Robber Sought After Killing Near Milford

Woman Had Been To Waco With Friends; Empty Shell Found In Car; Gun Is Missing

(By The Associated Press)

MILFORD, Tex., Nov. 19—Mrs. Billie Wheat, wife of the constable at McGregor, Tex., was found shot to death today in a cotton field near here.

Her body was found in her husband's automobile a mile and a half from this town, several hours after she disappeared in Waco last night. A bullet wound was in her head.

No Gun Is Found

Chief of Detectives M. Burton of Waco said it appeared as if a robber had forced Mrs. Wheat to drive out of Waco, shot her and left her body in the car. An empty cartridge was found in the automobile but there was no gun.

Mrs. Wheat, telephone operator here, went with several women to Waco yesterday to attend a lodge meeting. She left them to visit the telephone building there and was not seen by her friends after that.

Constable George Everett of Milford said the body was found by T. P. Keeland and C. L. Waitland on the latter's farm.

Uncle Charley Storms But His "In-Laws" Continue To Offer Problem By Their Picketing

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19—A picket-parade of his relatives gave Charles Zolot a new form of "in-law" trouble today.

His sister-in-law, Mrs. Minnie Zolot, and her three children paced back and forth in front of his furniture factory carrying signs. One of them read: "Why doesn't our uncle help us?"

Uncle Charley stormed:

"It's illegal. I'll get a mandamus—or something."

He thought awhile and added:

"It won't work. I get the injunction and they go to jail—and I'll have to bail them out."

The signs assert Zolot won't help his jobless brotner, Martin, husband and father of the four picketers.

A union, perplexed, sent one of its members to carry this sign:

"This shop is fair to organized labor."

Slum Rehousing 's Only Object

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. — Nathan Straus, administrator of the United States Housing authority, assured the United States Chamber of Commerce's housing conference today the authority's program would not compete with the private building industry.

He told 300 representatives of the building industry and chambers of commerce, assembled to consider means of stimulating private construction that "no competition with private industry is contemplated by me or, if I read the law right, is even possible under the act."

To Benefit Slum Dwellers

Straus, called by President Roosevelt to direct the $500,000,000 program authorized by the Wagner-Steagall housing act, said the authority's activities would be directed entirely at rehousing slum dwellers.

"We want to use our funds not to house a few families in ideal homes, but to house as many slum dwellers as possible in decent homes," he said.

Gerrish Gassaway, secretary of the Wilmington (Del.) Chamber of Commerce, said the conference should demand that the government restrict itself to the field of providing housing for sub-normal income groups.

Debate Is To Start Monday On Proposal

Wage-Hour Standards And Crop Control Legislation Likely To Receive Prompt Action

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19—Prospects improved today for enacting wage-hour standards and crop control legislation—two of President Roosevelt's recommendations — before congress quits for the Christmas holidays.

A statement by John L. Lewis terming the wage-hour bill "undeniably sound" in principle, despite "serious limitations," encouraged its sponsors to redouble efforts to get the bill before the house.

Views Are Sought

Chairman Norton (D-NJ) of the house labor committee, who also has asked Secretary Perkins and President William reen of the American Federation of Labor for their views, continued her campaign to force the bill from the house rules committee. A petition to accomplish this has been signed by more than half the required 218 members.

Although some leaders remained dubious about the wage-hour bill's chances at this session, they agreed that both house and senate probably could start debating farm legislation on Monday.

Details of the measures were not in final form, but Secretary Wallace's ever-normal granary program is expected to form a base for marketing quota provisions.

Pass Bill In Week

Democratic Leader Barkley predicted the senate could pass the farm bill in a week, and that the

Eyston Breaks Speed Record

(By The Associated Press)

BONNEVILLE SALT LAKE FLATS, Nov. 19 — Capt. George Eyston of England today set a new world's land speed record of 311.42 miles per hour.

The genial captain from London flashed through the mile and back again in "Thunderbolt," a 24 cylinder racing giant, for an average of 11.56 seconds.

Fastest Ever Traveled

Eyston's speed, the fastest man has ever traveled in an automobile, exceeded Sir Malcolm Campbell's record of 301.1292 miles per hour by a wide margin.

Campbell's mark, which withstood two previous assaults by Eyston, was achieved here in September, 1934.

Eyston, a thin, scholarly man of 40 who retired from the British army several years ago, clipped the northward mile in 11.79 seconds for an average speed of 305.34 miles per hour and then sped back in 11.33 seconds for a naimost unbelievable mark of 317.74 miles per hour.

Should Women Reach For The Check? That Problem Still Is Puzzle To Emily Post

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—Emily Post who, by her own estimate, has penned 5,000,000 words in 15 years on what to do and when to do it, still has not settled the problem of how a woman should behave when the waiter presents the check.

The etiquette expert admits a change in the old order which arbitrarily delegated the feminine half of the party to the background while the bills were being paid, but she hasn't evolved a satisfactory rule to prescribe when the lady should reach for the check.

"There ought to be some give and take," she told an audience at the New York Times book fair yesterday. "There is need for a brand new order of manners."

Equality prevails in the business world, she pointed out, for there men and women work as companions and lunch as co-workers. But in the evening—that's another story.

Yet, said she, "that isn't fair when women are often earning as much or more than the men who entertain them. I think it is perfectly fair if he takes her once and she takes him another time. I think my next book will have to be entirely about this."

Last Of Kidnapers Now In Hands Of The Law

(By The Associated Press)

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 19.—It was freedom's end today for three members of the 1933 O'Connell kidnap gang—their capture effected through information supplied by a janitor and a parking lot attendant.

Percy "Angel Face" Geary, leader of the desperado triumvirate which staged a daring escape from the Onondaga county penitentiary at nearby Jamesville, N. Y., early Tuesday morning, was seized yesterday afternoon in a Syracuse parking lot shanty.

Captured On Tip

The other two, John Oley and Harold Crowley, recaptured Wednesday in a Syracuse rooming house on a tip supplied by a janitor—Ivan Whiteford, exactly 36 hours after their escape, were brought to Albany and lodged in the Albany county jail.

Meanwhile from Washington the justice department ordered two investigations of the escape.

Casper Mirra, 20, a parking lot attendant, furnished the tip which led to Geary's capture.

Injured In Leap

Geary, injured when he leaped from a second floor window to escape capture at the time his two companions were seized, hobbled a block and a half to a warehouse across the street from a parking lot.

Mirra told police he called to Geary to "come on over and get warm."

He stayed there 24 hours. Mirra's suspicions were aroused when in a conversation with the escaped prisoner, Geary said: "If I caught those poor fellows I don't think I'd turn them in."

Mirra sent a parking lot customer after a policeman.

(By The Associated Press)

Stronger competition against other bidders for the prospective homeowner's dollar, correcting misconceptions of building costs, adjustment of business taxes, rewriting obsolete building codes, coordination within the building industry, better financing, and support of labor.

Six Burned As Small Shack Is Destroyed

Policeman Discovers Blaze In Shed; All Bodies Are Found To Be In Sleeping Postures

(By The Associated Press)

FORT COLLINS, Colo., Nov. 19—Six persons were burned to death early today while sleeping in a one-room shed rented for their living quarters after the close of the sugar beet harvesting campaign.

The dead: Tomas Cebes, 68; Sara Cebes, 51, his wife; Benny Ortiz, 38, their daughter; Carmel Ortiz, 14, daughter of Benny Ortiz; Sara Ortiz, 11, another daughter; Henry Ortiz, 9, a son.

In Sleeping Postures

Police Chief Orville P. Kelley said Patrolman J. B. Thompson discovered the fire while cruising early today. Chief Kelley said all the victims' bodies still were in their sleeping postures indicating none received warning of the blaze.

When the fire was discovered by the patrolman it was then too advanced to permit the rescue of any of the six persons sleeping inside, Kelley said.

He said the explosion of an oil stove, possibly from the heat of a nearby coal stove, may have caused the fire.

Texas Women Are Beauties

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 19.—Women of Texas and the south are more beautiful than European women.

This opinion was expressed today by Mrs. P. A. Houston of Henderson, member of the state board of cosmetology and authority on beauty culture, who recently returned from a continental tour with a group of international beauticians.

Are More Intelligent

Mrs. Houston, with years of practical experience behind her, said Texas women not only were endowed with greater natural beauty than Europeans but were more intelligent and alert in matters of personal attractiveness.

"The fact the American art of beauty treatment is more advanced than that of foreign countries," she said, "and that only the more wealthy classes on the continent patronize beauty shops are among reasons for our women's superior beauty.

"Southern women are style conscious in all phases of feminine loveliness. They take far better care of their skin, hair, hands and nails. They study their own characteristics and, with the aid of experts, enhance their individual allure."

Mrs. Houston said, however, Texas women could take a tip from their continental sisters in matters of perfume.

"Like shades of powder," she said, "foreign women are trained to blend perfumes into subtle odors. The Europeans have developed this fine art. They reveal their individuality in distinctive scents."

After devoting much time to research on the subject of raising the standards of the beautician's profession, "which is in its infancy," Mrs. Houston has concluded Texas should have a recognized training course for beauty school teachers.

To that end, she hopes to see established at the University of Texas a summer school course.

Mercury Shrinks To 14 Degrees, Season's Low

Fourteen-degree temperature rode a marrow-chilling northeast wind into the South Plains early today, to bear out predictions of the winter's coldest reading.

Threatened rain, sleet and snow over some Texas areas did not become realized. Livestock warnings had been issued for north and eastern West Texas, particularly.

Warmer Is Forecast

The sun beat down from cloudless skies this morning and cotton pickers, trailing rapidly filling sacks, swarmed fields. "Not so cold," read the forecast for Saturday.

The mercury at 6:30 o'clock had climbed to 17 degrees after sliding over a 31-degree range for the 24-hour period preceding.

The ceiling was unlimited and visibility was 10 miles, it was reported at Municipal airport.

Effect On Cotton Unknown

Continued speculation on the cold snap's crop effect was evident.

"About all that can be said is that there is possibility bolls immature when the snap struck may produce spotted, lower grade cotton," said Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment sub-station east of Lubbock. "Another thing, we often have quite a bit of sunshine after these first cold snaps — but that's nothing to bet on." He said tiny bolls that had not opened when the freeze hit would make the "usual crop of bollies."

Defense Lines Are Cracked

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Nov. 19. — Japanese troops today cracked the southern pivot of the Chinese "Hindenburg" line defending Nanking and struck shattering blows along its central and northern fronts.

Fighting throughout mud and rain, the Japanese drove last Chinese defenders from Kashing and occupied that vital southern link in the "Hindenburg" chain. Central Japanese columns approached to within three miles of Soochow, the line's keystone, and northern detachments threatened to make untenable Chinese positions at Changshu.

Defend City To Last

About 125 miles northwest of the line, twelve Chinese divisions under the veteran General Tang Shen-Chi entrenched themselves in strong defense positions just outside Nanking. The Nanking official spokesman declared they were prepared to defend the city "to the last."

Inside Nanking's walls two divisions of Szechwan province troops, rushed to the capital from the interior after hanghai fell into Japanese hands Nov. 9, prepared defense posts to be used in case the city eventually is encircled and besieged.

Annual Toy Pickup Set For Saturday

Arrangements are complete for the annual Boy Scout toy pickup Saturday, Chairman J. Ray Dickey said this morning.

His final admonition to residents of the city was that they place any toys which might be repaired and which they wish to give on their front porches by 9 o'clock Saturday morning. Boy Scouts, who will attempt to call at every home in the city, will be by for them soon thereafter.

Dickey suggested that the toys be put in sacks or that they be marked as intended for the Scouts. That will guard against boys taking something not intended for them.

Toys will be turned over to the WPA workers for repairs, and then will be distributed Christmas to needy children by the Good Fellows.

The Weather

WEST TEXAS: Fair, not quite so cold in west portion tonight; Saturday partly cloudy, warmer. EAST TEXAS: Fair, colder except in extreme northwest portion, cold wave in the southeast, freezing to coast except in lower Rio Grande valley, frost to coast, hard freeze in north, temperature 24 to 30 in the south portion except 34 to 37 in lower Rio Grande valley tonight; Saturday generally fair, rising temperature in west and north-central portions.

Lubbock Business Men Respond To Holiday Decoration Plans

Lubbock business leaders, on the whole, have responded with enthusiasm to the idea of Christmas decorations of splendor for the city.

But a few have attempted to throw cold water on the plan. They are the ones who like the idea, but want to reap the business benefits without bearing their share of the financial burden.

These statements summarized the first reports this morning of committees of business men who are attempting to put over the program which would give Lubbock a brilliance of Yuletide attire to make it the "Christmas capital of West Texas."

First reports of the committees, officials at the chamber of commerce, said, have insured that Lubbock will wear a Christmas dress surpassing anything of the past. But they do not insure that the desired objective of decorative achievement can be attained.

On the "enthusiasm" side of

Use Of Mercury To Drive Huge Ships Now Being Considered

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. — An invention to use mercury power—the energy of hot molecules—to drive steamships and reduce the cost of shipping was announced today to the society of naval architects and marine engineers.

The architects were informed that the Normandie, transatlantic record holder, can substitute mercury for steam and cut her annual fuel bill $400,000, with no speed loss.

The proposal for this new type of sea power was made by William L. R. Emmet, Schenectady, N. Y., engineer who started use of mercury power eight years ago. Five American plants are using it but mercury never has been feasible at sea.

An improvement in boilers, Emmet said, recently made at the Pittsfield, Mass., General Electric mercury power plant, makes it possible to extend the new hot molecule principle, and in many cases mercury can be installed on existing steamships.

Mercury power is made exactly like steam. The metal vapor-

Club Is Host With Yearly Luncheon

An annual Thanksgiving dinner given by the Acuff 48 club for families Thursday afternoon at the Douglas Pounds home was one of the highlights of the fall for that community.

The women came early in the morning to set the tables—the food was spread on a large dining room table and served buffet or helpy-selfy style, then the guests ate at foursome tables—arrange floral decorations and put the finishing touches on the bounteous supply of food.

The men came at noon and lingered for several hours to exchange bits of news, discuss the amazing turn of the cotton situation and smoke at leisure.

There was a program, too, led by Mrs. A. L. Ater. It was opened, appropriately, with group singing of "America"; then, Miss Florence Stark, a teacher in the Acuff school, read "Thrill of a Football Game." Devotional was the 100th Psalm read by M. L. Kelley, school superintendent, who ended with a prayer of thanks. Announcement that "it was time to eat" was by Mrs. Pounds, president of the club.

Friends Remembered

Of course, there was "too much food" and those departing early were loaded down with attractive plates (yes, they still looked good) of slices of pumpkin, lemon, banana or molasses and pecan pies and as many varieties of cakes for those who were so unfortunate as to miss the dinner.

Accurate accounting of those attending was impossible, as people seemed to come and go all day and the hostesses were too busy seeing that everyone had enough to eat to account for who was eating. The list, however included:

Man Hopes For War While He Lays Deadly Plots Against Russia

Overthrow Of Soviets Goal

(By The Associated Press)

THOMPSON, Conn., Nov. 19—There's a fellow here who's hoping for war. But he has a stipulation. The war must involve Russia.

The fellow is Anastase Andreevitch Vonsiatsky and he's the king pin in a world plot to overthrow the Soviet regime.

When his war comes along, though, Vonsiatsky's not going to march on Russia with cannon. "Words," says he, "are tremendously more powerful than guns. We will send our army of propagandists, numbering into the high thousands, throughout Russia to spread the cause."

Not Afraid To Fight

And it's not because Vonsiatsky is afraid to fight the Russians. He is contemptuous of the military power of the Soviets.

"With 30,000 well trained troops," he says, "I could take Moscow like Grant took Richmond."

This man who expects to become Russia's Vojd, a title corresponding to Der Fuehrer or Il Duce, is 39, a Russian count who renounced his title and became an American citizen. He's built like an athlete, keeps his hair close cropped and wears a semi-military uniform.

In 1921, in Paris, he met an American divorcee, Mrs. Marion Buckingham Ream Stephens, several years older than he. She was one of seven principal heirs to the $40,000,000 estate of her father, the late Norman B. Ream of Chicago. Vonsiatsky married her the next year in New York.

Revenge In Action

Soon after the wedding they settled here in Carolyn Hall, the large estate of Mrs. Vonsiatsky's mother. Thus, this peaceful Connecticut countryside has become headquarters of his international scheming.

Vonsiatsky was a student in a Russian military school when the counter-revolution broke out. He rushed into the ranks of the White Russians. When they were defeated he fled to Constantinople, got to Marseilles by working as a stoker on a steamship. Then followed Paris and America.

By 1933, Vonsiatsky's desire for revenge on the Reds was put into action. He founded a Russian fascist movement. About the same time another White Russian, M. K. V. Rodvalevski was doing the same thing across the world in Harbin, Manchuokuo.

In 1934, at a tumultuous meeting in Harbin, the groups consolidated as the National Russian Revolutionary Fascist party and picked Vonsiatsky as Vojd.

A Different Swastika

The party emblem is the swastika. The Vojd wears it on his arm. But he indignantly denies any link with the Hitler brand of Fascism. The color schemes of the two emblems are different, he points out. He asserts his party has no anti-Semelic policy.

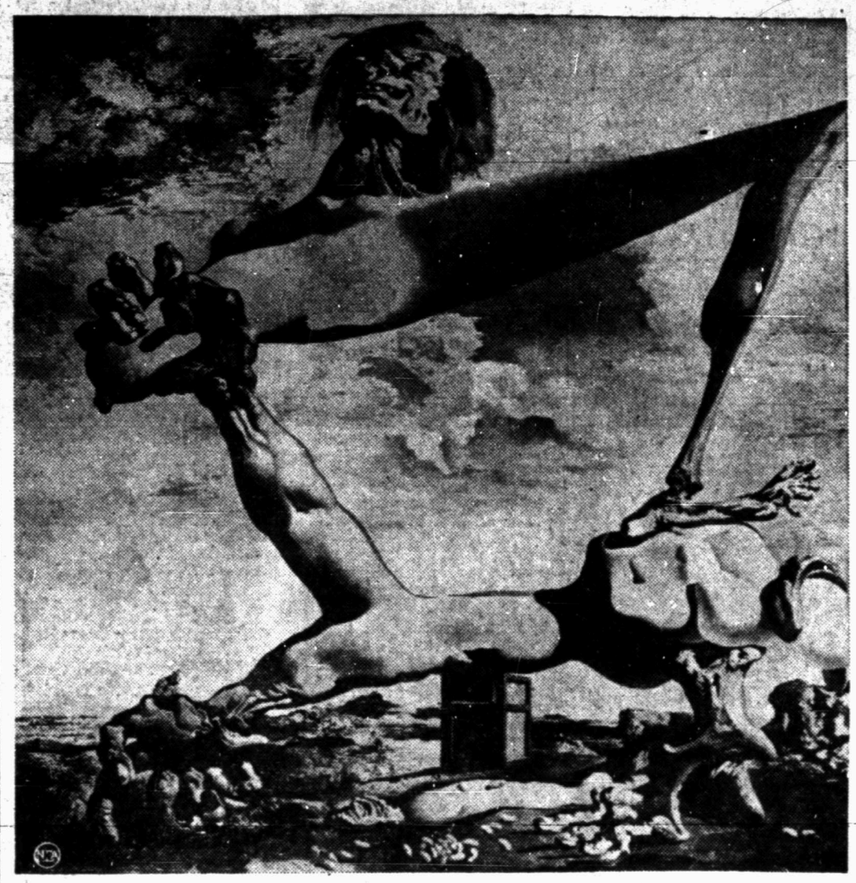

From his Connecticut stronghold—it has a gun room and is guarded by vicious police dogs—Vonsiatsky directs followers throughout the world. Harbin is a busy center of party activity. A department of ideology has been set up in Iran.

Sometimes Vonsiatsky picks odd ways to spread his doctrines. Recently he caught a dozen mud turtles and painted his Russian swastika on their shells. Then he turned them loose to carry the emblem through the peaceful woods.

It is estimated that a brontosaurus, giant dinosaur, required about 6000 pounds of food daily.

A process for the manufacture of synthetic camphor has been developed in the research laboratories of the Japanese department of finance, according to reports from Tokyo. Japan has a world monopoly in natural camphor.

Soft Beans And Civil War

The subtitle of the above painting by Salvador Dali, Spanish artist, justifies the swift conclusion that it is one of the horrors of war. Dali calls it "Soft Construction of Boiled Beans (Premonition of Civil War)" and it is now on view before oh-ing and ah-ing and gosh-ing Pittsburghers, at the 35th annual international exhibition of paintings at the Carnegie Institute there. It took fourth prize.

Minister Draws His Sermon While He Talks To Crowd

THE REV. E. E. HORTH
Preaches With Pictures

(By The Associated Press)

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 19—The Rev. E. E. Horth of Simpson Methodist Episcopal church illustrates the points in his sermon literally. Up and down Wisconsin, he is known for his picture-talks.

He works in an artist's smock, sets up his easel beside the pulpit and keeps his hands busy with colored chalk as he preaches. When his sermon is complete, the picture is too.

Mr. Horth has been a pastor in Wisconsin for 32 years. But his picture talks have been a regular pulpit procedure for only 15 years.

"I got the idea from the old Chautauqua platforms," Mr. Horth explains. "I have always been interested in art, and attended Chicago Art institute. At first I gave the talks just to children, but they liked them so well I decided to try the pictures on adults."

Snow Too Deep For Auto Does Not Stop The Thompsons

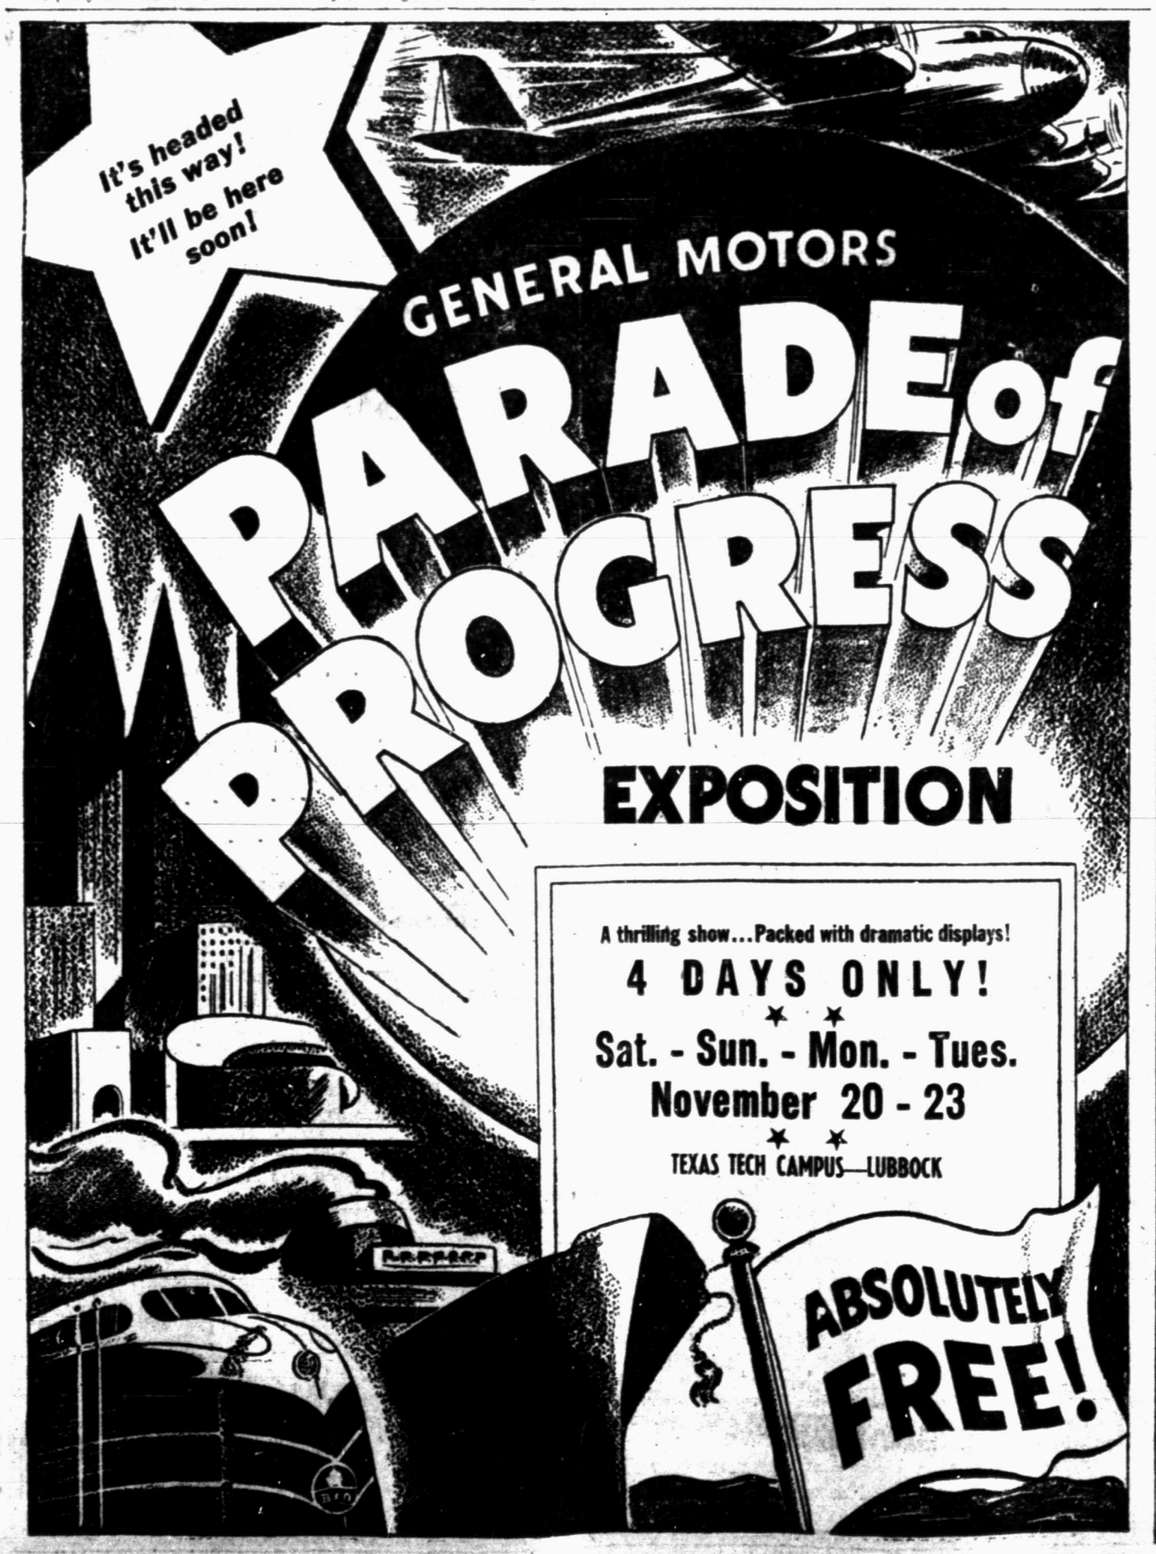

WEST YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Nov. 19. (AP)—Snow too deep for automobiles fails to stop Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson when they have an impulse to visit the "outside world."

Thompson acquired a sled large enough to accommodate his car and when he wants to go places he drives the automobile on the sled, hitches a team of horses to it and away he goes to the nearest open highway, six miles from his wilderness home.

Great Display Set Saturday

Parade of Progress of General Motors corporation will advance its showing in Lubbock by one full day earlier than had been scheduled, according to announcement last night of those in charge.

Instead of waiting until Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the opening of the exhibit, the first showing is scheduled for 7 o'clock Saturday night.

Reasons Are Given

The advanced schedule was approved, according to those in charge, for several reasons. Those reasons, they declared, included the suggestion of officials at Texas Technological college that it be done to accommodate attendance, because of the huge out-of-town throng which gathers in Lubbock for the week-end, and because of the belief that the extra day will be needed to accommodate those who appear.

High spot on the schedule today for the "world's fair on wheels", will be the arrival and the downtown parade this afternoon. The huge motor caravan, comprised of 44 motorized units, left Amarillo on schedule this morning and was due to arrive at Municipal airport at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

After a brief formal welcome there by prominent citizens, the Parade will be routed through the business district to Texas Tech campus to be set up for performances continuing through Tuesday night.

Greeting J. M. Jerpe, director of the show, and members of his personnel of the "world's fair of science" will be several prominent citizens who have been invited to participate. Among them are Mayor Ross Edwards, City Manager W. H. Rodgers, Assistant Chamber of Commerce Manager J. H. Brock, Fire Chief W. E. Twitty, Dean O. V. Adams of Texas Tech engineering department, Dean A. H. Leidigh of Tech agriculture department, R. P. Fuller, Clayton A. Gammill, jr., J. Ray Dickey, D. A. Davis, E. K. Hufstedler, and W. G. Alderson.

Route Is Given

From the airport, the parade will be routed to Tenth street, then west on Tenth to Avenue L, south to Main, east to Avenue G, south to Broadway and west to the Tech campus.

Police Chief Don Reeder is directing police preparations for the parade, which will be led by a squadron of four motorcycle officers.

The exposition, created by General Motors research laboratories, will be set up on the campus, probably north of the men's dormitory.

Former Wife Of Clark Gable Files An Answer To Suit

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19. (AP) — Josephine Dillon Gable, former wife of Clark Gable, film actor, filed an answer today denying responsibility for a dog bite which is the basis of a $25,700 damage suit brought against her by Eleanor Benjamin, dancer and actress known professionally as Eleanor Brooks.

Mrs. Gable, who conducts a dramatic school, contended the bite occurred through negligence of Miss Benjamin, one of her pupils.

In her suit, Miss Benjamin said she was told at the school last Sept. 27 to sit near the dog, "Johnnie," which bit her in the face, leaving her upper lip scarred.

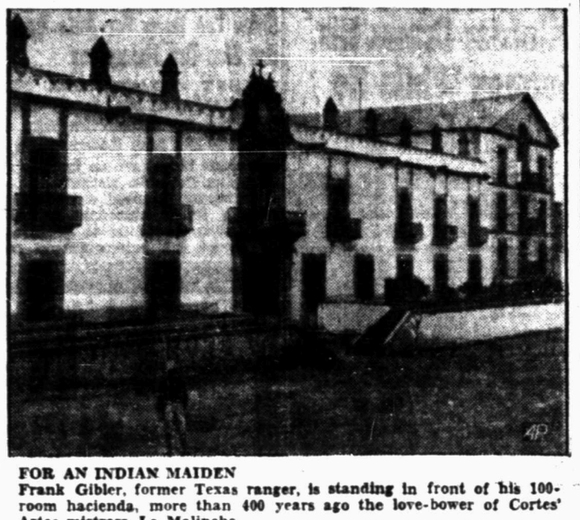

South Plains Highway Jobs Included In State Projects

Projects approved by the state highway commission Thursday, according to an Associated Press dispatch to the Avalanche-Journal included: maintenance as a state highway the road from Floydada to Crosby county line, $4,795; construction of a spur from highway 28 to Olton, $8,791.

Total projects authorized by the commission will cost $58,036, the report said.

On Jan. 30, 1835, an attempt was made to assassinate President Andrew Jackson.

Here's A 100-Room Farmhouse That Grew From A Love Nest

FOR AN INDIAN MAIDEN
Frank Gibler, former Texas ranger, is standing in front of his 100-room hacienda, more than 400 years ago the love-bower of Cortes' Aztec mistress, La Malinche.

(By The Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 19.—A former Texas ranger, Frank Gibler, lives in perhaps the largest farmhouse in the Americas, a Mexican hacienda built four centuries ago by Hernan Cortes, the conquering Spaniard, for his Aztec Indian mistress, La Malinche.

The old square, two-story Santa Monica building has 100 rooms, in 24 of which Gibler, his Mexican wife and nine of their ten children live. Some rooms have been added since the Conquistador's day, but none since 1756, when it was bought by the mayor of Mexico City from the Franciscan friars, into whose hands it had passed.

Malinche's tiled bath remains on the first floor. The tiles were imported from Spain. They still are held fast, after more than 400 years, by a mortar of sifted sand, chickens' blood and egg whites.

Sydney Island, between Fiji and Hawaii, is noted for its hordes of ravenous cats, wild offspring of 150 felines introduced by a planter to combat rats which destroyed the copra.

Getting Warmer

CAMDEN, N. J. — Firemen broke into a house in response to an alarm and were about to leave because they could find no flames.

"Hey, boys," shouted a passing truck driver, "when you get through with that fire, there's another around the corner."

The firemen unwound their hose again and went to work.

Salt Of The Earth

OAKLAND, Calif. — Now all Kenneth Sizelove needs is a pepper mine.

He already has laid claim to "all the salt in the oceans" — and "all the unclaimed inhabitants of all the oceans," to boot.

He did not say what he was going to do with the salt when he paid a $1 county recording fee.

He's Up; He's Down

KANSAS CITY — Grocer H. T. Hedspath threw up his hands when a gunman pointed a revolver at him.

"No you don't," said the robber. "Hands down."

Apparently fearing upraised hands would attract attention, he took $20 and fled.

As Good As Two

SAN ANGELO, Tex. — "He's the best driver we've tested," Examiner Harold Graves said of Truck Driver C. H. Chappel, who scored 97 on driving tests.

One of Chappel's eyes is sightless.

Fast Worker

CHICAGO — Being friendless, penniless, and a widower, Benjamin F. Hutchinson, 63, wanted to spend his last years in a clean, warm federal penitentiary.

That was the explanation he gave when he was seized by a watchman after smashing a window of the suburban Evanston postoffice. Hutchinson was held to the grand jury on a charge of damaging government property.

Washout

CHICAGO — After spending two weeks drilling a well, John Wieting heard a roar and saw a liquid stream shoot 15 feet into the air.

"Oil!" someone shouted. Neighbors overran the place, adding to the general excitement.

But the boom didn't last long.

"This oil is all wet," Wieting said after smelling the liquid. "It's good artesian water."

While Cat's Away!

SHELTON, Wash.—Rats stole all the traps loggers set to catch them.

So the woodsmen got a rat-catching cat.

Ten minutes passed—"meow!" Loggers found the cat caught in a trap the rats had stolen.

Revenue derived from tourist use of Yellowstone National Park during the record-breaking 1937 season will amount to an estimated $460,000. Approximately half a million people visited the park this year.

Tickets Being Offered Here

The artist course committee at Texas Technological college for the first time will make no active attempt to sell tickets to artist course programs.

Tickets will not be sold in downtown Lubbock as has been the custom, but only at the college, and at the high school auditorium before the programs.

First Number Monday

First number on the 1937-38 season's artist course program will be presented Monday night. Jan Kubelik, noted violinist, will present a program of selections by Beethoven, Saint-Saens, Bach, Schumann, Tschaikowsky, Suk and Paganini.

Kubelik also is a composer. He has written six violin concertos for orchestration, is composer of "The Old Song," "Nocturne," and "Melody," and has made orchestra arrangements for Paganini's concerto in D major, the Campanella, and variations.

Played For 40 Years

He is 56 years old and has played before audiences as a violinist 40 years.

Tickets are not being sold downtown this year because the artist course committee considers sufficient tickets can otherwise be sold, and because 1,756 students already have purchased tickets. All students who have purchased tickets will not attend every program, however, said R. A. Mills, artist course committee chairman. Students may purchase tickets at reduced rate of $1 for the two performances scheduled this semester only until noon Saturday. Price of a ticket including the four performances to be presented in the entire season will be $3.50 to persons other than students. General admission for the first performance will be $1 and reserved seats, $1.25. Tickets may be purchased in room 307 administration building.

Colorado Attorney Is Speaker Before Big Spring Group

BIG SPRING, Nov. 19 (Special)—Democracy is more in immediate danger today than ever before because of concerted efforts and propaganda of communists and fascists, said Thomas R. Smith, Colorado attorney and a World war veteran, in an address to members of the Lions club here Wednesday.

Smith listed aggressions of Italy in Ethiopia, of Japan in China, of forces clashing in Spain, together with a dozen other armed conflicts as evidence that war had not been ended. He pointed to the mockery of the last war—"A war to end wars and to make the world safe for democracy."

A few drops of glycerine added to top-of-the-bottle cream will make the cream whip better.

Open House Thursday Night Is Staged By Torch And Castle

Torch and Castle, military organization of Texas Technological college, entertained members and their ladies with an open house at 8 o'clock Thursday night at Seaman hall. Sixty-seven members and guests were present.

A four-reel motion picture depicting cadet life at the United States Military academy was shown. Nominations for company sponsors were also made. From the list of nominees, each company will elect one girl to serve as its sponsor with the title "honorary captain." Later, members plan to select an honorary major for the entire unit.

Nominees for Company A were Lois Marie Daniels, Evelyn Patty and Erva Sturgeon; and those for Company B were Mildred Mitchell, Sylvia Smith, Barbara Ann Nilley, Jean McDavid, Lucille Winters, and Marguerite Gibson. Selections of sponsors will be made this month.

Chaperones for the open house were Capt. and Mrs. Frank A. Pettit and Lieut. and Mrs. Herrol J. Skidmore.

She Was Certainly Following Instructions Of Her Father

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19. (AP)—Leone Schlavin, 21, appeared before Municipal Judge Frank Dunn and just giggled and said "I don't know" when asked repeatedly why she was speeding 38 miles an hour on Market street, as charged.

"What do you mean?" demanded the judge.

"Well, my father told me to act dumb and say nothing."

"That will cost you $5," said the court.

Raney Funeral Services Are To Be Conducted Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. J. E. Raney, 42, of 316 Avenue N, who died shortly after 7 o'clock Thursday night in a sanitarium here, will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Four Square Gospel church. The Rev. S. C. McClain and the Rev. Floyd Dawson will officiate.

Mrs. Raney had lived in Lubbock three years. Death came after an illness of several weeks.

Sanders Funeral home is directing arrangements. Burial will be in a Lubbock cemetery.

Mrs. Raney is survived by her husband, three sons, Joseph, Paul and Wayne; and six daughters, Mrs. Edith Austin, Mrs. Blanche Austin, Mrs. Ella Mae Falls, Mrs. Hazel O'Neal, Juanita Raney, and Dorothy Raney, all of Lubbock.

First Collections On Parking Meters Are Made Thursday

First collections from 230 newly installed parking meters at fringes of the business district indicate they will produce proportionately as much revenue as those more centrally located, city officials reported Thursday afternoon.

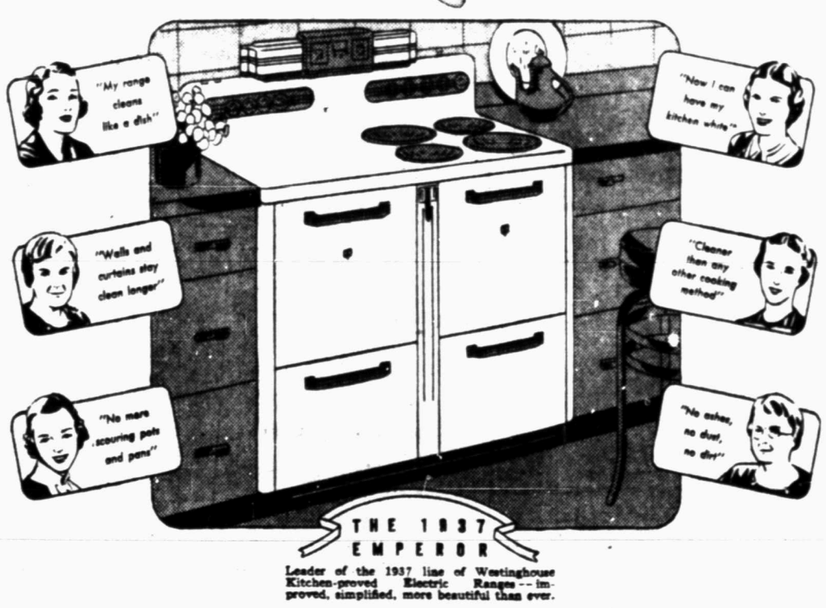

The aggregate of 544 meters now on Lubbock streets produced approximately $184 for two days ending at noon Wednesday. Count of the 3,680 nickels, however, was not completed until Thursday.

The 314 meters have averaged between $50 and $55 each week day. Estimates had been that the figure might be increased to $75 per day because of the new devices. Indications now are, officials believe, that amount will be exceeded, although not by more than $5 to $10 daily.

Liquor Ruling Is Announced

TEXARKANA, Nov. 19 (AP) — The sixth court of civil appeals ruled today that liquor permits issued by the Texas liquor control board are personal privilege and not property and that the right to trial by jury is not applicable to state courts.

The case arose in Longview, where K. W. Jones, owner of the Oasis bar, obtained a license for beers and light wines. The state liquor control board revoked the license after state agents reported they had bought highballs by the drink containing liquor above 14 per cent alcohol.

Jones took the case to a district court and was allowed a trial by jury, which found in favor of Jones. The liquor board appealed the case.

Opinion Is Quoted

The opinion, written by Justice I. N. Williams and concurred in by Chief Justice George W. Johnson and Justice Reuben Hall, said:

"Provisions of the federal constitution with regard to trial by jury have no application to a trial or proceedings in state courts, but relate only to proceedings in courts of the United States.

"The cancellation of the permit to sell liquor and the principles of law governing such matters are not a civil suit or cause of action . . . but is purely personal privilege revocable for causes (violations) herein stated. . . . The license issued from time to time and for a period to period does not involve property rights."

Too sleepy to pay any attention to the photographer, the Dion triplets, above, born to Mrs. J. Senator Is To Be Selected

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 19 (AP) — Governor-Elect A. Harry Moore said today James H. R. Cromwell, husband of Doris Duke, was one of at least five persons being considered as his successor in the United States senate.

Moore, who will make the appointment shortly after he assumes office in Trenton next January 18, termed Cromwell "one of the runners."

Cromwell, in New York, said that he would welcome the appointment if it were offered him, but that neither Moore nor Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, Democratic state leader, had approached him on the subject.

Author Of Book

Cromwell is 40 and author of a book on economics.

The Duke estate in Somerset county is the present residence of the Cromwells.

The Democrats were known to be considering an appointee, who would be willing to run in the November 1938 election. Moore's choice will serve until that time, when a senator will be named to fill the unexpired term.

In New York Cromwell said that if named senator, he would attack many New Deal policies, although he considers himself a supporter of what he termed President Roosevelt's "ideals."

There Are Lots Of Marys On Hand; 77 Listed At Tech

Professors of Texas Technological college should have no trouble getting response when they ask Mary a question. If the designated Mary can't answer, there likely will be another one near to come to her aid.

Mathematically speaking, Mary is the name of one of every 15.5 girls and of one of every 40.9 students, both boys and girls, counting all of the 3,154 students now registered.

According to the student directory, there are 77 Marys enrolled in the college.

In addition to students there are Mrs. Mary W. Doak, dean of women, Mary Louise Middleton, typewriting and stenography instructor, Mary Jo Cole, secretary to the purchasing agent, and Mary Snyder, invoice clerk, bringing the total to 81 Marys.

Only one of the Marys lives out of Texas, and 26 gave Lubbock as their home address.

According to the directory, 34 of this group are freshmen, 22 are sophomores, 8 are juniors, 10 are seniors, and 3 are doing graduate work.

Here's How A Bomber Makes An . . . AIR RAID

It Takes Precise Teamwork To Score A Bull's Eye

By The AP Feature Service

There's more to bombing a railroad station than flying over the city and cutting loose your bombs.

A medium-sized bombing plane carries a crew of three or four—pilot, bomber and one or two machine gunners.

Their job calls for precise teamwork.

Bombing usually is done by a squadron of planes in a formation designed to give maximum protection against hostile aircraft as well as to lay down a "pattern" of bombs on the area or structure that is the target of attack.

The pilot, therefore, must be an expert formation flyer.

Having gained the proper altitude and determined the direction of the wind the pilot makes a long approach for the dropping of the first bomb.

During the approach the bomber checks and sets his bomb sight, a telescopic instrument which today is rated five times as accurate as the best sight used during the World war. As the image of the target appears in just the right place in the bomb sight the bomber pulls a hand lever or an electrical mechanism is started which releases the bomb. Air speed, altitude and drift are accounted for mathematically.

Bomb Drifts Forward

A bomb released at 180 miles an hour from 15,000 feet requires 32 seconds to reach the earth. In that time it will have traveled forward about a mile and a half.

Thus a plane flying at 15,000 or 20,000 feet will release the bomb at a point considerably distant from the area directly above the target.

The bomb will leave the ship in an horizontal position with the same forward velocity as the plane. In falling the nose gradually drops as the tail fin catches the air.

There are four major types of bombs — demolition, incendiary, gas and personnel.

Demolition bombs, containing high explosives like TNT, are used when a powerful blasting effect is desired, such as the destruction of a railway station, water mains, a power house or transmission lines.

Two Types Of Fuses

The incendiary bomb contains fire-starting materials, such as phosphorous, and is aimed at oil tanks and other inflammable structures. The World war gas bomb designed to incapacitate personnel had a light wall which broke on contact, releasing the gas. The personnel bomb used by planes against ground troops is similar to a hand grenade, bursting into death- and injury-dealing fragments.

Demolition bombs may have two types of fuses, instantaneous and delayed. The latter are designed to go off after the thick-walled container has buried its nose deep in some solid structure, such as reinforced concrete.

The destructiveness of a demolition bomb is contingent upon where and how it hits a target. A

1. Here's how a bomber carries its "eggs". Bomb racks sometimes are located under the wing (as here), sometimes over a trapdoor within the fuselage or wing. Adjustable, they release one or more bombs at the pull of a lever. There are four major types of bombs.

2. This picture, taken from under the nose of a bombing plane, shows how the bomber adjusts his sights (designed to compensate for the ship's forward speed) until the image of the target appears on the cross wires of his view finder.

3. Then, by pulling the trigger, he fires. The difference in position of the bombs dropped from these two planes in practice shows how the projectiles first fall horizontally until their tail fins catch the air, then turn their noses down. Direct hits, not glancing ones, count.

4. What a bomb does when it hits depends on what kind of bomb it is. Incendiary bombs spread fire. Gas bombs release poisonous fumes. Personnel bombs (designed to kill and maim) burst into flying shrapnel.

2,000-pound bomb, which is the largest standard size, probably would wreck the building and kill hundreds of people if it made a direct hit on the union station rotunda in Washington.

Such a bomb, however, might hit the structure a glancing blow, and persons 100 yards away might walk off unscratched.

In bombing practice, these 2,000 pounders have torn a hole in granite 12 feet wide and 30 feet across.

The United States retains first place among the nations of the world as a supplier of goods to France. This country is the third largest buyer of French products.

Birds can sail against the wind.

During 1936, Ontario was the source of 51.1 per cent of the mineral production of the Dominion of Canada.

5. Still another kind is the demolition bomb, which wrecked this Shanghai street. Huge steel-cased loads of TNT designed to level buildings, they may be timed to explode on striking or after they have buried themselves deep in some solid structure.

A collection of old cannon representing a span of more than 100 years is being assembled for display at the site of Fort Morgan, early 19th century defense at the entrance of Mobile Bay, Alabama.

Amarillo Shriners To Ride Lubbock Special On Monday

Several prominent Khiva temple Shriners at Amarillo will come to Lubbock just for the ride on Lubbock's special train to the ceremonial Monday.

This was the information received Thursday by Lubbock Shriners who were advised that several Amarillo Shriners will come here Sunday just for the purpose of riding back of the special. Among them will be N. H. Mohler, recorder, and J. S. Pitman, assistant recorder, of the temple.

Announcement likewise was made here Wednesday that deposit to insure the train has been made with the Santa Fe railroad, and that Joe Smith, member of the temple who was engineer on the first passenger train into Lubbock 27 years ago, will be at the throttle.

Request that those planning reservations make them at once also was made by L. D. (Pup) Thomas and Floyd Jackson, district clerk, who will receive them.

Varied Colors For Licenses

AUSTIN, Nov. 19. (AP) — Thirteen types of motor license plates running the "scale" of color are manufactured for the state by the Texas prison system.

Those for passenger cars next year will be white in background with black letters, figures and borders. Probably about 2,000,000 will be made for issuance by the state highway department to the counties and hence to the car owners.

Others Are Listed

Others to show the state registration fee has been paid are, with the background listed first:

Commercial cars and trucks — black and orange.

Farm trucks—orange and black.

Trailers and tractors—light gray and maroon.

Dealers vehicles—ivory and black.

Motor buses — maroon and light gray.

Exempt (federal, state, city and county-owned vehicles)—black and ivory.

Motorcycles—orange and black.

Motorcycle sidecars — black and orange.

Four Other Types

Four other types manufactured for the railroad commission to issue buses and trucks which it regulates are:

Motor buses—green and orange.

Common carrier trucks—white and black.

Contract carriers — orange and green.

Special commodity cars and trucks—black and white.

The colors are changed from year to year to make it easier for officers to know when the taxes have not been paid and for other law enforcement purposes. Passenger car colors this year were black and ivory.

The highway department last May placed an order for 1,250,000 passenger car license plates for 1938 but it was understood at the time a re-order probably would have to be made.

Business, drouth, crop and other conditions naturally affect the demand. Approximately 1,290,000 were issued to date this year.

The new registration plates will be sent counties in January and some counties may begin issuing them Feb. 1 but they may not be legally placed on vehicles until March 1. The deadline for paying the tax is March 31 and vehicles may not be used legally after that date without the plates.

The new railroad commission plates are in use, the fiscal year for which the permit is required having begun Sept. 1. Such plates usually are attached between Sept. 1 and Sept. 15, the latter the final date for payment of the fee.

Until a few years ago the plates were made by private manufacturers but the prison system, for economy purposes, then was given the job. State officials say the prison's work has been satisfactory.

Two bulky machines whose ground and aerial offenses have carved out considerable yardage over the season's play neither could hobble to first base without the aid of their sparkplugs, big Ernie Lain and little David O'Brien.

Lain Against O'Brien

Sophomore Lain, the 218-pounder who arose from a hospital bed four weeks ago to shake a Rice team out of a scoreless nightmare that had extended over its first three games, pits his passing and running against a 150-pound atom, Davey O'Brien.

Despite weather warnings of rain and possible snow, one of the year's largest crowds will bulge the T.C.U. stadium to see this scrap between the Southwest's most publicized backs.

Both noted for aerial play, Rice and the Christians also depend on ground games when the going gets difficult. In John Hall, battering halfback who has averaged 4.89 yards on 64 line thrusts, and O'Brien, who has lugged the ball 116 times for a 2.88 yard average, the Christians have a pair of runners who can carry on when wet weather halts the overhead attack.

Lain Also Carries Ball

Rice, however, also has its little fellow in Doug (Scat) Sullivan, a 155-pounder who has wormed through enemy lines 81 times for a 3.80 yard average. Lain, when he isn't pitching, carries considerable football on the ground, his average amounting to 3.76 yards on 41 tries.

Compared statistically on both passing and running plays, the Owls and Horned Frogs are far apart on their total gain for the season. Texas Christian has scrambled over its eight foes for 1764 yards while Rice has gained 1472 — but three games were played without Lain.

Texas Christian, with O'Brien on the mound, has a better passing average, completing 84 of 201 attempts for a total yardage of 831. Lain's pitches have picked up 512 yards on 43 completions.

Only league game of the day, the Fort Worth attraction could move Rice into a strategic spot if they come out on top. It would mean they needed only one more win, either over Southern Methodist or Baylor, to clinch the flag. The Christians could remain in the chase by mathematical reasoning if they dropped a slightly favored Rice team.

Southern Methodist, which disposed of the once mighty Baylor Bears last week, prepared for its game with University of California at Los Angeles no worse than even bet. A great soph backfield of Ewing Jackson, Belville, Crouch and Bearden, which stomped Baylor, was ready for work again.

At Beaumont, Baylor played its first intersectional game of five years against Loyola of Los Angeles, an oft-beaten team that came to life long enough to whip Centenary last week. Over at Little Rock, Arkansas carried on its intersectional warfare against George Washington while Texas and the Texas Aggies rested for their Thanksgiving day game at College Station.

Lain And Wolfe Top Nominees For All-Southwest Honors

BY WELDON HART
Sports Editor, Austin Statesman

AUSTIN, Nov. 19.—Texas is a big state, and selecting all-star football teams from the southwest is a bigger job than stopping Hugh Wolfe and Ernie Lain when these powerhouses crank up and start stampeding.

Yes, the Southwest has something up its sleeve beside the dazzling passing game which is its gridiron gospel. Wolfe and Lain have been the outstanding power runners of a campaign in which ground gains have been nicely mixed with zipping overhead shots.

The Most Publicized

Most publicized of Southwest backs have been Billy Patterson, Baylor halfback and Davey O'Brien, Texas Christian quarter. They are similar types, both fine passers and nifty ball carriers.

Wolfe, 200-pound University of Texas star, is the ball carrier de luxe—fast (a dash man in track), quick starter, punishing stiff-arm and tremendously powerful legs. It hurts to tackle the Big Bad Wolfe.

Lain jerked the Rice Institute team out of scoreless doldrums square into the middle of the Southwest conference race. Until the big fullback's deadeye passes and bull-like brushes into the line started in the Owls' fourth game (he had been injured previously), Rice hadn't scored a point. They scored plenty since then, mostly on Lain's passes or on his personally-conducted tours around end.

A great blocker, too. His only handicaps are that he is not so fast as several other backs in this section, and he is inexperienced, being only a sophomore. Wait until this 218-pounder gets his growth!

We have nominated a backfield averaging nearly 195 pounds despite the presence of lightweight Billy (The Kid) Patterson.

Makes It Look Easy

Jim Benton, Arkansas end, is the type of receiver that makes Southwest passers famous. Nearly six-six, weighing 195, agile and fast for a big man, Benton makes impossible catches a habit. The man must have molasses on his fingers. His defensive work is of high quality, although perhaps not so spectacular as that of Ramsey, captain of the Texas Tech team of the Border conference, or Sam Boyd, when the Baylor star is having one of his good days.

Huge, rugged I. B. Hale of Texas Christian, 235 pounds of meanness, and 215-pound Roy Young of Texas A. & M. are all-around tackles any coach would be delighted to call his own. They look like unanimous all-Southwest conference choices this year. Young made it in 36 and Hale, then a soph, got many votes.

There are any number of capable guards in the Southwest, and Texas A. & M. is fortunate in having two of the best. Burly Joe Routt, who placed on several all-Americas last year, and his running mate, Virgil Jones, can be our middlemen until somebody better comes along.

Better Than Darrell Lester

Perhaps the Southwest's No. 1 all-America candidate this season is a rangy, fiery Texas Christian junior colorfully named Ki Aldrich. Ki plays center, and we mean to say he does it better than Darrell Lester, T. C. U.'s all-American of 34 and 35. If there is a superior center somewhere, Southwestern fans wish he'd trot out and let them take a look.

There are many, many other top-notch football players roaming the Southwest ranges. Dick Todd, possibly the best halfback in Texas A. & M. history, might be ranked on a par with Wolfe or Patterson. Carl Brazell of Baylor is a great quarterback. Dwight Sloan of Arkansas is as good a halfback as any coach would care to have.

Baylor's Sam Boyd was a standout end all season and Ed Lalman of Arkansas certainly proved his worth as a tackle.

But you know how these all-star teams are. They started out naming only 11 men when this business first began. And who are we to change the rules of the game, as much as we'd like to?

Here Are Range Riders De Luxe In Texas

Powerful Picadors Are In Final Appearance

Little brothers of Texas Tech's rowdy Red Raiders take the turf at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in their final '37 appearance, when Berl Huffman's powerful Picadors square off with the West Texas State Teachers college Yearlings on Mat field.

Coach Bob Cox brings a formidable squad of gridders from Canyon. They probably will give the Tech frosh biggest test of the year, and reveal to fans a more exact capitulation of Picador power. The Yearlings have met and defeated other strong teams on their schedule, and having heard something of Tech's beefy defense and flashing offense, they are pointing to this as THE game of the year.

Huffman Not With Team

Although not as bulky as the locals, the visitors compose one of the strongest freshmen units Buffaloland has boasted in years. Most of the players are natives of the South Plains or the Panhandle. Guard Orville Bratton, who hails from Royce City, is nearest thing to a foreigner among the young Buffs. Heaviest man on the team scales 186.

Coach Berl Huffman will not be on the sideline with his team for the game this afternoon, having accompanied the Red Raiders to Shreveport last night. Coach Weldon Chapman of Lubbock High school will assist Broadway Browning, assistant freshman coach, during the fracas.

Hill Gets Starting Call

Probable starting backfield for the Picadors, as indicated by coaches last night, consists of Johnny Simms, Charley Dvoracek, Milton Hill and C. L. Storrs. Simms, swivel-hipped sprinter, will chant signals. Hill won a starting post by his flashy work last Friday night against University of New Mexico freshmen at Hobbs.

Several other capable ball toters will see action before the game ends. Second stringers have been crowding starters all year, little difference can be noted between the two quartets.

Rafe Nabors will hold down the pivot position. Tom McQuillan and Primo McCurry are slated for guards. Durward Herring and Gordon Miller will be tackles, and E. J. McKnight and Glenn Jones will start at ends.

Lamesa Loses Lead In Race

A second team was ejected from leadership of District 5, Class B Thursday when Coach Ted McCollum notified J. M. Rankin, superintendent of schools at Ralls and secretary of the district executive committee, that he had unknowingly used an ineligible man against Tahoka Nov. 5.

Youland Echols, substitute back, played a few minutes of the contest which Lamesa won 21 to 0. He has been out most of the season with an ankle injury.

After looking into Echols' scholastic records, Coach McCollum found his player had been in high school 8 semesters prior to the present football season. He notified district officials and asked that the game be forfeited to Tahoka. No protest had been filed by other clubs, Rankin said.

No Action Is Taken

No action of the district executive committee had been called Thursday night according to the secretary. The Tornados will complete their schedule pending action by officials. They meet Crosbyton tonight at Lamesa.

The forfeit put Lamesa in second place a half game behind Brownfield. It is first loss for the Tornados, giving them 5 wins and the setback. Brownfield has won 6 and dropped one. The game gives Tahoka 4 wins against 3 losses.

After leading the pack through early weeks of the campaign, Slaton was thrown from the chase due to ineligibility of a player. Littlefield, Olton and Tahoka were awarded games won from them by the Tigers. Executive committee of the district, after an inquiry, ruled that the Bengals could meet no other team in the district without jeopardizing record of the opponent.

Post's luckless cellarites have little to risk this afternoon, but will be fighting for their first win in the flag chase at Littlefield. Shunted from a contending position by Levelland, the Wildcats should be favorites.

Scrapping teams of Tahoka and Ralls meet in the Jackrabbit bailiwick. Neither has progressed far. Levelland defends home town honor against the Lubbock Cowhands.

Olton and Brownfield are idle. The Longhorns "salted down" their uniforms in moth balls after defeating the Cowhands last week. They finished league competition against Littlefield two weeks ago. Brownfield's contest with Slaton has been cancelled.

Last Trip Of '37 Season Is Being Staged

Thursday's blue norther put the damper on gridiron workouts and slashed last night's "send-off" party to the limit, but the rampaging Red Raiders from Texas Tech, fresh from their victory over Duquesne's mighty Night Riders, threw gloom to the wind and headed south — to sunshine and Centenary. The Mats tangle the Gentlemen Saturday afternoon at Shreveport in the final tilt beyond the bounds of their own backyard.

Coach Pete Cawthon hustled 30 players aboard the special Pullman, including the four "cripples" and all of the seniors on the club. It will mark the last road trip for eight members of the squad.

The final home practice session was cut short by more than an hour due to the cold weather. The boys failed to "work up a sweat" during the technical training hour, were chilled through and through. A few laps around the field and they packed their bags for Shreveport.

Team Has Confidence

There was more merriment and confidence among the players than at any time this week, and the war-cry was "Spoil Centenary's Homecoming." This was augmented by "Make it two in a row over the Gents," and the Raiders figure they'll do just that.

Coaches Cawthon and Smith did not join the jollity. They nurse no illusions regarding Tech's probable weakness and Centenary's known strength. They know that Coach Curtis Parker will have the Gents "hotted up in a big way" for this game, after losing their last one, and after losing to Tech here last year in the only other game the teams have played. They know that the Gents possess the manpower, as well as the urge, to play a great Homecoming game.

Star Lineman Out

"It'll be the toughest on our whole schedule," groaned Cawthon, and he was backed up by Line Coach Smith, Freshman Coach Berl Huffman and Assistant Ed McKeever, who have watched the Gents play. Huffman witnessed Centenary's victory over T.C.U., and he figures the Raiders have a tough course laid out for them on the Centenary field.

The Raiders probably will play without any physical help from one of their most important linemen, dependable Pete Owens, senior guard. Owens made the trip, but his badly injured ankle probably will keep him from seeing much service.

Hope grew that Charley Calhoun and Bobby Holmes would be able to play Saturday, but they can not be in the best of shape. Calhoun's groin injury is not completely well, and Holmes still nurses an injured hand. Leonard Latch, first reserve tackle, has more or less recovered from a hand injury, and can play if called upon.

Players Making Trip Listed

Making the trip, the fifth and last of the season and the fourth out of the state trek, in the Red Raider squad were Quarterbacks Ed Smith, Cotton Neely and Babe Curfman; Halfbacks Bobby Holmes, Elmer Tarbox, Gene Barnett, Buzz Barnard, Maurice Chernosky and Dudley Aiken; Fullbacks Charley Calhoun and Miles Chapman.

Ends Red Ramsey, Thurman Bostick, George Philbrick, Ralph Balfanz, Henry Moseley and G. L. Webb; Tackles Abe Murphy, Bill Davis, G. B. Wimberley, Lloyd Taliaferro and Elbert Overton; Guards Pete Owens, Lou Jones, Holt Waldrep, Dixie White, Wilmer Greene and Centers Frank Guzick, Rex Williams and Lewis Alexander.

Fordham Rams Admit That They Want To Go To The Rose Bowl

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 — There's one thing refreshing about the Fordham Rams, who risk their undefeated record against St. Mary's tomorrow at the Polo grounds. They admit they want to go to the Rose Bowl so bad they can taste it.

They never have been coy on the question, the Rams. Every year since Jimmy Crowley took over the polish corridor, they've been wearing buttons inscribed: "From Rose Hill to Rose Bowl." And every year something painful has happened to the Rams just about the time they thought they had the big game sewed up.

Knocked Off By N. Y. U.

Last season they were knocked off by their aimless neighbors, the New York university Violets, in the last game on their schedule. Their highly-publicized "seven blocks of granite" got no closer to the Rose Bowl than 242nd street.

Now they have their chins out again, and it looks like the best chance they've ever had. If they get past the Gaels tomorrow and then trim N. Y. U., the boys with the unpronouncable names will be about a 2-1 shot to represent the east on New Year's day.

Want Change Of Faces

From what Coach "Slip" Madigan of St. Mary's and the flock of newspapermen who accompanied the Gaels east say, there seems to be no doubt that the coast is determined to have a change of faces in the Rose bowl. They declare that both Pittsburgh and Alabama are out for this year, at least.

Tomorrow's tilt at the Polo grounds, then, takes on considerable importance. If the Fordhams get licked, as they might as easily as not, the pickings will become very slim.

Proves Capacity

Martin Narva, 7, can go 'round and around better and faster than any other East Side New York youngster. He's proving it above, eating his way around the hole in a doughnut to become the doughnut dunking champion of the Boys' Club. He put away four more "sinkers" than his nearest rival.

Spur And Floydada Top Football Card

Pace-setting grid aggregations in District 4, Class B, have little to fear regarding loss of position this week, despite Friday's four-game card. In almost every start, favorites bid fair to maintain their standings.

Most important clash of the race will be unreeled Thanksgiving between Spur and Floydada, which, barring upsets, would pit winner against Flomot for the league gonfalon.

Spur journeys to Estelline today. The Cubs have but an outside chance to overtake the Bulldogs. The same is true of the Turkey-Flomot go at Flomot. The Turks started the season with two wins but weakened down the stretch.

At Paducah, Quitaque will be trying for its first victory in conference play. Matador is host to Lockney.

Should either Spur or Floydada lose Friday, the unfortunate one could hand the title to Flomot on Turkey day.

Game Officials Preparing For Tilt With Many Gyp Artists

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19 (P)—Stanford and California football teams meet in their annual big game Saturday and in less publicized fields officials who deal in financial touchdowns today were sharpening their wits to combat the usual bunch of slickers.

Handling of the game details is Stanford's responsibility this year. Among the nearly 90,000 fans, Graduate Manager Al R. Masters conjectures, will mingle enough uninvited unwanted gyp artists to fill two jails of college town dimensions.

Aside from organizing to handle more than 20,000 automobiles and the seating in a bowl of enough people to form a fair-sized city, Masters must prepare for such possible eventualities as these of preceding years:

Once a quartet of smoothies lifted 600 tickets from a booth. While a "front man" engaged the ticket seller in a heated argument, the others sawed a hole in the booth, reached in and purloined the paste boards. Cooperation of purchasers enabled the authorities to capture the four culprits.

On one occasion a student ticket taker admitted a fellow who flashed a deputy sheriff's badge, or so it was stamped. Fifteen other "deputy sheriffs" walked through the gate in quick succession. The original badge holder had merely passed it through the fence to confederates.

Hot-Stovers Going Full Blast In Effort To Capture Mungo

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (P) — The open season on Van Lingle Mungo, which arrives about this time every year, finds the hot-stovers going full blast again over the "problem child" of Brooklyn's Daffy Dodgers.

Annually it's the custom for the cracker-barrel managers to trade Brooklyn's temperamental fireballer to any and all clubs in the National league. And just as sure as three strikes are out, Van usually pops up from his Pageland (S. C.) hunting grounds during this season with a statement loaded with as much fire as his fast ball.

To date, Mungo hasn't spoken officially. He's too busy hunting foxes. But any day now, he'll probably take an oral crack at his current pet peeve — Manager Burleigh Grimes, who put the chill on him for something like $100 a day by suspending him without pay last August.

Meantime, "Boiling Boily," who's somewhat better than a green hand, himself, at popping off, is keeping quiet, but it's no secret that he's looking over offers to trade Mr. Mungo.

If Santa Claus wanted to give Mungo a Christmas present that would please him more than a $25,000 salary boost, all that has to happen is for Van to find himself traded to some other club (preferably first division). For several seasons now, Mungo has been raving over the poor support afield which he claims his Dodger teammates give him.

Pro Teams Seek Tech Boys

By Collier Parris

The Red Raiders, although slightly crippled, are in the proper frame of mind as they board the train for the south. They'll have one of their toughest battles of the season—but they'll win.

Hesitatingly suggesting a score: Texas Tech 13; Centenary 0.

THE DEPARTMENT is doing an about face in making this choice. But we were out at the practice field for a little while yesterday, and in the dressing room afterward. Also had occasion to talk to some of the boys individually. They think they'll win. And that's good enough for us.

That the same Red Raiders are getting some good publicity outside Lubbock city limits is shown by some of Dr. Peter Willis Cawthon's incoming mail. On one day last week letters came from two professional football front offices "feeling" out Cawthon on present Raiders he thought could make the go in big time football.

From George "Potsy" Clark, veteran pro manager and now head boss of the Brooklyn Dodgers, comes a plea for reinforcements for his club. Says Potsy:

"As I go into the finish of my first year with the Brooklyn Dodgers football club, I find myself in the same position as that of a college coach who has lost all his material through graduation.

"I must start with a new team next year, and I am writing to several of my friends among the colleges for men who will be eligible for professional football. We are looking for the best, and we will pay the best."

Damon "Buzz" Wetzel, Cleveland Ram general manager, sends another along the same vein. In other words, he's looking for football material and wants the best available.

Both teams are members of the National Football league. They have been meeting stronger teams of the loop on an uneven basis as far as material is concerned, and are contacting better college outfits in attempting to improve their standings. Texas Tech's record in "uptown" football has given it no end of publicity. Three players from last year's team are now pasttiming in the same National league with better than fair success.

Winnie Baze, fullback, and Bill Holcomb, tackler, were starters almost from the first, and Jim Neill, 1936 Raider standout, made the metropolitan boys take notice in his first workout with the New York Giants. Captains Herschel "Red" Ramsey and Louis Jones, and others of the present Tech squad are destined to do the same thing if they take a fling at the pro game. In fact, the professionals may do a little fancy bidding for Ramsey and Jones. Cawthon personally recommended that pair.

While reading the coach's mail, another letter caught this department's eye. From Frank Korch, football editor for Collyer's Publishing company, publishers of Collyer's Eye, came a request for information anent Tech's players with the purpose of picking the 1937 "Little All-America." He says:

"Ramsey, end on your team, has been suggested to us. Kindly give your opinion of this boy, as well as any others you have seen this year worthy of Little All-American consideration."

Again Ramsey and Jones get the call.

Then back to the Gent game Saturday. And along with that something of Ramsey's case at Shreveport. Some four years ago he spent a semester at the Louisiana school, with the intention of doing all-America chores there, but he could not get the courses he preferred so came to Tech. If he gets by the Gentlemen, who will be gunning for him, as admirably as he has other teams, this corner would rather recommend him for Alan Gould's first all-America team.

It still goes, Tech 13, Centenary 0.

New Uniforms Will Be Worn By Local Police At Annual Ball

New gabardine uniforms of forestry green will be worn by members of the police department tonight at the annual policemen's ball in the Auditorium, said Chief Don Reeder Thursday night in announcing completed arrangements for the ball. The new uniforms were received here Thursday.

Music will be by Ned Bradley and his orchestra. Tickets are $1 each and may be purchased today from members of the police department on their beat or by calling police headquarters in the City hall.

Approximately 450 tickets had been sold, according to a check Thursday night.

Colors of the new uniforms were selected to prevent showing of dust. Officers indicated the forestry green was more adapted to this area than the blue of the old uniforms.

Engineering Students Of Tech To Make Conchos Dam Trip

An inspection trip to Conchos dam will be made by 26 students in the civil engineering department and engineering unit of the Reserve Officers Training corps at Texas Technological college and three faculty members, who were to leave at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The trip is sponsored by the Tech student branch of the American Society of Civil Engineers. Wayland Merriman is president of the branch.

To Go By Bus

The group was to go by chartered bus, leaving from the college main engineering building. It will return Saturday. The dam is located about 40 miles west of Tucumcari, N. M.

Faculty members who were to go were J. H. Murdough, head professor of civil engineering; Capt. Frank A. Pettit, commander of the R. O. T. C. unit; and E. V. Middleton, civil engineering instructor.

Students who signed up were Merriman, Douglas Ross, Fred Langdale, John Emmett, K. W. Sherer, Herbert Rule, Clytus Parris, Frank Gay, Bill Cobb, A. F. Reese, Bill Savage, Cecil Overby, Emerson McGee, Tom Sweatman, Finis Keeton, Arch Reinhold, Carl Kuentz, and William King, all students in the civil engineering department, and the following members of the R. O. T. C. unit: Rufus Ryan, Amatus Chamberlain, R. L. Jackson, Ells Schmid, Eldon Schmid, Eddie Stavlo, W. N. Bryant, and Dale Lehr.

How to Be a "Reg'lar" Fellow—Without Pills

There's a better way to get on the "regular" side than by over-stimulating your intestines with cathartics. Give up the vest-pocket cures and eat a natural laxative food—Kellogg's All-Bran.

Instead of abusing your intestines, All-Bran supplies TWO things they need. First, it's a good source of vitamin "B,"—the vitamin that tones up your intestinal tract. Second, All-Bran provides "bulk"—it absorbs water and softens like a sponge. This water-softened mass aids elimination.

Eat this crunchy, toasted cereal with milk or cream and fruits—or in cooking. But however you eat it, use it regularly: eat two tablespoons of All-Bran and drink plenty of water. If you do this every day you can avoid common constipation and cathartics, too! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. At every grocer's.

That Girl on Broadway says most people do not denounce scandal until they have heard all the story.

Most men don't realize that they'd have happier home lives if they were as polite to their wives as they are to other women.

IF the average reader is like The Plainsman he will swear he's seen and heard so much of the Dionne quints that he knows them as well as he does his own or his neighbor's children.

But does he? Do you?

Here's today's "brain teasers":

1. News of the Dionne quintuplets has filled newspapers for three years. Can you name the five famous sisters?

2. A pyre is:
a dock for boats,
a musical instrument,
a burning pile,
an ecclesiastical official,
a long-tailed bird.

3. Look through your letters to find how rouge conceals a scoundrel.

4. One of the following married while serving as President of United States:
Washington, Grant, Garfield, Taft, Wilson.

5. If you have some pennies in your right hand and you dropped them into your left hand, one at a time, counting 23 clinks, how many pennies would you have in your left hand?

Somebody sent this in:
"Men take their troubles to the editor.
"Women take their troubles to the Lord.
"Hurrah for the women!"

THE grouch at the next desk says these girls with handkerchiefs tied around their heads and under their chins look like they've got the mumps!

You needn't listen closely to a fellow to find out if he's a reformer. Just keep track of how many times he uses the word "forever."

That Man on Avenue Q says the less logic and justice there is in a man's cause, the madder he gets when you kid him about it.

The world is always willing to pay a big price for sincerity.

YOU mothers with little babies already know one cannot be too careful in tending to the infants but it doesn't hurt to stress the fact via a story told The Plainsman yesterday by Dr. Fred Standefer.

A mother and father residing near here brought a baby in with a safety pin lodged in its esophagus and a delicate operation was necessitated. Fortunately, the child was little the worse for its experience.

Most peculiar thing about the occurrence was, however, the way the safety pin happened to get into the tube which leads from the pharnyx to the stomach. Here's the way it was:

The mother was putting a new diaper on the child and was holding the necessary safety pin in her mouth. The baby was crying, mouth stretched wide. The pin slipped from the mother's mouth into that of the baby and the latter promptly swallowed!

Of course, all's well that ends well, but think how serious it might have been!

Mayor Ross Edwards and Commissioner Bill Price firmly believe that the new route in and out of Lubbock, via Texas Avenue to Avenue H near 30th street, will be completed—including paving—by late spring.

If the project is completed that quickly, it will be a great thing for the community. That's one thing that should be pushed right along.

MORE good community news is the activity upon the part of Lubbock business men to make the city and territory "Christmas-minded" by a more ambitious holidays decoration program than we've ever seen before.

Everyone seems to be enthused over the idea, as was noted yesterday when 27 business men attended the first meeting to discuss plans.

Lubbock is not usually backward in community matters, but in the field of downtown Christmas decorations it has lagged 'way behind.

Particularly Abilene and Amarillo have made us look like a bunch of saps in past years—and have profited thereby, not only commercially but in the fostering of a better Yuletide spirit.

If everything goes as scheduled this year, Lubbock will take off its hat to no community of its size or comparable importance in Texas.

The move is very well worthwhile.

THE Plainsman wonders if any appreciable number of our citizens have ever stopped to consider the fact that the city bus lines are mighty valuable to the whole city.

They really are.

The idea of voicing this thought came to us the other day when someone remarked that the bus lines are making a barrel of money. Whether they are, or not, The Plainsman has no way of knowing. But he hopes the rumor is true, because if the lines are paying, doubtless our public transportation system will be gradually lengthened and improved, as conditions dictate and permit.

The writer is not one of those who dislike seeing local firms and individuals making money. Instead, he applauds prosperity and wishes that every Lubbock business enterprise could be made to pay off in a big way to both owner and employes.

The wish is not entirely altruistic, since were it to come true it would make a bigger, better, happier place for all of us to live and the earning powers of all of us, as individuals, would be increased.

BEFORE getting away from the subject of the bus lines, The Plainsman wants to go on record as saying that as Lubbock becomes more and more of a city, the need for public transportation will become greater and greater.

Already we have reached the point where a lot of us can go to and from town via bus almost as conveniently as we can by our private cars.

This column hopes to see the day when Lubbock is criss-crossed by bus lines, making quick, cheap transportation immediately available to all parts of the city.

That is a big thing to look forward to.

BENNETT Slagle, back for the winter after being "gone off the cap" for little less than a decade, has turned "softy". The one-time straw-boss of The Avalanche-Journal newsroom—and before that night editor of The Avalanche—admits he "can't take it" any more.

What is getting him down is the little cold snap that hit us yesterday. It had him shaking like a leaf on a tree.

For the past three winters, Bennett has been in sunny Florida—at Homestead, in the suburbs of Miami. He says his stay in the South has cut his blood down to where anything under 90 degrees is downright chilly.

The Plainsman is no scientist, but he does believe people's bodies become attuned to certain geographic conditions.

If you live in a hot, damp country you get to where it doesn't affect you like it does people from cool, dry areas—and vice versa.

Probably it's a good thing, too, for it makes us better satisfied to live where we have become used to conditions.

A well known hair-dresser says men's hair is finer than women's.

And, we might add, scarcer!

HERE are the answers to today's mental exercises, including that sneaky one about the Dionne kids:

1. The Dionne quints are Annette, Cecile, Emilie, Marie, Yvonne.
2. A pyre is a burning pile.
3. "Rogue" is the scoundrel masked by "rouge."
4. Wilson married while President.
5. Twenty-four pennies. The first one did not clink.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

PRISCILLA PIERCE — heroine, young woman attorney.
AMY KERR — Cilly's roommate and murderer's victim.
JIM KERRIGAN—Cilly's fiance.
HARRY HUTCHINS — Amy's strange visitor.
SERGEANT DOLAN—officer assigned to solve the murder of Amy Kerr.

Yesterday: Harvey Ames, Amy's employer, is shockingly distressed at the news of Amy's death. His actions arouse Cilly's suspicions.

CHAPTER XI

Mr. Crowell was unusually solicitous when Cilly explained the tragic affair to him.

"Don't worry about the office, Miss Pierce," he ordered, gently. "I'm sorry about the Harvey case, because I particularly wanted you to handle it. But this is a terrible situation. Don't try to come in for the balance of the week. And if you feel in need of any legal backing, remember that we'll stand behind you. Don't let the police frighten you."

Leaving his office, Cilly felt stronger than she had in the past 12 hours. With the backing of a law firm as capable and as respected as Crowell and Burns, she lost some of that first dread she had of the circumstantial evidence which was closing in around Jim.

"Telephone, Miss Pierce," the operator called, as Cilly passed the switchboard.

"Who is it, Betty?"

"Mr. Hutchins."

"All right. Put him on."

In her own office she took up the phone. Harry's voice, loud and strident came over the wire.

"I've been trying to get you at home, Priscilla," he said. "I'm just about broken up by the news. Can I help in any way—with the funeral, perhaps?"

"Thank you, Harry," Cilly replied quietly. "There's really nothing more to be done. Funeral services will be tomorrow at 2 . . . at the Greenwood Funeral Home in Flatbush."

"I'll be there, of course. In the meantime there are some things I'd like to talk over with you. Will you have dinner with me tonight?"

Cilly didn't feel equal to dining with Harry Hutchins.

"I'd rather not go out to dinner tonight," she told him. "But I'll be home about 5, if you care to drop in for a few minutes."

"Fine. I'll be out shortly after 5."

Cilly was home only a few minutes when Harry Hutchins arrived. He had obviously stopped at the florist's, for he carried an enormous bouquet—a gay colorful array of flowers.

"I just stopped to see about a wreath," he said by way of explanation, "and I thought I might just as well bring these along to you. They'll cheer the place up a bit."

Cilly thanked him. She appreciated his thoughtfulness, nevertheless she resented his flowers. No matter how fine Harry Hutchins tried to be, she thought, she would not like him.

"Had a nice visit from the police this afternoon," Harry offered. He settled himself in a comfortable chair and took out a cigaret.

Watching him, Cilly was forced to admire him, in spite of herself. He was undeniably handsome, his features were even and perfect, as if they had been molded to some special order. His face lacked the rugged charm, the wrinkled friendliness of Jim's, but it was attractive, nevertheless.

With exaggerated nonchalance he lit the cigaret and blew out the match.

"You know that fellow Dolan's all wet," he said. A smile of faintly amused boredom hovered on his lips. "I told him so, too."

"Did you really?"

He did not catch the irony in Cilly's words. "I certainly did," he admitted, self-approvingly. "Turning an affair like this into a deep, baffling mystery so they can get a few weeks' newspaper publicity while they're trying to solve it . . . it's ridiculous."

"Doesn't it seem rather mysterious to you why anyone should want to murder Amy?"

Harry waved his cigaret deprecatingly.

"Amy wasn't murdered. It was an obvious suicide. Amy was the perfect type—melancholy, despondent . . . ."

"That's absurd!" Cilly flared. "Amy Kerr was as happy and intelligent a girl as I ever knew!"

Harry shrugged. "That's the impression she gave you, no doubt. But a man can always get to know a girl better than even her closest friend. Amy wasn't happy, I know. Some love affair, perhaps. She often told me about some man . . . ."

"Amy wasn't fool enough to kill herself over any man!" Cilly corrected him with decision.

"I'm sorry, Priscilla. Heaven knows I don't mean to speak lightly of Amy Kerr. She was too fine a girl . . . too splendid . . . " His voice trailed off, and he smiled with worldly tolerance before he spoke again. "Of course, you know, there was nothing serious between us . . . absolutely nothing."

"I understood your relationship perfectly," Cilly said icily. "Of course Amy was not serious. She had other interests . . . a great many other interests . . ."

Harry leaned forward in his chair.

"That's exactly what I've been trying to say, Priscilla. There was—someone else. Someone who hurt her a great deal."

Cilly did not want to believe him. She did not want to pay attention to any remarks from Harry Hutchins. Nevertheless, there had been something in Amy's past. Something serious and threatening. She couldn't deny that. Perhaps Amy had confided in Harry Hutchins to a certain extent.

"I think it would be a good idea,"

Hold Everything! . . . By Clyde Lewis

"No—I gave you the ring, so keep it! Besides, what's ten cents to a man with a broken heart?"

Today's Journal Editorial . . .

A PROBLEM WHICH CRIES FOR SOLUTION

It is now more than four months since the "Little Steel" strike was broken. It is about six months since it began.

Most Lubbock and South Plains citizens, along with those residing everywhere save in the territories actually effected, have forgotten it. But, sad to say, there are 3,500 families who have not forgotten it—nor are they likely to any time soon.

They are the families of the men, still technically "on strike", who have not gone back to work and who may never go back. Their places have been filled, production is going forward just as it did before the walkout.

In Cleveland there is a public movement on foot to try to relieve the destitution which followed in the wake of the strike. Youngstown, Pittsburgh, Canton and other cities face a similar problem, for CIO "strike benefits" have dwindled to less than $20 per week. The situation is bad, indeed.

Some people will dismiss the matter by saying, "Well, they quit their jobs, didn't they. Let 'em take the consequences." Others will say, "Fine! Maybe those dummies will learn, sooner or later, that John Lewis is making monkeys out of them—using them for pawns in a game to build himself up." It is an easy matter to dismiss the situation with such statements and heaven knows The Journal has no use whatever for John Lewis and his ilk. But the fact remains that there are 3,500 American families suffering stark want and you can't dismiss that fact with a shrug and a sock at Lewis and his comrades.

The moral to all this is that there must be found a better way of settling labor relations problems.

Strikes, violent or otherwise, simply don't get the job done, either for labor or its employers.

These 3,500 men and their families, left like driftwood in the wake of industrial strife simply because they were led away by a beetle-browed exhorter who was looking out for No. 1, are evidence of our failure to solve, as yet, a problem which must be solved.

A Thought . .

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19.—Strictly personal: Most skittish person to interview is Charles Boyer, but he has a reason. Two years ago a writer misquoted him as saying: "My baby ears were attuned from birth not to the grandiloquent words of mummers but to the whir of machinery coming from the small, industrious factory next door."

Boyer never can forget that; still gags when he thinks of it.

Most colorful cusser in Hollywood is Gary Cooper. He swears with feeling and imagination. Carole Lombard is tops among the gals. But eloquent though she is, Miss Lombard is the colony's poorest speller. Lots of primary school spelling books have been sent her for jokes.

Eddie Cantor has the biggest telephone bill in town. With him, to see a telephone is to call somebody. Dolores del Rio neither writes nor phones, but her telegrams are almost as long and numerous as the late Flo Ziegfeld's. Frances Drake saves only those fan letters which contain proposals of marriage.

Napkin Tucker Beery

William Powell, one of the best-dressed actors, lounges at home in a pair of shorts. Errol Flynn likes to dress up; clops around his house in wooden shoes and South Seas sarong. Only cap wearers in the colony are George Murphy, Bing Crosby and Dance Director Seymour Felix. George Raft carries hankies with his name embroidered on them.

Reason Joan Crawford can't wear ready-made clothes is that her shoulders take a size 18, her bust a 16, hips a 14.

Miss Crawford likes to eat almost everything with a spoon. Edward Arnold hires a cook but does most of the cooking himself. The cook is merely a taster. When Wallace Beery sits at table he tucks a napkin in his collar. Olivia de Havilland uses a fork in her left hand, English fashion. Only tobacco-eater is Al Dubin; chews up cigars while writing tender lyric.

Beery, often shown intoxicated on the screen, is Hollywood's foremost teetotaler. Nobody laughs harder at Mae West jokes than Mae West; . . . she makes 'em up. J. Carroll Naish, the heavy, began his career as a female impersonator. But Franklin Pangborn, now seen in most of his films as a fussy dressmaker, was a villain in "Ben Hur" in 1918.

Pat O'Brien, at 5, played the role of a lamb in a church cantata in Milwaukee. Humphrey Bogart, now a suave scoundrel, used to pose for cherubic portraits.

Nicking Names

Paymistress at the Hal Roach studio is Grace Cash. Arthur Hornblow calls Myrna Loy "Minnie." Cesar Romero is "Butch" to his pals. Mrs. Boris Karloff calls her horror-man husband "Sweetie-Pie." Nancy Carroll is known as "Baby Face." Dick Powell is "Powie" to Joan Blondell.

Most reluctant dancer at parties is Paul Muni. But Louis B. Mayer never sits out a number. Most notorious scene-stealer is Ben Blue, who practices making faces in front of a mirror. Fred Stone is superstitious about saying goodby; always says "Good luck."

Gary Cooper always has to have two chairs when he sits on the set; one is for his feet. Claudette Colbert is always mooching cigarets.

Rosalind Russell is a celebrity worshiper; collects aviators. Clark Gable has five hideaways near Hollywood where not even his studio can reach him.

Kay Francis has trouble pronouncing r's. Jeanette MacDonald is afraid to cross streets alone. Carole Lombard fears heights, and Sylvia Sidney can't stand crowds. Jack Haley walks in his sleep. Pals say that he also takes bows.

Most nearsighted people are Constance Bennett, Gloria Stuart and Martha Raye. They can't recognize acquaintances readily, and so have a reputation for being high-hat. Virgina Bruce, careful not to offend anyone, will smile at a person whether she knows him or not.

John Barrymore always turns to the comic page of a newspaper. Tyrone Power used to read Sunday comics to kiddies on the radio. Most rabid detective-story fans are Glenda Farrell and Bing Crosby.

Plenty Of Headaches Packed Into Problems Facing Congress, Rodney Dutcher Declares

This is the last of six stories on Congress and what lies ahead of it at the special session.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 — The interrelated issues of the budget, taxation relief and the general business situation will provide plenty of headaches on Capitol Hill — and perhaps elsewhere — in the next few months.

Fiscal matters presumably won't come before Congress until the regular session beginning in January, whereafter Roosevelt will indicate and Congress must decide how much money the government shall spend in the 1938-39 fiscal year and where the government is going to get it. Meanwhile, expenditures, taxes and the slump are on everybody's mind. A bird's-eye view follows:

Rodney Dutcher

Smaller Deficit Forecast

Budget: The Treasury now anticipates a $700,000,000 deficit for 1937-38, as compared with the $2,700,000,000 deficit of 1936-37. Secretary Morgenthau proposes economies of $700,000,000 to be effected on appropriations for highways, public works, agriculture — and relief. Roosevelt is not as enthusiastic a budget-balancer as Morgenthau, however, and Congress always finds it hard to economize.

Relief demands are likely to be larger than official calculations and some influential advisers believe in raising taxes and spending money rather than economizing, holding that a reduction of $2,500,000,000 in federal outlay as compared with last year's is largely responsible for the slump. Morgenthau's insistence that private industry must start something and that "no one will starve" must be borne in mind.

Relief Demands Grow

Relief: If unemployment continues to increase there is likely to be a demand for at least half a billion dollars in addition to the $1,500,000,000 appropriated for 1937-38 work relief. Roosevelt has been hoping to get the 1938-39 appropriation down to a billion dollars.

Senator Byrnes of South Carolina again will try to have cities and states compelled to contribute 25 per cent of work relief funds, which would mean wrecking the WPA program in some areas, since the average level of domestic contributions is 22 per cent and sections well below the average usually can't pay more than they do.

Broaden Income Tax

Tax revision: The Treasury has been working out a revision program and Morgenthau has said he favors reducing consumer or "hidden" taxes and increasing the number of income tax payers. There's much talk of increasing tax on incomes between $10,000—or $5,000—and $50,000.

Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin will push his plan to broaden the base (reducing personal exemptions from $2500 to $2000 for married persons and from $1000 to $800 for the unmarried) and raise surtaxes in middle brackets — a combination which he says would produce $350,000,000 a year. Chances of heavier taxes are still good — if the budget is to be balanced.

Keep Profits Taxes

Undistributed corporate surplus tax: Revision sure, but repeal unlikely. Congress may be more liberal, but the administration now is willing to consent only to exemptions for small corporations, limited "rainy day" cushioning and relatively small exemption for expansion purposes. Principle of the tax must be retained, the administration insists, with bulk of profit surplus subject to tax.

Capital Gains Tax: (Income tax rates applied to unearned profits accruing mostly on stocks, bonds and real estate) No change likely unless administration gets behind move to exempt from the tax profits made on new housing developments.

Tax-Exempt Securities: Income from federal and other tax-exempt securities is likely to be made taxable, in effect, by taxing other income additionally in proportion to amount of tax-exempt income reported.

Social Security Taxes: Much talk leading to eventual revision, but no immediate prospect for action.

Amendments to the Federal Housing administration act to make investment in new real estate developments more attractive are likely. Also other legislation designed to stimulate private enterprise if anyone can think of schemes the administration will accept.

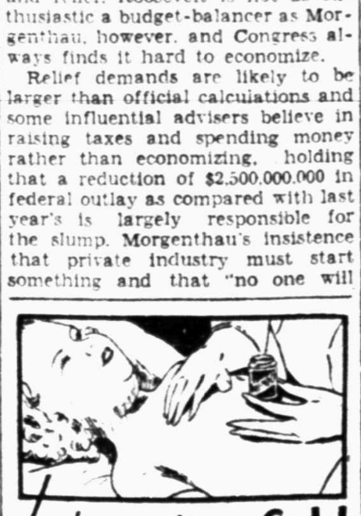

Anti-monopoly legislation is still in the study stage at the Department of Justice. Definite proposals probably will emerge in time, but no one knows when.

'Cleopatra'

Spectacular Tallulah Bankhead made a spectacular "Cleopatra" in her recently opened play "Antony and Cleopatra," with the Egyptian headdress and collar, the jeweled dagger in her girdle, as she is pictured above. The show, opening in Rochester, also stars Conway Tearle and Tallulah's husband, John Emery.

Out Of The Night

he was saying. "If you went over her personal things—her letters, or keepsakes, for example. Get rid of anything—well, anything out of the past. You know how the police pounce upon such things, and what the newspapers do with them. Amy was too fine to be made ridiculous after she's gone."

Suddenly Cilly understood Harry's solicitous interest. It wasn't Amy's past that he was concerned about—he probably knew no more about that than Cilly did—it was his own future that troubled him.

"The police have already done that," she stated maliciously, deliberately overpainting the picture. "Sergeant Dolan's brief examination of Amy's personal effects had not been very thorough. She wanted to annoy Harry Hutchins. Apparently she succeeded.

He sat up attentively. "Have they found anything?" he asked with unfeigned concern.

Cilly only shrugged.

Let him worry, she thought. He probably wrote some warm letters to Amy before he met Gloria Harmon, and now he's afraid they'll find their way into the newspapers, for the glamorous Gloria to read and misinterpret. That would be just too bad: his promising future might be threatened.

Nevertheless, Cilly determined to go through Amy's belongings more thoroughly that evening. If there was, as Harry Htuchins intimated, something in the past, the fact would not be cheap fodder for the tabloids—not if she could help it.

The first thing she did, however, after Harry Hutchins left, was to throw his garish bouquet down the incinerator.

IT REALLY HAPPENED IN FOOTBALL!

UNOFFICIAL gunplay in a football game was pulled to good advantage during part of a Clemson-Virginia Polytechnic Institute contest at Columbia, S. C., years ago.

Clemson's backs stood well behind the line of scrimmage and, after the ball was passed from center, these backfield men, spread almost entirely across the field, passed it back and forth—more like basketball than football. Suddenly, a spectator, schooled in the play, fired a gun on the sidelines, and the Clemson back who had the ball at the time, was off for a good gain through a scattered defense. The referee, however, finally located the gun-toter, ruled it "coaching from the sidelines," and banned further use of the play. V. P. I. won 17-11.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 19. (AP) — Better foreign cables and lack of selling pressure resulted in opening gains of 1 to 3 points in the cotton market here today.

There was little incentive and trading following a narrow channel.

On first trades Dec. sold at 7.85, Jan. at 7.87, March 7.89, May 7.93, July 7.97 and Oct. at 8.05.

A mild selling flurry developed and the early gain was lost. Towards the end of the first half hour active months were unchanged to 2 points net lower compared with the previous close.

Selling dwindled as the session progressed and although trading continued quiet a fair demand developed after the first hour.

Toward mid-session Dec. traded at 7.89, March 7.89, May at 7.94, July 7.97 and Oct. at 8.06, or 2 to 6 points net higher.

A sale of 15,000 bales was reported made in the Dec. option and transferred to March.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP) — Cotton futures opened steady unchanged to 2 higher with December liquidation absorbed by spot houses. Dec. 7.67, Jan. 7.72, March 7.78, May 7.84, July 7.89, Oct. 7.98.

Trading was quiet. Dec. liquidation was absorbed by spot houses. Local sold in sympathy with an easing stock market.

Price moved over a range of 2 to 3 points during the first half hour, with March fluctuating between 7.79 and 7.76.

The market turned steadier following the mid-morning lows as trade demand for Dec. became more active and [illegible] commission house liquidation in [illegible].

March sold up from 7.75 to 7.81. By mid-day it was quoted 7.79 and the list was about 2 to 9 points net higher.

Dickens Area Is Being Leased

DICKENS, Nov. 19. — One of the oldest county seat towns on the High Plains of Texas, with a courthouse building more than 40 years old, Dickens is looking forward to a busy winter, presaging what is hoped to be a return to better times.

Besides agricultural resources, black gold is beginning to be sought in this section and a land leasing campaign has brought in considerable income to land owners. More is predicted as geophysical crews of various kinds are at work attempting to locate evidences of oil. Two tests are already underway south of here, while over in Crosby county, to the west, there is a strong campaign underway.

Town Is Growing Slowly

The town is slowly growing. The state highway department has begun assembling materials for a new warehouse here, to increase capacity of its present structure. It is located in the eastern part of town and will be needed for expected highway work.

At the same time the department has announced bids will be opened Nov. 23 for grading and drainage work on No. 24 for nine miles east. This is the last job of its kind in the county on a state road and also the last on No. 24. It will complete a gap between Dickens and east of Guthrie, King county. Later the department will hard surface the road.

Gins Are Busy

Both gins here are busy ginning cotton. Some 3,000 bales are said to have been ginned. The crop is turning out better than expected and predictions are that the county will have from 30,000 to 35,000 bales from the 1937 season.

Several residences have been built during the past year. One new business, a grocery, has opened. All business houses are occupied and likewise residences.

Last March 1 the city's new water system, built through FWA aid, was opened. Starting with 40 customers, the system now has 70.

Last year the courthouse was rebuilt and more space added. The old structure was modernized at a reasonable cost and now the courthouse and grounds are among the best looking in this section. The building itself was built in 1893.

Wheat Crop Aided

The county's wheat crop of last summer brought good returns to the county. Delinquent taxes were paid up. Now with a cotton crop coming in, more payments are being made, said Sheriff J. L. Koonsman, who does the collecting.

Quite a number of property owners here have remodeled their buildings, residential and business. More work will be done when the cotton crop is through.

"We think things are on the upgrade," said Fred Arrington, county and district court clerk, who is also city clerk. "We feel that we are beginning to see things a little brighter now."

Next move should be to build some new homes, said H. A. Brummett, attorney and a long-time resident here. "This new highway will be of great help to us," he added. "We could use some new residences if we had them."

Ear "Human Radio," Is Announcement Of Harvard Laboratory

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 19. (AP) —Professor E. G. Boring, director of Harvard psychological laboratory, today said S. Smith Stevens, a psychology instructor, could receive radio programs by filling one ear with salt water, inserting a piece of wire into the water and strapping a second piece of wire to another part of his body.

Professor Boring explained energy carried into the ear by the wires caused hairs in the inner ear to vibrate.

Deportation Of French Woman Upheld; Hearing Is Granted

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP)—Deportation of Magda de Fontanges, French journalist, was upheld in Washington today, but her attorney immediately won her another hearing in federal court tomorrow on a habeas corpus writ.

Immigration authorities refused to admit her Nov. 8 "on the ground she had admitted having committed a crime involving moral turpitude" —the shooting of Count Charles de Chambrun because he disclosed what she termed her romance with Italian Premier Mussolini. She is held on Ellis island.

Comptroller Sheppard Keeps Close Tab On Gasoline Taxes Evasion Efforts

(Special To The Avalanche)

AUSTIN, Nov. 19. — Summoning mechanical ingenuity to his aid, Comptroller George H. Sheppard has taken his fight against gasoline tax evaders out upon the highways.

Success with a calibration method of checking capicities of tank trucks hauling gasoline led the comptroller to build a "station on wheels."

Capacity Labelled Wrong

Sheppard explained today that one of the most fertile fields for gasoline tax evaders was to construct truck tanks, in which gasoline was transported from the refinery to the filling station, with tanks labeled as of one capacity, but actually holding much more gasoline.

The trucker would pay the tax on an amount of gasoline much less than the amount he actually carried; and by evading the 4-cent state tax on a few gallons each trip, the trucker could get away with several thousands of dollars in the course of a year's business.

Calibration Stations Built

To combat this evasion, calibration stations were built in Kilgore, Tyler, Houston, San Antonio, Arlington, Abilene and Amarillo, and trucks operating in these territories were required to report to these stations for a scientifically exact measurement of their tanks.

While these stations cut deeply into the revenue loss, there were still trucks operating in remote sections which Sheppard felt should undergo the same periodic tests. He hit upon the expedient of putting the calibration station on wheels and carrying it direct to the various areas.

Reads Down To Fractions

The trailer testing station consists of four tanks, each meeting U. S. Government specifications, and capable of reading down to a fraction of a gallon. The tank truck to be tested is emptied of its contents, and known quantities of water in the calibrated tanks are then drained into the truck from the traveling station. Intricate mechanical contrivances allow for the equipment to be raised so the water may flow into the truck by gravity.

Sheppard said the newly completed equipment would be put into operation immediately as one more step in the constant fight to check the cheaters on state taxes. Inspectors for the motor fuel tax division will make a check of every tank truck operating in the state, he said.

Lorenzo Area's Prospects Good

LORENZO, Nov. 19. — Brightest prospects that this eastern Crosby county town has seen in a decade are here as harvesting of a record cotton crop is bringing business here from all parts of the trade territory.

"Lorenzo is a good live town," said Stockton Henry, editor of the Lorenzo Tribune. "We have more business here than I have ever seen before. There is not an empty house in town, business or residential. People are doubling up. We moved a good many houses out to Lubbock and other towns and now we need them."

Paying Off Obligations

Farmers, the editor said, are paying off obligations to both stores and the bank. The bank is one of the busiest places in town; customers have to stand in line for an hour or more, frequently, in order to make a deposit.

Lorenzo's trade territory is somewhat limited; ten miles to the east is Ralls and not that far west is Idalou. Business comes from the north and south, but north nine milse is Estacado, with a gin, with another gin as far south.

Ginnings 7,000 Bales

Ginnings here are estimated at over 7,000 bales. The three gins are about 600 bales behind now. One gin has turned out over 3,000 bales and is still going strong with many loads of cotton on the yard and all houses full of seed cotton.

N. L. Green, one of the well known farmers, said he was able just a day or two ago to get seed house space in which to store cotton. Prior to that he had to leave it outside. Green plans to feed cattle this year, several hu dred head probably, although he does not know how many. "Too early," he added. "I'll not start until after the first of the year."

Not much cotton is being shipped by rail, most of it going to compreses by trucks. However, the cotton seed is going to mills by rail. Memphis and other Texas mills, as well as Lubbock and Plainview, get the bulk of the seed.

Wheat is coming up good. Some planting is yet to be done, but there will be enough pasture for lots of sheep. Wheat needs a little rain, although there is enough underground moisture. Rains soon would start growth and make plenty of pasture.

Business men, in general, say business is good. Most of the trade is now from transients. Saturdays are exceptionally good days, better than for many years.

Postmaster L. N. Laird has had plenty to do in the office. His business is extra good this fall, with prospects of a big increase for the rest of the year.

Farmers have been doing considerable repair work to their homes this fall. Last summer's wheat crop, while not large, brought in considerable money and it went into repairs. Cotton money will mean some new farm homes in the late winter or spring.

In town, repair work has been done to a large extent. There may be a little building in the spring, in town.

Congress

anti-lynching measure would take another week.

That would leave the final two weeks of the session for the government reorganization bill. Some senators, however, forecast the farm debate would take up most of the remaining time.

A number of legislators, eager to obtain relaxation of the corporate taxes on business, still were talking hopefully of obtaining action at this session. But leaders discounted the possibility.

Exempt for the tax study, committee activity this week has been confined exclusively to the president's legislative program.

Filibuster Is Prolonged

In the meantime, however, house members were speaking on any subject that struck their fancy, and southern senators were prolonging their filibuster against the anti-lynching bill.

They called on Senator Dixie Bibb Graves (D-Ala) to take the floor this afternoon, barring a decision to recess early for the week-end. Mrs. Graves, appointed by her governor-husband to succeed Justice Hugo L. Black, told reporters she opposed the bill not on constitutional grounds but on a practical point.

"What is the use of passing such a bill?" she asked, her blue eyes snapping. "It isn't as if the crime of lynching were growing. It is decreasing faster than any other type of crime.

"In 1926, there were 30 lynchings in the country. In 1936, there were nine, or at most, 11."

Windsors Dismissed With One Line In N. Y. Social Register

NEW YORK, Nov. 19. (AP) — The 1938 edition of the New York social register appeared today with "Windsor-Warfield" occupying only one line in the back of the book, under "marriages of 1937."

Ernest A. Simpson, former husband of the duchess, was dropped from the book.

Mrs. Stokowski Is Reported To Have Set-Up Nevada Residence

RENO, Nev., Nov. 19. (AP) — Mrs. Evangeline Stokowski, wife of the noted Philadelphia orchestra conductor, Leopold Stokowski, was reliably reported today to have established residence at a guest ranch near Reno.

Mrs. Stokowski came to Boulder City, in southern Nevada, a few weeks ago and it was reported at that time that she would seek a divorce in Las Vegas.

FDR's General Condition Rated "A Number 1" By His Physician

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. (AP) — President Roosevelt's general condition is "A Number 1," his physician reported tonight after the chief executive had an infected tooth pulled and was treated for a gastro-intestinal disorder.

North Carolina Negro Owes His Life To Five Newspapermen; They Decided For Clemency

(By The Associated Press)

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 19.—Brady Laurence, 22-year-old negro convicted of the murder of a white man, owed his life today to a group of five newspaper reporters, who, acting upon the request of Governor Clyde H. Hoey as an unofficial court of last appeal, decided that his death sentence ought not to be carried out.

The five newspaper men spent two hours studying the records in the case, and voted unanimously in favor of sparing the negro's life. Paroles Commissioner Edwin M. Gill announced late yesterday that the governor had commuted the sentence.

"Frankly," the governor told the reporters, "I have been studying the case for several months and still haven't been able to reach a definite conclusion. Here are the facts. Your decision will be final. What would you do if you were in my place?"

Governor Hoey's record showed that the presiding judge recommended commutation while the county sheriff and all members of the jury opposed clemency.

Agreement With Britain Next

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. — Great Britain became today the twenty-first nation with which the United States has announced its intention of inaugurating reciprocal trade negotiations.

Agreements with 16 nations have been put into effect since the reciprocal trade act, permitting the president to lower or raise tariffs as much as 50 per cent in return for like concessions, became operative in 1934.

Those countries are: Cuba, Brazil, Belgium, Haiti, Sweden, Colombia, Canada, Honduras, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Nicaragua, Guatemala, France, Finland, Costa Rica and El Salvador.

Negotiations have been projected or are in progress with Venezuela, Ecuador, Czechoslovakia and Turkey.

More Than $6,000,000 And Two Years Work Will Be Required To Repair Shanghai Damage

SHANGHAI, Nov. 19. (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—More than $6,000,000 and two years of work will be required to repair the streets of the International settlement damaged by the Chinese-Japanese war.

A recent survey by the public works department of the Shanghai municipal council showed destruction in the settlement war zones of Hongkew, Wayside and Yangtzepoo was so great that even Japanese mechanized army units were unable to use the streets.

While the council probably will file claims for damage with the Japanese, foreign and Chinese taxpayers expect they will have to pay the bill.

Conferences Favor Methodism Union

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 19. (AP)—Conferences within the Methodist Episcopal church, South, church headquarters here announced tonight, have assured an affirmative vote on a proposal to unite the three branches of Methodism.

Thirty-four of the 41 conferences have voted 7,124 to 1,177 in favor of unification, the church announced. The remaining conferences are to ballot before Jan. 1.

It now remains for the general conference, at its meeting next April in Birmingham, to approve the proposal.

Former Messinger Elevated To Presidency Of Swift Co.

Charles H. Swift continued as chairman of the board and G. F. Swift, whom Holmes succeeded, will serve as vice chairman.

Holmes, 46, started with the company as a messenger in 1906 and was elected a vice president in 1928 and a director in 1931.

Englishman Awarded Nobel Peace Prize

LORD ROBERT CECIL

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 19. (AP)—The 1937 Nobel peace prize was awarded today to Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, one of the founders of the League of Nations and a leading advocate of disarmament.

The former British cabinet member was selected because of his work in the league and his efforts to promote international goodwill. The prize is worth 158,000 Swedish kronor (about $40,600).

The name of United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull was before the Nobel committee that awarded the prize. He had been sponsored by several Latin-American countries. The committee held two meetings before reaching its decision.

The award came as Lord Cecil was on a visit to the United States — his first since he received the Woodrow Wilson peace prize 12 years ago.

Mercury Power

izes and turns a turbine the same as steam. But it puts more of the heat of the fuel to work than does steam power.

This extra efficiency of mercury is due to a seeming paradox. Its vapor develops very little pressure. It will take a tremendous heat with very little pressure increase.

But scientists explain that steam's tremendous pressures are really only necessary evils. The heat is what really does the work. The proof that they are right is in the efficiency reports of the five power plants using mercury. With steam one pound of coal will light a 60 watt electric lamp 16 2-3 hours. With mercury the same pound will light the lamp 24 hours.

Assassination Plot On Cardenas Bared

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 19. (AP)—A series of police raids in Mexico City late today brought the arrest of more than 20 persons whom an authoritive source said were suspected of plotting the assassination of President Lazaro Cardenas.

This source said the alleged conspirators intended to dynamite the executive's special train the next time he left the capital on one of his frequent visits to the interior.

There was no immediate official confirmation, however, of the report an attempt on the president's life was involved.

Refrigeration Expert Charged With Being 'Cold' By Wife

CHICAGO, Nov. 19. (AP) — A refrigeration expert was sued for divorce today on grounds that he was "cold."

The plaintiff, Mrs. Susan Skipple, charged husband Ivar refused to take her out in the evenings, indulged in little conversation and, as she phrased it, acted "like a living statue."

U. S. Placed In Mediatory Role

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19. — Four international disputes are disturbing the placidity of the western hemisphere less than a year after the 21 American republics signed peace pacts at Buenos Aires.

In each controversy, the United States has assumed or sought to assume a mediatory role.

The latest dispute is that between the Dominican republic and Haiti over the alleged wholesale slaying of Haitian laborers employed in the former country.

Services As Mediator Offered

President Roosevelt has joined the governments of Cuba and Mexico in offering the services of the United States as a mediator.

His proposal received an unexpected setback when the Dominican president, who had not requested outside mediation, asked for a "clarification." The Dominican government had contended the situation was a domestic matter.

Settling Another Dispute

On another front, the United States is engaged with Costa Rica and Venezuela in an effort to mediate the "postage stamp" boudary dispute between Honduras and Nicaragua.

This controversy, dating back to 1906, became critical recently when Nicaragua issued an air mail stamp picturing the map of that country as including territory which Honduras claims. Unofficial reports said troops were massed on both sides of the border.

Still awaiting a settlement also are the long-standing disputes between Bolivia and Paraguay over the Chaco territory and between Ecuador and Peru over the location of their common frontier.

Decoration Plans

the ledger, as recorded this morning, were three outstanding incidents.

One was the request from civic leaders on Broadway between Avenues L and M that their block be included in the decorated zone. They accompanied their request with the cash, and the block will be included.

Another was a voluntary contribution of $15 toward the decoration fund from Behrens Drug company, 602 Broadway, which is outside the decoration zone.

A third cause for encouragement was the fact that business men in several other blocks at the fringe of the zone are attempting on their own initiative to raise funds for inclusion of their blocks.

The "decoration zone," as originally proposed, is bounded on the east by Avenue G, the west by Avenue L, the South by thirteenth street, and the north by Main street. The border streets are included in the decoration plans.

Less encouraging, although not discouraging, were reports from committees assigned to various blocks to seek funds from businesses in those blocks to finance the decorations. Three committees had reported this morning, and in the aggregate had secured approximately 85 per cent of the pledges they were seeking. They are continuing work, however.

Members of the decorations committee, comprised of A. I. Glassman, I. A. Stephens and O. J. (Bo) Sexton, said that final committee reports must be in by late Saturday. If decorative materials are to arrive in time, they explained, orders must be placed at once.

Tentative plans call for a general lighting of all decorations on or about Dec. 5. One proposal being considered is that it be made an occasion of general celebration, with ceremonies attending the actual flashing on the lights. That, however, is a matter of detail for later decision.

The foundation scheme of the decoration is to stretch crossing strands of ornamental lights at intersections with about four paralleling strands in each block between intersections.

Members of the committee warned, however, that the order placed will be based on the finances actually provided at that time, and not on the prospect that some who fail to join in now will attempt to get into the Christmas picture later.

Federal Officer Reported To Be Here For Mail Inquiry

Unconfirmed rumors linked the visit here of a man discribed as a "federal officer" with the mystery of a missing mail sack containing approximately $28,000 in currency and assertedly lost in the mails between Slaton and O'Donnell.

The man said to be a federal officer could not be contacted this morning.

The money had been mailed from the Federal Reserve bank at Dallas to the First National bank in O'Donnell. According to reliable sources, the sack was thrown of the train at Slaton but Postmaster J. Mack Nobles of O'Donnell said the sack was not handed through the O'Donnell office.

Investigation will be continued by several officers and postoffice authorities, it was indicated.

Eating Turkey Hour After Hour Gets To Be Tedious Business

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (P)—Eating turkey hour after hour gets to be a tedious business, a volunteer in the agriculture department "taste test" said today.

"It keeps you from wanting any dinner," sighed Rob R. Slocum of the bureau of agricultural economics.

Slocum said he and five partners couldn't relax and enjoy the free meal.

They had to pass judgment on aroma, texture, flavor of fat, flavor of lean, tenderness, quantity of juice and general conclusions — in such degrees as desirable, neutral, tough, pronounced, coarse, fine, good and poor.

Varied Activities On Schedule For South Plains Scouters

Meeting of Lubbock Scoutmasters roundtable at the newly completed handicraft lodge at Camp Post and departure of 11 adult leaders for a week-end cub training school at San Antonio are on the council area Boy Scout program tonight.

Lubbock District Scoutmasters roundtable will be the first to use the handicraft lodge as a meeting place, starting at 7:30 o'clock, according to Sam A. Henry, sr., district commissioner. Mutton barbecue will be served.

To Look Like Log Cabin

The handicraft lodge was built to replace an old ranch house destroyed by fire early last summer. Outer walls are yet to be surfaced to give the structure the appearance of a log cabin.

Planning to make the trip to San Antonio for the cubbing school scheduled Saturday and Sunday are Dr. C. C. Schmidt of Lubbock, council cub commissioner; Sam Houchins of Brownfield; M. L. Penn and O. G. Lewis of Post; W. L. Penn and of Tahoka; F. Gallman of Muleshoe; H. B. Teel of Sudan; S. P. Benefield of Spur; John Rayburn of Slaton; Earl M. McClure, council executive; and Lyndon T. Grant, assistant executive.

The school will be conducted by William Wessell of New York City, national director of cubbing.

Verdict For The Plaintiff Returned In Post Hearing

POST, Nov. 19. (Special)—Verdict for Mrs. Ben Griffith of San Angelo was returned by a jury in 106th district court here Thursday in her suit against administrators of the estate of J. M. and Margaret Shannon for one-sixth interest in approximately 140,000 acres of land.

Defense attorneys filed notice of appeal to a court of civil appeals.

Mrs. Griffith based her claim to a sixth of the Shannon estate on the allegation her husband, before their marriage, had given her half interest in his third interest in a fencing contract for which he allegedly never was paid by Shannon. She further set out her sixth went into the building up of the Shannon estate.

Representing Mrs. Griffith were the Lubbock law firm of Lockhart and Brown, State Senator G. H. Nelson, District Attorney Truett Smith of Tahoka, and Garza County Attorney Joe Moss of Post. The Lubbock law firm of Crenshaw and Dupree was counsel for the defense.
