LAND UTILITIES CO. LETS CONTRACT FOR CONSTRUCTION OF HIGH LINES

RUN FROM PERRYTON WEST TO SPEARMAN AND EAST TO FOLLETT

MATT CONNER, KANSAS CITY CONTRACTOR AWARDED CONTRACT. CONSTRUCTION WORK TO START AS SOON AS MATERIALS ARRIVE

Word was received Wednesday from Kansas City, the office of the Inland Utilities Co., that the contract was let Tuesday to Matt Conner of Kansas City for the construction of the high tension power lines from Perryton to Spearman and from Perryton to Follett, and probably on to Higgins. Actual construction work will start not later than fifteen days.

53 RAINFALL HERE SUNDAY

LONG DROUGHT BROKEN. MORE REPORTED FROM OTHER PARTS OF COUNTY. WILL HELP

The long drought in Ochiltree County was broken on last Sunday morning when a general rain fell over the entire county. The official gauge in Perryton measured .53 of an inch, according to Attorney Jack Allen, official observer. Heavier rainfall was reported in the southwest part of the county, some places reporting a 5 inch downpour while others said about 2 1/2 inches. Commissioner W. G. Yeary was in from the New Hope neighborhood in the northwest part of the county. He said that his neighborhood had more rain than here in Perryton. The southwest part of the county also got a heavier rainfall than here. The rain coming at this time will do much to help the small grain crop, although the greater part of the wheat in the county will yield very little. Some few people think that they will have some fifteen bushel wheat but very few are that optimistic. Many have plowed their wheat under and are getting ready to summer fallow for next year's crop.

If we get sufficient rain there should be an abundance of feed crops raised but the rains will have to come soon. This has been one of the driest and most disagreeable seasons in the history of the southwest. Up until about six weeks or two months ago, our prospects for a bumper wheat crop were never better but the high hot winds and the dry weather have burned up many a promising wheat field. But as a whole, the county is in most excellent shape. The farmers of the Perryton tract territory have ceased to be one crop farmers. They have ceased to depend upon wheat for a living. Nearly every farm in this section has its flock of chickens and its herd of milk cows and those farmers are going to go right on and live and prosper regardless of whether they raise a grain crop or not.

MAKING GOOD TIME ON WATER STORAGE RESERVOIR

The men working on the large concrete storage reservoir for city water are making good time. On Wednesday morning they were down to a depth of 8 feet.

This reservoir, when completed will hold 250,000 gallons of water. It is forty-six feet in diameter and twenty feet deep, twelve feet in the ground and eight feet above the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Fleeson and daughter, Pattie, were Amarillo visitors over Sunday.

Buyers Ball Uniforms

New Uniforms For Entire Team Donated by Jack O. Lusher, Coca-Cola Man

The ball boys of the Perryton club stepped out Wednesday afternoon for the first time in the new uniforms which were furnished to them, absolutely free, by Jack O. Lusher, manager of the Perryton Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

The new suits are the best quality that can be obtained. They are a light cream in color with red lettering. The words "Drink Coca-Cola" appear on the back of the shirts.

Mr. Lusher deserves much credit for his liberality in furnishing the club with such fine uniforms. There is no question but what the players and many ball fans of Perryton will show their appreciation by drinking and urging their friends and acquaintances to drink the products of the Perryton Coca-Cola Bottling Co.

LOCAL OIL CO. SOLD TO RANSON

FORMER WAXAHACHIE CITIZEN PURCHASES LANCE AND WADE'S INTERESTS IN STATION

A deal was made the fore part of this week whereby L. B. Ranson, formerly of Waxahachie, Texas, becomes the new proprietor of the Local Oil & Gas Co. This business, formerly the Farmers Oil Co., has been operated by Luther Wade and L. L. Lance.

Mr. Ranson, the new manager has been in the wholesale and retail oil business for many years and after looking over many towns for an opening, he picked on Perryton as offering the best inducements for growth and future business.

The new station will handle the products of the Texas Oil Co., one of the largest and best concerns in the business. Their products, sold under the "Texaco" trade name are known far and wide for their high quality.

PERRYTON WINS OVER SPEARMAN

HARD FOUGHT GAME RESULTS IN VICTORY FOR LOCALS BY SCORE OF FOUR TO TWO

Perryton again made Spearman take the little end of the score in the regular Oklahoma-Texas league game played on Wednesday at Spearman. The score was 4-2. The game was never in doubt. Shupe, the Perryton pitcher had the Spearman boys at his mercy at all times, getting only two hits off his delivery. Hargrave started the game for Spearman but was replaced by Nicholas, an Amarillo pitcher who did not arrive in time to start the game. Perryton got nine hits during the game. Shupe struck out eight of the Spearman batters while only three Perryton men whiffed the air.

Score By Innings

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Perryton	2	0	2	0	0	0	0	0	4
Spearman	0	0	1	0	1	0	0	0	2

Perryton made two double plays. Lackey to Richardson and Reagan, unassisted.

PERRYTON STILL LEADS

Perryton retains the lead in the Oklahoma-Texas League. Tyrone won from Beaver last Sunday by a score of 8-7. The Perryton-Spearman game was called off in the morning on account of the rain and mud. Later a practice game was matched, which Perryton lost by the score of 8-5. This game did not count in the league standing however. Spearman plays here next Sunday. Beaver plays at Tyrone.

The standing is as follows:

	Won	Lost	Avg.
Trams	5	1	.833
Perryton	4	2	.667
Tyrone	4	2	.667
Beaver	2	5	.286
Spearman	2	5	.286

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Fleeson and daughter, Pattie, were Amarillo visitors over Sunday.

BIG HAIL LOSS LAST THURSDAY

CUTS STRIP THREE MILES IN WIDTH THROUGH COUNTY. RUINS GRAIN, DAMAGES HOMES

A heavy hail storm, accompanied by little or no rain, mowed a strip three miles wide from the southwest part of the county to the northeast corner on last Thursday afternoon. It completely ruined the wheat, such as it was, in the section that it traversed. Much damage was done to the roofs of buildings and many window lights were broken out. Many people report large poultry losses but nobody is sorry over the large number of rabbits that were killed.

H. R. Russell lost 110 chickens, 42 turkeys and all of his wheat. J. B. Cartwright lost 75 chickens and some damage to the roof of his home and also a wheat loss.

Mrs. Atlas Flowers was knocked unconscious by the hail. She was out in the yard when the storm hit, and was knocked to the ground while attempting to get to the house. Mr. Flowers found her and took her to the house. She was severely bruised but her condition is not serious.

At the Carl Ellis ranch home, all the windows were taken out. Sam McLain, Ernest Venus, R. H. Francis, D. D. Hummer, McGarrah, John Bridges, and many others were in the path of the storm and suffered losses.

TWICHELL ELEVATOR FINISHED

NEW PERRYTON EQUITY ELEVATOR HAS CAPACITY FOR 16,000 BUSHELS OF SMALL GRAIN

The new elevator for the Perryton Equity Exchange at Twichell is now complete and ready to receive grain. This elevator was built on the site of the old building which was destroyed by fire several months ago.

The new structure is one of the very latest and approved type of elevator construction and is the most modern in this section of the country. It has a capacity of 16,000 bushels of grain.

Manager J. H. Woodward of the Equity says that he has not decided just when it will be opened for business or who he will place there as manager.

ANOTHER LINOTYPE

Installed in Herald Plant. Now Have Battery of Two Type-Setting Machines

The Herald received another Linotype typesetting machine the latter part of last week and the same is now set up. It was used in getting out this week's issue of the Herald. It is the policy of the management of this paper to keep the Herald and the Herald plant up with the town and ahead of it, if possible. There is no question but what Perryton now has the best equipped printing plant in the Panhandle of Texas or Oklahoma, with the exception of the city of Amarillo, which has a population of at least twenty times that of Perryton.

We now have two Linotypes, a Model 14 and the new Model 5, which we have just received. The new machine is equipped with the new Ionic No. 5 which we have been using for the body type of the Herald for the past two months.

The new type was designed by experts and is much easier to read than the old designs. It has been approved by eye vision specialists in all parts of the country. A daily paper in Amarillo recently put out the claim that they were the first in the Panhandle to adopt this type. Well, they were wrong. The Herald beat them to it by at least six weeks.

We invite the people of this community to come in and inspect our plant. We have just recently installed a new newspaper press which prints and folds at one operation. Come in and see us work.

Mrs. Lon Hayes, Spearman, was a Perryton visitor, Tuesday.

Wins National Honor

Former Ochiltree County Boy Wins High Athletic Honors at Kansas High School

The following article taken from an Anthony, Kansas paper should be of interest to many Ochiltree County people. The Harold Hannah referred to is a son of Judge and Mrs. R. I. Hannah, former residents.

On the bulletin board in the rotunda at Anthony high school there is thumb-tacked a neatly printed placard of which three students should be very proud. It reads like this: "The National Athletic Scholarship Society of Secondary Schools announces that an invitation to membership has been extended to the following students—Harold Hannah, Kenneth Dusenbury, Virgil Patterson. Eligibility to membership in this society is limited to those students with an athletic letter whose average in their work for three consecutive semesters is higher than the general average of the school."

NEW CITY WELL DOWN 436 FEET

CONTRACTOR DOTY THINKS IT WILL MAKE 250 GALLONS PER MINUTE. FIND SAND BOTTOM

Contractor Doty and his force of drillers have completed the 8 inch test hole to a depth of 436 feet. At this depth they think they have found water in sufficient quantities to produce 250 gallons per minute. At 240 feet they encountered a small flow of water in good gravel. At 330 feet was found good clean sand with only a moderate supply of water. From the 330 mark down to 436, was a sand and clay mixture.

They are now going down with the 26 inch hole and on Wednesday afternoon were down 100 feet. From present indications the well will be completed on schedule time.

Liel Lewellen made a business trip to Spearman Wednesday.

MILITARY CAMP OPENS JULY 6

CITIZENS' MILITARY TRAINING CAMP FOR THIS AREA WILL BE AT FORT SILL OKLAHOMA

The seventh annual Citizens' Military Camp will open at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, on July 6 and will continue through to August 4. Perryton is in the Fort Sill area, but arrangements can be made for transfer to other camps by making application and paying the difference in transportation expenses. Other camps and dates as follows: Camp S. D. Little, Ariz., Aug. 2-31; Fort Logan, Colo., June 21-July 20; Fort Bliss, Texas, July 21-Aug. 19 and Fort Sam Houston, Texas, June 15-July 14.

For any information see G. R. Sheets, county agent, who is official Ochiltree County chairman.

The Government is offering one of the greatest free opportunities to young men between 17 and 31 years of age that has ever been offered by this or any other government. With your expenses paid from your doorstep to a well organized, well ordered training camp and all expenses paid there, with recreation and sports, manual training, military training and physical development of your body and mind, under expert Army officers and Physical Directors, then through transportation on return to your doorstep, it becomes an opportunity that no young man should miss and that every parent should take advantage of. The moral, social and religious influences of these camps are kept at the very highest standards, discipline is administered and taught in such a manner that it is not repulsive; every officer is picked with the greatest care and he must be a man who can control young men without harsh methods and can develop in the company of these young men a spirit of absolute trust and confidence.

TO COVER PRACTICALLY ENTIRE CITY. FUTURE GROWTH ALLOWED

LITTLE INTEREST EITHER FOR OR AGAINST EVERY CITIZEN SHOULD BE INTERESTED. INVESTIGATE AND THEN VOTE AS YOU LIKE

The election called by the city council for the purpose of voting on the proposition of whether or not the City of Perryton shall issue bonds to the amount of $70,000.00 to be used for the installation of a sewer system and disposal plant will be held on next Tuesday, June 14.

The election will be held in the city hall, which at present is located in the Stansberry Electric Co. building. Geo. M. Perry has been named as presiding officer to hold the election, with J. L. Dodson and J. M. North as judges and J. W. Wilson and Sam Hergert as clerks.

The bonds, if the election carries, will bear five per cent interest, payable semi-annually. They are to be serial bonds, the first becoming due on March 1, 1928 and the last on March 1, 1927.

To us, there seems to be no question as to the need of the sewer. We say, "Vote the bonds, and then see that we get dollar for dollar from the engineers and contractors." There is very little opposition to the sewer proposition, yet many are lukewarm on account of the present dry weather and poor outlook for small grain crop.

At first thought, this seems like a poor time to vote more bonds. But, after closer study of the bond election and the present conditions, it appears to us that right now is the right time to vote yes. Very little of this bond money will be paid back from the taxes to be collected this year, the first payment of $1000.00 becoming due on March 1, 1928.

If these bonds are voted at this time and the sewer work goes ahead a greater part of the money will be paid out for labor, materials, drayage, etc. Much of this will be spent right here in Perryton. Would not a year like this be the logical one to turn loose these thousands of dollars in this city?

Remember the day, next Tuesday, June 14. Go and vote. Don't be a slacker. Investigate the proposition so you can cast an intelligent vote and then by your ballot, register your honest sentiment either for or against the proposition.

Curry Opens Cafe

Entire Building Re-modeled and Re-decorated. "Baldy" Davidson is Chef

Curry's Cafe, under the management of W. H. ("Chick") Curry, opened for business last Saturday morning after being closed for several days for a thorough job of re-modeling and re-decorating. Improvements throughout the entire place add much to the appearance and general service of the place.

The culinary department is presided over by W. D. Davidson, better known as "Baldy." He is one of the best chefs in this part of the southwest and one is always assured of good food when it is prepared under his direction.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Tepe, Canadian, were business visitors in Perryton Wednesday afternoon.

SHIPS SIX CARLOADS EXTRA FINE YEARLINGS

The six carloads, 185 head, of yearlings which H. C. Brillhart shipped to Kansas City last Saturday, were as fine a bunch of steers as one will see anywhere. Many who saw them predicted that they would top the market.

Mr. Brillhart had had them in the feed lot and they were all in the best of condition. A number of them were a part of the calf crop from the Carl Ellis ranch.

DRAMATIC STORY BASIS OF "THE KID BROTHER"

In an era of broad slapstick comedy, Harold Lloyd again defies motion picture tradition and gives the public another legitimate comedy with a dramatic theme, on the order of his memorable, "Grandma's Boy." With producers once more resorting to the brand of comedy that was popular five years ago, Lloyd feels that the type of fun staying longest with the theatre goers is the well-motivated, human kind with a solid story foundation.

The bespectacled comedian has just completed "The Kid Brother," which deals with a wholesome, everyday type of character. For his second Paramount release, arriving at the American Theatre on Friday and Saturday, Lloyd selected a theme that allowed for a world of gags but provides, in addition, a well knit plot, as has been found in such great successes as "Grandma's Boy," "Safety Last," "Girl Shy," "The Freshman," and others. The current slapstick vogue, in the belief of Lloyd, is a natural reaction to a long period of heavy drama. Entertainment appeal runs in cycles and right now comedy appears to be all the rage. Lloyd has always recognized the place of slapstick on the screen, but avoided it, believing that the public likes him best in the sympathetic type of characterization which must be kept legitimate.

Harold has established himself on a unique plane in motion picture

Hermann Sudermann's greatest drama is the first production of Clarence Brown, famous director, under his new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer contract. It is "Flesh and the Devil," a huge filmization of Sudermann's "The Undying Past," which comes Monday and Tuesday to the American Theatre. John Gilbert, Greta Garbo and Lars Hanson play the three principal roles in the mighty drama of European tradition of love and marriage.

Mich. June 7.—"May production of Oakland-Pontiac Sixes set all previous monthly records for the company and enabled it to deliver 24,000 cars to dealers by setting up a new record 20 percent higher than last month. It was the biggest month in the company's history," is the statement made by W. R. Tracy, Vice-President in Charge of Sales.

So far this year new records have been set for monthly production, the other being for April 1936. Oakland and Pontiac produced. Yet May's figures topped this by more than 4,000. The third highest production month being August of 1935. Cars were manufactured May a production schedule of more than 1000 cars per day was maintained—a goal the Oakland Motor Car Company has been striving to reach since the first of the year through its plant facilities. With acceleration starting in the new factory of the Pontiac division in April this production became a reality. Large demand of dealers for cars of more cars. The increase in production of the Oakland and Pontiac Sixes appears to be the outstanding reason for the almost universal demand for more and more of these cars.

"Incidentally, the company has likewise reached its highest employment peak with more than 8300 on the payroll. This number is in addition to more than 4000 employed in the Fisher Body Corporation plant devoted exclusively to the manufacture of Pontiac bodies, besides a large force employed in other Fisher Body plants making Oakland and Pontiac bodies.

DON'T TAX LINDBERGH

Now that every red-blooded citizen has yelled himself hoarse in admiration of Charles "Lucky" Lindbergh for his New York-Paris air hop, they can contribute materially—and show how much they think of him—and how deeply runs their national pride in this great achievement.

It is generally agreed that there is an exception to every rule. Seemingly Uncle Sam does not know this. The fair-haired hero of the hour had not yet awakened from the ten hour exhaustive sleep, following those 33 1/2 hours in man's greatest air feat, when Uncle Sam's revenue officers were admitting that they would HAVE to collect $1,233.75 from the $25,000 prize money which Lindbergh is to get for making the flight. "It is law—and cannot be dodged," the revenue department announced apologetically.

What does the reader think? Are you in favor of our country indulging in such pinch-penny methods? We do not. We think Lindbergh should have every cent of that $25,000.00—and perhaps another hundred thousand or two from his government for such performance. By his feat he has contributed more to the nation than it will ever be able to repay him. He—with $2,000 of his own hard earned money—was the largest individual contributor to the proposed flight. When all others doubted—he put his money on the table—asking help toward a fund with which to purchase an airplane for the history-making flight.

That Lindbergh now finds himself in position to pay the tax—many times over—is a point beyond this discussion. Could anything be more fitting—in addition to all medals, titles and honors that can be hung on him by the government—than that he should have this first $25,000 prize intact—his nation rejoicing with him that he won; proud of the honor he brought us; happy that he upheld the traditions of a brave people; and, showing by its acts that modesty, courage and the indomitable spirit may always rightfully expect its reward in full from its government.

Write. Tell your Congressman what you think.

TEN DOLLARS FOR A LIFE

Six hundred thousand Americans are homeless. Five hundred thousand are destitute and dependent upon charity for each succeeding meal in the Mississippi valley.

"There was never in our history such a calamity," says Herbert Hoover. Henry M. Baker, Red Cross National Director of Disaster Relief, calls it "the most staggering disaster the country has ever suffered."

Our people still do not appreciate its magnitude or significance, else they would DEMAND for National action.

In the Urgent Deficiency Bill, which fell by the wayside in the recent Congress because of a partisan filibuster, was an appropriation of $8,600,000 to buy seeds, fertilizer and forage for districts stricken by crop failure.

It was not a crisis then—the flood had not yet happened. It was a routine precaution, such as any prudent Congress would take.

The entire fund of $5,000,000 at present in sight for the rehabilitation of the half million absolutely destitute victims of the greatest disaster in our history is only a little more than half of the emergency sum which Congress meant to appropriate as a matter of course.

This $5,000,000, bear in mind, is not relief money. The Red Cross has nearly $15,000,000 with which to feed, clothe and shelter the flood victims during the peak of their suffering. Private generosity has responded magnificently to the call upon its mercy.

Five millions for rehabilitation? Why, it is only $10 apiece—ten dollars with which to start life anew from scratch and win to comfortable American citizenship in a land where the per capita wealth is THREE HUNDRED TIMES as much.

And this, while the Treasury at Washington is bursting with idle money. Give these pitiable flood victims a decent lift and the future protection to which they are entitled.

"SYSONBY"

(By Dr. Frank Crane)

Sysonby is to be placed in a room in the Museum of Natural History in New York City.

To the average American the name means nothing. It might be that of a cigar, a confection, a play or a new author.

In fact it is the name of one of the greatest race horses America has produced, and the skeleton will be placed in a new room devoted to horses and their development as an example of a great race horse.

Nothing drops out of sight quicker than a race horse that has quit winning races, unless it is a man who accomplishes something and then stops.

The applause and interest lasts as long as the accomplishments go on.

When they stop, people turn to something else.

Placid old age is usually the least interesting period of life to outsiders. This is because it is a time of reminiscence of going over and over accomplishments of the past rather than of achieving new victories.

A little over thirty years ago the locomotive Number 999 was familiar to everyone. It was the fastest engine then known and had made a speed of over one hundred miles an hour.

A few years ago, before it was placed on exhibition, it was almost entirely forgotten, used to haul a milk train up and down the rails where it had once been king.

Other bigger and stronger engines had come and its past performance had sunk out of sight.

Napoleon said: "My power would fall did I not support it with new achievements. Conquest has made me what I am and conquest must sustain me."

A little cynicism in regard to applause is a healthy thing.

The less a person thinks about past achievement the more other people are liable to think about it.

"As a horse when he has run," said Marcus Aurelius, "a dog when he has tracked the game, a bee when it has made the honey, so a man when he has done a good act, does not call out for others to come and see, but goes on to another act, as a vine goes on to produce again the grapes in season."

A Philadelphia minister died leaving an estate of $36,000—which should help prove that not all Pennsylvania money is spent at the election polls.

For Married Men Only.—It is better to have loved and been bossed, than never to have been bossed at all.

There may be "many a slip between the cup and the lip" as claimed—but there no longer are many "twixt the flapper and the public gaze."

We have just read that a "hick" town is a place where over fifty per cent of the deaths are from natural causes. A prohibition barometer, no doubt.

Uncle Sam is going to do a little distilling—three million gallons of whiskey for medicinal uses. That's one gallon for every twelve citizens; a quart for every four; a pint for every two; a half-pint for every individual. The line forms on the left, ladies and gentlemen.

WHY HOMES BURN

"The family was away from home when the fire started." This has been the report with quite a few home fires in Texas the past several months, including May. It suggests many things to the mind of the fire preventionist among them the following 26 fire causes:

Too much fire left in the stove. Stove overheated, too close to combustible partitions, floors or ceiling. (Each of which was probably unprotected.)

Ashes in wooden containers. Metal ash containers sitting on wooden floors.

Disregard to gas pressure, stop not properly turned.

Rubber or other flexible gas connections become disconnected.

Wall heaters not safely installed.

Misuse of electric drop cord extensions.

Kindling wood and paper too near the stoves.

Water heaters not properly installed, too close to wall.

Heating device in basement neglected.

Flues without metal protection through woodwork.

Unused flue holes improperly capped, stoppered up with rags or paper.

Electric iron left with current on. Defective electric wiring. Pennies or other metal behind electric fuse plugs. Only mops in corners or closets. Trash under stairways or in attic or basement.

Incubator or brooder operated in home.

Kerosene or other oil stoves left burning in closed room.

Food cooking on kitchen stove unattended.

Matches left where mice or rats can get them.

Towels or clothing hung too near heating device or stovepipes.

Swinging gas brackets near curtains.

Careless disregard of cigarettes or cigar butts.

Carelessly thrown burning matches.

And many other things all of which are fire danger that might cause a blaze to start at any time. The remedies suggest themselves. Be careful.

If you would conserve and save your home see to it that none of these fire hazards exist therein.

International Sunday School Lesson

by KEITH L. BROOKS

Editor "The King's Business," Secretary Correspondent, Bible Courses of the Bible

June 12, 1927
Delivered from Prison
Text—Acts 12:1-17

Another story of this chapter out three features of experience of every Christian to Christ—persecution, protection. The three men in the narrative are Peter and John, the close companions of our Lord.

Christ was to hazard the three hundred years Christ was a persecuted religion. Roman Empire. No wonder "All godly shall suffer persecution." The King's command James was slain with a sword (v. 2). Peter was in line with our Lord's words to His disciples: "I came to send peace, but a sword." (v. 24). He was the first martyr among the apostles, and as his had foretold, he drank the cup (Matt. 20:23).

He was the first of the apostles to be executed. The only apostle whose death is recorded in the Scriptures and only ten words are used of the whole story (v. 2). One of a scanty obituary on earth, an abundant entrance to heaven.

Persecuted Christians believe that it pleased the Father. There are plenty of who will throw up their hands and cheer the man who is a faithful business. Great apostasy means nothing. The who gets the most of it is the wrong track.

They were widely congratulated when they finally landed at the bars. They took no notice of his escape, for they were soldiers to guard him. Peter was "kept in prison," but as he afterward was "kept by the power" (1 Pet. 1:5).

There was a much difference between the prayer made without the church (v. 5). The prayer was made without the church, not Herod. The key to the prison and the prayer changes things. On God's side, he is safe. The prayer is on the side of the King.

There were Herod's soldiers watching under arms. Lined the other side was a little of Christians "watching prayer." They prayed "with-out." The original word "watched-out-ly," signifying anxiety. To present a petition to court and let it lie. They were not expecting much answer, or they would stand before it. Prayer is not only a habit of God but it is tenacious.

Before his proposed prayer was sleeping between Peter and John, bound with two chains, before the door" (v. 6). He was the only Christian who slept. Herod did not rest as well. Peter had taken for his punishment the Psalmist (Psa. 138:12) "I will both lay me down in sleep; for thou, Lord, shalt keep me from falling."

God did not seem to be the Christian's prayers. The hour was close at hand. When more and off would be his head. God often does answer until the very eye of the storm.

There has not been made a prayer for having been brought to the fatal hour and then by the mighty hand of the seven days and nights Christians had prayed, and angels brought a legal dismission from heaven (v. 7). What a consolation such an answer has been to these believers! The morning's sport had been. If God delays, we may know that He is working for greater blessings.

Did you ever notice that God is never in a hurry? Peter was not told to grab his clothes and run, but to "gird himself," and even to take time to "bind on his sandals." "Cast thy garments about thee," said the angel, "and follow me." Slowly he was to be led past all obstacles. Would not any prisoner with such a chance to escape have bolted for the door, dressed or not? We are impatient and run ahead. If we regulate our pace to fall in with God's will we will make better progress.

Peter thought he was walking in his sleep (v. 9). Nevertheless, he obeyed orders and marched right up to the iron gate. If God is with us, no obstacle can stand when we get to it. The door opened. Peter found himself in the street and the angel left him standing there (v. 10). God is economical of His miraculous power. He does not reveal Himself in continuous miracles. He does not do for us what we can do for ourselves. "Where do I go from here?" thought Peter (v. 12). He might have taken to the open country, but something drew him straight to the house where the prayer meeting was going on.

In the time of stress, there is nothing like the fellowship of God's people. We would enjoy the church more if Herod got after us oftener—and he would if we stood as we ought for the Gospel. Peter's knuckles thumped impetuously on the door. Rhoda recognized his voice without, but in her joyous emotions opened not the door but ran back to tell those present that Peter was without. It was harder for Peter to get into the prayer meeting than to get out of jail.

In the meantime the believers whose prayers had been interrupted were trying to convince the girl that she was crazy (v. 15). She insisted it was Peter. "No," they said, "it's an angel." Bang, bang! went Peter's knuckles on the door till some one ventured to open it, and there was the answer to their prayer.

Perhaps we had best not cast any stones at these Christians. It is easy to pass judgement on the faith of others, and say they did not believe the answer to their own prayers. "They were astonished" (v. 16). The word "astonished" contains no thought of unbelief. It describes the joy of faith. They certainly looked for Peter's deliverance, but who would have expected him to show up at the prayer meeting? Have we not often found when the answer came that it seemed too good to be true?

Pith and Point
Count it a blessing when God delays an answer to your prayers to enlarge your capacity to receive (v. 5).

Make it your business to please men and you will be easy prey to the devil (v. 3).
Times of public distress should be praying times (v. 5).
The devil may surround a praying man with stone walls and iron bars, but he has no way to roof him in.

The promise of God is not simply to the act of prayer but to the habit of prayer (v. 5).
Prayer has put light into many a dark prison place (v. 7).

Suggestive Questions

What other sleeps of Peter are recorded? (v. 4; cp. Lk. 9:32; 22:46). What may Peter have recalled when he was taken prisoner just following James' martyrdom? (Mk. 14:31).

Was this the first time Peter had been helped out of jail? (Acts 5:19).

Of what do the unusual precautions of the authorities remind us?

What may be the believer's assurance, even though surrounded on all sides? (Psa. 34:7; 27:3).

Who can break our chains (Isa. 61:1) and make us free indeed? (Jn. 8:36).

Was Rhoda the only damsel who recognized Peter's speech? (v. 14; cp. Mt. 26:69-73).

Golden Text Illustration

Many are the afflictions of the righteous, but the Lord delivereth him out of them all—(Psa. 34:19).

A blacksmith who had been converted, and who had been a faithful witness for Christ, was subject to much persecution from his rough companions. One day one of these unbelievers asked him how he stood so much persecution. "You have had a constant string of trouble," said he, "ever since you became a Christian." The blacksmith was tempering a piece of iron for a carriage spring. After heating it, dipping it in water, and pounding it, he finally cast it aside to the scrap heap. "Too brittle," he remarked, as the unbeliever waited for his answer. He found a good piece and hammered it unmercifully, finding it satisfactory. "Well, I'll tell you," he remarked, "when God wants a man for His service, He has to temper him with persecution. I am in His hands. I am kept by His power, and His word says that 'when He has tried me I shall come forth as gold.' That's how it is."

Find Six Keys to the Popularity of Coca-Cola.

THIRST

The only real drink is a thirst-quenching drink. Coca-Cola, a pure drink of natural flavors, quenches thirst as nothing else can.

THROUGH a national survey the public has given us six outstanding reasons why everybody likes Coca-Cola—over 7 million a day. We have named them "six keys to the popularity of Coca-Cola." And they are being illustrated and presented in Coca-Cola advertising between the first week in May and the middle of August.

How to find them

You'll find all these "keys" (one "key" to each advertisement) in each of the following weeklies at intervals between the first week in May and the middle of August: The Saturday Evening Post, Literary Digest, Liberty, Collier's Weekly, and Life. You'll also find them in posters and outdoor signs throughout the country, and in the show window displays and the soda fountain and refreshment stand decorations of the many thousands of places that serve Coca-Cola.

"Key" number one has already appeared. Did you find it? If you did not, you may still enter

Just three things to do to enter this $30,000 cash prize contest

1. Find and write down the "six keys" and tell where you found each one. (See rules.)
2. Pick out the one key that appeals to you most and tell in one paragraph why it is a good reason for the popularity of Coca-Cola.
3. Then write an answer (in one paragraph) to this question: Other than magazine and newspaper advertisements, what, Coca-Cola advertisement (a wall, poster, red sign or any one of the various pieces used to decorate show windows, soda fountains and refreshment stands) best illustrates or presents to you one or more of the "six keys"? Tell why—and also where you saw the advertisement.

For the correct naming of the "six keys" and the best answers to the questions, the following cash prizes will be awarded:

1st prize	$10,000
2nd prize	5,000
3rd prize	2,500
4th prize	1,000
5th prize	500

Follow these simple rules

Do not mail any entry before the first week in August. You must see all "six keys" before you can write correct answers, and the final "key" will not appear until then. Contest closes August 25, 1927. All entries must be mailed by midnight of August 25, 1927, to Contest Judges, The Coca-Cola Company, Atlanta, Ga. The contest is open to everybody except those connected with The Coca-Cola Company, a Coca-Cola bottling company, or their families. Write on only one side of paper. Cooking Chats with 6 Famous Cooks

WELCOME CHANGES FOR THE BREAKFAST MENU

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of cooking articles by six of the country's best-known cooks.)
Bacon, eggs, toast, cereal. Mighty good for breakfast, but don't we sometimes get tired of them?

MARGARET ALLEN HALL

Hot breads are always welcome, and they don't take very long to prepare. And waffles make a big hit, although they require a little more work on the part of the cook. However, it's worth it, when we see the look of pure joy on the faces of the youngsters while they eat.

Berry Muffins

Blueberries, huckleberries, raspberries—any berries in season—are delicious in muffins. Miss Margaret Allen Hall, nutrition specialist at the Battle Creek College of Home Economics, gives her favorite muffin recipe.
1 cup fresh berries
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
1 cup milk
2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
Sift the dry ingredients together. Cream the butter and sugar. Add the milk and the dry ingredients alternately. At the last, fold in the berries.
It's always best to have a hot oven for muffins and biscuits. If you cook with a modern long-chimney oil stove, turn the flame until yellow tips appear, about 1 1/2 inches high above the blue area. This flame pre-heats quickly.

Golden Corn Muffins

Corn muffins, crisp and golden crusts, are delicious. This is how Miss Hall makes them.
1/2 cup cornmeal
1/2 cup flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 cup milk
1 egg
4 teaspoons baking powder
Sift the dry ingredients together. Beat the egg, add the milk and stir in the dry ingredients. Then add the melted butter. Turn into muffin tins and bake in a hot oven twenty-five to thirty minutes.

New Pancakes

Pancakes? Of course! Every family likes them, sour milk, and buckwheat. But have you ever tried the pancakes? Delicious. The following recipe is contributed by Miss Lucy G. Allen, principal of the Boston School of Cookery.
Mix one cup each of rye meal and bread flour, one-fourth cup of sugar,

Good Roads Daddy

James McDonald of New Haven, Conn., five times president of the American Road Builders Ass'n. is known throughout the country as "the father of good roads."

two teaspoons of cream of tartar, one teaspoon of soda, one teaspoon of salt and one-half teaspoon of grated nutmeg.
Add one well-beaten egg, and one cup of milk. Beat well and drop by spoonfuls into deep fat. Drain on soft paper and serve hot with maple or any good sweet syrup.

Rice Griddle Cakes

Rice griddle cakes have made a name for themselves down south. And there's no reason why folks everywhere should not like them. Miss Rosa Michaels, New Orleans cooking expert, gives her recipe for them.
1 cup bottled rice
1 cup milk
1 cup flour
1 egg
2 teaspoons shortening
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
Mix rice, milk, melted shortening, salt and well beaten egg. Sift the dry ingredients and add to first mixture. Mix thoroughly and bake on hot greased griddle.

Hot Waffles!

And where can you find a dish more enticing than waffles, served with rich maple syrup, corn syrup, or molasses? The following recipe is also Miss Michaels':
2 1/2 cups flour
2 cups milk
4 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 egg
1 1/2 teaspoons shortening
1 teaspoon salt
Sift dry ingredients; add milk to the yolks of eggs. Beat thoroughly and add to dry ingredients, now the melted shortening and mix in the beaten whites of the eggs. Bake well in hot waffle iron. Some of the modern devices require no grease in the baking. Serve at once.

Many women set the table the night before, and have all cooking utensils needed for breakfast laid out to save time in the morning. This avoids much needless early morning confusion.

Whiter Clothes

Did you know that clothes rinsed in hard water require very little bleaching, and are whiter than when rinsed in soft water?

TELLS ABOUT $30,000 PRIZE

JACK O. LUSHER, PERRYTON BOTTLE SHOWS ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN IS MAKING BETTER MERCHANTS

Every merchant wants to be a better merchant, and an interesting ample of how manufacturers, with experience in merchandising in all parts of the United States, use advertising to help merchants become better merchants, is evident in the $30,000 cash prize Coca-Cola contest. The Coca-Cola people have taken this advertising campaign as a means to show the merchants in Perryton the sum of what they have learned as the best ways to sell Coca-Cola from their experience in all of the cities and towns in the country.

"This $30,000 cash prize contest is directed to consumers, of course," said Jack O. Lusher, Manager of the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. in Perryton. "It is being conducted through advertising—in a number of the leading magazines, in newspapers, outdoor signs, window displays, refreshment stands and soda fountain decorations. The basis of the campaign is to 'find six keys to the popularity of Coca-Cola.' These keys are reasons people have given for liking Coca-Cola. They are being illustrated and presented in Coca-Cola advertising between the first week in May and the middle of August. We have made the prizes sufficiently large to attract the attention of the public.

"The first prize is $10,000, the second $5,000. Altogether there are $35 cash prizes. We know already that the announcements of this contest have caused nearly everybody to pay closer attention to Coca-Cola advertising. And one of the places they must look is in the dealer's show windows and at his soda fountain or refreshment stand. In fact all of the contest advertising leads consumers to think of these places.

"Our dealers tell us they are selling more Coca-Cola as a result. People ask them about the contest, as part of the plan, we have supplied these dealers with booklets and circulars so that they are able to give their customers complete information on the contest. The dealers are entering the contest themselves.

"But the most fundamental thing about it all is this. Our literature about the contest informs the dealers in detail the best methods to serve Coca-Cola, particularly as regards sanitation and refrigeration. The sales advantages of having a clean place and serving his drinks ice-cold is stressed. In addition the actual sales value of displaying the advertising at his place of business, to tie up with the newspaper and other advertising, is made plain.

"The Coca-Cola industry spends millions of dollars to safeguard the purity and goodness of its product. Every bottle is sterilized. Each bottle is automatically filled without the touch of human hands. And yet the result depends upon the way the drink is served by the retailer.

"We think the value of newspaper advertising and all our advertising is more than doubled by having a direct tie-up with what the dealer is doing and by giving him a big part in the whole plan. The business that doesn't make money for the dealer can't make money for itself.

Small—Top Pail—Less Dirt

Using a small-top pail when milking aids in keeping milk clean, according to the United States department of agriculture. Since it has only a small opening through which dirt may fall, it results in less sediment in the milk. Pails of this kind are on the market, but any tinner can convert an ordinary pail into a small-top milk pail by the addition of a hood.

Meat Inspection Brings Confidence

About two-thirds of all animals slaughtered for food in the United States are federally inspected, a large proportion of meat establishments doing an interstate business, says the United States department of agriculture. Federal inspection of animals is made before and at the time of slaughter.

An animal that looks sick or abnormal in any other way is tagged with a metal label fastened to the ear, reading either "U. S. Condemned" or "U. S. Suspect," depending on the ailment. If condemned, the animals so tagged must not be taken into the slaughter room. Animals of merely doubtful condition are kept apart and slaughtered separately.

The present export trade in American meats is possible largely because the Federal inspection system enjoys the confidence of foreign governments.

There are 862 species of forest trees in this country. If the different varieties and hybrids were added the total of the different forms of forest trees would reach 1,177. Of all the trees that make up our forests 182 species are commercially useful.

Proper attention to reforestation rough lands unsuited to agriculture, to maintaining good forest cover at the headwaters of rivers, and to the prevention of rapid run-off on all sloping farm lands would aid materially in the problem of flood control, says the United States department of agriculture.

The greatest source of bacterial contamination of milk in both summer and winter is improperly washed and sterilized utensils. The dairyman who is desirous of producing clean milk, or milk with low bacteria count, should see that all equipment with which it comes in contact is washed with clean water and washing powder (not soap), rinsed with clean water and then scalded with boiling water or steamed.

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

by John Joseph Gaines, M. D.

REST

Rest is the cure of many complaints—and is within the reach of every man and woman; the trouble is, we do not treat the subject with intelligence.

Since my last letter to this paper, I note the deaths of two distinguished men; one a statesman nationally known, 65—and the other a politician of state-wide notority, 67. Both endowed with all that makes for long life; neither knew how to rest. Neither of these men used the muscular body one hour out of the twenty-four;
both burned the nerve-candle to the vanishing-point. Neither knew the meaning of mental or digestive rest. The newspapers diagnosis was, of course, "heart disease."

When shall we learn that, the nervous and digestive systems are the universally overwrought of the body? Our digestive apparatus, which is really governed by the nerves, needs rest, must have it; otherwise, food swallowed is absorbed without digesting, hence is at once poisonous to the heart and brain. A spurt of protracted over-mental-work, and, the curtain goes down. Heart-disease!!!

Some men practically never allow the nervous system to rest; especially is this true of the more brilliant men and women. They love work—revel in accomplishment, and—die before their time.
Eating too much and toiling with the brain incessantly, affords the most certain passport to the great beyond.

The average worker, whether with brain or brawn, invariably receives ample warning of the danger ahead; a nervous system that will stand six hours of activity, will crack at ten or twelve. The heart is driven and regulated by nerves—the digestive system also is activated by the same force. If all the nerve energy is expended on the business, there will be a deficiency left to digest the pork-and-beans, and to drive the heart.

BARNETT'S NEW BAKERY OPENS

LOCATED IN BUILDING FORMERLY OCCUPIED BY AMERICAN THEATRE. NEW MACHINERY

The new Barnett Bakery is now open and ready for business in the building formerly occupied by the American Theatre. This building has been remodeled and made over for the new occupants. A modern plate glass front has been installed.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Barnett, the proprietors of this new business, have operated bakeries in Perryton before and have always made a success of same. They have been living in Wichita since selling out here about a year ago. Since returning to Perryton they have built a nice new home in the south part of town.

The new bakery has the latest of modern baking equipment including a 320 loaf oven, power driven cake mixer, 500 lb. bread mixer and a power loaf moulder.

It is the intention of Mr. and Mrs. Barnett to have a formal opening in the near future, at which time an opportunity will be given to all to visit the plant and go through same while it is in actual operation.

ED HOWE ONCE OFFERED $1,000,000 FOR ATLANTIC FLIGHT

Boston—Worms have been known to turn despite the fact that they're the same on both sides, and bon mots have been known to bite, according to the Boston Globe. Seventeen years ago Ed Howe, then a newspaper columnist, made a bon mot which appeared in the Atchison Globe. It was reprinted in the Boston Globe with comment by the editor.

Now the clever quip arises from its long sleep and bites Ed severely. Simultaneously the editorial comment arises and bestows a pretty compliment on the farsightedness of the Globe man.

Here is the item as it appeared in the Boston Globe in March, 1910:

"Ed Howe of the Atchison Globe offers a prize of 1 million dollars for the first airplane flight from New York to London. The world is moving so fast that it wouldn't be surprising if Mr. Howe lived long enough to be called upon to pay the money."

Mr. Howe's address will be forwarded to Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh on request.

Atchison, Kan.—"The Boston Globe has me down," Ed Howe admits, "but I still believe it is asking too much of God to expect successful navigation of the air. I believe the great trouble with moderns is that we expect too much in everything. The fact Captain Lindbergh made that flight across the Atlantic means almost nothing, except it will induce others to try it and drown."

LEAGUE ASSEMBLY

The district Epworth League Conference met May 31, at Clarendon, Texas. The program was in divisions as follows: 6:00 o'clock morning watch, 7:00 o'clock breakfast, 8:00 o'clock classes, 12:30 o'clock lunch. There were many different activities for recreation in the afternoon. Vesper services begun at 7:00 o'clock. Evangelistic services 8:00 o'clock. The classes and services were very helpful and interesting to all Leaguers.

One of the most enjoyable afternoon was spent at the Country Club nine miles from Clarendon. Swimming, rowing, singing and swinging were enjoyed by all the Leaguers and their instructors.

Misses Mattie Maud Guthrie, Louise Garrett and Kathryn Shearer were sent to Clarendon as delegates of the Perryton League and again won one hundred per cent on their league. This was a great honor and the girls came home determined to have an even better league next year.

Attendance to a Conference inspires the good, true spirit in our young people.

The program Sunday evening was given by the delegates, telling some of the many good and helpful ideas they derived from their classes. Each year as the delegates come back after attending the conference they put an even better spirit in the league. It might be said that Perryton has one of the best leagues in Texas. Why? Because of the young people and those who faithfully stand by them. Too much cannot be said of the benefits received in Clarendon.

Chamber of Commerce News

By W. T. Fleeson

All merchants of Perryton desiring to join the Retail Merchants Association will please get in touch with the Secretary at once. We want to get this association functioning by July 1st. For the present there will not be any fee required to join. Later on, after we are affiliated with the State and National Associations, a fee in the amount of $2.50 per year will be charged to each member. Any information desired as to the benefits derived from this association and what it means to the business man of Perryton will be gladly given by dropping around to the Chamber of Commerce office, where we have all of the forms and descriptive matter on this subject.

There has been several inquiries made at the office in regard to the remission of the gasoline tax on farm machinery. About four weeks ago a meeting was held at Panhandle to formulate a campaign for the remission or exemption of this part of the Gas Tax Law. All of the Chambers of Commerce of the North Plains had at least one representative at this meeting.

The secretary called on the chairman of this campaign committee last Monday to find out what action has been taken on this matter. It seems that the bill will not be amended until the next regular session of the legislature. A wire sent to Judge Gray, our representative, on this matter in regard to action was replied by him that no action had or would be taken at the special session now being held. We want all of the farmers to know that we are on the job and will do everything possible to have the gas tax bill amended so that those using farm machinery will be exempt from paying the tax.

Next month, date to be announced later on, the semi-annual banquet of the Perryton Chamber of Commerce will be held either at the school house or one of the churches. At this meeting a report will be submitted as to what has been done and accomplished by the Chamber of Commerce during the first six months of 1927. This report will be published in this paper at a later date along with the names of all of the progressive merchants and citizens who are members of this organization. In the meantime those few who have not signed up, we have your cards at the office ready for signature. In view of the fact that half of the year is about gone the membership fees beginning July 1st, are one-half of the yearly fee, for those whose cards are at the office waiting for signature.

It is important that milk fed young calves be of uniform temperature, about 90 F.

The amount of feed required to make a pound of gain increases as the animal grows older. Yearlings make from 25 to 40 per cent more gain than mature cattle on the same quantity of feed. The fattening of calves and yearlings requires more attention and skill, however, than is the case with mature cattle. Calves of poor conformation, poor quality, and slow-maturing type will not fatten rapidly enough to make desirable carcasses as yearlings. Generally it is best to carry such calves about two years as stockers before fattening them.

Chicken coops and houses should be well ventilated during warm weather. Have openings both in front and back of the houses. Keep the houses clean and free from insect pests. Give the chickens plenty of clean water and keep the water in the shade.

Milk is good for chicks. It makes an excellent addition to all chick rations. You can hasten chick growth materially by using milk; either as a drink or by mixing it in the mash. It tends to cut down the chick death rate and also helps prevent toe-picking and other bad habits.

Office supplies at Herald office.

When seeding a new lawn, it's a good idea to put on about four bushels of well-rotted manure for each one hundred feet of ground. Work it into the soil well. Then before sowing the seed—work from two to three pounds of some good garden commercial fertilizer into each one hundred square feet of soil. If you can't get any manure, use about twice as much commercial fertilizer. This will speed up the growth of the grass and furnish plant food for several years.

Bad eggs give other eggs sold with them a bad reputation. That gets egg eaters wary of all eggs in the summer time. That cuts down the demand. The decreased demand lowers the price of all the eggs.

BOUND to the NORTH

WHO'S WHO

Jeanne Beaufort, daughter of a Virginian, swears vengeance against the North for the death of her father and two brothers in the Civil War. She is enrolled as a spy for the Confederate government and instructed to use the wiles of her sex to bring Parson John Kennedy, a Union spy, within the power of the South. Discovered in the act of spying upon the group of Secret Service agents of whom Kennedy is the leader, Jeanne is given the alternative of death or marriage to one of their number. They are all masked, but Jeanne rejects one volunteer and chooses another of the eleven as her husband. To herself, she calls him Irony. Parson Kennedy performs the ceremony and the bride and groom, ignorant of each other's names and she not even knowing what he looks like, sign the marriage certificate as "Mary Smith" and "John Jones." As witnesses the group sign as follows:

John Kennedy, D. D.
C-WG-L H-RD-M
A-NK-S P-PA-G
G-RD-A J-NK-F
J-WG-A F-BN-S
F-WG-S W-BE-H

They leave her bound and disappear.

Henry Morgan, a Southern officer and spy for the Confederacy, is in love with her but she rejects his advances. One day getting a letter signed "your husband," Jeanne realizes that her identity is known. Disguising herself with a brown wig and staining her face, Jeanne assumes the name of Alice Trent, she goes to Baltimore to carry on her work. She is unaware that a real "Alice Trent" lives in Baltimore.

John Armitage, a Union officer rescues Jeanne from a drunken man. Jeanne induces Morgan to abduct Kennedy so that she may question him about the names on the certificate and about a curious tattoo mark on the arm of the man she married. Armitage rescues him, but Jeanne escapes. She sees placards announcing a reward for her capture, "dead or alive."

General Armitage, father of the Captain, is discussing plans for the final campaign against Richmond when Jeanne, attempting to steal them, is captured. Though she is in boys' clothes, Captain Armitage recognizes her, but says nothing, and is bound to face a firing squad in the morning.

CHAPTER VII

The officers filed out gravely, the General's son along with them. All those carefully laid plans gone like a puff of smoke! But it was certain in the minds of them all that nothing on God's earth could prevent a firing squad at sunrise.

Captain Armitage entered his tent calmly enough; but once there he fell to pacing. By and by he snuffed the candle.

The spy lay quietly, wasting no efforts at the bonds, tied none too gently. The guard paced back and forth and occasionally paused to glance inside the tent. Hour after hour went past.

At midnight the spy heard a rather unusual sound at the rear of the tent. It was a whispering sound, as of one crawling over grass.

Presently a strange hand worked at the ropes.

There came a faint whisper: "When you hear me talking to the guard, slip out at the rear. Make straight for the river. The way is fairly clear."

The whisperer felt his hand being caught by two small ones. He drew it back quickly, for the kiss had the feel of hot lead.

A little later a shot was heard along the river-bank. Two more shots followed hurriedly at the tent of General Armitage, where a light still burned.

"I have to report, sir, that the spy has escaped!"

At about midnight Captain Armitage had stopped to question him. Just before that he had looked into the tent and the spy was yet there.

When General Armitage returned to his tent he found his son.

"Ah, John," said the father violently, "all these plans gone to pot in a night! Damnation! Spies outside and traitors within! In God's name, how can we end the war when such things exist?"

"I am the traitor, Father," said the son quietly.

"What's that?" The General leaned across the table, his mouth open, his eyes at their widest.

"I freed the spy."

"You, my son?"

"Yes. But before you gave any orders, Father—"

"Say 'Sir!' " came quickly through the lips of the man opposite.

"Before you gave any orders, sir, I want you to hear the rights of it, such as they are."

"Rights? Did you give the spy his information, too?"

"No sir. When the spy said to search him after he was dead, did not the strangeness of that request strike you, sir? It was a woman."

"A woman! The General stepped back. "You say a woman?"

"Yes sir, a woman. And if you will permit me to explain, sir, the explanation will be short."

"There was no intrigue, such as would be your natural supposition. This is why I released her."

And briefly the son recounted what had taken place on a certain night in Richmond. "Sir, I was one of those men, and she was the woman."

"Go to your tent and consider yourself under arrest. You're no son of mine henceforth."

When Jeanne Beaufort climbed ashore he knew now and understood he had saved her because he had recognized her, not as Alice Trent, but as the Jeanne Beaufort who had faced alone the anger of eleven men.

He was the man who had stepped forward out that night and offered to marry her to save her life. She knew that she loved!

Five days later Jeanne was serving tea in a drawing-room in Washington. Every time the bell rang her heart leaped wildly. She feared to see Armitage; yet inconsistently she longed to see him. She craved to know if he would recognize in "Alice Trent" the woman of the loft, the cabin and the tent.

One day he appeared in mufti with an officer unknown to her, a Lieutenant Lowell. Shrewdly she watched Armitage, and her covert scrutiny finally convinced her that he harbored not the slightest suspicion that "Alice Trent" and the woman he had saved were one and the same. They were at war, he on one side, and she on the other.

God was a just God, but nevertheless He had His playful ironies. She loved a Yankee!

When Armitage and his friend left the house they walked along in for a while.

"Well?" said Armitage, finally.

"She is all you say, John, and more. But if I possessed your turn of mind I'd fight shy of her."

"That's my intention. What would you have done in my place?"

"Where?"

"Jeanne Beaufort."

"Oh, well, since you ask, I'd have got up with the firing squad. It's a devil of a mess you've got yourself in. Here you are, guilty of a treasonable act, meriting court-martial and long imprisonment. Your dad has disowned you. And who could blame him? You are at liberty today because the whole organization stood back of you. You're on probation; so mind how you walk. You'll never convince those who don't know that you didn't have an intrigue with that woman. Your father turned you over to the Government—a pretty brave thing to do. Have you been to see Kennedy yet?"

"No. I suppose I ought to."

"Go to his rooms now. Tell him you thank him. Without his aid you would have faced court-martial. He's not always clear in the upper story; for he had a tough time of it and it left its mark."

"All right. I'll go over and have a talk with him."

Kennedy did not seem particularly glad to see Armitage.

"Son, there's only one real question I'm going to ask you," he said. "Did you know this Jeanne Beaufort that night in Richmond? Had you ever met her before?"

"Good Lord, no!"

"Well, for a while you will be under my orders. Watch that rogue Morgan; follow every woman he speaks to. In other words, find this woman you let go; find Jeanne Beaufort."

The old plantation home of the Beauforts was like the run of its kind. The kitchens were under a single story. The shelving roof ran up to the windows of the wing, to the spare bedrooms. Upon the shingles lay the figure of a man, and from the corner of his eye he watched the nearest bivouac-fire. By and by taps sounded and the man entered the garret and dropped to sleep.

Jeanne had returned home to find that her father's regiment, with others, was quartered at the plantation for several months. She was delighted. It puts wings to depressing thoughts; it gave her physical as well as mental occupation.

It was like olden times to see these bright-faced young officers about, with their exaggerated compliments, the courtly airs which the Northerners lacked.

To-night she sat at the piano. The younger officers were gathered about her. The older members of the staff sat about the table talking in subdued tones. They, too, had insisted that she play and sing, while they puttered over maps which were growing smaller and smaller.

The entrance of an orderly interrupted the song.

"Sir, I have to report that Sentry Jennings found this pair of shoes at the end of his beat. They were warm when he found them, sir."

Instantly Jeanne and her admirers gathered about the table. A General took up a shoe and looked it over carefully.

"Made by the Yankee government," was his comment.

"Army shoes," said Jeanne. "More than that, they are officer's shoes."

"You are right Miss Beaufort," said he coming to her rescue. "It signifies that we have an unwilling guest hereabouts. The next thing is to find him. Mann, will you see the proper orders are given to prevent this Yankee from getting out of our lines?"

"Yes, sir!" The young officer ran from the house.

The General put the shoes upon the table and rose. The rest of the staff rose with him.

Presently Jeanne was alone. With her arms folded across her bosom, she bent her eye upon the shoes, mute witness of a business she knew only too well. Somewhere in the camp there was a man in stocking feet.

They were stout shoes, but at the same time they were small and shapely. The muck, which was still damp upon them, made manifest that the owner had come across the river below the plantation; for at the north of the camp the soil was firm and rocky.

From the South! What did that mean? A slight shiver wrinkled her spine. There was ever that fear in her heart that some day she would meet one man in the pursuit of his duty. What would happen when that dreaded moment came?

He was in his stocking-feet. A stood back of you. You're on probation; so mind how you walk. You'll never convince those who don't know that you didn't have an intrigue with that woman. Your father turned you over to the Government—a pretty brave thing to do. Have you been to see Kennedy yet?"

The old plantation home of the Beauforts was like the run of its kind. The kitchens were under a single story. The shelving roof ran up to the windows of the wing, to the spare bedrooms. Upon the shingles lay the figure of a man, and from the corner of his eye he watched the nearest bivouac-fire. By and by taps sounded and the man entered the garret and dropped to sleep.

Jeanne had returned home to find that her father's regiment, with others, was quartered at the plantation for several months. She was delighted. It puts wings to depressing thoughts; it gave her physical as well as mental occupation.

It was like olden times to see these bright-faced young officers about, with their exaggerated compliments, the courtly airs which the Northerners lacked.

To-night she sat at the piano. The younger officers were gathered about her. The older members of the staff sat about the table talking in subdued tones. They, too, had insisted that she play and sing, while they puttered over maps which were growing smaller and smaller.

The entrance of an orderly interrupted the song.

"Sir, I have to report that Sentry Jennings found this pair of shoes at the end of his beat. They were warm when he found them, sir."

Instantly Jeanne and her admirers gathered about the table. A General took up a shoe and looked it over carefully.

"Made by the Yankee government," was his comment.

"Army shoes," said Jeanne. "More than that, they are officer's shoes."

"You are right Miss Beaufort," said he coming to her rescue. "It signifies that we have an unwilling guest hereabouts. The next thing is to find him. Mann, will you see the proper orders are given to prevent this Yankee from getting out of our lines?"

"Yes, sir!" The young officer ran from the house.

The General put the shoes upon the table and rose. The rest of the staff rose with him.

Presently Jeanne was alone. With her arms folded across her bosom, she bent her eye upon the shoes, mute witness of a business she knew only too well. Somewhere in the camp there was a man in stocking feet.

They were stout shoes, but at the same time they were small and shapely. The muck, which was still damp upon them, made manifest that the owner had come across the river below the plantation; for at the north of the camp the soil was firm and rocky.

From the South! What did that mean? A slight shiver wrinkled her spine. There was ever that fear in her heart that some day she would meet one man in the pursuit of his duty. What would happen when that dreaded moment came?

He was in his stocking-feet. A man did not wander about a camp in that fashion. He was somewhere within the house! This knowledge came as a shock.

A Yankee spy, an officer, was hiding under her roof! Her first impulse was to seek the General and disclose to him her discovery. Then the old weariness and distaste bore down upon her.

Lately she had executed her missions loyally, with the same care and shrewdness as heretofore; but the passionate hate was gone. A Yankee was still a human being.

KNOW TEXAS

Exports from Texas in 1926 amounted to $648,991,954. This was exceeded only by New York. The next state was Pennsylvania with about one-half the value of exports as compared with Texas.

Texas motorists will pay about seventeen million dollars in gasoline taxes in 1927.

It requires one million license plates to supply Texas motor vehicles.

Seventy thousand acres are being planted to grapefruit and grapes by one company in the vicinity of Raymondville in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Nearly every part of Texas is now supplied with natural gas for fuel and plans are making to pipe Texas gas to Denver and Kansas City.

...proves that deeds of ...audacity," seeming reckless at the time, are of great, permanent value. It was called reckless folly when Columbus made his transatlantic "hop" in the opposite direction. Cool heads told him he would fall over the edge of the ocean, and his crew wanted to turn back.

Pulton's experiment with steam, and Franklin's with the kite, seemed foolish. Congressmen that voted to spend money on Government experiments with telegraph messages were beaten for re-election. The voters "had no use" for a Congressman that would vote to waste money.

Lindbergh's feat will find an echo in the next Congress. It will occur to some Congressman that if one man, all alone, could fly from here to Europe, some thousands might fly from Europe or Asia here, and be less welcome than Lindbergh was in Paris.

The record shows that Lindbergh's Wright motor used less than twelve gallons of gasoline per hour of flying and did better than 100 miles to the hour. At twenty cents a gallon that means about $81 worth of gasoline, plus twenty gallons of oil. Not expensive for a trip to Paris.

Anybody who doubts that airplanes will carry passengers across the ocean for less than $50, "all daylight route," has little confidence in human ingenuity.

Statistics show this country's income in 1926 totalled seventy-eight billion, six hundred and forty-nine million dollars, from all sources—the ditch digger's wages, the coupon cutter's toil.

That means $671 for every man, woman and child, or $1,895.37 for every person engaged in earning money.

Professor Nash, teacher of physical education in New York University, justly criticizes violent exercise for young girls.

To permit competition for girls in hurdle races, high jumping, broad jumping, etc., is a crime against the girls now, and against the future generation.

Girls were not made to JUMP. They were made for motherhood, and should be taught to respect and protect their complicated machinery.

In the Fall "medicinal whiskey" bourbon and rye, made of corn and rye, will be manufactured under supervision of the Treasury Department.

No whiskey should be suggested for medicinal purposes. If doctors say brandy made of grapes. Many poisons are in grain whiskey, even carefully made. Real brandy is free of poisonous oils and other poisons. Wood alcohol is deadly, potato alcohol is very poisonous, grain alcohol less poisonous, grape alcohol safest.

Those that sent threatening letters, concerning the Sacco and Vanzetti case, to Governor Fuller did not frighten the Governor. He rejects the suggestion of a commission to review the Sacco and Vanzetti case, saying that the responsibility is his. The Governor cannot delegate his authority. The law provides that the decision must be made by him.

Governor Fuller will do his own investigating and his own deciding.

Consumptives will be interested to learn that physical work, even "hard work" in reason, is beneficial, not harmful, except in extreme cases.

Consumptives often have lungs that might be called "too good," the lung area being so great that the heart finds difficulty in pumping an adequate blood supply. Exercise in moderation strengthens the heart, helps the patient.

FIVE PER CENT FARM LOANS

Should you contemplate taking a farm loan, it will pay you to investigate the Federal Land Bank Loan before placing your loan.

This loan is payable on the amortization plan and can be paid any time after five years or it can run for a period of thirty-six years at the option of the borrower. For example, a payment of $30.00 each six months on a loan of $100.00, liquidates the loan in thirty-six years. After five years the loan can be paid in full or in part. Five per cent interest and one per cent on the principal pays the loan in full in thirty-six years.

Loans made from $1000.00 to $25,000.00.

Should the borrower desire to let the loan run the full period of the thirty-six years, he would have no expense of renewing the loan every seven or ten years. On the other hand, the loan can be paid off before the expiration of the five year period provided the borrower pays same out of funds derived from his own farming operations and also pays a reasonable bonus.

Timber a Farm Savings Bank

The well managed farm woodland is a self-replenishing bank account for its owner. A large proportion of the timber which is being harvested in North Carolina today is given to us as a direct result of the two periods of farm depression, the civil war in the early sixties, and the panic of 1893, when thousands of fields were abandoned because farming was unprofitable. These fields immediately became stocked with pines, and today we are harvesting the results. Many fields in eastern North Carolina now have pines twelve to sixteen inches in diameter, which are only thirty to thirty-two years old. Recently the timber on such an area was scaled, and it showed a value of $250 to $300 per acre, if all the timber had been harvested, or an average annual production of $8 to $10 per acre. The farm forest is the farmer's best savings bank, where the

"BACK SEAT DRIVING."

One of the standing jokes of this nation is the "back seat" driver. We appreciate the absurdity and folly of this form of mental attitude, hence treat it with derision and make it a target for our jests.

Yet "back seat driving" is a more prevalent pastime than is usually suspected. It is not confined to motor travel; it figures in many other phases of life—in our government, in our industries, in our civic affairs and in our schools.

Not infrequently we exercise our franchise to elect a public servant, seemingly on the strength of his fitness, only to find that some political leader dictates his position on public policies. Critics in the agricultural West charge the East with too great influence in our Federal affairs; complaints come from citizens of too much government in business; criticism is advanced as to expenditure of large sums by special interests to elect a favorite candidate for a specific purpose. All of which conditions, if practiced, imply "back seat driving."

There is evidence of "back seat driving" in our educational institutions. Business men and college alumni have been known to dictate the selection of an athletic coach. Members of a Board of Education elected on the basis of their party affiliations furnish another instance of "back seat driving." A Board of Education, appointed by a Mayor yet subject to political changes of city administration, furnishes another.

Members of the Board of Education, as representatives of the people are entrusted with the conduct of the schools. They in turn select the school executive, the "driver." He confers with his Board of Education, with his teaching force, with Parent-Teacher and similar cooperative agencies, as to the route, the speed of travel, the type of machine and such, but he will do the driving.

In the conduct of the schools the greatest efficiency is to be expected of the driver. He is in the best position to guide the schools on the road of service for the safety of the pupils and the community. Yet too often he is subject to the distractions and hazards of "back seat driving."

Gone Eight Years

Five days later, in a drawing-room in Washington. Every time the bell rang her heart leaped wildly. She feared to see Armitage, yet inconsistently longed to see him. She craved to know if he would recognize in "Alice Trent" the woman of the lenz, Germany. Last heard from in February, 1923 at Ft. Moultrie, Charleston, S. C. Parents dead. His aunt, Miss Nancy McPhail, Lumberton, N. C., R. No. 5 wants to hear from him. Do you know him? Have you seen him?

accumulated growth of years is safely stored as an emergency fund for the owner, or a valuable heritage for his children. There is no crop that can compete with timber in tiding the farmer over a period of depression. It is a reserve fund which can be drawn upon, and, after being drawn upon, immediately begins accumulating again, if reasonable chance is given to the growing timber. This is in evidence on every hand.—R. W. Greber, Extension Forester, N. C. State College, in The Progressive Farmer.
