TOM LOVE WINS PLACE ON BALLOT

HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

You'll see on page three of this section of The Herald a picture. It reproduces a scene of activity, of development. You'd have to search long to find any other scene so fraught with evidence of sound growth.

You'll see in that picture many large buildings under construction. There's an industrial plant, an important hub of operations for a great railway, being built. You'll see a 16-story hotel building in the distance. You'll see a huge concrete and steel viaduct built over railroad tracks laden with many cars of freight. You'll see a handsome office building, recently completed.

This picture was not taken in Dallas or Fort Worth or San Antonio or Houston; nor in Amarillo or Abilene or San Angelo or El Paso.

It was taken in Big Spring.

Take a good look at it and learn even more conclusively that you live in one of the busiest, most stable cities of the southwest.

Times may be hard for some of us. They're always hard for somebody. The curve of economic conditions may turn downward now and then. But examine conditions of business over a period of years in Big Spring and you'll find the tendency is steady—steadily upward.

Blind optimism? No. Facts. We're not blind to the fact that economic conditions throughout the nation are not what they have been at times in the past, or at least what we would like for them to be. Money may be tight. A lot of people may be trying to borrow money.

But, when you compare Big Spring with all the other cities of Texas you feel good, because she's "over the hill and gone" in the words of an energetic young business man of our town.

Big Spring is typical of the era of industrial development in Texas, as described on this page by a Wall Street man, writing for a New York newspaper.

Big Spring had 1,255 inhabitants in 1900. During the next decade she grew tremendously, and in 1910 Uncle Sam counted 4,102 people.

COMMITTEE ERRED HIGH COURT SAYS

Party Chiefs Had No Power To Exclude State Senator

AUSTIN, Tex., May 17 (AP)—The state democratic committee was without lawful power in barring as candidates from the 1930 primaries persons who failed to support the party presidential electors in 1928, the supreme court held today.

The decision was handed down in the case of Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas, who sought a mandamus to compel the committee to certify his name as a candidate for governor, after the committee on February 1 adopted resolutions not to recognize 1928 bolters as candidates for state offices.

To Certify Later

The committee held, however, that it could not take definite action until it met June 9, the date fixed by law, to certify candidates to county chairmen.

The court ordered D. W. Wilcox, of Georgetown, chairman and members of the committee, to "proceed with their statutory duties as though the resolutions of Feb. 1 had not been adopted," and specifically commanded them to "desist and refrain from enforcing said resolutions."

At the same time the court reversed and remanded judgments of both the district and civil appeals courts in the case of J. W. Nicholson vs. Edgar Scurry from Wichita county, involving a controversy between factions in the county executive committee there, precipitated by the 1928 bolt. Nicholson and 12 members of the committee had been unseated by Scurry, chairman, and the other Democrats loyal to Democratic presidential nominee, because they voted for the Hoover electors.

Centenarian To Preach In Lamesa

LAMESA, May 17.—The Reverend T. A. Boycan, Dawson county's 100-year-old preacher, is scheduled to deliver a sermon here Sunday at the First Methodist church. Boycan, who was born in Belfast, Ireland, in 1830 came to America when he was five years old and has been preaching for 82 years. He reads without glasses and can hear well. The aged pastor says he has walked 17,000 miles on preaching tours and that he has baptized 11,000 people.

DISCOVERY OF OIL IS VIEWED AS STIMULUS

POTENTIALITIES CAN HARDLY BE REALIZED, EXPERT TELLS NEW YORK

DALLAS, Texas, May 17 (AP)—Texas' present economic position as well as the potentialities were set forth in the financial section of the New York Herald Tribune in the following article written by Rand J. Dostman of the Wall Street firm, Peck & Wadbridge. Dostman spent several weeks in Texas making an intimate, first-hand investigation as the basis for his report.

ON Started It

"Rapidly growing industrial activity in Texas and the Southwest, brought about largely through comparatively recent oil, natural gas and sulphur developments, is attracting considerable interest in Wall Street from the investment viewpoint.

"Seldom, if ever, has a large area of the United States or any other nation experienced such a rapid industrial development, most of which has been within the last ten years.

"This unusual development shows constantly growing proportions. Public utilities alone are planning the expenditure of $180,000,000 in the Southwest, mostly in Texas.

Negro Slayer Of Landlord Burned At Honey Grove

The picture shows a crowd watching the burning late Friday of the body of George Johnson, negro, who slew his landlord, E. F. Fortenberry, 50, near Honey Grove, Fannin County. The black, barricaded himself in a cabin two miles from the town, stood off armed hundreds for hours until they rushed the cabin when Johnson ceased firing. His bullet-ridden body then was tied to a motor truck, dragged into Honey Grove, paraded through the business district and finally carried to the negro settlement. The body was strung up by the legs to a tree in front of a negro church.

OIL TARIFF IS FAVORED

Independents Urge Anti-Trust Laws Be Enforced

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 17 (AP)—Strict enforcement of state and federal anti-trust laws, an unequalled stand in favor of a tariff on crude oil and its refined products and hinting that present methods of transporting and marketing petroleum are inequitable, were the high spots of a platform adopted here Saturday by directors of the Independent Petroleum Association of Texas.

In reference to alleged attempts to alter state anti-trust laws, the paragraph as written into the Independent Petroleum Association platform, reads as follows:

"We have noticed with considerable alarm the recent tendency and in some cases, overt acts, both innocent and premeditated, to break down the anti-trust laws of this state. We believe the anti-trust laws were put on the statute books to protect the constitutional right of equal opportunity and we oppose and shall continue to oppose through organized methods all efforts to break down or to repeal the anti-trust laws of Texas or of the United States, and for the same reasons we stand opposed to creation and existence of monopolies in Texas."

FAVORS SLASH

TULSA, Okla., May 17 (AP)—The action yesterday of the Standard Oil Company of California in cutting the price of oil in the Santa Fe Springs field of Southern California where operators refused to curtail production, brought an expression of approval today from E. B. Reeser of Tulsa, president of the American Petroleum Institute. Reeser predicted the action, which he termed "drastic," would bring good results.

Forgery Charge Against White

AMARILLO, May 17 (AP)—An indictment was returned by a federal grand jury here today against John Heron White, former legislator from Borger, charging forgery of a federal compensation check for four dollars to Mary Hughes of Borger. White was a $1,000 bond returnable Monday morning.

SEIZE CONSIGNMENT

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Commissioner Eble of the customs bureau announced today that a large alcohol consignment from Holland had been seized at Chattanooga, Tenn.

Body Of Bell Boy Held Here As Friends Seek His Relatives

Thomas R. Quann, 31, Dies While Enroute To Hospital; Clues Scarce

The body of Thomas R. Quann, 31, rests at the Charles Eberley Funeral Home today—unclaimed.

For four weeks the former bellboy of the Crawford Hotel, has been ill—not seriously it was thought, but ill enough for him not to be able to work.

Early last week the youth went to bed. Friday afternoon he called the proprietor of the Horn Hotel, where he resided, and an hour later he was dead.

Today his former associates at the Crawford are endeavoring to locate relatives. Wires have been going in every direction in an attempt to find the mother of the bellboy.

His belongings produced two letters, but no clues. One from a bellboy in Wichita, Kansas; the other from a man in Wichita Falls. Officials of the Eberley Funeral Home, where the body is, are working with his friends in an effort to find the mother of the boy.

They are working on just strings. Once Quann told someone at the hotel his mother lived in San Francisco. A sister is thought to be there also. Today the Chief of Police of San Francisco is endeavoring to locate the mother and sister of Thomas R. Quann. Telegrams asking him to do so went out from the Funeral Home.

Quann died on the way to a Big Spring hospital. Death was attributed to a rupture of an abdominal blood vessel, causing him to bleed internally, by the attending physician. The body will lie in state until sometime this week, the latter part in all probability. Unless relatives are located, he will be buried here—by friends.

DAL PASO IS PROMOTED

Caverns Route Association To Convene June 12th

LAMESA, Texas, May 17.—Seeking federalization of the Dal-Paso Caverns highway, which follows a straight line between Dallas and El Paso by way of the famous caverns near Carlsbad, New Mexico, officers, directors and delegates of the association fostering the highway will convene at Carlsbad, Thursday, June 12, for their fourth annual meeting. It is the first convention of the association on the West end of the highway.

Date for the meeting was settled two weeks ago when O. P. Thrane of Snyder, president of the Dal-Paso Caverns highway association, and Wm. A. Wilson of Lamesa, secretary, met at Gail. At that time it was decided that the meeting would take place at Carlsbad and they also discussed holding the convocation in the Caverns themselves. The novelty of this great natural curiosity serving as a convention hall will in all probability draw the largest attendance of any previous meet.

Delegates from cities on the highway will meet with county judges of counties through which the route passes at the Carlsbad meet. Election of officers of the association will also be made during the meeting. Present officers are: O. P. Thrane, Snyder, president; W. H. Cook, Breckenridge, first vice-president; R. W. Pittman, Seminole, second vice-president; J. D. Langford, Albany, treasurer; Wm. A. Wilson, Lamesa, secretary. All county judges on the route and officially elected directors numbering six compose the directorate.

HOOVER AT CAMP

ORANGE, Va., May 17 (AP)—Accompanied by thirteen guests, President Hoover arrived at his Virginia fishing camp at noon today, for a week-end fishing trip.

Miss Handley To Speak For City

Melva Gene Handley, daughter of Mrs. Lee Weathers, has been designated as the Big Spring representative in the My Home Town speaking contest at the 11th annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, in Abilene, May 29, 30 and 31.

Miss Handley has been trained from babyhood in dramatics by her mother, an accomplished instructor.

BRADY GIVEN THREE YEARS; DENIES GUILT

FIVE BALLOTS TAKEN BY JURY; THREE FAVORED DEATH PENALTY

DALLAS, May 17. (AP)—John W. Brady, former high court judge, was convicted here today of fatally stabbing Miss Lehlis Highsmith, Capitol stenographer, in Austin November 9 and his punishment was fixed at three years imprisonment. The verdict was returned by a jury 12 hours after it received the case last night. It was Brady's second trial, a hung jury having resulted in the first trial at Austin. The case was brought here on a change of venue on a defense motion.

Five ballots were taken, two of them last night. On the first ballot the vote was eight to four for conviction. On the next ballot five were in favor of a suspended sentence and seven for a prison sentence. Three among the seven at that time favored the death penalty.

On the first ballot today ten voted for a three-year prison sentence and two for a five-year sentence. The fourth ballot was unchanged from the third and on the fifth the 12 men agreed on the three-year sentence.

Defense attorneys Maury Hughes and Ted Monroe said a motion for a new trial would be filed.

The 60-year-old defendant wept as the verdict was read and in a voice choked almost to a whisper denied his guilt to his wife who kept her arms around his bent shoulders.

"Darling, I didn't do it—I didn't do it—how on earth did they convict me, darling? I didn't do it."

It was the first time Brady had spoken concerning the actual slaying, so far as the record in his trial revealed.

Defense witnesses and attorneys pictured the white-haired man as person who became insane through the continued use of alcohol. They said liquor had dulled his mind and had reduced him to a shell of his former self.

The woman was killed after she had been brought home by another man.

The Weather

West Texas: Partly cloudy, preceded by thunderstorms in south-east portion, cooler in north portion Sunday; Monday, partly cloudy. East Texas: Showers and local thunderstorms, fresh southerly winds probably increasing Sunday; Monday, partly cloudy. Oklahoma: Thunderstorms in east and central, partly cloudy in west portion, cooler Sunday; Monday, partly cloudy.

TWISTERS HIT THREE VICINITIES

Excessive Precipitation Reported From All Parts Of State

Tornado winds struck widely separated sections of Texas last night, inflicting much property and crop damage, according to Associated Press dispatches.

Heavy rains were reported from almost every section of the state.

Wilmer, De Soto and Kleburg, Dallas county communities; Midlothian, Ellis county; Seagoville suffered from wind, hail and excessive rainfall. A negro family was severely injured near Wilmer. Houses in Midlothian were damaged.

Two men were injured and 12 to 15 oil derricks levelled by a twister at Barber's Hill, Chambers county at 5 p. m. Saturday.

A tornado of small proportions swept through the oil field north and west of Breckenridge last night, toppling a dozen derricks.

Johnson County

A blinding rain and hail storm tore a wide swath through Johnson county, damaging buildings. Water stood two feet deep on many streets in Cleburne.

An electrical storm ignited a tank on the Texas Company tank farm in the outskirts of Houston.

Heavy rains Thursday and Friday in northeast Texas Saturday had caused streams in that section to leave their banks and spread over many acres of lowlands.

Near Jefferson the big Cypress River drove several hundred people from their homes and damaged lowland crops.

A heavy rain also fell Saturday at Encinal, near Laredo, but as great damage was reported.

The certainty appeared that thousands of acres of low land outside of the levee protection would be inundated, after it was predicted the rise would be four to five feet above flood level at Fulton and possibly a foot above flood level at Index.

The most pronounced rise was at Index, where at 5 p. m., today the gauge had leaped four feet within 35 hours. Overflows at Fulton covered a temporary approach to the new highway bridge and prevented its use. The ferry suspended night-time operation and was expected to cease a daytime work by Monday.

Highway bridges east of Lewisville, Ark. and west of Mount Pleasant, Tex., were reported out.

STANTON GRADUATES EIGHTEEN

STANTON, May 17.—Eighteen boys and girls will be graduated by Stanton high school in the annual commencement exercises, scheduled for Monday evening.

The Baccalaureate sermon will be delivered Sunday morning at high school auditorium by E. W. McMillan, minister of the College Church of Christ, Abilene.

Testifying to their high regard of their superintendent, members of the class voted to have Prof. C. L. Sone, head of the local schools, deliver the commencement address Monday evening.

The annual senior play was staged Thursday evening. Final school work was done Friday.

Carmen Chapman is valedictorian and Bess Myrick salutatorian of the class. Hilton Kaderli is class president and Cordelia Wilkinson is secretary-treasurer. Other members are Mary Helen Price, Phenix Metcalf, Lou Dell White, Wallis Hawkins, Gladys Posa, Floyd Smith, Eugene Parks, Wayne Moffett, Pink Robertson, Beryl Tidwell, Grant Sanders and Jefferson Favis. Miss Lorraine Lamar is class sponsor.

This has been an unusually popular senior class. Seven of its members were regulars on last fall's Buffalo football team which trampled all opposition. Football men graduating are Wallis Hawkins, P. Metcalf, F. Smith, E. Parks, W. Moffett, P. Robertson and J. Davis. H. Kaderli was business manager of the team. Mary Helen Price and Cordelia Wilkinson were cheer leaders. Metcalf and Robertson are basketball letter men and Hawkins, Moffett, Kaderli and Metcalf represented the school at the district track meet in Lubbock.

$2,500 Spent For Band Concert Trophies

ABILENE, Texas, May 17.—At the band contest to be held during the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention here May 22, 30 and 31, trophies worth $2,500 will be awarded. In addition to the thirty loving cups shown above, 120 specially cast medals will be given to individual players.

Special prizes range from a $100 gold drum major's baton, collections of music, gold medals to a scholarship in a Chicago School of Music.

Y. P. Kuhn, drum major of the Cowboy band and director of physical education of Simmons University occupies the center of the picture. This band is the present official band of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. They will tour Europe this summer and give a number of concerts in different capitals.

D. O. Wiley, director of the band, is chairman in charge of the contests which are being held under the direction of the western division, Texas Band Teachers' Association.

Herbert L. Clarke, who directs the Municipal Band of Long Beach, California, will judge the contest. He is being loaned by that city to the Texas Band Teachers for the convention. He has the distinction of being one of the world's great conductors and will have charge of the massed band, composed of picked musicians, giving the concert at Pannamore Field, Friday evening, May 30th.

Entries for the contest have been made from as far west as Portales, N. M., who are sending their municipal band to the eastern edge of the WTCC territory at Arlington which will be represented by the military band of the North Texas Agricultural College.

Forty-one bands have entered the contest and more than one thousand band men will enliven the convention city. A solid car load of cots is being shipped to Abilene to provide sleeping quarters at a minimum of expense to the bands requesting it.

LATE OIL REPORTS

Meeks Wildcat's Value Unknown

Timberlake-Snyder No. 1 Meeks, Glascock county, wildcat, which has attracted considerable attention for many months and became a focal point in the oil play of the Big Spring country the past week, was reported still shut down last night, total depth, according to one reliable source, 2,991 feet.

Opinions of scouts and land men differed as to the value of a reported show of oil. A test had been made, it was understood, but its results were not released to scouts.

There is sulphur water in the hole and some observers said that if the show of oil, through the water was very heavy the test ought to make a well.

It was reported the operators were debating whether to ream the hole or run another string of pipe.

No. 1 Meeks is more than seven miles southwest of any production. Interest in its developments is unusually widespread because a comparatively large number of individuals hold acreage or royalties nearby.

Yates Producers Favor Order

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 17 (AP)—Yates pool producers meeting here voted yesterday to ask the state railroad commission to re-enter its temporary order, fixing the production limit in the pool at 110,000 barrels per day, to run to the end of July. The present six-months production order expires at that time. Operators planned to meet here again June 1 to adopt recommendations for production beginning July 1, which would require a new order from the commission.

Grisham-Hunter To Drill Second Test

Lester Harlow, driller for Sam Kneip, contractor, was in Big Spring Friday following a sojourn of four months in Culberson county, 30 miles from Kent, where he drilled a test for the Grisham-Hunter Corporation. He said another test was planned for the same area by this company. Mr. and Mrs. Harlow resided in the Howard county field for about a year before going to Culberson county.

Price-Slashing In California

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—Petroleum circles were absorbed today with renewed price slashing in California and Pennsylvania in further efforts to force curtailment of production.

After several ineffectual efforts to bring all of the smaller Santa Fe Springs producers in California into the agreement to restrict output to 57 per cent of potential, the Standard Oil Co. of California has cut prices for crude 75 to 90 cents a barrel, stating that present conditions do not justify prices which encourage over-production.

The South Penn Oil Co. announced a further reduction of 25 cents a barrel in the price of Pennsylvania crude, after a similar reduction of May 1. The cut is attributed to excessive production. Prices for Pennsylvania crude, used largely for high grade lubricants, have been declining since July of last year, and the price now averages about $2.50 a barrel, against $4.10 a year ago.

Oklahoma City Gusher Afire

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 17 (AP)—Workmen hoped today to curb the rampant Sigmon Gusher which presented a new fire menace in the south Oklahoma City oil field.

Just half a mile east of "Wild Mary" Surik, which blew oil and gas over miles of surrounding urban territory for eleven days, the well, operated by Prairie, Slick and Phillips companies, went wild at noon Friday because sand cut away a nipple above the master gate and prevented closing of upper and lower gates. Work of replacing connections—an estimated 12 hour job—was on Friday night.

Lease men believed the Sigmon's flow—at first estimated at 10,000 barrels of oil and 75,000,000 cubic feet of gas, had increased early today.

California's Jones To Test Show

California's No. 1 Jones, 330 feet south from the north and east lines of section 25, block 33, township 2 south, T. & P. survey, Glascock county, was cementing 8 5/8 inch casing according to a report of Saturday. Preparations were being made to test a show of oil reported at 2028-40 feet. Total depth was 2,060 feet.

State Sues T. & P. To Determine Rights

AUSTIN, May 17.—A suit against the Texas and Pacific Railroad Company has been filed by Attorney General R. L. Bobbitt which involves that part of the right-of-way of the company extending from the west line of survey 6, block 44, township 3 south, T. & P. survey to the west line of survey 30, block B-15, situated in Ector County. This strip of land is 300 feet wide and about five miles long, and is alleged to contain about 155.95 acres of land. Oil has been discovered on lands adjoining this part of the right-of-way and the railroad company is claiming the fee title to the right-of-way and is making preparation to drill for oil on the right-of-way and to produce, and appropriate the oil to its own use. When asked about the case this morning, Attorney General Bobbitt said:

"This is not one of the so-called vacancy suits. It is a suit to determine the respective rights of the state and the railroad company in the railroad right-of-way lands and was made necessary by the railroad company claiming the fee title to the right-of-way lands and the right to take the oil for fuel. I do not question the right-of-way of the railroad company to use so much of this land for a right-of-way as may be necessary for that purpose, but upon its assertion of title to and a right to take from the land for its own use the oil and gas in said land, it became imperative that I contest its claim and assert a claim to the oil and gas in behalf of the state. I only learned recently of this claim on the part of the railroad company and as far as I am advised this claim was not made by the railroad company prior to the discovery of oil in that vicinity.

"Certain individuals have filed applications of inquiry with the commissioner of the general land office, claiming this land to be state public free school land and subject to sale as such. The question may, and probably will, arise in this case whether the beneficial interests in this land and the oil in same belong to the state school fund or otherwise belong to the state. My contention is that the fee title to and the oil and gas in the land belong, in any event, to the state, either in behalf of the school fund or otherwise, and that the railroad company has no title to nor the right to take the oil and gas in the lands for its own use.

"This railroad was constructed and its right-of-way rights acquired in this vicinity before any of the lands to the north or to the south of the right-of-way were surveyed or granted by the state and the field notes of the lands afterwards located and survey north and south of the right-of-way do not expressly include any part of the right-of-way but call to run with its north and south lines respectively, and I do not understand that this suit questions the title or right-of-way of possession to any part of such lands."

AUSTIN, May 17.—Nash and Windfohr plan a suit for oil rights on the Rock Island right-of-way in Young county, on which J. E. Montcrief has been granted a drilling permit, James P. Nash said here Thursday. The proposed well would be 227 feet from the Nash and Windfohr discovery well on the McCloud survey, and directly between this and another Nash and Windfohr well on a lease across the railroad track from the discovery well.

Mr. Nash's suit will be on the strength of a lease he has secured from the original holders of the right-of-way tract, and on which he will claim that the railroad had only an easement right and not possession of the minerals underneath.

Nash said he will not try to stop Montcrief's drilling the well, but has put Montcrief on notice of his own claim, so that if it is upheld in court, Montcrief in effect will be drilling it for Nash, rather than for Amos Carter and associates, who hold a lease on the same tract from the railroad company.

AUSTIN, May 17.—J. E. Montcrief has been granted a permit to drill an oil well on the Rock Island right-of-way 227 feet from Nash and Windfohr's No. 2 McCloud discovery gusher near Grisham, but he doesn't know yet whether he is drilling the well for Nash, who contested the permit, or for Amos G. Carter, for whom he sought it.

for a spot directly in line between Nash's McCloud well, 227 feet away, and his Ware No. 1 well, 350 feet away, on the north side of the railroad.

If courts hold the railroad had no claim to the minerals, then the output of Montcrief's well will belong to Nash and Windfohr under their lease from the Ragland heirs.

Posters Banned On State Roads

Candidates' posters, which in past election years, have been nailed to most every pole along the highway and byways of Texas will not be tolerated within the rights-of-way of state highways this year, Gibb Gilchrist, state highways engineer has announced.

Such signs this year will be considered of the same nature as merchants' advertising and will not be allowed, Mr. Gilchrist states in a communication to division engineers.

Local Minister Helps Open Crane's First Church House

Thornton Crews, minister of the Church of Christ, returned Saturday from Rankin, where he preached Thursday and Friday evening during a series of services held in the new house of worship built there by the Church of Christ.

The Rankin congregation's building is the first church erected in Crane county. John F. Crews, the local man's brother, is the Rankin minister.

Fray From Exporters

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 17.—Battling two and a half hours the San Antonio Indians and the Steers were deadlocked with a score three and three in the 11th inning when umpire Ziggy Harris called the game on account of darkness.

George Darrow matched his left paw slants against Paul Wachtel's spitball delivery, and while the Indians outlived the Steers 9 to 5 they were retired at critical stages when Wachtel was his best.

Darrow walked a dozen batters, but intentionally, and struck out seven, while Wachtel walked several batters, one intentionally and one two.

Camera Catches Panorama Of Development In Big Spring

Some folks say Big Spring does not have 12,000 inhabitants. The census figures, to be released next week, will prove it has. This picture, a part of the T. & P.'s pictorial story of its stupendous local divisional terminal project, is another way of answering "how has Big Spring grown so rapidly since 1920?" Here you see, in the foreground the railway terminal construction, as it appeared four weeks ago. In the background is the new Gregg street viaduct and beyond it the Petroleum Building and the Settles Hotel building. You'd have to travel far in West Texas to catch so much activity in one picture.

COYOTE, DOG RODEO IS TODAY

Many Hound Owners Here For Various Races

Dog owners from far and near invaded Big Spring Saturday and Saturday night to participate in the Coyote and Hound Rodeo, to be held between 2 and 6 o'clock this afternoon. The rodeo will be staged in a 100 acre pasture south of the Big Spring Airport, west of the city, under the direction of H. A. Johnson.

Some of the dog owners here for the attraction are Jim Lowe, Elbow, four dogs; Will Robinson, Big Spring, three dogs; Bill Harper, Big Spring, four dogs; Allen Foster, Sterling City, two dogs; Harry Twittle, Sterling City, two dogs; Phillip Thompson, Thompson Ranch, three dogs; Pete Kile, Lovington, N. M., three dogs; Gene Wofford, Lubbock, four dogs; Frank Hedrick, Stanton, two dogs; Fuzzy Rogers, Big Spring, one dog; Carl Russion, Brownfield, three dogs; Grady Ansley, Lubbock, four dogs; and Andy Brown, Ackerly, four dogs.

Johnson expects at least 75 dogs to be entered in the various races. A "floppy" hound race and rabbit race, as well as a novelty dog race, as well as a novelty dog race, will be staged. Quite a few rabbits have been received, as well as over forty wolves. A buffalo is here and is to be ridden as a novelty.

The races this afternoon will be preliminaries to the finals to be held July 4 during the Oil Jubilee. Cash prizes will be awarded to the owners of lucky dogs. The field is so arranged as to allow spectators to sit in their automobiles.

Farmers Warned Against Hoppers

Danger of serious infestation of grasshoppers is reported to J. V. Bush, county farm agent, by R. R. Reppert, extension entomologist of Texas A & M College, in the following communication: "Following recent rains it is wise for farmers in northern, central and western Texas to watch for appearance of grasshoppers in their fields. There are some hoppers already appearing and they may become serious pests in 1930. They are appearing in alarming numbers in Bexar, Kendall, Fayette, Navarro, and McCulloch counties."

Klondyke School Suit Trial Set

Trial of the Klondyke district school trustee election suit, in district court at Lamesa, has been set for June 16, according to C. P. Rogers of Rogers and Smith, Big Spring, counsel for plaintiffs. Hearing on the law in the case has already been held. Trial on the facts was continued to next month.

Defendants, represented by Judge Garland as counsel, failed to have a plea in abatement sustained by the court.

DONATE SHRUBS
Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Robbins have donated two large cedars to add to the beautification program on the Big Spring airport grounds. Mrs. John Blaine, wife of the manager, reports that she has been fairly "smothered" with flowers since a suggestion to the people of the city was published in The Herald, reporting the need for flowers and shrubs at the port.

CLEVELAND DOWNED BY WHITE SOX

Chicago Takes Two 4-1 And 6-2 Scores

CHICAGO, May 17 (AP)—Four White Sox pitchers held Cleveland batters to eight hits in two games today as Chicago won both ends of a double header, 4 to 1, and 6 to 2. After Ted Lyons had stopped the Indians with five hits to win his sixth victory of the season, in the opener, Cecil Pat Caraway, Ted Blankenship and Hal McKain came out in the second game and held the Indians to three safeties. All were cleaned off Caraway in his five innings of service.

TEACHERS RE-ELECTED

Every teacher in the Big Spring public school system was re-elected at a meeting of the school board, held Friday night.

Although the 1929-30 staff was re-elected in its entirety, some will not return for the 1930-31 term, according to W. C. Blankenship, superintendent.

The board did not elect any new teachers at the Friday night session. As soon as vacancies on the staff are definitely created, the school solons will elect new members of the department.

All of the teachers elected Friday night are subject to assignment, according to Mr. Blankenship.

George Gentry, principal of the high school, and Mr. Blankenship, were elected at a previous meeting of the board.

The following teachers were named to serve another school term Friday night:

Fairview School
Opens New Building

LAMESA, May 17.—Fairview's $7,000 brick school house, which replaces one recently destroyed by fire, was opened this week, according to W. T. Webb, county school superintendent. The structure, one of a dozen brick schools in the county, is located 20 miles northwest of Lamesa. A play, with pupils as characters, was included in the dedication program last week. The new building has three large class rooms, two cloak rooms and an office for the superintendent. It is constructed so that an annex may be added if needed. One hundred and fifty pupils attend the Fairview school Webb states.

STEVENS RE-ELECTED

Bill Stevens, coach of the Big Spring high school, was re-elected Friday night for the third year by the school board.

Stevens has been at the helm of football, basketball and track since he came here three years ago.

The Steer mentor will attend the coaching school to be conducted by Fighting Bob Zuppke of the University of Illinois, and Frog Allen, basketball coach of the University of Kansas.

The school will open June 16 and continue through June 28.

George Brown, assistant coach of the high school, also was re-elected by the board.

Finally, the City Leaguers have got something for nothing, one of the nicest of arrangements if you're in for inuring of us. The donor who is now doing business on a big scale with the Big Spring Amateur Baseball Association is none other than one C. A. Hodgson, generalissimo of the West Texas Miniature Golf Course. Mr. Hodgson made an arrangement with the secretary and treasurer, meaning himself in person, whereby the City Leaguers will have a chance to see if they're any better put-putters than baseball players. For a week or more free passes to the miniature golf course will be given to the winning team, until each team has won. We think that's the arrangement. Anyway if Mr. Bruce Nesbitt will drop by our office and rent us out from behind our desk—the mahogany one with the gold ash trays—we shall be more than tickled to present him with fourteen passes to the golf course, with the compliments of Mr. Hodgson. That's for winning the game Friday afternoon. Each of the fourteen passes is to be presented to one player. If any are left over The Water Bucket gets 'em and sells 'em. And pockets the money, if any.

The Laundry got the leap on Richeo, its next door neighbor, Friday afternoon when it defeated the Texas and Pacific Railroaders, despite the absence of Nesbitt, manager, and one of the chief sluggers of the stiff collar organization. Should they repeat this afternoon when they clash at 3:30 bells, the Laundry will be in the lead by a fairly safe margin that should hold out for a couple of days.

The Barbers and the Laundry were supposed to have met, but the Barbers asked postponement, so T. & P. filed in. The Barbers might have dislodged the Laundry from its perch at the top of the vineyard. The Barbs have signed five new players, are in third place with two victories and two defeats, and, from reports, are anxious to do a little shaving and possibly a bit of trimming.

This afternoon's battle should be interesting. With Baas back at second where he belongs instead of careening around shortstop, and the third sack better guarded than it happened to be Friday, the Laundry defense work should draw the applause of the 2,000 fans, more or less, that will attend. The T. & P. showed marked improvement in some departments Friday, and with the addition of new material approved by the board last Thursday night, might kick over the dope bucket and spill the contents therein.

JELLIES GET THIRTY RUNS TO BEAT CUBS

Pounding the offerings of Kaster-son and Underwood all over the lot the Jellies scored thirty runs on twenty-five hits to set a league scoring record and go into a tie for first place with the Orioles, their opponents in a double header Sunday.

Big Ed Maxwell started the game for the victors and struck out twelve men in the first four innings. After that the entire Jelly mound staff paraded by in a short pitching workout, all of them hurling effectively. Bishop and Gordon whiffed seven men between them to give the Jelly moundmen a total of nineteen victims for the entire game.

Among the twenty-five bingles were four home runs, two by Rogers, and one by Bishop and Townsend. Rogers was the batting star of the day with his two circuit clouts and three singles, closely followed by B. Bishop's record of a double, triple, and a homer. Gordon, Maxwell and C. Bishop connected for three safeties.

Underwood was the lone Cub batsman to nick the Jelly hurlers for more than a single safety. Jellies . . . 0 6 6 3 4 10-30 25 1 Cubs . . . 0 0 1 0 0 2-4 4 4

Boston Braves Take Double Bill From New York Laundry, T. & P. Clash This Afternoon

BATTLE SET FOR 3:30 TODAY

Barbers Forced To Postpone Tilt Scheduled

Because the Barbers asked for postponement of their Sunday fray, the Laundry leaders of the City Amateur League, and the Texas & Pacific Railway will clash at the Dusty Diamond this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The two teams play off a game postponed some days ago on account of bad weather. The Laundry is the favorite to win, having won four of its last five games. The Barbers are the underdog, having lost four of their last five games.

The Laundry increased its lead Friday afternoon when they defeated the Texas & Pacific aggregation 7 to 3.

Aiken, who has been playing shortstop for the Laundry, did nobly on the ragged hill, striking out nine men, and allowing only five hits, four of them in one inning. Schwartzbach for the Barbers yielded his place in the middle of the third to Woods. The initial Barber hurler allowed seven hits during the time he was hurling, and saw the seven runs made by the Laundry trotted in.

The Laundry launched their part of the first inning with three hits and four tallies. Aiken singled. Crouch walked. Blevins got away on Cunningham's error. Baas, running for Aiken, tallied with Crouch on his heels. Blevins added the third on Brown's single, and Young, aided by Butler's error, went home on Kendrick's bingle. The Railroaders gleaned three in first of the second when Malone tripled, going home on Butler's single. Bishop singled, and Butler and Bishop tallied on McPeak's double. McPeak went out at third, Garner to Crouch.

Woods Hurts

The game was definitely decided in the third when Schwartzbach was pounded over various and sundry portions of the Dusty Diamond. It was short and snappy. After Brown had singled and was forced at second by Kendrick's roller, Garner tripled, tallying Kendrick's, and going home on a passed ball, and Roberts delivered a home run to bring the total three. Woods relieved Schwartzbach after the four play, Baas and Aiken going out at first to retire the sluggers.

Woods tightened in the fourth inning after allowing three men to get on. Blevins singled, Young was hit by a pitched ball and Brown walked. In a well, he struck out Kendrick and Garner to retire the side. A two base hit by W. Woods in the first of the fifth was to no avail, as Butler struck out to retire the side after W. Woods had walked.

'CHARMED' SAYS PRINCE AFTER GOLF TOURNEY

By O. B. KEELER

SANDWICH, ENGL., May 17. (AP)—After lunch as the Americans were winning their sixth in a row from the British Walker Cup golf players, I saw a first chance to make a little picture of the Prince of Wales. Somehow, I could not do it, surreptitiously, as he sat at a little table on the lawn by the old club house.

So I walked over and asked him, just as I would President Hoover or Calvin Coolidge. "Charmed," said Albert Edward and squared himself off at the little table. He seemed to recall my introduction to him at Sunningdale, and he got up and talked golf to Pete Erwin and me for ten minutes.

I presented Pete, and the prince at once asked what his handicap was, and Pete, who is a member at the Royal Ancient, was able to say it was seven. The prince said his handicap was twelve.

"I have been in Africa a lot in these last two years," he explained. "And I haven't played as much golf as I should like." "Were you really embarrassed playing with Bobby Jones and Jimmy Johnston?" I asked. He said:

"Terribly. I was frozen. I never got to hitting the ball until the last three holes." As it turned out, that was the time I was able to tell the prince that his play on the last three holes accounted for his side getting a draw. He appeared pleased.

"You really think so?" he enquired.

I told him I did not think anything about it. I knew it. "Well," he said, "Playing with two American champions is quite an ordeal. I tried to learn something, but I could not get my mind on anything but the match, which we were about to lose. It was a sharp match. I was awfully pleased to have been with Bobby on a side that got a draw."

All afternoon he switched from Bobby's match to that of George Von Elm, attired in a checked golf suit, a dull crimson tie and salmon pink shirt with a pair of huge binoculars slung over his shoulder. He came over in a plane again and flew back after the matches. In a most casual sort of way he said:

"I love golf and I have never seen anything finer than this. Bobby is going to play with me again. I think this week-end at Trent Park."

I am surprised that Miss Collett is so far down to Miss Fishwick, though I know that she is a good player."

PIRATES 7, REDS 5
PITTSBURGH, May 17 (AP)—Adam Comorosky's triple, scoring two runs in the eighth inning gave Pittsburgh a 7 to 5 victory over Cincinnati here today.

The Pirates went into the eighth trailing by one marker. Donohue had taken May's place on the mound but was greeted with four hits, including Comorosky's triple. He was then replaced by Campbell. Kremer, who started for the Pirates, was lifted for Brickell to single for him. Sweeton finished, fanning two of the three men to face him in the ninth.

VETERAN OF TURF COPS EASILY

Gallant Knight Second, Ned O Third

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

CHURCHILL, DOWN LOUISVILLE, Ky., May (AP)—Earle Sande and Gallant Knight proved an unbeatable combination today galloping through the rain victory in the fifty-sixth running of the Kentucky Derby. The time was two minutes 35 seconds for the mile and a quarter race.

"Come on, Sande," Roared half-drenched crowd of 50,000 the great jockey took command the race on the back stretch opened a good lead.

Gallant Fox successfully fought off the early challenge of Kentucky pride, Tannery, to beat back the last surging run of Gallant Knight, Crack Brigs and Ned O.

The heavily played favor bearing the colors of William Woodward's belair stud of New York, won by two good lengths from Gallant Knight, of the Aley farm. G. W. Foreman's Ned finishing with a rush, was third length and a half behind Gallant Knight, with Gone Away fourth the last money position, and Crack Brigade, fifth.

Tannery, a dismal disappointment, finished eighth and for first time in years, the highly regarded E. R. Bradley entry were no where.

Seldom, if ever, in the history the Kentucky derby has so great and spontaneous an outburst popular acclaim greeted a victor the mud-spattered, but smiling a freckle-faced veteran, Earl Sande while the crowd milled and yet itself hoarse, the tradition wreath of red roses was draped around the colt's neck.

The Earl of Derby, after vouching his first American race stepped out to bestow the coveted gold trophy upon William Woodward, vice chairman of the New York Jockey club and the owner. The derby today carried a grand value of $61,250 and $50,725, w to the winner, with $8,000 to Gallant Knight, $3,000 to Ned O and $1,000 to Gone Away.

Gallant Fox, favorite, paid short price of $4.38 for each $2 ticket win, $3.76 to place $3.42 to show.

Gallant Knight, which furnished a surprise of the race by galloping home second, paid $14.60 place and $8.78 to show. The price on Ned O to show was $10.14.

The final order of finish, showing jockey, owner and margin which places were separated:

1. Gallant Fox, Earle Sande, William Woodward; 1-1.
2. Gallant Knight; H. Schuch, Audley Farm; 1-1-2.
3. Ned O; J. D. Mooney; G. Foreman; 1-1.
4. Gone Away; M. Garner; V. liam Ziegler Jr.; 2.
5. Crack Brigade; G. Ellis; Thas M. Cassidy; head.
6. Longue; R. O'Brien; W. Hoffman Jr.; 1-1-2.
7. Uncle Luther; R. Creese; L. er Stivers; 2.
8. Tannery; W. Garner; Edw. F. Prichard; 2.

Then she rocked along almost in the same spot for ten years gaining but 171, for a total of 4,273 in 1929.

Something happened. The natural resources were here. They had not been developed. Stimulation was needed. It arrived—oil was discovered. Development of liquid treasures projected into every industry, every business, and profession. Landowners, cashing lease rental and royalty checks invested in real estate, built fine homes, spent money in raising their standard of living and in giving their children better opportunities. Every man, woman and child prospered.

This raised the entire community in size, in wealth, and that higher level is a solid one, not artificial. Natural, sound forces created it.

Big Spring, therefore, has trebled its population in ten years. Big Spring looks upward, not downward.

Not On Merits
 The court did not pass on the merits of the case, merely holding the district court should have sustained the general demerits of the executive committee to the petition of Nicholson. The opinion held Nicholson had no justifiable cause for action. The district court had granted an injunction restraining the committee from ejecting him and the others.

that the results may be meaningful in charging the future of that much discussed individual—the southern democrat who voted republican in 1928.

Candidates for thirty-two senate seats and all the house posts must be nominated at the state primaries, or, in the case of a few states, at conventions. Some of the most noted members of the senate are lined up for preferment.

Among the democrats, Pat Harrison of Mississippi; Walsh of Montana; Sheppard of Texas; Carter Glass of Virginia, minority leader; Robinson of Arkansas, Tom Heflin of Alabama, and Cole Hesse of South Carolina are among the democrats whose terms expire next March. There are 19 republicans, and 13 democrats.

Senator Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee, McNary of Oregon, Norris of Nebraska, Goff of West Virginia, and Couzens of Michigan are among the republicans whose senate terms are near expiration. Idaho, Senator Borah's state, nominates by convention, in August.

Connecticut, Delaware, New Mexico, Rhode Island and Utah, are other states where senators are nominated in convention.

Twisters—

as was a Texas & Pacific Railway trestle near Queen City, Texas, which caused re-routing of traffic. The Sabine River near Carthage went out of its banks today. Should the rain continue, corn and cotton planted in lowlands was expected to be washed away.

Traffic Threatened
 The flood waters were expected to halt traffic on Highway 43 between Carthage and Marshall, as the highway for two miles traverses the Sabine River lowlands. Panola county has received nearly 10 inches of rain in the last two weeks.

Rain, accompanied in many places by hail, fell today in San Angelo and over a wide surrounding area. A small section of Santa Fe Railway tracks was washed out near Tynson, where hail damaged crops, peppered holes through automobile tops and smashed windows.

Ranger reported an inch and a half of rain, accompanied by a strong wind.

SPRINKLE HERE
 Heavy rainfall was reported to have extended from Breckenridge to Sweetwater last night by Southland Greyhound motor bus drivers arriving here.

A brief sprinkle was the sum of the day's precipitation here.

BRECKENRIDGE
 BRECKENRIDGE, Tex., May 17 (AP)—A tornado of small proportions Saturday night swept through an oil field north and west of Breckenridge, toppling half a dozen derricks. No other property damage was reported, and the path of the storm evidently was not long.

It reached as far northeast as Crystal City, where much of its force was spent, and the only damage reported was uprooted trees. A rain of an inch and a half fell here as the storm passed. There was no wind damage in Breckenridge.

CLEBURNE
 CLEBURNE, Tex., May 17 (AP)—The fury of a blinding rain and hail storm tore a wild swath across Johnson county tonight, damaging buildings and drenching the countryside. Water stood two feet deep on many streets in Cleburne. No one was injured, so far as learned, but two houses here were struck by lightning. Rainfall here during the night measured five inches.

McCAMEY
 McCAMEY, Tex., May 17 (AP)—Heavy rain, accompanied by hail, fell here today.

SAN MARCOS
 SAN MARCOS, Tex., May 17 (AP)—Continued heavy rains at Fentress and Prairieles, south of here, caused the total precipitation of the day to amount to ten inches tonight. All highway traffic was halted and rivers and creeks were raging floods.

HOUSTON
 HOUSTON, Tex., May 17 (AP)—An electrical storm, accompanied by heavy rain struck Houston late this afternoon and left in its wake a blazing tank on a farm of the Texas Company on the outskirts of the city.

Victor Lucia, 44, a peddler, was knocked from his wagon by a bolt of lightning. He was not burned but suffered from shock and bruises.

The electrical storm, which was of short duration, was accompanied by a torrential downpour of rain.

ENCINAL
 ENCINAL, Tex., May 17 (AP)—Three to four inches of rain fell within an hour's time here today, sending arroyos on a rampage and damaging power and communication lines.

SNOWFALL
 ALLIANCE, Neb., May 17 (AP)—May time is now time in western Nebraska this year. An inch thick white mantle lies over the country west of Ravenna tonight. East of there the precipitation turned to rain. Crops are expected to benefit.

MEXICAN KILLED
 SEQUIN, Tex., May 17 (AP)—Cruz Solis, 10, Mexican, was killed today when lightning struck him as he was standing in the front yard of his home.

Three inches of rain fell here Friday night and early today.

ROADS DAMAGED
 AUSTIN, Tex., May 17 (AP)—Between $30,000 and $50,000 damage was caused to state highways by recent heavy rains in northeast Texas, according to J. B. Early, state maintenance engineer. No great damage was done to any one road, most of the loss being

BOSTON WOOL
 BOSTON, May 17 (AP)—The week opened with demand in wool very drab and bids inclined to be lower than prices paid during previous week. Prices on some lines of fleeces and 55,000 and lower grade territory wools sagged a little. Demand was fairly steady on original bag 6's and finer territory wools with prices only about steady in the early part of the week. Dealers were inclined to mark up asking prices as a result of newness of interest in Australian wools and a realization that foreign values on these wools were very firm at higher levels than a few weeks ago.

FT. WORTH GRAIN
 FORT WORTH, May 17 (AP)—Practically all grains closed the week with advances on the cash grain market. Wheat advanced 2 cents; corn 1-1/2 cents, oats 1-2 cent and sorghums, 1 and 2 cents. Good demand was reported for all offerings which were light.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON
The baccalaureate service will be held at the high school auditorium Sunday, May 18, at 11 o'clock.

SENIORS FINISH EXAMS THIS WEEK

The seniors of Coahoma High school finished their last examinations in high school Friday, May 15. Since this will be their last year in high school Mr. Kannenberg is giving them the last week of school to themselves so that they may think things over and look back over the last four, five or six years of high school life and see where they made their mistake by not finishing before now, though, a few of them are finishing "on time." It is not known for sure beyond doubt that all members of the class will finish this year and if some of them do not become very ambitious for the next few days one or two may be missing the night of the graduation exercises.

MUSICAL RECITAL

Miss Ferguson of Colorado presented her music class of Coahoma in a recital at the high school auditorium last Thursday evening, May 17. The high school orchestra played several numbers before and after the musical numbers. A large crowd attended this program and was well pleased.

The program that was given came as follows:

Orchestra, solo, Miss Ferguson; vocal duet, Jewell Brown and LaVerne Snell; piano solo, Arthur Runyon; piano solo, LaVerne Watson; piano solo, Veta Potts; piano solo, Louise Watson; violin solo, S. P. Echols; violin solo, Delton Echols; vocal solo, Louise Watson; piano duet, Louise and LaVerne Watson; duet Mr. Theo Collins and Carl Fletcher; Saxophone solo, Theo Collins. Orchestra.

PENMANSHIP AWARDS

The Penmanship pupils of Miss Whiteside's class have received their final examination from the state. These grades were sent to the department of education to be graded on because Coahoma does not offer an affiliated credit in writing. Those who passed on these examinations will be awarded certificates. Pens and a 1-2 unit.

The following will receive a pen: Mary Alice White, C. Lillian Hale, C. Lelia Dunn, C. Eleanor Saunders, C. R. A. Marshall, C. Vera Hale, C. Rama Hale, C. Lenton Hagler, C. and Lois Cook, C.

Discovery

during 1930.

Ten years ago Texas was noted chiefly for its immense size, its huge cotton crops, its enormous herds of beef cattle and its vast grain harvests. It was a country largely dominated by cowboys and cotton planters. Its cities were small and its general development was slow. Business was leisurely and typical of the old south.

Mostly 'In'

There was little industrial activity. The big majority of Texas railroad tonnage was inbound. For the most part, railroad cars were sent into Texas loaded and returned empty. A few loaded ships called at the port of Galveston, but for the most part they too cleared with empty holds. There was little, if any, traffic with Mexico, just across the border. Political revolution and not industry were attracting Mexicans in those days.

Then came the awakening. Oil, natural gas and sulphur deposits of huge and practically unlimited size were discovered in many sections of the state and in the adjoining states of Oklahoma, New Mexico and Louisiana.

At about the same time agriculturalists discovered that, with irrigation the sage brush and cactus lands of the lower Rio Grande valley, with its semi-tropical climate, would bear the choicest citrus fruits.

Almost overnight the Lone Star state emerged from the doldrums into a sea of intense business activity, which has continued to grow by leaps and bounds.

Gas Production

"Texas today is the biggest natural gas producing area in the fourth of the country's production world, and furnishes about one-fourth of the country's production of crude oil. Texas sulphur mines along the Gulf coast produce 96 per cent of the world's sulphur supply. The formerly arid lands of the Rio Grande valley are furnishing thousands upon thousands of carloads of citrus fruits and winter vegetables to the markets of our largest cities.

Ships from the seven seas and from nations in all parts of the world crowd the six principal ports of Texas for cargoes of oil and oil products, cotton, sulphur, cattle, grain and manufactured goods. The ports of Houston, Galveston, Port Arthur, Beaumont, Corpus Christi and Freeport are scenes of the greatest shipping activity. Outgoing railroad freight tonnage is now considerably greater than the incoming.

"Discovery of oil and gas immediately attracted manufacturers, one railroad alone reporting that 2,788 new manufacturing concerns have been established along that particular railroad in the last ten years. Another railroad reports that it has tripled its business in Houston within the last eight or nine years.

Population

Industry, in turn, attracted population, until today Texas can boast of many important cities, including four of metropolitan size—Houston, San Antonio, Fort Worth and Dallas. Discovery of oil and gas suddenly changed drab spots on the prairies into bustling towns. Sleepy little cow towns were transformed in the space of a few weeks into thriving cities. Things happened rapidly. For instance, the town of Borger, Hutchinson county, attained a population of 25,000 in less than one year, due to oil activities.

In the last ten years Houston, San Antonio and Dallas all have doubled in size, and the 1930 census figures will show these cities fighting for first place in population, each with a population of approximately 300,000.

So vast and seemingly inexhaustible is the gas supply of the Lone Star State that Texas is now supplying natural gas in large quantities to other sections of the country, including Denver, Kansas City and Detroit, and across the international border to Monterey, Mexico. At a cost of approximately $100,000,000 a gas pipeline is being projected from the immense gas fields of the Texas Panhandle to Chicago.

Networks of oil pipe lines transporting crude oil from the many producing fields of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana to the huge refineries at Port Arthur, Galveston, Freeport, Houston and Fort Worth, from where oil, gasoline and oil products are shipped to all parts of the world.

"Along with these developments, political upheavals have unated in Mexico, with the result that exports to Mexico have increased at a rather astonishing rate, particularly within the last year. At Brownsville, for instance, Mexican exports in March, 1930, showed an increase of 900 per cent over a year ago, and similar conditions prevail at all other Mexican ports of entry.

"Texas has soils and seasons for almost every fruit and vegetable grown in the United States, and it is interesting to note that with its many new developments, Texas continues to retain her position as the premier cotton growing state, as well as the biggest producer in beef cattle. An important development of the last few years has been the expansion of cotton growing into the western part of the state.

"Much of the Southwest's remarkable growth is, of course, being financed by Wall street. Favorable climatic conditions, and the almost unanimous belief that the Lone Star state's great wealth has hardly been scratched, are combining to make Texas an unusually bright spot in the investment world."

Magnolia Station At Westbrook Is Burglarized

Members of the sheriff's department were on the lookout Saturday for burglars who broke into the station of the Magnolia Petroleum Company at Westbrook. According to information received here, several drums of gasoline were taken.

Miss Edith Gay, employee of the State National Bank, has returned after a two weeks' vacation.

Famous Author Is The Nephew Of Mrs. W. H. Martin

The winning of one of the recently announced Guggenheim fellowships will enable Stanley Vestal, author of "Kit Carson" and "Dobe Walls," nephew of Mrs. W. H. Martin, Big Spring, to devote himself exclusively to work on his forthcoming biography of "Sitting Bull."

Before settling down to the actual work of composition, he expects to go into the section of Canada where Sitting Bull was in exile following the Custer disaster, and to spend some time in studying the archives of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police.

"My research is progressing finely," says Vestal. "I have all wires laid for my work in Washington and Canada and the old men of Sitting Bull's band positively vie with each other in supplying information to me."

Only yesterday I had a letter from the tribal historian, saying that he had been in thirteen battles with Sitting Bull and wanted me to get the story from him face to face."

MRS. L. BARKER LUNCHEON HOSTESS

Mrs. Lloyd Barker was luncheon hostess to the members of the Contract Club at her home on Main street Friday afternoon.

A color scheme of pink and blue was used throughout the party for decorations, refreshments and bridge accessories. The house was decorated with larkspur.

Mrs. Wilburn Barcus won high score and was presented with a vanity case. Miss Jena Jordan was presented with a guest prize, a handkerchief.

Those present were: Mesdames C. K. Bivings, Carl Blomsheld, Wilburn Barcus, Dick Scheig, H. S. Faw, Seth Parsons and Miss Jena Jordan, who was elected a club member yesterday.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Frances Clouse celebrated her fourteenth birthday with a party for friends at her home on 2205 Runnels street Friday afternoon.

Games were played and refreshments served to the following guests: Ruth Williams, Modesta Goode, Pat Davis, Ruth Bell, Vera Kinard, Louise Couch, Jennie Fay, Inez Clouse and Virginia Cushing.

Politician

MRS. CARL V. RICE

TOPEKA, Kans., May 17. UP—A 32-year-old mother of three children is leading the Democrats of Kansas.

Mrs. Carl V. Rice of Parsons, who succeeds John Wells as state party leader, already has 10 years of political experience behind her. She has held several offices in the Democratic organization and is widely known in the Third congressional district.

Her political career began in 1920 when she was elected secretary of the Labette county Democratic committee and four years later she became chairman of the Democratic women of the Third district.

Next, in 1928, she was elected vice-chairman of the state Democratic committee at the same time Wells became chairman. Now Wells has resigned to manage H. H. Woodring's campaign for the nomination of governor, and Mrs. Rice has succeeded to the reins of office. Wells has expressed "utmost confidence" in her leadership.

Patriotic interests also have engaged Mrs. Rice. She has been president of the Third district American Legion Auxiliary, on the state executive committee, and a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and Ladies of the G.A.R.

Her natural interest in children has led her to the presidency of a Parent-Teacher association in Parsons.

26 Philathea Class Members Meet Friday

Twenty-six members of the Philathea Class of the First Methodist church met Friday for an all-day session and a picnic lunch.

Those present were: Mesdames W. F. Steward, S. T. McPeak, W. H. Remele, J. E. Fridge, V. W. Latson, C. Carter, J. D. Luttrell, W. A. Earnest, W. G. Bailey, C. W. Shehane, Max W. Howard, Pearl G. Talley and Miss Cecil Eiland.

This collection of stories, which requires two minutes to read or tell aloud, comes from the wide and varied experience of a man who has dealt with human nature over a long period of years. Many of the stories are illustrations which Dr. Patton used with good effect in his sermons. Most of them are intended for young people and contain a moral of one sort or another. The thing that saves them from boredom is their up-to-dateness. While they are not modern fables, they are lessons drawn from the experience of today.

"They are fascinating and impressive," continued Mr. Owen, who can appreciate their value as only another minister can.

"It is interesting that out of forty-one stories, as short as these, the author can manage to sustain one's interest so well. It seems to me that he fell down only once and that is an exceedingly high average."

150 Mexican Children Will Sing Thursday

The public is invited to attend the closing program of the Mexican public school next Thursday evening at the Mexican W.O.W. hall on north west Fourth street.

According to Mrs. S. H. Morrison, who has been working with the children for years, if you have never heard this group of more than 150 sweet voiced musical children sing, there is a surprise in store for you.

People attending former programs have been amazed and delighted to hear dozens of songs given from memory, and in perfect English by children who could speak only Spanish at the beginning of the term.

Miss Atkins, the principal, is an excellent song leader and has prepared a special program for the close of school.

Sign the County Library Petition. All P.T.A. members carry one. Call the Herald office, 729, if you don't have one in your section of the city or county.

ELLINGTONS TO FT. WORTH
Dr. and Mrs. E. O. Ellington left today for Fort Worth where Dr. Ellington will attend the state dental meeting.

IN NEW PLAY

BEN F. WILLS

Benny Wills, as he is known here, has just recently scored another success in his acting career. He is now assistant director for, and is playing in "The Tavern," now being produced, according to the Sunday New York Times, as a revival in New York.

Benny is also playing in George M. Cohan's production, "Gambling," which had marked success in New York during the winter.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Wills of this city and attended the Big Spring High School. From here he went to the west coast and tried at moving picture acting. He found, however, that the legitimate stage suited him much better and since that time has been playing off and on in stock companies and traveling groups. Offered the part in "Gambling" last fall, he took it, and went with the show when it departed from New York for its western tour.

New back in New York he is playing in both productions at the same time and expects to sail for London soon where one of the plays may be produced.

Reverend Robert L. Owen Praises "Two Minute Stories" As Reading Material For Boys And Girls

Edited By ONA REAGAN PARSONS
"Two Minutes Stories" by Carl S. Patton (Willett, Clark and Colby)

"No wonder the boys and girls rush back for more," exclaimed the Rev. R. L. Owen, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, after reading "Two Minute Stories," which Dr. Patton, pastor of the First Congregational church of Los Angeles has compiled.

This collection of stories, which requires two minutes to read or tell aloud, comes from the wide and varied experience of a man who has dealt with human nature over a long period of years. Child Study Club Will Have Party Thursday, May 29

Members of the Child Study club, who met in regular session yesterday at the home of Mrs. J. C. Moore, decided upon and planned for a party to be held May 29.

It was decided to have guests and present a program of music, readings and talks. This party will be held at the home of Mrs. H. S. Faw, president of the organization.

A regular business meeting was held and discussion carried on. It was decided to use a set of questions and give a certificate to the member who answers them all correctly. The course of study for next year was also decided on.

Those present were: Mesdames G. A. Heard, H. S. Faw, R. W. Henry, J. B. Hoard, J. C. Moore, I. S. Stewart and Mrs. R. E. Blount.

B. R. T. Auxiliary Has Regular Meet

Lone Star Lodge No. 575, of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen met Friday afternoon in the W. O. W. hall.

During the business session, the application for membership of Mrs. Louise Morris was read and accepted. Mrs. Bonnie Allen called the attention of the members to the change that had been made in the 1932 legislative meeting of the trainmen. It had been previously announced that the meeting would be held in Austin, but later changed to Temple, Texas.

At the social hour, Mesdames Daphne Smith, Anna Bell Lane, Florence Douglas and Bonnie Allen served delicious refreshments to the following: Mesdames Effie Meador, Ruth Pittman, Anna Schull, Elvira Stinson, Della Hicks, Ella Benson, Mary Wooster, Gertrude Wasson, Sophia Corcoran, Ethel Clifton, Genevieve Hawk, Crystal Underhill, Eva Fox, Bonnie Allen, Anna Petefish, Jane Sandlin, Eula Iversen, Mignonne Crunk, Esther Powell, Daphne Smith, Anna Bell Lane, Florence Douglas and Master Billie Underhill.

Mr. W. B. Buchanan returned today from Marshall where he underwent a tonsil operation. He is doing well now.

Take A Tip From The Movie Stars—Here Are A Few

One thing the women of Hollywood can do — be beautiful. Hence, when any of them give forth their beauty secrets, the women of the world will do well to lend an ear.

Ann Harding gave out her favorite beauty recipe for hot weather recently. It's this: drink hot water at frequent intervals on warm days. It will help to equalize the body temperature, Ann says, and thus prevent undue perspiration, with its attendant sticky makeup and clothing.

If you would have teeth that rival pearls in lustrous whiteness, brush them once a week with salt and bicarbonate of soda combined in equal parts. That tip comes from Constance Bennett.

Jeanette Loff chips in a word for those who would have enviable complexions. She says to drink two glasses of lukewarm water, to each glass of which the juice of half a lemon has been added, as soon as you get up in the morning. It is important not to have it too hot or too cold, but near the body temperature.

MRS. HENRY HAS JAPANESE PARTY

Mrs. R. W. Henry entertained four tables of friends with a bridge party at her home Thursday afternoon. Using a Japanese motif and the attendant colors in all decorations and accessories Mrs. Henry's party was most unusual.

The house was decorated with cut flowers and Japanese lanterns.

Mrs. Tom Baker won high score and was presented with a flower bowl. Mrs. Joe Clemens won consolation prize which was a flower stem holder.

Cut prizes were decks of playing cards and the following women won them: Mesdames W. H. Martin, Monroe Johnson, Charles Dunn and A. P. McDonald.

A salad course was served to the following guests: Mesdames V. Van Gieson, J. B. Young, W. H. Martin, M. H. Bennett, C. K. Bivings, H. W. Leeper, Charles Dunn, R. M. Ruffner, Gus Pickle, A. P. McDonald, Tom Baker, Joe Clemens, Jack Hodges, J. C. Moore and Miss Portia Davis.

"PARAMOUNT ON PARADE" OPENS WEEK'S BILL

SCORES OF STARS ARE IN PICTURE

Nearly every star on the Paramount roster will be at the Ritz today, Monday and Tuesday, when Paramount's novelty entertainment, the all-star festival, "Paramount on Parade," comes to Big Spring for the first time. Eighteen joyous interludes introduce the famous Hollywood personalities in scenes of intimate revelry.

Different Paramount has made this picture entirely different from anything ever before seen on the screen. "Paramount on Parade" is a grand melange of song, laughter, drama, dancing and romance, many of the scenes being shown in Technicolor. It moves swiftly, with a genuine sparkle. Speed, wit and flash make it one of the most enjoyable entertainments ever produced. Eleven directors, all hit-makers, collaborated on the frolic, under the general supervision of Elsie Janis, internationally famous stage star and director.

Miss Janis describes "Paramount on Parade" as a "party of the stars." She says seeing it is like meeting Clara Bow, Nancy Carroll, Jack Oakie, George Bancroft, and all the other luminaries of the screen world face-to-face, personally.

RICHARD ARLEN. The enthusiastic young star of "Burning Up" and "The Light of Western Stars." JEAN ARTHUR. Low-voiced, blonde leading-woman of "Half Way to Heaven" and "Young Eagles."

WILLIAM AUSTIN. English comedian in "The Mysterious Dr. Fu Manchu," "Sweetie" and "The Marriage Playhouse." GEORGE BANCROFT. Paramounts mighty two-fisted star sensation in "Thunderbolt," "The Mighty," "Ladies Love Brutes," "Clara Bow," the red-headed, non-parrell, deckle-edged, super-heterodyne "It" girl.

EVELYN BRENT. Dark heroine of underworld melodrama. Recently starred in "Slightly Scarlet." MARY BRIAN. Sweetest sweetheart of the screen. Recently seen in "The Virginian," "Burning Up," "The Light of Western Stars."

CLIVE BROOK. Suave English actor in "The Return of Sherlock Holmes" and "Slightly Scarlet." VIRGINIA BRUCE. Paramount's new blonde beauty "find." Seen in "Slightly Scarlet" and "Only the Brave."

NANCY CARROLL. Irresistible red-haired beauty, the dancing, singing, big-time star. Her smiling Irish personality made "Sweetie" and "Honey" smash hits.

RUTH CHATTERTON. Distinguished dramatic star of the stage and screen. Seen in "The Laughing Lady," "Sarah and Son," "Maureen O'Sullivan." MAURICE CHEVALIER. The "Big Happiness Boy from Paris." Star of "Innocents of Paris" and "The Love Parade."

GARY COOPER. Lean, laconic cavalier of the great American West. Star of "The Virginian," "Seven Days Leave," "Only the Brave."

LEON ERROL. Collapsible-kneed, pantomime Ziegfeld comedian. Featured in the stage hits, "Follies," "Bally," "Louis the Fourteenth" and "Yours Truly."

STUART ERWIN. The "Axel" of "Sweetie"; the "Pudge" of "Young Eagles." Blonde, "dumb" and delightful.

ABE LYMAN AND HIS BAND. Dance musicians and entertaining vocalists, famous for their Brunswick records. The "hottest" nightclub band in New York.

KAY FRANCIS. Willowy, husky-voiced brunette. Featured in "Street of Chance" and "The Marriage Playhouse."

SKEETS GALLAGHER. The inimitable comedian whose fun-making enlivened "Pointed Heels" and "Honey."

HARRY GREEN. Dialect comedian of "Kibitzer," "Honey," and "The Light of Western Stars."

MITZI GREEN. The only child actress ever signed by Paramount. Seen in "The Marriage Playhouse" and in "Honey."

JAMES HALL. The smiling juvenile, last seen in "The Saturday Night Kid." The flappers' delight.

PHILLIPS HOLMES. Young, handsome, promising juvenile who went from Princeton to Paramount. A heart-stealer in "Pointed Heels" and "Only the Brave."

HELEN KANE. The original "boop-boop-a-doop" girl. Her crooning, wowed 'em in "Pointed Heels" and "Sweetie."

DENNIS KING. Virile, dynamic, golden-voiced star of "The Vagabond King."

FREERIC MARCH. Young legitimate stage actor who is growing fast in movie popularity. Hit in "Ladies Love Brutes," "The Marriage Playhouse," "Sarah and Son."

Week's Audible Screen Headliners

The Ritz this week offers Paramount On Parade, Happy Days and Devil May Care. Paramount's parade is that and more, with every star and featured player on the Paramount roll appearing. The "masters of ceremonies," Jack Oakie, Leon Errol and "Skeets" Gallagher, are seen above. At the right is a scene from "Devil May Care," with Ramon Novarro and Dorothy Jordan.

NOVARRO IS CAST IN NEW TYPE OF ROLE

"Devil May Care," which opens at the Ritz theater Friday for two days, presents a new Ramon Novarro, and one, undoubtedly, who will add thousands of new fans now that the silent star has found his voice through talking pictures. The strains of "Charming" still resound in our ears, and this is but one of the six delightful numbers sung by the star in Director Sidney Franklin's presentation of an old French play. Marion Harris, the "blues" singer, and tiny Dorothy Jordan, musical comedy star, also add equally fine contributions of song.

From a plot viewpoint the story is a romance of France in the days between the banishment of Napoleon to Elba and his return. In the period, Armand, a Napoleonic lieutenant, finds love while he is hiding from Royalists, in the disguise of a footman. Miss Harris, Miss Jordan and John Minjan, in the principal supporting roles, do excellent work and make of this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film a well-rounded entertainment. No person who likes a good love story, and fine music, should miss "Devil May Care." The songs were specially written for Novarro by Herbert Stothart and Clifford Grey, the former being the co-composer of "Rose Marie" and "The Song of the Flame."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends for the kindness shown us during the illness and death of our brother, N. T. Wheeler, and for the many floral offerings. May God's richest blessings be with you all.
Brothers and Sisters of N. T. Wheeler

"America's boy-friend." His most recent hits are "Half Way to Heaven" and "Young Eagles." LILLIAN ROTH. Ziegfeld's own blues-crooner. The charming fun-maker of "The Love Parade"; the dramatic charmer of "The Vagabond King"; the singing, dancing beauty of "Honey." STANLEY SMITH. The boy-friend of "Sweetie" and "Honey." The boy who made "Sweetie Than Sweet" a national anthem. The newest reason for feminine heart-flutters. FAY WRAY. Beautiful brunette. Leading woman in "The Four Feathers," "Pointed Heels." Whose debut in Eric von Stroheim's "The Wedding March" was one of the all-time sensations of motion picture history.

"HAPPY DAYS" ON PROGRAM FOR THE RITZ

Lavish settings, gorgeous costumes, colorful ensembles, beautiful girls, spectacular stunts, bewitching surprises, new music and catchy songs, all these, and more, are promised in "Happy Days," Fox Movietone all star, all talking musical romance which will be presented at the Ritz theater Wednesday and Thursday.

Featured in the picture are 100 headliners of stage and screen. They include Will Rogers, Janet Gaynor, Walter Catlett, Charles Farrell, James J. Corbett, William Collier, Sr., Victor McLaglen, Edmund Lowe, Warner Baxter, Ann Pennington, El Brendel, Sharon Lynn, Tom Patricola, J. Harold Murray, David Rollins, Paul Page, "Whispering" Jack Smith, George MacFarlane, Frank Richardson, Marjorie White, Dixie Lee, Frank Albertson, George Jessel, and George Olsen and His Music.

A delightful romance leads up to the minstrel sequence with its gorgeous costumes and dazzlingly beautiful settings in which 20 or more musical numbers are a part.

One of the outstanding numbers presents Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe in a mirth provoking sketch called "Vic and Eddie" in which they both sing and fight. Another, and for which a special set was created, is presented by Sharon Lynn and Ann Pennington entitled "Snake Hips" in which she is supported by a dancing chorus of 50 beautiful girls.

Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor have an effective number "We'll Build a Little World of Our Own." El Brendel has a laughable turn and George Olsen and His Music are prominent all through the minstrel episodes.

Solos are sung by J. Harold Murray, Frank Richardson, "Whispering" Jack Smith and George MacFarlane and there are a number of chorus and dancing numbers all in a colorful setting of a minstrel first part.

The grand finale "A Dream on a Piece of Wedding Cake" is said to be one of the most spectacular and surprising features ever brought to the all talking screen. The entire music staff at Fox Movietone City was employed in writing the music and songs, embracing such well known composers as L. Wolfe Gilbert and Abel Baer, Conrad Mitchell & Gottler, James F. Hanley, Marcy Knauber, Joseph McCarthy, Harry Stoddard and James Brookman.

The picture was directed by Benjamin Stoloff and Walter Catlett had charge of stage direction. Sidney Lanfield and Edwin Burke wrote the story and dialog, while Earl Lindsay directed the numerous dance ensembles.

EL BRENDDEL THERE
El Brendel was screamingly funny in "Sunny Side Up," "The Cock Eyed World" and "Hot For Paris," but he is a riot in "Happy Days," Fox Movietone all star, all talking song romance coming to the Ritz theater Wednesday and Thursday. Included in the ensemble of 100 famed stage and screen entertainers are Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, Will Rogers, Victor McLaglen, Edmund Lowe, Frank Richardson, Walter Catlett, William Collier, Sr., George Jessel, Tom Patricola, and James J. Corbett. Sidney Sanfield and Edwin Burke wrote the story and dialog of "Happy Days," which was directed by Benjamin Stoloff.

MAGNIFICENT
Produced on a most magnificent scale, "Happy Days," Fox Movietone all talking musical romance, will be the attraction at the Ritz Theatre beginning next Wednesday and continuing for two days. In the cast of 100 stars are Will Rogers, Janet Gaynor, Walter Catlett, J. Harold Murray, Charles Farrell, William Collier, Sr., James J. Corbett, Victor McLaglen, Edmund Lowe, El Brendel, Warner Baxter, Ann Pennington, Marjorie White, Dixie Lee, J. Harold Murray, Sharon Lynn, "Whispering" Jack Smith and George Olsen and His Music. Benjamin Stoloff directed the picture, Walter Catlett handled the stage direction and Earl Lindsay staged the dances.

Ken Maynard To Appear At Queen

The greatest of high-pressure, sleight-of-hand, take-it-while-you-can-get-it salesmen was the old-time medicine show man selling make oil "cure-all" under the flickering gas lights of his van on the corner lot, which is the picturesque role of Old Harlan, one of the screen's best known character actors, in "The Parade of the West," Universal all-talking production starring Ken Maynard, which opens Friday at the Queen theater.

Harlan will be remembered as the "Captain Andy Hawks" of Universal's "Show Boat" and the hilarious "Porky" of Universal's "Broadway," besides many other varied characterizations, but none seems to fit him better than his part in Maynard's latest picture, the colorful role of the medicine show "professor" whose special prey were the yokels enthralled by his "gift of gab." Gladys McConnell is the heroine in the picture.

DANCE
Sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary honoring the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; to be given at the Casino, Thursday, May 29th; dancing from 9-12; Jeff Bentley and his Rhythm Kings will furnish good music; admission $1.50.—adv.

"HAPPY DAYS"
all star, all talking musical romance, heralded as one of the season's most entertaining pictures, comes to the Ritz theatre, next Wednesday for a two days' run. Most prominent among the 100 entertainers appearing are Will Rogers, Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, William Collier, Sr., Walter Catlett, James J. Corbett, Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe.

the splendid character and value of such a book I would unhesitatingly commend it to parents and teachers for the instruction and entertainment of the children."

"Kingdom Lost" by Patricia Wentworth (J. P. Lippincott Co.)

Some wisecracker once remarked that he was the only person living who had no desire to write a novel.

"Kingdom Lost" belongs to that class of desires which should be repressed. It is just the kind of novel that people who want to write, but don't, always want to write—if you get what I mean.

Fanciful
It has just the sort of fanciful plot that people carry around in their minds saying to themselves: this would make a peach of a story.

The heroine was left on a deserted island when she was five months old. Fortunately there was another survivor of the ship; a well-educated man who taught her as much, if not more, than she would have learned in the public schools at home and in an average university. Fortunately, also, the ship, although the crew and passengers were lost, was not entirely submerged, so that hundreds of sheets were available for clothing and plenty of books to educate the girl and any number of little things that came in useful later.

Discovered At Last
The girl grew up, as well-informed as one could wish. Her tutor died, and suddenly a ship came along and discovered her. She was taken to England to claim the fortune waiting for her.

One must admit that the novel had possibilities—provided any human living could see in to such a unique mind and record its reactions more or less faithfully. Patricia Wentworth (that name sounds awfully heroic-ish) couldn't. All she knew was that there was such an original and clever idea for

NOTICE OF MARSHAL'S SALE.

United States of America, ss: Northern District of Texas. Public notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a writ of fieri facias for execution, dated April 18th, A. D. 1930, issued out of the district court of the United States for the Northern District of Texas, on a judgment rendered in said court, on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1928, in favor of H. C. Reed and wife, Lillie A. Reed, and against Prime Oil Corporation, for $18,480 with 8 per cent interest and cost. I have, this 2nd day of May, A. D. 1930, levied upon the following described real estate, situated in the county of Howard and state of Texas, to-wit: Lots Nos. 8, 9 and 10, in Block No. 1; Lots Nos. 4, 5 and 6, in Block No. 6; Lots Nos. 11 and 12, in Block No. 5; Lots Nos. 5 and 6, in Block No. 9; Lots Nos. 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11, in Block No. 10; and Lot No. 5, in Block No. 16, all in the Earl addition to the city of Big Spring, Howard county, Texas, and that I will, accordingly, offer said real estate for sale, at public vendue, for cash, on the 3rd day of June, A. D. 1930, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m., at the courthouse door of said county, the above described lands and premises.

a plot. She simply had to get it out of her system.

I won't tell you what happened when the girl reached England. I shall leave a few details to startle you; although to relieve any suspense hanging around the plot that it ends happily—it would.

The May Kaleidoscope

With the May issue the Kaleidoscope appears in a new dress. A much more dignified and grown-up dress, as becomes a one-year-old child.

There is a promotion into colored covers, also, which will be a not unpleasant change.

The cost of the colored covers is being saved by omitting the contents-page inside. The name of the contributors appear on the outside, neatly boxed and in the order in which their contributions come.

It is good to see that the magazine retains the couplet on the cover which ties each issue with the months it appears. Of the poems one of the best is Marie Grimes "Freedom" which follows:

FREEDOM
I walk as I will—I am free—I am free!
With a joy in my freedom unending.
And the bit that I earn is a treasure to me
For counting and keeping and spending.
Then why, when the stars and the hovering charm
Of dusk-time and dawning-time find me,
Do I want the close warmth of a comforting arm
To seek me and stay me and bind me?

Democrats Going To Help Us Poor People Soon As Dey Helps Selves, Says Will's Own Andy To Amos

BY WIL ROGERS

Well all I know is just what I read in the papers.

"What did you read in the papers, Andy?"

"Well Amos I jes been setting here thinkin' I jes wanted to come out and help you run the Fresh Air Taxicab, but there has been so much regations going on here in the office that I jes couldn't get away."

"What kind a distortions been going on here in the office Andy, outside if Madam Queens personal telephoning?"

"Well the's been a lot of news in the papers Amos. It wouldn't do you much good to know what was in there, for you wouldn't know anyhow."

"Well didn't I brought you the papers that the people left in the Taxicab, if it hadn't been for me and my regerosity you wouldn't a knowed what was in the papers."

"Yes Amos you did brought in the papers, and the next time I want you to bring in some that was on the seat and not on the floor, and too I want you to carry customers who leave some of the good papers there, and quit hauling these folks that jes reads the Tabloids Papers."

"What you mean those little papers that got all the pictures of all the murders in em. Why Andy I thought that the kind you wanted you don't have to do no reading to pursue one of em."

"Yes dat jes it Amos, it makes me look like I cant read, when somebody comes into the office here on reportant business and dey sees me wif one of dem little old Police Gazetts turned white, why it drops me in dem folks respiration. What I wants you to bring in is some of big papers with less snap shots and more reterials. I am a man Amos what's got to keep reformed on what's going on, now take you, you don't have to know nothing, dat's you have lived this long without it proves dat you don't, but with me running de business like I is, why I got to be able to reverse with anyone who comes in, and on any subject that they might want to reconlader."

"Yes but Andy you don't have to talk on nothing but 'No I can't pay it today, but if you will come around tomorrow Amos will maby have made something and den I can make you a small reposit on de undebtness. Dats all you ever called on to say Andy to any of em that ever comes in, even de Sheriff you jes told him the same, so whats de good of all de reading?"

"Now listen here Amos, is you my friend, or is you aint? You got me all wrong. We's got a business here and I is de president, and you is de personally."

"Whats you mean I is de Personally?"

"I means you is de crew, I is de Captain, and whatever de Captain aint you is."

"Well whats da got to do with you setting here reading de papers all de day, with your big flat feet on de desk, and me out taking a chance with my life dodging these other reposition lines, where de drivers are for using me fur a green light and running right thru me."

"Yes but Amos aint you riding all de time? Why jes think de folks whats in de cab are paying to get jes what you are getting for nothin'."

Good times is right around the corner.

"Yes but dey aint getting what I is getting when I is out on de street standing in de rain, and sno, waiting fur somebody to come ride wif me."

"Yes but aint it de 'Fresh Air Taxi Cab,' dont we advertise it as sich, and aint you there partaking in the fresh air all de time, while de Customers they only partake in the air during de time they are part and passels of you Cab, so again you is getting something fur nothing, while I is here in dis old stuffy office readin' and skeemin' how to let you have these blessings."

"Well why dont you distake of some of these blessings some time? You aint been in dat cab in so long, you couldn't find de clutch, I wants you to know its hard setting and waiting for something to show up."

"Yes but didn't I see by de papers dat Mr. Hoover is bringing us posterity, and we all goin to be doin better before we knows it?"

"Well maby we's doin better now and dont know it, whats he keeping it from us fur?"

"Well de paper say dat Mr. Hoover has jes talked with Mr. Mellon, and Mr. Ford and Mr. Rockefeller and Mr. Capone, and dat means dat de good times is right 'round de corner."

"Well why dont dey tell us what corner, so we can go round there. If we can get some of dis resprocity by jes going round de crner, I is a man dats going to start turning right now."

"Well dey say dat business is on de upgrade."

"Maybe its stalled on de grade. Looks like cording to our business, we is on de grade and our brakes wont even hold, and we slipping backwards, what dey say about us of em dats on de upgrade but goin de wrong way?"

"Well he say he has appointed a Remission to disgust dat."

"Well if de members of de Remission dont ride in our Taxicab what goods dat going to do us?"

"Don't you understand Amos this is a time and degeneration of Big Business. De little fellow dont count. We is in a period of Mass destruction and you got to be immersed with somebody."

"Who is we going to get immersed with? Aint de Republicans fur de poor man?"

"No Amos, dats de Democrats what was going to help de poor."

"Well why dont dey help us den?"

"Well dey will help you Amos jes as soon as dey helps their selves, dey aint doing much better than we is. Dey got to immerge with somebody else dey will be worse off den they is."

"Well who could de Democrats immerse with?"

"Why nobody less'n its the Republicans."

INDUSTRIALIST'S SON

JAILED FOR PERJURY

VIENNA—(INS).—Theodor Zerkowits, 34, son of a well-known textile industrialist and Wilhelm Koennemann, sleeping carriage official, were found guilty of perjury, or instigation to perjury, and sentenced to one and one-half years and five months at hard labor after a fierce struggle in the courtroom against the plaintiff Mrs. Kerkowits, nee Grace Burningham of London.

The Englishwoman filed a divorce against her husband on the grounds that the latter squandered her money recklessly. The couple proceeded on the same train to London, where the case was to be tried. Koennemann testified that a reconciliation and an exchange of kisses had taken place aboard the train while Mrs. Zerkowits denied, alleging that her husband bribed Koennemann in order to be able to defeat the divorce.

After violent clashes between the couple and after hearing counterwitnesses the court ruled that the testimonies of Herr Zerkowits and Koennemann could not be trusted and that both were guilty of perjury.

"She gave me the heir!" said Napoleon, gazing at a picture of his second wife.

Give us a chance to show you... some of the most beautiful patterns in the new lines of wallpaper—they are wonderful.

Big Spring high school will soon harvest its annual crop of graduates. Next to getting married graduation is the most pleasant event in your life; and we know a good many who will vote for graduation.

We have lots to be thankful for in Big Spring, think of the folks back down in Texas that have either been blown away or washed away by the high waters, all those folks ought to move to Big Spring and then they would be living in the best part of Texas.

A CONSERVATIVE IS ANY MAN WHO FEELS PRACTICALLY NAKED WITHOUT A VEST.

Let us figure with you on putting a new beautiful roof over the old wood shingles that are now on your house. No use to tear the old ones off, they make good insulation.

A BAD SIGN Some people think it is a bad sign to raise an umbrella in the house, but it is a worse sign not to have a house to raise one in.

An ultra-conservative is any man who sticks to old methods of merchandising.

"Why does Jones attribute all his success to his wife?"

"Just to convince her that he is a success I suppose."

The merchandise we sell must please you, not only at the time the sale is made, but your satisfaction with your purchase must continue long after the merchandise itself is forgotten. That is our POLICY.

HEADLINE "Ford jumps a Bridge and Turns Turtle." We know it; we had that same turtle in some soup one time.

In our opinion one of the best things about the lumber business is the opportunity it gives us fine people and it really is a pleasure to do business with fine-minded folks.

A man's sphere right now seems to be on the golf links or the ball ground.

We are convinced that Minnesota Paints & Oils are the best paints on the market, because they spread further and last longer and it is not too late to do a little of that painting and cleaning up.

Cal Boykin had a wonderful dance at the opening of the Annex to the hotel on Friday evening. Everybody had a dandy time. They have a beautiful room there and Cal would enjoy having you come to see the Annex, that is what Big Spring has been needing for a long time. We hope that he will put it over in a big way.

Smoothness is an outstanding quality of Pontiac performance—because Pontiac design includes those features essential to smooth operation.

The 60-horsepower motor operates at moderate engine speed when developing maximum power. The 53-pound crankshaft is counterweighted and has the Harmonic Balancer to offset torsional vibration. The crankcase is heavily ribbed to retain the main bearings in accurate alignment. And the engine is insulated from the frame by rubber mountings.

You can sense the result of these quality features the minute you take the wheel of the Pontiac Big Six—smoothness at low speeds; smoothness when accelerating; smoothness when the throttle is open wide! And smoothness is the distinguishing characteristic of a well designed, up-to-date automobile!

MIDWAY

By Merle Robinson

MIDWAY, May 16.—J. V. Bush, county farm demonstration agent, met with the Midway 4-H club Monday. He gave the specifications for planting crops. Kenneth Gunter, James Walton, Woodrow Robinson and R. L. Digby attended.

Mrs. Lee Walton gave a quilting party Thursday, five quilts having been made. The following women attended: Mesdames W. E. Patterson, Charlie Robinson, Maggie Gibbs, Debba Gibbs, O. W. Anderson, Lee Walton, J. A. Shirley, Ralfer Robinson, H. L. Shirley, H. W. Porch, J. R. Merrick, Opal Anderson, W. S. Miller, Albert Robinson, Misses Mattie Miller, Nora Miller, Essie Robinson, Vleora Anderson, Merle Robinson.

Miss Alice Pickle left last Thursday for her home at Eustace, where she will visit relatives two weeks. She planned returning to teach in Big Spring Business College during the summer months.

The school building soon will be completed, the roof having been finished. Windows now are being put in.

Mrs. M. R. Showalter, county nurse, has finished the Health Course in this community. Four women passed final examinations. Mrs. Showalter said she would come to the community and give examinations to any other women wishing to take them.

R-BAR

R-BAR, May 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Ackers, Mrs. Hiram Reid, and Mrs. Bill Eggleston of Coahoma were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Walker Monday.

Mrs. Smith Cochran of Coahoma visited Mrs. Lewis McKee Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Walker visited Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Tubb Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Webb of Big Spring and their daughter, Velma, were Friday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Hambrick, Mr. and Mrs. Webb, and Velma with their son and daughter-in-law left Saturday afternoon for a visit with relatives and friends at their old home near Jacksonville, Cherokee county.

Clarice Hambrick is staying with her grandmother, Mrs. Forrester, in Big Spring this week, while the family is away on a week's vacation.

R-Bar people are showing renewed interest in raising chickens this spring. Large numbers of chicks have been obtained by several from hatcheries in Big Spring and Coahoma. Lewis McKee has built two brooder houses recently, with excavations beneath and trap doors arranged so that lamps may be set to furnish heat these chilly nights.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Conway of Colorado were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Walker Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Buchanan went to Gail Sunday to visit relatives.

L. C. Hambrick was in Big Spring Monday on business.

Farm work is progressing nicely. Cotton and feed stuffs are being planted, as are gardens, melons etc. The sandstorm of Tuesday blew out seven acres of watermelons, an acre of peas, a half acre of pinto beans, an acre of pop corn and five hundred tomato plants, as well as a half acre of okra, at the L. C. Hambrick home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McKee and family spent Sunday with Mrs. McKee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Walker.

Alex Walker, Jr., visited his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Walker, Sunday.

Harmon Hambrick, who operates a small cafe in Jones Valley, Big Spring, visited his parents here Saturday night. On returning to his place of business he discovered a hungry thief had entered and, among other things had taken bars of candy, two bottles of milk, two pies, meat, coffee and soda pop.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Walker visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Walker, Sunday.

Mrs. W. C. Rogers, Mrs. Wiley Davis and Mrs. Allen Rogers were in Big Spring Saturday for the county council meeting of home demonstration clubs.

Mr. and Mrs. Hambrick were in Coahoma on business Wednesday.

(Warehouses Back of Residence)

TO SAVE RENT AND EXPENSES

I want to announce to the public that I am moving my furniture store from 115 Main St. to my warehouses just back of my residence at 710 E. 3rd St. This will consolidate my mattress and furniture businesses. When calling at my place if I am not at the warehouses you may find me at my residence.

A general furniture trading business will be conducted as I have been doing at my old stand. A part of my stock has been sold to Mr. Dennis, who has been in business in Jones Valley and he will continue in business at my old stand where I hope he will have a successful business. Any courtesies shown him will be appreciated by me.

If you fail to find what you want at Mr. Dennis' store drive to my place—E. 3rd and Owens—and see if I have it.

I want to express my appreciation for the nice business that I have had for the last eight years and for the encouraging expressions and kindnesses shown me since opening my store on my birthday, May 15, 1922. Just eight years from the day I opened I began moving out of this Main St. building.

Call on Mr. Dennis and drop into my store once in a while as I will still be glad to see you. My business will be a little way from the main business section, but there will be PLENTY OF PARKING SPACE. Remember that I will make new mattresses and make over old ones and that I will be better prepared to serve you in the mattress line.

Goodyear offers a new heavy duty Balloon

A BEAU BRUMMELL for Lookie

A HUSKY
for Wear!

Here's a new tire by Goodyear for the heavy car, the fast driver, the tough and rocky road—for any service that's arduous in the extreme!

It steps apart from other Heavy Duty balloons not only by its greater strength and improved construction, but also by its strikingly handsome appearance.

It's a big, stout, massively proportioned tire, armored with an extra-thick and extra-safe All-Weather Tread, and around its sleek black side-wall runs a single identifying stripe of silver.

New and original is the way in which the outer rows of All-Weather blocks are faceted down into the side-wall, a touch as smart as anything in modern sculpture.

You may be willing to pay a little more for a tire which gives you extra immunity against puncture, extra protection against blowout, extra mileage even in hard continuous service.

If you feel that way about it, go see the nearest Goodyear Dealer, and have him change over your car's tire equipment to these new Goodyear Heavy Duty balloons today!

HERALD CONTRACTS FOR BEST OF HUMOR FOR PRESENTATION TO READERS EACH WEEK

C. A. VOIGHT

CREATOR OF BETTY

Meet Mr. Voight and his famous funny family consisting of "Betty," Lester De Pester, neglected, but ardent and constant wooer, a host of other and more popular male admirers and a galaxy of pretty girls.

Voight's "Betty" is famous the country over, not merely because of its humor but also for its artistic merit. Voight is an artist of rare ability. He is not only a clever humorist but a wonderful draftsman. His "Betty" in flesh would be quite as much sought after as she is in the picture. There is nothing of the "slap stick" in Voight's work. The comic is clean and of a humorous wholesomeness.

Beginning Next Sunday—These Nationally Read Comic Features Will Appear Each Week in The Herald!

Mr. and Mrs. — By Claire Briggs
Reg'lar Fellers . . . By Gene Byrnes
Pa's Son-In-Law By C. H. Wellington
Betty By Chas. A. Voight
Peter Rabbit . . . By Harrison Caddy Clarence By Weare Holbrook and
F. Fogarty
Brutus By Johnny Gruelle
Slim Jim By Armstrong

CREATOR OF PETER RABBIT

Harrison Caddy, artist, illustrator and creator of Peter Rabbit is also an author. His ambition to illustrate was shown in his boyhood when he drew many fine pictures while attending school. At seventeen, Mr. Caddy went to New York where he sold his first pictures to a magazine owned by Harper Brothers.

Mr. Caddy began a series of illustrations for Ladies Home Journal and the Country Gentleman. Following that he became connected with Life, on whose staff he has been for twenty-four years. He has written and illustrated many children stories which have appeared in magazines.

HARRISON CADDY

Johnny Gruelle, author and illustrator of "Brutus" is not a new comer in the Sunday comic field. He has had various successes but has put them aside because of the press of work on his half million issue books. Now he has come back to the Sunday comic field to stay because, as he says, it's really the thing he wants to do.

Gruelle made full page cartoons called Yapps Crossing beginning in 1912 and stopping in 1923 for Judge, and full page drawings called Yahoo Center for Life for three years. He has sold stories and illustrations to Woman's Home Companion, Good Housekeeping, Designer, Modern Priscilla, Delineator and for the last eleven years has been doing serials for The Woman's World.

Weare Holbrook is a Corn Belt product. He was born in Onawa, Iowa, where his parents still reside, and he attended the state university at Iowa City.

His college career was distinguished, if not brilliant. He took part in every student activity and was said to be one of the most versatile young men in the school. Following his graduation, Holbrook became a reporter for the Daily News at Whittier, California where he remained for four years. Going to New York in 1925 as a free-lance writer, he began doing Sunday feature articles and was also a contributor to College Humor, Smart Set and the New Yorker. Mr. Holbrook is at present collaborating with Frank Fogarty in the production of "Clarence" which will appear regularly in the Sunday Herald.

When an artist turns from featuring grown-ups in his cartoons and uses kids for his comedy, and keeps it up for a number of years, each of which sees their popularity increase, it is a sure indication, the cartoonist had the right dope or hunch. Gene Byrnes' "Reg'lar Fellers" were created by him, but they have made him.

There is nothing mythical or abnormal about these kids. They are just every-day boys. Byrnes has taken the characters from real life and what they do and say. It is because of this that the characters strike a sentimental chord. While an artist in New York it occurred to Byrnes that the life of a regular kid and his many escapades might furnish the material for a kid comic strip. Mulling over his early career, the idea was born.

A good many people have wondered if the characters of the comic were from real life or not. Shorty Cook, for instance, is George T. Cook, President of the George Cook Nut & Bolt Works of Kansas City. Bump Hudson is a thriving dentist in New York City. Beano Golden is a well-known architect of New York and the redoubtable Puddin-head Duffy is none other than Warren P. Duffy, an oil promoter of Fort Worth, Texas.

Byrnes says that for every kid characteristic, he'll show you a similar one among men. The speaker at the banquet is similar to the kid who can tell whoppers back of the wood shed. The bunch assembled at the Rotary or Kiwanis Club is the grown up organized gang that used to hold sessions in the hayloft. The banker sneaking away to the golf course is the kid playing hooky.

C. H. Wellington, who created "Pa's Son-in-Law," is from St. Louis and received his early training as a cartoonist on the St. Louis Post Dispatch. In 1908 he drew political cartoons on the Memphis Press Scimitar. Twelve years ago he hit upon "Pa's Son-in-Law" which has furnished laughs for thousands of people all over the country.

COLORS BECOME LIVELY

Cheerful Colors and Real Designs

BY MARGARET TAYLOR
Interior Decoration Editor, McCall's Magazine, Written For The Herald

Slip covers, too, are to become lively this summer.

Gone, and unmentioned, are the dull linen covers with sad stripes, which used to make a room look as if it had stopped living for the season.

Now, with cheerful colors and real designs, slip covers deserve the attention of one's own summer wardrobe.

A new idea is to avoid the monotony of the same material for every piece in a room. For instance, in the living room, a chintz or cretonne is used for the chairs and one of the predominating colors is repeated in a plain rug, crash or linen for the sofa.

Unusual effects are achieved by using cretonne on the cushions of chairs covered with plain material—or the other way round.

Cretonnes or printed linens with colored or well covered grounds look especially well on large pieces—and do not show soil as much as light grounds.

This summer Jacobean patterns are particular favorites for the living room, which needs their conventionalized patterns. But whatever the choice, the fabric should, of course, be guaranteed fast color.

So fast are the dots and dashes taking hold that they are tempted to send out S. O. S.'s if we see any more of them.

Fabrics of all kinds, from crepe de chine to some ungodly material called "toothpaste" are flaunting their dotted faces.

And by this we mean the dots of the smaller variety, practically nothing more than pin points, although of course the pea size and those larger are also favored by the smaller women who can support them.

The dollar size is a little out of the running, being more difficult to wear and more common.

In black the red pin-dot has almost usurped the place of plain black satin and when belted, the buckle may be a neat nicker in invention for striped black and white galathea.

Molyneux shows most ingenious use of dotted fabrics. In one suit he uses one kind for the blouse, for the facing of the revers and for the lining of the jacket. And in another jacket he cuts tiny holes to represent the dots. Even for evening he experiments with them and uses a hyacinth-blue chiffon embroidered with large white dots.

Nothing to say about our own clothes!

It is said but true that we have little to say about our own clothes.

Witness the fight being put on by the stylish (?) stouts in New York, backed by the Women's Federation, for the purpose of forcing manufacturers and dress designers to keep their round shape in mind while in the temperamental throes of creating styles.

The designers are aghast.

They are artists, they say. They have only their inspiration to guide them and since when did a downright fat matron ever inspire an artist?

And so we see—we are but innocent victims of the modiste's idiosyncrasies!

QUEEN'S GOWNS SOLD FOR $7.50

Here's a little squib that came from Hollywood yesterday.

Gowns that had graced queens (movie queens): gowns that cost hundreds of dollars, just for the material; gowns you have seen worn by film beauties in elaborate settings sold yesterday for an average price of $7.50.

The new in styles has made obsolete the costly costumes kept on hand by the studios for their stars, and they are being sold for a song. Many of the gowns had been worn but once. Others had been remodeled a time or two, for the minor actresses to wear after the star had used them.

First National held yesterday's bargain sale. In it 200 gowns, negligees and other apparel were put on the block.

Alice White's daring costumes were snapped up by high school girls, eager to wear them to parties. One of Billie Dove's black velvet gowns—the one she wore in "Careers"—was bought by the generously-proportioned proprietress of a neighborhood "quick and greasy." The wardrobe girl protested that the gown was too small. "I'll let it out here and there, dearie," was the reply.

Loretta Young's short-skirted dresses were bought by girls, young enough to be exempt from the sophisticated mode.

Middle-aged matrons bought many of the vividly colored negligees and pajamas.

ANCIENT GREECE IN MODERN MODE

Not satisfied to carry the modern woman back to the middle of last century for her new styles, the Parisian designers have tapped a new source. It is that of ancient Greece. It is newer and more sophisticated, they say!

Medieval or Hellenic, the 1930 bride goes to the altar in robes of white or near-white, which touch her ankles and probably brush the toes of her bridal slippers. Lanvin adds Grecian helmets of silver to her version.

MAY WE URGE SIMPLICITY?

An old obsession of ours is this simplicity.

Long has the floating chiffon waved over this city, but it does so in direct defiance to the laws of fashion. Essentially a summer evening fabric, also suitable for certain occasions such as garden parties, teas and very formal bridges, we of Big Spring wear it to everything from the picture show to the miniature golf course.

Desist, oh please, desist. This is a nefarious practice which needs to be abolished!

Become simple minded.

Wear tailored and sports clothes. Ours is a climate fairly shouting for simple light silks, shantungs, shirtings and their ilk, and for cotton fabrics tailored to the nth degree.

The latest aspect of the silk tailored suit, with its semi-sporting air is very suggestive of simplicity. Some of the latest ones show only a coat of silk to which a wide belt or band of the same is added, worn with a skirt of wool that contains one of the shades of the silk and a skirt of cambric. Smartest, perhaps, are entire suits of silk, severely tailored, with chemisettes of fine lawn and lace.

SHOW A FLASHING ANKLE OR A DIMPLED KNEE?

In Paris, the women seem to be divided in two camps on the subject of skirt length. One accepts the six-inch-below-the-knee length, and the other refuses to go beyond three or four inches.

Without a doubt, however, skirts for daytime wear are longer, but not too long for comfort and modern speed. It depends entirely upon what suits one best.

Evening gowns are much longer, except for dancing. Sleeves express personality. There is the tiny little puff sleeve which suits the small woman with round and dimpled arms and with the three-quarter length, which, however, is being regarded with little suspicion, for it needs an exceedingly ly pretty arm to set it off and even then may be a bit trying to wear.

A lovely new midsummer material is softest taffeta with chiffon printed in identical design and used to make a charming ensemble. They are often developed as evening gown and coat and make a charming one of seaside wear.

Lucile is showing a new butterfly bridge frock in lovely gray-blue with a short unlined coat of taffeta repeating the print in which appear summer flowers and large butterflies. The chiffon moths have been cut out and used as jabots at neck and wrists and to form tiny double and triple jabots below the girdle.

White shantung of heavyweight makes a charming midsummer model with large square pearl buttons fastening the straight dress down the front beneath the matching belt. A rich black crepe de chine is gay with garden flowers and has crossed bands overlapping to form a long, close hipline.

MRS. BORAH FAVORS A LAVENDER OUTFIT

OLD STONE COTTAGE

This little cottage may be built at a reasonable cost, particularly if there is stone readily available that may be used in construction.

The first floor plan includes a large living room, a bedroom and bath and a kitchen with a dining alcove. On the second floor there is a large bedroom with several closets. This may be utilized to accommodate a number of guests when occasion requires.

The front porch is of wood, which should be painted white. All other woodwork likewise should be in white. Weathered dark brown or gray shingles should be used for the roof.

If the builder is ambitious and desires to superintend the building or do it himself, the house may be constructed for $3,000 or $4,000 if the stone is available on or near the property.

The beauty of the design, however, lies in its simplicity and taste in detailing. This should be similar to that found in old homes in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. If this design is not closely followed, the charm of the house will be lost.

If stone is not to be found nearby at a nominal cost, it is recommended that the house be built of frame construction. To buy stone from some distant point, of course, would mean a vast difference in expense.

The actual cost of such a house naturally will vary considerably, depending on the material used and the cost of stone, if stone is used. Any estimate should take these factors into consideration.

200 Barrels Each

THE HOWARD GLASSCOCK county field, already "prorated to death," according to many oil men, finds itself under even more strict regulations for the remainder of the month.

The local field has been reduced to a smaller portion of its potential production than any of the principal fields of the state. Yates and Winkler have been placed under restrictions, but they are not as stringent as ours.

The new Ector county field, the Van pool in East Texas, and the Hobbs, New Mexico, rush, it appears, are having an effect upon pipeline companies' attitudes toward Howard and Glasscock.

The larger companies, owning both production and pipelines, usually take more oil from fields where they own wells and acreage than from those where they must buy from smaller concerns. It is noticeable that these larger companies have done practically all the drilling in Van, that they sank the first wells in Ector county and that they have the Hobbs field pretty well under ownership control. Those fields are not under production.

As things now stand a Howard county well capable of producing 2,500 barrels daily is allowed to run but 200 barrels. However, a well capable of producing but 200 barrels may run its full potential.

If, indeed, there is actual over-production of crude oil, the most serious threat upon the industry is the opening of new pools. It is strange that the very companies that have preached most of actual and economic waste, proration and restriction are the ones that are opening these new fields.

It is also noticeable that these new fields are being given preference over those already opened. The result is that the smaller producer in an older field can not produce his oil and, for that small portion he is allowed to sell, he receives a price too low to make him a profit—in fact he loses money on every barrel.

There perhaps is some way to regulate oil production by arbitrarily laying down sets of rules. But, a method equitable to all interested in the industry has not as yet been developed.

Fight For Just Taxation

El Paso Herald:
CITING that El Paso county last year "paid to the state $220,770 more than its rightful share of taxes," County Tax Assessor Frank D. Scotten points out the need for a new deal, a square deal, for West Texas.

This idea is not new. We have known for years we were being taxed for the benefit of east Texas and south Texas, many of whose counties receive more money from the state in the form of school allocations than they pay into the state treasury as taxes.

Old established counties in Texas, which have made their public improvements long since and have no bond issues to pay out, which are building no new court houses, laying no new paving, or doing anything else of an improvement nature, can place an extremely low assessed valuation on their property, knowing they will receive enough revenue to carry on their small county expenses.

Since state taxes are levied on the same assessed valuation as is fixed by the county, the state accordingly receives only a small remittance from counties which follow that practice. On the other hand, they have large scholastic populations and draw heavily from the state school fund. Hence they receive back from the state more than they contribute.

The difference is made up from West Texas. Here is the young developing part of the state, where money is most needed, we are placed under the unfair handicap of having to help support the schools of each and south Texas.

The reason is that West Texas counties have to have higher assessed valuations on property in order to raise money they need to meet their ordinary running expenses and pay off their bond indebtedness incurred for public improvements. They are now in the process of making improvements which the older counties either have made long since, or are doing without.
Consequently, with a high assessed valuation on property, they are obliged to pay a correspondingly greater sum into the state treasury.

As pointed out by Mr. Scotten, 57 of our West Texas counties are being taxed $3,000,000 a year over and above their rightful share, while 90 counties in other parts of the state are escaping their rightful taxation.

This has been going on for years.
Attention has been called to it repeatedly, through the press and otherwise. Tax assessors' conventions have pondered upon the problem, but no solution has appeared.
Efforts have been made in the legislature to relieve the West Texas counties and force others to bear a fair share of the cost of state government. It has been opposed successfully by the one-galvanized statemen of the piney woods.

There is an urgent need to revise the entire tax laws of Texas, which are hopelessly antiquated and utterly unjust to our western counties. A resolution calling for a reconsti-tution of such laws was adopted at a recent meeting of county assessors and submitted to the legislature.

Our voters should impress on their members of the legislature not to support one single measure of any kind offered by an east or south Texas member unless with the assurance that the member from east or south Texas will, in turn, vote for revision of the tax laws.

In addition to that, we of West Texas should demand of every candidate for governor an assurance that if elected he will not be passively "in favor" of tax law revision but that he will work for it actively and urgently.

This is something we should bear down upon, and bear down hard.

We should work for it early and late, as a mere matter of a square deal. Our West Texas counties are entitled to that much. They are entitled to that much. They are not getting it. Nobody is going to hand it to us. We are going to have to fight for it.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Typical Carriers
To be a prisoner for life is certainly a cruel fate, the more so if one has committed no overt crime. But when a person is "innocently" the cause of hundreds of cases of typhoid, then society has a right to defend itself. At least, so the court ruled in the case of The People vs. Mary.

Mary was for three years a cook in a family. Then, in 1901, she developed typhoid fever. A visitor to the family where she worked developed the disease. A month later the laundress of the family also came down with it. In 1902, Mary changed places and soon seven members of the household were ill.

In 1904 she went to work on Long Island. Within three weeks after her arrival, four servants were affected. In 1906 Mary went to another family and six more victims developed the disease.
From 1902 to 1907 Mary is known to have been in contact with at least twenty-six cases of typhoid fever.

Mary was put under sanitary supervision. Then she escaped and in 1916 secured a position as cook in a hospital for women. Soon thereafter, twenty-five cases of typhoid developed in the hospital, affecting principally the doctors, nurses and other help of the institution. Mary was discovered and placed in a hospital.

A certain percentage (2 to 4) of those who at one time or another suffer from typhoid, become so-called "carriers." These are persons who, though no longer sick with typhoid, harbor within them the germ of the fever, usually in the gall bladder and shed them in their excretions.

HEROES FOR A DAY

Hollywood Sights

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Name-bobbing is still one of filmland's popular studio sports. But the influx of stage players presents a new problem to the movies' syllablebarbers who would snip excess letters from names which their owners consider good enough for papa and good enough for me.

The movies like names cas-sily remembered and short enough to fit snugly into electric signs on theatre marquees. The same has been true of the stage, yet there are many here from Broadway, whose names, used successfully on the stage might be aided by abbreviation.

The objection is that players who have achieved any degree of success on Broadway under one name are loath to change it because of the "sacrifice of fame" involved.

Marguerite Churchill, with a 19-letter name, held out against a proposed shortening and has succeeded despite the fact.

But it is doubtful if Muni Weis-enfrennd, who had borne that name successfully on the stage since childhood, could have entertained hopes of becoming a film fan's household word had he not, on entering talkies, become Paul Muni.

SIMPLICITY

Stage names mean much in some cases, where the bearers have celebrated them through years of prominence, but how little they mean to youth is illustrated forcefully in the case of Reginald Denny.

When talkies took him from the stage his nominal similarity to Reginald Denny prompted an immediate change. Now film fans who never heard of Dandy know John Garrick for his work in just a few talkies.

Still, important though names often be, the old rule holds in the movies as in other competitive fields: give a better performance than your rivals, and more personality, and fans will remember you though his name be John Doe and yours sounds like a Russian grandduke's.

ABSENT ROLE

One must always have something to say in Hollywood. William Powell relates that one of his friends congratulated him for "a superb performance in 'The Bishop Murder Case,'"—the one Philo Vance talkie—Powell had no part in.

Murder at High Tide

By CHARLES G. BOOTH

SYNOPSIS: Death invades
Dan Parados' isolated estate on San Lucas Island when the hated Parados himself is murdered in his parlor. The dinner table "murder game" of Anatole Fligge, suave French detective, provides a few clues from unsuspecting guests before Fligge tells of the murder. He found Parados' body. Suspicion is directed in turn at each member of the household. Claude An-nersley, who claims Parados ruined him financially, is implicated when petals of a yellow flower are found in the safe. Annersley was wearing a yellow rose in his lapel. Fligge then finds another similar flower in a waste basket, and An-nersley is "let out" temporarily.
Samuels, deputy attorney, is groping for other clues when Mrs. Parados is astounded to discover that a jade phoenix, Parados' luck symbol, is missing from his glass case.

Chapter 12
A PIECE OF JADE
So it was a jade phoenix that had occupied the glass case? And Para-dos' reaction to his discovery that the case was empty had given me the feeling that something inside him was being torn up by the roots?

"What are you talking about, Mrs. Parados?" Samuels demanded.

"I'm talking about Dan's jade phoenix," Mrs. Parados retorted.
"He kept it in that glass case.
Don't you see the case is empty?
Dan thought the world of it."

Mrs. Parados was badly shaken.
The pockets under her eyes were bloodless.

"I don't understand," Samuels said. "A phoenix—what do you mean?"

"A remarkable bird," Fligge explained. "The ancients believed in it. It was almost immortal, that phoenix, and always of the female.
Five hundred—perhaps a thousand —years it lived."

"Parados had one of those birds, you mean?" Samuels asked.

"Not alive, monsieur," Fligge assured him. "But in jade. It was sometimes a symbol of luck."

"How much was it worth?"
Fligge shrugged his plump shoulders. "M. Antiquaire?"

"Perhaps $2,000," I said. "They are quite rare."

"Dan wouldn't have sold his for a million," Mrs. Parados asserted.
"I'm not exaggerating, either."

"Why did he value it so highly?"
Samuels wanted to know.

"It was Dan's lucky piece," Mrs.
Parados said. "His talisman."

"He was superstitious about it?"
"Yes, indeed. He believed the phoenix brought him his money.
Mrs. Parados gave a freezing laugh.
"The day he lost his lucky piece he lost his life."

"I'm not superstitious, but it gave me a queer feeling."

"The one who shot Parados took the bird," Samuels declared.
"But it was taken before he was shot?" I countered. "I told Samuels
I was sure Parados hadn't known it was gone until I saw him look at the case."

"Where'd he get it?" Samuels asked Mrs. Parados. She didn't know.

"How long have you been married to him?"

That tormented look leaped into
Mrs. Parados' eyes.

"For 20 years," she said huskily.
"Twenty years of hell."

"Today," Fligge murmured, "is the twentieth—um—anniversary of the wedding of monsieur and madame. Also, it is the birthday of madame."

"I don't see how he fell for such bunk," Samuels muttered.

"Ah, you have not the inward eye," Fligge interposed. "He was of peasant stock—and his were the peasant—um—superstitions."

"Where was your husband born, Mrs. Parados?" Samuels asked.

"In France. But his father was Greek. His mother was French."

"Tell me what you know of his past—before you met him?"
"I don't know anything."

"I don't care whether you believe it or not," Mrs. Parados said. "It is so. Dan said his past was none of my business."

The deputy let it go at that, but I doubted if he was satisfied. I wasn't.

"Any of you people seen this phoenix today?" he asked.

Granger, it appeared, had seen it in the morning when he had laid kindling in the grate. Manning had noticed it before lunch when she dusted the room, and Miss Jahres had seen it in the early afternoon.

No one admitted seeing it since then.

"Some one did—that's certain,"
Samuels said grimly.

A clock in the hall began to strike 12.

"That'll do for tonight," Samuels said. "None of you leave the island —understand? I want to talk to Fligge."

"Miss Brent would like to know where she stands," I said bluntly.
"You practically accused her a while ago of killing Parados. Have you changed her mind?"

"No."

"His positive tone angered me."
"How can you take such an unreasonable attitude?" I demanded.
"You say Parados was killed with a pistol equipped with a silencer!
Where in the name of common sense could a girl of Miss Brent's type have gotten hold of such an instrument? And the phoenix was gone at least an hour before she attempted to take the portrait.

Don't these facts mean anything to you?"

"You pretty-girl-ridden fools make me ill," Samuels retorted. "Hain't Miss Brent two strong motives?
Isn't she without an alibi? Hain't she admitted breaking into the house to commit a theft? Go to bed and sleep on it, son."

I was furious, but Caroline suddenly caught me by the arm. It was a lucky thing that she did, for I was on the verge of losing my temper.

"Mr. Hunt!" she was crying. "You can't help me that way. Please—oh, please don't say any more!"

She was right, of course. I began to cool down.

"It was dear of you!" Caroline whispered, and I felt that it wasn't so bad after all. "I do thank you for all you have done!"

She gave me a quick, devastating smile that left me staring after her, as she fled from the room, with an ache in my heart.

Mrs. Parados was the last to leave. I was halfway upstairs when I heard Fligge say "Madame!"
His tone made me glance back.

"Yes?"

"Madame, in our little game you said that you saw M. Annersley enter the patio window shortly after half-past six—"

"That was only a game, M.
Fligge," Mrs. Parados said harshly.
"You did not see him, madame?"
"No!"

A terrific emphasis was behind that single word. I powdered over it as I climbed the stairs.

NORTON APPOINTED PROFESSOR OF POETRY

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 16.
(INS)—Arthur Mayner Hind, for six years Slade Professor of Fine Arts in the University of Oxford, comes to Harvard University for the year 1936-1937 as Charles Eliot Norton, Professor of Poetry. Under the terms of the bequest to found the chair, it was provided that the term of poetry should be interpreted in its broadest sense, including together with Verse, all poetic expressions in Language, Music or Fine Arts, under which Architecture might be included.

At the time of his appointment to the professorship here, Mr. Hind, who has received citations from the British government for valor

Grand Jurors Will Meet Again

The Howard County grand jury will be called back into session Wednesday morning. It was announced by James Little, county attorney. Several matters are yet to be brought to the attention of the body.

A final report on the term's activities will be made to District Judge Fritz R. Smith at the conclusion of Wednesday's session.

Hit-And-Run Driver Strikes Brakeman

Struck by a car driven by a hit-and-run driver, Tommy McGee, brakeman for the Texas & Pacific Railway, was in the Big Spring Hospital Friday suffering from severe bruises and abrasions. The accident occurred Thursday night. McGee was going to his home when the accident occurred. Found in a semi-conscious condition on Funnels street by a passing motorist, he was rushed to the hospital. He received severe cuts and bruises on his head and cheeks. No bones were broken.

JAIL OFFICERS OF SOVIET LABOR AGENCY

MOSCOW, May 16. (INS)—Thirty-five officials and employees of the state employment agency, the only legal exchange allowed under Soviet law, are in jail on charges of conducting private employment bureau where non-proletarian persons unentitled to jobs were placed in positions for a consideration.

For similar acceptances of bribes the officials are said to have advanced applicants for jobs from the bottom to the top of the lists which contain more than 200,000 jobless. Last fall about 30,000 jobless residents of Moscow were stricken off the employment agency roles as "former people" not worthy of holding positions under the Soviets. Similar action was taken in other cities. This contributed considerably to the "reduction" of unemployment in Russia by 500,000 persons. There are now 1,200,000 jobless left on the roles.

Herald Patterns

AN OUTSTANDING PATTERN

6826. Here is a charming bolero ensemble, developed in this instance in printed silk blue and green tones. It is an excellent style for linen or shantung. The dress has very simple lines. Long shoulders form tiny sleeve extensions over the top of the arm, and flare godets lend fullness to the gored skirt. The waist blouses slightly above a narrow belt. The Bolero has a circular cape collar, and a new sleeve, in 3-4 length, finished with two circular ruffles. The sleeve may be set into the arm-eyce of the Bolero or Dress.

This pattern is cut in 5 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. To make the Ensemble for a 38 inch size will require 6-18 yards of material 39 inches wide.

The width of the dress at the lower edge with fullness extended to 2-3 yards. The bolero alone with sleeves will require 2-3 yards 39 inches wide. To make the dress alone as pictured in the small front view, will require 3-5 yards. For the capelet of contrasting material 3-4 yard is required 39 inches wide. To finish the neck edge of the dress with bias binding requires 3-4 yard 1-2 inch wide. Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 15c in silver or stamps.

The first patent for cement making issued in the United States was acquired by the state of New York by purchase from Canvas White, whose experiments starting in 1818 gave rise to the industry in America.

VIENNA OPERETTA

VIENNA (INS)—Emerich Kallman's new operetta "The Violet of Montmartre" has been purchased by the Shubert interests and will be produced in several American cities next season.

The new operetta, which opened recently at the famous Vienna Strauss Theatre brings no surprise. It is a real old fashioned pre-jazz operetta, with an old Parisian setting, reminding the well-known Bohemian Montmartre ingredients with much theatrical paraphernalia.

The book written by Alfred Grunewald and Julius Brammer is illustrated by a lyrical music, the qualities of which are sometimes near opera standards. The beautiful melodies are strongly reminiscent of former Kallman operettas and certain other masterpieces of the old school. The title role, the Montmartre Violet of the Sixties, a poor Parisian street singer, with a rich coloratura voice was exquisitely interpreted by Adele Kern, member of the Vienna Grand Opera.

On the whole the operetta promises to become a big box office success.

FISHERMAN LANDS ONE-EYED BASS
