Senate Debates Tideland Issue For Second Day

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—Advocates of state ownership of submerged off - shore oil lands pushed their views today as the Senate began its third day of debate on the issue.

Sen. Connally (D-Tex) was first in line to speak after the Senate convened.

Declaring the states are the rightful owners of the lands off their coasts, he told a reporter he would propose that the Senate substitute a House-passed bill for its own bill to establish temporary supervision over the lands. The House measure would release all federal claim to the disputed lands.

But he said his amendment probably wouldn't be acted upon until various other minor amendments are accepted or rejected.

OTHERS STAND BY

Sens. Long (D-La) and Holland (D-Fla) also were standing by to speak on behalf of state control.

Holland has proposed an amendment differing only in degree to that pressed by Connally. His proposal, endorsed by 34 other senators would give the states clear title and all revenue from oil and gas development on lands out to three miles from shore—10½ miles in the case of Texas because of special conditions under which she joined the union.

The House bill backed by Connally would give the states all this, plus 37½ per cent of all revenues from development between the three-mile limit and the edge of the continental shelf.

"I think our proposal has a better chance of passing," Holland said in an interview.

OPPOSITION VOICED

But some sentiment was expressed yesterday for denying to the individual states even the three-eighths share of royalties they would receive under the pending Senate proposal.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said he could see no reason for giving the states anything if the off-shore lands belong to the federal government and called the proposed payment "A pretty stiff effort to buy them off."

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), a co-sponsor of the Senate measure, said he considered the offer "a generous compromise." The producing states had been getting all the revenues, he said, until the Supreme Court ruled the Federal government had a paramount interest in the land.

WARNS OF DANGER

Sen. Cain (R-Wash) warned the Senate of expanding federal claims, reporting the Secretary of Interior Oscar Chapman had requested the state of Washington to cease issuing oil and gas drilling permits off its shores.

He said senators should "bear this warning fact in mind. Every state in the Union is equally subject to the strange and dangerous doctrine of 'paramount power' which the Federal government believes that it has."

CHERISHES SON'S AWARD

Mrs. Lee Becker of Kalamazoo, Mich., who lost her only son in Korea, spoke up against parents who have returned war medals because they disagree with the administration. The medals come from the government, she said, and returning them is an insult to the war dead.

President Asks No Cuts In Foreign Aid Program

Must Give All To Survive He Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman asked a critical Congress today to vote every penny of his $7,900,000,000 new global foreign aid program to meet a Soviet threat against the "survival of civilization."

Tonight the President, fully aware of mounting congressional ire over foreign aid spending, will go on every major radio and television network to carry his plea to the people.

Talk of withdrawing to the Western Hemisphere "has momentary seductiveness," the President said, "because it would seem to relieve us of the contributions we are now making to collective defense."

But he said the adoption of such a policy would be a "mandate for national suicide."

He said the money he is asking for would be spent to send arms to America's Allies in Europe, to build up Allied nations in the Middle and Far East, to help European countries manufacture their own arms, and to raise the living standards of Red-threatened nations in Africa and Asia.

Not a single dollar should be cut out of the proposed program, he said, lest this nation be guilty of a "false economy" of "too little and too late."

In a special 7,500-word message, Mr. Truman anticipated the attacks of critics and economy advocates. He built his argument for carrying on the Mutual Security Program around four basic reasons which he set forth in these words:

"First, the plain fact is that we cannot achieve lasting security for ourselves except in association with other nations.

"Second, the funds provided by the United States under the Mutual Security Program are essential to the success of the common efforts we are making with other free nations for peace.

"Third, the funds thus invested by the United States will yield far larger returns, in terms of our own security, than if the same amount were used for our own defense establishment.

"Fourth, the cost of the Mutual Security Program, together with the much larger costs of our military services and other defense measures, are well within our economic capacity."

Despite Mr. Truman's appeal, administration officials expected a tough, prolonged fight over the amount, especially over that part which would be spent to aid the economies of Allied nations in contrast to the billions which would be spent to furnish them guns, tanks and planes.

In his message the President repeatedly emphasized an American role of leadership of the "free world." He declared, "We must show the world that we can meet any crisis, and that temporary frustration will not drive us to panicky aggression or to ignominous retreat."

Even before the message reached the Capitol powerful opposition was building up among the lawmakers. The congressional leaders who must quarterback the program predicted it will be whittled down.

The President said that for the fiscal year beginning July 1 the total security programs he is sponsoring total about 64 billion dollars. He said the burden of this cost and what it means in cutbacks of civilian production "are clearly within our economic capacity." The sum covers appropriations proposed for the U. S. armed forces as well as help to foreign countries.

If there is any question about the size of the $7,900,000,000 Mutual Security Program, he said, "it is not whether it is too large, but whether it is too small." He called it an amount "which will bring returns (in security) no other policy could hope to produce so economically."

"I would not counsel the Congress to spend one dollar more than is necessary to support our policy of peace," he said. "But there is no economy more false than that which is summed up in the tragic phrase, 'Too little and too late.' Such a policy risks the loss of our investment as well as our objective.

"It would be foolish and dangerous to withhold a dollar now at the risk of expending, not just many times as many dollars, but human lives as well, a few years later."

The President rejected what he described as two alternatives—"deliberate war'—that is a war launched by the democracies to crush Russia—and the "policy of retreat" to the Western Hemisphere.

DEEP EMOTIONS

Hung Jury In Case Of Widow Against Son In Court Here

A mistrial was declared about 9 o'clock last night after a jury of 12 men reported it was unable to reach a unanimous decision in a district court suit brought by a widow against her son.

Mrs. Sallye I. Stephenson sued to recover property in Northwest Snyder from her only son, Frank D. Stephenson. She accused him of using undue influence in 1949 to persuade her to deed the property to him, which she said included her home so he could borrow money on it to start a business.

The defendant, owner of the Frank D. Stephenson Radiator Service, 1105 Avenue T, denied his mother's accusation that he had promised to return the property to her after establishing the firm.

Stephenson was represented in the trial by George Killam, Snyder attorney, and Carl Anderson of Sweetwater. His mother was represented by Keith L. Merrick, county attorney.

According to custom, the final agruments were to be opened and closed by the plaintiff's attorney, but Merrick presented no opening argument. Instead, he addressed the jury, stated that he regretted it was necessary to bring such a disagreement between a mother and son to trial, then excused himself from arguing the case at that particular time. In low tones, his voice breaking, he said: "I frankly admit that I am too much overcome emotionally to make a speech at this time."

The second talk was by Killam, followed by Anderson, both of whom spoke very softly. Killam said he was sure Mrs. Stephenson loved her son but that that did not alter the fact the warranty deed to the property had been executed. "The deed was made and recorded," he said, "and the son thought he owned the property, and he believes he does till this day."

MENTAL FACILITIES

Anderson began his argument by saying, "I have never before been so burdened in a case." Then he presented the defendant's claim that the mother did not possess all her mental faculties but that she was childish because of her age. "This is one of nature's cruelest deeds," he said. "Ten years ago, she would have died before consenting to take the witness stand against this son. If she still had the faculties God gave her, she would not be here in this case against her son." He argued that Mrs. Stephenson had promised the son she would give him the property if he would move to Snyder from Plainview.

POOR HEARING

Merrick opened his concluding argument speaking loudly. "It was not nature in its cruelest form that promised this mother she could have her home back after Frank was in business," he began. "She is not entitled to be robbed merely because she is old. The only faculty she has lost is her hearing. She can't hear. She couldn't hear it thunder. And I hope, that if I ever live to be 73 years old, I will have as good a memory as this mother has."

The defense counsel objected to part of Merrick's argument when he referred to the defendant as "blackhearted." Judge Ben F. Thorpe, presiding, then instructed Merrick to refrain from such terms. Later, Merrick, in answering a statement by Anderson that the son would always love and care for his mother, said: "The only decent thing he's ever done was join the Navy." There was no objection made to the remark.

Judge Thorpe said he did not learn the standing of the jury at the time it reported. Merrick said this morning that two of the jurors had told him it was 11 to one in the plaintiff's favor.

Junior Livestock Show Starts At Rodeo Grounds In Morning

Judging of animals in the Scurry County Junior Livestock Show will begin with selection of the best sheep at 9:30 tomorrow morning at the rodeo grounds Oscar Fowler, county agent, said.

Stanley Anderson of the animal husbandry department of Texas Technological College will be the judge for the entire show.

Hogs entered in the show will be judged as soon as the sheep judging has been completed, then tomorrow afternoon capons will be judged.

Calf judging will begin at 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

At 10 o'clock Saturday an auction sale will be held with representatives of the leading packing companies bidding first to set a floor price on the animals, then the public auction will take place.

Any merchant or individual who wishes to bid on an animal can then sell it at the floor price to a packing company if the buyer does not wish to keep the animal.

OPS slaughtering exemption certificates have been obtained so that anyone who purchases an animal can immediately have it butchered for a food locker if the buyer wants to keep the animal for meat.

If a merchant bids higher than the floor price set on the animals by the company buyers and does not wish to keep it, he will be out only the premium he has bid above the floor price.

Classes in the sheep division of the show are: fine wool, cross bred, and pens of five. A grand champion and reserve champion will be selected.

Hog classes are: light barrows, heavy barrows, and pens of three. Grand and reserve champions will be selected in this division.

In the breeding hog division judging of hogs have been split into three sections, Duroc - Jersey, Hampshires, and all other breeds. From each section hogs four months old and under, and hogs four months old and over will be judged, and a champion will be selected from each section. The grand and reserve champions will be selected from the champions of the different breeds.

Grand and reserve champion calves will be selected from the three classes: light weight, heavy weight and pens of three calves to be judged at 9 o'clock Saturday. About 48 calves are to be entered.

About 125 head of sheep and 85 hogs will be entered.

TROPHIES

Nathan's Jewelry of San Angelo will present two trophies in the sheep division, one to the grand champion which will become the property of the individual winning it, and a rotating trophy for the runner - up which will rotate to next year's winner.

C. T. McLaughlin, Snyder oil and cattleman, will give a trophy to the owner of the grand champion calf in the show.

Committees working on arrangements for local buyers say the response from merchants here has been as good or better than ever before. Nolan von Roeder, member of the committee, said a large number of local buyers have said they will attend.

Testing Well For Completion

Kewanee Oil & Gas Co. No. 1 Maben, Kent project outside production in the Salt Creek field, has perforated casing and is now testing for completion. It is at total depth of 6,473 feet, corrected from the previously reported depth of 6,469 feet.

HOWARD WILDCAT

The Texas Co. No. 1 Wasson, Howard County wildcat, is now taking electric log surveys after a drillstem test from 7,805 - 7,870 feet. That section, an unidentified lime, yielded 20 feet of drilling mud and 120 feet of slightly gas-cut drilling mud with no shows of oil or water. Operator drilled ahead to 7,910 feet, still in lime, but no shows were developed.

NOLAN WELL

Continental Oil Co. No. 1-248 Mary Dan Earwood, Southeast Nolan wildcat, has been plugged and abandoned on total depth of 6,185 feet in barren Ellenburger.

That formation made salt water. Operator then plugged back to 5,659 - 5,708 feet to test the Pennsylvanian, where salt water with no shows of petroleum was recovered. The No. 1-248 Earwood was in section 248-64-H&TC, about two and three - quarter miles northeast of the Hylton - Strawn field.

DRILLING REPORTS

Superior Oil Co. No. 6-597 C. D. Jones, indicated producer in extreme Northeast Borden County, is preparing to core below present total depth of 7,979 feet.

Texaco No. 198 P. L. Fuller, North - Central Scurry wildcat, has perforated casing from 7,732-7,390 feet in the Strawn and is preparing to swab and test.

Husky Oil No. 1 Nance, Garza wildcat five miles southwest of Justiceburg, is drilling below 4,615 feet in lime.

To Investigate Marine's Death

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) has asked Gen. Lemuel Shepherd, Marine Corps commandant, to look into the death of a Marine private whose mother says he died after being mistreated.

A Ferguson aide today told a reporter the senator asked for an investigation of the death at the San Diego, Calif., Marine base Feb. 12, of Pvt. Richard J. Harlan, 19, Hillsdale, Mich.

A Marine court of inquiry found Harlan died of acute rheumatic fever and bronchial pneumonia.

Mrs. Getrude Harlan, Hillsdale, who visited her son in a hospital before his death, has said he told her of being hit in the chest with a rifle butt while undergoing discipline.

The discipline, Mrs. Harlan has told Ferguson, consisted of the youth being forced to hold a rifle over his head while standing at attention.

He said that while her son was in this position a sergeant hit him with another rifle and kicked him in the stomach.

The Marine public information office in San Diego said the court of inquiry considered mistreatment as a possible cause of death but decided all the evidence was to the contrary.

The board heard testimony from 78 witnesses. It found Harlan died from natural causes.

Snyder Trio In Midland Wreck

Three Snyder persons were injured, one seriously, in an automobile accident near Midland yesterday.

Most seriously injured was Leslie Wayne Henderson who suffered severe head lacerations, fractured ribs, and a shoulder injury. His wife and 3-year-old daughter were also injured. Mrs. Henderson also suffering head lacerations.

The accident occurred on U. S. Highway 180 about seven miles east of Midland when a car driven by Henderson and one driven by William Henry Bales, 59, of Stanton, collided. Bales was charged in Midland County court with aggravated assault with a motor vehicle. He was not injured.

A witness to the accident said the Henderson car appeared to "leap six to eight feet into the air" at the time of the first impact before rolling over several times. The Hendersons were traveling east when the accident occurred about 6:15 yesterday afternoon.

The injured are in the Western Clinic Hospital at Midland.

American Officer's Diary Is Being Quoted By Red Papers

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP) — Parts of a diary by the former military attache to the American embassy in Moscow have been obtained by the Communists, a U. S. Army spokesman disclosed today.

Brig. Gen. Frank Dorn, deputy chief of information, said Iron Curtain sources have been circulating extracts from the diary as part of their propaganda drive against the U. S.

He said the Army is investigating to find out how the Reds got extracts from the diary.

Maj. Gen. Robert W. Grow, its author, was reassigned to duty in Washington in January when the Army found out about the extracts, Dorn said.

Grow was not immediately available for comment.

In a copyrighted story today, the Washington Post said photostats of the extracts are reproduced in a book recently published in Communist-controlled East Germany. It said the book is "aimed at convincing Germans that America is a 'war-monger.'"

The Post said the book quoted one note the diary as declaring:

"Although the military services are primarily concerned with military weapons and methods, we must understand that this war is total war and is fought with all weapons.

"We must learn that in this war it is fair to hit below the belt."

Dorn confirmed the Post's report that extracts from the diary have appeared in book form and in other Communist publications. He said he did not know whether the diary contained secrets vital to U. S. security.

Dorn gave this account of the Army's investigation so far:

The Army first discovered the Communists had obtained parts of the diary in January when newspapers in East (Communist) Berlin ran accounts of what the diary said.

Judging by the dates included in the diary extracts, Army investigators decided the diary must have been photographed when Grow was attending a conference in Frankfurt, Germany, last June or July.

The diary itself was never noted as missing.

The Post identified Grow as a 56-year-old Army officer who commanded the sixth Armored Division in Europe during World War II. It said Grow's war service was "brilliant" and Grow headed the American military mission in Iran after the war before becoming attache at Moscow in July, 1950.

Peace Parleys Still Bogged Over Russians

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The deadlocked Korean truce talks bogged down even further today as Communist negotiators insisted that neutral teams including Russians be permitted to inspect secret equipment during an armistice.

Staff officers working on truce supervision wrangled fruitlessly for more than an hour, but the prisoner exchange subcommittee called it a day after only 12 minutes, negotiators agreed there was no point in rehashing old arguments.

The deadlock has become so serious observers here said they believe only action at the top level could end the stalemate.

U.N. negotiators declined to speculate on how the deadlock might be broken. Some sources said the situation presumably is being studied carefully in Washington, and possibly in Moscow and Peiping.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U.N. negotiator, was in Tokyo Wednesday, apparently for conferences with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway.

There was no hint that a shift in the Allied position was in the offing.

Col. Don O. Darrow told newsmen the Communist demand for inspection of secret equipment might be "just another needling device." But he added:

Snyder Schools Will Be Closed Tomorrow

All public schools here will be closed tomorrow because of the annual meeting of the Oil Belt District of the state teacher's association, M. E. Stanfield, superintendent, announced.

Practically all administrators and faculty members plan to attend the meeting in Sweetwater tomorrow and Saturday. Classes will be held here Monday as usual, the superintendent said.

Last year, the district meeting of the association was held in Wichita Falls.

Low Of 29 Degrees Here

Temperatures were again below freezing at a low of 29 last night, Mrs. D. P. Strayhorn, weather observer, said, but the mercury began moving upward early this morning. Temperature at 7:30 o'clock this morning was 47. High for yesterday was 67.

San Angelo Children Are Told Tidelands Not Part Of Issue

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—The Interior Department's top lawyer has told a high school history class in San Angelo, Tex., that the Federal government doesn't claim title to the Texas tidelands.

What the Federal government claims is the oil-rich "submerged lands," he said.

The department made public a letter Solicitor Mastin G. White wrote to Pat O'Neal, a student in the Robert E. Lee Jr. High School in San Angelo. The letter replied to a telegram which O'Neal and other members of his history class sent President Truman Feb. 16.

The telegram said "our history class definitely believes that the tidelands are a part of Texas public lands." It urged the President to "please study our side of the case before you decide."

White's letter said "tidelands are those lands along the coast which are covered and uncovered by the flow and ebb of the tide. In other words, they are the land which lie between the high and low watermarks along the coast."

'NOT INVOLVED'

He said a Supreme Court decision in 1845 established legally that such tidelands belong to the states in which they are situated, and not to the United States, and added:

"No responsible official of the Federal government has ever asserted any claim of the United States to the Texas tidelands."

He said the suit the government brought against Texas in 1948, which was "decided in favor of the United States in 1950," does not involve any "tidelands," and added:

"That case arose out of a controversy between the United States and Texas over the right to control the development of oil and gas deposits contained in the submerged lands of the continental shelf, beginning at low watermark along the Texas Coast, or at the mouth of rivers, bays, or other inland waters, and extending seaward beneath the open waters of the Gulf of Mexico for an average distance of approximately 70 miles.

"The Supreme Court decided that the United States, and not the State of Texas has the right to control the development of the oil and gas resources in the submerged lands of the continental shelf underlying the open waters of the Gulf of Mexico."

LEGISLATION OPPOSED

White said that under this country's system of government it is necessary to have some agency vested with authority to decide legal controversies that arise between the Federal government and the states. The Supreme Court is that agency, he continued, and its decision "must be accepted as establishing the law of the case."

"This is not to say, however, that you and your classmates, or other citizens of Texas must refrain from seeking to obtain from the United States a grant of some or all of the submerged lands of the continental shelf extending seaward from the Texas Coast," White wrote.

"The Congress has the power under the Constitution to dispose of Federal lands x x x. As indicated in your telegram, a bill to grant the coastal states all the submerged lands of the continental shelf situated within their respective boundaries was passed by the House of Representatives during the first session of the 82nd Congress.

"The President has indicated on several occasions that he is opposed to legislation of that sort.

"However, he has also indicated that he would not oppose legislation granting to the coastal states a substantial share of the income derived from the submerged lands."

Drouth Takes Water-Worried Texans Into Courts Of Law

By The Associated Press

A court fight at Austin and scathing public statements against neighboring water-users marked the lengthening Texas drouth Thursday.

Clouds that promised rain produced none. West Texas communities brought their water troubles into court. And worried farmers and ranchers scanned the sky.

Farmers in increasing numbers were descending on Farmers Home Administration offices to inquire about drouth-disaster loans. A lower Rio Grande water squabble continued, but a heavy snow cover in the upper reaches of the river promised a record summer flow.

Whether the predicted record flow would ever reach the drouth-stricken lower valley was an unanswerable question. But in Fort Collins, Colo., a Soil Conservation Service engineer said:

"The summer flow of the Rio Grande and tributaries in the San Luis Valley will exceed any previous flow if the snow accumulation continues, at the present rate."

BELOW NORMAL

The engineer, Homer Stockwell, added that water in the valley is above last year but below normal after three dry years. The moisture is a long way from drouth-harried Texas points and must cross a thirsty New Mexico before irrigation pumps along the dry Texas border get a chance at it.

Drizzle and light rain that dampened parts of Southwest Texas Wednesday petered out before it moved far northward. Laredo, Cotulla and Eagle Pass profited by the moisture to a small extent.

Overcast skies over Waco, Austin, Junction and San Antonio failed to produce rain.

Glen White, manager of the Lower Rio Grande Water Authority joined Mexican officials in accusing the Pharr-San Juan district of overpumping irrigation water from the slender Rio Grande. White said Edinburg water district zone was also guilty of taking more than its share of the water.

WATER ON WAY

Late Wednesday water released from the Marte Gomez Reservoir by Mexican officials had failed to reach lower Rio Grande Valley points. Meanwhile, Matamoros, Mex., was getting only one-third the water guaranteed it by the U. S. and Mexico international water treaty, officials said, and the Brownsville water supply was even less.

White said other districts besides those he named had been cheating on water supplies, but he added he had no figures to back up his charge.

Skies over West Texas were clear again Thursday as a court test of Martin County's power to control its underground water continued in Austin.

Big Spring City Engineer H. W. Whitney Thursday told the court his city is depending heavily on water from the Martin County water field under a contract with the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

CLOUDS IN EAST

Whitney testified that two reservoirs serving Big Spring would be dry in less than six weeks. That will leave the city relying on wells in the vicinity, he said, and they can supply only a small part of the town's needs.

Reactivation of an Army base, April 1, he noted, would increase the water demand in Big Spring.

Under plans of the Colorado River District, Big Spring and Odessa would have been supplied with water pumped through pipelines from Martin County wells while a new reservoir on the Colorado River was filled.

Martin ounty's water district sharply curtailed the expected supply through production regulations. An effort to block enforcement of those regulations brought the suit. The hearing is an application for permanent relief, a temporary injunction having been issued last Oct. 29.

CLOUDS IN EAST

While West Texas skies were clear, scattered clouds hovered over East Texas, but the weather bureau would not be optimistic about chances of much precipitation.

"Oh, it could rain. . . some," said a forecaster.

Temperatures before dawn Thursday ranged from Dalhart's 29-degree reading to 66 degrees at Brownsville. The only other place with sub-freezing temperature at 3:30 a.m. was Amarillo with 31 degrees. West Texas readings were generally in the middle forties with East Texas thermometers registering mostly in the fifties.

Defendants Acquitted In Civil Rights Case In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A white jury took only 45 minutes to return a verdict of innocent in the civil rights trial of five Mississippi law officers accused of beating a handcuffed Negro prisoner.

Former Sheriff Robert E. Lee, 39, and four deputies were acquitted on all counts at the end of a two-day trial yesterday.

The trial was highlighted by conflicting versions of the whipping. Lee and the Negro, 25-year-old Murry (Sunshine) Gray, an Eighth Army truck driver flown here from Korea, both testified.

Lee said he whipped Gray with a "slap stick"—a leather strip about a foot long with a handle—when Gray tried to escape. Lee denied that any of the deputies took part in the whipping.

Gray testified he was forced to remove his clothes, was handcuffed to a pine tree, and was flogged to make him confess to a burglary.

The case started in July, 1950, when a filling station was burglarized in the small South Mississippi town of Magnolia. Gray, then a civilian, formerly had worked at the station and was arrested for questioning. The next day, Lee testified, Gray told him, "All right, I'll take you where the money is hidden."

Lee said he and the deputies drove Gray to a remote wooded area where the prisoner said the money was hidden. The deputies spread out to search the underbrush, Lee continued, while he remained with Gray.

The former sheriff said Gray made a break and ran about 50 to 75 yards before he could overtake him. They began fighting, Lee added, and he used the "slap stick" to subdue the prisoner.

Lee said he then handcuffed Gray to a tree, but denied the prisoner was flogged while helpless.

Deputy Frank Smith, another defendant, gave testimony similar to that of Lee.

The defendants were acquitted of charges of beating the Negro and of conspiring to violate his civil rights.

The other defendants were J. J. Montfourt, Nolen Wall and Andy Jones.

WEATHER

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy this afternoon, tonight and Friday. No important temperature changes.

EAST TEXAS, SOUTH CENTRAL TEXAS: Considerable cloudiness and a little warmer this afternoon, tonight and Friday. Moderate to fresh east and southeast winds on the coast.

NORTH CENTRAL TEXAS: Partly cloudy and a little warmer this afternoon, tonight and Friday.

Oil Industry Takes Notice Of Humble's New Well In Alabama

MOBILE, Ala., March 6 (AP)—Alabama has been quietly developing as an oil state for eight years. It took a gusher well on Allen Moye's cotton farm near Pollard to awaken people to the fact.

Some 77 other wells brought in at two fields north and west of here since 1944 caused little excitement because all had to be pumped and the oil was comparatively low grade (13-18 gravity).

But when Humble brought in the Allen Moye well as a 339-barrel free flowing producer of comparatively high grade (30 gravity) oil two months ago, the oil industry took notice.

The discovery was near Pollard (pop. 350), 80 miles northeast of here, and six miles north of the Florida line.

A free flowing well is usually a good indicator of a major pool. State Geologist Walter B. Jones estimated the pool was five to six miles long and would support at least 35 wells.

STARTS LEASE RUSH

It was the most exciting new territory oil news in the Southeast since the Mississippi discovery in 1939. It continued the gradual eastward oil development along the Gulf Coast region.

Major oil companies and independents alike rushed in leasing crews to this undeveloped area.

Oil sources said prices skyrocketed in the first three weeks to as high as $300 an acre for leases and $650 an acre for owner royalties in Alabama.

Leasing was just about as heavy in northwest Florida. There was some leasing in southwestern Georgia, a nonproducing state.

Residents of Pollard erected a highway sign which says: "Pollard, Alabama's greatest oil field."

TEST DISCOURAGING

Now that the frantic initial leasing spurge is tapering off, oil men are catching their breath. They're wondering now if they over-evaluated the Pollard discovery on the basis of one well.

A second well put down by Humble one mile southeast of the Moye well has been discouraging. A third test has been started nearer the Moye producer.

Oil men familiar with eccentricities of oil formations said dry holes could be expected because of irregular fault lines.

Jones said he looked for heavy drilling this spring and summer by Humble, Gulf, Stanolind and other major outfits which could lead to other discoveries.

Jones said he looked for the Alabama-Florida coastal area to get as heavy a play as coastal Louisiana and Texas.

The land close by the Moye well is owned principally by small farmers. Large lumber and paper mill companies have extensive holdings in the territory just beyond in Alabama and northwest Florida.

OIL PRODUCTION JUMPS

Last year Alabama fields produced 1,005,589 barrels of oil. This was a sharp jump from a 714,753 in 1950 and 464,456 in 1949.

Alabama has 68 producers in the Gilbertown Field, 75 miles northwest of here and just across the line from Mississippi, where oil was first discovered in this state. Nine producers are in the Carlton Field, in the swampy bear-infested forks of the Alabama and Tombigbee Rivers 45 airline miles north of Mobile.

Jones calls the Pollard discovery the biggest sinel industrial happening in Alabama in his 28 years as state geologist.

Residents of south Alabama and northwest Florida who already have pocketed an estimated several million dollars in lease and royalty money agree with him.

Man Who Shot Mother Will Be Returned To Home State For Trial

CLARKDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Searl M. Ward, 26-year-old Almo, Idaho, man who admitted killing his mother and then stuffing her body in the trunk compartment of his car, today will be returned to Idaho authorities. He waived extradition.

He was arrested here yesterday without offering resistance although he had a loaded .22-calibre rifle and several hundred rounds of ammunition in the car.

He said he killed his 62-year-old mother, Mrs. Alice Ward, during a fight Tuesday in Idaho over a beard he had grown.

A service station attendant noticed blood dripping from Ward's car and notified a state highway patrolman.

The written language of Easter Island has not been interpreted, but has been compared to the and to ancient languages in India.

Cattlemen To Meet In Ft. Worth This Month

The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association will hold its seventy-fifth annual convention in Fort Worth March 17-19, Ray W. Willoughby, San Angelo, has announced.

More than 2,000 members and their wives are expected to attend the meeting; which will be held in the Hotel Texas. Speakers will include Gov. Allan Shivers, Lt. Gen. Robert Wells Harper, commanding general of the Air Training Command, Oscar Flores, director of the Mexico-United States Commission for the Eradication of Foot and Mouth Disease in Mexico, and others. J. R. Edwards, mayor of Fort Worth, and Amon G. Carter will welcome the delegates to Fort Worth.

We Have Gotten Into Mess On Our Prisoner Exchange Stand

By WALTER LIPPMANN

At times there are problems, the world being what it is, to which there is no good solution as long as all concerned are primarily interested in having their righteousness publicly recognized. The painful problem of the prisoners of the Korean war is of this kind. In principle the problem is quite insoluble. The United Nations cannot agree to return Chinese and North Koreans who have deserted to our lines or are known to have become anti-Communist. In principle the Peiping government and the North Korean authorities cannot admit that their soldiers have a right to desert or to renounce their allegiance.

So there we sit. Or rather, there sit the unhappy prisoners of war—waiting.

* * *

The real question, I believe, is whether the prisoners are now a pretext for avoiding an armistice. If they are not a pretext then, despite the principles, their problem should be soluble. We are not, however, likely to find out whether they are a pretext or not merely by exchanging public declarations at Panmunjom. The crucial matter cannot be tested except by diplomacy.

We ought to begin by realizing that while we are in honor bound not to repatriate unwilling men, we have messed up our own position. We have no legal case under the Geneva Treaty which we did so much to write. By the fearful error of supplying the Communsit authorities with a complete list of the names and the regiments of all the prisoners we have captured, we have made it extremely difficult in practice to carry out our principle that only those shall go back who want to go. The Communists can now punish the families of those who do not go back. And, even if the central governments were disposed to an amnesty, they would by such lenience lost face with their own henchmen. On the other hand, if only they had never been given the names of the deserters and the defectors, they would never know—as the South Koreans do not know—who is dead, who escaped, who crossed over to the other side. What they did not know would not bother them very much.

* * *

We are dealing here not with abstract principles but with a condition of affairs. Once we had recognized our own blunder, the way to repair it, or rather to extricate ourselves from its consequences, was by a diplomatic negotiation away from Panmunjom and at a different level than that of the field commanders. For the essential difficulty of solving the problem of the prisoners lies in the publicity. It can make no difference at all to the Communists if a few thousand men more or less return. Had those men been killed, or had they disappeared somehow — if only their names were not on those cursed lists—the great principles which neither side can now renounce would not be wearing out men's lives.

The U.N. has many ways of making diplomatic contact with the other side. Is there any reason why an unexcitable intermediary should not quietly explain to Peiping and to Moscow that there has been—shall we say—an unfortunate bureaucratic error, as a result of which the official notices announcing the death and escape of x-numbers of their prisoners has been delayed. . .and that while here are still the great principles, of course—which would profitably be discussed by a commission representing all the nations —they do not for the moment have any practical bearing on the Korean question.

* * *

Something of this sort would work, I have no doubt, provided the prisoners are not now a convenient pretext for not concluding an armistice. There are dozens of ways of saving the principles, of saving face, and of saving the prisoners, if there is a will to end the war. If there is not a will to end the war, then the unhappy prisoners will provide a talking point for not ending the war.

To say, however, that the problem of the prisoners is soluble if there is a will to end the war is to use a very big if. For my own part, despite occasional moments of wishful hope, I have never been able to see clearly how an armistice in Korea could be concluded with the Peiping government as long as we are committed to Chiang and the war he is pledged to wage against the Peiping government. Can a war be halted and can peace negotiations begin on one frontier of China while wars go on in Indo-China and in the Formosa strait? Maybe such strange things are possible. But it seems more likely to me that the several Chinese wars will prove in the end to be inseparable.

Negroes Move To White Area

SAN PABLO, Calif (AP) — Negro contractor Wilbur Gary's family was established today in their new home in a previously all-white district, undismayed by taunting, stone-throwing neighbors.

The 42-year-old war veteran, his wife and seven children ignored a hostile crowd of 150 that gathered around his $8,700 home, jeered and threw stones last night.

The crowd was dispersed by Contra Costa County Sheriff James Long and 20 deputies. Long said two two-man patrol cars would watch the home "until further notice."

Some 50 persons friendly to Gary also assembled on his lawn. They faced the crowd protesting his moving into Rollingwood Tract, just south of San Pablo and 15 miles across the bay from San Francisco.

Leading the friendly group was the Rev. Fred H Busher, pastor of a Richmond Methodist church. He planted an American flag on the road in front of Gary's home and began reciting the Declaration of Independence.

He was immediately interrupted by jeers, catcalls and boos.

"What are you sticking up for the black man for" one man shouted.

Evans, P. E. Lewis, C. A. Likes, G. B. Randolph, W. J. Young, C. N. Phelps, E. W. McCloud, J. B. (Chili) Smith, C. C. Kent, James C. Cherry, D. T. Colley, Vernon H. Hartwell and John G. Martin.

Writers Deny Libeling Neiman-Marcus Store

NEW YORK, March 6 (AP)—Jack Lait, who with Lee Mortimer wrote "USA Confidential," denied yesterday that it libeled a Dallas department store.

The store, Neiman-Marcus, has authorized its attorneys to sue for an unannounced amount.

"I deny there is any libel in the book, as far as I know," Lait said. Mortimer could not be reached. A spokesman for the publishers, Crown Publishers, Inc., declined comment.

The law firm of Arnold, Fortas and Porter of Washington said the suit would be filed in court "shortly" against the authors and the publisher.

Are some of your Series E Government Bonds maturing this month?

Now they can earn more money for you!

NEW LAW PROVIDES TEN MORE INTEREST-EARNING YEARS FOR YOUR SERIES E BONDS... AND YOU NEED NOT DO A THING!

ARE you one of those patriotic Americans who began an automatic saving program with Series E Government Bonds 10 years ago? Then you're one of the lucky people who can profit by a new law now!

A bill passed by Congress last year now makes it possible for your United States Defense Bonds to continue earning interest ten years longer than was originally planned.

For example, a Series E Bond which cost you $18.75 in 1942 will pay you $25 in 1952. But if you hold that bond ten extra years, until 1962, it will pay you $33.33, an average interest of 2.9% compounded annually. You get similar increases on Series E Bonds of every denomination.

And there is nothing for you, as a bond holder, to do: You need not exchange the bonds you have. You need not sign any paper, fill out any form. You simply keep your bonds as you have been keeping them.

You may still redeem any Series E Bond at any time after you've owned it for sixty days. (The tables on this page show what you can get for it.) But unless you really need the cash you're much better off to hold your bonds. For U. S. Defense Bonds are as safe as America itself.

When you buy your bonds regularly and hold them, they are steadily building a sum big enough to buy something really worth while—a home, a business, a retirement fund, an education for your children.

And bonds are safer than cash! If you lose or accidentally destroy cash it's gone for good. But when you have your cash in Defense Bonds, the U. S. Treasury will replace lost or destroyed bonds at no cost to you.

So if some of your bonds are coming due, take advantage of this new offer of your government—just sit back and let them go on making money. Meanwhile keep adding to your savings by buying more United States Defense Bonds regularly—through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or the Bond-A-Month Plan where you bank. System is the secret of saving.

If you want to be paid your interest as current income—

The new law also allows you to exchange your Series E Bonds, in blocks of $500 or more, for Special Series G Bonds which pay interest semi-annually at the rate of 2½% per year. For full details, ask at any Federal Reserve Bank or Branch.

Here's how Series E Defense Bonds earn the first 10 years

Much Oratory As Politicians Rant For New Hampshire Votes

By The Associated Press

Political oratory echoed across New Hamphire's snow-covered hills today in hand-shaking, meet the people, answer the questions campaigns.

The Republican and Democratic races each appeared to be a contest between a man working hard for the presidency and one who hasn't said he wants the job.

The Republican choice seemed narrowed to Sen. Robert A. Taft, who arrives in New Hampshire today in earnest quest of the nomination, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who says he won't seek it but will accept if nominated.

On the Democratic side, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee was fighting what he calls an uphill battle againt supporters of President Truman. The President has not announced whether he wants another term.

The results of the New Hampshire primary election next Tuesday are not binding on convention delegates. But since it is the first presidential primary of the year, great psychological value is attached to its outcome.

The latest happenings in the national campaign:

Democratic:

1. Rep. Bryson (D-SC) visited Truman yesterday and said the President told him he would know what to do about running "if he were sure Taft would not get the Republican nomination and would not get elected if he got it."

Sen. Brewster (R-Me), a Taft backer, called this statement "an obvious attempt" by the President to influence the New Hampshire primary.

"I say its time to call his bluff," Brewster added. "Let him run again. . . . Let him go out and defend the record as a candidate."

2. Democratic National Committee officials said they are leaving it to state leaders whether to enter Truman's name in their presidential primaries. But to avoid any embarrassments, they are discouraging entry of the President's name in contests where his consent is required.

3. Kefauver conducted a slow-motion type of campaign in New Hampshire, selling himself in a folksy sort of way. Truman backers expressed confidence the President would get all eight Democratic delegate. Kefauver none.

Republican:

1. Paul G. Hoffman, former economic cooperation administrator, told a Durham, N. H., audience that Eisenhower is the only GOP candidate "who can win the independent vote and break the single 'Solid South.'"

2. The New Jersey Taft-for-Presphabetical listing which places him last on the ballot, opens his three-day drive at Manchester. He has 21 appearances scheduled.

3. The New Jersey Taft-for-President Committee announced the Ohioan will be entered in the state's preferential primary April 15.

4. Gov. Earl Warren of California said he will enter Oregon's May 16 Republican primary.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Verne Hines, 54, of 603 Twenty-ninth Street, cementer for Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Co. who was injured Tuesday when a train struck his car, was in good condition at the Snyder Hospital this morning. Hines is recovering from a broken nose and several cuts on his face. Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, Route 1, medical patient, was listed as critical this morning. Clarence Reese, Peyton Avenue, underwent surgery yesterday.

File To Drill Wells In Sharon Ridge 1700

Michael Matise of Tyler has filed applications to begin operations immediately on wells No. 1 through 16 F. W. Hardee in the Sharon Ridge 1700 field of Mitchell County.

All are projected to 200 feet with cable tools, and are located in the C. A. O'Keefe subdivision survey 15 and 16, about 15 miles northwest of Colorado City.

Deepen Sharon Ridge-Clear Fork For Project

Robert W. McKissick and others have filed application to deepen the No. 3 Grace Holcomb, now being drilled in the Sharon Ridge-Clear Fork field. It is now at 2,400 feet.

Drillsite is 330 feet from south and 1,650 feet from east lines of section 142-97-H&TC, about 20 miles southwest of Snyder.

New Steam Power Plant To Be In Stamford

STAMFORD, March 6 (AP)—Construction of a seven-million-dollar steam generating plant near here will begin immediately, West Texas Utilities Co., said yesterday.

The plant will be near Stamford's new Paint Creek Reservoir and construction is expected to take at least two years.

The new power plant, located near the center of the WTUC system, will be connected with three other major steam stations operated by the firm.

Texas Banker Succumbs

GALVESTON, March 6 (AP)—Vice President Lamar Sides of the Canton, Tex., First National Bank died in a Galveston hospital yesterday. Sides was 55 years old.

Area Meetings On Rainmaking

Representatives of 14 counties meeting in San Angelo yesterday to discuss artifical methods of increasing rainfall showed interest in the project but took no action.

In the meantime, a mass meeting of Mitchell County farmers and ranchers has been called for 7:30 tonight to discuss the same type project. The meeting is to be held in the district courtroom in Colorado City, and J. D. Hill, Jr., president of the Mitchell County Farm Bureau, said all Mitchell residents would be welcome, whether farmers or ranchers or not.

If the project is accepted in Mitchell County, two men will be named to serve on a district board. Although no contracts have yet been signed, Borden, Dawson, Terry, Lynn and Howard Counties are believed ready to form a district and act soon, Hill said. These counties would be known as the West Texas Weather Improvement District.

In San Angelo, Mayor Armistead Rust said San Angelo was chosen as the site for the meeting only because of its convenient geographical location and that the city had taken no side, pro or con.

Hung Jury In Land Fraud Damage Suit

CORPUS CHRISTI, March 6 (AP)—A Federal court jury was dismissed last night after being unable to decide three suits charging fraud in the sale of lower Rio Grande Valley land.

Eight persons brought suits claiming that land in the Ramseyer Garden near Edinburg, Tex., was sold to them misrepresented as irrigated citrus tracts.

Most of the testimony dealt with whether drainage ditch water is suitable for citrus irrigation.

Film Tomorrow At Jr. Chamber Meeting

Junior Chamber of Commerce members will see a film tomorrow in their weekly noon meeting, Dr. Robert Hargrove, president, said today.

Hargrave said the film is a Red Cross picture.

The group will elect a secretary for the coming year and plan their installation banquet, which will be held next Friday night.

More Rent Controls Ordered In Texas

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—Rent controls were ordered today for an additional area near Lone Star, Tex.

The new area, which maximum rents set as of April 1, 1951, were ordered by Rent Stabilization Director Tighe Woods for Precincts 2, 6 and 8, including the city of Ore, in Upshur County.

Rent controls were imposed previously for parts of Morris, Cass, Marion and Titus counties in the Lone Star critical defense housing area.

Record Births During 1951

WASHINGTON (AP) — Preliminary figures indicate a record 3,833,000 births in the United States in 1951, the Public Health Service reported today. Previous high was 3,818,000 in 1947.

"Because of the small difference between the two figures, it is necessary to wait for final data for 1951 before determining whether 1951 is definitely the all-time high," the agency said in a news release.

The infant mortality rate dropped last year for the 15th straight year. The 1951 rate was 28.8 per 1,000 live births, contrasted with 47.4 in 1940 and 64.8 in 1930.

The national overall death rate last year was listed as 9.7 per 1,000, practically the same as for 1950.

Slight Drop In Postal Receipts During Month

Postal receipts during February took a slight drop under that of January, H. D. Moreland, postmaster, said today.

Total receipts for February were $9,150.99, compared to the $10,045.97 total in January. The month's receipts were almost $1,800 higher than the $7,363.75 totaled in February, 1951.

ENGLAND'S new queen made steady progress in her 25-year journey to become the reigning monarch of Britain. She learned to ride the ship of state by riding carriage, tricycle, horse, boat, auto and airplane as shown here. Her age at the time each picture was taken is shown in the captions under the pictures—portraying the progress of a princess on the road to a throne.

Price Drop Is Not Reflected In City Stores

As butter prices declined in northern and eastern states, they remained about the same here this week.

The Wall Street Journal reported yesterday that wholesale butter prices took the sharpest decline in four years, dropping five cents a pound in Chicago and three and one-half cents in New York. In one week, butter prices have dropped 10 cents in Chicago to about 76 cents a pound.

Butter men in those cities said the drop in prices was caused by increasing production. They added that output in the last week of February was nine per cent above the week before and that output will increase as milk production increases.

Grocers here said that no noticeable change has occurred this week and that butter prices still range from 89 cents to a few cents more than a dollar. Some grocers said that one of two butter wholesalers increased their prices about five cent a pound two weeks ago, but none have dropped.

Production in this area, say the grocers, could hardly be higher now because of the prolonged drouth. Some added that if any change occurs in the next few weeks, the prices will probably go up instead of down.

Jap Accounts Of War Paying

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's soldiers and sailors are fighting the Pacific War all over again—with best sellers.

Memoirs of the former high command and a flood of "I was there" thrillers are heaped high on the counters of every Japanese book store. They are finding a ready public in a country just taking its first steps toward rearmament.

Very few of these books have been translated into English. Some of the accounts are complimentary; some decidedly not.

The boom started last year. Former Navy Capt. Mitsuo Fuchida, who led the 360 Japanese planes in the attack on Pearl Harbor, made a hit by writing the full details of the Midway battle—a disastrous defeat for Japan.

Another best seller was former Col. Masonobu Tsuji's "Hiding Away 6,000 miles." It recounted his underground adventures while he hid for nearly three years in Thailand, Indochina and China, eluding British authorities who wanted him as a war criminal suspect.

One of the two sensational standouts in the book stores in February was Tsuji's "Singapore."

This book partly challenged Winston Churchill's memoirs and boldly justified Japan's belligerency as "forced by the Anglo-Americans" and contended that, despite defeat, it nevertheless brought about the liberation of many Asians.

"Kamikaze," another standout, is a 428-page account of the celebrated flying suicide corps. The book was written by two former Navy air commanders who trained the youths.

This book has created a hubbub among Japanese. Many women and pacifists angrily demanded its suppression. The book appeared to them a "brazen attempt to eulogize foolish tactics," authors' "shameless trash" who lacked "even the courage to commit harikiri (suicide by sword) after the defeat."

Man Convicted In Grain Deal

AMARILLO, March 6 (AP)—Herman Dawson of Fort Worth, convicted on 16 counts of converting government grain to his own use, will be sentenced April 4.

The 36-year-old president of the Plains Grain and Storage Company broke down and cried yesterday after a federal court jury returned its verdict.

Judge Joe B. Dooley dismissed eight other counts before he gave the case to the jury because he found the government hadn't proved them.

The top penalty is five years and $10,000 bond on each count.

Dawson's attorneys said he would appeal.

The government charged Dawson was short $400,000 worth of Commodity Credit Corporation grain stored in his warehouses.

The case was the first one tried since the Senate Agriculture Committee made public Jan. 18 grain shortages it estimated exceeded [illegible],000,000.

Portugal has an area of about 35,466 square miles, slightly smaller than Indiana.

Top Schoolboy Teams In State Start Finals In Austin Today

AUSTIN, March 6 (AP)—The cream of Texas schoolboy basketball opened battle today when tourney veteran Slidell opposed newcomer Balmorhea in the first game of the Texas Interscholastic League Boys Basketball Tournament.

Slidell, making its fourth trip to the tournament, was seeking to repeat its Class B Championship feats of 1942 and 1943. Balmorhea, from the Big Bend country was making its first appearance in the giant cage tourney on the University of Texas campus. Slidell had a 33-10 season record while Balmorhea had won 23 against 10 losses.

Samnorwood, with Class B's top record of 34-1, vied with tough Laneville (43-7) in the second game of the day. Laneville ousted 1951 Class B champion Cayuga, 76-56, in regional play.

BIG SANDY STRONG

Hempstead (22-2) and Woodsboro (24-3) completed the morning slate. Woodsboro is a tournament oldster, making the big show the third time in four years. Hempstead is here for the first time.

Perennially strong Big Sandy (39-4) began afternoon play against Hawley (36-3). Runnerup in both 1949 and 1951 Big Sandy is rated the strongest team in Class B. Big Glenn Fields, a 1951 all-tournament selection, leads the Big Sandy scorers.

Dimmitt, the only undefeated team in the tournament, kicked off play in division 11 when they met Sweeny at 3:10 p.m. Dimmitt has lost but two games in the last two years, while winning more than 60.

Plano and Lovelady completed the Class A half of division 11 when they met at 4:35 p.m. to end the afternoon play.

BOWIE SEEKS REPEAT

Moving into the Class AA half, Levelland (31-4) meets the French Buffs of Beaumont (21-3) in the first game tonight. Levelland lost to Pasadena in the Class A finals in 1946. French back for their fifth straight time, finished second in 1949 and third in 1950.

The only returning champion from last year, the Bowie Jackrabbits, take on the speedy Madisonville Mustangs in the final game tonight. The Jackrabbits have a 27-2 record even though not a member of their championship starting five is back. Winners of 27 of 32, Madisonville returns after a two-year absence.

Division 1 (classes AAA and AAAA) play opens tomorrow afternoon, with the first round running through the Friday night games. Brownwood and Gladewater vie in the first game followed by Bryan and Alamo Heights of San Antonio. Fort Worth Poly and Sam Houston of Houston and Waco and Borger are matched in the Friday night tilts.

Only Seven Teams In NCAA Tourney

NEW YORK, March 6 (AP)—The regular-season action among the college basketball teams is practically over and only seven of the 16 teams which will play in the NCAA tournament had been decided today.

Kentucky, Illinois, Texas Christian, St. Louis and Wyoming, all champions of their conferences, are in, along with Santa Clara and Oklahoma City, two Western at-large teams.

That leaves nine selections still to be made for the tournament that begins in four cities March 21. Four of them will be at-large fives, while the winners of the Ivy League, Southern Conference, Border Conference, Big Seven and Pacific Coast Conference remain to be settled.

Kentucky, the Southern Conference champion, and two-at-large teams will start play in Raleigh, N. C. In action at Chicago will be Illinois, the Ivy League titleholder and the other two teams selected-at-large in the east.

The Western regional play will start at Kansas City and Corvallis, Ore. At Kansas City will be Texas Christian, St. Louis and the Big Seven and Border Conference champions. The Pacific Coast Conference and Skyline winners will meet Santa Clara and Oklahoma City, selected at large, at Corvallis.

The semi-final and final rounds will be played at Seattle March 25-26.

The Ivy League is nip and tuck between Cornell and Princeton, each beaten only once, with Penn, 7-2, still in the running. If it finishes in a tie, a playoff will be required. The Southern Conference winner will be decided at the end of its tournament starting today.

In the Border Conference, West Texas State and New Mexico A&M, are tied with 12-2 and meet in a playoff tomorrow. The Big Seven race probably also will be settled tomorrow when Kansas and Kansas State, each boasting 9-1 records, clash in Lawrence, Kas.

The two-out-of-three scramble for the right to represent the Pacific Coast Conference gets under way tomorrow with Northern division winner Washington playing UCLA, Southern section victor.

The remaining four at-large teams probably won't be determined until the end of the National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden. Some of the top prospects are Penn State, Duquesne, Boston College, Holy Cross and Loyola of Chicago. Duquesne and Holy Cross are in the NIT.

As for the NAIB tourney which opens Monday at Kansas City, Indiana State, the 1951 winner, again qualified by beating Indiana Central last night, 66-55.

Millikin also qualified by upsetting previously unbeaten Eastern Illinois, 74-71. Clarion (Pa) Teachers, unbeaten in 19 games, nipped Millersville, 50-49, for the right to represent Pennsylvania while Whitworth walloped Gonzaga, 90-65, in the district one finals.

There were several upsets last night. Manhattan took Fordham 64-56; Syracuse upended Penn, 94-76; Niagara surprised Colgate in overtime, 68-66, and Tufts downed Harvard, 79-76. In other games Wyoming beat Colorado A&M, 89-57 and East Tennessee won the Smoky Mountain tourney by beating Union (Ky) 56-47.

Indians And Giants Mad About Restrictions Of West Coast

By GAYLE TALBOT

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The New York Giants and the Cleveland Indians are preparing to bid farewell to the state of California and the scenic Northwest after they complete their tour of the rebellious provinces at the end of this month.

They have had enough of the Pacific Coast League, they say, until the Western magnates return to earth and quit dreaming up restrictions such as the recent dilly which prohibits big league clubs playing each other in Coast League plants, starting next year.

In the coming three weeks the Indians have seven such games scheduled at San Diego and Los Angeles, and the Giants have three in the latter city. In between they also have numerous engagements against Coast League teams, but it is the competition among themselves which the big fellows count upon to pay the spring training nut.

"What are those fellows out there trying to do—cut their own throats?" demanded President Horace Stoneham of the Giants today. "Okay, we'll let them and see how long they like being isolated from the major leagues.

"We'll continue to train right here in Arizona, and when we're in shape we'll simply head east, playing each other. We and the Indians had planned to make a short trip into Mexico next spring, but now we'll go down to Mexico City for a whole week. We should play to a million down there.

"We'll be able to play through Texas, too. Their new rule says only that we must play as many games against Texas League clubs as we do against ourselves in their parks."

As both the Giants and Indians are potential flag winners, this could mean that the West Coast is cutting itself off from a genuine four-star attraction next spring, with Mexico the beneficiary.

"The rule is especially silly coming just at this time, when those fellows are talking about building themselves into a third big league," Stoneham insisted. "How are they going to have any basis of comparison between players if they never see any big league ball?

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

By The Associated Press

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Whitey Lockman, the new No. 1 hitter on the New York Giants, is perfectly happy being assigned to the top of the batting order.

"I think my hitting No. 1 is going to improve my average," he said.

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Newest of the phenoms in the Brooklyn Dodger camp is Johnny Podres, a tenn-age pitcher.

Johnny, who has had only Class D experience, has hurled six scoreless innings in intra-squad games, and has not given up a walk.

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—The Boston Red Sox were enthused today about rookie pitcher Don Barnett, who has displayed fine form and a tricky pick-off motion so far in training drills.

The young righthander gave up only one hit in four innings yesterday and rivaled the Socker's accomplished Bill Wight in catching runners off base.

TUSCON, Ariz. (AP)—In the highly competitive contest for Cleveland's right field position, Bob Kennedy is far in front at this point.

"Harry Simpson hasn't looked good at all," said Indian Manager Al Lopez. "But Kennedy has. If I had to pick the right fielder right now it would be Kennedy."

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Al (Red) Schoendienst worked out at second base for the first time yesterday since joining the St. Louis Cardinals at their spring training quarters.

Schoendienst, the Cards' veteran second baseman, has played first base thus far in practice with Manager Eddie Stanky doing the work at second.

C& S Throttles Wade Pipkin To Hold Its Perfect Record

C & S Sporting Goods remained undefeated in the city cage league last night as they trimmed Wade Pipkin Motors by a close 47-42.

Using a two - platoon system with several well - experienced ex-college and high school players, the Pipkin squad showed every indication of becoming the only team to beat C & S, but the winning squad finally organized its defensive forces to hold the Pipkin scoring.

The game was tied up eight times, four times in the second quarter, three in the third, and one in the fourth. The Pipkin squad was in the lead 30 times, compared to seven times in the lead for the winners. C&S led 7-5 at the end of the first period, Pipkin led 22-20 at the half, and C & S was back in a 32 - 30 lead at the end of the third.

The winners were sparked by the offensive playing of Robert Minton and James Bowers, who scored 19 and 10 respectively. Ernest Kinney tallied 14 for the Pipkin squad, followed by the 11 made by Bobby Shipley.

In the opener, the Chuck Wagon, chief contender under C & S for top of the league, downed D & H Food 50 - 30. Paced by the 19 points made by Joe Burney and 15 by Tom Anderson, the Chuck Wagon picked up a two point lead in the first quarter and never fell behind. They led by six points at the end of the third.

Bill Roberts made half the D&H points.

The Pipkin squad will again be on the floor tonight to meet Pan American at 7:30 o'clock. In the second game, Chuck Wagon will play Sunray.

OPEN SEASON

By DALE WALTON

School officials, youth leaders, and sports fans began thinking this week in terms of organizing Little League Baseball in Sanyder.

The Little League, which has been a regular summer program in a large number of cities, is designed for boys 9 to 12 to provide adequate recreation for the summer months. They play on fields two - thirds the size of regular fields, and the game lasts six innings instead of nine.

Speedy Moffett, school athletic head, and several other interested persons may go to Abilene Monday night to meet with Carl E. Stotz, founder and national commissioner of Little League Baseball, who is now on tour in Texas to confer with league officials. Sponsors and officials of the already - organized leagues in Abilene, Breckenridge, San Angelo, and Cisco will also attend the meeting.

The Little League was first organized with one circuit of four teams at Williamsport in 1939, and it has grown to a possible 1,500 leagues this year. Houston was winner of the National Little League World Series in 1950, while Austin was runner - up last year under Stamford, Conn.

If the little league is organized in Snyder this summer, there will be a need for sponsors. Cost of sponsoring a club is no enormous amount. Their players must be fully uniformed with exception of cleats.

Little League is one of the many forms of recreation for children Snyder has needed for a long time, but has never provided for the youngsters. The nearest to such a program was carried on by the public schools last summer in the form of a complete summer athletic program.

We hope Little League will not be met with indifference in Snyder like so many other forms of recreation that could have kept many of our children busy and happy during the summer. If it were carried on in the right way, it could teach the boys many things they would not learn by remaining idle and wishing for something to do.

Competition in the city basketball league will be close among four teams when the double elimination tourney begins in a few days to determine championship. C & S Sporting Goods, which has not lost a game, is only one ahead of the Chuck Wagon, while D & H Food and Wade Pipkin Motors will throw plenty of experience around on the floor.

Although C & S has not been defeated, the players may meet their match in the tourney. Only three more nights of league practice games remain before the tourney rolls around.

TALK OF THE TOWN

By SUE HOLMES

Dried black - eyed peas and ... can shoe stores were two of ... commodities Capt. and Mrs. JOHN WHITLEY missed most in Munich, Germany.

The couple returned Sunday to visit Mrs. Whitley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. EDGAR CAMPBELL, 2704 Avenue U, after they had visited his parents in North Carolina.

The couple even says that said taste's pretty good after being away from it, and they're hoping to stay in the vicinity of the dust region, since Captain Whitley is to report to Tinker Field in Oklahoma City.

He was with the Air Lift in the British Zone of Berlin when he first went to Germany after the war, and later he was moved to Munich which he had helped bomb during World War II.

They have pictures of the burning ovens at Dachau near Munich, but it's the beautiful scenery they like best to remember. They made several excursions to various spots of interest on the continent. In Venice they almost got sea sick since there are no streets—only canals leading from the train station to the doors of the hotels.

Other trips took them to Rome, France, Holland, Belgium, and Luxemburg, where they visited General Patton's grave at the Hamm Cemetery. Both say the American war dead are buried in well-cared for cemeteries. In Switzerland, the abundance of American cars astounded them, especially since Munich is know as the city of 200,000 bicycles.

Germany is building back the crumbled ruins rapidly and there are no shortages, the Whitleys say. A new department store was built shortly before they came back, and Mrs. Whitley was amazed to find an escalator in it.

Housekeeping is not difficult, either. The couple lived in an ivy-covered upstairs home with one maid furnished by the government.

"John liked my cooking though, so I let Berta wash the dishes," laughed the former Geraldine Campbell.

In Berlin they went through the Russian Zone on the train and saw Communist flags flying and numerous pictures of Stalin. Germans make no comment about the likelihood of Hitler's being alive, they say.

Entertainment was far from scarce what with American movies, bowling alleys, swimming pools, tennis courts and state-side shows featuring Donald O'Connor and others. Horace Heidt, the sometime visitor to Snyder, and Jose Iturbi also made appearances there.

Luckily, the famous Passion Play at Oberammergau was presented in 1950 and they were able to see the eight-hour production which is only given evefy 10 years.

Kelley, the black-cocker spaniel which was airmailed to Mrs. Campbell from Germany, was at the Colorado City depot to meet his master and mistress. And he most surely knew them!

Besides the cuckoo clocks, the Hummel figurines are Mrs. Whitley's favorites. As for the Captain—well he prefers the fishing equipment which he tried out on some unlucky trout in Austria.

If you'd like to find Mrs. Whitley, there's a good chance you'd find her in a shoe store, since she said the selection was not outstanding overseas. And both the Whitleys are catching up on eating Fritoes and black-eyed peas!

The tax collector may have played a big part in cutting the nation's divorce rate in recent years. Or so says the staid old Wall Street Journal.

That opinion was advanced by Attorney Harry J. Ruddick at a University of Chicago Law School conference on divorce. Mr. Ruddick noted since the income-splitting provision of the federal income tax law was adopted in 1948 the divorce rate has dropped sharply, falling from 3.4 a thousand in 1947 to 2.5 a thousand in 1950.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eoff and Mrs. Curits Mosely and children of Aztec, N.M., left Tuesday after visiting in the home of Mrs. W.P. Smith, 3105 Avenue U.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cline of Lubbock were guests Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Houston, 1611 Twenty - eighth Street.

ASK MILDRED

Send your questions to Mrs. Mildred Sparks, county home demonstration agent, the courthouse, or to the Snyder Daily News.

My husband is on a diet but he loves cake. I am wondering if you have a recipe that would be fairly low in calories? G.

You could try Party Sponge Cake which makes use of a sweetening agent.

Use two eggs separated; ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon Sucaryl solution, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup skim milk, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 cup sifted enriched flour; 1¼ teaspoons double-acting baking powder.

The Sucaryl solution is sold at most drug stores.

Beat eggs very light. Beat in salt, sugar, sweetening solution and vanilla. Heat milk and butter to boiling point; beat in. Mix and sift flour and baking powder. Beat in. Bake at once in greased-square pan 8x8x2 inches or 2 greased 7-inch layer cake pans in moderate oven (350F) 25 to 30 minutes. Makes 8 servings of 169 calories each.

For evaporated milk topping, pour 1 cup evaporated milk into freezing tray of refrigerator; chill in freezing compartment until tiny crystals begin to form around edges. Chill beater and bowl, as well. Whip with rotary beater until stiff enough to hold shape. Add ½ teaspoon sweetening solution and 1 teaspoon vanilla; beat in. Makes enough to fill and frost top and sides of 2-layer cake, 7 inches in diameter.

I like to make vegetable soup on a more or less "clean out the refrigerator basis" but I always make too much. I think it's because I use too many cans of tomatoes (usually 2). How could I correct this and still retain the tomato flavor? S.

Try using one can of tomatoes and about three tablespoons of catsup or tomato puree.

WRECKAGE OF TORNADO

A tornado, demon of the changing season, ripped the placid town of Fayetteville, Tenn., apart, killing two persons and injuring 150. The twister's angry swath through maple-studded lawns, homes, churches and businesses is shown in this air view. Emergency workers still probe the wreckage for more possible victims.

Judge Throws Out Case On Grand Larceny

MIAMI, Fla., March 6 (AP)—A debonair young plumber who danced in attendance on a wealthy, middle-aged widow was credited today with earning the $20,000 he allegedly took from her.

"This case does not belong in this court," said Criminal Court Judge Ben C. Willard at the trial yesterday. "The boy probably earned the $20,000."

So the plumber, 28-year-old Kenneth R. Desmond, who was boy friend, husband and boy friend again to Mrs. Frieda Schienbaum, 58, walked out of court a free man.

He told the court of the hardships of a young man married to an elderly wife, while at the same time he professed his love, and added:

"It's not hard to love someone with $500,000."

Mrs. Scheinbaum, widow of an eastern dye manufacturer, said she met and married Desmond last April, then had the marriage annuled in June after she found he had a criminal record that included grand larceny and auto theft convictions.

When she returned here this winter, she testified, she and her young ex-husband began seeing each other again.

One day last November at her home, she said, Desmond looked her up to ask for a check to pay off some "piano men," she signed a blank check and gave it to him.

"That's when you should have had a psychiatrist," Judge Willard interposed.

Later, Mrs. Scheinbaum continued, she found her young suitor gone. He left a note, she explained, thanking her for the check that would help him make a new start in life, but protesting "it won't make me forget you, not ever."

Desmond figured his new start would cost about $20,000, and cashed the check for that amount Mrs. Scheinbaum added.

Judge Willard asked the young plumber why he married a woman 30 years older than he was.

"I haven't figured that out myself," said Desmond.

He was a little hazy about what he did with the $20,000, but said he went in for "some high living."

Too Cold For Woman To Count Chicago Cars

CHICAGO (AP) — Cold weather yesterday delayed a fur-coated suburban matron from paying her traffic fine by standing at an intersection and counting passing automobiles.

Mrs. Evelyn Mancou, 39, of Highland Park, had agreed to make the traffic survey in lieu of a $10 fine for speeding. She said she'd rather go to jail than pay the fine, insisting she was innocent.

Police Chief Walter Yackel of suburban Kenilworth decided it was too cold and postponed the survey until Monday.

Peron Asks Support Of His Austerity Program

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Juan Peron says Argentina will be fed before exports are sent abroad. But he pleaded in a nation-wide broadcast last night for support of his austerity program and for greater production.

Amplifying his Feb. 18 address, when he decreed meatless days, he said: "We do not ask useless sacrifice."

2 New Wells In Sand Field

Standard Oil Co. has reported the completion of two new producers in the Brown - Cisco sand field.

The No. 16-S George E. Parks flowed 24 hours for a potential of 113 barrels of 43.2 gravity oil with no water. Gas-oil ratio was 664-1. The flow was natural through a 20-64th-inch choke with casing pressure zero and tubing pressure 100 pounds. Top of the pay section at 6,272 feet, where seven-inch casing is cemented, and total depth is 6,317 feet.

Drillsite is 467 feet from south and 580 feet from west lines of section 448-97-H&TC.

Standard No. 5-S-3 Mrs. Jessie W. Brown, drilled in the northwest quarter of section 440-97-H&TC, flowed 24 hours for an initial potential of 116 barrels of 42.3 gravity oil. Gas - oil ratio was 673-1.

A 24-64th-inch choke was used in testing. Casing pressure was zero, tubing pressure 50 pounds. No water was present. Pay was topped at 6,214 feet, with production from open hole from 6,216 - 6,250 feet. Elevation is 2,435 feet.

BOYLE'S COLUMN

Success Stories Are Still Fascinating; Here's New One

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK, March 6 (AP)— one people complain millionaires are dull.

To me they are more glamorous than movie stars or generals, for the business success story is still America's favorite Cinderella tale.

A most interesting millionaire is Alex Lewyt, a 44-year-old bachelor who has built and sold more than one million vacuum cleaners in the last four years.

Like all millionaires he has a simple formula for getting rich:

"Ask housewives what they want—then supply them with it."

At 14 Lewyt quit school to become one of the nation's youngest vice presidents.

"I was vice president of the broom in my father's small wire picture frame factory,' he recalled. He took over the business at 18, and completed his education by studying business administration and engineering at night school.

"My plant was in a basement on lower Broadway, near the Daily Worker, the Communist newspaper," he said. "I used to eat in a cafeteria where these long-hairs gathered. I would listen to them talk about how to make a perfect world, then go back to my little plant and try to figure some way to meet my weekly payroll."

Lewyt later became a major subcontractor, manufacturing equipment for some of America's largest electric firms.

ASKS HOUSEWIVES

During World War II one of the items he made was a gadget to clean navy gun turrets. One day a girl in his factory told him:

"You know this thing is so small and handy it would make a wonderful vacuum cleaner.'

Later he remembered her remark when the arrival of peace faced him with the problem of reconverting his plant.

"I wanted to put out a product under my own name,' he said. "I was tired of being just a ghost producer for bigger industries."

But everyone warned him to stay out of the vacuum cleaner field.

"I figured the American housewife is a natural engineer, so I set out to find out just what kind of a vacuum cleaner she really wanted," Lewyt said.

SIMPLE ADVICE

He polled 318 housewives himself, had survey experts poll about 5,000 more. He took their suggestions and he and his engineers turned out 22 models before they felt they had what they wanted.

"I knew it would work because I tested it myself for two months in my own home," said Lewyt. He then launched a tremendous national advertising campaign. When he went into mass production six months later, he found his market ready and waiting.

I asked him what advice he would give an ambitious young man starting his career now.

"None," he said, "except maybe to tell him that nothing happens by itself."

Mother Hangs Three Of Her Children, Then Takes Her Own Life

ROSLYN HEIGHTS, N. Y. (AP)—A Long Island mother hanged her three small children with their cowboy belts yesterday and then took her own life the same way.

Neighbors found the children hanging from the bed posts in their downstairs bedroom. Upstairs, the mother had used another cowboy belt to take her own life.

The victims were Mrs. Mary G. Klem, 30; Frank Jr., 6; Richard, 4, and Margaret, 13 months.

The father, Frank J. Klem, a draftsman, was working in New York City when the tragedy occurred.

Later, Klem told police his wife had been "acting nervous" and had threatened several times to take her life.

Prowler Makes Tap

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — Called to a tavern to investigate a prowler report, Patrolman Clay Brown found in the basement a small pipe inserted through the floor above—immediately beneath a beer keg.

Someone had plugged the pipe with cork, apparently intending to return later and fill up.

THROUGHOUT LENT AND ALL THE REST OF THE YEAR, PANCAKES ON THE TABLE SPELL HOSPITALITY AND GOOD HEALTH
. . . cottage cheese roll-ups add new note of variety to Lenten menu plans

Pancake Meals Good Anytime, Also Appropriate During Lent

Pancake Day, an ancient tradition still flourishing in the modern world, is observed each year in many countries on the day before Lent begins.

The use of the pancake as a symbol of Shrove Tuesday had its origin in the "shriving cakes" associated with the approach of Lent in Medieval England. At the tolling of a bell, housewives rushed to prepare their pancakes according to a formula prescribed by the church. Then they flocked to their churches to be "shriven" or absolved of their sins.

Preparation

In preparing their Pancake Day delicacies, English housewives were taking advantage of an opportunity to use up their accumulated meat fats—forbidden during Lent. Although the celebration began as a religious holiday, the religious significance dimmed, and Pancake Day changed in nature to one of widespread gaiety and merrymaking, similar to Mardi Gras celebrations in this country.

A day so rich in tradition just naturally calls for a celebration. That makes it a good time to invite friends over for a casual pancake brunch. It's easy entertainment, for pancakes in quantity will head the menu.

No Set Formula

The housewife won't need the symbolic formula for the pancakes. She just calls on a reliable pancake mix, adds milk and stirs, and they're ready for the griddle. She remembers to stir the batter lightly for fluffy, tender pancakes. Then all that's left is to have the griddle at the right temperature, and she will flip out perfect pancakes.

Pancakes

2 cups pancake mix
2½ cups milk

Add milk to unsifted mix all at once and stir lightly. A somewhat lumpy batter makes light, fluffy pancakes. Pour ¼ cup batter for each pancake onto a hot, lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once.

For the 14 to 16 medium pancake yield, the cook may prepare a variety of toppings and arrange them on a Lazy Susan or a large tray. She is sure to include a maple-blended syrup and butter, old-time favorites. Other applause - winning toppings are honey butter, apple sauce, or a simple fruit icing.

For the honey butter, she beats ½ cup butter or margarine and ½ cup honey together until light and fluffy, and serves with fruit icing.

Fruit Icing

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup confectioners' sugar
3 tablespoons top milk
1 cup sliced cooked peaches (drained)

Cream butter thoroughly. Add sugar and top milk alternately, beating until light and fluffy. Fold in the peaches and serve over the hot pancakes.

Before going into the many variations of pancake cookery, breakfast, brunch, main dish or dessert version, the cook will want as a backlog one good old - fashioned buttermilk recipe for the pancakes "Mom used to make." The following is as basic as any.

Buttermilk Pancakes

3 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon soda
2 cups buttermilk
2 eggs
3 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift dry ingredients together. Combine milk, beaten eggs and shortening. Add dry ingredients. Beat well. The recipe makes approximately 16 cakes.

When it comes to pancakes, there is something new under the sun, and that's a sweet potato pancake recipe that's custom made for a quick and hearty luncheon or supper. Smothered in a special maple-orange sauce, the pancakes are a treat indeed. Perfect accompaniment is a crisp, fresh Waldorf salad.

Sweet Potato Pancakes

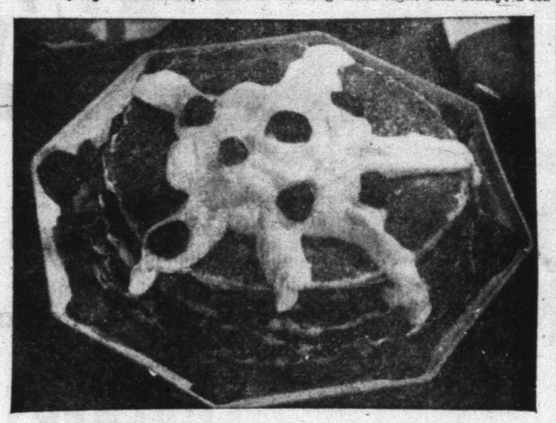
1 cup sifted flour
1¼ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
2 eggs, well beaten
1¼ cups milk (at room temperature)
¼ cup melted butter
½ cup mashed sweet potatoes

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar and sift again. Combine eggs, milk, butter, and sweet potatoes. Add gradually to flour mixture, stirring only until smooth. Bake on lightly greased hot griddle. Serve with maple - orange sauce. The recipe makes 2 dozen 4-inch pancakes.

Maple-Orange Sauce

1 cup maple - blended syrup
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
1-3 cup butter

Combine ingredients in saucepan. Place over medium heat and boil 2 or 3 minutes, stirring well. Serve hot on sweet potato pancakes. The recipe makes 1 1-3 cups.



STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE STARS IN PANCAKE PARTY
. . . pie-shaped wedges are topped with whipped cream

Pancakes for dessert is a cosmopolitan idea—the French started the general trend many years ago with their delicate crepe suzette.

An American version of this food fancy calls for petitie dollar-sized pancakes made with a deluxe pancake batter. Serve them with rhubarb-pineapple sauce and whipped cream for a delightful dessert with a flair of spring flavor and color.

Pancake ready-mix comes to the rescue to cut preparation time in half, yet gives perfect pancakes the cook can be proud to serve. Here are the recipes for the pancakes and their colorful, delicious topping.

Deluxe Pancakes

2 cups ready-mix for pancakes
2¼ cups milk
2 tablespoons melted shortening
1 beaten egg

Add milk, shortening and egg on unsifted pancake ready - mix and stir lightly. Pour one tablespoon of batter for each pancake onto a hot, lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once. Serve with rhubarb - pineapple sauce and whipped cream.

Rhubarb - Pineapple Sauce

2 cups diced rhubarb
1 cup crushed pineapple
½ cup light corn syrup
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt

Combine above ingredients in saucepan. Simmer until rhubarb is tender and sauce slightly thickened. Cool. Serve on dessert size, deluxe pancakes. Garnish with whipped cream.

Following close on the heels of Pancake Day, the very next day, to be exact, is the opening of the Lenten season. Here is a pancake dish that adds a new note of variety to Lenten menu plans.

Cottage Cheese Roll-ups

Place 2 cups creamed cottage cheese, ¼ cup chopped celery and ¼ cup chopped green pepper in top of double boiler over boiling water. Remove double boiler from heat; cover and let cheese mixture stand over the hot water while baking pancakes. Place a spoonful of this mixture across the center of each baked pancake and roll up.

A Pancake Day party at home, at school or as a community gathering can be an easy-to-plan affair and one that is casual and full of fun. Of course, pancakes will be food of the day. Serve them supper style on in party dress. No matter how large or small the party, the pancake making will highlight the affair.

A pancake party with dessert served later in the evening might star one of the dessert pancakes mentioned in one of the following dessert ideas.

Ice Cream Roll-ups

Place a spoonful of firm vanilla ice cream across the center of each baked pancake. Roll up. Serve with butterscotch sauce or a fruit sauce.

Pancake Shortcake

Bake four extra-large pancakes using ½ cup batter for each pancake. Stack with fresh or frozen strawberries between each pancake. Top with whipped cream. Serve in pie - shaped wedges.

Blueberry Pancakes

Fold 1 cup fresh or frozen blueberries into batter before baking. Use 1 tablespoon of batter for each pancake to make them dollar size. Serve a "circle" of 7 or 8 little pancakes around a mound of whipped cream. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar.

Locations Staked Out For 105 Tests For Oil In 27 Counties

Locations in the San Angelo (7-C) and Midland (8) districts of the Railroad Commission of Texas dropped to 105, including 16 wildcats and 89 field tests in 25 counties, for the eighth week of 1952, some 16 less than the preceding week and three less than for the same week in 1951.

Total locations for 1952 still lead over 1951.

The first eight weeks of 1952 have recorded 880 locations, 149 wildcats and 741 field tests for the two districts.

The same period in 1951 listed 855 locations, including 121 wildcats and 734 field tests.

Weekly average for the first eight weeks of 1952 was 110, compared with 110.7 for the first seven weeks of this year and 106.8 for the first eight weeks of 1951.

The San Angelo district counted 36 tests, including five wildcats and 31 field tests, while the Midland district had 69 tests, including 11 wildcats and 58 field tests, for the eighth week this year.

During the eighth week of 1951 27 counties share 108 locations—11 wildcats and 97 field tests. Three wildcats and 16 field tests were staked in the San Angelo district and eight wildcats and 81 field tests in the Midland district.

Runnels led District 7 - C last week with seven locations including one wildcat and six field tests. Other locations were as follows: Coke, 1 field test; Concho, 1 wildcat; Crockett, 1 wildcat and 4 field tests; Reagan, 1 field test; Schleicher, 1 field test; Tom Green 3 field tests.

Pecos was top in District 8 with one wildcat and 16 field tests.

Wildcats staked included: Borden, Crane, Ector, Howard and Lynn, one each; Pecos, two.

Field tests: Scurry 9; Hockley and Ward, 8 each; Andress, Ector and Garza, 6 each; Midland, 4; Borden and Cochran, 3 each; Crane, Kent and King, 2 each; and Gaines, Glasscock, Howard, Loving, Upton and Yoakum, one each.

Two Little Breaks Are Given To Taxpayers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Bureau is giving taxpayers two breaks in meeting this month's deadline for income tax returns.

It announced today that tax offices throughout the country are being encouraged to stay open the next two Saturdays to help handle the last-minute rush.

Further, you don't have to get your return in by the traditional March 15 date. Because March 15 falls on Saturday—technically not a working day—returns won't be late if they're turned in or mailed before midnight Monday, March 17.

Electors May Have To Meet

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—The possibility that the electoral college might actually meet to select the next president and vice president through "A little horse trading" was raised today by Senator Mundt (R-SD).

This might be done "if no presidential candidate gets the required majority" rather than let the House of Representatives settle the issue, Mundt said.

Such a close race has been forecast by some political experts. Mundt said he agreed with Senator Ellender (D-La) and other Southern Democrats that no major party candidate may get a required majority if Senator Russell of Georgia stays in the race after the Chicago nominating convention.

Many states, however, have laws that might bar "horse trading" on votes because electors are required to pledge support according to the vote within those states. Thus, a candidate with the most votes in a state gets the entire electoral vote of that state.

In recent years the electoral college has not even met. Its members normally certify voting results in the states and mail them to Washington.

A presidential or vice presidential candidate must get 266 electoral votes to win. Otherwise, the Constitution proves the House decides the issue.

Senator Russell With Texans On Tidelands

KILGORE, March 6 (AP) — Sen. Richard Russell, Georgia Democrat seeking a Democratic presidential nomination, says he holds the Texas viewpoint in the tidelands fuss.

Russell yesterday telegraphed the Kilgore News-Herald:

"A believer in states rights, I favor the position of the states in the tidelands issue.

"Apart from the constitutional rights of the states,

GOVERNOR WORKS LATE

Gov. Adlai Stevenson works late into the evening in the Illinois executive mansion office at Springfield, Ill. Gov. Stevenson was the object of a political bouquet when President Truman said "Stevenson is one of the best governors in Illinois history and that's one of the best recommendations for the Presidency.

Texas Senators Have Better Than Average Party Records

WASHINGTON, — (CQ) — Sen. Tom Connally voted against the majority of his party 28 per cent of the time when he took a stand on issues lost by his party because of party - fence jumping; while Sen. Lyndon Johnson voted against his party 11 per cent of the time on such ballots.

A study made by Congressional Quarterly of Senate roll-call vote taken in the current Congress revealed that five out of every six of the more controversial were decided by Senators voting against the majority of their own party. Democratic and Republican majorities suffered about equal from these defections.

Democrats lost 48 roll - call votes because some Democrats crossed the party line to vote with the Republicans. The GOP lost 51 votes to the Democrats because of such defections.

Sen. Connally voted on 43 of the ballots lost by his party. He sided against his party majority 12 times, with it the other times.

Sen. Johnson voted on 44 of the roll - calls lost by his party through fence - jumping. He voted against his party majority on 5 of those votes.

The average Democrat crossed the party line 31.9 per cent of the time. The average Republican scored 32.45 per cent.

Some of the issues decided by defections were minor or were duplicate votes. CQ has selected 10 of the most significant votes lost by the Democrats and by the Republicans to show how Texas Senators stood.

Sen. Connally voted against the majority of his party on three of these key issues. Sen. Johnson also voted against his party three times on the key ballots. Here are the 10 Democratic key losses and the stands taken by Texas Senators on these votes.

DEMOCRATIC LOSSES

1. The Democrats lost 43 - 23 to a GOP motion to cut certain Treasury Department funds 10 per cent.
With Democratic majority: Johnson.
Not recorded: Connally.

2. The Democratic majority lost 38 - 30 to a Republican amendment to permit states to open relief records to the public.
With Democratic majority: Johnson.
Not recorded: Connally.

3. The Democratic majority lost 49 - 43 in an attempt to block an amendment to limit U. S. ground troops in the European army to four additional divisions.
With Democratic majoriyt: Connally and Johnson.

4. The Democrats lost 52 - 32 on an amendment to put India aid on a loan basis.
With Democratic majority: nally and Johnson.

5. The Republicans defeated the Democratic majority and obtained approval 36 - 34 of an amendment to cut economic aid to Europe by $250 million.
With Democratic majority: Connally and Johnson.

6. The Democratic majority lost 32 - 56 in an attempt to substitute a 5-million-man ceiling on the armed forces for a GOP-sponsored ceiling of 3.5 million men.
With Democratic majority: Connally and Johnson.

7. The Democrats lost 47 - 33 on a Republican amendment to ban OPS livestock slaughtering quotas.
Against Democratic majority: Connally and Johnson.

8. The Democratic majority lost 49 - 33 on a GOP amendment to put a floor underneath OPS price roll - backs. This was the nucleus of what later became known as the Capehart amendment.
Against Democratic majority: Connally and Johnson.

9. A GOP motion to send back to committee a bill to repeal an embargo on import of fats and oils and dairy products was approved 47 = 39 over Democratic opposition.
With Democratic majority: Johnson.
Not recorded: Connally.

10. A majority of the Democrats lost 26 - 53 in an attempt to increase capital - gains taxes from 25 to 28 per cent.
Against Democratic majority: Connally and Johnson.

Swain Construction Co. Gets Air Force Bid

FORT WORTH, March 6 (AP)—Swain Construction Co., Lubbock, was apparent low bidder yesterday on construction of an officers mess building at Big Spring Air Force Base.

The Lubbock firm's bid was $112,995 for the one-story frame structure.

Swans on England's Thames River are given frequent shampoos to clean their feathers of oil and bilge waste from the ships.

HI, DADDY!

A big hug and kiss for her Daddy was first on the list for Elizabeth Bean after she arrived in Kansas City on completion of a globe-girdling trip all by herself. Her mother and grandmother were also at the airport to meet her. Elizabeth told her father, L. H. Bean, the most impressive sight of her trip was the Taj Mahal, India. She spent the holidays visiting a chum in India.

Says Job Lost Over Politics

SHREVEPORT, La., March 6 (AP)—The ax is still falling as an aftermath of the Long machine's defeat in the Feb. 19 primary runoff, and the latest reported victim is a woman.

Mrs. Nellie Theiss, manager of the Louisiana Tourist Bureau office in Shreveport, said yesterday she was fired because she refused to kick in $50 to the campaign fund of Judge Carlos Spaht. About 50 other state employes have charged they were fired for refusing to contribute.

Spaht, Gov. Earl Long's choice to succeed him as governor, was soundly defeated by Judge Robert Kennon of Minden.

Joseph Hebert, assistant director of the State Department of Commerce and Industries, denied Mrs. Theiss was fired because she wouldn't contribute. He said he had written her prior to her dismissal to tell her she would be released unless she could give satisfactory explanation of frequent absences from work.

He gave the absences as the reason in the letter of dismissal.

DOG BECOMES EXHIBIT A

A juror, Mrs. Edith M. Arthur, gives candy to Samuel, a dog who became "Defense Exhibit A" in the murder trial of John R. Harriss, 47, accused of the fatal stabbing of Samuel Reed, 56, in Cleveland, O. Harris contends he was defending himself from the dog when he stabbed Reed. Attorneys variously described the animal as vicious, gentle and having a "dual personality." Other juror is Charles J. Bauzer.

Editorial Is Answered Fast

MEXICO CITY, March 6 (AP)—The Mexican foreign office last night gave out a bulletin commenting on statements recently made in an editorial of the Texas newspaper, The Laredo Times.

The bulletin said there is "absolute equality" in the charges made by the United States and Mexico for tourists. A tourist permit costs 25.95 pesos for a Mexican and $3 for an American, the bulletin pointed out. For business trips, a Mexican must pay $10 for a one year visa, while an American pays 41.50 (about half) pesos for six months.

It added that the new dam being built in the Rio Bravo to supply water and electric power to both sides of the border will give Mexico 42 per cent of the total water and the U. S. 58 per cent. It said the implication that the U. S. will get 98 per cent of the water "is mistaken."

The bulletin added that more Rio Bravo water will be available below the new dam, and that this will be shared equally by the two countries under the two-nation water treaty.

The bulletin said that the hydroelectric power from Falcon and two other dams to be built under the treaty also will be shared equally.
