Obscene Mail Sparks Moral Indignation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The obscene mail issue has aroused the most moral indignation on Capitol Hill since the big school prayer debate five years ago.

More than 200 anti-obscenity bills have been introduced and congressmen have given scores of speeches on the subject.

Unlike the 160 bills in 1964 to overturn the Supreme Court's decision on school prayers, there is a good chance one of the proposals to fight smut mail will pass.

None of the 160 prayer bills ever got out of committee, but obscene mail legislation is almost certain to reach a floor vote since sponsors include some committee chairmen. And once a bill gets to the floor, it is expected to sail through.

Constituents are howling, backers say, louder than over any issue since school prayer. The Post Office Department received 234,000 obscene mail complaints last year.

"A California mailer flooded our district with this stuff," said one congressional aide. "It must have hit 150,000 people in our district. And a goodly number of these people started hitting us. So, now we're trying to do some hitting ourselves."

Almost all of the bills are aimed at halting obscene mail to youngsters or to adults who don't want to receive it.

One, perhaps embarrassing, aspect is the courts' insistence that such measures state clearly just what is proscribed. The result is graphic language in bills which might not pass an obscenity test themselves.

The bluntest and shortest of these bills was introduced by Rep. Jack B. Brooks (D-Texas), who says the big problem lies in obscene illustrations in unsolicited advertising.

Brooks' bill would prohibit mailing unsolicited advertisements that contain "any illustration which depicts in whole or in part the genitals of the human body, or any act of sodomy, masturbation, homosexuality, sexual intercourse, sadism or masochism."

Critics say this could outlaw mailed advertisements for Renaissance prints or medical journals.

41 Fire Calls Are Reported During July

The city fire department answered 41 calls during July, according to its monthly report.

Of those 41, 24 were for brush or grass fires, six for car fires, six for fire in buildings, and five were false alarms.

Eight of the fires were out on arrival, 29 were extinguished with the booster line, three were killed by the occupant, and one was put out with a hand extinguisher. Man hours fighting fires totaled 69.

Insurance fire losses amounted to $875 during July; $850 were on buildings and $25 on contents. Twenty-seven fires were investigated, with 26 of them declared accidental. The cause of the other was undetermined.

Utilities Report

The city's utilities department had an active month, according to its monthly report.

Sewage treatment for the month totaled 72,099,000 gallons for a daily average of 2,403,000 gallons. Of the monthly total, 5,230,000 gallons were sold to Cosden Oil and Chemical Co.

The water filter plant pumped 301,008,000 gallons of water during the month for a daily average of 9,710,000 gallons as compared to an average of 7,306,000 per day in July, 1968. A total of 411,508,000 gallons were received from CRMWD.

111 Junk Cars

There were 111 junk cars on public right-of-ways identified by police during July, according to the city's monthly report; 17 were removed by the owner and three by the city.

On private property 32 junk cars were identified by police, and of those, 13 were removed by the owner. Since February, 373 junk cars have been taken from both public right-of-ways and private property.

Tax Receipts

The July report from the city's tax department shows receipts for the month totaling $7,714.40, an increase of more than $2,500 over July 1968's receipts. Of this total, $5,828.85 came from the collection of delinquent taxes, $2,230.65 more than in July, 1968.

In the present fiscal year, receipts thus far total $37,767.83, with $20,818.61 coming from delinquent taxes and $10,805.34 from current taxes. During the same period in the last fiscal year, only $23,966.26 had been collected.

Water Accounts

The monthly report of the city's water office and water meter department revealed it had 8,961 accounts at the end of July. It had disconnected 49 accounts for non-payment, and 1,150 accounts had not paid with 15 days of being billed (12.8 per cent of the total).

More Demolitions

The city's monthly report showed seven hazardous structures demolished during July with six others ready for demolition. Of the 516 hazardous structures in Big Spring at the start of the program, 440 have now been demolished, moved or repaired.

Trash Disposal

Business at the sanitary landfill was less this month than in June, according to the monthly report of the city sanitation department. There were 2,583 vehicles crossing the scales, carrying 2,067 tons of trash; this is about one-third less than in June.

Signs Repaired

Nineteen street name signs were repaired and 10 new ones installed during July, according to the monthly report of the public works department. About 3,000 feet of stop, crossing, parking and center lines were also painted during the month.

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Since God alone can create life, and since God alone knows what tomorrow brings, He alone is truly qualified as a "Family Planner."

How did a lovely, brilliant girl like you ever get taken in by Planned Parenthood?

A LONG TIME ADMIRER

DEAR ADMIRER: I read the figures on population explosion, and saw pictures of thousands of starving children born of parents who did not want them and could not feed them. I then concluded that a just God could not possibly have given life to innocent children only to doom them to death by starvation in their infancy.

DEAR ABBY: When I have my son, his wife and their children to my home for dinner, I put newspapers under the baby's high chair. My son informs me that his wife will not allow him to do that at home. She claims that it is all right when feeding animals, but not children!

I certainly would never put my grandchild in the same class with animals. I am only trying to protect my dining room rug.

Abby, I have used newspapers under high chairs with all my own children, and five grand-children, and I have never had a complaint before. I would like your opinion. Am I being stupid and insensitive? Or is my daughter-in-law out of line?

I.M. CURIOUS IN DEL.

DEAR CURIOUS: I would have to say that your daughter-in-law is out of line. And you may put THIS under the baby's high chair.

DEAR ABBY: Before I met my husband-to-be, the girl who introduced us said, "You'll never want to marry this guy because his name is —."

I said, "Don't worry. I have no intentions of marrying him." Famous last words!

Well, you guessed it. I did marry him and I have had five years of ridicule, snickers and crank telephone calls because of our name, but I have learned to take it because I love my husband very much.

However, we now have two children (2 and 4) and I keep dreading the thought of what they will have to face because of their name. Regardless of what my husband says, he is still sensitive about it because of the jeering he had to endure as a youngster.

I have suggested several times that we change just one letter of our name, legally, which will give it an entirely different meaning. This I want to do for the sake of our children.

My husband says that "—" has been his family's name for as many generations as he can go back and he is proud of it and will not change it.

What do you think, Abby? Is family pride worth years of ridicule for our children?

MRS. FUNNYNAME

DEAR MRS. FUNNYNAME: Apparently it is up to your husband and he's the one who has the last word, so don't fight it.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Moon Rocks Age Guessed

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Scientists say moon rocks brought back to earth by the Apollo 11 astronauts may be 2 billion to 4.5 billion years old — the age of the solar system itself.

Dr. Oliver Schaeffer and Dr. John Finkbeiner of the State University of New York, Dr. Joseph Zahring of the Max Planck Institute of Heidelberg, Germany, and Dr. Donald Bogard of the Manned Spacecraft Center drew their conclusions after measuring rare gases in rock samples at the lunar receiving laboratory here.

The gases indicate the material is at least as old as the oldest rocks from the earth's crust.

Some of the material will now be packaged for distribution to scientists throughout the United States and nine foreign countries.

It will be about three months before these investigators make their reports on the bits of lunar samples received.

THE BRAKES DIDN'T HAVE IT — William and Vivian Jackson returned from a fishing trip Sunday and Jackson waited in their station wagon while wife went to back their foreign car out of the garage in Cincinnati, Ohio. She backed it up the 75-foot driveway, the brakes didn't hold, the car rolled back down, through the garage and out the rear coming to rest against a tree. This saved Vivian and the car from a 10-foot drop. Vivian wasn't hurt.

County Accepts Gas, Oil Bids

County commissioners met briefly this morning and accepted bids from Gulf Oil Co. and Continental Oil Co. for gas and oil for county vehicles during 1970.

Continental submitted the low bid on gasoline, and Gulf had the low bid on oil, grease and diesel fuel. Gulf holds the 1969 contract.

Quoted prices were 55 cents per gallon, engine lubricating oil; 68 cents per gallon, diesel motor oil; 12 cents per pound, transmission deferential oil; 13.5 cents per pound, lubricating grease; 40 cents per gallon, hydraulic oil; and 11.25 cents per gallon, diesel fuel, for C. W. Parks, Gulf Oil Co. Earl Stovall, Continental Oil Co., offered gasoline to the county for 13.25 cents per gallon.

Only other bidders were Phillips 66 and Mobil. The motion to split the bill between Gulf and Continental was made by Bill Tune and seconded by Simon Terrazas. Ray Nichols presided over the meeting in the absence of County Judge Lee Porter, who is on vacation. Bill Crocker was also absent from the meeting.

Before adjourning, commissioners gave permission to the United Fund to install a billboard on the Courthouse lawn showing progress of the local campaign.

Wives Declare Sales Tax War

DALLAS (AP) — A group of Dallas housewives "declared war" Sunday on state lawmakers over the proposed state retail tax on groceries.

The bill won Senate approval after a 27½ hour filibuster and goes to the House for judgment today.

"I was mad enough to chew nails when I read about the tax in the paper this morning," Mrs. Frederick S. Stearns said Sunday. Mrs. Stearns heads a group who has sent letters to Gov. Preston Smith, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and all Dallas legislators saying there will be a "taxpayer's revolt if a sales tax on groceries is approved."

"Get off the backs of the middle class people or you will see another Boston Tea Party," the strongly worded correspondence concluded.

Guard Killed, Salesman Shot

HOUSTON (AP) — Robert Watson, 50, a security guard, was shot to death and a route salesman was critically wounded today during an attempted robbery of a peanut distributing company.

Watson was left dead in his pickup truck about two blocks from Texas Tom's Inc., police said, after trying to chase two bandits.

Felix Shotton, 39, was reported in serious condition with a bullet wound in the back, suffered as he attempted to flee the scene.

Police said the gunmen were after the company's safe but had to settle for the personal cash of about 10 employees.

A spokesman for the company said the gunmen had entered the building claiming they had come to pick up a car belonging to a former employee.

Nixon To Dedicate Redwoods In Honor Of Mrs. Johnson

ORICK, Calif. (AP) — Redwood National Park officials worked today to spruce up the canyon of trees where President Nixon will dedicate the "Lady Bird Johnson Grove" of giant redwoods on Wednesday.

It will be a special birthday present for former President Lyndon B. Johnson, who created the preserve on Oct. 2, 1968, when he signed the Redwood National Park bill into law. He will be 61 Wednesday.

Mrs. Johnson dedicated the park Nov. 25, 1968, to climax her final conservation tour of America as the nation's first lady.

"It will be pretty much the same ceremony it was last November," Park Supt. Nelson Murdock said in an interview Sunday.

The presidential party—including the Nixons and the Johnsons—will hike a mile or so off Bald Hills Road on a dirt trail to the towering grove of California coast redwoods, the tallest living things.

The area is several miles inland from the mouth of Redwood Creek at the Pacific Ocean, and about 300 miles north of San Francisco on U.S. 101, "The Redwood Highway."

The 58,000-acre park was established after years of controversy between conservationists and big lumber companies. The compromise park boundary encompassed about 28,000 acres of California state redwood parks and about 30,000 acres of private timber lands.

California retains title to its state parks and continues to operate them just as it had. Gov. Ronald Reagan has appointed a committee to advise him on their disposition—whether they should be sold or given to the National Park Service, traded for choice federal beach land in Southern California, or retained by the state.

The dedication site will be at the foot of the giant redwood, 675 years old and 234 feet tall, where Mrs. Johnson dedicated the park last November to "the happiness of the people."

Not On Record For 'Champion'

DOVER, Del. (AP) — Republican State Sen. Andy Foltz of Dover took the floor of the Delaware Senate to complain that the method of tape recording Senate sessions wasn't working.

Unable to find a tape from a session last year, Foltz said: "There is something seriously wrong when you can't go back one year and find out what happened."

At this point, Foltz was interrupted by Reynolds du Pont, Senate president pro tem, who said: "Senator, would you care to repeat what you just said so we could make a record of your comments? The tape just ran out."

As Foltz took his seat, he said: "I'm just a champion of lost causes."

Thefts Harry Two Residents

Police investigated several thefts and acts of vandalism during the weekend.

A living room suite, refrigerator, stove, and sewing machine, all valued at $450, were missing from a house at 900 N. Wyoming, owned by William Bennett, Sunday. Police were notified by a neighbor.

L. L. Robertson, 1614 Settles, reported a pressure pump tank and some pipe were taken from his property at FM 700 and Goliad. Dominga Hernandez told police the windshield and the vent window had been broken while her car was parked at her home, 812 W. 7th.

Don Yates, 1909 Mittel, reported vandals had torn a screen and broken a window at his rent house, 1512 Harding. Passers-by reported that a window had been broken and others shot with BB's in the Reed Hotel, owned by Laura Baker, 1109 Rannels. Damage was estimated at $75.

Gas Rate Increase Hearing Tuesday

Public hearing on the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. request to increase the local gas rate will highlight the Tuesday evening meeting of the Big Spring City Commission. The session opens at 7 p.m. in city hall.

The gas company has requested that the rate be hiked 14.5 per cent, and that a late charge of 10 per cent be added to all unpaid bills 10 days after issuance. Officials of the company pointed out that Pioneer had not had a rate increase here 1957, and that company expenses had climbed.

Minimum gas bills would go up from $2 to $2.25 and the average domestic user would be paying about $1 per month more for natural gas.

Robert K. Kimberlin Jr. will discuss with the commissioners the possibility of acquiring the City's oil and gas lease on 350 acres under Powell Lake. The commission will probably call for bids.

The commission will consider calling for bids on 20 new vehicles. The administration suggests that the bids be asked for Sept. 19 in order for the units to be received in late October.

All the vehicles are replacements for those now in operation and include 11 police cars, seven pickups, one public works car, and a 23,000 GVW size truck.

Readings are listed on the agenda for several on-premises beer consumption permits, including the Broadway Tavern, Mexico Cafe, and American Club.

Fullback Butler Axed From Squad

LUBBOCK (AP) — Fullback Tony Butler and offensive tackle Fred Perry have been dropped from the Texas Tech football squad for disciplinary reasons.

Head football coach J. T. King said today the action was taken against Butler of Coahoma, and Perry of Dallas because of an incident which occurred in spring training.

King said, "The matter was not rectified to my satisfaction during the summer. I have removed both players from the team. I consider the matter now closed."

King did not go into details.

Area Grass Fires

Four grass fires within a mile of each other in the Silver Heels Addition midday Friday spread county fire trucks busy, according to Sheriff A. N. Standard, and a fifth fire reported at the intersection of the Garden City Highway and the old Sterling City Highway at 1 a.m. Saturday added to the problems.

Firemen from Hilltop, Sand Springs and Coahoma were busy until 3 a.m. Saturday bringing all the blazes under control. All were grassfires causing only minor damage, Standard said.

Injuries Fatal

KERMIT, Tex. (AP) — D.W. "Woody" Shook, 19, died Sunday of injuries suffered in an oil field accident Aug. 16 near Coayapoga in Far West Texas.

Rural Land Values Will Be Discussed At School

Rural land values are expected to be the major topic of discussion at the meeting Tuesday night of Big Spring school trustees.

Pat Murphy, chairman of the school board of equalization, said his committee will meet before the trustees although his report is not included on the agenda.

The board of equalization and trustees differed last week on rural land values. The equalization committee recommended the school adopt land values proposed earlier this year by Wilson and Davis, appraisal firm.

Trustees, in a called meeting, accepted a compromise valuation recommended by their attorney, Gil Jones, and attorneys for the Rural Taxpayers Association, Don Curry and Dee Jon Davis; although the equalization board has the final say on the school tax roll.

The compromise values land $10 lower per acre on cultivated land, and $5 lower on two classifications of grassland.

The agenda for the trustees, meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the board room of the school offices, includes tentative approval of Title I Elementary Secondary Education Act budget for incorporation into the general budget; tentative approval of the Head Start budget for incorporation into the general budget; approval of plans to meet requirements of Senate Bill No. 199, requiring provisions for a 45-minute daily preparation and planning period for all teachers (Big Spring schools already provide this "free" period in secondary schools, but not in elementary); and consideration of approval of a budgetary allocation from the building fund contingency to remodel the restrooms and storage building on the old athletic field.

DEATHS

John W. Pearce, Services Held

Services were held Saturday at 6 p.m. in the chapel of River-Welch Funeral Home for John W. Pearce, 60-year-old retired farmer from Arizona. The Rev. A. W. Thornhill, Westside United Pentecostal Church, officiated. Interment will be in Miami, Ariz., under the direction of the Miles Funeral Home.

Mr. Pearce was born June 21, 1909, in McKinney. He retired in 1953 and moved here from Coolidge, Ariz., in April. He died Thursday in a local hospital.

Survivors include his wife, Ora Pearce; five sons, James Pearce and Doyle Pearce, Globe, Ariz.; Norman Pearce and Joel Pearce, Albuquerque, N.M.; and Wesley Pearce, Sandy, Ore.; two daughters, Mrs. Debra Heneka and Marilyn Pearce, Big Spring; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim H. Pearce, Brownwood; five brothers, Norman Pearce, Namon Pearce and Leonard Pearce, Brownwood, Nathan Pearce, Las Cruces, N.M., and Harm Pearce, Tucson, Ariz.; one sister, Mrs. Birdie Wilburn, Big Spring; and 12 grandchildren.

Insists CIA Figure 'Lied'

NEW YORK (AP) — A lawyer for three of eight Army Green Berets charged with murdering a Vietnamese, reportedly a double agent, says a Central Intelligence Agency representative "lied" at a pretrial hearing last week to "cover up for his own mistakes and stupidity."

"The CIA," said attorney Henry B. Rothblatt, "distorted information to precipitate the hearing. Then, in cross examination, a representative of the agency was caught in lies and hid behind executive privilege."

Rothblatt returned Sunday from Saigon and said he was confident the Army would drop charges against the eight Special Forces members "within a week."

"They just don't have any evidence," he said of the Army.

Rothblatt said he could not discuss details of the case because they were classified by the military.

The Vietnamese they are accused of killing last June 20 was reportedly working for both the CIA and the North Vietnamese.

Some sources have said the CIA advised that the man be "eliminated," and that after he was shot and his body dumped into the South China Sea, the CIA rescinded the death order and gave new instructions to spare him.

The eight Green Berets, including Col. Robert B. Rheault, commander of all Special Forces in Vietnam, were subsequently arrested and charged with murder and conspiracy to commit murder.

His Surrender

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — One storeowner here apparently has given up in a fight against crime. After the last break-in at his establishment, he placed a card in a broken window and addressed it: "Thieves — don't bother to break in again. There's nothing of value left in the store anymore."

Mrs. J. E. Stokes, Long Illness

Mrs. J. E. Stokes, 70, who had been in failing health for several years, died Sunday night at 10:45 in a local hospital. She had been living at 1701 Rannels, before hospitalization three months ago.

Mrs. Stokes was born June 9, 1892, at Hale Center, and moved to Big Spring from Lubbock in 1948. She was married to J. E. Stokes, who died June 22, 1962, in Lovington, N.M., in 1910.

Services are set for Rosewood Chapel, Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home, at 3 p.m. Tuesday, the Rev. Robert F. Polk officiating. Burial will follow in Trinity Memorial Park.

Surviving Mrs. Stokes are one daughter, Mrs. Allen R. Hamilton, 801 Marcy; one son, W. T. Stokes, Ozona; two grandsons; and two great-grandsons.

Wives Declare Sales Tax War

"Get off the backs of the middle class people or you will see another Boston Tea Party," the strongly worded correspondence concluded.

DIES — Stage and television actress Kathleen Murray died Sunday of cancer in New York City. She was 41. Miss Murray starred on television as "Kitty Foyle" for two seasons during the mid-50's, and she also starred in many Broadway and off-Broadway shows.

Officer Hurt In Car Crash

Don B. Thorpe, Big Spring policeman, was in good condition today in Cowper Clinic and Hospital after receiving mild back and leg injuries Sunday night.

His patrol car had been involved in a three-car accident in the 700 block of Gregg. Drivers of the other two cars were Michael D. McClain of Ackerly, who was treated and released from Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital, and Clavin L. Williams, 633 Settles, who received minor bruises but was not taken to a hospital.

McClain was arrested for driving while intoxicated in connection with the accident and released on $500 bond this morning from the sheriff's office.

Thorpe had stopped Williams' car on Gregg Street, Police Chief E. J. Banks said, and had just returned to his car when the accident occurred. Both of their cars were still parked on the side of the street.

Heavy damage to the police car and McClain's auto was estimated.

Guard Killed, Salesman Shot

HOUSTON (AP) — Robert Watson, 50, a security guard, was shot to death and a route salesman was critically wounded today during an attempted robbery of a peanut distributing company.

74 Dead, 109 Missing After Virginia Floods

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A lake of high-octane gasoline left by killer floods that knifed through Virginia was being washed into the sewers of south Richmond today.

In devastated portions of Western Virginia flooded by torrential rains brought on by Hurricane Camille, the toll rose Sunday to at least 74 dead, 109 missing and more than $132 million in property damage.

National Guardsmen cordoned off a 29-block area in Richmond Sunday after a leak was discovered in a partially submerged and tangled debris.

As rescue workers continued to claw through mountain ravines and canyons in their search for the dead, the Coast Guard announced it would take up the search 200 miles downstream.

The Coast Guard planned to search the river as far west as Richmond for bodies that may have washed downstream from the mountains.

In Richmond the river returned virtually to normal Sunday after a record flood crest was recorded Friday.

Advance warning and hastily constructed sandbag dikes helped residents keep damage to a minimum in the city, but merchants along the waterfront reported losses in the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The state has been declared a disaster area by President Nixon.

Thought It Was Just A Hard Sell

REDDITCH, England (AP) — Housewife Maureen Leopard, 21, thought it was a stunt when Anthony Reynolds, 26, a fire extinguisher salesman, grappled one of his samples, knocked on the door and told her the roof was on fire. Reynolds finally convinced her to let him in to put out the blaze he had spotted from his car.

"I hadn't seen any flames," Mrs. Leopard said.

30 Turn Fountain Into Pool Of Suds

ROME (AP) — Thirty youths turned a Roman fountain into a pool of suds Sunday to protest the Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia.

The youths surrounded the Fountain of the Naiads in Piazza Repubblica. Before police could stop them, they pulled out several boxes of detergent and dumped them into the fountain's basin. Rich, creamy suds bubbled up immediately. Then the youths stuck two flags—one Italian, one Czechoslovak—on figures in the fountain.

Three of the youths jumped into the basin. Police fished them out and took them to headquarters for questioning.

Trucks With About 800 Troops Roll Into Prague

PRAGUE (AP) — Demonstrating that the government is determined to stop anti-Soviet protests in Czechoslovakia, trucks carrying about 800 troops rolled into Prague Sunday night.

The troops closed two bridges and took up positions on the west bank of the Vltava River opposite downtown Prague.

There were not as many soldiers as were brought into the city last week to control rioting on the first anniversary of the Soviet invasion.

The arrival of the troops apparently was staged to coincide with the end of a football game between two major Czechoslovak teams. The military maneuver kept the crowd of 3,000 from the neighborhood of the Communist party headquarters, which is between the two closed bridges.

The crowd appeared quiet and no arrests were noted. Any disturbance in such a crowd would be grounds for arrest under severe new emergency laws promulgated after the violence last week on the first anniversary of the Soviet invasion.

Witnesses said police set up a roadblock on a third bridge, stopping cars and searching some.

Travelers said parts of the huge Czechoslovak military force that occupied Prague Wednesday and Thursday still were on the outskirts of the capital.

Some sources said they would remain near Prague through today as part of an eight-day urban defense exercise in the anniversary period. Troop concentrations also were reported outside other major cities.

AFTER A YEAR WITH A NEW HEART — Family and friends gathered around Louis B. Russell Jr. of Indianapolis Sunday during a reception marking the first anniversary of his heart transplant operation. From center front are Russell's daughter, Helen, 10; wife, Thelma; son, Charles, 22 (with white shirt), Russell, daughter Connie (partially hidden, and son, David, 11 (far right).

Commie Armored Columns Heard Moving Along Border

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force transport planes have flown 18 armored personnel carriers and six antitank guns to the Bu Dop Special Forces camp 80 miles north of Saigon following intelligence reports that enemy armored columns were heard moving along the Cambodian border.

Sources who reported this said they did not know whether anyone had actually seen enemy tanks or armored personnel carriers in the border area. North Vietnamese troops have used light amphibious tanks to spearhead infantry assaults on isolated American Special Forces camps along the Cambodian and Laotian borders, but these have been much farther north of Saigon.

With the enemy's fall campaign going into its third week today, the enemy attacks dropped off 44 per cent last week from the opening week of the campaign, but they were still 68 per cent higher than the year's low, U.S. Command sources said.

But American sources said they anticipate another round of intensified attacks about Sept. 1. One American report summing up the situation from Saigon north to the Cambodian border said: "We feel the enemy has used the period of decreased activity since the peak of action Aug. 11-12 to refit, prepare and position his forces. The present disposition of the enemy's divisional elements suggests that the next major effort will again be in the northern provinces" 55 to 80 miles north of Saigon.

During the first week of the campaign that began on the night of Aug. 11, the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese averaged 45 rocket and mortar attacks a day. The daily average dropped to 25 last week. Enemy-initiated actions averaged only eight a day during the quietest week this year, the last week in July.

The U.S. Command is preparing an analysis on the potential of future enemy activity and infiltration for President Nixon. The President announced over the weekend that he was postponing a decision on additional U.S. troop withdrawals because of the increase in enemy attacks.

U.S. sources said a preliminary assessment of North Vietnamese infiltration into South Vietnam indicates the enemy "isn't trying to replace completely his losses. We give him credit for having manpower to do it if he chooses."

U.S. Army Secretary Stanley S. Resor continued his talks with U.S. commanders in Saigon and in the field. His finding also will go to Nixon for the President's guidance in deciding about the future of troop withdrawals.

Nixon's deferment of future withdrawals did not affect the withdrawal of 25,000 American troops which is scheduled to be completed by the end of this month. Nearly 2,000 more men left today, bringing the total withdrawn to 22,500.

The U.S. Command announced that Marine Fighter Attack Squadron 334, an outfit of 250 men and 14 F4J Phantom fighter-bombers, would begin transferring to Iwakuni, Japan, on Tuesday. Commanded by Lt. Col. John R. Braddon of San Clemente, Calif., the squadron is the first regular Marine fighter-bomber unit to leave Vietnam.

Russell Says Girls Wanted To Kiss Him

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "All the girls wanted to kiss me," said Louis B. Russell Jr. after the first anniversary celebration for his new heart.

"I don't know whether this 17-year-old heart had anything to do with this or not," Russell figures he has two birthdays now.

The Indianapolis schoolteacher won't be 45 until April 26, but Sunday was the first anniversary of his heart transplant operation.

"I don't think I've ever had a birthday with this much excitement and this many people," he said Sunday night.

Friends, relatives, people he hadn't seen in a long time and people he'd never seen before dropped in to congratulate him.

"There was a whole slew of them coming in all day long," Russell said. In an operation at the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond on Aug. 24, 1968, Russell received the heart of a youth who died of a gunshot wound.

The death of Dr. Philip Blair, a retired South African dentist, left Russell the world's second longest surviving heart transplant recipient. A French priest, the Rev. Charles Boulogne, 56, is the world's longest surviving.

Russell said the death of Blair "was just something that makes you think. 'It's like this. I drive a Pontiac and if word got out that something went wrong with that year's Pontiac, I'd think about it, too,'" Russell said.

Alaska Natives Still Wait To See What They Will Get

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncle Sam shelled out $7.2 million more than a century ago to purchase Alaska, but it apparently will be next year before natives find out what they get from the mammoth real estate transaction.

Annual installments totaling up to $500 million are being considered by Congress to settle the claims of 55,000 Alaska Eskimos, Aleuts and Indians. Their ancestors lived in what is now the 49th state for centuries before the first white man arrived. Sentiments voiced by Congress at hearings held by House and Senate interior committees this summer indicate action will not be completed until next year on a plan to pay the natives for the more than 500,000 square miles of real estate which the United States bought from Russia in 1867.

The chairman of the House Interior Committee, Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., says his group will visit Alaska to inspect native villages and mineral-rich areas before deciding among the various compensation proposals. The trip may be in mid-October.

The Senate Interior Committee has held hearings in Alaska and may act on the issue this year. The Interior Department has clamped a freeze on release of federal lands in Alaska pending settlement of the claims.

The freeze is preventing the selection of certain federal lands by the Alaska state gov-

Evangelist Due Today For Revival

Evangelist Richard Jackson is scheduled to arrive today in time for 7:30 p.m. services at Baptist Temple Church, Eleventh Place and Goliad. The Rev. James A. Puckett, pastor, said the evening has been proclaimed "Welcome Richard Jackson Night."

Jackson will join Fritz Smith in a week-long revival which started Sunday at the Temple. Services are held each day at 7:30 p.m., and Sunday two services are planned at 11 a.m. and 7:15 p.m.

Jackson is pastor of the North Phoenix Baptist Church, the largest Southern Baptist church in Arizona. This year he has already baptized 218 converts.

Administration Reviewing Its Stand On Gun Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is reviewing the sharp differences between its own position on gun control and the proposals of the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence.

The administration declared its opposition to further gun control legislation last month only four days before the commission, headed by Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, recommended confiscation of most of the nation's 25 million handguns and gradual state registration and licensing of shotguns and rifles.

Officials decline comment at this stage on the Eisenhower Commission proposal and refuse to speculate on its possible impact on the administration position.

"We've distributed the report to various people in our department for review," said Donald E. Santarelli, associate deputy attorney general.

Since Santarelli and a Treasury Department spokesman presented the administration position before a Senate subcommittee July 28, the Treasury Department has also supported moves to exempt 22-caliber rimfire, shotgun and rifle ammunition from the 1968 Gun Control Act.

Although Santarelli declined to discuss the review in detail, his office is confronted with a number of obvious challenges to its position, including the constitutional basis for gun control.

"Registration and licensing proposals represent a distinct departure from previously held concepts of federal controls of sporting firearms and would constitute an unwarranted invasion into the province of state and local governments," Santarelli testified in July.

Eugene T. Rossides, assistant secretary at Treasury—which administers the 1968 act—argued that even present gun control laws are on shaky ground and must be tested in court before further legislation can be considered.

Rossides referred to a 1968 Supreme Court decision declaring that a registration provision in the 1932 National Firearms Act was unconstitutional because it amounted to self-incrimination.

The Eisenhower Commission cited a long list of court cases, including the 1968 high court decision, to back up its assertion that an effective registration law could be written without including any self-incrimination provisions which would void enforcement.

Neither the commission nor administration officials have cited as a barrier to gun legislation the Second Amendment: "A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

The commission said the courts have clearly interpreted the amendment as "a prohibition against federal interference with the state militia and not as a guarantee of an individual's right to bear arms."

The Nixon administration and the Eisenhower Commission positions differ in other respects. —On the effect of registration on crime.

Administration—"There is no clear indication that such a program would have a significant impact on the criminal misuse of firearms." Eisenhower Commission — "An effective national firearms policy would help to reduce gun violence in the United States."

—On the adequacy of present laws:

EXPERIENCE Administration—"On the basis of seven months experience, the Gun Control Act of 1968 is working reasonably well and is providing the needed support for state and local controls for which it was designed. We respectfully suggest that the controls under the Gun Control Act of 1968 be given a full opportunity to prove their worth."

Commission—"The 1968 act is not designed to affect either the overall size of the tremendous United States gun population which is the legacy of past firearms policies or of the hand-to-hand or 'street' sales of second hand guns. . . . We conclude that the rising tide of firearms violence in this country merits further legislative action at the present time."

—On the expense of instituting gun registration:

Administration—"The national registration of firearms and the federal licensing of gun owners would be an extremely costly undertaking."

Commission—"The staff report said because registration and record-keeping would be financed through fees, the cost would not be excessive." The commission estimated buying confiscated handguns would cost about $500 million.

Stops Tormenting Rectal Itch

Exclusive Formula Promptly Stops Itching, Burning and Relieves Pain of Piles in Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): The embarrassing itch caused by hemorrhoids is most torturous. But science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to promptly stop the burning itch, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids. And all without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other hemorrhoid formula like it. Preparation H also lubricates, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not another. (Galatians 5:13)

PRAYER: Forgive us, Lord, when we forget to be kind and thoughtful of others. Open our eyes to our neighbors' needs. We thank You for the opportunity of serving You through others. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

Brickbats From A New Direction

President Nixon must have been prepared for most kinds of criticism after his years in the political limelight and out. But he must have been quite unprepared for criticism of the low-key religious services he has been holding in the White House.

Various religious leaders have participated in the services. They have ranged from Terrence Cardinal Cooke to Billy Graham to Rabbi Louis Finkelstein, chancellor of Jewish Theological Seminary of New York — no one seemed to be surprised when the good rabbi stood by while the small congregation sang the Dohology in praise of the Christian Trinity.

Most of the criticism comes from Protestants, though, led by the eminent theologian Reinhold Niebuhr who charged that the President was undermining the principle of separation of church and state by giving "semi-official status" to religious rights denuded of any social criticism.

"By a curious combination of innocence and guile, he has circumvented the Bill of Rights first article,"

Niebuhr wrote in the magazine Christianity and Crisis. "Thus, he has established a conforming religion by semi-officially inviting representatives of all the disestablished religions, of whose moral criticism we were naturally so proud."

But the most plaintive criticism of all came from the Rev. Harvey Cox, Harvard theologian, in reaction to the President's lamentation, following one of the services, of the materialistic style of the nation's youth and urging them to turn to religion.

"I'm afraid the President is talking about religion of social control where Christian worship is explicitly linked to national values," he said.

"Frankly, we have enough problems persuading young people to become interested in religion without having Nixon support it."

These criticisms are unlikely to dissuade Nixon from perpetuating the interdenominational services he seems to enjoy. But they must persuade him that the philosophy he has hitherto cultivated to abide criticism must be broadened somewhat.

Grim Picture Of Traffic

The latest highway death figures compiled by the National Safety Council could form the basis for one of those "That's bad, that's good" routines. The trouble is that, when things are added up, "that's bad" prevails.

During the first six months of 1969, American motorists drove more than 515 billion miles. This is five per cent more mileage than was racked up during the same period last year. At the same time, the number of persons killed in auto accidents was only three per cent higher than last year, so that the death toll related to miles driven was down by two per cent. That, certainly is good.

One comes back, though, to that figure of a three per cent increase in highway deaths for the first half of 1969. In absolute numbers, never mind the mileage relationship, 25,890 people lost their lives in those six months. That, no matter what extenuating circumstances are cited, is very bad indeed.

The situation appears even worse when one adds in the grim figures of injury and economic loss. Through June, 900,000 persons were disabled, and the cost to the economy was an estimated $5.3 billion. The cost in human misery and distress is simply beyond estimate.

There has been no change in the rate of five deaths per 100 million vehicle-miles. That is the crucial fact. Until this figure is substantially cut — until we markedly reduce the number of accidents and make far better use of safety devices — the annual death toll and accompanying loss will continue to rise.

David Lawrence Russia Stalls The Peace Talks

WASHINGTON — At last the United States has pointed the finger of blame at the Soviet Union for the continuance of the Vietnam war. Secretary of State Rogers at a news conference said that there has been no progress at the Paris peace talks, and that he has not detected any move on the part of the Soviet Union to use its influence to stop the fighting either in Vietnam or in neighboring Laos. He added that Russia now is supplying all of Hanoi's military equipment and could have a significant impact on the issue of war or peace.

APPARENTLY THE United States has sought Soviet help in ending the Vietnam conflict, since Mr. Rogers said that the Russians had explained their aloofness by arguing "they have a problem with their constituency." The indication was that the Soviets fear their cooperation would seem to be a deviation from communism and provoke internal political difficulties.

WHILE THESE maneuvers on the Communist side are not surprising, the tragedy is that the Soviet government is not willing to assist in settling the Vietnam war though it could bring about a better relationship with the United States. Diplomats in London have been commenting privately right along that the Kremlin has no intention of trying to persuade Hanoi to achieve peace. The excuse also given by the Soviets has been that the United States was making no concessions. The de-escalation program and withdrawal of some of the American forces have been characterized as "insignificant or outright meaningless."

THE UNITED States, therefore, approaches a climax in Vietnam policy. It must decide whether to keep on withdrawing troops from Vietnam, which, to be sure, give the impression to the North Vietnamese that they will not suffer any serious consequences even though guerrilla warfare is continued in South Vietnam.

FOR SEVERAL months it has been the popular impression in the United States that the Paris peace negotiations would be productive of at least some kind of cease-fire, although a peace agreement might not be signed. But now it is plain that the Hanoi government interprets the policy of the United States as one of withdrawal, with less and less concern for the future of South Vietnam.

Certainly the Hanoi government feels nothing is to be lost by remaining adamant at the peace table. The theory is that the United States will find itself compelled to get out of South Vietnam anyhow without obtaining concessions from North Vietnam.

THE REAL risk, of course, is that the South Vietnamese will not be able by themselves to fight successfully against the Soviet-trained armies of North Vietnam. If this happens, the American effort to defend a small nation against aggression and to maintain the principle of self-determination will have been in vain. Thus, while "sensible risks" may be taken for a while in pulling a large part of the American army out of Vietnam, the biggest damage eventually will come if the Russians and the Red Chinese are able to boast to the world that they have, in effect, defeated the United States and can continue to invade small nations at will.

100 MILLION YEARS OF EVOLUTION—

John Cuniff New Method Of Help On Home Loans

NEW YORK (AP) — For the thousands of individuals who would like to buy a house but cannot raise the 25 or 30 per cent down payments now required, there is a little known angel willing and sometimes able to help.

This is Home Capital Funds, Inc., a lender funded by sixteen corporations prominent in the home building products market who, understandably, like to see plenty of homes built and sold because that means sales for them also.

HCF, operating out of Austin, Tex., is just a little more than two years old but already it has committed $148 million in loans to the private housing market.

This is the way it operates: A potential homeowner goes into a bank or insurance company or savings and loan association and tells them he would like assistance in financing a home. He has $4,000 in cash. He is asked the price of the home he wishes to buy. He says $40,000 and the bank tells him to forget it.

With money tight and expensive, institutions have much more profitable ways to lend their money. To corporations, for example.

But, the 90 per cent mortgage loan still might be made. The lender, perhaps at the suggestion of the borrower, gets in touch with HCF. If HCF accepts the business, it will then advance one-sixth of the amount to be financed.

Since $36,000 is the amount to be financed in this case $6,000 will be provided by HCF. The resulting total of $42,000 from the home buyer and HCF might be enough to convince the basic lender to go ahead with the deal.

Naturally a 90 per cent loan costs more than a 75 per cent loan. And it is out of this fraction of a per cent or more that Home Capital takes its shares of income from the loan.

Ordinarily, to obtain such financing the borrower would have to rely on a second mortgage, perhaps at a very high rate of interest which might also convince the basic lender that the deal wasn't sound.

Under the HCF method, the borrower makes his single monthly payment to the basic lender which then sends along a portion to HCF.

Hal Boyle Baby's Costs Come Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The cost of having a baby and providing for it through the first week of life now comes to about $1,500, says the Health Insurance Institute. It breaks the figure down this way: hospital care, $571; medical care, $245; baby clothes and supplies, $517; maternity clothes, $164.

Violence has become so commonplace in America, FBI studies reveal, that seven serious crimes are committed every minute.

Women hear better than men but not as well as many animals. The animals with the keenest hearing are believed to be elephants, deer and foxes.

You can break the sonic barrier with a bull whip. The crack of a 12-foot whip when snapped can reach a speed of 14,000 feet a second, well above the speed of sound.

Some of the ancient Roman emperors were real oddballs. Caligula, for example, told his people he was a god. He would often sit with his hand to his ear, "listening to Jupiter, and nodding in agreement." He built a thunder machine with which to frighten the citizenry, but when real thunder rumbled Caligula hid under his bed in panic.

Battlewagon Is Retiring Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The battleship New Jersey, sole survivor of the age of dreadnaughts, is retiring again after a short, costly and inconclusive cruise as a floating gun platform in Vietnamese waters.

A veteran of World War II and Korea, the New Jersey was refitted last year at a cost of $22.5 million partly as a response to the rising toll of U.S. aircraft on bombing missions over North Vietnam.

But this last of the battlewagons was able to fire its 16-inch guns at North Vietnamese shore facilities for only a month before that Communist nation was placed off limits to U.S. air and naval bombardment.

After that, it was restricted to support of U.S. combat troops in South Vietnam, some of whom likened the sound of one of its shells to a freight train in the sky.

The 45,000-ton New Jersey, with a crew of 1,600 officers and men, cost the Navy about $1 million a month to operate. Officials said $5 million more was spent on ammunition.

Around The Rim We Can't Let 12-Year-Olds Vote

One thing and another: If we're smart, we'll never give 12-year-olds the right to vote. They'd advocate that all boundaries be eliminated, with all the peoples of the world united under one government. Under such a plan, think of all the holidays from school they'd have.

IS ANY living thing more trusting than a small child?

I see by the papers that a four-year girl in Menlo Park, Calif., answered the door and was asked by a man standing there:

"Is your mother in?"

"Yes," the small replied, "but she's sleeping."

"Well, could you bring me her wallet?" the man asked.

The child obediently fetched the wallet. The caller took out $45, handed it back to the little girl, and departed.

THE AVERAGE couple today (according to the U.S. Census Bureau) can look forward to about 16 years of life together after the youngest child has left home.

By way of contrast, in 1890 one of the parents in the average family had already died by the time the youngest child left home — and the surviving member was likely to make his or her home with one of the children.

IF YOU'RE A married male, you can either thank the Lord you don't live in Saudi Arabia, or pray to Him that you could.

In that nation, they have a very strict law: If a woman is caught behind the wheel of an automobile, her husband goes to jail.

DR. RENE DUBOS of Rockefeller University, in a paper prepared for the UNESCO biosphere conference last year, wrote these sobering words:

"Everywhere, societies seem willing to accept ugliness for the sake of increase in economic wealth. Whether natural or humanized, the landscape retains its beauty only in the areas that do not prove valuable for industrial and economic exploitation. The change from wilderness to dump heap symbolizes at present the course of technological civilization. Yet the material wealth we are creating will not be worth having if creation entails the raping of nature and the destruction of environmental charm."

Burleson Reports

Congress Has Much Work After Recess

WASHINGTON — A new administration must necessarily "feel" its way into policy and programs. For months now the legislative waters have been fairly calm on the surface with some churning just under the surface.

More recently the political seas show signs of becoming choppy. In several major pieces of legislation, the margin of votes in both the House and Senate has been extremely narrow.

THE EXTENSION of the President's tax program originally passed the House by a margin of five votes. The majority were those dealing with the Senate passed the first phase of the ABM by only one vote. The only major bills passing by a substantial majority were those dealing with the extension of Federal Aid to Education and the so-called Tax Reform Bill. Those continue in the legislative process and probably will not come into final action until late in the year.

The Congress is now in a short recess but it can be expected that after Labor Day the tempo will increase considerably.

On the Legislative griddle will be the appropriation bills for all the Departments including funds for the Anti-Ballistic Missile System which will be a continuing issue for a long time to come.

THE TAX reform bill will be in the Senate Committee for what they promise to be thorough hearings, with action hoped for in October.

In both house of Congress, the extension of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 will be the principal civil rights legislation and is billed as a hot issue.

The administration is asking for a revamping of the welfare program which has already stirred up controversy.

In the matter of foreign affairs, Congress has before it the Administration's request for $2.6 billion in foreign aid. The figure is the lowest request in the history of the Foreign Aid Program but stands a good chance of being further cut by the Congress.

THE REORGANIZATION of the post office department, partially placing it in the hands of a Government sponsored corporation, has many facets and no hard and fast proposal has yet been developed to the point of submitting it to a vote. At the present, there appears no solid reason to believe this issue may finally come to a vote in this Session although sentiment could change.

Fairly soon after Congress returns from its recess, legislation overhauling the Electoral College System may come before the House of Representatives. The bill produced by the Judiciary Committee provides for the direct popular vote of the President and Vice President. No doubt there will be long and vigorous debate on this and alternatives which doubtless will be proposed.

MANY MATTERS of legislation involving education, health facilities and health insurance, monetary matters, natural resources and conservation, veteran affairs and agriculture will be subjects of continuous Committee hearings.

Holmes Alexander What Hopes For Cuba?

WASHINGTON — In early 1961, the best-known secret in Washington was that "something" was going to happen about liberating Cuba. Like other reporters, I set up shop in a Miami hotel to await developments, and to find out in advance who was to head the Cuban provisional government when Castro was overthrown.

I HAD NO NEED to chase around the city in search of liberation-minded Cuban leaders. They found their way to my quarters, and I don't doubt to the place-of-business of every U.S. correspondent who might have some comment on the expected event. What I remember of that time-frame was twofold.

ONE, that I was contacted by not less than six Cuban groups, each claiming to be the sole, legitimate replacement for the Castro usurpation. Second, that upon returning to Washington I was told by a military authority (now back in the Pentagon under Defense Secretary Laird) that a golden opportunity had slipped away. Russian defensive missiles were moving into Cuba, he said, and the island's recapture would cost 40,000 American casualties, a prohibitive price, unless there were an internal uprising.

WE COULD ALL wish that these conditions have changed, but have they? I have just attended a press conference held by an earnest Cuban patriot, Evelio S. Estrella, who said he'd taken the "irrevocable decision" to install in Cuba a democratic government . . . that will assume office in Free Cuba by Oct. 10, 1970." Senator Estrella gave us to understand that the officers of this new government had been chosen by a poll, or absentee balloting, among the exiles. The government he spoke for was, therefore, the sole, legitimate regime to replace Castro. Unfortunately, another Cuban in the audience spoke up, saying that he was in touch with thousands of their countrymen, but had never till now heard of the Estrella organization, its poll or its proposed government.

SADLY, Free Cuba and its liberators are as divided as ever, and it's hard to see that American leadership is any more helpful than in the lamented past.

There is ample testimony from exiles to support belief that there's a mood of rebellion in Cuba, but there isn't much precedent for the overthrow of Communist police states. The Franco regime in Spain is a case where Communism was fought off by a determined opposition, and the Chiang Kai-shek regime on Formosa is a successful case of off-shore nationalism.

AS IT HAPPENS, Senator Estrella will soon be visiting both Spain and Nationalist China on a recruitment trip and he may learn something not taught in Washington about Communist fighting. He expects to enlist freedom fighters in the Caribbean islands, South America, West Europe and East Asia, and perhaps this is not so wild a hope as it first seems. Other nations, including our own, have had Lafayettees and Pulaskis who regarded any country where freedom was denied as their own.

What Others Say

The problems (technical, but principally human) which the United States Army is meeting in disposing of large amounts of poisonous gas underline the world's justifiable concern over such war stuff. Leaving aside the whole question of the moral justification of nations' developing and manufacturing such gruesome weapons, there is the very practical problem of how to dispose of them once they are no longer needed in a nation's arsenal or when even grimmer poisons have been concocted.

The panel of distinguished scientists from the National Academy of Sciences was right in asking the Army to re-examine its present disposal plans for 12,000 rockets holding the horrible GB nerve gas. The Army had hoped to sink these rockets in the sea. The panel asks that study be made as to the possibility of having them destroyed at their storage depots through acid or alkaline hydrolysis. To its credit the Pentagon at once ordered Army scientists to carefully weigh the scientists' plan.

Here, with this nerve gas, is another outstanding example of mankind's having created a Frankenstein monster without having parallelly thought through the problem of disposal. Such one-sided or halfway development is becoming more and more frequent as life grows more complex. It things the razor-edge upon which mankind walks.

Agency Aids Employers In Finding Personnel

To be successful in finding and hiring qualified personnel, let professionals do the work. Call Mrs. Sue Brown and Mrs. Ruby Taroni, personnel counselors, at the Big Spring Employment Agency in the Permian Building.

From its beginning in 1961, the Big Spring agency has lived by the creed that every local employer has the right to demand the best qualified person who can be hired, considering the availability of applicants, the requirements of the job, and the salary to be offered.

To assure Big Spring employers the best job applicants available, many hours of hard work go on behind the scenes at the Big Spring Employment Agency. Job applicants are pre-screened so employers do not have to waste time interviewing applicants who are not qualified for the job opening. The agency refers only those who fill the job's requirements and needs.

Fewer applicants are rejected because the employer sees fewer people, and less rejections make for better public relations. There is also a smaller personnel turnover, and the quality of employees tends to rise. Many highly qualified job applicants prefer to use the services of a private employment agency, thus protecting their own identity.

Another benefit of hiring through the employment agency is the elimination of employer advertising costs. The Big Spring Employment Agency does this because it is part of its normal business procedure.

Big Spring Employment is a haven for job hunters, from the $40-a-week clerk to the $25,000-a-year executive. They come to private agencies because they realize the people at these agencies are technicians, specialists in job-hunting, and can place them in desirable jobs sooner than they could locate jobs for themselves.

In the field of office skills, the Big Spring Employment Agency carries on an extensive testing program. Most applicants are exposed to personnel tests designed to test adults in business and industrial situations. Both employment counselors and employers may successfully refer to these test results as a selection instrument in hiring applicants and as an indicator of future possibilities.

The Big Spring Employment Agency is an affiliate of National Personnel Associates Inc., an international recruiting organization that has over 120 agencies in this country.

Call the Big Spring Employment Agency at 267-2535 the next time a new employee is needed. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Taroni will help in every way they can, without obligation.

Concrete Vault Gives Lasting Protection

Many people carefully select a casket, and think everything is fine. But they overlook the permanent protection a burial vault can give.

Unless someone makes arrangements with the funeral director, the outside container will be a wooden box. A vault replaces the wooden container with an indestructible container and thus protects the casket.

Trinity Memorial Park, on the San Angelo Highway, manufactures concrete burial vaults which are available to the public through the various funeral homes in the area.

O. C. Shapland, who heads the institution, said that he has been manufacturing the concrete vaults about 10 years. The plant is on the park grounds, housed in the warehouse area.

The concrete vault is less expensive than many other types of vaults. Its strength and durability is equal to or superior to all other kinds of burial vaults, with the possible exception of solid copper.

Trinity vaults are built of steel reinforced concrete with a waterproofing agent mixed with the concrete before it is formed. Dense concrete, with a tensile strength of more than 4,000 pounds of pressure per square inch, is required by Trinity Memorial Park for use in each vault it builds. The concrete becomes even stronger as time passes.

A concrete vault prevents a sunken grave. Rust and other corrosion is not possible. Trinity Memorial Park has found that a more lasting vault could not be built at the same price and offer the same protection.

Father Of Six Sails Bathtub Across Lake

MANITOWOC, Wis. (AP) — A Michigan father of six has reached Wisconsin safely after sailing his bathtub across Lake Michigan.

Victor Jackson, 32, of East Lansing, Mich., was the object of an air and sea search by the Coast Guard when worried relatives reported him missing.

As Jackson crossed the 65-mile wide lake, a dying battery and a broken antenna left him out of contact with anyone except a ham operator on the Wisconsin shore.

"It's sure nice to see people again, I'll tell you," Jackson shouted to about 200 onlookers as he stepped ashore Sunday night after 14½ hours alone on the lake.

"A couple of times I'd given up hope. I thought you were going to be fishing me out of there tomorrow morning," he said.

"I had less than a pint of gas left. I had troubles all the way; general problems with the motor, my battery quit on me and my main radio mast broke six or eight miles out of Ludington."

Jackson's bathtub—registered in Michigan as a one-passenger pleasure craft—was the common household variety, welded to a frame and supported by four 30-gallon oil drums.

It is equipped with a 20-horsepower outboard motor and nearly $1,000 worth of radio and navigational equipment. He started out with 30 gallons of gas and made it to the Coast Guard lighthouse. But he had to borrow a gallon to sail into the harbor.

It was Jackson's second attempt to cross the lake. The first, last month, ended off Michigan when high waves forced him to turn back.

Green Lands HEW Position

DALLAS (AP) — Charles C. Green, 48, said Sunday he will be named director of the Dallas regional office of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare about Sept. 2.

"I accepted this directorship because I feel I have the business, educational and social background to do the job well," Green said. He said he did not consider the office, which has jurisdiction over five states, a "political plum."

"I think it is generally known that I will be taking a large cut in salary to accept this new position," said Green, who now gets $42,500 a year as president of the Dallas-based Bonanza operation.

Green replaces James H. Bond, Dallas business and civic leader who announced retirement from HEW Saturday. Bond, who has held the post since 1953, said there was no truth in reports that he had been given a choice of resigning or being transferred to another HEW office.

Big Overhaul Of Divorce Laws Up To Gov. Reagan

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A major overhaul of California's divorce laws—which some say would make divorce easier but others say would make it merely less painful—now is up to Gov. Ronald Reagan, himself a divorced man.

The proposal provides only two grounds for dissolving a marriage: a catch-all finding of irreconcilable differences, and incurable insanity.

The law is designed to end bitter court battles which now often wind up with one party being impoverished because they lose their property and pay unreasonable alimony and child support.

Reagan was divorced by his first wife, actress Jane Wyman, in 1949, after Miss Wyman said politics came between them. She charged mental cruelty. He later married starlet Nancy Davis, his present wife.

Mental cruelty is one of many grounds for divorce that would be eliminated in the measure passed by the California Legislature this past month after several years of study.

Mississippians Continue To Fight Back From Chaos

By The Associated Press

Thousands of contributions from their countrymen heartened Mississippians today as they continued their fight back from the chaos left by Hurricane Camille.

A telephone originating from Jackson, Miss., had raised an estimated $1.3 million for victims of the storm. This included a pledge of $1,000 from the family of President Richard M. Nixon and the western White House staff, and a donation of $100,000 from the business community of St. Petersburg, Fla.

In a call to telephone headquarters, the President described the hurricane as "probably the worst natural disaster we've had in this country."

Comedian Bob Hope was master of ceremonies for the statewide telethon, which also enlisted singer Eddie Arnold, clarinetist Pete Fountain and members of the New Orleans Saints football team.

The American Red Cross, meanwhile, said it needs a minimum of $15 million in donations to meet the cost of emergency aid and recovery help for the hurricane victims. The relief agency had asked for $6 million last week.

Some 69,000 in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Virginia and West Virginia were affected by the hurricane, the agency said and at least 20,000 families would need Red Cross help.

U.S. Army helicopter pilots searched remote parts of the Gulf Coast for inhabitants isolated by the storm.

Officials at 3rd Army headquarters, Ft. McPherson, Ga., reported finding one stranded family of 12 persons near Wiggins, Miss., about 30 miles north of the devastated Gulfport area. The family had been without food or water for two days.

Helicopters flew in enough food for three days for more than 130 isolated refugees found 10 miles south of Poplarville, which is about 40 miles north of the coast.

The exact death toll was confused by a number of conflicting estimates and remained unknown. Gov. John Bell Williams placed the figure at about 200, reducing his earlier estimate of 300.

Water systems were operating but not safe for drinking in Pass Christian, a nearby beach community, and Bay St. Louis, near the Louisiana border. Electricity in these communities was available for emergencies only.

Gulfport fared somewhat better, with power largely restored and the water system operating and declared safe. Biloxi, to the east, had its water system safely in operation, but only a third of the city had power.

Cleanup operations also continued in the bayou area of south Louisiana, largely in oil-rich Plaquemines Parish. Camille left 10 dead and another 30 missing in Louisiana.

Indians Close Popular Beach

TAHOALA, Wash. (AP) — The Quinault Indian Tribe closed 25 miles of popular Pacific Coast beach to non-Indians at 12:01 a.m. Monday and State Atty. Slade Gorton says he is uncertain the state can do anything about it.

The land affected forms the western boundary of the Quinault Reservation on the Olympic Peninsula in Northwestern Washington.

The closure was ordered by tribal chief James Jackson to turn back nonmembers of the tribe who attempted to use non-public roads on the reservation.

Meanwhile, in Olympia, the state attorney general said he wasn't sure if the state could do anything about the closure.

"The status of Indian reservation beaches is fairly complicated and I cannot yet comment on the legality of the tribe's action," Gorton said.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the Garrys Harbor County Sheriff's office said the Indian action apparently is legal.

"We assume the reservation encompasses the beaches," the spokesman said. "Whites have no right to go in there if the Indians object. The Indian police can take them into custody."

The tribe cited an 1873 treaty and subsequent rulings of the U.S. attorney general and the solicitor of the Department of the Interior as authority for its action.

Teen Racks 2 Cop Cars In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — A little automobile drive by a 15-year-old girl Sunday left two wrecked police cars in her wake, her own car wrecked, an injured patrolman and officers writing out tickets for five traffic violations.

The girl was cornered by police inside a pool hall while she was getting a soft drink. She was turned over to the Juvenile Department.

The chase began on the outskirts of Houston and headed north after the girl, in a borrowed car, fled a park policeman.

The first patrol car sideswiped another car and hit a building. The second collided with another car at an intersection. With a third police car in pursuit, the girl's car hit a telephone pole but kept moving after rounding a corner.

The patrolman then lost the car but found it again abandoned. Witnesses told police the driver went into the pool hall.

RASH OF ACCIDENTS CLAIMS 32 LIVES

Five Shot To Death In Texas

By The Associated Press

A rash of traffic accidents pushed the violent death toll for the weekend in Texas to 37.

Thirty-two persons were killed on state roads and highways and five more were shot to death.

The Associated Press tabulation began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday. The dead included these:

Charlie Stevens Jr., 4, was struck and killed by a car as he played near his home in Dallas Sunday.

Terri Ann Hennessey, 11, was crushed to death when a lumber truck in which she was riding with her father overturned on a Dallas freeway. Investigators said the girl's father, Robert Hickson of Jacksonville, was thrown clear of the truck as its brakes failed and sent it slamming into a retaining wall.

Teodoro Hernandez, 53, of Benavides was killed Saturday in a head-on crash of two cars on Texas 44 about five miles west of Alice. A second man involved in the wreck, Antonio Deloquo, 55, also of Benavides, died Sunday of injuries and a third person, Juan Navejar, 39, of Corpus Christi, was listed in critical condition Sunday night.

Two women died in a one-car crash Sunday on Interstate 20 about 10 miles west of Terrell. They were identified as Grace Ann McElvey, 58, and Lola Hancock Pate, 62. They were both listed as being from Louisiana, but officers did not know what city immediately.

Sylvester Brown, 37, was shot to death Sunday in his hometown of Houston when he stepped between two women arguing in a lounge.

Joseph Faludi, 40, of Houston was killed Sunday when his car smashed into a concrete column after jumping a curb in Houston.

In Houston, a 12-year-old Tom-ball, Tex., youth, Patrick Michael Kelly, was crushed to death in a car-truck collision Sunday.

CRASH IN MIDLAND

One person was killed and seven injured in a three-car crash Sunday at a Midland intersection. Killed was Sherry Dyer, 5, of Odessa.

George Elliot Lott, 27, of Kilgore was killed Sunday in a one-car accident three miles east of Kilgore on Farm Road 2276.

Johnny Reed, 34, of Wichita Falls, was shot to death Sunday night in a tavern brawl in that city. Three other persons were wounded in the shooting. Police are seeking two men.

A two-month-old Dallas boy,

Nathaniel L. Harris, was shot to death Sunday in the bedroom of his home. Officers arrested a man they said told them he was playing with a pistol and accidentally shot the infant.

Mrs. Mona Jean Adams, 32, of Palms, Calif., a former resident of Houston, was killed in a one-car accident Saturday six miles west of Hempstead on U.S. 290.

DEAD LISTED

Quadruple Jimenez, 23, of Bishop was killed Saturday when his pickup truck ran off Farm Road 665 south of Robstown and crashed into a creek bank.

Linda Martinez, 21, of Lyford died Saturday when the car in which she was riding collided with a truck on U.S. 77 three miles south of Raymondville.

Three Missouri residents were killed and a young girl critically injured Saturday when a pickup truck and a large truck collided at the intersection of U.S. 67 and U.S. 259 in Omaha, Tex.

The dead were listed as Leslie Eugene Mills, 54; Anna M. Popejoy, 37, and Nora Ellen Blevins, 56, all of Springfield, Mo. Jill Anna Popejoy, 9, was taken to a hospital in critical condition.

A car-pedestrian accident claimed the life of Mrs. Maggie Williams of Livingston Saturday. She was struck by a car as she attempted to cross Highway 59 in Livingston.

A three-car collision on rain-slicked Texas 121 near Bonham killed a Dallas woman and injured three others Saturday. The dead woman was identified as Florence W. Sudderth, 66.

James Kliever Vaughan, 19, of Bay City was killed in the head-on collision of two pickup trucks Saturday on Texas 60 near Bay City.

OZONA WRECK

Robert Nichols, 27, was killed Saturday as he attempted to fix mechanical trouble on his car, stopped on a Dallas street. Officers were hunting the car which hit Nichols and did not stop.

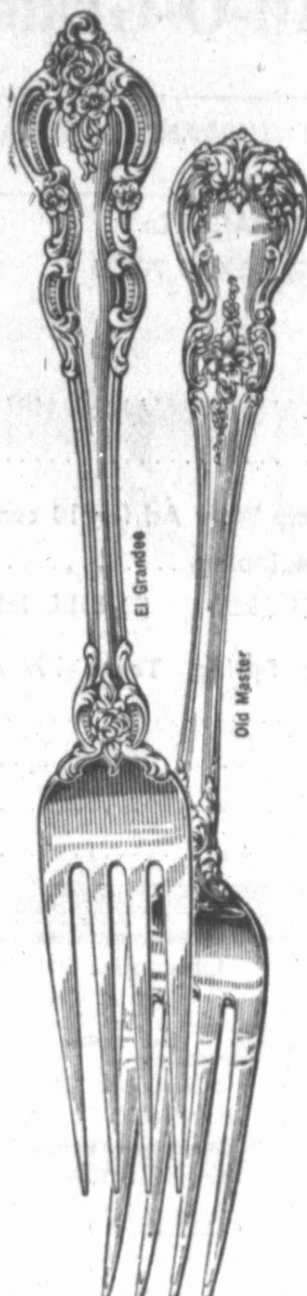

Two persons were killed in a one-car accident Saturday near Ozone on Texas 163. The victims were Elsie Robert Levario, 22, and Frizer Black Jr., 24, both of Big Lake.

Everett Ray Castelberry, 21, of Linden, was killed Saturday in a one-car accident west of Linden on Texas 155.

Juan Guzman, 28, of Uvalde was killed Friday when his truck and a car collided and he was pinned inside.

Walter Davis, 22, from Ontario, Ore., stationed at Ft. Wolters, died Friday when his car ran off U.S. 281 near Mineral Wells.

Dr. A. A. Griffin was shot to death Friday night at his office on Fort Worth's south side. Detectives said there were indications of a struggle.

Tropical Storm Helps Stop Spread Of Fires

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Helped by a tropical storm 1,000 miles away, firefighters have stopped the spread of three searing brush fires that craked over 42,700 acres and forced an estimated 650 persons from their homes.

The fires began Friday a few miles apart in northern San Diego County about 80 miles south of Los Angeles. Up to 1,800 weary firefighters confronted gusty winds, 100-degree heat and 10-per-cent humidity in the parched, brown hills as the blazes swept out of control.

Then came the break. "The weather really became our friend Saturday night," said Roy Saarni, a U.S. Forest Service fire official. "What a turnaround. We thought it would be days before we could contain these fires."

Johnsons Back From Acapulco

AUSTIN (AP) — Former President and Mrs. Johnson have flown back to Texas after a brief weekend visit with former President Miguel Aleman of Mexico in Acapulco.

A spokesman said the Johnsons returned in accord with previous plans. They are to observe Johnson's 61st anniversary Wednesday as guests of President and Mrs. Nixon at San Clemente, Calif.

NEW STATE DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN — State Sen. Jerry Apodaca, D-Donna Ana, N.M., gets congratulations from well-wisher after his election as state Democratic party chairman in Santa Fe Saturday. Drew Cloud, a former state representative from Eddy County, did not run for the post as expected and Apodaca won easily to succeed Penrod Toles, who resigned recently.

Bridge Test

—CHARLES H. GOREN

BY CHARLES H. GOREN

IN 1959, by The Chicago Tribune

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable,

you hold:

♠ 3 ♥ 10 7 2 ♦ Q 10 3 ♣ K J 4

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass

3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Three no trump. This is not much of a hand and partner's bid is not forcing. Nevertheless, you should decline to give up the ghost at this point. Whereas your one no trump bid promised six points in high cards, you have seven plus two rather impressive tens.

Q. 2—Your partner has opened with one spade and you hold:

♠ 4 3 ♥ A 3 ♦ A K 4 ♠ A Q 10 7 5 4

What is your response?

A—A jump shift to three clubs is our choice, despite the fact that we have no special support for spades. This hand is worth 19 points and, unless the jump shift is made, it will be almost impossible to show the full strength of the hand on subsequent rounds.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ K J 8 6 ♥ K Q J 7 ♦ A 4 ♠ J 6 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South North East West

1 ♠ Pass 2 ♦ Pass

2 ♥ Pass 3 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Your hand contains considerably more than you might have had for a minimum opening, and you should do something other than make the mere routine bid of four spades, which would be a forced bid. The suggested call is a bid of four diamonds. This will not indicate a desire to play in the minor suit, since your major suit has been vigorously supported. It will merely serve as a mild suggestion for a slam, without incurring any additional expense. If partner is not interested, he will return to four spades.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ K J 8 6 ♥ J 8 ♦ K J 7 5 4 ♠ 7

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 ♥ 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid?

A—Pass. A bid of two spades is not recommended. The likelihood of going places in spades is not great, and if partner finds it expedient to rebid three clubs you may be in difficulties.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable,

you hold:

♠ Q 6 ♥ Q 5 ♦ K Q J 9 8 4 3 ♠ 7 4

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♦ Pass

1 ♥ Pass ?

What action do you take?

A—Two diamonds. The length of your diamond suit is not sufficient justification for a jump rebid, which in our methods is forcing. While two diamonds is admittedly an underbid, a jump to three would be a distinct overbid.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ 10 9 8 4 ♥ Q J 10 3 ♠ K Q 6 4

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 ♥ Pass Pass 1 ♠

Pass 2 NT Pass ?

What action do you take?

A—Partner has obviously passed values which amount to a fair-sized trap but, in view of your unbalanced distribution, a no trump contract should be viewed with suspicion and an effort should be made to elicit a spade preference from partner. The suggested call is three clubs or three diamonds if you prefer.

Q. 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠ K Q 10 9 6 2 ♥ A Q 7 5 ♠ 9 7 3

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

2 ♠ Pass 2 ♥ Pass

3 NT Pass ?

What action do you take?

A—With a void in diamonds we would not relish a no trump contract and would recommend a bid of four spades. This holding in the circumstances is more or less self-sustaining, an alternate call is three clubs, which we might be inclined to try if we had an honor in the suit.

Q. 8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ Q 10 6 2 ♥ 7 3 ♦ A 8 6 4 2 ♠ A K

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

1 ♠ 1 ♥ 2 ♦ Pass

2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Three spades. While your values are ample for a game effort at no trump, a further exploratory bid may be made at no cost. Partner might have a four card spade holding which he temporarily suppressed in favor of showing the heart stopper.

Kopechnes Fight Autopsy Request

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — A judge in this eastern Pennsylvania city hears arguments today on a motion to dismiss a Massachusetts prosecutor's petition for an autopsy on Mary Jo Kopechne.

The 28-year-old Miss Kopechne drowned last month when a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy plunged off a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island on Martha's Vineyard.

Her body is buried in nearby Larksville.

"This is a complicated legal question and I intend to give it thorough study," Judge Bernard C. Brominski of Common Pleas Court said.

He promised a decision later this week, but said he did not intend to be stamped into acting hastily.

Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis of New Bedford, Mass., had hoped to present autopsy results at an inquest he has set for Sept. 3 in Edgartown, Mass.

Originally Brominski had set today for a hearing on Dinis' petition to have the body exhumed.

That was postponed last Friday after attorneys for Miss Kopechne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kopechne of Berkeley Heights, N.J., filed a motion to dismiss the petition.

The Kopechne lawyers contend Pennsylvania "is without jurisdiction and authority" to exhumate the body.

If the judge rejects the Kopechne motion, he indicated he would quickly reschedule a hearing on the Dinis petition. Dinis has said the autopsy
