Food Stamp Plan Participants Get Buying Power Hike

More Blue Stamps to Be Given With Each Purchase Of Orange Stamps Made

Under the new set-up, those purchasing orange food stamps will be given blue surplus commodity stamps in equal amount of their purchases of orange stamps. Heretofore, blue stamps were issued only in amount of 50 per cent of the purchase of orange stamps.

This new set-up applies only to relief clients who have purchasing power.

Clients on direct relief, or without purchasing power, have been reduced in the number of blue stamps issued to them. Under the new set-up, clients under this classification will be issued free blue stamps in the amount of $1 per month per person in the family. At noon, a luncheon was given for the visiting directors, superintendents, and others.

RECORD... Facts That Concern You

No. 24 of a Series

A few weeds grow in every garden

Among the thousands of decent law-ding beer retail establishments in merica there may be a few disrepu-able "joints."

While it is the brewers' responsiity to brew good beer and the relers' responsibility to sell beer under holesome conditions, nevertheless the ewing industry is concerned about ese undesirable places and wants em cleaned up.

We want them cleaned up because ey endanger your right to enjoy good beer... and our right to make it.

We want them cleaned up because they endanger the 31,165 jobs and $22,076,182 payroll created by beer in Texas since re-legalization. Beer contributed $2,273,968.64 last year in taxes in this state.

These benefits are worth preserving.
You can help us, if you will, by (1) patronizing only the reputable, legal places that sell beer and by (2) reporting any law violations to the duly constituted law enforcement authorities.

Asphalt Surfacing Order on US 287

More highway construction work in Hall County has been authorized by the Highway Commission on U. S. 287 which is a part of the strategic military highway system, according to P. S. Bailey, district engineer. Last Thursday it was ordered that asphalt surfacing be placed on the shoulders between Estelline and the Childress County Line. This work is estimated to cost $1,700 and is expected to be placed under contract during the early summer.

The commission had previously approved and submitted to the Public Roads Administration for inclusion on the 1942 Regular Federal Aid Program a project for widening, improving the alignment, and surfacing the narrow asphalt pavement just north of Estelline, 1.8 miles in length.
Plans and specifications are now being prepared for this work by highway engineers in view of understanding construction as soon as possible after federal funds are released for the next fiscal year which begins July 1.

Ranch Week On The T. C. U. Range

Texas Christian University students go Western once each year in a campus-wide celebration known as "Ranch Week." Here are three versions of the 1941 campus westerner: (left to right) Billye Jennings, Taft; Genevieve Prater, Memphis; Jack Hull, Mapleton, N. D.

Low Income Group Make Mattresses

Rural low income families in Texas had made 205,138 cotton mattresses under the cooperative demonstration program late in February. Of this number 32, 436 were made in January, according to Mildred Horton, vice director of the A. and M. College Extension Service.

Workers of the three cooperating groups, the Triple-A Surplus Marketing Administration, and Extension Service, estimate that nearly half a million new mattresses will be in use in Texas by the end of 1941. Previously, estimates had been somewhat lower but a new regulation announced early this month by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration will increase the figure.

The new regulation provides that a certified family of three persons will be eligible to receive two mattresses and a certified family of five persons will be eligible to receive three mattresses.

Every family receiving one or more mattresses under the 1940 and 1941 program will be entitled to receive materials for making the same number of cotton comforts under a supplemental provision. Making of the comforts in community centers likely will not begin until late March, Miss Horton says.

Texas 4-H Club girls added 7,290 home or factory-made mattresses to their bedroom equipment in 1940.

C. of C. Begins War On Grafters With Cards of Warning

Housewives, Merchants To Be Given Cards Which Warn of Graft Peddlers

Plans are being made by the Memphis Chamber of Commerce to distribute cards to householders in Memphis to be attached to the front doors of the homes warning door-to-door peddlers and agents that purchases are made only through recommendation of the chamber, according to Carroll Smyers, secretary-manager.

These cards will read: "Peddlers-Agents: Before dealing with strangers, the occupants of this residence check your proposition through the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, an organization of public service."

On the reverse of the card instructions are given the housewife concerning the card. These instructions warn against paying money on verbal contracts, of "free" photographs, permanent waves, and magazine coupons; against appeals for "sympathy" and "college boy" stories, and especially warns against the offering for sale of rugs, linoleum, lace, linens, and furs that are claimed to be smuggled, stolen, or sold below wholesale.

Mr. Smyers pointed out that the people of Memphis had been victimized on several occasions by such racketeers and this new system, by which information concerning these door-to-door peddlers may be secured by just calling the chamber of commerce office, the people of this community may be saved hundreds of dollars annually.

Mr. Smyers stated that recently the merchants of the city were solicited for advertising on the back of a rural community program on the pretext of "helping the community." Investigation proved that, although the advertising alone netted the promoter nearly $50, which he took away from Hall County, the community received less than $1.50 for its part of the whole affair.

Such grafting, Mr. Smyers stated, could be stopped if the merchants and citizens of the community would not patronize these racketeers, but investigate their claims through the chamber of commerce.

Mattress-Making Materials Arrive; Centers Re-Open

Total of 915 Mattresses Already Made; Comfort Program to Be Started

Cotton and ticking for the continuation of the 13 mattress-making centers in Hall County arrived here Monday, W. B. Hooser, county agent, announced.

These 13 centers have been closed for several weeks due to the lack of materials. The work will begin again as soon as the centers can be organized again, Mr. Hooser said.

In the current mattress-making program, Mr. Hooser stated, 915 mattresses have been made for low-income farm families in this county. Before the current program is over, three thousand mattresses will be made by these thirteen centers.

Mr. Hooser stated that each of the clients of the mattress centers who had received a mattress would also be eligible for a cotton comfort, as a part of the program. Within the next few weeks a representative from the state department will visit Hall County and set up the comfort making program here, including instruction as to how these units are made.

LET'S ALL HELP

CIVIC PRIDE was once described as that "intangible unknown quality in a man that makes him, without thought of reward or compensation, expend his efforts in improving the community in which he makes his home."

Civic pride in Memphis could hardly be called intangible or unknown if you will stop and look around at the work that is now in progress that is making this city a better place to call home. Primary in the list of improvements now in progress is the new city park which has meant many hours of planning, many hours of forethought and work for the public spirited citizens of Memphis who conceive the idea and who are now following it to a successful conclusion.

Memphis can be justly proud of this new park. It took vision to see a park, filled with beautiful flower beds, handsome stone masonry, gracious drives, a huge amphitheatre, a formal garden, lilly ponds, and many other beauty spots in a site that a few months ago was a scraggly grove of trees on the banks of a dry creek bed. But such vision, born of civic pride, was in Memphis and in just a few short months this community will enjoy one of the best parks in West Texas.

These projects for civic betterment are not a "one-man" or "one-organization" propositions. They are for every man, woman, and child in the community. Let's all pitch in and help to make Memphis an outstanding community, make Hall County a better place in which to live, and contribute our share to the betterment of the place we call home.

TEXAS IN THE SPOTLIGHT

JUST A FEW years ago, Texas, to most people, was just a big spot on the lower part of the United States map. People who lived in Texas talked with a long drawl, wore bow-legged and wore big hats, and punched cattle between spells of shootin' up the cowtown saloon was the general conception of most folks who on rare occasions, had reason to think of the Lone Star State at all.

However, during the last decade, the general impression of the biggest state in the union has been considerably changed. Today Texas is considered as one of the most progressive states in the union, and has reached this point of acclaim without the benefit of publicity agents and "gag" pictures that has characterized the publicity of many states.

The spotlight has been turned on Texas by her native sons, who through skill and leadership in their chosen professions have raised them above the rank and file and placed them in positions of responsibility and honor.

Texas is deeply indebted to these nationally famed personages, who, in receiving recognition for their own work, have turned the national spotlight on their native state. Among this list of notables who call Texas their home and who have gained national fame are Jesse Jones of Houston; John Nance Garner of Uvalde; Sam Rayburn of Bonham; Dutch Meyer of Fort Worth; C. R. Smith of Dallas; Marvin Jones of Amarillo; Tom Connally of Marlin; Rt. Rev. Russell Ludlow of Sherman, who have brought fame to their native state in their respective fields of statesmanship, sports, aviation, and theology.

CULLED FROM THE DEMOCRAT'S EXCHANGES

Donley County Leader: The old boy who always felt the cold hills chase up his back every time he heard a cuss word, froze to death last week when his daughter's new dress was caught in the Gertie Haskett in the Childrens County News: The U. S. army will have 250,000 seasoned truck drivers, many of whom can stalk a foe down without getting out of the cab.

Wichita Falls Record News: Hitler has a habit of striking in March. If he comes in like a lion this time, we hope he's forced to take on the lam.

Spearman Reporter: Right here in our own country we are giving the big defence program all the cooperation that we have—yet we are not going to quit all other normal activities.

Daily Breeze in Claude News: At our last party we had a three piece orchestra. Piano, a piano player and a bench.

Chilliothe Valley News: Things will be righted some of these days, we believe. The government cannot go on paying out money to hold down production. When checks stop coming there will be an influx of families—back to the farm. You will then be able to note a pickup in business for the small town merchant. He will then be more able to pay his taxes for city, school and state.

Floyd County Hesperian: That Floyd County farmers have been impressed with the general idea of the one-variety cotton program and are going to go along with that idea in a big way to the effect that thousands of acres have been signed up for this spring planting. Likelihood is that several thousand acres more will be signed up before planting time comes. At Aiken where the idea was first demonstrated as practicable in this county, the plan is taken for granted, of course.

Quanah Tribune-Chief: The speaking for and against the lend-lease bill in the senate is still going on and neither side is listening to speeches of the other. An overwhelming majority is for the amended bill, and eventually it will carry. Meanwhile the opponents are filibustering all they can.

Foard County News: The average man spends three times as much on non essentials as he spends on taxes, yet no one ever heard a man complain about his tobacco bills, his liquor bills or his expenditure for gambling.

Foard County News: The man who has learned how to make a living off a piece of land has accomplished a great achievement. He has solved the problem of his existence—a problem which many never solve who live from hand to mouth, depending upon some one hiring them for odd jobs now and then as occasion demands. Being able to win an existence from the soil is a real achievement and insurance of security.

The Tactless Texan in Amarillo Globe: Down state where the soldiers are being assembled in the big army camps, many of the girls and women are painting their finger nails red, white and blue. Childless Index: Mussolini says that Greeks beat the Italians to the punch. But it was the Italians who got plastered.

Tulia Herald: Whether you own a car or not, your loved ones are jeopardized daily by the reckless driver. If a standard driver's license law will minimize this danger in Texas as in other states, we need such an enforceable law just as quickly as we can get it.

Canyon News: The best years of a girl's life are the five that she is eighteen.

Miami Chief: Despite more moisture and better conditions in the arid plains section, the nation still has a dust bowl, according to a dispatch from the Nation's capital. The agriculture department is studying how to assist the farmers in the area to have a permanent substance.

For, with a 1938 Chevrolet coach, he did a flying jump of 69 feet from the dip at the intersection of Dumas Avenue and Andrews streets, and reeled crazily, sideways for another 172 feet coming to rest only after he had demolished one business front and damaged 3 others.

That Reminds Me

By Ralph Herbert

ADVENTUROUS souls, the merchants in Our Village? Ha! Why, they're the most easy-going, steady, sedate fellows in the world. They're perfectly content to pass their days behind the counter.

But listen to the stories of their youth.

WHEN Al, who runs the furniture store on Maple street, was 17, he left home to make his own way in the Big City. Work was scarce. Al slept in a flop house. For two days he had nothing to eat. At noon on his third foodless day, Al stood at the Public Square, listening to a Communist soapbox orator haranguing the Workers of the World to Arise. Al's hungry look caught the speaker's eye. He staked Al to a meal and invited him to stay at his home.

So Al became a Communist, and went to all the Communist meetings—until one day he was arrested when police broke up a riot. Al's parents saw his name in the Big City papers. They took him home. Ever since, Al has been content to stay in the furniture business.

JACK is the best meat-cutter in town. When he was young, everyone in Our Village thought he'd be a merchant, like his dad and his brothers. Jack married and had two youngsters. Then his wife died. Jack just wandered away. His brothers took care of the kids.

Jack learned cable splicing. He traveled everywhere. Sometimes he had money. More often he was broke. When he was broke, he wound up in jail. His favorite jail was one in Texas, where the sheriff's wife fed him chicken every day.

In his white butcher's coat, you'd never guess the adventure-some life Jack has led. He's content now to wait on trade.

LEW is the cheerful fellow who fills your gas tank. He started his career as a musician. He played with good orchestras, until Lew and his band landed up-state New York city.

They played a week's ment, the proprietor of a spot paid the manager band's services, and the skipped out with all the food, or rent. The orchestra had no money to pay for their instruments as well as the unpaid bill.

Lew found another town 20 miles away. A lot of talking to a hotel management that couldn't pay their rent, they played the engine, they couldn't play with their instruments.

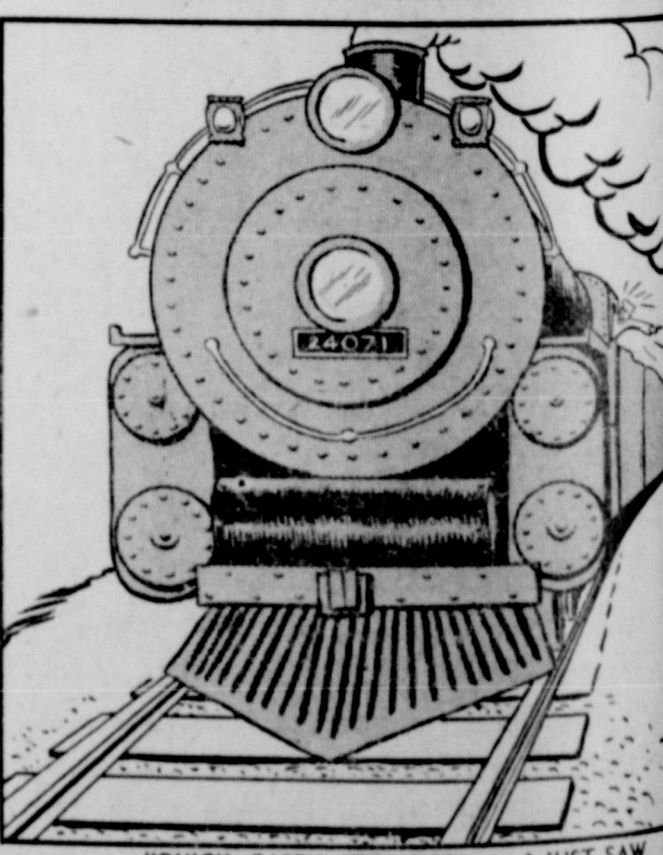

That was typical of heart-breaking experience the road. He's content now to wait on trade.

WE could tell you more about the time Jimmy, the radio store, got left by a boat in Lower City and had to eat snails and 30 miles cross-country meeting a living soul. About Dy Egan, president, who left 11 cents in his pocket, arrived in the United States pockets full of money, fruits and candies and formed little services for passengers.

The merchants in Our Village have lived full lives. That's why they trust food, lots of times, know they'll never be paid. That's why they trust personal pride in furniture homes of our new wealth. That's why they lead understanding and sympathy to our stories of Tribulations.

Early Grazing Is Better If Dry Roughages Are Fed

Cottonseed Hulls Help Dairy Cows Get Full Value From Spring Pastures

In the blending of livestock with cotton, Southern cotton fields pro-duce—especially valuable in help-ing dairymen to make more effec-tive use of pastures at this time of the year.

"Young, tender green grass ana-lyzes from 85 percent to 90 per-cent water," E. R. Eudaly, Texas Extension Dairyman, recently said. He pointed out that cows grazing on this kind of grass usually lose flesh and eventually fall off in milk production un-less fed dry roughage.

An average Jersey cow, he ad-ded, needs about 20 pounds of dry matter daily, in the form of roughage, in addition to concen-trates. This cow can consume about 75 pounds of green grass daily, but if the grass contains 90 percent water, she will get only 7 1/2 pounds of dry matter from the grass. Therefore, she will need about 12.5 pounds of dry matter from some other rough-age.

As grass matures, it contains less water. However, it is not nec-essary to know the moisture con-tent of grass because cows usually will eat the amount of dry rough-age they need if the roughage is kept before them at all times. This year, abundant winter rains in many areas may cause grass to be unusually "watery" or "sappy," so that adequate amounts of dry roughage are especially important.

Cottonseed hulls, comparable in feeding value to many of our grass and prairie hays, furnish many dairymen with valuable dry rough-age during spring months when pasture grasses are growing rap-idly. Hulls are especially valuable to prevent excessive looseness and scouring and to keep cows on feed.

Dairymen also value cottonseed hulls for their use as excellent car-riers for the concentrates in feed mixtures, and some dairymen fol-low the practice of feeding 5 to 6 pounds of hulls, daily per head, with concentrate mixture while cows are on pasture.

Cows producing milk require more nutrients to insure maximum production than are usually sup-plied by roughage alone. For this reason, three pounds of a con-centrate mixture, furnishing ade-quate protein, should be fed daily for each gallon of milk produced. The protein content of the mixture will be determined by the kind and quality of roughage fed; and, be-cause of the importance of protein to enable cows to maintain their body and reach maximum milk production, feed authorities stress the necessity of supplying ample protein to balance farm grains and roughage in rations.

"Build-Up" Relief Explained to Women

A simple method has saved many women a lot of suffering! It is based on the fact that head-aches, nervousness, cramp-like pain are often symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition.

Help for this condition so often follows the use of CARDUI, be-cause it usually increases the ap-petite and the flow of gastric juice; thus aids digestion and helps build physical resistance. Usual result is less periodic distress.

Many who take CARDUI a few days before and during "the time" have found this helps ease periodic discomfort. Women have used CARDUI for more than 50 years!

Church Announcements

Rev. L. J. Crawford, Baptist pastor here spent last week at Shamrock where he is also pastor, holding a meeting with Rev. Scott Crawford and Rev. E. F. Cook of Amarillo assisting with the ser-vices. Rev. L. J. Crawford held services here Sunday morning, but due to the high wind the Sunday night services were postponed. Rev. and Mrs. Isaacs of near Mem-phris joined the church here. Rev. Isaacs has recently been licensed to preach. Quarterly Conference will be held at the local Metho-dist Church Sunday night with the district superintendent, Rev. Cal C. Wright in charge of the ser-vices.

School News—Library Needs

Newlin school students are proudly displaying a patriotic emblem of five American flags de-picting five different periods in U. S. History, ornamentally ar-ranged in a plaque containing Lincoln's picture. The emblem is a premium for a phase of their work. The flags are displayed in the library with a special exhibit of books on Democracy arranged by the librarian, Mrs. Artie W. Vardy. The Newlin library is short on up-to-date reference books, and Mrs. Vardy asks that someone please come to our res-cue.

Newlin school rated 827 score in the standardization inspection last week, and lacked 21 points of perfection. This was the highest rating in this section. Students of the 6th, 7th, and 8th grades en-tered the national handwriting contest, and 23 received Penman-ship certificates.

The Cal Farley Circus was en-joyed by a good crowd, the pro-ceeds of which made the total funds raised to this date $53.

Schools that won awards at the recent tournament may secure their trophies at the county su-perintendent's office. Teachers from here will attend the Educa-tional Conference at Canyon Fri-day and Saturday.

Mothers Club Meets

Newlin Mothers Club, which numbers its members at 29, met Thursday at the home of Mrs. George Dickson with Mrs. Clar-ence Moore and Mrs. Fra Ellis as hostesses, with 26 members and visitors present. The day was spent in quilting two quilts which were finished, also embroidery and crocheted handwork. A lovely covered-dish luncheon was served at noon. The proceeds of the auc-tion of gifts amounted to $2.05. A new member was added to the roll, Mrs. Leo Koeninger. Club

Methodists Clean House

How long has it been since you swept the dust from the inside of your ceiling, and do you have any idea how much may have accumu-lated in the past? These ques-tions had not occurred to the mem-bers of the local Methodist Church until the ceiling planks began bulging and dust would occasion-ally sift down into the congrega-tion. Stewards met for a house-cleaning last week and swept and shoveled from the ceiling approx-imately five tons of dust. Ten thousand pounds of fine powdery silt that has been accumulating for the past 30 years with one pick-up full of birds-nest material, straw and weeds. With 333 pounds of dust gathering in one building in one year is fair evi-dence that the "dust-bowl" prob-lem is still with us.

About Folks You Know

MEMPHIS PERSONALITIES . . . BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES OF THE PEOPLE WHO MAKE MEMPHIS PROGRESS

Thos. E. Noel

The story of the boy who started at the bottom of the business structure and became president of the firm he began his business career with is far more common in fiction than in real life. Yet among Memphis' business leaders is a man who began his business career as a bank bookkeeper and is now president of the same bank where he first worked—T. E. Noel.

Thomas Ewell Noel was born September 15, 1894, at Bells, Grayson County, Texas. His father was operating a grocery business at Bells and running the Bells Hotel.

At the age of 7, Mr. Noel and his family moved to Leonard, Fannin County, where his father became manager of the Egbert Hotel. It was here that Mr. Noel grew to young manhood. He attended the Leonard Public School and graduated from the Leonard High School.

In 1911 the Noel family moved to West Texas, settling at Memphis. Mr. Noel's father had come west several years before and had filed on a section of land adjacent to one owned by his brother that forms the present town-site of Memphis. The Noel family took over the operation of the Cobb Hotel here and the first year they were in Memphis Mr. Noel worked in the hotel's office.

In 1912 he worked as bookkeeper for the I. N. McCreary General Merchandise Store, located on the northeast corner of the square, and in 1913 and 1914 he was deputy tax collector of Hall County, working for Jim King, who was the sheriff-tax collector.

In 1915 Mr. Noel entered the First National Bank organization as bookkeeper. The bank was located at that time on the northeast corner of the square where the Tarver Drug Store is now situated.

June 27, 1915, Mr. Noel was married to Miss Frankie May Montgomery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Montgomery, pioneer Hall County residents. His wife died October 20, 1937. Mr. Noel has two children, Tommie, 22, who is a junior in the Texas State College for Women at Denton; and Pat, 20, who is in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Two years later, 1917, Mr. Noel was elected cashier of the First National Bank at Lakeview, and moved to that city to make his home. He spent the next three years there in that capacity.

In 1920 he was elected cashier of the First National Bank of Memphis and moved back to this city. He built his first home here on West Noel street, when he returned from Lakeview and he recalls the house as being a "caboose" with all the rooms in a straight line and a small sleeping porch over-head.

Mr. Noel served as cashier of the bank until 1933 when he was elected active vice president. He held this position until January, 1940, when he was elected president of the bank.

Mr. Noel has a public service record of which the community he has called his home for more than thirty years is justly proud. He has been a member of the chamber of commerce for more than 20 years and has served that organization as its treasurer for the same period of time. He is an active member of the First Presbyterian Church, an elder in its governing body, and has served as church treasurer for 25 years. He is endowed with an exceptionally fine voice and is church soloist and has sung in the church choir since 1913.

He is an active member of the Memphis Rotary Club and is now serving as vice president of that organization. He is a member of all the Masonic orders in Memphis including the Knights Templar and a member of the Shrine at Khiva Temple in Amarillo.

T. E. NOEL

Mr. Noel was active in the rodeo and reunion celebrations held in Memphis during the past two years, served on the celebration's executive committee and was a member of the planning board that promoted the events.

He is a director and member of the Memphis Country Club, a director of the Hall County Fair Association during the lifetime of that organization, and a member of the WOW fraternal order.

He served on the Memphis school board and was president of that body from 1931 to 1934 during the depths of the depression. It was largely through his efforts that the school district came through those perilous times a financially sound structure.

Mr. Noel has been a member of the City Council, serving two terms between 1928 and 1932.

Mr. Noel served as president of the Panhandle Banker's Association for one term in 1933 and was a member of that organization's executive board for five years from 1933 to 1938.

Mr. Noel owns his home in Memphis, 360 acres of Hall County farm land, a substantial block of stock in the bank he serves as president.

In recalling his most embarrassing moment, Mr. Noel remembers when he was a boy at Leonard and he and a group of boys were picking cotton for a man named Gibson. One evening after the field work was over they were sitting on the front porch and decided to go to a neighbor's and steal some watermelons. There was plenty of watermelons in the Gibson field just for the taking, but the idea of getting someone else's appealed to them so they started off.

Mr. Gibson, who was in the house, heard their plans and took his shot-gun and by a short cut reached the neighbor's watermelon patch before the boys, where he hid himself. They crawled through the fence, pulled the melons, and started out of the field. Just as Mr. Noel was crawling through the fence, Mr. Gibson fired both barrels of his shot gun over their heads. Mr. Noel dropped his melons and plunged through the barbed-wire to make good his escape. Explaining why his shirt had no back, his pants no seat, and the deep scratches from the barbs proved embarrassing.

Mr. Noel's outstanding business achievement has come in connection with his job. During the panic days of 1933 it fell his lot to salvage and save both public and private enterprises. His outstanding civic achievement came through his work with the school board in 1931-34, when the district came through the financial strain of those days without having to borrow money to meet its obligations.

In reviewing his 30 years as a resident of Hall County, Mr. Noel comments that it is a mighty good place to live, and that it is populated with a high class of friendly, likable people. He is anxious to see the continued success of the county, founded on the efforts and work of the pioneers who first settled this locality and blazed the path that has become the highway of progress.

Trees Play Big Part in Triple A Program For 1941

Six Dollar Acre Paid For Trees That Can Be Grown In Arid Regions of Texas

Take it from a landscape specialist—every farmer in Texas should be familiar with the Triple-A's 1941 provisions for a payment of $15 to each farm for the planting and maintaining of trees. This payment can be earned over and above the regular soil building allowance.

Sadie Hatfield, specialist in landscape gardening for the A. and M. College Extension Service, points out that in every section of Texas trees are needed for shade for the home, the livestock and poultry, and for windbreaks. In some of the wooded sections of Texas this natural protection is used and appreciated, she says, but on the coastal plains and on the plains of West Texas the need is still strongly felt.

Along the coast and in warm sections of Texas it is easy to grow a wind-break of tamarix, which is commonly called athol, athel, and ever-green salt cedar. Then, there are so many varieties of pine trees that there are some pines suited to all sections of Texas. The AAA will pay at the rate of $4.50 per acre for the planting of pine trees.

On the western plains and in the Panhandle of Texas, hardwood deciduous trees are used in combination with pines and other evergreen trees. AAA payments for hardwood trees are made at the rate of $6 per acre. Among the trees well adapted to the semi-arid portions of the state are desert willow, salt cedar, elms, ash, honey locust, Russian olive, jujubes, and red cedar, as well as western yellow pine and Austrian pine.

Thus, under the AAA provisions, planting of 2 1/2 acres of hardwood trees or 3 1/3 acres of pine trees would earn the maximum of $15 which is available in addition to the soil-building allowance for the farm. Additional tree planting could earn additional payments under the soil-building allowance. For the cultivation of forest trees planted between July 1, 1937 and January 1, 1941, the AAA will pay $1.50 per acre as part of the soil-building allowance for the farm.

Eighty per cent of the nation's carbon black comes from Texas. Texas cement plants turned out 7,374,000 barrels in 1940.

Wake Lazy Insides All-Vegetable Way

Thousands turn to this way to get relief when they're lazy intestinally and it has them headachy, bilious, irritable, listless. A quarter to a half-teaspoonful of spicy, aromatic, all-vegetable BLACK-DRAUGHT on your tongue tonight, a drink of water, and there you are! Thus, it usually allows time for a night's rest; acts gently, thoroughly next morning, so relieving constipation's headaches, biliousness, bad breath.

BLACK-DRAUGHT'S main ingredient is an "intestinal tonic-laxative," which helps impart tone to lazy bowel muscles. The millions of packages used prove its merit. Economical, too: 25 to 40 doses, 25c.

SELF-RESPECT

Self-respect might be said to be regard for one's own person. If this is the case then one must have enough respect for himself to be morally and mentally straight. This is a greater task than it might seem. Each of the two above qualifications is a goal within itself.

Are you possessor of both of them? Your moral obligation to yourself comes first. Your success in life may depend on that factor.

It is easily understood that you can have no respect for yourself if your morals are not up to the highest of standards. If your morals are the best, then stick to them and don't be easily "side-tracked."

Morals, however, are not the only things important to self-respect. There is that other important factor—the development of your mental ability. If you get behind in your school work, cut your classes, don't study, in other words slide through school, you are lowering your respect for yourself. You have to be proud of yourself and of your work in school, to have self-respect. It is certain that you can't be proud of yourself when you are too lazy to get full benefit of the vast opportunities offered you.

Not only are these factors important for self-respect, but they are necessary for you to have respect for others. It is never too late to acquire self-respect, and when you have, you will find that your life has been enriched and you will have made others happier.

"We are not big when we be little others," says H. M. Stansifer.

especially in view of the fact that no charge will be made for the use of water.

Now that the Lease-Lend bill has been passed by Congress and billions of dollars will be spent in aiding Britain and other democracies, it seems that the next step for Congress to take is to put a stop to the unions working on defense program jobs from striking and slowing up the work. Or are our Congressmen and Senators afraid of losing the votes of those unionists? All over this country are men wanting to work, and who would be willing to work for a lot less than the union laborers, but are not allowed to, even if they could put up the amount of money necessary. The strikers are working against the very thing America is fighting for, the right to strike along with other free American prerogatives.
