Koontz Gives 6-Point Statement On Resignation

City Manager John Koontz today made his first public statement since he was requested to resign by the City Commission ten days ago.

The city manager said he and his wife "regret that conditions have arisen which make it necessary for us to discontinue my employment with the city government."

The city manager, whose resignation becomes effective next Thursday, said in his statement:

"I would like to re-emphasize the fact that we hold no grudges or malice towards anyone."

In his statement, City Manager Koontz takes up six points which he said were mentioned in newspaper accounts since the request for his resignation on Tuesday, Feb. 27.

He stated he had not made any statement prior to this time because the request for his resignation had come "as a shock, so therefore, I withheld any comment because I wanted to find out why I was asked to resign."

The points discussed by the city manager include the health department, police department, distribution of water, fire hazards, rising costs, and the city budget.

He also sets forth in detail in the statement the City Manager's Code of Ethics "which each Professional City Manager must obey."

In this code of ethics, Koontz pointed out a paragraph which states:

"The city manager, in order to preserve his integrity as a professional administrator, resists any encroachment on his responsibility for personnel, believes he should be free to carry out council policies without interference and deals frankly with the council as a unit rather than with its individual members."

Here is the city manager's statement, in full, addressed to The Citizens of Pampa:

"I have been asked many times to make a statement to the newspapers, radio and television stations, but the request for my resignation came as a shock, so therefore, I withheld any comment because I wanted to find out why I was asked to resign. The many reasons mentioned in the newspaper were as follows:

"1. The Health Department. I knew we needed to make improvements in this department. Approximately three weeks ago I discussed this with the Mayor and Commission explaining to them that if we could wait until May 1st, one man, who is partially disabled, would be eligible for a small disability retirement pension from the Texas Municipal Retirement System. The Texas Municipal Retirement Headquarters informed me that he would have to work a minimum of ten years to be eligible for this retirement and that his retirement pay would be $23.45 per month. His ten year period will be up May 1st. The Mayor and Commission agreed to this request. The other man in this department is at the age where he can draw social security. He has worked for the City of Pampa almost sixteen years and has agreed to retire upon request.

"2. The Police Department. The only complaints I have had about the Police Department were made by one of the commissioners. He said that the policemen were at each other's throats and that they carried guns. I knew nothing of this until it was brought up in a commission meeting as one of the serious problems. I asked each commissioner and the mayor individually if they knew of this situation. Two of the comissioners, and the mayor said that they had not been informed. The other commissioner said that a couple of the policemen had mentioned it to him. I had not been informed about the serious problems in our Police Department and trusted Chief Conner to tell me about them if he thought it was necessary.

"3. Distribution of Water. As to the bad distribution of water, this is entirely up to the City Commission as the City Manager's job is to enforce the ordinances and Ordinance No. 463 gives the rates inside and outside of the city limits which are $2.60 minimum inside and $3.90 minimum outside and the City Manager's responsibility to enforce until such ordinance has been revoked or amended. Our Water Department is our largest source of revenue.

"4. Fire Hazards. I have put many requests in the Pampa News and on our local radio stations to get our citizens to cooperate with the City in regard to these serious fire hazards. These hazards will have to be corrected through a court of law which must be approved by the commission.

"5. Rising Costs. It has been mentioned many times about rising costs. Our City has grown from the year of 1950 with a population of 16,585 to the present census of our population to 24,664. This, of course, created the necessity of hiring more employees, constructing two new sub-fire stations and the high cost of living. The former commission decided that an increase in woges was very necessary so that we could keep our better employees. There was a 5 per cent increase in wages in the year of 1957. In 1960, we obtained the retirement system for all city employees to offset a part of this cost at the City Christmas Party of 1960. This commission raised all employees $15.00 per month who were making less than $350.00. All of the employees who were making over $350.00 were raised $20.00 per month with the exception of the Department Heads and the Executive Department in which no raise was given.

"6. The Budget. The City Manager prepares a yearly budget through the cooperation of his Department Heads. Each department head presents the amount that he thinks will be necessary to operate his department for the following year. This amount is often reduced before it is presented to the Commission. It is prepared and presented weeks in advance so that the Commission will have ample time to study it in detail before giving their final approval. A copy of the letter in this year's budget is as follows:

"TO THE HONORABLE MAYOR AND CITY COMMISSION
CITY OF PAMPA, TEXAS
"Gentlemen:

"In accordance with Article 6894-13, Title 20, of the Revised Civil Statutes of the State of Texas, the Proposed Budget for the City of Pampa, Texas, for the Fiscal Year October 1, 1961 to September 30, 1962, is herewith submitted for your approval and acceptance.

"This year's budget of $1,447,339 represents an increase of $57,599 over the revised budget of 1960-61. In preparing this budget, we have added the following:

1. $40,000 for a shop and warehouse. We need these buildings as our old ones are very inadequate.
2. $30,000 for our seal coating program.
3. $22,000 for front end loader and street sweeper.
4. $10,000 for funds available for a continued paving program.
5. $5,000 for changes in City Hall.
6. $4,000 for a new posting machine for our water office. This machine will replace an old and worn out machine.
7. $4,000 for heating the water at the Municipal Swimming Pool No. 1, located at Sloan and Kentucky Streets.

"Despite these increased budget requirements for 1961-62, no tax increase or additional sources of revenue will be needed.

"We should be encouraged by the splendid cooperation and teamwork that exist among all of our City Employees and I am sure they will put forth every effort to make this budget effective in the performance of their duties. We have had a much less turnover in personnel since adding the Texas Municipal Retirement System.

"This budget represents in detail the municipal working program for the coming year and I feel this program will provide citizens with quality service at a minimum cost.

"I want to express my appreciation to the Department Heads, the City Employees and the City Officials for their understanding and assistance in the preparation of this year's budget. We are very fortunate in having citizens who take so much of their time and effort to make Pampa a better and more beautiful city in which to live.

Respectfully submitted,
"John S. Koontz"
City Manager

"In this letter you will note it was mentioned that despite the $115,000 increase in budget requirements for 1961 and 1962, no tax increase or additional sources of revenue would be needed.

"We were able to cut taxes from $1.50 to $1.45 for this year. I would like to say here also that your City Commission approves every bill before the checks are issued.

"I have tried in every way possible to keep our costs at a bare minimum to give the services that I think the citizens of Pampa justly deserve. I am also going to quote from the City Manager's Code of Ethics that each Professional City Manager must obey.

" 'No member of the profession accepts a position as city manager unless he is fully in accord with the principles of council-manager government and unless he is confident that he is qualified to serve to the advantage of the community.

" 'The city manager has a firm belief in the dignity and worth of the services rendered by government. He has a constructive, creative, and practical attitude toward urban problems and a deep sense of his own social responsibility as a trusted public servant.

" 'The city manager is governed by the highest ideals of honor and integrity in all his public and

Russia Warns It Won't Postpone East German Peace Pact Indefinitely

By ROBERT J. KORENGOLD
International Press International

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union warned the West anew today that it will not postpone indefinitely the signing of a German peace treaty.

The warning, published in the official Communist party newspaper Pravda, reaffirmed Soviet support for East German sovereignty and rejected Western claims of access rights to West Berlin.

While the Soviet Union has taken this position before, the statement in Pravda was the latest of several signs in recent weeks that the Kremlin is pushing toward a showdown on the Berlin and German issues.

Both President Kennedy and Soviet leaders have indicated that Berlin may be discussed when the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union meet in Geneva before the disarmament conference opens next Wednesday.

Pravda said the Soviet government is "doing everything possible for the final solution of the question of a German peace treaty," but added:

"Let no one mistake the U.S.S.R.'s readiness to talk for an opportunity of indefinitely postponing the solution of the question of a German peace treaty. The German peace treaty will be signed."

Soviet Premier Nikta S. Khrushchev has threatened to sign a separate treaty with the Communist East German regime if the Western powers do not accept his terms for an overall German peace treaty. He withdrew his Dec. 31, 1961, deadline for such a treaty on the understanding that further East-West negotiations would be attempted.

Pravda said that once a peace treaty is concluded, East Germany would "exercise her sovereignty over the land, water, and air communications through her territory."

"It would be useful if the Western powers were to appreciate and recognize this fact," the newspaper said.

The Western powers, which do not recognize East Germany as sovereign, insist that they are guaranteed free access to West Berlin under wartime agreements of the occupying powers — Russia, Britain, France and the United States.

West Berlin is 100 miles inside Communist territory. The Western Allies deal only with the Russians in using the highway, rail and air lifelines to the Western outpost in the divided city.

The Pravda dispatch was the most forthright Kremlin statement on Berlin and Germany since Khrushchev held talks in Moscow last week with East German leader Walter Ulbricht. The two Communist bosses discussed a German peace treaty and "normalization" of West Berlin.

Big Clean-Up In Storm Aftermath Starts In Florida

By United Press International

A massive clean-up campaign begins today on Florida's glittering Gold Coast where the backlash of a fierce Atlantic storm sent scores of winter tourists scurrying for shelter.

The 20-foot waves, which pounded an 80-mile strip of swanky resorts from Miami Beach to Palm Beach, caused multi-million dollar damage to the crowded hotels where northerners gather every year to escape the discomforts of snow and ice.

One person drowned and many others were injured as the flood-tides crashed over seawalls and poured into lobbies and basements of motels and hotels. The famed sandy beaches of the area were strewn with debris and Collins Avenue — the great white way of Miami Beach—was closed during high tide.

The battering waves were part of a late winter storm which began its assault on the eastern seaboard four days ago. More flood-tides slammed into North Carolina's outer banks and the Virginia coast Thursday and a Liberian tanker snapped in two in the stormy Atlantic.

The Midwest was hit by a snowstorm Thursday that dumped up to 9 inches of snow in eastern Nebraska and gave Des Moines, Iowa, its heaviest winter accumulations in a half century. Travel became dangerous on many slippery roads, public schools closed in some areas and airport operations were virtually suspended in Chicago.

Coastal residents in New Jersey faced the grim task of recovery from the savage tides which swept homes, bridges, piers and roads out to sea.

Damage was estimated at $50 million in the Garden State, which sustained the greatest amount of punishment from the storm. A telegram from President Kennedy

Oil Survey Reminder Is Issued

A reminder was issued today to all oil and gas operators in the Panhandle that Thursday, March 15 is the deadline for compliance with the Texas Railroad Commission's order of Jan. 16 calling for a statewide survey of salt water production and disposal on every oil and gas lease in Texas.

Jack O. Miller, Railroad Commission District 10 supervisor in Pampa, said today that so far there has been only about 15 per cent compliance with the January order.

"Every lease owner in the state is affected by the request," Miller said.

Miller stated there are some 700 operators and 22,000 oil and gas wells in District 10. The Railroad Commission has prepared a form which is to be used by the oil and gas operators in providing the required information.

These forms may be obtained from the district Railroad Commission office in Pampa City Hall. The Commission's District Ten address is P. O. Box 941, Pampa.

It was stated by Supervisor Miller that the questionnaire must be prepared for each, and or every lease in District 10 in triplicate and filed with the Pampa office of the Railroad Commission.

"The response to this order has been rather poor," Miller said, "and considering the proximity of the deadline and the penalties which must be imposed in the event of late reports, the Pampa Railroad Commission is issuing this important reminder."

Miller stated anyone wishing assistance in preparing the form may apply at his office.

"We will be only too happy to help in any way," Miller said.

The survey is being made at the request of the State Board of Water Engineers to obtain information on the situation regarding the pollution of fresh waters in Texas.

US Transport Crashes In France; All Crew Killed

EVREUX, France (UPI) — A U. S. Air Force C130 transport plane crashed Thursday night and all 14 men aboard were killed, French police said today.

The plane dropped in a Normandy wood during a paratroop exercise with five other aircraft.

Police said the wreckage had been spotted in the Ecrouves forest near Alencon.

The plane had been on a paratroop drop training mission with five other aircraft over the Alencon area. The other planes returned to their base at Evreux. When the transport failed to show up, a search was launched.

The wreckage was located about 80 miles from the local U.S. Air Force base.

An Air Force spokesman said there were 12 U.S. Air Force and two U.S. Army personnel aboard. The Air Force personnel included a major, two captains, two first lieutenants and a number of enlisted men. The Army men both were enlisted personnel.

The Air Force did not release their names immediately.

The transport plane first was reported missing Thursday night. It was last heard from at 5:30 p.m. (local time). Base officials estimated at the time that the plane had enough fuel for another six hours of flying time.

The aircraft was attached to the U.S. Air Force 322nd Air Division.

30 Killed In West German Mine Disaster

HEESSEN, Germany (UPI)—A giant explosion ripped through a coal mine with 756 men underground today in West Germany's second mine disaster within five weeks.

Officials said the blast killed at least 30 miners and injured eight others.

"It could have been much worse and thank God it wasn't," said mine official Johann Weber.

The explosion hit through the Sachsen mine 4,400 feet below the surface at 6:15 a.m., minutes before the early day shift was to replace the night shift. Pit officials said a pocket of methane gas exploded during dynamiting blasts.

A similar methane gas explosion in the Luisenthal mine at Voelklinger killed 298 miners on Feb. 7.

The site of today's disaster is in Westphalia, on the outskirts of the city of Hamm in the Ruhr coal basin.

Twenty-nine men were killed outright and one died shortly after being taken to the hospital. Six of the injured were released from hospitals at noon.

Mine officials said there were several minor collapses in the shaft after the explosion, but no miners were trapped. It took rescuers less than two hours to bring the injured and most of the dead to the surface.

Possible Shelter Sites Eyed Here

A three-man team of building contractors from Amarillo arrived in Pampa yesterday to begin an intensive survey for possible shelter sites in the city, according to Bill Leonard, county civil defense director.

The men represent Townes McAdams and Associates of Amarillo, who were recently awarded the building contracts for cities in the Panhandle area by the United States government through the Corps of Engineers, U.S. Army.

Leonard said the buildings being considered for the shelters must meet government qualifications to protect persons from radiation fall-out.

Groninger and King, Pampa contractors, have been awarded the contract by the federal government to build the crude helium pipe line from plant 6, near Amarillo, to Satanta, Kansas, it was announced this morning by Congressman Walter Rogers.

Groninger and King were the low bidders at $969,638.60.

Construction of the line is expected to get underway about March 19th, according to J. W. Flint, Groninger and King office manager, and will include 966,600 feet of eight-inch pipe and 196,800 feet of three-inch pipe plus five motering stations.

Former Mayor Boyd Sides With Jaycees

Former Mayor Lynn Boyd today took issue with what he termed "accusations against former City Commissions, accusing them of mishandling the city's business," and commended the Junior Chamber of Commerce for the stand it is taking by stating "it is for the best interest of the City of Pampa."

Boyd, in his statement, declared the way the city manager was asked to resign was unjust and unfair and "a blow below the belt." He declared that the city manager is recognized over the state as one of Texas' better city managers.

The ex-mayor dealt with the water situation in his statement with a defense of the water rate charged to the cemetery, churches and the Pampa Country Club. Boyd also came to the defense of C. P. Buckler over the tax valuation on a piece of Hobart St. property and said it was not only an injustice to Mr. Buckler, to "cast a reflection on a man of his character, but to the city as well."

"As to the Country Club," Boyd said in his statement, "this club was organized in 1927 and was incorporated as the Pampa Country Club. Golf players, while they did not belong to the club,

Lenten Message

By Rt. Rev.
Arthur C. Lichtenberger
Presiding Bishop
The Protestant Episcopal Church
Written For UPI

"Were you there when they crucified my Lord?"

We cannot look at Christ on the cross and fail to see our own share in his crucifixion. It is not a clear case of we and they: We accept him; they reject him; we are his followers; they were his enemies.

Christ crucified and risen is a healing power, but a healing power to those who have the grace to see in their own lives the very forces that rejected and killed him.

It is very easy in our world today to point an accusing finger at others and say: "They are out to destroy the Christian church." Bu if that is what they are doing, what are we doing to strengthen thet church, to make it a force for righteousness and justice in the world? What is the effect of our own self-righteousness on the Christian witness?

We need to look at the cross as clearly and as honestly as we can, to see what it was in our human nature that put Christ there; and then to make a double act of penitence and self - offering. Through penitence we open our lives to the forgiving power of God; through self - cifering we make ourselves his instruments of his will upon earth.

Even If IRS Helps You May Be Audited

Area taxpayers were reminded today by Wiley E. Davis, Administrative Officer, of the Internal Revenue Service, Pampa that preparation of their 1961 tax forms the returns won't be audited later.

"Some taxpayers," the IRS representative said, "believe that returns prepared in our office are finished and that they need have no further concern with them. Not so! Irs employes assisting taxpayers in preparation of tax returns are only following the information provided by taxpayers by IRS personnel, or aid in preparing them, doesn't mean that

"If later examination reveals inaccuracy, the affected taxpayer will have to explain and account for the doubtful entries."

He urged each taxpayer to "attempt preparation of his own return."

"The initial step to self - preparation of your return," he said, "is ready access to your business or financial records for 1961." Close reading of tax forms and their informative accompanying instructions will enable most taxpayers to prepare their own returns, he encouraged.

to Gov. Richard J. Hughes indicated that every effort would be made to provide the "fullest possible" federal assistance.

Virginia Gov. Albertis S. Harrison said Thursday that storm damage would amount to well over $3 million.

Radio newsman Boyd Harrier said after a tour of Virginia Beach that "it looks exactly like the place has been bombed. It looks like a typical war scene. Furniture is hanging out in the street, Foundations of buildings have collapsed." Virginia Beach damage alone was estimated at $25 million.

Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina flew over the storied outer banks Thursday and said damage was "much worse than I imagined." The U.S. Weather Bureau at Raleigh, N.C., said the damage would equal that caused by hurricane Hazel several years ago.

All along the coast, problems of recovery and rehabilitation prevailed.

Guards were in full force in many stricken areas to protect against looting and in Avalon, N.J., police were ordered to shoot on sight anyone found looting.

Some of the coastal areas were so tightly guarded that even residents trying to return to their shattered homes were turned away by police who were ordered to let no one pass except officials.

The surging tides caught Florida by surprise, churning in under sunny skies Thursday and calm weather Thursday night. There was no onshore wind to push them and no approaching storm. But weathermen said the swells were hurled toward land by a storm more than 1,000 miles out to sea, and came during a new moon.

A damage estimate was expected to take several days but was certain to run into the millions of dollars. An unofficial estimate placed damage to the Carillon Hotel alone at around $1 million.

Three Held For FBI In Auto Theft

Three teenagers, two boys and a girl, are being held in Muskogee, Okla., today for FBI action in connection with the theft of an automobile in Pampa last week.

The trio, believed to be from California, is reported to have stolen a car on the west coast and abandoned it in Arizona where they stole another auto which was abandoned in Pampa.

A 1950 Chevrolet stolen from the garage of M. G. Wampler, 941 E. Campbell, last Sunday night was recovered yesterday in Tecumseh, Okla.

Police at Tecumseh also arrested the three and held them for FBI officers who had been seeking them for violation of the Dyer Act.

The two young men gave their ages as 19 and 16. Also taken into custody was their 17 - year - old girl companion.

Police Chief Jim Conner said the trio probably would not be returned to Pampa but would be prosecuted on a federal charge in Oklahoma.

were allowed to play golf there by paying green fees. In 1956 the city commission had requests for the city to put in a municipal golf course. We inquired from cities over the state what their costs were to operate municipal courses.

"We found Amarillo's cost was from $12,000 to $15,000 a year loss, just for operation of the course. Since the Pampa club was already allowing non-members to play there, we thought it should only be right that we furnish some of the water at a reduced rate. We put in a larger water line to the Country Club and furnished a fire hydrant. I might add there were more than 500 members in the club at that time, most of them citizens of Pampa. At the same time there were numerous citizens who played golf by paying green fees only.

"The cost of the water line paid for itself in little over a year from the time it was installed. Since that time the city's revenue from the Country Club has averaged $1,538 per year. In fact, it was a good deal for the city since we had water to spare. Furthermore, sewer lines and water lines belonging to the city had easements through Country Club property at no cost to the city. It has been a good deal for the city as well as for the Country Club. How could anyone object to this since it was so profitable to the City?" Boyd's reference was to statements made at commission meetings by Commissioner L. P. Fort.

The full text of Ex - Mayor Boyd's statement will be found on Page 10 of today's Pampa News.

Coat Is Stolen From Parked Car

R. F. MacDonald, 1123 Mary Ellen, reported to police late yesterday that someone stole a man's top coat valued at $70 and a $2.80 bolt of nylon net from his car which he had parked in front of the Thunderbird Restaurant, 618 W. Foster, last Saturday night.

MacDonald told police the theft was committed while he went into the cafe to get a cup of coffee.

personal relationships in order that he may merit the respect and confidence of the governing body of other officials and employees, and of the public which he serves. He believes that personal aggrandizement or profit secured by confidential information or by misuse of public time is dishonest.

"'The city manager as a community leader submits policy proposals to the council and provides the council with facts and advice on matters of policy to give the council a basis for making decisions on community goals. The city manager defends municipal policies publicly only after consideration and adoption of such policies by the council.

"'The city manager realizes that the council, the elected representatives of the people, is entitled to the credit for the establishment of municipal policies. The city manager avoids coming in public conflict with the council on controversial issues. Credit or blame for policy execution rests with the city manager.

"'The city manager considers it his duty continually to improve his ability and his usefulness and to develop the competence of his associates in the use of management techniques.

"'The city manager keeps the community informed on municipal affairs. He emphasizes friendly and courteous service to the public. He recognizes that the chief function of the local government at all times is to serve the best interests of all the people on a nonpartisan basis.

"'The city manager, in order to preserve his integrity as a professional administrator, resists any encroachment on his responsibility for personnel, believes he should be free to carry out council policies without interference and deals frankly with the council as a unit rather than with its individual members.

"'The city manager handles all matters of personnel on the basis of merit. Fairness and impartiality govern the city manager in all matters pertaining to appointments, pay adjustments, promotions, and discipline in the municipal service.

"'The city manager curries no favors. He handles each problem without discrimination on the basis of principle and justice.'"

"I have worked with three wonderful commissions during the past five years. They have served unselfishly carrying out the desires of the citizens of Pampa and have spent the money from bonded indebtedness with the greatest of integrity.

"I have lived in the City of Pampa since 1943 when I came here with the Army Air Force. Prior to my becoming a city manager, I was associated for ten years with a construction company. We purchased the raw land and developed it into housing and shopping centers. Streets, alleys, water and sewer lines were installed and being closely related to the Engineering Department, I became familiar with most phases of city government. This actual experience has helped me to become a better city manager.

"I really love Pampa and have done my best to make it one of the cleanest cities in the State of Texas and we have the reputation as being one of the cleanest cities in the State of Texas. I have always been fair and square in all of my dealings with the employees as well as the citizens as far as the ordinances and charter would permit. I think the employees of any city are the "salt of the earth" even though they are usually underpaid. I don't know what any city would do if it's employees did not show their loyalty to the city in which they work and live.

"My wife and I have enjoyed living in Pampa during the past eighteen years and it is with much regret that conditions have arisen which makes it necessary for us to discontinue my employment with the city government. I would like to re-emphasize the fact that we hold no grudges or malice towards anyone.

Dad, Son Meet After 55 Years

GRANTS PASS, Ore. (UPI) — Veteran Oregon Caves guide Dick Rowley and pharmacist George Rowley have lived within a few miles of each other for more than 50 years.

Recently they discovered they were father and son.

Dick Rowley, now 92, was a guide at the Oregon Caves National Monument for 50 years until he retired at the age of 87.

He continued to live alone until Jan. 21. Then water coils froze in his stove and when he built a fire the stove exploded. He suffered a broken hip and was hospitalized here.

One of his regular visitors was a younger sister, Mrs. Bessie Holland, 74.

During her visits Mrs. Holland became acquainted with George Rowley, 61, a pharmacist on the hospital staff. Mrs. Holland knew her brother had been married briefly, around the turn of the century and had had a son named George.

When the marriage broke up, Dick Rowley had agreed not to see his son again. George thought his father was dead, but remembered his mother telling him his father had an unusual tattoo mark on one arm.

That decided it. Dick Rowley had the mark George described.

George had heard of the guide but thought he was only a distant relative.

George's mother died in 1956. He hadn't seen his father for 55 years.

This Lovely Women Has Stayed Lovely

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In her newest motion picture, actress Vivien Leigh plays the role of a middle-aged widow who falls in love with a man half her age.

Watching the slender and elegant actress, I couldn't help wondering how many mature women could possibly identify themselves with her. Her waistline is a mere 18 inches, her arms pretty and slim, her bone structure slight and lovely.

The picture was filmed in Rome in color and, in an effort to make the actress look the part, harsh lighting was used. Still, she emerged a beautiful woman wearing Paris-designed clothes with an air of casual elegance. Excellent actress though she is, she could not quite make believable the role of the widow. Rather, what comes to mind as you watch her is that this woman must have taken very good care of her appearance.

Most women her age, watching her in this role, are going to wonder just how she did it. They're not likely, for this reason, to picture themselves in her shoes.

When the full blast of the current "Cleopatra" trend hits this shore, it will be interesting to see what happens. With most women, nothing is likely to happen. Few of us see ourselves as the siren of the Nile.

Eye make-up so exaggerated, so heavy and black can only make a woman look as if she's struggling to recover from a series of sleepless nights. And as for those straight and lacquered hair-dos, Cleopatra or Elizabeth Taylor may be able to carry them off but it's doubtful that anyone else could. We can expect, however, that hair-dressers will offer "modified" Cleopatra hairdos which will actually have little connection with the siren herself.

Eye make-up too, will be modified to meet the demands of the active, modern American woman who never did any slinking in her life. And we'll all sit back and enjoy the modified "trend."

Large, open pores can be distressing. (Usually, they cluster in the area of the nose and chin. And they provide a perfect site for blackheads. But something can be done about them. Go after them with a good astringent and sterilized cotton balls. Use the astringent not once, but several times daily. In a few weeks, the pores will begin to shrink.

Dear Abby....

Devoted Reader Ask Reprint Of Letter

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: About three years ago you printed a letter signed "Peter," which I carried in my billfold. It was from a little boy who could not understand why God let his little brother die. I have lost my billfold and with it that precious clipping. Will you please print it again? It was the finest piece I've ever read.

A DEVOTED READER

DEAR READER: With pleasure. Here it is:

DEAR ABBY: My Sunday School teacher says that God is everywhere. Please put this letter in the paper and maybe He will see it.

Dear God: Why did you let my brother die? When he was hit by the car my mother prayed to you to let him live, but you wouldn't. My little brother was only two years old and he couldn't have sinned so bad that you had to punish him that way. Everyone says you are good and can do anything you want to do. You could have saved my little brother but you let him die. You broke my mother's heart. How can I love you?

PETER

DEAR PETER: Your question is one that has troubled religious men for thousands of years. One great thinker wrote a book about it. It is called "JOB" and is part of the Bible. It says that the suffering of innocent people is something we cannot understand. But this much is sure: Death is not a punishment. It is one of life's mysteries. Speak to your minister, Peter. Communicate with God by praying, and He will help you in your search for wisdom and goodness and help make your Mommy happy again.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a man who flatly refuses to put a picture of his wife and children on his desk at work? My husband says it is "corny," and is not done by top-flight executives. If you have an opinion on this subject, please state it in your column.

EXECUTIVE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: A man's family is something to boast about, and I can see no reason why their pictures should not be on display alongside his diplomas, degrees and other achievements. If it is "corny," it's the kind of corn that happy family men grow fat on.

CONFIDENTIAL TO PAT: Go to your parish priest and tell him what you have told me. You will feel like a million dollars — and that's a lot of money — about $108,000 after taxes!

Still worrying about the same old problem? Write to Abby for a personal reply. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Silhouette Switch In Coats This Easter Is Trend Towards Fitted Or Semi-Fitted

By GAILE DUGAS
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Because we have a late Easter this year, the fashions worn in the Easter parade will differ widely in various parts of the country.

In some places, the weather will be warm and sunny. In others, it's likely to turn up a chill or overcast day. But nevertheless, coats will be worn in the parade. And they will have one thing in common, no matter how lightweight they may be, and that's silhouette.

Essentially, this means the switch from the wide to the fitted or semifitted line. Some coats display the fitted line at front and then provide something for everybody by allowing a capelike fullness at back.

Lacy, airy weaves typify coats for the Easter fashion parade. These are done in classic patterns, tweedy effects and box plaids as well as handsome district checks in copper and black. Then there are boucles in all-over stripe effects as well as twills and worsteds.

Colors begin with the pretty pastels and range through to bright shades. There will be many off-whites on view. Then come the beiges, yellows, oranges, limes and greens, blues and pinks and some red, white and blue color schemes.

The collarless neckline is much in evidence for Easter but there are small, neat collars, too. And there are still some fairly wide and dramatic collars about for women who prefer their flattery.

Miss Ann Leven registered guests and Miss Loretta Copeland presided at the serving table.

Hostesses were Mmes. Robert Clayton, Ed Major, Joe Davis, Mike Homer, Ruby Denton, Carl Homer, Alfred Homer, Louie Leven, Norbert Britten and Tom Britten.

During the afternoon more than fifty guests registered. Among out-of-town visitors were Mrs. E. R. Elliott, Mrs. A. F. Smith, and Miss Stella Carver, all of Amarillo; Mrs. Leo Conrad and daughter, Carolyn of Claude and Mrs. Marcus Conrad and Mary Lou of Amarillo.

Child Must Learn Food Not A Weapon

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

My neighbor says I should write you about my 4-year-old boy. If he gets mad at me about something he won't eat his meals. Later when he gets real hungry and asks to eat, I feed him. My neighbor says that this is spoiling him from learning to eat at mealtimes. But I don't think it is right to refuse food to a little kid when he is hungry. . .

ANSWER: I don't think it's so fine and upstanding either.

Stay right with your own position.

You see, little boys and girls often try to use food as material of war against us. If they get angry at us, they can't spank us or put us to bed the way we can do to them when they anger us. So they try to make food into ammunition.

They know how happy we are to see them eat a good meal; and if we have displeased them, will seek to punish us by refusing to eat. While they are still very mad, their satisfaction in our helplessness is more important than their hunger for chopped meat, baked potato and carrots.

If later, in retaliation for this hunger strike, we refuse them food when they ask for it, we show ourselves to be as childish as they are. What's worse, we are encouraging them to think of food as a weapon so that chopped meat and baked potato stops being just pleasant stuff to put in the mouth and become an instrument of power politics — an exchange between the defeated and the conqueror. It becomes a counter in a baby game of "No, I won't. . . Yes, you will. . .No, I won't. . . Now you can't."

Children whose unbright parents play this food game with them may never be able to disentangle eating from anger. Even when they grow up, they will go right on expressing reproach of other people by whining, "Oh no, I can't eat, I'm too upset. I'm not hungry. . ."

The odd thing is, the proud, self-satisfied people who advocate withholding food from a child who has refused it at mealtime never realize how weakly they have allowed the small person to dictate the weapons of battle to them.

This is usually because their mothers played the tit-for-tat food game with them; and as they never have questioned anything their mommies did, they continue to play the game with their own youngsters in the delusion that they are demonstrating moral strength.

So go right on insisting that food is what we eat when we're hungry until that small one of yours gets its meaning straight —and stops confusing it with war material.

Religion In America
By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

"This church unity movement sounds like a wonderful idea," writes a woman in Bakersfield, Calif. "But there are many Christians who look upon it as a fearful thing."

She's right. And it's time these dissenters had their day in court.

The case for reuniting the Christian family has been stated often and eloquently in recent years by leaders of the Roman Catholic Church and major Protestant communions. Some folks have gotten the idea that no one is against church unity except a few bigots and hate-mongers.

But that is not true. There are millions of sincere people, particularly in the fundamentalist or "evangelical" wing of Protestantism, who oppose the church unity movement because they regard it as a threat to religious freedom and sound doctrine.

In an effort to present their viewpoint as fully and fairly as possible, UPI solicited comments from six prominent evangelical ministers and theologians.

All of them emphasized that evangelical Protestants favor "spiritual unity" among Christians. They do not quarrel with the idea that Christ intended his followers to love one another, and to live together in harmony rather than in a state of cold war.

What troubles them is the current worldwide quest for visible, organic unity of Christians.

Dr. George L. Ford, executive director of the National Association of Evangelicals, said that religious freedom "demands diversity." Denominational divisions, instead of being "evil," may safeguard the right of free people to think differently about religion.

Fear of a "monolithic" church also was voiced by the Rev. Harold J. Ockenga, pastor of the Park Street Church in Boston.

Dr. Ockenga said he found nothing in the Bible to warrant the belief that Christ intended his church to be a single, centrally governed institution. He said the church wes established as a living "organism" which "may have a great many manifestations and external forms."

Topics For Services At 1st Methodist

"The Rapture Of The Forward Look" is the Sermon topic Dr. Hubert Bratcher, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will preach on at the two morning services this Sunday morning.

The special music for the 8:45 a.m. service will be the anthem, "We Would See Jesus" by Gunnar J. Malmin sung by the Junior Choir. The Sanctuary Singers will furnish the special music for the 11 a.m. service.

Sunday evening fellowship will be held at 6:00 p.m. with a light supper for the entire family in Fellowship Hall. At 6:30 p.m. children, youth, and adults will separate for one hour of planned activities according to interest and needs.

The adult evening bible study will begin studying, "New Life In The Church" a book by Robert A. Raines.

The Sunday night service at 7:30 p.m. will be conducted by the pastor.

Family night will be held Wednesday, March 14, at 7 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall. The theme for the evening will be built around St. Patrick's Day with games for the whole family and special music and group singing of Irish Melodys has been planned.

Relationship Of God And Man Is Subject

The spiritual relationship of God and man will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Highlighting the Lesson-Sermon on the subject of "Man" is the Golden Text from Pslam 100: "Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture."

One of the citiations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 265): "Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual, — they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite, — in order that sin and mortality may be put off."

Oklahoman To Occupy Pulpit At Presbyterian

Rev. Donald S. Hauck, of the First Presbyterian Church in Bartlesville, Okla., will occupy the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church Sunday at the 11 a.m. service.

Rev. Hauck, a graduate of the Princeton Seminary, has been with the Bartlesville Church for two years as assistant minister. In addition to his B.D. degree from Princeton, he holds a degree from Wittenberg University, Springfield, Ohio. During his years at Princeton Seminary, Rev. WHAT DOES THE CROSS OF CHRIST MEAN?

Galatians 6:1'14

What does the cross of Christ mean? It means more than Christ being crucified on the old rugged cross. It means that the world is crucified unto me, and that I am crucified unto the world. There are three crucifixions. First, the crucifixion of Christ. Oh what a picture is given us through the Holy scripture of that awful scene that took place some 1900 years or more ago, when the Prince of glory was slain and hanged on a tree. What a description is given of how wicked men gathered around and mocked Him, laughed and sneered Him. They blindfolded Him and spat upon Him and smote Him, plucking out His beard. What an awful scene! Not only that, but in the sixth hour when darkness veiled hiding His awful suffering and His being from the eyes of them that sat comfortably by, looking and gazing upon Him in His agonizing hour. The scriptures does not give us the insight of what actually took place, neither the suffering of His final moments of agony while hanging on the tree. We do hear His words, we hear His groans as they fall, even to the last dying drawn breath, and we hear Him saying that last final breath, it is finished. The work had been finished that He was to do the work of the Father, the work on the cross, the work of salvation, the work of blood redemption. All has been finished. The fulfillment of the law was finished on the cross. Many things were offered . . animals were offered before Him, but none of these could take away the sin. None but the blood of Chirst could do that, the scriptures declaires that His blood cleanseth from all sin. At one stroke this destroys all argument about the suffering after death in purgatory for the children of God. My friends, the scripture plainly declairs that the blood of Jesus Christ, God's Son takes away or blots out ALL sin and is sufficient to cleanse us from ALL sin. and is sufficient to cleanse us from ALL sin. There is no other perfection to be made. And what other perfection could be made must be of God. It is not through suffering it is not through the work of the flesh. It is not through keeping of the law or the goodness and righteousness of man. No, all of that has been through the suffering . . through the death and through the shed blood of the Son of God, and He became dead to the world and the world knew him not. Not only that, but the cross of Christ means more than blood redemption. It means something else. It means that you and I are crucified unto the world and the world is crucified unto us. No wonder the world looks on you and I as peculiar people, as a strange religion, as fanatics. They are dead to the work of the cross. We do not speak their language. We do not live their life and do not fellowship with them, so there is a vast difference between a Christian and the world. The reason for that is the world is crucified unto me and then, not only that but I am crucified unto the world. There is a death to the world, a death unto me from the world. There is a cavern . . a great gulf which separates us as far as the east is from the west. What does it all mean? It sums up in the death of Christ. Christ was crucified . . put to death on the cross. It means that I died with Christ on the cross. I was crucified with Him, in Him was my suffering. He is my sin bearer and in Him was I put to death. for the scriptures declares if ye be risen with Him. We must have been crucified with Him. Not only that, but we are risen with Him, by whom the world is crucified unto me. Now we live not unto the world, but unto Him that died for us and gave Himself a ransom for us in that hour when the Son of God was crucified. Therefore my friends, you and I are dead to this world and the world is dead unto us. The world holds no more of its charm for us. It has no more of its magnetism its pulling influence to separate us from the love of God. It has no more power to persuade and to lead astray those that are crucified unto the world. That has been taken care of through the death of Christ on the cross.

Not only that, but I am dead to the things of this world. I am not swept away, it holds no more charm for me. I am not looking to the world for faith, love, mercy and righteousness. No, not at all, because I am crucified unto the world. So the cross has a three fold meaning, Not only the death of Christ on the cross, crucified, taking our place for our sins and paying our debt, but the world is crucified unto me and I unto the world. Thank God for the wonderful and great work that Christ did on Calvary's tree.

Bless God for such a Saviour as our's! He is wonderful! It is beyond describing what matchless love He had for us. Let us strive to please Him!

Harvesters Slating Two Weekend Diamond Tilts

Play ball!

An old worn out term, but its that time of the year again as Pampa's Harvesters journey to Hereford today at 2 p.m. to open the 1962 baseball season for the local school.

The Harvesters entertain Dumas Saturday at 2 p.m. in their first home contest. The game will be played at the Pampa Optimist club park with adult tickets 50 cents and student tickets 25 cents.

Mike Clark or Bobby Price will get the starting nod for coach Deck Woldt's diamond crew in the season opener today with either Jerry Glover or Dee Wright toeing the hill in Saturday's contest.

Glover or Wright will start at first base, Ab Cullender will be at second base, Larry Gregory at third and Butch Crossland at shortstop to round out the infield.

Patrolling the outer pasture will be John Arthur in left field, Kenny Hebert or Howard Reed in center field and Gerrel Owens in right field.

Mike Stewart will handle the catching chores while Clark or Price will be on the hill today.

Arthur and Hebert will probably provide the power at the plate for the Harvesters.

A doubleheader was originally scheduled for today, but both coaches decided that it was still too early to test the pitchers arms out too much at one time.

Hereford has lost their only game of the year so far, dropping a 4-3 decision at the hands of Plainview.

Man O'War Records

NEW YORK (UPI) — The last of the five world records credited to Man O'War at the end of hs career in 1920 have been erased from the books. The final one was broken in the New York Handicap by Wise Ship last year when he ran 1⅛ miles in 2:14 over a turf course. Man O'War was timed in 2:15½ on dirt.

BERRA'S BURDEN — No matter in what position they play the dependable Yogi Berra, the Yankees always rely on him for crucial hits in tight spots. The New York perennial shoulders his bat burden at the world champions' training camp in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Matson Will Attempt Third Straight Mark

Randy Matson will be aiming for a third straight shot put record Saturday when the Graham Invitational Meet gets underway at 10 a.m.

Matson threw the iron ball 55 feet 10¾ inches in the Ft. Stockton meet and then bettered that mark the following week with a heave of 58 feet 8 inches in the Snyder Relays to set new marks in each meet.

Matson also has won the discus title in both of these meets, though not setting a new record in either one.

Other boys competing in field events for coach Dwaine Lyon included Dale Pletcher and Travis Tucker, pole vault; Donnie Ayers, broad jump; Bill Martin, high jump; and James Webb and Matson, shot put and discus.

Track entries include Tucker, 100 and 220; Seymour, 440; Bill Hughes, 880; Curtis Fletcher, mile; Tommy Ayers, low and high hurdles; and Webb, high hurdles.

Finals will get underway at 7 p.m. Abilene has been ruled the favorite after their tremendous showing in winning the Ft. Worth Recreational meet last weekend.

Tag Team Title On Line Tonight

The villains will try to make it two in a row tonight and also annex a title at the same time.

The Viking and Sir Nelson Royal, who won the tag team main event last Friday night over Dory Funk and Ricky Romero, will try to make it two in a row and at the same time win the Texas tag team championship.

Last week, the Viking and Royal were awarded the match, though it was pointed out that the Viking had a piece of metal in his knee brace which helped his team win the best of three falls event.

No braces will be allowed tonight.

Tonight's match will also be for the best two out of three falls with a 60-minute time limit.

In the semi-main event, two of the top female wrestlers in the country, Evelyn Stevens and Jessica Rogers, will meet in the best two out of three falls with a 45-minute time limit.

Romero and the Viking will open the card at 8:30 p.m. in their 15-minute match.

Cinder Stars In Chicago Relays

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two teenage terriers, Tom O'Hara and Bruce Kidd, might steal the show from world record holders tonight in the 26th Chicago Daily News Relays.

Name athletes in the field include Jim Beatty of the Los Angeles Track Club, the only runner ever to better four minutes for the indoor mile, John Uelses, the only 16-foot pole vaulter, Ralph Boston, a 27-foot broad jumper, and hurdler Hayes Jones.

All have set, or equaled world marks and will be trying again tonight to improve on them. But their chances for success are dim and thus O'Hara or Kidd could become the star.

Beatty, who has been clocked at 3:58.9, 4:00.9 and 4:00.2 in his last three outings will be the target for O'Hara, and the youngster could succeed.

O'Hara, a sophomore at Loyola University, won the K. of C. mile at Cleveland last St. Patrick's Day and last week won the K. of C. mile in New York. In his last meeting with Beatty, he was clocked at 4:02.3, the best time ever posted by a 19 year old for the distance as Beatty won in 4:00.9.

The two will be running in the bankers' mile against Peter Close of the New York AC, who won the Wanamaker Mile this year, and an English star, Brian Turner of Southern Illinois.

Kidd, an 18-year-old Toronto runner who likes distances even longer than two miles, will be aiming at Max Truex's meet record of 8:49.1. He will have four competitors, including Laszlo Tabori, the Hungarian star now with the Los Angeles Track Club, Bob Schul, a teammate of Tabori's, Ron Wallingford of the Toronto Olympic Club, and Joe Thomas of Southern Illinois.

New Marks Might Be In Making

LAREDO, Tex. (UPI)—Dexter Elkins' "A-OK" pole vaulting and Jerry Dykes' suborbital javelin throws were expected to provide new records as the 30th Border Olympics got underway today.

Abilene Christian, paced by Dykes and All-America performers Earl Young and John Lawler, were favored to win the two-day international meet after a stretch fight with Texas, defending champion Baylor and Texas A & M.

Texas Southern, winner of three straight college division championships, Howard County Junior College of Big Spring, last year's national junior college champion, and Baytown, Tex., high school return to defend their titles.

Preliminaries were scheduled today, with finals in all four divisions Saturday.

Elkins, of Southern Methodist, has climbed to 15 feet 6½ inches indoors this season. He was expected to break the meet record of 14 1¾ set in 1960 by David Clark of North Texas.

Dykes sailed the javelin 241 feet 1½ inches last week, bettering the current Border Olympics mark by 14 feet.

Texas' Don Cunningham, who has a 13.8 to his credit, could trim the mark of 14-flat in the 180-yard low hurdles he set last year.

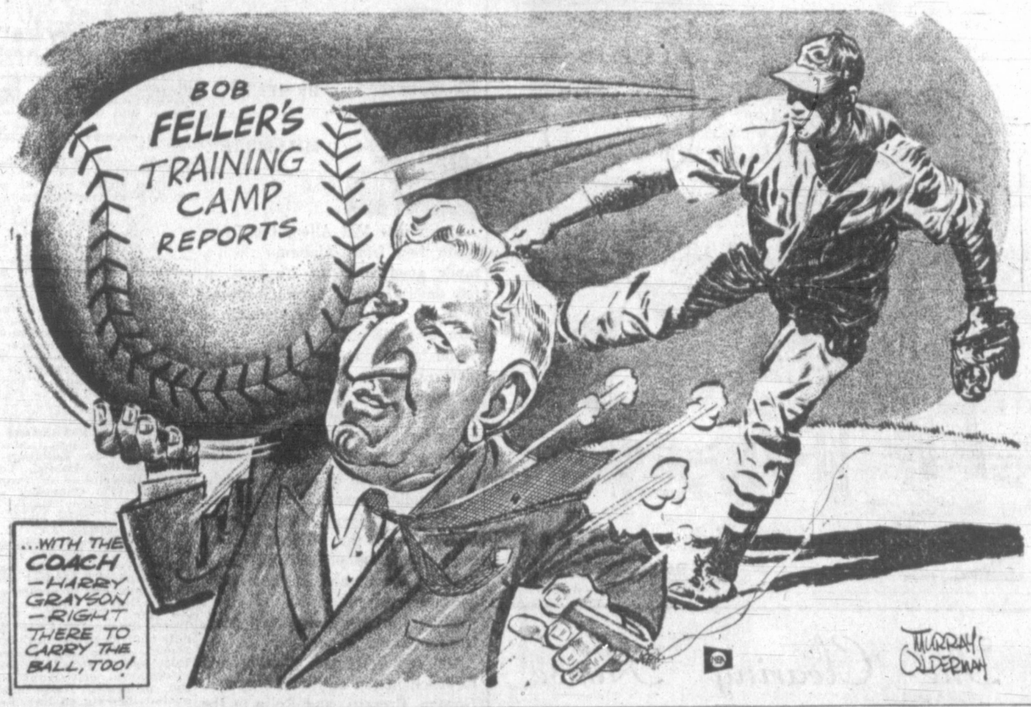

Young, who won a world Olympics gold medal as a member of the 1600-meter relay team, is picked to win the university division 440 if coach Oliver Jackson lets him run. He ran only the 220 in the Southwest Recreation meet last weekend. Lawler, an Australian, will be back for Abilene Christian to defend the 4:09.2 mile record he set at Laredo last year.

Abilene Christian defeated Baylor soundly in the Southwest Recreation meet in Fort Worth and is slightly favored to edge Texas for the Border Olympics team title. Texas barely lost to Texas A&M in a triangular meet last week. But the Aggies' point bulge in field events will be trimmed by the Olympics field of performers.

Another NCAA All-America performer in the meet is Pat Clohessy, an Australian running for the University of Houston.

Mazur Leading Pensacola Play

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI) — Luckless Peter Mazur of Tonawanda, N.Y., tees off in the second round of the $20,000 Pensacola Open today with a three-shot lead earned with the finest iron play seen so far on the winter golf tour.

Mazur banged his mid-irons within 10 feet of the cup on seven holes and sank three long putts Thursday for a competitive course record of 63 over the 6,700-yard par 72 country club course. His only error came on the first hole when he overshot the green, chipped back and muffed a four-footer.

Hard on the winless New Yorker's heels was defending champion Tommy Bolt of Crystal River, Fla., double-winner Arnold Palmer of Miami, and Joe Campbell of Clarksville, Tenn., winner of the Baton Rouge Open last week, with 66s.

Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., third in the last two tourneys, Don Fairfield of Champaign, Ill., who finished out of the money for the first time in a year at Baton Rouge, and Jerry Steelsmith of Glendale, Calif., a member of the new generation taking over the links, were four shots off the pace with 67s.

Sixty-one pros and one amateur shot 71 or better on opening day under a bright sun and soft Gulf Coast breezes. The field will be trimmed to the low 60s and ties after today's action.

Mazur ended his great round with a bang, slamming a six-iron on the 400-yard 18th two inches from the hole while the gallery held its breath waiting for the ball to drop. He sank a 10-footer on two for a birdie, a 25 - footer on three for birdie, hit the par five 6th and 8th holes in two for two more birdies and hit a six iron 15 inches from the pin for another birdie on the par three seventh going out. It was the same story coming home, his middle irons nestling close to the cup for birds on four of the last five holes.

Cepeda, McCovey On Their Way In San Francisco Spring Camp

By United Press International

The good news in the San Francisco Giants' training camp today is that both Orlando Cepeda and Willie McCovey are on their way.

In Cepeda's case that means the National League's 1961 home run king has agreed to terms and is en route from Puerto Rico while in McCovey's case it means the 1959 rookie sensation as a first-baseman has begun his conversion into a left-fielder.

Both, of course, are key developments in the Giants' plans to make 1962 the year in which they present San Francisco fans with a pennant.

Cepeda, the man many National Leaguers say may top Roger Maris' 61 homers in the expanded National League this year, signed for an estimated $47,000. He had been asking the Giants to double his estimated $30,000 salary after a season in which he batted .311, led the league with 46 homers and drove in 142 runs. He is due to report at Phoenix, Ariz., Monday.

McCovey, who had two disappointing seasons after his brilliant break-in season, played left field for the first time in Thursday's camp game. He caught two fly balls and handled three grounders without an error in what manager Al Dark called, "a satisfactory debut."

Chicago White Sox manager Al Lopez was encouraged when Herb Score, one-time American League strikeout king, pitched two "clean" innings Thursday. Score walked one batter but otherwise did not allow a man to reach first base during his two innings in an intra-squad game. Score is hoping to recapture the form he displayed before he was injured by a batted ball early in 1957.

Terry Fox, who had a 5-2 record and 1.42 earned run average last season, tested his question-mark arm in a 15-minute batting practice session and reported no ill effects. "He looks real good so far," said manager Bob Scheffing. "Our hope is that he stays that way."

Sandy Koufax, who set a season record of 269 strikeouts in 1961, flahsed his eye-popping speed in the Los Angeles Dodgers' camp game with six strikeouts in three innings. Larry Sherry, 1959 World Series hero, threw the ball everywhere but into the stands and wound up with six walks in his three inings.

Other camp news: Dave Busby, 21-7 at Waterloo last season, pitched no-hit ball for four innings in Boston Red Sox' camp game . . . Bill Stafford, Ralph Terry and Jim Coates were named to pitch for the New York Yankees in their exhibition opener with the Baltimore Orioles Saturday. . . . Rookie outfielder Manny Jimenez, .325 at Vancouver in 1961, drove in two runs with a bases-loaded single to win for his team in the Kansas City A's intra-squad game.

Casey Stengel named ex-Dodgers Roger Craig and Clem Labine to pitch Saturday when the New York Mets play the St. Louis Cardinals . . . The Pittsburgh Pirates' opening exhibition game assignments went to Bob Veale, Tommy Sisk and Al McBean . . . Del Crandall, sidelined most of last season, threw freely from behind the plate in the Milwaukee Braves' intra-squad action but Joe Torre, the muscular rookie who performed so capably in Crandall's absence, showed he intends to keep the job with a home run.

Two Cagers Repeat On 'Small' America

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jon Feldman of George Washington and Bruce Drysdale of Temple are repeaters on the 14th annual United Press International "Small America" basketball team — the little man's All-America.

It was a "double repeat" for Feldman, who was slected for the third year in a row in the first honor five picked from among the nation's collegiate stars who stand no taller than 5-10.

Larry Armstrong of Arizona State U., Billy Packer of Wake Forest and Lavern Benson of Miami, Ohio, round out the first team. Armstrong and Packer are 5-9 and the others are 5-10.

On the second team were Del Ray Mounts (5-10) of Texas Tech, Willie Somerset (5-10) of Duquesne, Jerry Bass (5-9) of Indiana, Vinnie Ernst (58) of Providence and Ron Warner (5-10) of Gettysburg.

Warner was the year's hottest scorer among the little men with a 25.3-point average but Benson was a close runnerup at 24.6. Feldman's 21.7 improved over his two previous seasons in which he also maintained a 20-point plus average.

Packer, co-captain at Wake Forest with big Len Chappell, averaged 13 points per game and was a stickout playmaker. Armstrong and Drysdale, with 17.5 averages, both were down slightly in scoring from last year but still rated first team berths.

Others considered included Art Woliansky of Columbia, LeRoy Peacock of Furman, Eric Lee of Colorado, Joe Kelly of Holy Cross and Gary Wheeler of Iowa State, all 5-10; Eddie Evans of Oklahoma, Bob O'Billovich of Montana State and John Herbert of Georgia Tech, all 5-9; Jimmy Gilbert (5-8½) of Texas and Tom Shaules (5-8) of Seattle.

Big Stars Have Small Averages

DES MOINES (UPI)—The bowlers with the little averages were the big stars in the 20th day of action at the American Bowling Congress tournament here Thursday.

There were three changes in the top 10 in the booster team division, limited to teams with an 850 or under average.

The Semo Liquid Fertilizers, Charleston, Mo., moved into second on a 2,762 total. The Rheinschmidt's, Burlington, Iowa, took fifth with 2,744 and the Truman Opticians, Dayton, Ohio, sixth with 2,739.

John Bikowski, 42, Dayton optician, rolled a 660 series to help his team into sixth place. This was the best individual effort by a booster bowler so far in the tournament.

There were no changes among the leaders in minor events play.

Three More Cage Teams To Receive Bids Tonight

By United Press International

It's final roundup time in college basketball and three more teams will be branded tonight with tournament markings.

Temple takes on St. Joseph's at Philadelphia in a game where nobody loses and Southern Methodist meets Texas Tech at Fort Worth for the Southwest Conference championship and an NCAA bid. The winner of the Temple-St. Joseph's clash also goes to the NCAA while the loser consoles itself with a trip to New York and the National Invitation Tournament.

Only three berths will remain open following Friday's play for the two major tournaments which get underway next week.

Colorado can clinch the Big Eight championship and an NCAA invite if it disposes of last-place Kansas on its home court Saturday and Cincinati and Bradley fight for the final NCAA spot in their Missouri Valley Conference showdown at Evansville, Ind., Monday night. Once again the loser here will go to the NIT.

The small college boys also get into the act in a big way tonight with the opening round games in seven regional playoffs scheduled leading to the NCAA college division championship.

Evansville, a two-time champion in this tournament, got off to a fast start in the south central playoffs by whipping North Carolina A&T, 97-82, on its home court Thursday. Southern Illinois qualified to meet Evansville for the regional title tonight by beating Union (Tenn.), 78-56, in the opening game of the double-header.

Highlighting a meager Thursday night program was a satisfying 88-64 victory for NIT-bound St. John's over Manhattan. In other games, NCAA-hopeful New York University received a scare before recording its 11th straight victory with a 67-63 decision over Fordham; Boston College beat Boston University, 76-62; Oklahoma defeated Missouri, 63-55; and Texas stopped Texas Christian, 73-61.

Harold Briley scored 40 points to lead all scorers as he helped Evansville break away from a slim one-point halftime lead to overwhelm North Carolina A&T in the final half. The well-balanced Southern Illinois attack was paced by a 15-point effort from Ed Spila.

Celtics Hoping For 60 Total

By United Press International

The Boston Celtics have resumed their drive toward a new National Basketball Association season victory total of 60.

Sidetracked by the New York Knickerbockers last Tuesday night, the Celtics resumed their winning ways with a 108-102 triumph over the Chicago Packers Thursday night and now need three wins in their final three games to set the new mark.

The Celtics play at Detroit tonight, face the Los Angeles Angels at home Sunday and are hosts to the Syracuse Nationals next Monday.

Bill Russell scored 27 points and Frank Ramsey had 27 to lead the Celtics Thursday night while Walt Bellamy had 31 for the Packers.

Are Friends Unwelcome?

In Elisabethville, Katanga, the parliament agreed to "end the secession of Katanga" and join the "government" of tht Central Congo.

This was the vote after an urgent plea by President Moise Tshombe that Katanga not join Leopoldville unless the Central Congolese "line up with the free world against ommunism."

In Washington, D.C., the U.S. State Department announced on the same day that the same Moise Tshombe would not be allowed to visit the United States because, as they put it, "his visit would interrupt and jeopardize efforts to unify the Congo."

Tshombe was scheduled to address a rally sponsored by Young Americans for Freedom in New York March 7. Among others, Sen. Barry Goldwater and Sen. John Tower were scheduled to share the rostrum with Katanga's outspoken pro-western, pro-capitalism, pro-freedom and pro-individualism leader. The rally is described as "conservative" by some, and as "right-wing extremist" by others.

Only weeks before, the United States allowed "premier" Cyrille Adoula, of the Central Congo government, to visit the United States. He spent several hours with Prsident Kennedy and the Soviet ambassador to the United Nations.

This notable visitor pledged friendship and cooperation to both Kennedy and the Soviet ambassador.

Tshombe's Katanga has been conquered by U.S. money, U.N. soldiers and the words of both the U.S. and the U.S.S.R.

Tshombe, who praises the West and wants to stay in the Western world, pledges no cooperation with the Soviets. He furthermore opposes all that communism stands for, and realizes that the Central Congo government is loaded with Marxists.

Adoula says he is neither Red nor western, yet places Communists in high positions in the Congo government.

Adoula can visit the United States.

But Tshombe can't.

Perhaps some bright boy, in the State Department can explain it.

Two Types Of Teaching

Thinking in terms of education, there are two broad avenues of approach for the sincere teacher. These avenues are, in the main, determined by the nature of the subject to be taught and since this is a week set aside to recognize Texas public schools, it is well to examine the significance of various types of teaching.

Science, mathematics, music, things which are subject to measurement and prediction, are normally taught in one manner.

Literature, history, psychology, those subjects called the humanities, are usually taught in another manner.

Respecting the former, little of conjecture or opinion formation is involved. The instructor can set forth the principles or the rules involved, demonstrate them and encourage his pupils to learn them.

The process is largely of memory at the outset. Later, after certain basic rules have been mastered, more advanced courses in these same subjects may explore the unknown territories which always exist on the periphery of any discipline.

But the point here is that the instructor is armed with certain facts and these facts are not subject to question.

In the less precise and more conjectural subjects there is far greater latitude for opinion formation. Facts may exist but it is quite difficult to pin them down as absolutes as a general rule. For example, while we might all agree that Gibbon's "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" is an excellent study of its subject, opinions might vary as to the reason for classifying this particular work as classical, or historically accurate, or valuable.

Shakespeare might be classed as both classic and dramatic. Is Shakespeare important because it is fine literature or is it important because it is fine drama? Value judgments of both teachers and students enter into the equation.

And whatever "authorities" might be called upon, other "authorities" could be found to take substantially different views.

It is principally in these areas where opinion is unavoidable, that many teachers decline to take a fixed position relating to anything. They hold that they should present as many sides to the subject as possible and let the student, as he is informed, make his own evaluation. And there is sound reason for this type of teaching in this type of course. Certainly, conjecture stimulates the mind.

But what we are finding today, thanks to the extensive emphasis placed on politics, and the rise of a monolithic state, is that more and more of the so-called "exact" studies or sciences are being taught conjecturally. The teacher must conform to political pressure. And political pressure ebbs and flows as can be expected when the state has, for all intents and purposes, an oppressive monoply of the educational process.

No longer does every math teacher insist that two plus two equals four. Rather, with the advent of relativity, the student is beleaguered with a whole line of reasoning which suggests that two plus two equals four UNDER CERTAIN CONDITIONS.

So thoroly has this relativistic concept moved into our educational structures that emphasis upon facts, as such, is now considered somewhat passe, dogmatic, not totally reliable. The only certainty is uncertainty. Guesswork can be as highly rated as knowledge.

And it is in this conjectural area, whether it is expanded to include "exact" studies or not, that our modern school processes frequently come to grief.

For example, we would hold that education which lacks a moral base is merely the accumulation of certain types of knowledge sans a mechanism as to the employment of that knowledge. To acquire wealth is not enough. One must understand the imperative of acquiring wealth thru honest means. We can think of many illustrations to emphasize the importance of moral certainty.

Now, we would hold that in any particular period of time, the advancement of learning can readily be charted by noting the enlargement of the areas of certainty open to men's minds. The more primitive the times, the larger the area of uncertainty; the narrower the area of certainty. The learning sciences, when they are advancing, continually enlarge our abilities to make sure.

But today, thanks to far too large an emphasis upon tolererance, opinion formation, relativity, conjecture and so on, it appears that our areas of uncertainty are enlarging and our areas of certainty contracting. This is the expansion of learning in reverse.

The more fully and more rapidly we can employ the certainty of scientific methodology in larger areas, the more certainly and rapidly will our ability to understand enlarge.

CONGRESS REPORTS ON NSA INQUIRY

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
(Christian Economics)

The House Committee on Un-American Activities has completed its first year of inquiry into Communist penetration in the National Security Agency, Department of Defense, but the findings are deemed too shocking for official publication.

The National Security Agency is the most sensitive organization in the entire U.S. defense establishment. It performs "highly specialized technical and coordinating functions relating to national security." Headquarters of NSA are at Fort Meade, Md., just outside of Washington.

In July 1960 two code clerks employed by NSA disappeared mysteriously from Fort Meade, and several weeks later turned up safely in Moscow as defectors to communism. They were identified as Vernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin. They disappeared without trace while presumably on vacation. Their flight was not realized for almost a month and was not acknowledged officially for six weeks. The Committee on Un-American Activities then began its secret investigation.

One year later, on July 28, 1961 the National Security Agency announced that 26 of its employes had been dismissed from government service as sexual deviates. The dismissals were a direct result of the inquiries initiated by the Un-American Activities Committee.

The official committee summary relates that defector Mitchell had been given a lie detector test as long ago as July 23, 1957. Ten days later Mitchell admitted to a security officer in NSA that he had practiced sexual irregularities earlier in life. But this disclosure apparently did not disqualify the applicant for a code-clerk job in NSA, the committee concluded.

International communications and military codes are two important branches of NSA's highly secret operations. The House Un-American Activities Committee is continuing its study of NSA, as far back as May 1, 1960, when the U.S. photo-observation plane, U-2, was mysteriously shot down over Russia —some 30 days before Mitchell and Martin disappeared from Fort Meade.

The U-2 pilot, Francis Gary Powers of Pound, Va., was shot down by Russian ground fire after his jet plane flamed out high above the reach of Russian weapons.

Powers was sentenced in Moscow to ten years as a spy. The official record still is open on two questions: (1) What caused Powers' jet flame-out? and (2) How did the Russians know when to expect Powers' flight?

The National Security Agency was established in May 1952 by a White House directive from President Truman to the Department of Defense. So secret are NSA's operations that President Truman's directive never has been published in the Federal Register. Thus, the full scope and range of the unit's authority and operations are unknown.

Currently, NSA functions under the direction of the Assistant to the Secretary of Defense for Special Operations, General G. B. Erskine, USMC, retired.

The 1962 Federal Budget, a document of 1040 pages about the size of the New York City telephone directory, does not list the National Security Agency in its index. The National Security Council, a recognized statutory agency established under the military unification act of 1947, is listed in the budget, and its functions and authority defined. But there is nothing in the public record to show what funds are available for the work of the National Security Agency, how many people are employed, or what its functions are within the Department of Defense.

This complete anonymity is accorded no other agency within the Federal establishment. Even the Central Intelligence Agency, presumably one of the most untouchable hush-hush bureaus in Washington, is formally indexed in the 1962 budget.

A final report from the House Committee on Un-American Activities may reveal more about NSA, its budget, the number of its employes, its work, and history.

Bid For A Smile

Blink, after inviting his friend Jinks to dinner, was telling him about the remarkable memory of his little son, Bobby.

Jinks — And do you think he will remember me?

Blink — Remember you? Why, certainly he will.

An hour later they entered the house and after Jinks had greeted Mrs. Blink, he called Bobby over to him.

Jinks — And do you remember me, my little man?

Little Bobby — Course, I do. You're the man that pa brought home last year, and made ma so wild about it that she didn't speak to pa for a week.

TO THE CITIZENS OF PAMPA:

There have been accusations against former City Commissions, accusing them of mis-handling the city's business.

For example, former City Commissions have been accused of being partial to the Country Club, the cemetery, and all churches, by making special prices for water.

The cemetery has been operated by local citizens for many years who served without pay, and if it had not been for them the city would have had the responsibility. The City Commission passed on Ordinance in October 1956, whereby the cemetery only paid the $2.60 per month minimum for all the water they used. I believe the good citizens of Pampa will agree that we have a cemetery to be proud of, and it is not costing the city anything except for the water that is used. This Ordinance was approved by Mr. Parkhurst, a lawyer from Dallas, who approved the bonds that were voted at that time. There is no question but what this Ordinance is legal as pertaining to water prices.

The same City Commission in October 1956 set a minimum price of $2.60 for the first 4,000 gallons of water and 20 cents per 1,000 gallons above the 4,000 for all churches in the city. We thought this was nothing but fair as the churches have to raise money by public subscription from their members. Certainly we are proud of our churches, and we thought they would appreciate getting this reduced water rate.

As to the Country Club, this club was organized in 1927, and was incorporated as the Pampa Country Club. Golf players, while they did not belong to the club, were allowed to play golf there by paying green fees. In 1956 the city commission had requests for the city to put in a Municipal Golf Course. We inquired from cities over the state what their costs were to operate their Municipal Golf Courses, as most cities the size of Pampa do have Municipal Golf Courses. We found Amarillo's cost was from $12,000 to $15,000 per year LOSS, just for the operation of the course. Since the Pampa Country Club was already allowing non-members to play golf there, we thought it should only be right that we furnish some of the water at a reduced rate. We put in a larger water line to the Country Club and installed a fire hydrant. I might add there were more than 500 members in the club at that time, most of them citizens of Pampa. At the same time there were numerous citizens who played golf by paying green fees only.

The cost of the water line paid for itself in little over a year from the time it was installed. Since that time the city's revenue from the Country Club has been $1,538.00 average per year. In fact that was a good deal for the city since we had water to spare. Furthermore, sewer lines and water lines belonging to the city had easements through Country Club property at no cost to the city. It has been a good deal for the city as well as for the Country Club. How could anyone object to this since it was so profitable to the city.

I note that former City Commissions have been accused of favoring certain tax payers. At a recent City Commission meeting the City Manager was accused of not placing high enough valuation on property belonging to C. P. Buckler. So that you may know what happened in this case (and incidentally the City Manager had nothing to do with it) Mr. Buckler owned the draw East of the Coronado Inn, known as Red Deer Creek. He had given most of this land to the city for park purposes, and the part in question where the valuation has recently been raised is where Mr. Buckler had procured dirt to fill in this draw, naturally raising the value of the land. The board of Equalization raised this valuation, and Mr. Buckler did not object to this — but it was not worth anything before he had this draw filled with dirt. There is no man living who has done more for the city than Mr. C. P. Buckler, and there is no better citizen. Anyone who would cast reflection on a man of his character is certainly doing an injustice, not only to him but to the city as well.

At a recent City Commission meeting, the City Manager was asked to resign and was accused of not taking care of the city business and not being qualified for the job. The way he was asked to resign was unjust and unfair, and a blow below the belt. The publicity that went out certainly did not help the city in the least, and it will hurt John Koontz's reputation — the remarks that were made at that time and since in the paper.

It was stated that Mr. Koontz was not qualified for the job, but I can tell you he was qualified when the Hobart Street Underpass was built several years ago, which was the biggest project the city has undertaken. He was City Manager at that time. He helped procure the Right-of-Ways, and helped in getting the County Commissioners to pay half the cost to widen Hobart Street and others streets we had to widen. The Right-of-Ways cost $200,000 and the County paid half. That just didn't happen without some work being done by the City Manager. Also Mr. Koontz went to Austin with Fire Chief Winborne to see the Fire Marshal, as we had to build two fire stations. He was qualified to go to other cities in the state and get their ideas—and the two fire stations were built and were furnished with fire fighting equipment that was first class. So I don't know what it takes to be a qualified City Manager. He is recognized over the state as being one of the better City Managers.

I will not say the City Commission did not have the right to fire a man, or get rid of his services, but certainly the way it was handled was a disgrace, and the City Commission is to blame.

Back to water prices again, I notice there have been complaints about customers outside the City Limits. They pay 50 per cent more for water and this is a practice that has been going on many years. It has been profitable for the city to sell this water at increased prices — as they did not build water lines outside the city limits, I cannot understand why anyone would object to this. When you talk about forcing anyone into the city you should take into consideration the cost of installing sewer lines, larger water lines and other conveniences the city has to furnish.

It has been stated that the different City Departments are not doing the job. I can state there is no better Fire Department in Texas in a city the size of Pampa. We are better equipped and better manned. Our Police Department has a perfect record of no traffic fatalities in the city limits in the last year. This in spite of the fact that the police force was under-manned. There is nothing wrong with the Police Department or the Health Department. Also we have an efficient Tax Department as well as an efficient Water Department. Anyone casting a reflection on these departments is not very well informed.

I hope I have explained these matters so you will understand what has been going on. I have never been accused of misrepresenting the facts, or of doing anything that was not for the best interest of the city. I just want the people to know we don't have such a bad city after all you have heard.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is to be commended for the stand they are taking, and it is for the best interest of the City of Pampa.

(Signed)
Lynn Boyd

City Commissioner

Hankerings

By HENRY McLEMORE

I ran into Mel Allen, the Deep South boy from Alabama who made good with the Yankees, a few days ago, just after his return from the Eternal City, which is Rome, I believe.

Mel had been there showing pictures of the 1961 World Series to troops and USIS gatherings, and will soon be readying his voice for his 17th year of Yankee radio and TV broadcasting.

Over a couple of cherry smashes we talked baseball, and mostly about the Yankees. When I asked him to name the All-Star Yankee team from the players he had seen in action, and at their best, he surprised me a bit by not naming the new home run king, Roger Maris.

Mel put DiMaggio, Mantle, and Heinrich in the outfield; Skowron, Gordon, Crosetti, and Rolfe in the infield; Dickey behind the plate and, limiting himself to a right-handed and a left-handed pitcher, named Ruffing and Gomez.

"No Maris?" I asked. "No place for the man who took away Ruth's crown, and is now the toast of the American sports world?"

"Nope," Mel said, "no place for Maris. Not yet. He hasn't proved himself an All-Time Yankee great. He isn't the best outfielder you or I ever saw, and he isn't a three-hundred hitter."

While on the subject of Maris, I told Mel that from the little I had seen of him, and the lot I had read about him, it appeared he could easily become one of baseball's greatest boors, even without benefit of coaching.

"It's possible," Mel said. "He has a lot to learn about warmth, appreciation, graciousness, and those sort of things. He's a cold fellow. I have been on the banquet circuit with him quite a bit, and his pattern is always the same. He resents it if other players are presented before him, he fidgets, says ten or twelve words after accepting the belt, plaque, or whatever is awarded him, and walks down the aisle and out. He makes it obvious he doesn't like being there."

I asked if anyone were trying to put some warmth and tact into the Maris muscles.

"Yes," Mel said, "the Yankee front office and his roomie, Mantle. Mantle is probably more naturally shy than Maris, but he has overcome it, and is trying to instruct Roger in how to behave before his admiring fans. I have seen him cover up for Roger a dozen times."

How did Mel think the American League race would come out this year?

"Well, you'd have to pick the Yankees," he said, "even with Kubek in the Army. His absence will hurt, but they should make it — provided Mantle holds up. Maris got the Most Valuable Player Award but Mickey was the man who won the pennant for the Yanks. They would never have gotten it without him. After that I like Detroit, Baltimore, Cleveland, Chicago, Minneapolis, and from there one guess is as good as another."

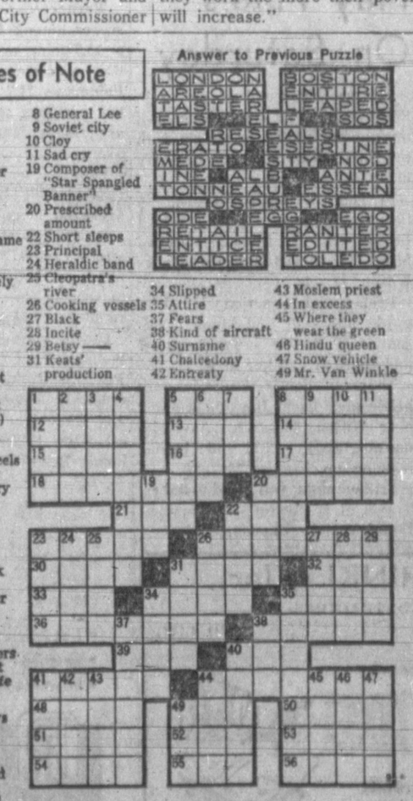

How was Rome?

"Cold, old, and mangificent," Mel said.

A thought for the day: Russian author Tolstoi said: "The more is given the less the people will work for themselves, and the less they work the more their poverty will increase."

Translated Jargon Of Space Era

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The bird, fueled by lox, roared off its pad at mach 4. At T plus four, the astronaut began to fly by wire but by the time it reached the Van Allen radiation belt, the bird's sun-seeker took over and directed it toward the moon.

A passage from some weird new "Alice in Wonderland?" Not at all. It's a sample of the massive fallout of strange words resulting from man's conquest of space and the rockets he uses to get him there.

Translated it means:

The rocket, fueled by liquid oxygen, took off from its launching site at four times the speed of sound. Four minutes later, the space pilot took manual control. By the time the vehicle reached a belt of high-energy particles trapped by earth's magnetic field, a navigation device keyed to the sun assumed control and steered the rocket toward the moon.

NEW CULTURAL PACT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and Russia were expected to sign today a new, two-year agreement on cultural and educational exchanges.

You Save Little On New Tariff Agreement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What can the American consumer expect to save on the price of imported goods as a result of the new U.S. tariff-cutting agreements with 31 non-Communist nations?

Here are some of the answers:

A nickel on a fifth bottle of Scotch or Irish whisky or gin.

About $21.50 on the average foreign-made car.

Seven cents on every dollar's worth of nuts.

One dollar and a half on a $50 wooden baby carriage.

Twenty cents on every $10 of field-hockey sticks, table-tennis paddles, croquet mallets and tennis nets.

Twenty dollars on a $1,000 fur coat of Persian lamb, mink, Beaver, Chichilla, sable and some other pelts.

These are typical of hundreds of tariff reductions this country agreed to make in exchange for similar cuts by the six-nation European Economic Community (EEC), the United Kingdom and 24 other nations. The agreements were made public Wednesday.

On industrial items the cuts are 20 per cent. U.S. officials said they would be put into effect in two stages, half by mid-1962 and half a year later.

Consumers in this country and abroad also will benefit, if indirectly, from tariff reductions on many industrial items. Benefits to consumers will in some instances mean hardship to workers in firms hurt by foreign competition.

Over-all, however, according to the administration, American industry and workers will be helped more than they are hurt.

President Kennedy said Wednesday the United States got from the new tariff-cutting agreements more than it gave. He said concessions received by this country covered $4.3 billion of annual exports. It granted concessions on $2.9 billion of imports, he said.

Minuteman Missile Fired

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The United States fired a Minuteman instant ICBM on an ocean-spanning flight Thursday to score its third space success in 24 hours.

The stubby, three-stage rocket shot from an underground launching tube at 10:24 a. m. and less than 30 minutes later, its dummy warhead plunged into a target area more than 3,000 miles out in the Atlantic Ocean.

First radio broadcast utilizing long distance telephone lines linked Boston with New York City in 1923.

5 ways telephones help businessmen get ahead . . .

1) Want to increase sales? Between personal visits, keep in close touch with local and out-of-town customers and prospects by phone.

2) Ideas don't watch clocks. Wherever you are, whatever the hour, phone in "brain storms" to your company's message-recording service.

3) Use a Speakerphone to let co-workers join your meetings, whether three floors or 3,000 miles away.

4) Use your telephone to order supplies, drum up business, cut down paper work, save steps and time.

5) Last-minute thought before leaving on a business trip? Stop at a public phone and tell your office.

Let's face it, gentlemen. There just aren't enough hours to accomplish everything you want. Get help the easy way. Make full use of today's modern communications services. (Bosses have a way of noticing the men who pull more than their weight.)
