McClellan Calls For Statutes On Labor Transport Monopoly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) called today for antitrust legislation to deal with labor racketeering in the transportation field. He said testimony taken by the Senate Rackets Committee at public hearings this week showed that nationally known publications had been compelled to pay tribute to racketeers to assure delivery of their newspapers. McClellan, chairman of the committee, said in a statement: "It is an appalling thing when racketeers can successfully exact tribute from newspapers like the New York Times, the New York Journal-American and the New York Mirror and a major publishing firm like the Neo Gravure Printing Company."

McClellan said the testimony "clearly indicates that the time has come for Congress to seriously consider the enactment of special antitrust legislation in the transportation field." He said he had directed the committee staff to prepare such legislation for consideration by the Senate Judiciary Committee, which handles antitrust measures. "It is obvious to the whole country," McClellan said, "that the labor unions themselves cannot handle the critical problem of racketeering." Officials of Neo Gravure Printing Co., Weehawken, N.J., which prints Sunday supplements for several newspapers, testified at the hearings they had paid thousands of dollars for labor peace to Harold Gross, convicted labor extortionist and Teamster union official, and to Cornelius Noonan, a New York Longshoreman's Union chief. Neo Gravure is a commercial company which handles various types of printing in addition to turning out Sunday supplements. Executives of the New York Times and the Mirror testified that during a truckers' strike at the Neo Gravure plant in 1948 they had made payments to the printing firm to clear the way for delivery of supplements to their papers. The Times said it has not obtained its Sunday supplements from Neo Gravure for several years. Officials of both papers told the committee that such tribute payments would not now be made.

Sudden Leak Is Blamed For Boat Disaster

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Officials have blamed a sudden leak for the sinking of an old riverboat in the Nile with a loss of possibly 150 Egyptians, mostly women and children. Divers and Navy frogmen brought 40 bodies from the sunken Dandara, whose stack still thrust above the waters eight miles north of Cairo. Police estimated Saturday at least 95 still were missing. Ten bodies were recovered Friday night. The 200-ton, double-decker sank only about six yards off shore shortly after it set out Friday with about 300 persons aboard for an outing at the Nile Delta picnic grounds. Officials said the Dandara apparently sprang a leak, probably because of structural strains. She sank so quickly that many of the families were trapped on the lower deck. The Dandara was chartered by the Agricultural Engineers' Assn. for the outing. Aboard were some of Egypt's best agricultural engineers and their families.

Still missing are a man's coat and woman's coat, the police said. Burglars tore a back door off the hinges in gaining entrance to the building.

Children Injured By Falling Plane

DETROIT (AP)—A pilotless jet plane plunged into a residential area of nearby Northville Friday, splashing flaming fuel onto a sandpile where five children were playing. Two of the youngsters burned seriously. Their three playmates escaped harm. The R4-F Thunderflash missed crashing into a high school a half block away. It landed in a garden, 100 feet from the children. Maj. John L. Moutier of Belleville, Mich., an Air Force pilot, parachuted to safety after his stick locked and his plane went into an uncontrolled climb. He is attached to the Michigan Air National Guard squadron at Detroit's Metropolitan Airport and was preparing to land after a routine training flight. David King, 10, and his sister, Elizabeth, 3, were burned by the blazing jet fuel. Their mother, Mrs. Eugene King, wife of Northville's police chief, ran screaming to her children. David and Elizabeth were rushed to a hospital. Their condition was described as serious.

GUTHRIE, Tex. (AP)—King County officers sought Saturday to identify a man, about 30, who died in a traffic accident near here. On the body was a driver's license bearing the name of Gene Russell Harper of Dallas. Harper, however, telephoned his estranged wife, Laura, of Dallas saying he was alive and adding: "Someone must have gotten hold of an old driver's license of mine." The unidentified man was one of two killed in two accidents which happened close together. The other victim was Leslie Almony Jr., a Ft. Sill, Okla., soldier from Jreflin, Ala. Commencement exercises will be held next Friday night.

Ike Relaxes At Golf, Bridge

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower put the emphasis on golf and bridge Saturday midway through a stag weekend of relaxation in the country. His golf game, at least, seemed to be improving after a creaky start. "The President shot a nice game," said one of his companions of the fairways, retired Brig. Gen. Arthur S. Nevins. Nevins didn't say what Eisenhower's score was, but his own was a respectable 85. George E. Allen of Washington completed the golf threesome at the Gettysburg Country Club. Like Eisenhower, Nevins and Allen are gentlemen farmers at Gettysburg. The President and Allen, however, are making their headquarters for the weekend 25 miles away, at Camp David, Eisenhower's retreat in the Catoctin Mountains near Thurmont, Md. To make up a table of bridge in the oak-paneled sunroom of the presidential lodge, retired Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther of Washington and William E. Robinson of New York were invited in. Gruenther heads the American Red Cross; Robinson is chairman of Coca-Cola Corp.

Westex Cities Ask More Air Service

HOUSTON (AP)—The southern transcontinental jet air route case hearing before a Civil Aeronautics Board examiner was in recess Saturday. Examiner Edward Stodola said he will call witnesses from Lubbock Fort Worth, Beaumont and San Antonio Monday. Eighteen airlines are seeking to provide single-carrier transcontinental or regional service along the proposed southern route. Dallas and intermediate spot on the route. George W. Pfeifferberger of Lubbock testified Friday on the need for improved air service in that area of West Texas, particularly to the cotton mills of the Atlantic Coast states. He said there is a considerable movement of buyers and sellers between the area and the mills. Jack W. Miller, an official of trading stamp firm operating in Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Arizona and California, said that because of inadequately scheduled air transportation his company has been forced into ownership and operation of business aircraft. He also said service to Beaumont would benefit his firms. Odessa and the Ector County Chamber of Commerce submitted evidence to support its plea for more service to Odessa - Midland. They cited the rapid growth in the Permian Basin area. Erle A. Taylor, Midland's director of aviation, said most complaints there are about inadequacy of service to points west of El Paso. He pointed out strong interest with Los Angeles, Phoenix and Tucson. "If the Permian Basin were classed as a state, it would be second in the nation in oil production and first in oil field supplies," Taylor said. Delbert Dwoning, manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, testified air transportation to the West has not kept up with the area's growth. M. C. Jones, manufacturer of heavy oil field trucking equipment, complained of inadequate service to San Francisco which his firm needs. Donald R. Cade, with the American Bank of Commerce in Odessa, said deposits of the bank, which opened three years ago, have increased from 3 to 15 million dollars in that period without any loss by other banks.

Three Killed In Trailer House

ABBEVILLE, La. (AP)—A Beaumont woman and two others were killed Saturday when a gasoline trailer truck jackknifed off a highway and smashed into their trailer park home. Officers identified the victims as Mrs. W. P. Hancock, 39, her step daughter, 17, and her grandson, 9. Louis Miller of Lake Charles, driver of the truck, was not injured. Miller told officers his truck, loaded with 7,000 gallons of gasoline, hit a bad spot just inside the city limits. He jammed on his brakes, but the truck jackknifed across the highway into the trailer park, hit the Hancock trailer and burst into flames. Two other unoccupied trailers and a nearby house also burned. The dead woman's husband was working at an oil rig. Miller was en route from Lake Charles to New Iberia.

Student Is Slain As He Intervenes In Argument

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—A Miami University student, whose mother was visiting here for Mother's Day, was shot to death in his dormitory early today as he intervened in an argument between two other students. One of the participants in the argument was wounded slightly and the other was found several hours later in a telephone booth in another dormitory suffering from apparent self-inflicted wounds. Killed in the affray was Roger T. Sayles, 20, of Gary, Ind., a dormitory counselor. The other two students were James Walker, 18, of Cincinnati and Herbert A. Lucas, 18, of Springfield, Ohio. Walker was shot in the neck during the affray and Lucas, carrying two stolen .22 caliber automatic pistols and 250 rounds of ammunition, was the student found in the dormitory telephone booth. Sayles was white and Lucas and Walker are Negroes.

The slaying occurred in Reid Hall on the campus of this coeducational state university. Miami has an estimated 150 Negroes in its student body of about 5,400. Police and Miami spokesmen said both Luos and Walker had been dating Sandra Epps, 18, of Greenville and that Lucas went and demanded he come out and fight. They said the dispute between the two apparently was over the girl, also a Negro. Sayles came down the hall to quiet the two and when Walker turned to re-enter his room Lucas opened fire. One bullet struck Walker and two hit Sayles. Lucas then fled. Police and Miami officials immediately started a search of the campus but it was about seven hours later when a student in Ogden Hall, about 400 yards away, opened a telephone booth to make a call and found the wounded youth.

YEAR AFTER RIOTS

We Still Have Job In South America

By MORRIS W. ROSENBERG
Associated Press Staff Writer
Next Wednesday it will be a year since a mob of jeering Venezuelan students spat upon the vice president of the United States, who was on a good will tour in Latin America.

A little later, a larger crowd of angry Venezuelans attacked Richard Nixon's limousine—hurling stones, kicking, smashing the windows and denting the car's body.

This violent climax to Nixon's tour raised shocked questions in the United States, and there were demands for a reappraisal of U.S. policies south of the border.

In the year since Nixon's South American tour, have our relations with Latin America improved? Have South Americans changed their feelings about the United States?

Associated Press correspondents in the capitals of the 10 South American republics put these questions to students, workers, politicians, editors, business men and labor leaders.

NO CHANGE
Their answer: Almost no change. In some countries relations have deteriorated. In others, notably Argentina and Brazil, some improvement is reported.

The 10-nation survey indicates belief that the United States has recognized the need for dealing differently with dictatorships than with democratic unions—especially after the Cuban and Venezuelan revolutions that toppled strongmen Fulgencio Batista and Marcos Perez Jimenez.

Moreover, President Eisenhower's brother, Milton, has since called for a cold handshake for dictators and an abrazo—an affectionate hug—for democracies.

How, in the opinion of South Americans, could the United States improve relations? Most answers can be summed up briefly: money—and greater tact in administering aid.

The money is not sought as a gift, but as a loan to help countries in desperate need of capital just to prevent decline of living of their fast growing populations.

Who do South Americans believe led the anti-Nixon demonstrations? Generally, they agree that it was the work of small but hard-working, well organized, vociferous Communist group. The Reds blamed all local economic, political and social ills on the United States.

TARGETS FOR REDS
U.S. policy in recent years has given the Communists some targets. The anti-American campaign was built on three widespread South American complaints.

America was accused of:
1. Favorable treatment of military dictatorships.

2. U.S. restrictions on exports of South American raw materials, cutting these countries' principal source of badly needed foreign exchange.

3. The United States' comparative neglect of economic aid to South America while huge sums went to Europe and Asia.

The AP survey showed that the active friends of the United States still are well-to-do businessmen, professional people such as doctors and engineers trained in the United States, government and military officials. The great masses, many illiterate, are indifferent toward the United States, unless stirred by anti-American agitators.

The hard core of anti-American feeling persists among high school and university students. But those students who have attended U.S. schools, and labor leaders who have visited the United States, are reported to be strong defenders of U.S. policies.

Newsman Sees Inside Of Jail

GALVESTON (AP) — Mayor George Roy Clough, ordered the Galveston correspondent of the Houston Chronicle jailed Friday on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Joel Kirkpatrick, 32, spent an hour in the city jail, then was released on bond for a Monday appearance in court.

"Kirkpatrick became abusive in the (mayor's) office and called me a damn liar," Clough said.

Kirkpatrick said the mayor called him a liar first and said he retorted, "I'm a liar, you are a liar, too, Mr. Mayor."

The incident came about, Kirkpatrick said, after he went to Clough's office seeking information on purchases made through the trustees of Stewart Beach, a municipal beach here.

New Rating

Capt. Edgar B. Sanford, base housing officer at Webb AFB, has received notification that he has been awarded the aeronautical rating of master navigator. The rating, new in the Air Force, is given after 3,000 hours of flight time and 15 years as a rated navigator. Capt. Sanford, who has over 4,900 hours of flying time, is the only man at Webb holding the rating. He received his navigator training at Selman Field, La., where he graduated in June, 1943.

Burglars Hit Three Places

Three North Side businesses were burglarized Friday night with money and cigarettes the principal items taken.

Burglarized were Ray's Grocery, Blake Feed Store, and the Co-Op Gin, all located in the 600 block of NE 2nd.

Taken from Ray's Grocery were 50 cartons of cigarettes, five or six cigarette lighters, and $14.12 in change from the cash register. A stamp machine also was stolen.

The burglars got into the grocery from the feed store where nothing was found missing. The feed store had been entered via a door on the south.

From the gin, only 75 cents in change was found missing.

Market Has A Shakeout; General Declines Noted

NEW YORK (AP)—Space age stocks reached a kind of climax this week as the stock market endured a sharp shakeout and took a loss for the second straight week.

The week ended with a rally and a partial recovery but not enough to rescue the list from a decline.

Volume climbed to 18,993,800 shares from 17,775,705 the week before and was the largest since the 21,993,800 in the week ended March 21.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell $1.70 to $225.50, its steepest decline since the week ended March 28 when it dropped $2.10.

displayed unusual pyrotechnics early in the week while the rest of the market did little or nothing. The electronics, rocket fuels, missiles, radiotelevisions and photographic issues dominated trading for the first three days.

Their advance waxed to a grand climax Wednesday which saw their broadest rise within memory.

Thursday witnessed a temporary follow-through to the rise. Then waves of selling hit the market. Big profits were taken with a vengeance. The market suffered its worst setback since November as volume swelled to 4,530,000 shares, biggest since March 18.

Friday's rally recouped about half of Thursday's losses. The net result was surprisingly little damage to the glamor stocks.

Trading increased to $31,884,600 par value on the New York Stock Exchange from $29,587,500 the previous week and $24,163,500 for the corresponding week in 1958.

Governor Opposing A Parole For Cox

AUSTIN (AP) — Former state Rep. James E. Cox must serve his two-year prison sentence because he betrayed a public trust, Gov. Price Daniel said Saturday.

He told newsmen he will not approve the board of pardon's recommendation to release on parole the one-time House member from Conroe.

Daniel recalled his campaign promise never to parole elected state officials convicted of violating a public trust.

"And I mean it now," he emphasized.

A Travis county jury took 40 minutes to convict Cox, 37, of agreeing to accept a $5,000 bribe. He entered prison Nov. 4, 1958. Prosecutors charged he agreed to kill a bill he sponsored in the 55th Legislature. Cox claimed he was trying to trap "crooked lobbyists."

Cox's term may end in January, 1960, if he continues to earn extra time for good behavior, the Pardons Board said.

"I am aware the Board of Pardons and Paroles said Cox should be treated as any other citizen," Daniel said. "He is like any ordi-

ARE YOUR YOUNGSTERS POLIO PROTECTED?

If not, make sure they start and complete the full series of polio shots NOW! The 1959 polio season is almost here!

Polio isn't licked yet! In fact, among children not vaccinated, paralytic polio cases actually increased in 1958 over 1957. More one-year-olds were stricken than any other age group.

Don't delay. The sooner your children are polio-protected, the safer their futures will be. And since polio strikes all ages—be sure to get your shots too. See your doctor or health department.

DON'T TAKE A CHANCE— TAKE YOUR POLIO SHOTS!

Houston Boilemakers Local 74, charged that Joseph McCollum, union international vice president, sought to raise funds for the murder of a Galveston man.

McCullum denied the charge. Robert Kennedy, committee counsel, later said McCollum had taken a lie detector test that cleared him of the charge. A similar test given Head was inconclusive.

Homer Garrison, head of the State Department of Public Safety, said his men will investigate for possible violations of state statutes as soon as the record of the Washington committee is received.

Garrison said that if Head or McCollum want to take another lie test for the Texas investigators they will be permitted to do so on a voluntary basis.

Fred Robinson, Houston attorney for Local 74, said Head's test in Washington was inconclusive because "he couldn't stop flexing his hands."

Robinson said Head is willing to take the lie test again in Houston. The man identified as the alleged plot's intended victim was Clarence Wilkins, a former member of Local 132 at Galveston.

Before the Senate committee, Jay Billingsley, former business agent for Local 132, said Wilkins slashed him across the stomach and killed his predecessor, James Huff.

Heart Attack Ruled Cause Of Quarles' Death
WASHINGTON (AP)—A medical report said Saturday the unexpected death of Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald A. Quarles was caused by a heart ailment.

Quarles died Friday in his sleep. He was 64.

The Pentagon said a post mortem report from Walter Reed Army Medical Center showed Quarles was stricken with "obstructive coronary sclerosis." That is narrowing of the blood vessels in the heart, which in effect shuts off the blood supply to the heart muscle.

Quarles will be buried Tuesday in Arlington National Cemetery with military honors.

No decision has been announced on the naming of a temporary or permanent successor to his No. 2 position at the Pentagon.

The police Friday night caught two men wanted on warrants in Odessa and Midland.

The Odessa warrant charged Lawrence W. Everett, 38, with theft by bailer—taking a car. Everett was arrested at 3rd and Settles and the 1953 Chevrolet impounded.

A short time later, Charles B. Barber, 19, was picked up at 1001 Rannels on a warrant issued at Midland.

Revenge, Jealousy Seen In Death By Bomb Explosion
YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Christ Sofocleous, his body shattered when a bomb exploded in his car, died Friday night. Police speculated that jealousy over a 23-year-old platinum blonde divorcee may have prompted the bombing.

Dr. officers said, the slaying may have been revenge for his testimony in a burglary trial that sent three of his pals to prison. The 30-year-old Sofocleous, charged with the others in two burglaries at Virginia Naval base was granted probation.

Little Rock Leaders Work To Recall Discharged Teachers

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—An influential group of business and professional leaders has thrown its support behind a movement to recall three teacher-firing segregationists on the Little Rock School Board.

Irate school patrons demanded the recall at mass meetings at two elementary schools Friday night and half a dozen other schools set protest meetings for Monday night.

The businessmen—174 strong—formed themselves into a committee to "stop this outrageous purge" and promptly pledged $6,000 to wage the recall battle against Board President Ed I. McKinley and members R. W. Laster and Ben Rowland, who voted Tuesday to fire 44 of the integration-troubled school system's 800 teachers.

Russell Matson, Ted Lamb and Everett Tucker Jr., are the other three board members. They boycotted the purge meeting.

Faculties at Central High School and the Horace Mann High for Negroes voted unanimous censure of the purge action and Central's teachers added "hearty endorsement" of the stand taken by Matson, Tucker and Lamb.

These schools and two other high schools were closed by Gov. Orval E. Faubus last September in the face of federal court integration orders. McKinley, Laster and Rowland, elected with Faubus' support, have endorsed the governor's position.

Tucker, Lamb and Matson have said they favor limited integration to destruction of the public school system.

About 7,000 signatures are needed for a recall election. Ironically, the recall law was adopted as an anti-integration measure, timed specifically at a former Little Rock School Board which developed a court-approved plan of gradual integration. This board later resigned and the six present members were named in an election last Dec. 6.

Matson, Tucker and Lamb were elected over strong opposition from Faubus, who called them integrationists.

Austin Man Heads Shrine Association
DALLAS (AP)—John B. Simpson of Austin was elected president of the 50,000 member Texas Shrine Assn. Saturday.

Hugh B. Nelid of Galveston was chosen vice president. The group voted to hold their 1960 convention in Galveston. Austin had been chosen earlier for the 1960 convention.

Earthquake Felt In San Francisco
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An earthquake was felt in San Francisco Saturday but apparently caused no damage. The police department received a score of telephone calls from widespread sections of the city.

The seismograph at the University of California in Berkeley recorded the quake at 10:28:08 a.m. PDT.

Death Thwarts Wedding Plans
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—W. H. Davenport, 71, a retired Palestine, Tex., insurance man, came to Austin to marry a girl friend of 50 years ago.

He collapsed and died less than 24 hours before the wedding.

Before the turn of the century, Davenport and Mrs. Ruth Ragsdale of Austin were friends. Each married someone else.

Mrs. Ragsdale's husband died more than 30 years ago. Davenport's wife died last year.

Recently the two old friends decided to marry and spend their last years together. They prepared a home in Austin and set the wedding date for 10 a.m. Saturday.

Davenport arrived Friday by train. Mrs. Ragsdale, 68, met him at the station. He opened the door to her car and collapsed.

Davenport was dead on arrival at a hospital.

'WHY DO YOU ASK?' Soviet Suspicion Noted At Geneva
GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—"Good morning," said an American delegate to a Soviet delegate, "how are you?"

Though well meant, the greeting was completely routine.

But the Russian fixed the American with a dark, Slavic and suspicious eye.

"Why," he said, "do you ask?" That's the spirit of the Geneva conference, the fourth big East-West diplomatic gathering in this ancient and beautiful city since the spring of 1954.

On Monday the delegates will file into the old League of Nations Council Chamber and sit down beneath the graphic frescoes of the Spanish painter J. M. Sert.

There's already a hitch over how they'll sit. The Americans, French, and British are reportedly satisfied with sitting at tables around a hollow square. The Russians want a round table.

The United Nations—which is handling arrangements for the conference—says it has no round table.

So that's up in the air. The very, very, very important delegates will sit in a set of soft chairs. Behind them will come the very, very important delegates on slightly harder chairs.

And behind them the very important delegates on considerably harder chairs.

Speeches will be made in rotation. If the speeches get very long—which means long translations—some of the delegates will blink their eyes but won't keep awake.

It's hard to tell the occupation of some of the members of the delegations. The Americans once had a man who could lip-read in Russian. When Nikita Khrushchev turned to Nikolai Bulganin and said, "Those herrings I ate last night are not sitting too well," the Americans knew it.

When the first day's session is over, the social scramble starts—from villa to villa in long limousines. These social get-togethers are designed to relax the delegates, create a more informal atmosphere, sound out the Russians, and fervently hope somebody gets indiscreet.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko will quote several Russian proverbs. His hosts will roar with laughter, whether they understand or not.

After a week of this some delegates will start looking at the calendar. Someone will ask a Soviet delegate how long he plans to stay.

"All summer," he'll reply. "I like the Geneva spirit."

Usual Scandal Produced At Cannes Affair

CANNES, France (AP)—A French movie starlet attending the Cannes Film Festival obligingly posed in the nude for some 200 photographers Saturday.

It was the festival's first major scandal and contrary to the vow of festival organizers that this year the annual film contest was going to be dignified.

The posing took place on the island of Lerins, about a mile out in the Mediterranean, where stars attending the festival had gone for a picnic.

The starlet, Nathalie Nattier, started by posing on some rocks. She was wearing a two piece swimming suit. Then the photographers saw another sight through their view finders—Nathalie minus her brassiere.

"I lost it," she explained. Somehow, too, she lost the bottom half. There was a virtual explosion of flash bulbs and the festival had its scandal.

Rain Cuts Short Graham's Service
SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Heavy rain Saturday night cut short the final evening meeting of Evangelist Billy Graham's month-long Sydney crusade and sent a crowd estimated at 17,000 running for cover.

Graham ended his address at the Sydney Showground 10 minutes early, put on an overcoat and invited people to come forward to make decisions for Christ.

"I believe the Lord sent this rain to make things difficult for people who want to make decisions," he said. "I ask you to come forward . . . in this heavy rain to show you mean business."

Eight hundred and fifteen people responded.

Rubber Workers Vote To Strike
AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Employees of the General Tire and Rubber Co. plant in Waco voted overwhelmingly Friday to authorize a strike.

The Waco vote was 1,211 to 8 favoring giving United Rubber Workers Union executive board strike authority.

At Akron, employees of the firm voted 1,564 to 150 in favor of authorizing a strike.

The union said negotiations that broke down last Friday are scheduled to resume with General Tire next Tuesday. The 3,200 employees have been working on a day-to-day basis since their contract expired May 1.

Basin Drilling Activity Falls

Rotary rig activity in the Permian Basin of West Texas and southeastern New Mexico dipped slightly during the week ending Friday, according to the weekly survey conducted by Reed Roller Bit Co.

The Friday count showed 370 units at work, as compared with 377 for the week ending May 1. The total on April 24 was 373. On May 9, 1958, the total was only 331, however.

Although losing five rigs, Lea County, N. M., held onto its lead among individual areas. It showed 46 active rigs on Friday as compared with 51 for the previous week. Second is Andrews with 44 rotaries, up six from the May 1 count. Lea County has been the leader in the Basin now since the last week in March.

In addition to Andrews and Lea, the only other counties supporting 20 or more active rigs are Crane with 23 and Ector with 32. Howard's drilling program held firm, eight rigs being found on the past two surveys. Borden dropped three rigs to a total of seven for the week, but Dawson increased its count during the week from two to five.

A survey of the individual areas (with May 1 totals in parentheses) include Andrews 44 (38), Borden 7 (10), Brewster 0 (0), Cochran 5 (5), Chavez 5 (5), Coke 2 (2), Crane 21 (21), Crosby 1 (0), Culbertson 4 (3), and Dawson 5 (2). Also Dickens 2 (1), Ector 32 (30), Eddy 11 (15), Fisher 3 (4), Gaines Cosden Petroleum Corp. had an oil completion and a gasser at the end of the week.

Cosden No. 1-T University in Andrews County was completed in the Queen sand, flowing 98 barrels of oil per day.

In Roberts County near Miami, Cosden No. 1 Coffee Estate bottomed at 4,116 and acidized. The well blew in as a gasser and will be completed as such. Pipeline connections are contemplated later.

Another completion is in prospect. Cosden No. 1-C State, in Roosevelt County of New Mexico, was bottomed at 9,775 and running pipe after getting the top of the Baugh C pay.

Cosden No. 1-B State was at 9,671 and Cosden No. 1 Mills was at 9,253. Both of these are in Lea County, N. M.

Cosden No. 1-A Federal, a rank wildcat in Chavez County, N. M., set intermediate string at 3,155 and was waiting on cement to set.

Cosden No. 1 Hunt, a Crockett County exploration, was shut down for repairs at 8,850, but prospects are that operations will be resumed during the weekend.

East of Cosden's refinery, Cosden No. 1 Whitmire drilled ahead of 7,787. The test is located C NE NE, 37-32-in. T&P Survey, and about four miles east of Big Spring. It is to test through the Fusselman to 9,850 feet.

5 Wildcats Among 241 New Producers

AUSTIN (AP)—A total of 241 oil well completions were reported the past week to the Railroad Commission. This makes 4,170 for the year, compared to 4,968 in 1958. Five wildcats were oil producers and 66 were dry. A total of 111 wells were plugged.

Total average calendar day allowable was 3,176,803 compared to 3,174,588 barrels May 2.

Meet Dates Changed

DALLAS (SC)—Dates for the 40th Annual Meeting of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn. have been changed to Sept. 14-15-16, in Houston, Charles E. Simons, executive vice president, has announced.

The Association's 1959 convention now will convene one day earlier than previously planned, Simons said.

Debates Continue On Import Control

HOUSTON (AP)—Older debate the wisdom of federal controls but oil imports have dropped sharply since mandatory cutbacks became effective two months ago.

The program still is in its shake-down stage. Canada and Mexico were added to the exempt list last week. Other changes and modifications have been indicated.

Total imports have dropped over one million barrels a day since President Eisenhower issued his mandatory controls order on March 10.

Well Prepared For Completion

A Garza County wildcat was shut in for storage this weekend before taking discovery potential in the Spraberry and Strawn.

The General American No. 1-3 Koonsman, about 1 1/2 miles northeast of the Red Loflin field and nine miles southwest of Justiceburg, swabbed Spraberry perforations for 12 hours Friday and it made 109 barrels of oil. Perforations are from 4,916-40 feet.

The well tested through the Ellenburger to 8,319 feet, and seventh string is set at 8,194. It also had good shows of oil in the Strawn and will probably be dual completed.

Before plugging back to retest the Spraberry, it flowed oil from the Strawn at a rate of 14 barrels per hour through a 10-64-inch choke. Strawn perforations are 7,702-50 feet.

Location of the project is 330 feet from north and east lines, 3-2, T&NO Survey.

Texan To Help Open Tulsa Oil Exposition Thursday

Gates of the 14th International Petroleum Exposition in Tulsa, Okla. will open Thursday revealing the giant strides made by a giant industry in the past six years, a look back into the first 100 years of that industry and a dramatic preview of things to come.

Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission and longtime petroleum conservation leader, is principal speaker for the opening ceremonies of the Exposition. Brief talks by other celebrities and the bursting of aerial bombs will signal the official opening of the show.

During the 10-day period, May 14-23, some 500,000 visitors will view the display of more than 2,000 exhibitors, representing an outlay of $500 million and every branch of the petroleum industry. Exhibits will occupy every inch of space on the 30-acre site and will be mostly "under cover" so that unfavorable weather will not interfere with operations.

All roads and walkways are paved. Exhibits ranging from tiny transistor tubes to largest drilling equipment, including a 75-foot statue of the "golden derrick man" climbing a derrick will be in operation.

All companies engaged in every branch of the industry will send their delegations of key men to the show, some of them in relays, to study and appraise the many devices, pieces of equipment and methods that will be used in tomorrow's search for oil and development of its products throughout the world.

More than 1,200 delegates from 37 foreign countries will attend the show before going on to the World Petroleum Congress held in New York the week following the Tulsa Exposition.

In addition to the thousands of dollars exhibitors have spent in remodeling and erecting new exhibit buildings, Wm. B. Way, General Manager, estimated the Exposition itself has spent a million dollars on refurbishing and rebuilding the main exhibit buildings, adding additional facilities.

The Hall of Science will be a veritable museum of things that are new in the many branches of the oil business, with scale models, working models, films and other exhibits to focus attention on what is being done by science and research to make it a progressive industry.

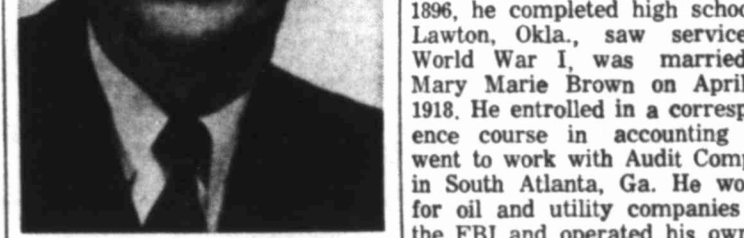

W. K. Warren has designated special days to honor divisions of oil centers and oil producing states and countries. Special host committees have been appointed for each of the ten days.

Cosden's Secretary-Treasurer Stepping Down After 19 Years

Abe Karcher has relinquished one of his titles with Cosden Petroleum Corp. stepping down as secretary-treasurer after 19 years.

Effective May 1, he took his retirement with the corporation. Although he is continuing presently as a member of the board of directors, he is planning on devoting his energies to his home at 3101 Crestvale Drive in Austin. His mother and two sisters live in that vicinity.

Karcher was attracted to Cosden in 1940 by Raymond L. Tollett, who was to become its president. They had known each other from their days in the FBI. Tollett shortly before had been named secretary-treasurer of the struggling Cosden company. When

Concho Adds Two New Explorations

Concho County this weekend gained two new wildcat locations, and single explorations have been staked in four other counties.

Drawing the new sites are Stoneval, Irion, Tom Green, and Runnels counties.

West Central Drilling Co. and R. P. Fisher Jr. of Abilene staked both titles in Concho. The No. 1 Sam Jones is a 4,100-foot site about four miles west of Eden. It is located 660 feet from north and east lines of Section 7, T7RR Survey.

It will explore to 4,600 feet. In Stoneval County, Utex Exploration Co. located the No. Swenson Cattle Co. five miles southeast of Old Glory, as a 6,300-foot wildcat try. Location is 97 feet from south and 1,902 from east lines, J. M. Samford Survey No. 37.

L. E. Scherck and Tucker Drilling Co. of San Angelo staked the No. 1 E. M. Muritz as a 3,650-foot wildcat eight miles northeast of Mertzon. It is 330 feet from south and east lines, 7-2, H&TC Survey, and seven miles northeast of the

There was talk, too, of a general summer letdown after strike-hedge buying of steel and other commodities has run its course.

But if Mr. and Mrs. American Consumer were worried, they gave no sign.

The spring surge in home building prompted economists to raise their sights for 1959—they now look for a total of 1,900,000 new homes to be started. The only worry here is that banks and other lending institutions may run short of mortgage money.

Model Home To Be Shown By E. C. Smith Concern Today

The address is 1806 Laurie, and the time is from 1 p.m. to 6 today. The occasion: An open house to better acquaint Big Springers in general and prospective home buyers in particular with the houses now on sale in the Douglass Addition.

Over two years time was needed to plan the addition, and the developers, Cecil D. McDonald and E. C. Smith, feel they have opened an addition which is a definite asset to the city. The addition is not the end of an idea of what is in the houses now being built in the addition. And the houses are being built with regularity; an average of four are being completed each week. In the Douglass Addition, 170 lots have been laid out, and houses are now being built or are occupied on 100 of the lots now.

Big Spring's development to the south; the developers plan to continue to lay out home sites beyond the Douglass Addition. The large, three-bedroom homes being built in the Douglass Addition range in price from $12,050 to $13,250 at present. The model home being shown today will give you a general conception of the interior, as well as outside design. The model house has two baths, and some two-bath homes are still available in the area.

Cap Rock Area Power Usage Rises In April

Dry weather and the approach of the planting season boosted demands for power from the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative during April.

Monthly operating statistics showed purchases of 7,462,530 KWH, up from the 3,594,170 in March and the 2,708,790 in April of last year when nature had provided the pre-planting moisture in Martin County's irrigated areas. Purchases so far this season have amounted to 15,493,220 KWH as against 7,776,710 for the comparable period last year.

Sales during April amounted to 6,529,187 as compared with 2,911,883 in March and 2,061,206 in April of 1958. Cumulative sales through April stand at 12,987,465 as compared with 6,078,547 the same time last year.

During April 12 miles of line were energized, bringing to 2,052 miles the amount now in the Cap Rock system. This is an increase of 28 miles for the year.

Members connected reached 4,039, a gain of 43 for the month and making a gain of 87 for the year.

Scurry Zoning Up For Hearing

Half a block of property on Scurry will be considered for a change in zoning when the zoning board meets Monday evening for a public hearing.

Under consideration is the half block facing Scurry between 8th and 9th and on the east side of the street. At present, it is a B (two-party residential zone) but the proposed change is to F (retail business) zone.

All property owners within 200 feet of the affected property have been notified of the hearing and have been urged to attend to either voice their approval or opposition. The meeting will be held in the City Hall at 5:15 p.m.

Should the zoning commission approve the change, the matter will then be turned to the City Commission, which meets Tuesday, for final approval.

Few Items On County Agenda

Ed Carpenter, county judge, said Saturday that only routine business is on his agenda for the meeting Monday of the Howard County Commissioners Court.

The meeting is the regular monthly meeting of the court. Lee Porter, county auditor, usually has a mass of bills to be considered and approved and sometimes routine financial reports to submit.

Carpenter said that it was possible delegations or individuals with road problems would be on hand but that otherwise he knew of nothing of special importance to be brought before the court.

On Tuesday, May 19, the court will consider report of the special appraisers committee named by Carpenter to fix damages on property adjacent to the Howard County Airport and affected by the aviation restrictions imposed by the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

That same week, Judge Carpenter will be busy in the county court where a jury docket of criminal cases is set to open on Monday.

Heavy Loss In Baltimore Warehouse Fire

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 12-alarm fire early today turned a sprawling grocery warehouse into a mass of charred rubble, with damage estimated at from one to one and a half million dollars.

Police picked up a 10-year-old boy at the scene and reported later that the child had admitted starting the fire.

About 55 pieces of equipment were called to the one-story warehouse of the B. Green & Co. Hundreds of firemen fought the blaze through the early morning hours before bringing it under control, but not until the walls had collapsed and the twisted roof covered the rubble like a wrinkled blanket.

Police and members of the arson squad became suspicious of the presence of the 10-year-old Negro boy about 4 a.m. When he gave evasive answers, they took him to district police headquarters. After questioning there, they said the lad had given an account of the burning.

About 12:30 a.m., he said, he was looking for canned goods that might have spilled on the ground at the warehouse's loading platforms. He added he was playing with matches.

Pneumonia Weakens Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—A mild attack of pneumonia has further weakened the condition of John Foster Dulles, seriously ill with cancer.

The 71-year-old former secretary of state suffered the attack at Walter Reed Army Hospital, where he has been a patient much of the time since Dec. 12.

"Secretary Dulles has contracted a mild pneumonia," the State Department said Saturday in a medical bulletin. "The initial response to antibiotics has been satisfactory, and his temperature is now normal."

"He is, however, somewhat weaker."

A department press officer, Joseph Reap, said he did not know when Dulles had contracted the pneumonia. Since his temperature was reported back to normal, he presumably was suffering from it.

Friday, when he had at least three visitors.

Dulles' successor, Secretary Christian A. Herter, dropped by the hospital to say good-by before leaving in midafternoon for the Big Four foreign ministers' conference in Geneva. The State Department said then that as Herter left after their brief talk, Dulles had called out: "Good luck, Chris."

Earlier, President Eisenhower and his friend, Washington businessman George E. Allen, had dropped in for what was described as a half-hour visit while on their way to Eisenhower's Camp David retreat near Thurmont, Md.

The most recent public photograph of Dulles showed him looking well and thin but in apparent good spirits when Eisenhower and Sir Winston Churchill visited him at the hospital Tuesday.

Dulles was in a wheel chair then. The State Department said Dulles can walk but sometimes finds the wheel chair more convenient for such travel as trips to the hospital sun porch.

City To Award Contract For Aerial Mapping

Letting of the contract for aerial mapping of the Big Spring area will top the agenda for the City Commission meeting Tuesday night.

Bids on the mapping work were opened last Tuesday but since only three commissioners were present that time, it was decided to wait until this week to award contract.

Lowest of the seven bids came from H. W. Buce Inc. of Dallas, with a proposal of $14,180. This figure will cover mapping some 42 sections in and around Big Spring. Two other bidders were within $400 of Buce's low bid, however.

The maps will be needed to adequately complete the master planning survey being taken by Forrest & Cotton of Dallas.

In addition to the mapping matter, the commission will accept bids on a truck for the fire department. The city will then mount fire equipment on it and use it for a county unit. Bids on the fire equipment will be taken at a later time.

Several zoning ordinances as well as an annexation ordinance will be considered.

The commission is expected to interview another applicant for the city engineer's post Tuesday night. One was interviewed Saturday afternoon. A decision might be reached Tuesday on hiring one of the three applicants.

Webb Officer On Lions Program

Capt. Allen Robertson, public relations officer at Webb AFB, will be in charge of the program Monday at the Evening Lions Club meeting.

Capt. Robertson's program will be built around the upcoming Armed Forces Day, which will be observed at Webb and throughout the nation Saturday. He will also present an air defense film.

With him will be several officers from Webb to help advertise the Armed Forces Day show.

West's Estate Is Nearly 10 Million

HOUSTON (AP)—James Marion (Silver Dollar Jim) West Jr. left an estate valued at nearly 10 million dollars.

The Houston oilman who had a hobby of giving away silver dollars died Dec. 18, 1957. He was 54.

An inventory filed in probate court placed the value of personal real estate and oil holdings at $2,613,936. The community property shared with his widow, Alice, was valued at $7,292,017.

West's will left his estate to the widow, children, grandchildren, and his charitable foundation.

Entire Family Of 26 Will Tackle Alaska Together

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An "all-for-one-and-one-for-all" family of 26 will leave Michigan next month to homestead in Alaska.

Nathan Jones, 76, of nearby Masco, his wife, Nellie, 59, four of his six sons and their wives and 16 grandchildren will make up the party.

The four brothers, James, 37, Paul, 33, Alva, 39, and Robert, 26, all of this area, are experienced woodsmen. All helped each other build their own homes.

They will travel in four station wagons and a truck and they point out that they are carrying on a family tradition established when an ancestor came to Michigan by covered wagon in 1840.

The family hopes to profit by the experience of the Michigan 50ers, a group of Detroit area families who migrated to Alaska a few months ago. The Jones family plans to settle in the Susitna Valley where some of the 50ers have located.

One of the main problems was convincing the women of the wisdom of the move. "We girls were unanimous when the plan was first suggested last fall," said Celis Jones, Paul's wife. "We said, 'no, no, no,' practically in chorus."

But the men were persuasive and now their wives are equally enthusiastic.

taken with the potential letting of a contract to H. W. Buce of Dallas for 14,180 mapping. The process will be aerial mapping designed to yield detailed contour maps. This is one of the physical steps necessary to planning.

The sequence of major gatherings continues. The regional beauticians meeting was held last weekend, and yesterday and today some 1,000 Jehovah's Witnesses were here for a circuit training session.

A week from Monday the first families are due to be moving into the initial elements of the Caphart housing project. Occupancy will be comparatively slow but steady until all 460 units are filled.

Ackerly folks are going to decide Saturday if they want to incorporate as a municipality. There are pros and cons consisting mainly of services versus costs.

Clean up week has been set for June 1-7, but if you really want to take advantage of the free trash hauling by the city, then get at your cleaning by the middle of this week. Trucks start hauling a week from Monday.

The city announced that John Burgess, Huntsville and new graduate of the University of Texas law school, will be city attorney. Another key vacancy, that of city engineer, is likely to be filled in a week or so.

Howard County Junior College tracksters did the expected last week and captured the state junior college title. This week they'll take off for Hutchinson, Kan., with their eyes on a possible national Juco championship.

The observance of Music Week was quite successful here, thanks to programs arranged by the Music Study Club. Band soloists and ensembles brightened service club programs, and the HJC chorus and solo pianists got warm response. Billy Evans came home from North Texas State College to win plaudits for an outstanding concert at HJC where he studied piano last year.

Junior Chamber of Commerce officials announced that they will take over the July beauty pageant from the B&PW Club. In place of an open affair at the amphitheater, the program will be moved indoors and will require admissions. Reason: To raise funds to send the winner to the state Jaycee contest for Miss Texas.

The high school band by the way, did quite well at the tri-state festival in Enid, Okla. The band rated excellent in sight reading and concert playing. Five soloists were superior and seven excellent; four ensembles were superior and four excellent.

Howard County Commissioners court took under advisement a suggestion from the Chamber of Commerce aviation panel that it establish a five-man aviation commission to determine policies for the new County Airport. The court wants to see how other counties handle administration of their ports.

G-Man Boss Draws Goodwill Messages

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hundreds of congratulations poured into FBI headquarters this weekend as J. Edgar Hoover marks the 35th anniversary of his appointment as chief G-man.

The actual anniversary is Sunday. But the telegrams, letters, personal notes and gaily decked greeting cards started arriving a week ago and by Saturday had reached big proportions.

They came from members of Congress, governors, fellow officials in the federal government, patriotic, civic and police organizations, and hundreds of just plain citizens.

Hoover, who became FBI director at the age of 29 and who turned 64 last Jan. 1, says he looks forward to many more years of public service. He recently quipped: "Old age will have to turn mighty fast to catch up with me."

The director comes up to this anniversary with some records which are unique.

He holds the all-time championship for continuous tenure as head of a U. S. government agency.

Along among the agency heads, Hoover annually gets without quibble from Congress the operating funds he asks for when appropriation time rolls around. No one remembers when an FBI budget request was cut, even in the most economy-minded session.

VA To Reduce Region Offices

WACO (AP)—A Waco Chamber of Commerce delegation returned Saturday from a conference with Veterans Administration officials in Washington with assurance that the five VA regional offices in Texas will continue to operate but on a gradually reduced scale.

The Wacoans, alarmed at recent shrinkage of the Waco and other regional VA centers, wanted to find out if reports of a one-office operation for the agency in Texas were true.

W. M. Driver, director of benefits in VA, told the delegation that consolidation of all VA offices in one place in Texas is still "5 to 10 years away," they reported.

He added that diminishing work loads for regional loan guaranty and veteran rehabilitation and education staffs would result in elimination of those functions in a few years.

Consolidation of legal offices in Dallas for all of Texas will affect not only Waco but the regional offices at Lubbock, Houston and San Antonio, Driver said.

A resurvey of the need for leaving legal personnel at Waco to handle problems for VA hospitals was promised by the VA officials.

W. M. Feentress, J. H. Kulligen, County Judge Bill Logue and former Mayor Joe L. Ward Jr. were accompanied by Reps. W. R. Poague of Waco and Olin Teague of Bryan in their meeting with VA officials.

Dillon Due To Get Approval

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee seems certain to vote swift approval Tuesday to C. Douglas Dillon's nomination to be the No. 2 man at the State Department.

Dillon has been named to replace Secretary Christian A. Herter as first undersecretary.

Dillon, a former New York investment banker, has had long service in the State Department and as ambassador to France. He has made frequent appearances before the committee, whose members are expected to approve him quickly after routine questions Tuesday.

The committee may act at the same time on President Eisenhower's bill to authorize Dillon to continue in charge of State Department economic matters, including the foreign aid program.

The President's plan is to make Robert Murphy, now deputy undersecretary of state for political affairs, the No. 2 undersecretary.

A more deliberate treatment will be given Eisenhower's nomination of 33-year-old Ogden Reid to be ambassador to Israel.

Committee Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) says he and some other members of the committee have doubts about the professional qualifications of Reid, former editor of the New York Herald Tribune.

Both were found lying near U.S. Highway 267. Edmond Homer, about 29, of Battist was dead and Austin Batisse, about 20 and from Wright City, Okla., had severe head injuries. The men were hitchhiking home from California.

Fuller Brush Prexy, Wife Die In Crash

HAWTHORNE, Nev. (AP)—The president of the Fuller Brush Co. and his wife were killed Saturday in a high-speed crash near this western Nevada town.

Alfred Howard Fuller, 46, and his 46-year-old wife, Dora, perished when their sports car blew a tire and hurtled out of control into the desert about 30 miles east of here.

Tuesday Is 10th Anniversary Of First Blockade Of Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—Down came the barriers one minute after midnight. It was May 12, 1949. The Soviet blockade of West Berlin was broken.

On this 10th anniversary—when the Soviets once again menace Berlin—Western statesmen are recalling the lessons of the 318-day blockade and the Allied airlift that smashed it.

For inspiration and methods to defend West Berlin today they look back on the struggle of men and women who defeated a similar Red challenge against incomparably greater odds.

The Soviets began their historic effort to starve 2,200,000 West Berliners into submission with a casual announcement in the early hours of June 24, 1948: "Due to a technical difficulty on the rail line, the Soviet military transport command has been compelled to halt passenger and freight traffic, between Berlin and Helmstedt."

Soviet barriers sealed the 110-mile rail-highway corridor linking West Berlin to West Germany.

The land blockade was on. Why? West Berlin was a giant pawn, as it may be today, in a Soviet master plan to halt the build-up of Western Germany.

Marshall Vassily Sokolovsky, the Soviet military governor of Germany, bluntly stated the price for lifting the blockade: the United States, Britain and France must give up their program for currency reform in West Germany and the creation of a freely elected independent government.

Alternatively, as a consolation prize, the Soviets wanted to absorb this freedom citadel, 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain.

The blockade caught the Western Allies completely unprepared. Many Allied officials—including some top U.S. government figures—thought it best to write off Berlin and get out quickly from the militarily indefensible city.

In the Western sectors, there were 3,000 U. S. troops, 2,000 British and 1,500 French stacked against 18,000 Soviet troops in the Eastern sector and another 300,000 parked all around in East Germany.

The Western powers had dismantled their great World War II fighting machine. The Soviets had retained theirs.

The Red Army was convinced West Berlin could not be provisioned by air and the Allies would be compelled to abandon the city within weeks.

There was less than a month's supply of food and fuel in West Berlin. The Soviets shortly were to cut off the bulk of the city's electricity supply.

The Soviets sought to panic the West Berliners with Communist mob action, kidnapping of pro-West Germans, propaganda threats.

As the Western governments hesitated, the U.S. governor of Germany, Gen. Lucius Clay acted. Once convinced that the West Berliners would stick it, Clay got on the telephone to Gen. Curtis LeMay at U.S. Air Force headquarters, Wiesbaden, West Germany.

"Curt," snapped Clay, "Can you transport coal by air?"

Scraping together some old B17 bombers and beat up two-engine C47 "Gooney Birds," LeMay pulled spare pilots off desk jobs and got going.

On June 26—just 48 hours after the blockade began—a handful of "Gooney Birds" roared off West German airfields toward Berlin.

In those first desperate hours, few dared hope that the airlift could bring in the 3,000 tons of supplies needed daily by the West Berliners and 500 tons required for the Allied community.

On June 28, there was a meeting in the White House to decide if the United States would stand fast in Berlin.

President Truman heard the divided views of his advisors and then ruled: "We are in Berlin by terms of an agreement and the Russians have no right to get us out by either direct or indirect pressures."

To back up his decision, Truman played America's only trump. He ordered two groups of the atomic B29 superfortresses to Britain.

Allied hopes centered on the airlift. The day after the White House meeting the Air Force hauled 385 tons by plane. It figured that within four weeks this could be raised to 1,500 tons each 24 hours. It envisioned the airlift as an operation that would last no more than 45 days.

As the blockade continued, the airlift shifted into high gear. The "Gooney Birds" with their 2½-ton capacities were replaced with C45 Skymasters carrying 10-ton loads, and big British Tudor and York transports.

The world's most modern radar apparatus was set up on the American airfield Tempelhof and the British strip Gatow to guide transports.

A third airfield at Tegel in the French sector was carved out of swampland.

The French city commandant, Gen. Jean Geneval, blew up the transmission tower of the Soviet-run Radio Berlin when he found it was endangering the approach to Tegel.

The airlift—dubbed "Operation Vittles" by the Americans and "Operation Plane fare" by the British—went forward day and night.

The Americans carried in 77 per cent of the net tonnage and the British 23 per cent.

Sometimes the transports were harassed by buzzing Soviet fighters or Red army anti-aircraft and gunnery practice. But the Soviets backed off when the Allies warned they would send fighter escorts if necessary.

2nd day TUESDAY IN

On April 16, 1949, the miracle of air and ground organization that went into the airlift achieved its ultimate. On that day, an airlift transport carrying an average 10-ton load landed in West Berlin every 63 seconds. About 12,000 tons of supplies were delivered in 1,383 flights.

The Soviets knew they were licked.

The airlift not only met the survival needs of the West Berliners, it spurred the recovery of their city. A close bond was forged between the population and the Allies that Red propaganda could not weaken.

Instead of hampering the recovery of West Germany, the stand at Berlin encouraged the re-

Waste Charged In Bomarc-SAGE Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of Congress have accused the Air Force of waste, duplication and extravagance on its still untested new Bomarc missile.

In testimony made public Saturday by the House Appropriations Committee, the Air Force estimated it will have spent up to eight billion dollars on Bomarc and its related SAGE control system through 1963.

Committee members contended that the Bomarc program largely duplicated the Army's Nike system of short-range defense missiles, that the new model Bomarc is untested on targets with supersonic speeds and that the cost of the program is excessive.

The Bomarc is an unmanned surface-launched air defense missile manufactured by the Boeing Aeroplane Co., Seattle, Wash. It is designed for area defense against enemy aircraft and air-to-ground missiles.

It is operated through a semi-automatic ground control system—SAGE—which computes target information and launches the ram-

Boat Captain Held Negligent

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Officials Saturday arrested the captain of the riverboat Dandara and charged him with negligence in the sinking of the boat in the Nile River with the loss of possibly 150 lives.

Divers and navy frogmen continued the search for bodies. They brought 40 bodies from the sunken Dandara Saturday. Ten bodies were recovered Friday night after the sinking. Police estimated at least 95 still were missing.

The 200-ton, double-decker boat had about 300 persons on board, mostly women and children, when it left Cairo for a holiday trip along the Nile, authorities said.

Officials accused Capt. Abdul Hafiz Ali Hamad of allowing the boat to be loaded beyond its legal capacity. They also blamed a sudden leak for the tragedy.

Authorities plan to raise the riverboat to learn the cause of the leak.

The Dandara sank so quickly that many families were trapped below decks. It went down only six yards from the shore but the water was about 50 feet deep.

Churchill Visits Bernard Baruch

NEW YORK (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill is spending a quiet weekend with an old friend, Bernard Baruch, before flying home Sunday night.

Not even British officials here knew who, if anyone, was seeing the pair at Baruch's home or 66th street, just off Central Park.

The 84-year-old former British Prime Minister arrived Friday from Washington, after a visit with President Eisenhower.

Truman Leaves N.Y. For Home

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman left New York City for his home in Independence, Mo., Saturday, expressing regret that his schedule caused him to miss seeing Sir Winston Churchill.

Truman and his wife boarded the train in late afternoon. The former President was honored Friday night on his 75th birthday at a dinner party here and in 15 other cities.

Men's Wear Of Character

Famed Bandmaster Resigns At Tech

LUBBOCK — One of America's great living bandmasters will step down from his college podium.

Dr. D. O. Wiley, who has helped give Southwestern band music a flavor all its own — and delighted audiences of two continents with it — will leave Texas Tech June 1.

He will become executive secretary of the Texas Music Educators Assn., a state-wide organization of public school band, choir and orchestra directors.

Announcement of Wiley's leaving Tech was made after a surprise ceremony at which Miss Carolyn Mimms and Jerry Martin, co-editors of La Ventana, revealed that the 1959 edition of the yearbook will be dedicated to "Prof." as Wiley is affectionately known.

Wiley received a standing ovation from the Tech band and a spontaneous playing of "The Matador Song," Tech alma mater, after Miss Mimms and Dr. E. N. Jones, Tech president, paid tributes to him and Martin presented him with a specially framed copy of the yearbook page announcing its dedication.

Then friends filed by and shook hands with the man who has been called "the father of Texas bands" by Texas music educators themselves.

Wiley it was whose famed Hardin-Simmons University first "double shuffled" across a football field, starting a modern trend in band showmanship that spread through the nation's major colleges and universities.

Wiley it was whose 36 H-SU musicians, dressed in cowboy shirts and chaps, played a whole week at London's Palladium — goal of all show people throughout the world. That was in 1930, when the group made a triumphal tour of Europe that paid its own way and made a profit as the Continent saw and heard "Texas" first hand. He has directed the Tech band for the past 25 years.

MEN IN SERVICE

C. J. Young, electrician mate second class, is serving aboard the aircraft carrier USS Independence operating with the Atlantic Fleet in the Caribbean.

Young is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Young, 700 E. 15th. Newest of the nation's carriers, the Independence sailed from Norfolk, Va., April 24, on her maiden training voyage.

Pvt. Clarence F. Plagens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Plagens of Garden City, completed the 16-week automotive equipment repair course recently. The course was taken at the Army's Ordnance School at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

Before going to the school, Plagens took basic training at Ft. Carson, Colo.

T. Sgt. Robert Cheatham of Knott has received a citation and commendation medal for exceptional service during the Middle East crisis of last July and August.

St. Cheatham served as line chief for maintenance of aircraft supporting U. S. forces which landed in Lebanon. He was cited for organizing his maintenance forces for round-the-clock operations for a period of 30 days. Success of the Lebanon deployment was attributable in large measure to the efforts of Cheatham, the citation said.

Sgt. Cheatham is now stationed at Stewart AFB, Tenn.

Three Day Camping Periods For Y Indian Guides Slated

Dates for three periods of Indian Day Camps, part of the YMCA summer program, were announced Saturday by Everett Taylor, program director.

The first period from June 6-12 will be exclusively for boys who are registered in the Y Indian Guide program. The second is for those in the first to the third grade and the third is for those in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

Taylor, who will direct the camps, emphasized that the program is open to any boy in the first through the sixth grades. The $12 registration fee covers activities, counselling, two soft drinks and milk plus a dessert each day. Boys who are not Y Indian guide members will have a $13 fee.

Boys will gather at the Y at 8 a.m. daily and will be transported to the camp grounds in the City Park. They will bring sandwiches for lunch, and in the evening they will be returned to the Y where parents will pick them up.

Activities will include swimming (instruction and fun periods), Indian crafts and lore, council ring devotions, rifle and archery range program, an overnight campout. The traditional family picnic will climax each period.

A ratio of one counselor for each 10 boys will be maintained, said Taylor.

Stomach Ailment Tops Disease List

Gastroenteritis cases totaled 33 last week as the top malady — numberwise — on the weekly communicable disease report compiled by the City-County Health Unit.

Next highest number was 27 cases of influenza, and 22 persons had tonsillitis. Twenty-one contracted strep-throat during the week. The top disease last week was upper respiratory trouble which bothered 73. Only one upper respiratory case was noted this week.

Ten persons caught measles last week, and seven each had mumps and scarletina. Five each had chicken pox and ringworm and four caught gonorrhea. Two cases each of persussis, scarlet fever, and Vincent's disease, and one case of pneumonia completed the report.

Runnels JH Choir Displays Talent

The chorus of Runnels Junior High presented its spring concert at 8 p.m. Friday in the school gym.

Mrs. Doris Gambill proved once again the value of her work with the young voices over the past four years. She is director of the Runnels choir, and took the kids through their paces Friday.

The program had a patriotic theme, featuring varied choral selections interspersed with narration. Doris Compton and Janice Chandler were the narrators.

Before the program got under way, accompanist Rachael Phelan was cited, and Mrs. Gambill was presented with a serving tray and cup by her students.

The chorus was surprisingly good on its counter-melodies, and the integration of the voices was deep. The singers did not suffer from embarrassment, for their voices were good and loud.

There were some top quality voices to be heard among the others. One was especially striking, that of soprano Susanne Compton, who shows great possibilities.

There was also a bit of pathos of which the audience was unaware. The grandmother of Joyce Horn, contralto, was in critical condition before the concert. Nevertheless, Miss Horn went bravely on, to learn later that the grandmother had died during the program.

All in all, the choral program was pleasing. There was but one criticism that might be made — that the children were a bit short-winded. But then one remembers that, after all, they are young yet.

15 Cases Set For Jury Trials Late In May

Fifteen criminal cases have been tentatively set down for disposition the week of May 25 in 118th District Court.

Dist. Atty. Gil Jones made public the list of cases he has slated for trial. He explained that it was not definite the actual number of cases to be handled during the week nor the order in which they would be called for trial.

Judge Charlie Sullivan has set the week for criminal jury cases and later this month notices will be sent to 60 jurors to report for duty. Court will open at 10 a.m. Monday, May 25.

The cases set on the docket are: Farrell Hamill, charged with burglary; Billy Glen Wylie, DWI second; Clarence Williams, theft over $50; Raymond Franco, DWI second; Wilbur Hampton, DWI second; Partilla C. HCJC TRACK TEAM WINS IN TRIANGULAR ABLENE (SC) — The HCJC track team, keeping its precision athletes in the right frame of mind for next weekend's National Juco challenge, defeated Abilene Christian College frosh and Arlington State in a triangular meet here Saturday.

The Hawks scored 57 1/2 points, despite drawing blanks in both relays, while ACC had 52 and Arlington 36 1/2.

The 440-yard relay team didn't finish because of a dropped baton on the third exchange. Later, with the meet already won, Coach Red Lewis scratched his mile relay team from that event because of two sick members.

The ACC track dried out from a rain Friday night and weather was practically perfect with wind of 5 to 10 mph. HCJC won or tied for five events, and was shut out only in the 440-yard dash and two relays.

Versatile Fred Thompson displayed another skill in tying with mate Delbert Shirey and Arlington's Larry Cuff for first in the high jump. All cleared 6-0. Thompson was second in three other events.

Arlington's Joe McLarry, who won the shot in 43-10 and discus in 135-4, was third in the high jump.

Shirey broad jumped 23-2 1/4, a quarter of an inch more than Thompson in winning that event. Less than two inches separated the first and fourth place winners.

Steers, Snyder Split A Pair, 11-2 And 1-0

SNYDER (SC) — Big Spring and Snyder halved a baseball doubleheader here Saturday afternoon, the home club scoring in the last inning of the second game to win a 1-0 verdict after the Steers had romped to an 11-2 success in the opener.

The break enabled the two clubs to split even in their season's series at three games each. Big Spring thus wound up with an overall record of 14-11.

Jay LeFevre was in command all the way in the first game. He hurled three-hit ball and his teammates backed him with fine mace support.

Norman Gladson accepted the loss. He was tagged for 12 hits, including a triple and a double by Jackie Thomas and three singles by Bernard McMahon.

Jerry Phillips pitched the second contest for Big Spring while Tim Roberts toiled on the hill for Snyder.

The game was decided two outs deep in the seventh when Roberts, who had singled, eventually legged it home on a one-base hit by Johnny Drake.

Phillips limited the Bengals to only six hits but his mates couldn't solve Roberts' slants.

ABC Will Seek National Meet

At their regular luncheon Friday at the Settles Hotel, members of the American Business Club voted unanimously to send a delegation to Hutchinson, Kansas, next weekend to seek the 1960 National Junior College track and field meet.

The delegation, it was announced, will be instructed to meet any reasonable terms asked by the NJCC governing body, which is headed by Dr. Reed Swenson of Weber College, Utah.

The big meet has been held in Hutchinson for many years. HCJC has been sending a team to the Juco show the past four years.

The meet is conducted here, finals will be held at night. Dates for the National Meet usually are the second and third weekend in May.

The ABC club sought the meet at last year's show in Hutchinson but did not relent from a guarantee which would have given the NJCAA only 25 per cent of the "take" after expenses.

The delegation leaving here will have the full blessing of HCJC officials.

In other business, the club also voted to purchase uniforms for a team it is sponsoring in the Teen-Age baseball circuit here. The total expenditure will amount to about $160, it was reported.

A report on the recent ABC District convention held in Odesa was given by James Underwood.

Mrs. Carroll Belton, accompanied by Mrs. Sheryl Line at the piano, favored the gathering with several songs. The two appeared in connection with National Music Week.

Hal Griggs Pitches Senators By Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) — Right-hander Hal Griggs shackled the Yankees with two hits Saturday and hammering Harmon Killebrew clouted two more homers in pacing the Washington Senators to a 7-0 victory.

Killebrew's 9th and 10th homers drove in four runs. Bob Allison hit his fifth home run for the Senators. It was the third time in eight games that Killebrew homered twice in the same game.

Griggs, a fastballing 6-footer, pitched hitless ball for the first 5 1/2 innings. Tony Kubek ruined his bid for a no-hitter by lining a single to center with two out in the sixth.

Gil McDougald got the second Yankee hit with one out in the seventh. It was a smash through the middle that sent Griggs tumbling to the ground.

Griggs had the Yankees sipping, popping and rolling the ball with his fastballs and fast curves.

Killebrew's first homer came off starter and loser Bob Turley in the first inning. His second, with two on, was belted off reliever Johnny Kucks in the eighth.

Ultimatum Due On Scholarship

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — The Southwest Conference found Saturday what it called an alarming increase in the number of athletic scholarships. An ultimatum went to athletic directors to bring them within "reasonable limits."

No action was taken on a proposed limit. But a committee studying scholarships was continued and will make another report in December.

The committee, headed by Dr. Truxton Shaw of SMU, expressed concern over the increase, especially in football. It recommended that "for the time being it be referred to the athletic directors and they be requested to keep scholarships in reasonable limits."

What the committee considers reasonable was not stated. Conference schools average about 150 scholarships a year in all sports.

Only one recruiting violation came up. Howard Grubbs, conference secretary, said the violation was found to be technical and "unintentional" so no one was penalized.

A committee of Dr. McCall, Dr. Chris Groneman of Texas A&M and Dr. J. William Davis of Texas Tech suggested a list of graduated penalties to be incorporated into the rules. The conference has been operating with only a few specific penalties and violations have been dealt with on their own merits in most instances.

These graduated penalties deal with the schools, the coaches, the students and the alumni and supporters of an institution.

Final action on the proposal was deferred until December. The report was accepted in principle. Action also was deferred until December on a proposal that a youth with an athletic scholarship does not participate as a freshman but wants to transfer to another school obtain unanimous vote of the conference in order to make the change and that he have only two years of eligibility at the other school. This rule was suggested in an effort to curb "tramp athletes."

Criticism by the press of the conference's "gag rule" that prohibits officials of a school criticizing the officials of a sports contest was discussed.

A committee of Lester Jordan, sports publicity director of SMU; D.X. Bible, retired athletic director of the University of Texas; and Grubbs will confer with the Texas Daily Newspaper Assn. in a "study of mutual problems."

Lake Thomas Catch

Three local men are pictured above with 18 White Bass they caught while trolling at Lake J. B. Thomas recently. They are, left to right, Cecil Thixson, Garner Thixson and Charles Oliver, the latter of Webb AFB. The Bass weighed 18 pounds. The fishing party made the entire catch in about two hours.

Forsan's Leon Calley, who has won the discus throw in several meets this year, failed to qualify for the State Meet, according to reports, because he is not experienced at throwing in the wind, something he was required to do in Regional.

Hawks May Be Team To Beat In Nat's

Howard County Junior College of Big Spring may be listed as the "team to beat" in the eighteenth annual National Junior College Track and Field meet, to be held in Hutchinson, Kansas, May 15 and 16.

Howard County has an outstanding crew of individual performers and is undefeated in junior college competition for the 1959 cinder season. The Big Spring team has swept to wins in the Border Olympics at Laredo, Tex., their own A.B.C. Relays at Big Spring, the San Antonio Junior College Invitational Meet, the Texas Junior College West Zone Meet at Amarillo, a duel with New Mexico Military Institute, and the Texas Junior College State Meet.

Chevy pickup pulls through "bottomless" pastures to keep stock fed!

At the Hall Bros. Dairy Farm, Montgomery, Ala., they say this 4-wheel drive Chevy will go anywhere to keep stock fed—even through hub-deep muck that makes it a fight all the way. And yet after a full year of it—no mechanical trouble of any kind!

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

They say HCJC's Fred Thompson could have broken both of Bruce Land's sprint records in the Texas Junior College Conference track and field meet at Abilene last week, had he been pushed . . . Fred runs simply to beat the opposition rather than for the record, much like Ireland's distance runner, Ron Delany . . . There's no telling how fast he could scoot, if really pushed . . . Delmer Brown, the East Texas mentor, saw the TJCC meet and got Fred off to one side for a long talk, after Thompson had completed his running chores . . . Abilene High is generally conceded to be the athletic powerhouse in District 2-AAAA . . . Actually, Odessa High has the most championships to its credit this school year, having won the basketball, golf, tennis and baseball titles while Abilene ruled the roost in football and track . . . The other three schools within the conference drew a blank . . . Isn't it about time Big Spring hosted the District 2-AAAA track and field teams? . . . The city is centrally situated, geographically speaking, and has facilities on a par with any school in the conference . . . Sonny Liston, who like champion Floyd Patterson is a Negro, is being quietly built up as a threat to Heavyweight boxing crown by the Jim Norris interests . . . Liston is a solid puncher and may be the fellow who finally dethrones Patterson, if Cus D'Amato will agree to send his tiger against anyone maimed by Norris . . . An 18-year-old Oregon boy named Dyrrol Burleson, may become the second American to run a mile in under four minutes . . . The track buffs in Oregon are expecting him not only to clear that hurdle but eventually beat Herb Elliott's record of 3:54.5 . . . The University of Oregon freshman recently beat Laszlo Tabori in the Drake Relays, covering the distance in 4:06.7 . . . Oregon track teams come along slowly because of the rainy season, which extends from September until April.

BENTLEY

ered splendid fishing grounds by area sportsmen, has 96 miles of shoreline . . . By comparison, Lake J. B. Thomas near here has an estimated 52 miles . . . If Lake Thomas were a perfect rectangle in shape, it would have a perimeter of about 20 miles . . . No fewer than 51 boys took part in the three spring baseball tryouts Coach Harold Davis of HCJC conducted here recently . . . Recruiting at the local school shouldn't be as difficult as it has been in the past, thanks to the addition of dormitory space . . . Bobby Gleason, the fight manager, grows that his tiger, Nino Valdes, would be willing to fight Ingemar Johansson, Brian London and Henry Cooper all in one night "and it wouldn't last six rounds" . . . Elroy (Crazylegs) Hirsch played in the last Hula Bowl game only because he wanted to stay eligible for the annual varsity-alumni game at the University of Wisconsin, which was to have been unrecruited last Friday . . . Alumni players must still be active in pro or service ball to be eligible for the contest.

Bucks Talk Out Of Both Sides Of Mouth

For a time early last week, Big Spring's R. L. Lasater didn't think he'd be able to run in the state track and field meet . . . He had the virus . . . Fortunately, he was treated early enough and recovered in time . . . His coach, Harold Bentley, was ill for the same reason . . . Two former Big Spring High School athletes, Alton and Bud Bostick, have been umpiring the home baseball games of the Odessa Bronchos this spring . . . Alton is also a well known football official while Bud at one time played first base for the Big Spring entry in the old Longhorn league . . . Leroy Coppie, who succeeded the one-time Big Spring, Herschel Stockton, as head coach at San Angelo Leo Junior High School, has quit that job to go to work for a pharmaceutical concern . . . Coppie served as Stockton's assistant for about four years . . . He and his family are moving to Wichita Falls . . . Ohio State University spokesmen seem to be talking out of both sides of their mouths on the Rose Bowl issue . . . They say they're against continued participation in the Pasadena classic but when the possibility loomed that a 55 vote on the renewal issue would cancel out the bowl relationship between the Big Ten and the coast schools it was soon hinted that the Buckeye people would refrain from voting and thereby save the alliance . . . If Woody Hayes and Company want to continue playing in the same, why the hypocrisy? . . . The state junior college track and field meet will probably be held either in Abilene or San Antonio next year . . . ACC was supposed to host this year's meet but the cinder carnival was transferred across town to McMurry about two weeks before it was scheduled because its dates conflicted with an invitational ACC had planned . . . Incidentally, HCJC won three trophies in addition to five gold medals in the state meet . . . When HC's Delbert Shirey cleared 13 feet in winning the pole vault at Abilene, he reportedly went over the bar with a foot to spare . . . If the upright had been elevated two inches at the time, he'd have broken the existing record.

The tournament schedule has been extended a day, which means that the finals will not be unrecruited until Friday. Entry fee for play and festivities will be $3. Only members of the club are eligible to play.

Trophies will be awarded to winners in each of three flights of play, including a nine-hole flight, which is being created for beginners.

In addition gift certificates are in the offering for the winner of the May 12 putting contest, the May 13 long driving contest and the Medalist. Those will be redeemable at the golf shop.

A luncheon which all women of the club are eligible to attend will be held in the clubhouse on Wednesday. Non-players should make their reservations by Tuesday, if they plan to be on hand.

For Youth Problem, Use More Paddling

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

There is a growing feeling in this country that the best way to get at the seat of juvenile delinquency problem is with a good, strong paddle.

A Brooklyn grand jury, after more than a year spent investigating school lawlessness, recommended that teachers be allowed to paddle students who misbehave.

A high school principal in Memphis, Tenn., took the paddle to 11 students who had gone out on strike. He said most of the parents approved.

The president of the National Science Teachers Assn. told a congressional committee that he favors corporal punishment — at least as a last resort.

There's another side to the story, too.

For every teacher who believes in corporal punishment, there is at least another who wouldn't touch a paddle.

The general public appears to favor much stronger discipline than is now enforced in the public schools.

The magazine "Scholastic Teacher" recently quoted a national opinion poll as finding that two of every three American adults think school discipline is too lax. They would permit paddling grade school youngsters.

There is certainly nothing new in the debate about corporal punishment for unruly children. Folks have been talking about it for centuries.

THE BIBLE SAYS—
"Foolishness is bound in the heart of a child, but the rod of correction shall drive it from him."

In the last century, British novelist Samuel Butler was saying: "Spare the rod and spoil the child."

When educators put aside their paddles and took up child psychology, the use of corporal punishment in the schools largely disappeared.

Only New Jersey and the District of Columbia specifically forbid it by law. West Virginia doesn't prohibit it, but it is not one of the punishments approved by law.

The remaining states leave it up to local school authorities.

The educators seem to be of three minds on the matter.

One group believes in corporal punishment and uses it. Another group wouldn't use it under any circumstances. Probably the largest group doesn't like it, but doesn't want the right to use it to be taken away.

Dr. T. M. Stinnett is one of the latter. Stinnett, now with the National Education Assn., has been a teacher, principal, superintendent, assistant state commissioner of education, and assistant president of the University of Arkansas.

THREAT EFFECTIVE
He sees the problem this way: "The threat of a whipping is much more effective than a whipping itself. If a kid has never been whipped—if he doesn't know what it's like—he's easier to keep in line."

"But once you take the belt to him, he learns two things. First, even if it hurts, it's not unbearable—he can take it. Second, he gains stature in the class, he's a hero—a big shot. And that's the last thing you want."

The problem here, Stinnett thinks, is in keeping the threat active.

"Once they find out that it's just an idle threat," he says, "when they know you're never really going to whip them, the whole theory goes to pot. That's why you have to be able to whip them sometimes."

Many teachers are afraid to use corporal punishment, even if the school board says it's all right. They fear being hauled into court by angry parents.

A recent study of school discipline in the Bulletin of the National Assn. of Secondary School Principals found the advantages of the paddle outweighed by the disadvantages.

The disadvantages, said the Bulletin, are that corporal punishment humiliates the older pupils; it may create a personal battle between teacher and pupil; it deepens the resentment and hostility of the pupil; and it may alienate parents.

Mother's Busy Day

A HASTY LAST CUP OF COFFEE cheers Mrs. J. P. Gordon on her way as she leaves for her work at Fisher's downtown shop. She is typical of mothers who work, run a house and enter into interests of her husband and children. A daughter, Brenda, is a freshman student in Howard County Junior College. Another daughter, Mrs. Larry Shortes is the mother of a source of joy and delight for Mrs. Gordon; she is Connie Lynn Shortes, 10 months old. Gordon is an employe of the local branch of the Internal Revenue Department.

ALL IN THE DAY'S WORK is the care and selling of such lovely articles as the pitcher, which Mrs. Gordon holds, or the many other items shown with her. Just as the old quip about woman's work never being done is so appropriate to apply to career women, it is even more so when used in regard to mothers who are employed. After her hours spent as a saleslady in Fisher's downtown shop, Mrs. Gordon engages in the regular round of housework.

SKIRTS LENGTHENED, OR SHORTENED, according to the dictates of Dame Fashion, add to the duties of all mothers with daughters, and Mrs. Gordon is shown as she assists Brenda with her skirt length. Besides making like seamstresses, mothers are called upon to help plan and execute parties, picnics, dances and other socials, as well as working with church groups. The Gordons are active members in the First Baptist Church.

UM-M-M, SMELLS GOOD, says Brenda Gordon, as she sniffs the tasty food being prepared by her mother for the family's evening meal. This is all a part of a mother's activities in addition to her laundering, cleaning and gardening, along with the little extra tasks that bob up from time to time. Welcome help is provided by Brenda, who is developing into a good housekeeper, according to Mrs. Gordon.

COMES THE END OF DAY, and Mrs. Gordon can sometimes relax with a book or magazine at their home, 1509 East Sixth, while her husband reads the news. At times, though, there is a washer of clothes to be run—or perhaps ironed, baking to be done for special occasions or food prepared in advance for guests or family. Whatever the demand on her time, Mrs. Gordon, like countless other mothers the world over, graciously performs the task—and goes on to the next activity. (Photos by Keith McMillin).

The Big Spring
HERALD

Big Spring, Texas, Sunday, May 10, 1959

"Where's The Ice, Please?"

That's the plea of Mrs. Roger Bye and two-year-old Lori, both of whom are devoted to ice skating and miss it keenly here in West Texas. Mrs. Bye for two years was a member of the Holiday On Ice troupe, performing in Mexico and every state except California. Spread on the sofa back are some of her knitted practice outfits. Lt. Bye's 3 1/2-year assignment at Webb AFB was broken with a schooling session for six months at Waco. Newest member of the family is Roger Jr., soon to be three months old.

The Roger Byes Are Big Spring Newcomers For Second Time

Lt. and Mrs. Roger Bye, 1203 Douglass, are newcomers to Big Spring for the second time. He first drew an assignment to Webb AFB in December, 1955. When he was sent to Waco for six months of special schooling, Mrs. Bye decided to take two-year-old Lori home to Chisholm, Minn., for a visit with their families. The Byes returned three weeks ago, this time with a fourth member of the family — Roger Jr. had arrived Feb. 12.

Winter in Minnesota gave Mrs. Bye another chance at her life-long love — ice skating. The petite brunette recalls one of the most exciting moments of her life: she went to Sioux City, Iowa, to audition for a place in the Holiday on Ice troupe. On the spot she was accepted for the chorus, without even time to return home for her wardrobe.

For the next two years she toured with the company into Mexico and through every state except California. Each season was prefaced with a grueling two months of rehearsals, when the skaters would be practicing their routines from 8 to 6 daily. But when the show hit the road, it was like a vacation the rest of the season. Mrs. Bye's introduction to Texas came in this manner: Odessa, Lubbock, Amarillo and Dallas were regular stops on their itinerary.

When, at 18 months of age, Lori was outfitted with skates and set on the ice for the first time, it should not have been surprising to anyone that she took to it like the proverbial duck to water. Perhaps the proudest of all the spectators was her grandfather, who is pictured in the January issue of a national magazine on skating. Frank Rusoch tells how his daughter encouraged him in figure skating; so much so that he became interested in stilt skating, made himself a pair, and now is featured in amateur shows in Minnesota.

Figure skating is not for the lieutenant. Rather, he is a fancier of pistols and re-loading, and is a member of Webb's pistol team. He is planning to make a career in the USAF.

Sewing is a skill in which Mrs. Bye indulges whenever possible. With her mother, she used to make her own costumes in amateur productions.

The family attends St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE BROOKS left Saturday morning for a three weeks vacation trip to Jacksonville, Gainesville and Orlando, Fla., where they will visit relatives. They hope to spend some time in Georgia with other relatives before they return here.

The Brookses have recently received a letter from their daughter, Mrs. CARL WYRICK, who with her husband and daughter, Lynda, lives at Dureux AFB near Paris, France. She had joined a group for a tour through Holland during the tulip season. She had seen to Antwerp, Rotterdam, The Hague and Amsterdam and said the tulip fields were just too beautiful to describe. She found Holland pretty and clean with its green countryside dotted with spotless black and white cattle. All over Holland the natives had fashioned designs from flower petals on their lawns which caused Mrs. Wyrick to say she had never seen such a lovely sight as "Tulip Time in Holland."

MR. AND MRS. DOYLE McCULLOUGH and Mike of Lubbock are here for the day with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Morehead.

MRS. W. A. WILLIAMS who joined her brother, George Elliot, and his daughter, Ann, of Midland, for a trip to Corsicana has returned. The three visited Mrs. E. A. Elliot, mother of Mrs. Williams and Mr. Elliot.

MR. AND MRS. A. M. WHETZEL have as their guests today their children and their families, Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Little of Midland and their daughter, Darlene, who is a student in Hardin-Simmons; Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Whetzel and their children of Forsan, and Mr. and Mrs. Doug Whetzel and children of Lees.

Mrs. Whetzel's brother, V. L. McDANIEL of Longview, returned to his home Wednesday after visiting the Whetzels. He is a former resident of Big Spring.

The place wasn't first but it was so close representatives of the Rosebud Garden Club felt as though they had won a moral victory when their scrapbook took second place for standard clubs at the state meeting in El Paso. Mrs. J. G. LEWIS accepted the award for the local club. She was accompanied by Mrs. TIP ANDERSON and Mrs. CLYDE ANGEL, Big Spring Garden Club, who accepted a second place award for scrapbooks for the advanced clubs. Mrs. J. GORDON BRISTOW was also present for the meeting. Incidentally, Littlefield won over the Rosebud Club's 94 with a score of 95.

GARY LYNN is the name of the son born May 6 to MR. AND MRS. TOMMY McADAMS of Abilene. The baby weighed 8 pounds at birth. He is the grandson of MR. AND MRS. TOM McADAMS and MR. AND MRS. HAROLD FARQUHAR, both of Big Spring. Gary's big sister is Christy, 18 months of age.

MR. AND MRS. VIRGIL HUBBS and their son, John David, are here for the day from Odessa to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Nobles.

CLEM ALFRED HOWELL made his appearance in Detroit, Mich., in time to get in on the Mother's Day celebration at the home of DR. AND MRS. FRANK HOWELL. His grandmother, Mrs. H. W. Smith, has been with the Howells for a month and plans to spend at least 10 more days there. Clem Alfred, who was born on Monday, is the second son of the couple, the other being two-year-old Frank, II.

MRS. KIM MOORE, mother of Mrs. John Hugh King, returned to her home in Greeley, Colo., after spending several days here. She had recently undergone surgery in her former home of San Angelo.

MR. AND MRS. RANDALL PICKLE and their granddaughter, Kay Lynn, and Mrs. LEWIS RIX LEWIS JR. and Ruth of Lubbock and MR. AND MRS. PAUL RIX and MR. AND MRS. DEAN TODD and their children of Odessa, are expected today to spend the day with us and other relatives.

MR. AND MRS. MILLER HARRIS will spend today in Long Beach, Calif., with their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Harris.

J. B. DODGE, brother of J. P. Dodge, expects to return to his home in Birmingham, Ala., this week after a visit of a week in the Dodge home. The Dodges are not expecting any of their daughters home for Mother's Day.

Weekend guests of MR. AND MRS. ROBERT H. DYER are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe I. Dyer of Henderson.

MRS. FRANK MONTGOMERY, mother of Tom and Dave Montgomery and MR. AND MRS. C. J. HULSEY, parents of Lowie Rice, are in College Station today to attend the activities at A&M College to honor parents of the students.

MR. AND MRS. T. K. PRICE have as Mother's Day guests their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon G. Boggus, Weldon Jr. and Tommy. Boggus is the coach at Pecos High School.

Piano Auditions To End Monday

About 30 piano pupils of Mrs. Dick Mitchell, Garden City, will be heard Monday in the final round of National Piano Playing Auditions held locally on the HCCJ Campus.

The group will play in the studio for the adjudicator, Charles Wooten of Brownwood. A former teacher at McMurry College, Wooten has been acting chairman of Howard Payne College's Division of Music for the past 4 1/2 years. He is a graduate of the University of Missouri, holds the master of music degree from TCU and is presently working toward his doctorate. Wooten has studied with Gottfried Galston of St. Louis, Edward Kilenyi of Tallahassee, Fla., and Stephan Bardas, NTSC, Denton.

Robert Floyd, chairman of the Division of Fine Arts at the University of Corpus Christi, served last week as judge in the auditions. Heard Saturday were pupils of the adjudicator, Charles Wooten of Brownwood. They included Ann Gibbs, Rachel Phelan, Kay and Karen McGibbon, Jane and Brenda Cowper, Mary Frances Malone, Delores Howard, Linda Kay Dyer, Judy Denton, Malinda Crocker and Ann Puckett.

More than 100 have participated in the Big Spring auditions. Thus they have become part of the 40,000 piano pupils throughout the nation to be judged in the annual tournament.

June 26 is the wedding date named by Sadie Nixon and her fiance, Wayne Wallace. The announcement has been made by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Nixon, Coahoma. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wallace, also of Coahoma, are parents of the prospective bridegroom.

Midland Home Is Scene Of Wedding

Frances Jean House, Stanton, and Raymond Darrell Barbee, Midland, pledged their nuptial vows Friday night in a double ring ceremony at the home of the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wise, Midland. The Rev. E. A. Seal, pastor of Glenmore Baptist Church in Midland, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. House of Stanton. Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Barbee, Route 1, Big Spring, are parents of the bridegroom.

Glenda Roberson, pianist, accompanied Joyce Anderson as she sang The Lord's Prayer and You'll Never Walk Alone.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in Chantilly lace over net and taffeta. Scalloped neckline and long sleeves tapering to points at the wrists characterized the bodice; a back bow complimented the juncture of bodice with ballerina-length skirt. On a white Bible she carried a bouquet of white carnations showered with white streamers.

Melba O'Brian, as maid of honor, wore a dress of blue nylon over taffeta. It was fashioned with rounded neckline and a taffeta cummerbund caught into a large bow at back.

Jay Dee House, sister of the bride, lighted the candles. She was attired in a princess-styled dress of pink taffeta.

Guests lingered for the reception following the rite. From a table done in lace over blue, they were served punch and cake. The confection bore a miniature bride and groom.

For a brief wedding trip to San Antonio, the bride wore a blue cotton and rayon frock featuring rounded neckline and full skirt; her accessories were white.

Upon the couple's return, to Midland, they will make a home at 207 West Michigan. Barbee is employed with the U. S. Post Office, and his bride is a bookkeeper for Dunlap Company.

Ellis gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a traditional floor length gown of tulle and lace over taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a scalloped neckline with soft folds of tulle bordered with lace sprinkled with sequins. Long sleeves tapered to points over the hands, and the bouffant skirt was accented by bands of applied lace. A fingertip veil of imported silk illusion and Chantilly lace was attached to a tiara of iridescent sequins. She carried an orchid centered in carnations atop a white Bible.

Honor attendants for the couple were Homer Pendergrass of Brownfield, best man, and Mrs. Louie Drennan of Welch, aunt of the bride, who was matron of honor.

Mrs. Drennan wore blue lace over taffeta fashioned on princess lines with a pleated flounce accented by a bow in center back. She wore a tiny hat of blue feathers and carried white carnations.

Karen Lewis of Olton was flower girl, and the ring bearer was Rex Drennan of Welch, cousin of the bride.

The George W. Dabneys Will Mark Golden Anniversary At Open House

By JOE PICKLE
Fifty years ago the Texas & Pacific transferred one of its young employes from Monahans to Toyah and broke up a courtship.

However, this same development launched a happy marriage. Tuesday between the hours of 4 and 7 p.m., Mr. and Mrs. George W. Dabney will observe open house at their home at 806 Runnels in celebration of their Golden Wedding anniversary.

Not all their children can be with them, but at least two are coming from great distances to share in the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. George Dabney from Santa Paula, Calif., were due to arrive over the weekend, and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Dabney of Chicago, Ill., are planning on being here. Mrs. Jim (Gertrude) Roul, Florence Dabney and Ray Dabney are all Big Spring residents and will be on hand to help their parents, Chesney Dabney, Seattle, Wash., and Jack Dabney, who resides in Connecticut, may not be able to be here.

George Washington Dabney, a young Tennessean who had been orphaned as a small lad, took a job with the T&P railroad and was assigned to Monahans on Oct. 19, 1907. The following spring, Mrs. Willie Mae Chesney, who had been living in Midland, came to Monahans to be with relatives.

As they recall it, their first meeting took place at the school house where church services were being held.

Anyhow, it wasn't difficult to meet for there were only 151 souls in the community at that time, and when anyone had a meeting or party everyone was invited; when a new person came to town, everyone knew it immediately.

Things were going nicely when, in January of 1909, he was transferred west to Toyah. He already had planned to be wed and he was saving money for the occasion.

With the help of Mrs. Theo Andrews, at whose mother's place he had boarded in Monahans, Mr. Dabney picked out a small house and furnished it.

Immediately following the wedding of George Dabney and Willie Chesney in Monahans on May 12, 1909, they went to Toyah and to the house he had already bought.

For the next 20 years they lived in Toyah where all their children, except Ray, were born. Mr. Dabney kept busy as mayor, school trustee and at a variety of other jobs; with six little ones, Mrs. Dabney didn't have any trouble finding things to do. Ray was born after they moved to Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Dabney both have been active members in the First Christian Church. Recently they were honored at a testimonial dinner at which tributes were paid for his 14 years as a member of the city commission. This was also the occasion for the conferring of the honorary title of Mayor, a title he had won officially for most of his 14 years in office.

Recent Wedding Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Coffee, 513 Edwards Circle, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Barbara, to Robert D. Whittington III. He is the son of Mrs. R. D. Whittington, Bessier City, La., formerly of Big Spring, and the late Col. Whittington.

The couple exchanged wedding vows May 2 in the First Baptist Church at Bryan, with Dr. William A. Andrew, pastor, officiating.

Prior to the double ring ceremony, an organ prelude included "Because, I Love Thee" and "O Promise Me." Chantilly lace over satin formed the bride's gown. The fitted bodice, designed with scalloped square neckline dipping to a V at back, had long buttoned sleeves tapering to points at the wrists. The skirt, bouffant with tulle and net over satin, was sprinkled with Chantilly lace flowers and edged in a wide panel of the lace. Her veil of imported net fell from a semi-circular lace crown studded with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a bouquet of flowers on a white ribbon.

Mrs. Whittington, a graduate of Big Spring High School, is completing her first year at Baylor University where she is majoring in education, Latin and English. She is a pledge of the Athenian Club. She is a past worthy advisor of the Order of Rainbow Girls, Big Spring.

The bridegroom, an honor graduate of Bossier High School, also had attended Big Spring High. A pre-veterinary medicine student at Texas A&M College, he has been recognized as outstanding freshman of the Second Battalion, Second Regiment, and is on the rifle team. In Big Spring, he was a member of the Key Club and the Future Farmers of America. The newlyweds will reside in Bryan this summer while he continues his studies. Mrs. Whittington will be secretary to Dr. Andrew and assistant organist at the First Baptist Church.

pare salads; the July session will be dispensed with, and the August meeting will be a covered dish luncheon.

Mrs. Ed Swift, chairman of the ways and means committee, told of the plans for a smorgasbord some time in October. Tickets, which are to be the responsibility of Mrs. Ova Mae Edwards, will be sold to adults only and restricted to members of the club and their friends. Committees will be announced at a later date, Mrs. Swift said.

Hostesses were Mrs. Harold Talbot, Mrs. Jack Cook, Mrs. Charles Tompkins, Mrs. Tom South and Mrs. R. R. McEwen Jr. They arranged tables in green linen with runners of foliage and white summer flowers; the buffet table, also covered in green, held an arrangement of daisies, asters, gladioli and Dutch iris in a basket. The centerpiece was awarded to Mrs. Edwards as a special prize.

Bridge games followed the luncheon.

Golf Group Hears Plans For Summer Activity

A reminder of the ladies golf tournament, slated to begin Tuesday, was given members of the Ladies Golf Association Friday at the monthly luncheon at the Big Spring Country Club.

Players will pay an entry fee of three dollars, which will cover the cost of a luncheon and a cocktail party.

A report was heard on the recent bridge tournament sponsored by the association, and members were reminded of the Family Night Supper scheduled for May 19. A Dutch lunch and bingo games are in the plans for the event.

Mrs. Jack Irons announced that the June meeting of the group will be a Ladies Splash Day, with a salad luncheon served. Members will join in twosomes to pre-

COVER-UP

Comfort For Larger Figure In Cool Casual

Thank heaven for Brigrance, who not only knows that every woman cannot slink around in matador pants, but who has done something about it.

For casual hours that call for something less than a dress, he has come up with this two-piece culotte, cut in two lengths with plenty of style and grace for figures from size 10 to 18.

The low necked, collared blouse has an upside-down side zipper to keep the midriff line sleek and clean.

The culotte has deep inverted pleats both back and front, with two little released pleats on each side of the center front, that add a pleasant hip swing.

An easy to make costume, it is suggested that you choose linen, pique, shantung, chambray, gingham, or plain or printed silk for the top; the culotte is best in woven seersucker, cords, denims or worsted wools or flannels.

College girls will do well to remember the wools made up in the longer length for their back-to-school wardrobes.

From this size chart select the one size best for you:

Size	Bust	Waist	Hips	Length
10	34	24	35	36 1/2 inches
12	36	25	36	37 1/2 "
14	38 1/2	26 1/2	37 1/2	37 1/2 "
16	40	28	38	37 1/2 "
18	42	30	40	37 1/2 "

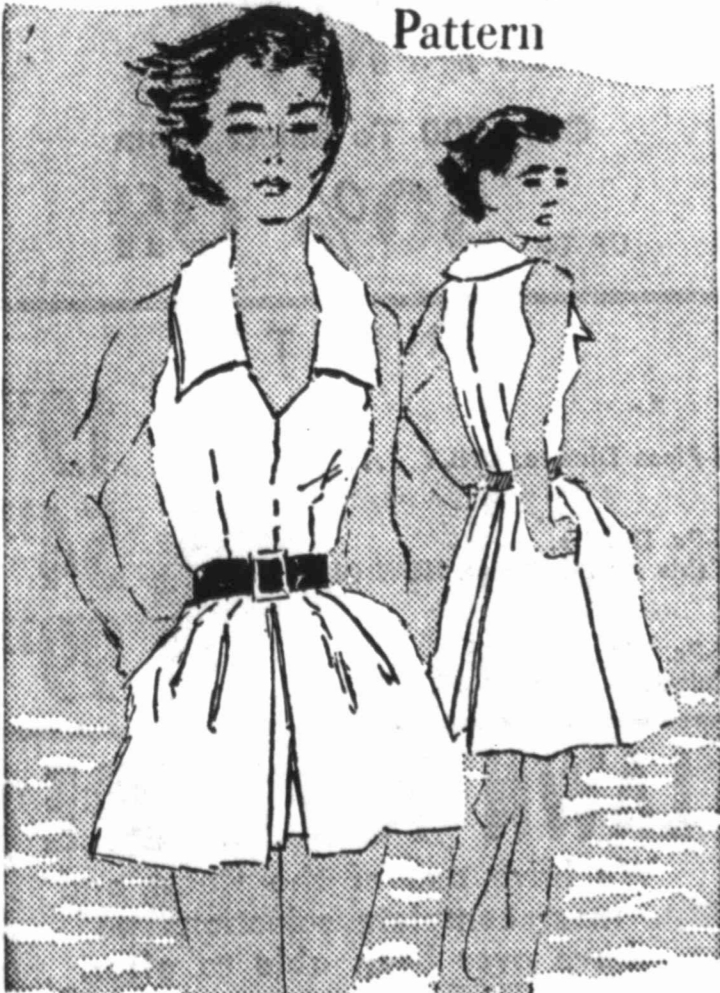

Size 12 requires 2 yards of 36-inch material for blouse, 2 1/4 yards of 36-inch material for short length culotte and 2 1/2 yards of 36-inch material for knee length culotte.

"This Is Grandma's Hat"

Grandma probably wouldn't recognize her hat at the present stage, but it's giving pleasure to five-year-old Sandra Linthicum to "try it on for size"—which is nowhere near right, of course. The white base is to be covered with tiny feathers by Sandra's mother, Mrs. W. B. Linthicum, 1614 Lark, whose hobby is making hats. Rather new at the job, she has had only four lessons, but she has completed the small hat of blue strawcloth enhanced with a matching rose, which she will present to her mother as a Mother's Day gift.

Hat Designers May Find Rival In Mrs. Linthicum

By ANNE LEFEVER
If you should ever greet Mrs. W. B. Linthicum, 1614 Lark, with the old song, Where DID You Get That Hat?, she just might come back with the reply, "I made it!" And she'd probably be telling the truth.

When Capt. Linthicum was stationed with the Air Force in Lake Charles, La., Mrs. Linthicum took lessons with the Officers Wives Club members who were learning to make their own chapeaux. She had taken only four lessons when they were transferred to Big Spring.

Doing remarkably well on the basis of those four lessons, the newcomer—they have been here about a month—has already made a hat which she intends as a Mother's Day gift for her mother.

The gift, of soft blue strawcloth in a small shallow turban-like shape with a perfectly matched rose placed jauntily on the side. Folds of the fabric are manipulated and secured in a most professional manner.

Next in the plans for the hat-maker is a hat for the captain's mother. This one sounds as if it will be a more ambitious undertaking—a feather creation. This will be fashioned on a frame to which Mrs. Linthicum will attach small pads holding feathers of varied colors and markings, using either the sewing method or a special glue.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Phillips, 415 Westover. Douglass is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Douglass Sr., of Big Spring and Ruidoso.

A Devotional For Today

Be glad in the Lord, and rejoice, ye righteous; and shout for joy, all ye that are upright in heart. (Psalm 32:11)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, teach us to praise Thee at all times. Grant that we may know Thy love to us in Jesus Christ and find joy in serving Thee. So may we express our faith and gratitude and love. To Thy name's honor and glory and for the Master's sake. Amen.

It All Depends Upon You

In one more week our community will undertake its annual spring clean up campaign. The Chamber of Commerce civic and beautification committee, cooperating with city officials and others, has made plans for the special effort to begin a week from Monday. As usual, the City of Big Spring is performing a tremendous spring free collection of trash.

Now if the campaign is to be successful, it must be general. If it is to be general, it must be specific — that is it must start with you. And if you can go the second mile and see that areas around you are cleaned, too, the effort will be all the more successful.

Please don't wait until the city's trucks roll past to do something about cleaning your yard and vacant lots. We urge you to buckle down to this job this week and let the trash piled in the alley or at the curb so the trucks can pick it up. Let's make this one count; let's make our city look better and make it safer and healthier at the same time.

Make Armed Forces Day A Must

Armed Forces Day will be observed Saturday, and in this area activities will center around open house at Webb AFB. Col. Kyle L. Riddle, wing commander, has invited the public to come and see what its tax dollars buy in the way of security. At the same time, visitors can get some idea of what is involved in the operation and maintenance of a military installation, and how Webb functions as a trainer and a protector.

As wonderful as it would be to live in a world where vast military establishments were unnecessary, we must face reality. Virtually every thinking person is of the opinion that not in the foreseeable future is there any likelihood that grave international pressures will be lessened. There is small possibility, so long as international communism is a virile force, that we can afford to relax our guard for a moment.

Thus, we cannot measure strength in terms of what it costs, but rather in terms of what it would cost not to be strong. There is no alternative to first rate military preparedness except a type of slavery under tyranny.

We are proud of the part that Webb AFB plays in producing pilots who are our defenders and whose skill acquired through supersonic planes and ultramodern weapons deter would be aggressors. We are proud of the men who stand by 24-hours a day ready to streak into the sky and stand between us and desolation should some invader seek to surprise us.

Most of us have taken advantage of the opportunity to visit the base at one time or another, but we hope that hundreds upon hundreds will make a special effort to go to the base again Saturday. New planes and new equipment, not only from the Air Force but from other branches of service, will be on display. But more than your interest in these activities should be your interest in the base and what it stands for. We earnestly hope you'll say "thanks" by taking time to say it with your presence.

David Lawrence Kremlin Leaders Violate Trusts

PARIS — Diplomats here are talking about a well-authenticated story of an experience that Prime Minister Macmillan had with Premier Khrushchev in Moscow recently which illustrates better than anything else just why you cannot trust the rulers in the Kremlin.

To all those persons in America and elsewhere who keep on urging that "summit" conferences between top-level representatives of the East and West can be useful if only "to find out where you stand" and "to explore the situation," the Macmillan-Khrushchev episode should be most revealing.

It started, of course, with Macmillan's conciliatory gestures designed to overcome the Soviet "fears and suspicions" of Western intentions which had become the favorite cliché in some quarters in London. So the British prime minister tackled the possible ban on nuclear tests which has been the subject of conferences between the East and West at Geneva for the last half-year. The talks had been stalled by the Soviet demand for a veto on all inspection and control systems proposed by the West. Khrushchev took the position that inspection would merely give the West a chance to send in spies to wander around the Soviet Union.

On the spur of the moment and without consulting his own scientific experts, Macmillan suggested the idea of limiting the number of inspections per year. With the mobile inspection teams "rationed" and confined to only a few inspections, it was assumed that Khrushchev would no longer have any legitimate basis for his objections.

Macmillan doubtless made clear that he was speaking off the cuff and very confidentially, as he would want to check the practical side with his experts. Khrushchev said he liked the idea. He was a man of integrity, he would have kept Macmillan's confidence and waited for the British prime minister to explore the plan with his own experts and with those of other Western countries.

Macmillan cabled President Eisenhower a few hours before the British prime minister was scheduled to meet Khrushchev for a final session. The United States government promptly sent back a message to Macmillan saying the proposal seemed to American scientific experts to be "technically impractical and potentially dangerous."

It isn't clear whether the British prime minister got the American reaction soon enough to cause him to switch his stand, but the fact is that he did not withdraw the proposal. He believed perhaps that he could still discuss it further on his later trip to Washington to see President Eisenhower and that, since everything said at the Moscow conference was supposed to be confidential, there would be time later to clarify or reverse the original proposal.

When the prime minister reached Washington, he ran up against a stone wall of opposition. The American experts argued that he was giving away something — unlimited inspection — in exchange for nothing, inasmuch as Khrushchev had not offered to drop his demand for a veto over the whole control system.

The United States proposed instead — and Macmillan approved — a different idea in an attempt to break the deadlock. The offer was made that, since the dispute centered around control of underground and stratospheric tests, any ban on nuclear tests should initially apply only to explosions in the atmosphere under 35 miles in altitude, because such explosions are relatively easy to detect and the ban would require a simple system of control.

What Khrushchev did at this point dismayed even Macmillan's most ardent supporters in Great Britain. For the Soviet premier submitted at the Geneva conference the Macmillan plan for "rationed" on-the-spot inspections as a Soviet proposal, even though by this time he knew full well that the United States had already rejected the plan. Then, when the British delegate at Geneva spoke against the proposal, as he was instructed to do from London, the Soviet delegate arched his eyebrows and, in mock surprise, said: "You mean you are opposing the British plan?"

The London Daily Telegraph, discussing the incident, said that "the skill and ruthlessness of Soviet diplomacy are still underrated" by the British government. The telegram — which is Britain's most loyal supporter of Macmillan — added: "Was it thought that even a private hint by the prime minister as a separate British view would not be exploited in public by Mr. Khrushchev when it suited him to do so? . . . What other confidential British ideas will Mr. Khrushchev be able to divulge at the appropriate moment so as to break up the unity of the Western front?"

Maybe even the school of thought which coined the word "inflexibility" with reference to Mr. Dulles' tactics that were so much criticized will be enlightened by this adventure in "flexibility."

Policeman Flustered

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Marine Sgt. Harold Cutler was rushing his wife to a hospital for the expected birth of twins when he pulled to the curb by a young police officer.

After hearing the story, the officer transferred the Cutlers to his prowl car. With red lights flashing, he raced them through town and pulled up at the University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

Mrs. Cutler told the policeman that she was going to have babies, not fish, and please get her to the nearby Scripps Memorial Hospital.

The officer, more badly shaken by now than the Cutlers, got them to the hospital on his next try — and on time. Murned one hospital nurse: "We're used to the sight of panicky fathers. But the face of this young policeman was something to study."

'Chicken', International Style

J. A. Livingston Rise In Stocks Encourages More Spending

Wall Street—the stock market—is often likened to a thermometer. It registers how people feel about business. But, unlike the thermometer, Wall Street influences its own findings.

Every physician is acquainted with at least one patient who is fevered by his own fever. Hypochondriacal apprehensions and fears excite him. Doctors try to persuade such a patient not to take his temperature. Well, that patient typifies Wall Street. Bull markets tend to be self-fevering (even as bear markets).

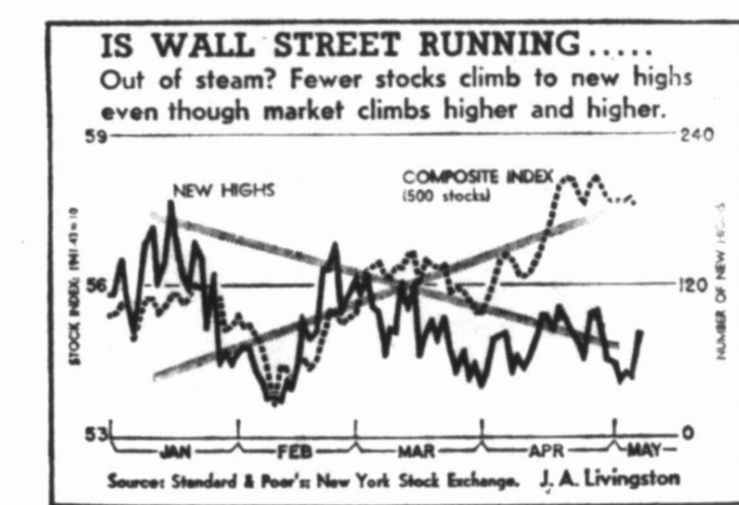

You and I see prices rising. We say to ourselves: "Why don't I get into this thing? What's the use of being a stick-in-the-mud? We want to join the 'smart people' now talking about their profits."

The market has become popular enough to be a magazine subject. Early in February, The Saturday Evening Post published an article by Harold H. Martin, "Behind the Stock Market Turmoil." A recent Life blazoned on its covers: "Stratospheric Stock Market; Profits, High Pressure, Danger."

The other day I watched a supposedly hard-minded business executive rush to a newstand, fling open his paper, and beam. "Up again," he commented. "What's up?" someone asked. "My stock," he said. "Just bought it 10 days ago and I've already made 20 per cent."

The present stock market has worked itself into our economic system. You read about Thiokol; Bell & Howell; Zenith; International Business Machines; Martin Co.; Smith Kline & French; General Instrument; General Dynamics spurring several points. Such advances affect spending. The man whose stocks have gone up is free-and-easy on the draw on his bank balance. He tells his wife to get the diamond she has been eyeing, or he splurges on a new car, or he builds a swimming pool. He feels richer, so he spends more of his income. Thus, a bull market becomes a business booster.

Yet, if you dissect this market, you see indications that it's not as glibly optimistic as several dozen pop-off stocks advertise. In the last five months we've had three rallies. The first lasted 33 days from November 25, 1958, to January 21 this year; the rise was 9.8 per cent. The second lasted 24 days from February 9 to March 13. The advance was 5.8 per cent. The third, the present, has run about 30 days. The rise so far has been about 4 per cent. Inference: Diminishing zip.

The average of new highs per day in the current advance has been 70, as against 102 during the November-January rally, and 91 during the February-March rally (see chart). Moreover, the average number of new lows per day has been 30, against three during the first advance, and only two in the second.

The decline in the number of new highs and the rise in new lows indicate a lack of breadth in the advance. Even though the stock market has become common conversation, this hasn't been a heavily-traded market. During the November-January and the February-March rallies, an average of 3,800,000 shares were traded daily on the New York Stock Exchange. This time, the volume has been only 3,400,000.

The failure to make more new highs per day as volume declines could signify a pause in a bull market, a marshaling of strength before another surge, rather than last-gasp fatigue. Markets often behave so. Certainly, first-quarter earnings reports have been excellent by and large, and the business indexes themselves—automobile production, steel operations, new orders for machine tools and industrial supplies—auger a record 1959 in sales and personal income and, possibly, corporation profits.

Simple arithmetic threatens the market. High-grade corporate bonds yield 4.3 per cent. Stocks yield 3.2 per cent. Institutional investors—investment trusts, insurance companies, banks, pension funds—can't help wondering: Should we try for certain income from bonds rather than inflationary gains from stocks? Well-heeled investors can increase their income by selling stocks and putting the bonds, even though they'll have to pay capital gains taxes on their profits on the stocks.

Disney Offers Monorail To Help Traffic

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Walt Disney, admittedly a nut about trains, has a new plaything that could help solve the strangled traffic of American cities.

It's a mile-long monorail system. "This said by some that the only reason Walt created Disneyland was so he could have a place to run his trains around. This is probably an exaggeration. Yet there can be no doubt, that his eyes start to glow when he talks about his rolling stock.

His latest dream is the Disneyland-Alweg monorail system, one of the features in the six-million-dollar expansion program at the Anaheim, Calif., park. Lately two aircraft companies have announced monorail systems, but Disney has them beaten. His trains will start running daily on June 15.

"There is one other monorail in the world," Disney explained. "That's the one in Germany that is about 30 years old. The cars are suspended and won't go very fast."

"Our trains run with rubber tires on a concrete runway supported by pylons as high as 35 feet. They are operated by electricity and there is no sway and no noise. In fact, they are so soundless that we'll have to add some noise to make the ride more exciting.

"The trains can go up to 70 m.p.h. on the straightaway; ours is a small run with lots of curves, so the top speed will be about 35 miles. They are absolutely safe. If anything goes wrong, the motor cuts off and the train limps into the station at 4 m.p.h. In case the electricity fails, there are two auxiliary gasoline engines. We tried to think of everything."

Disney engineers worked with the Alweg company of Germany for months to perfect the system. It has already attracted the attention of civic leaders who are trying to cope with America's clogged streets and highways.

Around The Rim Air Power We Want On Our Side

Only the top Intelligence people of the nation, I suppose, know just what the Russians have in the way of arms, but unless the Reds have some highly developed aircraft and missilery, they could be in for trouble if they really touch off a war with the U. S.

To the layman, this was made impressively clear last week in the aerial firepower demonstration staged at the Air Force's proving ground center at Eglin AFB, Florida.

The Air Force puts on parade there such an awesome display of combat aircraft and weapons that the man on the ground is left completely breathless. And he leaves the crackling-fast, nerve-shaking demonstration with a new sense of confidence in our military might. The Eglin affair, while as spectacular as an aerial show, is in reality a demonstration of what U. S. pilots can do with the machines and the weapons that have been put at their command; what they can actually do in combat.

Some 6,000 fortunate individuals were arrayed in a grandstand at Eglin this past week, overlooking a great range over which the Air Force deployed practically every type of aircraft it has operational for combat. There were fighters and bombers, transports and tankers, photographic and reconnaissance planes; mammoth, big-bellied craft, and small, needle-nosed craft.

There were old-time block-buster bombs, screaming rockets, frightful napalm bombs, 1,000-rounds-per-minute automatic guns, and air-to-air missiles that all defy belief. There was even a realistic demonstration of the use of the nuclear bomb, but for obvious reasons, the real McCoy wasn't used. The simulation was used to give anybody the shudders.

The F-102, the F-104, the F-105, showed how they crack the sonic barrier, and zip on to speeds of practically twice that of sound. They also showed they were weapons carriers, as they sprayed targets with cannon shot and rockets, and dropped their bombs.

The mighty B-52 bombers, flying over in thundering array, drank in fuel in an in-flight fueling demonstration, to show that these carriers of destruction can be effective around the world. An F-100 zoomed in high over a target, and showed the "loss-bombing" technique, that of pitching a nuclear weapon miles across the sky while cutting back and evading the lethal blast.

An eye-opener was the demonstration of the air-to-air missile with the Air Force calls the "Sidewinder." This is a heat-impaired type of weapon, which seeks out its target, and would go straight to an enemy plane because of its engine or exhaust heat.

A towed target, a cylinder about 18 inches in diameter and about eight feet in length (actually all but invisible save for the small light it carried) was the object of a Sidewinder attack made from various types of fighter aircraft. For miles across Florida's blue skies, it seemed, that missile shot straight at its target, eliminating it with one sharp hit. This is an uncanny thing, practically indescribable, but definitely proving the effectiveness of this particular missile.

Aerial warfare, with fantastic weapon developments, is a catastrophic thing. The firepower demonstration in Florida showed this beyond any doubt in the mind of any person witnessing it. The people who develop this fantastic array of death-dealing instruments and the skilled pilots who handle them in the air are resources this country must absolutely depend upon. Everybody who saw the show made the same observation: "I'm glad they're on our side."

Norman Vincent Peale A Formula For Solving Problems

A very interesting man I know has overcome a number of difficulties, including some that have been particularly formidable. He is what you might call an expert in handling the difficult. He has worked out techniques for so doing that really seem to work. I asked him to outline his formula for dealing with difficulties. Could he state it simply so that it might be useful to other people?

"Sure," he answered, "my formula is simply this. First, sit down with your problem. Study it and see it as really is. Bring it out of the nebulous. Clarify it. To accomplish this take a piece of paper and systematically write down all the elements of the problem. Then so organize them in an orderly, factual manner, that you can see exactly where you stand in relationship to these elements. In other words, take a problem apart and then you can put it together right."

"Then," he continued, "the next step is good, sound praying."

"What do you mean, 'sound praying'?" I asked.

"I mean," he told me, "saying to the Lord—and saying it honestly—that you want to solve the problem not the way you think it ought to be, but whichever way He wants it to be solved."

"And, finally," he went on, "use sound thinking." By this he meant, "Leave out the emotional factors and get down to the facts of the case. If others are involved decide questions not on who is right but what is right."

I thought this a wonderful formula and told him so. He told me how he had happened to hit upon it. He was running a retail store and was having business troubles. His suppliers began to increase their prices and his costs were inching up little by little. He became afraid that his trade wouldn't stand these increases so he began to absorb them himself. Gradually his margin of profit vanished; he began to go into debt. He couldn't see any way out of his troubles.

Being a religious man he said to himself, "I must be praying wrong." He thought deeply about his method of prayer and realized that he had been praying negatively with fear instead of positively with faith. He saw that he had been thinking wrong, too. He had been thinking fear thoughts rather than positive thoughts. This had caused him to run away from economic facts in conducting his business affairs.

And then he found the technique that reversed his situation and brought prosperity out of financial failure. Although he had thought of himself as a religious man, he realized he had been spending all his efforts upon getting, and too little upon giving. As a result, he wasn't even getting. He then remembered one of the greatest spiritual laws, namely: As you give, so shall you receive. So he decided to begin the practice of tithing. He started giving 10 per cent of his income to God through his church. It was mighty little at first, because his returns were small, but it's the principle of the act, not the amount, that sets creative forces in motion.

As he changed his ways of praying, thinking and giving, the defeating sense of depression that had settled upon him gradually lifted; creative ideas began to flow freely once again, and soon he found new effective selling techniques that enabled him to revitalize his business. In time he became a successful business man. From this experience he learned his practical formula that has stood him in good stead ever since.

Anyone can use his formula with profit: 1. Isolate your problem; break it down into its elements. Get the mystery out of your problem. See it for what it is.

2. Use "sound praying." Pray for guidance and inner calmness; ask the Lord how He wants the problem solved. That's the only way to be sure you have the right answer.

3. Depending upon God's guidance, emotion, and with full regard to the facts. That's "sound thinking."

4. Give outgoingly and you will stimulate creative results.

Marquis Childs Changes Ahead For Germany

BONN, Germany—Over this capital of 350 million Germans of the Federal Republic there hangs today an air of doubt and uncertainty that is like the low-lying mists of the Rhine. It is a sense that nothing will ever be quite the same again. It is partly to allay this uncertainty that Secretary of State Christian Herter was to stop here for four hours on his way to Geneva. He was to have his first meeting with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

It may be better or it may be worse in the future. But the Germany of Adenauer, the Germany that worked with such concentrated fury to rebuild from the ruins of the war, is passing. Even those who want most to deny this cannot but admit that change is in the air and where it will stop is anybody's guess.

In giving up the chancellorship, Adenauer, at 83, has no intention of surrendering power. On the contrary, by moving to the presidency, regarded as one of the shrewdest maneuvers in the long career of the Old Fox, Adenauer intends to maintain his dominant influence over the policies of the government and the direction of his Christian Democratic party.

Although the odds are heavily against it—10 to one in the estimate of a knowledgeable observer—he may even succeed in putting his own man, Franz Eitel, Minister of Finance, in the chancellorship. But for all his skill and resourcefulness he will lack the powers and the far-reaching patronage of the chancellor's office.

A large majority of the Christian Democrats in the Bundestag who will elect the new chancellor at the end of the summer favor Minister of Economics Ludwig Erhard. While Adenauer may be able to checkmate him, and no one minimizes his cunning, Erhard seems almost certain to be the next chancellor. The ominous slogan, "Time for a change," is heard even in high places in the chancellor's own party.

Erhard, with his great, glistening face, is a symbol of prosperous, revived Germany and, as such, he is the far and away the party's best vote-getter. To sacrifice him to the chancellor's opposition would seem to be a form of political suicide, yet in the curious politics of the Federal Republic anything can happen.

Erhard is far from bursting with a desire to change the Adenauer policies. He has indicated that he will keep most of the Cabinet and, in particular, Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano, who has faithfully followed the Adenauer line even when with abrupt shifts and sudden turns it has caused him pain and humiliation.

But, nevertheless, there will be alterations. In the Foreign Office and elsewhere new centers of authority are forming, prepared to accept the changes that the negotiations with the Russians this spring and summer are almost certain to bring. As discussed in private these changes are at a minimum: Accepting East German agents acting in behalf of the Russians on the access routes to West Berlin and the creation of a commission of East and West Germans on cultural and economic affairs looking eventually to free elections and unification.

Inherent in the German temperament is a passionate desire for security, for the unshakable guarantee, the everlasting assurance. Adenauer's deep-seated fear is that if the ties that bind Germany to the West and link Berlin with the free world are altered in even the slightest degree all this work will be undone. Then the restless German people will be freed to bargain for the highest stakes between East and West, with the inevitable end: Another and final catastrophe. And Adenauer is not alone in this tragic view of the perils in altering one single brick in the edifice erected with so much sweat and toil.

Seen from this perspective, the present in-between phase is, above all, a crisis of confidence—a crisis so much between Germany and allies such as Britain with a desire to ease the cold war, but among the Germans themselves. The haunting memories of the recent past and of a Germany insensate and frenzied, although they rarely come into polite conversation, are an omnipresent backdrop. No one is more aware of that backdrop than the chancellor or himself.

Bible Words for Today

PHILIPPIANS 4:19 — "And my God will supply every need of yours according to his riches in glory in Christ Jesus." (RSV)

At first glance this is a promise beyond our wildest dreams. But we must remember that NEEDS are not seen alike by God and man. When we view life through the divine perspective our needs become rather simple. The promise to meet these needs is then a comfort and strength.

God makes this promise—"Whoever fails." His eternal resources are at our disposal. In Christ Jesus our needs are to be met. The condition is plain but essential. We are to be "in Christ Jesus" where the available grace is to be found. Then we may draw upon the "riches in glory."

In this day of abundant material wealth we need to hear the Divine Voice evaluate life in terms of actual needs. We need life, salvation, peace, love—all of which are abundantly supplied by God in Christ Jesus. Needs are then seen to be essential to becoming a worthy child of God. Only then can one be a worthy son of man.

Marty Wood Regains Lead In Bronc Riding

DENVER—Riding on his Canadian home ground for the first time this year, world's champion saddle bronc rider Marty Wood, Bowness, Alberta, won on the bucking horses at the Edmonton Stampede to recapture the lead for the 1959 championship he lost a fortnight ago.

Wood won top saddle bronc money of $588 to move ahead of five-time title winner Casey Tibbs, Nemo, S. D., in the championship standings.

Biggest winner of the past week was Bernis Johnson, Cleburne, Texas, who swept the bull riding at Winston-Salem, winning all four day monies and the average for a total of $705. RCA officials here can not recall this ever being done at a major rodeo.

Johnson also picked up $265 day money in bareback riding for total winnings for the week of $970.

Biggest one-event winner of the week was veteran Floyd Peters, a 53-year-old roper from Santa Rita, Mont. Peters wrapped up his three calves indoors at Edmonton in a total time of 15.3 seconds to win first-place money of $721 in the calf roping.

It was a big day at the Canadian rodeo for the old pros. Veteran all-around hand Bill Linderman, Walla Walla, Wash., just turned 39, won the steer wrestling for $510 after throwing his three steers in a total of 20.4 seconds.

At Edmonton Jim Shoulders, Henryetta, Okla., placed second in the bull riding and fourth in his other event, bareback bronc riding, to win a total of $477.

Static May Betray Bad Storm Buildup

COLLEGE STATION—The static that fouls your TV or radio reception may some day save your life.

Texas A&M College scientists—who three years ago this April showed the world how to track and forecast a tornado's strike—are now trying to translate the noise of static into information that can improve long-range forecasting of violent storms or weather fronts.

Static is simply the noise made when the electrical impulses which all clouds carry are discharged or "swapped" around. A&M scientists are tuning in on this static with ground-based radio receivers, and depending on the static frequency or intensity, they can spot potential storm conditions at ranges far beyond where radar can now function efficiently.

In the future, it is hoped, static noises from far-off weather fronts will be analyzed by weather experts, who will determine if potentially violent weather is building up. Radar will then check information as the storm moves closer.

Development Gives Cotton Fabric Resistance To Rot

Development of a practical method for producing cotton fabric with outstanding rot resistance has been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Treated with a resin-forming chemical, the fabric also has improved weather resistance.

Because of its improved properties, cotton fabric treated with the chemical promises to open new markets for cotton in awnings, tents, tarpaulins and other outdoor fabric items.

The treatment method developed by the USDA's Agricultural Research Service, is based on the use of a water soluble acid colloid of methylolmelamine. This chemical is well known for its resin-forming qualities. The resin, which penetrates the outer portion of the fiber cell wall to become a part of the fiber rather than just a coating, makes cotton virtually immune to rot and mildew, it was shown by soil burial tests.

Untreated cotton buried in soils containing fabric-destroying bacteria was in shreds after one week. The treated cotton, on the other

Livestock Dealers Must Register, Furnish Bonds

Scores of southwest livestock buyers are expected to register and furnish bond under a new amendment to the Packers and Stockyards Act, effective May 24, 1959, said W. C. Ball, district supervisor, Packers and Stockyards office, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Fort Worth.

Dealers, market agencies, either buying or selling on a commission basis, and packer buyers—operating across state lines either in the country or at markets subject to the Packers and Stockyards Act—must register, Ball pointed out.

All except packer buyers must furnish bond, based upon the volume of business transacted but in no case less than $5,000.

Previously the regulations on interstate livestock marketing applied only to persons dealing at markets subject to the Act, Ball emphasizes that the new law places the responsibility on the dealer to register and obtain bond coverage if he is operating across state lines.

Texas and eastern New Mexico livestock dealers should register with the District Packers and Stockyards office, 231 Livestock Exchange Building, Fort Worth.

Lamesa Building At Rapid Rate

LAMESA — Building permits for the month of April in Lamesa climbed to a total of $216,643 an increase of some $44,493 over March.

Leading the increase in building values was a permit for a clinic and pharmacy at $78,000. Dr. John Paul Puckett and Matt A. McCall applied for the permit and A. W. Kluge is the contractor. It will be an 85-by-80 foot masonry building.

April's permits pushed the year's building values past the $1 million mark at $1,012,144.

The April permits listed $15,000 for the Episcopal church, residences, small commercial construction and several additions to existing structures.

CAMPUS CHATTER

Dr. Reynolds HCJC Graduation Speaker

By BOBBY HORTON
 Speaker for commencement exercises at HCJC May 28, Dr. James W. Reynolds, is a widely-known man in the field of education. Dr. Reynolds is professor of junior college education at the University of Texas and editor of the Junior College Journal. He most recently was elected president of the Assn. of Higher Education in a poll of 17,000 members, an office sought by senior college and junior college administrators. He received his education at Arkansas State Teachers College and at the University of Iowa and of Chicago. He returned to teach in Arkansas high schools and later advanced to the University of Georgia. Dr. Reynolds taught at George Peabody College for Teachers before joining the University of Texas staff in 1948. There are 47 candidates for graduation. Over 40 graduated in May commencement exercises and in the summer last year. Basic requirement for graduation is completion of 62 hours. Before the exercises will be a banquet meal. Solos, vocal and piano, will be given by Patsy Potter and Gladys Phillee, HCJC music students. Visitors are welcome to attend the occasion. Meal tickets may be obtained for $1.50 from the college business office. Graduation candidates must also pay their $7.50 fee before May 15, which includes the banquet. The baccalaureate will be Sunday, May 24, at 4 p.m. in the college auditorium. The Rev. William Boyd, rector of Saint Mary's Episcopal Church, will deliver the sermon, and four other local ministers will have parts on the program. Students will rehearse for baccalaureate May 20. School spirit is high for a national junior college track championship, and Coach Red Lewis boys go after just that this weekend in Hutchinson, Kan. About a dozen athletes and HCJC coaches Lewis and Harold Davis, basketball coach, and Dr. W. A. Hunt, college president, leave here Wednesday in the HCJC bus to make the 1,200 mile trip. Actual competition between the 15-20 colleges begins Friday, extends through that night and Saturday. Sunday the Big Spring party begins the long (we hope it seems short) haul back. During the business session of the big meet, HCJC officials will make a bid to host the championship gathering next year. It has been at the Kansas city for the past four or five years—as has the basketball tourney—but observers say there is no large enthusiasm for holding it there. HCJC certainly would have a strong argument were it to provide a determined delegation and winning track team. Presently the school spends around $450 to send a 12-man group to Hutchinson, and no expenses are defrayed by the national organization. Big Spring could get a similar arrangement. Twenty paintings from the Texas Fine Arts Assn. touring exhibit are now on display at HCJC. Oil, water colors and casein and mixed media are in the collection, which will be shown for the next several days. . . . The American Assn. of University Women held a meeting at HCJC Music Building last week, and Mrs. James Bruce Frazier and Mrs. Dale Smith discussed fundamentals of flower arranging. . . . Sixth grade pupils of Washington School presented a program for Fred Short's speech students Friday. . . . Alexander's Hi-Fi's, a jazz and swing combo, furnished HCJC students with pleasant music last night at the HCJC Spring Formal dance. A large turnout was present for the year's final big social event. . . . The SUB was site Friday of the Baptist Student Union banquet, too. . . . The Big Spring High School plans a similar function there this week. Dean Ben Johnson and Registrar B. M. Keese attended a High School-College Relations Conference at Texas Tech in Lubbock last week. . . . Registrar Keese and Dr. W. A. Hunt also attended the Lions Convention in Colorado City. Keese is president of the Downtown Lions.

RUNNELS

Cheerleaders And Council Elected

By DIANE BAKER
 The big political rally and election for student council representatives and cheer leaders on Thursday set the high mark for activity at Runnels last week. Preceding the voting, all candidates for student representative were introduced and gave short campaign talks. Eighth and ninth grade cheerleaders took part in try-outs which followed. All candidates had been screened by a faculty committee to make sure they met requirements. Results of the voting were: Eighth grade council representatives — Tony Carrillo, Humberto Hernandez, Robert Clay, Jan Anderson and Sue Cook; eighth grade cheerleaders, Jan Anderson, Sue Cook, Judy Engle. Ninth grade representatives, Dickie Carlton, Robert Mahoney, Judy Jones, Eileen Farquhar, Cora Sue Turner; ninth grade cheerleaders, Eileen Farquhar, Judy Jones and Kay Foster. Sophomore representatives for Senior High were Jimmy Hinds, Linda Grant and Diane Baker; 10th grade cheerleader, Linda Grant.

The sixth grade orientation will be held Monday and sixth graders who will be coming to Runnels next year will be shown around by the student council members. Refreshments will be served. Ninth grade orientation has been set for Monday, also, at 2 p.m. in the Senior High plant. All ninth graders and their teachers will take part. The Runnels Junior High Spring Choral concert was given in two performances last weekend. Members sang 13 numbers, closing with "America, Our Heritage" by Steele. Narration was by Doris Compton and Jan Chandler; accompanist was Rachael Phelan. The choir is under the direction of Mrs. Forrest Gambill.

Tuesday afternoon about 16 students took the preliminary written tests for the safe driving Road-E-O, and then took part in the driving portion Saturday morning at Webb. The ninth grade Tri-Hi-Y will have a party Thursday as the last meeting of the year. Eighth grade Tri-Hi-Y officers elected were Sue Cook, president; Anita Horn, vice president; Susar Stephens, secretary; Judy Engle, treasurer; Jan Anderson, chaplain; and Cheryl Whittington, reporter. Incoming ninth grade officers are Carol Hughes, president; Vicki Parkhill, vice president; Floydine Moss, 2nd vice president; Carolyn Walling, secretary; Marie Neese, chaplain; Martha Thompson, reporter; Judy Jones, sergeant at arms.

The Steers have been working out the past two weeks. The boys from Goliad who are battling for places on the Varsity team are: Jimmy Madry, Dean Lee, Red Schwarzenbach, Jerry Tucker, Bill Gillispie, Bill Pate, Benny Pitzer, Roy Lee Jones, Don Ellis, and Earnie Samples. The Texas Teenage League baseball season is almost here. This year there will be two leagues with the Cardinals, ABC, Cosden and Kiwanis in one league and the Tigers, Feds, Elks and the Herald in the other. Age limits for players are 13 to 15. Games will be played every night except Sunday.

The new officers for the eighth grade Tri-Hi-Y club are Lois Tarbox, president; Sharon Tally, vice president; Kay Oakes, secretary; Charlotte Shive, chaplain; Nancy Hedleston, sergeant at arms; Tommie Lou Hutto, historian; Diane McEwen, treasurer; Alice Stewart, treasurer. This group had a mother-daughter tea Saturday at Lois Tarbox's home.

Yearbook Staff On Visit To Printers

By PAT ARMSTRONG
 The yearbook staff took a trip to Austin this weekend. A tour was made of the colorpress plant where our school annuals are made. The staff also toured the capitol and the university campus. Members arrived back here Sunday afternoon with reports of a most wonderful trip! The ninth grade had an assembly Friday for the election of the cheerleader for high school and the student council representatives. Karon Koger was elected cheerleader and Red Schwarzenbach, Judy Gillean and Joan Jordan are student council representatives for the tenth. These students were voted on by secret ballot during the assembly. The qualifications for these honors were: No grades under a "C" and straight "A" in conduct; and no pink slips (failing work) this year. The ninth grade Tri-Hi-Y held a banquet at the Sands Tuesday night. Karon Koger presented Mrs. Hardy and Mrs. Percy, club sponsors, with orchids. A word of appreciation was made about the good work the officers have done this year. The last school paper was sold Thursday during fourth period. The paper staff has done a wonderful job this year in publishing the paper. Next year the paper will be composed by a different English class each time. The typing classes will type and print the editions. This method will permit more students to have a hand in the making of the paper. The Curtain Club will elect the best member for the year. The

 "Yipee" for the rain! This past week has been a bit damp for the BSHS'ers and has caused many a muddy foot to mess up the halls, but it was certainly worth it. Five names have been added to the membership roll of the National Honor Society, Thursday night. Kaye Chadd, Jeanne Hammon, Anita Alvarado, and Robert Eubanks were inducted in brief but very impressive ceremony. Following the induction, Mr. Truett Vine's Ag. boys demonstrated several steps in the process of parliamentary procedure. Congratulations are in store for a few of the seniors. Eddie Kinney won a scholarship to the University of Pennsylvania; Mike Jarrett won a scholarship to Southern Methodist University. Vincent Friedwald has been accepted for Notre Dame. Vincent is the only BSHS senior known to qualify to attend Notre Dame. The seniors will be dressing up for a big banquet next Saturday. After much unpleasant feelings and heated discussions, the seniors are giving themselves a banquet to be held at the Webb Officers' Club. The shorthand girls visited Cosden offices Friday. They saw every type of machine imaginable, in action. Some of the girls got the "willies" thinking about the office work, and some looked upon it as a challenge. To add to the enjoyment of the visit, refreshments were served. CINEMA COMMENT

By BOB SMITH

"Imitation of Life." Continuing at the Ritz through Wednesday, Sandra Dee and Susan Kohner are stand-outs in a highly emotional women's picture, from the Fannie Hurst novel, and well done up in wide screen color. Every woman and girl will want to see it. Papa and Junior will probably want to go fishing.

"A Place in the Sun." The film that made stars of Montgomery Clift, Shelley Winters and Elizabeth Taylor. Adapted from Theodore Dreiser's "An American Tragedy," it tells the story of a young man (Clift) who gets a girl in trouble (Miss Winters), and is willing to marry her, except that his desires and ambitions become attached to Miss Taylor, daughter of a wealthy family. No one really wants to hurt anyone else, but everybody gets it in the neck.

"Stalag 17." Another classic on the same bill, this one the screen version of the famous Broadway play. William Holden is an outcast among his fellow POWs, but eventually escapes, and proves to be a tarnished hero. The story won all sorts of honors for its penetrating views of life among American captives in Germany in World War II.

"City of Fear." Low-budget and overly-dramatic. But its background scenes are well photographed. Plot's about the disadvantages of the atomic age.

"Bell, Book and Candle." The film version of the play, but is even better, what with the disadvantages of the mobile movie camera. Kim Novak's the witch, and James Stewart is the bewitched, in this fantastic, riotous and thoroughly enjoyable comedy about modern witchcraft in New York City. One of the most memorable scenes, which was only hinted at on the stage was that of Stewart, seeking to be disenchanted, being forced to drink a gassy witch brew. (Our own Civic Theatre pioneered "Bell, Book and Candle" on the local stage a couple of years ago).

"Revenge of Frankenstein." A new departure in the old monster formula that makes for refreshing horror viewing, if you're interested in such stuff to begin with. It's the British version. "Curse of the Demon." The double-bill with above. It's a partly scientific account of a scientist (Dana Andrews) who runs into an ancient runic curse, and is much better than the average science-fiction attempt.

The Hollywood pipeline: Upcoming: "Home From the Hill," with Luana Patten, Robert Mitchum and Eleanor Parker; Tennessee Williams' "Sweet Bird of Youth," with Paul Newman; "The Travels of Jaimie McPheters"; "Huckleberry Finn" (a musical, yet); Jack Kerouac's "The Subterraneans," an offbeat (or just plain beat) film with progressive jazz music; "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse"; "Cimarron"; "Please Don't Eat the Daisies," with Doris Day and David Niven.

Still more: "The Apartment," with Shirley MacLaine and Jack Lemmon; "Two for the Seesaw," with Elizabeth Taylor; "By Love Possessed," from the James Gould Cozzens novel; "Battle," the life story of photographer Robert Capa; Frank Sinatra for "Can Can."

There are so many top actors in "Spartacus" that there is more fighting going on off camera than on. Producer-actor Kirk Douglas is planning a long rest when it's over.

Howard Hawks is pleased at the Wayne-Dean combo in "Rio Bravo" . . . it's grossing so much, he plans another with the same stars.

Speaking of "Spartacus," the Kettle farm is no more . . . they tore it down to build sets for the gladiator film.

The Alan Ladd family carries on the tradition . . . now it's 16-year-old Alana, first role in "Guns of the Timberland" . . . Spanish actress Sarita Montiel.

STEWART & NOVAK He's bewitched

'CITY OF FEAR' There will be disadvantages has replaced Brigitte Bardot and Cantinflas in Latin box offices . . . and her song recordings have topped those of Pedro Vargas, the Latin Sinatra . . . you may recall Miss Montiel from "Serenade," with Mario Lanza . . .

Sophia Loren may get the Carmen role, if she can win out over Sarita Montiel . . . it's not as far-fetched as you might think, either — Miss Loren's first big role was in an Italian color production of Verdi's "Aida," in which she took the title role. The actors pantomimed while leading Rome Opera singers provided voice.

Miss Loren's voiceless characterization was tops . . . Diana Barrymore, author of the self-punishing "Too Much, Too Soon," is staging a comeback at Los Angeles' Civic Theatre . . . she attributes her new self to "going on the wagon and having somebody believe in me" . . . she thinks she's at last become "a real Barrymore" . . . Meyer Levin, author of "Compulsion," was displeased with the stage version . . . but he's reported to be laudatory of the film story . . .

Eleanor Disclaims Reconciliation With Glenn Ford

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Eleanor Powell says rumors that she is considering a reconciliation with Glenn Ford are false. "I know nothing about a reconciliation and my decision to obtain a divorce remains unchanged," she said.

Rumors of a reconciliation cropped up when a temporary alimony hearing scheduled for Friday was postponed. She said the divorce proceedings will continue as soon as a decision is made on terms of the settlement.

A spokesman for the family said Miss Powell and Ford have been living in separate suites at opposite ends of their Beverly Hills home. Their son, Peter, 14, is staying with Miss Powell's mother.

CRITIQUE

Jaycees Put Beauty Pageant Into 'Miss America' Bracket

For the last two years, this column has plugged for a Fourth of July beauty pageant that would entitle the winners to go onward into the Miss Texas and Miss America competitions.

So, at last I am vindicated. The Junior Chamber of Commerce has the franchise for local contests that are tied in with the national effort — other franchises being given out only with special dispensation and where the Jaycees do not exist. (And where would that be?)

In any event, the rules must be obeyed if local winners are to qualify for the contest.

To enter, a woman must be at least 18 years of age, single, and never been married before. Contestants are judged in three categories — talent; poise and personality; and beauty of face and figure. Each revue comes in three parts — the talent auditions, stage interviews with the master of ceremonies for the poise and personality section, and the bathing suit competition.

Contestants are clothed in evening gowns for the personality interviews, and are judged also for poise and facial beauty. The bathing suit section accumulates points for contestants in beauty of face and figure, as well as poise.

The costume for the talent section is chosen by the contestant — and just about anything under the sun that requires nearly any kind of talent is acceptable. Most contestants choose a song or dance routine, but others pick cooking, sewing, dramatics, mathematics — and a Midland miss just a few years ago won the Miss Texas title on the strength of her horsemanship. (She was a rancher's daughter.)

There are two reasons that previous local contests did not follow the Miss America regulations, aside from the fact that the Jaycees hold the option. The main reason was that the number of entries above age 18 was limited, and local sponsors wanted as many entries as possible. And it was felt that the Fourth of July pageant gave an opportunity to youngsters to win some sort of title, and no one wanted to deny them this privilege.

The Jaycees have solved this problem by splitting the coming pageant into two parts — the senior division, winner of which will carry the official title and will go on into the Miss Texas contest; and a junior division, whose winners will hold a strictly local and honorary title. Thus, the younger girls will not be cut out of their annual beauty show.

A lesser reason was the fear of criticism that might come from dressing minors in bathing suits and to work up enthusiasm among stage. Splitting the revue into senior and junior divisions also solved this problem.

Actually, this fear was not so well founded as some people believed. There are a few people who object on religious grounds to public appearance in a bathing suit. There are other citizens who are not entirely sure. But, in this critic's opinion, most people do not object so long as a revue is handled with good taste.

You will find approximately the same situation in any other city. Big Spring is not basically different.

Naturally, no one way be denied his religious — or any other — beliefs. But for those who are not quite sure, here is a reminder: Women, especially young women and girls, appear publicly in all sorts of attire and nothing is thought about it. They wear tight-fitting jeans on picnics and other outings, and to a lot of other places; shorts are seen in places other than tennis courts; and a bathing suit is a necessity for the swimming pool.

The evil (if any) in such attire may result from the way the woman carries herself, or it may be in the mind of the beholder. Thus, the way a beauty pageant involving bathing suits is handled determines 90 per cent of any objectionable behavior in the audience or in the contestants.

The Jaycees handle most of the details in the local revues, and there are strict — even harsh — rules to guide the conduct of those Jaycees who head the program. There's no moral danger from that angle.

The national organization is strict about offending the public's sense of dignity. Local revues are required to be handled with this in mind. If a girl, in an attempt to influence the judges' decision or to work up enthusiasm among young men in the audience, should come across the stage with an obvious wiggling of the hips, she will incur the displeasure of practically everyone from the Jaycees' backstage to the judges out front.

Especially the judges. It is entirely possible for a girl to walk gracefully in a bathing suit without being suggestive.

If the pageant is handled right, as we have every reason to believe it will be, there will be nothing harmful in it for the contestants, and nothing objectionable to the morally upright among the citizenry.

The proper handling of the Miss America pageant continues through the Miss Texas finals and the national competitions at Atlantic City.

The Miss America pageant is not to be confused with a similar event in which a Miss Universe is chosen. The latter is Hollywood promotional work, with movie contracts to the winners. The Miss America winner gets a wardrobe, some pin money for travel and a scholarship.

Mexican Morals Group Will Ask Ban For Elvis

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Jorge Nunez Prida, head of the Mexican Legion for Decency, says he will ask federal authorities to ban movies with stars such as Elvis Presley, considered by some youngsters as "idols."

His comment came after a ruckus at a theater showing a Presley movie last week.

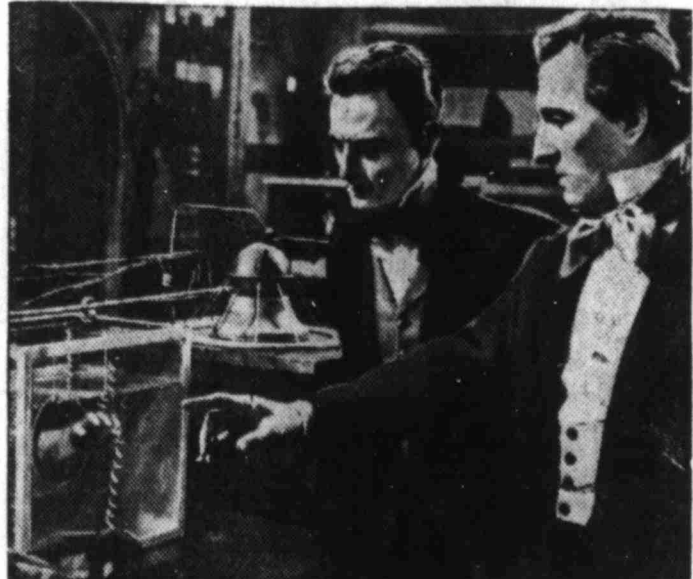

Several hundred youngsters including university students, broke glass, tore up seats and threw empty bottles. Police were called to quiet them.

Several were hurt. Two women reportedly had almost all their clothing torn off as they attempted to get out.

Nunez Prida said such movies have no message for youth and only serve to attract all sorts of rowdies.

DEAR ABBY

DON'T LOOK BACK

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was born when my parents were over 50 and it was my duty to care for them until they died. When I was 32 I went to work for a professional man (married and misunderstood—I know now they all are.) He managed to sell me on the idea of going out with him. We always went some distance from our city. This went on for 22 years. I never could have any boyfriends because he claimed he couldn't tell ahead of time when he could get away, so I sat and waited. I should have known better but, Abby, you've never been an "old maid" and had life and romance pass you by. I am over 50 now and don't need any of the usual sermons, but do you think a decent man my age would want me? By the way, the man who ruined my life is successfully directing the lives of others, knowing full well he spoiled mine.

asking about their love life, but this is really serious. I am 14 and so is Tom. When he talks to me on the phone he tells his mother he is talking to one of the boys. When he is over to my house he tells his mother he is out with the gang. Is he ashamed of me or what? (P. S. Another thing, Abby, are nuts bad for your complexion? Someone said they were worse than chocolate.) NANCY

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister writes him letters at work when she knows his address at home. He asks me to answer some of her letters because she is all the time asking for recipes and addresses. The last time he brought me a letter, I noticed pages 4 and 5 were missing. I asked him what happened to these missing pages and he laughed it off. What would you do in my place? NOT LAUGHING

DEAR OLD MAID: No one can "spoil" your life without your consent. Don't look back. A change of scenery and new surroundings could offer a fresh start. Every day "decent" men marry women who have had something to live down.

DEAR ABBY: In the case of a married couple where the husband is very affectionate and passionate and the wife is cool and wants to be left alone, what do you think is bound to happen after about six or seven years?

DEAR TEMPTED: One woman's left-overs can be another woman's banquet.

DEAR ABBY: I know you get lots of letters from teen-agers

DEAR NOT: Let your husband giggle up the addresses and recipes and answer his sister's letters himself.

"How far should we go? Get ABBY'S booklet, "What Every Teen-ager Wants To Know." Send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Dangers Of Tractor Operation Are Cited

Now that suitable moisture has been provided, the planting season moves slowly into full swing. The subdued roar of tractors is a regular feature of the rural scene.

Jimmy Taylor, county farm agent, pointed out that tractors are involved in 35 per cent of all farm accidents and that, despite their value in the farm program, they constitute the No. 1 killer in the rural areas.

Ignorance and carelessness in the use of farm machinery generally is a guaranteed way to make the headlines, he warns. There are 1,100 fatalities each year in the United States caused by tractor accidents.

Taylor endorses the safety suggestions released recently by Willie L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer, in regard to the operation of these machines on farms.

Ulich points out, first of all, that the safety of a child is a parental responsibility. It is important to teach children the rules of safety and point out to them the dangers involved in the use of machinery. He suggests that it should be emphasized to the youngsters that operation of a tractor is a job definitely for the mature person.

Of all the tractor accidents which occur each year, 40 per cent are fatal to the operators, Ulich notes. Chances of upset increase four times, he explains, when speed is doubled. If possible, lock the brake pedals together when driving on the open highway. Use brakes cautiously and keep them evenly adjusted.

Other suggestions he makes: throttle down before making a turn; do not carry extra riders on either the tractor or trailer implements; and avoid climbing steep banks with the tractor. Tractor overturns are easily caused in this operation and overturns are chief cause of tractor accidents.

He also urges that care be used in checking the area where the tractor is to be used. Often ditches, rocks and stumps may be hidden by tall grass or brush and a tractor may overturn with little warning.

Legal Institute Set At Snyder

SNYDER — Lawyers of 26 area counties will assemble here next Saturday for an institute on a variety of legal topics, J. Mark McLaughlin, president of the Scurry County Bar Assn., announced.

The one-day study, to be held at the Snyder Country Club, is under the joint sponsorship of the local bar and the State Bar of Texas. It is part of the continuing which the state and local bar associations provide for Texas lawyers.

McLaughlin said speakers for the institute will include Houston attorney Newton Gresham, a former State Bar president; Associate Justice Jack Pope, San Antonio Court of Civil Appeals; Associate Justice Robert W. Calvert, Texas Supreme Court; and Atty. Gen. Will Wilson.

Topics will include preparation and trial of personal injury cases, trial practices, handling petitions for writ of error by the Supreme Court, and procedure before state administrative agencies, including judicial appeals.

Oklahoma Pastor On 'Baptist Hour'

Dr. Herschel H. Hobbs, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Oklahoma City, is to be the speaker on The Baptist Hour through September, the Radio and Television Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention announced.

During May, Dr. Hobbs is to speak on the theme, "Belief." The program is broadcast at 9 a.m. each Sunday by Radio Station Station KHEM, Big Spring. It is aired over 463 other stations in 31 states and 10 foreign countries.
