Expenditure Of $650,000 Planned For Dormitories Here

Knapp Details Building Plan At Texas Tech

Funds For Construction Will Be Asked Of Public Works; Two Dormitories Would House 300 Students Each

Modern Structures

Outright Donation Of 30 Per Cent Expected With School To Pay Remainder Over Period Of 30 Years

PLANS for two dormitories, funds for the construction of which Texas Technological college hopes can be obtained from the Public Works administration, were outlined yesterday by President Bradford Knapp. The institution has applied to the administration for a loan of $650,000.

The proposed dormitories, one for boys and one for girls, will house 300 students each. The main front of the dormitories is to be 210 feet long with an L running back 152 feet from one end. They will be four stories high.

One Fully Equipped

The buildings will front toward the extension of Broadway into the campus, the boys' unit being located in the area north of the Broadway extension and the girls' dormitory south, near the practice home and the home economics building. Each dormitory is estimated to cost $325,000, fully equipped with dining room, kitchen, supply room, cold storage, a large lounge or parlor, matron's and supervisor's rooms, and other accessories.

Both structures, President Knapp said, will be entirely fireproof, modern in construction and design, and the architecture will be in keeping with that of the other buildings now on the campus.

Get Outright Donations

Under the provisions of the Public Works administration, the institution would receive an outright donation of 30 per cent of the cost of labor and materials and would be compelled to return to the government 70 per cent of the cost of labor and materials and all other costs over a period of thirty years.

"A careful figuring of the costs shows that in reasonably modest payments the institution can pay for these structures within the time

Autumn Arrives On A Heat Wave

With a hint of the torrid weather of the summer, autumn began, at least technically, yesterday.

Actually, it became the hottest day of September when the mercury at the experiment substation climbed to 94 degrees.

Continued warm weather, however, will be of great benefit to South Plains farmers. It will aid late feed to maturity and hasten harvest of the cotton crop.

Temporary Restraining Order Granted By Federal Judge

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 22. (AP) — Federal Judge Robert J. McMillan today granted a temporary restraining order to Lone Star Gas company of North Texas against the Texas state railroad commission to prevent enforcement of the commission's order reducing the price of natural gas at city rates served by the company.

The railroad commission last week ordered the Lone Star Gas company to reduce the city gas rate in the approximately 250 centers served by the company from 40 cents to 32 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. Fort Worth and Dallas are among the Texas points served.

Cotton Checks Represent Semester's Education To Some West Texas Studes

Cotton checks represent a semester's education to hundreds of West Texas youngsters.

In fact, officials declared that registration in Texas Technological college partly was dependent on receipt of the checks in payment for cotton destroyed in the crop reduction drive.

A few students, whose parents have not received their checks, have obtained visitors' cards at Tech so they may begin their classes. When the checks are received, they will pay fees.

Other prospective students have written they will enroll as soon as the cotton payments are made.

Seven-Year-Old Girl Mother Of Four-Pound Baby

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The case of an Indian girl giving birth to a baby before being seven years of age was reported by a Delhi doctor today in the "British Medical Journal" of London.

The baby weighed four pounds, three ounces at birth, the doctor reported. Beyond suffering from fright for three days, he added, the mother recovered perfectly and was able to nurse the infant for nine months, when it weighed 11 pounds, two ounces.

Ten Thousand Officers Comb Chicago Areas

Are Ordered Not To Restrain Trigger Fingers; Robbery Profitless But Policeman Is Murdered

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Ten thousand policemen, ordered not to restrain their trigger-fingers, combed the Chicago area today for a sextet of desperadoes who executed an apparently profitless mail robbery and killed a policeman.

Authorities in adjacent states were asked to be on the alert for the machine gunners who early today waylaid two bank messengers and two guards in the financial district of the "loop," snatched two bags of mail, and sped away in an automobile from which belched a curtain of smoke.

Auto Is Wrecked

Wrecking their automobile a short distance from the scene, they shot and killed one of two policemen who rushed up to investigate the crash, commandeered another car, and disappeared.

Following one of the welter of clews found in an automobile abandoned by the killers, police arrested for questioning Charles Phillips, owner of the garage where the machine was purchased.

Authorities held varying theories concerning the possible identity of the bandit group. Maps of the nation, smudged by fingerprints about the Kansas City-Oklahoma region, were found in one of the abandoned automobiles. This induced Capt. Patrick Collins to the belief that the robbery was perpetrated by members of the Verne Miller-Harvey Bailey gang of stouthwestern bandits.

Locals Are Blamed

Chief Schomaker, however, said he thought the crime was committed by local gangsters.

A "mistaken enterprise," W. C. Bachman, assistant deputy governor of the federal reserve bank, called it.

"One bag contained financial periodicals and newspapers, the other cancelled checks," he said. "The leader of the gang is probably hearing about it right now from his associates."

Maurice Fitzgerald, companion of Miles Cunningham, the slain policeman, escaped the blast of bullets from the bandits' guns by leaping behind a steel sign.

Rebel Forces Being Split; Guerrilla Tactics Feared

(By The Associated Press)

HAVANA, Sept. 22.—Already entangled in a maze of political, military and economic problems, the government of President Ramon Grau San Martin faced a new menace tonight as armed rebellion flared in at least two sectors, including the adjacent province of Matanzas.

While his best political minds sought to find a way out of the deadlock between Grau and his leading opponents, the army of students and soldiers sought to suppress the outbreak.

Formula Drawn Up

A formula which Havana university professors hoped would placate the political situation was drawn up and submitted to the opposition factions for consideration. It authoritatively was said to include a provision that Grau remain as chief executive, but with sharply restricted powers, including one that he could not demand the resignation of cabinet members.

The plan also was said to include provisions for the naming of a concentration cabinet, responsible to an apposition junta representing all factions.

Rebels estimated to number 800 were moving through Matanzas province, cutting communication lines as they headed for the town of Colon, in the center of the province, said reports from that area.

Splitting Forces

To the east, Juan Blas Hernandez, most picturesque of Cuban rebels, was in the hills with an army estimated variously at from a dozen to 2,000 men. After clashing with government forces near Moron yesterday, the rebel chief, according to reports received here, was adding recruits and splitting his forces into small bands.

It was by this method he was able to annoy the troops of former

Relief Aid To Be Long-Term

Program For Buying Of Surplus Farm Commodities Is Being Speeded; Work To Be Opened Within A Week

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—President Roosevelt's program for buying surplus farm commodities and distributing them to families on relief rolls will be organized on a long-term instead of a purely temporary basis.

This was disclosed today as the agricultural adjustment administration hastened establishment of an organization, determined to have it ready to turn over products to the federal relief administration within a week.

Taxes Being Levied

George N. Peek, chief administrator of the farm act, said that substantial portions of the proceeds of taxes on basic farm commodities would be made available to finance purchases, supplimenting federal relief funds.

These taxes are now being levied on wheat and cotton but others are to be levied soon on swine, tobacco and possibly dairy products, corn and rice.

Outlay Goes Higher

Instead of $75,000,000 in purchases already planned, the outlay may greatly exceed this figure during the current fiscal year, officials said. They look upon the relief outlet as an opportunity to take up the slack in disposition of American

Loan Of $30,000,000 Is Sought For Five Landing Bases On The Atlantic

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. — The public works administration today was studying an application for a $30,000,000 loan for the construction of five huge landing bases for airplane traffic across the Atlantic.

Public works officials said aviation experts of the army, navy and commerce departments would be consulted to determine the practicability and whether the plan falls within the policy of "social and economic worth" in making allotments.

The Seadrome Ocean Dock corporation in making the application said the project, which "in many ways surpasses the Panama Canal in importance to the American people," had been worked out to the minutest detail and had been approved by leading engineers and aviators.

The seadromes, anchored at regular intervals across the Atlantic, the application said, would permit "a safe, rapid and regular flying service to be maintained between this country and Europe."

Defense Plans Are Mapped In Urschel Trial

Four Days Of Pounding Away At 12 Persons Accused In Case Closes; Demurrers And Motions Planned

Delay Is Looming

Attorney For Albert Bates In Case Has Thrown Up Hands In Defeat; Testimony Will Start Next Week

BY WILLIAM VOIGT, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 22 — Four days of pounding away at the 12 persons accused of conspiring in the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, wealthy oil man, ended late today as the prosecution rested and let the defense begin construction of its counter-offensive.

While defense attorneys hastily prepared demurrers and motions to dismiss, counsel for the Shannon family of Wise county, Texas, on whose farm Urschel was held captive more than a week, questioned a group of character witnesses to permit them to return home tonight.

Score Of Motions

James H. Mathers, counsel for Harvey Bailey, said he would have almost a score of motions asking dismissal of the charges against his desperado-client. He contended the government failed to connect Bailey, an expert in jail escape plotting, directly with the kidnaping.

James H. Mathers, chief counsel for Harvey Bailey, hastened to get before the court almost a score of motions seeking dismissal of the charges on the contention the government failed to connect Bailey definitely with the kidnaping.

Expert On Stand

D. C. Patterson, of Oklahoma City, a handwriting expert, was the last witness of the day. He identified specimens of Albert Bates' signature in a final attempt of the prosecution to connect Bates, a defendant, with seven men from Minneapolis and St. Paul in an alleged conspiracy to dispose of the $200,000 paid for Urschel's freedom.

Attorneys for the seven announced late today they would "put on no defense." A. M. Cary, Minneapolis attorney, said his clients would "rest on the law, satisfied the government has not made a case against us."

Prosecution Closes

A casual nod of the head by Herbert K. Hyde, district attorney, apprised the court that the prosecu-

Ford Moving To Put His 50,000 Workers On Code Basis; Refusing To Sign

Average Of 35 Hours A Week Planned For Plants; Does Without The Blue Eagle

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Sept. 22.—Henry Ford, the country's biggest holdout from the NRA, moved today to place his 50,000 employes—now working 40 hours a week—on a work week to comply with the 35-hour maximum provided in the NRA automobile code which Ford has not, and, it is indicated, will not sign.

Employes were notified that, beginning Monday, they will be placed on a 32-hour week, but company officials indicated that after six weeks the 40-hour week would be resumed for such a period as will provide average employment at the rate of 35 hours a week. An official announcement is expected next week.

"Mr. Ford intends to conform with the code by working his men an average of 35 hours a week," said one official declining the use of his name. "He does not intend to violate the code."

Can Conform Fully

This bore out previous advice from an authoritative source that Ford, who has remained uncommunicative as to his stand on the national recovery act, feels he can conform fully to the code provisions without the formality of signing and obtaining the Blue Eagle.

The Ford minimum wage already is above the minimum demanded by the NRA automobile code. Officials of the company have stated that the "lowest wage we would consider paying to any Ford employe" is 50 cents an hour. Workers in the production lines recently were given increases in hourly wages, raising the minimum pay to $4.40 a day from $4, and the company indicated that similar increases will be given to non-production workers within a short time.

Declines Interviews

Although officials have stated that Ford is "only too willing to work for recovery," he has consistently declined to be interviewed regarding his position, although many weeks ago he said that if he signed the NRA automobile code, he would have to "live down" to it.

Meanwhile the hiring of 5,000

Bradley Case Goes To Jury

State Asks Life Imprisonment And Defense Asks Acquittal As Closing Arguments Are Made Late Friday

(Special To The Avalanche)

LEVELLAND, Sept. 22 — A 72nd district court jury, with the fate of V. L. Bradley, 55, in its hands, went to bed tonight without reaching a verdict. Jurors in the murder trial received the case at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The state had asked life imprisonment for Bradley, who is charged with murder in connection with the slaying of Thomas W. Latimer, 53, of Levelland; the defense asked acquittal, saying that Bradley believed he shot in self-defense when Latimer was killed.

Charge Is Read

Judge Homer L. Pharr read the charge to the jury this morning, and Burton S. Burks, assistant district attorney, opened the arguments. He spoke for 40 minutes, reviewing the case. Carl V. Ratliff of Levelland spoke about 30 minutes for the defense. George W. Dupree of Lubbock, a special prosecutor, during a 60-minute address, urged a life sentence for the defendant. J. E. Vickers of Lubbock, a defense attorney, spoke at 1:15 p. m. Durwood H. Pradley closed for the defense and District Attorney Daniel A. Blair closed for the state.

The courtroom was packed during the arguments, as it had been during the entire trial, which began Monday.

Johnson Will Insist Upon Harmony In Organization

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP) — Creation of regional agencies to mediate strikes was announced today by the national labor board as Hugh S. Johnson, the NRA chief, considered demanding either an end of conrtoversial statements of resignations from prominent members of his advisory boards.

Johnson was described by high officials as disturbed by the barrage of statments being flung back and forth by spokesmen for capital and labor within the NRA. For the second consecutive day he was ill at his home, but it was said when he returns he will flatly insist upon more harmony or an exit from the organization by those carrying on public disputes.

Farm Leaders Sound Threat Over Country

Strike On All Products Will Likely Be Called If Prices Continue At Low Level, Say State Representatives

(By The Associated Press)

DES MOINES, Sept. 22.—The National Farmers Holiday association meeting today voted unanimously to declare a farm strike on all products and ask the cooperation of labor if its demands embodied in NRA codes are not complied with by the administration.

The group of 1,200 persons representing approximately 18 states adopted a resolution which declared "we recommend that the board of directors of the National Farmers Holiday association appoint a committee to present these terms to the president, and if he fails to comply we will withhold all farm products from the market, and we direct all state organizations to hold a strike call in readiness."

Guarantee Sought

The codes for agriculture adopted by the meeting called for a guarantee of cost of production prices on agricultural products, a maximum work day of 10 hours except in cases of emergency and the setting of wages by the American Federation of Labor.

The demand to be made upon the president and the recovery administration, non-compliance with which would be accepted as grounds for calling the strike, were: cost of production in conformity with the agricultural code; a definite and specific pledge that congress will enact the Frazier bill at the next regular session; immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus by a currency issue; and immediate use of the inflation power of the president.

Guarantee Of 10 Cents For Cotton Looms

Farmers Who Still Hold Their Cotton Will Be Loaned Ten Cents Per Pound; Limited To Those Cooperating

Hike Is Expected

Government Will Lose If The Price Goes Below 10 Cents While Farmer May Sell At Any Figure Above

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. — The Roosevelt administration today fashioned a powerful lever by which it hoped to raise farm prices through a virtual guarantee that cotton still on the farm would bring 10 cents—or more—per pound.

Through Reconstruction Corporation funds, the farmers who still hold their cotton will be loaned 10 cents a pound, if necessary, the plan being a companion piece to the 1934-35 cotton control program which was announced today by Secretary Wallace.

Loans Are Limited

The secretary said he understood the loans would be limited to those farmers who agreed to join in the campaign to reduce cotton acreage in the south next year to 25,000,000 acres.

Wallace, however, said he was unfamiliar with some of the negotiations leading to adoption of the loan plan. Those most intimately connected with its framing, including Oscar Johnston, finance administrator of the farm administration, said loans of 10 cents a pound would be made, in all probability, on all cotton of the 1933 crop held by the farmers—should he desire it.

Make Adjustments

The 10 cents, Johnston said, would be farm price and not exchange prices which are 40 points or more higher than the price to the average grower. He said some adjustment would be made to take care of freight rates, etc., but these would be worked out later. Prices on the New York exchange are around 9 1-2 cents for middling cotton at present.

The general cotton plan follows the program put before southern growers at meeting in Memphis, Atlanta and Dallas by governmtnt officials.

Its essentials are the acreage reduction; benefit payments ranging from $3 to $11 an acre for the land taken out of production and a guarantee of a price around parity for a portion of the crop based on the average production of the land during the last five years.

Prices Will Rise

It was the expectation of the farm adjustment administration that price of cotton would rise to 10 cents and more and that little money would have to be expended.

In the event that money is loaned and the price goes down, the government loses. Should it rise above 10 cents, the farmer may sell at any time that he desires, pay the loan and pocket the balance—if there is a balance.

Johnston estimated around 8,000,000 bales of cotton were still in the hands of the producers, al-

McDonald Says Texas Farmers Are To Get About $260,000,000 In Benefits

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. — J. E. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture, added up tonight the benefits, actual and prospective, to Texas cotton farmers from all the administration's motives in his behalf, including today's action making probable a minimum price of ten cents, and figured the total at more than $260,000,000.

"Texas will have a crop, according to latest estimates, of roughly 4,000,000 bales," he said. "At the ten cent figure that means around $200,000,000. In addition, our farmers get $44,368,000 in cotton "plow-up" checks. And they also will get a minimum of $16,000,000 as bonuses in consideration of the differential between the present minimum price of ten cents and the former six cent level."

The commissioner went on to say that today's action thus meant, practically speaking, a minimum of a little better than 13 cents a pound.

Fall Social Activities Are Beginning For Members Of College, High School Sets

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE BEAN WILSON
Avalanche Woman's Editor

RECENTLY this column was in receipt of a letter from a school teacher who hopes that parents will pay more attention to the proper foods for their children. That this teacher's idea was well founded is evidenced in the decision of the Secretary of Labor to call a national conference on child health. There is a story, too, in a recent New York Times by James Frederick Rogers, consultant in hygiene, United States Office of Education, that should interest parents and teachers alike.

Some of what he says is going to be repeated here, since it verifies so well the opinions of this school teacher that something should be done about the nutrition of the school children's bodies as well as the cultivation of their mentalities.

The idea is not new at all. There have been cafeterias in Lubbock schools for a number of years to give children an opportunity to have hot noon meals at minimum costs. The parent-teacher association established most of these lunch rooms. For some time there were periods when the undernourished children were fed crackers and milk at school in an effort to bring their weights up and improve their general physical conditions. This school and many others have done much for the undernourished children and have tried to educate parents to the importance of proper feeding. Yet it is not at all uncommon for children to go to school without breakfast or to remain there without lunch. It is not uncommon for children to eat the wrong things rather than the proper foods.

That Mr. Rogers believes the mental accomplishments depend to some extent upon the physical condition of children is evident. He says that "It is the business of the public schools to furnish the means of mental nutrition, but they waste their time and monetary substance if the physical nutrition of their subjects is impaired. The ill-fed child cannot fully digest and utilize the mental diet which is presented to him."

He continues by saying that "In Europe school feeding has been practiced as a matter of educational economy for 140 years. We are always beginning at the top in our work for the physical welfare of the child, yet feeding, which affects not only the school child but younger children in the home, yields much larger returns than mere meals at school."

He thinks that schools should include instruction in the first principles of nutrition and the need for their application not only from infancy but before birth and that this instruction should be given with as much purpose and skill as Latin or physics.

The local school teacher's opinion that the feeding of school children needs some attention is a matter that is widely discussed among school people. Suggestions for the future schedules of teaching are evidence of what may be done to insure the health of children who will be entering school twenty of thirty years from now, but you may wonder what is being done now or what can be done now.

For one thing, there is parent education—a project of the City Parent-Teacher council for this year. This education is of many different parts but one small part of it is to bring to parents a realization that feeding their children is a scientific matter. There is a general belief among many that "what was good for me in my youth is good for my children now." Parent education is designed to show the fallacies of these beliefs and to show an easier way.

I'm not scientific enough to show how much your child's reaction in school depends upon what he eats at home but I'm human enough to know that it is easier to work when I have been eating the proper foods—and harder to work when I am hungry.

I'm human enough to know, too, that what people eat has something to do with their health and that these modern youngsters who eat and sleep and play on sensibly managed schedules have sunnier dispositions and seem brighter than those who are fed haphazardly and who do not sleep and play on regular schedules.

Chemist Tells How to End Body Odor in This Hard Water

The chief chemist of a leading research group now reveals a new and positive method of combatting body odor—deep-pore cleansing.

Scientific tests have proved that objectionable body odor is caused by stale perspiration deep in the pores. It cannot be ended in this hard water by ordinary toilet soaps because their sluggish lathers cannot reach this stale perspiration and flush it out. They clog the pores with curds!

Laboratory studies now disclose the need for deep-pore cleansing and they show conclusively that there is one way only to accomplish this.

Kirk's Coco Castile—being a 100% pure vegetable oil soap—mixes with the particles of perspiration curds, loosens them, then rinses them out completely, even in the hardest water. Thus it ends body odor by removing the cause.

Kirk's Coco Castile is stimulating to the skin—leaves no offensive M. S. (medicine smell)—ends body odor the odorless way. A BIG cake, half again larger than the average toilet soap, it is today selling at the lowest price in history. Be sure to ask for Kirk's Castile by name—at your grocer's.

Allegation That Amarillo Workmen Are Hired On Building In Lubbock Will Be Investigated By Architect

F. E. Johnson, Montgomery Ward & Co. architect, of Chicago, will arrive here Monday from Albuquerque, N. M., to investigate an allegation that Amarillo workmen are being employed in construction of a new Montgomery Ward & Co. building here. C. S. Lambie Construction company of Amarillo has the general contract.

D. G. Hobson, manager of Montgomery Ward & Company's Lubbock store, Friday afternoon said Mr. Johnson, who has charge of all the company's building projects, was in Albuquerque and would be here Monday.

Mr. Hobson said his company, should it find the allegation true, would do all it could to correct the condition.

Lubbock bricklayers, plasterers, carpenters, and other craftsmen voiced the protest Thursday night.

Joseph L. Anjier, Lambie superintendent of construction, Friday afternoon said a foreman of carpenters and a power-saw operator were the only men on the job from outside Lubbock.

As superintendent, responsibility of hiring men is upon him, Mr. Anjier explained. A foreman, however, may pick one or more from a line of waiting and jobless men to help him. Whether the temporarily employed man lives in Lubbock, and how long he has resided here, usually is not determined on the spot, the superintendent said.

Mr. Anjier said his understanding with the City, before construction began, was that he would hire Lubbock men excepting "one or two" skilled in a particular part of construction.

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT

BY JOHN L. COOLEY

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Stocks turned about today and closed with a rally that partly regained Thursday's sharp losses. Commodities were mixed, cotton advancing while wheat declined.

A recovery in bonds did much to help the position of stocks, the inference being that the investment market was more confident that views of the extreme inflationists would not prevail at Washington. Recent weakness of fixed income securities had undoubtedly contributed to slumps elsewhere, so today's improvement was welcome.

The list entered a period of quiet trading and narrow fluctuations, followed by a late upturn which brought general gains of fractions to 2 points and several of larger proportions. In general, shares that had had the sharpest shakeouts came back most aggressively, as for example the metals and alcohols.

Firmness in the utility section was noticeable all day. Rails, though hardly buoyant, participated in the recovery, while industrials profited by relaxation of selling pressure. Sales totaled 3,318,260 shares, somewhat under yesterday.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 22. (AP)—Cotton staged a fair recovery today from declines of the two previous days advancing 39 to 31 points above yesterday's close. There was a slight reaction at the end on realizing and the market closed steady at net advances of 22 to 25 points.

The opening was firmer in sympathy with better Liverpool cables than due and higher sterling. Manchester cabled that there was increased export inquiry for cloth.

After After easing off slightly in the early afternoon, prices turned firm again later owing to a good upturn in stocks and firmer wheat and also on a favorable view of inflation reports from Washington. October advanced to 9.67, December to 9.93 and March to 10.19 up 30 to 31 points above yesterday's close. There was a reaction of 7 to 8 points at the end on realizing. October closed at 9.60 up 24 points net for the day and December closed at 9.85 up 22 points net.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 5 penny points up.

Port receipts 114,214, for week 337,438, for season 1,400,811, last season 1,046,871. Exports 37,229, for week 180,700, for season 1078,315, last season 941,148. Port stock 3,282,475, last year 3,497,782. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 116,287, last year 119,189. Spot sales at southern markets 57,256, last year 54,081.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 22. (AP)—The severe declines of the past two days were followed by rallies of approximately $1.50 a bale in cotton today. The buying was attributed to a strengthening technical position and reports of an improved trade demand. December contracts sold up to 9.96 or 31 points net higher, but there was increased hedging as well as realizing during the last half hour, and the advance was not fully maintained.

December closed at 9.85, with the general market closing steady at net gains of 15 to 22 points.

Initial advances of 19 to 26 points in response to steadier Liverpool cables evidently brought in considerable trade and commission house buying as well as covering.

Houses with foreign connections were among the buyers, while there was active covering, but the demand was supplied by hedging or further scattering liquidation, and after showing net gains of some 25 to 30 points, prices sagged off in sympathy with the easier ruling of the grain market.

Offerings were absorbed on reactions of some 15 to 20 points by a continuation of the trade demand which was accompanied by reports of price fixing for both domestic and foreign account, and the market stiffened up again in the later trading on renewed covering. At the best prices showed net advances of 27 to 32 points, with the close showing reactions of 8 to 12 points under realizing by early buyers and southern selling.

Exports today 36,629 making 1,081,340 so far this season. U. S. port stocks 3,249,771.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 22. (AP)—Notwithstanding strong rallies at times, wheat today finished at a moderate net loss after an extreme new break of 3 1-2 cents following yesterday's 5-cent collapse.

Aggressive fresh buying which developed in wheat when extreme setbacks today had tumbled to be based largely on belief that the bulk of liquidating sales were ended for speculators who recently had bought because of supposed likelihood of uncontrolled inflation. Much of the new buying was attributed to domestic milling interests, but for at least the time being the volume proved insufficient to lift wheat to fully even again with yesterday's final quotations.

Wheat closed nervous, 1 1-8 to 1 5-8 under yesterday's finish, corn 1-8 off to 1-4 up, oats 1-4 to 3-4 advanced, and provisions 5 to 15 cents down.

Farm Prices

though he added this is "only a guess."

Indirectly, the loan plan grew out of the gathering advocating, among other things, that the price of cotton be fixed at 20 cents a pound.

Committee Named

A cotton committee was named to discuss steps that might be taken with Johnston, George N. Peek, administrator of the farm act, and other officials.

The program, approved today by President Roosevelt, was worked out largely by Johnston and Senator John H. Bankhead of Alabama.

Asked at a press conference if similar price raising steps might not be taken with regard to other commodities, Wallace said the relief extended the cotton farmer was "not to be taken as precedent," although he added that the administration would do all that it could in every instance. He said each crop must be dealt with "on its merits."

Russian Sale Cited

The secretary was asked whether he and his assistants did not depend upon the sale of a large quantity of cotton to Russia to raise cotton prices in the next few weeks but that the administration was afraid the farmer would lose the benefits since most of the staple would be out of his hand.

Smiling, Wallace replied that "we don't want to see the cotton farmers hooked in the next two or three months," but he did not explain to what he referred.

Wallace said the plan today could not in his opinion apply to corn and hogs because no long-time control program had been worked out for those two commodities.

Cooperation Expected

Peek said in announcing the control program that "as to the plan for 1934, there is no doubt that cotton producers will participate."

The central control unit will be county cotton production control associations which will determine the individual farm acreage after the administration tells each state and each county how many acres it may grow.

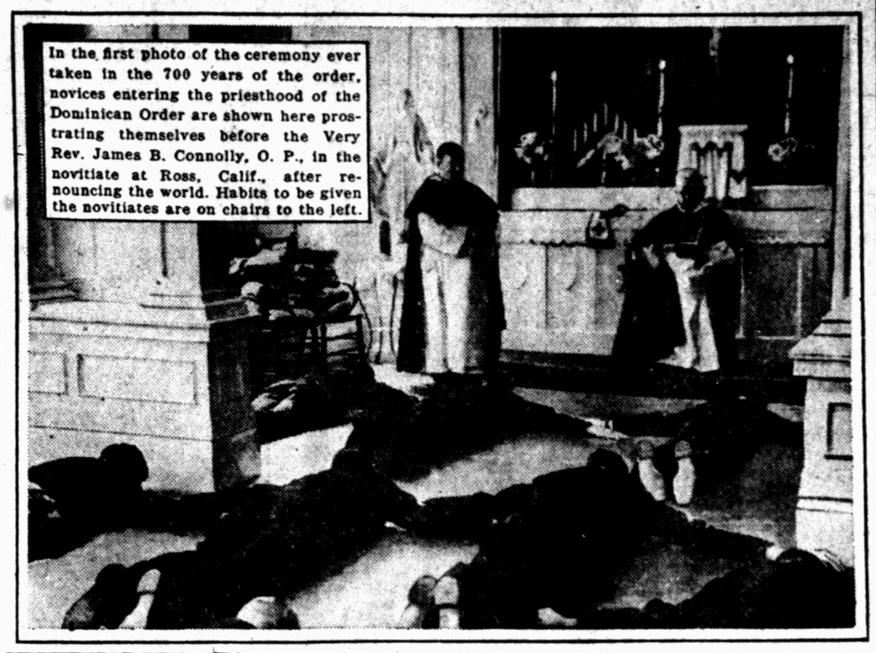

The allotment, following the lines of the wheat plan, will be made to the land.

The parity price guarantee feature will be made on the basis of domestic consumption in the five-year period ending July 31, 1933.

The announcement said the domestic consumption for the entire crop during that time was approximately 5,565,000 bales. This is between 40 per cent and 50 per cent of the total production of cotton in the five-year average.

Parity price for cotton is the amount at which it must sell to have the purchasing power it had in the period between 1909 and 1914.

Cuban Rebels

President Gerardo Macredo two years ago.

There were contradictory reports about the activities of Major Lico Balan in Oriente province. Some said he had seized and was holding the town of Gibara. Others said he had not taken up arms against the government at all.

Name Not Learned

The name of the leader of the Matanzas rebels was not immediately learned.

Reports from Cienfuegos in Santa Clara province said trouble was expected at the Soledad sugar mill near that city. The workers had given mill officials until today to meet their demands. A small force of rural guards was reinforced by troops from Cienfuegos.

The Soledad mill is the oldest American-owned sugar works in Cuba. Several Americans and Britons are among the officials.

The food problem in Havana was not improved as the strike of warehouse men continued. It was estimated foodstuffs now in the stores would be exhausted in about a week. Even if the strike is settled, authoritative sources said, the problem would not be completely solved.

Urschel Trial

tion had reached the end of the first trial, involving the new "Lindbergh" kidnaping law passed by congress in 1932.

The four days devoted to federal testimony have brought one spectacular event after another before the court, including the breath-taking stories of the millionaire kidnap victim himself and of E. E. Kirkpatrick, Urschel's friend who carried a satchel filled with a huge ransom through the dusk to the criminals.

Testimony Is Argued

The government's case was concluded, however, after a day in which the paramount point at issue was the admissibility of testimony about the disposition of the money taken from the Urschels after the Oklahoma City oil millionaire had been released.

District Judge Edgar S. Vaught set a precedent by ruling for the prosecution.

"A conspiracy may continue, as I interpret the law, until all of the ransom paid has been recovered," Judge Vaught said, in substance.

His decision brought a hasty conference between attorneys for the twin cities defendants, who had hoped for a directed verdict of acquittal in the contention this evidence was incompetent.

Admits Defeat

Ben Lask of Denver, Bates' attorney, has thrown up his hands and admitted, privately, that he is defeated.

"I will take up only a moment of the court's time tomorrow," said the nimble-witted little criminal law veteran.

"I will make my motion to dismiss, and nod and smile to the judge as he overrules."

An accusing finger has been pointed at Bates many times during the past four days. The group of four bridge players who were interrupted the night of July 22 on the Urschel sun porch by the kidnapers said definitely he was one of the machine gunners.

To Interpose Demurrer

Among other motions the elderly Mathers will interpose a demurrer to the prosecution of Bailey, whose capture and close guard here followed escape from the Kansas state prison memorial day and from Dallas only a week before the trial began. Mathers will ask a directed verdict.

Sam Sayers, M. H. Burch and Grady Woodruff, Texas lawyers for the Shannon family, will have similar motions and demurrers.

It was wholly likely that it will be well into next week before the motions all are debated and ruled upon and the taking of defense testimony renewed.

farm products resulting from the fall in exports. Meanwhile, they will continue efforts to push increased sales abroad.

Secretary Wallace designated three men to direct the program—General W. I. Westervelt, director of marketing and processing; Chester C. Davis, production director, and Dr. L. H. Bean, economic adviser of the A. A. A.

named," Doctor Knapp said. "The erection of these dormitories will furnish work for 200 men for a period of eight or nine months.

"The administration of the institution is fully aware that many students fail to come to Tech because of the absence of dormitory accommodations. This is especially true of girls. The institution has reached the maximum point of its registration which can at the present time be accommodated in rooms to be furnished within the town. The board of directors and the administration believe that this is the golden opportunity for the institution to make this improvement and to increase the enrollment at the institution.

"Under present conditions in state finances, it would be impossible to obtain appropriations for the building of the dormitories for quite a number of years to come, and therefore this step is quite necessary for the future development of the institution itself. The plan involves no burden upon the taxes of the state and no burden upon the present income of the institution. The two buildings can be paid for out of the income derived from room rental alone."

Consolidation Of Railroads Being Studied By Eastman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. (AP) — Consolidation of all railroads into a small group of great trade channels is being studied by Joseph B. Eastman, coordinator of transportation, in an effort to achieve operating economies.

This was announced today by Eastman who said in a statement the railroads themselves in the eastern, southern and western regions had formed organizations to investigate savings that could be obtained through joint use of facilities, pooling of train service and other means.

Little Damage Reported As Hurricane Strikes Mexico

MERIDA, Yucatan, Mexico, Sept. 22. (AP)—A hurricane struck at dawn today accompanied by heavy rains and winds which increased in intensity as the day advanced. One death was reported.

At the Port of Progreso traffic was held up and at Cozumel dispatches said the wind pulled up a pier, carrying it 300 feet, destroying many houses. Several small ships were sunk and one person drowned. The Pan-American building at Cozumel was badly damaged.

Watch was being kept for Caribbean and Gulf vessels. The plane from Havana did not arrive.

Another Roosevelt Becomes Student At Harvard Friday

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 22. (AP) Another Franklin Delano Roosevelt became a Harvard student today as the son of the president registered as a freshman, at the opening of Harvard's 298th academic year.

"I want to be treated just as any Harvard freshman," he said. "I don't want anything special because I happen to be the son of the president of the United States. I want people to forget that, so that I can stand on my own."

According to the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, there were 24,136,879 motor vehicles registered in the United States in 1932.

It Demands Investigation

ON Monday morning an executive of Montgomery Ward and company will arrive in Lubbock to look into allegations made by local building trades craftsmen that the C. S. Lambie Construction company, of Amarillo, has transported Amarillo labor here for hire in the erection of the new Ward store at Broadway and Texas avenue.

The charge has been denied by the Lambie company's superintendent here, who says that only two men, one a foreman and the other a power saw operator, have been brought in from out-of-town. But with conditions as they are the question, by its very nature, demands a thorough investigation rather than a cursory one, so the public may know if the Lambie company is in the clear or, if not, so the condition may be remedied immediately.

Montgomery Ward and company, a local official avers, will check the charges made and if they are found to be true will bring pressure to bear to halt the practice. That is exactly what Montgomery Ward should do—and exactly what every Lubbock concern should do under similar circumstances.

It is a practice among construction concerns to take their superintendents and regular foremen from city to city where they have contracts and that is probably essential and fair. Working under time contracts, construction companies, like any other kind of organization, can best carry on their directive and executive work with their own men.

But it should not be a practice for an Amarillo contractor, building in Lubbock—or a Lubbock contractor building in Amarillo—to transport ordinary skilled labor when there is plenty of it in the city where the construction is going on.

There have been times in the past when transportation of labor from one city to another has been necessary. There have been times in Lubbock when carpenters, bricklayers and other artisans have been brought in, simply because there was more construction going on than the local supply of skilled labor could care for. But that time is not this time—as reasonable people will agree.

The investigation by Montgomery Ward's visiting executive will no doubt result in finding whether the charges made against the Lambie company are true or false—and if they are found to be true it is to be hoped that enough pressure can be brought to bear to put a stop to the practice.

Such a thing must not be tolerated when Lubbock's own workers are ready to work. And local firms and individuals, letting future contracts to out-of-town contractors, will do well to include in the agreement a clause demanding that local labor, rather than the imported kind, be used on the project.

JUST A SOCIAL NOTE

Sheriff Thomas Abel and members of his department have as their guests at the Cross Bar hotel Mr. Ed "Perchmouth" Stanton, one of our better known hijackers and gunmen.

SINGLENESS OF PURPOSE

A newspaper columnist finds among the "leading lights of our financial firmament" some of the worst bores in the world.

In a company of bankers the banker is probably the most interesting person in the world. In a company of columnists certainly the most interesting person in the world is a columnist. But the banker is not interested in the columnist unless he has money to invest, and the columnist is not interested in the banker except as grist for his column.

Financiers are criticized for being narrow and for having single track minds. But doesn't that indictment fit every occupation? In some quarters it is deemed a qualty essential to success.

Well, what if a kiss does transmit germs? By the time you are old enough to care, there is no further danger of exposure.

It's hard to tell who won the war, but there isn't much doubt, any longer, as to who lost it.

Among the poor that are always with us are poor magazine stories.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

AN undercover campaign is in progress to convince newspaper, magazine and radio officials they have got to look out for the administration's proposed new food and drug act.

Word has got about of a joker in the bill which will make it possible to hold any advertising medium liable to a sock along with the sponsor of a spurious food, drug or cosmetics ad.

Department of Agriculture officials have studied the clause in question. They admit its language may be ambiguous but deny vehemently any deliberate intent.

Soothing syrup circulates to the effect that when Congress reassembles and the bill goes into committee the offending clause will be rewritten.

In its final form all that will be required of any advertising medium is the name and address, upon request, of the person responsible for a phoney ad or broadcast.

The law is aimed solely at those who make false claims about their products and not the media through which these claims reach the public.

HEALTH: One of the reasons the Food and Drug administration is so anxious to get the new bill passed is to protect people with allegeric diseases such as hay fever and asthma.

Estimates have been made varyingly that from 10 to 30 percent of our entire population are sensitive to some food product. Peanut oil and egg content will do as examples.

The proposed law would require all such information about content to be stamped on the label.

Officials explain quickly they are not condemning any food product in this connection.

A given salad dressing might be excellent yet its label does not state whether peanut oil or olive oil contributes to the base.

Such information would guide many sufferers immeasurably in their diets.

BEAUTY: When cosmetics were placed under the tentative law's provisions Uncle Sam made a gesture in a brand new field.

With the exception of those "beauty" preparations found to contain poisonous ingredients, the Food and Drug administration has never monkeyed with cosmetics advertising. The administration plans to bring regulation of this industry to about the point where food and drug control now stands. The new act would tighten existing food and drug restrictions materially.

As one official puts it, "we must take little steps for little feet in a new field."

THE TEAM: Early in his administration President Roosevelt tickled newspaper men by comparing his emergency recovery program to a football game with himself as the quarterback.

It is looking more and more as if F. D. in addition to calling signals was going to have to carry the ball himself.

General Hugh Johnson, his line-plunging fullback, is all worn out from repeated bucks of the line. Prof. Ray Moley benched himself. Halfbacks Ickes of Public Works and Peek of Agricultural Adjustment are booed from the stands for not getting away fast enough.

The President plugged one breach down at NRA by taking over the coal situation. A tighter interlocking of all emergency relief organizations is just around the corner.

And if you know your quarterback look out for a delayed pass or the hidden ball trick.

NOTES: Movie producers have been complaining that Sol Rosenblatt, deputy administrator of NRA in charge of the flicker codes, has been partial to labor. . . They might be interested in grapevine reports that Rosenblatt is about to associate himself with Abner Rubien, New York counsel for movie labor organizations. . . The dapper lads around the State Department are calling Sumner Welles, American Ambassador to Cuba, "Gideon." . . . The point lies in a connection between the large number of American warships lying off Havana and the fact that Gideon Welles was Secretary of the Navy in the Lincoln administration. . . Sight-seers visiting Washington really should include the Food & Drug Administration's "chamber of horrors" on their schedule if they can persuade officials to show them through . . . Women particularly would be interested in the exposes of many of their pet products.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE government's credit game with the banks seems to have changed from tug-of-war to tag.

At least Jesse Jones' latest offer makes it look that way. When RFC offers to lend money to the banks at 3 per cent for six months or less if the banks will re-lend it promptly to worthy NRA members at 5 per cent oldtimers grow red. The RFC will pass on and hold the business assets offered as collateral for such loans. There could be no simpler way of telling the banks they are "it."

It's a neat device at that. The law doesn't permit the RFC to make direct loans to industry and if they wait for Congress to amend the law it may be too late. NRA joiners who need money need it now. So it looks as if the RFC is using the banks to hurdle the law and giving them 2 per cent for obliging as middlemen. On the surface it appears to be a soft touch for the banks and you might think they would hop to it.

But there's a big black African in the woodshed. The RFC is willing to pass on the validity of the collateral offered but if anything slips and the commercial borrower doesn't pony up as per agreement, it's the banking intermediary that holds the bag—not the RFC. That leaves the banks exactly where they were except it may not be literally their depositors' money they are risking. Also the banks believe it will take most NRA firms which have to borrow to meet added costs more than six months to turn around.

So the answer, at least as far as New York banks are concerned, is still "No thank you." Local authorities believe that smaller banks throughout the country will be more receptive to this idea than they were to the preferred stock proposal and it may bring encouraging results. Undoubtedly the government figures that once the banks start loosening up on credit—even with RFC money—they will find it hard to be so Scotch any more.

Meanwhile the New York banks really have had a greatly increased demand for credit from what they call desirable customers. Loans on other than security collateral have crept up $33,000,000 in this district in the past two weeks. If this trend continues the banks are in hopes the government will pipe down on its aspersions.

Capitol Chatter

By Charles E. Simons

AUSTIN, Sept. 22. (AP)— Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's action attaching recommendations in for specific legislation to her message to the special session of the legislature didn't set well with certain members, especially the more pronounced of the anti-Ferguson element.

The governor sent three bills with her message, one suggesting how the unemployed relief bonds should be handled, another to suspend the anti-trust laws and a third to enable political subdivisions to take full advantage of the public works construction act.

While this procedure irked some members, it was not an unusual custom. Former Governor R. S. Sterling sometimes attached bills to messages to the legislature.

Administration and anti-administration lines were drawn sharply and swiftly in the house on the first day of the special session, thereby verifying in a measure the prediction that the session would be one of considerable turbulence.

The cleavage came when Rep. Weaver Moore of Houston moved that bills dealing with anti-trust legislation be sent to the house judiciary committee instead of to the state affairs commitee. Moore said he didn't like the complexion of the state affairs committee so far as anti-trust matters were concerned.

The administration cudgel was taken up by Reps. T. H. McGregor of Austin and W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi, McGregor moving that the anti-trust legislation be entrusted to the state affairs committee. The motion later was withdrawn and an effort made to submit the bills to the house as a committtee of the whole.

This was defeated and by a vote of 83 to 41 the legislation was consigned to the judiciary committee, which late in the regular session last May declined to take any action toward modifying or suspending the anti-trust laws.

Westerners Open Grid Season With 14 To 0 Victory Over Big Spring

Triple Threat Star Features Opening Scrap

Westerners Surprise Fans With Classy Exhibition, But Olie Cardill Provides Thrills And Keeps Steers In Game

If Coach Obie Bristow had a few more men like one Olie Cardill, about 2,500 fans and a few coaches would willingly concede district and state football titles to the Big Spring High school Steers.

Alone, or with the help of inexperienced, light teammates, Cardill is no match for a better balanced Lubbock High school club last night and the Westerners opened their playing season with a 14 to 0 victory over the visitors from the Permian basin.

Captain Rufus Ryan, the only returning regular of last year's Lubbock High school team; Rayburn Hale, substitute quarterback last year; Weymond Newton, fullback; Turner, sophomore halfback, and various members of the Lubbock line showed up surprisingly well last night, even brilliantly at times, but it was Big Spring's big Cardill who stole the show.

He Does Everything

Running, passing, charging and blocking, Cardill was a threat every time he the ball snapped to the Big Spring backfield. Behind good blocking offered by Bechtol and Cauble, and Dean, husky end, the big quarterback, No. 34 he was, did nearly everything but score touchdowns, which, after all, is the deciding feature in football games.

Coach Bristow brought a team to Lubbock he said was entirely new and uneducated in the ways of football, explaining that his entire starting lineup of last year had graduated. Cardill came here a rank unknown, but left a hero.

The Westerners, who played with the unusual shortage of bobbies for a team beginning the season, were strong the offense most of the time, Weldon Chapman's men hustling on every play, bearing down as if the title were at stake, and only their over-eagerness caused the few mistakes.

Pass Attack Fails

Lubbock's passing attack, on which they have been practicing for the past week, was entirely null and void against Big Spring. Again it was Cardill who jumped high and often managed to knock down passes or intercept them.

The Westerners depended on sweeping runs for their long gains, their plays at the line being stopped by an enemy wall that must have been surprising to Coach Bristow. On the other hand, Lubbock's backs displayed more power, in proportion, than the backfield, holding the enemy at bay on short plunges through the middle. Cardill made his long gains on sweeping plays, once or twice cutting back off tackle or over guard to skuttle through until he reached Newton or Hale.

Newton A Big Gun

Newton probably was Lubbock's best backfield gun, shading Ryan and Hale last night. His defensive work in backing up the line, or charging when Big Spring's backfield brought out numerous losses—but not as many as Cardill caused the Westerners.

Fans at last night's game must have gathered that Lubbock would have a faster backfield, a heavier line, but not the power that was evinced by the 1932 secondary.

Most of the game was played in Big Spring territory. Toward the end of the first period, Hale, Griner and Newton advanced the ball into scoring zone, and six plays after the second period started, Ryan went over for the counter, charging from the 11-yard line. Newton made the perfect place kick for the extra point.

The play of big Red Doherty, regular tackle last year and one of the most dependable men in the Lubbock line; of Ossie Griggs at left end, Country Phillips at guard and Tackle Young at center was outstanding and made possible enough of the gains for the touchdown. On the other end of the line, G. B. Timberly, Aycock and Calhoun went down their jobs in steady fashion.

Hodges, who did not start but who played a fine game at guard for Lubbock, and Newton were the only Westerners who could handle the Big Spring star with anything like satisfaction. On several occasions he broke through to stop Cardill, and twice nailed him when he dropped on forward passes for big losses.

Most of the third quarter was played in Big Spring territory. Short passes by Hale, Newton, a 17-yard pass on a forward pass play in which interference with Receiver Whitehorn was charged, placed the ball on the 12-yard line. Newton picked up two yards at the line, and the ball on the next play and was dodged from a jumble to cut through right for the pay-off score. But he was downed a yard from the goal. A plunge over the middle of the line put it over for the second and last touchdown. Passes dropped out of the line to make a perfect placement for the extra point.

Bovines Threaten Once

Big Spring threatened seriously to score only one time. Satterwhite returned Hale's punt to Lubbock's 40-yard line late in the final period. Cardill ripped off 11 yards, and Lubbock suffered a 15-yard penalty. Cardill chose to toss passes then, but two of them were knocked down as the game ended.

Stars in Big Spring's line were Graves, a guard who dealt the Lubbock line plenty of misery, Dean, left end, and Bob Flowers, right end.

Both teams suffered numerous penalties, unnecessary roughness being charged in most instances.

Ralls Defeats Cowhand Team

Long Pass In Third Period Is Fatal For Lubbock Juniors; Late Rally Falls Short And Final Tally Is 6 To 0

(Special To The Avalanche)

RALLS, Sept. 22.—The Ralls High school Jackrabbits took to the air in the third quarter here today to seize a hardfought 6-0 verdict over the Cowhands of Lubbock Junior High, although the visitors made 15 first downs to four for the locals.

After a deadlocked first half, Igo, bunny wingman, snatched a long pass from Crump and dashed down the field to be finally thrown at the 4-yard line. On the next play Powell, Ralls back, hammered the line for a touchdown and the margin of victory.

Late Rally Falls

The Cowhands however, put up a game rally late in the last stanza when, after a 15 yard penalty was assessed Ralls, they carried the pigskin to the 3-yard stripe with another four downs to put it over. The referee's gun, however, stopped hostilities.

Morris, Cowhand halfback, and Igo, end, Crump and Powell, halfbacks, of Ralls held the offensive spotlight during most of the afternoon and both lines played good football.

Sports Win Soft Ball Title Here

The J & J Sports uncorked a six run barrage in the seventh and last inning at Hubber field yesterday and, with a 10-9 win over the Huie-Ribble entry, became soft ball champions of Lubbock.

Led by Lefty Sollis, who spanked a brace of homers, the Sports garnered 11 bingles from the offerings of Pitcher Pertram while their opponents rapped 15 safties from the slants of Jones, Sport boxman. But Sport bingles came when they were needed most and that was that.

Between 200 and 300 soft ball fans lined the field for the deciding game of the playoff series. The tilt was well played, the Sports making but two errors and the Huie-Ribblers but one. Jones whiffed two batters and Bertram one.

Matadors Show Speed, Hustle In First Game

Tech's Team Appeals Greatly To Visiting Scrivener Who Sees Varsity And Freshman Teams Tangle Thursday

BY JERRY MALIN

Amarillo Globe-News Sports Editor

Personally I'd like to come back to Lubbock Friday night when the S. M. U. Ponies and the Texas Tech Matadors play here. After watching the Matadors last night in action against the freshmen crew, my conclusion is that the Mustang-Bullfighter game is going to be an early season rarity—a real contest chock full of thrills for the fans.

It is not at all wise to make predictions about the ability of a football team on the basis of the strength shown in an inter-club game. Usually, in such games the blocking is not up to the regular game standard. Other phases of the work is either higher or lower in proportion.

Come Out Running

The thing that impressed me most of all about Pete Cawthon's huskies was their apparent fine physical condition. There was no loafing Thursday night. Subs raced in and the ones replaced came tearing out of the game. No sluggishness. Evidently no player grew weary. A fine tribute to the coaches' training program.

This hustle and bustle among players in a practice game is a true indication of two things—good physical condition and a fine morale throughout the squad.

The ragged edges that at times stuck out like a bee-stung nose under the bright lights was due more to over-anxiousness and eagerness than to carelessness or lack of knowledge about assignments.

Line Looks Good

Another impressive phase of the game was the stalwart forward wall of the varsity. Which, when I recall it, increases my desire to see the S. M. U. game. I am sure the Pony backfield will do a lot of passing, for reports from the Methodist camp indicate they do not have the sort of ball-luggers nor blockers it will take to cut spaces in that Matador line.

The using of only orthodox Notre Dame offense during the contest gave no insight into the potential ability of the Matador backfield. Suffice to learn there are speed and elusiveness there.

Price's Long Run

My biggest thrill of the game was when Yancy Price tucked the pigskin under his arm and raced to pay dirt. I have been seeing Price play end for several seasons as a high school and college player. I knew, of course, he could carry the ball under certain conditions. But when he tore off toward the sideline, sidestepping would-be tacklers, and then invaded a mass of frosh to get out in the middle again where he had only to out-run his pursuers, I beheld a most pleasing exhibition of the ancient art of carrying the mail.

The next greatest thrill was the gallant fight displayed by the freshmen in the first quarter when on two occasions they repulsed the varsity on or about the 12-yard line. Naturally, the varsity's greater numbers and experience gradually turned the tide, just as everybody knew would happen sooner or later. Yet there is a great kick in seeing a hustling crew of first year hold the hot shots on even terms, even when one knows it can't last.

Fans Would Like 'Em

To sum up, the Matadors look and act like a football team. Errors and mistakes can be discounted as things to be expected so early in the season. Your Matadors are the sort of a club that fans like to watch play—an outfit nattily attired and with each player possessing snap and fire. After all, it's the old ginger and pep that draws the plaudits, for player enthusiasm means the boys love the game, which, in turn, means spectacular football.

And, that's why I'd like to be here Friday night when the Ponies come to town. The game should be spectacular and a fan pleaser regardless of the outcome.

In the Series

This is the third of a series of personal sketches on individual stars of the New York Giants and Washington Senators, world series rivals.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Melvin Ott, slugging right fielder of the Giants, is the youngest veteran in the major leagues. At 24 he is a seasoned campaigner, winding up his ninth year in the big show.

Ott, then a school boy catcher at Gretna, La., was only 16 when a friend of John McGraw saw him slugging baseballs all over the Louisana landscape. He bought Mel a ticket for New York and wired McGraw the lad was on his way.

From the moment he walked into the Polo Grounds, Ott has never called another baseball park home. He spent that season, 1925, just sitting on the bench and looking around. The next year he played 35 games in the outfield; the next 82. At the ripe old age of 19 he became a regular, and he's been right there ever since.

Ott is one of baseball's most consistent and timely hitters. His average never has fallen below .300. In 1930 he slugged at a .349 clip and was runner-up for National league homerun honors. For the last two seasons he has been second only to Chuck Klein of the Phillies in runs batted in, though many league rivals had higher batting averages.

Washington pitchers will find him a tough man to handle in the world series pinches, and the first baserunner who takes liberties with Ott's throwing arm will think he has been cut down by rifle fire.

SEASON TICKETS

Football fans who want season tickets, or "coupon books" for all of Texas Tech's home games this season are warned that the books are going fast, and choice seats are being purchased in rapid order.

Tickets will be on sale at the J. & J. Sporting goods company store from 9 o'clock to 11 o'clock this morning and from 2 to 5 o'clock this afternoon. At only one place in town may they be purchased. They cost $6.60 each, allowing admission to the six games at a saving of $3.90. The seat number designated on the ticket bought will allow purchaser right to the seat during the entire season.

Tickets for the Texas Tech-S.M.U. game go on sale Tuesday.

Betts Pitches Braves To Win

Philadelphia Phillies Fail To Find Fault With Boston Boy And Braves Pound Moore For A 3 To 0 Shutout

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22. (AP) — Hugh Betts pitched unbeatable ball in the tight spots today and the Boston Braves came through despite Austin Moore's six-hit flinging to defeat the Phillies 3 to 0 in the opener of a three-game series. It was the only major league game of the afternoon and attracted only about 2,000 fans even though it was ladies' day.

The victory was the third straight for the Braves and their second shutout in succession. They remained, however, two games behind a first division berth.

Hubbers And Black Hubbers Clash At Local Park Sunday

Another post-climax to Lubbock's baseball season is scheduled for tomorrow at the College Avenue park when Dutch Leuenberger leads a squad representing the Lubbock Hubbers against the Black Hubbers, local negro aggregation.

The game is to start at 3 o'clock, and promises considerable amusement as well as baseball thrills.

Proceeds of the game are to go into the South Texas relief fund, the money to go through the local committee.

The Hubbers will be reinforced by several players who have not been seen in action this season. Raymond Ater, infielder recently released by Ft. Worth; Sled Allen, catcher, and Matry Fiedler, former manager of the Albuquerque team, are to be on Lubbock's lineup.

College Teams To Engage In Opening Tilts

Teams All Over Country See First Opponents Tonight As King Football Steps Up To Claim Sport Light

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Football, the big brother of the college sports world, elbows his way back into the national spotlight this week with a program officially inaugurating the 1933 season.

Despite the hot weather, the approaching World Series and the short pre-season practice, a surprisingly number of hard games were down for decision tonight and tomorrow, notably the West Virginia-Washington and Lee battle at Charlestown, W. Va., and the Santa Clara-California game at Berkeley.

Big Shots Warm Up

Brisk warmup games were listed for many of the "big fellows' in nearly every section, including Auburn, Texas Christian and Utah, all top-ranking teams last season.

Usual interest also attached to the game tonight at Portland, Ore., between College of the Pacific and Oregon Normal. Amos Alonzo Stagg, making a new start on the coast after 40 years service at Chicago, is head coach of the Pacific youngsters.

Other leading sectional and conference contests on tomorrow's program:

East — Manhattan-St. Bonaventure at Brooklyn.

Mid-West — Yankton vs. University of South Dakota at Vermillion, S. D., Kansas vs. Warrensburg Teachers at Lawrence, Kan., Iowa State vs. Central at Ames, Ia.

Rocky Mountain — Montana vs. Utah, defending conference champions, at Salt Lake City.

Far West — Gonzaga vs. Washington at Seattle, Stafford vs. San Jose at Palo Alto and Williamette vs. Oregon State at Cornvallis.

Southwest — Texas vs. Southwestern at Georegtown, Southern Methodist vs. North Texas Teachers at Dallas, Texas A. and M. vs. Trinity at College Station, Rice vs. Texas A. and M., at Houston, and Arkansas vs. College of Ozarks at Fayetteville.

Levelland Beats Tahoka, 13 To 0

(Special To The Avalanche)

TAHOKA, Sept. 22.—Scoring two touchdowns in the first quarter, the Levelland High school football team defeated the Tahoka High eleven, 13-0, here this afternoon before a small crowd.

Berkley Rogers, sophomore halfback, did everything but take tickets for the visitors, scoring both counters after sweeping end runs and passing to LaVerne McCann, Levelland end, for the extra point after the first touchdown.

Tahoka threatened to score in the third quarter, getting to the Levelland 2-yard line, but was there held for downs. The visitors came back strong, however, and at the game's end were on Tahoka's 2-yard stripe.

Captain Jolly, Tahoka back, sparkled in his play and his rival captain, Center Henry Boney, also turned in a jam-up game.

Abilene Golfers Here Tomorrow

No word to the contrary having been received, Abilene's crack pro-amateur golf team consisting of Bob Byrnes and Cannes Wilson are expected here Sunday to play a return engagement against Professional Paul Denson and Amateur John D. Munn at the Lubbock Country club.

The 36-hole match will begin in time for the first 18 holes to be played Sunday morning, and the match will start again after the lunch hour.

Wilson, still in his teens, is champion of the West Texas Golf association, having defeated Jimmy Phillips, defending title holder, at Wichita Falls in June. Byrnes is professional at Abilene Country club. In an early meeting, the Lubbock pair defeated Wilson and Byrnes on the Abilene course.

Munn lost to Wilson in the San Angelo tournament recently, and the latter, in turn, bowed to Phillips.

A large gallery is expected to follow the Lubbock favorite and the local pro against the Oil Belt's outstanding golfers.

At the conclusion of Sunday's match, winners in the Lubbock Country club ladder tournament will be awarded prizes offered at the start of the season.

Texas College Gridsters Are Prying Lid Off Season Today With Seven Practice Clashes

SMU Awaits Work Of Untried Sophomores In Seven Posts Against Teachers; Porkers May Be "Dark Horses"

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Sept. 22. (AP)—Seven college football games will be played Saturday afternoon and night between members of the Southwest, Lone Star and Texas conferences. All games will be non-conference affairs.

The night games will be at Georgetown and San Marcos. At Georgetown the University of Texas Longhorns of the Southwest conference will battle the Southwestern Pirates of the Texas conference. Texas will feature Bohn Hilliard, elusive 1932 all-conference halfback along with Roland Fagan, quarterback, who has been playing extremely well in practice.

Soldiers To Play

At San Marcos, the Southwest Teachers of the Lone Star conference, will take on the 23rd Infantry tomorrow night in what is expected to be a victory for the Teachers.

Southern Methodist university's game against the North Texas Teachers of Denton at Dallas is expected to be a tough battle. They played a scoreless tie last season. The Teachers have a veteran team this year while Southern Methodist starts the season with untried sophomore material in seven positions. The Teachers won the Lone Star conference championship last year.

Razorbacks Test Strength

The University of Arkansas Razorbacks, Southwest conference "dark-horses" will engage the College of the Ozarks at Fayetteville. Coach Fred Tomsen expects a tough battle for Ozarks and probably will get it.

The Trinity university Tigers will invade College Station to battle Texas A. and M. in what is expected to be an easy battle for the Aggies.

The Rice Institute Owls will take on the Texas A. and I. gridsters who won the T. I. A. A. conference crown last year. Last year, Rice defeated Texas A. and I., 20 to 0.

Abilene Christian college of the Texas conference plays Amarillo Junior college at Amarillo.

Virgil "Spud" Davis did a large share of the hitting in yesterday's only major league game and added a point to his batting average for every blow. He connected for three singles in four times at bat and sent his mark up from .340 to .343. His teammate, Chuck Klein, Big Six leader and the only other member to get into action, suffered a two-point drop to .366 as he failed to connect in three official times up. The standing:

Red Cross Representative Describes Valley Conditions

DALLAS, Sept. 22. (AP)—Howard Bonham, field representative of the American Red Cross, today described as "deplorable" conditions in the lower Rio Grande valley which was struck by a hurricane Sept. 4 and 5.

"The fruit which was blown off the trees by the hurricane is rotting now," Bonham said, "and it is necessary to take extraordinary precautions to prevent an outbreak of pestilence. More than 25,000 persons, including every Red Cross relief worker there, have taken typhoid serum and there is no safe drinking water in the rural area except that which has been boiled or treated by the Red Cross."

THE RETURN OF TARZAN, No. 36

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The girl drew a knife and cut the bonds from Tarzan's legs. She led him through winding corridors to a great chamber where stood a blood-stained altar. The men followed in twos. Now Tarzan realized he had fallen into the hands of sun-worshipers, destined to be a human sacrifice to their flaming city.

Human skulls grinned from countless niches in the towering walls. A procession of females advanced through an arched doorway. Gold chains were about their waists. Golden ornaments covered them. Each carried two golden cups. The chanting began anew, as from a dark passageway came a young and very beautiful woman.

"The high priestess," thought Tarzan. Her bare arms and legs were almost concealed with massive, bejeweled ornaments. In her girdle she carried a long, jeweled knife. All knelt before her. She addressed Tarzan, but he could not understand. For a moment she looked intently at him, awaiting his reply. Then she gave a signal.

The priests rushed upon the ape-man and laid him across the altar. Tarzan knew that in a minute more, this lovely woman would be transformed by fanatical ecstasy into a wild-eyed, bloodthirsty executioner. With dripping knife she would be the first to drink her victim's red, warm blood from the little golden cup that stood upon the altar.

Building Plan Given Outline

Program Of Construction For Coast Guard Is Announced; New Air Bases Are Planned In Several Cities

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—A program of construction calling for 27 new sea vessels and 30 seaplanes, four new air bases, building at life saving stations and repairs to equipment was outlined today by the United States coast guard, which yesterday was allotted $15,000,000 from the public works fund.

New air bases will be built at St. Petersburg, Fla., Biloxi, Miss., Galveston and Port Angeles, Washington. Each base will involve an expenditure of $290,000 for hangars, barracks, a radio station and machine shop. Three or four planes will be stationed at each base.

Of the 27 new vessels, nine will be cruiser ships 300 feet long, to cost $1,500,000 each.

Nine of the new vessels will be of the 165 foot patrol boat type, to cost $250,000 each. Four large tugboats, 165 feet long, will be built at a cost of $225,000 each.

A sum of $80,000 is provided for general repairs to seaplanes and equipment at all stations.

Coast guard headquarters said bids for the ship and airplane construction would be asked as soon as specifications could be completed.

It was said the sites for all air bases had been selected, except that at Galveston, Texas.

GALVESTON, Sept. 22 (AP) — Two charges of assault to murder were filed today against A. L. Giusti, about 35, proprietor of a beach front cafe, after Mrs. Katherine Giusti, about 30, his wife, was shot and wounded seriously and L. B. Prino of Hitchcock was shot twice.

Giusti later was released on bond. Details of the affray were not available.

Black-Draught Gives Refreshing Relief

"I have suffered a great deal from biliousness and constipation," writes Mrs. D. C. Jones, of Waterloo, Ala. "When I get bilious, I have a bad taste in my mouth, have sour stomach, my color is bad, I get dizzy and have the headache. When I take Black-Draught, it relieves me and I feel like a new person. I don't think there is a better medicine than Black-Draught."

Some Early Leaders Of Israel

International Uniform Sunday School Lesson For Sept. 24

By Wm. E. Gilroy, D. D., Editor Of The Congregationalist

Golden Text: Be strong in the Lord and in the strength of his might.—Ephesians 6:10.

THE 12 lessons of the past quarter have set before us great leaders in Israel, from the time of Joshua when the Jewish people were emerging from their long captivity and experiences in the wilderness into the consciousness of a new nationhood faced with acute dangers and problems to an age of natioal glory which has challeged the admiration of the whole world.

The story of Solomon and his temple is written large upon the pages of history as the spiritual ideals and aspirations of the period. But this story must be read in the light of its backgrounds and the struggles through which the national and religious consciousness developed.

THE value of the study of the Bible is that it offers so much by way of analogy for our modern life.

It is a great book of human experience presenting the story of religion and preaching to us the lessons of religion through the realism of daily life, with its temptations, its conflicts and its triumphs in the individual life with full recognition of the social factors in the battle with injustice and inequality and in the efforts to build up a commonwealth.

Our problems have changed in form and content, but in essence they are the same as the problems of this ancient people of Israel emerging out of bondage and chactic conditions while its greatest leaders sought to build the life of the people into a unified community in which a common prosperity built upon righteousness and justice was the goal.

IS not that exactly our task in America at the present hour? Can we do it except as to some extent it was done in ancient Israel? Can we learn to avoid the pitfalls of the past and build more securely? No state can build truly unless it has highminded leaders and a people willing to give heed to its prophets.

The stories of these lessons have persented heroic figures, both men and women: Joshua and Caleb, the courageous spies; Deborah, putting the men of her age to shame with her strong and determined leadership; Ruth, the woman of gentle but persistent loyalty; and Hannah, the devout mother, contributing through her devoted Samuel, the greatest of all leaders and prophets of the period.

Yet despite all these things one must recognize the measure of failure, for the glory of the age of Solomon was followed by strife and division in the kingdom—a strife and division occasioned by injustices that had been allowed to go uncorrected.

PRESTIGE and glory are not enough for a people; great kings and rulers cannot effect the salvation of the nation. The welfare of a people rests more deeply upon the quality of its visions and its deeds. It is in the unselfishness and fairness of the relationships of ordinary life that a people become welded into strength.

No matter how much the strength of power or of wealth that a nation may seem to be building up, there is always inherent weaknesses, the doom of prospective failure, if greed and selfishness be present, or if life.

Cotton Checks Arriving Here

Lubbock County Farmers Have Received $277,033 On Huge Amount Due; 532 Checks Are Reported This Week

With arrival of 365 cotton checks from Washington Thursday night and Friday, Lubbock county farmers had received $277,033 or approximately 27 per cent of the more than a million dollars for the county.

Late Thursday County Agent O. G. Tumlinson received 90 checks amounting to $32,311. Friday morning two more lists came in, one for 105 checks amounting to $33,250 and another for 170 checks for $65,923.

So far this week 532 checks for $181,162 had been received by Mr. Tumlinson. Last week there were 251 checks for $95,871.

Farmers yesterday crowded the office of Mr. Tumlinson, asking about their checks. Word of the arrival of the pasteboards spread rapidly over the city. Mr. Tumlinson notified those for whom the checks were made out, as rapidly as possible.

Fred N. Warren, Plainview, federal crop supervisor for the crop reduction loan office at Dallas, spent yesterday here checking over with farmers who owe the government money and who had received cotton checks. Collections have been good, he said.

those in authority and power disregard the factors of elemental justice.

The strength and power of states depend ultimately upon the welfare of the people. This is the outstanding lesson that comes to us from the study of the lives of great leaders in the era of a nation's struggle for

Texas Congressman Admits His Error In Blaming Legion Head On Attitude

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 22. (AP)—The American Legion monthly today released for publication an article written for its October issue by Wright Patman in which the Texas congressman, himself a legionnaire, makes a "confession of honest error" as to his attitude toward National Commander Louis Johnson's policy on the national economy act.

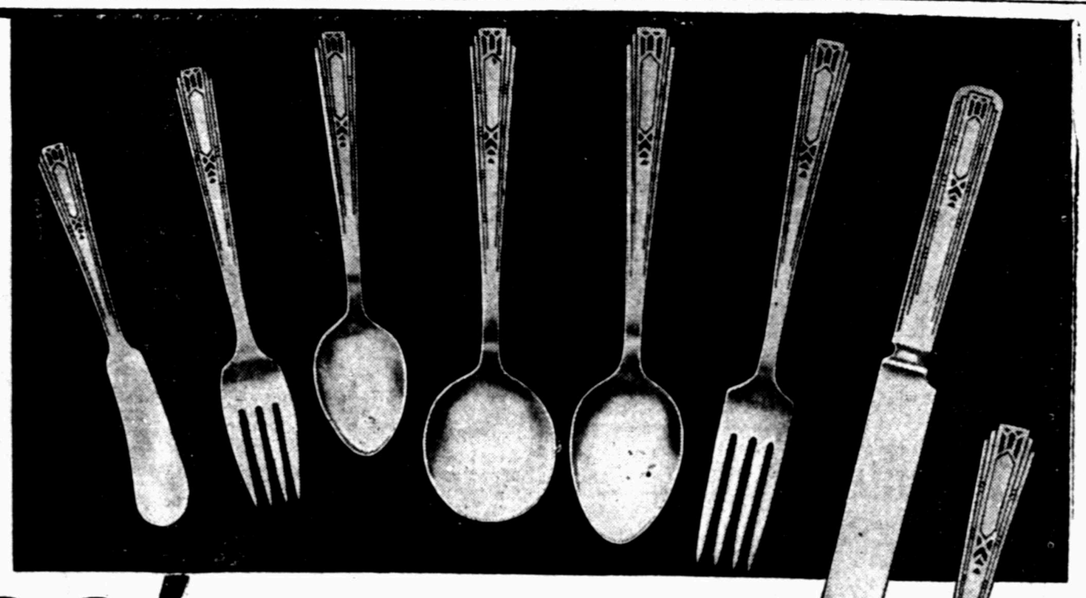

Representative Patman gives his unqualified endorsement to the national commander's policy of moderation. It was that policy, he said, which made possible revisions of the economy act and restored to disabled veterans and dependents of deceased veterans, many of the benefits which were to be taken from them.

The article says in part:

"I am from Texas and down our way right is very much right and wrong is very much wrong. I formed the opinion, based on the very earliest reports, that the legion had gone wrong. It is now fitting that I make a confession of honest error. I thought National Commander Louis Johnson was wrong in going as far as he did in pledging to the government the legion's support following passage of the economy act. I thought he should have continued to oppose the law tooth and nail after the passage of the act as he had opposed it before it was passed. Now I acknowledge that I was wrong and National Commander Johnson was right. The road he took was the road that led to later modification of the law, and any other road would have led to defeat, discredit and a loss of public confidence."
