MacArthur Proposes Service Integration

Sweeping Changes In Academies And Wearing Of Standard Uniforms Asked

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur in 1944 testimony made public today proposed integration of the U. S. armed forces so close that they would wear the same uniforms.

MacArthur urged sweeping changes in the present service academies at West Point and Annapolis and elimination of Army-Navy athletic rivalry.

The general's ideas, along with those of other top Army and Navy leaders, were made public by the Senate Military committee which is studying the hotly controversal proposal to merge the services under a single cabinet officer.

Nimitz, Halsey Change

In the lot were expressions in favor of the plan by Admirals Chester W. Nimitz and William F. Halsey, both of whom have changed their minds since then.

In the 1944 testimony Nimitz favored "a single civilian secretary of the armed forces." He has reversed that stand in the meantime, however. In a Navy day speech from Honolulu, Hawaii, on Oct. 27, 1945, the Pacific fleet commander praised unity of command but said he wanted a separate Navy department.

His stand apparently was closely parallel to that of Admiral Halsey. The Third Fleet commander, quoted in 1944 as favoring merger if it would not injure the Navy's standing, issued a statement tonight opposing a single department but saying we "must" have single command in combat.

Forrestal And King

Secretary of the Navy Forrestal and Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King have strongly opposed the merger, which the Army in general has

British Plan To Take Over Air Network

By JOHN A. PARRIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Britain's Labor government tohight reached out for control of all British civilian airlines and a communication network operating throughout the empire in a sweeping expansion of its nationalization program.

Prime Minister Attlee's government also announced plans to control rents of both houses and apartments.

Government spokesmen declared legislation would be introduced quickly to achieve these objectives, and enactment appeared certain in view of the Labor party's overwhelming majority in Commons.

Some Of Proposals

Here are the proposals:

1. Public ownership of the telecommunications services now operated by the $120,000,000 Cable and Wireless, Ltd., whose 335,000-mile network serves parts of Europe, the Dominions, the Middle East, and parts of the Far East. The Cable and Wireless would become a unit in an empire-wide communications system directed by a central body in London.

2. Creation of three airline corporations — "each of them to be wholly financed out of government funds" — to carry Britain's flag in developing world air trade. The minister of civil aviation, Lord Winster, said the government had decided that public ownership "shall be the over-ruling principle in air transport."

Rent Control Plan

3. Health Minister Aneurin Bevan announced the government would introduce immediately a measure to control rents on furnished houses and flats. Unfurnished rented dwellings already are controlled. There have been charges of widespread speculation in furnished quarters, and even modestly-furnished London apartments rent for $40 to $56 a week with only sitting room, a bedroom, bath, and tiny kitchen.

Public ownership of the telecommunications services, Commons was told, will be part of a plan recommended by an empire communications commission earlier this year to coordinate their systems.

Meanwhile, Cable and Wireless, Ltd., told stockholders in a circular letter that nationalization would be "inimical to the interests of the people of the empire" and "dangerous to the foreign concessions."

Plan Said Pliable

Outlining the government's civilian aviation program, Ivor Thomas, parliamentary secretary for the civil aviation ministry, said that although the government had de-

Tax Reduction Bill Is Sent To President

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Congress tied the final knot today on its New Years gift to the American public—1946 tax cuts for every body—and sent it to the White House for an O. K.

Capitol Hill believes President Truman will approve it. The cuts are nearly one billion dollars more than the total suggested by the Treasury.

While the Senate was winding up details of the $5,920,000,000 tax slash, the House was tying a news freedom string on another gift—the $550,000,000 UNRRA supply bill.

Must Permit News

Republicans, with help from southern Democrats, attached the string before the House passed the bill and sent it to the Senate. It provides that any nation getting U. S. funds from UNRRA must permit American newspapers and radio to report any news about UNRRA in that country.

Other principal legislative subjects produced more debate. They included:

1. The atomic bomb's secrets. Senator McKellar (D-Tenn) climbed down from the presiding officer's chair to plead that America seek a world-wide pledge against using the awesome weapon. This country should keep its secrets about atomic energy until such a pledge is won, McKellar said. Some other senators wanted to know how to enforce such a ban. In the House, Rep. Neely (D-WVa) proposed in a resolution that the President call a world conference to work out an agreement to outlaw the bomb's use.

Full Employment

2. Full employment. President Truman gave a little in his demands on an unresponsive House committee for approval of self-styled full employment legislation. He isn't insisting on "any specific bill," the President wrote House Majority Leader McCormack (D-Mass), but he still wants legislation of those "general purposes and principles." Nothing special happened immediately.

3. Reorganization. The issue of constitutionality entered the Senate debate on how much power Congress wants to give Mr. Truman to streamline the government machinery. The President's supporters argued it would be unconstitutional to permit either the House or Senate alone to block any plan he submits along that line. The judiciary committee slipped such a provision in the bill, already passed by the House.

Effects Of Tax Slash

According to revenue experts who tried to figure out the effect of the tax reduction bill, it would cause these reductions in 1946:

Individual income taxpayers, $2,644,000,000.

Corporations, $3,136,000,000.

Repeal of use tax on cars and boats, $140,000,000.

Just before the Senate approved the conference report which sent the bill to the White House, Finance Committee Chairman George (D-Ga) expressed the opinion that the actual reduction in federal revenue will not be as great as $5,920,000,000, due to stimulation of business activity.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) estimated that the actual loss during the current fiscal year which ends next June 30 will not exceed $1,000,000,000.

Individual Reductions

The individual income tax reductions eliminate 12,000,000 persons from the rolls.

Payers of the 3 per cent normal tax are given the same exemptions as for the graduated surtax—$500 apiece for the taxpayer and each dependent. The rate in each surtax bracket is cut by 3 percentage points, and after computing the total obligation, the taxpayer is allowed to knock off 5 per cent.

Enlisted men will be forgiven federal income taxes on their service pay for the war years, beginning in 1941, and officers will be given an additional three years to pay off their back taxes without penalty.

The Social Security payroll tax is held for another year at the current rate of 1 per cent each on employers and employes. Had Congress not included that provision, the rate would have jumped automatically to 2½ per cent Jan. 1 under the Social Security law.

STEEL OUTPUT DROPS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP) — Steel output in October fell from 700,000 to 950,000 short of previous estimates, due chiefly to the coal strike, the War Production board reported today.

The wartime manufacturing restrictions to conserve fabrics must continue in the case of worsted materials which are scarce in relation to demand, WPB said.

U.S. Bureau Says Wage Raise Possible Without Price Hike

OPA Pictures Truman Plan

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—Chester Bowles tonight announced a policy of keeping the price lid on, while a Commerce department report held that industry could grand 10 per cent pay next year without forcing prices up.

The OPA administrator gave the country its first official picture of how President Truman's new policy — permitting price boosts in some cases to provide needed wage rises—would work out in practice.

Bowles' conclusion: Price increases will be "negligible."

Other Developments

These other developments kept the wage-price pot boiling:

Secretary of Commerce Wallace told reporters the administration feared "another 1932"—a depression lasting several years—if corporate profits continue to rise and wage rates and farm income continue to decline.

The administration does not intend to ark Congress for price ceilings on houses at this time, Reconversion Director John W. Snyder announced.

Bowles told newsmen that retail price ceilings for all makes of new autos will be announced in four or five days. No change in plans to price them at or near 1942 prices was indicated.

48 For 40 Proposal

Rep. De Lacy (D-Wash), in a House speech, urged 48 hours' pay for a 40-hour work week for government employes, to "lead the way" for wage boosts in private industry. Unless wages are raised, factory workers will have 10 per cent less purchasing power next year than in 1941, he said.

The Commerce department report, prepared by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, stated that "present cost-price relationships are such throughout industry that a basic wage increase is possible without raising prices."

In autombiles, said the study, wages can be increased as much as 25 per cent within the next two years while profits still might run three times larger than in the 1936-39 period.

"For 1946 a general increase of 10 per cent is possible," the report continued, with reference to all industry.

"Such an average could mean a rise of 15 per cent or a little more in the manufacturing industries.

Discharges By Point System Said Unfair

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—Action on legislation to discard the point system of discharging service personnel was sought today by Rep. Shafer (R-Mich).

His bill, now before the House Military committee, would permit all inductees to obtain their release, upon request, after two years of service.

Shafer filed a petition to require the committee to bring the measure before the House for action. He said more than 50 signatures were obtained almost immediately. In order to force action 218 signatures are required.

He called the point system "unfair," saying it failed to take into account personnel who have served in the United States "through no choice of their own," those on limited service and conscientious objectors.

Shafer also asserted that the bill "only makes mandatory the announced program of the War Department" to discharge members of the armed forces with two years' service, beginning early next year.

The Army today cut its discharge score for enlisted men from 70 to 60 points, as Gen. George C. Marshall recently announced it would do.

The score for enlisted WACs was cut from 36 to 34, but the standard for release of officers and nurses was left unchanged.

The air forces made a still deeper cut for personnel who are in this country and are surplus. Enlisted men in that category were made eligible if they have 50 or more points and have been in service two years. For surplus enlisted WACs in the air forces the requirement was dropped to 29 points and a year in uniform.

Witness Recounts Slaying, Burning Of 1,500 In Manila

By DEAN SCHEDLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Friday, Nov. 2 — Shouting that Japanese soldiers were "sadists and beasts," a witness at the war crimes trial of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita described today the killing and burning of at least 1,500 civilians at the German club Feb. 10 in the battle for Manila.

The witness, Francisco Lopez, who represented Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, said:

"Yamashita's soldiers took women, poured gasoline on their heads and set them afire.

Girls Abused In Public

Two girls were abused by Japanese before others at a club.

One girl was raped after she had been killed.

His mother, two brothers and an aunt perished at the club.

Lopez, taking shelter outside, was shot in the foot.

He heard the screams of people who were burned while in hiding under a building.

A woman spared from a saturnalia of rape by a Japanese officer friend testified yesterday that orders for one last blood orgy in Manila were issued by the imperial high command itself.

The story of her own escape from the mass rape of 25 beautiful Manila girls by Japanese troops during the battle of Manila was told behind closed doors.

Identified only as "Mrs. N," the witness told the military commission that with her infant son in her arms she was forced to go to the swank Bayview hotel, scene of night-long orgies during which the victims screamed for mercy.

Knew Jap Captain

She said that by chance she met a Captain Akashi, a Japanese officer she knew, and he hid her in a room.

Later, she continued, she was taken to the hotel dining room, swarming with Japanese Marines, where she faced an unnamed officer and protested the violation of the Filipino girls.

The officer told her that his troops were under an "order from the high command to kill all civilians in Manila and that the Japanese hated all white women."

(This dispatch, relying on censored transcripts handed out by the commission, did not say whether the witness was white or brown.)

Powerless To Stop It

A Japanese lieutenant by the name of Kito then told "Mrs. N" that he was powerless to stop the rapings because the soldiers and Marines were fresh from the front lines and could do as they wished.

Seven women victims previously had testified as to how the 25 were chosen for their beauty last Feb. 9 from among 400 women rounded up in Manila's exclusive Ermita district.

They were taken to Bayview, where they were passed from room to room with an accompaniment of slaps and kicks and forced to submit to the Japanese officers and men.

Their stories, substantially in agreement, said they managed to escape Feb. 12 when the flames of

Planes Strike At Indonesians

BATAVIA, Java., Nov. 1. (AP)— British planes struck at Indonesian extremists stepping up their attacks tonight against British forces in central and eastern Java despite orders from their own "President" Soekarno to lay down arms.

With fighter-plane aid, the thinspread Indian troops recaptured most of Tagelang, 260 miles southwest of Batavia. At least three Thunderbolts went into action, shooting up three staff cars and as many trucks, after the Indonesians opened fire with mortars.

Said "Close To War"

A British spokesman described the situation as "close to war." A squadron of tanks arrived at stiltense Soerabaja, naval base where Brig. A. W. F. Mallaby was slain Tuesday night.

Soekarno, head of the "Indonesian republic," met with Dutch leaders last night, and flew today into the interior in a yet unsuccessful mission to make his followers halt the fighting.

Soekarno tonight was believed to be appealing to headquarters of youthful extremists who were said to be sending reinforcements to Indonesians near Maglang, 30 miles to the north.

Conference Reported

Soekarno conferred last night with acting Lt. Gov. Hubertus Van Mook. The Dutch information service here said Van Mook urged cooperation as serving the best interests of all concerned, and that Soekarno presented arguments for

Progress Is Made On Balkan, Jap Disputes

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Progress toward settlement of Soviet-American disputes over Balkan issues as well as control of Japan was reported by diplomatic authorities today as a result of intense negotiations between Washington and Moscow.

Here are the top developments:

1. It is understood that Generalissimo Stalin has indicated to the United States government his desire for an early settlement of outstanding Balkan issues as a part of the same pattern of negotiations involving Japan.

Decision On Japan

2. The State department announced that the Japanese problem posed by Russia's demand for an Allied control agency at Tokyo is being decided by the big powers alone—that is, the United States, Russia, Britain and China, and not by all ten members of the newly created Far Eastern Advisory commission.

3. President Truman announced that Ambassador Edwin Pauley will leave for Japan early this month to develop a reparations program designed to deprive the defeated enemy of resources for making war again. The President indicated that Pauley's mission is aimed at an eventual joint reparations program of the Allied powers similar to that worked out for Germany.

Russian Proposal

4. The Soviet news agency Tass was quoted in reports from Moscow as saying that Russia favors a control council for Japan made up of Big Four representatives "under the chairmanship of the United States representative" who would presumably be General Douglas MacArthur.

Officials here said that the whole development of Russian-United States relations based on handling the Japanese and Balkans issues as parts of the same problem of Allied cooperation in the organization of the postwar world is moving quite satisfactorily.

Stalin's views were reported to President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes by Ambassador W. Averell Harriman following two lengthy talks with the Soviet leader last week. Harriman's report has not been made public but it was learned that the generalissimo developed the point that the question of Russian interest in the Balkan states parallels that of United States interest in Japan.

Assurance To Russia

American officials noted that Secretary of State Byrnes, speaking in New York last night, sought to reassure Russia that the United States fully recognizes Russian security interests in such nations as Romania and Bulgaria and desires only that the peoples of those nations have an opportunity to choose their own governments.

Some authorities predict that any settlement which results in Russia's having a hand in the management of Japan will also, at least eventually, result in greater freedom of movement and a greater voice for United States representatives in the Balkan nations.

In his announcement on Pauley, Mr. Truman said that the ambassador will not be subordinate to General MacArthur but, as the President's personal representative, "will work in close cooperation" with him.

Ex-Soldier Moves Family Into Park For Lack Of House

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1. (AP)—Former Marine corps Private David Mizrahi, his wife Sophie, both 23, and their two year old son "moved" into Pershing Square park today, right in the downtown business section, with the announced intention of staying there until they find a place to live.

Setting up a pup tent, with blankets and a toy telephone, Mizrahi, an upholsterer, told reporters that since his discharge last March, he and his wife had been hunting for an apartment. He had lived with his mother, meanwhile, and his wife and son stayed with her sister-in-law.

But Mizrahi will have to "move" again. The city park commission office says he is violating an ordinance by living in a public park.

Special Traffic Study Is Asked

The City Planning commission last night voted to recommend to the Lubbock City commission that it appoint from the citizenship a special committee to study traffic problems.

The planning group made the decision after lengthy discussion, majority opinion being that the traffic problem needs special attention by a commission appointed for that purpose, just as the planning commission works on planning and the civic center group has been functioning in that avenue.

In the planning commission's regular monthly business meeting, held in the council chamber at City Hall, numerous routine matters were attended to. S. L. Forrest was given approval to open for residential purposes property in the extreme northwest section of the city, bounded by First and North Second streets and Avenues U and V. Forrest plans to erect there houses aimed at attracting returned service men.

Disapproved by unanimous vote were nine applications of citizens seeking re-zoning of various pieces of property scattered over the city. The commission declined to approve all of them for the same reason: to approve the applications would be to injure nearby property and/or considerable segments of the city.

At the conclusion of the con-

Injured Rail Worker Is Awarded $67,000

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 1. (AP)—A federal court jury today awarded $67,000 damages to O. R. Chaney, Shreveport, La., brakeman employed by the St. Louis-Southwestern (Cotton Belt) railroad, who lost an arm and leg in a railroad yard accident.

Chaney alleged the railroad was negligent in what he called failure to provide adequate drainage for oil in the yards in which he slipped and fell under a moving train.

Yanks Round Up German Bankers

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 1. (AP)—The United States Army started rounding up leading bankers in the American occupation zone today and arrested 21 directors of the six largest institutions, accusing them of financing the German war machine and helping the Nazis exploit occupied countries.

R. A. Nixon, deputy director of the U. S. military government division investigating cartels, said "it seems pretty sure that we will recommend trial of these men as war criminals."

Were Virtual Spies

He said the six "German banks started financing Hitler's rearmament back in 1935 and served virtually as spies during the war in economic and political affairs."

Nixon listed the big six banks as the Deutsche bank, the Dresdener bank, the Commerzbank, the Bank Der Deutschen-Arbeit, the Reichs Kredit-Geselischaft and the Berliner Handels Gesellschaft.

The Berliner Handles Gesselschaft and the Bank Der Deutschen-Arbeit are now closed. The others are doing business on a limited basis.

The Army is looking for other directors.

Reds Pull Out Of Manchuria

By SPENCER MOOSA
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHUNGKING, Nov. 1—Russians will begin their large-scale withdrawal from Manchuria tomorrow and will be out by Dec. 1, a semi-official dispatch from Tientsin said today. Squarely across the path Chinese government troops would take to relieve them, however, are massed forces of fighting Chinese communists.

Nevertheless, government soldiers will move north this month in strength, and will take over from the Russians by Dec. 3, a Chinese dispatch from Changchun insisted.

Scattered Fighting

Scattered fighting—with wooden cannon and home-made knives, among other weapons—continued today through 11 northern provinces.

Government sources here acknowledged that:

1. Communists now control most of Shantung province, virtually isolating the U. S. Marine-held port of Tsingtao from which central China hoped to get coal.

2. Both Central government and Shansi provincial forces which encountered Chinese Communist troops in the north have "taken a beating."

Fourth Army Moves

A government source also confirmed withdrawal of the Communists' new Fourth Army from points south of the Yangtze river, but said it is being moved north to attack and dislocate the Pieping-Hankow and Tientsin-Pukow (Tientsin-Nanking) railroads, thus blocking movement of government forces in strength into north China and Manchuria. The Communists want to control Manchuria themselves, he said.

The comparatively few government troops which thus far have been in action in the north were lightly equipped and in consequence suffered "considerable casualties" in clashes with Communists, this source declared.

Communists, he added, have massed large forces on the Pieping-Suiyuan railroad, as well as "sabotaging" the lines south from Pieping and from Tientsin.

To Retrieve Junction

He said he hoped that the important Shansi rail junction of Tatung could be "retrieved," but admitted that the plight of its outnumbered garrison, in the face of a well-armed Communist attack, was serious.

Communists claimed possession of Pietaiho station on the Pieping-Mukden railroad, only 10 miles from the port of Chinwangtao, now held by U. S. Marines. But other reports indicated coal from inland mines was moving smoothly into Chingwangtao for shipment southward—as though the Communists, if they did hold any inland rail points, were not interfering.

Air Giants Bring War Vets 6,544 Miles In 27 Hours, 29 Minutes . . .

B-29s Complete Non-Stop Hop From Japan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)— Four B-29s, carrying 43 tired, happy men home from the war, completed tonight the first non-stop flight from Japan to Washington in 27 hours, 29 minutes.

Brig. Gen. Frank A. Armstrong, jr., deputy commander of the 20th Airforce, led the flight home, landing at Washington National airport at 6:38 p. m., central standard time. The distance was figured at 6,544 miles.

It was the Army's second attempt to make the trip non-stop. The first attempt on September 18-19 fell short of the goal because of constant adverse winds and the three-plane flight led by Lt. Gen. Barney M. Giles sat down at Chicago to refuel before coming on to Washington.

Both flights followed roughly the same route, the Great Circle course across the Pacific by way of Agattu and Kodiak, in the Aleutians, Sitka, Alaska, Fort St. John, Winnipeg, Detroit and thence eastward across the United States.

General Armstrong smiling through grime and two days' growth of beard, said the weather was "terrible" on this flight also, and that they did not know until they reached Kodiak, Alaska, whether they would make it. As it turned out, his plane landed with 800 gallons of fuel, enough for about three hours.

General Armstrong said the plane took off from the field near Sapporo, capital of Hokkaido, northernmost of the major Japanese islands, during a rain.

They had a helping tail wind up to about 45 miles an hour part of the way, however, and made their best average ground speed of 290 miles an hour between Ft. St. John and Winnipeg.

Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, deputy commander of the American Airforces, who was on hand to greet the airmen, said the flight was "primarily for the purpose of pioneering a new Great Circle route."

General Eaker told reporters that "I expected Armstrong would make it because he is one of the best combat pilots we have."

The four crews waited five days for weather deemed favorable to the flight, Armstrong said, and then found that from Hokkaido to Attu it was "exactly opposite to what we had been briefed."

The planes encountered a heavy snowstorm over Minnesota and Wisconsin while flying at 14,000

Deadline Is Set On Job Service Return

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP) — The administration offered today to accept next June 30 as an "absolute deadline" for returning the U. S. Employment service to control of the states.

Informed sources said Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach made this proposal at a closed meeting of a Senate Appropriations subcommittee in an effort to stave off a still earlier date.

President Truman only last Tuesday night criticized moves in Congress to quickly turn the employment service back to the states. He asked another year of control by the federal government which took the service over Jan. 1,1942, as a wartime measure.

MOSCOW, Nov. 1. (AP)—The impending meeting of Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman in Washington does not in any way indicate that Generalissimo Stalin may be expected, it was pointed out in informed circles today.

New Nazi Atrocities Unearthed In Graves

METZ, France, Nov. 1. (AP) — Examiners at the mass graves of 23,000 Russian prisoners of war near Boulay said today they had found evidence that many victims were buried alive by their Nazi captors.

German prisoners of war continued exhuming the bodies by the thousands, working in shifts around the clock in the two enormous pits.

Doctors said the positions of the bodies indicated many had died after they had been placed in the ditches. Other bodies gave evidence of incomplete cremation, apparently by gasoline and other inflamables.

Frenchmen living near the prisoner of war camp close by the Maginot line said the Germans had concentrated invalid Russians at the place, most of the men suffering from tuberculosis.

The Germans for the most part kept the French as far from the camp and graves as possible.

The investigators said evidence the Germans herded thousands of underfed and improperly clothed Russians into German-operated factories near the barracks and worked them until they collapsed or died. The victims were tossed unceremoniously into the death pits.

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 1. (AP)—San Antonio's Sept. 26 special election in which $5,700,000 in bonds were approved for five civic improvement projects, was challenged in an election contest filed today by Elmer Ware Stahl, attorney, representing three contestants.

They seek to have declared void the results of the election in which five of 22 proposed civic improvement bond issues were declared carried by the city canvassing board.

AAA Payment Plans Outlined

Under the recently approved 1946 Agriculture Adjustment Administration program producers may earn up to $2 per acre of cropland, plus 20 cents for each acre of pasture land, Walter Y. Wells, secretary of the Lubbock county Agriculture Conservation association, has announced.

Payment will be made for practices carried out in the calendar year of 1946 and for which the county committee issued approval before the practice was begun.

Terrace Construction

Terrace construction will be paid at a rate of $1.50 per 100 linear feet, contour furrowing pasture land at 25 cents per 1,000 feet of furrow, strip cropping on the contour at $1.00 per acre, strip cropping not on the contour at 50 cents per acre and protecting summer fallowed acreage by contour listing at 75 cents per acre.

Cologne Cathedral In Danger Of Collapsing

COLOGNE, Nov. 1. (U.P.) — The stately and historic Cologne cathedral is in danger of collapsing, British military government sources said today.

The cathedral has not been condemned, and hope persists that it can be reinforced and refurbished. But it is roped off. Sightseers are not allowed inside.

Engineers feared that after withstanding four years of Allied bombing while buildings all around it were pulverized, at least part of the massive structure towering over the Rhine might cave in.

In World War I, Australia's casualties were 226,000 of 333,000 troops sent overseas.

One-Man-Army Wermuth Home

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1 (AP)—Bataan's "one-man-army," the famed Major Arthur Wermuth, credited with killing 116 Japanese, came home today from the war and from enemy prison camps.

"Hello, mom," he exclaimed as he met his mother, Mrs. Clara Wermuth of Chicago who, with his sister, Talia, have been here for days awaiting him. His wife, Jean, will meet him at Traverse City, Mich.

The Chicago soldier arrived on the SS Marine Shark with some 3,400 other men coming back from the Pacific. Last January, after release from imprisonment in Japanese camps in the Philippines and Manchuria, he weighed only 103 pounds. He appeared today to weigh a normal 185 pounds.

About Normal Treatment

He was treated no worse than anyone else in the camps, he stated. His prescription for the Japanese was "treatment as tough as they can treat them."

The most exciting moment of his captivity, he declared, was boarding the USS Relief, Navy hospital ship, Dairen, Manchuria.

He will go at once to the Army's Letterman General hospital here for a checkup, and then will go to Chicago.

Recalls Imprisonment

Dressed trimly in Army greens and wearing his Distinguished Service cross, Silver Star and Purple Heart with two clusters, Wermuth recalled briefly his imprisonment in Japanese camps in the Philippines and Manchuria. He was on one of two ships which were bombed by American fliers when our pilots sighted the vessels between the Philippines and China. Wermuth, his mother said, sufferer shrapnel wounds in the legs during the bombing. He had been shot twice and bayoneted once on Bataan.

He stated flatly "everyone should get at least a year," when asked his views on conscription.

WLB Asks CIO Textile Strikers To Return

HILLSBORO, Nov. 1 (AP) — Striking CIO textile workers at Hillsboro and Itasca today were asked to return to their jobs by the National Labor board which said their grievances would be discussed at a conference in Washington on November 15.

The workers have been out 16 days in a contract dispute with the Hillsboro cotton mills and the Itasca Cotton Manufacturing company.

Lloyd K. Garrison, NWLB chairman, in a telegram to Paul Schuler, regional director of the Textile Workers of America, said an inquiry would be made into the question of non-compliance by the companies with the directive orders of the Eighth Regional War Labor board.

Bus Workers Postpone Wage Negotiations

FORT WORTH, Nov. 1 (AP)—Negotiations on a new contract for employes of the Southwestern Greyhound lines have been postponed until Nov. 8.

The postponement was agreed at a meeting today of Greyhound officials and heads of the Amalgamated Association of Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes (AFL). The union had requested the later date so that its national vice president, Otto Debate of Detroit, could attend.

Paul Tibbetts, firm president, said that the strike of Greyhound employes in the east is affecting only the business of his line which originates in or is en route to that area.

Razing Of Old Central Ward To Cause Stir Of Memories; School Spans City's Growth

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche Staff Writer

AT THE close of the present school year, workmen will start razing the old Central Ward school in the 1600-block between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets and with its passing goes the vestige of early Lubbock schools.

Site of the building was recently purchased by Sears, Roebuck & company for commercial use.

As workmen begin to tear down the old structure, brick by brick, thoughts and memories of many Lubbock and South Plains people will turn backward to days of their youth when they trudged across the rocky hill to school.

Youngsters who have attended the school in recent years have not been aware of the fact that the school grounds, before they were covered with dirt and sodded, were one of the rockiest places in Lubbock.

But on these rocky grounds, J. E. Vickers, a young lawyer just out of the University of Texas, started coaching Lubbock High school's first football team. On these rocky grounds, Lubbock's first National Guard unit drilled in preparation for mobilization for World war I back in 1917.

It was around these grounds that the "West Texas jackrabbitt," Clarence Goodnight, used to take practice runs before he went down to Austin to set the state record for the mile run which stood for nearly two decades.

The old building, which was formerly graced on three sides by white stone columns extending the height of the building, was formerly the center of community life in Lubbock. In its auditorium on the third floor were held school plays, lyceums and chatauquas and other entertainments which made up the life of the early pioneer community.

The school has witnessed the growth of Lubbock from a small cowmen's trading post into the busy wholesale and retail center it is today.

Within the hallowed walls of the old building, many leading citizens today of Lubbock and the area started their quest for education, for prior to 1920 the building and a white wooden structure for grade students standing to the southwest, were the only school buildings in Lubbock. It was here that your reporter began his search for knowledge.

Calling the roll of its administrators will stir the memories of many who have passed through its halls. E. R. Haynes, who with his beloved wife, was an early superintendent; Prof. J. K. Wester and Mrs. Wester, and M. M. Dupre and Mrs. Dupre spanned the years of the building's construction until the modern era. In those days, the superintendent's wife was usually a teacher also and in the case of the above three, she taught first graders.

The building was remodeled in 1923 into an elementary school.

Central Ward's enrollment is the most cosmopolitan of any Lubbock school. Students who reside in the center of town as well as those who are brought in by school buses from all parts of the district make up the student body. A child may sit next to another who lives 12 or 14 miles away from him.

An example of this is the fact that Don Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don L. Jones of the Texas Experiment sub-station, 3 miles east of Lubbock, is captain of the school's street patrol. Captain of patrol girls is Mary Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Hayes, route 5.

H. Ishmael Hill is principal of the school, serving his second year. He has been in the system since 1937. Two teachers Miss Anna Casey and Mrs. Ance English, fifth and sixth grade teachers, have been in the school 16 years, Miss Casey serving a month longer than Mrs. English.

ALLRED

Sammy Allred, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam H. Allred, 1302 Ave. Q, is quite an artist and recently won second place in the fire prevention poster contest sponsored by the Lubbock Insurance Exchange.

Mrs. Iris Bergholm and Mrs. J. T. Shaver are first grade teachers; Miss Martha Mathis and Miss Bess Lewis, second grade; Miss Mildred Holt and Mrs. W. L. Metcalfe, third grade; Miss Hattie Herm and Mrs. Cleo Hall, fourth grade; Miss Casey and Mrs. Ruth Carter, fifth grade; Mrs. English and Mrs. L. J. Sollis, sixth year; Mrs. Oleta Zeh Beakley, intermediate music; and Mrs. Faye Mann, intermediate Spanish. Mrs. L. C. Ellis, who is visiting teacher for the Lubbock schools, has her office at Central Ward; and even if not in name, is in mutual feeling one of the Central Ward faculty.

John R. Popejoy is janitor and has been with the school district 16 years, having taken care of the Central Ward building the past ten years.

Enrollment of the school is 470 and included in the pupils are more than 50 children of former Central Ward students. Between 140 and 150 students are new to the school this year.

Citizenship leaders in the school are: Winona Starr, room 302, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. U. C. Starr, 707 Ave. L; Mickie Meadows, room 202 son of Henry Meadows, route 2; Don Gillespie, room 306, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Gillespie, 2112 Fifteenth; and Jimmie Joe Stanford, room 303 son of Mrs. Lillian Stanford, 1618-B Fifteenth.

One of the major projects of the Central Ward Parent-Teacher association this year is the compiling of a history of the school. A meeting is planned in the spring honoring all past-presidents of the Central Ward association, and others who have rendered service in the P.-T. A. and on the school faculty in past years.

Mrs. Stewart H. Newland is president of the association; Mrs. Percy Spencer, vice president; Mrs. A. L. Vaughn, secretary and Miss Hattie Herm, treasury.

(Next week the school reporter will be over at K. Carter school to tell you about the teachers and youngsters there.)

The Voice Seeks To Placate Students In Classroom Strike

GARY, Ind., Nov. 1 (AP)—More than 5,000 enraptured students joined Frank Sinatra, singer and actor, today in a pledge to the "American way," as The Voice sought to persuade striking high school students to return to classrooms.

Bobby soxers screamed, shouted, whistled, stamped their feet and a few even sobbed as The Voice stepped to the stage of the overflowing auditorium to appeal for an end of the strike at Froebel High school which started Monday, the second this semester.

The auditorium's seating facilities of 4,800 were filled. Several hundred other students, both white and negro, crowded aisles and a crowd estimated by Fireguard Nick Odinsoff at 1,000 stood in the street to hear the proceedings over amplifiers.

Repeating after Sinatra, the students pledged "allegiance to the democratic ideals in our home, schools, in our independent youth organizations. We strive to work together to prove that the American way is the fair and only way."

The students struck in protest against what they described as bi-racial policies of their principal, R. A. Nuzum, whom they accused of showing favoritism to negro students. Students returned to classrooms after several days but struck for the second time Monday after an investigating committee did not blame Principal Nuzum.

Sinatra came to Gary at the invitation of the Anselm youth organization.

Fort Sam Houston To Get Medical Units

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 1 (AP) — Major medical activities of the Army will be transferred at an unspecified date to Fort Sam Houston here, advices from Washington and the Army post indicated today.

From Washington came a report that the Army medical field service school at Carlisle, Pa., would be transferred to the post here. A Carlisle Chamber of Commerce delegation said Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, Army surgeon general, told them all other Army medical training activities elsewhere in the country also will be concentrated at Fort Sam Houston.

In an interview at the Brooke Hospital center here today, Brig. Gen. George C. Beach, center commander, said he had no definite information as to when transfer plans would be carried out. He added that the move to concentrate medical activities of the Army at Fort Sam Houston has been under consideration for some time.

In addition to the Carlisle school, General Beach said that it was definite that the Army School of Roentgenology at Memphis, Tenn., and the Army School of Military Neuropsychiatry now at Mason General Hospital, Brentwood, Long Island, N. Y., would also be moved to Fort Sam Houston.

Chaingang Author Surrenders, Then Is Quickly Freed

ATLANTA, Nov. 1 (AP)—The long-time, celebrated fugitive from a Georgia chaingang, Robert Elliott Burns, surrendered today and two hours later, in tears, he heard himself pronounced a free man.

The three-member board of pardons and paroles wiped away the unserved part of a 6 to 10 year sentence for a $5 stick-up that has hung over the now successful business man for 23 years.

Rights Also Restored

It also restored civil and political rights to the twice-fugitive who aroused a storm of protest in Georgia over his book and movie, "I Am A Fugitive From a Georgia Chaingang."

"You will not be sorry," he told Chairman Edward B. Everett and other members of the board.

An hour before he had heard young Governor Ellis Arnall, whose administration wiped out the chain gang system which Burns wrote about so bitterly, plead his case.

"I have never appeared before this board with such a request," the governor said. "And I shall probably never do so again. But I am convinced this man is completely rehabilitated."

Burns, who swapped pleasantries with the governor in his office before formally surrendering, said that from what he's heard and read he was amazed at the progress of penal reform in Georgia.

Burns told newsmen that his wife back in Union, N. J., had some misgivings about his returning to Georgia. Once before he returned to Georgia, hopeful of clemency, and was put on the chain gang again.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 1 (AP)—David Herscovitch, 65, owner of an Ogden, Utah, furniture store, drew four nines in a draw poker game today in a downtown card room and then slumped over dead, Deputy Coroner Lloyd Jones reported. Herscovitch's death was attributed to a heart attack.

RECREATION NEEDS

WATCHING the crowds mill around the square Wednesday night after the parade we were struck again with the thought that here is very little to do in Lubbock in the nature of recreation. Within recent months, articles have brought out the crying need for an auditorium but, while that will make it possible for concert artists, lecturers and stage plays to be brought to Lubbock, that will not be the complete answer.

Our library facilities are pitifully inadequate for a city this size; the Lubbock Woman's clubhouse is still a dream of the future and, granted the Girl and Boy Scout organizations are well run and important in the lives of hundreds of youngsters and Boys club is tops, still what is being done for the many, many young girls who are not members of the scouts and who have little, if any, recreation in their lives?

Jimmy Fidler is promoting the idea of converting USO halls into youth centers. We don't know whether anyone has thought of that idea here, but if he should we hope the girls will not be overlooked. It's just as important that girls be given advantage of social living as boys.

• • •

WHEN the USO closes here it will remove one of the main forms of recreation for about 350 young women of the city. During the war years and since peace was declared, the girls have spent thousands of hours in dancing, serving refreshments, talking or listening to enlisted men. They have attended schools of instruction on fashions and charm and have gone to dances and to hostal entertainments at both air fields.

If Lubbock plans to be THE city of the West Texas it behooves those with authority to get busy and think of an answer to one question that is invariably asked by newcomers, "What do people find here do for entertainment?"

There are no zoos, no galleries, no halls large enough to accommodate the crowd that would attend a dance where a name band played. The picture shows provide the main entertainment and as much as we like to see them we could not recommend them as a daily diet.

When we talk about pleasures for leisure hours we are not advocating the need of road houses or beer joints. We are saying there should be more varied entertainment for people who just want to have a little bit of plain fun during their off hours.

We have an idea traffic violations in Amarillo will moderate now that the Amarillo Globe is publishing a daily list on page 1 of those who pay fines.

OUTSMARTED—The other day a group of grownups were trying to out-top each other in stories about the wild west. One of them told this story about cattle brands. It seems as though a ranchman branded his cattle with IC. Whereupon an enterprising cattle rustler began branding the first man's cattle ICU. But the rightful owner was not to be outsmarted. He adopted a new brand, ICU2.

Music Students To Be Given Auditions

DENTON, Tex., (Spl). Nov. 2—High school music students and graduates will be auditioned in eight Texas cities for four scholarships to the North Texas State College School of Music during the tour of the opera, "The Bohemian Girl," Dr. Wilfred C. Bain, head of the School of Music announced today.

"The Bohemian Girl," which will be taken on tour following the initial performance at the college this Friday night at 8:15 o'clock, will be presented in San Angelo on Nov. 3; Camp Bowie on Nov. 4; Big Spring on Nov. 5; Lubbock, Nov. 6; Amarillo, Nov. 7; Vernon, Nov. 8; A. and M. College, Nov. 9; and in Longview on Nov. 10.

Before each performance of the opera, which is produced and directed by Miss Mary McCormic of the opera workshop, and conducted by Dr. Bain, preliminary auditions will be held in each of the tour cities for recent graduates, or students expecting to graduate in January. Boys and girls will be auditioned in piano, composition and violin by Miss McCormic, Dr. Bain, Joseph Kirschbaum, and Alan Richardson, all members of the School of Music staff.

The four scholarships will be offered by Domenico Savino of the Robbins Music Corp. of New York, who presented two other scholarships at NTSC this September. The scholarships are for one year and include general tuition and fees and applied music fees. Final auditions will be conducted on Nov. 17 and 18 when Savino will be on the campus.

Personal contacts will be made with music students in all high schools in the tour cities, Dr. Bain said, and outstanding and talented students will have the opportunity of competing for the four scholarships.

Anyone in Lubbock interested in the auditions is invited to get in touch with Mrs. Elois Elliott, Thornton, Erma Myres and Miriam Baker.

Bud-To-Blossom And Junior Garden Club Meetings Feature Discussions Of Bulbs

Two garden study clubs met Thursday afternoon to hear interesting and timely talks on the fall planting of bulbs and found that this is the proper time for putting out many kinds of early-blooming bulbs. It was brought out in the discussions that West Texas soil and climate are such that little is necessary in the way of cultivation, therefore, with the minimum of effort, a profusion of bulbs may be grown.

Bud-to-Blossom club met at the home of Mrs. R. A. Price, 1518 Twenty-seventh, with Mrs. E. E. Sullivent as co-hostess. A short business meeting was conducted before Mrs. Claud Key, guest speaker, discussed "Planting of Bulbs."

Using charts and pictures to illustrate her talk, Mrs. Key said that this is the time to plant tulips, daffodils, crocus, iris and many other bulbs that bloom early in the spring.

Three new members, Mrs. Collier Smith, Mrs. Perry Adams and Mrs. Johnny Johnson were accepted by the club. Others present were Mesdames C. N. McGee, Acle Cope, Ira Owens, Herman Brown, Foy Johnson, J. C. Hughes, Roy Wheeler, Alva Smith, J. W. Harrison, Albert Symes, T. O. Moore, Ed Conally, Clyde Edwards, Francis Batsell, Newman Casey and the hostesses.

Mrs. John Powers Is Speaker

Junior Garden club members met at the Country club Thursday afternoon to hear Mrs. John Powers, guest speaker, discuss iris, peonies, lilies and soil. In a test on flower names, Mrs. M. E. West won the prize for the highest grade. Mrs. C. D. McGehee was program chairman.

In her talk, Mrs. Powers said that now is the time to plant iris, lilies and peonies, and said that they are the easiest plants to grow here, since all they need is to be planted. She emphasized that lilies and peonies should be grown here in larger numbers, since they are very adaptable to this soil, but that when buying the bulbs, care should be used to see that the late-blooming variety is purchased.

Members present were Mesdames C. W. Bartlett, Jr., J. H. Brock, S. W. Brunson, Allen Farmer, Hop Halsey, J. D. Jenkins, Doyle Jordan, Garland Newsom, George Soash, L. D. Stevens, T. M. Swanson, West, Aubrey Woodfin and Turner Adams.

Hostesses were Mesdames Brock and Farmer.

Bride-Elect Named Honoree At Shower

Mrs. Horace Huckeba entertained with a party and miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. Henry Gordon, 1321 Twenty-sixth, Wednesday night. Honoree was Miss Barbara Jean Hall, bride-elect of Allen Cain.

Mrs. Huckeba presided at the refreshment table, which was laid with an ecru lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of red chrysanthemums.

Yellow chrysanthemums were placed about the rooms. Thirty guests called.

Panel Discussion Is Led By Miss Padley

A panel discussion on "When and How to Say No" was conducted by Miss Grace Padley for K. Carter Parent-Teacher association at its meeting Thursday afternoon in room 110 of the school. Children of Miss Ouida Busbee's and Mrs. Wesley B. Smith's rooms presented a musical play, "Our America."

Mrs. A. H. Cline and Mrs. Smith assisted in the panel. In a short business meeting it was announced that the unit cleared a total of $352 from the Hallowe'en carnival after all expenses had been paid.

Room prizes went to Mrs. A. M. Spike's primary room and to Miss Busbee's intermediate room. Next meeting will be at 3:45 p. m. Dec. 6 at the school.

Club Has Program, Elects New Officers

Home nursing was the topic at a meeting of the Arnett-Benson Home Demonstration club Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Johnson, 2720 Locust.

Changing the patient's bed was discussed by Mrs. P. H. Nell; food for the sick by Mrs. H. L. Hilton; handling the new baby by Mrs. Roy Wells and sanitation by Mrs. C. C. Bevers.

New officers elected at the meeting were Mrs. C. C. Heatley, new president; Mrs. W. R. Scott, vice-president; Mrs. Ruby Bolin, secretary-treasurer. Meeting time was changed to 2:30 o'clock.

Over 200 American Nazis Known After Master Party Files Found

MUNICH, Nov. 1 (U.P.)—A secret list classifying the names of more than 200 American Nazis has been discovered along with the sketch of a Swastika flag designed to fly over the United States in 1951, it was disclosed today.

The list was unearthed from more than 20 tons of Nazi party files by military government workers under the direction of Maj. William L. Browne, former Portland, Ore., detective.

In Every Major City

Americans in every major city from coast to coast were listed definitely as Nazi party members. Officials would not disclose the names but said they were being forwarded to government and military authorities.

Other items dug from the files included motion pictures of bund parades, picnics and rallies.

Flag Is Described

The sketch of the flag depicted a Swastika replacing the stars in the American flag but it retained 13 red and white stripes. It was said to have been designed by a German who formerly lived in the United States and was captioned "1951."

The files listed some 12,000,000 Nazi party members for the last 20 years and included names of members in every civilized country of the world.

Military government officials estimated it would take several months to complete cataloguing the tons of evidence.

Pearl Harbor Probe Board Delays Trip

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—A Senate-House committee today called off a scheduled inspection trip to Pearl Harbor in connection with its investigation of the Japanese attack on the Naval base in 1941.

Chairman Barkley (D-Ky) said members decided it would "not be very constructive" for them to make the trip, at least until some hearings are held here. The group had intended to leave Monday.

Members reported some progress was made meanwhile toward an agreement on procedure. Republicans have complained that under an order signed by President Truman the Democratic majority would have a stranglehold on the course of the investigation.

The President's order said records would be made available only on the order of a committee majority. There are six Democrats and four Republicans on the committee.

Americans Smoking More, Survey Shows

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (U.P.)—Americans are smoking 50 per cent more cigarets than before the war and show little sign of tapering off in the next few years, the Agriculture department reported today.

During the first eight months of 1945, civilians lighted cigarets at the yearly rate of 100 packs for every man, woman and child. That period covered the war's greatest shortage in popular brand.

Since military purchases for overseas forces have slackened, the department said, cigaret consumption by civilians undoubtedly has been stepped up even beyond the high rate for the first part of the year.

The four-decade upward swing in cigaret smoking in the U. S. was accelerated by the war, the department's survey showed. Consumption during the next two or three years is likely to remain high, it said, unless there is a severe indutrial depression.

Cigar smoking briefly came back in vogue during the early days of the war, reaching 46 per person each year, the department reported.

In general, cigar smoking has steadily lost popularity since World War 1, Americans now smoke an average of only 36 a year, or less than half as many as in 1917.

The next few years will see the return of the five-cent and other low-priced cigars, the department predicted.

Honshu is the largest of the Japanese islands.

First Lt. Clovis Ketron, 26, is missing since Oct. 19 in the India-Burma area, the War department notified his wife, Mrs. Fay Ketron, 1914 Seventh, in a telegram received Wednesday.

The telegram did not give details, but Mrs. Ketron said her husband was a test pilot for the 497th Squadron in India and made many flights as part of his duties.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ketron, reside at 708 Ave. L. He has 18 months in the India-Burma theater, eight months in the signal corps in England and Ireland, and has been in service four years.

Holdren Makes Bond On Charge Of Rape

Ray Holdren, truck driver, arrested Wednesday night after returning from a run to Salt Lake City, was at liberty Thursday under $2,500 bond on a charge of statutory rape of a 14-year-old girl.

In a statement to Glynn Hudgens, city-county officer, and District Attorney Burton S. Burks, the girl revealed she was an escapee from a detention home near Houston. Sse said she met Holdren at Edinburg, came to Lubbock with him, and that the alleged attack occurred Oct. 20 in a local hotel room. She confessed, officers said, to previous sexual relations with four other men.

She said she had escaped five times from the Houston home.

She was born in La Porte, she related, and her mother died when she was two and a half weeks old, Her father lives at La Porte.

The complaint, prepared by Burks and sworn to by Hudgens, was filed in the court of Justice of Peace C. E. Lynn.

Mild Law Breaking And Vandalism Mark Hallowe'en In City

Liberal use of soap on downtown show windows was the most conspicuous result of Lubbock's Hallowe'en celebration, with police reporting only mild lawbreaking and slight vandalism.

Arrests consisted of six negro youths for breaking a store window at 2201 East Ave. D, five persons for drunkenness and two men who told cops to "mind your own business."

The traffic light at Broadway and Ave K was turned awry during the night. A street light at Sixteenth and Ave. J was broken. An old, dilapidated automobile was moved sideways into the middle of the street in 1100-block Ave. X. Police received complaints that boys had cut bicycle tires at 2101 Twenty-first and were breaking glass at 2017 Nineteenth.

Machines Are Moved

A few weight machines around town were moved from their places. One was found this morning on Texas Tech campus.

A man claimed a soldier with whom he was celebrating drove away with his car, to San Angelo, he suspected. A 1942 Plymouth which was reported stolen from 1400-block Broadway was recovered a few hours later a couple of blocks away.

Juvenile Delinquency Said Major Problem

B. Tom Carter, assistant director of the Dallas office of the Federal Bureau of Invesigation, told the Kiwanis club Thursday at their luncheon in the Hilton hotel that one of the biggest problems now confronting the law enforcement agencies of the country is juvenile delinquency.

Carter said that of 270,000 persons arrested in the first six months of this year, 25 per cent were under the age of 21. He also cited figures which showed that 50 per cent of recent burglaries in the nation have been committed by those under 21.

What is needed to cope with this problem, he asserted, is the cooperation of all law enforcement agencies and the moral and actual support of every citizen, together with recreational opportunities for youngsters.

The FBI agent said no one knows whether the war will be followed by increased crime, but, he added, records show that a higher crime rate followed World war 1. He said his organization would endeavor to hold down crime through continued cooperation with state and local law enforcement agencies, its Washington police academy for select officers from over the nation, sponsorship of regular conferences of officers and its great file of fingerprints in the national office.

Guests were Karl Keller, Sheriff Grady Harrist, Ranger Capt. Maney Gault, W. Barten, Herbert Hobson, Cecil Cale, Roy L. Kubbs, all of Lubbock, J. M. Porter, of California, and Rev. Jimmy Bell of Clovis, N. M.

Allies Now Believe Broken Hitler Shot Himself And Eva Took Poison

By RICHARD R. KASISCHKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Nov. 1—Allied investigators today pictured Adolf Hitler as a trembling fuehrer who aged rapidly in the war's last months and then shot himself while his mistress, Eva Braun, was taking poison.

British intelligence officers said it has been proved "as conclusively as possible without bodies" that Hitler and Miss Braun—declared by the Russians to have been Hitler's last-minute bride—committed suicide.

Shot Self In Mouth

The British report said evidence showed Hitler shot himself through the mouth, and that Miss Braun took poison about 2:30 a. m. April 30, in a bunker of the reichschancellory.

"After the suicide," it added "the bodies were taken into a garden just outside the bunker by Goebbels, Bormann and others, drenched with gasoline and burned."

American interrogators released the first reports on questioning of three physicians who attended Hitler from 1934 to 1944. The doctors told Army authorities that Hitler looked his age until 1943, but after that "he gave the appearance of having grown old."

The three doctors questioned were Erwin Geising, an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist; Hans Karl von Hasselbach, who was with Hitler through most of the 10 years, and Karl Brandt, Reichs commissioner for health and on Hitler's personal medical staff until October, 1944.

Orientation Excellent

Summing up phychiatric data gathered in the questioning, the Army report said the trio agreed "that Hitler's orientation was excellent, his memory for events—both near and remote—good. His judgment was good, and, though he was somewhat restless, his attention (power of concentration) always met the needs of the moment."

Contrary to reports in some Allied countries, Hitler apparently had no venereal disease, and was normal sexually.

Some Hates Went Deep

The Army report quoted von Hasselbach as describing Hitler as "emotionally liable," and adding:

"Hitler could hate deeply in some fields, while forgiving almost anything to those he loved."

"Geising notes," said the report, "that the subject (Hitler) believed he was chosen by fate to be the leader of the German people and that he felt his ideas must be carried out even if Germany and her people were destroyed in the process."

Von Hasselbach was quoted as observing "that Hitler's mental endurance was astonishing, and that he loved to be merry and gay. The patient generally appeared to be calm and deliberate, but on occasion he reacted with a vehement attack of anger, which subsided and disappeared quite rapidly. Hitler complained of bad sleep but was not inclined to sleep long hours."

Bomb Attack On Life

The doctors' testimony showed Hitler received only superficial skin wounds in the bomb attempt on his life Aug. 20, 1944.

"No disintegration of personality occurred up to October, 1944," Brandt added. "However, Hitler's actions did become less intelligible after Aug. 20, 1944. It is assumed that a slight commotion of the cerebri occurred after the (bomb) attack, but no signs, such as coma, vomiting or pulse disturbance, were evident."

Federal Aid Is Asked On Housing Situation

DALLAS, Nov. 1 (AP)—Mayor Woodall Rodgers today awaited results from telegrams he sent to President Truman and Texas members of Congress asking federal aid in alleviating Dallas' critical housing shortage.

The telegrams, authorized by resolution of the Dallas city council, called upon Congress to take immediate legislative action to provide 2,000 temporary homes for returned servicemen.

"More than 2,000 returned servicemen and their families are without adequate shelter, as many as four families living in accommodations suitable for one," the telegrams said.

The Dallas housing shortage, brought about by the war, was called Congress' responsibility in the telegrams, which added: "As more men return the situation will become progressively worse. It is already desperate. Private construction cannot remedy this situation; first, because of non-availability of materials, and, second, because the need is immediate."

History Of Oil To Be Written In Oklahoma

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP)—The University of Oklahoma foundation has accepted a $15,000 grant from Standard Oil company (N. J.) to compile a history of oil in the Southwest, Eugene Holman, president of the oil company, announced today. Writing, publication and distribution of the history will be entirely in the hands of the foundation, Holman said.

UNRRA Supply Bill Passed By House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—A $550,000,000 UNRRA supply bill carrying a modified news freedom amendment was passed by the House late today and sent to the Senate.

Passage followed a day of debate as to whether the funds should be denied any nation not giving American newsmen free access to news of UNRRA activities. The news freedom amendment, embodying such a denial, was approved 188 to 168 on a roll call vote.

The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration was set up by the United Nations to provide relief to invaded nations. The United States already has appropriated $800,000,000 to the relief fund and soon may be asked for $1,300,000,000 more.

Funeral Set Today For Bob Sheppard

FORT WORTH, Nov. 1. (AP)—Funeral services will be held at McGregor tomorrow for Robert W. (Bob) Sheppard, 63, oil operator and former assistant secretary of the Fort Worth baseball club.

Sheppard died in a Fort Worth hospital early Wednesday after an operation ten days ago.

Although he had had no official connection with baseball for more than 20 years, Sheppard had a wide acquaintanceship in the game. A close friend of the late Paul La Grave, who headed the Cats during their record pennant sway in the early '30s, Sheppard once acted as assistant business manager of the club. Burial will be in Waco.

Gallup Poll Shows "He's Doing All Right"

Truman Continues Popularity With Rank-And-File In U. S.

PRINCETON, N. J. — President Truman's popularity with American voters is somewhat lower than it was a few months ago, but he continues to hold the approval of a vast majority.

In spite of slow progress in international affairs and some criticism of the White House for its economic and labor policies, more than eight in every 10 voters from coast to coast approve of the way Mr. Truman is handling his job as president.

The latest test of presidential popularity was conducted by the Institute on the question:

"Do you approve or disapprove of the way Truman is handling his job as president?"

The vote today, and a comparison with a similar poll taken last July, follows:

	Today	July
Approve	87%	87%
Disapprove	3	3
No Opinion	9	10

One important explanation of Mr. Truman's popularity is that the majority of American voters believe he is following a middle-of-the-road policy and want him to do just that, a poll in early September showed.

While today's survey was measuring Mr. Truman's popularity here, the British Institute of Public Opinion (British Gallup Poll) was conducting a test of the popularity of Britain's new chief executive, Prime Minister Clement Attlee. Mr. Attlee came to power as Winston Churchill's successor approximately three and a half months after Mr. Truman succeeded President Roosevelt in the White House.

The new British prime minister seems to have less unified support in his country than Mr. Truman does here, as the following indicates:

"Do you approve or disapprove of Mr. Attlee as prime minister?"

POLL IN BRITAIN

Approve	66%
Disapprove	19
No Opinion	15

Winston Churchill during the days of his greatest popularity stood as high as 90 per cent in British polls. President Roosevelt's highest point in American polls which began in 1935 was 84 per cent in January, 1942, shortly after the Pearl Harbor disaster had rallied the nation behind the Administration.

Of course, the Truman figure in today's poll does not mean that if he were running for reelection he would receive 82 per cent of the vote, or anything near it. The survey is merely a test of general attitude without reference to partisan considerations, or the strict adherence to party lines found during election campaigns. The last poll on presidential preference, in early August, found 58 per cent of the voters favoring the Democratic party for 1948.

The attitude of 1944 Roosevelt voters and Dewey voters toward Mr. Truman's work in office is as follows in today's survey:

	1944 Roosevelt Voters	Dewey Voters
Approve	88%	75%
Disapprove	5	14
No Opinion	7	11

However, the Dewey voters show less regard for Mr. Truman now than they did four months ago. At that time the vote of approval in the poll was 89 per cent among Dewey voters, as compared to 75 per cent today. The Democratic figure of 88 per cent has remained unchanged.

JOBS OUTNUMBER TAKERS

DALLAS, Nov. 1. (AP)—A total of 2,844 jobs were listed with the U. S. Employment service as of last Saturday compared with 12,088 applications for jobs, Orville Erringer, area War Manpower commission director, said today.

Over 250,000 Texans Granted Discharges

DALLAS, Nov. 1. (AP)—Of the 750,000 Texas men and women who served in the armed forces, more than 250,000 have been discharged, according to Lt. Col. Paul L. Wakefield, chief of the veterans division, state Selective Service headquarters.

Pointing out that this is approximately 10 per cent of the total for the nation, Wakefield said that the high rate of discharged Texans over other states may be explained by the fact that the number of voluntary enlistments in Texas exceeded the quotas assigned by the War department.

"Naturally, at the close of the war these Texans had high point preference for discharge," he said. "It may be in order to mention here, he said, that the medals accumulated by the Texans for valor in battle, which added points to their length of service score, brought them home earlier."

Loans To Brokers Shown On Increase

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—The Federal Reserve board reported today that loans to brokers and dealers on securities held by member banks in New York City totaled $1,676,000,000 yesterday, an increase of $126,000,000 from a week ago, and an increase of $267,000,000 from a year ago.

Included is $1,041,000,000 loaned to purchase or carry United States government obligations, an increase of $102,000,000 for the week.

Gallant Carrier "Big E" Given Place In Navy's Hall Of Fame

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (U.P.)—The aircraft carrier Enterprise, gallant veteran of the Pacific, was assigned her place today beside "Old Ironsides" and other famous ships preserved as symbols of "American valor and tenacity in war."

The Navy revealed that President Truman had authorized preservation of the "Big E" so she could join the naval hall of fame alongside the Constitution, Constellation, Hartford and Olympia.

The gallant old carrier, which received more hits than any other ship of her kind during the war, was at one time the only U. S. carrier operating against the Japanese.

Forrestal's Letter

Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal in a letter requesting Mr. Truman's approval, told the president:

"Time has accomplished what the enemy failed to do in four years of desperate and costly effort, the Enterprise must be taken out of service because modern planes cannot be flown in combat from her flight deck.

"The men who have fought with her love this ship. It would grieve me to put my name to the documents which would consign her to be broken up for scrap.

"I believe that the Enterprise should be retained permanently at some proper place as a visible symbol of American valor and tenacity in war, and of our will to fight all enemies who assail us."

Most Nearly Symbolic

The secretary told a recent press conference that the Enterprise "should be made available for preservation as the one ship that most nearly symbolizes and carries with it the history of the Navy in this war." The "Big E" participated in nearly every major engagement and invasion and was seriously damaged six times.

The Enterprise was Rear Adm. Frederick C. Sherman's flagship in task force 62. It will be converted temporarily as a troop carrier for service in the Atlantic.

Eisenhower Planning Civilian Government

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (U.P.) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who wants a civil authority in the American zone of Germany by June 1, already is shaping his military government toward a civilian administration.

Commencing in August, the Civil Affairs division of the War department began sending civilian personnel to the American zone. Moreover, starting last summer, Army personnel in the military government were offered opportunities to come home on furlough and then return to Germany, be discharged and resume their duties in civilian capacity.

At the peak there were about 15,000 military government personnel in Europe. As local government functions are gradually returned to the Germans, the number of military government personnel is being cut.

Although an increasing proportion of the military government personnel will be civilian government of the American zone will continue under the Army until President Truman designates some new agency to take over. The civilian staff now being built up under the Army presumably would be shifted to the new agency.

Mr. Truman made public yesterday a letter from Eisenhower urging that a civil authority be set up in the U. S. zone by June 1. The President said he agreed and that he would take it up with other occupying Allied powers.

Even if the administrative shift is made, the Army would stay on the job with its occupation troops until such time as the Allies decide they can safely be withdrawn. That is not expected for many years.

HST Urged To Adjust Oil Industry Wages

FORT WORTH, Nov. 1. (U.P.)—President O. A. Knight of the Oil Workers International Union (CIO) called upon President Truman today to use his office to adjust wage disputes in the oil industry.

If the president fails to act soon, Knight said in a statement, "the federal government will be guilty of strike-breaking activities."

Referring to the recent strikes of oil workers throughout the Texas Gulf Coast refinery belt and elsewhere, Knight claimed that the disputes would have by now been settled on terms agreeable to both labor and management had not the president "broken the strike through Navy seizure" of the plants.

Knight asserted that his union agreed to Navy control of the strikebound refineries "with the understanding that machinery would be set up to adjust the basic wage dispute." The union staged its nationwide strike to back its demands for a 30 per cent wage hike. Conciliation efforts failed. The Navy then took over.

Since that time, Knight continued, "no serious effort has been made to set up" wage adjustment machinery.

Rocket Travel From New York To London May Become Reality

LONDON, Nov. 1. (AP)—Winged rockets equipped with a special 100-ton booster mechanism, will be able to travel from New York to London in less than an hour if current experiments develop successfully, W. G. A. Perring told the Royal Aeronoutical society tonight.

The British aeronautic expert said that rocket ranges of 1,500 to 3,000 miles "now appeared to be possible."

"Flight at over 8,000 miles an hour is contemplated," he said.

Addition of wings to rockets has raised the current ranges from about 180 to 350 miles, Perring reported. "Even more striking," he added, is the effect of boosters which the Germans were developing after early rocket failures.

"However, I do not want to minimize the difficulties of this problem," he said. "As yet practically nothing is known about control at these speeds, nor of difficulties that will be encountered in passing through the speed of sound."

Westerners Face Big Test In Brownfield Tilt Tonight

The District 1-AA cellar will be waiting for the loser tonight in the conference game scheduled for Tech stadium at 8:15 o'clock between the Lubbock Westerners and Brownfield Cubs.

Fighting to escape the basement dwelling assignment, the Lubbock eleven will face one of the roughest tests of the season tonight as they seek to break a losing streak that has extended over three games in a row, two of them conference affairs.

Brownfield has shown a potent attack most of the season, but encountered a couple of setbacks in league play. The team is still undefeated outside of league play, but lost to Amarillo and Pampa. Lubbock's league losses were to Borger and Plainview.

Records of Teams

Brownfield opened the season with a 44 to 0 victory over Slaton, then nosed out Lamesa, 12 to 9. The Cubs again showed a potent attack in outscoring a rugged Levelland club, 33 to 18. The Cubs then went into conference play with an unbeaten record, only to be topped by Amarillo, 42 to 6. The Cubs bounced back to beat a strong Hobbs, N. M., eleven, 12 to 6, then went down before Pampa, 25 to 0, for a record of four wins and two losses.

Lubbock opened the season with a 26 to 7 loss to the potent Odessa club, then tied the San Angelo Bobcats, 13 to 13. The club seemed to start clicking, and rolled over Big Spring, 27 to 0, and thumped Lamesa, 25 to 6.

But just as the club seemed to be getting started, it went into a tailspin, and losses followed to Borger, Abilene and Plainview in that order, and by scores of 21-19, 12-6 and 13-7, respectively. This left the Westerners a season's record of two wins, one tie and four losses.

Westerners Ready

Lubbock will go into the game in top shape, and ready to give a good account of themselves. Two regulars have been on the sideline all this week, but are expected to be ready to go tonight. They are George Brewer, ace ball carrier and top scorer, and Stoney Wall, first string guard.

There has been no reports coming from the Brownfield quarters, but the Cubs are expected to roll into Lubbock tonight in top shape, and hopes are running high in the Terry county town that the Cubs will tack another loss to the Westerner string.

Brownfield is reported to have a potent running attack, and Lubbock has proven they have a good ground game, which would indicate that fans are due to see a hard fought, but pretty well earth-bound battle.

Fans Follow Cubs

Interest has been running so high in Brownfield, that an additional 100 student tickets for the game was ordered, and the Brownfield band will follow the team to Lubbock. It is indicated that at least 400 students from Brownfield will be here tonight.

E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey, athletic director of Lubbock schools, said last night that ticket sales have been brisk at his office in the senior high school building, and that a big crowd was in prospect for the battle.

The only other District 1-AA teams in action in the district tonight will be at Borger, where the pass minded Plainview Bulldogs and the hard running Borger Bulldogs are lined up for a "dog fight."

Dupre Dogies Nose Out Hunt Pioneers

Roundly outplayed on the field, the Dupre Dogies struck from behind in the closing minutes of their grade school touch football game with the Hunt Pioneers Thursday afternoon at Dupre field, and eked out a 7 to 6 victory.

The Pioneers pushed the Dogies around through three quarters, and in the last two minutes started driving down the field, getting a score on a short pass from J. R. Bradford to Tommy Elliott. The try for extra point failed.

Dupre took the following kickoff, and stormed back. Marching to the Pioneer 15 yard line, Billy Tatum connected with Dick Lowrey with a short pass, and Lowrey stormed over the goal line. Lowrey then roamed out into the flat to take Tatum's pass again, and step over for the winning extra point.

KIMBROUGH LEAVES CLUB

WACO, Nov. 2 (AP)—Coach Frank Kimbrough of Baylor university has returned to his Navy post in Florida and will not be with the team this week when it plays Southwestern university.

However, Kimbrough expects to get his discharge from the service immediately and hopes to be back with the Bears next Tuesday.

Red Raiders On Way To Houston

MASON, Nov. 1 (Special)—Texas Tech's Red Raiders rolled into this little city, and gave railbirds a big treat this afternoon with a brisk workout before bedding down for the night.

The Red Raiders broke their long trip to Houston by the stopover here, and will continue on tomorrow in time to reach Houston for a final limbering up before Saturday afternoon's game with the surprising Rice Owls of the Southwest Conference.

Coach Dell Morgan put the Red Raiders through a rugged drill here, and expressed hopes that all his regulars, except J. E. Branton, would be ready to start against the Owls. Branton was injured in the Texas game, and has not seen any action since.

Walt Schlinkman, the Dumas Dynmiter, is expected to be back in the starting lineup, and reported that his injured shoulder was showing much improvement.

Arthur Shahan, veteran back from Graham, is expected to start his first game since the Texas Aggie game in late September, with Cecil Norris and Gene Hardey, two more veterans, expected to complete the starting backfield.

The line is expected to be intact, with Co-Captain Otis Turner at center, Floyd Lawhorn and Russell Birdwell at guards, Doug McShane and Bernie Winkler at tackles, and R. W. Moyers and Billy Kelley at ends.

District Tilts Are State Grid Feature

(By The Associated Press)

There are no interdistrict games matching top-rated teams and the undefeated, untied ranks are not due to be thinned but some of the most important conference battles of the year are scheduled in Texas schoolboy football.

All along the line the district races will tighten up and favorites will be more pronounced after this week's round.

South Texas takes most of the play with crucial struggles scheduled at Houston and San Antonio.

In the Houston district pacesetting Milby, unbeaten and untied, clashes with John Reagan, also undefeated but once tied in conference play.

Austin's Maroons journey to San Antonio to tackle tough Thomas Jefferson while Corpus Christi meets Brackenridge. If Austin and Corpus can hurdle these barriers they will be ready to battle it out for the district crown.

Goose Creek's Ganders, one of the top-ranking teams of the state, play Port Arthur in an important District 14 game. Port Arthur has lost a game but still is a rugged foe for the Ganders.

Forty-two games are on the schedule over the state for Friday and Saturday.

Meadow Eleven Set For Petersburg Tilt

PETERSBURG, Nov. 1 (Special)—Meadow's undefeated Class B grid power will thunder into this city tonight to try to ride herd on Coach Bud Dean's Petersburg Buffaloes in the Class B feature of the area. Kickoff is at 7:30 o'clock.

Meadow has been rolling smoothly over a period of the past two years, and has never dipped its colors in defeat before a district rival in those two seasons. Meadow already wears the crown for the south half title in District 1-B, and is awaiting the playoff battle with Hale Center.

The major question to be answered by the game will be whether the rock ribbed Petersburg defense will be able to stop the potent goalward thrusts of the high geared Meadow club, and a big crowd is expected to be on hand to see the answer.

Another Class B tilt on the schedule tonight that will be closely watched will find the powerful Abernathy Antelopes moving into Plainview to battle the Plainview B team.

Crosbyton Club Faces Big Test

CROSBYTON, Nov. 1. (Special)—Spur's Bulldogs, undefeated in conference 4-A play this season, present the Crosbyton Chiefs with their toughest conference opposition to date Friday night in Spur. The Chiefs are also undefeated in league play and along with Spur and Floydada are at the top of the conference heap.

Each of the two teams meeting on Bulldog field tomorrow night have won three games in league play and the game is rated a toss-up, figured on the comparative basis.

Crosbyton opened up their year with a 24-0 win over Idalou and then followed up with a 19-0 trouncing of Matador. The Spur eleven took the Matador team to a 14-0 victory.

Crosbyton won over Lockney 13 to 6 and then last week came to their season's peak to whip a supposedly good Paducah team 38 to 0.

Spur also encountered trouble with the tough Lockney eleven in a strictly offensive game, finally winning 34 to 26. In their other conference battle the Bulldogs whipped Ralls 24 to 0.

Crosbyton is pinning its hopes on the performances of big Lawrence Simmons, 185-pound full back, and Jack Jones, 155-pound speed merchant half. Simmons has found little difficulty in pounding out regular gains over other opposition and Jones has been carrying a large share of the heavy work in games to date.

Crosbyton will play Ralls Nov. 9 and Floydada Nov. 16 to round out their conference schedule. Hopes are high in this city for the Nov. game to be the championship bout and only Spur is rated a chance at stopping the Chiefs, who have just resumed football after a two-year holiday.

Elsewhere in the district tonight there will be two league battles on the program. Lockney will play at Floydada, while Ralls will journey to Paducah for another league encounter.

Cowboys' Purple Sock Petersburg, 40 To 6

Coach Roy Morris' Cowboys Purple turned on the power Thursday afternoon at Petersburg, and romped to a 40 to 6 victory over the Petersburg Juniors.

Stroud struck for the first Cowboy touchdown, stampeding 45 yards for pay dirt in the first quarter. Later in the same period, Carpenter broke away for a 30 yard gallop to score.

Rolling up yardage with a relentlessly driving ground attack, the Cowboys scored twice more in the second quarter, with Bantz going over for the touchdowns on short plunges.

Dupre scored for Petersburg in the second quarter, breaking through the line to roam 50 yards for the score.

Bantz smashed over the double stripe again in the third quarter, and Stroud scored on another 30 yard run in the final period. Bantz smashed over for four extra points to account for more than half of the Lubbock scores.

Lions Club Bowlers Sweep Three In Row

The Lions club bowling five registered the only clean sweep of the Civic Bowling league play Thursday night at the Lubbock Bowling club lanes, sweeping three straight over the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

In other games on the program, Levine's Scouts won two over the Kiwanis, the Optimists won a pair from the Rotary club and the Jaycees downed the American Legion twice.

Scoring honors of the night were divided individually, but hogged by Levine bowlers. Young toppled 222 pins for the best single game of the night, while his teammate, Welch, had the best series with 553 pins.

Class A Spotlight On Ballinger Tilt

Giants of the Class A gridworld, the Littlefield Wildcats and the Ballinger Bearcats, will tangle tonight at Ballinger in a game that is headlined over the state as the battle of the year.

Littlefield is comparatively new to the Class A picture of great teams, while the legend of the Bearcats runs back over a span of many years. Not since 1940 has Ballinger failed to gain the final round of regional play, and only once has the team been beaten by a Class T team in that time, this was the stunning upset last season when Ballinger fell in the regional finals to Seymour, 13-7.

Both Lost Final

On the same day that Ballinger was losing to Seymour, Littlefield had a ten game winning streak snapped by Merkel, 24 to 14 in the regional finals.

The two teams meet tonight with Littlefield undefeated and untied, while Ballinger was beaten by Class AA Abilene, 13 to 0, but has won five other games. Littlefield has won seven in a row.

Both are high scoring ball clubs, and plenty of fur is due to fly tonight as these grid powers meet headon.

Littlefield will take an all-veteran line to Ballinger. Behind this stone wall will be working a veteran backfield, paced by the pitching arm of Billy Lyman, one of West Texas' best passers, and the pounding feet of Walter Sewell, 192 pound fullback, and diminutive halfback, Oscar Arend.

Rock Ribbed Line

The line, all of them veterans of last year, will find Sidney Buell at center, Foy Bell and Charles Pharris at guards, Co-captain Sabin Henrickson and Dal Brandon at tackles, and Buster Owens and Gene McCanlies at ends.

The remaining starter is Junior Graham, who has been one of the outstanding blocking backs in West Texas for the past two seasons.

The Wildcats have plenty of seasoned performers to shove into a game to rest the starters, and will be in top shape for the clash with Ballinger.

Other Area Games

Other games over the area are dwarfed by the clash at Ballinger, but league play dominates the rest of the schedule in both Class A districts.

In Littlefield's own district, the top game of the week will be the league clash at Sudan, where the undefeated, untied Hornets tangle with the powerful Levelland Lobos. But for the Ballinger clash, this game would rate the top billing of the day.

Olton will invade Morton for another conference tilt in District 5-A, and round out the district schedule.

District 6-A will offer a full conference slate of four games, all of them about evenly rated as to importance. The league leading Denver City Mustangs invade Seagraves, favored to drive another nail into the district title structure.

Other games will send the revamped Tahoka Bulldogs to Seminole, Post will play at Sundown and O'Donnell will invade Slaton.

Duck Hunting Opens In West Texas Area

The starting time is 7:07 a. m., and today is the day.

Several hundred hunters from the Lubbock area will unlimber their blunderbusses from the blinds and start shooting for their limit in the wily ducks where ever they can find water and shells.

The starting of the duck hunting season in Texas, which will extend until sunset on Jan. 20, will be hampered by the lack of shells, but certainly not by the lack of interest among the hunters.

No Shells Available

Local sporting goods houses have been swamped with calls for shells, but have been unable to meet the demand. Some stores report there have been no shells on the shelves for more than 30 days, and the only chance for shells are government release of No. 8 shot, which certainly isn't the best shell for duck hunter, but more for the hunter of smaller birds.

There are some lucky ones who have been able to store up shells for this gala day, and those boys will be in the blinds when Old Sol peeps over the horizon this morning. Perhaps the majority of the would-be hunters, however, will not be able to go out today.

Ducks Reported Plentiful

Reports from throughout the area has indicated that ducks have been coming in for several days, and that the feathered flocks will be plentiful this year.

Another cause of woe for the hunter this year will be the lack of water holes. The dry summer has left many of the "old standby holes" dry and unattractive—to ducks. But those who have found water will stand a good chance of finding ducks.

The limit is ten ducks, which can include one wood duck. No rifles can be used for hunting of ducks, and all hunting outside their home county, must have Texas hunting license.

LUCKMAN BENCHED

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 (U.P.)—Sid Luckman, whose passing wizardy and brainy signal calling made the Chicago Bears football's greatest T-formation team, was benched today as Coach Hunk Anderson tried to shake the skidding Bears out of their record-setting losing streak of five games.

GALVESTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—One man has been arrested and another one is sought in connection with the mysterious death in Galveston of William Wilson Wolf of Alvin, Tex.

Wolf's body was found at the foot of the seawall near the Galveston county fishing pier early Wednesday morning. Justice of the Peace James L. McKenna said the identity was established through a cash sales receipt through which Galveston police were able to trace the dead man's family in Alvin. There was no other identification.

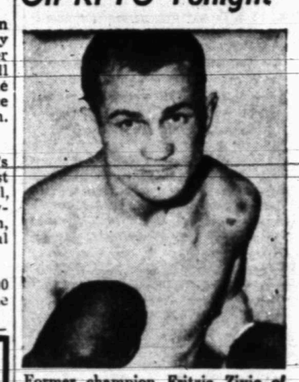

Justice McKenna returned an inquest verdict of death due to a fall or by being struck by a broad object with homicidal intent.

No charges have been filed.

Several Parties Helping Confuse Tense Political Setup In China

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1—What is a Chinese Communist?

That term is being used freely in headline dispatches from China, headlines that speak of civil war among a fifth of the human race.

A lot of people have tried to define Chinese Communism in the past, and a good many have wound up glaring at each other across ideological fences. Perhaps it might be helpful now, not to attempt another definition, but to try to list some of the people bearings arms in China (who may be anything from hold-up artists to college professors) and who get called by that loose term, "Chinese Communists."

WHITE

Much depends upon who does the calling.

Legitimately falling under this term are the two main groups of the Red fighting forces. They are: 1) The so-called 8th Route Army (Pa-Lu Chun) but more properly designated as the 18th Group Army. This outfit defends the main Red base at Yenan, Shensi province, and has branch groups operating in other areas of North China.

Charges Made By Both

And 2) The new Fourth Route Army, which has been operating along the Yangtze river and now is said to be withdrawing to the north of that river according to a recent agreement with Chungking. This movement, however, has been accompanied by charges from both Yenan and Chungking that their respective armies have been attacked by the other.

Besides the main Red base at Yenan, there are other Red bases, mostly in North China, but with some in Manchuria and one as far south as the vicinity of Canton, which claim to be Communist and which are affiliated politically with Yenan.

Often Only Authority

All these forces have operated in supposedly Japanese-held territory and in many cases have become the only authority within tax-paying distance of the local population.

Not that the people yearn to pay taxes. They don't. But taxes and the possibility of collecting them attract Chinese with empty pockets, and the result is that in some areas gangs of bandits, both amateur and professional, have tried to pass themselves off as Reds. Others of the same stripe have operated as self-appointed agents of the Chungking government.

The Chinese peasant farmer is caught squarely in the center of this mess and does what he can to placate whatever group happens to be kicking him around at the time.

Puppet Rulers Also Active

If this picture were not already enough confused, Japanese occupied areas also contain large numbers of puppet Chinese troops who may have collaborated behind Japanese backs with either or both Chungking and the Reds at times.

Nominally loyal to Chungking, by the way, are such regional warlord outfits as the Shansi provincial army of General Yen Hsi-Shan. In the past they have been loyal to Chungking according to circumstances and their judgment at the time. Recently, according to General Yen, they have been fighting the Reds. Yen helped to lead an abortive revolt against Chiang-Kai-Shek in 1931, fought a little against the Japanese in 1937, and since then has been living quietly in a secluded cave village in close and relatively peaceful proximity to the Japanese.

All this gives us three terms—"Communists," "Bandits," and "Central Government troops"—which may vary in meaning in the news, depending upon who says what they are.

Continuation Of Low Grade Cotton Subsidy In Insulation Urged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—Continued support by the Commodity Credit corporation for a program utilizing inferior, short staple loan cotton for insulating material was sought today by Oliver P. Harris, Taylor, Tex., manufacturer.

The CCC at present is selling its low grade cotton at nine cents a pound below the regular market price of 23.4 cents for middling, 15/16 inch staple to concerns which convert it into fire-resistant insulation.

Rep. Poage (D-Tex), with whom Harris conferred, said the government agency is considering discontinuance of the discount beginning July 1, 1946, but that a final decision will be withheld pending study of a counter-plan suggested by Harris.

As outlined by Poage, Harris' proposal provides that the CCC during the fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1946, offer its low grade cotton for sale at a discount of 7½ cents a pound, if processed into insulation; that the discount be reduced to 6½ cents the following year, and another cent each succeeding year until no price advantage remained.

"The benefit of such a discount," commented Poage, "is that it provides a market for this short staple cotton the government can't otherwise sell.

"I am told by Harris that he and the other manufacturers of cotton insulation feel that by the time the graduated discount rate scale has run its course their new industry will be on its feet and can pay the full market price for the grade of fiber they need."

Last year 120,000 bales of the lowest grades of the government-owned cotton, acquired under the CCC loan program, went into the manufacture of insulation, said Poage.

Settlement Reached In Houston Strike

HOUSTON, Nov. 1 (AP) — A strike of warehouse clerks and checkers which has tied up the port of Houston for ten days ended today.

The workers, affiliated with AFL's International Longshoremen, sought a new contract calling for a wage increase.

Conciliator Joseph S. Myers and union officials ordered picketing to cease at 3 p. m.

Shipping had been at a standstill because longshoremen refused to cross picket lines.

Wages And Prices

Some industries could afford more, some not so much."

The auto industry, it was stated, is among the better situated groups. "Fifteen per cent can be granted without adverse results in the first post-war year of restricted operations, and a further increase of 10 per cent can be given for 1947 when production will have reached peak rates."

Of industry generally the bureau said: "A much higher wage income will have to be secured if demand is to be sufficient to produce full employment by 1948.

The report was not released for publication, but its contents "leaked" in much the same manner that a similar report prepared by Snyder's staff in the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion became public last week. De Lacy used the OWMR report in his House speech.

Expected Sales Increase

The Commerce bureau said its estimate of automobile industry profits three times larger than those of 1936-39 was based on expected sales 2½ times as large.

Prices at the 1942 level, it was held, would yield profits even at low volume of output and the high costs of wages and materials assumed in 1947. Profits would be made even at a production rate of 2,000,000 cars annually, about half the pre-war volume, it was stated.

Bowles, in a statement, said the wage-price policy laid down by Mr. Truman Tuesday was "one more indication of our determination to hold the price line against inflation."

favored.

The Nimitz and MacArthur testimony along with that of more than 60 other top Army and Navy leaders was taken by a special committee of the joint chiefs of state. This group recommended plans for a single armed forces agency and senators had asked a copy of that report. Instead the committee received the complete testimony on which the staff study was based.

General MacArthur said there should be a "complete amalgamation of the various fighting forces."

"I believe they should wear the same uniform," the report said. "I believe they should be one family instead of three."

All-Round Training

MacArthur said that future war leaders must not be trained simply on air, land or sea tactics but must have a grasp of all three.

"The military character of a soldier, a sailor or a Marine should be molded along the same lines," he added. "You don't get unity of command simply by having a sole man placed in command of three branches."

Admiral Nimitz favored unity of the armed forces when questioned at Pearl Harbor December 8, 1944.

"I favor a single civilian secretary of armed forces," he said, "with complete elimination of civilian secretaries for the Army, for the Navy, and for the Air Force, with the idea of reducing any tendency to separatism."

The admiral warned that any change in this direction should come slowly because there is a large "civilian staff" and "if you move too fast, they are going to block you."

cided upon a "national plan" of air transport services, it has been "so framed that it can be fitted into any scheme of commonwealth or international organization which may be subsequently promoted."

Lord Winster told the lords he did not intend that civil aviation "shall be conducted by one monopoly corporation."

Majority Leader Herbert Morrison also said in Commons during the day that the government would use both "private and state-owned" capacity for munitions production "as the circumstances may require," but said the government would insist upon the right to examine costs of private manufacturers.

Plane number four, commanded by Maj. John C. Cox, jr., of Seattle, was the second to arrive, touching down at 7:42 p.m. (CST). It created some excitement when a couple of tires blew out near the end of its landing run, and attracted the airport's crash and fire equipment.

The third plane in was only a minute behind Maj. Cox. It was commanded by Maj. Chester M. Wells, jr., of Decatur, Miss. The fourth plane, commanded by Col. Kenneth O. Sanborn, of Annapolis, Md., landed about half an hour after the other three.

Sanborn had flown a bit more conservatively because during a large part of the trip it was intended that he should attempt to continue on to Puerto Rico. The plan was abandoned while the planes were over Canada. His plane still had about 900 gallons of fuel when it landed.

The United Kingdom produced 70 per cent of all the munitions, supplies and equipment used by the armed forces of the British Commonwealth and Empire during World War II.

International Danger In China

WHAT is happening now in China is of utmost concern to the United States.

Our fate in the Pacific is closely tied up with the fate of China. A strong, unified China is one of the main objectives of our foreign policy. And it it intended as one of the mighty pillars of the new world which we are trying to build in the Far East.

Ours is a personal concern, too, for 60,000 U. S. Marines are stationed in China in areas which the Commuists would like to take over. This has led the Communists to charge that the U. S. is interfering in an internal disturbance in which she has no business.

The official U. S. explanation is that presence of American troops in China is solely for the purpose of helping disarm the Japanese and send them back to their homeland. This country is supposed to be following a "hands off" policy.

But the fact remains that, since the end of the war against Japan, the United States has openly supported Chiang Kai-Shek's Central government as opposed to Mao Tse-Tung's Communist forces. The Americans have taken control of certain Chinese ports to keep them out of the hands of Communists, and have provided Chiang's troops with plane transportation in order that they might reach formerly Jap-held territories before the resurgents.

Though these actions might be classified, in effect, as direct participation in China's "undeclared civil war," they are the type, it seems, which the United States could pass off to the Communists as a necessary part of the job of cleaning out the Japs and maintaining some sort of order in sectors where the Nips once held sway. At any rate, they are steps which the U. S. would have been foolish not to take in view of its vital interests in China.

It is tragic that China's hard-pressed millions, having passed through years of terrible strife with Japan, should, at this stage, be victims of Red aggression.

The Central government possibly might settle the issue by bringing to bear the full force of its power. Some informed observers say Chiang might accomplish a coup inside of six months. However, by doing so, the Central government might court intervention by Russia on behalf of the Communists and a subsequent new source of trouble among the great powers.

It seems that the situation calls for careful mediation by China's fellow members of the "Big Four," Great Britain and Russia as well as of the United States.

Einstein's Suggestion

DR. ALBERT EINSTEIN, the great German-born scientist, envisions a globe incurably cursed with wars if it does not turn to a world government.

In an article in the November issue of the Atlantic monthly, Dr. Einstein speculates on the future with particular reference to the atomic bomb.

"As long as there are sovereign nations possessing great power, war is is inevitable," he declares. "That statement is not an attempt to say when war will come, but only that it is sure to come. That fact was true before the atomic bomb was made. What has been changed is the destructiveness of war."

Dr. Einstein is against giving the bomb secret to the United Nations organization or to the Soviet union. He proposes, instead, that the secret be committed to a world government, which he urges be founded at once by the United States, Russia and Great Britain.

As a good-will gesture, he suggests that Russia be invited to draw up the first draft of a world constitution. After the great powers have drawn up and adopted the constitution, he would have the smaller nations invited to join the World government.

Dr. Einstein's government would be supreme on all military matters and have one further power, the authority to intervene in countries where a minority is oppressing a majority.

He does not believe that it is necessary, in organizing a world government, to change the political structure of the three great powers. Russia, for instance, could retain her present system of government.

Dr. Einstein grants that a world government might prove tyrannical. But he has greater fear of another war with its intensified destructiveness.

Dr. Einstein asserts his belief that civilization will not be wiped out in a war fought with the atomic bomb. But he goes on to say, "Perhaps two thirds of the people of the earth might be killed, but enough men capable of thinking, and enough books, would be left to start again, and civilization could be restored."

He says that it will be a long time before atomic energy can be of benefit to mankind; that at present, it is only a menace. "Perhaps it is well that it is a menace," he concludes. "It may intimidate the human race into bringing order into its international affairs, which, without the pressure of fear, it would not do."

APARTMENT IN PARIS
XIX

After stopping in Paris, I crossed again to Buenos Aires. The season with Michaillovitch was successful but not as exciting as the one before in which I had founded my own company. After eight months I began to feel a little disgusted with the type of show I was doing—it had been "pot-boiling," and I knew it and wanted to work at something for my own satisfaction. So I headed back for Paris.

I had long dreamed of taking an apartment with mother, and had even written to her from South America about it—explaining how I proposed to rent and keep it up, providing she would live there with me and share expenses. She had agreed to everything I had suggested, and I now set out to look for one.

After searching the entire city in the company of an impressive personage from "l'Agence d'Immeubles," with a silky black beard, a briefcase, and an umbrella, at last I found what I wanted on the Avenue de Bois du Boulogne, now called the Avenue de Marechal Foch, a stone's throw from the Bois and the Port-Dauphin. It was a large apartment opening on its own tiny garden with a gate leading into the street behind, and next to a garage. There was a delightful round room for mother and her piano, with another enormous salon for my own work. The whole place was ideal.

Mother wrote from Vienna that the place sounded wonderful in every respect, and she would be looking forward to living there. I immediately signed the lease and started looking for furniture. Then, without warning, came a letter from my brother that worried me very much.

He begged me to come at once to Austria, for he had received some disturbing news about mother's health from the doctor. In spite of this, she insisted on running about with some operatic people who were trying to promote a company of Swedish operas.

• • •

When I spoke to her about her health, contrary to other occasions when she had complained so bitterly about it, she would not discuss it or give me any idea of what the doctor had told her. I saw clearly that she suspected me of having come to Salzburg for the express purpose of preventing her from getting involved with any more engagements that might require traveling. I told her plainly that I expected her to take life quietly and live in the apartment I had worked so hard to acquire, where she could have proper rest and comfort and sing in concert or at the Opera Comique—work that I felt would not harm her health. But it was not until the fourth of June that I finally managed to get her started for Paris.

In the meantime, I had received a letter from by beautiful little cousin, Pepita. She was in Paris and broke, having got herself into a series of difficulties. She had been working at the Coliseum in London with the Diaghilev company but did not tell me how she came to be without a job. When we arrived in Paris, there she was—installed at our hotel!

I took Pepita with me to the half-empty apartment and made her understand that for once in her lazy young life she was going to earn her board bill and help me get the place finished so that mother could move in at the end of the week. This we did successfully, and the apartment looked lovely. I filled every corner with mother's favorite flowers —lillies of the valley and bowls of big pink roses. Then I went flying to the hotel to fetch her.

Everything was packed when I got there, and Marie was just closing her trunks—but not to come to the Avenue du Bois! Mother was leaving for London on the 2 o'clock plane from Le Bourget, to commence rehearsals with the Swedish Opera. Before leaving Salzburg she had signed a contract with them to tour the United States.

• • •

I walked slowly back to the Avenue du Bois, trying to formulate plans. There was no clause in the lease I had signed permitting me to sublet, and anyway it was not completely furnished as yet, so that possibility was out of the question.

I would have to get back to work as soon as possible.

I had a letter from the dancer Marcel Idzikowski, recommending that I get in touch with the agents Howell and Baud on the Rue de la Paix. They were reputed to be the best agents in Paris at the moment, taking only acts that they were satisfied could keep working steadily and that were up to their standards. I found them to be an interesting study in contrasts. Howell was a little English cockney who looked like a jockey, and Monsieur Georges Baud was a replica of the miniatures of the Cardinal de Rohan in the Hotel de Sevres. I have never seen such dignity and old-world courtesy: I very nearly expected him to whip out a lace handkerchief and take a pinch of snuff as we talked. Almost apologetically he asked for an audition, and after seeing me work, offered to procure my engagements if I would build some dances in the acrobatic style so much sought after at the moment.

Two days later he called me to his office to sign a contract with the big German Circus Busche playing a three-month route through Budapest, Vienna, Munich, Zurich, Frankfurt, Breslau, Hamburg, and Stockholm.

Politics Also Play Part In Getting House

AUSTIN, Nov. 1. (U.P.) — An Austin morning newspaper carried this advertisement:

"Roosevelt-Rainey Democrat, veteran, Baptist, in university law school, needs three room apartment. My baby is not a criminal."

Three Connecticut soldiers in the American Revolution were the first to win the Purple Heart medal.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

TWO MEN are in jail today over a plate of beans.

One of them went to a Brooklyn restaurant and asked for an order of beans. When they were served the dish was cold and the man asked for another.

The second portion was served and it, too, was cold. The man then asked for a piece of pie and a cup of coffee to take the place of the beans, but the waiter refused.

First came fiery words, then a fistfight, a bloody nose, broken dishes, the police—and jail.

BRANDEIS

Both the customer and the waiter are awaiting trial on charges and counter-charges of disorderly conduct and assault and battery.

Maybe you'll say that both the patron and the waiter were very foolish.

"Why do they have to fight about something so trivial as a plate of beans?" you'll ask.

And yet haven't you ever lost your temper over something just as trivial?

Haven't you ever lost a friend over some little grievance that really didn't amount to anything in the first place but grew and grew in importance and in bitterness until a perfectly good friendship was broken up forever?

• • •

Here we are just over the greatest and most awful war in history. Everything should be harmony and friendship among us allies who suffered so much together and who had a common purpose while it lasted.

But we sit down together at the peace table and the beans are cold.

Maybe we'll try it again.

Maybe another plate of beans will be served.

Maybe that, too, will be cold.

And then Russia may ask for an order of caviar or England may want a hot roast beef sandwich or France some crepe suzettes—of a few thousand square miles of this or that.

The first thing you know there will be arguments, and before long another war—all over a cold plate of beans.

• • •

THE trouble with human nature is that when it has set its mind on a plate of hot beans it wants hot beans and nothing else. Or, if it is willing to accept a substitute, it usually wants something better than what it wanted before.

Those two fellows now awaiting trial in the hoosgow will probably get off with a fine or a few days in jail. But God help us if a fight starts in the Cafe de la Paix over there in Europe—Cafe de la Paix meaning the Restaurant of Peace, in case you don't know your French.

It won't be a fine or a couple of days in the calaboose—it will be Atomic bombs and death and destruction.

And all over a plate of beans!

War Surplus "Junking" Planned

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

BILLIONS OF dollars' worth of planes, ships, tanks and other surplus weapons will be destroyed or dropped into the ocean by the Reconstruction Finance corporation in the next few months, although only a few weeks ago they equipped the fighting forces which crushed the Axis powers; other billions in war material will be burned or wrecked overseas.

RFC officials are keeping mum on the subject lest they be accused by Congress and the people of a waste unexcelled in history. In some instances their actions may have a doubtful legal justification. But privately they point out that there can be no other disposition of property the original value of which amounted to fabulous sums. They admit, however, that they are fearful of the public reaction.

TUCKER

The flat-tops which haul planes from West Coast harbors to an ocean grave steal out to sea under cover of darkness, or supposedly for a destination along the Atlantic in a routine shift. The cargo ships carrying other heavy goods beyond the three-mile mark are operated in similar secrecy.

• • •

OBSOLETE: The writer has received many complaints from well-meaning citizens engaged in this work and resentful of what they regard as a waste of the taxpayers' property. They cannot understand why these costly weapons cannot be retained for use by our postwar military establishment, or why the material cannot be salvaged for peacetime purposes.

High officials, however, insist that these leftovers must be done away with in one way or another, despite their face value.

For one thing, they argue that fighting planes of the pursuit and bomb types are not adaptable to commercial aviation. Only some of the transport models can be used in this service, and the cost of reconversion is almost too high to justify their use. So far plane purchasers have shown interest only in the small trainers.

The Army and Navy do not want to be loaded down with World War II stuff. It would keep them from getting future appropriations to develop jet and rocket planes that render obsolete the machines which smashed the Luftwaffe and the Japanese fleet.

• • •

LIQUIDATION: With only a few exceptions, almost all other weapons — machine guns, artillery, mortars, armored vehicles — are or soon will be antiquated. The funds required to modernize them can be spent to better advantage on experimentation and construction of types still in the laboratory stage.

Other factors militate against selling surplus material to foreign countries or cutting them up for scrap — two other methods of getting rid of these excess products. The U. S. has already received a black eye from the use by foreign factions and powers of lend-lease weapons to precipitate internal revolutions and suppress independence groups in Java and South America.

Domestic recovery, RFC-ers maintain, will be jeopardized if the engines, metal and other part of planes and tanks are salvaged. It would reduce orders for industries — automobile, steel etc.— engaged in manufacturing those items. So, for all these reasons, they favor a limited liquidation.

• • •

ROYALTIES: The new interests and responsibilities which the United States has acquired as a result of the global struggle were cited as justification for these extralegal expenditures when the Congressmen, on their return to Capitol Hill, questioned diplomatic and military officials regarding their request for additional funds to complete all these projects.

A high Air Forces authority pointed out that a certain American air line had been granted a license for a commercial route to the Middle East, and that the Arabian airport was an essential link. It would take the company many months to build the field if it had to start from stratch, he continued, and immediate operation is desirable from the standpoint of our national interest.

Another official explained that the $4,000,000-plus grant for the airport was partial compensation to Ibn Saud for royalties he had lost because of the Standard Oil company's inability to exploit petroleum concessions during the war. The leases were negotiated with Standard before the conflict in the face of British competition, but the struggle prevented the drilling of wells and construction of pipelines. So the king lost a rich source of revenue.

• • •

ASSET: When the M Cs asked why the American taxpayers should make good Standard Oil's missing payments, it was explained that this new and vast source of oil was a distinct asset in time of war or peace. Domestic supplies can be conserved by exploitation of the Arabian fields, which might otherwise have fallen to the British or the Russians. In short, it was regarded as smart diplomacy to keep the friendship of Ibn Saud.

These arguments, which were elided from the published texts of the testimony on this subject, impressed the legislators. For that reason there has been no public criticism of the Roosevelt-Truman generosity.

Quite as effectively as American participation in the United Nations Organization, UNRRA and the Bretton Woods pacts, these and many similar deals convince Capitol Hill that the U. S., willy-nilly, is definitely entangled in world affairs and problems.

No single corporation — aviation, petroleum, maritime, trading etc. — has the money or resources to stand on its own feet under new conditions of world competition. So they have turned to Uncle Sam for financial and diplomatic support.

• • •

TEXAS
By Gordon Shearer

AUSTIN—Texas employers will earn $30,000,000 this year by their records for steady employment of their workers, it is estimated by the Texas Unemployment Compensation commission.

Accuracy of the estimate hardly can be questioned, backed as it is by the records since the commission was established and pioneered in use of Cliffe experience tables.

Texas' record with the Cliffe rating has been so outstanding that in most professional discussions the terms "Cliffe" and "Texas plan" are used interchangeably. Actually, the plan was prepared by Frank Cliffe of the General Electric company staff.

It was placed in the Texas Unemployment compensation statute in 1939 by Sen. Allan Shivers of Port Arthur, who has sponsored unemployment laws of the state. Texas was the first state to use the Cliffe system, so that explains why it sometimes is known by one name and sometimes by others.

• • •

BENEFITS: The theory for this and other experience ratings is that an employer should get the benefit of improving conditions. If his employment stability record is better than average, he ought to have to pay less into the big fund from which unemployment "benefit" payments are made.

The rating, however, does not reflect entirely the individual record of the employer. It is modified by the record of the state as a whole. How this is done is rather complicated and results in use of a table like the logarithm tables used in trigonometry. Others have likened the system to a slide rule. You may not know just how it is computed but the results are indisputable.

The table lists from top to bottom 24 differing experience ratios for the state as a whole. From left to right the employers' record of benefit wages for his discharged employes is given in the form of ratios in five brackets.

It would seem that the average youth of today isn't intcrested in climbing the ladder to succes, his attitude apparently being if he can't reach it via elevator, to hell with it.

CIO'S Walter Reuther Gains Public Backing

Auto Union Gets Jump On GM

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

DETROIT — The informed, smooth technique of our great mass production labor unions is illustrated in the method of Walter Reuther, vice president of CIO's Automobile Workers union, in carrying on his care for wage increases with General Motors.

STOKES

Putting aside the young man's overween gambition and the fact that he heads a wild young union, he is a clever and skillful operator. His touch of the demogogue is just enough to make him effective without hurting the cause which he represents.

The automobile industry is learning that it is no longer dealing with amateurs, even though the union is comparatively new. It shows its youth in factional strife and lack of discipline. That plagues its own leaders and makes it hard for industrial managers to find exactly where they are.

• • •

Present Case To Public

But this under-surface trouble does not show when one of its aggressive young leaders, such as Walter Reuther sits down at the table with management, surrounded by his own staff of experts with brief cases full of facts and figures. They have made it their business to know as much as they can about the business of the industry. There is plenty of grey matter in their heads.

They put much emphasis on reaching the public with their ase, recognizing this as a very important principle in collective bargaining. Mr. Reuther has gone to great trouble in the current controversy to stress the public interest in his battle for higher wages. He quotes his own research staff as well as recognized authorities to make his points.

• • •

IT is the impression of this observer after a few days here that Mr. Reuther got the jump on General Motors and out-maneuvered them in making a case with the public. This, it might be said, is also the impression of some managers and industrial relations experts here outside of the automobile industry who are continual kibitzers on such performances.

For days and days the newspapers were full of "Reuther says" and "Reuther charges" and "Reuther tells the senators," with nothing nearly so breezy or spicy or even downright informative from the General Motors camp; in fact, virtually nothing at all.

At the outset Mr. Reuther resorted to an old trick, but always a good one. He advised newsmen of the first negotiating session and invited them to be on hand. When GM officials filed into the room, they saw a group of strange and assorted persons sitting along the wall. They wanted to know who these people were. Mr. Reuther replied: "Representatives of the press."

There was an explosion from the GM contingent, So the press was invited out.

• • •

Gave News To Press

But they didn't get out of Mr. Reuther's reach. He let them in on what was happening. Day after day he went into the meeting with brief after brief, in installments, setting forth the union's case—what he called "the arithmetic." He released this to the newspapers. In addition he held press conferences after every session and issued statements.

It was news, some of it very enlightening, some of it amusing. He has a picturesque turn of phrase. The first day he reported that the GM delegation paid little attention as he read his opening brief. Some put their feet on the desk. Some read newspapers. Some conversed among themselves. Or so he said. Nobody has denied it.

• • •

AT later sessions he reported they began to pay some attention. Finally he got some good stout back talk. Harry Coen, a GM labor relations official, returned, fresh and rested, from a hunting trip to enter the sessions. At one point he blurted out, according to Mr. Reuther:

"It would help a lot if the union would limit its demands to a straight wage increase, without involving profits, prices and over-all economy."

This outburst, according to the UAW official, was when he said that the question of profits was as much union business as wages. The inference was that the union would do better not to be so curious.

Apparently the young man drew some blood.

Toronto Is Rocked By Hallowe'en Rioting

TORONTO, Nov. 1 (AP)—Hallowe'en celebrations in Toronto's east end turned into rioting last night and a youthful mob which officers estimated at 7,000 stormed a police station in a vain attempt to free 13 persons arrested for an earlier disturbance.

Mounted and foot police and hose-wielding firemen repulsed the rush. Five firemen and two police officers were injured. Two youths required hospital attention for head cuts.

Observers said the action developed after a number of teenagers set fires on Queen street, feeding them with wood from fences and residences, dumped cement blocks into the roadway and emptied gasoline down street car rails and ignited it.

Police were jeered and stoned when they made arrests.

STOCKS SHOW STRENGTH

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP) — Industrials, rails and selected utilities today led the stock market on another exceptionally broad, swift climb to the highest average level in more than eight years with gains generally ranging from one to six points.

Steels and motors exhibited strength as hopes brightened for settlement of wage disputes in these fields. Air transports, packers and "blue chips" enjoyed wide jumps.

Transfers of 2,210,000 shares were the largest since June 28. They compared with 2,060,000 Wednesday. The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .9 of a point at 73.5, a peak since March 17, 1937.

Inflationary psychology irradicated on the idea mounting wages must ultimately result in increased prices persisted as the principal purchasing incentive. Passage by the Senate of the tax relief bill propped sentiment.

In the front line, most in the "new high" division, were Eastman Kodak, up 6 on top of a 10-point jump Wednesday; American Airlines, up 4¼; Eastern Air Lines, up 4; J. C. Penney, up 4; and Bethlehem, up 3⅝.

Bonds pushed up selectively. At Chicago wheat advanced ⅝ to 1⅞, oats ⅛ to 2 and rye 1½ to 2⅛. Cotton added 15 to 30 cents a bale.

Activity heightened in the curb with volume of 1,090,000 shares the best since May 10, 1943. Yesterday's aggregate was 960,000. Forward leaners were Humble Oil, Cities Service, Niagara Hudson Power, Burry Biscuit and St. Lawrence Corp.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP)—Cotton futures made small gains today on expectations the farm bloc will make a stronger fight for the peace parity measure in view of administration support for higher wages.

The market advanced 55 cents a bale in early trading but encountered increased hedge selling towards the close. Final prices were 18 to 30 cents a bale higher.

Traders turned increasing attention to the next government cotton forecast in November 8, which private forecasts placed at approximately 9,650,000 bales or close to 130,000 bales under the last government estimate of 9,779,000 bales.

Strength in cotton and securities also led to some buying here.

Baruch Warns Germany And Japan Will Attempt Another World War

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (U.P.)—Bernard Baruch, elder statesman and adviser of presidents, warned his countrymen today that Germany and Japan "will strive unceasingly through science, technology, and engineering to devise some means for waging a third World War."

He declared that this country must remain constantly prepared—through universal military training and permanent scientific research—to stop aggression before it gets started.

Must Enforce Peace

"At no future time," he told a joint Senate Commerce and Military affairs subcommittee, "must potential aggressors be tempted to gamble on a blitzkrieg that would seek to overwhelm us with new or old weapons of destruction before the mobilization of our manpower, industry, agriculture and science could be made complete and effective."

Without continuing preparedness on the part of the United States, he said, "the United Nations organization will lack the strength to enforce the peace."

Scientific Program Explained

Baruch gave the committee a detailed program for federally sponsored scientific research which, he said, would be "only a piece of what is needed." It will, he asserted, be no substitute "for universal training for war."

The defeated enemies of World War II must be watched constantly, Baruch warned. Their "war-geared science" must be policed.

"The long-time control of the scientific resources of Germany and Japan," he said, "must continue for many years after the last occupation troops leave those lands—until there has been a spiritual rebirth of those peoples."

Would Watch Japs, Germans

He proposed a science foundation, a "science cabinet," which, among its other functions, would supply the "expert counsel" for keeping watch on German and Japanese science.

"The foundation should consist of a body of men selected solely for the contributions they can make to the advancement of science," he said. "Full powers and responsibilities should rest with this board, which would decide the program to be followed year after year. "To carry out the program, there should be an executive director or general manager. I would have him appointed by the President on the nomination of the science board with senate confirmation."

Plan Is Given

Baruch listed eight major goals:

1. Expand our scientific brainpower "the greatest asset of any nation." He proposed that drafting of youth receiving scientific training be ended. He recommended scholarships to develop scientific talent.

2. Continued aggressive military research to develop new weapons.

3. Intensification of science's war against disease.

4. Conservation of natural resources now being depleted.

5. Stimulation of basic scientific research to assure a continued flow of knowledge.

6. "The widest, most efficient spread of scientific information, both of as yet undisclosed war discoveries and future findings."

7. A new government agency—the science foundation—to coordinate all these activities.

8. Provision by this agency of "expert counsel for the freest, worldwide exchange of scientific knowledge and for effective policing of the war-geared science of Germany and Japan."

Would Watch Resources

Baruch also called for a national inventory of resources, development of processes for tapping low grade ores and oil shale, research in agriculture by-products, medical research to fill in "valleys of neglect" such as mental illness and a flexible patent policy to give the science foundation as much freedom as possible.

"Unless we continue to support active research in all fields," he said, "those countries who do will not only overtake us but even outstrip us."

Foundation To Honor FDR Is Organized

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—Creation of a foundation to commemorate the life of Franklin D. Roosevelt was announced at the White House today after a meeting of the incorporators.

President Truman, the announcement said, will serve as honorary president and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, as honorary chairman.

George E. Allen, Washington insurance man, was chosen president of the foundation. The vice presidents are former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, former Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, Secretary of Commerce Wallace and Marshall Field, Chicago publisher. Joseph E. Davies, former ambassador to Russia, was named secretary-treasurer.

Allen said in a statement the foundation will endeavor to set up a memorial which will be dedicated to "encouraging the perpetuation of the ideals and objectives of this great American and world leader."

Allen said the foundation soon will start a drive to obtain funds to carry on its program.

Mr. Roosevelt, Allen said, gave his life:

"First, to bring security and a decent standard of living to all his countrymen.

"Second, to overthrow Nazism and Fascism all over the world, and to bring about lasting world peace under the principles of the Atlantic Charter and the Four Freedoms."

Supplies Of Shirts, Pajamas Decreasing

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (AP) — The supply of shirts and pajamas is steadily decreasing and it is highly unlikely that stocks will equal demand in the first half of 1946, the National Association of Shirt and Pajama Manufacturers said today.

"Unless immediate steps are taken by government agencies to increase piece goods production, the shortage of shirts and pajamas will become far more critical than can be conceived at present," the association said in its monthly bulletin.

Wallace Says People "Simply Won't Stand For A Depression"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace has told Congress the American people "simply will not stand for another great depression."

He made the statement while pleading for passage of the administration's "full employment" bill.

Approval of the measure, he told the House expenditures committee, will be the first step toward preventing economic collapse.

The commerce secretary told the committee the "full employment" measure does this:

1. States a central objective—"full employment opportunity in a free competitive economy."

2. Recognizes the responsibility of the federal government—and "says in plain English that the responsibility is to assure the existence at all times of sufficient (employment) opportunities."

3. Sets up a procedure for achieving the objective by calling on the President to submit annually a statement on jobs.

Wallace asserted the measure would "justify a feeling of confidence throughout the land." He added that such a feeling is necessary to insure success of the reconversion program.

State Glad To Accept Battleship To Keep

AUSTIN, Nov. 1. (U.P.) — Chairman Weaver Baker of the Texas Board of Control said today the board has authority to and will gladly accept the battleship Texas as a gift from the U. S. Navy, but that an appropriation by the legislature will be necessary to care for the ship.

Gov. Coke R. Stevenson broached the matter of bringing the ship to Texas during a recent visit here of Admiral Chester W. Nimitz. Stevenson's office had not received any offer from the Navy department up to today.

Baker thought arrangements might be worked out by the San Jacinto park commission for funds to care for the vessel at a site in the Houston ship channel close to the San Jacinto battlefield monument. The Park is one of the few memorial parks that is self-sustaining. It is granted the fees from elevator service in the memorial monument and takes in more money than has been needed for operation. This fund, however, would not be available for battleship care without appropriation by the legislature, Baker said.

George A. Hill, head of Houston Oil company, is chairman of the San Jacinto commission.

More Representatives Said Needed In House

AUSTIN, Nov. 1. (U.P.)—Harris county should have 12 and Dallas 10 members of the state House of Representatives instead of five each, if representatives were distributed according to population, Stuart A. MacCorkle, director of the bureau of municipal research of the University of Texas, said today in the October issue of "Texas Municipalities."

MacCorkle said the 11 metropolitan districts centered at Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont-Port Arthur, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Galveston, Houston, San Antonio and Waco should have 47 instead of 33 representatives on strict population basis.

Senatorial districts with half the population have a third of the number of senators, the article said. Population of the 1940 census was used in computations.

Price Curb On Houses Said Not Now Planned

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—Reconversion Director John W. Snyder said today the administration does not now intend to ask Congress for price ceilings on finished houses.

If the present voluntary program of price control does not head off a price boom, Snyder said, "we will determine later on what further steps the government should take."

In a speech before the Construction Advisory council, newly organized by the United States Chamber of Commerce, Snyder added that if Congress decided to consider legislation providing "simple, workable" price controls, which would stimulate rather than retard building activity, "it would receive our report."

The reconversion director's remarks clarified the administration attitude toward price controls on real estate. Ceilings on new and old houses are strongly advocated by OPA Administrator Chester Bowles.

Vets Seeking Permit For Austin Station

AUSTIN, Nov. 1. (U.P.) — Lt. Cmdr John Connally was in Washington today to apply to the FCC for a permit for a 1,000-watt radio station here which a group of World War II veterans plan to establish.

The station will be operated as a general commercial broadcasting station.

A state charter has been issued for the group, organized as "Austin Broadcasting company."

Incorporators besides Connally, are Edward J. Potter, James J. Pickle, Edward Clark, Robert L. Phinney, Homer Thornberry, Jesse C. Kellam, Sherman Birdwell and Willard Deason.

Capital stock of $50,000 is specified for the company.

The top Australian general in World War I was Sir John Monash.

Oil Company Plans Big Research Center

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (AP)—Construction of a $1,000,000 oil exploration and production research center will begin soon at Houston Tex., Shell Oil Co. announced today.

The center, to be completed by spring, will house the company's recently organized division of exploration and production research and will consolidate under one roof research in physics, chemistry and geology.

The new laboratory's research program, company officials said, will concern itself with augmenting America's petroleum resources by developing new and more efficient methods for discovering oil and recovering it in maximum quantities from the underground reservoirs.

Architects' plans call for a two-story, air-conditioned building covering 40,000 square feet to accomodate a working staff of 130 to 155 persons. Contract for the construction has been let to the Austin company, Houston.

Famine And Revolt Major Threat To Allied Occupation In Germany

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

The prospect of famine, disease and consequent civilian revolt in Germany this winter is real, latest reports from the occupied zones indicate.

A collapse of German economy, which is already near the breaking point, would have a profoundly disturbing effect on a large part of continental Europe. That is what is worrying occupation officials, as much as the humanitarian consideration of seeing that the beaten Germans are not exterminated.

Hunger Said Increasing

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower made several important points in his latest reports to Washington regarding conditions in the American occupation zone. Among them were:

1. It does not seem possible to maintain the minimum subsistence level of 1,550 calories authorized for the German population this winter.

2. Sixty per cent of the population is living on a sub-standard diet. Communicable diseases are increasing, not yet at an alarming rate, but malnutrition may raise it during the winter.

All Of Europe Affected

3. Widespread unemployment and discontent may possibly lead to organized resistance against the occupation forces.

In the background of Eisenhower's report on food is an earlier recommendation by United States Army medical authorities that the Germans be provided with a minimum of 2,000 calories a day to prevent slow starvation.

That would entail large shipments of food from the United States. However, other European countries also are crying for food, and the Germans cannot be given any preference. The Potsdam declaration provides that under no circumstances shall they eat better than their neighbors. Unofficial estimates show that some other countries are already below the 2,000-calory mark.

More Trouble Imminent

The situation certainly will not be improved by the imminent transfer into the American occupation zone of at least 2,000,000 displaced Germans being uprooted under the Potsdam terms from Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary. There are already some 18,000,000 Germans in the American zone and domestic production is totally inadequate to feed them. Industrial production is so paralyzed that it cannot pay for imports.

The problem is acute for this winter, although it probably can be solved by temporary expedients. From the long-range view, it presents much more serious difficulties.

Needs More Industries

Even if Germany is tided over this winter, it is apparent that recurring crises cannot be tolerated. It all boils down to the extent to which the Allies will permit German industrial revival. The country obviously cannot be self-sustaining on a basis of agriculture and 'featherweight" industry only.

American policy has been confused in the matter, ranging from the drastic "Morgenthau plan" of an essentially agricultural country to a recent recommendation by American experts that industry be revived.

That made the Russians suspicious lest the western Allies be planning to restore Germany as a buffer state. Russia also wants her reparations in the form of transferring German heavy industry, as does France and to a lesser extent a few other states.

The situation seems to call for another meeting of the occupying powers to clarify the generalized terms of the Potsdam agreement, which leave too many loopholes for conflicting interpretations.

Japs Lay Claim To Plane Capable Of 10,000 Mile Run

TOKYO, Nov. 1. (AP) — Leading airplane designers of Japan claimed today they had perfected a reconnaissance plane capable of more than 10,000 miles of nonstop flying. They had hoped to fly it over the United States, then to some South American point for processing photographs and transmitting their information to Tokyo.

Two such planes were built before the war's end. One made a flight of 16,435 kilometers (about 10,300 miles) over Manchuria, the designers said.

Second Shot Down

The second was shot down on a flight from Shanghai to Germany, reported Moriyuki Nadagawa of the Tachikawa Plane Co. He said the design subsequently was modified to provide greater passenger and cargo loads, but to retain a range of 5,650 miles. Mass production of the modified version was planned.

Three of the modified craft had been built for indicated superrange observation flights over the United States.

The designers also told a conference of Army officials and newsmen that they had perfected a jet propelled plane expected to be the answer to America's B-29s. They said their jet plane was capable of climbing 10,000 meters in three and a half minutes.

B-29 Was Effective

Jiro Morikosri of Mitsubishi said this plane, the Shusui, "was based on very scanty information which came from Germany." He said the only Shusuit completed crashed on its first flight.

A new version of a self-propelled projectile also was completed and tested but was not successful. It was a small radio controlled plane designed for release from beneath a large mother plane.

All of the designers agreed without hesitation that the B-29 was the most effective American plane. They said the Navy's carrier based Hellcat caused the most damage of any U. S. fighter.

Although professing a lack of definite production figures, they said Japan reached a peak of about 2,800 airplanes a month in the fall of 1944, but that bombing raids had reduced this by 60 per cent.

Levelland Man, Jap Prisoner, Is Given Slap After War Ends

WILLIAM BEAUMONT GENERAL HOSPITAL—The first news that T/Sgt. Odis C. Black, Levelland, had that the war with Japan was over, came when a Jap guard at Samidagawa Camp near Tokyo, walked up, slapping his face and said, "This is the last time I will do this to you. The war is over."

He was the only Air force man among seven happy Southwesterners, including the six former 200th Coast artillerymen, rescued from Japanese prison camps, who have arrived at William Beaumont General hospital.

All Captured On Bataan

All were captured at Bataan. One Corporal Duane L. Wayman, Aurora, Colo., escaped, joined part of his outfit at Corregidor and was captured when it fell to the Japs.

Freed at Kawasaki and sober in thought, though obviously elated, Cpl. Robert R. Roehm, Clovis, New Mexico, expressed the consensus of opinion, that life in a Jap prison camp was "rough and tough."

Cpl. Wyman, at Nanahakensho Camp, wasn't supposed to be listening to the radio when the news came the war was over.

But he spread the news quickly.

Whole Camp Excited

"The whole camp was excited," he said. "We didn't want to wait till the Yanks came. So a few of us went to see the camp commander and told him we were leaving. We left with an unarmed escort furnished by him."

First Lt. Prior Thwait, Silver City, N. M., liberated at Formosa, S/Sgt. Alton R. Jones, Lovington, N. M., Sgt. Boyce Springer, Canyon, Tex., and Cpl. Tom Lee, Gallup, N. M., who were liberated from Asahi near Tokyo had little to say, but their springy step and laughing eyes told of their feelings more than words could express.

Sergeant Black is the son of Mrs. Lydia Black of Levelland.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Combine Tuna With Rice For Supper

Sunday night suppers in snappy weather call for one substantial hot dish—and, of course, as little cooking and serving labor as possible. Here's an answer that's very easy to prepare and to eat.

Creole Tuna Fish with Rice
(Serves 4)

One can tuna fish (7 ounces), 1 sliced medium onion, 1 green pepper cut in rings, 1 cup cooked peas, 2 cups cooked rice, 2 cups cooked tomatoes with juice, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons melted butter, parsley.

Place alternate layers of tuna fish, sliced onion, sliced green peppers, peas, rice and tomatoes in a well-greased, two-quart, heat-resistant glass or pottery casserole. Sprinkle each layer with salt and pepper. Pour the melted butter over the vegetables. Cover the casserole and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 50 minutes.

Another Sunday supper suggestion—potato pancakes with spicy apple sauce.

Potato Pancakes

Six potatoes, 2 well beaten eggs, 1½ tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1¼ teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon grated onion, or use 1¼ teaspoons onion salt.

Wash and pare the potatoes. Dry them thoroughly then then grate rather coarsely. (There should be 2 cups.) Beat eggs and add. Add remaining ingredients and mix. Bake on lightly greased hot griddle, same as other pancakes. Spread with butter and serve at once with spicy apple sauce.

Spicy Apple Sauce

Wash, quarter and core tart cooking apples. Add 1 tablespoon water for each apple. Cook till soft. Rub through strainer and add dash of cloves and a tablespoon of sugar or honey for each apple. Heat and serve.

Scald milk with celery tops and grated onion. Remove celery tops and add milk mixture slowly to mashed potatoes. Melt butter or fortified margarine in heavy pan. Stir in flour and cook over low heat for 2 minutes. Add salt and pepper. Add to milk-potato mixture and continue cooking over low heat for 5 minutes. Add mustard and mix well. Add parsley and paprika.

Italian Spaghetti with Meat Sauce

½ lb. ground beef
½ lb. ground pork
1 small garlic clove
1 chopped onion
2 cans tomato puree
4 lbs. olive or salad oil
1 tbs. Worcestershire sauce
1 tbs. Mexene seasoning
1 pkg. spaghetti
grated cheese (Parmesan)
salt to taste

Brown meat slowly in skillet; add onion and garlic after meat is partially brown, then mix all other ingredients with meat and onions and simmer for 30 minutes or longer if desired. Pour sauce over cooked spaghetti, sprinkle on grated cheese and serve. If strong garlic flavor is not desired remove clove before adding puree.

Chicken and corn casserole is a labor-saving delicacy for the cook, and an appetizing dish for the table.

Try This Casserole Of Chicken, Corn

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

HERE'S another appetite alarm clock that also saves kitchen and serving labor:

Chicken and Corn Casserole
(Serves 4-6)

Two tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 cup milk, 1 cup light cream or top milk, 3 beaten eggs, 3 cups whole kernel corn, 2 cups cooked diced chicken, 6 strips pimiento, 4"x1-4", 1 slice green pepper.

Melt butter, mix together the flour, curry powder and salt; add to the melted butter making a smooth paste. Add the milk, stirring constantly until thickened. Add the cream and beaten eggs to the sauce. Arrange alternate layers of corn and chicken in a well-greased two-quart casserole. Pour the egg mixture over the chicken; arrange the strips of pimiento and the slice of green papper on top of the ingredients in the casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about one hour.

Baked Onions
(Serves 4-6)

Baked onions are popular and easy to cook with this interesting recipe:

Three large white or yellow onions, 2 tablesupoons butter or fortified margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon celery salt, ½ cup coarsely minced watercress, crumbs.

Wash and skin onions. Boil in large pot of salted water for 10 minutes. Drain. Slice each onion into thick discs and arrange in baking dish. Make a cream sauce; mix flour and fat; add milk and celery salt; stir until creamy over low heat. Add minced watercress. Pour sauce over onions. Top with crumbs using bread or cracker crumbs, or try this variation—roll walnuts, pecans or peanuts very fine and use as crumbs for topping. Reheat in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 10 minutes.

Nicotiana and moonflowers bloom only in late afternoon and evening and are most fragrant on dewy moonlight nights.

Peanut butter is in unusually good supply. Use it in ice cream mix.

Use a few drops of bath oil in the bath itself to soften the skin.

Sausage Apple Betty Is Different Dish

(Served Four)

One cup sausage meat, 1½ cups coarse cracker crumbs, 4 cups apple slices, 1½ cups onion slices, 6 tablespoons water, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt.

Brown sausage meat slowly. Drain of fat. Toss cracker crumbs in sausage fat. Arrange alternate layers of apples, onions, sausage and crumbs in casserole, ending with crumbs. Combine water, vinegar and salt and pour over all. Cover; bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes.

"SHOPPER'S SPECIAL"

A "shopper's special" saves the day for a weary mother returning home with a tired child and an armful of packages. To make this snappily prepared dinner main dish, chop leftover meat or lightly brown some fresh ground meat. Moisten with milk, gravy, or catsup and season with salt, pepper, minced onion, and Worcestershire sauce. Cut the tops from hard dinner rolls, scoop out center and fill with meat mixture. Replace top, pour on extra gravy and bake at 350 degrees until heated through. Round out this quickie dinner with frozen green peas, raw carrot sticks, and canned fruit with cookies.

Cole Slaw Supreme

2 cups shredded raw cabbage
1 cup shredded raw carrots
1 cup finely sliced celery
½ cup green peppers, finely chopped
½ cup pimiento, finely chopped

Toss all ingredients together and combine with desired amount of Piquant French dressing. Serve with, or without cottage cheese.

New Orleans French Dressing

½ cup oil
1-4 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon grated onion
1-4 cup pure New Orleans molasses
1 teaspoon salt
Few drops Worcestershire sauce

Combine all ingredients and shake thoroughly.

Fish Flake Loaf
(Serves 4-6)

Two cups cooked flaked fish (about 1½ pounds), 3-4 cup cracker crumbs (finely rolled), 1½ teaspoons grated onion, 1-4 cup chopped celery, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon chili sauce, 1-3 cup milk, 2 beaten egg yolks, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2 stiffly beaten egg whites parsley white sauce.

Combine and mix all ingredients except egg whites. Fold in egg whites last. Turn into loaf pan which has been lined with wax paper. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 40 minutes. Serve with hot sauce.

Poplars are called the "whispering trees" because as one leaf hits against another it makes a whispering sound.

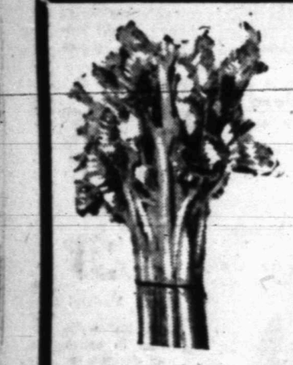

Save syrup from canned fruit to sweeten other fruits, sauces and desserts.

The juice of the crocus was used by Roman women as a hair dye. In recent years it has been used in making cordials and as a coloring for cakes.

Potatoes need not be fattening. One medium-sized potato has about 100 calories. It's the gravy, butter or other fats that "piles up" calories.

Arrested GIs May Help Clear Half Million Black Market In Japan

By EARNEST HOBERECHT
United Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Nov. 1—Four arrested American soldiers were expected to give information today leading to higher-ups in the $500,000 black market operated in Japan and involving at least 50 more GIs.

Army authorities said that after they finished questioning the four they expected to "bag much bigger game" than Marino Boccoa, Italian national who presumably headed the black marketeers.

Raid On Tokyo Hotel

Military police broke up the ring Tuesday night in a raid on a Tokyo hotel. They arrested Boccoa and another Italian, the four Americans and two Japanese. Two more Japanese were arrested today.

Boccoa, a former employe of the Italian embassy, was to be questioned within the next 24 hours. Military police said his story might reveal the ring was much larger than originally thought. Authorities already have described it as "the largest black market ever operated in the Pacific."

Japanese police questioned the four Japanese in an effort to learn the outlets for the U. S. Army goods sold during the ring's three weeks of operations.

Officials said other foreign nationals were believed involved as higher-ups.

Asked Two-Day Period

Preliminary investigation revealed Boccoa often asked for a two-day period in order to handle the large black market shipments. Officials said that might mean he required that time to contact bigger operators, although he was the leader as far as the American soldiers were concerned.

Officials said that before the case is finished as many as 50 quartermaster guards and drivers might be implicated because it is impossible to steal truckloads of goods without "co-operation."

The four GIs now held are to be turned over to their company commanders who will file charges. If convicted they may be sentenced to from five to 15 years.

Over 2,000,000 Homes Destroyed In Japan

TOKYO, Nov. 1. (AP)—Air raids destroyed nearly 2,500,000 buildings in Japan, including 2,000,000 structures classified as "residences," the Ministry of Welfare informed Allied headquarters today.

Bombs, including two atomic missiles, wiped out 330,000 military, government, industrial and commercial buildings, the report stated. Another 10,000 were damaged and 100,000 residences partly destroyed.

The Japanese reported the loss of more than 3,000,000 buildings in the course of the war from all causes, including storms, earthquakes and fire.

Fears Expressed Atom Bomb May Harm Fish

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—Officials of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service expressed concern today that the Navy's ocean tests of the atomic bomb might destroy large numbers of commercially imported fish.

Elmer Higgins, chief fishery biologist of the fish and wildlife service, said the concussion from underwater explosions of dynamite kills sea life within thousands of feet.

"It is assumed," Higgins said in an interview, "that the atom bomb explosion will be the most potent that ever has occurred in the sea. In addition to the concussion, it is likely that radio-activity started by the bomb will be deadly to the fish."

HOLLANDIA BASE SOLD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—The U. S. Navy said today its base at Hollandia, in Dutch East New Guinea, has been sold to the Netherlands East Indies government for $6,830,000.

Hirohito's Personal Fortune To Help Pay Allies For Jap Crimes

TOKYO, Nov. 1 (AP)—The first direct accusation that Emperor Hirohito was partly to blame for the war—Washington's announcement that his personal fortune will have to stand part of the reparations bill—is apt to become the biggest political and social bombshell yet involving the already harried monarch.

The economic value of the move is as yet indefinite, pending further investigation of what appears to be a land and bond-poor fortune.

Mere Drop In Bucket

The imperial balance sheet, somewhat more than $106,000,000, is a mere drop in the reparations bucket at best. Only $22,410,658 are in liquid assets.

Japanese likely will have little to say now, but are almost certain generally to interpret the action as an indirect labelling of Hirohito as a war criminal. They heretofore have made little distinction between those openly blamed and those considered to have been indirectly responsible.

Edwin W. Pauley, American member of the reparations committee, voiced what for the Japanese was a revolutionary conception in asserting that there could be no distinction between the emperor and his government.

Has Been Held Too High

The Japanese have considered the government as an instrument of the emperor, but he personally has been held too high to be responsible for its mistakes.

It is doubtful if many of the Japanese, even those highly placed, ever considered the possibility that the emperor might be held to blame for the war, although reparations payments have been constantly on the minds of government officials.

The emperor's fortune has been hitherto considered so inviolate that the mere American demand for the imperial balance sheet brought the first silent resentment among the people at occupation methods.

May Need Crown Jewels

If the emperor actually is required to foot much of the reparations bill, it appears likely that the crown jewelry and what art objects he posseses will go on the block. The jewelry, art objects and stored gold and silver bullion have not yet been reported. They are not expected, however, to amount to any great sums. The effect of the announcement probably will be much greater in its political aspect than in the actual reparations produced.

BLACKSMITH "DENTISTS"

Men called upon their blacksmiths when they wanted aching molars withdrawn in Revolutionary War days. Women visited their jewelers for the same purpose.

MacArthur Also Urges Unified Army Setup

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—A suggestion by General Douglas MacArthur that the Army, Navy and Air Forces be consolidated into a single fighting agency with one uniform was made public today.

MacArthur's views were obtained by a special Army-Navy committee which contacted Army, Navy and Marine leaders in connection with proposals for postwar defense forces, and were made public by the Senate Military committee.

"The experience of this war have completely and absolutely convinced me that there should be a complete amalgamation of the various fighting forces," MacArthur said. "I believe they should wear the same uniform. I believe there should be one family instead of three."

The Senate committee, examining a proposed merger of U. S. armed forces, received MacArthur's views from the White House.

Lost Battalion Boys Rig Up Tiny Radio

DALLAS, Nov. 1. (AP)—The Dallas News said tonight that two members of Texas' Lost Battalion assembled a tiny radio after their capture by the Japs and so kept informed of world events for three and a half years.

S/Sgt. Jack M. Karney, Dallas, and Sgt. Jess Stanbrough, Wichita Falls, put the radio together from parts smuggled into Kamishi camp.

The short wave set picked up swing music from over the world. The captives knew about the invasion of Normandy 27 minutes after it happened. Their Jap guards didn't hear of it for three days.

Hershey Says Draft Calls Not To Change

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, National Selective service director, said tonight he saw no likelihood of a reduction in draft calls in the immediate future.

Addressing a dinner of Bronx selective service board members, Hershey said:

"The calls now aren't set on what the Army and Navy want; they are set on what we have available in the age group. Men are being demobilized quickly and somebody's got to take over the watch. I don't see any chance in the immediate future of letting up."

Black Eye Evidence Enough In Divorce

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 (AP)—C. R. Nickel, 28, plastic company owner, was testifying in his divorce action before Superior Judge Edwin A. Robson yesterday, charging his wife, Rose, 27, with cruelty, when she walked into the court room.

"Who gave you that black eye?" Judge Robson asked her and Mrs. Nickel nodded in the general direction of her husband.

"And he is charging you with cruelty," Judge Robson observed. "I think the state's attorney's office better look into this."

They went to the state's attorney's office and when they returned to court the office's recommendation that Nickel's bill be dismissed had preceded them. Judge Robson told them he agreed and dismissed the suit.

Scientists Studying "Active" Cardboard After A-Bomb Blast

BOSTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—Scientists in many parts of the country are trying to learn why cardboard made from straw cut in Illinois 23 days after the atomic bomb test at Los Alamos, N. M., is strongly radioactive, according to Dr. Robert D. Evans, Massachusetts Institute of Technology Physicist.

Tests of the strawboard delivered to the Eastman Kodak Company at Rochester, N. Y., Dr. Evans said in an interview, showed that it was so intensely radioactive that it would have ruined any film packed in it.

The mystery, Dr. Evans explained, is: whence did the radioactive elements come?

Dr. Evans, who is director of the M. I. T. Radioactive Laboratories, said that he and other physicists had not reached a final solution but were considering two possibilities.

One is that the explosion of the atomic bomb at Los Alamos may have been responsible. Scientists are trying to determine whether active ingredients of the bomb, which were not "smashed," were carried to great altitudes, caught in prevailing winds—and borne eastward to be deposited by rain on the fields of southern Illinois.

The second possibility, Dr. Evans explained, is that the cardboard was contaminated with radioactive elements from some other source such as water of the Wabash River.

RCA Official Claims Television On Boom

CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 1. (AP)—Between 300,000 and 400,000 television receiving sets will be sold next year and this figure will be doubled in 1947, it was predicted today by Frank M. Folsom, executive vice president of the Radio Corporation of America.

Asserting that television was just about ready to go in a big way, now that new transmitting equipment is becoming available, Folsom said the RCA-Victor division of RCA, of which he is in charge, would go into production next April. An average price for receiving sets would be around $300, he said, but some sets might go as low as $150.

Trek Of Refugees Into American Zone In Germany Grows Steadily

BERLIN, Nov. 1. (AP) — High American officials expect the trek of hungry, improverished German refugees into the occupied Reich to continue through the icy winter.

Brig. Gen. Stanley R. Mickelsen, director of the military government's displaced persons division, said he expected there eventually would be 3,500,000 to 4,000,000 persons "in excess of the bona fide population" in the American zone.

Donald R. Heath, director of the office of political affairs, insisted the United States is determined to see that the Potsdam provision covering the "orderly and humane" transfer of German populations from lost territories is carried out.

9,000 In Berlin Daily

Berlin, astride one of the refugee routes from Poland, currently receives 9,000 homeless daily. Under orders of the four-power kommandantur they must move on, for the city's rations are short for its own population. Last month approximately 300,000 refugees passed through Berlin.

Officers in Gen. Mickelsen's division said they "lacked any real information on the problem of expelled Germans from the east" and could give only "guesses."

They "guessed" the following:

(1) Occupied Germany now has at least 4,000,000 refugees from outside its present borders.

(2) Expected in the future are 4,000,000 to 6,000,000 others.

(3) The majority of those still to be transferred are inside the present Polish frontier.

Poland's "Expulsion"

An intelligence officer in Heath's political affairs office said he had no independent information on whether Poland was conducting "expulsion" as such, but that "Germans are leaving for a variety of reasons, including the fact their reichmarks are not legal tender and — if they are not able to work — they receive no food-ration cards."

The largest chunk of territory lost by Germany in the war is that which the Poles are resettling and annexing—de facto—up to the Oder-Neisse river line. They justify their German attitude thus:

Polish treatment of Germans is less severe than German treatment of Poles during the six years occupation;

Claims For Province

Tardiness in transferring the German population would needlessly stimulate German claims for the return of eastern provinces;

New lands gained by Poland were settled originally by Slavs in ancient times and are about only half the size of the territory ceded by Poland to the Soviet Union east of the Curzon line.

On the need to get rid of the Germans, the governments of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Austria see eye-to-eye. Recently the Polish radio told the world:

"How has anybody the right to criticize Poles because they don't want to tolerate in their country their worst enemies? They want them to leave as soon as possible and for good!"

Texan Takes Beating To Protect Buddy

TEMPLE, Nov. 1. (AP)—A Texan took a severe beating from Japanese guards rather than tell them the name of the man who had given him cigarettes.

Sgt. Robert C. Howren of Amarillo, Tex., is in McCloskey General hospital here, and he said he is in complete agreement with those who have said Japs are ruthless, brutal and uncivilized.

An aviation machinist on Mindanao, Howren was captured May 10, 1942. He was later sent to Bilibid prison and then to Japan.

He was put to work in a steel plant, and he said the Japs paid him about one and two-thirds cents U. S. money.

One day a Jap civilian guard found some cigarettes in his possession and demanded to know who had given them to him.

Howren refused, and was made to stand at attention and submit to a brutal beating. Clubs, fists, shoes and anything the guards could lay their hands on were used, according to the sergeant.

Fields of the Eastern Flying Training command include Laredo Field, Tex.

Only Few Towns Eligible For New Federal Buildings Have Chance

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP) — Few of the thousands of communities now eligible for new post offices have much chance of getting one soon.

Commissioner W. E. Reynolds of the Public Buildings administration told a reporter today his agency intends using a $193,000,000 authorization being sought from Congress to build only one post office each in most of the 435 congressional districts.

Balance For Large Units

"There's much to be said for building two in each district," he added, "but right now we're planning on only one."

Most of them would cost less than $100,000. The rest of the money, he said, would be spent on bigger units and on hospitals, office buildings and combination courthouse-post office buildings.

Reynolds outlined this tentative plan after several congressmen, appearing as witnesses before the House Building committee, had urged substantial enlargement of the proposed program.

List of Eligibles

The eligibility list includes every community without a federally-owned post office building, or with one needing replacement, where postal receipts exceed $10,000 a year.

From the list of eligibles, the agency would select the "most urgent" projects in spending the $193,000,000 now called for in a bill by Rep. Lanham (D-Tex), chairman of the committee conducting the hearings.

Average age of passenger automobiles now on the highway is more than eight years.

Car Manufacturers See No Big Deluge

DETROIT, Nov. 1. (AP) — The nation's automobile manufacturers do not expect an immediate deluge of car orders as a result of the OPA and War Production board announcement removing all rationing restrictions on the new vehicles.

Yet to be determined are the prices at which the new cars can be delivered. The rush for 1946 models, industry spokesmen say, will come as soon as these figures can be published. Many of the manufacturers have submitted their cost and price proposals to the OPA but if any have been approved the manufacturers have chosen to withhold them for the time being.

Truman's Waco Visit Said Still Possible

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP) — Senator Connally (D-Tex) said it is still possible President Truman will visit Waco on Dec. 5.

"I hope that matters will ease up by then so he will be able to go to Texas," Connally said today. "Of course, there's no telling now, but that's more than a month off and a lot of things can happen between now and Dec. 5."

The President had called off his Waco visit along with several other engagements yesterday. He was to receive an honorary degree from Baylor university and address a meeting of the Grand Masonic lodge of Texas.

State May Sell Tower To Get New Building

AUSTIN, Nov. 1. (AP) — The state's plan for acquiring more office space took a new turn today.

Before the attorney general for legal determination was the question whether the state can sell the Tribune Tower in Austin which it has just purchased for $735,942 from the J. M. West estate and heirs.

The board of control said it had unofficial offers of $800,000 and $850,000 for the Tribune building and might receive even a larger offer if bids were asked. It's purchase was authorized by the legislature. The legislature said nothing about sale.

It proposed that the state sell the building and use the profit to help finance the construction of a new office building and a new courts building. The problem was referred to the attorney general by a legislative business council which acts as an advisory body to the board of control in the building program.

The board said that if the state does not wish to make an immediate profit on the Tribune Tower it might keep it for two years, using the income (which is about $74,400 annually) to pay the cost of state rented space in other Austin buildings.

It proposed that the state not keep the Tribune Tower for more than two years. Available floor space in the building, it said, would be much less than the 150,000 square feet possible in two new buildings.

It added it did not favor the state engaging in private enterprise under ordinary circumstances but to use the Tribune building for state offices would entail considerable expense beyond the purchase price.

Sale of the Tribune building and construction of two new buildings may involve a special or general session of the legislature, it was noted.

Sheriff Slugged By Robber Pair

FORT WORTH, Nov. 1. (AP) — Sheriff H. W. Rhodes, bruised, mad and on a manhunt, today declared he recognized one of two robbers who shortly before midnight took between $2,100 and $2,200 from the office of the Court hotel here and kicked, blackjacked and robbed the sheriff when he walked in during the holdup.

The pair, who forced Rhodes and others in the hotel lobby to lie on the floor, escaped into the throng of thousands of Hallowe'en merrymakers frolicking in roped-off downtown streets.

Rhodes was taken by surprise and thought at first the robbery was a Hallowe'en prank. He said he and his wife had been at the sheriff's office until after 11 p. m. and decided to look in on the Hallowe'en crowd before going home. They parked their car, Mrs. Rhodes remained in it and Rhodes started toward Main street.

Passing the hotel, he remembered that he knew the management and that he hadn't dropped in for more than a year. He went into the lobby to say hello, and was surprised by a robber, standing behind the counter, who leveled two pistols at him. Another stood nearby.

Rhodes was forced behind the counter and was told to lie on the floor. Already lying there were Dr. Gage Williams, a resident of the hotel, and the room clerk, W. G. Bateman. As Rhodes started to lie down between them, the robber with the two guns kicked him savagely just under the heart.

Rhodes was struck with a blackjack as the robber pair started to leave with the money from the hotel safe. One of them told the sheriff he had decided to kill him, and struck him behind the left ear with the weapon.

Rhodes went back to his car and started an all-night hunt. He was back at it tonight.

For Sale Sign Placed On Wartime Shipyard

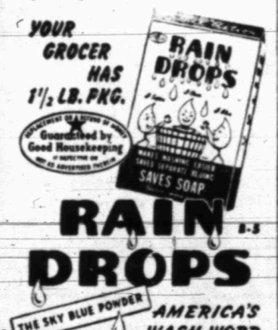

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP) — The government today put up the first "for sale" sign on a federally-owned shipyard built during the war.

The property is the St. Johns River Shipbuilding company facilities at Jacksonville, Fla. During the war the yard built 82 Liberty ships and 12 tankers.

Germans Apathetic Over Leaders' Trials

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 1. (AP)—A poll of prominent Germans in virtually all sections of the conquered Reich indicated today that, although the people as a whole approve the Nuernberg war criminal trials, their attitude toward punishment of staff officers is lukewarm and they wish a German judge were sitting on the court.

These three main points were brought out when six Associated Press correspondents questioned Germans in scattered communities —among them Berlin, Hamburg and Munich. Among those polled were Pastor Martin Niemoeller, Minister-President Wilhelm Hoegner of Bavaria, newspaper publishers, steamship line executives and scores of ordinary German citizens.

Trials Are Criticized

Many were apathetic to the whole question. Some criticized the trials as too slow, saying that if the Nazis had won there would be shootings, not trials. They advised the Allies to follow a similar course. Others, such as Niemoeller, protested against blanket indictment of the SS. One elderly banker declared the trials were just Allied propaganda and added: "Other powers were afraid because Hitler's National Socialism was too successful."

The average German seemed to have little conception of the Allied idea of justice or what the trials are intended to accomplish. They were interested in seeing Nazi leaders wiped out only because they blame them for their present misfortune—not for moral reasons, but chiefly because they were on the losing side.

Soldiers Said Different

The Germans sought in many cases to differentiate between Nazis and military men, exhibiting a strong feeling that the soldiers were just that, had done their best, and did not deserve punishment in the same category as the Nazis.

Parenthetically, many Allied military men in this theater also expresse opposition to the trial of German soldiers except in atrocity cases or misconduct by officers.

BIRD STARTED BELIEF

Ancient sailors believed that the halcyon, a bird of the kingfisher family, nested on the waves about the time of the winter solstice, and that the sea remained calm and peaceful during this period; hence the term "halcyon days" for times of peace and tranquility.

House Group To Study Boost On Auto Prices

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP)—Auto prices will be studied by the House Small Business committee, Chairman Patman (D-Tex) said today.

The group will open hearings next week on a reported plan to require dealers to absorb all or part of any price increases granted automobile manufacturers, Patman said in a statement.

He added the OPA has proposed such a plan. The agency has announced only that it will determine maximum prices soon for new cars.

Little-Known 66th, "Orphan" In France, Is Quietly Inactivated

CAMP SHANKS, N. Y., Nov. 1. (AP) —The 66th Infantry division, whose job it was to keep 53,000 of Germany's toughest troops bottled up in the Lorient and St. Nazaire pockets while Allied forces swept through France, has turned in its glorious records and quietly passed out of existence. The 66th was inactivated Wednesday.

There were no ceremonies, no grand panegyrics. But Brig. Gen. Francis W. Rollins of Providence, R. I., sat down and told a news conference this story:

The 66th division was an orphan. No Army claimed it. Its one job was to see that the Germans stationed around the submarine pens of Lorient and St. Nazaire, impregnably fortified, got no chance to break through and menace other Allied forces.

Little Known Of It

There were 25,000 Americans and 10,000 Frenchmen in the division. It got no publicity. Most of the other outfits overseas never heard of it. Its commander was Maj. Gen. Herna (Dutch) Kramer, selected for the job because he was one of the two American officers who had been graduated from a German war college. Kramer now heads the 97th division in Tokyo.

The Germans had plotted every inch of ground within the range of their guns, and by pressing a button that could "sterilize" any spot.

Day after day the two forces engaged in artillery duels. With one shot the Americans sunk a 5,000-ton ship in Lorient harbor. But it looked as if the German could never be taken until finally Col. James Hamilton and Lt. Col. Ralph Ganns struck upon an idea.

Questioned Captives

"They questioned such individual Germans as could be captured until they found out the names of every German officer and his position," said Rollins.

First the 66th division rigged up a public address system by which all the 53,000 Germans could hear announcements from the American side.

Early last May 1 the Germans heard an announcement from the loud speakers: "Watch Col. Schmidt's headquarters. In 10 minutes we will blow it to pieces." The warnings were repeated every minute until finally in 10 minutes every American gun was turned on the colonel's headquarters and, sure enough, it disappeared from the face of the earth.

"We are now going to wipe out Captain Reuther's company—just look that way and watch it," the loud speaker said next, and the threat was made good.

Destroyed One By One

Thus German units were destroyed one by one, and Nazis began surrendering in ever larger groups until finally Lt. Gen. Fahranbacher of the luftwaffe surrendered all his forces May 8.

Capt. Jack G. Garrison of Richmand Heights, Mo., public relations officer of the division, said that when the Germans built their thick-walled fortresses at Lorient and St. Nazaire they mixed hundreds of French men and women in the concrete, alive.

Garrison said that when his division captured the forts they forced Germans to break up the concrete and remove the bodies. He said.

"We recovered 43 bodies the first day."

Jap Says Battle Of Los Angeles A Myth

TOKYO, Thursday, Nov. 1. (AP) —The battle of Los Angeles was a myth; the Japanese did not send planes over that city the night of Jan. 24-25, 1942, a Japanese Navy spokesman told the Associated Press today.

Captain Omae of the Japanese Navy said, however, that a plane was launched from a submarine and sent over the southern Oregon coast on Feb. 9, 1942, "to attack military installations, but the lone pilot was unable to discover any. Another purpose was to keep Americans worried over coastal attacks and force them to keep many planes at home."

Asked whether the Japanese had any plans to land troops on Hawaii or the United States, Omae flatly said "no."

Loran Seen As Aid To Peacetime Navigation

SEATTLE, Nov. 1. (AP)—"Loran," the wartime development that made accurate bombing possible on cloudy days, is ready to make peacetime navigation as simple as driving down a highway, Lt. Cmdr. John F. Martin of the Coast Guard said tonight.

The Saginaw, Mich., officer said loran—short for "long range aid to navigation" — locates position through receipt of radio signals from stations of known positions.

He described it as a small, comparatively inexpensive machine weighing 35 to 70 pounds and operating "almost automatically" with the twist of a dial.

Commander Martin, a construction engineer in civilian life, said all main shipping routes now were covered by this "electronic brain," with only 150 stations necessary to cover the world's seas.

Government Cracks Down On Speculators In Butter Markets

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (U.P.) — Stabilization Administrator John C. Collet today struck at butter speculators and sought to prevent a threatened retail shortage of the product.

He ordered dealers holding more than 1,000 pounds of butter to repay to the government the five-cent-a-pound subsidy before taking advantage of the announced five cent ceiling price boost on Nov. 1.

"The withholding of butter by speculative elements in the trade," Collet announced, "has in the last few days become so extensive that movement of butter to retailers is practically at a standstill."

Trick Of Speculators

This hoarding, he said, was a trick adopted by speculators to gain what he termed an "unconscionable profit."

The ceiling price increase was scheduled to take effect at the same moment the government, through the Reconstruction Finance Corp., stopped paying the five-cent-a-pound subsidy to butter manufacturers.

By holding butter off the market until the new price became effective, speculators would make for themselves five cents a pound profit since they already would have received the five cent subsidy.

New Setup Announced

Collet said he had directed the Office of Price Administration to amend its creamery wholesale and retail regulations to require holders of 1,000 pounds or more of butter to report their actual inventories as of Oct. 31.

Before any seller—wholesale or retail—can take advantage of the five cent ceiling price increase, he will be required to pay to the government through OPA five cents for every pound he holds over the 1,000 pound limit.

Butter acquired after Oct. 31 at the increased ceiling will not be included in the payback order and holders of less than 1,000 pounds are exempt from the recapture plan, Collet said.

Small Retailers Unaffected

"There are thousands of small retailers and other dealers throughout the country," he said, "who never stock more than a week's supply of butter. Any windfall which they might receive is so small in amount that the cost of administering recapture would exceed the recovery."

The prices of butter to consumers will not be increased legally until Nov. 8, one week after the wholesale ceiling price is boosted.

OPA Administrator Chester Bowles said that Collet's recapture plan would be carried out "with no unnecessary inconvenience to the trade." Any effort of speculators to circumvent the plan by "evasive transfers" of butter can be dealt with under the amendments that are coming up and "will be vigorously prosecuted."

Auto Dealers Fear Slash In Profits

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 (AP) — Automobile dealers said today that OPA apparently plans to allow manufacturers a price increase for new cars and then require dealers to absorb it.

This procedure is likely in order to hold prices the public pays at or close to 1942 levels, dealer representatives reported following a day-long closed meeting with OPA officials.

One industry official who asked that his name not be used said OPA had "indicated that a price increase for at least some manufacturers is almost inevitable."

Ceilings for two or three manufacturers are expected to be ready this week, but OPA will not announce them. That will be left to individual companies.

Civil Aviation To Offer Many Jobs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics administration predicted today that by 1955 civil aviation can provide more than 750,000 new jobs. It added that 2,800,000 families will be able to afford both an airplane and an automobile.

Issuing what was described as the first comprehensive survey of the aviation industry's possibilities during the next decade, the CAA also forecast that:

Airline traffic by 1955 will represent 50 per cent of pullman passenger mileage but "bulk freight-hauling business, which is the main source of income to surface carriers, would be virtually untouched."

Domestic airlines, the report predicted, will be operating a fleet of 1,000 passenger-type planes plus 200 all-cargo planes, and the dollar volume of the industry will be more than triple the $800,000,000 in 1939.

Attainment of these goals, the CAA said, depends on a federal program of assistance, including a national airport plan, pilot training and aviation education, and technical aids such as an improved airways system. This program would cost about $100,000,000 a year for the next 10 years, the report said.

Brownwood To Honor Famed 45th Division

BROWNWOOD, Nov. 1 (U.P.)—The 45th division, composed mainly of Southwestern men, will receive public appreciation for a fighting job well done.

An all-day celebration Nov. 17 will welcome the division back to a Texas training post, Camp Bowie, Brownwood Chamber of Commerce leader Gene Mattox said today. Before going to Europe, where it compiled an enviable combat record, the 45th trained at Camp Barkeley, Abilene. The division was in combat more than 500 days.

Invitations have been sent to the governors of both Texas and Oklahoma to appear as speakers, and to congressmen of the two states, high-ranking military officers and several Hollywood stars.

A parade in which the entire division of 11,000 men will be reviewed will feature the celebration.

GRAIN OUTPUT RESTORED

MOSCOW, Nov. 1. (AP)—Eighty per cent of the pre-war cultivated area of the Ukraine—breadbasket of the U.S.S.R.—has been restored to grain production, the Ukraine premier said today.

Tire chains reduce breaking distances from 40 to 50 per cent on winter roads.

Approximately 75 per cent of the people of Macedonia are peasants.
