Jack Reports Fruitful Meeting With Ex-Rival

But Nixon Not Offered Post

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy today had what he called a very beneficial 63-minute conference with Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the man he defeated for the presidency.

At a news conference afterward, Kennedy said in response to questions that he had not offered to Nixon a post in the new Democratic administration.

There was no discussion of that, the president-elect added.

Kennedy flew to Nixon's vacation retreat here a few miles south of Miami, from his own rest spot at Palm Beach, Fla.

The president-elect got a warm welcome from thousands who cheered him in this state which gave its 10 electoral votes to Nixon.

At Nixon's sun-drenched Villa, No. 69 at Key Biscayne Hotel, Kennedy and Nixon conferred on the sun porch of the vice president's vacation headquarters.

When the dramatic conference ended the two men posed for photographers outside the villa, and then walked about a block to a press room.

There Nixon shook hands with Kennedy and returned to his villa.

At the Kennedy news conference, Kennedy said he expects to met again with Nixon in about a month, sometime in December. He said, too, he plans to confer with President Eisenhower before the inauguration but there is no definite date for that.

Kennedy repeatedly said that Nixon was "very cooperative" or "extremely cooperative", but he gave no indication at all that there might be any place in the administration for Nixon.

APPOINTMENTS

He didn't answer directly, either, whether there was any discussion of Republican personalities who might possibly be included in the Cabinet or put in other high positions.

"We discussed a whole wide range of subjects," the president elect said.

As for Nixon, he said the vice president still "had responsibility as a leader of his party."

The two men, Kennedy said, touched on their presidential campaigns in a sort of a technical sense.

"I asked him how he took Ohio," the senator said with a chuckle.

No, he said, Nixon did not give him a direct answer. He must be keeping it a secret to use in 1964, the president elect said.

But he added later that there wasn't any discussion of whether he and the vice president might be opponents again in four years.

BIPARTISAN MATTERS

Asked whether he expected to receive bi-partisan support from Nixon in foreign policy and national security affairs, Kennedy said he knows Nixon respects partisans in these fields and he is sure the responsibilities in these fields can be be met.

One reporter wanted to know whether it was true that toward the end of the campaign Kennedy had become more personal in his attacks on the vice president and felt aggravated toward him.

"I think the fact that I am here today indicates my feeling," Kennedy said.

It was their first meeting since their fourth and final television-radio debate late in the campaign.

With spectators surging all around, Kennedy—in a dark gray suit with a white pin stripe—walked alongside Nixon for about a block to the vice president's private villa, No. 69.

INTRODUCTION

There, as he and Kennedy entered, the president-elect introduced his press secretary, Pierre Salinger, to Nixon.

Nixon congratulated Salinger on "a good job," during the campaign, and added:

"It's a tough job, isn't it? How do you handle the photographers?"

He made that remark as cameramen crowded in from all sides for photographs of Kennedy and Nixon.

At that point, the two men disappeared inside the Nixon villa. They were alone there — without aides or even Secret Service agents.

Nixon had been waiting for Kennedy in front of the hotel's main entrance for about 15 minutes when the president-elect arrived about three minutes late.

While he waited, newsmen asked Nixon whether he would be interested in a post in the new administration. He replied:

"I don't want to say anything now. After I talk with him (Kennedy) I will know what I should say."

SAME HOTEL

Nixon then recalled that he and Kennedy had met at the same hotel four years ago and had breakfast together on the patio.

The Key Biscayne Hotel was a favorite Nixon vacation retreat. If he had been elected, it could have become the Little White House.

The vice president's wife Pat and their two daughters, Tricia, 14, and Julie, 12, were on the nearby beach when Kennedy was welcomed by the vice president.

The meeting, arranged by the president-elect, was a Kennedy effort to bind up the wounds of the campaign in a national unity move.

An enthusiastic crowd of Kennedy supporters swarmed past rope barriers at the airport and surged toward Kennedy. A squad of Secret Service men and Dade County deputies formed a flying wedge to get Kennedy to a convertible for his trip to Key Biscayne.

OLD CHUM

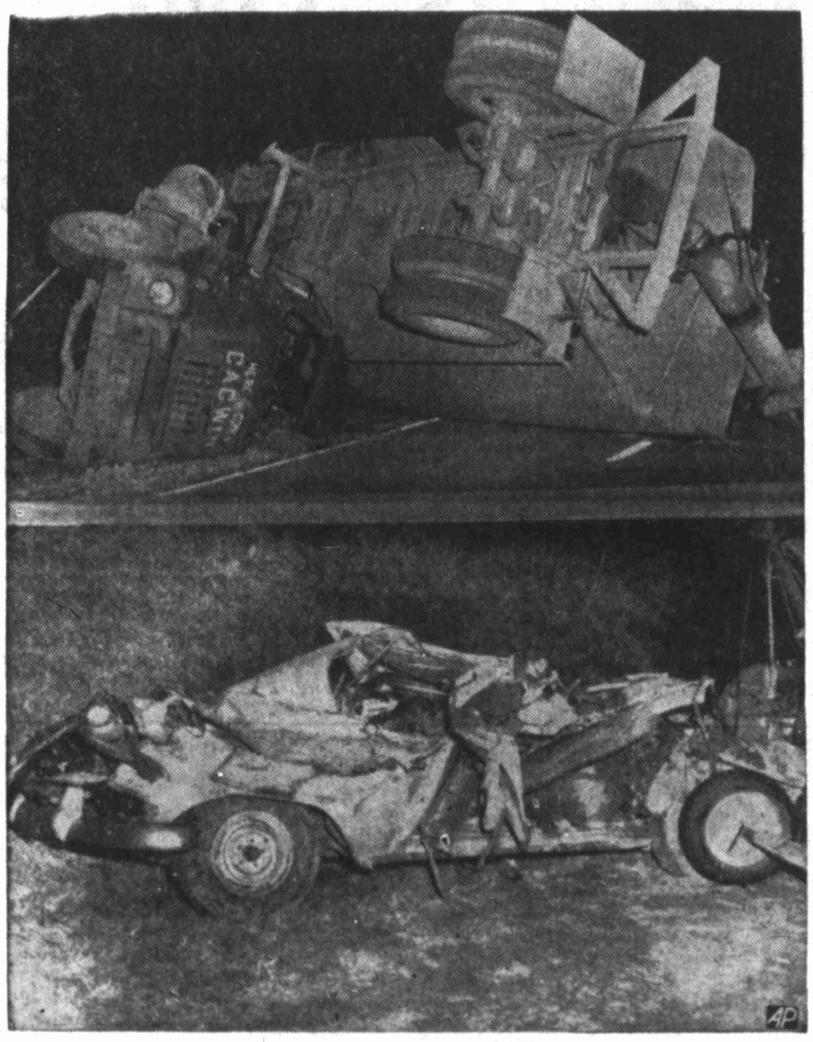

Kennedy, holding only a tiny popular vote margin over his Republican opponent, was accompanied by an old prep school chum, New York advertising man K. L. Billings. Kennedy and Billings attended Choate Preparatory School in Connecticut.

Kennedy got in some tennis Sunday afternoon before watching a movie on the lawn at night.

Kennedy took the initiative in arranging the meeting with Nixon.

Plans for the session were dis-

Family Of Seven Killed

Richard W. Chidester, his wife, mother-in-law and four children died in their automobile (below) when it collided with a truck (above) near Elburn, Ill. The truck rolled over on the car, crushing it. The family was returning from visiting their one-year-old child in a nearby hospital. Truck driver Orin Scheer, who escaped uninjured, told police the Chidester car crossed the center line and struck the front of his truck.

School Race Bars Down, No Violence

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Four Negro girls, trudging through yelling spectators, integrated two New Orleans elementary schools today despite state resistance.

There was no violence as the first-graders entered the schools—first of their race to attend white public schools in New Orleans since the days of the Reconstruction after the Civil War.

None of the estimated 75 state policemen sent to New Orleans by an angry legislature tried to stop the U.S. marshals and their charges as they entered the William Frantz and McDonogh No. 19 schools.

A state policeman serving as an assistant sergeant at arms of the legislature, tried to get the principal of McDonogh to close his school. He served him legislative orders. The principal refused to comply.

While the tense integration scenes unfolded in New Orleans, angry state representatives meeting in special session in Baton Rouge called for continued determined warfare against mixing the races in Louisiana schools. The call came amid yells of "Hitler storm troopers!" and "Let's go to jail!"

While the uproarious legislative session met, Negroes marched down the state capital's main thoroughfare in Baton Rouge, and up the steps of the skyscraper Capitol.

There was no immediate explanation of their mass presence.

Rep. Welborn Jack, a leading segregation leader, questioned the sanity of U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright on the floor of the House. "I just can't see," said Jack, "that a man will do what he is doing. I don't see how he is entirely mentally right."

Fifty to 75 white pupils were taken from Frantz by parents. Another two score appeared to have left McDonogh.

An unofficial report said only 100 pupils of a normal enrollment of 600 are in Frantz school.

Outside, a woman yelled: "They ought to take Judge Wright out and hang him by his toes." She kept yelling it. Police have guarded Wright's home for several days.

At McDonogh, it was reported 200 pupils remained inside. Normal enrollment figures were not immediately available.

POLICE MASS

A caravan of state police officers massed on the fringes of the city, under orders from the Louisiana Legislature to enforce the closure of the city's public schools. At least 75 officers were reported in the group.

At Baton Rouge, Lt. Col. Thomas D. Burbank, assistant director of public safety, said there were 40 officers en route to New Orleans.

Burbank said they were under orders from the Louisiana Legislature to enforce closing the city's public schools.

The legislature in Baton Rouge Sunday night completed action on three sweeping concurrent resolutions designed to block the integration but Judge Wright quickly enjoined the entire legislature from interfering with the eight-year-old battle.

RAMMED THROUGH

The legislature, with leaders of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis in complete control, had rammed through resolutions which seized the New Orleans school system, authorized sergeants at arms at schools to prevent integration, dismissed the New Orleans school superintendent and school board attorney, and declared today a school holiday.

Demonstrators packed the legislature Sunday. The segregationists waved Confederate flags and waved signs: "Nix on mixing." Other signs read: "Dont' call time out for education" and "Please—keep our schools open."

Administration and segregation leaders said an interposition suit would be filed in New Orleans, placing the sovereignty of Louisiana between the federal courts and the New Orleans school system.

This was described as the long-awaited states rights challenge to federal authority, based on the Tenth Amendment which reserves powers to the state not given to the federal government. It is the heart of the Davis-segregationist showdown over school integration.

The restraining order signed by Judge Wright, author of the school desegregation plan, was requested by the Orleans Parish School Board.

ASKED BY BOARD

"The feeling of the board, as repeatedly expressed is still that it would be in the best interests of the state if schools remain segregated," the board said. "However, after eight years of court proceedings, it (the board) has decided that the schools must desegregate, according to the order of the federal court."

The restraining order named, among others, the governor, State Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion, State Treasurer A. P. Tugwell, State Education Supt. Shelby H. Jackson, the 11 members of the State Board of Education, and all 140 members of the legislature.

The order also named Emile Wagner Jr., a member of the school board who has voted consistently against the other four members in steps to comply with Judge Wright's desegregation plan.

Laboring Yeggs Take Safe, Cash From Liquor Store

Persistent safe burglars carried away the 150-pound safe at Pinkie's Liquor Store on the Snyder Highway sometime Sunday morning. The safe contained $2,781.41 in change, currency and checks, Deputy Sheriffs A. N. Standard and Fern Cox were told by the operator.

The burglars cut a hole in the west wall of the building, gaining entrance through the men's rest room. The hole was approximately two feet square.

Once inside, they located the safe, loaded it on a convenient dolly and rolled it to the rest room. Plumbing was in the way since the safe was nearly the size of the aperture. The burglars pulled the plumbing aside, releasing water which flooded the rest room.

They shoved the safe through the hole, loaded it on the dolly again and trundled it 100 yards west toward the parking lot of the Stampede Dance hall. There it was put in a motor vehicle. Officers believe it was carted away in the back of a car.

No trace of the brown-colored safe has been found.

The theft was discovered around 6 a.m. Sunday when the operator came to the place. Deputy Sheriff Cox was summoned and reached the scene at 6:15 a.m.

The safe, according to the management, contained $590 in change, a considerable amount of currency and a relatively small number of checks.

A search was pushed Sunday to find the safe. It is believed the burglars will have taken it to some isolated area where they could force it open at their leisure.

Officers said no clues as to the identity of the burglars were found.

Guatemala Troops Strike At Rebels

GUATEMALA (AP) — Paratroops and rocket planes struck at rebel strongholds in northeast Guatemala today as President Miguel Ydigoras, 62, claimed the revolt against his conservative government has been crushed.

A state of siege—modified martial law—was proclaimed in the mountainous Central American republic. Press censorship was imposed.

Ydigoras blamed the attempted coup on low-ranking army officers. He linked the uprising with unrest in Nicaragua and Costa Rica within the last 24 hours and indicated he felt Cuba was behind the plot.

In Havana Fidel Castro's government denied it had meddled in the affairs of the Central American countries.

Ydigoras predicted the last of the rebels would be wiped out today. He flew to the scene of the fighting to take personal command.

An army force of 3,000 and bombers carrying paratroopers were attacking rebel concentrations at Puerto Barrios, on the Atlantic Coast 150 miles northeast of the capital, and Zacapa, 70 miles northeast. Military garrisons at these two cities reportedly were taken over Sunday by rebels.

At Puerto Barrios the commander, Col. Rodolfo Gonzales Centeno, and two other officers were killed. The commander of the Zacapa garrison, Col. Ramon Gonzalez, escaped and fled to the capital to spread the alarm.

A government communique said Air Force bombers destroyed the runways at Puerto Barrios to prevent any attempt at "reinforcements for the rebel movement that might be flown in from Cuba" a haven for many Guatemalan exiles.

Within a few hours after the revolt broke out Ydigoras claimed that all but 300 of the rebels, including most of the instigators, had been captured. He imposed a 30-day state of seige and called Congress into an emergency session.

In neighboring Nicaragua, President Luis Somoza blamed the revolt in his country that started on Friday on the Cuban government. It apparently failed, but a handful of rebels were holed up in a teachers' school not far from Managua, the capital, and holding the students and local military commanders as hostages.

The Nicaraguan revolt spilled over into adjoining Costa Rica. Col. Alfonso Monge, commander of the Costa Rican Civil Guard, and three of his men were killed in a battle with the rebels.

Costa Rican President Mario Echandi said his country was trying to preserve its neutrality by preventing the Nicaraguan rebels from using it as a base for invading Nicaragua.

Wiley Murder Trial Delayed To Jan. 23

Witnesses from Big Spring who were making preparations to leave today for Cleburne to testify in the murder trial of Roosevelt Wiley, 28-year-old Odessa Negro, will not have to make the trip.

The case, slated to start today, has been continued to Jan. 23. The continuance was granted by the court when attorneys said they had been unable to locate Robert Shelton, 47, a Hamlin Negro.

Two or three of the Big Spring witnesses had already gone to Cleburne. Miller Harris, sheriff, Gil Jones, district attorney and others were to leave today.

Roosevelt, charged with the knife murder two years ago of L. H. (Shorty) Canada, San Angelo milk truck driver, was arrested in Big Spring. A confession was obtained here from him relative to the slaying.

His murder trial was moved to Lubbock in September and was shifted to Cleburne when the court could not find a jury.

A previous conviction was overturned by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Liquor Vote At C-City Set For December 10

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City residents will vote Dec. 10 on whether legalized liquor sales will be permitted in their town.

The Mitchell County Commissioners Court Monday morning set the date for the election which, if the issue is approved, would permit sale of alcoholic beverages for off-premises consumption in the city limits of Colorado City.

County Judge Elmer Martin said that only one voting place would be established for the election. All voting will be at the Mitchell County Court House.

Commissioners Defer Meeting

No meeting of the Howard County Commissioners Court was attempted Monday morning. Two members of the court were out of town.

Ed Carpenter, county judge, was in Coahoma attending a meeting of state bank department investigators and the board of directors for the proposed Coahoma bank.

L. J. Davidson was in Lubbock where he had taken Delbert Davidson, his son, for medical treatment. Young Davidson was gravely injured some weeks ago in a car accident.

P. O. Hughes, a third member of the board, has been unable to attend meetings regularly since he suffered a stroke some months back.

Ralph White and Hudson Landers, the two other commission members, were present but no business was transacted.

The matter of canvassing the election returns in the Saturday Forsan's incorporation election was delayed. It is possible that the commissioners will meet on Tuesday.

Kennedy Holds Lead Of 271,817

WASHINGTON (AP) — John F. Kennedy held a 271,817 vote lead over Richard M. Nixon today as results continued to trickle in from Tuesday's presidential election.

With 1,653 voting units still out, counting of absentee ballots under way in several states, and recounts contemplated in some areas, Kennedy had 33,698,794 votes and Nixon had 33,426,977 votes.

This gave Kennedy 50.2 per cent of the popular vote and Nixon 49.8 per cent.

In the electoral vote count, Kennedy was assured of 300 votes and Nixon 185. Kennedy still led in the race for California's 32 electoral votes. With absentee ballots being counted, he had a margin of 37,140 votes.

Nixon led in Alaska by 514 votes with 50 precincts still out and in Hawaii by 91 votes with another recount likely. Each state has three electoral votes.

BEING PRINCE NOT ALL PLAY

LONDON (AP)— Flags rose around Britain today to mark the 12th birthday of Prince Charles, but it was no holiday for the boy who is first in line for the throne.

It was lessons as usual for him.

Queen Elizabeth's eldest child is a student at Cheam Preparatory School in nearby Buckinghamshire.

Shoeshine Boys Netted In Raid

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Police picked up 45 shoeshine boys over the weekend in what officers described as a cleanup of small-fry accused of making nuisances of themselves.

Police said downtown workers and businessmen had complained that the boys made lewd remarks to women, blocked entrances to buildings and slowed pedesterians in the downtown area.

The boys were released after their equipment was confiscated. Police said the equipment will be turned over to parents who instruct their sons to stay out of the downtown area.

Governors See Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Twenty-nine U. S. governors and their wives today started their second round of sightseeing as official guests for the 150th anniversary of Argentina's independence.

President Arturo Frondizi headed the group of Argentine officials who greeted the governors Sunday. U. S. Ambassador Roy Rubottom provided them with a private briefing at the beginning of their eight-day tour through this country.

There was reportedly much discussion between the Argentine officials and their guests of the need to increase trade between the United States and Latin America and otherwise improve relations to offset the Communist influence in the Western Hemisphere represented by Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Cuban government.

Early their first day the governors placed a wreath at the Buenos Aires monument to Argentina's war of independence. They went on to hear a lecture on the economy and culture of Argentina and to take a yacht trip through the canals of the delta of the Plata River.

Gov. Stephen L. R. McNichols of Colorado brought a message from President-elect John F. Kennedy. He said Kennedy told him by telephone he wanted Latin Americans to know he is "looking forward to a vigorous re-establishment of the good neighbor policy as it was understood under the terms of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Oil Cartel Case Is Ruled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil antitrust consent judgments were entered today against two of the nation's largest petroleum companies in partial settlement of the seven-year international oil cartel case.

The decrees prohibit any future agreements or combinations by any firms to fix prices, divide markets or allocate production with any competitors in the world oil market.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers announced entry of the judgments before U.S. Dist. Judge John N. Cashin in New York.

Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, one of the corporations accepting the consent decree, announced a major reorganization of its world oil operations.

The judgments stem from government charges that five major American oil companies, with the collaboration of two British-dominated companies, conspired to control a majority of the world's oil wells, refineries, tankers, pipelines and marketing facilities.

Joining with Standard of New Jersey in accepting the judgments was Gulf Oil Corp. The antitrust suit remains pending against Socony Mobil Oil Co., formerly Socony Vacuum Oil Co., The Texas Co., and Standard Oil Co. of California.

The settlement was partial in that only two of the five American companies involved in the charges accepted the consent decree. A consent decree is a legal device which avoids prosecution on the charge by the voluntary elimination of the practices objected to.

The decrees provide that Standard of New Jersey will terminate its joint ownership with Socony Mobil of Standard-Vacuum Oil Co., which produces and refines oil in the Far East and markets oil products in that area, Southeast and South Asia, Australasia, and South and East Africa.

Standard-Vacuum properties will be equally divided between New Jersey Standard and Socony Mobil for two completely independent operations in the future.

Gulf Oil will be required to set aside 100,000 barrels of oil per day from that company's large crude production in the shiekdom of Kuwait for a period of 10 years, placing this output at the disposal of independent oil companies.

3 Hurt In Wreck

SMITHFIELD, VA. (AP) — A Trailways bus carrying 40 servicemen plunged off a fog-shrouded curve into an eastern Virginia creek early today, critically injuring three passengers.

Victims Of Pakistan Cyclone

Refugees from devasted villages trudge into Chittagong, East Pakistan, after the area around the Bay of Bengal port city was smashed by recent cyclone which killed an estimated 12,000 persons. Rubble in the background marks the remains of a brick building destroyed by the storm.

Girl Is Chosen For Dimes Poster

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Linda Gail Breese, born crippled, will be pictured on the 1961 March of Dimes posters.

She is 4 years old, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean E. Breese of suburban Upper Arlington. The couple has three other children, one of whom, Ronnie, 12, is a victim of cerebral palsy.

The March of Dimes campaign will be held in January. Linda's likeness will appear on millions of posters and in thousands of newspapers and magazines, plus network television.

Linda still uses crutches but has been able to discard her leg braces. She wants "to be a mommy" when she grows up.

Once Saved Always Saved—If

T. H. Tarbet, Christian preacher. (Church of Christ, West Highway 80)

There is no question about God's ability to keep the Christian from falling from grace. He has promised to keep him. But this promised is conditional.

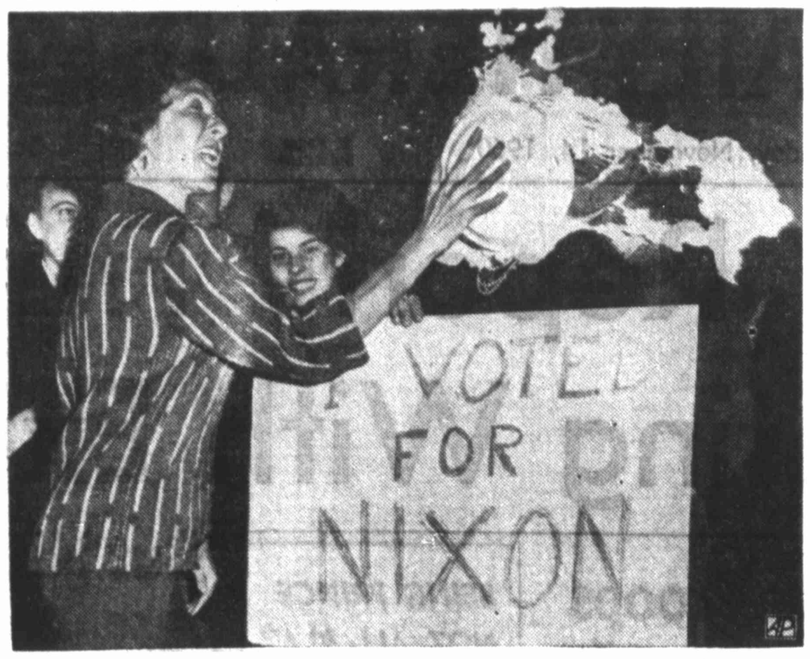

After telling us to add the seven Christian virtues, the apostle said, "... Give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, he shall never fall." (II Pet. 1:10.)

The blood of Christ is sufficient to cover the sins of God's children; but this promise of continuous cleansing, is conditional. There is an "if."

"But if we walk in the light, as He is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ His Son cleanseth us from all sin." (I Jno. 1:7.)

Texan Claims Gaming Losses In Contest Over Income Tax

By TEX EASLEY
AP Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Texas man, contesting an Internal Revenue Service claim for $30,957 in additional income taxes from him and his wife for 1954-56, contends the service erred in not allowing gambling losses he suffered at Las Vegas, Nev.

Records in the case show IRS sent a notice last July 26 to M. O. Rife Jr., Fort Worth oil man, and his wife Maidee to the effect that their joint returns showed deficiencies of $9,050.61 for 1954, $70,522.83 for 1955 and $1,384.13 for 1956.

In an appeal to the U.S. Tax Court, the Rifes complain IRS erred on other counts, too—including refusal to allow a deduction for intangible development costs in the amount of $168,234 and in holding they were not entitled to an additional deduction of $50,273 for depletion in 1956.

Their appeal, filed by Lawyer Whitfield J. Collins, also said:

"In the taxable year 1956, the petitioner, M. O. Rife Jr., reported as income gin rummy winnings in the amount of $10,490.

"During this year petitioner sustained gambling losses for the entire year of more than $28,500, resulting in a net gambling loss for such year.

"Such losses are evidenced in part by cancelled checks dated June 9, 1956, drawn on the Ridglea State Bank in the amounts of $15,000 and $10,000 issued to an agent of the Sands Hotel, Las Vegas, Nev., solely in payment of gambling losses sustained in the Sands Hotel Casino. Such losses are in part further evidenced by a check in the amount of $3,500 issued to the El Rancho Vegas Hotel, Las Vegas, Nev., representing solely gambling losses in the casino."

A tax payer is permitted to deduct gambling losses only to the extent of his winnings. The petition contended the IRS erred in holding the $10,490 deduction was unallowable for lack of proof.

Other appeals have come to the tax court from the Harvest Queen Mill and Elevator Co. of Plainview and Jesse E. Hall Sr., Weatherford.

On May 31 the IRS sent a notice to the Plainview firm claiming a deficiency of $714,494 in its tax payments on income for 1955. Of this amount, $650,348 is in controversy.

Harvest Queen's petition asserts the IRS erred in disallowing losses of $302,000 in shrinkage and quality of grain stored for others, and in disallowing certain sums set forth for depreciation.

The notice sent Hall on July 25 claimed a deficiency of $110,889 on 1956 income and $9,255 on 1957 income which, with interest, amounts to a total of $142,127.

Hall and his wife contend that IRS erred, among other things in considering as gains sums of money handled in disposition of certain patents and in financing to loans through a Venezuela corporation.

No Real Dixie Gain For GOP

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The 1960 election brought a Democratic resurgence in the South and little Republican success in extending recent gains, an Associated Press survey showed today.

President-Elect John F. Kennedy polled more votes in the 11 Southern states than any previous candidate.

Vice President Richard Nixon out-did all previous Republican efforts, but his percentage of the two-party vote dropped about three per cent from President Eisenhower's 1956 total. This compared with an eight per cent drop nationally.

IMPLICATION

A sampling of returns in several metropolitan areas showed that votes against the Democrats were often conservative rather than Republican. The implication is that a conservative third party might seriously erode the Republican's new strength.

Unofficial, nearly complete returns compiled by the Associated Press in the 11 states gave Kennedy 5,041,905 votes, or 52.3 per cent of the two-party vote, to Nixon's 4,602,166, or 47.7 per cent. Independent Democratic electors polled 109,404 votes in Mississippi, and Louisiana's States Rights Party had 169,962.

In 1956 Eisenhower led with 4,214,155, or 50.5 per cent; in 1952 Adlai Stevenson polled 4,428,163, or 52.5 per cent.

Kennedy's percentage would probably have been higher than Stevenson's had it not been for the senator's Roman Catholic religion which hurt him in rural, Protestant areas.

CIVIL RIGHTS

Kennedy had also to overcome the obstacles of his strong civil rights position, dramatized by his phone call to Mrs. Martin Luther King; and the South's strong conservatism.

Countering this, he gained by his selection of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson as his running mate, by the hard work of many state Democratic officials and by the fact that Nixon was nowhere as personally popular as President Eisenhower.

Kennedy's total becomes more impressive when compared with Al Smith's showing in 1928. Smith, the only other Roman Catholic major party presidential candidate, had only 52.4 per cent of the Southern vote at a time when there was virtually no Republican party organization in several states of the old Confederacy.

Warm Spell To Stay Awhile

By The Associated Press

Above-normal temperatures for most of Texas hit the state Monday and, forecasters said, probably would linger for several days.

Temperatures began warming up Sunday when the maximums ranged from 68 at Del Rio on the Rio Grande to 85 at Childress in Northwest Texas.

Fog and low cloudiness Monday extended from the Gulf Coast northward through most of Texas except the Panhandle and far West Texas. There was some light rain and drizzle in the southern part of the state.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 72 at Laredo to 41 at Dalhart. Temperatures in the 80s were expected to be widespread during the day. Afternoon showers were forecasted for southern portions of Texas with occasional drizzle expected in the morning hours in much of North Texas.

Shortly before dawn, it was drizzling at Laredo, Galveston, and College Station and light rain fell at Houston.

Pony Power Paper Route

The Pony Express rides again on route 520 of the Tyler Courier-Times. But the current version is somewhat less extensive than the Pony Express that spanned the nation 100 years ago. The pony is 5-year-old Sparkie, a Shetland belonging to Blair Points, a 12-year-old carrier boy for the afternoon daily newspaper. Blair's brother, Gary, 9, is shown handling the reins.

Pony Express Rides Again- For Paper Boy

TYLER (AP)—The Pony Express rides again on Route 520 of the Tyler Courier-Times. But the current version is somewhat less extensive than the Pony Express that spanned the nation 100 years ago.

The pony is 5-year-old Sparkie, a Shetland belong to Blair Points, a 12-year-old carrier boy for the afternoon daily newspaper.

Subscribers and especially the smaller fry on Blair's route like the idea of having their papers delivered by the 20th Century version of the Pony Express.

Whereas the ponies that made the run from St. Louis to the Pacific used to go at full gallop, Sparkie takes it easy on his run.

He pulls a cart which carries not only the newspapers and Blair but also Blair's 9-year-old brother, Gary. Usually Gary handles the reins while Blair folds and throws the newspaper.

Blair says it takes about as long to deliver the papers by pony cart as it does by bicycle because "Sparky can't run down hills."

The cart is more comfortable but it also is more expensive. Blair has to pay Gary 15 cents a day to serve as chauffeur.

Headache Sends Star To Hospital

LONDON (AP)—A spokesman for Elizabeth Taylor's studio said today "a terrible headache causing almost unbelievable pain" had sent the beautiful actress back to a hospital.

"It hit her a little before 9 o'clock last night," said the movieman, "and the headache was so awful that it alarmed everyone—including her doctors."

Weeping and clutching her head, Miss Taylor was carried from her hotel on a stretcher and rushed to the hospital in an ambulance.

The spokesman said her personal physician, Dr. Carol Goldman and one of Queen Elizabeth II's doctors, Lord Evans, were "worried and puzzled."

Neither would immediately answer reporters' questions.

Both were extremely cautious—for good reasons.

For weeks the actress had been reported suffering from a mystery virus that brought on high temperatures in the afternoon.

Unable to diagnose the cause of the fever at her penthouse apartment in a London hotel, the doctors ordered her into the London Clinic on Oct. 30.

They made several tests on her and she was allowed to leave the clinic three days after being admitted.

The fever still persisted, however.

Last week she complained of a severe tooth ache. X-rays were taken and an abscessed tooth discovered.

A dentist pulled it and her fever went down.

Jubilantly, Miss Taylor's fourth husband Eddie Fisher told reporters that at last the cause of her lengthy illness seemed to be solved.

Miss Taylor's studio, 20th Century-Fox, shared Fisher's joy.

The studio is far behind schedule on the epic "Cleopatra" in which the actress plays the vamp of the Nile for a million dollars and a percentage of profits.

Weekend Traffic Takes 21 Lives

By The Associated Press

The violent death toll over the week end in Texas rose sharply Sunday to 26 with 21 deaths in traffic alone.

West Texas deaths included: T. L. Adams, 34, of McAllen died Saturday night when the small Cessna 172 he was flying crashed eight miles northeast of Van Horn in far West Texas.

Shean Moore, 4, son of El Paso contractor and Mrs. Sam Moore, was killed Sunday when a driverless station wagon pinned him against a stone fence near his home.

Bandit Hunted

SCHULENBURG (AP) —An intensive search was on in Southeast Texas today for the lone gunman who robbed the Farmers State Bank of Schulenburg of almost $5,000 Saturday.

Norse First Lady To Wed Commoner

OSLO, Norway (AP)—The royal First Lady of Norway is taking a divorced commoner as her husband.

King Olav V announced Sunday night the engagement of Princess Astrid, 28, and Johan Martin Ferner, 33, a junior partner in an Oslo haberdashery. The marriage will take place Jan. 12.

Since the death of her mother, Princess Martha of Sweden, six years ago, the princess has been Norway's First Lady.

Pole Kitties, Like Hens, Have Own Pecking Order

SINTON (AP)—Skunks may not be considered socially acceptable but among themselves they develop a very definite social order that determines who gets the head spot at the feed trough.

Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Cottam of the Welder Wildlife Foundation —whose feeding of as many as a dozen skunks each evening has given them an opportunity to observe the skunks' social niceties —say that the order is developed very much like hens determine their "peck order."

As every chicken farmer knows, hens of a flock set up a social scale, headed by the most vicious pecker and graded downwards in order of their skills at close-range, in fighting with their bills.

Among skunks, it's the one with the most effective "rump bump" who becomes the aristocrat.

"Skunks feeding together normally do a good deal of pushing," the Cottams report. "They raise their large plumed tails to right angles to their bodies as they push from the rear or sideways from the hips."

Such sparring is usually confined to pushing, except when some trigger-happy skunk resorts to his greatest weapon.

Cottom says his observations show that skunks seem to be more repelled than attracted by others of their kind. He notes they often fuss less over sharing their food with an opossum than with other skunks. When they do feed together, they soon develop a social hierarchy that occasionally shifts.

"Our first boss of Skunktown was a large, old male who gained his throne largely because of his size," Cottam says. "He could easily push the weaker members of the tribe away from the feeding tray.

"He lost his eminence to a relatively young and irritable female half his weight one night when she got to the food first and was enjoying her repast when he arrived.

"They tried to drive the other away with rear-end shoving. The female was no match for her overweight opponent, and, in desperation she whirled and sank her teeth into the old male with such viciousness that he screamed in agony and fled to his den in a nearby woodpile.

"He returned only occasionally, and if his victor was in sight, he beat a hasty retreat."

When serious fighting begins, particularly between males during the mating season, it is savage and brutal with an effort to kill, Cottem said. The arena gets pretty smelly before one is vanquished.

In a book by Cottam, he discusses the great accuracy a skunk possesses in hitting an adversary with his stream of scent:

"One evening a raccon tried to drive a skunk away from his food. This was a grave mistake as the skunk fired at close range and hit his adversary squarely in the right eye.

"The pain must have been terrific, as the raccoon lost all interest in food, rolled in the grass and rubbed his eye.

"In a few minutes it left on a run towards a pond a little more than a city block away, apparently to wash the fluid from its eyes. The second night it was back with its eye still swollen and bloodshot.

"Since then it has been a less frequent visitor and it has been decidedly more respectful of its neighbors."

AMAZING PSORIASIS STORY

Jan. 10, 1960 — Pittsburgh, Pa. "Doctored for psoriasis 30 years. Spent much money to no avail. Then used GHP Ointment and Tablets for 2 weeks. Scales disappeared as if by magic. In 6 weeks skin completely cleared and clean. First time in 30 years. Thanks for your marvelous products." This much abbreviated report tells of a user's success with a dual treatment for psoriasis now made available to all sufferers. Full information and details of a 14 day trial plan from Canam Co., Dept. 279A , Rockport, Mass.

Gursel Takes Over In Turkey

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Gen. Cemal Gursel, 65, emerged today as political leader of Turkey after firing 14 members of the revolutionary government that took over after the ouster of Premier Adnan Menderes last May.

Gursel told correspondents Sunday night the shakeup strengthened the moderate wing of the revolutionary government and "put an end to discord within the country's ruling National Unity Committee."

Heading the list of those dismissed was Col. Alpaslan Turkesh an extreme nationalist who once supported the union of all Turkish speaking people including those living in the Soviet Union.

His chief rival, Maj. Gen. Cemal Madanoglu, was among officers appointed to a new 23-member National Unity Committee announced by Gursel.

Castro Crowd Invades Church

HAVANA (AP) — Supporters of Prime Minister Fidel Castro clashed briefly Sunday night with Mass-goers in Santiago Cathedral over the reading of its archbishop's anti-Communist pastoral letter.

Shouting revolutionary slogans and chanting Castro's hymn, the crowd of about 60 persons interrupted the services. One woman was injured slightly in the scuffling. Some of those involved were taken to police headquarters but were released almost immediately.

Entitled "Rome or Moscow," the letter did not mention the Castro regime directly but exhorted Catholics to rely more on their own strength and less on U. S. military and economic support in the war against communism. It was read only in the Santiago archdiocese, which does not include Havana.

Mrs. Denny Marsalis Is Shower Honoree

Mrs. Denny Marsalis was the honoree for a bridal shower Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John Annen when six hostesses entertained.

Guests were received by Mrs. Annen, Mrs. P. D. O'Brien, Mrs. Arch Carson, mother of the bride, the bride and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Noel Marsalis.

Caroline Marsalis and Nancy Hedleston registered the guests and gifts were shown by Mrs. Forrest Gambill and Mrs. Omer Williams.

Mrs. Sherman Smith and Mrs. Lonnie Coker invited the guests to be served refreshments.

Friends of the bride who served were Gloria Coker, Marilyn Bigham, Marilyn Mann and Mary Locke Crosland.

The table was laid with a brown linen cloth to which autumn leaves were attached. The theme of the season was further carried out in the arrangement of varicolored chrysanthemums used as a centerpiece. Accessories were yellow butterflies.

The Marsalis' were married in August in Mexico and are students at Tech.

LUNCHEON

Mothers of the couple were honored guests at a bridge luncheon given recently at the Big Spring Country Club. A gift was presented to each from the hostesses, Mrs. Clyde Angel, Mrs. Leroy Tidwell and Mrs. Horace Garrett.

Places were marked for 30 and table appointments followed an autumn theme of yellow and brown.

Adds To Her Lashes

Pretty June Wilkinson tells Hollywood Beauty readers how she applies false eyelashes in today's column. For a natural look, cut them to blend with your own lashes.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Enhances Eyes With Additional Lashes

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — June Wilkinson's figure is her fortune. "I had the same measurements at 14 that I have now, and I was very self-conscious about being so much more developed than the other girls my age," she told me recently. Then she added with a smile, "It's turned out to be my trademark.

"Having such a large bust measurement," June continued, "makes it impossible for me to buy ready-made clothes. And it is much more expensive to have everything designed. But I like simple sheaths that I can wear regardless of fashion changes."

June is just out of her teens though she has been in show business for eight years. She started as a dancer in England (her family is from Eastbourne), and she came to the United States on a commercial junket and stayed here. "Macumba Love" is the best part she's had so far.

"I made a personal appearance tour with the picture" June explained, as we drove to Long Beach to visit the boys in a veterans hospital. "And I got to know a lot of Americans. I find the average teen-ager here is less mature than in Europe. They talk about wanting more freedom, but they don't seem ready for the responsibilities that go with independence.

"Caking on a lot of make-up doesn't make you grown up," June observed. "I don't think men like to see a girl wearing a heavy base. I think they find a clear skin attractive. You can use a lot of make-up on your eyes and lips and still not look made up."

June has long eyelashes that she makes look heavier with waterproof mascara.

"When I'm going to a gala, I like to use artificial lashes on the tips to open my eyes and give more fullness to the ends of my lashes," she confessed.

"Does it take you a long time to put them on?" I asked.

"I can do it very quickly now, but I had to learn how. I cut a strip of lashes in half and use them on the outer edge of my lashes. Don't try to get them flush to your own lashes. This is too hard. Just stick them on your lid with liquid adhesive and work them down with a toothpick. If you put them on well, they are not noticeable and they are very flattering. But to give a natural look, you have to cut them to blend with your own lashes" June concluded.

MORE BEAUTIFUL EYELASHES

There are other ways of making your eyelashes more beautiful besides false eyelashes and that is to make them grow thicker and shiny. The Latins know the secret to beautiful eyes and lashes and in Leaflet M-62, "Latin Beauty Secrets," the facts are revealed. For your copy of this leaflet, send only 10 cents (ten cents) and a self - addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, Big Spring Herald.

Mrs. Pollard Speaks At Lasso Tea Sunday

The Lasso Mother-Daughter tea, an annual affair of the HCJC organization was held Sunday afternoon at the Student Union building parlor with 55 guests attending.

Mrs. Frank Pollard was the speaker and told the story of Esther. Musical entertainment was brought by a college quartet, the Jay Squawkers.

The refreshment table was covered with a green cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow roses with a back-ground of three tall white tapers.

Gloria Coker, Marilyn Bingham and Carolyn Sewell served refreshments.

Vegetable Mix-up Makes Good Lunch

A symphony of flavors is the mix-up of vegetables.

- 4 tbsps. butter or margarine
- 1 large onion (cut into thin strips)
- 1 pound (2 medium - size) straight-neck yellow squash (unpared and sliced in thin rounds)
- 3 medium-sized tomatoes (each cut into 8 wedges)
- 1 green pepper (cut into thin strips)
- 1 tsp. salt
- ¼ tsp. white pepper
- 2 tsps. sugar
- ¼ tsp. ground allspice.

In large skillet cook onion until golden in 2 tablespoons of the butter. Add remaining butter, remaining vegetables and the seasonings. Mix well.

Cover and simmer, stirring a few time, until squash is tender—about 10 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Tips Given For Cookery Of Game

Hunters agree that most game needs the addition of wine to give it succulence and tenderness, and the most useful of all wines in game cookery is a very dry Spanish sherry, the type called "fino". Wild duck for example, is superb when brushed with a mixture of melted butter, fino sherry and a little lemon juice as it roasts.

Raymond Camp in his book, "Game Cookery," (Coward-McCann) also gives this recipe for Venison Paprika: cubes of venison steak are dusted in seasoned flour, browned in butter, then simmered in a sauce made with onion, garlic, marjoram, diced tomatoes, a wineglass of fino sherry and paprika. Sour cream is stirred in at the last moment.

Most hunters take as much pride in cooking their "bag" as in catching it. And to make sure the full succulence of the dish is appreciated, the same wine used in the preparation of dish is served at table. The dry types of Spanish sherries are best both to serve as an aperitif before a dinner of game and to use in cooking the dish.

Speaker For Club Uses Xmas Theme

Mrs. J. R. Hensley was guest speaker for the City Home Demonstration Club Friday at their meeting in the home of Mrs. B. F. Mabe. She based her discussion on the making of Christmas decorations.

The speaker showed various ways to fashion tiny Christmas trees and demonstrated how to cover a bell with Christmas beads and balls; she recommended that decorations be carried over from year to year; with additions added each season for interest.

Mrs. Martelle Lewis gave the devotion for 13 members and a guest, Mrs. R. C. Stocks. A council report was presented by Mrs. D. L. Dannbeiser who told of the council holiday party, planned for Dec. 14. The place is to be announced.

Club members drew names for the luncheon slated Dec. 9 at Masters Cafeteria.

Announcement of the session, Nov. 18, informed the group that all HD clubs will go to Webb AFB for a demonstration of civil defense and fire prevention. The City Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Eldon Appleton at 1:15 p.m. and go to the base in a body.

Plant Property To Enhance Value As Well As Looks

Overgrown, outmoded landscaping on the home property is an eyesore that reduces the value of land and homes in the immediate vicinity. Everyone has seen this in neighborhoods that have become run-down due to lack of attention to the grounds.

On the other hand, homes in areas where the grounds are well-landscaped not only maintain but increase their values in the real estate markets, and they provide better and more relaxed garden living for the family.

Remodeling of landscaping is a key step in home improvement. "People never before have realized this so much as today," say the nurserymen, "and it may be due in large part to the great surge of 'family garden living' in recent years." As families have begun to live on the whole property with garden-living rooms, they realize more than ever the healthfulness of living close to nature and the need for and the joys of lovely plants of all kinds. Garden living is a wholesome trend that is expected to grow immensely in the coming years.

Add Berries

A small amount of frozen raspberries or strawberries (thawed) may be added to a creamy vanilla cake frosting. Add the drained berries first, then as much of the juice as is necessary for good consistency.

Cheese, Macaroni

Macaroni served with a cheese sauce supplies excellent protein for a family meal.

Cook Over Low Heat

If you cook bacon over very low heat the drippings will be white and they may be used to season green vegetables.

'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

Another of the old buildings is being torn down in Big Spring. Each time one goes I think of the activities I remember taking place in them. The former Christian Church, later the YMCA building, now in the process of being demolished brings to mind the first radio broadcast from our fair city. An orchestra, composed of local musicians who just played for the joy of playing their instruments with others who liked popular music, was asked to broadcast. The musical group, headed by a Mr. Bell, called themselves Bell's Blue Boys and play they did. We were all so excited about the great undertaking but were torn between watching them as they played and going into another room and listening to "the magic of radio." It seemed so out-of-this-world for the music they made to go through the little microphone and come out of the sets in the back room.

Pinned By Auto

Sandra Godfrey, 23, left, of San Jose, Calif., and Olivia Gonzales, 22, of Gilroy, Calif., wait in agony to be extricated from between a wall and an auto which pinned them against the side of drive-in at San Jose. The women were waiting for service when an automobile collided with another car nearby and jumped the curb, pinning the women for almost an hour. Mrs. Gonzales' husband, Tony, is at right. Both women suffered multiple leg fractures.

Kennedy To Get Chance At Hunting

AUSTIN (AP)—Big vote hunter Jack Kennedy will get a chance this week at some Texas big game, of the animal type.

By coincidence or otherwise the president-elect is scheduled to arrive at the ranch of Vice President-Elect Lyndon B. Johnson a few hours after the opening of Texas' hunting season for white tail deer, Wednesday.

Johnson's ranching spread along the Pedernales River and in the rocky hills of Blanco County has some of the choicest hunting in the state. Herds of 15 and 20 animals including big fat bucks are a common sight at sundown.

LBJ Ranch hands take particular care of the deer and Johnson's big-name guests often get an invitation to sit in one of the cozy deer blind huts placed near paths and feeding grounds.

The new chief executive will find numerous other signs of hospitality at Johnson's ranch, 65 miles west of here.

DANIEL'S BED

On his only other overnight trip to Texas, Kennedy slept in Gov. Price Daniel's bed at the state mansion in Austin.

The LBJ Ranch house is placed on a grass covered rise near the banks of the Pedernales. Johnson said the river's name, of Spanish origin, means "little white rocks shining in the night." The entrance to the grounds is across a low water dam and driveway that in flood times becomes impassable.

"I'll see you Saturday if the Lord be willing and the creeks don't rise," Mrs. Johnson often tells invited guests.

The big rambling stone and white frame ranch house is mostly shaded by giant live oak trees. The fortlike stone walls are more than 100 years old. One of Johnson's aunts did all of her cooking over a mammoth fireplace that is now in the house living room. Four big bedrooms in the house and more in a nearby guest house take care of frequent guests. Twenty-eight telephone lines attempt to take care of Johnson's political and business endeavors when he is at the ranch.

BIG POOL

Just outside Johnson's first floor bedroom is a big blue swimming pool—with telephone outlets around the edge. Numerous bathing suit conferences with big-name governmental figures have taken place beneath the bright colored beach umbrellas.

"Welcome to LBJ Ranch" is etched in the concrete of a sidewalk leading to the front door. Concrete stepping stones near the pool have signatures from famous figures including one signed by Speaker Sam Rayburn.

In warm weather, Johnson and his family spend much of their time around the pool. There is a big cooler for cold drinks. White-coated waiters serve breakfast or lunch by the pool.

Johnson has a standing warning to news photographers not to take pictures of him or any of the family in bathing suits or shorts. During the campaign, staff members protested if photographers tried to include the pool when taking pictures of the house.

CLOSE TOUCH

Although 65 miles from the nearest city, Johnson keeps in close touch with the outside world. He always rides in a car equipped with a mobile telephone. About 100 feet from the ranch back door is an airplane hangar and a landing strip that will accommodate all but large four-engine airliners.

Ranch foreman Henry Blackburn says Johnson is as sharp in the stock farm business as in politics. Shortly after being nominated for vice president, Johnson took time out to brag about a good profit he turned on the sale of 270 lambs.

This fall the ranch has about 80 head of commercial cattle and about 35 head of registered Herefords. "As fine a herd of breeding stock as you'll find in the United States," Blackburn says. The breeding stock is grazed along the Pedernales where plantings of coastal bermuda grass and irrigation keeps pastures ankle deep. The commercial animals graze on a separate 1,800-acre holding about 12 miles northwest of the ranch house.

A newsman once told Johnson that he had heard President Eisenhower's farm at Gettysburg operated at a loss.

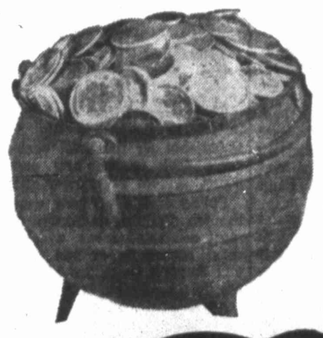

Johnson thought a moment and then said: "Well, at the end of this year I think our ranch will show a small profit."

Chimp At Work

Candy, one of three chimpanzees that went to work at a Houston furniture factory, zips up a cushion and then moves on to the next cushion. Ben Friedman, owner of the furniture factory, says the chimps may eventually change the make-up of the labor force on assembly lines around the industrial world.

Farm Bureau Queen

Kay Botard, 17, an attractive Jim Wells County girl from Alice, is crowned queen of the Texas Farm Bureau in Dallas by J. H. West, of Bishop, president of the organization. Miss Botard is a freshman at Texas Tech in Lubbock, majoring in home economics education. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Botard.

11 Traffic Crashes Mar The Weekend

Eleven traffic accidents Saturday and Sunday resulted in minor injuries to two persons. The mishaps varied from one-car to three-car crashes, investigating police reported.

A two-car collision in the 2100 block of West 3rd sent three persons to the hospital, but only one was treated. Marie Hoberg, Odessa, received treatment and was released at Cowper Clinic and Hospital Sunday. She was a passenger in a car driven by Howard M. Hoberg which collided with Charles O. Crowder, Ellis Homes. Two of Crowder's children, Valta Gene, 3, and Charles Randall, 20 months, were taken to the Webb AFB Hospital but they were found to have no injuries.

Beverley Weeks, 300 Jones, received a broken nose in a one-car accident behind the Nite Hawk on West U. S. 80.

A three-car collision at 4th and Birdwell involved cars driven by Samuel Grover Tarbet, Seminole, William C. Vopp, Big Spring, and Tommy Gene Jackson, 1519 Kentucky Way.

John Dee McPerson, 306 E. 21st, was in a collision with a guard rail on U. S. 87 about 150 feet south of FM 700.

Ralph David Grantham, 433 Edwards Blvd., and Shirley Latrue Wortham, 1409 Mt. Vernon, were involved in a collision at 18th and Gregg.

Wolf J. Zier, Webb AFB, was in collision with a parked car owned by Cornelia D. Gary, 1510 Nolan, at 6th and Runnels.

Marck Carter Schafer, Rt. 2, Big Spring, and William Davis McDonald, Big Spring, were in collision in the 2200 block of Gregg.

Bob Hamillo, Big Spring and David Escobedo, 203 NE 7th, were involved in a collision in the 900 block of N. Scurry.

Eusebio Ramirez, 612 NW 3rd, was in collision with William Perry Greer, Odessa, at 3rd and Abrams.

John Edward Pool, Morton, and Ernest Edmond Rice, Rt. 1, Big Spring, were in collision on East U. S. 80.

Marvin Earl Casbeer, Midland, and J. D. Kee, Lamesa, were in collision at 3rd and Main.

Capt. Hailey Visits Here

Capt. Robert Hailey, USN, is visiting here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hailey, 710 Edwards Blvd., prior to assuming a new command.

Capt. Hailey, who was graduated from Big Spring High School and later from the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1941, is due to leave within the month for the Mediterranean to assume command of the Wrangel, an AE-12 ship.

Since July of 1958, Capt. Hailey has been serving on the staff of Vice Admiral Edmund B. Taylor, USN, commander of the Anti-submarine Defense Force. He has been in charge of operations training and the scheduling officer, and as such has been the coordinating officer of activities of the forces from Iceland to Argentina.

After his visit here, Capt. Hailey may return by the way of Houston, where he was stationed for a couple of years in charge of the naval ROTC program at Rice University. His family will continue to make its home in Norfolk, Va., while Capt. Hailey is aboard his ship.

Capsule To Fall From Satellite

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The gold-plated capsule of Discoverer XVII—given an extra day in space for good behavior—should come flying home today when a scientist presses a button.

The satellite, forerunner of a legion of military sky spies, is the first of the Discoverer series to eject its capsule at a ground signal.

All the others have ejected when a timing device within the space package clicked shut on the satellite's 17th pass around the earth.

When Discover XVII neared its 14th trip, the Air Force decided Sunday that it was behaving so well it could stay up a little longer.

Scheduled ejection time was delayed to the 31st pass, about 5 p.m. EST today.

Plans called for the capsule to pop from the 25-foot-long Agena B second-stage rocket as it streaked over the North Pole, headed South. Forward-firing rockets were to slow it enough to permit a parachute to lower it over Hawaiian waters.

Trapeze-trailing Flying Boxcars hoped to snag it before it hit the water—a feat accomplished once in the long Discoverer series. One other capsule was fished from the sea by a skindiver.

The latest Discoverer was launched at this big seaside missile facility at 12:42 p.m. Saturday. The Air Force said the decision to leave it in orbit 18 extra trips was made because "communications with the satellite have been good" and "the vehicle is performing satisfactorily."

Jury Forming In Damage Case

A jury was being selected Monday afternoon to try the case of Doris Carr et vir versus V. A. Gomez, in 118th District Court. The suit is a damage action.

It was placed No. 1 on this week's jury docket which is under way in the court. Judge Ralph Caton sounded the docket at 10 a.m. A jury panel, originally comprising 100 members, reported at 1:30 p.m. Immediately on qualifying the panel, the Carr matter was begun.

Other cases announced ready for trial:

C. W. Curtis et al versus Firemen's Fund Insurance Co., damages; Kimbell Feed Mill versus Arvid Pfeiffer, suit on debt; Ruby Dolam Silas versus Grace Odell, damages; in re Henry, neglected and dependent children; Ray Albaugh versus Ted Groebl, suit on debt; Frank Doe versus Glenn E. Rea, damages.

Other cases on today's docket were either passed or reported settled.

JACK

closed Sunday as Kennedy lined up a busy week of conferences with possible appointees to his Cabinet—and amid reports that he already has decided at least tentatively to pick up Democratic Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina as secretary of commerce.

Salinger would neither confirm nor deny selection of Hodges. He told a news conference Kennedy had informed him he will make no final decisions or announcements regarding any Cabinet posts until after Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 24.

RIVALS

During the campaign, Kennedy contended the vice president had helped preside over deterioration of national prestige and security and the communization of Cuba, while Nixon pictured his Democratic opponent as inexperienced, rash and irresponsible.

But Salinger said one of the purposes of today's late morning meeting was to provide Kennedy with an opportunity "to congratulate the vice president on the campaign he conducted."

The president-elect also wants "to resume the cordial relations with the vice president which existed between them during their 14 years together in Congress," Salinger added.

Wednesday evening the President-elect will fly to the Texas ranch of the new vice president, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, for conferences through Thursday.

County Attorney Levels Charges

County Attorney Wayne Burns said today he had filed charges of DWI against Benito Cortez; charges of possession of a prohibited weapon against Robert Lee Green; charges of theft against Geraldine Bush; and charges of driving a motor car with a suspended drivers license against Joe Sherman Jr.

Several other complaints were being considered. Burns indicated some of these may be filed this afternoon.

Aid Conference

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower will meet with Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson Tuesday for what the White House described as an important conference on foreign aid to underdeveloped countries.

Violence Results In Assault Charges

Two charges of assault with intent to murder were filed Monday morning and the district attorney's office indicated a third would likely be filed during the day. The incidents which caused the filings were part of a hectic day of violence which kept the Big Spring police and the sheriff's office working at high speed Saturday.

Ramon Benevidez has been charged with assault with intent to murder in the shooting Saturday of Rudy Gomez. Gomez was not seriously injured. Benevidez has been released on $2,500 bond.

Kathryn Myles James was charged in the shooting of Oscar L. Hill Jr. His condition is serious. He was shot in the lung and in the neck. This shooting occurred Saturday night. Bond has been set in her case at $5,000.

Bobby West, investigator for the district attorney's office, questioned Antonio De La Torres, who was painfully knifed early Saturday, and indicated he planned to file a charge of assault with intent to murder against Nickili De La Torres, her husband. De La Torres is in the city jail.

Charges of theft from the person were filed against Alex Banks, and bond was set at $5,000 in his case.

Chamber Teams Have Meeting

The autumn revaluation drive of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce opened officially this morning with a coffee meeting of the two competing sales teams, according to Clyde McMahon, membership committee chairman.

Members of the two teams discussed proper sales technique and had a question and answer period with Bill Quimby, chamber manager, answering questions about the Chamber's work.

The one-week drive will be climaxed with an all-out all day drive on Friday, McMahon said. However, a large majority of the sales will be made during the week.

On the team headed by John Currie are Don Newsom, Raymond Smith, Vance Lebkowsky, Bobo Hardy, Truman Jones, E. P. Driver, Tom Conway, Dr. W. A. Hunt, Joe Pickle, George Weeks, Wendal Parks, and Rad Ware.

Winston Wrinkle heads up a team of Oscar Glickman, John Taylor, Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, Jim Richardson, Jim Lewis, Joe Pond, J. H. Greene, Wayne Gound, Gus Barr, Gilbert Gibbs, Dr. Marshall Cauley, and Larson Lloyd.

Prizes for the contest were donated by Zales Jewelers, Hemphill-Wells Co., and Cizon's Fine Jewelry.

Shakeup Seen For Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, (AP) — President Ngo Dinh Diem may shake up the South Viet Nam Cabinet as a result of the abortive paratrooper revolt against his government, reliable sources said today.

Although Diem crushed the rebellion and emerged in a strong position, sources said he may make his Cabinet the scapegoat for the unrest and dissatisfaction that led to the attempted coup.

Rebel leaders charged Diem with running a "family dictatorship" that divided and weakened the military and the rest of the country in the fight against the Communists.

The bachelor president also has come under sharp criticism for restricting freedom of the press and crushing all political opposition.

The Saigon newspaper Tieng Chuong said 48 civilians were killed and 66 others wounded in the fighting Friday and Saturday before soldiers loyal to Diem rushed into the capital to rescue him from rebel paratroopers.

Day Of Prayer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has designated Oct. 5 as a national day of prayer under a joint resolution approved by Congress in 1952.

It provided that the President "shall set aside and proclaim a suitable day each year, other than a Sunday, as a National Day of Prayer on which people of the U. S. may turn to God in prayer and meditation at churches, in groups and as individuals."

Conference Called

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) —The three major branches of Presbyterianism in the United States will hold a Pan-Presbyterian National Convocation on the Church in Town and Country here Nov. 1-3.

Representatives of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, the Presbyterian Church, U. S., and the United Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. will discuss the role of the church in small towns.

End 'Terror'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba proposed today that the United Nations end an alleged reign of terror in the Congo by arranging a national referendum under U.N. supervision.

New Chief

DALLAS (AP)—Brig. Gen. Robert Fleming Jr. took over today as southwestern division chief of the Army Engineers.

No Decision On Procedure In School Case

Gil Jones, attorney for the Howard County School Board, said Monday morning that no decision has been reached as to the next step in the Gay Hill-Center Point School district annexation case.

Last weekend, the 11th District Court of Civil Appeals sustained an appeal from the 118th District Court here. The appeal was presented by the attorneys for the two common school districts and was in resistance to the decision of the local court holding it had no jurisdiction to try the protest against the county board's annexation action.

Jones said two routes are open. The County Board can file a motion for rehearing before the Court of Civil Appeals or it can make application for a writ of error in the Texas Supreme Court.

Jones and J. R. Hinsley, Austin, are the attorneys for the county board.

If neither of these courses are followed the case will be returned here and come up for trial before the district court on its merits.

Hartman Hooser and Harvey Hooser Jr., of Big Spring and Bill Kerr, Midland, are attorneys for the two common school districts.

Apparently copies of the Civil Court of Appeals opinion in the case have not as yet reached any of the attorneys involved in the litigation.

Rites Set Tuesday In Dallas For Former Resident

W. D. Wheat, 5321 Lindley Ave., Dallas, father of three Big Spring residents, died Sunday noon in Dallas after an illness of several weeks.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the East Dallas Baptist Church. Restland Memorial Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Wheat farmed for a number of years in the Vincent area.

Surviving are these children: James Wheat, Mrs. Oscar Nabors and Mrs. Ollie Anderson of Big Spring, Mrs. Bill Johnson, Phoenix, Ariz., Mrs. Vernon Hamby, Westmoreland, Calif., Homer Wheat, Wewoka, Okla., Mrs. Eda King and Mrs. Maizie Lester of Grants, N. M., Hershel Wheat, Denison, Curtis Wheat, Dallas, and Mrs. Eula Guider, Denver City.

Arrests Clear Up Burglaries

Bobby West, investigator for the district attorney's office, said that the arrest on Saturday of Billy Joe Baker, Ronald Gene Letcher and Buddy Allen by city police had cleared up two local burglaries. In addition, the arrest led to the solution of a theft case in Coke County involving Letcher and Baker.

These men have been surrendered to the Coke County offices. They are accused of stealing an outboard motor and a battery charger from a lakeside cabin in that county. The motor and charger were found here and returned to the owners.

West said that Baker, Letcher and Allen made statements to him in connection with the case.

Baker and Letcher also told of burglarizing a laundermat and looting the coin tills recently. This was an establishment at 4th and Birdwell. They also admitted another laundermat job committed on April 13.

Texas Tech Exes Schedule Dinner

Ex-students of Texas Tech have scheduled their annual dinner meeting for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Cosden Country Club, Dr. Earl Burnett, president, has reminded.

Those who have not mailed back reservation cards are asked to call Dr. Burnett at 4-8916 or W. D. Broughton at 4-7006. Officers will be elected at the meeting and films of either the Baylor or Aggie game will be projected.

Women's Physical Trim Class Slated

Another Trim-and-Fit class for women is being started this week at the YMCA.

The course will be from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. Tuesdays through Fridays through Dec. 2. Mrs. Gene Eads is the instructor.

There will be free baby-sitting service at the Y for housewives who wish to take the physical conditioning course. Registration may be accomplished at the Y Tuesday morning or by telephoning the YMCA.

Chief Banks Will Be Club Speaker

Police Chief Jay Banks, a former Texas Ranger captain, will be the speaker for the Senior Hi-Y boys club meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in the YMCA building. He also will project a film, "You Asked For It." Robert Lebkowsky is in charge of the program and Bob Andrews will give the devotion.

Rotary Program

V. J. Belda and Robert A. Heinze will give talks on their professions as highlights to the Rotary Club program slated for Tuesday noon at the Settles. W. C. Blankenship, president, will be in charge.

1-Way Plan Brings A Little Confusion

There were a few confused motorists in downtown Big Spring today, but for the most part residents took to the new one-way street system in orderly fashion.

Police traffic officers were on the job directing motorists at the most congested areas, which were most noticeable at 2nd at Main and Runnels, with 3rd also filling up in the central business area.

Officers in the downtown district spent a good part of the morning cruising trouble spots giving instructions to harassed motorists who made wrong turns.

CONFUSED

There were those who found the new pattern overwhelming and observers noted at least one woman circling the business district from 4th to 1st for 30 minutes. At one intersection 10 drivers were counted making a wrong turn within 30 minutes. Most drivers, however, were navigating the streets in good fashion.

Bruce Dunn, director of public works, said the system seemed to be working out remarkably well for the first day. Those few who inevitably found themselves going in the wrong direction usually discovered their mistake within a block, pulled into a handy driveway or alley and turned back in the right direction.

FLY IN THE OINTMENT

An unusual amount of traffic seemed to complicate the flow of traffic on the one-way streets today. Third St. was particularly congested, although the one-way pattern did not seem to play a part in the congestion, according to Dunn.

Residents' driving habits of traveling west on 2nd through the banking district were coming in for some knocks. Even those driving east in the direction of one-way traffic on 2nd were sticking in the right lanes.

The main difficulty on narrow 2nd where traffic bottled-necked frequently at the Main and Runnels intersections stemmed from motorists' failure to utilize both lanes of traffic. Dunn said he felt this problem would soon iron itself out, however, as residents become used to the system.

PARKING ERROR

The first day of new driving and parking patterns did reveal a few minor changes not foreseen. In a few instances, where new parking stripes were painted over the weekend, spaces are too close to driveways. These were being corrected today by city crews.

Two new signs are being made today and will be erected at 5th and Runnels and at 2nd and Johnson to warn motorists not to enter opposing one-way streets at those intersections.

Drivers headed north on Runnels find themselves faced with the immediate problem of having to make a left turn at 5th. (Runnels is one-way south from 1st to 5th.)

SIMILAR SITUATION

For motorists driving west on 2nd there is a similiar situation at Johnson, although there is a choice of turning either right or left.

Dunn said the signs would be placed at these two intersections pointing out the beginning of opposing one-way traffic and indicating the direction of turns.

The one-way streets include Scurry, north from 5th to 1st; Runnels, south from 1st to 5th; 5th, west from Johnson to Gregg, and 2nd, east from Gregg to Johnson.

Main is still a two-way thoroughfare, as is 1st.

Electoral College A Good Idea Back In The Early Days

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—It seemed like a good idea back in 1788 to have the president of the United States chosen by an electoral college.

The idea was to have the best people in each state get together and pick the best man in the country to run things. It worked fine as long as George Washington was around.

Washington won the unanimous vote of the electors in 1789 and 1792, but never again did the system work the way it was supposed to. The grit of politics got in the gearbox.

Once the people began to have a say as to who were the best men in each state and rival parties started pushing rival candidates, the whole idea of a genteel aristocracy tapping one of its members as president collapsed.

But despite its failure and the repeated attacks on it, the system is still with us and the antiquated machinery will have to be cranked up on Dec. 19 to make the election of John F. Kennedy official.

On that day the electors will meet in their respective states and confirm what the voters did last Tuesday. Each state gets as many votes as it has members in Congress.

Originally the electors in most states were chosen by their state legislatures but now they are picked by party leaders in each state (although Alabama picked them in a primary). This slate of electors is what the voters choose, not a presidential candidate. The vote is recorded in the candidate's name, however, and as the system has evolved, the electors' votes in almost all cases belong to him.

Fourteen unpledged electors in Alabama and Mississippi will be free to vote for anybody they want on Dec. 19, but their votes can't change the result as it now stands.

Considering the potential for trouble in adhering to such a system it is remarkable that only four elections in the nation's history have been snagged in it.

In 1800 Thomas Jefferson organized his followers so well every one of his electors named him and Sen. Aaron Burr of New York. The plan was for Burr to be vice president, but the Constitution merely says the top man becomes president and the runnerup vice president.

The less well-organized opposition split its votes so Jefferson and Burr tied for first. The House of Representatives had to untangle the snarl and chose Jefferson, who promptly put through a constitutional amendment calling for separate ballots for president and vice president.

In 1824 Andrew Jackson topped four other candidates but fell short of an electoral majority. One of the candidates was Speaker of the House Henry Clay. When the House was called on to act again Clay threw his support to John Quincy Adams, who became president. Clay became his secretary of state.

In 1888, Grover Cleveland won a majority of the popular vote, but lost on electoral votes (233 to 168) to Benjamin Harrison. Cleveland got even in 1892 when he beat Harrison to win a second—and non-consecutive — term as president.

But the worst mess was in 1876 when Democrat Samuel B. Tilden won the popular vote but fell one vote short of an electoral majority due to conflicting electoral counts in three Southern states. The House was Democratic that year and the Senate Republican. Neither would let the other act.

Finally a commission of five senators, five representatives and five Supreme Court justices voted on the rival claims and by a 8-7 vote awarded all the disputed votes to the Republican candidate, Rutherford B. Hayes. He was named president just two days before Inauguration Day.

OIL NEWS

Cities Service Stakes Wildcat

Cities Service Oil Co. has staked a new wildcat location in Dawson County at No. 1-B Brennand. The explorer is slated to drill to 8,600 feet.

Cosden is preparing to perforate the Baugh C zone at its Roosevelt County, N.M., wildcat, No. 1-D Federal, after recovering oil on a drillstem test of that section.

Operator took a drillstem test between 9,700-60 feet and, with tool open one hour, recovered 8,700 feet of oil, 480 feet of gas-cut water, 320 feet of salt water, 5 feet of water, and 200 feet of oil below the sub.

Gas surfaced in 10 minutes, the 1,000-foot water blanket surfaced in 16 minutes, mud surfaced in 31 minutes, and oil surfaced in 33 minutes. Initial shut-in pressure was 3,085 pounds, and final shut-in pressure was 3,085 pounds.

Cosden is setting the 5½ inch casing to total depth of 9,760 feet prepatory to perforating the zone.

Texas National No. 1 Jim Tom is going in the hole to log and perforate. The zone and interval are not reported. Operator has run the 5½ inch casing to total depth of 10,166 feet and drilled out cement. Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 30-23S-1s, T&P survey.

Sterling

Brownlee, Wallace and Tice No. 1 McEntire is drilling in sand and shale at 8,080 feet. Project is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 27-23-H&TC survey.

Sinclair No. 1 Sellers is bottomed at 8,975 feet. Operator is preparing to plug and abandon this wildcat venture. Site is 3,480 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 81-17-SPRR survey.

Dr. Chrane Attends Chiropractic Meet

Dr. Bill Chrane returned Sunday from a two-day regional refresher course at Midland for doctors of chiropractic. Approximately 100 chiropractors from Abilene to El Paso took part and heard lectures by Dr. D. E. Biser, Dallas, and Dr. Roy LeMond, Austin. Earl W. Powell, Austin, National Health Education Society director, was a luncheon speaker. Dr. Bisert is vice president of the International Chiropractic Society.

White's Features Wide Selection Of Fine Carpeting

Troy Ray, manager of the furniture department at White's 202-204 Scurry stands beside some of the many patterns of carpeting to be found at White's, 202-204 Scurry, stands beside some owners who are considering carpets for their home to come in and look over the selection he has to offer. The price, too, will be a pleasant surprise.

Best Typewriter Money Can Buy

Eugene T. Thomas, owner of Thomas Typewriter and Office Supplies, 101 Main, finds much to admire in the beautiful, efficient new Royal typewriter. If you are in need of a typewriter and want the very best that the market offers, you will choose a Royal. Thomas will be happy to demonstrate the many outstanding features which are to be found on the new Royal.

Moving These Days Calls For The Talents Of A Specialist

This is the day of specialists. There are experts in every field. If you have a job that needs doing, you generally scan the available supply and select that individual to do the work who seems to have the best specialized knowledge needed.

Wooten Transfer & Storage, 505 E. 2nd, are no exception to the rule. They are specialists—specialists in moving. It is no sideline operation with Wooten. They study moving in all its aspects; they provide themselves with the proper tools and equipment and they keep constantly abreast with all of the newest developments and trends in their specific field.

As a result, they are always ready to handle any moving job efficiently, properly and promptly. That's why most folk in the Big Spring area who have to make a move automatically turn to Wooten.

It does not matter if the move is next door or clear across the country. Wooten has the equipment and the know-how to do the job exactly the way it should be done. If you have to move, call Wooten. Tell him your problem and leave the rest to him. You can quit worrying — the thing's done. And it will be done exactly the way you want it done. Your household goods will arrive intact and promptly. You will like the careful methods employed by Wooten's staff. You will be pleased with their modern equipment.

Wooten is also agent for the famous Wheaton and Lyons van lines.

Wooten's phone is AM 4-7741. A call will be all you need to get that moving job under way.

Humble Products Widely Esteemed By Many Drivers

When better automotive products are made, it is likely that they will be made by Humble. And if Humble makes them, you can buy them at Charlie's Humble Station, corner of 4th and Scurry.

Charlie's Humble Station, located near the heart of the business district and on the eastern leg of IS 20, is well known to the motoring public and to many tourists whose journeys bring them through this city.

Charlie Minchew is the proprietor of the station and he is proud to be distributor for the quality products that Humble produces. He knows when he services a car with Humble products, he is providing the owner with the best.

Charlie also distributes those famous and durable Atlas Tires. For dependable safe tire service, Atlas is the best. Over the years, it has been well established that you can't go wrong if you equip your car with Atlas tires.

Charlie is also eager to talk trade with anyone who needs tires. He has a proposition which will make it most advantageous to the motorist to get Charlie's deal before he buys new tires. Charlie will be happy to discuss tire needs with any motorist and the chances are, if you talk over your tire problems with him, you'll drive out of his station with a set of Atlas tires on your car.

Remember the address Charlie's Humble Station, Fourth and Scurry. It's a handy place to trade when you're downtown and need car service.

Foreign Gifts Up

NEW YORK (AP) — American Protestants have sent more than three million pounds of clothing and bedding, 124,000 pounds of medical supplies and nearly two million pounds of food to needy areas overseas in the first six months of this year. This is more than double the same amount sent in the same period last year, reports Church World Service, relief arm of the National Council of Churches.

Creighton's Guarantee On A Tire Is No Empty Promise

There's a world of difference in "guarantees." Nearly every product glibly asserts that it carries a guarantee. The real test is what does that guarantee imply.

There's no such gesswork if you rig your automobile with Seiberling Tires. The guarantee you are given when you install these fine tires on your car is a written document in which every provision is carefully set out.

Seiberling tires are handled in Big Spring by Creighton Tire Co., 601 Gregg. This popular establishment is one of the best known businesses in the city and has enjoyed the confidence and patronage of the residents of this community for many years.

Scientists Told 'Sandmen' May Exist On Other Planets

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — There may be true "sandmen" on some yet undiscovered planets, a team of University of Pennsylvania scientists said today.

The sandmen were envisioned as living creatures having silicon —an essential constituent of sand and rocks—as their basic component, instead of carbon. The latter is the key element in the chemistry of all life on earth.

The researchers told about it in a report prepared for the opening of the autumn meeting of the National Academy of Sciences.

The team, headed by researcher M. Abedini, also envisioned that some day vitamins and hormones, for use in medical fields, might be prepared from sandy substances.

The Penn researchers said that for the first time they have prepared new, simple silicon-containing compounds which are closely analgous in both chemical and physical properties to a number of familiar compounds based on carbon.

One of them is a silicon-based "ether" which is the exact counterpart of the widely known pain-killing compound—except that it contains atoms of the element silicon instead of the usual atoms of carbon.

The scientists said: "At the present time, our knowledge of these simple silicon compounds is at the stage where carbon chemistry was 150 years ago.

"Since all living substances contain both simple and complex carbon compounds, it is somewhat fascinating to wonder whether silicon compounds will, within the next 150 years, be introduced into living substances in place of analgous carbon compounds."

They added: "It is possible that living 'things,' with their chemistry based on silicon instead of carbon, may exist in some of the billions of yet undiscovered planets having an atmosphere of different composition from that on earth."

To Decide Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Some 4,000 absentee ballots will decide who gets Alaska's three electoral votes.

With unofficial returns in from 250 of the state's 300 precincts, Vice President Richard M. Nixon had 27,312 votes to President Elect John F. Kennedy's 26,798.

This gave the Republican candidate a margin of 514 votes. The absentee ballots can't be counted until Friday under Alaska law.

Mobutu Scores Congo Victory

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — President Cleophas Kamitatu of Leopoldville Province today announced a "complete agreement" with his political enemy, Col. Joseph Mobutu, for maintaining order in the capital.

It was a major political setback for ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba, entrenched in his villa in powerless seclusion behind a United Nations guard.

Kamitatu has hitherto been bitterly opposed to Mobutu's pro-Western military regime and has persistently maneuvered his 2,000-strong provincial police force in Lumumba's favor.

Negro Laborer Tried For Death

HOUSTON (AP) — Clarence (Sack) Collins, 24, a 306-pound Negro laborer, stood trial today for the slaying of Mrs. Wilma Selby.

Prosecutors asked the death penalty for Collins, described as the triggerman in the kill-for-pay slaying.

He is the third period to stand trial for the murder last Nov. 16.

Joseph Selby, 52, an accountant, has been sent to prison for life. He was the slain woman's husband.

Maggie Morgan, 45, a Negro fortune teller, has been sentenced to the electric chair.

The state says Selby hired Collins, through Mrs. Morgan, to kill his wife.

Collins, after his arrested, admitted he shot and killed Mrs. Selby in her home.

MEN IN SERVICE

Charles Eddie Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Brown, former Big Spring residents now living in Memphis, Tenn., has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif., and is currently stationed at Corpus Christi.

Following graduation Brown was granted a 14-day leave. He visited with friends in Big Spring on his way to Memphis to visit with his parents before beginning his assignment at Corpus Christi.

* * *

Navy Fireman Apprentice Wixie Lynn Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott, 300 Andree, has completed his Navy recruit training, and is home on his 14-day recruit leave.

Elliott enlisted in the Navy Aug. 23, through the local Navy recruiting station. Upon expiration of his leave, he will report to Navy shipfitters school, San Diego, Calif. This school, known in the Navy as one of the many Class A schools, provides basic instruction in the Navy rating of shipfitter, and enables the student to have better chances for advancement.

Army Pvt. Bobby G. Kirkpatrick, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alburn C. Kirkpatrick, 1102 W. 2nd St., is receiving eight weeks of advanced individual training with the 4th Division's 39th Infantry at Fort Lewis, Wash. The training is scheduled to end Dec. 9.

Kirkpatrick entered the Army last July and completed basic training at Fort Ord, Calif.

He is a 1954 graduate of Odessa High School and was employed by Garland Sanders Truck Co., before entering the Army. His wife, Flora, lives in Lakewood, Wash.

Good news for asthmatics

Specialist's discovery now makes it possible for bronchial asthma sufferers to quickly relieve choking, coughing, gasping spasms and, do it without use of internal drugs or painful injections. So safe you can get Dr. Guild's Green Mountain in either cigarettes or compound form without prescription. Ask your druggist for it.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Lamesa Lions Will Honor Governor At Joint Meeting

LAMESA (SC)—District Lion Gov. J. D. Dyer of Lamesa will be honored when the Lamesa Noon and Evening Lions hold a joint meeting at Forrest Park Community Center Tuesday night.

The special program has been designated as a ladies' night affair and will also see the indoctrination of new members into both organizations. Travis Shelton of Lubbock, district director of membership retention, will initiate the new members.

Both clubs have been observing "Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children" month and a director of the camp is due to appear at the Tuesday session. Invitations have been sent to all district clubs.

Dyer is a former president of the Noon club and a former Lion deputy district governor and zone chairman. He is also the former mayor and councilman of Lamesa.

Jimmy Edwards is president of the Evening Lions and Ray Evans heads the Noon group.

Lamesa Starts Christmas Seal Distribution

LAMESA (SC) — The annual Dawson County Tuberculosis Christmas Seal campaign opened in Lamesa today when 4,700 packets of the seals were mailed to residents, according to Doyle Hankins, general chairman.

The money received from the campaign is used by the association to carry on the work of case-finding, rehabilitation, x-raying, and patch-testing. No personal home-to-home calls are planned, residents are requested to purchase the seals and forward donations as specified in the instructions.

Dawson County has had five new cases of TB reported so far this year and six patients are already receiving treatment in TB hospitals. In the county, 36 arrested cases were being watched.

Only 18 per cent of the total fund raised here leaves the county. The Texas State Tuberculosis Assn. receives 12 per cent and the national association receives the remaining six per cent.

Dies In Wreck

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Mrs. Georgia Mosley, 53, died early today when her auto struck a stalled truck in south San Antonio.

FFA Money Goes As Thailand Aid

LAMESA (SC) — The Lamesa chapter of the Future Homemakers of America has received notice from the state UNESCO chairman that the $335 raised here has been forwarded to Bangkok, Thailand.

Josephine Pazdral, state advisor, said the money will be used in the rural teachers education program of Bangkok for the purchase of a sewing machine and materials.

Mrs. J. W. Holman, Jr., sponsored the campaign in Lamesa.

A Devotional For Today

Men and brethren, I have lived in all good conscience before God until this day. (Acts 23:1.)
PRAYER: Gracious God, we would pray for lives dedicated to Thee. May our thoughts and acts be expressions of hearts that love Thee. Help us so to live that we may have clear consciences. In the name of Jesus. Amen.

Bidding For A Share Of The Trade

Texas is embarking upon a new venture in an effort to attract more tourists, vacationers and industry to the state.

State and municipal organizations will spend over three - quarters of a million dollars for promotion and advertising. This does not include the considerable sums by private groups, such as Texas Electric and its "Opportunity Frontier" campaign.

Perhaps there was never a more propitious moment for Texas to get into the national swim of advertising its wares. The nation is becoming more mobile, and the astute, agressive salesmen among the states and regions are the ones which will get an increased share of the touring business.

Funds from this source represent "new money" for a community, and thus benefit virtually every segment of a community's life. The tourist dollar has a stimulating effect far greater than some other areas of local business where trade gets into swapping dollars.

The state, with the first advertising budget in its history, is putting $296,000 on the line. Other regional associations such as the Costal Bend Tourist Association, El Paso County Board of Development, City of San Antonio, Rio Grande Valley Chamber of Commerce, are bidding for a cut in the business.

While there is no move on foot here for a similar advertising campaign, there is no reason that we shouldn't take advantage of the general campaign by boosting our own area attractions and educationing our people to make tourists want to include us as a stop when coming through again.

This Is Despicable And Costly

Quite some time ago, when the warped fad of shooting windshields with a pellet gun was going around, the craze splashed over here. Numerous cars had their front glasses pecked or ruined, but when officers marshaled all forces to try to pin down the offenders, the destruction stopped.

Unfortunately, some curiously twisted minds had called back this type of vandalism last week. For several nights in a row there were reports of considerable damage reaching police.

This would be serious business even if it were not costly, for it represents wanton destruction to satisfy a desire to destroy. But it is costly, for the modern windshield is no longer a simple piece of plate or safety glass, it is a delicately shaped and frightfully expensive bit of moulding. Any windshield now is getting into scores of dollars.

Aside from wanting to rid our community of miserable people who have no more respect for society and the rights of others than to go around ruining windshields, everyone has a financial stake in this. Insurance rates are high enough already, even with the normal breakage, but if a heavy load of pellet damage is piled on top of that, somebody will have to make it up — and it will be made up by you as a premium payer. So if you have occasion to get leads on these windshield breakers, report them at once to the officers.

Weakness In Our Elective System

WASHINGTON—Do the American people have the faintest idea of what they have done to their government by their votes on election day? Do they know the dangers and even possible tragedy of transition in government as one administration takes over from another?

Someday the American people ought to be told the whole truth so they will be persuaded to change the present system, which is antiquated and ill suited for a nuclear age.

WHAT BETTER time, for instance, for a foreign government to begin playing with fire and to precipitate a crisis than today? Virtually all the administration's top policy makers and experienced officials must begin to pack their bags. Their interest now turns to their private affairs. The workload is going to be somebody else's responsibility in a few weeks anyway.

As for the knowledge and experience accumulated in nearly eight years of service, these are to be tossed away as a new personnel takes over and starts to learn what it is all about.

SENATOR KENNEDY is a conscientious individual, who will try to make a good president. But he must learn first the intimate background of public affairs. This takes not a few weeks but many months and perhaps years. It's a high price for the nation to pay.

Is there some other way? The British and many other English-speaking countries have a better system. It is called the "parliamentary" system. It requires the electorate to pick in an election their representatives in the national legislature, and these representatives select the leader who becomes responsible for the executive as well as the legislative branches of the government.

IF THE PARTY in power makes mistakes and loses the confidence of the people, it can be ousted at any time, or a new legislature can be elected. A permanent personnel, known as the "career service," functions continuously in high posts irrespective of the party in power. Thus is continuity assured and transition made smooth and effective in the shortest possible time.

It isn't a perfect system, and the American people could doubtless improve upon it with certain safeguards. But it is a democratic system and one that is immediately responsive to the will of the people.

THUS, WHEN an American president is elected, he can make serious blunders but he cannot be ousted for four years except by the impeachment process. This is a long time in modern government. Back in 1913, just before his inauguration, President-Elect Woodrow Wilson was asked his views on the then proposed constitutional amendment limiting a president to a single term of six years as recommended in the 1912 Democratic national platform. Mr. Wilson wrote a letter to Congress in which he said rightly that four years is often too long a time before the nation can get a new president and sometimes too short a time to give a man who has initiated a reform program that the people might desire. He hinted then that the United States might someday come to some form of responsible government by cabinet, which, of course, describes the parliamentary system.

THIS WRITER HAS always opposed the two-term limitation for presidental tenure and has contended that no limit should be placed on the terms that a chief executive could serve but that he should be held accountable after two years to a two-thirds vote of both houses of Congress.

Certainly there is need to study thoroughly the present system. Thus, out of the nearly 67,000,000 votes cast last week, the narrowest of margins—less than a half of one per cent—separates the victor from the loser. A few states are given large electoral votes because of their large population, but within those states the big cities have a power superior to those of the smaller communities. The system is obviously inequitable. It has been suggested that the electoral vote be apportioned on the basis of congressional districts and that a majority within a state shall not be given the right to cast the entire electoral vote of a state, as happens today.

REFORMS ARE plainly needed, and it is interesting to note that Senator Mike Mansfield, assistant Democratic leader in the Senate—who is slated to succeed Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas in the leadership post—is in the forefront of those advocating a reform in the national election process.

Senator Kennedy is an attractive personality and shows much promise, but the fact is he has never been selected as leader of his own party in either house of Congress. Under a parliamentary system, Senator Lyndon Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn would have been in line for the presidency. These men have been elected repeatedly to leadership.

The current period of transition should open the eyes of the country to the risks of our present system.

Double Talk From The Kremlin

If the Soviet man-in-the-street tries, on the basis of what he has been told officially, to figure out what happened in the U. S. election, he is going to be a mighty bewildered citizen.

Throughout the campaign Ivan's newspapers told him Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon were Tweedledee and Tweedledum. The American voter, he read, had no choice at all. Both candidates, said the Communist press, served exactly the same interests and had the same predatory imperialist aims.

Even when it was over, a typical official press comment was that "it is impossible to see without a magnifying glass any marked difference between the Republican leader, Nixon and the Democrat leader, Kennedy."

BUT THEN Ivan also was told that the election was a repudiation of the Republican party. For Ivan, there was no explanation of how the American voters could repudiate a policy if there was no difference in policies.

Nor did his press attempt to explain to him why an American electorate could repudiate a political party while a Soviet electorate could never hope to do so.

"Millions of Americans," Moscow radio told its home audiences, "have given their reply to the arms race, to military provocation and to the aggravation of the cold war which was the foundation of the Eisenhower administration policy."

Puzzled Ivan may have wondered:

HOW COME Americans get to express profound disapproval of their government? Could Ivan do likewise? And if both Democrats and Republicans represent "big monopoly capital," how can the American people repudiate an arms race by electing one or the other?

If both parties are, as the press has told Ivan, incurably imperialist, how can Comrade Khrushchev expect President Kennedy will represent "the people" any more than President Eisenhower did?

Wasn't President Eisenhower once described by Comrade Khrushchev as a man of peace? And when President Eisenhower succeeded President Truman, who until then had been the main devil in the Soviet press, didn't Ivan read that the Americans elected a Republican as a repudiation of the Democrats and of warmongering and arms-racing?

Ivan tends to shrug his shoulders, defeated by his puzzlement. Those Russians who do otherwise just get more bewildered, like a fellow I met in a Moscow department store seven years ago.

Sizing me up as an American, he sidled up and demanded: "Is it true all Americans have automobiles?"

I nodded and he squinted suspiciously. "Then tell me this," he pursued. "Why does Truman have aggressive designs on the Soviet Union?"

"Just a minute," I said. "Truman's not president now. Eisenhower is."

He gave me a grin and a knowing wink and said: "Yes but you know, and I know—Truman's still the boss."

Stand Still And Look Stupid

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

American teen-agers have it pretty easy. Only one-third of them now earn their own spending money.

Does your husband snore? The U. S. Patent Office lists more than 300 snore-curtailing devices, but the one that still works best in most homes is a wife's elbow in a man's ribs.

Turkey and cranberries are traditional Thanksgiving Day fare now, but they weren't on the menu when the Pilgrims and Indians held their first famous feast. They dined on duck, venison, shellfish, pudding and wine.

Ever wonder why Roman Catholic cardinals always wear red hats? Red is the color of martyrs and symbolizes the prelate's willingness to shed his blood, if necessary, for his religion.

The good old days: Yale was the first football team to charge admission — in a game with Columbia in 1872. Cost of a ticket: 25 cents.

Our quotable notables: "Any girl can be glamorous," said Hedy Lamarr. "All you have to do is stand still and look stupid."

The right word: You speak of a herd of buffaloes, but it's a colony of ants, a gang of elks, a watch of nightingales, a pack of wolves, a siege of herons, a stand of salmon, a shulk of foxes, a shoal of porpoises, a sounder of hogs, a nide of pheasants, a pride of lions, a gaggle of geese, a murmuration of starlings, and an exaltation of larks.

Footnote of the business boom: There are now 150 manufacturers of artificial eyes in the United States.

Executive sins: This one is on the desk of Irwin H. Kramer, Hotel Edison executive: "There's no smaller package than a man wholly wrapped up in himself."

It pays to keep your mind healthy. It is estimated mental illness costs the nation $6 billion a year, plus the heartache that can't be measured in money.

If your child is learning a musical instrument but dislikes to practice, you might tell him this: Ignace Paderewski, the great Polish pianist, earned $10 million during his career. But even at the height of his fame he still spent up to 17 hours a day at the keyboard polishing his skill.

Can you explain it? Men drivers outnumber women drivers 2½ to 1, but they are involved in eight times as many fatal traffic accidents.

Wisecrack of the week: Comics Phil Ford and Mimi Hines say they have a friend with a radioactive head. Every time he combs his hair there's a fallout.

It was D. H. Lawrence who observed, "A woman unsatisfied must have luxuries. But a woman who loves a man would sleep on a board."

Many Causes For Inflammation Of Mouth

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: What is stomatitis? Is it sometimes caused by gold salts given for arthritis? —Mrs. S.H.L."

Stomatitis is an inflammation of the membrane of the mouth.

It includes a multitude of varieties and causes. Trench mouth, by definition, is a form of stomatitis, but there are many others. Sores in the mouth can occur along with acute infections, such as scarlet fever or measles, or others which are associated with fever. Cold sores, caused by a virus, are another form. Canker sores, which result from a variety of causes, are still another form.

Still another type, fungus infections, can cause an inflammation that is particularly distressing in infants.

Today's inquiry asks whether gold salts, sometimes given for arthritis, can cause stomatitis. Yes, they can. So can some other medications containing heavy metals. Mercury is one of these, although it is now used in medicines far less than in the past.

In recent years a newer culprit has appeared on the stomatitis scene—the very valuable antibiotics. While ordinary brief use of these drugs isn't likely to cause stomatitis, large doses over a protracted time may inflame the membranes of the mouth or other areas. This is an example of what we mean by "side effects" of powerful drugs.

There can be all degrees of stomatitis, ranging from a mild irritation to the appearance of ulcers and swelling of the mouth and gums, sometimes with bleeding.

Eating solid food, in a severe case, may be difficult until the acute stage of the affliction has susbided.

Obviously there isn't any single treatment: The antibiotics, if they caused the trouble, aren't the answer. They aren't going to have much effect as a rule against virus or fungus cases. They may, however, help in some other instances.

And antibiotics aren't going to help in one other large category of stomatitis causes which I am mentioning for the sake of emphasis: Allergy — sensitivity to certain foods, tooth powders or pastes, even mouth washes. In occasional cases there may even be sensitivity to dentures in spite of all the thought that goes into trying to avoid using materials which can cause allergies. Some people seem to be allergic, at times, to even the safest things.

* * *

"Dear Dr. Molner: The base of my spine has been painful since the birth of my third baby. My doctor said I had injured my—it sounded like 'cocksic'—bone, and if it didn't get better I may have to have it removed. Is surgery the only answer?—Mrs. P.D."

It's the coccyx, pronounced "cock-six," — which is also known as the "tailbone," or extension of the end of the spine.

It is sometimes bruised in childbirth. When this happens, it is often sensitive for quite some time. Give it a chance to mend naturally. It usually does. If not—well, it can then be treated by massaging muscles attached to it, but allow a number of months for nature to take care of matters.

* * *

"Dear Dr. Molner: What causes granulated eyelashes and what can be done for it?—Mrs. M. J."

Chronic infection is the usual cause. Allergy may be a factor. Your eye doctor is the one to determine which—and specify the appropriate treatment.

* * *

"Vitamin starvation" is possible even if you eat a lot. In order to check your diet to make sure you are getting necessary nourishment, write to Dr. Molner in care of the Herald for a copy of my pamphlet, "Vitamins—The Alphabet of Health." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner is always glad to hear from his readers, and whenever possible he uses their questions in his column; but because of the tremendous volume of mail received daily, he cannot answer individual letters.

Around The Rim

When War Was A Colorful Game

A long, long time before baseball became recognized as the 'national pastime' and football grew so universally popular, war and soldiering were regarded by virile young men as the greatest, most thrilling sport of them all.

The feats and exploits of such renowned soldiers as Alexander the Great, Frederick Barbarossa, Vircengetorix and Napoleon were memorized and their expressions quoted by the proud young males, much as the batting averages and the touchdown runs of our sports heroes are in this day and time.

WAR WAS A GAME which lured the flower of manhood to far-off places and he fought it in the most resplendent costumes available, which often he paid for out of his own pocket.

If he grew impatient with his side for its inactivity and indecisiveness, he quite often set about to organize his own troops and supervise their training in his own way.

It didn't matter, at the moment, that war could be a very dirty, dreary thing. Weapons were not too dreadful in those times and it wasn't unusual for a soldier to pick the time and the place he wanted to fight.

IF HE DID ENGAGE the enemy and lost, chances were good he could disengage himself from battle and retire to fight another day.

Nowadays, the strategy in war is to apply constant pressure to the enemy, sever his supply lines, if possible, beat him through a war of attrition.

When war was regarded as a noble thing and all the young boys cut out pictures and paintings of the soldier heroes and pasted them on their walls, it rarely occurred to many of the men in combat that their brilliant plumage was actually a handicap.

It was not only difficult to keep neat but the dress often was extremely conspicuous and, for that reason, hazardous to wear.

THE BRITISH WHO wore bright red uniforms into action against the American Revolutionists suffered extremely heavy casualties because (1) their gear didn't blend with the background and (2) their fighting methods were outmoded. They were ordered to group when attacking, rather than deploy.

The brutality of war, and the need for more modest and less conspicuous dress, came into sharp focus during the War Between the States—especially toward the end, when the death toll on both sides became staggering.

BY WORLD WAR II, the men who plot the strategy were dressing their troops as inconspicuously as possible, for the best possible effect in fox-hole and jungle fighting, for nocturnal raids and surprise attacks by land, sea and air.

The GI's who wore camouflaged clothing and often went for weeks at a time without shaving perhaps would have mustered up a laugh at the bright-eyed, gaily decorated soldiers of 100 to 200 years ago, if the seriousness of the entire spectacle hadn't been too much for them.

What The Lady Tourist Needs

MILAN, Italy—If you are of my sex and you are thinking of running away from home for a brief spell — and what sensible woman doesn't?—my best advice is to (1) run away with your own husband and (2) take a small sewing kit.

Let me explain the sewing kit. Other travelers who regard themselves as experts may admonish the female traveler never to venture abroad without aspirin, sufficient nylons, a small pearl-handled pistol, instant coffee (UGH!), sensible shoes (again, UGH!) or, better still, an extra pair of feet.

BUT EVER SINCE World War II, a sewing kit has been the No. 1 necessity. That stems from the fact that no matter how we American women splice it, our skirt length never quite jibes with that of our European sisters. It is always too long or too short, and never mind how it fits around the beam.

It didn't take a trice for me to discover after landing here that my wretched skirts, which come about two to three inches below my knees, are hopelessly dowdy. The chic Italian skirt is a flounce that has plenty of bounce at the bend in the knee and ends right there.

NOW IT HAS always seemed to me that the knee, even when dimpled, is just another hinge more distinguished for its utility than its aesthetics. But utilitarian or aesthetic, the freedom of the joint is the essence of Italian fashion. So I have been sitting in our hotel room, like a patient Griselda, taking up hems.

At last I can go out on the town without having the local belles nudge each other, or, alas, the local beaux nudge each other, either. I'm not bitter about this latter fact: just convinced that at this moment in Italian history legs, even those underpinning M. Dietrich, constitute no novelty.

THE COIFFURE is also a telltale stigmata as far as the American woman in Europe is concerned. If our skirts are usually four to six months in arrears of Europe's, our heads are generally a year in the lurch. American women may be radicals in many fields, but in the coiffure department we tend to be fairly conservative.

There are still a few beehives to be seen in Italy and some bouffants, actually modelled on the European haystack but not quite so tidy. But far from having to fight yesterday with the Italian hairdresser to avoid a beehive or a bouffant, I had to row with him to sidestep a shingle reminiscent of Rudolph Valentino. The new trend here is to the flat, rather than the fat, head.

BETWEEN HEMS and hair, I have not neglected my cathedral-watching. Milan's is a fabulous, airy confection of white marble lace. But if I am bowled over by its Gothic grandeur I am likewise stunned to discover that it is wired for tourist sound.

In the rear of this vast pile, begun in the 14th Century, there have just been automatic squawk boxes or record players with earphones. For 100 lire (about 16 cents) dropped in a slot, a tourist gets a 10-minute lecture on the history of the cathedral and its treasures in either Italian, English, French, Spanish or German.

THE TOURIST deposits his coin, adjusts the headphones and pushes the button for the language of his preference, and he no longer needs either guide or guidebook.

The squawk boxes are modern, all right, and informative. But are they art?

As for running away with your own husband: What a joy! He's the greatest thing ever invented for keeping track or passports, money, baggage and even you.

Military Thinking Commended

WASHINGTON — Statues of Franklin Roosevelt in London and of Robert Taft in Washington are both in standing positions. No likenesses of recent heroes, I think, have been equestrian. In statuary and in ideology we are getting away from the Man on Horseback—and maybe it's a big mistake.

THIS IS AN idea which has been impounded in your reporter's head pending the end of the presidential campaign. Neither major candidate could be called militaristic, and one of the complaints you heard against Gen. Eisenhower's regime was that we needed "a military man" in the White House. Well, at least we have come to a time when it's sensible to revise our thinking about the so-called "military mind." The military, abetted by the scientific community, has done by far the best thinking of late on big national matters.

Let me specify. In October in Dresden, Illinois, Chairman John McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission made a little-noticed speech. The anti-military mentality which has caused a two-year standdown of our nuclear testing has allowed Khrushchev, according to McCone, to do a lot of catching up with the USA on nuclear weapons. On the other hand, the development of American nuclear weapons for the armed services has not, as the anti-militarists feared, caused A-bombs and H-bombs to be built bigger and bigger.

QUITE THE CONTRARY. Chairman McCone noted that the significant trend in nuclear weaponry has been to make the bangs smaller and smaller. The two A-bombs of World War II had to be carried in Super Fortresses. Today A-weapons are carried by individual soldiers and are usable on limited, tactical targets.

This is modern military thinking—and the best thinking of our age. There are other impressive examples—Rickover and the Nautilus, Rayburn and Polaris, Medaris and the Redstone, Schriever and the Atlas. But the hardware and the weapons concepts, while tremendously important, may not be as long-lasting in significance as the military-scientific thinking in regard to atomic weapons.

WHILE THE NATIONAL candidates have been preaching "America can't stand pat," and "America must go forward," and while social reformers and internationalists have been making the case for elephantiasis - in - everything, only the military mind has seen the virtue of halting the stampede to bigness, of reduction in size, of refinement of effort.

THIS SINGLE POINT — a cessation of growth, a cultivation of the status quo—is more important than the politicos will ever allow. Nobody would dare run for office by praising the military mind, and calling for a reappraisal of the symbol of the Man on Horseback, but maybe somebody should. Most of our troubles today spring from overabundance. We used our too-much industrial potential to save Russia in the 1940's; we used our extra wealth in the 1950's to set up industrial and commercial competitors in Europe and Asia. Today we make more goods and raise more food than we can consume. The sentimental, socialistic mind says: "More and more." It is the realistic military mind which invented the expression "over-kill." It is the realistic military mind which preferred to develop missiles that would hit Moscow rather than the moon.

THESE THOUGHTS are a long way from being exclusively mine. In his clear-minded book, "It's Your Business," the Financial Columnist John Harriman, proposes an economic reduction in giganticism that is very close to what Chairman McCone has said about the refinement of the atomic weapons. Harriman writes:

"The danger (of elephantiasis) is very real, for economic growth has become almost a fetish to politicians. . . man's needs and wants are not indefinitely expandable. . . income is not a tree that can be forcefed to reach the sky."

This is the mentality of limitation, and we need it.

Most Texans In Same Place On Seniority

WASHINGTON (AP)—The turnover of congressmen last Tuesday will elevate a few Texans in their committee rankings, but leaves most in the same position on the seniority ladder.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough will become the fourth ranking Democrat on the Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

He goes up two rungs, due to the retirement of Montana's Sen. James Murray and the resignation of Sen. John Kennedy. Yarborough's seventh place position on the Commerce Committee and third place on Post Office and Civil Service remains unchanged.

In the House, Rep. Frank Ikard of Wichita Falls goes up one place to ninth among Democrats on the powerful Ways and Means Committee. Dallas' Republican Rep. Bruce Alger remains eighth among GOP members.

Rep. Wright Patman of Texarkana goes from third to second position among Democrats on the House Banking Committee with the retirement of Rep. Paul Brown of Georgia.

Rep. Omar Burleson of Anson goes to third place among Democrats on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, up one position because of the defeat of Rep. A. S. Carnahan of Missouri. Burleson continues as chairman of the House Administration Committee.

If Rep. Morgan M. Moulder, D-Mo., is defeated by his Republican opponent in a race still undecided, Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa will go up from seventh to sixth place on the House Commerce Committee. Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen would go up from 16th to 15th position on the same committee.

Rep. Bob Casey of Houston goes up two notches to 17th position on the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee.

Big Hunt

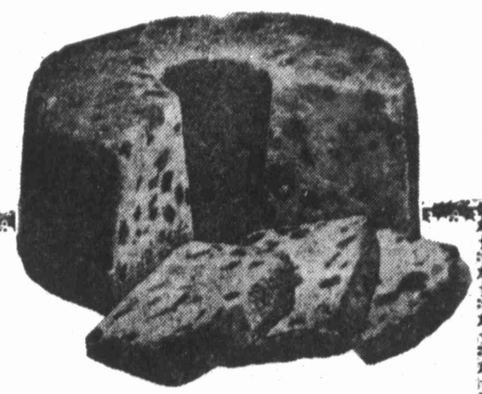

Gov. Jimmie Davis of Louisiana leaves the governor's mansion to go dove hunting. Earlier, deputy U.S. marshals were asking the whereabouts of the governor so they might serve papers restraining the chief executive from any interference with school integration. When asked by a reporter for a statement as to what was going on, the governor replied, "I wish someone would tell me what's going on."

DEAR ABBY

THERE'S A LIMIT

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Should brothers and sisters tell their parents when one or the other does something wrong? Is this being a "tattle-tale" or is it the duty of a child to report wrong-doing to his parents? Should parents ask or expect their children to police one another's conduct? I have asked this question of many people and no one has come up with an answer that satisfies me. I'd like to see this in print. Perhaps others have pondered the same question.

PUZZLED GRANDMA

DEAR PUZZLED: Parents should neither expect nor encourage their children to "inform" on one another, but it depends entirely on the nature of the "crime." Is Junior swiping cookies? Or is he smoking opium?

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a perfect gentleman. When he takes me to our club dance, he always asks me for the first dance. Then he disappears and I don't see him all evening. Once I went looking for him and I found him outside playing hopscotch with a young woman. (She was a school teacher and had chalk in her purse.) Another time he put on the waitress' cap and apron and helped serve drinks. He loves to be the life of the party, but he will be the death of me! Now how do you handle a man like that?

UP A TREE

DEAR UP: With kid gloves. He's priceless!

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Our 19-year-old son gave his girl (18) an engagement ring before he went to Korea four months ago. His father and I let them talk us into it, although we thought they were both too young.

We heard that this girl was running around on our boy, but we didn't write to him about it. Yesterday she brought his ring over and asked me to send it back to him as she didn't want to be "tied down."

Should I send him the ring? His father says we should keep it quiet until he comes home. What would you do?

HURT MOM

DEAR MOM: Don't send the ring. In my book there is no one lower than a girl who would break an engagement this way. the very least a serviceman's "sweetheart" can do is to wait until Johnny comes marching home again. But if she's running around, your son might learn it in a letter from someone else, so insist that the girl herself write him and set the record straight.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from "LIAR'S WIFE," who for years was unknowingly "the other woman," I would like to offer what I hope will be some consolation. Cheer up, Honey, you can't be married to the world's biggest liar—because I am!

Oilmen Advised To Hold Back On New Regime

CHICAGO (AP)—American oil operators were advised today not to rush to Washington and press the new administration and Congress for quick solutions to problems.

Frank Porter, president of the American Petroleum Institute (API), suggested oilmen first permit President-Elect John Kennedy and the new Congress to get their feet on the ground.

"This, in short, is a call for fair play," Porter told the annual meeting of API, unofficial spokesman for the domestic oil operator.

Politics and general election results dominated informal discussions as over 7,000 oil and gas operators began the three-day meeting.

Porter, an Oklahoma City oilman, said the industry has its share of problems but has no reason for feeling depressed. Current operations, he said, are on a high plateau.

"But even a plateau can be a discouraging place when you're used to soaring," he said.

Porter acknowledged that high gasoline taxes and renewed attacks on the industry's 27½ per cent depletion tax allowance are major problems that must be faced in Washington.

Porter suggested API, through its 150 committees and subcommittees, develop a grassroots program for the coming year and approach its problems calmly and with objectivity.

He said the United States no longer is the center of gravity of the oil industry and that API may need to broaden its objectives. He said it may be time for API to give a world approach instead of a domestic approach to many current problems.

The United States' share of world crude oil reserves has dropped from 32 to 11 per cent since 1945. Its share of world crude production has dropped from 66 to 40 per cent.

Porter attributed much of the boom in foreign oil operations to the success of American oil companies in locating foreign supplies.

Cotton Bowl Pick Clouded

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS (AP)—More than the usual uncertainty cloaks the Cotton Bowl this week but one thing likely to be definitely established is that the game will not be an Arkansas-Mississippi rematch.

If Arkansas beats Texas Tech Saturday, and it is an easy favorite to do it, Arkansas will be host team in the Cotton Bowl. It would get the spot whether it won the Southwest Conference championship or was tied for it by Rice since Arkansas beat Rice during the regular season.

But if Arkansas is in the Cotton Bowl Mississippi undoubtedly would be removed as a prospect for visiting team since the two already have played this year, with Mississippi winning 10-7. Coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas disputed that a last play field goal had actually been scored.

Orville Henry, sports editor of the Arkansas Gazette at Little Rock, had still another version—he said Arkansas wouldn't agree to a rematch mainly because the teams are meeting in the first game next fall.

Cotton Bowl officials are not saying that Mississippi would be dropped as a prospect but it has been indicated in several important places that such would be the case.

That would leave six teams still in the running for the Jan. 2 bowl game — Navy, Duke, Alabama, Florida, Tennessee and Pittsburgh. Navy and Duke are considered the leaders although the Cotton Bowl has been wondering if it should wait for those teams to finish the schedule or take somebody else right now. Navy (8-1) can't give a decision until it plays Army Nov. 26 Duke (7-1) still has North Carolina and UCLA to play, running until Dec. 3.

Florida, with a 7-2 record, has only Miami left; Alabama, 6-1-1, has Tampa and Auburn; Pitt, 4-2-3, has Penn State next Saturday, and Tennessee, 5-2-1, winds up with Kentucky and Vanderbilt in two weeks.

The Cotton Bowl selection committee will meet some time this week for a new look at the situation and decide whether to take immediate action or wait until all the prospects have finished their season. Chairman Jack Lowe says he thinks the chances are overwhelming that they will wait.

After Saturday there might be a different situation anyway. Should Arkansas falter and Rice rush in to win the conference championship, Mississippi would again be in the picture since the Owls haven't met the Rebels. But that might eliminate Florida as a prospect since Rice already has played that team and beaten it 10-0.

Caught For A Loss

Texas Christian University back Harry Moreland (22) is caught behind the line of scrimmage in action of the game with University of Texas at Fort Worth. Coming in to make the tackle is Texas guard David Kristynik. Also in on the play is back David Russell (40) of Texas.

Unitas Clutch Pass Propels Baltimore To Crucial Win

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The amazing saga being indelibly etched into National Football League annals by Baltimore quarterback Johnny Unitas today had another stirring chapter.

Blood streaming down his face from gouges on the nose, lips and eyebrows, jaunty Johnny whipped a 39-yard touchdown strike to Lenny Moore with 42 seconds left Sunday as the Colts edged the Chicago Bears 24-20 and retained their hold on first place in the Western Division.

Unitas, a poised 27-year-old veteran of five pro campaigns, had one of his finest moments in the key clash that kept the two-time NFL champions a half-game in front of Green Bay.

Constantly hounded by a rough and rugged Chicago defense, Unitas marched the Colts goalward with the Bears leading 20-17 and time running out. With 1:29 remaining, the drive had reached the 35, but Unitas was smashed to the ground while attempting to pass.

He rose with blood dripping from multiple cuts. After he was again spilled, Unitas went to the sidelines on a time out to have the crimson smears wiped from his face. Back he came with the clock showing 42 seconds to go and Baltimore faced with a fourth and 14 situation.

IT CONNECTED

Unitas took the snap, faded, pumped twice and then threw an aerial that Moore caught in the far corner of the end zone after eluding defender J. C. Caroline.

While the Colts had to battle for a last-minute triumph, the Packers kept pace with an easy 41-7 pasting of winless Dallas. Philadelphia kept its edge over New York in the Eastern Division race by beating Washington 19-13 while the Giants nipped Pittsburgh 27-24.

Cleveland stayed close in the East with a 28-27 victory over St. Louis and Detroit defeated Los Angeles 12-10. San Francisco had a bye.

Unitas, who previously had tossed a 36-yard scoring pass to Moore in the see-saw struggle with the Bears (3-3-1), said he was hit cleanly by Bear end Doug Atkins on the play that bloodied his face. "He got me with his shoulder and forearm," said Unitas. "It was a clean hit."

Two one-yard TD smashes by Rick Casares kept the Bears in front until Unitas unleashed his first scoring pitch to Moore for a 17-14 halftime edge. Field goals of 46 and 37 yards in each of the final periods gave Chicago the lead before Unitas won it for the Colts (6-2).

GREEN BAY WINS

Jim Taylor ran 28, 4 and 23 yards for touchdowns and Paul Hornung scored 17 points on a 41-yard scoring plunge, a pair of 21-yard field goals and five conversions in the Green Bay (5-2) rout of the Cowboys (0-8). Hornung, who won the scoring title last year with 95 points, had 100 so far this season and is within reach of the record 138 points tallied by Packers' end Don Huston in 1942.

Green Bay plays Los Angeles this Sunday and has a chance to tie the Colts, who draw a bye, for the Western lead.

The Eagles, who tackle the Giants the next two weeks in showdown clashes that may decide the Eastern champion, came from behind to beat the Redskins (1-4-2) in the final quarter on a 28-yard pass from Norm Van Brocklin to Bobby Walston. Walston also kicked two field goals for Philadelphia (6-1), which probably lost fullback Clarence Peaks for the season with a broken bone in his right ankle.

DRAMATIC BOOT

Pat Summerall booted a 37-yard field goal with 30 seconds left for the Giants (5-1-1) uphill triumph over the Steelers (2-5-1) after his 42-yard three-pointer and a 27-yard Charley Conerly to Frank Gifford touchdown pass had brought New York within range. Bobby Layne triggered the Pittsburgh offensive with a 17-yard scoring flip to Buddy Dial, a one-yard TD plunge and a field goal.

Jimmy Brown bucked short yardage for two touchdowns and picked up 173 yards in 28 carries while Milt Plum passed for two scored in the Browns (5-2) win against the Cards (4-4).

Jim Martin's 13-yard field goal proved the winning margin for the Lions (3-4), who broke a 3-3 tie with the Rams (2-5-1) in the third period on a 98-yard drive engineered by quarterback Jim Ninowski.

Only Raiders Block Hogs

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Southwest Conference football race winds up this week for Arkansas and Texas Tech and their game is one of the most important of the year.

It means a possible championship and a certain Cotton Bowl bid for Arkansas, which has reached the final lap with a 5-1 record. If Arkansas wins it, which it is favored to do, it will gain at least a tie for the championship. And the only team that could tie Arkansas is Rice, which has a 4-1 record and games with Texas Christian and Baylor left.

But should Arkansas and Rice tie, Arkansas would get the Cotton Bowl host spot because it beat Rice in regular season play.

However, defeat for Arkansas could give Rice the other two teams. Only that could give Baylor the Cotton Bowl spot because it would get it by having never been in the Dallas football classic.

Arkansas clung to its lead in the conference race by whipping Southern Methodist 26-3 last week. It kept SMU winless and on its way to its worst season since 1916.

Rice held the pace with a 21-14 victory over Texas A&M and Texas knocked Texas Christian out of the running by edging the Horned Frogs 3-2.

Arkansas, Rice, Texas (4-2) and Baylor (3-2) still are in the race but all others have been eliminated.

The conference wound up its intersectional schedule by splitting even in two games, Baylor trouncing Southern California 35-14 but Texas Tech taking a 10-7 trimming from Wyoming. It gave the league a record of 10-8-1 for the season.

Rice and Texas Christian battle at Houston Saturday while Baylor and Southern Methodist tangle at Dallas. Texas and Texas A&M rest preparing for their Thanksgiving Day struggle at Austin next week. That will wind up the season for the two, barring a bowl bid for Texas, which will finish with a 7-3 record if it licks the Aggies.

Dies In Mishap

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — The traffic death Sunday of Bill Bolick, a University of Wyoming guard, cast a shadow over Wyoming's 10-7 football victory over Texas Tech Saturday.

Chargers Solidify Lead, Dallas Wins

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Chargers, leading the Western Division in the American Football League, solidified their hold on the top spot by beating Houston's Eastern pacesetters in a game that may be replayed for the circuit's championship later in the season.

The Chargers boosted their record to 6-3—the same as the Oilers—by edging Houston 24-21 Sunday for a one-game edge over the runner-up Dallas Texans.

The Texans hopped over Denver into second place by whipping the Broncos 34-7 while Oakland upended the Buffalo Bills 20-7 in the other games on the AFL program.

Charger quarterback Jack Kemp hit end Ralph Anderson with two scoring passes in the first quarter to send the Chargers into a 14-0 lead, and they never relinquished it despite some passing heroics by George Blanda. Blanda, former Chicago Bear star, threw three touchdown passes. Four of his tosses were intercepted.

It was sweet revenge for the Oakland Raiders, who had lost to Buffalo Oct. 23 by a 38-9 score.

Halfback Tony Teresa raced 83 yards for a touchdown on the last play of the third quarter to give Oakland a 20-0 lead. Buffalo's lone touchdown came with only 13 seconds left to play.

Favorable breaks, the legerdemain of Abner Haynes and the passing and running of Cotton Davidson, Curley Johnson, Bo Dickson and Johnny Robinson were too much for Denver as Dallas won a wacky game from the Broncos.

It was a costly game for the losers. Al Carmichael, their right halfback, suffered a broken left leg and will be lost for the season.

Haynes was in the middle of everything, putting on key blocks, catching long passes and fumbling. David Webster intercepted a pass and ran 39 yards for a touchdown, Haynes raced seven for another, Johnson scored on a 36-yard pass and Robinson ran four yards for another touchdown. Jack Spikes kicked two field goals and four extra points as his contribution.

Wichita Within Game Of Crown

By The Associated Press

North Texas State fullback Arthur Perkins poses as a threat to the Wichita Shockers' hopes of winning the Missouri Valley Conference football championship.

Wichita can win the title outright by beating North Texas State at Wichita Saturday. With their 2-0 Valley record and 6-2 mark overall, the Shockers are favored to beat North Texas, (0-2 and 2-5-1) but they'll have to deal with Perkins.

A 210-pound junior from Fort Worth, Perkins took over the conference rushing lead with a 4.7 yard average although his team was beaten 12-8 by Tulsa Saturday. Perkins has 405 yards on 87 carries.

Tulsa is idle Saturday, but will be pulling for North Texas to beat Wichita. In that case the Hurricane would share the title with the Shockers.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Good reports are coming in on two former Howard County Junior College basketball players from Baylor.

Bill Menafee, assistant cage mentor at the Waco school, wrote Buddy Travis, the Jayhawk coach, recently to the effect that Harold Henson, the one-time HC Junior College All-American, is running on the varsity first string and Tom Garrison, the 6 feet-9 ex-Jayhawk from Tulia, is currently playing second string and is very much in contention for a job as a regular.

Burt McClain, the fine little player from Amarillo College, is another who is showing to advantage with the Bears.

• • •

HCJC, by the way, scrimmaged Wayland College the other night and ran into a buzz-saw by the name of Dalton Morrison.

The Hawks threw away the ball on 14 occasions and Morrison, a New Mexico product, was responsible for 10 of the misplays. Coach Travis said the 5-feet-11 senior has the quickest pair of hands he's ever seen on a basketball player.

Wayland, however, had a couple of 6-feet-7 players who were consistently out-rebounded by the Hawks.

Ron Weaks and Ken Clearman, both of whom are sophomores, have perhaps come along faster than any player on the local team. Phil George, the San Angelo mentor, remarked recently that Weaks "has turned into one fine player."

Weaks is playing outside, along with Clearman and Larry McElyea, while Charles Knotts and Red Edwards are at the post positions.

Preston Hollis, a Big Spring boy who is in his sophomore year at HCJC, is threatening to break into the starting lineup, however, and no doubt, will play a lot of ball the coming season.

• • •

Harold Davis, the former HCJC mentor who is now the basketball coach at Texas Western College in El Paso, wrote this window recently and stated he expected to have a much better club than that he fielded a year ago.

Among the junior college transfers Davis is counting on are Larry Smith, 6-feet 9, an all-regional player from Brewton-Parker, Ga.; Jerry Ray, 6-2, former San Angelo College boy who beat HCJC out of a trip to the National Juco meet two years ago with a dramatic last-second shot; Gordon Taylor, 6-1 all-regional performer from Bethel, Ky.; Paul Hines, 6-4, all-regional from Moberly, Mo.; Nolan Richardson, 6-2 all-regional from Eastern Arizona JC; and Fred Smith, 6-3 all-regional from Scottsbluff, Nebraska; along with three boys he had last season—Don Burgess 6-4; Al Tolen 6-1 (both all conference); and Joe Esquival, 6-0.

A 6-feet-8 boy from Indiana, Ted Sterrett, up from the freshman team, should also play a lot for Davis.

Harold lost four boys on which he was counting. They were Curtis Jimerson, 6-3 juco All-American from Pueblo JC, Colo.; whom local fans probably remember as a standout on the El Paso Austin team that met and lost to Big Spring in the bi-district round several years ago; Mel Gilbert, 6-5, from Jackson, Mich.; Tommy McMorris, 6-4, from Odessa; and John Gilbert, 6-7, a starter that became eligible at mid-term last year but who had to quit and go home because of difficulties there. McMorris left after re-injuring his back.

TWC doesn't have quite as tough a schedule as it had a year ago, Davis says, but it's rugged enough. Included are home-and-home games with Oklahoma University, Oklahoma State, New Mexico University, New Mexico State, Arizona University and Arizona State.

All the aforementioned schools are rated first or second in their own states.

GOT A SPARE DEER? A&M CLUB CAN MAKE USE OF IT

Mister Hunter, do you have a spare deer?

The Texas A&M Club would like to make use of it for a mightly good cause. Aggies are planning a venison barbecue for all patients at the Big Spring State Hospital on Dec. 15. However, it is likely that not enough Aggies will be hunting to supply all the needs.

James Tidwell, Aggie club president, estimated that about 30 bucks would be needed to serve all the patients all they would like to eat. Any hunters who would like to give deer to this cause may leave them at the Big Spring Locker vault with instructions to turn over to the A&M deer supply. The Aggies will furnish all the other trimmings including salads, beans, etc.

Stay Captures Second Running Of The Enchantment Stakes

EL PASO—Carrying topweight of 122 pounds like a feather, Gayle Whittenbaugh's brilliant Stay circled his field rounding the turn and wore down the game filly Road To Reno to capture the second running on the Enchantment Stakes and the two-year-old championship of the meeting.

It was an outstanding performance by a superior juvenile who left no doubt in the minds of 3,806 fans that he was the king.

Firm Depth set the pace with blazing fractions of 21 4-5 44 3-5 1:09 2-5 but stopped badly from the dizzy pace and finished last in the 12 horse field. Time for the six and one half furlongs was 1:15 4-5.

Jockey Gale Mower took no chances of encountering trouble and took the strapping bay around four horses turning into the stretch.

The winner ran like a fine tuned piece of machinery as he moved from 8th position in one sweeping movement to collar the leaders by midstretch. Road To Reno, a supplemental nominee, was always in the fight and briefly went to the front but was unable to withstand the winner. Son Duke closed well for the show while the 8-5 favorite Penrock finished fourth.

Ken Coppernoll aboard Penrock said the horse refused to run down the backstretch against the dirt being thrown in his face and that this cost him the victory.

In the first race New World Jr and loneajax scored the second dead heat of the season as they battled head to head for a quarter of a mile and came down to the wire together.

Five Teams Remain Unbeaten, Untied

By The Associated Press

Five teams remain undefeated and untied, and eight playoff berths have been filled as the Class AAA division of Texas schoolboy football moves into its final week.

Monahans, Jacksonville, Bay City, Seguin and Pharr-San Juan-Alamo reign as the elite quintet with unmarred records. Of the five, only Seguin has not clinched a playoff berth. McKinney and Carrollton have not as yet met defeat, but both have been tied.

Other teams with playoff berths assured are Brownwood, Huntsville, LaMarque and Port Lavaca.

Several teams meet this week in showdown battles for their respective championships. Carrollton encounters Fort Worth Castleberry for the Dist. 4 title, Corsicana engages Mesquite for the Dist. 8 crown, Cleburne clashes with Lavega for the Dist. 9 pennant, and Seguin tackles New Braunfels to decide the representative of Dist. 13.

Dist. 1 is in a three-way deadlock with Dumas, Levelland and Littlefield sharing first place. Levelland, however, plays Littlefield this week. Colorado City, Snyder and Sweetwater are in a similar position in Dist. 3. McKinney and Greenville are tied in Dist. 6 with McKinney still facing Mt. Pleasant.

Uvalde can nail the Dist. 14 trophy by turning back Del Rio.

This week's schedule by districts (all Friday games and district games):

1. Littlefield at Levelland, Phillips at Dumas.
2. Kermit at Monahans, Andrews at Pecos, Brownfield at Odessa Ector.
3. Sweetwater at Lamesa, San Angelo Lake View at Snyder.
4. Graham at Vernon, Brownwood at Weatherford, Mineral Wells at Breckenridge.
5. Carrollton at Fort Worth Castleberry, Bowie at Hurst-Euless, Fort Worth Brewer vs. Fort Worth Diamond Hill.
6. Gainesville at Bonham, Mt. Pleasant at McKinney, Sulphur Springs at Paris.
7. Kilgore at Nacogdoches, Palestine at Carthage, Henderson at Center.
8. Mesquite at Corsicana, Ennis at Waxahachie.
9. Cleburne vs. Lavega at Waco, Belton at Waco University, Killeen at Stephenville.
10. Conroe at Huntsville, Silsbee at Nederland, Vidor at Jasper.
11. El Campo at Lamar Consolidated, Bay City at Brenham, Cypress-Fairbanks at Wharton.
12. Angleton at LaPorte, LaMarque at Deer Park, Channelview at Clear Creek.
13. New Braunfels at Seguin, San Marcos at Kerrville, Austin Johnston at San Antonio Marshall.
14. Del Rio at Uvalde, San Antonio Sam Houston at Eagle Pass.
15. Kingsville at Robstown, Beeville at Port Lavaca.
16. Falfurrias at Mission, Weslaco at Pharr-San Juan-Alamo, Mercedes at San Benito.

Playoff For Lower Bracket Playoffs Start This Week

By The Associated Press

They start playing for the championships this week in the lower classes of Texas schoolboy football with Olney and Stinnett still favored to win the titles but facing some serious contenders down the line.

Olney, the top favorite in Class AA, tackles Azle at Weatherford Saturday night. Olney is unbeaten and untied but Azle has dropped one game.

Stamford beat Brady in last year's finals but got its title taken away and became ineligible to compete for it this time because of a recruiting violation. Brady thus won the title by default.

Three games in the two classes match unbeaten teams. In AA, Hooks meets Daingerfield and Bellville takes on Crockett, while in Class A Alto faces Shelbyville.

Season records and pairings in the state playoffs:

Disaster Or Glory? Tigers Will Know This Weekend

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

What's ahead for those surprising Missouri Tigers?

Maybe top national ranking, the Big Eight championship, the Orange Bowl, a perfect season—or disaster this week at the hands of the Kansas Jayhawks.

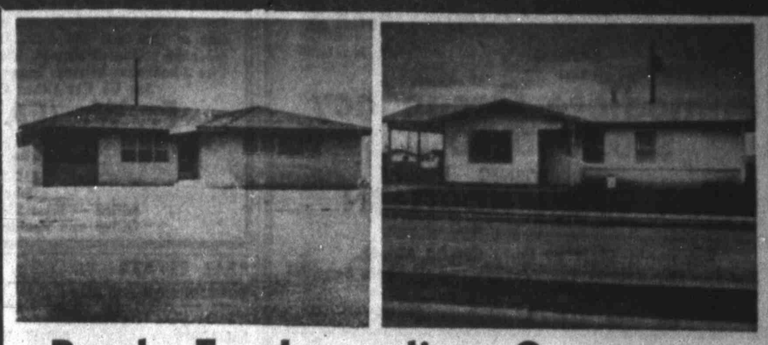

Each is a possibility and the way heads are rolling among the top teams lately, the latter could almost be labeled a probability. Latest case in point: Minnesota, a 23-14 loser to Purdue Saturday after its amazing football resurgence earned it the top spot a week ago in The Associated Press poll, and had everyone talking Big Ten title, Rose Bowl, undefeated season and national championship.

Now Missouri, which soundly laced Oklahoma 41-19 over the weekend, faces a similar situation. With the Tigers it is all-or-nothing proposition. Currently ranked second with an 8-0 record, they seem almost certain to be the No. 1 team in this week's poll.

Kansas, which ironically has lost its only games to teams ranked No. 1 at the time (Syracuse and Iowa), is banned from post-season play by the NCAA. But the Jayhawks, which walloped Colorado 34-6 Saturday, have a 5-0-1 Big Eight record compared to Missouri's 6-0. To the winner go the conference spoils, and Mizzou also get a choice bowl spot, probably the Orange Bowl.

Minnesota, while wounded, is not yet dead. The Gophers can still get a piece of the Big Ten title—and perhaps the nod to go to the Rose Bowl — by beating Wisconsin this week. Iowa ranked fifth, is assured of part of the conference crown after it demolished Ohio State (No. 3) 35-12.

Iowa winds up its 1960 campaign this week against outsider Notre Dame (1-7). A Minnesota victory would match Iowa's 5-1 conference mark. But the Gophers 27-10 win a week ago over Iowa puts them in the fore if any bowl possibilities raise.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

Every great man must have his hegira before he can begin his climb to glory.

With Mahomet, from whom the word "hegira" comes, it was a flight into the mountains and a long exile. Genghis Khan's hegira was a 15-year period of being hunted through the Gobi Desert; with Alexander an inner battle to conquer hatred for his father.

For Jesus, it was 40 days on the mountain resisting Satan's blandishments; with Washington, Valley Forge.

The hegira may be most any type of difficulty, but always the kind that breaks the ordinary man. It is like the tempering of steel—a process that cracks brittle materials, but makes the steel even stronger than it was before.

"Sunrise at Campobello" is the story of an hegira—the battle which Franklin Delano Roosevelt had, not only with the polio that left him crippled and in a wheel chair, but also with his own inner self and with those around him who meant well.

• • •

FDR has not been dead long enough for his story to escape the political axe—yet, this film does not dwell on politics, except when necessary to help portray the late president. If all names and identities could be removed, this story still would be a heartening drama that again proves what a man can accomplish if he has the courage of his convictions.

"Sunrise at Campobello" is the portrait of a man with several battles to win—his own crippled condition, his inner spiritual battle, the necessity for cutting the umbilical cord with which his mother seeks to keep him closely bound.

These points provide many dramatic scenes, but there are others—the faith of his wife, Eleanor, her momentary breakdown and recovery, FDR's lesson in humility when he learns the truth of the old adage that one must learn to crawl before one can learn to walk, his handling of the religious issue in Al Smith's campaign, his fondness for the poem, "Invictus."

The movie was adapted by Dore Schary from his successful Broadway play. The story is well put together, and it is evident that there was thorough research and reverent handling of the material.

• • •

Many of the Broadway cast are included in the film version, and in all cases, cast members were happy choices. They include Ralph Bellamy as FDR, Greer Garson as Eleanor, Hume Cronyn as Mr. Howe, and Jean Hagen as "Missy."

Also notable were the expert makeup and the spoken inflections of the two principle characters, both of which factors gave amazingly accurate pictures of the actual persons portrayed.

Anti-FDR sentiment was not too much in evidence at the Ritz Theatre Sunday, where the film will play through Tuesday. Probably, most people who still shiver at those famous three initials would stay away. But there were FDR admirers in evidence, such as the man who, at the end of the picture, stayed in his seat long enough to dry his eyes with a handkerchief.

It is too bad that partisan feelings still remain, for "Sunrise at Campobello" is a deeply moving drama that could be enjoyed by many.

Art Smuggling Ring Is Smashed

NEW YORK (AP) — Treasury agents have smashed a nationwide art smuggling ring and seized more than $400,000 worth of Chinese art objects brought illegally into this country from Communist China.

The investigation took agents half way around the world and to at least six cities in this country.

The most valuable item recovered was an 800-year-old scroll painting of magpies and butterflies attributed to the artist, Emperor Hui Tsung of the Sung dynasty. It was valued at $65,000.

Another smuggled scroll, the Treasury Department said Sunday was a 12th century painting, "Birds and Flowers," sold to the Boston Museum and valued at $25,000.

Agents said other smuggled objects were found in the Cleveland Museum and the Freer Gallery, Washington, D. C.

Dealings with Red China are forbidden under the Trading with the Enemy Act.

The biggest haul was at the Ch. Loo Galleries, in midtown Manhattan, where paintings, screens and other objects, including the $65,000 Hui Tsung scroll, were recovered. The objects were valued at $282,000. The gallery is owned by Frank Caro, 56, a native of France but now a naturalized American.

He was described as one of two major dealers who had cooperated in the investigation.

Agents said the government got onto the smuggling operation some time ago when a Treasury agent learned that a millionaire Hong Kong dealer and collector, J. D. Chen, was involved in transactions that brought ancient art objects from Red China to this country.

Tourists or immigrants from Hong Kong brought in the objects as personal effects. Sometimes the items were concealed in luggage.

Chen began selling the objects to American dealers, particularly the Loo Galleries and Charles L. Doue, a Berkeley, Calif., dealer.

The search led agents to the Boston Museum, where an examination of records indicated that the "Birds and Flowers" painting came from a Los Angeles dealer identified only as Yang.

In a Los Angeles bank vault the investigators found a $50,000 bronze turtle dating to the 6th century B. C. and two screen paintings worth $8,000 each.

Yang was arrested on charges of smuggling and violating the Trading With the Enemy Act.

Agents then were led to Duoe, who allegedly had $70,000 worth of smuggled goods, and to the Loo Galleries in New York.

E. E. Minskoff, chief of enforcement for the Treasury Department's foreign assets control division, said the seized contraband will be sold at auction.

No charges have been filed against Caro or Doue.

'Omnibus' Is Good History

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP-TV Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television has learned a lot in the past season about making history—past and current—exciting and stimulating viewing.

Nothing has highlighted its progress in this field so much as the return to the screens Sunday night of "Omnibus." The premiere program, after its year-long absence, was an hour's study of the power of the president of the United States. The show was dull, pedantic and—well, old-fashioned.

The idea was to show us, through dramatic scenes involving Washington, Jackson, Lincoln, Wilson, Theodore and Franklin Roosevelt, how presidents have elected to use the authority of their office.

It was the sort of thing we've been getting fairly regularly on television recently. Unfortunately, it was not done in the tight, incisive fashion we have come to expect.

May Britt, Sammy Davis Wed As Celebrities Watch

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Negro performer Sammy Davis Jr. wed blonde Swedish actress May Britt Sunday—with the help of friends and celebrities ranging from the sister of President-elect Kennedy to the Duke of Bedford.

Miss Britt, a statuesque blonde from Stockholm, almost missed her wedding when a severe attack of intestinal flu with a 103-degree fever bedded her hours before the ceremony.

But she made it to the Jewish rites held under a bower of white chrysanthemums in the living room of Davis' home high above Hollywood's Sunset Strip.

"I felt a little woozy," the bride confessed, "but I was able to get through with it because of the excitement of marrying the man I love."

Later Davis said it was his 26-year-old bride who first mentioned marriage.

"She was the one who popped the question," he said.

Miss Britt, wearing a sheath champagne dress with short veil, was given away by her father, Hugo Wilkens of Stockholm. He and the bride's mother flew in specially for the ceremony.

"Sammy is a wonderful personality," said the bride's father in halting English. "I'm happy that my daughter has married him."

The Jewish rites—both bride and groom are converts to Judaism—were performed by Rabbi William M. Kramer of Hollywood's Temple Israel.

Frank Sinatra was best man and Mrs. George Rhodes, wife of Davis' musical arranger, was matron of honor.

As the groom crushed the wine glass under his heel in the traditional Jewish rites, the solemnity of the service was broken by a loudly played record at a party in a neighbor's house. The recording: Sinatra's "Making Whoopee."

After the rites, the bride went to bed. Davis went solo to a reception at the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

There he greeted such famous guests as Janet Leigh, Barbara Rush, Milton Berle, Mrs. Dean Martin, Diana Dors, Jack (Maverick) Kelly, Peter (Lawman) Brown and Louis (77 Sunset Strip) Quinn.

Then he was spotted by Pat Kennedy Lawford, sister of President-elect John F. Kennedy.

"How do you feel, chicky baby?" asked Mrs. Lawford as Davis bussed her on the cheek.

Said Davis: "Man, I feel electric."

THE CLEAN LOOK of action

If he doesn't offer you a ride take drastic measures!

You've got to feel this sizzler going to know all the car you're getting! No, you don't have to trot your dog down to the showroom to wangle a Special ride. All we ask is that you do something drastic like—ask. Your Buick Dealer will be only too happy to oblige. You'll be astounded!

Astounded at the way this beauty moves. Sure, it saves and handles like the compacts. But, thanks to its exclusive new aluminum Fireball V-8, this Buick has twice the pow per pound of most compacts—more even than many full-size V-8 cars. And, its new aluminum Dual-Path Turbine Drive* is the liveliest automatic on any car!

You'll be astounded, too, at the Special's room and ride—for, let's face it, it's a Buick! You get more total head, hip and leg room than the compacts . . . Buick's flatter floors . . . Buick's smooth-riding new Control Arm suspension . . . Buick's Clean Look of action.

But, the happiest surprise of all is the price! This proud Buick sports the lowest price you can pay for a high performance V-8 car—a price just a whisper above the compacts. Guest-test it today, see how Buick's brought a new kind of fun to driving! *Optional at extra cost.
