To Debate Follett

Boys and Girls Teams Clash In Verbal Battle Here Friday Night

Friday night, the Follett boys and girls debating teams will debate the Perryton boys and girls in the high school auditorium. The question for debate is "Resolved, that the cabinet system of government is more efficient in England than the committee system is in America."

The public is invited to come and here the debates. The girls team is composed of Louise Douglas and Lola Bell Barbour, while the boys defending Perryton are Mansel Coffee and Walter LaMaster.

Last Friday the boys team went to Follett and opposed the boys team there in a heated argument. The debates Friday night promise to be more interesting as both teams will be more sure of themselves. The teams are being coached by Edgar A. Irvine.

MAYOR ROGERS URGES CITY BEAUTIFICATION

I wish to call the attention of our citizens to the city ordinance, making it unlawful for the owners of poultry, to allow them to trespass on the premises of others, since the season is now at hand when our people will desire to beautify and improve their premises and homes by the planting of gardens, grass, flowers and shrubs. It is hoped that those of our people keeping poultry will cooperate with their neighbors by keeping their poultry on their own premises and not allow them to destroy and discourage the worthy and commendable efforts of their neighbors in their efforts to improve and beautify their premises and make their homes more attractive and beautiful.

Let us all work together with the end in view of making Perryton a city of beautiful homes by the planting of flowers, shrubs and trees and by so doing, not only make our homes more desirable and attractive in which to live and rear our children, but to make our city one noted for its beautiful homes, where those seeking a city beautiful in which to locate, will be attracted and locate, that they may share the advantages of a city of beautiful homes, good churches and excellent schools and last but not least a citizen-ship second to none in their high ideals and love for the beauty of nature and things which lead to a higher and better standard of living.

Respectfully,
F. P. Rogers, Mayor

BURROW BUILDS IMPROVEMENTS

NEW CARPENTER SHOP, ADDITION TO WAREHOUSE AND NEW FENCE ON PROGRAM

Considerable improving is being done at the Burrow Lumber company and more is being planned according to Fred Battle, manager of the yard. A carpenter shop, 20 by 36 feet, is now under construction for use of contractors and builders working out of the Burrow yard.

An addition is being planned for the warehouse, adding 36 feet to the length, furnishing considerable more storage space. It is Mr. Battle's plan to fence the entire yard with an attractive ornamental fence when these buildings are completed.

The Burrow Lumber company is to furnish a complete building service, according to Mr. Battle. They will furnish a planning service, financing, building materials, building hardware and pants.

Dr. W. J. Brewer was a Shattuck visitor Tuesday.

TWO CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH

LITTLE BOY AND GIRL LOSE LIVES WHEN HOME BURNS AT WAKA THURSDAY OF LAST WEEK

The lives of Pauline and Junior Reed were snuffed out when the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reed, burned to the ground at Waka at three o'clock on last Thursday afternoon. The fire was caused by the explosion of an oil cooking stove.

The little boy and girl were sleeping at the time the fire started. Their mother, Mrs. Reed, and their aunt, Mrs. Dick Reed, were in another room with their two small children, when the stove exploded, throwing burning oil over practically the entire house. The women, with the two babies, rush from the building and before they could return the structure was a solid mass of shooting flames.

Three attempts were made to find the children in the blazing residence, but they were all unsuccessful. When the entire building and contents had been destroyed, the little bodies, burned to a crisp, were found. A small house, adjacent to the Reed home on the north, was also destroyed.

Pauline, the daughter, was born on November 3, 1926, while the son, Junior, was born on July 4, 1924. Besides the parents a brother, Charles, age 2, survives. Funeral services were held at Waka by Rev. E. C. Raney, pastor of the Methodist church of Perryton.

The sincere sympathy of the entire community and county is with the bereaved parents in this sad and terrible loss.

RANGERS LOSE IN STATE MEET

CORSICANA DOWNS RANGERS AT COLLEGE STATION; TRIP IS HARD ON CAGE TEAM

The Perryton Rangers went down in glorious defeat at the Texas state tournament held at College Station last Friday and Saturday, losing to Corsicana in their first tilt of the tournament Friday afternoon, by a score of 24 to 55.

The Rangers, following a 600 mile drive to College Station and a considerable change in climate and altitude were unable to get into their usual brilliant stride. The first half ended with Corsicana barely leading by a point margin, the score being 19 to 20, but in the second half the heat and change in conditions wore the Rangers down, and they were unable to cope with the huskier squad.

Corsicana with a large squad of men, fouled the Rangers repeatedly and had several men taken off of the court for personal fouls which also told heavily on the Perryton quintet.

The Rangers upon their return to Perryton are devoting their time to the spring track events, regular practice starting this week.

SELLS CHEVROLET BUSINESS

A. J. KELLY BUYS PERRYTON MOTOR CO. FROM J. L. DONLEY; WILL TAKE CHARGE APRIL 1

J. L. Donley closed a deal Thursday morning with A. J. Kelly, whereby Mr. Kelly will take over the Perryton Motor Co. on April 1. This transaction has been pending for several days but the final arrangements were not made until this morning. Mr. Kelly is purchasing all of the stock repair equipment but not the building, however he has taken a lease on the building, which is the largest and best of its kind in the entire North Panhandle.

During the few years that Mr. Donley has had the Chevrolet agency in Perryton, he has built up from practically nothing to the largest in this section. The Perryton agency has one of the highest record of cars sold of any dealership in the Oklahoma City branch. Mr. Donley will devote his time for the present to looking after other business interests and to taking a well earned rest.

A. J. Kelley comes back to Perryton for good. Well that's mighty good news to us. Mr. Kelly was the owner of the Perryton Telephone Co. for several years, selling to the Standard Co. a year ago. Chevrolet is fortunate in securing him for a dealer and Perryton is fortunate in having him for a citizen. Mr. Kelly will move his family here from Higgins at the close of the school term.

J. W. Parrell was a Perryton trader Saturday.

WILSON NEWSPAPER LAUDS PERRYTON "HI" ATHLETES

"The Wilson Pointer" published at Wilson, Lynn County, Texas, by J. Carl Holden, has the following to say concerning the "Rangers" in his write-up of the Perryton-Wilson series of basketball games, recently played at Lubbock for the high school championship of two northwest districts of the state. "Although defeated by bydistric honors the Mustangs were glorious in defeat. There are no alibies, the best team won and no argument."

"Perryton placed the best team on the court that the Mustangs has been forced to meet this season, they were fast and accurate and should go a long way in the State Meet. They were a fine bunch of boys, played a clean game and were as good sports in defeat as in victory."

"We have never been to Perryton, but we know it is a real town, for it couldn't be otherwise and turn out athletes such as we saw in action at Lubbock. A better bunch of sports we never saw. There was less rough stuff and fewer fouls in those games than any that we have ever seen. Our hats off to you Perryton, you have a bunch of perfect gentlemen to represent you on the court. Our best wishes go with you as you enter the state meet, we hope you win it."

"Maybe we will meet you again next year, at any rate it is our intention of meeting the winner from district one and when we meet you we hope we will have the pleasure of knowing that we were beaten by a team that plays fair and square and can take defeat with a smile."

DATES SET FOR MACHINE SHOW

IMPLEMENT DEALERS STAGE SHOW ON APRIL 12 AND 13; PUBLIC IS INVITED

April 12 and 13 are the dates selected for Perryton's second annual combine, tractor and implement show, these dates being selected by the implement dealers of the city.

Plans are being laid to make the exhibit this year even larger and more interesting than the one held last year. The show is to be a co-operative affair as it was formerly and everything will be free.

All of the dealers in the city will be represented at the show, exhibiting their various machinery lines and the display will be an interesting one. The general public is asked to remember the dates and to be present at the show.

IMPLEMENT MEN MAKE LOCATION

GAGE, OKLA. DEALERS OPEN IMPLEMENT BUSINESS; TO HANDLE BIG LINE

C. E. Irvin & Son are announcing the establishment of a new implement house in Perryton, the new firm handling a complete line of farm machinery.

Mr. Irvin and son, R. M. Irvin are from Gage, Okla., where they were engaged in the implement business. They have secured the dealership for the Massey-Harris combine and machinery line, the Wallace tractor and the J. I. Case Plow Works implement line.

As yet they have not decided upon a location, having several in view, but some of their machinery has been received and is being placed on the lots just south of the city hall. Mr. Irvin announces that they have come to Perryton to stay, locating permanently here. The firm will carry a full line of repairs and will be prepared to service the machinery they sell.

W. M. Barber, Anthony, Kansas, is visiting in the home of his son, C. B. Barber, Waka.

FOURTEEN AND ONE-HALF BLOCKS IN BUSINESS DISTRICT TO PAVE

NO DOUBT BUT WHAT VOTERS WILL RATIFY BOND ISSUE BY BIG VOTE; WILL BE ANOTHER STEP FORWARD FOR PERRYTON

The voters of Perryton will go to the polls on next Tuesday to vote on a bond issue authorizing the city council to issue bonds to be used for the paving of fourteen and one-half blocks in the business district. The election calls for an issue of $48,000.00. Six and one-half blocks will be paved on Main street, the balance on side streets running into main.

TREE CAMPAIGN GOING STRONG

CHINESE ELMS BEING SOLD AT COST IN DRIVE TO GET MORE TREES PLANTED

The tree selling and planting campaign that was started last week has met with considerable success according to County Agent G. R. Sheets and a number of orders for the trees have been taken.

The trees will arrive here this week end it is expected and will be cared for by Mr. Sheets until they are called for. The trees are being furnished by the Texas Agricultural Experiment station at Lubbock and are being sold to home owners at actual cost plus the transportation charges.

The trees cost from fifty cents to one dollar and fifty cents according to size. The transportation charges will not figure more than from five to ten cents per tree.

The local Boy Scouts are aiding in the tree campaign and are offering to set the trees out for the buyer at a very nominal charge, all tree planting being under the supervision of the county agent.

Many Land Sales

K. K. Thomas Sells Farm North of Perryton for $75,000; Terhune Gets $55

Land values in Ochiltree County are steadily increasing and many sales of farm land are being reported. The K. K. Thomas place located four miles north of Perryton was sold recently through the agency of McLain & Thomas for $75,000 per acre. This fine place was well improved and contained 480 acres. J. H. Palmer of near Pampa was the buyer.

The Terhune farm located south of Perryton has been sold for $55,000. This farm was better known as the old T. S. McLarty home place. Joe Bryan, Las Vegas, New Mexico, a brother of W. C. Bryan of this city, has recently closed a deal for the 320 hammond farm located 3 miles east of the Black school house. Mr. Bryan will move to the place.

Much activity is reported by all real estate dealers. Sales are being made daily and new people are coming into the country. The day of cheap land in this section of the Panhandle is over. A Herald representative was recently talking to a man who pioneered in the southwest part of Ochiltree County. He said that a few years ago, he would have been glad to have sold at $20.00 per acre but that it would take $45.00 to get his place today. The day of $100.00 land is not far distant in this country.

Fire Alarm Saturday

Fire Department Answers Call to City Drug; Trash and Kindling Pile on Fire

The fire department was called out Saturday noon to extinguish a fire in a large pile of kindling and crating in the rear of the City Drug which caught from a pile of waste paper which was being burned nearby.

The flames were under control before the department arrived by the use of fire extinguishers. The only damage was the slight burning of a window frame.

Carter Pens at The Herald Office.

The proposition to be submitted to the voters call for an issue of $48,000, payable serially $1000 each year starting on April 1, 1931 and running until April 1, 1939. Then in 1940 the amount payable goes to $2000 and that sum will be retired annually, the last bond being due on April 1, 1959. The bonds will bear five per cent interest, payable semi-annually.

The $48,000 bond issue will pay for but one-third of the cost of the paving the remaining two-thirds to be paid by the owners of the property abutting the pavement. In other words the city pays one-third of the cost and the property owner two-thirds. Arrangements have been made by the city council whereby the property owner can pay his part of the cost in ten annual payments, the unpaid balance drawing six per cent interest. The estimated cost to the property owner for a lot on Main Street, is $351.48, while on the side streets, the cost to the owner is about $270.

There is little question but what this bond issue will go over with a big safe majority. Perryton has got to pave to keep step. Practically all towns in this section have at least their business district paved. Spearman has fifteen blocks; Pollett is paving six blocks; Dalhart has seventy-seven blocks in and building more; Hooker has just completed five blocks and has let the contract of sixteen more; Texhoma has four blocks completed and is building more; Liberal has over one hundred blocks; Canadian has at least twenty blocks. Perryton will be next.

The election will be held at the city hall. Geo. M. Perry is the presiding officer and the judges are Carl Ellis and J. F. Klapp. Go to the polls early and vote for the bonds. The type of paving, brick or concrete, has not been decided upon as yet, but it is thought that the city council favors concrete. Paving is to be done in seven or eight districts outlined by F. E. Devlin of the Devlin Engineering company, city engineers.

Main street from the north line of the Santa Fe right-of-way to the south line of North avenue, just south of the new courthouse comprises districts 1 and 2 and are included. Only two and a half blocks of district 3 have been decided upon, one and a half blocks extending west on Brillhart avenue and one block east.

District 4 including the first block on Wilson street has been designated as district 5, located on James avenue, extending one block east connecting with Wilson street and a half block west connecting with Brillhart.

Two blocks on Talley avenue in district 6, one block each way from Main street are to be paved and a half block each way on Wiley avenue composing district 7.

SPEARMAN MAN FOUND DEAD LAST SUNDAY

G. R. Wilson of the Wilson Funeral Home of this city was called to Spearman the fore part of the week to take care of the remains of Joe Boswell, formerly of Littlefield, Texas and an employee of the state highway department, who was found dead in his room last Sunday morning. Mr. Boswell was 59 years of age and the cause of his death was heart failure, following an attack of the "flu". Services were held at 3:00 Tuesday afternoon, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Hansford cemetery.

International Sunday School Lesson for March 17
THE CHRISTIAN SABBATH
 Exodus 20: 8-11; Matthew 12: 1-8; Revelation 1: 10
 Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D., Associate General Secretary of the World's Sunday School Association

One sacred day a week is not peculiar to the Christian. The Mohammedan observes Friday and the Hebrew keeps the seventh day as distinct from the other days of the week. From the very beginning the followers of Jehovah kept this day for worship and other religious purposes. It began in recognition of the God's completed work in creation. When the Ten Commandments were promulgated at Mount Sinai new principles were not enunciated but formal attention was called to that which had already been recognized in the right way of living. The Sabbath has ever been the day when special thought was given to the Almighty and man's relationship to him. Such meditation naturally expresses itself in worship and then in deeds in accord with our prayers.

In addition to the three passages above turn to Genesis 2: 2-3; Matthew 28: 1-10; Acts 20: 7; and Romans 14: 4-6. Then very helpful information will be found in your general Bible dictionary under the words "Sabbath," "Sunday" and "Lord's Day."

All the principles in the Ten Commandments are binding for all time. "Remember the Sabbath Day, to keep it holy" was the direction of Jehovah to the Israelites through Moses. Not what man regards as convenient or personally pleasing is to be the content of this sacred day, but it is to be lived according to the intent of Him who demanded that it be kept "holy." One day of rest in seven is needed for the body and much more than that set apart time is required in which to nourish the soul, that eternal spirit in us that will live for ever. A budgeting of our time is called for and this is the only safe way to get in all that must be attended to. The lady man has no comfort in this fourth commandment for the requirement is six days of sufficiently hard work to provide for the material things of life.

After the resurrection of our Lord the first day of the week was observed by common consent as the Christian's Sacred Day. Each first day of the week commemorates that resurrection even as does Easter. A study of the Acts of the Apostles gives numerous references to this change of time and the reason is adequate.

The Sacred day had been robbed of much of its blessings by the burdensome prohibitions. Criticism was heaped on the disciples because they picked and ate corn as they went through the fields on the Sabbath. Jesus defended them. There is place for works of necessity and mercy on this "year of all the days of the week." There is religion in service even more than in mere formal worship. One test for the right use of this Day is the physical and spiritual condition with which we face the responsibilities of the working days of the week. The Lord's Day can be a blessed delight. John was "in the Spirit on the Lord's Day" when he had the wonderful vision on Patmos and we, too, should so use the Lord's Day that we will come into conscious spiritual relationship with Him.

Hints for the Home

by Nancy Hart

A pretty accessory for the bedroom is the gown bag which looks like some luscious flower in full bloom and may be hung on the wall or on the foot of the bed.

Two circles of colored straw are used for centerpieces and a puff of harmonizing taffeta gathered around them to form a circulating bag. A wreath of ribbon flowers is applied on the front circle of straw, and a silken cord used for hanging.

WHY NOT PATRONIZE A-HOME INDUSTRY

More fruit peddlers struck town last Tuesday. They were going from house to house selling their merchandise, and of course much cheaper than you could buy it from your home merchant, to hear them tell it. Again, we urge Miami people to say "No" to this peddling class of people, who are here today and gone tomorrow, and if you buy their wares, they have your money which never returns. Buy from the home merchants.

In this connection we might mention some other things of interest. Should not the school place their orders for class rings and class pins with the local jeweler? They can show you catalogues with most any design and will give you a square deal. If a small percent is to be made let the home merchant make it.

Again, is it right to give a printing salesman your order for commencement cards when the local printers can do exactly the same thing, just as cheap and as high grade work in every particular as you get when you place your order with the peddler.

Who boosts the schools and helps by taxation to maintain them? Think on these things before buying from peddlers or sending out of town for your supplies.—Miami Chief.

THE DESPERATE LOVER

By E. Phillips Oppenheim
ILLUSTRATED BY FRANK BRUEN

He sighed, and his tearful eyes looked thoughtfully into the fire. Memories of other days were rising up and passing before him in swift procession. He saw himself and his orphan brother and sister, wandering hand in hand over their beautiful island home, with the sea wind blowing in their faces, and the spirit of the mountains which towered around them entering into their hearts. Dear to them had been that home, dear that close and precious companionship. They had talked of the life which lay before them—rose-colored and joyous, pregnant with glorious opportunities and possibilities. For their island and the larger continent close at hand were convulsed at that time in certain patriotic efforts, the history of which has been written into the history of Europe, and no one desired more ardently to bear a hand in the struggle than young Leonardo di Marioni. Large hearted, romantic, and with an imagination easily fired, he was from the first a dreamer, and Margharita had ever been ready to share his dreams. The blood of kings was in their veins to lead him on to great things; and she, Margharita, his sister, his beloved sister, should be the mistress of his destinies. Thus they had talked, thus they had dreamed, and now from the other side of the gulf he looked backward, and saw in his own life, in the place of those great deeds which he had hoped to accomplish, one black miserable chasm, and in hers, forgetfulness of her high descent—for she had married this English merchant's son—and the grave. Ah! it was sad, very sad!

"Child!" he cried, "have you ever heard the story of my seizure and imprisonment? No, you have not. You shall hear it. You shall judge between me and them. Listen! When I was a young man, Italy seemed trembling on the verge of a revolution. The history of it all you know. You know that the country was honeycombed with secret societies, more or less dangerous. To one of these I belonged. We called our Order the 'Order of the White Hyacinth.' We were all young, ardent and impetuous, and we imagined ourselves the apostles of the coming liberation. Yet we never advocated bloodshed; we never really transgressed the law. We gave lectures, we published pamphlets. We were a set of boy dreamers with wild theories—communists, most of us. But there was not one who would not have died to save our country the misery of civil war—not one, not one! Even women wore our flower, and were admitted as associates of our Order. We pledged ourselves that our aims were bloodless. No society that ever existed was more harmless than ours. I say it! I swear it! Bear me witness, oh, my God, if what I say be not true!"

He was a strong man again. The apathy was gone; his reason was saved. He stood before this dark, tall girl, who, with closed hands, was drinking in every word, and he spoke with all the swelling dignity of one who has suffered unjustly.

"By some means or other our society fell under the suspicion of the government. The edict went forth that we should be broken up. We heard the mandate with indignation. We were young and hot-blooded, and we were conscious that we had done no harm—that we were innocent of the things ascribed to us. We swore that we would carry on our society, but in secret. Before then, everything had been open, we had a recognized meeting place, the public had attended our lectures, ladies had worn the white hyacinth openly at receptions and balls. Now, all was changed. We met in secret under a ban. Still our aim was harmless. One clause alone was added to our rules of a different character, and we all subscribed to—'Vengeance upon traitors!' We swore it solemnly one to the other—'Vengeance upon traitors!'"

"Ah! if I had lived in those days I would have worn your flower at the court of the king," she cried, with glowing cheeks.

He pressed her hand in silence, and continued.

"As time went on, and things grew still more unsettled in the country, a species of inquisition was established. The eyes of the law were everywhere. They fell upon us. One night ten of us were arrested as we left our meeting place. We were all noble, and the families of my companions were powerful. I was looked upon as the ringleader, and upon me fell the most severe sentence. I was banished from Italian soil for ten years, with the solemn warning that death would be my lot if I ventured to return."

"It was atrocious!"

He held up his hand.

"Margharita, in those days I loved her name was Adrienne. She, too, was an orphan, and although she was of noble birth, she was poor, as we Marionis were poor also. She had a great gift; she was a singer, and, sooner than be dependent upon her relatives, she had sung at concerts and operas, until all Europe knew of her fame. When I was exiled I was given seven days in which to make my adieux. I went to her, and declared my love. She did not absolutely reject me, nor did she accept me. She asked for time for consideration. I could give her none! I begged her to leave the country with me. Alas! she would not! Perhaps I was too passionate, too precipitate! It may have been so; I cannot say. I went away alone and left her. I plunged into gay life at Paris; I dwelt among the loveliest mountains of Switzerland; I endured the dullness of this cold gray London, and the dissipation of Vienna. It was all in vain! One by one they palled upon me. No matter of life, no change of scene, could cure me of my love. I fell ill, and I knew that my heart was breaking. You and I, Margharita, come of a race whose love and hatred are eternal!"

She crept into his arms; and he went on, holding her there.

"Back I came at the peril of my life; content to die, if it were only at her feet. I found her cold and changed, blaming me even for my rashness, desiring even my absence. Not a word of pity to soothe those weary days of exile; not a word of hope to repay me for all that I had risked to see her again. Soon I knew the reason—another love had stolen away her heart. There was an Englishman visiting her daily at Palermo, and she told me calmly one day that she loved him, and intended to become his wife. She forgot my long years of devoted service; she forgot her own unspoken, yet understood, promise; she forgot all that I had suffered for her; she forgot that her words must sound to me as the death warrant of all joy and happiness in this world. And she forgot, too, that I was a Marioni! Was I wrong, I wonder, Margharita, that I quarreled with him? You are a child, and yet my instinct tells me that you have a woman's judgement! Tell me, should I have stepped aside, and let him win her, without a blow?"

"You would have been a coward if you had!" she cried. "You fought him! Tell me that you fought him!"

"Margharita, you are a true daughter of your country!" the old man cried. "You are a Marioni! Listen! I insulted him! He declined to fight! I struck him across the face in a public restaurant, and forced him to accept my challenge. The thing was arranged. We stood face to face on the sand, sword in hand. The word had been given! His life was at my mercy; but mind, Margharita, I had no thought of taking it without giving him a fair chance. I intended to wait until my sword was at his throat, and then I would have said to him, 'Give up the woman whom I have loved all my life, and go unhurt!' He himself should have chosen. Was not that fair?"

"Fair! It was generous! Go on! Go on!"

"The word had been given; our swords were crossed. And at that moment, she, Adrienne, the woman whom I loved, stood before us. With her were Italian police come to arrest me! There was one letter alone of mine, written in a hasty moment, which could have been used in evidence against me at my former trial, and which would have secured for me a harsher sentence. That letter had fallen into her hands; and she had given it over to my bitter enemy, the chief of the Italian police. I was betrayed, betrayed by the woman whom I had braved all dangers to see! It was she who had brought them; she who—without remorse or hesitation—calmly handed me over to twenty-five years' captivity in a prison cell!"

Margharita freed herself from his arms. She was very pale, and her limbs were shaking. But what a fire in those dark, cruel eyes.

"Go on! Go on!" she cried. "Let me hear the rest."

"Then, as I stood there, Margharita, love shivered up, and hate reigned in its place. The memory of the oath of our Order flashed into my mind. A curtain seemed raised before my eyes. I saw the long narrow room of our meeting place. I saw the dark, faithful faces of my comrades. I heard their firm voices—'Vengeance upon traitors, vengeance upon traitors!' She, too, this woman who had betrayed me, had worn our flower upon her bosom, and in her hair! She had come under the ban of that oath, Margharita. I threw my sword into the sea, and raised my clasped hands to the sky, and I swore that, were it the last day of my life, the day of my release should see me avenged. Let them hide in the uttermost corners of the earth, I cried, that false woman and her English lover, still I would find them out, and they should taste of my vengeance! To my trial I went, with that oath written in my heart. I carried it with me into my prison cell, and day by day and year by year I repeated it to myself. It kept me alive; the desire of it grew into my being. Even now it burns in my heart!"

"During my captivity I was allowed to see my lawyer, and I made over by deed so much, to be paid every year to the fund of our Order at the London Branch, for our headquarters had been moved there after my first arrest. Day by day I dreamed of the time when I should stand, a martyr in their cause, before old comrades, and demand of them the vengeance which was my due. Imagined them, one by one, grasping my hand, full of deep, silent sympathy with my long sufferings. I heard again the oath which we had sworn—'Vengeance upon traitors, vengeance upon traitors!' It was the music which kept me alive, the hope which nourished my life!"

The dark eyes glowed upon him like stars, and her voice trembled with eagerness.

"You have been to them? You will be avenged! Tell me that it is so?"

A little choking sob escaped from him. The numbness was passing away from his heart and senses. His sorrows were becoming human, and demanding human expression.

"Alas, Margharita, alas!" he cried, with dropping head, "the bitterest disappointment of my life came upon me all unawares. While I have lain rotting in prison history has turned over many pages. The age for secret societies has gone by. The 'Order of the White Hyacinth' is no more—worse than that, its very name has been dragged through the dust. One by one the old members fell away; its sacred aims were forgotten. The story of its downward path will never be written. A few coarse, ignorant men meet in a pothouse, night by night, to spend the money I sent in beer and foul tobacco. That is the end of the 'Order of the White Hyacinth'!"

SOCIAL LEADER LAUDS SMARTNESS OF HOSIERY

In line with their policy always to feature the style merchandise that is approved by social leaders, the Hurn Dry Goods company are showing this week in their windows and in their hosiery department, a display of Holeproof hosiery in the season's latest colors.

Holeproof hosiery has recently been approved by Mrs. Morgan Belmont, the smart social leader. Mrs. Belmont, nee Margaret F. Andrews, is the daughter of Mrs. Paul A. Andrews of Newport, and daughter-in-law of the late August Belmont, national sportsman and banker, famed for his racing stables and passionate interest in horses.

This statement is reproduced in the window of the store with an attractive display of Holeproof hosiery arranged around it. Hurn Dry Goods company are taking the initiative in emphasizing the importance of correct hosiery as an important part of the smart ensemble. They are offering a style service to assist local women in the selection of the correct hosiery for each ensemble.

You said you wanted to get away from the lost time and aggravation of grass winding around the outer canvas roller.

You said you wanted more even spreading of the straw over the rack after it left the cylinder.

You said you wanted a simple rack.

You said you wanted a Combine that had in it a combination of Improved Features, Advanced Engineering and Modern Manufacturing.

You said you wanted a machine that pulled lighter and turned quicker.

You said you wanted a Combine that was built of high quality and priced right.

HOW THE NEW AVERY GIVES YOU WHAT YOU WANT

The New Avery gives you the largest capacity cylinder and separating parts of any machine.

The New Avery gives you a machine that, as one operator says, you can oil in half the time you can the ordinary machine, without an oil hole inside, and where the operator is more away from the dust and dirt.

Field tests prove that the New Avery shells better, saves better and cleans better.

The New Avery gives you the simplest combine built, with less chains, less sprockets, less shafting, less bearings than any other.

The New Avery not only gives you a more powerful motor, but a lighter running combine as well.

The New Avery gives you a "Canvas Throwout Clutch," under the immediate control of the operator, by which you can instantly stop the canvasses in case of an overload.

The New Avery Combine has a "Canvas Grass Guard" that extends the full length of the lower canvas and eliminates your roller winding troubles.

The New Avery Combine gives you a "Flanged Feeding Roller" between the feeder chain and the cylinder which prevents back feeding and thereby stops the breaking of feeder chain slats.

The New Avery Combine gives you a "Spiral Feeding Beater" that feeds the straw in more evenly across the entire width of the cylinder.

You get in a New Avery Combine a Standard Avery Thresher "Perfect Spaced Cylinder" that shells the grain out better with less concave teeth—increasing the capacity, saving power, making separation and cleaning easier, and reducing slugging. It takes the straw in a humming like a bee hunting its hole.

You get in a New Avery Combine the Standard Avery Thresher "Grain-Getter Grates" with self-cleaning baffle plates that separate more of the grain from the straw than any other.

You get in the New Avery Combine an Avery Standard Thresher "Spreading Comb Beater." It not only beats, but combs the straw thin over the edge of the grate and spreads it instantly the full width of the rack. "It's a threshing machine in itself," one user says.

You get in the New Avery Combine an Avery Standard Thresher "One-Unit Double Action Rack"—the simplest rack built, with no crankshaft, no chains, no inside oiling and the most successful grain saver.

The New Avery Combine Primary Cleaning Shoe below and Re-cleaner above clean the grain nearly like hand picked.

The New Avery Combine gives you a Re-cleaner with a special "Two-way Tailings Valve," whereby you can throw the tailings behind the cylinder in weedy or brittle grain instead of running them through the cylinder over and over again.

The New Avery gives you a "Time-Saver Tank." It's self-filling, self-cleaning, unloads in less than a minute and spreads the grain better in the truck with less shoveling.

A New Avery has no crankshaft, less chains, less sprockets, less shafts, less bearing, with every main shaft and pitman full roller bearing.

The New Avery is Better Looking, with stream lines, attractive shape and neat appearance. You'll say it's "A Fine Looker and a Slick Runner," as others have, when you see it.

The New Avery Combine not only has a large number of Superior and Original Features, but they are put together in a Simpler and Stronger way.

The New Avery Combine is light in weight for its size, and also has two wide main ground wheels with a third grain wheel and a 2-wheel front truck with all five wheels mounted on Timken roller bearings, and an automobile type front truck that turns quicker and easier.

The Avery Combine is a high machine with superior features, yet is built so simple that it can be priced to give you the "Most for your Money."

The "Greatest" Combine made EVEN GREATER

New Motor—New Steel Straw Spreader
—New Roller Chain, Steel Sprocket and Pulley Equipment—New Tritex Steel Shafts—New Refinements.

The GLEANER BALDWIN Rapid type Threshing Cylinder has proved to be more efficient for Combine work than other types.

Ample power under all conditions is supplied by the new 4-cylinder heavy duty motor.

An All-Steel straw spreader operating on roller bearings is another major GLEANER BALDWIN refinement.

All principal drives are equipped with roller chains running over cut steel sprockets.

Several years ago the Gleaner Combine Harvester Corporation set out to build the finest Combine ever offered to the farmer. That this was accomplished is a matter of record. Today the "Greatest" Combine is made even GREATER—a Combine that will completely change your harvest, mechanically and financially—a Combine that assures the lowest production cost—a Combine that is DEPENDABLE, easy to operate—a Combine whose simplicity and quality of construction eliminates costly repairs and delays—a Combine that makes the harvest easier, less costly and more profitable.

The sturdy, honest construction principles of the GLEANER BALDWIN COMBINE are well known. It is as near an all-steel machine as is possible to build. Ball and roller bearings are used on all important friction points on the Combine. Cut steel sprockets and high class roller chains are employed on all important drives. The Alemite-Zerk lubrication system is used throughout.

The GLEANER BALDWIN is lighter in weight than most Combines, yet stronger. It is cheaper in first cost, and costs less to operate and keep up. It has greater separating capacity per pound of weight and per foot of cutter bar and is the most simple Combine on the market from point of operation, having fewer adjustments and fewer working parts.

The GLEANER BALDWIN cuts and threshes the grain in the field in one quick, single operation. Under average conditions it will enable you to market your wheat earlier. It will make you independent of labor trouble. No crews to pay or supervise—no large meals to cook—no waiting for threshers.

Original Patented Spiral Conveyor-Feeder

The famous Original Patented GLEANER BALDWIN Spiral Conveyor-Feeder is the most effective, efficient and economical means ever devised or employed for conveying cut grain from sickle to threshing cylinder. It is to a large extent responsible for the GLEANER BALDWIN Combine weighing less than any other Combine approaching it in threshing capacities. It does away completely with canvas and a multitude of working parts. It is warranted by the manufacturer for the life of the Combine.

Whether you handle large or small acreage, the GLEANER BALDWIN Combine will enable you to do a quicker, easier, cleaner and more profitable job.

If you are interested in a more economical, easier harvest, one that will make you more money, get in touch with us today. We will be glad to more fully explain the many advantages of the GLEANER BALDWIN and show how it will SAVE for you like it does for the many thousands of GLEANER BALDWIN owners.

About Your Health

Pneumonia
With all the vast progress in the science of medicine, we are forced to admit that the mortality rate in this terrible disease still continues high; a specific has not been discovered. A few common-sense observations at this time, should not be out of place.

The beginning of acute lobar pneumonia is almost invariably with a pronounced chill. It is at this time that an heroic attempt should be made to abort the disease. The effectual battle must be waged early—for it does not take long to be too late. Call your physician early. Better be safe than sorry; a few visits by a capable doctor, are many times cheaper than a funeral.

Meet the fevers following the chill, with medicines which produce profuse sweating; literally "soak" the victim in perspiration. This reduces congestion of the lung by bringing the blood to the surface. Administer a good laxative as well; I tell my patients to drink all the water he can hold; the juice of four lemons in the first eighteen hours, is a good accompaniment. A big mustard plaster over the chest, at this stage, has earned its distinction for usefulness; later, it is too. I am sure I have aborted many cases of pneumonia by the vigorous steps mentioned. Once the disease is established, your management and outlook are conjectural.

I care not what moralists may say, I have found the alcoholic stimulants of great value in the profound weakness of pneumonia, combined with nourishment, especially in aged cases. But the victory is more certain, if we attack before the disease is established.

MOVIE ACTOR WOOS HIS OWN WIFE ON SCREEN

After years of becoming involved in intrigues with other men's wives on the motion picture screen, Adolphe Menjou has turned to wooing his own wife.

Menjou has long specialized in polished forms of wickedness and made a lot of friends while doing so.

Now, in his new Paramount picture, "His Private Life," the sophisticated star finds himself desperately pursuing his own wife, and driven to destruction when she spurns his attentions. The girl he woos so earnestly is not a motion picture wife, but his bride in real life, Kathryn Carver, whom Menjou married in Paris recently, is his leading woman in the production.

The film is the attraction billed at the American Theatre, Monday and Tuesday.

CLUB BOYS WIN AMARILLO SHOW

CALVERT AND ALMON NORRIS PLACE IN BABY BEEVE COMPETITION AT STOCK SHOW

Calvert and Almon Norris, Notia, members of the Boys Club at Notia, placed 8 and 10 in the contest held for baby beeves raised by club members and exhibited at Amarillo during the recent convention of the Panhandle Cattlemen's Association.

Guy R. Sheets, county agent of Ochiltree County, feels that the entries made by his boys made a very creditable showing for there were 96 head entered in the show. The two calves that were exhibited by the Norris boys were also the only two calves in the county that were fed by boys as a part of their club work.

The Ochiltree County entries weighed 975 and 855 lbs. and were sold after the show for the fancy price of 16c per lb. Mr. Sheets states that he is very anxious to have more boys enter this phase of the club work next year and that he wants to see some Ochiltree County boy win first place.

METHODIST CHURCH

The services of this week are as they have been for the past weeks. Except that the Wednesday night meetings may be changed from that of the study of the Evangel to that of the Sunday School Worker, his life and work. This Wednesday night will finish the study of the book we now have.

We have had a visit of the Sunday School conference secretary and we are pleased to have the rating we have in the standard of work. However with the work we are doing now we shall have still higher rating before the year is closed.

We are enlisting all we can who are adapted to teach or serving in any way as a worker in the Sunday School and if you have not taken up the course we should like for you to do so at once. There was a time when the Sunday School teacher needed no preparation to hold his class, and make it grow. But just as the teachers in the literary educational institutions have had to make special preparation for their work so have the Religious Educational teachers had to give more time and study to the work he is trying to do.

Figures go to show that the schools and teachers that have made greatest preparation of heart and mind are the ones that are making the most progress with the ends sought through the medium of the Sunday School.

It is a natural matter that it should be hard for the untrained, unprepared teacher in the Sunday School to hold a class on Sunday that has been under a trained teacher all week. Then most of our churches are not so well equipped as are the schools. This adds another difficulty to the Sunday School work; also the Sunday School teacher is a volunteer worker and receives no financial rewards for his work, but must make his living and teach on the side.

But no greater heroism has ever been displayed and no greater good accomplished for mankind than the work done by the great army of Sunday School teachers and officers. Small is the man indeed and short of vision is he who criticizes or condemns them. Then we have consecrated characters in the personalities of the teachers who teach all week and who are seen among the first at the church to teach there also. These are no less than the others.

We wish to make an appeal to the fathers and mothers of the town to give the church and Sunday School the proper rating in their homes and help to induce their families to come with them to the church on Sunday morning. You come and don't just send the others.
