BROWNFIELD, TERRY COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 1937 — NUMBER 30

Around the Capitol

By J. Doyle Settle

AUSTIN, Texas, — This writer will vigorously oppose the bill sponsored by Petch and others, which in effect would abolish and change a number of district courts of Texas. The bill seeks to redistrict the judicial districts of Texas, and if passed would abolish the 99th district court now located at Lubbock and would change both the 72nd and 106th district courts. I do not believe that such drastic changes in our judicial system is necessary and certainly it it unwise at this time.

The author of this column has introduced a bill to complete a museum at Texas Tech. The bill which appropriates $50,000 would set up a museum at the college and would preserve for posterity all the historical relics which abound within the confines of West Texas. Such a museum is badly needed, and it is believed that the Legislature will recognize this need and pass this bill. This appropriation will be met with a like amount from the federal government.

I have introduced a bill which would refund the tax on gasoline used in agricultural pursuits to the tax-payer at the time he purchases the gasoline. At the present time, the farmer must go through a lot of red tape, and then wait for a considerable length of time before he rceives this rebate in these taxes. My bill would eliminate all this red tape and delay, and would be a great convenience to the farmers of Texas.

I have introduced a bill in the House of Representatives for the purpose of constructing and establishing a State Hospital for the Insane in West Texas. The bill calls for an appropriation of $817,000 for the purpose of contsruction and equipping the same. And will recognize the need of such a hospital for West Texas. At the present time there is no institution of this kind any where in West Texas and inasmuch as new institutions of ths kind are needed in Texas to care for the increasing number of people who should be confined in an asylum, it is expected that this bill will be given consideration by the Legslature, and has a fair chance of passage.

The Best Tradesday In Some Time Here

About three weeks ago a mimograph sheet was put out on the streets in which it was stated, "that it had been said that there would not be another Tradesday." The Herald took it at that time that all this was aimed at the Herald, yet we never said any such thing. What we did say was that "The Lion's Club" had announced that so far as they were concerned, there would not be another First Monday or Tradesday." We were merely repeating what we had heard them say.

We heard one merchant say Monday that so far as a crowd was concerned, and so far as the volume of business amounted to Monday was the best day they had experienced since last fall early. and he is a man that watches reaction very closely. He believes the fact that many of the merchants had specials either in the paper or on their wondows went as far or farther than any prizes that were given to try to win back the crowds for Brownfield. He also stated that it was getting far enough away from tax paying time, that didn't have such a burdening reaction on Tradesday.

The Herald has never had any other idea than we can rebuild our Tradesday. We believe in the power of advertising too strong for any other belief to dwell long in our noodle. But it must be a concerted action. It is everywhere else where the day had been made to pay. One man told us he had a better day Monday than Saturday. Now that is getting back kinder to where we started.

The Herald has only the kindiest feeling for every firm in the city. It wants to see them prosper and do well. But we also ask that they play square with us. A square deal is all we want or ask for.

Sundry Thoughts

Dust storms, like the poor are still with us, and will evidently remain for many future years, spite of proposed timber belts, deep plowing or other devices. Wind and water necessities of our very existence often prove our worst enemies.

February 10th began the Lentin Season when we are expected, if a "Good Catholic, Lutheran or Episcopalian," to have our brows painted by the Padre and commence our fast by abstaining from meats of all kinds except fish or sea food, deny ourselves of many other pleasures for forty days. If all of us should fall in line on the meat question it would bring down the price of pork chops and steak. The figure "forty" is regarded somewhat of a Holy Number as you will recall that the Flood covered the earth for forty days and nights, the Isrealites wandered in the destrt for forty years. Moses, Elijah the Prophit, and Christ each fasted for forty days in the desert. Dr. Tanner and Allibaba and the Forty Robbers came later. At the end of Lent comes Easter, which is much earlier this year than usual, in fact, it could not occur much earlier.

Our President is getting very much in the Lime Light in the past few weeks. His modification of the Supreme Court or rather his proposition to add to its members, has started the Republicans on trail again and it appears that some other way will have to be found to circumvent their activities in knocking his proposed measures into a cocked hat. Many prominent Democrats in Congres and out are opposed to increasing the number to fifteen or interfering with them in any way. Even Ex-President Hoover has come to life and is on the air again.

He talks of our liberties being taken away and seems to get as angry as cats on the back yard fence.

Personally, I do not regard the Supreme Court as the Bulwark of Our Liberties. In times of great stress in our history they have been in the way and have been disregarded by many of the Presidents. Witness Jackson and Lincoln. I believe that an act of Congress should be the law of the land until repealed and if the liberties of the people are not safe in their hands, regardless of whatever party is in power, then the Nine Black Gowned Dignified Old Gentlemen will not save us.

Let them supervise the doings of the courts of our country, which was really the intention of the Constitution, but keep their hands off the Legislation of our representatives. On with the Battle.

Our own Home Bunch at Austin it seems can't tax beyond Old Age Pensions and horse racing. Why kill time with it. If people wish to raise horses and race they, why should they be deprived of that privilege? They pay a pretty good tax and we need it. It isn't any worse than gambling on baseball or any other ball playing, bridge, buying lottery tickets, shooting craps or any game of chance. Slot machines or punch boards. Those who object to betting on games of chance don't furnish the money that may be lost. Then why ask the legislature to stop them. Many of them perhaps don't mind taking a chance.

If not permitted to enjoy those things at home, they can easily go elsewhere and do it.

The Youth Movement: Descended on Washington last week after Five Hundred Million and came to grief as did Coxey's Army In Cleveland's Administration and The Legionaires under Hoover. None were killed however, but some were arrested. We can't all have white collar jobs.

How About the Flies and Other Insects Here

Pleasant thought is it not. Well an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, or something similar to that. With a few days of warm sun shine coming along occasionaly now, and with possibly four months accumulation of trash and rubbish in our alleys and around fences—well there is none better for the hatching and breeding of flies and other insects. Surely the people of Brownfield have had their share of experience with this filthy pest the past two or three years. It appears to us that by starting out early this year, and keeping our premises clean, we believe the population of this species of pest could be cut down at least two-thirds. Wouldn't that be something. Well, it all depends, which had you rather have: flies or exert yourselves of a little elbow grease. Personally, we'll give the last drop of that so-called grease in our bodies, not to have those little web-fcoted cusses crawling over our nose at the break of day next summer and running them a race at chow time, trying to get our part of the grub.

So, let's all cooperate with our neighbor and get an early start on cleaning up our town, and enjoy living as good American people should live.

Soft Ball—Well!

Are we disgustaped! Here we started out as a cub reporter last week and chose for our master piece "What About A Soft Ball Team In Brownfield." Well to begin with, maybe some of you birds would be surprised to know that we were two days and three nights writing and arranging that little article, so as to have the best results. In fact, Thursday night or we should have said Friday morning about 3 a. m. when we pulled a proof from the press and read that article, as tired as we were, we could imagine ourselves on the diamond in a hot game of ball with some rival team of Brownfield's.

Well we came to town Friday and expected to have the office running over with ball fans all day—but much to our sorrow and dignity not one. And besides that, just one man has even gone so far as to mention it, and he was the gink that gave us the idea, and got us into this mess. What about soft ball?—Bah!

But, kind readers and gentle listeners, you have got us all stirred up now. Soft ball or no soft ball, we are going to haunt you every week from now on about it, until at least three call on us and express their opinions. We might have to come forth with some of our powerful and effective cussing to get results but we are going to hear from you.

Oil News of Section

Bits Of News Gathered On Oil Development In Area

Drilling of the plug in the Bob Slaughter No. 1 of Texas Co., Hockley county wildcat, was scheduled to be started late Saturday, with the 7-inch cemented at 4,444 feet. Further work is expected to start the first of the week. The Slaughter wildcat, on the Bob Slaughter block in labor 83, league 38 Zavalla county school land is 14 miles southwest of Levelland. It is a closely watched test.

T. & P. No. 1 Bennett, Yoakum county's second producer, has logged lime showing saturation, but no increase in production, as drilling has proceeded down to below 5,278 feet. It was deepened from 5,236 feet where it came in as a producer for 570 barrels, in January. At night with drilling stopped, the test flows 250 barrels of oil. Location is in section 678, block D. John H. Gibson survey.

Top of the anhydrite in the Landreth No. 1 Carrol Cobb, section 20, block A-21, public school land, Gaines county, was reported as 2,200 feet, or 1,052 feet above sea level. Drilling was last reported at 2,236 feet. The W. H. Kirk No. 1 of the same company, a mile and a half southwest and the first well in the county south of Seminole, topped the anhydrite at 1,950 feet.

W. L. Pickens et al No. 1 Estella Lewright, southern Terry county wildcat, in section 1, block O-37, was drilling below 4,623 feet with a formation reported as 80 per cent lime and 20 per cent anhydrite. Top of the lime was announced as 4,470 feet, or 1,285 feet below sea level, but higher than the Ray Albaugh wildcat well in Dawson county. Sand line measurement corrected previous drilling from 4,590 to 4,580 feet.

Shell Petroleum corporation has staked a location for its No. 1 Amerada-Humble, 600 feet out of the nortwest corner of section 220, block G, W. T. Ry. survey, an east offest to the Amerada No. 1-A Averitt, Gaines county's second oil producer, northwest of Seminole. The test will be on a tract recently purchased in fee by Amerada and Humble. Leases on section 220 expire in March. Shell holds the lease on the northwest quarter; Skelly on the southwest and Amerada on the east half. The No. 1-A Averitt was completed for 180 barrels after being plugged back to 5,029 feet.

Cascade-Honolulu-Devonion No. 1 Duggan, Cochran county well, was reported flowing 594 barrels when opened up for 24 hours, the first of the week.

New Refining Process May Make Texas Potash Important New State Industry

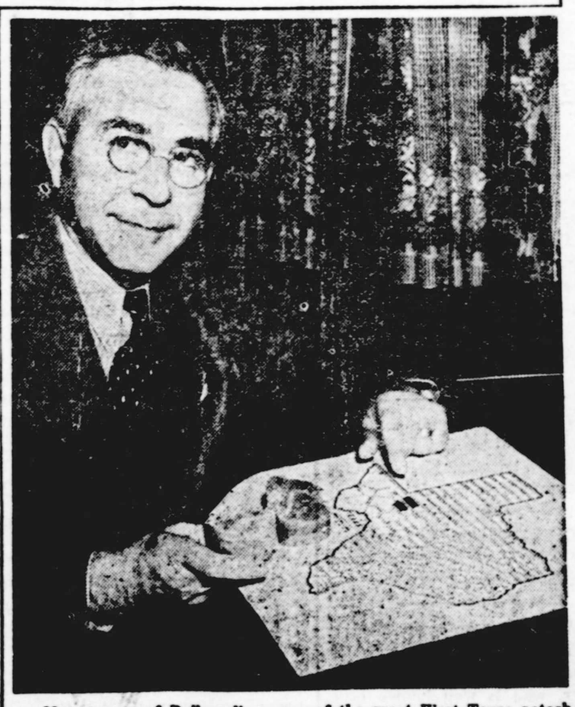
DALLAS—Recent perfection of a new refining process means that a 57,000,000-ton bed of polyhalite near Midland, Tex., may soon attain the industrial importance predicted for it when it was first discovered 12 years ago.

This polyhalite, says a report to the All-South Development Council by Max Agress of Dallas, its discoverer, is a peculiarly economical source of potash. Under the process just perfected by Dr. E. P. Schoch of the University of Texas after a decade of painstaking experimentation, it is possible to produce also magnesium carbonate, for insulating, and a "very superior" hard plaster directly from polyhalite without discarding a bit of the mined material.

Regarded as one of the most important of the many commercially undeveloped natural resources of Texas, polyhalite could become one of the state's biggest contributions to the nation's agriculture and industry, ranking with oil, natural gas and sulphur in diversity of use, the report says.

Fair freight rates, dependable consumer demand, and assurance that it will not serve as a shining mark, as other natural resources have done, for excessive state taxation revenue are factors entering into proper development of polyhalite, as of other potential resources, points out Horace Loomis, executive secretary of the Council. He said elimination of the present constant threat of increased levies on the state's natural resources is a requisite to encouragement of all new industries in Texas.

The "balance of trade" could be swung much more strongly in favor of the United States, which now imports more than 50 per cent of the potash it uses, with establishment of this industry on a big scale, the report says. Other benefits, principally affecting Texas, would be extensive mine and refinery payrolls, sizeable shipping and rail freight contracts, cheaper and better sulphate of potash for many Texas agricultural uses, and cheaper and better plaster for Texas building, where the trend in house construction now is strongly toward more use of plaster.



Max Agress of Dallas, discoverer of the great West Texas potash deposits, is shown pointing out their location in Midland, Crane, Upton and Ector counties. He holds a specimen of the unique polyhalite, source of potash and plaster, in his hand.

New Farm Program Policies

Last week President Roosevelt in a special message to Congress recommended a farm program for those proucers evidencing a desire for crop insurance and protection, and though this measure will not get immediate legislation it will be much discussed.

First—There will be the consideration of the continuing of our present policy of compensation for the substitution of soil building crops for soil depleting crops. As an example —We in this western and practically new country don't realize the condition in the older parts of the country where soil has been washed away but it won't be many years until we wil appreciate the efforts of the National Government to save the soil while it is still here to save.

Second—The "ever normal granary" plan proposed by Secretary Wallace of furnishing Government loans on crop surpluses in time of excess production and low prices and by calling the loans and releasing the stored commodities in time of scant production and high prices. This would avert such calamities like that which hit this section of the country several years ago when we found ourselves overstocked with livestock and no feed with which to maintain them. Instead of the Government coming in as it did then on a rescue mission and buying our live stock the government "prevention is worth a pound of cure" will have averted the disaster in the first place.

Third—Then there will be the consideration of additional compensation under the soil conservation policy for "storage in the ground" or refraining from planting cash crops when surpluses mount up. All farmers evperienced the effects of this plan under the former AAA and they realize that the law of supply and demand rules the price of world commodities. It was through the depletion of surplus crops that we find present $1.50 wheat and 12 cent cotton.

Fourth—Crop insurance, the premium to be paid in cash or kind, and delivery of the insurance compensation for short crops to be made in kind for stored supplies. In other words crop insurance has the purpose of any insurance with the difference that you pay your premium with the commodity which is insured, and in case of the loss of the crop you are paid with the commodity or its equivalent. The whole idea of this crop insurance hinges on your compliance with the government's program which, as we see it, is as it should be.

Fifth—The last measure resolves itself into plain and simple crop control. This while it will cause a world of oppositon must be boiled down into the crux of the whole situation, because after all there can be no carrying out of these other measures satisfactorily until there is some form of crop control. The recent invalidated AAA received the negative judiciary decision on the grounds that it was encroaching upon state rights. The new measure will not be as formerly, control of production by laws and decrees, but newly defined as "interstate commerce" which would evade the Court decision. It will be the most difficult of all the measures to put into action. It is only the Federal Government that can prevent the accumulation of surpluses which destroy all profits in farming. All farming is definitely national and if left to the states will be imparied by the selfishness of one state of large production in taking advantage of states with the restriction on planting their most productive crop. Here on the Plains for example we would be pleased to see the restriction of cotton and wheat production in other states.

Senator Connally Urges Action on Farm Prob.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Senator Tom Connally urged the adoption of a farm tenant home purchase plan in a personal apparance before the House Committee on Agriculture last week, while hearings were being held on the farm tenant problem.

The necessity of a low interest rate, sufficient funds to give the farm purchase plan a real test, the requirement of soil rebuilding principles as set out by the State and Federal conservation program, and the need of a local committee in every county to pass upon the applicant's qualifications were the points stressed by Senator Connally before the House Committee.

The Senator said:

"The interest rate to be charged on these farm purchases should be very small. I provide for an interest rate of two per cent in my bill. We subsidize now a great many projects and enterprises and I think the question of getting the man on the farm to own his own farm is of such high importance, not only for the economic aspect of the situation but for the government aspect of the matter, that it would be worth the investment of the Government to see that the interest rate is at a minimum."

In commenting on the amount of money needed to carry into practice the farm tenant proposal, Senator Connally stated:

"The people of the United States ought to know that we are setting our hands to this plow in a substantial way and are not merely scraping around like we are doing with the Resettlement Administration. That is just like a flea bite, and we are not getting anywhere. We ought to demonstrate to the country that we are going into this program and that we are willing now if it is necessary to do so to spend a billion dollars to try to put the program into operation."

Senator Connally added that he thought there should be a local committee in every county to pass upon the applicants, composed of both farmers and business men. That the bill ought to provide that preference shall be given to men who are already farming, men who are thrifty farmers, men who have shown some ability in making a living for themselves on the farm.

Senator Connally is the author of a farm tenant bill now pending in the Senate Agricultural Committee.

Local Scout News

Advance preparation is being made in a number of the Troops of the South Plains Council for a large percentage of their membership to spend a week at Camp Post, Boy Scout Camp, near Post, Texas, Marshall Mason, Chairman of the Camping Committee of the Council Announced.

The dates for the camps have been divided into three periods to begin May 30 and to close June 19. After the regular camps there will be a camp for Cubs, and the Jamboree preparation camp.

Troops that have not already received their quota for camp will do so in a few days. According to reports from the local Scoutmasters the quota for Troop 4 is 8, Troop 45 is 16 and Troop 49 is 8.

This quota was arrived at by assuming that 75 per cent of the Scouts in the troops are interested in Camping. Taking this number as a basis it was assumed that 75 per cent of this group could attend camp. This is the camp quota for each troop in the Council.

The dates that have been assigned to the local Troops are June 13 to June 19. The Camp will open on Sunday afternoon and close on Saturday afternoon with a large picnic supper with parents and Scouts eating together.

According to Mason a real program of activities for the week have been outlined and that trained leaders in most every phase of the outdoor program will be available and help to make the camp a real enjoyable one for all that attend.

Each Scout should start making preparations now and get the preliminary registration fee of $1.00 turned in to his Scoutmaster. The remainder should be paid a week in advance of the opening of the Camp.

A Camp Honor program is being adopted and will be used in the camps this summer.

The "boss" has been laid up this week most of the time with a bad case of gastric stomach, but as usual, we'll bet the boys give you just as good paper as usual. They always do. So give them a hand.

Some times our old friend Charley Guy writes as if he expects some good G. O. P. president to give him a job on the supreme court bench about the time he is 75 or 80. He is already fat and 40. It appears that he and friend E. I. Hill of the Tahoka News expect their intellects to be wound up to the very highest pitch by the time they are 80 years of age.

While Texas Technological College is the youngest of the state colleges, it stands third in total enrollment; the University of Texas of course first, and the Texas A. & M. College second. Yet, some said when the Tech was established it look foolish to build a college "over in New Mexico." With the rapid growth of this section, the Tech has grown and will continue to grow, and should have the support of every person in this section, who in turn should see that it has proper support from the state.

"What about a soft ball team in B'field?" asks Old Andy Jack (Grandpop) Stricklin in the Terry County Herald. "We'll don't blame me for after all the question was merely put to me. So here we are testing its strength. After all, it takes ten players and at least two substitutes, and in most cases one or two men interested in these ten or twelve players, with at least 27 cents between them, in cash."—Lubbock Avalanche.

Grandpop didn't write the above. It was the brain-child of our linotype operator, Ralph Bynum. So get on him J. Sam.

TEXAS POPULATION

"Hints come from Texas, through The Texas Weekly," notes the Middletown (Conn.) Press, "to the effect that certain dispatches from Dallas on vital statistics have disturbed the State because they show that births have declined and deaths have increased. There are stories of birth control, and an intimation that Texas does not like it because they hamper a record of which Texans are said to be proud, that of leading the country in population gain by excess of births over deaths. Only Pennsylvania is said to compete with the Lone Star State in this yearly achievement.

"The Weekly, however, does not see that Texas has any cause to worry while the returns show 115,212 births to 68,500 deaths in 1936, representing an increase of about 47,000 in a year. This gain should assure Texas a substantial margin over California.

"What started the Texas worry was the report showing 3,897 more deaths and 3,454 fewer births in 1936 as compared with 1935. As the estimated gain of population in the United States in 1936 over 1935 is placed at no more than 95,000, Texas ought not to worry with its vital statistics figures indicating nearly half of that.

"Some belief exists to the extent that at least a half dozen States may show losses in population at the close of 1936 as compared with 1930.

"Unless there are decided changes in population movements and vital statistical figures in the next three years," thinks the Press, "the census reports for 1940 may be disturbing in some States, while the nation as a whole will reveal no such gain as in previous census periods."—Texas Weekly.

SOMETHING TO LEARN

The railroad men are striking for a lot more wages, and the truckers are trying to get the load limit raised so they can haul loads up to umpty thousand pounds. There is bound to be reason in all the claims, but there probably is reason for the present wages for railroad men and for the present load limit. Of course railroad wages are about what they were in the middle of the depression, but we might remember that the rail roads have had something the matter with them worse than a depression. Motor transportation and public highways have produced competition such as the railroads never saw before. Because of the hundreds of thousands of Americans who have their investments tied to the railroads, we can't stand back and say: "Let them perish, if they can't stand competition." Everybody who has an insurance policy is interested in the railroads because the insurance companies have invested in railroad securities. And the Dallas truckers who claim the seven thousand pound load limit is a burden on interstate commerce, might find that twenty thousand pound loads might also interfere with interstate commerce by destroying the roads paid for by the general public. If we keep on living we have a lot to learn about transportation.—Ralls Banner.

FARMERS AND A "SIT-DOWN" STRIKE

Suppose we wake up some morning and read in the daily headlines that "Farmers on Strike; Want 30-Hour Week, $3600 a year."

Would we be startled out of our skin? We would. First, no one could expect the farmers to agree on one measure long enough to call a strike. But if the other workers in big industry are entitled to strike for shorter hours and more pay, why not the farmer?

After the first day, there would be no milk with which to smother the fumes of horse-hide glue coming from a breakfast food made from pulverized peanut hulls, a concoction mentioned in the school book, "A Million Guinea Pigs."

Thirty-six hundred dollars would be a fine minimum for each family per year over the nation. But why just for factory men?

Should the farmer folk sit down at this stage, it would not be long until we would be out of vegetables. Within a few months we would be short on fruits. A little later we would be short on everything to eat almost, and cotton clothing. It would not be very long until the whole nation would collapse.

While they probably never will do it, just suppose the farmers did stage a "sit-down" strike for the same reason as other workers?—Clarendon Leader.

MRS. H. P. ALLEN

For several days the death Angel had hovered near the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Allen, and at 8:30 o'clock Monday, March 1, 1937, entered and calmly bore away the sweet gentle spirit of our dear friend, Mrs. H. P. Allen. She was stricken with pneumonia several days before her death. How her children and friends worked with her, that she might recover, but seems like her hopes of recovery were faint, because she felt that he task on earth was done. How patiently she bore her afflications. She made the following expression at different times: "What joy to be ready to go." Oh, how hard to say, Lord thy will be done not ours, for we are never ready and willing to give up our loved ones, especially a dear friend and mother as Mrs. Allen had proven herself to be many times. But blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth yea saith the spirit that they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them. (Rev. 14-13).

Mrs. Allen lived a life we are not afraid to follow. She was born February 3, 1874. She professed faith in Christ at the age of 14 years and joined the First Baptist Church. She lived a consistent Christian life from the day her profession. She always let her lights shine for the Lord there was never a doubt in the minds of the people that knew Mrs. Allen as to her stand for the Lord. She led all her children to know Christ and to honor Him. She married Mr. H. P. Allen in 1890. To their union were born fifteen children, nine of which were present when her sweet spirit took its flight back to the God who gave. Oh, how sad, and lonely to be without her, how her family and friends miss her sweet smiles and her tender gentle voice, her council and advice. We cannot keep from weeping and mourning for we believe that grief if a gift of nature, here on earth, but we do not weep as those who have no hope. For God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain, for the former things are passed away. Her family have the sweet hope of being with her again in a brighter world, where sad partings are never known. God saw the paths of life were to rugged for Mrs. Allen's feet to further trod, so the golden gates were opened, a gentle voice said, "Come" and with farewells unspoken she calmly entered home. While we are left so sad and lonely we feel thankful that God was so merciful to spare her to help raise her children to be grown, and they have all expressed how thankful that she brought them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord.

"A loving one from us is gone, a voice we loved is stilled, a place is vacant in that home, which never can be filled." "We loved her, yes, we loved her, but Jesus loved her more, so He has sweetly called her to yonder's shining shore." "Yet again we hope to meet her when the day of life is fled and in Heaven with joy we'll greet her where no farewell tears are shed. She is sleeping, sweetly sleeping in that new made grave today. No not dead, but only sleeping 'till the resurrecution day. We must look to God our Father, who will all our sorrows share, and He'll lead us on to Glory, yes to meet our loved ones there."

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church, with Pastor F. G. Rodgers officiating, assisted by Alfred A. Bryan of Plainview, Texas, with several others offering testamony in her belief. The body was laid to rest in the Brownfield cemetery.

HOPE IT DENOTES NITRATE DEPOSIT

Local scientests are advancing many theories to account for the windy wildcat four miles east of Big Spring. One is that this nitrogen gas is coming from a vast deposit of nitrate of potash somewhere in this area. We would be indeed fortunate if such a deposit could be located as this mineral is very much in demand. —Big Spring News.

DRIVERS LICENSE LAW IS A JOKE

Last year every driver of an automobile in Texas was for the first time in history ordered to secure a drivers license and in every ocunty they were issued. It is reasonably safe to assume that every car owner now has or has made application for a license.

But has it been of any value to the state?

Has it prevented the driving of automobiles by children?

Has it prevented wrecks?

In fact has it been of any value to anyone in the state, with the exception of the men who issued the cards, or those who did the printing, the clerical work, or had some part in getting them into circulation, or those who sold cute little holders to attach the cards to the steering wheel of the car.

When a driver's license is issued it should be more than a scrap of paper giving the owner's name and address. It should be a certification that he is not only old enough to drive, but also that he has sense enough to drive, and is in the habit of using that sense.

Texas drivers who have tangled with the traffic laws of California as well as some of the Eastern States have found this out occasionally to their sorrow.

Before a driver is issued a license in some of those states he is not allowed to get his card by merely saying that he can drive—he is made to prove it.

Right here in Lamb County we have dozens of folks driving cars who either have not read of how to drive or are just too plain ignorant or careless to care how they drive—and accidents are resulting from both.

School children are getting hold of the family car, with permission and without, and driving up and down our streets here in town and on our highways out in the country, at speeds and with reckless, thoughtless carelessness, that can only result in trouble and accidents.

And many of them have no drivers' license and if they have, they should never have been issued.

The roads are still unsafe and a very weak Drivers License law is at least partially to blame.—County Wide News.

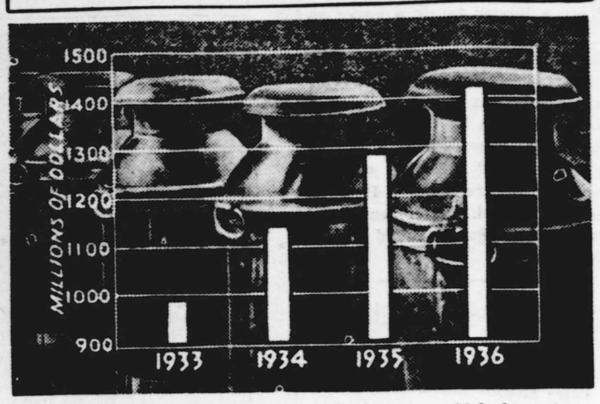
Farm Cash Income From Milk Makes New Five-Year High



FARMERS' cash income from the nation's milk production totaled $1,417,000,000 for 1936, an increase of $128,000,000, or 9.9 per cent over the 1935 total, according to the Milk Industry Foundation.

Farm milk income has increased nearly 50 per cent since the depression low. Cash milk income for December 1936 of $113,000,000 was 91.5 per cent of the 1924-29 average compared with the 78.5 index figure for agriculture as a whole.

Since milk production in 1936 is estimated to have increased by 2 per cent to 3 per cent over 1935, the past year's larger cash payments to farmers are chiefly due to higher unit prices paid for milk. Increased consumption of milk in fluid form, for which farmers receive their highest prices per quart, also helped to increase dairy farmers' milk checks.

While supply and demand are in fair adjustment for the nation as a whole, there has been an unusually high production of milk in some sections of the country.

Farmers are evidently feeding their herds well despite high feed prices. This, together with the high percentage of cows being milked, has caused a substantial increase in milk production in most markets.

To aid farm income this increase in production can best be marketed through stimulating consumption of milk in fluid form, as milk used for butter and other products brings the dairy farmer lower prices.

CALIFORNIA SOLON CLAIMED BY DEATH

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The death of Rep. Henry Elbert Stubbs (D-Calif.) aroused fresh concern today over the mortality rate in congress.

His was the third death in this session, not yet two months old. Other members to die since the session convened January 4, were Rep. Andrew J. Montague (D-Va.) and Rep. James P. Buchanan (D-Tex.)

Dr. George Calver, capitol physician, has attributed the increasing death-rate among members of congress to the high tension of the routine of congressional affairs.

He was a native of Coleman, Texas and was educated at Phillips university, Enid, Okla.—Lubbock-Journal.

Beeswax mixed with equal portions of salt will remove rust from irons. Other stains and ways in which they may be removed are: coffee, tea, or chocolate stains on cups—moisten a little salt with cold water; flower stains in vase—fill vase with a mixture containing two tablespoonsful of vinegar to each half cup of boiling water and wash it out—after ten minutes or so—in hot water and soap suds; stains on brass or copper—use equal portions of salt and vinegar.

Spiced fruits add a delicious flavor to meals. Pears, pineapple, peaches, apricots, apples, oranges or even grapes—all of them spiced—may be served with the main course. They will also lend an interesting flavor to the fruit cocktail or salad. Candied ginger is another favorite.

Tangerines are delicious in salad and cocktail combinations. They are easily peeled and freed of the fibrous portions and blend well with pineapple, pears, cherries, grapefruit and bananas.

The children's toy box can often supply the materials for unusual table decorations. Tiny houses may be placed on a mirror "rink" for a skating party and little people and furniture used for a bridal shower.

ANOTHER MILE STONE FOR STOMACH SUFFERS

Only a few short months ago Gas-Tons were not known in this community although the formula used in the compounding of Gas-Tons by one of the largest pharmaceutical houses in the country has been a favorite prescription, used with great success in the relief of Stomach and duodenal ulcers, Indigestion, Acid dyspepsia, Sour or Upset stomach, Gassiness, Bloating, Heartburn, Constipation Bad Breath, Sleeplessness, Headaches and Jaded appetites. But today it is another story for Gas-Tons are known in hundreds of homes as the product which has brought health and happiness to members of their family, when these conditions were due to excess acid. There are stories of men and women who had given up all hope of relief until they were told by some former stomach sufferer of the days and nights spent suffering with no relief in sight, but who after trying Gas-Tons for a short time were on the road to recovery and who are now happy to state, with great pleasure, that none of the old symptoms are with them and now they sleep all night long, go about their regular work and pleasure, eat the things they like most with no ill results. And all stomach sufferers know what this means. Therefore it is no wonder to them why Gas-Tons sales have grown by leaps and bounds and they can easily see why those former stomach sufferers are able to go about with a smile on their faces in place of the old grouch. Gas-Tons are on sale with one druggist in each town. Gas-Tons are sold on a money back guarantee that you must be pleased. Gas-Tons are on sale in Brownfield by the Alexander Drug Co. 25 tablets $1, 100 tablets $3. Accept no substitutes for there are several who would bask in the light of the success of this great formula.

HERE'S HOLLYWOOD

By Jack Hardy

Talking with Dick Powell this week I found him more than usually chatty. Perhaps the peacefulness of the forest scene in which he was working stirred his thoughts. "All this success isn't quite understandable. I certainly don't rate the tremendous income I'm getting. I have a good voice, maybe, but I'm no genius. This movie stardom is a forced build-up and I guess I'm lucky to have so many fans."

Dick's fond hope and serious ambition is yet to become a grand opera singer. He studies for it steadily, too.

Evelyn Venable is going to have another baby. She is more interesed in having a family than a screen career. After she finished making "Happy Go Luck" in December she said would not make another picture for some time. Then last week it was rumored she was expecting the stork. although she has a son only fifteen months old.

"Yes," she told me, "there will a second one in a month. After all, I think a family is the most important thing."

Miss Venable's husband is Hal Mohr, director-cameraman.

Generous Gene Autry, singing cowboy star, while on his recent personal aperance tour through Texas and Oklahoma, was invited to entertain the prisoners at Oklahoma State prison. He gave them more than an hour of cowboy songs and guitar numbers. Then a prison quartet returned the compliment, singing several numbers of which one was an original by a life-termer.

"It was perfect in rhythm and cowboy melody." Autry enthusiastically reported. "So I bought the song to use in my next picture. An odd thing about it is that, because prisoners are permitted to be known only by number, on the screen credit will be given only to the man's number."

Something new in motion picture photography is to be seen in that sad but exceptional epic. "The Good Earth." That's micro-photography, or close-ups obtained under a microscopic camera of grasshoppers eating wheat. It's part of a very thrilling scene in which swarms of grasshoppers blacken the sky as they fly over the Chinese wheat fields.

From this long shot the camera was moved into a medium shot and then to close-ups, showing in detail how the pests consume everything.

The first motion picture to our knowledge which shows the interesting life of shanty-boat people on the Mississippi is 'Banjo on My Knee." in which that talented actor Walter Brennan depicts the real old-time shanty-boat man. It has captured a vivid atmosphere of river life, and is being discussed widely in Hollywood as one of the most unusual and outstanding records of an important bit of the varied types of life which make up the vastness of America.

Olivia de Havilland, a demure little star who is also a saving and stay-at-home girl, last week was reported by a gossip-monger to be enjoying secret dates with a boy friend.

It's not true," she told me with blazing eyes. "I'm not romancing, and I don't intend to until I've won greater accomplishments than now. It's my ambition to be a much greater actress before I let romance hinder my career."

Warner Baxter threw a party on the stage for cast and crew at the finish of his last picture, serving up some of his famous chili. Director Tay Garnett was presented with a rack of 18 pipes by the crew, and humorously wisecracked that he should have 12 more, or one for every day of the month. Half an hour later he did. Baxter sent out a dozen corncob pipes to round out the month's supply.

Texas Parents Will Rear Their Children

Every salaried man in Texas has a number and is registered at Washington. This is all right for it is a new Roosevelt regulation aimed for the best.

But do Texas fathers and mothers want their boys and girls "badged" and their home work regulated by inspectors from Washington?

We believe that if the provisions of the so-called "Child Labor" Amendment, soon up for ratification or rejection by the Texas Legislature, are understood by Texas parents they would not be willing to turn over to Governmental agencies the control of their children.

Texas has four times before said "No" to this measure. Our best farmers and businessmen today are those who earned money during spare-time hours and help on the farm while they were in their teens.

Write or wire your Senator at Austin to vote "No" on this measure. Do it today. Texas has a good Child Labor law. Let's enforce the law of our own State and if any of our boys and girls are unreasonably employed, let us correct it and penalize unfair employers.

Let us tell our Texas Senators we don't want to trade our boys and girls for Federal badges, to be policed by outsiders.

$73.73 INVESTMENT IN 1837 GROWS INTO $50,000,000 FARM MACHINERY ENTERPRISE: HUNDRED YEAR CONCERN STILL DIRECTED BY FOUNDER'S FAMILY

Ten years after John Deere hammered out his first self-scouring steel plow in his Grand Detour, Illinois, smithy, he moved to Moline and established the plow works pictured here. At the top is the present John Deere Plow Works, still in Moline—world's largest plow plant. Inset is a picture of Charles Deere Wiman, great grandson of the founder, and president of Deere & Company, operating eleven great plants and 55 branches, employing around 16,000 persons and producing some 600 items of farm machinery. National celebrations this year are honoring the centennial of John Deere's achievement.

MOLINE, Ill.—How $73.73 plus a frontier blacksmith shop has grown into an internationally famous $50,000,000 farm machinery organization is revealed in connection with the nationwide celebration this year honoring the memory of John Deere and commemorating the 100th anniversary of his steel plow which helped to revolutionize modern agriculture.

The growth of the business John Deere founded is the story of agriculture's development in the past century. Revolutionary improvements in the farmer's tools and mechanization of his labor methods have brought emanicpation from back-breaking drudgery while they have greatly increased the individual worker's productivity. To this development John Deere was a prime contributor.

In the village of Grand Detour, Ill., in 1837, John Deere, newly arrived from Vermont with $73.73 in his pockets fashioned his first steel plow from a broken sawmill blade. This achievement in answer to the cry of the settlers for a plow that could cope with the sticky soil of the prairies meant the successful conquest of the west and a new era for agriculture in general.

Deere's plow was an immediate success. After 10 years operation he left Grand Detour and established a plant in Moline, producing 700 plows the first year. From then on the organization enjoyed steady progress, constantly branching out until at the time of Deere's death in 1886 it was producing numerous items of farm machinery.

Today eleven great factories and 55 branch plants employing 16,000 workers in the United States and Canada stand as monuments to Deere and his accomplishments. The organization now manufactures more than 600 products, from tractors to grain elevators, from farm wagons to haying tools. On millions of farms in the United States and abroad, all the operations of agriculture are performed with implements from its factories.

The destiny of the organization from 1837 until today has been continuously directed by members of one family—a record held by few enterprises of comparable age and importance. Eight lineal descendants of John Deere are now serving the organization. Charles Deere Wiman, great grandson of the founder, and president since 1928, is the fourth of the family to hold the office.

Only 13 Failures in Texas During January

AUSTIN, Texas, March 2.—Only thirteen commercial failures occured in Texas during January, a sharp decrease from a year ago, and total liabilities of the bankrupt firms showed even a sharper percentage decline, it has been announced by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

"Reports from Dun and Bradstreet Inc., show a total of thirteen failures against 28 during January last year, a decline of 57.1 per cent," the Bureau's statement said. "Total liabilities, $56,000, were down 81 per cent from a year ago. Average liabilities per failure were $5,000, just half that of January last year.

Demo Deficit Now Said to be Wiped Out

WASHINGTON, March 1.—W. Forbes Morgan, Democratic treasurer, called the $430,000 party deficit virtually wiped out today and concenerated on plans for financing the 1938 and 1940 campaigns.

"We expect to raise at least $350,000 by the 'victory dinners' in 43 states on Thursday," he said. "Additional contributions probably will even tne books and leave a bit over before I step out as treasurer March 15."

Morgan met with Chairman James A. Farley to work out final details for the new national program by which $10,500,000 will be sought to finance local, state and presidential campaigns during the next four years.

Contribution quotas may be established on a county basis, regional and state finance directors will be appointed, and funds will be redistributed to the states and communities from a central office as needed

Morgan said 1,192 dinners would commemorate President Roosevelt's first inauguration on March 4. Up to 1,800 persons are expected to pay $100 a plate for the main dinner here, which the president will address.

Vice-President Garner will speak to the $50-a-plate dinner in New York.

Germ-Free Animals Aid to the Scientist

How They Are Reared by Notre Dame Biologist

NOTRE DAME, Ind. — Animals that never have a germ in their bodies, from birth to death, are being produced at Notre Dame university, in the laboratories of Prof. J. A. Reyniers of the biology department. This is something really new under the sun; for every animal body that walks, from that of man himself down to the lowliest ameba, is the unwitting, often unwilling host to swarms of bacteria and other micro-organisms.

Production of really germ-free animals is a matter of very great practical importance.

Animals Kept Germ Free

The problem is two-fold; the animals must be brought into the world germ-free, and they must be kept in a germ-free world once they have been born.

The first step is partly taken care of by the nature of pre-birth existence itself. The unborn young of any mammal, wrapped in their fetal membranes, are normally germ-free. During and after the process of birth they receive their first inoculations.

Professor Reyniers therefore takes the prospective mothers of his experimental animals (usually guinea pigs), shaves them, bathes them in antiapetic fluid, covers them with a sterilized envelope. Then he puts the animals into a closed horizontal cylinder that looks like a small steam boiler, known as the operating cage. Its interior has been rendered absolutely sterile, and only germ-free air is admitted.

Lubbock Methodist District Meet Here

The young people's division of the Lubbock District met at the local Methodist church, Saturday and Sunday of last week for their quarterly meeting. With an attendance of one hundred members. Supper was served to them at 6:30 Saturday evening by the ladies of the church, after which Rev. Cecil Matthews of Lubbock led in a devotional service.

After a planned recreational program the guests were shown to their places of abode during their stay in Brownfield.

The following morning at 8:30, Mr. Ralph Nance of Abilene conducted a morning watch service at which 50 of the young people were present.

Miss Dorothy Gore was in charge of the Sunday School hour and at eleven o'clock, Rev. Bredlove preached on the subject "Show Thyself A Man."

IIn the Sunday afternoon service a business meeting was held. The Rev. Jack Thompson closed the meeting with an inspirational address.

A buffet style luncheon was served Sunday at noon, by the ladies of the church.

Farm Foreclosures Still Running High

Local offices of the Resettlement Administration have received figures which show that foreclosure of farms in Texas and Oklahoma is continuing at a very high rate. Surveys in eight counties of Oklahoma showed that during the past two years there have been 395 foreclosures and sheriff's sales, or almost 50 per county. It was also estimated that 7,700 farm homes in these counties are now threatened with foreclosure, which would be an average of almost 1,000 per county. Estimates indicated that more than 75 per cent of these farms could be saved by payments of from $100 to $1,000 on their mortgage installments, interest or taxes.

In Texas the situation is equally serious. The Federal Land Bank at Houston has been forced to foreclose on 3,286 farms in Texas alone since 1930. The high point was reached, not during the years when the depression was generally considered most severe, but after recovery had started, in 1935. Farms foreclosed in Texas by the Federal Land Bank in 1935 totaled 1,009, practically ten times as many as in 1930. Even last year, the number of foreclosures was 665.

Farmers in this county threatened with foreclosure are invited to call upon the county supervisor of the Resettlement Administration. He will put them in touch with the County Debt Adjustment committee, which is composed of volunteer, nonpaid workers. This committee has no funds but acts as mediator between the debtor and creditor, and frequently brings about a settlement that is to the benefit of the creditor as well as the debtor. In one case recently reported, a creditor threatening to foreclose was persuaded to buy back the farm and pay the debtor all that the latter had put into it. Debts secured by mortgages on teams and equipment are adjusted, as well as land debts.

PLANTING PECANS AT JOHN TARLETON

STEPHENVILLE. — A pecan orchard is pretty.

It is profitable.

It is easy to keep.

It occupies little space that cannot be utilized while the trees develop.

So, at the John Tarleton College poultry plant near here a group of Tarleton agriculture students, working under the direction of Horticulture Prof. N. M. Randolph, planted a pecan orchard in an unused field. They set out 59 trees including nine varities: Burkett, Western, Schley, John Garner, San Saba Improved, Onliwon, Mahan, Jersely, Delmas, and Success. Each tree was 8 to 10 foot size.

Boys used 58 squares to plant the trees, and put a peach, plum, or persimmon tree in the center of each square. Fruit trees planted totaled 40. They will bear, wear themselves out, and die before they would crowd the devloping pecan trees. Randolph says that 60 or more fruit trees may be planted in a one and one-half acre pecan orchard.

After planting the pecan trees, Randolph showed his students how to prune them, and they placed prunings on cold storage to use as bud wood for budding native pecan trees at the Tarleton farm this spring. He says that they will prune the trees each year.

They plan to plant a cover crop among the trees and turn it under in the fall for fertilizer. For additional fertilizer they will use the waste from the Tarleton poultry plant.

Chevrolet To Soon Get to Capacity

Chevrolet is making rapid strides toward resumption of the capacity operations interrupted by the recent strike, it as announced this week at the company's offices here. All the manufacturing plants are again running, as are ten of the eleven assembly plants throughout the country, the other being scheduled for reopening within the next few days.

Those most recently returned to the active list were Baltimore, which resumed operations February 19, Buffalo and Kansas City, which opened the day previous, and Tarrytown, N. Y., and Atlanta, Ga., both of which resumed on February 22, Oakland, Calif., will reopen on February 25.

Production in all plants, it was stated, will be accelerated as fast as possible, with 6,000 units a day as the goal. This is the rate at which the company was producing cars and trucks during the two record-breaking sales months of November and December, immediately following the introduction of its 1937 line.

Orders on hand in Chevrolt dealers' establishments today company officials said, exceed 100,000. With production gaining momentum daily, however, Chevrolet expects to be in a position to make quick deliveries in the near future.

A. C. C. Speech Tournament for High Schools

ABILENE, March 3.—Third annual Abilene Christian College speech tournament for high schools will be Saturday, March 13.

High schools in 45 counties in this region have been invited to send contestants for each of the six divisions of the tournament.

The A. C. C. meet has become one of the largest competitions for high school speakers in Texas. In 1936 172 contestants entered the tournament. The county and district meets of the interscholastic league include fewer contestants than the A. C. C. meet. Interscholastic rules are followed in the tournament at Abilene Christian college. Vice-President Don H. Morris, head of the public speaking department in A. C. C.; Miss Margaret Ehresmann, director of speech arts; and John C. Stevens forensic manager will direct the tournament.

Winners of first, second and third places in each division will receive medals and scholarship awards for tuition concessions in Abilene Christian college. There will be contests in senior boys declamation, senior girls declamation, boys extemporaneous speaking, girls extemporaneous speaking, reading of poetry, and reading of short story.

Personal Magnetism

Personal magnetism is a scintific method of healing and has been practiced as far back as history dates. It is not an experiment but a natural law of healing. So we must turn the hands back on the dial of time and let nature prevail in her liberating of suffering humanity. Men have recognized the existence of this power of force and given it various names. History says this force is "Life." Physicians say it is "Thought" or Ethrlc Energy," and Phylosophy, as represented by Hubert Spencer, who says it is "An infinite energy from which all things proceed."

Man's powers may safely be called magical and measureless. Never unhave men understood the meaning of til this present twentieth century this statement. It is through advance ment in the study of the relationship between the physical and mental forces of men that the great truth is dawning upon the minds of men and women.

This is to certify that I have been associated with Dr. A. Hefner in his practice for 14 months and I do not hesitate to say that his method of treatment is a scientific method, and has cured many cases which medicine would not benefit, and I don't hesitate to recommend his treatment to all suffering humanity.

Yours respectfully,
W. J. Cummings, M. D.
Alvarado, Texas

To All Whom It May Concern:

I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Hefner, of Spur, Texas, both as a gentleman and successful masseur. I know him from personal experience and from observing his treatment of many persons suffering from many different diseases, that his treatments are wonderfully successful.

Geo. T. Wilson, Attorney,
San Angelo, Texas

To Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify that I had been in a very critical condition for four days with hemorrhage of the kidneys and high blood pressure.

My family physician said that he had done all that could be done for me, so my husband said that he would take me to Dr. Hefner the next day. I told him that if he didn't take me at once that I was so weak from loss of blood, I would never live to get to Dr. Hefner.

So they carried me to the car and started. We got to Dr. Hefner just about sundown. He gave me a treatment and stopped the hemorrhage. I slept all night and didn't hemorrhage any more. I took four weeks treatment and am well.

My advice to all who are sick is to take treatment from Dr. Hefner. What he has done for me he can do for you.

Yours truly,
Mrs. J. C. Linsley,
Swenson, Texas

Mrs. Hefner:

I take pleasure in recommending your treatment to anyone who is suffering.

I was in a very nervous and run down condition, couldn't eat anything witout suffering from gas and sour stomach. After taking 4 weeks treatment am happy to say I eat anything I want. And am not nervous anymore. To my friends who read this will say give Mrs. Hefner and son a chance and you will never try any other way, they can cure while others have failed.

FRANK NORFLEET BELIEVES AN OLD SWINDLE WILL BE SOLVED SOON

Frank Norfleet, well known throughout the South Plains and one of the earliest settlers of this section, stopped off in Littlefield Monday, enroute home from Phoenix, Arizona, and stated to the County Wide News that he has every reason to believe that a bunch of swindlers posing as oil promoters who defrauded several ranchers and cattlemen of this section, including Mr. Norfleet, of several thousand dollars has been permanently solved in the arrest of a man by name of Douglass, who was apprehended in Arizona several weeks ago.

The man is said to have broken jail shortly after his arrest, but was captured, and is now said to be in Federal Prison at Phoenix, the court having re-set his bond at $25,000.

Mr. Norfleet has been active in tracing the members of the bank whom he has reason to believe are the ones who swindled him and others out of large sums of money.

He stated that he expected to be called back to Phoenix within a few weeks, as the case would come up at the next regular term of Federal Court.—County Wide News.

FDR SIGNS BILL TO EXTEND TRADE ACT

WASHINGTON, March 1.—President Roosevelt signed today legislation extending for three years from next June 12 his authority to negotiate reciprocal trade agreements with foreign nations.

Under the new law, such agreements do not require senate ratification.

The original act, which expires on June 12, was put forward by the administration in 1934 "as a means of assisting in restoring the American standard of living," through increased foreign trade.

It, like the new law, empowers the president to raise or lower tariffs a maximum of 50 per cent.

Pacts with 16 nations already have been signed.

THE METHODIST CHURCH

The last week end was a delightful occasion with our district young people here in great numbers, an inspiring program, the finest possible co-operation with our own Brownfield people and their loyal support in the services. Naturally, the attendance at the Church School was off a little on account of so many of our people preparing to feed the guests at noon, but we had a good day, plenty to eat spiritual food as well, and everybody is happy over it. We thank our people heartily for their homes which were opened and for the fine way they entertained the delegates.

Having had no Sunday evening for three weeks, perhaps there were some who forgot that we are now having all the services of the church regularly. An Easter Sunrise Service is being talked and will probably be given on March 28, Easter Morning. Why not have a great community chorus sing "The Crucifixion" on Easter Evening? Wouldn't that be an inspiring thing?

We shall be glad to have a good attendance at the services Sunday. Come and bring your friends.

The "Methodist Messenger" will soon be placed again in every home in Brownfield. Watch for its coming. It bids fair to be a work of art in Mimeographing this month.

POOL RESIGNS AS GAINES AGENT; CLINE E. MORRIS HIS SUCCESSOR

SEMINOLE, March 1.—Lee R. Pool, who has been Gaines county agent for three years and a half, has resigned, effective today, to accept a similar post in Winkler and Loving counties.

Cline E. Morris, Borden county agent was transferred here. He was to assume his new work today. Morris was formerly in Kent county, later in Crosby and two years ago was sent to Borden county.

A floating church has been built in Argentina to carry the church to people who had difficulty in fording delta streams of the Parana river.

TO THOSE WHO CRY "DICTATORRSHIP"

President Franklin D. Roosevelt saw many of his policies meet their fate at the hands of the Supreme Court during his first administration. But the President, being a man of strong conviction and strong will, was determined that a way should be found to enact his social and economic policies into laws that would be above constitutional question.

The opposition at first thought an attempt would be made to amend the Constitution, so a great cry was made about the "sacredness" of the Constitution and of the unquestionable "wisdom" of our forefathers. But the surprise of all, Mr. Roosevelt carried the issue to the people during the campaign. He declared the present constitution was adequate, and declared a more liberal interpretation of the Constitution was needed. The people were convinced; they gave him a great vote of confidence.

Now that the President has made a proposal to appoint six new members to the court along with other proposals of reform, a great many voices are heard shouting "dictatorship."

There is no justification for such accusation, for it has been pointed out by many, the membership of the Supreme Court has varied from five to eleven members. No doubt the majority of the present membership still think as they did fifteen or twenty years ago. Governments must progress as the rest of the world does. Old men are not found making streamlined automobiles and safer airplanes, then why are they permitted to block the progress of governments?

The people have spoken. They want a more liberal interpretation of the Constitution. Social and economic life demands it. But there are those who would not permit this reform. Who can deny this right of progress? —The East Texan.

ANNOUNCES FIRESIDE CHAT FOR MARCH 9

WASHINGTON, D. C. Feb. 26.—Congress enabled six members of the Supreme Court to retire on full pay for life Friday, with leaders hopeful that thereby the unremitting strain and tension aroused by the Roosevelt court reorganization program may be materially lessened.

Although Senator Hiram Johnson (Rep.) of California, asserted that any Justice who withdraws from the court at this time will forfeit his respect, the Senate passed 76 to 4 and sent to the White House the Sumners bill permitting such voluntary retirement for Judges who are 70 and have served ten years.

At the same time, President Roosevelt, who has endorsed the measure although it was not specifically included in his court recomendations, announced a fireside radio talk for March 9. White House officials said they expect the address will include a discussion of his court proposals, which include a recommendation that one new Justice be placed on the Supreme bench for each Judge over 70 who declines to step down.

WITH YOUR ENGINE OIL-PLATED

OIL-PLATING differs widely from other forms of lubrication in this plain, understandable way: It remains lastingly fastened to the pistons, bearings and other engine parts, even when they are not in motion. This is made possible by the Germ Process—patented—which gives Conoco Germ Processed oil its strong attraction for metals, so that every working part becomes durably Oil-Plated.

Oil-Plating is not like any lubrication that merely goes on-and-off. Once Germ Processed oil covers the parts it never leaves them bare of Oil-Plating . . . Never when the pistons are racing thousands of strokes a minute . . . Never on any hills, despite any load . . . Never while you park at a dozen different stores.

So it's nothing to you, when engineers blame more than half of all engine wear on so-called "dry starting." Nor need you worry over all the rest of the annual Spring oil scare. Whether your car is new or old, you can make your longer runs . . . hit your higher speeds . . . enjoy your hotter sunshine. Oil-Plating can take it like the longest-lasting part of your engine. For Oil-Plating really becomes a long-lasting part of your engine, as you change to long-lasting Conoco Germ Processed oil. Continental Oil Company

Kitchen Planning Is Easy!

WOULD you like to have your old kitchen remodeled as attractively as this? To change it is not as difficult as you would suppose.

Kitchen specialists make plans on paper. So why shouldn't you? Draw the room floor measurements on a sheet of paper to show the position and size of windows and doors. Then cut paper and fold it in squares to represent new equipment which may be moved about until you find the most convenient positions that make for efficiency.

Since the modern automatic g range, refrigerator and sink constitute the three important work centers, they should be placed to take advantage of the room plan, and united by means of storage cabinets and work tops. The continuous working surface is an ideal way to draw these three units into a circle, each of them at equal distances from one another if possible.

Valuable suggestions and novel arrangements are to be found in kitchen illustrations shown in magazines, advertisements and newspapers.
