POW Issue Key Question In Vietnamization Debate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon faced conflicting Senate demands today—that he set a date for withdrawal of all forces from Vietnam, and that he suspend such withdrawals until the prisoners of war are freed.

Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., said, "There's only one way to get American prisoners released and that's to announce a definite withdrawal date for all American forces."

But Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., Republican national chairman, contended Nixon should suspend withdrawals of air and support units until North Vietnam begins freeing American prisoners.

Major Dilemma

The POW issue has emerged as a central question in the debate over Nixon's Vietnamization program. Both backers and supporters of the troop withdrawal program acknowledged it was a major dilemma for the President.

Nixon, at a news conference Wednesday, pledged that a sufficient number of American forces would be kept in Vietnam indefinitely to keep up pressure for release of the prisoners. He did not say what would constitute a sufficient number.

Dole, who often reflects the prevailing White House view, contended that 285,000 air and combat support units should remain after the last American ground combat troops are withdrawn later this year—until the POW issue is settled.

Families Oppose Pullout

He agreed with McGovern and other Senate doves that the plight of the POWs was a "real dilemma" for the Vietnamization program and that it will become tougher and tougher for Nixon to make more withdrawals, Dole said the wives of POWs and men missing in action were demanding that withdrawals be suspended and he agreed with them—except that he saw no harm in pulling out the 50,000 ground combat troops that will be left after the current withdrawal phase is completed May 1. He said he thought Nixon's timetable called for withdrawal of all remaining ground troops by the end of 1971.

McGovern contended the Nixon policy was responsible for keeping Americans in prison "and they have to bear the responsibility for that."

"It's my own very carefully considered judgment that there won't be any American prisoners released from North Vietnam until we get out of South Vietnam," McGovern told a news conference. "Countries engaged in war with each other seldom release prisoners."

Drive In Laos Takes Heavy Toll Of American Lives And 'Copters

SAIGON (UPI)—The South Vietnamese foray into Laos against the Ho Chi Minh Trail took an increasingly heavy toll of American lives and aircraft today. Eight more helicopters were shot down or heavily damaged Thursday and today in connection with the operation.

Official figures which include only helicopters destroyed were 18 but unofficial figures from correspondents on the scene put the number at perhaps double that including helicopters shelled on landing strips near Khe Sanh in northwestern South Vietnam.

The biggest loss was that of a giant CH-53 Sea Stallion which exploded in flight Thursday inside South Vietnam while on a resupply mission involved with the Laotian campaign. A spokesman said three men were killed and four missing.

U.S. spokesmen said at least 34 Americans have been killed, 85 wounded and 13 reported missing in connection with the South Vietnamese drive into Laos, now in its 12th day. The total includes 20 dead, 22 wounded and 10 missing in air support operations in Laos. It does not include a number of Americans wounded by Communist shelling in northern South Vietnam.

The 16,000 South Vietnamese troops inside Laos were reported to be 15 to 16 miles west of the border where they have severed a number of branches of the Ho Chi Minh Trail which is actually a series of dirt roads and mountain trails. Reconnaissance units were as far as Sapeone, 27 miles inside the border.

SAIGON was buzzing with rumors that the South Vietnamese were discussing an invasion of North Vietnam, and usually reliable political sources said President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky discussed the subject Thursday.

New fighting was reported in Cambodia today. Military spokesmen in Phnom Penh said the Communists had increased their harassment of Highway 4, Phnom Penh's road to the port of Kompong Som, with a number of shelling attacks.

In addition to the huge CH-53 helicopter near Huey, spokesmen reported an AH-1 Cobra downed in Laos with two wounded, an UH-1 Huey downed in Laos with four missing and an OH-6 observation helicopter downed in Laos with three missing. UPI correspondent Robert E. Sullivan, in Khe Sanh, reported another AH-1 missing over Laos.

Communist shelling of Allied airbases near Khe Sanh heavily damaged two OH-6 light helicopters and destroyed an UH-1 Huey.

South Vietnamese have reported killing 600 Communists in Laos at a loss of 144 ARVN dead, and 541 wounded.

Egypt's New Peace Proposal Being Discussed By Israel

By United Press International
Israeli Ambassador Yitzhak Rabin rushed home from Washington today to join cabinet discussions of what the Israelis called a "far-reaching" Egyptian offer to sign a peace treaty if Israel meets certain conditions—the first peace treaty offer Egypt has made.

Rabin's sudden visit followed diplomatic reports Israel is under pressure from the White House to give a timetable for withdrawal from Arab territory it occupied in the 1967 Six Day War. It was announced Thursday that President Zaiman Shazar will confer with President Nixon in Washington next month.

Rabin, at Lydda Airport, denied Washington was putting pressure on Israel and that this was the main reason for his visit home.

Diplomatic sources insisted the pressure was there and said Israel is not willing to give any timetable. They said it would not budge from its often repeated policy that any withdrawal must be in the context of a written peace agreement and then only to secure any defensible borders. Diplomatic sources in Jerusalem said Egypt had submitted to Israel proposals for recognition of the Jewish state in return from an Israeli withdrawal from Sinai Peninsula and reopening of the Suez Canal.

The Egyptian offer was made in response to suggestions by U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring, and diplomatic sources said they were "the most far-reaching Egyptian attempt yet to meet Israel's concept of a Middle East settlement." Despite some elements Israel considers unacceptable, it "merits careful study and considered response," the sources said.

Living Cost Rose 0.1% In January

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government announced today the cost of living rose only 0.1 per cent in January—the smallest monthly increase recorded in four years. The White House quickly cited the report as evidence "our economic policies are working."

On behalf of President Nixon, Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler commented: "We are encouraged by it. We feel that it indicates that our policies are working."

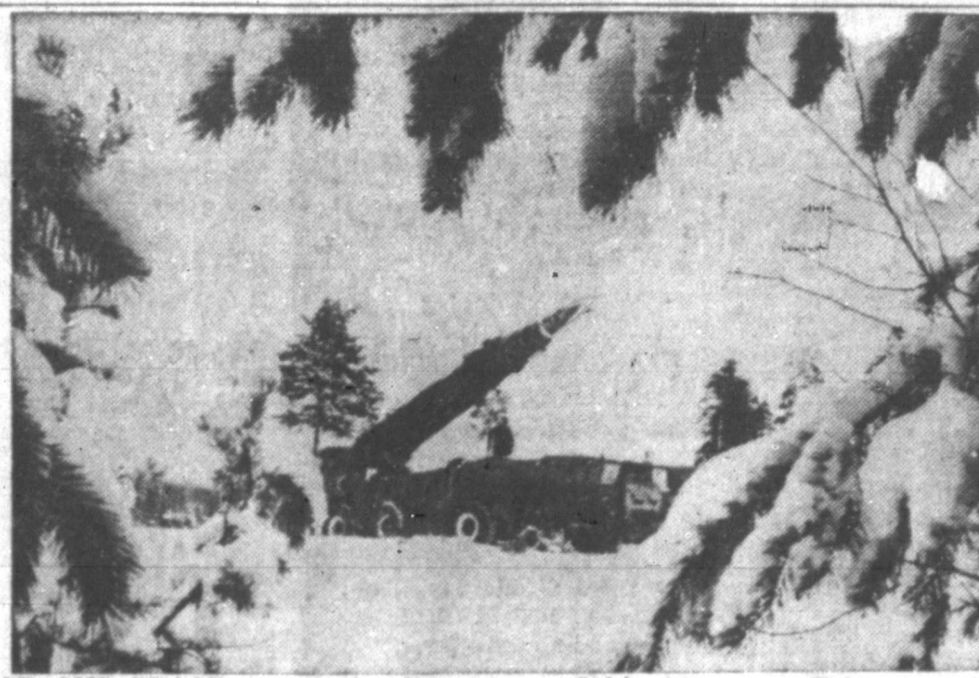

The cost of living index for last month stood at 119.2 which means the average consumer paid $11.92 in January for the same items which cost him $10 in 1967.

In a companion report, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics announced that the actual purchasing power of the rank-and-file worker increased in January. This was credited to the fact his take home pay went up because of automatic reductions in the income tax withholding rates.

The cost of living report said higher prices for consumer services in January were largely offset by declines for used cars, clothing and some food items.

Prices of meats and fresh fruits and vegetables declined instead of rising as they usually do in the winter. However, eggs and dairy products, which normally decline this time of year, rose. Cereal and bakery goods, restaurant meals and other food consumed away from home, rose somewhat more in January than in recent months.

Guzman And Lopez Caught By Police

DALLAS (UPI) — Sixty federal, county and city police men descended on an apartment complex on the east side of the city early today and arrested two men wanted for execution style murders of three deputy sheriffs.

Both men, hiding in the bathroom of an apartment, gave up without firing a shot. Police said, however, one of the suspects attempted to fire a revolver.

The other suspect threw his gun out of the bathroom before police grabbed him. The gun was cocked and loaded.

Police also arrested two women in the apartment, Angie Hernandez, 38, and Mary Alice Rosales, 25, and charged them with being accessories to murder and harboring fugitives. They were held on $100,000 and $50,000 bond respectively.

Police said the two gunmen—Rene Adolfo Guzman, 33, and Leonardo Ramos Lopez, 25—were the ones who killed three helplessly tied and pleading deputy sheriffs last Monday night on a levee of the Trinity River near downtown Dallas. The suspects were held without bond.

Although officers arrested Guzman and Lopez with no casualties, a man and a woman were wounded in an adjoining house when police rushed the small frame home thinking that was where the suspects were holed up.

"We are happy this is all over," said Dallas County Sheriff Clarence Jones, who had only a few hours sleep since the three lawmen were murdered Monday night. The three were killed and another officer was wounded when they were surprised by two burglar suspects they had gone to arrest.

"We knew the general area where these men were hiding for about 24 hours before the arrest," Jones said. He indicated the men were found through an anonymous tip.

"All these technological advances are fine," he said, "but they just can't do it all."

When police first arrived at the scene they rushed a small house adjacent to the apartment house.

A police helicopter hovered overhead under low clouds, shining a bright light down on the scene. The same helicopter had lit the grim scene along the levee Monday night when the dead deputies were found.

Jones said detectives knocked on the door of the small house, yelling "police, police." He said the man inside, Thomas Rodriguez, 40, fired two shots and the scene they rushed a small house adjacent to the apartment house.

Rodriguez' wife, Bertha, 36, was also struck in the leg by a shotgun blast. Eight children in the house were not hurt.

When police discovered Rodriguez was not the man they were looking for the officers began a search of the apartment house next door.

When they came to Apartment 4, Mary Rosales came to the door and said, "Get me out of the doorway. He's in there."

Senators Oppose Smith's Tax Plans

AUSTIN (UPI) — House members were generally receptive but senators angry today in response to Gov. Preston Smith's plan to raise the sales tax and double college tuition.

"It's just one small step backward for Preston Smith and one giant leap backward for mankind," said Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas.

But in the House, Smith's plan to raise the sales tax from 3.25 to 4 per cent, raise college tuition from $50 to $125 a semester ($300 to $500 for out-of-state students) and boost sales tax from 3 to 4 per cent, was received more enthusiastically.

"Until someone comes up with one more acceptable, I would be inclined to support this plan," Rep. W. S. Healy, D-Paducah, said.

Some senators, however, charged the plan dumps the entire tax load on consumers and gives "fat cat" businessmen "another free ride."

"It's ridiculous," said Sen. Joe Bernal, D-San Antonio. The part of the plan pertaining to college tuition increases did not appear to have strong support in either the House or Senate.

"It would put a lot of kids out of our educational system," said Rep. Raul Longoria, D-Edinburg. "They just couldn't go to college — especially those in South Texas."

Rep. Curtis Grave, D-Houston, scoffed at the bill as the "worst" Smith could come up with and said "I wouldn't vote for it under any circumstances."

But Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Speaker Gus Mutscher admitted increase is probably essential to fund state spending in fiscal 1972-73. It was the college tuition hikes for Texans they were not enthusiastic about.

Barnes was also unhappy with Smith's statement to legislators that he would veto any attempts to pass a one-year budget.

Barnes said one-year spending should not be ruled out.

"The Senate will not pass Smith's tax plan because it hits too hard on the consumer," Barnes said. "It will want some form of a business tax."

He also said the Senate would probably agree to a tuition hike in order to keep quality education in the state "but not an increase to $125 a semester."

Other reaction to Smith's speech varied.

Aide Urges Nixon To Curb Increase On Wage, Price

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve system, said today the nation is moving toward a rapid recovery from its economic slump. But he said the very policies which are ending the recession carry "a grave risk of releasing fresh forces of inflation."

Burns made it clear he expects vigorous Nixon administration efforts to curb wage and price increases if the FED—which operates independent of the White House or Congress—is to carry out policies which the administration considers vital to make 1971 the "good year" foreseen by President Nixon.

In testimony prepared for the House-Senate Joint Economic Committee, Burns said the "stimulative" budget deficit and expansive monetary supply on which the administration is banking are needed "to assure the resumption of economic growth and a reduction of unemployment."

"But unless we find ways to curb the advance of costs and prices, policies that stimulate aggregate demand run the grave risk of releasing fresh forces of inflation," he said.

Administration economic planners earlier told the committee they are looking to Burns and his fellow governors of the Federal Reserve to allow the monetary supply — the amount of currency in the economy — to grow by 6 to 7 per cent this year.

That growth is necessary, they said, if the economy's total output is to reach their goal of $1,065 billion — a 9 per cent increase over last year. They said a $1,065 billion economy is necessary to reach their goals of a 4.5 per cent unemployment rate and a 4 per cent inflationary rate by the end of the year.

But Burns refused to pledge, in his written testimony, that the FED would shoot for a 6 or 7 per cent increase in the monetary supply.

New Manager To Take Over At Coronado Inn Monday

A change in management of the Coronado Inn will become effective Monday, it was announced today by Crawford Atkinson, president of the Community Hotel Co. of Pampa.

The change, Atkinson said, was brought about by the resignation of Don McGill who has been manager at the hotel since July of last year.

The new manager will be Roy Godman who has been manager of the Villa Inn in Amarillo for the last two and a half years. Mr. and Mrs. Godman and their small child will occupy an apartment at the hotel.

Godman has had considerable experience in both hotel and club operations, Atkinson said. The hotel company president asked Pampans to drop by the Inn and meet the new manager. McGill will leave Pampa next week to accept a position with a national motel chain.

Atkinson said it is planned to retire the mortgage on the $1,200,000 hotel by the end of this year.

Psychiatrist's Testimony Stricken From Record In Calley My Lai Trial

FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—A defense psychiatrist who testified Lt. William L. Calley's will was paralyzed during the alleged My Lai massacre was excused from the stand today and his testimony stricken when a question arose over its truthfulness.

On the motion of the defense, Col. Reid W. Kennedy, the military judge, ordered the testimony of Dr. Albert A. La Verne of New York stricken and cautioned the six-man military jury to "disregard it in its entirety."

La Verne, who is in private practice in New York and described himself as "senior psychiatrist at Bellevue Medical Center, currently on leave," pleaded near the close of the Thursday session that he was "under stress and fatigue."

It was closing time, and the judge immediately recessed for the day.

It was not made plain in today's move what the statements in question were, but La Verne at one point had said he could not remember much of what the stocky little defendant had told him earlier this week about the 1968 My Lai search and destroy sweep in which Calley is accused of the premeditated murder of 102 civilians.

Before the jury was brought in today, Kennedy remarked to both sides and the spectators:

"Following yesterday's session, it was apparent to me that Dr. La Verne was saying by the bell, so to speak, it being 4:30 p.m."

Resident And District Engineers Recommend Price Road Proposal

State Highway Department resident engineer, Tom Kelley, today advised Gray County Judge Don Cain that he and the district engineer, Charles Smith, Amarillo, had forwarded recommendations to Austin, that the Price Road paving project be reconsidered for an April contract letting date.

State funds in the amount of $150,000 had been allotted for paving Price Road by the State Highway Department with a tentative letting date, March, 1971.

County commissioners voted to veto accepting the state funds in a Feb. 1 meeting when Price

Road frontage owners were not one hundred per cent in agreement to the project which would cost them $2 per frontage foot.

Owners later collected the money themselves and offered a check for $16,500 to the Gray County Commissioners Court for consideration, and asked that the paving project be reconsidered.

The court voted to accept the check if the State Highway Department confirmed that the funds were still available, and that the job could be completed at no cost to the county.

State Officials Reported Trying To Influence Banking Appointee

AUSTIN (UPI)—Banking Commissioner Robert E. Stewart has told a legislative investigation committee state officials tried to influence him with "gentle persuasion."

Stewart made his remarks during a Senate committee's hearings into the State Banking department. The hearings were ordered when the Sharpstown State Bank folded in the wake of the state's stock scandal.

Sen. W. E. Snelson, D-Midland, asked Stewart at one point in Thursday's hearings if he had ever been "faced by any pressures from state officials."

"Yes, I have," said Stewart. "But I don't know whether you'd call it pressure or not. It's more like gentle persuasion."

Stewart said more "gentle persuasion" was to come when the Senate debated whether he should be confirmed as banking commissioner. He said he learned "one senator plans to hold my feet to the fire over my confirmation because he's interested in a banking charter."

The State Finance Commission appointed Stewart as commissioner July 1. But the Senate has never had the chance to confirm the appointment.

Stewart also said he once received a call from Dr. Elmer C. Baum, a member of the State Banking Board and an investments partner of Gov. Preston Smith. Stewart said Baum told him Frank Sharp, the owner of the Sharpstown Bank, was "a good friend."

Baum and Smith made a quick $125,000 profit in a stock deal when they invested money borrowed from Sharp's bank in a life insurance company Sharp owned.

Stewart said the last time Baum called him was in November and in the call Baum "did not ask me to lay off Frank Sharp."

Stewart also said he received a call from Rush McGinty, an aide to House Speaker Gus F. Mutscher, and McGinty told him Sharp "is a good friend of the Democratic party." Both McGinty and Mutscher made a profit in the stock deal.

Stewart said the "gentle persuasion" he receives usually comes from a lawmaker who wants a friend to get a banking charter. He said the lawmaker calls him and tells him the charter applicant is "a good old boy and a friend of mine."

"The Banking Department has not been questioned before, and I don't feel it has any business being questioned now," Stewart told the committee chaired by Sen. J. P. Word, D-Meridian.

He said the state's banking system is one of the nation's finest and the failure of the Sharpstown Bank was caused by "self-dealing loans" and the publicity surrounding the stock scandal.

Students Reverse Dating Traditions

Once a year during TWIRP Week, when traditional masculine and feminine dating roles are reversed, Pampa High School boys are treated to the dating courtesies they are expected to perform all year.

This week, PHS girls could request a TWIRP Week date only if they have a TWIRP license and agree to abide by the week's rules. The initials TWIRP Signify The Woman is Requested-To-Pay.

A TWIRP license, distributed by Student Council members, permits a girl to have as many dates as she wants until Saturday at midnight, but she must be willing to pay all date expenses, furnish transportation, buy her date whatever he wants, and walk him to the door after the date. She must be the one to make telephone calls and must perform the same courtesies she expects from boys all year.

Tornado Hits Trailer Park, Injuring Mother, 6 Children

By United Press International. Vicious twisters, hail and driving rain slashed North Texas Thursday, ripping apart property and injuring at least seven persons.

Eight tornadoes spun out of fast-flying thunderclouds, striking near Weatherford, in Farmersville, south of Cleburne, at Mayfield, west of Bowie, near Brier and near Bailey. A twister seen at Paris did not touch ground.

The Farmersville tornado tore up a trailer park, injuring Mrs. John Henry Thomas, 29, and her six children. Two of the Thomas children suffered concussions and a third received a broken collar bone. The others were treated for scratches and bruises and released.

Another tornado destroyed a trailer home near Bowie. Three persons inside escaped serious injury.

A twister near Weatherford ripped apart a barn and uprooted trees. Another damaged a trailer house at Bailey in Fannin County.

P. W. Woodruff said a tornado ripped across his field and blew down his barn south of Cleburne. "It hit the ground before it hit the barn. I heard it roar," he said.

Many of the thunderstorms, sweeping through Northeast Texas as at 35 to 40 miles an hour, carried hail and damaging winds.

Hail was so heavy in Collin County that it covered the ground an inch deep in parts. Hail also pelted Dallas, Fort Worth, Cleburne and elsewhere.

Near Dallas, winds of nearly 50 miles an hour whipped through the area, damaging several houses in suburban Garland, and a house trailer in nearby Rowlett was blown over, slightly injuring a woman inside.

The Farmersville twister damaged 18 trailers. High winds four miles to the north destroyed an outbuilding at Hensley's store, scattered debris across a pasture.

Behind the thunderstorms, dust storms howled across North Central Texas Thursday afternoon.

Heavy rainstorms striking in hit-and-run barrages dumped an inch on Mesquite, in Dallas County, and forced motorists in many areas off the roads because of reduced visibility.

But the moisture did little to help break the drought which has been drying out the state the past six months.

In Aspermont, Tex., where the residents have agreed to pay a rainmaker $10,000 if he can make five inches fall before March 8, a fourth of an inch to an inch of rain fell.

Also discussed was a need for additional camper parking areas in addition to that now available in Hobart St. Park.

Tools, Container Reported Stolen

A tool box and tools valued at $70 have been reported missing by the owner, Bennett McCathern, 304 Lowry.

Pampa Police reports stated that McCathern advised them that he discovered the tools missing from his pickup while it was parked on Duncan. Police said he believed the items were taken yesterday, but said that the last time he had checked the tool box was on Feb. 15.

ENDANGERED TAXPAYERS

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—A member of the state Chamber of Commerce said Thursday New York state taxpayers should be added to the list of endangered species.

Arthur M. Arnold said the taxpayer in New York "may be in imminent danger of extinction" because Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is asking for $1.1 billion in new taxes on top of an already high tax base to balance an $8.5 billion budget.

Florida Orange Juice Enjoys Growing Popularity In France

PARIS (UPI)—The biggest American invasion in France since blue jeans is a plastic bottle of Florida orange juice. On the Rue de Levis, a three block long street that is possibly the best food shopping district of Paris, one clerk points to the rows of familiar squarish bottles of orange juice and beams, "tres populaire..."

An American businessman involved in the import of the juice calls it "the biggest U.S. success story in France in recent years." A shopper in the new supermarkets and traditional small food shops on the Rue de Levis, as elsewhere in Paris, can find several U.S. products these days. Boxes of long grain rice, canned soups and pop-in-the-oven cheese cake make an American feel right at home.

But the biggest current seller is orange juice that one spots all over Paris in supermarkets, small grocery stores and even wine shops, ranging from 2.85 francs (about 51 cents) in a modest store on the medieval Ile Saint Louis to 4.50 francs (about 81 cents) at the luxurious Fauchon's near the Madeleine Church.

The great orange juice invasion has sharply changed eating habits in this land where food is the No. 1 love (no matter what you hear about the French and l'amour). The traditional beverages on the dinner table are wine, beer, hard cider or bottled water (they don't trust the tap water, either). Only about 10 years ago were canned fruit drinks taken up by the younger generation, brainwashed by an anti-alcohol association to the despair of wine growers.

In 1966 the U.S. government, spurred on by the Florida citrus industry, induced France to lift its restriction against importing fresh fruit juice. An advertising campaign was unleashed on television and billboards and in supermarkets in 1968. The juice caught on.

France imported 1.016 million gallons of orange and grapefruit juice from November 1968 to November 1969, and more than double that figure during the 1969-70 period.

For breakfast? Non, mon dieu!

Senate Report Attacks Federal Housing Project

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Senate report criticized the Federal government Thursday for tearing down more houses than it helped build and for subsidizing more squalid homes than decent ones.

The charges were contained in a study by the Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs of the government's 33-year-old effort to alleviate the nation's housing needs.

"The federal government has proved to be more efficient at providing low and moderate income housing than at providing it," the report said. "Urban renewal, highway construction and other Federal programs destroyed more units in the past decade than Federal housing subsidies created."

Welfare Money
Moreover, it said $9 billion the welfare money supplied by the Federal government goes to pay rent for needy families, two-thirds of which live in inadequate housing, the report said.

YAF Is Increasingly Concerned Over Development In Indochina

YOUNG AMERICANS FOR FREEDOM, the nation's largest organization of conservative youth, has become increasingly worried over the developments in Southeast Asia. YAF has urged the Administration to not allow its Vietnamization policy to deteriorate into a program for defeat.

Al Forrester, South-Southwest Regional Representative, speaking for the YAF members and chapters in sixteen states pointed out that decisive action in Cambodia last May put "an end to the war in the southern provinces in South Vietnam, even though many Senate doves refuse to recognize the fact. What keeps the war going on in the Northern provinces is the continuation of the privileged sanctuary in Laos."

Forrester said, "The United States should be ready and willing to do what is necessary to cut off the sources of supply coming down the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Southern Laos. If the recent ARVN incursion will succeed in destroying the supply lines, then that is good; however, if the United States is needed it should be ready to answer the call."

Forrester, who has visited Vietnam in the last year, said YAF supports Vietnamization, but only to the extent that the policy extends our position that Communist aggression in Southeast Asia must be stopped. He said, "The bold Nixon action to cut out the southern supply routes in Cambodia was a devastating defeat for the Reds, even though the quick pull back limited that which should have been accomplished. It inflicted a serious setback on the Communists. The Communist counter-attack came, not in Vietnam, where they have lost, but on the Vietnamese western flank in Cambodia and Laos. It is now up to the Administration with the united anti-Communist forces of Southeast Asia to do what is necessary to meet the counter-thrust."

"We have gone to Vietnam in a spirit of help for those who have committed their all to fighting Communist aggression. The cause is too noble and the consequences too high to simply pull-out, as Senators Fulbright, McGovern and Muskie would have us do. The President must reject the counsel of the noisy forces of surrender and isolation in their attempt to force a cut-n-run policy of defeat."

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Los Angeles:—Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at Plans were completed for the Boss Night Banquet. Every member is reminded to attend and bring her boss.

Mrs. Paul Rittenhouse installed as a new member was sponsored by Mrs. Homer McNeill.

Present were Meses. David McNair, C. P. DMF Auxiliary Cities Service Gas met Tuesday for a dinner session with Lorena Brown, president, presiding as year-books were distributed. Members voted to meet for a salad supper March 16 in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Co., with Anita Kerns and Bess Martin as hostesses.

One new member, Mrs. Mary Henderson, attended. The 13 members present were Meses. Hazel Sutton, Anita Kerns, Irene Paxson, Virginia Nokes, Augusta Brown, Billie Holman, Elmore Porter, Carol Owensby, Judy Becker, Pat Stewart, Lucille Gambill, Lorena Brown, Lucille Kessinger and Mary Henderson.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I called a girl for a date and she accepted. I made dinner reservations at a high-class club that features soft lights, music and dancing. I told this girl where we were going and I also told her I was wearing a black pin-stripe suit with light blue shirt and matching tie and handkerchief so she should dress accordingly.

She lives way out in the opposite direction from where we were going so I sent a taxi to her house to pick her up. When she showed up at my place she was wearing pants, sneakers and a hippie jacket with "peace and love" all over it. I know this girl can dress nicely because I've seen her in nice clothes.

I told her I was sorry but I couldn't take her to the place where I had reservations because they wouldn't let us in the place with her dressed like that. I paid her taxi fare home, and with the time flying I quickly asked a girl in my apartment if she wanted to go out for dinner. She jumped at the chance, dressed up like a lady, and we had a wonderful evening.

My question: Was I wrong to have sent the first girl home? I don't think so, but some other people think I was.

DEAR ME: Since "where" you went was obviously much more important to you than "with whom" you went, you weren't wrong.

DEAR ABBY: About 15 months ago my husband passed away and I sold one of his suits (almost new) to one of the neighbors for $10.

Just the other day, this neighbor called me and asked me to take the suit back and give her the $10 back. So I did. She is supposed to be one of my best friends. This upset my whole family. What is your opinion about this?

DISCOURAGED

DEAR DISCOURAGED: I think your friend must have been desperately in need of $10.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the Indiana Mother whose child had a speech defect and was teased by the other children. You recommended a speech therapist.

No therapist works "miracles" in a short time. We started taking our child to speech therapists when he was three years old. Seven years later he still needs coaching. Handicapped children suffer

Zion Lutheran Church

"Faith Has Two Stories," based on Luke 18:31-42, is the sermon theme of the message to be presented by Rev. Melvin G. Herring at Zion Lutheran Church Sunday at 11 a.m. Mrs. Melvin G. Herring will be the organist. Holy Communion will be celebrated during the worship service.

A "youth service" will be presented by the Junior and Senior Lutheran Youth Fellowship at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. Two dialogues will be presented by members of the Junior and Senior LYF's, "AWOLs of Life" and "Forgiveness." Guitarist accompaniment for the singing of the hymns will be provided by Counselors Charles Jones and John Lyle, Jr., and Leaguer Brent Bruington. Rev. Herring will lead the participants in the responses and prayers in the service. Special guests will be Legueros from Shamrock and Borger. Youth and adults of the community are welcome to attend the special youth service Sunday night at 7:30 p.m. Beginning with Ash Wednesday, Rev. Herring will deliver a series of Lenten sermons, "A Sick World and the Healing Christ." The series will discuss eight social and moral problems rushing our contemporary scene. Escapism, revolution, addiction and sensuality are some of the sermon topics in the series. The series will seek to help Christians to be better Christians in the contemporary world. The public is cordially invited to attend these special Lenten Services to be held each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. until Easter.

First Church Of Nazarene

The pastor of the local church will be speaking from the subject "Signs of the Times Point to the Second Coming of Christ."

In the evening service the pastor will be using for his text "The Bucket brigade."

Saturday night the youth department of the church will be having a banquet at Furr's Cafeteria at 6:30. Rev. Dwight Southworth of Amarillo, will be the speaker.

Church Of Christ, Scientist

Maintaining neighborhood peace has a religious dimension and obligation.

This is brought out in the Lesson-Sermon on "Mind" to be read at Christian Science church services Sunday.

One of the passages to be read from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy reads: "When we realize that there is one Mind, the divine law of loving our neighbor as ourselves is unfolded; whereas a belief in many ruling minds hinders man's normal drift towards the one Mind, one God, and leads human thought into opposite channels where selfishness reigns."

Bible citations include the Golden Text from Isaiah: "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee. Trust ye in the Lord for ever."

Noah personally works in the preaching ministry and in counselling as well as directing the Dallas Teen Challenge organization.

Jimmy Dennison, age 16, will be giving his testimony of deliverance from drugs as a part of the services.

Fears Of Undermining Religion Prove Unfounded

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

For a long time, some people have expected and others have feared that modern science eventually would discredit the basic postulates of religion. But just the opposite actually is happening. Instead of undermining belief in God, science is finding more and more evidence of "the existence of a reality beyond the natural order."

So says Dr. William G. Pollard, a remarkable man who has demonstrated in his own life the compatibility of science and religion. Pollard is a nuclear physicist, a pioneer in atomic research, and director of the Associated Universities of Oak Ridge, Tenn. His conviction that science cannot answer man's deepest questions led him some years ago into an exploratory relationship with the Episcopal church. This slowly ripened to the point where he asked for and received ordination. So today he is both a physicist and a priest.

Pollard has never found it necessary to compartmentalize his mind in order to combine these two roles. On the contrary, he says, the knowledge gained from daily involvement in scientific research has deepened his religious convictions, while the insights of religion have made him better able to comprehend the workings of the natural universe.

The Weekly Message of Inspiration...

St. Vincent de Paul Church

Father C. M. Hynes
CHRISTIAN LOVE

There is a great deal of talk today about love. And writing too. This would seem all to the good. Our Lord Himself spoke of love as the greatest commandment. To love God and to love one's neighbor are in reality one law, he said. Divine love was the ultimate reason He became man, lived, and worked and died. His whole life is a commentary on God's love for man. The highest reason that can be adduced for God's creating man and the world is the overflowing love of the Holy Trinity.

Love is constantly being cheapened and perverted by human substitutes. Much of modern speaking and writing about love confuses people, because there is no clear picture of love in human lives. Words are contradicted by example, and love is cheapened by human selfishness. Selfishness will pervert everything good, even the best Christian virtues. Some people only think of sex when they speak of love, and this is confusing. To get a clear picture of Christian love, there is no better way than to turn to what St. Paul has written in 1 Corinthians 13.

In a very concrete way and human way he describes love. Love is charity. Paul means the divine love or charity, even when he gives the human picture. Sentences worth remembering are the following: "If I speak in the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I am a noisy gong or a clanging cymbal. And if I have prophetic powers and understand all mysteries and all knowledge, and if I have faith so as to move mountains, but have not love, I am nothing. If I give away all I have and if I deliver my body to be burned, but have not love, I gain nothing. Love is patient and kind. Love is not jealous or boastful. It is not arrogant or rude. Love does not insist on its own way. It is not irritable or resentful. It does not rejoice at wrong, but rejoices in right. Love bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things. Love never ends. So faith, hope, love abide, these three, but the greatest of these is love" (1 Cor. 13:1-13).

Love exists in all virtues. Love is patience, is humility, is self control. Whoever has true love has all these other virtues. They are all united in love, and love inspires them all. The man who is unjust or intemperate lacks love. He who lacks one of these virtues, also lacks love. Love is spiritual and organic, governing the whole spiritual life.

Lent starts next Wednesday. Though it is a time of mortification and self denial, it is a good time to have a look at oneself with reference to Christian love. Ask yourself a few questions about the quality and depth of your love. What is the measure of your love? Love that stops is dead. Is love the motive of your action, or is there a secret form of selfishness that discolors the purity of your charity? What more can you do out of love in the way of sacrifice: for your neighbor.

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—A minicomputer that creates and controls "electronic mirages" is taking the place of actual test-firing of missiles on a proving ground to determine if guidance- and control mechanisms are working accurately.

The computer is the Varian 622-1 and it is being operated in the unique terminal guidance simulation laboratory at the Boeing Space Center.

The mirages actually are signals emanating from one end of an anechoic chamber which represents the returning microwave radar target reflections to the missile's guidance sensor.

Because radar-directed missiles must continuously and precisely locate targets, a sensing system that can handle a large number of variables is required.

Controls All
To accomplish this, Boeing built an intricately instrumented simulation laboratory in which the minicomputer controls all the dynamic conditions which must come into play in the static testing of a missile sensor system.

The alternative, according to Jerrel Bland, Boeing guidance specialist, is to duplicate actual missile firing and radar sensing conditions at a proving ground and that would "prohibitively expensive during early stages of missile development."

In the Boeing laboratory, a sensor under test is mounted in one end of the anechoic chamber on a gimbaled flight table which simulates angular motion. The sensor is aimed at the other end of the chamber. There is mounted a geometrical array of 256 wideband antennas. The antennas are set on one-foot centers in a 16-by-16 matrix.

Target Is 'Squared'

When the minicomputer takes over control of the test, it selects any four of the antennas, thus positioning a "reflective signal" being sent to the sensor. The relative amplitudes of the signals from each antenna determine the exact centerpoint of the simulated reflections and by activating successive antenna square the "target" can be made to move smoothly in evasive actions.

"Because we've given the 66-1 a lot of chores," Bland said, "its ease of interface with a lot of other instruments was a welcome feature."

Amarillo Golden Sandstorm Will Play Host To Harvesters Tonight

The Amarillo Golden Sandstorm will be playing host to the number one team in 3-AAAA tonight in the Sandie Gym.

The Pampa Harvesters after defeating the co-holders of the honors will be entering the court full strength against the Sandies in hopes of bringing home the District title for the first time in three years.

The Harvesters are a young team that needed experience early in the season but have come back with a strong bid for the higher goals in basketball achievement.

Fielding mostly juniors the Harvesters have posted an impressive win-loss record. The two seniors on the Harvester squad, Micky Sims and Mike Jordan are not making record scoring efforts but are more than contributing their share of defensive play. Both are strong backcourt contenders and many of the key Harvester plays are being directed by one or the other.

Sims was belted in the nose during the Palo Duro game and played until the referees saw the injury to stop the game. He stayed on the court however and set up Bunton and Edgar in their scoring efforts.

Richard Bunton, All-District Honorable mention, his sophomore year has improved during his junior year to a highly successful player both on defense and offense. Bunton along with Mike Edgar are the high scoring members of the Harvester's squad.

Coach Robert McPherson, in his first year at Pampa High School, was worried at the start of the season if the team could make the switch to his coaching methods. Evidently the members have made the necessary adaptations because several key games have been won. This is the Harvesters' big year and they mean to make the best of it.

The game tonight will be a revenge bout as the Sandies are still stinging from the whipping they received on the Pampa courts the second of February. The Harvesters steam-rolled to a 100 to 74 victory in that first encounter and will be aiming at even a larger margin tonight.

Tip-off time for tonight's game will be at 8 p.m. in the Sandie gym in Amarillo. The Shockers will be playing the Amarillo High School junior varsity at 6 p.m. and due to the large crowd turnout in the smaller Amarillo facilities Harvester fans should plan on going over early to be sure of getting a seat.

Pampa plays Borger in this District closer Tuesday night in Harvester Fieldhouse and that should be the bottle-royale. The Bulldogs defeated the Pampa team 55 to 53 in the closing game of the first half of district play.

COACH ROBERT McPHERSON giving last minute instructions to the Harvesters in Tuesday's 56 to 51 victory over the Palo Duro Dons. (Staff Photo)

Pampa was in a four-way tie at the close of play in the first half and if they win the second half outright the district title is theirs. If Pampa should tie with any of the four teams that shared the first half title a play-off game will be played to decide the district champs.

Winning district will be the first step in a long and rough road to state honors as the first major obstacle the Harvesters will have to bulldoze out of the way will be the Plainsmen from Plainview.

The Plainsmen have handed the Harvesters three defeats this season and are running one of their best seasons.

Be sure and attend tonight's game in Amarillo and go early to find a seat. Tip off time is 8 p.m. Support the Pampa Harvesters.

Deported Swiss Ski Race Moved To U.S.

KINGFIELD, Maine (UPI)—Simple name translation and a few minor changes converted a deported Swiss ski race into a U.S. production today at snow-laden Sugarloaf Mountain.

An international field representing 14 nations wrapped up the transplanted Aribers Kandahar races on Thursday and immediately moved into another World Cup competition, known locally as the Tall Timber Classic.

Because of the Swiss transplant, moved by a snow shortage in that nation, Switzerland's Bernhard Russi and Austria's Anne Marie Proell had a unique chance to win two separate downhill events in as many days.

Russi, 23, a late starter in international competition in only his second season on the tour, grabbed the Aribers Kandahar Jen's downhill Thursday even though he and most of his fellow Europeans criticized the narrow-gauge course as "too short."

Russi's 1:31.41 time over the 31-gate, 8,220-foot course with a 2,430 foot vertical drop was 30 seconds too fast according to him and he maintained the run should be lengthened. World Cup officials said they didn't plan to seriously alter the course distance and that both the men's and women's Tall Timber downhill races would be about the same length today.

Englehorn Wants Lib To Ignore Golf Game

PORT ST. LUCIE, Fla. (UPI)—Golfer Shirley Englehorn said Thursday she hopes the women's liberation movement stays away from professional golf.

"There's no way I would ever want to play on a mixed tour—women competing against men in golf," said Miss Englehorn, the only four-time winner last year on the Ladies Professional Golf Association (LPGA) tour.

Miss Englehorn is one of the favorites to win the $60,000 Sears Women's World Classic of St. Lucie, the richest event in ladies golf history. The 54-hole tournament begins today over a par-73 Port St. Lucie Country Club course. A total of 74 golfers will be vying for the $10,000 first prize. Miss Englehorn shocked the golf world last year when she sought admittance to the Los Angeles Open, strictly a men's event.

"That was a public relations man for the tournament speaking," said Miss Englehorn. "The sponsor said he would give me an exempt berth and I went along with it."

The men's Professional Golf Association refused to allow her to play, touching off a furor in which Miss Englehorn was pictured as an unyielding woman golfer who thought she could beat the men.

Miss Englehorn laughed at the idea.

"Men's golf is a different game, and that's the way we women want it," she said. "I personally like to play golf with men because it's fun—but not for a living."

International Flavor Spices Madison Garden Track Meet

NEW YORK (UPI)—An international flavor, spiced with nine Russians, a Swedish world record-setting pole vaulter and 17 1968 Olympians, was tonight's track and field recipe at Madison Squire Garden for the third edition of the Olympic Invitational meet.

Sweden's Kjell Isaksson, who set a world pole vault record last week in Los Angeles with a leap of 17-feet, 7 1/2 inches, headed the international cast which also included Russian miler Mikhail Zhelobovskiy.

Zhelobovskiy will challenge Villanova's Marty Liquori in the 1,500 meters. Kiquori, who is seeking his 13th straight New York victory, defeated Zhelobovskiy twice last season. The remainder of the 1,500-meter field, Pittsburgh's Jerry Richey, West Virginia's Morgan Mosser and Keith Colburn of Sports International, also has fallen victim to the Villanova distance ace in the past.

Fordham-Irish Game Is Thriller

By VITO STELLINO UPI Sports Writer

The Fordham-Notre Dame thriller seemed all over Thursday night when Charley Yelverton fouled out but the real drama was only beginning.

"Every fan in the Garden thought it was over but our kids knew they could still do it," Fordham Coach Digger Phelps claimed after Fordham played without its No.1 player for the final 6:55 and still stunned Notre Dame 94-88.

The victory gave 13th-ranked Fordham a 19-1 record and may vault the Rams into the nation's top 10.

Yelverton had been playing a memorable game on offense and defense, outshining Notre Dame's Austin Carr before he fouled out with Fordham leading 75-73 with 6:55 left.

Opponents' Tribute

The game came to a halt as the Notre Dame players went over to the Fordham bench to congratulate Yelverton on his 28-point, 11-rebound performance. The excited crowd of 19,500—the first nontournament college sellout in three years and the largest crowd ever to see a college game in New York—gave him a standing ovation. But without Yelverton, Fordham seemed doomed.

"I don't think the crowd had the faith that we did," Yelverton said, "Mainer told me he was going to win it for me."

Billy Mainer did just that. Held to four points in the first half, he scored 23 in the second half including 13 of the final 19 Fordham points after Yelverton fouled out.

Fordham doesn't have a starter over 6-foot-5 but uses its speed and quickness to create turnovers and neutralize the height advantage its opponents have. The Rams take on Rutgers Saturday before tackling second-ranked and unbeaten Marquette Thursday night.

Notre Dame had the high scorer as Carr hit 29 points. The Irish who have upset UCLA, dropped to 14-7 with the loss.

Other Games

Temple beat Manhattan 64-47 in the preliminary to the Fordham-Notre Dame game and, in other action, Memphis State stopped Bradley 74-40 and St. Louis downed North Texas State 64-61 in a pair of Missouri Valley Conference games.

Temple held Brian Mahoney, Manhattan's leading scorer, scoreless for the first time in his career to beat the Jaspers and Fred Horton's 16 points helped Memphis State down Bradley.

Harry Rogers scored 22 points including four clutch free throws in the closing minute to beat North Texas State.

Lefors Advances To Semi-Final Rounds In District 3-B Invitational Tournament

The Lefors Pirates opened their portion of the Lefors District 3-B Boys Invitational Basketball Tournament with a 65 to 45 defeat of the Mobetie boys yesterday afternoon.

Ronnie Sims led the Pirates early in the first quarter by scoring six quick points making the Mobetie team play catch up basketball from the start.

High point man Valta Tarbet, with 29 points controlled the backboards for the Lefors team. Tarbet received most of his points on set up shots by Mike Robbins and Sims.

A basket by Robbins increased the Lefors lead to eight points before Mobetie managed to get on the scoreboard on a foul shot by Jack May.

R. McCurley was the high point man for Mobetie with his 15 points while Ned Medley was close with eleven. Bob Newman kept the Mobetie fans cheering with his outside shots hitting for 12 points during the loss.

At the start of the second quarter the winners were out ahead by eleven points on a basket by David White. White's basket was followed closely by a goal from Robbins, to give the Pirates a 13 point lead over the losers.

Mobetie pulled a little closer before intermission but left the courts at halftime trailing 35 to 17. In the third quarter Lefors opened the scoring again on a basket by Tarbet and continued to lengthen their chances of a sure victory.

With the third quarter almost over the Lefors coach placed his second stringers in and gave the starters a deserved rest. The second string did a great job and continued to pull ahead of the Mobetie team.

Every team member on the Lefors squad saw action against Mobetie and every member scored at least one point.

Other games played the first day were Groom going up against Allison. Allison downed the Tigers 61 to 41 to gain a berth in the semi-finals to be played this afternoon. Groom was led in scoring by Nolan Wieberg with 12 while the winners had Anthony Cornell out in front with 16 points.

Samnorwood romped by Briscoe 88 to 51 in a 7 p.m. game and Quail completely demolished Miami 80 to 35 in the final game of the first days play.

Today Allison will be meeting Lefors in a 7 p.m. game and at 8:30 Samnorwood will be playing Quail in the semi-final rounds. Tomorrow the finals between the winners of today's games will play at 7:30 p.m.

Ryun Competes After Laying Off For Three Long Years

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The question of whether world mile record holder Jim Ryun is ready to compete against top competition after a layoff of almost three years should be answered tonight.

Ryun goes against a class field of sub-4-minute milers in the San Diego Indoor Games. His comeback began last month in San Francisco, where he easily defeated a talent-short field in 4:04.4.

This time he faces John Mason, who ran 3:58.9 on a relatively slow track in Los Angeles last week. Also in the field is Chuck Labenz, who said he is shooting for a 36-second first quarter.

Ryun said this would be his last indoor appearance of the outcome.

While Ryun's comeback looms as the main attraction, the meet also provides the best indoor two-mile field in history. Young and Kerry Pearce face the likes of Frank Shorter, Tex Maddafoed, Gerry Lindgren and world 3,000-meter steeplechase record holder Kerry O'Brien. World co-record holders George Randy Matson and Al Feuerbach renew their shot put duel, which has been a highlight of the 1971 indoor campaign.

Olympic 800-meter champion Ralph Doubell of Australia faces American 1,000-meter record holder Juris Luzins in the 1,000.

Other top athletes seeking records are Olympic 400-meter champion Lee Evans, Olympic gold medal hurdler Willie Davenport and Olympic high jump champion Dick Fosbury.

White Deer Move On To Bi-District Tilt

White Deer has their eyes set on higher goals after downing Sanford Fritch 67 to 47 last night in District 1-A play. The Bucks were led in their attack on the Fritch Bobcats by tall Rick Thurman with 21 points.

Thurman was originally considered to be the White Deer-Skellytown Bucks football superstar but as of late he is making deep inroads on the court.

Fritch couldn't seem to get into motion in last night's game as the Bucks jumped to a first quarter lead 14 to 3. At intermission the Bucks had lost a few points advantage but still led 30 to 25.

The third quarter made the big difference as the White Deer-Skellytown squad hit for 22 points and Fritch only placed 14 points on the board.

High point man for Fritch was Bob Dennis with 12 points. The decision on location for the bi-district play-off game against Clarendon will be made today.

Inaugurates War

Against Drugs

NEW YORK (UPI)—Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn has inaugurated his war on drugs and the game's top-ranking officials will be going back to school in an effort to make the program a success.

In announcing a drug education and prevention program for baseball Thursday, Kuhn said that although he had "no specific" knowledge that any players or baseball personnel had used hard drugs like heroin, it was necessary to prevent the spread of what he called "limited use of mild drugs in baseball."

Kuhn then said that regional seminars would be held on the subject in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., March 2, Tampa, Fla., March 3 and Phoenix, Ariz., March 18. The seminars will be attended by league presidents Joe Cronin and Charles Feeney, National Association President Phil Pilon, minor league presidents, team physicians, players and other personnel connected with baseball.

"There has been a limited use of drugs in baseball and I hope to stop it," Kuhn said. "While the program recommended by the physicians will emphasize education and prevention, it will also deal with disciplinary procedures felt necessary to assure its success."

Buckley's Right To Speak

William F. Buckley, the "conservative" publisher of National Review and moderator of a weekly television program, has raised the issue of his right to work without paying dues to a union.

In Buckley's case, he is required to pay tribute to an actors' organization, the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA) in order to continue his television program.

Mr. Buckley filed his action in U.S. District Court, challenging the constitutionality of a requirement that he pay dues to a private organization in order to appear regularly on television and radio. He raises the issue of the requirement to pay dues to a labor organization in order to work, and the further question of his "right to express an opinion" without first becoming a member of the private organization. He claims in the latter point that his right of free speech and association is infringed.

We believe Editor Buckley has some good points. But we are not optimistic about the outcome. The courts and legislatures of the land have been too willing to allow coercion on the part of labor unions, while claiming similar acts by other organizations would violate the rights of the people to act freely.

The recent disclosure that Harry Reasoner receives more pay for reading the news on television than the President of the United States receives as salary may give some indication of why individuals like Howard K. Smith, Walter Cronkite and David Brinkley continue as members of AFTRA.

But Buckley has a point when he calls on the so-called liberals to join him in his fight for freedom from compulsory membership in the actor's union, or any other union. He said:

"Many of the people in this country labeled 'liberals' eloquently object to any compromise of the individual right of the citizen against the government — particularly free speech and privacy. I think it is time they join me in demanding that the individual have a right to join or not join, to pay dues or not pay dues, to a private organization without surrendering his right to speak."

'Full Employment' Budget

"The full employment budget idea is in the nature of a self-fulfilling prophecy. By operating as if we were at full employment, we will help to bring about that full employment," said President Nixon in his budget message to Congress.

Full Employment Budget promises to be one of the most successful coinages of the present administration, rivaling Silent Majority and Vietnamization as terms that mean different things to different people, notes Don Oakley of Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

As the President defines it, under a full employment budget the government may spend up to the limit of the income it would have if everybody (technically, 96 per cent of the total work force) was employed and paying taxes.

Using this formula, he has told Congress that the nation may with good conscience go into the hole to the tune of $11.6 billion for fiscal 1972 (July 1, 1971, to June 30, 1972). Up to that point the budget will be "expansionary," anything beyond that point would be inflationary.

(How does he know that the employable unemployed would be paying $11.6 billion in taxes if they were employed? Don't ask.)

But what's this? Without even planning it — in fact, he had hoped for a slight surplus (an overfull employment budget! — the President will rack up a deficit of $18.6 billion for the current fiscal year ending June 30.

Will this budget have been inflationary on expansionary?

It can hardly be the former because more people will have been unemployed during fiscal 1971 than fiscal 1972, according to the self-fulfilling prophecy of 1972's full employment budget. That is, with more people unemployed at the beginning of fiscal 1971, there was even greater justification for a full employment budget (or deficit, if you insist on being old-fashioned about it).

But it can hardly be the latter, either, for then there would be less need for another whopping deficit in 1972. That is, we should be feeling the effects of 1971's full employment budget (which wasn't called that because nobody had invented it at that time) in terms of rising employment and expanding business.

Actually, there is really nothing so new about the full employment budget idea.

For years the Joneses next door have been spending money as if they had the income they would have if Mr. Jones was being paid what he thought he ought to be paid.

It's been getting harder and harder to keep up with them — almost as hard as understanding government economists, adds Mr. Oakley.

Simple Idea Works Best

It was a long time ago that Russell Conwell made a fortune delivering a Chautauqua lecture called "Acres of Diamonds." His message was that opportunities for advancement are everywhere, and quite frequently may be found literally underfoot. The recent death of Peter S. Voskikian at the age of 78 in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, brings to mind the lesson that many times the simple idea is the best idea.

Mr. Voskikian, to all appearances, didn't have much "going for him." A native of Armenia, he had emigrated to the United States at the age of 21. He didn't have any powerful connections or even a good command of the English language, at first, but that didn't stop him.

At the dinner table one night, Mrs. Voskikian complained about the unpleasant task of cleaning the kitchen floor with mop and pail. Mr. Voskikian thought about it for a moment, and then said: "I think I have a perfect mop for you." After dinner he went to his small workshop in the cellar of his house and assembled an unlikely conglomeration of items: a broom handle, a breadboard, a cookie sheet, a rubber sponge, a scrub brush and a number of nuts and bolts.

Thereupon was invented an item which has been happily purchased by millions of housewives, the squeeze mop. Two thriving manufacturing firms, the Hardware and Industrial Tool Company and the Quickie Manufacturing Company were to grow from the simple idea, in turn providing jobs for hundreds of workers — to say little of making floorwashing a slightly more pleasant task than it had been before.

While many of today's inventions are developed in sophisticated laboratories, there are still many "simple" ideas waiting for an inventor.

Question Box

QUESTION — Why are U.S. citizens prohibited from owning gold?

ANSWER: They are prohibited from owning gold in bullion or coin form (other than in special instances), apparently because the politicians in power want to control the people through control of what passes for money.

When paper money was redeemable in gold or silver, individuals had some control over the politicians' using inflation to tax the savings of the citizens. The people could simply redeem their paper money for gold or silver and remove it from the control of the politicians, thus retaining something of intrinsic value. But elimination of gold backing for the dollar, which accompanied the prohibition against individuals holding gold in bullion and most coins, permitted the politicians to embark on their inflationary practices.

By issuing paper money in the form of unbacked United States Notes and Federal Reserve Notes, the national government has been able to spend more than it receives in income. The additional notes, plus excess credit which banks are allowed to issue, enter the commerce of the nation and compete with the previously issued dollars, seeking the same amount of goods. All dollars thus will buy less, and those with savings are being taxed to finance the "new money."

It is a legal form of counterfeiting. In ancient times when governments issued only gold coins, there was a practice of coin clipping. Monarchs, as well as some citizens, would clip a portion of the gold from the coin, which still had the same face "value." But because sellers were intelligent enough to know the clipped coin did not contain the original amount of gold, they raised the prices of their products. The same is happening today as the dollar becomes less valuable, and sellers of goods and services increase their prices.

Gold is not a total solution to a nation's monetary woes. But it has proved through the years to be the most satisfactory medium of exchange because it has a value that is generally acceptable by people all over the world. And when people become dissatisfied with monetary policies of the politicians, they have the power to withdraw gold from the market place and thus tend to have some control over those in power.

Not only are we going great guns in the population rate—we are setting new records in the divorce rate.

In the 1960's there were 35 divorced men and 60 divorced women for every 1,000 married couples. I'll run that by you again — 35 men and 60 women divorced. Sounds crazy don't it?

I suppose the difference comes about because the women are smarter than the men. The men don't seem to pay much attention to the sayings, "Once bitten, twice shy" or "Don't be a glutton for punishment."

The divorce rate is higher in the city. Maybe too many executives spend more time in dark offices than they do at home — until their secretary throws the switch.

It is wholesome to note that on the farm there were only 20 divorces per 1,000 compared with 49 in metropolitan areas. It is for this reason that the agriculture department is trying its best to put the farmer out of business and move him to the city.

I don't know why the farmer gets along better with his spouse than the city feller. It might be that any love he has left over is fostered on his animals. I think it is more likely though, that by the time he gets done with his work and his hay he is too tired to fight over who steals all the bedclothes.

STRAIGHT TALK:

Answer: Get Government Out Of Welfare Business

By TOM ANDERSON

According to a recent estimate, there are 27,931 ways of making a living in America without getting on welfare. Millions of second and third generation leeches are unable to find a single one of those 27,931 ways to pay their own way.

One of the more brilliant campus Reds was heard asking another: "But what happens to our unemployment checks when we overthrow the government?" Possibly nobody has told the fool that in communist countries every able-bodied citizen must work. There are now in the neighborhood of 48 million Americans getting regular government checks, either for working or not working. (And many who have jobs are not working.) At the present growth of government and welfare, and regular checks for not working, by the year 2015 virtually everybody will get a regular government check—which is like a hungry snake swallowing its tail, deeper, deeper, deeper, until there is no tail—and no snake.

In Mount Rainier National Park, Washington, a ranger cautions visitors against feeding the animals. The ranger explains that the deer grow accustomed to visitors' handouts and lose the ability to fend for themselves. Bears, he says, come to believe that free food is their due—and become grouchy and violent if they don't get it. Chipmunks and squirrels congregate where the handouts are supplied and thus upset the balance of nature.

The "balance" of our country is likewise being upset: The leeches are taking over. The government is not only living beyond its income it's living beyond yours and mine. Is there a job shortage? No. And there hasn't been. Look in the classified pages of any newspaper. The hardest job an owner of a business has today is to find people who want to give an honest day's work for an honest day's pay.

In the past ten years, welfare has grown 18 times as fast as population. Twenty-three million Americans now get social security checks from our bankrupt Social Security Administration. Forty million people are getting some form of veterans benefits. Eleven million more are getting "public assistance." Nearly 10 million receive doctor's services under Medicare.

The Nixon welfare program, if passed, will formalize the welfare state in America. It will only be a matter of time, if welfare is nationalized, before taxes steal so much of what the worker earns that only the rich can afford to work—as in ancient Rome.

President Nixon's welfare program would triple present welfare costs, double the welfare rolls and bankrupt the nation. Nearly 12 per cent of all the people would get relief, or one person out of every eight. That's only the beginning.

Help Possible If Heart Beat Slows

Dear Dr. Lamb—What causes the pulse to slow in a Stokes-Adams attack? As in the case of other types of heart ailments, are restricted activities and diet necessary, following this condition?

Dear Reader — A Stokes-Adams attack usually refers to an episode characterized by a seizure or convulsion that has been caused by inadequate blood flow to the brain. The poor circulation results from the heart beating so slowly that it is not pumping enough blood. The slow heart rate is caused by a defect in the heart that prevents the normal transmission of the heart's electrical impulse from the top part of the heart to the lower heavy muscular pumping chambers.

In normal people the heart is stimulated by a tiny anatomical spark plug at the top of the heart. When this impulse can not pass to the lower part of the heart, a much slower signal is generated within the heavy heart muscle itself. This is all that keeps the heart going. Depending upon where the slower signal comes from, the heart rate may be 50 or 30 or less a minute.

Trouble begins when the rate gets real slow.

Usually, the reason the normal impulse from the top of the heart is not transmitted is because of a diseased area at the junction of the upper and lower heart chambers. The disease is usually our old "friend," atherosclerosis, or fatty deposits, in the arteries that supply blood to that area.

In some cases when there are too many attacks or the heart rate can not be kept at high enough level by other means (pills), an electrical pacemaker or stimulator can be put in the heart. This device sends out signals regularly that are transmitted directly from the device to the heart muscle of the lower chamber through wires attached by needles to the heart muscle. Many people are alive today because of these devices. Not all patients need them if they respond well to medicine.

Yes, diet is important. Just controlling the body weight is important since it decreases the amount of work the heart must do.

Obviously, anyone with Stokes-Adams attacks should be under a doctor's care.

Inside Washington

Plan Speeding Draft Renewal

John Goldsmith

Robert Allen

WASHINGTON — With the draft expiring June 30, the House Armed Services Committee is losing no time in starting consideration of a new military manpower procurement law.

Inside indications are that a decisive majority of the 41-member committee (24 Democrats, 17 Republicans) favor continuing the draft with a "few revisions."

There is considerable sentiment among the committee members for an all-volunteer army. But while approving the idea in theory, few believe it is practical at this time.

This backstage viewpoint is significantly reflected in the attitude of Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., slated to become chairman.

"I am open minded on the subject of an all-volunteer army," says the 30-year legislative veteran.

"Unquestionably, an army of that kind is more preferable than a draft army. But no one has yet demonstrated that a volunteer army is feasible. There is no concrete evidence that a volunteer system would produce the manpower needed for our defense and security."

"We know what the Selective Service Act will do, but we don't know what a volunteer plan would do. And under present world conditions I am definitely not for taking any chances. I am prepared to listen to the arguments pro and con, but as of now, I am persuaded as to the feasibility of a volunteer system."

Hebert's skeptical attitude is based on a 400-page report made several weeks ago by a special subcommittee on the draft of which he was chairman. The panel heard a number of authorities and witnesses at a series of hearings.

The report strongly advised against recourse to a volunteer army.

EARLY START — To speed up House disposal of the crucial military manpower issue, Hebert is starting hearings next week — several days after President Nixon's State of the Union message.

Defense Secretary Melvin Laird will be the first witness — presenting a report on the country's "military posture." He will be followed by other Pentagon officials, Draft Director Curtis Tarr, members of Congress, spokesmen of various organizations and private individuals.

It is Hebert's plan to conclude the hearings in a month or six weeks, and to bring out a bill by March 15. That would open the way for the House to complete action on this major legislation by April 1.

That would leave three months for Senate consideration and the two chambers to iron out differences between them before the June 30 expiration of the present law.

Whether this schedule can be kept only time will tell.

It's fairly certain to be in the House. Hebert, one-time high-powered city editor, is forceful and purposeful. Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, is no less so. But the full Senate, where so-called "extended debate" is an occupational addiction, is another story.

It's not inconceivable that certain ultra-doves might go so far as to attempt to thwart renewal of the draft by filibustering against it until the existing law expires.

COLLEGIATE DRAFT DODGING — High among the draft problems due to be considered by the House Armed Services Committee is the practice of some colleges of freely supplying authenticated forms to anyone seeking them to be sent to local draft boards for deferment purposes.

This startling disclosure came to light during the hearings of Hebert's special subcommittee.

The jarring information came from Draft Director Tarr under questioning by committee members. In the course of this backstage testimony, he named a number of colleges.

Following are highlights of this unreported shocker.

After telling the panel that state draft directors "can't rely on colleges and universities to notify them a student has graduated," Tarr cited another violation of the spirit of the law, as follows:

"This is the way some colleges and universities handle statements from young persons who in fact are not enrolled. State directors have told me that registrars simply have a stack of signed forms in blank and any person can pick one up. That is, these forms signed by the registrar are on a table in his office available for anyone, student or not, to get and fill in and send to his local draft board. The board would have no other evidence that the youth is not enrolled."

"This is one of the most astonishing things that has been developed here," exclaimed Chairman Hebert. "What you are telling us is that anybody could walk into a registrar's office, pick up a signed form and send it to his draft board and be deferred — without actually enrolling in the college or university."

"If that isn't aiding and abetting evasion of the draft law, I don't know what is."

At the direction of the committee, Tarr submitted a list of noncooperative colleges. As reported in the committee's study, they are as follows:

"University of Connecticut and Yale do not report terminations. Yale has delegated reporting responsibility to its colleges with a variation in reporting procedures between colleges."

"University of Chicago, Illinois State University and Bradley do not report interruptions. Cases are known of students who registered, were reported to the local board, and then dropped out with no report."

"University of Maryland, College Park campus, interruptions are delayed or not reported by undeclared colleges."

"University of Massachusetts, Harvard and M.I.T. report changes only on request of student."

"Ferris State University and Western Michigan do not report changes."

"No notice of termination issued by University of Minnesota, Austin State, Bemidji State, Brainerd State, Fergus Falls State, Moorhead State, Rainy River State, Rochester State, St. Cloud State, University of Minnesota (Morris) and various private schools."

"Haverford and Swarthmore (Pennsylvania) furnish no information except on request of registrant."

"University of Puerto Rico does not report interruptions." "In Rhode Island, Brown, Johnson and Wales, Roger Williams, Rhode Island College and Rhode Island School of Design do not report interruptions."

"University of Wisconsin will furnish evidence of enrollment to the registrant student, but it will not respond to an inquiry from a local draft board. Many private colleges have agreed on a policy of noncooperation, among them Marquette and Lawrence. Difficulty is experienced in establishing class year standing of students. Some schools afford devious means of noncompliance."

After disposal of draft legislation, the House committee also plans to consider two other long controversial military problems — recommitment of retirement pay and a new pension system for dependents.

The latter is certain to be taken up, but recommitment is very iffy.

Shortly before Congress quit last month, a subcommittee headed by Rep. Otis Pike, D-N.Y., after extended study, submitted a plan for complete reorganization of dependents' pensions. This proposal has won strong backing from leading veterans' organizations who are vigorously pressing for action on it.

The prospects are good the committee will report out a bill on this issue sometime this year.

But the outlook for recommitment is bleak — chiefly because of its heavy cost. Raising retirees' pay to the level of active rates would cost an estimated $1.5 billion the first year and double that thereafter.

Already military retired compensation is in the billions. In this fiscal year's budget the amount is $3.194 billion.

More Than Two Million People Expected To Visit Nation's Largest Parks In Three Northern States This Summer

By JOHN LEIGHTY
United Press International
More than two million people will drive, fly, or hitchhike to the northern Wyoming-Idaho-Montana border this summer to visit the oldest and largest of the national parks.

Yellowstone, with its gushing geysers, boiling paint-pots and wild rivers, is still one of the scenic wonders of the world. Next year will mark its 100th anniversary as a national park. Only 10 miles away are the saw-tooth peaks of Wyoming's Grand Teton National Park, providing along with Yellowstone a magnificent, double-barreled dose of natural beauty.

Elk, moose, buffalo, bears and other wild animals roam the region today as they did when the Lewis and Clark expedition camped there and buckskin hunters and trappers blazed paths in the wilderness.

Campsites Fill Quickly

On a typical summer day, campsites at both Yellowstone and Grand Teton fill to capacity before noon. Private campgrounds outside the parks are usually sufficient for the overflow.

Recently, Sen. Clifford Hansen, R-Wyo., said he would reintroduce his Washakie wild-life bill during this session of Congress in an attempt to relieve some of the visitor pressures on the two parks.

"I think we all realize we will have to limit the use of Grand Teton and Yellowstone National Parks ... by making better use of the contiguous national areas around them," Hansen said.

Hansen says his legislation would "set aside a truly magnificent part of the Shoshone National Forest." The bill passed the Senate last session but failed in the House.

Yellowstone's administrator, Jack Anderson, says an $18,000 study is underway by a California firm for the feasibility of a rail system through the park. A prototype "people-carrying module" would first be built in Canyon Village and would carry visitors in a circular journey to the north rim of the Yellowstone River in the Grand View area and return.

New Methods

"We are in a changing time and people change their habits," Anderson said. "There are new methods of transportation. It is difficult to say what we can accommodate here, but we are attempting to spread the impact area."

Anderson said during the summer as many as 25,000 persons a day come in the park and about 500 persons have to be turned away. He said the turnaways can almost always find space the next morning. The average turnover at Yellowstone is three and a half days per family.

To help relieve congestion, park officials are considering a system under which campsites could be reserved in advance. "There should be a reservation system for say, 60 to 70 per cent of the campgrounds," said Anderson. "It would give a person a chance to make reservations six or seven months in advance."

Anderson said naturalist programs are being introduced to visitors and he foresees no immediate danger to the abundant wildlife of the park.

Problem in Tetons

In neighboring Tetons, though less famous, drew a million more visitors than Yellowstone last year and officials said overcrowding has become a problem there, too.

The Tetons' 3.5 million visitors were drawn partially by the winter activities and ski slopes and the convenience of a small airport.

In summer or winter, a favorite activity is riding an aerial tram up nearby Snow King Mountain to get a closer view of the 13,747-foot Grand Teton or gaze at numerous other jutting peaks and deep crevasses.

Pastor Will Conduct Lectures Here

"Every American who visits the Holy Land comes back singing the praises of Israel — because the people are developing their country and making the best of what they have," states Rev. H. A. Somerville, retired Amarillo minister, who recently returned from a second visit to the founding place of Christianity.

Rev. Somerville will be interim-pastor of the Bible Church of Pampa during the a.m. Morning Worship and 7 p.m. services on Sunday. He will address a meeting of the church youth at 7:30 p.m. Saturday. Rev. Somerville will utilize slides and conduct a question-answer period following each of the lectures.

HANGINGS IN PAKISTAN

RAWALPINDI (UPI)—Nine men convicted for burning to death a family of nine to settle an old feud were hanged at Rawalpindi's district jail Thursday morning.

The men trapped nine members of a family, including three women and two children, in a village about 10 miles from Rawalpindi and set their house on fire on Feb. 11, 1970.

"I think we have the same conditions as all the parks, said management assistant Dick Monroe. "We have problems trying to protect the very thing people come to see."

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market continues to benefit from its "impressive ability to resist profit taking and snap back quickly whenever such profit taking does take place," E. F. Hutton & Co. says. The company observes that the market is picking up technical help with the renewed firmness in the utilities. "This new firmness in the utilities seems to have repaired one of the cracks that had recently appeared in the market's technical structure," Hutton believes.

Economic and business news is currently very confusing, Vance, Sanders & Co. Inc. says. Inflation and unemployment remain "stubborn problems," yet stock prices have recovered "nicely," the company says. The company believes it is affecting the public because "indications are that many individual investors are staying on the sidelines waiting until the outlook is less cloudy."

Prices and volume race ahead and Wall Street continues "in a state of euphoria," is the way the Alexander Hamilton Institute sees the situation on Wall Street. Typical of an early bull market, bearish news is passing by unnoticed, the company says. The institute says a market with this posture is not likely to deflate and it expects invested money to "show a good return."

"Earnings estimates have been changing rapidly," Fraser Management Associates, says. The company expects the "kind of profit resurgence ... that the stock market is reflecting." The company says the rise in prices was "not unexpected but the quickness and magnitude of the climb surprised us all."

The outstanding brother and sister act among sibling groups today is The Carpenters, consisting of Karen, 20, and brother Richard, 24, who have a best-selling record album and more play-dates than they can fill. They have recorded three albums, the second of which "Close To You" has sold 1,700,000 copies.

More importantly, the Carpenters are part of a growing musical revolution toward romantic ballads, love songs and standards as opposed to acid rock.

The Carpenters, born and raised in New Haven, Conn., now make their home with their parents in Downey, Calif.

Richard plays the electric piano and Karen the drums. Both sing with clear voices. "Being brother and sister has its advantages," Richard said. "We think alike and we grew up with the same music and values."

"I told mother I wish she'd had another child so we could be a trio," Karen said. "I thought we could use a base she said it was too late."

Television In Review

By RICK DUBROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Last television season, President Nixon's daughter Tricia brought ratings success and critical acclaim to CBS' "60 Minutes" series with a charming tour of White House living quarters.

Now, in something of a sequel, the series will broadcast on March 2 what CBS describes as an "extraordinary" behind-the-scenes look at a White House state dinner.

According to the network, "six '60 Minutes' cameras will be deployed throughout the White House, in the State Dining Room, the Grand Hall, the East Room, the florist shop and kitchen for a closeup look at the upcoming state visit of Italian Premier Emilio Colombo."

"Viewers," CBS continues, "will be in the kitchen with White House social secretary Lucy Winchester and chef Henry Haller while the dinner is being prepared, and in the State Dining Room with the d'John Ficklin as the tables are being set. Ficklin, who has served four presidents, will be celebrating his 25th anniversary at the White House that evening."

In addition, says the network, "60 Minutes" cameras will be present during the dinner and then "will focus on the musical entertainment ... in the East Room with the First Family and their guests."

ABC's Dick Cavett is pulling a David Frost in reverse and is going to London to originate his late-night show there for two weeks starting April 26.

American audiences, the ratings show, are not very receptive to British accents. But in view of Cavett's particular audience, which dotes on his restrained, intelligent, witty approach, the London sojourn makes good sense. Jack Paar, the former late-night video host who, like Cavett, had a droll and sophisticated manner (now seen in his specials), also visited London, where he seemed totally at home and had fine broadcasting success, including some brilliantly delivered monologues that made clear we have no better video humorist.

Tesoro Discloses Completion Of Five New Offshore Wells

Tesoro Petroleum Corporation (AMEX), San Antonio, Texas, has announced the completion of several new offshore wells by Trinidad-Tesoro Petroleum Company Limited, jointly owned by Tesoro and the Government of Trinidad and Tobago. The announcement was made by Dr. Robert V. West, Jr., president of Tesoro.

Trinidad-Tesoro has completed five wells and is presently drilling the sixth from its first platform in the Galeota area, seven miles offshore in the Atlantic Ocean from the southwest coast of Trinidad, Dr. West reported.

Oil production has been established from five reservoirs of the Saint Hilaire and Gros Morne sand series of Miocene age. The producing horizons range from 400 to 3,000 feet in depth with total net pay sections on the order of 400 feet. A specially designed slant drilling rig was constructed to develop these shallow sands.

One of the wells has been producing for 21 days and has an indicated capacity of 350 barrels per day of oil. Due to shallow reservoir depths it is probable that the new wells will have to be produced by means of hydraulic pumps or other artificial lift. Testing of all five wells has not been completed due to the combined problems of rough seas and safety considerations of simultaneous testing and drilling. Further testing of all wells and zones will continue using a floating test barge.

Present plans are to drill 17 wells from the first platform. If testing and future drilling warrant, four additional platforms will be erected, and a total of approximately 30 wells will be drilled to fully develop the field.

Washington Window

By ARNOLD B. SAWISLAK WASHINGTON (UPI)—When Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield was asked what would become of President Nixon's plan to reorganize cabinet departments, he suggested waiting to hear from the lobbyists.

The reply may have seemed cynical to some, but the canny Montanan actually was recognizing that while the President might be the boss of the 12 executive branch departments, he is not their owner.

The Biggest Stake

The departments, like congressmen, have constituents. While all are supposed to serve the best interests of the public at large, the special interests whose daily operations are affected by departmental actions feel they have the biggest stake in their organization. And the lobbyists Mansfield spoke about are the voices of those interests in Washington.

Nixon's proposal to merge seven existing departments into four new ones dealing with natural resources, human resources, community development and economic development seems to make good sense. Further, the idea has been tested: Several states and cities already have organized their operating departments into similar categories.

But there is more than good sense and precedent to be taken into account in predicting the outcome of the reorganization proposals. The view taken by the special interests—organizations like the Farm Bureau Federation and Farmers Union which now deal with the Agriculture Department and similar groups in the other agencies—will be vital. There is another power center in Washington that will be involved in the reorganization question—the bureaucracy. But the civil servants who really run the government can't come out in the open to fight the President (or Congress), and without the freedom to argue which the lobbies have, the bureaucrats will be somewhat hobbled.

Arguments for the reorganization, sketched by Nixon, focused mainly on the advantages of putting all government activities in the same general field into the same department. The arguments against it, while not yet fully in the open, are obvious: Farmers would lose influence in a natural resource agency compared with the clout in agriculture.
