

C-C Adopts Full
Work Program
For Current Year

Directors and committee heads of the Wellington Chamber of Commerce in a work meeting Saturday night, February 25, outlined an overall program for 1956 that in scope is one of the broadest, yet one of the most concise that the organization has had.

It includes civic improvement, promotion of agriculture, encouragement of irrigation, recreational improvement, beautification and will include a study of many phases of county life.

Duane Scott, president, was in charge of the meeting, but all those attending participated in formulating the program.

The group also heard J. G. Gilles, who is in charge of the public housing program at El Centro, explaining how low-cost public housing under government financing is obtained, and how it is operated after it is built. He explained the city's part and the federal government's part in such a program, its effect on rentals in the lower brackets in the city, and its overall effect on the town.

In brief, here is the program the Chamber of Commerce adopted. Some of this is already in the hands of committees. Committees will be named to handle other phases, and some of it will be subject to study.

1. The C-C will sponsor the annual clean-up drive again this spring.

2. While the problem of a new gymnasium for high school and auditorium for the elementary school was recognized as a school board problem, the group approved a bold attitude on the part of the organization favoring these projects.

3. That a resolution be drawn up and presented the City Council and Commissioners Court asking more rigid enforcement of traffic laws.

4. Improvement of the community building, including a curtain and scenery for the stage, a public address system, lighting and banquet chairs.

5. A golf course for Wellington. City Manager Bura Handey said part of the Airport is available for this and a fine 9-hole golf course could be developed. A committee to see about this was named including Henry Sullivan, Judge R. L. Templeton, Charles Allen and Matt Johnson.

Encourage city wide beautification.

7. To seek improved mail and transportation facilities.

8. Erection of Welcome signs at the approach to Wellington along the highways.

9. To offer Chamber of Commerce help in securing better school bus and mail routes to the proper agencies.

10. To stress immediate attention to needed cotton warehouse storage.

11. A long-range study of a county fair and annual rodeo.

12. The Chamber of Commerce agreed to act as a co-ordinating agency to assist in setting up permanent records on irrigation wells drilled. This information would

Wellington Man and Daughter
Meet for First Time Recently

A Wellington father and his 18 year old daughter, who until three weeks ago he did not know he had, met Monday, February 27 for the first time as Troy Gardner brought his daughter, Jo, here to live.

She is already part of the family that includes besides Mr. and Mrs. Gardner their four children, Bill, who is married and lives at Childress, Helen, Dale and Gale.

A casual question by a hospitalized lawyer in Eugene, Oregon, opened the way for Jo Gardner to find her father, but it was the Editor of The Wellington Leader, Deskins Wells, who was responsible for the needed information being put in Gardner's hands, and who is a large measure responsible for the two finding each other.

A letter from John E. Jaqua of the law firm of Thwing, Jaqua and O'Reilly, Eugene, Oregon, reached Mr. Wells on a quiet Sunday, January 29, asking if he could locate Troy Gardner and saying that his daughter, Lesda Lee (she has been called Jo since she was a baby) would like to get in contact with him. Gardner was out of town that day, but Monday the astonishing letter was given to him at the Wellington Leader office. The expression on his face first was that of unbelief, but by information the letter contained, he felt it was correct and by evening he had a letter in the mail to Mr. Jaqua, and with it another personal letter to be given to the girl.

After reading the letter, Gardner explained the strange mix-up to the editor. He and Grace Johnson were married in 1935, but in 1936 they were separated and divorced. Gardner went to Colorado, where he married Mildred Gatloff on February 8, 1937. April 25 of that same year, they were separated. Gardner returned to Wellington, obtained a divorce and was remarried to Grace Gardner. Their oldest son, Bill, was a small youngster at the time. He was never told that a daughter was born to his marriage with Mildred Gatloff.

As Jo has been living in foster homes for several years and was a ward of the state of Oregon, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner decided he should ask for her custody and they would bring her here to live. Jo Gardner is a blond-haired girl with lovely blue-green eyes and a smile that is radiant these days. She explains that Mr. Jaqua, the Eugene lawyer, was a pa-

C-C Industrial Committee Sponsor

Students Enter Contest
On Industry for Area

Senior students from all high schools of the county are competing in the Chamber of Commerce sponsored essay contest on "What My Town can do to Have More Industry." N. M. Higdon, chairman of the C-C committee, announced this week.

Co-operating with the local C-C is the industrial development committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

First, second and third place awards will be made and the winning essay will compete in district and final judging, Higdon said.

The deadline for entering the contest is Friday, March 9, at 5 p. m. The essays will be judged the following day.

Judging will be based on the practical applicability to the local situation of ideas advanced in the essay, evidence of serious study and investigation toward arriving at answers posed by the title of the essay, and the usual considerations of good composition and neatness, Higdon explained.

Instructions have been turned over to the high schools at Dodson, Quail, Samnorwood, Wellington and Booker T. Washington.

Mrs. Bob McAlister, instructor in Wellington, announced that she is assigning these essays as re-

Observe Public
School Week
March 5-11

Collingsworth County schools will observe Public School Week from Monday, March 5, through Sunday, March 11, when the attention of the patrons and citizens in general will be drawn to the schools and the work they are doing with the boys and girls.

Emphasis in this area is being put on getting people into the schools to see both the physical plants and the work of teachers and students.

P. E. Starr heads a district committee to encourage visiting on the part of the public during the week. Other members are Roy Scrivner and Gerald Mayfield of Shamrock, Paul Thurmond and Taylor Groves of Pampa. Their district includes Gray, Wheeler, Collingsworth and Donley counties.

WELLINGTON

Bennett Goodloe, superintendent of schools, heads this visitation committee in Collingsworth county.

Public School Week observance is under the direction of the Future Teachers of America chapter, which includes 48 boys and girls of high school. Group captains to cover the town inviting people are Mary Hagler, Wesley Savage, Carolyn Coburn and Vada Bell.

They stress visiting during the entire week. They will have cars to bring those people who do not have rides, and they will conduct the visitors on tours of the schools.

QUAIL

Visiting during the entire week is stressed at Quail, Herman Mosley, superintendent, said. Letters of invitation have been sent all patrons of the district, and upon coming to the school, they will see school as it operates on a day-in, day-out basis.

Two events will climax Public School Week. Future Homemakers will hold their annual style show Friday night, March 9, under the direction of Mrs. Monty Mitchell, instructor.

Saturday, March 10, the annual FFA Stock Show will be held. Frank Kennedy is director.

Plans for both events are being worked out and will be announced next week.

DODSON

Visiting will be stressed at Dodson, also, and on Wednesday, March 7, members of the Dodson Masonic Lodge will visit the school in a body.

One other event is planned, a chapel exercise open to the public. The date of this is to be announced.

At Community Building

WTU Sponsors Cooking
School Thursday, Mar. 8

How would you like to cook your family's meals simply by turning a switch? Today the homemaker can accomplish just that . . . cook a complete meal by just turning a switch. Mrs. Abbie Andrews, widely known Home Economist, will demonstrate the most recent and proved developments in modern cooking at the demonstration which will be held Thursday, March 8 in the community building at 2:30 p. m.

Cameron Beam, West Texas Utilities Company Local Manager, has issued an invitation to all the housewives in the Wellington area and the surrounding area to be his guests at the demonstration which is planned as one of the best ever conducted here.

The demonstration, sponsored by the West Texas Utilities Company, will be conducted by Mrs. Abbie Andrews, a senior Home Economist for Frigidaire Sales.

Mrs. Andrews, who will present the very latest in food preparation and time saving methods, is a graduate Home Economist with years of practical experience. She has had special training in food preparation, preservation, and quick freezing techniques at the nationally famous Frigidaire Home Economics Department Dayton, Ohio.

Receipts and favors will be given to homemakers who attend the demonstration. All the food used in demonstrating the modern electric way of food preparation will be presented to women attending the school.

Actors from Five Nations
In "Martin Luther" Film

Actors from five countries make up the cast of "Martin Luther," dramatic film feature based on the life of the 16th century Protestant Reformation leader, which will be shown at the First Christian Church Tuesday, March 6 at 7:30 p. m. The film takes Luther from his beginnings as an Augustinian monk to the Diet of Augsburg, when Luther learns the evangelical principles had fearlessly stood by him in their convictions, the Rev. Delmer Freeman, minister, announced.

The film is an hour and 45 minutes in length.

Because "Martin Luther" is based entirely on historical fact, the performers had to be chosen not only for their ability to act, but also for their resemblance to the characters they were playing. The chief aim was to engage first-rate actors who looked like original characters as portrayed in paintings, woodcuts, and drawings of the 16th century. To assure as much accuracy as possible, Louis de Rochemont Associates, producers of the motion picture for Lutheran Church Productions, Inc., shot the film on location in Western Germany.

Candidates for the roles were flown from New York, London, and Paris to Wiesbaden, Germany, where the production unit had set up its headquarters. Producers Lothar Wolff, of de Rochemont Associates, sat with Lutheran church officials while the actors "read" for the parts and were screen-tested. For the role of Luther, they chose Niall MacGinnis, distinguished Irish actor who has appeared with the famous Old Vic Theatre in Shakespearean roles and in numerous British films.

All bit parts were played by natives in whatever town the company happened to be shooting, 450 being hired at Kloster Eberbach for the final big scene in the film. For the children's roles, German school children were provided by Lutheran churches in Wiesbaden, English-speaking children and several American bit players by the U. S. Air Force chaplain's office in Wiesbaden, headed by Chaplain Martin Poch, a Missouri Lutheran pastor who was chief of the Air Force chaplains in Europe.

No Candidates
For City Council

Saturday, March 3, is the deadline for filing for candidate for city alderman, and so far, not a candidate has filed, Mrs. Jennie Holcomb, city secretary, said Tuesday evening.

There has been little political talk on the city level, but it is anticipated there will be several last-minute candidates to put their name on the ballot.

Judge Templeton
Stricken Wed.

County Judge R. L. Templeton was stricken Wednesday morning February 29, about 9 a. m. with what is believed to be a heart attack. He is in St. Joseph's Hospital.

He became ill in his office and told John Bevers, veterans officer, that he was going home. A few minutes later, however, he was found in his office by Mrs. Ola Wall, who is handling the surplus commodities program, and she called Mrs. J. W. Thomas, C-C secretary, who in turn called an ambulance. He was not unconscious at the time.

Judge Templeton's brother-in-law, John Ben Castleberry, said his condition could be called "very sick," and that doctors were preparing to run an electrocardiogram as soon as possible. He added that Judge Templeton had suffered a previous heart attack about six months ago.

Swindlers Sell Fabrics Marked "All Wool"

SALT LAKE CITY—A smoothly operating band of door-to-door salesmen who sell cheap substitute fabrics as "all-wool" are cheating the nation's housewives out of hundreds of thousands of dollars each year, the American Wool Council has warned here.

The swiftly spreading racket, which foils local authorities in most communities, has reached as far West as Southern California and as far East as Hartford, Conn., according to the Better Business Bureau in New York. In most cases, victims are persons who can ill afford to be swindled.

Fast-talking and fast-moving members of the organization hit with greatest frequency in rural America. Here, in smaller towns with few stores, these slickly polished gyps can reach the heart of the nation's budget-conscious, home-sewing market.

Telling a story of personal hard luck, the itinerant salesman offers what are described as luxury wool fabrics at sacrifice prices, authentic-looking labels identifying the fabrics as "all-wool" play a big part in clinching most sales, they add.

Only after the salesman has sped away in his high powered car do both the salesman's story and fabric prove to be synthetic.

"These operations, which constitute a nationwide swindle of gigantic proportions, are cleverly devised to escape effective prosecution and are geographically planned to victimize widely scattered segments of the population," says W. H. Steiwer, the American Wool Council's president.

"For every one of the hundreds of local incidents reported each year," he adds, "thousands of sales unquestionably go unreported."

How to Be a Sucker in 3 Easy Lessons

LESSON ONE — Things to Avoid

1. Don't read stories like this clipping from the newspaper. To do so may undermine your confidence in hit-and-run salesmen to such an extent that you will never be able to achieve Grade A Suckership.
2. Keep away from your local, taxpaying, community-supporting stores. To shop them carefully may interfere with your free acceptance of the salesman's pitch about offering values that the stores can't beat.

LESSON TWO — Have Faith

1. Swallow whatever line the nice man hands you, because he and his company (which you probably never heard of) guarantees what he says.
2. Don't display your rudeness by asking him to further jeopardize his immortal soul by inquiring where he could be found by tomorrow if you had to try to collect on his guarantee.

LESSON THREE — Forget

1. Forget that you may want the people you do business with to help out with local money-raising projects. And where will the peddler be then?
2. Forget that about one-third of the money you spend with local business establishments finds its way into community upkeep and progress, while the peddler puts this part down in his sock.

Miss Fern Fitzgerald and Jerry Nix Marry in Quiet Ceremony Saturday

Wedding vows uniting Miss Fern Fitzgerald of Samnorwood and Jerry Nix of Wellington were read in the presence of members of their immediate families Saturday afternoon, February 25, at three o'clock in the parsonage of the First Methodist Church at Wildorado, where the bride's father is pastor.

Parents of the couple are the Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Fitzgerald, who formerly lived at Dodson, and Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Nix of Wellington.

The Rev. Mr. Fitzgerald officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony.

For her wedding, the bride chose a beige wool suit, designed with a short jacket and straight skirt. Complimenting this were her accessories in a soft shade of pink. Her wedding bouquet was of pink roses, and the traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue was carried out.

Miss Juanita Fitzgerald of Newcastle, Colorado, was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a blue knit suit and her corsage was of pink roses.

E. W. Blain, the groom's grandfather, was best man.

A reception followed the ceremony. The serving table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow daisies. After the couple had cut the first slice of their three-tiered wedding cake, the guests were served by Mrs. Donnita Jones, aunt of the groom. Mrs. R. L. Ball of Wichita, Kansas, sister of the bride, was at the punch service.

The bride was graduated from high school in Springfield, Missouri, and received her bachelor of science degree from Texas State College for Women in 1955. There she held membership in the Atheneum Literary Club, the Home Economics Club and the Home Economics Education Club. She is now instructor in homemaking at Samnorwood high school.

The groom is a member of a family long prominent in ranching, farming and banking circles of the area. He is the great grandson of Mrs. Mellie Foster, and a great-grandfather, the late A. W. Blain, was one of the organizers and long-time president of the Wellington State Bank, an institution which the groom's grandfather now heads.

Reared here, Mr. Nix graduated from Wellington high school and attended Texas Technological College at Lubbock.

He is now associated in the family's farming and ranching interests in the lower Panhandle, western Oklahoma area.

Following a brief honeymoon, the couple has established their home at Samnorwood.

Bridal Registry Service

Something new for the Brides of the Wellington Area is being offered by Parsons Drug starting this week. Called The Bridal Registry Service, this new program enables Brides-to-be to place on record their selections in china, glass and silver plus other wedding gifts that they would like to own for their first home.

The new Registry Service is very simple and works like this. When a girl is about to announce her engagement or has set the wedding date, she is invited to visit Parsons Drug's Bridal Registry Desk. There, the sales personnel will show her all the new patterns in china, glass and silver so that the Bride can choose those designs and items which make a coordinated table setting of her choice. In this way, the Bride will be able to try different combinations of styles and patterns to achieve the effects she would like to have on her own tables.

When the selections are made, they are recorded on a Bridal Registry Sheet and placed in the Bridal Book at Parsons Drug. These sheets will be kept up to date as gifts are selected, so that customers can simply check them to see what the Bride's preferences were and what items have not yet been given.

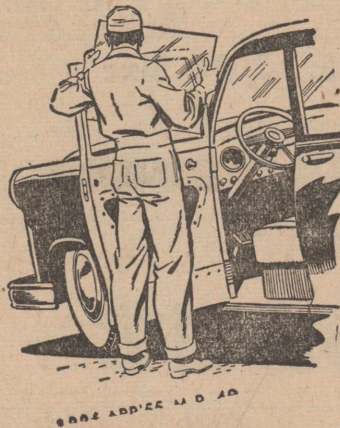

Parsons Drug points out that this service is entirely free. They feel it will be a help to the Bride in avoiding duplications and "white elephant" gifts. Also, it will be helpful for her friends to choose wedding gifts they can be sure the Bride would like to have in her home.

The new customer service is scheduled to start this week at Parsons Drug. Brides-to-be are urged to come in and register their selections and those choosing wedding gifts will find this new service a help in simplifying their selections.

Congratulations to Wellington's greatest basketball team of all time. So far as this writer knows this is the third basketball team to ever win a district crown and they went on to win bi-district and play in the regional where they made a most creditable showing in a 45 to 44 game. Coach Clements basketballers shot two more field goals than the boys from Big Lake; but they outdid the Rockets on free throws making 15 points by this route as compared to 10 for the Rockets.

In the final quarter the Rockets staged one of the most remarkable defensive games ever seen on any court. The Big Lake boys did not score a single field goal in the last 9 minutes of play; but did manage to stay ahead by the free throw route.

The team should be much better next year. Reggie Smith is the only senior on the championship team. All of the others are either juniors or sophomores.

Wellington's first district championship team was coached by R. F. Curry in 1918, and the second by Bob Percival in the latter forties. Walter Johnson, Ted O'Neil, I. D. Russell, Robert Fulton were members of this squad.

Our championship team reminds us once again that Wellington is in dire need of an adequate gymnasium. Basketball could be a money making sport if we had the right sort of gym. We seldom get a district tournament simply because the other schools hate to play on our type of court.

The President's veto of the gas bill not only affected the oil and gas industry of the Southwest adversely, it will also have an adverse effect in Collingsworth County. We have quite a number of gas wells in the northern part of the county and a potential for a much greater number. But there will be no more development until some such bill as the Harris bill is passed by Congress.

I was telling Dr. Chas. B. Jones about eating spoon bread during the time I was getting accustomed to my new teeth, and he wanted the recipe. The important thing is old fashioned stone ground corn meal, which still has the oily germ in it. It can be purchased at several grocery stores in Wellington. My wife says that the recipe can be found in almost any cook book.

Anyhow here is the recipe for Spoon Bread:
2 cups water
1 cup stone ground cornmeal
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon shortening
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs

Mix the water and corn-meal and bring slowly to the boiling point. Cook five minutes. Add the milk, shortening, salt and well beaten eggs. Beat thoroughly and bake in a well greased pan for twenty five minutes at 400 degrees F. Serve from same dish with a spoon.

Southern Spoon Bread is the same; with the addition of one fourth of a cup of cracklings.

Ran across a statement the other day from Sen. Stuart Symington, another man from Missouri. He wants full disclosures on what the United States has in atom bombs, aircraft and other military information that should be top secret. The Russians would not need to hire or infiltrate any spies if these were enough Senators like Symington. They could learn it by reading the reports that this country put out. The Russians could be ahead of us on guided missiles, aircraft etc. Why tell them whether they are or not?

Visit Father In Canada

Mrs. Wilton Ketchum and Lois Tyson of the Fresno community returned recently from New Westminster, British Columbia, Canada, where they visited their father, W. S. Tyson. They went by Oakland, California, and were accompanied from there by their sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tucker.

The group reached New Westminster the day after their father's 80th birthday.

He has been hospitalized since a few days before Christmas with an amatic condition complicated by a heart condition, and little hope is held for his recovery.

Duncan Hatchery

Hello Folks:

I've been intending to write a letter to Nancy Elliott, and have put it off 'til tomorrow too many days. Nancy, I'm so glad to have the privilege of sponsoring you in the Miss Wellington contest.

To you people that don't know Miss Elliott (of the Flying Red Horse Elliotts) she's a slick chick. A month ago I'd have said beautiful and very talented young lady.

If you haven't heard her play the piano, you've missed something.

Now old Hook will have to dig for a new frock and I'll get the advertising.

Lots of people have asked me why I wanted to move back to Wellington. Have you ever tried to raise kids in a large town? Have you ever driven 4 or 5 miles through a city, passing cars right and left, and not see a person you know? Have you ever lived next door to people 6 or 12 months and not even know their names?

Here we can let the kids walk to school. It's easier to drive, because I know by the car ahead when he's going to turn right or left, because I know where people live, and who they visit, etc.

My family consists of Faye, Skip, Ann and Mrs. L. A. Moore. Mrs. Moore had a little taste of city life, too. When you go to church in a city it's different. She will tell you that.

I don't know whether we're living with Mrs. Moore, or if she's living with us. Anyhow, we're living together, and if you want to telephone her, ask information for my number.

I want to thank B&B Electric, Stengel Plumbing, Cicero Smith Lumber, Shamburger Lumber, Wellington Hardware, H & H, for helping me get open. Looks like this plug should be worth a 30-day extension of my account.

You know, you'd be surprised what you can find by scrounging in the back of some of these stores. I saw Lowell Wells was re-decorating his store and just knew he'd have something I needed. I told him we'd probably both go broke and if we had the same banker it would be six of one and half-dozen of the other, whether they hauled it out of my store or his.

But he was a little narrow-minded about giving away very many of his fixtures. Just for that I'm going to try to talk Mr. Hatch and Mr. Wells into putting in a dry goods store. We could call it Hatch and Wells.

I had my first two customers the other day (I could have said my only two, so far). Badge Duncan of the laundry Duncans (don't know if I ought to count kinfolks deals) and Lynn Courtney (might not count him either—he has a daughter that has my boy polishing his shoes every night. I think Skip put the pressure on him.)

To Badge and Lynn I want to say thanks, and come back again. Maybe next time I won't be so rushed with customers and can give you a little more time.

I need to say something about Evergreen Feeds. But don't know as I will. They didn't have very much to say about me. If you'll look real close maybe you can find their little gem some place among the tripe on this page. I was intending to really run my head about EVERGREEN. Then say I had more to say about EVERGREEN Feeds than they said about me, but I figure that if you want to read about Evergreen you can read the rest of this page. I wouldn't know what I was talking about anyway.

I will say this. EVERGREEN is the best feed I ever sold.

A Workable Chamber of Commerce Program is Before Us. Let's Give it Our Help

On another page in this issue you will find the work program of the Wellington Chamber of Commerce for the remainder of 1956.

We hope you will read it carefully. The program has certain earmarks that stand to make it successful. For one thing, it is a practical program, but then it was set up by practical men who have learned to be that way through a good many years in business here.

It is a program particularly for the Wellington trade area. No one from the outside could have set up a program that would apply so aptly. We have problems and peculiarities that are our own and any program set up has to fit them.

Positive, is another word for this program.

The 1956 program is ambitious, but not too ambitious. It includes things that are in our grasp. It doesn't have all the things we would like to see for Wellington and the surrounding area, but it does have a certain number of projects that we can finish or get under way in the period before us as far as the Chamber of Commerce directors can see. This program, and others like it, can be measured only in the things accomplished at the end of the year.

We have a strong leadership in the Chamber of Commerce. We have a spirit of enthusiasm and co-operation. These are important ingredients in making the program work.

It is not the program of the directors alone. They have considered the suggestions that came out in the recent Chamber of Commerce Clinic. They have talked to a lot of folks in casual conversations.

Right now we in Wellington are more eager to do something for ourselves than we have been in a long time. The directors are asking for our co-operation and our help. Let's give it to them!

Crossroads Report

Dear Editor:

I see where the Republican National Committee is aiming to do $250,000 worth of laundry work on U. S. public brains to educate us to like the Eisenhower farm program.

My nervous neighbor says the committee had better be careful. On account of Mr. Eisenhower vetoed the gas bill when he heard that somebody spent money to educate a Senator in favor of it.

Seems that even if he thinks a bill is good for the country he won't have it if it has money on its breath. The Republican committee would feel embarrassed if their monetary enthusiasm for the President's own farm program was to turn him against it.

Bible Comment:

Faith That Jesus Lives Upholds Us

WE will soon see how the joy and hosannas of the triumphal entry of Jesus into Jerusalem changes quickly into the scenes of darkness and tragedy, as Jesus is arrested, brought before Pilate and then driven forth to crucifixion.

(Jesus had warned the disciples in words that, after the event, seemed unmistakably plain that He was about to suffer and die. But the disciples were so filled with the idea of an earthly kingdom, and they were so busy disputing about who should have the preferred places, almost to the very moment of the crucifixion, that they failed to take His words seriously.)

But, in the very hour of dark despair, comes the joyous news of the empty tomb and the risen Christ.

Hope and faith revive, and the disciples go forth to their task of world conquest.

What less than that conviction that Jesus has risen and revealed Himself to them could send them forth in a new-found faith, prepared if need be to die for the glory of spiritually carrying on the work and ministry of their King?

Would God that we, also, experience and know the Risen Christ at this coming Eastertide as they knew Him. Would that we find the power that these humble men found through the Resurrection!

To the extent that we experience this upsurge of faith will our Easter be joyous.

AUSTIN — President Eisenhower jerked the platform out from under the Republican Party in Texas and his Democratic supporters in the Lone Star State, when he vetoed the now famous natural gas bill.

"To sign the bill," said the President, "would risk creating doubt among the American people concerning the integrity of governmental processes." This statement referred to a $2,500 campaign contribution offered a Senator, presumably for his vote favoring the measure.

Strong support was given Ike in Texas, when the native son ran for President, because of his State's Rights stand. Another factor was his expressed belief in the private enterprise system of free competition. This stand made Texans feel the President would sign the bill.

U. S. Senator Price Daniel said "The President has made a great mistake."

Gov. Allan Shivers, Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd and members of the State Railway Commission joined in criticizing the President's action.

Jack Porter, the Republican party's national committeeman from Texas, said that he disagreed with the advice upon which the President's action was based. The veto will make Porter's job in Texas more difficult.

Public officials and oil men in general seem in agreement that passage over the President's veto is impossible. Therefore, Texas' next move may be a campaign to bring industries to Texas. This, because gas produced in a state and used by manufacturers located within that same state is not subject to control by the Federal Power Commission.

Ike's veto was a set-back to Senator Price Daniel who promised to report his future political plans by March 1. "Delay in passage of the farm bill, and the Presidential veto of the natural gas bill, may mean that I will not be able to reach a decision as early as I had planned, regarding the governorship race," said Daniel. "But we may have to fight this out on the home front in Texas," he added — still paying the way for entry in the governor's race.

TWO QUESTION MARKS

Two big question marks remaining in Texas' current political scene are the intentions of Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd and Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey. No one seems to know what either will do.

Shepperd, only recently regarded as definitely planning retirement to private business, again is being discussed as a possible candidate, either for re-election or for governor. His only comment has been that, "The frost is still on the dogwood," — interpreted as "it's too early for political announcements."

A growing number of editorials urging him to continue in public office have appeared in several Texas dailies. The latest have been the Lufkin Daily News and the Cuero Daily Record. It was the latter newspaper that broke the veterans' block-land-sales story. The Cuero Record commended Shepperd on his work in the veterans' land investigation.

I Saw-

BY VIRGINIA ROBEY

Gloria Norman working at her new job at Cicero Smith Lumber Company, where husband Reece is manager ... Barbara Clark and Pat Lewis doing errands about the Variety Hour their club, 1954 Study Club, is giving Friday ... and Helen Fires taking care of the tickets and circulars for that same event.

At the Teachers banquet Monday night, Sam Culpepper, who lived here 55 years ago, came back to be the guest speaker. His father, Rev. S. B. Culpepper, was pastor of First Baptist Church. "I'll always remember the year I went to school here. I was a junior in high school, and along about March part of the teachers left. Pappa and Brother Browning, the Methodist pastor, went down to help them finish out the term, and I drew Pappa for two classes, civics and general science. And let me tell you, I had more supervised study, both at home and at school, during that three months than I ever had in my life."

And among the Dodson group, Ruth Hightower figuring out that she has been in school, either as student or teacher, all except eight years of her life and that includes the six before she was old enough to attend ... Ted Parker pleased because his junior high boys basketball team defeated Wellington for the very first time since the two teams have been playing. This happened in the Quail tournament. And he wasn't disappointed that his girls team lost to Wellington. Lois Hendricks attending her first teachers banquet. Her husband, Bill, is pastor of South Baptist Church and she stepped into the job when one of the teachers resigned early in the year.

L. B. Bratten, who used to be a teacher too, scheduled to sing, and he did with a sore throat. It had been requested that he sing "Without a Song." "That may be it, too," he said when he started.

Peggy Wilson, wife of Teacher Association president J. D. Wilson, saying she drove from Mineral Wells to get home in time for the banquet. She'd been in Dallas visiting son Gene and doing some more things.

Heard ... Miss Wellington contest comes next Friday, March 2, and they're trying to get it on television, or photographed for reproduction on TV. With as many pretty girls — there must be 75 or 80 — as there are in the contest, Miss Wellington on TV would be something to see.

About the irrigation meeting ... saw in Dick Dudley's Hollis Weekly News that Dr. Schunk, the featured speaker, used to with SCS in Harmon County ... he knew more about us than we thought ... but the way the farmers who have, or think they will have, irrigation gathered around after the meeting was over showed he left plenty of new information behind him here.

And Mrs. John Brim saying the new grandson is just fine ... Mrs. Hubert Mauldin wishing her husband would ask some questions about irrigation that she wanted to know ... County Agent Lefty Thomas doing a fine job of presiding at the meeting, and some one next day wanting to know if he'd had the Dale Carnegie Course.

M. L. Burks quite proud of Lonesome Bill Smith, who did the tape recording for the KGNB farm hour broadcasts. Lonesome Bill was his student when Melvin taught agriculture in Sam Houston State College.

And out a piece from town, Ada Carole Thomas exercising her beautiful calf that will go to the Houston stock show ...

Johnson Grass Welcome Here

Terracing Important part of M. W. Paschal Land Program

M. W. Paschal who lives one and three-quarter miles east of Lutie is the Conservation Farmer from Sub-District 5 of the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District to be honored recently by the Wellington Chamber of Commerce.

He's one of the men in the county who regards Johnson grass as a sort of lifesaver rather than a menace, and he depends on it heavily in his stock-farming.

But Johnson grass is only one part of his program, and the less dramatic part at that. Terracing has been the big thing in his land conservation and now his wheat is greener because of it, Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, says.

Paschal began farming for himself here in 1950 when he bought the Grant Jolley farm. The following year, 1951, he bought some land from Mrs. Floyd Thompson and in 1953 a quarter from his father-in-law, Lewis Green. In addition to his own three-quarters, he rents 80 acres from J. L. Jolley.

He didn't begin his terracing program until 1954 when he built about four miles of terraces. Last year he added two more, and in the process eliminated an old lake that was from three to five acres in extent, depending on the year. "That lake made a lot more last year than it had been making," he declared. The year before that spot of land lay out.

Paschal farms on the contour with the terraces, which are 18 inches high. He plants over the whole terrace, too, 12 rows to the terrace. He uses two-row equipment and has no trouble working them.

Paschal has figured it out that the terraces themselves take 18 acres of land, and by cultivating on them, he has just that much land which has the greatest benefit from any rainfall. Since building the system, he hasn't lost any water off the land, although he hasn't had a chance to test it with gully washing rain.

Comparing production on the terraced to unterraced land, Paschal figures it is doubled. Cotton this season averaged better than a quarter of a bale per acre. On the unterraced land it was considerably lower.

This farm is in an area where there are numerous draws, and some of them on the place couldn't be crossed with a tractor. Paschal has done a considerable amount of hard work on these, and now the ditches are worked in.

This year, he planted 50 acres of winter rye for soil improvement.

Paschal tried 12 acres of guar in 1954, and from the standpoint of bean production, it didn't do anything. His soil is tighter than that on which guar does best. Yet he found that from crop results in 1955, it must have put some fertility in the soil. He doesn't call the guar experiment a failure.

Getting established in livestock, Paschal has 27 head of mixed cattle, now running on 145 acres of grass. Since this is only five acres of grass to each cow, he must depend heavily on supplemental grazing, and that is where the Johnson grass comes in. He keeps them on it in the summer then turns them on the native grass in winter. With it he uses a stalk field and feeds bundles and a little cake.

He has planted blue panic grass in the Johnson grass and thinks this is going to be a good combination.

Paschal has 110 acres of cotton and will plant 60 acres in cane and hegar, the crop program he has worked out as most satisfactory for himself, Squyres said.

Paschal is a World War II veteran of four years service. He was in the European Theatre 28 months with the First Amored Division. A tank driver, he was in action through Tunisia and Italy.

Reared at Memphis, he was married to Miss Alama Jean Green in 1948. The following year they moved here and Paschal farmed for his father-in-law a year before beginning for himself.

Mr. and Mrs. Paschal have two children, Max, 6, and Chrissie, two.

Big Event of Year

Cubs Hold Annual Blue and Gold Banquet

Approximately 120 Cub Scouts, their parents and other guests, attended the Blue and Gold Banquet Monday night, February 27, to celebrate the high point of the entire year for these boys who are being introduced to Scouting.

County Attorney Denzil Bevers was guest speaker, pointing out to boys and their parents that Cubbing is the road into Scouting, and that all the principals emphasized in Boy Scout work are those on which good citizenship is based.

He told the group that of the thirty-two young men chosen as Rhodes Scholars in the United States, 81 per cent had been Scouts, and over the period of years the scholarships have been given, 57 per cent of the men had been Scouts.

Curtis Thaxton, Cubmaster for Wellington, was master of ceremonies.

After the entire group had sung "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," the pledge of Allegiance was given by the Cubs, and the invocation was given by Cecil Stokes, assistant Cubmaster until he moved to Childress recently. Guests were introduced by Mr. Thaxton, and new Cubs initiated by Richard Bailey. Two poems were given, "My Mom," by Gene Sweat and "My Pop" by Jennings Wells.

The rank of Webelos, highest in Cubbing, was presented by Cubmaster Thaxton on Gene Sweat, Raymond Sanders, Craig Bergvall, Richard Bolton, Billy Tyler and Don Strong.

Mrs. A. J. Fires gave the "Cub Mother's Prayer" and the singing of "America" closed the banquet. The Cubs are sponsored in Wellington by the Kiwanis Club, of which Maxey McKnight is president. Members of the pack committee are Judge Raymond Horon, Richard Bailey, Truett Thomas, Royce Daves and Billy Hatch.

Dr. Jones To Ron Musical

Dr. Chas. B. Jones attended a musical program recently at Ron School, northeast of Dodson, where Wayne Jones is serving as superintendent.

The program was conducted by Mrs. Jones, musical director of the school.

An unusual feature of this school is that 15 negro children, 5 Indian and 6 Mexican children attend school and ride the school buses with 150 white children.

This desegregation was brought about by economic necessity, and there has been no objection from any of the students, Supt. Jones told Dr. Jones.

Members of the school board are J. A. Wharton, Earl Demons, W. E. Burt, W. D. Strickland and Roland Kromer.

ergreen Feeds.

To celebrate opening the new business, Duncan is giving away 2,000 baby chicks to customers beginning Saturday.

"I'm part of Wellington and I had to come back to it," declared Duncan, who had been living in Lubbock. That's the best reason there is."

Duncan has re-arranged the interior of the building to suit the needs of a hatchery, and has installed complete equipment for a modern-up-to-date business in this line.

His incubator has 2,500 chick capacity, and hatching will continue as late as there is a demand for baby chicks.

"There's nothing formal about us or about the business, and that's why we're inviting all you to this big informal opening on Saturday. Whether you have a place to put even one baby chicken, we want you to come down and see what we have to offer," Duncan said.

Roy Allen Jackson, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson, entered St. Joseph's Hospital Monday for medical treatment.
