The SDN Column

We have received a note about a new program that Humble Oil and Refining Co. is offering soldiers who are nearing discharge.

A government survey last year showed that about half of the men being discharged from the armed forces could benefit from some type of training or re-training in civilian occupational skills.

So, Humble has set up what it calls its "Tiger Training Trailer," which is a mobile (with the E on the end, of course) training facility for prospective service station operators.

One of the training facilities is now in operation at Fort Hood, following a pilot program at Fort Knox, Ky. In the initial program eight of 14 men who completed the course actually became Humble dealers.

TALKS TOUCH SERIOUS MATTERS

Harriman Cites 'Good Signs' In Informal Coffee Breaks

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman disclosed today that "serious matters" have been touched on in his informal coffee-break conversations with Ambassador Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam during the Paris peace talks.

"There are a lot of trivialities and personal discussions," Harriman said, "but one can't help but touch on serious matters. And we're getting into a little bit more of the idea of what's important in each other's minds."

Harriman said he considered it a "good sign" that enemy forces "haven't shelled Saigon for a couple of weeks." He described this as one of the "straws in the wind" that he found somewhat encouraging.

But he said that so far he has not found any indication that North Vietnam was prepared to impose "restraint" on its military operations to justify ending the rest of the American bombing on the North.

Harriman discussed the talks in a televised interview, aimed primarily at a European audience and Harriman sought to explain U.S. policy toward divided Vietnam by drawing an analogy with divided Germany.

"Thinking in terms of Europeans," he said, "I think one has to think of the fact that the German people want to get together, and there are conditions under which they can come together.

"But no one suggests that the use of force should be applied. No one would be so reckless as to suggest the use of force. Whatever the future of the reunification of Germany, it must be done by peaceful means."

Apart from taking a hopeful view of the relative lull in military action in Vietnam, Harriman listed these "straws in the wind".

—One of the top North Vietnamese delegates, Le Duc Tho, a member of the politburo in North Vietnam, "has gone back to Hanoi for consultation." Harriman evidently feels he might return with some new instructions.

—The North Vietnamese announced July 3 they would release three captive U.S. fliers, which is a "good move."

—In breaks during the formal sessions there are the informal talks "which are not much, but at least they're something."

—On the issue of North Vietnam having troops in the South, "we smoked them out and they don't deny that any more."

"It all gives an indication,"

Big Art Show Slated Here By WTCC

A West Texas-Wide art show will be held in Snyder next Feb. 18 in connection with a Tourist Development Conference, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has announced.

The art show, along with the WTCC's annual tourist conference, will be held in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Plans for the tourist development conference had been announced several weeks ago.

Entries in the art show will come from all sections of West Texas and will be limited to three per artist. A guaranteed purchase first prize of $500 has been set for the over-all winner, with lesser purchase prizes for the next two winners. The pictures selected by the blue ribbon judges will become the property of the WTCC and will be on permanent display in the WTCC offices.

More details of plans for the art show will be announced later, said Tom Barnett of Fort Worth, Cultural Affairs Chairman for the WTCC.

Snyder Area Has Showers

Showers dotted the Snyder area early Saturday as rains and thunderstorms prevailed over much of the state.

Snyder had .68 inch of moisture in a shower that fell shortly before daybreak. Some areas of town had as much as an inch in official gauges.

Other showers had danced around the area Friday afternoon, but rainfall amounts generally were light. Lake J. B. Thomas had .20 inch at the dam and no appreciable rain-

Program In Reading Set

A popular summer reading course will be offered again for elementary age children in Snyder this summer.

Dates for the course are July 15- Aug. 9. Classes will be held at the West Elementary School beginning at 8:30 each morning and continuing until 10::30 a.m.

The program is not for the non-reader. Its purpose is to encourage independent reading, to stimulate interest in the reading process, to improve reading skills and to increase the usable vocabulary of the child. The program will be helpful to a child who already has developed an independent attitude for reading materials that are of interest to him, school officials said.

'Rodeo Week' Begins Here

The traditional flags were flying and a general festive air prevailed in Snyder as the area launched "Rodeo Week."

Activity in the arena west of town will be in the spotlight beginning Wednesday evening and continuing through Saturday evening.

Rodeo days will formally begin at 5 p.m. Wednesday with the annual downtown parade. The procession will be composed of a variety of entries, ranging from decorated floats which will be competing for prizes, to scores of riders, including those in sheriff's posses and mounted patrol units.

First performance at the rodeo arena will follow at 8 p.m. and the nightly shows will continue at the same hour for the remainder of the week.

All of the traditional events will be featured — plus one new attraction.

For the first time there will be a matched bronc riding contest pitting a riding team from South Dakota against a team of Texans. The two teams will compete each evening. A purse of approximately $1,000 will go to the winning team.

The rodeo dance at the pavilion adjacent to the arena will feature Hoyle Nix and his band following each performance.

Livestock for the 32nd annual Scurry County Rodeo will be furnished by Sloan Williams of Hungerford.

Sgt. Deere Earns Bronze Star Medal

S-Sgt. Charles R. Deere, 24, the brother of Sgt. Donald T. Deere, who was killed in action in Vietnam, while serving with the Green Berets, has won the Bronze Star Medal with V (valor) device for bravery under fire against the Viet Cong.

Exposing himself to hostile fire, he went to the rescue of a fellow soldier who was wounded.

The citation, which was presented to him, states:

"For heroism in connection with military operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam. Staff Sergeant Deere distinguished himself by exceptionally valorous actions on 8 April 1968 while serving as platoon leader of the 2d Platoon, Cmpany B, 1st Battalion, 20th Infantry. On that date, his platoon was conducting an offensive sweep when they came under heavy enemy automatic weapons fire. As the squad leader of the 1st squad he was deploying his men in defensive positions when he was wounded by hostile fire. Without concern for his own safety, Sergeant Deere left his covered position and crossed 50 meters of open terrain amidst enemy fire to reach the injured man. Under the covering fire of his platoon, Sergeant Deere picked up the wounded man and carried him to a secure area for medical attention. He then took command of the 1st squad and directed their fire upon the enemy emplacements. Sergeant Deere's heroic actions served as an inspiration to the platoon members. Staff sergeant Deere's personal bravery, unselfish concern for a fellow soldier at great personal risk and devotion to duty are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, the American Division, and the U.S. Army.

"(s) Nels A. Parson, Jr., Colonel, GS Chief of Staff."

The Army also awarded Charles a Purple Heart for the wounds he received during the action. He described the incident in a letter that he sent his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Deere, 123 Twentieth Place.

Dated July 5, 1968, the letter stated:

". . . I got a purple heart too. It wasn't anything bad. I

Clark Points To Big Red Buildup

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford, leaving for South Vietnam, accused North Vietnam today of going to the other extreme rather than showing restraint in response to U.S. limitation of bombing in the North.

Clifford, off for his first close-up look at the war since becoming Pentagon chief, cited what he called a "very substantial buildup of men and materiel" by the North Vietnamese in South Vietnam.

He also referred, as he did at a news conference two days ago, to indications the enemy may be gearing up for a new offensive thrust around Saigon or in the northernmost provinces around the Demilitarized Zone.

The defense secretary mentioned these developments when asked about suggestions Friday by Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., for a cease-fire in the war.

Referring to the lack of reciprocity from the other side, Clifford said certain actions are needed on the part of the enemy before the cease-fire stage is rached.

He recalled President Johnson has indicated he would be willing to halt all the bombing of North Vietnam if there was "reciprocal restraint" from Hanoi.

The United States has restricted its bombers to the relatively narrow southern panhandle of North Vietnam since March 31, when Johnson ordered the limitation in a bid to get peace talks started. These talks began May 13 in Paris.

Clifford declined to speculate whether any new enemy offenses—which would be the third since early this year—would be a last-grasp effort to achieve dramatic results aimed at a settlement on its terms in Paris.

He did say the enemy motive in such a new offensive would be to disrupt conditions in Saigon and elsewhere and to demonstrate continuing North Vietnamese and Viet Cong strength for the benefit of the Paris negotiators.

Enemy Dead Line Infiltration Route

SAIGON (AP) — Allied ground troops searching an enemy infiltration route in the Mekong Delta have found the bodies of 105 enemy soldiers killed by B52 strikes, the U.S. Air Force said today.

The eight-engine bombers, America's biggest, have been pounding infiltration routes leading to Saigon in an effort to blunt a major offensive expected next week. Intelligence reports say six enemy divisions are poised to hit the capital and Viet Cong suicide squads are pouring into the city.

The Air Force said the enemy troops were killed by heavy B52 raids Thursday and Friday in Chau Doc Province's Seven Mountain area, about 125 miles southwest of Saigon.

A highly placed Vietnamese source said 1,000 enemy troops already were inside the capital despite identity checks and allied sweeps around the city. They are believed to be terrorists, demolition experts and commandos.

Military spokesmen believe the enemy will attack Saigon before Friday, anniversary of the 1954 Geneva agreements that partitioned Vietnam. One possibility is that the attack will be launched to coincide with the visit of Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford, due to arrive this weekend for a first-hand assessment of the war.

American troops in the defense ring around Saigon have uncovered two fresh enemy weapons caches and a crudely built hospital.

BIRD PUTS OUT SNYDER LIGHTS

A little bird put the lights out in Snyder early Saturday.

Everything served through the Snyder plant of Texas Electric Service Co. was without power for 13 minutes beginning at about 6:20 a.m. when a bird and an insulator tangled. The bird absorbed 138,000 volts of electricity and disrupted service throughout the city.

Knew Hijacking 'Was A Mistake'

By BOB M. GASSAWAY
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A babbling gunman who "knew he was making a mistake" ordered a U.S. airliner to fly to Cuba, then surrendered his gun, cried and let the plane land in Miami.

"I'm dying of cancer," the tearful hijacker told the crew.

Oran Daniel Richards, a 33-year-old forklift operator from Springfield, Ohio, was charged with kidnaping and aircraft piracy. Both are federal offenses and the piracy charge carries a maximum penalty of death.

U.S. Commissioner Edward Swan set Richards' bond at $250,000 pending a hearing Monday.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., one of the 47 other passengers, said the gunman threatened to kill him. None of the passengers or six crewmen was injured.

The six-foot Richards, a native of Columbus, Ga., appeared pale, but gave no hint of emotion as he was led from the cockpit of the Delta Airlines jet after it made an emergency landing in Miami. The plane—Flight 977—was en route from Philadelphia to Houston, Tex.

This was the second attempt during the day in which a gunman attempted to fly to Cuba.

Earlier Friday, a man who gave his name only as "Van Dyk" chartered a single engine plane at Key West, Fla., for a trip to Miami. Pilot Cletis Massingall, 35, radioed the passenger had pulled a gun and ordered him to Havana.

Massingall's plane landed at the Havana airport about an hour after the passenger pulled his gun.

UNWELCOME VISITOR — This skunk strolled unbidden into A-1 Electronics Company, 2401 Avenue T, about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. Employes immediately took cover. Everything turned out all right though. The animal was slowly and carefully ejected by Animal Warden Bill Blythe with the help of employes from SCAT and Snyder Ambulance Service.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The complaints I have against my husband could take up your whole column, but here are just a few: If I fill the bath tub more than a quarter of the way full, John yells at me.

All heck broke loose when I took our youngest to the doctor with a 104 temperature because it cost $7. We have been married for 23 years and have never had a vacation. John refuses to take the family for a little drive in the car as gasoline costs money.

The children have never been able to have company because John likes to sleep in his shorts in the living room. My father is sending our oldest to college as we "can't affort it."

We have no debts. My husband is a successful professional man with a good reputation in town. (His professon is helping people with their problems!) I admire him for the help he gives others, but can he not see, or does he refuse to see the problems in his own home? And what do you suggest I do?

JOHN'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Why you have put up with this for 23 years is a mystery to me. If you sincerely want help, and the situation is as you describe it, get some professional counseling on your own. If your husband is the only "counselor" in town—seek help in another town.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Several years ago my daughter's mother-in-law passed away. In disposing of the repossessions, an antique chair was given to me by her family. My daughter was offered this chair first, but she turned it down, saying it was a "monstrosity," and she wouldn't have it in her house.

Now that the chair is in my living room, every time my daughter comes over she admires it, as if she suddenly became aware of its beauty — and value. Now, she is pestering the life out of me to give her back "her" chair.

Abby, I can't keep that chair and enjoy it knowing that my daughter covets it. And on the other hand, if I break down and give it to her I know that I will resent seeing it in HER house and never feel friendly toward her again.

I am sure she knows how I feel, but material things mean more to her than our relationship, so what do you advise me to do?

FRUSTRATED MOTHER

DEAR FRUSTRATED: If you were to get to the seat of the matter, you would find more than an old chair between you and your daughter, but to answer your question: Get rid of the chair. You will probably resent having to part with it, but at least it will be in neither YOUR home to irriate your daugher, or in HER home to irritate you.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who is consistently late. When we have a date, she's anywhere from 45 minutes to an hour late. She's been this way all her life and she's nearly 40.

It provokes me, particularly because I'm always on time and I have as many things to do as she has. I've put up with it because I have a great affection for this person and she has other good qualities, but I would like to know if there is some way to break her of the habit of being late all the time?.

PROVOKED

DEAR PROVOKED: After putting up with her chronic tardiness for so long, your chances for reforming her are slim. She has you trained. If you sincerely want to break her of the habit, tell her you will wait only 10 minutes after the appointed hour, and if she's late, you'll wait no longer. Then carry out your threat. But don't expect it to work unless the "affection" is mutual.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Maybe YOU think it's all right for a husband to give his wife an electric toaster or mixer for Mother's day, but if my husband ever showed up with a gift to remind me that I was kitchen help, I'd probably strangle him with the cord.

What kind of Mother's day present does your husband give you Abby? And what do you give him for Father's day?

NOSY IN PITTSBURGH

DEAR NOSY: Every Mother's day my husband gives me the kids. And every Father's day I give 'em back.

Blames Court For Criminals Running Wild

MIAMI, Fla. AP) — A U.S. senator saved from a gunpoint trip to Cuba Friday blamed the Supreme Court's liberal decisions for letting "criminals run wild," and said no new laws are needed to curb airplane hijackings.

"It's all the Supreme Court's affair—they make it possible for criminals to run wild," Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said Friday night.

Eastland was one of 34 persons aboard a Delta Airlines jet liner, which a gunman attempted to divert to Havana. Crew members persuaded the man to drop his .38 caliber pistol and they made an emergency landing in Miami.

Eastland said the gunman threatened to kill him. The senator said he encountered the hijacker as he started to the restroom aboard the Convair 880 jet flying from Philadelphia to Houston.

"I heard a man say, 'I'll kill you. Get back. I'm a dying man.' So I sat down," Eastland related.

A stewardess said the man later told her he was suffering from cancer.

Eastland said he saw no need for new laws against hijacking airlines.

"I don't think any laws Congress might pass would have anything to do with it," Eastland said. "That's like these gun laws.

"We've got all the laws that we need. We just need courts to enforce the laws we've got."

Oran Daniel Richards, a 33-year-old forklift operator from Springfield, Ohio, was charged with kidnaping and aircraft piracy for attempting to divert the plane.

Bulky Ladies Charged With Smuggling

By JOSH MILLS
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Customs officials stopped two women who seemed a bit bulky about the middle at Kennedy Airport and discovered $4 million worth of heroin taped to their midsections.

An official said Friday that the two Argentines—a schoolteacher and a hairdresser—were "undoubtedly couriers" for one of the world's largest heroin smuggling operations. The women were on board a flight from Brazil that arrived Thursday morning.

Customs agents became suspicious of the two women because of "the unusual bulk of their persons" and because one of them, Mrs. Maria Avelina Gonzales de Rossi, 28, was wearing a "very heavy black wool coat with a fur collar," the official said.

Mrs. Rossi and Melida Lucia Burgueno Mainardi, 40, the hairdresser, were charged with illegal importation of heroin and held in $100,000 bail each.

If convicted, they face up to 20 years in jail and fines of $20,000 each.

The women were already through customs, agents said, when they were asked to step inside a private room for a search by a woman agent. Each woman was found to have nine one-pound bags of heroin taped on with two-inch strips of adhesive tape.

"They were undoubtedly couriers for one of the largest, if not the largest, heroin smuggling rings in the world," said Stanley R. Spinola, supervising customs agent.

Spinola said other arrests had been made in South America, Italy, France and Canada and more were expected.

Sharp Curtailment Of Mail Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department has ordered the closing of 347 small branches and told postmasters to gear for sharp curtailment of Saturday service everywhere.

Announcing this Friday the department said it was caused by manpower cutbacks dictated in the new tax bill.

But a senator said it was "blackmail" aimed at forcing an exemption from the bill for the department.

The department said 250 fourth class post offices will be closed Aug. 2 and 97 more Aug. 30.

Effective July 27 all Saturday and Sunday window service at first and second class post offices will be cut to a maximum of two hours. Saturday collection from street boxes will be limited to Sunday schedules.

Postmasters also were told to submit by Sept. 1 plans for elimination of all Saturday delivery in city residential routes. No date was set for carrying these out.

The department also imposed, in a separate action, a freeze on extension of delivery routes to new apartments or subdivisions.

"This is not a matter of dollars, but of people," said the department. "Under the manpower restrictions imposed by the tax bill we simply will not have enough people to continue all postal services at their present level."

The department said it hoped "Congress will correct the situation."

"We are not asking for restoration of any money cut from our budget," it said. "We believe we can operate within our budget and maintain postal services at or near their present level if we do not have to reduce employment to the June 1966 level."

The tax bill requires the department to cut back 83,238 employes by filling only three out of every four vacancies.

In Congress, the department action was received cooly.

"We will not be intimidated by blackmail or implied threats," said Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., in a floor speech.

He said he had written Postmaster Gen. W. Marvin Watson asking how much money would be saved by cutting service "so we can rescind that part of his appropriation."

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, reportedly told associates he would oppose repealing any part of the tax bill, including the 10 per cent income surcharge, unless the whole measure is repealed.

Watson appeared before the committee earlier this week to plug for an exemption, saying Saturday service would have to be cut if manpower was reduced.

Even A Horse May Need Glasses

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — When you get old, you need spectacles.

And Sugar Babe, a 24-year-old horse is no exception.

Sugar Babe is an albino and the summer sun is too strong for her eyes. Mrs. Toni DeStefano of Wichita Falls, who has made a pet of Sugar Babe for 21 years, noticed the mare was walking around with her eyes half-closed and stumbling into hazardous objects.

So Mrs. DeStefano had the horse fitted with goggles with tinted lenses.

Although most of the region, including some areas in Scurry County, had received rains recently, Saturday morning's fall was the first significant moisture recorded in Snyder since June 16 when 1.60 inches fell during a thunderstorm.

Saturday morning's rains were more numerous in the Panhandle - Plains area and in the South Central part of the state. Rains that caused flooding in the Corpus Christi and Victoria areas had abated somewhat by Saturday morning when light to moderate showers were reported moving southeastward along a line from Dalhart past Lubbock, Childress and Snyder.

Police May Record Quizzing Of Suspects

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Police Department is experimenting with a videotape camera and sound system that could be used when detectives are questioning suspects.

Lt. T. S. Walls, head of the police security and intelligence division, said the right type of camera has been found but a more suitable sound system must be adapted.

The system could be used for many purposes, including the taking of statements, intoxication tests and routine questioning.

Poll Sees McCarthy Over Rocky

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Voters favor Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy over New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the latest presidential survey, according to the Gallup Poll.

The poll said Friday that while McCarthy held a slight edge over the major Republican presidential hopefuls, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey also leads Nixon but is tied with Rockefeller.

Humphrey and McCarthy, both Democrats, were not pitted against each other in the nationwide survey of 1,220 registered voters completed early this month.

In the interviews, McCarthy and Humphrey were each tested against Republicans Nixon and Rockefeller and third-party candidate George C. Wallace, former Alabama governor.

In the McCarthy-Nixon-Wallace race, McCarthy was favored by 39 per cent of the voters, three per cent more than Nixon collected. Wallace received 18 per cent and the remainder were undecided.

In a McCarthy-Rockefeller-Wallace test, McCarthy collected 37 per cent; Rockefeller 35; Wallace 20, and 8 per cent were undecided.

In the Humphrey race, the vice president was favored by 40 per cent of the voters, five per cent more than Nixon, but was tied with Rockefeller. Humphrey led Wallace by some 30 percentage points.

Harriman said, "that at some time after they get through the propaganda—and they definitely want to get through that—that they will be willing to talk hard sense."

Nevertheless, he said he found no signs so far that North Vietnam was willing to show any "restraint"—either openly or secretly—of the kind called for by President Johnson to enable him to halt the rest of the bombing of the North. On the contrary, he said, the North Vietnamese stepped up military activity after March 31 when Johnson limited attacks on the North to its southern panhandle.

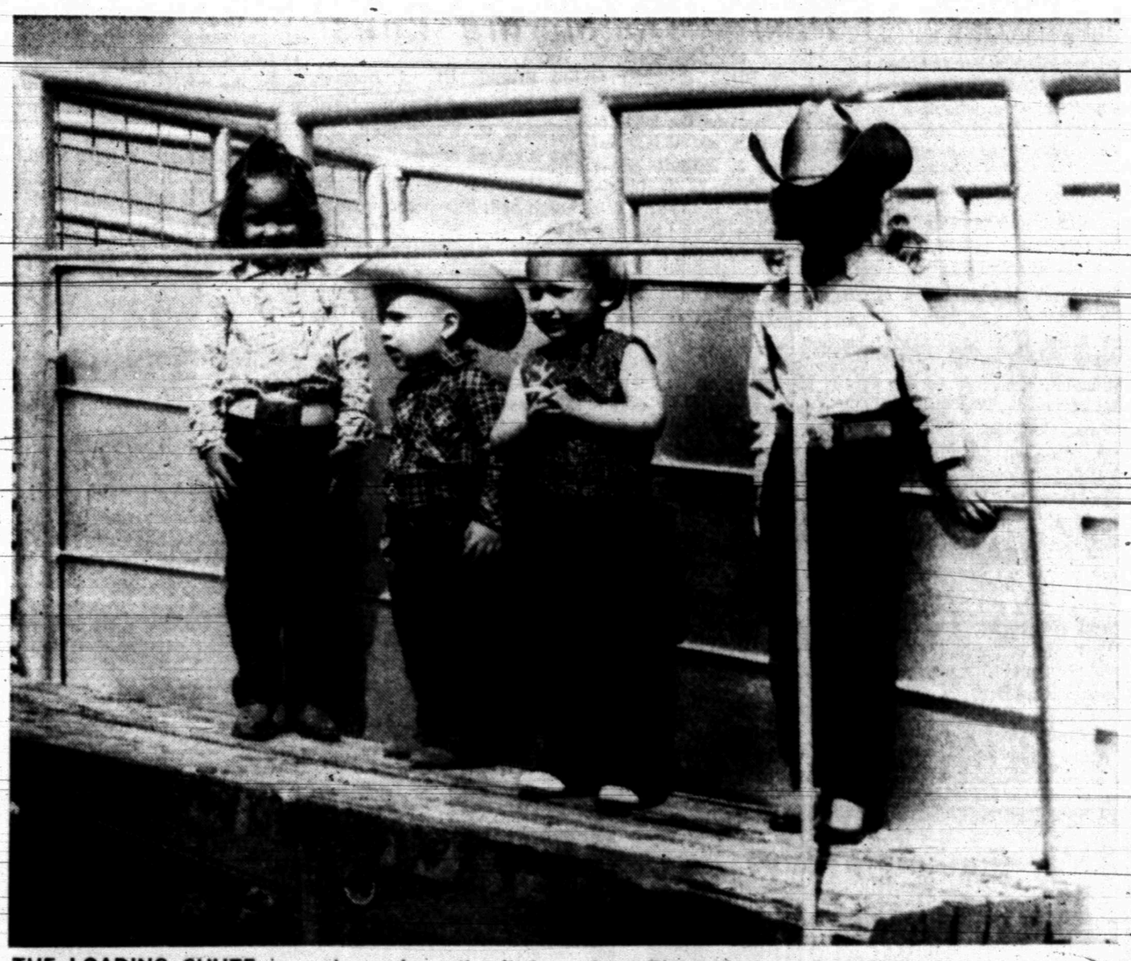
It will include such events as junior goat sacking race, saddle bronc riding, calf roping, stockholders' roping, steer riding, yearling tie down, bareback riding, wild mare race and barrel race. A special event this year will be a bronc riding contest with South Dakota vs. Texas.

Officers of the association include Ralph Miller, president; Bill Zimmerman, vice president; and Joe V. Robinson, secretary-treasurer. Directors include Lowell Thornburg, Sonny Harrell, Sidney Johnson and J. N. Eicke.



THE LOADING CHUTE is a place where the little cowboys and cowgirls can get a first hand look at the calves. Pictured above from left are Becky Harrell, Thad Springer, Tammy Miller and Becky Miller.

MURRAY BOWDEN, Kenny Hart, Joe Rue Beaver and Billy Bowden were practicing for the rodeo when this picture was taken. Joe Rue, Kenny and Murray will enter the stockholders roping, while Billy will try his skill in the regular calf roping contest.

Veal With Tuna Sauce

Cooked veal (see below)
1 cup fat-free veal stock (see below)
1 can (7 ounces) tuna in olive oil
1 cup commercial mayonnaise
Juice of ½ lemon (about 1½ tablespoons)
1 can (2 ounces) flat anchovy fillets, drained
¼ cup drained capers

Remove strings from veal and any top surface white membrane; slice thin. Into an electric blender turn veal stock, tuna (including oil), mayonnaise, lemon juice and half the anchovy fillets; puree. Stir in 2 tablespoons of the capers. Spoon a little of the sauce into a serving dish — an 8 by 8 by 2 inch glass baking dish is fine. Add the veal, spooning the remaining sauce over the slices as you add them. Cover and refrigerate several hours or overnight. At serving time, cut the remaining anchovy fillets in half as a garnish; sprinkle with remaining capers. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Cooked Veal and Stock: Into a saucepot place a boned tied neck of veal (about 2¼ pounds), 2 cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 peeled carrot, 1 medium onion stuck with 2 cloves, tops of 2 celery ribs, several sprigs of parsley and 2 bay leaves. Bring to a boil; cover and simmer until veal is tender when a fork inserted in center can be easily twisted — about 2 hours. Strain stock; chill stock and veal separately. Remove congealed fat from stock; use the amount called for in above recipe and refrigerate remaining stock for another use.

Grissom Wrote For Everyone

GEMINI! By Virgil I. "Gus" Grissom.

Grissom completed the first draft manuscript of this book just a few weeks before he and two fellow astronauts were killed in a Jan. 27, 1967, launch pad fire during a test at Cape Kennedy. The publishers, with the assistance of Grissom's widow, Betty, completed the job.

Grissom and the two men who died with him were dedicated to advancing man's exploration of space. All wanted to go to the moon. In death, they probably moved America closer to that goal. For the tragedy pointed up the glaring engineering and management errors in the Apollo program, errors that might later have killed many others.

Long after the first astronauts land on the moon, Grissom's book will stand as a reminder of the early days in manned space flight.

He recalls the pioneering Mercury program, including his own near-disastrous flight, when he had to swim for his life after his Liberty Bell 7 capsule sank in the ocean.

The main emphasis is on the Gemini program and its brilliant achievements. With vivid descriptions, Grissom reports in detail how he and John W. Young rode the first Gemini into orbit. The first man to fly twice into space, Grissom highlights the remaining nine Gemini flights in which the astronauts perfected all the necessary techniques for going to the moon — rendezvous, docking, maneuvering and walking in space.

He concludes with his hopes for the Apollo program and for his own assignment as command pilot of the first three-man Apollo ship.

He has told the story simply, eliminating the tedious technical details, so that everyone can understand easily the what, why and how of space flight.

Parmesan Fish Fillets

fish) fillets, about 1½ pounds
1-3 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1-3 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese
½ teaspoon paprika
1 large egg
2 tablespoons milk
¼ cup butter

Wipe fillets with a damp cloth; cut each in half lengthwise and crosswise. On a large sheet of wax paper stir together the crumbs, Parmesan and paprika. Dip all fillets in crumbs to coat on both sides and set aside on another sheet of wax paper. In a shallow container, beat egg and milk until yolks and whites are combined. Now, one fillet at a time, dip in egg and then in remaining crumbs. (If there isn't enough egg wash at end of dipping, add a little milk.) In a 10-inch skillet heat 2 tablespoons of the butter until sizzling; add half the fish fillets; over moderately low heat brown on both sides — about 5 minutes. Place in a single layer on a platter warm oven. Repeat cooking with remaining fillets and butter. Makes 4 servings. (No salt is called for because the Parmesan supplies it.)

'DEAR JOHN' LETTER ?

GOAL OF BLACK POWER GROUP

New Africa In Deep South?

By J. B. THOMSON

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — Robert Franklin Williams says he and his followers intend to found a black nation in the American Deep South—peacefully if possible, but "I think we will have to fight for it."

Williams is a 43-year-old fugitive from a North Carolina kidnaping charge who was elected "president of the Black Republic of New Africa" at a Detroit gathering of 50 Black Power delegates last March.

The Detroit gathering decided that, regardless of the reaction from Washington and the indigenous citizenry, New Africa would be carved out of Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina.

Williams has spent most of the last seven years in Havana and Peking. Just now he is biding his time at a small bed-and-breakfast hotel in this humid capital of Tanzania, Red China's friendliest ally in Africa.

Calm and relaxed, he said in an interview that he expects a war in the United States on the ground that white Americans do not intend to integrate and the Negroes no longer want to be part of "a corrupt American society."

The states chosen for incorporation in the projected Negro republic were singled out, he said, because they benefited most from slavery and now have the heaviest concentration of Negroes.

The aim for this independent, sovereign entity, he said, is to attract Negroes from all over the United States—scholars, laborers, city dwellers and farm workers—to live under a government operating a one-party system with collective ownership of industry.

A bewhiskered, slightly paunchy six-footer, Williams expressed belief that this is the time for Negro militancy.

"There isn't going to be any integration," he said. "White Americans don't want it and don't intend to give it and the civil rights issue is long dead.

"If nonviolence for civil rights was ever going to achieve anything we would have integration today, because we have had an awful lot of nonviolence.

"The only thing left for us is to have our own state, where we can live in dignity.

"And we intend to have it—perhaps peacefully, if the U.S. government—and the white Americans are sensible, and with bloodshed if they are not.

"It would be a different kind of war, an urban guerrilla struggle. And we can win it because America cannot defeat 22 million people within the one country and not destroy itself in the process.

"We can wreck America through her industry . . . We are on the inside. We can do it. The U.S. government had better know this."

Williams said more and more Negroes today are thinking along his lines, that nothing will be won through peaceful means.

"Only violence or the threat of violence has achieved anything for Negroes," he said. "We plan violence if the U.S. government does not give us our country. If the government is sensible it will see the justice of our cause. It could save America from devastation."

Williams carries a Chinese travel pass. He has written a book and various pamphlets. The book, "Negroes with Guns," tells much of his story.

He contends the indictment for kidnaping, growing out of abduction of a white couple after a racial flareup in 1961 in Monroe, N.C., was based on a trumped-up charge. He fled to Communist Cuba, where he staged "Free Dixie" broadcasts to U.S. Negroes via Radio Havana. He shifted in 1966 to Peking, where he put out a newsletter, "The Crusaders," which was barred last year from the U.S. mails.

Williams says he is awaiting a call from his "inside" helpers to return to the United States, legally or otherwise.

The ranking helper, he said is his "first vice president," Milton Henry, 47, a Pontiac, Mich., attorney.

Junior Editors Quiz on OPERA

QUESTION: Why are operas always sung in Italian?

* * * * *

ANSWER: Americans enjoy opera because it gives them so many forms of entertainment. Opera is the plural of the Latin word opus, meaning work. So, opera actually gives us the works—drama, beautiful singing, stage spectacles, orchestral music—all in one. Italians gave us opera as an expression of their natural temperament, so gay and lively, so colorful and romantic. Italians love to sing—what more natural than to sing a romantic story? Opera history began in Italy about 1600 with the performance of Peri's Euridici and was carried on by such world famous composers as Rossini, Verdi and Puccini, with a remarkable outpouring of operatic masterpieces, such as Aida, La Boheme, Lucia di Lammermoor and many more. It is not true that all operas are sung in Italian. Many are in German or French, and some in other languages. But because so many of the most popular composers were Italians, and also because the Italian language brings out the beauty of the singing more than any other, we hear more opera in Italian than in other languages. Thus, we have come to associate opera and the Italian language with each other.

Russians Facing A Caviar Gap?

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia is facing a caviar gap due to a shortage of sturgeon, which produces the black or red eggs so prized by gourmets.

Once this fish was a seemingly endless resource here, coursing the broad Volga River to spawn upstream, then return to the Caspian Sea.

Then men built power dams across the Volga and other sturgeon-filled rivers, cutting off upstream spawning areas.

To make matters worse, factories began dumping wastes into the rivers. And fishermen caught too many young sturgeon depleting stocks.

The result: A sharp drop in sturgeon, which means caviar may disappear from many dinner tables. A valuable export trade is threatened too.

The problem is considered so serious that patriotic calls are being sounded to stave off disaster.

"The sturgeon must regain its former glory in our country," says V. S. Malyutin, an official of the government's Fishing Ministry. "And we, the workers of the fishing industry, are duty-bound to help it do it."

An attempt to replenish sturgeon stocks through hatcheries is lagging behind needs. Hatcheries on the Volga and Kura rivers produce about 50 million young fish a year, Malyutin says, but 70 million more are needed.

Writing in the Soviet journal Priroda (Nature), he proposes a massive transfer of nonmigratory sturgeon from the long rivers of Siberia to reservoirs made by dams on the Volga, Dnieper and other big rivers of European Russia.

Siberian types of sturgeon, he says, do not swim upstream to spawn but stay in one place, so river dams do not bother them.

One step in the fight to save sturgeon stocks is the construction of a hatchery on the central Asian river of Amu Darya, which flows into the Aral Sea, east of the Caspian Sea. The hatchery is expected to produce 2.5 million young sturgeon this fall.

District Judge Urges Pistols Be Banned

FORT WORTH (AP) — 'It's time to stop playing cowboys," says Dist. Judge Charles Lindsey, urging that pistols, except in the hands of police, be outlawed.

"You can get more protection in your home with a double-barrel shotgun than you can with a pistol."

Lindsey's comments came recently after a jury convicted a Fort Worth woman of murder without malice. He did not question the verdict.

But, he said, "I would estimate that 75 per cent of all the murders in Texas were brought about because somebody was carrying a pistol or had one handy."

Gibson Wins Ninth Straight

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

If you don't think baseball is a game of inches, just talk to Bob Gibson.

A few silly little inches are the only things standing in the way of the St. Louis Cardinals' blazing fastballer from being the greatest shutout artist in history.

Eleven days ago, one of Bob's hopping fastballs was a bit off target and Los Angeles scored on the wild pitch to halt a Gibson scoreless string at 47 innings.

Unperturbed, Bullet Bob started another streak and had built it to 23 innings Friday night when Houston's Denis Menke lined a run-scoring double in the seventh.

Menke's shot—scoring only the second run in 71 innings off Gibson—was fair by only a few inches.

Although he was unsuccessful in his bid for a seventh shutout this season, Gibson stopped the Astros on three hits and his mates backed him with a 15-hit attack in the 8-1 rout. Gibson, 12-5, didn't permit a baserunner until Bob Aspromonte's leadoff double in the sixth.

It was the ninth straight triumph for Gibson, who has not been beaten since May 28, and it was the ninth victory in 10 games for the rampaging Cardinals, who maintained their 9½ game lead.

In other National League activity, Atlanta ripped Los Angeles 7-0, San Francisco trounced Cincinnati 1-4, Philadelphia turned back Pittsburgh 3-2 and New York blanked Chicago 4-0.

Detroit whipped Minnesota 5-1, Baltimore trimmed Washington 3-2, New York topped Chicago 2-1, Boston defeated California 3-2 and Cleveland whipped Oakland 6-3 in the American League.

The Dodgers' Don Drysdale, who holds the record of six straight shutouts and 57 scoreless innings that Gibson had been seeking, was battered by Atlanta for three runs in the sixth, then chased with four more in the next inning.

Rookie Jim Britton, 4-2, who got into the starting rotation when Milt Papas came down with the flu, checked the Dodgers on five hits.

Jim Hart accounted for five of San Francisco's runs with a pair of homers after Cincinnati had taken an early 2-0 lead. Willie Mays also contributed a two-run homer, the 557th of his career, and Willie McCovey had a solo blast.

Rookie Jeff James and John Boozer teamed on a six-hitter that handed the Pirates their seventh straight loss.

James held Pittsburgh to three singles before Gene Alley walked and Roberto Clemente doubled in the ninth. Boozer got Matty Alou on a foul pop, but Donn Clendenon singled in two runs before pinch hitter Gary Kolb flied out to end the game.

Cookie Rojas doubled in a run in the first and Roberto Pena singled in two more in the third to give Philadelphia all it needed to defeat former teammate Jim Bunning, 4-11, for the first time.

Jerry Grote, who has a .477 average against Chicago Cub pitchers this season, hit a two-run homer and singled in another run to lead the New York Mets' victory.

Jerry Koosman, 12-4, was the winner with a six-hitter.

American Stars Clip Nationals

The American Farm League All-Stars used a hustling defense and smooth base running to topple the National All-Stars 14-6 in their playoff clash in Towle Park Friday night.

Bobby Riggins and Charles Stansell scattered eight hits for the American League. Although their teammates provided only four hits, the American boys took advantage of several early mistakes by the Nationals to go ahead 3-2 in the 1st frame and never lost the momentum.

The Americans added two tallies in the 2nd to match two more runs by the Nationals. Then they picked up another one in the 3rd, tallied seven times in the 5th and once more in the 6th to wrap it up. The Americans scored their final two runs in the 6th.

Greg Patterson knocked a booming home run over the centerfield fence for the National All-Stars in the 4th, but he missed third base and was called out. As things happened, that extra run wouldn't have made any difference, although it appeared crucial at the time it happened.

Singles by Walter Caddell, Rod Head and Robert Dye accounted for the first two runs for the Nationals. The Americans scored their first three on four walks and some miscues.

A double by Richard Cornett, single by Greg Patterson and a fielder's choice accounted for the 2nd inning tallies by the Nationals while the Americans got their runs on a single by Robert Harbin and a walk.

The Americans added one in the 3rd on four Annie Oakleys, then erupted for seven in the 5th on four walks, a hit batsman, an error and singles by Doug Phipps, Anthony Lewis and Henry Hernandez. The last frame National tallies resulted from a single by Ronnie Payne.

Two walks and an error gave the Americans their final tally in the 6th.

Walter Caddell and Rod Head led the Nationals with 2 for 3 each. One of Head's hits was a 2-bagger. Singles went to Robert Dye, Ronny Payne, Richard Cornett, and Greg Patterson.

Scott Clark, Brad Francis and Ronnie Payne took turns on the hill for the Nationals, giving up only four hits between them.

Clippers Nudge Reds In 8th 3-2

The Snyder Clippers socked the Colorado City Reds 3-2 in an extra-inning struggle while the Junior Teenage League Dodgers shelled the Buffs 12-7 in a doubleheader in Towle Park Friday night.

That Senior Teenage League skirmish was something else. Jim Patrick twirled a 4-hitter for the Clippers while Parker tossed a 3-hitter for the Reds. Patrick won the verdict, striking out 18. Parker fanned 14. Each pitcher only allowed three walks.

The issue wasn't decided until the 8th frame when Randy Levens walked, stole second and scored on Wesley Bishop's line single.

Bishop paced the Clipper attack with two hits. His other safety was a double, which drove in Levens in the 1st frame. He scored himself in that inning after an interference call and a fielder's choice. Levens had gotten on base with a single.

Colorado City got its two tallied in the 4th. Hill doubled and Goff walked to put runners on first and second. Molina doubled to right, bringing in the two runs.

Key also cracked a two-bagger for the hapless Reds while Bracey and Hill poked singles. Bracy's hit occurred in the 8th and he made it to third. But Patrick bore down fanning the last two men after a fly to centerfield to put down the threat.

The Buff - Dodger skirmish was a real slam-bang affair. Both teams started out like gangbusters with the Dodgers tallying 11 times in the first frame and the Buffs crossing home plate six times in the 2nd.

The Dodgers benefitted from four walks, an error and a hit batsman combined with singles by Glen Rambin, Steve Northcott and Larry Braziel, a double by Butch Buchanan and a triple by Northcott to get their first inning runs. Rambin had two singles in that frame.

The other Buff tally in the 5th and the other Dodger run in the 3rd both resulted from fielding and pitching miscues.

Jerry Hardin had two doubles and Bobby Thompson had one 2-bagger for the Buffs. Singles by Sims and David Thompson accounted for the other Buff hits. Steve Northcutt's triple and Butch Buchanan's double were the big hits for the Dodgers, although Rambin had two singles and Braziel had one.

Rambin and Tim Holder handled the pitching for the Dodgers while Stewart Sims, David Thompson, and William Patterson took their lumps for the Buffs.

LUBBOCK (AP) — The extensive law library of the late Judge Paul Moss of Odessa has been donated to the Texas Tech School of Law. It consisted of 137 cartons.

Moss was the first city attorney of Odessa and became judge of the 70th District Court. The donation was from the widow and the judge's daughter and son.

Sun Kings Shade East

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

El Paso's Sun Kings hold a 3½-game lead in the Texas League's western division and now have set out to conquer the eastern division.

The Sun Kings took on eastern leader Arkansas Friday night and won 5-4, although they had to put down a Traveler uprising in the ninth inning.

Amarillo downed Dallas-Fort Worth 9-5, Memphis defeated Albuquerque 3-1 and Shreveport beat San Antonio 5-4 in 11 innings.

Vern Geishert notched the victory for El Paso but required help in the ninth inning when Arkansas threatened to blow the game wide open.

Geishert gave up successive singles in the ninth and was relieved by Bill Boehlert. Boehlert issued a walk and single before he gave way to Wally Wolf, who finally put out the fire—but not before the Travelers had scored thee runs.

Dallas-Fort Worth tagged Amarillo's Les Scott for three runs in the first inning, but the Giants' hurler hung on to defeat the Spurs.

With Scott handling the pitching, Amarillo batters dished out 12 hits, led by Jose Morales and Allan Gallagher who batted in three runs apiece.

After six and one-half scoreless innings, San Antonio exploded for four runs in the bottom of the seventh. Shreveport matched the outburst in the top of the eighth to force the 11-inning match.

The winning run came when catcher Walt Hriniak raced home on a throwing error by San Antonio catcher John Hairston.

Blues hurler Rich Folkers scattered 11 hits and lasted the distance to provide the punch for Memphis' victory over Albuquerque.

Lopez Replaces Eddie Stanky

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Eddie Stanky resigned as manager of the Chicago White Sox Friday and was replaced by Al Lopez, the man whom Stanky succeeded more than two years ago.

The White Sox did not hold a press conference. A club spokesman called various news media and announced that Stanky had resigned. Stanky went along with organizational lines and said he had resigned but was surprised by the announcement.

While Stanky might have been surprised by the announcement of his resignation, probating efforts revealed that the move to replace Stanky had been in the works for nearly a month and consummated by the Sox in All-Star break meetings held at Indianapolis.

Coach Les Moss filled in as manager of the Sox until Lopez' arrival scheduled for Sunday in the opening of a doubleheader with Washington.

Stanky's more than two years as manager of the White Sox were marked by his various battles with sports writers.

Stanky, 50, has had problems getting his White Sox to hit. He guided them to fourth place in his first season in 1966 and last year the Sox were on top of the league most of the season until their last week collapse.

The hangover apparently plagued the Sox who opened the 1968 season by losing their first 10 games, a drop off from which they never recovered and were mired in ninth place, 18½ games behind the league leading Dtroit Tigers.

So Stanky's second fling as a major league manager ended in failure. His first venture was with the St. Louis Cardinals and he was relieved of his duties in 1955 during his fourth season with St. Louis.

Stanky replaced Lopez as Sox manager at the start of the 1966 season and as a result he had only two fourth-place finishes to show for his efforts.

The 60-year-old Lopez, who has a reputation of second-place finishes, will take over for the rest of this season and the entire 1969 campaign, according to team owner Arthur Allyn.

Mildren Named To All-Star Game

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Former Abilene Cooper quarterback Jack Mildren has been named to the Texas team for the annual Texas-Oklahoma Oil Bowl football game Aug. 16.

He and Steve Lueddehusen of Fort Worth Eastern Hills were the first players selected by coaches Floyd Gass of Austin College and Hobart Lital of Tarleton State.

Mildren, who will attend the University of Oklahoma this fall, paced Cooper to the state Class AAAA finals. Lueddehusen was selected Wednesday for his abilities as a linebacker.

Screwworms Are Big Threat Again

"A rather serious condition exists with the Screwworm Program."

This is the word that Billy Roach, County Agent, has received from Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation. The sterile fly program, which has been so successful in eliminating losses from screwworms, is run by the Foundation.

Due to the mild, wet weather, movement of cattle north in Mexico, inability of producers to regularly check livestock, changes in livestock practices, and increased wildlife populations are reasons for the increase in screwworms. The situation was worse as of July 1, 1968, than it was in 1963 the early days of the program.

The Foundation urges the following action for individual livestock producers:

(1) County Screwworm Committees be alert for local emergencies.

(2) Treat all wounds on animals particularly in shearing, marking, and dehorning with material recommended for screwworms on label.

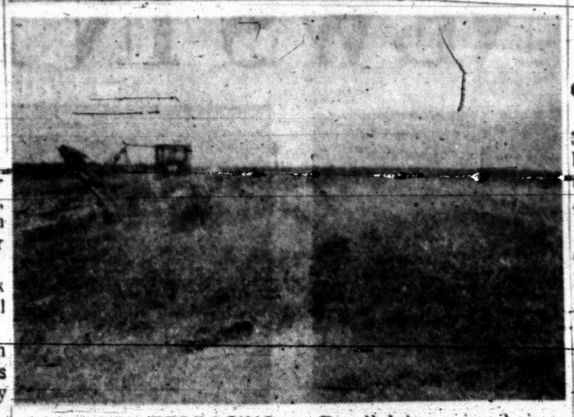
(3) On routine livestock spraying programs, use Cor-al or Korlan.

(4) In case of screwworm outbreaks, urge all producers to take advantage of state spray program.

(5) Inspect and, if possible, spray all animals prior to movement. Remove wounded animals from shipment.

(6) Inspect animals regularly, if possible, and mail representative sample of all worms in wounds to Box 969, Mission, Texas 78572.

Mailing vials are available from the County Agricultural Agent. The Agent said that mailing vials and cartons have been placed with several of the community stores in the county.



PARALLEL TERRACING — Parallel terracing being constructed on Sam Chorn farm southeast of Snyder. Terraces are being constructed from the back side. This will leave a level channel area of undisturbed soil.

Terracing Is Underway

Parallel terraces were staked for Sam Chorn on his farm between Snyder and Hermleigh. Seaborn Eicke and Wade Davis are constructing parallel terraces on their farms. Alfred Browning completed standard terraces on a farm he operates.

Pat Jones and R. S. Davenport have aerial sprayed mesquite.

Arlan Youngblood has an excellent stand of grass on land that he root plowed, roller chopped and seeded to grass. Arlan also completed 10,000 feet of cross fencing. Youngblood sprayed about 200 acres of grass for weed control that he roof plowed and seeded in 1967. The spraying has done an excellent job of controlling the weeds and the sprayed pasture looks like a hay meadow.

CAREER CORNER

By F. J. LAIN

CAREERS FOR FOREIGN LANGUAGE LOVERS.

The Joplin (Mo.) Globe and Miss Lain award a new Mercury portable, courtesy of the Royal Typewriter Company, to Bonnie Jean Morris, Galena, Ka., for her suggestion:

"Please discuss FOREIGN LANGUAGES as a career."

A. — I can't give a concise answer. Why? Because a career involving foreign languages could be almost anything:

A bilingual steno in an international advertising agency. . . a librarian who catalogues technical publications. . .a missionary in Africa. . .an engineer building power plants in Peru . . .a Voice of America radio announcer. . .a senior exec of a giant corporation with a worldwide network of offices. . .a lightning-fast United Nations interpreter. . .a translator for a commercial translation bureau . . .a professional language teacher. . .a journalist in a foreign office of an English-language newspaper or magazine . . .a foreign service officer for our government. . .a salesman in an import-export business. These examples merely skim the surface of the tremendous variety of opportunities with languages.

LANGUAGE KNOWLEDGE ALONE WON'T GET THE JOB in most cases, except when linguistic ability is primary, such as teaching and interpreting. In other words, even if you speak another language like a native's native, you won't be hired for an engineer's bridge-building job if you're not an engineer. However, knowledge of a language can be the extra asset that closes the deal.

THE DETAILED PICTURE. So many have asked about foreign language careers that one good way I can be of service is to provide resources. Start with an idea-filled book called "Foreign Language Careers," by Dr. Theodore Huebener, Universal Publishing and Distributing Corp., 800 Second Ave., New York, N. Y. This comprehensive book has dozens of leads, and may be found in libraries, or ordered from above for $1.65. 'Export Trade," is a weekly trade magazine which includes job opportunities (check library).

SCHOOLS. Among the best known are the American Institute for Foreign Trade, Box 191, Phoenix, Ariz.; and the Institute of Languages and Linguistics, School of Foreign Service, Georgetown University, Washington, D. C. Other university-level schools may be found in the "College Blue Book." Write for bulletins.

A technical school training high school graduates for business is the Latin American Institute, 292 Madison Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017 (Spanish, Portuguese, French). For others, see "Lovejoy's Career and Vocational School Guide."

OVERSEAS TEACHING. Teachers who want to work abroad may write for a resource list from the Institute of International Education, 809 United Nations Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10017.

CANDID TYLER BEAUTY

Miss Texas Ending Reign

Editor's Note: 'As Miss Texas, you don't discuss sex, religion, politics, color, creed..." So says Molly Grubb, Miss Texas, a candid Tyler beauty who concludes a year this week as the state's first lady of beauty. It's been fun, but...

By MIKE COCHRAN

FORT WORTH (AP) — She cracked a champagne bottle across an airplane hull, slashed her hand on the broken glass and soaked a startled mayor.

She talked with a President in Fort Worth, christened a barge in Beaumont, stumped with television stars in Amarillo and helped open HemisFair in San Antonio.

She talked, smiled, looked beautiful and lived out of a suitcase.

She contributed a hank of hair to a time capsule, attended a Rio Grande Valley citrus festival and sighed autographs everywhere.

In between, she attended classes at Texas Christian University, aspired to a modeling career and hoped to do television commercials.

She is Molly Marcia Grubb, Miss Texas, a brown-haired, green-eyed effervescent beauty of 21, a Tyler girl with freckles who at 5-5 stacks up at 35-25-35.

And next Saturday night in Will Rogers Auditorium before a regional television audience she relinquishes the state crown to one of some 60 Texas beauties who hope to succeed her.

"It really was fun," she said with a smile. 'I have had a wonderful year.

She made it clear, however, that she's glad that wonderful year has about closed.

'It was a little bit hard for me because I was trying to go to school," she said. 'There was nothing outstandingly bad. You just live out of a suitcase.

'I got to where I never did unpack. And carrying those long dresses all over the world, well . . ."

An art major, she even missed what amounted to her final exam.

"The day of my art juries—like a final—I had to fly to Beaumont...A friend turned it in Nevertheless, she completed nine hours her first semester, 11 the second, making 'pretty good grades."

"I figure I've traveled 50,000 or 60,000 miles since September," she said. This included a trip to Georgia for the Georgia Tech-TCU football game.

Her hometown sweetheart, Eric Wilcox of Tyler, is a starting linebacker for Tech. As a TCU coed and Miss Texas, she was introduced at the game.

'I never felt so helpless in my life," she laughed. It was a bad deal."

Molly missed one of the highlights of the Miss Texas year when a throat infection prevented her from appearing in the Cotton Bowl Parade New Year's Day in Dallas.

Looking back now, Molly said she would do it all again, if necessary.

'I would. I really would. Because of the educational value involved. The insight you gain into other people. You more or less live in a glass house but you adjust to it.

"You have to be conscious of what's going on around you.

"But you see what is real and what is not.

"Some girls go through life and it's a fairyland. It really is. I think being a girl is hard in itself. The ultimate in a girl's life is to get married and live in a little white house and live happily ever.

"But actually, it involves more than that. I think the most important thing is to find your sole purpose in life and live accordingly.

"That's what it's all about..."

Middle East Oil Breaks Record

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP)—The petroleum industry had a record-breaking year in the Middle East in 1967 despite the Arab-Israeli war.

Despite the temporary mid-year shutdown, Middle East crude production climbed to a record 9,965,000 barrels a day. This was an increase of 660,000 above the 1966 level. With the exception of Iran, every country in the area participate in the gain.

The closing of the Suez Canal caused disruptions of tanker routes, particularly to Western Europe and the Western Hemisphere; but the Middle East exported a record 9,145,000 barrels of oil a day. Record level exports were made to every major consuming area except the United States, Canada, and South America.

The latest report on Middle East trends was included in the 1967 edition of "a statistical review of the world oil industry," a booklet published annually by the British Petroleum Co. Ltd.

The brief war also caused a shutdown and disruptions in North Africa but the area joined the Middle East in boosting both production and exports to all-time highs.

North Africa's crude production averaged 2,705,000 barrels a day, 355,000 above the 1966 average. Exports averaged 2,460,000 barrels daily and the 205,000 increase involved major declines only to the United States and Canada.

Western Europe was the primary area of concern during the early stages of the Middle East production disruptions and the Suez shutdown but no major shortages developed. Oil imports into Western Europe averaged 9,115,000 barrels a day for 1967, compared to 8,510,000 in 1966.

The increase in the oil imports received by Western European nations amounted to 605,000 barrels a day and was shared by every major exporting area except West Africa.

The British petroleum report indicates Russia boosted her oil exports to Western Europe by 100,000 barrels a day while shipments from the United States increased only 40,000.

Russia's shipments were estimated at 785,000 barrels a day, compared to 685,000 in 1966. The daily average for the United States climbed from 70,000 to 110,000 barrels.

Middle jeast shipments into Western Europe meanwhile were jumping from 4,375,000 to 4,605,000 barrels a day and North Africa was increasing its shipments from 2,145,000 to 2,310,000.

Both the United States and Russia had record crude production years.

United States output climbed 525,000 barrels to a daily average of 8,810,000. Imports from the Middle East meanwhile declined from 320,000 to 200,000 barrels and receipts of North African oil dropped from 75,000 to 45,000 a day.

Russia boosted her crude production from 5,335,000 (m) to 5,795,000 barrels a day. While increasing her exports to Western Hemisphere areas, Africa, South Asia, Japan, and other Eastern Hemisphere countries declined. For the year, Russian exports averaged 1,090,000 barrels a day, an increase of only 40,000.

Iran led the Middle East's climb to record crude production, boosting her output from 2,110,000, to 2,595,000. The net gain of 485,000 barrels a day left Iran only 5,000 barrels behind Saudi Arabia's daily average of 2,600,000. Saudi Arabia's 1967 increase amounted to 205,000 barrels a day.

Kuwait had only a minor increase from 2,275,000 to 2,290,000 barrels daily.

Iraq saw her production slip from 1,390,000 to 1,230,000 barrels a day.

Big Burden For US Recon Craft

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Curtailed U.S. bombing in North Vietnam has put a far higher burden on U.S. "Peeping Tom" aircraft to bring as much grief as possible to enemy troop and supply columns once they get on the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

The start of the convoys from Hanoi and Haiphong to 135 miles south where the bombing begins may be attack-free but it is not unobserved.

Reliable sources say American aircraft are ranging far north of the 20th parallel.

The sophisticated peeping toms are said to be the SR71 and the drone missiles launched from specially rigged C130 transports with radar guidance systems.

The idea is that the reconnaissance craft are to spot convoys and troop movements as they start in the north, follow them south and then give the bombers a good target fix once the columns break into the zone where President Johnson's orders permit bombing.

The tactic is less effective than hammering away at the columns, as one Air Force general once said, "from the outskirts of Hanoi and Haiphong every mile of the way south."

But an indication of its worth comes from the enemy side. Hanoi, in laying down its demands at the preliminary peace talks, has made clear that it wants reconnaissance flights as well as bombing stopped.

The SR71 is full of camera and electronic gear.

The strike-reconnaissance SR71 model flies up to 2,000 miles an hour at 80,000 feet and can survey up to 60,000 square miles of terrain in a single hour. The SR71 is not stationed in Vietnam but flies from bases elsewhere in Southeast Asia.

The speed, altitude and anti-missile electronic gear of the SR71 make it highly impervious to North Vietnamese ground defenses.

The reconnaissance drone missile has been in use for years by the U.S. Air Force for missions that included flights over mainland China and North Vietnam. A number have been shot down. They carry no pilots.

Several million feet of film are exposed by the Air Force every month. A good part of this is done at night by low-flying jets dropping photoflash cartridges for light. Each cartridge puts out a peak light of 365 million candlepower for one 35,000th of a second. A small camera flash bulb, by comparison, puts out about 4,000 candlepower.

The North Vietnamese do their best to confuse recon men and bombers, trying to throw them off the scent with elaborate subterfuges and camouflage.

A senior Air Force reconnaissance expert said: "I've been looking at aerial photos for 26 years and the way they hide those SAMs and 100 millimeters is as good as anything I've ever seen." The SAMs are missiles and the 100mm are artillery.

Bill Stiffens Penalties In Narcotics

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a two-edged attack on drug addiction the House has passed bills that would provide more facilities for treatment an stiffen penalties for illegal trafficking in narcotics.

The two bills were sent to the Senate Friday by overwhelming votes.

Possession for personal use without a prescription of LSD and other hallucinogens, plus depressant and stimulant drugs for the first time would be a misdemeanor under one bill.

But the same measure also takes into consideration the plight of the youthful, first time offender.

Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., told the House that testimony has showed three to five per cent of the nation's high school and college age students have experimented with the mind-bending drug LSD.

Penalties under the bill range from a $1,000 fine and one-year prison term or both for first offenders to three years and $10,000 for subsequent violations.

Courts, however, would be free under a section of the bill to suspend sentences of those convicted for the first time.

The bill also makes it a felony and provides penalties of five years in prison and $10,000 fine for illegal manufacture, sale or distribution to others.

A first offense is now a misdemeanor with subsequent offenses carrying penalties of three years in prison and $10,000 fine.

The bill was passed by a 319-2 vote.

The other measure, cleared by 325-1, would provide $211 million over two years for various health programs, including alcholism and drug addiction.

Included within the bill is a congressional finding that chronic alcoholism can better be treated as "a major health and social problem rather than within the system of criminal justice.

Annual Camp At Lake Set By Boys Club

The Scurry County Boys Club will have its annual summer camp Aug. 5-9 at the club's camp on Lake J. B. Thomas.

The cost of the camp will be $5.50 per boy for the five days. "This will cover insurance and three big meals per day," said Robert L. Kissire, executive director of the Boys Club. "Mrs. Imogene Johnson will again be the camp cook.

A physician will be at the Boys Club at 1 p.m. July 26 to give boys their physical examinations in preparation for the camp.

The youngsters will leave the Boys Club at 8:30 a.m. on Monday, Aug. 5, by bus. Parents are requested to come to the camp on Friday night at 6 for supper and to bring their boys home. However, rides will be available if any parents cannot attend.

A big variety of activities will be conducted during the camp session. Kissire said the program will include swimming, fishing, arts and crafts, boating, archery, softball and other events.

All boys interested in going to camp are urged to sign up as soon as possible at the Boys Club.

A Dollar Buys A Tour Of House Of Ernest Hemingway

By SAUL PETT
AP Special Correspondent

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — "He had four wives," the wiry little guide said, in a nasal monotone which somehow managed an edge of indifference, a touch of mockery and a hint of sin.

"First, there was Hadley, and Hadley introduced him to Pauline and he left Hadley. Then he ran off with the blonde to Spain. Pauline was kind of narrow minded about that so she divorced him. Later, he'd come here with the fourth wife, Mary.

"There, you see a picture"—the guide pointed to a newspaper photograph—"of the woman who became the nurse in 'A Farewell to Arms.' You may've seen Helen Hayes or Jennifer Jones in that. And here is a picture—another newspaper photograph—of the woman who was the countess in 'Across the River and Into the Trees.'

"So you can see he did pretty well for himself with the women."

For one dollar you can get a tour of the house in which a man named Ernest Hemingway once lived.

At the height of the season one tour begins just as one ends. And on this particular day the dollar-lecture did not include a single suggestion that in "The Hemingway Home" there lived a man who lighted words like candles in a cathedral and became a giant in the literature of the world.

The facts are few, but the tour buzzes right along, up to the second floor studio where Hemingway worked in the little house near the pool. Here, the guide tells the folks that Hemingway wrote the round little Spanish table, sitting on a "cigar-maker's chair brought from Cuba," and that the room still looks as it was, except, "of course, when he was here it was so full of junk you had to fight your way in."

The tour ends back in the living room of the main house where the folks get all the time they need to buy souvenirs.

Among other things, they can get bricks from "Mr. Hemingway's yards for 50 cents plus tax," tiles from the garage for $2.00 plus tax, ash trays, nail clippers, paper-back books, wallets, spoons, T-shirts and, for 50 cents whisky shot-glasses, all with "The Hemingway Home" stamped on them.

But the house is the house where Ernest Hemingway lived in the thirties and visited occasionally thereafter, a graceful Spanish Colonial built in a square with a balcony all the way round, slender black iron columns and grille work and the soft umbrella of ancient banion trees. It is the house where Hemingway wrote portions of "For Whom the Bell Tolls," "To Have and Have Not," "The Green Hills of Africa," "The Snows of Kilimanjaro" and "The Macomber Affair."

He owned it until his death in 1961 after which it was sold by his estate.

Elsewhere in Key West, there are people who knew Ernest Hemingway and do not visit the house. They prefer their memories.

"Drinking or sober, he always walked quietly into a room and sat in a quiet place," said Toby Bruce. "He was a kind man and a gentle man. He could walk into a bar where no one knew him and before long there'd be eight guys around him talking about timber-cutting in Michigan or hunting in the Dakotas or fishing off the Keys. He talked, like he wrote, in great detail.

"He was a man of many moods, an actor living his work," said Betty Bruce. "One day very jovial and out-going, another terribly sad. I'll never forget one of our visits to his home in Cuba. He talked on and on in the most depressing way.

"As it turned out later, he was talking line for line large sections of the book he was then writing, 'Across the River and Into the Trees.' I know the critics panned the book but someday, I'm sure, it'll be recognized for what it was, a classic expression of the confusion and fright of a man losing his vitality as a man."

The Bruces knew Hemingway in his Key West days and the days that followed in Cuba and Idaho. Toby Bruce, a short, thin man of great reserve, now runs an appliance store. In other days, he drank and fished with Hemingway, looked after his boat, the "Pliar," his cars and the odd jobs that needed doing at the house.

"There were no drinking bouts when he was working," Toby Bruce recalls. "He took his work very seriously. He began early in the day and worked standing up.

"A bad day was when he wrote 320 words. A good day was 750. He wouldn't push it after several bad days. He'd just chop it off and go fishing."

Adv Sun jjuly 14
Key West Take 3 Instant Hemingway Adv Sun July 14: fishing.

One day Hemingway forgot to close the windows of his work room. The next morning Toby Bruce said he found manuscript pages scattered all around the room and on the lawn below. To this day, he remembers picking up one page perilously close to the swimming pool and becoming absorbed in the description of a woman with close cropped hair. That was Maria n "For Whom the Bell Tolls."

Hemingway, Bruce recalls, was proud of what he called his filing system. That consisted of clipping papers and correspondence to each other or a laundry slip and filing them on an unused bed of his work room. When the pile grew too formidable, Hemingway put a fresh sheet over the whole mound and started anew.

When he left Key West, Hemingway left many of his paper stored n the back room of a bar. Years later, after his death, Toby Bruce and others found in those cartons uncashed royalty checks for $180, $200 and lesser amounts, used street car transfers and ticket stubs for bul fights—"he never threw anything away"—as well as things that counted, like the letter believed to be from the woman who became the heroine of "A Farewell to Arms."

The Bruces recall, too, that a year or two before his death they travelled by car with Hemingway to Idaho.

They came to a small town in Nebraska, where they would spend the night. A young waitress, her head full of curlers, approached the writer, one of only six Americans to win a Nobel Prize for literature, who was then wearing his famous white beard.

"You're somebody, aren't you?" she asked. "The kids over there say you are."

"Who do they think I am?" Hemingway asked.

"Burl Ives."

"I'm not. But I know a man who knows him."

That seemed to satisfy the waitress . . . Until the next morning at breakfast.

'Mister, you're somebody. I know you're not Burl Ives. Who are you?"

"Have you ever read anything, in school or anywhere else, by a man named Ernest Hemingway?"

"No."

'Well, I'm Hemingway."

"I knew it! I saw you on the cover of Life."

THEY'RE AT IT AGAIN — Phyllis Diller and Bob Hope, comedy team of "Boy, Did I Get A Wrong Number," and "Eight On the Lam" are responsible for the laughs of the John Beck-NAHO Production, "The Private Navy of Sgt. O'Farrell," opening Thursday at the Ritz Theater here.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Daily News:

Although I am only 16 years old, and even if I do not have the right to vote, I am very much interested in the forthcoming presidential election. I have read about, and evaluated the qualifications of the candidates and what they stand for and I think that the former Alabama Governor, George C. Wallace, offers the best policies. His qualifications, policies and determination should appeal to many Americans.

Some reasons for my thinking that George C. Wallace would make the best president are as follows:

(1) He is for local control of schools, universities, and other domestic institutions without orders and guidelines from Washington.

(2) He is for local ownership of property.

(3) He is for victory in Vietnam one way or the other.

(4) He is for a policy of law and order that will give law enforcement officers the upper hand instead of the criminal.

(5) He is for a $1,000 income tax exemption.

(6) He is against open housing which forces a citizen to sell his home or property to someone he night not want to.

(7) He is against our present policy in Vietnam of "fight and no win."

(8) He is against people in this country such as Stokley Carmichael and Rap Brown that advocate victory for the Communists in Vietnam by raising blood, supplies, and clothes for them. This constitutes treason and George Wallace, if elected, will deal with it as such.

(9) George Wallace is against the current legislation for firearms control.

(10) He is against foreign aid to countries that turn right around and trade with North Vietnam after trading with us. He is tired of seeing this aid wind up in Communists hands, and used on our troops in Vietnam.

(11) George Wallace is against a Welfare system that pays money to people that are too lazy and sorry to work for it.

(12) And last, but not least, he is against decisions by the Supreme Court that allow Communists to work in our defense plants, force people to sell their house to someone they don't want to, and telling policemen how to do their jobs. If these policemen don't do their jobs as told, they are fired, or even tried themselves for shooting a looter, murderer, etc.

George Wallace will be one president that will stand behind your policemen and firemen.

These are my reasons for supporting George C. Wallace for President. Think and see if these policies are not only right, but that these accusations are true.

Gerald Van Smith, Jr.

Jaycees Are In Session

Guests at the meeting included city manager George Patterson, Keith Pitner, Roger Sullenger, D'Wayne Jernigan, Dr. Jim Morrow and Travis Hatter. Invocation was given by Bob Watlington, pledge of allegiance by Bill Dryden and creed by Herb Reed. Mickey Nunley presided.
