Public Hearing

Austin--The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department held a public hearing concerning a development project in Goose Island State Park.

The hearing began at 2 p.m. Jan. 18 in room 100 of the John H. Reagan Building in Austin.

Plans for the park include construction of a superintendent's residence, a maintenance building, concrete shelters, multi-use campsites, picnic sites station, a central sewerage system, landscaping, a concrete bulkhead, paved roads and parking, trails and a drainage system. The department also plans to remove a building from the park and construct a trailer dump station.

Telephone Rate Increase Sought

An application for an increase in basic telephone rates--the first such request in more than 13 years was filed by Southwestern Bell Tuesday with the Rockport City Council.

Ron Maples, district manager for Southwestern Bell, assured council members that implementation of the approved rate schedule would conform with any restraints imposed under Phase II of the wage-price freeze.

Maples went on to tell the council that "continued inadequate earnings on our operations--in the face of today's high cost of doing business--leaves us no choice but to ask for this increase in local rates."

The new rates requested by the company include a monthly increase in business one-party from $10.00 to $13.50; residence one-party from $4.50 to $6.25 and residence two-party from $3.75 to $4.90. If granted, the new rate schedule would increase the telephone company's income from the Rockport area by approximately $87,000 per year.

"Present rates in Rockport were established in 1956, based on statistics gathered in 1955," Maples explained. "Since then, taxes, wages and the company's investment in Rockport have all grown to the extent that we must seek this increase. The present rates, based on 1955 operations, are simply too low to meet the company's cost of doing business today."

Maples stressed that the company has been able to hold

Phones Increase 9.3% In 1971

More than 5,355 telephones were in service in Rockport as of December 1, a healthy increase of almost 9.3 per cent during 1971, Ron Maples, district manager for Southwestern Bell, said today.

"Telephone growth is considered a good indicator of overall economic growth," Maples said. "The addition of 496 phones last year shows that Rockport is on the grow."

Maples said Rockport residents are using their phones more, too. "On a monthly basis in 1971, 18,157 calls were dialed here on an average business day. That's a 15.7 per cent increase over a similar period in 1970."

Looking to the future, Maples said local telephone projects scheduled here this year include:

--The addition of dial equipment that will provide 1,000 more telephone numbers at the new 729 building to meet future growth. The project is scheduled for completion at the end of 1973.

--The completion of the new 729 building in 1970 and installation of central office equipment provided for 5,000 new telephone numbers in 1971.

"Growth and expansion are likely to continue for the city's communications system," Maples said. "Telephone engineers predict that Rockport will have 7,910 telephones in service by the end of 1975."

He added that a record $150 million construction budget has been set for Southwestern Bell's San Antonio Area, of which Rockport is a part. The 1972 budget includes expenses for central office equipment, buildings and additional plant facilities, such as telephone cable, in an area covering approximately the western two-thirds of Texas.

First National Bank Plans New Building

Plans for a new $500,000 building for First National Bank of Rockport have been announced by James H. Sorenson, Jr., president. It will be of masonry, glass, steel and concrete and will be located in the north end of the city's business section on a one-block tract purchased by the bank several years ago.

The plot is bounded by Austin Street on the west, State Highway 35 on the south, Wood Street on the east and Laurel Street on the north. It is approximately one block north of the H. E. B. Supermarket.

It is expected that final plans for the building will be ready in about 90 days with construction to start shortly thereafter.

The new bank building will include a minimum of 10,000 square feet of floor space, compared with 5,000 square feet in the present bank building. The architect will be selected in the immediate future.

Provision will be made for possible later additions when needed. The new building will be two stories high with the lobby and banking room located at the front with a two-story ceiling. To the rear of the lobby will be a mezzanine floor devoted to office space.

The banking room will be finished in stone and wood with the most modern of furnishings and equipment. It is planned to have three to four drive-in windows operated by remote control. With this system, one teller can handle two windows simultaneously, thus speeding customer service.

There is a possibility that rental office space may be made available in a wing or wings attached to the main building. However, Sorenson emphasized that ample parking space for bank customers will not be sacrificed to make room for rental offices.

Sorenson explained that lack of parking space and the need for more drive-in windows to serve the growing numbers of mobile customers were important reasons leading to the decision to move from the present location.

"Perhaps our most compelling reason for deciding on a new bank building was our desire to express pride in our community and confidence in its economic growth in the future," Sorenson declared.

"After more than 80 years of service to the Rockport-Aransas County area, First National directors and officers foresee a bright future for this community. We want to be in a position to serve its financial needs adequately. Incidentally the decision to construct a new building was unanimous. Not a dissenting vote was cast at the recent shareholders' meeting when the decision was made," he continued.

He explained that the decision was not a hasty one, having been under consideration for several years. Also, the bank's building committee has inspected bank facilities in a dozen South Texas cities to equip themselves with up-to-date facts on the pros and cons of new bank buildings.

When completed, the new home of First National Bank will be the fourth it has occupied since the bank was founded more than 80 years ago by a group of prominent pioneers. The first was a frame structure located on Main Street. In 1901 the bank was moved to a three-story brick building at Main and Water Streets, directly across the street from the present structure which was built in 1958 at 1114 Main Street.

When Sorenson joined First National in 1945, it had four employees, including himself. Today its staff totals 20.

The City Council took an action Tuesday night that will assure continuation of ambulance service in Rockport by Marshall Funeral Homes.

The Council agreed to join with Aransas County officials in providing monthly payments to be paid to Marshall for ambulance service in Rockport and Aransas County.

Charlie Marshall, owner of Marshall Funeral Homes, previously had informed both the city and the county that for years he had lost considerable money on ambulance service in this and other areas. He said he was asking all cities and counties his ambulances served to help defray the cost of this service.

Aransas County Commissioners Court earlier had agreed to help out, and now the city has made the same agreement.

Employer Deadline For W-2 Forms

Employers were reminded today by the Internal Revenue Service that employees should receive two copies of a Withholding Statement, Form W-2, on or before Monday, January 31, 1972.

George Zerda, administrative officer of the Internal Revenue Service at Corpus Christi, Texas, said, "This statement shows the total wages paid and the income tax and Social Security tax withheld, if any, during the calendar year 1971."

Total wages shown on an employee's W-2 must include amounts received as sick pay. Sick pay is not required to be shown separately.

If it becomes necessary to correct a W-2 after it has been given to an employee, a revised statement must be issued and marked "corrected by employer."

W-2's have to be filed with income tax returns. Taxpayers who had more than one job last year should attach all W-2's to the back and top of their Form 1040 return.

the line on basic rates over the last 13 years by continued and increased sales activities and use of numerous technological advances in equipment and facilities. These factors, he pointed out, allowed the company to meet some of the increased costs of doing business without asking for an increase.

"The company has done all it can to keep expenses here as low as possible," Maples said, "but the only solution is to request a reasonable increase in rates in line with today's higher costs. We hope the request will receive prompt and favorable action."

The Council took the request for increased phone rates under consideration for future action.

tives. I promise to devote every ounce of my energy and my full time to returning the democratic process to the people."

Citing the recent stock and bank scandals that rocked the Texas capital, Mason added that the need for a complete and renewed investigation of the fraud scandal is imperative and can only be in the interest of every citizen of the state.

An advocate of a strong legislative ethics code for elected officials, Mason opposes the "watered-down" ethics bill passed during the last legislative session."

In addition to his interests in a strong ethics code, Mason would work to reform the duties of the Speaker of the House to bring good democratic government back to Texas. "The present Speaker has shown too much interest in his own personal fortunes and too little regard for the voices of Texans."

Under the House redistricting bill passed last year, District 41 will be comprised of San Patricio County, Aransas County and portions of Nueces County. The portions of Nueces County moved into District 41 by the plan include an area from near the port of Corpus Christi out Highway 9 to Anna-ville and Calallen. In addition, all of western Nueces County with the exception of Robstown will become part of the new district.

Mason has been a resident of Portland for seven years. Born in Eldorado, Arkansas, he worked his way through the University of Arkansas, earning a Bachelor of Science degree and then a Master of Science degree in 1961. He was employed by Humble Oil and Refining Company in Kingsville and Corpus Christi for six years and he has been an independent geologist since 1966.

Mason and his wife, Vertis, have two children, Lara and Ashley. They are active members of The First Baptist Church in Portland. Mason is a Rotary member and active in several professional societies.

ENGAGED--Mrs. Olga McLester has announced the engagement of her daughter, Nancy Jean, to Travis E. Gage of Tyler, Texas. The wedding is planned for February 5 in the First Baptist Church, Rockport. Miss McLester is a graduate of the Rockport-Fulton High School.

Whoopers Seeking Room To Stretch Their Wings

South Texas' favorite winter visitors, the whooping cranes, are looking for a little room in which to stretch their wings. "The population has grown to where the birds are forced to look for new territory," said Lee Marlatt, assistant manager of the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge, the whoopers' winter home base.

A record 59 whoopers, including five young birds, have been counted by refuge workers this winter. Only about 15 of the endangered birds remained when the refuge opened in 1937. Each winter the birds leave Canada's Wood Buffalo National Park and head for the refuge. Marlatt said the birds are making increasing use of St. Joseph's Island, south of the refuge, and one family of birds which he describes as "quite footloose and fancy free" has been sighted as far south as Mustang Island.

Another favored wintering spot is the northern part of Matagorda Island, the long strip of land adjacent to the refuge and just above St. Joseph's Island.

The northern part of Matagorda Island is owned by the U. S. Air Force, which recently entered into an agreement with the Department of the Interior permitting the department to take extra measures to protect the birds on Air Force property.

"The cranes' use of the island varies from year to year," Marlatt said, "but now we believe that as the flock gets larger, perhaps they will seek an expanded range and the island will become more important. It is just the right type of habitat."

At first blush, this sounds strange, since the Air Force uses its portion of the island as a bombing range. "Sure it bothers the birds when they're bombing out there," Marlatt said. "But the birds stay away from the bombing area. And the Air Force has been cooperating by suspending some of their activities when the cranes are on the island."

The agreement between the Interior Department and the Air Force will allow refuge officials "to do a little salt water management," Marlatt said to improve conditions for the cranes. "In the future we may deepen some of the inlets which are favored feeding spots," he added.

"Primarily, the agreement just insures that the cranes' habitat will continue to be protected. There won't be much change in operations, but it insures that should the Air Force cease using the land, the cranes won't be overlooked."

The agreement states that the Air Force land will be administered as a portion of the 30,000-acre national wildlife refuge system.

The approximately 35,200 acres of Matagorda Island land administered by the Air Force is actually the part of the 50,000-acre island farthest from the refuge.

The nearby southern portion, however, is not a favorite of the birds.

The southern portion, owned by Toddie Lee Wynne of Dallas, is used as a ranch. Marlatt said the ranch's grassfeeding areas and dike which has replaced salt water with fresh doesn't appeal to the birds, who like shallow salt water for their feeding.

"The development on the ranch hasn't favored the cranes, although they do use it some," Marlatt said.

As the whoopers increasingly turn to wintering areas outside the refuge, Marlatt is intrigued by rumors that some of the birds winter in Mexico and the lower Texas Gulf area.

"Some people say there is even a different flock which winters in Mexico," he said. "It's an interesting sidelight, but our surveys are just not that extensive, so we can't check out the reports."

Rent Stabilization Regulations Published

Rent stabilization regulations published in the December 29, 1971, FEDERAL REGISTER require landlords to give tenants at least 30 days notice prior to any proposed rent increase, according to R. L. Phinney, Internal Revenue Service District Director for southern Texas.

Phinney explained that this notification must be made in writing. The notice must include the rental price both before and after the proposed increase, the percentage and amount of the proposed increase and the effective date of the proposed increase. It also has to show the base rent and explain both the method by which the base rent was determined and method of computation of the proposed increase. This notification must also show the amount, if any, of the proposed increase attributable to capital improvements, state and local real estate taxes, and state and local fees, levies and charges for all municipal charges except gas and electricity.

The following statements are also required in the notification:

"You have the right to examine the documentation which supports this proposed rent increase in order to satisfy yourself that the proposed rent increase is in accordance with the rent regulations prescribed by the Price Commission.

"If you do not understand the basis for this increase or believe that the increase is not allowable under the rent regulations of the Price Commission, advise us and we will arrange a meeting with you at a location convenient to your residence to discuss the proposed increase and explain its justification.

"It is hereby declared under the penalties of perjury that the foregoing statements and facts are true to the best of my (our) knowledge and belief; and that the increase in your rent is not in violation of the Economic Stabilization regulations."

The regulations allow tenants to question increases and to require the landlord to provide documentation to support the proposed increase. The burden of proof of notification is placed upon the landlord. If any method other than the mails is used to deliver the notice, a receipt must be obtained from the tenant or his designated agent.

Phinney advised landlords to use registered or certified mail for record-keeping purposes to avoid any problems that might arise regarding the date of notifications.

The FEDERAL REGISTER containing rent regulations will be available in early January at Federal bookstores in most major cities. Current information on the Economic Stabilization Program may also be obtained at local Internal Revenue Service offices.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT

By Carl Duckworth

January 11, 5:15 P.M.

At 5:15 sharp, Peggy Loehr fired a pistol to start Jake Loehr and Ed Harper's City By the Sea Fish-Off. There were ten contestants: 1. Tom Andrews, 2. Jack Cowan, 3. Andy Anderson, 4. Carl Duckworth, 5. Ed Harper, 6. Bert Harry, 7. Bob Hill, 8. Joe Lister, 9. Jake Loehr, and 10. Jim Satterfield.

It all began on the south shore behind Payne's Restaurant. If the fish had only been there, they would have been snagged by the flying lures.

Ed Harper was late. At 5:20 in a cloud of dust, Harper's car whipped up on the north shore. Three pretty young ladies, wearing hot-pants, got out of the car. (Terry Tedder, Sandy Johnson, and Linda Sharp). They put a chair down, with a small cocktail table (complete with drink), and stood holding a rod and reel. Last, but not least, Ed emerged wearing a black Tuxedo and white derby hat. He slowly walked over, sat down, and the girls handed him his rod and reel. He lazily flipped out his line. Although he didn't catch a fish at that particular spot, it would have been complete if his first cast had produced a trout.

Bert Harry yelled, "dis-qualify Harper." Several other contestants agreed. Numerous spectators stood watching the contest. Sis Harper, Peggy Loehr, Pepper Everett, and Shadow Harper were kept busy serving refreshments.

We moved to the next canal. I caught the first trout on an old Gray Ghost equipped with new hooks from Max's Tackle Shop. Everyone seemed to have been by Max's at least one time during the day. The first time I stopped by, Andy Anderson was there buying lures. "No use in you coming around, Duckworth, I'm gonna win the pot," he said. Max was out of Gray Ghosts, so I had to go back home and get an old one. This time, when I came back to get some new hooks, Bob Hill was selecting lures. "I may not win the pot; but I want to beat Jack Cowan and Ed Harper," he said quietly. Max smiled. In fact, Max smiled all day. "You all oughta' have more of these contests. It's good for business."

After I caught the first trout, Harper yelled, "Duckworth's got a fish." Then, everybody scattered, looking for a better spot. Most of them went to the east end of the channel. There, Tom Andrews caught the winning fish. His drag was broken on his reel and it was quite a chore landing his fish. Someone helped him net the trout amid shouts of "foul," by other contestants across the channel. All but three of the contestants caught fish. Joe Lister stood around saying, "I should have kept my ribbon fish. It was longer than the trout." Not any of the fish were bragging material. It was almost as if a smart fish spread the word about our contest, and they were off in the distance, watching us, trying to catch them.

Hordes of mosquitoes swarmed in from Refugio about time the contest was over. Contest Judges Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Stautzenberger, holding a flashlight, measured the fish on the hood of Andy Anderson's car. (Andy mumbled, "now, somebody's got to wash my car."). Everyone had more refreshments, then met at Payne's Restaurant so the winner, Tom Andrews, could buy another round to celebrate...Ed Harper thoughtfully put all the fish in Jake Loehr's car trunk since nobody seemed to want them, and Jake's trunk happened to be the only one open....Jake was off somewhere talking, and was unaware of this until the next day.

Everyone had a good time and we didn't hurt the fish population one bit. I agree with Max: We oughta' do this more often. Our thanks to the property owners at City by the Sea for allowing us to fish there. City by the Sea is restricted to the public and is constantly patrolled. About the only way you can fish there is to own property and to belong to their association, or be in a Goofy Fishing Contest staged by Jake Loehr and Ed Harper.

Rockport-Fulton Tourist Assn. News

A ballroom dance was held January 17, at the Paws & Taws Building. There were a lot of dancing couples, with the state of Iowa best represented.

Square dance called Blackie Hardy gave instructions on several dances; which is always good to help couples get acquainted.

Prizes were awarded for the best couple on the floor. Contest judges declared a tie between two couples. They were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Garbe, from Hayward, Wis., and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Boertch, from Holton, Kansas. Garbe said he was past 70 before he and his lovely wife ever won a dancing contest.

Joe Lister, president of the Tourist Association, and owner of the Sea Gull Cottages, announced future parties and events.

Pat Loflin of the activities committee, and owner of the Bay Shore Cottages, is one of the nicest ladies around. She is always there, working behind the refreshment counter, with a friendly smile for everyone.

Juanita Wagley, Pat Lister, the Kings, Ginger Duckworth, and Mr. Neubauer, were all busy dancing and introducing new guests as they arrived.

It was a good relaxed party, and everyone had a nice time.

Next week, movies will be shown. Two features furnished by the Parks & Wildlife will begin at 6 p.m. That's Monday, January 24 at the Paws & Taws Building. Everyone is welcome, so let's see us all there, everyone.

School P.T.L. Group Meets

The executive committee of the Rockport Elementary School P.T.L. met at the school Monday, Jan. 17. Eight of the nine elected members of the board and A. R. Griffith, the school principal, were at the meeting.

The group noted with satisfaction that the interior of the school had been completely painted during the Christmas vacation. The P.T.L. has been interested in the need for new painting in the school since the group's formation early last fall.

It was reported at the meeting that P.T.L. representatives have cleared the way for school field trips to 14 local businesses and governmental agencies. A list of these possible field trip sites along with a list of 42 parents who have volunteered to help with the trips was given to Griffith at the meeting.

The school library air-conditioning project was discussed at the meeting. March 4 was set as the date for a fund raising rummage sale that will be sponsored by the P.T.L. Mrs. Shirley Rice and Mrs. Judy Adams will be handling the arrangements for this sale. Anyone with items to donate to the sale should contact one of these ladies at 729-6726 or 729-5246.

Some parking regulations have been changed in the area of the school in an effort to provide greater safety for the children loading into school busses. The parents are asked to note and obey these and future changes as they are posted. Parking on the wrong side of the street continues to be a problem at the school.

Don't Forget W-2's

Tax refunds cannot be paid without required W-2 withholding tax certificates and credit cannot be given for taxes withheld, according to George Zerda, administrative officer of Internal Revenue Service, Corpus Christi, Texas.

Taxpayers were also reminded that in preparing a joint 1971 return, where both parties worked, W-2's for each must be attached. And when either or both parties filing a return held more than one job during the year, all W-2's must be attached. W-2's should be attached to the back and top of Form 1040.

A taxpayer who has not received his W-2 Form should contact his employer before checking with IRS. If the employer has gone out of business, the taxpayer should contact him or the present owner of the business. If the Form W-2 is still not available, then the taxpayer should prepare his income tax return from the best information at hand, file his return by the April 17 deadline, and attach a note explaining why the Form W-2 is missing.

Q: My skin is a wreck in winter. My laughlines show even when I'm not smiling!

A: You'd winterize your car, wouldn't you? Do the same for your skin. Switch to a thicker cleansing cream, a moisturizer that has added oils, and an extra-rich night cream. And use them all, every single day. If you insist on washing your face, first slather on your cleansing cream, tissue off the excess, then wash well with a superfatted soap.

And don't forget to winterize your bath routine, too. Remember how flaky your legs were last winter? Look for the new body moisturizers that contain natural milk proteins and moisture-fortifying honey. They never feel greasy so you don't have to wait to pull on your pantyhose.

Kick the number- fumbler habit!

If misplaced telephone numbers give you problems, here are suggestions that can help you.

1. Underline those special numbers in your directory.
2. Keep the phone book near the phone.
3. Have a pencil and paper handy when you talk so you can jot down numbers you may need again.

Fourth Graders Hold Japanese Tea Party

To culminate a geography unit on Japan, the fourth graders of Rockport Elementary enjoyed a Japanese Tea Party on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 13. Mrs. Cecil Lang's room entertained the other fourth grade rooms with an authentic tea ceremony.

Guests were welcomed with a Japanese greeting and shoes were removed outside the room. The room was decorated with Japanese souvenirs and Japanese scenes. Low tables used in the ceremony were decorated with hand-painted place mats made by the host class.

After the guests were seated on cushions, they were served green tea and cookies. Many of the cookies were baked by the members of the class. The guests enjoyed authentic Japanese music on records during the ceremony.

Several members of the class performed a Japanese dance for their guests. Dancers were Frances Ramirez, Diane Kent, Grace Riojas, Suzanne Ramirez, Anna Marshall, Maria Garcia, and Donna Griffith.

The party was patterned as near as feasible like the true Japanese ceremony that the pupils had learned about during their study. The students gained more insight into Japan as they enjoyed participating in one of this country's favorite customs.

Two Weeks Remain For Alien Address

The United States Immigration and Naturalization Service reminded all aliens in this area today that only two weeks remain in which non-citizens must file their annual address report as required by law.

Mr. Hoyt H. Harris, District Director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service pointed out that address report forms are available at the nearest Immigration and Naturalization Service office and at all Post Offices for the convenience of non-citizens required to report their addresses to the Government each January under a provision of the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952.

Mr. Harris said that the only non-citizens not required to report their addresses are persons in diplomatic status and foreign representatives of certain international organizations.

Mr. Harris stated: "It is hoped that all persons subject to this law will go to the nearest Immigration and Naturalization Service office or Post Office and fill out an address report form before the January 31st deadline to avoid possible serious penalties."

Judge Bissett Talks to Rotary

Jurisdiction and responsibilities of Texas Courts of Civil Appeal were discussed by Judge Gerald Bissett of the 13th district court, Corpus Christi, at a luncheon meeting of Rotary Club last Wednesday at Corky's Restaurant.

He explained that the court's jurisdiction was limited to civil cases appealed to it from lower courts, and that decisions of his court could be appealed to the state Supreme Court.

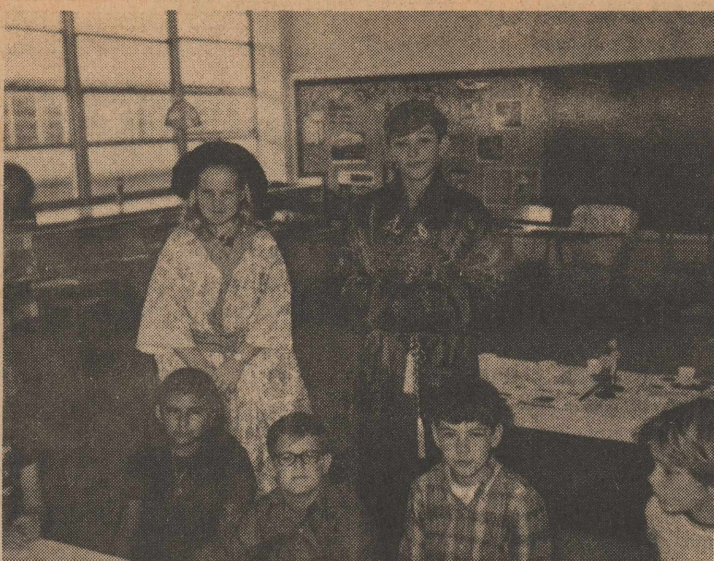

Composition of the 13th court is three judges and a clerk, as well as a briefing attorney, a deputy and two secretaries. Judge Bissett explained the time table under which his court operates, asserting that most cases will be argued before the court in not more than eight months after they are appealed from a lower court.

He went on to say that most Texas Courts of Criminal Appeal are far behind in their case loads, and that, in his opinion, Courts of Civil Appeal could relieve the Criminal Courts of some of their load, thus reducing drastically some of the delays encountered in those courts, especially in the big cities of the state. Such an effort was started in the last session of the legislature, but was not completed, he said, but further action on the proposal is expected in the next session.

During a question and answer period, Judge Bissett asserted that some form of so-called "no-fault" automobile insurance doubtless would be enacted for Texas. However, he felt that very close study must be given to the proposals before legislative action is taken. In his opinion, some types of "no-fault" insurance are undesirable or impracticable.

RESOLVE TO SERVE FISH

Austin--The new year has started, but it still isn't too late for homemakers to make a New Year's Resolution which will benefit their families.

A suggested resolution from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department goes something like this: "Resolved -- I will treat my family to more nutritious meals by serving fish more often."

The big advantage to serving fish lies in the fact that fish is low in saturated fats while high in protein and rich in vitamins and minerals.

A resolution to serve more fish is also a resolution to save money since the edible portion of fish is high compared to meats with bone and fat. This means a lower cost per serving.

Filletts are especially a bargain since they are ready to cook without further cutting and handling. About two pounds of these boneless sides of fish will serve six persons.

To start your new year off right, resolve to try this recipe:

REDFISH MEXICALI

2 pounds redbfish fillets, or other fresh fish fillets
2 tablespoons salad oil
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
dash liquid hot pepper sauce

Place fillets in a single layer, skin side down, on a well-greased broil-and-serve platter, 16x10 inches. Combine remaining ingredients. Pour sauce over fillets. Broil about four inches from source of heat for 10-15 minutes or until fillets flake easily when tested with a fork. Baste once during broiling with sauce in pan. Garnish with lemon wedges. Makes six servings.

Celebrate 60th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stansell were honored by their neighbors and friends on their 60th wedding anniversary Jan. 15th at a party held at the Taylor Oaks Trailer Park Recreation Hall with Charles Towne acting as Master of Ceremonies.

The Stansells, formerly of Lubbock, Texas, having lived in Rockport for the past 14 years are now living at 128 Hooper Street.

Seated as honored guests at a beautifully decorated table were Mr. and Mrs. Stansell and Mrs. Hazel Bennett, Mrs. Minnie B. Randle, Mr. Archie Johnson and Mr. Ted Giese.

A center piece for the table was a Wedding Cake baked by Mrs. Elmer Due and a bouquet of pink carnations.

After a short program, coffee, cookies and cake were served by neighbors and friends from the park.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir:

I noticed in The Pilot of Jan. 6 that Mayor Proposes Project for 1972. Under A#2, Building and Electric Codes, Exactly what does he mean? What code? What Structures? Do only new or all buildings come under The Code? The national Electric Code is important to Safety. Practically all Structures in Rockport are in violation of the code. Compliance will be very expensive.

Under A#6, Expand city limits. The City has nothing except higher taxes to offer us. I am against expansion. Yours respectfully,
Harvey O'Rourke

The Kinsey Report

Mr. and Mrs. John Kinsey announce the recent wedding of their beautiful cat, Goldie, to Tiger, a handsome cat owned by Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hinze. The blissful couple spent their honeymoon on the roof of the Kinsey home Sunday.

Continuing in this serious vein, every once in a while I recall an unusual experience I had many years ago in Long Beach, Calif. One cold night I stepped into a bar for a wee drop of something to warm my innards.

Wearing a black garbardine topcoat buttoned at the collar, I seated myself at the bar and ordered my favorite brand of sour mash whiskey.

While enjoying the drink, I heard someone ask, "Say, are you a father?"

The question was asked by a woman seated at the end of the bar, a woman who appeared to have been "warming" herself for several hours.

"Why, yes," I answered, "my wife and I have two fine children, a son and a daughter."

"That's not the kind of father I'm talking about," the woman mumbled as she stared at my black coat. "I mean are you a priest?"

About this time the bartender told the woman not to bother the customers, and I finished my drink and left.

Christian Women Hold Meeting

Fifty-five ladies representing nine denominations met in the fellowship hall of First United Methodist Church on January 11. Ten ladies of the Methodist Church were hostesses for the afternoon meeting.

Each guest was greeted at the door, given a name tag, then served refreshments of fruit cake, cookies, mints, nuts, coffee and punch.

Mrs. Roberta Hensley welcomed all guests before turning the meeting over to Mrs. Fran Blevins, chairman of Christian Women of Aransas County.

Mrs. Blevins opened the meeting with a prayer for guidance for the new organization. Following the reading of the minutes, a discussion on needed help for the community was held.

Among the many suggestions were: Help in the Heart Association, working toward obtaining a resuscitator for county heart patients, joining with San Patricio County in an immunization program for all children, a pre-natal clinic for expectant mothers, a weekly rummage sale and helping to make the world day of prayer service, to be held February 25 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, a success.

Mrs. Dorothea Montgomery and Mrs. Picton reported that St. Vincent de Paul Society had been contacted and would donate space for a weekly rummage sale. It was proposed the sale be held once a week, staffed by volunteers, with any profits to be used for future projects of the local organization. Many ladies volunteered and a notice will be given when all work and plans are completed.

The chairman then introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Juanita Wagley, a local business woman and past president of the Rockport Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Wagley stressed the importance of the entire community working together to maintain the touch of friendliness with all people and suggested an annual tree planting project

Spacemobile Visits School

The students and teachers of Rockport-Fulton High School received a closer and more personal look into the age of space on Monday, January 17. The occasion was the arrival of the space science education project unit (spacemobile)...an educational unit of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

This traveling unit is operated by experienced space science specialist, John S. West, who travels throughout the United States speaking to school and general public audiences. The lectures demonstrate scientific principles by using visual aids and performing experiments. They explain current and future scientific programs of NASA by using authentic scale models of rockets and spacecraft.

The lecturer traces the development of rocketry, propulsion and launch vehicles, requirements of spacecraft, and many of the problems encountered in space flight...both manned and unmanned.

This interesting and timely program is available on request as an educational service of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to schools and colleges throughout the United States.

for the area.

With the help of all organizations, civic, religious, social, all would benefit through advancement for the community, the fellowship of working together and the new friends that can be made.

In behalf of the Christian Women's organization, Mrs. Blevins thanked Mrs. Wagley, the ladies of First United Methodist Church for their gracious hospitality and the meeting was adjourned with a prayer by Mrs. Hensley.

The third and final meeting of the current year will be held at Peace Lutheran Church on Wednesday, April 12 at 2:30 p.m. An invitation to all is cordially extended.

FISHING REPORT

Fred Klein from Rattlesnake Point reports the following:

Mr. Leman from Corpus Christi caught a number of trout from three to seven pounds last Sunday.

Jack Lutenbacher from Refugio caught 15 trout 2 to 6 pounds. One 7 1/2 trout, wading.

Mr. Brenizer and Roy Kelly have caught a number of trout and reds from 6 1/2 pounds and up. They are from Iowa.

Mr. Cirman and Fred Anderson (Rockport residents) caught a lot of trout and drum.

Rev. R. L. Booker from Taft caught 31 reds, trout, and sheephead one afternoon.

J. E. Barnhill of San Antonio, Carl Farhrich and Vance Dye caught 95 nice trout.

Charles Ross and Jake Simms from Oklahoma caught a nice string of reds and trout...some really nice ones. Mr. Klein's excellent pier is now lighted again for the customers at Rattlesnake Point.

Robert Wagoner and Dr. Zac Bobo from Arlington, Texas, went fishing twice with redfish champ Wayne Lindsey. Each day they caught so many reds, they were tired of catching them... After two days staying at the Surf Motel, they left Rockport carrying a large portion of our fish population.

Ed Harper caught about 50 pounds of nice trout Sunday morning, practically skunking Carl Duckworth who only caught two good trout, and foul-hooked at the same place, with the same type lures. That's fishing for you...

Folks, remember: You can buy fish, or go fishing. Let's all get out the tackle and give the fish a run for their money.

If you'd like to see your name and fish catches in this column, for gosh sakes, call 729-6012 and give me the details.

Letter to the Editor

An open letter about Rockport and its Library from a "Snow-bird"

I was first introduced to Rockport by a co-worker, a columnist for the Minneapolis Star-Tribune. He had written a series of articles about South Texas including Rockport and made mention of the fine library which was available for tourists to use.

Three years ago, upon retirement, we came to spend our first winter in Rockport. As a former librarian and an avid reader, one of my first stops was at the library. During our stay I made good use of my library card.

When we returned to Rockport last fall for an extended visit, I noted the increase of winter visitors and wondered how many knew that for a dollar fee they can get a library card; and I'd also like to tell of some of the services and resources made available by the friendly new librarian, Corrine Crabb and the staff of several volunteers.

They have a new copying machine to make facsimiles of letter or legal forms in seconds. A good selection of large print books for visually handicapped readers, among them, "Travels with Charley" by John Steinbeck which should be especially enjoyed by trailerites. You can also exchange your paperback books for others.

Some of the periodicals carried are "Changing Times", "Consumer Report", "U. S. News and World Report", and "Saturday Review".

Each time I come to Rockport I find new facets to capture my imagination. I have just been introduced to the hobby of shelling. I went to the library for some reference material and upon checking the card index I discovered some fine books in the children's section. "First Book of the Seashore" by Wyatt Blassingame and "Along the Seashore" by Margaret Waring Buck.

There is a sale now going on of hard cover books removed from the shelves because of duplication or to make room for replacement. Priced from 25 to 50 cents, there are several well known authors and titles and Reader's Digest Condensed books in this group that would make a fine addition to your home book shelves.

Here's my vote of thanks to Rockport and the Aransas County Library.

POSTAL RECEIPTS

Rental Increases Are Explained

Allowable residential rental increases provided for under the new rent regulations were described today by R. L. Phinney, Internal Revenue Service District Director for southern Texas.

Phinney explained that the Price Commission's rent regulations are designed to reduce the average rate of rent increases while allowing the landlord to maintain a reasonable rate of profit. Landlords are allowed a basic 2 1/2 per cent annual increase to cover operating costs. This increment may be added even if there is not an identifiable increase in operating costs.

Rent may not be raised higher than the 2 1/2 per cent figure except for increases in state and local real estate taxes, state and local fees, levies, municipal service charges (other than gas and electricity), and capital improvements. These charges, with certain limitations, may be added to the base rent on a dollar for dollar basis in addition to the 2 1/2 per cent increase.

Capital improvements must have been made after August 15, 1971, to qualify for a rent increase. The monthly increase is limited to 1.5 per cent of the cost applicable to the rental unit or units and can only be passed on to renters on a pro-rata basis. However, a rent increase for a capital improvement may not exceed ten per cent of the monthly rental without IRS approval.

Phinney reminded landlords that 30 days written notice is required before a rent increase can go into effect.

Tenants questioning raises in rent must first attempt to obtain an explanation or justification from the landlord prior to reporting an alleged violation to the IRS. If the landlord refuses to meet with him, or if after the meeting the tenant believes the increase is a violation, the IRS should be provided with a copy of the landlord's notification and a written statement describing the alleged violation.

Current information on the Economic Stabilization Program is available at Corpus Christi offices of the Internal Revenue Service.
