Soviet System Blasted

DALLAS (AP)—Asst. Secretary of State Henry Holland declared today the political system of Russia and its satellites "is criminal by any standard of morals or law existing anywhere in the world outside the iron curtain bloc."

Holland told the Interamerican Bar Assn.:

"Until the Soviets demonstrate that communism will work without secret police, murder, purges and slave camps, I doubt that any people of the world will voluntarily choose it as their economic system. . . .

"Until communism comes out of its dark and bloody caves, until it frees its millions of ragged slaves, until its citizens can sleep at night with assurance that they will not be snatched away before dawn by secret police, until there is an end to mass trials, purges and executions for the crime of harboring 'wrong ideas'—until Soviet citizens, like we, can work at what they will, live where they will, I do not believe that communism as an economic system will be accepted by any people who have the strength to repel it."

Holland noted recent statements by present Russian leaders which he said indicate some possibility of relaxing their policies and of adopting "moral principles" from the free world.

Saying the United States will "watch with interest and with caution" whether and to what degree such indications of change are borne out, Holland said:

"Communism is the force which grotesquely combines the power of modern science and technology with a brutish medieval incomprehension of 20th Century moral and ethical standards. Our world forgets that never in history has the Russian been free. . . .

"Yet the communist leaders who are even now nauseating us with their accounts of the crimes of Stalin ask the free world to accept a system which for us would mean a shameful retreat hundreds of years backward along the path which we have toiled in achieving our present freedom."

POLIO COUPLE BECOME PARENTS—Mrs. Beverly Jean Hall, 24, a polio victim who must sleep in a respirator every night because of paralysis of her left side, holds the baby boy born to her April 6 by Caesarian section at General hospital in Los Angeles. Her husband, Charles, likewise is afflicted with polio. The couple met in 1954 at Rancho Los Amigo, a convalescant hospital for polio patients.

Group Meets For Talk On Boy's Club

A delegation of citizens representing the Scurry County Boy's Club met with members of the commissioners court this morning to request Scurry County to assist with financing a building which the club has tentatively agreed to purchase.

Rex Miller, a spokesman for the group, proposed that the commissioners court check into the possibility of the county assisting with payment of the first $6,500 toward cost of the building.

The building the Boy's Club proposes to purchase is the old Junior High School building at Twenty-eighth Street and Avenue O, usually referred to as the "Crane" building. The building was purchased from the Snyder school district by Frank Bernson, who now owns the building.

Bernson has given the Boy's Club option to purchase the building by May 1.

"With use of the building as a Boy's Club headquarters we believe that the number of boys participating in the recreation program could easily be trippled," Miller said.

Only two of the county commissioners, Pat Moore and Cullen Toombs, and Edgar Taylor county judge, were present. Today is not a regular meeting day of the court, however.

Judge Taylor said that the proposal would be studied by the court, and possibly a joint meeting of the court and the school board could be called to give further study to the request.

Miller said that the school system has tentatively agreed to delay payments on the note by the Boy's Club for one year if the club does purchase the building.

FARM BILL UNACCEPTABLE—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, left, talks with newsmen in Augusta, Ga., after his conference with President Eisenhower Benson said the farm bill is unacceptable to him and that the President has decided to veto the measure. White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, listens to the conference.

Claims Bill Is Harmful

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today vetoed the farm bill.

He will go on the air at 10 p.m., EST, to explain his rejection of the measure which becomes through his veto, a sure major issue in the election campaign.

In his veto message, Eisenhower told the lawmakers the high price support bill "would do harm to every agricultural region of the country and also to the interests of consumers."

The bill would return farm price supports to 90 per cent of parity for one year, junking the administration's flexible support system.

Congressional backers of the measure conceded there was no chance for enactment of the bill over the veto.

This would require a two-thirds vote to override the President.

Eisenhower's message, sent to the House since the farm bill originated there, announced the administration is taking four actions under existing law "to improve farm income now."

1. Price supports on five basic crops—wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts—will be set at a level of at least 82½ per cent of parity.

This, Eisenhower said, should insure national averages of wheat at $2 a bushel, corn at $1.50 a bushel, and rice at $4.50 per 100 pounds. Price estimates for cotton and peanuts were not given.

2. For this year, the support price of manufacturing milk will be increased to $3.25 per 100 pounds. The support price of butterfat will be increased to 58.6 cents a pound.

Manufacturing milk is that used in making butter, cheese, ice cream and other manufactured dairy products as distinguished from milk sold for beverage purposes.

3. More than 400 million dollars of Agriculture Department funds "where assistance will be constructive," will be used to strengthen the prices of perishable farm commodities for the year beginning July 1.

4. Finally, Eisenhower urged the lawmakers to enact his soil bank plan "as promptly as possible . . . before next fall's seeding for next year's crops."

The President said the four main provisions made the bill unacceptable to him: (1) the return to rigid 90 per cent of parity supports for basic commodities; (2) dual parity for wheat, corn, cotton and peanuts; (3) mandatory price supports for feed grains; and (4) multiple-price plans for wheat and rice.

Peace Plans Are Outlined By Brownell

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell said today America must be neither discouraged nor gullible in seeking out ways to achieve permanent peace.

In an address prepared for the Houston Bar Assn., he detailed the dramatic proposal made by President Eisenhower at the 1955 summit conference in Geneva for mutual exchange of military blueprints and periodic inspection, and indicated he believes it has a chance for adoption.

"The Soviet Union," he said, "said 'No' four different times to the President's plan of devoting atomic energy to peaceful uses. Yet at Geneva, Premier Bulganin agreed to the plan and declared that the Soviet Union would join the International Atomic Energy Agency.

"So, too, when it comes to accepting the President's inspection-disarmament plan, it may take a long time before the Soviet Union agrees. It may involve many conferences and negotiations in the future. We must never be discouraged. These days the voice of world public opinion for peace is too strong to be ignored.

"We must not, therefore, permit fear nor prior Soviet conduct to chill our diplomacy into inaction. On the other hand, we must not allow our deep yearning for peace to drive us into hasty or ill-advised bargains which we will repent in leisure."

Graham Trial Starts Today

DENVER (AP)—State and defense attorneys begin today picking jurors to try John Gilbert Graham, 24, on murder charges for the lyn-amite bombing of an airliner that hurtled 44 persons to death last Nov. 1.

The convicted forger and former drive-in restaurant operator is charged specifically with killing his mother Mrs. Daisie E. King, 55.

Federal officials said he signed a statement admitting he planted a 25-stick dynamite bomb in her luggage with the intent of collecting $37,500 flight insurance. He has repudiated the statement in news interviews.

Dist. Atty. Bert Keating said the prosecution will ask death in Colorado's gas chamber. Court-appointed defense lawyers said they are going to trial "seeking justice." They said Graham has never admitted the crime to them.

Pictured as feeling good and "unafraid," Graham played a word game — scrabble — with his county jail guards over the weekend.

Fire Death Trial Opens

SULPHUR, Okla. (AP)—The murder trial of David Hagler Jr. opened before an overflow crowd today, climaxing one of the most baffling cases ever encountered by Oklahoma cops.

The former $23,000-a-year Fort Worth asphalt salesman was nattily dressed. He appeared with his attorney and his mother, Mrs. Anne Robinson of Fort Worth.

On Oct. 10, 1954, the charred corpse of a still unidentified man was found in the burning station wagon of Hagler's former wife on a lonely road near te mountain town of Davis, Okla.

For a time it was believed the body was that of Hagler. However, the 39-year-old self-admitted playboy turned up a few days later at Waco, Tex. He claimed he had been on a drinking spree and had "blacked out." He denied any knowledge of the crime.

State prosecutors decided not to ask for the death penalty. They conceded their case against Hagler was purely circumstantial.

But, Murray County Atty. Dixie Colbert and Owen J. Watts, assistant state attorney general, believe they can prove an insurance plot and circumstances leading up to the murder — all involving Hagler. They said they will try for a life term conviction.

The only clues to the mysterious case were a general description of the victim's size and a dental bridge, believed to have been constructed in Germany.

A business associate of Hagler's, Frank St. Claire of Dallas, told Oklahoma authorities a month after the body was found that the slaying was the aftermath of a conspiracy to collect $200,000 in an insurance swindle. St. Claire said he and Hagler hoped to pass the body off as Hagler's and collect the insurance while the Fort Worth man lived under an assumed identity.

Less than a month after that, Dec. 9, 1954, St. Claire killed himself in the garage of his home.

New 'Winged-Boat' Revealed By Reds

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia says it has a propeller-driven "winged boat" so speedy that it zips along on pontoons with the hull 10 feet above the water.

The Soviet Fleet River Ministry said 70-passenger craft would go into service next year on the 250-mile Volga River stretch between Gorky and Kazan. The schedule is 10 hours compared with 30 hours by standard boat and 19 hours by train.

A five-passenger model has been tested. The craft looks like a seaplane without wings. The hull rides on four pontoons.

Israel Shows Its Strength

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Twelve French-type Ouragan jet planes spearheaded an air parade of Israel's military strength at Independence Day celebrations in Haifa today.

Highly placed Israeli military sources reported yesterday that a newer jet plane, the French Mystere, would make its appearance but no Mysteres were on display and there was no official confirmation of the report that 12 of these planes actually had been delivered to Israel.

The Mysteres, the military sources indicated yesterday, would somewhat balance Egypt's acquisition of Soviet MIG15 jets from Czechoslovakia.

The Ouragans, never displayed publicly in Israel before, along with British made Meteor jets, took part in the aviation section of a two-hour military parade reviewed by President Izhak Ben-Zvi, Premier David Ben-Gurion, Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, army chief of staff, and thousands of spectators.

The show marks Israel's eighth anniversary as an independent Jewish state born in the fires of war with four Arab neighbors—Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Lebanon.

It comes on the eve of Dag Hammarskjold's arrival on a U.N. mission to stamp out the new flames of conflict between Arab and Israeli.

The border area was comparatively quiet but uneasy in the wake of the U.N. secretary general's first week of on-the-scene persuasion.

An Egyptian spokesman charged that Israel had violated Hammarskjold's newly invoked ceasefire eight times in the past 48 hours. The spokesman said Israelis fired into the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip five times yesterday and two Israeli planes had flown over the strip for five minutes Saturday.

"We kept our word to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and refused to return one single shot," he said.

Premier David Ben-Gurion set the theme of the somber observance in a broadcast last night to the nation. He warned that if war breaks out, "our enemies will meet the power and heroism of our defense forces which will give back to the aggressor two blows for one."

"A heavy responsibility toward the history of humanity has been assumed by powers that are supplying aggressive arms to the Egyptian dictator (Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser) and also by those that deny defensive arms to Israel", Ben-Gurion charged.

Bomb Kills 27

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—A royal Thai air force plane was reported today to have dropped a bomb on a clubhouse near the city of Prachuap Khiri Khan, killing 27 persons and injuring 32.

Soviet Plot Is Smashed

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—A Russian emigre organization reported today a Kremlin plot to murder the director of its anti-Communist underground operations had collapsed when the would-be assassin surrendered voluntarily.

Emigre officials told a news conference here the target of the murder mission was Dr. Vladimir Poremsky, president of the National Alliance of Russian Solidarists. The Alliance claims to be one of the biggest and most active anti-Communist organizations operating both inside and outside Russia. Poremsky lives in Frankfurt.

A spokesman said the plot was disclosed before completion of court investigation "because we thought that in the present situation it is necessary to remind some people with whom they are going to shake hands — namely murderers."

This was an obvious reference to the visit this week in London of Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Khrushchev.

Rites Rehearsed By Grace Kelly

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Grace Kelly and a nervous Prince Rainier III went through a rehearsal today for their marriage ceremony.

The American film star had a strained look on her beautiful face and Rainier bit his finger nails during the rehearsal of the religious ceremony which will take place Thursday.

Grace's bridesmaids also appeared at the cathedral for the runthrough.

The couple have a civil ceremony on Wednesday. Marcel Portanier, Monaco's justice minister who will officiate at that ceremony, said Grace will automatically become a citizen of Monaco.

Last night the community gave one of those once-in-a-century parties to welcome the blonde from Philadelphia.

The $140,000 price tag for the gala dinner at the sumptuous Sporting Club across the street from Monte Carlo's famed gambling casino was the preliminary estimate of one of the organizers. It will take weeks before the actual cost can be totaled.

It was much more than a dinner of caviar, duckling, lobsters and champagne for some 400 guests. It included a ballet, vaudeville show, fireworks display and the brightest social spectacle the Riviera has put on in many seasons.

Grace, holding hands with her prince on the balcony behind a barricade of banked flowers, seemed enthralled by it all.

There was as much excitement outside the club as inside. Out in the rain dozens of photographers trying to get close to Grace and Rainier had a sprightly pushing match with police.

The scene, with slight variations, was enacted twice—on the couple's arrival and when they departed at 1:30 a.m.

Grace heard some booing from the damp photographers and the Prince appeared displeased.

But Monacans said the demonstration was not by the home citizenry and did not reflect on their hospitality..

U. S. Is Asked To Join In Alliance

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)— Baghdad Pact leaders appealed directly to the United States today to join their Middle East defensive alliance. But the chief U. S. observer at the pact's second ministerial meeting indicated there is little possibility of such a move.

Premier Hussein Ala of Iran opened the meeting with a speech urging U.S. membership in the five-nation alliance to give it greater strength and financial resources to defend the Middle East against possible Communist aggression.

He said the presence of observers headed by [illegible] demonstrated U.S. interest in the Baghdad Pact which its members hope "will soon develop into full accession." He was echoed by Premier Nuri Said of Iraq.

But Loy Henderson, U. S. deputy undersecretary of state, appeared to rule out U.S. membership in the alliance. He promised close cooperation with its members, but added "it is our sincere desire to retain close, friendly and effective ties with other nations in the area."

Henderson's statement appeared to confirm general opinion in the Middle East that the United States has refrained from joining the Baghdad alliance for fear of worsening relations with Egypt and other Arab nations which oppose the pact and have denounced it repeatedly.

Henderson promised pact members a program of "broader economic cooperation coordinated through the pact organization." This represents a shift in U.S. policy which in the past has been to give economic and military aid to individual nations and not to regional groupings.

Deadline for Tax Returns Is Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deadline for the big tax payoff to Uncle Sam is only hours away. By midnight tonight all individual taxpayers must have their 1955 income tax returns on the way to the Internal Revenue Service.

Mail by the truckload was arriving at the 64 IRS district offices as taxpayers rushed to beat the final hour.

Actually the deadline is April 15. But, since that date fell on Sunday this year, the law gives individuals an extra day.

Bulgarian Premier Resigns In Sofia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Communist Bulgaria's Premier Vulko Chervenkov, a Moscow-trained strong man denounced by his party last week as a Little Stalin, submitted his resignation in Sofia today.

A change in the premiership should help improve relations between Yugoslavia and Bulgaria. Chervenkov was a spark plug of the Soviet bloc's campaign against President Tito's government after the Stalin-Tito break of 1948, and had dragged his feet in the moves for reconciliation instituted by Soviet leaders Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev last spring.

The resignation came as no surprise to political observers here.

The Premier — known as Bulgaria's "Little Stalin" — has been under fire by the Communist party for his strong one-man rule of the Balkan country.

Chervenkov, whose first name means wolf, has been attacked by Communist party for practicing a Stalin-like one-man rule in the Soviet satellite.

The Bulgarian Communist party on Saturday "rehabilitated" Traicho Kostov, former deputy premier and party secretary who was executed in 1949 for alleged treason and Titoism.

The campaign against him was led by Chervenkov, a Moscow-trained Communist who became premier in 1950.

Perhaps significantly, it was the Belgrade radio which made the disclosure of Chervenkov's "request to be released of his duties" as premier.

Chervenkov led the anti-Tito campaign in the Soviet satellites under Stalin. But since the recent denunciation of Stalin by the new Kremlin leaders, Titoism is no longer a crime.

21 Die, 200 Injured In Alabama Tornado

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A tornado swirling and twisting through the outskirts of Birmingham killed at least 21 persons, injured more than 200 and left 400 persons homeless.

A Red Cross official said the winds last night destroyed more than 100 houses clustered on hills west and north of this industrial city. Hundreds of houses received lesser damage.

"We've counted 21 bodies and there may be others," said Roscoe Whatley, Red Cross director here. Most of the dead were Negroes.

Most of the dead and injured were at McDonald's Chapel, a suburb of 3,000 population just outside the northwestern city limits. Winds also flailed Sandusky, New Georgia and Sayreton, other suburban areas.

Fire engines joined the confusion at McDonald's Chapel when fire broke out in some of the ruined houses.

Approximately 150 persons were admitted to Birmingham hospitals. Some were treated and released but most were confined for treatment.

Whatley said an emergency ward had been set up in a union hall in Ensley, an industrial suburb, where 30 of the less seriously injured were admitted.

The awesome roar of the approaching storm gave sufficient warning for many to take shelter before their houses were blown to splinters.

Roy J. Self, 56, hid under his service station.

"I got under the station and had been there about 30 seconds when the building tumbled over and went crashing down an embankment and against a hill," he related.

Lubbock Man To Speak At Program Here

Dr J. Chess Lovern, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Lubbock, will be principal speaker tonight of the Snyder Classroom Teachers Association banquet.

The banquet is set for 7:30 p.m. in the High School cafeteria.

Mrs. Frank Miller will succeed Tim Dennis as president of the CTA. Other new officers to be installed this evening include J. C. Jackson, first vice president; Mrs. Ivan Gatlin, second vice president; Charles Bowen, third vice president; Mrs. O. S. Clark, secretary, and Bill Watson, treasurer.

Special music will be provided by the Classroom Teachers Association choir.

The Snyder Classroom Teachers Association was organized in the spring of 1952. Its purpose is to promote the highest type of professional practices and to keep teachers informed on the latest trends in teaching methods, to actively recruit qualified personnel, to work for improved teacher welfare, to interpret the school program to the community, to encourage teachers to accept their responsibilities, assume their duties and exercise their rights as citizens. The objective is to develop better teachers so that children will have the highest type of training possible.

The CTA has regular meetings to discuss business and give programs on ethics and current practices. Among the projects is sponsorship of a $200 scholarship given annually to a future teacher. The funds for the scholarship are raised when the CTA presents a play each year. The organization also has an annual banquet to honor the school board, and all citizens of the community interested in education are invited.

At the beginning of each school year the CTA has a social hour and "get acquainted" session for teachers new in the system. This year, the CTA organized the Scurry County Schools Federal Credit Union to provide a systematic savings plan for all employes of schools in the county.

In addition to Dennis, who is retiring as president, the CTA past presidents are Zane Gilbert, Ollie Peek and Ethal Roberts.

Guard Unit Plans For Encampment

Final plans for the annual summer encampment of the 112th Armored Cavalry batallion of which Company C of Snyder is a unit were made in a staff meeting of the batallion officers here Saturday and yesterday.

The meeting was headed by Col. Frederick Weston, San Antonio, regimental commander.

The encampment will be for two weeks beginning June 3, at North Fort Hood, Tex.

Also discussed while the meeting was taking place here was a new armory building for Snyder.

Maj. Willis F. McDonald, armory advisor for the second batallion of the regiment, reported to the group that the new armory proposed for Snyder would probably be forthcoming within a year.

"Red tape and plan changes have delayed the construction of the new armory, but most of the details have now been worked out," McDonald said.

One result of the delay will be that the new Synder armory will have approximately 5,000 square feet more floor space than was to have been included in the armory building first proposed.

No date for letting contract for the building has been determined, however.

About 15 officers of the batallion and regiment attended the staff meeting.

Six different horses had the lead in the rich Florida Derby but once Needles got to the front it was all over.

CORRECTION

A civil District Court case styled Rubye G. Smith vs. J. D. Smith was listed incorrectly in the Public Records column of The Daily News on Sunday. The case was listed as a divorce granted, when in fact it was a dismissal of a suit to recover a debt. Mrs. Smith had no case on file in the district court, except that concerning the debt. The Daily News regrets the error, and is happy to publish a correction.

A TRIBUTE TO OUR HOSPITALS!

Someone once said that all well people should visit a hospital occasionally to see how fortunate they are! When a friend or loved one is being tenderly cared for in one of our hospitals, then we understand the great importance of these institutions. Staffed with doctors, nurses, internes and all manner of life saving equipment, the hospital is mercy headquarters for all who are suffering. We never cease to wonder at the modern miracles performed in our hospitals. Their works go largely unheralded. But their eagerness to bind up wounds and make men whole again goes on forever. What would we do without these havens of healing?

Civic Music Association Members Reap Dividends

By PHIL CHERRY
Assistant Band Director
Snyder Public Schools

Civic Music Association members are earning rich dividends on their investment. This was evidenced again Sunday afternoon when the current season closed with the presentation of the Saint Louis Sinfonietta. The group was received by a large and enthusiastic crowd.

Conductor Paul Schreiber opened the concert with Mozart's overture to "The Marriage of Figaro" and from the opening measures the audience realized it was in for an afternoon of real symphonic music. The program was varied to catch the fancy of everyone present; from a Schubert symphony to the captivating sound effects of "The Hippo and the Mosquito."

Soloists with the group were Kenneth Gordon, violinist, and Christine Stavrache, harpist. Mr. Gordon thrilled all present with his playing of Pablo de Sarasate's brilliant "Zigeunerweisen" and his encore was a favorite Fritz Kreisler composition for violin, "Liebesleid." Miss Stavrache's harp solo in Maurice Ravel's "Introduction and Allegro" was particularly well received by the audience, as was her selection for an encore "Harping On A Harp."

The closing number was a collection of favorite Jerome Kern melodies taken from his many shows. These melodies especially pleased the audience because of their familiarity. Mr. Schreiber and his Sinfonietta returned for three encores before the concert closed.

This year, Civic Music Association is conducting a Spring drive for membership to permit a wider selection of artists next season. Membership closes on April 28.

New Fabrics This Summer Good At Fooling The Eye

By DOROTHY ROE

THIS SUMMER'S FABRICS fool the eye.

What you think is a wool suit turns out to be cotton. What you think is silk may be a nylon blend. What appears to be tweed may well be linen. And what looks like linen probably will be anything from dacron to wool.

High in the popularity poll for summer wear are new cotton suits, as carefully tailored and highly styled as the gems of the spring and fall collections, but having cotton's special assets of coolness, easy cleanability and comfort—to say nothing of thrifty prices.

Arthur Jablow has turned out a group of cotton summer suits that are well-bred enough for a board of directors' meeting, look for all the world like wool, and come in the newest silhouettes of 1956.

There is, for instance, a gray slub-weave cotton tweed suit with slim skirt and flattering fitted jacket with a black velvet yoke and a couple of rhinestone buttons that could go to lunch with assurance at the Colony or Twenty-One.

There is a gray checked cotton tweed with slightly longer fitted jacket, a crisp collar line, slim skirt and an air of confidence.

And there's a distinguished suit in his new demidetached silhouette, with semifitted jacket and back interest, that is done in a light-weight fabric blending rayon, mohair and wool. It has the easy, unaccented look of some of the newest Parisian styles, would be perfect for town or travel wear practically the year 'round.

There's news and excitement in the fabrics you'll be seeing in summer's favorite fashions, so if you haven't brushed up on recent developments in the textile world, go out and have a look. You'll be happily surprised.

SUMMER TAILLEUR — Demi-detached silhouette in a suave town or travel suit of mohair, rayon and wool blend, with casual cut, all-year-round comfort.

CERTIFIED CHECKS — Cotton tweed in a gray-and-charcoal check makes this well-bred summer suit with trim lines, cool charm, designed by Arthur Jablow.

Program Of Central P-TA Is Given By Dr. Collins

A film dealing with the relationship of our personality to our way of living was shown in the last regular meeting of the Central P-TA on Thursday. The film, which was the story of a family in Puerto Rico, was presented by Dr. DWane Collins.

Dr. Collins pointed out that if we can't get our physical needs in the normal way that we will turn to the negative way. This same theory applies to our physological needs. These needs are defined as affection, success and a sense of belonging.

Teachers whose rooms had won attendance prizes, told how they had used their money. Teaching records, pictures, individual memory books and room parties were some of the ways reported. Attendance prizes this month went to Mrs. Baker and Mrs. Buswell's rooms.

Mrs. Cliff Hale reported on activities of the city council. Several mothers volunteered to help in the residential cancer drive that is in progress.

Mrs. John Noble, retiring president, expressed her appreciation for the cooperation and interest shown by the unit during her term of office. She gave an evaluation of the year's work and also recognized the members of the standing committees of the unit.

Various articles made by the Central units' members who took arts and craft courses, were on display.

Coffee and cookies were served at the close of the meeting.

Bible Thought

He that rebuketh a man afterwards shall find more favor than he that flattereth with the tongue. Proverbs 28:23.

EDITORIALS

No Answer At All

Sooner or later every parent is faced with the problem of when or whether the offspring, especially a boy, can be entrusted with the use of the family car. It isn't easy of solution, except for the small minority of parents who solve the problem of giving in to the importunte demands of the child against their better judgement.

The laws of Texas are pretty plain on this point. The law says that no one shall operate a motor vehicle in this state who does not have a driving license. It says further that no child under 14 shall be issued a driving license. It says further that no child under 16 shall be issued a driving license unless specifically authorized by the county judge, for due and just cause.

All these rules, of course, are fractured tens of thousands of times every day in Texas, and presumably in other states as well.

In this connection some comments made recently by the father of a16-year-old boy who was driving the speeding car in which one high school boy was killed and five others injured. The shocked father of the driver, a town councilman at Tampa, Fla., said:

"... We realize that Tommy must face the fact that the boy lost his life in the car Tommy was driving. There is nothing in the world to compensate for the loss of a life. If I could, I would give my own life for that boy's."

He went on to say if every parent of a teenager who drives a car would stand "helplessly in a hospital operating room and see their children lying on an operating table, wondering if they will live or die, I'm sure they would wish that the automobile had never been invented."

Then he faced the problem all parents must face sooner or later, in these words: "You realize you can't lock your children in the house and tell them they can't be a part of society. And you can't be with them every minute. So what is the answer?"

It isn't a simple question, and there can be no simple answer. Perhaps there isn't any answer at all.

Disposing Of Surpluses

Way back in the great drouth of the mid-1880s the Texas Legislature made provision for distributiton of food to distressed families in West Texas, where the drouth was almost entirely centered. Somebody foolishly inserted a proviso calling for an affidavit of poverty before the life-saving food could be handed over.

We are a little hazy on the details, but the pauper's oath deal met with high and decidedly vociferous protests. Many of the intended beneficiaries indignantly refused to sign, and drew their belts a notch tighter. The affair was finally smoothed over, as we recall, and peace restored.

This incident returned to mind on reading yesterday that the U.S. Department of Agriculture, during the nine-montth period ending March 31, gave away 1,400,200,000 pounds of surplus food valued at $415 million from the nation's ample surpluses. It consisted of dried beans, butter, canned beef, dried milk, cheese, wheat, lard, rice and shortening. The 40 percent of the whole that was distributd in this country went to school lunch programs and public institutions and welfare agencies as was the case with the 60 percent that went abroad.

Almost half of the domestic distribution went to 3,336,000 persons on the welfare rolls of 38 states.

The food given away was 65 percent greater than for the corresponding nine months of the preceding year.

We don't suppose the suggestion that we should get rid of our surpluses by dumping them into the ocean, or burning them, would ever get very far. That is especially true of food and the materials from which clothing is made.

In the minds of most people to destroy anything that is useful to some other human being is downright wicked. The basis of need should be established in all cases as nearly as it can be done, but once established there should be no hesitancy over the question of giving unusable surpluses to the needy or dumping them into the sea.

" ... And the greatest of these is charity," another name for love.

California Sits Atop Big Earthquake, But Nobody Guesses When It Will Come

By G. K. HODENFIELD

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16 (AP)—California is sitting right on top of a destructive earthquake, just waiting for it to happen.

When? The experts have no idea.

Where? There are a couple of likely spots, but no Seisnologist will hazard more than a guess.

Why? Because no one can anticipate the deadly San Andreas fault line, which cuts a path of potential catastrophe almost the length of California.

Pressure built up far below the surface push against this crack in the earth's crust. The U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey has found the coastal side of the fault moves 20 inches northward every 10 years.

There is an almost constant rubbing and grinding.

As the earth crunches, shock waves are transmitted outward in every direction. Some are so weak they can be detected only with delicate seismographs. Others are strong enough to rattle dishes and start light fixtures swaying. Californians long ago learned to live with such disturbances.

Occasionally there is a major slip, and the ground heaves with a force so great it dwarfs the greatest man-made explosions.

It was like that 50 years ago, at 5:12 a.m., Tuesday, April 18, 1906.

It came without a whisper of warning. One moment the city was asleep, serene and silent.

The next moment the earth buckled and rolled. Buildings shuddered, and toppled to the ground. Streets were filled with debris and cobwebbed with dangling wires.

Twice again before 6 a.m. there were violent jars.

That quake, with the fire that followed, was the greatest catastrophe ever to hit an American city.

People poured into the streets, appalled at the destruction.

All over the city, dozens of small fires broke out.

Firemen raced to the rescue—then watched in horror as pressure died and streams of water turned to trickles.

For three days and nights the fire raged until firemen, police, soldiers and volunteers blasted away rows of buildings to create a protective belt of vacant lots.

Even in these days of H-bombs the statistics are impressive: More than 60,000 buildings destroyed, 265,000 of the city's 360,000 inhabitants made homeles, 2,953 acres of ruins totaling 490 city blocks, property damage of 350 million dollars—in an era of 5-cent beer and 8-cent prime beef.

That was just the San Francisco part of it. The quake hit along a 200-mile stretch of the San Andreas fault.

At least 700 persons were killed. No village or city along the line escaped. Palo Alto had three million dollars in damage, Salinas two million, Santa Rosa a million, Redwood City $700,000, San Mateo $500,000.

Sixty miles north of San Francisco giant redwood trees which had been standing sine the time of Christ snapped and crashed to earth.

The mayor, police chief and police commission gathered hurriedly at the Hall of Justice. The first official act was to close every saloon and smash liquor bottles in stores.

The mayor's first proclamation declared, "troops and police are authorized to kill on sight any person, or persons caught looting."

The next day 14 men were shot down trying to loot the San Francisco mint, and 14 soldiers were strung up for looting a saloon.

Families gathered what belongings they could carry and fled. Mothers were separated from their children, husbands from wives.

A vast refugee camp was established in the Presidio, another in Golden Gate park.

Governor pardee proclaimed a legal holiday every day from April 19 through June 2, thus averting a run on the city's 48 banks.

In San Francisco the official casualty list numbered 452 dead, 1,500 injured. The actual death toll may well have numbered hundreds more.

Around the world they wrote the obituary of a beautiful city—but they wrote it too soon. Like the mythical phoenix, San Francisco rose from her own ashes. Only nine years after the quake and fire she was host to the world at the Pan-Pacific International Exposition.

For 50 years San Franciscans have insisted: "It wasn't the quake, it was the fire."

In the past 50 years, California has had six major quakes, causing upward of 1,000 deaths and damage estimated at more than half a billion dollars. Next to San Francisco, the most costly in lives was the Long Beach quake which killed 115 in 1933.

The most recent were in 1952, when tremors in the Tehachapi and Bakersfield areas killed 16 and caused 120 million in damages.

Californians know that the San Andreas fault does not rest easy for long. To the experts, this much seems certain: another big earthquake is due, sooner or later.

Dr. Charles Richter of California Institute of Technology says California may go 10 years or more without a San Andreas quake—but one could come tomorrow.

Californians don't worry about the next big earthquake. It may not come in their lifetimes, or if it does, it may spend its vast fury in the sparsely inhabited desert or mountains.

What can you do about an earthquake anyway, but sit and wait for it to happen?.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

RAQUEL: The Jewess of Toledo. By Lion Feuchtwanger. Translated from German by Ernst Kaiser and Eithne Wilkins. Messner.

It is late in the 12th century. Moslems hold half of Spain. Christians half, and Jews are caught in the middle. Alfonso VIII, somewhat against his arrogant will, is persuaded by his knowing Wueen Leonor to accept as his counselor the sage, statemanlike Jew, Yehuda ban Esra.

Yehuda, a rich merchant, moves in from Seville to Toledo, bringing his young son and his daughter Raquel, and settling riskily in the house once belonging to the Castros, who hate the King and now learn to hate his minister. Alfonso, irked by an eight-year truce he has been inveigled into signing with Christendom's traditional foe, longs for war, but he is dissuaded by Yehuda. Let the ravaged country recover, store up the wealth of Spain, stock the farms, give the people a respite from bloodshed, Yehuda urges.

The association of the two men, cautious Yehuda and impetuous Alfonso, brings the King and teenage Raquel together, and the King demands her for his mistress. To save his people, the father believes he must yield, and his friends and the girl herself agree with him. The drama is heightened by the outbreak of war and the release of the cunningly nurtured passions of the ignorant mobs of people.

Feuchtwanger builds this story slowly, too slowly, perhaps, so that before characters and events can grip you, they sometimes come near being a bore. Yet this is patient, sound story telling, solidly based in a Middle Ages setting.

Middle East War Would Have Some Roots Dating Back Prior To World War I Era

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Any war in the Middle East—springing out of Arab resentment of the Jews of Israel and the West—will have its roots in nationalism and memories that go back beyond World War I.

The Mediterranean is at Israel's back. On all other sides it is surrounded by Egypt, Jordan, Sria and Lebanon. All four fought the Israelis in 1948.

Britain and France dominated that area between the end of World War I and the end of World War II and reluctantly let go. The British hold on Egypt went back even further.

When World War I began the Turkish Empire included what has become Lebanon, Syria, Palestine and Jordan. Britain and France, to win over the Arabs when Turkey got into the war on Germany's side, promised freedom to the Arabs if Turkey lost. Turkey lost.

The League of Nations then gave Britain and France a mandate — control — over what had been Turkish territory. The French got Lebanon and Syria, granted them independence in 1920, but didn't get out.

The British got a mandate over Palestine and what is now Jordan but didn't give Jordan independence until 1946. The British didn't get out of Palestine until 1948.

Meanwhile, the Jews, who had not had a majority in Palestine since the Romans defeated them in 70 A.D., began in the 20th century to demand that Palestine be made a Jewish homeland. In 1917 the British said they looked favorably on the idea.

The British did nothing to make it a reality. When Jews swarmed into Palestine to escape Hitler's persecutions in the 1930s, the Arabs were alarmed.

Came World War II which weakened the French and British. France got out of Lebanon and Syria in 1946. Britain let Jordan declare independence the same year but retained military ties with the Jordanians. In 1947 the United Nations voted to divide Palestine into two states: One Arab, the other Jewish.

The Arabs protested this creation of a Jewish state where none had existed for 1,900 years. The British were getting out of Palestine. On May 14, 1948, the Jews there declared the republic of Israel.

Syria, Jordan, Egypt and Lebanon went to war against the Isralis. It lasted a year. The armistice that followed has been broken many times since by border clashes. The Arabs refuse to recognize Israel as a state.

In that war the outnumbered Israelis — there are about 1,600,000 of them while their four neighbors have 40 million people—outfought the Arabs and wound up with much of Palestine which the U.N. had said should be Arab. That was another sore spot for the Arabs.

Egypt has a leading part in this picture now. Britain moved into the kingdom of Egypt in 1332 to administer it and make it a protectorate in 1914 to defend it from the Turks.

In 1922 Britain ended the protectorate, recognizing Egypt as a sovereign state, but reserve various rights there, including defense. This was a goad to the Egyptians who were militarily unable to throw the British out.

A movement for complete independence began in Egypt, and in 1947 the Egyptians went before the U.N. to demand that Britain get out. The British did, finally.

On July 25, 1952, revolution led by the army threw out King Farouk. The man behind this coup was Lt. Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, now Egypt's Premier, all-around strong man, and new leader of the Arab world.

In stepping into Arab leadership Nasser did what someone was bound to do sooner or later: He took over a vacuum. The Arabs had been disunited, their leaders distrustful of one another. This lack of unity helped whip them in the war with Israel.

Sen. Sparkman Is Happy With Baby-Sitting Duty

BY JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Best baby sitter in the capital is a man and he works for northing. He's Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala) and he looks forward to the hours he can spend alone with his grandson, Tazewell Shepard, 111, when the two-year-old's parents want a night out.

"My father is a good baby sitter, the best," says Julia Ann, whose husband is a Navy Air Force commander stationed here. "Ty", as the baby has been nicknamed, calls his frandfather "Papa", and except for his straight blonde hair, is a spitting image of the senator. Ty calls his grandmother "Dannie", his own father "Daddy", and "Honey" is his name for his pretty brunette mother.

The senator reads his own favorite childhood story, "Tar Baby" to Ty and the two of them romp about the Shepard household with Julia Ann's miniature collie, "Bama Heather," and 10-inch toy poodle, "Prince Pierre."

Sen. and Mrs. Sparkman bought a bigger house with five bedrooms after their daughter got married. "They were getting ready for a big nursery," laughed Julia Ann, "but we were married 10 years before we had Ty and then we bought our own home."

Probably no grandfather was ever more excited than the senator was when Ty arrived in January, 1954. Comdr. Shepard was in rench Morocco at the time. "Jan and baby doing nicely,' was the cable he sent my husband," Julia Ann laughed, "and for three days, until he flew home, my husband didn't know whether he had a son, or a daughter. 'That's just like a politician; one of father's colleagues remarked at the time."

When I met Ty at a women's afternoon shindig recently he was wearing a little white corduroy topcoat his grandmother had brought to him from Spain where she had accompanied her husband, in 1954.

"They've brought him lots of presents from their trips," Julia Ann said, "but he likes best one of those Russian dolls that keep opening up, with another smaller doll inside."

Chef Proves British Are Regaining Culinary Art

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The condemned man ate a hearty British supper.

The condemned man was me.

Philip Harben, a portly man with a ginger beard who is Britain's best known chef, is touring America as a culinary ambassador. His purpose is to prove "that the art of good cooking has returned to Britain, and now visitors may eat like kings."

When an agent of the empire apraised me of this news, I expressed considerable doubt.

"Why don't you let Mr. Harben come to your home and cook you a meal?" suggested the empire agent. "He'll bring the food."

Well, you know how it is when a columnist is offered a free meal. I thought the offer over for 3-5th of a second and agreed.

The challenge stirred the artist in Harben, who is known to millons in his own country for his cooking demonstrations over BBC-TV. In due time he, his wife and the empire's advance scout arrived loaded down with bottles and bundles.

I must say the dinner, when it was served, was fit for any king, including Henry VIII, whom the jolly Harben resembles.

First came pink slices of Scotch salmon, the tenderest I've ever tasted, washed down with Amontillado sherry.

The flaked Dover sole and a glass of Chablis wine.

The traditional British "joint of beef," a vast rib roast, was a crisp and juicy brown masterpiece. With it came Yorkshire pudding—Harben had let the beef drip into it to give it more flavor—cauliflower and a bottle of beautiful Burgundy.

There were a tense moment when one of the guests asked for catsup.

"If there is anything wrong with American food," sighed Harben, "it is your tendency to smother it with catsup."

No catsup. It seemed a fair exchange. Harben, after all, had refrained from submitting us to the ordeal of Brussels sprouts.

Then followed fresh strawberries and cream, a vast chunk of Stilton cheese, a glass of port.

Harben asked, "Well?"

"I take it all back," I told him. "If that's a sample of honest British cooking, I must admit I never had a better meal in my life."

Harben's beard rose and flew as proudly as the Union Jack.

Revolution Is Brewing In American Textile Industry

BY INEZ ROBB

We live in such an explosive age that one revolution more or less is sort of like another rabbit. The truth is that revolutions in everyday living kinda creep up on us before we know it.

Such a revolution — and it is later than you think — is zipping through the textile business. It could make the spindle, the loom and the knitting machine as antique as great-grandma's spinning wheel.

And before you decide that the poor woman is off her rocker, let me point out that a U. S. Government official, George A. Fowles, of the chemical and rubber division of the Department of Commerce, has just warned the textile industry to speed research in the new field of non-woven fabrics or be "replaced" by the up-and-coming plastics industry.

With Fowles' warning in my ears, I marched off to see the man who, almost single - handedly, is responsible for this revolution in the United States. He is David Morgenstern, a brilliant and charming Polish refugee for whom millions of women say a silent prayer every time they put on a dress, suit or coat lined with crush-proof, wrinkle - proof pellon.

For pellon, the protype of the non-woven fabrics about which Fowles is warning the textile industry to get hep, is the first non-woven fabric ever produced in the U.S.A. Through this process, fibers that man formerly spun or knitted are "bonded" or blended together with chemicals and high heat ("thermochemic" is the ten-dollar term).

I first saw Morgenstern less than four years ago when pellon was just coming on the market as a strange new lining material. He was certain that it was just the beginning of a revolution in the textile business ("the only real new idea in 4,000 years," to quote Fowles again—or since man gave up bearskins and learned to make cloth).

"There is not the slightest doubt that within a reasonably short, time, there will be on the market a non-woven fabric that looks like woven chiffon, or wool jersey, broadcloth or tweed," Morgenstern said. "And it will be much cheaper than comparable fabrics of the same weight and quality.

"Maybe I won't be the first to make them, but someone now pioneering in this field — someone now working in a laboratory—will do it. The pioneer train is rolling."

Just as he was the first to produce a non-woven lining fabric (pellon), Morgenstern has produced the first non-woven fabric to be used in outer garments. A lawyer (graduate of the University of Vienna) turned chemist, he is the inventor and holds the patents on "lilion," from which Seventh Avenue and Paris already are making skirts, jackets, evening wraps and formal dresses.

Like Pellon, it is wrinkle and crush proof, but is much finer in quality and even lighter in weight. Porosity and virtual weightlessness are two of the many virtues of non-woven fabrics. Lilion itself is a mixture of 80 percent nylon and 20 percent cotton fibers. Decorators also are beginning to use it for draperies, for it hangs like a dream.

"Lilion is only a start in the right direction toward a non-woven dress or outer fabric," Morgenstern said of his brainchild. "It seems pretty special to me now, but some day it will probably seem amateurish. But it is a beginning."

Anyway, hang onto grandma's spinning wheel. It may be antiquer than you think.

Tigers Set For Opener With Eagle 9

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

TOMORROW IS GOING TO BE a big day for Snyder baseball fans.

While the Major league fans of the this city will be keeping a close eye on the season debuts of their favorites tomorrow, they'll be keeping a closer eye on how our own Tiger diamonders will fare against the dangerous Abilene Eagles in their first district game here tomorrow afternoon.

Guess it's pretty fitting to have the District 3-AA race to open on the same day as the majors.

Still another league in our territory, the Southwestern League, will open up tomorrow.

The center of attraction of them all, locally speaking, of course, is the Tiger - Eagle game here tomorrow.

Since District 3-AA teams will only play six games in conference play, each game is going to be of utmost importance. Tomorrow's game here is no exception.

Which brings up this question: "Who will win the 3-AA baseball pennant?"

3-Way Title Tie Looms

It appears right now that three of the four teams in the district, Abilene, Wichita Falls and Snyder, are pretty evenly matched and the race could very well end in a three-way title tie.

This would come about if the three teams mentioned would split the two-game series with each other and all sweep their series with Vernon.

The latter may be more difficult than we think. We reported the Lions having a 2-2 record the other day but a more accurate check showed the Lions with a 5-1 record.

At any rate, here is how we see the outcome of the coming District 3-AA race:

1. Abilene.
2. Snyder.
3. Wichita Falls.
4. Vernon.

If the Tigers come through, as we think they might, we'd be glad to eat these words at home plate before the first bi-district game is played.

It's difficult, however, to pick against a team that is returning its starting lineup almost intact from last year's team that won the title and which advanced to the state finals. That would be the case of the Abilene Eagles.

The fact remains, though, that the Tigers did defeat last year's powerful Eagle team on one occasion and there's no reason to believe that the Bengals can't turn the trick again tomorrow.

Tiger Pitching Depth Best In Loop

If the 3-AA race was played off in one week, we'd pick the Tigers without hesitation. The Tigers, we believe, are deeper in pitching than any other team in the loop. Coach Speedy Moffett could just about call on anyone of four boys and get a good performance out of them.

But being deep in pitching won't help much in the coming 3-AA race. Games are three and four days apart and if a team has just one good dependable pitcher he could pitch his team to the title since he could work every game.

Abilene's ace, Altus Scott, may be better than the Tiger ace which would be either Alan Snead, Ronnie Baker or Dwayne Prince. Freshman Tim Roberts is the fourth Tiger hurler that is capable of giving with a good performance.

But the Eagle pitching strength almost stops with Scott. The same thing holds true with Wichita Falls which has one good hurler, Howard Franklin.

We might put it this way:

"The Tigers may or may not win the 3-AA flag but they could better represent the district in the bi-district and state playoffs because of their depth in pitching."

A team can't get by with one pitcher in the post - season playoff's as the games are played closer together after the district slate.

Without further ado, we would like to take this opportunity to wish the Tigers the best of luck against Abilene tomorrow and through the remainder of the 3-AA race.

Record Crowd Due To Watch Crucial Tilt

One of the largest crowds to ever watch a high school baseball game here is expected for tomorrow's District 3-AA opener between the Tigers and Abilene Eagles at City League Park.

Game time has been set for 4 p.m.

The Eagles and Tigers own the most impressive pre-district records in the 3-AA circles. Abilene, the defending champs and who is favored to repeat, has rolled up 14 victories in 16 games while the Tigers have racked up 15 wins in 20 starts.

Abilene's two losses were to Northside of Fort Worth (3-2) and to Monterey of Lubbock (7-5).

The Eagles and Tigers have played three common foes with the odds stacking up just about even in comparing the scores.

Abilene has beaten San Angelo twice, 5-0 and 2-1 while the Tigers have defeated the same team three times, 8-5, 3-1 and 5-0. The Eagles hold the advantage in comparing scores with the Odessa Broncs while the Tigers have the advantage in the Monterey of Lubbock series.

The Eagles have beaten Odessa twice, 5 - 1 and 12 - 3, while the Broncs won twice from the Tigers, 12-3 and 8-6. In the Monterey series, the Lubbock nine defeated Abilene 7-5 but lost twice to the Tigers, 9-4 and 3-2.

Altus Scott, senior right hander for the Eagles, who is unbeaten this year, will get the starting mound call for the Eagles tomorrow. Scott has a 6-0 record.

Tiger coach Speedy Moffett is expected to go with senior right-hander, Alan Snead, who has a 4-1 record. Snead has hurled two shutouts while Scott has three whitewashes to his credit.

Glynn Gregory of football fame, is the leading Eagle batsman. Gregory is hitting at a .450 clip, coming on 18 hits in 40 trips. Gregory also leads the Eagles in homers with three, runs-batted-in with 19 and is tied for most triples with two.

Don McNew is the top Tiger hitter with a .387 average, coming on 19 hits in 49 trips. Joe Reaves leads the Tigers in homers with three, triples with two; and runs-batted-in with 17. Snead tops the Tigers in doubles with four.

Abilene owns four shutouts this season to six for the Tigers. The Eagles haven't been blanked this season while the Tigers have been whitewashed once.

Wichita Falls and Vernon, the other two members of 3-AA, will meet tomorrow at Vernon. Wichita Falls owns a 6-4 record to 5-1 for Vernon.

Following are the probably starting lineups and batting averages for tomorrow's Tiger-Eagle game:

ABILENE

Jimmy Carpenter, lf, (278); Robert Carothers, ss, (333); Freddie Green, 3b, (308); Glenn Gregory, c, (.450); David Bourland, 2b, (341); Carlton Winkles, cf, (.68); Bruce Boyd, 1b, (.240); Gerald Lewis, rf, (.250); and Altus Scott, p, (6-0).

TIGERS

Gary Vice, cf, (.238); Neal Boyd, lf, (.160); Joe Reaves, 2b, (.306); Don McNew, c, (.387); Alan Snead, p, (.340); Milton Ham, 1b, (.326); Tommy Prichard, ss, (.210); Pat Fowler, (.277); or Ronnie Baker, (.318); rf; and Jerry Taylor, 3b, (.312).

TIGER MOUND CORPS—Pictured is the Tiger pitching staff which has led the Bengals to a 15-5 season record. Alan Snead, kneeling, is showing the group how he hopes to breeze 'em by the Abilene Eagle batsmen in tomorrow's District 3-AA opener here. Either Snead or Ronnie Baker will likely start for the Tigers tomorrow. The moundsmen, from left to right, are James Patterson, Tim Roberts, Baker, Snead and Dwayne Prince. (Lee Watson photograph)

Records Fall In Missions' 20-18 Win Over Austin

By The Associated Press

Big scores and long games harrass the Texas League and pitchers don't stay in the lineup long enough to know who's doing the alleged chunking but that Austin-San Antonio thing Sunday seems to be going entirely too far.

San Antonio won it 20-18 in three hours and thirty-one minutes with two league records for two-base hits being set. Eleven pitchers worked. There were 38 hits for 70 bases and a crowd of 4,659 turned out to watch the boys try to play in wind gusts that ranged from 30 to 38 miles an hour.

Meanwhile Fort Worth was staying in first place through three playing dates and winning the opening attendance trophy. The Cats walloped their old rivals Dallas 10-6 to make it two in a row and to remain on top by a half game. The 10,121 fans who turned out Friday night for Fort Worth's home opener stood up as the attendance trophy winner.

The eight openers drew a total of 41,102.

Every year there's talk of speeding up the games. Of eleven games thus far eight have gone three hours or more. The champion was the Oklahoma City-Tulsa slugfest Saturday night that struggled four hours and fifteen minutes.

In the 11 games 82 pitchers have toiled—an average of over seven per contest. None yet has managed to go nine innings.

ON EVE OF OPENERS

Yanks, Dodgers Are Solid Picks

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The defending champion Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees, on the eve of the opening of the major league season, were solid picks today to win again but that doesn't mean the other clubs should save time and energy by sitting it out.

The Yankees and Dodgers definitely appear to have the over-all strength to repeat but injuries to their key men could scramble the entire pennant picture. Boston, Cleveland and Chicago in the American League, and Milwaukee, St. Louis, New York and Cincinnati in the National are rated as strong, if not stronger than they were a year ago.

The Yankees, in fact, will have three "cripples" in the lineup tomorrow as they help the Washington Senators inaugurate the home season in Washington. Mantle still has a swelling of the hamstring muscle he pulled several weeks ago. Elston Howard has a pulled groin muscle and Yogi Berra a swollen finger.

A sellout crowd of 28,578, including President Eisenhower, who will throw out the first ball, is expected to see a pair of right-handers, Don Larsen (9-2) of New York and Camilo Pascual (2-12) of Washington square off on the mound.

Approximately 250,000 spectators probably will witness the eight openers tomorrow. The largest crowd is expected at Detroit where some 45,000 will watch the Tigers inaugurate the season against Kansas City.

Right-hander Frank Lary (14-15) will oppose Alex Kellner (11-8), the Athletics' veteran southpaw.

A crowd of 35,000 in Chicago will have their eyes glued on shortstops Chico Carrasquel and Luis Aparicio and center fielders Larry Doby and Jim Busby as the White Sox and Indians come to grips for the first time. Three of these four figured in a trade last winter with Cleveland sending Doby to Chicago for Carrasquel and Busby. Aparicio, a flashy fielding young Venezuelan, will be trying to fill Carrasquel's shoes. Both teams, rated top contenders behind the Yankees, will lead with their best on the mound. Right-hander Bob Lemon (18-10) will be the Indians' choice against southpaw Billy Pierce (15-10).

Only 20,000 are expected to see the Red Sox lift the curtain against Baltimore in Boston. The Red Sox are a vastly improved team with the addition of Bob Porterfield and Mickey Vernon and Ted Williams starting from scratch.

Southpaw Bill Wight (6-8) will pitch for Baltimore against right-hander Frank Sullivan (18-13).

'We're Better Off Than Year Ago' – Casey

NEW YORK (AP) — Crusty old Casey Stengel pointed a gnarled finger at a reporter today after singing the praises of his New York Yankees and rasped:

"Now mebbe you'll wonder how we'll ever lose a game this season."

Quite so, quite so.

The professor seems to have convinced himself (and most experts) that the Yanks will be in their accustomed place in the World Series when the American League chase ends.

"We're starting this season in stronger shape than a year ago," he said before leading his men to Washington for the opener tomorrow. "And that includes our injuires.

"The younger players, particularly the pitchers, have more experience. And our pitcher is stronger with Don Larsen at his best the way he has been recently."

The injuries Stengel referred to are of a minor nature, but they have hit three of his starters.

Catcher Yogi Berra is nursing a swollen right ring finger; outfielder Elston Howard has a slight groin pull and outfielder Mickey Mantle still is playing on a bruised leg.

Right now, Stengel has "only" three regular, full-time, certified starters. They are Larsen, Whitey Ford, and Bob Turley. Even Johnny Kucks, who will pitch the second game in Washington, is not in that category.

IN PLAYOFF

Sam Snead Wins Greensboro Title

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — By his own admission, Sam Snead won a golf tournament he had "no business" winning when he took down first money of $2,200 in the Greensboro Open yesterday.

The 43-year-old White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., veteran and darling of Greensboro Open crowds since he won the first tournament here in 1938, made it two straight here and six all told. But he had to travel two holes of a sudden-death playoff to win from Fred Wampler in the rain.

Snead, after watching Wampler come from nine shots behind with a third-round 64 to move into a one-shot lead over Sam after 54 holes, finished a half-hour ahead of the 27-year-old Indianapolis pro with a one-under-par 70 for 279, five under par.

Wampler picked up $1,500 before heading for Hot Springs, Ark., scene of the next tournament on the PGA tour.

Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y., finished third with 281 for $1,170. Back of him were Jim Turnesa, Spring Valley, N.Y., 283 for $980; and Mike Fetchick, Mahopac; Frank Stranahan, Toledo, and Billy Maxwell, Odessa, Tex., 284, for $740 each.

Savitt Wins Dallas Meet

DALLAS (AP)—Dick Savitt, who has limited himself to two or three tennis tournaments a year since quitting the amateur circuit in 1952, isn't supposed to have the stamina necessary for winning long, drawn-out matches in top competition.

But Savitt, former Wimbledon and Australian champion, showed yesterday that he could play long and hard and efficiently in anybody's tournament. He won the singles title of the Dallas Country Club invitational tournament, teamed with Tom Brown to win a long match in the doubles semi-finals, then they took the finals.

First he beat Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., in the singles, 6-3, 7-5, 3-6, 4-6, 6-3. Then he and Brown polished off Armando Vieira and Grant Golden in the doubles semifinals, 12-10, 6-8, 9-7. In the doubles finals Savitt and Brown beat Richardson and Vic Seixas 8-4. This was cut to one set because it was cold and getting dark.

Savitt had to shake off a spirited rally by Richardson to win the singles. The Dallas man was almost swept under by Richardson's comeback after winning the first two sets but in the fifth and deciding set Savitt broke Richardson's service in the eighth game and went on to victory.

The tennis stars go from here to Houston for the River Oaks tournament. Savitt will be among them.

Top Amateuur Netters In Houston Tourney

HOUSTON (AP)—Nine of the top 11 amateurs in the nation will play in the River Oaks Tennis Tournament opening today.

Tony Trabert, the 1955 champion, has turned pro but the men's singles field includes all the leading amateurs except ninth-ranked Sammy Giammalva and third ranked Art Larsen. Giammalva, a Houston native, is concentrating on his studies at the University of Texas so he can take early examinations and go to Wimbledon. Larson is on a European tour.

Eddie Sledge of Dallas won the junior boys championship yesterday beating the defending champion, Ronnie Fisher of Houston, 6-4, 6-3.

Sledge and Fisher won the junior doubles title from Paul Como and Doug Bashrum of Baytown, 6-4, 6-8, 6-4.

Marlene Bauer Wins Title

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Marlene Bauer Hagge, whose great putting bagged first money in the Babe Zaharias Open, headed the women golf professionals toward Dallas today for the second tournament on the summer tour.

Mrs. Hagge shot even-par 73 over the Beaumont Country Club course yesterday to wind up with 19 for 54 holes and take $900 first prize in the fourth Zaharias Open, beating out Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga. by three strokes.

The Asheville, N.C., shotmaker, winning her second tournament of the year, was magnificent on the greens, coming from one stroke back of Miss Suggs to triumph in the final round. Miss Suggs took a 77.

Her victory here pushed Mrs. Hagge from sixth to fourth among the money winners with $3,342. Miss Suggs, whose 222 won second money of $630, leads with $4,151.

Betty Jameson of San Antonio, who won here last year, finished third with 223 and earned $450.

Dear Friends

As a part of their work in Humble's Refining Research Laboratory, Humble scientists bombard petroleum hydrocarbons with electrons in a 2-million volt Van de Graaff Accelerator.

But if you ask one of these scientists what he expects to find, he'll answer, who knows!

For this is fundamental research. Results may be quick or they may be a long time developing. Who knows?

. . . Perhaps the scientists will find a way to increase the yield of useful products from a barrel of crude oil.

. . . Perhaps they'll be able to make improvements in the fine products already supplied you.

. . . Perhaps they'll develop an entirely new group of petroleum products.

Who knows!

This much, however, is certain: Humble research scientists at Baytown use every device of physics, chemistry, mathematics and mechanics to provide you with more and better petroleum products.

Two quick examples: The specifications for Esso Extra gasoline, the formula for Humble Uniflo motor oil. These, without question, are the finest products you can use in your car.

Sincerely

HUMBLE OIL & REFINING CO.

Kefauver Predicts He Will Win In New Jersey Primary

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Presidential hopeful Estes Kefauver, in an encore visit to New Jersey before tomorrow's primary, said he has gained strength during the past week and "will win all over the state."

The Tennessee senator yesterday capped his campaign for New Jersey's 36 Democratic convention votes with a one-day tour dampened somewhat by rain and fog.

In the big contest of the primary, Democrats will choose between a slate of 72 districts and at-large delegates pledged to Kefauver and an unpledged list proposed by the regular Democratic organization.

Each delegate will have half a vote at the Democratic National Convention in Chicago next August.

Before he left last Wednesday after five days of handshaking and speechmaking in New Jersey, Kefauver said he figured on capturing 16 to 20 of the district delegate spots.

But he told a Newark audience last night that "we are much stronger" than before.

"We are coming along fast and we will win all over the state," he said. He did not predict anew how many of his delegates will win.

Gov. Robert B. Meyner, who heads the organization slate, has taken no sides in the nationwide contest between Kefauver and Adlai Stevenson. He said he favors the idea of an unpledged delegation which can decide for itself which man to back.

Kefauver, who had a friendly meeting with Meyner last week, has indicated that the will of the voters was thwarted in 1952 because he got $54,694 votes when he ran unopposed in the preferential primary poll but the unpledged New Jersey delegation went for Stevenson. Kefauver had only three New Jersey votes on the first ballot.

The senator hammered away on that theme again yesterday. He told some 400 rain-drenched persons gathered in Journal Square, Jersey City:

"If you vote for me and my delegates, you will now who you are supporting. If you vote for the uninstructed slate, you will be leaving that decision up to someone else."

Cease Fire Bid Shunned

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — French attempts to get local cease-fires after nearly 18 months of guerrilla war with Algerian rebels appeared today to be making little progress.

Bitter fighting continued. One major rebel group insisted Algerian independence must be recognized before it can stop.

French planes, helicopters and ground forces took part in a clash yesterday in which the French said 82 guerrillas and two of their own men were killed.

The skirmish occurred near Grarem between Constantine and the Mediterranean in an area where the rebels have considerable strength.

French authorities, who a few months ago spoke of only 2,000 or 3,000 men in the field against them, now openly refer to 15,000 guerrillas or more.

The French have more than 200,000 soldiers in Algeria and are prepared to double the strength if they have to.

French Premier Guy Mollet said last week he had authorized local contacts with the rebels to try for cease-fire agreements, but no success has been reported yet.

What may have been a reply to his statement appeared in a manifesto put out by the "general staff" of the insurgent group known as the Front of National Liberation.

The rebel statement, which appeared in the Tunisian weekly L'Action, denied any link with Egypt such as the French believe exists. It said there could be no valid cease-fire until the free Algerian government can talk with the French government on an equal footing.

The French maintain the guerrillas do not represent the whole of Algeria, and that negotiations can only be held after free elections.

The statement called for a federation of Algeria with the former French protectorates of Morocco and Tunisia, which have been granted a degree of self-rule.

"We consider," it said, "that the joining of our efforts in such a federation will permit us, among other things, to play a primary role in hastening the liberation of peoples still held subject—notably those of black Africa."

Youth Hears Death Song

DARWIN, Australia (AP)—Charlie Lya Wulumu, 19-year-old aborigine victim of a tribal "death singing" rite, perked up a bit today. He called for food and water for the first time since he was placed in an iron lung at Darwin Hospital five days ago.

But Charlie almost choked when he tried to drink. Doctors think the youth's belief that nothing can save his life subconsciously prevented him from swallowing.

A tribal elder and a group of aborigine women were believed to have sung Charlie's death song at Yirrkalla Methodist mission in northeast Arnhem Land nearly two weeks ago. They were said to have acted on instructions from Wulumu's mother-in-law. Her motives were not clear.

The women hid Charlie's spear and woomera (throwing stick) in a hollow log just before the singing ceremony. When Charlie found the missing weapons in the log he began to feel ill. He was flown to Darwin Hospital Tuesday and the following day had to be placed in an iron lung.

Hospital authorities said Charlie was a little better today, but he is still on the critical list.

He is able to breathe without the iron lung for periods up to 15 minutes.

Although the youth has some polio symptoms, spinal tests showed nothing.

Man Who Mailed Building Is Dead

HAYDEN, Utah (AP)—The man who mailed a bank building, brick by brick, from Salt Lake City to Vernal, Utah, has died after an illness at his home here.

He was William Horace Coltharp, 72, president of the Bank of Vernal.

Back in 1919, Coltharp decided to mail the bricks from his two-story bank via parcel post when he found he could save $1.45 a hundred pounds over rail freight rates that way.

The post office later changed its regulatiins to prevent similar mailings, but Coltharp got all his bricks to Vernal. The bank they built is still standing.

Lt. Icardi Called To Trial Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ex-Army Lt. Aldo L. Icardi was called to trial today on charges of falsely denying he plotted the World War II slaying of his superior, Maj. William V. Holohan, behind enemy lines in Italy.

While the indictment charges Icardi with perjury, the effect of it is to accuse him of directing the slaying of Holohan during a daring cloak-and-dagger mission.

Icardi, a Pittsburgh real estate broker, appeared before a House Armed Services subcommittee March 26, 1953, and made a general denial of knowledge concerning the disappearance of Holohan in December 1944. The indictment resulted from this testimony:

Holohan, 40, a lawyer in civilian life, headed what was known as the "Mangostine mission." The Italian-speaking Icardi, then 23 and known for his daring, was second in command. Former Sgt. Carl Lo Dolce of Rochester, N.Y., and an Italian partisan, Tullio Lussi, who operated under the resistance name of Capt. Landi, also were along.

The mission parachuted 100 miles north of battle lines near Lake Orto Sept. 26, 1944. Holohan was last seen alive Dec. 6.

Investigation into Holohan's disappearance, begun after the war, was stepped up after recovery of his body from icy Lake Orto in November 1950. An autopsy disclosed he had been poisoned and shot.

A Defense Department memorandum issued in 1951 accused Icardi and Lo Dolce of complicity in the slaying.

Icardi and Lo Dolce were tried in absentia by an Italian court and convicted of murder. Icardi was given a life sentence, Lo Dolce a 17-year sentence, but it was increased by five years by an appeals court. Since they cannot be extradited to Italy, the sentences are meaningless.

Gulf States Are Hit By Thunderstorm

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms rumbled across the Gulf states and northward to North Carolina today in the wake of tornadic winds and destructive windstorms which struck sections of Alabama and Georgia yesterday.

At least 17 persons were killed and more than 200 injured in the twister that ripped into suburban areas of Birmingham, Ala., yesterday. More than 100 houses were flattened and hundreds of others damaged. Some 400 persons were homeless.

Heaviest toll of dead and injured was in McDonald's Chapel, a community of 3,000 outside the northwestern city limits of Birmingham. Most of the victims in the Birmingham area were negroes. A tornado which hit Huntsville in northern Alabama caused heavy damage but no injuries were reported.

Violent weather was reported throughout Alabama as well as in Georgia. Severe thunderstorms extended from the Carolinas to the central Gulf states. Two tornadoes swept through several north Georgia towns but only one person was reported injured.

Heavy rain and hail fell throughout the storm belt.. Winds gusts were recorded at 89 m.p.h. at Atlanta. Rainfall measured more than 2 inches in many areas of the Gulf states and the lower Tennessee Valley.

Windy and wet weather was in prospect over most of the East and Northeast today, followed by some cooling tonight. Rain was general over the Mid-Atlantic and Northeastern states.

Scattered light showers and snow flurries were reported in the Great Lakes region and the north central states.

Escapees Hunted

MINERAL WELLS (AP) — Three Army privates who escaped from a guard at Wolters Air Force Base were the object of a statewide hunt today. Six privates, being held in the base stockade for being A.W.O.L., were taken out on a work detail Saturday night by unarmed guards. During a changing of the guard about 10 p.m., the six disappeared. Three were picked up.

Red's Visit To Britain Sets Off Loan Offer Speculation

LONDON (AP)—Speculation centered today on the imminent visit of the Soviet chiefs of state. Britons wondered whether they might make a dramatic proposal to end the disarmament deadlock or even offer a loan of billions in gold.

Premier Bulganin and Communist party chief Khrushchev, known as the "Kremlin Twins—B and K" in every British household, are en route to England in the Soviet cruiser Ordjonikidze. They sailed yesterday from the Baltic port of Kaliningrad. Thousands of Soviet citizens shouted 'Happy voyage," a Moscow dispatch said, and Khrushchev waved his black fedora in acknowledgment.

The Soviet cruiser is due at the English Channel harbor of Portsmouth Wednesday morning.

A cryptic Moscow radio broadcast touched off the speculation about a disarmament proposal.

"We feel sure that the Soviet leaders' visit to Britain will . . . help break the deadlock in the matter of disarmament," a commentator said in an English-language broadcast. He did not elaborate.

A subcommittee of the five big U.N. atomic powers — the United States, Britain, Russia, France and Canada — is meeting in London on disarmament.

Some British politicians have speculated, although lightly, that the Soviet chiefs in a grand gesture might offer a loan of two or three billion dollars in gold to bolster Britain's economy.

The Soviet Press and radio has said the Soviet chiefs' talks with Prime Minister Eden will center on trade as well as disarmament.

Eden is intent on pinning down the Soviet leaders on such troublesome international issues as Communist moves in the Middle East and Russian intentions on the unification of Germany.

Vandals early today daubed white paint on the statue of Communist hero Karl Marx at his grave in a London suburb. "This is one of the first of demonstrations we are going to make against the visit of those two Russians."

State Crops Are Hurt By Long Drougth

DALLAS (AP)—Another week of springtime drought plagued most of Texas last week, the Dallas News noted in its weekly crop survey from farm agents.

The drought in the Rolling Plains is becoming more severe, said J. A. Scofield of Vernon.

"There is no moisture for planting grain sorghums," he said. "Ranges are far below normal. Stock water is getting dangerously low."

The situation is little better in North and Central Texas.

Ted Martin at Denton said "Small grains are far below normal. Pastures are short. Stock water is short in places. Heavy feeding continues."

In the eastern half of Central Texas cotton planting is off to a slow start because of the cold and dry weather. Corn is planted and up but making slow progress.

Northeast Texas has plenty of subsoil moisture, but needs some surface moisture. Corn, tomatoes, watermelons and crops made excellent growth. The strawberry harvest is at a high peak.

The best report came from Walter Scott of Nacogdoches.

"We have excellent moisture except in a small area in the northwestern part of the district. Corn and pastures are growing good. Watermelons and tomatoes have been planted. Cotton and other crops are being planted. Beef cattle are gaining weight and milk production is increasing."

Car In Denver Has Driver After All

DENVER (AP)—Patrolman George Zellner jumped into his police cruiser after seeing a "driverless auto," with the headlights out, roll through a red light at a downtown intersection.

But when he overhauled the car—there was a driver in it after all.

"Where were you two minutes ago?" asked the cop.

"Under the dashboard trying to fix the headlights," said the unidentified driver.

Negroes May Desert Demos

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Gloster B. Current, director of branches for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, yesterday said there are indications that Negroes will desert the Democratic party this year in large numbers.

He made the prediction in a speech to about 300 members of the Nashville NAACP opening their 1956 membership campaign.

"May those who want civil rights legislation adopted expect Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss), chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, to cooperate to push legislation through his committee?" Current asked.

"With the Southern Democrats in control of standing committees of Congress, election of a Democratic Congress insures the continuance of men like Eastland in control of the party machinery.

"The Northern Negro voter who has supported the Democratic party in the past since 1940, will not neglect to use the ballot in the pivotal states where the Negro holds the balance of power.

"Already, some preliminary returns indicate that Negroes will desert the Democratic party this year in large numbers."
