

County Wheat Allotment Set At 25,813 Acres

Collingsworth county's wheat allotment for 1959 has been set at 25,813 acres. Millard Brown, office manager for the county ASC office has announced.

This is acres under the 1958 allotment.

Years now included in the history on which the wheat allotments are based are 1957, 1956, 1955 and 1954. During that period, there was an average of 37,807 acres planted. The 1959 acreage represents approximately 68 per cent of the average planted in those years.

Brown also warned that farmers wanting new grower allotments must make application for them before July 1. These allotments must be had by anyone who has not planted wheat within the last 3 years.

Funeral Services For Royce Daves Held Thursday

Funeral services for Royce Daves, 38, were held Thursday, June 12, at the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Russell Pogue, pastor, officiating.

Mr. Daves died Wednesday, June 11, of injuries received when he came in contact with a 440 volt electric wire while checking installations in the Frazier Elevator near Groom, and fell 20 feet onto a concrete floor. His death came in the Groom hospital.

Gathering to pay final tribute were friends from throughout the area served by the Greenbelt Rural Electric Co-operative, Inc., of which Mr. Daves was line superintendent.

Pall bearers were men with whom he worked: Bill Land, Dick Pendleton, Ted Brock, Gene Waters, George Henry, Horace Small, Curtis Wyatt, Vesta Lee Orr, Glenn Sanders and Freddie Maxwell.

The woman was fined $50 in county court and sentenced to 30 days in jail. Her sentence was probated for six months.

Thomas, who received two stab wounds in the left shoulder, was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital and released, Hodge said.

The Commissioners Court in a meeting Monday, June 9, agreed to continue the Surplus Commodities program through August, when the program normally would expire, County Judge R. L. Templeton announced.

A considerable part of the meeting was given over to road problems and to budget items.

In orders pertaining to the roads, the court agreed to move a barn on land owned by P. E. Starr in the Aberdeen community in securing the right-of-way for a farm-to-market road; agreed to pay for moving REA poles and instructed county attorney Paul Spillman to file necessary proceedings to open the road known as the Parrish road on the boundary between Precincts 2 and 4 in the north part of the county.

Taking up budgetary items, the commissioners passed an order

Petition Asks for Organization Of Water Control District

The Collingsworth county water authority is circulating petitions for the formation of the Collingsworth County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1, and these will be presented to the Commissioners Court Monday, June 23. This is the first step toward securing a dam across Salt Fork River in Collingsworth County.

The petitions were drawn by the board of directors of the water authority Monday, June 16, and followed a conference in Dallas Friday between representatives of the water authority and A. H. Wolverton, engineer, and Mr. Wolverton's trip here to pick a tentative dam site on Salt Fork River Saturday.

Charles Allen, president of the Collingsworth County Water Authority, said following the Monday meeting, that the purpose is the development of water resources of the county as a whole, with a dam across Salt Fork in Collingsworth County as the first project.

Dam Site

A tentative dam site approved by Wolverton Saturday is 8 1/2 miles down the river from where Highway 83 crosses Salt Fork River north of Wellington, but the final location will rest with engineers the proposed water district would hire.

A dam across Salt Fork at this point would be approximately 4,500 feet in length with height of 80 feet.

It would back up a lake of approximately 4,000 surface acres, extending up Salt Fork eight miles, Allen said. Such a lake would be one and three-fourths the size of Lugert, according to Paul Spillman, attorney for the Collingsworth County Water Authority.

Purposes

Purposes of the proposed Collingsworth County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 as set forth in the petition are:

- (1) For the conservation and development of water of Salt Fork as it is situated in Collingsworth county including the control, storing, preservation and distribution of its storm and flood waters.
- (2) For irrigation.
- (3) For power and other useful purposes.
- (4) For the preservation and conservation of all water resources of Collingsworth county.
- (5) To furnish water for industrial purposes.
- (6) For recreation and wildlife conservation.

Watershed

The proposed district would cover all of Collingsworth county, 585,162.61 acres.

The watershed itself would cover approximately 260,000 acres, according to Spillman. Most of this would come from the north part of Collingsworth county, but some water would originate in streams rising in Wheeler and Donley counties.

This dam does not conflict with the proposed Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority dam sought just west of the Donley county line, and the dam sought by the local group would impound only excess waters from the Greenbelt dam, and water coming within the original water rights of Collingsworth county, which are still intact.

Directors of the Collingsworth county Water Authority said they expected action on the petition by the commissioners court Monday. With this in mind, the following tentative time table has been set up.

June 23: The petition will be filed with the county clerk, the county judge will sign the order for a hearing and the county clerk will issue notice of the hearing.

July 18: Hearing before the commissioners court, formation of the district by the commissioners court; appointment of directors and officers by the court; calling a confirmation election and giving notice of the same.

August 23: confirmation election, at the same time as the second Democratic Primary.

Such a confirmation election does not authorize the sale of any bonds or issuance of any taxes, or any other action that would cost the taxpayers any money, Spillman pointed out. The confirmation election only makes legal the organization of the district.

City Picked for Soil Awards Banquet in 1959

Wellington has been selected as the host town for the 1959 Save the Soil and Save Texas Awards Banquet, when men who have done an outstanding job of soil conservation in the 51 Panhandle and West Texas counties will be honored.

Notice of the selection came to John Robert Henard, chairman of the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District, from Marvin Garrett, director of the Fort Worth Press, which sponsors the Save the Soil state-wide program.

Although co-operators of Salt Fork SCD and the district itself have probably won more soil conservation awards than any other district in Texas, this is the first time it has played host to an event of this size.

The awards banquet here will be one of five held throughout the state next May and the exact date will be announced later.

In recent years, the Awards banquet have been held at Quanah, Hereford, Dalhart, and this year at Littlefield.

Present plans are to have the awards program in the community building, and many local civic groups will be called on to help with the event, Henard said.

J. E. Stinson, Pioneer Carl Farmer, Dies

J. E. Stinson, 84, who homesteaded in the Oklahoma strip northwest of Vinson 60 years ago, died at his home on that same farm Tuesday, June 10. He had been in failing health for several years, but was confined to his home only a short time.

Settling in the area when it was Greer County, he had seen the subsequent changes of boundaries place his farm in three counties and two states.

A successful stock farmer, he was active in the development of the Carl community.

James Edward Stinson was born March 13, 1873, at Livingston, Tenn. He came here from Ardmore, Indian Territory.

Driver Crashes Into Parked Car

A car driven by Joe Chambers, colored, crashed into a parked car at Leroy Brinkley's service station Sunday, June 15, at 12:30 p. m. badly damaging both vehicles, Police Chief Jack Brisbin reported.

The Brinkley car, a 1956 Chevrolet, was parked off the highway in front of the station, while Chambers, in a 1953 Ford, started to turn into the station driveway. Traveling at about 45 miles per hour, he skidded the car only 30 feet before hitting the back of the parked Chevrolet, Chief Brisbin said.

Neither Chambers nor Albert Cooper, riding with him, were injured.

LOOKING AHEAD

by Dr. George S. Benson

TO STRENGTHEN AMERICA'S DEFENSE

For several years I have urged on every appropriate occasion that our national defense be more closely organized and more effectively controlled in order to save manpower, American dollars, and to meet the demands of the atomic age. President Eisenhower and the new Secretary of Defense, Neil McElroy, have announced a bold, aggressive reorganizational program which no doubt would be a great and overdue forward step.

Following are paragraphs from a recent speech by Secretary McElroy in which he defines the purposes to be accomplished by this reorganization. His arguments are given to the readers of this column in his own words as follows:

Streamlining Needed

"The proposed changes would clear command channels so that orders will proceed directly to unified commands from the Commander-in-Chief and the Secretary of Defense through the Joint Chiefs of Staff which would add an operations section for this purpose. As we go into a period when a potential enemy may have operational long range missiles in substantial quantities, our reaction time must be measured in minutes instead of hours.

"I am informed that in every war this nation has fought in the last century, we have had to change our military organization after war has started. We no longer have time in which to change command lines or to shift from a peace-time to a wartime organization. Any such shift must be made now. Under the new recommendation, orders would go from the President as Commander-in-Chief to the Secretary of Defense, through the unified command without the intermediate step which now interposes one of the departments as executive agent between the Commander-in-Chief and the United Commander.

"The organization of the Joint Chiefs of Staff will be strengthened to provide the President and the Secretary of Defense with the professional assistance they must have for strategic planning and for the operational direction of our combat commands.

Cutting Through Red Tape

"The present Joint Staff is handicapped by a rather cumbersome committee system which acts on documents before they are reviewed by the Joint Chiefs themselves. This committee system is being eliminated and an integrated Operations Division will be added to the Joint Staff to provide the operational assistance necessary for the strategic direction of the unified commands. The important matters now constantly requiring the attention of the members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff demand so much of their time that they must be permitted to delegate major portions of their service responsibilities as Joint Chiefs of Staff, which would constitute their principal function.

"The three military departments would of course be continued as the major operating divisions within the Department of Defense to perform the vast and important management, budgeting, research, personnel administration, training and logistic functions of the Department. Their responsibility would encompass many and complex activities that support the unified commands.

Clearly Defined Authority

"The proposed reorganization would also make clearer the authority of the Secretary of Defense. The National Security Act gives the Secretary 'direction, authority and control' over his entire department. But at the same time this law provides that the military departments are to be 'separately administered' by their respective secretaries. The President has recommended eliminating the provisions prescribing separate administrations of the military departments as a means of reducing needless argument which adds to the difficulty of administering the department."

The Wellington Leader's Future Farmer, Max Courtney, passing out cigars. His mamma pig had 10 little pigs. . . . And another Leader staffer Don Wheeler has gone to war. Normally a printer, he's cook for the National Guard company. This does his wife Alta no good whatsoever. "I can't cook for two," he explains. "I can just cook things by the tubfull."

Roberta Posey in to buy writing supplies the day before starting on her tour of Southeast Asia. She'll send home a day to day account of the trip, and this will be incorporated in a National Geographic Magazine article. National Geographic also sent along one of its Lica cameras and plenty of film. Roberta has completed most of her work for a doctor's degree at the University of Oklahoma, yet when she comes home wearing her full-skirted petticoated dresses, she looks young enough to be a high school girl. The group on the Asian tour is limited to 20 pounds of luggage, but Roberta is taking a petticoat in spite of this. "I'm starting with it — I may have to drop it in the ocean, but I'm starting with it," she declared.

Pee Wee baseballers are the most efficient money collectors we've had come by, and certainly the most entertaining. In The Leader were Newell Squyres, Gary Patrick, Larry Henard and Larry Branch. While waiting for their check, they compared themselves to Mickey Mantle. One of the group had the same number, another came to bat in the same order as Mantle.

Faye Duncan talking enthusiastically of her new sister-in-law, Joe Lynn's Kay. "She was as pretty as a doll in her wedding dress,"

Letters from the People

Dear Deck, Virginia and Leader Staff:

I would like to renew our subscription to The Leader for O. O. Graham. This is part of his Father's Day gift each year. There is method in my madness because I read it each week, too. We look forward to each addition even though there are so many new people there now.

Would someone please drop me a note, the exact date of Homecoming this year. I sure plan on being there this time. John's vacation will start August 8th but need to know so he can change it if we are wrong. Thanks and hope to see you all in August.

CROSSROADS

* REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where a Mr. Sarnoff, who runs a little radio and TV business, says some day we may get electronic lungs, hearts, kidneys, etc., to replace our original equipment when it peters out.

My skeptic neighbor says it will be nice if a man gets to feeling under the weather and he can just phone in an order for, say, a new late model electronic liver.

But he says we better learn to watch these replacement organs, as he feels it must have been some electronic brain with a bad tube which inflicted us with this Purple People Eater song.

I note that many communities have been busy rigging up recreational centers and stuff to keep their kids occupied and out of devilment this summer.

Some places where folks are neglecting their duty in this matter, many of their juveniles won't be able to find anything to do but work.

Which, my crusty neighbor says is liable to get them in the habit of being useful and carrying their own weight, and this will make them practically unfit for modern society.

Seems that one reason Congress is holding back from voting Alaska in as a state is they can't think of how to place 49 stars on the flag.

My helpful neighbor says that if the Alaskans will just wait around, some district will some day accidentally send a man to Congress who knows that 7 x 7 is 49.

But he recommends just giving Alaska back to the Russians so as to take this load off of official minds, and then they can put in full time on really vital matters like how much money is DeGaulle going to need.

Deck's Didactics — Paul Hardy was in Wellington last week visiting friends and relatives. This brings to mind the time when he and Sheriff George Corry were kidnapped by Bonnie Parker and Clyde Barrow. Bonnie and Clyde wrecked their car as they went over the embankment of the Salt Fork bridge — the road was there but the bridge had not been started. The bandits made their way to a nearby farm house and took over; but one man slipped away and notified the officials. When the law arrived they were taken in charge by Clyde and Bonnie, who took the farmer's car, loaded the officers in it and took them for a ride on Highway 66. After debating about killing them, the criminals decided to leave them behind and tied them to a fence with barbed wire where they were found the next morning.

It's Our Danger Season for Fire Losses

Most of the danger of fire to the county's dead-ripe wheat crop is past by now, but much of the grass outside of lawns is dry as a tinder-box . . . right for fire.

The Wellington volunteer fire department during the past two weeks has made more calls than for any similar period in our memory. It is our extreme good fortune that these have been small fires. Any one of them could have been a disastrous loss.

Part of these, firemen tell us, have been set by well-intentioned property owners seeking to eliminate a fire hazard by burning off their yard or lot. As much dead vegetation as there is, it is no matter at all for such a fire to get out of hand and a call to the fire department is the next step.

It has always been the policy of the Wellington Fire Department to help property owners burn off their lots and yards. A telephone call will bring a man and one of the fire trucks to help you keep your fire where you want it.

Fire brings the most irreplaceable loss of possessions possible. Valuables and property accumulated through the years cannot be replaced. Insurance may cover the monetary loss, but it cannot replace family treasures whose value is in the sentiment they hold.

Certainly to be commended is Wellington's fire department, from its chief, who is president of the Panhandle Firemen's Association, down to its newest recruit. It is doubtful if there has ever been a fire that came at a convenient time for these men, but they have responded more unselfishly than most of us would.

We owe it to ourselves and to these men who stand for our protection to be specially careful this year that our property may not become a fire statistic.

Rights of Mentally Ill Must Not Be Lost While Trying to Help Them

Encouraging progress is being made in all phases of mental health. Facilities and personnel are being expanded to meet the advances made by medical science in treating, and in many cases, restoring to good health the mentally ill. The public has been made aware of how much can be done to cure mental illness.

Legislation is an important factor. Most states have outmoded laws, which made it difficult for the mentally ill persons to get proper treatment and to be able to avail himself of his legal rights when he was cured. In the last few years, many states have passed remedial legislation. In Texas a new mental health code became effective last January 1.

One part of the new code has been declared unconstitutional by the 10th Court of Civil Appeals in Waco. The court held that the state constitution's guarantee of trial by jury is violated by that portion of the code which denies a jury trial for a mental health patient seeking legal recognition that his sanity has been restored. The case probably will go before the Texas Supreme Court on appeal.

The ban on jury trials in committing and releasing mentally ill persons was debated long and heatedly in the Legislature when the mental code was being considered. Proponents argued that they wanted to take the appearance of a criminal proceeding away from mental health cases. Opponents contended that it is dangerous to take away the right of trial by jury for any citizen even if he is or has been mentally ill. They claimed the provisions could be used to abuse the mentally ill, by members of a family which wanted to get the ill person's property or for other reasons.

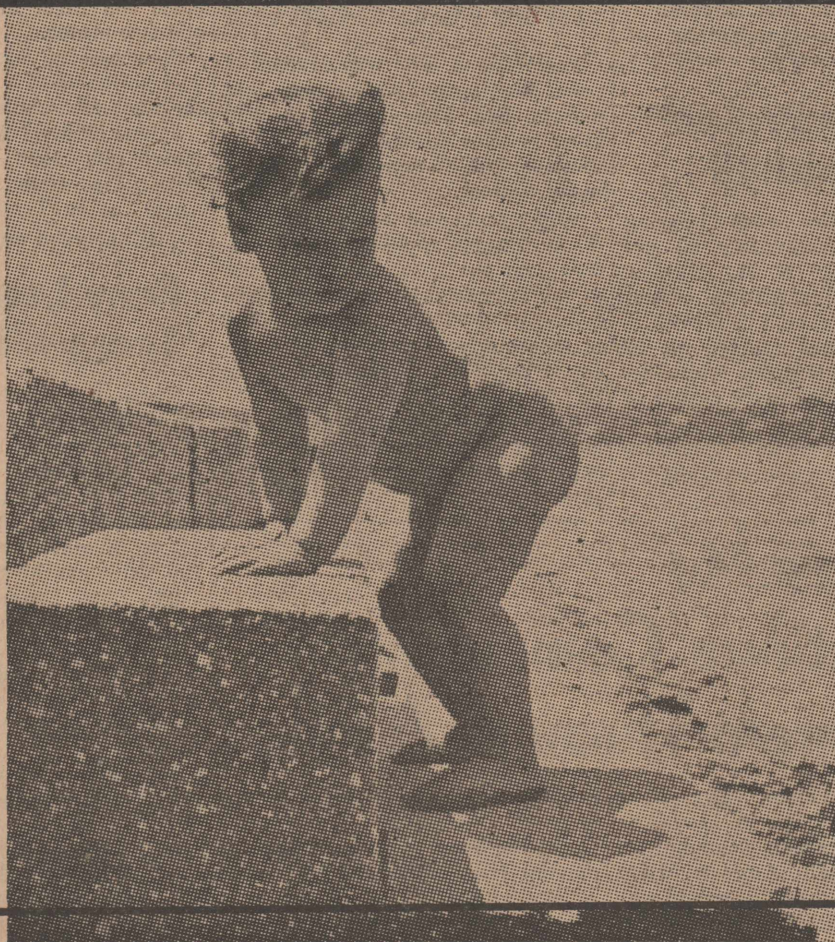

The Waco case, regardless of its final determination, illustrates the difficulty in trying to protect the mentally ill as far as possible without infringing on their rights. It is a point which must be kept constantly foremost in mind as the campaign to improve mental health grows.

Zeal to do good often has some bad effects if it is not contained within thoughtful bounds. The mental health campaign has a splendid objective. But the rights of the mentally ill must be carefully safeguarded throughout the improvement process.—The Houston Chronicle.

Remember
first great adventure?

"Freedom is a woman"

Electricity costs so little—you can afford to use lots of it!

With full heart and watchful eyes you helped him enjoy his very first taste of independence.

And how proud you were when he achieved his goal, all by himself, and then, laughing, ran to your waiting arms to share his triumph with you!

Nothing you can give your child is half so precious as this wonderful opportunity to be himself. All through life you want him to be free to choose his way.

That's why it's so important to be on the watch for ideas or ideologies that could set limits to his independence. The idea, for instance, that government should own and run more and more businesses, services, institutions. Don't forget that when government runs more and more things, the individual has less and less freedom and independence!

Think of your son's first "independence day" when you hear talk like that. Point out that in countries where government does control almost everything, the individual is controlled, also. And the loss of anybody's independence is a threat to everybody's freedom.

Very much aware of this danger are the independent electric light and power companies, because government already runs part of the electric business. And powerful people are pressing to take over more.

Guard Unit Training Under Way at Hood

NORTH FORT HOOD — The Wellington unit of the famous Infantry Division, Texas National Guard are getting into the full swing of their two week encampment at North Fort Hood, Texas. This unit is Medical Company, Commanded by Lt. Colonel D. V. Watkins.

Colonel Everett S. Simpson, commander of the 42nd Infantry Regiment stated today that the 36th Division of which the 142nd Infantry Regiment is a part, is the first National Guard division to undergo basic combat training during peacetime. Colonel Simpson went on to say that perhaps the most outstanding thing, is the spirit and enthusiasm in the training. Comment from the enlisted men indicate that they are actually learning more in this camp than at any previous time. On the whole the men are working longer hours, but their morale remained at a high point.

The unit of Medical Company are understanding the training with ease, considering that the men must climatize themselves to the very warm and humid central Texas region.

This year has been unique in that all officers and enlisted men must complete basic combat training if they have not had prior service. This basic training is given in addition to their regular duties.

The 36th Division operates as a team and every member is assigned specific duties in the team. For instance, a cook, who must cook all the meals for the men, plus going to the field and participating in this basic training.

On some days, the men in the unit will get up at 5:00 A. M., and with only the regular break time, will train until 1:00 a. m., the following morning. Even though the training is hard, and their duties have been doubled, the men seem to realize that after completing this camp they will be the best qualified combat soldiers ever to complete a National Guard summer encampment during peacetime.

The members of the Wellington unit arrived at North Fort Hood, Sunday, June 9th and will return to their homes Sunday, June 22, 1958.

McIlhany Cited For Outstanding Work for Farmers

The agriculture committee of the Wheeler Chamber of Commerce is planning a special Appreciation Banquet for State Representative Grainger McIlhany. The committee plans to present McIlhany with an award for the most outstanding contribution to agriculture to Wheeler County during 1957.

The banquet has been set for June 17, at 8:00 p. m., in the American Legion Building. Tom Britt, Wheeler rancher will be the speaker for the evening and Watson Burgess, Chamber President, will act as Master of Ceremonies.

James Verden, chairman of the Agriculture Committee said the special banquet was planned because of McIlhany's "outstanding contribution in agriculture and his untiring efforts in helping area farmers and ranchers. A "straw vote" over the entire county indicated McIlhany was the choice, Verden said.

The agriculture committee appointed R. J. Holt Jr., chairman, David Britt, Clarence Zybach, Benjie Slegel, and Harry Wofford, as committeemen, to be in charge of ticket sales for the banquet. Tickets will sell for $2.00 each.

This will be a ladies night banquet and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Some of Rep. McIlhany's contributions to agriculture include: Sponsorship of the fund raising program for crow eradication; he authored the bill sponsoring on-the-farm crop demonstrations, a program which is currently being carried on in Hall and Collingsworth Counties and has just recently been introduced into Wheeler County.

For several sessions McIlhany has served on the livestock and agriculture committees in the state legislature. These committees serve as a clearing house for all agricultural legislation.

He authored the feed control law which guarantees the quality of feed. During the last session of the legislature he sponsored a bill which increased the funds available for agriculture extension work, he also authored the legislation which made more funds available for agriculture experiment stations.

He was co-author of the bill which set up the present law in regard to eradication of bangs disease in dairy cattle. Rep. McIlhany was one of the first planners of our present program of water conservation financing, a program which is self-supporting and does not cost any tax dollars. He is a co-author of the Colson-Briscoe act which provides for building and maintaining the state's rural roads, and he authored the first Herbicide law which was passed in 1951.

Mrs. Jules Boverie left Wednesday for Lubbock, where she was joined by Mrs. Loyce Watson. The two will visit in California, Oregon and Washington. From Spokane, Wash., they plan to go into Canada for a tour, before returning to Lubbock.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL KIRKLAND

Miss Hannah Clark and Michael Kirkland Marry in Ceremony at Hollis

Elegance combined with simplicity marked the wedding of Miss Hannah Clark and Michael Kirkland, which was solemnized in Hollis on Saturday, May 24, at 8 p. m., in the Hollis Methodist Church.

Rev. Clarence M. Ball read the impressive double ring ceremony before the altar, which was flanked by seven-branched candelabra, baskets of white gladioli and palm greenery.

White satin bows caught additional sprigs of greenery at pew caps.

Miss Kay Kirkland, sister of the groom sang "Because" and "Bless This House".

The bride entered on the arm of her father, Granville Clark, as the traditional wedding music was played on the organ by Miss Dajuana Green.

The bride's dress was of white eyelet embroidered organza with boat neckline, shirred sleeves, and over-flounce of the same material, cascading over a full-waltz-length skirt. Her elbow length veil of tulle was caught with a tiara encrusted with seed pearls and sequins.

The bridal bouquet was of pink sweetheart roses.

Miss Theda Neal, bridesmaid, wore a pink eyelet embroidered batiste dress with overskirt and used white accessories. She wore a picture hat of net and carried pink carnations clustered on a white lace fan.

The groom was attended by Jerry Bryant of Morton, Texas, his cousin. Ushers were Daryl Neal and Pete Osborn of Hollis.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Clark, wore a navy lace dress with white accessories and white carnation corsage. Mother of the groom, Mrs. Leroy Kirkland, wore a dress of toast lace with matching hat, white accessories and wore a white carnation corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors.

Miss Carol Crabb registered guests; Mrs. A. J. Boles Jr., sister of the bride, served the tiered wedding cake and Miss Kirkland poured. Incidental music was played by Miss Green.

The refreshment table was covered with a beautiful cloth of pink

Pamper Your Personal Prosperity

with Growth Vitamin "$"

Every drop of water, every bit of fertilizer that you put on a growing plant is returned to you in value . . . increased many times.

And every dollar spent at home instead of in some other community . . . promotes the growth and luxuriance of your own little personal prosperity tree.

Trade in Wellington

... where your trade prospers
your own economy

We don't expect the neighbors to mow our grass, water and weed our gardens, so we won't have to be bothered with it. But a lot of us expect somebody else to do all of the trading at home that it takes to support and improve our jobs, our businesses, our schools, churches, and other community helps to a richer life.

Trouble is . . . a lot of them are expecting us to keep the ball rolling while they go city-shopping.

Let's . . . every one of us . . . remember that loyalty to our home community is merely loyalty to our own economic welfare . . . that scattering our buying power leaves our own prosperity plant with less nourishment.

DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The wheat crop is setting an all time record for yield per acre. The total will not be known until next week or later, but it will be tremendous. Warrick has wheat piled in the street and Singley has the suction way of the Tindall Gin piled high with barley. Over 800 cars of wheat have been sent out over the Denver. However, a large part of this came from Oklahoma via the Katy. There has not been so much switch engine activity in Wellington since World War I.

Soil Bank payments will start rolling in soon. There will be more money changing hands than at any time in recent summers. And besides that we are going to make the biggest fruit crop in years.

The grasshopper threat continues to be a problem. Now that the wheat has been cut and the grass is drying the pests are moving to greener plants such as cotton and maize. The hoppers are also prevalent in town despite the repeated spraying that has been done by the city.

Here is a letter about cows standing guard over the calves. Dear Sir:

I have just read your comment or question in the Amarillo paper as I grew up on the R—range in Howard Co., Texas. Well, I was only four years old when we settled there. I would often sit out front of the half dugout and watch the wild cattle as they would go for water. We lived on a creek 1 mile from the watering place. I have often seen as many as 100 head of young calves, well, I didn't count them out but it did seem to be that many to me, a small boy. The cows would leave the young calves in the brush and in the shade of trees until they went on for water and several cows would often stay with the calves and as I remember the older ones. Maybe ones with the youngest calves but as a rule the young cows went on for water first and I have always noticed that a fat cow either old or young would care for and be more foolish over a young calf and would stay near them until they got older. The cow you saw may have been full of both water and grass, was the reason she was with a bunch of calves. Now the cattlemen of today may have different ideas of that. I do notice the older milk cows

Remodeling Now
Completed by Eli
Wolf Insurance

Eli Wolf recently completed the remodeling of his insurance building at the corner of 8th and Arlington Streets.

Formerly a service station, the drive-way was enclosed and the southwestern Spanish lines of the white stuccoed building were retained. The theme was carried out in the new section of the interior, which was finished in a pastel pink shade. Wooden bookshelves on either side of a large window add a decorator touch.

Wolf's building even has an enclosed back yard. Small trees and shrubs have been set out, and within a few years, these will provide ample shade for the outside lounge plans.

Wolf's business, in addition to all types of insurance, includes both bonds and loans, and in each of these, he is associated with outstanding companies of the nation. Miss Patsy Falk is associated with him as office manager.

Group Attends
Daniel Dinner

Nine Wellington men were in Plainview Monday night, June 14, to attend the dinner honoring Governor Price Daniel.

During his talk, the Governor urged that the precinct and county Democratic conventions be held and attended, and that delegates be elected to support the state Democratic Executive Committee.

Going from here were county Democratic chairman L. B. Bratten, Bennett Goodloe, M. L. Burks, the Rev. Anthony Thibodeaux, Judge Luther Gribble, James Richardson, Judge R. L. Templeton, George Shadid and N. M. Higdon.

Pastor Lists
Sermon Topic

The Rev. Anthony Thibodeaux has announced that his sermon topic for Sunday night, June 22, will be "Which Day Should Christians Worship On".

He is preaching this, he said, by popular request.

Rev. Thibodeaux also announced the reorganization of the adult classes in which the men and women now attend separate classes. Teaching in the men's class in the fellowship center is D. E. Scott, while Rev. Thibodeaux has the women's class in the church.

Teachers Attend
Art Workshop

Four local teachers last week attended a workshop for art instructors at Southwestern State College, Weatherford, Oklahoma.

The group included Miss Bonnie Willis, supervisor of Hall county schools; Miss Sara Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Word of the Wellington schools.

Visiting in the D. E. Fulton home over the weekend were Ralph Fulton from Arlington; Quince Fulton; Mrs. Monte Davis and Robert Fulton of Ft. Worth.

Sylvia Ann Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buck Carter of Amarillo, is here visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Yarbrough and other relatives.

Perfect Attendance—Almost

This brother and sister team had an almost-perfect attendance record in Wellington elementary school. Jackie Hunt, 9, completed the third grade, and during the first two years did not miss a day. This year, he had to miss one-half day. His 10-year-old sister, Vicky, completed the fourth grade, and her attendance record is perfect. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hunt.

1957 Cotton
Loans Mature
On July First

Farmers of the county were reminded this week that all 1957 cotton loans mature on July 31. Producers may sell their equity in the loan cotton or redeem it from the loan prior to the maturity date and sell it on the open market, Millard Brown, county ASC office manager, said this week.

He also announced that measuring cotton and other base crops for all soil bank farms begins the latter part of the month. The farm operator is responsible for assisting the reporter with the measurements.

He also pointed out that any cotton which was destroyed and planted to other crops must be reported so credit can be given for all cotton acreage planted up to the allotment.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McBride on Fathers Day were their four daughters and families: Mrs. Harry Matthews and children, Nanette Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Travis Matthews, and Julie Ann, a great grand daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McBride; also Mr. and Mrs. Harold McGinnis and Dale, Mr. and Mrs. Alma Lundegreen of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Mann of Clarendon.

Young Baseball
Players Collect
$222 for Uniforms

Little Leaguers and Pee Wee baseball players canvassed the town Wednesday, June 11, and collected $222.73 to buy baseball uniforms and other equipment.

With equipment already on hand, it will put in uniform every boy from 8 to 14 in Wellington who has indicated so far he wants a part in Kid Baseball this summer.

More than 80 boys have come out for Pony League, Little League and Pee Wee baseball, Judge R. L. Templeton said, the largest number ever to report.

Panhandle Men
Visit Wellington's
Housing Project

Three commissioners from the Panhandle Housing Authority were in Wellington Tuesday, June 17, to inspect the Wellington housing units now under construction. The group talked with N. M. Higdon chairman of the Wellington Housing Authority, and with contractors regarding the work.

The visitors were M. G. Davis, chairman of the Panhandle authority; F. F. Ferrell, vice chairman; and L. C. Curtis, commissioner. Panhandle has been approved for 10 units.

Bakersfield, Cal.

Dr. Ansel McDowell Jr., will begin a general surgery residency at Kern County General Hospital in Bakersfield, Calif., July 1. He is now in general practice with Dr. Paul Spring and Dr. Lee Spring at the Parmer County Clinic in Friona.

He, his wife and small daughters, Marian and Linda, have lived there since his release from the Navy in January.

Dr. McDowell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ansel McDowell, now of Hereford. He is a graduate of Wellington high school, the University of Texas, Austin, and the University of Texas Medical School at Galveston in 1955. He completed his internship at U. S. In still another emergency item, the court noted that it did not anticipate the heavy expense for petitioners in district and county court, and transferred $800 to the fund from the former court and $300 to latter.

Another order corrected an oversight from a January meeting transferring $2,100 from the general fund to the fund to pay for deputy hire in the office of the tax assessor-collector.

In the remaining orders, Betty White, county clerk, was instructed to charge 50c a surch on chattel mortgages from the ASC office, with the money to go in the office's salary funds. The Well-

Be Sure

Perhaps one of the most heartening signs of the forward march of civilization—and morality—may be seen in the changed relations between buyers and sellers of goods of all kind.

In former times, only the seller of goods was protected by the law. The prevailing attitude then was expressed in the fat: Caveat emptor — let the buyer beware.

Today—and happy so for both the buyer and the seller—the situation is very different. Thus, for example, when you make a purchase at your neighborhood pharmacy, you may do so with complete confidence. You may feel secure in the certain knowledge that a vast complex of agencies—including Medicine, Research, Government and Your Pharmacist — have combined to guarantee that the buyer may be sure.

The Leader Store

Love

It seems this girl was so cr-r-azy about the service she got from her Phillips 66 Dealer that she'd buy only one gallon of Flite-Fuel at a time... just so she'd have an excuse to come back oftener.

It was rather trying for this Phillips 66 Dealer, considering all the free services he provides for every customer on every visit. Brushing out inside the car, for example. Cleaning the windows all around. Checking the tires, battery, and radiator.

It turned out just about as you'd expect. Such an obliging fellow, she decided, would be a handy man around the house. So she hooked him.

The trouble is, of course, that most Phillips 66 Dealers are so dedicated to their jobs that household chores get short shrift. No moral here for wives. Obvious moral for motorists:

26th Annual Reunion

Vinson Alumni Elect Altus Man President

The 26th Annual Vinson High School Alumni reunion was held June 7, in the school cafeteria with approximately 100 present.

Officers were president, Bill Holder, Hollis; vice-president, Kenneth Kromer, Vinson; secretary, Wanda Odom, Vinson.

The theme was we, ern. School girls dressed in western togs sang songs of the range.

The music was played thru the banquet by Mrs. Edd Dudesk of Hollis, Okla.

Pearson Moss of Elk City gave the welcome address; response was by Donna Sherrill, a 1958 graduate. Donna also received the alumni award which is given each year to the outstanding senior of that particular class.

J. L. Smith of Tulsa was master of ceremonies. He and Mrs. Smith taught in the schools here in the early '40's. Since that time they have taught in Colorado and also in America. At the present time they are employed by a chemical company in Tulsa. He and Mrs. Smith teach in Norman school. Their son Ted is a freshman at Oklahoma State. Their daughter is 10 years old.

Officers elected for 1959 were Raynald Barnett, Altus, president; Clyde Orban, Hollis, vice president; Gaye Seddon, Hollis, secretary. In the business meeting, it was decided to set the future date for the alumni to be on Saturday night before Easter Sunday. Also the meal will be served cafeteria style next year.

Out of town guests coming from a distance for the Alumni banquet were: Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Smith, Tulsa; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Best, Sulphur, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Pearson Moss, Elk City; Louise Foley, Finney, Calif.; Durwood Balding, Ft. Worth; Zaney Mary Talkington, Calif.; Ira Burna, Dallas; Patsey Burnes Smith, Amarillo; Glenda Smith, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Olen Weldon, Perryton; Mrs. Jessie Virginia, Casey Howell, Oklahoma City; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Myers, Muskogee, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Chamber Jr., Beth El, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. James Lee Freeze, Brownfield, Texas.

At one time Sir Winston Churchill held a union card as a qualified bricklayer.

Wins Alumni Award

Donna Sherrill received the Vinson Alumni Association's annual award to the outstanding graduate of the current year when that group held its reunion Saturday June 7.

C-C Names New Directors, Plans Study Course

Directors of the Wellington Chamber of Commerce meeting Thursday, June 5, announced four new directors and laid the initial plans for the course in human relations to be offered supervisors, managers, business owners and owners and employees in August.

Directors elected by the membership for 2 year terms were George Henry, named for a second term, Charles Allen and L. B. Bratten. The latter two replace M. W. Stengel and Eldon Holley.

Holley was then named a director to replace Ed Miller, who moved to Pampa. This appointment is effective July 1, and the term runs until January 1, 1960, president Fred Squyres said.

The human relations course will be August 11 to 14, conducted by Mrs. Mary Frances Bowden, specialist in supervisory and management training, division of extension, the University of Texas.

Topics covered will be understanding people, treating people as individuals, handling human relations problems, and talking with employees.

The course has an enrollment fee of $3.00 per person and will be held at the court house from 7 to 9:30 p. m. on each of the four days.
