THE SANDLOT AT COLORADO CITY: Work has slowed down at the site where a new softball field is being constructed northwest of town as the city is waiting on results from surveyors in order to give the best usage for the 25-plus acres where plans call for at least two fields along with adequate parking to be built. process to make it happen. The application process includes the development of a strategic plan to help communities assess strengths and weaknesses and create a vision for the future.

Mitchell County has submitted a notice of intent to participate in the program and is one of 70 Texas communities that have filed such notices with the Texas Department of Commerce.

A public meeting about the program will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, April 28 in the C.C. Thompson Room of City National Bank. All local residents are encouraged to attend and express their ideas on what can be done to improve the quality of life through the various funding sources that might become available.

Local leaders are hoping that a series of such public meetings will enable them to gather enough information and materials to submit with the application, which must be submitted by June 2.

Kenneth Rogers, one of the organizers of the local initiative, said that input is needed from all facets of the community, young and old alike. He said every citizen in Mitchell County can have a voice in what he or she thinks will improve the quality of life here. They can express opinions about business, recreation, education, safety, health care—anything that they think will enhance living in Mitchell County.

Public Notice

On February 22, 1994, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company ("Southwestern Bell" or "Company") filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas ("Commission") to restructure the Company's Local Transport and Directory Transport categories of its Switched Access Service. This matter has been assigned to Docket No. 12784. The tariff sheets in Southwestern Bell's application, if approved, will bring the Company's intrastate Access Service Tariff into structural parity with the Company's interstate Tariff No. 73 for Local Transport. Southwestern Bell's companion interstate tariff became effective on January 1, 1994.

The transport rate elements provide for the transmission facilities between the customer's premises and the end office switch(es) where the customer's traffic is switched to originate or terminate the customer's communications.

Southwestern Bell proposes to implement the revised tariffs on a revenue neutral basis. Although the proposed tariff changes will affect all customers subscribing to Switched Access Service, the Local Transport and Directory Transport categories of Southwestern Bell's Switched Access Service is primarily for interexchange carriers. If approved, this application will result in an increase in Southwestern Bell's revenues of approximately $1682.00 during the first year. Southwestern Bell proposes that the changes be effective on December 1, 1994.

Persons who wish to intervene in or comment upon these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible, as an intervention deadline will be imposed. A request to intervene or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission's Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221 for text telephone. The deadline for intervention in the proceeding is May 6, 1994.

Gov. Richards declares Tourism Week

Governor Ann W. Richards issued a proclamation declaring the first week of May Texas Tourism Week. On May 1-7, communities across the state will unite to recognize the importance of the tourism industry.

Texas Tourism Week is held annually to spread the word that tourism is the state's third largest industry. The Texas celebration coincides with National Tourism Week. The Texas Department of Commerce plans special events for the week. These include promoting "Wear Red on Wednesday (May 4), distributing a new release about tourism's impact in Texas, coordinating a public service ad for newspapers and supporting community tourism efforts.

Communities around Texas are being encouraged to organize their own Tourism Week activities to increase tourism awareness locally. Commerce's media relations representatives can provide more information on the impact of tourism on local communities.

Commerce's Tourism Division promotes Texas as a premier travel destination through national and international advertising, media relations, travel industry sales and product development programs. In Fiscal Year 1993, approximately 992,000 inquiries for Texas travel information were received and fulfilled by Commerce and the Texas Department of Transportation as a result of the state tourism advertising campaign. This represents an increase of 7.6 percent over the previous year.

Texas is the second most visited state in the United States, hosting 151 million domestic visitors in 1992. An additional 4.2

million international visitors came to Texas that year. Total travel expenditures in Texas by U.S. residents reached nearly $19 billion in 1992, and spending by international travelers added an additional $2.6 billion. The tourism industry provided jobs for nearly 406,000 Texans in 1992.

LORAINE NEWS ABOUT TOWN

BY BESSIE ANN VAUGHN

It seems March and April are in cahoots with the wind—

To blow hard and continue for days on end—

Hopefully, April will influence next month May—

And direct several long showers over this way.

Margarite Griffith and her daughter Patty Hardin, both from San Angelo, were in Loraine last Monday to visit with Ida Baird.

Bobby and Darlene Hamrick attended the funeral of Bill Varnadore in Blackwell on the 22nd. Mr. Varnadore passed away on the 20th. He had many friends in Loraine.

Eva Wells had several family members to come help celebrate her birthday recently. Shirley and C.L. Mendenhall from San Antonio, Katrina and Cecil Robinson from Abilene, along with granddaughters Cheryl Scia and daughter from Midland, Lyn Robinson from San Angelo and Stephanie Gonzalez and husband from San Antonio. A daughter-in-law, Monica Robinson and her sister both came from San Angelo.

The family and especially the honoree enjoyed the catered food and a birthday cake.

Neva and Tommy Guinn of Meeker, Oklahoma, are spending this week with Darlene and Bobby Hamrick and Mrs. Gertrude Stokes. One can tell Neva and Darlene are sisters. Mother Gertrude will accompany the Meekers back to Oklahoma for a month-long visit. Last weekend, Darlene's Aunt Hattie and the Brian Hamricks were also in their home for a visit.

Troy and Jean Keagans were in town this past week visiting and seeing to the needs of Jean's mother, Sybil Walker. While here they also visited other relatives as well. Sybil's other daughter and her husband, Mary Love and Jack Albright, were also here early this month.

Bill and Judy Havins of Pleasanton and Ellis and Janell Britton from Big Spring visited with their parents, Oscar and Rachel Singleton last week.

Royce and Margaret Mahon were in Ft. Worth and Sherman visiting their children the week before last.

Presley Powell was seen headed for Abilene recently with Sandy—no, not another woman—his canine cohort! Sandy wanted to see the wildflowers and crops!

Billie Rutherford from Lubbock came to be with her mother, Bea Lee, recently and stayed several days after Bea had cataract surgery.

Harold Ray and Susan Preston helped Iris celebrate her birthday last week in Abilene with lunch, gifts and cards. Grandsons Matt and Ben sent written messages of love "To Memaw" also.

Rev. Joyce Yant accepted Bro. James Merrill's invitation and held revival services this past week in the Methodist Church. Her messages were both inspirational and motivational. While here she stayed in the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Ruth and Homer Richburg. Joyce is pastor of the Iredell and Cranfills Gap Methodist Churches.

Jr. and Dorothy Green were in Lubbock Friday to keep Dorothy's appointment with her doctor. His report was that she is doing very well after her pacemaker implant.

Little grandma Willie Rose is back in the hospital at Rolling Plains in Sweetwater. We hope she can get better.

Visiting Ruth and Homer Richburg this past weekend were Richard and Barbara Blair from North Richland Hills, Ft. Worth; Billy Dale and Wynona Blair from Winbarger, TX, along with grandson Bradley Blair from San Angelo and granddaughter Stephanie from San Angelo.

Chrystene Hall was in Abilene last week to see her ophthalmologist. She has had surgery several times on the same eye lately and has orders from the doctor to medicate and bathe it several times a day.

Loraine Post Office employees can be very proud of an Outstanding National Consumers Award lately from Ft. Worth Customer Service Support Group...

The postmistress wishes to remind customers who pull in and park along the north wall of the post office to please exit toward the west.

The city "clean up" is still ongoing and city employees have demolished three old houses and another is targeted for the near future. City Secretary Christene Britton reports one razed on West Pacific, one on Campbell St. and another on Smiley. The next one targeted will also be on West Pacific. Charles Bowen is building inspector.

Mayor Martinez and his wife have been working at and watering the mini-park and it's really looking good. We appreciate their volunteer service to the community.

Bluebonnets and other wildflowers have been beautiful up at the cemetery lately. Now roses, iris and other flowers are blooming. It needs more rain, of course, to stay green and blooming.

Memorials to the Cemetery fund are made at City Hall.

Senior Center highlights include a lot of do-si-does early this month. Former resident Fay Hamilton brought the Dellwood line dancers down. The ten dancers had recorded background music going while they put on a great performance.

Edgar and Oma Herm came the 11th to visit and have lunch with friends and with Herm and Richburg relatives.

C.E.A. Mary McMullin reminded us in her monthly report to be careful of excess sodium in our diets. High sodium consumption is sometimes a key factor in producing high blood pressure in some individuals. Be aware that on labels and packaging when "lite" is used to stress less salt that it sometimes still contains too much of it.

Rev. and Mrs. Orville Brantley ate with us and visited the 20th. It was great to see Marcie looking so well.

There is still time if you wish to help in any way with Christmas in April in Loraine. Call Jo Ann Long at 737-2711. She is coordinator, so call and she can tell you what is needed specifically. This Saturday is work day.

Members having birthdays at the Center this month are Elba Evans, Margarite Brame, Eva Wells, Dorothy Halton, Iris Preston, Amy McKee, Floy Law, Dora Sutton and Jimmie Jacks. Doris Henderson will make the special cake for the party table.

Older Loraine seniors were well represented at the Wallace Center lately for the lunch with Robert

North F.C.E. Club meets

The North F.C.E. Club Dist. II met at the Loraine Senior Center at 1 p.m. last Wednesday, April 20.

President Graham called the meeting to order and Billie Ruth Abernathy led unison readings of the club prayer and creed. Roll call was answered with "What I recycle." Darlene Hamrick was hostess and her gift was drawn by Wanza Graham.

The program was turned over to Elaine McMichael, who reported on community-based strategic planning for Empowerment Zones and Enterprises—Aiming for grants.

There was then discussion on Christmas in April. Club members are donating to this effort individually, as well as making 12 sandwiches each to take to the Center on Saturday. Darlene Hamrick and Margarite Brame will be responsible for drinks.

The book review will be held May 18 at 2 p.m. at the Loraine Senior Center and we feel really fortunate to have Bobbie Steakley scheduled for this event. The public is invited. There will be refreshments served.

Other business was touched on but tabled until next meeting. Members present were Elaine McMichael, Eva Wells, Margarite Brame, Billie Ruth Abernathy, Audrey Beights, Wanza Graham, Billie Schroder, Doris Henderson and Bessie Ann Vaughn.

Junell. Both site members and managers stressed the need for the continuation of keeping our centers open for the sociability and hot nutritional meals for the elderly. Junell promised to do what he could but advised everyone to write their senators and congressmen in Texas and also to Ann Richards and President Clinton.

We really had to watch our conduct the 22nd, as both Rev. James Merrill and Rev. Orville Brantley were here! Bro. James did a good job leading group singing.

If you haven't read anything on herbs lately and have an interest in their healing powers, you might take time to read this...

1. Comfrey will soothe the stomach.
2. Chamomile is a pleasant sedative, so you might get your Z's nature's way.
3. Fennel is said to alleviate hunger pangs. We want a lot of this on hand; might lose some weight.
4. Agrimony is used for "protection spells"...might wear this around your neck if you're late paying your income tax or if you have the heebie geebies or the willies.

5. Feverfew can calm nerves... this would be helpful during a doctor's visit when he mentions tests and you aren't old enough for Medicare.

6. Sage can clear the head and rid the mind of negative thoughts. Might need a lot of this on hand when we watch certain politicians on television or listen to doomsday radio talk shows.

7. Mandrake is a powerful laxative. Well now, where will you be when your mandrake takes effect?

8. Parsley is thought to make horses run faster and it is also a diuretic. It's no wonder the horse is running faster; he's trying to get to the equine powder room.

This was meant to be in fun, folks. Please don't medicate yourself with potent herbs unless you have expertise in this field. Herbs are widely used all over the world for medical purposes and for food flavor enhancement.

Thank you, Leila Beatty and Eva Wells, for sharing the beautiful cut iris blooms with us at the Center.

Thanks to Donna Givens, Loraine Postmistress, for bringing the very young down to the Center to meet the seniors.

Donna, along with Nelda Hill, Danny Butler, M.R. Kendall, Gloria DaVilla, Darlene Graham and Lisa Mitchell, all helped with pre-kindergarten, kindergarten, 1st, 2nd and 3rd grade school children to tour the post office and Loraine Senior Center. The children showed us the pictures they colored.

The local "News About Town" is planned as a weekly column.

Its success depends on you and me. I would appreciate any remarks you might have and, of course, your news. Call me at 737-2751.

Take good care and see you about town.

Pinatas still used by many in Cinco de Mayo Celebration

Spanish explorers brought the Christmas-time festivity of the pinata to the shores of Mexico over 400 years ago.

Although the pinata itself has undergone changes, the playing of the game has remained virtually the same.

The pot, filled with toys and gifts, is suspended by a rope at a height just above arm's reach of those who will play the game. The ceiling, balcony or limb of a tree will do very well, but it is important that the rope be strung through a hook, over a pulley or be otherwise movable. Guests usually approach the activity with high anticipation and it is important to allow ample "swinging room."

One guest, chosen by the party-giver, is blindfolded and led to the spot beneath the pinata. There he is handed a broomstick while the others are reminded to stand a safe distance away. An important trick is to give the pinata a big swing so that it will be more difficult to hit. The game can be enlivened even more by giving the person a few spins before sending him careening on his way toward the pinata.

The guest usually takes three swings at the pinata, while the group sings Happy Birthday or any other song appropriate to the celebration. If he is unsuccessful—and the suspense is as exciting as the actual breaking—he passes the stick and blindfold to the next guest and the game goes on until the pinata is broken. When the contents fall to the floor, a scrambling for the sweets begins.

CHIEF LONE WOLF

BY JIM BAUM

Charles Earnest Porter, native of Mitchell County, now a resident of Ocala, Florida, is the undisputed Trivia King of Colorado City. When he reads one of these columns, it invariably triggers an avalanche of memories from his growing up days here.

Case in point: the story about Peggy Ratliff "hopping" milk for Bodine's Dairy. Porter did some of that hopping himself. "For free," he writes to tell us. "We worked out of the back of a pickup truck. There was a guy named John Harold Colson who was actually paid by Jim Bodine. Crates were either of wooden sides with wire dividers or the new all wire [type]."

Porter also remembers there were "12 quart bottles to the crate or else 24 pints." The bottles had flanged tops and "we left the running boards on the run and got back on the same way."

He said he only had one accident. His foot hit a soft sandy spot "on the sidewalk at Mrs. George Plaster's house. One bottle broke and I got a small cut on my left arm."

Ironically, about three years ago, Porter had an itching on that arm; he scratched a small knot "and out came a small piece of glass." He had been carrying that portion of the milk bottle since about 1935, a period of 55 years.

There was a cardboard stopper at the top of the milk bottles. Porter has another bit of trivia on that. "Cold mornings when the cream froze in the milk, the stopper would be sitting a half inch to an inch above the top of the bottle. The cream rose to the top on all that 'Grade A Raw' milk."

Another story which hit home for Porter was the column about rodeos at the arena east of town by the cemetery. "Boy Scouts were ushers for the reserved seats" in about 1936 or '37, Porter wrote. The scouts also raised money by staffing a Coke concession stand at the amphitheatre at Ruddick Park.

On nights when there were talent shows, attended literally by thousands, the scouts had their stand at the top of the seating area. "We had to spend the night there to keep people from gettin' the drinks [for free]. Plus, it was an excuse for us to camp out those two nights."

In addition to dipping their hands in ice cold water, Porter says they also had to "chip those 100 pound blocks of ice to ice down the drinks, too. We got our scout percentage the old fashioned way...we earned it," Porter wrote.

Getting back to the rodeos, he remembers some of the movie stars who made personal appearances here. Johnny Mack Brown, for example. "He was an All-American football player for Alabama, became a movie star in the early- to mid-'30s, handsome, great deep drawling voice." Some thirty years later, Porter saw Brown again in Jackson, Mississippi. The one-time movie star was employed by a carnival as a side show attraction at the state fair.

Another star who appeared here was Wild Bill Elliott. "I remember," Porter stated, "that he was undoubtedly the best horseman of the stars who came here. Porter says he heard Elliott once went to the Spade Ranch, mounted a strange cutting horse, worked the animal a few minutes, then looped the reins over the saddle horn, folded his arms over this chest and cut out a cow using only his legs to guide the horse!"

Sometimes Porter comes up with tidbits that have nothing to do with the columns. Take the subject of paving, for instance. "I am pretty sure that Hickory Street was the first long north-south street to be paved, probably because it was the 'new' Snyder Highway. Of course, all the property owners had to pay an assessment as to the cost."

"But would you believe it, if you didn't want to pay it, they just put in a one-foot wide cement border out to the center of the street, then up the middle of the street to your other east-west property line, then back to the curb line."

Porter says he remembers "one such blank spot on the west side of Hickory, middle third of the block, between 9th and 10th. The owner of the property was grocery store owner J. Tucker. 'Course, there were eventually similar blanks all over town as paving progressed."

Charles Earnest Porter is the nephew of the late Joe Earnest. His letters are always full of great Colorado City memories. (The quotes in this column are taken from correspondence over the past couple of years.)

As we said, he is the King of Colorado City Trivia. His letters are priceless reminders of what went on in our town during another era.

MUSEUM POTPOURRI

Exhibit at Museum

"The Heart of West Texas Museum cultural calendar is rapidly being filled," says curator Liz Connell. She said an entire room has been devoted to Mexican culture. It has been made ready in time for the Cinco de Mayo celebration.

Colorful handmade fans used in the Snyder Catholic Church Fiesta are being utilized as well as artifacts loaned by local citizens who have designed the exhibit. The public is invited to see this part of our past during museum hours, 2-5 p.m. May 5, 6 and 7.

The Colorado City Baile Folklorico Dancers will perform May 5 from 3:30 to 4 p.m. Refreshments will be prepared and served by museum staff.

Plans are underway to honor June nineteenth events and also July 4th. The fun contest of Dad's Day Tie Party will be June 10-30. Bring those wonderful old or new ties by the museum now so they may be placed for display and judging.

While visiting your city-owned museum, take time to see the student art exhibit in the large upstairs room. Also, see the unique and valuable antique ice storage box, circa 1890's. This was a gift from the late Dot Moeser. This one-of-a-kind treasure is from England and is made of oak.

Other exhibits currently of local interest to be seen are the dairy display and the display of early Mitchell County oilfields. The Bodine family collection of items used in the dairy business for some 50 years contains almost all things needed except the cows.

Pictures of early day oilmen, Col-Tex Refinery and items used in the business call to mind the "boom" days of the oil business. Pictured, too, is the shallow well producing "Sunflower Oil Field," located just west of the Colorado River. This unusual oilfield was featured in Life magazine.

Many volunteer hours are utilized by the museum as the mammoth job of identifying, numbering and cataloging of the pictorial past continues. If you have time and an interest, you are encouraged to become a working part of this and other projects of upkeep and progress of your museum at 340 E. 3rd St.

OUTDOORS

BY RANDY BULLARD
GAME WARDEN

Just received some statistics from Austin. The Texas hunter education courses appear to be working. For the second year in a row, an all-time low of six people were killed in hunting-related accidents during 1993. This is amazing considering the size of the state and the enormous number of hunters.

Texas has had six hunting deaths each of the last two years, well below the 28-year average of 17.21. Three of the past four years (1990, 1992 and 1993) are the only years since records have been kept, beginning in 1966, that hunting fatalities numbered in single digits.

There were 58 total reported accidents last year, which is down four from the previous year and well below the 28-year average of 76 per year.

Hunting is a relatively safe sport when compared to accident statistics in swimming, hiking, fishing and certainly in hang gliding, rock climbing and bungee jumping. However, even one accident represents a tragedy which easily could have been avoided through increased knowledge, ability or attitude regarding common sense practices. It is the attitude category which indicates a high incident rate among adult males.

Two of the fatalities came while hunting coyotes, one involving a rancher dismounting a tractor in Brazos County and the other involved a Uvalde County man who pulled a loaded rifle out of his truck by the barrel and bumped the trigger. The other fatalities were a 19-year-old shooting snakes in Willacy County, a 19-year-old hunting waterfowl in Wharton County, a 10-year-old hunting squirrels in Titus County and a white-tailed deer hunter in Liberty County.

Lack of skill and aptitude, shown in careless handling of firearms, accounted for the majority of the accidents as well as lack of hunter judgment, which includes victims being covered by the shooter.

The fact that hunting accidents are decreasing demonstrates that the hunter education program is a seed to responsible behavior afield. More hunting accidents could be avoided if adults took a more active role in hunter education.

On a different note, Governor Ann Richards helped return a golden eagle to the wild at a site known as the Big Hill of Big Bend Ranch State Natural Area, about 15 miles west of Lajitas and near Dark Canyon on the Rio Grande.

She assisted John Karger of Last Chance Forever, a non-profit group in San Antonio specializing in rehabilitating sick or injured birds of prey and returning them to the wild, in the release of the golden eagle.

According to Karger, it is expected the eagle may ultimately leave West Texas, since golden eagles normally begin migrating north in late March or early April.

The eagle was found with a puncture wound to the chest on December 6 in Baylor County and was transported by Game Warden Donnie Fitts to the Last Chance Forever facility. Here the bird went through treatment and testing before being judged ready to return to the wild.

Golden eagles can fly at great speeds; they have been clocked at more than 100 miles per hour on a dive. They can recognize their own species at ten miles away and can detect a rabbit on the ground at one mile away. An estimated 20,000 golden eagles inhabit North America and they are protected by law.

Circus coming to Colorado City Sunday

A part of history is coming to Mitchell County Ag Barn. Allen Bros. Circus will present two performances in Colorado City on Sunday, May 1, at 2:00 and 4:00 p.m.. The show is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Advance tickets are available from any member. Buy now and save $2 per ticket.

One of America's oldest forms of entertainment is coming to town. As early as the 1800s, traveling groups of thespians, jugglers, dancers, singers and magicians traveled the New West. Traveling was hard. Often these brave nomads would perform under a tree. If lucky, the town had a local saloon and a stage on which these talented folks could entertain and mesmerize cowboys, miners, storekeepers and pioneer families. Occasionally, these travelers had to circle around unfriendly Indian camps. Other times there was a wild ride as a frenzied dash was made to outrun hostile Indian bands.

A lot has happened to the world of circus since those early days. The circus still travels in a caravan but nowadays their trusty steeds are replaced by diesel trucks, shiny trailers and performers' motor homes and travel trailers. Instead of sending a scout ahead to find water and grazing and a place to "bed down" for the night, the caravan pulls into a gas station or truck stop to fuel-up and buy snacks. Then, one after another, they continue down the highway until they come to the next town.

These nomadic people travel a never-ending highway dotted with cities, towns and villages. It is sometimes a rugged life for these hardy folks. These entertainers have chosen this way of life. They have a desire to bring happiness to young and old alike. The applause, cheers and happy expressions on the faces of children make it all worthwhile.

When the show is over and everyone has gone home, there is still much to be done. The animals must be fed and loaded into trailers for their nightly trip and the huge circus tent and all the concessions and exhibits must be packed. The driver of the lead unit double checks the route, then the circus once again travels that highway to another town. But they are happy in the realization that they have left behind miles of smiles. They know, too, that there are laughter, applause and more smiles waiting ahead.

TWO CLOWNS WITH THE ALLEN BROS. CIRCUS are ready to make you laugh as their circus rolls into Colorado City for two shows on Sunday, May 1st at 2:00 and 4:00 p.m. Tickets may be purchased in advance from members of Colorado City Chamber of Commerce. The Allen Bros. Circus can be seen at the Mitchell County Ag Barn.

NAGANAS, "KING OF THE REPTILES," will be appearing with Allen Bros. Circus on Sunday, May 1 in Colorado City. There will be two shows, at 2:00 and 4:00 p.m., sponsored by the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce. Don't miss the Allen Bros. Circus.

ALLEN BROS. CIRCUS will show in Colorado City on Sunday, May 1st under the sponsorship of Colorado City Chamber of Commerce and performances will be given at 2:00 and 4:00 p.m. at the Mitchell County Ag Barn. At Allen Bros. Circus, you'll find exotic beasts such as a cagefull of lions and fighting Bengal tigers. Circuses and zoos are an important part of protecting our endangered species. Along with providing people the opportunity to see a variety of animals in a closed location, many now have successful breeding programs to help replenish animals now being lost due to man's encroachment on their natural habitat. Circuses give many people who never have a chance to go to a zoo the opportunity to see exotic animals. Allen Bros. urges you to support and protect all wildlife.

87th Infantry to hold reunion

From September 25 to October 2, 1994 the 87th (Golden Acorn) Infantry Division and its Combat Support Units, 735th Tank Battalion, 607th Tank Battalion, 602nd Tank Destroyer, 610th Tank Destroyer and the 549th Anti Aircraft Artillery, will hold its 45th Annual Reunion in Louisville, Kentucky at the Galt House hotel.

The 87th Infantry Division was activated and trained as a combat Infantry Division in World Wars I & II. In 1917 the Division joined General Pershing's A.E.F. in France and as it was being assigned to the Western Front, the Armistice was signed. In World War II, the Division went into combat at Metz, France and during 154 days of almost continual combat the Golden Acorn Combat Team fought in France, Belgium, Luxembourg and Germany. It advanced more than 345 miles in the European Theater, taking 63,338 prisoners and liberating hundreds of towns. Veterans of the famous "Battle of the Bulge" crossing of the Moselle and Rhine rivers, and the "lightning pursuit" of the Nazis across the heart of Germany, fought many bitter battles from the once impregnable Siegfried Line to the Czechoslovakian border.

The combat performance of the 87th Infantry Division was held in high regard by General George Patton, commander of the famous U.S. Third Army, and the division received three bronze Battle Stars for its most valiant efforts in the battles of the Ardennes, Rhineland and Central Europe.

PUBLIC NOTICE

On December 1, 1992, TU Electric filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission) to make a refund of the estimated reduction in TU Electric's 1993 state franchise tax liability resulting from tax legislation passed during the 72nd Texas Legislature. This refund was made using an interim refund factor that was applied monthly beginning January 1993 and which continued until the effect of the tax legislation was permanently included in TU Electric's base rates on August 3, 1993.

As required by Commission Substantive Rule 23.21 (d), the interim refund factor is subject to additional refund or surcharge to the extent it differs from the factor finally set by the Commission based upon TU Electric's actual reduction in 1993 state franchise taxes. Through the interim refund factors, TU Electric refunded a total of $8,102,278. However, for the period January 1, 1993 through August 3, 1993, TU Electric's reduction in state franchise tax was only $7,636,852. Thus, there was an overrefund of $465,548. Under the Commission's Rules, this overrefund, including interest at the rate set by the Commission, is subject to surcharge by TU Electric.

TU Electric has proposed that the overrefund, including interest, either be included in the next fuel refund/surcharge proceeding to be filed pursuant to the Commission's Rules, or be included in Commission Project No. 12497, involving the refund of bonded rates in Docket No. 11735.

This matter has been assigned Docket No. 11632. The deadline for intervention in this proceeding is June 20, 1994. Persons who wish to intervene in or comment upon these proceedings should notify the Commission by June 20, 1994. A request to intervene or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Austin, Texas, 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission's Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256, or (512) 458-0221 for text telephone.

Just sitting back and cheering may be hardest part of watching child's sports

Youth sports take commitment from both child and parent, but knowing when to sit back and cheer may be a parent's hardest job.

"Sports teach us how to be successful in life," said Dr. Fran Pirozzolo, a neuropsychologist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. "You learn to do your best, to play within the rules, to make commitments and to be prepared."

The more emphasis that is placed on fair play, having fun and challenging oneself, the better the outcome for the child. Children often learn these values by seeing how their parents react at work and play.

If possible, Pirozzolo encourages parents to reinforce the commitment to sports by tailoring their schedules to meet their child's practice and game requirements.

But parental involvement, Pirozzolo says, should not cross into the realm of coaching. He cautions parents to work only on the fundamentals of a sport with their child. Once a child joins a team, the instruction should be turned over to the coaches.

"At practice and games, your role is to cheerlead," he said. "Differing sets of instructions from parents and coaches can really put a child in conflict."

Pirozzolo, who is a psychologist for the Houston Astros, encourages parents to ask their children how they should behave at the game. "Children often get embarrassed when their parents yell instructions every time they step up to the plate. A simple, 'You can do it!' works best," he said.

By supporting their child at the games, parents also get a chance to see what values the coach is teaching.

"Parents should watch out for coaches who promote rule breaking and winning at all costs," Pirozzolo said. "If parents observe what they feel are inappropriate behaviors for a coach, they should ask the coach about what they observed."

"If the behavior was out of line," he added, "the next step is to report the coach to the authorities and remove your child from the team."

Children are the sum of all their experiences, and the concepts learned through youth sports will last a lifetime.

"Never underestimate the impact sports and your support can have on a child," Pirozzolo said. "And don't pass up the opportunity to praise your child for doing his or her best, especially on the bad days."
