Mussolini Halts Demonstration by Students in Rome

APPEARS BEFORE GREAT CROWD QUIETING PROTEST WITH PLEDGE OF ALERTNESS AGAINST ENEMIES

ROME, April 25. (AP)—Premier Mussolini, appearing personally before a great crowd of students demonstrating at the Venezia palace this noon, quieted their protests against anti-Fascist demonstrations in Brussels with a pledge of Fascist alertness against its enemies.

Il Duce, holding his hand aloft for silence, shouted to the crowd, which had moved en masse from the university to the palace, intending later to go to the Belgian embassy.

"The Italy of the students is always on its toes to defend the revolutionary regime and Facism against the stupid calumnies of anti-Fascists," he said.

When Premier Mussolini had concluded his brief appearance before the mass of shouting humanity most of them dispersed but a number of groups with flags marched toward the Belgian embassy.

They were stopped by large squads of soldiers and police who were stationed at every corner within a quarter mile radius of the embassy.

SECOND MAN IS ATTACKED HERE AT FOOD DEPOT

Suspect in Assault Case Released on $10 Cash Bond

O. B. KELLY STRUCK DOWN IN SIGHT OF OFFICERS

No Charges to Be Filed in Marlow Attack Friday

The second affray in two days occurred Saturday afternoon at the free food depot on Fourth street when O. B. Kelly, candidate for mayor at the last election for that office, was attacked and severely bruised by two men. Mr. Kelly is a cripple.

A riot squad of five men was sent from the sheriff's department but city officers already had the situation well in hand when the deputies reached the depot, which is located in a warehouse fronting on Fourth street between Indiana and Ohio avenues.

One man was charged with affray in the corporation court and released on a $10 cash bond. The second man believed to have participated in the assault was not captured.

Officers who were standing near Kelly were lured away on some pretext in order to allow one man to kick Kelly out of the warehouse, the county attorney was informed. When Kelly landed face down in the mud outside the building he was beaten by a second individual. He was not seriously injured.

A charge of disturbing the peace was also placed against another man near the food depot by city officers during the day. He was

NEGRO BELIEVED SHOT IN HOLDUP SATURDAY NIGHT

Officers were searching early Sunday morning for a negro believed to have been critically wounded in a gun battle with G. H. Elliott of Wilbarger county, whom he tried to hijack on a road near Staley field leading from the Henrietta highway to the Charlie road.

Elliott, who served six years as a deputy under Sheriff Edmonson of Wilbarger county, said that he had stopped to fix a flat tire when the negro stepped up on his running board with a gun in one hand.

Elliott fired five times and said he believed the negro fired once. The former deputy's first shot went through the glass window in the door and the negro screamed as if mortally hit and started in a stumbling run down the road. Elliott fired four more times through the back window and the negro fell in the road as the last two bullets apparently took effect.

The Wilbarger man then came to Wichita Falls to get officers to return with him but no sign of the negro could be found. Shattered glass in the road showed where the hijacking occurred.

Mr. Elliott is a farmer and lives eight miles northeast of Vernon.

VERDICT OF SUICIDE IN CASE MRS. MARION BUCK COMPANION EXONERATED

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 25. (AP)—The fatal shooting early today of 28-year-old Marion Buck, divorcee, was called suicide in a verdict returned by Joseph E. Deupree, acting coroner.

Her companion, Adrian Mason, who was questioned following the shooting in Mrs. Buck's apartment, was exonerated.

Mason told officers that Mrs. Buck, in the presence of her 10-year-old son, Billy, threatened to kill Mason.

"All right, go ahead, but don't be foolish," Mason said he told her, and after a few words, he related, the woman turned the gun on herself. The boy corroborated the account, officers said.

Anglers On Edge for Season Opening Friday

Valuable Prizes Posted for Largest Catches

Wichita Falls' knights of the rod and reel and elastic rule were stirring from a three month hibernation Saturday in anticipation of that day of days, May 1, when the state of Texas lifts its bar against fishing and The Daily Times and Record News join with sporting goods dealers in the annual renewal of the opening day fishing contest.

Officially the season opens at 12:01 a. m. Friday, May 1, and at that instant, if past history repeats itself, hundreds of anglers from all over Northwest Texas, Southern Oklahoma and from far points in both states will drop their lines in the waters of the three lakes here to usher in the 1931 season. Most of the midnight anglers will be fishing for crappie, with hopes of an occasional bass. The advance guard of this army of fishermen will move on Lake Wichita, Diversion lake and Lake Kemp before midnight. The still-fisherman will put in most of the time between midnight and dawn; and with the first streaks of light in the east, the trollers and casters will be abroad for bass, the champion game fish of this section.

DALLAS, April 26. (UP)—Despondent because he was unable to affect a reconciliation with his estranged wife, Thomas J. Cook, 25, of Marshall, poisoned his 18-months-old baby son, and then killed himself with the same liquid late today.

The baby, Thomas Lee, died at Dallas Methodist hospital a few minutes after the father forced the poison down its throat.

Cook staggered from the home of his wife, where the tragedy occurred, and was found dying, eight blocks away.

Mrs. Cook returned to her home from business college late today and found her husband sitting on the front porch.

"I'm going to kill myself," he told her. Mrs. Cook said he did not mention that he would molest the baby.

The woman ran screaming to the home of a neighbor, to telephone police. She returned home to find the baby dying and her husband staggering from the house. The husband had forced his way into the house through a screen door, she said.

Mrs. Cook told police they had been married three years and separated last November. She said she had not seen Cook since April 4, until she found him on the porch of her house this afternoon. She met him on April 4 for a hearing which was scheduled on her divorce petition, she said.

Cook was formerly a railroad brakeman. His body was held in a funeral home tonight, pending word fro ma brother and a sister, at Marshall.

King Plays Golf Part of Program For Rest Period

NEW YORK, April 25, (AP)—King Prajadhipok of Siam has been ordered to rest by his physicians, but the restriction on his activities apparently doesn't mean that he can't play golf.

On the private nine-hole course at Ophir hall at Purchase, N. Y., where the king is making his residence in the United States, he yesterday played the first round since he left Bangkok more than a month ago. Accompanying him were members of his party.

Queen Rambai Barni also plays the game but she was unable to take part in the first round because she uses special clubs which have not yet arrived.

The rest for the king was prescribed by his physicians so he might gain strength for an operation to remove cataracts from his eyes early next month. He has an advanced cataract on one eye and an incipient one on the other.

PANAMA CITY, April 25. (US) — Nicaraguan bandit rebels under Gen. Augustino Sandino were today reported engaging a punitive expedition of native national guardsmen in a sharp conflict near Cabo Gracias a Dios.

Advices from Bluefields, Nicaragua, stated that American residents in the northern border port had taken refuge on the beach under the guns of the U. S. cruiser Rochester.

The Rochester, flagship of the special service squadron, is reported standing off the coast. There have been no landing parties from the cruiser, the advices said. Marine planes are reported to have flown over the field of battle, but are said to be taking no part in the fighting.

Cabo Gracias a Dios was one of the coastal towns attacked by the Sandinistas in the first rising 10 days ago. The brigands looted the town and were put to flight by the bombs of two U. S. marine planes.

The national guard detachment was rushed to the town upon word that the bandit detachment, invading along the Wadas river, were pillaging and burning plantations and houses in the neighborhood.

Warning Given in Confidence After Plans Discovered

GUARDS ARE INCREASED TO PROTECT PROPERTIES

Ranger Captain Considers Information Received Reliable

AUSTIN, April 25. (AP)—Frank Hamer, redoubtable Texas ranger of many sorts of campaigns, tonight was content to bite his lipe and refuse to divulge the nature of information that prompted him to send letters to Texas oil companies and to warn interests in other states of an alleged Communistic plot to destroy oil properties.

He expressed regret that the public generally had been taken into his secret. He said that the warnings were given in the strictest confidence when news first came from Seminole, Okla., that Captain Hamer had placed the oil interests on notice of impending danger, the Texan denied that he was the author.

E. E. Plumley, superintendent of refineries for the Magnolia Petroleum company, and head of the Beaumont refinery, said he had increased guards since receiving the Hamer warning.

Two Girl Reporters Crash Bread Line to Get Real Life Story

By ELEANOR FLEMING

Once you're dressed properly for a breadline, it's no worse than a receiving line.

That was the opinion expressed Saturday by two girl reporters on The Times and Record News, who shed their everyday garments for clothes slightly less respectable, stood in line at Fourth and Indiana with the rest of the population, and came out a few minutes later with one loaf of bread—the last loaf given out.

Not only did the fictitious names and addresses given by the two reporters succeed in convincing the food dispensers of their sincere need, but Homer S. Bentley, motorcycle squad captain, who happened to be standing nearby, helped to secure the loaf of bread for them. Neither of them was recognized by Bentley as the two reporters he had known for some time.

Women are asked to send the "men folks" to get the food, but there were as many women and children in the line Saturday as there were men. There were, of course, questions to be asked about

PLATINUM INCREASED IN VALUE

THE rarest useful metal known today is platinum. It is four to five times more costly than gold. Found in very scarce quantities, the decrease in production recently in Russia has added to its expensiveness. Platinum ore was discovered in Peru, South America, in the middle of the eighteenth century. It is usually found in beds of gold-bearing sand. Miners call it white gold. In 1843 a lump weighing more than 11 pounds was found in Russia. This precious ore contains from 66 to 80 per cent of pure platinum. WOMAN DRY CAMPAIGNER HELD INSANE BY TEXAS COURT PLANS FARCE ON PROHIBITION LAWS

By VERNON A. McGEE
United Press Staff Correspondent

GREENVILLE, Texas, April 25. (UP)—Miss Beulah Allred, 42-year-old stenographer who poses as a martyr to prohibition, sat in her cell here tonight and planned a vaudeville burlesque on United States liquor laws.

"Beulie, the Escaped Lunie" was the title the gray-haired woman, adjudged insane by Rains county court, gave her act.

"Nowadays the temperance worker is a modern Don Quixote, fighting windmills of corrupt officialdom," she avowed.

"I'm for-ever fight-ing windmills," sang the anti-liquor fighter to the lilting tune of an old song about blowing bubbles.

"But how I always land in jail!"

"Give me a battle-axe like Carrie Nation," she pleaded, "and I will stage a vaudeville act in American showhouses that will set the populace to thinking."

Blue-gray eyes peeped through the narrow slit in the door of her Hunt county jail cell, and with a toss of bobbed hair combed in pompadour style, she explained how she came there.

Texas Police Balked in Efforts to Obtain Custody of Mexican Accused Of Killing Girl Near San Antonio

LAREDO, Texas, April 25. (AP)—Texas officers tonight were balked by international complications in their efforts to obtain custody of Alberto Sanchez, 18, San Antonio wood chopper, accused in the knife slaying Wednesday of Edna Merle Springer, 11, as she trudged homeward from school in the Leming community near San Antonio.

Mexican officials refused to surrender Sanchez, who was located last night in Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, across the Rio Grande from Laredo, by San Antonio detectives who trailed him after the slaying. Sanchez claimed he was a Mexican citizen despite the fact that he was born and reared in Texas. Mexican officials upheld him in that respect, claiming the fact that his father was a native of Mexico automatically gave him citizenship.

Ask Extradition

Reports from Austin said Governor Sterling had received a telegram from Governor Castellanos of Tamaulipas, Mexico, advising him Sanchez would be detained by Mexican authorities until extradition papers arrived.

Governor Sterling immediately telegraphed to Secretary of State Stimson at Washington requesting the state department intervene to assist Texas officers.

A relative of Sanchez led officers to his hiding place near Nuevo Laredo last night and identified him. Mexican officials said the youth confessed to the slaying and expressed willingness to be returned to the United States.

The school girl's body was found in a ravine near her home Wednesday night when her step father, J. Elmo Dickey, and relatives became alarmed because she had not returned from school. Search for the young wood chopper, who had been working in a field nearby, extended over South Texas as bloodhounds, officers and armed citizens took up the chase.

Secretary Commerce Convinced That Industry United States Will Maintain Present Scale of Wages

WASHINGTON, April 25. (INS)—Secretary of Commerce Lamont said today he is convinced American industry will maintain the present scale of wages.

He has just completed a survey of the principal industries, and said he found no movement on foot to reduce wages, but on the contrary a desire to support the present situation.

The survey was undertaken as a result of recent reports that industry would embark on a general wage slashing campaign.

President Hoover recently took occasion to express gratification that there had been no wage cuts in the major industries, after reports had reached the labor department that 39,000 men had been affected during February. The department found, it was said, that these represented only "isolated cases."

Labor department officials said that during March the aggregate weekly pay roll of 13,000 manufacturing plants increased $13,500,000 over January and 152,000, more persons were employed.

LONDON, April 25. (AP)—Ambassador Dawes will sail early in May for Chicago in connection with business incident to the 1933 Chicago world's fair, but will return to London to take up his duties again upon completion of his visit.

The embassy said today that date of his departure and length of his stay were indefinite.

DOCTOR'S FAMILY SEVERS RELATIONS WITH AUTHORITIES

ST. LOUIS, April 25. (UP)—The family of Dr. Isaac D. Kelley, missing wealthy physician, severed relations with police tonight, hoping to induce the supposed kidnapers to show their hand with a ransom demand.

This move was reportedly at the instigation of Mrs. Kelley, millionaire wife of the missing ear and nose specialist. It was understood she feared the activity of Carroll Harlan, a friend, had jeopardized efforts to negotiate with kidnapers. Harlan is police department judge advocate.

Harlan, who has stayed at the Kelleys' stone mansion since Tuesday, packed and left this afternoon, explaining "my dual position is apt to embarrass my friends."

Detective Chief James Kaiser said he expected "some cooperation" from the Kelley family. A picked squad of detectives—50 men—has been on the case, searching gang hideouts, questioning 20 suspects, and making a multitude of wild goose chases without result.

Decisive Battle Expected

(Copyright, 1931, by The Associated Press)

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, April 25.—A decisive battle, which the government hopes will break the back of the Honduran revolution, is expected soon, the war office announced tonight.

The revolution, the official announcement stated, cannot be considered ended as long as the main rebel army under General Ferrera remains unbeaten. It is with this army the government expects the loyalist troops soon to clash, and it is hoped a decisive defeat will bring the revolt to an end.

General Ferrara's army, believed to consist of 500 men, was reported earlier today to have reached Rodeo, a hill settlement not far from San Pedro.

The rebel army which fled into the mountains after having been repulsed at Chamelecon still was in retreat today with federal troops pressing it hard. It was reported the rebel general, Mariano Gonzales, covering the rebels' rear guard, had been killed.

Responsibility for the rebellion, it was charged today by Honduran Congressman Plutarco Lunos, should be placed upon the shoulders of "Communists moving in from Cuba." He charged these were in league with General Sandino (the Nicaraguan insurgent leader).

WACO TAXPAYERS WOULD FIX SALARY OF COUNTY OFFICIALS

WACO, Texas, April 25. (UP)—No elective officers in Texas counties of less than 150,000 population will receive more than $3,600 a year if a resolution adopted at a meeting of the taxpayers league of McLennan county is made a law.

Addressed to the governor, the resolution also requests that no appointive employe of the county receive in excess of the 3,600, except by unanimous vote of the county commissioners court.

State Senator W. R. Poage of Waco told the meeting that he favored the $3,600 salary, but believed that compensation of $5,000 would come nearer being adopted. He cited that $10,000 was the maximum for Dallas county officers.

An amendment to raise the proposed $3,600 to $5,000 was voted down by the league.

The taxpayers league, which was organized here today, follows a temporary organization formed March 16. John Strauss, chairman of the county board of education, was elected chairman, and T. C. Westerbrook was chosen secretary today.

TWO GIRL REPORTERS CRASH BREAD LINE

husbands and fathers, but deserting husbands and sick fathers are plentiful and plausible.

The two who "crashed the breadline" Saturday had their sad story and hungry looks all prepared, but they were warned as they approached the door that there wasn't much left. A little group of men smiled sympathetically and said, "There ain't no more milk, girls," and the soberer of the two turned and produced her best wistful expression and said, "Yes, we heard that, but we thought maybe we could get a little bread."

There was no jeering, no buffeting about, no quarreling. The only fighting came from those who stood by and watched the bread-liners. Except for the clothes they wore, all might have been mourners at a funeral. There were negroes, Mexicans and whites.

One robust negro woman looked warily about, carefully wrapped up her bucket of milk and stole away toward home, afraid that some of her neighbors would know where she had gotten the food.

By the time the two impostors reached the door, they didn't have to pretend hunger, but nothing was left but baking powder and soda. They stood around hopefully for a few minutes, but even then they got nothing but pitying glances from the men who stood nearby.

Finally Officer Bentley came, and with his assistance, one loaf of bread was found. Swinging their empty buckets and carrying the bread, they slouched back up the street, followed by a fairly well dressed young man for a block or two, and then made a final dash for civilization and clean clothes.

still in jail late Saturday, having failed to make bond.

No Charges Filed

L. V. Abernathy, county attorney, definitely announced Saturday afternoon that no charges would be filed in connection with an attack made on J. B. Marlow, former Wichita Falls mayor and pioneer citizen, at the food depot Friday afternoon.

He said that this decision had been made at the request of Mr. Marlow himself, who was suffering Saturday from severe bruises and lacerations.

County officials were divided Saturday in opinions on the question of how to answer the unemployment council's demand for permission to use the courthouse as a weekly meeting place.

The council had been using the courthouse regularly until Friday night when they were barred by orders of County Judge John Marrs. They met on the courthouse lawn and issued a demand for the courthouse for their meeting next Friday.

Dozens of automobiles were parked during the day Saturday near the food depot as citizens halted to watch the scores of people wait in two long queues to receive bread, milk and other food supplies.

Uniformed city officers strolled back and forth among the crowd while a city detective was stationed within the depot itself.

Fairbanks Offers $200,000 for Right To Munthe Story

ROME, April 25. (US)—Douglas Fairbanks, American screen star, has offered Dr. Axel Munthe $200,000 for the film rights to the Swedish physician's best-seller, "the story of San Michele," it became known today.

"The Story of San Michele," is a psychological autobiographical essay, and takes its title from the villa of San Michele in the mountains of the historical and picturesque Isle of Capri

Fairbanks and Dr. Munthe for the past several days have been discussing filming prospects for the book in secret at the villa Svezia, residence in Rome of the late Queen Victoria of Sweden, at which Dr. Munthe has been making his home.

When Dr. Munthe declared he did not see how the book could be made into a picture, Fairbanks is reported to have answered:

"Dr. Munthe, you're a famous physician and a marvelous psychologist, but you'll have to leave the picture business to me."

Fairbanks has already sent a crew of camera-grinders and technicians to Capri to "get" the atmosphere of the villa San Michele.

It is said Fairbanks, if Dr. Munthe accepts the offer, will play the part of Munthe in his youth.

GOVERNMENT WINS IN ARGUMENT WITH BOARD OF METHODIST CHURCH

WASHINGTON, April 25. (US)—The controversy between government officials and the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals over a plot of land near the capitol continued today with the government apparently having the last word.

The Methodist board recently announced plans to build a large apartment house near the capitol. Officials notified the board the site it had chosen for the building was part of the land the government is going to take over in its plan to enlarge the capitol grounds.

The Methodists went ahead with their plans, however, and yesterday announced the building would be erected because, they said, they had learned that the government did not intend to condemn and seize the plot later.

But this was denied today by David Lynn, architect of the capitol, who said the disputed land was included in the government's expansion plans and, moreover, the government also plans to condemn the present headquarters of the Methodist board and turn the site into a park.

PARIS.—A letter of Voltaire has come to light showing that he anticipated the war time tank which helped lick the Germans some 160 years later. A pacifist, in 1759 he suggested to Louis XV that a moving fortress of his design would wreck the enemy lines and be handy for use against Prussians some day. Military men rejected the idea.

MACDONALD FACES AN OLD FEUD WITH LORDS OF ENGLAND

LONDON, April 25. (AP)—The house of lords has thrown down the gauntlet in the latest, most bitter crisis of the age-old feud between the two houses of parliament and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald has accepted the challenge eagerly saying it will be a fight to the finish.

During the past week the lords have been working overtime blunting the sharp edge of the government land utilization bill, which many lords consider to be a Socialist measure designed to separate landowners from their vast estates.

The bill would 'authorize a $5,000,000 federal farm corporation and empower the minister of agriculture to acquire land without permission of the owners for allotment to the unemployed.

It slid easily through the house of commons, but when it came to the upper house the lords went to work on it. They labored for hours, and when they were through, the bill was only a ghost of its original form—a ghost unable to send the slightest tremor of fear down the spine of the landowners.

SUBMARINE OF WILKINS SUBMERGED AND REVEALS PERISCOPE TUBE LEAKS

NEW YORK, April 25. (US)—For the first time since it was remodeled for Sir Hubert Wilkins' transarctic voyage, the submarine Nautilus dove today in the Hudson river off the American Engineering company docks, Yonkers.

Capt. Sloan Danehower and the full crew were aboard when the craft, with the strange superstructure, was submerged for a series of tests.

After the submarine had reached a depth of 22 feet, a serious leak developed in a temporary patch of the periscope tube. Captain Danehower immediately brought the vessel to the surface, but not before the floor of the central operating compartment was awash.

Captain Danehower later said he was satisfied with the action of the submersible, but for the leak in the periscope tube, would have gone to the bottom of the river. He explained a prolonged dive would have been dangerous with the craft rapidly taking water.

WOMAN DRY PLANS BURLESQUE ON LAW

whisky evidence to the grand jury. For this act I spent 12 days behind the tiles, being released without trial.

The woman, who has studied in Northwestern university at Chicago and the University of Texas at Austin, told of then returning to her birthplace at Emory, Texas. She claimed the mail carrier who delivered her letters was habitually drunk. She ignored his intemperance until he sadly mixed up her W. C. T. U. mail.

Alleging the mail carrier had beaten a child while in a drunken stupor, Miss Allred demanded his dismissal of the postmaster general. This falling, she directed letters to Senator Morris Sheppard and the prohibition enforcement headquarters at New Orleans, she said.

On April 15 she was arrested. The Rains county jail had no quarters for women. She was interned in the hospital cell at the Hunt county jail. On April 21 the Rains county court returned a verdict of insanity and committed her to the state hospital for the insane at Terrell, Texas.

To Appeal Cast

Today her attorney, J. Benton Morgan, secured a habeas corpus hearing before Judge L. L. Bowman of the judicial district court here. Judge Bowman ruled that under Texas laws it was legal to convict a person of insanity without the presence of the defendant in court, thus upholding the Rains county court verdict. Attorney Morgan said he would appeal the case Monday at Texarkana.

Five minutes after the militant dry crusader was led from the courtroom there appeared on the windows of her cell these words: "Terrell goodbye. W. C. T. U. grab my torch."

The letters were fashioned of cotton from her bedding and were pasted on with molasses. Down below in the courtyard several hundred citizens cheered her message.

Miss Allred, legally insane, took the precaution to fashion her letters backward, making them readable to the crowd below.

Among Miss Allred's other "dry activities" is to be listed her "Women's Temperance home, W. C. T. U. park," converted out of her homestead near Emory. She said she deeded the place as "a home for women temporarily dependent because of liquor conditions in their homes, residence conditioned on their willingness to fight for the liquor traffic anywhere, any time."

Miss Allred's father, formerly county judge of Rains county, spent 16 years in the courthouse there as a public official, she said. She graduated from Childress High school with honor, and for a year studied in the University of Texas.

"But you can't check my sanity grades there," she laughed. "I could never see the sense in remembering all that stuff about the Greeks and Persians."

"Look for me in any jail cell," she said as she waved goodbye. "It's becoming a habit."

FEELING RUNS HIGH AS HUNT CONTINUES FOR SLAYER POLICE

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 25. (UP)—Feeling ran high here tonight as the greatest man hunt staged in Kansas since the days of Jake Fleagle and his gang continued for the slayer of Melvin Howe, Lawrence patrolman.

The slayer, who shot down Howe as the officer sought to question him, tonight had assumed the qualities of a will o' the wisp. He was reported seen in many different places near here, but all leads failed as squads of officers followed every meager clue.

Vanishing into the night after the slaying in his shirt-sleeves, the killer—or a man answering his description—bobbed up again yesterday at the home of Fred Reetz, farmer living near here, where he sought to steal an automobile. There he pointed a revolver at Reetz and asked him for the keys to the car, but was finally convinced that the farmer did not have them, and fled into the woods.

Since that time reports of his presence have been many.

Lawrence was stirred by the crime. Howe's death was the first of any policeman in the line of duty since 1909, and the officer was well liked here.

He was killed early yesterday morning as, with John Ingalls, another officer, he stopped an automobile which he suspected was driven by a liquor-runner. Ingalls fired at the fleeing killer, but his shots failed to take effect.

No liquor was found in the car, but it was proved to be a stolen vehicle.

HAMER SILENT ON PLOT TEXAS REDS

to destroy oil pipe lines, tank farms and refineries in Texas, including plants along the ship channel.

The public got its first news of Hamer's activities when Jake Sims, chief of police at Seminole, Okla., revealed he had sent copies of Hamer's letter to 40 oil companies in that state.

According to the letter sent out by Sims, Hamer had advised that "only recently a large amount of nitroglycerin has been stolen in certain sections of this state," apparently for the purpose of destroying oil property," or in other violations of the law.

Learns of Movement

Hamer's letter said that "for the past several weeks I have been receiving information that there is a movement on foot among Communists or Reds, to dynamite all tank farms and pipe lines throughout this state (Texas)."

He said he considered the information reliable and believed it of "such importance I deem it my duty to notify the different companies in Texas and instruct their special agents and all employes that can be trusted, to be very alert in watching all movements, as nearly as possible, as to activities of the Reds in all of the oil fields of Texas."

The Seminole chief said he had been provided with a copy of the letter by Bert M. Cormack Jr., in charge of the Maud office of the Stanclind Crude Oil Purchasing company.

Other than to admit he was the author of the warnings, express belief nitroglycerin for the "campaign" already was in possession of the would-be perpetrators of the plot, and emit indignation at the "leak" that caused the affair to become public property, Captain Hamer would not discuss the matter.

CHICAGO RACKETEER FREE FOR ABOUT FIVE MINUTES

CHICAGO, April 25. (AP)—George "Red" Barker, alleged labor racketeer and "public enemy," was free yesterday—for about five minutes.

Ordered released from the state prison at Joliet where he was serving a term for parole violation, Barker was arrested by state's attorney's police as he stepped out of the warden's office at Joliet on a charge of carrying concealed weapons which originated last fall.

Barker's release from state prison was ordered by the supreme court Thursday on the ground that Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of Cook county, had no jurisdiction in ordering him recommitted to serve out an unexpired term for larceny.

FRIENDS TO PAY ROBERT D. FORD FINAL TRIBUTE

Funeral to Be at Highland Heights Christian Sunday at 3 o'Clock

FOUR MINISTERS TO ASSIST IN SERVICES

Local Educator Well Known to Hundreds Victim Pneumonia

Pupils, fellow-teachers and other friends will gather at the Highland Heights Christian church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock to pay a last tribute to Robert D. Ford, 43, who died Friday night at a local hospital after a brief illness with pneumonia.

The Rev. Patrick Henry, pastor of the church, will be assisted by the Rev. J. E. Montgomery of Graham, pastor-elect, Dr. O. L. Powers of the First Baptist church and Dr. S. S. McKenney of the First Methodist church in the funeral services. Burial will be in Riverside under the direction of the Merkle Undertaking company.

J. N. Sherrill, H. A. Glass, S. H. Rider, Frank B. Creighton, Solon Featherston and Tom Noble have been named as pallbearers.

Mr. Ford, at the time of his death an English instructor in the local high school, was known throughout the city as a business man, a teacher and a musician. He had been connected with the Freear Furniture company prior to his joining the high school faculty and was at the time of his death the choir director of the Highland Heights Christian church.

He was born in Topeka, Kan., in 1888, and spent most of his life in Hillsdale, Mich. His father, Dr. Henry M. Ford, was for 20 years traveling secretary for the Northern Baptist association, retiring only recently from active church work.

Mr. Ford graduated from Hillsdale college in 1911, receiving his bachelor's degree. He later received his master's degree from the University of Michigan, and followed this with post-graduate work at the University of Colorado in 1928.

His teaching career began at Niles, Mich., from which post he went to serve as principal of a Baton Rouge, La., school. He was also in charge of the parish schools in Assumption parish in Louisiana, and then became principal of the high school at Alpena, Mich.

In Wichita Falls he temporarily deserted his chosen career for a few years of business life, but was drawn back to the work he preferred only last winter. Mrs. Ford is librarian at Zundelowitz Junior High school.

His rich, baritone voice and his unusual musical education kept him in constant demand for various programs here and he had been active in choir work ever since his college days. He married Miss Leithel Patton, a classmate in college, in 1913. Mrs. Ford survives him, as do his parents, one sister, one brother and four children, Robert D. Jr., Jack, Margaret and William Edward.

Bottles Fly in Faculty Raid of Quaker College

SWARTHMORE, Pa., April 25. Valentine.

Valentine led his "raiding party" into the first floor of the dormitory and the "raiders" set to work immediately. The news of the "raid" spread like fire throughout the building and the crash and jingle of breaking glass began to reverberate from the pavements in the quad outside the building. Student residents threw liquor bottles until there were none left, then started to throw ink bottles, hair tonic bottles, bottles of medicine, and all kinds of bottles, anything that would make a noise.

REAL BULLET IN GUN FORCES COMEDIANS IN ACT TO CHANGE PLACES

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25. (AP)—For weeks Bernard F. Smith and his fellow comedian made patrons of a theater howl with glee at their slapstick trick.

Smith would stoop over and his partner would smack him with the sticks. To make it better, a blank cartridge would be inserted and this would explode when the blow was struck.

Last night the act was funnier than ever. Smith howled loudly and fell to the stage and the audience roared its applause.

Out at the emergency hospital where Smith was taken doctors said a real bullet had been left in the cartridge. His wound was not serious.

Tonight the act goes on as usual except that Smith will wield the slapsticks and his partner will do the stooping over.

The regents listed the buildings in the order of their importance as follows:

Library buildings, boys' dormitory unit, union group, (including cafeteria and student headquarters), physics building, home economics building, geology building, (including bureau of economic geology), architecture building, remodeling of present library to accommodate literary and museum collections, engineering building and others not yet definitely decided.

It was considered likely the buildings would be erected in that order.

Architects were ordered to begin work immediately on plans and to present them at the next meeting. Immediate construction was authorized in a recent act of the legislature.

Action on Fred Walker, whose dismissal as head basket ball coach had been recommended by the athletic council, was postponed until the next meeting.

Comedian Wants Damages for Use Likeness of Face

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25. (AP)—Joe E. Brown, film comedian, has filed a $100,000 damage suit here against the Al G. Barnes Wild Animal show and the Al G. Barnes Amusement company, alleging the circus used a likeness of his face in its advertising matter.

Brown was granted a temporary injunction yesterday.

The suit states Brown was featured in a film made by Warner Brothers at winter quarters of the Barnes circus and that afterwards the circus used copies of Brown's picture for publicity.

Brown contended his livelihood was derived from his facial contortions and the circus damaged his income to the extent of $100,000.

Income from forest products in Louisiana last year was $154,766,819.

LOUISIANA TO TRY ESCAPED PRISONER IN ASSAULT CASE

SHREVEPORT, La., April 25. (AP)—Stephen Fedor, 19-year-old escaped prisoner from the Tyler, Texas, jail who with Leroy Howard, also 19, not yet apprehended, early Friday morning assaulted Patrolman Marvin Ezell, after the latter had arrested and handcuffed the pair, will not be turned over to Illinois authorities to finish serving his prison term in that state, but will be tried in district court here on charges of assault to murder and burglary and larceny, Chief of Police D. D. Bazer said today.

The pair, according to Chief Bazer, just before being arrested by Patrolman Ezell, burglarized a filling station near the state fair grounds and stole 18 gallons of gasoline, several cartons of cigarettes, and candy and cakes. The loot was found in their deserted car, after the men had run into a ditch.

Chief Bazer said Fedor still had 19 of a 20-year sentence to serve on charges of larceny in Illinois, but he did not know on how many counts he was convicted.

The police are still without clue as to the whereabouts of Howard, who was last seen with Fedor by policemen who yesterday morning fired several shots at the fleeing men. Fedor told the police that he believed Howard wounded, but the police doubted the theory.

Fedor later surrendered to officers here and said he and Howard were being held in Tyler in connection with an auto theft.

Yarrell was arrested in Beaumont, Texas, early this week. He is also under indictment at Alexandria for robbery of the Bank of Lecompte.

Guarded by Sheriff Pat Murphy and four deputies, Yarrell was taken from the parish jail here to the penitentiary at Baton Rouge today. The prisoner was shackled with irons on both arms and legs and every precaution was taken to prevent him from escaping. The trip was made by automobile.

THREE BOYS ARE PRIZE KANSAS COURT BATTLE

WICHITA, Kan., April 25. (UP)—Three boys, grandchildren of their own mother, were the prize in a court battle here today between their father and their "mother-grandmother."

Mrs. Agnes Athens, the mother, sought custody of the children. The mix up in relationship occurred when Mrs. Athens divorced their father, Joseph Athens, and married his father, becoming grandmother of her own children.

Judge Grover Pierpont ruled the husband must pay $20 a month for support of the children until Aug. 31, when the custody plea will be given final hearing.

Mrs. Athens lives in Ellis county, Oklahoma.

ACTION ON MONEY BILLS TO EMPLOY SOLONS NEXT WEEK

Both Houses to Be Busy With Appropriation Measures

HOUSE WILL TAKE UP HIGHWAY BOND ISSUE

Session Expected to Continue Until May 20 Instead 120 Days

AUSTIN, Texas, April 25. (UP)—Work scheduled for the Texas legislature in the week beginning Monday includes:

Action by both senate and house on appropriation bills.

Action by the house on the proposed $212,000,000 state road bond issue and upon a bill proposing to subject all corporations to an intangible assets tax.

Action by the senate on motor transportation bills and on the Weinert bill permitting suspended sentences for first offenders under state liquor laws which now make a penitentiary sentence mondatory.

Action by a conference committee of house and senate members on congressional redistricting.

The house occupation tax bill to which Representative S. E. Farmer attached a wholesalers occupation tax of two cents a thousand cubic feet on natural gas will not get senate action until next week. A senate committee meeting on it has been called for May 5. Farmer attached this tax to the general occupation tax in the same way the senate a week before attached a cigaret tax to a severance tax on natural gas.

A senate committee hearing on the constitutional amendment allowing home rule for counties with possible merging of city-county governments and a managerial system, has been set for Monday night.

Calendar Suspended

Monday will offer an opportunity for members to rush up legislation which is becoming endangered by the approach of the session's end. It is a day when the regular calendar is suspended in both branches. Members may call up bills regardless of their regular order on that day.

Among the pending bills that have yet to secure action are:

Public utility regulation; making possession of any quantity of illegal liquor a misdemeanor; creation of an appointive oil and gas commission to take over work now handled by the elected railroad commission; making the state highway commission elective; prohibiting routing of highways around cities and towns and a radio libel bill.

It is now generally believed that the session, instead of closing when its 120 days are ended, will run on until May 20. It may do so without any special call from the governor. For extra days the members will receive $5 pay instead of $10.

Saturday both senate and house were idle and most of the members were in San Antonio to attend a dinner given for them tonight at Shadowland by Representative Pat Dwyer of San Antonio.

Crowell and Foard County Welcome Old Settlers for Celebration of 40th Birthday of City and County

AGED DUNCAN MAN FREED ON CHARGE OF KILLING FRIEND

DUNCAN, Okla., April 25.—Charles Gray, 77, was acquitted on a charge of murder in connection with the death of C. A. Gibson, 67, at Marlow, Okla., in December, 1930, by a jury which deliberated four hours, Saturday afternoon.

Gray, who has a wife and 10 children, pleaded self defense.

The state contended that the two men, reputed to have been close friends, drank together in Marlow one Sunday morning and got to quarreling, first over a horse race; second, during a discussion of poker, and finally, over the question of throwing a knife through a knot hole.

The prosecution maintained that Gray shot Gibson to death when they met on the street several hours later.

The defense claimed that when the two men met Gibson said, "You beat me out of an oil lease and I'm going to cut your head off." Gray said that when this statement was made Gibson reached in his pocket and that after warning Gibson to desist, he (Gray) fired in self defense.

VERDICT OF SUICIDE RETURNED BY KEEPERS LION IN DALLAS ZOO

DALLAS, April 25. (UP)—The king is dead. Leo the lion, mighty monarch of Marsalis park zoo, died today of strangulation—"with suicidal intent," according to his keepers.

Walking calmly to the door of his large cage, Leo placed his head in a loop of the cable used to lift the door and jerked the cable tightly around his neck.

He died before zoo attendants could extricate him.

Burial services will be conducted tomorrow with hundreds of Leo's young friends of the city attending.

Leo was 2 years old and had lived in Dallas, at the zoo, since he was a cub of several months.

He will be buried amid a bower of shrubbery atop a grassy knoll at the park.

CROWELL, Texas, April 25.—Crowell and Foard county were welcoming hosts of old settlers back and donning holiday attire Saturday for a jubilant birthday celebration on Monday—the 40th birthday of Crowell and also of Foard county.

The town and county, both of which had their official beginning on April 27, 1891, will pay particular homage to the pioneers of that section with an all-day celebration, which includes a basket dinner on the courthouse lawn, a pioneer parade through the main streets of the town, a program consisting of talks by pioneers, old-time fiddle music and other appropriate numbers, and a general return to the customs and entertainment of a generation ago.

John Wesley, who came to that section in 1880, long before the beginning of either the town or county, will be one of the principal speakers, as will also Judge M. M. Hankins of Quanah, Judge L. S. Kinder of Plainview and Mrs. J. M. Allee of Crowell. George D. Self is chairman of the program committee, D. R. Magee chairman of the lunch committee and J. R. Beverly chairman of the relics committee.

Old settlers who have left the county are returning to greet their friends and participate in the jubilee, and the citizens are donning cowboy hats and bandannas. Downtown window displays are devoted to relics of pioneer days, and the setting is complete for the greatest celebration of the sort yet staged in this part of West Texas.

STATE DEPARTMENT SEEKS PRECEDENT IN BUTLER TANGLE

Fiery Marine Protests Remarks of Minister Of Haiti

VETERANS OF CAMPAIGN REMEMBER FORT WELL

Envoy Says Fort Where Marines Won Glory and Medals Unknown

WASHINGTON, April 25. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler became involved again today in a diplomatic tangle and presented the state department with a problem for which it could find no precedent.

The fiery marine protested remarks attributed to Minister Bellegarde of Haiti, that Fort Riviere in that country, for the capture of which Butler was awarded a congressional medal of honor, did not exist.

Butler's protest was embodied in a letter to Secretary Adams of the navy. The communication was promptly forwarded to the state department, which promised an investigation.

When the incident was called to his attention, Bellegarde had this to say:

"I did not say that the fort did not exist. But that no one knew where it was. It could not be found because Butler entirely destroyed it.

Envoy Misquoted

"Regarding the taking of this fort, however, no Haitian had any knowledge, because it was not to Haitians that Butler made his report but to officials in Washington."

The impression gathered in the absence of official comment was that the minister's indication that he considered himself misquoted might serve to avoid a delicate diplomatic incident.

Meanwhile, the existence of Fort Riviere was attested by Governor Roosevelt of New York, who was assistant secretary of the navy when the fort was captured. In a statement at Albany he said he was in Haiti at the time and took several photographs of it.

Word of the incident was received with surprise among marine veterans of the 1905 campaign in Haiti. Sergeant Major Cartier, who served under General Butler, said he remembered the fort well. He added Joel T. Boone, now personal physician to President Hoover, aided in its capture.

Butler's protest was based upon a copyrighted interview with Bellegarde printed recently in the Washington Herald.

WINS LONE RIDE IN WHEELBARROW

OVERTON, Texas, April 25. (UP)—Twenty miles by wheelbarrow, between this oil town and Corsicana, will be traversed Tuesday by two wagering oil operators, with Bill Brandon as the "load" and W. R. Destain as the "pusher."

The one-wheel trip is to be the result of a wager concerning the Eaton No. 1 well, drilled by the Paul Vitek enterprises, which came in a wildcat gusher near here last week.

Brandon is having the wheelbarrow cushioned. Destain has purchased heavy rubber soled shoes and large driving gloves.

WHO'LL MATCH DONATION MEAT WITH BEANS?

One hundred pounds of good dry salt meat will be delivered to the food distributing agency directed by J. B. Marlow next Friday morning, May 1, provided some one donates 200 pounds of dry beans.

This offer was made Saturday by T. W. Blackerby, 705 Polk, agent here for the Decker Packing company. Anyone willing to donate 200 pounds of beans is asked to telephone Mr. Blackerby at 3969 before Thursday, so that he may order the shipment of salt meat.

One anonymous two-dollar contribution was also received Saturday by The Times and Record News for the food fund. Money received in this matter is turned over to the committee in charge for the purchase of food for immediate distribution.

Daylight Saving In Eastern Cities Starting Sunday

(By The Associated Press)

Four hundred and eighty-three cities and towns in the United States and Canada went on daylight saving time at 2 a. m. today.

At that hour, theoretically at least, clocks and watches were moved ahead to 3 a. m. to remain one hour fast until the same time on the last Sunday in September.

New York City and most of the larger cities in New York state and New Jersey are now on daylight time.

Connecticut has a state law prohibiting the public display of clocks showing daylight time, but banks, offices, stores and factories in 33 towns will operate on daylight time anyway.

Forty-seven communities in Canada changed to the new time today.

VISCERA YOUNG GIRL EXAMINED DIES SUDDENLY

EDINBURG, Texas, April 25. (AP)—Police authorities today were awaiting word from Austin on examination of the viscera of Miss Harriet de Vires, young McAllen girl who died in convulsions at her home yesterday.

Traces of poison were found in an autopsy here, according to Kirk Mallory, McAllen justice of the peace.

The girl went to her room early yesterday morning. A few minutes later her parents were attracted by noises and found her in convulsions in her bedroom. She died before medical aid could be given. She had eaten a light lunch at a McAllen restaurant shortly before her return home.

PRESIDENT URGES PUBLIC TO OBSERVE BETTER HOME WEEK

WASHINGTON, April 25. (AP)—The observance of "better homes week" was urged upon the people of the country today by President Hoover as deserving their warmest support.

The week ends May 2.

The president's statement said:

"I cordially commend to all the people the observance of better homes week beginning April 26. The better homes movement has for several years played a highly important part in encouraging a more beautiful home architecture, improved decoration of house interiors, more practical kitchen arrangement, better planning of gardens and in every way an enhancement of the comfort and attractiveness of home life.

"Everything that can be done to encourage home ownership and to make life pleasanter is a distinct contribution not only to social welfare but to the highest spiritual values of life.

"The better homes movement has done distinguished service in this field and deserves the warmest support of all our people."

Unforgivable 'Double Cross' of Gangland Blamed for Shooting of Leader of Trio in Faro Swindle

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 25. (US)—George ("Big") Perry, alias Parker, credited with engineering the famous Blacklidge-Litsinger faro swindle at Springfield, Ill., lay dead here today—shot to death by a "friend."

His photographs were positively identified in Chicago by Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blacklidge, one of the victims of the swindle, as the leader of the trio of confidence men.

The unforgivable "double cross" of gangland was said by authorities to have been the probable cause for Perry's sudden taking-off.

The faro scandal at Springfield last January cost Mrs. Blacklidge her highly desirable job as internal revenue collector in Chicago and sent her into political obscurity.

It cost Edward R. Litsinger, member of the Cook county board of review and a political friend of Mrs. Blacklidge, $50,000 in cold cash which he had lent her so that she might collect $207,000 in fictitious winnings.

Threatens Damage Suit

Mrs. Blacklidge announced today that she proposed to re-open the whole scandal by filing suit for damages against Litsinger for his charges at the time that he believed her a party to the plot.

Perry, as the authorities believe, did not make the promised split of the $50,000 with his two confederates. He went instead on a trip to the French Riviera and other resorts of the old world with his wife, Ruth, whom he married here about a year ago. That is believed the reason that sudden death overtook him last night as he was stepping from the garage at the home of his father-in-law, John Caniff.

Perry and his wife had been called back to this country by the death of her mother here. Mrs. Perry was with him as he drove into the garage last night. She had started for the house when she heard a shot, she said. She ran back to him and asked:

"Are you hurt?"

"I'm shot," he gasped.

Shot Down by "Friend"

At the hospital he told police a "friend" had shot him down.

"Who was it?" a detective asked.

"None of your damned business; let me die," Perry groaned. And a few minutes later he died.

Since the faro swindle a country-wide search has been in progress for Perry, or Parker as he was frequently called. The authorities also were seeking Roy Bowder, alias Burgess, and Roscoe Reynolds, reputed confidence men who are said to have been Perry's associates in the fake faro game.

With the death of Perry, the search for them was intensified on the theory that they might be able to throw some light on the motives for Perry's assassination.

Mrs. Perry, her father, John Caniff, and Mrs. Blacklidge all contributed to the identification of Perry as the leader of the trio who engineered the faro game in a Springfield hotel.

His widow said she had charged him with the crime as they hurriedly made their plans for the trip to Europe. She admitted she, Perry and her father all had known Mrs. Blacklidge and her late husband, a druggist.

Caniff said Perry recently had been worried and had expressed a fear of being "bumped off."

"That's the man," Mrs. Blacklidge exclaimed when his photographs were shown her today in Chicago.

Head Hunters in New Tribal War And 26 Beheaded

TAIHOKAU, Formosa, April 25. (UP)—A new conflict between tribes of head hunters in the interior broke out today and 26 Rodof tribesmen were beheaded, the governor general announced.

The Rodofs were attacked in their native village by 60 Tautuas tribesmen. The Tautuas slaughtered the opposing tribesmen they had captured and then fled.

The Rodofs have been under government protection since the Musha incident, and police were sent in pursuit of the Tautuas.

The Rodofs were given the protection because of their friendly attitude toward the government when trouble was encountered some months ago with several of the vicious tribes in the interior.

ILLNESS CLAIMS LIFE OF FATHER OF WICHITA MAN

J. A. Martin, 86, pioneer Texan and father of Bernard Martin, attorney of Wichita Falls, died late Friday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. M. Massie, of Floydada, Texas, after a lingering illness.

Mr. Martin, who had been a visitor here on a number of occasions, had been in failing health for several months.

Services are to be held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of a son, Preston Martin, at Weatherford, Texas. Mrs. Daniel Grieder of Austin, daughter of Bernard Martin, and Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Smedley, former Wichitans who now reside in Fort Worth, were here Saturday night en route to Weatherford to attend the services.

Other survivors include four sons, Jed and Claude Martin of Floydada and Eugene and Luther Martin of Weatherford.

Bluebonnet Hill Proves Mecca for Wichita Residents

"Bluebonnet Hill," home of T. R. Boone, local attorney, holds quite an attraction to the citizens of Wichita Falls and surrounding towns. The two-story brick home creates an extraordinary background for a small hill that is completely covered with the official state flower, the bluebonnet. The spot is located north of Ninth street and east of Morningside addition on Pierce.

Most of the bluebonnet plants are in full bloom at this time of the year, and the sides of the gentle slope are completely covered with the beautiful flowers. Many sight-seers and curious folk drive around the hill for a glimpse of the blooming flowers.

The bluebonnet is not a native flower of this vicinity but was brought from Austin by Mrs. Boone. In spite of the fact that the plants are not found growing in this section of the country they flourish as they do in their natural climate. Each blossom bears full grown petals and almost every plant is a perfect specimen.

Tourists and sight-seers are allowed to enter the grounds and view the picturesque scene, but no one is allowed to pluck the official state flower that blooms so freely and thickly on "bluebonnet hill."

ATTORNEYS FOR JULIAN WILL HAVE RECORDS IN DISTRICT COURT MONDAY

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 25. (AP)—Attorneys for C. C. Julian, Oklahoma City oil man, indicated today that records of the operator's tangible assets would be presented in district court Monday in compliance with an order of Sam Hooker, district judge.

Two judgments of California courts, granting $122,541.97, and $70,579 to John Salsberry, Los Angeles, from Julian have been confirmed by the Oklahoma City district court. Listing of properties was asked to expedite collection.

Julian's move was expected to affect his request of Lewis Morris, county attorney, that charges of embezzlement be filed against L. S. Bolling, Laredo, Texas, oil operator.

Julian stands charged with attempting to extort $50,000 from Bolling. Morris was asked to file a counter charge against Bolling, but declined to file the action until Julian had presented a complete audit of his books and until the property listing had been made.

WITHHOLD DISTRIBUTION OF ALEXANDER P. MOORE ESTATE IN PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, April 25. (INS)—Judge Thomas P. Trimble today ordered distribution of the estate of the late Alexander P. Moore withheld and reopened the estate of the late Mrs. Moore—the former Lillian Russell—for further accounting.

The decision was handed down in orphans court as an aftermath to the contest by Moore's stepdaughter, Mrs. Dorothy Russell O'Reilly Calvit, to break the will of the late ambassador and noted Pittsburgh publisher.

In handing down the order Judge Trimble declared:

"Alexander P. Moore fraudulently acquired and appropriated to his own use properties of his wife, Lillian Russell Moore."

The court explained that the orders issued today were to enable the Union Trust company, executors of Moore's estate, to account "for all the properties belonging to Mrs. Moore, which may be found in Moore's estate or elsewhere."

SEABURY WILL PROBE MURDER OF ROTHSTEIN

NEW YORK, April 25. (INS)—Reports that the Arnold Rothstein murder mystery would be investigated by Samuel Seabury, commissioner named to probe charges against District Attorney Crain, were revived today.

The City club, in its complaint to Governor Roosevelt, as a result of which the present inquiry was ordered, pointed out that Crain promised to solve the Rothstein murder mystery within 90 days after he took office.

ACME QUALITY HOUSE PAINT

Costs Less Per Job Per Year!

An average house has 4,800 square feet of paintable surface. It can be painted with any kind of "ordinary" paint at a small saving per gallon. BUT, as a home owner, you know that it's the COST PER YEAR that counts, NOT the saving per gallon.

Acme Quality NEW ERA House Paint, due to fine quality, covers 360 square feet of surface, two coats. Only 13 gallons are needed for a handsome job. Compare this with "ordinary" paint which covers only 275 square feet. You need 17 gallons—figure it out. NEW ERA, you will find, costs less by the job.

Also NEW ERA looks good for five years. "Ordinary" paint is through in three years.

So ACME Quality NEW ERA costs less by the job—less by the year. And that is real economy. If you'd like to see the actual figures as applied to your home, ask us. Do this before you buy any house paint.

NARCOTICS TO WEIGHT THREE TONS SEIZED

NEW YORK, April 25. (AP)—Three tons of narcotics, confiscated after they had been unloaded from the liner Milwaukee, were at the army base at Brooklyn today for inventory. Constituting the largest seizure ever made in New York at one time, they were valued by police at more than $5,000,000.

Newspapers said a tip came from abroad. Police detectives, customs officials and federal narcotic agents clustered around 17 large crates on pier 84 yesterday afternoon and together opened one of the boxes. It was found to store three layers of sealed zinc cans.

A preliminary survey indicated that the crates contained 51,000 ounces of morphine, 8,500 ounces of heroin, and 8,500 ounces of opium.

The crates, reinforced by metal strips on the corners, were marked "on order," which meant that any one possessing a proper manifest could have claimed the shipment and trucked it away. The shipment was supposed to have contained woolens.

ATTACH SIGNIFICANCE TO STATEMENT OF ROOSEVELT

ALBANY, April 25. (INS)—Political leaders at the capitol today attached deep significance to Governor Roosevelt's radio declaration in which he characterized the legislative investigation of New York City and Tammany Hall as one of the major accomplishments of the 1931 legislature.

Roosevelt's attitude on the legislative probe of Mayor Walker's administration is in direct contrast to that of Democratic leaders of the legislature who bitterly opposed the investigation and called it a political fishing expedition.

PREFERENCE GIVEN WAR VETERANS IN FEDERAL SERVICE

WASHINGTON, April 25. (AP)—President Hoover issued an executive order today amending civil service rules relating to veterans preference.

In the cases of applicants for entrance examinations who are honorably discharged and who establish by official records a service connected disability and who on account of this disability are not qualified but whose wives are qualified, the wives will have 10 points added to their ratings in examinations.

The order was issued after President Hoover had studied the report of his advisory committee on veterans' preference. The committee was composed of Chairman Campbell of the civil service commission, Veterans Administrator Hines, Chairman Johnson of the house veterans committee, Assistant Attorney General Richardson and John Thomas Taylor of the American Legion legislative committee.

The resolution read that Fall, under conviction for irregularity in oil lease deals, made when he was in the cabinet, had been "subjected to enough punishment and humiliation as a result of the Teapot Dome oil scandal and in his declining years, should not be prosecuted."

At Last!

Here are the 15 questions every thoughtful buyer of an Electric Refrigerator will ask:

1 —is the refrigerator made by a reliable, experienced company?

2 —will it freeze an ample supply of ice cubes quickly?

3 —will it maintain a constant low temperature to assure proper food preservation?

4 —can extra fast freezing, such as desired for frozen delicacies, be accomplished?

5 —has it a handy table-top?

6 —is it thoroughly insulated to prevent costly heat-leakage?

7 —is there ample space for food storage?

8 —will it operate quietly and satisfactorily in the years to come?

9 —will it look bright and clean and attractive in the years to come?

10 —is it easily cleanable?

11 —has it the convenience of a broom-room base?

12 —is it sold on a dependable long-time guarantee?

13 —will it operate economically and without frequent "Servicing"?

14 —is it sold at a price I can afford?

15 —is it sold on terms that will not be burdensome?

Jury Decides in Pastor's Favor in Kiss Damage Suit

KANSAS CITY, Kan., April 25. (AP)—The Rev James Cornish held a jury's verdict today in a suit for $5,000 damages brought by Mrs. Bertha Thomas, a Sunday school teacher, who charged the minister had stolen a kiss from her.

The jury decided yesterday in favor of the 52-year-old pastor after considering the evidence 30 minutes. Mr. Cornish, now living at Great Bend, Kan., characterized the action as attempted blackmail.

Mrs. Thomas, 37 years old, alleged the pastor seized and kissed her while she was conferring with him on church matters at the First Christian church here in 1929. The minister denied her allegations and the defense introduced three witnesses who testified that the plaintiff could not have been in the pastor's study at the time in question. Mrs. Thomas said she probably would file a motion for a new trial.

Want an Island? Here's a Chance

LONDON.—If you're tired of city life, why not get yourself an island kingdom for nothing and set up a domain of your own? England has three islands now which it wishes to let. One is a secluded spot just vacated by Compton Mackenzie, the famous novelist. It is the island of Jethou, a little place of 50 acres. The island belongs to the crown and the owner can exercise all sorts of feudal rights. The other islands on the market are Bardsley, off the west coast, and St. Kilda, which although occupied for the last 1,000 years, has recently been abandoned.

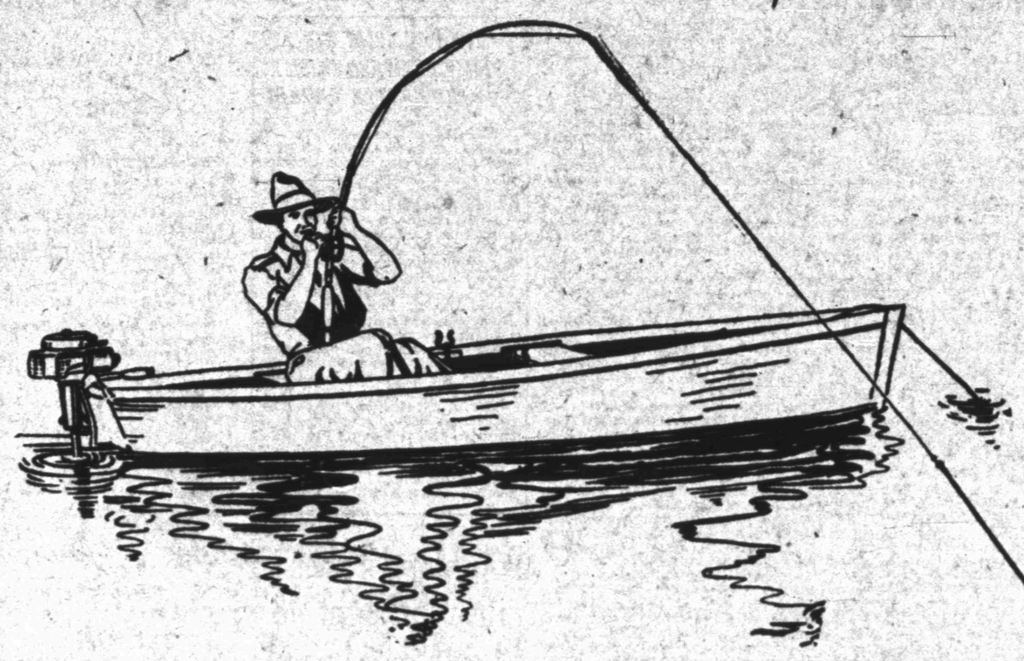
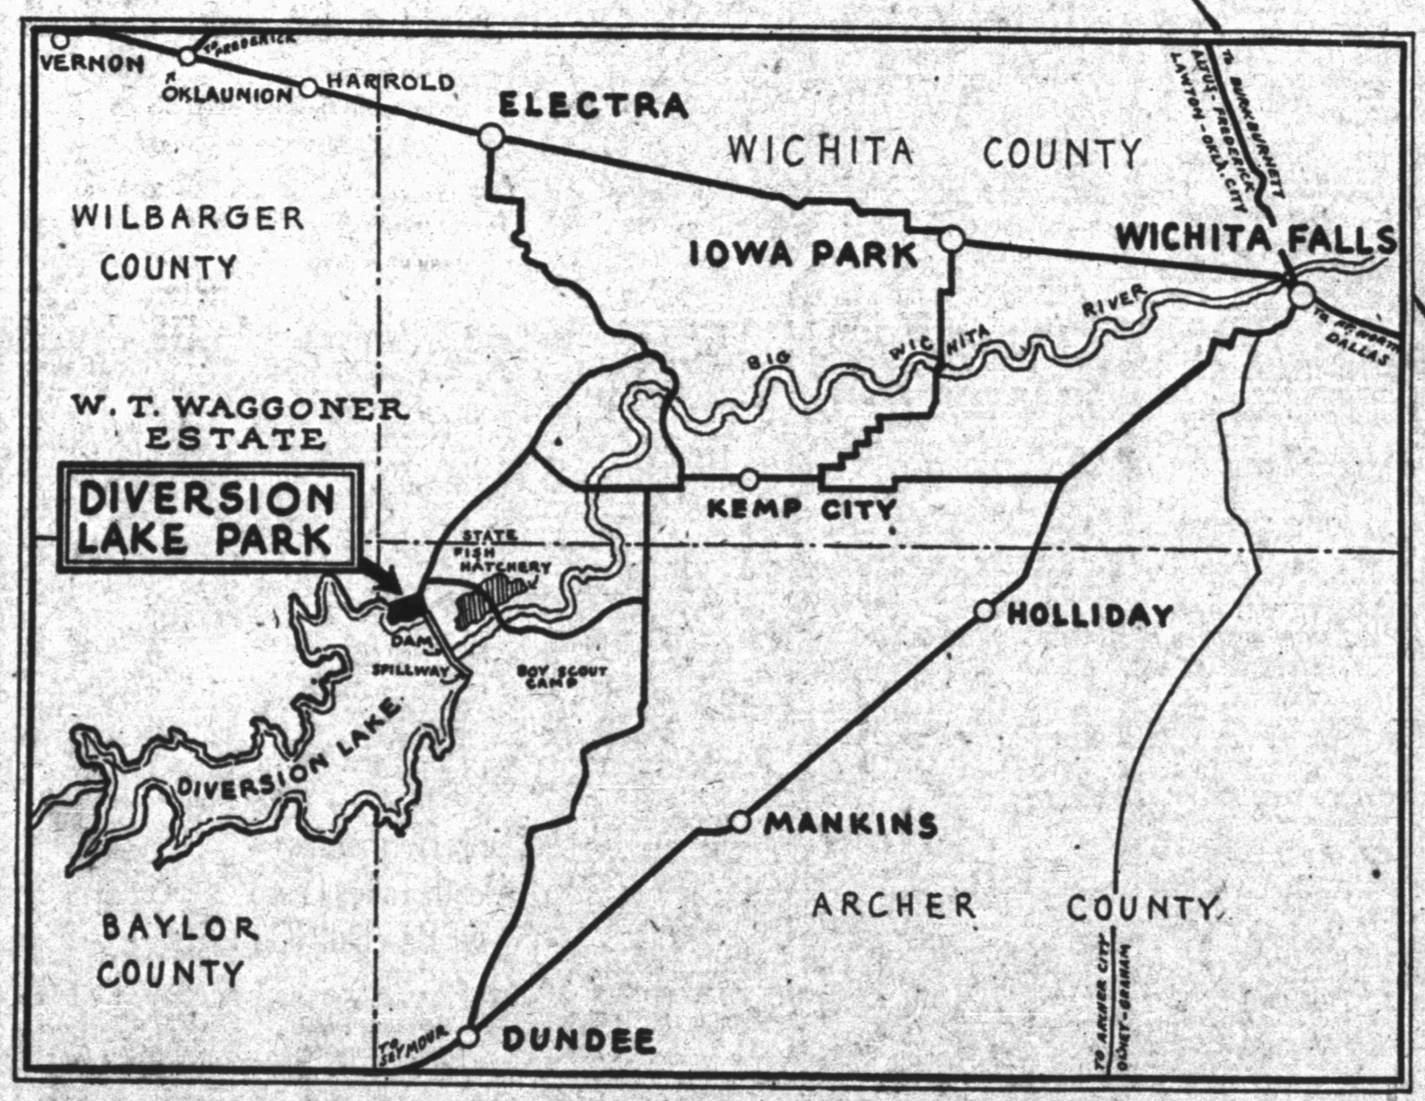
The Best Place in Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma to FISH

Is New Diversion Lake Park



Fishing season opens Friday, May 1. We are ready for you. The Waggoner Estate has constructed roads, fenced in an ample park on the cool sloping bank of the north side of Diversion Lake within comfortable driving distance of Vernon, Electra, Iowa Park, Wichita Falls, Archer City, Graham and all points in Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma. Paved highways lead within a short distance of the new sportsman's paradise.



Diversion Lake Park

The park is in charge of courteous caretakers who will look after your boats and fishing equipment and help you enjoy every moment of your fishing time.

Diversion Lake Ideal

Diversion Lake is ideal for fishing on account of the level of the water being more constant. Fish can breed more readily along its shores which, of course, means a more abundant supply for the fisherman.

Secure an annual pass. Rate for the whole family is $10.00 a season which is very reasonable, or $1.00 per trip admission for a car where season pass is not purchased. No outsiders permitted within the park without passes. Passes expire December 31.

SPUDDERS STAGE BIG FIRST INNING TO BEAT SPORTS, 7 TO 6

Probably the major surprise of the Texas league season so far has been the excellent showing of the Beaumont club. The Exporters brought in a flock of youngsters from lower class leagues to take the places of fellows who were good enough for trials with the Detroit Tigers, and naturally the Exporters were looked upon as one of the weaker sisters in the coming race. The Exporters started last season with an outfield of giants that loomed formidable to the last degree. The four were Eckhardt, Shiver, Easterling and Wade. All were big, powerful fellows who sent the ball for long rides when they connected. By the end of the season Easterling had departed, Wade was a complete flop, Shiver was just a so-so performer and Eckhardt led the league in batting.

Eckhardt's batting average last season, however, is one of the most deceptive we have ever encountered. His mark of .379 led the league by a comfortable margin and his 217 hits were well ahead of the field in number of safe blows. But exactly 20 players drove in more runs during the season than the big Beaumonter. His 217 hits accounted for only 83 runs batted in, whereas Larry Bettencourt's leading figure was 145. Jim Levey, with an average of only .289, batted in only 20 fewer runs that Eckhardt. As well, Levey was batting in the leadoff position the entire season, while Eckhardt was in fourth or fifth place, where he had far more chances to deliver in the pinches than the Spudder shortstop.

Beaumont's outfield now consists of Joyner White in center, Paul Easterling in left and Tommy Hughes in right. White comes up from the class B Three-Eye and Hughes was in the Western last season. Easterling, the third member of the regular trio, wasn't good enough even to stick with Beaumont last season. But these three are delivering in large loads, while the more spectacular outfielders of last year failed dismally. We have a hunch that Beaumont's lightly considered present outfield is a more efficient combination than the more picturesque big boys of the wide reputations of last season. White, the center fielder, is one of the most promising discoveries of the season, if his work to date may be accepted as a fair sample. He's the boy who scored from third on an infield fly at the expense of Carey Selph of the Buffs the other night.

Another outfielding newcomer in the league who has not done quite so well—another of those fellows with a glowing reputation — is George Pucinelli of the Houston club. The big Italian came to the Buffs from the Cardinals. He is a big, strapping fellow who takes a mighty cut at the ball—much after the fashion of Beaumont's 1930 outfielders. Because he came down from the big leagues and because of his impressive appearance, he was taken for granted as a bulwark of power in the Houston outfield. He started off just that way, too, but now he is out of the lineup, and is not likely to linger long with the Buffs. The pitchers needed only a few games to learn how to work on him. He is just one of the many examples of misplaced confidence in players who come down from the majors. There really is no good reason to expect that a player who has been in the majors is a better performer than the fellow who comes up from a lower class league.

The weather of the past week has been everything but conducive to thoughts of the fishing season, but if you are not already aware of the fact a glance at the calendar will show you that Friday is opening day. (What more appropriate day could be picked for the opening of the fishing season?) The elements have been quite unfair to the anglers, but a godsend to the fish, on opening days of the last two years. The first day of the 1929 season long will be remembered by the young army of ambitious fishermen who were marooned on islands and elsewhere at Lake Kemp and Diversion lake, held prisoners by a wind that made veritable seas of both lakes. The blow was not so extreme last opening day, but it was enough to chase all the fishermen off the lake long before the day was spent.

We have just turned from a consultation of our "fisherman's almanac," and what we found has not dimmed our ardor to be on one of the lakes at daylight Friday morning. (We might even be nursing an urge to drop a crapple hook into a favored hole about 12:01 a. m. Friday.) The almanac says that fishing is going to be pretty dawggone good Friday; not the best, you understand, but much better than average. The fishing fades off slightly each day after Friday until the following Wednesday, the almanac promises, they just won't strike at all. So if you believe in the signs of the almanac, get in your opening splurge as soon as possible after midnight Thursday.

Superstition and fishing go hand in hand in all climes. One of the reasons that we have become convinced long since that we will never be an expert angler is the fact that we are not susceptible to the usual run of fishing superstitions. Early in our fishing experiences we heard the oldtimers talk in subdued tones of the hated east wind. We laughed up our sleeve at the silly idea that fish would not be just as hungry and pugnacious with the wind coming out of the east as any other direction. But we lived and learned. We have never found fishing even passable with that dreaded east wind blowing. Maybe it's just happened that way, but that's one superstition we've cultivated. We devoutly believe in it and would never think of starting for the ol' fishing hole with the wind in the east, thought we'd never hesitate to walk under a ladder or would we hold any fear of a black cat crossing our path. Yes, sir, we hold a devout respect for the east wind when it's fishing time.

Geygan Hits for Circuit to Store Up Winning Runs

Hillin and Florrid Pool Pitching Efforts to Stop Shreveporters

SHREVEPORT, La., April 25.—A wild first inning in which they scored five runs and saw Pat Moulton yanked from the hill before he had retired a batter, enabled the Wichita Falls Spudders to take the opening game of the series with the Sports, 7 to 6, here Saturday. From the second inning on the visitors were outplayed, with Joe Pate as the pitching hero for the Shreveporters.

Ash Hillin pitched seven innings for the Spudders and after he had been touched lively in the seventh was retired at the start of the eighth in favor of Florrid.

Before Pate had settled down to his task, Garms was the Spudders' hitting sensation and turned in two baggers in the first two innings. In the third Geygan hit a home run, and that was the last real damage of the Texans.

Ralph Michaels and Rip Radcliff were the batting stars for the Sports, Michaels hitting a double and three singles and Radcliff two home runs.

Moulton failed to get a batter out before he was relieved in favor of Pate. Bunched hits and wildness caused his downfall after pitching to five batters.

A new pitcher was scheduled to join the Spudders at Shreveport Sunday, according to announcement of President William E. Huff, but club officials here had little information on the history of the chunker. His name is Davis and he is being sent to Wichita Falls by the St. Louis Browns. He was with the Topeka Western league team a part of last season, winning no games and losing seven and allowing an earned runs average of 5.94.

Moulton Removed

Garms started the battle with a two-bagger down the right field foul line and Kelly worked Moulton for a pass. Stanton hit a low line single to center and Garms romped home. Gullic walked and time was called while Skipper Jake Atz conversed with Moulton. The pitcher then walked Badgro and Kelly was forced home. Pate went to the Hill and Geygan hit into a double play, Michaels to Vorhoff to Radcliff and Stanton scored. Scharein singled past short and Gullic scored. Scharein stole second and on Bryant's single to center he scored. Pate cut off Dwyer's throw from center field and Bryant was out in a chase between first and second. Michaels lifted the hopes of the Sports with a double against the left field fence but died on base.

Garms Doubles Again

After one was out in the second Garms hit down the first base line for two bases and Kelly walked, but Vorhoff turned Stanton's roller into a double play to retire the side.

A couple of passes in the second half to Dwyer and Vorhoff and the Sports came through with a tally. Hill, who was third up rolled to short and Voorhoff was out. Mueller went out on a roller to short and Dwyer scored. Hill advanced to third when Hillin committed a balk, but Pate fanned for the third out.

A four bagger by Geygan over the left field wall after Badgro walked pushed the Spudders' count to seven.

The Sports matched the Spudders' homer in their half when Radcliff hit over the right field wall. It marked the second run of the inning. Lewis opened the session with a single to center and Michaels sent him to third with a single. Cashion hit into a double play and Lewis scored. In the fifth Lewis drew a walk and went to third on Michaels' single and when Cashion rolled out to the pitcher Lewis scored.

Pate Stops Scoring

After Bryant's single in the third inning Pate started feeding the Spudders slow curves and had them at his mercy almost throughout. He brought down the applause of the fans by fanning Gullic and Badgro, the first batters to face him in the seventh on six balls.

While Pate was taming the visitors, the Sports kept nibbling at Hillin's delivery and in the seventh, with Kunisch, who had batted for Cashion on first base, Radcliff hit his second homer, a drive over the right center wall.

GLASS' VICTORY OVER TOLAN IN HUNDRED IS FEATURE DRAKE MEET

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 25. (AP)—A spindle-legged, freckle-faced 19-year-old youngster named Peyton Glass, Stillwater, Okla., became a sprinting hero Saturday.

Glass, wearing the colors of the Oklahoma Aggies, and with only two years of competition behind him, conquered Eddi Tolan, world's 100-yard dash champion, in one of the stunning upsets winding up the Drake relay carnival.

The six-foot, brown-haired Oklahoma youngster beat the famed Tolan to the wire by a scant nose, breaking the tape in 119.7, two-tenths of a second over the world mark held by Tolan.

Bob Hager of Iowa State accounted for the second surprising upset by defeating Lee Sentman, University of Illinois speedster, rated as one of the outstanding hurdlers of the nation, in the 120-yard high hurdle event. Hager beat Sentman to the tape by three feet, clicking over the barriers in 14-7 for a new meet record.

Seven major records for the meet were ground into the dust after 2,600 athletes from 210 universities, colleges and high schools finished their assault on existing marks.

ATTORNEYS TO CONFER WITH DEMPSEY AT RENO

LOS ANGELES, April 25. (AP)—Further preliminary sparring in the Estelle Taylor-Jack Dempsey divorce bout is scheduled for Reno, Nev., following the departure for Reno of Joseph Scott, attorney for the motion picture actress.

Scott said Friday night he intended to confer at Reno with the former heavyweight champion and his legal advisor, Robert Burns, on various phases of the proposed property settlement and the divorce actions which both principals threatened to bring.

The conference is to follow one held a week ago by the attorneys at San Francisco, at which Dempsey was not present.

AMERICANS TAKE DUST FROM JAPANESE STARS

TOKYO, April 25. (AP)—Two American college athletes won much applause but few honors in the eastern Japan semifinal tryouts here Saturday for the 1932 Olympic games in Los Angeles.

George Simpson of Ohio State came second in the 100-meter dash, which was won by Takanori Yoshioka of Sunrika university, Tokyo in 10.7 seconds.

Harlow Rothert of Stanford university was fourth in the discus throw, won by Masjiro Itabashi of Keio university with a heave of 43.17 meters, a Japanese record.

Hundreds Anglers Compete for List Valuable Awards

National Manufacturers Join With Local Dealers In Posting Prizes

As to the annual contest sponsored by the Wichita Falls newspapers and sporting goods dealers, the prize list this year is more imposing than at any time in the past, and it will number among its sponsors several firms joining this year for the first time. Among these are three nationally known manufacturers of fishing tackle, whose recognition of the fine fishing of the Wichita Falls area and interest in the number of anglers here has led them to contribute substantial prizes to the local list.

The South Bend Bait company of South Bend, Ind., the Shakespeare company of Kalamazoo, Mich., and James Heddon's Sons of Dowagiac, Mich., are the three manufacturers who are joining the contest this year. Each of the companies is well known to the sportsmen of this section as a manufacturer of rods, reels, baits and all kinds of tackle.

The South Bend Bait company has shipped here one of its No. 9 split bamboo casting rods, the sale price of which is $10. James Heddon's Sons has sent six of its famous Spook baits, valued at $9, to be distributed one each to each of the six persons bringing in the largest bass. The Noble-Little Hardware company here has offered a Shakespeare Ideal level wind reel, sale price $11, through the courtesy of the Shakespeare company.

FIRST FISH STORY

HAMMOND, Ind., April 25. (AP)—This is a fish story based upon a tale by Hugo Volkman.

In landing a pickerel Friday, he sprained his ankle, fell to the bottom of the boat, injured his scalp, wrenched his back and neck in arising, lost his false teeth, then toppled into the lake. When fellow fishermen pulled him out Hugo was hanging onto the fish.

Prize Distribution

Distribution of prizes this year will be upon the same basis as last year. Two prize divisions will be conducted, one for the largest bass and one for the largest crappie by weight. The angler weighing in the largest fish in each division will have first choice of all the prizes in his division; the second largest fish will bring second choice of the remaining prizes and so on until the entire list has been distributed.

The contest this year has been made to extend over a period of three days, because of the opening of the season near the week-end. All fish must be legally taken. Fish will be weighed in at any time Friday, Saturday and Sunday until 6 p. m., after which no entries will be accepted.

The prize list as it stood Saturday afternoon follows:

W. T. Waggoner estate of Vernon, season pass, valued at $10 to either Diversion lake or Lake Kemp, for the bass, and the same choice of prizes for the crappie.

"And I hope everybody catches a whale," Bob More of Vernon, manager of the estate, told The Times and Record News.

Bailey-Moline Hardware company, one five-foot Shakespeare split bamboo casting rod, price $13, for the bass; and one Falls City Expert, 14-quart oval floater minnow bucket, valued at $2.50, for the crappie. Bailey-Moline's prizes are on display in its show windows, together with the Spook baits offered by James Heddon's Sons.

Cash Awards

The Daily Times and Record News, $5 in cash for the bass and $5 in cash for the crappie.

Noble-Little Hardware company, Shakespeare Ideal reel, given through courtesy of the Shakespeare company. The reel is a level wind, trimmed in onyx, carries the new friction-tension adjustment and is contained in a chamois bag; offered in the bass division. In the crappie division this company is posting a Heddon 30-pound test Triple X silk line, valued at $2.25. The Noble-Little prizes and the rod given by the South Bend Bait company are on display in the Noble-Little show windows.

Wichita Hardware company, one Utica 3½-foot split bamboo bait casting or trolling rod, valued at $4.25, posted in the crappie division; and a Shakespeare Criterion reel, valued at $5 and a Pawtucket braided silk line, 30-pound test, 50-yard spool, valued at $2.25, for the bass. The prizes posted by the Wichita Hardware company are on display in its show windows.

The Monroe Street Hardware company, 1523 Monroe street, one South Bend level winding reel No. 950, valued at $5.50, offered in the crappie division; and one split bamboo South Bend bait casting or trolling rod, any length desired, price $5, in the bass division.

Open to All

Sears-Roebuck and company, $3 in any fishing merchandise, offered for the bass division. The Sears-Roebuck company also announced that Jim Maddrey, veteran Wichita Falls angler, hunter and sportsman, had joined its staff in charge of the sporting goods division.

Montgomery Ward and company, $2 in any fishing merchandise, offered in the bass division.

The Gaines Motor Sales company, a set of outboard motor spark plugs, valued at $1.35 each. The set will include either two or four plugs, according to the type of motor owned by the winner.

The Lone Star hatchery, located on the Seymour road, 10 dozen minnows, valued at $2.50, for the crappie division.

The Wichita Falls newspapers and sporting goods dealers conduct the annual fishing contest to encourage interest in fishing, and the propagation and protection of fish; to encourage observance of the state and district fishing laws, and to teach the use of proper tackle. The contest is open to any person who fishes in the three Wichita Falls lakes during the course of the contest.

Stanton and Radcliff Tie for League Lead

While club batting took a tumble after another week of Texas league play, individual averages continued at a high mark. Radcliff, the Shreveport first baseman whose batting has been the bright spot in his club's poor getaway, ties with Buck Stanton, Wichita Falls, for the real batting honors of playing through regulars, each having an average of .447. The two are also tied for the lead in base blows with 17 apiece to 14 for Dalrymple, Fort Worth. Other league leaders include runs—Cotter, Dallas, 14; E. Moore, Fort Worth, Dalrymple, Fort Worth, Stanton, Wichita Falls, 10; two-base hits—Borelli, Dallas, Stanton, Wichita Falls, Speer, Galveston, 5; three-base hits—Urban, Dallas, 3; home runs—Gullic, Wichita Falls, 4; runs batted in—Gullic, Wichita Falls, 17; E. Brown, Fort Worth, Perry, Fort Worth, 15; stolen bases—Harrell, Dallas, 4; Schaefer, Wichita Falls, 3; Nash, San Antonio, 3.

Fort Worth is the only club to maintain a batting average better than .300. Dallas tops in runs scored and batted in, doubles, and stolen bags, Shreveport in home runs, while Galveston ties Fort Worth for the lead in three-baggers.

Five pitchers—White, Wichita Falls, Murray, Dallas, Harris, Galveston, Durham, Houston, and Vaughn, Beaumont, have each won two games without a loss. Carroll, Galveston, is the only hurler charged with three defeats. Strikeout leaders are Thormahlen, Galveston, 14; Hamlin, Beaumont, 12.

Club batting averages, the individual averages of all players hitting safely at least once, and the records of pitchers credited with either win or loss through Thursday's games (less the Houston-San Antonio night game) follow:

TENNIS EXHIBITIONS MAY BE STAGED HERE SOME TIME IN FUTURE

Forced to call off Sunday's scheduled tennis exhibition at the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club because of inability of the players to fill their engagement, the event may be staged in the future, it was announced Saturday by Charles Cook, chairman of the country club tennis committee.

Bruce Barnes, Jimmie Quick, John Barr and Earl Taylor were scheduled to play at the country club Sunday afternoon, but Cook received word from the players Friday night that a conflict in their schedule forced cancellation of their appearance here.

Cook announced it was likely an effort would be made to bring the quartet here at some later date.

Jim Thorpe Back To Athletics as Oklahoma Coach

Colorful Indian Forsakes Pick to Take High School Job

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 25. (UP)—Big Jim Thorpe, the Oklahoma Indian who scaled the heights of athletic fame, is returning to the sports world.

The former Carlisle Indian star and big league baseball player Saturday laid aside his pick and shovel with which he has been earning a livelihood for his family at Los Angeles and agreed to come here as a coach.

He has accepted a contract to direct athletics at Putnam City High school, a suburban school here, A. E. Perry, member of the school board, said.

Thorpe's return to the athletic world resulted from publication of a story here telling how the erstwhile Olympic star was laboring for a livelihood in an excavation for a new Los Angeles hospital.

"When Moore C. Hass, president of the Putnam City school board, and I read the story we decided it was shameful that such talents were being wasted," Perry told the United Press.

"We wired him about two months ago and we received the following letter:

"'The proposition you have outlined to me as director of athletics at the Putnam school has been considered and I hold it a great pleasure to be able to take over the work.'"

"Jim will renew his acquaintance with sports at the beginning. He won't have any stars to begin with but he will have a bunch of rawboned, brawny youngsters and the backing of a school that has increased in enrollment 200 per cent in a few months," Perry said.

Thorpe will arrive here next week. He will be employed at the offices of a sand and gravel company of which Perry and Hess are officials, until September. Then he will take over the destinies of the team.

Thorpe faded from the sports world three years ago after he served as master of ceremonies for C. C. Pyle's transcontinental bunion derby.

Big Jim started his career at old Carlisle Indian institute in 1907. During his five years at the school he starred in football, track and baseball. He was all-American halfback the last two years at Carlisle. He added to his laurels in 1912 at the Olympic games at Stockholm by scoring 8,412 points out of a possible 10,000 in the decathlon.

Thorpe capitalized on his fame in professional baseball and football from 1914 to 1929. He played with the New York Giants, the Cincinnati Reds and the Boston Braves. During the five years he was halfback and manager of the Canton Bulldogs, the team was undefeated.

Schmeling Pilot Sees Big Things For Title Match

Preparations for Training Camp for Champion Under Way

By LES CONKLIN
I. N. S. Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 25.—Final preparations to whip Max Schmeling into shape for his title bout with Willie Stribling in Cleveland on July 3 got under way this week when Joe Jacobs, the champion's manager, started a search to select a site at or near Cleveland for the German's training camp.

Fifteen different communities are bidding for the privilege of acting as Schmeling's host during his training period, Jacobs revealed. They are located in Western Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Michigan and Ohio.

Max, who is now trying to get within striking distance of par on the links at French Lick, will begin intensive training after taking in the Kentucky Derby on May 16. Meanwhile, however, he will keep in shape by engaging in five exhibitions in Canada and Michigan, starting on May 1.

Cleveland to Profit

Both Jacobs and Billy McCarney, his partner, are enthusiastic over selection of the new stadium at Cleveland as the scene of the title battle. According to Professor McCarney, who makes it his business to keep his finger on the trend of the cauliflower industry all the way from Boston to San Francisco, the entire Middle West has worked itself into a lather over the coming scrap.

"Fans throughout Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, other neighboring states and even in Toronto are crazy about the fight," elucidates the professor.

"All the railroads are offering lower rates to fans who want to see the bout, and the great lakes boats running from Chicago, Detroit and Buffalo also are giving reduced fares. Fans coming to Cleveland by the water route can sleep right on the boat—the arena is almost at the lake front."

End of Depression?

Pointing out that the second Dempsey-Tunney fight brought $15,000,000 worth of business to Chicago, McCarney declared that the July bout would be a great boon to Cleveland.

"I wouldn't be surprised if the event marks the beginning of the end of the business depression," remarked the professor unblushingly. "The railroads and the lake passenger boats will do a big business, as will the hotels and restaurants in Cleveland. Getting all that money into circulation ought to put business on its feet in that section.

"The bout itself should draw close to a million dollars."

At this juncture the cuckoo clock in the office punctuated the professor's remarks with 10 distinct "cuckoos."

"Figuring on a million," continued McCarney—

"Pardon me, Billy," interrupted Jacobs, "have you got $5 on you?"

The professor, a bit embarrassed, discovered he hadn't. He and Meester Yockups looked searchingly who looked at the writer, who by that time was well out the door, by at their assistant, Maurice Cain.

BURKBURNETT RACQUET WIELDER WINS UPHILL MATCH IN BI-DISTRICT

Miss Mabel Givens of Petrolia won in straight sets over Miss Frances Wright of Memphis, 6-2, 6-0.

In the boys' doubles Carter and Sanders of Childress defeated the Graham team, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Action Follows Report Lengthy Investigation

AUSTIN, April 25. (UP) — A housecleaning was started Saturday night in Texas intercollegiate athletic affairs by the state's two associations of college academic officials. Their action followed a report to them here Saturday that 50 of 62 colleges studied do not regard it is illegitimate for coaches to solicit enrollment of athletes and that compensation of $228,000 in various forms was given athletes in the 62 schools in one season.

Heads of the state's principal collegiate athletic bodies made the report, accompanying it with a survey made for the Association of Texas Colleges, and the Texas Association of Junior Colleges. The survey was ordered after the Carnegie foundation report last year on its nation-wide investigation of college sports.

Results Thus Far

Saturday night, the Texas housecleaning had progressed this far:

All schools in intercollegiate athletic competition were told to join one of the five athletic conferences by Jan. 1, 1933. Some will be urged to drop intercollegiate sports for financial reasons. All will be directed to use gate receipts from intercollegiate games in development of badly needed facilities for intramural sports, rather than in further competitive expansion.

Schools reported indulging in undesirable practices will be cited to their conferences for disciplinary action, and hereafter a uniform method faculty control of athletics will be followed. Coaches will be directed not to offer employment to prospective athletes.

Generally Satisfactory

Except for player solicitation, lack of attention to intramural sports and the questionably regarded compensations—remissions of tuition, lax loans, scholarships and sinecure jobs—for players, college athletic conditions in the state were reported satisfactory.

Betting on games gave trouble in only two schools, it was reported; student migration to out-of-town games, trouble in only one school; student hysteria over games, in 13; and illegitimate recruiting of athletes by alumni, in only six. No college was found to be making a real profit from athletic activities.

Salaries of head coaches were found to average less than those of heads of academic departments.

WICHITA FALLS' BUYING POWER LEADS TEXAS CITIES

AVERAGE PER CAPITA SPENDING DURING 1929 WAS $700; MOTOR BUSINESS GETS LION'S SHARE

By FRED L. HASKETT

The retail business done in Wichita Falls during 1929, which information was gathered by the United States department of commerce, bureau of the census, reached the enormous sum of $30,581,325. Population considered the spending power in Wichita Falls is far greater than any other city in Texas, population of 40,000 and greater considered. At the time the census was made Wichita Falls was credited with a population of 43,690.

Retail Stores Number 737

The bureau reports 737 retail stores with a total annual business of $30,581,325, a yearly pay roll of $3,630,454, and full-time employment of 2,685 men and women. The reported number of employes does not include those working part time, although the pay roll of part-time employes is included in salaries and wages. Merchandise in stock for sale at the end of 1929 shows a cost value of $4,471,259.

The total of 737 stores includes 554 single-store independents, 28 units of 2-store multiples, and 16 units of 3-store multiples. There are also 60 units of local chains, 20 units of sectional chains, and 47 units of national chains. Sales of these three types of chain organizations aggregate $9,264,359, or 30 per cent of the total retail business, while sales of the single-store independents amount to $17,286,304, or 57 per cent. These figures are based upon reports received in 1930 covering the year 1929.

Leased departments reported by department stores and included in the figures submitted by them are not counted as separate establishments. Those reported independently by their proprietors are shown as separate establishments. There are four units of leased department chains in Wichita Falls.

Automotive Group Leads

The automotive group takes the lead in this report, with the food group second, and the general merchandise group third in order of sales.

Food stores total 190, and report sales of $5,516,588, or 18 per cent of the total retail business. Of this number, 57 are grocery stores with sales of $453,896, while three are meat markets with sales of $109,288, and 112 are combination stores (groceries and meats) with sales of $4,644,814. Of the 169 grocery and combination stores, 127 are single-store independents with sales of $2,144,979, while 26 are local multi-units with sales of $1,576,465, and 16 are units of sectional and national chains with sales of $1,377,266. Many bakeries which manufacture their own products are included in the census of manufactures, and do not appear in this report, but three stores selling bakery goods are reported.

The automotive group, with 190 establishments, does a business of $9,649,753, or 32 per cent of the total retail business. Sales in 12 motor vehicle establishments amount to $6,665,892, and sales in 19 accessory, tire and battery stores to $723,662. A total of 96 filling stations is reported with aggregate sales of $1,496,627 in gas, oil, tires and other accessories. This merchandise is also sold in 56 garages whose total business of $576,300 includes receipts from repairs and storage as well as from sales. Of the filling stations, 37 are single-store independents with sales of $696,668, while 35 are local multi-units with sales of $588,780, and 24 are units of sectional and national chains with sales of $211,179. The motor vehicle business appears unusually high due to the existence in Wichita Falls of automobile retailers who are also large distributors, although in all cases their retail sales are more than half their total volume. The value of motor vehicles distributed by them to other retailers but included in the sales figure is $1,030,491.

Department Store Sales

The general merchandise group, which includes department stores, dry goods stores, and variety, 5-and-10, and to-a-dollar stores, reports sales of $4,372,922 in 16 stores, employs the full-time services of 523 men and women, and pays $542,241 annually in salaries and wages. The six department stores report sales of $2,407,144, while five dry goods stores and five variety, 5-and-10, and to-a-dollar stores report total sales of $1,965,778. Inventory for the group as of the end of the reporting year totals $1,058,590.

The apparel group of 40 stores reports a business of $2,316,632, employs 202 full-time people, and pays $350,627 in salaries and wages annually. This group consists of eight men's stores, eight women's specialty shops, five clothing stores, six millinery shops, nine shoe stores, one hosiery shop and three other apparel and accessory shops. Of the shoe stores, three are single-store independents and six are units of multi-unit organizations.

The 109 restaurants and other eating places in Wichita Falls employ 290 full-time people, and do a business of $1,447,511. This volume of business is exclusive of meals served in dining rooms operated by hotels and boarding houses, and of lunches served in drug stores. The total pay roll of the 109 restaurants and eating places is $256,655.

Furniture Sales Good

The furniture and household group total 22 stores, employs 155 full-time people, and does a business of $1,246,529. Furniture stores sell $1,015,917 of this total in 12 stores, while five household appliance stores account for $148,409 of the balance.

The lumber and building group, with 44 stores and yards, reports 194 full-time employes, and a total retail business of $2,414,179. This group includes lumber yards, and hardware, electrical, heating and plumbing, and paint and glass stores. Planing mills and similar establishments which manufacture building materials are included in the census of manufacturers and do not appear in this report.

Other large business classifications shown in detail in this report are drug stores, jewelry stores, office, school and store supplies and equipment stores, and feed stores. Of the 43 drug stores, 32 are single-store independents and 11 are local multi-units.

This report is a comprehensive picture of the retail business in Wichita Falls, and is part of the first basic nation-wide census of distribution now being compiled by the bureau of the census.

NOCONA SHOWS BUSINESS CAN BECOME BETTER

New Homes Being Built While Little Plants Keep Many Busy

HIGHWAYS NEEDED MOST TO EXPAND TRADE AREA

Citizens Endeavoring to Bring About Building Better Highways

Merchants and bankers of Nocona are looking upon the summer business to be much better than for the past two years and that the business depression is not only around the corner but will get close to the hill top by mid-summer.

Last summer Nocona was favored with several showers that while local covered the retail trade area. Fair crops were produced and few farmers were compelled to borrow money to make this year's crop or food lor living expenses. There has been little aid asked of the Red Cross.

There are now new residences under construction in Nocona and the industrial or leather plants of the city are doing a good business. A number of men and women are employed in these factories.

The oil and gas fields near Nocona are not so active, due to the depressed condition of the oil business. However, the belief is given that activities will be renewed within a few months.

The business men are now giving more attention to the construction of improved highways, which are needed to give the town a more extended trade area. Nocona is situated in the Red river valley and its farms are diversified. Many of the farmers are German and Italian.

There is no better grape, orchard and truck farming area in Texas than surrounds the town. The farmers are increasing their dairy herds, also raising more poultry and swine.

Construction New Frederick Public Building Started

Construction of the basement and footings for the new federal building at Frederick started this past week and considerable material has been removed.

Shipments of the first materials to be used have been received and the contracting firm, Upchurch Construction company, expect to make rapid progress upon the building.

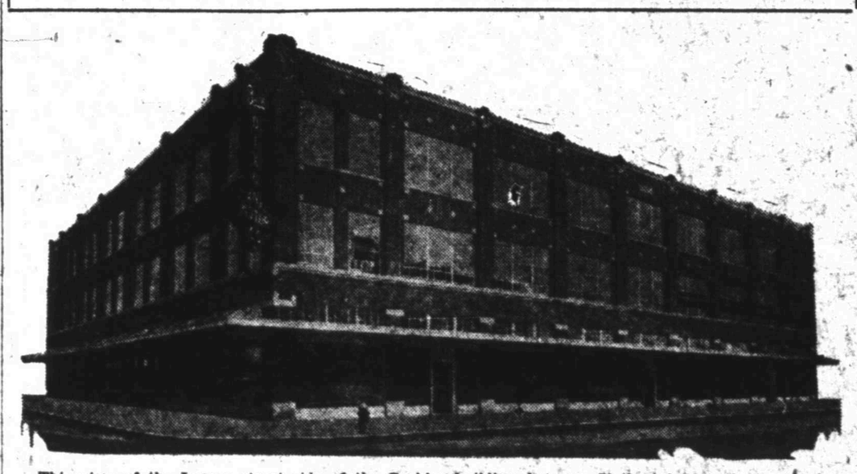
A government inspector is expected to be upon the job within a few days.

Trains on the new Santa Fe line from Amarillo to Boise City will be running about May 1 with operation of the new line from Spearman to Morse starting at about the same time.

Dallas has recently voted $300,000 in bonds for making Love field one of the outstanding airports in the world.

A copper wire factory is being planned at El Paso as a part of a $3,000,000 copper refinery.

HOME OF NEWEST MOTOR BUSINESS IN WICHITA FALLS



This view of the Lamar street side of the Barkley building, between Sixth and Seventh streets, shows the location of the new motor business of Ben Lockhart. The south section of the building, to the right, has been leased and a complete stock of Oakland and Pontiac and Oldsmobiles will be on display about May 1. Ben Lockhart has been engaged in the motor business in Wichita Falls for many years. At present he is the owner and manager of the L. & M. Auto Market, 607 Lamar. A complete and modern service department will be a feature of the new firm and the used car market, which adjoins the new quarters, will be continued.

BOULDER DAM IS TO BE GREATEST ONE EVER BUILT

Actual construction of the Boulder dam across Boulder canyon is now under way. The dam will cost $48,890,999, and when the project is finally finished the total expenditure will be $109,999,000.

The dam will be across the Colorado river in Nevada. It will be 1,180 feet long and 727 feet above the bed of the river. At its base the thickness will be 650 feet and tapers to a width of 45 feet at the top.

The first task in building the dam is the boring of four tunnels 50 feet in diameter and a mile long. When this task is finished water from the river will be diverted into these tunnels and work then can start on the coffer dams, which will give the workmen a dry rock base upon which to start the foundation of the great dam.

Between two and three thousand men will be given employment. Already more than 10,000 men have filed applications for jobs. The nearest town to the dam site is Las Vegas, Nev., although a town named Boulder City is being constructed as a place for workmen to reside. Boulder City is eight miles below the dam.

BUSINESS BETTER IN FLOYD COUNTY AS WHEAT GROWS

Conditions in Floyd county, one of the banner agricultural counties of the South Plains area, and served by the manufacturing and jobbers of Wichita Falls, is in a prosperous condition, due to the recent rains which covered the county.

According to The Plainsman, published at Floydada, reports that the wheat crop will continue to thrive for several days without additional rainfall. The prospects for a bumper wheat crop was never better and when the harvest starts employment will be given to hundreds of men. The crop in Floyd county is handled almost entirely with combines.

It is also predicted the largest row crop, maize and kaffir, will be planted. The demand for harvest machinery will mean many sales and old equipment will be placed in good condition. The grain harvest will mean an enormous consumption of motor fuels and lubricants.

NEW TREASURER

Announcement has been made by J. L. Jackson Jr., president of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, of the resignation of M. A. Ellis as treasurer of the organization and the appointment by the board of directors of Oral Jones, cashier and vice president of the City National bank, to succeed Mr. Ellis.

HEADLIGHTS

F. L. H.

A news story from Nocona that appeared in an issue of The Record News this past week was of real interest and something worthwhile in community building. The story told of the growth of the plant and business volume of the Nocona Boot company.

Nocona for many years had the most noted factory in the United States that manufactured cowboy boots. A few years ago, about 1926, the factory was moved to a large Texas city.

Men and women who had devoted years of their life in making the products of the factory did not desire to leave Nocona, so another company was formed and many of the old employes went to work for the new company.

The factory started off on a small scale but business came rapidly and expansions were necessary. Finally the management purchased a small factory that had an outstanding reputation for the making of spurs and bits.

Business continued good and during the depression period the factories had all the business they could handle and maintain the quality of the products. The announcement this week was to the effect that the factories are to be combined and larger quarters provided.

Nocona is a small town, 2,352 population. It is on the Katy railroad about 60 miles east of Wichita Falls. The success of the factory is not due to the location, its capital stock or money upon which to operate. Its success is due to the quality of the products manufactured.

The quality of the products is due to the quality of the workers, both men and women. These people are pure American stock, willing and ready to give their company the best that is in them, and this the factory gives to the dealer and the dealer to the customer.

There are a number of small industries that can be operated at a profit in Wichita Falls. They can be started in a small way and grow with the demand for the products. Make it better and there is a demand for it.

Wichita Falls has many men and women who can soon become experts in industrial work. They should be given an opportunity to improve their conditions and establish for themselves a trade that will prove profitable. Give them employment and their earnings will flow back into the retail stores, theaters and the banks.

Adopt a program that is feasible and constructive. Then build to that program. What man wills to be done usually can be done.

BIG SPARK PLUG ORDER GIVEN TO LOCAL CONCERN

Spark plugs by the thousands will be sold to farmers of Northwest Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma to harvest the big oat and wheat crop that is now in prospect.

Combines are pulled with tractors. A motor operates the combine. Trucks are used to haul grain from the combine to the elevators. Harvest work requires that equipment be in tiptop condition so that there be no accidents and as little loss time as possible.

A record sale of spark plugs was made by the Archenhold Auto Supply company of Wichita Falls this past week when a firm at Plainview, out on the South Plains where a record wheat crop is expected, purchased 1,500 spark plugs as an initial order.

The management of the motor firm stated that they expected to see this supply exhausted before the harvest starts as the farmers will get their equipment in order within the next 30 days. The harvest on the South Plains will start in June.

Tractors and combines are adding to the volume of automotive supply house trade, state dealers. The automotive concerns supply not only spark plugs but fan belts, bearings, connecting rods, pistons and pins, also many other items for motors.

BETTER BUSINESS REPORTED VERNON, ELECTRA, SEYMOUR

A business report from Vernon, Electra and Seymour shows that business is not yet up to normal but that conditions are improving and business better than for past months.

Each of these cities are surrounded by good agricultural lands and the promise for a good wheat crop is flattering. It is expected business will show good revival when the harvest season starts.

NEW GROCERY STORES TO BE OPENED IN ESTELLINE

The Moreman-Bell Hardware and Furniture company and A. J. Rogers & Son, both firms located in Estelline, are preparing to open grocery stores in that thriving little city of Hall county.

It is expected that both stores will be open for business about Friday, May 1. Estelline has a large trade area and it is thickly populated.

Texas has an inexhaustible supply of many kinds of clay, more than 400 of which have been proved by tests to be commercially valuable.

There are in Texas 15,062 churches and the membership is 2,280,336. The Sunday school enrollment is 1,102,292.

New vegetable and fruit packing plants are being constructed at Muelshoe, Brownsville, Harlingen, Santa Rosa and other towns in Texas.

Texas in 1930 produced one-tenth of the entire mineral output of the United States. Totals, United States, $4,795,000,000; Texas, $470,000,000. There are 48 states in the union.

STEEL DEMAND SHOWS BETTER GAIN IN AREA

Panhandle Steel Products Company Make Splendid Shipments Past Week

MANY MEN ARE GIVEN EMPLOYMENT IN PLANT

Although Season Quiet at Present Yet 50 Men Are Kept Busy

A number of large shipments of structural steel have been made this past week from points east to Fort Worth and west to Lubbock by the Panhandle Steel Products company of Wichita Falls.

Steel was shipped to Gainesville and Fort Worth, both orders being nice ones. One of the major orders came from the Texas Technological college at Lubbock, where a new power house is being erected. Two solid carloads of structural steel went from Wichita Falls for this job.

The local firm also shipped a carload of structural steel for the new Landers Garage building at Amarillo. The garage has a dimension of 60 by 153 feet. In addition to this order additional order for steel beams was received for the Buesus Panhandle Elevators, which concern is erecting a million-bushel storage elevator in Amarillo.

Two large shipments of steel were made for public school buildings at Sweetwater and Stamford.

Practically all the business now being received by the Panhandle Steel Products company is coming from Western Texas, or territory west of Wichita Falls. While the present time is considered very slack yet 50 men are now being given employment in the steel plant.

The Panhandle Steel Products company recently inaugurated a more extensive sales program, which will cover all of Texas and Oklahoma. The officials believe and are confident that Wichita Falls can become the center of the steel business in Texas.

The local demand for steel, used in tank buildings, bridges, buildings, highways and manufacturing of oil field machinery, is much greater than in some of the larger cities of Texas. It is because of this near-by business that large orders can be placed with the mills for all kinds of steel-sheet, I-bars, angle and rods, giving the Wichita Falls company an opportunity to purchase their requirements on a quantity basis, thereby permitting them to compete for business in any area of Texas or Oklahoma.

Labor Elated Over Action to Provide Prevailing Wages

The Bricklayer, Mason and Plasterer, official magazine of the international union of these craftsmen, published in its issue of March a picture showing the pen and staff used by President Herbert Hoover when he signed the bill known as the prevailing rate bill, relating to the rate of wages of laborers and mechanics employed on public buildings of the United States and District of Columbia.

Two pens and staffs were used by President Hoover when he signed the bill. One was presented to the union and the other to Congressman R. J. Welch of California, chairman house committe on labor.

The bill provides that any expenditure of the government upon public buildings in the United States or District of Columbia, that the prevailing wage scale must be paid by the contractors, which applies to all contracts in excess of $5,000.

The law is a good one and will prevent unscrupulous contractors from running bids down and then endeavor to secure cheap labor to do the work. The copy of the magazine was presented to the Daily Times by Harry Awker of Wichita Falls.

The organization, states Mr. Awker, also owns a large brick plant at El Paso, Texas, and is finding a good demand for its products over the Southwest.

RAPID PROGRESS BEING MADE ON HIGHWAY THAT WILL GIVE BETTER SERVICE INTO CITY

Rapid progress is being made upon improved roads and bridges in several Northwest Texas counties.

The contractors on highway 30 across Haskell county expect to complete the paved concrete highway about Nov. 1. When the highway is finished it will close the worst section of the Wichita Falls-Abilene road and give manufacturers and jobbers of Wichita Falls a much better outlet into that section. Haskell county is one of the best agricultural counties in Northwest Texas.

Progress is now being made on the approach of the new bridge across the Red river south of Terral, Okla. The north approach and concrete road from the bridge to Terral is finished. On the Texas side the grade is being constructed and workmen are preparing forms for the concrete drainage structures. The job is a big one and will not be finished until July. The new bridge is of steel and concrete and perhaps the most costly bridge yet constructed across this stream between Texas and Oklahoma.

Approximately two-thirds of the concrete floor of the new steel and concrete bridge across the Red river between Quanah and Eldorado has been poured. When the floor is finished the railing will be poured. It is expected this bridge will be opened for traffic within a few weeks.

On May 5 the contract will be let by the states of Texas and Oklahoma for a new concrete and steel bridge between Frederick and Vernon. The estimate of the cost is $150,000. This bridge will afford employment to a large force of workmen.

The state road crew is widening the shoulders of the paved highway from Henrietta into Wichita Falls. This work will be finished within a few weeks. It has made the highway much more safe for the immense amount of traffic that passes over it.

At Rhome good progress is being made on the underpass for the northwest highway which crosses under the Denver railroad tracks. The concrete for this road has been finished from Dallas to Grapevine. The grade is finished from Grapevine to within five miles of Rhome, and in use to Roanoke. The grade to eliminate the double curve at Rhome is also about finished. When the highway is opened it will mean a saving of several miles from Northwest Texas cities and Southern Oklahoma into Dallas, also eliminating much congestion in traffic through Fort Worth and the Fort Worth-Dallas pike.

In Childress county the grade and drainage structures are being finished between Childress and the Hardeman county line. Due to a decision of the higher courts it is expected that the route of the highway from Childress to Wellington will be forced back to the old road, which has been in use for 40 years. However, the decision may effect a long delay in construction of the paved road as grade work and drainage structures have been finished on the route designated by the state engineers. It may also force a shortage of funds.

Nocona citizens are working earnestly in endeavoring to get highway 5 paved across the north portion of Montague county, so as to provide an all-weather and short route into Wichita Falls.

McCOLLUM STORE WILL BE OPENED SOON IN ESTELLINE

The general merchandise store of J. L. McCollum, which was destroyed by fire at Estelline a few days past, is to be re-opened just as soon as the insurance matters are adjusted and a new location obtained, states the manager, J. L. McCollum.

The store was one of the oldest and largest in Estelline and had enjoyed a large patronage. The store was destroyed when the Chevrolet automobile agency building was found burning, which adjoined the McCollum store.

BUILDING PERMITS

Repair permits totaling $1,125 were issued during the week ending April 24 by City Engineer F. M. Rugeley. This figure brings the total for the month to $7,375 and for the year to $40,376.

The permits follow:

J. B. Scarborough, repair residence, 1401 North Sixth street, $600.

T. P. Norwood, repair residence, 1302 Fourth street, $300.

M. E. Peters, repair residence, 2600 Tenth street, $225.

Muleshoe, out on the South Plains, is expanding its irrigated area. Shallow wells furnish the water.

NEW RAIL PROGRAM WILL HELP IMPROVE DEMAND FOR LABOR

Approval of the plan submitted by the Burlington, Rock Island and Katy railroads to the Interstate Commerce commission relative to operation of the Trinity and Brazos Valley railroad, using Katy tracks out of Dallas to Waxahachie and extension of service from Houston into Galveston, means much to the manufacturers and farmers of Northwest Texas.

The route will afford the most direct line from Dallas to tidewater and is a single line road as regards freight charges. The opening of the route will mean that the Burlington lines will throw much more tonnage over the Colorado & Southern and Fort Worth & Denver roads, which are Burlington properties. This additional tonnage will mean the operation of extra trains, thus giving employment to more men and increasing operating expenses all the way from fuel oil to maintainance of the road way.

Not only will more tonnage come from the northwest territory but there should be an increase in tonnage from tidewater ports. This is especially true in the shipment of bananas. This fruit requires rapid transit and the combination as worked out will give the new line quite an advantage in the movement of this fruit from gulf ports into the central and northwest sections.

It is expected the new service will be inaugurated shority. Work of improving the properties has been going forward for several months, being necessary to enable the movement of heavier and fast trains.

Grocery System Is Organized Here by Community Dealers

The organization of a system of Red and White stores for the Wichita Falls area was announced this past week by H. E. Terrell, manager of the Wooten Wholesale Grocery.

The system has a membership of 33 local grocery merchants, who own their own stores. There is no chain system in the organization except that the members are pledged to purchase their requirements from one concern, thus increasing the purchasing power.

The new system uses much newspaper advertising and where the organization has been made in other cities has proven very successful.

Committees to carry out the purposes of the organization were named as follows:

Advisory—H. E. Terrell, manager of Wooten's, chairman; J. B. Whitman, J. R. Parker and S. P. Reed, Wichita Falls; J. V. Longan, Archer City and E. C. Moore, Bluegrove.

Advertising—Mr. Terrell, chairman; O. V. Rhoades and E. E. Wilson, Wichita Falls; Claude Reeves, Iowa Park.

Membership—Mr. Terrell, chairman; E. M. Pepper and C. A. Fuhs, Wichita Falls; Tom Harms, Burkburnett.

Courthouse for Sale

Who is in the market for one courthouse, including vaults and all junk furniture? The commissioners court of Collingsworth county is offering their 40-year-old building for sale. Bids will be accepted on Monday, May 11.

Spring weather is making the tire and tube business better. Old batteries are beginning to break down, too, which means more business for the motor accessory stores.

Irrigation projects are being increased in Cameron county. This month's projects to the cost of $1,300,000 were awarded in contracts.

Many graduating classes in Texas this year are going to dress in clothes made from cotton.

Temple has recently granted the Texas Power and Light company a 30-year franchise.

Kell Field Improvements to Give Wichita Falls One of Best Ports To Be Found in Northwest Texas

Work is now in progress in removal of hangars and other buildings from Staley field to the Kell field, located north of the city on the Burkburnett highway. When the buildings are reconstructed at Kell field the municipal airport is going to be one of the largest of any city in Texas under 150,000 population. The Wichita Falls port compares favorably with the port at Fort Worth and excels ports in Waco, Austin, Amarillo, Abilene and other cities.

Authorization of the new air mail line between Dallas and Pueblo, with extension of service into Denver and the Pacific Northwest, gives assurance that the air travel business will increase in Wichita Falls.

It is believed that it will not be long until there will be air service to the Mexico border, the line probably running through Abilene, San Angelo, San Antonio and Laredo. In event of such a service mail service into Mexico and Central American nations can be inaugurated.

Wichita Falls is likely to become the air center for this region because of the excellent field at Kell airport, also for the fact that there is a mechanical shop and a stock of parts for many of the popular makes of airplanes.

Foard County Farmers Purchase Many Combines to Harvest Record Wheat Crop That Is Now Maturing

The sale of 60 combines at Crowell to harvest the wheat crop of Foard county, is reported in business circles in Wichita Falls.

Foard county has promise of the greatest wheat crop ever produced and the farmers are losing no time in getting ready to harvest the crop. It is estimated that the acreage this season is at least six times above normal and the condition of the crop the best ever known.

It has been estimated by some that Foard county will have a production in excess of 2,000,000. Figuring the yield at 40 bushels to the acre this gives 80,000 acres in wheat and that amount is not exagerated. It is likely the acreage will run close to 60,000 acres.

Figuring 1,000 bushels of wheat to the carload it means that 2,000 freight cars will be necessary to haul the grain out of the county. If these cars are moved at an average of 50 cars to the train it will require 40 trains to move the cars.

Foard county was compelled to plant heavily of wheat last fall. The drouth destroyed the grass and no feed or cotton was produced. The farmers planted wheat as a lifesaver for live stock and poultry. There was excellent pasture through the entire winter months and some farmers received good returns from pasturing cattle.

The wheat harvest will start in Foard county about June 1 as the crop is at least two weeks earlier than the average. Fields that will be harvested with a binder will be cut at least 10 days earlier than fields that will be combined.

CRUDE PRICE CUTS SLOW OPERATIONS IN WICHITA DISTRICT

Completions in Orth Areas of Young And Archer Counties Chief Features Of Inactive Period in Local Section

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

Further drastic reductions in the posted price of the district's crude, announced by the different major purchasing companies in the past few days were a poor incentive to stimulate development, and as a result activities in the Wichita Falls pools were slowed up considerably during the week.

Several producers were brought in, the Orth field in Young and Jack counties furnishing these wells. Of these completions the best reported was Texas-McKanna, No. A-2 Jeffery, in section 42, T. E. & L. survey, south of Orth, making 400 barrels from the 710-foot pay. This is an east offset to the Lee-Brashear, No. 2 Jeffery, finished 10 days ago as a 600-barrel flowing well from the same pay horizon.

New locations staked out showed a loss when compared with those of the previous seven days, a total of nine being made in the various pools.

Progress on the different deep tests during the week failed to bring to the fore anything of an interesting nature, although one or two are nearing the interesting depths.

In south Wichita county the Deep Oil Developmentcompany, No. 1 Munger, north of Kemp City, started drilling out the cement plug at 1875 to 2000 feet which is expected to result in the shutting off of water coming through a split joint at 1915 feet. The same company's No. 1 J. Hirschi in D. Cowan survey, north of the townsite of Clara, is fast approaching the contract depth of 5500 feet and is now drilling in lime at 5300 feet.

The deep tests surrounding the Deep Oil-Lindsay, No. 1 L. F. Wilson, north of Archer City in Acher county, continue to hold the attention of the operators and important happenings are looked for in the next day or two. South of the producer three miles Frazier-King, No. 1 King, in the Henry survey, abstract 163, has passed through the big lime at 2190 feet and is feeling for a sand. W. C. Young, two and a quarter miles south in block 148, Harris subdivision, is engaged in fishing in the lime at 2196 feet.

Pipe line runs for the week averaged 61,900 barrels daily, a loss of 753 barrels, compared with the preceding week's total, which was 62,653 barrels.

WELL EXTENDS LOVING COUNTY SHALLOW FIELD

Second Producer in North Ector Increases Yield

THREE TESTS GET OIL IN GRANDFALLS AREA

Week One of Most Active Of Year in West Texas

SAN ANGELO, Texas, April 25.—Extending of the Wheat deep, high gravity, sweet oil field in Loving county three-quarters of a mile north, the completion of northern Ector county's second producer for about 35 per cent greater initial yield than the discovery well; the striking of oil in an Irion test indicating the ninth shallow producer in that field and the addition of three Ward county wells in the Grandfalls area and two in the Toborg-Tippett field in Pecos county made this week, one of the most active of the year in West Texas.

Southern Crude Oil Purchasing company's No. 2-A Cowden in section 34, block 43, township 1 north, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey, in northern Ector county, was completed at 4302 feet when it had drilled about two feet into blue shale, 1237 feet below sea level, and 307 feet in the grey lime. On two consecutive 24-hour tests, flowing through open eight-inch casing, it gauged 450 barrels. The well was to have been pinched Thursday and there likely will be no further development or exploration by Southern Crude in the area until conditions in the oil industry improve, crude prices being at new low levels and the field having no outlet. No. 2-A Cowden is 3630 feet southwest of No. 1-A Cowden, the discovery well, which was completed last October at 4244 feet for initial production of 281 barrels daily, flowing through tubing. It now is pinched to 40 barrels a day.

Eppenauer Drilling company's No. 1 Salisbury, extending the Wheat field in Loving county three-quarters of a mile north from Eppenauer No. 1 Allen, flowed 132 barrels of oil the first 24 hours after it was shot with 190 quarts from 4343-53 feet. After cleaning out, its production increased to 158 barrels but dropped to 98 barrels during 24 hours ending Tuesday morning. It then drilled out a two-foot plug to 4384 feet and was to be deepened about 16 feet and then shot with 80 quarts. No. 1 Salisbury topped the Delaware lime at 4343 feet, 1537 feet below sea level, and drilled to 4384. It had not struck water but plugged back two feet before shooting as is customary in the area.

Well Tops Sand

Oil rose 1000 feet in seven hours in the F. E. Webb & Son, Brazelton Bros. and C. C. Williams' No. 1 Nutt in Irion county within seven hours after it topped the pay at 1449 feet and drilled to 1464 feet, still in sand. Gas was estimated at 200,000 cubic feet. The well shut down for tubing connections, flow lines and three 250-barrel tanks and was expected to test late in the week. The pay sand was topped six feet higher than in Carl Cromwell's No. 1 Nutt, a producer offsetting on the south, which initially produced 60 barrels of oil daily. The new well is 150 feet from the south line and 1160 feet from the west line of subdivision 5, Gonzales county school land. Stanolind Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Williams in southeastern Irion county, eight miles south and slightly east of the shallow pool, had drilled to 4750 feet in lime and shale. On April 7 this wildcat opened a new horizon in Irion, striking black, sweet oil from 4163-73 feet in brown, sandy porous lime. It bailed 18 barrels of oil hourly for four hours without lowering 300 feet of oil. This pay will be plugged back to and developed if No. 1 Williams fails to get the horizon from which the world's deepest wells flow in Reagan county, 35 miles farther west, at depths ranging from 8525 to 8923 feet.

Attracted by possibilities of finding the deep pay in Irion county, Benedum & Trees, world renowned wildcatters of Pittsburgh, Pa., began moving in materials for a deep test on the ranch of the J. D. Sugg heirs, about 15 miles northwest of Mertzon and twice as far northwest of the Stanolind well. Contract was awarded to B. F. Agnew & Son of Texon, who have drilled many wells in the Big Lake field in Reagan county. Location is 1560 feet from the south line and 925 feet from the west line of section 3081, block 28, H. & T. C. Ry. Co. survey.

The Toborg-Tippett shallow pool immediately northwest of the Yates field in Pecos county added to its rapidly growing prestige when Corvette Oil company's No. 2 Monroe pumped 650 barrels of oil in 24 hours and Southern Oil corporation of America's No. 3 Tippett pumped 563.75 barrels in the same period. Both were completed this week. The Corvette well, in section 39, block 194, G. C. & S. F. Ry. Co. survey, topped the pay at 443 feet and drilled to 476 feet. The Southern Oil corporation producer topped the pay at 501 feet and was completed at 513 feet. It is in section 40, block 194, G. C. & S. F. Ry. Co.

FIVE WELLS IN DUNCAN FIELDS ARE ABANDONED

Active Oil Operations in Territory Reduced to Two

WILDCAT TEST SEEKS SAND NEAR COMANCHE

Colbert and Cole Log Show Of Gas in Cotton County

DUNCAN, Okla., April 25.—Five oil tests were abandoned during the last week in Stephens, Cotton and Jefferson counties, reducing the number of active operations in that territory to two, both in Stephens county.

The Carter Oil company's No. 1 L. W. Florence, in the NW NE NE of 11-3s-6w, a wildcat exploring for the Wilcox sand about nine miles east and three south of the town of Comanche, was drilling in lime at 3068 feet, as the only drilling well in Stephens county.

Lee Morrison's No. 1 Hightower, in the SW SW NE of 15-3s-5w, in the Stephens county gas field southwest of the town of Loco, was drilled to 1135 feet and plugged back to 925 feet. Gas sand found between 918 and 920 feet will be tested.

Crane and Rankin's No. 1 Adkins, in the NE NE SE of 14-1n-9w, a wildcat just north of the Oil City field, is still shut down in a hard formation at 3285 feet, with operators undecided whether to resume drilling or abandon.

Obermeyer and Taylor have abandoned their No. 1 Skelton, in the NE SW SW of 32-1s-7w, an old wildcat operation five miles south of Duncan. Total depth is 1588 feet.

Wildcat Shut Down

Paul Turner and associates' No. 1 W. M. Andrews, in the NW SW SW of 5-2s-7w, a wildcat six miles south of Duncan, is still shut down at 1827 feet.

Ross Southard and associates' No. 1 O. R. McKinney, in the NE NE NE of 25-1n-8w, a wildcat, three miles northwest of Duncan, is still shut down at 1063 feet.

Colbert and Cole have abandoned their No. 1 Thomas, in the SE NW SW of 22-2s-11w, a wildcat about three miles west of Walters in Cotton county, at 2200 feet, after logging a show of gas in sand from 2055 to 2067 feet.

Gilbert and Lowery's No. 1 Forney, in the center of the SE SE of 4-2s-11w, a wildcat, about five miles northwest of Walters, is abandoned at 2289 feet (corrected total depth).

Max Pray and associates' No. 1 Cline, in the NE NE NE of 8-3n-10w, a scheduled 4500-foot wildcat test near the Fort Sill military reservation in Comanche county, is still shut down at 2228 feet.

C. V. Chenault and associates' No. 1-A Grogan, in the NE SW NW of 23-7s-6w, just west of the old Humble field, in southern Jefferson county, is abandoned at 1801 feet.

Will H. Smith's No. 1 McClarty, in the SE NW NE of 18-4s-8w, a wildcat one and one-half miles southeast of the town of Hastings in Jefferson county, is abandoned at 2667 feet.

Don Phillips Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Lyle, in the NE SE SW NE of 28-2s-2w, a wildcat, one and one-half miles northeast of the town of Graham in Carter county, is rigged up and shut down.

If the establishment of canning plants continues in Texas it will not be many years until Texas will send all surplus fruits, berries and vegetables out of the state. Texas has long been a buyer of canned foods.

East Texas Oil

LONGVIEW, Texas, April 25. (UP)—Adjustments in the distribution of allowable production from the three pools in the East Texas oil field will be sought Monday at a meeting here of producers and purchasers. The conclave has been called by the Texas Railroad commission.

Members of the East Texas advisory committee and all producers have likewise been requested to attend the meeting. A delegation of Kilgore producers Friday protested in Austin, claiming that the 40,000 barrels daily allowable placed on the pool did not represent equitable distribution of the total 130,000 barrels, considering potential and the number of wells.

The protest said the 60,000 barrels daily allowed the Joiner pool is excessive. A compromise for the two pools at 50,000 barrels daily is expected.

Revised potential and allowable figures on the Lathrop pool show 32 wells having daily potential of 57,764 barrels daily through 11-16th inch choke on 2½-inch tubing.

LONGVIEW, Texas, April 25. (UP)—New saturated cores taken from the Sinclair Oil and Gas company's No. 1 M. T. Cole from 3647-60 feet today increased hopes for a three-mile south and eastern extension of the Gregg county producing field.

Remodeling Electra Station

Mid-Continent Oil Activities

TULSA, Okla., April 25. (UP)—The campaign for a tariff on imports of foreign oil was given impetus at the second annual convention of the Independent Petroleum Producers association which closed last night.

The association has been the crusader for a tariff on oil before congress at two different times. Although oil leaders among the 500 operators attending the convention agreed that conditions had been improved by recent conferences, they were careful in wording, resolutions to avoid giving the impression that the demand for a tariff had slackened.

Work of the oil states advisory committee was praised by Wirt Franklin, Oklahoma City, president of the association. Work of the committee was satirized in a skit called "solving the oil problem." Senator Borah received the most criticism for his recent statement about the oil industry that aroused oil men.

E. B. Reeser, president of the American Petroleum institute, said that 95 per cent of oil men were willing to cooperate but that the minority of 5 per cent who were unwilling dictated the policy.

Franklin said that prices for crude were too low and that the minimum profitable price was $1 a barrel. He said Oklahoma operators would be better off financially if they produced 450,000 barrels of oil daily instead of 600,000 barrels.

Franklin was re-elected president. Harold B. Fell, Ardmore, was again named executive vice president; Russell B. Brown, Tulsa, counsel, and Dudley C. Monk, Tulsa, secretary-treasurer.

New state vice presidents are: Arkansas, Joseph Mahoney, Eldorado; California, J. R. Dorsey, Bakersfield; Colorado, Warwick Downing, Denver; Illinois, William Bell, Robinson; Kansas, A. D. Allison, Wichita; Kentucky, Paul G. Blazer, Ashland; Louisiana, W. Scott Heywood, Jennings; Montana, C. J. Dousman, Baker; New Mexico, Van S. Welch, Artesia; New York, J. Edward Jones, New York City; North Dakota, H. C. Schumacher, Fargo; Ohio, I. C. Grimm, Marietta; Oklahoma, Paul S. Ache, Tulsa; Texas, Marrs McLean, Beaumont; West Virginia, W. S. Hallinan, Charleston; Wyoming, Ray Phebus, Thermopolis, and Pennsylvania, W. J. Brunded, Oil City.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 25. (UP)—Sunray Oil corporation of Tulsa paid fines before the state corporation commission today totaling $5,000. The company pleaded guilty to nine charges of overproduction and one charge of failing to report pipe line runs in the Oklahoma City field.

The penalty was the heaviest imposed upon any Oklahoma operator for violation of the proration laws.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 25. (UP)—Pipe line runs from the Oklahoma City field exceeded production yesterday. The 97 wells on flowline produced 155,856 barrels, while purchasers took 191,084 barrels, reduced the storage more than 35,000 barrels.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS HOLD TO LEVELS OF PREVIOUS WEEK

General Conditions Hold Ground In Spite of Unsettling Effect of Persistent Weakness in Stocks

NEW YORK, April 25. (UP)—Further severe financial readjustment overshadowed general business conditions throughout the country during the past week. Business conditions, as a whole about held the levels of the preceding week but sentiment suffered somewhat through the failure of a large stock exchange house.

Suspension of the brokerage house climaxed a month of falling stock prices, during which time many of the leading shares sold below their extreme bear market lows established last December. Much of this liquidation was traced to the impending brokerage failure rather than to any definite change in the business outlook.

Nevertheless the persistent weakness in stocks had had an unsettling effect on general business and has dampened hopes of a more than seasonal upturn in trade during the spring months. With the elimination of the "sore spot" overhanging the market, however, stock prices may develop a better tone.

Easier Money

Another financial development of far reaching importance is the possibility of the directors of the Federal Reserve bank of New York again lowering the rediscount rate to discourage the flow of gold to this country, a movement which already has reached substantial proportions. Such a development would result in still easier money conditions at this center with a tendency of interior rates to weaken.

Actual business showed little change, but the tendency was toward small decreases. A firming influence on rates was found in the heavier borrowings by the government, together with expansion in other new security issues.

Livestock markets for the past month gave evidence of a continuation of adjustments in prices forced by the receding buying power of consumers. Cattle were affected more than any other classes of meat animals. Hogs were about 50 cents lower than a month ago, while lambs were 65 cents higher than two weeks ago.

The flour industry showed a steadying trend during the past few weeks. Mills throughout the Southwest averaged close to 50 per cent of full capacity for sales. A reduction in commercial bread sales variously estimated at 20 to 25 per cent, has reduced bakers' needs.

The heaviest insect infestation in several years threatened Texas crops. A mild fall and winter and a cool spring was attributed for the increased number of insects.

confidence of the past month and business leaders are keeping a close watch on Wall street affairs as a clue to the immediate future.

Southwest Review

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 25. (UP)—No new growing season in the history of the Southwest ever started with brilliant production prospects than this year, the Commerce Trust company reported today in its midmonthly trade digest, which summarized business conditions in the district for the past two weeks.

According to an official government report, the Southwest will harvest a crop of 366,100,000 bushels of winter wheat or almost 40,000,000 bushels in excess of the large 1930 production.

Wonderful weather conditions prevailed over the entire district during the week. Abundant rains supplied ample moisture for the range and pasture areas.

Demand for automobiles was better, some dealers, particularly in the lower priced field, noted larger sales than a year ago, although in the aggregate the volume of business was below normal.

Retail trade was slow. The flow of merchandise to retailers from manufacturers and wholesalers lagged. Wholesale trade also reported in depressed activity.

Livestock Lower

Deposits of banks showed little change, but the tendency was toward small decreases. A firming influence on rates was found in the heavier borrowings by the government, together with expansion in other new security issues.

LIQUIDATION SENDS COTTON LOWER AND EARLY GAINS LOST

NEW YORK, April 25. (AP)—A slight opening advance in cotton today was attributed to week-end covering and some buying on reports of continued cool rains or showers in the South. The demand seemed to be quite readily supplied, however, and after selling up to 10.44 July broke to 10.32 under a renewal of liquidation and scattered promoted weakness in the stock market. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the lowest on most positions with July at 10.35. The general market closed steady at net declines of 6 to 9 points.

The market opened steady 1 to 3 points higher. The initial demand was supplied around 10.18 for May and 10.32 for October, the market easing under a renewal of liquidation, May sold off to 10.07 and October to 10.69 in late trading or 7 to 10 points net lower and closing quotations were within a point or two of the lowest on most positions.

Liverpool cables reported local and foreign liquidation absorbed by trade calling and covering at the decline in the market.

Cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 69,000 bales against 78,000 last year and 96,000 two years ago.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, April 25. (AP)—The cotton market developed only moderate trading today even for a short week-end session. Today being the first notice day for May deliveries in this market, the tendency on that option totalled 96,350 bales, rather larger than expected. May consequently opened 1 point down, but soon rallied 3 points when it was known that the notices were being promptly cared for. Months beyond May opened 2 to 4 points up as cables were better than due and the weather map pointed to unfavorable weather for over the week-end. While the market ruled steady for a time, fluctuations narrowly, it eventually eased off below the highs on the active months. The close was at or near the lows showing net declines for the day of 4 to 9 points.

Liverpool came in as due 1 point better than due. Private cables stated that there was local and foreign liquidation on the New York failure but that the trade looked for cotton. Manchester stated that there were moderate cloth sales to India and China. First trades here showed a decline of 1 point on May due to the notices but later months gained 2 to 4 points with May at 10.44 and October at 10.81. Prices soon turned easier, however, on week-end liquidation and at the end of the first hour July traded at 10.39 and October at 10.74, or 5 to 7 points under the opening prices.

The market continued to ease off in light trading during the second hour, the selling being induced by easier stocks and prices made new lows for the day right at the end with July at 10.32 and October at 10.69, 12 points under the early highs. These months closed at or close to the lowest and 7 to 9 points net lower for the day.

Boston Wool Market

BOSTON, April 25. (AP)—This has been one of the most quiet weeks in the wool market since the first of the year. Trading was confined largely to 56, 60's and finer quality western grown wools. Numerous inquiries were received on the medium wools, including 56's and 50's grade. Prices were inclined to ease while there was no particular effort made to push sales, some holders were a little more willing than recently to accept the offers of buyers on account of the limited outlet for wool at such a time.

WHEAT SLUMPS ON SUDDEN STORM OF STOP LOSS SALES

CHICAGO, April 25. (AP)—Keeled over in a sudden storm of stop loss selling today, all grains except wheat plunged to fresh bottom price records. Corn and oats suffered especially from rushes to abandon ownership, whereas wheat was partly sustained by indications of dearth of moisture in spring crop territory, both American and Canadian.

Suspension of Pynchon & Co. and prolonged unsettlement of securities were bearish factors, intensified by late reports that Pynchon & Co., although not having much interest in grains, through the board of trade clearing house had considerable business with other firms.

The close was nervous in all grains at about the day's lowest figures, with corn and oats ranging from 1 cent to 2¼ cents lower, rye 1¾@1¾c off and wheat unchanged to a setback of 1¼c. Provisions finished unchanged to 7c higher.

Contrasting with drouth northwest, moisture was general elsewhere, and crop prospects for domestic winter wheat were acclaimed as almost perfect. Exporters, however, apparently were not buying more than just sufficient for hand to mouth needs. Wheat at the finish was the lowest with one exception since 1896.

Provisions were firm, upheld by steadiness of the hog market.

SHARP CHANGES IN LESS SPECULATIVE BOND OBLIGATIONS

NEW YORK, April 25. (AP)—Narrow fluctuations among better issues, sharp changes in a number of more or less speculative obligations and quiet trading generally were the principal features of the bond market today.

The average price of 30 leading issues was unchanged indicating steadiness among the more representative bonds.

Railroad obligations were irregular. Seaboard Air Line stamped 4s of 1950, Western Pacific first 5s, Missouri Pacific series F and G 5s, and International Great Northern adjustment 6s were among the rails to close 1 point or more lower. The Kansas City Southern refunding 5s, Great Northern 5½s of 1952, Northern Pacific 4½s and the prior lien 4s, St. Louis Southwestern first 4s and Southern General 6s and Consolidated 5s all appreciated.

General Theaters Equipment 6s and Warner Brothers Pictures 6s made good gains. Paramount Famous Lasky 6s closed at a new low at 90. Goodyear Tire 5s dropped sharply. Fluctuations of other industrial issues were principally fractional. Price changes in public utilities were narrow.

Chilean obligations, following a break in home securities markets, and Argentine bonds were generally lower but the fluctuations in other foreign issues were limited. Both issues of Uruguayan 6s and the 8s closed lower although the minister of that nation announced that full payments on the dollar bonds will be made punctually in regard to principal, interest and sinking fund. Belgium, German and French issues were steady to higher.

HEAVY SELLING IN FEW STOCK ISSUES WEAKENS MARKET

NEW YORK, April 25. (AP)—Heavy selling of a few issues weakened what little resistance the stock market had been able to muster during the early transactions today, and prices dropped heavily at the close.

In addition to making a new low for the year, the Standard Statistics-Associated Press composite of 90 stocks finished only four points above the year market bottom, established last December. The day's average decline was 2.7 points. Rails made a new 1931 low for the fourth time this week, industrials for the second time.

Pronounced weakness in Westinghouse, Goodyear Rubber and Johns Manville, followed by a late assault on General Electric, unsettled sentiment. Opening changes were narrow and small gains in a number of key shares suggested the presence of support, but the hammering received by special stocks quickly discouraged any covering that might have followed. For the first hour and a half the decline was slow and although in some measure it reflected the Friday suspension of a large commission house, the market as a whole seemed to have taken that news without undue alarm. The late selling represented a bear drive fortified by increased liquidation. Sales totaled 1,400,000 shares.

Pivotal stocks were generally off 1 to 2 points net.

The previously expressed view that present steel ingot output was apt to remain fairly steady for several weeks received confirmation, for the time being, in the estimate of operations in the Youngstown district next week. Unofficial advice said the rate would be unchanged at 43 per cent of capacity. Another encouraging piece of week-end news was the sales report of Sears Roebuck for its fourth calendar period, showing a reduction of only 5.80 per cent from a year ago, the best comparison of the year.

Firmness of bonds was in contrast to the weakness of commodities.

Narrow movements ruled in foreign exchanges. Sterling cables eased in common with the French franc and the Dutch guilder.

Friday, May 1, was officially designated Child Health day in Wichita Falls by Mayor Nelson in a proclamation issued Saturday. The proclamation follows:

"Whereas, the youth of Wichita Falls are its future citizens;

"Whereas, the efficiency and wealth of a community are dependent upon the health of its citizens;

"Whereas, the basis of child welfare is child health—sound minds clothed in sound bodies;

"Whereas, May day has, through the ages, been dedicated to joyous health and happiness in the great out of doors; and in this present age has been authorized by the United States congress as child health day;

"Therefore, I, Walter Nelson Jr., mayor of the city of Wichita Falls, do hereby designate May 1 as May day in Wichita Falls, and call upon the people of Wichita Falls to celebrate this day in honor of the health and welfare of our children.

"Given under my hand and seal of office, this the 25th day of April, A. D. 1931.

"WALTER NELSON JR.,

HOLTON ENDORSES CAMPAIGN AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS HERE

"I most heartily endorse the campaign now going on under the slogan: Tuberculosis, the Foe of Youth," said Coach Barry Holton of the local high school Saturday. "This is one of the factors we always try to guard against in athletics—the overstrain which may result from too violent exertion coupled with loss of sleep and bad training in other particulars. I am glad the Wichita County Tuberculosis association is concentrating on work among these boys and girls.

"Even greater importance than usual is now attached to high school years because recent scientific knowledge, vouched for by eminent authorities, shows us that tuberculosis can exist, and does exist in people who are apparently healthy in every respect. They have been known to break down with tuberculosis while playing on athletic teams, to all outward appearances in perfect health. These authorities tell us that tuberculosis in its early stage can only be detected by the tuberculin test and the X-ray. If the disease is present, to continue in the intense work of high school or college spells disaster.

"That athletes are not immune from tuberculosis is evident when we stop to count only a few of the best known celebrities who have died of it. Christy Mathewson, who helped lift professional baseball to a plane where it was surrounded with the traditional college sportsmanship, was one. Hughie Jennings, and Johnny Miller, one of the first baseball players to get into the world war, were others.

"Urban Shocker, a great spitpitcher, went the same way. The roster of tuberculosis contains such names as Joe Gans, Frankie Callahan, Peter Jackson, Jack Doherty and 'Spider' Kelley. Boxing contributed a number of others to the list.

"Exercise is not a preventive of tuberculosis, and do not believe any one who tells you that it is. If the disease is present, exercise may be an aggravation of it. What is required is rest, and absence of strain. Overwork, or anything else that wears down the vitality may cause the incipient disease to burst into flame. We need to watch carefully the students who are entering new and intense school activities."

Coach Holton's statement was issued Saturday through the county association in connection with the scheduled clinic to start here Tuesday in the basement of the Highland Heights Christian church. Dr. Elliott Mendenhall of Dallas will be in charge, and will be assisted by Mrs. T. P. Lynch, Mrs. E. J. Reasner and Miss Mary Quinn. The clinic will be held in Iowa Park, Burkburnett and Electra on Wednesday and Thursday.

WICHITA BUSINESS WOMEN WILL STAGE CARNIVAL IN MAY

The Wichita Falls Business and Professional Women's club is sponsoring an all-civic indoor carnival and circus to be held in Wichita Falls from May 18 to 23, inclusive.

A number of social and civic clubs, as well as fraternal organizations, are participating in the affair. The sponsors are inviting additional clubs from Iowa Park, Henrietta, Electra, Vernon, Burkburnett, Olney, Graham and Archer City to participate in operating the concessions on the midway in order to make one of the greatest carnivals ever staged in Wichita Falls.

The affair will be known as the Northwest Texas exposition. It promises to be one of the best weeks of entertainment ever put on by local people.

The advance ticket sale is now on. Girls in Wichita Falls and surrounding territory are going to be busy selling these tickets. It is requested that anyone who wishes to help in the sale report to headquarters of the exposition at 529 Waggoner building.

This gala event will not only give a number of people employment, but will bring a large crowd to Wichita Falls, therefore helping to stimulate business in general, says Mrs. Joella Terrill Butler, the club's president. It is planned to hold the carnival in one of the vacant downtown buildings, which will be announced at a later date.

FORMER WICHITAN NOW RESIDING IN OREGON VISITING FATHER HERE

Hudson Nicholson of Salem, Ore., is in Wichita Falls visiting his father, J. W. Nicholson, on Princeton street. Mr. Nicholson has been in Oregon for about 10 years. He is en route home from New Orleans, where he has been attending the national convention of reserve officers. He was among the Wichitans who went to the first officers training camp at Leon Springs in 1917, being commissioned there and later going overseas with the 90th division.

When the Bevering girl fell from the swing at the Henrietta Country club into 10 feet of icy water, Lois calmly jumped in and saved her downing companion.

In the high school regular courses in English, history, mathematics, biology, chemistry, and Spanish will be offered according to demand.

For junior high school students regular courses in English, history and mathematics are to be given.

Faculty members are chosen in all three divisions in order to insure as far as possible experienced teaching, according to the director.

The 15th anniversary of the first convention Kiwanis International will be observed at a meeting of the Wichita Falls club at Kiwanis park on the night of May 4, according to the announcement Saturday of Pat Hardage, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

The park is located on Holliday creek a short distance southeast of the Carrigan school and was donated recently to the city by the Kiwanis club. The anniversary meeting will be made the occasion for the official dedication of the park.

Plans for the meeting were made at a luncheon at the Wichita club Saturday.

Program features will include the address formally dedicating to the city the park, the response by a member of the city council, a "zero" hour of prayer and a picnic supper.

Grover Bullington is chairman of the entertainment committee, Dudley Foy of the publicity committee and T. B. Medders of the intercity relations committee.

Delegations from Kiwanis clubs throughout Northwest Texas and Souhern Oklahoma are expected for the meeting.

Blue Curtain Players to Appear Group Benefit Performances First Announced for Monday Afternoon

Blue Curtain players, members of the dramatic organization of the Junior college are to appear at a number of social functions and benefit performances this week. The first of these is announced for Monday afternoon when they will present "Bargains," a one-act play by Katherin Kester, for the elementary teachers division of the City Teachers association. The play is a very clever comedy with the action laid in the fitting room of a department store basement. The girl, Rene, who is buying a coat, is played by Mildred Anderson. Arrie Wright has the part of the anxious sales-girl. Bryant Creighton plays the part of Rene's fiancee, Marty, and Evelyn Franklyn portrays the part of the "Little Old Woman" whose identity remains unknown until the end of the play.

Play at Forum

The Blue Curtain players won state recognition this year when the play, "Storm," by Clements and Ryerson, won first place in the Texas one-act play tournament. Various directors from all over the state, judges from several universities and audiences in general have pronounced the play the best amateur production they have ever seen and local people will be happy to see the presentation which is to be given under the auspices of the fine arts department at the Forum Tuesday afternoon.

The president of the Blue Curtain players organization, Durword Park, plays the role of Jim Jordan, a drunken fisherman who tries to kill the desire in his wife to have a lovely house. His acting at the state meet was proclaimed the best of all the male roles and he was awarded a gold medal. Gertrude Klass portrays admirably the role of the wife, Maggie Jordon, who for a time is subdued and suppressed by the strength of her husband's determination but who finally arises in self-assertion. Wilmont Hunt is excellent as the young lover, extremely weak in character but attractive to the poor, lonely woman.

The action takes place in a fisherman's hut on Sandy Neck on a bleak, stormy evening.

At Church

The players will present three one-act plays for the girls circle of the First Christian church on Wednesday evening at 8:30 in the basement of the church. The program is open to the public and an admission fee of 25 cents will be charged.

The three plays to be presented are "The Singapore Spider" by Edward Finnegan, "The Minuet" by Lois Parker, and "A Bargain's a Bargain" by Larry E. Johnson.

The Singapore Spider is a decidedly thrilling tragedy in one act. The characters are Jason Harrison, a miser, played by Bryant Creighton; Matt Harriden, his nephew, Wilmont Hunt; Mrs. Meggs, his housekeeper, Marion Proctor; Jim Meggs, her husband, Homer Donohoe; Jesie White, Matt's sweetheart, Charlotte Joiner.

In the Minuet, a very beautiful costume play, Henry Will Barton plays the marquis, Mary Claire Burton, the marchioness, and Homer Donohoe, the jailer.

The cast for "A Bargain's a Bargain," an uproarious comedy, is Grace Brown, Monty's wife, Kay Cason; Clara Smith, her friend, Mary Clare Burton; Monty Brown, young business man, Henry Will Barton; Alec Smith, his friend, Aaron Kruger; Anne Howe, another friend, Marjory Vincent; Fred Howe, her husband, Bryant Creighton.

A large straw hat filled with flowers and tied to the chandelier with pink and orchid streamers for a basket effect, made a lovely centerpiece in the dining room. Pink and orchid colors were also used in candy baskets and tallies at the seven tables arranged for bridge, and the entire house was beautifully decorated with flowers.

Woman's Forum Quilt Exhibit To Open Monday

When a fashion cycle has been made complete something that was old becomes "something new," and one is not surprised to see boyishly bobbed and knickered young ladies piecing patchwork these days. Girls in camp and women around bridge tables pick up the dainty bits of handiwork and many passed waiting hours in that fashion at the recent Times and Record News cooking school.

Members of the Woman's Forum have taken advantage of this passion for the endless variety in quilt making in the quilt exhibit they are sponsoring at Saul's store, the exhibit opening Monday on the balcony. There are "Tea Leaf," "Basket" and Double Tulip" classics in quilted patterns and in the appliqued designs, the "Tree of Paradise" and "Rose of Sharon" remind one of old songs.

Hope chests will be enriched by the new old fashion that has spread from coast to coast, and doubtless there will be girls with an eye to the hope chest possibilities looking over the many varieties already on display on Saul's balcony.

Any person may enter quilts; there are no restrictions, the contest being open to the entire public. Either completely finished quilts or only finished tops may be entered and will be eligible for prizes. The choice of materials and design is optional. Judging will be based entirely on beauty of design, workmanship and color combinations. Quilts must be left for the duration of the exhibition.

Entry divisions with prizes offered are as follows:

1. Best Collection of Five or More Quilts—First prize for best collection, all work to be done by exhibitor; second prize for best collection, work unrestricted.
2. Appliqued Quilt Class—First prize for best appliqued quilt, all work to be done by exhibitor; second prize for best appliqued quilt, work unrestricted.

ELIZABETH ARDEN'S PREPARATIONS ARE OF PRIMARY IMPORTANCE TO FASHION

"CONSIDER what HAPPENS behind your FACE!"

says ELIZABETH ARDEN

"FACES are not the only things being relentlessly exposed by the abbreviated new hats. The back of the neck is coming into full view. As high collars give way to spring neck lines this will be only too apparent."

Begin at once to follow the counsels of Elizabeth Arden and be assured that every added inch of exposed throat or neck is added loveliness. Miss Arden can transform even backs-of-necks (usually so awkward) into something quite special and nice. Bleaching, softening and firming treatments will work wonders. Don't wait for the summer season to surprise and embarrass you. Start now to give yourself the simple care that will prepare you for the most revealing of hats, or frocks.

These are the preparations you should use, in accordance with the famous Elizabeth Arden home method of treatment:

- VENETIAN ANTI-BROWN SPOT OINTMENT — for promoting circulation — bleaching — A creamy, clinging ointment. . . . . $2.50, $5.
- ORANGE SKIN FOOD — for soothing and nourishing — keeps the skin full and firm, helps round out lines and hollows . . . $1, $1.75, $2.75, $4.25, $6.
- VENETIAN MUSCLE OIL — for stimulating — a penetrating oil, rich in the elements which correct flabby muscles . . . . . $1, $2.50, $4.
- VENETIAN SPECIAL ASTRINGENT — for tightening — lifts and strengthens the tissues, and restores the contours . . . . . $2.25, $4.
- ARDEN VENETIAN PATTER — for firming — round and flat with unique flexibility of handle for accurate patting strokes . . . . . $5.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

May Baskets

Why not earn citizenship honor No. 119 for making a May basket, filling it with flowers, and taking it to a shut-in or sick person? Those who have earned honor No. 119 might begin on No. 118, for helping three girls win five honors. Any group that wishes to devote its meeting to the making of the May baskets may get help in the making from members of the Adi-Iwah group who will be glad to give the instruction. Those interested may call Mrs. Michaux, 2-0905, and make arrangements for one of her girls. The lovely wild flowers are an inducement toward making of May baskets. When we think of the hundreds of people who are unable to get out and see these lovely flowers, it makes us realize what an opportunity we have in taking this bit of God's blessings to others. Let the Camp Fire Girls be 100 per cent in the taking of May baskets this year.

Committee of Awards

The committee of awards meet on Saturday of this week at local headquarters at 2 o'clock. All members planning to take tests for rank must report to the executive before Saturday.

Guardian Sewing Class

The second class of instruction for Camp Fire guardians was held on Thursday morning at the Singer Sewing Machine company at 911 Scott street. Mrs. C. W. Ridling, instructor, demonstrated the use of the hemmer and pleater. Each member made samples of work using the attachments to sew on lace, hem, French seam, gather and pleat. The interest of members grow with each lesson. The next class will be at 9:30 on Wednesday morning of this week.

Local Council

The following officers were elected at the meeting of local council on Wednesday of last week: President, Mrs. T. H. Lawson; first vice president, Dr. Wallace Masters; second vice president, Edwin A. Bebb; treasurer, Lester Jones; secretary, Mary McIlheran. Directors were elected as follows: Mesdames R. E. Davis, C. H. Clark, R. R. Clark, Messrs. W. A. Franklin, J. W. Culbertson, J. M. Spoonts, T. A. Bradley and Miss Ida Moore. Mrs. Frank W. Michaux, chairman of the guardians association, and chairmen of all standing committees, who will be named later by Mrs. Lawson, together with the above-named officers will form the executive board of the council which will meet monthly to transact the business of the council between the April and October meetings of the council. A complete list of council members will be published later.

Oswakiya Group

The Oawakiya group met on Wednesday afternoon at Alamo school. Plans were discussed for the Mother-Dad banquet to be given by this group on May 8. The remainder of the time was spent in handicraft to be used for the banquet. A report of the hike held the Saturday before on the Wichita river told of the good time enjoyed by all those who attended.

Those attending the meeting were Bernice Cyr, Annette Adair, Lois Schram, Dorthea Whitehead, Beverly Nan Witherspoon, Ruth Van Wormer, Lorita Tanner, Evelyn Tanner, Evelyn Howard, Ina Jo Ogle, Mrs. Schram, guardian, and Mary McIlheran, who assisted in instruction of handicraft.

Mankilo Group

Members of the Mankilo group met at the home of the guardian, Mrs. E. D. Steward, 1914 Tilden, on Thursday afternoon. The time was spent in going over requirements for the first rank as some five of this group are planning to pass rank at the committee of awards meeting on Saturday. Songs were sung and plans made for the earning of a nature Lore honor for making smoke prints of 10 leaves. Mrs. Steward and Miss Younkin are both working for rank along with the girls.

Adi-Iwah

The members of the Adi-Iwah group with their guardian, Mrs. Frank W. Michaux, took articles of clothing and visited the thrift exchange conducted by the local P.-T. A. groups through the Family Relief association. Mrs. R. P. Wills showed the members through the clothes room, explaining how the clothes were distributed, and the many empty shelves which have been drawn on to capacity by needy people. The girls all decided they could go back home and find more clothes which would be a help, and to tell others about it.

Members of this group will make May baskets this week. They have also offered to help other groups with the making of baskets. Anyone interested may call Mrs. Michaux, 2-0905.

Acancan

The Acancan group met at the regular club period at Reagan school on Wednesday morning with 100 per cent attendance as follows: Virginia Hanks, Lona Swift, Bernadine Arnold, Charlotte Lewis, Leora Burgess, Dorabandt Barnett, Mary Love Appleby, Virginia Rogers, Myrtle Gray, Margaret Fincher, Clara Heffington and the guardian, Miss Leska Howard. Six of the girls reported on honors which they have earned or are working on. Others told of honors they have outlined to begin working on. Other requirements for rank were discussed.

Ahsonzong Group

The following members of the Ahsonzong group met at Junior college on Thursday afternoon: Pauline and Irene West, Dorothy Gothard, Gladys Young, Loucille and Mrs. Willis. Plans for group meetings and special work were outlined. The Star Spangled banner will be learned at the next meeting.

New Group at Electra

A new group at the Methodist church in Electra has been chartered this week under the leadership of Miss Leone Fender. Three more groups are in the process of organization in the other departments of the same church. Guardians have been secured and dues will be forwarded through this office in the near future. Mrs. J. T. Stephens has been put in charge of the Camp Fire Girls committee there and is doing a splendid work.

Burkburnett

The Oawensa group at Burkburnett under the guardianship of Miss Vera Owens, assisted by Miss Mary Cook, now has a membership of 17 enthusiastic members. We are very happy to see these new groups organized and hope to have them with us in all of our city-wide activities.

Megargel, Texas

Miss Louise Spoonts, assistant guardian to Mrs. Fletcher White of Megargel, who has been ill for the past month or so, has asked to bring her girls over to Wichita Falls on Saturday afternoon for a visit to local headquarters. If the weather permits, plans will be made accordingly.

The Tanokiwin and Anolewa groups did not meet last week on account of the rainy weather.

Nowetompatimin

Members of the Nowetompatimin group enjoyed a hike to Scotland park on Saturday afternoon. Each member earned camp craft honor 504 for blazing a trail for a mile. Games were played and a picnic lunch proved quite popular. Those attending were Bessie Pauline Huddleston, Ruth Stuckey, Dorothy Lee Reeder, Margaret Pierce, Virginia Rose Engel, Earleen and Mrs. W. Polk and two visitors who expect to join the group.

WINS DECLAMATION HONORS

BILLIE JANE CHATHAM

BURKBURNETT, Texas, April 25.—Billie Jane Chatham, talented young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Chatham, is the winner of first place in the junior girl's division of the district declamation contest, held in Burkburnett last week.

Although only 11 years of age she shows great talent in the speech arts and is also an accomplished dancer. She is the pupil of Miss Margaret Tanner, teacher of expression in the Burkburnett schools.

P.T.A. NEWS NOTES

AUSTIN

A pleasant event of the year's work for the Austin Study circle, was a party given by Mrs. W. P. Griffis at her home on Burnett street.

An informal program was presented by several of the most popular musicians in the city assisted by talented members of the hostess' family and by members of the study group.

Members of the club who enjoyed Mrs. Griffis' hospitality were Mrs. C. R. Neal, circle leader; Mrs. Reece Carter, Mrs. J. E. Fisher, Mrs. J. G. Word, Mrs. John Kennedy, Mrs. O. F. Bagwell, Mrs. J. T. Watson, Mrs. H. R. Cloughley, Mrs. J. R. Kolb, the guest musicians, the hostess and her family.

The last study circle meeting of the year will be held May 12 for a lesson on the "Wise Use of Leisure." Anyone wishing to enroll for next year's work may do so at this time.

Mothersingers will not have regular Thursday rehearsals again this year. All are requested to be present Tuesday morning May 5, for rehearsal in preparation for the last P.-T. A. program to be presented May 6.

Much of the success of the seventh annual preschool clinic held recently by Austin P.-T. A. was due to the interest shown by the examining physicians: Dr. W. F. Bolding, Dr. W. B. Adams, Dr. A. D. Pattillo, Dr. A. F. Leach, and Dr. V. E. Wratten, for which the association wishes to thank them.

Miss Pearl Rorabaugh, Red Cross nutritionist, gave a consultation on diet and general health measures to mothers and assisted the health chairman in checking the clinic reports on each child.

Twenty-five children were examined, 23 of their mothers being present.

Mrs. J. R. Kolb, president-elect, was hostess for this occasion, which offers an opportunity to get acquainted with mothers who are prospective members of the P.-T. A. for the coming year.

Publicity chairman-elect, Mrs. O. F. Bagwell, reported the clinic for the newspapers.

All requirements for the standard of excellence have been met except a few more magazine subscriptions. Mrs. E. W. Corder, telephone 2-4036, will give information or call for subscriptions when notified.

An executive board meeting will be called for May 1, at 10 o'clock, a. m., at the home of Mrs. H. R. Cloughley, when final reports will be called for from all chairmen and officers.

FANNIN SCHOOL

The art department of Fannin school is beautifying the school auditorium. Using prize money given by the P.-T. A., materials have been procured and under the instruction of Miss Delphine Crider, art teacher in the school, are being made into decorations.

Companion silhouettes in black and white of famous men and women are being painted and framed and used as a covering over the places on the walls where electric wires protrude. Modernistic draperies are in away to be used at the stage window, also a curtain to be used in front of the stage and ceiling lights are in the making. This curtain is designed to correspond with the window drapes. All curtains are painted in harmony with the heavy velvet front stage curtain.

The pupils of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades are having a part in this project and are looking forward with enthusiasm to its completion.

TULSA SENIOR WINS HONORS

Will Represent Oklahoma At Kansas City

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 25.—Marcus Cohn, a senior in the Tulsa High school, will represent Oklahoma at the regional oratorical contest at Kansas City, May 16.

Cohn was awarded the state title last night in competition with 10 other district contestants.

His subject was "Our Constitution." He accounted for his margin, however, by delivering what the judges described as a brilliant extemporaneous talk, one of the phases of the competition.

John Mathews, Oklahoma City, won second place. Clifford Sanders, Elk City, was third; Robert Slaver, Prague, was fourth, and Julian Rothbaum, Hartshorne, was fifth.

More than 2,500 persons heard the state contest at Shrine auditorium and saw Cohn presented with $100 and a gold medal. Mathews was given $50 and a silver medal and Sanders, $25, and a bronze medal.

Other standings:
James Tuthill, Miami, sixth.
Houck Bolton, Waurika, seventh.
Herbert Shelton, Frederick, eighth.
Bertha Newberry, Durant, ninth.
Trine Starnes, Chickasha, tenth.
Theron Terbush, Alva, eleventh.

Girl Reserve Activities

New officers were elected at a meeting of the Carrigan Girl Reserves Friday afternoon at the school as follows: Ross Daggett, president; Joellen Luce, secretary; Loretta Burns, vice president; Geraldine Marrison, second vice president; Charlene Higginbotham, treasurer; Mary Anne Beddingfield, Juanita Reeves, program committee, and Morma Hibbs, social chairman.

Those present were Winnie McLinden, Morma Hibbs, Ruth Barbes, Inez Barker, Loretta Burnes, Charlene Higginbotham, Beatrice Hubbard, Evelyn Anderson, Cloe Pyle, Georgianna Reddy, Estelline Crats, Josephine Bartlett, Lucille Smith, Allen Holt, Lois Daggett, Mary Anne Beddingfield, Virginia Yates, Geraldine Marrison, Mary Helen Lynn, Stella Trantham, Juanita Reeves, Bernice Hubbard, Therma Pack, Bernice Wright, Dorothy Kennedy, Joellen Luse.

Visit of Dr. Henry C. Morrison to Wichita Falls Friday and Saturday Offers Teachers Real Opportunity

Teachers of Northwest Texas and others interested in educational matters are offered a rare treat, according to officials of the Wichita Falls Teachers association, Friday and Saturday, May 1 and 2, when Dr. Henry C. Morrison, noted professor of education in the University of Chicago, will deliver a series of lectures on the unit plan and other progressive ideas of education. Teacher groups of a number of surrounding communities, such as Electra, Valley View, Iowa Park, Burkburnett, Wichita County rural, Olney, Henrietta, Petrolia, Byers, Archer City and others, are cooperating in financing the series. Admission will be free to the general public as well as to members of the profession of teaching.

Well known throughout the nation in educational circles as the originator and developer of the unit plan of instruction, Dr. Morrison is regarded as one of the outstanding men in his profession. His general theory in the unit plan has been a strong force in improving methods of class room instruction from the grades on to the university.

Friday afternoon at 3:30 at the Junior college auditorium, Dr. Morrison is to open the series with a discussion of what aims education should consider legitimate and of what true learning products consist. Friday night, in a meeting at the Memorial auditorium, to which the general public is invited, the first address on the unit plan of teaching will be given.

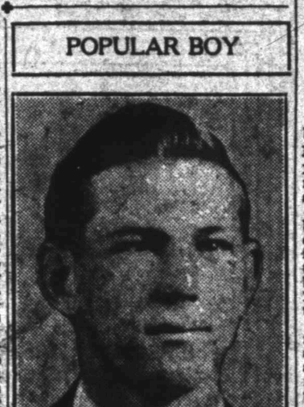
Saturday three appearances are scheduled. At 7:30 in the morning at the Wichita club a breakfast will be given especially for superintendents, trustees and others interested in the administrative side of education, when Dr. Morrison is to discuss the problem of financing education.

Saturday morning at the college auditorium at 10 o'clock will be given the second lecture on the unit plan of teaching. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock in the final lecture of the series Dr. Morrison takes a topic which those who have had the good fortune to be in his classes consider one of his favorites, "How to Do Effective Re-Teaching."

The Long and Short

LONDON.—Joanne Saffelle, tall, dark and lovely mannequin, has an odd problem. She's probably the tallest model in the world, and yet in all her hundreds of proposal letters she has only received one from a man anywhere near her height. Her latest comes from a rich Armenian, who presented himself in person. He was short and fat, and scarcely came to her waistline. Needless to say, he was refused.

POPULAR BOY



HENRY BENNETT COOKSEY

Henry Bennett Cooksey, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Cooksey of Valley View, was chosen as the most popular boy in a recent contest in the Valley View High school.

He is ranked as a first class Boy Scout, lettered in basket ball this year, and has taken leading roles in several school plays. He will be a member of the graduating class in 1932.

Mrs. M. L. Winblood of 1615 Kemp boulevard, who has been ill with influenza and pleurisy for some time, is reported improving.

Many County and City Officers Here Expect to Attend Meeting

Senator Thomas J. Heflin of Alabama has been invited to address the North Texas and Southern Oklahoma Peace Officers association while he is in Amarillo during the time of the organization's convention, May 6 and 7, according to Ed T. Smith of Hollis, Okla., president, who spent part of the past week in Wichita Falls conferring with other officials of the association and making arrangements for the program.

Other outstanding men who have been invited to appear on the program are Jimmie Nance, former speaker of the Oklahoma house of representatives and newspaper publisher in Walters, Okla.; Judge P. A. Martin, judge of the 39th district court, Wichita Falls; Sam Spence, district attorney, Wichita Falls; Judge D. J. R. Jackson, justice of the court of civil appeals in Amarillo; Judge Sheila N. Starnes, Jackson county judge, Altus, Okla., and others.

Mayor Ernest O. Thompson of Amarillo is to welcome the 300 peace officers who are expected to attend the convention at the opening of the program May 6, President Smith said.

Features of the entertainment provided through the efforts of the committee composed of Mason King, secretary of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce; Chief of Police W. R. McDowell, and W. N. Thompson, sheriff of Potter county, are a drive through the beautiful Palo Duro canyon and a barbecue at the famous Hall ranch.

Convention headquarters are to be in the Herring hotel and the business sessions will be held in the banquet hall of the hotel.

A number of members of the Wichita county sheriff's force and the Wichita Falls police department, as well as law enforcement officers from adjoining counties and towns, are planning to attend the convention.

H. G. Ellis, special agent for the M.-K.-T. railroad, who is secretary-treasurer of the association, has been making arrangements for the transportation of those who plan to attend the convention over the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad.

'LADY MINSTRELS FROM DIXIE' TO BE GIVEN BY CHURCH YOUNG FOLK

"The Lady Minstrels From Dixie" is the title of a play to be given by the juniors and young people of the Floral Heights Presbyterian church in the church gymnasium Friday evening, May 1.

The play has a cast of 14 characters, and each character contributes his part to make the play a laugh-producer from beginning to end.

Scene one opens with Mrs. Plunket preparing to entertain the ladies missionary society of the church at a business meeting. The women gather and in the routine of business the financial report is called for and the treasurer reports that "exactly two cents is in the treasury." A number of suggestions are offered as a means of replenishing the treasury, and finally it is agreed that the society should put on a minstrel, despite the fact that one of the members says that "ladies can't put on a minstrel—it takes men to do that."

Scene two is the presentation of the minstrel, which is guaranteed to give 45 minutes of laughter.

Tickets may be purchased from any of the young people of the church.

Invitations Extended to Visitors From Out of Town to Attend Lunch Honoring J. C. Penney Here Friday

An invitation to residents of communities in the Wichita valley was extended by J. L. Jackson Jr., president of the chamber of commerce, to attend the luncheon to be given at noon May 1, in honor of J. C. Penney, chairman of the board of the J. C. Penney company, who is to be a visitor here May 1 and 2.

Delegations from a number of chambers of commerce in a number of communities in Northwest Texas and southern Oklahoma already have indicated their intention of attending, Mr. Jackson said.

Plans also were being made for a mass meeting to be held probably Saturday night, May 2, at which Mr. Penney is to address dairymen and farmers of the area. Arrangements for the meeting are in charge of J. N. Sherrill, chairman of the agricultural committee of the chamber of commerce.

Mr. Penney, aside from being one of the outstanding figures in American merchandising, is the owner of probably the finest Guernsey dairy herd in existence.

Mrs. Murray Will Sub for 'Alfalfa' Elk City Meeting

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 25. (UP)—Oklahoma will have two governors Monday.

For the first time in the state's history, a woman will act in the capacity of the chief executive when Mrs. W. H. Murray, wife of the governor, attends the annual convention of U. S. Highway 66 association.

Governor Murray chose the expedient of appointing his wife his official spokesman when he found his appointments conflicted. While Mrs. Murray is at Elk City, the governor will be at Kansas City where he is scheduled for an address Monday night.

More than 500 delegates from a dozen states are expected to attend the Elk City convention held in the interest of the coast to coast highway. Commissioners Lew Wentz and J. F. McKeel of the highway commission, and Cyrus S. Avery, Tulsa, former commission chairman, will attend.

The governor was too busy today with signing bills passed by the last legislature to attend the rally of the League of Young Democrats at Claremore. Claude Weaver, the governor's secretary, will represent the governor. Other state officials attending the rally were Ray O. Weems, state treasurer; Jesse G. Read, state insurance commissioner and Giles Kelley, senate auditor.

MEMPHIS, Texas, April 25.—Mrs. W. M. Foster, mother of Mrs. J. T. Rasco, fell and broke her hip Thursday at the family home west of Memphis. She was brought to the Memphis hospital and is reported to be in a very serious condition, due to her advanced years.

STARRING AGAIN

Green Rouge

LONDON.—Women with ruddy complexions should never use rouge. It makes them look unnatural, and even their high natural hue needs toning down, according to a prominent beauty specialist here. Consequently, a green face powder has been perfected which does that job. A lavender powder has also been put on the market for use under shaded lights of ballrooms.

Due to the request of numbers of persons who were not able to attend the "Heaven Bound" pageant presented recently by the negroes of the city, the performance will be repeated Tuesday evening, May 5, at the Memorial auditorium, it was announced Saturday by R. Strickland, director.

One hundred negro voices will participate in this unusual event, which was described by those who attended it recently as a rare musical treat. Negro spirituals, folk songs and a wide variety of other songs are included on the program.

NEW YORK.—What is said to be the largest Persian rug in the world is rapidly taking shape here. It is being built for the main lobby of the new Waldorf-Astoria hotel and will be more than 70 feet long and nearly 50 feet wide.

You Are Always Welcome at Renfro's

'What Price for a Son or a Daughter?'

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

MRS. NORRIS

If a wife doesn't want to have a child, must she have one? One young Brooklyn wife answered in the negative. She not only refused her husband's demand for children, she took steps that made it impossible for her to have children. The husband promptly accused her of breaking her pre-marriage promises about having a family, or at least her pre-marriage understanding with him, and sued for a divorce.

And the court sustained the wife, and told her, and incidentally told the whole newspaper-reading world, that if she didn't want to have children she didn't have to have children.

It's the first time that ever happened in the world, as far as I know. A few generations ago even an American woman wouldn't have dared to raise that question any more than any European woman would now. And certainly a few generations ago no judge would have decided for the wife.

This particular woman was, and is, a stenographer, earning probably quite as much as the husband's $25 a week, perhaps more. It seems too bad that they couldn't settle their differences of opinion at home, and keep this very delicate question out of the courts. One hardly supposes that they will resume placid married life, after this outburst; perhaps the wife will sue for divorce now, and get it on other grounds.

But unimportant as this young couple may be, to the world, they have started a new idea moving. Young men about to be married may well come to an understanding with the girls of their hearts, on this point, and girls contemplating wedlock might just as well be sure that the husband-to-be has no rooted prejudice against children.

Our grandmother's would consider the whole argument degrading. They took their maternal responsibilities for granted. Indeed, they sometimes felt extremely apologetic to the husband and father, for the inconvenience the children caused him. One of the well-known American writers of a hundred years ago bore 17, and writes with great simplicity in her memoirs that while her John regretted the prospect of a tenth, or twelfth, baby, "his anger over, he forgave me with great gentleness and goodness."

Forgave her! And she had to bring this child into the world in all the rigors of a New England winter, with other babies to raise, chickens to feed, cooking and washing and sewing to do, great stoves to stoke and heavy old lamps to fill.

That was the extreme of the old attitude. The Brooklyn wife certainly represents the extreme of the new.

Personally, it would make me heartsick to have a daughter of mine take the modern no-baby attitude. I would feel that she had been badly brought up, and that her ideas were all twisted. A woman ought to want children, as naturally and wholeheartedly as a few years before she wanted a husband; certainly it would be an unusually fearful or cautious or un-child-loving woman who could take steps, early in marriage, to make motherhood forever impossible.

Our Brooklyn wife probably had every convenience and comfort ready for her motherhood.

But she not only didn't want a child now; she didn't ever want a child. And many another woman read her story, on that morning a few days ago, and perhaps brooded over the injustice of life toward women. All very well for men, women think, when the claims of Little Four and Little Two are heavy, and the day wet and dark, when the household has bills and meals and disorder to face, and the woman of the family is weary and worried — men don't appreciate what it costs.

But there's another side to it. You mothers of small children, remember that their smallness is only a phase; their helplessness is quickly over. Wait until 1941, 10 years from now, and then hunt up that Brooklyn woman and compare notes.

And go in search of the woman who wouldn't give up a stenographer's job for one-fourth of the glory that you've enjoyed for 12 years.

What is she going to have? Stenography, perhaps.

And after all, much of the trouble and expense and dullness and doubt of raising a family isn't the fault of the kindly man who pays the bills.

He is sorry things are as they are, too. He has his problems in fatigue, worry, restless nights, nervous strain. You're both in a big job, and you must expect to sacrifice something for it, for awhile.

Many of these New England ancestors lived to hale, apple-cheeked, happy old age.

Our Brooklyn wife probably had every convenience and comfort ready for her motherhood. Even on $25 a week you do have gas and light, telephone and steam heat; you send your laundry out and get a daily paper, and at the finish you can go to a big hospital and get the modernest of care.

But she not only didn't want a child now; she didn't ever want a child. And many another woman read her story, on that morning a few days ago, and perhaps brooded over the injustice of life toward women. All very well for men, women think, when the claims of Little Four and Little Two are heavy, and the day wet and dark, when the household has bills and meals and disorder to face, and the woman of the family is weary and worried — men don't appreciate what it costs. Men don't know what it means to be burdened, anxious, to carry the responsibility of children all day long, every day to fuss with cribs and spinach, caps, broken toys and bumped heads, tears, fights, dirty clothes—to do all this, and alone with it to face months of incapacity, fatigue, blues, aches and pains.

"He wouldn't do it!" the wife thinks resentfully. She is probably right. One thing that makes men complacent, as a sex, is their good health, their energy, high spirits, appetite, their capacity for deep, unbroken sleep at night.

But there's another side to it. You mothers of small children, remember that their smallness is only a phase; their helpfulness is quickly over. Wait until 1941, 10 years from now, and then hunt up that Brooklyn woman and compare notes. Get Betty and Jean started off to school, in Junior's brotherly care, and take Bobby with you, and go in search of the woman who wouldn't give up a stenographer's job for one-fourth of the glory that you've enjoyed for 12 years.

You're going to have lots of games, kisses, Christmases, birthdays, picnics, summer trips, fancy dress parties, candy pulls, graduations, photographs, bicycles and skates and scooters and cameras and tennis rackets in the years to come. What is she going to have? Stenography, perhaps.

And after all, much of the trouble and expense and dullness and doubt of raising a family isn't the fault of the kindly man who pays the bills, and stokes the furnace, and gets the prescription filled, and brings home the whipping cream on company nights. He is sorry things are as they are, too. He has his problems in fatigue, worry, restless nights, nervous strain. You're both in a big job, and you must expect to sacrifice something for it, for awhile.

But there are lots of things to give up in this life before it is necessary to sacrifice the joy of having a baby. Neighborhood, rent, clothes, amusements, extravagances of all sorts can be cut down before any woman need confess herself so completely beaten by life as to rob herself of that.

Let us pray, we women who know better than she does about this, that the Brooklyn woman never finds that out!

MRS. NORRIS SAYS:

If a wife doesn't want to have a child, must she have one?

One young Brooklyn wife answered that in the negative. She not only refused her husband's demand for children, she took steps that made it impossible for her to have children.

Girls contemplating wedlock might just as we be sure that the husband-to-be has no rooted prejudice against children.

Personally, it would make me heartsick to have a daughter of mine take the modern no-baby attitude. I would feel that she had been badly brought up, and that her ideas were all twisted. A woman ought to want children, as naturally and wholeheartedly as a few years before she wanted a husband; certainly it would be an unusually fearful or cautious or un-child-loving woman who could take steps, early in marriage, to make motherhood forever impossible.

Our Brooklyn wife probably had every convenience and comfort ready for her motherhood.

But she not only didn't want a child now; she didn't ever want a child. And many another woman read her story, on that morning a few days ago, and perhaps brooded over the injustice of life toward women. All very well for men, women think, when the claims of Little Four and Little Two are heavy, and the day wet and dark, when the household has bills and meals and disorder to face, and the woman of the family is weary and worried — men don't appreciate what it costs.

But there's another side to it. You mothers of small children, remember that their smallness is only a phase; their helplessness is quickly over. Wait until 1941, 10 years from now, and then hunt up that Brooklyn woman and compare notes.

And go in search of the woman who wouldn't give up a stenographer's job for one-fourth of the glory that you've enjoyed for 12 years.

What is she going to have? Stenography, perhaps.

And after all, much of the trouble and expense and dullness and doubt of raising a family isn't the fault of the kindly man who pays the bills.

He is sorry things are as they are, too. He has his problems in fatigue, worry, restless nights, nervous strain. You're both in a big job, and you must expect to sacrifice something for it, for awhile.

Our grandmother's would consider the whole argument degrading. They took their maternal responsibilities for granted. Indeed, they sometimes felt extremely apologetic to the husband and father, for the inconvenience the children caused him. One of the well-known American writers of a hundred years ago bore 17, and writes with great simplicity in her memoirs that while her John regretted the prospect of a tenth, or twelfth, baby, "his anger over, he forgave me with great gentleness and goodness."

Forgave her! And she had to bring this child into the world in all the rigors of a New England winter, with other babies to raise, chickens to feed, cooking and washing and sewing to do, great stoves to stoke and heavy old lamps to fill.

That was the extreme of the old attitude. The Brooklyn wife certainly represents the extreme of the new.

Personally, it would make me heartsick to have a daughter of mine take the modern no-baby attitude. I would feel that she had been badly brought up, and that her ideas were all twisted. A woman ought to want children, as naturally and wholeheartedly as a few years before she wanted a husband; certainly it would be an unusually fearful or cautious or un-child-loving woman who could take steps, early in marriage, to make motherhood forever impossible.

This past winter, visiting a Connecticut farm house whose beautiful old rooms date back to Washington's day, the thought of the mothers of America's colonial families came to me with haunting force. It is my personal conviction that the gentle ghost of some long-ago farm wife did actually still occupy the room that was mine.

The cold outside was like an enemy army, holding the place in siege. It was waiting, at every door and window and crack, to make numbing entry. Open fires, air-tight-stove, kitchen range, were roaring all day long in an effort to defeat it. Kettles were kept boiling, hot-water bottles went into the shroud-like sheets of the beds, blankets were piled everywhere, food was hot, and filling, and constant.

To us it was the great adventure of the winter; we were adults, we had strength to handle fires and kettles, logs and roasts, soup pots and pans of hot bread. We had electric light, a bathroom, cream in bottles, butter from the grocery.

She—that ancestor of yours and mine, had to conquer darkness, exhaustion, dirt, grease, ashes and dust, wet baby clothes reluctant to dry, smoking lamps and guttering candles, melting snow and mud on wooden floors. Milk came in in heavy unstrained gallons, for her; she skimmed and churned for her butter, she spun cloth, knitted socks, dissected frozen dead pigs, sent dawdling children down into the arctic zone of the cellar for apples and turnips.

And she bore her sons and daughters at the same time.

It is hard to think that we are of the same stuff. We would die under a week of the life she lived for 20 years.

Of course, these New England women died, early, too many of them. The old grave-stones briefly tell their stories: "Sarah, third wife of the above; Maria, fourth wife of the above; Cynthia, fifth wife of the above."

But many of them lived to a hale, apple-cheeked, happy old age, and sat on maple-shaded porches, on pleasant spring afternoons, watching the younger generations growing up to people the mild old towns.

Our Brooklyn wife probably had every convenience and comfort ready for her motherhood. Even on $25 a week you do have gas and light, telephone and steam heat; you send your laundry out and get a daily paper, and at the finish you can go to a big hospital and get the modernest of care.

But she not only didn't want a child now; she didn't ever want a child. And many another woman read her story, on that morning a few days ago, and perhaps brooded over the injustice of life toward women. All very well for men, women think, when the claims of Little Four and Little Two are heavy, and the day wet and dark, when the household has bills and meals and disorder to face, and the woman of the family is weary and worried — men don't appreciate what it costs. Little Theater Players Announce Two-Day Return Season for 'Why Marry?' Opening Next Monday Night

By MRS. EWING WATKINS

Due to the profuse praise of those who saw "Why Marry?" and repeated demands for its return by those who missed it, the Little Theater will again present this clever satire on marriage April 27 and 28 at the Little Theater playhouse. Since F. C. McClung, director of the Little Theater, has been granted a three-month leave of absence, this will be the last production until the fall season opens in September. Admission will be by script book ticket or 50 cents.

Quite excellently handled and brimfull of humor, "Why Marry?" is one of the most interesting plays on modern marriage and divorce. Jesse Lynch Williams is well versed in his subject, having studied civic problems in New York for several years. His "Why Marry?" won the first Pulitzer prize ever awarded a play.

With a clarity borne of knowledge Williams draws vivid pictures of eight men and women, each representing a distinct type. Six of them belong to the family of Greys, whose outstanding characteristic is that of strong will. Or, as each believes of the other, stubbornness. If they are stubborn it is on the subject of marriage and divorce. Seemingly each Grey wants a divorce or wants to get married. In their discussions, which turn to semi-brawls, each is given an opportunity to voice his beliefs and since no two believe alike, a good time is had by all as each fights for his own creed.

Head Cast

Mr. McClung chose a cast well fitted to handle each characterization. Woody Benner and Miss Avalon Rines head the cast with their impersonations of the two young scientists, Ernest Hamilton and Helen Grey, who believe in personal freedom and a right to live their lives as they wish. Their doctrine brings down upon their heads an avalanche of accusations and disapproval from the older Greys. Gerald Coffey portrays John Grey, brother to Helen and firm believer in the superiority of man and money—and most of all, of himself. Most of the action takes place as Helen and John battle.

Standing on the side lines and occasionally entering into the fray, are Lucy Grey, Cousin Theodore and Uncle Everett. Lucy, played by Miss Erma Schnelle, is outwardly John's devoted wife, but inwardly she hates him. J. W. Thorne portrays Cousin Theodore, who has sacrificed everything for his family except his pride. In the end poverty forces him to relinquish even that. Representing the only tolerance and balance in the family is Uncle Everett. Harold White has the role of the distinguished Everett who breaks out at 50 to do all the things he has always wanted to do, including the presentation of a brand new divorce to his absent wife.

Jack Chedester and Mary Virginia Barron represent the younger element in the marriage problem. Mr. Chedester portrays the wealthy Rex Baker and Miss Barron is the child of the Grey family, Jean. Because Rex has money and Jean does not, they become engaged but neglect to fall in love.

This clever analysis of human emotions will be presented at 8:15 o'clock Monday and Tuesday nights at the Little theater. Those wishing tickets delivered to them in advance of Monday night's performance are invited to call 9710.

New York Doctors Tell How to Reduce Safely

Sensible Way to Take Off Weight

Many women today are "going crazy" to reduce, and according to their own confessions, the reason is they want to retain youth and keep their husband's or sweetheart's love.

These women try to reduce 10 or 20 pounds a week, and in doing so, lose pep, become irritable, sickly, pale and drawn-looking.

There is a much more sensible way to reduce—the pleasant, easy ROBEX method. You can't expect to lose over 2 or 4 pounds excess fat a week with ROBEX. But as you lose in weight this gradual way, you gain in energy, beauty, general physical fitness and gracefully curved modern lines.

ROBEX tablets are the easiest thing in the world to take. Just four a day—one after meals and at bedtime.

In his long and varied experience as a physician, Dr. Thomas Wallace (M.D.), of New York, states he has never found a more universally satisfactory method of weight reduction than ROBEX. Nurses use ROBEX.

PROWLING OVER THE TROPICS

By WILL ROGERS

Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, or what I see as I prowl hither and thither. And Brother believe me I been doing some prowling lately. For a long time I have wanted to go messing around in the Central American countries, and the establishment of an air line all through there give me just what I was looking for. Now in the first place you can leave almost any American place, right by plane and go either to Ft. Worth, Texas, Brownsville, Texas, or Atlanta, or anywhere along the line and catch the Pan-American line. It leaves American Territory at Brownsville, and goes to Tampico and Mexico City, then from Vera Cruz, Mexico, on down through all Central American countries, then around through the north coast of South America, and back up by way of Virgin Islands, Porta Rica, Cuba and all points east.

I had had the idea in my head for a long time, I wanted Mrs. Rogers to go with me. She got one look at the map, counted the countries and reached for a time table to Hollywood, said that was as far as she was traveling right now. Ever since a kid, those countries and names appealed to me. I used to study in Geography (not much, but a little) about Guatamala, San Sal-Vador, Costa Rica, Honduras, Nicaragua, Panama, Columbia, Venezuela, British Guiana, and all the mess of em. Well just think of the pleasure of getting up one morning, having breakfast at home in Santa Monica, grabbing the plane and being in El Paso, Texas at one o'clock, going over the Rio Grande River to Juarez to get some beer and see a Bull Fight, as it was Sunday afternoon, and my Plane dident leave there till Monday Morning for Mexico City.

Did you ever visit Juarez, Mexico? Well dont miss it. I went by the Bull Ring and bought our Tickets as I had about 4 Pilots from the line who had brought me in from Los Angeles, American Airways Co. and a great line. Well the fight was not to start till it got cool, for they wont even kill a Bull till the sun is so low that the Fighter wont get sunburned. Then as we were driving around the Town I saw a fellow with a lot of braided Uniform get on an old poor decrepid Pony, and I just knew from his make up that he was headed for the Bull ring, so I got cold feet and dident go. I gave away my tickets to some fellows that hadent been saved as many times by Horses as I had.

Well prowled around and saw all the sights of the town, then back and early the next morning out to the Airport and then by the C. A. T. line. "Continental Aerial, Transportatzazion", American Pilots, powered with wasps on Lockhead Planes. Well anybody that flies knows that from pretty near any part of our Country you can leave and be in Mexico City the next night, and not fly nights either.

Right down over Chicawawa, (thats not the way its spelled but thats sorter like it sounds) thats where the old Mexican Tarasas had the biggest Ranch in the World, a whole State, flew right over his old Headquarters Ranch, lost it all during the various Revolutions. Poncho Villa lived off him alone for years.

Well we must get moving. Got to Mexico City that evening about four thirty. Made my first speech in Spanish for the Spanish movietone. I know few words but none of em fit what I want to say, but I just used em all anyhow. I heard afterwards that in the Theater that it went big. Well it would. I was sorter panning our Country and boosting theirs. It dident take much exaggeration to do either one. Met a lot of old friends at the field that I had known there during a previous visit, and then out to Mr. Clarks, the American Ambassador there who took Mr. Morrows place. He is a real fellow and is doing a fine work. He was very familiar with Mexico for years, and he is well liked there now, and it took some Guy to follow that little fellow Morrow (anywhere). He hasent done much in the Senate, but thats what makes him great. The more you do in there the worse you are, and the more your constituents suffer.

Well after I got through with Mexico City, hit out for the real Tropics, down through Vera Cruz, then out of there on the Pan American Airways, and over the real Jungles, and stopped first at a little Mexican Army Post called San Geronimo. Gassed up, was thirsty but everybody said, dont drink water in the tropics, and by golly I havent. And my first Gangole, I believe it was to eat. Now we are on the west Coast of Mexico, we have crossed the neck, or straights and are headed for Guetamala. We make some other on the line, and then into Guetamala City, the Capitol of that Country. We have seen it on the Maps of our old Geographys. Its in the rolling hills, and quite a bit of Aviation activity, and is a pretty little City from the air. They raise Coffee, and tell you that its the best there is in Central or South America.

But wait a minute, we havent got to Costa Rica yet, and they tell you that too, and I believe they got it on Guetamala, and Honduras, and all the rest on the quality. Its so good that America wont pay the price. Its most all shipped to Europe. It grows on a little bush, and they have high trees planted all among it to shade the Coffee Plant, sometimes Banana Trees, but generally big wide looking shade trees.

You would be surprised at the amount of people that speak English in all these Countries. Almost all the young men of wealthier families are sent to our schools since the war in preference to Europe, and they speak better English than we do. I cant get you all the way down now, but I will get you to the Canal the next letter. Its quite a gully.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

Sue turned quickly as the girl's voice spoke at her shoulder.

"Oh, you don't need to be afraid of me. I'm on your side of the war, Sue Merryman. Yes, I've got your name, you see. And your number, too. You are a typical modern girl, with just a little too much emphasis on the turning-the-other-cheek stuff. You don't fight back as much as Corrinne does. I'm Mabelline Smith, bargain basement pickup."

"Oh, you're the girl . . ."

"Yes, I'm the girl who clerked with Corrinne, the one to whom Clifford Becker gave your emerald when he stole it, because he wanted me to keep still so he could marry Sybil Lester. But I didn't get to keep the ring. Clifford still had his debt with me to square. And tonight . . ."

She paused and a hard look came over her face, almost as though she had put on a mask. "Tonight, he said if I'd come here at a certain time, and climb up on that balcony, he'd have someone give me the ring. So I came . . . I was going to slip along the wall and get in. It was quite convenient of you to call the jeweler. Now I know!"

"What are you going to do?" Sue asked.

"It doesn't matter much what I do. But first I'm going to find the refreshments, if you don't mind, and steal some sandwiches. When you haven't eaten for two days, you get . . . hollow!"

"You haven't eaten?" Sue asked. "Come on, I'll get you some food first. But why haven't you? Are you . . ."

"Yes, I'm broke, penniless, anything you want to call it. I lost my job that day I ran out of the store. And the fortune I had saved of course went for fur coats and diamond bracelets! Oh, what does it matter what I do? Where I go? Who cares!" She wilted against the chair in which she had sat, and Sue noticed the deathly pallor of her face. She had to get her some food and summon help, but she couldn't leave her alone. The girl looked like a wraith. She would disappear again.

Almost as though they had been summoned, Corrinne and Harry came through the door just then.

"Mabelline! What's the matter?" Corrinne was at the side of the other girl instantly. "Why, Mabelline, you're all washed out. You . . ."

"No longer guaranteed not to shrink, fade or run like the blankets we sold. I'm finding that the game has rotten rules!"

Sue explained to Corrinne and Harry in a few hurried words, and Harry went after some hot coffee and food.

Even yet Sue didn't know of what the girl had been talking, or who it was who had been entrusted with the mission of delivering an emerald that was safe in the jewelry shop. The one concealed in the wardrobe was evidently one of the paste ones that Corrinne and Clifford had used during the incident that had separated Harry and Corrinne for a little while.

Sue ran to the wardrobe again to see if the stone still lay among the shimmering silks. This time it was gone.

Then she slipped into the ballroom, and ran along the walls to the balcony. Miles Roberts saw her and tried to make her dance, but she smiled and shook her head.

"Not just now, Miles. I've something important to do. Have you seen Jack?"

He hadn't, and she hurried on. At the foot of the steps she stopped. Jack and Barbara were coming down the steps together. Jack turned his hand when he saw her and let her see the flash of the paste emerald.

Monday: More explanations.

Try This Simple Method for Blackheads

If you are troubled with these unsightly blemishes, get two ounces of Calonite powder from any drug store. Sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth and rub over the blackheads. In a few minutes every blackhead, big or little, will be dissolved away entirely.—Adv.

STREAMLINE TIRE CLEAVES AIR

Built in the general shape of a triangle, with its narrowest part at the tread, a new airplane tire has just been developed after aero-dynamic tests lasting more than a year. It differs radically from any other tire for planes.

U. S. army corps engineers at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, and aeronautic engineers at the Daniel Guggenheim School of Aeronautics at New York university and at the University of Michigan have been conducting the tests.

Tests have demonstrated that this new General streamline tire will offer much less wind resistance in flight than any existing type of airplane tire. It operates at extremely low pressure and its stability, because of its unusual construction, adds appreciably to the safety factor.

TWO ESTELLINE STORES INSTALL NEW FIXTURES

ESTELLINE, Texas, April 25.—Two new grocery stores are installing fixtures here this week. Moreman-Bell Hardware and Furniture company is adding a grocery department to the store on the south side. A. J. Rogers & Son of Newlin are placing stock today for a modern cash grocery on the west side of the square.

Business conditions are showing a trend for the better and the pessimistic spirit which has prevailed over the entire country for the past 12 months is gradually turning to optimism here.

COMPLETE SERVICE IDEA CARRIED OUT FIRESTONE STORES

Firestone Tire and Rubber company dealers throughout the United States are writing another chapter in the annals of progressive American business.

They are at the helm of the "one-stop service store" idea for America's millions of motorists, an idea which economists and men in business, particularly those actively interested in the trend of the automotive industry and its allied trades, consider the most revolutionary since the invention of the automobile.

In hundreds of American cities and towns Firestone one-stop service stores were erected by dealers in 1930.

Firestone Service Stores, Inc., Eighth and Travis, is now nearing completion and will be formally opened within a few days, according to Herbert Seale, manager of the local company.

Everything except mechanical repairing is offered to the motorist at these stations. The various services include Firestone tires, tubes, and tire repair, Firestone batteries, battery recharging and repairing, Firestone brake lining, Firestone brake testing, gasoline and oil, washing and polishing, and various other services.

According to Mr. Seale, the one-stop service store idea is the evidence of a gradual evolution in automobile servicing that is taking place.

"In all my experience, I have never been able to get away from the principle that service is the greatest factor in business. We have studied service from the customer's angle," he declared.

"It was inevitable that the more progressive tire dealer should be the one to coordinate such products as tires, batteries, gasoline, oil, greases, brake lining and the many services required by the car owner into a composite whole."

School Board Elects

TURKEY, Texas, April 25.—At the board meeting of the trustees of the Turkey Independent school district, Cecil Reavis was re-elected president and Charles Russell re-elected secretary of the board.

How to Lose Fat a Pound a Day on a Full Stomach

Do Just These Two Simple Things —Fat Melts Away

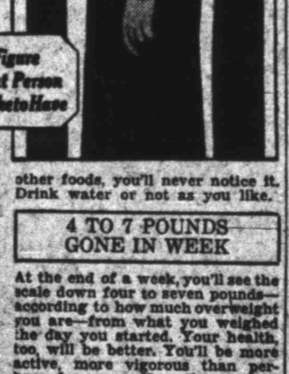
NO tiring exercise, no starvation. Instead, a full stomach and never a hungry moment! Yet fat melts away. You can easily lose from four to seven pounds weekly, see the coarse lines of fat replaced by the refined lines of slenderness—and feel better than you ever felt before in your life.

WHAT YOU DO

There are just two simple things you do: Clear your system—and keep it clear of waste matter, toxins and depleting poisons with ordinary JAD SALTS obtainable at any drug store. Start with a teaspoonful in a full glass of water tomorrow morning—a sparkling and pleasant drink.

Then EAT YOUR FILL—as much as your appetite can stand—of meals consisting of the following foods:

At breakfast eat two oranges, or the juice of two oranges. Eat also two slices of toasted whole wheat or bran bread. Eat rolled oats (with milk, not cream).



At luncheon eat a good size piece of lean meat, then see how much spinach, lettuce, sauerkraut, boiled cabbage, green peas, broccoli or fresh turnips you can eat. EAT ALL YOU CAN COMFORTABLY HOLD of these foods. For dessert eat any fresh fruit; cantaloupe, berries, apples, sliced oranges, pears. Substitute turnips for potatoes. Substitute lean meats—beef, chicken, veal, white fish, trout, bass, etc.—for pork or any fat meats.

At night, have another FILL-UP-FULL meal as above. Cut down on butter and sweets—eat half of what you eat now. That's easy. For with your stomach full of other foods, you'll never notice it. Drink water or not as you like.

4 TO 7 POUNDS GONE IN WEEK

At the end of a week, you'll see the scale down four to seven pounds—according to how much overweight you are—from what you weighed the day you started. Your health, too, will be better. You'll be more active, more vigorous than perhaps for years. Your friends will soon begin to notice your increasing slenderness. You'll soon avoid the embarrassment of being called fat or bulky. And—you'll do it with NEVER A HUNGRY MOMENT!

If in doubt about this safe and simple way, ASK YOUR DOCTOR. Show him this article. Ask him whether or not it is safe and sure. It marks the latest findings of scientific men in the field of weight reduction. For it performs two necessary and important functions.

The JAD SALTS clear the bowels and system of the excessive toxins most overweight people have. *The change in diet—the FILLING OF THE STOMACH TO ITS LIMIT—with foods that turn to energy instead of fat, decreases the weight day by day. The salts build up your health. The change in food eases off the fat.

Start today. Clip this dietary out and save it. Get big package of ordinary JAD SALTS for the cleansing part of the method at any drug store. A large bottle for a month costs less than a dollar.

*Note particularly—the salts are urged purely as a poison-banishing agent—not as a reducing. The change in food does the work.—Adv.

57 PIANOS LOANED FREE

Fifty-seven Pianos (Grands, Players and Uprights, both new and used instruments) will be placed in homes of Wichita Falls and vicinity, and they may be used until we need them—which will be an indefinite time. This offer is caused by lack of floor space, due to the reason we are overstocked and a larger demand now for certain styles of Grand and Upright Pianos. Our warerooms are crowded and other Pianos constantly arriving are taxing our floors to the utmost. We must have the room. Our entire stock has been priced at greatly reduced figures, and any one contemplating the purchase of a Piano in the next few months cannot afford to miss the opportunity. All Pianos not sold outright will be placed in the homes of families who are interested in owning a Piano in the immediate future and for the valuable advertising we will receive by having good families use them. We reserve the right to select the homes in which these Pianos are to be placed.

Positively No Charge for Anything

No cartage, no rent or any expense whatever. No phone orders. You must call at the store to make your selection. No matter if you live out of town, you are just as welcome to one of these instruments as those residing right in the city. There are no strings to this offer, which comes but once in a lifetime.

ZUNDELOWITZ JUNIOR HIGH

Those who try to keep informed on educational matters have realized that Zundelowitz junior high of this city is well above the average of that type of school. Few, however, had realized that it was not just a very good junior high school, but one of outstanding excellence in the entire country. It took the recent visit and comment of a federal official to bring home to Wichitans the fact that this city has an institution that ranks so high. The discovery should be a source of pride to the community as a whole.

The junior high school is a very important link in the school chain. It takes the student at a stage at which his intellectual future is largely determined. It is in junior high that school ceases to be a chore and takes on some of the aspects of an adventure. What has been learned in elementary school is given a greater significance, and the foundation is laid for what is to be learned in senior high school.

It is gratifying to know that a Wichita Falls school is giving such noteworthy service along this line.

AMARILLO GETS CHEAPER GAS

The gas company at Amarillo has delivered what seems to be a telling counter attack upon the plan for a municipal gas system. It has reduced its rates by about 30 per cent. The new domestic rate is 27 cents, as compared with the 22 cents at which the city is offering gas.

The reduction is likely to make it more difficult for the city to sign up customers and may also adversely affect the city's efforts to finance the construction of its plant.

The company's announcement that the reduction is made to protect its investment in Amarillo contains the hint that the reduction may not be permanent. The new rate is admittedly an unprofitable one. If the reduction should result in abandonment of the plan for a municipal plant, the company would be in position to later increase its rates.

Whatever the outcome, the immediate result to the consumer is cheaper gas. That fact is likely to prove encouraging to other cities that are toying with the municipal plant idea.

THE REPUBLICANS AND WALKER

The ineptitude of Republican leadership in New York, often demonstrated in the past, was manifested again recently when a Republican attack was made upon Mayor Walker's private life.

There are two basic rules, in politics, relative to such attacks. One is that the attacker must have the categorical proof of what he asserts. The other is that his own private life must be such as to make him immune to reprisal. Without these two elements, an attack such as was made on Walker is certain to boomerang.

From this distance, it appears that there are enough reasons for New York to rid itself of its mayor without dragging in matters that have nothing to do with his official conduct.

Married couples don't realize they're in a tight fix until they move into a modern apartment.

"You first, Alphonse," as the republicans in Spain said, pointing to the exit door.

THE CARLIST PRETENDER

The move made by Don Jaime de Bourbon-Anjou, fifth of the Carlist line, to claim the throne of Spain is by no means the first effort of the kind by his branch of the Spanish royal family. The probability is that it will meet with even less success than attended the efforts of his forbears.

The first of the Carlists was Don Carlos, brother of Ferdinand VII. When Ferdinand was restored to the throne in 1814, after the Napoleonic regime had been ousted, he was without an heir. Don Carlos hoped to succeed his brother, and his hopes were not dissipated when the king's fourth wife bore him a daughter, for an old Spanish law excluded females from succession to the throne. That law, however, was abrogated, greatly to the disgust of Carlos, who eventually was banished from the country. When Ferdinand VII died, one faction in Spain sought to place Carlos on the throne, and this resulted in an insurrection which continued for several years.

There was another Carlist insurrection in 1860, another in 1868 and another in 1873, these being in behalf of one or another of Don Carlos' descendants. The family took itself very seriously and never definitely relinquished its claims to the throne. Until comparatively recent times, the pretensions of the Carlists were supported by a sizable minority of Spaniards.

It is not likely that Spain will call a Carlist to the throne, but stranger things have happened.

REDISTRICTING PROSPECTS

The difficulties which beset the path of the congressional redistricting bill at Austin are due to the failure of both house and senate to follow the spirit of the constitution. Instead of creating the new districts in those sections of the state where increase in population calls for increased representation, each body allowed itself to be dominated by the personal ambitions of certain members.

There is no excuse for giving East Texas an additional member. The population does not justify it. The idea that each of the gulf ports should have a congressman of its own has some merits, but it should not be permitted to disrupt the redistricting plan as a whole. The house bill is a much fairer measure than that passed by the senate, but it has grievous faults.

There has been so much catering to the congressional ambitions of house and senate members that the chances are now decidedly against any redistricting bill being passed. It is doubtful if the trading and log-rolling necessary to an agreement can be consummated. If there were enough senators and representatives insisting on a common sense measure, one could be passed. But when the whole scheme of redistricting is viewed in the light, not of the public interest, but of private ambition, an agreement is difficult. Failure is in sight and it is an inexcusable failure.

THE CITY-STATE IDEA

As a protest against what they consider unfair treatment of their city by the legislature, some residents of Chicago have started a secession movement. They want Chicago made a separate state, free of the dominance of the smaller cities and rural sections of Illinois.

The idea is not a new one. It has been broached before in behalf of other large cities—Boston, New York, Detroit, St. Louis. Usually, as in the case of Chicago, redistricting is the cause of the trouble. None of the cities mentioned is permitted to have legislative representation in proportion to its population. The futility of such movements is apparent, but they do afford means of calling attention to the injustice that is done the cities by legislatures.

In Chicago's case, the question might properly be raised as to the city's fitness to govern itself. If it cannot prevent lawlessness as a municipality could it be expected to do so as a state?

Rights Versus Duties

By GLENN FRANK
President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine
(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Long ago the great and gifted Italian leader, Mazzini, preached the gospel of the duties of man as the imperative other half of the gospel of the rights of man.

As one looks about the world today, one sees the world as one big battlefield on which two philosophies are waging a fight to the death—the philosophy of rights and the philosophy of duties.

The three political, social, and economic philosophies that are seeking each to capture the mind and allegiance of modern mankind are:

Capitalism.
Fascism.
Communism.

Capitalism rests on a philosophy of rights.

Organized capital fights for the rights of profit.

Organized labor fights for the rights of wages. A hundred other things are battled over in the labor-capital conflict, but they all center around labor's getting its fair share of the joint product of industry in wages and capital getting its fair share in profits.

Fascism and Communism, on the other hand, rest on a philosophy of duties.

Both trample on the old individualism with the demand that the central issue of the age is the individual's sense of duty to the group, to the nation, to the social order. And both stand ready to compel this sense of duty if it does not already exist in the individual.

Capitalistic America may base its constitution on a bill of rights.

Fascist Italy and Communistic Russia alike base their constitutions on a bill of duties.

A philosophy of rights gives man his liberties.

A philosophy of duties takes his liberties away.

Each is but a half-key to the future.

The great problem is how to build a civilization on a philosophy that includes recognition of both the rights and the duties of man.

The old individualism was long on rights and short on duties; the Fascisms and Communisms of today are long on duties and short on rights; we must, in America, build a new individualism by cooperative organization and action in which individuals may, acting together, safeguard rights that otherwise are doomed.

Poem About Spring

Sing hey, the gentle Springtime, the birdies and the bees,
The green grass breaking through the sod, the leaflets on the trees, (Go get another blanket—do you think I want to freeze?

Sing hey, the joyous Springtime,
the flowers on the hill,
The loveliness of Nature's garb the dullest soul should thrill, (Fetch the hot-water bottle, I'm about to have a chill.)

Sing hey, the festive Springtime, when all is blithe and merry,
But I would like it better if it wasn't so contrary,
If it could stay at least as warm as we had in January.

And we must take occasion to repeat what we've said before, that spring hasn't really and truly arrived until the mesquites start budding. And there's not a mesquite bud in sight.

Since half of the cigaret-tax money is to go to the schools, the schoolmarm who smokes will now have a dern near perfect alibi.

A device that will measure a millionth of an inch has been perfected. If they keep on, they'll develop one that will measure the thickness of the ham in a drug store sandwich.

Easy Payments

We were reading some statistics the other day about the instalment plan and the hold it has on the American people. And we got to thinking . . .

We thought of a bit of family history such as some garrulous old lady might relate over her knitting, 40 or 50 years from now.

"Well, now, when your grandpa and I got married, back there in 1929—I remember we had to wait a while so he could finish up the payments on the engagement ring—him and me didn't have anything at all to start housekeeping with. Oh, we had the house that Paw gave us, of course, and our furniture, but that was about all.

"Your grandpa was a good deal of a home body and so, first thing he did, he up and bought us a radio. A hundred and eighty dollars it wrs, and he paid forty down and fourteen a month. We had to kind of skimp on the groceries, 'cause your grandpa wasn't making much money, but we kept up the payments right on time.

"I remember that the collector came for the ninth instalment the day after little Jessie was born. Jim had to give him the money he'd laid by for the doctor, but he fixed that all right. He paid the doctor fifteen down and ten a month.

"Well, bye and bye, we got the radio all paid for and then we needed a new car. Jim paid a hundred down on the car and $32.50 a month. We was within five or six payments of having it clear when little Sylvester came, and your grandpa had to settle for him on easy payments, too.

"And so it went. We got us a Frigidaire, and a washer, and a piano for Jessie's lessons, and a new range. It seemed like whenever we could get something for a little down and a little every month, we'd figure we just couldn't do without it. And after a while, when little Ernestine arrived, it seemed like the house was too small to hold all the kids and the easy payments stuff, too, so we got a new place. I remember well how proud we was. Four hundred down and the balance like rent.

"Well, the years went by, and the kids got older and there was always something to make payments on. The kids had to have bicycles and clothes and things, and poor as we was, it seemed like we could always scrape up enough for a down payment.

"It went on that way until the kids was grown and married and making payments themselves, and then your grandpa's uncle that had moved to East Texas in 1931 died and left him $100,000. He quit his job and took the money and went around and paid off all the instalments he owed. I remember we had just got a new fancy bathroom that there was ten or twelve payments yet to be made on, but he paid that out, too. Then he invested the rest of the money in bonds and set down to take things easy.

"But you can't never tell. He had always liked to go hunting, so he went down and got him a fine new shotgun and paid cash for it. But he never used it. It didn't seem right, somehow, having something new that there wasn't no payments due on. He couldn't get used to it. Finally he give it away to your cousin Jasper.

"He just couldn't enjoy himself. He'd set around the house and when the doorbell would ring he'd make a break to answer it, and then check himself, realizing that it couldn't be a collector, 'cause there wasn't anything to collect on. When the phone'd ring he'd answer it, like he was hoping it was somebody saying if the payment on the electric clock wasn't made that day, they'd repossess it.

"I never saw a man pine and droop so. It seemed like all the joy had gone out of life for him. He even went and got an encyclopedy. $12 down and $8 a month, but he didn't get no enjoyment out of it because he knew he had the money lying up in the bank to meet the payments and there wasn't no fun buying things that way.

"It looked like he was about to go into a decline when word came one day that the bonds he'd invested his money in wasn't any good, that the company that issued them had failed. There wasn't even enough left for the lawyers to fight over. And there was your grandpa, old and gray-haired and flat broke.

"Well, sir, he went down to the store and got his old job back, and out of his first month's pay he made a down payment on an electric sewing machine and a new lawnmower. And he perked up to beat the mischief and was happy and spry again. And when the collectors would come around and argue and threaten, the tears would come into his eyes, he was that glad.

"He lived 20 years after that and when he passed on I got a fine bronze coffin and put up that monument. It took me three years to pay them out, but I knew it was making him happy.

"I kind of wanted to put 'Repossessed at Last' on his head-stone, but some of the children objected."

Mayor Jimmie Walker declares that he is not a detective. But he has enough to answer for, anyhow.

Ma was looking at the morning paper after pop had left for his

Id love to see her, they say her tawking voice has lost almost all its unpleazant qualities, while her face is as lovely as ever, if possible. Im going to ask your father to take me, ony whenever I ask him point blank to go to the movies he always infallibly refuses just as a matter of habit, so Ill haff to approach the subjeck indirectly, she sed, and I sed Why dont you approach it direckly by ordering liver and onions for supper, that will make him feel like saying yes to anything, I sed.

Wich she did, and tonite we was waiting for Nora to ring the dinner bell for supper, and ma sed to pop, I was reeding some statistics in one of the movie magazines, Willyum, and it seems that every Sattiday nite one twentieth of the intire population of the world are in moving picture theaters.

We're living in a crazy age, theres no doubt about that, pop sed.

On the contrary, quite the reverse, its far superior to the passed ages when people use to spend all their evenings at enormous bankwet tables drinking their helth away to each others helth and singing songs about drinking between swallows, ma sed. The movies are often instrucktive as well as ornamental, and now with the tawkies even if you shut your eyes your ears are still appealed to, she sed.

In other werds theres no rest for the weary, pop sed.

Dont be so silly, its silly, ma sed. Do you sippose that millions and millions of otherwise intelligent peeple would continue to go to the movies if they werent werth going to? she sed, and pop sed, Millions and millions of otherwise intelligent

When Is Surgery Advisable?

I receive hundreds of letters every week from people who tell me they are afraid of surgical operations; they may have been told that an operation was absolutely necessary to save their lives.

While there may be a few surgeons who are in the business of selling operations where there is the least excuse, I am sure that the majority of doctors do not recommend an operation unless they conscientiously believe it is necessary or advisable, but I am sorry that more of the latter type are not acquainted with the wonderful effects of the fasting and diet cure. I know from practical exserience that many of the diseases that are considered only curable by operation can be remedied and often entirely eradicated by the proper use of dietetic measures, since this method goes down into the very tissues of the system and removes the cause of the disease in a manner which no knife can do.

There is no doubt that a great advancement has been made in the science of surgery within the past 25 years. The surgeon of today is a highly skilled technician who has spent years of study in a classroom, with some actual experience while assisting as an interne in the operating room. The surgeon cannot be considered competent until he has spent at least five or six years after his school work in assisting some experienced surgeon whose methods he can learn by watching hundreds of different kinds of operations. This wonderful training, in spite of its good points, has one handicap in that it may produce a surgeon who can only see disease from a surgical standpoint, and consequently a skilled surgeon is often one-sided in his opinion as to whether or not an operation is necessary.

Any one who contemplates a major operation should first have the opinions of several physicians of different schools before deciding if an operation is deemed necessary, then the services of the best available surgeon should be secured.

In my own practice I have seen many cases of gallstones dissolved by the methods which I tell of in these columns, but in some cases where the gall bladder is completely filled with stones, the gall bladder should be removed.

Kidney stones may often be dissolved through the fasting and diet treatment but again in some cases the stones are too large, and only surgical interference will save the patient's life.

Ulcers of the stomach or small intestines may almost always be cured by a well regulated diet treatment, but in some cases of penetrating ulcers and excessive scar tissue a surgical operation is advisable.

A surgeon should always be called in case of a serious accident, since the average practitioner may not have had enough experience with these particular cases to give them the most modern methods of treatment.

Many kinds of tumors may be dissolved an deliminated through fasting and physiotheraby treatments but it sometimes seems the best policy to remove at least the larger growths and then train the patient to live so that no more need grow.

Even when an operation is necessary, it is well for the patient to remember that the cause of disease cannot be removed by the knife, and if the operation seems necessary to remove the effects of wrong living, the patient must afterwards be all the more careful to live so as not to produce a recurrence of the same trouble, or even some other disease which might prove to be more serious.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Strongyloides

Question—M. R. K. writes: "I have a very heavy infection of strongyloides. Please let me know the treatment for them and whether they could cause me to be very weak and in rundown condition. Have indigestion, and high blood count of 15,000 at times."

Answer—The strongyloides intestinalis is a species of round worm sometimes causing diarrhea when present in large quantities, usually found in the upper part of the small intestines. They may produce anemia and a rundown condition. But a white blood count of 15,000 per cubic millimeter would seem a little high unless the infection is complicated. A raw tomato fast for 10 days to two weeks is often helpful in causing the worms to leave the system. No other food should be used. My article on "How to Fast and Diet for Health" explains the technique for taking the fruit fast. Medicines sometimes used in the treatment of this disease are thymol and sulphur, and if the infection persists at the end of the fast, these could be resorted to, but I would not advise their use at an earlier period.

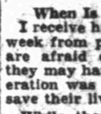
Sandwich Fillings

Question—Mrs. M. P. asks: "Will you please make some suggestions on vegetable fillings for sandwiches of wholewheat bread? My husband is a carpenter and has to take his lunch with him to work. Also, please print recipe for peanut butter dressing, used with raw, cauliflower salad."

Answer—I will be glad to send you an article on the subject of making wholesome sandwiches, but cannot take the space to give you this information in this column. The peanut butter dressing is made by thinning the roasted peanut butter with milk or cream to the desired consistency. You may use any reasonable amount of this dressing over the cauliflower or any other salad.

A Father's Plea

Edgar A. Guest



Lord, let me do the worrying,
On me let all the burdens fall.
Let those around me laugh and sing
And never guess my care at all.

So long as they can happy be
And still have heart for mirth and song
Let all the troubles fall on me,
But keep me well and keep me strong.

Lord, if I falter at the door
Remind me that the day is done.
My children romping on the floor
Know naught of struggles lost or won.

Grant me the courage to go in
As though I had no pain to bear
And hide behind a father's grin
All dismal signs of doubt and care.

Lord, let me carry on alone!
To them my griefs I would not tell
Nor make my heavy burdens known.
I'd have them think that all is well.

They are so young and still so small;
Care does not yet to them belong.
On me let all the troubles fall.
My only prayer is: "Keep me strong!"

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—Three senators are going abroad to study the silver situation and add to a great mass of information and opinion which has been poured out in statements, official reports and erudite articles—none of which has prevented the price of silver from going down below 30 cents an ounce.

In February, at about the time silver was falling below 26 cents after previously declining from 69 cents in 1925 to 46 cents in 1930, the senate adopted the resolution of Senator Key Pittman of Nevada which asked President Hoover to negotiate with foreign governments with a view to stopping government sales of silver and to promote an international conference to achieve agreements or understandings "with respect to the uses and status of silver as money."

Conference Not Called

No conference has been called, but the administration is actively interested in silver, along with statesmen, fiscal experts, economists and business men over the world. The subcommittee of the senate foreign relations committee which will now be interviewing foreign leaders consists of Pittman, Swanson of Virginia and Shipstead of Minnesota.

The important phases of the international silver depression, which have stirred up general interest in and discussion about the metal for the first time since the famous Bryan "free silver" campaign of 1896, involve the prosperity of India and China and the effect of low silver prices on exports to those countries, the effect on the mining industry in this country and other countries where Americans may or may not have large mining investments and the aggregate effect which most experts agree has been an important factor in the worldwide business depression of the last year or two.

Many Countries Affected

Silver is not the only depressing factor, but the great amount of study and discussion devoted to it is attributable to the fact that our own silver producing states are vitally affected, half a dozen important countries in Asia and the Americas which either hoard or produce silver are involved and many authorities seem to believe that something can be done about the white metal which will stimulate prosperity's return.

This is probably the shortest article ever written about silver, but some of the main facts may be pointed out as follows: The total world loss on silver supplies, with its accompanying bad psychological effects, will approach two and a half billion dollars, a decrease of more than half within 18 months. That meant about $1,300,000,000 to the people of India and about $800,000,000 to the Chinese. Our exports to China have decreased rapidly. China operates on a silver standard, the value of her currency depending on silver prices. India's people, although on a gold basis, hoard silver in vast quantities as a form of saving. Mexico, the largest silver producing country, has been hard hit because silver is among her most important exports; her two-year suspension of payments to holders of her external bonds was partly attributable to the silver decline.

Treasury Lost 100 Million

The U. S. treasury lost $100,000,000 on its silver reserves.

Governor Montagu Norman of the Bank of England and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon are said to have discussed silver at their recent meeting here, but no suggestion or proposal has been forthcoming as a result. Both the United States and Great Britain are understood to be willing to enter an international silver conference, but apparently neither country intends to call one.

Various proposals for government action here and abroad have not been getting anywhere because they are not convincingly sound or advantageous from the standpoint of those requested to act. Most of them involve some form of price fixing.

It has been suggested that governments informally agree not to sell silver below a stipulated price, that they put more silver into their coins—most silver coinage having been debased—and that the United States absorb much of the oversupply. Senator Pittman has also proposed a silver loan to China, but neither Chinese nor Americans appear to be very interested.

Silver is a commodity affected by the laws of supply and demand and Undersecretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills pointed out last March that efforts to maintain commodity prices by withholding surpluses through agreement or government financing had not only not been successful but were factors contributing to the business depression.

Twenty Years Ago Today

From Files Wichita Times

April 26, 1911

The first luncheon of the Wichita Falls Ad club, held at the St. James hotel from 1 to 2 o'clock today, was a success even beyond the most sanguine expectations of the enthusiastic members of that organization. The club was organized less than two weeks ago with 19 enrolled members and at the luncheon today 21 were served and a most interesting time was had.

Marvin Smith, president of the club, acted as toastmaster, and papers were read by Jack Binford and F. H. Day, secretary. Eugene Thompson of Dallas made an interesting talk on advertising.

NEW YORK.—Life is like that—and also like this:

Maclyn Arbuckle was originator of the famous expression, "Nobody loves a fat man." Yet when he died recently, this extremely plump gent had just about as many friends as anyone in the theater business.

In one of the almost-all-night restaurants where the gay boys and play boys go for their melted-cheese-on-toast after gadding about until dawn, the menu contains a long list of sandwiches named after celebrities.

There are several such, and each one concocts a slightly different combination under such titles as the "Earl Carroll delight" or the "Heywood Broun special" or the "Eddie Cantor double-decker."

The menus, apparently, haven't been changed in about a year. The other morning I picked one up.

Three of the people whose names were attached to dainty delicacies had died within the past few months.

For years a certain famous beauty posed as a photographic model for everything from corsets to tooth paste. She was one of a few dozen demanded by scores of national advertisers. Her face, if not her name, was known to millions of people across the land.

Sometimes the pictures would show her in evening frocks and sometimes in the scantiest of attire.

She married a certain rich man—but her pictures, particularly those taken when she posed in the very-very, kept appearing in a certain type of publication.

The husband has brought up hundreds of copies to keep them from being ogled by young men who purchase such publications. The wife, quite naturally, thinks it's very funny. She posed for a living, and that was that!

But though demands for her services would bring her a neat fortune, she has promised never again to model.

No one in Manhattan had a higher-brow attitude toward music. Every night, after a day's work, he would go home and practice on the piano for hours.

Actually, he was a newspaper writer. One day he got a job writing a radio column. And each week he would lambast the syncopationists and make rough remarks about radio programs that went in for jazz. Then the paper on which he worked was merged. With scores of others he was tossed out of a job.

The other day he came into the office with a story.

He had become press agent for one of the "hottest" jazz bands in America.

A generation ago, as the story goes, he was a bum on the Brooklyn waterfront.

One day a cop came along and gave him the "move on" order. The cop was decent about it; in fact, he took the man aside and advised him to get next to himself.

"But I'm really broke," the man said to the cop. "I really need money. I'd go to work tomorrow if I could get work."

The cop believed him and gave him 50 cents.

The other day the Brooklyn cop—still a cop—got a letter. It was from a prosperous manufacturer in the middle west. It offered him a managerial job.

"You probably won't remember, but I'm the fellow you gave 50 cents to when I really needed it," the letter read.

Wallace Beery in 'The Secret Six' Being Featured at Strand Theater To Be Followed by 'Cracked Nuts'

Inner secrets of city politics, the working of the underworld and the astounding story of the rise of a gang ruler are the engrossing elements of "The Secret Six," drama of modern American life, now playing at the Strand through Monday.

Wallace Beery, as the swashbuckling, roistering but sinister Scorpio, has a role that affords him the utmost latitude in the combination of whimsical humor and menance that marks his best work. The finale of the picture is a heart-gripping scene in the condemned cells, an episode which visibly moved Friday and Saturday audiences.

"The Secret Six" was built on actual happenings in one great American city, and the potent force behind it is that it rings absolutely true. It has its comedy, its love interest, its grim battles, but through it all the law reaches to win in the end. Not essentially a "gangster picture," it bares all the secrets of gangland, as well as the machinations of politicians and the underlying causes for modern municipal conditions.

Wallace Beery as Scorpio heads one of the biggest casts ever assembled in a single picture. Lewis Stone is seen as the legal mind behind the underworld, Marjorie Rambeau as the ill-fated Peaches, and John Mack Brown and Clark Gable have the love interest with beautiful blonde Jean Harlow.

"Cracked Nuts"

For sheer fun of the spontaneous, rib-tickling variety, few comedies of the current season excel the hilarity of "Cracked Nuts" which was shown Saturday night at the Strand at a special midnight showing, and will return for a three-day engagement starting Tuesday.

Based on a ludicrously funny situation, the picture carries its two stars, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, through an amazing series of comic and thrilling situations.

Considerable romance is injected into this comedy with the appearance of Dorothy Lee, and her soured aunt, the funny Edna May Oliver. These two become involved in constant plots started by the two rival aspirants to the kingship. Unlike most comedies of this type, "Cracked Nuts" has a distinctive plot and romance that the director retained intact above the maze of comic situations.

"Shipmates"

Robert Montgomery scores fresh triumphs as the salty hero of "Shipmates," which comes to the Strand next Friday.

In the featured role of the navy comedy-romance, Montgomery crosses the threshold of stardom, winning new laurels and proving his ability to carry a production on his shoulders. He is entirely without self-consciousness and his characterization of the sailor-hero is one long to be associated with his career.

Dorothy Jordan again plays opposite Montgomery as the admiral's daughter with whom he falls in love, unknowingly inviting fearful complications.

Wallace Beery in "The Secret Six" at the Strand through Monday.

In addition to the regular screen presentation of Marion Davies in "It's a Wise Child," the program at the Majestic will include a vaudeville act featuring Hillis, Flint and Ivey, Adagios Supreme—Durelle Alexander "Princess of Pep and Personality" and Margaret Stanford "Queen of the Ivories."

Ian Keith, William Haines and Dorothy Jordan in "A Tailor Made Man" a new kind of fun with the clown of the screen, at Majestic through Tuesday.

'A Tailor Made Man' at Majestic With 'It's a Wise Child' Wednesday 'Abraham Lincoln' Comes Saturday

High-pressure business, the optimism and dynamic force of youth plus the comedy of romance that go with it—these are the keynotes of "A Tailor Made Man," William Haines' latest starring picture, now playing at the Majestic.

"A Tailor Made Man" is something new for Haines. He plays a high-powered business executive, in a story laid amid the whirling wheels of a huge commercial machine. He solves business problems and the story even gives a recipe for a cure of business depression. A serious note underlies the whimsical comedy and serves as a contrast to the romantic love story and kaleidoscopic glimpses into the whirl of modern commercial life.

And Haines, though he is as funny as he ever was in any role, has more of a chance to do some forceful dramatic acting—so that the audience sees two sides of the screen's beloved clown.

One of the best casts that ever surrounded Haines is seen in the picture. Dorothy Jordan, the little waif of "Min and Bill," plays the feminine lead, as the demure daughter of the old German tailor, Joseph Cawthorn, who is inimitable in the role of that old fellow, with his broken English and great heart.

Marjorie Rambeau deserts "hard-boiled" roles to play a stately society leader. Hedda Hooper, sophisticated of the screen, abandons her usual type of role, too, and appears as a society woman decidedly without sophistication. William Austin contributes his brand of English comedy, and Henry Armetta is a riot as "Peter," the Bolshevik in the tailor shop.

There is more fun and some good music in "Pent House Blues" which features Muriel D'Or and Cy Kahn. Each of the stars are vaudeville and musical comedy favorites and know how to entertain. "The Hudson and its Moods" features Vincent Lopez's orchestra as a boat lazily drifts down the Hudson river, enabling you to enjoy the beauties of that historic river. The Saturday audience joined in singing "Alexander's Ragtime Band," the screen song presented with this program. This old song seemed to be as popular as it was a few years ago. The Majestic talking news completes the program.

"It's a Wise Child"

Marion Davies' new starring film, "It's a Wise Child," which comes to the Majestic Wednesday, is said to be the most mirth-provoking picture of this popular comedienne's career.

"It's a Wise Child" was a David Belasco production and a stand-out hit during its engagement at the Belasco theater in New York. This story of the embarrassing and uproarious effects caused by gossip in a small town has been praised by dramatic critics as one of the best farce-comedies of the theater. Those who have seen the picture declare that it is even funnier.

Among the important feminine supporting players are Polly Moran, who contributes another of her inimitable laugh-promoting characterizations, and Marie Prevost, Sidney Blackmer, James Gleason and Lester Vail, all of whom have attained prominence on the legitimate stage, have important roles in the new picture.

In addition to this Marie Davies' comedy, there will be seen on the stage "Dance Moments," which features Hillis, Flint and Ivy in "peppy" dances.

"Abraham Lincoln"

D. W. Griffith, whose well remembered epic of the silent screen, "The Birth of a Nation," revolutionized the motion picture industry a good many years ago, has turned his hand to the making of a superior talking picture, "Abraham Lincoln," a production of unusual merit and interest. Audiences and critics alike have acclaimed it the master piece of Griffith's long and brilliant career. Those intimately acquainted with Griffith have known for a long time that it was his one ambition to produce "Abraham Lincoln" on the audible screen. This ambition is now realized, surpassing in beauty and dramatic strength, even Griffith's fondest dreams. There seems little doubt that "Abraham Lincoln" is destined to be Griffith's crowning achievement.

"Abraham Lincoln" will be presented at the Majestic for four days only, starting next Saturday. The management of the Majestic announces special arrangements for school classes will be made during the showing, in order that every student will have an opportunity of seeing this attraction.

Marion Davies and Sidney Blackmer in "It's a Wise Child," starting Wednesday at the Majestic.

MOVIE GOSSIP

Take Cold Showers

Cold shower baths are nothing to the South Seas natives of Bora Bora, where F. W. Hurnau filmed "Tabu." They bathe several times a day in the icy waters of the many waterfalls on the isle.

Mital Green is proud. Her cat Tinker is the mother of five black and white kittens. Tinker is the cat that accompanies Mitzi on all vacation and personal appearance trips.

James Murray Returns

James Murray, starred in "The Crowd" and other important successes, has been given a role opposite Clara Bow in "Kick In."

Exploits Stool Pigeon

"The Vice Squad" is the story of a stool pigeon for a metropolitan crime combatting force. Paul Lukas plays this part.

Keeps Coat of Tan

Richard Arlen, who is playing a sailor in "The Lawyer's Secret," keeps his outdoor complexion playing golf.

STARS ON LOCATION ARE SERVED WITH BOX LUNCHES

It's a mealtime rule of "take what you get and like it" when Hollywood motion picture companies go out on location from the homey comforts of the studios.

Stars, extras, directors and prop boys eat from the same dish, in a manner of speaking, and drink from the same bowl unless they want to go hungry.

Members of such companies are fed the Hollywood creation known as a "Studio Box Lunch," a pasteboard carton packed with two or three sandwiches, a salad in a waxed cup (you eat it with a wooden spoon) some olives, a pickle, some cookies and a piece of pie, wrapped in a tissue of waxed paper. It invariably is pumpkin pie.

Hired and Re-hired

Richard Wallace, Paramount director, has worked for Mack Sennett seven different times during his career. He has been writer, cutter and director for the comedy producer.

PARAMOUNT PLANNING FOR MORE OF "KID" PICTURES

Made confident by the success scored by "Tom Sawyer" and "Skippy," Paramount has all plans made for a series of motion pictures in which the principal parts will be played by children, according to Jesse L. Lasky.

New story properties have been acquired and additional ones now are being negotiated for, according to Paramount's production head, who is convinced that the so-called "kid" pictures have opened a refreshingly new type of screen entertainment.

Paramount's recent stock company additions include Jackie Coogan, Robert Coogan, Jackie Searl and Mitzi Green. Up to two years ago Paramount never had put a child actor or actress on its contract list.

COOPER, ARLEN TEACHING OAKIE THE WESTERN ARTS

Oakie's sudden interest in things western arises from "Dude Ranch," his new picture, in which he must play a hard-riding cow hand; a genuine rootin', tootin' son of Arizona.

Cooper, schooled in the ways of the west since his Montana boyhood, has undertaken to teach Oakie to ride the Mexican saddle. Richard Arlen, star in many western dramas, will teach him to juggle a gun and to don a pair of chaps right side foremost. Both complain that their pupil does not seem to have his heart in his work.

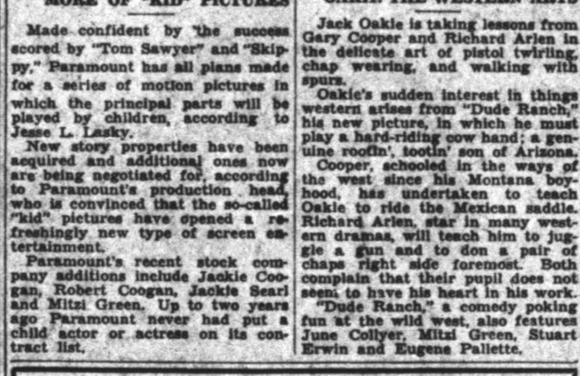
"Dude Ranch," a comedy poking fun at the wild west, also features June Collyer, Mitzi Green, Stuart Erwin and Eugene Paliette.

DOLORES DEL RIO, STAR TO BE "ROSE OF RANCHO"

Dolores Del Rio, romantic star of "What Price Glory," "Ramona" and "Resurrection," has been signed for the role of the aristocratic senorita in "The Rose of the Rancho," the picturization of the David Belasco-Richard Walton Tully stage success.

This announcement is made by Jesse L. Lasky, who stated also that the picture will be filmed entirely in technicolor under the direction of Edward Sloman.

Richard Arlen will have the part of the aggressive young government investigator who comes to California to put a stop to the seizing of haciendas by unscrupulous land-grabbers.



Scene from "Cracked Nuts," with Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey at the Strand starting Tuesday.

'Just Imagine' at Gem Three Days Starting Sunday

With the rapid development of the airplane and other modes of transportation and the increasing problem of traffic in our great cities, what will New York look like in 1980?

Buddy DeSylva, Lew Brown and Ray Henderson, multimillionaire authors and song writers, have attempted to answer that question in "Just Imagine," at the Gem Sunday for three days.

Huge modernistic skyscrapers tower 200 and more stories above the street level. Fleets of airplanes, all equipped with helicopters that permit straight up and down flying, coming to a complete stop in the air, cruise the air lines. Aerial traffic cops, in anchored balloons, direct traffic. Great air liners bring all the capitals of the world within a few hours travel of the American metropolis.

Nine traffic levels are provided, ranging from subways, surface trams, elevated railways and five automobile levels, to a novel canal system that permits great ocean liners to traverse the main thoroughfares, discharging freight and passengers much as do the huge buses of our day.

This one background is the greatest ever attempted in talking pictures, according to preview word, and its beauty and magnificence is a tribute to the imagination of DeSylva, Brown and Henderson and the technical skill of their director, David Butler, and Stephen Goosson and Ralph Hammeras, art directors.

The cast of "Just Imagine" includes El Brendel, Maureen O'Sullivan, John Garrick, Marjorie White and Frank Albertson.

Zoe Beckley's Corner

Marrying Without Love

"Dear Zoe—I have known him three years. He is very good to me. Does not drink or smoke; neither do I. I have laughed off his proposals because I do not actually love him but now he is serious and urges me to marry this June. Could I be happy and love him after we are married? We are both 27. —I THANK YOU."

So many, many marriages entered into from mad passion go on the rocks that I am almost ready to say it's better to have liking and admiration than to have this mad passion. Of course the ideal is to have simply everything — respect, admiration, suitability, friendship, congeniality and good old mad passion too. But whoever finds all this wrapped up in one person? I ask you!

ZOE BECKLEY

This much I do know; That marriage where the physical attraction is lacking is no marriage at all and the more you try to make it one, the more hopeless and dreadful it grows. The physical part of love is not a tremendous factor so long as it's there. But when it isn't there it immediately becomes a tremendous factor. Therefore I would warn any girl against marrying a man who is actually repellant to her in a physical way. If he is not, if everything is right except the actual vital spark that starts wild thrills cavorting through the old protoplasm is missing, there is an excellent chance that all will be well. Coldness of the senses sometimes happens because they have not been awakened.

Your ages are in your favor. You are much more likely to be happy marrying at 27, without the mad passion, than if you were younger. Your minds are grownup, and your temperaments have "jelled." Think well about this character and the material things like income, home, etc., and look within yourself and see if marriage means more to you than mere joy.

Cast Fear Away

"Dear Zoe—A friend of mine holds a secret which she threatens constantly to tell. If she does so it will ruin my life. I am studying for my profession and have been of good character for years and shall always be. How can I keep her silent? —ONE WHO LEARNED."

No one of such despicable character as your "friend" would be believed against yourself. In the first place, she will not tell. And if she does you have only to say that her story is the result of a quarrel between you, and a desire on her part for revenge. Let your look, your manner, your life and your fearlessness speak for you. Take my word for it, no human being will judge you by the word of such a person.

"Dear Zoe—I am 22; she is 17. We love each other but my people do not like her simply because she does not speak the language of our parents' country and because they are religious fanatics. I was reared in the monastery and only taken out when they needed me to work on the farm as a young boy. My folks tell me to choose between home and the girl and I have chosen the girl. I am a baker and can get work in Chicago. If she loves me she will wait till I have money enough to marry on. If not, she is free to love anyone else. I'll stick to her as long as she does to me. Am I doing right, Zoe? —FRANK."

I could not add one word to the plan you have marked out for yourself except to urge you to tell the girl why you have left home and what your hopes for the future are. Be sure she understands that she is free meanwhile. And keep in touch with her as well as you can through letters. Luck to you!

All in the Viewpoint

"Dear Zoe—I have known and trusted her for years and she was true. Now it is different. She met a man and when cornered admitted to me her fault, twice. She begs me to take her back. What do you advise? —M. H. J."

It is not a matter any one else can decide for you. The fact of your asking the question makes me feel you would not make a success of your love or marriage. You would have to be overwhelmingly fond of her in order to forget the mistakes. And even then, most men cannot keep the old distrust from cropping out. It would be almost sure to create quarrels between you sooner or later.

Governors of 30 States Are Trying To Modernize State Machinery—Much Room for Improvement Seen by Smith

By ALFRED E. SMITH

All over the country the operation of large business institutions has been modernized. The whole trend of business reorganization is in the interest of efficiency and economy in its management, to say nothing of responsibility. Unless we are prepared to say that the management and operation of a state is not a business there is no reason why all the states of the union should not follow the example of a well-managed and well-conducted business by bringing about responsibility, efficiency and economy through the process of bringing the machinery of government up to date. There is no fundamental objection to reorganization. Those who would use the chaotic, incomprehensible system of government of the past do so to serve the purpose of a political machine. The more complicated you make government the easier it is of manipulation by those who would use it to serve their own purpose.

Modernizing the machinery of state government is a live issue throughout the United States. Thirty different governors have recommended reorganization of their state governments to bring about consolidation of scattered activities. Both incoming and outgoing governors recommended it this year in vigorous language. All of them urged that it provide for responsible management of state affairs, and that responsibility be lodged with the governor. By doing away with over-lapping functions and duplicating of effort, reorganization will produce economy and promote efficiency.

When I tackled this problem in New York state I was under the impression that my state was probably the worst example of haphazard growth of departments, boards and commissions. But as I read the messages of the various governors and as I have been able to study the governmental structure of various states, I find that New York, after all, was not so bad. I recently addressed the general assembly of the state of North Carolina, where they are still electing on a state-wide ballot a superintendent of insurance, a commissoner of labor, a commissioner of agriculture, a corporation commissioner, a superintendent of public construction, a treasurer and an auditor—in addition to the governor, lieutenant governor and the attorney general. All of their educational activities are divided up into 19 different boards or commissions. There is no one department of public works; all of these being carried on by individual commissions for individual projects. Every profession practiced in the state of North Carolina gets its license from a separate board, instead of setting up a bureau of professional training inside the department of education.

Recently I spoke in the state of New Jersey where proposals are pending to reorganize the government of that state. I found that the governor of New Jersey was referred to at the meeting as a part-time governor, meaning that he did not give all his time to the job. Instead of the governor being the sole executive of the state government the legislature itself appointed executive officers. Nothing could be more ridiculous than to have the legislature appropriate public money and at the same time appoint the auditor who would supervise the expenditures of its own appropriations. In New Jersey, 72 boards and commissions are administered by 500 people. How there can be any business management in government of that kind is more than anybody can understand. If New York, with 11 and a half million people, can get along with 17 departments of government, carrying on every activity known to a state government, what can the reason be for maintaining a state government on the other side of the Hudson river that requires 72 commissions?

Only recently I have had to decline invitations to address the legislatures in South Carolina and Georgia where plans for consolidation of government agencies are also under way.

A large part of this growth occurred in the last quarter of a century, and we find it affecting not alone the government of our original states but our baby state of Oklahoma has before it for consideration at the present time a form of government to affect the consolidation of the scattered activities in that state. Many of the 30 states with this reform of government before them are states recently admitted to statehood.

When our states were subdivided into counties, villages and cities, the state delegated most of its sovereign powers to its various subdivisions. That left little for the state except to provide general and special laws for the conduct of the government.

In New York until 1895 there were very few duties for the governor to perform. After he had disposed of the bills that were left to him at the close of the legislature, a governor had nothing before him but routine matters until such time as the legislature was about to reconvene. In some of our smaller states, this condition prevails today. But with the growth of population and the development of new duties by the central government, many states have grown to be large, complex and unwieldy pieces of machinery. As each new activity has been taken on a new commission or a new department has been created to take care of it. We find today all over the United States state governments with hundreds of different boards, bureaus and commissions and it goes without question that all of these different boards and commissions must be overlapping, producing duplication of effort and a consequent waste of time, energy and public money.

Prior to the world war there was no tendency to check this haphazard growth. Some glaring instances of it can be found in practically every state in the union. During the last 25 years new boards and commissions were created at such a rapid rate that New York had four different commissions dealing with prisons, three or four different departments dealing with public works, and public buildings were under the governor, the lieutenant governor and the speaker of the assembly as a special commission known as the trustees of public buildings. The governor himself was dealing with the matter of the removal of ashes from the power house and the disposal of unused desks, typewriters, bookcases and furniture.

By constitutional amendment the state of New York set up 17 state departments, brought all related activities of the different boards and commissions into the proper departments of government, with a responsible head accountable to the governor, and provided by constitutional law that the legislature may decrease the number of departments but not increase them. It further provided that no new departments of a permanent character were to be set up, but that all future activities were to be fitted in with the deparmtents named in the constitution.

It became possible for the governor, by formation of a cabinet made up of the heads of 15 departments, to sit around a table and discuss every activity of the state directly with the responsible head, instead of attempting to deal, as was the case before reorganization, with 140 different scattered boards, commissions of all kinds, each attempting to act independently and many times in conflict.

Reorganization was intiated under Governor Lowden in the state of Illinois; but there it was brought about by statute and subsequent administrations were in a position to play havoc with it. Massachusetts has much the same history. When such changes are made, they should be brought about only after careful consideration and public discussion and should be fixed by constitutional law. The temptation to create new agencies to meet new problems is too great. Every new commission has its new personnel and we pile on new laws, new agencies, new executives, until nobody knows where responsibility really belongs.

Government, to be responsive to the public will in a modern sense, must be simple, understandable and controlled by an executive who can and should be held responsible.

THE ELECTRIC EEL — By James J. Montague

By gettin' 'em together that way they would light up quite a patch under the sea.

"No I don't go out after sponges any more," said the dock watchman. Look at them boats tied up to the dock there an' you'll see why. Machinery, nothin' but machinery. Pumps onto 'em to pump air down to the divers, dynamos to light up the bottom of the sea, gasoline derricks to haul up the sponges when they're pried off'n the rocks. All the thinkin' that's done in the sponge business nowadays is done by fellers in Northern towns that think up the machines. It's a dead game, as far as they's any interest into it. But I make a livin' here watchin' the dock an' helpin' with the deck loads when they come in. It ain't no easy job, because you gotta listen to them Greeks singin' their home songs all the time. Songs must have improved a lot since the days when their ancestors was fishin' for sponges in the Mediterranean—like machines has, I guess. But these birds stick to the old home ways that was good enough for sailors three thousand years ago. They'd be goin' down in birthday suits instead of divin' suits now, if these engineer fellers hadn't learned 'em how to make money faster. But they ain't a bad lot, after all, sort of happy an' carefree. An' they're smart enough to pronounce their own names, an' that's more'n I be; though I was here before any of 'em come over."

"They're new comers, are they?" I inquired.

"Been here less'n thirty years. I suppose in the centuries they was fishin' back there in Greece they got the sea all fished out, an' read in the papers somewhere about there bein' sponges out here in the Gulf, so they took their savin's an' come along. I was an old hand at the business when they showed up, an' because I kep up a stiddy thinkin' I was makin's money—plenty of it. One year I made eight hundred and fifty dollars, an' I'd have it yet if I hadn't got into one of them foreign card games that I didn't know the rules of an' lost most of it. I used to hear tell about what happens when Greek meets Greek, but it ain't nothin' to what happens when a Greek meets a American, if the American is fool enough to buck another feller's game. But I'm satisfied an' I got pleasant memories of lickin' these lads at what was supposed to be their own business, before somebody showed 'em how to make gasoline an' electricity do their work for 'em. An' at that I was the feller that put the idea of electricity into the heads of the engineer who give 'em their tip.

"When they heard about the spongin' business over here an' come to go into it, they began first off to build the same kind of boats they used back home. That wasn't a bad idea, they just sort of fit into the kind of swell the sea makes in the waters they sail. You see them boats there. They ain't been changed a mite since right after the time of Adam an' Eve, exceptin' for the gear they got onto 'em, an' the gas engines that keep 'em pluggin' along again' the wind or through a ca'm. But what they didn't know about the bottom of the gulf an' where the sponges was hung on it was a plenty.

"I wasn't worried none when they first came. I could go out in my old yawl any day, an' beat 'em to the grounds, and get more sponges by goin' down as is. The sponges was in shoal water then, not more'n fifteen feet at the most. Because I was handier at divin', an' knowed the place accurate I could lick any one of 'em. But when they began teamin' up on me, as they done when they got enough boats built it was harder work. I could bring in three times as much as any one boat, but I couldn't bring in as many as twenty of 'em could. They had that many workin' by the beginnin' of the first year, with a lot more on the way. So to keep up I had to set down an' use my brains, which was always up an' comin' in them days, an' ready for any strain I might want to put onto them.

"For a long time I'd been slapped on the leg now an' then with one of them electric eels you've maybe read about in your geography book. They was plenty that year, crawlin' all over the coral on the bottom of the gulf. You could trace 'em by the little streaks of light that followered 'em around wherever they went an' that give me my idea. I began collectin' 'em an' bendin' lines onto 'em an anchorin' 'em in one general location, givin' 'em range enough so they could get plenty to eat. By gettin' 'em together that way they would light up quite a patch under the sea. Not bright, of course like them lamps along the dock, but good enough so you could see what you was doin' by it.

"Doin' that took a lot of time from my fishin', but it was wuth it. When I had my little fleet of eels all together, they made a bright spot in the water for about a hunderd yards around—but only at night. The light wasn't strong enough to be noticed daytimes. Then I piled all my gear into the yawl and sailed up the coast to where there is a mangrove key with a harbor into it that nobody but me knowed anything about. The Greeks kep' a pretty close eye on me, but when they begun to ask questions I told 'em that they had me licked, an' I'd made up my mind to quit the sponge business an' go out after king fish an' Spanish mackerel. That tickled 'em, for naturally the less competition they had the more money they could make. They all pretended to be sorry that I was goin', but I knew what that meant. So I just said 'So Long' an' pulled out. When I got to my key I climbed up every morning into a palm tree an' with my glass watched them fellers fishin'. Then at night I'd run down there in the yawl, get my eels together, tow 'em over to where the Greeks had been, an' where they would go back to next day, an' by the light of them eels I just cleaned their grounds of every sponge they was around. It would take 'em three or four days to find a new place, but they could only work it once, for I'd have it stripped of sponges the next trip. Of course they got a few, but makin' new locations took 'em a lot of time, for of course they'd have to send divers down to circle around, an' without suits—which they didn't have then, it wasn't no easy job.

"For half a season I had them fellers talkin' about pullin' out an' goin' back to Greece an' then along comes a feller from Tampa with not only a line of underwater lights, but five or six divin' suits, an' gasoline engines to run a dynamo an' pump the air to the divers. That licked me for no one single man, even by the light of electric eels could run opposition to modern science. So here I be, workin' as a watchman."

"I thought" I said "that electric eels could only shock you. I didn't know it was possible for them to make light."

"Well mine did" said the watchman.

EXPLANATION OF LAST SUNDAY'S CARTOON—Part of Canada Is in Scotland: Nova Scotia was formerly a French possession under the name of Acadia. It was ceded to England by France in the times of James I who created the Nova Scotia Order of Baronets. In 1625 King Charles I decreed that the Esplanade, the wide parade grounds in front of the gates of Edinburgh Castle, be declared Nova Scotia territory, in order to enable the Nova Scotia baronets to take seizings of their new lands, prior to sailing. The royal decree has never been annulled, and is still in full effect, so that part of Canada is now on Scotch soil. See: H. V. Morton's "In Search of Scotland." Rasputin Was Not a Monk: Rasputin, who is charged with having brought about the downfall of Czarist Russia, and who is popularly referred to as the Black Monk, was not a monk at all. He was a member of no religious order, was not bound by any vows, and was really a staree (saintly old mah) as the Russian pilgrims are called by their countrymen. A Monument in Honor of a Pig: This unique monument, which is situated just off the highway of route 35, north of Blue Ball, Ohio, bears the following historical inscription: "The first pedigree of a Poland China hog was written on this farm in 1876 by W. C. Haskinson, owner of the farm, and Carl Freigau, compiler of the original record. This strictly American breed of swine originated within a radius of a few miles of this place, and in the making required the period from 1816 to 1850. The first volume of pedigrees was printed in 1876. This monument was erected by the Ohio Poland China Breeders association. Unveiled June 15, 1922." Mlle. Spelterina Walked a Tight Rope Across Niagara: In 1885 Mlle. Spelterina, a famous French tight rope-walker, performed one of the most daring and spectacular rope-walking feats ever witnessed at Niagara Falls. With baskets on her feet, and aided only by a balancing pole, she walked across the gorge over the rapids. The rope was stretched near the old suspension bridge, from which thousands of spectators witnessed the stunt. My drawing was made from an original photo from the files of Herbert company, formerly Kadel & Herbert, of New York City.

Wichita Girl to Manage Garage At 1009 Scott

Wichita Falls will have its first woman garage manager May 1, when Miss Dorothy Nolen, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Nolen, will assume active management of the W. J. Nolen and Sons garage at 1009 Scott.

Miss Nolen, attractive society girl, is well known in Wichita Falls and throughout the state for her success in amateur dramatics and also in radio work. She recently had charge of the woman's hour over radio station WBAP at Fort Worth and has also been connected with stations WACO and KGKO. She was a sorority girl at Northwestern university.

Redecorating of the entire garage has been in progress during the past few days, with Miss Nolen in charge, and the attractively-painted establishment will be open for business Friday, with its feminine manager on hand for the first customer. In addition to being an auto storage place, the garage also will continue to handle its regular lines of gasoline, oil and supplies, and will do repair and washing and greasing jobs.

TIMES BOOK REVIEW AND LITERARY LANTERN

THE LITERARY LANTERN

The Literary Lantern burns weekly in the Sunday Times and is intended to throw light on writing around and about the South. Communications for this column should be addressed to the Editor of the Literary Lantern.

Perhaps at first thought it would seem to be an easy thing to select a number of southern short stories giving to the reader an unconfused and harmonious picture of the regions below the Mason-Dixon line. Let us take a memoir of plantation life by Thomas Nelson Page, a mountain sketch by Lucy Furman, a Gullah negro tale by Ambrose Gonzales—something about New Orleans, something about Charleston—very soon the different regions would be represented, the different epochs reconstructed. A complete impression would naturally follow and the editorial sweatings be considerably less than those that attend most fiction selection. Let the reviewer then get to his reading and he will find a great embarrassment of riches. If he is conscientious he must read between eleven and fifteen hundred pieces of fiction. If he emerges undeafened, with his judgment unimpaired he will find in this multiplicity of voices a few ding-donged notes, and these notes will not only be similar, but they will be played often in the same way, in the same tum-te-tum tune. It will become clear that there are certain themes sung over and over again by southern romancers. The subjects which recur and are conventionalized into a pattern, deal with the negro, the mountaineer, the old plantation life.

In selecting his southern stories, then, the anthologist must avoid too many repetitions necessarily excluding many eminent and established names, and many interesting individual classics of the old school. And when he turns to freshen up his collection with specimens of the new schools of writing now vociferously voicing themselves, he will find variety as embarrassing as similarity. Given the changes from romantic to starkly realistic fiction, a picture of the South cannot hope to be a harmonious whole. The differences between Joel Chandler Harris' negroes and those of Julia Peterkin and Paul Green are more than the progression of time or the passing of an old regime. The seeing eye is different now. It looks for and records things which Mr. Harris would have considered inartistic. When the editor makes a selection from these new phases of a new South he is of necessity negating much that is described by the old romanticists.

Unusual Collection

So we see that the editor's task is not so easy, and we will not be too quick to accept the invitation of Editor Addison Hibbard to make our own volume if we have crows to pick with his. Considering everything, we doubt if anyone could have made a better collection than Mr. Hibbard's "Stories of the South; Old and New" University of North Carolina Press and W. W. Norton Co., $3). As first editor of the Literary Lantern and professor of American literature in the University of North Carolina, Addison Hibbard has for several years been prominent in the literary life of the South. His removal last year to Northwestern university was a great loss. This book of his is the result of much labor and, so far, has no rival, for May Becker's anthology, "Golden Tales of the Old South" was frankly retrospective.

Mr. Hibbard says of his purpose: "The 27 stories reprinted are more than local color stories. It is true that we have here the familiar mountains of North Carolina and Kentucky, the lowlands of South Carolina and Georgia, the tidewater region of Virginia, and the delta country of Louisiana; but over and above this it is believed that the stories offer some conception of the different peoples which inhabit the South, of the varying periods of history through which the section has passed, of the different attitudes of mind of these people at different epochs and in varying localities, and, finally, that the more recent stories somehow hint at a new spirit which is developing in the region."

Twenty-seven southern authors are represented, and there are some inevitable omissions which the editor explains. This reviewer might make the hackneyed suggestion of enlargement. We would like to slip in William Faulkner, Jean Toomer and several other representatives of the extreme left wing of modernists.

"Sanctuary"

William Faulkner, whose "As I Lay Dying" was published last fall, has followed furiously along with another, "Sanctuary" (Cape and Smith, $2.50), in which his power is increased and his style amazingly clarified. In this novel, too, we have a character, Horace Benbow, who stands as the explanation of the author's preoccupation with suffering and horror. At first it might seem that Benbow's story is arbitrarily interwoven with the happenings of murder in a moonshiner's hut, since Horace is really only the lawyer who defends the accused blockader. But his whole connection with these lost and perverted people goes deeper than that of an observer. He is the sensitive and imaginative participant who finds in his efforts at defense some sort of expiation for the suffering of life, a sanctuary which he cannot explain. He fumbles out to the woman who tries to thank him, "Forget it. I've been paid. You won't understand it, but my soul has served an apprenticeship that has lasted for 43 years."

The story of "Sanctuary" cannot be sketched in words, so terrible does it become when bared of the gestures and shades of human action. Unfortunately the elements of the obscene and the macabre will probably cause it to be read by many people who will not be able to prevent the horrible from ruining the focus of events. The book is already in its fourth printing and promises to be a sensation, which is as much a matter of regret as was the cheapening popularity of O'Neill's "Desire Under the Elms." However, anyone, no matter how careless, reading the book for whatever motive, must be struck with the forceful living quality of the language. Not only does Mr. Faulkner see, but he describes in words which partake of the qualities he is describing.

We cannot help but quote, in illustration of our meaning. The girl, Temple, was afraid. She "could feel all her muscles shrinking like severed vines in the noon sun." At another time she meets another woman in a rest room: "They examined one another's clothes with brief, covert, cold, embracing glances." And Mr. Faulkner's sure and cutting humor is shown in many places in the book, but nowhere better than in the dialog of Senator Snopes: "Anytime you're in Jackson, I'll be glad to accommodate you as if you was still in my country. Don't no man stay so busy he ain't got time for his old friends, what I say. Let's see, you're in Kinston, now, ain't you? I know your senators. Fine men, both of them, but I just cain't call their names."

Negro Stories

When Pernet Patterson died last fall the negro race lost one of its best interpreters, for Mr. Patterson, though a white man, could write as if personally of the trials, sorrows and comedies of the blacks. His re-creation of the small negro boy was especially intuitive. A reading of his collection of short stories, "The Road to Canaan" (Minton, Balch, $2.00) will convince anyone that here was a writer whose point of view was original, sincere and unsentimental.

To close this review of recent southern fiction on a light note as regards intent if not subject matter—we shall list several murder and detective stories, amusing but not in the first rank among such tales. They are "Cobweb House"—its scene in New Orleans—by Elizabeth Hughes Holloway (Dutton, $2.00); "Six Seconds of Darkness," a re-issue by Octavus Roy Cohen (Grosset and Dunlap, 75c); "Wings of Gold," by Raoul Whitfield (Penn, $2.00); "Gambler's Throw" and "A Knight Comes Flying," both by Eustace L. Adams (Dial Press, $2 each). The last three books illustrate the use of the aeroplane in modern adventure tales. Their scenes are laid along the southern seaboard.

Thought Circle
By Charles Ballard

When I look at flags
I see stripes of cloud—rose or gold or turquoise,
Or narrow length of silver cloth over hills at daybreak.
I see little blue silk bannerets along a brook edge,
Or pennons of willow streaming in a wind of May.

When the spring willow flings her yellow flags to the breeze
I see at a rippling water's edge new satin of the iris,
I see dawns of old silver,
And sunset banners, rose and gold and turquoise,
And all the summer ensigns in procession—
There are so many things to see
When I look at flags.

Modern Crime Technique

Here is a fit companion volume to the biographies of Al Capone, and those crimson-covered pamphlets now to be found at the cigar stores.

The writer has carefully compiled complete stories of 13, fitting number, of outstanding crimes of 1930, though he traces some of them through several years, one, in fact, through more than a score of years. His work has this great advantage over current newspaper accounts of great and revolting crimes; you do not have to wait from day to day to find out what has been discovered but can get the whole story at one sitting.

Of interest to Texans is the story of the crime of A. D. Payne, Amarillo lawyer, and of how Gene Howe solved the mystery surrounding the murder of his wife and child. Other crimes detailed are the Isadore Fink case, in Harlem; the Messiter murder, in England; the Harry Fox murder, also in England; the Roger Vernon case from France; the murder of Frau Fellper, in a Vienna park; the Bartaud murders with the sardonic ending of the flustered notary; the mystery of the murder of Chung Yi Malo, an American Chinese in England; the story of Irene Shrader's brief career; a review of the crimes of Williamson county, Illinois; the two decades of killing by poison in the little Austrian towns of Nagrev and Tisakurt; the weird story of the Australian teacher who went mad when his wife died and tried to murder the aborigines to whom he was a god; and the latest developments in America's crimson city, Chicago.

There is little attempt to determine the causes of these crimes or to show their significance; the writer evidently thinks a good crime story should never be spoiled by addition of such extraneous matter. However, in a foreword of exactly 75 words, he does include this statement: "Is modern crime also creating new weapons and new technique? If so it behooves society to know it."

"Crimes of the Year" ought to be an interesting exhibit with which to depict an undeniable taste in literature of this generation, say, 50 years from now, even as we like to dig into the doings of Diamond Dick nowadays.—By Harry Moore, graduate student in sociology, University of Texas.

Swan-Song

"Eskimo," in the form of a novel, is a vivid account of contacts, commercial and official, between whites and Eskimo, along the coasts of Labrador and of the consequences of these contacts in the psychology of the primitive Eskimo.

Mala, the hero, comes with his young wife and three small children, two sons and an adopted lad, to visit two ships in whaling and the collection of pelts. He is a strong, fearless, skillful trapper and hunter, a type of his people at their best as they lived and labored before they had been modified by contacts with the whites. He brings with him a large sledge load of the finest skins to trade for rifles, ammunition, knives, needles, mirrors and the food delicies of the whites. Ivt, the wife, is also typical of the Eskimo woman at her best in the pristine life of her people. She is skillful in dressing and sewing skins, in preparing meat foods, in the care of babies and in filling the chinks in the construction of the igloo. She is typical also in being emotionally volatile, in loving sensation and change and in being passionate and sensual.

The Eskimo practice of lending or exchanging wives as a courtesy or for convenience leads to the most serious consequences when this Eskimo family arrives at the anchorage of the white man's ships.

Iva becomes the servant and mistress of the senior captain, Mala is employed to hunt and direct whaling operations in control of other Eskimos. Both are so engrossed in their strange, fascinating employment that they neglect one another and their children. Iva becomes addicted to drink and in a drunken stupor falls asleep on the ice, is mistaken for a seal and is killed with a rifle by the younger captain. When this young man discovers his terrible mistake he goes to Mala in profound remorse, explains, apologizes and loads the latter with gifts of rifles, knives, etc., as compensation.

Mala, dazed and disgusted, loads his log teams with his new wealth and returns to his own people.

In his great need to have clothing made for his children and himself he seeks assistance from two wives of weaker villagers. One husband, vain and jealous of Mala's wealth and reputation, quarrels with him and is killed. In a blood feud that follows Mala kills also two brothers of the dead man.

These killings bring the whites upon him with their law which they attempt to apply to him. Through misunderstandings amounting to deception, he is induced to go to the white government station newly established in the far North. Here he is thrown into chains and treated as a low criminal would be treated in the white world. This he could not understand but, of course, resented to the bottom of his soul. He escaped, beat his pursuers to his village, took his family with as much of his weapons and tools as he could manage and moved into parts so remote that the whites never heard of him again.

But he was a changed man. He took with him two wives, both of whom had lived with white men and had acquired something of white standards. While Mala had been terribly injured by the whites, and, while hating them unspeakably for the outrages they had inflicted upon him, he had unconsciously caught something of their virtues and could never return completely to the old savage ways.

Most of all he reveled in the possession and use of iron weapons and tools and liked to exhibit his skill with them in killing and dressing animals and in making kyaks and sledges.

The author might have gone further and shown how such a situation leads a primitive people to neglect their painfully attained arts and social practices and how, as a consequence, they become utterly dependent upon the whites; how they never measure up to white standards of industry, thrift and foresight, and so, often, as among so many of the South Sea islanders, fall into sheer vagabondage.

He might also have dwelt upon the terrible effects of white contacs in the destruction of the animals upon which the nations had long lived in comfort and ease. The whites provide a ready market for pelts and with their rifles, harpoons and power boats, provide easy means of killing. The result is the rapid extermination of the seals, the whales and walruses, with resulting famine for the natives or complete dependence on whites for food. Even the native houses are displaced by tin or wooden shacks which, occupied the year round, become loathsome from accumulated filth and a source of tuberculosis and other devastating diseases.

In fact, the contacts with whites bring all primitive peoples diseases new to them and for which they have no immunity and which in some cases may destroy them completely.

The writer, however, has confined his account to the psychological effects of white contacts and has, as a consequence, achieved the production of an interesting piece of literature with genuine anthropological aspects. The book is highly readable and informative but is far from complete as an exposition of all the effects of white-Eskimo contacts.—By J. E. Pearce, professor of anthropology, University of Texas.

Greater Interest in Books Shown in 1931

When the Standard of New Jersey drops to a new low, there is one stock that goes up for a new high mark—the stock that people take in literature.

This is definitely proven by the report for the fiscal year ending April 1, announced this week by the Kemp Public library. According to this report, there has been an increase of 18,453 in the circulation count during the year, or a gain of about 1,200 each month.

A total of 153,135 books have been circulated from the main building and its two branches, Jefferson street and Grant street, which means that the books have averaged an eight-time turnover during the year.

Judging by the last census figures, every person in the city read at least three books during the year which were taken from the library.

One interesting piece of extension work during the year was the establishment of a deposit library at the Friberg school at the request of the pupils and teachers.

The number of people registered as borrowers of books totaled 3,561, of whom 1,875 were adults and 1,686 juveniles. Those re-registered were 605 adults and 721 juveniles.

Work among the children kept pace with the other progress, according to Miss Lucia F. Powell, librarian. The Saturday story hour has developed into an interesting feature.

Four full-time assistants have been employed, as well as two part-time workers. The library operates on a yearly tax appropriation amounting this year to $13,820, and fines and fees which usually total around $1,500 a year.

It is also said to be true that people are buying more books today than ever before. The generally accepted theory is that depression and unemployment give the average person more time to read and meditate.

LIONS AT ELECTRA HEAR CLINIC PLANS

ELECTRA, Texas, April 25.—The tuberculosis clinic which will be held in Electra Thursday, April 30, was discussed at the Lions club luncheon Thursday at the Armilda hotel. Rev. C. C. Klingman of the First Christian church and Dr. P. E. Fish of the Parmley-Ogden hospital made talks in behalf of the clinic, both stressing the importance of examinations for tuberculosis.

Ben Tipton, chairman of the medal committee, announced that medals would be presented next week to Rose Marie Turner and Russell Austin, who were judged as the best declaimers in the city declamation meet held recently. Plans for the annual clean-up and picnic supper at the Lions club park were made. It was decided for the Lions to clear the park grounds, whitewash the trees, etc., and that the Lionesses would join later in a picnic supper.

The Lions also voted to cooperate in the Boy Scout and Boy Rangers organizations which are being sponsored by the First Methodist church.

GIBBONS SIGNS CONTRACT FOR SERIES OF THRILLERS

The biggest contract ever offered for a series of movie shorts has been signed by Floyd Gibbons, NBC broadcaster and former war correspondent.

He will appear in a series of 12 shorts, entitled "Floyd Gibbons' Supreme Thrills," to be produced by A. P. Waxman and Michael Mindlin in association with the RKO-Van Buren corporation.

Aside from Gibbons, many military celebrities will face the movie cameras in the series, and the shorts will portray episodes of their experiences. Most of the military men will be of world war fame.

BOY USES GRAIN TO PUT WEIGHT ON PRIZE CALF

LONGVIEW.—Billie Burton, Elderville 4-H club boy who won a Hereford steer calf last fall for producing the most corn per acre in Gregg county, has put 450 pounds of gain on the animal in 123 days at a feed cost of $28.36, according to R. F. McSwain, county agent. The calf weighed 550 pounds at the start and was fed a home-raised ration of 10 pounds ground corn, eight pounds pea vine hay and two pounds cottonseed meal.

Magnetic Woman Type Subject of New Book

Like the woman of Andros, brought into literature by Thornton Wilder last year, Melton Abbey, heroine of Gertrude Atherton's newest novel, is one of those women always surrounded by men—a queen flanked by her male prime ministers, protectors and lackeys.

Miss Atherton herself explains the book by the following foreword: "Charles Hanson Towne said to me one night while dining at the Coffee House: Has it ever occurred to you to wonder what becomes of all the women acquitted after a sensational murder trial?" She adds that "there is little of the original impulse left," and it is true that it is more a definite picture of a type of person to be discovered in every city and not to be overlooked.

Cold, remote, not deeply stirred by anything, Melton Abbey was acquitted of her husband's murder, but even those who paid her homage in her "salon" secretly believed in her guilt. Nevertheless, there was not a man of them who would not have married her the day after the trial. The dying confession of one of them resulted in her acquittal.

There are touches of humor that only enhance the reality of description. There is, for instance, the picture of the women's meeting at the First Presbyterian church... "Six Forks had churches of every denomination nestled among the elms, but the First Presbyterian on the corner of Abbey avenue and Oaks street had always been the most fashionable.

"Not that society in these days honored its dim aisles save for weddings and funerals, but the founders of Six Forks had built it, and their descendants still paid a yearly rental on the old family pews...Mrs. Eli Thompson was presiding at a meeting in the large church parlor behind the pulpit, and seated before her were rows of women who looked as troubled as herself.

"She was a large woman who longed for the revival of the old straight front, but was forced to compromise on a girdle-corselette that hooked up on both sides and into which she writhed and twisted painfully every morning; sometimes wrenching her ribs for agonized moments, or inducing neuritic twinges in her straining arms which necessitated an immediate recourse to Absorbine Jr.

"She was admirably tailored in black of the prescribed length, and fortunately her legs were the best part of her. Her broken contours were embraced by a close little hat that was far from rejuvenating. But it was a face both kindly and determined, and her steady brilliant eyes were those of a born leader. A hawk nose, while now assorting ill with sagging cheeks and a flabby chin, ably reinforced her eyes in dominance."

There are Melton Abbeys in every Six Forks, and Miss Atherton has card-indexed them cleverly. There are women who are colorless until masculine attention comes along, who are as dependent on that as a sunflower on her god. They are enigmas, and "The Sophisticates" is a good picture of an enigma—Reviewed by Eleanor Fleming.

CAMP COUNTY FARMERS AFTER CROPPING SYSTEM

PITTSBURG.—Living at home is playing a big part in the cropping readjustments in Camp county this year with large numbers of farmers following the lead of the cropping demonstrators with whom W. R. Morgan, farm demonstration agent, is working. According to Mr. Morgan 30 per cent of the farmers are planting sorghum for syrup; 95 per cent cowpeas for stock and table use; three per cent other legumes for hay; 95 per cent sweet potatoes for home and market; and the number of farmers planting Irish potatoes has increased 20 per cent at the same time he estimates the commercial acreage has decreased 15 per cent. Poultry flocks are being slightly increased and it is predicted that there will be more hogs on farms this fall than last.

Abe Martin — On th' Ole Silver Cornet Band

"Where do you go from here?" Maud asked.

If one is fortunate enough t' catch Prof. Glen Harner when he's in one o' his semi-annual good humors an' proceeds with caution, a charmin' half hour's entertainment is assured him. Since th' ravages o' time have disqualified th' Professor fer further activity in musical affairs he has grown sullen, only breakin' th' silence at rare intervals t' belittle some notable achievement o' progress.

"What's become o' th' old time silver cornet band, th' ole time oom ta ta 'March-lin' Thro' Georgy' band that used t' play on th' slightest provocation?" I asked th' grizzled veteran o' many a hard fought band contest as he monopolized th' only chair in front o' th' pustoffice. "Well, sir," said he, "th' ole time musicians who used t' play jest t' hear 'emselves have dispersed t' make room fer th' modern unionised an' commercialized wind jammers who only show 'emselves on a guarantee or else have made way for the talkies. In th' ole days a brass band wuz a social organization. Today it's a cold blooded business proposition. Twenty bar rests are a thing o' th' past an' ever' sour note is protected by th' union. Th' ole 39-pound red felt uniform, with helmet an' plume has passed away ferever."

"You've had many years' experience as a band player, have you not?" I ventured, at th' same time slacin' a pale grocery se-gar in th' tremblin' hand o' th' ole bandmaster.

"Thirty-three years th' last time Bryan spoke here. It was a sour note that put me in th' business. I'd been thrown in daily contact with a yaller clarinet when a child an' at th' age o' fourteen, after I had it about two-thirds subdued, I ran away with a circus as a canvas hand. One night durin' a performance while th' band wuz playin' 'In th' Sweet Bye an' Bye' th' clarinetist dropped a sour note closely resemblin' th' terrifyin' cry o' a panther an' th' audience stampeded an' nine people wuz killed. Th' clarinet player wuz discharged an' I took his place. I traveled many years with circuses with varyin' success. Once I walked home from Tombstone, Arizony. At another time I wuz poisoned on canned corn at Hurley, Wisconsin, an' carried t' th' nearest white settlement. From th' front left hand corner of a gold an' green combination bandwagon an' hyena cage I had a fine location from which t' gather my impressions o' America. But circus life has its drawbacks like ever' thing else but loafin.' Th' hours wuz long, th' sleepin' quarters cramped, breakfast allus five hours late an' bathin' a lost art."

"After you took up th' cornet what wuz your favorite solo?" I made bold t' ask th' aged virtuoso, profferin' a second se-gar as a guarantee o' good faith.

"Th' Levey Polka, a triple tongue solo that wuz ver' pop'lar durin' th' ole Duprez and Benedick era, but rarely attempted t'day by even th' most darin' an' reckless cornetists." Havin' a god start th' wrinkled leader continued without further se-gars: "Joinin' a band wuz th' height o' ever' lad's ambition in th' ole days. It wuz th' turnin' point in his life. Belonging' t' th' band wuz th' steppin' stone t' th' purtiest girl in town. Epaulets an' a plume were great beau catchers an' when they were backed up by th' soft mellow notes o' a slip horn or a second alto they wuz well nigh irresistible. But th' hardest thing about belongin' t' a band in the ole days wuz loafin' around waitin' to be called out."

EIGHTH NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK WILL BE OPENED MAY 3

Numerous Radio Programs To Carry Out Special Motifs

AMERICAN PIANISTS TO BE REMEMBERED IN BILL

Story of National Anthem Will Be Related in Radio Talk

The eighth annual national music week will be formally inaugurated in broadcasting Sunday night, May 3, during a special Atwater Kent hour, to be broadcast over a coast-to-coast NBC network. The New York area will be served through WEAF.

Throughout the week of May 3-9 numerous NBC programs will be devoted to the "get together" or 1931 motif of national music week. Stimulation of personal music-making by the individual through mass concerts and other events will be featured.

In addition to the Sunday night program of Atwater Kent consideration will be given early American pianists during the Sunday at Seth Parker's program, to be heard through an NBC-WEAF network.

Beginning the following day, Monday, May 4, the Black and Gold Room orchestra, directed by Ludwig Laurier, will devote the entire week's performances to music selected as appropriate to national music week in which compositions by American musicians will be presented over an NBC-WEAF network.

When "Cheerio" greets his early morning radio audience, through an NBC-WEAF network, he will speak briefly on "Music and Its Relation to Shut Ins." Later in the day the Sixteen Singers will present "From a Sufi's Tent," a composition by Strickland.

American music will feature the Monday night program of the Symphonic Rythm Makers. Vaughn de Leath, "contralto-qualtonist," will be heard in solo renditions, while the orchestra will be directed by Hugo Mariana. The program will be broadcast over an NBC-WEAF network.

A particularly ambitious radio broadcast will be heard when NBC presents "The Story of the Star Spangled Banner," also a Monday night offering which will be heard through WEAF and a network. It will be elaborately staged with special dramatic and musical effects.

On Tuesday compositions by American musicians will be heard during the Golden Gems program through an NBC-WEAF network, while American operatic works will be offered in the Echoes of the Opera program Tuesday night through an NBC-WJZ network.

Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson, stars of the Blackstone Plantation program, will offer selections by Walter Donaldson, as representative of one of America's most typically popular song writers, while Sigmund Spaeth, who will be heard with the Happy Wonder Bakers, over an NBC-WEAF network, will devote his comments to American music and musicians.

On Wednesday, members of American Pro Art String quartet will play the "American Quartet" by Dvorak as their contribution to national music week over WJZ.

Beloved American hymns will be heard during the midweek federation hymn sing on Thursday through an NBC-WEAF network. That night Frank Crumit will sing "Billy Boy," an old American song, during the Blackstone Plantation program, with Jack Shilkret directing the orchestra. This feature will be heard through on NBC-WJZ network.

Friday, poetry will come into its own when Homer Rodeheaver, for 20 years song leader for Billy Sunday, the revivalist, will read his "Worth While Poems" feturing American composers of verse, through an NBC-WEAF network.

Pierre V. R. Key, editor of Musical Dogest, will be heard in a special talk that day on American music.

Special consideration is being given several programs for Saturday which marks the end of the national celebration.

DAVEY TREE HOUR WILL CLOSE CURRENT SEASON

The Davey tree hour ends its current broadcasting season on Sunday, April 26, with a program made up entirely of repeat numbers and a promise to return to the air next fall. Among the old-time favorites to be featured is "Harvest Moon," that great radio success which was first made popular on the air by the Davey mixed quartet. Thirteen other songs are on the program, ranging from "Juanita," the age-old favorite of male quartets, to the modern "Some Day," which was made famous by Lawrence Tibbett in "The Rogue Song."

The subject of Martin L. Davey's talk is "Spring Has Redeemed Her Promise." The Davey hour is heard through WEAF and 22 associated stations of the N. B. C.

WASHINGTON PIANIST TO BE ON RADIO PROGRAM

Helen Corbin Heinl, distinguished Washington, D. C., pianist, will be the first of the few soloists to be heard with the Philcd Symphony orchestra this year. She will play a piano suite never before heard on the radio during the orchestra's concert on Thursday, April 28, over the network of the Columbia Broadcasting System at 7:30 p. m., central standard time.

She will present the final movement of Manuel de Falla's brilliant suite for piano and orchestra "Nights in the Gardens of Spain," a composition in scintillating modern idiom full of changing melodies and picturesque rhythms. It is vividly scored in the Debussy manner, but not in actual concerto style. While most pianists appearing with symphony orchestras play concertos in which the piano is a solo instrument, the de Falla work introduces the piano as a leading voice of the orchestral ensemble,

BROADCAST TO BE MADE FROM PARIS ACROSS ATLANTIC

The French republic will invite Americans to attend the International, Colonial and Overseas exposition in Paris, through a broadcast from the French capital scheduled for 2 p. m. Sunday, April 26, over the WABC-Columbia network.

The famous band of the Garde Republicaine will be heard by American listeners for the first time, when it presents a program of patriotic music of both nations. Regarded as France's outstanding musical organization, the band numbers 95 instrumentalists, and dates from 1830, when it was founded by President Bonaparte, later the Emperor Natpoleon III.

Speakers who will appear before the microphone are Ambassador Walter E. Edge, Marshal Hubert Lyautey, former governor general of French Morocco and high commissioner of the exposition, and Paul Reynaud, minister of colonies in the present French administration. The broadcast is timed to last half an hour.

$25,000 for Rain

NEW YORK.—Dr. G. A. I. M. Sykes, self-styled rain maker, is out for business again. He recently communicated with the five boroughs, guaranteeing them rainfall at $25,000 an inch, or a flat guarantee of 12 inches over a period of 90 days for $350,000. Dr. Sykes operated at Belmont park race track last year, but failed to keep rain away on the day of the big race. He lost $2,000 as a result.

AUDITION WINNER TO GIVE PROGRAM ON ATWATER KENT

Wilbur Evans, bass-baritone, first prize winner of the first national radio audition of the Atwater Kent foundation, who reached his artistic maturity last fall when he was presented in radio for an entire program, will be soloist as well as a member of the Atwater Kent auditions quartet in the Atwater Kent Radio hour of April 26, at 7:15 p. m., central standard time.

Evans was a student of Emilio de Gogorza, the famous concert baritone, at the Curtis institute in Philadelphia, when his attention was called to the first national radio audition. He was urged by his teacher to compete. He won the Philadelphia competition without difficulty and the Pennsylvania state and northeastern district auditions in succession. In the national finals he was an unanimous choice of the judges for first place and received the $5,000 cash award and two years' scholarship presented by the Atwater Kent Foundation.

Electing to take his scholarship at Curtis institute under Gogorza, Evans applied himself to his studies with such purpose that during his first year he received invitations to sing in concert in New York, Boston, Washington, Detroit, Cleveland and Raleigh, N. C. At the end of his second year of study he was selected by the famous Welsh composer and choral director, Dr. Daniel Protheroe, as soloist at the annual music festival of the Chicago Welsh male choir, one of the most famous musical events of the year in Chicago.

During the following year he appeared as soloist with the Boston Symphony orchestra, the New York Philharmonic orchestra and in radio programs with the Curtis institute orchestra. He toured the Pacific coast as one of the featured artists of the musical comedy "Bambino," and shortly after his return from the coast last fall was presented as artist of an Atwater Kent radio hour.

ANNA CASE WILL APPEAR OVER NATIONAL NETWORK IN AMERICAN PROGRAM

Anna Case, noted prima donna and former member of the Metropolitan Opera company who is considered an outstanding example of the American singer trained entirely in this country, will present a program of six songs when she appears as guest artist Thursday, April 30, in the weekly broadcast over a coast-to-coast NBC-WJZ network at 8:30 p. m., central standard time.

Through her work with the Metropolitan and her concert work in this country and abroad, Miss Case has established herself as one of the foremost of American sopranos, and the opportunity to hear her over the air is being hailed as an outstanding radio event.

As a tribute to her exclusive American training, her radio program on April 30 will consist almost entirely of songs by American and English composers, including such outstanding favorites as Perle Curran's "Dawn" and "Just A'Wearyin' for You," by Carrie Jacobs Bond.

PRISON POLICIES TO BE DISCUSSED BY ROOSEVELT

The nation will hear Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt discuss prison policies Thursday, April 30, when an NBC-WEAF network broadcasts his address before the national committee on prisons and prison work in the Hotel St. Regis, New York. He will speak between 2 and 2:30 p. m., central standard time.

The governor will talk on "The New Prison Policy for New York State."

His address will be in response to the award of the committee's medal to him for distinguished service in that field. Others who have been honored similarly in the past include Calvin Coolidge, Dwight Morrow, Gifford Pinchot and the late Samuel Gompers.

The award will be made by George Gordon Battle, noted lawyer and president of the committee. Battle also will deliver his annual address to the committee.

Sooner or Later

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.—David Cornell is now a firm believer in the saying that what you win in a poker game you lose sooner or later. He held a royal flush recently and won 37 cents in a friendly poker game. The excitement of holding the rare hand caused an illness. He was put to bed and a doctor called. That gentleman charged $10. Cornell was loser $9.63.

STAR OF FILMS ON AIR

Bebe Daniels, who will make a special trip from Hollywood to New York to broadcast on the Camel Pleasure Hour Wednesday evening, April 29. The program is broadcast from WJZ and associated stations of the National Broadcasting company at 8:30, central standard time, and later in the evening, at 11:15 the same program is repeated to a coast-to-coast hook-up.

IRISH ECONOMIST WILL GIVE RADIO ADDRESS MONDAY

George Russell, celebrated Irish economist, poet and artist, will tell of his observations and travels in America when he appears with Clifton P. Fadiman, the book reporter, over an NBC-WJZ network Monday, April 27, at 4:15 p. m., central standard time.

Russell, internationally known as the poet-philosopher-economist who writes under the psuedonym "AE," recently completed an extensive tour of American cities and rural centers. Fadiman presents him as guest speaker of the program.

Russell's philosophy combines the practical views of the economist and the prophetic imagination of the poet. For 25 years he was a colleague of Sir Horace Plunkett in the famed Agriculture Organization society, first group to promote the idea of agricultural cooperation among English-speaking people. Russell also edited a farm journal for 15 years.

NBC STUDIO ENGINEER WILL VISIT LABRADOR

When hot summer days come around, no doubt many of us will wish we were sitting on top of a cake of ice somewhere in the North, but for Ralph Eugene Brooks, maintenance engineer at the NBC studios in Chicago, it will be a reality. Brooks, who has had considerable experience as a radio operator, will accompany Commander Donald B. MacMillan on his annual expedition to Labrador this year. Brooks has made international friendships with his short wave work.

The purpose of the trip will be to map the Baffin Land coastline and also to plot the ice cap which eternally lies over the island. Brooks' job will be to maintain contact between the plane which Commander MacMillan is taking with him and the Bowdoin, the expedition's ship.

Walking Machine

WASHINGTON.—The U. S. bureau of standards here has a walking machine for testing the life of shoe leather. In 24 hours the machine gives the equivalent of several months of wear to a pair of shoes, while observers study the reaction of the leather to the severe strain of the test. The machine tells what part of a steer's hide wears out the quickest and in this manner enables a shoemaker to match the soles of shoes.

LOWELL THOMAS WILL BE ON AIR AGAIN FOR SERIES OF 52 WEEKS

Renewing its contract with NBC for a period of 52 weeks, beginning Monday, April 27, the Literary Digest will present Lowell Thomas twice nightly, except Sunday, between 5:45 and 6 p. m. central daylight saving time over an NBC-WJZ network and between 10:15 and 10:30 p. m., central standard time, over a western network.

Prior to the contract renewal, Lowell Thomas was heard once each week night in the East through an NBC-WJZ network. A provision in the new contract will bring Thomas to the western section of the country at a later hour, and with a network that includes nine additional stations.

It is understood that the new contract programs will remain of the same type as heard through NBC facilities heretofore, with Lowell Thomas affording the radio audience intimate and timely news comment.

Broadway Stars Will Appear on NBC Radio Chain

Broadway stars of comedy and song, with George Jessel as master of ceremonies, will be heard over WJZ and a wide NBC network Tuesday, April 28, at 10 p. m., central standard time, when they perform at a dinner honoring two great leaders of the American stage.

The occasion is the anniversary dinner of the American Arbitration association celebrating six years of equitable relations between artists and producers. David Belasco, noted showman, and Frank Gillmore, president of Actors' Equity, are the guests of honor.

George Jessel will introduce current masters of Broadway wit and music in a spontaneous program over their coffee cups at the Hotel Astor. It will be one of the few times that radio listeners can hear a whole roomful of comedy and melody teams in an informal show before the microphone.

The performers are Frances Williams, stellar singer and comedienne from "The New Yorkers"; James Barton, comedy star of "Sweet and Low"; the Foreman sisters—Hilda, Louise and Maxine—melody songsters from "America's Sweetheart"; Clayton, Jackson and Durante, comedians from "The New Yorkers"; Helen Broderick and Lester Crawford, comedians; Jeanne Aubert, singing comedian from "America's Sweetheart", and Shaw and Lee, comedy pair.

Grace Moore to Be Guest Artist On Simmons Bill

Grace Moore, beautiful American soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, will appear before the microphone as guest artist on the Simmons program to be presented over WABC and a nation-wide network of the Columbia Broadcasting system from 6:30 to 7 p. m., central standard time, Monday, April 27.

Miss Moore's program will include classical, semi-classical and popular songs. She will open with "I'll See You Again," from Noel Coward's operetta, "Bitter Sweet," and will follow with Massenet's "Ouvre Tes Yeux Bleus." Her next number will be "The Lovely Hour" from the talking motion picture, "A Lady's Morals," in which she was starred recently.

Other numbers to be sung by Miss Moore are Edwards' "By the Bend of the River," "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny," "Love Is Just a Game" from "Apple Blossoms," and "Bonjour Suzon," a French chansonette.

Miss Moore will be accompanied by the Simmons Symphony orchestra of 32 pieces, under the direction of Wilfred Pelletier, youngest conductor of the Metropolitan Opera company and director of the productions of the San Francisco Opera company.

England's Debt

LONDON.—England is viewing with alarm the steady increase of its national debt. On Nov. 30, 1913, the amount of the national debt stood at $3,340,000,000. On Nov. 30, 1930, it was estimated at $37,690,000,000. The war debt accounted for the major part of this increase.

BROADCAST RADIO BILL FROM ROOF TALLEST BUILDING

A radio program from the upper reaches of the tallest man-made structure in the world will be broadcast to listeners Friday afternoon, May 1, when NBC picks up speeches and ceremonies formally dedicating the new Empire State building in New York City.

Eighty-six floors above Fifth avenue, near the surmounting tower of the 1,200-foot skyscraper, microphones will be installed to carry reports to the dedicatory luncheon, according to William Burke Miller, director of NBC's special broadcast events. Speakers will include former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, who is president of the Empire State building project.

In addition to hearing the talks at the luncheon from the 86th floor observatory, listeners will be taken on an explanatory tour of the dirigible mooring mast, Miller declares. An announcer will describe the lofty anchoring tower, and an airship expert will tell how it operates.

The ceremonies are expected to last one hour, beginning at 11:45 o'clock, central standard time. The NBC network taking the program will include WEAF in New York.

COLUMBIA NETWORK PRESENTS HISTORY WESTERN AMERICA

Thrilling episodes in the settlement of the Old West will be dramatized in a new broadcast series, "Red Goose Adventures," for the presentation of over 59 stations associated with the Columbia network every Friday at 5:30 p. m., central standard time, beginning May 1.

Each week at this time Grandpa, a picturesque old plainsman and participant in numerous Indian warfares, will bring before the microphone his two grandchildren, Helen and Jimmie, and relate a tale of adventure. As he reminisces on the colorful days of his youth, Red Goose, the young Indian brave; Red Eagle, his father; Jackson, the lovable old trapper, and other figures of the past again enact the vigorous scenes.

Primarily designed to appeal to the younger generation of listeners, the "Red Goose Adventures" will be given particular emphasis on historical accuracy. Extensive research will be made to uncover dramatic incidents of the western pioneer days which hitherto have escaped attention.

LOW CENTER OF GRAVITY

TESTS PROVE IT SAFE AT 47

ACCEPT NO CAR WITHOUT IT

The whole trend in motor cars is toward low center of gravity—in the achievement of which Dodge stands squarely in the forefront of progress.

Low center of gravity means safety. It means beauty, expressed in low-swung sweeping lines. It means a steadier riding car. Easier control, easier steering at high speeds.

In the new Dodge Six and Eight, it means even greater strength of chassis than in the past. For the Dodge Double-Drop frame has a box-type center—so powerfully reinforced that the hardest going cannot transmit destructive strain to the car.

See these dependable new Dodge cars. Drive them. Learn how much in beauty, how much in performance, how much in comfort and luxury they offer. You'll quickly realize why the country is united in the opinion that Dodge gives the great value of the year.

THE WICHITA VALLEY FARMER

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE FARMER, DAIRYMAN, POULTRY RAISER AND FRUIT AND TRUCK GROWER

MANY FOLLOWING LIVE-AT-HOME PLAN IN THIS DISTRICT

The extent to which the "live-at-home" doctrine has taken hold in Northwest Texas was indicated recently at the meeting of the first district Federation of Women's clubs at Graham.

Mrs. Frank Patton of Benjamin, reporting on the home extension work in this district, said that there had been put up a total of 285,531 quarts of canned fruit and vegetables, valued at $66,711.37; 54,074 pounds of meat, and that $26,663.37 worth of clothing had been made.

The pantry budget of Mrs. J. F. Davis of Wichita county, planned to serve a family of six for six months, is considered a typical one. It includes 72 containers of leafy vegetables, 80 of other vegetables, 100 of starchy vegetables, 100 of tomatoes, 150 of fruit, 50 of jellies and jams, 50 of pickles and relishes, 50 of brined vegetables and 50 of meat.

Mrs. R. W. Thomas of Petrolia road, who last season put up 1011 containers of food, says that her family's grocery bill never runs over $6 monthly, the pantry taking care of most of its food needs.

EVERY-DAY LIFE OF FARMER'S WIFE

Well, folks, I have been wondering if all of us farmers realize that we have now come to the place where we must make a decision as to whether we will be independent next winter. If we plant every acre we have in our possession in cotton we will be with the dependent bunch next winter, because I can't see where there is a chance for us to receive over 10 cents for cotton if that much, and we all know that is below the cost of production.

The chance of a very big reduction in acreage is slight. There will be a few broad minded farmers who will cut their acreage, but there will also be a lot of narrow minded farmers who will increase their acreage thinking the other fellow will cut and give them a chance to make their fortune. But their future will be a sad tune presented to the Red Cross or some other charity organization next winter.

We not only have to consider the class of people who won't reduce their acreage, but we have to consider the wage worker who has gone to the country for a few months until work opens up. He comes to the country because he can get a house to live in without paying rent by planting 25 or 30 acres of cotton. Of course he won't plant anything else because he intends to go back to town when times get better. If you will notice, every old poor field in the country is being put in this year, little old shanties that have been vacant for years have families in them now.

We also have to consider the guy who never reads and who has no idea of the economic condition of the world. It looks like it would be impossible for any one to live in this day of enlightenment without being informed on every subject, but if you will only look around you can find plenty of folks who are not much better informed than Adam and Eve were. There are lots of people whom the daily newspapers and the radio never touch, and in the country they are mostly the one crop cotton farmers. Of course it is almost impossible to put any kind of a plan before people like that. They go right ahead and plant their cotton crop year after year. They never did have sufficient food so they don't expect it. In the face of all these facts and over an 8,000,000-bale carry over I don't see how any one can expect much for the 1931 crop.

Of course just a few people can't control the cotton acreage, but we can plant plenty of food for ourselves and feed for our stock and as little cotton as we possibly can. Then next winter we can live under our own vine and fig tree and hope that some day the poor old one crop cotton farmer will learn his lesson. He may even learn it as early as next winter if the Red Cross doesn't help him, and if you will read up on the Red Cross you will find that they came to the rescue of the farmer this past winter on account of the drouth. They are not supposed to relieve poverty as some folks seem to think. Their help is given only in emergencies and the drouth was an emergency, but they will not expect to help the poverty stricken next winter.

Every farmer in the state should take as his slogan. "Plenty of Food and Feed." I believe the day has come when the farmer will have to finance his own crop. I think the day of easy money-borrowing is over. And I don't know, but some times I think it is a good thing, because it will make all of us come back to earth and raise our living as we go. The old system of making a crop and owing it all to the banker that fall was mighty poor business anyway. The banker and the farmer both went broke by that method so I think it is time we picked out a new one. Of course it will take some time to adjust ourselves to the new order of things. It is all right to borrow money if you know you can make the 10 per cent interest and then a profit, but it is a bad business to borrow money to live on while you make a crop, and it is going to be almost impossible to stay on the farm the next few years if you are not a mighty good manager.

SCURRY COUNTY WOMEN MAKE PROFIT ON CHEESE

SNYDER.—Eleven home demonstration club women of Scurry county have made 153 pounds of American cheese according to the report of the home agent, Miss Jessie Lee Davis. Valuing the milk at 12 cents a gallon, their labor at 25 cents an hour, and including the price of the cheese color and rennet tablets used, it cost $20.19. The local price for this quality cheese is 50 cents per pound, which amounts to $76.50 and makes a profit of $47.31 on the operation for these 11 women.

J. C. Penney, Widely Known Merchant, Speaks Here Next Saturday—Farmers And Dairymen Invited to Hear Address

J. C. Penney, head of the store system which bears his name, will speak to local farmers and dairymen next Saturday at 2:30 at the Municipal auditorium. Mr. Penney invites not only the men folks, but the women and children to attend.

Belle Buoy's Violet was put on test on April 2, 1930, and was milked steadily for 365 days.

For the first five and a half months of the test period, she was milked twice a day and for the remaining six and a half months, she was milked three times a day. The total production during the 365-day period was 17,235 pounds of milk and 959 pounds of butterfat.

This exceeds the best previous production record by any cow over 12½ years of age, all breeds included, by slightly over seven pounds of butterfat.

During the test period this record breaking cow was pastured day and night and during the winter months was fed all of the silage, wet beet pulp, mangels, alfalfa and clover mixed hay, very largely home grown, she would eat. Her average daily grain ration was 11 pounds and she consumed a total of 4,015 pounds of grain during the year period. At the beginning of the test, she weighed 1,260 pounds and at the finish, weighed 1,490 pounds.

The importance of this record, according to the best dairy authorities, rests in proof of the continued high productive ability of the Guernsey dairy cow maintained under practical farm conditions.

The usual age at which milk cows have heretofore been considered at the peak of their productive capacity has been about 8 years.

Treated from the viewpoint of dairy economics, Belle Buoy's Violet, at the age of 14 years, finished a test during which she produced more than six times as much butterfat in the 12 months period as the average American dairy cow and over three times as much as the average top performer in the most highly developed dairy centers.

Belle Buoy's Violet is figured as a prize winner in several large dairy shows being the fourth prize 4-year-old cow and a third prize junior A. R. cow at the national dairy show in 1921; second prize junior A. R. cow national dairy show 1922; second prize aged cow Trenton Interstate fair, 1926.

She has numbered among her progeny many important members of the Guernsey breed including May Royal's Evette 249156, first prize heifer calf national dairy show 1928, A. R. record class F. of 10,388 pounds of milk and 610 pounds of butterfat; Foremost's Belle Buoy 117666 owned by Mr. Penney at Emmadine farm; Royal Belle Buoy, owned by Forge Hill farm, New Windsor on Hudson, New York, and Belle Buoy's Majesty owned by T. W. Clark and E. P. Waller, Rockford, Mich.

Commenting on the performance of this noted Guernsey dam, J. C. Penney said, "One of the policies adopted by 'Jimmy' Dodge, superintendent of Emmadine farms, is that of treating milk cows as a productive unit subject to the same regulations regarding profitable production as is any manufacturing plant.

"Through a long and systematic campaign of proper breeding and feeding, with unusual care exercised in the selection of livestock I feel that Mr. Dodge has afforded a worth-while demonstration of what properly conducted dairy farming can produce in the way of profit earning individual animals.

"One of the present faults with dairying, as generally practiced throughout the country, seems to be a lack of recognition of the fact that a dairy cow must be judged on the basis of what she returns for her keep."

Mr. Penney is an experienced dairyman, being owner of Bell Buoy's Violet, the record-holding Gurnesey whose picture is shown above. She is said to have set a new record for production by cows over 14 years of age.

FINDS LIVESTOCK STILL THE BEST FEED MARKET

ROBY.—Fred Kemp, Fisher county club boy living in McCaulley community, has found that he gets one and one-half times as much for home grown crops fed to high bred livestock than he could get on the cash grain market. Four acres of milo maize and one acre of red top sorghum he found to be seven times more grain than he needed to finish a Hereford calf won in a contest last fall, and which he sold at Lubbock recently for 12 cents per pound with a net profit, exclusive of prizes, of $7.28. The calf gained 419 pounds in 150 days at a cost of 6.3 cents per pound of gain on a ration of 1,200 pounds ground milo heads, 1,470 pounds bundle sorghum, 280 pounds cotton seed meal, and plenty of salt and ground limestone. Good shelter and lots of pure water helped, he says. The feeding was part of a demonstration in raising feed for sale through livestock supervised by G. J. Lane, county agent.

LUFKIN GIRLS IMPROVE HOMES AS SIDE LINE

LUFKIN.—As a side line to gardening, canning, poultry keeping, sewing and dairying, 20 girls in the Odell 4-H club in Angelina county have reported the following home improvement work to Miss Gladys Young, home demonstration agent. They have cleaned their yards 69 times, planted 34 permanent vines, 107 evergreen shrubs, 37 roses, 17 trees, five fruit trees, and 25 beds of flowers; made four pairs of pillow cases, four book shelves, a library table and a magazine stand; varnished three chairs, a table, a dresser and two beds; and fixed over two chairs.

110 BEEVES ARE CANNED IN WILBARGER COUNTY

VERNON.—Total sales of 19,300 tin cans since last September is reported by three Vernon hardware stores in a check-up by Miss Doris Leggitt, home demonstration agent, of the biggest meat canning season on record here. This is estimated to be half of the cans sold and used in Walbarger county. Since October 110 beeves have been canned in eight home demonstration clubs alone.

CONTEST ALFALFA PLOTS DOING WELL, WITH GOOD START

Alfalfa plots planted by participants in the Times and Record News alfalfa growing contest are coming along splendidly, according to County Agent G. C. McGown who has visited most of the farms in the contest.

Practically all of the spring-sown alfalfa is up to a good stand, Mr. McGown reports.

Fall-sown alfalfa, not in the contest, is looking exceptionally well at this time throughout the county.

COUPLE LEARNS CURING MEAT ON FARM PAYS

AMHERST. — The live weight value of two 250-pound hogs was more than doubled by killing, curing and canning them by A. & M. college extension service methods in a demonstration by Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Pickerell of Fieldton, Lamb county, in cooperation with D. A. Adam and Miss Ruby Mashburn, farm and home demonstration agents, respectively. Hogs that were worth a total of $35 on foot achieved a value of $81.82 in the form of ham, bacon, canned sausage, scrapple and the like. So well was the job done that one ham won the championship at the ham and bacon show held recently in Lubbock.

The meat inventory at the close of the demonstration showed 64 pounds of cured hams worth 30 cents per pound; 36 pounds Boston butts at 25 cents per pound; 14 pounds picnic hams at 20 cents per pound; 32 pounds sausage at 25 cents per pound, and 36 pounds of bacon at 32 cents per pound, making a total value of $45.92 for cured meats and sausage. There were then 51 No. 3 cans of pork roast, liver paste, scrapple, mince meat and head cheese valued at $25.50, and 10 gallons of lard worth $10.40.

"All meats on this farm will be put up the demonstration way from now on," declares Mrs. Pickerell, "for we get better quality and it's much more economical."

POULTRY RECORD KEEPING LEADS TO SUCCESS

MIDLAND.—Transforming a mongrel poultry flock from one that made one-half cent per hen above feed cost for November, December and January a year ago to a well bred flock that paid 22.7 per bird above feed cost for the same period this poultry year is the story revealed in the demonstration records of C. W. Lowke, Midland county farmer. Beginning November, 1929, as a demonstrator cooperating with Frank Wendt, county agent, it took just three months of record-keeping to convince Mr. Lowke that a drastic change was required to coax profits from his hens. Although eggs were selling for about 40 cents per dozen the 88 mongrels laid only 38 dozen eggs during this time. They sold for $15.76 and the feed cost $15.30.

Mr. Lowke proceeded to raise 150 well bred Rhode Island Red pullets, built a cheap but comfortable poultry house, and changed his system of feeding to give a balanced ration with lots of green stuff. During last November, December and January his 149 pullets laid 356 dozen eggs which sold for an average price of about 24 cents per dozen. The feed cost was $51.80 and the income $85.62, leaving a profit above feed of $33.82, or 22.7 cents per bird. Even at present prices Mr. Lowke is not losing money.

MAKES PROFIT OF $24.30 BY CANNING 15 ROOSTERS

MINERAL WELLS.—Six cents a pound was the market value of 15 White Rock roosters, averaging 8 pounds apiece, owned by Mrs. R. L. Banks of Sturdivant community in Palo Pinto county, who decided they were worth more as food, and canned the lot. According to the report of Miss Jane Boykin, home agent, the result was 102 No. 2 cans of chicken soup, scrapple and meat worth $31.50. The difference between that and the $7.20 for which the fowls would have sold is a profit of $24.30 to repay Mrs. Banks for her labor.

HOGS ON SELF FEEDERS DO WELL IN LEE COUNTY

GIDDINGS.—The formula used by Robert Farris of Giddings to squeeze an extra profit out of corn is to add tankage and cottonseed meal to balance the ration and give it to hogs in a self-feeder. In a 38-day demonstration outlined by J. B. Short, county agent of Lee county, Mr. Farris tried out the system on three hogs to find that he sold 19 bushels of corn worth 50 cents per bushel on the market for 80 cents per bushel through hogs. The grain averaged 80 pounds per hog. It took 80 pounds of tankage and 40 pounds cottonseed meal to balance the 19 bushels of corn.

60 BOYS TO TAKE PART IN CONTEST BY RAISING FEED

About 60 Wichita county farm boys have signed up to take part in the feed-growing contest arranged by County Agent G. C. McGown and sponsored by the chamber of commerce.

Planting of hegari in 5-acre tracts will start this week by the contestants.

The successful contestants will be eligible to compete in the calf-feeding contest to start next fall.

LAMBS MAKE GOOD FEED MARKET IN FRIO COUNTY

DILLEY.—Frio county hegari combined into a ration with cottonseed meal and powdered oyster shell and fed in one-ton self feeders for 60 days to 300 Rambouillet lambs by Forrest Avant in a demonstration with W. S. Patrick, county agent, has brought profitable returns, netting $493.25. The lambs averaged 77 pounds when sold in Fort Worth and brought $7.75 per hundred. The cottonseed meal cost $28 per ton, the threshed hegari was figured at $20 per ton, the ground hegari bundles at $12 per ton, and the powdered oyster shell cost $10. Not a lamb was lost during the period and this is partly attributable to the presence of the oyster shell in the ration, the county agent says. Mr. Avant is feeding another lot of 1400 for market.

GRAIN PROSPECTS MUCH IMPROVED BY RECENT RAINFALL

Small grain prospects in this county have been greatly improved by the rains of the past week. Some fields were beginning to suffer for lack of moisture, before the rain.

Not enough rain had fallen up to Friday to assure a good crop, but the moisture received came at an opportune time.

Some damage to gardens was occasioned by the light frost last Wednesday, but no replanting will be necessary.

OLD GUNNY SACKS MAKE ATTRACTIVE FLOOR COVER

BEAUMONT.—Gunny sacks found in barns, under sheds and on fences are being utilized by home demonstration club women of Jefferson county to make cheerful floor coverings for their homes, while cast-off silk hose and underwear are being converted into mats for use on the furniture. The plan is to have 100 rugs and mats completed by June 6 when the clubs will celebrate an achievement day. Toward this end 40 rugs and 20 mats are already approaching completion, the home agent, Miss Jessie Murdock, reports.

COMANCHE COUNTY USES CERTIFIED POTATO SEED

COMANCHE. — Ten demonstrations in growing Irish potatoes with certified seed in 1924 account for the fact that practically the entire crop in Comanche county this year has been planted with this seed, according to J. A. Barton, county agent. The demonstrations showed that the yield was increased from one-fourth to one-third by use of certified seed.

$7 PER TON FOR HEGARI WHEN MARKETED ON HOOF

ALICE.—In a feeding demonstration with steers, Robert Almond of Alfred, Jim Wells county, sold his hegari with light heads for $7 per ton and his ear corn for 57 cents per bushel, after charging off all expenses for grinding. The hegari

HOME MIXED MASH IS SOURCE OF CHICKEN PROFIT

ORANGE.—From a flock of 180 hens Mrs. L. T. Heard of the Little Cypress community in Orange county reported to the home agent, Miss Janie Hightower, an income of $30.40 above feed cost for the month of February. An average of 16.8 eggs per hen was produced which is 5.8 eggs above the state standard for February. Mrs. Heard attributes much of her success to home-mixed mash, consisting of yellow corn meal, meat scraps, shorts and bran.

TRUCK GROWERS AT BELLEVUE ORGANIZE MARKETING GROUP

BELLEVUE, April 25.—At the Lions club meeting recently a truck growers association was organized with a total of 121 acres pledged for this work and about 40 members joining. The aim of this organization was to get better prices in carload shipments, better truck and getting the products on the market quicker and in better condition.

M. B. Oates, agricultural agent for the F. W. & D. C. Railway company, V. M. Burkett, Clay county representative of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association, Mr. Copperton, state representative of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton cooperative association, O. M. Smith, commercial agent for the F. W. & D. C. Ry. Co., were present and made talks and helped in the organization of the association, as well as to encourage the planting of better cottonseed in this district, so as to raise the price of their cotton several dollars per bale. The truck growers were encouraged to plant heavily of tomatoes, beans, cantaloupes and melons.

EGGS PROFITABLE FOR HASKELL MAN DUE TO LOW COST

When eggs can be produced at a feed cost of three and a third cents per dozen, there is profit in them even at present low prices, according to J. T. Thurwanger of Weinert, Haskell county. Joe C. Williams, Haskell county agent, writes of Mr. Thurwanger's experience as follows:

"J. T. Thurwhanger of Weinert, says that he can make some money from his flock of White Leghorns by proper feeding and proves his statement with the records that he is keeping in cooperation with the county agent. With 478 birds during March the following record was made: Total eggs, 5,004 or 972 dozen; total sales for the month were $78.09; feed bill of $23.55; with a net gain of $55.54.

"Mr. Thurwhanger says that as long as he can produce eggs for 3.3 cents per dozen he will not worry about the high price of feed and the low price of eggs. He is still not satisfied with the cost of egg production and has culled his flock down to 401 birds in an attempt to cut the price of producing a dozen eggs still lower figures than 3.3 cents per dozen."

TOUR SHOWS HOW TO PRODUCE CHEAP EGGS

BALLINGER.—It was shown that eggs are being produced at the rate of seven cents per dozen feed cost with monthly profits of 20 cents per bird in 14 demonstration flocks recently visited on a tour in Runnels county conducted by C. W. Lehmberg, county agent. There was a total of 5,371 birds in these flocks. Pedigreed roosters were used in practically every flock; sanitary conditions were excellent; labor saving devices such as self feeders and drinking fountains were in common use; green feed was abundant; and rations were balanced in every case. C. M. Gideon of Winters showed a feed cost of five cents per dozen on a ration consisting of maize, skim milk and green feed.

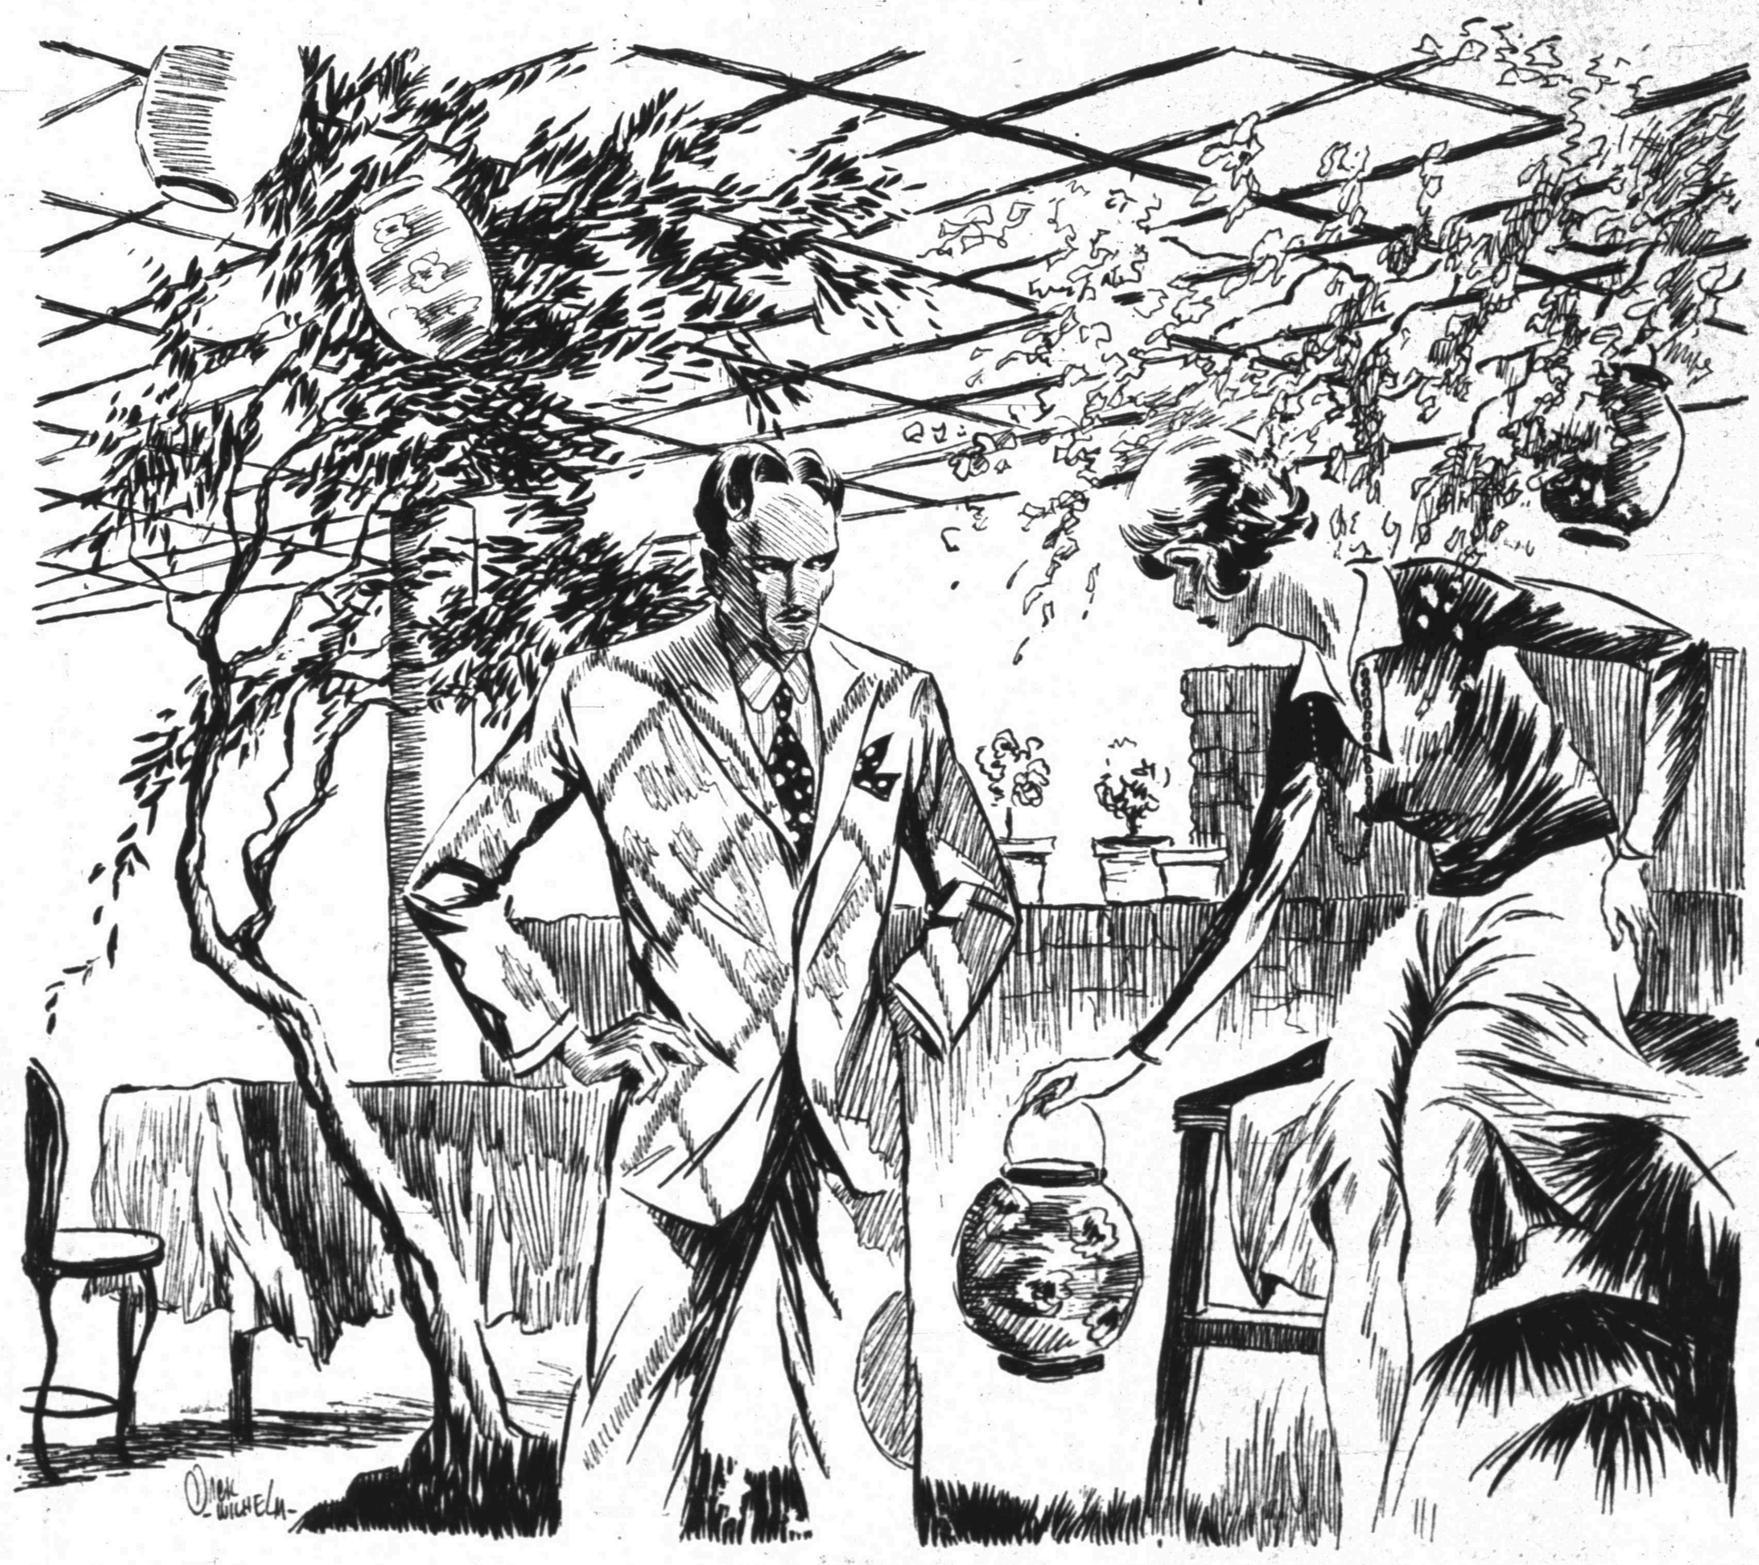
The Garden of Delight



THERE was to be a gala that night in the open-air restaurant of the Russian Grand Duke. Sun had come to Cannes again after a wet December and a January spoilt by snow. The carnival, during which the diaphanous ladies on the floats had suffered from severe attacks of goose-flesh, had been a catastrophe. In the memory of the oldest inhabitant of the Riviera no season had been so bad. The garden must shake off depression and put on an air of gayety because the little box in which earnings were kept was at its lowest ebb. A screen of canvas was drawn across the gate.

But that meant nothing to Ivan Storogev, the successful gigolo, who, at three o'clock in the afternoon, had crawled from his comfortable bed. A year ago he had been a waiter, a loyal member of the commonwealth of Russian aristocrats who lived by the skin of their teeth under the leadership of the dead Czar's cousin in that place. In a sense a deserter because he had capitalized his beautiful face and slim figure by attaching himself as a professional dancing man to the smart hotel, Count Storogev was still welcomed by his former chief and given the run of the untidy villa in which the brotherhood lived, cooked and laughed away their tragic memories. He made his way through the house, saw Princess Irina Petrovna hanging paper lanterns on the shabby pergola and marched quickly to her side. He had the look of a man whose nerves were about to crack.

"You!" she said lightly. "How nice of you to come. None of us hangs these bedraggled lanterns with such a touch." In a vivid sweater and a short brown frock, hatless, with the sun on her golden hair, she looked even more lovely than when she faced her father's fluctuating clients every night among the orchestra in Cossack uniform. There were men all over the world to whom the mere mention of Cannes stirred the haunting memory of her enchanting face and the limpid voice in which all the pain of Russia was epitomized.

He said thickly, "Why don't you answer your letters? You've had two from me this week." He made no attempt to hang the lantern which she gave him nor was he affected by her flattery for which at other times he was more greedy than any man. In his dissipated eyes there was deep resentment and on his white face two red spots of rage.

IRINA continued to put the candles in their sockets with a steady hand. "If you're not going to help me," she said, "you're badly in the way." There was something in his expression which made her glad that her father was festooning the nearby trelliswork with branches of young leaves.

He said, "I can't and won't stand the way in which you're treating me. Do you hear? I regard myself as engaged to be married to you. You know that. I earn enough money on which we can keep a respectable apartment and I've saved enough to lift you from this place. Why do you hold off?"

Irina assumed an anger that she did not feel. This petulant man had proved himself disloyal. A year ago when she had watched him going from table to table with a napkin over his arm there had been a flutter in her heart. No longer was it there. "You bore me, Count," she said. "You know the way to the gate."

Ivan stamped his foot, and the two red spots of rage were even redder now. He cried out, "Has the degradation of this cursed place dulled your moral sense? Why not say that you're in love with someone else? You think that I've lost caste by dancing at the hotel. I have. But so have you. I've seen you looking at Shakovskaya, that peasant with his 'magic' violin. If you and he have any idea of going to our church on the hill I tell you this in cold blood here and now: there'll be murder in this Garden of Delight and suicide as well. As God's my Judge that's true . . ."

He turned on his heels and left, the prince of gigolos. With the disturbing vibrations of his presence removed, the restaurant, with its charming trees, resumed its cheerfulness. General Igorivitch, the head cook, and Prince Vladimir Dionisievitch, the zylophonist of the orchestra, were singing to themselves as they arranged the little tables and treated the cheap napkins in their expert way. The other members of the commonwealth, ex-officers in the Russian Army and Navy of the Czar, and the girls who were their sisters and cousins, were busy and happy too.

PAUL SHAKOVSKAYA, peasant and violinist, was tying pieces of colored paper to the pergola. Both in his Cossack uniform and now in an ill-cut suit, the man of whom Ivan was so passionately jealous caught every feminine eye. He was simple and huge, broad of shoulder, with a magnificent torso, the square face with the Tartar cheek-bones and blue eyes of the men who sing the Volga Boat Song as they haul their smacks from the sea. Peasant, yes. Why not? He was an aristocrat in music and his mastery of the violin was incontestable.

If Ivan had seen Irina's eyes as Shakovskaya passed, murder and suicide would immediately have turned the Garden of Delight into the Garden of Despair . . . It was a fact known only by herself that she was ready to lose the caste to which her people clung, and which enabled them to carry out their honest servile work with undiminished pride, and go up with this peasant to the Russian Church on the hill. She loved him. She hung enthralled upon his music. She admired the nobility of his character beyond the power of words. But she knew that unless she were herself to smash the conventions of her caste and make a proposal to him the little church on the hill would never see them there. To Shakovskaya she was the Grand Duke's daughter as far removed as though she were a star.

DURING the gala that night Shakovskaya watched his chief with affection and deference. Turning to Irina he said, "A master of men, Princess. One whom it is a joy and an honor to serve." And because he was happy at the fullness of the garden, exhilarated at the mere presence on that platform of the girl of whom he dreamt, he took her hand and raised it to his lips. Made with simple spontaneity it was a gesture in which he thanked her for her father and congratulated the world that she herself had been born.

Excited, too, that that hitherto almost empty place was now filled with laughter and talk, Irina bent forward so that her curls touched one of the high cheek-bones of the peasant's face. She was startled at the effect it had on him. Reticence and deference moved from his eyes like clouds which had covered the sun. Their places were taken by a blaze of love, passion and desire which seemed to shake the stand. Her hand trembled under his touch and he and she stood for a moment in another world, another dimension, lovely in its clear light, vibrating with the high sweet notes of birds.

"Oh, my God," he said beneath his breath, withdrew his hand, clicked his heels, seized his violin and stuck it beneath his chin. And when, hardly able to pull herself together, Irina took her place in front of the platform to sing, there was a tremor of so great a joy in her voice that it hushed the conversation and brought forth bursts of applause.

AND at the back of the garden, in the shadow near the gate, there stood Ivan Storogev with madness in his brain and a revolver in his pocket, all according to Fate . . . Irina's heart was to be his target, not that of Shakovskaya, whose life meant nothing, he considered, in the scheme of things. It was his intention to join the spirit of Irina as he and she passed over the thin line between two eternities, leaving their bodies lying in the gravel of the Garden of Delight.

He knew that it was Shakovskaya's habit to wind up his dinner programme with a special song. He had made up his mind to hear Irina sing once more, and as the last echo of what was to be her swan song died among the trees to send her out of the possibility of belonging to another man and follow after her.

THE orchestra went softly into the opening bars of "Le Bon Temps Viendra" which Shakovskaya had set to a haunting melody. And as the loyal peasant drew his bow across his strings, saying to himself under the deep emotion at the confession of love that he had seen in Irina's eyes, "Can it be true, oh God, that the good time will come?" He caught the gleam of Ivan's weapon and saw under the red glow of a lantern the white face and mad eyes of the man who also loved . . . But as he stood there playing, outwardly calm but with a whirling brain, he saw with horror and amazement that the small circle of steel was not aimed at himself but at Irina—Irina who was standing, wholly unaware of impending death, a few feet to his right. With a sort of divine inspiration it came to him that Ivan intended to hold his hand until Irina had finished the song, and so he carried on until her last note had risen into the hushed night like a small white bird. Whereupon he flung himself quickly in front of her.

There was a loud report. He fell with a crash at her feet.

And while the startled diners crowded together with screams a second shot rang out.

Chaos, the crush of running people at the gate, the startled movement of the Grand Duke to the platform with his faithful friends, the crumpled figure of the wasted gigolo lying on his face . . . And to Shakovskaya the knowledge of a hot sting in his left shoulder and Irina's lips on his mouth in that Garden of Delight.
