Urge Neutrality Act's Repeal

LUBBOCK TAKES IN FAIR

Senator Logan Has Proposal For Nation

"All Materials They Need, Except Manpower" Would Be Given France, Britain

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—Senator Logan (D-KY) advocated outright repeal of the neutrality act today and a policy of making available to England and France "all the materials they need, except manpower" if they become involved in war.

The Kentuckian has been a consistent supporter of the administration in the senate. He is a member of the military affairs committee.

He said he favored repeal of the neutrality statute because "there can be no neutrality in a war." The law would ban shipment of munitions to belligerents and limits the scope of trading in other commodities.

WARSHIPS ARE DISPATCHED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP) — Two American warships sped toward Europe today for possible service in returning refugees or other duty in the event of war.

The navy said the cruiser Savannah which sailed Saturday from Philadelphia and the destroyer Somers which left Norfolk the same day would proceed to British ports.

They were said officially merely to be on "routine duty."

Some other senators said the neutrality act undoubtedly would be the subject of controversy in the next congress.

Borah Gives Viewpoint

Senator Borah of Idaho, ranking Republican on the foreign relations committee, said he felt certain that sentiment in congress would prevent repeal of the law, but that some changes in it might be approved.

Both Borah and Logan expressed the opinion that the outbreak of war in Europe might make a special session of congress necessary.

Senator Bilbo (D-Miss) said he thought there should be no restraining influence on American trade, so long as it was maintained on a "cash and carry" basis.

"If they must fight in Europe," Bilbo declared, "I'm in favor of selling them all the commodities we have."

Garrison Is Named State Police Head

AUSTIN, Sept. 27 (AP)—The public safety commission today announced promotion of Homer Garrison, jr., from the assistant directorship to the directorship of state police, succeeding the late Col. H. H. Carmichael.

The 37-year-old East Texan who rose from the ranks will be executive director of the Texas Rangers, highway patrol, drivers licenses bureau, narcotics division, bureau of identification and other divisions of the far flung police organization.

The appointment was announced by W. H. Richardson, jr., of Austin, commission chairman, who said Garrison would continue all policies of the former director, who died Saturday of a heart disease.

Garrison was born in Lufkin and

Europe Looks To Americas For Foodstuff

By DEWITT HANCOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 27. — European nations looked hungrily toward the Americas today in a mad scramble to fill their cupboards for war and prevent the starvation that stalked the last conflict.

With the possible exception of Soviet Russia no major European nation grows enough to feed itself. Without the wheat fields and cattle lands of North and South America, they face starvation.

Have Been Stocking Up

For the past two years the principal European nations have taken some steps to store up for a rainy day. Now they are setting up organizations to do so in earnest.

Great Britain claims to have enough food stocks, together with normal production of the British isles, to feed the country for one year without a single ship coming in. It was announced April 26 that large stocks of wheat, whale oil and sugar had been stored.

England imports at least 50 per cent of her beef, mutton and pork and three-fourths of her wheat.

Building More Granaries

Germany' bumper wheat crop is expected to total well over 28,000,000 tons. Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Nazi economic dictator, recently ordered hurried building or more granaries.

Goering told the Nurnberg Nazi party congress it was certain no blockade could bring Germany to its knees for lack of food.

The meat situation in Germany presents a different picture. Fresh meat is not very plentiful in the Nazi realm.

Four Danube countries—Hungary, Yugoslavia, Rumania and Bulgaria—which with Poland and Lithuania are regarded as exporting nations, had an aggregate wheat harvest of more than 13,000,000 tons, which was said to be a record.

Usually well informed sources said Italy has laid by only a comparatively small stock of food.

Movie Talents Officials Given Choice Of Fines, Jail Terms

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27 (AP)—Two officials of National Talent Pictures, Inc., had the alternative today of paying fines or going to jail on misdemeanor charges.

I. C. Overdorff, president of the concern, was given a sentence of $500, or 90 days on conviction of false advertising and petty theft. Edward Rose, vice president, was fined $300 or 60 days for false advertising.

The company was accused of operating a talent school that induced dancing students to come to Hollywood on the promise of film work which never materialized.

Baltimore Man With Sign On His Back Gets Job With WPA

BALTIMORE, Sept. 27 (AP)—Robley D. Stevens, who walked the streets of downtown Baltimore carrying a sign: "A white man slave—I am for sale to the highest bidder—I must work or starve" went to work today for the WPA.

A one-time student at Drexel institute and originally from Philadelphia, Stevens gave his address first as a certain park bench.

As a junior clerk in the division of standards and research of the U. S. labor department, Stevens will draw $63 a month.

Rail Strike Is Set For Oct. 1

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. — Nearly a million railroad workers—from section hands to streamliner engineers—were committed today to a nationwide strike this weekend but presidential intercession postponing the walkout, was considered imminent.

The strike was ordered to combat a 15 per cent pay cut. Deadlines were fixed late yesterday by the chieftains of 19 rail brotherhoods after tabulation of a strike poll.

Members of the commission are Chief Justice Walter P. Stacy of the North Carolina supreme court, chairman; Professor Harry A. Millis of the University of Chicago, and Dean James M. Landis of the Harvard law school.

Wave Doesn't Suit Plaintiff But Judge Would Pay $100 For It

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Sept. 27 (AP)—Justice Percy G. West was all sympathy as a woman sueing for return of money she paid for a permanent wave told her woes.

"Now, your honor," said Alice Conley, combing her shoulder length hair with her fingers, "would you pay $7.50 for a wave like this?"

"Young woman," replied the judge, fingering his bald pate, "I'd pay $100 if I could get a wave like that."

Organized Campaigns Against CIO Strongholds Proposed

More Soldiers Ordered Out

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Sept. 27—France answers Adolf Hitler's threat against Czechoslovakia by calling additional masses of troops to the colors, sources close to the government said today.

This disclosure of the French reaction to Hitler's speech at Berlin last night came as the cabinet was called into session for an urgent survey of the crisis. It met but made no announcement of what it had done.

Might Call Parliament

Some sources predicted the cabinet meeting might result in a call for a special session of parliament, whose consent is necessary for a declaration of war.

Semi-official sources still saw hopes for peace, but such hopes were dependent upon Hitler's easing conditions of his "last definite offer." There were indications that the government wanted to be in a position to act if Hitler carried out his threat to take action if Czechoslocakia's Sudetenland were not handed over to him peacefully by Saturday.

Take Over Communications

Throughout the night telephone and telegraph lines virtually were taken over by the government as orders were sent out to local authorities to call up reservists individually.

Authoritative sources said France was putting under arms an increasing number of troops to add to the 2,000,000 ready for immediate action.

Advices from the south of France said many troops were being sent to the Italian frontier, where an

Czechs Declare Hitler Desires To Crush Them

(By The Associated Press)

PRAGUE, Sept. 27 — The Czechoslovak government radio today broadcast indignantly that Reichsfuehrer Hitler's demands showed a "brutal desire to crush Czechoslovakia as a free state."

"The form given by Hitler to his memorandum," the government station announced, "is sufficient to show that it is not enough to make an agreement and maintain peace.

"One feels in Hitler's memorandum a brutal desire to crush Czechoslovak as a free state.

Demands Annexation

"The memorandum demands annexation to Germany of territory counting 3,736,000 inhabitants of whom 2,823,000 speak German and 816,000 Czech.

"On the other hand, in the territory where Hitler demands a plebiscite there are 1,116,000 Czechs and only 144,000 inhabitants who speak the German language.

"It results from this that Germany would incorporate 816,000 Czechs into Germany and there would remain only 102,000 Germans in Czechoslovakia.

Against Economic Existence

"The Hitler memorandum is flatly directed against the economic existence of Czechoslovakia. As a result, Czechoslovakia would be deprived of a great part of her forests and her highways and railways broke in two.

"Czechoslovakia would be so weakened in a military way that the greatest part of her territory, notably Bohemia and Moravia, would be at the mercy of Germany."

The Czechoslovak press described Hitler's attack on President Benes as without precedent in history.

Meadow Teacher Is Illness Victim Here

Becoming ill while she was teaching school in Meadow Monday afternoon, Mrs. E. E. Glass was brought to a sanitarium in Lubbock and died at 4 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Glass, 26, had suffered severe headaches several months. Her headache Monday was more than ordinarily severe. Her death was believed due to a brain tumor, said a physician.

Mrs. Glass, the former Miss Opal Montgomery, was a graduate of Lubbock High school and of Texas Technological college. She taught last school year in Wilson. She had been married only a few months.

Sanders Funeral home announced funeral services would be conducted at 5 o'clock this afternoon in the high school auditorium at Meadow. Burial will be in Lubbock.

Mrs. Glass is survived by her husband; her father, J. A. Montgomery of Tahoka; three brothers, T. W. Montgomery, teacher in Roosevelt High school, J. R. Montgomery of Tahoka, and Woodrow Montgomery of Spring Lake; two sisters, Mrs. A. M. Bradley of Canadian and Mrs. Leo Hawkins of Tahoka.

FRONTIERS STRENGTHENED

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, Sept. 27 (AP)—The government announced today that it was strengthening frontier forces and that troops already along the border were taking up wartime posts.

Hitler Replies To Roosevelt

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Sept. 27. — Reichsfuehrer Hitler carefully marshalled Germany's whole case today in an unusually long communication replying to President Roosevelt's appeal for European peace.

He ended with these words:

"It is now solely in the hands of the Czechoslovak government and not in the hands of the German government to decide whether it desires peace or war."

Appeals To Understanding

Hitler appealed to the president's understanding.

"I have the conviction," he wrote, "that if you visualize the entire development of the Sudeten German problem from its beginnings until the present day, you will realize that the German government certainly was not wanting in patience or a sincere will to peaceful understanding."

Reviewing the history of the Sudeten Germans and their relation to the Czechoslovak state, Hitler reminded Roosevelt that Woodrow Wilson had proclaimed the principle of self-determination for nations in the famous Wilson "Fourteen Points."

Germany's Faith Betrayed

Other nations involved in the World war, Hitler said, have accepted the principle as binding on them.

But Germany's faith in accepting this principle was "shamefully betrayed," Hitler observed.

He charged the victor nations "created a political regime in Europe that reduced the vanquished

Queen Elizabeth Launches New Liner With Message From King

GLASGOW, Sept. 2 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth with a message from King George calling on the people to "keep cool heads and brave hearts," today launched Britain's new 85,000-ton liner bearing her name.

Nearly 300,000 persons watched the giant vessel, companion ship of the Queen Mary, glide down the slipways into the Clyde.

"I have a message from the king," Queen Elizabeth told the huge crowd. "He bids the people of this country to be of good cheer in spite of the dark clouds hanging over them and indeed the whole world.

"He knows wel that, as ever before in critical times, they will keep cool heads and brave hearts.

"He knows, too, they will place their entire confidence in their leaders who under God's providence are striving their utmost to find a just and peaceful solution of the grave problem which confronts them."

Slim Chance For Peace Is Still Held

Czechoslovakia Government's Impassioned Rejection To Hitler's Demands Told

(By The Associated Press)

An Europe teetering on the brink of history's greatest armed conflict clung desperately today to the slim chance that continued British - German negotiations might bring a warless solution of Adolf Hitler's demands on Czechoslovakia.

Even as the Czechoslovak government published to the world an impassioned rejection of the German chancellor's final demands for Sudetenland, Sir Horace Wilson conferred with Hitler about some way out of the impasse. Sir Horace is British prime minister Neville Chamberlain's diplomatic right hand.

He left the Hitler conference and sped by plane to London.

CHAMBERLAIN VIEW GIVEN

LONDON, Sept. 27 (AP) — Prime Minister Chamberlain declared tonight that "we can not undertake to involve the whole of the British empire in war however much we may sympathize with a small nation."

But at another point in his broadcast to the empire and the world the prime minister said:

"If I were convinced that any nation had made up its mind to dominate the world by force I would not hesitate to resist it."

Chamberlain spoke only about six minutes. His address, the most momentous British broadcast since the abdication crisis of 1936, was delivered from the cabinet room of famed Ten Downing street.

After he had finished his speech was broadcast in German.

Chamberlain said he would not hesitate to take a third trip to Germany if he thought it would do any good, but at the moment "I can see nothing further that I can usefully do in the way of mediation."

Decision Up To Czechs

Meanwhile Hitler in long note laid Germany's case before President Roosevelt, putting the decision for war on peace up to the Czechs. Czechoslovakia indignantly broadcast from Prague a charge Hitler showed a "brutal desire to crush Czechoslovakia as a free state."

Czechoslovakia's minister to London, Jan Masaryk, made public a note handed the British government Sunday, declaring Adolf Hitler's latest demands "unconditionally unacceptable" in their present form and promising the "utmost resistance."

Speech "The Last Word"

Th German chancellor's newspaper, on the other hand, said Hitler's speech last night was "the last work spoken by Germany in this conflict."

In that speech, Hitler demanded that Czechoslovakia cede Sudetenland to Germany by October 1 and asserted that this was "a demand on which I will not yield."

But Europe found comfort in the announcement Prime Minister Chamberlain planned to broadcast an appeal for peace at 8 p. m. (1 p. m. c.s.t.) tonight from the cabinet room at 10 Downing street.

Cannot Abandon Efforts

"I cannot abandon my peace efforts," Chamberlain said.

Britain already had given an authoritative warning, however, that "Great Britain and Russia will stand by France," who is bound by treaty to aid Czechoslovakia against attack.

In Geneva Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Russia's commissar of foreign affairs, was reported to have proposed a mighty, three-power military demonstration in the hope that a show of force by Russia, Britain and France would avert war.

Warning Is Discredited

Political quarters in Berlin attempted to discredit the British warning by declaring it did not come "from authoritative, official circles" and said France was relieved of any obligation to aid Czechoslovakia.

Americans Advised To Forego Travel

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP)—The state department "strongly advised" Americans today to forego travel to Europe.

The department warning was based upon reports reaching here from nearly all sections of Europe that travel there is becoming increasingly difficult.

EMBASSY URGES ACTION

LONDON, Sept. 27 (AP) — The United States embassy in London today urged Americans all over Europe "to arrange to return to the United States" if they could do so.

Delays are being experienced by American citizens, the department said, in obtaining immediate passage home.

Officials estimated there are about 88,000 Americans resident in Europe who may find themselves in war zones.

The war department's most recent check showed thousands of these Americans were born in Europe and returned there for permanent or semi-permanent residence after becoming citizens of this country.

England, Preparing For Her Greatest Defense In History, Digs Underground Refuges

EMERGENCY DECLARED

LONDON, Sept. 27 (AP) — The official gazette today published a royal order from King George declaring "a case of emergency exists" and authorizing the calling up of auxiliary air forces for defense.

BY JAMES B. RESTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 27 — Britain, successfully defended for a thousand years, prepared furiously today for the greatest defense in her history.

All night long through the drizzling rain, her old men dug trenches in parks and vacant lots. All night long her young men rolled away to their guns along the coast.

In the ghostly glare of torchlight, residents dug up their gardens. Convinced their peacetime hours were numbered, they threw out their chrysanthemums and dug themselves refuges below ground.

Trucks filled with gas masks rumbled across the city.

Policemen went from door to door with instructions how to darken windows in air raid black-outs. Patients able to continue convalescence at home left hospitals.

ACADEMY SESSION SCHEDULED

WAXAHACHIE, Spt. 27. (AP)—The Texas Academy of Science will meet in Waco, Nov. 10-12, Dr. F. B. Isely, president of the academy, announced today.

Special programs, consisting of research papers, demonstrations and symposia, are planned.

Concrete pavements, built to the standards developed by highway engineers of this state, are the last word in safety. Yet they actually cost the public less than so-called "cheap" pavements.

Concrete is safe because it provides a better "track" for vehicles. From your own experience you know that its even, gritty surface reduces skidding, wet weather or dry. Its freedom from bumps, ruts and chuckholes gives you better control at the wheel. Concrete's light gray color and high reflection factor help you see better at night.

Yet, with all these advantages, concrete is actually the cheapest road to have. First, because it costs less to build than other pavements of equal load-carrying capacity. Second, because concrete costs less to maintain —saves hundreds of dollars per mile, every year, compared with less enduring surfaces.

Urge public officials to build your roads with safe and saving concrete.

Selection Of Tech President May Be Announced Soon

Clifford B. Jones of Spur, chairman of the board of directors of Texas Technological college, said Monday that the board is "progressively reaching a point where the selection of a president may be made in the not too distant future."

The selection of a president to fill the vacancy left by the death of Dr. Bradford Knapp in early June will be considered at a meeting which probably will be conducted Oct. 11, the directorate chairman said. Routine business also will be disposed of at the October meeting, which will be conducted in Fort Worth.

"Several dozen" formal applications have been received, said the board chairman, in a telephone conversation from Spur.

Spencer A. Wells of Lubbock, vice chairman of the board, said recently in connection with the presidential vacancy that, "Up to now we have been building a background."

FHA Meeting Is Postponed Monday

A meeting to discuss a FHA "Ready for Winter" campaign was delayed Monday, when representation of attendance was too limited, until later this week. No definite announcement has been made.

It was explained by R. E. Sikes, mortgage conference representative of the FHA, that announcement, probably today, would be made when the meeting would be conducted. It will be conducted in the "next day or two," it was indicated.

The meeting had been called by John D. Mitchell, chairman of the better housing program here.

"Ready for Winter" was the theme adopted for the state and national campaign sponsored by the building industry with cooperation of the FHA in order to encourage and stimulate property improvements as well as new residential construction in fall and winter.

The 60-day campaign is scheduled to start immediately.

Scout Notes Bring Scare

By Collier Parris

COACH PETE CAWTHON took one hasty glance through the sheaf of scouting notes after the special delivery boy brought them yesterday, and promptly forgot all about last Saturday night's game, even the injuries to his club and the long train ride to Buffalo.

The scouting notes were from Pittsburgh, where the Duquesnes defeated the Waynesburgs Friday night, 34 to 7. (The 1937 Duquesne-Waynesburg score was 33-0 for the Dukes). And whoever made the notes threw in a scare for Cawthon.

"They looked better," said the scout, "than they did a year ago this time. They're good enough to give any team a stiff battle — and they're surely pointing for the game with Texas Tech."

So with only two brief workouts before they play the Dukes, Tech's Raiders are going to be somewhat handicapped. They'll get little chance to work against Duquesne plays, although they'll likely hear a lot about them between now and Friday night.

Injuries to Raymond Flusche, Bull Rankin and Milton Hill, along with Captain Frank Guzick's extended absence, do not increase Tech's chances, either. But without assistance of the chrystal ball or even the tea leaves, this corner is going to string along with the Big Reds — and tell you how and by what score they won in a lengthy telegram to Saturday morning's Avalanche.

SHORT, SHORT STORIES: Lubbock's Westerners, looking very hot indeed against Abilene, leave home for the second time of the season Thursday, going to Oklahoma City for a Friday night game against Capitol Hill. . . . Next home game will be with Vernon on Oct. 14. . . . Pampa's Harvesters journey to Lamesa for a District 1 contest Friday night. . . . In their Class A debut, the Golden Tornadoes were bumped by the Plainview Bulldogs, which indicates the Bulldogs have something this season. . . . Lamesa will give the Pampa a nice game. . . .

From Superintendent W. T. Hanes of Tahoka comes an interesting letter. . . . Mr. Hanes, serving his first year at Tahoka, has made up his mind to do what he can to bring Tahoka High from the football doldrums. . . . We learned as much months ago, and his letter further indicates his athletic ambitions for the Bulldogs. . . . Tahoka has installed lights for night games, and will dedicate the glimmers in a big blowout October 6. . . . The Tahoka Rotarians are sponsoring a big free feed at 6:45 o'clock that evening and have invited bands, school men and other guests to participate and hang around for the game. . . . Bob Harlow is coach at Tahoka. . . . Senator G. H. Nelson is to be a featured speaker. . . .

That other new Class A school, Odessa, is coming alive in a big way, too. . . . The Bronchos opened their conference campaign Friday night with a neatly executed victory over El Paso High school. . . . They play Pecos this weekend. . . . Another spot of news provided by Odessa, although appearing here a bit late, regards organization of the Trans-Pecos Coaches and Officials association. . . . Line Coach Dutchy Smith of Tech was over to help get the association started a few weeks ago, and recent conversation with Phil Harvey, who resides at Wink but who keeps sports going all over that end of the state, especially at Odessa, brings out that the association is going good. . . . Harvey, one of the best organizers you ever saw, is one of the big shots behind the official's organization. . . . Froggie Lovvorn, former Plainview coach, is president of the group. . . . The Association meets each Monday night, in a different town over the region, and is doing some fine work. . . . Coaches and officials get together, go over hazy rules, and work things out together. . . . It's a fine idea. . . . One that any section would do well to copy. . . .

NOT CONTENT WITH collecting a big wager, considerable publicity and no doubt several bunions by playing 144 holes of golf between daylight and dark the other day, J. Smith Perebee, young Chicago broker, now is starting a new golf marathon. . . . Hopping between towns by airplane, Perebee will attempt to play 600 holes of golf in four days, starting at Los Angeles and winding up in New York. . . . Nuts! . . .

The Texas Tech-Oklahoma City university game, scheduled here Oct. 8, has been formally designated as Parents' Day. . . . But the Tech athletic department is going that one better—and inviting all youngsters of Lubbock County between the ages of 6 and 12 to be free guests and occupy a special section . . . In fact, they'll turn the entire north end of the stadium over to the kids. . . . It's a nice gesture, and parents and kids should take advantage of it. . . . Remember, every kid in the whole county will be admitted free. . . . Tech didn't say anything about ice cream or red sodapop, but maybe they'd listen to a committee. . . .

Your attention this week is called again to the hoss races at the fair. . . . And they're worth that extra quarter, too, although not many people were convinced yesterday. . . . There's a lot of nice horseflesh out at the Fair stables, some good riders, and two of the most experienced men in the game doing the directing. . . . Charles E. Groves of Los Angeles, to whom the Fair association turned over the full charge of racing, is acting as racing secretary and presiding steward of the track. . . . And he's plenty good at the job! . . . C. H. McMillan of San Saba is recognized in racing circles far and near as one of the best starters in the country. . . . He has a fine ground crew and they handle the horses, good and bad. . . . The races got away yesterday without Mason King of Amarillo being on hand, but he's due here today and a race meeting just isn't much of a meeting unless Mason is around. . . .

Mr. Groves, who serves as secretary and steward at big and little tracks all over the country, says that Lubbock's Fair meeting is developing into one of the best minor league meets anywhere around. . . . It attracts some of the best horses and jockeys, and pays good money for winners. . . . The Fair track isn't in such hot shape, although it is one of the best planned ovals anywhere. . . . It's too slow now, not having been watered and dragged sufficiently. . . . That and the shortage of stables are the only two kicks to make. . . . Otherwise, it looks like a nice week of racing. . . . And you should see this little Miss Wantha Bangs boot 'em home!

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. — This week tells the story in the National league. . . . Cubs against Pirates in a three-game series starting today Pirates still remain the favorites, although thousands are pulling for the Cubs. . . . You can't lose sight of the fact that the Bucs have been on top of a hectic race since July 12 and that's a real test in any man's league. . . . Besides that, they have one of the best balanced clubs in either major league. . . . On the other hand the Cubs are coming along under the inspiring leadership of old Gabby Hartnett and they have two red hot pitchers right now in Bill Lee and Clay Bryant. . . . Anything can happen, brothers.

Mid-West fans don't like the attention this collum pays to the Southwest conference and one bird (who doesn't bother to sign his name) points out that Rice, which won the championship down there, was beaten by Oklahoma, which was not champion of the Big Six. . . . Six former South Bend, Ind., high school players were members of this year's western all-stars which may or may not be something of a record. . . . Thanks to the plugging of Fred Digby of the new Orleans Item, the preppers of that city will get the use of the new municipal stadium on the cuff.

We'll go on record as predicting the Yanks will take either the Cubs or the Pirates in five games.

Whizzer White And His Mates Romp To Victory Over Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—"Whizzer" White and his Pittsburgh Pirates teammates romped to a 16-6 victory over the Boston Shamrocks last night when those National leaguers returned here to play off their twice postponed game with the independent professionals.

White started all four of the games that enabled the Pirates to travel 63 yards over head. He also scored their second touchdown, on a two-yard buck in the fourth period.

Hard To Tell What's Likely To Happen

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

When you go back into the records, it becomes harder than ever to figure out what may happen in this Pirates-Cubs "pennant" series which is bound to make all other baseball take a back seat until it's over.

In the first place, neither has been able to gain a decisive edge in 19 previous encounters this season. The Pirates have a 10-9 lead so far and appear in a bit better shape, especially where pitching is concerned, for a tough series.

They've Won Only Three

On the other hand, the records don't prove it will help Pie Traynor much to be able to shoot Jim Tobin, Bob Klinger and Russ Bauers at the Cubs in order. They're his aces, but in ten starts against Chicago they have won only three games among them and lost five.

Gabby Hartnett, after tossing his No. 1 moundsman, Bill Lee, against the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday to gain a 6-3 victory that put the Cubs only a game and a half behind, decided to take a chance with Dizzy Dean for today's opener. Old Diz has faced the Bucs twice, winning one game with a seven-hit job and being knocked out to lose the other.

Kept Hits Well Scattered

Lee apparently didn't have to work any too hard to beat the Cards. He kept a dozen hits well scattered and never was behind.

The winning and losing streaks of the rivals don't prove much, either. Since Aug. 9, when the Bucs held a 6 1-2 game lead, Pittsburgh has won only half its 46 games and Chicago has won 30 out of 47.

In the only other game yesterday, the New York Yankees began tuning up for the World series by conquering the second-place Boston Red Sox, 4-3, on Steve Sundra's good pitching and a three-run rally in the sixth inning. It was only their second victory in ten games.

Northwestern Wildcats Are On March Again, Waldorf Says

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. (AP)—Northwestern's Wildcats, champions of the Big Ten two years ago, are on the march for the 1938 title.

That's the deduction of Coach Lynn Waldorf who doesn't like to talk about championships. He is so impressed by the morale and team spirit, however, that he can't help it. His squad of 72 players reported in the best physical condition of any squad in four years since Waldorf has headed the coaching staff. The players, he says, believe they have a splendid opportunity to suppiant Minnesota at the head of the conference list just as they did in 1936.

The Wildcats won their last Big Ten title largely on the strength of a hard charging line. This fall all signs point to another such weapon. Fourteen of the 20 returning lettermen are linesmen, providing the Wildcats with experienced men from end to end and in some positions.

San Francisco And Sacramento In Pacific Coast's Playoff

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Sept. 27 (AP)—San Francisco and Sacramento open a seven-game series tonight to determine the winner of the Pacific coast baseball league Shaughnessy playoffs, with $5,000 going to the victorious team and $2,500 to the runner-up.

In the opening playoff series, Sacramento defeated Los Angeles, winner of the regular season pennant, and San Francisco won from Seattle.

TO START TRAINING

LOS ANGELES, Sept 27 (AP)—Minus five teeth, which he lost to a dentist, but four pounds overweight, Champion Henry Armstrong was en route today to Hot Springs, Ark., to train for his title fight with Ceferino Garcia in New York Nov. 2.

Raiders Off Today For Buffalo Game

The team will go by way of Amarillo, Kansas City and St. Louis. They will work out at Washington university field, in St. Louis, Wednesday afternoon during a six-hour stop-over, and are scheduled to arrive in Buffalo early Thursday. They will drill there that night.

On Friday night, the Techs tangle with Duquesne university's Dukes, who will ride from their home campus at Pittsburgh, Pa., to Buffalo, where the game will be played on a neutral field.

Originally scheduled for Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, the Tech-Duquesne game was transferred to Buffalo because Forbes Field, home of the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League, may be the scene of World Series baseball goings on next week. The Dukes relinquished their claims to the field in order to keep it in condition for the series.

Drill In St. Louis

Plans to transport the Tech players to Buffalo by airplane were given up recently because of inconvenience claimed by major airline companies in bringing suitable and sufficient equipment here, or to a nearby field. The Techs flew to Detroit last year, and had planned to fly again, but no suitable arrangements could be made with either TWA or American Airlines.

It will be Tech's easternmost trip, and the longest they will have ever made.

Dukes After Revenge

In their first game, played here last year, the Techs defeated the Duquesnes, 13 to 0, for one of the most outstanding victories of the year.

It was a stinging blow to Duquesne, which had won its opening game 33 to 7. After playing Tech, the Dukes returned home to hold the mighty Pitt Panther to one touchdown, and won all the remainder of their games with the exception of a 0-6 loss to Carnegie Tech.

The Duquesnes are being pointed to with pride by their friends and looked at with no little fear by their 1938 foes. Texas Tech regards the game with Duquesne as possibly the toughest on a schedule of tough opponents, and Coach Cawthon is downright pessimistic.

Duquesne lost several valuable men through graduation, but is still believed to have bright prospects. Twenty-three veterans are returning to Coach John P. (Clipper) Smith this season.

Coaches Cawthon, Smith and McKeever sent the Raiders through a rather light drill yesterday, more to loosen the players up and to check up on injuries following last Saturday night's contest than for anything else. They found three of the backs quite sore and bruised, Raymond Flusche, quarterback for the reserves; Walter "Bull" Rankin quarterback for the regulars, and Milton Hill, another back, who hasn't recovered entirely from injuries received in the Montana State game, were limping around, but will make the trip.

Guzick Stays Home

Captain Frank Guzick, out of commission since the opening game with an injured knee, isn't as badly hurt as at first believed, but will remain at home this week. He has been unable to practice, and could not play in the Duquesne game. A. B. Murphy, regular tackle and line captain, will act as captain of the Red Raiders at Buffalo.

Coaches and players poured over scouting reports from the Duquesne practice lot, and were considerably impressed. Duquesne opened with a victory last week over Waynesburg college.

Racing Gets Off To Good Start At Fair

Jockey Ricord kicked Cross Fire 11 in to a half length victory over a classy little mare named Anna Centennial in a fast race over a slow track to inaugurate the 1938 Panhandle-South Plains fair horse racing meet Monday afternoon.

A disappointing crowd of less than 300 turned out for opening day, but the fine horseflesh stabled at the fair is likely to play before larger houses for the rest of the week.

Except for an overcrowded stable condition and a dry, dusty, soft track, the six-day meeting got off to a fair start, and Racing Secretary Charles Groves of Los Angeles, who is also acting as track steward, seemed quite pleased.

Girl Jockey Wins

First two races of the five-race card, and the fourth, were probably most exciting. Foxey Queller, ridden by Fulcher, nosed out Picture Girl in the second race, for three furlongs. The four and a half furlong fourth race was featured by the winning ride of little Miss Wantha Bangs, only woman jockey to ride in regular race meets. Mounted on Gladys Reed, a smooth filly, Miss Bangs broke into the lead from the barrier and held on for most of the distance, once giving ground to Walter K., who finished third after running second most of the way. Scholastic finished second.

La Marquise, five-year-old mare, won the third race, a six-furlong contest, from Topeka, the favorite. Ben D. was scratched.

The fifth, for a purse of $100, one mile, 70 yards, was taken in a walk by My Betty, who finished five lengths ahead of Gay Bird.

Today's races, featuring some of the best horses at the meet, will start around 3:30 o'clock. Since it is "Lubbock Day" at the fair, plans have been made for one of the best racing shows of the week.

Beaumont, Atlanta Dixie Series Foes

BEAUMONT, Sept. 2 (AP)—The Beaumont Exporters, champions of the Texas league, departed this morning for Atlanta where they will meet the Southern association pennant winners tomorrow night in the opening game of the Dixie series.

Atlanta clinched the title last night with an 8-3 win over Nashville. Beaumont defeated San Antonio Sunday in the deciding game of the Texas league playoff.

Before departing Manager Al Vincent of Beaumont said he would start either Schoolboy Rowe or Dizzy Trout on the mound against Atlanta in the first game.

Games will be played at Atlanta tomorow night and Thursday night then the teams go to Beaumont for games Saturday, Sunday and Monday, unless one of the teams takes four straights. If more games are needed they will be played at Atlanta.

Diz Dean Has Big Chance To Prove Worth

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. — The Chicago Cubs paid plenty for Dizzy Dean and expected plenty of victories in return, but Manager Gabby Hartnett was willing to settle for one today—the series opener against Pittsburgh's National league leaders.

Dean and his famous sore arm proved a gamble for the Cubs from the start. Today he was Hartnett's finesse to a championship.

If he wins, the Cubs would be a half game behind the pace setters and Hartnett would have his highest trumps—Clay Bryant and Bill Lee—to play against the Bucs tomorrow and Wednesday.

If he loses, the Cubs still would retain an outside chance. It was merely another gamble for Hartnett, who has called enough turns to bring the Cubs 17 of their last 20 games—seven of them in a row.

The first of the all important series that probably will determine the 1938 race was expected to attract 30,000 to Wrigley field. However, with the surprise announcement that Dean would pitch, Charley Drake, assistant to owner P. K. Wrigley, boosted his estimate to nearer 40,000.

Jim Tobin was the pitching choice of Pirate Manager Pie Traynor.

McCarthy Not Even Sending Scout To Cubs-Bucs Series

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 27—The average baseball manager whose team has only two of its last ten games is a worried individual with a drawn look, given to starting nervously every time he sees a telegraph messenger. He knows that any news he receives from his club-owner is going to be bad.

So it was pleasant to find Joe McCarthy with his ample bulk propped back comfortably, no lines furrowing his noble brow, no doubt of the future written on his placid countenance. His Yankees have been doing the dipsy-doodle ever since they clinched the American league flag, but Joe can afford to be an indulgent parent.

"Yeah, we haven't been so good lately, have we?" he said easily.

"However, I think we'll probably do all right when we get in the World series. I know all about this club."

The players all have admitted to McCarthy that they might have let down a little, though not intentionally, since they shook off their last rivals. It's a sort of custom with the Yanks. Last year they lost six of their last ten games, but you wouldn't have suspected it when they began shooting for keeps in the World series.

McCarthy said he hasn't even dispatched a scout to the vital Pirate-Cub series starting today in Chicago. The series offers him a fine opportunity to size up the two clubs remaining in the National league dog-fight, yet he swears he isn't peeking.

Meadow Is Seeking Two Grid Games

(Special To The Journal)

MEADOW, Sept. 27 — Meadow High school's Broncos, victorious in their first two games, are seeking two football games to complete their 1938 schedule, Coach Finis T. Bell said today.

The team wants a game with some class B squad on Friday, Sept. 30 and another on October 14.

Games have already been won over Brownfield's B squad and Ropesville.

In a lawsuit of a quarter century ago, an English barrister made a speech that lasted 45 days.

Southwest Conference Teams Being Driven Hard In Drills For Tough Foes This Week

(By The Associated Press)

A minimum of injuries cropping out from opening games last week, Southwest conference football coaches drove their squads at top speed today as they prepared for an array of tough opponents in the second round of clouting in the clinches.

Most of the mentors found something to grumble about but couldn't completely cover up their elation at the good showings made generally.

Coach D. X. Bible at the University of Texas had the most cause for complaint inasmuch as his Longhorns were the only aggregation to take a beating. He showed his boys movies of their 19-18 defeat at the hands of Kansas and admonished them to "let that be a lesson to you."

Coach Dutcher Meyer of Texas Christian worked on his running game, being well satisfied with the aerial work that brought a 13-0 victory over Centenary.

Coach Fred Thomsen at Arkansas university said his team was "potentially strong" but needed a lot of polishing. Morley Jennings, head man at Baylor university, said he was pleased with the way his Bears performed against Southwestern. Odell Griffin, sophomore guard, received a twisted knee in the game. Baylor plays Oklahoma A. and M. Friday night at Wichita Falls.

Texas A. and M. walloped Texas A. and I. about as it pleased but Coach Homer Norton didn't like the Cadets' defense. Coach Matty Bell was rather gloomy at Southern Methodist university. "I know we'll be facing the best football team in the history of Arizona," he said.

The Rice Institute Owls pushed hard for their opener with Oklahoma Saturday.

'Dream Tournament' Nightmare Instead

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 27 (AP)—The "Westchester 108," which started out as a "dream tournament," has turned into a nightmare.

As it headed into its final 36 holes today at the Fenway golf club, this $13,500 open golf competition had failed to live up to any of its promises except possibly that of close rivalry.

On Saturday and Sunday it attracted thousands of persons but hardly any of them paid. Yesterday, as Billy Burke of Cleveland remained on top of the heap, the play didn't even attract enough people.

To liven up the competition, circles were drawn around three holes and it was announced prizes would be awarded to those putting their tee shots within the circles. But the circles were so small, and the pins in such hard-to-reach corners of the greens, that only four players have been within them in the last three rounds. One of the four got a hole-in-one.

There hasn't been even the saving grace of a quantity of sub-par scoring. In approximately 585 18-hole rounds played by some of the game's greatest stars—Sam Snead, Ralph Guldahl, Paul Runyan, Harry Cooper, Jug McSpadden, Denny Shute, Jimmy Hines, to mention only a handful—there have been exactly six sub-par rounds. The best the boys could produce in yesterday's 36-hole stretch was four par 70's.

The players don't hesitate to name the difficulty.

"The greens," said one of the leaders, "are down-right lousy."

Frasier Has Chance To Clinch American Association Finale

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 27 (AP)—Vic Frasier, who clinched the semi-final playoff with Milwaukee, has a chance tonight to clinch the American association finale for St. Paul and send the Saints into the little world series against the International league champ.

His opponent in the fifth playoff game will be Marvin Breuer, who won the series opener in St. Paul to give Kansas City its only victory over the Saints.

The Saints timely hitting and combined six-hit pitching of three hurlers gave them their third straight last night, 7-1.

Beatty Sees Hitler's Eastward Push As A Business Proposition

Valuable Area Is In Dispute

BY MORGAN M. BEATTY
Associated Press Feature Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—If you stop at the headlines you'll get the impression that Adolf Hitler is only this year beginning his push to the east—that 20th century dream of all German empire builders.

But if you had been checking the figures piled up by the men who keep tabs on the world's commerce for Uncle Sam, you'd know that Hitler began four years ago to dig the foundation for economic leadership eastward.

Use Commercial Facts

These experts have been talking and writing about Hitler's "Drang Nach Osten" (march to the east) for two years. Of course, they don't use that flowery figure of international speech. They simply use commercial facts.

Here's what's been happening:

Back in 1934, the year after Hitler ascended to power, he began to turn German eyes again toward southeastern Europe—as they were in 1914. Eastward, he said, was self-sufficiency; and if you want to win back your place in the sun, you've got to be self-sufficient.

A Balkan Deal

German buyers began to offer higher prices to the Balkan countries for their raw material and foodstuffs. Trade sprang up.

But when it came time to collect the bills in Berlin, the Balkan states discovered they had to spend German money in Germany. Then they learned that Germany would be only too glad to sign up clearing arrangements. In economics that means: You scratch my back and I'll scratch yours. Well, a sale with a string attached was better than no sale at all, so it was a deal.

Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Rumania, Greece, even Italy and Turkey, began to trade more heavily with Germany and sign up on German terms. The three-year period, beginning in 1934 and ending in 1936, tells the story. Rumania's trade increased by one-third, Hungary's went up by half, Yugoslavia's doubled. It was about the same with Turkey, Italy and Greece.

Trade Going Down

But at the same time, Germany's trade with free exchange nations, such as the United States, was going down in proportion. Trade with France and the United States was almost halved. Traffic with Russia, Poland, and most important of all—with Czechoslovakia—slowed to a mere dribble.

Why did Germany take this course?

Because (1) Germany desired above all else to establish her own economic and political sphere, and (2) she had no gold (foreign exchange) to spare to buy her way. The Balkan states especially had the raw materials that Germany wanted. They were close to home. They were also having a hard time in the world market because of the hangover from the 1929 depression.

Therefore it was natural to cut off industrial America and France, and, more important, over-industrialized Czechoslovakia. What point was there in trading with Czechs, when they, too, were trying to establish their own little industrial empire, almost up against the heart of the great German industrial system?

How did Germany change the stream of her commerce?

Let the department of commerce trade reviewer explain:

"State domination of the national economy has become more distinct. . . . The economic structure follows a certain pattern, one government intervention following or forcing another, with the line of demarcation between politics and economics growing fainter all the time. . . . German economy is being radically reshaped in harmony with the new political structure. . . . Frequently . . . imports of commodities are obtained at an excessive price in exchange for subsidized exports. . . ."

The reviewer was writing that explanation two years ago, long before the world suspected the coming absorption of Austria, and the action against nettlesome little Czechoslovakia. The expert was showing how Germany was willing to lure Balkan business by offering high prices, and pay her own industries a bonus to sell machinery back within the same trading zone, to accomplish that push to the east.

Rumanian oil and wheat, Yugoslavian prunes and dried fruits, Bulgarian lard, all came Germany's way, and she shipped back machinery, precision tools and a thousand and one manufactured articles.

Naturally, as the department of commerce experts explain, this amounted to commercial distortion and subjected the whole economic machinery of the nation to a strain.

The Pocketbook Counts

The next step was to gain more territory and to attempt to exercise closer control over the newly created German sphere of influence. That helps to explain annexation of Austria, with its command over that historic artery of trade—the Danube. It also throws better light on the new Hungary, which may cut off Czechoslovakia from that Danubian valley. And now comes agitation to gain Sudetenland and military command of the strategic mountains surrounding Czechoslovakia on the west and north.

The unfolding of that plan naturally involves further economic pressure on Hitler's part. The final settlement with the Czechs will show just how successful Hitler has been in the economic sphere. And the economic sphere, in the long run, is more vital than the military—for economics is just another word for one's pocketbook.

HERE'S WHAT HITLER WILL GET if Sudeten German regions become part of Germany. Note that much of country's industrial mineral and farm wealth is in the area Hitler has demanded. Czechoslovakia in 1936 produced more than 5,000,000 metric tons of grain; 11,000,000 of hard coal; 1,180,000 of steel. It has more timber than it needs, is one of Europe's richest agricultural countries. Control of it would be a big step forward in Germany's push to the east.

Walter Daniel Out For Season With Injured Shoulder

Walter Daniel, promising Lubbock High school backfield prospect, Monday was ordered by his physician to forego further football play due to an injured shoulder, Coach Weldon Chapman said.

Daniel has been running with the Westerner second team. Last year he received favorable comment for his left-footed punting on the Cowhand team.

Meanwhile, the rest of the Westerners set about in gay spirits with the serious business of preparing for a hard contest at Oklahoma City Friday. The locals will battle the strong Capitol Hill eleven in their third game of the season.

Chapman Well Pleased

Coach Chapman has been well pleased with showing of his charges so far, but is wary this week lest they become overconfident. He warned and will warn them for several weeks that one win will not care for next game on the slate.

The Westerners were rested after the week-end layoff and ready to "shoot the works" in the week's initial workout. Minor injuries and bruises sustained against Abilene were healed.

Boys Are Jubilant

A jubilant air pervaded Westerner practice field from the time the boys hit the field house until they left.

A harder workout is scheduled this afternoon when the gridders no doubt will indulge in a round of scrimmage.

Pass defense is coming up for a big order. The Eagles found Lubbock's secondary an easy mark for short passes that for a time threatened trouble.

Mystery Of Blazing Coattail Is Solved; Shaving Mirror In Window Starts Blaze

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 27. (AP)—Nature and a window dresser's skill combined to give William Hannon a mystifying and unintentional variation of the old "hot foot" gag. While waiting for a bus at a downtown intersection, Hannon was surprised to find his coattail ablaze. He summoned a policeman to solve the situation.

Traffic Officer John Lanahan discovered a concave shaving mirror had reflected the sun's rays on Hannon's coat. The reflected rays produced the same result as direct rays passing through a properly focused magnifying glass.

Lowering of the store's awning prevented any further mysteries.

Earth Doctor Named In Narcotics Charge

Charged by indictment with having illegally disposed of approximately 65,000 half-grains of morphine sulphate between March 9, 1936, and Aug. 27, 1938, Dr. C. T. Bradford, about 50, of Earth in Lamb county has been released from Dallas county jail after execution of $1,500 bail set by Mrs. Olive Fluke, United States commissioner of the Lubbock division of the northern federal district.

He was charged with violation of the Harrison anti-narcotic act.

Gordon B. Temple, of Lorenzo, was indicted on a charge of theft of mail from the postoffice at Lorenzo June 12. Specifically, the indictment charged Temple took a June 12 edition of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram from the postoffice box of the Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber company. He is under bond of $500, Mrs. Fluke said. The indictments were returned by a federal court grand jury at Amarillo early last week.

George Berry Gives Report On National Legion Convention

Report on last week's national American Legion convention in Los Angeles, Calif., was presented by George Berry Monday night at a regular meeting of Allen Bros. post.

Approximately 30 members attended the post meeting here.

A musical program by the Lubbock organization of the Junior Musicians of America, under direction of J. M. Hall, conductor and program chairman for the legion this year, was presented.

Capt. Frank Pettit spoke on the possibility of a rifle range here.

George Brewer, commander of the post, presided.

Four Seeking Governorship

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 27 — The ballot for the November general election as finally checked and sent to the printer today showed four contestants for governor.

The Democrat W. Lee O'Daniel was opposed by a Republican, a socialist and a communist.

Secretary of State Edward Clark said Arlon B. Davis of Dallas and Laverne Somerville of Wichita Falls, who sought to run for the governorship as independents, had been barred from such classification on the ballot on grounds they had participated in a Democratic primary.

Other Names Banned

A number of other names also were banned at the last minute because they had not replied to the secretary of state's ruling all candidates on the general election ballot must certify they had not participated in such a primary.

The latter included H. D. Pouncey of Waco.

The Democrats had entries in all 12 races for state races; the Republicans, in nine; socialists, in seven, and communists, in four.

The ballot will have six columns for the Democrats, Republicans, socialists, communists, the independents and any "write-ins."

It also will provide for a vote on whether the constitution shall be amended to modernize the oath required of members of the legislature and all state officers. The section declaring one never has fought a duel would be eliminated.

The ballot will be mailed soon to county judges.

State Assistance To Be Given Clinics

AUSTIN, Sept. 27. (AP)—State financial assistance for local venereal disease clinics—first step in a program long advocated by health authorities—will be a reality by Nov. 1, Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, announced today.

Dr. Cox said a $128,000 allocation of federal funds had been made available to Texas which with matching funds of the state would be applied toward paying operating and maintenance costs of clinics for treatment of indigent patients.

He said clinics in Dallas, Fort Worth, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Corpus Christi and Cameron county have qualified for aid and possibly five or six additional cities or counties would become eligible.

In addition, the state health department will provide medication for rural indigents upon application of county medical associations.

The health officer said the department heretofore has been unable to participate in operation of local clinics because of limited funds.

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Sept. (Special)—Since The Plainsman is a peculiar sort of a guy in his likes and dislikes, it is altogether possible that the reader will not see eye-to-eye with him concerning the major points of interest in the very appreciable part of the West he has been visiting these recent days.

But anyhow, and realizing full well he's running the risk of being thoroughly disagreed with, your humble servant makes bold to list, in their importance as he sees them, the scenic wonders of our wide open country.

First place, and by a wide margin, goes to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado river in Arizona.

Second place goes to Yellowstone National park—especially that portion of it where the weary traveler first sees blue, blue Yellowstone lake going into the park by way of Fishing Bridge.

In an easy third comes the beautiful drive along the coast—which not one traveler in 500 makes—between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

And fourth comes Arizona's Painted Desert which is glimpsed from afar as the motorist speeds along a perfect highway to Flagstaff from Desert View Indian Observation point at the east end of Grand Canyon's South rim.

The view of the Painted Desert might easily take second place, were the traveler to see it before viewing Grand Canyon.

But after Grand Canyon—where the new in diffusion of colors is worn off—it does not get the applause which it probably is due.

ALREADY we can hear the reader asking "What about Boulder Dam?"

Well, Boulder Dam is a wonderful engineering success and highly interesting to behold.

Furthermore, unlike the other points listed, it is commercially "good for something," since the electricity and irrigation coming from it is going to work wonders over a vast desert country.

But because it is in no way beautiful and because it is man-made and highly technical in its background, it will never give the average gawker the thrills that the otner wonders we tabulated give to one and all who view them.

Boulder Dam is, of course, the greatest engineering feat known to man—with the possible exception of The Sphinx and the Pyramids.

It is, in the best Hollywood style, super-super-colossal-colossal.

But along side the handiwork of Mother Nature at Grand Canyon; at Yellowstone lake; along the heaving Pacific; and compared to the Painted Desert man's efforts—no matter how marvelous—appear little [illegible] of puny.

THE PLAINSMAN, strange as it may seem to you, has too much sense to try to describe Grand Canyon.

Words won't do the job.

Neither will photography, no matter how expert.

Those readers who have seen the 217-mile long gash across the Northern Arizona plateau will understand; those who see it later also will understand.

The work of the ages is simply too all encompassing for mere man to depict in any manner.

However, we will give you some little publicized facts about the canyon, picked up on our rounds of the South rim.

Grand Canyon is generally understood to be the "whole works" as far as this outstanding piece of erosion is concerned. But that is not a technical fact.

Grand Canyon is merely one of the 19 separate and distinct canyons which are to be seen from the many vantage points.

The Colorado river, which rises not in Colorado, but in Wyoming, and which has wrought its wonder not in Colorado but in Arizona, is second only to the Mississippi in length. It is about 2,000 miles long and empties into the Pacific in Mexican waters off the coast of Lower California.

The river, through the canyon, is muddy as all get out and daily carries by a given point a total of 100,000 tons of mud. About one-third of its volume is, in fact, pure mud.

Although from where the visitor sees the river from one rim or the other it appears to be a lazy, sluggish, passive stream, it is actually nothing of the kind. It is a ring-tailed tooter with 297 different sets of rapids from one end of the canyon area to the other.

THE great gash varies in width from four miles to 18 miles and its average depth, taking either rim as the level, is around one mile.

Although through even the most powerful of telescopes it looks rocky and barren, parts of the canyon are rich in vegetation and there are to be found there many deer, some elk, some bear and all kinds of predatory animals such as mountain lions and wolves.

Among other things, the canyon—or rather the series of canyons—accommodates several mountain ranges, some of which have peaks higher than found anywhere East of the Rockies.

Altogether, Grand Canyon is a rousing success.

Its diffusion of hues and profusion of colors is, as you've always heard, nothing less than marvelous.

The far-flung color scheme changes every minute.

Adding to the stupendity of the phenomenon is the almost unearthly silence of it all—a silence rarely broken, even by the call of a bird.

If there is among our readers any lady or gent who is suffering from an over-attack of conceit, we recommend a trip to the rim of the Grand Canyon.

We've never seen or heard of any lecture quite so proficient in making human beings realize just how small, and futile, and unimportant, and infantile they are when compared with this placid example of the inexoribie forces of Infinity.

ALTHOUGH The Plainsman has listed these leading points of interest in what he considers to be their rank, they do not, by any means, complete the cycle of great sights we've seen on this trip now closing.

Some people might prefer to any of the points above set out the two great bridges at San Francisco, dealt with in an earlier article.

Others might get a bigger thrill out of the Shoshone dam between Cody, Wyo., and Yellowstone park. Still others might prefer the breathtaking drive along Wind River canyon between Cheyenne and Thermopolis, Wyo. And some might choose the Golden Gate, Kaibab or Teton National forests; or the mountain scenery near Jackson, Wyo.—or the wonders wrought by the Mormon band in and around Salt Lake.

It all boils down to what the individual likes—but whatever he likes he'll see plenty of it on a jaunt covering New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada, California and Arizona.

Coming into Flagstaff, The Plainsman found himself wishing for Dean William Curry Holden.

We cut away from the paved highway some 30 miles north of here and turned into Wupatki National monument which encloses the best preserved remains of prehistoric pueblos of the Arizona country.

We doubt that Dean Holden would be any more impressed with these early day ruins than we were, but as director of archaeological research at Texas Tech, he would have known more about what we were seeing.

The Plainsman stood high upon a mound overlooking the Painted Desert on one side and toward towering San Francisco peak on the other and wondered what kind of a gink had stood on that spot 500 or more years ago.

At least 300 families of prehistoric Americans had lived and loved, were born and died, worked and fought and dreamed right there in a country which is as wild and foreboding today as it was then.

The thought made us feel more than a shade impotent — and considerably lacking in individual importance.

THIS piece is the last of the series of articles The Plainsman has been pleased to pound out here and there, and all around the clock, since embarking from Lubbock on his annual gawking tour.

As a matter of fact, your chronicler likely will be safe at home before these words ever hit the printed page.

We've seen a lot; learned a lot and have enjoyed every minute of the more than 4,000-mile junket.

And if there are those among our readers who've enjoyed the futile, yet none-the-less sincerely gathered second-hand picture of it all, we're that much happier.

And gee, but it's going to be swell to be home!

Boxwood Barrier

BY BLANCHE S. FERGUSON
Copyright By Associated Press

THE STORY SO FAR: Jumping his horse over the sacred boxwood hedge surrounding Goodloe's Choice in the Maryland hunting district, Reuben Oliver is thrown and injured. Reuben is in love with Judith Goodloe but his self-made fortune isn't enough to make him acceptable. Judith blames him for delaying the proposal she expected from dashing Gary Brent. Red-headed Cissy Rogers, in love with Reuben and jealous of Judith, delays it still longer by walking off with Gary.

Chapter 10

Gary's News

The moment when Judith came to the door of his room to ask how he was, marked a high peak in Reuben's life. The nurse had gone to breakfast. He was alone. Then, almost as though his longing had brought her, Judith, in blue linen, was standing in the doorway.

"I hope you're feeling better?"

Speech deserted him.

"You had a dreadful spill." Her voice was soothing.

He found his tongue. "It was your fault."

"Mine?"

"You were laughing at me." His shoulders against the pillows involuntarily slumped a little. "After that—I couldn't make the grade."

He looked very young this morning. She saw his eyes, bronze, unfathomable. She was unable to draw her own from them or to deny his accusation.

"It's true," slowly. "I did laugh." "I deserved it. That's why it hurt."

She was remembering last night—long, wakeful, miserable. "Sorry I won't do it again."

He couldn't think of a thing more to say. Strange! He had always been ready with words to bend men to his will. Ready with a smile—slow—a trifle indulgent — that women found fascinating.

Judith turned to go. He must keep her—just to look at her gave him a feeling of exaltation — but he lacked courage. While he sought for it, light, quick feet came down the hall, and Cissy stood by Judith in the doorway.

He had forgotten Cissy—

"Ha, Lochinvar from out of the West! The trusty steed had his little fling, I hear!"

Her arms were filled with flowers. Her face above was bright as the morning. "I'm sorry you could not come last night," she greeted Judith, "we missed you."

"Sweet of you."

"We danced until morning in your big old rooms, Rube. Then we had a swim and breakfast." She dumped her armful of fragrant blooms on Reuben's bed and turned again to Judith. "I brought Gary back to you."

"Sweet of you." With a smile for Cissy and a wave for Reuben, Judith went. Jealousy, the first she had ever known, rage, and a faint shame went with her.

Gary got to his feet when she stepped out upon the porch. He was immaculate in a blue serge suit out of Bond street. "Good morning, darling!" He ignored his desertion of last evening. "Just seeing you starts the day right. Aren't I the early bird?"

"Which reminds me that I haven't fed the peacocks. Want to come along?"

'She's A Honey'

She led the way to the kitchen garden. From a peg of the grape arbor she took a small basket of grain, and opening a little wicket gate, walked down a red brick path, under apple and peach trees, past clipped raspberry bushes with fruit coming to perfection; until she came to a wired enclosure, where, with the morning sun turning their plumage to glory, a half dozen peacocks strutted proudly.

"You missed a great time last night," Gary fumbled with the gate's fastening. "Oliver is fixing the place up fit for a king."

"So Jim says." Judith flung a handful of grain to the oncoming fowls.

"Jim drifted in before the party was over."

"Jim is always drifting somewhere — late."

Gary smiled reminiscently. "I'll bet he was sorry he didn't come earlier. It was that kind of party. They were a friendly crowd."

"Aren't Western people always friendly?" Where was the rapture of yesterday?

Gary said: "Great hostess—Cissy. She," amusedly, "keeps things humming."

"She looks like a child."

"Older than you. Almost 23. And what she doesn't know about planes!"

"You're keen about them?"

"Who isn't? She's been taking off since she was a kid—before she was old enough to have a license."

"I—didn't know." She must take more interest in planes. "She's engaged to Reuben Oliver?"

"Heavens, no! Cissy's a celebrity—She can marry anybody!"

"I—didn't know."

"Red your rotogravure," advised Gary. "For a while everyone thought C. C. Rogers was a man, and when they found out the daredevil was a redheaded child—Isn't she a honey, Judy?"

"Reuben Oliver is a very rich man." Judith's thoughts followed that line persistently.

"Money hardly counts with the Rogers."

"What else would count with that sort of people?"

Miles Apart

Gary looked at her from good-natured blue eyes. "What's the matter with you this morning, Judy?"

"Guess I'm upside down like the house. The whole place smells like a hospital."

They found the bench where Judith had waited last night. They sat down, side by side. Miles apart. What had happened that life could be like this?

Gary lighted a cigarette. Judith involuntarily touched his hand that cupped the match. He smiled at her above the flame, his easy good humor quqiqte restored. "Theres' no one like you, Judy."

"I'm beginning to believe it," grimly.

"Bluffer, you've always known it. After I've been away for awhile just the thought of you makes me homesick."

The soreness left her heart. He always came back — "Was that what you wanted to tell me?"

"S-say! I never did get around to that, did I?"

"There wasn't time," She could believe that now.

"Best news you ever heard," Gary exhaled a spiral of smoke. "I wrote you about Galbreath, a capitalist I met in London?"

"Yes."

"He owns mines and timber all through the West — rolling in wealth. I posted him for a few clubs. He was deuced appreciative. Proved it. I'm to manage his timber holdings in California, Nevada, Oregon—a crackerjack job."

At first she did not understand, then knew she was expected to say something, something congratulatory — "But—can you—do you know anything about it?"

Practically nothing, but I can

A NEW TWIST TO AMERICAN POLITICS

Americans in all walks of life have, during the past several years, given considerable serious thought to suggestions that too many relief clients are regarding federal aid as a permanent, rather than a temporary measure.

Many of our citizens feel that there too frequently is seen a desire upon the part of relief clients to make a lifetime career out of the WPA and other similar emergency employment agencies.

This idea has, of course, been scouted by the national administration from President Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins, on down. Yet a recent statement by one David Lasser, head of the Workers Alliance—an organization of relief workers—indicates that the idea is not far off base, after all.

Lasser, who is endeavoring to make a union of his organization of relief workers, announces that his "400,000 members" will be active throughout the country in the November elections in supporting and electing all candidates who approve the administration. This attitude of the individual candidate toward the New Deal is the only qualification which interests the Lasser organization.

This indicates strongly, of course, that relief clients who are members of the Workers Alliance are primarily interested in keeping relief going, rather than in looking for jobs in private industry.

And it adds at least some proof to the charge voiced by Democrats and Republicans, alike, that the New Deal has bought considerable political support with tax monies expended for relief projects.

Today's Thought

Be not a terror unto me: thou art my hope in the day of evil.—Jeremiah 17:17.

Teach me to feel another's woe, to hide the fault I see; that mercy I to others show, that mercy show to me.—Pope.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 26—All over the lot:

Leo Gorcey, eldest of the "Dead End" kids, is explaining to the director why he is late for a call for "They Made Me a Criminal."

"I was drivin' up the boulevard—see?—and passed a jeweiry store and thinks, 'Well, it might as well be now as ever.' So I parks the jalopy and goes into the joint and says 'Gimme a ring.' The guy says, 'What kind of a ring,' and I say 'A ring for a guy that's gonto get married, or anyway engaged.' He shoves out some and I say 'Gimme that' and and he says 'That'll be a hunnert and fifty bucks,' and I say 'Okay.'"

Young Mr. Gorcey fishes a little suede-covered box from a pocket and displays a ring set with a small stone. "That ain't a chip off a milk bottle!" he declares. "The dame gets it tonight, and I hope she likes it."

(The dame is 17-year-old Catherine Marvis, a dancer from Atlanta.)

He's Snaking His Way Into A Good Part

A few weeks ago Sid Davis was working as a mail boy at RKO. Today, on the same lot, he is an actor and snake-handler. Not much of an actor yet, but the snakes are paying for dramatic and diction lessons, so he has hopes.

Nobody guessed that Davis' hobby was snakes until he learned that the studio was going to rent some for "Gunga Din." Then he admitted that he had a collection of nearly 500 dead ones, stuffed and pickled, and 100 live ones. Many of the latter are rattlers, with poison sacks intact, but he had plenty of large, harmless king and gopher snakes, so he and his reptiles were hired.

Of course they needed some hooded cobras for the picture, so Davis resorted to a favorite Hollywood trick of snake make-up—made some little rubber hoods to be fitted to the gopher snakes. They appear very realistic, except that they don't seem to have a cobra's appreciation of flute music.

Anyway, Davis will receive about $500 for the engagement, and he'll spend it all on learning to be a real actor. He wants to play sinister heavies.

Little Boy Grew . . . But Just Sideways

Among the youngsters working in "Peck's Bad Boy" is Spanky McFarland. Spanky will be 10 years old Oct. 2, but visitors to the set still recognize him immediately.

He's still very small, vertically, but has an imposing circumference. His mother says she doesn't worry much about his diet. As long as he can be healthy he may as well be fat, and therefore a good type for a juvenile comic.

"Spank had 96 cents worth of lunch," she says, "and he's already hungry again."

Spanky has outlasted many an adult star, for he has been a featured member of the Our Gang Comedies for seven years. Hereafter the Gang pictures will be produced by Metro, which took over the series from Hal Roach. And Spanky has a contract for 12 of those films.

* * *

He Was A Fright To Horace Heidt

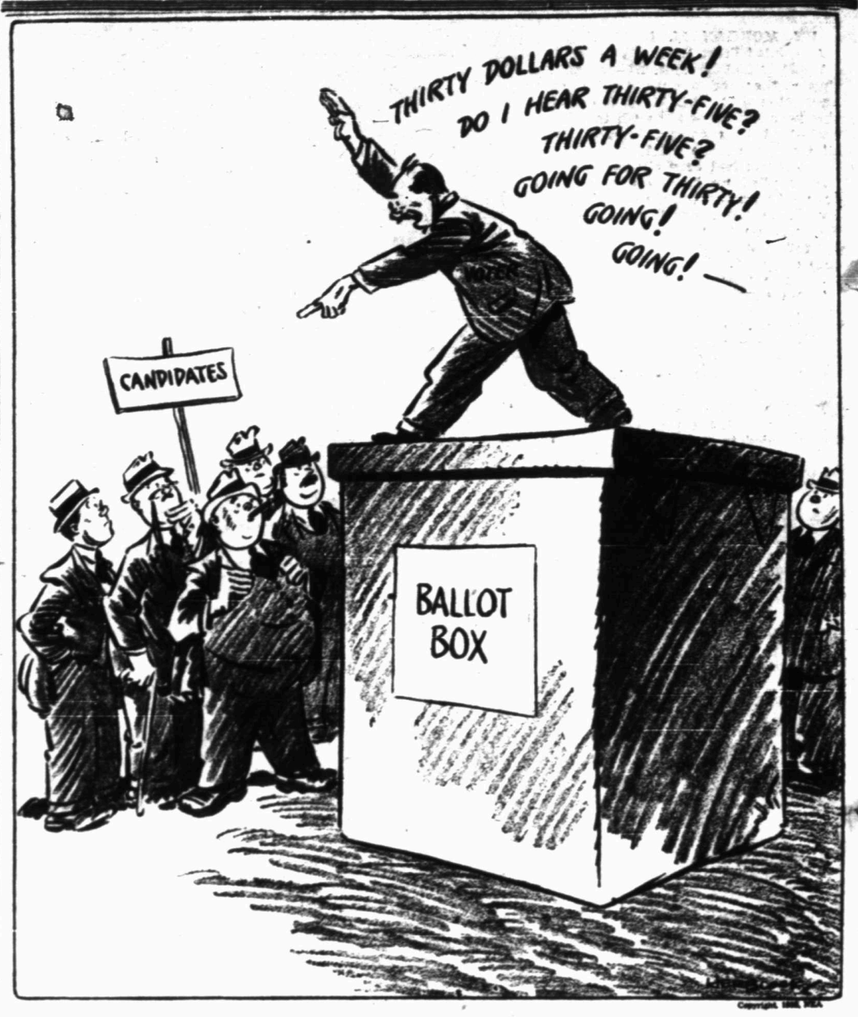

Spanky recently returned from a two-months' personal appearance tour, which went off a good deal better than the youngster's first experience in a theater.

That was in San Francisco, Mrs. McFarland recalls. "Horace Heidt was the master-of-ceremonies," she related, "and he was supposed to introduce Spank and talk to him a little while, and then let him sing a song.

"Mr. Heidt suggested that the whole thing be libbed, and I thought that would be all right. The first show was all right, too. He asked Spank how old he was, and how he liked movies, and a lot of simple questions like that.

"But when the second show began, Spank didn't realize that was a different audience. Mr. Heidt began asking the same questions and Spank got mad. He'd say, 'I already told you I was 4,' and 'I explained all about how I like the movies,' and so on. Mr. Heidt was furious. He couldn't do a thing with Spank, and the audience was in stitches."

Is This What We're Coming To In Politics?

Washington Believes Hitler Is Preparing For 'War Of Revenge' With France As The Target

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Behind all maneuvers of the U. S. government in relation to war-clouded Europe has been the strong belief, firmly held by the man in the White House as well as other officials, that Hitler is aiming toward a German war of revenge against France.

This conviction nurtures a certainty that concessions to Herr Hitler will only strengthen Germany's economic power, her war machine and her prestige toward the day when France will be attacked and Britain will come to her defense.

Dutcher

Hence the curiously complicated administration policy of trying to make it appear that the U. S. would not have stood by in complete neutrality if England and France had insisted on a prompt showdown with Germany over Czechoslovakia.

Mr. Roosevelt and Secretary Hull went on the theory that the only thing which might dissuade Hitler from further aggression would be a threat of British-French-Russian military opposition plus vague threats of something or other which might be done by the U. S.

They felt Hitler had been encouraged by assurances this country would cause him no trouble. But their efforts to counteract that impression in Berlin obviously were bound to be useless unless Britain herself made the strongest and most convincing threats.

A sort of corollary American policy developed, based on hope that strong declarations by Roosevelt and Hull, aimed at Hitler, Might "put spine" in the British and French. But public sentiment for peace and isolation prevented Roosevelt and Hull from saying anything strong enough to be effective.

Doesn't Scare Easily

Answering the question why the government couldn't mind its own business, White House and State department counsellors say its very much the business of the U. S. to work for world peace, to obstruct efforts of dictators to wipe out democracies, and to use every diplomatic effort to avert a day when the U. S. might stand almost alone in a world of aggressive war machines with guns pointed at the western hemisphere.

The hope Hitler could be scared or bluffed at the time was Washington's best bet for peace. American diplomats don't share the belief of some high British officials that Nazi Germany can be depended on to spend her strength against Soviet Russia instead of seeking complete European domination by an attack on France.

Although hardly in a position to egg England on to a stronger stand, officials kept their fingers crossed as inspired cablegrams reported England had threatened military cooperation with France in case of invasion of Czechoslovakia. They knew better.

When Germany first began maneuvers equivalent to mobilization, both Roosevelt and Hull made speeches they hoped would directly affect Hitler's plans. The effect hasn't been noticeable. But it's contended at the State department that the government did all it could.

Peace Through Trade Pacts?

Stronger gestures, in keeping with the present neutrality laws which the administration wants repealed, might have been made. The State Department might have invoked the 1921 peace treaty which forbade shipments of munitions to Germany.

But Hull recently denied publicly that his department was violating the law in issuing licenses for munitions exports to Germany and apparently no such step was contemplated.

Faced with proof that strong words and solemn admonitions have no disuading effect on a man like Hitler, the State department falls back on its only concrete program designed to promote world peace.

This is the program of international trade agreements so dear to Secretary Hull.

Its effectiveness as a peace program may be doubtful. Hull and his associates, nevertheless, insist it's the only constructive effort with potentialities for peace now operating in this worried world.

(Letters from readers are invited and welcomed. They will be published gladly whenever they do not violate the laws of libel, or the rules of decency, and when they do not exceed 300 words in length. Letters criticising individuals, firms or organizations must be signed by the true name of their writers.

WANTS SHORT BALLOT

Dear Plainsman: Your remarks in reference to the short ballot were interesting. Why not require every candidate who contemplates running for office, to stand a qualifying examination, then let the two high point men run it out. This would give qualified officers, give a short ballot, do away with one primary, yet give the voter a chance to make his choice.

It takes time and a lot of publicity to bring about reforms but by and by we get them, so give them the works.

And what did you say about football? Important? Boy! Sure it is. Didn't it give us an attorney-general? Yea and you will always know what side of the question he is on. He won't be on the fence on the horse race question nor any other public question, nor will he have to qualify any statement with "I mean it, too."

Yours,
C. E. Love,

The drumming in her ears increased to a roar. She could hardly hear her voice above it. "You're going away?"

"Almost immediately."

Tomorrow: Bittersweet kiss.

While 288,000 more persons moved from farm to city in this country in 1937 than vice versa, farm population still showed a gain because of the high birth rate.

The building would include six or seven class rooms, a combination auditorium-gymnasium and various offices.

The old building, it was reported, is not considered safe.

Application has been made for the usual 45 per cent from the Public Works administration to be added to the bond issue.

The old building was built about 18 years ago and a new structure will not increase taxes, said H. P. Gibson, tax assessor-collector of the schools system.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 27 (AP) — Wheat plunged downward approximately two cents a bushel late today, influenced largely by reported plans for an international commission to define Sudetenland frontiers by Oct. 1. The market however, rallied abruptly when a radio address by Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain failed to confirm peace hopes.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were ⅛-⅜ cents down compared with yesterday's finish, Dec. 66¼-67, May 67⅝-¾, corn ⅝ to 1 cent lower, Dec. 50-⅛-¼, May 53¼-⅜, and oats ⅛-⅜ off.

Mistrial Motion Is Entered In Trial

Witness: "Did Judge Walker find out whether these people (bus company) were insured or not?"

E. L. Klett, one of counsel for South Plains Coaches, Inc., defendant in a $25,000 damage suit brought by L. E. Box of Lufkin for his wife, interposed quickly a motion in 99th district court at 10:45 o'clock this morning for a mistrial.

Judge E. L. Pitts dismissed the jury until 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, to allow counsel for both sides to study the law.

Defense counsel indicated the statement of the witness, Mrs. Box, in bringing up the matter of insurance probably would prove fatal to continuing the case, terming the statement a reversible error.

Plaintiff's counsel, however, said they hoped to "salvage the expensive case" and that Mrs. Box's statement might not prove an "allegation." She had asked the question, evidently, in attempting to clarify a question that had been put by a member of her counsel, who had asked whether a Crosby attorney had got in touch with the highway patrol after she said she had been insulted on a lonely road.

The case was tried in that court in December, 1936, was appealed, then sent back to that court for trial.

It was alleged in pleading that Mrs. Box, about 61, in May, 1935, was riding a South Plains coaches bus between Guthrie and Benjamin when the bus stalled.

She rode with a man in a passenger car who came along when the bus was stopped who, it was alleged, was drinking and who made advances to her. Pleading also alleged he inflicted bodily injury upon Mrs. Box.

The damages were asked as a result of her humiliation and bodily injury. After the man assertedly made the advances, she got out of his car and remained along the roadside until she could hail another car into Benjamin. It was set out rain was falling while she waited for the second car.

For the plaintiffs are the law firms of Scarborough, Ely, and Yates of Abilene and Nelson and Mullican of Lubbock. Jess Levens, E. L. Klett and W. D. Benson, jr.

Railroad Strike

roads were involved in the dispute.

George Harrison, chairman of the association, and President A. F. Whitney of the Railway Trainmen's union, reported the workers voted overwhelmingly in favor of a strike.

To Appoint Commission

President Roosevelt already has indicated he would appoint a fact-finding commission to study the dispute and make recommendations.

Under the Railway Labor act such action would automatically postpone a walkout and would maintain existing wage scales for a 60-day period. Hence, the status quo apparently will remain until Dec. 1.

The carriers decided on May 12 that a wage slash was imperative in view of their financial condition. The unions rejected the proposed cut and negotiations began on July 18.

Board Fails To Settle It

The National Mediation board entered the dispute on Aug. 11 when the rail management and the unions admitted they were deadlocked. The failure of mediation was announced Aug. 31. Arbitration was rejected by the unions and the carriers immediately fixed Oct. 1 as the date for the new wage scales. The strike poll followed.

Harrison stated a strike was the only recourse unless the carriers backed down on their demands. If workers consented to the pay cut, estimated at $250,000,000 a year, it would, said Harrison, "put not only a gross injustice to themselves but also a wrong to the social and economic life of the country." He said business levels do not justify a cut in wages.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 27 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady 3 points net higher to 2 points lower here today. Foreign markets were less favorable than expected and the continued tense situation abroad served to restrict investment demand.

October contracts opened at 7.83, Dec. at 7.90, Jan. 7.88, March 7.90, May 7.85, July 7.84 and October (new) at 7.75 bid.

Local and investment demand attracted by foreign rumors that Germany had extended the October 1 deadline steadied the market later in the morning.

Higher outside markets also contributed to improved sentiment and towards mid-session October contracts traded at 7.93, Dec. 7.92, March 7.91, May 7.88, July 7.86 and Oct. (new) 7.80, one to eight points above the previous close.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 27 (AP)—Cotton futures opened 1 to 4 lower with unfavorable foreign situation and 437 October notices partly offset by a good trade demand for October and covering. Oct. 7.74; Dec. 7.78; Jan. 7.77; March 7.77; May 7.84; July 7.71.

The market soon responded to the ready absorption of the October liquidation and move cheerful reports from Europe also helped sentiment.

Dec. rose from 7.77 to 7.82, leaving quotations 1 to 4 points net higher shortly after the first half hour.

Tech Alumni Body Buys Lawn Mower To Aid Students

The Alumni and Ex-Students association Monday purchased a noiseless, rubber-tired lawn mower, which will be used by students working their way through Texas-Tech, said Calvin Hazlewood, administrative secretary of the association.

The association plans to purchase equipment for washing windows which students may use, said the secretary.

Students may "check out" the lawn mower as they would a book from the college library. Rules have not yet been worked out, but a student will be allowed to use the mower free a certain length of time, probably two hours, then asked to pay a small fee if he uses it after that time. Purpose of the fee would be to insure that a large number of students had use of the mower, no one using it an excessive length of time.

Ordinary fee for mowing lawns when a student uses the owner's mower is about 25 cents, and price when the student furnishes the mower probably would be 30 cents, said Hazlewood. He said persons wanting their lawns mowed may call the office of dean of men.

nations to pariahs stripped off all rights."

The creation of the Czechoslovak state, the Fuehrer contended, was the clearest proof of how to victor nations violated the principle of self-determination.

The Czechoslovak government, he charged, not only failed to accord the Sudeten Germans their guaranteed rights but also proceeded to "Czechify" Sudetenland.

"Be assured that I thoroughly appreciate the highminded intentions underlying your argument," the Reichsfuehrer telegraphed.

Roosevelt appealed for continuance of peaceful negotiations in an effort to solve the Czechoslovak crisis and avoid war.

"For that very reason," said the chancellor after his reference to the "immeasurable consequences" of such a conflict, "I can and must decline every responsibility of the German people and its leadership if, contrary to all my efforts to date, further developments should actually lead to an outbreak of hostilities."

"In order to form correct judgment concerning the Sudetic problem now under discussion it is indispensable to direct thoughts to events in which in the last analysis the origin of these problems and their dangers are rooted.

"The German people in the year 1918 put down their arms in the faith that the conclusion of peace with the opponents at that time would bring a realization of the principles and ideals which were solemnly proclaimed by President Wilson and just as solemnly accepted by all the powers at war as binding upon them.

"Never in history has the faith of the people been more disgracefully betrayed than happened then and the conditions of peace forced upon the vanquished nations in the suburbs of Paris (Versailles) has fulfilled none of the promises given."

Stripped Of All Rights

"On the contrary they created a political regime in Europe that reduced the vanquished nations to pariahs, stripped of all rights, and that was recognized from the beginning by all judicious persons as untenable.

"One of the points which most clearly revealed the character of the dictates of 1919 was the founding of the Czechoslovak state and the fixing of its boundaries without in any way taking into acount history and nationality.

"Sudetenland, too, was included in it, although this region has always been German and although its inhabitants unanimously declared their desire for anschluss (union) with the German reich after the destruction of the Hapsburg monarchy.

That Was Not Enough

"Thus the right of self-determination that was proclaimed by President Wilson as the most important foundation for national life was simply denied the Sudeten Germans."

"But that was not enough."

"In the treaties of 1919 certain obligations, which according to their wording were very far-going, were imposed upon the Czechoslovak state as regards the German racial element.

"From the very beginning these obligations were not kept.

"The League of Nations failed completely to carry out the task assigned to it, namely, to guarantee the fulfillment of these obligations.

Unavoidable Development

"Since then Sudetenland has been engaged in heaviest combat for the preservation of its Germanism.

"It was a natural and unavoidable development that after the German reich regained its strength and Austria was re-united with it that pressure of the Sudeten Germans increased for maintaining their culture and for becoming closely associated with Germany."

Countless dead, thousands of injured, tens of thousands of persons arrested and imprisoned, desolated villages are the accusing witnesses before world opinion of an outbreak of hostilities carried out for a long time by the Prague government which you in your telegram rightly fear.

These Are The Facts

"Entirely aside from the German economic life in the Sudeten German territory for 20 years systematically destroyed by the Czech government, which already shows all the signs of ruin, which you anticipate as the result of an outbreak of war, these are the facts which compelled me in my Nurnberg speech of September 13 to state before the whole world that the deprivation of rights of the three and one half millions of Germans in Czechoslovakia must be stopped and that these people if they of themselves cannot find justice and help must receive both from the German Reich . . .

"It is my conviction that you, Mr. President, when you realize the whole development of the Sudeten German problem from its inception to the present day, will recognize that the German government has truly not been lacking either in patience or a sincere desire for a peaceful understanding. It is not Germany who is to blame for the fact that there is an ySudeten German problem at all, and that the present unjustifiable circumstances have arisen from it.

"The terrible fate of the people affected by the problem no longer admits of a further postponement of its solution. The possibilities of arriving at a just settlement by agreement are therefore exhausted with the proposals of the German memorandum. It does not rest with the German government, but with the Czechoslovakian government alone, to decide, whether it wants peace or war."

Convicted Robber Sought By Officers

SWEETWATER, Sept. 27. (AP) — Nolan county authorities combed rugged country southeast of here today for John Buford, convicted robber who escaped from the courthouse jail yesterday and fled in a commandeered taxicab.

The cab driver, Stuart McGinley, of Sweetwater, was forced to accompany Buford but made his escape last night at Bradshaw, 35 miles southeast of here, when the fugitive went to buy cigarets and left the ignition keys in the car.

Buford, under a nine-year sentence on his plea of guilty to armed robbery, pried his way out of the jail which is located on the fourth floor of the courthouse, made his way to the roof and from there went down the side of the building by window ledges and a fire escape. He passed a window where district court was in session.

UNDER INDICTMENT HERE

John Buford, bandit being sought in the Sweetwater area, is under indictment in the 99th district court of Judge E. L. Pitts on a charge of armed assault on George Gillfillin, employe of a service station at Avenue Q and Broadway in Lubbock Aug. 3.

Application had been made to Judge Pitts only Monday for a bench warrant to remove Buford from Nolan county jail, where he was being held for Huntsville.

He was a fugitive from justice when he robbed the service station attendant here of $44.

estimated 150,000 were holding mountain passes.

Through the south rolled trainloads of troops and guns. Many of these trains carried mountain artillery units and sturdy pack mules.

Some sources suggested that the government had not issued further mobilization orders in order to avoid having other nations—particularly Italy — follow suit.

Slaton Delegation And Band Coming To Fair Wednesday

Slaton will be here with its crack high school Tiger band and a massed delegation of at least 75 representatives Wednesday, Slaton day at the fair, said Raymond Lee Johns, secretary of the chamber of commerce and board of city development there.

Johns communicated with Alex McDonald, president of the Panhandle-South Plains fair directors.

because Prague was refusing to keep an earlier promise to cede certain areas to Germany.

There was no official comment in Prague on Hitler's speech, but the government studied it and advised with France and Britain to determine whether a basis existed for further negotiations.

Call Additional Troops

In Paris sources close to the French government said France had answered the German chancellor's threat against Czechoslovakia last night by calling additional troops to the colors.

French cabinet met this morning for an hour and 50 minutes, but officials would not say whether any momentous decisions were taken. Some sources predicted a special meeting of parliament might be called.

The British parliament has been recalled to meet tomorrow.

Only from Yugoslavia and Italy was there any sign of optimism. High Fascists in Rome stressed that they considered Hitler's speech moderate and that they saw in it a hope that war might be avoided. Foreign office circles in Belgrade said they saw "peaceful tones" in the Fuehrer's address.

"Settle It Today"

"Heute Schluss Machen! Heute Schluss Machen"—"Settle It Today! Settle It Today!"—25,000 loyal Nazis cried out yesterday as Hitler expressed his determination to settle the Sudeten issue once and for all, branded President Eduard Benes a liar, and shouted: "I have made an offer to Mr. Benes. It is nothing else than realization of what he himself has already conceded. He now holds in his hand peace or war."

The Fuehrer, however, did not state how he would act should the Czechoslovaks fail to submit to partition in acordinace with Hitler's "final" proposals.

But extended praise of Germany's armed might, as one "which the world will respect whenever it makes its appearance," could have only one purpose—to strike fear of the German army in the Czechs.

About Czechoslovakia he asserted: "This is the last territorial demand I have to make in Europe but it is a demand on which I will not yield."

The statement occasioned much discussion in political quarters in which it was recalled that Germany long has felt a "Drang Nach Osten"—Urge to the East. They wondered about other Germans outside the reich whom Hitler has said he would protect—the Free City of Danzig, for example, or Memel.

Soviet Plan Explained

Sources close to the Russian delegation to the League of Nations declared Litvinoff's "peace through force" plan embraced military measures which would leave no doubt of an intention to fight if Hitler tried to take the Sudeten German part of Czechoslovakia by force.

The plan, they said, called for simultaneous appearance at the German foreign office of French, British and Soviet ambassadors bearing a warning that the three nations were ready to defend Czechoslovakia.

Then would come the military demonstration. Suggested measures included: A demonstration flight of Russian and French bombers to Prague to show Hitler how quickly Czechoslovakia could get aid from the air; massing of large Russian forces on the Rumanian border where they would have to enter that country to reach Prague, and concentration of the British home fleet and the French Atlantic fleet in the North Sea.

TO USE SUBWAY STATIONS

LONDON, Sept. 27 (AP) — London, nerve center of the British empire, today prepared for the possible arrival of enemy airplanes by designating the city's two deepest subway stations for immediate transformation into air raid shelters.

The two stations, at Charing Cross, almost exactly in the center of London, were ordered closed at 8 p. m. tonight by the London Transport board for "urgent structural works."

Authoritative quarters indicated vast underground shelters against air bombers would be built, part of the greatest defense preparations in British history.

at Windsor castle. They barricaded railroad tunnels, old caves along the south coast, church crypts, bank vaults.

In a single night Englishmen sought to prove the boast "we don't need conscription." Sound trucks appealing for "anybody who can swing a pick and shovel" brought men flocking to the parks.

No arrangements were made to feed these people, but they were fed. Women came from neighboring houses with steaming pots of tea and bread and butter.

New relays of shovelers took over as each group stopped for rest.

Lubbock Takes In The Fair

Ayres; Cooper, Jesse Johnson; Seagraves, Walker P. Todd; Littlefield, W. H. Brazier; and Plainview, M. C. Brandon.

The Lubbock exhibit adopted a Charlie McCarthy motif in the portrayal of its theme, "Problems of the Modern Farmer." A movable, electrically operated dummy was placed in position beside a concealed phonograph upon which recorded discussions of agricultural problems were played. The displays further emphasized the costs of taxation to agriculture.

The Lubbock victory was peculiarly appropriate, because it was won on the day which had been especially dedicated at the fair to the citizens of Lubbock, as well as to those of Idalou and Shallowater. Idalou took second honors in the event and Shallowater did not compete.

Before the curtain rings down tonight, expectation is that the second largest crowd of the six-day exposition will have passed through the gates.

All business houses of Lubbock were closed for the afternoon.

The throng will be surpassed, unless weather should take an unexpected and wholly unindicated turn, only by that which will be here Wednesday for the day dedicated to children and to residents of 15 South Plains towns and cities.

Bands Are Expected

Some of the delegations likely will bring bands, as they have done in the past. Among them may be Lamesa which, according to A. G. Bearden, Lamesa Cnamber of Commerce secretary, will be accompanied by the high school musicians if new uniforms have arrived.

Lubbock schools will recess at noon to participate in the festivities, as will those of a number of other communities. Nearly all South Plains towns will grant holidays to pupils wishing to attend the fair even though schools may not be released.

Dozens of school buses will provide the conveyance for thousands of pupils and teachers.

If the attendance for Wednesday Children's day is comparable to that of previous years—and indications, according to fair association President Alex McDonald, are that it will be—the figures will number between 40,000 and 50,000.

Attendance today is expected to be in the neighborhood of 20,000. Schools recessed at noon, and most of the city's business places and official ofices closed.

Monday Gate Is 11,612

Monday's opening of the Silver Jubilee fair brought an outpouring of 11,612 persons, larger by 877 than the same day last year.

Smashing hits of opening day were, without question, the night rodeo and the afternoon horse race meet, both of which attracted crowds unusually large for initial performances.

Johnny Mullens, arena director, and M. D. Fanning, secretary, both of whom have officiated in similar capacities in New York's Madison Square Garden, joined in proclaiming the rodeo one of the finest they ever have seen in a city approximating Lubbock's size.

"I've seen fewer thrills plenty of times in Madison Square where the customers paid $3.80," said Fanning of the Panhandle-South Plains "two-bit" wild west event.

The calf-roping contest was a producer of super-thrills, and the class of the competition was reflected in the fact that Ralph Bennett of Plains a former world champion, could do no better than third. T. W. Young of Florey placed first in the fast time of 15:2 seconds, with Vester Parrish of Wingate in second place. High class of the competitions was reflected also in the fact that not one of the 11 entries failed to rope his calf. Parrish's time was 15:9 and Bennett's 16 flat.

Another thriller in bronc riding where Dude Colbert of Jumbo, Okla., and Morris Cooper of Midland were tied for first. Van Brown of Pendleton, Ore., took third money.

Lynn Huskey of Fort Towson, Okla., Buck Jones of Abilene, and Dude Colbert finished one-two-three in bulldogging.

Jimmy McHolland of Houston, Wig Colbert of Tishomingo, Okla., and Hobart Flowers of Duncan, Okla., copped the money in the order named in Brahma steer riding.

An exhibition of fancy riding by applause. All five of the Ramseys, Flying Clouds" drew enthusiastic applause. All five of the Ramsey's, including three attractive girls, will appear on tonight's program.

Last night's grandstand event was topped off with a fire works exhibition which will be on more elaborate scale tonight.

became a deputy sheriff at the age of 19. He became a state license and weight inspector in 1929 and joined the highway patrol in 1930. He successively became a lieutenant and captain and was promoted to assistant director of the entire safety department in September, 1935.

Garrison, a colonel on Governor James V. Allred's staff, has been prominently identified with training new patrolmen, having had active charge of several training schools for recruits. He assisted the states of Arkansas and New Mexico in organizing highway patrols. He has won national recognition in law enforcement work.

Richardson said the commission had not decided upon a new assistant director of the safety department.

MAY REPORT TODAY

CROSBYTON, Sept. 27 — A 72nd district grand jury may report late today to Judge Daniel A. Blair, it was indicated this morning. C. E. Westerman is foreman.

Four-weeks term of court was convened Monday, when the grand jury was impaneled. Approximately six criminal complaints had been referred it for investigation.

Board Will Get Data On Loans

Finds of two meetings of farmers with officials of the Commodity Credit corporation in Lubbock Monday will be presented to the CCC board in Washington announced G. E. Rathell, secretary-treasurer of the government board.

They had met to determine what shall be done about approximately 3,000 farmers who stored about 32,000 bales of cotton in the Jayton bonded warehouse and who later were informed loans would be called on the cotton, which assertedly had been classified higher than the government requirements.

At the same time, a tentative offer which the CCC official said would have to be approved by the directors, was in turn given a committee of 36 producers.

Joe Rose Presides

Session in the afternoon was held in the county courtroom. Joe M. Rose, Roaring Springs, but living in Dickens county, presided. In the morning a session was held in the senior high school auditorium, attended by nearly 20 farmers, with Rose also presiding.

Congressman George Mahon sat through the sessions, answering questions and assisting in explaining the situation and set-up to the CCC official. H. E. Wallace, also of the CCC, accompanied Rathell. Lloyd Croslin, secretary to Mahon and Marshall P. Formby, county judge of Dickens county, assisted, the latter acting as secretary.

Producers insisted that they should not be penalized for losses sustained at the compress, due to improper handling of cotton, because they had placed cotton in the loan in good faith. Failure of the warehouseman to properly grade cotton, they claimed, was not their fault.

After producers had explained their desires to the CCC official, he in turn outlined a counter-proposition which, he said, would be submitted to directors of the CCC for approval. "I cannot say what they will do," he added. Rathell said he had talked to Washington during the noon recess.

Case To Be Postponed

A suit in federal court, against the warehousemen, was originally set down to be heard Oct. 3. Owing to circumstances the case will be postponed until the April term of court at Abilene. The warehouse is in the hands of a receiver at present. Some $45,000 in funds are tied up pending settlement.

Offer of the government agency is for the cotton to be sold ultimately, but probably not before April 1. The commission would, in all probability he explained, be the ultimate purchaser of the several grades of cotton, cotton ineligible for the loan, cotton eligible for the loan but graded too high and cotton in the loan on the proper loan basis.

"The cotton would be sold, when ordered so by the owners, on either the then market value of the cotton or the loan value, whichever is the highest," he explained. "The government wants to see farmers get all their equity in the cotton."

Figures Are Presented

Rathell gave figures on the Jayton situation: 32,720 bales were placed in the warehouse; 4,200 bales on 2,290 loans, were found to be eligible for loans, leaving 28,718 bales on 7,473 loans, ineligible. Of these, 18,237 bales were without any loan value whatever; 2,536 bales were ed in the warehouse: 4,002 bales on proper loans, but which loans have been called.

Besides the situation at Jayton, and in other West Texas towns, similar conditions have arisen in East Texas and Alabama, Rathell said. There were 3,000 warehouses handling cotton in the loans last year, and more than 5,000,000 bales were handled.

Rathell said he believed the average loss per bale would be about $7.50. However, a more accurate figure will be later available.

Numerous questions were asked by farmers in the three-hour session. Various phases of the situation were discussed by speakers.

A resolution thanking Rathell for his coming here and listening to the problem was unanimously adopted by a standing vote, as was a vote of thanks to Congressman Mahon.

The committee, representing 14 counties, was completed yesterday. It is as follows:

Amazed With The Gly-Cas Action

Attacks of Indigestion and Gas Have Been Eliminated., Every Ache and Pain Has Left His Body Now

"Gly-Cas had an action that was entirely different from all other medicine I ever tried," said Mr. J. B. Pumphrey, 1340 North 2nd St., Abilene, Texas. "For over ten years I had suffered with attacks of indigestion, gas and bloating after most every meal I ate, regardless of my diet. I was often bothered with dizzy spells. But to make my condition more miserable, pains settled across my shoulders and in my arms, limbs and ankles until what I endured was almost unbearable. Then too, I was badly constipated and my bladder was disordered. Medicine after medicine failed to have any effect on my stubborn case until I finally gave Gly-Cas the opportunity to help me."

"Gly-Cas was actually amazing in its quick action in restoring me to good health," continued Mr. Pumphrey. "My stomach is now regulated until I can eat the foods I wish, enjoy my meals and never suffer any distress after eating. Those attacks of indigestion are in the past and dizzy spells gone. My strength and energy has been renewed, sleep and rest well at night and feel almost like a different person since Gly-Cas came to my rescue."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns.—Adv.

Police Ask Cooperation Of Public In Solving Problem

Cooperation of the public and "especially the business men who have delivery trucks" in solving the double-parking problem was asked Monday by Don Reeder, chief of police, and Lewis Kittrell, traffic sergeant.

It was pointed out by the officials that nowhere in the traffic ordinance is there a provision for vehicles to double-park, even for loading and unloading, in fact such acts are in violation of the ordinance.

Use The Back Door

"Where a back door entrance is available, loading and unloading must be done from the alley 'in an expeditious manner'," the officers said.

"If there is no back door entrance where loading and unloading can be done from the alley, there will be a loading zone provided from the front of the building and reasonable time will be allowed for unloading and loading.

"If loading and unloading can not be done from the alley or a designated loading zone, the driver must comply with the parking meter ordinance, including the hours specified when the parking meters are in force, excepting Sundays and holidays."

Warning To Bike Riders

With the newly-created traffic problem of bicycles since schools have started, the officers asked all bicycle riders to observe all traffic rules which apply to automobile drivers. Violations include "riding double" on bicycles, or motorcycles unless they are equipped for more than one passenger. Reeder pointed out that this year apparently was a "bumper year" for bicycles and made the plea "for the safety of the riders."

A final request in the way of traffic came from the officers in the way of a warning to school children to remain on sidewalks and cross streets at intersections only in going to and from school. They asked that parents also park their cars on the right hand side of the street with the cars near the buildings so that children may get out of cars and enter the school grounds without crossing streets.
