Ousted Writer Denies Soviet Spy Charge

Dr. Strong Is Called Before Federal Jury

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 — Dr. Anna Louise Strong, deported from Russia on charges of espionage and subversive activities, will appear tomorrow morning before a special federal grand jury investigating alleged spying.

The 64-year-old pro-Soviet writer was served with a federal subpoena after she stepped from a trans-Atlantic plane at LaGuardia field early this morning. She boarded the plane at Paris after a flight from Moscow via Warsaw.

Postponement Granted

Special U. S. assistant Attorney General Thomas J. Donegan said the subpoena called for Dr. Strong's appearance today but postponement was granted until tomorrow because of her obvious fatigue from travel. He added:

"It would have been unreasonable to call her today after her long plane trip."

Dr. Strong, who has spent nearly a quarter of a century in the Soviet Union, retained the law firm of Rogge, Fabricant, Gordon and Goldman to represent her.

The senior partner, O. John Rogge, former assistant attorney general, also is attorney for writer Agnes Smedley who has threatened suit over an Army intelligence report linking her with an alleged Soviet pre-war spy ring in the Far East. The report has been retracted.

"War Hysteria" Blamed

Dr. Strong, a native of Nebraska, told newsmen on her arrival that "war hysteria" whipped up by the American press was responsible for her expulsion from the Soviet Union.

She denied Russian press charges that she was engaged in spying and explained her ouster this way:

"I was very energetically seeking information, which I considered part of my journalistic job. They (the Russians) chose to take it as spying. I don't see what I can do about it."

Scores U. S. Newspapers

Under repeated questioning by newsmen, the white-haired writer answered "no comment" or denied that she had been bothered in any way by the Russians. At one point during her bitter denunciation of American newspapers, she declared:

"Nobody in Russia has mistreated me the way you reporters have tonight."

Dr. Strong's last version of why she was expelled from the Soviet Union conflicted with one which she had given on the flight to a TWA stewardess, Adele Ethel Kaczkowski of Chicago.

The airline stewardess quoted the writer as saying:

"I had a little trouble with the Russian government because I wanted to get to China through Siberia."

The stewardess said Dr. Strong told her the Russians "didn't want to open that road."

Housing Program Given Approval

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—A vast new home building program calling for construction of 810,000 low rent public housing units in six years was approved today by the Senate Banking committee.

The multi-billion dollar measure was endorsed by a 9 to 3 vote after the committee had rejected an amendment by Senator Bricker (R-Ohio) to bar segregation or discrimination in the federally financed projects.

Although this civil rights dispute was settled momentarily it probably will be revived tomorrow when the housing bill is thrown open to Senate debate.

Floor Fight Seen

Chairman Maybank (D-SC) told reporters that Bricker intends to bring his amendment up on the floor and that he had requested a record vote to show how the committee had voted.

On the anti-segregation amendment only Sen. Cain (R-Wash) supported Bricker's move. On final passage, Sen. Robertson (D-Va) joined Bricker and Cain in opposition.

Here are major provisions of the bill:

1. Public housing—The government's cash contributions would increase progressively the first five years to a maximum of $306,000,000 and stay at that amount for 35 years longer. The 810,000 units would be built at the rate of 135,000 a year, with the Presi-

Flood Fears Grip Midwest

(By The Associated Press)

AN ALL-DAY respite in downpours that started Wednesday minimized danger of major floods in Texas, but fear of possoble disaster spread in the Midwest as the Missouri river went over its banks Thursday in western Montana.

Fast-melting snow sent the Missouri on a rampage near its headwaters. A weather bureau forecast of warmer weather spreading into the snow-laden Dakotas, together with ice jams in the mighty Missouri, posed the possibility of floods.

Levees Handle Overflow

Numerous Texas streams, especially in North Texas, were out of banks Thursday. The upper Trinity and its tributaries rose rapidly after a three-inch rain on its watershed, and the U. S. Weather bureau issued flood warnings.

At Dallas the stream was more than eight feet above the flood stage of 28 feet. A crest of 38 or 39 feet was expected some time Friday.

Levees were handling the overflow in the Dallas area, but thousands of acres above and below Dallas were flooded. The Weather bureau warned farmers to remove livestock to higher ground.

Many Homes Flooded

Fort Worth got the heaviest drenching. A fall of 3.08 inches for the 24 hours ending Wednesday midnight was a February record for Fort Worth. Many homes were flooded. Lakes were rising.

The situation was similar at Dallas where 2.64 inches fell. To the north along the Red river, Paris had 2.60 inches that pushed small streams out of banks; Sherman had 2.33 inches, and Bonham 2.23.

To the south, the downpour extended as far as Waco, where 1.38 inches fell. The same amount drenched Corsicana, and in adjoining Ellis county the Burlington rerouted its trains because of a weakened bridge over Onion creek.

Floodwaters Claim Victim

Nearly all of Texas except the Panhandle received moisture, badly needed in some drouth-stricken areas.

Heavy rain filled streams and stock tanks around Athens, in East Texas. The only damage was

HST Optimistic On Aid Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (INS)—President Truman said today that the Marshall plan may be ended in less than the planned four years if European recovery proceeds at the optimistic rate indicated by a British announcement.

But he told a news conference that the United States would continue to pour its resources into Western European nations until their recovery is assured.

No Effect Foreseen

Sen. Connally (D-Tex.) chairman of the Foreign Relations committee, declared the British statement would not affect the President's request for a five billion, 580 million dollar appropriation to continue the Marshall plan 15 months beyond April 1. He predicted this sum would be voted.

Sen. Smith (R-N.J.) agreed that the British statement would not affect the appropriation. He said, however, that if the Marshall plan can be ended in less than the four years originally planned "we want to do it."

This reference was to a statement by Christopher P. Mayhew, British undersecretary of state, to the United National Economic and Social Council, that British economic recovery is virtually complete due to British discipline and U. S. aid.

Connally suggested that May-

Laborite Defeats Conservative Candidate In London By-Election

LONDON, Feb. 24. (INS)—Laborite candidate Tom Williams won the South Hammersmith by-election in London tonight, dashing Conservative hopes of copping one such victory since the general Laborite victory in 1945.

Williams, a history tutor at Oxford university and former Baptist minister, won over his Conservative opponent, Anthony Fell, by 15,223 to 13,610 votes.

Solon Demands 'Truth' About 'Terrible Impact' Of A-Bomb

By DARRELL GARWOOD
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24—Rep. Holifield (D-Cal) demanded today that Defense Secretary Forrestal tell the public "the truth about the terrible impact" of the atomic bomb or face congressional investigation.

Holifield is a member of the joint Congressional Atomic Energy committee and was an observer at the Bikini atoll tests in 1946. He charged the people have been lulled into a sense of false security by belief that the U. S. is sole owner of the A-bomb.

In a sensational House speech, Holifield shouted that "the truth about atomic warfare is perhaps the only real defense we have today against the possibility of such a war breaking out."

The Californian said that the bomb "has unlocked the energies of the universe" and "is a colossal booby trap." He added:

BOND ELECTION IS TALKED

Essential Projects Delayed In City For Lack Of Funds

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

THE possibility of a bond election as a last-resort method of financing some of booming Lubbock's urgently needed improvements was discussed at a regular meeting of the city commission Thursday afternoon which dealt with four new projects costing approximately $1,000,000.

The commission opened bids on three of the projects—two for water main extensions and the other for street paving—and let contract for one of them.

It also approved plans, prepared by Harry N. Roberts, consulting engineer, for expansions of the city's over-taxed sewage disposal plant, but without knowing where the $350,000 for the work is coming from.

Quick Action Needed

Yet Mayor W. H. Rodgers was emphatic in declaring the work must be done with the least possible delay as a safeguard to the community health. He placed it first among Lubbock needs — a view shared by Commissioners Clarence Whiteside and W. B. Price. Commissioners E. K. Hufstedler, jr., and John Spikes were not present.

"It looks like a bond issue may be the only answer if Lubbock is to continue to grow," Commissioner Whiteside commented.

But agreement was unanimous that a call for a bond election would be favored only after all other practical methods have been exhausted of financing the needs imposed by the city's rapid growth.

Contract Is Awarded

Thus was dumped squarely into the lap of new City Manager Steve Matthews, attending his first Lubbock commission meeting, one of the most challenging problems ever to confront an occupant of the managerial office.

He was called upon to try to discover the best answer to the city's financial problems—preferably without a bond election or an increase in city taxes—which

Senior High School Holds Open-House For Parents, Public

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

All phases of work, both academic and extracurricular, in which Lubbock Senior High school students currently are engaged, last night were viewed first-hand by friends and parents at an open-house at the school.

The open house, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher association, was proof once more that high school education verily has come a long way from yesteryear's "Three R's."

Class exhibits ranged from pottery making to table setting, from Latin and math notebooks (both groups of which were clever and original in theme and preparation) to the manufacture of artificial snow in the aeronautics class, and from livestock exhibits to dressmaking.

Student Co-Operation Praised

All in all, the affair complimented the willingness of students to assume "classroom poses" after school hours in order that the visitors might view the school work and associated activities as it actually is carried on.

For example, chemistry students were conducting laboratory experiments much as they would in a 10 a. m. class. Physics students displayed amateur radio sets, electric eye devices, and the like.

Homemaking students were "packing them in" with their exhibits of sewing, table setting, food preparation, and similar projects. Visitors in the woodworking class saw a floor lamp in the process of construction. English instruc-

Clergymen's Trial Set In Sofia Today

(By The Associated Press)

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Feb. 24. — A cabinet minister released tonight what he said were mass pleas of guilt and repentance by 15 Protestant clergymen who will go on trial tomorrow on charges of plotting against the government and espionage.

Ilia Timev, deputy minister of justice, produced the statements at a news conference. The documents contained 2,266 pages of statements and depositions.

Three volumes of files of preliminary investigations with hundreds of pages which Timev said were in the handwriting of the defendants were displayed to newsmen.

Statements Are Reported

Earlier the Communist press had carried alleged confessions by three of the defendants.

The file produced by Timev contained responses like these from the churchmen:

"I admit my guilt," "I repent," "I beg clemency," "I want to be given a new chance to work for the motherland."

The prisoners, ministers and laymen, are accused of treason, violating currency laws and spying for Britain and the United States. After weeks in jail, they will be arraigned in a high-ceilinged marble room of the Sofia district court.

Peace Treaty Cited

(Both the United States and Britain and western church groups have denounced the charges. The arrests drew official attention to a provision for religious freedom which Bulgaria is pledged to respect under the peace treaty she signed in 1947 as a defeated satellite of Germany. The United States and Britain have "reserved their rights" to delve further into this angle.

(The pre-trial handling of the case resembled Communist Hungary's conduct of that of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, Roman Catholic primate sentenced Feb. 8 to a life term on treason charges.)

Key figures of the group are four members of the supreme council of the United Evangelical churches of Bulgaria, made up of the Baptist, Methodist, Pentecost and Congregational faiths.

These men are Vassil Georgiev Ziapkov, 48, head of the Congregational church in Bulgaria and religious representative of the United Evangelical churches; Yan-

Red Chief Faces French Action

PARIS, Feb. 24. (INS—Premier Henry Queuille announced tonight that the French government has decided to "take action" against Communist chief Maurice Thorez. The National Assembly gave the government a 386 to 81 vote of confidence on the move.

Queuille told the assembly the Department of Justice has been ordered to start proceedings on the statement made by Thorez Tuesday calling on French workers to side with Russia as the champion of peace in the event of an East-West war.

Denies War Expected

The Moscow-trained Thorez in 1939 was accused by the Daladier regime of deserting the French army while stationed in the Maginot line. This was after Russia and Germany signed a non-aggression pact.

Thorez later turned up in Moscow. After the liberation of France from the Nazis, the charges against Thorez were dropped.

Queuille did not say what action was contemplated in the present situation after making his statement at a stormy session of the Assembly.

He spoke after Communist deputy Andre Tourne declared—and government spokesmen denied—that the government expects war before May 1.

Stock Market Prices Tumble To New Lows

(By The Associated Press)

Stock market prices skidded Thursday to the lowest average levels since last March, highlighting a day of mixed business and economic news.

There was an unusually large quota of such news, some "good" and some "bad," adding to the problems of economists in and out of government trying to gauge the state of the nation's economic health.

Stocks declined in general from a few cents to about $3 a share, led by railroad issues. Bonds also dipped sharply, with 32 corporate issues reaching new lows for the year. But commodities were mixed —some up and some down—with their overall status little changed.

A few corporations reported reduced earnings, particularly railroads which took it on the chin from severe blizzards in the west. The Union Pacific, for example, blamed the severe storms largely for the decline in its net income from $4,671,712 in January a year ago to $542,024 last month.

There were scattered reports of rising unemployment, but in the overall picture, employment was still well above the prewar "normal" level. Confidence in the business future was indicated in announcements of companies going ahead with huge expansion programs.

TROOP MOVEMENTS DENIED

LONDON, Feb. 24 (AP) — The Bulgarian telegraph agency said tonight it was authorized "to deny categorically" reports in the Turkish press of "imaginary movements of Bulgarian troops" along the Turko-Bulgarian frontier. The agency report was monitored in London.

President May Tour Nation For Support

Truman Says 'Special Interests' Are Attempting To Sabotage 'Fair Deal'

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—President Truman said tonight he may tour the country in a nationwide fight against "pressure groups" and "die-hard reactionaries" who, he said, are trying to kill his legislative program.

Mr. Truman lashed out against the "special interests" in a strongly worded address before a packed Jefferson-Jackson day dinner, the Democratic party's annual fund-raising event.

He said these opponents are using lobbies, advertising space, editorial pages and columnists whom "they control" to "twist and misrepresent the measures the people voted for."

Special Interests Assailed

"Special interests," he said, "are again trying to frighten the people with the old, worn-out bugaboo that Socialism is taking over in Washington"

But Mr. Truman said he found out in his campaign travels last year that the people are vitally interested in what their government is doing.

"This concern on the part of the people is a fine thing for the growth of democracy and responsible government," Mr. Truman said, adding:

"I propose to do all I can to help it along. In fact, I may even get on a train again and make another tour around the country to tell the people how their government is getting on."

Backing For Program Seen

"If we keep the people fully informed," he said, "I am confident that they will support the Congress and the President in our fight against the special interests."

The President pledged himself anew to fight for Taft-Hartley repeal, social security expansion, new housing, higher minimum wages, river basin development, farm price supports, and full employment and production.

He said his administration will not be deceived by the propaganda of those who cry "super state."

"Despite their efforts to confuse," he said, "we will enact the programs to which we are committed. We can and will provide a better life for our people."

Party Funds Boosted

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Truman and daughter Margaret, dined first at the Mayflower hotel, then went to the Statler for the formal part of the twin dinner celebrating the Democratic victory last November.

Dinner officials estimated more than 3,000 had made reservations. Since tickets went only to those contributing $100 to the party, more than $300,000 was expected to be raised at the Washington dinners alone.

An elaborate radio and television set-up covered the events for party dinners elsewhere and the country as a whole.

Mr. Truman said his proposals to help business increase production, keep price movements balanced, and prevent shortages from driving certain industrial prices higher while farm prices are levelling off are under attack by "those

Stiff Sentence Assessed Here

A FINE of $100 and court costs and a six-months jail sentence —one of the stiffest given in a liquor case in Lubbock county in a number of years—were assessed late Thursday against Charles W. Spencer, 38, of 307 Avenue M., when a county court jury found him guilty of a liquor law violation charge.

The assessment was one of the sharpest given recently, veteran newsmen and county officials said, and is believed to be the only case within the last three years in which a jail sentence of such length has been given by a Lubbock county court jury in a case where a jail sentence is not mandatory.

Appeal Is Filed

Burton S. Burks, attorney for the defendant, gave notice last night that he intends to file motion for a new trial in the case, and said he would appeal the case to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals if the motion is denied.

Spencer was found guilty of possession of seven cases of beer for the purpose of sale. Another case, charging sale of liquor, is still pending against him.

The jury, of which J. P. Leonard was foreman, of 1319 Twenty-sixth, returned the verdict about 7 p.m. to Judge Walter Davies after deliberation of approximately one-half hour.

Police Front Quiet

County Attorney Waggoner Carr and Winston Brummett, assistant county attorney, prosecuted for the state.

A lull in law violations continued Thursday, law enforcement officials said, with minor thefts the most serious offenses reported.

W. F. Porsch of four and a half miles south and west of Slaton informed the sheriff's department Thursday afternoon that a battery and battery cable had been stolen from him.

County Attorney Carr said Roy Cates, about 35, had pleaded guilty of a drunk driving charge recently filed and had been fined $75 and county court costs. His driver's license was revoked six months, a mandatory procedure.

The sheriff's department said Thursday that J. L. Sparkman, 38, of Enid, Okla., had signed a waiver of extradition to Arkansas, where he was described to be charged with a felony check offense.

There was a notation on jail dockets that the man also is wanted for investigation in connection with a Nebraska offense.

A 54-year-old Lubbock man was held for investigation of Upshur county officials, who planned to come here, it was announced.

PILOT SETS RECORD

HOUSTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Paul Mantz, the fast California airplane jockey, set another speed record today—2 hours, 3 minutes and 41 seconds from Mexico City to Houston.

Mild Weather Due To Continue Over Area

Partly cloudy and continued mild weather again was predicted for the South Plains area last night by the weather bureau station north of Lubbock, to round out over a week of springlike temperatures.

Light drizzle this morning was foreseen by the weatherman, but precipitation is expected to be light with a break in the overcast predicted before noon.

Possibility of thundershowers tonight and Saturday was foreseen as a front moved eastward across the Arizona-California boundary toward West Texas. Arrival of the front is not expected before late tonight or Saturday, the weather station reported.

Temperatures Thursday ranged from a low of 41 degrees to a high of 63 degrees.

Truman Stands Pat On Rugged Denunciation Of Commentators

By JAMES LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. President Truman told the world today that when he calls someone an "S.O.B." he means what he says and anyone who thinks otherwise is just confused.

The Chief Executive, grinning from ear to ear, let his news conference know that he was talking about the real thing and no namby-pamby substitute when he used the rough-and-ready expression in a blast the other night at "smart aleck" commentators.

Mr. Truman said he was very pleased at reaction to his rugged remark, which was inspired by commentator Drew Pearson. Pearson aroused the President's ire by blasting White House military aide Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan for accepting a decoration from the Argentine government.

The presidential use of the earthy term occurred at a dinner of the Reserve Officers association, where Mr. Truman asserted in an off-the-cuff speech that "any S.O.B." who thought he could force the President to fire a White House staff member had another think coming.

Western Powers Alert For New Red Reaction To Atlantic Pact

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

The Western powers, pushing rapidly toward signature of the Atlantic pact, are watching closely to see whether Russia's wordy reaction will turn into anything more.

After a brief flurry, during which the U.S. Senate put its rights into the record, the pact negotiations hit top speed. Reports from Europe indicate that France, Britain, Belgium, Luxembourg, Norway and Holland are now satisfied that the pact will do what it is intended to do—stand as an unmistakable warning against aggression.

Final Draft Completed

The final draft apparently was completed over the week-end and passed on Wednesday by the permanent commission of the Western union in record time. Now that the pact is about to become a fact, they are anxious that it become operative quickly.

Russia's propaganda against the Western bloc has reached a crescendo as the negotiations progressed. She charges the pact is aggressive.

Everybody in the West is sure there is no fear of aggression from anyone except Russia. The Russians, on the other hand, are probably just as certain in their own minds that the West is determined not only to contain the Russian system but eventually to wipe it out.

U.S. Official Favors Pact

Dr. Philip C. Jessup, new U. S. ambassador at large for United Nations and general negotiating purposes, says that since no world government is feasible, the pact is the next best thing. He says a Russian-excluding world government with a police force would inevitably collide with Russia in war.

There are indications, of course, that the pact, or kindred and connected pacts, will become more inclusive. There already is talk of including Italy, a non-Atlantic country, and others. There is nothing to prevent an interlocking bloc with the United States and Britain co-operating with their particular friends in that area.

Warren Austin says a world-wide organization barring Russia would not be likely.

But, just as the Atlantic alliance is a result of Russian expansionist pressure, so such questions probably will be decided by Russia's own acts. If nations feel themselves threatened they are going to run somewhere for cover.

Two Texans Facing Larceny Charge Flee Arkansas Jail

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 24. (AP)—Two Texans charged with grand larceny escaped from the Garland county jail early today.

They are Harry M. Pope of Dallas, and Clarence Allen Bryant, 22, of Grand View, both former convicts.

The sheriff's office reported the men made their getaway from their second-floor cell by prying mesh from a window and sliding down jail blankets.

Pope and Bryant were arrested after James Harrison Short of Dallas was killed and a policeman, Johnny Emery, was wounded in a gunfight in a downtown drugstore last Dec. 8. Officers had surprised Short in the drugstore, which was closed at the time.

Bryant was arrested outside the drugstore. Pope later was arrested at a Hot Springs tourist court, and charges were filed against both men in connection with another drugstore break-in in the same night.

Morrow Confident Move To Oust Him From Post To Be Reversed

HOUSTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Wright Morrow today expressed confidence that action of the State Democratic executive committee in seeking his removal as national committeeman eventually will be completely "reversed."

The national committeeman, a Houston attorney, said his batting average before the committee has improved greatly since November.

Last November, he said, the committee voted 42 to 6 against him. Yesterday, in Austin, a resolution to ask the national committee to remove Morrow was approved by the state group on a voice vote but Morrow pointed out that a preliminary test vote was only 29 to 26 against him.

Claims Reports Unfounded

"I have no doubt that when the facts are known the vote will be completely reversed," he said.

He explained that his opponents last fall began spreading "malicious and unfounded rumors" about him and that such action "caused the big vote against me by the committee in November."

"As the facts become known these people who are fighting me through personal malice or envy are fast losing out," he said.

His opponents, Morrow continued, are "actuated by malice or envy and are willing to accept the decision of the Philadelphia convention which elected me for four years."

He said his activities in behalf of the Democratic party have received praise from National Chairman J. Howard McGrath.

"Texas Democrats prefer to support a program fostered by the national party rather than to listen to a few malcontents who haven't sufficient sportsmanship to take defeat gracefully," he continued.

Last September the State Democratic convention in Fort Worth voted to ask the national committee to remove Morrow from office and seat Byron Skelton of Temple as the Texas committeeman.

The state group yesterday voted to have a delegation appear before the national committee to urge that Skelton replace the Houston attorney.

Child Welfare Group Elects New Officers

Officers of Lubbock County Child Welfare unit were elected when the advisory board of Lubbock County Child Welfare unit met Thursday with Miss Lydia Cage of Austin, consultant for the Child Welfare Division of Texas.

Named chairman was Rev. Travis White. Dr. Agnes True was named vice chairman, Mrs. Robert J. Allen secretary, and V. E. Cathey treasurer.

Foundation plans were laid and committees appointed. Alvin Goldstucker and Mrs. C. W. Ratliff will work with County Judge Walter Davies, who with Mayor W. H. Rodgers is an ex-officio member of the board, in relation to getting an office and office appointments for a case worker expected to report here in April.

Cathey and O. Z. Ball of Slaton will compose a budget committee.

Mrs. Ratliff was named chairman of a publicity committee.

It was agreed that the board will meet the first Wednesday of each month, in a luncheon program.

Miss Cage will meet with the directors April 6, she said.

Hundreds Throng Brownsville For Charro Days Celebration

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

BROWNSVILLE, Feb. 24 — Brownsville really let itself go today, and the whole Rio Grande valley got into the act.

Thousands of visitors thronged this gay old border city as the 12th annual Charro Days celebration opened with a terrific yell.

The official yell, or "grito", was voiced by A. A. (Daddy) Hargrove who performs this vocal chore each year. Hargrove, a 220-pounder, six feet, two inches tall, stood on a bandstand in the downtown section, took aim at a microphone and gave out with his shrill, prolonged cry. It echoed through the city and was swallowed in a chorus of answering shouts.

Mexican Musicians Play

Gaity was unrestrained. Scores of mariachis (Mexican musicians), crossed the Rio Grande from the neighboring Mexican city of Matamoros and transformed Brownsville into a city of music.

Brownsville residents and visitors wore colorful Mexican costumes enthusiastically. Downtown streets, blocked off from traffic, filled with rollicking, singing, shouting people. Camera fans had a field day.

Beards, trademark of this international celebration, were everywhere in evidence—beards of all sizes and descriptions. The fun will go on through Sunday.

Bands, Floats Parade

The program includes pageants, parades, dances, rodeos, carnivals and banquets. A parade today featured beautifully decorated floats and bands from throughout the valley. Gov. Beauford H. Jester addressed an all-valley Kiwanis luncheon.

Speaking of the neighborly relations between the United States and Mexico he said: 'This solidarity must be maintained."

The van-dyked Hargrove, always a prominent figure in Charro Days celebrations, said: "This is a time when we turn ourselves loose and kick over the traces."

Hargrove wore a tremendous 50-year old hat which once belonged to a Mexican general.

"He watered his horse out of it," Hargrove said. "I got the hat from a judge who was too small to wear it. He said he looked like a mouse under a bathtub."

Hargrove is pretty proud of his tremendous yell and makes a point of keeping in practice. "I got my start," he explained, "as a pig caller down on the farm."

Oil Firm Representatives To Interview Seniors At Tech

Two representatives of the Magnolia Petroleum company will be at Tech March 2 to interview graduating seniors who are interested in jobs with their company.

Mrs. Jean Jenkins, head of the Tech Placement office, said that L. B. Redmond would talk with students who were to be graduated in civil engineering, mechanical engineering and petroleum engineering. There are openings for men as lubrication engineers and junior natural gas engineers.

Redmond will also see graduate students who are interested in bacterology, chemistry, electrical engineering, geology and physics.

J. V. Mills, also with Magnolia Oil, will talk to students who have majored in mechanical engineering. He is interested in securing people for jobs with the company's refinery at Beaumont. Mills is an assistant to the manager of industrial relations for Magnolia Oil.

Mrs. Jenkins said that all students who are interested should stop in at the Placement office and make an appointment for an interview.

Efficient Feeding Of Cattle Is Urged

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 24. (AP)—An expert of the beef cattle industry told an 11-state farm group today the profits from feeding cattle in the next few years will come more from efficient feeding and management than in trying to "outguess the market."

Dr. A. D. Weber, head of the department of animal husbandry at Kansas State college, said that despite the losses suffered by cattle feeders in recent months, "there still is much to be gained by returning to fundamental principles which governed successful feeding between the two world wars."

Weber addressed the closing session of the fifth annual convention of the Corn Belt Livestock Feeders association.

"Recognition must be given to the fact," Weber said, "that in the long run success for most cattle feeders depends more upon sound feeding than upon opportunism and trading ability."

Weber said the time has arrived when everybody, including "politicians, business men and professional people" must understand fully how important it is to the nation's economy that the country has a healthy, profitable beef cattle feeding industry.

He said he was convinced that the profits made by livestock producers in the years just ahead "will have more to do with the success of soil conservation than any other factor."

The American public needs to understand, Weber said, that 85 per cent of the total production of corn, sorghum grains, oats and barley is utilized by the livestock industry.

Kiwanis Club Entertained At Luncheon By Girl Scout Playlet

A playlet "Girl Scout Magic," presented by members of Girl Scout Troop 22 through use of hand puppets, featured the program of the Kiwanis club luncheon Thursday at Hotel Lubbock.

The skit was under direction of Miss Patricia Scott, after introduction of the number by Miss Madeline McDonald, who recently arrived to take over executive direction of Girl Scout work here.

The program was followed by explanation of the work by Mrs. Galen Carr, field director, who said girls in the troop assembled the skit properties, including the hand puppets, and fitted them into the skit, since last Saurday. She lauded financial support by the Kiwanis club, which includes plans for expansion of the Girl Scout Little House for additional activities and for a rapidly increasing program.

J. Tilman Carter was program chairman. Club President Fred Sparks was in the chair.

ON POPULARITY

UNLESS teen age girls have changed a lot since we went to school, popularity plays a large part in a young girl's thoughts. We know several Lubbock High school girls who are popular and we have been observing them this year and trying to analyze what they do to gain that highly satisfactory state. We have come to these conclusions:

Popular girls lead selfless lives. In lending a helping hand to less resourceful classmates, they build up a great store of friends and their stock goes up on the popularity chart.

What do they get out of it? Most of them find that the inner satisfaction of helping someone and winning friends is by far their greatest reward. Further, their own problems melt away.

VIVIAN BROWN, who writes for Associated Newsfeatures, says a girl who tries to make a deposit in her popularity bank every day will find she can write a check for almost any amount by the time school closes. She suggests some ways a girl may become popular by the unselfish route:

Be kind. Never hold up a girl to ridicule because she has a small wardrobe and a smaller bank account and because her parents do not measure up to yours.

Be charitable. Don't engage in gossip about any of your school chums. If you'll look behind the flaws, you'll find the good.

Be reasonable. Don't always be ready with a harsh retort. If someone gives you constructive criticism, accept it in the right spirit.

Be sweet. If someone is jealous of you and shows it, feel sorry for them. You can always win out by ignoring their attitude and being agreeable.

Be helpful. The Lord didn't give everyone a fertile brain. Share yours with someone else. You may save a dumb girl many unhappy moments by ironing out school problems which she cannot grasp in the schoolroom. If you are so much smarter than she, how can she ever be serious competition to you?

Be loyal. If a chum makes a mistake, stick by her. Don't let her down because the school packs has turned up its noses. That is the time when she needs your friendship more than ever.

Be generous. Penny-pinching, budget-minded people always look and act the part. You don't have to give away your last cent, but by sharing with others less fortunate than yourself you are buying happiness. That is something your miserly friends cannot purchase with their stuffed piggy-banks.

Be courageous. When you are right stick by your guns and always be willing to admit you are wrong.

Be wise. Pick the right companions as bosom pals. But don't make enemies of those who fail to measure up to your expectations.

Be studious. You are at school to study so don't flit your time away.

Be a good sport. Learn to play games in the right spirit. To be a good competitor, you should always want to win, but don't be a sore loser.

FREAK ACCIDENT

Mrs. C. V. Griggs of Madera, Calif., who, with her husband is visiting his mother, Mrs. C. M. Griggs for several weeks, is still rather shaky over an accident in which she was the victim. It's just another one of those examples of not knowing what may happen when you take a car trip.

Returning from Norman, Okla., where they had spent the week end, the couple was just outside of Plainview when a wheel of a passing car hit an auto spring in the middle of the highway, tossing it through the windshield of the Griggs car and carving off a slice of skin on Mrs. Griggs' left jaw. It went on past her to the back seat but no one else was hurt.

The gash required four stitches. After a visit to a Plainview doctor the group continued on to Lubbock.

Wearing a patch that resembles a hard boiled egg under gauze, Mrs. Griggs says she is so thankful it was no worse.

Flowers Provide Pleasure

Spring Planting Hints Are Advanced For Gardners

By ELLEN MILLER
Of The Woman's Staff

Suggestions for spring planting of gladioli, dahlias, various types of lilies, tuberous rooted begonias and canna have been advanced by Mrs. J. A. Fortenberry, president of the Lubbock Garden club.

"Flowers provide much pleasure for those who grow them and for those who see them," she stated, "but it is important that they be planted and cared for properly."

Gladioli do especially well in this area, Mrs. Fortenberry says. They are tolerant of this soil and do best in sunshine. They should be planted in rich, loamy soil. If barnyard fertilizer is used to prepare the soil for planting, an effort should be made to prevent the fertilizer from actually touching the corm. After the plant is about six inches high, bone meal and super phosphate should be scratched into the soil about six inches away from the plant at intervals. Irrigation will then carry the food materials to the plant.

Gladioli planted now should be buried seven or eight inches. For continuous blooming throughout the season, they should be planted about every two weeks through June and early July. After mid-March, they should be planted about five inches deep. Gardeners sometimes experience difficulty in keeping gladioli corms sufficiently cool and dry for late planting, Mrs. Fortenberry said, explaining that one satisfactory solution is to wrap them in air-tight celophane bags and keep them in the refrigerator. Although these plants require a great deal of water for growth, they should not be planted in a low place where water will stand continually around them. Tall spikes should be staked to prevent the plants from being blown over in high winds.

On Dahlia Culture

Dahlias need a great deal of fertilizer for good growth, the garden clubber stated. The soil should be fertilized before planting with barnyard fertilizer and given an additional feeding every month. Stakes should be set at the time the tuberous root is set in the ground, some eight inches deep. Care should be taken to make the stake properly tall and sturdy to suit needs of the specific dahlia being planted.

Dahlias, too, need large quantities of water ,but should be placed in fairly well drained, sunny spots. For summer blooming, they should be planted in mid-March, and for fall blooming, in mid-April.

Day lilies are well adapted to soil in this area and, with very little attention, will provide much color in the flower garden. They should be planted with the roots pointing downward, and with the top of the root about two inches below the surface, in rich loam. They may be planted now, but they will not bloom the first season unless they are planted in the fall. However, if they are planted now, they will not need to be transplanted for blooms summer after this.

The same is true of certain other lilies, including the regal, state, red coral, Philippine, rubrum and aurutum varieties. They should be set about eight inches deep and the top soil mulched to prevent freezes from reaching them.

Begonias Are Delicate

Tuberous rooted begonias, with their immense blossoms, are very pretty but are a delicate plant. They should be started indoors in a pot, with about two inches of soil over the top. When danger of frost is past, they may be transplanted to outdoor plots. Care should be taken to keep the soil from the pot around the root. These are flowers that may be planted on the north side of the house, as they do well in partial shade. They do best in very loamy soil, preferably treated with a quantity of peat.

Canna are to be planted with the same procedure as taken for lilies, after danger of frost has passed. The soil should be fertilized before canna is planted, and they will require a good bit of water. The roots must be dug and stored during the winter to prevent their being killed by freezing.

If a late season freeze appears imminent, all these plants may be protected by turning a flower pot over them, Mrs. Fortenberry suggested.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears — how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Today's Town Talk

LARGE SCALE ENTERTAINMENT problems have been solved by Mesdames Fred Standefer, Elliott Taylor and Jack Stone and Miss Lula Mae Cravens with an intricately scheduled system of brunches.

This morning's hostesses for 10 and 11 o'clock brunches will be Miss Cravens and Mesdames Taylor and Standefer.

Azaleas have been used throughout the ballroom of the Lubbock Country club, the scene of the entertainments, and an azalea centerpiece decorated the table which was laid with a dark green cloth. Over 300 guests were invited to the total of four parties.

Tonight the annual Mardi Gras semi-formal dance sponsored by the Tech Newman club will be from 8:30 until 11:30 o'clock in the Hilton hotel ballroom.

Masks will be given to guests at the door, and the public may attend. Tickets at $2.50 per couple will be available at the door. Music will be by Loyd Jenkins and his orchestra.

Suspect Held Federal Posts Despite All Warnings

venient time from the committee's point of view for me to appear."

It was from Alger Hiss, brilliant young president of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace.

We received it on the night of Tuesday, August 3, 1948. But inasmuch as Hiss could not appear until the fifth of the month, we heard Nathan Gregory Silvermaster in the interim. Silvermaster had been named by ex-Communist Elizabeth Bentley as a member of the Russian secret police, leader of one of the spy rings working in Washington during the war, but also a $9,000-a-year government official.

SILVERMASTER is a slight, middle-aged man with a shock of blond hair and a toothbrush mustache. He was born in Odessa, Russia, came to this country in 1915, entered the Government in 1935 with the Resettlement Administration, moved to the Maritime Labor Board as chief economist, thence to the Labor Division of the Farm Security Administration as its director.

In 1941 he was loaned briefly to the Board of Economic Warfare. In 1944, after his Labor Division at the Foreign Economic Administration folded, he moved on to the Office of Surplus Property, Consumer Goods Division, Treasury Department, then to the post of chief economist and director of the Department's Market Research Division. Finally he wound up with RFC. En route he helped Assistant Secretary of Treasury Harry Dexter White draw up the Bretton Woods Agreement.

His first statement on the witness stand was that Miss Bentley was a "neurotic liar." He had been harassed constantly, he said, because he was a strong advocate of the rights of the under-privileged and of all New Deal principles. The Committee hearings on espionage, he declared, were a "diabolical conspiracy" and "motivated by political considerations on the eve of a Presidential election."

When there was an opportunity to interrupt him I asked Silvermaster if he had ever belonged to the Communist Party.

"I refuse to answer this question on the grounds that I have outlined in my statement . . . that any answer I may make to this question may tend to be self-incriminating."

He gave the same answer to my questions as to whether he knew Earl Browder, Jacob N. Golos, Gerhart Eisler, Miss Bentley, Alger Hiss and others. He made the same reply when I asked him if he had ever had any photographic equipment in the basement of his Washington home.

Silvermaster's first responsive answer was in reply to my question as to whether he knew William Ludwig Ullman, the former Air Force major named by Miss Bentley as chief photographer of secret documents allegedly brought to Silvermaster's home for reproduction on microfilm.

SILVERMASTER replied that Ullman had lived with him since 1937, but he refused to answer, on Constitutional grounds, when asked if Ullman had ever been a Communist.

Rep. Nixon (R., Calif.) asked Silvermaster to point out the discrepancies in Miss Bentley's testimony which provoked his calling her a neurotic liar. He refused.

Rep. (now Sen.) Mundt (R., S. D.) made a man-to-man appeal to Silvermaster to answer at least the question pertaining to the photographic equipment. He would not.

So I felt it was time to touch upon his record, not the one acquired by us but by other government agencies. To begin with, I asked him if Military Intelligence had ever objected to his employment by the Board of Economic Warfare.

"I think it was Naval Intelligence," he contradicted.

"You then went to Lauchlin Currie?" I asked, mentioning the F. D. R. aide accused by Miss Bentley as one who had supplied vital information to Russian agents.

Was Given Okay

Silvermaster readily acknowledged that he had done so, and that he had also appealed to C. B. Baldwin, then his chief in the Farm Security Administration and later campaign manager for Henry Wallace. His appeal, he said, went up to Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson. Patterson cleared him.

He was cleared in face of such Civil Service Commission reports as the following:

1.—"Silvermaster has been known and listed in the files of the Seattle Police Department, the Thirteenth Naval District, the San Francisco Police Department, the subversive unit of the American Legion at San Francisco, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a member and leader of the Communist Party.

2.—"Numerous witnesses and the files of various subversive units allege that the applicant was closely associated with Sam Darcy and Harry Bridges, and alternated with Bridges in talking to the waterfront strikers in San Francisco.

3.—"The applicant denied that he was an agent of the OGPU or a member of the Communist Party. Former members of the Party state that when a Communist is asked as to his membership in the Party, he at that moment ceases to be a member until he answers in the negative. After he makes answer his membership is reinstated according to Communist doctrines."

4.—Civil Service investigators recommended in 1942 that Silvermaster be declared ineligible for the position of head economist, Board of Economic Warfare, ". . . for three years or for the duration of the emergency.

5. — The Commission's final report, which was overruled, read, in part, "Cancel Mr. Silvermaster's eligibilities on the senior social science analyst register, cancel any and all other pending applications or eligibilities he may have, and bar him for the duration of the national emergency."

6. — The Naval Intelligence report bluntly called him a Communist not to be trusted in his office.

BUT for four years after these serious charges had been presented, and rejected, Silvermaster held important posts in the Government.

When Silvermaster left the stand I called back Miss Bentley.

"You came to Mr. Silvermaster's home for the purpose of collecting information?" I asked.

"That is correct."

"Which he had obtained from these people in the Government?"

"That is correct, sir."

"You also obtained from him certain Communist Party dues?"

"That is correct."

Setup Was Described

"Could you give the Committee some details regarding the photographic equipment maintained in Mr. Silvermaster's basement and whether or not Mr. Ullmann had anything to do with it?"

"Yes," she replied. "They had set up in the basement a homemade apparatus for photographic documents, for microfilming documents . . . put together by Mr. Ullmann, who is quite clever as a mechanic. It had a rack on the top which the camera was stuck into and pointed down, and they had a rack in the bottom where the papers were put in."

"You actually saw them using this apparatus on Government documents, did you?"

"Yes; I did."

Acting Chairman Mundt then asked me if I had any papers showing the references Silvermaster had presented when he obtained employment with the Government.

"WE HAVE endeavored to secure his file from the Archives, but it is not there," I had to answer. It has disappeared." I then added, "The Archivist advised Mr. Wheeler, the investigator who called there, that they were the custodians of all the files of the BEW and FEA, but that Mr. Silvermaster's file was not there. The files of others in those bureaus were there, but not Mr. Silvermaster's."

The Committee had gone as far as it could in the case of Silvermaster. It adjourned and prepared for one of the numberless climaxes of its life: the interrogation of Alger Hiss.

(TOMORROW: Mr. Stripling reveals that Hiss's ringing denials of Whittaker Chambers's charges nearly crushed the Hiss-Chambers duel in the bud.)

Program To Set Up Defense For Gulf Coast Is Pushed

HOUSTON, Feb. 24. (U.P.) — The Texas Air National Guard announced today a speed-up in its program to protect the heavily-industrialized Gulf coast area, including plans for a $500,000 building to house radar facilities at La Porte airport.

Col. Bill Nottingham, chief of staff for the 63rd fighter wing with headquarters at Ellington field, said Washington had okayed a 99-year lease of eight acres at the La Porte field.

The proposed building will shelter equipment and personnel for the radar network, designed to offer maximum protection for the surrounding area, a good target for unfriendly aircraft.

Region One Meet To Open

Pairings Slated This Afternoon

The shooting in the Region One, TIL, Class B basketball tournament begins at 10:30 this morning when team representatives meet to draw for their game time and opposition at Texas Tech gym.

In case no team is represented, it was indicated that someone would be appointed to make the drawing for that particular team. The representatives will also decide the times for the final and semi-final games. It was recommended by the Interscholastic League that the final round be played Saturday morning.

Officials planning the tourney believe it will be one of the best Class B meets ever held at Tech gym, and some of the best teams in the state will be represented.

Eleven cage teams are entered. Included in the list of teams are Stratford, District 1; Miami, District 2; Samnorwood, District 3; Carey, District 4; Dimmitt, District 5; Spade, District 6; Shallowater, District 7; Roaring Springs, District 8; Ropesville, District 9; Dawson, District 10; and Vega, District 11.

Seven games will be played Friday afternoon, and activity gets underway at 1:15. The other games are scheduled to begin at 2:30, 3:45, 5, 7:15, 8:30, and 9:45.

The defending champion is Carey, which upset the dope bucket to win last year.

Back also is Stratford High school. A former state basketball champion, the Stratford quintet is expected to go a long way in the tournament, and defeated Lubbock early in the season.

Mustangs Are Contenders

The Shallowater Mustangs are contenders and have totaled 38 wins in 42 contests played this year. They are led by Derrell Murphy who has scored 731 points in 35 games.

Another favorite is Dawson High school of Welch. The Dragons have lost only two games and won 20 throughout the season. Their first loss was to Flower Grove, a team they held to eight points earlier. Ropesville turned the trick earlily this week, 45-43, after suffering a loss earlier.

The price of admission to the games is 60 cents for adults and 30 cents for children.

ONE OF STRONG TEAMS IN CLASS TOURNEY—The Dawson High school team from Welch has a record for the season that indicates it will be a hard quintet to beat. They will appear in the Region One, Class B, basketball tournament which opens at Texas Tech today. The Dawson quintet won 20 games and lost only one during the season. Front row, left to right, are shown Broughton, Hickman, Hocker, Payne, Miller. Second row, left to right, Teague, Weeks, Russell, Henson, Maddox, Preston, Wright, Burkett and Coach J. B. Williams.

Tech Fish Drop Odessa Juniors

The Red Raider freshman romped to an easy 61-42 victory last night over Odessa Junior college at Tech gym.

Earlier in the season the Odessa juniors dropped a decision to Tech first-year men, and this victory gives the Techsans a record of three victories and three defeats, with one game remaining on the slate.

Tech Fish got off to an early start and by halftime were leading 35-19, as Ted O'Neil, Irl Brown, and Jack Alderson hit the basket with ease.

The second period was an exact replica of the first, and the action was steady and unchanging. Near the end of the game Odessa tried to speed up their attack, but it only led to bad passes.

Brown of Tech freshmen led the scoring with 12 points, and he was assisted by O'Neil and Alderson with 10 and Jim Eddins with eight markers.

Dwayne Craig led the backboard work for Odessa and scored 11 points. Don Reaves hit the basket for 10 points, and Ed Moses garnered eight.

The little Raiders made 13 free throws against four for the junior collegians.

Blue Flame Drops Cloverlake, 38-34

Anton American Legion upset favored Levelland Refiners, 38-29 last night at Chapman fieldhouse in the District 2, Texas Athletic Federation, basketball tournament.

The Legion led at halftime, 18-17, and extended their lead as the game progressed. Leading the Anton point makers was Horace Baines with 15 points. Harold Thurman made nine for the losers.

Blue Flame took an early lead and was never threatened in defeating Cloverlake, 38-34.

After gaining a 28-19 halftime margin, the winners were content to take it easy and allowed Cloverlake to whittle the lead down to four points at the final whistle. Chet Johnson hit the basket for 13 points for Blue Flame, and Joe Wheatley pitched in 12 ers for the losers.

Primm Drug of Brownfield rounded out the night by defeating Cisco Grocery of Denver City, 42-36, after going ahead by a healthy margin at the half, 25-11.

Sharing scoring honors for the druggists were Ray Warden and Jake Geron with 10 points each. John Meeks counted 11 markers fo rthe losers.

Only two games are scheduled tonight. At 7:30 Thomas Tinkers play Panhandle All-Stars of Spade, and in the final start Anton American Legion meets Matador to round out the quarter-final round.

Rep. Walker Ousted By Sportsmen's Club

BEAUMONT, Feb. 24 (AP) — State Rep. Miller Walker's support of a proposed fish law cost him his membership in the Gulf Coast Rod, Reel and Gun Club here.

The bill would permit use of purse seines for menhadden offshore in the Gulf of Mexico.

At Austin, Walker said:

"I doubt if the whole membership of the club is informed on the bill. The Game Commission's experts testified it was a good conservation measure that would not hurt sports fishing."

Paul Bradley, president of the Sabine-Neches Sportsmen's club, said at Port Arthur that he was "fairly certain" Walker would be dropped from that club.

At Orange, Henry Crew, Jr., vice-president of the Sabine Sportsmen's Club there, said the Walker incident would be investigated thoroughly.

Crew said that in his opinion menhadden fishing harms game fishing less than commercial shrimping or extensive beach seining in the area by professionals and amateurs.

Walker said the bill would permit development of a new industry on the Gulf Coast to use menhadden for fish oils and chicken feeds.

Cotton Center Takes Licking In 18-A Play

SUNDOWN, Feb. 24. (Special)—Upsets marked the quarter-final round play in the District 18-A girls basketball tournament here tonight, with the defending champions, Cotton Center, taking a 49-40 trimming at the hands of Roosevelt.

In other games, New Deal advanced to the semi-finals with a 28-21 victory over Anton; Whitharral kept pace with a 46-38 win over Spade; and Whiteface turned back Amherst 31-27.

Play in the tournament tomorrow night will feature Whiteface versus New Deal at 7:30 p. m. and Whitharral versus Roosevelt at 8:45 p. m.

Roosevelt won the game tonight from the defending champions by taking an early lead and not letting Cotton Center get ahead of them. Their guards, who turned in a topnotch performance, kept the opposing forwards under control most of the time.

In fact, it was the close guarding that made the difference in the two teams. Roosevelt held a slight 23-21 edge at the end of the first half and the score was still close at the end of the third quarter. Then Roosevelt turned on the pressure and won going away.

The game primarily was a duel of forwards, with Bertha Jones of Roosevelt outgunning Ruth Cannon. Miss Jones bagged 34 points for the winners, while Miss Cannon made 28 points for the losers.

The other three games also were close most of the way and afforded the overflow crowd of over 2,000 persons a good night of basketball. New Deal had to come from behind to lick Anton, which led 11-9 at the half. New Deal went into an 18-16 advantage at the end of the third period and drew away.

Marie Wales paced New Deal with 19 points and Brown led Anton with 10.

Durrett had 21 points and Hobbs had 19 for Whitharral in its victory over Spade. Greenwood, with 19, and Inklebarger, with 15, led the losers. Whitharral had a slender 20-18 margin at the half, increased it to 38-32 at the end of the third quarter and pulled farther ahead in the final canto.

Whiteface had trouble beating Amherst, too. They led 19-17 at the half, increased it to 27-21 at the third period mark and barely fought off the closing Amherst rush. Lewis had 16 points for the winners and Vaughn had 20 for the losers.

Boys Club Juniors Drop ASCE B Team, Seniors Win Tussle

Lubbock Boys Club Junior basketball team gained a 23 to 15 triumph over the American Society of Chemical Engineers B squad at the clubhouse Thursday afternoon.

Sammy Adams, Charles Rand and Allen Rosen paced the Juniors, with six points each. Vaughn Young led the ASCE Bs, with 11 tallies.

Boys Club Seniors nosed out the ASCE first team, 32 to 30, behind Jackie Cook's nine sinkers. Terry Moss led the ASCE, with 10 baskets.

Lubbock Favored Over Childress In Second Bi-District Tussle

Westerners Prep For Crucial Setto

The Lubbock Westerners went through their final workout Thursday in preparation for the basketball engagement at 8 o'clock tonight in Childress in the second bi-district game.

If Lubbock wins this game it will clinch the bi-district championship and put them in the state finals in Austin next week, March 3-5. If they lose, a third game will be played Saturday night at Chapman fieldhouse.

Most people think the Westerners will win going away tonight after winning the first tilt by an easy 39-23 margin Tuesday at Chapman fieldhouse. Coach Roy Morris called off the hounds after the regulars had run up a 28-6 halftime margin, and the B team almost held its own during the second half.

Wilson Sparks Lubbock

Lubbock's field goal average in the first half was 42.8 percent perfect, but this percentage was due largely to the great rebound work of Jim Wilson, who sank seven of the 12 goals attributed to the Westerners the first stanza. The rest of the boys were not hitting as well as they had in previous games, but with such excellent work off the backboards the misses were turned into scores a good deal of the time.

Childress didn't fair so well in Lubbock, its true, but some teams that find it hard to win on road trips snap back to play almost unbeatable basketball on their home court before partisan fans.

But a victory for the Bobcats would be quite a reversal of form. In the game here they were only able to make seven field goals the entire night, and it seems that even the law of averages was against them. They can be expected to play a better game, but a victory over the Westerners is probably too much for Bobcat supporters to hope.

Team Leaves Today

Coach Morris indicated yesterday that the team will leave at 12 noon today for Childress from Chapman field house. Special buses will leave the High school around 3:40 for students who want to make the trip and have $3 for a ticket.

Probable starters for Lubbock are Charles Galey and Jimmy Sexton at forward, Wilson at center, and Blair Hankins and Bob Rooker at the guard positions.

Opposing them for the Bobcats will be Joe Powell and Bill Woods at forward, R. D. Bradshaw at center, and Emile Farha and T. Jones at guard.

Morrison Takes Up Duties At Austin

SHERMAN, Feb. 24. (AP)—Ray Morrison arrived here today to take up his new duties as head football coach at little Austin college.

Morrison, who fathered "razzle-dazzle football," resigned as head coach at Temple university in Philadelphia to accept the Austin post.

He said here today that "I am very happy indeed to get back to Texas, its fine weather and hospitality."

He said he and his wife had been wanting to return to Texas "for quite some time."

He also revealed he had turned down a five-year contract to coach at Yale university because of his desire to return to Texas.

Cellar Clubs In National Loop Expected To Repeat 1948 Role

Davis J. Walsh discusses the National league "ceal cellar" in the following article, third in a series sizing up major league baseball teams for the 1949 pennant play. The four teams which held up the league last year, he says, will play the same role next season.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24—That was an assortment, indeed, of garish, piebald characters Little Alice ran into that time in the course of a long, intrepid journey into the land beyond the looking glass. But of course we like to keep it simple nowadays.

We get the same result, in fact, merely looking at the National league's second or sub-division, bailiwick of the "Bumsteads," where all is strictly mixed-grill. And selectivity isn't an art—it's a charade.

Have yourself, for instance, this platter of smorgasbord, left lying around with the clutter of cigar ends and stale beer from last year's finish:

Fifth place, New York Giants, 13½ games behind; sixth place, Phillies, 25½ games behind; seventh, Cincinnati Reds, 27 games back; eighth, Chicago Cubs, 27½ games away.

Here's what they seem to have done about it in the meantime:

The Giants, nothing. The Reds, very little. The Phillies, something. The Cubs, a lot.

In other words, the bad are getting better; the fairly good, worse. A sort of get-together trend, hitherto noticeable among stray dogs and people on the Bronx Express.

In this way, of course, they may reach a point where at least they're consistent—all being bad. For, if the Giants move at all this time, it won't be up; and the others have too far to come to be taken seriously in this connection.

Sure, it can be done. The Pirates did it only a year gao, but the Giants had to get out of fourth place before the Pirates could get in; and there's no evidence that this pair might be about to go into a reversal now.

In fact, the last time anybody looked, the Pirates were going up and the Giants down—the marginal difference being 5½ games.

Give the Cubs a break or two with their off-season "buys," and they'll climb fast—not far, maybe. A couple of brisk jumps, perhaps. But not any farther than the front of the second division, if that.

They were a strong "August" club in 1948, coming faster in the stretch than anybody in the league, with the exception of the champion Braves.

Oddly, they picked this moment to start making deals, which may and may not help them—in the past, they've been an outstanding "Patsy" for the pious horse-traders of the ball field. But at least this sterling faux pas went uncommitted:

They didn't "stand" on nothing.

Meantime, there might be a hidden "gimmick" in the likes of Harry Walker who, two years ago, won the league batting championship with .371.

They'd never find out, with Walker sitting on the Philadelphia

Double T Club Honors Raiders

Members of the Texas Tech football squad, champions of the Border Conference for two years in a row, were honored last night at a dinner given by the Double T club in the Hilton hotel.

Feature of the program that followed a buffet style dinner was presentation of a statuette of a man throwing a bull given to Coach Dell Morgan by the Double T club and friends of Tech. The inscription on the trophy front read: "To Dell Morgan, No. 1 Matador."

McElroy Was MC

D. M. McElroy, who made the presentation, served as master of ceremonies and proved a great success. McElroy's wit kept the gathering in laughter and the program flowed smoothly.

He introduced, first of all, L. J. "Lefty" Sollis, president of the Double T club, who expressed his gratitude for the help given the club by members of the Matador club and friends of Tech.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Tech president, spoke briefly, saying, "I'm proud of the football squad. You did a good job and I hear nothing but the best of you wherever my travels take me.

Double T men, from out of town were given a round of applause, after which John Case, a former distance runner who set track records at the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans, La., and the Ft. Worth Stock Show meet, was asked to stand.

Coach Morgan introduced the players on both varsity and freshmen squads, after which monetary awards were made to players who had accomplished various things during the grid season.

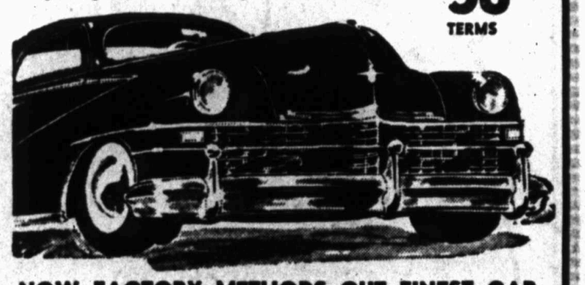

Tribute also was paid to Dr. J. William Davis, chairman of the athletic council, Tech yell leaders and the Saddle Tramps. And the festivities closed with the awarding of "special" awards to Elbert Johnson, Milton Rathbone, Zac Henderson, Dorrell McCurry, J. B. Mahler, Joe Wilson and Coach G. B. Morris. All were humorous.

Douglas Pacing Rio Grande Open

HARLINGEN, Feb. 24 (AP) — Dave Douglas, golf's thin man, rolled in with an eight under par 63 today to grab a two stroke lead in the first round of the $10,000 Rio Grande Valley Open.

The Wilmington, Del., professional played even more brilliantly than two weeks ago when he surprised everybody by winning the Texas Open at San Antonio.

Tied for second place were Al Smith of Winston Salem, N. C., Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill., and Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md., with 65's.

Exactly fifty players in the starting field of 134 that was cut to 124 at the finish by withdrawals bested par on the wind swept, 6095-yard layout. It required a three under par 68 to get into the top 20. Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., the favorite, had a 69; Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., last years' champion, wound up with a 71, and Jimmie Demaret of Ojai, Calif., who lost to Mangrum in a playoff here in 1948, had a 68.

Snead Virtually Out

Slammin' Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., virtually shot himself out of the tournament with a three over par 74.

Tony Holguin of Guadalahara, Mexico, the Mexican Open champion, had a 72, then was disqualified for posting the wrong score on a hole. He reported the rules violation himself.

Douglas was thoroughly satisfied with his second round which tied the competitive course record here. Last year Mangrum had a round of 63 to hang up the mark.

Douglas had only 72 putts for the 18 holes and showed eight one-putt greens. He went over par on No. 2, where he missed the green with his drive. His 31 on the back nine, a 36 par stretch, was something to behold.

There was a hole-in-one registered in today's round. It was made by Ed Richards of Logan, Utah., on the 175-yard No. 5 hole. He had a 34 on the first nine but shot a 41 on the back nine and wound up with a 75.

Six players tied for fifth place with 66's. They were Harold Oatman of Norfolk, Va.; Herman Keiser of St. Andrews, Ill.; Roy Munday of York, Penn.; Fred Haas jr., of New Orleans; Eric Monti of Santa Monica, Calif.; and Leland Gibson of Kansas City.

Palmer, who had a fine 33 on the first nine, found his putter going decidedly sour coming in. He was shooting good golf but the ball just wasn't falling for him.

"I never saw such tough luck," said E. J. Harrison of Little Rock, who played with Palmer and had a 67.

Top amateurs in the field were Jim Beardsley of Kingsville, Tex., and Skee Riegel of Tulsa, Okla., each with a 69.

George Earle, Syracuse University ski mentor, supervised instruction for the ski mountain troops when in the Army.

LAKEWOOD, WAYLAND TO CLASH

Two Dallas Teams Will Fly To Plainview For Exhibition Tilts

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 24 (Special) —Two Dallas teams will fly here Friday to play exhibition basketball games against the Wayland Pioneers in the College gym, Coach Harley Redin has just revealed.

They come from the Lakewood Baptist church in Dallas and will be flown here in the private DC-3 of Homer W. Snowden, Dallas oil man, who has promised the Wayland cagers a trip to Mexico in this same plane.

The tip-off in the first of the two exhibition games here is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. The senior team, which will play the Pioneer varsity team, boasts a record of ten wins and no losses for the season and will play for the Dallas city championship next week. During the season they have averaged fifty points per game against twenty-five points per game for their opponents.

Playing on the senior team will be Homer Dehoney, who also serves as coach for the athletic program sponsored by the Lakewood Baptist church. In his senior year at Vanderbilt university, Dehoney scored 250 points in 18 basketball games in the Southeastern conference.

The junior team will be pitted against the Pioneer B team and promises to give a fast and entertaining game.

The Lakewood Baptist church has pioneered in a realm of church recreation. During the past three years the church has sponsored softball and basketball teams having produced eight league champions and two city champions. The teams will be accompanied on the trip by their pastor, Dr. Luther Holcomb.

Bowie Downs Lamesa In Bi-District Tilt

LAMESA, Feb. 24 (Special) — Bowie of El Paso defeated Lamesa, 36-28, here tonight in the first game of the bi-district playoff. The second game will be played in Lamesa at 8 o'clock Friday night.

The District 4-AA representatives trailed at the first quarter, 5-6, but in the second period they came to the front and led Lamesa, 11-8, at the half.

During the third quarter the Lamesa defense proved incompttent against the long-shooting Bruins and they pushed their advantage to 23-15 going into the final frame.

Center Carlos Gardea led the Bruins scoring with 13 points, and Leon Blair had 10 for Lamesa. A capacity crown of 600 partisan fans saw the game.

Champs Upset In Houston Tourney

HOUSTON, Feb. 24. (AP) — Two champions were upset today in the first round of the thirty-first annual Houston Country Club Invitational Golf Tournament.

Knocked out of the championship flight were defending titlist, Ed White, and the Texas State Amateur champ, Dick McCreary, both of Houston.

White was defeated, 1-up in 19 holes by Joe Ruby, University of Texas golfer from San Antonio, while McCreary bowed to F. E. Ames, Beaumont, Tex., country club champion, 1-up.

Sharing the spotlight with the two upsets was the golfing of Frank Stranahan, Toledo, Ohio, amateur, who left the professional winter circuit to participate in the invitational.

Stranahan, winner of the tournament in 1947, was five under par on the 6056-yard, par 70, course as he defeated Roy Priest, Houston, 7 and 5.

The only other under-par score was collected by Earl Stewart, Longview, Texas, former national intercollegiate champion and medalist of the 1947 invitational. He was two-under in winning over Horace Young, Houston, 2 and 1.

Junius Hebert, Houston, who fired a two-under 68 for medalist honors yesterday, won from Ray Haddon, Harlingen, 3 and 2, but was two-over par.

Today's results included:

Championship flight:

Earl Stewart, Longview, defeated Horace Young, Houston, 2 and 1.

Leon Taylor, Tyler, defeated George Lewis, Jr., Houston 3 and 2.

Junius Hebert, Houston, defeated Ray Haddon, Harlingen, 3 and 2.

Bob Watson, Wichita Falls, defeated Joe Moore, Jr., San Antonio, 1-up in 19 holes.

Successful Home Stand Completed

Raiders Face H-SU Cowboys Saturday

Their home stand for the 1948-1949 basketball season concluded without a defeat, Texas Tech's Red Raiders face one remaining Border Conference court tilt.

That comes Saturday night at Abilene, when the tough Hardin-Simmons quintet attempts to hand the Raiders their fifth loss of the year. At the same time, Tech will be gunning for its twelfth Border loop win to keep alive a mathematical chance of gaining no worse than a tie for first place with Arizona.

The Raiders have been fighting a losing battle since early in the season, when Texas Mines slipped a narrow defeat on them at El Paso. That put them one game down to the Wildcats, who rolled along undefeated. In fact, it wasn't until the Arizona crew visited Canyon and Lubbock that they sustained lickings.

But Tech went on a disastrous Arizona tour and took three straight losses that almost ended whatever chances they had for a Border crown. Now they must get over the Cowboy hurdle Saturday night and pray that Arizona loses two more games.

The Raiders can finish no lower than second, the same position they occupied last year, with a chance still remaining that they could gain a tie. They played the type of ball Wednesday night against West Texas State Teachers college that indicated their true ability.

Against the Buffs the Raiders worked hard and played one of their best games of the year. They weren't making many bad passes, they were checking closely, they drove in for crip shots and they had a good percentage figure from the floor. If they continue like that against the Cowboys, they should win handily.

bench. Same thing with Frank Gustine who hit .297 that year with Pittsburgh. Likewise, knuckle-specialist Dutch Leonard, a non-winner whose earned-run average with the Phillies last year was a very niggardly 2.51.

Anyhow, the Cubs could afford to gamble. They'd just finished last with what they had.

The Giants, as said, are back again with what they had, which was far from enough, and getting visibly less. It's the same club they expected to win the pennant with three years ago. They just can't understand, in fact, why it doesn't.

The Reds hadn't much to begin with—and it isn't getting any better.

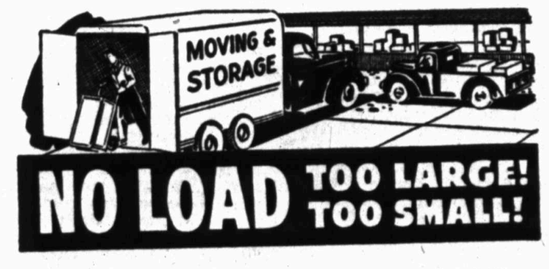

The Phillies helped themselves by picking up first baseman Ed Waitkus, a .295 hitter, in one of those Chicago dickers and left themselves in position to make another with Brooklyn. Even so, what's to be done with, and for, a '48 club like this (?):

Last in runs-batted-in. Last in club field. First in total errors.

President In Bitter Attack On Foes Of Legislative Program

special interests who are making excessive profits out of present shortages."

Policies Are Defended

"And the usual outcries about regimentation are now filling the air," he continued, adding:

"We must not let the selfish demands of special groups blind us to the common good. The success of every business enterprise depends upon the prosperity of the whole country.

"Your government is pledged to use all its resources to maintain the economic health of the country and to prevent depression. To do this means that government must act—wisely and judiciously—but it must act.

"A government able and willing to act in that interest of the whole economy is a better friend of free competitive enterprise than a do-nothing government ready to let the economy slide into a depression."

In his only reference to world affairs, the President said the great problem of the free western democracies is the "problem of boom and bust."

"The future of the world," he added, "depends upon our ability to master that problem. During the last 16 years, this country has made great progress toward finding the solution. This progress has been made over the protests of selfish and short-sighted people.

"We have not let them stop us in the past. We will not let them stop us now."

Campaign Of Confusion

The President said that "die-hard reactionaries" have started a "campaign of confusion" against all the administration's plans for the "welfare of the people."

"They say they are for extending and improving social security—but they call our proposals a bureaucratic system that will destroy the character of every American."

"They claim to be in favor of housing—but they say our low rent housing program is a mistake because it does too much for low-income families.

"They make speeches about the American home—but they encourage landlords to lock out their tenants until rent control is repealed.

"They say they are in favor of good wages—but they argue that the minimum wage should be held down to a starvation level.

"They claim to be in favor of developing our great river basins—but they raise the old cry of 'super state' against every practical program we propose."

The President assailed the Taft-Hartley law as "an insult to the working men and women of this country." He said that "they will not rest until it is destroyed." Mr. Truman declared:

"After the election, I thought we would have co-operation of our Republican friends in this effort.

"I felt sure that the Republican party would be anxious to throw the Taft-Hartley act overboard faster than the sailors got rid of Jonah. I am beginning to think that maybe I was wrong about that."

The president said that "no matter what the Republicans do . . . the Democratic party, in its platform, is solemnly committed to work for repeal of the Taft-Hartley act."

World's Best Hope

Referring to Thomas Jefferson's statement 148 years ago that the country then was in "the full tide of a successful experiment," Mr. Truman said:

"Today we are again in the full tide of a successful experiment—the experiment of achieving economic abundance and basic human rights in a society of free institutions and free men. Today this experiment is the world's best hope. Today it is the hope of a world confronted by greater dangers and greater possibilities for good than were dreamed of a century and a half ago."

In an informal, off-the-cuff talk at the Mayflower preceding his main address at the Statler, the President urged Democrats to stand firm on the party platform of 1948. He said "The people will be with us."

In rare good humor, he paid his respects to the "September and October Democrats," as well as to the "Monday, Tuesday" and even "Wednesday Democrats" of last year. He said he was glad to see them gathered together.

European Recovery

hew was "making a political speech supporting continuation of Britain's policy of nationalization."

Other developments at the President's news conference:

Mr. Truman said he was "immensely gratified over the news from Rhodes that the representatives of Egypt and Israel have signed an armistice agreement." He hoped for similar agreements between Israel and other Arab states and pledged U. S. help toward this end.

Bonus Discussed

He said he would anwser questions about a veterans' bonus when it came before him. The President recently told a delegation from the Veterans of Foreign Wars that there was a limit to which the government would go.

The President said he will send Congress in a few weeks a message detailing his program for national health insurance.

He expressed hope that James Bruce, ambassador to Argentina, will return to his post. Bruce, now in this country, has presented his resignation to the President.

Mr. Truman declared he wanted Congress to pass the reciprocal trade agreements bill by March 5. The tariff commission plans to announce tariff "floors" by that date, and the bill would make them effective stroy, and infect with the most terrible disease yet known to mankind.

"It is a disease from which there is no known cure. It is the disease of radiation."

Meanwhile, General Manager Carroll Wilson of the Atomic Energy commission told the congressional committee only 19 claims have been filed by workers injured by radioactivity. He called the number "an impressive safety record."

"Full Facts" Urged

Holifield insisted that the "full facts" in the report of the joint chiefs of staff who observed "the destructive effects of the bombs" at Bikini "be laid before the American public."

He remarked that Forrestal "has preferred not to worry us with the bothersome details."

Holifield said that if a comprehensive report is not forthcoming soon, "then I recommend that the Congress establish its own investigation into the reasons why this vital information was withheld." Holifield asserted:

"I believe the American public is entitled to know the amount of radiation released by the Bikini bombs.

"This will provide a key to determining possible damage to cities and other targets in the event of war . . .

"If Mr. Forrestal declines to answer this challenge, I charge the noted scientists who created this Frankenstein at the expense of the American people answer my challenge."

Holifield demanded that Forrestal tell "what the results would be of underwater explosions of atomic bombs at points off-shore and upwind" from populous cities and military installations.

He named as such localities New York, Chicago, Baltimore, Washington, Seattle, San Francisco, San Diego, Norfolk, Va., Honolulu and the Panama Canal Zone.

The Californian said the Navy is building a 65,000-ton carrier at a $124 million cost "in blitheful disregard of the fate of the target fleet at Bikini." He added that this fleet was "virtually wiped out by atomic explosion, fire and radiation."

GROUP TO DISCUSS RELEASE OF A-BOMB TEST REPORT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (INS)—Dr. Karl T. Compton will meet a committee of prominent business leaders and scientists tomorrow to discuss whether the release of the Bikini atomic bomb tests report is feasible.

Dr. Compton, chairman of the research and development board of the national military establishment, was directed to confer with the committee by Secretary of Defense James V. Forrestal.

The committee, headed by W. T. Holliday, president of Standard Oil company of Ohio, also will discuss Defense department policy regarding the release of information affecting the relationship between national defense and atomic warfare.

The committee requested the meeting in a telegram to the defense secretary.

The Sofia press published early this week purported confessions of Ziapkov, Ivanov and Chernev that they had worked as spies for Britons and Americans. A government booklet issued yesterday attributed a similar statement to Mihailov.

The 55-page booklet charged all 15 were members of a vast spy ring, deftly manipulated from abroad.

Claude H. O'Neill Promoted To Master Sergeant In Japan

HEADQUARTERS, FEAF, TOKYO. (Special) — Claude H. O'Neill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. O'Neill, 2415 Sixth street, Lubbock, was one of three enlisted men at Far East Air Forces headquarters to receive a promotion from technical sergeant to master sergeant recently.

Since arriving in Tokyo last July, Sgt. O'Neill has taken a trip home to see his family. When he was ready to return to Tokyo, his furlough was held up for a week to coincide with his wife's travel orders to Japan. Mrs. O'Neill is the former Miss Bettye Leftwick of Sedalia, Mo.

Sgt. O'Neill currently is assigned in FEAF headquarters as chief clerk of the enlisted men's branch, where he helps formulate policies, checks mail, and writes up endorsements. He entered military service in March, 1939, after being graduated from Eastland high school.

After attending the three required schools for glider personnel of the U. S. Air Force, Sgt. O'Neill was sent to North Africa for air combat, later to Sicily, and still later to England, Holland, Belgium and France.

He returned to the United States in June, 1945, and enrolled in the University of Missouri, where he studied for one year. He then re-enlisted in the Air Force and was sent to Japan. He is to return to the United States in March, 1950 for reassignment in the Air Force.

City Faces Problem

would provide for needs within the city and permit the annexation of many suburban areas.

The former Pampa manager, with just four days experience behind him in the Lubbock job, didn't duck. He was ready with some suggestions which, members of the commission agreed, offer promise.

No financial problem was presented by two of the three projects on which bids were opened.

One of these, involving about 11 miles of water mains ranging from 6 to 16 inches in diameter, was awarded to Cullum and Hodgson, of Lubbock, on a bid of $284,-682, the lowest of seven submitted. These extensions will expand the water distribution system greatly, the commission was informed by City Engineer R. L. Oldham.

To Study Pipe Setup

The award of a contract on another water system improvement—mains of 16 to 30 inches diameter—was delayed for other than financial reasons. Bidders were invited to submit proposals on two types of pipe—one known as "steel cylinder" consisting of a thin cylinder of steel coated thickly with concrete, and the other cast iron.

The three low bidders on the steel cylinder were City Construction Co., of Dallas, $217,222.55, F. S. Oldt, Dallas, $219,619.35, and Standard Construction Co., $221,-115.36. The three low on cast iron were S. G. Stockton, Amarillo, $251,762.95; Cullom & Hodgson, Lubbock, $267,960, and Panhandle Construction Co., Lubbock, $271,-679.

The city manager was asked to find out from the state fire insurance officials in Austin whether the type of pipe used would affect Lubbock insurance rates. An award of contract is expected to follow his report.

Money for the two water extension projects is available from the $2,313,000 in bonds voted for that purpose in December, 1947.

Paving Hits Small Delay

But a financial problem, not regarded as serious, did delay the award of a contract for 69 blocks on street paving on which bids were opened. Three low bidders on this project were Holland Page, Austin, $150,565; Kerr and Middleton, Lubbock, $157,768, and L. A. Purtell, Lubbock, $166,842.

The city doesn't have the money on hand to do this work. But the expectation is that a bank loan to pay the contractor can be arranged. Then, as property owners pay the city for their share of the cost of the new paving, the city will repay the bank.

In an entirely different financial category was the sewage disposal plant enlargement for which plans were submitted by H. N. Roberts & Associates, consulting engineers. The plans were approved on Oldham's recommendation. But the city doesn't have any money left from the $426,000 voted for sanitary sewage and disposal plant extensions in 1947 for this work.

Health Warning Given

Yet health authorities have given repeated warnings that the present plant must be enlarged to avoid a serious health hazard to Lubbock. The plant was built in about 1940 with a capacity sufficient for a city of 50,000 to 55,-000 people. The consensus then was that Lubbock's sewage disposal plant worries were over until around 1960.

With population estimates now ranging from 60,000 to 75,000, the plant often was taxed beyond capacity last summer. Unsightly sewage backed up through manholes upon street pavements, into yards and even into basements of homes attested the condition.

Work now is in progress on the first section of three additions to the plant recommended by Roberts. These, according to Mayor Rodgers, should avert during the coming summer conditions like those last year. But the completion of the entire plant expansion program, at an approximate total cost of $500,000, is an urgent necessity, he said.

To Make Suggestions

The bond issue of 1947 will pay for some of the work. But most of the bond money has been spent or allocated for extensions of sewage lines which have eased a critical condition in large areas of South and Southwest Lubbock and which will provide service for extensive sections of Northwest Lubbock which never have had it.

The city manager said he had several possibilities in mind, which might ease the city's financial problems. He added that he wants to study them, and the practicability of their application to Lubbock, before he undertakes to make definite recommendations.

But he offered a suggested policy which, he said, might be a practical means of extending the city limits and the provision of sewer and water for annexed areas. Under his plan, residents and others interested in the development of suburban areas would finance the laying of water and sewage pipe to serve their property. The city would reimburse them over a period of five to 10 years after the areas were brought inside the city limits. A similar plan has worked satisfactorily in Tyler, Matthews said.

Members of the commission made clear they have no intention of attempting to provide water and sewage for large areas of vacant property. Numerous promoters who are interested only in the sale of vacant lots at inflated prices have been told bluntly they cannot expect utilities unless and until they build. But the commission gave assurance of its desire to do everything within its power to provide conveniences for suburban homes and other structures which are erected.

Numerous other matters were on the agenda of the five-hour commission session.

City Attorney Vaughn Wilson reported that a claim to $20,461 had been presented on behalf of M. F. Cooper, 512 Ave. F, father of Carroll Cooper, 12, who was electrocuted when he came in contact with a fallen electric wire in the 300 block of Ave. H on Feb. 6.

R. Q. Stubbs transmitted a petition bearing several signatures opposing all extensions of the city limits until the city can guarantee utility services to everyone in the corporate limits.

A lease of approximately 850 acres of land, chiefly between runways, at municipal airport to Ernest Exum to be cultivated on a share-crop basis was given final approval. The city will receive one-third of any grain and one-fourth of any cotton grown on the land.

City Engineer Oldham was authorized to attend a meeting in Amarillo next Tuesday morning which will discuss proposed development of water resources on the Canadian river.

J. T. Talkington was awarded a contract to make an independent audit of city utility and other financial records. Such an audit is required annually by the city charter and, in this instance, will be a preliminary to a contemplated sale of about $2,300,000 of bonds voted in December, 1947, for electric, water and sewage expansions.

dent having authority to increase production to 250,000 annually or to cut it to 50,000.

2. A $1,500,000,000 slum clearance program to help localities in cleaning up blighted areas for redevelopment. Of the total $500,-000,000 would be in grants over a five year period and the remainder in loans which would not run more than 40 years.

3. A $262,500,000 four-year rural dwelling and building program to be handled under direction of the Secretary of Agriculture. Of this amount, $250,000,000 would be for loans and the remainder for grants.

The measure also would authorize the housing and home finance administrator to undertake a broad research program aimed at reducing building costs and speeding construction methods.

Maybank said the housing bill will be placed before the Senate as a bipartisan measure. It represents a compromise between administration and Republican proposals on several provisions. The main one concerns the public housing section on which the GOP proponents called for 600,000 units and the Democrats urged 1,050,000.

Chapel Presbyterian Church Men's Organization Meets

Twenty-eight men of Chapel Presbyterian church attended the monthly dinner meeting of the men's organization last night in Fellowship hall of the church.

Following the dinner, members heard a talk by Shelby Reed, president of men's work in the El Paso Presbytery. A sound movie on the Philippine Islands later was shown.

At a short business meeting, Charles Strain, president, presided.

Truman Stands Pat

(R-Mich), charged that the President is unfit to hold office because he publicly uttered the letters "S.O.B." but at the same time called on Mr. Truman to force Pearson off the air. Hoffman accused Pearson of "meanness, lack of decency, pursuit of a dollar, and sensationalism."

The White House news conference gave the press corps a chance to go to town on the incident and Mr. Truman co-operated wholeheartedly.

Shown Cartoon

He gave "S.O.B." more publicity than it has had since the spelled-out epithet used by the character in Owen Wister's "The Virginian" brought the grim response:

"Smile when you say that, stranger."

The "S.O.B." agenda got under way at the news conference when the President was shown a full-page cartoon in the Washington News, captioned "News!"

The drawing portrayed the President as an angry man taking a bite out of a howling dog which apparently had been snatched away from a convenient fireplug.

Too Many Initials Already

Mr. Truman studied the cartoon, laughed heartily, and observed:

Looks like he's taking a real big bite, doesn't it?

Also called to the President's attention was a deadpan editorial in the Washington Star, headed "Blankety blank, Mr. President!"

The Star observed that "our language is plagued with initials already" and took Mr. Truman to task for adding "SOB" to such government gobbledygook as ERP, ECA, BLS, WAA, IMF, UNO, and so forth.

The editorial suggested that by "S.O.B." Mr. Truman perhaps meant "Senate Office Building."

President Not Confused

The President said that if that was what the editorial writer thought he meant the Star man would just have to remain confused. A reporter piped:

"Who was confused, Mr. President?"

Mr. Truman rejoined that it was the editorial writer, not the President, who was confused about what "S.O.B." means.

At another point in the proceedings, Mr. Truman took a new crack at Pearson — and one at President Peron of Argentina, who, of course, Pearson doesn't like; hence the commentator's criticism of Vaughan. Observers thought this showed singular impartiality on the part of the Chief Executive in his choice of targets.

A reporter told the President that both Pearson and Peron had been mentioned as candidates for the Nobel peace prize and asked whether the United States had placed the names in nomination.

Mr. Truman replied that it could be stated categorically that neither Pearson nor Peron had been nominated for the Nobel prize by the United States government. Pausing for effect, he added:

They must have nominated themselves.

Pearson later issued this statement:

"Mr. Truman apparently reads my columns regarding Harry Vaughan but not regarding the Nobel peace prize. It so happens that I publicly urged this prize be given to Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil, former president of the United Nations Assembly and the best friend we have in Latin America."

Apparently Pearson was trying to make it clear that he did not nominate himself for the Nobel prize, as the President suggested.

Farm Theme Featured

The school's Vocational Agriculture department used as its theme in its exhibits, "The Farmer Feeds Them All." Livestock, including rabbits, hogs, and cattle, were shown in the patio of the school building. Journalism students with their sponsor, Mrs. Dick Cozby, worked on the pages for the 1949 "Westerner" yearbook, explaining techniques to onlookers as they worked.

Other departments featuring work included art, social studies, applied science, commercial, social studies, and athletic.

Probably as many as 700 people thronged through the building during the receiving hours.

A musical program in the auditorium opened the night's ceremonies. The high school A Cappella choir, directed by J. H. Penn, presented a number of songs, among them "Bless the Lord, O My Soul," "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho," "Onward Christian Soldiers," and "America the Beautiful."

The Westerner band, under direction of Paul Branom, presented "Amarylis," "Men of Ohio," "Claxeon," and "Three Trombonists."

Refreshments were served in the gymnasium by the P-TA.

Slaton Rotary Anns Feted At 'Laugh Fiesta' Dinner

Special guests at the gathering were Mr. and Mrs. Max Arrants, and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Stevens. Arrants and Stevens respectively are president and secretary of the Lions club.

Flood Menace Rises

to some Henderson county rural roads.

Floodwaters claimed at least one life. The body of W. F. A. Lenze, 24, of Houston was recovered from the Trinity river northwest of Palestine. He was a telephone line checker for the Gulf Oil Corp.

All highways except one were again open in the Del Rio area, where 5.24 inches of rain Tuesday and Wednesday caused a number of streams to go on flash rises. Travel over highway 90 east of Del Rio was expected to be resumed Friday after repairs were completed to a temporary passage over Sycamore creek.

Uvalde Area Hit

The Rio Grande at Eagle Pass reached 12.6 feet and was expected to go two or three feet higher.

Numerous streams in the Uvalde area also went on rampages. The weather man there said the 2.73-inch fall was the heaviest single downpour during February since 1877.

The U.S. Weather bureau indicated the rain was over for the time being for most of the state. It predicted partly cloudy skies for Friday. Cooler weather was in store for the Panhandle and South Plains.

Cold weather held firm last night in eastern Montana and the Dakotas, but drainage engineers agreed a fast thaw could produce widespread inundations.

Agencies Alerted

Water was high in the Missouri river northwest of Atchison, Kans., and the stream spread over its banks in parts of Montana, near its headwaters. R. A. Dightman of the Weather bureau's Helena station said flooding might become critical in the Montana reaches by Saturday if mild weather persists.

Meanwhile, at Kansas City, Mo., Red Cross, Army and federal agencies' representatives met to plan for a possible flood emergency if the Missouri rampages.

Verne Alexander, Kansas City regional weather bureau engineer, told the meeting that signs point to a potential flood this spring.

Ice jams in the Missouri and its tributaries held possible keys to flooding. Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, who heads the Fifth Army's road clearing operation in the snow-drifted North Plains, said he is still hopeful that the river's lower course will clear to afford a rapid run-off of melted snows.

General Pick said that operation snowbound probably will be ended by the end of this week except for clearance of newly drifted roads in North Dakota.

Lucinda Bemis, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bemis of Hub Homes, Thursday was treated at West Texas hospital after accidentally drinking a considerable quantity of bleaching compound from a bottle. Hospital attendants said she was dismissed from the hospital after she recovered satisfactorily.

Eighteen hours instruction in home nursing is being offered to a Red Cross class at Senior High school, with Mrs. Dorothy Everett Cotton, a floor supervisor at Lubbock Memorial hospital, as instructor. Mrs. Cotton, who began teaching the class last week, is offering instruction from 11 a. m. to 12 noon Tuesdays through Fridays, while Miss Gertrude Watson, homemaking teacher at the high school, is teaching the class on Mondays. Twenty-seven girls are enrolled for the course, which is to continue until about March 8.

A slight improvement was reported last night in the condition of Rev. Albert F. Laing, pastor of First Church of the Nazarene here, who is receiving treatment in Lubbock Memorial hospital after suffering a heart attack Tuesday. A hospital attendant said last night that his condition still is serious.

A request for construction costing an estimated $231,000 was presented by a Garza county delegation Thursday before the State Highway commission in Austin in one of 27 public hearings conducted by the commission. The Garza delegation asked for a bridge costing an estimated $121,000 across Double Mountain Fork of the Brazos river to close a gap in farm road 122. It also requested 13 miles of farm road, costing about $110,000, from Post southwest and west to the Lynn county line, the Associated Press reported.

PEOPLE ARE DISILLUSIONED

Once Friendly China Is Bitterly Opposed To U.S., Observer Says

NEW YORK, Feb. 24. (INS)—A veteran American observer in China reported tonight that the traditional Chinese goodwill toward the United States has turned to bitter opposition.

The change is described by Dr. Dorothy Borg, author, correspondent for the magazine Far Eastern Survey and research associate for the American Institute of Pacific Relations. Dr. Borg said in the magazine that a study of Chinese periodicals shows:

Since the end of world war II there has been a "profound change" in attitudes in nationalist China toward the U. S.

U. S. Policy Opposed

"Whether they are for or against the Nationalist government, most Chinese concerned with political issues have become bitterly opposed to American policy."

Dr. Borg noted that Chinese goodwill toward the U. S. "Has long been recognized as an asset of American foreign policy" and that this country "has traditionally upheld the integrity of China."

The change to bitter opposition, has come, Dr. Borg added, as the result of major developments of U. S. foreign policy—the Marshall mission, the Wedemeyer mission, the China aid appropriations and the trend toward rebuilding Japan's economy.

All Factions Blame U. S.

She said the "liberals" have held us responsible for prolonging the civil war; the "conservatives" have charged us with offering insufficient aid and delusive promises.

The Chinese reactions, Dr. Borg explained, have been expressed in such terms as these:

"The Chinese people will never forget that it was the American people who maintained and expanded the civil war. The United States now has no regards for good faith.

"The American public has long since ceased to look upon the Chinese as spiritual equals."

Liberals Disillusioned

"It is believed," Dr. Borg writes, "that after the war the Chinese liberals were the first to look to the United States for assistance and the first to turn away with a feeling of almost violent disillusionment.

"This change took place during the Marshall mission." Dr. Borg said that when Gen. George Marshall first went to China he dispelled existing ill will toward the U. S. but when he returned to China in April, 1946, after a visit to Washington the attitude changed to the worse. She added:

"The belief became widespread that . . . the State department had decided to adopt a policy in China . . . to strengthen the Nanking government as a defense against Russia."

Indonesian Resistance Noted

In another article in the current Far Eastern Survey, George Kahin reported that, far from collapsing, the Republican resistance to Dutch occupation in Indonesia has reached an "unprecedented pitch."

He said that there have been heavy counter-attacks by the Republicans in and near the main urban areas of Java and the Republic's crack divisions have been regrouped.

"The Dutch," he said, "had counted on securing the collaboration of a large number of Republican leaders once they had occupied Jogjakarta (the Republican capital). Their expectations have totally miscarried."

Dallas Thieves Steal 548 Cases Of Aspirin Valued At $46,000

DALLAS, Feb. 24. (INS)—Do Thieves have headaches? Some Dallas burglars took every precaution to avoid them last week.

M. T. Bowman, manager of a Dallas wholesale drug company, lost more than $46 thousand worth of aspirin in a robbery.

The robbers took 548 cases of aspirin— but left 862 other cases, presumably for the owner's benefit.

Judge Davidson Hits Rent Curbs

FORT WORTH, Feb. 24. (U.P.)—A federal judge today vigorously condemned rent control laws, declaring congressmen who pass them would repeal them if they had to sit and "hear these cases."

The denunciation came from Judge T. Whitfield Davidson during a U. S. district court hearing here.

Government housing attorneys were told by Judge Davidson that "the trouble with you OPA fellows is that you're always after some widow or old woman with two or three houses."

(Rent cases are handled by attorneys for the Office of The Housing Expediter, but Judge Davidson has previously referred to them as "OPA attorneys.")

"I've just listened to an old woman 80 years old who came up here and said the OPA was after her," the judge said.

Lowell D. Gibbons, government housing attorney from Dallas, interrupted at this point to say he thought the judge was mistaken about widows and old women.

The judge replied that "two-thirds of the people coming before this court in these cases are widows and old women with two or three small houses."

During the hearing, two Fort Worth landlords agreed to hold up any mass evictions of tenants until after trial of a civil suit in which they are accused of overcharging tenants $13,883.

They are Robert E. Steagal and his father, Pirl Steagal.

"If congressmen who pass those rent laws had to sit in place of the judges and hear these cases, they'd repeal them," the judge said.

Judge Davidson refused a request by government housing attorneys for an immediate injunction to restrain the Steagalls from carrying out their mass eviction threats. Instead, the granting of an injunction is to be considered at the same time as the suit on the overcharges.

PLAYMATE
Family's Pet Skunk Likes His Tobacco

DALLAS, Feb. 24 (INS)—The Virgil Dulaneys of Dallas have several pets, but one of them especially is nothing to be sniffed at.

It is a pet skunk that chews tobacco and eats a breakfast of scrambled eggs with a hot-tempered parrot—a bubble gum fan.

The skunk and parrot are a recent addition to the other Dulaney pets—a black cat, three parakeets and seven canaries.

What happens when the skunk grows excited? Well, the Dulaneys say that since her "operation," the skunk tosses out a scent smelling like lilacs.

That's what the owners of little "Lilac" claim. Reporters didn't excite her.

Jester Warns Of Black Fly Threat

BROWNSVILLE, Feb. 24. (AP)—Gov. Beauford Jester said here today that the threat of the black fly (mosca prieta) is as great to Texas as the hoof and mouth disease.

The black fly is attacking vast citrus orchards in north Mexico, especially along the Pan American highway, and in Veracruz state.

Valley citrus growers fear the disease may spread into Texas orchards near the Mexico border.

The foot and mouth disease presents a similar problem to Texas cattlemen. The disease, now concentrated in Mexico, could reach the U. S. side of the Rio Grande.

Governor Jester is here to attend "Charro Days" celebration, in which residents of Brownsville and Matamoros, Mexico, take part.

The governor has endorsed a $40,000 state emergency appropriation to help in the prevention fight against spread of the black fly.

The fire was extinguished before any damage was done.

'ARCHAIC' SYSTEM ASSAILED
Hoover Survey Advises Change In U. S. Budget, Financial Set-Up

By JAMES C. AUSTIN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24—The Hoover commission advised Congress today to get rid of the government's archaic, inadequate and patchwork financial system and set up new budgeting and accounting procedures.

In asking an end to fiscal policies which have "come down from Alexander Hamilton," the commission recommendations boiled down to these:

1. A "performance budget" be established, based upon functions, activities and projects to be done. It would replace the present federal budget system which emphasizes personnel services, supplies and equipment with no uniformity and sometimes without identification.

New Office Suggested

2. An accountant general be created under the secretary of treasury. He would have authority to prescribe general accounting methods and enforce procedures, subject to the approval of the comptroller general. This would replace the present divided system of accounting whereby fiscal accounts are handled by the Treasury department and administrative accounts are in the province of the comptroller general, and his general accounting office.

The commission's report on "budgeting and accounting" is its seventh to Congress on streamlining the executive branch of the government. It said the government's financial concepts were archaic when the United States spent $4,000,000,000 per year. Now, with a government which expends over $40,000,000,000 per year, "they are totally inadequate," the commission said.

Budget Called Inadequate

It characterized the present federal budget as "an inadequate document, poorly organized and improperly designed to serve its major purpose, which is to present an understandable and workable financial plan for the expenditures of the government."

In criticizing the present method of presenting the federal budget, the commission cited the case of the Naval hospital at Bethesda, Md. It said the hospital receives its allotments from 12 different Navy appropriation titles.

It is said there is no one title in the present budget where the total cost of operating a Navy hospital is shown. Under the proposed system, it would be and costs could be compared easily with previous years.

Survey Recommended

The commission's survey found the present appropriation structure to be a "patchwork affair . . . following no rational pattern." It recommended to Congress "that a complete survey of the appropriation structure should be undertaken without delay."

The commission said that at present there is confusion in federal budgeting and accounting because current expenditures and outlays for long term projects are intermingled. It recommended that budget estimates should be divided into these separate categories. It said also that the President—instead of the budget bureau—should have the authority to reduce expenditures under appropriations, provided the purposes intended by Congress still are carried out.

11,874 Enrollment Seen In Spring Term At University Of Houston

HOUSTON, Feb. 24. (U.P.)—The spring term at the University of Houston will find 11,847 students, a record enrollment, crowding the campus Terrel Spencer, registrar, revealed today.

The total, including 6609 ex-servicemen, is some 500 over the enrollment for the fall term, Spencer said.

SAYS SHE LOVED GERMAN

'Axis Sally' Admits Broadcasts But Denies Betrayal Of U. S.

By EARLE MARCKRES
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. — "Axis Sally" admitted at her treason trial today that she made wartime Nazi propaganda broadcasts for the man she loved, but declared that "not at any time" did she intend to betray the United States.

Sally—American-born Mildred E. Gillars—told the jury she was "prevailed upon" to participate in Hitler's psychological warfare against the U. S. by German Prof. Otto Koischwitz, who died in 1944.

Dramatically, she testified: "I loved him."

Denies Betrayal Planned

Asked whether the professor had "ever exerted an influence" on her life, the one-time actress almost whispered:

"I consider Professor Koischwitz to have been my destiny.

"I believe that without Koischwitz in my life I would not be fighting for my life today."

At the close of her second day on the stand, Miss Gillars was asked:

"Did you ever intend to betray the United States?"

Miss Gillars responded: "Not at any time."

"Sally," facing a possible death sentence if found guilty, has been charged with betraying her own country by helping the Germans in their radio offensives aimed at collapsing American morale.

The 48-year-old Miss Gillars told of her friendship with Koischwitz under questioning by Defense Attorney James J. Laughlin.

She declared that although she broadcast anti-British, anti-Russian, anti-Roosevelt and anti-Jewish propaganda for the Nazis, she resisted every effort to get her to jeopardize the security of the United States.

Miss Gillars testified that on her frequent visit to Americans in prison camps she only was attempting "to be of some service to people in my own country." She said she wanted to improve relations between the German guards and American prisoners.

On those journeys, on which Koischwitz accompanied her, "Sally" recorded the voices of American GI's for use on her programs shortwaved to the U. S. by the Nazi radio.

Miss Gillars testified that after her first visit to a prison camp the Nazi foreign office complained that she failed to ask military questions of the American captives.

SMU Mixed Choir Schedules Appearance In Lubbock On Annual Concert Tour In March

DALLAS, Feb. 24—(Special)—The Southern Methodist university mixed choir will make a one-week tour of West Texas and New Mexico cities from March 19-26.

Included on the choir's itinerary is an appearance at Lubbock.

Two students from Lubbock are members of the 38-voice choir.

They are Robert E. Hays, jr., 2420 Broadway, and Carey G. May, 2121 Eighteenth street.

An annual event, the tour will lead the group to at least 14 towns in the two states. Those in Texas are Childress, Pampa, Amarillo, Plainview, Lubbock, Littlefield, Muleshoe, Odessa, Dallas, and possibly San Angelo and Brownwood.

New Mexico towns on the itinerary are Clovis, Roswell, and Carlsbad.

Composed of 16 men and 22 women, the choir is directed by Bernhardt Tiede, assistant professor of voice in the SMU School of Music.

May, a sophomore, is majoring in music. Before coming to SMU, he attended Kemper Military school and Texas Technological college.

A junior, Hays is majoring in psychology. Besides his musical interests, he is active in religious and dramatic groups on the campus.

Tech Architecture Students Are Honored In Contest

Thirteen architecture students at Texas Tech have received honorable mention in a contest on elementary school and kindergarden designing that was held by the Beaux-Arts Institute of Design of New York.

Aubrey Ferguson, Byron Martin, Billy Burns, Charles H. Kelley, Howard Schmidt, Joe Griffin, Talmadge DeWitt, Mary Alice Spurlin, George LaRoe, and Ridjell Lee all of Lubbock; and J. F. Strickland, Ropesville; Donald G. Bailey, Greyback; and Richard H. Gibson, Dallas, have been judged by the jury of professional architects of the Institution as being among the top group of the 357 drawings that were entered in the contest.

They competed with students from all over the nation. Such colleges and universities as Notre Dame, Yale, Harvard, Princeton, University of Oklahoma, University of Illinois, University of Havana, Cuba, Rice Institute and the University of Toronto, Canada were represented in the judging.

There were 26 students at Tech who sent in drawings. All of them were fourth year architecture majors. Last year the department of Architecture at Tech was awarded a medal by the institute for showing the most progress in the teaching of Architecture.

NATION HAS AMPLE ARMY

Chinese Claim U. S. Aid Still Could Turn Back Red Forces

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Feb. 24—The passing show:

All those in favor of applying a hairbrush to Margaret O'Brien please line up to the left.

Prominent Chinese I know said the other day he has proof that the multi-million dollar U.S. arms shipment to the national government late last year was "sabotaged by delays." Not much of the stuff arrived in time to be used against the Chinese Reds.

He agrees with Gen. Chennault, former head of the Flying Tigers, that the Reds will attempt to cross the Yangtze sometime next month. But he doesn't think they can do it if a modest bit of additional military aid is sent to the Chinese government forces. He said:

"There have been no great depleting battles in our war. Our forces are mostly intact, though badly equipped. The Chinese Red armies are poorly led and could be easily turned back, when they attempt to move into southern China."

If China falls, he added, Mao will be no Tito. "Mao heads a thoroughly indoctrinated, loyal-to-Moscow Communist party movement nearly 30 years old. He will never vary from the line."

My friend grows annoyed whenever he reads in a U.S. paper that China has been hopelessly divided for centuries. "We were a united country two centuries before the birth of Christ," he said. "We have been united throughout a good two thirds of our history."

As for the future of China he believes that if the Reds are beaten China should go socialistic: "The only great progress we have made in recent years was in government railroading, government banking and government steel and munitions. Many countries do not need socialism, and yours is one of them. China does."

Life More Important

The announcement that Lloyd Paul Stryker will defend Alger Hiss, the brilliant young ex-State department official indicted on perjury charges by a federal grand jury probing Communist espionage, recalls that the distinguished attorney took part in one of the last great national trials — the Jimmy Hines case.

I asked recently, "whatever became of interesting trials?" The answer is that the war cheapened individual life and brought home to all of us—including editors—the enormity of the vaster questions of genocide, international relations, conspiracy and the like.

The cynical butchering, via sashweight, of a sleeping magazine editor by his ever-loving frau and her lover could no longer hold the public's attention. Nor could the exposure of a politician, unless he was a top man whose depravity reached beyond the borders of his state.

The trial of the immediate future, I think, will be considered momentous only if it involves huge implications that touch all of us, however slightly. The pattern was set, perhaps, in the unprecedented trials of such German leaders as did not do away with themselves. The Hiss trial probably will be in the mood of that future.

Costly Use of Language

Spanish has been added to the list of "working languages" at UN, and the annual cost of translation of UN speeches into that flowing tongue will come to $2,000,000.

Its acceptance to a list which previously was confined to the English and French tongues has caused Russian and Chinese delegates to the world federation to renew their demands that their languages, too, must be made official. At present, only condensations of UN activities are recorded —some time later — in both Russian and Chinese.

Babel-on-Flushing-Bay becomes more of a reality by the hour. One or two of UN's meeting rooms are equipped with a remarkable short-wave radio which enables wearers of earphones to listen to, say, a sonorous Saudi Arabian speaker being interpreted in English, French, Spanish, Chinese and Russian.

But beyond those rooms, a man must await the tedious translations into the language he knows—one of the reasons, beyond the veto, why UN has been unable to make the strides we all believed and hoped it would.

Any effort to choose one national language as the sole official tongue will be crushed. Gromyko, for instance, could speak better English than many of the people of this country, but would speak only in Russian—because to dip to any other tongue, he felt, would be a reflection on Moscow and an unwarranted kow-tow to the U.S.

Why not Esperanto? It is tied to no land—not even Graustark—and could be mastered by every UN delegate and the hovering reporters in a few short months. It is, as we say knowingly in our set, "La' neutralecom denlahlingvo."

Olney Halts Water Imports As Rains, Snow Raise Lake Level

OLNEY, Feb. 24. (U.P.)—This city's water crisis came to an official end this week.

Import of water by tank cars has stopped and the Olney lake is once again being used as a municipal source. B. D. Robertson, city water superintendent, said rains and snow had driven the lake up to a level assuring "20 to 25 days of safety."

The ultimate effects of this week's rainfall was yet to be felt, but it would further help the situation. The provident precipitation had not eased strict rationing regulations. These are still in effect, and Robertson said the citizens' response was gratifying.

Dickinson Motor Company To Place Latest Dodge Models On Display Today; Improvements Cited

First public showing of the new 1949 Dodge will be staged today by Dickinson Motor company, 1413 Ave. J, along with 4,000 other dealers over the nation.

New exterior styling, greater interior roominess, and a new, higher 7.0 to 1 compression "get-away" engine, feature the new Dodge cars, which this year are being manufactured on two wheelbases.

The new Coronet and Meadowbrook models on a 123½-inch wheelbase, a four-inch increase, replace the former custom and deluxe cars. A wholly new addition to the Dodge line is the lower-priced Wayfarer on a wheelbase of 115 inches.

The new cars are designed from inside and out to provide more head room, leg room and elbow room. The new models are lower in height, shorter in overall length and narrower in overall width in comparison with previous models.

In the Coronet and Meadowbrook models, front seats are six inches wider and rear seats nearly eight inches wider. Dodge "knee-level" seats have been retained and head room is now the same for both front and rear seat passengers. In relation to the rear axle, seats have been moved forward to further improve Dodge's well-known "cradled ride." The new stationary footrest for rear seat passengers is scientifically placed for proper support and rear seat leg room is unaffected by the five inch travel adjustment of front seat.

Important factors in effecting additional spaciousness in the front seat area are movement of the instrument panel a full four inches further forward and location of bulky parts of the new Dodge fresh air heating and ventilating system under the engine hood.

New Low Silhouette

Dodge's functional design has resulted in an attractive exterior style with graceful body and fender lines and a new low silhouette. Fender units are bolted on and, if necessary, can be quickly and easily replaced at minimum inconvenience and at least cost. Front and rear doors swing wider, opening almost a full 90 degrees, to make it easy to enter or leave the new Dodge. Rear doors of sedan models are hinged on the center post further contributing to ease of entry as well as providing an important safety factor.

The front end of the new Dodge is highlighted by the massive chrome finished grille of simplified design which is easy to keep clean. Headlights are spaced 51½ inches further apart and are 3¼ inches higher than previous models. This, together with improved sealed beam headlight units, assures better road illumination for safer night driving.

A distinctive rear end styling resulting from the natural blending of body and rear fender lines, helps to accentuate Dodge's new low silhouette. Deck lid lock, stop light and license light are combined in one attractive chrome unit. New plastic lenses of superior optical properties are used in all rear lights for greater brilliancy and better protection from the rear.

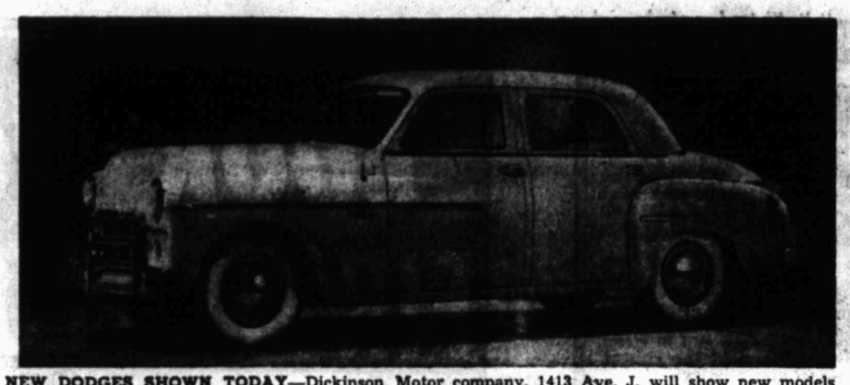

All Dodge models have larger windshields and rear windows with the windshield area being increased 24%. Better driver vision is provided by new hood contours and higher seats. Vent wings with new tamper-proof locks have been added to rear door windows for better rear seat ventilation.

Engine Improvements

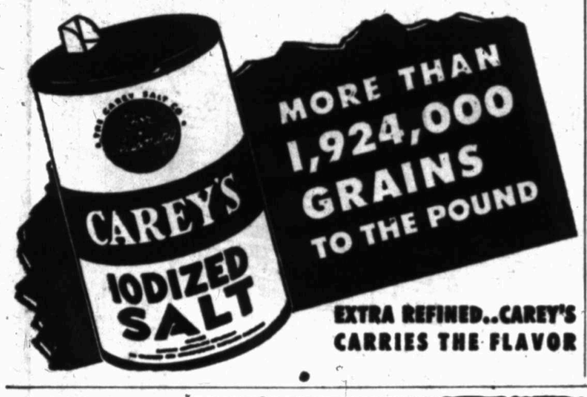

In keeping with the Dodge tradition of powering its cars with a dependable and economical engine, the Dodge "Get-Away" engine lists a number of improvements. Faster acceleration and better idling and low-speed performance are obtained by a higher 7.0 to 1 compression ratio and a new carburetor, intake manifold, camshaft, fuel pump and generator.

All models continue to feature the famous Dodge fluid drive as a standard equipment. In addition, there is a new Gyro-Matic transmission which frees the driver from gear shifting. It will be available as optional equipment on Coronet models.

The Coronet and Meadowbrook lines include three four-door sedan models, a club coupe, a convertible, an 8-passenger sedan and, for the first time in a number of years, Dodge will have a station wagon. The Wayfarer line will include a two-door sedan, a 3-passenger coupe and a new roadster which is scheduled for later production.

NEW DODGES SHOWN TODAY—Dickinson Motor company, 1413 Ave. J, will show new models of the 1949 Dodge today. Pictured above is the completely new and distinctive functional-styled Dodge Coronet with a lower silhouette and graceful body and fender lines. Interior overall length, width, and height have been increased although exterior dimensions have been reduced.

Scientist Says Salt On Walks In Winter May Damage Lawns

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 24. (U.P.)—A winter safety precaution can ruin summer lawns, a University of Wisconsin plant scientist warns.

"Brine used to get rid of ice on walks will kill many kinds of plants if the salt drains on the lawns," R. E. Vaughan said.

The pathologist suggests the use of only enough salt to make walking safe and the provision of proper drains to allow salt water to flow into gutters or roadways.

UN SEEKS PERMANENT PEACE FOR HOLY LAND

Arab Nations Prepare To Talk Peace Terms With Israel As Jews, Egyptians Complete Armistice

RHODES, Feb. 24. (AP)—Much of the Arab Middle East prepared tonight to talk armistice terms with Israel, now that Egypt has shown the way by coming to an agreement with the young Jewish state.

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, acting United Nations mediator, said a complete stacking of arms in Palestine is in sight. U. N. officials already are engaged in preliminary work for permanent Holy Land peace.

The Egyptian-Israeli armistice was signed here today after 42 tedious days of negotiations. The talks reached a successful conclusion despite repeated deadlocks.

Other Agreements Seen

The agreement was the first Israel has reached with the seven Arab nations which set out nine months ago to destroy her.

Talks with Trans-Jordan, Israel's most formidable foe, will begin here Monday. Armistice arrangements between Israel and Lebanon are expected to be concluded soon.

Iraq has announced that she will approve whatever agreements are reached by the Arab states bordering Palestine. Trans-Jordan will speak for her. Saudi Arabia and Yemen did not take an active part in the war against Israel and a formal armistice may not be needed in their case. The attitude of Syria may be announced soon.

Once there has been a complete sheathing of weapons, Bunche said, the emphasis will be placed on securing a "peaceful settlement of all outstanding questions—political, territorial and economic—between Israel and her Arab neighbors."

Armistice Is Hailed

From Cairo and Tel Aviv came further comment:

Israeli Foreign Minister Mashe Shertok told a news conference in Tel Aviv the armistice would prove to be a "momentous event in the life of the Middle East."

He paid tribute to "the realism and courage" of the Egyptian monarchyand government for making the agreement possible and said the "entire Middle East will soon become aware of its indebtedness to Egypt for having taken a new course."

In Cairo, Premier Abdel Hadi Pasha was quick to point out to newsmen that the agreement was on "purely military questions" and did not deal with the political future of the Holy Land.

Actually the armistice is an immediate step between the U. N. ordered truce which ended the shooting and a permanent peace.

ISRAEL RENEWS REQUEST FOR MEMBERSHIP IN UN

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 24. (INS)—Israel called on the United Nations today for renewed consideration of the U. N. membership application defeated last December.

The request was made to Secretary General Trygve Lie in a letter presented to him at 7 p. m. by Aubrey S. Eban, Israel representative at the U. N.

Renewed Consideration Asked

The letter asks for renewed consideration of the application by the Security Council "to the end that the General Assembly be enabled to take a decision at its resumed session in April."

The successful conclusion of an armistice between Israel and Egypt left no doubt at Lake Success that Israel will become the fifty-ninth member of U. N. A veto in the Security Council is not foreshadowed, and the number of governments which already have recognized the infant state assure the necessary two-thirds vote in the assembly.

Israel's first application to the Security Council failed when on Dec. 17 in Paris five of the eleven delegates voted in favor and five abstained.

Dairy Representative Killed In Car, Lumber Truck Crash

TERRELL, Feb. 24. (AP)—Benjamin Franklin Williams, 49, Decatur, field man for Tennessee Dairies, Dallas, was instanly killed today in a two-car collision one mile east of here near City Lake.

State patrolman Dewey Latham said Williams' car and a trailer truck loaded with lumber were involved.

H. A. Horton, Springtown, riding with Williams, was slightly injured. The driver of the truck, Glenn Edwin Foultch, Arlington, was unhurt.

'Goon Squad' Tactics Hit By NLRB In Blast At Union

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—"Goon Squad" tactics, exploited to intimidate non-strikers in a labor dispute, were condemned by the National Labor Relations board today in a decision against the CIO-United Furniture workers.

The board found the union guilty of seven unfair labor practices arising from picket-line violence in a strike at the Smith Cabinet Manufacturing Co., Salem, Ind., which began Sept. 4, 1947. The trouble was finally quieted and the plant re-opened after the company secured a court injunction.

Fort Worth Police Unable To Reach Suspect With Measles

FORT WORTH, Feb. 24. (U.P.)—The law was stopped by measles today.

Fort Worth police questioned two youths, 13 and 16, in connection with nine burglaries during the past year, and the pair implicated two others.

One of the others is quarantined with measles.

HOUSE MAY DELAY ACTION

Plans For Holding Hearings On Gilmer-Aikin Bills Up In Air

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Feb. 24 — Plans for holding a public hearing on the controversial Gilmer-Aikin public school bills in the House were up in the air today.

Rep. Rae Files Still of Waxahachie, chairman of the House Education committee, said no public hearing would be held on any of the Senate-passed measures until next week.

Full Study Urged

There has been speculation that this might be to let the fight cool for a while, or to line up additional support. Mrs. Still, who will lead the pro-Gilmer-Aikin forces in the House, had this comment:

"It isn't a matter of cooling. We do want to give the people all over the state opportunity to make a full study of what the bills do."

She said also that many school people will be out of the state next week to attend a national meeting and it would not be in order to have a public hearing under those circumstances.

Meanwhile, backers and knockers of the school bills exchanged a new series of licks. Commenting on a report that House opponents were considering a compromise, State School Superintendent L. A. Woods said he would not retreat from his position to the pending school bills.

"My Democracy is not for sale or trade," said Woods. "There is a principle involved that can not be compromised."

Proponents to the school bills insisted the first two measures as passed by the Senate were not weakened by amendments, and that the 27 to 2 vote by which the Senate passed the minimum foundation bill would give it a boost in the House.

Rep. W. R. Chambers of May, who will spearhead House opposition to the plan, said he did not think either side was in a mood to compromise.

Mrs. Still said Senate amendments had not materially changed the minimum foundation measure approved yesterday in the Senate.

Woods—whose job would be abolished if the Gilmer-Aikin bills are finally passed by the legislature — issued a written statement detailing additional points of his opposition.

Even if the "most notoriously bad features" of the recommendations are eliminated, he said, the pending bills would:

1. Close scores of small schools in sparsely-settled areas; 2. Cut short the terms of numerous others; 3. Penalize schools in the areas of the supply of migrant farm workers; 4. Force great raises in the local tax of numerous districts which now meet the requirements for equilization aid.

Escaped Monkey Ends Spree In Custody Of San Antonio Police

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 24. (INS)—Every one has to get away from it all once in a while—even monkeys.

A pet monkey owned by Homer Thorp of San Antonio recently broke his small chain when a group of boys teased him.

The animal tore down a board fence and tossed the boards around; jumped on the back of a woman and began pulling her hair; and was casually hanging from a tree by his tail when police found him.

Worried Musician Continues Piece As Piano Falls Apart

OTTAWA, Feb. 24. (U.P.)—Antonio De Raco, Argentine pianist, went triumphantly into the last number of his concert with the Ottawa Philharmonic orchestra last night, pounding the keys in a heavy part of a Chopin concerto.

Then he heard a strange sound. It didn't come from the orchestra, and it didn't come from his keyboard. He looked down and found a piece of wood had dropped from the pedals and clattered onto the floor.

De Raco shifted uneasily. But he played on.

Another piece of wood fell. De Raco refrained from going to pieces while his piano did. He left the pedals alone and finished the number.

Then he looked helplessly at the wreckage, arose with dignity, and left.

The audience called for encores. There were none. De Raco was gone.

Bell Telephone System Lists Total Assets At Over $10 Billion

NEW YORK, Feb. 24. (U.P.)—Total assets of the Bell system increased to $10,000,683,026 at the close of 1948—a figure never before approached by any private enterprise — from $8,772,377,290 12 months earlier, Leroy A. Wilson, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, told stockholders in his annual report today.

In the decade that ended with Dec. 31, 1948—a 10-year span that included the second World War and an unprecedented rise in U. S. prosperity—assets of the Bell system have risen $4,881,620,111 from the $5,119,062,915 reported on Dec. 31, 1938.

Bell system companies, Wilson informed shareholders, "will contest . . . to the limit of their ability" the government's anti-trust suit which seeks separation of the Western Electric company from the system. "They believe," he added, "the charges are without foundation and that they are not violating any of the anti-trust laws."

Sanders Heads Newly Organized Lorenzo Cemetery Association

LORENZO, Feb. 24. (Special)—Seeking a means for perpetual care of the Lorenzo cemetery, and broadcasting an appeal for financial aid by anyone interested, the Lorenzo Cemetery association has been organized, with A. J. Sanders as president, and Mrs. R. C. Jones as secretary.

The association is sponsored by the Home Demonstration club, local churches, and the City of Lorenzo, and appeals are being issued not only for contributing members, but for information concerning unmarked graves.

New water lines have been placed in both old and new portions of the cemetery, main driveways have been surfaced, and a caretaker has been employed who will look after graves, trees and shrubs.

Mrs. Jones announced that contributions are deposited in the Lorenzo bank, subject to use as needed. She asked that contributions be sent to the Lorenzo Cemetery association.

Directors of the association are E. C. Bryant, Mrs. T. H. Hendrix, jr., Mrs. H. B. Chastain, Mrs. Earl Roberson, T. G. Hendrix, jr, Mrs R. L. Bowman, E. S. Smith, and Arthur Isom.

Court Upholds Ruling Against A-P Tea Co.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24 (AP)—The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals today unanimously upheld the conviction of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. and 24 officers and subsidiary companies on anti-trust charges.

The three-judge court held that the huge A. & P. food chain and its officers and subsidiaries had conspired to restrain and monopolize trade in violations of sections one and two of the Sherman anti-trust act.

The 18-page opinion was written by Judge Sherman Minton. The case originally was heard in Danville, Ill., in 1946. Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley of Danville fined the defendants a total of $175,000 after hearing 22 weeks of technical testimony on A. & P. operations.

The decision was appealed in October, 1946, and since has been under study by the appellate court.

In addition to anti-trust violation, the defendants had been found guilty of illegally favoring certain individuals and companies in business transactions.

Louisiana Supreme Court Upholds Legality Of State Veterans' Bonus

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 24. (AP)—The Louisiana Supreme court today upheld the "full faith and credit of the state" to finance the payment of a veterans' bonus.

The high court's ruling came on a friendly suit filed by State Attorney General Bolivar Kemp to clear the legal status of the bond issue.

The bonds, backed by a beer tax, are to finance payments of bonus' ranging from $50 to $250 to veterans of World War II, and payments up to $1,000 to widows or dependent children of veterans who died in service or from service-connected disabilities.

SECRETARY ANSWERS GOP SOLONS' CRITICISM

Acheson Says U. S. Now Following 'Wait And See' Policy Regarding Aid For Nationalist China

By ALLAN J. FUNCH
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24—Secretary of State Acheson told 30 House Republicans today the United States is pursuing a "wait and see" attitude regarding aid for Communist-threatened China.

He reportedly labeled the Chiang Kai-Shek regime "corrupt and inefficient" and engaged in heated argument with Rep. Judd of Minnesota, one of the generalissimo's supporters.

State department sources later confirmed that Acheson is pursuing a "hands off" policy towards China "until the dust settles" over there.

Acheson, who had no comment after the closed-door, 90-minute session, went to the hill in response to a letter from 51 House Republicans disturbed over what they believe to be the administration's "do nothing" attitude toward China.

They recalled that the $125 million military aid fund has now been exhausted, that only $80 million remains for China aid in Marshall plan funds and that Communist victories in China threaten the downfall of the Nationalist regime.

There was no request for China aid in the foreign assistance appropriations program sent to Congress recently. It has been reported that the administration may ask for Chinese aid money later in the session.

Solon Still Worried

One of the Republicans attending today's session, asked if Acheson indicated the U.S. had a policy toward China, replied:

"I don't know whether you can call do-nothing a policy or not. It was enlightening for the answers we didn't get."

Rep. Hale, of Maine, spokesman for the GOP members, told newsmen after the session with Acheson that "I'm still very worried about China."

Judd reportedly told Acheson that the failure of the Kai-Shek government to defeat Communist forces in China was in part due to the failure of the U.S. to support the generalissimo adequately.

GOP Leaders Absent

Hale, asked whether his concern over China applied only to conditions there or to U.S. policy toward China, replied:

"Both."

Other members said that Acheson indicated the United States has no intention of aiding the Nationalist government and has not yet determined a policy towards a possible Red-dominated China, or toward a coalition government.

They said they interpreted Acheson's remarks to mean that the U.S. had adopted a "wait and see" attitude.

Gregory Peck To Keep Fast Pace Meeting Schedules For Two Pictures During Spring

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 24 — Gregory Peck, who would rather work than eat, should be two Pecks for the jobs he has coming up. On April 18 he starts "Twelve O'Clock High" at 20th Century-Fox, the Sy Bartlett-Beirne Lay thriller of the U. S. Air Force high command in England.

I can tell Greg that he will be hustled through his scenes like a man in a revolving door—not because 20th wants to get rid of him—but because of his next assignment. He must be free late in the spring for "Quo Vadis," the super-spectacle MGM film in Italy.

P.S.: I couldn't be happier reporting that Greg and his pretty little wife, Greta, are like honeymooners these days. Greta plans to join him in Europe after the birth of the expected baby and they will go on an honest to goodness sight-seeing tour for themselves.

Frances Gifford Signed

Hurray and three cheers for Bing Crosby, Frank Capra, the director, and the Paramount bosses who approved Frances Gifford for one of the top roles in "Riding High," formerly called "Broadway Bill."

It is Frances' first picture since her automobile accident, and just the morale builder she needs. Coleen Gray is the other girl, as I told you.

This picture, starring Bing, should set Frances on her merry movie way again.

Circus Seeks Stars

Here's something special for all the stars who had so much fun performing with Ringling Brothers circus for charity last summer:

If you really want to hit the sawdust trail for a week or two the Cole Brothers circus is spending half a million dollars to get movie and stage headliners to travel with the show.

A luxurious private car is being furnished at the winter quarters in Louisville—and I mean luxurious. Maid and valet services are included, plus a private car and chauffeur in every town. All the movie stars have to do is appear—unless, of course, they have some special talent such as singing or dancing.

Business is reported normal in El Salvador, following the recent brief revolution.

Farm Leader Offers Four Point Program

DENVER, Feb. 24. (INS)—James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers union, today submitted to President Truman a four-point program asked by farmers in return for their support at the November election.

Patton's address was the highlight of the first day's session of the 42nd annual convention of the Rocky Mountain division of the farmers union.

He asked first that the Democratic administration provide "family farmers" with price supports at $100 of parity on all commodities.

Asks Inflation Halt

Second, he said, the administration must "prevent a continued inflation in the heavy goods industry, and at the same time stop the current deflation of consumers who have been priced out of the market."

The third point, he said, is the "maintaining of farm prices while lowering foodcosts" by reducing the spread between what the farmer sells for and what the consumer pays.

Patton's fourth point is the building of "a people's economy to eliminate the free-wheeling boom and bust of the 20's and the 30's."

He was highly critical of what has been called "healthy economic readjustment" and said this definition was coming from "the medicine men of big business."

Oil has been struck on nearly all recent drillings in Brunei, northern Borneo.

ACTRESS FILES SUIT

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 24. (INS) — Hollywood learned today that actress Jean Arthur filed suit for divorce from Producer Frank Ross on charges of cruelty in Santa Monica superior court last Feb. 18. The action was filed under the actress' real name, Gladys Greene Ross. The case will be heard March 14. Miss Arthur currently is in New York. Ross could not be reached for comment.

Gilmer-Aikin Chaos

ONE serious question as to the workability of the Gilmer-Aikin plan of reorganizing Texas public schools, now pending in the Legislature, arises from the proposed "economic index" method of computing the amounts of money many individual school districts would receive from the State.

Present distributions are based on scholastic population. Each district receives a certain amount ($55 this year) for each child of scholastic age residing within it. The plan is simple and fair. If it has been applied unfairly at times, as charged, the plan is not at fault. Any plan, regardless of what it may be, might be applied unfairly.

The "economic index" proposed in the Gilmer-Aikin bill as a substitute for the present "per capita" plan is incredibly complicated. Only a few legislators pretend to understand it.

The scheme would take many involved factors into consideration—assessed property valuation, population, the values of products from factories, farms, ranches and mineral production and all payrolls. All these would be lumped together by someone at Austin, who would come up with an "index" which would determine how much residents of individual school districts would pay into the fund and how much they would get back.

THE cost of trying to get all this information would be enormous. Presumably it would be the job of the county, or school district, tax assessor-collectors to try to get it. Their chief job now is to assess property valuations and to collect taxes. All, unquestionably, would require a great deal of additional manypower if they were required to try to ascertain valuations of all kinds of production and payrolls.

No one knows definitely just how they would proceed in attempting to perform that task. But it is practically a leadpipe cinch that it would involve the filling out of many complicated questionnaires by hundreds of thousands of business and professional people, farmers, ranchers and the like. It undoubtedly would impose upon such people the worry and expense of a great deal of additional record keeping.

If the information should be compiled, no one ever could be sure of its accuracy. And, without question, many districts invariably would be dissatisfied with the money they received under the "economic index" computed. There always might be the suspicion, possibly with strong foundation, that the most money would go to school districts with the most political influence, rather than to those most deserving and most in need.

IT IS axiomatic that an unworkable law is worse than no law at all. Maybe the Gilmer-Aikin plan is workable, even with the "economic index" feature.

But it still is difficult to grasp the logic behind the proposal to throw out the present "per capita" system, which anyone should understand, and substitute for it an "index" which confuses even the legislators who are being urged to enact it into law.

The old-timer who wouldn't remove his coat in the presence of a lady now has a son who strolls in public wearing shorts.

Beware Of Romance

By ROBERTA COURTLAND
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

XXXIV

MERRY had been a little uneasy about Susan's reaction to her return to Marshallville. But Susan seemed reconciled, even content. Her letters were cheerful and recounted her routine activities; she and Carter seemed to be living a full and busy life, at least by their own standards.

"I don't get it," Merry admitted frankly one afternoon when she had read Susan's latest letter aloud to Aunt Jane. "She fretted herself sick while I was in New York, and I thought that she was lonely for me. But I'm away from her now and she doesn't seem to care a bit."

Aunt Jane grinned.

"You don't get it? Child, it's as plain as a pike-staff," said Aunt Jane dryly. "When you were in New York, you were with Kin and Lissa. And Susan was just plain old-fashioned jealous."

Merry nodded ruefully.

"You know, Aunt Jane, it's funny, but I honestly believe Mother is happier with Carter than she ever was with Dad!" she said impulsively.

Aunt Jane's thick eyebrows went up a little.

"You don't mean you've finally come to that conclusion? I knew it from the first," she declared. "I think having a second romance in her life has restored Susan's youth. She married Kin when they were both a couple of kids, before she knew what romance really was. Then, when the break-up came, she felt old and worn out and fearfully abused. And then Carter came along and wooed her as though she'd been a young girl, and she got a terrific kick out of it."

Startled, Merry stared at her.

"And Kin and Lissa seem ideally suited to each other," she said slowly, unwillingly.

"Kin and Susan had grown away from each other. They no longer had anything in common. Naturally, they rubbed each other the wrong way. I'd say the best thing that ever happened to either of them was that break-up you've been deploring for so long."

IT was a new thought and Merry wasn't any too sure that she liked it. After a long, thoughtful moment she spoke again, and Aunt Jane was wise enough and shrew enough to realize that she was not changing the subject.

"Aunt Jane, I met a man in New York," Merry found her words slowly, with difficulty. "He's terribly attractive and I liked him a lot. He said he was in love with me and he wanted to marry me, but he said, 'If it doesnt' work out, there's always Reno.'"

Aunt Jane nodded thoughtfully.

"Honest, at any rate," she contributed, and waited.

Puzzled, Merry asked, "You don't think it's wrong to get married with that thought in the back of your head, Aunt Jane?"

"Merry, darling, I long ago gave up deciding what was 'wrong' and what was 'right' for other people," said Aunt Jane quietly. "People have to decide such things for themselves. If two people are head over heels in love, I suppose it's perfectly natural for them to be quite convinced that it's going to last a lifetime."

"Mike didn't."

"Then Mike was very deeply in love, or else Mike has seen enough of the seamy side of matrimony to be a little suspicious."

Merry flushed. "His mother has been married five—or maybe six times."

Aunt Jane drew a deep breath and blinked.

"Then it's a wonder to me this Mike didn't scream with rage and take to the tall timber at the very word 'marriage.' It's a thousand wonders he'd even let the word pass his lips. Good grief, no wonder the man said, 'Marry me, and if it doesn't work out, there's always Reno.'"

Merry was still for a moment, and then she looked straight at Aunt Jane, her eyes grave, probing.

"Then you wouldn't consider him a very good risk for marriage, would you, Aunt Jane?"

AUNT Jane hesitated for a moment, and never in her life had she prayed for the right answer as she prayed for it now. And when she spoke at last her voice was warm, tender with affection.

"Darling, you're not quite 18," she said very gently. "I think that it will be at least a couple of years before I'd consider any man a good risk for marriage for you. You're just a little girl, Merry, suffering from growing pains. Take time out to get over that before you plunge into getting married, won't you?"

A swift, relieved smile crossed Merry's face and she jumped up and hugged Aunt Jane.

"Of course, angel. You're right. Here I sit moiling and gibbering about getting married, when I've all the time in the world. Isn't that silly of me? You'd think, wouldn't you, the way I'm carrying on, if I wasn't married by next Friday afternoon at half-past two, the world would come to an end for me? Let's skip it, angel and go transplant those snapdragons that are fighting for more space to grow in."

"Let's, by all means," agreed Aunt Jane heartily, relieved that Merry was willing to dismiss a subject that was beginning to trouble Aunt Jane almost as much as it had previously been puzzling Merry.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

PLEASE write something nice about mothers-in-law," implores one of this maligned species.

She regrets the fact that comedians poke fun at mothers-in-law.

BRANDEIS

She has no use for stores that advertise greeting cards for all occasions and facetiously adds "even for mothers-in-law."

She says mothers-in-law are human, too, and not "monsters who belong in a zoo."

Of course, I agree, and I shall try to write something nice about mothers-in-law, remembering, as my correspondent points out, mothers-in-law first were mothers.

They had to have sons or daughters, or they could not be mothers-in-law.

But why has the mother-in-law become the subject of thousands of jokes?

Why has the term "mother-in-law" become almost synonymous with ogre in the minds of thousands of people?

It is a generally accepted belief that nothing can become trite unless it is true.

By that fact the mother-in-law tradition must be based on truth.

One of the tools of my trade is a Thesaurus of Humor."

I don't use it often, because I consider it a collection of the most awful jokes ever conceived by man or beast.

However, it is a standard reference work and widely used by nightclub and radio comedians.

A section is devoted to mother-in-law jokes, and then it says "See Also Related Subjects."

For related subjects it refers the user to Morning; Accident; Fight; Worry; Back-Seat-Driver.

In other words, these subjects are supposed to be related to the subject of "Mother-in-law."

BUT back to the request that I write something nice about mothers-in-law.

My correspondent says that mothers-in-law are greatly maligned.

To prove the point she writes, and I quote verbatim:

"Nothing pleases a mother-in-law more than to get a daughter-in-law for her boy.

"I did give my daughter-in-law a fine son, but she has wrecked his life. However, I hope, some day he will again be the fine son he was.

"You see, she deserted him and their children. I hear she is married again but I do not know."

My first instinct, after reading the letter, was to say, "There you are. Here is a woman who wants me to praise mothers-in-law, and see the discord in her own family!"

But then I did a little thinking. And then a little wondering. Why is it there are no jokes about daughters-in-law?

SLOW DEFLATION SEEN

Buying Habits Shift

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The strange phenomenon of falling prices during a period of rising national income has just been subjected to an X-ray by a group of the government's ablest economic experts. Their findings should furnish helpful tips to the producers and purchasers of goods in this transition stage when nobody seems to know what will happen next.

The sag in the price level, they have discovered, is not due to any drop in purchasing power. Personal income for 1948 totalled $214,000,000,000, or eighteen per cent more than in 1947, when retail costs of everything from hamburg steak to a locomotive hit their peak. January figures indicate that income is still running at a high figure, and it may go higher if labor achieves a third increase in wages—or is it a fourth?

TUCKER

So, they unearth other reasons for the present decline at a time when there is plenty of money in the market.

FINDINGS: Here are their major findings:

(1). The reduction in food prices is due partially to fewer government purchases of farm commodities for shipment abroad. Wherever possible, the United States is buying Canadian grain and Argentine beef. Representatives of farm organizations have lodged sharp complaints against this policy, and it may be modified.

Another factor in the drop of food costs is the fact that holders of grain, cattle and dairy products have rushed them to market for fear that there may be a further decline in prices, causing them heavy losses.

Like Wall Street speculators, they were holding back for a rise, but when the market became bullish, they had to unload, with the consumer as the ultimate beneficiary.

DEMAND: (2). The consumption of foodstuffs is falling, according to these inquiries, because people are buying heavier goods. They are turning to automobiles, homes, refrigerators, washing machines, radio and television sets. The continued demand in these lines explains why the prices of these heavier goods have not fallen so sensationally.

(3). Customers can afford to buy more choosily and selectively, especially in textile, shoe, luxury and other department store lines, because supply has caught up with demand. They are not driven to buy anything because of the fear that there may be no available stock tomorrow if they don't grab something today.

SAVINGS: (4). Economic uncertainty over what tomorrow may bring has revived the savings habit. The sale of small units of savings bonds in 1948, which make up most of the purchases of the low-and-middle-income customers, reached the record figure of $7,300,000,000, a nine per cent gain over 1947.

New purchases of these types have begun to exceed redemptions for the first time since the war. It was these bonds which hungry customers cashed in order to satisfy war-deferred wants.

Thus there are basic changes in buying habits, and the experts believe that they will continue for several years. If they are correct, these shifts portend further deflation, although at a slow and gradual pace.

FAITHLESSNESS: The most revealing and damaging evidence of Russia's faithlessness appears in a generally overlooked section of the 440-page report, which Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson has made public, of the preparations for the Nuremberg trial of Nazi criminals. It should make interesting reading in Norway and in other countries with which Moscow seeks to negotiate a ten-year, non-aggression pact.

According to Justice Jackson's document, which consists largely of stenographic transcripts of secret Big Four talks at London in 1945, the Russian representative refused flatly to agree to any definition of "aggression" which could be used against the U.S.S.R. Stalin's spokesman was General I. T. Nikitchenko, who was then vice-president of the Soviet Supreme Court.

Like all other Soviet representatives at international parleys, he received direct orders from the Kremlin by telephone each day during the conference. Thus he was expounding the official Communist doctrine on international law.

SAUCE: When Justice Jackson tried to persuade his associates to spell out the meaning of the crime of "aggression" for all time, as a precedent in future international law, General Nikitchenko burst out:

"Our task should be to form the basis for trial, not of any criminals who may commit international crimes in the future, but of those who have already done so."

When he was reminded that Russia had signed numerous anti-aggression declarations, including the Kellogg-Briand pact, the League of Nations code and the United Nations charter, he replied:

"Sometimes treaties change. When one was signed, it had one significance, and may in the course of time change that significance and acquire a new significance."

Later, he elaborated this odd remark with the statement that the trial judges' duty was "not to try to draft a code which could be applied to all times and under any circumstances."

What he meant was that what is sauce for the goose (Norway) is not always sauce for the gander.

CASE: "Is there any case to be made out for Russia," asks T.R.F. of Brooklyn, "or are we completely wrong in our anti-Moscow policy?"

Answer: That is a tough question. But the fact is that some men in the Pentagon and State Department buildings try to put themselves in the Russians' shoes, and to analyze our attitude rather objectively. And here is their conclusion in a general way:

Take the three principal anti-Russian objectives which have been sponsored, promoted and financed by the United States—the Marshall Plan, the Greco-Turkey aid and the North Atlantic Military Alliance.

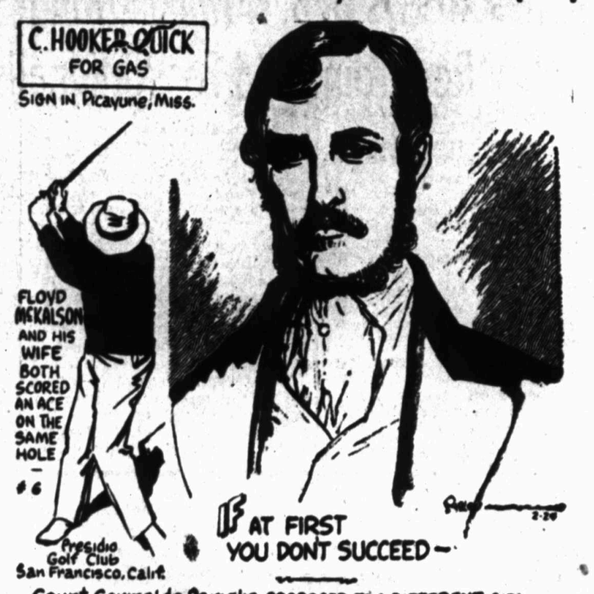

While these programs seem to have checkmated the Kremlin expansion and aggression, it enables us to preserve a helpful sense of values if we look at those ventures out of a Politburo window.

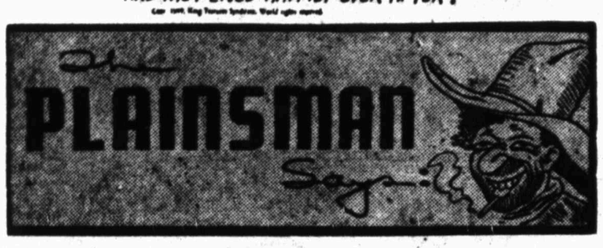

Suppose, for instance, that the Soviet financed an anti-American coalition, consisting of Central and South American countries fringing on the Panama Canal. Suppose that she agreed to uphold their economy, enlarge and equip their armies, navies and air forces, with, of course, Washington as a possible enemy.

That may be a strained interpretation of our anti-Soviet program. But it is the Kremlin's viewpoint as of today, and it is well for us to keep it in mind.

Rip VanWinkle couldn't sleep for 20 years nowadays. He would have to wake up to take his vitamins.

Believe It Or Not -- By Robert Ripley

That Girl on Broadway says maybe it's true that figures don't lie, but girdles and falsies keep a lot of them from telling the truth.

Our sympathy goes out to the editor of the new newspaper in New York who promises he will print nothing but good news.

There's bound to be many days when he won't be able to put a paper to press—even with the weather report!

WELL, we have just gotten back from associating with the Associated Press editors of Texas in lovely, old San Antonio and are of the firm opinion that we out here in West Texas should do something about our weather.

By this we don't mean we should do something about making it less windy, colder, warmer, or rainier. What we mean is that we should start a campaign to let the world know how good it is, generally speaking.

West Texas weather has been lied about and otherwise libeled for many years and we who live in it have just gone on our way without doing anything to stop the scandalous talking and writing.

We have heard the term "Sunny San Antonio" all our life.

The San Antonio newspapers keep up a constant line of chatter about the wonderful weather in the vicinity of the Alamo. So do the radio stations, the civic clubbers, the chamber of commerce, the hotel people, and the Daughters and Sons of This, That and The Other fraternal associations.

But the fact remains that San Antonio weather, while good, is no better than ours—if, indeed, it is as good as ours.

And it can be strictly from lousy, at times, just as ours can.

CLOSE observers have known for countless generations that the drip, drip, drip of water eventually wears away the hardest stone. Psychologists have known, for many years, that the constant repetition of a claim eventually results in the claim's being accepted as Gospel.

Hence, people over Texas have come to believe that San Antonio weather is always good, so often have they heard, or read, "Sunny San Antonio."

We got into San Antonio on Friday afternoon in a drizzle, which continued throughout the night. Saturday was fair but cloudy until late in the day—and back came a drizzle. It stuck around through Saturday night, Sunday, Sunday night, Monday and Monday night. When we left there on Tuesday morning, the drizzle was still on the job.

Because San Antonio gets muggy when the wind comes from the Gulf, a rain or drizzle makes everything very calmmy — much worse than when it rains out here.

As a result, thoroughout our stay in Not-So-Sunny San Antonio, we felt slightly slick and mildewed.

While in San Antonio, we met a lady who lives in Austin and who has a son in Texas Tech.

"My son likes everything about Texas Tech," she said, "except that West Texas weather. He says he can't understand how people put up with it. When he was home Christmas, he went out on the front porch, took a long breath, and then said: 'That's the first good breath of fresh air I've had since I left home last Fall'."

No doubt the young man was sincere in what he said. But anybody who knows Austin weather and Lubbok weather knows that he had fallen victim to believing what he had heard about West Texas weather, instead of thinking for himself.

WE WOULD be the last person in the world to deny that out here we have occasional sandstorms. We also would be the last person to claim perfect weather for West Texas.

But we have been around and about the country from side to side and top to bottom and we honestly believe West Texas weather, over all, is the best weather in the nation. Certainly it is just as good as can be found.

We honestly believe that West Texas has been damaged badly over the years (1) by the weird stories told about our weather; and (2) by the way we West Texans have failed to do anything at all to combat the libel.

It is high time organizations from Dalhart to Del Rio and from El Paso to Fort Worth start trying to set the rest of the state—and the world—right in the matter of West Texas weather and, at the same time, do ourselves a good turn.

"I had such a bad spell of insomnia last night," snarled the Office Grouch, "that 5,000 sheep died of exhaustion!"

An epigram is a wisecrack that has lived long enough to acquire a reputation.

PEACEFUL, attractive little Kerrville, in the heart of the Texas Hill Country, is growing like nobody's business.

There is more construction and general improvement to be seen there than in any other town between Lubbock and San Antonio—and all because Kerrville has become a Mecca for people who want to "get away from it all."

From the Gulf Coast areas around Houston, from Austin, from San Antonio, itself, and from other portions of adjacent Texas territory, people are turning to Kerrville and its environs for rest and relaxation. As a result, new homes have sprung and are springing up; the population has almost doubled in the past eight years and everything is humming.

There's no oil around Kerrville; no sulphur; none of those mysterious materials used in atomic power.

There's just a lot of good rest, good climate and quiet in that vicinity and people are taking advantage of it.

Doubtless much of Kerrville's prosperity and expansion can be traced to the present state and national tax structure.

People have come to realize that there isn't any sense in chasing the dollar all the time any more, because if they make more money, they can't keep it, anyway. So they are spending their money on week-end cottages; little ranches, or Summer homes and they are using some of the time they used to use up trying to make money in rest and relaxation.

This is especially true of people who live in metropolitan centers who are weary of noise and traffic and regimentation; of rushing through life, early and late.

WHAT IS happening in and around Kerrville also is happening in and around a lot of other places around the country—places which have become known over the years for rest, relaxation and various forms of fun.

Come to think about it, maybe it's a good thing.

While it is true that the tax structure is such that long-shot investments are short of takers and that business progress, generally, is expected to slow down, it also may be true that men will live longer, and more happily, by slowing down and taking things easier.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24. (AP)—Ten-year-old Donald Tcanski might become Tin Pan Alley's youngest song hit writer.

The Chopin Music Co. accepted Donald's song, "Atomic Bomb Foxtrot," and predicted "it ought to be a hit."

Donald wants to be a concert pianist. His 14-year-old brother, Zenon, already has appeared in piano recital at Carnegie Hall. Zenon works on "serious pieces" and leaves popular songs to Donald.

Third Oil Well In North Snyder Field Is Nearing Completion

Standard Oil company of Texas No. 2-2 Brown, third well in the North Snyder field, of north-central Scurry county, to find production in the Canyon lime pay, is preparing to complete and put on production.

On a clean-out test of the open hole section at 6,586-6,864 feet, the project flowed 65 barrels of fluid—mostly oil—in 45 minutes through a one-inch choke.

Will Be Finished

As soon as the drilling rig is moved off and the well is connected to tanks it will be finished. It is one-half mile east of the North Snyder discovery, and 680 feet from east and 1,960 feet from north lines of section 440, block 97, H&TC survey.

Standard of Texas is stepping out to the east of the proven area, with the staking of the location for its No. 1-4 Brown, to be a 7,000-foot exploration. Operations are to start at once.

The drillsite is 680 feet from west and 1,960 feet from north lines of section 441, block 97, H&TC survey. That puts it one-quarter of a mile east of outpost to the No. 2-2 Brown, now preparing to complete.

Chances Are Dimmed

Swabbing of salt water has dimmed the chances of a Devonian discovery for Denver Producing & Refining company No. 17-C Elliott, in the shallow Wasson field of southwest Yoakum county, 1,-212 feet from south and 1,070 feet from east lines of section 832, block D, J. P. Gibson survey.

Plugged-back depth is 9,776 feet. Through perforations at 9,696-9,776 feet, following a 1,500-gallon acid injection, the well swabbed 150 barrels of salt water in 24 hours.

Operator was running a water locater in an attempt to find the source of the unwanted fluid before resuming tests.

Dry Hole Develops

A dry hole has developed in west Lynn county for McAlister Fuel company. The concern drillstem tested its No. 1 Edwards, wildcat, 440 feet from south and west lines of section 58, Georgetown Railroad survey, for 30 minutes at 11,173-226 feet in the Ellenburger.

The test recovered a 630-foot water blanket, followed by 90 feet of mud and water and 1,980 feet of salt water, with no oil or gas shows.

Operator was drilling ahead slightly below 11,226 feet in Ellenburger dolomite. It is to continue until the present drilling bit is worn out, then is to be plugged and abandoned.

Steady Blow Of Air

Plymouth Oil company No. 1 Sims, south-central Garza county prospector to 8,500 feet to explore into the Ellenburger, and which is located 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 8, block 2, T&NO survey, ran a two-hour drillstem test in the Permian lime at 342-72 feet. There was a steady blow of air throughout the period.

Recovery was 630 feet of salty drilling mud, and 1,800 feet of salt water. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 800 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure, after 10 minutes was 900 pounds. The venture is to drill ahead.

Is Drilling Ahead

Cabot Carbon company No. 1 Bice, northeast Gaines county wildcat to explore the San Andres-Permian, had reached 4,640 feet in lime, and was drilling ahead.

It is two and one-half miles southeast of the Adair field, the nearest proven producing area. The drillsite is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 2, block C-31, psl survey.

The project entered the Yoakum dolomite at 4,010. Base of the redbeds was at 2,130. Top of the Cowden anhydrite was at 2,810 feet and the top of the Yates has been tentatively called at 3,040 feet. Elevation is 3,172 feet.

The venture is to drill to at least 5,200 feet, unless it gets production or water in the San Andres at a higher level. Operator has not called a top on the San Andres, on account of the mixed up condition in the zones where that formation comes in. Up to now no porosity or signs of oil or gas have been developed at the wildcat.

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 1 Doss, central-east Gaines county wildcat which is slated to go to at least 12,600 feet, had a 50-minute drillstem test at 9,687-9,857 feet.

There was a very slight blow of air for 20 minutes. Recovery was 200 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil, gas or water. No pressures were recorded.

The venture is now drilling deeper. The formation covered by the investigation has not been officially identified.

'Pay-As-You-Go' Law Is Opposed

By BO BYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Feb. 24.—A return to former policy of letting the state go in debt if necessary was proposed today by Rep. Jack B. Brooks of Beaumont.

The state government has been on a "pay-as-you-go" basis since Jan. 1, 1945. The people voted in favor of a constitutional amendment establishing that policy in November, 1942.

Brooks filed a proposed constitutional amendment to repeal the earlier amendment. He said it would remove the power the state comptroller now holds over legislative appropriations.

Ruled Inefficient Funds

The comptroller must certify there is enough money in hand or in sight to pay for appropriations. If he does not certify that the state will be able to provide the requested money, the bill dies.

That's what happened to a bill which Brooks sponsored two years ago to make Lamar Junior college at Beaumont a four-year senion technological school.

The measure was approved by the legislature, but the session ended and the comptroller said the state was out of money. Brooks' bill and several other money bills died. Brooks has introduced his college proposal again this session.

After four days of hard work that kept many members at the capitol until midnight or later because of numerous public hearings, the legislature adjourned until Monday morning.

Before quitting, the House approved and sent to the Senate emergency bills raising state employes' salaries 15 per cent for this fiscal year ending Aug. 31.

The increase would be on salaries up to $3,000 a year and the first $3,000 of larger salaries. The raises would go to departmental workers and officers, judiciary employes and all employes of state institutions of higher learning.

Senate bills passed yesterday would hike salaries from 5 to 20 per cent for judiciary departmental and eleemosynary employes, and would apply to income up to $3,600. College employes were not included.

This indicates a House-Senate conference committee may have to work out compromise legislation.

A constitutional amendment to legalize loans of $3,000,000 made by banks to school districts last year was approved by a Senate committee. Senate passage will be sought Monday, said W. B. Cousins, jr. of Beaumont, author of the resolution.

He suggested the constitutional

Bomb Suspects Get Probation

Two defendants in a criminal action growing out of the June 14 bombing of TNM&O terminal here were placed under nine-year probation Thursday afternoon in 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue's court.

They were Houston Miller, 30, of Lubbock and Clyde Lomax, 25, of Hobbs, N. M.

Appeal Is Made

They pleaded guilty of exploding dynamite with intent to damage property. A strike of union drivers was in progress when a bomb was exploded in an office of the terminal.

Drew Story, 42, also of Hobbs, entered into a $5,000 recognizance Thursday afternoon with the court in connection with his appeal from a five-year sentence assessed after a jury verdict had convicted him several weeks ago in a similar case.

Jess C. Levens, vice president and general manager of TNM&O, said he had no criticism of the cases' disposition.

Cares For Children

Miller, former driver of the bus company, has been caring for his 10-year-old son and 6-year-old daughter since his wife died soon after the bus terminal's bombing. A senior driver for the bus company appeared as a reputation witness in Miller's behalf.

District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and E. G. Pharr, an assistant, represented the state.

G. H. Nelson, of the firm of Nelson and McCleskey, represented Miller. L. A. Howard of the firm of McWhorter, Howard and Cobb, appeared for Lomax, former Hobbs policeman.

READYING CALVES FOR STOCK SHOW—Joe Craddock, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Craddock, route 5, Lubbock, is busy these days preparing his two fine baby beef calves for the South Plains Junior Fat Stock show, March 21-23. Young Craddock's fine animals are pictured with him above. A 4-H club boy three years, Joe hopes to be among the top exhibitors at this year's show. Assistant County Agent Joe W. Jones believes the calves stand a good chance of being in the top ten animals of the show. (Staff Photo.)

Eve Currie To Talk At Tech March 24

Eve Currie, daughter of the discoverer of radium, will be guest speaker at the Tech recreation hall March 24, according to Dean James Allen, sponsor of the rec hall program. She will replace Bennet Cerf who was unable to be here.

When Cerf informed Dean Allen that he would be unable to be present, plans were begun to find a replacement. Letters were sent to Robert Frost, noted poet, and to Miss Currie. Dean Allen was informed through an exchange of telegrams yesterday that Miss Currie would accept the invitation.

George V. Denny, jr., master of ceremonies of the "Town Meeting of the Air," radio program, and Earl Spicer, baritone-ballad singer, are the other two personalities who will appear here this spring.

If seating space will allow, tickets for any of the programs may be obtained by non students at the door for $1 per person.

Dogs, Television Prizes Won By Baseball Fan Causes Eviction

CLEVELAND, Feb. 24. (INS)—Joe Earley, young Clevelander who was selected by the Cleveland Indians as the most typical baseball fan last summer, is being evicted from his apartment.

Earley was honored by Bill Veeck, president of the ball club, who threw a "Joe Earley Night" in his honor. The typical fan received a wagonload of gifts, including two dogs and a television set.

Now his landlord claims Earley is a "nuisance" in a petition filed to evict him—especially with the dogs and television set.

CHECK PRESENTED AT BANQUET

Spur Farm Couple Gets Area's First Insured Mortgage Loan

(Special To The Avalanche)

SPUR, Feb. 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Denson of Spur route 1, who have been renting a 160-acre farm since he returned from the Army, became owners of the same farm during a check delivery ceremony here recently.

They were presented a $10,000 check with which to purchase and improve the farm by W. T. Andrews, executive vice president of the Spur Security bank as a highlight of a Lions club banquet program.

First Insured Loan

The ceremony was held in connection with closing the first insured mortgage loan in this area Maurice P. Vannoy, local county supervisor of the Farmers Home administration, presided at the presentation.

"We come to a point which will forever be close to the hearts of two young people," Vannoy said in introduction. "Tonight Edwin and Rose Denson leave the ranks of tenants and enter the ranks of home-owners. They are a typical young couple who have been operating under the handicaps of tenancy; they are in debt, like so many other young people who are starting out on their own We who have had a small part in helping them overcome that handicap are happy with them on this occasion," he continued.

Wallace W. White, field representative of the state director of the Farmers Home Administration, gave a short background of the insured mortgage loan program.

"Under the insured mortgage plan, borrowers must have 10 per cent, or an equivalent equity in the land, of the loan. The balance is secured from a private lending agency—a bank, an insurance company or an individual—and the United States of America insures that loan 100 per cent," White said. "The changes Congress recently made in our insured mortgage program were intended to help more farmers get government-guaranteed loans to buy farms. The amendment to the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant act will undoubtedly make more opportunities for tenants, sharecroppers, farm laborers and veterans in this state and throughout the country to get farm real-estate credit. The lender gets 3 per cent return on his money and has an assured market for the mortgage. The loans are repayable in 40 years, but the lender, if he wishes, can turn over the mortgage to the government after holding it for seven years and get paid in full. We congratulate the Densons and express great thanks to the Spur Security bank for helping this couple become home-owners."

Lad With 'No Political Friends' Lands Job As Solons' Page Boy

AUSTIN, Feb. 24. (INS)—The coveted jobs of page boy in the sttae legislature often go to children of office holders or state officials.

However, before the 51st session opened an 11-year-old boy from Round Rock wrote Lieutenant Governor Allan Shivers that he had no political friends but wanted the job. Shivers replied:

"You are a deserving young man, and you will always find me eager to assist those with character and initiative."

The youngster got the job.

Free Parking Gimmicks Clog Curb Meters In Illinois Town

DECATUR, Ill., Feb. 24. (U.P.)—Motorists here aren't content with putting their car keys into parking meters. They go farther than that for free parking.

Most ingenious was the attack made on a meter by a motorist who carried a piece of aluminum filed into a long thin shaft with a nickel-shaped circle on one end. The idea was that by inserting and retracting, the invention would provide free parking forever.

It was found jammed in a meter during a police collection that included wooden matches, toothpicks, lead slugs and car keys.

The two men allegedly beat Culp severely on the front porch of his home last Friday night, after Culp reportedly whipped Taylor's son with a rubber hose earlier that day as a matter of school discipline.

HOLLYWOOD FIGURES HEAD LIST

$2,297,542,000 In Refunds To Be Returned To U. S. Taxpayers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (U.P.)—Darryl F. Zanuck, Ginger Rogers, Marshall Field and James Forrestal were listed today among taxpayers who shared $2,297,542,000 in federal tax refunds last year.

The name of Vice President Alben W. Barkley also was on the refund list—made public by the House Executive Expenditures committee—but Barkley's refund of $2,019 was small in comparison with hundreds of the others.

The law requires that all tax refunds of $500 or more be reported to Congress.

Plane Firm Leads

The largest single beneficiary among the thousands of individuals and corporations getting refunds was the Curtiss-Wright Corp., New York. Curtiss-Wright received $35,123,401.

The U.S. Steel Corp., which got $63,380,904 back in fiscal 1947, drew only $68,816 in fiscal 1948 covered by today's report.

Refunds to corporations generally were much smaller than in 1947, mainly because of the Treasury's gradual settlement of wartime excess profits tax overpayments.

Movie producer Zanuck and his wife, Virginia, received the largest individual refunds — $174,973 each. Actress Ginger Rogers got $23,208; Marshall Field, Chicago publisher, $15,790; and defense Secretary James Forrestal $13,058.

The "greatest show on earth"—Ringling Brothers - Barnum and Bailey Combined Shows, Inc., Sarasota, Fla.—shared in the refunds to the tune of $285,056.

Record Refunds Forseen

Income, excess profits, estate, excise and other federal taxes were represented in the refund total. A Treasury spokesman said 32,000,000 refunds were made, but more than half of them were too small to report.

Interest was paid on the settlements at the rate of six per cent. It cost the government $56,530,924.

The refunds reported today should not be confused with those to be paid this year as a result of the tax reduction bill approved by the 80th Congress. This tax cut, enacted last year and affecting taxes due March 15, probably will produce the largest number of refunds in history, the Treasury spokesman said.

Besides Barkley among congressional figures, today's list includes Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) and his wife, $1,686; Rep. Ralph A. Gamble (R-N.Y.), $1,464; and Rep. Cecil F. White (D-Cal.) and his wife, $4,200.

Among other individuals of the political world, Gov. W. Kerr Scott of North Carolina was listed for $2,099; Gov. Gordon Browning of Tennessee, $1,409; Gov. Chester Bowles of Connecticut, $2,261; Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, $729; and Edward J. Flynn, New York political leader, $3,640.

Besides Zanuck and Miss Rogers, other Hollywood celebrities who got refunds were Betty Grable James, $2,928; Frederic March, $753; Thomas Mitchell, $12,208; Mischa Auer, $1,511; Brian Aherne, $4,819; John G. and Shirley Temple Agar, $5,948; Don Ameche, $589; Ralph Bellamy, $861; Gloria Swanson, $1,674; Rita Hayworth Welles, $16,464; and Mae West, $2,901.

Producer Louis B. Mayer, Culver City, Cal., and his wife, Margaret, received a total refund of $156,117.

U. S. authors Kathleen Winsor and Frances Parkinson Keyes were listed for $15,862 and $14,841, respectively: financiers Corliss and Thomas S. Lamont, $849 and $4791, respectively; Henry Ford, $7,742; and Eugene Meyer, board chairman of the Washington Post, and Mrs. Agnes Meyer, $2,501.

Houston Citizens Ask Pyramid Club Probe

HOUSTON, Feb. 24. (U.P.) — Houston's Pyramid Friendship clubs were about at the end of their rope today as hundreds of persons demanded police investigations and one woman attempted to file a swindle charge.

Although the district attorney's office said there was no evidence of a swindle in connection with the once-booming clubs, Mrs. Morada Franklin said she still would try to file a "test case."

And while the dollar-giving organizations crumbled rapidly, Mayor Oscar Holcombe, confined to his home by illness, hinted an investigation of the entire set-up might be made.

Possible Indictments Hinted

"Some folks may be indicted," said Holcombe, "if investigation shows professional organizers were in control."

Mrs. Franklin's story followed a pattern becoming more and more familiar to police.

"I paid $2 at a meeting Monday night," she said. "The next day I found that the club had broken up, and that several of the members had divided the money."

But for Mrs. Franklin, a clerk in the police crime prevention bureau, and others in the same position, Assistant District Attorney William Dwyer explained the only course of action now open.

"To be a swindle, there must be evidence of false representation at the time the money is paid. Apparently the money was taken in good faith," Dwyer observed.

Professor Says South America More Culture-Minded Than U. S.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24. (U.P.) — A Northwestern university professor has found South Americans more culture-minded than people in the United States.

Harvey L. Johnson, associate professor of romance languages at Northwestern, returned from a six-month tour of South America, where he was on a visiting lectureship from the United States State department.

"I gave a lecture on poetry and four reporters came," Johnson said.

He urged the United States to send more translations of books, more art exhibits and more lecturers to satisfy the South American interest in United States culture.

Nation's Oldest Suspension Bridge Has 100th Anniversary

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 24. (U.P.) — The oldest suspension bridge in the United States observes its 100th anniversary this year. Opened to traffic in Wheeling in 1849, the Ohio river's 1,010-foot suspension bridge was once the longest suspension span in the world.

The history of the bridge shows it took a U.S. supreme Court decision to end a controversy over the proposed height. Its construction was opposed by boat owners led by the old Pittsburgh Journal, which tried to have the bridge destroyed.

The court ruled only boat owners could sue Wheeling if the bridge were too low and not the state of Pennsylvania which had joined in the fight.

Ultimately, the 90-foot height above water was adopted as the standard for all Ohio River bridges.

Maryland Leads Nation In Caring For Flood Of Displaced Persons

By DON JENNINGS
United Press Staff Writer

BALTIMORE, Feb. 24 — Maryland is the pace-setter in the organization of state machinery for the resettlement of displaced Europeans.

First to establish a state-wide system, Maryland has been at work for several months on a plan designed primarily to place refugees on farms, where help is badly needed.

Already the Maryland Committee for the Resettlement of Displaced Persons has provided a new and secure life in agriculture for nearly 200 European families. Three hundred more placements are in process.

The national Displaced Persons commission points with pride to the Maryland plan and has recommended it as a pattern for other states to follow.

Got Head Start

That is not to imply that the rest of the country has been backward about the resettlement of displaced persons. Maryland actually had a head start.

Long before Congress passed the displaced persons act, William F. Laukaitis, supreme president of the Lithuanian Alliance of America, was helping refugees get to America from the refugee camps of Europe.

Laukaitis, a Baltimore attorney, kept a close eye on resettlement legislation in Congress and when the displaced persons act was passed he went to Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., with a plan of cooperation between the alliance and the state.

In October, 1948, the governor appointed Laukaitis chairman and created the Maryland resettlement committee.

Laukaitis, a former chief judge of the Baltimore traffic court, selected from civic and professional groups a committee membership representing all the ethnic groups among the refugees with whom they would be dealing.

Farms Need Help

The committee decided from the outset to concern itself mainly with the field of agriculture because in Maryland there's a dearth of farm help and because farm workers were given 30 per cent preference under the act.

When he applies to the committee for help, a farmer sets forth a detailed description of his housing and farm facilities. He tells how many persons he wants, whether he has any objection to children and whether he has a racial or religious preference. He also assures the committee he will pay the "prevailing wage."

Laukaitis meets each group of refugees upon their arrival in New York. He escorts them to Baltimore where, through the assistance of the committee members of the same nationality, they spend a comfortable first night in their "reception center," an armory.

"The tension is relieved when the refugees meet persons who speak the same tongue," Laukaitis said.

Co-Ed Pays Way Through School By Renting Out Gravel Truck

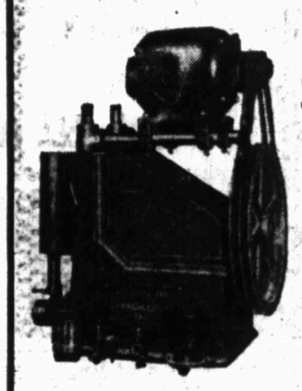

BROOKINGS, S. D., Feb. 24. (U.P.) — A gravel truck is working one state college co-ed's way through school.

Lorine Kies, a sophomore, bought a truck on an installment plan two years ago. She made arrangements to rent it to her father, a road contractor. She hired her own driver.

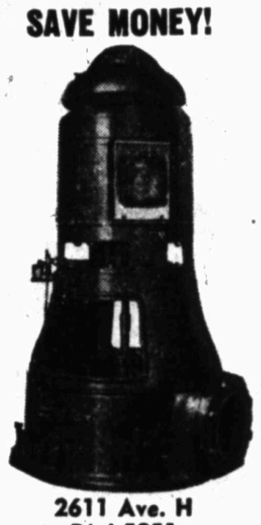

After a year, the youthful enterpriser sent in her final payment on the truck and all the while met her college expenses with income the vehicle brought in.

FILIBUSTER DEBATE SCHEDULED

Southern Solons Gird For Battle Over Senate Gag-Rule Proposal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24. (AP)—Southern senators today grimly accepted the administration's challenge to a talking match next week over a proposed change in the Senate rules.

The change would make it easier to stop filibusters—time-consuming action-stalling debate.

"Our only defense is to talk," Senator Russell (D-Ga.) told reporters. "We can't do it with sign language."

He is a leader among the southerners who oppose the rules change. They want to keep the right of unlimited debate, and use it to prevent enactment of President Truman's "civil rights" program. They are ready to filibuster to keep the filibuster.

The debate is set to begin Monday when the administration moves to bring up the proposed rules amendment. The motion is subject to debate, and the southerners propose to talk in relays against it. The burden of the talking will be on them—although, of course, at least some of the administration senators will have to stay in the chamber and listen.

Senator Stennis (D-Miss.) probably will be the lead-off orator.

The southerners met this afternoon to plan their tactics for the battle of adjectives.

Russell said the southern group will make an "earnest effort" to prove to the people of the country that the present Senate rules are adequate.

The anti-filibuster rule to be called up would permit the Senate to gag debate at any time by a two-thirds vote of the members.

Rotarians To Honor Brazilian Visitor

LAMESA, Feb. 24 (Special) — The good neighbor policy will pay a premium here Friday when Humberto Montiero of Sao Paula, Brazil, comes to visit Lamesa.

Montiero, general manager of the Ford Motor company of Brazil, was a gracious host to J. D. McPhaul, Lamesa automobile dealer; and Irving L. Jones, Lubbock merchant, when they attended the Rotary International convention in Brazil last year.

Friday the two men will honor him at the luncheon program of the Lamesa Rotary club. Montiero is visiting in the United States and notified the Texans he wanted to visit them.

Chas. A. Guy, Avalanche-Journal editor, will be principal speaker at the luncheon.

Washington Experts Say Americans Are Better Nourished

CHICAGO, Feb. 24. (INS)—Two Washington, D. C., nutrition experts say Americans now are better nourished than they were before World War II despite the high cost of living.

Drs. Esther F. Phipard and Hazel K. Stiebeling say the average nutrient level in 1948 was somewhat lower than the peak reached in 1945 and 1946, but still was high enough to be a decided improvement over pre-war levels.

They list as one of the reasons for the improvement an increased use of milk. Writing in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Phipard and Stiebeling state:

"Reenforcing the upward trend since 1909 in the consumption of milk products such as cheese, ice cream and evaporated and dried milk, the use of fluid milk rose sharply during the early war years."

They report the consumption of citrus fruit and of leafy, green and yellow vegetables also has increased. The doctors write:

"More than four times as much citrus fruit was consumed in 1945 as in 1909. Yearly per capita consumption of meat, poultry and fish average 165 pounds or more in the periods 1944 to 1947, compared with 137 pounds in the pre-war years, 1935-1939."

Livestock grazing utilizes 93½ million of acres in Texas, or over 60 per cent of the total area of the state.

STOCKS SLUMP AGAIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 24. (AP)—Railway stocks supplied the motive power for another retreat in today's market.

Moderate selling pressure was enough to drive the general price level to a low for nearly a year. It was the fifth session in a row for which the market chalked up a losing score.

Individual issues lost fractions to around 2 points a share, with most declines around a point or less. A total of 113 stocks slumped to new low prices for 1948-49.

Major holdout to the decisive downward trend was the gold group, which advanced fractions to a point or so.

Turnover expanded to the highest for the week as prices flattened. Sales of 860,000 shares compared with 770,000 yesterday.

Shakiness in the railroad group was influenced in part by the cost, in operations and maintenance, of the January-February blizzards in the west.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped .7 of one point to 61.6, a low since 61.2 was hit on March 15 and the largest decline in two weeks. The railway component established a new 1948-49 low.

Eleven brothers in Assen, Holland, have formed a football team.

NEW YORK REPORT

Futures closed 50 cents to $1.10 a bale lower than the previous close.

Farm Loan Made

Densons, Andrews remarked that the insured mortgage loan program "gives us a chance to cooperate with families who don't qualify for regular real estate credit but who deserve the chance to become land-holders."

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Andrews, White and Mr. and Mrs. Vannoy, other special guests were Misses Claynell Fowler, Mrs. Elizabeth Hoffman, home management specialist from Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar McGinty, Byron Haney and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gregory.

Spending Law Hit

amendment route after bills appropriating money to cover the deficits were attacked in both Senate and House as unconstitutional. An opinion on the legal angle has been asked of Attorney General Price Daniel.

The Senate approved Keith Kelly's bill allowing the state prison board to approve its own plans for new buildings without going to the board of control for final approval as now required. The measure goes to the House.

More than 150 uncontested appointments by Gov. Beauford H. Jester were approved by the Senate during an hour-long executive session.

Also approved by the Senate and advanced to the House was a bill aimed at keeping Louisiana shrimp boats out of Texas waters. The House Game and Fish committee approved a similar measure Tuesday. The game commission would have power to fix quotas on the number of commercial fishing boats licensed.

Horsemeat Bill Okayed

The House by 121-to-4 vote approved and sent to the Senate Rep. Jeff Woodruff's bill prohibiting the sale or display for sale of horsemeat for human consumption.

A bill setting up a nine-man commission to revise and recodify the state's election laws ran into floor opposition and was sent to the appropriations committee. The legislation, by Rep. Tom Whitesides of Tyler, had been recommended by the Committee on Privileges, Suffrages and Elections.

Twice today Speaker Durwood Manford called for strict enforcement of House floor rules and asked all persons not entitled to be on the floor to retire.

He said there were men on the floor lobbying for legislation now pending before the House.

Explaining his position in suggesting a return to deficit spending when needed, Brooks said: "I don't think the comptroller should have that much power"—to kill a bill for lack of money. "I don't think he wants that power. Sometimes it may be right for the state to go in debt. I think the decision should be left up to the legislature as to whether it's necessary to go in debt—not the comptroller."
