The Rockport Pilot

Dedicated to the Progress of Rockport, Fulton and Aransas County for More Than 110 Years

VOLUME 111 NUMBER 4 TWENTY-EIGHT PAGES IN THREE SECTIONS SECOND CLASS POSTAGE PAID AT ROCKPORT, ARANSAS COUNTY, TEXAS 78382 WEDNESDAY, APRIL 2, 1980 Price 25c

Rockport, Fulton Elect Councilmen

Voters in the cities of Rockport and Fulton will elect new members to their respective city councils Saturday, April 5 — three council members for Rockport and the entire city council in Fulton.

Mayors in both cities — Walter S. Falk, Jr. in Rockport and L.E. Casterline in Fulton — are running unopposed.

In Rockport, voters in Ward 1 will elect a councilman to the seat now held by E.D. (Dan) Ward. Ward is running for re-election opposed by Peter W. Lazidis.

Voters in Rockport's Ward 2 will choose between incumbent Jerry Martin Shaw and challenger Henry Bent for the alderman's seat.

The dividing line between the two city wards is Laurel Street. Voters who live south of Laurel — in the direction of Aransas Pass — are in Ward 1 and will vote at Rockport's City Hall.

Voters living north of Laurel Street are in Ward 2 and will cast their ballots at Rockport Elementary School in Saturday's election.

Residents of Fulton will cast ballots for all members of their city council. Polling place will be at Fulton's City Hall.

Candidates for the city council, in the order in which their names will appear on the ballot, are Dominga Benavidez, incumbent; Lucia Pat Loflin, incumbent; Ray H. Patterson, incumbent;

Easter Vacation Starts

Students in Aransas County School System will be dismissed from classes Wednesday, April 2, at 2:30 p.m. for Easter Vacation.

Classes will resume Tuesday morning, April 8.

Voters To Elect Two To County School Board

Four candidates are running for two positions on the Aransas County Independent School District board of directors; one of these is a write-in candidate.

In Place 4, Gene Gregory, the incumbent, is the only one whose name will appear on the ballot, but Gayle Atchley is opposing him as a write-in challenger.

All voters in the county can cast their ballots for both positions this Saturday, April 5. The polling place is the cafeteria of the Rockport-Fulton Junior High School and will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Those elected will serve for a term of three years.

Dedication Of John Wood Courthouse Next Week

The United State District Courthouse in San Antonio will be renamed Monday, April 7, in honor of John. H. Wood Jr., Rockport native and U.S. district judge in San Antonio for eight years.

Aransas County residents are invited to the ceremonies set for 2 p.m. in the rotunda of the courthouse at 655 East Durango, San Antonio.

Chief Judge William S. Sessions of the Western District of Texas and U.S. District Judge Adrian A. Spears will preside over the ceremonies.

Also participating in the ceremony will be U.S. Senator John Tower and Congressman Tom Loeffler who introduced the legislation for renaming the buiding to the 96th U.S. Congress.

Mrs. Wood, family members, U.S. District and Federal judges, state and city officials and Federal officials from Washington D.C. are expected to attend the ceremony.

Ann Doughty, Regional Administrator of the General Services Administration, will unveil a special bronze plaque at the ceremony. The plaque will later be installed in the rotunda of the Courthouse.

Born in Rockport in 1916, Judge Wood practiced law in San Antonio for 30 years before being named by President Richard M. Nixon as a federal judge.

He was responsible for all or part of the criminal and civil dockets in the San Antonio, El Paso, Del Rio, Midland/Odessa and Pecos Divisions of the Western District of Texas.

FULTON GOES HOG WILD

You've heard the expression "whole hog"? Well, that's what was served up to the folks at Fulton's Oysterfest this past weekend, March 28-30, as the City of Fulton staged the first of what they hope to make an annual tradition. The pig was furnished by "Peg Leg" Captain Jim Furlong to recall a bit of nostalgia for folks in the community. Used to be, every Saturday morning Captain Jim could be seen at "Peg Leg Jim's Restaurant" roasting a whole pig -- just like he did this weekend at the Oysterfest. More photos from the three-day event will be in the Pilot Weekender.

IS THE EGG IN HERE?

There are quite a few eggs in the baskets of Jimmy Baros, left, and Michael McConnell, but as it turned out, none of them was the egg that won the prize. Jimmy and Mike were among some 26 youngsters who participated in an Easter Egg Hunt at Rockport's Peace Lutheran Church Saturday, March 29. Sort of an early jump on the Easter Bunny. What with rainy weather, the hunt was moved into the church and was followed by cookies and punch. Helping look for the "special" egg is Mike's mom, Jo Lee McConnell of Copano Cove.

Sewer Studies Underway By City, Water Board

Two separate sewer grant studies — one by the City of Rockport and the other by the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District — are currently underway in Aransas County.

Both studies are for the same purpose, to consider the feasibility of extending sanitary sewer facilities to area residents — but they apply to two different sections of the county.

The City of Rockport study is concerned only with an area inside the city limits, plus Rockport's planning area which extends about a mile beyond those limits.

The water board's study covers the northern portion of Live Oak Peninsula in Aransas County, excluding the City of Rockport and its planning area.

The water board's study does include City of Fulton proper (that area inside Fulton city limits) and from that point north to the Causeway. It does not include the area north of the Causeway (Lamar and Holiday Beach).

Other areas of the county that will be included in the Conservation District's (water board's) study, says Board Chairman Jack McDavid Sr., are the Copano Ridge, Copano Cove, Copano Village area, West Terrace and Peninsula Oaks.

Both studies are being done through a federal

Two Seats To Be Filled In Water Board Race

Two Directors of the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District will be chosen this Saturday, April 5.

Incumbents Cam Leonard and Richard Beck are running unopposed for re-election to the positions, which are for terms of six years.

Voting will take place in the north lobby of the Aransas County Courthouse; it will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Be sure and check all the Bingo Bugs -- you may be the winner of $100!

Cards are available at any of the 19 participating merchants.

Notable Notes

Joint Communion

The congregations of the First United Methodist Church and the First Presbyterian Church will worship together on April 3 at 7:30 p.m. as they celebrate The Lord's Supper. The service will be at the First United Methodist Church. Pastors Boyd Harris and John Bradshaw will administer the sacraments. The chancel choir of First United Methodist Church will sing. All members of both congregations and friends are urged to attend.

P.E.O. To Meet

Chapter EO, P.E.O., will meet Tuesday, April 8, in the home of Mrs. W.K. (Lois) Stoudinger at 1 p.m. The program will be presented by Mrs. Walter (Sally) Clark.

City Hall To Close Friday

Offices of Rockport's City Hall will be closed April 4 in observance of Good Friday. City residents whose garbage is normally picked up on Fridays are advised to put their garbage out a day early—Thursday, April 3. It will be picked up then.

Social Security Rep.

A representative of the Social Security Administration will be at the Courthouse in Rockport on Thursday, April 3, at 9 a.m. The representative will answer questions and also will help claimants file applications for the regular Social Security benefit payments as well as for Supplemental Security Income benefits.

Little League Auction

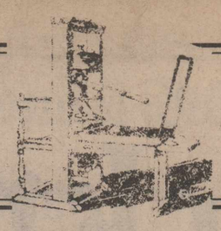

In order to raise money for the Aransas County Little League, workers are planning an auction on May 10-11 at the VFW Hall. Anyone interested in donating items to be auctioned off is encouraged to contact either Elmer Redden at 729-7204, John or Janice Cooling at 729-3237 or 729-8574, Bob Gummer at 729-6019 or Beverly Aery at 729-5762. The deadline for getting items in for the auction will be May 8.

Shrine Meeting

The Copano Shrine Club will meet on Wednesday, April 2, at the Sandollar Restaurant. Social hour will begin at 6:30 p.m., with dinner at 7:30 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling 729-6688 or 729-2584 by March 31. Visiting nobles and their ladies invited.

LIZ CARPENTER, FORMER PRESS SECRETARY TO Lady Bird Johnson is a gal I've always sort of liked. Used to enjoy her newspaper columns. So, it was a bit of a disappointment to learn last week that she has accepted a job as Assistant Secretary of Education and will be in charge of public affairs which I interpret to be public relations.

Now the Department of Education is one of those numerous gimmicks Jimmy Carter, the president who was going to balance the budget and all that sort of thing, has created. It is something the country needs about as much as it needs Jimmy. As John Connally pointed out a few weeks ago, while he was still a candidate for the GOP nomination, a department that already has so many employees so that there's one for every school board in the country.

As this writer sees it, school boards and the systems they operate have enough problems without the interference of sticky Washington fingers. For example, without Washington, education in this country would never have been disrupted (I almost said diseased) by such idiocies as forced busing and bilingual language silliness.

Specifically, as to Liz, I may be a bit jealous. You see, as a long-time newspaperman I've done a lot of PR work for free over the years. So when Liz racks up $50 grand per annum -- well, a gal's gotta live.

"I'M JUST AN AVERAGE GUY." THERE WAS A BIT of pathos in the voice I heard on the telly. William James Rummel was lamenting the Supreme Court decision that upheld the Texas state law that resulted in his getting life imprisonment for having stolen a piddling $200 and a little more. Harsh justice? Yes, at first glance.

The rub's in the fact that Rummel stole, once, twice and thrice. The law says a three-time offender can be given life imprisonment. Now I am more than just half certian that it cost the state more, much more than $200 to convict Rummels; indeed I suspect that each of his convictions cost more than that amount. Now three convictions over a short number of years is evidence, to me at least, that the man is a seasoned criminal, a menace to society.

The amount of money he stole has nothing to do with the question at all. Or, if I'm wrong, Rummel is just an "average guy." Heaven help us all!

THE FOREGOING VIEWPOINT I EXPRESSED VERBally a few days ago in a round robin conversation that included an exile from Yankeeland. He threw up his hands in horror. That a man should be given life for thrice-committed petty theft didn't bother him so much as the consideration that he as a taxpayer might be obliged to support the bum with his tax dollars through his years of imprisonment.

Before I could reply, anouther party to the conversation pointed out that our Texas prison system is self-supporting. "Here we put the scoundrels to work, pickin' cotton or whatever."

"Up north," our critic replied, "that would be called cruel and unusual punishment."

MY GOOD FRIENDS AT CHANNEL 16 HAVE JUST put me through another of what I call the "Semi-Annual Torture Sessions." This one they called "Festival 80."

As usual it included a considerable number of programs that I must regard as untypical of Public Television, much of it corn of no appeal to the usual 16 viewer.

All this done, of course, in an effort to support the station with voluntary contributions. Noble cause. Now, I am obliged to accept the fact that the station has a bit of a rough time keeping itself going in South Texas. How typical of the remainder of the country are we? I don't know.

This much I do know, albeit personal opinion—regular television, except for a handful of outstanding news programs and occasional specials is, well, awful.

What passes for drama and entertainment is horribly written script performed by third-rate performers. The whole is supported by advertising that, when not offensive, is an affront to everyone's intelligence.

Now, over a period of more than 30 years the public has been lulled into accepting what I can only regard as the most insicious brain-damaging form of entertainment ever laid on for the human race.

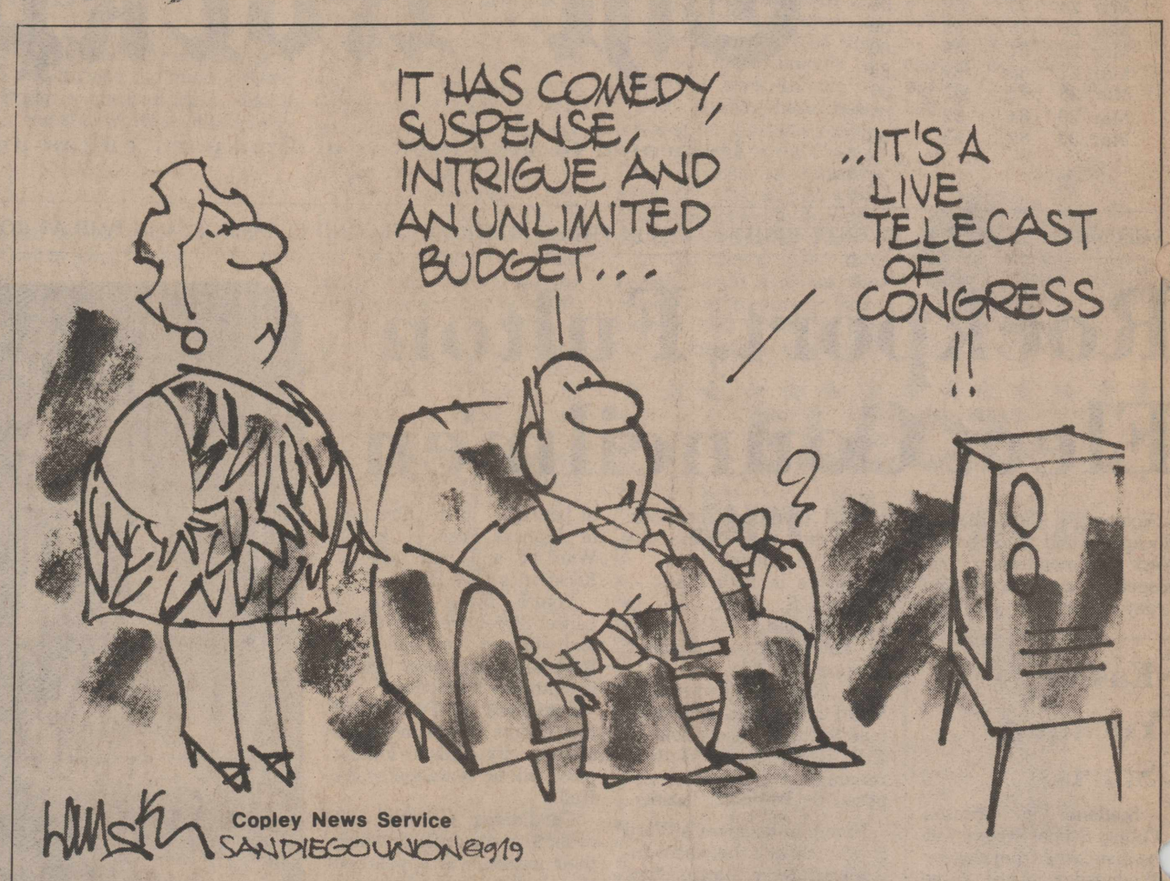

Public Television by contrast, and while far, far from perfect, does offer programs of measurable quality from the light drama of "Upstairs, Downstairs," to the Shakespearean plays, good music (and sadly, junk like "Austin City Limits"). Here you must pardon my three-score years. But never mind. Perhaps I digress when I have a point to make.

Channel 16 and its compatriots across the land are obliged to launch annual "begging missions" because of beggarly support from the public. The circumstance is, I think, a reflection of public taste and our ever-declining educational standards.

I wonder, for example, how many secondary level and college teachers in South Texas subscribe to Public Television? I don't know, but also suspect that were every educator in this area a subscriber, there would be an end to "Festival 80's."

And, lest I be charged with putting the burden on the teaching trade, let me ask how many people who hold college degrees are not subscribers, not lulled by the idiotic antics that go on via the commercial networks? In simple terms, I believe that people have been drugged, lulled into a complacency that has gradually led them to accept the tenth rate.

Incidentally, lest anyone suspect, I don't know anyone at Channel 16; no one there knows about these paragraphs. In fact they might not even like what I have written -- and I don't care.--ahab

Washington Report

By Sen. Lloyd Bentsen

In the distant mountain village of Kerala, Afghanistan, a now-silent field holds the remains of a thousand or more men and boys—victims of a mass slaughter which occorred on a Muslim holy day last spring.

The CIA has assured me it is almost certain that this massacre occurred, under orders from Soviet "advisers." I had written CIA Director Stansfield Turner for confirmation of this, after reading press accounts of this alleged atrocity.

According to those reports, the Afghan men were brutally murdered by Afghan troops under orders from Soviet soldiers. The troops had accused the villagers of aiding Muslim freedom fighters who steadfastly opposed the Marxist regime.

After the soldiers rounded up the unarmed men and forced them to huddle together in the field, they ordered the villagers to chant slogans of praise to the Marxist regime. Instead, the men shouted: "Allahu akbar"—God is great.

The Soviet advisers ordered the troops to fire on the men. Then, in a manner reminiscent of the Nazis in World War II, a bulldozer reportedly appeared, burying living and wounded alike.

Western reporters received word of the massacre from Afghans seeking shelter in Pakistani refugee camps. They talked to the women who lost husbands, brothers and sons. Those women emerged from a nightmare not unlike that of the infamous Nazi massacre at Lidice, Czechoslovakia, where the German troops in World War II murdered 179 villagers.

The Soviets in Kerala operated with the same tactics as the equally barbarous Nazis did.

In both cases, the oppressors coolly, callously photographed their destruction.

In both cases, the victims were unarmed, guilty only of refusing to yield to the demands for total subservience from a totalitarian oppressor.

But it's not the first time the Soviet Union has committed such atrocities in a bordering country.

"April 9, 1940, a few minutes before five in the morning reveille in the prison cars and preparation for departure...We are to go somewhere by car, and what then?:...From the very dawn, the day started somewhat peculiarly. Departure by prison vans in little cells (terrible); they brought us somewhere into the woods—some kind of summer resort. Here a detailed search. They took the watch, on which time was 6:30 a.m., asked me for my wedding ring, which they took, roubles, my main belt and pocket knife."

Those are the final words from the diary of a Polish soldier who had been taken prisoner when the Soviet Union invaded Poland in 1939. He was one of 15,400 Polish soldiers—the cream of the Polish military—who were kept for months in prison camps.

Through long, nightly interrogations, the Soviet captors sought to test the Poles' political attitudes to determine if they were prime candidates for becoming loyal Communists.

Only 400 men passed the test. Thousands of those who failed lay buried in the Katyn woods of Poland. They were murdered by Soviet troops in the spring of 1940.

The soldier's diary is part of evidence submitted before a U.S. House investigating committee in 1952. Also among that evidence were these words: "Why those were the intelligentsia, the most dangerous elements to us, and they had to be eliminated," one of Stalin's sons reportedly told a fellow German POW later during the war.

The Soviets tried hard to cover up the Katyn Forest massacre, by blaming the Nazis. Soviet officials moved up the massacre's date to 1941, a time safely after the Nazis took over the forest. And since World War II, Kremlin censors have placed severe restrictions on any mention of the Katyn Forest incident by the communist press.

So when the Soviet news agency Tass recently termed the Kerala accounts as "monstrous misinformation," it was nothing new. Soviet policy is one of complete denial and refusal to accept responsibility for any alleged government-inspired atrocity.

In committing such acts, the Soviets demonstrate total disregard for the principles of the United Nations Charter and the Nuremberg War Crimes Trials. These charges must shock the conscience of civilized people everywhere and should be exposed before the world.

We must not stand idly by and let this conduct remain unanswered.

Wyatt Speaks

The following is the text of a speech by Congressman Joe Wyatt in a meeting of the full House of Representatives, March 13.]

REDUCE OIL IMPORTS

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to inform my fellow members that they have the ability to vote on an issue which could potentially slash our oil imports to virtually nothing by the year 2000.

This is on the motion to recommit H.R. 3919 to the Conference Committee with instructions to report it with an independent exemption.

Such an exemption would not benefit the major integrated oil companies or for that matter, any integrated companies.

It would apply only to producers who obtain their income at the wellhead and not in distributing or retailing.

It would not establish a loophole through which the exemption could be transferred to larger firms.

Such an exemption would save over almost $19.4 billion a year in oil import costs by the year 1990 if the price of imported oil rises to the expected price of $76 a barrel.

It would also increase U.S. oil production by the equivalent of almost 700,000 barrels per day by 1990. It would cause an additional 14,500 wells to be drilled.

It would allow independents, who reinvest anywhere from 95 to 128 percent of their revenues into additional explaration and production to drill more wells.

It would remove the burden of regulation from roughly 99 percent of these domestic independent producers and foster competition in the oil industry by making drilling opportunities more attractive to these small businessmen.

Mr. Speaker, of the top 10 largest oil fields in this country, independent producers have discovered seven. They have discovered over one-half of the 239 giant oil fields in this nation.

They drill 83 percent of all oil wells and 90 percent of all wildcat wells. Further, they find 75 percent of the oil.

Refusing to exempt these small businessmen of the oil industry from the burden of the so-called "Windfall Profits Tax," or the Domestic Oil Production Disincentive Act of 1980, can only hurt this country.

Further, these independents will generally be taxed as individuals and will be paying up to a 70 percent tax on their increased income without the windfall profits tax.

Of all the potential sedimentary basins where hydrocarbons may be found, only two percent have been explored to date, and most of that only in shallow depths.

There is property in this country begging to be explored and developed. We have yet to test 98 percent of the United States potential oil producing areas, onshore and offshore. This means that we can be exploring 1900 million acres, or three million square miles, of untested land with hydrocarbon potential.

The only way this country can gain additional new oil reserves is by exploring these untested areas.

All of the easy oil has now been found. If we intend to increase our reserves we have to explore wells at greater depths than ever before.

The cost of drilling deeper dramatically increases with these additional depths. For example, the cost of drilling doubles every 2,800 feet drilled.

Mr. Speaker, if U.S. drilling is increased at 20 percent per year, a growth rate that can be realistically maintained until it is approximately four times today's drilling, we can discover up to 210 billion barrels of oil equivalent by the year 2000.

This would include oil, gas, and natural gas liquids. By comparison, today's reserves are approximately 50 billion barrels of crude oil equivalent.

With this accelerated drilling program, U.S. oil imports can be reduced from 3.9 billions of barrels of oil equivalent today to 2.2 billion barrels of oil equivalent by 1990 and totally eliminated by the year 2000.

The independents can play a major role in this increased domestic drilling activity, and will play a major role if they can be exempted from this outrageous tax.

Our Nation needs an active, vital energy program. This legislation is at cross purposes with such a need. We must stimulate domestic oil production.

How can one question a proposal that will allow a group of explorers to continue searching for energy when this group has a history of expending more dollars annually in such exploration than they earn as income?

History has shown us that any mineral will be successfully found and developed when the greatest number of people and capital are actively seeking it.

The high risk, however, means that this oil will not be found cheaply. However, it can be found and produced much more cheaply and at much less cost than imported oil in the future.

The only asset an independent can claim is his reserves in the ground. The future cash values of these reserves determine what the borrowing power will be for these independents.

This borrowing power is necessary for wildcat exploration and rapid development of discoveries.

An independent does not have any pipelines. He does not have a refinery. He does not market refined products. As such, he cannot use these items as assets to be borrowed against.

If we are to truly attempt to tax major oil companies for their excess profits, such taxes should not be borne solely by the domestic producers of that oil

Major oil companies derive their profits in a large part from their foreign operations, which does include passing the cost of foreign oil production on to consumers in this country.

Further, these companies receive the benefit of huge foreign tax credits which are not available to these domestic independent producers.

It has been said that a barrel of domestic oil is worth six times as much to the United States economy as a barrel of imported oil.

Capital that is not spent on imports is capital retained to generate income many times over within the American system through wages, jobs, investments, taxes and savings for Americans.

Mr. Speaker, we must unite as a nation to solve our energy problems. We cannot continue to use oil at the present consumption rate, but we must have time to make the needed changes.

The incentive to increase our domestic reserves should be our highest priority along with development of other energy sources.

Further, this legislation does not clearly reveal how tax revenues will be used. But it is suggested that some money will go for various Federal energy programs.

I can see no greater national interest than to use oil revenue to increase our energy resources by exempting independent producers.

Our Readers Write

Dear Editor:

Well, here we are at election time and the squirrelly concerned citizens are at it again.

I imagine that the "Midnight Mimeographers" are burning the oil, and putting on their slippers, in preparation of another all-out assault on somebody, or something, good for the community.

It's a shame that some people have to manipulate reputations or distort the truth at the last minute in order to defeat a candidate or an issue, but I suppose that without this sickness the "shrinks" would be hard put for employment.

I have spent many hours trying to visualize what such a person would look like if you could ever run into him in the daylight, and the following is what I came up with. I thought you might be interested.

First off, I think of this person as having fang-like teeth to correspond with the devilish ideas that eminate from his brain. Of course they would buck and protrude so that these ideas would spill out even with his mouth closed.

I also visualize this type as using some form of physical crutch, not because he needs one, but it would attract sympathy and could also be used for self-defense in the event he is identified by one of his victims.

Of course he would drive a Van or sedan-type truck that could also be used to haul the "Midnight Marauders" about to their concerned meetings and other matters necessary in the distribution of their paranoic paraphernalia.

And, even though the issues and election involve only the citizens and voters of the City of Rockport, he would come from his out-of-town, and in some cases out-of-county, home and "manipulate" the election through tactics reminiscent of the Ku Klux Klan.

Oh yes, we can all look forward to the weekend. Stay close to your phone and door because you are likely to get a call or receive a circular from this person or one of his vindictive cronies.

At least I am proud that I live in a country that tolerates this type of "patriotism," and these types are still trying to take over.

I guess the real purpose behind my writing this letter is to ask everyone to get out and vote for what, and who, you believe in and try and weigh such opinions for what they are worth; usually nothing.

Thank You,
s/Bill Walston

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

Senator John C. Culver (Iowa)"...One of the major arguments against gasohol has been that the net savings in oil can only be delivered through co-generation using waste heat, using solar or other renewable sources or coal to vaporize the alcohol in the distillation process.

"It gives me great pleasure to tell you today of a new method of ethynol production discovered by Dr. Charles Oulman and Colin Chriswell of the Ames Laboratory at Iowa State University.

"This process eliminates the need for heating and distillation process by selectively absorbing the alcohol with a silica-based substance. The alcohol can then be removed and the silica material recycled. The process can be used with readily available equipment and can greatly reduce costs.

"(I) ask that an article in the Cedar Rapids Gazette be printed in the Record..."

(The condensed article):

"New Method Is Good News For Gasohol"

By Ken Sullivan

Dr. Charles Oulman, a civil engineer temporarily assigned one-quarter time to the Ames Laboratory outlined the discovery, crediting the initial revelation to another Ames Lab researcher, Colin Chriswell.

Typically, ethynol is produced through a distillation process. Grain (corn) mash is processed into a "beer" then refined still further until the high potency alcohol is yielded through evaporation.

Under the concept now being explored with considerable intensity, alcohol of equal or higher purity can be produced through an absorption process, a much simpler method that also uses far less energy.

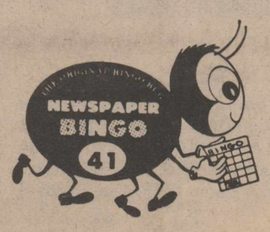

In other words, instead of the evaporation step, the corn mash (beer) can be subjected to an absorbent material that extracts the alcohol and a limited amount of other impurities from the liquid, while rejecting the water, sugar, protein and other undesirable agents.

Oulman compared the absorption process with the mechanics of a water softener. The liquid is introduced into a container in which the absorbent material, in this case a silica-based substance, is contained and the alcohol absorbed.

The substnace, opened a new realm for the researchers who immediately recognized the potential applications in alcohol production.

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Knowledgeable people are working overtime to solve America's energy problems. New discoveries should come as no surprise.

Food Stamp Rule Causing Problems

A federal regulation in the food stamp program designed to provide rapid assistance for destitute Texans also is encouraging cheaters to take advantage of the scaled-down process for determining eligibility, a state investigator said today.

Ed Richards, chief of the investigations division of the Texas Department of Human Resources (DHR), said a provision of the Food Stamp Act of 1977 mandates that applicants for food stamps who are deemed to be in an emergency situation receive the stamps within two working days.

Richards said this shortcut through the normal period of 14 to 21 days to determine an applicant's eligibility makes it extremely difficult to verify information given by the applicant, and puts incredible pressure on DHR workers who must decide if the applicant gets the stamps or not.

When federal authorities issued the proposed expedited service regulations to the state for review, DHR program executives predicted that some persons would attempt to take advantage of the revised eligibility process, Richards said. He added that when the federal food stamp managers implemented the plan anyhow, it hindered DHR efforts at determining eligibility, although DHR is devising ways to deal as best as it can with the situation.

"The idea of expedited service is a good one," Richards said, "because people who are destitute need their help right now. However," he continued, "if an applicant deliberately gives false information it is unlikely we can determine this within two days."

Richards said that caseworkers, assuming a real emergency when an applicant seeks expedited service, try to get the stamps to the applicant in three or four hours. This leaves little or no time to verify the applicant's story, Richards said.

Although verification of the applicant's story may be difficult, the identity and residence of the applicant must be verified before benefits are issued. This verification may, by regulation, come from a collateral contact and cheaters use a cohort to supply it.

Richards said cheaters who have been detected all tell a story similar to this:

The person applying for expedited service in a food stamp office usually is a woman with a boyfriend or a husband assisting her in the scheme. The couple arrives in a town and locates an address that is either a vacant lot or a nonexistent apartment number in an apartment complex in a low-income neighborhood.

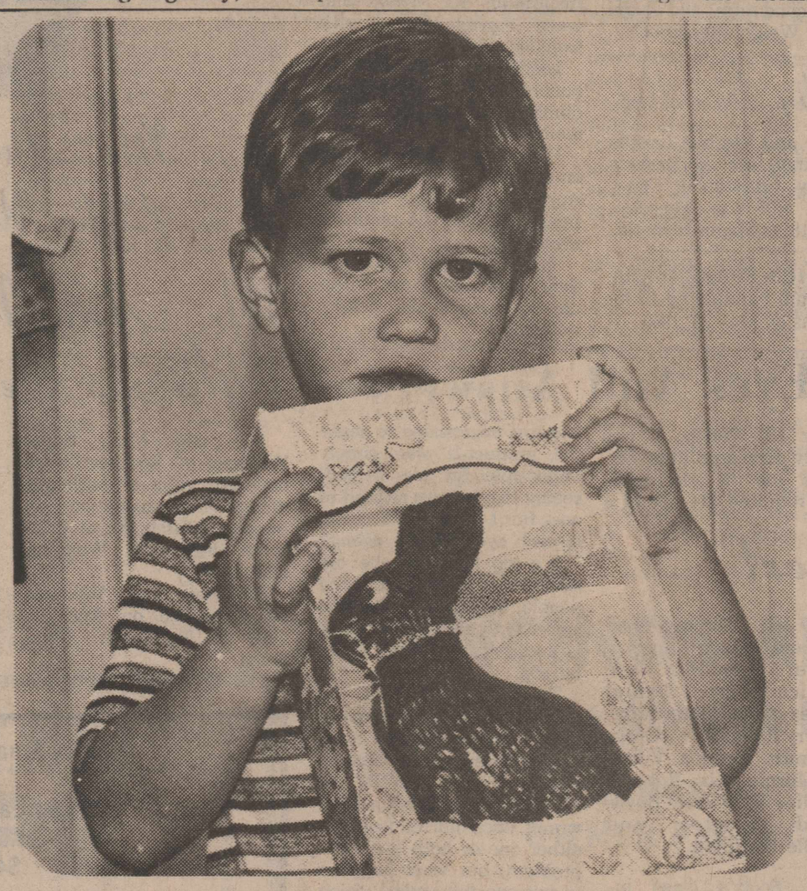

The boyfriend or husband will provide the woman with a note verifying her situation as destitute, and stating it was written by the woman's landlord.

The woman provides the food stamp worker with a plausible story of having arrived from out of state where her husband had deserted her and her children. She will fill out an application, listing her children, careful to record ages nine or more months apart.

The application has a space to indicate if expedited service is desired, and by federal regulation the worker must explain what this provision means.

Some people have requested expedited services in several towns in the same month, Richards said.

If convicted, welfare cheaters may be fined and sent to prison for as much as 10 years. Restitution usually is included in the penalty.

Eyes And Answers

Dear Dr. Pettey: I was recently dismissed after getting a job in electronics which required the use of a two-eye microscope to make the product.It was simply impossible for me. I kept seeing two images instead of one. But I have 20/20 vision in each eye. What's wrong?

It's too bad that the old standard of 20/20 is, to many people, supposed to indicate well-functioning vision; your is a classical example of its fallacy.

Two-eye problems in vision are the major reasons so many millions of us must wear glasses, not because of 20/20, 20/60, 20/100 or worse in vision. Don't get me wrong, such blurred vision in either one or both eyes is a problem; but what happens to two-eye (binocular) vision under such blur is more often the cause of much worse visual discomfort and poor visual performance.

Concerning your problem with the microscope, there are several possibilities for your difficulty: The distance between the eyepieces could be slightly different than the distance between your own pupils. Or you may not have sufficient depth perception at close ranges, caused perhaps by early illnesses. That definitely could affect your ability to hold your two eyes on the same spot for any length of time. Then again, you may be one to whom long periods of near work are disturbing. In that case, you might be more suited for sales or some other type work enjoyed by the extrovert personality. Some companies are set up to give adequate vision tests to determine vision skills needed for certain jobs.

AN OPEN LETTER

DEAR PARENTS and TAXPAYERS,

Other schools in Texas and across the nation are giving their children the kinds of courses and teaching that encourages each student to do the best he can and to get the most he can from the education our tax dollars buy. But we are told this is impossible in this district. Why?

And other schools across the nation are offering continuing education programs for adults; GED programs, vocational courses, life-enrichment courses, everything from English and conversational foreign languages to gourmet cooking, from tax preparation to furniture upholstering. A program like this is ideal for, and is demanded by, the sort of population that makes up our residents and our visitors. And if done right, those programs don't cost a single tax dollar.

It is your school system — and you should be concerned, especially if you are a parent. But if you have ever tried to get involved in making Aransas County schools a little better, a little more effective, you've probably gotten nowhere. Why? The school system, its teachers, administrators, and board members are yours. They should be open to your ideas and responsive to your suggestions . . . because it is your school system. And because we're concerned parents and taxpayers we're going to make a better school system with your help.

If you care about the children of today, and the county of tomorrow . . . if you care about your tax dollars and want to make as few of them go as far as possible, then please vote Saturday, April 5 for Gayle C. Atchley for school board, place 7 as a write-in candidate.

Urgently,

Gayle C. Atchley

To vote for GAYLE C. ATCHLEY write in her name on the BLANK LINE for PLACE 7 at the bottom of your ballot.

If you care about our schools, and want to help our effort to improve them, a contribution of $1 or more to help cover the cost of this ad would be greatly appreciated.

Girls Win Trophies At Aransas

The Lady Pirate JV team turned in a sterling performance last weekend, winning the Aransas Pass track meet over class 2-A varsity teams.

The girls' teams were divided up to get more of them into competition. The seniors and some JV performers went to Calallen and about nine of the younger girls went to Aransas Pass to compete against six other teams.

In that meet, first place winners included Julie Huff in the shot put (32 feet, one inch), Darlene Dilworth in both the triple jump (34 feet, three inches) and the long jump (17 feet), Alma Dickerson in the 100-meter dash (11.7 seconds), Lory Broadhurst in the mile run (6:09 minutes).

The 440-yard relay team of Belinda Cross, Huff, Dilworth and Dickerson placed first (51.93 seconds) as did the 880-yard relay team of Cross, Huff, Lee Elsey and Dickerson (1:52.8 minutes).

Second-place finishers included Dilworth in both the high jump and the 440-yard dash.

Fifth-place finishers included Dickerson in the high jump, Tammy Walker in the 880-yard dash and Delfina Walker in the mile run.

In the Calallen JV Division, Danielle Adams was first in the 100-meter hurdles (15.7 seconds) and second in the long jump (15 feet, two inches).

Tammy Barlass finished sixth in the mile run as did the 880-yard relay team of Adams, Kim Foitik, Barbi Moshier and Delia Huff.

Netters Win Tourney At Tuloso

By Bob Crawford

Rockport-Fulton brought home the hardware from the Harold Wesson Tournament in Tuloso-Midway, as the Pirates Varsity netters claimed the first-place trophy.

Tony Aleman won first place in the Boys' Senior Singles by defeating an opponent from Robstown 6-2, 6-2 in the championship round. Also in the Boys', Donnie Estes reached the semifinals before bowing out to Aleman's finals opponent.

In the Senior Girls' Division, Meredith Montague lost out in the semifinals, losing to Maggie David of Aransas Pass, who played for the championship of the division.

The Junior Division team from Rockport tied with Refugio for second place.

Phillip Viccinelli and Shawn Bateman placed first in the Junior Division Doubles.

In the Girls' Singles, Vicki Bang and Holly Garrison both reached the semifinals before losing out.

Competing in the tournament were 14 teams, including most area AA and AAA schools. All teams from District 15-AAA took part.

Pirates Compete In Two Meets

The varsity and freshmen teams took part in the Calallen track meet over the weekend, while the JV team went to the Aransas Pass event against class 2-A varsity schools

At Calallen, David Corpus won the varsity 880-yard run with a time of 2:01.06 minutes -- a new class record for RFHS.

Bubba Scott finished second in the shot put and third in the discus.

Kroy DeForest was fifth in the shot put and Mike Contreras was fifth in the mile run.

In the Freshman Division, David Ramirez brought home the honors by winning the 880-yard run in 2:08.25 minutes, which was a new meet record, and the mile run in 4:46.45 minutes, breaking another record that had been held by Peter Booth.

Fourth-place finishers included Ernie Lara in the 220-yard dash, Damaso Galvan in the mile run, Charles Ochoa in the discus, James Tumlinson in the shot put and Marty Israel in the pole vault.

Joe Cantu was sixth in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles as was the 440-yard relay team of Cantu, Richard Nava, Joe Lara and Ernie Lara.

In Aransas Pass, Clyde Barre finished first in the 440-yard dash.

Second places were taken by Mike Covarrubias (high jump), Mike Arthur (shot put and discus), Lupe Contreras (440-yard dash) and Raul Castro (880-yard and mile runs.).

The 440-yard relay team of Covarrubias, Michael Simmons, David Kelly and Contreras placed third; the mile relay team of Simmons, Barre, Contreras and Castro was fourth.

Fifth places were taken by Covarrubias in the long jump and Kelly in the 100-yard dash.

Mark Goodin in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles and Covarrubias in the 220-yard dash both finished sixth.

Pirates ClobberWarriors

By Bob Crawford

Dynamite comes in small containers, and Rockport unloaded some dynamite on Tuloso-Midway Friday night in the person of left fielder Mark Goodin, who connected for back-to-back home runs and paced the Pirates over the Warriors in Rockport's 11-5 victory in Tuloso.

Goodin, just called up from the JV, responded with three hits in four trips and drove in three runs in the contest. Chris Butler went three-for-three, scored three runs, and drove in a pair to share the spotlight. Wayne Childers opened for the Pirates on the mound and took the victory, altough he needed some help from Mark Setterbo in the fifth inning.

In a wild second inning, the Pirates jumped out to a 3-0 lead, and could have scored more if the breaks had fallen right. TM came back to score once in the bottom of the inning.

Again in the third the Pirates struck, this time for two runs, and some faulty base running cost them more runs, but they were ahead 5-1. Goodin's first blast accounted for the runs.

Rockport broke loose for three more markers in the fifth inning, one of which came on the second shot by Goodin.

Trailing 8-1, TM came up with a pair of runs in the fifth as the Pirates ran into some fielding problems, making two costly errors in that part of the inning.

The Pirates put the game away in the sixth with three runs, although the Warriors answered with single markers in the sixth and seventh.

The win now evens the Pirates' district record at 2-2, and makes the season's record 3-8.

Following the winning ways of the Varsity, the JV polished off the Warriors 9-0, behind the two-hit shutout tossed by Tim Redden.

Providing much of the offense for the Pirate JV was Aaron Commander who picked up three hits, including a home run. Commander drove in five runs for the night. Fred Mullins and Adam Harden each knocked in a pair of runs.

Redden pitched four and a third innings before giving up the first hit to the Warriors.

Relays Rained Out

The RFJH Buc Relays track meet was cancelled due to bad weather last weekend.

Efforts were being made to reschedule the event, but with the Easter holidays coming up, the possibility didn't look promising.

District Tennis Coming Up

By Bob Crawford

April 9 and 10 are the dates for District 15-AAA's Tennis Tournament at Tuloso-Midway. Rockport-Fulton will be the favorite to win the tournament.

The Pirates will carry some of the top seeded players into the tournament in the Senior Division. Tony Aleman is the top ranked player in District 15-AAA boys singles. Meredith Montague is ranked second in her division, and Terri Price and Nancy Crites are Number one in doubles.

In the Junior Division, Glen Groves is ranked third; Phillip Viccinelli and Shawn Bateman are ranked third in doubles; Holly Garrison is first seed in Junior Division singles; and Jennifer Janecek and Karen VonHeuvel are the first pair in doubles for girls.

A third division is set up for district play, and that is the Freshmen Division. Rockport-Fulton will have no seeds in the division.

In all, the Pirates will have thirty-three players competing in the event.

Coach A.C. Blunt noted that the seeds were determined by tournament performance thus far. Any player who was given a seeding drew a bye in the first round. All other players have to play their way through their bracket.

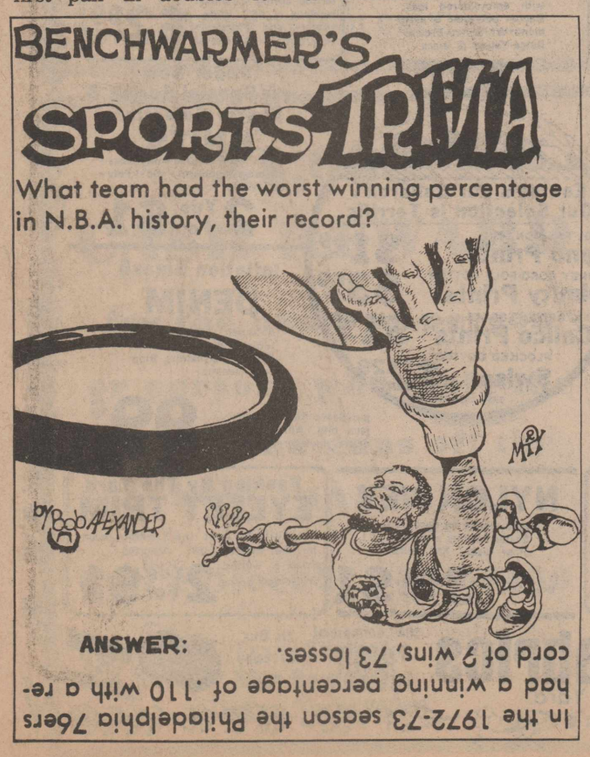

The players will play two-out-of-three sets with add. There will be a nine-point tie breaker if needed in the first two sets, and the third set will be played out all the way. The overall team winner will be based on most firsts, seconds and third finishes.

Whale Killing Continues

The Federal government declared whaling by U.S. vessels illegal in 1971. The importing of whale products into this country also was prohibited. But because whales belong to no country, swimming through the waters of many nations, it was not possible for the U.S. alone to halt worldwide whale killing. This could happen only through international negotiation.

NOAA Administrator Frank, whose agency administers the Marine Mammal Protection Act, believes continued pressure upon other nations of the world ultimately—perhaps soon—will halt commercial whaling. But even then, Frank acknowledges, for a time whale hunting will still exist at a moderate, controlled rate which will not threaten the whale population.

For some societies, he explained, the taking of whales is both a necessity for survival and an important part of their culture.

PINE TREE OFFICE PARK-NEW HOME OF SECURITY REAL ESTATE BRANCH OFFICE

Security Real Estate Branches Out

Security Real Estate now has two convenient locations in Rockport to serve you: the Security Building on Highway 35 where it has been located for several years; and their newest office on Highway 35 in the Pine Tree Ofice Park.

The new security Real Estate office will handle residential property, while the original office will handle primarily commercial and investment properties.

Delmar Hiller will manage the Commercial and Investment Office.

The Pine Tree Office Park is the newest addition to the Rockport business industry, and looking through a window or walking through the office park boardwalk is like being in the middle of an East Texas pine forest.

Ron Hoover, office manager of the new office, and former manager of the original Security office, said the firm is excited about the new office and is impressed with the beauty of the new office buildings.

"We've also got the best salespeople in town!" added Mr. Hoover.

Mr. Hoover, along with Security veterans, Jackie Shaw and Jad Smith, welcome newcomers Donnie Noster, Bettye Thomas, and Martha Lewis who have been with the firm for two weeks. Mr. Hoover added their three newest salespeople were with another area Real Estate firm, but Security is proud to have them on their sales team now.

The original office will retain the same phone number, 729-2256, and the new office number will be 729-3325.

For a touch of East Texas scenery and South Texas hospitality, visit the new Security office in Pine Tree Office Park.

Outstanding Students Named

Linda Rinche and Nancy Adams have been named Outstanding Students for the months of January and February at Rockport-Fulton High School.

The announcement was made by Norman Spears, assistant principal.

Miss Rinche, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rinche of Rockport. Miss Adams, also 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.N. Adams of Rockport.

Miss Rinche's achievements are in the fields of music, drama and speech. This is the third year she has placed in the All-Region choir and she is president of the R-F choir.

In solo and ensemble competition, she received the highest possible rating on her Class One solo, the most difficult.

"I love to sing. I do it all the time," Miss Rinche said. Also a member of the Thespians (drama club), she has acted in several productions directed by drama coach David Rice.

In last year's One-Act Play, in which students compete with area schools before a panel of judges, Miss Rinche was named to the all-star cast at the district level and received honorabel mention at Regional.

Miss Rinche's speaking voice also brought her honors at an earlier speech tournament in Port Lavaca. Out of more than 30 high school teams, she made the semi-finals in prose and Bible-reading.

"Bible-reading is tough," said Miss Rinche. "We're judged on pronunciation, diction, interpretation -- and to make it harder, a minister sat in with the judges. You have to be perfect!"

She has a year left before graduating, but she's already thinking about her future. "I think I'd like to go to either Texas University or Sam Houston in Huntsville and major in Radio and Television Communications. I might like to be a television announcer."

Miss Adams, a junior, is being honored for her achievements in music, drama and speech.

She plays the flute and piccolo in the band and is assistant drum major. She is also a member of the Thespians.

Her strongest point, though, is in her ability to interpret. At the tournament in Port Lavaca, Nancy was named to the final 18, out of hundreds of contestants, in Bible-reading and the final six in poetry interpretation.

"Poetry interpretation is more than words," she said. "We were also judged on facial and body expression, good voice and presentation.

"What makes it more difficult, a judge may think the presentation is good, but not the selection; we were also judged on that.

Surprisingly, Nancy's future goals are in mathematics. "I love math! I think I'd like to be an accountant. I haven't decided on a college yet, but I think I'd like to attend Texas A&M at College Station.

Miss Adams is also a sports fan, listing her favorites as tennis and skiing.

The First National Bank has honored both girls by presenting each with a $50 United States Savings Bond.

The Outstanding Student of the Month is nominated by classmates and faculty. Final selection is made by a panel consisting of Grover Watkins, counselor, two faculty members and two members of the student council.

'Log' Does Well In Contest

Each year the student newspapers across Texas send their papers to be rated in Austin by the Interscholastic League Press Conference (ILPC), a branch of the UIL.

This year the Pirate Log of Rockport-Fulton High School placed eleventh in the rankings for schools with more than 400 students enrolled, and which mimeograph their newspapers. This means that Rockport-Fulton was in competition with all large 2-A schools, 3-A schools and 4-A schools using the mimeograph process. The Purple Pride of Humble was the winner in the division.

"We were only three rating points away from ranking in the top ten," said Mr. Robert E. Crawford, the advisor for the paper. "Thanks to the new rating system, the raters now indicate where there is room for improvement, and that gives the paper something to shoot for next year," Crawford went on.

The divisions for papers in the state are Printed, Part of the Local Paper, and Mimeographed. Included in the division with Rockport-Fulton were schools which set their type on stencil but use the offset method to repreduce the paper.

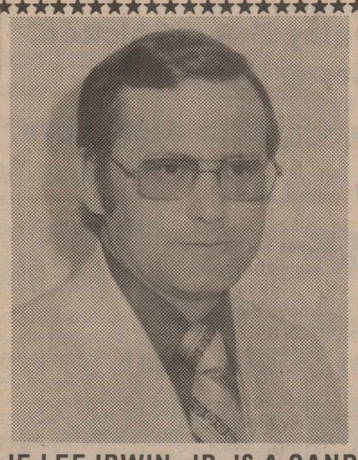

The strongest categories for the Pirate Log were Overall Impressions, Layout, News Stories, Sports News, Columns and Features.

Accurate Records Help

Although taxpayers are not required to use a specific recordkeeping system receipts, cancelled checks, bills, old returns and other written documents are essential in proving their expenses, the IRS says.

By law, records must be kept three years after the return was due or filed or two years after the tax was paid, whichever was later.

A major exception to the retention rule involves records on property transactions. These records should be retained for as long as they are helpful in determining the basis of original or replacement property.

IRS Publication 552, "Recordkeeping Requirements and a Guide to Tax Publications" gives more information and can be obtained by ordering a copy using the coupon found in the tax package or by contacting IRS.

mothers and babies

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS

A knitted shawl is a particularly convenient blanket for new babies because it wraps around them easily when they're up and stays tucked in over them when they're in bed.

According to child-care experts, almost all babies, particularly first babies, have fretful spells, most often in the afternoon or evening. Sometimes a car ride or music will help. The fretfulness usually goes away after a few months.

Aransas County School Board Candidates

FOR PLACE 4

Joe Ed Meyer

I have just completed my first term on the school board, of three years. I would like at least one more term to implement some of the programs we have got started.

With three children in school, I am very much interested as a parent and a taxpayer in our school district. It's a tremendously responsible job, and I feel like the people who care about our school system should get involved.

I feel a tremendous responsibility, and I want to stay on the board and do my best for the Aransas County Independent School District.

Pete C. Ramirez Jr.

Having worked so closely with the band and other school groups these past few years, I'd like to see better communication between the teachers and the Board Members.

Our Vocational program needs to expand to offer students that will not attend college a wider choice of vocations they can go into after graduation.

I'd like to see our system offer Adult classes to help adults obtain their GED.

I would be free and available to discuss problems with parents or interested parties of Aransas County.

Being that I am retired, I will be available at any time and will always strive to do the job to the best of my ability.

Ramirez

FOR PLACE 7

Gene Gregory

I have been a trustee of the Aransas County Independent School Board for the past three and one-half years.

I wish to continue working toward keeping our District in step with the growth of the community.

I am a graduate of Aransas County High School and have lived in Aransas County for 29 years. I am married, with two children in the Rockport - Fulton Schools.

I am self-employed as a bait shrimper and dealer and live in the community of Lamar.

I am dedicated to the needs of our school district.

Gregory

Gayle C. Atchley

I graduated from Aransas County High School, as did my husband. We returned two years ago and enrolled our child in elementary school. Of course, as her mother I've been interested in her education. I've also been working in the district as substitute school teacher in almost every grade and subject.

I know the good points of systems like Rockport has. But I'm very much aware of their weaknesses.

The standard of education in the county is not as high as it could be and should be.

We need a curriculum which helps students to learn and develop to their maximum abilities. We don't have that now, but it is easy to get started. All it takes is some initiative by the school board.

We don't have an adult education program here, either; but we could have, and should have. In an area of this size, with our diverse resident and visiting population, we need continuing education courses in everything from foreign languages to furniture upholstery, from GED to gourmet cooking.

And these courses can usually be made to pay for themselves. All it takes is some direction by the school board.

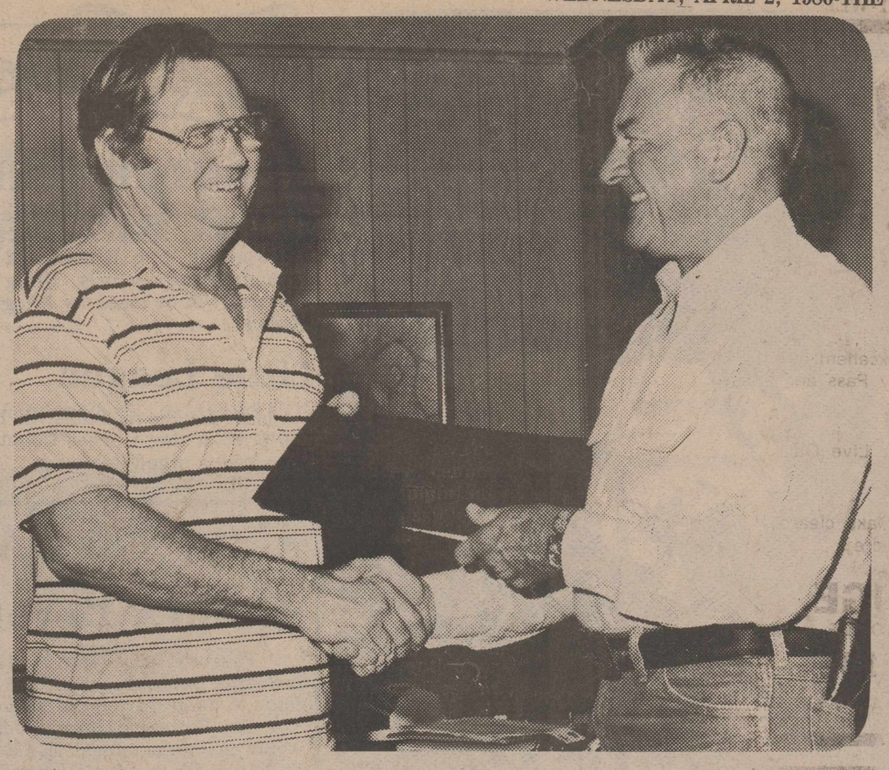

Finally, we need the interest and active involvement of concerned parents and taxpayers.

We soon should have a parent-teachers' association, which I intend to support; and we need a school board which will work to give us the programs I've described above.

If elected, I'll make that my first concern.

Atchley

In a very brief and informal ceremony at the Key Allegro Community Building on Thursday, March 20, a "changing of the guard" took place in preparation for the upcoming Sea Fair. Ken Faulkner, right, the General Chairman for last year's event, handed over the Sea Fair files to Bob Bernardy, who will be in charge of Sea Fair VI. Faulkner said that Mr. Bernardy was asked to take the responsibility because of the interest and very good work he had done for the event in the past. [Pilot Photo by Eddie Bradley]

SEAFAIR LEADERSHIP CHANGES

Accent On Health

Scientists now believe the opposite of "laughing yourself sick" — they think you can actually laugh yourself well.

"Norman Cousins, then editor of the Saturday Review, was diagnosed in 1964 as having a severe spinal disease called ankylosing spondylitis," said Dr. H.L. Harle, Director of the Chronic Disease Division of the Texas Department of Health (TDH).

Cousins soon found out that good, solid belly laughter reduced his pain — and helped cure him. Today, he lives an active life which includes playing tennis.

Dr. Harle says that sustained exercise causes an exhilarating response because it also triggers the brain to produce endorphines. "This is why joggers claim that after they have run awhile they get on a natural high," he said. "Naturally, this is a good way to relieve stress."

Dr. Harle said hobbies and outside activities are also good. "It's been said one reason Jack Nicklaus is such a good golfer is because he enjoys fishing so much," he said. "Whenever the golfing tour gets to be too much for him, he goes fishing."

Dr. Harle says he defines stress as "anything that bugs you." He says if you are under stress, sit down and analyze what is causing your distress. "Talk out your worries," he advises. "Share your problem with someone you trust and respect. Don't keep things bottled up inside you that really bother you."

Stress can be caused by a variety of factors and they are not always negative. Stress is caused by positive situations too, such as getting married, winning an event or getting special recognition.

Dr. Harle said the ability to handle stress comes from within you, and not from the outside. He said excessive drinking, smoking or drugs do not help you adjust to stress. These things are habit-forming, and they may just temporarily mask the symptoms of your problem without doing anything about what is actually bothering you.

He said you should know your stress limitations and try to simplify your life if you can. Such things as eating slowly, relaxing for 10 or 15 minutes twice a day, listening to soft music and pleasant talk are often helpful in handling stress.

Fulton City Council Candidates

FOR MAYOR

L.E. Casterline

I'm running for re-election because I'm interested in the community.

We have some things started that I would like to see finished. I've had a real good council to work with this past year.

FOR ALDERMAN

Dominga Benavidez

I'm running for re-election to the Fulton city council because I want to be of service to the city of Fulton.

Ray Patterson

I'm running for my second term on the Fulton city council. There isn't much to say, except I'd appreciate your support Saturday.

James Metzger

Whether elected to the city council of Fulton again or not, I would like to see the following projects completed:

Our street signs that we have must be installed.

Every home be assigned a House Number, which we now have a committee working on.

There are areas along the Fulton Beach Road that certainly need cleaning up.

We need a public Boat Ramp and a large parking area.

The last and most important is to keep as low a Tax rate on our people in Fulton as possible.

Katherine McLester

I hope to continue the good work we (the Fulton city council) has got started.

We have our street signs ...We're rolling and we hope to do better.

I'd like to support the slate of present officers on the council — we work well together.

Lucia Pat Loflin

I moved here from Oklahoma City in 1964 and have owned Bay Shore Court, Beach Road and Chaparral for 16 years.

I worked on Fulton incorporation, am a member of Fulton Town Council, Past President of Rockport-Fulton Tourist Association and am a charter member of the Ladies Auxiliary of Fulton Fire Department.

I am a member of the Episcopal Church.

Antoinette J. Lamonte

I am running for a seat on the Fulton City Council because, as a property owner and a retiree, I am concerned about the ever-increasing costs of government and day-to-day living costs.

When elected, I will do my best to see that the residents of Fulton get maximum benefits for their tax dollars, and will do what I can to preserve the enjoyable quality of life in Fulton.

Since I am retired (25 years with the Texas Department of Human Resources), I have time to listen to the citizenry and to represent them on their council to the best of my ability.

My goal is to find out what the majority of people in our community want and to cast my council vote accordingly.

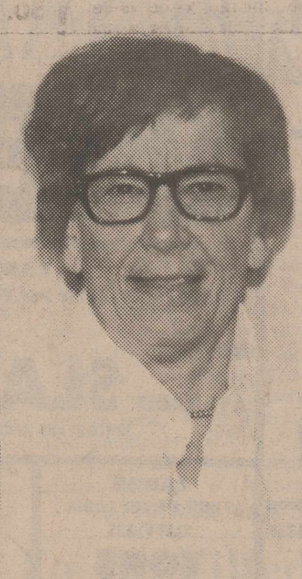

I believe I can do this as an independent candidate and still work in harmony with the others who will be elected.

INJURY CLAIMS

Between 1965 and 1973 the average settlement for claims filed against manufacturers for alleged injuries climbed from $12,000 to $79,000. — CNS

To the Voters of Prec 3 - Aransas County

Although I originally intended not to seek re-election to the position of County Commissioner of Precinct 3, circumstances I cannot control have changed my mind. I also am working on an important drainage project that I want to complete. I filed as early as possible so any opposition I might have would be aware of my intentions.

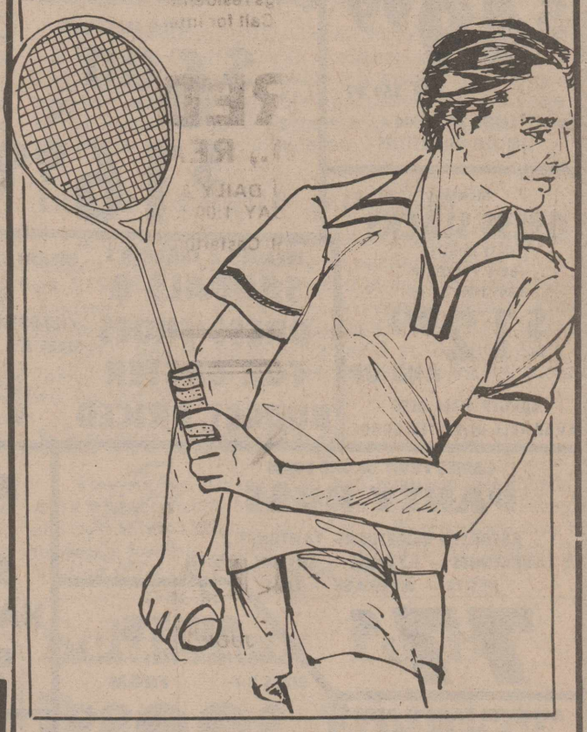

I have many years of actual experience and I am County Judge Pro-tem, having filled that important position during Judge Wendell's emergency illness.

I have no other business or job to distract my attention or influence my opinions and can give my full time to the business of Aransas County.

Thanking you for your past support and seeking your present approval in the May 3 Democratic Primary.

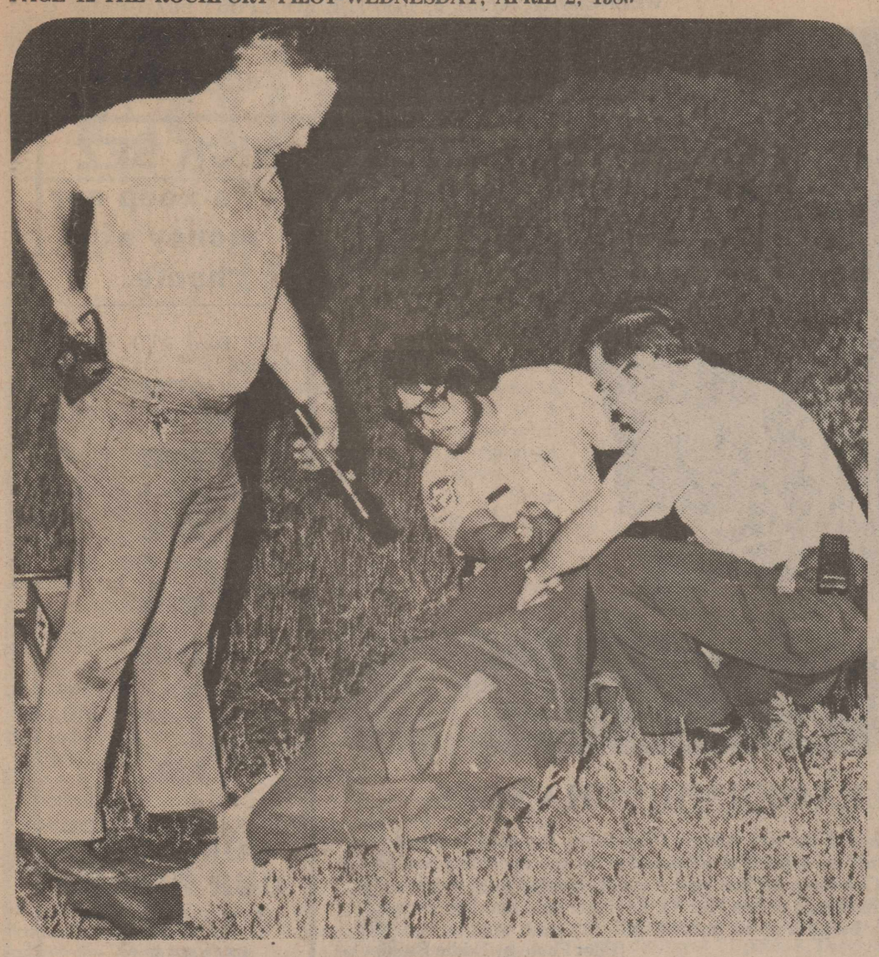

Sincerely
Raymond Owens
Commissioner
Precinct No.3

HIT AND RUN CLAIMS VICTIM

Officials were looking for a dark-colored car, believed to be a 1973 Dodge, after a hit-and-run driver took the life of Randell Lee Cotton, 24, of Lake Jackson. An unknown witness called the Aransas County Sheriff's Office about 10:10 p.m. Friday to report the incident. Texas Highway Patrolman Ricardo Zuniga, who investigated the incident, said Cotton's body was in a bar ditch at the entrance to Cove Harbor.

REACT DINNER

Rockport REACT would like to invite the public to a covered dish dinner on April 8 at the Recreation Buiding at the Airport at 7 p.m. REACT will furnish the meat, coffee, tea and eating utensils. Bring a covered dish. Blood pressures will be taken by a registered nurse during the evening.

Little League

Little League meetings will be held each Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Aransas County Courthouse. Everyone interested is urged to attend.

City Seeks Animal Homes Before Friday

The city has some 18 dogs in the city pound, including Doberman Pinschers and bird dogs, that are fated to be destroyed unless someone claims them.

City Secretary Herman Johnson said anyone who wants one of the animals can have it — all they have to do is pay for the dog's license and vaccination. They must be destroyed Friday, April 4, if no one claims them.

"These are good dogs," Johnson said, and the city does not want to destroy them if homes can be found. He added that the animals include adults and puppies.

Anyone interested in adopting one of the animals is asked to call City Hall.

ELECT

James Metzger, incumbent; Antoinette J. Lamonte, challenger; and Katherine McLester, incumbent.

The five council candidates — not including Casterline seeking the mayor's seat — who receive the most votes will be seated as Fulton's new city council.

The present city council was elected when Fulton was incorporated a year ago. Under state laws, the first council serves only one year, then the mayor and entire council must go up for re-election.

After Saturday's elections are canvassed, Fulton's new city council members will draw to determine who will serve for one year and who for two years. Beginning in 1981, part of the council will be elected in odd-numbered years and the remainder in even years.

Polls for both city elections will open at 7 a.m. Saturday and remain open until 7 p.m.

Absentee voting ended at 5 p.m. Tuesday, April 1.

SEWER

grants administered by the Environmental Protection Agency. Under terms of the grant, the government pays 75 per cent of the cost with the local agency picking up the remaining 25 per cent.

Rockport's sutdy is projected to cost about $55,578 total, with the city paying just under $14,000 of that amount. City officials say there are funds available now to pay the city's share.

The Conservation District is projecting a cost of the District of some $18,674 for their share of their study, with federal money supplying another $56,000.

Since the Conservation District does not have taxing powers, McDavid said Aransas County is paying its share of the funds for the study.

The studies being undertaken by both the city and the Conservation District are under Step I of the EPA-administered grant program.

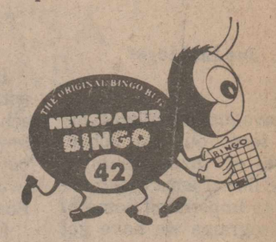

Purpose of Step I is to determine the feasibility of the proposed sanitary sewer projects and to get public input on the proposal.

Both agencies — the city and the water board — have set up public participation programs as required by the EPA. The city's program is under direction of Carl Hoit and the water board's is headed by Mick Ladner.

Both studies have been initiated for the same reason — projections by the Coastal Bend Council of Governments for "dymanic growth" of the population in this area during the next few years.

In the city's case, this growth would overload the present city treatment facilities by 1982 or '83. In the case of the water board, the study is to determine the need for facilities which are not now available outside the city of Rockport.

In making their studies, the two agencies — the city and the Conservation District — are working independently of each other, and their planning areas do not overlap.

Rockport City Council Candidates

FOR MAYOR

Walter S. Falk Jr.

I have been mayor of Rockport for eight years.

The real estate taxes have increased six cents in 110 years.

Rockport has the lowest tax[illegible] a 13-county area of ar[illegible] giving like services.

It has the best police and fire departments.

It has the lowest sewer costs.

It has the lowest trash collection costs.

Rockport is the only city on a cash basis. That is, we paid cash for all police cars, fire trucks and sanitation trucks, whereas other cities issued bonds (to pay for these things).

We are successful in keeping taxes down by putting all available receipts into short-term high-interest guaranteed accounts, which has helped increase each city service account.

Each year has shown outstanding audit reports.

City expansion has been controlled and of great benefit to Rockport is the Harbor Oaks Development, Allegro North, Bay Club, new apartments and condominium complexes.

The new shopping center to the north has petitioned for annexation.

We are continually expanding the municipal Park.

Personal:

I am a graduate of Drexel Institute of Technology, Army Commander and Staff College, a retired lieutenant colonel of the U.S. Air Force, past deacon of the Presbyterian Church, past commander of the VFW Post, past district governor of the Lions International.

I am an honorary member of Rotary, past president of District 11, Texas Municipal League, past director of the TML and currently first vice chairman of the Coastal Bend Council of Governments and a member of the Environmental Quality Committee of COG.

Show your support for me in my efforts to keep Rockport the Best and Most Attractive City In Which to Live.

FOR ALDERMAN, WARD 1

Dan Ward

My re-election would enable me to see some of the projects I have been a part of through to completion.

Four years ago, I began a campaign for long-range planning on our sewer system, particularly for south Rockport. This has now been started; however, much more work is needed.

The animal ordinance is my goal. This is not a leash law. This project is so broad it will aid large as well as small animals and would provide them shelter, food and water for several days during an emergency.

It was my idea that the city needed its own boat for ski patrol. We now have this boat, but an ordinance is needed to go along with it.

It was my inspiration to send a resolution to the State to begin the by-pass as soon as possible. We appointed a very able committee, which has brought us to a much earlier completion date than the 1998 projection.

My desire is to see the saltwater pool restored, the beach brightened and even designate all of that area as a park. I have also pushed for a fresh-water olympic-sized swimming pool for Memorial Park.

I do not feel that I am on a dictatorial council, but represent the people of Ward One. My loyalty is to those people, and together we can "fight City Hall."

Rites Held For Walter Hatley

Walter Hatley, a former Rockport resident, died in a Houston hospital, March 24.

Funeral services were held in Waco on Wednesday, March 26. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church and the Masonic Lodge.

Survivors include his wife, Mildred; one brother, and several nieces and nephews.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatley were residents of Rockport from 1965 to 1979 before moving to Houston.

Pete W. Lazidis

I am owner of the Yacht Basin Motel and since my arrival here three years ago have been involved in many civic and community activities.

I am presently on the Board of Directors of the Rockport-Fulton Tourist Association, a member of the Rockport area Marine Advisory Committee, and a Rotarian. During the summer I also captain one of our private charter boats.

I have served as advertising chairman for the Aransas County Medical Services benefit dinner theater production, and as boat chairman in the large fund raising auction during 1978 for the benefit of the same group.

Being a local businessman, I have decided to run for city council, Ward 1, because of my concern for the direction of Rockport's future growth.

There is a need for new faces and fresh ideas in our city government. We are fortunate to have a number of younger business people returning or moving to Rockport to establish themselves, and we must allow them representation and an audience for their ideas.

These persons are the future of Rockport.

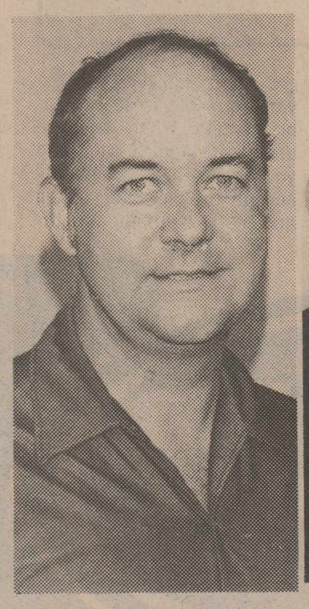

As a businessman I am interested in the planned economic growth of the community as it affects all residents as well as the retention of the environmental surroundings.

I realize the need for the successful blending of both resident and tourist interests in support of our local economy.

For the last 15 years I have been a Texas resident, primarily living in Dallas. There I received my bachelors and masters degrees in Business Administration, with a major in real estate and finance, at Southern Methodist University.

After having traveled and lived overseas I decided to settle in Rockport. My past business experience includes the areas of international banking with Republic National Bank, real estate development and U.S. Government. I am married and my wife, Virginia, is a teacher in Aransas Pass.

FOR ALDERMAN, WARD 2

Jerry Martin Shaw

Serving on the City Council for the last four years has been an extension of my longstanding commitment to community involvement.

That is my personal sentiment in regard to my motives for serving and wishing to continue to serve on the Rockport City Council.

Since my family and I arrived in Rockport in 1964, we have been continually involved in every manner of civic activity.

I am currently a member of the Rotary Club, Lions Club and Sailing Club as well as a director of the Chamber of Commerce, Aransas County Medical Services Inc. and Live Oak State Bank.

I have always tried to lend support to programs and activities that would promote Rockport now and in the future. Some of the proposals have succeeded and some have failed, but I have always taken a stand and followed it through.

It seems essential to me that the City Council be made up of a balance of diverse ages and business interests just as our community is made up of families with children, people in business and retirees as well as many others.

I have attended every city council meeting, researched every issue and voted my conscience every time. I would like to continue serving Rockport in the capacity of city councilman.

Henry Bent

My decision to seek election to the City Council was based on several factors. I saw a need for a new voice and some new approach to our problems as a city. I also felt the voters in Ward 2 deserved an opportunity to make a choice.

I don't think it's healthy to have an incumbent run unopposed. I believe the vitality of the governing system is strengthened when there is competition; only with competition can the voice of the people be heard.

I believe in Rockport, its past and future. I'm in favor of progress, but to me progress does not mean high rise condos, traffic so heavy you can't cross the street or taxes so high you can't afford to eat.

To me progress is a safe town, adequate medical facilities, pretty parks, a nice beach and recreational facilities, not only for our visitors but for all the people in Rockport.

To me progress is being able to enjoy living in a town and not worrying about what our elected officials will surprise us with next.

I want the drunk driver in jail, the dope peddler banished from our community, a free and complete disclosure of government activity to the public and a stop to the idiotic duplication and waste caused by the lack of cooperation between the city and county governments.

Join me and let's turn things around and remember, nothing will happen unless you VOTE.

Ducks Unlimited Chosen To Speak

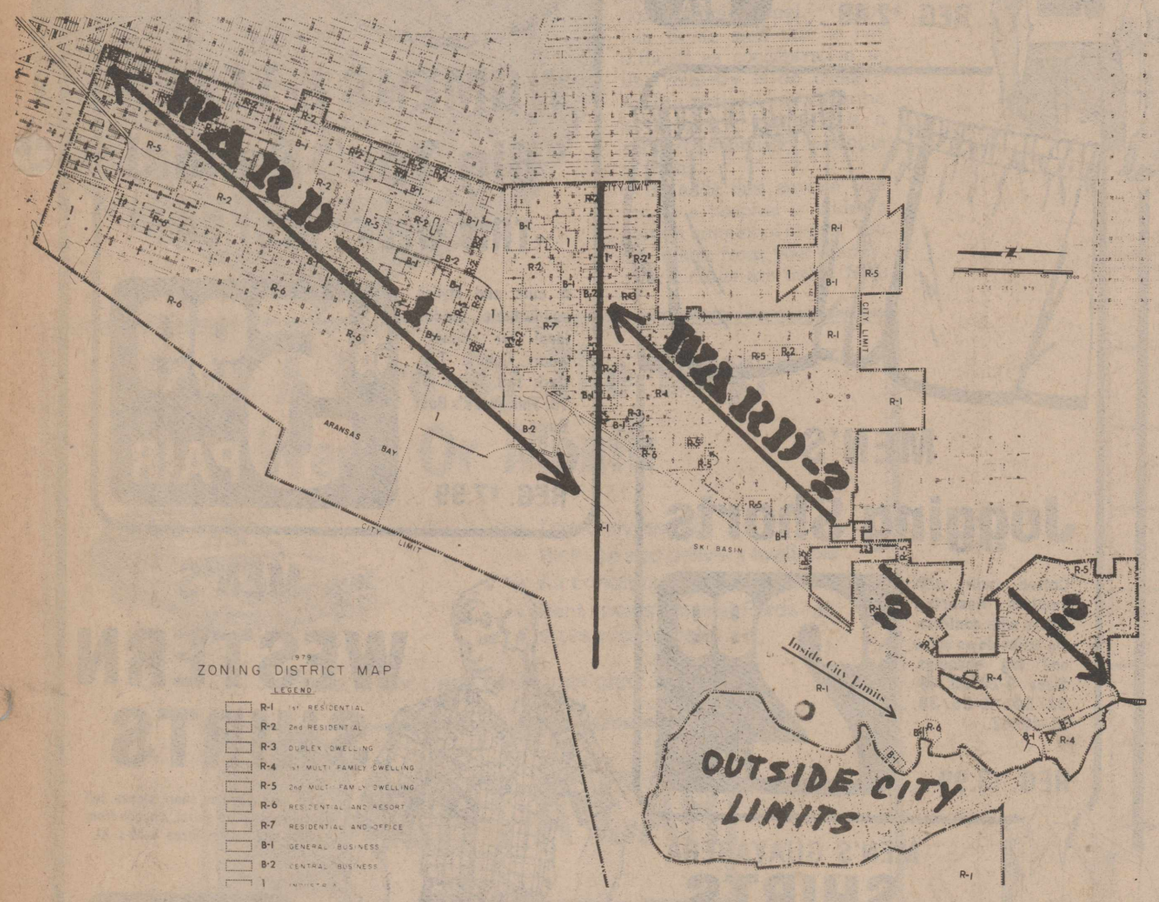

The Rockport-Fulton Chapter of Ducks Unlimited have been chosen to speak at the National Convention of Ducks Unlimited scheduled for April 23 through 25 in Houston.

The chapter was chosen because of the amount of money they raised for the organization. Money was raised through auctions, dances and drawings, said Chapter member, Jody Rouquette. The Rockport-Fulton Chapter grossed over $50,000 for the cause.

There are approximately 1,500 chapters across the nation, mainly supported by sportsmen. Money raised by the various chapters goes to Canada where ducks and geese breed.

The first organizations were formed in the 1930's and the Rockport-Fulton chapter was formed in 1978.

The local chapter has approximately 25 members.

WHERE TO VOTE

Map shows the dividing lines between Rockport's two wards. City voters wil go to the polls Saturday, April 5, to elect a mayor and one alderman from each of the two city wards. The boundary between the two wards is Laurel Street. All eligible Rockport voters south of Laurel Street will vote in Ward 1 [polling place is City Hall] and all eligible voters north of Laurel Street vote in Ward 2 [polling place is Rockport Elementary School]. Polls will open at 7 a.m. and remain open until 7 p.m. on election day. Absentee voting began Monday, March 17, for the city elections and will continue through April 1 from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays at City Hall.[Map Courtesy of the City of Rockport]

Local Man Hurt In Accident

Robert E. Gummer of Rockport was injured in Corpus Christi on Friday, March 28, when he was involved in a motorcycle accident.

He lost control of the motorcycle, struck a guard rail and then slid down an embankment.

Gummer spent two nights in a Corpus hospital and came home on Sunday.

Taxpayers Must Substantiate Property Contributions

Taxpayers claiming contributions of property as a deduction must be able to substantiate their donations, the Internal Revenue Service said.

Taxpayers should keep records, receipts or other evidence to substantiate property donations.

In claiming the deduction, the taxpayer must include with the Form 1040 a statement listing the dates and amounts of each contribution, the type of property donated and the method of determining the property's value.

If used furniture, clothing, securities or other property are donated, the taxpayer may deduct an amount equal to the property's fair market value.

Fair market value is the price the property would change hands at between a willing buyer and willing seller.

For each piece of property valued over $200, the original cost or other basis in the property, fair market value, appreciation, conditions of the gift and a copy of the gift's appraisal must also be included with the tax return, the IRS said.

Two free IRS pamphlets, Publication 561, "Valuation of Donated Property" and Publication 526, "Income Tax Deduction for Contributions," discuss contributions and may be obtained by using the handy coupon at the back of the tax package.

Squash

By B. FRANCIS KLEIN
Copley News Service

Naturally yours. SQUASH.

Squash is a vegetable that seems to be in vogue all the time, although in the Western United States there are more varieties grown than in the East.

Squash is rather high in carbohydrates, so it's not a dieter's choice.

"Naturally Yours"

Squash varies in both calories and vitamins depending on the type of squash, the season of the year when it matures and is ready for market.

Almost all year, you can get fresh squash of some variety in the fresh vegetable section. When they are abundant, and if you and your family like squash, buy enough to cook some extra and freeze it for the months when it isn't going to be available. But even if you miss out, you can get fresh frozen squash and even canned squash.

Squash has a nutty flavor. In the South, they bake a squash pie with a little nutmeg and ginger in it and you'd have a heck of a time telling it from pumpkin pie.

Squash — it's naturally yours.

STRAWBERRIES

Red, ripe and ready are luscious, fresh strawberries. They are at your H.E.B. now. Absolutely luscious! One of the secrets of developing the deepest strawberry flavor is to let the berries, sliced and sprinkled with just a little sugar, stand at room temperature for a while. To be sure you'll select the finest quality strawberries, buy berries that look fresh, clean, bright, and have a full, solid red color. They should be free from moisture, and the cap should be attached. Strawberries are an excellent source of vitamin C. It's great that something we like so mush is also good for us.

Backyard Gardener

By PATRICK DENTON
Copley News Service

The world of fertilizers is often a mysterious one to many backyard gardeners. Nitrogen, phosphorus, trace elements, 5-10-5, organic, chemical ... the confusing list of terms goes on aed on. What does it all mean?

To begin with, any fertilizer will have a formula written on the package, such as 5-10-10 or 4-12-8. These numbers indicate the percentage of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash respectively in the fertilizer. These three are the major elements required by plants. Each must be available in sufficient quantities in the soil for the plant to be healthy and to grow normally.

The amounts indicated on the fertilizer package are always given in the same order. For example, a fertilizer marked 11-48-0 contains eleven percent nitrogen, 48 percent phosphorus and no potash.

Here is why these three elements are so necessary to plant life. Nitrogen stimulates leaf and shoot development, and a strong green color in plants. Plants that are starved of nitrogen are a pale, weak green. Leaves are small and stems weak. Too much nitrogen stimulates overlush growth which makes plants weak and sappy, delaying seed and fruit formation and the ripening of woody plants. Nitrogen is available as ammonium sulphate, containing about 21 percent nitrogen and as ammonium nitrate, 33 percent nitrogen.

Phosphorus promo es flower and fruit development and good root growth. A deficiency shows itself in stunted plants, purplish leaves and small, weak roots. Phosphorus is available in the slow-acting bone meal, and as superphosphate.

Potash strengthens plants and promotes the production of starch and sugars. Wood ashes are a good source, but are not recommended for potatoes since they are alkaline. The presence of alkali favors the development of scab on potatoes.

In general, leafy vegetables like lettuce and spinach require large amounts of nitrogen, while root vegetables and fruit-bearing plants require more phosphorus and potash. Legumes like beans have the same needs as root vegetables, because they can produce their own nitrogen through bacteria in their roots.

Other elements necessary to healthy plant growth are calcium, magnesium, sulphur, iron, and the trace elements boron, manganese, copper, zinc and molybdenum. Though none of these is needed in large amounts, their complete absence in the soil could lead to poor plant development.

To know exactly the state of your garden soil, it is a good idea to have your soil analysed. A call to your nearest Department of Agriculture office will obtain for you the information you need to gather a sample of soil accurately. A soil analysis will indicate any element lacking in your soil, and what to add to it for improved quality.

State Of The Region

By Juliet K. Wenger
Coastal Bend Council of Governments

Healing is being viewed today as a process of the whole, a balance of physical mental and emotional well-being.

Clergymen and lay people of the Coastal Bend are taking special training now available to them in ministering to the sick. The training is provided in the pastoral services department of Memorial Medical Center, under the direction of Chaplain Medicus Rentz, in Corpus Christi.

There are several different plans under which they can enroll. Interns, who are attending or have completed seminaries, take courses under any of several programs, requiring from three months to three years study.

Pastors of churches in the Coastal Bend enroll in continuing education courses, studying a few hours a week, better qualifying themselves to serve members of their congregations when they are ill or contending with grief.

In this same way, church members can qualify themselves to deal professionally with duties relating to the ill.

Most of the education is clinical, with interns and other students working with patients, then reviewing with one another and their instructors what they were called upon to do and how well they were able to accomplish it.

Chaplain Rentz says that physicians are most supportive. In many instances, chaplains are able to contribute to the health of the patient by working with him and by working with his family, helping the doctor accomplish physical healing.

There are also cases of working with someone who feels guilt and responsibility, perhaps having driven a car in which someone was killed.

Another difficult transition is to a way of life which must be changed drastically, as may have to happen with loss of a leg, of sight, or with serious burns or illnesses. In crisis, many people feel a need to talk it out.

Training and work with the ill in the medical center is non-denominational. Chaplain Rentz said this is not difficult as concentration in this ministry is on concern for the patient, not doctrine or theology. He calls it a supportive ministry to people in crisis.

He adds that anyone who enters a hospital is under a certain amount of stress. You are taken from your family, your clothes are taken from you, and you are dealing with many elements of the unknown.

To help this person deal with stress, the minister has first to be able to listen, to hear and not to let his own experiences and beliefs block communications.

Chaplain Rentz suggests that a pastor or layman can counsel or minister to a person who is ill or in crisis only to the extent that the patient wishes this done and invites it.

Pet Talks

By Dr. Hap Lutz

Dr. Lutz is a graduate of Baltimore City College and Texas A&M University. He specializes in small and exotic animal practice. He was an instructor of small animal diseases and surgery in the Veterinary School at Texas A&M and was in private practice in Waco for 25 years.

THE DOGS THAT HELP THE BLIND

Undoubtedly, one of the most noble and outstanding contributions to mankind made by dogs is to serve as eyes for those who have lost their vision.

In the United States, there are several organizations that train dogs for this most worthwhile purpose.

A list of these organizations includes the Eye Dog Foundation, Los Angeles, California; Leader Dogs for the Blind, Rochester, Michigan; Master Eye Foundation, Minneapolis, Minnesota; The Seeing Eye, Morristown, New Jersey; Guide Dogs for the Blind, New York, New York; Pilot Dogs, Columbus, Ohio; and Second Sight Guide Dog Foundation, Forest Hills, New York.

The policy of eye dog foundations is to supply (free of charge) eyes for the blind in the form of a guide dog. Even the harness and leash is furnished.

Also, during their one-month training period, the students live on the campus in a dormitory and all housing and food is free of charge.

The dogs are put through an intensive six-month training period before they begin to work with their new owner. This training session together is one month.

The various organizations find it is necessary that the temperament and character of the dog be compatible with that of the student.

The training starts with obeying basic obedience commands such as: come, sit, down, fetch, forward, right and left.

Once that hurdle is attained, the dog must be trained under traffic conditions to:

Stop at the curb at the end of each block.

Go forward on command only if it is safe to do so.

Cross the street straight to the opposite curb, and to stop so the blind person will not stumble.

The dog is taught to clear her master, safely, of all over-hanging obstacle, low objects and manholes.

To wait, while approaching automobiles have passed.

Pass other animals (such as cats, dogs, birds, etc.) without being distracted from her work.

Not to be distracted by noise or traffic.

Guide her master to a bus, elevator, airplane, or car and ride with him.

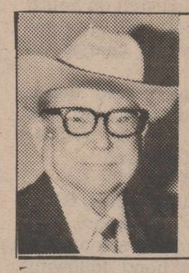

Find doors in and out of buildings.

Stop at the top and bottom of stairways so that her master will not fall.

If you have any questions concerning the health and care of your pet, please mail them to Dr. Lutz in care of "Pet Talks," Rockport Pilot, 1002 Wharf Street, Rockport, Texas 78382. Your questions will be answered in Dr. Lutz's "Pet Talks" column in The Pilot Weekender edition.

Paula Rogers Young Careerist

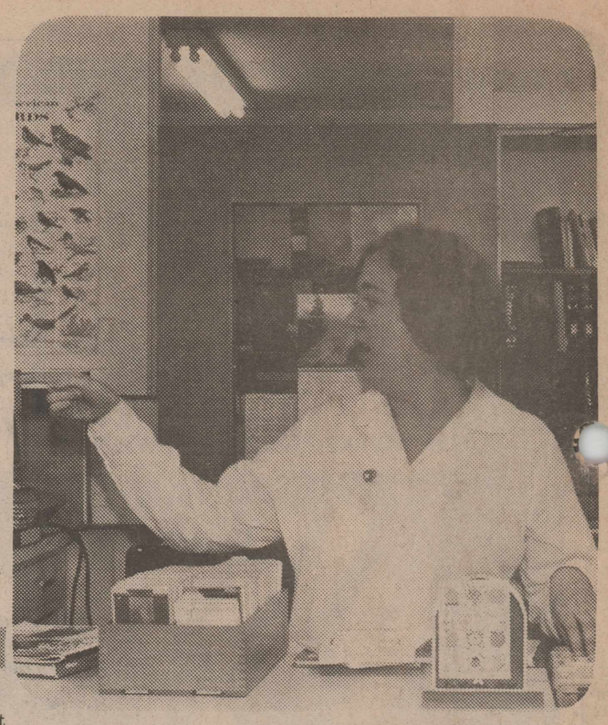

Paula Rogers, a resident of Rockport for 20 years, and a 1973 graduate of Rockport-Fulton High School, has been chosen Young Careerist for the Business and Professional Women's Club of Rockport.

Ms. Rogers, who has been a member of the B&PW for five years was chosen for her contributions to the community and business qualifications.

Career women between the ages of 21 and 30 are eligible for the honor.

Eunice Hamon, chairman of the Young Careerist Committee, said each club selects one person to participate with other Young Careerists on a district, state and national level. The Young Careerist reaching state level receives a scholarship, said Ms. Hamon.

Ms. Rogers, who was born in Little Rock, Arkansas, is also an Avon Representative, and an Aransas County Library Volunteer for nine hours each week.

AARP News

By Lucille E. Skrobarcek

Hostesses for game afternoon on Thursday, March 27, were Mrs. Sybil Bone and Mrs. Kay Ragot.

Thirty-six persons played at seven tables of bridge and two tables of canasta.

Winners in bridge were Mrs. Lorraine King and Mrs. Thelma James. Mrs. Sue Serfass and Mrs. Marty Day were the winners in canasta.

The finale was won by Mrs. Marguerite Stambaugh.

The next game afternoon is Thursday, April 3, at 1 p.m. at the Paws and Taws Building.

Wednesday, March 26, 47 members and two visitors attended the covered-dish dinner. All enjoyed a delicious meal and good fellowship.

After the luncheon, Paul Riddle reminded the members of the Coupon Exchange Project which is to be held each month on the fourth Wednesday after the covered dish luncheon.

This exchange is for the members. There is no one person in charge and each person is responsible for his coupons.

An AARP-sponsored dance is set for Wednesday, April 2, at 7 p.m. Bring a friend and remind interested persons that it is not necessary to be a member of AARP to attend these dances.

The dances will not be held on the first and third Wednesday during July and August, but they will resume in September. Other activities will be planned for these evenings during the summer.

The business meeting of AARP Rockport Chapter 1536 in April will be Wednesday, April 9, at 10 a.m. Coffee and cookies will be served at 9:30 a.m. before the meeting.

The guest speaker at the April 9 business meeting will be Ms. Annette Reddel, Sea Food Consumer Education Specialist associated with the Sea Grant Program at A&M University.

Her subject will be the preparation of local seafood.

A second guest speaker, Ms. Anita Dingenary, will speak briefly on the Little League Program in this area.

If you are in need of assistance in preparing your income tax forms, trained counselors are available at the Aransas County Public Library in Rockport.

This service will continue through April 15. There is no charge. Bill Fishwick, coordinator for this program, states that this program is progressing very well.

The "Talent Dollar Project" will be closed out at the April 9 business meeting and the net profit from this project will be announced.

Realtors Want To Help Eliminate Buying Problems

A Realtor is a professional who can help in deciding the type of home ownership that is best for each client. Also, the Realtor can help with placing a family or individual in a suitable neighborhood. There are sometimes problems in homes, though, that should be referred to engineers, architects and builders to satisfy client questions. As homebuyers look at properties, these are some of the items that a professional might be called about to reassure the buyer:

TERMITES. Professionals can be hired to investigate a house for all types of bugs.

WIRING. Professionals can be asked to check to make sure that there is adequate voltage and adequate amperage. Perhaps there might be old wiring that needs replacing. Also, the house could have insufficient branch circuits or wall outlets.

HEATING AND COOLING. Prospective buyers should visit the house on a cold and a hot day to see that the house is comfortable. Professionals are able to check that insulation is adequate and that the heating and cooling systems properly function, if the buyer has any concerns.

HOT WATER. If a house has inadequate hot water, the problem may be an undersized or low grade water heater. An expert can help solve this problem.

PLUMBING SYSTEM. Professionals can rid houses of plumbing noises, leakages, rust or mineral deposits that cause cloggings, and defective septic systems.

BASEMENTS. Although not many houses in Texas have basements, a house with a basement may suffer from wetness, dampness or leaks at the tops of the walls. A professional can give the homebuyer possible solutions.

HOUSE FRAMING. If this is defective, a house could have bulging exterior walls, unlevel window sills, sagging doors, cracks between the chimney and exterior walls, weak or defective floors, windows and plaster. Experts can easily take care of any of these problems.

Realtors find that most concerns are easily solved for the homebuyer.

Rites Held For John Sutherland

Mr. John Robert Sutherland, 63, of Sandia, passed away Sunday, March 30.

Mr. Sutherland was a retired engineer aide with the Texas Highway Department.

Survivors include his wife, Carrie Lee; two sons, John R. Sutherland, Jr. of Austin, James Edward Sutherland of Corpus Christi; two daughters, Mrs. Leo M. Scruggs of Alice, Mrs. Gene Vrana of Corpus Christi; two brothers, J.W. Sutherland, Karnes City, T.L. Sutherland, Sr. of Mathis; four sisters, Mrs. F.J. Russek of Karnes City; Pearl Westover, Katy; Miss Elizabeth Sutherland, South Field, Michigan; Mrs. John A. Lewis of Rockport; and eight grandchildren.

Rosary was recited at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Dobie Funeral Chapel. Funeral services were conducted at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at the Dobie Funeral Chapel.
