Hispanic leaders want bill 'killed'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Encouraged by a near victory, Hispanic leaders say they will keep working to kill immigration legislation that has passed both the House and Senate.

The bill's sponsors, however, predict they will prevail and send President Reagan a bill he will sign.

Rep. Edward Roybal, D-Calif., said he was elated by the narrow 216-211 vote in the House on Wednesday. Liberal Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., who shares Roybal's feeling the bill will lead to discrimination against Hispanics said: "The ball game's not over."

The bill still faces several hurdles — major differences must be ironed out in order to reconcile the House and Senate versions. Both chambers must vote again on final passage.

The measure seeks to stop the influx of illegal aliens by making it a crime to hire an undocumented worker, but it also provides the first mass amnesty for those who can prove they have lived and worked in this country for several years.

"It's probably a legislative miracle that we have come this far," said Rep. Romano Mazzoli, D-Ky., the primary sponsor of the bill. He said he believed it will survive and be signed by Reagan.

Rep. Dan Lungren, R-Calif., another sponsor, said the measure contains "some things in there the administration doesn't like, but the administration wants something."

Reagan has said he would sign the more stringent version of the bill passed by the Senate last summer.

Sen. Alan Simpson, R-Wyo., sponsor of the Senate bill, said he was pleased by the House vote, but that several "tough issues" separate the two chambers.

The House rejected by a 233-195 vote an attempt to strip the amnesty program from the bill.

United Way slightly under earlier budget

Scurry County United Way volunteers increased their pledge of dollars to two agencies Wednesday and asked the remaining six entities which solicit campaign funds to "hold the line" for another year.

All of the remaining six — with the exception of the West Texas Rehab Center — were give the same allocation as last year.

Overall, the some 23 directors for United Way approved a campaign budget which was a slight reduction from last year — a year which saw the local effort fall short of its hoped for goal by some $6,000.

The budget approved Wednesday equals $75,830. Last year, United Way attempted to raise $77,300 and finally distributed some $71,000 among its eight member agencies.

"Every dollar we raise goes to the agencies, so if we exceed our goal this year, they (the agencies) will still benefit," noted United Way President Rex Robinson.

Increases in campaign dollars were granted the Snyder Boys Club and the Oil Patch Foster Parents Association.

The Boys Club, which serves an estimated 500 Snyder youth during the year, had asked for an additional $500 over last year's allocation of $25,500.

The foster parents group requested and received $1,030 in additional funds. This upped their United Way allocation from $3,250 to $4,280.

These dollars are used to help defray the "out-of-pocket" expenses not covered under state funding for some 20 foster parent homes in Snyder.

Donny Brown, who chaired this year's budget committee, noted, "We felt every budget submitted to us by the agencies were pretty much bare bones. We told them that United Way was in a transition period this year and that if they held the line for one more year, our reorganization would equal an easier campaign and hopefully more dollars raised."

Regarding the two increases, he said, "We felt that every extra dollar asked for with those two requests would have a 100 percent effect in Scurry County."

The only decrease in funds was a local donation which goes to the West Texas Rehab Center in Abilene, a decrease from $4,000 last year to $1,000 this year.

Brown noted "United Way has given West Texas Rehab a $1,000 pledge for several years, and increased it last year as a show of faith since the organization itself was experiencing money probelms.

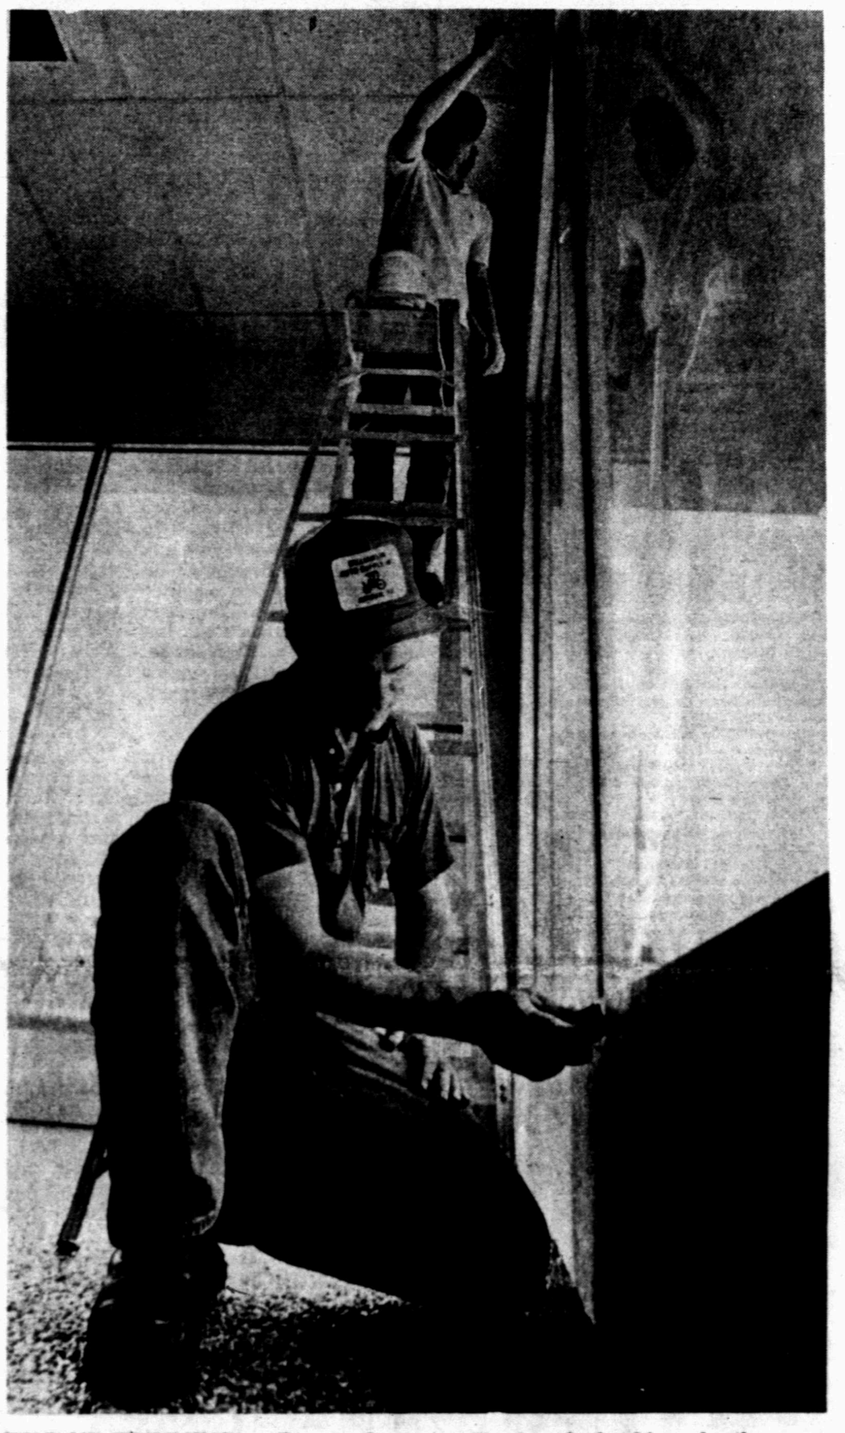

"We were told by their representative that their situation had improved substantially, so we returned to the old pledge amount.

"We also considered the support the rehab centers gets in Scurry County through other efforts like the cattleman's roundup and the sale of castoff oilfield equipment," he said.

Otherwise, allocations to agencies equaled the pledge made during the 1983-84 campaign. The following is the budget amount approved for each agency:

—Boys Club: $26,000.
—Buffalo Trail Council of Boys Scouts: $17,000.
—Snyder Child Day Care Center: $10,000.

WINDOW TRIMMING — Tommy Lay (front) and Keith Bryan have been busy this week with renovation of the old Chrysler dealership building at the traffic circle in east Snyder. The work is in preparation for the July 2 opening of a new Chrylser dealership under the name of Snyder Motor Inc. Lay will head up the new car sales staff and Bryan is the son of the dealership's general manager and co-owner Truett Bryan. (SDN Staff Photo)

Dealer to open July 2

Snyder will gain a new car operation effective July 2 as a Chrysler dealership will again be opened here.

Renovation work to the building at 1601 East Hwy. — the facility originally built for the local Chrysler distributorship — is now being completed.

The doors to the newly named Snyder Motor Inc. are to officially open a week from Saturday.

General manager and co-owner of the business will be Truett Bryan, who has been associated with the new car business in Snyder for many years.

He is the previous owner of the GM dealership here which operated as Snyder Motor Company and, for the past three years, has been associated with Key Bros. Honda.

The partnership which will operate Snyder Motor Inc. include Bryan, M.L. Duke, John Reed and Wayne N. Dodson.

Vehicles featured will be the new line of Chryslers, Plymouths and Dodges plus Dodge trucks and the newly introduced "mini-van."

Bryan said he expects delivery of some 30 new cars and trucks within the next few days.

In addition, the business will have a complete line of parts and service plus a used car operation.

In charge of new car sales will be Tommy Lay.

Wendell Pinkerton will be the service manager and Jeff Clement will head the parts department. The service mechanic will be Jimmie Don Lloyd.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Sometimes the problem is the one with the problem."

Enid Turner is Snyder's number one liberal–and she's proud of it. We may not be the number one conservative–but we are also proud of that fact.

Still, Enid Turner and I are friends. We disagree, but we are friends. About once a year she comes in and scolds me about being unfair to her brand of politicians.

We won't promise it won't happen in the future, but we might be able to compromise on a presidential candidate. At any rate, here's my so ition.

Remember when Pat Paulsen ran for President as a satirical spoof of politics? Well, he's selling wine from his California vineyard now, but he still finds time for a few choice one-liners.

For instance, he says that the 1984 presidential candidates "generate the excitement of squash–especially Walter Mundane."

He also said it's unfair to accuse President Reagan of hating poor people. "It looks like he's determined to make a bunch of them," Paulsen said.

It's too bad Paulsen never got serious about his candidacy. At least he would keep us laughing at ourselves, and he couldn't possibly mess up things any worse than they already are.

Don Newbury, WTC president, frequently is required to make trips to Austin. Recently he flew into the capitol city and rented a car at the airport.

The parking situation there was so bad, he says, that he had to stop circling the parking lot looking for a space, go get gas, then come back and continue the search.

A friend says he recently went to the doctor and was ordered to slow down and rest. Then he got the bill, requiring him to keep his nose to the grindstone for several months.

Centennial Year Footnotes: In 1915, B. F. Pryor reported Snyder's school census at 615–an increase of 138 scholastics over the past school year.

Swim lessons due at county facility

Swimming lessons will begin at the Towle Park swimming pool next Tuesday and parents are asked to pre-register their children beginning Saturday.

Mitch Mackey, pool manager, said if the classes become too large, a second session of lessons may be offered in the latter part of July.

Children may be registered by calling the pool at 573-9192.

Lessons will be offered to all children past the age of 1-years-old. The charge will be $1 per day.

Lessons are scheduled to run from Tuesday, June 26, through Friday, July 6. A one-hour session will be conducted from 9 until 10 a.m. each day except Sunday and Monday

Lessons will be under the supervision of the pool lifeguards. They include Kristy Key, Angie Lay, Lance Aldridge, Threasa Ashworth and Michelle Killion.

House debate begins regarding public schools

AUSTIN (AP) — After weeks as targets of lobbyists, Texas House members began debate today on the future of public schools, including whether the state will have an elected or appointed Board of Education.

The House will look at two reform packages — one pushed by Speaker Gib Lewis and one approved by the House Public Education Committee — and can blend the two if they choose.

In addition to the board question, representatives must decide how to help poor school districts, what to do about teacher pay and whether students and teachers should face more standardized testing.

Senators also worked on education today, the major topic of a special session that ends July 3. Supporters of an appointed Board of Education hoped what Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby calls a "miraculous process" would turn up enough votes today to advance that proposal.

A committee of the full Senate on Wednesday rejected a measure that would replace the 27-member elected Board of Education with a temporary, 15-member appointed board. The vote was 18-14.

"It ain't over till it's over," said Gov. Mark White on his second trip to the Senate during the debate.

Hobby, who voted for the appointed board, said, "There's several more stages in the process."

Asked how the Senate vote might be changed, Hobby smiled and said, "It's a miraculous process."

The Senate on Hobby's motion quit until today after four hours of debate on educational reform proposals, many of which bear the imprint of H. Ross Perot's Select Committee on Public Education — SCOPE.

The Senate on Wednesday finished work on only one of four subcommittee reports, recessing at 5:30 p.m. with 35 amendments pending to a section that would lower teacher-pupil ratios in early grades and would restrict unexcused absences.

Ask Us

Q. — When can the hospital legally begin charging interest on hospital bills?

A. — According to a spokesman for the Consumer Credit Commission in Austin, if facilities secure a written agreement from patients, they may charge them a flucuating interest rate of from 18 to 24 percent for unpaid bills. The "grace" period before this interest is charged may be specified in the agreement. Even without a signed agreement, the facility may still charge up to 6 percent interest starting 30 days after the debt is incurred.

In Brief

Soviets say 'nyet' to talks

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin's chief spokesman said today there is no chance for a U.S.-Soviet summit until the United States changes its policies.

At a news conference to brief reporters on the Soviet view of French President Francois Mitterrand's visit to Moscow, Leonid Zamyatin was asked about President Reagan's statements last week on a summit.

Reagan said his administration's door "is always open" to a summit, but he did not say what conditions he would attach to such a meeting.

Colleagues praise Tower

WASHINGTON (AP) — Moments before a weary Senate passed a record $291 billion Pentagon budget at 3:57 a.m. EDT today, Republican Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Democrat Sam Nunn of Georgia rose to discuss, after 11 days of debate and scores of amendments, one last matter.

Thurmond reminded his colleagues that Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, the chairman of the Armed Services Committee — and fiesty floor manager of the massive spending package — is retiring at the end of the year.

"I've been here for 30 years, and most of that time I've been on the committee," Thurmond said. "And I've never seen more able leadership than that of the senator from Texas."

Child abuse trial delayed

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — The trial of an Abilene man accused of beating and burning a 5½-month-old boy has been postponed because of the publicity given the mother's conviction for failing to get medical treatment for the child.

Bobby Hubert Haupe, 29, was given a separate trial, which was to begin next Monday on felony "injury to a child" charges.

But his attorney won a continuance Wednesday because of the attention that Terri Lynn Holder McClelland, 24, of Arlington received during her three-day trial on the same charges.

White says measure to pass

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White predicted today that a bill with his demands for an appointed State Board of Education would pass the House.

"I think we have over the 76 votes," White told a news conference while the public education reform recommendations were being debated in the House.

The House actually took up debate on two packages — one approved by the House Public Education Committee, which retains the elected state board, and a substitute pushed by Lewis with the appointed board.

Corpus faces water cutoff

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Residents of drought-stricken Corpus Christi will be forced to limit lawn-watering and car washing beginning July 1, when a mandatory water-rationing law goes into effect.

The Corpus Christi City Council, faced with the problem of a diminishing water supply after a year-long dryspell, voted Tuesday to restrict the amount of water city residents use outdoors.

Officials said the new ordinance, which carries a fine of up to $200, will continue indefinitely until the Nueces River watershed, the city's primary water source, receives a substantial rainfall.

LULAC denounces bill passage

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Leaders of the nation's largest Hispanic organization say the U.S. House of Representatives' passage of a controversial immigration bill is typical of this country's attempt to "keep America white."

"I think it is a sad day for America," said Tony Bonilla, the [illegible] past president of the League of United Latin American Citizens. "The only good part of this bill is the amnesty provision."

By a vote of 216-211 the House on Wednesday approved the Simpson-Mazzoli measure, which would enable undocumented aliens who arrived in the United States before 1982 to remain.

But the legislation, [illegible] must go to Senate-House conference committee, also would make it a crime for U.S. employers to hire illegal aliens.

Bonilla called the bill "anti-brown, anti-Hispanic, anti-American and repressive."

LULAC's current president, Mario Obledo, said that if the bill becomes law, it will produce discrimination against all Hispanics.

And Bonilla, an attorney from Corpus Christi, said it could fuel dissent in nearby Mexico and in other Latin American countries.

In addition to penalizing employers who hire illegal aliens, the House bill would create a huge "guest worker" program to import an estimated 300,000 foreigners to the West Coast to harvest perishable crops.

"I think it is hypocritical ... to enact employer sanctions and at the same time support a legislative slave program to be called a guest worker program," Bonilla said.

He said the House's action Wednesday would tell Mexico and other foreign countries "We don't want your people here doing the good-type jobs. We want your people doing the slave jobs."

Bonilla and Obledo both predicted that the bill would become law, but warned that it probably would be challenged by several groups in court.

"I foresee this becomming law because of the mass hysteria that has been created about undocumented aliens," Bonilla said. "The hysteria has threatened people here and forced them to support anything that will help keep America white.

"There are many poor and hungry Mexicans who come to this country to work," he said. "But no one considered how they help our country by paying taxes and by buying goods."

He said the undocumented workers are a "safety valve" for Mexico, which would be cut off by the immigration measure.

"We're trying to seal our borders," he said.

Dear Abby

Pastor Can't Straighten Out His Feelings for Another Man

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: It makes me blush to write this, but I have to unload on someone. I can't talk to a minister because I am my own pastor.

I have a wonderful wife and family. The problem is me. I am in love with someone besides my wife. The person I am in love with is another man. He lives in a town nearby, and he is also married. We see each other once a week. I can't understand my feelings—I only know that this man makes me feel more loved than I've ever felt in my life. I suppose that makes me a homosexual.

My wife is a fine person, but I doubt that I was ever really in love with her. Sex was never very important to her, and when we did have sex, she didn't seem at all interested. Could that be the reason I have turned to another man for love?

I know the rights and wrongs of what I am doing, so please spare me the lectures. Thank you for letting me get this off my chest.

FEELS BETTER
IN NORTH CAROLINA

DEAR FEELS BETTER: If "unloading" on someone has helped you to feel better, then your letter has served its own purpose. You did, however, ask a question that deserves an answer. You turned to another man for love not because your wife seemed disinterested, but because of an unfulfilled sexual urge. You, my friend, are not a homosexual—you are a bisexual.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing in response to "Needs Answers in Alabama." (She said her son had dated three different girls in the last two years and all three had babies and each claimed her son was the father.)

Just because her son "dated" these girls doesn't prove their babies were his. I'm sure he wasn't the only guy they ever dated. You told that lady that her son needed to learn self-control. I'll bet he didn't force those girls to have sex with him!

Come on, Abby, if someone was giving out free milk, wouldn't you be glad to accept a free gallon or two?

UPSET IN TEXAS

DEAR UPSET: Not necessarily. I'd wonder what was wrong with it.

DEAR ABBY: I am another mother-in-law who never dreamed she would be writing to you. My problem is my son-in-law. He is a fine young man who is extremely casual in his dress. When I invite him for Sunday dinner, on a warm day he comes to the table with bare feet and no shirt. My daughter, who knows how I feel, says, "Mom, leave him alone—he's comfortable that way."

So for the sake of peace, I say nothing, but it certainly is unappetizing to eat at a table with a man who is naked from the waist up.

Please tell me how to handle this. Or am I overly sensitive?

FRUSTRATED IN MAINE

DEAR FRUSTRATED: You are not overly sensitive; your son-in-law is overly insensitive. Handle it this way: Say: "Charlie (or whatever this 'fine' young man's name is), will you please wear some kind of shirt when you have dinner with us? I know it's warm, but everyone else is fully dressed, and I'd appreciate it if you were, too."

(Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Newsprint prices are going to increase

By the Associated Press

Newsprint prices charged by a number of Canadian and U.S. producers will go up by 7 percent on July 1, the companies say.

The increase will boost prices for U.S. customers to $535 a metric ton from the $500 level that currently prevails in the industry.

Consolidated-Bathurst Inc. of Montreal was the first major producer to announce the price increase. Its operating capacity of 917,000 metric tons in 1983 represented about 9 percent of the Canadian industry's total of 10.1 million tons.

Consolidated-Bathurst said in March that it was proposing the increase to "offset increased costs ... (and) restore the economic viability of the newsprint sector of our business." The company confirmed Wednesday that the hike would take place as scheduled.

Other newsprint companies also have told their customers that they plan to increase prices to about $535 a metric ton.

The industry's last price increase came in July 1983, when many companies boosted prices to $500 a ton from the prevailing $468.50.

Five members of Zeta Lambda Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society International attended the 55th State Convention in Amarillo June 14-17.

Mrs. Betty Mischen, state president, selected as convention theme "I too will set my face to the wind and throw my handful of seed on high."

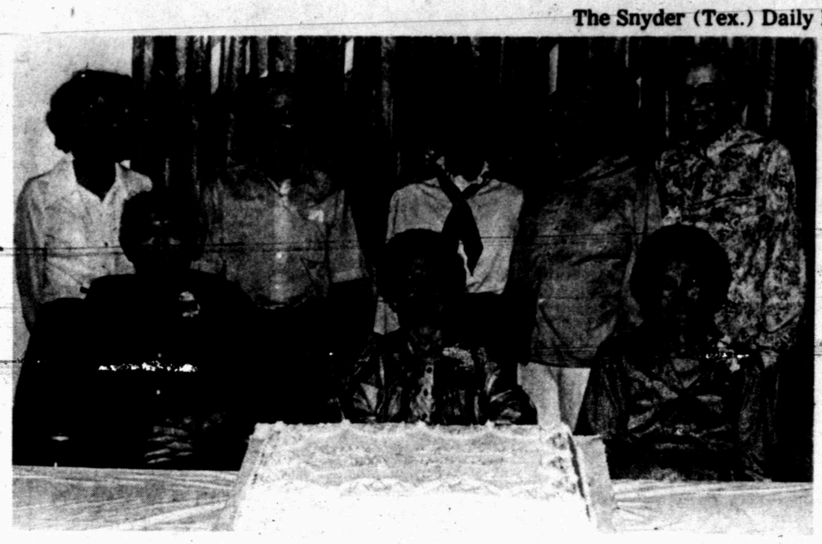

During the business session, the scholarship committee report named a foundation in honor of local member, Helen Mock, who served on the state scholarship committee from 1977 through 1983, the last two of those years as charman. She is the second local member to be honored. In 1982, the committee named a foundation for Virginia Grove for her contributions to the organization as state executive secretary-treasurer.

Friday and Saturday mornings were reserved for business sessions. Workshops for new chapter presidents, committee chairmen and other members wre held in the afternoons.

To celebrate Alpha, Texas birthday, those present enjoyed a special luncheon Friday. Mary Peddy conducted the birthday ceremony.

The Presidents and Founders Banquet concluded the convention Saturday evening with Margaret Shearer, international vice president as speaker.

Attending from the local chapter were Georgene Galloway, Virginia Grove, June McGlaun, Jo Alyce McMullan and Helen Mock.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

Many writers for the American Bridge Teachers' Association Quarterly explain bridge in its simplest form. One exception is Gordon Knight, whose hands often rank with the best hands we write about. He entitled today's hand "The Play's the Thing."

His bidding is given here exactly as he wrote it and it is superb. West's opening lead is an automatic king of hearts. The queen of hearts would be the automatic second play with most players, but Gordon said, "Now is the time to think." West reasons that if South holds the king of clubs, the hand is sure to make.

He sees that the low club must be the lead to prevent a squeeze. He now leads a low club and South has lost his slam, since the squeeze can't work after the club lead has taken away dummy's entry.

Let's see what happens against a heart or diamond or spade play. After losing a heart, South simply runs six spades and the A-K-Q of diamonds to come down to a three-card ending and a perfect double squeeze situation. South leads his last high diamond and West has to come down to a bare club honor to keep a high heart.

Now South chucks the heart from dummy and it is East's turn to be squeezed. Because East must hold on to his high diamond, he also comes down to a singleton club. South scores the slam with dummy's A-J of clubs.

Color is important

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — The proper use of colors in an office can help encourage productivity.

Ann Haight, textile and surface materials manager for Steelcase Inc., a maker of office furniture, says, "It's more important where the color appears and how much of it is used, than whether it is red, yellow or blue. Just as an environment of totally neutral shades can contribute to office worker boredom.

How to jog comfortably

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like some information about jogging. I started jogging about four weeks ago. My goal is 20 minutes a day to improve my circulation, respiration, muscle tone in my thighs, hips and abdomen and to help control my weight.

I don't know how to jog to achieve these goals. Does speed make a difference or is the stride more important? Should I step down flat on my foot or just the balls of the foot? Is 20 minutes a day sufficient to achieve these goals?

When I first started I was palpitating after only two minutes. After four weeks I can comfortably jog for 12 minutes. I haven't lost any weight but I really feel better. The muscles in my lower legs have better tone. I also enjoy jogging. This is the longest that I have ever stayed with an exercise program.

I'm a 40-year-old woman, about 7 pounds overweight and smoke one and a half packs of cigarettes a day.

DEAR READER — My first advice would be to stop smoking. That will do more for your heart and lungs than about anything else you could do. It will also improve your endurance for jogging. And you will look younger if you don't smoke because smoking increases the tendency to have wrinkled skin, particularly crow's feet around the eyes.

Jog or run at a speed that is comfortable for you. In general the distance is more important in terms of using calories for weight control than your speed. You will use the same number of calories per mile at walking speeds between two and four miles per hour. You will use the same number of calories per mile running or jogging between speeds of 5.7 and 11.4 mph.

If you were doing stationary running in the house you could run flat-footed letting your heels hit the floor first. During running you will be better off running as near flat-footed as you can. As the ball of your foot hits the surface let your heel sink immediately to pick up the shock. Running on the balls of your feet is hard on the Achilles' tendon and can lead to tendon problems and other foot problems.

For more detailed information on your exercise program, read the Health Letter 15-12, Exercise Wise, which I'm sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I want to know more about vitamin B-6, how much, what size to be taken and what it does for a person. Is 500 milligrams of vitamin B-6 a day too much?

DEAR READER — We used to say that water-soluble vitamins such as B-6 wouldn't harm a person because the excess would simply be eliminated in the urine. Thanks to wretched excesses, we know differently. Vitamin B-6 is a case in point. Women who have taken 500 milligrams a day for pre-menstrual tension have developed so much nerve damage they could hardly walk. That's right, those large doses of B-6 can cause nerve damage.

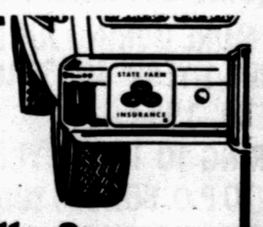

Vitamin B-6 is essential to your health. Its biggest role is in complex chemical actions to use amino acids. The more protein you eat the more important it is to have an adequate intake of B-6. But Nature planned things well in this regard and fish, poultry and red meats are all good sources of B-6. The recommended daily dietary allowance (RDA) is 2 milligrams. If anyone needs more than 3 milligrams a day, she should see her doctor and take it under medical supervision.

Organ transplants are becoming more common, but the cost still is high, says the Health Insurance Association of America. The going rate for a heart transplant is about $70,000, including surgery, doctor and hospital fees. A kidney transplant is in the $60,000 range and the newly developed liver transplant procedure might cost up to $100,000.

At Wit's End

by erma bombeck

Childhood isn't really defined in the dictionary. It just says it's the "state of being a child."

Someone said by the end of this century, there would be no more childhoods. the "state of being" has been getting shorter and shorter with every year.

I'm lucky enough to remember what childhood looked like. It was worn by a lot of little people. A few older people hung onto theirs, but it was hard. Childhood had a culture all its own. The music was sing-songy and ended up with everyone falling down and laughing.

The books were made out of cloth or cardboard and were usually read upside down.

It had its own style of dresses with matching bloomers and suits with buttons on the shirt to hold them up.

For entertainment, childhood could not be matched. It drew from the world of imagination and make-believe with blankets for clouds and little friends that weren't there.

The morality dazzled you with its innocence.

Someone said today it is all too brief, barely a ripple in a child's life, due mostly to television.

Maybe so. The kids of the '80s have watched 6,000 hours of television before they start the first grade. They know their way around computers like technicians. They get their first door key when they're five, work a microwave by the time they're four and speak their first word when they're about three. The word is Jordache.

But to be fair, television is only an option. You don't have to go from womb to reality and bypass childhood.

Is it possible we've just forgotten how to care and feed a childhood? Did we get too busy to honor the time consuming ritual?

Change and development need time. You cannot hurry the process. They need to know where they fit into the scheme of things. They need a time when they have no answers ... only questions. They need love which they haven't earned just to know it's there and always will be. They need a period when they have no responsibility. Being is enough. They need a world that's so small only they fit into it. A world that is uncomplicated and safe.

Television is only a part of the problem — that surrogate mother who, 24 hours a day, relentlessly beams out a diet of violence, misbehavior, insensitivity, and our crudeness to one another for their eyes to see.

Innocence was to be our children's birthright. We were charged with it. What did we do with it?

Letter went out by mistake

BRYAN, Texas (AP) — Florence Wagner, secretary of the Brazos County chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Drivers, was surprised earlier this week when she got a letter from Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, announcing passage by the Senate of a bill to raise the legal drinking age to 21 nationwide.

Bentsen also was surprised when he learned of the letter.

Returning with truck man killed in wreck

HOOKS, Texas (AP) — An Arlington, Texas, man driving home from Memphis, Tenn., where police had recovered his stolen pickup truck, died of injuries received in a two-vehicle accident here, police said.

Peter Chris Heonakos, 30, died in the emergency room Wednesday at St. Michael Hospital in Texarkana, where he had been flown by AirLife helicopter.

Heonakos' 1980 Ford pickup truck was westbound on Interstate 30 about 11:30 a.m. when it slammed into the rear of a Texas Highways and Pubic Transportation truck.

State Trooper Ronnie Fincher said there was "no sign of brakes. He didn't touch his brakes."

Fincher said Heonakos, who flew from Dallas to Memphis about 10:30 p.m. Tuesday, may have fallen asleep.

Both men in the highway truck, who had been spraying the overpass right-of-way, were treated and released from Wadley Regional Medical Center in Texarkana.

Salvadoran amnesty indicates loss of faith

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States cannot open its borders to refugees from El Salvador because that would mean a lack of faith in the Salvadoran government, Assistant Secretary of State for Human Rights Elliott Abrams says.

At a Wednesday hearing on a bill that would suspend deportations of Salvadoran illegal aliens for three years, Abrams was asked by Rep. Martin Frost, D-Dallas, why the government refuses to grant temporary amnesty to Salvadoran illegal aliens if they grant refuge to other countries, such as Iran and Poland.

"What would the implication be?" Abrams said. "That we have lost faith in the Salvadoran government?"

Abrams said rights groups have yet to prove that deported Salvadorans face persecution when they return home.

"The large majority (of Salvadoran illegal aliens) are economic migrants. They are not here for political concerns," he said.

Abrams and Immigration and Naturalization Commissioner Alan Nelson argued that the bill, sponsored by Rep. Joe Moakley, D-Mass., would give unwarranted special treatment to Salvadorans. Moakley's Rules subcommittee held the hearing.

"(The bill) proposes to circumvent (the) system set up by the Refugee Act only three years ago and return to the ad hoc and discriminatory approach of the past," said Nelson.

Abrams said amnesty was granted Poles, in part, because "we don't have large-scale illegal immigration from Poland."

Frost suggested that the government was being hypocritical in refusing to grant blanket asylum to Salvadoran illegal aliens, on the basis that there are too many of them while supporting a bill on then being argued on the floor of the House that would grant amnesty to illegal aliens.

Church groups and human rights organizations contend that Salvadorans should be granted political asylum because they face torture or death if they are forced to return to civil war-torn El Salvador.

Abrams said most apprehended Salvadoran illegal aliens return home voluntarily and that rights groups have provided "absolutely no evidence of any harm coming to any of those (who are returned to El Salvador)."

Abrams said that an American Civil Liberties Union study comparing names of 8,500 deported Salvadorans with a list of those reported to have suffered human right abuses turned up 126 matches.

An ACLU statement submitted at the hearing said, however, that "our tentative findings indicate at least 112 identified persons are likely, with varying degrees of probability, to have been killed, disappeared, arrested, tortured or imprisoned."

The ACLU said it was too difficult to get accurate information out of El Salvador.

"Certainly, this degree of proof has never formed the basis of past decisions to temporarily suspend the deportation of members of other nationalities," the organization's statement said.

A church worker arrested in South Texas earlier this year is awaiting sentencing after her conviction on charges of transporting Salvadoran illegal aliens.

"We have witnessed in the last few years the spectacle of respectable, law abiding U.S. citizens violated the law because of their perception of duty to a higher moral and humanitarian imperative," said the ACLU. "The existence of 'sanctuary' churches for the benefit of Salvadorans seeking safe haven indicates the extent to which failure to act on compelling humanitarian claims with continue to breed disrespect for the laws."

Japan has 160 national marine parks, the largest number established by any country. The parks are administered jointly by a national park service and powerful local fishermen's associations that control access to the underwater preserves.

Spanish group sues Chicago, Ill. for $5 million

CHICAGO (AP) — Nearly 20 years ago, a Puerto Rican community group marched on City Hall seeking more power and an end to police brutality. Months later, a secret police memo carried this message: destroy the organization and its leaders.

These were the turbulent 1960s — protest marches, riots and political upheaval. Often these activities were countered by what amounted to police sabotage missions against law-abiding community groups as well as organizations committed to violence.

The Spanish Action Committee of Chicago is about to relive that era in federal court when it faces the city in a $5 million civil lawsuit alleging violation of constitutional rights. Jury selection was scheduled to begin today.

It is the first trial arising out of a decade of legal wrangling, complaints and lawsuits directed at the "Red Squad," a former Police Department intelligence unit assigned to combat subversives.

Members of the squad, which was abolished in 1975, kept secret dossiers on scores of religious leaders, politicians, critics of the late Mayor Richard J. Daley and on mainstream organizations such as the PTA and the League of Women Voters.

According to a grand jury report, the squad engaged in burglary, vandalism, illegal eavesdropping; some of its members once urged a group to commit violence in an attempt to discredit it.

The Spanish Action Committee claims in its suit, which was filed in 1980, that the Red Squad infiltrated the group, then conducted a smear campaign to portray some members as tools of communists — tactics that ultimately destroyed the group.

"The organization was ruined," said Richard Gutman, the group's attorney. "Most of the people quit. People wouldn't work with them. To publicly name a group as communists is the equivalent of destroying them in our society."

The city declined comment on the case. "I think it's a case that should be tried and go before the jury," said Peter Fitzgerald, attorney representing the city and three current or former police officers named in the suit.

The Spanish Action Committee was formed after riots in the city's Puerto Rican community in 1966.

Two mishaps Wednesday

Snyder police investigated two minor traffic mishaps Wednesday.

Officers were called to the scene of a car fire on the parking lot of the Lotaburger restaurant at 7:40 a.m. Wednesday to investigate a one-vehicle mishap.

According to reports, a 1977 Porsche driven by Robert McKinney of Colorado City, which sustained moderate damage from a fire in the engine compartment, also collided with a concrete bench at the restaurant.

Wednesday's second accident, a hit-and-run incident, was reported in the 1900 Block of 37th St. at midnight.

According to reports, a 1972 GMC pickup driven by Randall Lynn Friday of 700 E 37th St. was struck by a passenger car which fled the scene of the mishap.

No injuries were reported in either mishap.

—West Texas Rehab Center: $1,000.

In addition, expenses for the local campaign — which covers costs of printing a United Way brochure, postage and utilities for office space — were left the same as last year at $3,750.

Expenses related to the hiring of an additional United Way staffer this year are to be absorbed through carry-over United Way "local expense" funds from previous drives.

The majority of work for United Way comes from the volunteer efforts of local citizens. Last year, approximatley 100 Scurry County citizens assisted in the drive.

This year's effort is planned during the months of September and October.

Drive chairman this year is Roy McQueen. Both he and Robinson served as president and chairman respectively last year and have agreed to serve another year as the campaign effort here is reorganized.

Cox to compete tonight...

Kyle holding lead at CNFR

BOZEMAN, Mont. -- Kellie Kyle continued to hold down first place in the second go-round of the barrel racing, giving Western Texas College its best chance to reach the College National Finals Rodeo short go, to be held Saturday evening here.

Kyle turned a 14.9 in the first go-round Monday and a 14.25 in the second-go on Tuesday. Her combined 29.16 ranks second in the average heading into Thursday night's show. The top 10 averages will advance to Saturday's short go or finals.

Teammate Judy Cox, who had a 14.83 in the first go-round, will compete again in the barrels tonight.

"Kellie is sitting real good in the barrel race. The girl that was second in the first go-round ran last night and she didn't catch Kellie (in the average)," pointed out Coach Bob Doty. "I hope Judy can make a nice, smooth run tonight and give her some help."

The only Western Texas College performers in tonight's show are Cox in the barrels and Dale Gideon in the bulls (no-score, first go).

Shane Smith scored 65 points in bull riding Wednesday. Added to his 64 in the first go, he has 129 on two head which was good enough for fifth in the average.

He fell from fourth to fifth in the average of the saddle bronc however, as his total 132 (66 and 66) was edged out by a rider last night.

In other events here Wednesday, Cox had a 14.7 in goat tying and took a no-time in the breakaway. Canita Cass ran a 15.37 in the barrels. None of the results placed well in the second-go.

WTC's Van Hale, who had held down fourth place in the second go-round of the bull riding, slipped to sixth and out of the points race.

Also, Snyder cowboy Ty Springer, competing for Sul Ross, missed his calf in the teamroping. Big Spring native James Doss, first go-round calf roping winner, missed his calf in the second go.

Competing for WTC Friday will be Shane Smith in the bareback (57, first go), Randy Bomar in calf roping (no-time, first go), and Cass in the goat tying (no-time, first go).

"Shane has ridden everything and done a good job, but he'll have to hope they (the stock) throw a bunch of people if he's going to get in the average in the saddle bronc. Usually, if a guy rides well on both head, he's going to make it into the finals. In this case, Shane might not.

"A lot of people, including myself, have been disappointed in some of the bucking stock here. Shane's horse marked a 10 and an 11. It's pretty bad when a young man goes all year and has to get on something like that," added Doty, who said he would expect a horse to score 15 or 16 in the Finals Rodeo.

There are two judges, each giving a score for the horse and the rider. All four scores are tallied together for the total score.

"Shane scored 18 (and 18) on the ride and that's about as high as anyone has done here. Another kid rode the same horse last night and he got a 51. I thought Shane should have been given a re-ride, but [illegible] parently didn't think so."

Baltimore rallies again; Rangers defeat Angels

by The Associated Press

Yogi Berra may have coined the phrase "It ain't over until it's over," but Joe Altobelli's Baltimore Orioles are making it come true.

The Orioles won their third game in a row, downing the Boston Red Sox 4-1 Wednesday night. And for the third game in a row they did it with some late-inning heroics.

This time, Baltimore did it with a four-run seventh, highlighted by Mike Young's three-run, two-out double, after Boston's Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd pitched six hitless innings.

In other American League games, Detroit outslugged New York 9-6 in 13 innings, Texas edged California 3-2, Milwaukee nipped Toronto 5-4, Chicago shaded Seattle 5-4, Oakland trounced Kansas City 8-1 and Minnesota thumped Cleveland 8-2.

Tigers 9, Yankees 6

Howard Johnson hit a three-run homer with two out in the bottom of the 13th inning, Detroit's fourth home run. Alan Trammell, Lance Parrish and Chet Lemon also connected as the Tigers boosted their lead in the AL East to 7½ games over Toronto. Dave Winfield homered for the Yankees.

Rangers 3, Angels 2

Larry Parrish belted a one-out homer off Geoff Zahn in the ninth inning, setting a club record by driving in a run for the 11th straight game. Parrish's 12th home run erased the club record of 10 consecutive games with at least one RBI originally set by Jeff Burroughs in 1974. The streak is two short of the AL record set by Taft Wright of the Chicago White Sox in 1941. Oscar Grimes of the Chicago Cubs holds the major-league mark of 17 straight games in 1922. Charlie Hough hurled a four-hitter in handing the Angels their fourth consecutive setback.

Brewers 5, Blue Jays 4

Jim Gantner singled home a run in the ninth inning to give Milwaukee its second consecutive ninth-inning victory over Toronto.

White Sox 5, Mariners 4

Consecutive seventh-inning doubles by Joel Skinner and Julio Cruz snapped a 2-2 tie and LaMarr Hoyt scattered eight hits in 8 2-3 innings.

A's 8, Royals 1

Dave Kingman walloped his third grand slam and major league-leading 19th homer of the season.

Winner Bill Krueger allowed eight hits in 7 2-3 innings.

Earl Bell favored in today's vault

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Earl Bell, the first American pole vaulter to clear 19 feet outdoors, likes the attention he receives as a good old country boy. He doesn't think it would be the same if he were a city slicker.

Bell grew up and still lives in little Jonesboro, Ark., a city of about 30,000 in the northeast corner of the state. He enjoys the easy, laid-back life there, rather than that of a big city like Los Angeles, where he will be competing tonight in the pole vault final at the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Trials.

"There is a big difference between an athlete living here and one living in Arkansas," said Bell. "In LA, people expect you to do well, and if you don't, they say, 'That bum really blew it.' In Arkansas, they hope you do well, but if you don't, they feel sorry for you."

When Bell set the American outdoor record in the pole vault June 9, clearing 19 feet, one-quarter inch in the USA-Mobil Championships at San Jose, Calif., breaking the mark of 18-11 held by Mike Tully, the Arkansas newspapers gave the story smashing play.

"It got the biggest headlines since (former President Richard) Nixon resigned," Bell recalled with a smile.

"Would Tully (who lives in the Los Angeles area) have gotten that kind of headline here?" he asked.

Although Bell has spent most of his life in Jonesboro, he was not born there.

"I was born in Panama, in the Canal Zone," he said. "So I could be competing for Panama in the Olympic Games.

"But I didn't feel right about it. It was a thought, but I stopped that idea. I could have done it though. You have to skip one Olympiad and not compete for the United States team for three years, and I had not competed in the 1980 Olympics (because of the U.S. boycott of the Moscow Games)."

Panama's loss probably will be a gain for the United States.

Bell is having his finest season since moving into top-class competition as a freshman at Arkansas State University in 1974.

In addition to his 19-foot vault, he cleared 18-8½ in an indoor meet at Rosemont, Ill., his best height until the recent National Championships.

In tonight's final, Bell will be facing a crack field that includes Billy Olson, the only American to clear 19 feet indoors; Tully, last year's Pan American Games champion; 1980 Olympian Dan Ripley; former American record holder Jeff Buckingham, and NCAA champion Joe Dial.

Also included is two-time NCAA Division II champion Dale Jenkins, a native of Snyder, Tex.

Tonight's other finals are the men's 200 meters, the women's 400-meter intermediate hurdles, and the men's 400-meter dash. There was no competition in the Trials Wednesday.

Landry adds testimony to trial involving White

McKINNEY, Texas (AP) - Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry came to the defense of Danny White during the quarterback's misdemeanor assault trial, testifying that he might also slap a teen-ager if he felt his family was threatened on the highway.

Landry also told jurors Wednesday that White's job with the National Football League team is not in jeopardy because of the trial, which was scheduled to enter its fourth day today.

White is charged with assaulting Plano High School football player Jon Michael Clark. The 17-year-old says the Cowboys signal-caller tried to run him off a rural road for no apparent reason and then punched him in the nose at a stop light.

White claims he slapped Clark in self-defense after Clark instigated a dangerous game of speeding up and slowing down and almost forced White's van, carrying three of his children, into a head-on collision at 80 mph.

White faces a year in prison and a $2,000 fine if convicted.

Landry, called by the defense as a character witness and mobbed by autograph seekers during a recess, testified that he believed White wouldn't have hit Clark without provocation.

Landry said if he and his children were "under the same type of stress situation that Danny was under, I might do the same thing."

White testified that Clark's Camaro kept accelerating as he tried to pass on the two-lane road, leaving the van in the lane of oncoming traffic.

His actions on the roadway were scrutinized Wednesday during cross-examination by prosecutor Randall Blake.

"You had at least two very reasonable alternatives - you could have slowed down and fallen in line behind the Camaro or you could have pulled off the road," Blake said to White.

White, 32, responded that there was no indication Clark wouldn't have continued to slow down with him and that there was no safe place to stop on the side of the road.

Scramble filled; barbecue Saturday

Golf shop assistant Lance McMillan said the upcoming June 23-24 Two-Man Scramble at Western Texas College has been filled.

Anyone interested may still get on a waiting list, McMillan said. Contact the college golf shop, 573-9291, for further details.

The scramble includes a barbecue and Calcutta, to be held at Snyder Country Club, Saturday evening. The tournament will be held at the college course.

Play will begin with shotgun starts each day at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

WTC will hold its eighth annual Western Texas College Golf Partnership tournament on July 28-29. Deadline for entries is July 27.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has filed a tariff with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to make end user common line charges associated with Centrex CO service equal to those to be billed to Private Branch Exchange service. The Commission has suspended the proposed tariff until October 1, 1984, or before, and assigned the matter to Docket No. 5686.

The equalization of end user common line charges for Centrex CO service is to be accomplished by a reduction in Centrex service charges. The net effect of the Centrex service charge adjustment and an interstate end user common line charge will be an increase in total billing.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Man shoots wife, kills himself

DALLAS (AP) — Despondent because his wife was suffering from Alzheimer's disease and unable to bring himself to put her in a nursing home, an elderly man shot and killed his wife and then turned the gun on himself, police and family members said.

"My father just couldn't live without her and he couldn't put her in a home," said Soloman Suberi, 40, after Wednesday's bloodshed at the Retirement Inn in Dallas.

The bodies of 70-year-old David Suberi and Ahova Suberi, 73, were found Wednesday morning in their apartment.

A clerk at the home told authorities that Suberi called the front desk at 8:30 a.m. and said, "I have shot my wife. I need an ambulance."

Employees of the home told police they found the couple lying on their bed. She had been shot in the back of the head and he was shot in the mouth, they said. A .38-caliber pistol was in his hand.

Mrs. Suberi had been suffering for the past three years from the disease, a neurological disorder that causes irreversible mental deterioration and senility.

Family and friends of the couple said Suberi had provided round-the-clock care for his wife as her condition worsened. But recently, he had become ill and unable to keep up the vigilance, they said.

"He only talked about not being able to go on without her. He'd been very depressed," the younger Suberi said.

Rosa Pendley, who lives down the hall from the Suberi apartment at the Retirement Inn, said Suberi had "been waiting on her for three years, but the last two weeks he's been sick himself. He couldn't do it anymore."

Another resident, Mamie Homeyer, said, "She wasn't able to talk to anybody or walk by herself. If you can't take care of yourself here, you have to get a nurse."

Solaman Suberi said his father and mother had come to the United States from Jerusalem in the late 1930s. His father originally was from Yemen, he said.

"They had a little cafeteria in Los Angeles, at the University of Judaism, where they train rabbinical students," he said, adding that they had raised five children and moved to Dallas in 1982.

9 fired after probe

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Records at the Fort Worth State School show that at least 10 mentally retarded residents were abused or neglected between last September and early spring, a newspaper reported today.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram said among them was a crippled woman who was blistered after she was left unsupervised in a hot shower on Feb. 23.

Nine workers at the school were fired and nine other employees were given written reprimands for their involvement, records show. The punishment followed investigations into 25 incidents reported to the school's Client Abuse and Neglect Committee.

The committee verified 12 cases of abuse or neglect involving 10 mentally retarded persons, the newspaper said. Twelve other incidents were disproved and one additional case of neglect, but its finding was overturned by School Superintendent Mel Hughes, records indicated.

One employee was fired for neglecting a woman who was, according to records, "blistered with hot water" after she was left unsupervised in a shower on Feb. 23.

The woman's cries for help went unanswered, said another school employee who said she is familiar with but was not involved in the incident.
