Bank Assets Now Top 23 Million

Combined assets of Wellington's two banks have reached $23,577,642.99, the highest ever in the county's financial history. Not only is this a peak historically, it is $1.75 million over the assets a year ago and $5 million above assets two years ago.

These figures were revealed in calls made by the Federal Reserve Bank and State Banking Commissioner on September 30. The call a year ago came two weeks later, October 15.

Deposits in the Wellington State Bank and City State Bank follow the same trend, totaling $21,567,381.49. By comparison, this is more than $1.5 million over the figure last year, and $9.5 million above the deposits three years ago.

As was the case last year, assets and deposits for the third quarter are down a little from the mid-year report, but it is to be considered that there has not been a great deal of significant farm income since that time. Nor have there been oil and gas rentals or government farm payments.

Deposits and assets reflect a third quarter rise that extends back over an 8-year period, the figures show.

Deposits revealed September 30 show an increase of nearly $14.5 million since the rise started, and around $11.5 since 1969--six years ago. It is to be borne in mind that these are third quarter figures, never the high point financially in the county.

Of the $21,567,381.49 on deposit, county residents have $8,435,713.49 in demand deposits, approximately $1.25 million more than a year ago. This is the working funds of the farmers, ranchers, business men and their employees of Collingsworth.

But even more dramatic is the increase in time and savings deposits--those interest drawing monies that county depositors are not spending, but making money on.

These currently amount to $13,131,145.12. It means that these depositors, if their money is on one-year time deposits, are drawing in excess of three quarter of a million dollars in interest.

C-C Labor Survey Now Under Way

Anyone who might be available for work, or anyone now employed out of town who would prefer to work in Wellington if opportunities existed should complete and return a copy of the labor survey being conducted this week by the Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce.

The survey is published on another page of this week's Wellington Leader and additional copies are available from the Chamber of Commerce office, 914 West Avenue.

The survey is being conducted by the Chamber for a prospective industry that would employ between 25 and 100 people, Margaret Vines, Chamber secretary said.

Surveys must be returned by October 31.

In other business at the regular Chamber of Commerce directors meeting Monday, October 13, the directors voted to pay for monthly water bills at the Youth Project Show Barn, and made preparations for an industrial development seminar to be held Wednesday, Oct. 22.

Vicki Black Begins Work At Spillmans

Mrs. Vicki Black resigned recently from the staff of The Wellington Leader after four and one-half years in various capacities.

She has joined the law firm of Spillman and Spillman as a private secretary.

Mrs. Black, the wife of Jimmy Black, came to the newspaper shortly after it converted to offset printing. She was in charge of typesetting for the reading material and much for advertising.

When a new Compugraphic was installed, her work included phototypesetting and composition. More recently she has had added duties in the advertising department.

Mrs. Black is a member of Wellington Young Homemakers and she has played women's softball and volleyball.

She has two children, Mischelle, in the second grade, and Shane, four.

MISS SAMNORWOOD
DiAnna Schaub, a sophomore, was chosen Miss Samnorwood in the pageant sponsored by the Lions Club of that community Saturday, October 11. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schaub and will be 16 years old Friday, October 17.

Rockets Travel to Claude This Week

The Skyrockets will play their second out-of-town game Friday night, October 17, meeting the Claude Mustangs. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Physically, the Wellington boys have no injuries, and this week they are concentrating on pass defense to courteract Claude's strong throwing attack.

This is possibly the outstanding quality of the experienced Mustangs, and Skyrocket players and their coaches are concerned about it.

They have the ability to score on any opponent they may meet, Coach James Williams pointed out.

"Another thing, everyone is up for us. We are leading the district and they are trying to knock us off. It will be like this each week until the end of the season," the coach continued.

The main things, he intimated, is to play the games one at a time, as they come up, and he is emphasizing to both fans and players that the district isn't won for sure.

Claude has a 1-1 district

Farmers Union Will Hold Annual Meeting Monday

The Collingsworth County Farmers Union will hold its annual meeting Monday, October 20, at the Greenbelt Electric Co-operative directors room. It will begin at 7:30 p.m.

There are two major pieces of business to come before members, according to Donald Langley, secretary.

The annual election of officers and directors for the coming year will be held, and afterwards, resolutions will be adopted which will be presented before the Texas Farmers Union Convention, to be held later this year.

The resolutions adopted by that body will, in turn, be the official resolutions the Texas body presents before the National Farmers Union Convention.

The public is invited to the Collingsworth FU meeting Monday night, and all members are urged to attend.

Wilbur DePauw is concluding his second term as president of the county organization, and he and other officers and directors are veteran workers in Farmers Union.

Skyrockets Rank No. 2 in Harris Rating System

Wellington Skyrocket are ranked No. 2 this week in the Harris Rating System for schoolboy football.

This is probably the highest rating on the state level a Wellington football team has ever had.

The Rockets stock continued to go up after they defeated Wheeler Mustangs 29-6 . They now stand 2-0 in the District 2-A standing and 4-0-1 for the season.

In other district action Friday, October 10, Clarendon defeated McLean 31-10; Claude won over Silverton 26-19; and Memphis downed Shamrock 20-7.

Youth's Painting Presented To Congressman Hightower

A painting in oils by 12-year-old Timothy Taylor, sixth grade student in Quail School, was presented to Congressman Jack Hightower in Hedley during the annual Cotton Carnival Saturday, October 11.

Mr. Hightower saw this painting when it was exhibited in the junior art division of the Collingsworth County Fair and expressed an interest in buying it.

As Timothy lives near Hedley, although in the Quail School district, this wish became the incentive for the people of Hedley to buy the painting from the youth for Mr. Hightower.

The painting is a typical Texas Panhandle landscape, said Mrs. Buster Bounds, with whom Timothy has studied art two years. There is a windmill in rolling pastureland, with the ever-familiar winding road.

Mr. Hightower plans to hang the painting in his office in Washington.

Timothy also had a showing of his other works in the Moffitt Hardware and Furniture in Hedley during the Ctton Festival.

He won grand champion

Industrial Planning Seminar for Three Towns Due Here Oct. 22

A Texas Industrial Planning Seminar for the residents of Shamrock, Childress and Wellington will be held at Bura Handley Community Center Wednesday, October 22.

This will be a day-long, in-depth study to acquaint all interested residents, and especially business people, with facilities available, and to prepare them for what would be expected of them by a prospective industry.

Six staff members of the Texas Industrial Commission in Austin will take part in the seminar, which is co-sponsored by the Honorable Phil Cates, representative of the 66th District, the Texas Industrial Commission and Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce.

Session will open at 9:30 a.m. and close at 4:30 p.m. There will be a lunch break from 11:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Mrs. Margaret Vines, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, is co-ordinating the seminar.

"The public is invited, and every business person is urged to attend," said Henry Wells, C-C vice-president.

"It will give people an opportunity to find out what facilities are available for our use from the Texas Industrial Commission, and to prepare us for prospective industry."

Rep. Cates will welcome the seminar participants and Homer Tucker, senior industrial development consultant for TIC will introduce the purpose of the meeting.

Jerry Heare, director of community services, TIC, will begin the discussions at 9:40 a.m. with "Orientation to Industrial Development."

Mr. Tucker will then speak on "Prospect's View 'My

Newly elected officers of the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau are Frank Coleman, Jr., left, first vice president; Frankie Green, secretary; Jerry Scott, president; and Albert Fulcher, second vice president. Mr. Scott is beginning his second term in the top office.

Horton Kutch, Lifelong County Resident, Dies

Horton Kutch, a lifelong resident of Collingsworth County, died in Thomas Nursing Center about 11:20 p.m. Tuesday, October 14.

He was 79 years of age.

Services are pending with Kelso Funeral Home.

Mr. Kutch was a member of one of this county's most prominent early settlers, for both his grandfathers were instrumental in the organization of the county.

William Horton Kutch was born in the Kelley community January 29, 1896, the son of the late D.L. and Rosa Hendricks Kutch.

He lived in that same community, engaging in farming andstock raising, until he retired and moved into Wellington only a few years ago.

He attended the Wellington, Kelley and Jacksboro Schools.

In 1925, Mr. Kutch was

Thurman Crownover Gins First Cotton of 1975

Thurman Crownover of Dodson ginned the county's first bale of 1975 cotton, bringing it to the Davis Gin shortly after noon Wednesday, October 8.

Grover Graham, gin manager, said Mr. Crownover raised the cotton two miles west of Dodson and had about 50 acres defoliated and ready to pull.

Mr. Crownover delivered two bales to the Davis Gin, then brought two to Farmers Co-op Enterprises, Inc., at Dodson.

This is dry-land cotton of the Lockett 4789 variety. Mr. Crownover believes he will average three-quarters of a bale per acre on the field from which the first bale was taken, and also three quarters of a bale on his entire 175 acres of cotton.

The cotton was planted about May 20.

Mr. Crownover has farmed at Dodson since 1925.

Mr. Graham said he was not expecting much cotton

65 Pigs Stolen from Farm on Two Nights

Sixty-five weaning size pigs were stolen from the Montgomery Hog Farm in the southwest part of the county on two nights late last week.

Sheriff John Rainey reported that 50 pigs were taken from their pens and houses, located a short distance from Highway FM 1547, Thursday night, October 9. The thieves then returned Friday night and took an additional 15.

The sheriff estimated these worth around $30 each.

Investigating officers found that a truck was backed up to the fence at a point near the barns, and the pigs were carried from their pens in a large wheel barrow.

The pens are located about 100 yards from trailer houses where employees of the Montgomery Hog Farm live.

The farm is operated by Paul Montgomery and his sons of Memphis, according to the sheriff.

Memorial Fund Set Up for Young Family

Memorial funds have been set up at City State Bank and Wellington State Bank for the family of Isaac Young.

Mr. Young died Sunday, October 12, and funeral services were held Tuesday.

All donations will be used for funeral expenses and any excess will be given to the family, said the Rev. Steve Dolloff, pastor of Fundamental Baptist Church.

Mrs. Young is ill and four children are still at home, all of them under 12 years.

Rabid Skunk Killed Here, Cow at Dozier

A skunk killed at the back of the R.T. Savage home, 1718 East Avenue, was found to be rabid when the head was sent to the Texas Department of Health Resources, Sheriff John Rainey has said. A report confirming the rabies was received Friday.

A cow, belonging to Tootie Clark of Dozier, was also believed to be rabid and was destroyed by the Sheriff's department Sunday, October 12. Mr. Clark became concerned about the animal's actions Sunday morning and a veterinarian was called.

It is not known if the skunk bit any dogs or cats in the neighborhood, but there are a number of children living along the street and most have pets.

Dr. Mark Fires of Wellington Veterinary Hospital said several dogs have been brought in for rabies vaccination. He advised that any dog who has not had rabies shots within a year should be vaccinated. However, a dog should be at least six months old, he added.

Sheriff Rainey said there are more than the usual number of skunks in town this fall. He believes they are finding more to eat in town, as well as good dens under vacant houses and in tall weeds on vacant lots and along fence rows or property lines.

"If you find a skunk, we will come kill it for you," the sheriff said.

Farm Bureau Resolutions Cover Variety of Problems

Collingsworth County Farm Bureau members approved 20 resolutions in their annual meeting and barbecue Saturday night, October 11, ranging from recommendations to mow weeds at county road intersections, to one which would prohibit spokesmen for organized labor or special interest group having a voice in dictating foreign policy.

More than 650 members and their families ate barbecue for which that organization is famous. This was one of the largest crowds ever to attend a FB barbecue, eating 1240 lbs. of top grade beef.

During the business session, Jerry Scott was re-elected to a second one-year term as president, while Frank Coleman, Jr., was elected first vice president; Albert Fulcher, second vice president; and Frankie Green, secretary.

Twenty-one directors were chosen:

From the north quadrant of the county, directors are Johnny Henard III, Max Paschall, Paul Schaub, Max Coleman and Sam Carter; the south quadrant, Troy Gene Thomason, Richard Fourmentin, Danny Davis, Ray Null and Darrell Colson;

The east quadrant: Bob Cochran, Dee Coleman, S.A. Motsenbocker, Frank Campbell and Roland Mayhugh; and the west quadrant: Warren Merrell, Travis McGuire, Jerol Morris, Dan Guthrie and Earl Patterson.

Ronnie Hartman was named a director at large.

Kathy Guthrie, one of three students who attended the Farm Bureau Youth Seminar on Baylor University Campus this summer, explained the seminar and told of the speakers and imformation they gave the young people.

Two of the resolutions passed were on the county level: that caution lights be used at all school zones in the county; and that all highway intersections and culverts in the road be mowed.

Seven resolutions were passed on the state level:

--That merchants advertise and promote cotton products in the state and county.

--That farm Bureau Policy on equal rights amendment be reaffirmed.

--That the schools teach basics and do away with frills in education.

--That the hiring or firing of agents be done with approval of the county FB board of Directors, in that agent's county.

--If Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Company requires that an agency manager hire a special agent, that Texas FB Insurance Co. bear all expenses during the two-year training period.

--That the State Farm Bureau discontinue the district manager and replace him with specialists in each field of insurance, to work in the field with the county insurance agent. This specialist should work on a straight salary rather than for a commission.

National level resolutions included these recommendations:

--That any spokesman for organized labor or a special interest group not be allowed to dictate foreign policy.

--That the present administration continue its policies to hold down beef imports.

--That the salary of the Cotton Incorporated personnel not be above that of the Secretary of Agriculture. "The boss of Cotton Inc., J. Dukes Wooters, draws $121,275 plus fancy fringe benefits," says the resolution.

--That no law shall be passed establishing a consumer protection agency.

--That packers should make payment for cattle before they leave the feedlot.

--That natural fibers be used and slow down the use of petrochemically produced synthetic fibers, saving the butane and propane for agricultural and domestic use.

--That a person may not be forced to join a union if employed by a tax supported agency or institution.

--That the policy on co-operatives be stated in the FB policy book.

--That the escalator clause include inflation in figuring base price for cotton. The present law does not include 1974 inflation.

--That Farm Bureau oppose the current system of evaluations of herbicides and pesticides by the Federal Drug Administration and Environmental Protection Agency.

--That Farm Bureau oppose mesquite cover being classified as forest land by the U.S. Forest Service.

Long Term Results Seen on Farm Tour

Demonstrations of the long-term benefits of terracing and waterway planning, and new varieties of cotton, guar and grain sorghum were features of the annual soil conservation and crop tour Thursday, October 9.

The tour, sponsored by the Extension Service and the Soil Conservation Service, began with a visit to the John Brim farm on Hwy 83 south of town.

Brim began farming his quarter-section in 1945 and began bench terraces in the late 1950's. Brim said it took about ten years to complete his terracing project.

Although Brim has an eight-inch irrigation well, he used it only once in 1974 and did not irrigate at all this year and 1973. The water table on his farm usually stands around 40'' below the surface in the spring. Water is just under the surface in a low-lying bermuda grass pasture, and Brim must pump water out of a seep tank to prevent the grass from drowning.

The other soil conservation stop was at Olan Farris' farm at Bean Hill. Farris has grassed waterways and a terrace system that has stopped erosion on his farm.

Money deposited for a longer period earns a higher rate.

A year ago time deposits amounted to $8,373,476.64.

It is to be noted that over the 15 days preceding the September 30 call, deposits had increased by around $400,000.

Loans and discounts this year amount to $12,176,832, up about one-half million from last year.

Undivided profits $643,663.89.

The parallel graded terraces that empty into the waterways are an unusual feature for this area.

Other stops in the tour included a demonstration of varieties of guar and cotton at the Troy Gene Thomason farm north of First Street, and a demonstration of varieties of grain sorghum at the Earl Lynn Bartlett farm at Crossroads.

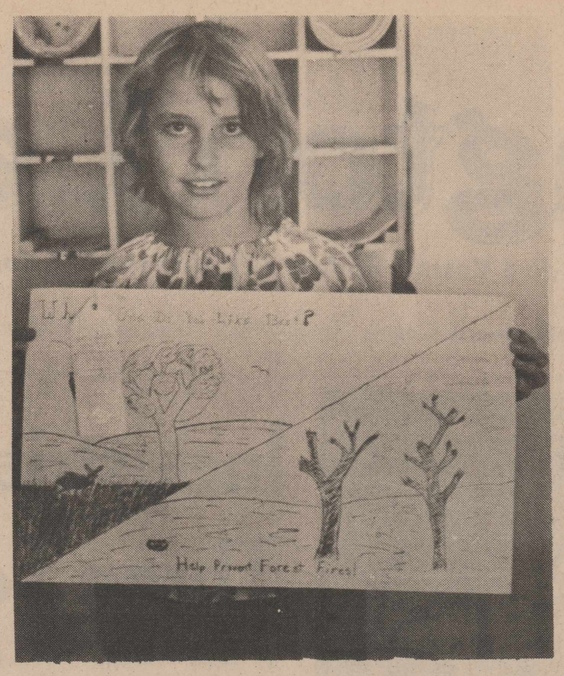
and reserve champion ribbons for his entries in the Collingsworth County Fair in 1974, and reserve champion rosette in September of this year. This week he was one of the first place winners in the Fire Prevention Poster contest.

Timothy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Taylor, Route Three, Hedley.

The youngster has remarkable talent for painting and drawing. He had heart surgery when he was four years old, and he has not been able to take part in strenuous schoolground sports, his teacher said. This accounts in part for his giving so much time to art, in spite of his young age.

He has a twin sister, Kimberly, whose interests heretofore have leaned more to sports. This year, she, too, enrolled as an art student of Mrs. Bounds.

If the child is over three, teach him to say his full name clearly if he should get lost. As soon as he is able, help him to memorize the address and telephone number.



SIXTH GRADE WINNER

Leigh Myrick, sixth grade student in Wellington Junior High, holds her third place Fire Prevention Week Poster. First place went to Timothy Taylor and second to Shane Farris, both of Quail.

The undertaking industry, criticized sharply in recent years by books such as THE AMERICAN WAY OF DEATH by Jessica Mitford, is headed for another onslaught of unfavorable publicity. The Federal Trade Commission has just published a staff report on the $2 billion undertaking industry which blisters funeral directors for alleged malpractices and which recommends a stiff set of federal regulations designed to protect consumers.

The FTC report complains that the funeral industry not only uses deceptive advertising but in some cases overcharges to the tune of $40 million a year by charging customers for flowers and death notices that are provided by third parties and at no expense to the funeral home. One chain of funeral homes was required to refund almost $150,000 in profits it made by charging more for cremations than it had to pay to have the cremations performed.

Approximately half of the nations funeral homes follow a "unit pricing formula." Under this formula, all charges for goods and services are lumped into one single price that varies only with the cost of the casket chosen. The F T C believes that the unit pricing formula is misleading because the customer thinks he is getting more service for the higher price, when really all he is getting is a more expensive casket. The F T C wants the funeral home to specifically price 10 key items making up the funeral. The buyer of a $2,500 funeral instead of a $600 might get a casket costing $400 more but he is paying $1,900 more and the same range of services is offered to the high cost funeral that was offered to the less expensive funeral, argues the F T C. Funeral directors counter with the claim that unit pricing enables them to give a nicer funeral to poor families by letting the wealthy in effect subsidize low cost funerals with unit pricing.

The industry expects the new regulations to increase the costs of operations and eventually drive the small, indepent funeral home out of business or into one of the chains of undertakers where overhead is spread over more funeral homes and volume buying can get the cost of caskets, etc. lowered.

UT Women Business Graduates Fare Well

AUSTIN,(Spl.)--It pays to be a female business graduate of The University of Texas these days.

until after frost. A few growers in the Dodson area have defoliated, but most will wait for the frost to do the work.

The date of this frost is going to determine the cotton crop around Dodson, Mr.Graham said. if it stays off until after Nov. 1, this crop, in the Dodson area, should be better than last year, but not as good as that of 1973. There is a considerable acreage of late cotton in the area, he added.

If there is a late frost, there should be quite a bit of dry land cotton that will yield a bale per acre, the gin manager believes, and the yield on irrigated acres will not be greatly above that.

LETTERS from the People

Dear Deck,

I have read your report on the cotton crop production being reduced in the Southern states. My wife and I toured Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, southern Georgia and Florida this summer and I did not see any cotton east of Dallas, Texas. Soy beans seemed to be the number one crop with corn second. In southern Georgia and northern Florida, many farmers have gone into irrigation farming even where the rainfall is 50" or more each year. Bankers were slow to finance this type of farming, but once reports were in on crop production, bigger operations are under way. Bainbridge, Ga. is a lot like the Quail area land and the farmers are producing three food crops each year with irrigation wells to insure water.

The old line basic crops are no longer #1 but food crops are really booming. Some predictions are this area will eventually produce as much fruit and vegetables as California valleys. The land is level and sandy and the sprinkler type irrigation is used on the wells.

It seems that Texas plains will be the only great cotton producing area in the U.S. in a few years. The crop this year in our area has been reduced by over 2,000,000 bales due to a cold spell we had in September. The maize crop is very good and harvest is in full swing.

I hope you are getting along fine. Best regards to the people in Collingsworth County.

Respectfully yours,
Herman Moseley

Skyrocket JV Takes 40-12 Win Thursday

Wellington Junior Varsity took a 40-12 victory over Wheeler B team at Powell Field Thursday, October 9. This was the second district win for the Rocket JV.

Wellington scored first, but this did not happen until the last three minutes of the first quarter when Rickey Jones took the ball over the goal line on a 12 yard run. The try for the extra point failed.

The Junior Rockets took the ball on their own 30 yard line and scored in seven plays, with Jones, Erminio Nevarez and Craig Needham doing most of the ball handling.

Wheeler also scored late in the first, on a colorful 60 yard run. Wellington defense let down for an instant, the Wheeler player got away and outran all pursurers, to end the first period 6-6.

Following the kickoff, Wellington drove the ball downfield on a series of plays and Nevarez scored on a 5-yard run.

David Baumgardner received a pass from Carl Taylor for the extra points and boosted the score to 14-6.

The Rocket JV held Wheeler B on defense, and on the next series in Wellington position, Junebug (James) Thomas scored on a 35 yard run and Richard Garcia made good the kick for extra points. That score stood until halftime, with Wellington leading 21-6.

Wheeler had the ball first in the third quarter, and Wellington played good defense to tie them down. The the Rocket Jv made two scores in quick succession.

Junebug ran again, this time for 40 yards and the touchdown. The try for extra point failed.

On the next possession, Carl Taylor had a 12-yard run on an option play. Again the try for extra point was no good. Both these drives started in midfield.

With a 33-6 score at the end of the third period, Coach Robert Hicks began substituting until every player got into the action.

With about four minutes to go, Wellington had Wheeler on their 5-yard line, when Richard Garcia blocked a Mustang punt, grabbed the ball and carried across. He then kicked the extra point and the score was 40-6.

A few minutes later, Wheeler was in possession of the ball on the Wellington 25 yard line, drove downfield and scored from one yard out with one minute to play. The try for extra point was no good, and the game ended 40-12.

Junebug Thomas made 165 yards rushing for the night and for his best game.

"He is a young kid and has real good potential to be a fine open field runner," said Coack Hicks. Ricky Jones also had a good night offensively, while Richard Garcia, a freshman, had an outstanding performance on defense. Outstanding also were Charles McIntosh, a freshman, and Pat White, sophomore defensive cornerback.

Deck's Didactics

—by Deskins Wells

Gov. Dolph Briscoe has announced his opposition to all 8 of the Constitutional amendments that will be voted on Nov. 4. This stand by the head of the state government will go a long way toward nullifying the work that has been done by Speaker Bill Clayton, Lt. Governor Bill Hobby and Attorney General John Hill. All three are in favor of passage of all 8 amendments.

In counties such as ours, there is a deep seated fear of further centralization of government both on the state and national level. There is also a growing conviction that the amendments mean greater centralization if adopted. In spite of the fact that the amendments contain practical methods of desirable goals, the suspicion of greater centralization of government persists. The governor's statement just about clenched the outcome in rural communities such as this.

For good or bad, Briscoe's blanket opposition just about wraps up the election. This does not mean that all 8 amendments would have passed if the governor had endorsed all of them. It does mean that his announcement on the eve of absentee balloting brings to light the silent but deep seated opposition that was already there.

Clocks will be turned back an hour October 26, and will remain that way until April. This means that daylight saving time has been reduced by two months. After protests from their constituents, Congress has decided that daylight saving time uses more fuel, not less.

In this issue of the paper is a letter from Herman Moseley, former superintendent of the Quail School. He recently made a trip through the southern part of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia and he says he saw little cotton east of Dallas.

Oklahoma is also expected to be below average production of cotton this year. All of this plus greater domestic demand would indicate a good price for our most important cash crop. Don't get your hopes up too high, however. The world price is lower that the price in the U.S. which will have an adverse effect on exports.

Perhaps other people have seen them by now, but I have neither seen nor heard geese going south thus far this fall. The honking of the geese and their V shaped formations have always fascinated me. The flight of the geese was an integral part of autumn as the shocks of feed in the fields and the smell of apples.

There is a new rule on hunting sandhill cranes this year. Both state and federal governments require that each hunter secure a permit. These can be obtained free of charge by writing the parks and wildlife Dept., Reagan Bldg., Austin. Time and places for hunting sandhill cranes is strictly limited to lessen the risk to the endangered whooping crane.

Vicki Black has left The Leader to accept a position as legal secretary in the offices of Spillman and Spillman. She is a young lady of great talent who will be missed especially in the advertising department. I wish her success in her new work.

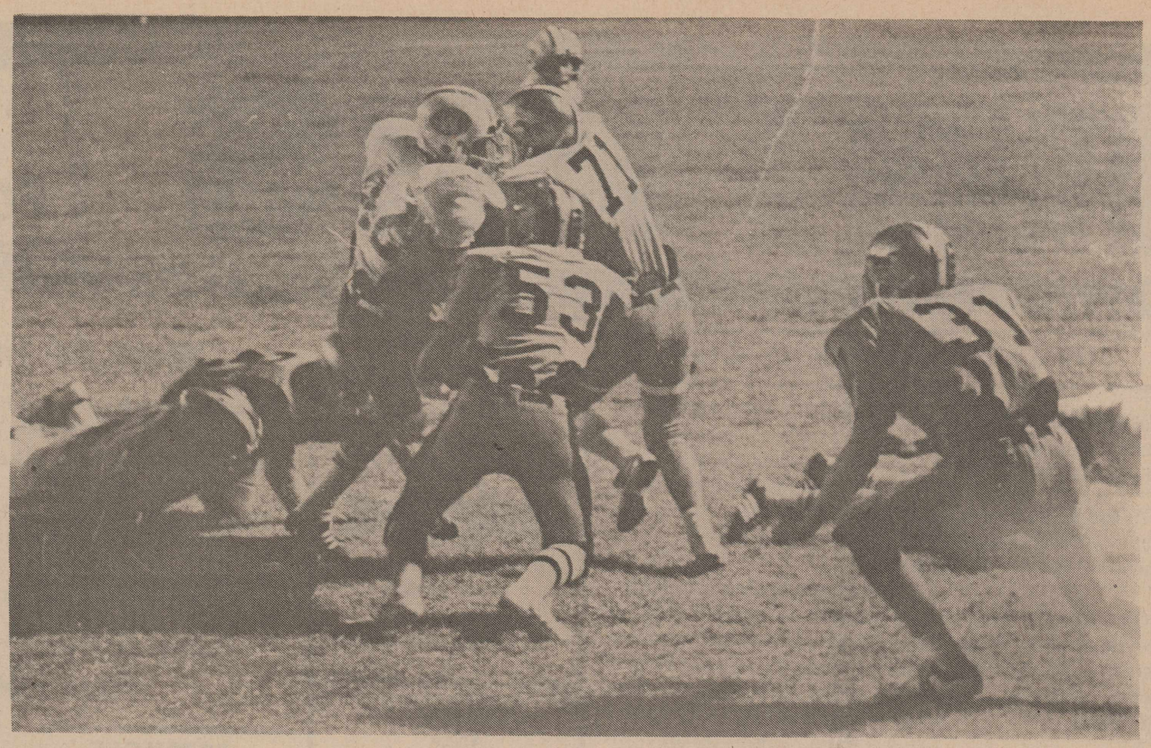
Friday the Rockets make their longest trip away from home in district play as they travel to Claude. It is not such a long trip compared to some we made in former years to play Iowa Park and Seymour. Those were games that took almost the entire night. So you might as well make up your mind to drive to Claude Friday. Wellington has the reputation of following its team so we might as well keep it up. The boys feel better and play better when a good sized group is rooting for them.



THE HARD WAY

Jessie Davis (42), left, charges through two Wheeler defenders and leaves a pile of them on the ground to score Friday night, October 10. The Rockets won 29-6.

FOURTH GRADE POSTER WINNERS

John L. Green IV, left, placed second and Michael Breedlove third in the Fire Prevention Week Poster contest for the fourth grade. Brian McKinney, first place winner, moved to Lubbock over the week end, but John and Michael hold his poster between them.

DiAnna Schaub New "Miss Samnorwood"

DiAnna Schaub, a brown-eyed, dark haired beauty from the Lutie community, was crowned Miss Samnorwood in the second annual contest Saturday, October 11.

The contest is sponsored by Samnorwood Lions Club, and Miss Schaub will represent the community at a number of events, including the Collingsworth County Fair at Wellington in September, and the St. Patrick's Day celebration at Shamrock next March. She will be the official hostess for other activities held at home.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schaub, the beauty said she was "15 years and 51 weeks of age." Asked what she considered so special about being 16, DiAnna replied that she could then get her drivers license.

The first runner up to the winner was Cindy Coleman, tall, with brown eyes and light brown hard, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Coleman.

Leitha Martindale, another dark-haired, brown-eyed contestant, was second runner up. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Martindale.

Other contestants were Tonya Kincannon, Karen Lee, Alethea Ray, Margaret Sanderson and Ida Beth Stice.

The girls appeared first in sportswear competition, then in evening gowns, when they were interviewed by Bill Tell Zortman, Amarillo TV news director.

Between acts entertainment included piano solos by Bobby Myers; country-western music by Pete and Mike Kirkland; and vocal selections by Benny Kilgo.

Judges were Mrs. Bill Tell Zortman of Amarillo, Mrs. Jimmy Vaughan of Childress and Floyd Sackett of Pampa.

Jimmy Breeding is president of the Lions Club, and all members participated in arrangements for the contest.

Rev. McKinney And Family Go to Lubbock

Rev. Carl McKinney resigned recently as pastor of First Assembly of God Church, and he and his family moved to Lubbock Friday, October 10.

Rev. McKinney had been the pastor here one year and two months. He served as the chairman of the last Red Cross Blood Drive, which was held September 9. He was currently the vice-president of the Ministerial Alliance and served as its secretary last year.

Rev. and Mrs. McKinney and their son Brian sang extensively for different groups and organizations in the area. They also have a baby son, Greg Alan, born September 12.

Rev. McKinney will be doing evangelistic work.

Bell Directs New Committee

Hassell Bell recently was appointed executive director of the new Federal Commission on Paperwork.

Its job is to reduce paperwork required of U.S. citizens in their relation to the federal government.

Mr. Bell, who lives in the Washington, D.C. area, is the father of Bob Bell.

Rev. Collins Holds Revival

Rev. Roy Collins was in revival at First Baptist Church, Childress from Sunday evening, October 5 to Sunday, October 12.

Director of music for the revival was Jim Westmoreland of Trinity Baptist Church, Amarillo.

Morning services were held at 10:00 a.m. and Rev. Collins taught a study from Exodus during these services.

Rev. Joe Allen is pastor of First Baptist Church, Childress.

Hometown'''.

Facilities available through the Texas Department of Community Affairs will be covered by Collier Watson, community services division, Austin.

E.H. Sheffield, manager of community services, Texas Industrial Commission, will open the afternoon session with an explanation of research and analysis.

''Evaluating, securing and Presenting Industrial Sites and Buildings'' will be covered by Richard Petree, manager of the Industrial Development Department of West Texas Utility Company, Abilene.

The next speaker will touch on an income source which has been in the minds of community leaders, tourism. ''Prospects for Tourism'' will be the topic covered by Richard Pierce, manager of the travel development, travel and information Division, Austin.

Mr. Sheffield will discuss ''Industrial Financing'' for the southeast Panhandle business leaders.

The problem that has stymied many towns will be covered next, as Mr. Heare tells ''Where to Find Industrial Prospects.''

Individual community problems will be covered by a panel composed of Mr. Heare, Mr. Sheffield, Mr. Tucker and Mr. Petree.

Mr. Tucker will close the seminar with a 15-minute discussion, ''Organizing for Action.''

Not in recent years have the business and community leaders of Wellington, Childress, and Shamrock had the opportunity to gather so much concrete information on preparing themselves to receive industrial prospects. They will be given information on what industries coming into small towns expect and what they are looking for.

It is emphasized that any person interested is welcome to the seminar, and it is pointed out that the more people in a community who are informed, the better are the chances that community will get industry suited to its needs.

3 TV Channels Added, Ch. 5 Off til Nov.

Three new television channels are now available to Wellington cable television viewers, Dorothy McGill, Cablecom General manager said this week.

And Roy Collins, pastor of First Baptist Church, said this week that Channel 5, the church's closed circuit system, will be out of operation until early November while new equipment is being installed.

Public television is available for the first time here on Channel 13 through station KETA, Oklahoma City.

Channel 11 will carry KTVT, an independent station from Ft. Worth. KXTX, a Dallas independent station will air over Channel 12 here.

The public television channel went into operation over the Cablecom system on October 7, and the two independent stations became fully operational on Wednesday, October 15.

The First Baptist Church is spending about $40,000, Collins said, on two new color cameras, a video tape recorder, a film chain, and a complete new sound system in the church auditorium.

The new cameras and recorder will give the church the capability to record church services and other community events and broadcast them at a later time over Channel 5.

The new film chain system will allow films to be aired over Channel 5, and the improved auditorium sound system will eliminate audio problems experienced when broadcasting services over Channel 5, Collins said.

Symposium on Constitution Will Be Oct. 23

A symposium. with speakers discussing the proposed Texas Constitution pro and con, will be held Thursday, October 23, at 8:00 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

This is set up to give Collingsworth voters a better knowledge of the content of the constitution on which they will vote in November, explained County Judge Zook Thomas.

Jim Blair of Amarillo, a tax attorney who collects delinquent taxes for the city and county, has been invited to speak in opposition to the proposed constitution. A speaker favoring the change will be selected.

''I'm personally of the opinion that this is the most important vote Texas citizens will ever make,'' said Judge Thomas.

A planning meeting was held Monday evening, October 6, with representatives of the Commissioners Court and a number of clubs and organizations present.

The Veterans Administration sends 12 million pieces of correspondence annually to 4.7 million GI life insurance policyholders. Prompt notification of change of address is a must.

TOO MUCH WATER

John Brim, center, feeds fish in a seep tank on his farm during annual soil conservation and crop tour Thursday, October 9. As a result of terracing, the water table on Brim's farm stands at about 40 inches below the surface each spring and he must pump water into a holding tank to prevent a bermuda grass pasture from drowning out.

Sagebrush Apartments to Hold Open House Sunday

Open house at Sagebrush Apartments, Wellington's new 12-unit complex, will be held Sunday, October 19, from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m.

The apartments are located at the corner of 9th and Arlington Streets, one block east of the southeast corner of the square.

"We want to give area people an opportunity to see apartment living in its latest concept--not one large building, but a series of three quadra-plexes," said Lev Connor of Dalhart, owner.

Mrs. Margaret Vines is manager.

All apartments have two bedrooms, along with living and dining area, kitchen and one bath.

The builders are Mr. Connor and Tommy Patterson of Lev's Housing, Dalhart. Jim Faulk of Austin is the architect.

Sagebrush Apartments are of contemporary design, emphasizing privacy for each occupant. Exterior walls are of red brick with asphalt shingle roofs. The style planned is known in some areas as cluster housing. Each unit has two walls adjoining other apartments. This is considered both cost and space saving, yet each unit has all the privacy and advantages of a one-family house.

Each apartment has a patio at front, walled off from other units and from the street. Entrances are recessed. A spotlight and outdoor electrical outlets permit open air living in warm months.

Desert landscaping was chosen, for this is the easiest of all to maintain and at the same time particularly at home in this southwestern area. Youths from Westview Boys Home laid the crushed rock areas.

There are 24 parking spaces, two for each apartment.

Sagebrush Apartments are all-electric, with central heating and air conditioning, with insulation that far exceeds minimum standards.

Each apartment has 895 square feet of floor space, considered generous for apartment living, said Mrs. Vines. Yet such efficient use is made of it that there is the feel of its being much larger.

The decorative scheme will go with any color or style of furniture the occupant may use. Walls are white, but wall-to-wall carpeting is in three colors, green, gold and rust. Double glass doors at front give natural lighting for the 24 x 15 foot living-dining area. Bronze light fixtures are of early American design.

Complementing the lightness of the walls is the dark wood used in the kitchen cabinetry and all other woodwork. A pass-through and bar give added convenience.

Surprising to those who have already seen the apartments is the amount of storage space, including a large walk-in closet in the master bedroom.

Thoughtful, small additions rank high in these apartments--TV and telephone outlets in both the living room and master bedroom, the abundance of electrical outlets, and the master switch for each apartment.

Just off the entry and with an outside door, is the area plumbed for washer and dryer, but which may be used for storage by those not having these appliances.

Rockets Take 29-6 Win Over Wheeler

By H.K. Ballard

The Wellington Skyrockets blasted the Wheeler Mustangs 29 to 6 Friday, October 10 before an overflow crowd of Wellington fans at Wheeler, but not before Rocket fans experienced some doubtful moments.

There was a minute and a half left to play in the first half when the Skyrockets, (rated second in the state in the Harris survey after a tie and a win over two tough opponents) finally caught fire with Shane Tarver's reverse sweep around right end.

It looked like it was raining yellow flags--the Rockets alone collected a whopping 14 penalties that set them back 155 yards. At one point the Rockets faced first down and 50 yards due to penalties.

The Rockets' first opportunity to move the ball came with the great runs by Dan Ford and Richard Sims. On the next play, however, Wheeler's Robert Wills intercepted a George Brewer pass intended for Tarver and the Mustange took over at their 39. The Mustangs rushed to the Rocket 47, but 2 downs later their drive was halted by a good lick from a Rocket defender that caused a fumble. Cliff Pennon jumped on the loose ball.

The Rockets drove from their 37 to the Mustang 11 where they faced fourth and three. There the Mustang defense stopped a still-sluggish Rockets offense on the Mustang 5.

Unable to move the ball because of the great defensive plays by Tony Martinez and Edward Thomas, the Mustangs had to punt from their end zone.

The Rockets took over in the opening of the second quarter, but because of numerous penalties had to punt.

On the next play from scrimmage the real excitment started. The Mustangs quarter-back, Don Brown, passed to Robert Wills who was a few steps ahead of his defender and raced for a 72-yard passing score. The extra point attempt failed, and the Mustangs led Wellington 6-0. It was the first time in the season that the Rockets had trailed.

The Rockets could not move the ball against a ready Mustang defense. Brewer went back to punt but a Mustang defender partially blocked the punt and the Mustangs took over at their 48 yard line. The Wheeler bunch eventually faced fourth and inches, but a tough Rocket defense stiffened and refused them the first down.

The Rockets took over and eventually faced third and eight. A Brewer pass to Richard Sims was picked off by Mustang Don Brown. But the tough Wellington defense led by Ingram, Baumgardner and Martinez forced the Mustangs to punt again.

After a tremendous punt by Wheeler's Jim Verden the Rockets found themselves on their own seven-yard line in the closing seconds of the second quarter. The Rockets moved up-field but after being caught for a loss and a penalty the Rockets faced third and seventeen to go.

The Rockets called on a reverse that had gained only a few yards earlier in the game. But this time Shane Tarver, following good downfield blocks, dashed down the side line to the Wheeler 25, where Mustang Robert Wills pushed him out of bounds. On the next play Brewer handed off to Richard Sims who Followed good blocks around the left end and displayed some fancy footwork from the 25 to the 1 yard line. With just 52 seconds left in the half Jessie Davis took the ball into the end zone. Davis' kick was good and the Rockets went in at half time with the slim 7 to 6 lead.

The Rockets came out fired up for the 2nd half, but on their first series they suffered an intercepted pass.

The Rockets forced the Mustangs to punt, but then suffered a penalty for roughing the kicker, and the Mustangs got the ball on the 35. But the next play from scrimmage Allen Sanders jumped on a loose ball and the Rockets took over at the 34.

But hold on! After the Rockets picked up a first, Dan Ford got hit hard by a Mustang defender and the loose ball was jumped on by a Mustang player.

The Rockets stopped the Mustangs with a good hard-hitting defense and the third quarter came to a close with the Rockets moving the ball downfield from their own 12.

With the good runs made by Edward Thomas, Jessie Davis, Richard Sims and George Brewer the Rockets moved to the Mustange 11 yard line. And with just 9:41 left in the game it seemed like the Rockets came alive. Jessie Davis scored from the one-yard line and Davis was called on again for 2 extra points. Wellington exploded ahead 15 to 6, and the Rockets were on the way.

After the kickoff, the Mustangs saw the Rockets return to their winning ways with the fine defensive play of Tony Martinez, Allen Sanders, Cliff Pennon, Edward Thomas and David Null.

The Rockets took control on their 35 and moved downfield with George Brewer passing to Edward Thomas and excellent runs by the sophomores George Darton and Arnie Ingram. As the Rockets moved in for the kill, Brewer tried to find an open receiver. But unable to do so, he tucked the ball away and ran it into the end zone for another Rocket T.D. The fake field goal added 2 more points when Brewer scooted around left end. With 3:32 remaining in the game the Rockets led 23-6.

Richard Sims ended the next Mustang drive with an interception, and the Rockets took over again.

On the next play Brewer threw a bomb to Tarver for a T.D. but it was called back for a penalty against the Rockets. Then Sammy Gonzales, a Senior half back, took over at quarter-back and with his excellent runs and passing he moved the Rockets from their 23 to the Mustangs 35 yard line.

Brewer then came back and passed to Tarver, and the Wheeler bunch was called on defensive interference. This put the Rockets on the 9 yard line. Another penalty against Wheeler after Richard Sims made a great run moved the ball down on the 1 yard line. With just 45 seconds left Brewer ran the ball in for another T.D. and Edward Thomas kick was good. But a penalty against the Rockets moved them back 5 yards and the next extra-point attempt was wide. Wellington led 29-6.

On the first play from scrimmage after the kickoff Mustang Don Brown fumbled and Cliff Pennon recovered on the Mustang 25.

With 35 seconds left the Rockets took possession and drove to the one-yard line. There they tried to call time-out, but the clock ran out with the final score 29-6.

Oct. 31 Final Date for Sales Tax Returns

AUSTIN--Comptroller Bob Bullock has reminded the 230,000 retail businesses in Texas that October 31 is the deadline for filing their quarterly sales tax returns.

"It's only a few days away and any return filed after that time means nothing but problems for us and for the taxpayer," Bullock said, noting that tardy reports can carry financial penalties.

Reports due October 31 cover the July-August-September quarter. Forms for the reports were sent to all sales tax permit holders by Bullock's office in September.

"Late reports are usually nothing more than oversights but that doesn't keep them from being a problem anyhow," said Bullock.

Any retail merchant with questions should contact the nearest field office of the Comptroller's Department, Bullock said.

Firecrackers Take 8-0 Victory Over Wheeler

Wellington Eighth Grade Firecrackers, off and running in Victory land, defeated Wheeler Junior High 8-0 in a game at Powell Field Thursday evening, October 9.

The only score of the game, Wellington's came with only two seconds left in the second quarter, after the Firecrackers had taken the ball in midfield. The trek toward the goal line came in short carries. Robert Powell and Baldo Nevarez did most of the ball handling to put the team in scoring position. Then a 20 yard pass from Nevarez to Richard Archer put the ball on the two yard line. On the next play, Archer ran the ball over.

Robert Powell carried the ball across for the two extra points.

This was by all odds the best defensive game that Coach Bruce Dollar's Firecrakcers have played.

Except for Wellington's one trip to scoring territory, the game never got out of mid-field. Coach Dollar cited Kevin Needham, Dane Dodge, Nevarez and Haskell Bonaparte for their excellent defensive play.

On the offense, Richard Archer caught five passes, including the one which accounted for the score.

William Burkett Schaum, 80, was found dead at his home at 1308 Dallas Street Wednesday, October 8, when a delivery was made to his house. He lived alone.

His death was set as having occurred October 6 and was ruled due to natural causes.

Mr. Schaum came to this area in 1925 from Hinton, Oklahoma, and lived most of the 50 years in the Arlie community, where he was employed in farm work. He had lived in Wellington since retiring.

Born in Burkett April 18, 1895, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Levi Schaum.

Funeral services were conducted Friday, October 10, at 2:00 p.m. in Kelso Funeral Chapel, with the Rev. Elvis Pitts, pastor of Faith Baptist Church, officiating. Burial was in North Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Kelso Funeral Home.

Pall bearers were Frank Ford, David Peters, Roland Mayhugh, Herschel Mayhugh, Marvin Manuel and Paul Wauer.

Surviving Mr. Schaum are a sister, Mrs. Georgia Culp, of Ft. Sumner, N.M., and several nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Eva Jewell Rogers and her son, Bob Rogers of Bakersfield, California, were here recently to visit her sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clubb, Mr. and Mrs. Coy Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thompson and Mrs. Ethel Britton.

Claude Eighth Grade Comes Here Thursday

Wellington will be the setting for the Wellington-Claude eighth grade football game Thursday, October 16, at 5:00 p.m.

Little is known here about this visiting team, except that they played Wheeler and won 12-6. This can be compared to the Firecrackers 8-0 victory over Wheeler.

"In size, Wheeler is probably about like us," said Coach Bruce Dollar. "They have one boy who is pretty fast and won the Junior High District 2-A 100 yard dash last year."

SKYROCKET COACHES

These are the men behind the Skyrockets—who teach them the tactics of football and drill them in the plays that give results. They are doing more. They instill those qualities of spotrsmanship and fair play, along with the winning spirit and the great desire to win that has formed the No. 2 Class A team in Texas, as measured by the Harris Poll. The Skyrocket coaches, from left, are Head Coach James Williams, Phil Bailey, Robert Hicks, Ronnie Glenn and Bruce Dollar.

Living Quarters Becoming Cramped for Skyrockets

The performance of Wellington's Skyrockets has electrified their fans and we are once again a football town, a status we have not enjoyed for a number of years.

We may have been so busy watching the Skyrockets in motion on the turf that we have failed to see some improvements that need to be made to their launching pad. Some of the things the public has little opportunity to see.

A visit to Powell Field during the day shows the east stand could use some paint. Let it be emphasized that the coaching staff did not bring this up. They are not complainers, but when Coach James Williams is asked point blank what they need down there, he will tell you. For one thing, the field house needs to be enlarged.

Another is repair and remodeling of the old field house, under the west stands, which is now used by the younger teams. This rock structure is sturdy and good looking after more than 35 years, but the rooms inside of it need some updating.

This is not everything the athletic department needs, and certainly not all the school needs at this time. Every school we know would like some more equipment or facilities.

We take justifiable pride in Wellington's good looks, but there are enough needs to engage the energy of any organization wanting to take on a civic project of any size. It has taken a winning year to bring out some of the things the Rockets need.

Navy Bicentennial

Bell-bottom trousers on sailors are becoming as rare as battleships and the fleet has shrunk this year to fewer than 500 ships, its smallest size since the pre-war year of 1939, but never mind, there's lot of history for the 535,000 officers and enlisted personnel of the U. S. Navy to recall, and the time for recalling is now. The Navy celebrated its 200th birthday October 13.

On this day in 1775 the Continental Congress in Philadelphia, after weeks of hesitation and delay, authorized the purchase of two merchant ships to be armed and outfitted for war. These became the brigs Andrew Doria and Cabot, America's first warships.

What prodded the Continental Congress to action was word from England that two unarmed British supply ships were setting sail for Quebec. George Washington's new army, then besieging Boston, badly needed the ammunition and equipment those ships were carrying.

Perhaps as much as John Paul Jones, the hero of the fledgling navy, was the Massachusetts landlubber John Adams. No man played a more important role in the creation of the Continental Navy. Not only was Adams instrumental in persuading Congress to authorize a navy, as a member of the naval committee he saw to it that vessels were bought or built, officers chosen, seamen and marines recruited, and regulations drafted. Indeed, Adams himself wrote the regulations, cribbing generously from the enemy.

The Continental Navy never had more than about 60 ships afloat but that hardly tells the story. There was a far greater number of privateers. In all, the Continental Congress issued 1,697 letters of marque to private individuals, licensing them to use their own ships to prey upon the enemy for booty. An untold number of privateers were also sent out by the individual colonies.

According to Lloyd's of London, these privateers seized 2,200 British ships. The losses pinched a pocketbook nerve in England and sent the merchant shippers scurrying to the King with petitions for a speedy end to the war.

The end came at Yorktown in 1781.

Cheers for the U. S. Navy. May a long and proud history extend with equal distinction for another 200 years!

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Insurance made news again, as the State Insurance Board hiked rates for homeowners coverage effective February 16.

Board staffers a week earlier recommended an average 17 per cent increase statewide in auto insurance premiums.

The Board-approved homeowners' rates will increase at an average of 8.3 per cent, fire insurance rates on homes 7.9 per cent for single-year policies and 14 per cent on three-year policies.

Rates were far less than those requested by the insurance industry.

Homeowners policy rates and extended coverage (storms, hail, riots, accidents, etc), vary by territories.

Homeowners' rates for average residences would increase as follows:

— Seacoast, 7.6 per cent.
— Central, 7.6 per cent.
— North-Northwest, 12 per cent.

Rate on a $35,000 brick veneer home in Galveston will go up from $940 to $1,021 for a three-year homeowners policy. The same type home in Houston would see a rate increase from $814 to $886, in Austin from $654 to $714 and in Lubbock from $1,137 to $1,283.

Amount of the annual increase on the same home would be $17 in Galveston, $24 in Houston, $20 in Austin and $49 in Lubbock.

VRA Study On

The House Elections Committee began a "major study of effects of the recently-extended and expanded Voting Rights Act on Texas.

The Committee will try to gauge impact of the law on local governments and recommend legislation needed to help smaller governmental units comply with complex VRA requirements.

All governmental units, under VRA, must submit to the U.S. Department of Justice any changes in their election laws, procedures or voting precinct boundaries dating back to Nov. 1, 1972, and in the future.

Elections Committee Chairman Rep. Luther Jones of El Paso said many small cities and other units don't have resources or required data to make full submissions and will have serious difficulty complying with requirements without assistance.

Lands Leased

Oil and gas exploration firms bid cash bonus payments of more than $3.4 million on 91,000 acres of state land at a recent lease sale.

Most bidding activity was concentrated on state submerged tracts located in Texas bays. More than $2.1 million of the total was put up for leases on 55,383 acres in the bay tracts.

Inexco Oil Company bid more than $600,000 for 13 tracts, Monsanto $377,609 for 11 tracts, Houston Oil and Minerals Corp. $338,381 for 11 tracts and Exxon, $200,004 for 12 tracts.

Highest single bonus bid of $117,936 was made by Kilroy Company of Texas for a Gulf of Mexico tract in Jefferson County.

Courts Speak

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a murder conviction in a Rio Grande Valley case because of improper arguments by a prosecutor but didn't rule on a challenge of constitutionality of the death penalty law.

The State Supreme Court refused to interfere with a lower court order transferring a Houston utility rate controversy outside the company's service area.

Third Court of Civil Appeals told The University of Texas it owes a construction company $850,000 in a breach of contract suit.

The Supreme Court sent back to the trial court a Lubbock woman's suit for damages from an auto dealer she claimed misrepresented to her that the car she bought had never been wrecked.

Reversing a trial court, the Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld a Burnet County man in a dispute with his sister over 356.4 acres of land inherited from parents.

AG Opinions

Atty. Gen. John Hill said "short" (90-day) sessions of the legislature under the proposed new constitution cannot be confined to fiscal matters.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

Alligators can be sold in Texas if privately owned before Aug. 17, 1973, or if raised in captivity under permits or federal law.

A city cannot, by ordinance, permit late drinking hours in private clubs but not in public places.

Names of research subjects in state mental science facilities do not have to be disclosed to legislators or the public.

Appointments

Gov. Dolph Briscoe named Ocie R. Jackson of Anahuac and Elvis L. Mason of Dallas to the Board of Regents of Lamar University for six-year terms. He reappointed Tolbert Thurman Crowder of Port Arthur.

Governor Briscoe appointed Franklin A. Jeffers of Amarillo and Robert Clyde Jones of San Antonio to the Texas Real Estate Commission for terms extending until October 5, 1981.

The Governor appointed nine members to the new Commission on Jail Standards.

U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen named Austin attorney Joe M. Kilgore as chairman of his Senate Re-election committee. Walter M. Mischer of Houston will be campaign treasurer.

Short Snorts

Dr. W. Philip Gramm, a conservative economics professor on leave from Texas A&M University, has entered the Democratic U.S. Senate primary, challenging Senator Bentsen for re-election.

The Senate's impeachment trial of Judge O.P. Carrillo has been postponed again — until November 18.

A malpractice insurance company set up by the Texas Hospital Association has received approval of the Texas Insurance Commissioner.

Cigarette tax income to the state increased $4.5 million (to $22.3 million) from September 1974 to September 1975.

National Guard Muster Day Planned Nov.1

Autumn air and football season are sure signs that reunions are being planned to bring old friends back together--for a short time anyway.

And one of the largest reunions being planned this fall has hopes of drawing all former Texas Guardsmen back to the Texas Guard headquarters, Camp Mabry in northwest Austin on November 1 to reminisce over a plate of Texas-style barbecue.

The Texas Guard's First Annual Muster is a reunion of one of the largest groups of graduates in the state, all retired members of the Texas National Guard.

"We want to get everyone back together again to remember where the Texas Guard has been and to show all our 'old graduates' where the modern Guard is going," was Major General Thomas S. Bishop's description of the reason for the Guard Muster.

"We would like to make the Texas Guard Muster an annual event where all former Guardsmen can be recognized for their years of dedication and honorable service to the State of Texas, our nation and the Texas Guard," continued Bishop.

A full day of activities is planned for the Guard Muster, many of them open to the public as well as the former Guardsmen.

The first public showing of the Texas Guard's Mobile Military Heritage Exhibit is set for Nov. 1. A traveling exhibit, the Heritage Display traces the history of the Texas Military from the cattle raiding frontier days through the aftermath of Hurricane Celia.

The exhibit will begin touring the state shortly after Muster Day, but it will be set up for public viewing in Building 6 at Camp Mabry.

An open house with Texas Army and Air Guard equipment displays and a helicopter rappelling display is also being planned. Since several units will be holding their monthly drill at Camp Mabry on Nov. 1, the public will have a chance to see what the Texas Guard does when it drills.

Gasoline Spill Blocks Traffic, Driver Hurt

Traffic from all directions was blocked for almost two hours at the Hollis Y on US 83 when a gasoline-loaded transport overturned about 8:30 a.m. Wednesday, October 8.

Driver of the rig, Carl Dean Barnes of Amarillo, received a long cut on his face, possible internal injuries and a leg injury, according to Patrolman Jackie Gunnels, who assisted in the investigation. Barnes was taken to Amarillo by Collingsworth Ambulance Service.

The rig, owned by Transport Co., a Corpus Christi firm with an Amarillo branch, sustained heavy damage to the tank and some to the tractor.

Patrolman Gunnels said apparently the driver was traveling a little too fast when he entered the left turn toward Hollis, and as he put on the brakes, the system locked down and the truck went out of control, overturning onto its right side.

Wellington and Childress fire departments were called to wash down the highway and keep leaking gas from exploding.

Three wreckers, belonging to Allen Graves and Cudd Brothers of Wellington and Grillette of Childress, were required to set the rig upright, with firemen continuing to wash away the gasoline at close range.

"It took a lot of courage to go in there and turn it upright," said the patrolman.

Most of those stopped by the wreckage detoured over dirt roads.

As the accident occurred in Childress County, the investigation was headed by DPS Sgt. Bill Dean, and Troopers Bobby Harpole and Warlick Dollar. Also assisting were Marshall Peters of the ambulance service, State Department of Highways and Transportation employees and the sheriff's department.
