Pampa Landmark Given New Name

The Schneider Hotel, a Pampa landmark since 1927, gets a new name this week when the new telephone directories are distributed. Buck Weaver, owner of the hotel, said the new name would be The Pampa Hotel. He said he has been in the process of changing the hotel's name for about a year. Weaver said the change was made because patrons have difficulty in remembering the name and in spelling. "We get letters and checks made out to everything imaginable," Weaver said. He said if they can remember the name of the town, they will be able to remember the name of the hotel after this. He said the change would not be printed in the hotel directory until May of 1955, and would not be made in the City Directory for a year. The Schneider Hotel was built originally by Alex Schneider, Sr. in 1927. It was operated here by Schneider and his son, Alex, Jr. until 1947 when the Southern Hotels of Wichita Falls took over.

Mail Delivery Extended In City

Six blocks were added to city mail delivery by the post office Tuesday, and others will be added as soon as they meet the residence qualifications according to Robert H. Sanford, superintendent of mails. "As soon as an area develops to the point where it is eligible, we will take it into the city delivery system," Sanford said. Blocks added Tuesday: 1400-block Williston, 600-block N. Carr, 600-block N. Starkweather, 1100-block S. Wells, 700-block Murphy, 2100-block Duncan.

Boardinghouse Doc Casts Spell On Girls

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20 —UP—A "gentlemanly" self-styled hypnotist was sought by police Wednesday for questioning in the mysterious poisoning of five girls to whom he acted as "father confessor" at the guest house where they lived. The missing man was Eric Von Bahen, 33, who moved into the guest house three months ago and worked as a decorator at a florist's shop. He disappeared last Saturday after telling fellow employees he was flying to Portland. Police issued no warrant for him. They said they merely wanted to question him. The five girls twice had been made ill by a mysterious poisoning that affected none of the other lodgers at their guest house. One of the girls, Janet Ann Truico, 20, Stockton, is still in a hospital. All five girls were students at a school for dental nurses. They shared a dining table with Von Bahen at the guest-house. They said he was "gentlemanly" and "sophisticated" and had "hypnotic eyes." They said he carried a doctor's type of bag and boasted he was familiar with medical problems. "He became a sort of father confessor," one of the girls said. "He advised us about our illnesses, gave us pain pills and told us he could do more for us than any doctor."

Dulles Has Task Cut Out In Europe

PARIS, Oct. 20 —UP—U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles arrived in Paris Wednesday and plunged at once into the task of developing a new hitch from negotiations for German rearmament. He was particularly concerned with reports that French Premier Guyon West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer a virtual ultimatum to meet French demands on the coal-rich Saar borderland. Authoritative sources said Adenauer warned he will resign the texts of the various agreements restoring German sovereignty and providing for controlled German rearmament until he has "satisfactory guarantees" that the French Saarland conditions will be met. Previously the French premier had said only that he would not present the German agreements to the French national assembly until he had received the "package deal."

Commies Try To Detain U. S. Solon

BERLIN, Oct. 20 —UP—East German Communists tried unsuccessfully Wednesday to detain U. S. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith while she was on tour of East Berlin. The Communists held three members of Mrs. Smith's party for an hour. A Columbia Broadcasting system correspondent hustled Mrs. Smith into an automobile when Communists called the "peoples police" because they objected to the picture-taking. "One of the activists (Communists) tried to hold back Mrs. Smith's automobile with his hand," Richard Hottelet, CBS' German correspondent said. "They shouted at us: 'Stay here, but we left,' he said. Communist police arrived after the Maine Republican had left with Hottelet. They held a driver and three members of the Smith party for an hour before releasing them. The incident took place when CBS cameramen were taking photographs of Mrs. Smith outside a government-operated department store in East Berlin.

Women Stall Sheppard Trial

CLEVELAND, Oct. 20 —UP—Defense attorneys were expected to renew their fight Wednesday to determine if the "other women" in Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard's life would prejudice a jury's decision whether he murdered his wife. "That is the main question in this case, chief defense attorney William J. Corrigan argued Tuesday. "We know on the subject of sex some people have very strong opinions." Common Pleas Judge Edward Rhylin disagreed. "That is not the main issue," he said. "The main question in this case is who murdered Marilyn Sheppard." Rhylin's reply, made in overruling the terminology of a defense question, silenced Corrigan on the subject of Sheppard's extra-marital activities for the balance of the second day's hearings. But he indicated after the trial, he would pursue the subject further. "That's the heart of the state's case," he said. "They will try to picture Sam Sheppard as an unfaithful husband. If a juror has strong feelings about such things, it is not a fair jury."

Gas Fumes Kill 8 In Tenement

DETROIT, Oct. 20 —UP—Mysterious fumes from a gas furnace killed eight men Tuesday night in a crowded rooming house in a tenement section near downtown Detroit. Seven other roomers were listed as "temporarily serious" in receiving hospital and an eighth was released after preliminary treatment. Hotpoint, Maytag, Bendix, Tappan, Joe Hawkins, 848 W. Foster.

Speaker Urges US Wake Up

Help Only Those 'Going Our Way'

More than 400 guests and visitors from 25 communities in West Texas attended the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet Tuesday night and heard one of the nation's top after-dinner speakers, Dr. Kenneth McFarland say, "The American people are tired of putting out every grass fire in the world, supplying the men, money, munitions and machines, and letting our allies make the policy." McFarland, called America's number one air passenger in view of his extensive touring, not only in behalf of General Motors, for whom he is an educational consultant and lecturer, but other invitational talks, is a former superintendent of schools in Topeka, Kans.

Turkey's Role Described He stressed the necessity of helping our allies throughout the world "who are going our way." Turkey, he emphasized, has been going our way and exhausting its resources in supporting the things we believe, maintaining a free economy. "Seven hundred miles of their country borders on Russia, and in modern times," McFarland said, "they have fought the Russians 10 times, whipping them nine. "The sentiment of our people is to put some chips on the people going our way."

Stressing the inherent strength of the people who make up this country, McFarland said: "The American people have a way of coming through when the chips are down. If necessary we are willing to put the good life ahead of the goods of life."

Praises School System Touching on the great depression of the Thirties in this country and throughout the world, McFarland lauded our school system for avoiding revolution and tremendous social upheaval as experienced in Europe. "Our school system is an insurance policy for America, and there is no excuse for letting a policy like that drop." Turning to Russia and the prospects of peaceful co-existence, McFarland emphasized the necessity of American superiority in the arms race "whether there are tax reductions or (See SPEAKER, Page 3)

Bricklayers Have Millions To Invest

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 —UP—The AFL Bricklayers Union this week is discussing a question bothering a good many labor organizations—whether to invest some of their multi-million dollar assets in stocks. Labor unions in general are the most conservative of investors, to the chagrin of a number of brokerage houses which recently have started trying to interest unions in making more money with their money. The assets of the nation's labor organizations have been estimated to total from half a billion to several billion dollars, as a result of their tremendous growth in recent years. It also has been estimated that almost 85 per cent of their assets are in cash, government bonds and savings accounts. An even higher percentage of health, welfare and pension funds—usually administered by an insurance company or a bank—is estimated to be in cash and government bonds. The AFL bricklayers, with 100,000 members, has treasury assets of $18.5 million. Most of this is in government bonds, some in the Union Labor Life Insurance Co., which is owned by several AFL unions, and about $2.5 million in first trust mortgages.

Jelke Trial Heard Again

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 20 —UP—Testimony at Mickey Jelke's cafe society trial pictured him as a playboy who padded his income by getting the favors of prostitutes. The oleo heir's trial was held last year behind closed doors. New York city prosecutor Frank S. Hogan asked the State Court of Appeals Tuesday to uphold Jelke's pending conviction. Jelke was sentenced to three to six years in prison on charges of inducing young women into prostitution. The press was excluded from the trial. Jelke's conviction was reversed last spring by the appellate division of the State Supreme Court. Hogan placed in the public record portions of the spicy testimony, including at least one four-letter word.

OBVIOUSLY, THIS KID IS NO THIEF, HE'S A NAME DROPPER

DENVER —UP— James Dickens, 28, was convicted in 1949 of rifling an auto after police found his Air Force identification tags in the car. In 1952 he was convicted of the same offense when his wallet was found in another rifled car less than a week after he was released from prison. Tuesday Dickens was arrested after his three-day-old parole papers were found beside a rifled car.

FBI Arrests Ten Puerto Rican Reds

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 —UP—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover Wednesday announced the arrest of 10 leaders of the Puerto Rican Communist party in Puerto Rico and New York. Hoover said the roundup "will cripple the Communist conspiracy in Puerto Rico since all those arrested have held important positions in the Puerto Rican Communist party."

The FBI said the arrests were made on complaints charging the 10 with violating the Smith act by conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the government. Nine of the arrests were made in Puerto Rico and one in New York. Hoover said among those arrested were Moscow-trained Juan Santos-Rivera and Juan Emmanuel who served as liaison man between the Puerto Rican and United States Communist parties. Emmanuel, Hoover said, declared in a speech in New York in 1949 that the "traitorous American flag" should be torn out of Puerto Rico.

The latest arrests, Hoover said, marked the 15th roundup of top-level Reds since 1948. It was the second series of arrests outside the continental United States. In a statement, Hoover said the Communist party of Puerto Rico was established in 1934 and is not subordinate to the Communist party in the United States.

New Evidence Produced In Torch Murder

FORT WORTH, Oct. 20 —UP—Two investigators disclosed Wednesday that the walls in a bedroom of the home of suspected torch killer David F. Hagler Jr. are spattered with blood. "The stains are spattered over the walls and drapes in that one bedroom," Deputy Sheriff H. H. Alexander said. "They aren't the type you would find if a man had cut his finger or nicked himself while shaving. They covered too wide an area." Alexander and Detective Sgt. John Dunwoody, who reported finding the stains, said they had taken them to a chemist for analysis. Hagler, 36, is vice president of the U. S. Asphalt Co. of Fort Worth. He is charged with murdering a man still unidentified whose half-cremated body was found in the rear station wagon of Hagler's ex-wife near Davis, Okla., on Oct. 10. The body was at first believed to be that of Hagler, since the station wagon belonged to his former wife and a belt buckle with "H" on it and a Veterans Administration document made out to Hagler were found near by. But Hagler turned up three days later and announced he had been so drunk he couldn't remember (See EVIDENCE, Page 3)

Insurance Men Defend Ads

By UNITED PRESS Spokesmen for eight accident and health insurance companies have defended their advertising practices against complaints filed by the Federal Trade Commission. The eight were included in the 17 companies accused by the FTC Tuesday of making "false and misleading" advertising claims. Philip E. Horan, general counsel for the Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Association of Omaha, Neb., (Mutual of Omaha) called the FTC's action "ill advised." He said Mutual of Omaha was the only company on the list "which is licensed in every one of the 48 states." "It appears to us," he said, "that a conflict has arisen as to whether we are to be supervised by the individual state insurance commissions... or by the Federal Trade Commission." R. E. Pratt, treasurer of the Travelers Health Association of Omaha, said "we do not know what their objections are." "We know of no false or misleading claims in any of our advertising," he said. "If, in the opinion of the (FTC), such exists, we would have been glad to amend our advertising accordingly." In Chicago the Bankers Life and Casualty Co. said in a statement that it has tried to "serve and protect the public interest." "There is a constant problem of getting the public to understand both the benefits and the limitations of all forms of insurance," it said. Brown & Hinkle Inc. ## All Stops Yanked In Victory Quest

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 —UP—Republicans yanked the stops from their congressional campaign Wednesday in what appeared to be their "big push" to hang onto control of Congress in the crucial Nov. 2 election. These were straws in the political winds that seemed to point up a new phase in GOP strategy: President Eisenhower, in whose popularity many Republicans think lies the key to an election victory, took off for Connecticut and New York on a two-day speaking tour that carried him into the strategic east for the first time in the campaign. Vice President Richard M. Nixon announced he was peeling off his gloves and then proceeded to hammer former President Truman in a stinging attack.

Rep. Sam Rayburn (Tex.), House Democratic leader, took the stump at Decatur, Ill., while his Senate counterpart, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.), was scheduled to speak at Las Vegas, Nev. Sens. John L. McClellan (Ark.), John J. Sparkman (Ala.), and Albert Gore (Tenn.) scheduled appearances in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Oregon, respectively. Count on Visit for Boost Although Mr. Eisenhower's tour was labeled officially as "non-political," GOP strategists privately counted on it giving their candidates a boost. Mr. Eisenhower will see Gov. John Davis Lodge of Connecticut who is up for re-election, Ives and former Rep. Clifford M. Case, GOP senatorial candidate in New Jersey. Nixon announced his change of campaign tactics in a speech Tuesday night at Philadelphia. He said that never again should Mr. Truman or any of his Democratic "apologists" be "entrusted with the task of protecting America's security from the termites who are constantly gnawing at us from within."

The vice president, who jumped off Wednesday on a new nine-state campaign swing, also attacked Adlai E. Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential candidate, and "other spokesmen of the ADA left-wing of the Democratic party."

Pigeon Trouble KENOSHA, Wis. —UP—Policeman Louis Blood recorded this complaint: "Man complained that neighbor permits racing pigeons to exercise when the wash is on the line. Officer dispatched to notify pigeon fancier to fly his birds at a more propitious time."

UN Shelves Red Gripe

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 20 —UP—The United Nations returned Wednesday to its disarmament debate, shelving for at least two weeks Russian charges that the United States is an aggressor against Red China. Britain's Selwyn Lloyd was scheduled to answer a series of questions on the western portion on disarmament asked Tuesday by India's V. K. Krishna Menon. U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., implied in his remarks to the steering committee Tuesday that Russia's aggression charges might be a smokescreen for a Communist invasion of Formosa.

Fosters Back From MOD Auslin Meet

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Foster, co-chairmen of the 1955 Gray County March of Dimes Drive, today were back from Austin where they attended a meeting of city and county chairmen called for the purpose of setting up the basic organization of the campaign.

The drive will be held in January.

Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry, Austin, in the state March of Dimes chairman, was present to welcome the delegates.

The national goal will be $64 million, down $11 million from last year, according to Burr Gibson, New York City, assistant national chairman. The previous drive fell short, but $11-$12 million of it was made up in the emergency drive held later in the year.

"We need to make 18 per cent more this year than last year to meet the goal," the Fosters quoted Gibson as saying. This year it will be a 50-50 split between local and national funds — the local got less than half before.

Dr. H. A. Press, San Francisco, told the chairmen, the Fosters continued, what it was hoped would be gotten from the new vaccine being developed. Results of vaccine tests will be announced in April. A total of 1,832,000 youngsters was tested, though only 440,000 of them actually got the vaccine.

The delegates were told that this might be the last big polio fund drive, "if the vaccine proves successful," the Fosters said.

Other March of Dimes officials on hand were James T. Eddington, Grand Island, Neb., assistant national chairman; Miss Ethel Hatch, New York City, assistant to the director for women's activities; and Tom O. Wrigley, the oldest national board member.

Falcon Dam Was Year Old Tuesday

FALCON DAM, Tex., Oct. 20 — UP — A year ago Tuesday two presidents shook hands in the middle of this five-mile-long dam on the Rio Grande. In the year since then the dam has meant safety, prosperity and life itself for uncounted thousands of border residents.

Presidents Eisenhower and Adolfo Ruiz Cortines of Mexico joined to dedicate Falcon dam, the largest international dam in the world. It had been built jointly by the two countries at a cost of about $49 million.

The dam, located nearly 200 miles above the mouth of the river, had the twin purposes of flood control and water conservation for an area where water is sometimes as precious as gold.

Mr. Eisenhower told the thousands of Texans and Mexicans assembled at the dam last year that the project "is a lesson in the way neighboring nations can and should live: In peace, in mutual respect, in common prosperity."

The president of Mexico replied, "notwithstanding the fact that our nations are different in character, customs and resources, they are good friends because they have learned that the principles of mutual respect cannot be confined within the boundaries of any nation, but rather possess a universal value, which applies to personal relationships as well as the relations between states."

Eight months after the dedication the Rio Grande went mad. The Texas co-ordinator of defense and disaster relief, William L. McGill, called the event "the most savage flood in the area's history."

Weeks after the flood was over, McGill described it this way: "There was a 300-mile trail of mud, wreckage and human suffering. The estimate of damage on this side of the Rio Grande has reached a figure of $20 million.... twenty are dead: Hundreds were hurt; 375 homes were destroyed...."

He said no one would ever know the exact death toll in Mexico, although the figures would run far higher than on the U.S. side of the river.

The dirty, swirling floodwaters never reached the most populous and richest sector along the Rio Grande — the lush, agriculturally prosperous Lower Rio Grande Valley. Falcon dam stopped the flood before it could assault the area where previous floods had done their worst damage.

Said McGill: "Had it not been for the foresight, the enterprise and courage of a people in providing this mighty reservoir, the raging waters of the Rio Grande would have rushed unchecked over the Lower Rio Grande — one of the garden spots of God's great earth.

"It would be difficult indeed to describe in statistics the overwhelming damage which such a flood would have brought... damage to crops and industry, to the production of oil and gas, to public facilities and to the lives and private property of people throughout the area's broad expanse."

The dam, said McGill, saved the Valley from "almost inconceivable devastation."

Falcon dam has also given the Valley its first guaranteed water supply in history. The area depends on the Rio Grande for water, but in the past the river has shifted erratically from periods of flood to drought.

Now the dam impounds enough water to supply the Valley for more than a year. The scenic lake behind Falcon covers more than 100 square miles. The water is let out through the dam as it is needed.

THE MARQUEE

BY DICK KLEINER

Howard Barlow, conductor of "The Voice of Firestone," offers proof that what's important on TV is mostly the picture.

"The sound is 15 per cent of the effect of television," he says. "I can repeat the same musical program one year apart and get no complaints, but if I repeat one picture a year from now, everybody writes in."

Plot No. 16-B is the one about the little girl who somehow is seen by the big producer and gets to be a star overnight. Or it could be a young boy who writes songs and the producer hears his songs and he's off to fame and fortune and a blonde who looks like Monroe.

With variations, good old 16-B has served as the framework for nine million movies. But it rarely happens in miserable real life. It is nice to note that it did actually happen to Carolyn Leigh.

Miss Leigh is a song-writer. She wrote a song called "Young At Heart," which Frank Sinatra recorded, and you heard it everywhere last summer.

One morning, when the song was young, the phone rang in Miss Leigh's New York apartment. Let her tell you about an honest-injun 16-B:

"A man said, 'This is Richard Halliday.' I knew the name — he's Mary Martin's husband, and a producer. He said, 'Are you busy now?' He should have seen me in my robe, drinking a cup of coffee. He said that he and Miss Martin had heard my song the night before, and right away Mary had said that she wanted whoever wrote those lyrics to do the music for her new show, 'Peter Pan.'"

"Naturally, I thought somebody was kidding me. That sort of thing just doesn't happen. So I arranged to call him back at his office, and I did and it was he all right. And that's how I came to do 'Peter Pan.'"

Carolyn Leigh is a tall, 28-year-old brunette who writes beautiful lyrics. But she only writes lyrics she believes in — "I guess I'm something of a square," she says, "but I can't write a song unless I feel it."

Transforming Sir James Barrie's "Peter Pan" into musical terms was, she says, a rugged job. And it was her first crack at a project of that size.

"You've caught me in a chastened mood," she said. "I wish I could do the whole thing over. Now I realize my inadequacy. Maybe 10 years from now, just for laughs, I'd like to try 'Peter Pan' again. I know how I could let myself go with it now."

"Lord, how I'd like to do it again."

John Cameron Swayze's capsule version of what makes his NBC-TV news show successful: "I always figure my TV audience is made up of friends. I just tell them what happened in the day's news, that's all."

"Mr. Peepers" NBC-TV show is almost better than summer stock for getting a Broadway part. Tony Randall (Wes Wekitt) is now in "Oh, Men, Oh, Women." Ruth McDevitt (Peepers' mother) has the Josephine Hull part in "The Solid Gold Cadillac." Georgiann Johnson (Mrs. Weskitt) is co-starring in the coming "Reckoning Figure." Patricia Benoit (Nancy Peepers) may get the lead in the coming "Festival."

They're starting to call it Peepers Prep.

On NBC-Radio's "Conversation," Sam Levenson gave an example of what he called a "profound" funny story:

There was a man who suffered at the hands of village boys. They didn't like him so they threw stones at him. One morning he lined up all the little scoundrels and he said, "Look, I want to make a deal with you. Every day with you it's a big operation. You have to go into the woods and get stones and you have to sit around and wait for me and sometimes I'm late and the sun is hot. Why should you do this for nothing? I'm willing to pay. From now on, every kid who throws a stone gets a penny."

Everybody agreed. He'd walk out, they threw stones, he gave each a penny. This went on for about three weeks. Then one morning he walked out and he refused to give them pennies. So they refused to throw stones.

"We are at the point where we can outlaw war," McFarland said referring to the destructive H-bomb, "if we don't throw in the towel. For world leadership knows no one can escape its destructive power."

Summing up his remarks, McFarland said, "This is our last chance at leadership, if we muffle it."

Jury To Consider Insurance Suit

Dist. Judge Lewis M. Goodrich late this morning was reading the special issues to the petit jury in 31st District Court in the case of Tom Southard vs. Maryland Casualty Co.

There were to be two other cases to be heard during this jury week. One, John Hankins vs. J. C. Carter, was dismissed. The other, Lester A. Jones vs. St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co., has been set for 10 a.m. Thursday.

Texas Wants Rights

Governor Allan Shivers has started a campaign to get back States Rights.

Perhaps Governor Shivers' "Texas of the Oil and Gas Well" can raise the price of buying them back. Most states don't have that kind of dough.

When the federal government bought them with grants, subsidies, and loans to the fabricators of machine tool votes, it had the expensible debt limit and the high-speed money press. . . both illegal in most states.

And, if the Governor does not propose to REPURCHASE the "rights inalienable" of his once-sovereign state, then how does he propose to get them back?

In our book there seem to be no examples of the small state reclaiming "rights" once the larger one wrapped tentacles of arbitrary power around it. Unless . . . unless they took arms and killed people called tyrants of the long arm of taxation.

If Gov. Shivers knows of examples, we would be grateful to have them cited. (We know what one of his retorts would be: "But Texas ain't a small state!")

People

An editorial writer finds himself watching headlines, events, elections . . . but mostly he watches people.

A woman is dressed up exactly like a lady. You can't tell the difference until she elbows her way up to the sale counter. She's a savage!

On the way down town you glance in the rear vision mirror. What kind of person won't allow you ten seconds at the stop light before barking with his horn?

We know a little old lady who once had as many friends as she now has money — millions they say. She's lonely and alone now . . . sure that anyone who smiles or nods is after that money.

The chairman of the board of a corporation added a cool thousand points to his bridge score one evening . . . his usual luck being bad. The hostess, being a lady, didn't re-add the tally.

We saw the fellow voted most likely to succeed. He was assistant checker and grocery hiker in a chain store. His classmate who flunked out owns the chain, they tell us.

People — People. And as the old timer once cracked, "Up at the zoo, people were laughing at the monkeys!" But what wonderful neighbors and friends people can be IF YOU LET 'EM!

Dog Trained Outdoors Can't Use Knowledge In House

By HENRY McLEMORE

During our recent vacation we sent our English bulldog pup, Dilly, to an obedience school, and you can imagine our pride, as well as our surprise, when he graduated at the head of his class.

He stood No. 1, beating out poodles, boxers, Irish setters, and a St. Bernard, and to prove it he has a diploma with summa cum laude written on it. No, that's not quite truthful. He did have a diploma, but he chewed it up on the way home in the car.

Please don't let this give you the idea that Dilly didn't learn anything, and didn't deserve the top ranking in his class. The only trouble is that Dilly was trained out of doors.

All his classes were held in the open, in the meadows and fields and beside a running brook. He simply does not connect what he learned under the skies with behavior under a roof.

In the yard or on the street, he can out-hunt any dog this side of Timbuktu. He can out-stare a Civil War veteran when you tell him to, and to tell him to stay is to have him remain as motionless as an iron deer.

But once the door closes behind him, Dilly sheds his newly-acquired knowledge like a coat and becomes 45 pounds of mental blur. To tell him to sit is dangerous. This is a signal for him to propel himself through the air, undershot jaw serving as a prow, knocking down anything that happens to be in his line of flight.

To use command "stay" which gives him vigor mortis outdoors, is worse than telling a Marine to charge. He takes off and goes for what seems hours, springboarding from bed to bed, upsetting coffee tables and lamps, and plowing large holes in screen doors.

This posed a problem for us. We certainly didn't want the money we had spent on Dilly to be money thrown away. It has come down to this.

Mary and I are now probably the most outdoorsy people in this country, not excepting lumberjacks, fly boat masters, and forest rangers. We get any benefit from indoors. We have to stay outside with him, or throw the house wide open — windows, doors,

PAUSE FOR REFLECTION

By JAMES C. INGEBRETSEN
President, Spiritual Mobilization

Discovery off San Diego of a small "black-devil," a strange species of fish usually found only in tropical waters, was announced recently by Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

According to Dr. Carl Hubbs, professor of marine biology, a unique characteristic of the "black-devil" is that only females are free-living adults. Males reach a length of only about an inch, and attach themselves to the females. The blood streams of the two fishes merge and the male loses all identity, becoming merely an appendage of the female.

If the collectivist trend in this country — that is now reducing even farmers to acreage allotment figures and social security numbers, mere appendages of the Government-keeps on, the time may soon come when the familiar question, "What are we, anyway — men or mice?" will appropriately be revised to "What are we, anyway — individuals or 'black-devils'?"

Frank Holman's Summary Of Need For Bricker Amendment

This is the way Holman puts it:

"One last word: Never forget that the issue involved in this Amendment is the greatest issue which faces America today, greater than taxes or inflation or even Communist infiltration. It is the same issue as was involved in the fight for the original Bill of Rights.

The proposed Amendment is a Bill of Rights against an uncontrolled 'treaty power.' The issue is the basic issue of whether we and our children and our children's children are to have a government of men or a government of adequate constitutional safeguards: Remember again and always, there is no place in the American concept of government for omnipotent power except in the people themselves, for our forefathers intended and specifically said that all powers not delegated to the Federal Government are reserved to the States and to the People.

"The fight for an adequate Constitutional Amendment must go on."

SENATOR BRICKER'S STATEMENTS

I want to quote from Senator John Bricker's statements when he introduced an amendment on August 5, 1954 to Congress: "This revised treaty-control amendment is not introduced with any expectation of action in the Congress. My purpose is to facilitate the educational and political activity of patriotic Americans in the months ahead. They are handicapped in such work today because the text of the original amendment was modified three times following its introduction as Senate Joint Resolution 1 on January 7, 1953. In my judgment, the new text embodies the best features of all the proposals that have been considered by the Senate. I intend to reintroduce this amendment on the first day of the 84th Congress.

"The threat of treaty law has not abated. The treaty-making ambitions of the United Nations and its agencies continue to reflect a zeal to regulate the political, economic, and social rights and duties of people everywhere. Those who seek to make the United States a mendacious province in some UN-operated world government are determined to destroy the concept of national sovereignty. This they hope to accomplish at the UN Charter Revision Conference in 1956.

"The nature of the opposition to any limitation on the treaty power has been revealed in the current debate on United Nations Charter revision. To be sure, many advocates of world government seek that end only through formal amendment of the Constitution of the United States. I have commended such people for the respect they have shown for the spirit of our Constitution. In addition, I have always recognized that many sincere and high-minded people who oppose my amendment are not attracted by the world-government idea. The fact remains, however, that the primary source of opposition to my amendment comes from those who seek to set aside the American Declaration of Independence and nullify many of our constitutional protections.

"This has been made clear in the hearings before the Wiley Subcommittee on UN Charter Revision.

"A number of world-government enthusiasts advance the reactionary theory that the United Nations Charter should be amended, if necessary, by interpretation rather than by formal amendment. This theory is advanced in staff study No. 2 of the Wiley Subcommittee on UN Charter Revision. In fact, the authors of that remarkable document maintain that the charter, without the advice and consent of the Senate, has already been validly and substantially amended.

"That the UN Charter can be amended without Senate approval is the most illiberal proposition ever advanced in a Senate document. It is based on the wholly false premise that the United Nations Charter is a world constitution. The United Nations Charter is a treaty. The Senate advised and consented to its ratification in 1945. I shall never stop insisting that the United Nations Charter and all other treaties to which the United States is, or may become a party, are contracts rather than constitutional documents. That was the sense in which the Founding Fathers used the word 'treaty' in the Constitution.

"For example, Hamilton explained the treaty power in the Federalist No. 75, as follows:

"The power of making treaties . . . relates neither to the execution of the subsisting laws, nor to the enactment of new ones. . . Its objects are contracts with foreign nations, which have the force of law, but derive it from the obligations of good faith. They are not rules prescribed by the sovereign to the subject, but agreements between sovereign and sovereign."

"The Constitution of the United States and its Bill of Rights cannot survive the loss of national sovereignty. Most world government plans call for a universal bill of rights along the lines proposed in the UN human-rights covenants. These proposed covenants, if adopted by the United States, would repeal the heart of the Bill of Rights, including the great first amendment freedoms of speech, press, religion, and assembly.

"At the time I first proposed a constitutional amendment to safeguard the exercise of the treaty-making power, I said that the sovereignty and the Constitution of

Subsidies Have Led Farmers To Grow More, Poorer Wheat

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Secretary Ezra Taft Benson has failed to publicize properly and widely a key reason for the Administration's demand for flexible and smaller Federal payments for farm products in surplus production. It is another of many recent examples of blundering political salesmanship at Washington.

As a result of several roving newspaper correspondents' articles in the Eastern press — the unbelievable story is well-known in farm areas — Benson's wheat experts now admit that the Federal bounties have led many growers to raise wheat that is unfit for flour milling or for human or animal consumption, except for pigs.

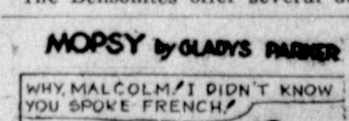

In order to collect more cash from Uncle Sam than they could in the market place, they concentrate on quantity yield rather than quality.

Government storage bins now bulge with about 800,000,000 bushels of wheat, which is almost a full year's crop, and valued at $3 billion. With the government support price averaging $2.20, the total may amount to 1.2 billion bushels at the end of this year.

Wheat experts at Agriculture concede that a vast amount of this surplus, especially that which was grown for cash rather than for consumption, is fit (1) only for sale to the government, or (2) for feed to pigs. Taxpayers will make up the loss resulting from the price paid to farmers and the eventual disposal figure.

Although Kansas has been singled out as the principal offending area because it raises a fourth or fifth of the nation's output, Benson's men say that similar conditions — that is, disregard of quality for quantity — exist in parts of Oklahoma, Texas and Nebraska. The itch to profit is contagious.

Other factors point toward a tremendous loss on this expanding wheat surplus. Many millions of bushels are improperly stored for lack of adequate space, and will have to be destroyed. Foreign nations gladly accepted low-grade stuff when we gave it away, but now they buy in other markets. The Bensonites offer several de-

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

Today I am given a good soaking.

Q—You and other doctors make me tired. Why can't you give a straightforward "yes" or "no" answer to the questions you are asked? You pretend to help people, in your column but you don't tell them what medicine to take or what to do to get well but just advise them to go see their doctors. It seems to me you are just trying to get the doctors to make more money.

A—All right, all right. First, as to the "yes" or "no" answer. The reason it is usually so difficult to make a flat statement in reply to a medical question is that two people who appear to have the same disorder often do not get along the same way even when they receive the same treatment. Would you, for example, want me to say that all those who suffer a heart attack will die suddenly? If I did it would not be true because a great many recover and live normal lives. It is for reasons like this that a direct yes or no answer is so often impossible when dealing with human ailments.

Now to the question on giving treatments. Again two people with the same disease will not respond the same way to the same drug; some will be sensitive to one drug and not another and the dosage or amount will vary from person to person. Probably the most dangerous thing I could do would be to recommend the same treatment to all readers of this column who suffered from what appeared to them to be identical symptoms.

Finally, I am not trying to make the doctors rich. Most of them have enough or too much to do anyway. But surely a person who is ill stands a better chance of getting well from the personal attention of a competent physician than from any recommendations for treatment published in some kind of wholesale manner.

House Committee Discovers Smear Of American Citizens

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

WASHINGTON — I present here, with an expose of a wanton smear of unsuspecting American citizens which was discovered in the murky catacombs of Washington and New York, in 1947, his information has lain dormant ever since it was turned up by a subcommittee of the House committee on expenditures in executive departments.

Harry B. Mitchell, the president of the civic service commission, appeared as a witness, accompanied by Frances Perkins, who had been the Roosevelt Secretary of Labor, and Arthur S. Flemming, commissioners, Clare E. Hoffman, of Michigan, as chairman of the subcommittee, dragged out the fact that the Civil Service Commission spent more than $30,000 transcribing unofficial material from the files of the New York law firm of Minter and Levy, the so-called Friends of Democracy, the national lawyers guild and other gum-shoe organizations.

The subcommittee's report flatly stated that the file was "in many respects, merely an index of suspicion, rumor, prejudice and malice."

George S. Minter, the senior partner of the law firm referred to, was active in a covert patriotic movement which attacked some reputations for no better reason than personal dislike or disagreement with social, political or religious convictions. Minter later realized that mistakes had been made and withdrew.

The subcommittee's report said that on Oct. 3, 1947, Hoffman learned that the Civil Service Commission had 750,000 "investigator's leads" on index cards. These covered "alleged subversive and disloyal affiliations of certain citizens." Hoffman heard that the file contained information about members of both houses of Congress and other persons of national prominence who were not likely to apply for civil service jobs.

Therefore there was no excuse for the commission to amass "files" on these individuals, even if it could be argued that the commission was right in accepting unverifiable reports from private organizations about possible applicants.

The friends of democracy is one of the worst of these private organizations. It was the home base of John Roy Carlson, the notorious faker and liar, who wrote the outrageous smear work called "Undercover," which sold enormously during the war. Judge John P. Barnes, in the course of a libel suit against Carlson, ne Derouin, and his publishers, said Carlson was unworthy of belief on oath and would write anything for a dollar.

"Undercover" was given a fantastic build-up by the New York Times and the Herald Tribune in the face of common knowledge that Carlson was an irresponsible adventurer in scandalous publicity. The book got a tremendous campaign of free publicity and was circulated to the extent of many thousands in the centers where service men were training or on active duty.

The subcommittee's report said: "The chairman was told that someone at the Civil Service Commission would, that day or very soon, make a sound recording of the information on the cards relating to members of the house and senate. It was evident that if such a recording was made and became available, as so many confidential communications do become available, to the radio and press, many reputations might be smeared or defamed."

Material transcribed from the private files of Minter and Levy was catalogued in the civil service files under special warning that the source was not to be disclosed under any circumstances. However, the Civil Service warning added that "further information concerning the above may be obtained by contacting the offices of Minter and Levy."

At one time, in 1943, a staff of 50 typists, 25 clerks and three investigators on the payroll of the Civil Service Commission worked continuously for 60 days transcribing information in a number of offices in the City of New York to be incorporated in the confidential index of the commission in Washington. The civil service commission in November, 1947, got scared over its own audacity in listing members of the legislative branch

Are our Peace Plans making war inevitable? Both parties are making it clear that they want no responsibility for war — before the Fall elections. To do this, it is said, the American Seventh Fleet will be immobilized — even if Formosa is attacked. Of course, the Chinese Communies know this and may be anxious to take advantage of it. That's why some Washington big shots are betting that they'll invade Chiang Kai-shek's island before November 2.

Jonathan Yank

as "subversives" on the word of had destroyed such cards.

Chairman Hoffman, on Oct. 8, 1947, asked President Truman to issue an executive order opening the file to the house committee. On Oct. 21, Truman refused on the ground that the files were maintained on a "confidential basis."

Mitchell, of the Civil Service Commission, wrote the committee that "cards" recording data on 487,033 individuals were compiled in New York in June and July, 1943. Of these names 56 per cent were taken from Communist Party petitions. The New York offices of the Dies committee furnished a further 11 per cent. The New Jersey State Police gave material for 8,000 cards. The files of the Friends of Democracy yielded about five per cent and "6,000 or 7,000 cards were based on information secured from a confidential source."

The subcommittee made sharp distinction between information gathered from open political registrations, public petitions and from the records of Congressional committees on the one hand and from private files, on the other. "There is," the report said, "no evidence supporting the authenticity or reliability of much of this material transcribed from private files. Some of the basic material came principally from sources publicly identified as sympathetic with the programs and aspirations of international Communism."

Both the record of the hearings and the report of the subcommittee are now extremely rare congressional documents.

The Nation's Press

AGREEMENTS AT LONDON
(The Wall Street Journal)

There was great jubilation in Lancaster House yesterday as the foreign ministers of nine nations initiated agreements concluded at the London conference. There was some reason for the happy air. It looked for a time as though the conference might in the end be fruitless. It is much too early for a full assessment of the impact of the detailed agreements; nonetheless, the broad outlines of the protocol suggest a some caution about the jubilation.

It is true that much of what the dead and buried European Defense Community treaty proposed in the way of military power is included in the London agreements. Indeed, it is strengthened by the pledge of the British to maintain on the continent the troops already there under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Further, West Germany will be armed and granted sovereignty, and her early entrance into N.A.T.O. is freely predicted even by the French representatives, whose National Assembly earlier had killed E.D.C.

It is plain that the reason any agreement was reached was that some of the principals were disposed to make concessions. Here, too, the British had pledged only cooperation to European unity as envisioned earlier. Now Britain pledges troops and thus surrenders some of her historic insularity and some of her sovereignty by according to a majority of the nations participating the right of decision of the withdrawal of British forces. Dr. Adenauer disposed of the arms control question by pledging that Germany would make no atomic, biological or chemical weapons and nothing larger than machine guns and mortars. All of these were concessions to French fears of a resurgent Germany dominating West Europe.

The role of the United States at London was a comparatively minor one, and as it turned out that was the wiser course. Mr. Dulles pledged only that he would seek for the new alignment the same commitments the U. S. made to E.D.C. Thus the charge that the United States — made so often and with some justification about other conferences — had used its power to persuade unwilling allies to do some things disagreeable to them cannot be made of the London conference. It is all to the good that the Europeans provided their own leadership.

Yet it would be a hasty judgement to say that the London conference has settled very many of West Europe's problems. The agreements to bring West Germany into an enlarged Brussels conference must still, as we observed just last Friday, meet the test of the peoples and parliaments involved. For Britain there is the question of the surrender of some of her sovereignty in the distribution of her troops. And what Premier Mendes-France has agreed to may not settle at once the fears of Frenchmen about German rearmament any more than E.D.C. convinced them that the greater danger was Russia.

The happy air at the signing in Lancaster House yesterday was most evident in Mr. Eden's words: "We have built well for the future of Europe." But in the jubilation it will be well to remember that agreement on this particular set of plans does not mean there will be no changes in the design, and it does not mean that the structure will rise tomorrow.

June Talk

By JANE KADINGO

Pampa News Women's Editor

PERHAPS IT WAS a month ago that City Manager Fred Brook, during a speech on city taxes and budgeting, asked the League of Women Voters members how many prepared family budgets. There may have been one or two, but I can't remember a woman raising her hand — including me. It struck us all sort of funny as you hear so much about budgeting... and then find that very few do anything about it.

SINCE THAT TIME, I read an article on the pros and cons of budgeting. Some say it tends to ward thrift and economy; others say it doesn't as budgeters don't follow the budget anyway. Some say it enables you to plan for future emergencies; others say an emergency causes the budget to fall apart. Some say it lessens money worries; others say it causes more. It was an interesting article.

All this started me thinking. It might be enlightening to keep — or try — a budget for a while, just to see what happens. At least, it might provide insight into where the money goes each week, just how much of your income is going for what. Might be an interesting experience. Wonder if it would help save for that little extra luxury you've been wanting for some time... or if it might help toward putting aside a nice Christmas gift fund.

Is there any reader that does budget? If so, do you find it helpful? Or is there someone who has tried it and found it unsatisfactory? If so, why? Why don't you write in about it?

WHO TAKES the pictures in your family? According to a recent article I received, women are taking over that job.

"NEW YORK, N. Y. — 'In most families the man of the house does the picture taking — except for those precious few occasions when he unwillingly allows mother to take his picture next to Grant's Tomb or some other vacation landmark. But all that's changing, according to Carrie D. Pavelle, vice president of a leading independent photo-finisher company.

"America's housewives are beginning to steal some of dad's thunder in the picture taking business — especially when it comes to grabbing those priceless shots that hubby is never around to record.

"Husbands have to make a living — which is unfortunate from the standpoint of their photo hobby. Thus, the first time junior decides to stand up, dad is likely to be at the office. 'Who else can put that great moment on film but mother?' Mrs. Pavelle wants to know.

"This mother of three strapping boys is all for mothers elbowing the men folk in the camera hobby. They have more chances for really fine family pictures than the workaday males. Mrs. Pavelle says that many mothers are a little awed by the surface mysteries of taking pictures — but without foundation. Photography can be simple if you make it that way. Every camera comes with instructions and if you read them and follow them to the letter you almost can't miss.

"Simple box cameras made today can take both black and white and color. With practice the problems of composition, lighting, and capturing that fleeting moment become less troublesome. A few good shots will convince dad that you have talent — and may be worthy of the pearls he has stored up in his brain. He even may loosen up enough to let you use that sacred camera of his — and allow a legend to be shattered. You'll probably learn that all those gadgets are really not complicated at all.

"What to shoot? Almost anything is fair game, from the baby to the butcher, to the cop on the beat. Just remember, says Mrs. Pavelle, the things that interest you are bound to interest other people. Probably the best opportunities will come around the house. The children are the most obvious subjects — kids are wonderfully uninhibited, and after a while they tend to ignore the camera and go about the business of having fun.

"If you decide to shoot color, says Mrs. Pavelle, 'just load your box camera with a positive transparency color film. If using a camera with variable settings take at f 11 and 1-25th. Place one of the new amber color flash bulbs in the reflector socket. Use No. 5 or No. 25. In average room settings place the subject about 8 or 10 feet from the lens. In a brightly painted room the range should be between 7 to 9 feet. Remember, colorful subjects make the best color shots.

"So load up the camera, let your eye rove around a bit — and tell the man to move over a bit — the angle is better where he's standing."

White Deer Bridge Club Has Meeting

WHITE DEER — (Special) — Mrs. Vic Bates was hostess to the No Trump Bridge Club when it met in her home this week. Mrs. L. A. Fickett won high score; Mrs. Clifton Shafer, low score; and traveling prize was won by Mrs. Don Nicholson.

Refreshments of cake and coffee were served. Those attending were Richard Barnes, Aubrey Thompson, Robert Nicholson, Marvin Miliken, Dare Locke, Clifton Shafer, L. A. Towjens, Don Nicholson and the hostess, Mrs. Bob Moore was a guest.

Next meeting will be Nov. 1, in the home of Mrs. Robert Nicholson.

Hopkins PTA Slates Fun And Frolic Night

The Hopkins Parent-Teacher Association will sponsor a "Food, Fun and Frolic" night Oct. 29, in the Community Building.

Chili, hamburgers, hot dogs, pie, cake and coffee will be served from 6 to 8 p.m.

Entertainment will consist of games, a House of Horror, and movies for the children.

This is the group's money-making project of the year.

Teresa Roberts Feted At Party

Teresa Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Roberts, was honored with a party recently on her first birthday in the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Jo Young, 1602 Mary Ellen.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served to the 25 guests present, including her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Roberts and her uncle, Jimmy Randley all of Wildorado.

White Deer Society Chooses Officers

WHITE DEER — (Special) — The National Honor Society of White Deer High School met recently and elected officers for the coming year. Those chosen were Jerry Kotara, president; Sue Franklin, vice-president; Patsy Moran, secretary; and Jack McCabe, treasurer.

The group voted to make the club an active rather than an honorary group. The first initiation is planned for November with Patsy Moran, Roger Barrett and Jack McCabe in charge of preparations.

Other members of the society are Annette Burns, Patsy Smith, Naomi Smith, Bette Roles, Roy and Ray Miller, Marion Bichsel and Larry Cannon. Miss Claudia Everly is club sponsor.

U. S. Shoes Worn By Prince Charles

The young heir to the British throne is running around in good American leather shoes these days — thanks to the intervention of glamorous Marlene Dietrich, who was in Buckingham Palace recently for a visit with Britain's Queen Elizabeth and her children.

It all started when Miss Dietrich, invited to an informal tea by Her Majesty, was ushered into the royal nursery where the Queen was spending the daily hour she sets aside for her youngsters.

Prince Charles and his little sister, Princess Anne. Naturally, the conversation dealt largely with the children, and Miss Dietrich happened to remark how rapidly her own two grandchildren grew out of their clothes, especially their shoes. Then glancing down at the shoes the Prince and Princess were wearing, she clucked in shocked surprise. The royal youngsters were running around in outgrown shoes that were beginning to come apart!

Together, the Queen and the movie star got down on their knees to examine the children's shoes, and in firm grandmotherly tones Miss Dietrich pointed out how important it was for them to wear well-fitting leather shoes to insure that they grow up on healthy feet.

"We have the finest leathers and make wonderful shoes for children in America," Miss Dietrich said to the Queen. "Let me send a few pairs to the children." She then traced the outlines of the children's feet on paper, sent the outlines to a well-known New York shoe store, along with an order for twelve pairs of leather-soled shoes for the Prince and the Princess.

Pantry-shelf meals are popular with Mrs. W. Douglass of Baltimore. She has to feed a family of five — all active. So we asked her for her quick formula.

Here's one dinner menu that takes only 35 minutes of easy preparation.

Menu: Franks 'n' noodles, green beans vinaigrette, fruited cold slaw, crusty rolls, blueberry crisp, coffee, milk.

The dessert takes longest to cook. Blueberry Crisp

Drain 1 1/2-cup blueberries in heavy syrup, reserving 1-3 cup syrup in 8- or 9-inch pie plate.

Sprinkle with mixture of 1-3 cup brown sugar, 1/4 cup flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1-8 teaspoon nutmeg; dot with 2 Tbs. butter or Queen Elizabeth and her children.

Miss Inez Clubb Speaks To AAUW

Miss Inez Clubb, Junior High School teacher, spoke and showed colored slides on her trip during the summer through Europe at the meeting Tuesday evening of the American Association of University Women in the City Club Room.

Miss Clubb explained that the trip was a cultural tour, with authorities on architecture, painting, sculpture and history as members of the group.

Among the slides shown were many of castles, cathedrals, gardens and abbey ruins in England and Scotland. Some of the famous places she visited included Prime Minister Gladstone's castle, Wordsworth's home, Robert Burns' home, Brigadoon, Loch Lomond, Abbotsford (the home of Sir Walter Scott), Cambridge, Anne Hathaway's cottage, Oxford, in the British Isles; and Trafalgar Square, Notre Dame, Versailles, in France; Switzerland; and Italy.

Miss Nova Mayo, who introduced Miss Clubb, informed the group that Miss Clubb has traveled in Canada, Mexico, the U. S. park areas in the west and northwest, the Great Lakes region, the Dakotas, the Southern States and Eastern cities. She's been in every state except Rhode Island and Connecticut, Miss Mayo added.

A short business session was led by Miss Sibyl Turner, president. The budget for the year was approved by the chapter, and appreciation extended to those who assisted with the chest X-ray unit.

Refreshments of doughnuts, Halloween candy and spiced tea were served. Decorations included a table covered with an orange Halloween cloth, and centered with a large "witch's" hat. More than 45 persons were present.

Hostesses for the event were Mmes. L. L. Milliren, Lillian Mullinax, and John I. Bradley and Clyde Rodscape.

Panel To Present Program To PTA

A panel discussion on comic books will highlight the meeting of the Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association at 8 p.m. Thursday in the school auditorium. Members of the panel, to be introduced by Jack Foster, program leader, will be Mrs. Jack Foster, Mrs. J. D. Schroedel, J. M. White, Jim Hopkins and Paul Brown, moderator.

Following the discussion, Ross Buzzard will give a short talk on legislation. All parents and interested persons are invited to attend.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend

I hope you will be able to give this your considerate attention. Possibly you can tell me where that home for the aged is in the northern part of the state. An article ran in one of the magazines describing the activities and home life of the occupants. I believe some persons paid according to their financial activities.

I am a widow of 62, hard of hearing with a bad right side, very painful. I live by myself in a small apartment and can manage to cook and care for myself somewhat but I have seven blocks to walk for groceries which is too far.

Too, my biggest anxiety is that I have no income and am living on the last few hundreds of my savings. The thought of going on relief worries me terribly.

In other words I constantly pray for security. I believe in community prayer. I am a member of the Presbyterian church but where can I find a group that will pray for one's need? It costs money to go to church and everyone takes for granted everyone is without need and if they even know you do not meet with their financial standards you have no chance.

What hurts me most even though I've been handicapped both with deafness and bad health I have taught in orphanages and homes and schools for the handicapped.

Thanking you for the trouble I am causing you, I hope that you can throw some light my way.

Dear Martha

There are a number of homes for the aged of the sort you mention but they almost always are for special groups. They are maintained by various organizations as a means of caring for elderly members. I don't know of any that would take in a so-called outsider. If there are any such homes, and any of my readers knows of them I will be glad to send you the information.

As for the community prayers—I feel that you should talk the matter over with your pastor who must be Christian enough to want to help you to solve your problem. He perhaps can make some suggestions toward helping you. If he remains uninterested in helping you, you will just have to face the fact that he is lacking in Christianity and probably his prayers wouldn't do any good anyhow.

Have you no neighbors who could arrange for you to drive to the market when you go so that you will be spared the long walk? I am sure that if they realize your plight they will be delighted to help you.

Pampans Attending Catholic Convention

A delegation from Pampa's Holy Souls Church is in Amarillo today for a two-day convention of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women. Attending are Mrs. R. E. McKernan, president of the local Parish Council of Catholic Women; and Mmes. A. D. McNamara, Lloyd Simpson, James A. Archer, Raymond Laycock, Victor J. Jamison, Lynn Boyd, M. F. Roche, Robert Mack, William Maul, Thomas L. Wade, S. W. Kretzmeier, and Father Francis J. Kuntz.

Highlight of the convention will be the closing banquet today in the Amarillo Country Club with Mrs. James S. Adams, recipient of the Papal Cross from Pope Pius XII in August, 1953, as featured speaker. She will interpret the convention's theme, "Keeping the Practices of the Marian Year in Existence," and will recount her experiences at Marian shrines in America and Europe. The Diocesan Mother of the Year will also be presented.

Hosts to the convention are the parishes of Amarillo's Sacred Heart, St. Joseph and St. Lawrence Cathedrals.

Mrs. P. M. Carroll of Phillips, diocesan president, called the meeting to order at 10:15 a.m. Tuesday, followed by the invocation by Father Edmund Hartigan. A workshop on spiritual development, "Three Leaf Clover—Home, Church and Country," followed by a luncheon in the Amarillo Club. During the afternoon business session, new amendments were voted on, committee reports given, and new officers elected.

The afternoon sessions also included a special instruction class for presidents of parish group and a family-life home and school workshop, "Not What You Should Do — But How To Do It."

During the Holy Hour Tuesday in St. Mary's Chapel, the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women was formally consecrated to the Immaculate Heart of Mary. Rev. Clifford Corcoran led the group in the recitation of the Holy Rosary and spoke on "The Immaculate Heart of Mary."

Say! Did you dig that sharp looking Junior High Band as they marched in the Old Progress week parade? They sounded good, and not only did their new uniforms look tip-top — even the twirlers had uniforms, which is more than can be said for the Harvester band twirlers who must perform in shorts and blouses.

Speaking of bands, the PHS pep band turned out at the downtown pep rally Friday. Did you notice that they all had their collars turned up?

And speaking of collars, there is a new style for cat collars which is reported to have come from Denver — turn them up as usual, but roll them back down in small rolls. It's hard to explain, so see me for a free demonstration.

A tip of the chapeau to Joanne Robertson on being chosen "Miss Clean Sweep" by the Pampa Jay-Cees. Bet it was a hard choice between Joanne, Anita Wedgeworth, Marcheta Hall, Peggy Cotten, Marilyn Moore and Nancy Moore.

The Hi-Y boys reported that their pom-poms sold like hot cakes last Friday. In fact, Duggan Smith was scurrying through the halls advertising "red hot pom-poms" and Butch Reynolds' cry was "get your pom-pom-poms here!"

Here is a crazy geometry problem for you cats:

Given: I am a lover.
Prove: You love me.
Proof: I love you, you are the world to me. The whole world loves a lover.
Therefore: You love me.
(crazy, no?)

"Give your talent to the talent show!" That's the motto concerning next Wednesday's assembly, which will be the annual talent display. PHS is just brimming over with kids who can DO things. If you are one of those, or even suspect you are one of them, this is your show. Run in the Student Council office TODAY and sign up!

Don't forget the pep rally tomorrow morning at 8. Be there to give the boys a rousing send off. And as Jo Tooley, head cheerleader says, don't wait until the day of the game to get up your enthusiasm and school spirit! Start now!

Chuckles and giggles nowadays mean that a Dennis the Menace book is near. One found its way to the community concert, in the hands of E. L. Wilkinson, Mary Inman and B. D. Robinson. Nickle, Lewter and Janie Simms were going crazy, man, over one fourth period yesterday.

What a blow! Do you realize that this is already the second week of this six weeks? Only three more weeks and then those tests again!

Saw exes Blaine Skewes, Bunky Fannon and David Fatherece at the football dance after the game last Friday. It's nice to see old faces back home.

And that game! Wow! Are those Harvesters ever cool! The last quarter of that San Angelo game they gave the Bobcats a real run for their money. Let's go, guys, and play all four quarters of the Abilene game like you played that last one. We're behind you all the way! Let's "Eliminate those Easies!"

It's fascinating to listen to Mr. Little's typing classes as they type drills in time to music. No kidding, give a listen to that nervous beat!

A chartered bus to Abilene is being sponsored by the Student Council, and now it's just a case of first come, first served. The first 35 people who sign their names in the Co-op and plunk down their $5 are the ones who will get to go. If there are enough more than 35 students who sign, another bus, perhaps smaller, may be chartered. The bus will leave Pampa at noon Friday and leave Abilene at midnight. All you who go — yell, yell, yell!

All you exes and grads of Pampa High, come to the Homecoming Nov. 23. By the way, it should be understood that the Homecoming is for ALL ex-students of PHS, whether they attended from one to four years. To the class of 1951, as the honor class, is extended a special invitation. Y'all come!

Accused Cop Killers' Trial Begins

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 20 — UP — Two witnesses testified Tuesday alleged detective-slayer Hurlie Franklin Fairris went joy-riding with his blonde girl friend in Oklahoma City on the day the killing occurred.

The two witnesses, one a close friend of the 20-year-old Dallas hoodlum, were the fourth and fifth called to testify as the state began presentation of its case. Thirty state witnesses were subpoenaed.

County Attorney Granville Scanlan indicated he would seek to prove Fairris was here at the time of the slaying.

6 Alpinists Found Frozen On Mountain

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 20 — A rescue party Monday night recovered the frozen bodies of six young mountain climbers who were swept away by an avalanche of more than 50 tons of snow and rock.

Two other members of the Treasury Ministry Hiking Club were found alive in a shelter on the side of a smoking, three-mile high volcano.

The six bodies were found at the bottom of a deep ravine on the side of the 17,887-foot Popocatepetel peak, about 50 miles southeast of Mexico City.

The victims were identified as football star Humberto Zetisaga; Cristobal Abarca, a leading Mexican climber; Marta Martinez; Leonor Collin; Francisco Meneses and Adolfo Carreon.

The two who were rescued were Araceli Silveti, daughter of retired bull fighter Juan Silveti, and Jaime Carreon.

The disaster occurred Sunday while hundreds of climbers were scaling the dormant volcano. It wasn't reported until Monday night when other climbers returned to the base of the peak.

The rescue party had to fight strong winds, fog and soft snow to reach the icy tomb where the six bodies were recovered.

Methodist Men To See Film

A film, "The Hidden Heart" will be shown by Herman Jones, assistant principal of the Junior High School, to tonight's 7 o'clock meeting of the Methodist Men's Fellowship of the First Methodist Church.

Knox Kinard, Pampa superintendent of schools, will introduce Mrs. James Webb, new choral teacher in the Junior and Senior High Schools, who will sing, accompanied by Mrs. Roy Johnson.

The dinner will be served by Mrs. W. R. Campbell and the children's division committee. Tickets are available.

Dr. Calvin Jones will lead the group in singing. Joe Tooley, program chairman, is in charge of the evening's entertainment.

Following the dinner there will be a business session conducted by Arthur Teed, president of the group.

Local Prize
LOUISVILLE, Ky. — UP — Mrs. W. G. Birdsall, after winning local and district contests, won a regional speaking contest at New Orleans, La. The prize was a trip to the international convention of toastmistress clubs held here. Mrs. Birdsall's trip cost merely bus fare. She lives in Louisville.

Former Cop Shot Down By Terrorist

WACO, Oct. 20 — UP — A Waco tavern owner who formerly was a Fort Worth policeman was killed Tuesday by an assailant who terrorized him 30 minutes with a shotgun.

The victim was James Barker, 56, operator of Big Jim's tavern on the Temple highway.

Sheriff C. C. Maxey filed a murder charge against Johnny Gribble and issued a statewide pickup for the man known as "Blackie."

Assistant District Attorney Burney Walker said Barker, who was six foot three and weighed 260 pounds, told him before he died that the man who shot him was known to him only as "Blackie."

Walker quoted Barker as saying his assailant made him sit down in a chair in the kitchen of the tavern about midnight, paced around the chair for 30 minutes waving a shotgun and warning him he was going to kill him.

"He had the gun within three or four feet of me all the time," Barker was quoted by Walker. "He kept saying he was going to shoot me, and finally he did."

The shooting occurred shortly after midnight. Barker died in a Waco hospital at 3 a.m.

Two deputies, Albert Bostick and Earl Riddleberger, arrested three men at the tavern shortly after the shooting, all very drunk, they said. They were taken to jail for questioning.

FREE WHEELING

A special sling devised for Fritzell, a San Jose, Calif., dachshund, enables him to get around and even pick up passengers. He has a ruptured disc of the spine, and it'll take about three months to heal. In the meantime Fritzell will have to travel on the roller skate, an added feature of the sling.

Talc Tablet

GOUVERNEUR, N. Y. — UP — A bronze tablet, marking the site of the first commercial talc mill in the United States was unveiled here. The tablet was bolted to a bloc of talc ore taken from the Wight mine and set in concrete.

The old mill, located between Fowler and Balmat, was built by the Agalite Fibre Co. in 1876.

Khaki cloth formally was adopted by the Army for uniforms in 1898.

During World War II, the Dutch underground used the name of Scheveningen, a coastal city, for a modern shibboleth to unmask German agents. Only a Netherlander can pronounce it correctly.

Press Box Views

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

COACH AUBRA NOONCASTER praised his Fighting Harvesters for the fine comeback in last Friday's game against the San Angelo Bobcats in his weekly talk to the Pampa Quarterback Club last night.

"I was beginning to vision a 60-7 score or something after the third quarter but our kids kept plugging and almost overcame the 41-7 third quarter deficit," Nooncaster said.

"It would have been easy for the kids to lay down in that final quarter," Nooncaster said. "But they didn't and as a result they turned the game into a close one."

"And another thing I'm proud of the boys is that none of them had to be dragged from the field after they got so far behind," Nooncaster said.

"It's easy for a player to think he is hurt when his team is getting beat but we didn't have a single player to get hurt in that final quarter," Nooncaster added.

Despite two heart-breaking losses the past two weeks, the Harvesters haven't lost any of that all-out spirit.

The Green and Golders have shown a lot of spirit in their two workouts this week thus far.

In fact, the Harvesters have held a couple "head knocking" sessions, something they haven't been able to do this season.

Numerous injuries through most of the season have made it impossible for the Harvesters to hold intra-squad scrimmages. But with most of the boys ready for action, the Harvesters have been able to scrimmage this week.

Not being able to hold scrimmage sessions this season is one reason the Harvesters' defense hasn't been up to par.

PUTT POWELL OVER AMARILLO way can't understand why he praised Curtis Barrett for a fine refereeing performance in the 1953 Harvesters-Sandale basketball game here but then ran him down over a bad game in the Harvesters-Sandale football game the other night.

It appeared Wednesday that huge Rice Stadium will be filled to overflowing Saturday when Texas makes a desperate Southwest Conference comeback against Rice.

Rice athletic officials said only a limited number of end-zone seats in the 70,000-capacity stadium remained unsold.

Importance of this week end's games insofar as the league race is concerned was reflected in workouts at the seven Southwest Conference schools yesterday.

Rice Coach Jess Neely sent his Owls through a hard scrimmage at Houston and scheduled another Wednesday. At Austin, Coach Ed Price drilled the Longhorns most of the afternoon on football fundamentals, then ended the day with a 30-minute scrimmage.

Harvesters To Face Top Defensive 11

By JACK HOLDEN
Sports Editor
Abilene Reporter-News

ABILENE, Oct. 20 — Pampa's high-scoring Harvesters will meet District 1-AAAA's top defensive club here Friday night as Abilene hosts the Panhandle team.

While Pampa has rolled up its amazing point totals, the Eagles have allowed only 49 points in five games. Thirty-five of them were scored by a fast stepping Breckenridge eleven which dumped the Warbirds, 35-13.

Since the Breckenridge game Abilene has tightened up, allowing Borgor only one touchdown in defeating the Bulldogs, 34-7, and Odessa one in the Eagles' 21-7 victory last week. The Eagles shut out Highland Park 40-0 and Sweetwater 13-0 in their first two games this year.

Dark Inks 2-Year Giant Contract

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 — UP—Alvin Dark, team captain and leading hitter of the New York Giants in the World Series, led his teammates into the fold Wednesday when he signed a two-year contract calling for an estimated $35,000 a year.

The contract is the second in succession which Dark has signed for two years and is believed to contain a raise of about $2,500 a year over the pact he had during 1953 and 1954.

Eddie Brannick, the Giants' secretary, announced that Dark's signed contract had been received in the mail from Lake Charles, La. No terms were revealed but Brannick said, "He signed for two years so you can bet he was mighty satisfied."

Dark, 31-year old native of Commerce, Okla., played in all the Giants' 154 games this year, batted .282, hit 20 homers and drove in 70 runs.

Harvesters, Lewis Top 1-4A Offense

The Fighting Harvesters took over as the top offensive team in District 1-AAAA through the first two weeks of play last weekend.

And Harold Lewis, Harvesters fullback, surged to the top in individual rushing and total offense and is tied for second in scoring.

The Harvesters have gained 756 yards from scrimmage in their two district games to date, 617 rushing and 139 passing. Abilene, the Harvesters' foe this week, is the second leading offensive team with a 693 yard total offense.

Abilene, on the other hand, tops the district in defense, allowing their two foes to date only 355 yards total offense (rushing and passing).

Lewis has rolled up 375 yards rushing in the two Harvesters district games to date for a 10.4 average per carry. He leads his nearest pursuer, Wahoo McDaniel of Midland, by 80 yards.

Lewis' 375 yards rushing also stands up as tops in total offense. Johnny Baskin of Borgor is second in total offense with 328 yards, 197 rushing and 131 passing.

In scoring, Jim Millerman of Abilene and Marvin Lasater of San Angelo share the lead with 30 points each with Lewis and Midland's McDaniel close behind with 24 each.

The Harvesters' Dickie Mauldin and Amarillo's Arnie Duncan follow Lewis and McDaniel in scoring with 18 points apiece.

Mauldin is fifth in rushing with 173 yards in 20 carries.

Quarterback Buddy Sharp of the Harvesters is third in punting with a 37.5 average on four kicks.

RESHUFFLE

Prime Minister Winston Churchill announced a sweeping cabinet reshuffle, indicating he intended to remain at the helm until 1955 or 1956 despite predictions of his retirement. Selwyn Lloyd, left, rose from minister of state in the Foreign Office to supply minister, while Education Minister Florence Horsburgh, center, and woman cabinet minister, and Defense Minister Earl Alexander, right, have announced their resignations. Two other major resignations opened the way for promotions all along the line. (NEA Telephoto)

He's smart - statured Dave Sharp, handsome enough to be an actor. He's a movie stunt man, specializing in breathtaking falls. Rates: $150 to $1500 per fall.

I met him rousting the Saxon-Norman battle scenes in "Lady Godiva of Coventry" at U-I. He also plays a Norman warrior in the film, falling from a castle wall into a moat 18 feet below.

"A cinch," he said.

His toughest stunt was a fall in "The Cimarron Kid." He tumbled off a horse at the edge of a cliff, fell to a ledge 35 feet below, rolled down a precipitous slope another 100 feet, dropped again 40 feet into a river, and lay face down in the water for a count of 10.

"That was tough," Dave said. "It makes me nervous to hold my face under water very long."

"You must meet my husband. He's not like me—HE'S REFINED."

"Just like my family," replied Jerry. "My wife is refined, too."

Workers Hunt For Casualties Left By Hazel

By UNITED PRESS

Rescue workers Tuesday searched the 2,000 mile long strip of destruction left by Hurricane Hazel for nearly 100 persons missing since the mighty storm whipped up from the tropics and roared northward through the United States and Canada.

Only slight hope remained that they would be found alive.

At the moment, the known death toll stood at 245.

The official death toll in Haiti was 98. Sixty others were missing. There were 1,200 injured and 100,000 homeless.

Many of the dead were found in isolated areas entered Tuesday for the first time since the hurricane struck last Wednesday.

In the United States 82 were dead in the path Hazel cut across North and South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York, Delaware, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts and the District of Columbia.

The 130 mile an hour winds of the hurricane stabbed inland first near Myrtle Beach, S. C. early Friday and centered much of their destruction there before cutting a path northward toward Canada. An estimated 2,000 homes were shattered in the Carolinas alone.

Storm fed rivers flooded in Canada adding to the whirling's damage from high powered winds. At least 65 were dead. Thirty were missing. Bridges were knocked out, homes were battered or washed away. Transportation and communications were knocked out.

In the United States President Eisenhower released emergency funds to provide relief to hundreds of stricken communities in Maryland, North and South Carolina.

Rosy Economic Picture Seen

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 20 —UP—Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey Tuesday painted a rosy economic future for the nation if the Eisenhower administration is allowed to continue its fiscal and economic policies.

He told the American Bankers Association here that "there is nothing to fear about the long future of this economy or this nation."

"If we keep doing the things we ought to do and this administration can continue to put its sound fiscal and economic policies into effect, the years ahead will see greater prosperity and more jobs for more people making more, new, better and cheaper things for better, fuller living for us all, than any of us have ever dreamed," he said.

Humphrey said the transition from a war to peace economy has resulted in some "temporary hardships." But he said the change has been made without "a great economic upheaval."

"Industrial activity and total employment have held remarkably well throughout recent months," he said. The fourth quarter of this year is already even brighter than last year's.

He said unemployment is of the "greatest concern to everyone in this administration." He said "we are working and planning in every way to reach the day when every man looking for work can find a job."

But Humphrey said jobs can be created "honestly" under a free competitive price economy only by persons expanding present businesses or launching new ones in the hope of making a profit. He said the "handout principle of deficits and resulting debts" of the early New Deal days "was a temporary expedient."

"I WON'T go to sleep," Nancy said, yawning widely. "I started at the swimming pool. I went up on the diving platform. It looked so much higher from the top, I decided to come back down the ladder. When I turned around, I saw into the cave where the creek goes in, I saw the path, Jim."

"And you immediately decided that might be a quick way to get to 'The Spire'?"

"No right away. But I got a little bored waiting for you. And that silly business of getting Mrs. Gelstrap into a bathing suit. Anyway you'd told me to be careful, so I simply had to be careful."

"Of course you did," Jim said. "Either the sarcasm was lost on Nancy or completely ignored."

"Being careful was the reason I didn't go into the cavern from this end. If anyone had been watching it might not have been such a good idea. And, after all, if the creek bed was used as a way to get to The Spire, there'd have to be an opening at the other end."

"That I can understand," Jim admitted.

"So I told everyone I was going to walk alone to meet you. I walked around by the road and down to where the creek comes out, there by 'The Spire'."

"Didn't you see the deputy?"

"I saw some man go past in an old car."

"Wasn't Miss Wister's car still parked there?"

"Yes. All locked up though. Anyway, I started wading upstream. And Jim, I left your gun on a flat rock. I didn't want it to go to all wet."

"I saw it. That's the reason I knew where you'd gone."

She reached out for his hand, held it. "I didn't have any trou-

Oil Allowable Is Increased

AUSTIN, Oct. 20 —UP—The Texas Railroad Commission Tuesday increased the state's crude oil allowable by 64,300 barrels daily, upping the permissive production figure to 2,864,749 barrels a day.

The increase followed a cutback of 59,138 barrels daily in the October allowable.

State-wide producing days were continued at last month's rate of 15, including the sprawling East Texas operations. The only deviations were the Pickton Field, held to nine days, and the Sandusky Field, 13 days.

The Kelly-Snyder Field, already on 15 days, was placed on the regular statewide pattern by order of the commission on the request of H. H. Allen of Snyder, representing the Sacroe producing unit.

Action by the commission followed a brief state-wide prorating meeting at which oil men present unanimously requested a continuation of the 15 days date.

Purchasers' nominations for November had been previously pegged at 2,784,321 barrels daily, up 21,042 barrels daily from the October estimate.

Inadequacy Of Water Systems Noted At Fire Chief Meeting

HOUSTON, Oct. 20 —UP—A nationally-known fire protection engineer said here Tuesday that many municipal water systems have not kept pace with expanding population and millions of dollars in fire losses have resulted from inadequacy of water supplies.

Dale K. Auck, Chicago, representing the Federation of Mutual Fire Insurance Companies, told the 18th annual conference of the International Association of Fire Chiefs here Tuesday:

"It is a national shame that many of our towns cannot serve their citizens with water as adequately today as they could 10 or 15 years ago. Our water systems just have not kept pace with our expanding population."

Auck blamed the inadequacy of water supplies on mass exodus of the population from big cities to the suburbs, and the move of industry to tax-cheaper, closer-to-resources suburban sites.

"All of this," he said, "has conspired to expand and double and triple small towns, and especially the suburbs of cities, almost overnight."

Auck noted that last year there were 293 "large losses" — $250,000 or over — fires which killed 336 persons and destroyed $273,000,000 worth of property. A total of 105 of the fires were in industrial plants in outlying areas.

"Of these 105 fires 26 per cent were due to inadequate water supplies," Auck said. "The same ratio applies to the warehouse fires."

Nine Taking Rabies Shots

SAN BENITO, Tex. Oct. 20 —UP—Nine persons who handled a rabid pet puppy began taking anti-rabies shots Tuesday, and a veterinarian warned that additional persons might have been infected because of a mad dog that ran away from a farm.

All nine had either touched or been bitten by a puppy belonging to Mrs. Jennie Lipe of Los Fresnos, Tex. The puppy died last week. An examination of its head has shown it was rabid.

Dr. W. E. Dodworth, a San Benito veterinarian, said the puppy had apparently been bitten by the dog that ran from the farm.

"That dog belonged on a farm three or four miles away," Dodworth said. "Since a rabid dog runs 30 or 40 miles during a night and bites all animals contacted — it's quite possible that other rabies cases in addition to the pup which died are now present in this area."

Perryton Has Dad-Son Feed

PERRYTON —(Special) — Monday night the Perryton F. F. A. Chapter honored their fathers with a Father-Son Banquet in the school cafeteria. This is an annual affair.

Master of ceremonies for the banquet was Bob Williams, president of the chapter, who introduced the guests of honor, Marvin Flowers, vice-president of the local chapter, presented Alton Witt, the new honorary member, with a plaque.

After the meal the group adjourned to the auditorium where the film of the Texas Tech vs. Mississippi State game was shown. Approximately 45 boys and their fathers attended.

Josh Hopkins is the sponsor of the Perryton chapter with Bob Williams as president; Marvin Flowers, vice-president; secretary reporter, Louis Waggoner; and treasurer, Ronald Leatherman.

REPENTANT SINNERS WELCOMED BACK WITH OPEN ARMS

WAUKEGAN, Ill. —UP—Two bandits who robbed Mrs. Emma Metzger of $90 in her grocery store repented, but too late.

James Bernard, 35, and James Gordon, 37, both of Chicago, decided to return their loot when they noticed a woman jotting down their license number as they fled the store.

Mrs. Metzger's husband, however, was in the store when Bernard and Gordon returned and chased them into the arms of police.

Expensive Vote
NEW BRITAIN, Conn. - UP -
Orlando Guiliardo believes his may be the most expensive vote any where. Guiliardo, who maintains a street address here, has lived in Italy since 1947, but each election
he returns to cast his ballot. Guilliardo estimated that the trips cost an average of $1,000. "It's worth it," he said.

CAN YOU USE $100 ?

We'll Give $100<sup>00</sup> CASH

TO EVERYONE WHO PURCHASES A CAR DURING OUR

CASH BONUS SALE

We ran this same sale in January of 1953 and we gave away over $10,000 dollars. Due to the tremendous number of new Mercury's we have sold in the last three weeks our inventory of late model used cars is too high . . . so, out they go, regardless of what it costs us and remember after the deal is completed we'll give you a nice new crisp $100 bill.
