Texas Disaster Group Alerted In Storm Area

Schools At Corpus Closed; Merchants Board Up Windows

(By The Associated Press)

CORPUS CHRISTI, Oct. 3 — A hurricane with winds of more than 100 miles an hour was edging up to the industry-studded Texas coast today.

The latest report placed the whirling storm 276 miles south southwest of Galveston, moving 12 miles an hour toward the center of the crescent-shaped coastline.

The U. S. weather bureau said if it held to its present course it would move inland tonight in the vicinity of Port Lavaca.

Gale winds and torrential rains preceded the hurricane in its movement toward the coast.

Crop Damage Feared

Many areas were flooded from the downpours. It was feared unharvested cotton and rice would be greatly damaged.

The main street of Port Lavaca, a town of about 5,000, was running five inches in water from the rain. Automobiles and trailers brought in hundreds of dwellers and vacationists from low coastal areas.

Merchants in many communities were boarding up their plate glass windows.

A navy hurricane-hunting plane placed the center of the storm at 11 a. m. (CST) as 276 miles below Galveston. It estimated the storm's top velicity at 210 miles an hour.

Rains Drench Area

Tides already were running high and torrential rains drenched the whole area. Nearly four inches of rain had fallen at Galveston.

Corpus Christi, site of the big naval air training center, ordered schools closed. Thirty-five four-engine bombers took off in a rain squall for a safe haven at Goodfellow field at San Angelo.

Merchants boarded up plate glass windows. Lowland dwellers were ordered away from te coast line.

At 9:45 a. m. (CST) the hurricane was centered about 125 miles east southeast of Brownsville, on the extreme southern tip of the Texas coast.

The U. S. weather bureau said it was increasing in intensity as it moved coastward. It estimated the wind velocity had increased from 90 miles to 100 miles an hour during the morning.

"It is moving between north

The lowest minimum temperature of the fall was recorded early this morning when the mercury dropped to 46 degrees at the U. S. Weather bureau station at Municipal airport.

The previous low was 49 degrees.

"Not much change in temperatures' was seen by the Weather bureau for today, tonight and Tuesday. A maximum in the low eighties was expected this afternoon. It was expected to be partly cloudy through tomorrow.

Winds were under 15 miles an hour during the night and were expected to remain gentle for the time being.

Local Nurses Have Busy Day As School Students Are Given Free Tests For Tuberculosis

Nearly 3,000 public school students received rapid-fire tuberculin tests late this morning and early this afternoon under sponsorship of Lubbock County Tuberculosis association.

Senior High school senior students and pupils of the first and sixth grades in elementary schools received the new Plasto tests.

Total number of elementary students who received the tests had not been determined at 2 o'clock this afternoon, but 239 seniors of a total of approximately 400 were given the tests in the high school gymnasium this morning.

Tests Authorized

Tests were given only to students whose parents had signed a form authorizing the test.

Mrs. Bobbie McLeod, nurse of the tuberculosis association, was in charge of administering the tests, assisted by nurses of the various public welfare agencies of Lubbock.

Nurses taking part in the program include Mrs. Roy Sanford, Mrs. Era H. Ford, Mrs. Laura Nell Guthrie, Mrs. Donna Harris, Mrs. J. C. Hitchcock, Mrs. Grace Garrett, Mrs. Tom Cannon and Miss Ouida Adams. Mrs. L. D. Marshall, president, and Mrs. Russell Denison, of the City Federation of Women's clubs, gave the tests at Dunbar school.

A new type of tuberculin test is being tried. It was developed by Dr. H. J. Corper in the research department of the National Jewish hospital in Denver. Called the Plasto test, it is administered by a wooden applicator stick to the skin of the arm, forming a plastic coating. Under the old method, patches were applied.

Result To Be Checked

The tuberculosis association expressed hope the test would eliminate the number of retests nec-

IMPORTANT CONFERENCES SLATED

Defense Chief May Check U.S. Bases

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3—Secretary of Defense Johnson has tentative plans for a first-hand inspection of American military forces and bases in Europe within the next few months.

And to check up on the United States' military position on the other side of the world, Undersecretary Stephen Early is considering a similar inspection trip to Japan and other areas.

Unless pressure of work here interferes, Johnson hopes to get away for the European visit before the end of the year.

Conferences Are Slated

In addition to conferring with the commanders of United States army, air and sea forces in the European area, the trip could afford the defense chief opportunity for talks with military leaders of the other Atlantic pact nations.

By that time, it is to be presumed, the mutual military defense framework under the North Atlantic pact will have begun to take shape out of committee conferences beginning Wednesday in Washington.

The joint chiefs of staff, the commanders of army, navy and air—made a European trip last July to look over U. S. forces and bases there and confer with military leaders of the Atlantic pact nations on the defensive organization under the pact.

Change In Situation

However, a major development which can influence all plans for the defense of the free western European nations has come since that visit — announcement that Russia has had an atomic explosion of her own.

Thus Johnson's European visit would be against a definitely different background than the earlier conferences.

Defense strategy now may have

Money Taken In Burglaries

Two burglary investigations were added today to others undertaken over the weekend, police said.

Reeves Photo-Engraving plant, at 1719 Broadway, was entered, probably through a front door, and approximately $140 in money and $104 in checks taken, investigators said.

Blair Cunnyngham, operator of an amusement place at 1900-block Nineteenth, complained that someone had entered his office and taken $25.75.

Residence Entered

Dr. A. B. Cunningham, Texas Tech professor and nationally-known writer of fiction, informed the police this afternoon that someone apparently had broken into his residence at 2601 Twenty-first. Detectives who went there to make an investigation had not made their report at 2 p. m.

Theft of a radio valued at $36.95 was reported from Pioneer Radio company at 1610 Nineteenth.

B. J. Jones, house guest of a downtown hotel, reported his 1940 light sedan stolen. Police already had found the car abandoned, and directed him to go to Mackenzie State park and repossess it.

Assault Bond Set

Moore's Bonded patrol discovered the Reeves burglary.

Bond of $1,000 was set by D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, for Johnnie S. Walker, a 34-year-old Lubbock negro who waived examining trial in connection with a charge of assault with intent to murder T. C. Jones.

Jones, about 25, a Queen City negro district resident, was shot. A bullet broke his left arm. The incident happened south of Lubbock, in a scuffle.

Lubbock C-C To Plan Holiday Decorations

The first meeting to plan downtown Christmas decorations was called this morning for 10:30 a. m. Wednesday in the chamber of commerce.

Jim Crook, assistant manager of the chamber of commerce, said representatives of firms which participated in the decorating last year have been invited to attend.

Present plans are to continue the use of strands of colored light bulbs across the streets. But samples of new types of ornaments for the strands and for the fronts of buildings will be on display Wednesday, Crook said.

He added that the invitation to attend the meeting includes merchants outside of last year's decorated area who would like to be included during the approaching holidays.

Big Losses Loom In Strikes

Hints Federal Officials May Step In Given

Another Walkout Threatening Steel Fabricating Plants

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 3.—One-fifth of John L. Lewis' coal miners went back into the pits today but nearly a million other steel and coal workers remained on strike for pension benefits.

There are hints the federal government may step into the dispute —but officially no one is talking.

Some 80,000 anthracite (hard coal) diggers ended two weeks of idleness in eastern Pennsylvania. And 22,000 soft coal diggers trooped back to mines in western states.

It's a morale booster for America's householders since virtually all of the coal mined by the returning 102,000 is used for home heating.

Big Dents In Economy

Coal-using industry, however, must continue to bite into a 46-day supply of bituminous stockpiled above ground.

How much steel is available? About enough for four to six weeks.

The double-barreled steel-coal strike—it idled 513,000 CIO steelworkers and nearly 400,000 soft coal miners—made big dents in America's economy.

If it continues another month the over-all loss in wages and sales is expected to reach a billion dollars.

All told 53 basic steel plants and 50 iron mines in 27 states are shut tight. That's 95 per cent of the nation's steel mills. A handful of companies, notably American Can company with 15,000 workers in 28 plants, agreed to union terms.

A few companies with independent unions also are operating.

But a new strike threat hangs like a sword of Damocles over in-

35-HOUR WEEK IS DISCUSSED

Cut In Work Week Is Goal Of Union

(By The Associated Press)

ST. PAUL Minn., Oct. 3—Leaders of the American Federation of Labor charted a union drive for fewer working hours in industry.

Delegates at opening sessions of the annual AFL convention received a report from officers day and work week as an immediate economic goal.

The report from the policy fewer working hours are needed because the nation is becoming productive enough to spread employment to give more individuals jobs and provide all with more leisure.

Senators To Speak

"If the economy is to remain sound over the long run," The council said, our developing productivity and technology must be 'leisure providing' as well as 'labor saving' and must lead to shorter hours and higher standards for all, rather than unemployment for a growing number."

Delegates were to hear AFL President William Green outline the convention's business this morning and addresses from Senators Malone (R-Nev.) and Humphrey (D-Minn.) in the afternoon.

Politics, expected to be a major convention subject in view of next years elections, bobbed up even before the delegates sat down for their first session.

Green told reporters the executive council instructed him and Secretary-Treasurer George Meany to decline invitations to a New York City rally for Herbert Lehman and William O'Dwyer, Democratic nominees for U.S. Senator and New York mayor respectively.

The council balked at Green and Meany sitting on the same political platform with the CIO's President Philip Murray and Secretary James Cary, also invited to the rally.

Green said the AFL still wants

Horton had been investigating the case four weeks, lacking one day, the sheriff's office said, and had traveled all the way from Brownfield to Fort Worth in connection with his checks of clues.

Neither suspect had appeared before Lynn to ask bail early this afternoon.

Youth Cured Of Like Ailment Adds $63.88

Lubbock Infant's "Get-Well" Fund Reaches $312.23 Total

Two years ago, Charles Baker was in the same plight as Billie Eugene Williams, 18-month-old "blue baby" under treatment at West Texas hospital.

Baker, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lee Baker of the Slaton highway, underwent a delicate 7-hour 25-minute operation at Dallas and is now well on the road to recovery.

But Sunday, he was worried about the Williams infant and decided to help as best he could.

First he visited the cotton mills to ask for contributions. Few persons were reluctant to contribute when Baker showed the scar which practically encircles his chest.

An old negro man, Fred Terrell, contributed all he had —two cents. Another man gave seven cents. Some gave as much as $10.

Then Baker visited the parks to solicit more funds. Today he sent $63.88 to the Avalanche-Journal to be turned over to the infant's get-well fund.

"It's the least I can do."

Hostesses And Soldiers Are Crash Victims

Only Five Survive; Torches Are Used To Recover Bodies

(By The Associated Press)

ONTARIO, Calif., Oct. 3. — A racing passenger train ripped into a U. S. air force bus at a crossing last night, killing 17 of the 22 occupants.

Eleven of the dead were military or civilian personnel from March air base; five were members of the Ontario Hostess' club—a service organization—the other was the chaperone, Mrs. Ruby McLaughlin, 45, mother of one of the dead girls, Juanita McLaughlin, 18.

Only Five Escaped

Chief Deputy Coroner Edward P. Doyle said only five, including twin sisters sitting in different parts of the bus, escaped alive. It was hours before officers could draw a coherent picture from survivors. Earlier estimates of the injured ran as high as 24, and police at one time said 19 bodies had been accounted for.

Acetylene torches finally cut away the mangled wreckage from the battered locomotive, and the train headed east more than four hours late.

The bus came from March air force base, 40 miles east of here, and carried military and civilian personnel and girl friends homebound from a day at the beach. No one on the bus was unhurt, but no one was injured aboard the train, the Union Pacific's pony express eastbound to Chicago. The railroad said the train was traveling 70 miles an hour. Engineer Al Hall declared "I didn't see a thing" before the crash.

An ambulance driver, ex-marine Dick Klenhard, said the bloody wreck scene reminded him of Iow Jima's beachhead — "there were dead and injured everywhere."

Survivors included Omega and Marquita Pearce, 18-year-old

Rail Accident Fatal To Man

AMES, Ia., Oct. 3 (AP)—One man was killed and five other persons were reported injured early today when several cars of the streamliner City of San Francisco left the tracks and the side of a pullman car was ripped open.

City police identified the dead passenger tentatively as Ernest Riggs, of Oakland, Calif.

In Chicago, the dispatcher's office at the Chicago and Northwestern railway said the westbound streamliner from Chicago to San Francisco blocked one main track.

Names of the five injured were not available immediately. They were taken to hospitals here.

At least four cars were reported off the track.

There was no immediate explanation of the accident.

As one of the streamliner's pullman coaches left the track, it slammed against a freight car on an adjoining track and was scissored open down the side.

P. O. Redmond, a passenger, of Palo Alto, Calif., was one of the drowsy passengers shaken by the crash.

"I had just been up front to the smoker," Redmond said, "when all at once the car swayed, one side began to fly to pieces, and the car rocked.

"A woman came over the seat and landed on top of me. Some lumber also flew over the seat and pushed both of us down.

"The most remarkable thing was the calmness of the women and children. I heard no one scream at all."

Camp Fire Institute Plans Completed

Misses Corinne Julie Moller and Louise Fargher, regional representatives of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., in the states of Texas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arkansas, will arrive today to direct a training institute at First Christian church Tuesday and Wednesday.

Miss Moller, supervisor, was formerly a Camp Fire field adviser for the same territory, a job now held by Miss Fargher. Prior to this, she was executive director of the North Texas Area council of Camp Fire girls in Wichita Falls.

Born in Stevensville, Mont., Miss Moller attended Stanford university where she received her bachelor of arts degree. She is a member of the Southern Section of the American Camping association and the Texas Social Welfare association.

With Work Since 1936

Miss Fargher is a native of LaPorte, Ind., and holds her A. B. degree from Western College of Education, where she majored in sociology. She has done graduate work at Texas Christian university, Fort Worth; Tulane university, New Orleans, La., and New York university. She has been professionally associated with the youth agency since 1936.

Leaders and council members from nearby towns have been invited to the sessions and every interested woman in Lubbock is invited. The greatest need of Camp Fire work in Lubbock is for leaders.

The program for the two-day meeting is as follows: Tuesday—9:30 a. m. registration; 10-10:30 o'clock, opening session; 10:30-12 o'clock noon, training session: 1:30-5:30 o'clock, training session; 6:30 o'clock, cut-out at Mackenzie State park.

Wednesday—9:30 a. m. sing song; 10-12:15 o'clock, "Let's Use Our Program Books"; 1:30-4:30 o'clock, training session; 4:30-5 o'clock, evaluation; 5-5:30 o'clock, ceremonial.

Ring Service Performed

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hinson, 1513 Twenty-ninth, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Wilma, to J. L. Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wright of Meadow. The double ring ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents at 8 p. m. Saturday by Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church.

The bride wore a winter white gabardine suit with navy blue accessories and carried a white Bible topped with a corsage. Mr. Hinson gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Betty Schwartz, maid of honor, wore a gray faille dress with green accessories. Joe Joplin served as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was laid with a crocheted cloth and centered with a wedding cake topped by a miniature bridal couple. The bride's sisters, Misses Patsy and LaVerne Hinson, presided at the table. The bridegroom's parents attended the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright are to make their home in Meadow.

Japanese Fireman More Destructive Than Blazing Fire

CHIBA, Japan, Oct. 3. (U.P.) — Shigeo Kiyomiya, driver of a fire truck, answered an alarm today and ended up by causing more death and destruction than that caused by the average fire.

On the way to a burning warehouse, Kiyomiya lost control of his truck, ran down and killed a four-year-old girl, seriously injured two other children and slightly injured two more, struck down a fireman, knocked over two telegraph poles and finally came to a stop in the home of an elderly widow.

While looking for Fire Chief Seizo Ilda to tell him of the accidents, police found his body dangling froma pine tree. Ilda apparently committed suicide to atone for his subordinate's mishaps.

Grown Daughter, Whose Mother Brought Her Up, Tells Her She Has Always Hated Her

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband deserted me when my daughter was three and one-half years old. He never provided for us in any way. I have always worked and I sent my daughter to the best boarding schools and camps I could afford.

I have always tried to be a good understanding and sympathetic mother, and have spared nothing in my power to help Janice all through her life. She is now a grown woman and she says she hates and despises me and always has.

She was always antagonistic towards me, and her actions proved she disliked me intensely; but it was only recently that she put her feelings into blunt words, adding that she did not want to see or hear from me. She has voluntarily taken psychiatric treatment for the past four years.

Should I accept the situation and try not to let it break me completely? Or should I keep looking for a solution to the problem? Is it completely abnormal for children to hate their parents, or is it the result of some failure on the parent's part? I shall greatly appreciate your thoughts on this matter that is ruining my life. Signed—E. V.

NEUROTICS MAKE MUCH OF "HATING"

DEAR E. V.: In the field of psychiatry there is a ubiquitous theory that (1) all acutely neurotic patients "hate" one or both parents with a lethal intensity never consciously faced; (2) that much of the morbid anxiety which warps their life and brings them to the specialist has to do with this undertow and its associated guilt-tensions; and (3) that sooner or later the patient must fetch the cat out of the bag, in order to begin to get better.

Also, in the field of analysis there is growing awareness among seasoned specialists that a bumbling practitioner's speculative ideas or hinted theories about a patient's ailments, in a given case, may be "picked up" by the patient, inferentially, with the result that the patient oft begins to "sound off" (spontaneously, he things) along lines that the specialist had "anticipated" he might; or even to bring in dreams that constitute "supporting evidence" of what the doctor has been bruiting.

In view of this secondary communication between doctor and patient, to which the latter sometimes responds puppetlike, you can see how vitally important to successful psychiatric therapy is sensitive intelligence, scrupulous integrity and mature vocational wisdom in the doctor. And I wonder if Janice has had these benefits from those who've contributed to her four years' "treatment?" Her belated volleys of outspoken hate at you raise some doubts about it.

SIGN OF THWARTED IMPULSE TO LOVE

THWARTING of the impulse to love, or frustration of the desire to be loved, may cause love-feelings to boil down to a sense of outrage — as witness the old saying, "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned." And such transmutation of feeling probably overtook Janice in her earliest life-experience, even before her father deserted,—for I notice you say you've always worked, hence of course couldn't wholly "mother" her infant needs.

Later, as this babyhood exasperation was followed by a considerable span of physical separation, when you sent her to boarding schools and camps, Janice probably came to imagine, and still continues to feel, that she "hates and despises you and always has." But very likely the crux of her distemper is, and always has been, that unconsciously she wants emotional closeness to you and doesn't know how to negotiate it.

As I see the picture, her fixated infantile outrage, which she won't let go, is a static hindrance to loving relatedness on the adult level; and perhaps your cringing solicitude nowadays tends to heighten her dudgeon. So for advice, if she and her doctor can't get better results on her part, try to accept her ingratitude with benevolent detachment and don't let it break your spirit.—M. H.

Plans For Fire Prevention Week To Be Completed Here

Final preparations for Lubbock participation in the observance of national fire prevention week Oct. 9 through 15 will be made at numerous subcommittee meetings this week, according to Marion Sanford, chairman of the fire prevention committee of the chamber of commerce.

The junior chamber of commerce will, as usual, do most of the "ball carrying" in the annual campaign, Sanford added.

As a preliminary to the beginning of the observance, he said, the Jaycees are cooperating with the fire department and Texas Tech in arranging a demonstration with an aerial truck between halves of the Tech-Tulsa university football game Saturday night. The Tech band will play special music. W. E. Larmer is chairman of the Jaycee committee arranging this feature.

Prizes Are Posted

As another feature, Lubbock Insurance exchange has posted more than $100 in prizes for a slogan and poster contest open to school students of the city. The posters will be displayed in downtown show windows and the winners will become eligible for competition for state and national prizes.

The observance also will include numerous demonstrations, special inspections of downtown buildings, talks before clubs and the distribution of much literature pertaining to fire prevention, Sanford said.

Sorority Quarters Wrecked By Vandals

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3. (AP)—Vandals wrecked the quarters of Delta Zeta sorority at George Washington university over the week-end. One report said it could have been the work of a "disappointed" girl.

The annual rushing season is underway.

A davenport and six leather-covered chairs were slashed, a rug and other furnishings burned by acid, mirrors were scratched, trophies battered or broken, and purple paint poured on woodwork and furniture.

Grandparents Given Blame For Flat Feet

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3. (U.P.)—Flat feet, according to chiropodist Frank J. Carleton, are frequently caused by fond grandparents."

They insist on making the child walk before he is able, Dr. Carleton said in the current journal of the National Association of Chiropodists, because they "can hardly wait to see their progeny rise in the world of their making and assume the burden of their hardy inheritance."

Charwoman's Life Savings Destroyed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3. (U.P.) Mrs. Lillie Mae Grant made only $25 a week as a charwoman in the Navy department's building I, but she managed to save a little of it each week.

She tucked away her slim savings under four layers of linoleum in the kitchen of her home. She didn't bother taking the money to a bank because it was "to inconvenient."

Her hoard grew to $3,700 in $1, $10, $20 and $100 bills. There were a few coins, too.

Then yesterday while Mrs. Grant and her nephew were changing a fuel container on the oil stove, something went wrong. Fire broke ou t and small frame house.

Firemen and neighbors had to pull Mrs. Grant out of the house. When the flames subsided, there was nothing left of her life's savings but ashes —and one melted nickel.

Miller warmed the hearts of the hundred or so Jaycees present when he assured them "these tickets will be given to kids who wouldn't get to see the circus without your aid."

Program Scheduled

Millsap also announced that tickets will go on sale Wednesday in the lobby of the Hilton.

Fat Is Not a Nice Word When Applied to the Body

Don't say it's your thyroid while reaching for the box of chocolates. Possibly one bulgy person in 100 has some glandular disturbance and that is truly a case for a physician. Never take any treatment for a gland condition without your doctor's advice. But for the other 99 per cent who are trying to fight the "Battle of the Bulges" common sense is the watchword. It is not necessary to overeat and it is not necessary to go hungry, either. Furthermore, it just doesn't make sense to go on a strenuous diet—take off weight and then quickly put it back on again when the diet period is over. For it is obvious that one cannot continue a starvation diet over a protracted period. Within the last year or so, several diet and vitamin "plans" have appeared on the market, which means cut down on the food intake and fortify with vitamins for hunger distress. But as mentioned above, you can't keep this up very long and when you quit — back comes the fat.

An exhaustive survey recently made among Texas druggists showed one outstanding reducing aid is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It allows you to eat plenty. You eat all you want but you eat LESS. Sounds like double talk, but it isn't. It definitely stops you from eating more than necessary for the energy you spend. At the same time, it dehydrates and eliminates.

Nearly one and a half million bottles of this preparation, called Barcentrate has been sold in Texas in the past four years.

You can get a four-ounce bottle of Barcentrate from any Texas druggist. Mix with 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice and take just two tablespoonsful twice a day.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose that ugly fat, the makers agree to refund your money.

UN BALKAN GROUP WILL MEET

Effort To Smooth Relations With Greece Gets Undedway

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 3 (AP)—A new effort to end the vocal—and sometimes shooting—conflict between Greece and her communist northern neighbors gets underway today.

Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, president of the U. N. general assembly, has called a meeting this morning of the four-member Balkan conciliation committee chosen unanimously by the assembly's political committee last week.

Romulo, who heads the committee, will meet with Lester B. Pearson of Canada, chairman of the political committee; Selim Sarper of Turkey, vice chairman of the political committee, and U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie.

War Is Danger

The plan approved by the committee calls for invitations to Albania and Bulgaria to send special representatives to appear before the conciliation group. The other nations involved, Yugoslavia and Greece, already have delegations at the U. N. meetings. The Bulgarian representatives have arrived in New York but it is not yet known when the Albanians are due here.

The conciliation task has assumed some urgency since the U. N. special committee on the Balkans reported recently there was danger of a serious outbreak of hostilities in the Balkans unless Bulgaria and Albania stopped aiding the communist-led Greek guerrillas.

The committee said Yugoslavia had fulfilled its promise to close the border with Greece.

The conciliation group will report back to the political committee by Oct. 17 on the results of their peace efforts.

Rights Claimed Denied

The political committee is scheduled to continue debate today on the disposal of Italy's prewar African colonies.

The U. N. spotlight this week is likely to shift, however, to the assembly's special political committee, which may reach the subject of charges of human rights violations in Russian satellites Tuesday.

The special political committee is to vote today on a proposal to continue the U. N. Korean commission and instruct the commission to report any activities threatening peace in Korea.

The next order of business for the special political committee will be the charges that three Russian satellites—Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania—have denied human rights and fundamental freedoms to their citizens.

Latins Await Chance

The Latin American countries, solidly Catholic, have been waiting a chance to get in their licks against Hungary for the imprisonment of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty.

Australia, Britain and the United States have been equally insistent on airing the complaints of religious persecution by all three satellites and also charges that anti-communists have been subjected to various forms of persecution.

The U. S. is reported considering asking the assembly to send the case to the International Court of Justice, with the feeling that a condemnation by the court would have greater moral affect than a resolution by the assembly.

Yugoslavia's strong note to Russia Saturday, accusing the Soviets of "aggressive pressure," also is bound to have repercussions at Lake Success.

Yugoslavia's firm attitude toward Russia, as exemplified by the new note, may win her a few more votes in her race against Czechoslovakia for the security council seat usually allotted to an eastern European country.

FARM LEGISLATION IS HOT ISSUE

Compromise Bill On Support Prices Comes Up In Senate

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP)—The Senate buckled down today to a scrap over farm legislation—a politically hot issue that has crisscrossed party lines.

Mindful of the hay President Truman made in the Midwest farm belt in his election campaign last year, senators came to grips with the problem of how far the government should go in supporting farm prices.

Before them was a compromise bill worked out by a Senate agriculture subcommittee under the guidance of Senator Anderson (D-NM), former secretary of agriculture under Mr. Truman.

Proposed Props Raised

It would set up a flexible system of government-backed price supports, ranging from 75 to 90 per cent of parity for most basic crops. The price props would come down as crop supplies went up.

(Parity is a price intended to give farmers a fair return on their crops in terms of what they have to buy).

In principle, the Anderson bill is much like the Aiken law enacted by the Republican-controlled 80th Congress last year to take effect next Jan. 1. But the Anderson measure underwrites farm prices at a somewhat higher level.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt), author of last year's act, is backing it. But some senators, both Democrat and Republican, want higher price supports for basic crops.

Substitute To Be Offered

Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla), chairman of the Senate agriculture committee, said he plans to offer the program of Secretary of Agriculture Brannan as a substitute for the Anderson bill.

"I'm for the highest price supports I can get," he said.

The plan of Brannan, who succeeded Anderson as secretary of agriculture, would support storable basic commodities through the present loan and purchase mechanisms.

It would permit prices of perishable commodities to drop to a free market level. Then the government would make up the difference between this level and a pre-determined fair return by direct subsidy payments to farmers.

Brannan Plan Reected

The House voted down the Brannan plan two months ago. The Senate agriculture committee pigeonholed it.

Senators Young (R-ND) and Thye (R-Minn) said they hoped the Senate would get a chance to vote on it. Young predicted it wouldn't get more than 15 votes in the Senate.

Brannan contends his plan would serve the dual purpose of giving consumers cheaper food prices and farmers a stable income. Republican farm leaders retort that it would make farmers dependent on federal handouts and that consumers would have to pay for it through taxes.

The House voted to scrap the Aiken law and continue for another year the high wartime level of price supports—90 per cent of parity for most major crops.

Anderson, however, argued that attempts to maintain high supports are likely to result in the whole program being thrown "out the window" because of public reaction to the cost.

Jehovah's Witnesses Group Is Forced To Leave Gainesville After Skirmish With Veterans

(By The United Press)

GAINESVILLE, Oct. 3.—A large contingent of Jehovah's Witnesses fought members of Gainesville veterans organizations because they were not permitted to assemble in a junior high school auditorium, authorities said today.

The free-for-all battle took place outside the school Sunday after members of the religious sect declined to accept the veterans' invitation to leave town.

An eyewitness said the veterans objected to remarks made by the Witnesses and took exception to the methods they used in trying to sell subscriptions to the sect's magazine, the Watchtower, in downtown Gainesville Saturday.

He said that the magazine salesmen first sought to sell subscriptions for one year and, failing to attract customers, offered contracts for a shorter period.

Money Refunded

Someof the salesmen were willing to sell single copies, while others were giving them away.

Spokesmen for the sect said they were told they could not use the auditorium and the money they had paid for its rental was refunded Saturday night. The auditorium had been rented for a public meeting Sunday.

The Cook county sheriff's office said the Witnesses moved into the residential section of the town, playing records and attempting to sell magazine subscriptions.

"They talked insulting to people who wouldn't buy them, and that caused a lot of ill-feeling toward them," one deputy said. "And they raised a banner in the main part of town which said "hear the only light."

The sheriff's office said that none of the men was hurt.

"One of the men had his face taped up, but I understand he got a couple of teeth loosened or knocked out in Oklahoma a few days ago."

About 400 members of the sect entered Gainesville for a three-day meeting Friday. None of them was seen today.

"They started leaving town yesterday about an hour after the fight," a Gainesville radio man said. "I think all of them are out of town now, and that's what those veterans wanted."

Delay Faces Civil Rights

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (U.P.) — President Truman agreed with his congressional leaders today to drop requests for civil rights legislation at this session and aim for consideration of a fair employment practices bill early in the next.

The President's decision was disclosed by Senate majority leader, Scott W. Lucas, of Illinois, after the regular Monday legislative conference at the White House.

Agree On Plans

Lucas said the President and leaders of both houses had agreed to let the civil rights fight go over until next session. Lucas said it was agreed today that it was "very doubtful that any prolonged discussion of civil rights in the Senate during the remainder of this session would be very helpful."

But, Lucas added, "the Senate will definitely take up an FEPC bill early in the next session."

House Speaker Sam Rayburn said that House Democratic leaders will meet tomorrow with the Senate policy committee in an effort to determine when Congress can adjourn.

Lucas expressed the belief that the Senate could complete the bulk of its work within two weeks. He said he did not want to guess on adjournment date but thought it would come within two to three weeks.

JUMPS FROM DERRICK

KILGORE, Oct. 3 (AP)—Justice of the Peace Coke Wilkins returned a verdict of suicide in the death yesterday of Lewis Twyman, 56. Twyman jumped from the top of an 85 foot oil derrick.

Welder Killed In Snyder Explosion

SNYDER, Oct. 3. (Special) — Willie J. Buffaloe, 42-year-old welder, was killed here Saturday afternoon when a 1,250-gallon gasoline tank on which he was working blew up.

The storage tank, which was located at the rear of the Frank Arnett garage west of the square, was completely demolished. Buffaloe died enroute to the hospital.

Funeral services were held at 4 p. m., Sunday at the Church of Christ, Austin Barner officiating. Burial was in Snyder cemetery under the direction of the Odom Funeral home.

Cause of the explosion has not been determined, but it was believed to have been caused by gasoline or gasoline fumes inside the tank being ignited by Buffaloe's welding torch.

Buffaloe was well-known in this area, specializing in oil field work. Born Jan. 21, 1907, at Snyder, he recently had made his headquarters north of town in the North Snyder oil field.

Survivors include his wife; Pearl; a sister, Mrs. Nelly Mae Blare of Agua Caliente, Calif.; three brothers, Ocie and Obie, both of Dallas, and Guy Archie of Fresno, Calif.

A Danish schoolmaster, Hans Chr. C. Mortensen in 1899, used aluminum bands to study scientifically the habits of white storks, European teals, starlings and a few birds of prey.

Oilmen Hit At Import Threat

FORT WORTH, Oct. 3. (AP)—Devaluation of the British pound probably means more and cheaper foreign crude oil imports, the chairman of the National Petroleum council said here today.

Walter S. Hallanan, Pittsburgh, Pa., said this threat makes it even more imperative that imports be brought into line with domestic demand.

Hallanan spoke at the opening session of the twentieth annual convention of the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

He criticized "American generosity," for cooperating in building and rebuilding European oil installations.

Annual Report Made

"As imports have mounted to new records levels our export markets have been lost to European countries whose facilities for producing and refining petroleum have been built with the money of the American taxpayer," he said.

"This is nothing more nor less than a form of national suicide."

Fred W. Shield, San Antonio, the outgoing IPAA president, touched on imports only briefly in his annual report.

He said a united front against unrestricted imports was in evidence 20 years ago at the association's first meeting.

"As a result an excise tax was imposed that reduced imports more than 50 per cent," he said.

Officers Election Set

The IPAA convention continues through tomorrow. New officers and directors were to be named this afternoon.

In a meeting held yesterday preliminary to the convention, J. Paul Jones, Bradford, Pa., was named president of the National Stripper Well association.

Jones succeeds Fred Sehmann, Wichita Falls, Tex.

V. C. Perini, Abilene, Tex., is the new first vice president, with M. G. Powers, Huntington, W. Va., second vice president, G. G. Bauer, Bradford, treasurer, and C. J. Tucker, Wichita Falls, secretary.

MAN IS DROWNED

SEGUIN, Oct. 3 (U.P.)—Theodore V. Dziewas, 51, of San Antonio, drowned in nearby Lake McQueen late yesterday when he was pitched into the lake by a collision of his speedboat with an outboard motor boat piloted by a 17-year-old Seguin youth. The Seguin managed to swim to shore. The body of the San Antonio man was recovered two hours after the accident by Seguin firemen.

Psychology Of Fear Is World Problem, India's Nehru Says

By ROBERT BRANSON
United Press Staff Writer

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 3.—Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru warned the world today it should worry more about the "psychology of blind fear" than Russia's acquisition of the atomic bomb.

In an exclusive interview on the eve of his departure for the United States, Nehru predicted that Russia's discovery of the atomic bomb "may help towards prevention of war."

No War Foreseen

"The more terrible the dangers of war, the more the people should see the folly of it and avoid it," he said.

"Personally, I don't believe there is any chance of a world war in the near future.

"The only thing I am afraid of is the psychology of blind fear which is gripping the people all over the world.

Russia's discovery of the atomic bomb has forced people to think more vividly and to realize the possibilities in store. In that sense it may help toward prevention of war."

Nehru will leave here next Thursday for the United States on what he calls a "good will" mission.

"I am looking forward to the opportunity of discussing many problems in Washington," he said.

Nehru reiterated a previous statement that talk about a Pacific pact—to parallel the Atlantic pact—was premature.

"Indian is going to maintain an independent foreign policy," he said. "India does not fear Communist aggression from outside at present."

He denied reports that India already had decided to recognize the new Chinese Communist regime formed in Peiping.

"No final decision has been taken and the matter is still under consideration," he said.

SWIM IS FAILURE

FOLKESTONE, Eng., Oct. 3 (AP)—Egyptian Fahmy Attallah failed today in his fifth attempt to swim the English channel. Attallah was hauled out of the icy waters after 16 hours.

Noted Throat Specialists report on 30-Day Test of Camel Smokers . . .

NOT ONE SINGLE CASE OF THROAT IRRITATION due to smoking CAMELS!

JOE GOVER, salesman, of Valley Stream, N.Y., tells you how he tested Camel MILDNESS under the observation of a noted throat specialist.

Yes, these were the findings of noted throat specialists after a total of 2,470 weekly examinations of the throats of hundreds of men and women who smoked Camels—and only Camels—for 30 consecutive days!

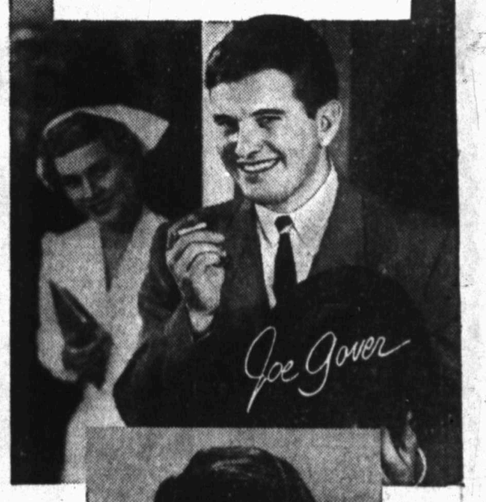

"I'm glad I made the test -- now I know what a pleasure smoking can be! The test was simple. I smoked only Camels for 30 days. I liked that Camel flavor right off!

"I smoked up to 2 packs a day. Every week the throat specialist examined my throat. Not once did he find a single trace of irritation due to smoking Camels.

"I didn't need the doctor's word for it -- Camels agreed with my throat right from the start. They're my cigarette from now on -- for taste and mildness!"

Start your own 30-Day Camel Mildness Test Today!

● You have the word of Camel smokers . . . the word of the throat specialists who conducted the tests reported above. But prove Camel mildness for yourself—in your "T-Zone"—and see if you don't agree that Camels are the mildest, best-tasting cigarette you ever smoked!

Yanks, Dodgers To Meet For World Crown

Series Is Scheduled To Open Wednesday In Yankee Stadium

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Still puffing from the closest two-league finish since 1908, the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers collide Wednesday in the city's eighth subway World Series.

The fall championship playoff finds the Yankees in familiar surroundings. This is their 16th appearance in the classic and the New Yorkers are solid favorites to capture their 12th world title.

The early odds establish Casey Stengel's taped-up athletes as a 10-17 choice. If you like the Yankees you have to lay $17 to win $10.

The first two games, Wednesday and Thursday, will be played in Yankee stadium, the vast structure in the Bronx that seats 70,000.

Without interruption, the series moves across the river to the 35,000-capacity Ebbets field Friday for three games, in case there isn't a sweep. The last two games, if necessary, return to the stadium next Monday and Tuesday.

First "Dime" Series

Inflation has made this New York's first "dime" series. The subway fare has been raised from a nickel to ten cents since the last inter-borough battle in 1947 when these same Yankees outlasted the Dodgers, four games to three.

The Dodgers, who have been in four previous World Series and never won, also bowed to the Yankees in 1941 by four-to-one.

New York and Brooklyn squeaked through to league championships yesterday in a spine-tingling season climax.

The Yankees punctured the hopes of the confident and material-rich Boston Red Sox, 5-3, before a crowd of 68,055 at Yankee stadium. Vic Faschi set the Sox down with five hits, three of them coming in a bold ninth-inning three-run rally.

Dogers Beat Phils

The Dodgers pushed across two runs in the tenth inning to repel the Phillies at Philadelphia, 9-7. They thus escaped a tie and three-game playoff with the pursuing St. Louis Cardinals, who bounded out a slump to whip the Chicago Cubs, 13-5.

The failure of the gold-plated Bostonians and the pressure-tough Cardinals provided a major surprise.

The Red Sox, built by Tom Yawkey's millions, were tabbed the best team in baseball and ruled heavy American league favorites. The Cardinals' old pros were figured to be the last to fade in the stretch, but they did—losing four of their last five games.

In 1908 three teams in each league, instead of two, went down to the wire in brisk fights for the flag. The Chicago Cubs and Detroit Tigers survived, and Chicago won the series.

Seldom in the past has a World Series caught two contenders in such an even physical state as this one. Both are weary from the rugged pennant drives and neither has its pitching staff ready for the pull.

Yanks Lefties Ready

White-haired Burt Shotton, manager of the Dodgers, said he wouldn't even hazard a guess on his probable starting pitcher. It probably will be one of his two aces, Preacher Roe or Don Newcombe.

Crusty old Casey Stengel has lefties Tommy Byrne and Ed Lopat ready for the Yankees.

The Bronx Bombers, plagued by 71 different injuries during the season, should be in pretty good shape physically.

Outfielder Joe DiMaggio, out the first half of the season with a heel ailment, has just rejoined his mates after a bout with a virus infection.

He insists he will be ready for full-time duty. Tommy Henrich and Catcher Yogi Berra, other important Yankees who have been on the ailing list periodically, are back in good health.

Other games yesterday had little effect on the final standings. In the American league, Cleveland, the 1948 champion, whipped Detroit, 8-4, to finish third. Washington beat Philadelphia, 3-0. St. Louis' Browns lost the first game with Chicago, 4-3, but won the Second, 5-3.

champion Braves finish fourth. The National saw Boston's 1948 beating the New York Giants on the last day, 2-1. Pittsburgh won the opener from Cincinnati, 4-2, but lost the second game, 6-5.

Nashville Notches Victory Over Tulsa

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 3 (AP) — Righthander Ben Wade will shoulder the responsibility of trying to get the Nashville Vols even with the Tulsa Oilers in the Dixie series tonight.

The Vols, pennant and playoff winners in the Southern association, got back in the ball game yesterday with a 9-1 victory behind the three-hit pitching of Frank Marino.

The triumph brought new hope to the Vols after they were whacked soundly in the first two games.

WICHITA FALLS IS IMPRESSIVE

Coyotes Hailed As Top North Eleven

(By The Associated Press)

Teams fall like autumn leaves as the Texas schoolboy football campaign slides into October. Just 16 undefeated, untied elevens remain of the 110 that started the race a month ago. It's the longest casualty list for a comparable period in history.

And above the field today loom the Coyotes of Wichita Falls and the Yellow Jackets of Port Arthur.

There are others laying claims to greatness—Lubbock, Highland Park (Dallas), Marshall, Baytown—but Wichita Falls and Port Arthur now look like the best bets for the finals of Class AA.

The City conference race is a puzzle. Only two teams are unbeaten and one of those has been tied. But this division has some top clubs, as witness Arlington Heights' 7-6 victory over top-rated Austin of Class AA last week.

Pampa Tests Coyotes

That was the major upset of the week. It jarred the league from top to bottom. Arlington Heights was the team that lost to Abilene and Abilene was beaten 33-7 by Wichita Falls last week.

This week-end there will be some more toppling of the mighty because the feature game brings Wichita Falls against Pampa, also undefeated and untied, and Lamar (Houston), the last unbeaten, untied outfit in the City conference, against Baytown, which boasts a perfect record in Class AA.

The undefeated, untied list today shows:

Lamar (Houston(, Amarillo, Pampa, Wichita Falls, Lamesa, Lubbock, Ysleta, Grand Prairie, Highland Park (Dallas), Henderson, Marshall, Port Arthur, Galveston, Baytown, Corsicana and Edinburg.

John Reagan of Houston is undefeated but has been tied.

The only teams in the state that are unscored on are Galveston and Highland Park. Highland Park this week plays Waco and Galveston engages South Park (Beaumont).

Conference play will be heavy in one district of the City conference and two districts of Class AA.

In District 9, where Marshall has edged forward as one of the highest rated teams of the state, there will be three conference tilts with Marshall playing Kilgore, Texarkana meeting Longview and Tyler engaging Gladewater.

The Houston district opens conference play in the City conference with Reagan playing Stephen F. Austin and Sam Houston tackling Milby.

District 13 of Class AA has two conference tilts with Temple at Hillsboro and Cleburne at Waxahachie.

Stroud Named As Grid Star

DALLAS, Oct. 3. (UP) — Jerry Norton of Texarkana and Olney Beltz of Orange ran away with top honors today in the Dallas Morning News' week end roundup of high school gridiron stars.

Norton, although handicapped by a two-pound brace on an injured knee, scored three touchdowns and engineered two extra points as Texarkana defeated Nacogdoches, 26-7.

The 1948 all-stater's performance was highly lauded by Bob Mundella of the Texarkana Gazette, who, along with sportswriters throughout the state, participate in the weekly roundup.

Beltz Is Praised

Beltz reeled off 197 yards while leading Orange to an unexpectedly powerful performance against high favored Baytown, which won 34-18. The "Flying Dutchman" scored one touchdown on a 68-yard run and set up two others on long sprints.

Other schoolboy stars included:
John Salyer, Austin back.
Doyle Nix, Texarkana center.
Charles Fraff, Cleburne back.
Tim Guthrie and Malcolm Bowers, Highland Park Backs.
Bobby Leggett, Harlingen back.
Wayne Stroud, Lubbock, back.
Harold Swindell, Amarillo center.
Billy Hooper, Sweetwater back.
Richard Black and Brooks Ziegler, Hillsboro.

Doak Walker To Get Rest This Weekend

DALLAS, Oct. 3 (AP)—It's going to be a dull week for All-America Doak Walker. The Southern Methodist grid star just won't know what to do with himself since his team is laying off and he's accustomed to playing 50 minutes or more each Saturday.

Lester Jordan, business manager of athletics at S. M. U., is threatening to put the Doaker to work in the athletic office. "He ought to do something to keep earning his board, room and tuition," says Jordan, not mentioning the 109,000 fans who thronged into the Cotton Bowl the previous two Saturdays just to watch Walker play.

Walker gave them their money's worth, too. He personally conducted S. M. U. to a 13-7 victory over Wake Forest and a 28-27 decision over Missouri. Against Wake Forest he passed for 216 yards and both touchdowns. Against Missouri he ran for 105 yards, scored three touchdowns and kicked four extra points. He played over 50 minutes in each game.

Walker will graduate from S. M. U. next spring. At a party last night attended by Don Faurot and Chauncey Simpson, head coach and assistant coach respectively of Missouri, some banter came up about it.

Faurot and Simpson, who think Walker is about the greatest piece of football anatomy they ever encountered, said they would attend the graduation ceremony. "We want to be sure Walker gets his degree and leaves," laughed Faurot.

North Texas Slated To Battle Hardin

(By The Associated Press)

The first shot in the battle for the Gulf Coast conference championship will be fired this week.

Hardin risks its fabulous record against North Texas State, the pre-season title favorite. It is the first conference game of the season and will be played at Denton Friday nigth.

Hardin has won four games, roled up 146 points and allowed the opposition absolutely none, But the Indians haven't played as tough a schedule as North Texas, which met Hardin-Simmons and Arkansas along with Howard Payne and Oklahoma City university. The Eagles didn't look bad against either Hardin or Arkansas, the games they lost.

Hardin last week beat Austin college 28-0. Austin got the consolation of holding the Indians to their lowest score.

The conference did well in intersectional play. University of Houston beat Wichita 26-6 and North Texas State laced Oklahoma City university 26-6.

While Hardin and North Texas are swapping touchdowns in the opening conference game this week, Trinity will be playing Oklahoma City U. at Oklahoma City Friday night and University of Houston meets Southwestern Louisiana Institute at Lafayette, La., Saturday nigth.

TCU May Protest Arkansas Tactics

DALLAS, Oct. 3 (AP)—Bill Rives, sports editor of the Dallas Morning News, said there were indications an official protest may be made to the Southwest conference over the "rough tactics" of the University of Arkansas football team.

Rives said Texas Christian university Coach L. R. (Dutch) Meyer and Horned Frog players were incensed over what they described as the rough tactics of Arkansas.

Arkansas Saturday defeated Texas Christian, 27-7.

Rives, who covered the game, said yesterday that Meyer would make only this statement for publication:

"Just list our injuries. That ought to show how I feel."

Rives said Orein Browning, defensive TCU halfback, suffered a broken jaw; Quarterback Lindy Berry and End Morris Bailey each had several teeth loosened; Wayne Rogers, an end, had an injured right knee, and Center Max Eubank a black eye.

Army Gridders Test Michigan

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP)—Army and Michigan, two of the nation's college football titans, clash in an old time donnybrook Saturday at Ann Arbor.

Although this probably will rate as the No. 1 fracas of the day, several other tilts are calculated to hoist the blood pressure. For instance:

Texas and Oklahoma, two old buddies who have been batting each others' ears off in a traditional rivalry since 1900. They meet at Dallas, with no holds barred.

Navy Tackles Duke

Ohio State and Southern California at Los Angeles, with the Trojans determined to boost Pacific coast grid prestige, and the Buckeyes hoping this won't be the only trip west this season. They'd like to return New Year's day as the Big 10's representative in the Rose Bowl.

And down in Baltimore, a rejuvenated Navy eleven tackles Duke, a revitalized Blue Devil array that could be heading back to the football heights.

There are plenty of others on tap as the collegians swing into full gear(but these are the big ones.

As for Army and Michigan, take your pick. West Point's new team, showing no signs of weakness through graduation, plastered Penn State last week, 42-7. On the other coast, meanwhile, Michigan carved out a 27-7 verdict over Stanford.

Oklaho[illegible]ned a 33-13 defeat on Texa[illegible] nd M. last week, and Texa[illegible] up for the Sooners by tak[illegible] Idaho apart, 56-7.

Ohio State continued its high scoring antics by submerging Indiana, 46-7, and Southern California had no trouble downing Washington State, 35-7.

Irish Meet Purdue

For the second week in a row, Duke came through flying, pasting Tennessee 21-7. Navy's young midshipmen overpowered Princeton, 28-7, for the first Annapolis football victory in two years.

Notre Dame, recalling its 28-27 squeak over Purdue last fall, meets the Boilermakers, who dropped a 21-7 decision to Iowa Saturday. The Fighting Irish polished off Washington 27-7.

Another Big 10 outfit with title ambitions, Minnesota, entertains Northwestern in one of the midwest's major frays. Minnesota sank Nebraska, 38-6, last week, while Pittsburgh's up and coming Panthers scored the day's major upset by knocking off Northwestern's Rose Bowl champs, 16-7. Pitt should have no trouble with West Virginia this week.

Tulane Has Breather

In the deep south, Tulane gets a breather against Southeastern Louisiana, while looking forward to the meeting with Notre Dame Oct. 15. The Green Wave rolled over Georgia Tech, 18-0.

Yankees Stage Wild Dressing Room Celebration After Win

BY OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 — They certainly didn't look like heroes—but they were.

They wore foolish grins and little else. They were gaping, grinning and yelling inarticulate nothings. And they romped around in long underwear, or less, the tape and the bandages and the strawberries mute reminders that the long journey begun last April was over and the American league flag was theirs.

These were the Yankees and they glowed with pride as old sail-eared Casey Stengel, a guy who came in on a pass, climbed up on a table and with a catch in his threat and tears in his eyes, choked out:

"You're the gamest, grandest bunch that ever played baseball. This is the greatest thing in my life. And I knew we had it — when there were three out in the ninth inning."

Old Case still wasn't certain He managed humpty dumpties too long with the Braves and the Dodgers. Then he finally had this chance with the Yankees — a team which fired a manager for finishing third.

And it had been a mad scramble all the way to this hectic, almost unbelievable finish. All the way his club was plagued by injuries — a grand total of 70. And now they had won it by walloping the murderous Red Sox two in a row.

Old Case climbed down then and thanked them all individually, and it took quite a while. For every one of this battered band deserved a hand.

There was Joe DiMaggio, sitting gaunt and tired with flecks of gray spotting the hair that was coal black only last April. It's been a rough year for the Clipper. He missed the first half of the season with heel spurs. The last two weeks he was bedded with virus pneumonia — but came limping back to be the windup inspiration.

"Next year?" Joe said tiredly. "That'll have to wait 'til then."

There was Phil (The Scooter) Rizzuto, who made up in class what he lacked in stature. So well, in fact, that he looms as the most valuable player. Little Phil got 'em off in the big one, with an opening triple and the first run.

And Tommy Henrich. "Old Reliable" had everything happen wrong this season. He had more fractures than basehits, the toe, spine, ribs, knee and wrist. But it was his eighth inning homer which started the landslide.

They mauled Vic Raschi, the bulging-jawed pitcher who had stopped the Sox in the windup. Big Vic didn't finish a game from Aug. 17 to Sept. 28. But he was murder with a fast ball yesterday—the watchword of a club which had it when it had to have it.

Between The Lines by Joe Kelly

American and National League races came to a blazing close yesterday in games that didn't go as everybody had thought that they would. How many thought, for instance, that the Yankees would take two straight from the potent Bosox? How many thought that the Dodgers, with the pennant in their grasp, would blow a lead and have to go into extra innings to win? But to the everlasting credit of the two new pennant winners, they both staggered through in two of the most remarkable races in the history of the respective leagues. The chases couldn't have been closer, or more exciting, and they completely overshadowed the football games of the weekend.

It should be a great World Series and we believe that it will go the full string. We don't like predictions, but we think that the Dodgers should, on paper, take it. They have youth in their favor, fine pitching, timely hitting—and the Yanks still are a crippled old ball club. Even so, Manager Casey Stengel said the other day that they were destined to win the American League pennant. They did. The Yanks feel that they are a team of destiny and any team that feels that way will be hard to beat. Princeton Football Coach Bill Roper once earned fame by stating that "a team that won't be beaten can't be beaten." It should be one of the most exciting World Series in the long history of the star-studded classic.

We have an idea that possibly Coach Dell Morgan is wringing his hands in despair. Not because his varsity team looked bad Saturday night in beating West Texas State college, but because his freshman eleven looked even better in whipping the junior Buffs. There weren't very many fans on hand to see the Picadors in their debut, but we have an idea that there'll be quite a gathering in their next showing at home. Tech has come up with a freshman crew that not only seems to know what it is doing, but also takes delight in doing it. There was no emotionalism displayed as they ground out their touchdowns. There was no back slapping, jumping up and down or shouting. They scored their touchdowns in a business-like way. They were out there to score and they did. That's all there was to it.

Waldo "Wild-o" Young was just another back on the field Friday night, despite his 70-yard punt return for a touchdown in the fading moments of the game. He scored twice, but it was the steady work of W. H. Barker, Ronnie Miller, Carroll Drye and the two quarterbacks, Carl Madison and Don Seale, that really caused the Raider machine to work. Madison and Seale staged a duel among themselves for top honors at quarterback—and came out about even. There was little to choose between them. Each ran the team well. Each showed ball handling ability. And each pitched passes in a manner that puts to shame efforts of present varsity tossers. In fact, one Tech varsity back was heard to say, as he left the stadium after the game, "I'm just damned glad that I won't be back next year!"

While the freshman squad gives promise of providing Tech with a pleasant future a year or two from now, the showing the varsity made against the Buffs Saturday night wasn't disheartening. The Buffs, steamed up as usual and certain that they could win, gave the Raiders ceveral moments of enxiety. They didn't know when they were beaten; they never do against Tech. They came to Lubbock honestly believing that they could win and the Raiders had to play some fine football to lick 'em 35-19. It wasn't an easy victory, but after playing Texas and Texas A & M the Buffs were much easier. The turning point undoubtedly was Earl Jackson's 50-yard touchdown romp, along with the five successive conversions by Tim Hatch. Jackson turned in one of his usually consistent games, with his long run a beautiful thing to watch.

The Raiders, for all of 19 points scored against them, didn't turn in a bad performance and at times it was a brilliant job. They were blocking well, tackling well and opening good holes for the backs. But the thing we liked bast was the way the Raiders marched for their touchdowns. They went 52 yards, 64 yards, 50 yards, 70 yards and 59 yards, four of them sustained drives. They scored on five of the 12 times they held the ball and were on their way to another touchdown the 12th time they held it. That's one score for each two times in which they were in possession of the pigskin, a good average. They had smart quarterbacking from Milton Rathbone and Bill Lyman, who mixed up their running plays with passing beautifully. On the otherhand, the Buffs held the ball 14 times and could score only thrice.

We were honored Saturday night after the game by a visit from Buddy Brothers, Tech alumnus who this Saturday night will bring his Tulsa Golden Hurricanes to Lubbock. Buddy had recovered from the 40-7 licking handed him in the afternoon at Tulsa by Florida on a quick plane trip here, but he still was fretting about the Hurricane. The score at the half was only 13-7, the Hurricane blowing sky high in the last half. He says he has a lot of work to do, but he and two assistants, who accompanied him, have scouted Tech thoroughly and it won't be for lack of knowledge that Tech will win—as we think the Raiders will. Incidentally, this same thought may have occurred to some of you. We asked Buddy if he thought McMurry could beat Tech. His reply was an emphatic no. He said that Tech had looked bad at times Saturday night, but that they also had looked awful good and, outside of Brad Rowland, the Raiders probably wouldn't have much trouble if they played the Indians.

Gassers Gain League Crown

POST, Oct. 3. (Special)—The Denver City Gassers won the Oil Belt baseball league here yesterday by defeating Post's Miller's, 5-0, and conclude the Shaugnessy playoff at Postex park before 500 fans.

The gassers' ace hurler, Hooks Epperson, set Post down with four hits, lone hits in the second and sixth frames and two singles in the ninth inning, struckout seven men and walked one. Bill Jones started for Post and was charged with the loss, being relieved in the fifth by Windle Greer who hurled hitless ball the last four innings.

Five Post Errors

Denver City took advantage of five Post errors, scoring single runs in the second, third and fourth innings and pushing two tallies across in the fifth.

C. D. Clements knocked a triple for the Gassers and W. Hilton doubled. The other five hits for the winners were distributed between Ed Gorman, Cyclone Jones, Nuel Landreth, Jackie Cook and Bobby Lewis.

Post hitters were Jim Boyd, Doug Simpson, Wade Holland and R. M. Thomas.

Post advanced to the finals in the series by defeating Sundown, and Denver City eliminated Seagraves.

Cleveland Browns, Chicago Bears Win

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP) — The mighty mights — the Cleveland Browns and Chicago Bears — have established themselves as early-season favorites in the professional football rankings.

The Browns, three times All-America conference champs, clung to their first place lead by crushing the Los Angeles Dons, 42-7, at Cleveland. The Browns, with a 4-0-1 record, led San Francisco, which has a 4-1-0 slate.

The Bears, meanwhile, smothered their National league rivals, the Chicago Cardinals, 17-7, to share the we...n division's top rung with the Los Angeles Rams, who smashed Green Bay, 48-7. Each is unbeaten in two starts.

Another AAC game saw the Baltimore Colts score their first victory, upsetting the Buffalo Bills, 35-28.

Rough Schedule Is Facing SWC Teams

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

September's dream may turn into a nightmare for three more Southwest conference teams this week.

Baylor, Arkansas and Texas stand a chance to be stripped of early season greatness. That lot fell last week to Rice and Texas Christian.

There's no danger for the slick Southern Methodist university Mustangs—they do not play.

And Texas A. and M. hopes for the best.

Louisiana State, A. and M.'s foe this week, upset Rice, 14-7.

Arkansas, which meets Baylor Saturday at Waco, exploded Texas Christian's hopes that this year was "it." The score: 27-7.

Texas and Baylor rolled on unfeated, the Longhorns crushing Idaho, 56-7, and Baylor beating Mississippi State, 14-6.

But this week Texas finds out what it hasn't learned against three second class opponents: Am I really good? The Steers face Oklahoma, one of the top team's in the country, an ancient foe, and victor over A. and M. last week, 33-13.

All-America Doak Walker led Southern Methodist to its wild, 28-27, win over Missouri. The Mustangs played their usual brand of football, coming from behind, almost losing, but in front at the end.

Texas Christian faces Indiana this week and Rice meets New Mexico.

Arkansas and Baylor complete the list of undefeated conference teams. The Razorbacks head the conference standings and their tilt with Baylor this week again is the only one to count in the title race.

Defeat Unexpected

The licking Rice took from LSU was not only unexpected, it caused some serious thought about that second best team rating given the Owls before the season.

The Oklahoma game will tell the Texas story and a convincing victory may raise the Longhorns' status to chief threat to Southern Methodist in the championship chase.

This may be a foolish assumption, but it has a precedent.

At any rate, the game will be witnessed by the largest crowd ever to see a football game in the Southwest. The enlarged Cotton Bowl in Dallas seats 75,346 persons and all tickets have been sold for two months.

Last year, when the new Cotton Bowl was opened with the OU-Texas game, a crowd of 67,000 plus watched. That was the old record.

Arkansas showed itself a real conference darkhorse by smashing Texas Christian. The Razorbacks ruined the Frogs' vaunted passing attack before it ever had a chance to click.

Walker Paces Ponies

Just how good John Barnhill's T team is will be seen against Baylor. The same goes for Bob Woodruff's Bears.

A. and M. gave Oklahoma more trouble than had been expected, but the Aggies will have a familiar role of underdog against LSU. They would have been rated this way, even before the Tigers tripped Rice.

Walker scored three touchdowns and kicked the four all important points against Missouri. He proved again he is the heart, soul and brains of the Southern Methodist team.

Randall Clay is the conference's top scorer. He had five touchdowns now and 13 extra points for a total of 43. Carl Mayes, Texas, Lindy Berry, Texas Christian, Bob Smith, A. and M., and Don Logue of Arkansas each have 24 points. Walker has scored 23.

Grid Club To Meet Tonight

Second guessers will be out in force tonight when the Quarterback club holds its weekly meeting at 8 p. m. in the main ballroom of the Hilton hotel. The largest crowd of the year is being anticipated.

Three winning coaches, Dell Morgan of Texas Tech, C. R. Pattison of Lubbock High and Damon Hill of Dunbar High, will address the group. It is the first time this season that all three Lubbock teams have won on the same weekend.

Tech beat West Texas State college 35-19 Saturday night after Lubbock High school had beaten Plainview 42-6 and Dunbar High school had taken Midland 26-7.

President Bill Collins will preside tonight and pictures of the Texas Tech-Texas A & M game will be shown. The public is invited to attend.

East Texas State To Tangle With Austin

(By The Associated Press)

The Lone Star conference starts playing for keeps this week and the first crack out of the box the teams expected to fight for the title meet each other.

Stephen F. Austin clashes with East Texas State at Commerce Saturday night in the conference opener.

Austin, the only undefeated team in the conference, didn't play last week while East Texas State was getting back on the beam with a 26-14 victory over Howard Payne of the Texas conference.

Sam Houston State beat independent East Texas Baptist 26-0 and Southwest Texas State lost to Texas A. and I. of the Texas conference 20-12.

Sam Houston tries Texas A. and I. Saturday night at Kingsville while Southwest Texas State moves against Howard Payne at San Marcos.

McMurry Sets Pace In Loop

(By The Associated Press)

Texas conference teams run into another heavy week of non-loop play, with McMurry and Texas A & I—The circuit's two top teams—standing the best chance of winning.

McMurry, which dumped the University of Corpus Christi 58-12 last week, faces Mississippi Southern at Hattiesburg, Miss., Saturday night and A & I entertains Sam Houston State at Kingsville.

Austin tackles the University of Corpus Christi; Howard Payne faces Southwest Texas State, and Friday Southwestern and Abilene Christian tangle in the only conference game.

A & I kept the only perfect record in the conference by thumping Southwest Texas State last week, 20-12.

Austin dropped its second straight game, 0-28, to Hardin and Southwestern bowed to Louisiana Tech, 0-20. These two conference teams have yet to score.

ACC was beaten by the University of Chattanooga, 7-14, and Howard Payne lost a 14-26 decision to East Texas State.

Brad Rowland, McMurry's candidate for little All-America backfield honors, scored three touchdowns to run his total for the year to six and take over the lead in scoring.

Floyd Sampson of McMurry also scored three touchdowns to run his total for the year to five for second place.

Joe Fulton Paces Gun Club Shooters

Skeet and trap came in for accurate shooting Sunday at Lubbock gun club, with several good scores being listed.

Joe K. Fulton missed on 13 of 200 attempts with a 12 gauge to finish with a 187x200 total for the day, and Tye Williamson posted a 47x50.

E. T. Daniels fired 24x25 with a 12 gauge in skeet and blasted 24x25 in trap with the same weapon. H. B. Davis registered a perfect 25x25 in trap, with Si Gooden hitting one perfect round.

Sunday skeet shooters were E. T. Daniels with 24x25 with 12 gauge and 23x25, 22x25 and 25x25 with 20 gauge; Fulton with 23x25, 24x25, 25x25, 24x25, 23x25, 21x25, 24x25, and 23x25; Wayne Ashley with 19x25; O. B. Daniels with 18x25, 18x25 and 22x25 with 20 gauge; Cubby Key with 22x25, 20x25, and 21x25 with 12 gauge and 14x25 with 16 gauge; Williamson with 22x25 and 25x25; Henry Willbourne with 22x25 and 23x25; R. J. Cramer with 19x25 and 19x25 with 410; Fred Oliver with 16x25 with 16 gauge; Gooden with 19x25 with 12 gauge and 22x25 with 16 gauge; and Sam Pangburn with 17x25.

Trap shooters were E. T. Daniels with 24x25, 22x25 and 21x25; Cramer with 17x25 and 20x25; Gooden with 22x25, 25x25 and 19x25; and Davis with 25x25.

Title Play Slated In Junior Circuit

(By The Associated Press)

The Southwestern Junior college conference moves full tilt into title warfare this week but none of the leaders meet each other.

Lamar's Cardinals, pacing the loop with two conference wins, play Arlington State at Beaumont Saturday night.

Tyler, which has won its only conference start, takes on Paris at Paris Thursday night. At the same time Kilgore will be moving into championship play against Tarleton State at Kilgore.

The two other circuit members —Schreiner and San Angelo— have non- conference tests. San Angelo plays Hardin-Simmons freshmen at San Angelo Friday night. Schreiner tackles Del Mar of Corpus Christi at Kerrville the same night.

Lamar, Tyler and Kilgore each has won its three games of the season, Tyler being the most impressive. The Apaches have rolled up 117 points to seven. They whammed Los Angeles City college 49-0 last week in a bright intersectional show.

Lamar was beating San Angelo 42-20 in a conference game and Kilgore was licking Northeast college of Louisana State 28-14.

Schreiner broke into the conference win column by beating Paris 20-13. In other games, Arlington State bowed to Henderson county of the Texas Junior College conference 13-0 and Tarleton State strapped Ranger of the same circuit 27-0.

Japanese Premier Believes China Should Be Left Alone

EDITOR'S NOTE: Observers of world affairs have speculated in recent weeks concerning the effect on Japan of a communist China. The question has become sharper with proclamation of a Chinese communist peoples republic. Joseph L. Jones, vice president and general foreign manager of the United Press, now on a tour of the Far East, posed this question to Japanese Premier Shigeru Yoshida. In the following exclusive interview Yoshida says he believes it will take a generation or two for communism to spread from China to Japan.

TOKYO, Japan, Oct. 3—Premier Shigeru Yoshida hopes that the allies will sign a peace treaty with Japan as soon as possible, but if it occurs during the next year he does not see how American occupation forces can be withdrawn quickly without leaving Japan defenseless and in chaos.

The prime minister made these statements during an hour's exclusive interview with the United Press at his home today. He also made the following points about China, communism and war:

1. The best advice he could give anybody about China would be to "leave the Chinese alone."

"The British interfered with them too much during the last century," he said. "The Japanese interfered too much this century and I think that Soviet Russia will find too much interference unprofitable also.

Ill Feeling Developing

"The Chinese communists have gained control with the help of Russian influence but ill feeling already is developing in rural areas as the real nature of communism becomes clear."

2. As to American policy in China, Premier Yoshida said merely "the Americans do not understand the Chinese." He said that the government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, Japan's old enemy, "did not try hard enough" to bring about internal reforms which Americans urged.

3. "As to communism in Japan," the premier continued, "I dare say that a communist China would affect us in time but not immediately. It took the Buddhist religion 200 years to spread to Japan after it became established in China. I think it would take a generation or two for communism to spread from China to Japan."

Yoshida earlier this year publicly proposed to outlaw the communist party here but did not obtain sufficient support. He is head of the Democratic-Liberal party, which is the most conservative party in Japan and has an overwhelming majority in the diet.

4. The priemier would only say "I hope so" when asked if he thought a third world war could be avoided. His hope, he explained, lies in the increasing power of world opinion. "We have had enough war," he added, "nobody wants another one."

5. Japan's austerity budget for the next fiscal year, which begins in April, will be balanced for the first time in some 15 years.

To attract foreign capital for reconstruction, some of the tax levies will be even lower than those recommended by a recent tax reform report.

6. "Before you ask any questions," Yoshida told this correspondent, "I want to express my gratitude to the United States and to Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

twins from Ontario. Omega received a broken ankle, Marquita cuts and bruises. She said she was sitting on the rear seat with Charles Plevniak.

"I heard a scream 'Look out!' The next thing I knew, some men were picking me up," Plevniak was taken to naval hospital at Long Beach with undetermined injuries. His condition was described as serious.

Frightening Big Light

Marquita said her sister was several seats up in the bus.

Sgt. Peter Grisolia, Brooklyn, N. Y., said:

"All I could see was that frightening big light on the front of the train. I could see myself being hurled toward the wheels. But I didn't reach them, thank God."

Nearly a mile of the railroad right-of-way—some 30 miles east of Los Angeles—was strewn with bodies, some decapitated and many mangled. Torches were required to cut one body from the bus wreckage. Another was pinned beneath the diesel locomotive. What was left of the bus was wrapped around the engine.

Had Been On Outing

Survivors said the party had been to Corona Del Mar and Long Beach on a special services outing. It had dropped off some girl friends of the air base personnel only a few minutes before.

A graphic eyewitness account came from O. K. Englund of La Crescenta, Calif., who was driving on U. S. highway 60, which parallels the Union Pacific tracks. Englund sells accident insurance and has investigated many crashes.

"Suddenly," he said, "rocks began hitting my windshield and I drove into a big cloud of dust. I stopped. A fellow was staggering around, yelling 'my arm, my arm.' I saw one man lying against a post, bones sticking out from his body. There were pieces of bodies scattered everywhere. Pieces of the bus were scattered around, none so big you couldn't lift them.

"I came upon a girl, naked from the waist up and bleeding badly. I helped lift a man half buried in the sand.

"I must have seen about 15 people lying around, and there were only five of them alive."

Robert Walline, who lives across the highway from the accident scene, said he heard the wig-wag bell ringing and then a crash. He rushed outside and heard screaming. Wailline said he saw several bodies, some of them decapitated.

PRICE EDGE HIGHER

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP) — Prices edged higher today in a moderately active stock market.

Trading was at the rate of around 800,000 shares for the entire day.

The upturn came late in the day after the market had ambled along quietly in a narrow range.

Gains were around a point at the most among the leaders, and at the same time there were some losses of an equal amount. Most of the movement was in a fractional range.

There was no particular buying or selling pressure anywhere along the line. Individual issues responded to selective demand.

On the higher side were Youngstown Sheet & Tube, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodyear, Santa Fe, Nickel Plate, Union Pacific, Admiral Corp., Philco, Kennecott, Dome Mines, Dupont, Union Carbide, American Woolen, International Paper, Allied Stores, Standard Oil (NJ), and U. S. Gypsum.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP) — Cotton futures were firm on aggressive mill buying today. Offerings were scarce and this in turn induced covering by local traders. But sales continued heavy at ten primary markets with most of the cotton believed to be moving to mills which have a large volume of orders for cotton goods. Traders awaited development of farm legislation scheduled for Senate debate today.

Cotton closed steady.

Oats No. 2 white 86¼-87¼.

Corn No. 2 white Texas 1.50½-54½.

Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo, per 100 lbs. 2.05-12.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 3 (AP) — A strong market developed in grains on the board of trade today. The upturn was led by soybeans, which jumped more than 3 cents at times.

Wet weather in the midwest influenced both soybeans and corn. It was expected to delay completion of the soybean harvest and hinder the drying out of corn.

More important as a support for the corn futures advance was pronounced strength in the cash market. Buyers were bidding as much as 18 cents over the December future for No. 1 and No. 2 yellow corn. This was an advance of 2½ cents in the premium as compared with Saturday.

Gains in wheat were led by the May and July deliveries, both of which made new seasonal highs. Reports that producers in the southwest were seeding less acreage to 1950 winter wheat spurred demand. A northwest elevator was a heavy buyer of December wheat.

Oats, rye and lard joined in the upward movement.

Wheat closed ⅝-2⅛ higher, December $2.14¼-⅜, corn was 1¼-1⅝ higher, December $1.18⅝-¾, oats were ½-⅝ higher, December 87¾-⅞, rye was ½-1¼ higher, December $1.47¼, soybeans were 2½-3½ higher, November $2.31⅜-½.

The Plasto test is to be kept dry and the test coating left in place 48 hours. If, however, a marked reaction becomes visible through the film, the coating may be removed. If no reaction is noticed at the end of 48 hours, the patch may be left for additional time.

authorities a 20-year-old suspect who had been named last week as wanted in Arizona on a rape charge.

Arrested In Hale Center

The youth was sauntering down a Hale Center street when the rangers detected him after a brief search.

It was expected that a fugitive complaint would be filed against the suspect here this afternoon, which would allow Arizona to extradite him.

It also was announced that Lawrence Calvin Dorn, 23, of 1700-block Tenth had posted bonds totaling $600 on charges of drunk driving and failure to leave information at scene of an accident. His car and another were in collision Sunday at Thirty-fourth and Ave. P, officials said.

Negro Is Charged

A. J. (Albert) Lyons, 43, a Lubbock negro, was charged with theft of an automobile belonging to Eddie Walker. He allegedly appeared at a service station and falsely claimed he had permission of the car's owner to take it. The owner appeared soon after the black had driven the car away, and asked for the machine, officials said they had been informed.

Bond of $1,000 was set by D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, in the case, binding Lyons over to grand jury investigation.

C. O. Randolph posted $750 bond on a charge of liquor law violation filed Saturday, the sheriff's office said. He pleaded innocent of the charge.

D. C. Turner was fined $500 and court costs in a charge of liquor law violation. The state alleged it seized 100 cases of beer from him Aug. 11.

David Dubinsky,head of the AFL ladies garment workers union, and a political power in New York state, is supporting Newbold Morris, fusion- liberal candidate against O'Dwyer for mayor.

35-Hour Week Talked

In calling for a union drive to reduce working hours, the executive council did not suggest any standard in place of the present eight-hour day, 40-hour week.

But labor unions for some time have been discussing the possibility of a 35-hour week with five seven-hour days.

The council said that industrial productivity is increasing. It said it may be best to reduce working hours rather than demand higher pay, but "it may be possible to do both." It said wages can be increased without boosting prices.

"We must not be content," the council said, "just so long as our situation is better than pre-war. We are living in a new era and on a higher plane of activity."

Shepperd Is Named To Education Board

AUSTIN, Oct. 3. (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers today named John Ben Shepperd of Gladewater to the state board of education.

Shepperd takes the place vacated by Jack Binion of Houston who resigned to run for the elective board in the Nov. 8 election.

Shepperd will serve until members of the new bard are sworn in, sometime in November.

Flier Safe In Mexican City

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 3 (U.P.) —Lieut. James R. Risner, 24, air National Guard flier missing since last Thursday, rode into Tampico, Mexico, yesterday on horseback to report that he had landed his fuel-less plane on a beach some 150 miles south of Brownsville, Tex.

Risner was reported missing Thursday afternoon on a routine navigational flight from Will Rogers field, Oklahoma City, to Corpus Christi, Texas, naval base. He missed Corpus Christi by a few miles and kept flying until his gas supply gave out, he told his family here by telephone late yesterday.

Area Is Searched

Air rescue planes from Biggs field, El Paso, and air National Guard planes from Oklahoma City searched the area between Austin and Corpus Christi for two days looking for Risner and his F-51 fighter plane.

Risner said he landed on a sandy stretch of beach along the Gulf of Mexico. Curious Mexicans who flocked around the plane told him he was some 150 miles south of Brownsville and about the same distance from Tampico.

They loaned him a horse and, after nearly three days of riding, he jogged into Tampico yesterday afternoon. He called Col. Maurice Marrs, his group commander here Marrs said, "good for the lieutenant. He showed he's really on the ball in taking care of himself."

Flier Phones Family

Risner telephoned his family before he called Marrs, however. His wife, Kathleen, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Risner of Tulsa, who came here Friday when they learned their son was missing, were "overjoyed."

Risner was to fly in a commercial plane to Brownsville, this afternoon. After making plans to return his plane to Oklahoma City, Risner will come home.

northwest and north about 12 miles an hour," an advisory read. "Winds will increase along the Texas coast today, reaching gale force (55 to 63 miles an hour) this afternoon and hurricane force in the area between Corpus Christi and Galveston tonight."

The bureau said tides are high along the Louisiana and Texas coast and will become dangerously high along the upper and middle Texas coasts by tonight.

Small craft east of Lake Charles, La., to Pensacola, Fla., should remain in port, the bureau said.

Moving Into Shelters

At Corpus Christi North Beach residents began moving into Red Cross storm shelters at 11 a. m. Transport convoy was organized for evacuation of those without autos. Streets in some low areas were flooded.

A navy plane reported at 10:20 a. m. that the storm was 200 miles southeast of Corpus Christi. It was moving in the Corpus Chrjsti direction at 12 miles an hour, the plane reported. It estimated the wind at 120 miles an hour.

The Corpus Christi weather bureau said the storm would head inland midway between Corpus Christi and Galveston late tonight. This would be in the vicinity of Port Lavaca. The area is dotted with oil derricks and refineries. It also is a big recreational and fishing center.

Tourists Leave Area

Four to five foot tides were expected at Corpus Christi and Port Aransas, just up the coast from Corpus Christi. Most of the tourists were said to have left the area.

Precautions were being taken at Houston, Texas' largest city. The air force flew out 30 bombers from Ellington field. Other equipment was lashed down. A torrential rain hit the city during the morning. Some streets were flooded.

Rain that started along the coast yesterday had penetrated most of East and South Texas today. Only in far West Texas and the Panhandle were skies clear. In the Panhandle the temperature dropped to a low of 46 during the night.

Palacios, on the coast, was drenched with a 3.61-inch rain. Beaumont, on the upper coast, got 1.83 inches.

Residents Are Moving

Residents in low areas in the Victoria area were moving into town. They were being housed in public buildings—the courthouse, the jail, the postoffice, the city hall and an armory.

Pleasure and fishing boats were being made fast in back bays and the intracoastal canal in the vicinity of Seadrift.

It was feared three thousand bales of cotton still in Victoria county fields would be lost if the full force of the storm hits that area. There is a considerable amount of unharvested rice in Calhoun county.

School officials talked of dismissing schools at noon in Victoria.

Council Is Alerted

Texas' state disaster council was alerted before midnight. Red Cross personnel also have been assigned to the area.

The state disaster council—born of the Texas City disaster of 1947—consists of Gov. Allan Shivers; Director of Public Safety Homer Garrison, jr.; State Health Officer Dr. George W. Cox; State Adj. General K. L. Berry; Director of Public Welfare John Winters; State Highway Engineer Dewitt Greer; the governor's executive secretary, William McGill; Red Cross State Relations Director H. D. Carmichael.

Carmichael said he thought the hurricane might hit first at Port O'Connor.

Red Cross personnel in charge of disaster work are:

Glenn Ferges, Corpus Christi, Nueces, San Patricio, and Aransas counties.

Bonnie McAsee and George Johnson, Victoria, Refugio, Goliad, Calhoun and Jackson counties.

R. H. Kidwell, San Antonio, Matagorda and Wharton counties.

Al T. Deere, Freeport and Brazoria counties.

Francis Vogler, a disaster worker from the Red Cross' St. Louis headquarters, will work at Galveston.

Barney Wolding, Houston, Fort Bend county.

Nell Scott, Houston, a reserve disaster nurse, is standing by for use where needed.

Labor Disputes

dustrial America. The steelworkers' union has 500,000 more members working in 700 steel fabricating plants from coast to coast.

Their contracts start running out Oct. 15. And the union says the men will quit work unless management grants free pensions and free insurance.

Never before in the nation's history have coal mines and steel mills been struck together. Both are basic industries, vital to continued production of nearly every necessity—from refrigerators to baby carriages to hairpins.

Philip Murray, CIO united steelworker president, called his men out on the picket line. He wants company-paid pensions and social insurance. And he says his men will strike until they get them.

"We'll take nothing less," Murray said after flashing the strike signal.

"Our cause is just. We will win."

Mine Fund Low

Lewis didn't order any strike—but his men quit work, anyway, on Sept. 19 after the bushy-browed miner chieftain announced suspension of payments from the mine workers' pension and welfare fund. He said the fund was nearly broke because some southern operators failed to pay their 20-cents-a-ton royalty.

Lewis told the 102,000 to return to work because there was no need for them to stay out of the pits. He resumes contract negotiations with operators on Wednesday. But he's never told anybody exactly what he wants to make peace in the coal fields.

Murray broke off negotiations with big steel four hours before his steelworkers struck at 12:01 a. m. Saturday. No new talks are scheduled. What's next on the agenda?—Nobody knows.

Maybe President Truman might step into the picture. He did three times before and helped delay the steel strike 76 days.

The next federal step in the steel crisis may be another conciliation move. U. S. mediators tried to halt the steel walkout two days before it began but management and union refused to budge from announced positions.

Murray wants free pensions. Big steel offered to set up a pension and social insurance program but insisted that its workers share part of the costs—a few cents an hour per employe, anyway.

Murray said nothing doing, it must be free. It must be exactly as the President's steel fact-finding board recommended: A non-contributory pension-insurance program with management paying 10-cents-an-hour per man to maintain it.

Said Irving S. Olds, chairman of U. S. Steel corporation's board of directors:

"United States Steel has declined to bow to that ultimatum."

So what could Mr. Truman do?

There's plenty of speculation in steel capital Pittsburgh.

These are the rumors:

1. Federal intervention to get the CIO steelworkers and big steel management together again around a conference table.

2 Injunction action under the Taft-Hartley labor law to halt the walkout.

3. Government seizure and operation of the struck plants under the President's war powers.

The President said after the strike's start he had no plans to step into the dispute. Latest word from the White House backed up that stand.

Miss Barbara Kate Negy, a graduate of Texas State College for Women at Denton, has been appointed district school lunch supervisor for the Lubbock district, according M. F. Thurmond, director of the school lunch division of the state department of education at Austin. Her district will include some 60 counties and will have headquarters in Lubbock. She will assist school lunch managers with school lunch problems.

A 99th district grand jury was impaneled this morning to investigate more than 70 formally-filed complaints and to inquire into all other instances of lawlessness that might come to attention. It was composed of A. G. Payne and W. A. Martin, both of Lubbock route 5; L. V. Preston of Hurlwood; Milton E. Granville, a negro, W. T. Davis, and W. Howard Hoffman, all of Slaton; Foy Hudson and G. Pardue as foreman, of 2105 Sixteenth, and Oscar Nislad, of 1722 Thirty-third, both of Lubbock.

$6,000,000 Firm To Be Given To School

HOUSTON, Oct. 3. (U.P.) — A wealthy manufacturer of oilfield equipment announced today he would make a gift of his $6,000,000 Houston firm to Southwestern University of Georgetown.

Fred McManus, 72, president of the WKM Co., said he was ready to retire and wanted "the fruits of the enterprise to go where they will do the most good."

McManus said his retirement would bring about no change in the management of the firm.

W. G. Whitten, who will remain as secretary-treasurer, said the industry's profits will be tax-free to Southwestern.

fracture of the skull and severe brain lacerations, according to her physician, when her car overturned after it was struck on the right side by a 1948 Pontiac driven by R. J. Rhoten, 45, of Amherst, who was un-injured.

Rhoten's wife, 44, suffered cuts, bruises and possible internal injuries in the mishap. She was taken to West Texas hospital, where her condition was described as "fair" today. His daughter, Bobbie, 17, suffered bruises on her righ arm and a 23-month-old grandson, Randy Lee Pritchard, received a bruise on his forehead.

Lenuard B. Mayfield, 42, negro farm hand of Lubbock route 5, who was driving the jeep which collided with the 1940 Plymouth driven by Parsley, was reported to be injured seriously by attendants at Chatman hospital today.

His left leg, badly mangled in the accident, may have to be amputated, according to his physician.

Driving Toward Levelland

Parsley, a resident of Lubbock for two years and a field representative for the Tidewater Petroleum company at Levelland, was driving toward Levelland when the tragedy occurred, according to state police who investigated the accident.

The jeep was en route toward Lubbock.

Parsley is survived by his wife; two sons, George B. and Charles Howard Parsley, jr., both of Lubbock; his mother, Mrs. Nettie Parsley, and a sister, Mrs. L. W. Holmberg, both of Fort Worth.

Another Tech student, Miss Albertine Foster, 18, of Dormitory 3, suffered minor injuries about 12:10 a. m. Sunday when the car in which she was riding smashed into the rear of another car at Broadway and Ave. F. She was treated at Lubbock Memorial hospital.

Ex-Lubbock Resident Sick In VA Hospital

Benjamin L. Cummings, former Lubbock police patrolman who is currently employed on the police force at Carlsbad, N. M., is recuperating from a severe illness in the Veterans hospital at Amarillo.

His wife, who is living with a four-year-old son, Robert, at 1921 Twenty-first, reported today that her husband's condition was somewhat improved.

Cummings entered the hospital approximately a week ago with ruptured stomach ulcers. His condition at that time was believed critical, but a series of seven blood transfusions has improved his condition.

Mrs. Cummings and her son plan to move to Carlsbad as soon as her husband is out of the hospital and when housing becomes available.

Burglaries

Santos Gossia approximately $90, he told the sheriff's office. He was sleeping in a tourist cabin. Someone entered and removed his clothing, which contained the money and other properties. The clothing was discarded outside the cabin.

From Hale Center, Lee Boroughs of Hobbs, N. M., telephoned Lubbock investigators that an electrical amplifier valued at $196 had been stolen. A reward of $20 was offered for its recovery.

Twelve watches were taken from the Tyner Jewelry company at 906 Thirteenth street after a large hole had been smashed in the front window. Blood was found on the sidewalk under the window. They were valued at $398.

Two soldiers noticed the broken window and reported it to police at 4:16 a. m., Sunday.

Three Boys Caught

A short time earlier, at 1:25 a. m., J. J. Moore of Moore's Bonded patrol, surprised three youths removing hinges off the back door of the Avenue H drug store at 411 Ave. H.

The boys, one 9 years old and the other two 14 years of age, told officers they had broken into the C. Koen fruit stand at 415 Ave. H. which had been burglarized Friday night. They also told of break-ins at 1802 Ave. D and at 502 Ave. H, and said two other boys had accompanied them.

Moore said the boys had cached loot in an old barn in 500 block Ave. G, and that 5½ cartons of cigarets and 64 packages of firecrackers had been recovered. Lubbock police and juvenile officers were continuing the investigation.

John W. Wilson, City-county juvenile counsellor, said five boys subsequently included in an investigation into the burglaries were "two sets of brothers" and another youth. The brothers were 9, 12 and 14 years old, the other youth 14.

Police reported recovery of a 1945 Dodge truck which Clarence E. Morris, negro, said was stolen during the night from its parking place in front of 1705 Ave. A.

Danny Ross, 35, of the Sunray courts, was released from county jail after posting $250 peace bond. His wife had complained that he had threatened to kill her.

Vernon Negro Held

Preston McGensey, 32, Vernon negro, was released from county jail to Panola county authorities after his arrest early Sunday at Lubbock Memorial hospital where he was treated for knife wound in the shoulder. McGensey told officers that he did not wish to file charges against his assailant.

Floyd Allen Gibbs, 17, of Milwaukee, Wis., was delivered to federal authorities for transfer to Amarillo. He had been lodged in the county jail here after his arrest at Dalhart on a charge of transporting a stolen car across a state line.

Lubbock police were holding a 26-year-old man for Liquor Control board officers after his arrest at 7:15 a. m. Sunday. Police said seven cases of beer were found in the man's car, parked in front of a cafe. His arrest was the outgrowth of a fight at the cafe which resulted in disturbance complaints against five other men.

He was charged as James Richard Goff, but had not entered a plea, officials said.

to be patterned to the possibility that western European capitals must be protected not only from invasion by conventional ground forces and attack by standard explosive and incendiary bombs but against atomic attack. Atlantic coast ports through which United States troops could be landed for the support of pact country armies henceforth must be considered as potential targets for A-bomb attacks which could render them useless as ports of debarkation and supply.

Plans To Be Reviewed

Strategy-makers must review, too, the plans for early retaliatory strikes by United States long range strategic bombers against Russian munition-making and military centers if Russia should move on the western European powers.

Russian atomic developments also raise the question of increased vulnerability of American bomber bases in England and fighter fields in Germany.

The timetable for getting ground forces and arms to Europe to help the western European powers becomes even more critical if the planners must reckon with the possibility of atomic blitz.

Baker said. "When I underwent my operation two years ago, I was the oldest blue baby to ever undergo the delicate heart surgery."

Meanwhile, attendants at West Texas hospital announced that baby Williams' condition was "much better" today and that he had not required use of the oxygen tent since Sunday.

By noon, another $6 cash had been received to bring the morning's total to $69.88 and the fund's total to $312.23 Latest contributors were the Butler Grocery and Market of route 4 for $1 and Mrs. A. L. Hawkins, $5.

The baby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Williams, who live in a trailer camp on the Plainview highway, said neighbors had contributed an additional $80.

His mother said today she was a little afraid of flying her son to Galveston for an examination which may lead to a corrective operation "but I'll do anything if it will help my boy."

R. H. Fulton of the Levelland highway, has offered to fly the mother and child to Galveston. Gerald V. Fulton of 2703 Twenty-first, has agreed to give $100 and arrange further financing of the trip.

The Salvation Army has guaranteed any portion of the hospital bill here not covered by contributions.

Cleveland Browns, Chicago Bears Win

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP) — The mighty mights — the Cleveland Browns and Chicago Bears — have established themselves as early-season favorites in the professional football rankings.

The Browns, three times All-America conference champs, clung to their first place lead by crushing the Los Angeles Dons, 42-7, at Cleveland. The Browns, with a 4-0-1 record, led San Francisco, which has a 4-1-0 slate.

The Bears, meanwhile, smothered their National league rivals, the Chicago Cardinals, 17-7, to share the western division's top rung with the Los Angeles Rams, who smashed Green Bay, 48-7. Each is unbeaten in two starts.

Another AAC game saw the Baltimore Colts score their first victory, upsetting the Buffalo Bills, 35-28.

WESTERN ALLIES CHARGED WITH GERMAN SPLIT

Soviet Russia Breaks Relations With Chinese Nationalists, Giving Support To Communists

BY EDDY GILMORE
AP Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Oct. 3—Russia has finally broken with the nationalist government in China to give the diplomatic nod to the new Red regime there. At the same time she accused the western allies of trying to split Germany by setting up a separate government in their zones.

The recognization of communist China was announced yesterday in a note to premier of central people's government at Peiping from Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Another Soviet note, delivered to representatives of the three big western powers in Moscow, rapped the creation of the west German government at Bonn. It charged the U.S., Britain and France had broken big four agreements to try to regain political and economic unity of Germany.

Romania Joins Reds

Meanwhile, Romania joined the parade of Soviet style "people's democracies" in scrapping her friendship treaty with Yugoslavia. Poland, Bulgaria and Hunagry already have followed the lead of Russia in denouncing their alliances with Premier Marshall Tito's regime.

(Reports from in Yugoslavia say tnesion is mounting among the people, as Tito's cold war with the Russian-led Cominform reached its toughest stage yet. There were unconfirmed reports in Belgrade that Tito was shifting his troops from western Yugoslavia to the eastern borders facing Hungary and Romania.

(Associated Press correspondent Alex H. Singleton reported, however, there appears to be no fear in Belgrade that actual war is imminent.

(The people realize, nevertheless, that the Soviet satellites are united in a diplomatic-economic effort to oust Tito's regime.)

Charge To Be Debated

Russia's action on China came while eastern Europe was observing international peace day.

Chinese charge d'affaires Tien Ting said he had transmitted Gromyko's statement to Canton.

"In the meantime," he said, "We are staying here awaiting instructions."

(In New York, T. F. Tsiang, Chief Chinese Nationalist delegate in the United Nations general assembly, commenting on the Soviet recognition of the Red Chinese regime, said:

("This so-called people's republic of China, being called the child of Soviet Russia, would naturally be recognized by its father."

(Tsiang presented the Chinese complaint against Russia to the U.N. assembly last Tuesday, charging the Soviets with backing the Chinese Reds in the war against the Kuomintang government in Canton. The assembly over Soviet bloc opposition, voted to debate the charge of Russian interference in China.

Reds Send Mission

(Reports from HongKong said a Russian mission headed by Alexander Fedeyev already is in Peiping, presumably to further Chinese-Soviet friendship. Observers in Hong Kong predicted that Russian military and technical advisors soon would take an open part in Chinese affairs.)

(Shanghai dispatches said the Chinese communists have sent messages to all foreign consulates and embassies inviting diplomatic recognition of the new Red government.)

News of the recognition reached Moscow's diplomatic colony when most of them were attending a movie at the residence of U.S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk.

(Observers in Tokyo said Russia's recognition of the communist Chinese regime presented a puzzler: will the Soviets now refuse to sit with Nationalist China on the four - power allied council for Japan. The U.S. and Britain are the other two members.)

The Moscow radio quoted the Russian note protesting the west German state as saying:

"The Soviet government considers altogether worthless attempts of the governments of the United States, Britain and France to justify their actions connected with creation of a separate German government in Bonn as being in the interests of the German population."

Agreement Limited

"Having set up a separate state for western Germany, the three powers have thereby also violated decisions adopted in June of this year at the Paris session of the foreign ministers council . . ."

(At the Paris session the western allies stood firmly behind their previous plans to set up a west German government. Only limited agreement was reached on Germany, when the council adjourned June 20.

(In Berlin, communist sources predicted that a "national government" will be created soon in eastern Germany with Russian sanction.

(In a telegram to the city Soviet of Moscow, the mayor of east Berlin, Freidrich Ebert announced "our determination to create a democratic Germany on your model.")

Romania's break with Yugoslavia leaves Tito's counrty virtually isolated from the communist east except for Czechoslovakia.

(Reports from Prague said Czechoslovakia probably would join in the movement, leaving formal diplomatic relations as the only link between Tito's struggling independent communist state and the Soviet bloc. There were hints these ties might be cut next.

Attractive Blonde On Undercover Job

Two Congressmen Tell About Being Spied Upon In Poland

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 3 (AP)—Two U. S. congressmen told a "spy" story today—about how they were shadowed by a blonde and a mystery car during a recent visit to Poland.

Rep. Mayne Hays (D-Ohio) said he was shadowed by the blonde—a young, attractive one—and "got a kick out of it because she was so obvious."

Rep. Anthony Tautiello (D- N. Y.) had a more prosaic story to tell. He was only followed by an automobile—no blondes in it.

They are part of a congressional group of eight which is touring eastern Europe for a study of American diplomatic offices and operations of infernational organizations.

Not Bothered

The representatives said that, except for the blonde, the car and routine police checks, they were not bothered during their three-day stay in Poland.

Hays said the mysterious blonde had a room right across the corridor from the one he and Thomas Kennedy, congressional committee counsel, occupied in a Warsaw hotel.

"We couldn't open our door," Hays said, "but that she would open hers, too. Then she would trail us into the lobby and into the street.

"Once getting a little tired of the sport I decided to embarrass her. As she stood in her open doorway, I asked her in English what she wanted. She responded by asking in broken English what time it was.

Tasty Products From Sorghum Flour Discovered In Research

EDITOR'S NOTE: With cotton acreage controls in the offing, Texas farmers well might find grain sorghums a new money crop if industrial uses are developed which would require a large amount of grain sorghums. Today's story is the first in a series of two. The second in the series Tuesday will deal with extent of production of grain sorghums in Texas, present uses of sorghums and with research conducted at Lubbock experiment substation to develop types suitable for industrial purposes.

By OPAL DIXON
Journal Staff Writer

"My husband loves the biscuits with butter and preserves and the first thing he asked when he ate the cookies was, 'Can't we buy some of this from the grocery shelf'?"

That comment by a Hale county Home Demonstration club member, Mrs. J. N. Scrivner, indicated the reaction in that family to bread and cookies baked with sorghum grain flour in combination with wheat flour.

Mrs. Scrivner and other South Plains housewives are not yet able to buy sorghum flour from the grocery shelves, but intensive research is underway to produce tasty baked products from sorghum flour and thereby to add an industrial use for grain sorghums which might have far-reaching effects for South Plains agriculture and for Texas as a whole, since approximately 62 per cent of the sorghum produced in the nation is grown in Texas.

FROM SORGHUM TO BAKED PRODUCTS—Mrs. J. N. Michie, left, holds sorghum heads, while Miss Fay Hattox holds a baked product in which sorghum flour was used along with wheat flour. They are conducting research at Texas Technological college on baking qualities of flour milled from grain sorghums. (Staff Photo).

Research at Texas Technological college is a follow-up to similar research conducted about seven years ago. The research was prompted by a query by The Plainsman in his column in the Lubbock Evening Journal as to why sorghum grain grown so extensively in this area could not be used for human consumption.

In the present research project, which opened last year, a more comprehensive study is possible because selected grains were used and because they were ground into fine flour comparable to good quality wheat flour through cooperation of Kansas State college

Justice Douglas Is Injured

Horse Falls On Mountain Trip

YAKIMA, Wash., Oct. 3 (AP)—Justice William O. Douglas, one of the leading liberals of the U. S. Supreme court, was injured gravely yesterday in the Cascade mountains he loved as a boy. He suffered 13 rib fractures and a punctured lung when his frightened horse fell and rolled on him.

His chances of full recovery, however, appeared excellent today. Doctors attending him at a Yakima hospital said his condition was not critical. The stamina gained from an active, outdoor life away from his judicial duties stood him in good stead.

The 50-year-old jurist responded well to blood transfusions and emergency treatment given on his arrival from the accident scene, 77 miles away.

But for several days, his doctors said, the danger of pneumonia will be acute. As soon as his improvement permits, further examinations are planned to check against the possibility of other internal injuries.

Mrs. Douglas, who was in the east, and their daughter, Mildred, a student at her father's alma mater, Whitman college at Walla Walla, Wash., are on their way here to be by his side.

Douglas, mentioned frequently as a possible Democratic presidential candidate in 1952, was hurt on the eve of the Supreme court's new term and two weeks to the day from his 51st birthday.

He had flown here from Seattle for a brief visit in this city where he spent his boyhood and helped work his way through grade and high school as a newspaper carrier. He had planned to return to Washington, D. C., last night by plane.

England, Wales Show Large Woman Surplus

LONDON, Oct. 3 (INS)—England and Wales have a "surplus" of 2,308,000 women.

This was announced tonight in an estimate of the general civilian population based on a census completed on the last day of 1947. The figures showed the number of children has decreased while the number of old people has increased.

The total population was given as 42,156,000, of which 19,888,000 are males.

Since the 1931 census, the proportion of the total population under 15 years of age has fallen from 23.8 to 21.9 per cent.

The proportion of persons over 65 years of age has risen from 7.4 to 10.9 per cent.

Convict Cries As Big Spring Pays Tribute

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

BIG SPRING, Oct. 3.—A life term convict stood in the wings of a stage yesterday and cried. He was hearing—for the first time—his musical history of Big Spring.

Frank Grandstaff, on a six day furlough from the Tennessee state prison, then slipped quietly into a front row seat. But minutes later he was pushed to the stage—the center this time—to receive the applause of hundreds.

Gets Warm Ovation

The one-time piano salesman in West Texas, a man described as having unusual talents, was given a warm, heart-felt ovation for a work composed in a prison cell.

Grandstaffs cantata, "Big Spring," was sung by a male chorus as part of this West Texas town's 100th birthday celebration.

"I'm happy, I'm happy," Grandstaff said.

"Yes, it sounded just as I thought it would."

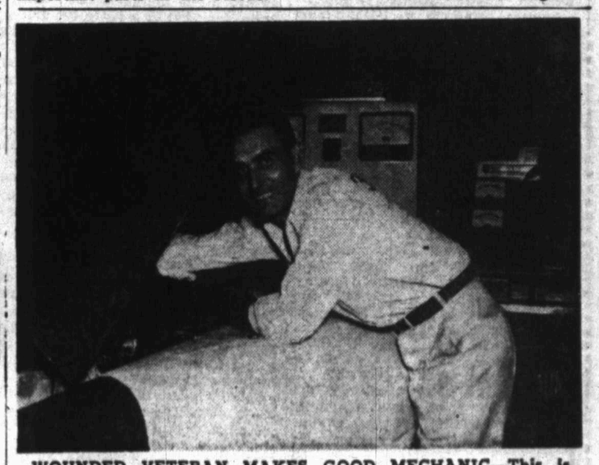

"Happiness is a town named Big Spring," he told a crowd estimated at 2,000 persons just before the program in the municipal auditorium began.

"Everyone here has gone out of his way to make my stay here one of to be remembered."

"You need not worry about me while I am here," he said in a low, emotion-choked voice.

Tasty Products From Sorghum Flour Discovered In Research

at Manhattan. New Recipes have been developed and larger amounts of sorghum flour in combination with wheat flour have been used.

Mrs. J. N. Michie, head professor of foods and nutrition at Texas Tech who is helping conduct the research, expressed belief products from sorghum and wheat flour would be "excellently acceptable" as breads.

Tested In Home

Such products would extend wheat flour in years of wheat shortage and also would be found particularly acceptable to some persons who might seek the sorghum flour because of the slightly nutty flavor it gives to products, she said.

Mrs. Michie and Miss Fay Hattox are conducting the experiment on "Baking Qualities of Flour Milled From Grain Sorghums" and Dr. Mina Lamb and Mrs. Michie are conducting animal experiments to determine nutritive properties of sorghum grains.

They are using Martin (red) sorghum, of which much is grown on the South Plains; Shallu, which is available but is not grown in considerable quantity in the area.

As part of the experiment, groups of Home Demonstration club women in Hale, Garza and Dawson counties are testing practicability of use of the sorghum flour in their own homes by baking cookies and breads using the sorghum flour, which was given to them by those conducting the research at Texas Tech. Dawson and Hale county women have exhibited some of sorghum products in bake shops in Lamesa and Plainview and Garza county women are to exhibit some of their products at Post Saturday.

Reaction of some of the Hale county families was shown by these comments by three Home Demonstration club women and the Hale county home demonstration agent:

Mrs. B. F. Sammon, jr., Plainview route 3: "We just love it—especially the cookies. We didn't care for the muffins. The biscuits tasted very well. We liked the cookies better than those made with white flour. It's more grainy than the white flour, but the flour is very good. We liked the flavor just as much as the white. I had good results—no failures. We'd buy some of it, I know, if it could be bought in stores."

Mrs. J. N. Scrivner, Olton route, Plainview: "We'd have to have some for cookies, I know, if that flour were on the market. My husband loves the biscuits with butter and preserves and the first thing he asked when he ate the cookies was, 'Can't we buy some of this from the grocery shelf?' The only thing that's wrong is in the way of color, I think. It's off white. The biscuits are a little bit darker even that the flour. The mealy texture with bran flavor is what sets them off. I have served cookies in which a used sorghum flour at several different gatherings and the women have asked for the recipes. We were required not to give the receipes (which would accomplish no purpose as yet, since the flour is not available, and which are subject to change before being published). They fell for the flavor and the texture was so good. We like them better than cookies with wheat flour, by itself. I believe sorghum flour will be boxed—in the same line as white cake flour is now."

Research To Continue

Mrs. Ofis Shadden, Hale Center Star route: "The outstanding thing is the bran like flavor with a mealy texture. It's very pleasing. My family liked the muffins because they can break into them or cut into them and they're rich but don't fall apart. My family liked all the cookies and the muffins. They didn't especially care for the biscuits. They liked white biscuits better. My son, Mark, wanted some of the cookies I brought to the bake show today. It gives a nutty flavor to cookies without as many nuts as in wheat cookies."

Miss Mary Grindstaff, Hale county home demonstration agent, Plainview: "It is a little bit gritty. It has an excellent flavor. That is one of the things we especially liked. You can have about as good texture by using sorghum flour in cookies as with wheat flour by itself. With the biscuits and muffins, it was a little hard to get as good texture."

Miss Hattox and Mrs. Michie will begin compiling a report on the research on baking quality of the flour this month. The animal research will be continued through this year.

Results Listed

Some of the results of the research on baking quality were listed by Mrs. Michie as follows:

"As judged by the standards used with products made from wheat flour alone, it was found early in the experiment that when sorghum grain flours were used alone that the product was too grainy and crumbly to be acceptible.

"The next step in the experimentation was to determine how large a proportion of sorghum grain flour could be substituted in a recipe for products using wheat flour and obtain acceptible results.

"Our conclusion was that milling of flour was one of the vital points in success. Products are not light or delicate and do not have volume to extent they do with wheat products, because of the type of gluten in grain sorghums."

The flour more assimilates the qualities of finely ground corn meal.

"It can't be an exact substitute for wheat flour, the experiment indicates, but can be used in combination with wheat flour. It does not have comparable baking quality with wheat flour."

Animal Growth Checked

In the parallel animal experiments to determine nutritive properties of the grains, one group of rats was fed wheat flour and another, sorghum flour, in combination with milk. Growth and reproduction were checked. Litters from animals on wheat and sorghum diets were comparable in numbers, but many young from the sorghum died soon after birth and those that survived showed slower growth record than did ones on milk-wheat diet. "Indications are that the quality of protein and the vitamin content are the controlling factors here. This protein is not sufficient in quality or quantity." Vitamin content may be lower. During the next year, that experiment will be continued. Certain amino acids which are abundant in wheat grains and are necessary for growth are being added to the sorghum grain ration to determine whether the inadequack of the prime contributory factor in the insufficiency of the sorghum grains as compared to wheat grain. Concentrate of vitamins, which are abundant in wheat flour, will be added for the same purpose.

Even though sorghum flour should not have as high protein or vitamin, that need not block its use. Whole wheat flour and cornmeal are not often used exclusively by a family, but both have their uses and offer variety.

Dr. John Gorrie of Apalachicola, Fla., is credited by the industry with having manufactured the first ice in this country in 1851.

Convict Cries

wrote the book, "Big Spring," that inspired Grandstaff to compose his music, introduced the convict to the crowd.

"We hope for further freedom for a man of such splendid talent, personality and background," Phillips said.

To most people, the highlight of the celebration was Grandstaff's cantata—composed in solitary, the time tapped on the wall of a cell.

"Any free man must be talented to transfer narrative prose into rhyme stanzas and set appropriate choral music to that text," said Dr. Roy Harris, composer in residence at Peabody college in Nashville, Tenn.

"How much more talented then must be an imprisoned man to write such a cantata within the restriction of life term confinement."

To Work With Him

Dr. Harris said he was interested in Grandstaff and that he would be glad to work with him to develop his talent.

Some piano lessons as a child is the only musical education Grandstaff received.

Before his cantata was performed, he heard three pianists play his three-piano composition called "The Big Spring Centennial Waltz."

Grandstaff was sentenced to life in prison when convicted as an habitual criminal, mostly for petty larcenies, small thefts and forgeries.

But Big Spring is treating him as an honor guest—not a convict. He is staying at a hotel with no guards and no handcuffs—just a silent understanding that honor is at stake.

"You just don't know. I cannot find the words to say what this means to me," Grandstaff said at a centennial committee breakfast yesterday.

If the nation's 6,000,000 farmers hope to maintain crop production at current levels, they will have to use 10 times more phosphate fertilizer, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Justice Douglas

to the Chinook pass area of the high Cascades had been planned in connection with Douglas' book soon to be published.

With Elon J. Gilbert, Yakima fruit broker who has been a close friend since they were youngsters, Douglas visited mountain spots mentioned in the semi-autobiography.

He wished to see for himself the locale described in tales by two other Yakima friends and mountain - climbing enthusiasts, Curtiss Gilbert, brother of Elon, and Clarence Truitt, both of whom now are dead.

Douglas had stopped to tighten his saddle cinch on a narrow, rocky trail, and was remounting when his horse became frightened. The rearing animal threw its rider, fell backward and rolled over him as they both slid down the steep, jagged slope 20 feet to a lower trail.

Gilbert made his companion as comfortable as possible and then went for aid, but it was more than an hour before a stretcher could be brought up the rugged hillside. Douglas never lost consciousness throughout the long ordeal. He was hospitalized here about four hours after the accident.

He has been a member of the Supreme court more than 10 years, and returned recently with his 17-year-old son, William, jr., from the Middle East and Europe where they spent seven weeks.

David C. Weaver Grain Co. Always In Market For Grain

One of Lubbock's newest and most progressive grain companies is the David C. Weaver Grain Co., located at 3200 East Ave. J, just north of the Slaton highway.

That it is one of the most up-to-date firms of its kind in the area may be seen by visiting the plant. Storage tanks with a storage capacity of approximately 220,000 pounds were added this past summer. The most accurate and modern testing equipment is maintained. A set of 20-ton Fairbanks-Morse scales assure accuracy in weighing grain.

And, in these days of heavy traffic and uncertain parking facilities, the location of the grain company is a distinct advantage. Although the company is only one block north of the Slaton highway, and only about one-half mile east of the Ave. A truck route, adequate traffic-free parking and unloading space is offered.

David C. Weaver, owner, is always in the market for grain sorghums raised by grain farmers in the South Plains area. He has been buying grain for the past week and expects to begin buying on a large scale within the next few weeks.

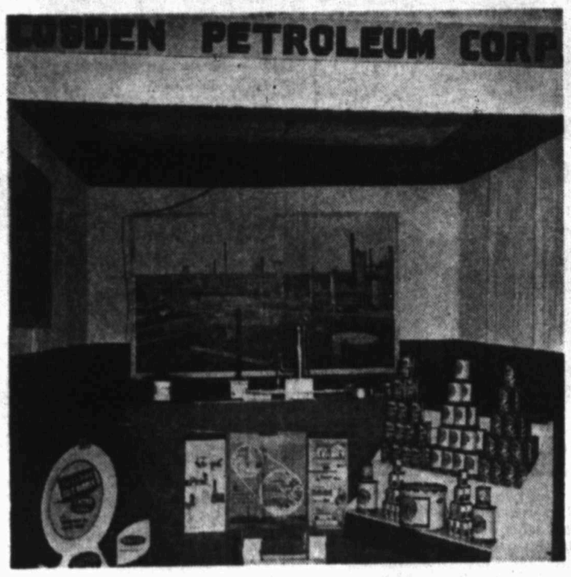

Weaver also has emphasized that he has a limited amount of grain storage space immediately available to grain producers of this area.

The David C. Weaver Grain Co., which is a car lot shipper of grains, maintains storage space in Fort Worth for customers in addition to the elevator space provided at the local plant.

Weaver established his company last May, after being associated for several years with other local grain firms.

For the past three years he has been handling grain in partnership with his brother, Ed Weaver. Before that he had worked with his father and uncle in the Weaver Brothers Seed Co. here. He is thoroughly experienced with rating, loading, and shipping.

The offices of the David C. Weaver Grain Co are at 718 Lubbock National Bank building. The telephone number at the company elevator is 2-8204.

Lubbock Cotton Oil Serves Wide Area In Southwest

Supplying cottonseed products to farmers, ranchers, and farmer trade in West Texas, New Mexico, and Colorado is the Number One service of Lubbock Cotton Oil Co.

The firm's offices are located at the east end of Seventeenth street.

Principal products offered by the company to their customers are cottonseed cake and meal, cottonseed oil, cotton linters, and cottonseed hulls.

The firm, one of the foremost of its kind in the entire Southwest, began business here in 1923.

During its 26 continuous years in business, Lubbock Cotton Oil Co. has stressed providing a market for the farmer's cottonseed in West Texas and supplying cottonseed products as feed to farmers, ranchers, and dairymen.

France fears a severe setback in livestock herds will result from the 1949 drought.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL SERVICE

Cosden Higher Octane Gasoline Sold By Dryer And Lee Oil Co.

Local motorists are assured top quality gas mileage and service when they drive to one of the local Dryer and Lee service stations and fill up with higher octane Cosden gasoline.

The Dryer and Lee Oil Co. is the authorized jobber in this vicinity for the Cosden Petroleum Co. Dryer and Lee offers both retail and wholesale service within a 25-mile radius of Lubbock.

Other featured products of the company are Para Fine and Veedol oil and greases and United tires.

The Dryer and Lee Oil Co. was established in 1934 and has been in business here continuously since. Hugh Dryer is owner of the firm.

The company maintains four delivery trucks and one transport truck which transports gasoline from the modern Cosden Petroleum plant at Big Spring. The four delivery trucks cover the whole of Lubbock county and parts of neighboring counties.

Dryer and Lee services numbers of farm accounts for tractors, pick-ups, and irrigation engines, and commercial accounts as well.

At any of the seven Dryer and Lee stations in Lubbock, or at the five rural stations, motorists are assured of courteous service and expert attention to any and all automobile servicing needs.

And remember, whether your petroleum needs are large or small, stop at the sign of the Cosden traffic cop. You'll be glad you did!

IN HOLLYWOOD: BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

America's Best-Dressed Gal Gives Credit To Her Hubby

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 3 — (NEA) —America's best-dressed woman, Dinah Shore, was wearing only a towel.

At least she said it was only a towel (probably designed by Adrian).

"I just stepped out of the shower, honey," she cooed over the telephone.

The Southern California Fashion institute had just voted Dinah the country's No. 1 dresser.

Johnson

But I've got news for you, gals. Dinah thinks husband George Montgomery should take all the bows. She told me:

"I dress to please my husband, not myself."

And that's one for the gals to think about.

Lex Barker and his wife have agreed on a six-month trial separation instead of a quick divorce, as announced last week. She'll do her thinking-it-over in New York. . . . If Ed Wynn clicks on his new TV show, watch for an announcement from M-G-M teaming Ed and son Keenan in a movie . . . ABC has reconverted the big movie sound stage where Al Jolson starred in the first all-talkie, "The Jazz Singer," into a television stage.

I'm wondering if it's symbolic of what may happen to a lot of other movie stages in Hollywood. The new ABC station here is the first step toward making Hollywood the television center of the country.

Howard Duff, meanwhile, has checked into Malibu's Holiday House hotel for a rest from his hectic film and radio assignments. And from Ava, too?

Jack was carrying an atomizer in a brown velvet case — "for my allergies" — and was sucking on a pipe which obviously seldom had held tobacco—"sometimes I light it only once a month. I just like to hold it."

Best fun Jack had this summer was flying to London for a surprise visit with George Burns and Gracie Allen. The elaborate gag cost him $3,000. Now he's dreaming up fun for the Ronald Colmans and Fred Allen. He'll have them guest together on his airshow.

Jack also spent a week at Big Bear Lake, watching his 16-year-old daughter Joanie water ski. Even tried it himself but fell flat on his face. Joanie excells at all kinds of athletics, according to Jack, who added:

"I'm not saying that because she's our child because she isn't."

She's adopted.

The Duryeas have a jewel of a maid named Marie and when she married Tommy Dulin, houseboy for Ozzie and Harriet Nelson, they were afraid they would lose her. Marie wanted to remain with the Duryeas but only if Tommy would work for them, too. The Nelsons didn't want to lose Tommy, so they agreed to hire Marie as well. The situation finally resolved into a flip of a coin to see which household would get the newly married couple. The Duryeas won.

Mrs. J. Logan Green, Mother Of Five, Is Kept Busy As Senior Student At Tech

When Mrs. J. Logan Green, the mother of five children, decided to enroll at Texas Tech this fall she wasn't a bit worried that her age might keep her from "fitting in" with her roommate.

She simply moved in with her daughter, Carolyn.

But if you're worried about who does the housework, don't. That's strictly on a 50-50 basis. And besides, Mrs. Logan's son, Jimmy, is only a book's throw away if either of the womenfolks get out of hand. Jimmy's an agriculture student and lives in the men's dorm.

Father Is Teacher

And papa? "Oh, he teaches agriculture at Enochs and cares for the other three children," says Mama Green. A 15-year-old daughter does the home cooking, though. Green graduated from Tech in 1939.

Mrs. Green first went to college in 1927, then quit. During the war she started teaching school, but didn't have enough college work to continue when new school laws went into effect this fall. So, she packed Carolyn's bag with her own things and caught the Green special back to Tech. She likes collegiate life.

"It's wonderful,' she says, "I don't have the distractions I had in my youth."

Not that Mrs. Green looks or considers herself an older woman. She just thinks it funny when freshman males nudge each other and ask, "Your date?", when she walks past them in the dormitory waiting room.

The two Green women have one class together — art. Neither will say who does the most work in the course, but Mrs. Green points out that she's "the biggest."

Primary education is the degree toward which "Mama" is working. She expects to get it next August. Jimmy is also a senior, while Carolyn is a sophomore majoring in home economics.

Back home in Enochs, Green is teaching school, while a six-year-old and 12-year-old son and the remaining daughter are studying in their respective grades. Do they all plan to attend Tech, too?

"No." says the daughter, "I just want to get the rest of them through."

The three members of the family who are attending Tech now go home "just about every weekend." In fact, this past weekend is the first they've missed so far. "There's a lot to be done around the house," explains the mother.

And as far as college life is concerned, Mrs. Green is taking everything in her stride, according to the children. Mother herself, though, cocks her head a little and says, "Yes, but one day I'm going to ask which of those freshmen called for me."

SENATE ACTION WILL BE DELAYED

Solons Yell 'Double-Cross' As Demos Press Security Issue

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP)—A pair of Republicans accused the Democrats of a double-cross today because of House leaders' pressure for a vote on an expanded social security program.

"There was a definite understanding," Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio) told a reporter, "that this legislation would not be brought up until next January."

Rep. Mason (R-Ill) also said there was such an agreement in the House ways and means committee, which handled the social security bill.

Speaker Rayburn says the Democratic leadership never made any agreement to delay action until next year.

Senate To Act Later

Regardless of who is right, the bill is on the House work schedule for this week. It is supposed to come up tomorrow for its first taste of debate.

That schedule depend son getting clearance from the rules committee.

Whatever the House does, the Senate plans no action until next year. Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Senate finance committee has predicted Senate approval then of Social security expansion.

In the background is a hope among some lawmakers that House action on a broader old age pension program might help smooth out some of the labor disputes over pensions. The steel strike centers around the issue of whether steel industry workers should have a pension system wholly paid for by employers. Under the government pension system, the cost is financed equally by employers and employes.

The social security bill would increase old age and survivors' insurance benefits materially. For instance, it would boost from $41 to $79 a month the pension for a man over 65, with a wife over 65, who has been in the program for 10 years at an average wake of $100 a month. If the monthly pay averaged $250, the pension would go up from $66 to $102.

In addition, the bill would add 11,000,000 persons to the 35,000,000 now covered by the pension system and gradually boost the taxes financing the program.

In the rules committee, the fuss is mainly over whether the bill should be brought up in the House under conditions which would bar any changes except those that might be proposed by the ways and means committee. Supporters of the bill say it is so complicated the House never would finish working it over if it were thrown wide open to amendment.

"We would be here forever and we couldn't have a balanced bill," Rep. Camp (D-Ga) argues.

Mason said he doesn't want the House to take up the bill on any terms because "it is a big, long step down the road to a welfare state." But if it does come up, he said, he wants a chance to amend it.

In fact, he said, he has 50 or 75 amendments of his own to offer.

Brown and Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio) say the House ought to have a chance to decide on what goes into the bill.

FATHER TELLS OF ANXIOUS WATCH OVER CHILD

Parents Thankful For Iron Lung As Son Puts Up Brave Fight Against Infantile Paralysis

EDITOR'S NOTE: What's it like to see your son—or daughter—encased in an iron lung, fighting the dread battle against polio? In this dispatch a father (who is also a newspaperman) tells a story that has been a grim experience for thousands of U. S. parents this year, and makes it clear why the Polio Epidemic Emergency fund must raise $14,500,000—immediately. Young Bradley Joe Sveen, son of the Northwest Editor of the Fargo, N. D., Forum, has been in a respirator since Aug. 17. Both arms and legs are seriously involved, but he is slowly winning his fight with the help of doctors, nurses, life-saving machinery—and the money to pay for it all—provided by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

By LLOYD W. SVEEN
Written For NTA Service

FARGO, N. D., Oct. 3 — "Get the respirator!"

The doctor darts back to the hospital room where my four-year-old son, Bradley Joe, stricken with poilio, writhes in an oxygen tent.

The iron lung is wheeled in as doctors and nurses carry Brad from his bed.

His face is grey. There is no perceptible breathing.

My wife, Dorothy, stands beside me, hands clenched. "Hurry, hurry, hurry!"

The attendants snap the respirator cover shut. Doctors fit the collar around Brad's little neck. All you can see is the curly head with the ashen face so motionless.

The electric cord is plugged in. The rhythmic huff and clank of the bellows on the respirator begins.

Color Returns

Fear seethes inside you, until you are breathing hard and fast, trying to help your boy's lungs get life-saving oxygen he needs so terribly fast.

You are beseeching God incoherently, trying to sustain your wife at the same time.

A doctor comes over. "I think we are winning."

BRADLEY JOE SVEEN: What lies ahead for him?

You look at the little head. A nurse holds an oxygen mask above Brad's colorless lips.

Later — agonizingly later — the grey little face gets a pale pink. Then slowly the cheeks are the healthy tan you knew so well. Brad opens his eyes, feels ozygen tickling his face.

"You dummy. You dummy, take the dumb thing off," he says.

Your eyes are hot, moist.

The doctor says to Brad: "Good boy," then turns to you. "He's out of immediate danger, thanks to the respirator."

The respirator—the iron lung which first struck terror in your heart, becomes a close friend, because it is breathing for your boy. Your boy who has bulbar polio.

You take up your vigil outside the door, and thank God for that iron lung, and the doctors and nurses who are watching Brad as if he were their own.

You remember how hopeless it seemed—until the Fargo chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis got on the job.

You remember the telephone call you got that day from the chapter: "There are two things we don't want you to worry about. One is the medical care, it is as good here as it is anywhere. The other is money. We will pay for everything where the cost would force you to lower your ordinary living standards."

One terrible night your son begins to have trouble swallowing. He suddenly is out of step with the respirator. Color drains from his face.

Doctors work feverishly, deftly. The room with the iron lung blurs. A doctor finally says, "He's snapped out of it."

"Are there nothing but crises with polio?" you ask brokenly.

He said wearily: "Fighting polio is like climbing into a boxing ring blindfolded against a heavyweight champ. He lands a blow. You try to keep a step ahead of him but you don't know where he's going to punch next."

Feeding Intravenous

The iron lung huffs on. Brad lives by intravenous feedings until the wonderful day comes when again he can swallow normally. Penicillin shots are administered daily—not to fight the polio virus, for there is no known medicine which can conquer it—but to ward off pneumonia.

"This must be costing a lot of money," I said one day to the hospital administrator.

"There is no charge for the iron lung," he said. "The respirators in Fargo were purchased by the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and other organizations and they are free."

Bulbar polio only rarely is paralyzing to the limbs, but Brad sustained that also. Hot pack treatments began.

"Where do you get the hot pack machines?" I asked a nurse.

"The National Foundation," came the oft-heard answer.

Bills Pile Up

It was the first of the month. The bills piled up. Hospital's $416, for 16 days. Oxygen—$155, the private room needed because a respirator takes up so much space, $136, and other charges.

Special nurses every hour—$550. They earned every cent of it, with constant devotion and vigilance to the patient. The doctor's bill isn't in yet, but he, too, deserves a life and death fee.

That bill, more than $1000, is only for the first 16 days and it's only one case of polio. In this, the worst epidemic year in the United States, with 40,000 cases anticipated for the year, is it any wonder the National Foundation's funds are exhausted?

What lies ahead for my son? Long days of recuperation, of hot packs and treatment including special nursing. How many can pay such bills without lowering their standard of living?

Anyone wonder why the National Foundation has been forced, reluctantly, to come with a special appeal for funds? Anyone doubt that the money is well spent?

I can tell you, straight from my heart that it is.

Czech Priest Stops Sermon As Commie Spies Enter Church

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 3. (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest promptly cancelled his sermon yesterday when four badge-wearing Communist "observers" entered his church.

Church authorities asserted the visit by Communist observers was part of the government's campaign to keep priests under scrutinty for possible anti-state preachings.

The four observers plumped themselves in a front row pew in Sprilov district church and watched the remainder of the mass after the priest cancelled his sermon. The priest also ordered the customary collection omitted.

Church authorities say the government is keeping close tabs on all priests, particularly those who speak out against the government's proposed new law to give the state control over church finances and administration. The government also has sought to bar church collections in order to make the churches dependent on the state authorities said.

Meanwhile the Communist press announced that nearly one-sixth of the Czechoslovakia youth front's 668,000 members would be purged as "political unreliables."

19 Years Required To Deliver Letter

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Oct. 3. (U.P.)—Postal authorities are at a loss to explain why it took them more than 19 years to deliver mail from Chicago to William C. Barlow.

The envelope contained a receipt for an insurance premium that Barlow paid in 1930. It was postmarked in Chicago on March 12, 1930.

THE other day, Wallace Barnes, of the Gallup, N. M., Independent, sat down and knocked off the following:

A farmer once had a young hephyr,
Which was gentle, he said, as a zephyr;
But when he drew near
She bit off his ear—
And now he's decidedly dephyr.

This poetic effort was noted by Dan Burrows, of the Alby-q-q Tribune, so he added:

But this young farmer had a filly.
She was fleet, fat, sleek and a dilly;
But she ate all his oats—
And here are his quotes:
"A man with a horse is plumb silly!"

Edward M. (for Montmorency) Pooley, the irrepressible editor of the El Paso Herald-Post, simply couldn't stay out of it all. So he added:

You may have your hephyr, carnivorous,
And kep your fleet filly, herbivorous;
For what makes us cheer
Is a broiled slice of steer
Decorating the table in front of us!

Not to be outdone, we remark to the gentlemen of El Paso, Alby-q and Gallup, as follows:

Dear Daniel, and Wallace, and Ed,
While Shakespeare's undoubtedly dead,
To keep columnar pace—
(And to fill up the space)
We'll help you perform in his stead!

ONE of our friends sent this in. Whether he is a "Tory," or a "real American citizen," will depend, of course, on your own view of the matter!

Here it is, from the Cleveland Plain Dealer:

FABLE OF THE BEES

"Once upon a time there were two busy little bees. One busy bee collected nectar from flowers that brightened the earth with their blooms and carried it back to a hive where honey was stored up.

"Men loved the honey and they protected this busy bee. Men built hives for the bee and looked after it in Winter as well as Summer. They sold honey to their neighbors and all were happy.

"But along came a second busy bee. This second bee proclaimed to all the world that neither the men nor the first bee were capable of running their affairs properly. The second busy bee said he would set the whole world straight, and would teach the first busy bee how to produce honey in shorter hours.

"So the second busy bee forbade the men to pay as much for lumber for building hives as they were accustomed to pay, and the men who cut lumber out of the forests quit cutting it and pretty soon there wasn't any at any price for new hives.

"And so there weren't as many hives as there used to be and the first bee couldn't lay up as much honey as previously if he wanted to.

"And the second busy bee told the men who sold honey they couldn't charge as much as they were accustomed to charge, so they quit gathering what the first busy bee was able to lap up in the hives that were left. And presently all men were without honey and bees were without hives.

"And this proved that the second busy bee was right, for no one any longer was being fleeced in honey sales, and the first bee wasn't being overworked. And besides, the poor had as much honey as the rich. They had just the same, none.

"Everyone will know the name of the second bee. It's one of the best known characters on this crazy place called earth. Its name is government control."

WE in Texas kick a lot about our taxes and that's all right. Kicking about taxes is one of those rights and privileges of American citizenship.

But whether we Texans have a right to kick, or not, it's a leadpipe cinch we don't have as much grounds as people of some other states.

Take California, for instance.

Out there, they've got more different kinds of taxes than you can shake a stick at: state income tax, sales tax, amusement tax—not to mention all the other kinds of taxes in force everywhere else. Every time you turn around, you get chiseled for a penny here and a couple of pennies there and it all adds up.

Five'll getcha 10 that a man and his wife can't go to California for a week without dropping about 10 per cent of what they spend into the tax till. And if it's bad for visitors, think how bad it is for the people who live there all the time!

BY DREW PEARSON: GENERAL PATTON MIGHT HAVE FOILED RUSSIAN A-BOMB EFFORTS

Attorney General McGrath Is Making Good Start

WASHINGTON.—The famed General George S. Patton probably turned over in his grave when President Truman announced that Russia had the secret of the atom. For Patton was one man who came near preventing, or at least retarding, Russian development of the atom.

In the first week of May 1945, Patton's 3rd army crossed the Czechoslavak border and entered the city of Pilsen, headquarters of the vast Skoda munitions works. Patton had romped into Czecho slovakia before the Red army had time to move its ponderous forces, just as U. S. troops advanced to the suburbs of Berlin, only to be ordered out by General Eisenhower.

PEARSON

When this columnist reported the peremptory withdrawal of U. S. troops from Potsdam at Russia's request, it was officially and cateforically denied. However, General Patton's diary, now published, together with other memoirs show that these withdrawals were based on the Roosevelt-Stalin agreement at Yalta defining the limits of Russia's advance into Eurodpe.

Therefore, when Gen. Eisenhower ordered Gen. Patton out of Czechoslovakia, Russia immediately moved in and took over the uranium deposits at Jachymov, just a shout—as Patton used to shout—from Pilsen.

And having marched into Czechoslovakia, the Red army refused to leave until Russia had been given extraterritorial rights over the uranium mines of Jachymov. This made Russian citizens immune to Czech law in this area, a condition which continues. Even today no visitors are allowed in Jachymov—not even officials of the Czech government.

Russia's Long-Range Plan

Of course, the present Czech communist government has no objection to this arrangement, but the earlier Czech government of Edouard Benes did. In fact, the late foreign minister, Jan Masaryk—later murdered by the Russians—rose on the floor of the United Nations in January 1946 to place Czechoslovakia officially on record as favoring the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes only, and proposed that Czechoslovakia's uranium should be made available to all nations.

As a result, official Moscow stood on its ear. The Soviet ambassador in Prague protested to Czech Prime Minister Fierlinger, and the threat was implied that unless Czech uranium mines remained under Soviet jurisdiction, the Red army would march in again.

Since the mines are only three miles away from the Soviet zone of Germany, this was not idle threat. Meanwhile, the extraction of uranium, by German prison labor, continues. Whether Russia has any other sources of uranium is not known, but it is known that this is the richest source in Europe, and without it the recent atomic explosion might have been impossible.

Note—It should be recalled that the Yalta agreement was concluded at a time when our wartime partnership with Russia was working reasonably well and when Roosevelt's great ambition was to continue this harmony to insure world peace. On the other hand, it should also be recalled that Alger Hiss, since accused of leaking State department documents to the Russians, was an adviser at Yalta.

AS a good Mormon, Sen. Arthur Watkins Utah Republican, isn't supposed to drink tea or coffee. But he was caught at luncheon the other day with a teapot in front of his plate.

The incriminating pot was spied by Sen. Ralph Flanders, Vermont Republican.

"Aha!" exclaimed Flanders. And he lifted the lid off the teapot triumphantly.

But the pot contained only plain hot water.

"You won't catch me drinking tea," smiled Watkins. Then he explained that he was drinking "Mormon tea"—hot water, milk and sugar with no stimulants.

Note—It is also against Watkins' religion to use tobacco or liquor. To show the moral of this, he ordered the library of Congress to furnish him with statistics on the smoking and drinking habits of none-Mormons which disclosed that Americans have been spending $67.22 per capita on liquor and $26.39 per person on tobacco—but only $21.79 per capita on schools.

New Attorney General

In any administration, whether Democratic or Republican, the key cabinet post from a political viewpoint is that of the attorney general. For it's in the Department of Justice that the anti-trust cases against big business can be prosecuted—or fixed; where income-tax cases against political friends can be pushed—or dropped; where the big gamblers who contribute heavily to most political campaigns can be sent to jail or winked at.

For instance, the political power of the Justice department to break big city machines was one reason why forthright Attorney General Frank Murphy was kicked upstairs to the Supreme Court.

Be cause of this it is always dangerous to put a politician in charge of the Justice department; and for that reason a lot of yeople will be watching Howard McGrath, just appointed attorney general after serving as chairman of the Democratic national committee.

While it's too early yet to judge, so far McGrath is going about his new job not as if he wanted to do a job for the Democratic party but as if he wanted to do a job for the country. His temptations will be great, but so far he has made a good impression.

Note 1—Among other things, McGrath is continuing Tom Clark's forthright position on civil liberties. Recently he ordered the prosecution of an Alabama policeman, Cecil Thrash, on the charge of shooting a negro in the back, even though the shooting took place two years ago last October.

Note 2—McGrath's chief trouble so far is long week ends in Rhode Island.

We Might Buy It If It Had A Steering Wheel

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

"NO husband can understand why his wife should be attracted to a man other than himself," says William Feather.

Wives take just the opposite attitude. A wife not only expects her husband to attracted to any good-looking bit of fluff and femininity who happens to be his type. She understands just why he IS attracted to it.

MILLETT

That's because she remembers how she first attracted her husband, how she got his attention and held it.

The wife who managed it by being a wonderful listener knows good and well her husband will be charmed by any attractive-looking woman who hangs on his every word.

The wife who got her man mainly on beauty knows from experience how much he admires beauty. So she never completely trusts him when there's another beautiful woman around.

The woman who well remembers that she snared her man by making him feel she was dependent on his strength and greater wisdom feels she has reason for concern when some other woman starts pulling the "helpless" line on him and asking his advice.

Women Not So Confident

ANY woman who is smart enough to have figured out how to appeal to a man and worked the technique so successfully that she managed to get him to the altar is wise enough to know that she isn't the only woman in the world who could make the same technique work on him.

So instead of feeling smugly that her husband couldn't possibly be attracted by another woman, she keeps a sharp eye on women of the type she feels sure would attract him.

Men don't worry for fear their wives will find another man attractive because a husband usually figures his wife married him for himself alone. And since there's not another man in the world exactly like him, how could she fall for anybody else?

The attitude of wives may be more realistic. But the attitude of husbands is a lot more comfortable.

Today's Thought

And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.—Galatians 6:9.

"Try And Stop Me"

THE Warner Brothers research department, delving into the records for a historical film, came up with these bits of lore about some former occupants of the White House:

One man duly elected president of the U.S.A. could not read or write when he took office! He was Andrew Jackson. His wife gave him lessons during the dull afternoons at the White House.

Millard Fillmore never saw a map of the United States until he was 19.

Mrs. Zachary Taylor smoked a corncob pipe at all functions. Mrs. Andrew Jackson smoked cigars. Mrs. John Tyler had 14 children.

On the platform when Lincoln made his Gettysburg address were four future presidents: Hayes, Garfield, Arthur and Harrison.

Old Theory That Umpires Are Always Right Scored By Fan

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—We challenge a great many things via the medium of the Supreme court—such as it is these days—and I am wondering why no eager legal hawk has failed so far to test the validity of umpirical decisions in those august halls?

RUARK

So far as I can establish, through untiring research, an umpire is born of woman, even as thee and me, pays taxes of a sort, snarls when he is tickled and beats his wife in about the same ratio as practiced by an apprentice infielder. What, under the democratic way of life, makes him always right?

The world has seen, during the past few days, a piece of dogmatic decision, laid down by an umpire, one Will Grieves, that may have influenced the financial destinies and happy home life of more than a score of young men, and I do mean the Yankees. We have observed the abject apologies of Messrs. Casey Stengel, Ralph Houk and Cliff Mapes, by order of league President William Harridge, said apology to be accompanied by fines.

Play Is Recalled

This ruckus was raised by a play at the plate, in Yankee stadium, when the Red Sox and Yanks comprised a dead heat for the league lead. Boston's Mr. Pesky slud into the plate. New York's Mr. Henrich's throw beat him amply. New York's Mr. Houk, representing the bottom of their catching barrel, caught said throw and slapped it onto Mr. Pesky. Umpire Grieves pronounced the operation safe, on the grounds Mr. Pesky slad—as opposed to slud—under the tag. It represented the winning run, and the possible difference between an American league pennant for the Yanks or Bosox.

Only God knows, momentarily, whether Mr. Pesky was out or safe. Mr. Grieves thinks he knows. Mr. Houk, and the other finees, are solid certain they know, because they attempted to dismember Mr. Grieves upon the scene. For this they have been punished by Happy Chandler's early emissary, Mr. Harridge.

My only querry here is: By what singular dispensation is an umpire always right? What sets him apart from other men? What franchise does he carry to lend him infallibility, like a wife? Is there any legal guarantee, any posted bond, that an umpire is exempt from error?

THE President of the United States, as time has amply shown, may be proven wrong. Justices of the Supreme court have shown a famed fondness for burlesque shows. Athletes of soaring amperage have been bribed. Statesmen have stumbled over the obvious curbstones of armour. Generals miscalculate; admirals foul up. Just for laughs, why is not Umpire Grieves paying a fine—which he can ill afford—to make up the money the Yankees may lose as a result of his decision on Pesky's slide?

I have known a muckle of umpires, and have found them staunch citizens, but no stauncher than ballplayers or cab-drivers, and no less susceptible to a tot of the craytur on a dank evening. Who can say, my masters all, that an umpire may not dip too deeply into the horn, on a night that his bunions bother him, and go forth to the field with a misted and ill-adjusted eye?

This is not to quarrel with Mr. Grieve's decision, except that there is no cast-iron evidence he was right. The facts speak. He was challenged hotly by the aggrieved. The challenge, which was certainly logical, was not taken to a higher court. The beef was settled immediately in favor of the umpire, and hostages—at least fiscally—were shot, as a result of the temerity involved in the challenge.

"Smells Of Fascism"

This smells more of fascism than democracy, in which a free man is supposed to be able to spout his piece without penalty. It reeks of reactionary dogmatism. Are baseball players slaves? (Don't answer that, men, I may be right) But is an eventual four grand to depend on whether one umpire has a hangover, or a mouse on, or gnat in, his eye? No, I say, in a voice of thunder. (Ed. Note: The author is a Yankee fan).

We own, today, magnificently complicated technical machinery, such as magic eyes, television, photo-finish cameras, automatic pitching machines for batting practice, and robots which can do algebra and speak Basque at the push of a button. I would say that we might set up a few photo-eyes at all strategic points in baseball, and allow them, occasionally, to overrule the umpire's decisions which are open to quarrel. Everyone at a race-track accepts the judge's ruling on an easy win and quarrels not with the magic eye on a picture finish. When did baseball get nobler than the sport of kings, or lyess susceptible to the margin for error?

Today's Journal Editorial

OUR BUMBLING COURT SYSTEM

The conviction passed out in the treason trial of Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino does not, of course, end the case of "Tokyo Rose," the wartime radio prattler of Japanese propaganda. There will be an appeal to a higher court, and maybe several of them. That's the way the American courts run. It may be many more months—even a year or more—before "Tokyo Rose" starts paying off for her treasonable activities. In fact, it is not beyond imagination that legal mumbo-jumbo may even free her without her serving a day's jail sentence or paying a quarter in fines.

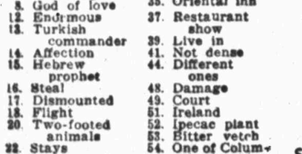

The "Tokyo Rose" case has been valuable in spotlighting before the American people the wobbly court system which is ours—which has become ours through years of legal monkeyshines. It shows, dramatically, how a person known by countless people to be guilty of a crime can, through counsel, becloud the issues, set up smoke screens and otherwise act to break down justice.

Our bumbling system of jurisprudence will continue in its present rut—or even become progressively worse—just so long as the people fail to make themselves heard at the polls where legislators, judges and prosecutors are chosen.

Wandering Cows Get Tired And Come Home

DECATUR, Ill., Oct. 3. (U.P.) — Farmer Charles Muirhead searched for nine missing cows on foot, horseback and in an airplane.

Friends who helped him look for the cows trampled corn fields and did $300 worth of damage before Muirhead called off the round-up. He said it would be cheaper to forget the cows.

The next morning he found the cows standing outside his barnyard, contentedly mooing and waiting for him to open the gate and let them in.

DISPUTED PROVISION DROPPED

Senate To Consider Measure To Spur Building Of Houses

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Sponsors of legislation to spur building of moderately-price homes agreed today to strip the bill of a hotly disputed section in a move to win Senate approval.

The measure is slated to be called for debate later this week.

One provision which has been under fire would authorize up to $1,000,000,000 in government loans to cooperative and other non-profit organizations. The loans would be payable over 50 years at three per cent interest.

Senator Sparkman (D-Ala), chief sponsor of the bill, told a reporter that section will be taken out of the ball and made a separate measure for consideration next year.

Plan European Visit

"I still am all for the cooperative program," said Sparkman, "but I realize it is so controversial that unless it is dropped for now we might not be able to get action on the bill at all in the little time that remains before adjournment." Congress has a tentative and unofficial adjournment goal two weeks hence.

Sparkman and three other members of a Senate banking subcommittee—Senators Cain (R-Wash), Bricker (R-Ohio) and Flanders (R-Vt)—plan to leave for Europe Friday to study housing conditions there.

"We are going to take aparticularly good look at cooperative housing projects in Sweden, which is credited with having done a magnificent job in that field," Sparkman said.

The group plans also to visit England, Norway, Denmark, Holland and France.

Elimination of the cooperative housing section from the bill will leave provisions for:

Provisions Of Bill

1. Liberalization of the federal mortgage insurance program to make possible lower down payments by home purchasers. The purpose is to encourage construction of more two to four-bedroom houses to sell at from $7,000 to $9,000.

2. Stimulation of construction of $5,000 homes in outlying and rural areas.

3. Extension through next March of the federal housing agency's mortgage insurance program for rental housing.

4. Authorize private lending institutions to sell to a federal secondary mortgage market up to 100 per cent of G. I. home loans which do not exceed $10,000, as well as FHA insured mortgages on lower-cost homes, cooperatives and rental housing. At present only 50 per cent of such mortgages held by one lender can be sold to the government.

5. Transferring temporary war and veterans housing, without payment except for land, to states, cities or non-profit organizations for uses approved by the local governing body.

Provides School Loans

6. Free transfer of certain permanent war housing projects to local communities as public housing for low income families.

7. Authorizing $300,000,000 in direct loans to colleges and universities for student and faculty housing. The loans at 3½ per cent interest, would mature in not more than 40 years.

Sparkman said the bill is designed to supplement the public housing and slum clearance law which Congress enacted earlier this year.

"That law," he said, "was a start toward providing publicly owned rental dwellings for low income families. This new bill is designed to help put more private homes within the financial reach of more people."

The House has passed a much less broad bill than Sparkman's. He said he is hopeful the House will accept the Senate version when—and if—the two measures go to conference.

Wolves Just Don't Whistle At Anyone

UPPER DARBY, Pa., Oct. 3. (AP)—You've heard the one about the wolf and little Red Riding Hood's grandmother. Well, here's the sequel.

An Upper Darby beauty parlor posted a sign telling male passersby:

"Don't whistle at any girl leaving here—it might be your grandmother."

Services For Noted Editor Set Tuesday

NEW YORK, Oct. 3. (AP)—Funeral services for Oswald Garrison Villard, liberal editor and author who died Saturday at the age of 77, will be held tomorrow at 11 a. m. (EST) at the Unitarian Church of All Souls. Burial will be in Sleepy Hollow cemetery, Tarrytown, N. Y.

Villard's death followed a stroke.

Villard, who crusaded for reforms from the time of the Spanish-American war to World War 2, was a grandson of William Lloyd Garrison, the famous abolitionist, and a son of Henry Villard, financier and railroad magnate.

For many year Villard was publisher of the New York Evening Post, and editor of the magazine, The Nation.

Dick Powell And Spouse, June Allyson, Co-Star In "Reformer And The Redhead"

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 3.—Five years ago, a wavy-haired crooner, slightly on the downgrade, was starring in a hapless musical hash called "Meet The People." Playing a bit in the film was a winsome and hopeful young blonde from Broadway.

The crooner soon afterward traded his megaphone for a gat and blazed a new career as a private eye. The blonde strugged her way up the ladder to stardom.

The pair now co-star in "The Reformer And The Redhead." Even the dullest-witted film fan can tell you that their names are Dick Powell and June Allyson. They are also Mr. and Mrs., as if you didn't know.

Their marriage has been remarkably smooth for such Hollywood unions, and it's possible that this picture will be the acid test. I visited them on their first day of work together and found them disgustingly happy.

"She's a doll," glowed Powell, looking like a college senior in his crew cut.

Studio Disapproved Pairing

"He's wonderful," cooed Allyson, her squinty smile lighting up the sound stage.

The Powells have been plotting a film get-together for some time,

"I tried to get her for my production, 'Mrs. Mike'," said the actor. "But her bosses said they didn't approve of married couples appearing together. I must have put up a good argument, because then the studio turned around and asked me to appear with her."

He figures the pairing will be more acceptable in a comedy, in fact, may get added laughs. He explained that June has such lines in their picture as "Why haven't you ever married?" and "You're pretty nice—for an older man."

Mrs. Powell's reaction to working with her husband was unique: "You know, once I get into the scene and the camera starts rolling, it's just as though he were any other actor."

Slayer Of Beaumont Woman Is Convicted

KOUNTZE, Oct. 3. (AP)—Darious Golemon, 28, faces death in the electric chair for the slaying of Mrs. Cloyce Twitchell of Beaumont.

A jury late Saturday night returned the death penalty in the Sept. 28, 1948, killing.

Alex Leviness earlier had been sentenced to die for the same slaying.

The state accused Goleman and Leviness of killing Mrs. Twitchell in Hardin County's big thicket after she gave them a ride out of Beaumont.

Of the almost three million square miles of Australia, more than one million are in the tropics.
