Finds Bottle Adrift 6 Years

Bart Randolph, 53, a retired Army man, spends part of his time beachcombing. Recently, after Hurricane Celia hit here, he decided to stroll along the north beach of Copano Bay and see if anything interesting had been washed ashore.

He was rewarded when he spied a brownish-colored liquor bottle with the name Amsterdam on it and a note inside which listed the name of Svein Homren; his ship, the M/S Minerva; and the city, Haugesund, Norway, where Tomren presumably lives.

The only message was: "Set adrift Feb. 5, 1964."

Randolph said he assumed that Tomren tossed the bottle into the water "somewhere in the Atlantic" and that Hurricane Celia probably was responsible for the bottle being ashore here.

Randolph said he intends to write to Tomren, tell him about finding the bottle and enclose a brochure produced by the Chamber of Commerce describing and illustrating the attractions of the Rockport area.

Kenneth L. Harwick, who was injured recently in a fall, has been released from Memorial Hospital and is recuperating at home.

Red Cross Work Here to Continue Rest of Year

Robert M. Pierpont, Washington, D.C., national director of disaster services for American National Red Cross, said this week that Red Cross workers "undoubtedly will remain here the rest of this year helping persons made homeless by Hurricane Celia."

Coming here to get a first hand look and report on the work already accomplished by a staff of over 20 Red Cross workers who came to Aransas County immediately after the hurricane, Pierpont said he was pleased by what he saw and by reports given him by local community leaders.

Milt Whitton, St. Louis, Mo., area disaster director for Red Cross, reported that to date the Red Cross had expended $122,127.93 in aiding hurricane victims in the Rockport area.

The breakdown of funds was as follows: mass care, $5,010.74; food, clothing and maintenance, $66,551.56; building and repair, $26,789.39; household furnishings, $20,874.54; medical and nursing, $1,318.15; and occupational supplies and equipment, $1,583.55.

Whitton said 794 cases of need had been registered with the Red Cross, that 610 had been processed and that all had been contacted and given assurance that their needs would be met.

County Cited for Voter Registration

Aransas County this week received a "Good Citizenship County" certificate signifying the achievement of an outstanding voter registration program.

Aransas County registered 3923 voters which represents 111.6% of the quota assigned by the State Democratic Executive Committee. The quota was based on a percentage of all those over 21 years in that county.

The handsome black and gold certificate was presented to Miss Lola L. Bonner, County Chairman.

The certificate was presented by State Democratic Executive Committeemember, Mrs. Austen Furse of Bay City.

The presentation was part of "Operation: Everybody!" voter registration program started early this year by the State Democratic Committee, which helped register a record 4,150,645.

The project was headed by Mrs. James A. McMullen, III of Fort Worth.

Please Return Falfurrias Generator

The Falfurrias Fire Department contacted the Rockport City Hall and said, "Please return our light plant generator which you borrowed after Hurricane Celia."

He asked the Pilot to publish this item and suggest that if any person or organization here did borrow the generator, please return it.

Mennonites To Continue Relief Work In County

Members of the Mennonite Church, many of them from Kansas, will continue indefinitely working in Aransas County, helping repair and rebuild the houses of persons made homeless by Hurricane Celia.

Tony Nikkel of Inman, Kan., one of 20 Mennonites who have been replacing roofs and repairing damaged homes here since a day or two after the hurricane hit said, "we intend to set up a unit to help poor people rebuild their homes and we will have men working here as long as it takes, two years if necessary."

Nikkel said he will be in charge of the project and that young Mennonites will be brought here from various parts of the country, some from Biloxi, Miss., where they have been working ever since Hurricane Camille struck there.

He explained that their church, officially known as the Church of God in Christ, with national headquarters at Moundridge, Kan., maintains its own disaster relief fund.

"Many of us are carpenters, electricians, plumbers and contractors and we are glad to have the opportunity to help when disaster strikes," Nikkel explained.

He said the Mennonites do not ask to be paid for their

HUD Hopes to End Housing Relief Work By Oct. 15

Housing officials in the Celia disaster area are now pointing to the first or second week in October as the time they hope to complete the housing of storm victims.

The original deadline for "Phase One" of the emergency housing program—getting all storm victims under proper shelter—was the first of October. With applications still being received at a brisk rate however, the deadline has been extended well into the month.

W. W. Collins, director of the Celia Field Office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development said it was still too early to finalize projections on just what the total need would be.

"We are still placing new orders for mobile homes," he said. "We have over 4,500 applications and the majority of these are from eligible families. Our goal remains the same—to house families who need shelter, in the shortest length of time."

In the Rockport area, 141 applications have been recieved. Fifty-one mobile homes have already been occupied here.

Housing officials are urging families who originally applied for temporary hous-

Rotary Recomends Improved Bldg. Code

Problems arising out of Hurricane Celia were the subject of a resolution passed at a luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club at Corky's Restaurant Wednesday.

The resolution urged adoption of improved building codes by Rockport and other coastal area cities. Copies of the resolution will be sent to the Texas State Board of Insurance, legislators and all Rotary clubs in the coastal bend area.

The resolution is in keeping with an editorial on the same subject which appeared in The Rockport Pilot recently.

Pirates Defeat Aransas Pass

By Bob Crawford

Taking advantage of errors by the Panthers of Aransas Pass, the "Mean Green" Rockport-Fulton Pirates crushed their rivals in a convincing manner Friday night at Pirate standium by a score of 46-6.

After an exchange of punts early in the first quarter, and a Pirate fumble, defensive halfback Glyn Landrum intercepted a Panther pass and put the Pirates in business on their own 33-yard line. From that point the Mean Green went to work, and with the help of halfback Mike Mclead's 41-yard run, the Pirates went to something almost forgotten by Pirates of the last few years—the forward pass. With the ball on the Panther 19, quarterback Clay Gillis hit McLead with a short toss which McLead grabbed and scooted to the end zone for the score. The Pirates did not make the try for extra point, and led 6-0.

After the touchdown things seemed to strike the Panthers like a lady named Celia. Robert Brooks kicked off for the Pirates and his kick hit a Panther lineman and bounced back to Brooks, giving the Pirates the ball again.

After a Pete Perez pass to end Russell Johnson, playing offense for the first time as a varsity player, Brooks bolted through the left side of the Aransas Pass line for a touchdown run of 28 yards. The extra points attempt again

City Seeks to Aid Residents Get Casualty Insurance

City Takes Over New Water System

The City Council on Monday authorized Public Works Commissioner Tom Shults to shut down the city water wells and start using treated Nueces River water purchased by Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District from San Patricio Municipal Water District and then sold to the City of Rockport.

Mayor Delmar R. Hiller indicated that before the end of this week, all residents of Rockport who get their water from the city will be receiving the new water.

Interdenominational Youth Group Formed

Youths and adults from four churches have organized an interdenominational youth group for senior high students in an attempt to create one active single community Christian youth group.

The four churches are First United Methodist, First Presbyterian, Sacred Heart Catholic and St. Peter's Episcopal. The Rev. William C. Palmer of the Methodist Church is director of the youth group movement; the Rev. Lester C. Hill of the Episcopal Church is assistant director; and the other four adult leaders are the Rev. Cecil H. Lang, Jr., of the Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Robert J. Ullrich of Sacred Heart, Edward Layshock and Mrs. Jeanette Morrison.

The youths and adults who have planned this group and its programs and activities have agreed to try it for six weeks and if the experiment succeeds, then they will continue the movement. If the idea fails due to lack of interest and activity, then the plan will be dropped.

The first get-together will be from 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 20 in the Methodist Fellowship Hall. All young people in the community are cordially invited. Reverend Hill said the attempt will be to "unite young people on non-denominational but Christian lines."

Program resource material will be from a publication called "Man Alive" and the activities planned include workshops on creative writing, folk art, folk music, audio visuals and drama.

The City Council is determined "that ways and means must be found to make casualty insurance, including windstorm and tidal water coverage, available to Rockport residents."

Mayor Delmar R. Hiller and City Attorney William H. Bloch conferred with the Texas Board of Insurance Commissioners in Corpus Christi this week regarding this matter and said they would ask the State Legislature to "probe into this problem."

At the City Council meeting this week, Alderman Charley Garrett, N. F. Jackson, Mrs. J. W. "Tony" Harden and Joe "Pepe" Zambrano passed a resolution stating:

"Having been made aware of and having discussed the critical problem involving inability of residents to obtain casualty insurance against windstorm and/or tidal waves occasioned by hurricanes under policies providing for reasonable deductability clauses at reasonable rates, and

"Cognizant that Rockport and environs, like other Gulf of Mexico coastal areas, has a risk of consequental exposure to substantial damage by hurricanes, and

"Being desirous of expressing its views with respect to the catastrophic economic effect that inability to obtain adequate insurance at reasonable rates will have on future growth and development as a resort and recreational area, in that construction of business and residential properties will be virtually impossible unless casualty insurance providing adequate coverage at reasonable premiums be made available to residents in order that lenders may make loans to borrowers with loans secured by real estate and improvement thereon, and such collateral being adequately insured in order that the lenders' collateral position be protected.

"And whereas it is the opinion of the City Council that such problem is acute, that residents of the Rockport area have been and are being notified of cancellation of insurance by insurors who decline to further cover risks in this area, and that such insurance that can be obtained is at extremely high deductible and written at premiums three or four more times the the regular manual premium

Band Parents Needed

The response to last week's suggestion to support the band by joining Band Boosters was well-received. Many people joined who do not even have children in the band. This should be a challenge to all band parents to be 100 per cent in membership.

Several times the question was asked, "What does this dollar do?" The dues are kept in an account and are used to defray expenses when the band is involved in any extra-curricular activities, such as: Summer Band Camp, Band Day at the Astrodome, Buccaneer Parade, etc.

Let's all join and give our band the biggest boost ever.

LIVE OAK PTA

The Live Oak PTA will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 21 in the cafeteria at Live Oak Elementary School. A social will be held to give parents an opportunity to meet the new teachers. All parents of children enrolled in the school are urged to attend.

Rotary—

ber of Commerce's fund to advertise the attractions of Rockport as a resort area in northern newspapers to counteract adverse effect of reports about Hurricane Celia.

Kenneth C. Moore, adjuster for the General Adjustment Bureau, spoke on some of the problems arising out of the hurricane. He outlined procedures followed by adjustors and paid tribute to the cooperation and friendliness of residents of this area.

Wording of the Rotary resolution is as follows:

WHEREAS: The recent and destructive Hurricane Celia created a number of long-range problems which pose serious economic threats to communities and property owners in the Texas coastal area with special references to building codes and wind damage insurance coverage,

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that Rockport and other municipalities in this area be urged to review and rewrite their building codes so as to insure greater security from high winds.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that legislature action be taken to provide for adequate building codes in areas outside municipal boundaries.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the State Legislature be urged to pass at the earliest practicable moment legislation which will insure continuing windstorm insurance protection for Texas coastal area property at reasonable premiums. To this end it is urged that all casualty insurance companies operating in Texas be required by law to accept a proportionate share of the risks in the coastal area, or to participate in an insurance pool established to cover such risks as a condition for continuing to write insurance in any part of the State of Texas.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that copies of this resolution be sent to the Texas State Board of Insurance, members of the state legislature who represent this area and to all Rotary Clubs located in the Texas coastal area.

Passed this 16th day of September by the Rotary Club of Rockport, Texas.

FUN IN THE PRESS

A young movie star was having dinner at a restaurant. The waitress kept staring at him and finally asked, "Say, don't I know you from somewhere?"

The actor smiled and modestly replied, "Perhaps you have seen me in the movies."

"Maybe," she said thoughtfully, "Where do you usually sit?"—Brooks (Alta.) Bulletin.

Following a university lecture on psychochopathology, a student raised his hand for permission to ask a question.

"Professor," he said, "you've told us about the abnormal person and his behavior, but about the normal person?

Party Held For S.B.A. People

To express their appreciation in behalf of the community, a number of local people held a party Wednesday night, Sept. 16, for officials and personnel of the Small Business Administration who have been working 12 hours a day, seven days a week to process S.B.A. loans for victims of Hurricane Celia.

Arranged by Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Cochran and sponsored by four individual members of the Chamber of Commerce, the party consisted of a moonlight cruise aboard Capt. Brownie Brown's Whooping Crane Motor Vessel which departed from the Sea Gun Sports Inn at 8:30 p.m. and cruised in Aransas and Copano Bays for nearly two hours.

Personnel from the Rockport, Aransas Pass and other offices set up on an emergency basis by the S.B.A. attended, along with representatives of the Chamber of Commerce.

Pirates—

failed, but the Pirates led 12-0.

With about five minutes left in the second quarter McLead broke loose for his second long scamper of the night as he brought the Pirates out of their own territory on a 55-yord run. From that point Clay Gillis took command and drilled Glyn Landrum for a 13-yard gain, setting up another Pirate score with Gillis crossing into pay dirt on a quarterback sneak. Pete Perez again teamed with Johnson on a pass for the extra point, and RFHS led 20-0.

Aransas Pass was stopped from scoring again on a pass interception by Landrum. After the turnover, the Pirates moved down to the Panther goal, but had to turn the ball over on downs. Aransas Pass could not drive the ball out Schendel carried the ball in ed to punt. The snap back to the punter dribbled along the ground and the kicker wisely picked up the ball and stepped out of the end zone, giving the Pirates a safety, increasing the score 22-0.

As luck would have it, Aransas Pass had to put the ball in play after the safety on a free kick. Panther kicker Mike Flagg chose to punt, and it was Brooks who took the ball and traveled 73 yards for the score, breaking the Panther's backs. Fullback Richard Schendel carried the ball in for the extra points, giving the Pirates a lead of 30-0.

For the third time in the game, Pirate defenders pulled down a Mike Flagg pass, this time by defender Mark Wright, and began a drive for a score. Schendel ripped off runs of 13, 24, and finally the last three yards for the fifth Pirate touchdown. Perez sprinted around left end for the extra points, bring the score to 38-0.

With about two minutes before the end of the third quarter the Panthers mounted an attack, scoring on a pass from Flagg to split end Bubba Kirkham, the only score of the night for Aransas Pass. The points-after attempt was not good.

In the fourth quarter Craig Thornton, the third Pirate quarterback to play, engineered a drive for the final Pirate TD of the evening, calling on halfback Philip Shaver to carry for the last five yards and the score. To end all of the scoring, Thornton hit Landrum for the two points.

In a game where the offensive fireworks are provided by the good running of the backfield, the linemen who opened the way for the backs should get a share of credit. The Pirates who did battle in the trenches were many, every Pirate not injured being able to see action, but center Jerry Picton, guards John McCready, V. K. Dullye, Daniel Burke, and John Cooling, along with tackles Al Chernosky and Melvin Moore deserve special merit.

The Pirate defense smashed the Panthers with Brooks, Schendel, Gillis, Landrum, Wright, Johnson, Guy Richard, Moore "Mighty Mite" Rickey Valdez, Eddie Setterbo and others stamping the Panthers with a loss to begin their season.

The Pirates were led offensively by McLead with 124 yards in 7 carries, Brooks with 103 yards in 14 carries, and Schendel with 86 yards in 12 tries. The quarterbacks combined to complete 7 of 13 passes for 78 yards.

This week the Pirates travel to Taft to try and make it two in a row. Taft was very impressive in their season's opener against Calallen, picked along with George West to fight for the district title in 30-AA. The Greyhounds turned two busted plays into scores and won by 19-13 scvore.

Although the Pirates won 49-8 over Taft last year, the Hounds will bring a team with much experience into the game Friday night. Even though the score of last year's game was lopsided, Taft gave the Pirates the best game against them offensively for the entire year.

The Pirate JV and Freshman teams will see action against Taft at home on Thursday, Seeking to Give the Pirates a clean sweep over the weekend.

Mountain Trail

AUSTIN — For non-Texans who still believe Texas has no mountains, the Texas Mountain Trail may come as a surprise.

Designated as one of 10 Texas Travel Trails throughout the state, this highland route is surrounded by 19 mountain ranges with 90 mile-high peaks. The 625-mile trip includes Brewster, Culberson, El Paso, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis and Presidio counties.

Highlighted by the rugged grandeur of Big Bend National Park, the new Guadalupe Mountains National Park, Fort Davis National Historic Site and the city of El Paso, the trail additionally offers Spanish missions, McDonald Observatory, deer and antelope hunting and crumbling ghost towns.

Big Bend country is south of the Davis Mountains. The park derives its name from the great bend of the Rio Grande River, which borders it on three sides. Principal mountain chain within the park region is the Chisos with Mt. Emory rising 7,835 feet above the desert floor. Along the river are Santa Elena, Mariscal and Boquillas canyons whose rock walls rise vertically nearly 2,000 feet from the river at their feet.

Hiking and horseback trails along the south rim of the Chisos Mountains and to "The Window" are adventurous experiences for both young and old. Excellent overnight accommodations are available at the Chisos Mountain Lodge offering both motel-type units and rustic stone cottages.

There are three entrance roads into the park—U.S. 385 from Marathon, State Highway 118 from Alpine, home of Sul Ross College, and Ranch Road 170 along the river from Presidio. El Camino del Rio, which is Spanish for "river-road", is a 68-mile trip from Lajitas, near Big Bend, to Presidio. A national highway contest called it one of the 10 most spectacular drives in the nation. The roadway is carved from stone and plunges through deep canyons, constituting a marvel of engineering construction. The farm road designation may be misleading, for the modern highway is superbly built and equals many primary routes in the state.

U. S. 67 is the Mountain Trail route through the old ghost town of Shafter, once a boomtown of silver mines in the late 1880s. Farther north is Marfa, headquarters for many large surrounding ranches including one used in the filming of the movie, "Giant."

Van Horn is the next destination out U. S. 90 from Marfa. This town grew from a junction of the old Bankhead Highway and Old Spanish Trail. It remains today a major crossing point for north-south and east-west travelers. Surrounded by the Apache Mountains, Van Horn depends chiefly on irrigated farming and mining for its livelihood and also the stream of tourists lured by a sunny climate and excellent antelope hunting.

U. S. 80 leads to Sierra Blanca, the county seat of Hudspeth County. It is located on a time standard boundary line; consequently, both mountain and central time are used in the community. Continuing on U. S. 80 the trail leads to El Paso, a city of contrasts. The oldest Spanish missions in the United States are located in the largest U. S. city on the Mexican border.

One of El Paso's most awe-inspiring views is the ride from the Aerial Tramway to Ranger Peak atop Mount Franklin. From here the 7,000 square mile scene includes two nations and three states. Elevation is 5,600 feet.

Principal missions are Ysleta was serving scores of worshipers. It was founded by Padres for Tigua Indians in 1681. Socorro is the oldest continually active parish in the nation, constructed about 1682. A garrison was established in 1770 at the present town of San Elizario and for many years the village served as the seat of El Paso County.

The treasurers of old Mexico lie only a glance away from El Paso in Juarez. Sidewalk shopping, bull fights, the old world craft of glass blowing and thoroughbred dog and horse racing only a handful of attractions in this modern Mexican city. The Mountain Trail departs El Paso via U. S. 62 for the 100-mile jaunt to the state's newest national park in the Guadalupe Mountains. Northward, near the New Mexico state line, Guadalupe Peak rises majestically to 8,751 feet—highest mountain in Texas. Just southward is El Capitan, 8,200 feet high and a favorite subject for photographers.

Utilizing State Highway 54 south to Van Horn, Highway 80 east to Kent and finally State Highway 118 again southward, the trail traveler is led to McDonald Observatory and Fort Davis National Historic Site. Located atop Mt. Locke in the Davis Mountains and owned by the University of Texas is noted for a high degree of accuracy. Visitors are welcome and guided tours are provided. A new 105-inch telescope, the world's third largest, is being built on Mt. Locke by NASA engineers.

Fort Davis was built in 1854 as protection for western-bound wagon trains and settlers against Indian raids. Established as part of the National Park system in 1963, the fort has been called the finest existing example of a frontier post in the nation. It is located on the northern outskirts of the town by the same name. Six miles west of Fort Davis is the Davis Mountains State Park and site of Indian Lodge, a pueblo-type building which is a popular overnight stop for visitors. A worthwhile side trip, referred to as Scenic Loop, runs about 70 miles through the canyons and boulder peaks of the Davis Mountains.

honor to their families, who deserve much credit, as do their teachers, and their communities. The future success of these young people will, however, depend upon their ability to become productive at the high intellectual levels that they are capable of attaining."

Semifinalists must advance to Finalist standing to be considered for the Merit Scholarships to be awarded next spring. Semifinalists become Finalists by receiving the endorsement of their schools, substantiating their high NMSQT performance on a second examination, and providing information about their achievements and interests.

Winners of four-year Merit Scholarships may receive up to $1,500 a year for four college years, depending on their individual need. Winners of the National Merit $1,000 Scholarships will receive their non-renewable one-time awards upon enrollment as full-time students in accredited U. S. colleges or universities.

High school grades, accomplishments, leadership qualities, and extracurricular activities of the Finalists are evaluated, along with test scores, in selecting Merit Scholarship winners.

Jonathan and Robert make a total of three (3) students from Rockport-Fulton High School who have been named Semifinalists in the National Merit Scholarship Program. Beth Bohmfalk was named Semifinalist in 1967.

fective service in tending coastal warning displays and for excellence in weather observing and service to the community of Rockport.

When devastating hurricanes Carla and Beulah struck the Texas coast, Sorenson reported weather and tide observations every hour round the clock for periods up to 36 hours. He has acted as liasion between the Weather Bureau and local community officials. Sorenson, who is a store owner, is also active in Civil Defense.

The Weather Bureau has more than 12,000 volunteer observers throughout the United States who make and record daily weather observations. The information they gather is processed and published by the Environmental Data Service, another ESSA component, and is invaluable in recording the climate of the nation.

City Seeks—

for similar risks in non-coastal areas of Texas,

"Now, therefore be it resolved that ways and means must be found to make casualty insurance, including windstorm and tidal wave coverage, available to residents of Rockport, and unless such insurance be made available at affordable premiums and reasonable deductables, the growth and development and prosperity of this community, together with the employment being afforded thereby, will be seriously and substantially diminished and retarded.

"Wherefore the City Council beseeches the Texas Board of Insurance Commissioners and the Legislature of Texas to promptly probe into this problem, doing such fact finding as is necessary to develop possible and probable solutions, and provide the necessary relief to Rockport and the rest of the Coastal Bend area at the earliest possible date in order that the growth and prosperity thereof may continue, and in order that the tax base of its taxing authorities may be replaced to the extent destroyed by Hurricane Celia, and in order that the tax base may continue to grow and provide essential taxing revenues to meet debt service requirements and to effect necessary improvements of schools and streets and roads and other public facilities."

ing but have now made other arrangements, to notify city officials of their change in plans. This will move other needy families higher on the priority lists.

HUD has both site inspectors and trailer expediters working in all 16 communities in the disaster area. These federal officials are functioning in liasion capacities between both the local community and the contractor-suppliers who are delivering the units.

The threatened slowdown in deliveries, caused with Texas Highway officials were insisting upon licensing and permit requirements, caused only a small dent in production scheduled, Collins said. The permits have since been waived, until October 1.

Of more concern in affecting deliveries, are weather conditions. Rain showers make site locations difficult to reach and proper "blocking" of trailers become a formidable task. Rain also hampers deliveries of trailers to the staging areas for haulers are not allowed to drive during storm conditions.

HUD still has a task force of 150 persons in the Corpus Christi area, functioning on a seven-day a week basis. While many of the original task force members have returned to their homes, replacements are arriving daily. The normal tour of duty here for Departmental employees is 28 days, Collins said.

work and they do not ask to be supplied with housing and food. However, when the Red Cross offers to pay for their housing and meals (which has been the case here) the Mennonites willingly accept so that they do not have to draw from their disaster relief fund.

Regarding the future work they'll be doing here, Nikkel said, "If a poor man can't afford to pay anything for our labor, we will be glad to do the work for nothing.

"However, if the man whose home was damaged has a job and can afford to help pay the living expenses of the young Mennonites doing the work, then we will hope the home owner will be willing to help out—maybe $30 or $40 for a week's work—which will pay for part of the cost of housing and food for the Mennonites."

He pointed out that the work to which he was referring would be work to be performed in the months ahead, after the Red Cross has finished its relief work here.

At the City Council meeting this week, Mayor Delmar R. Hiller officially expressed appreciation to the Mennonites for their Christian endeavors in behalf of the City of Rockport and "all the people in our community."

Planning Group—

a great potential."

He said he wants not only to plan but to see the plans result in positive action. He views the role of the planning commission as a service organization to existing units of government to help them do to their job better, he said.

Only five directors, less than the nine needed for a quorum, were on hand for the meeting.

This prompted Price K. Johnson, mayor of Refugio, the first vice president who presided, to express official disappointment at the turnout.

Other actions approved were conditioned upon concurrence by a majority vote which will be taken by phone.

Whitney, the outgoing director, said the CBRPC has fallen behind schedule in preparation of a water quality study for the Texas Water Quality Board because of a high staff turnover. At his recommendation, the commission's contract with Lockwood, Andrews and Newnam, Inc., was amended to increase it by $41,000, to a new total of $52,250, for the water quality study.

The study was to be completed in December. Whitney said the TWQB has expressed disappointment in progress to date. The state agency is providing the money for the study.

The Executive Board also approved a request to the Criminal Justice Council for $10,900 to assist with the police training program; and a $16,493 request for the City of Kingsville for funds to hire two narcotics officers for a year, after which the city will assume financial responsibility. Darwin Avant, the criminal justice coordinator, said the two policemen will concentrate on the arrest and conviction of narcotics pushers. The executive board also concurred in a request submitted earlier by the City of Corpus Christi for a direct federal grant of $109,000 for that city's Drug Abuse Council.

In addition to Johnson and Spencer, other directors present included County Judge B. A. Hartman of Karnes County and Bolar Brown of Kleberg County; and County Commissioner Elmer Zahn of Brooks County.

Meanwhile, Gov. Smith announced in Austin that the Criminal Justice Council has approved a previously requested grant of $23,050 to formulate a regional criminal justice plan. The council also approved the request of the South Texas Development Council of Laredo for $15,098 to carry out criminal justice planning and to employ a full-time law enforcement coordinator.

TOM (LEWIS) GIPSON NOW 6-9½ TALL

Tom (Lewis) Gipson, who at 6-9½, 282, will be hard to keep out of the starting lineup somewhere this fall for North Texas State University.

Gipson was coming on strong at defensive tackle last season until a knee injury forced him out. Big Tom added an inch over the summer and if he can drop another few pounds to add quickness to size, will probably move into a starter's role before the season is too far gone.

Big Tom starred in basketball, track and football at Rockport-Fulton High School.

Ex-Students Invited To Event at Devine

Men and women living in the Rockport area who once attended school in Devine, Texas are invited to return to that city Saturday, Sept. 19 for a gigantic homecoming and reunion planned for ex-students.

The event will coincide with Devine's Fall Festival, Sept. 12-20, sponsored by the Greater Devine Chamber of Commerce.

Besides the reminiscing and visiting provided by the homecoming weekend agenda includes a football game, two-day golf tournament, Fall Festival and parade, Miss Devine Coronation, registered quarter horse show, barbecue sausage dinner and other events.

The football game featuring the Devine Warhorses and the Pleasanton Eagles in the Warhorse Stadium. Friday night, Sept. 18 will literally kickoff the busy weekend. Most of the activities will take place Saturday including the ex-students reunion, horse show, parade, barbecue, coronation and first day of the golf tournament.

Saturday morning the ex-students homecoming will begin the full day program at the elementary school. Opening at 9:00, the morning schedule contains registration, voting for the homecoming queen, coffee and visitation and at this same time the memory room will also be open. Most reunion activities will adjourn from 12:00 until 3:00 p.m. in order to view the parade and partake of the barbecue scheduled for 1:00 p.m.

Dr. Bill Martin, a 1954 graduate of Devine High and presently a professor at Rice University, Houston, Texas, will be the featured speaker for the afternoon program.

This session will begin at 3:00 p.m. and will include registration of special guests, former teachers, presentation of the homecoming queen and her court and recognition of classes. The speaker will be introduced by Dr. Joseph F. Vance, also a 1954 graduate, and presently an instructor in the mathematics department of St. Mary's University in San Antonio.

The more than full day will be culminated Saturday evening, at 7:30 p.m. at the Devine High School gymnasium where Miss Devine will be crowned in the coronation ceremonies which will include presentations of junior Mr. and Miss Devine.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my heartfelt thanks to all that sent flowers, telephone calls and many cards and visits during my long stay in the hospital. God bless each and every one.

TSTA Meets

The Aransas County unit of the Texas State Teachers Association met Monday night, Sept. 24 at Live Oak Elementary School for their regular scheduled meeting.

The program for the evening was an informative, amusing, and educational one for those present. Local high school students told the history of Rockport and Aransas County while Mrs. Lloyd Branch showed slides of the area.

The business meeting followed the program under the direction of local president, Claudia Nelson. Of particular interest to the group was the legislative report.

The local members were told that literature from the state office of TSTA shows that Amendment 3, to be voted on in November, is being opposed by TSTA. The local membership was told to study the amendment carefully before deciding their vote.

Cancer Society Holds Meeting

The Aransas County Unit of the American Cancer Society met Sept. 11. The Rev. Charles Fake, president, presided at the meeting.

Mrs. E. T. Busch, service chairman, gave the following report for the previous year: Forty-three cancer patients were given services; 11 equipment loans, 2673 gift items; 23 were given transportation; 96 dozen dressings and nine permanent pieces of equipment were issued.

Mrs. Thomas E. McArdle reported 154 memorials totaling $832 were received. She also reported that the results of the Campaign Crusade was far better than the previous best year.

Rev. Fake was elected as representative to the Annual Divisional meeting to be held in Ft. Worth on Oct. 21 and 22.

Mrs. Helen Foster, staff member from Corpus Christi, presented the Certificate of Authorization issued by the American Cancer Society to the local group; she also presented an award of merit to the Unit for exceeding the per capita income goal of the Texas Division in the 1970 Crusade to Conquer Cancer.

The next regular meeting will be Friday noon, Oct. 2, place to be announced later.
